REPORT

together with

MINORITY AND DISSenting VIEWS

[To accompany H.R. 999]

[Including cost estimate of the Congressional Budget Office]

The Committee on Economic and Educational Opportunities, to whom was referred the bill (H.R. 999) to establish a single, consolidated source of Federal child care funding; to establish a program to provide block grants to States to provide nutrition assistance to economically disadvantaged individuals and families and to establish a program to provide block grants to States to provide school-based food services to students; to restrict alien eligibility for certain education, training, and other programs; and for other purposes, having considered the same, report favorably thereon with an amendment and recommend that the bill as amended do pass.

The amendment strikes out all after the enacting clause of the bill and inserts a new text which appears in italic type in the reported bill.

The provisions of the substitute text are explained in this report.

tain education, training and other programs; and to establish work requirements for persons receiving cash public assistance.

On July 13, 1993, the Committee on Education and Labor and the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service conducted a joint hearing on the issue. On November 31, 1993, the Committee on Post Office and Civil Services also favorably reported H.R. 1645. On November 21, 1993, the bill was passed by voice vote under suspension of the rules.

The Senate did not act on H.R. 1645 before the 103rd Congress adjourned. However, in the Improving America's Schools Act (P.L. 103-382), enacted on October 20, 1994, Congress called for the use of updated poverty estimates in the formula for allocation of funds under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (as amended). Congress also directed the National Academy of Sciences to monitor the Census Bureau's intercensal poverty estimates program and to report to Congress on the reliability of small area poverty data for various policy and programmatic purposes.

INTRODUCTION OF WELFARE REFORM LEGISLATION

On January 3, 1995, Representatives Shaw, Talent and LaTourette introduced the Personal Responsibility Act, H.R. 4, which included provisions relating to welfare reform and was part of the Republican Contract with America.

On February 21, 1995, Committee on Economic and Educational Opportunities Chairman William Goodling introduced H.R. 999, the Welfare Reform Consolidation Act of 1995. H.R. 999 was designed to represent the Committee's initiatives at program reforms relating to welfare reform.

LEGISLATION ACTION

On February 22 and 23, 1995, the Committee on Economic and Educational Opportunities assembled to consider H.R. 999, the Welfare Reform Consolidation Act of 1995. Chairman Goodling offered an amendment in the nature of a substitute to H.R. 999. Further amendments to the amendment in the nature of a substitute were adopted, and the Committee adopted the amendment in the nature of a substitute, as amended. H.R. 999, as amended, was approved by the Committee on Economic and Educational Opportunities on February 23, 1995, by a recorded vote.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

H.R. 999 is the Committee on Economic and Educational Opportunities portion of welfare reform legislation. As such, it along with bills passed by other committees, marks a significant step in fulfilling Republican Members' Contract with America to reform the nation's broken welfare system.

The need for major welfare reform is obvious to almost everyone. According to a public opinion poll conducted in January, 1994, 71% of the American public said the current welfare system does "more harm than good." President Clinton campaigned for that office by promising to "end welfare as we know it," even though his subsequent proposals on welfare reform failed to match his campaign rhetoric. The current welfare system, though intended to show society's compassion for those of limited means, in far too many cases actually creates more dependence on government, and rewards behaviors destructive to individuals, families, and society. As a witness before the committee put it, "In welfare, as in most other things in life, you get what you pay for. The current system pays for non-work and non-marriage, and has achieved dramatic increases in both."

During the most of the past thirty years, the answer to every problem and the means to every "reform" has been to create another federal program. Of course, each new federal program required separate regulations, separate applications, separate eligibility rules, separate reports. Each of these in turn requires additional personnel to administer the program, to check the paperwork, to write the regulations. Much of the good intentions behind all of these programs was lost in a maze of red tape and regulations. In the end, they seemed more designed to meet the needs of those who administer them than those who were the intended beneficiaries.

The Committee believes it is time to move in a new direction. Rather than creating new programs, H.R. 999 consolidates federal programs into more coherent and flexible grants to the states. The needs of different states, and even different parts of a single state vary greatly. The Committee believes that states can respond more effectively to the needs of their residents through more general purpose grants that set forth goals and certain minimum requirements, accompanied by assessments of whether those goals have been met, than can the usual “one size fits all” federal program.

Title I—Child Care Consolidation

Of the current major Federal child care programs, four are relatively new and are the focus of Title I of the Welfare Reform Consolidation Act of 1995. These include child care for families receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) and Transitional Child Care for families leaving AFDC, which were created as part of a welfare reform initiative in 1988, and two programs for low-income working families, the Child Care and Development Block Grant (CCDBG) and At-Risk Child Care, which were created in 1990. Estimated Federal spending for these four programs combined in FY 1994 is $1.9 billion.

Since 1990, concern has developed that too many Federal child care programs now exist, with inconsistent and uncoordinated eligibility rules and other requirements that interfere with service delivery and cause children and families to experience disruptions in their day care arrangement.

According to a May 1994 General Accounting Office study:

Despite state progress in developing seamless systems of providing child care, gaps in services remain because of different program requirements. These program requirements differ in specifying (1) the categories of clients who can be served, (2) the activities clients are permitted to pursue while remaining eligible for child care, (3) the ceiling on the amount of income that may be earned while retaining program eligibility, and (4) the length of time the child care subsidy is allowed to be paid. States told us that these conflicting requirements and resulting gaps can have negative consequences when they need it to remain in the labor force.1

This concern about service gaps and inconsistencies in the current mix of Federal child care programs was echoed in the following policy statement adopted by the Nation’s governors at the Winter 1995 National Governors Association meeting:

Create a seamless child care system.—The Governors urge Congress to move toward a more seamless system incorporating all of the Federal child care programs. In general, the belief that CCDBG should be the foundation for that seamless system and that other Federal child care programs, such as the Title IV-A [AFDC and Transitional] and At-Risk Child Care programs, should be consolidated with the Child Care and Development Block Grant to form a single child care system operated by the States.

The Committee is committed to assisting states develop the most efficient and effective use of federal funds provided for child care assistance for low income families. In addition, as Congress undertakes efforts to significantly reform the welfare system by consolidating cash assistance and job training programs for welfare recipients, it must also simplify the delivery and administration of federal assistance for child care services.

By providing a single source of federal child care funding to the States with much greater flexibility for administration, States will be able to decide how best to use the funds, target funds toward low income families in a rational fashion, and allow subsidies to “follow the parent” in a seamless system that will help welfare recipients move from welfare to long-term employment and independence.

Title II—Food and Nutrition Programs

The federal government currently provides cash and commodity support to child nutrition programs serving over 30 million children and 1.5 million mothers. These programs provide Federal cash and commodities to States to distribute to institutions serving meals (or milk) to children in schools, in residential and non-residential child care facilities and summer camps. They also provide aid to State health departments for supplemental nutrition programs for low-income women, infants and young children at nutritional risk. Additional Federal support is also provided for the State administrative costs of operating programs, nutrition education and training, studies, research and evaluations, dietary guidance, Federal review, and the operation of a Food Service Management Institute. Child nutrition programs include the school lunch, school breakfast, child care food, summer food service, special milk, nutrition education and training (NET), State administrative expenses, commodity distribution programs, and special supplemental nutrition program for women, infants and children.

Over the years, as the number of Federal nutrition programs has grown, so too have the number of Federal, regulations and administrative and operating requirements for them. There are now some 30 different reimbursement rates for lunches and/or suppers, breakfasts, meal supplements (snacks) served to children in schools and child care facilities, summer programs, universities participating in athletic programs for lower income children, and homeless shelters.

Most of these reimbursements are accompanied by Federal laws and regulations requiring schools and child care institutions to collect income information on children and keep track of what is served, how much is served, and to whom it is served. In addition to providing food supplements and nutrition education to poor mothers and children, local WIC clinics are required to register voters, develop services for the homeless and provide referrals and coordinate activities with a wide array of social services agencies. Pages of Federal law and regulations also govern how States achieve savings in buying foods contained in the WIC food package and how they use these savings.

The Committee has heard a great deal of testimony concerning the detailed and burdensome regulations which currently govern the various child nutrition programs. For example, Marilyn Hunt, Food Service Supervision, School District of LaCrosse, Wisconsin testified:

The first thing that seems to me that needs to be addressed is the whole process of collecting, reviewing, sorting, and tracking the income of the families who apply for the meal benefits. Surely there are other agencies who are gathering and tracking the very same data. You know, I have one 10-month employee in my office that is there just to keep track of this information and see that it is all in order for an audit. It used to be that at the beginning of the school year for the first two months all of us in the office really concentrated on the information with income and collecting that data. But now we must continually update that information, so it is become a full-time position.

Secondly, we need to have one program, and you heard it mentioned here this morning already, to use a popular word in our business, a seamless program.

I brought with me the file that we have to turn in order to have the summer food service program in nine sites in LaCrosse for a five-week program. This is what we send into the State of Wisconsin in order to have that program. As you can see, it takes a great deal of time to fill out all of those forms. We need one contract for all programs with one set of rules. We also need to eliminate some of the burdensome rules that are not friendly to children. For example, checking their plates at the end of the line to see that they have at least three items on their plate. That is no way to teach children how to eat. They glare at us when we tell them, you need to go back for one more item, then they go get that item and later when they go to dump their tray, they throw it away.

We would much rather be teaching children how to make the right choices, and then they are much more likely, we have learned from our experience, to take all the items and to consume them.

The Committee believes that the consolidation of programs combined with increased flexibility for the states offers a way out of the myriad of Federal requirements and restrictions that currently often force States and local agencies to spend nearly as much time on paperwork and administration as they spend on feeding hungry children.
Title III—Restrictions on Non-Citizens

Since the early 1930s, Congress has enacted social programs that provide benefits to eligible persons through direct assistance to individual recipients or through Federal funding of State, local, and non-profit organizations. More recently, Congress has begun limiting eligibility for many of these programs based upon an individual’s status under immigration law.

As a beginning point, non-citizens who come into the United States are broadly referred to as aliens. Immigration law defines an alien as “any person not a citizen or a national of the United States.” Aliens consist of two basic groups of people—immigrants and nonimmigrants. Immigrants are persons admitted as permanent residents of the United States. Nonimmigrants are admitted temporarily as visitors for a specific purpose—for example, as tourists, foreign students, diplomats, temporary agricultural workers, exchange visitors, or intracompany business personnel. This latter group is required to leave the country at the end of the time allotted to them.

Generally, the conditions for the admission of immigrants are much more stringent than for nonimmigrants, and fewer immigrants than nonimmigrants are admitted. However, once admitted to the United States, immigrants are subject to few restrictions on what they can do. They may accept and change employment, and may apply for United States citizenship through the naturalization process. Typically, an immigrant must reside in the United States for five (5) years before becoming eligible for naturalization. In the case of a spouse of a citizen, the time period is three (3) years.

By contrast, illegal or undocumented aliens enter the United States by breaking the law—either by circumventing border inspections, or entering legally and overstaying their terms. The Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) has estimated that approximately 50% of illegal aliens consist of those who have stayed beyond their term.

With respect to population, the annual increase in the population of the United States as a result of legal and illegal immigration, is slightly over one million people. Approximately 800,000 immigrants were admitted as permanent residents in Fiscal Year 1994. This figure included 120,000 refugees and asylees previously admitted who adjusted to immigrant status.

The resident population of illegal aliens is estimated to be 3.4 million, with an annual growth of approximately 300,000. Of the 3.4 million illegal aliens, the largest numbers reside in seven states. The states, from the largest to smallest numbers of illegal aliens, are California, New York, Texas, Florida, Illinois, New Jersey, and Arizona.

The eligibility of aliens for the major Federal benefits programs (Aid to Families With Dependent Children, Supplemental Security Income, food stamps, Medicaid, housing assistance, Legal Services Corporation, Job Training Partnership Act, Social Security, Medicare, Unemployment Compensation, postsecondary student financial aid) depends on their immigration status, as well as eligibility criteria which apply to United States citizens, such as financial need. There is no uniform, across-the-board rule for all Federal programs governing which categories of aliens are eligible for benefits. Rather, alien eligibility requirements are generally contained in laws governing the particular public assistance program.

Immigrants and other aliens who are legally present on a permanent basis are generally eligible for the following major Federal assistance programs: Supplemental Security Income for the Aged, Blind, and Disabled (SSI), Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), Medicaid, food stamps, postsecondary student financial aid, and the Job Training Partnership Act. Under current law, undocumented or illegal aliens are not within the category of eligible participants, nor are most aliens who are here in a legal temporary status. In some cases, however, federal program requirements are silent regarding alien status. In addition, it should be noted that illegal aliens are eligible for emergency Medicaid benefits pursuant to statute, and to a free public elementary education pursuant to court decision. Plyler v. Doe, 457 U.S. 202 (1982).

Until the early 1970s, Federal laws funding State and local assistance programs contained no eligibility restrictions based on immigration status. State governments enacted laws denying various benefits under State programs to certain legal aliens based on their years of residence. However, a 1971 Supreme Court decision, Graham v. Richardson, 403 U.S. 365 (1971), declared these restrictions to be unconstitutional. It is important to note that the decision rested on the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment as applied to States. The Court further noted that it has no occasion to decide whether Congress, in the exercise of its immigration and naturalization power, could itself enact a statute imposing on aliens a uniform Nationalwide residency requirement as a condition of Federally funded welfare benefits.

The case most clearly distinguishing Federal authority to make distinctions based upon alienage is Matthews v. Diaz, 426 U.S. 67 (1976). In upholding the constitutionality of a Federal statute which made distinctions on alienage, the Court drew attention to the broad authority of Congress to decide what aliens may enter the National borders and the conditions of their stay.

With regard to Federal restrictions on Federal benefits, the Matthews court stated:

[T]he fact that Congress has provided some welfare benefits for citizens does not require it to provide like benefits for all aliens. Neither the overnight visitor, the unfriendly agent of a hostile foreign power, the resident diplomat, nor the illegal entrant can advance even a colorable constitutional claim to a share in the bounty that a conscientious sovereign makes available to its own citizens and some of its guests.

Since it is obvious that Congress has no constitutional duty to provide all aliens with welfare benefits provided to citizens, the party challenging the constitutionality of the particular line Congress has drawn has the burden of advancing principled reasoning that will at once invalidate that line and yet tolerate a different line separating some aliens from others. * * * In short, it is unquestionably reasonable for Congress to make an alien's eligibility depend on both the character and the duration of his residence. Since neither requirement is wholly irrational, this case essentially involves nothing more than a claim that it would have been more reasonable for Congress to select somewhat different requirements of the same kind. * * *

When this kind of policy choice must be made, we are especially reluctant to question the exercise of congressional judgment.—426 U.S. at 80, 82-83, 84.

Finally, immigration law requires that immigrants establish that they will not become a “public charge” after entry. As far back as 1882, this was a part of Federal immigration law. A principal way of meeting this requirement under current law is by means of an affidavit of support signed by a U.S. sponsor. In response to concerns in the early 1980s about the difficulty of enforcing affidavits of support and because of a belief that some newly-arrived immigrants were abusing the U.S. welfare system, legislation was enacted limiting the availability of benefits to sponsored immigrants of SSI, AFDC, and food stamps. The enabling legislation for the three programs was amended to provide that for the purpose of determining financial eligibility for a designated time after entry, immigrants are deemed to have some portion of the income and resources of their immigration sponsors available for their support. The sponsor-to-alien deeming period is three years for AFDC and food stamps, and has been temporarily increased for three to five years for SSI, effective January 1, 1994 to October 1, 1996.

The Committee believes that further restrictions are necessary in order to (1) clearly state that persons who reside in the United States illegally are not eligible for benefits under the committee programs, and (2) create a preference, in some cases, for citizens of the United States over those who reside legally in this country but are not citizens. Such a policy not only recognizes that citizens have made a complete and permanent commitment to this country, but also encourages others who reside in the United States to become full participants in the society as citizens.

As introduced, H.R. 4, the Personal Responsibility Act, established restrictive eligibility criteria for fifty-two (52) Federally-authorized, needs-based programs, twenty-one (21) of which fell within the jurisdiction of the Economic and Educational Opportunities Committee. H.R. 4 barred substantially all aliens from eligibility for the twenty-one (21) programs. The only exceptions were for refugees for a period of six (6) years after arrival, lawful permanent residents over age seventy-five (75) who have resided in the United States for at least five (5) years, and aliens eligible on the date of enactment for a period of one year.

The Economic and Educational Opportunities Committee, in reporting H.R. 999, revised the more generalized restrictions which were included in H.R. 4, and carefully tailored eligibility for Federal assistance based upon distinctions between illegal aliens, certain categories of legal aliens, and citizens. Illegal aliens would be barred from eligibility for the needs-tested programs under the Committee’s jurisdiction. The eligibility of certain legal aliens would be restricted from some but not all programs.

The bill acknowledges those legal aliens who have made a commitment to this Country—either through the active duty military or through filing an application for naturalization—by providing eligibility for higher education and job training assistance. In addition, the bill provides a safety net for legal aliens in three programs. Legal aliens would specifically be eligible for emergency food and shelter assistance, nutrition assistance under the School-Based Block Grant, and nutrition assistance under the Family Nutrition Block Grant. Finally, H.R. 999, as reported, makes provision for the special circumstances of refugees, the elderly, and those who are eligible on the date of enactment (for a period of one year).

Title IV.—Work Requirements

BACKGROUND

Efforts by this Committee, and its predecessor, the Committee on Education and Labor, to move individuals from welfare to work extend back to 1964, with the passage of the Economic Opportunity Act (P.L. 88–462). A law designed to attack virtually all causes of poverty. Under this law, a new Federal agency, the Office of Economic Opportunity, was established to coordinate the antipoverty effort. Education, employment and training were emphasized through the new law, which provided work and training opportunities for in-school and drop-out youth (including the Job Corps), employment programs for low-income college students, and adult basic education.

Title V of the Economic Opportunity Act authorized Work Experience Programs for heads of households who could not support their families. The Education and Labor Committee report on the legislation stated that the Committee expected four results from the new program: expansion of Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) benefits to families with unemployed parents in more states; extension of work and training opportunities to more welfare families; training for welfare mothers; work and training opportunities to more welfare families; and training for other needy persons, such as general assistance recipients. The report said, “It is expected that programs combining constructive work and training through public assistance channels will serve as an effective device for reaching more of the unskilled unemployed and thereby preserving their basic skills and initiatives.” The Committee intended this program to work in coordination with the Manpower Development and Training Act (MDTA), another program which was within the Committee’s jurisdiction. During the program’s operation, between 1965 and 1968, about 70 percent of Work Experience Program participants were welfare recipients.

Eventually, the Work Experience Program was replaced by the Work Incentive (WIN) Program which was specifically placed under the Education and Labor Committee’s sole jurisdiction in 1975 under the Rules of the House of Representatives. However, the law failed to provide true employment opportunities for welfare mothers.

While enacting employment and training programs for the poor as part of the Economic Opportunity Act in 1964, the Committee on Education and Labor also approved amendments to the MDTA, refocusing those programs more specifically on low-income individuals and public assistance recipients. The Committee subsequently reported legislation, consolidating all employment-related programs for the disadvantaged, which was finally enacted as the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973 (CETA). In 1976, this Committee reported legislation, which was subsequently enacted, that focused the public service employment under CETA specifically on low-income individuals and AFDC recipients. As a result of the high incidence of fraud, waste and abuse under the CETA program, specifically the public service repealed CETA, and replaced it with the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA), designed to provide employment and training services for economically disadvantaged individuals, including AFDC recipients. Currently, about 40% of all females participating under the JTPA II-A program for economically disadvantaged adults, are recipients of AFDC.

In 1987, the Education and Labor Committee reported out the Family Welfare Reform Act of 1987 which included the proposed establishment of the Fair Work Opportunities Program. It was the intent of this program, (which under the final legislation, the Family Support Act of 1988, was renamed the Job Opportunities and Basic Skills (JOBS) Program “to assure that needy children and parents obtain the education, training, and employment which will help them avoid long-term welfare dependence.”

NEED FOR LEGISLATION

There is overwhelming public support for the idea that any able-bodied adult who becomes a public burden should work. (see, e.g. “What To Do About Welfare,” The Public Perspective, Feb./March, 1995, pp. 39-46, citing December, 1994 survey showing 84% support strict work requirements.) Currently, all able-bodied adult recipients of Aid to Families With Dependent Children (AFDC) must participate in the Jobs Opportunity and Basic Skills (JOBS) program. However, under this program, the emphasis is not on work but instead on education and training activities which too often are designed with little relevance to the realities of the working world. In addition, the many statutory restrictions under the JOBS program greatly hamper the ability of States to design more sensible welfare-to-work systems which both meet their needs, and allow for easier coordination and integration with other programs—the Job Training Partnership Act in particular.

Based on these facts, it was the decision of this Committee to repeal the JOBS program, and replace it with mandatory work requirements. This change, along with the work currently being done in the Ways and Means Committee towards block granting AFDC funds, will give States additional flexibility to implement new and innovative approaches to transforming welfare recipients into workforce participants.

WORK FIRST

The fact that work activities are not a priority under JOBS was highlighted by Mark Greenberg, Senior Staff Attorney, Center for Law and Social Policy. Mr. Greenberg testified before this Committee stating the following:

While the JOBS program has demonstrated a strong commitment to education, its progress has been much less in those areas which involve direct employer linkages; job placement and development activities, work supplementation, and on-the-job training. The lack of stronger employment linkages is of concern for several reasons: First, in many instances, individuals do not wish to participate in education; they want to enter employment as rapidly as possible. In those cases, a more comprehensive program could increase their employment opportunities. Second, the impact of education and training efforts may be diminished when a program lacks the ability to readily translate education gains into employment opportunities in the local community.

His testimony is supported by data from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (JOBS Program Information Memorandum, No. ACF-IM-94-8, September 29, 1994) which indicates that for the most recent program year, almost 58 percent of JOBS participants engaged in education and training related activities, as compared to just 12.8 percent who were placed into work-directed activities—including job search assistance (8%), community work experience (4.3%), on-the-job training (0.2%), and work supplementation (0.3%).

Additional evidence that the lack of priority on work in the JOBS program is clearly the wrong approach in reducing welfare dependency was provided by Michael Genest, Deputy Director, Welfare Programs Division, California Department of Health and Human Services, who testified on this point, stating:

(What we have found), thanks to Ms. Gueron's evaluation in the Manpower Demonstration Research Corporation (MDRC) report of our four California counties that were extensively studied, is that the GAIN Program, and I believe the other State's jobs programs, can only be successful when it is strongly focused on employment. I would cite Riverside County as evidence for that, and the MDRC report goes into some detail as to what caused that in Riverside county, but basically I think the main thing that sets Riverside apart and makes it the most effective welfare-to-work program ever rigorously studied in this country is the management, the staff, the providers of service, and the participants, all keep their attention focused on that one goal of getting a job. I think that job focus is, more than anything, responsible for why Riverside County returned $2.84 of savings for every taxpayer dollar of cost. The flip side of that, the other lesson that I think we have learned, is that stressing long-term education and long-term training as opposed to stressing immediate job placement does not work. I would cite our Alameda County, which was also part of the MDRC report, as evidence of that * * * . In Alameda County they truly did focus on long-term educational involvement to the exclusion of an emphasis on an immediate job, and that is why their program failed, and that is why it returned only 45 cents in savings for every dollar of taxpayer investment, not an acceptable return on investment.
Taking this, and other similar testimony into account, the Committee's legislation replaces the concept of the JOBS program with the idea of "work first", in which work mandated recipients, current and new, would be required to enter into private sector employment, subsidized employment, community work, on-the-job training or job search assistance. Unlike the current JOBS program, education and training is not permitted until a recipient has participated in work or its is in conjunction with work. The legislation replaces the JOBS concept of "education and training first—maybe work later", with "work first."

STATE FLEXIBILITY

The existing statutory restrictions under the current JOBS program limit the flexibility for States to readily design and implement welfare-to-work programs which meet their needs. Ms. J. Jean Rogers, Administrator, Division of Economic Support, Wisconsin Department of Health and Human Services, provided testimony on what Wisconsin would be able to do without these restrictions.

* * * we would help people who come to us find employment or alternatives to cash assistance before their application is approved and they begin down the path of welfare dependency. We have discovered in our early county pilots that many individuals can be helped to maintain their economic independence in this way, and we would like to make cooperation in such efforts at self-sufficiency a requirement of eligibility for welfare in the first place. However, under current law, this sensible approach requires a Federal waiver.

We would also like to make participation in JOBS more like a real job. Employers say that a positive attitude and good work habits are the characteristics that they most seek when making hiring decisions. Therefore, we would pay cash assistance only for hours of successful completion of program activities, making participation in JOBS must like a wage. This is currently allowed only for two-parent families, except with another Federal waiver. We would also like to continue to encourage greater use of active private employment as preparation to fully unsubsidized employment. Our experience shows that diverting some welfare funds to temporarily help cover the wage and other costs with a private employer is far more effective than placing the same individual in a Government education or training program alone. In fact, we are more than twice as successful at placing individuals in employment with a private company than we are in placing individuals who have participated in any of our educational components, and yet the current wage subsidy provision of the AFDC law called work supplementation is extraordinarily complex, leading to a low response rate by businesses. For instance, the law says an employer cannot accept a subsidized employee in an existing position. Instead, the employer has to create an entirely new position. This is unreasonable. also, we might like to use a simple procedure giving clients vouchers for wage subsidies. Instead, there is a very complicated process for a business to claim wage subsidies under the current law.

The Committee's decision to repeal the JOBS program and replace it with a highly flexible, mandatory work provision, will allow States to move forward with these types of innovations outlined by Ms. Rogers.

ACCOUNTABILITY

State flexibility is key to the reform of our welfare system, but the public also wants the assurance that States are held accountable for placing able-bodied welfare recipients into work. Under this legislation, States will be required to meet stringent participation rates in work activities. By the year 2003, 50 percent of the adult welfare case load will be required to participate in work activities, for a minimum of 35 hours per week. For two parent welfare families these requirements would be even more strict, requiring at least one parent to work a minimum of 35 hours per week beginning in 1995. By 1998, States would have to ensure that at least one parent is working in 97% of all two-parent families.

PENALTIES

Under the Committee language, penalties will be imposed upon recipients refusing to work by requiring States to reduce their benefits until they work. States will also have the option to terminate all cash-benefits until they work. In addition to penalties placed upon individuals failing to comply, States not meeting the participation rates are also subject to reductions in their overall funding for failing to meet the minimum work participation requirements I mentioned earlier.

The provision in this section strengthens the work requirements so that we are able to truly move welfare recipients into self-sufficiency, making them independent, productive taxpayers.

Title IV—Child Welfare/Child Protection Programs

Over the last two decades, Congress has created a patchwork of child welfare/child protection programs designed to:

Prevent, investigate and treat reported cases of child abuse or neglect;

Provide preventive and support services, such as counseling and drug treatment, to troubled families;

Place children who cannot remain with their families in foster care and pay for their upkeep;

Unify foster children and their families or legally release for adoption children who cannot be returned to their families; and

Recruit appropriate adoptive families for hard-to-place children, such as those who are older, have physical or mental disabilities or are members of sibling groups.

The Committee on Economic and Educational Opportunities has jurisdiction over a number of statutes relating to family support and child welfare. Several of these statutes, the Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act (CAPTA), the Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment and Adoption Reform Act, and the Abandoned Infants Assistance Act, are scheduled to expire in 1995. The Committee on Ways and Means also has jurisdiction over major programs that provide assistance for Child Welfare, Foster Care and Adoption Assistance to the States.

CHILD PROTECTION SYSTEM IN CRISIS

As an estimated 1 million children fall victim to child abuse or neglect on an annual basis, the average length a child stays in foster care have risen to over two years, and the number of adoptions have steadily decreased, most citizens and advocates agree that the Child Protection system is seriously flawed.

According to the 1991 Report of the U.S. Advisory Board on Child Abuse and Neglect, “The system the nation has devised to respond to child abuse and neglect is failing.”

The Report continues, “No matter which element of the system that it (the Advisory Board) examined—prevention, investigation, treatment, training, or research—it found a system in disarray, a societal response ill-suited in form or scope to respond to the profound problems facing it. It was forced to conclude that the child protection system is so inadequate and so poorly planned that the safety of the nation’s children cannot be assured.”

In conducting research on the child protection system, the Committee has been presented with evidence that the system has failed in two ways—it unnecessarily intrudes in the family life of millions of Americans who are wrongfully accused of child abuse or neglect, and the system too often fails to protect children who are truly at risk.

The stresses on the child protection system have dramatically increased in the last several years. During the 1980’s, two crises greatly challenged the capacity of the child welfare system to protect children. First, beginning in the mid-1980’s, the crack cocaine epidemic dramatically changed the type of client being served by the child welfare system. Whereas the typical foster care placement in the 1970’s and early 1980’s involved neglect or highly episodic, and stress related, abuse, the new crack cocaine cases frequently involved much more severe and chronic abuse resulting in longer and repeated stays in foster care.

Second, the 1980’s saw an acceleration of the trend toward fatherless households. Given evidence that abuse is up to forty times more likely to occur when the biological father is not living in the home, the trend toward increasing father absence greatly increased the number of children interacting with the child protection system.

In addition, a philosophical change within the Child Welfare system began to move programs toward an orientation of family unification and family preservation. This philosophy of treatment took the view that all families have some strengths upon which to build, and that with appropriate early intervention and services, abuse could be prevented. In addition, the philosophy held that, even when abuse had occurred, through appropriate crisis intervention, families could be strengthened and restored.
Despite the prominence that this approach has gained, there are experts who dispute the validity of the approach, at least in its more extreme applications.

In testimony before the Subcommittee on Early Childhood, Youth and Families and the Ways and Means Subcommittee on Human Resources, Dr. Wade Horn, child psychologist and former Commissioner for Children, Youth and Families in the Department of Health and Human Services said, Although some advocates of family preservation services claim that out-of-home placement is prevented for as many as 90% of children served, the few experimental evaluations of family preservation services to date have not shown substantially lower rates of placement in foster care 4–6 months after the termination of family preservation services. In addition, according to Toshio Tatara of the American Public Welfare Association, the dramatic increase in children in foster care placements is not due to an increase in the rate at which children are entering foster care, but rather to a significant decline in the rate at which children are exiting foster care. Despite the absence of empirical evidence attesting to its effectiveness, advocates for family preservation services were successful in persuading Congress to legislate a new funding stream which can be utilized only for family preservation and support services. Consequently, whether or not such services are effective or best meet the needs of a particular community, states are now required to use a substantial portion of federal funds to provide family preservation services.

