HON. THOMAS M. DAVIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, April 23, 1996

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, it gives me great pleasure to rise today to pay tribute to the individuals and businesses who are this year's winners of the Best of Reston Awards. The Best of Reston Community Service Award was created to recognize companies, organizations and individuals who have made outstanding contributions to community service, and/or who have improved the lives of people in need in Reston, VA.

Tom Bartelt for his 25 years of service to the Greater Reston community through his role as the television eyes and ears of the community. As community program manager for Warner Cable, Tom Bartelt was there at the beginning, first as a volunteer, and then as staff, covering events big and small. He also helps local charities, giving selflessly of his time and talents to encourage young people in the broadcasting field and keeping community television alive and directed in the right spirit.

James Cleveland for his unique and direct impact on the quality of life in Reston and for serving as a role model for others in his approach to community service. As a driving force behind Mobile Land, Jim Cleveland has created the atmosphere for corporate pride and participation in support of civic causes as demonstrated in Reston's status as an internationally recognized example of excellence in community planning. He has also demonstrated a true sense of community and civic affairs, including Greater Reston Arts Center, YMCA of Metropolitan Washington, Washington Airports Task Force, Northern Virginia Transportation Alliance and the Greater Reston Chamber of Commerce. By both his positioning of Reston Land as a good corporate citizen and through his own leadership role in the community, Jim Cleveland has served the social, artistic, and business fabric of the Reston community.

Judy Duncan for her selfless dedication and willingness to go above and beyond to serve the needs for those in crisis through her Duncan Answering Service and the Herndon-Reston F.I.S.H. (Friendly, Instant, Sympathetic Help). Judy Duncan has been a key part of F.I.S.H. for many years and has touched and assisted hundreds of people during those years. From her initial role as one needing help during a medical crisis to being a volunteer to becoming the person who initiated a way for others to receive help through an answering service, Judy Duncan is one of the quiet people who make things happen. When a void developed, Judy created the Duncan Answering Service to field the many calls F.I.S.H. receives from those in need. On average, 75 to 100 calls are received daily and are referred to appropriate agencies or individuals to assist. For her role in volunteering and creating this selfless service, we honor Judy Duncan.

Lee A. Rau for years of consistent volunteer and community involvement. Motivated by a strong desire to give back, Lee has made a lifetime commitment to making Reston a better place. He is a longtime supporter of Reston Interfaith and the Greater Reston Arts Center and has served as President of the Board of both organizations. He supported early efforts to establish both Laurel Learning Center and the Embry Rucker Community Shelter. Early on, Lee recognized a need for more affordable housing and he has worked tirelessly for over 20 years to see that it would be built. Currently and concurrently, he is taking a lead to develop a permanent home for GRACE. Lee Rau is a dedicated member of the community and is honored for his work in many areas.

Patriot National Bank is honored for its role as a good corporate citizen and for going beyond the purpose of a business to help, care and contribute to the quality of life of all citizens of the community, not just its customers. Patriot National Bank has demonstrated its commitment through many avenues: number one provider of SBA loans in Reston area; providing funding for the Market in the Woods; providing below market funding for homeowner's associations and South Lakes High School student bank; and encouraging service on community boards and committees by its officers and employees. The activities and outreach of Patriot National Bank, a "homegrown bank," have made Reston a better place to live and work.

Reston Hospital Center for its role as a corporate leader in community service and for its commitment to improve the health of our entire community by an extensive outreach program of health and wellness. Since its inception, Reston Hospital Center has demonstrated its concern for the welfare of others in the community through active participation in the United Way Campaign, American Heart Association, area religious organizations, Greater Reston Chamber of Commerce, Reston Interfaith, Meals on Wheels, Reston Triathlon, Red Cross blood drives. In 1995, Reston Hospital Center provided millions of dollars in taxes, charity and uncompensated care to the community. The hospital employs more than 800 area residents, have over 200 weekly volunteers and has a dedicated staff which contributes to local high school health care scholarship programs. More than 5,000 people benefited from screening and health programs sponsored by the hospital in 1995. As an integral part of the community, Reston Hospital Center provides unsurpassed care and reaches out to all citizens as an exemplary health care resource.

Reston Town Center Associates for further developing Reston's sense of community by providing a vibrant place for people to come together and for their support of worthy causes. Reston Town Center Associates have always been willing to offer a gathering place and to support many groups who do volunteer and non-profit work. They have improved the quality of life of all members of the community, especially the elderly and children through free events such as Take-a-Break Concerts, the Holiday Parade, Meet Me at the Movies, and Mother's and Father's Day events. They have supported many worthy causes such as GRACE, Cystic Fibrosis, American Diabetes, Reston Interfaith, Children's Hospital and the Multiple Sclerosis Society. More than $309,385 has been raised for non-profit groups. In addition, another $17,900 has been donated to local non-profit groups by the Mobil Foundation and the Mercury Foundation. In 1995 more than 5 million people visited Reston Town Center.

