

Public Law 100-25
100th Congress

Joint Resolution

To designate April 10, 1987, as "Education Day U.S.A."

Apr. 17, 1987
[H.J. Res. 200]

- Whereas Congress recognizes the historical tradition of ethical values and principles which are the basis of civilized society and upon which our great Nation was founded;
- Whereas these ethical values and principles have been the bedrock of society from the dawn of civilization, when they were known as the Seven Noahide laws;
- Whereas without these ethical values and principles the edifice of civilization stands in serious peril of returning to chaos;
- Whereas society is profoundly concerned with the recent weakening of these principles that has resulted in crises that beleaguer and threaten the fabric of civilized society;
- Whereas the justified preoccupation with these crises must not let the citizens of this Nation lose sight of their responsibility to transmit these historical ethical values from our distinguished past to the generations of the future;
- Whereas the Lubavitch movement has fostered and promoted these ethical values and principles throughout the world;
- Whereas Rabbi Menachem Mendel Schneerson, leader of the Lubavitch movement, is universally respected and revered and his eighty-fifth birthday falls on April 10, 1987;
- Whereas in tribute to this great spiritual leader, "the rebbe" this, his eighty-fifth year will be seen as the year of "turn and return", the year in which we turn to an education which will return the world to the moral and ethincal values contained in the Seven Noahide Laws; and
- Whereas this will be reflected in an international scroll of honor signed by the President of the United States and other heads of state: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That April 10, 1987, the birthday of Rabbi Menachem Mendel Schneerson, leader and head of the worldwide Lubavitch movement, is designated as "Education Day, U.S.A.". The President is requested to issue a proclamation calling upon the people of the United States to observe such day with appropriate ceremonies and activities. We also call on heads of state of the world to join our President in this tribute by signing the international scroll of honor which will be presented in their respective countries this year of "celebration 85".

Approved April 17, 1987.

Whereas the Jewish people have made an indelible contribution to the values and principles which are the basis of civilized society and upon which our great Nation was founded; and
 Whereas these ethical values and principles have been the bedrock of society from the dawn of civilization, when they were known as the Seven Noahide Laws; and
 Whereas without these ethical values and principles the edifice of civilization stands in serious peril of returning to chaos; and
 Whereas society is profoundly concerned with the recent weakening of these principles that has resulted in crises that endanger and threaten the fabric of civilized society; and
 Whereas the justified preoccupation with these crises must not let the citizens of this Nation lose sight of their responsibility to transmit these historical ethical values from our distinguished past to the generations of the future; and
 Whereas the Lubavitch movement has fostered and promoted these ethical values and principles throughout the world; and
 Whereas Rabbi Menachem Mendel Schneerson, leader of the Lubavitch movement, is universally respected and loved and his eightieth birthday falls on April 10, 1987; and
 Whereas in tribute to this great spiritual leader, "the rebbe," this eightieth year will be seen as the year of "turn and return," the year in which we turn to an education which will return the world to the moral and ethical values contained in the Seven Noahide Laws; and
 Whereas this will be reflected in an international scroll of honor signed by the President of the United States and other heads of state; and