In his testimony before the Early Childhood, Youth and Families Subcommittee on January 31, 1995, Congressman Tim Hutchinson (AR) also raised concerns about the implications of a rigidly implemented family preservation philosophy. “There is another side to this problem and it is the one that I would like to focus on today—the problem of too little intervention. The reality is that while child welfare divisions are chasing down false accusations or even dealing with minor cases of neglect, there are children who are being beaten and killed.”

Hutchinson recounted the story of Kendall Shea Moore, who in the first five months of his life had virtually every bone in his body broken and his skull cracked. Authorities in Arkansas arrested the child’s father and, as an accomplice, the baby’s mother. Hutchinson described how the baby’s father was sentenced to 28 years in prison, and a five year sentence for the mother was downgraded to a three year suspended sentence. Hutchinson further described how, on January 18, 1995, just over nine months from the time Kendall was admitted to the intensive care unit, he was permanently returned to his mother’s custody.

Carol Bevan Statuto, of the National Council for Adoption, told the Subcommittee, “It is time to put to rest the myth that all foster care is bad for children and to expose the myth that biological ties are the only real ties that bind.”

^Tatara, T. U.S. Child Care Flow Data For FY 92 and Current Trends in the State Child Substitute Care Populations, VCIS Research Notes, no. 9 (August, 1993)
In summary, Dr. Horn said, “The child welfare system is not only in crisis, it is also at a crossroads. We must decide whether the solution to today’s child welfare crisis is to continue down the road we are on toward more federal oversight, more federal regulation, and more federal micro-management of the child welfare system, or to change directions and allow greater state flexibility and experimentation. I am here to argue that one of the most important reasons why the current system is in crisis is because of too much federal micro-management of the states and too little flexibility at the state and local level.”

The Committee shares this view, and believes that fragmentation of programs at the Federal level has hindered States from focusing appropriate resources on solving problems with child welfare. Rather than squandering federal resources in dozens of directions at once, with one hand not knowing at all what the other is doing, the federal effort in child protection should be concentrated, focused, and unified. By bringing multiple sources of funding together in one block grant, giving States flexibility in administering the funds, and placing a premium on uniform data collection and evaluation, we believe the federal role in child protection can be greatly enhanced and improved.

Title V.—Related Provisions

Poverty data are used to allocate more than $20 billion in federal funds to state and local governments. Currently, the only reliable source of this data below the national level is the decennial census. The Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce does produce annual estimates of the number of people in poverty for the nation as a whole. The Census bureau also reports state level poverty estimates each year, but does not consider those estimates to be sufficiently reliable for programmatic purposes.

Because intercensal small area poverty estimates are not currently available, Congress and the Administration are forced to rely on small area poverty data which may be up to thirteen years old. This presents enormous problems for the formulation of sound and coherent policy at the federal level, and often results in large shifts of funding to state and local governments every 10 to 13 years. These shifts often have a destabilizing effect on program operations.

Clearly, there is a need for more up to date estimates on poverty at the state and local level. In addition, a comprehensive analysis of this data over time will help Congress formulate sound policy and better assess the effects of the policy it enacts. Sections 501 and 502 will give us these much needed tools.

Summary

Title I.—Child Care Block Grant

Title I consolidates several federal child care programs into the Child Care and Development Block Grant to create a single consolidated program to assist low-income parents in paying for child care. The consolidation of these programs eliminates conflicting income requirements, time limits, and work requirements between the programs so federal child care funds may “follow the parent” as they move from welfare to work. The block grant also gives States much greater flexibility in targeting child care assistance, and ensures that States set effective policies on health, safety, and licensing standards.

The block grant creates a fair allocation formula that is based on the amount of federal funds each State received in 1994 under the four major child care programs—AFDC Child Care, Transitional Child Care, At-Risk Child Care and the Child Care and Development Block Grant. The grant also allows States to directly link Child Care and Development Block Grant funds with other child care funding from the AFDC block grant and the Social Security Act Title XX block grant, without the conflicting federal income and work eligibility requirements between programs.

Title II.—Food Assistance Block Grants

Title II consolidates several federal food and nutrition programs and instead, creates two block grants to the States.

The School-Based Nutrition Block Grant is a capped entitlement to the States which combines funding for the current National School Lunch and Breakfast Programs. States are to provide such funds to schools for the operation of school lunch and breakfast programs, summer meal programs, low-cost milk service and before and after school child care programs in order to meet the nutritional needs of their school population. Of the amount provided to each State, at least eighty percent of the funds must be used to provide meals to low-income children. States are permitted to transfer 20 percent of the funds in this block grant to other block grants designated in this Act.

The Family Nutrition Block Grant combines funding for the Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC), the Child and Adult Care Food, the Summer Food Program and the Special Milk Program into a block grant to the States. At least eighty percent of the Family Nutrition Block Grant must be used for a program providing food supplements to pregnant, postpartum, and breastfeeding women, infants and children based on an assessment of their nutritional risk. The remaining funds are to be used to provide meals to low income children in child care centers and family day care homes, to operate summer meal programs for economically disadvantaged children, and to provide low-cost milk to children in nonprofit nursery schools, child care centers, settlement houses, summer camps and similar institutions devoted to the care and training of children. States are permitted to transfer 20 percent of the funds in this block grant to other block grants designated in this Act.

Title III.—Restricting Alien Eligibility

Title III bars illegal aliens from eligibility for Federal benefits under certain needs-tested programs under the Committee’s jurisdiction, restricts the eligibility of certain legal aliens, and ensures that these programs appropriately provide for United States citizens.

Title IV.—Other Repealers and Conforming Amendments

WORK REQUIREMENTS

Under Title IV, the Job Opportunity and Basic Skills (JOBS) program is repealed and replaced with mandatory work requirements for recipients of AFDC.

Under the mandatory work requirements, all recipients of cash assistance are subject to participate in designated work activities for a specified amount of time (depending upon several factors). Recipients whom the State has deemed fit for such activities must participate or face financial sanctions. Under the legislation, States are required to demonstrate that a minimum number of all recipients are in fact engaged and making progress in such activities or face a reduction in their overall funding for the following year. States demonstrating overall reductions in their welfare caseload may count such reductions towards their participation.

Title V.—Related Provisions

Under Title V, the Secretary of Health and Human Services (in consultation with the Secretary of Education) is required to publish updated poverty estimates every two years. These updates must begin in 1996 for state, county, and city poverty estimates, and in 1998 for school district poverty estimates. This section authorizes the appropriation of $1.5 million per year to carry out these provisions.

This Title also requires the Secretary of Health and Human Services to publish data relating to participation in programs under this Act. This data includes such factors as participation in welfare, health, education, and employment training programs for families and children, the duration of such participation, and the effects of any changes in program participation. This data is to reflect the period 1993 through 2002. This section authorizes the appropriation of $2.5 million in Fiscal Year 1996, $10 million in each of Fiscal Years 1997 through 2002, and $2 million in Fiscal Year 2003.

EXPLANATION OF THE BILL AND COMMITTEE VIEWS

Title I.—Child Care Block Grants

In reforming the Child Care and Development Block Grant, the Committee on Economic and Educational Opportunities (hereafter referred to as the Committee) intends to create a system that: allows more federal dollars to be made available for direct child care services than under current authorities; provides flexibility for States to develop more efficient systems for helping parents avoid welfare or move from welfare to work; and, provides more choice for parents to select quality child care settings for their children.

Title I consolidates eight separate federal child care programs into a single consolidated block grant to assist low-income parents in paying for child care. This consolidation eliminates conflicting income requirements, time limits, and work requirements between the programs. These conflicting requirements have caused service gaps, unnecessary paperwork, and disincentives for parents to break free from dependence on cash assistance.

Under the new system, federal funds “follow the parent” as they move from welfare to work. States will have much greater flexibility in targeting child care assistance and in merging federal child care assistance with sources of State child care assistance.

In addition, this title ensures that States set effective policies on health, safety, and licensing standards, but gives States the flexibility to prescribe what these standards should be.

The reformed block grant also contains a key provision that gives parents the authority to decide where to send their child for day care services, creating a “parent-driven” system. This will allow market forces and the competition for child care funds to help bring improvements to the quality of child care available within a State.

The reformed block grant also frees over $200 million federal dollars from centralized planning activities to be used directly for providing services. Further, matching funds previously required to be spent by the State are no longer mandated to be spend on child care. This will allow States to focus State-generated resources on the most important State priorities. The reformed block grant, linked with authority to pay for child care services under the Temporary Family Assistance Block Grant and the Social Security Act Title XX block grant, will, if fully appropriated, make more child care dollars available than under current law.

The block grant also creates a fair allocation formula that is based on the amount of federal funds each State received in 1994 under the four major child care programs—AFDC Child Care, Transitional Child Care, At-Risk Child Care and the Child Care and Development Block Grant. This approach in formulating the State allocations will avoid the disruption of having a State receive a smaller share of federal funds than in previous years.

Finally, the reformed block grants allows States to share up to 20 percent of block grant funds with the other federal Welfare Block grants—AFDC, Child Care, Child Protection, School-based Nutrition, Family Nutrition—so that a State may target resources to pressing needs in priority areas of reform.

DISCUSSION OF PROVISIONS IN TITLE I

Section 101 contains amendments to the Child Care and Development Block Grant Act of 1990.

Program goals

Section 101(a) amends section 658A of the Child Care and Development Block Grant of 1990 by inserting the words “AND GOALS” after “TITLE”. Subsection (a) further amends 658A by inserting a new subsection (b) that includes five goals.

The Committee believes that establishing goals for the states, with proper assessments and accountability for results in relationship to these goals, rather than the current fragmented and highly regulatory federal system of support for child care, will provide more efficient and effective use of the federal funds.

Following is an explanation of each goal:
(1) Provide States maximum flexibility in developing child care programs that best suit the needs of their residents.

In providing federal support for child care, Congress has not previously made a serious attempt to develop systems that can be well coordinated at the State level. States and local providers spend on inordinate amount of effort and energy trying to integrate federal and state funding sources so they can provide a set of seamless services to parents. An administrator in a large city told committee staff that, of the thirty financial personnel employed to administer and coordinate federal and state funding sources, fifteen positions could be eliminated if the Child Care and Child Protection block grants are enacted. Generally, States and local providers have integrated programs in such a way that parents are unaware of the many different sources of funding paying for their child’s care. However, enormous resources are directed at these administrative issues rather than allowing greater focus on services to families and improving the quality of these services.

Douglas J. Besharov, resident scholar at the American Enterprise Institute for Public Policy Research, said in testimony before the Subcommittee on Early Childhood, Youth and Families and the Ways and Means Subcommittee on Human Resources, Annoying as it is for families, the morass of programs is a nightmare to administer. “Child care providers spend more time trying to coordinate programs than operate them,” protests one agency executive. Fitting the various pieces of funding together is like trying to complete a huge jigsaw puzzle. Needless to say, federal funds don’t simply flow in: Each comes with its own complicated application and approval process that forces many programs to employ at least one full-time staff person to coordinate funding and document eligibility—resources that would be better spent on the children.

(2) Promote parental choice to empower working parents to make their own decisions on the child care that best suits their family’s needs.

There are numerous arrangements that parents may make for child care, including parent care, relative care, in-home care, family day care, and center-based care. According to the National Child Care Survey of 1990, for children under age 5, a total of 48 percent of children were cared for by a parent, 22 percent by a relative, 2 percent by a non-relative in the home, 8 percent in family day care, 15 percent in centers, and 6 percent in other arrangements.

For children age 5–12, a total of 48 percent of children were cared for by a parent, 20 percent by a relative, 4 percent by a non-relative in the home, 4 percent in family day care, 6 percent in centers, and 19 percent in other arrangements.

As there are numerous arrangements for child care available to parents, there are also many perspectives on what is important in choosing day care, and what constitutes “quality.”

As Larner and Phillips state,

Parents care about child care quality, but they define quality in relation to the needs of their own children * * *

In contrast to professionals, parents want assurances that their individual child's experiences will be safe, pleasant and developmentally sound. The critical difference between parent and professional perspectives on child care is that parents are seeking a child care arrangement that will meet the needs of their own child and family; they bear no broader responsibility for the child care field. They need only find one arrangement, but their stake in the quality of that arrangement is immense.³

The Committee believes that, for welfare reform to be truly effective, parents must fully assume the responsibilities of parenthood. Among these responsibilities is the need to ensure that one's child is cared for in a safe and positive environment. Ensuring parental choice is a vital component to helping parents carry out their role.

(3) Encourage States to provide consumer education information to help parents make informed choices about child care.

The Block Grant encourages States to provide consumer information to parents on child care so that they may make informed choices. The Committee believes that providing information to consumers about sources of child care and elements that may indicate quality of care is an important determinant of the quality of care that children receive. Under the block grant, not only will parents exercise control over where their child receives care, they will have available to them a greater breadth of knowledge to inform their choice.

(4) Assist States to provide child care to parents trying to achieve independence from public assistance.

This goal recognizes that securing affordable, consistent child care services can eliminate a major barrier to a parent, particularly a single parent, entering the work force and transitioning away from dependence on public assistance. In this context, subsidies for child care are appropriate, not only for the welfare recipient getting training or beginning employment, but also for low-income working poor parents that may have never been on welfare.

The Committee also recognizes that, as States work to move recipients off public assistance, they may rightfully choose to target welfare recipients who are the most employable, such as two parent families, individuals with higher educational achievement, or individuals with school-age children. This type of flexibility in targeting individuals for transition off welfare can help a state avoid a sudden increase of demand for the most expensive types of child care.

(5) Assist States in implementing State health, safety, licensing and registration standards.

The Block Grant achieves this goal in two fashions. First, it relieves the State of the burden of developing and implementing four individual sets of requirements for health, safety and licensing from the four major separate federal programs. It provides States flexibility in establishing these standards, and also, through a more flexible funding structure, allows States to merge federal and state funds to improve child care programs.

The Committee expects that states will utilize this flexibility and opportunity for a more efficient system, and not apply different criteria or rules to child care provided through federal funds than apply to comparable child care not subsidized by federal funds.

Authorization of appropriations

Section 101(b) amends Section 658B of the Act, AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS, to include the following authorizations: $1,943,000,000 for each of fiscal years 1996, 1997, 1998, 1999 and 2000.

The Committee chose this authorization level to reflect federal spending in FY 1994 on the four major child care programs, Child Care for AFDC, Transitional Child Care, At-Risk Child Care, and the Child Care and Development Block Grant. FY 1994 is the most recent year for which federal funds, some of which were tied to State matching requirements, have been verified.

Lead entity

Section 101(c) amends 658D of the Act by changing the term “agency” to “entity”, and by replacing the term “lead agency” with “lead entity” throughout the Act.

The term “agency” was changed to “entity” to allow States more flexibility in determining how the block grant would be administered. Under this change, an entity, chosen by the State, but not necessarily on the level of a State agency, could be established to administer the block grant.

State plan requirements

Section 101(d) amends Section 658E of the Act to clarify that the State plan length is two years.

Section 101(d) also maintains the requirements that the State assure that parents are given a choice of child care providers.

In paragraphs (B) Unlimited Parental Access, and (C) Parental Complaints, the bill changes the phrase “provide assurances” to “certify.”

The Committee intends this to reflect a change in the approval process followed by the Secretary of HHS. In this new approach, the Committee intends for the Secretary’s ability to shape the content of the State plan to be limited. For functions in which the State should have in effect certain procedures and policies, it must certify that such procedures/policies are actually in effect. For other functions that the State intends to carry out in the grant period, the State plan should require an assurance that the proposed action will be carried out.

In reviewing the State plan, the Secretary may determine the form in which the plan is submitted and determine what information the State presents in the plan. However, unlike the existing approval process, the Secretary is only authorized to ensure that the plan submitted includes the certifications and assurances called for by the statute. The Secretary does not have authority to require changes in the State’s plan unless the plan does not include the basic elements called for by the statute, or when based on the content of the plan, it is clear that the State would be expending federal funds on activities not authorized by law.
The Committee believes that this approach is necessary to ensure that States are given the necessary flexibility to design programs of child care assistance that address needs within the State and that are within the broad parameters of the law.

Consumer education

The bill inserts a new subparagraph (D) on Consumer Education Information, an assurance that the State will collect and disseminate consumer information that will promote informed child care choices.

The language in the current statute on consumer education information is weighted toward information on regulatory and licensing requirements, complaint procedures, and child care policies and practices within the State. The Committee believes that the information collected and disseminated by the State should directly support the goal of helping parents make informed child care choices. The Committee also notes that consumer information should not only include sources of subsidized care, but should make a concerted effort to provide information on other sources of affordable care, such as family and relative care.

Health and safety, licensing

Several significant changes were made by the Committee to Subparagraphs (E) through (I), which relate to State health and safety and licensing requirements. The Committee believes that States are committed to protecting the health and safety of children in day care settings. In fact, many States have self-imposed health and safety standards that exceed established federal standards. This being the case, opponents of change would argue that these specific requirements need not be deleted from the current law.

Although the Committee fully expects that States will create and enforce standards to protect the health and safety of children in day care, the Committee wants to ensure that States are actually carrying out these plans, not just putting a written assurance on paper. We recognize that when lapses in health and safety occur, they are generally caused by lapses in enforcement, not because of standards that are too weak.

In trying to simplify the reporting requirements imposed by the federal government on the States, the Committee intends to focus more attention on actual results and performance in day care services than on just meeting the written requirements of the State plan.

In subparagraph (E), the Committee has added the words “health, safety” to the existing requirement that all providers comply with State established licensing and regulatory requirements. Under this requirement, each State must certify that it has established procedures to ensure that all child care service providers within the State comply with State-established health, safety, and licensing or regulatory requirements, and shall provide a detailed description of such requirements and how they are enforced.

Clause (ii), which required all providers to be licensed with the State prior to receipt of funds under this Act, is deleted. The Committee recognizes that, in most circumstances, it is advisable for States to establish registration procedures for informal care provid-Subparagraph (F), which specifies the basic elements that State licensing must cover—prevention and control of infectious diseases, building and physical premises safety, and minimum health and safety training—is deleted. State laws are perfectly sufficient to ensure that health and safety standards set by the State include these type of elements without federal directives.

Subparagraph (G), an assurance that the State will ensure that providers comply with State health and safety requirements, is deleted because it is duplicative of the revised subparagraph (E), already referred to.

Subparagraph (H), which requires the State to give the Secretary of HHS advance notice if it plans to reduce the level of its health and safety standards, is deleted. Although it is very unlikely that States will do so, special circumstances within a State may necessitate minor changes in health and safety standards. In this circumstance, the State does not need to report this in its annual report to the Secretary. The Committee further notes that the revised standards will be described in detail in the State’s next biennial State plan submitted to the Secretary.

Subparagraph (I) provides assurances that, not later than 18 months after the submittal of a State plan, the State must complete a full review of licensing and regulatory policies. This requirement imposes an unnecessary requirement on the States and is deleted.

“Infant Doe” protections

During mark-up, the Committee adopted an amendment by Congressman Owens to insert a new state plan requirement, Section (F) MEDICAL NEGLECT OF DISABLED INFANTS. Section (F) duplicates the so-called “Infant Doe” language from section 107(b)(10) of the Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act, that is repealed under Title IV of H.R. 999. In the new paragraph (F), the State must certify that it has in place procedures for responding to the reporting of medical neglect of infants, including disabled infants with life-threatening conditions. The Owens amendment also inserted the related definition of “WITHHOLDING OF MEDICALLY INDICATED TREATMENT” from Section 113(10) of the Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act as a new paragraph (13) in Section 658P of the statute.

In May of 1992 in Indiana, a disabled newborn died because the parents and the physician decided to withhold treatment and sustenance. This and similar cases became known as the “Infant Doe” issue. The Reagan Administration subsequently tried to prohibit such withholding of treatment and sustenance through regulation, but two different sets of regulations were overturned in federal district courts. The 98th Congress amended the Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act (P.L. 98-457) to provide the statutory basis for this policy.
Supplementation

Subparagraph (J), requiring States to assure that federal funds will supplement, not supplant, use of State funds for child care, is deleted. As part of the reformed Child Care and Development Block Grant and the accompanying social policy block grants, the federal role in assisting States with welfare reform is being significantly altered. Forcing a State to comply with a “supplement, not supplant” requirement during a time of tremendous programmatic change would impose a very difficult accounting requirement on the States, would be difficult for the federal government to enforce, would conflict with the goal of giving States greater flexibility, and would not provide a discernible programmatic benefit.

Use of funds

The Section also request that funds under this subchapter be used for child care services, for activities to improve the quality or availability of such services, or for other activities that the State deems appropriate to realize any of the goals specified in the bill. The section also authorizes funds to be used for other purposes if they are transferred to any of the other social policy block grants.

The Committee has chosen to give the States wide latitude in the use of federal child care funds. We recognize the priority of providing direct services to parents through the use of vouchers or service contracts to providers. The State may also with to fund activities to improve quality by providing training of child care workers, salary enhancement, monitoring of providers, and other purposes.

The statute requires States to consult with local government as it develops the State plan. The Committee also encourages States to utilize public hearings to allow citizens to provide input in the development of the State plan.

The Committee believes that, while States will undoubtedly use resources to help parents of pre-school children move from welfare to work, there is also the need to provide resources for before- and after-school day care programs. In fact, the work requirements of the Temporary Family Assistance Act will be phased in to require that fifty percent of eligible welfare recipients participate in a work activity or activities by the year 2003. The Committee notes that this requirement is phased in gradually and that, unlike the existing JOBS program, the State is able to target parents who are the most employable. Parents with older, school-aged children that participate in before- and after-school day care programs could be more easily employable, and would require lower-cost day care services than would infants and toddlers.

The Committee also believes it is important to ensure that for-profit providers are fully integrated into the State’s child care delivery system. For-profit day care centers report that they are only utilizing 65 to 70 percent of their capacity, and can readily absorb greater numbers of children receiving day care subsidies.

The State may also choose to use funds under this Act to provide tax relief and tax credits for child care expenses incurred by eligible parents.
Administrative costs

The bill further limits State administrative costs to five percent. The Committee is very concerned that, as federal funds are moved to greater State control in this block grant, that federal bureaucracy not be replaced by a burgeoning State bureaucracy. Estimates of State costs among the different child care programs are thought to average around seven percent. However, with greater efficiencies realized by one administrative and financial structure, we expect that States will be readily able to meet the five percent limitation. We also note that the reformed block grant is freeing up the State from significant matching fund responsibility, and this change will additionally ease the administrative burden on the States in the use of federal funds.

Payment rates

The bill maintains the existing requirement that payment rates be sufficient to ensure equal access to child care services for eligible children. However, the bill deletes the requirement that the payment rates take into account variations in settings, age groups, and special needs of certain children. The bill also deletes the requirement that States establish a sliding fee scale and periodically revise the fee scale by regulation. The Committee recognizes that, in order to meet the requirement that payment rates are sufficient, States will take into account differentials in location, age of the child, and special needs. We further believe that States will establish sliding fee scales to account for rising incomes of employed parents. However, federal oversight of such issues is not necessary when the basic requirement of sufficient payment rates is in effect.

Section 101(e) makes a conforming amendment to section 658F(b)(2), limitations on State Allotments, by eliminating the reference to section 658(e)(2)(F).

Quality and availability activities

Section 101(f) repeals earmarked required expenditures by striking sections 658G and 658H.

The Committee recognizes the legitimate concerns by advocates about the need for quality in child care, and the legitimate role of before- and after-school care programs in providing an important source of child care services.

First, it is important to note, that in deleting the set-aside in the block grant for quality and availability activities, Congress in no way impedes States from using block grant funds for such purposes. If States believe activities like worker training, salary enhancement, or activities to establish before- and after-school care programs are an important component of building a viable child care infrastructure, they are free to use these funds in that manner.

However, the Committee does not believe it is appropriate for Congress to restrict these funds to these purposes only. In other areas of human services delivery within the economy, government plays a proper role in enforcing health and safety standards. But in terms of producing a supply of quality service providers, direct funding by government sources has not proven to be a particularly efficient use of funds.
As Larner and Phillips observe,

The views of early childhood professionals have long dominated discussions of what constitutes quality in early childhood programs; professionals determine the content of training for those who establish and staff child care programs; they set criteria for recognizing excellence within the profession; and their expert judgments about quality may inform the policy-makers who set regulatory policies.

Yet no one who has been or known a parent who used child care would suggest that parents do not care about child care quality.

Larner and Phillips also provide insights on what constitutes quality in the minds of parents.

The concept of fit should be considered not only from the child’s perspective, but from the family perspective. High-quality child care is designed to enable adult family members to meet their goals as workers or students, and as parents—without worrying about the safety, the well-being, and the development of their children.

The Committee believes that, within the parameters of State established and enforced health and safety standards, placing more funding in the hands of parents—the consumer—will produce a supply of child care that is higher in quality, and is more flexible and responsive to the changing needs of parents than a system that is initiated and funded through direct governmental subsidy and contracts.

Child care standards report

Section 101(g) amends section 658I, Administration and Enforcement, by eliminating a requirement that the Secretary collect and publish a list of State child care standards at least once every 3 years. These standards will be described in detail by the States when they submit their State plans every two years.

Obligation of funds

Section 101(h) amends section 658J, spending of funds by State to allow States two years to obligate funds, rather than four years to expend funds.

Annual reports, evaluation plans

Section 101(i) amends section 658K to include annual reports, evaluation plans and reports on an alternating two year basis, and independent audits to be completed at two year intervals.

The changes made to the Annual Report require the State to collect and report data on the manner in which the child care needs of families within the State are being fulfilled. This set of data elements, more detailed than report elements required under existing law, will provide a consistent set of data that will provide information about the number of children being served in each State, demographic information about the families of such children, information about types of public assistance and income received by these families, information about the availability and costs of child care.
care services within the state, information about consumer information in the State, and the numbers of types of parental complaints filed within the State.

Through these reforms, the Committee hopes to transform the federal role in provision of child care services from one of regulatory compliance enforcement to a more positive and effective role of encouraging continual improvement and change through a focus on results and measurable outcomes. At the same time, the Committee is very sensitive to concerns that data requirements be realistic for States to collect and report. The Committee does not wish to replace the burden of federal micromanagement and regulatory compliance with an equally heavy burden of data collection. Data collection and reporting is only relevant if it helps create a positive environment of accountability and encourages further system improvement.

The section also requires States to develop evaluation plans and carry out these evaluations on a biennial basis. Each State’s evaluation plan will provide a qualitative analysis of the extent to which the State has realized each of the five goals of the reformed Block Grant. The State will indicate how it will measure the success of implementation of the Block Grant, and one year later, will report the results of its evaluation.

Section 101(j) amends provisions within section 658L, Report by the Secretary, to make such reports to Congress delivered every two years.

Allotments, allocations

Section 101(k) amends provisions within section 658O, Amounts Reserved, Allotments.

First, the section removes the Trust Territories of the Pacific Island from the set-aside for Possessions.

Secondly, it creates a new allocation formula. The amount of aggregate federal funds received by each State under the four major child care programs in FY 1994 is first calculated. Next, the State’s allocation share relative to what all the States received in FY 1994 is determined. For future years, this allocation share is multiplied by the total number of federal funds appropriated to determine the State’s annual share.

The section also deletes the Secretary’s reallocmment authority. The Committee does not believe it is appropriate for the Secretary to exercise authority to determine if any portion of the State’s share is not necessary to carry out the State plan for child care services delivery.

Definitions

Section 101(l) amends section 658P, conforming the definition of “lead agency.” The section also inserts a new definition of “Child Care Services” which is based upon several regulatory definitions of child care services. The definition gives a description of child care services, and also allows that the definition may include early childhood development services.
Transfer authority

Section 101(m) inserts “section 658T” which allows governors the ability to transfer a total of up to 20 percent of funds appropriated under the Child Care and Development Block Grant to one or more of the following: the Temporary Family Assistance Block Grant, School-Based Nutrition Block Grant, the Family Nutrition Block Grant, Child Protection Block Grant, Social Services Block Grant (title XX of the Social Security Act). The bill also requires that rules of the block grant to which funds are transferred apply.

This transfer authority, replicated in other social policy block grants, is predicated on the belief that the block grants all support a broad purpose—to foster the independence, self-sufficiency, nutrition, and protection of low-income citizens within the State. Since States are being given the responsibility to coordinate a wide range of services and interventions to serve low-income parents and children, the States should also have flexibility to move a limited amount of funds between the block grants to meet unique and pressing service needs that arise within a State.

It should be emphasized that the ability to transfer funds from the Child Care and Development Block Grant is not an open-ended opportunity for states to use funds in whatever means it wishes. The funds may only be transferred for the related purposes listed above, and then only to carry out a state program under a related block grant. Transferred funds could not be used, for example, to pay penalties imposed upon a state for failing to meet mandatory work requirements under a Temporary Family Assistance Block Grant program. Using federal funds to pay penalties would not be consistent with the direction that funds be used only to carry out the state program.

Repeals of programs to be consolidated

Section 102 contains repeals of child care assistance authorized by acts other than the Social Security Act.

Section 102(b) repeals State Dependent Care Development Grants Act.

Section 102(c) amends Programs of National Significance by deleting authority to provide child care services using program funds.

Section 102(d) repeals the Native Hawaiian Family-Based Education Centers.

Section 103 contains repeals of certain child care programs authorized under the Social Security Act.

Section 103(a) delete authorization for the AFDC and Transitional Child Care Programs.

Section 103(b) deletes authorization for the At-Risk Child Care Program.

Title II.—Food and Nutrition Programs

The food and nutrition programs affected by H.R. 999 are amongst the most important programs within the Committee's jurisdiction. Certainly that can be said about the school lunch program and WIC, both of which have long had, and continue to have, bipartisan support in the Committee.