Mr. Speaker, I know my colleagues join me in honoring the "Best of Reston" Award winners for all of their hard work in making their community a better place to live.

HAIL TO THE "CHIEF"

HON. RONALD V. DELLUMS

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, April 23, 1996

Mr. DELLUMS. Mr. Speaker, it brings me sadness and honor to pay final tribute to Charles Alfred "Chief" Anderson, the "father of black aviation." He died on Saturday, April 12, 1996, at his home in Tuskegee, AL, at the age of 89. A premier aviator, the apex of his career came in 1941 when Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, the wife of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, asked him to take her for a flight over Tuskegee Institute, Alabama, against the tremendous opposition of her entourage. Mrs. Roosevelt risked her life with a Negro aviator because she saw no reason why Negro men could not fly. Shortly thereafter, Tuskegee was selected to participate in a program with the U.S. Army Air Corps to find out if Negro men could measure up as military pilots. Their records speak for themselves.

Anderson's love for flying began at an early age when he lived in Virginia. When he heard there was an airplane in the vicinity, he would run to see it. People said about him, "That boy's crazy. He'd have to be crazy to be thinking about flying." To that, Chief replied: "I thought they were the crazy ones."

For Anderson, getting a pilot's license was not easy. Anderson continuously ran into clouds of racial prejudice. He was denied entry to Drexel Institute Aviation School in 1920 because of his race. He was also told "no" by the Army which did not allow black pilots before World War II. He finally found a friend in Mr. Ernest Buehl, a German World War I pilot, known as the Flying Dutchman, who started an airport in Philadelphia, PA. Under Buehl's guidance and instruction, Anderson finally received a transport license in 1932, thus becoming the first black pilot to hold an air transport license.

Chief's constant companion was his dog, Yo Yo, a mongrel who shared his love for flying. Before his dog died, Anderson said, "He's smart. He can tell if a student is not flying right. If a student is doing all right, YoYo lies down. If the student makes a bad landing, Yo Yo won't fly with him again."

Chief Anderson was held in the highest regard by his peers. Two of Anderson's most famous students are Lt. Gen. Benjamin O. Davis, Jr., who became commander of the 99th Pursuit Squadron and later the first black Air Force general, and General Daniel "Chappie" James, the first black four-star general. During World War II, the 332nd Fighter Group, comprised of our all black squadrons, and under Colonel Davis' command flew more than 1,500 missions and destroyed 409 enemy aircraft. In more recent times, Air Force Colonel Guion L. Bluford led black aviators into space. Dr. Ronald McNair, a black American, died in flight aboard the orbiter Challenger. Today, there are countless thousands of military, commercial, and civilian black pilots—all of whom owe their presence in the cockpit and other aviation-related jobs to the undaunted character and perseverance of C. Alfred "Chief" Anderson.

Mr. Anderson's wife of 62 years, Gertrude, died just over a year ago. I invite my colleagues to join me as I offer condolences to his loving family, including his sons, Charles A. Anderson, Jr. of Chicago, and Alfred of Seattle; three grandchildren, and one great-granddaughter. He will be greatly missed, however his legacy will live on as a source of inspiration for generations to come. I wish Charles Alfred "Chief" Anderson "high flight."

TRIBUTE TO THE KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS, COUNCIL 155, WATERTOWN, MA

HON. JOSEPH P. KENNEDY II

OF MASSACHUSETTS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, April 23, 1996

Mr. KENNEDY of Massachusetts. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to the Knights of Columbus, Council 155, of Watertown, MA, who celebrate their centennial this year. I would like to recognize the Watertown Knights for their invaluable service to their community.

The chapter was first granted its charter by the Supreme Council on February 29, 1896. They met at various locations until 1923 when the council purchased the George H. Beynon Estate in Watertown. After 38 years on this site, in 1961, they replaced the building with their current structure which could easily accommodate the membership of 700 at the time.

There has been a local square dedicated to the proud members of the Knights of Columbus, many of whom served our country during World War I, and World War II as well as the Korean and Vietnam conflicts.

The council has been instrumental in encouraging community involvement, including youth activities such as baseball and a basketball tournament. They have also worked with the handicapped, sponsoring Special Olympics and their annual Tootsie Roll Drive for handicapped Children. The council also proudly sponsors many other charities too numerous to list, including Project Literacy and the Walk for Hunger.

