7 (1) by inserting “(1)” immediately after “to

14 SEC. 203. SENSE OF THE SENATE ON TRANSPORTATION OF 15 FOOD ASSISTANCE TO RUSSIA.

16 (a) FINDINGS.—The Senate finds that—

17 (1) on April 3, 1993, in Vancouver, Canada, the 18 President of the United States and the President of 19 the Russian Federation announced a $1,600,000,000
20 aid package for Russia, including $700,000,000 in 21 food assistance;

22 (2) the provision of food assistance announced at 23 the Vancouver summit is a vital sign of United States
24 support for Russia's continued movement toward de-
25 mocracy and transition to a market economy;

1           (3) on May 3, 1993, the United States Govern-
2           ment and the Government of Russia reached initial 3           agreement on the $700,000,000 in food assistance to 4           be extended by the United States to Russia;

5           (4) the agreement stipulated that while
6           $500,000,000 of the United States food aid package
7           will be used for Russia to purchase United States ag-
8           ricultural commodities, the remaining $200,000,000,
9           as estimated by the Administration, will be used sole-
10          ly to cover the cost of transportation;

11          (5) the Administration announced that 75 per-12          cent of the commodities would be shipped on United 13          States-flag commercial vessels under United States
14          cargo preference requirements;

15          (6) United States cargo preference laws require 16          at least 75 percent of United States food assistance
17          shipped overseas to be shipped on United States-flag
18          commercial vessels;

19          (7) this requirement eliminates competition and 20          encourages carriers to charge the United States Gov-
21          ernment rates two or three hundred percent above
22          world market shipping rates;

23          (8) the current world market shipping rate is be-
24          tween $25 and $35 per metric ton;

1           (9) carriers, anticipating the elimination of com-
2           petition, have offered bids for shipping the grain to 3           Russia between $75 and $138 per metric ton;

4           (10) these bids are up to 5 times greater than 5           comparable world rates;

6           (11) the cost of the grain itself is approximately 7           $100 per metric ton;

8           (12) the effect of the cargo preference require-
9           ments is to increase the cost of transportation so that 10          it nearly equals or exceeds the cost of the grain itself; 11          and

12          (13) the effect of the cargo preference require-
13          ments increases the taxpayer cost of assistance to 14          Russia.

15          (b) POLICY.—It is the sense of the Senate that—

16          (1) the food assistance provided by the United 17          States Government to Russia has been supported and 18          approved to meet the dire humanitarian needs of the 19          Russian people;

20          (2) the increased cost of assistance to Russia re-
21          sulting from cargo preference requirements could ad-
22          versely affect the progress of democracy and market
23          development in Russia; and

24          (3) at a minimum, the President should not per-
25          mit Federal agencies to accept bids from any carrier

1        that are more than double competitive world market
2        rates.

10          “(4)(A) The participation rate requirements under 12                 “(i) In the case of a workfare program which is 13                 implemented after the date of the enactment of this 14                 subsection, the participation rate for such program 15                 shall be—

17                         operated, 10 percent; and