But even these programs are hardly perfect. For years, school administrators have complained, with ever increasing reason, of the horrendous amounts of paperwork required. A recent publication of the American Food Service Association says this:

School nutrition programs have become increasingly complex and more costly due to overly prescriptive, intrusive and restrictive federal regulations. Although there has been extensive communication with USDA, little progress has been made in simplifying regulations and limiting regulations to those specifically required by law. Overarching concepts for regulatory design and recommendations for reducing administrative burdens need to be addressed in USDA’s regulation agenda in the immediate future.

The publication went on to outline 4 “overarching concepts” for needed reforms to the school lunch program.

- Minimize federal bureaucracy by simplifying program statutes and restricting federal regulatory authority;
- Allow for greater flexibility in states and local school districts;
- Provide outcome-based rather than process-based regulations; and
- Recognize and maximize use of technology.

As in other areas of social policy, in the area of school nutrition, Congress has created multiple programs without considering the effect of doing so. Testifying before the Committee, Mr. Patrick Temple West, Director of Nutrition Development Services, Archdiocese of Philadelphia said,

We need only one child meals program. There are two major laws governing child meals programs, the National School Lunch Act and the Child Nutrition Act. The location of each program in these two laws is historical and arbitrary. For example, school lunch is governed by one. School breakfast by the other. We recommend that they be combined into one piece of legislation.

There are five sets of regulations regulating each program. We recommend one set of regulations for all of them. We recommend one program be created providing meals to children in different locations, under different circumstances and just as the childcare program now does with different reimbursement rates and administrative requirements. There can be specified for each of the special circumstances such as in school, during the summer in childcare, or in homeless shelters, etcetera.

At the very least, this recommendation would halve the legislative overhead of these programs, reduce the number of entitled programs by four, reduce the code of Federal regulations by quarter of an inch, reduce the legislative staff time and cost, reduce legislative printing cost, reduce the USDA staff time writing the legislation, reduce printing costs to the code of Federal regulations and possibly reduce the number of USDA and administrative staff overseeing the programs.

The WIC program has been similarly overburdened with federal regulations and rules, which may be well-intended, but take substantial resources away from the basic intent of the program, which is to provide proper nutrition for low income children and expectant mothers. In addition, WIC and other nutrition programs targeted at low income families must compete for funds with food programs which are not so targeted, specifically the Family Day Care food program which is part of the Child Care and Adult Food Program. The Congressional Budget Office has estimated that three-fourths of the families that receive food assistance under that program do not qualify as low income.

The Committee bill would focus more funds on low income families and children, reduce federal regulations and paperwork, ensure the maintenance of nutritional standards for the food and nutrition programs, and, allow more money to be used for actually providing food for low income children and families.

Focusing dollars on low income children and families

The major focus of the current nutrition programs has been on meeting the nutritional needs of low income children and their families. The School-Based Nutrition Block Grant and the Family Nutrition Block Grant maintain an emphasis on meeting the needs of low income individuals.

The Family Nutrition Block Grant ensures that all funds provided are used to serve children and families with incomes below 185 percent of poverty and allows States the flexibility to focus such dollars on those individuals in greatest need. In crafting this legislation, it was the decision of the Committee to limit payments for meals in family day care homes to those children from families with incomes below 185 percent of poverty. The elimination of benefits to middle and upper income children assisted the Committee in achieving budget savings without reducing benefits to low income children.

Similarly, the School-Based Nutrition Block Grant requires that at least 80 percent of available funding is to be use to provide meals to low income children. States would not be prevented from using 100 percent of available dollars to meet the needs of low income children. However, the Committee decided to provide States with the flexibility to offset the cost of meals to children with family incomes above 185 percent of poverty if necessary to ensure the operation of school meal programs to meet the nutritional needs of low income children. The definition of low income in this block grant is left to each State; however, it cannot exceed 185 percent of poverty.

Reducing Federal regulations and paperwork requirements

Through the creation of two consolidated nutrition programs, with flexible requirements for the States, the Committee has addressed a major criticism of federal nutrition programs. Throughout the years, program operators have complained that they spend so much time complying with regulations and filling out paperwork that attention to serving the needs of children and other program beneficiaries has been diminished. It is the hope of the Committee that States will not replace federal regulations with a comparable amount of State regulations but will develop alternative mechanisms of ensuring program accountability and eliminating fraud and abuse in these programs. For instance, States could use demographic data to determine the amount of funds to be provided to individual school districts rather than relying on the cumbersome and time-consuming application process currently used.

Meeting the needs of low income families in times of crisis

In order to ensure that States have the flexibility to meet the nutritional needs of low income children and families during a recession or to meet individual crises which may affect the ability of school districts to meet the needs of low income children, the Committee has provided for the transfer of 20 percent of available funds among the two nutrition block grants as well as the other block grants designated in this Act. In addition, block grant funds remain available to States for the fiscal year they are initially provided as well as one additional fiscal year. This will allow States to hold an amount of funds in reserve to deal with periods of increased participation.

We also believe that States will move to assist low income families in a period of crisis. For example, in the School Lunch Program, more than 30 States contribute state funds to the school lunch program in excess of the required State match.

Finally, we trust that Congress, during periods of great hardship, would provide supplemental funds to meet the needs of our children.

Maintaining the integrity of the WIC Program

Over the years, the Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants and Children has proved to be effective in reducing low weight infant births and birth defects due to a mother's lack of proper nutrition during pregnancy. The Committee bill not only ensures the continuation of this program and the elements which have led to the program's success but also allow for increased funding above that which would otherwise be provided.

To begin with, the Committee has provided that at least eighty percent of the Family Nutrition Block Grant must be used for the purposes of the existing WIC program. This provision should allow States to serve increasing numbers of participants over the next five years. In addition, States may also use a larger portion of their Family Nutrition block grant for this purpose.

Program goals have been included in this legislation which will continue key features of the WIC programs. These features include, the nutrition education component of the WIC program, a nutritional risk assessment and a food package based on such assessment, the referral of women to appropriate health services and the provision of food assistance to participants which will reduce the number of low birth weight babies and babies born with birth defects as a result of nutritional deficiencies. States will be required to report to the Secretary regarding their success in achieving such goals.
States must submit to the Secretary of Agriculture on a yearly basis a report on the number of individuals receiving assistance under the Family Nutrition Block Grant, the type of assistance provided and the standards and method the State is using to ensure the nutritional quality of such assistance. Finally States are required to report on the number of low weight births in each State in the current fiscal year compared to the prior fiscal year. It is expected that this information will allow States and the Secretary to determine the effectiveness of state nutrition programs for women, infants and children reducing low birthweight births and improving pregnancy outcomes.

While the Committee has provided flexibility to States to conduct nutrition programs the Committee expects that efforts that have proven effective in the past in achieving the goals of the program, such as drug and alcohol education and breastfeeding promotion, will continue.

It is the view of the Committee that States have a fundamental interest in preserving the health of their citizens. Nutritional assistance is a primary mechanism to ensure the continued health of low income children and their families. As such, the Committee believes that the huge number of "how to" federal rules and regulations are not necessary and in fact often impede effective nutrition programs as well as waste to taxpayer's money.

The Committee anticipates that States will employ cost containment measures that yield substantial savings without unduly limiting product availability to participate or significantly disrupting commercial markets.

The Committee is advised that some sole source contracts offered by States for infant cereal included in the WIC food package have the potential for significantly disrupting the commercial market for these products and promoting unfair competition. The Committee notes this development with concern and intends to monitor State contracts to determine whether this type of bidding promotes unfair competitive advantage or market disruption, as well as impacts this may have on State or local economies.

Increasing funding

Under the Committee bill, federal nutrition assistance is authorized to increase by more than 4% per year. The School Based Nutrition Block Grant is an entitlement to the States, and is capped at an annual growth rate of 4.5%. The current level of spending (1995) for programs included in this consolidated program is approximately $5.6 billion. For 1996, the new consolidated grant would be capped at $6.7 billion, and yearly increases of 4.5% would be provided thereafter. Such increased funding, along with increased efficiencies from consolidation of programs and elimination of detailed federal regulation will allow states not only to maintain present levels of participation but increase the number of children being provided school-based nutrition assistance.

Authorization levels for the Family Nutrition Block Grant also increased by 4.5% per year. The Family Nutrition Block Grant is made subject to annual appropriations because the largest individual program being mandated in this consolidated grant is WIC, which is a discretionary program. However, assuming that the authorization for the Family Nutrition Block Grant is fully funded, the 80% of the Block Grant reserved for WIC programs would mean an increase over current WIC appropriations. In addition, States would be free to spend the additional 20% of funds in this block grant for WIC activities.

Insuring the quality of meals and food assistance

The Committee bill requires States to set minimum nutritional requirements for food assistance provided under the new block grants. These are to be based on the most recent tested nutritional research available, with allowance for adjustments based on current law provisions regarding special dietary and medical needs of students. Additionally, the Committee requires that the National Academy of Sciences develop model nutrition standards that States might use for their meal and food assistance programs operated under the Family and School-Based Nutrition Block Grants. These standards will not include the same burdensome government regulations, but we do expect them to call for well-balanced, nutritious meals which meet the dietary needs of women and children.

The Committee recognizes that good nutrition is important to good health and the ability to learn. It encourages States, at least until they have an opportunity to develop their own standards or until the model standards are available, to use the same nutritional standards they use under the previous law program guidelines. The Committee expects that model nutritional standards will help the States in developing their own guidelines.

Much has been made about the flexibility that the Committee bill gives to the States concerning nutritional standards for meals and food assistance, and the absence of mandatory national standards. It is worth mentioning that this Administration has harshly criticized the national standards that currently are used for school meal programs, and that have guided the program for over forty years. USDA officials have even gone so far as to say that school meals following the national one-third RDA requirements are unhealthy for American school children. The Committee does not necessarily agree with this claim and, just last year, expressed reservations about some of the Administration proposals for meal pattern changes (based on nutrient analysis) when it approved “The Healthy Meals for Healthy Americans Act of 1994.” Nevertheless, if indeed the meals served under the school meal program have fallen short of Dietary Guidelines or other new measurements, as the Administration contends, they did so under Federal mandatory standards, not State standards.

In eliminating federal nutrition standards, the Committee, in particular, wanted to provide maximum flexibility to local program providers to develop and offer children meals they want to eat. Only 46 percent of non-poor children currently participate in the National School Lunch Program and cite quality and appeal of the meals as one of their reasons for not participating in the program. However, the Committee fully expects schools and other providers to continue to serve nutritious, well-balanced meals which meet one third of the nutritional needs of children.

In addition, we expect the foods provided to participants in the supplemental food program for women, infants and children to not only meet their nutritional requirements, but to otherwise insure their good health.

The Committee believes that States have the competence to develop nutritional requirements for their food assistance, that the Federal role in this process should be supportive, rather than mandatory and intrusive, and that State and local officials are in a better position to measure and respond to the varying needs of those in their care.

Transferring funds to other block grants

The Committee has included a provision in each of the nutrition block grants allowing up to 20 percent of each block grant to be transferred to other block grants contained in the welfare reform bill. The intent of this provision is to allow the States maximum flexibility in meeting the needs of their citizens.

However, the Committee was concerned that adequate funds remain to meet the purposes of the Family Nutrition Block Grant and the School-Based Nutrition Block Grant. We have, therefore, included a provision which requires the State agency administering a nutrition block grant from which funds are to be transferred to make a determination that sufficient amounts will remain to carry out the purposes of such block grant. We believe this will insure that services will not be arbitrarily cut in order to meet other purposes.

Title III.—Restrictions on Non-Citizens

Title III of the Committee bill consists of a substitute amendment (Amendment Number 10) offered by Representative Randy "Duke" Cunningham and an amendment offered by Representative Patsy Mink (Amendment Number 35) both of which were accepted by voice vote. A discussion of Title III, as so amended, follows.

IN GENERAL

Section 301 bars illegal aliens from eligibility for twenty-three (23) needs-tested programs under the Committee's jurisdiction, declares legal aliens ineligible for certain programs, restricts the eligibility of legal aliens for higher education and job training programs, and declares legal aliens eligible for specific programs.

ILLEGAL ALIENS

Section 301(a)(1) makes clear that aliens who are not lawfully present in the United States are not eligible for twenty-three (23) needs-tested programs under the Committee's jurisdiction. The programs range from higher education, job training, and child care to energy assistance and certain employment-related assistance.

Under current law, none of the twenty-three (23) programs specifically include illegal or undocumented aliens as eligible participants. At the same time, there is no bar to their participation because many of these programs only have the requirement that one be at or about the poverty-level or meet a needs test. Generally, no distinction is made between citizens and illegal aliens, except in the cases of student aid under the Higher Education Act of 1965 and job training under the Job Training Partnership Act. Generally, in these latter two cases, citizens and legal aliens who intend to be permanent residents of the United States are eligible. Conversely, illegal aliens are implicitly ineligible.

To clarify that those who are unlawfully present in this country do not receive Federal benefits, the Committee has included a specific bar for illegal alien participation in the following twenty-three (23) needs-tested programs: the Older American Community Service Employment Act, congregate and home-delivered meals under Title III of the Older Americans Act of 1965, the Foster Grandparents program under the Domestic Volunteer Service Act of 1973, the Senior Companions program under the Domestic Volunteer Service Act of 1973, the Low-Income Energy Assistance Act of 1981, the Community Service Block Grant Act, the Child Care and Development Block Grant Act of 1990 as amended by the bill, Basic Educational Opportunity Grants (Pell Grants), Federal; supplemental Education Opportunity Grants, Grants to Schools for State Student Incentives, the High School Equivalency Program (HEP) and College Assistance Migrant Program (CAMP), the Federal Family Education Loan Program (Stafford loans), Federal Work-Study Program, Federal Direct Loan Demonstration Program, Federal Perkins Loans, graduate programs under Title IX of the Higher Education Act (Grants to Institutions and Consortia to Encourage Women and Minority Participation in Graduate Education, Patricia Roberts Harris Fellowships Program, Jacob K. Javits Fellowship Program, Graduate Assistance in Areas of National Need, Faculty Development Fellowship Program, Assistance for Training in the Legal Profession, Law School Clinical Experience Programs), job training for disadvantaged adults under the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA), job training for disadvantaged youth under the JTPA, Job Corps, summer youth and employment training under JTPA, emergency food and shelter grants under Title III of the Stewart B. McKinney Homeless Assistance Act, and the Family Nutrition Block Grant and School-Based Nutrition Block Grant created under this bill.

The problems posed to Stats and the Nation by illegal aliens are increasing. Last year, the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) constructed estimates of the resident illegal immigrant population residing in the United States as of October 1992. The INS estimate of illegal aliens as of that time was 3.4 million. In 1998, for example, the number was only 2.2 million, indicating growth of 1.2 million from 1988 to 1992. The INS currently estimates an annual growth of 300,000 in the resident illegal alien population.

Current immigration law provides a process for becoming a documented legal alien, and thereafter for becoming a naturalized citizen. To allow non-citizen to ignore these procedures and yet be eligible for Federal benefits would send the wrong message. Illegal aliens should not be permitted to benefit from breaking the law.

Ideally, the problems posed by potential illegal alien eligibility should be addressed comprehensively at the National level for all Federal programs. However, that has not yet happened. The Committee is aware, however, that Congress voted to bar illegal aliens from receiving certain earthquake assistance benefits in Public Law 103–211, the Emergency Supplemental Appropriations legislation. The Committee strongly believes that action should be taken now with respect to the needs-tested programs under its jurisdiction. Thus, the bill specifically bars illegal aliens from eligibility for the twenty-three (23) programs mentioned in Section 301(a)(1).

With respect to how Federal, State, local and other administrators determine whether program participants are citizens or non-citizens, and any verification of a participant's status, the bill is silent. There is no mandate included in the bill on how that is to be done, and the Committee intends that program administrators have broad flexibility in implementation. The Committee expects program administrators and regulation writers to use good judgment and to be reasonable.

LEGAL ALIENS

As introduced, H.R. 4, the Personal Responsibility Act, included a broad prohibition on all aliens, legal and illegal, from participating in needs-tested programs under this Committee's jurisdiction, and other jurisdictions. As reported from Committee, H.R. 999, restricts legal aliens from eligibility for seven (7) needs-tested programs, and allows them to participate in other programs, under certain well-defined circumstances.

Section 301(a)(2) declares legal aliens ineligible for seven (7) programs under the Committee's jurisdiction: (1) the Older American Community Service Employment Act; (2) congregate and home-delivered meals under Title III of the Older Americans Act of 1965; (3) the Foster Grandparents program under the Domestic Volunteer Service Act of 1973; (4) the Senior Companions program under the Domestic Volunteer Service Act of 1973; (5) the Low-Income Energy Assistance Act of 1981; (6) the Community Service Block Grant Act; (7) the Child Care and Development Block Grant Act of 1990 as amended by the bill.

First, the Committee wishes to reiterate that citizenship is a privilege, and with it come certain benefits and opportunities not accorded to others. While the ideal would be for citizens and legal aliens to share alike in Federal assistance programs, that is no longer feasible. With a Federal deficit of over $200 billion, and a National Debt of $4.8 trillion, the Federal government can no longer provide assistance to the extent that it once did. Federal resources are limited. Accordingly, the Committee has chosen to limit eligibility for the above seven (7) program to citizens.

Second, if sponsors of legal aliens were living up to their express financial commitments in their signed affidavits of support, many legal aliens would not need to seek Federal benefits under these seven (7) programs.

Third, not all aliens who are lawfully present in the United States are ineligible for the programs. Under the bill, refugees may fully participate during their first five (5) years in the Country. Likewise, legal aliens who are at least age seventy-six (76), who have been lawfully admitted for permanent residence, and who have resided in the United States for at least five (5) years would be eligible. Finally, if a legal alien is residing in the United States on the date of enactment of this bill, and is eligible for the program on that date, the person is eligible.

With respect to the ineligibility of aliens for child care assistance under the Child Care and Development Block Grant, the Committee intends that where either the parent or child in a family is a citizen, then the family would be eligible for child care assistance. For example, if the parent were a legal alien, but the child were a citizen, the family would be eligible. Likewise, if the parent were a citizen, but the child were a legal alien, the family would be eligible.

The Committee is also aware of special situations which may arise with respect to weatherization assistance under the Low-Income Energy Assistance Act of 1981 (LIHEAP). For example, some landlords in multi-family apartment complexes currently receive benefits under LIHEAP. It is the intent of the Committee that the landowner/recipient (direct beneficiary) of the energy assistance, not be required to determine the citizenship status of all the tenants. In the foregoing context, the status of the landowner/recipient would be operative for purposes of this Title.

Section 301(a)(3). Restricting eligibility for higher education programs and job training programs to certain lawful resident aliens

Under current law, aliens who are permanent residents or who can provide evidence from the Immigration and Naturalization Service of their intent to become a permanent resident are generally eligible for student aid under the Higher Education Act. Similarly, with respect to the Job Training Partnership Act, lawfully admitted permanent resident aliens, lawfully admitted refugees and parolees, and certain other individuals authorized by the Attorney General to work in the United States are eligible to participate.

Section 301(a)(3) generally restricts alien eligibility for higher education assistance and job training to those who are “lawful resident aliens” as defined in the bill, and who have active duty military service or who have filed an application for naturalization. With respect to the military, the alien must meet one of three conditions: (1) be an honorably discharged veteran; (2) be on active duty in the military; or (3) be the spouse or unmarried dependent child of the honorably discharged veteran or person on active duty military. Lawful resident aliens are defined as lawful permanent residents (typically green card holders), refugees (under 301(c)(1) this is limited to refugees who have been in the United States for more than 5 years), asylees, certain persons whose deportation has been withheld, and persons who have been paroled into the United States for over a year. Thus, these restrictions narrow the existing eligibility criteria of aliens.

Section 301(a)(3) was included in the bill to recognize the special nature and role of higher education assistance and job training, and to make special provision for those who have made a commitment to the United States—either through military service or through filing an application for naturalization.

Given the many and complex categories of aliens under immigration law, and varying court interpretations of what constitutes a person residing in this Country “under color of law”, the Committee has chosen to create a well-defined category of eligible aliens known as lawful resident aliens. The term “lawful resident alien” is a subset of the class of aliens lawfully present in the United States. Generally, the term lawful resident alien, as defined in the bill, encompasses the largest numbers of legal aliens.

As with the prohibitions in previously-mentioned subsections, the Committee believes that in a time of increasingly limited Federal resources, citizens should be provided for first. This subsection results in savings of $140 million over five (5) years.

Section 301(a)(4). Legal aliens eligible for homeless assistance and nutrition assistance

Section 301(a)(4) specifically declares that aliens who are lawfully present in the United States are not ineligible for emergency food and shelter grants, the family nutrition block grant, and the school-based nutrition block grant.

The Committee has included this provision to ensure that there be no question about legal aliens remaining eligible for each of the three programs. The Committee recognizes that each of the three programs present special circumstances which warrant provision for eligibility. Emergency situations can suddenly arise with respect to a need for food and shelter, and in that case, no distinction should be made between citizens and legal aliens. Similarly, because of the importance of sound nutrition to the well-being of children, the Committee believes legal aliens should be eligible to participate to the same extent as citizens in the two nutrition block grants.

Section 301(b)(1). Naturalization application filed or military service

Section 301(b)(1) of the bill, as amended, sets forth conditions under which “lawful resident aliens” are eligible for certain higher education benefits and job training assistance. The conditions are the lawful resident alien must have an application pending for naturalization or meet one of the following three conditions: (1) be an honorably discharged veteran; (2) be on active duty in the military; or (3) be the spouse or unmarried dependent child of the honorably discharged veteran or person on active duty military.

As earlier mentioned in this report in Section 301(a), the Committee believes that active duty military service represents a special commitment to this Country and warrants eligibility for student aid and job training assistance. Similarly, filing an application for naturalization shows that an alien is actively pursuing citizenship status, and should be accorded eligibility for student aid and job training.

Section 301(b)(2). Lawful resident alien defined

Section 301(b)(2) of the bill, as amended, defines the term “lawful resident alien” for purposes of student aid under the Higher Education Act and job training assistance under the Job Training Partnership Act.

The Committee has included a carefully defined category of legal aliens known as lawful resident aliens. For purposes of the bill, lawful resident aliens refers to categories of aliens under immigration law such as permanent residents, refugees, asylees, and others. Had the Committee chosen to use a general reference to legal aliens or persons lawfully present in the United States, the untoward effect could have been the broadening of eligibility of legal aliens for higher education and job training assistance beyond what it is under current law. For example, persons here on temporary protected status or on a student visa are lawfully present in the United States, but are not currently eligible for student aid. Without the limiting definition of lawful resident alien, these two groups would have been considered eligible under the bill.

Section 301(c)(1). Exception for refugees

Section 301(c)(1) provides an exception for refugees to all restrictions on eligibility of aliens. What this subsection means is that for the first five (5) years after arrival, a refugee is eligible to participate fully in all twenty-three (23) programs.

By including this exception, the Committee recognizes the special circumstances of refugees, who are here in this Country because of persecution or a well-founded fear of persecution in their home country.

Section 301(c)(2). Exception for certain long-term, permanent resident, aged aliens

Section 301(c)(2) provides that the restrictions on eligibility for higher education benefits and job training assistance in Section 301(a)(3), and assistance provided under older American and other programs in Section 301(a)(2) shall not apply to persons who have been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence, who are at least seventy-six (76) years of age, and who have resided in the United States for at least (5) years.

By including this exception, the Committee acknowledges the special circumstances of the elderly who have not yet attained citizenship status, but who are permanent residents.

Section 301(c)(3). One year exception

Section 301(c)(3) of the bill, as amended, provides that the restrictions on eligibility for higher education benefits and job training assistance in Section 301(a)(3), and assistance provided under older American and other programs in Section 301(a)(2), shall not apply until one (1) year after the date of enactment, in the situation where the legal alien is residing in the United States on the date of enactment and is eligible for the program.

By including this exception, the Committee acknowledges situations where, for example, college or university students who receive student loans may be in the middle of a school year at the time of enactment of this bill. Allowing a one year period prior to application of the new restrictions, is consistent with an orderly implementation.

Section 302. Notification

Section 302 provides for notification to the public and program recipients of the changes in the bill.

The Committee has provided a notification requirement to ensure that the changes in eligibility reach the public.
Section 303. Rule of Construction

Section 303 restates the understanding under current law that the term alien does not include nationals of the United States (American Samoans). This is reflective of and consistent with the definition of aliens in Section 101(a)(3) of the Immigration and Nationality Act.

The Committee has included this section at the request of Representative Patsy Mink, who offered Section 303 as an amendment to the committee substitute bill. The amendment was approved by voice vote.

This section re-states current law and ensures that the restrictions on aliens do not apply to American Samoans who are nationals of the United States.

Title IV.—Mandatory Work Requirements

Representative Tim Hutchinson offered an amendment to section 401, which was accepted by voice vote.

The revised title IV of H.R. 999, as reported by this Committee, would replace the Job Opportunities and Basic Skills (JOBS) program with new mandatory work requirements. This Committee's provisions augment the AFDC cash assistance block grant which is being established by the Committee on Ways and Means. It also enhances the provisions of the language marked up by the Ways and Means Human Resources Subcommittee on February 15 which would require States to meet minimum participation in State-defined "work activities".

A concern of many of this Committee's members with the Subcommittee's proposal was that it was too flexible in the definition of "work activities", and as such, gave States the option of greatly weakening their commitment to requiring work. It was this Committee's view that work requirements for recipients of welfare should be strengthened by defining the term "work activities", setting minimum number of hours for participation, and requiring higher participation rates than those proposed by the Ways and Means, Human Resources Subcommittee.

A more detailed overview of the Committee view on the specific provisions of the mandatory work program follows:

Work Requirements

Section 481(a)(1) declares that the work requirements are applicable to all families receiving cash assistance under Part A of the Social Security Act. This is a significant departure from past and current welfare to work proposals (including the JOBS program), which prescribe to States the definition of "able-bodied" individuals for the purposes of mandating work. It is the Committee's intention that States will establish their own standards and requirements for participation in work and work activities. It is not the intention that individuals (such as severely mentally and incapacitated persons), be required to participate in work programs.

Participation Rates

This proposal sets forth the requirement that States meet minimum participation rates in work programs with respect to all families receiving assistance under the State program funded under Part A of the Social Security Act. These rates are as follows: 1996—4%; 1997—4%; 1998—8%; 1999—12%; 2000—17%; 2001—29%; 2002—40%; 2003 or thereafter—50%. Participation rates act as a relatively simple standard for measuring and ensuring the commitment of States in preparing and moving recipients off from welfare and into the workforce. Under the JOBS program, 20% of “able-bodied” AFDC recipients are required to participate. Under the current definition of “able-bodied,” nearly one-half of all adult recipients (roughly 1.8 million) are exempt. The non-exempt recipients are put into the “JOBS mandataries” group, and it is from this group that the percentages for the JOBS participation rate applies. Hence, States and local welfare agencies have an economic incentive to remain low because the smaller the pool of “able-bodied” adults, the easier it is to meet the participation rates, and prevent funding penalties. The result is a “game” forced upon local welfare agencies to find the disability, shortcoming, or reason not to provide day care, to a recipient so they may be exempt. Of course, it can only be assumed that all of the extra energy going into manipulating these numbers is simply taking away from funds much better spent or saved. This system of measurement also gives a false impression to the public that one in five adults on welfare is participating in the JOBS program, when in fact, the number is just half that.

Under the proposed changes in this section, the method of measuring participation rates removes these perverse outcomes, and provides “truth in numbers” on the rate of participation. This is made possible by eliminating the Federal definition of “able-bodied” and giving this responsibility back to the States (as discussed above). States will however, be required to meet the new participation rates which as a percentage are lower in the first years reflecting the fact that it is a percentage of a much larger universe than the “able-bodied” population used under JOBS. As a result, in 1999 for example, when the participation rate is 12%, it will mean that 12% of all adult heads of households receiving welfare, will truly be participating in work activities. For States and local welfare agencies, it also removes the practice of manipulating the eligible pot of recipients, and for recipients, it will mean that the States will not have an incentive to providing them with an easy excuse not to have to participate in a work activity.

CREDIT FOR CASELOAD REDUCTIONS

Section 481(a)(1)(B) allows States to receive credit for welfare caseload reduction for the purposes of meeting the participation requirements. States are able to count net reductions in the caseload below the 1995 baseline as participation. This provision, in effect, provides States with the ability, and in fact the incentive, to do away with the concept of measuring participation rates, (which is by and large a “process” measurement), and move toward having their performance based on a true outcome—a reduction in welfare dependency, a goal in which no one can argue.
Section 481(a)(2) imposes strict work requirements for two-parent families receiving AFDC. The Committee feels that there is strong evidence to suggest that strict work requirements greatly reduce welfare dependency for this population. As such, these provisions require that States ensure that in a minimum of 50% (moving to 90% in 1998) of two-parent families, one parent is participating in unsubsidized employment, subsidized private sector employment, or subsidized public sector employment or work experience if sufficient private sector employment is not available. These participants also count towards the total required participation rates outlined above. In order to be counted toward the participation rate, participants must be engaged in these work activities for a minimum of 35 hours per week, although up to 8 hours of this may be attributable to participation in job search.

DEFINING PARTICIPATION—MINIMUM HOURS, WORK ACTIVITIES

The Committee recognizes the need to properly define the minimum number of hours and the allowable activities in order for recipients to be counted towards participation. Without these common elements, States could not be properly held accountable for their performance in achieving the participation rates. For example, if one state were to define participation as one-hour of basic education a month, and a second state defined it as 40 hours of private sector employment a week, it would obviously not be fair to penalize the second state to the same degree as the first for failure to meet the required participation rate.

The Committee believes that the minimum average number of hours recipients should be required to work should be on a sliding scale beginning at 20 hours and moving up to 35 hours by the year 2003. This range of hours allows States time to transition into meeting these requirements, yet places an emphasis on ensuring that a good portion of the recipient's week is spent in a productive activity.

