H. R. 5039

To require unmarried minors who are parents or pregnant to live under adult supervision as a condition of receiving certain welfare benefits, to provide incentives for the establishment by the private sector of homes for such minors, and to provide for rehabilitation grants for housing and services facilities.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

SEPTEMBER 13, 1994

Mr. GREENWOOD introduced the following bill; which was referred jointly to the Committees on Ways and Means, Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs, Education and Labor, Energy and Commerce, and Agriculture

A BILL

To require unmarried minors who are parents or pregnant to live under adult supervision as a condition of receiving certain welfare benefits, to provide incentives for the establishment by the private sector of homes for such minors, and to provide for rehabilitation grants for housing and services facilities.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4 This Act may be cited as the “Children’s Homes for 5 A Nurturing and Caring Environment Act of 1994”.

1 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

2 The Congress finds the following:

3 (1) Children need the supervision, guidance,
4 and support of adults. Unmarried minors who are 5 parents or pregnant need more—not less—support
6 from responsible adults.

7 (2) When the parents of these minors are un-
8 able to provide for their care, it is the responsibility
9 of society to assure that they are placed in the care
10 of other responsible adults.

11 (3) A welfare system that provides direct cash
12 and food stamp benefits to minors who are mothers
13 or pregnant but does not ensure that these young
14 mothers are in the care of responsible adults places
15 the young mothers and their children at risk.

16 (4) Pregnant minors and minors with children
17 who lack the care of a responsible parent should be 18 placed in the care of other responsible adults. Suffi-
19 cient financial resources should be provided to these 20 responsible adults to meet the needs of the children
21 placed in their care.

22 (5) Minors who give birth make up nearly half 23 of the AFDC caseload. From 1976 to 1992, the 24 number of minors receiving Aid to Families with De-25 pendent Children (AFDC) grew from 35,000 to 26 150,000. The number of minors receiving AFDC

1 who gave birth increased during this period from 2 743,000 to 1,200,000. Since most States do not sep-
3 arately identify minor parents whose benefits are in-
4 corporated into their own mothers' grants, the real
5 number of minor parents on AFDC may be twice
6 this high.

7 (6) These minor parents are the least likely to 8 become self-reliant. Less than half of the minors
9 who give birth have high school diplomas, as com-
10 pared to two-thirds of minors who did not give birth.
11 These minors are twice as likely to have 4 or more
12 children as those who do not give birth. In 1992,
13 two-thirds of minors who gave birth never married.
14 Child support is much more difficult to collect for 15 the children of minors who have never married.

16 (7) The Center for Population Options has esti-
17 mated that in 1990 the Federal Government spent
18 $25,000,000,000 in AFDC, Medicaid, and food
19 stamps to support families begun by teenagers.

20 (8) The children of these single, teenage, low-
21 income, undereducated parents are among the most 22 at risk in our society for poor nurturing, neglect,
23 abuse, and chronic dependency.

24 (9) It is in the critical interests of these chil-
25 dren, their parents, and society that appropriate

1 public and private resources be marshalled to pro-
2 vide them with a safe, secure, stable, nurturing envi-
3 ronment where children can be protected and the 4 parents trained in parenting, homemaking, and job
5 skills, and where they can be encouraged to become 6 able parents who are economically self-reliant.

7 (10) A program that simply provides cash, food
8 stamps, and Medicaid cards to minor parents in in-
9 dividual, self-chosen settings fails to meet these criti-
10 cal goals.

11 (11) At the turn of the last century, single,
12 minor women who were parents or pregnant were 13 unable to provide financial and other necessary re-
14 sources for their children were cared for in private 15 charitable institutions known as homes for unwed
16 mothers. With the advent of the modern client-based 17 social welfare system, these homes have nearly dis-
18 appeared. As we move into the next century, it is 19 time to recreate the modern day equivalent of these 20 nurturing and constructive environments.
