JOINT RESOLUTION

Designating the third week of July 1993 as “Captive Nations Week”, and for other purposes.

Whereas the greatness of the United States is in a large part attributable to its having been able, through the democratic process, to achieve a harmonious national unity of its people, even though they stem from the most diverse of racial, religious, and ethnic backgrounds;

Whereas this harmonious unification of the diverse elements of our free society has led the people of the United States to possess a warm understanding and sympathy for the aspirations of peoples everywhere for democracy and to recognize the interdependency of the nations of the world;

Whereas the continuing oppression of a substantial part of the world's population under Communism constitutes a detriment to the natural bonds of understanding between the people of the United States and other peoples;

Whereas Communist oppression and imperialism led to the subjugation of the national independence of Russia, Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia, Belarus, Ukraine, Moldova, Georgia, Armenia, Azerbaijan, Kazakhstan, Turkmenistan, Tajikistan, Uzbekistan, Kyrgyzstan, Poland, Hungary, Slovakia, the Czech Republic, Romania, Bulgaria, and other states, and continues to oppress the peoples of China, Tibet, Cuba, North Korea, Vietnam, and Laos;

Whereas nations oppressed by Communism look to the United States as a citadel of democracy and freedom for leadership in bringing about their liberation and restoring to them the enjoyment of their religious freedoms and of their individual liberties; and

Whereas it is fitting that we clearly manifest to such peoples through an appropriate and official means the fact that the people of the United States share with them their aspirations for the recovery of their freedom and independence: Now, therefore, be it

2 from their captivity;

3 (2) encourages those newly liberated nations in 4 their efforts to build democracy and market-based 5 economies; and 6 (3) calls upon the peoples of those newly liber-7 ated nations to refrain from following the leadership

9 authoritarian relationship with either the citizens of 10 those countries or with their neighboring states.