The allowable work activities reflect the Committee's belief that the option of work should be first. It is the Committee's strong belief that every adult on welfare, or applying for welfare should first be directed towards placement into unsubsidized employment through job search assistance. In the event that unsubsidized employment can not be found, attempts should be made to find subsidized private sector employment. Only when these options have failed should attempts be made for placement into subsidized public sector employment or work experience be made. (On-the-job training may fit into any one of these).

The Committee believes that education and training should also constitute allowable work activities, but with several restrictions. First, recipients should not be placed into such programs until they have first participated or are participating in one or more of the work activities described above. Secondly, any education or training should be directly related to employment. The Committee believes that this model of work-first has the most promise in truly changing the nature of this nation's current welfare-to-work initiatives.
The Committee also recognizes the fact that a vast number of individuals who end up as long-term welfare recipients are those who have not obtained a high school diploma. Therefore, the Committee gives States the ability to count as a work activity, “satisfactory attendance at secondary school” in the case of an individual who has not completed secondary school and is a dependent child, or head of household who has not reached the age of 20.

PENALTIES

The Committee believes that States should have the flexibility in determining the level of sanctions imposed upon individuals refusing to participate in work requirements. Therefore, the language includes only the requirement that individuals refusing to participate have, at a minimum, their cash assistance reduced to a level lower than would otherwise be paid. However, in cases of adults in 2-parent families refusing to participate, the State must impose a reduction in cash assistance pro rata with respect to any period during the month for which the adult has failed to meet the requirements.

The Committee believes that States should also be held accountable for meeting the participation rates set forth under this proposal. The Committee language establishes penalties for States failing to meet the required participation rates—a penalty equal to not more than 5 percent of the amount of the (AFDC) grant otherwise payable to the State in the following year. This section also requires that the Secretary impose the penalties upon States based on the degree of noncompliance and additionally limits the Secretary in the regulation the conduct of States with respect to penalties applicable to States for not meeting the required participation rates.

The Committee feels strongly that in complying with the mandatory work requirements, States should assign the highest priority to requiring families that include older preschool or schoolage children to be engaged in work activities.

The Committee recognizes that in order to have the capacity to measure the effectiveness of this implementation of this proposal, the Secretary shall have the authority to conduct research, evaluations, and national studies on the mandatory work requirements.

Title IV.—Child Protection/Child Welfare

In addressing the crisis in Child Protection/Child Welfare, the Committee has consulted closely with the Committee on Ways and Means on the development of a new block grant, the Child Protection Block Grant, which will consolidate multiple programs to prevent child abuse and neglect, provide family services, and assist in paying for foster care placements and adoption expenses.

Title IV of the Welfare Reform Consolidation Act repeals a number of child abuse and neglect prevention and adoption assistance programs under the jurisdiction of the Committee on Economic and Educational Opportunities. The Ways and Means Committee, in its legislation on welfare reform, is creating a comprehensive Child Protection Block Grant to assist States in preventing child abuse and neglect, provide family services, and assist families with foster care and adoption expenses. The functions of the Child Protection Block Grant dealing with child abuse and neglect prevention and adoption assistance will replace the narrow purposes of the programs being repealed under the Committee on Economic and Educational Opportunities.

The following is an explanation of concerns brought to the attention of the Committee and how the new Child Protection Block Grant will address these concerns.

CHILD ABUSE PREVENTION AND TREATMENT ACT

The Committee believes that several unintended effects on the child protection/child welfare system that have resulted from the National Center on Child Abuse and Neglect's (NCCAN) implementation of CAPTA will be resolved through the consolidation of CAPTA into the Child Protection Block Grant.

ISOLATION OF NCCAN

The 1991 report of the U.S. Advisory Board on Child Abuse and Neglect noted that, "within the social services component of Department of Health and Human Services, NCCAN has had remarkably little impact on the huge Title IV-B, Title IV-E and Title XX programs which provide the largest Federal share of State and local CPS (child protective services) funding."

The report continued, "the approach which the Federal Government has pursued in child protection—vesting a small agency with authority for Federal leadership—has led to the inadequate involvement in child protection efforts by public health, mental health, substance abuse, developmental disabilities, justice, education, and community development agencies. No one agency can be expected to deal adequately with a problem as complex as child abuse and neglect, even if it labeled as ‘national.’"

The Committee is confident that the new Child Protection Block Grant, with significant resources and a unified federal focus, will ensure that significant attention is given to child abuse and neglect at both the federal and the State levels.

LACK OF UNIFIED RESEARCH

According to the Advisory Board, "over the last decade, most NCCAN demonstration projects have not had a scientifically sound evaluation component. Nor has NCCAN created a mechanism for assuring that the results of those few demonstrations that have had an evaluation component are translated into practice."

The Child Protection Block Grant will provide a source of unified data collection from each State, and will also provide the Department of Health and Human Services with funding for research and evaluations. Applying this research to a comprehensive framework of child protection will significantly enhance the quality of research.

INCREASING REPORTS OF ABUSE AND NEGLECT

In order to be eligible for a State grant under CAPTA, States must meet certain requirements such as having mandatory reporting systems and providing for the confidentiality of victims and their families.

All States now have laws that mandate designated professionals to report specific types of child maltreatment. Under threat of civil and criminal penalties, these laws require most professionals who serve children to report suspected child abuse and neglect. About 20 states required all citizens to report, and in all states, any citizen is permitted to report.

In 1993, about three million reports of suspected abuse or neglect were made. This is a 20-fold increase since 1963, when about 150,000 reports were made to the authorities. The public and professional definition of child maltreatment seem to have expanded to include more cases of “moderate” harm to children.

The Committee is concerned that only 1/3 of reports of abuse and neglect are substantiated. Based on this figure, in 1986 anywhere from 1.9 to 3.8 million Americans were investigated by state child protective services for abuse that could not be substantiated. True, some unsubstantiated reports may have been actual cases of abuse or neglect, but for which the abuse could not be proven. But there is obviously a serious problem when such a preponderance of alleged abuse and neglect is unsubstantiated.

The Child Protection Block Grant maintains a general requirement that States have laws requiring reporting by officials and professionals. However, the content of such laws will not be subject to micro-management by NCCAN officials. The Committee believes that the Child Protection Block Grant will give States greater flexibility in targeting investigations and services toward the more serious allegations of abuse, and not force States to give the same weight of resources to more minor allegations of abuse that are often unsubstantiated.

ISSUE: IMMUNITY FROM PROSECUTION

CAPTA requires, as part of a State’s eligibility for funding, that the State have a system that provides full immunity for all reporters of suspected child abuse. Almost two thirds of reported abuse and neglect is unsubstantiated, and there seems to be an increasing trend of estranged spouses using charges of abuse against the ex-spouse to gain custody of children, especially as custody settlements have become less predictable in their outcome. Other psychologists also purport that the immunity provisions have fueled the growth of controversial “recovered memories” of abuse by adult children and “suggested” memories of abuse by young children.

In recent years, proposals had been made to revise CAPTA to require States to have laws that would allow for the prosecution of personal denunciation of child maltreatment. While many believe this reform would be a move in the right direction, it is also recognized that it would be difficult to prove malicious intent in court. Others have also expressed concern that an over-reaching reform of immunity protections might stifle valid reporting of suspected abuse and neglect and place children at greater risk.

The Child Protection Block Grant does not include an immunity requirement; thus, States would be allowed to modify immunity provisions to address specific concerns. The Committee believes that giving States the ability to make necessary modifications to their own State laws rather than establishing a national exception to immunity is the most appropriate way to address this complex, controversial issue.

RELIGIOUS EXEMPTION FOR ALTERNATIVE MEDICINE

Some religious groups, most notably the Church of Christian Science, have expressed concern that the Department of Health and Human Services may be misinterpreting the CAPTA provisions regarding medical neglect. CAPTA allows, but does not require, States to exempt parents from prosecution on grounds of medical neglect if the parent was employing alternative means of healing as part of the parent's religious practice. CAPTA requires the state to have procedures in place to report, investigate and intervene in an emergency situation and provide necessary medical care.

In recent years, HHS has moved to disqualify certain States from CAPTA funding based on the State's application of the religious exemption for medical neglect. In the Fiscal Year 1995 Labor/HHS/Education appropriations bill, Congress placed a one-year moratorium to prevent HHS from enforcing its policy. The Child Protection Block Grant does not include a definition of medical neglect. This will allow States to address this sensitive issue of religious practice and medical neglect in a way that best reflects the unique values and practices within a particular State.

Other laws under the jurisdiction of the Committee on Economic and Educational Opportunities to be consolidated in the Child Protection Block Grant.

- Crisis Nursery Act: The Child Protection Block Grant would allow States to provide funding to crisis nurseries to provide short-term care for abused/neglected children or those at risk of abuse.

- Abandoned Infants Assistance Act: The Committee expects that the discretionary services and training activities under this program can be provided under the Child Protection Block Grant.

- Family Support Centers: Services to families can be provided under the Child Protection Block Grant.

- Missing and Exploited Children's Act: During mark-up, the Committee adopted an amendment to maintain the Missing and Exploited Children's Act for five additional years. The Child Protection Block Grant, reported by the Ways and Means Committee, includes an alternative provision that would provide $3 million for a national toll-free hotline and national resource center and clearinghouse.

- Grants to Improve the Investigation and Prosecution of Child Abuse Cases: Under the Child Protection block grant, States can provide grants to train attorneys and others involved in the criminal prosecution of child abuse cases.

- Grant for Children's Advocacy Centers: Under the Child Protection Block Grant, States can provide grants to establish free-standing facilities to provide support to child abuse victims and their families.

- Grants for Treatment for Juvenile Offenders Who are Victims of Child Abuse/Neglect: This program was never funded by Congress and is repealed.
Title V.—Related Provisions

Poverty data are used to allocate more than $20 billion in federal funds to State and local governments. Currently, the only reliable source of this data below the national level is the decennial census. The Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce does produce annual estimates of the number of people in poverty for the nation as a whole. The Census Bureau also reports State level poverty estimates each year, but does not consider those estimates to be sufficiently reliable for programmatic purposes.

Because intercensal small area poverty data which may be up to thirteen years old. This presents enormous problems for the formulation of sound and coherent policy at the federal level, and often results in large shifts of funding to State and local governments every 10 to 13 years. These shifts often have a destabilizing effect on program operations.

Clearly, there is a need for more up to date estimates on poverty at the state and local level. In addition, a comprehensive analysis of this data over time will help Congress formulate sound policy and better assess the effects of the policy it enacts. Sections 501 and 502 will give us these much needed tools.

Title IV.—Other Repealers and Conforming Amendments

Section 401(a) strikes Part F of the Social Security Act (the JOBS program) and inserts a new part F—Mandatory Work requirements. Under the new Part F, Section 481(a) sets forth the participation rate requirements with the following sections:

“Section 481(a)(1) declares that the work requirements are applicable to all families receiving cash assistance under Part A of the Social Security Act. Section 481(a)(1)(A) sets forth the requirement that States meet minimum participation rates in work programs with respect to all families receiving assistance under the State program funded under Part A of the Social Security Act. These rates are as follows: 1996—4%; 1997—4%; 1998—8%; 1999—12%; 2000—17%; 2001—29%; 2002—40%; 2003 or thereafter—50%.

“Section 481(a)(1)(B) allows States to receive credit for welfare caseload reduction for the purposes of meeting the participation requirements. States are allowed to count net reductions in the caseload below the 1995 baseline as participation.

“Section 481(a)(1)(C) defines the participation rate for single parents receiving cash assistance. Section 481(a)(1)(C)(i) clarifies that the “average monthly rate”, for purposes of counting participation, is equal to the average of the participation rates of the State for each month in the fiscal year. Section 481(a)(1)(C)(ii) defines how States shall calculate their monthly participation rate. Specifically, this rate is equal to the total number of families receiving cash assistance and engaged in work activities, divided by the total number of families receiving cash assistance.

“Section 481(a)(2) sets additional mandatory work requirements for two-parent families. Section 481(a)(2)(A) requires that States meet higher participation rates in work programs for at least one percent in a two parent family. These rates are as follows: 1996—50%; 1997—50%; 1998 or thereafter, 90%. Section 481(a)(2)(B) defines the participation rate for two-parent families. Section 481(a)(2)(B)(i) clarifies that the “average monthly rate”, for purposes of counting participation, is equal to the average of the participation rates of the State for each month in the fiscal year. Section 481(a)(2)(B)(ii) defines how States shall calculate their monthly participation rate. Specifically, this rate is equal to the number of two-parent families receiving cash assistance and engaged in unsubsidized employment; subsidized private sector employment; or, subsidized public employment or work experience only if sufficient private sector employment is not available (for an average of 35 hours per week during the month, not more than 8 hours per week of which may be attributed to participation in job search assistance), divided by the total number of families receiving cash assistance.

“Section 481(b) includes definitions of key terms and concepts. Section 481(b)(1) defines what constitutes ‘engaged’ in work activities for the purposes of counting towards a State’s participation rate. Specifically, a recipient must be participating, and making progress in work activities (as defined), for a minimum average number of hours for any given year. For 1996, the minimum is 20 hours; 1997—20; 1998—20; 1999—25; 2000—30; 2001—30; 2002—35; 2003 or thereafter—35 hours.

“Section 481(b)(2) defines ‘work activities’ for the purposes of constituting participation. Specifically, work activities are defined as: unsubsidized employment; subsidized private sector employment; subsidized public sector employment or work experience (only if sufficient private sector employment is not available); on-the-job training; job search and job readiness assistance; education or job skills training directly related to employment (however, a participant must have participated, or be participating in one of the previously mentioned activities prior to engaging in these activities, or has reached the age of 20 and has not received a diploma or certificate of high school equivalency). States also have the option of including ‘satisfactory attendance at secondary school’ in the case of an individual who has not completed secondary school and is a dependent child, or head of household who has not reached the age of 20.

“Section 481(c) sets forth penalties for States and individuals not meeting the requirements of this part. Section 481(c)(1) sets the specific penalties for individuals not meeting the requirements. Section 481(c)(1)(A) requires States to reduce (at a minimum) the amount of cash assistance otherwise to be paid to a recipient under the program, in the case of refusal to participate in a work program. Section 481(c)(1)(B) sets different penalties for adults in 2-parent families refusing to participate. This penalty is reduction in cash assistance pro rata with respect to any period during the month for which the adult has failed to meet the requirements.

“Section 481(c)(1)(C) limits the Secretary in the regulation the conduct of States with respect to penalties applicable to States for not meeting the required participation rates. Section 481(c)(2), establishes penalties for States failing to meet the required participation rates—a penalty equal to not more than 5 percent of the amount of the (AFDC) grant otherwise payable to the State in the following year. Section 481(c)(2)(B), requires that the Secretary impose the penalties upon States based on the degree of noncompliance.

“Section 481(d) is a Sense of the Congress, that in complying with the mandatory work requirements, States should assign the highest priority to requiring families that include older preschool or schoolage children to be engaged in work activities.

“Section 482 provides for Research, Evaluations, and National Studies. Section 482(a) allows the Secretary to conduct research on the effects, costs, and benefits of State programs funded under part A. Section 482(b) allows the Secretary to develop and evaluate innovative approaches to employing welfare recipients. Section 482(c) allows the Secretary to conduct studies of the caseloads of States operating cash assistance welfare programs. Section 482(d) requires the Secretary to develop innovative methods in the dissemination of any research, evaluations or studies conducted pursuant to this part.”

Section 401(b) includes conforming amendments to the work requirement amendments.

The costs of this bill fall within budget functions 500, 600, and 750.

Basis of Estimate: For direct spending programs, CBO estimates the costs and savings of H.R. 999 relative to CBO's March 1995 baseline. For discretionary programs subject to annual appropriations, CBO estimates the change in the level authorized to be appropriated in H.R. 999 relative to authorizations of appropriations in current law. In cases where the bill authorizes such sums as may be necessary, CBO estimates the authorization level by adjusting the 1995 appropriation for projected inflation. Outlays are estimated using historical spending patterns of these and similar programs. Estimated outlays assume full appropriation of authorized amounts.

Title I: Child Care Block Grants.—Title I of H.R. 999 amends the Child Care and Development Block Grant Act of 1990 and authorizes to be appropriated $1.943 billion a year for fiscal years 1996 through 2000. Current law authorizes appropriations through 1995. In addition, Title I repeals federal payments to states for child care funded through the Social Security Act. These payments—for AFDC work-related child care, transitional child care, and at-risk child care—are classified as direct spending. CBO estimates that under current law outlays for these three programs would total $1.095 billion in 1996 and $1.360 billion in 2000.

Title I also repeals the authorizing law for three discretionary programs—the Child Development Associate Scholarship Program, the State Dependent Care Development Grants Program, and Native Hawaiian Family-based Education Centers. Only the Native Hawaiian Family-based Education Centers are authorized after 1995. CBO estimates the annual amount of authorization of appropriations repealed to be $6 million in fiscal years 1996 through 1999.

Title II: Family and School-based Nutrition Block Grants.—Title II repeals the Child Nutrition Act and the National School Lunch Act. These acts provide direct spending authority for the School Lunch Program, the School Breakfast Program, the Summer Food Service Program, the Child and Adult Care Food Program, Commodity Procurement (including commodities funded through Section 32), State Administrative Expenses, the Special Milk Program, and other federal activities. CBO estimates that repealing these laws would reduce direct spending by $7.305 billion in 1996 and $10.922 billion in 2000.

These savings are partially offset by the authorization of a new capped entitlement to states—the School-based Nutrition Block Grant Program. The total amounts from which each eligible state would be entitled to an allotment are stated in the bill. CBO estimates that states would spend 90 percent of the new block grant in the first year the funds became available for obligation and 10 percent in the following year.
The WIC program is currently authorized to be appropriated at such sums as may be necessary through fiscal year 1998. This authorization would be repealed by appropriations would be authorized for a new Family Nutrition Block Grant Program for fiscal years 1996 to 2000 at levels stated in the bill.

H.R. 999 would repeal the authorization of appropriations for the federal administrative costs of the child nutrition programs. CBO estimates that half of the currently authorized amount would be needed to carry out the federal functions authorized in the bill, such as overseeing the block grant funds and compiling data.

H.R. 999 requires the National Academy of Science to develop model nutritional standards for the School-based and Family Nutrition Block Grants and to report to Congress on the states' progress in implementing such standards but does not authorize appropriations for these activities. The Food and Consumer Service has already undertaken the development of such standards CBO estimates that the requirements of H.R. 999 would add $1 million in costs in 1996 of these efforts.

Title III: Restricting Alien Eligibility for Certain Education, Training, and other Programs.—Most of the programs for which legal and illegal aliens would be denied eligibility under H.R. 999 are discretionary programs or capped entitlements. In these cases, prohibiting aliens from participating in a program would not change the cost of the program to the federal government because federal funds would be reallocated from aliens to other eligible participants.

H.R. 999's restrictions on legal alien's eligibility to participate in the student loan programs would, however, result in small savings. Non-citizens would lose their eligibility to participate in the student loan programs unless they were on active duty in the armed forces, were veterans or family members of veterans, or had met the residency requirement and applied for citizenship. For those currently residing in the United States, the change ineligibility would take place one year after enactment of the legislation.

The non-citizens who would become ineligible represent just over one percent of current student loan borrowers according to data from the National Postsecondary Student Aid Survey and the Immigration and Naturalization Service. Virtually all non-citizens borrowers during fiscal year 1996 are assumed to be residing in the United States on or before the assumed enactment date of October 1, 1995, and thus would not be eliminated from eligibility until October 1996. Eliminating these students from participation would lower loan volume by over $200 million each year. As a result, outlays (which are measured on a subsidy-cost basis when the loans are disbursed) would be lower by $20 million in 1997 and $40 million in 2000.

Title IV: Other repealers and conforming amendments.—Title IV of H.R. 999 would repeal federal funding for the Job Opportunities and Basic Skills Program (JOBS), which provides training and educational activities for individuals receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC). CBO estimates the repeal of this capped entitlement program would save $800 million in training outlays in 1996 and $970 million in 2000.
The language of H.R. 999 implies that federal funding for such activities would be made available through the Temporary Family Assistance Block Grant, which is currently under consideration in the House Committee on Ways and Means. However, if JOBS funding is eliminated in the final legislation and the availability of training declines, some individuals would have greater difficulty finding work and would remain on AFDC longer. Consequently, CBO would estimate higher federal spending for AFDC, Food Stamps, and Medicaid.

Title IV would repeal the authorizing law for a number of discretionary child welfare programs. Because none of these programs is currently authorized after 1995, the estimate does not show any savings from their repeal. The bill extends the authorization of appropriations for one program, Missing Children’s Assistance, through 2000; this program is already authorized in 1996.

Title V: Related provisions.—Title V authorizes appropriations for two federal activities. It authorizes $1.5 million for each fiscal year through 2000 for the Secretary of Health and Human Services to publish local level poverty data, and $2.5 million in fiscal year 1996 and $10 million in 1997 through 2000 for the Secretary to publish data on program participation and outcomes.

6. Comparison with spending under current law: The following table shows projected spending for programs affected by H.R. 999 if the bill were enacted in comparison with the estimated 1995 level.

7. Pay-as-you-go considerations: The Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 sets up pay-as-you-go procedures for legislation affecting direct spending or receipts through 1998. The pay-as-you-go effects of the bill are as follows.

8. Estimated cost to State and local governments: H.R. 999 changes the structure of federal funding for child care, child nutrition, and job training for receipts of welfare benefits. The bill repeals the federal entitlement for these programs to individuals and allows states to spend a specified amount of federal money provided in a block grant with a greater degree of flexibility. To the extent that demand or eligibility for these programs increases above the level of federal funding, states could choose to increase their own spending to keep pace, or could reduce the amount of benefits or limit eligibility to maintain current levels of spending.

H.R. 999 would eliminate federal funding for the Job Opportunities and Basic Skills Training program (J'OBS) but would retain the requirement that states operate such programs. In effect, the bill would require that states pay for their training programs out of their own resources. The committee’s intent, however, is that states would fund their training program through a new Temporary Family Assistance Block Grant, which would replace the current AFDC and JOBS programs. This block grant is currently being considered by the Ways and Means Committee.

9. Estimate comparison: None.
10. Previous CBO estimate: None.
11. Estimate prepared by: Dorothy Rosenbaum, John Tapogna, and Deborah Kalcevic.

under paragraph (3)(C), are given the option either—
(ii) * * *

[except that nothing in this subparagraph shall require a State to have a child care certificate program in operation the requirements of this subparagraph.

(B) Unlimited parental access.—[Provide assurances] Certify that procedures are in effect within the State to ensure that child care providers who provide services for which assistance is made available under this subchapter afford parents unlimited access to their children and to the providers caring for their children, during the normal hours of operation of such providers and whenever such children are in the care of such providers and provide a detailed description of such procedures.

(C) Parental complaints.—[Provide assurances] Certify

(b)(1) Subject to the provisions of subsections (c) and (d), amounts paid to a State under section 670C from its allotment under section 670B may be used for the planning, development, establishment, operation, expansion, or improvement by the States, directly, or by grant or contract, with public agencies or private nonprofit organizations of programs to furnish school-age child care services before and after school. Amounts so paid to a State and used for the operation of such child care services shall be designed to enable children, whose families lack adequate financial resources, to participate in before or after school child care programs.

(2) The State, with respect to the uses of funds described in paragraph (1) of this subsection shall—

(A) provide assurances, in the case of an applicant that is not a State or local educational agency, that the applicant has or will enter into an agreement with the State or local educational agency, institution of higher education or community center containing provisions for—

(i) the use of facilities for the provision of before or after school child care services (including such use during holidays and vacation periods),

(ii) the restrictions, if any, on the use of such space, and

(iii) the times when the space will be available for the use of the applicant;

(B) provide an estimate of the costs of the establishment of the child care service program in the facilities;

(C) provide assurances that the parents of school-age children will be involved in the development and implementation of the program for which assistance is sought under this Act;

(D) provide assurances that the applicant is able and willing to seek to enroll racially, ethnically, and economically diverse school-age children, as well as handicapped school-age children, in the child care service program for which assistance is sought under this Act;

(E) provide assurances that the child care program is in compliance with State and local child care licensing laws and regulations governing day care services for school-age children to the extent that such regulations are appropriate to the age group served; and

(F) provide such other assurance as the chief executive officer of the State may reasonably require to carry out this Act.

(c)(1) Except as provided in paragraph (2), of the allotment to each State in each fiscal year—

(A) 40 percent shall be available for the activities described in subsection (a); and

(B) 60 percent shall be available for the activities described in subsection (b).
For any fiscal year the Secretary may waive the percentage requirements specified in paragraph (1) on the request of a State if such State demonstrates to the satisfaction of the Secretary—

(A) that the amount of funds available as a result of one of such percentage requirements is not needed in such fiscal year for the activities for which such amount is so made available; and

(B) the adequacy of the alternative percentages, relative to need, the State specifies the State will apply with respect to all of the activities referred to in paragraph (1) if such waiver is granted.

d) A State may not use amounts paid to it under this subchapter to—

(1) make cash payments to intended recipient of dependent care services including child care services;

(2) pay for construction or renovation; or

(3) satisfy any requirement for the expenditure of non-Federal funds as a condition for the receipt of Federal funds.

e)(1) The Federal share of any project supported under this subchapter shall be not more than 75 percent.

(2) Not more than 10 percent of the allotment of each State under this subchapter may be available for the cost of administration.

f) Project supported under this section to plan, develop, establish, expand, operate, or improve a State or local resource and referral system or before or after school child care program shall not duplicate any services which are provided before the date of the enactment of this subchapter, by the State or locality which will be served by such system.

g) The Secretary may provide technical assistance to States in planning and carrying out activities under this subchapter.

APPLICATION AND DESCRIPTION OF ACTIVITIES; REQUIREMENTS

Sec. 670E. (a)(1) In order to receive an allotment under section 670B, each State shall submit an application to the Secretary. Each such application shall be in such form and submitted by such date as the Secretary shall require.

(2) Each application required under paragraph (1) for an allotment under section 670B shall contain assurances that the State will meet the requirements of subsection (b).

(b) As part of the annual application required by subsection (a), the chief executive officer of each State shall—

(1) certify that the State agrees to use the funds allotted to it under section 670B in accordance with the requirements of this subchapter; and

(2) certify that the State agrees that Federal funds made available under section 670C for any period will be so used as to supplement and increase the level of State, local, and other non-Federal funds that would in the absence of such Federal funds be made available for the programs and activities for which funds are provided under that section and will in no event supplant such State, local, and other non-Federal funds. The Secretary may not prescribe for a State the manner of compliance with the requirements of this subsection.
(c)(1) The chief executive officer of a State shall, as part of the application required by subsection (a), also prepare and furnish the vide) with a description of the intended use of the payments the State will receive under section 670C, including information on the programs and activities to be supported. The description shall be made public within the State in such manner as to facilitate comment from any person (including any Federal or other public agency) during development of the description and after its transmittal.

The description shall be revised (consistent with this section) until September 30, 1991, as may be necessary to reflect substantial changes in the programs and activities assisted by the State under this subchapter, and any revision shall be subject to the requirements of the preceding sentence.
(2) The chief executive officer of each State shall include in such after school child care programs assisted under this subchapter;

age levels, handicapped condition, income level of families in such programs;
(C) the salary level and benefits paid to employees in such child care programs; and
(D) the number of clients served in resource and referral systems assisted under this subchapter, and the types of assistance they requested.
(d) Except where inconsistent with the provisions of this subchapter, the provisions of section 1903(b), paragraphs (1) through (5) of section 1906(a), and sections 1906(b), 1907, 1908, and 1909 of the Public Health Service Act shall apply to this subchapter in the same manner as such provisions apply to part A of title XIX of such Act.