Mr. Speaker, this is truly a great organization of service, dedication, and honor and so I ask my colleagues to join me in extending best wishes to the Knights of Columbus, Council 155, in Watertown, MA on this momentous centennial celebration.

IN SUPPORT OF DECENT WAGES FOR WORKING AMERICANS

HON. LOUIS STOKES

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, April 23, 1996

Mr. STOKES. Mr. Speaker, America needs to live up to its pledge of being one nation that will provide every American an opportunity to earn a decent living. In today's society there can be no advancement without a decent job and a decent wage. Under the leadership of the current Republican majority, the Congress has veered away from this pledge to working Americans who are most in need of fair pay for a job well done.

For months, Democrats have been pushing for a modest 90-cent increase in the minimum wage. When House Democrats called for a vote on a reasonable increase in the minimum wage on March 28, Republicans abused House procedures to stop a Democratic effort to increase the minimum wage.

For working Clevelanders, the proposed Democratic minimum wage increase could provide families as much as 7 months of groceries, a year of health care costs, 9 months of utility bills or 4 months of housing. Despite the fact that Republicans have pledged to fight an increase in the minimum wage I will continue to fight for the raise in pay Clevelanders deserve.

Mr. Speaker, in closing, we all should be aware of the fact that it's been 5 years since America's minimum wage workers got a raise. The minimum wage provides reasonable living for some of America's most productive citizens. The time has come for Members of Congress to take this one small step toward economic justice—raising the minimum wage.

THE CONGREGATION OF CHRIST CHURCH, LUTHERAN OF SAN FRANCISCO IS CELEBRATING THE 25TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE INSTALLATION OF PASTOR DAVID ROHRER

HON. TOM LANTOS

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, April 23, 1996

Mr. LANTOS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today, on the 25th anniversary of the installation of Pastor David Rohrer, to pay his tribute on his impressive and extremely productive tenure as pastor for Christ Church, Lutheran in my congressional district in San Francisco and to recognize his outstanding service to our community.

Pastor Rohrer was born January 10, 1937, in Richmond, CA. His commitment to the Christian ministry has been nearly lifelong. He was ordained into the Lutheran Church ministry in June, 1961, and since that time has dedicated himself fully to his profession. Before his installation as senior pastor at Christ Church, Lutheran in San Francisco in 1970, he served as assistant pastor at Our Saviors Lutheran Church in Sparks, NV.

Pastor Rohrer's commitment to his congregation and church bound him to the outside community. His religious leadership outside of Christ Church includes membership on the board of directors of the Sunny View Lutheran Home in Cupertino, CA, Pacific Lutheran Seminary in Berkeley, CA, and the Lutheran Lesbian and Gay Ministries. He has served several terms as president of Sunny View Lutheran Home and is currently treasurer of the Lutheran Lesbian and Gay Ministries. He was elected and served as dean of the San Francisco Conference, Evangelical Lutheran Church in America for 1993-94.

Pastor Rohrer has not shied away from tackling the most controversial of issues throughout his illustrious career. His leadership in creating equal standing for gay and lesbian clergy has earned him nationwide recognition. The opposition from his parent church and hostility from his own congregation could not dissuade or intimidate Pastor Rohrer from his efforts.

The most telling mark of Pastor Rohrer's leadership and Christian compassion can be found in the individual relationships he has made with his congregation throughout the years. He has been a pastor to over 600 people, has baptized 172, and performed countless marriages. Pastor Rohrer has served his community for the greater part of his life and that is why it is especially befitting that on this day the community has come together to honor him as leader, a friend, and a fellow human committed to the betterment of society as a whole.

Mr. Speaker, on this day, when we celebrate the 25 years of a remarkable career, I ask my colleagues to join me in paying tribute to Pastor David Rohrer for his admirable accomplishment and outstanding determination.

IN CELEBRATION OF EARTH DAY

HON. BENJAMIN A. GILMAN

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, April 23, 1996

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, Monday marked the 26th anniversary of Earth Day. As a member of the party of Teddy Roosevelt, the great Republican who enlarged our national parks and established our national wildlife refuges, I am pleased to recall the great environmental gains our country has made in cleaning up our rivers, streams, and lakes.

Our waterways are one of our Nation's most important resources. They are an important part of the surrounding ecosystem, providing an important source of income to surrounding communities and businesses, as well as providing potable drinking water for families and communities. Acknowledging this, I voted against the so-called Clean Water Act Amendments due to its lack of Federal protection of important water resources, and its rolling back of nearly a decade of invaluable water protection resources.