STATE PLANS FOR AID AND SERVICES TO NEEDY FAMILIES WITH CHILDREN

SEC. 402. (a) A State plan for aid and services to needy families with children must—

(1) * * *

(9) provide safeguards which restrict the use or disclosure of information concerning applicants or recipients to purposes directly connected with (A) the administration of the plan of the State approved under this part (including activities under part F), the plan or program of the State under part B, D, or E of this title or under title I, X, XIV, XVI, XIX, or XX, or the supplemental security income program established by title XVI, (B) any investigation, prosecution, or criminal or civil proceeding, conducted in connection with the administration of any such plan or program, (C) the administration of any other Federal or federally assisted program which provides assistance, in cash or in kind, or services, directly to individuals on the basis of need, (D) any audit or similar activity conducted in connection with the administration of any such plan or program by any governmental entity which is authorized by law to conduct such audit or activity, and (E) reporting and providing information pursuant to paragraph (16) to appropriate authorities with respect to known or suspected child abuse or neglect; and the safeguards so provided shall prohibit disclosure, to any committee or legislative body (other than an entity referred to in clause (D) with respect to an activity referred to in such clause), of any information which identifies by name or address any such applicant or recipient; but such safeguards shall not prevent the State agency or the local agency responsible for the administration of the State plan in the locality (whether or not the State has enacted legislation allowing public access to Federal welfare records) from furnishing a State or local law enforcement officer, upon his request, with the current address of any recipient if the officer furnishes the agency with such recipient's name and social security account number and satisfactorily demonstrates that such recipient is a fugitive felon, that the location or apprehension of such felon is within the officer's official duties, and that the request is made in the proper exercise of those duties;

(19) provide—

(A) that the State has in effect and operation a job opportunities and basic skills training program which meets the requirements of part F of this subchapter;

(B) that—

(i) the State will (except as otherwise provided in this paragraph or part F), to the extent that the program is available in the political subdivision involved and State resources otherwise permit—

(ii) require all recipients of aid to families with dependent children in such subdivision with repect to whom the State guarantees child care in accordance with section 402(g) to participate in the program; and

(ii) allow applicants for and recipients of aid to families with dependent children (and individuals who would be recipients of such aid if the State had not exercised the option under section 407(b)(2)(B)(i)) who are not required under subclause (i) to participate in the program to do so on a voluntary basis;

(ii) in determining the priority of participation by individuals from among those groups described in clauses (i), (ii), (iii), and (iv) of section 403(l)(2)(B), the State will give first consideration to applicants for or recipients of aid to families with dependent children within any such group who volunteer to participate in the program;

(iii) if an exempt participant drops out of the program without good cause after having commenced participation in the program, he or she shall thereafter not be given priority so long as other individuals are actively seeking to participate; and

(iv) the State need not require or allow participation of an individual in the program if as a result of such participation the amount payable to the State for quarters in a fiscal year with respect to the program would be reduced pursuant to section 403(l)(2);

(C) that an individual may not be required to participate in the program if such individual—

(i) is ill, incapacitated, or of advanced age;

(ii) is needed in the home because of the illness or incapacity of another member of the household;

(iii) subject to subparagraph (D)—

(II) is the parent or other relative personally providing care for a child under 6 years of age, unless the State assures that child care in accordance with section 402(g) will be guaranteed and that participation in the program by the parent or relative will not be required for more than 20 hours a week;

(iv) works 30 or more hours a week;

(v) is a child who is under age 16 or attends, full-time, an elementary, secondary, or vocational (or technical) school;

[(vii) resides in an area of the State where the program is not available;

(D) that, in the case of a family eligible for aid to families with dependent children by reason of the unemployment of the parent who is the principal earner, subparagraph (C)(iii) shall apply only to one parent, except that, in the case of such a family, the State may at its option make such subparagraph inapplicable to both of the parents (and require their participation in the program) if child care in accordance with subsection (g) of this section is guaranteed with respect to the family;

(E) that—

(i) to the extent that the program is available in the political subdivision involved and State resources otherwise permit, in the case of a custodial parent who has not attained 20 years of age, has not successfully completed a high-school education (or its equivalent), and is required to participate in the program (including an individual who would otherwise be exempt from participation in the program solely by reason of subparagraph (C)(iii)), the State agency (subject to clause (ii)) will require such parent to participate in an educational activity; and

(ii) the State agency may—

(I) require a parent described in clause (i) notwithstanding the part-time requirement in subparagraph (C)(iii)(II) to participate in educational activities directed toward the attainment of a high school diploma or its equivalent on a full-time (as defined by the educational provider) basis,

(II) establish criteria in accordance with regulations of the Secretary under which custodial parents described in clause (i) who have not attained 18 years of age may be exempted from the school attendance requirement under such clause, or

(III) require a parent described in clause (i) who is age 18 or 19 to participate in training or work activities (in lieu of the educational activities under such clause) if such parent fails to make good progress in successfully completing such educational activities or if it is determined (prior to any assignment of the individual to such educational activities) pursuant to an educational assessment that participation in such educational activities is inappropriate for such parent;

(F) that—

(i) if the parent or other caretaker relative or any dependent child in the family is attending (in good standing) an institution of higher education (as defined in section 481(a) of the Higher Education Act of 1965), or a school or course of vocational or technical training (not less than half time) consistent with the individual’s employment goals, and is making satisfactory progress in such institution, school, or course, at the time he or she would otherwise commence participation in the program under this section, such attendance may constitute satisfactory participation in the program (by that caretaker or child) so long as it continues and is consistent with such goals;

(ii) any other activities in which an individual described in clause (i) participates may not be permitted to interfere with the school or training described in that clause;

(iii) the costs of such school or training shall not constitute federally reimbursable expenses for purposes of section 403; and

(iv) the costs of day care, transportation, and other services which are necessary (as determined by the State agency) for such attendance in accordance with section 402(g) are eligible for Federal reimbursement;

(G) that—

(i) if an individual who is required by the provisions of this paragraph to participate in the program or who is so required by reason of the State's having exercised the option under subparagraph (D) fails without good cause to participate in the program or refuses without good cause to accept employment in which such individual is able to engage which is offered through the public employment offices of the State, or is otherwise offered by an employer if the offer of such employer is determined to be a bona fide offer of employment—

(I) the needs of such individual (whether or not section 407 applies) shall not be taken into account in making the determination with respect to his or her family under paragraph (7) of this subsection, and if such individual is a parent or other caretaker relative, payments of aid for any dependent child in the family in the form of payments of the type described in section 406(b)(2) (which in such a case shall be without regard to clauses (A) through (D) thereof) will be made unless the State agency, after making reasonable efforts, is unable to locate an appropriate individual to whom such payments can be made; and

(II) if such individual is a member of a family which is eligible for aid to families with dependent children by reason of section 407, and his or her spouse is not participating in the program, the needs of such spouse shall also not be taken into account in making such determination;

(ii) any sanction described in clause (i) shall continue—

(I) in the case of the individual's first failure to comply, until the failure to comply ceases;
(II) in the case of the individual's second failure to comply, until the failure to comply ceases or 3 months (whichever is longer); and

(III) in the case of any subsequent failure to comply, until the failure to comply ceases or 6 months (whichever is longer);

(iii) the State will promptly remind any individual whose failure to comply has continued for 3 months, in writing, of the individual's option to end the sanction by terminating such failure; and

(iv) no sanction shall be imposed under this subparagraph—

(I) on the basis of the refusal of an individual described in subparagraph (C)(iii)(II) to accept employment, if the employment would require such individual to work more than 20 hours a week, or

(II) on the basis of the refusal of an individual to participate in the program or accept employment, if child care (or day care for any incapacitated individual living in the same home as a dependent child) is necessary for an individual to participate in the program or accept employment, such care is not available, and the State agency fails to provide such care; and

(H) the State agency may require a participant in the program to accept a job only if such agency assures that the family of such participant will experience no net loss of cash income resulting from acceptance of the job; and any costs incurred by the State agency as a result of this subparagraph shall be treated as expenditures with respect to which section 403(a)(1) or 403(a)(2) applies;

(44) provide that the State agency shall—

(A) be responsible for assuring that the benefits and services under the programs under this part, part D, and part F are furnished in an integrated manner, and

(g)(1)(A)(i) Each State agency must guarantee child care in accordance with subparagraph (B)—

(I) for each family with a dependent child requiring such care, to the extent that such care is determined by the State agency to be necessary for an individual in the family to accept employment or remain employed; and

(II) for each individual participating in an education and training activity (including participation in a program that meets the requirements of subsection (a)(19) and part F) if the State agency approves the activity and determines that the individual is satisfactorily participating in the activity.

(ii) Each State agency must guarantee child care, subject to the limitations described in this section, to the extent that such care is determined by the State agency to be necessary for an individual's employment in any case where a family has ceased to receive aid to families with dependent children as a result of increased hours of, or increased income from, such employment or by reason of subsection (a)(8)(B)(ii)(II).

(iii) A family shall only be eligible for child care provided under clause (ii) for a period of 12 months after the last month for which the family received aid to families with dependent children under this part.

(iv) A family shall not be eligible for child care provided under clause (ii) unless the family received aid to families with dependent children in at least 3 of the 6 months immediately preceding the month in which the family became ineligible for such aid.

(v) A family shall not be eligible for child care provided under clause (ii) unless the family includes a child who is (or, if needy, would be) a dependent child.

(vi) A family shall not be eligible for child care provided under clause (ii) for any month beginning after the caretaker relative who is a member of the family has—

(I) without good cause, terminated his or her employment; or

(II) refused to cooperate with the State in establishing and enforcing his or her child support obligations, without good cause as determined by the State agency in accordance with standards prescribed by the Secretary which shall take into consideration the best interests of the child for whom child care is to be provided.

(vii) A family shall contribute to child care provided under clause (ii) in accordance with a sliding scale formula which shall be established by the State agency based on the family's ability to pay.

(B) The State agency may guarantee child care by—

(i) providing such care directly;

(ii) arranging the care through providers by use of purchase of service contracts, or vouchers;

(iii) providing cash or vouchers in advance to the caretaker relative in the family;

(iv) reimbursing the caretaker relative in the family; or

(v) adopting such other arrangements as the agency deems appropriate.

When the State agency arranges for child care, the agency shall take into account the individual needs of the child.

(C)(i) Subject to clause (ii), the State agency shall make payment for the cost of child care provided with respect to a family in an amount that is the lesser of—

(I) the actual cost of such care; and

(II) the dollar amount of the child care disregard for which the family is otherwise eligible under subsection (a)(8)(A)(iii) of this section, or (if higher) an amount established by the State.

(ii) The State agency may not reimburse the cost of child care provided with respect to a family in an amount that is greater than the applicable local market rate (as determined by the State in accordance with regulations issued by the Secretary).

(D) The State may not make any change in its method of reimbursing child care costs which has the effect of disadvantaging families receiving aid under the State plan on October 13, 1988, by reducing their income or otherwise.

(E) The value of any child care provided or arranged (or any amount received as payment for such care or reimbursement for costs incurred for the care) under this paragraph—

(i) shall not be treated as income for purposes of any other Federal or federally-assisted program that bases eligibility for or the amount of benefits upon need, and

(ii) may not be claimed as an employment-related expense for purposes of the credit under section 21 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

(2) In the case of any individual participating in the program under part F, each State agency (in addition to guaranteeing child care under paragraph (1)) shall provide payment or reimbursement for such transportation and other work-related expenses (including other work-related supportive services), as the State determines are necessary to enable such individual to participate in such program.

(3)(A)(i) In the case of amounts expended for child care pursuant to paragraph (1)(A) by any State to which section 1108 does not apply, the applicable rate for purposes of section 403(a) shall be the Federal medical assistance percentage (as defined in section 1196d(b)).

(ii) In the case of amounts expended for child care pursuant to paragraph (1)(A)(ii) (relating to the provision of child care for certain families which cease to receive aid under this part) by any State to which section 1108 applies, the applicable rate for purposes of section 403(a) shall be the Federal medical assistance percentage (as defined in section 1118).

(B) In the case of any amounts expended by the State agency for child care under this subsection, only such amounts as are within such limits as the State may prescribe (subject to the limitations of paragraph (1)(C)) shall be treated as amounts for which payment may be made to a State under this part and they may be so treated only to the extent that—

(i) such amounts do not exceed the applicable local market rate (as determined by the State in accordance with regulations issued by the Secretary);

(ii) the child care involved meets applicable standards of State and local law; and

(iii) in the case of child care, the entity providing such care allows parental access.

(4) The State must establish procedures to ensure that center-based child care will be subject to State and local requirements designed to ensure basic health and safety, including fire safety, protections. The State must also endeavor to develop guidelines for family day care. The State must provide the Secretary with a description of such State and local requirements and guidelines.

(5) By October 1, 1992, the Secretary shall report to the Congress on the nature and content of State and local standards for health and safety.

(6)(A) The Secretary shall make grants to States to improve their child care licensing and registration requirements and procedures, to enforce standards with respect to child care provided to children under this part, and to provide for the training of child care providers.

(B) Subject to subparagraph (C), the Secretary shall make grants to each State under subparagraph (A) in proportion to the number of children in the State receiving aid under the State plan approved under subsection (a) of this section.

(C) The Secretary may not make grants to a State under subparagraph (A) unless the State provides matching funds in an amount that is not less than 10 percent of the amount of the grant.

(D) For grants under this paragraph, there is authorized to be appropriated to the Secretary $13,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1990 and 1991, and $50,000,000 for each of fiscal years 1992, 1993, and 1994.

(E) Each State to which the Secretary makes a grant under this paragraph shall expend not less than 50 percent of the amount of the grant to provide for the training of child care providers.

(7) Activities under this subsection and subsection (i) of this section shall be coordinated in each State with existing early childhood education programs in that State, including Head Start programs, preschool programs funded under title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, and school and nonprofit child care programs (including community-based organizations receiving funds designated for preschool programs for handicapped children).

(B) The State agency shall make payment for the cost of child care provided under paragraph (1) with respect to a family in an amount that is the lesser of—

(i) the actual cost of such care; and

(4) The value of any child care provided or arranged (or any amount received as payment for such care or reimbursement for costs incurred for the care) under this subsection—

(5) Amounts expended by the State agency for child care under paragraph (1) shall be treated as amounts for which payment may be made to a State under section 403(n) only to the extent that—

(B) the care involved meets applicable standards of State and local law;

(C) the provider of the care—

(i) in the case of a provider who is not an individual that provides such care solely to members of the family of the individual, is licensed, regulated, or registered by the State or locality in which the care is provided; and

(ii) The State shall make available for public inspection within the State copies of each report required by this paragraph, shall transmit a copy of each such report to the Secretary, and shall provide a copy of each such report, on request, to any interested public agency.

(iii) The Secretary shall annually compile, and submit to the Congress, the State reports transmitted to the Secretary pursuant to clause (ii).

(B) Each report prepared and transmitted by a State under subparagraph (A) shall set forth with respect to child care services provided under this subsection—

(i) showing separately for center-based child care services, group home child care services, family child care services, and relative care services, the number of children who received such services and the average cost of such services;

(ii) the criteria applied in determining eligibility or priority for receiving services, and sliding fee schedules;

(iii) the child care licensing and regulatory (including registration) requirements in effect in the State with respect to each type of service specified in clause (i); and

(iv) the enforcement policies and practices in effect in the State which apply to licensed and regulated child care providers (including providers required to register).

(C) Within 12 months after November 5, 1990, the Secretary shall establish uniform reporting requirements for use by the States in preparing the information required by this paragraph, and make such other provision as may be necessary or appropriate to ensure that compliance with this subsection will not be unduly burdensome on the States.

[(D) Not later than July 1, 1992, the Secretary shall issue a report on the implementation of this subsection, based on such information as has been made available to the Secretary by the States.]

PAYMENTS TO STATES

SEC. 403. (a) * * *

(k)(1) Each State with a plan approved under part F shall be entitled to payments under subsection (l) of this section for any fiscal year in an amount equal to the sum of the applicable percentages (specified in such subsection) of its expenditures to carry out the program under part F (subject to limitations prescribed by or pursuant to such part or this section on expenditures that may be included for purposes of determining payment under subsection (l) of this section), but such payments for any fiscal year in the case of any State may not exceed the limitation determined under paragraph (2) with respect to the State.

(2) The limitation determined under this paragraph with respect to a State for any fiscal year is—

(A) the amount allotted to the State for fiscal year 1987 under part C of this subchapter as then in effect, plus

(B) the amount that bears the same ratio to the amount specified in paragraph (3) for such fiscal year as the average monthly number of adult recipients (as defined in paragraph (4)) in the State in the preceding fiscal year bears to the average monthly number of such recipients in all the States for such preceding year.

(3) The amount specified in this paragraph is—

(B) $800,000,000 in the case of the fiscal year 1990,

(C) $1,000,000,000 in the case of each of the fiscal years 1991, 1992, and 1993,

(D) $1,100,000,000 in the case of the fiscal year 1994,

(E) $1,300,000,000 in the case of the fiscal year 1995, and

(F) $1,000,000,000 in the case of the fiscal year 1996 and each succeeding fiscal year, reduced by the aggregate amount allotted to all the States for fiscal year 1987 pursuant to part C of this subchapter as then in effect.

(4) For purposes of this subsection, the term “adult recipient” in the case of any State means an individual other than a dependent child (unless such child is the custodial parent of another dependent child) whose needs are met (in whole or in part) with payments of aid to families with dependent children.

(5) None of the funds available to a State for purposes of the programs or activities conducted under part F shall be used for construction.

(l)(1)(A) In lieu of any payment under subsection (a) of this section, the Secretary shall pay to each State with a plan approved under section 482(a) (subject to the limitation determined under section 482(i)(2)) with respect to expenditures by the State to carry out a program under part F (including expenditures for child care under section 402(g)(1)(A)(i), but only in the case of a State with respect to which section 1108 applies), an amount equal to—

(i) with respect to so much of such expenditures in a fiscal year as do not exceed the State's expenditures in the fiscal year 1987 with respect to which payments were made to such State from its allotment for such fiscal year pursuant to part C of this subchapter as then in effect, 90 percent; and

(ii) with respect to so much of such expenditures in a fiscal year as exceed the amount described in clause (i)—

(I) 50 percent, in the case of expenditures for administrative costs made by a State in operating such a program for such fiscal year (other than the personnel costs for staff employed full-time in the operation of such program) and the costs of transportation and other work-related supportive services under section 402(g)(2), and

(II) the greater of 60 percent or the Federal medical assistance percentage (as defined in section 1118 in the case of any State to which section 1108 applies, or as defined in section 1905(b) in the case of any other State), in the case of expenditures made by a State in operating such a program for such fiscal year (other than for costs described in subclause (I)).

(B) With respect to the amount for which payment is made to a State under subparagraph (A)(i), the State’s expenditures for the costs of operating a program established under part F may be in cash or in kind, fairly evaluated.

(2)(A) Notwithstanding paragraph (1), the Secretary shall pay to a State an amount equal to 50 percent of the expenditures made by such State in operating its program established under part F (in lieu of any different percentage specified in paragraph (1)(A)) if less than 55 percent of such expenditures are made with respect to individuals who are described in subparagraph (B).

(B) An individual is described in this paragraph if the individual—

(i)(I) is receiving aid to families with dependent children, and

(ii) has received such aid for any 36 of the preceding 60 months;

(iii)(I) makes application for aid to families with dependent children, and

(ii) has received such aid for any 36 of the 60 months immediately preceding the most recent month for which application has been made;

(iii) is a custodial parent under the age of 24 who (I) has not completed a high school education and, at the time of application for aid to families with dependent children, is not enrolled in high school (or a high school equivalency course of instruction), or (II) had little or no work experience in the preceding year; or

(iv) is a member of a family in which the youngest child is within 2 years of being ineligible for aid to families with dependent children because of age.
(C) This paragraph may be waived by the Secretary with respect to any State which demonstrates to the satisfaction of the Secretary that the characteristics of the caseload in that State make it infeasible to meet the requirements of this paragraph, and that the State is targeting other long-term or potential long-term recipients.

(D) The Secretary shall biennially submit to the Congress any recommendations for modifications or additions to the groups of individuals described in subparagraph (B) that the Secretary determines would further the goal of assisting long-term or potential long-term recipients of aid to families with dependent children to achieve self-sufficiency, which recommendations shall take into account the particular characteristics of the populations of individual States.

(3)(A) Notwithstanding paragraph (1), the Secretary shall pay to a State an amount equal to 50 percent of the expenditures made by such State in a fiscal year in operating its program established under part F (in lieu of any different percentage specified in paragraph (1)(A)) if the State’s participation rate (determined under subparagraph (B)) for the preceding fiscal year does not exceed or equal—

(i) 7 percent if the preceding fiscal year is 1990;
(ii) 7 percent if such year is 1991;
(iii) 11 percent if such year is 1992;
(iv) 11 percent if such year is 1993;
(v) 15 percent if such year is 1994; and
(vi) 20 percent if such year is 1995.

(B)(i) The State’s participation rate for a fiscal year shall be the average of its participation rates for computation periods (as defined in clause (ii)) in such fiscal year.

(ii) The computation periods shall be—

(I) the fiscal year, in the case of fiscal year 1990,
(II) the first six months, and the seventh through twelfth months, in the case of fiscal year 1991,
(III) the first three months, the fourth through sixth months, the seventh through ninth months, and the tenth through twelfth months, in the case of fiscal years 1992 and 1993, and
(IV) each month, in the case of fiscal years 1994 and 1995.

(iii) The State’s participation rate for a computation period shall be the number, expressed as a percentage, equal to—

(I) the average monthly number of individuals required or allowed by the State to participate in the program under part F who have participated in such program in months in the computation period, plus the number of individuals required or allowed by the State to participate in such program who have so participated in that month in such period for which the number of such participants is the greatest, divided by

(II) twice the average monthly number of individuals required to participate in such period (other than individuals described in subparagraph (C)(iii)(I) or (D) of section 402(a)(19) with respect to whom the State has exercised its option to require their participation).
For purposes of this subparagraph, an individual shall not be considered to have satisfactorily participated in the program under part F solely by reason of such individual being registered to participate in such program.

(C) Notwithstanding any other provision of this paragraph, no State shall be subject to payment under this paragraph (in lieu of paragraph (1)(A)) for failing to meet any participation rate required under this paragraph with respect to any fiscal year before 1991.

(D) For purposes of this paragraph, an individual shall be determined to have participated in the program under part F, if such individual has participated in accordance with such requirements, consistent with regulations of the Secretary, as the State shall establish.

(E) If the Secretary determines that the State has failed to achieve the participation rate for any fiscal year specified in the numbered clauses of subparagraph (A), he may waive, in whole or in part, the reduction in the payment rate otherwise required by such subparagraph if he finds that—

(i) the State is in conformity with section 402(a)(19) and part F;

(ii) the State has made a good faith effort to achieve the applicable participation rate for such fiscal year; and

(iii) the State has submitted a proposal which is likely to achieve the applicable participation rate for the current fiscal year and the subsequent fiscal years (if any) specified therein.

(4)(A)(i) Subject to subparagraph (B), in the case of any family eligible for aid to families with dependent children by reason of the unemployment of the parent who is the principal earner, the State agency shall require that at least one parent in any such family participate, for a total of at least 16 hours a week during any period in which either parent is required to participate in the program, in a work supplementation program, a community work experience or other work experience program, on-the-job training, or a State designed work program approved by the Secretary, as such programs are described in section 482(d)(1). In the case of a parent under age 25 who has not completed high school or an equivalent course of education, the State may require such parent to participate in educational activities directed at the attainment of a high school diploma (or equivalent) or another basic education program in lieu of one or more of the programs specified in the preceding sentence.

(ii) For purposes of clause (i), an individual participating in a community work experience program under section 482 shall be considered to have met the requirement of such clause if he participates for the number of hours in any month equal to the monthly payment of aid to families with dependent children to the family of which he is a member, divided by the greater of the Federal or the applicable State minimum wage (and the portion of such monthly payment for which the State is reimbursed by a child support collection shall not be taken into account in determining the number of hours that such individual may be required to work).

(B) The requirement under subparagraph (A) shall not be considered to have been met by any State if the requirement is not met with respect to the following percentages of all families in the State eligible for aid to families with dependent children by reason of the unemployment of the parent who is the principal earner:

(i) 40 percent, in the case of the average of each month in fiscal year 1994,
(ii) 50 percent, in the case of the average of each month in fiscal year 1995,
(iii) 60 percent, in the case of the average of each month in fiscal year 1996, and
(iv) 75 percent in the case of the average of each month in each of the fiscal years 1997 and 1998.

(C) The percentage of participants for any month in a fiscal year for purposes of the preceding sentence shall equal the average of—

(i) the number of individuals described in subparagraph (A)(i) who have met the requirement prescribed therein, divided by
(ii) the total number of principal earners described in such subparagraph (but excluding those in families who have been recipients of aid for 2 months or less if, during the period that the family received aid, at least one parent engaged in intensive job search).

(D) If the Secretary determines that the State has failed to meet the requirement under subparagraph (A) (determined with respect to the percentages prescribed in subparagraph (B)), he may waive, in whole or in part, any penalty if he finds that—

(i) the State is operating a program in conformity with section 402(a)(19) and part F,
(ii) the State has made a good faith effort to meet the requirement of subparagraph (A) but has been unable to do so because of economic conditions in the State (including significant numbers of recipients living in remote locations or isolated rural areas where the availability of work sites is severely limited), or because of rapid and substantial increases in the caseload that cannot reasonably be planned for, and
(iii) the State has submitted a proposal which is likely to achieve the required percentage of participants for the subsequent fiscal years.

(n)(1) In addition to any payment under subsection (a) or (l) of this section, each State shall be entitled to payment from the Secretary of an amount equal to the lesser of—

(A) the Federal medical assistance percentage (as defined in section 11905(b)) of the expenditures by the State in providing child care services pursuant to section 402(i), and in administering the provision of such child care services, for any fiscal year; and
(B) the limitation determined under paragraph (2) with respect to the State for the fiscal year.

(2)(A) The limitation determined under this paragraph with respect to a State for any fiscal year is the amount that bears the same ratio to the amount specified in subparagraph (B) for such fiscal year as the number of children residing in the State in the second preceding fiscal year bears to the number of children residing in the United States in the second preceding fiscal year.
(B) The amount specified in this subparagraph is—
[(i) $300,000,000 for fiscal year 1991;
(ii) $300,000,000 for fiscal year 1992;
(iii) $300,000,000 for fiscal year 1993;
(iv) $300,000,000 for fiscal year 1994; and (v) $300,000,000 for fiscal year 1995, and for each fiscal year thereafter.

(C) If the limitation determined under subparagraph (A) with respect to a State for a fiscal year exceeds the amount paid to the State under this subsection for the fiscal year, the limitation determined under this paragraph with respect to the State for the immediately succeeding fiscal year shall be increased by the amount of such excess.

(3) Amounts appropriated for a fiscal year to carry out this part shall be made available for payments under this subsection for such fiscal year.

SEC. 407. (a) * * *

(b)(1) In providing for the provision of aid to families with dependent children under the State's plan approved under section 402, in the case of families that include dependent children within the meaning of subsection (a) of this section, as required by section 402(a)(41), the State's plan—

(A) * * *

(B) shall provide—

(i) for such assurances as will satisfy the Secretary that unemployed parents of dependent children as defined in subsection (a) will participate or apply for participation in a program under part F (unless the program is not available in the area where the parent is living) within 30 days after receipt of aid with respect to such children;

(ii) for entering into cooperative arrangements with the State agency responsible for administering or supervising the administration of vocational education in the State, designed to assure maximum utilization of available public vocational education services and facilities in the State in order to encourage the retraining of individuals capable of being retrained;

(iii) for the denial of aid to families with dependent children to any child or relative specified in subsection (a) with respect to any week for which such child's parent described in subparagraph (A)(i) qualifies for unemployment compensation under an unemployment compensation law of a State or of the United States, but refuses to apply for or accept such unemployment compensation; and

(iv) for the reduction of the aid to families with dependent children otherwise payable to any child or relative specified in subsection (a) by the amount of any unemployment compensation that such child's parent described in subparagraph (A)(i) receives under an unemployment compensation law of a State or of the United States;

(v) that, if and for so long as the child's parent described in subparagraph (A)(i), unless meeting a condition of section 402(a)(19)(C), is, without good cause, not partici-
part F, or if exempt under such section by reason of clause (vii) thereof or because there has not been established or provided under part F a program in which such parent can effectively participate, is not registered with the public employment offices in the State, the needs of such parent shall not be taken into account in determining the need of such parent’s family under section 402(a)(7), and the needs of such parent’s spouse shall not be so taken into account unless such spouse is participating in such a program, or if not participating solely by reason of section 402(a)(19)(C)(vii) or because there has not been established or provided under part F a program in which such spouse can effectively participate, is registered with the public employment offices of the State; and if neither parents’ needs are so taken into account, the payment provisions of section 402(a)(19)(G)(i)(I) shall apply.

(2)(A) * * *
(B)(i) * * *
(ii)(I) A State may not limit the number of months under clause (i) for which a family may receive aid to families with dependent children unless it provides in its plan assurances to the Secretary that it has a program (that meets such requirements as the Secretary may in regulation prescribe) for providing education, training, and employment services (including any activity authorized under section 402(a)(19) or under part F) in order to assist parents of children described in subsection (a) in preparing for and obtaining employment.

* * * * * * *

(C) With respect to the participation in the program under section 402(a)(19) and part F of a family eligible for aid to families with dependent children by reason of this section, a State may, at its option—

(i) except as otherwise provided in such section and such part, require that any parent participating in such program engage in program activities for up to 40 hours per week; and

(ii) provide for the payment of aid to families with dependent children at regular intervals of no greater than one month but after the performance of assigned program activities.

(c) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section, expenditures pursuant to this section shall be excluded from aid to families with dependent children (A) where such expenditures are made under the plan with respect to any dependent child as defined in subsection (a), (i) for any part of the 30-day period referred to in subsection (b)(1)(A)(i), or (ii) for any period prior to the time when the parent satisfies subsection (b)(1)(A)(ii), and (B) if, and for as long as, no action is taken (after the 30-day period referred to in subsection (b)(1)(B)(i)), under the program therein specified, to undertake appropriate steps directed towards the participation of such parent in a program under part F.

(d) For purposes of this section—
(1) the term "quarter of work" with respect to any individual means (A) a calendar quarter in which such individual received earned income of not less than $50 (or which is a "quarter of coverage" as defined in section 213(a)(2)), or in which such individual participated in a program under part F, (B) at the option of the State, a calendar quarter in which such individual attended, full-time, an elementary school, a secondary school, or a vocational or technical training course (approved by the Secretary) that is designed to prepare the individual for gainful employment, or in which such individual participated in an education or training program established under the Job Training Partnership Act, and (C) a calendar quarter ending before October 1990 in which such individual participated in a community work experience program under section 409 (as in effect for a State immediately before the effective date for that State of the amendments made by title II of the Family Support Act of 1988) or the work incentive program established under part C (as in effect for a State immediately before such effective date);

(e) The Secretary and the Secretary of Labor shall jointly enter into an agreement with each State which is able and willing to do so for the purpose of (1) simplifying the procedures to be followed by unemployed parents and other unemployed persons in such State in participating in a program under part F and in registering with public employment offices (under this section and otherwise) or in connection with applications for unemployment compensation, by reducing the number of locations or agencies where such persons must go in order to participate in or register for such programs and in connection with such applications, and (2) providing where possible for a single registration satisfying this section and the requirements of both part F and the applicable unemployment compensation laws.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY FOR FAMILY SUPPORT

SEC. 417. The programs under this part, part D, and part F and part D shall be administered by an Assistant Secretary for Family Support within the Department of Health and Human Services, who shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and who shall be in addition to any other Assistant Secretary of Health and Human Services provided for by law.

PART E—FEDERAL PAYMENTS FOR FOSTER CARE AND ADOPTION ASSISTANCE

SEC. 471. (a) In order for a State to be eligible for payments under this part, it shall have a plan approved by the Secretary which—
(8) provides safeguards which restrict the use of or disclosure of information concerning individuals assisted under the State plan to purposes directly connected with (A) the administration of the plan of the State approved under this part, the plan or program of the State under part A, B, or D of this title [(including activities under part F)] or under title I, V, X, XIV, XVI (as in effect in Puerto Rico, Guam, and the Virgin Islands), XIX, or XX, or the supplemental security income program established by title XVI, (B) any investigation, prosecution, or criminal or civil proceeding, conducted in connection with the administration of any such plan or program, (C) the administration of any other Federal or federally assisted program which provides assistance, in cash or in kind, or services, directly to individuals on the basis of need, (D) any audit or similar activity conducted in connection with the administration of any such plan or program by any governmental agency which is authorized by law to conduct such audit or activity, and (E) reporting and providing information pursuant to paragraph (9) to appropriate authorities with respect to known or suspected child abuse or neglect; and the safeguards so provided shall prohibit disclosure, to any committee or legislative body (other than an agency referred to in clause (D) with respect to an activity referred to in such clause), of any information which identifies by name or address any such applicant or recipient; except that nothing contained herein shall preclude a State from providing standards which restrict disclosures to purposes more limited than those specified herein, or which, in the case of adoptions, prevent disclosure entirely;

[Part F—Job Opportunities and Basic Skills Training Program]

[Purpose and Definitions]

[Sec. 481. (a) Purpose.—It is the purpose of this part to assure that needy families with children obtain the education, training, and employment that will help them avoid long-term welfare dependence.

(b) Meaning of Terms.—Except to the extent otherwise specifically indicated, terms used in this part shall have the meanings given them in or under part A of this subchapter.

[Establishment and Operation of State Programs]

[Sec. 482. (a) State Plans for Job Opportunities and Basic Skills Training Programs.—(1)(A) As a condition of its participation in the program of aid to families with dependent children under part A of this subchapter, each State shall establish and operate a job opportunities and basic skills training program (in this part referred to as the “program”) under a plan approved by the Secretary as meeting all of the requirements of this part and section 402(a)(19), and shall, in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary, periodically (but not less frequently than every 2 years) review and update its plan and submit the updated plan for approval by the Secretary.

(B) A State plan for establishing and operating the program must describe how the State intends to implement the program during the period covered by the plan, and must indicate, through cross-references to the appropriate provisions of this part and part A of this subchapter, that the program will be operated in accordance with such provisions of law. In addition, such plan must contain (i) an estimate of the number of persons to be served by the program, (ii) a description of the services to be provided within the State and the political subdivisions thereof, the needs to be addressed through the provision of such services, the extent to which such services are expected to be made available by other agencies on a nonreimbursable basis, and the extent to which such services are to be provided or funded by the program, and (iii) such additional information as the Secretary may require by regulation to enable the Secretary to determine that the State program will meet all of the requirements of this part and part A of this subchapter.

(C) The Secretary shall consult with the Secretary of Labor on general plan requirements and on criteria to be used in approving State plans under this section.

(D)(i) Not later than October 1, 1992, each State shall make the program available in each political subdivision of such State where it is feasible to do so, after taking into account the number of prospective participants, the local economy, and other relevant factors.

(ii) If a State determines that it is not feasible to make the program available in each such subdivision, the State plan must provide appropriate justification to the Secretary.

(2) The State agency that administers or supervises the administration of the State's plan approved under section 402 shall be responsible for the administration or supervision of the administration of the State's program.

(3) Federal funds made available to a State for purposes of the program shall not be used to supplant non-Federal funds for existing services and activities which promote the purpose of this part. State or local funds expended for such purpose shall be maintained at least at the level of such expenditures for the fiscal year 1986.

(b) ASSESSMENT AND REVIEW OF NEEDS AND SKILLS OF PARTICIPANTS; EMPLOYABILITY PLAN.—(1)(A) The State agency must make an initial assessment of the educational, child care, and other supportive services needs as well as the skills, prior work experience, and employability of each participant in the program under this part, including a review of the family circumstances. The agency may also review the needs of any child of the participant.

(B) On the basis of such assessment, the State agency, in consultation with the participant, shall develop an employability plan for the participant. The employability plan shall explain the services that will be provided by the State agency and the activities in which the participant will take part under the program, including child care and other supportive services, shall set forth an employment goal for the participant, and shall, to the maximum extent possible and consistent with this section, reflect the respective preferences of such participant. The plan must take into account the participant's supportive services needs, available program resources, and local employment opportunities. The employability plan shall not be considered a contract.

(2) Following the initial assessment and review and the development of the employability plan with respect to any participant in the program, the State agency may require the participant (or the adult caretaker in the family of which the participant is a member) to negotiate and enter into an agreement with the State agency that specifies such matters as the participant's obligations under the program, the duration of participation in the program, and the activities to be conducted and the services to be provided in the course of such participation. If the State agency exercises the option under the preceding sentence, the State agency must give the participant such assistance as he or she may require in reviewing and understanding the agreement.

(3) The State agency may assign a case manager to each participant and the participant's family. The case manager so assigned must be responsible for assisting the family to obtain any services which may be needed to assure effective participation in the program.

(c) Provision of Program and Employment Information.—

(1) The State agency must ensure that all applicants for and recipients of aid to families with dependent children are encouraged, assisted, and required to fulfill their responsibilities to support their children by preparing for, accepting, and retaining such employment as they are capable of performing.

(2) The State agency must inform all applicants for and recipients of aid to families with dependent children of the education, employment, and training opportunities, and the support services (including child care and health coverage transition options), for which they are eligible, the obligations of the State agency, and the rights, responsibilities, and obligations of participants in the program.

(3) The State agency must—

(A) provide (directly or through arrangements with others) information on the types and locations of child care services reasonably accessible to participants in the program,

(B) inform participants that assistance is available to help them select appropriate child care services, and

(C) on request, provide assistance to participants in obtaining child care services.

(4) The State agency must inform applicants for and recipients of aid to families with dependent children of the grounds for exemption from participation in the program and the consequences of refusal to participate if not exempt, and provide other appropriate information with respect to such participation.

(5) Within one month after the State agency gives a recipient of aid to families with dependent children the information described in the preceding provisions of this paragraph, the State agency must notify such recipient of the opportunity to indicate his or her desire to participate in the program, including a clear description of how to enter the program.

(d) Services and Activities Under Program.—(1)(A) In carrying out the program, each State shall make available a broad range of services and activities to aid in carrying out the purpose of this part. Such services and activities—

(i) shall include—

(I) educational activities (as appropriate), including high school or equivalent education (combined with training as needed), basic and remedial education to achieve a basic literacy level, and education for individuals with limited English proficiency;

(II) job skills training;

(III) job readiness activities to help prepare participants for work; and

(IV) job development and job placement; and

(ii) must also include at least 2 of the following:

(I) group and individual job search as described in subsection (g) of this section;

(II) on-the-job training;

(III) work supplementation programs as described in subsection (e) of this section; and

(IV) community work experience programs as described in subsection (f) of this section or any other work experience program approved by the Secretary.

(B) The State may also offer to participants under the program

(i) postsecondary education in appropriate cases, and

(ii) such other education, training, and employment activities as may be determined by the State and allowed by regulations of the Secretary.

(2) If the State requires an individual who has attained the age of 20 years and has not earned a high school diploma (or equivalent) to participate in the program, the State agency shall include educational activities consistent with his or her employment goals as a component of the individual’s participation in the program, unless the individual demonstrates a basic literacy level, or the employability plan for the individual identifies a long-term employment goal that does not require a high school diploma (or equivalent). Any other services or activities to which such a participant is assigned may not be permitted to interfere with his or her participation in an appropriate educational activity under this subparagraph.

(3) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, the Secretary shall permit up to 5 States to provide services under the program, on a voluntary or mandatory basis, to non-custodial parents who are unemployed and unable to meet their child support obligations. Any State providing services to non-custodial parents pursuant to this paragraph shall evaluate the provision of such services, giving particular attention to the extent to which the provision of such services to those parents is contributing to the achievement of the purpose of this part, and shall report the results of such evaluation to the Secretary.

(e) WORK SUPPLEMENTATION PROGRAM.—(1) Any State may institute a work supplementation program under which such State, to the extent it considers appropriate, may reserve the sums that would otherwise be payable to participants in the program as aid to families with dependent children and use such sums instead for the purpose of providing and subsidizing jobs for such participants as described in paragraph (3)(C) (i) and (ii)), as an alternative to the aid to families with dependent children that would otherwise be so payable to them.

(2)(A) Notwithstanding section 406 or any other provision of law, Federal funds may be paid to a State under part A of this subchapter, subject to this subsection, with respect to expenditures incurred in operating a work supplementation program under this subsection.

(B) Nothing in this part, or in any State plan approved under part A of this subchapter, shall be construed to prevent a State from operating (on such terms and conditions and in such cases as the State may find to be necessary or appropriate) a work supplementation program in accordance with this subsection and section 484.

(C) Notwithstanding section 402(a)(23) or any other provision of law, a State may adjust the levels of the standards of need under the State plan as the State determines to be necessary and appropriate for carrying out a work supplementation program under this subsection.

(D) Notwithstanding section 402(a)(1) or any other provision of law, a State operating a work supplementation program under this subsection may provide that the need standards in effect in those areas of the State in which such program is in operation may be different from the need standards in effect in the areas in which such program is not in operation, and such State may provide that the need standards for categories of recipients may vary among such categories to the extent the State determines to be appropriate on the basis of ability to participate in the work supplementation program.

(E) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, a State may make such further adjustments in the amounts of the aid to families with dependent children paid under the plan to different categories of recipients (as determined under subparagraph (D)) in order to offset increases in benefits from needs-related programs (other than the State plan approved under part A of this subchapter) as the State determines to be necessary and appropriate to further the purposes of the work supplementation program.

(F) In determining the amounts to be reserved and used for providing and subsidizing jobs under this subsection as described in paragraph (1), the State may use a sampling methodology.

(G) Notwithstanding section 402(a)(8) or any other provision of law, a State operating a work supplementation program under this subsection (i) may reduce or eliminate the amount of earned income to be disregarded under the State plan as the State determines to be necessary and appropriate to further the purposes of the work supplementation program, and (ii) during one or more of the first 9 months of an individual's employment pursuant to a program under this section, may apply to the wages of the individual the provisions of subparagraph (A)(iv) of section 402(a)(8) without regard to the provisions of subparagraph (B)(ii)(II) of such section.

(3)(A) A work supplementation program operated by a State under this subsection may provide that any individual who is an eligible individual (as determined under subparagraph (B)) shall take a supplemented job (as defined in subparagraph (C)) to the extent that supplemented jobs are available under the program. Payments by the State to individuals or to employers under the work supplementation program shall be treated as expenditures incurred by the State for aid to families with dependent children except as limited by paragraph (4).

(B) For purposes of this subsection, an eligible individual is an individual who is in a category which the State determines should be eligible to participate in the work supplementation program, and who would, at the time of placement in the job involved, be eligible for aid to families with dependent children under an approved State plan if such State did not have a work supplementation program in effect.

(C) For purposes of this section, a supplemented job is—

(i) a job provided to an eligible individual by the State or local agency administering the State plan under part A; or

(ii) a job provided to an eligible individual by any other employer for which all or part of the wages are paid by such State or local agency.

A State may provide or subsidize under the program any job which such State determines to be appropriate.

(D) At the option of the State, individuals who hold supplemented jobs under a State's work supplementation program shall be exempt from the retrospective budgeting requirements imposed pursuant to section 402(a)(13)(A)(ii) (and the amount of the aid which is payable to the family of any such individual for any month, or which would be so payable but for the individual's participation in the work supplementation program, shall be determined on the basis of the income and other relevant circumstances in that month).

(4) The amount of the Federal payment to a State under section 403 for expenditures incurred in making payments to individuals and employers under a work supplementation program under this subsection shall not exceed an amount equal to the amount which would otherwise be payable under such section if the family of each individual employed in the program established in such State under this subsection had received the maximum amount of aid to families with dependent children payable under the State plan to such a family with no income (without regard to adjustments under paragraph (2)) for the lesser of (A) 9 months, or (B) the number of months in which such individual was employed in such program.

(5)(A) Nothing in this subsection shall be construed as requiring the State or local agency administering the State plan to provide employee status to an eligible individual to whom it provides a job under the work supplementation program (or with respect to whom it provides all or part of the wages paid to the individual by another entity under such program), or as requiring any State or local agency to provide that an eligible individual filling a job position provided by another entity under such program be provided employee status by such entity during the first 13 weeks such individual fills that position.

(B) Wages paid under a work supplementation program shall be considered to be earned income for purposes of any provision of law.
(6) Any State that chooses to operate a work supplementation program under this subsection shall provide that any individual who participates in such program, and any child or relative of such individual (or other individual living in the same household as such individual) who would be eligible for aid to families with dependent children under the State plan approved under part A of this subchapter if such State did not have a work supplementation program, shall be considered individuals receiving aid to families with dependent children under the State plan approved under part A of this subchapter for purposes of eligibility for medical assistance under the State plan approved under subchapter XIX of this chapter.

(7) No individual receiving aid to families with dependent children under a State plan shall be excused by reason of the fact that such State has a work supplementation program from any requirement of this part relating to work requirements, except during periods in which such individual is employed under such work supplementation program.

(f) Community Work Experience Program.—(1)(A) Any State may establish a community work experience program in accordance with this subsection. The purpose of the community work experience program is to provide experience and training for individuals not otherwise able to obtain employment, in order to assist them to move into regular employment. Community work experience programs shall be designed to improve the employability of participants through actual work experience and training and to enable individuals employed under community work experience programs to move promptly into regular public or private employment. The facilities of the State public employment offices may be utilized to find employment opportunities for recipients under this program. Community work experience programs shall be limited to projects which serve a useful public purpose in fields such as health, social service, environmental protection, education, urban and rural development and redevelopment, welfare, recreation, public facilities, public safety, and day care. To the extent possible, the prior training, experience, and skills of a recipient shall be used in making appropriate work experience assignments.

(B)(i) A State that elects to establish a community work experience program under this subsection shall operate such program so that each participant (as determined by the State) either works or undergoes training (or both) with the maximum number of hours that any such individual may be required to work in any month being a number equal to the amount of the aid to families with dependent children payable with respect to the family of which such individual is a member under the State plan approved under this part, divided by the greater of the Federal minimum wage or the applicable State minimum wage (and the portion of a recipient's aid for which the State is reimbursed by a child support collection shall not be taken into account in determining the number of hours that such individual may be required to work).

(ii) After an individual has been assigned to a position in a community work experience program under this subsection for 9 months, such individual may not be required to continue in that assignment unless the maximum number of hours of participation is no greater than (I) the amount of the aid to families with dependent children payable with respect to the family of which such individual is a member under the State plan approved under this part (excluding any portion of such aid for which the State is reimbursed by a child support payment), divided by (II) the higher of (a) the Federal minimum wage or the applicable State minimum wage, whichever is greater, or (b) the rate of pay for individuals employed in the same or similar occupations by the same employer at the same site.

(C) Nothing contained in this subsection shall be construed as authorizing the payment of aid to families with dependent children as compensation for work performed, nor shall a participant be entitled to a salary or to any other work or training expense provided under any other provision of law by reason of his participation in a program under this subsection.

(D) Nothing in this part or in any State plan approved under this part shall be construed to prevent a State from operating (on such terms and conditions and in such cases as the State may find to be necessary or appropriate) a community work experience program in accordance with this subsection and subsection (d) of this section.

(E) Participants in community work experience programs under this subsection may perform work in the public interest (which otherwise meets the requirements of this subsection) for a Federal office or agency with its consent, and, notwithstanding section 1342 of title 31 or any other provision of law, such agency may accept such services, but such participants shall not be considered to be Federal employees for any purpose.

(2) After each 6 months of an individual’s participation in a community work experience program under this subsection, and at the conclusion of each assignment of the individual under such program, the State agency must provide a reassessment and revision, as appropriate, of the individual’s employability plan.

(3) The State agency shall provide coordination among a community work experience program operated pursuant to this subsection, any program of job search under subsection (g) of this section, and the other employment-related activities under the program established by this section so as to insure that job placement will have priority over participation in the community work experience program, and that individuals eligible to participate in more than one such program are not denied aid to families with dependent children on the grounds of failure to participate in one such program if they are actively and satisfactorily participating in another. The State agency may provide that part-time participation in more than one such program may be required where appropriate.

(4) In the case of any State that makes expenditures in the form described in paragraph (1) under its State plan approved under section 482(a)(1) of this section, expenditures for the operation and administration of the program under this section may not include, for purposes of section 403, the cost of making or acquiring materials or equipment in connection with the work performed under a program referred to in paragraph (1) or the cost of supervision of work under such program, and may include only such other costs attributable to such programs as are permitted by the Secretary.

(g) Job Search Program.—(1) The State agency may establish and carry out a program of job search for individuals participating in the program under this part.

(2) Notwithstanding section 402(a)(19)(B)(i), the State agency may require job search by an individual applying for or receiving aid to families with dependent children (other than an individual described in section 402(a)(19)(C) who is not an individual with respect to whom section 402(a)(19)(D) applies)—

(A) subject to the next to last sentence of this paragraph, beginning at the time such individual applies for aid to families with dependent children and continuing for a period (prescribed by the State) of not more than 8 weeks (but this requirement may not be used as a reason for any delay in making a determination of an individual's eligibility for such aid or in issuing a payment to or on behalf of any individual who is otherwise eligible for such aid); and

(B) at such time or times after the close of the period prescribed under subparagraph (A) as the State agency may determine but not to exceed a total of 8 weeks in any period of 12 consecutive months.

In no event may an individual be required to participate in job search for more than 3 weeks before the State agency conducts the assessment and review with respect to such individual under subsection (b)(1)(A) of this section. Job search activities in addition to those required under the preceding provisions of this paragraph may be required only in combination with some other education, training, or employment activity which is designed to improve the individual's prospects for employment.

(3) Job search by an individual under this subsection shall in no event be treated, for any purpose, as an activity under the program if the individual has participated in such job search for 4 months out of the preceding 12 months.

(h) Dispute Resolution Procedures.—Each State shall establish a conciliation procedure for the resolution of disputes involving an individual's participation in the program and (if the dispute involved is not resolved through conciliation) shall provide an opportunity for a hearing with respect to the dispute, which hearing may be provided through a hearing process established for purposes of resolving disputes with respect to the program or through the provision of a hearing pursuant to section 402(a)(4); but in no event shall aid to families with dependent children be suspended, reduced, discontinued, or terminated as a result of a dispute involving an individual's participation in the program until such individual has an opportunity for a hearing that meets the standards set forth by the United States Supreme Court in Goldberg v. Kelly, 397 U.S. 254 (1970).

(i) Special Provisions Relating to Indian Tribes.—(1) Within 6 months after October 13, 1988, an Indian tribe or Alaska Native organization may apply to the Secretary to conduct a job opportunities and basic skills training program to carry out the purpose of this subsection. If the Secretary approves such tribe's or organization's application, the maximum amount that may be paid to the State under section 403(l) in which such tribe or organization is located shall be reduced by the Secretary in accordance with paragraph (2) and an amount equal to the amount of such reduction shall be paid directly to such tribe or organization (without the requirement of any non-Federal share) for the operation of such program. In determining whether to approve an application from an Alaska Native organization, the Secretary shall consider whether approval of the application would promote the efficient and nonduplicative administration of job opportunities and basic skills training programs in the State.

(2) The amount of the reduction under paragraph (1) with respect to any State in which is located an Indian tribe or Alaska Native organization with an application approved under such paragraph shall be an amount equal to the amount that bears the same ratio to the maximum amount that could be paid under section 403(l) to the State as—

(A) the number of adult members of such Indian tribe receiving aid to families with dependent children bears to the number of all such adult recipients in the State, or

(B) the number of adult Alaska Natives receiving aid to families with dependent children who reside within the boundaries of such Alaska Native organization bears to the number of all such adult recipients in the State of Alaska.

(3) The job opportunities and basic skills training program set forth in the application of an Indian tribe or Alaska Native organization under paragraph (1) need not meet any requirement of the program under this part or under section 402(a)(19) that the Secretary determines is inappropriate with respect to such job opportunities and basic skills training program.

(4) The job opportunities and basic skills training program of any Indian tribe or Alaska Native organization may be terminated voluntarily by such tribe or Alaska Native organization or may be terminated by the Secretary upon a finding that the tribe or Alaska Native organization is not conducting such program in substantial conformity with the terms of the application approved by the Secretary, and the maximum amount that may be paid under section 403(l) to the State within which the tribe or Alaska Native organization is located (as reduced pursuant to paragraph (1)) shall be increased by any portion of the amount retained by the Secretary with respect to such program (and not payable to such tribe or Alaska Native organization for obligations already incurred). The reduction under paragraph (1) shall in no event apply to a State for any fiscal year beginning after such program is terminated if no other such program remains in operation in the State.

(5) For purposes of this subsection, an Indian tribe is any tribe, band, nation, or other organized group or community of Indians that—

(A) is recognized as eligible for the special programs and services provided by the United States to Indians because of their status as Indians; and

(B) for which a reservation (as defined in paragraph (6)) exists.
(6) For purposes of this subsection, a reservation includes Indian reservations, public domain Indian allotments, and former Indian reservations in Oklahoma.

(7) For purposes of this subsection—

(A) an Alaska Native organization is any organized group of Alaska Natives eligible to operate a Federal program under Public Law 93–638 or such group's designee;

(B) the boundaries of an Alaska Native organization shall be those of the geographical region, established pursuant to section 1606(a) of title 43, within which the Alaska Native organization is located (without regard to the ownership of the land within the boundaries);

(C) the Secretary may approve only one application from an Alaska Native organization for each of the 12 geographical regions established pursuant to section 1606(a) of title 43; and

(D) any Alaska Native, otherwise eligible or required to participate in a job opportunities and basic skills training program, residing within the boundaries of an Alaska Native organization whose application has been approved by the Secretary, shall be eligible to participate in the job opportunities and basic skills training program administered by such Alaska Native organization.

(8) Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to grant or defer any status or powers other than those expressly granted in this subsection or to validate or invalidate any claim by Alaska Natives of sovereign authority over lands or people.

COORDINATION REQUIREMENTS

Sec. 483. (a)(1) The Governor of each State shall assure that program activities under this part are coordinated in that State with programs operated under the Job Training Partnership Act and with any other relevant employment, training, and education programs available in that State. Appropriate components of the State's plan developed under section 482(a)(1) which relate to job training and work preparation shall be consistent with the coordination criteria specified in the Governor's coordination and special services plan required under section 121 of the Job Training Partnership Act.

(2) The State plan so developed shall be submitted to the State job training coordinating council not less than 60 days before its submission to the Secretary, for the purpose of review and comment by the council. Concurrent with submission of the plan to the State job training coordinating council, the proposed State plan shall be published and made reasonably available to the general public, through local news facilities and public announcements, in order to provide the opportunity for review and comment.

(3) The comments and recommendations of the State job training coordinating council under paragraph (2) shall be transmitted to the Governor of the State.

(b) The Secretary of Health and Human Services shall consult with the Secretaries of Education and Labor on a continuing basis for the purpose of assuring the maximum coordination of education and training services in the development and implementation of the program under this part.
(c) The State agency responsible for administering or supervising the administration of the State plan approved under part A of this subchapter shall consult with the State education agency and the agency responsible for administering job training programs in the State in order to promote coordination of the planning and delivery of services under the program with programs operated under the Job Training Partnership Act and with education programs available in the State (including any program under the Adult Education Act or Carl D. Perkins Vocational Education Act).

PROVISIONS GENERALLY APPLICABLE TO PROVISION OF SERVICES

SEC. 484. (a) In assigning participants in the program under this part to any program activity, the State agency shall assure that—

(1) each assignment takes into account the physical capacity, skills, experience, health and safety, family responsibilities, and place of residence of the participant;

(2) no participant will be required, without his or her consent, to travel an unreasonable distance from his or her home or remain away from such home overnight;

(3) individuals are not discriminated against on the basis of race, sex, national origin, religion, age, or handicapping condition, and all participants will have such rights as are available under any applicable Federal, State, or local law prohibiting discrimination;

(4) the conditions of participation are reasonable, taking into account in each case the proficiency of the participant and the child care and other supportive services needs of the participant; and

(5) each assignment is based on available resources, the participant’s circumstances, and local employment opportunities.

(b) Appropriate workers’ compensation and tort claims protection must be provided to participants on the same basis as they are provided to other individuals in the State in similar employment (as determined under regulations of the Secretary).

(c) No work assignment under the program shall result in—

(1) the displacement of any currently employed worker or position (including partial displacement such as a reduction in the hours of nonovertime work, wages, or employment benefits), or result in the impairment of existing contracts for services or collective bargaining agreements;

(2) the employment or assignment of a participant or the filling of a position when (A) any other individual is on layoff from the same or any equivalent position, or (B) the employer has terminated the employment of any regular employee or otherwise reduced its workforce with the effect of filling the vacancy so created with a participant subsidized under the program; or

(3) any infringement of the promotional opportunities of any currently employed individual.

Funds available to carry out the program under this part may not be used to assist, promote, or deter union organizing. No participant may be assigned under section 482 (e) or (f) to fill any established unfilled position vacancy.

(d)(1) The State shall establish and maintain (pursuant to regulations jointly issued by the Secretary and the Secretary of Labor) a grievance procedure for resolving complaints by regular employees or their representatives that the work assignment of an individual under the program violates any of the prohibitions described in subsection (c) of this section. A decision of the State under such procedure may be appealed to the Secretary of Labor for investigation and such action as such Secretary may find necessary.

(2) The State shall hear complaints with respect to working conditions, workers' compensation, and wage rates in the case of individuals participating in community work experience programs described in section 482(f), under the State's fair hearing process. A decision of the State under such process may be appealed to the Secretary of Labor under such conditions as the joint regulations issued under subsection (f) of this section may provide.

(e) The provisions of this section apply to any work-related programs and activities under this part, and under any other work-related programs and activities authorized (in connection with the AFDC program) under section 1115.

(f) The Secretary of Health and Human Services and the Secretary of Labor shall jointly prescribe and issue regulations for the purpose of implementing and carrying out the provisions of this section, in accordance with the timetable established in section 203(a) of the Family Support Act of 1988.

CONTRACT AUTHORITY

Sec. 485. (a) The State agency that administers or supervises the administration of the State's plan approved under section 402 shall carry out the programs under this part directly or through arrangements or under contracts with administrative entities under section 4(2) of the Job Training Partnership Act, with State and local educational agencies, and with other public agencies or private organizations (including community-based organizations as defined in section 4(5) of such Act).

(b) Arrangements and contracts entered into under subsection (a) of this section may cover any service or activity (including outreach) to be made available under the program to the extent that the service or activity is not otherwise available on a nonreimbursable basis.

(c) The State agency and private industry councils (as established under section 102 of the Job Training Partnership Act) shall consult on the development of arrangements and contracts under the program established under a plan approved under section 482(a)(1), and under programs established under such Act.

(d) In selecting service providers, the State agency shall take into account appropriate factors which may include past performance in providing similar services, demonstrated effectiveness, fiscal accountability, ability to meet performance standards, and such other factors as the State may determine to be appropriate.

(e) The State agency shall use the services of each private industry council to identify and provide advice on the types of jobs available or likely to become available in the service delivery area...
(as defined in the Job Training Partnership Act) of the council, and shall ensure that the State program provides training in any area for jobs of a type which are, or are likely to become, available in the area.

INITIAL STATE EVALUATIONS

Sec. 486. (a) With the objective of—

(1) providing an in-depth assessment of potential participants in the program under this part in each State, so as to furnish an accurate picture on which to base estimates of future demands for services in conducting such program and to improve the efficiency of targeting under such program,

(2) assuring that training for recipients of aid under such program will be realistically geared to labor market demands and that the program will produce individuals with marketable skills, while avoiding duplication and redundancy in the delivery of services, and

(3) otherwise assuring that States will have the information needed to carry out the purposes of the program, each State may undertake and carry out an evaluation of demographic characteristics of potential participants in the program under this part within the 12-month period beginning on October 13, 1988. Such evaluation shall be carried out in each State by the agency which administers the State's program approved under section 402.

(b) In carrying out the evaluation under subsection (a) of this section the State shall give particular attention to the current and anticipated demands of the labor market or markets within the State, the types of training which are needed to meet those demands, and any changes in the current service delivery systems which may be needed to satisfy the requirements of the program under this part.

(c) The evaluation shall be structured so as to produce accurate and usable information on the age, family status, educational and literacy levels, duration of eligibility for aid to families with dependent children, and work experience of the individuals and families who are potential participants in the program under this part, including the actual numbers of such individuals and families in each such category.

(d) The Secretary of Health and Human Services, in consultation with the Secretary of Labor, shall provide each State with such technical assistance and data as it may need in order to carry out its evaluation under subsection (a) of this section; and each State shall transmit its evaluation to the Secretary by the close of the 12-month period specified in such subsection. The Secretary of Health and Human Services shall take such evaluations into account in developing performance standards.

(e) As used in this section, the term "potential participants" with respect to any State's program under this part means collectively all individuals in such State who are recipients of aid to families with dependent children under part A of this subchapter and who are members of the target populations identified in section 403(l)(2).
Sec. 487. (a) Not later than 4 years after the effective date specified in section 204(a) of the Family Support Act of 1988, the Secretary shall—

(1) in consultation with the Secretary of Labor, representatives of organizations representing Governors, State and local program administrators, educators, State job training coordinating councils, community-based organizations, recipients, and other interested persons, develop criteria for performance standards with respect to the programs established pursuant to this part that are based, in part, on the results of the studies conducted under section 203(c) of such Act, and the initial State evaluations (if any) performed under section 486; and

(2) submit his recommendations with respect to performance standards developed under paragraph (1) to the appropriate committees of jurisdiction of the Congress, which recommendations shall be made with respect to specific measurements of outcomes and be based on the degree of success which may reasonably be expected of States in helping individuals to increase earnings, achieve self-sufficiency, and reduce welfare dependency, and shall not be measured solely by levels of activity or participation.

Performance standards developed with respect to the program under this part shall be reviewed periodically by the Secretary and modified to the extent necessary.

(b) The Secretary may collect information from the States to assist in the development of performance standards under subsection (a) of this section, and shall include in his regulations (issued pursuant to section 203(a) of the Family Support Act of 1988 with respect to the program under this part) provisions establishing uniform reporting requirements under which States must furnish periodically information and data, including information and data (for each program activity) on the average monthly number of families assisted, the types of such families, the amounts spent per family, the length of their participation, and such other matters as the Secretary may determine.

(c) The Secretary shall develop and transmit to the Congress, for appropriate legislative action, a proposal for measuring State progress, providing technical assistance to enable States to meet performance standards, and modifying the Federal matching rate to reflect the relative effectiveness of the various States in carrying out the program.

(A) Applicable to all families.—The State shall ensure that the amount of cash assistance paid under the State program funded under part A to a recipient of assistance under the program who refuses to be engaged in work activities required under this section shall be less than the amount of cash assistance that would otherwise be paid to the recipient under the program, subject to such good cause and other exceptions as the State may establish.

(B) Applicable to 2-parent families.—The State shall reduce the amount of cash assistance otherwise payable to a 2-parent family for a month under the State program funded under part A with respect to an adult in the family who has not participated in job search or been engaged in work activities referred to in subsection (a)(2)(B)(ii)(I) for the minimum period set forth in such subsection, pro rata with respect to any period during the month for which the adult has not so participated in job search or been so engaged in such work activities.

(2) Against States.—

(A) In general.—If the Secretary determines that a State to which a grant is made under part A for a fiscal year has failed to comply with subsection (a) for the fiscal year, the Secretary shall reduce by not more than 5 percent the amount of the grant otherwise payable to the State under such part for the immediately succeeding fiscal year.

(B) Penalty based on severity of failure.—The Secretary shall impose reductions under subparagraph (A) based on the degree of noncompliance.

(d) Sense of the Congress.—In complying with this section, each State that operates a program funded under part A is encouraged to assign the highest priority to requiring families that include older preschool or school-age children to be engaged in work activities.

In performing such evaluations, the Secretary shall, to the maximum extent feasible, use random assignment to experimental and control groups.

(c) Studies of Welfare Caseloads.—The Secretary may conduct studies of the caseloads of States operating programs funded under part A.
(d) Dissemination of Information.—The Secretary shall develop innovative methods of disseminating information on any research, evaluations, and studies conducted under this section, including the facilitation of the sharing of information and best practices among States and localities through the use of computers and other technologies.

CHILD NUTRITION ACT OF 1966

AN ACT To strengthen and expand food service programs for children.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, [That this Act may be cited as the “Child Nutrition Act of 1966”].
DECLARATION OF PURPOSE

SEC. 2. In recognition of the demonstrated relationship between food and good nutrition and the capacity of children to develop and learn, based on the years of cumulative successful experience under the national school lunch program with its significant contributions in the field of applied nutrition research, it is hereby declared to be the policy of Congress that these efforts shall be extended, expanded, and strengthened under the authority of the Secretary of Agriculture as a measure to safeguard the health and well-being of the Nation's children, and to encourage the domestic consumption of agricultural and other foods, by assisting States, through grants-in-aid and other means, to meet more effectively the nutritional needs of our children.

SPECIAL MILK PROGRAM AUTHORIZATION

SEC. 3. (a)(1) There is hereby authorized to be appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1970, and for each succeeding fiscal year such sums as may be necessary to enable the Secretary of Agriculture, under such rules and regulations as the Secretary may deem in the public interest, to encourage consumption of fluid milk by children in the United States in (A) nonprofit schools of high school grade and under, except as provided in paragraph (2), which do not participate in a meal service program authorized under this Act or the National School Lunch Act, and (B) nonprofit nursery schools, child-care centers, settlement houses, summer camps, and similar nonprofit institutions devoted to the care and training of children, which do not participate in a meal service program authorized under this Act or the National School Lunch Act.

(2) The limitation imposed under paragraph (1)(A) for participation of nonprofit schools in the special milk program shall not apply to split-session kindergarten programs conducted in schools in which children do not have access to the meal service program operating in schools the children attend as authorized under this Act or the National School Lunch Act.

(3) For the purposes of this section "United States" means the fifty States, Guam, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, American Samoa, the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands, and the District of Columbia.

(4) The Secretary shall administer the special milk program provided for by this section to the maximum extent practicable in the same manner as the Secretary administered the special milk program provided for by Public Law 89-642, as amended, during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1969.

(5) Any school or nonprofit child care institution which does not participate in a meal service program authorized under this Act or the National School Lunch Act shall receive the special milk program upon its request.

(6) Children who qualify for free lunches under guidelines established by the Secretary shall, at the option of the school involved (or of the local educational agency involved in the case of a public school) be eligible for free milk upon their request.

(7) For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1975, and for subsequent school years, the minimum rate of reimbursement for a half-pint of milk served in schools and other eligible institutions shall not be less than 5 cents per half-pint served to eligible children, and such minimum rate of reimbursement shall be adjusted on an annual basis each school year to reflect changes in the Producer Price Index for Fresh Processed Milk published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor.

(8) Such adjustment shall be computed to the nearest one-fourth cent.

(9) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, in no event shall the minimum rate of reimbursement exceed the cost to the school or institution of milk served to children.

(10) The State educational agency shall disburse funds paid to the State during any fiscal year for purposes of carrying out the program under this section in accordance with such agreements approved by the Secretary as may be entered into by such State agency and the schools in the State. The agreements described in the preceding sentence shall be permanent agreements that may be amended as necessary. Nothing in the preceding sentence shall be construed to limit the ability of the State educational agency to suspend or terminate any such agreement in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary.

(b) Commodity only schools shall not be eligible to participate in the special milk program under this section. For the purposes of the preceding sentence, the term “commodity only schools” means schools that do not participate in the school lunch program under the National School Lunch Act, but which receive commodities made available by the Secretary for use by such schools in nonprofit lunch programs.

SCHOOL BREAKFAST PROGRAM AUTHORIZATION

Sec. 4. (a) There is hereby authorized to be appropriated such sums as are necessary to enable the Secretary to carry out a program to assist the States and the Department of Defense through grants-in-aid and other means to initiate, maintain, or expand non-profit breakfast programs in all schools which make application for assistance and agree to carry out a nonprofit breakfast program in accordance with this Act and to carry out the provisions of subsection (g). Appropriations and expenditures for this Act shall be considered Health and Human Services functions for budget purposes rather than functions of Agriculture.

APPORTIONMENT TO STATES

(b)(1)(A) The Secretary shall make breakfast assistance payments to each State educational agency each fiscal year, at such times as the Secretary may determine, from the sums appropriated for such purpose, in an amount equal to the product obtained by multiplying—

(i) the number of breakfasts served during such fiscal year to children in schools in such States which participate in the school breakfast program under agreements with such State educational agency; by

(ii) the national average breakfast payment for free breakfasts, for reduced price breakfasts, or for breakfasts served to children not eligible for free or reduced price meals, as appropriate, as prescribed in clause (B) of this paragraph.

(ii) The agreements described in clause (i)(I) shall be permanent agreements that may be amended as necessary. Nothing in the preceding sentence shall be construed to limit the ability of the State educational agency to suspend or terminate any such agreement in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary.

(B) The national average payment for each free breakfast shall be 57 cents (as adjusted pursuant to section 11(a) of the National School Lunch Act). The national average payment for each reduced price breakfast shall be one-half of the national average payment for each free breakfast, adjusted to the nearest one-fourth cent, except that in no case shall the difference between the amount of the national average payment for a free breakfast and the national average payment for a reduced price breakfast exceed 30 cents. The national average payment for each breakfast served to a child not eligible for free or reduced price meals shall be 8.25 cents (as adjusted pursuant to section 11(a) of the National School Lunch Act).

(C) No school which receives breakfast assistant payments under this section may charge a price of more than 30 cents for a reduced price breakfast.

(D) No breakfast assistance payment may be made under this subsection for any breakfast served by a school unless such breakfast consists of a combination of foods which meet the minimum nutritional requirements prescribed by the Secretary under subsection (e) of this section.

(2)(A) The Secretary shall make additional payments for breakfasts served to children qualifying for a free or reduced price meal at schools that are in severe need.

(B) The maximum payment for each such free breakfast shall be the higher of—

(i) the national average payment established by the Secretary for free breakfasts plus 10 cents, or

(ii) 45 cents, which shall be adjusted on an annual basis each July 1 to the nearest one-fourth cent in accordance with changes in the series for food away from home of the Consumer Price Index published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor for the most recent twelve-month period for which such data are available, except that the initial such adjustment shall be made on January 1, 1978, and shall reflect the change in the series of food away from home during the period November 1, 1976, to October 31, 1977.

(C) The maximum payment for each such reduced price breakfast shall be thirty cents less than the maximum payment for each free breakfast as determined under clause (B) of this paragraph.

(3) The Secretary shall increase by 6 cents the annually adjusted payment for each breakfast served under this Act and section 17 of the National School Lunch Act. These funds shall be used to assist States, to the extent feasible, in improving the nutritional quality of the breakfasts.

(4) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, whenever stocks of agricultural commodities are acquired by the Secretary or the Commodity Credit Corporation and are not likely to be sold by the Secretary or the Commodity Credit Corporation or otherwise used in programs of commodity sale or distribution, the Secretary shall make such commodities available to school food authorities and eligible institutions serving breakfasts under this Act in a quantity equal in value to not less than 3 cents for each breakfast served under this Act and section 17 of the National School Lunch Act.

(5) Expenditures of funds from State and local sources for the maintenance of the breakfast program shall not be diminished as a result of funds or commodities received under paragraph (3) or (4).

STATE DISBURSEMENT TO SCHOOLS

(c) Funds apportioned and paid to any State for the purpose of this section shall be disbursed by the State educational agency to schools selected by the State educational agency to assist such schools in operating a breakfast program and for the purpose of subsection (d). Disbursement to schools shall be made at such rates per meal or on such other basis as the Secretary shall prescribe. In selecting schools for participation, the State educational agency shall, to the extent practicable, give first consideration to those schools drawing attendance from areas in which poor economic conditions exist, to those schools in which a substantial proportion of the children enrolled must travel long distances daily, and to those schools in which there is a special need for improving the nutrition and dietary practices of children of working mothers and children from low-income families. Breakfast assistance disbursements to schools under this section may be made in advance or by way of reimbursement in accordance with procedures prescribed by the Secretary.

(d)(1) Each State educational agency shall provide additional assistance to schools in severe need, which shall include only—

(A) those schools in which the service of breakfasts is required pursuant to State law; and

(B) those schools (having a breakfast program or desiring to initiate a breakfast program) in which, during the most recent second preceding school year for which lunches were served, 40 percent or more of the lunches served to students at the school were served free or at a reduced price, and in which the rate per meal established by the Secretary is insufficient to cover the costs of the breakfast program.

The provision of eligibility specified in clause (A) of this paragraph shall terminate effective July 1, 1983, for schools in States where the State legislatures meet annually and shall terminate effective July 1, 1984, for schools in States where the State legislatures meet biennially.

(2) A school, upon the submission of appropriate documentation about the need circumstances in that school and the school’s eligibility for additional assistance, shall be entitled to receive 100 percent of the operating costs of the breakfast program, including the costs of obtaining, preparing, and serving food, or the meal reimbursement rate specified in paragraph (2) of section 4(b) of this Act, whichever is less.
NUTRITIONAL AND OTHER PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

(e)(1)(A) Breakfasts served by schools participating in the school breakfast program under this section shall consist of a combination of foods and shall meet minimum nutritional requirements prescribed by the Secretary on the basis of tested nutritional research, except that the minimum nutritional requirements shall be measured by not less than the weekly average of the nutrient content of school breakfasts. Such breakfasts shall be served free or at a reduced price to children in school under the same terms and conditions as are set forth with respect to the service of lunches free or at a reduced price in section 9 of the National School Lunch Act.

(B) The Secretary shall provide through State educational agencies technical assistance and training, including technical assistance and training in the preparation of foods high in complex carbohydrates and lower-fat versions of foods commonly used in the school breakfast program established under this section, to schools participating in the school breakfast program to assist the schools in complying with the nutritional requirements prescribed by the Secretary pursuant to subparagraph (A) and in providing appropriate meals to children with medically certified special dietary needs. The Secretary shall provide through State educational agencies additional technical assistance to schools that are having difficulty maintaining compliance with the requirements.

(2) At the option of a local school food authority, a student in a school under the authority that participates in the school breakfast program under this Act may be allowed to refuse not more than one item of a breakfast that the student does not intend to consume. A refusal of an offered food item shall not affect the full charge to the student for a breakfast meeting the requirements of this section or the amount of payments made under this Act to a school for the breakfast.

EXPANSION OF PROGRAM

(f)(1)(A) As a national nutrition and health policy, it is the purpose and intent of the Congress that the school breakfast program be made available in all schools where it is needed to provide adequate nutrition for children in attendance. The Secretary is hereby directed, in cooperation with State educational agencies, to carry out a program of information in furtherance of this policy.

(B) In cooperation with State educational agencies, the Secretary shall promote the school breakfast program by—

(i) marketing the program in a manner that expands participation in the program by schools and students; and

(ii) improving public education and outreach efforts in language appropriate materials that enhance the public image of the program.

(C) As used in this paragraph, the term "language appropriate materials" means materials using a language other than the English language in a case in which the language is dominant for a large percentage of individuals participating in the program.

(2)(A) Each State educational agency shall—
(i) provide information to school boards and public officials concerning the benefits and availability of the school breakfast program; and
(ii) select each year, for additional informational efforts concerning the program, schools in the State—
(I) in which a substantial portion of school enrollment consists of children from low-income families; and
(II) that do not participate in the school breakfast program.
(B) Not later than October 1, 1993, the Secretary shall report to the Committee on Education and Labor of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry of the Senate concerning the efforts of the Secretary and the States to increase the participation of schools in the program.

STARTUP AND EXPANSION COSTS

(g)(1) Out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the Secretary of the Treasury shall provide to the Secretary $5,000,000 for each of fiscal years 1991 through 1997, $6,000,000 for fiscal year 1998, and $7,000,000 for fiscal year 1999 and each subsequent fiscal year to make payments under this subsection. The Secretary shall be entitled to receive the funds and shall accept the funds. The Secretary shall use the funds to make payments on a competitive basis and in the following order of priority (subject to other provisions of this subsection), to—
(A) State educational agencies in a substantial number of States for distribution to eligible schools to assist the schools with nonrecurring expenses incurred in—
(i) initiating a school breakfast program under this section; or
(ii) expanding a school breakfast program; and
(B) a substantial number of States for distribution to service institutions to assist the institutions with nonrecurring expenses incurred in—
(i) initiating a summer food service program for children; or
(ii) expanding a summer food service program for children.

(2) Payments received under this subsection shall be in addition to payments to which State agencies are entitled under subsection (b) and section 13 of the National School Lunch Act (42 U.S.C. 1761).

(3) To be eligible to receive a payment under this subsection, a State educational agency shall submit to the Secretary a plan to initiate or expand school breakfast programs conducted in the State, including a description of the manner in which the agency will provide technical assistance and funding to schools in the State to initiate or expand the programs.

(4) In making payments under this subsection for any fiscal year to initiate or expand school breakfast programs, the Secretary shall provide a preference to State educational agencies that—
(A) have in effect a State law that requires the expansion of the programs during the year;
(B) have significant public or private resources that have been assembled to carry out the expansion of the programs during the year;
(C) do not have a school breakfast program available to a large number of low-income children in the State; or
(D) serve an unmet need among low-income children, as determined by the Secretary.
(5) In making payments under this subsection for any fiscal year to initiate or expand summer food service programs for children, the Secretary shall provide a preference to States—
(A)(i) in which the numbers of children participating in the summer food service program for children represent the lowest percentages of the number of children receiving free or reduced price meals under the school lunch program established under the National School Lunch Act (42 U.S.C. 1751 et seq.); or
(ii) that do not have a summer food service program for children available to a large number of low-income children in the State; and
(B) that submit to the Secretary a plan to expand the summer food service programs for children conducted in the State, including a description of—
(i) the manner in which the State will provide technical assistance and funding to service institutions in the State to expand the programs; and
(ii) significant public or private resources that have been assembled to carry out the expansion of the programs during the year.
(6) The Secretary shall act in a timely manner to recover and reallocate to other States any amounts provided to a State educational agency or State under this subsection that are not used by the agency or State within a reasonable period (as determined by the Secretary).
(7) The Secretary shall allow States to apply on an annual basis for assistance under this subsection.
(8) Each State agency and State, in allocating funds within the State, shall give preference for assistance under this subsection to eligible schools and service institutions that demonstrate the greatest need for a school breakfast program or a summer food service program for children, respectively.
(9) Expenditures of funds from State and local sources for the maintenance of the school breakfast program and the summer food service program for children shall not be diminished as a result of payments received under this subsection.
(10) As used in this subsection:
(A) The term "eligible school" means a school—
(i) attended by children a significant percentage of whom are members of low-income families;
(ii)(I) as used with respect to a school breakfast program, that agrees to operate the school breakfast program established or expanded with the assistance provided under this subsection for a period of not less than 3 years; and
(II) as used with respect to a summer food service program for children, that agrees to operate the summer food service program for children established or expanded with the assistance provided under this subsection for a period of not less than 3 years.

(B) The term “service institution” means an institution or organization described in paragraph (1)(B) or (7) of section 13(a) of the National School Lunch Act (42 U.S.C. 1761(a)(1)(B) or (7)).

(C) The term “summer food service program for children” means a program authorized by section 13 of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1761).

DISBURSEMENT TO SCHOOLS BY THE SECRETARY

SEC. 5. (a) The Secretary shall withhold funds payable to a State under this Act and disburse the funds directly to schools or institutions within the State for the purposes authorized by this Act to the extent that the Secretary has so withheld and disbursed such funds continuously since October 1, 1980, but only to such extent (except as otherwise required by subsection (b)). Any funds so withheld and disbursed by the Secretary shall be used for the same purposes, and shall be subject to the same conditions, as applicable to a State discharging funds made available under this Act. If the Secretary is administering (in whole or in part) any program authorized under this Act, the State in which the Secretary is administering the program may, upon request to the Secretary, assume administration of that program.

(b) If a State educational agency is not permitted by law to disburse the funds paid to it under this Act to any of the nonpublic schools in the State, the Secretary shall disburse the funds directly to such schools within the State for the same purposes and subject to the same conditions as are authorized or required with respect to the disbursements to public schools within the State by the State educational agency.

PAYMENTS TO STATES

SEC. 6. The Secretary shall certify to the Secretary of the Treasury from time to time the amounts to be paid to any State under sections 3 through 7 of this Act and the time or times such amounts are to be paid; and the Secretary of the Treasury shall pay to the State at the time or times fixed by the Secretary the amounts so certified.

STATE ADMINISTRATIVE EXPENSES

SEC. 7. (a)(1) Each fiscal year, the Secretary shall make available to the States for their administrative costs an amount equal to not less than 1½ percent of the Federal funds expended under sections 4, 11, and 17 of the National School Lunch Act and sections 3 and 4 of this Act during the second preceding fiscal year. The Secretary shall allocate the funds so provided in accordance with paragraphs (2), (3), and (4) of this subsection. There are hereby authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this section.

(2) The Secretary shall allocate to each State for administrative costs incurred in any fiscal year in connection with the programs authorized under the National School Lunch Act or under this Act, except for the programs authorized under section 13 or 17 of the National School Lunch Act or under section 17 of this Act, an amount equal to not less than 1 percent and not more than 1 1⁄2 percent of the funds expended by each State under sections 4 and 11 of the National School Lunch Act and sections 3 and 4 of this Act during the second preceding fiscal year. In no case shall the grant available to any State under this subsection be less than the amount such State was allocated in the fiscal year ending September 30, 1981, or $100,000, whichever is larger.

(3) The Secretary shall allocate to each State for its administrative costs incurred under the program authorized by section 17 of the National School Lunch Act in any fiscal year an amount, based upon funds expended under that program in the second preceding fiscal year, equal to (A) 20 percent of the first $50,000, (B) 10 percent of the next $100,000, (C) 5 percent of the next $250,000, and (D) 2 1⁄2 percent of any remaining funds. If an agency in the State other than the State educational agency administers such program, the State shall ensure that an amount equal to no less than the funds due the State under this paragraph is provided to such agency for costs incurred by such agency in administering the program, except as provided in paragraph (5). The Secretary may adjust any State's allocation to reflect changes in the size of its program.

(4) The remaining funds appropriated under this section shall be allocated among the States by the Secretary in amounts the Secretary determines necessary for the improvement in the States of the administration of the programs authorized under the National School Lunch Act and this Act, except for section 17 of this Act, including, but not limited to, improved program integrity and the quality of meals served to children.

(5)(A) Not more than 25 percent of the amounts made available to each State under this section for the fiscal year 1991 and 20 percent of the amounts made available to each State under this section for the fiscal year 1992 and for each succeeding fiscal year may remain available for obligation or expenditure in the fiscal year succeeding the fiscal year for which such amounts were appropriated.

(B)(i) In the fiscal year 1991 and each succeeding fiscal year, any amounts appropriated that are not obligated or expended during such fiscal year and are not carried over for the succeeding fiscal year under subparagraph (A) shall be returned to the Secretary. From any amounts returned to the Secretary under the preceding sentence:

(II) The Secretary shall allocate, for the purpose of providing grants on an annual basis to public entities and private non-profit organizations participating in projects under section 17B of the National School Lunch Act, not more than $4,000,000 in fiscal year 1995 and each subsequent fiscal year. Subject to the maximum allocation for the projects for each fiscal year, at the beginning of fiscal year 1995 and each subsequent fiscal year, the Secretary shall allocate, from funds available under this section that have not been otherwise allocated to the States, an amount equal to the estimates by the Secretary of funds to be returned under this clause, but not less than $1,000,000 in each fiscal year. To the extent that amounts returned to the Secretary are less than estimated or are insufficient to meet the needs of the projects, the Secretary may, subject to the maximum allocations established in this subclause, allocate amounts to meet the needs of the projects from funds available under this section that have not been otherwise allocated to States.

(II) After making the allocations under subclause (I), the Secretary shall allocate, for purposes of administrative costs, any remaining amounts among States that demonstrate a need for such amounts.

(i) In any fiscal year in which amounts returned to the Secretary under the first sentence of clause (i) are insufficient to provide the complete allocation described in clause (i)(I), all of such amounts shall be allocated for the purpose described in clause (i)(I).

(6) Funds available to States under this subsection and under section 13(k)(1) of the National School Lunch Act shall be used for the costs of administration of the programs for which the allocations are made, except that States may transfer up to 10 percent of any of the amounts allocated among such programs.

(7) Where the Secretary is responsible for the administration of programs under this Act or the National School Lunch Act, the amount of funds that would be allocated to the State agency under this section and under section 13(k)(1) of the National School Lunch Act shall be retained by the Secretary for the Secretary's use in the administration of such programs.

(8) In the fiscal year 1991 and each succeeding fiscal year, in accordance with regulations issued by the Secretary, each State shall ensure that the State agency administering the distribution of commodities under programs authorized under this Act and under the National School Lunch Act is provided, from funds made available to the State under this subsection, an appropriate amount of funds for administrative costs incurred in distributing such commodities. In developing such regulations, the Secretary may consider the value of commodities provided to the State under this Act and under the National School Lunch Act.

(9)(A) If the Secretary determines that the administration of any program by a State under this Act (other than section 17) or under the National School Lunch Act (42 U.S.C. 1751 et seq.), or compliance with a regulation issued pursuant to either of such Acts, is seriously deficient, and the State fails to correct the deficiency within a specified period of time, the Secretary may withhold from the State some or all of the funds allocated to the State under this section or under section 13(k)(1) or 17 of the National School Lunch Act (42 U.S.C. 1761(k)(1) or 1766).

(B) On a subsequent determination by the Secretary that the administration of any program referred to in subparagraph (A), or compliance with the regulations issued to carry out the program, is no longer seriously deficient and is operated in an acceptable manner, the Secretary may allocate some or all of the funds withheld under such subparagraph.

(b) Funds paid to a State under subsection (a) of this section may be used to pay salaries, including employee benefits and travel expenses, for administrative and supervisory personnel; for support services; for office equipment; and for staff development.

(c) If any State agency agrees to assume responsibility for the administration of food service programs in nonprofit private schools or child care institutions that were previously administered by the Secretary, an appropriate adjustment shall be made in the administrative funds paid under this section to the State not later than the succeeding fiscal year.

(d) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, funds made available to each State under this section shall remain available for obligation and expenditure by that State during the fiscal year immediately following the fiscal year for which such funds were made available. For each fiscal year the Secretary shall establish a date by which each State shall submit to the Secretary a plan for the disbursement of funds provided under this section for each such year, and the Secretary shall reallocate any unused funds, as evidenced by such plans, to other States as the Secretary considers appropriate.

(e) The State may use a portion of the funds available under this section to assist in the administration of the commodity distribution program.

(f) Each State shall submit to the Secretary for approval by October 1 of each year an annual plan for the use of State administrative expense funds, including a staff formula for State personnel, system level supervisory and operating personnel, and school level personnel.

(g) Payments of funds under this section shall be made only to States that agree to maintain a level of funding out of State revenues, for administrative costs in connection with programs under this Act (except section 17 of this Act) and the National School Lunch Act (except section 13 of that Act), not less than the amount expended or obligated in fiscal year 1977, and that agree to participate fully in any studies authorized by the Secretary.

(h) The Secretary may not provide amounts under this section to a State for administrative costs incurred in any fiscal year unless the State agrees to participate in any study or survey of programs authorized under this Act or the National School Lunch Act (42 U.S.C. 1751 et seq.) and conducted by the Secretary.

(i) For the fiscal year beginning October 1, 1977, and each succeeding fiscal year ending before October 1, 1998, there are hereby authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary for the purposes of this section.

[Utilization of Foods]

Sec. 8. Each school participating under section 4 of this Act shall, insofar as practicable, utilize in its program foods designated from time to time by the Secretary as being in abundance, either nationally or in the school area, or foods donated by the Secretary. Foods available under section 416 of the Agricultural Act of 1949 (63 Stat. 1058), as amended, or purchased under section 32 of the Act of August 24, 1935 (49 Stat. 774), as amended, or section 709 of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965 (79 Stat. 1212), may be donated by the Secretary to schools, in accordance with the needs as determined by local school authorities, for utilization in their feeding programs under this Act.

Sec. 9. The food and milk service programs in schools and nonprofit institutions receiving assistance under this Act shall be conducted on a nonprofit basis.

REGULATIONS

Sec. 10. (a) The Secretary shall prescribe such regulations as the Secretary may deem necessary to carry out this Act and the National School Lunch Act, including regulations relating to the service of food in participating schools and service institutions in competition with the programs authorized under this Act and the National School Lunch Act.

(b)(1) The regulations shall not prohibit the sale of competitive foods approved by the Secretary in food service facilities or areas during the time of service of food under this Act or the National School Lunch Act if the proceeds from the sales of such foods will inure to the benefit of the schools or of organizations of students approved by the schools.

(2) The Secretary shall develop and provide to State agencies, for distribution to private elementary schools and to public elementary schools through local educational agencies, model language that bans the sale of competitive foods of minimal nutritional value anywhere on elementary school grounds before the end of the last lunch period.

(3) The Secretary shall provide to State agencies, for distribution to private secondary schools and to public secondary schools through local educational agencies, a copy of regulations (in existence on the effective date of this paragraph) concerning the sale of competitive foods of minimal nutritional value.

(4) Paragraphs (2) and (3) shall not apply to a State that has in effect a ban on the sale of competitive foods of minimal nutritional value in schools in the State.

(c) In such regulations the Secretary may provide for the transfer of funds by any State between the programs authorized under this Act and the National School Lunch Act on the basis of an approved State plan of operation for the use of the funds and may provide for the reserve of up to 1 per centum of the funds available for apportionment to any State to carry out special developmental projects.

PROHIBITIONS

Sec. 11. (a) In carrying out the provisions of sections 3 and 4 of this Act, neither the Secretary nor the State shall impose any requirements with respect to teaching personnel, curriculum, instruction, methods of instruction, and materials of instruction.

(b) The value of assistance to children under this Act shall not be considered to be income or resources for any purpose under any Federal or State laws including, but not limited to, laws relating to taxation, welfare, and public assistance programs. Expenditures of funds from State and local sources for the maintenance of food programs for children shall not be diminished as a result of funds received under this Act.

CENTRALIZATION OF ADMINISTRATION

[Sec. 13. Authority for the conduct and supervision of Federal programs to assist schools in providing food service programs for children is assigned to the Department of Agriculture. To the extent practicable, other Federal agencies administering programs under which funds are to be provided to schools for such assistance shall transfer such funds to the Department of Agriculture for distribution through the administrative channels and in accordance with the standards established under this Act and the National School Lunch Act.

APPROPRIATIONS FOR ADMINISTRATIVE EXPENSE

SPECIAL SUPPLEMENTAL NUTRITION PROGRAM FOR WOMEN, INFANTS, AND CHILDREN

SEC. 17. (a) Congress finds that substantial numbers of pregnant, postpartum, and breastfeeding women, infants, and young children from families with inadequate income are at special risk with respect to their physical and mental health by reason of inadequate nutrition or health care, or both. It is, therefore, the purpose of the program authorized by this section to provide, up to the authorization levels set forth in subsection (g) of this section, supplemental foods and nutrition education through any eligible local agency that applies for participation in the program. The program shall serve as an adjunct to good health care, during critical times of growth and development, to prevent the occurrence of health problems, including drug abuse, and improve the health status of these persons.

(b) As used in this section—

(1) "Breastfeeding women" means women up to one year postpartum who are breastfeeding their infants.

(2) "Children" means persons who have had their first birthday but have not yet attained their fifth birthday.

(3) "Competent professional authority" means physicians, nutritionists, registered nurses, dietitians, or State or local medically trained health officials, or persons designated by physicians or State or local medically trained health officials, in accordance with standards prescribed by the Secretary, as being competent professionally to evaluate nutritional risk.

(6) “Local agency” means a public health or welfare agency or a private nonprofit health or welfare agency, which, directly or through an agency or physician with which it has contracted, provides health services. (9) “Plan of operation and administration” means a document that describes the manner in which the State agency intends to implement and operate the program.

(10) “Postpartum women” means women up to six months after termination of pregnancy.

(11) “Pregnant women” means women determined to have one or more fetuses in utero.

(14) “Supplemental foods” means those foods containing nutrients determined by nutritional research to be lacking in the diets of pregnant, breastfeeding, and postpartum women, infants, and children, as prescribed by the Secretary. State agencies may, with the approval of the Secretary, substitute different foods providing the nutritional equivalent of foods prescribed by the Secretary, to allow for different cultural eating patterns.

(15) “Homeless individual” means—
(A) an individual who lacks a fixed and regular nighttime residence; or
(B) an individual whose primary nighttime residence is—
(i) a supervised publicly or privately operated shelter (including a welfare hotel or congregate shelter) designed to provide temporary living accommodations;
(ii) an institution that provides a temporary residence for individuals intended to be institutionalized;

(20) “Net price” means the difference between the manufacturer’s wholesale price for infant formula and the rebate level or the discount offered or provided by the manufacturer under a cost containment contract entered into with the pertinent State agency.

(c)(1) The Secretary may carry out a special supplemental nutrition program to assist State agencies through grants-in-aid and other means to provide, through local agencies, at no cost, supplemental foods and nutrition education to low-income pregnant, postpartum, and breastfeeding women, infants, and children who satisfy the eligibility requirements specified in subsection (d) of this section. The program shall be supplementary to—

(A) the food stamp program;
(B) any program under which foods are distributed to needy families in lieu of food stamps; and
(C) receipt of food or meals from soup kitchens, or shelters, or other forms of emergency food assistance.

(2) Subject to amounts appropriated to carry out this section under subsection (g)

(B) any State agency approved eligible local agency that applies to participate in or expand the program under this section shall immediately be provided with the necessary funds to carry out the program.

(3) Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to permit the Secretary to reduce ratably the amount of foods that an eligible local agency shall distribute under the program to participants. The Secretary shall take affirmative action to ensure that the program is instituted in areas most in need of supplemental foods. The existence of a commodity supplemental food program under section 4 of the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 shall not preclude the approval of an application from an eligible local agency to participate in the program under this section nor the operation of such program within the same geographic area as that of the commodity supplemental food program, but the Secretary shall issue such regulations as are necessary to prevent dual receipt of benefits under the commodity supplemental food program and the program under this section.

(4) A State shall be ineligible to participate in programs authorized under this section if the Secretary determines that State or local sales taxes are collected within the State on purchases of food made to carry out this section.

(5) The Secretary shall promote the special supplemental nutrition program by producing and distributing materials, including television and radio public service announcements in English and other appropriate languages, that inform potentially eligible individuals of the benefits and services under the program.

(d)(1) Participation in the program under this section shall be limited to pregnant, postpartum, and breastfeeding women, infants, and children from low-income families who are determined by a competent professional authority to be at nutritional risk.

(2)(A) The Secretary shall establish income eligibility standards to be used in conjunction with the nutritional risk criteria in determining eligibility of individuals for participation in the program.
Any individual at nutritional risk shall be eligible for the program under this section only if such individual—

(i) is a member of a family with an income that is less than the maximum income limit prescribed under section 9(b) of the National School Lunch Act for free and reduced price meals;

(ii)(I) receives food stamps under the Food Stamp Act of 1977; or

(ii) is a member of a family that receives assistance under the program for aid to families with dependent children established under part A of title IV of the Social Security Act; or

(iii)(I) receives medical assistance under title XIX of the Social Security Act; or

(iii) is a member of a family in which a pregnant woman or an infant receives such assistance.

(B) For the purpose of determining income eligibility under this section, any State agency may choose to exclude from income any basic allowance for quarters received by military service personnel residing off military installations.

(C) In the case of a pregnant woman who is otherwise ineligible for participation in the program because the family of the woman is of insufficient size to meet the income eligibility standards of the program, the pregnant woman shall be considered to have satisfied the income eligibility standards if, by increasing the number of individuals in the family of the woman by 1 individual, the income eligibility standards would be met.

(3)(A) Persons shall be certified for participation in accordance with general procedures prescribed by the Secretary.

(B) A State may consider pregnant women who meet the income eligibility standards to be presumptively eligible to participate in the program and may certify the women for participation immediately, without delaying certification until an evaluation is made concerning nutritional risk. A nutritional risk evaluation of such a woman shall be completed not later than 60 days after the woman is certified for participation. If it is subsequently determined that the woman does not meet nutritional risk criteria, the certification of the woman shall terminate on the date of the determination.

(4) The Secretary shall report biennially to Congress and the National Advisory Council on Maternal, Infant, and Fetal Nutrition established under subsection (k) on—

(A) the income and nutritional risk characteristics of participants in the program;

(B) participation in the program by members of families of migrant farmworkers; and

(C) such other matters relating to participation in the program as the Secretary considers appropriate.

(e)(1) The State agency shall ensure that nutrition education and drug abuse education is provided to all pregnant, postpartum, and breastfeeding participants in the program and to parents or caretakers of infant and child participants in the program. The State agency may also provide nutrition education and drug abuse education to pregnant, postpartum, and breastfeeding women and to parents or caretakers of infants and children enrolled at local agencies operating the program under this section who do not participate in the program.
(2) The Secretary shall prescribe standards to ensure that adequate nutrition education services and breastfeeding promotion and support are provided. The State agency shall provide training to persons providing nutrition education under this section. Nutrition education and breastfeeding promotion and support shall be evaluated annually by each State agency, and such evaluation shall include the views of participants concerning the effectiveness of the nutrition education and breastfeeding promotion and support they have received.

(3) The Secretary shall, after submitting proposed nutrition education materials to the Secretary of Health and Human Services for comment, issue such materials for use in the program under this section.

(4) The State agency shall—

(A) ensure that written information concerning food stamps, the program for aid to families with dependent children under part A of title IV of the Social Security Act, and the child support enforcement program under part D of title IV of the Social Security Act is provided on at least 1 occasion to each adult participant in and each applicant for the program;

(B) provide each local agency with materials showing the maximum income limits, according to family size, applicable to pregnant women, infants, and children up to age 5 under the medical assistance program established under title XIX of the Social Security Act (in this section referred to as the `medicaid program'); and

(C) provide to individuals applying for the program under this section, or reapplying at the end of their certification period, written information about the medicaid program and referral to such program or to agencies authorized to determine presumptive eligibility for such program, if such individuals are not participating in such program and appear to have family income below the applicable maximum income limits for such program.

(5) The State agency shall ensure that each local agency shall maintain and make available for distribution a list of local resources for substance abuse counseling and treatment.

(6) Each local agency may use a master file to document and monitor the provision of nutrition education services (other than the initial provision of such services) to individuals that are required, under standards prescribed by the Secretary, to be included by the agency in group nutrition education classes.

(f)(1)(A) Each State agency shall submit annually to the Secretary, by a date specified by the Secretary, a plan of operation and administration for a fiscal year.

(B) To be eligible to receive funds under this section for a fiscal year, a State agency must receive the approval of the Secretary for the plan submitted for the fiscal year.

(C) The plan shall include—

(i) a description of the food delivery system of the State agency and the method of enabling participants to receive supplemental foods under the program, to be administered in accordance with standards developed by the Secretary;
(ii) a description of the financial management system of the State agency;

(iii) a plan to coordinate operations under the program with special counseling services, such as the expanded food and nutrition education program, immunization programs, local programs for breastfeeding promotion, prenatal care, well-child care, family planning, drug abuse education, alcohol and drug abuse counseling and treatment, child abuse counseling, and with the aid to families with dependent children, food stamp, maternal and child health care, and medicaid programs, including medicaid programs that use coordinated care providers under a contract entered into under section 1903(m), or a waiver granted under section 1915(b), of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1396b(m) or 1396n(b)) (including coordination through the referral of potentially eligible women, infants, and children between the program authorized under this section and the medicaid program);

(iv) a plan to provide program benefits under this section to, and to meet the special nutrition education needs of, eligible migrants, homeless individuals, and Indians;

(v) a plan to expend funds to carry out the program during the relevant fiscal year;

(vi) a plan to provide program benefits under this section to unserved and underserved areas in the State, if sufficient funds are available to carry out this clause;

(vii) a plan to provide program benefits under this section to eligible individuals most in need of the benefits and to provide eligible individuals not participating in the program with information on the program, the eligibility criteria for the program, and how to apply for the program, with emphasis on reaching and enrolling eligible women in the early months of pregnancy, including provisions to reach and enroll eligible migrants;

(viii) a plan to provide program benefits under this section to unserved infants and children under the care of foster parents, protective services, or child welfare authorities, including infants exposed to drugs perinatally;

(ix) if the State agency chooses to provide program benefits under this section to some or all eligible individuals who are incarcerated in prisons or juvenile detention facilities that do not receive Federal assistance under any program specifically established to assist pregnant women regarding their nutrition and health needs, a plan for the provision of such benefits to, and to meet the special nutrition education needs of, such individuals, which may include—

(I) providing supplemental foods to such individuals that are different from those provided to other participants in the program under this section;

(II) providing such foods to such individuals in a different manner than to other participants in the program under this section in order to meet the special needs of such individuals; and

(III) the development of nutrition education materials appropriate for the special needs of such individuals;
(x) a plan to improve access to the program for participants and prospective applicants who are employed, or who reside in rural areas, by addressing their special needs through the adoption or revision of procedures and practices to minimize the time participants and applicants must spend away from work and the distances that participants and applicants must travel, including appointment scheduling, adjustment of clinic hours, clinic locations, or mailing of multiple vouchers;
(xi) a plan to provide nutrition education and promote breastfeeding;
(xii) if the State agency chooses to request the funds conversion authority established in clause (h)(5) of this section, an estimate of the increased participation which will result from its cost-saving initiative, including an explanation of how the estimate was developed; and (xiii) such other information as the Secretary may require.

(D) The Secretary may permit a State agency to submit only those parts of a plan that differ from plans submitted for previous fiscal years.

(E) The Secretary may not approve any plan that permits a person to participate simultaneously in both the program authorized under this section and the commodity supplemental food program authorized under sections 4 and 5 of the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 (7 U.S.C. 612c note).

(2) A State agency shall establish a procedure under which members of the general public are provided an opportunity to comment on the development of the State agency plan.

(3) The Secretary shall establish procedures under which eligible migrants may, to the maximum extent feasible, continue to participate in the program under this section when they are present in States other than the State in which they were originally certified for participation in the program and shall ensure that local programs provide priority consideration to serving migrant participants who are residing in the State for a limited period of time. Each State agency shall be responsible for administering the program for migrant populations within its jurisdiction.

(4) State agencies shall submit monthly financial reports and participation data to the Secretary.

(5) State and local agencies operating under the program shall keep such accounts and records, including medical records, as may be necessary to enable the Secretary to determine whether there has been compliance with this section and to determine and evaluate the benefits of the nutritional assistance provided under this section. Such accounts and records shall at all times be available for inspection and audit by representatives of the Secretary and shall be preserved for such period of time, not in excess of five years, as the Secretary determines necessary.

(6) The State agency, upon receipt of a completed application from a local agency for participation in the program (and the Secretary, upon receipt of a completed application from a State agency), shall notify the applicant agency in writing within thirty days of the approval or disapproval of the application, and any disapproval shall be accompanied with a statement of the reasons for such disapproval. Within fifteen days after receipt of an incomplete application, the State agency (or the Secretary) shall notify the applicant agency of the additional information needed to complete the application.

(7)(A) Local agencies participating in the program under this section shall notify persons of their eligibility or ineligibility for the program within twenty days of the date that the household, during office hours of a local agency, personally makes an oral or written request to participate in the program. The Secretary shall establish a shorter notification period for categories of persons who, due to special nutritional risk conditions, must receive benefits more expeditiously.

(B) State agencies may provide for the delivery of vouchers to any participant who is not scheduled for nutrition education counseling or a recertification interview through means, such as mailing, that do not require the participant to travel to the local agency to obtain vouchers. The State agency shall describe any plans for issuance of vouchers by mail in its plan submitted under paragraph (1). The Secretary may disapprove a State plan with respect to the issuance of vouchers by mail in any specified jurisdiction or part of a jurisdiction within a State only if the Secretary finds that such issuance would pose a significant threat to the integrity of the program under this section in such jurisdiction or part of a jurisdiction.

(8)(A) The State agency shall, in cooperation with participating local agencies, publicly announce and distribute information on the availability of program benefits (including the eligibility criteria for participation and the location of local agencies operating the program) to offices and organizations that deal with significant numbers of potentially eligible individuals (including health and medical organizations, hospitals and clinics, welfare and unemployment offices, social service agencies, farmworker organizations, Indian tribal organizations, organizations and agencies serving homeless individuals and shelters for victims of domestic violence, and religious and community organizations in low income areas).

(B) The information shall be publicly announced by the State agency and by local agencies at least annually.

(C) The State agency and local agencies shall distribute the information in a manner designed to provide the information to potentially eligible individuals who are most in need of the benefits, including pregnant women in the early months of pregnancy.

(D) Each local agency operating the program within a hospital and each local agency operating the program that has a cooperative arrangement with a hospital shall—

(i) advise potentially eligible individuals that receive inpatient or outpatient prenatal, maternity, or postpartum services, or accompany a child under the age of 5 who receives well-child services, of the availability of program benefits; and

(ii) to the extent feasible, provide an opportunity for individuals who may be eligible to be certified within the hospital for participation in such program.

(9)(A) The State agency shall grant a fair hearing, and a prompt determination thereafter, in accordance with regulations issued by the Secretary, to any applicant, participant, or local agency aggrieved by the action of a State or local agency as it affects participation.

(B) Any State agency that must suspend or terminate benefits to any participant during the participant's certification period due to a shortage of funds for the program shall first issue a notice to such participant. Such notice shall include, in addition to other information required by the Secretary, the categories of participants whose benefits are being suspended or terminated due to such shortage.

(10) If an individual certified as eligible for participation in the program under this section in one area moves to another area in which the program is operating, that individual's certification of eligibility shall remain valid for the period for which the individual was originally certified.

(11) The Secretary shall establish standards for the proper, efficient, and effective administration of the program, including standards that will ensure sufficient State agency staff. If the Secretary determines that a State agency has failed without good cause to administer the program in a manner consistent with this section or to implement the approved plan of operation and administration under this subsection, the Secretary may withhold such amounts of the State agency's funds for nutrition services and administration as the Secretary deems appropriate. Upon correction of such failure during a fiscal year by a State agency, any funds so withheld for such fiscal year shall be provided the State agency.

(12) The Secretary shall prescribe by regulation the supplemental foods to be made available in the program under this section. To the degree possible, the Secretary shall assure that the fat, sugar, and salt content of the prescribed foods is appropriate. Products specifically designed for pregnant, postpartum, and breastfeeding women, or infants shall be available at the discretion of the Secretary if the products are commercially available or are justified to and approved by the Secretary based on clinical tests performed in accordance with standards prescribed by the Secretary.

(13) A competent professional authority shall be responsible for prescribing the appropriate supplemental foods, taking into account medical and nutritional conditions and cultural eating patterns, and, in the case of homeless individuals, the special needs and problems of such individuals.

(14) The State agency shall (A) provide nutrition education, breastfeeding promotion, and drug abuse education materials and instruction in languages other than English and (B) use appropriate foreign language materials in the administration of the program, in areas in which a substantial number of low-income households speak a language other than English.

(15) If a State agency determines that a member of a family has received an overissuance of food benefits under the program authorized by this section as the result of such member intentionally making a false or misleading statement or intentionally misrepresenting, concealing, or withholding facts, the State agency shall recover, in cash, from such member an amount that the State agency determines is equal to the value of the overissued food benefits, unless the State agency determines that the recovery of the benefits would not be cost effective.

(16) To be eligible to participate in the program authorized by this section, a manufacturer of infant formula that supplies formula for the program shall—

(A) register with the Secretary of Health and Human Services under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 321 et seq.); and

(B) before bidding for a State contract to supply infant formula for the program, certify with the State health department that the formula complies with such Act and regulations issued pursuant to such Act.

(17) The State agency may adopt methods of delivering benefits to accommodate the special needs and problems of homeless individuals and to accommodate the special needs and problems of individuals who are incarcerated in prisons or juvenile detention facilities.

(18) Notwithstanding subsection (d)(2)(A)(i), not later than July 1 of each year, a State agency may implement income eligibility guidelines under this section concurrently with the implementation of income eligibility guidelines under the medicaid program established under title XIX of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1396 et seq.).

(19) Each local agency participating in the program under this section shall provide information about other potential sources of food assistance in the local area to individuals who apply in person to participate in the program under this section, but who cannot be served because the program is operating at capacity in the local area.

(20) The State agency shall adopt policies that—

(A) require each local agency to attempt to contact each pregnant woman who misses an appointment to apply for participation in the program under this section, in order to reschedule the appointment, unless the phone number and the address of the woman are unavailable to such local agency; and

(B) in the case of local agencies that do not routinely schedule appointments for individuals seeking to apply or be recertified for participation in the program under this section, require each such local agency to schedule appointments for each employed individual seeking to apply or be recertified in such program so as to minimize the time each such individual is absent from the workplace due to such application or request for recertification.

(21) Each State agency shall conduct monitoring reviews of each local agency at least biennially.

(22) In the State plan submitted to the Secretary for fiscal year 1994, each State agency shall advise the Secretary regarding the procedures to be used by the State agency to reduce the purchase of low-iron infant formula for infants on the program for whom such formula has not been prescribed by a physician or other appropriate health professional, as determined by regulations issued by the Secretary.
(23) A State agency may use funds recovered as a result of violations in the food delivery system of the program in the year in which the funds are collected for the purpose of carrying out the program.

(24) The Secretary and the Secretary of Health and Human Services shall carry out an initiative to assure that, in a case in which a State medicaid program uses coordinated care providers under a contract entered into under section 1903(m), or a waiver granted under section 1915(b), of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1396b(m) or 1396n(b)), coordination between the program authorized by this section and the medicaid program is continued, including—

(A) the referral of potentially eligible women, infants, and children between the 2 programs; and

(B) the timely provision of medical information related to the program authorized by this section to agencies carrying out the program.

(g)(1) There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $2,158,000,000 for the fiscal year 1990, and such sums as may be necessary for each of the fiscal years 1995 through 1998. As authorized by section 3 of the National School Lunch Act, appropriations to carry out the provisions of this section may be made not more than 1 year in advance of the beginning of the fiscal year in which the funds will become available for disbursement to the States, and shall remain available for the purposes for which appropriated until expended.

(i) in the case of legislation providing funds through the end of a fiscal year, shall issue—

(I) an initial allocation of funds provided by the enactment of such legislation not later than the expiration of the 15-day period beginning on the date of the enactment of such legislation; and

(II) subsequent allocations of funds provided by the enactment of such legislation not later than the beginning of each of the second, third, and fourth quarters of the fiscal year; and

(ii) in the case of legislation providing funds for a period that ends prior to the end of a fiscal year, shall issue an initial allocation of funds provided by the enactment of such legislation not later than the expiration of the 10-day period beginning on the date of the enactment of such legislation.

(B) In any fiscal year—

(i) unused amounts from a prior fiscal year that are identified by the end of the first quarter of the fiscal year shall be recovered and reallocated not later than the beginning of the second quarter of the fiscal year; and

(ii) unused amounts from a prior fiscal year that are identified after the end of the first quarter of the fiscal year shall be recovered and reallocated on a timely basis.

(3) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, unless enacted in express limitation of this paragraph—
(A) the allocation of funds required by paragraph (2)(A)(i)(I) shall include not less than \( \frac{1}{3} \) of the amounts appropriated by the legislation described in such paragraph;
(B) the allocations of funds required by paragraph (2)(A)(i)(II) to be made not later than the beginning of the second and third quarters of the fiscal year shall each include not less than \( \frac{1}{4} \) of the amounts appropriated by the legislation described in such paragraph; and
(C) in the case of the enactment of legislation providing appropriations for a period of not more than 4 months, the allocation of funds required by paragraph (2)(A)(ii) shall include all amounts appropriated by such legislation except amounts reserved by the Secretary for purposes of carrying out paragraph (5).

(4) Of the sums appropriated for any fiscal year for programs authorized under this section, not less than nine-tenths of 1 percent shall be available first for services to eligible members of migrant populations. The migrant services shall be provided in a manner consistent with the priority system of a State for program participation.

(5) Of the sums appropriated for any fiscal year for the program under this section, one-half of 1 percent, not to exceed $5,000,000, shall be available to the Secretary for the purpose of evaluating program performance, evaluating health benefits, preparing the report required under subsection (d)(4), providing technical assistance to improve State agency administrative systems, administration of pilot projects, including projects designed to meet the special needs of migrants, Indians, and rural populations, and carrying out technical assistance and research evaluation projects of the programs under this section.

(6) Upon the completion of the 1990 decennial census, the Secretary, in coordination with the Secretary of Commerce, shall make available an estimate, by State and county (or equivalent political subdivision) of the number of women, infants, and children who are members of families that have incomes below the maximum income limit for participation in the program under this section.

(h)(1)(A) Each fiscal year, the Secretary shall make available, from amounts appropriated for such fiscal year under subsection (g)(1) and amounts remaining from amounts appropriated under such subsection for the preceding fiscal year, an amount sufficient to guarantee a national average per participant grant to be allocated among State agencies for costs incurred by State and local agencies for nutrition services and administration for such year.

(B)(i) The amount of the national average per participant grant for nutrition services and administration for any fiscal year shall be an amount equal to the amount of the national average per participant grant for nutrition services and administration issued for the fiscal year 1987, as adjusted.

(ii) Such adjustment, for any fiscal year, shall be made by revising the national average per participant grant for nutrition services and administration for the fiscal year 1987 to reflect the percentage change between—

(i) the value of the index for State and local government purchases, using the implicit price deflator, as published by the Bureau of Economic Analysis of the Department of Commerce, for the 12-month period ending June 30, 1986; and

(II) the best estimate that is available as of the start of the fiscal year of the value of such index for the 12-month period ending June 30 of the previous fiscal year.

(C) In any fiscal year, amounts remaining from amounts appropriated for such fiscal year under subsection (g)(1) and from amounts appropriated under such section for the preceding fiscal year, after carrying out subparagraph (A), shall be made available for food benefits under this section, except to the extent that such amounts are needed to carry out the purposes of subsections (g)(4) and (g)(5).

(2)(A) For each of the fiscal years 1995 through 1998, the Secretary shall allocate to each State agency from the amount described in paragraph (1)(A) an amount for costs of nutrition services and administration on the basis of a formula prescribed by the Secretary. Such formula—

(i) shall be designed to take into account—

(I) the varying needs of each State;

(II) the number of individuals participating in each State; and

(III) other factors which serve to promote the proper, efficient, and effective administration of the program under this section;

(ii) shall provide for each State agency—

(I) an estimate of the number of participants for the fiscal year involved; and

(II) a per participant grant for nutrition services and administration for such year;

(iii) shall provide for a minimum grant amount for State agencies; and

(iv) may provide funds, to the extent funds are not already provided under subparagraph (I)(v) for the same purpose, to help defray reasonable anticipated expenses associated with innovations in cost containment or associated with procedures that tend to enhance competition.

(B)(i) Except as provided in clause (ii) and subparagraph (C), in any fiscal year, the total amount allocated to a State agency for costs of nutrition services and administration under the formula prescribed by the Secretary under subparagraph (A) shall constitute the State agency’s operational level for such costs for such year even if the number of participants in the program at such agency is lower than the estimate provided under subparagraph (A)(ii)(I).

(ii) If a State agency’s per participant expenditure for nutrition services and administration is more than 15 percent higher than its per participant grant for nutrition services and administration without good cause, the Secretary may reduce such State agency’s operational level for costs of nutrition services and administration.

(C) In any fiscal year, the Secretary may reallocate amounts provided to State agencies under subparagraph (A) for such fiscal year. When reallocating amounts under the preceding sentence, the Secretary may provide additional amounts to, or recover amounts from, any State agency.
Except as provided in subparagraphs (B) and (C), in each fiscal year, each State agency shall expend—

(i) for nutrition education activities and breastfeeding promotion and support activities, an aggregate amount that is not less than the sum of—

(I) ⅚ of the amounts expended by the State for costs of nutrition services and administration; and

(II) except as otherwise provided in subparagraphs (F) and (G), an amount equal to a proportionate share of the national minimum breastfeeding promotion expenditure, as described in subparagraph (E), with each State's share determined on the basis of the number of pregnant women and breastfeeding women in the program in the State as a percentage of the number of pregnant women and breastfeeding women in the program in all States; and

(ii) for breastfeeding promotion and support activities an amount that is not less than the amount determined for such State under clause (i)(II).

(B) The Secretary may authorize a State agency to expend an amount less than the amount described in subparagraph (A)(ii) for purposes of breastfeeding promotion and support activities if—

(i) the State agency so requests; and

(ii) the request is accompanied by documentation that other funds will be used to conduct nutrition education activities at a level commensurate with the level at which such activities would be conducted if the amount described in subparagraph (A)(ii) were expended for such activities.

(C) The Secretary may authorize a State agency to expend for purposes of nutrition education an amount that is less than the difference between the aggregate amount described in subparagraph (A) and the amount expended by the State for breastfeeding promotion and support programs if—

(i) the State agency so requests; and

(ii) the request is accompanied by documentation that other funds will be used to conduct such activities.

(D) The Secretary shall limit to a minimal level any documentation required under this paragraph.

(E) In the case of fiscal year 1996 (except as provided in subparagraph (G)) and each subsequent fiscal year, the national minimum breastfeeding promotion expenditure means an amount that is—

(i) equal to $21 multiplied by the number of pregnant women and breastfeeding women participating in the program nationwide, based on the average number of pregnant women and breastfeeding women so participating during the last 3 months for which the Secretary has final data; and

(ii) adjusted for inflation on October 1, 1996, and each October 1 thereafter, in accordance with paragraph (1)(B)(ii).

(F) In the case of fiscal year 1995, a State shall pay, in lieu of the expenditure required under subparagraph (A)(ii), an amount that is equal to the lesser of—

(i) an amount that is more than the expenditure of the State for fiscal year 1994 on the activities described in subparagraph (A)(i); or
(ii) an amount that is equal to $21 multiplied by the number of pregnant women and breastfeeding women participating in the program in the State, based on the average number of pregnant women and breastfeeding women so participating during the last 3 months for which the Secretary has final data.

(G)(i) If the Secretary determines that a State agency is unable, for reasons the Secretary considers to be appropriate, to make the expenditure required under subparagraph (A)(i)(II) for fiscal year 1996, the Secretary may permit the State to make the required level of expenditure not later than October 1, 1996.

(ii) In the case of fiscal year 1996, if the Secretary makes a determination described in clause (i), a State shall pay, in lieu of the expenditure required under subparagraph (A)(i)(II), an amount that is equal to the lesser of—

(I) an amount that is more than the expenditure of the State for fiscal year 1995 on the activities described in subparagraph (A)(i); and

(II) an amount that is equal to $21 multiplied by the number of pregnant women and breastfeeding women participating in the program in the State, based on the average number of pregnant women and breastfeeding women so participating during the last 3 months for which the Secretary has final data.

(4) The Secretary shall—

(A) in consultation with the Secretary of Health and Human Services, develop a definition of breastfeeding for the purposes of the program under this section;

(B) authorize the purchase of breastfeeding aids by State and local agencies as an allowable expense under nutrition services and administration;

(C) require each State agency to designate an agency staff member to coordinate breastfeeding promotion efforts identified in the State plan of operation and administration;

(D) require the State agency to provide training on the promotion and management of breastfeeding to staff members of local agencies who are responsible for counseling participants in the program under this section concerning breastfeeding; and

(E) not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this subparagraph, develop uniform requirements for the collection of data regarding the incidence and duration of breastfeeding among participants in the program and, on development of the uniform requirements, require each State agency to report the data for inclusion in the report to Congress described in subsection (d)(4).

(5)(A) Subject to subparagraph (B), in any fiscal year that a State agency achieves, through use of acceptable measures, participation that exceeds the participation level estimated for such State agency under paragraph (2)(A)(ii)(I), such State agency may convert amounts allocated for food benefits for such fiscal year for costs of nutrition services and administration to the extent that such conversion is necessary—

(i) to cover allowable expenditures in such fiscal year; and
(ii) to ensure that the State agency maintains the level established for the per participant grant for nutrition services and administration for such fiscal year.

(B) If a State agency increases its participation level through measures that are not in the nutritional interests of participants or not otherwise allowable (such as reducing the quantities of foods provided for reasons not related to nutritional need), the Secretary may refuse to allow the State agency to convert amounts allocated for food benefits to defray costs of nutrition services and administration.

(C) For the purposes of this paragraph, the term “acceptable measures” includes use of cost containment measures, curtailment of vendor abuse, and breastfeeding promotion activities.

(6) In each fiscal year, each State agency shall provide, from the amounts allocated to such agency for such year for costs of nutrition services and administration, an amount to each local agency for its costs of nutrition services and administration. The amount to be provided to each local agency under the preceding sentence shall be determined under allocation standards developed by the State agency in cooperation with the several local agencies, taking into account factors deemed appropriate to further proper, efficient, and effective administration of the program, such as—

(A) local agency staffing needs;
(B) density of population;
(C) number of individuals served; and
(D) availability of administrative support from other sources.

(7) The State agency may provide in advance to any local agency any amounts for nutrition services and administration deemed necessary for successful commencement or significant expansion of program operations during a reasonable period following approval of—

(A) a new local agency;
(B) a new cost containment measure; or
(C) a significant change in an existing cost containment measure.

(8)(A) No State may receive its allocation under this subsection unless on or before August 30, 1989 (or a subsequent date established by the Secretary for any State) such State has—

(i) examined the feasibility of implementing cost containment measures with respect to procurement of infant formula, and, where practicable, other foods necessary to carry out the program under this section; and
(ii) initiated action to implement such measures unless the State demonstrates, to the satisfaction of the Secretary, that such measures would not lower costs or would interfere with the delivery of formula or foods to participants in the program.

(B)(i) Except as provided in subparagraphs (C), (D), and (E)(iii), in carrying out subparagraph (A), any State that provides for the purchase of foods under the program at retail grocery stores shall, with respect to the procurement of infant formula, use—

(I) a competitive bidding system; or
(II) any other cost containment measure that yields savings equal to or greater than savings generated by a competitive

bidding system when such savings are determined by comparing the amounts of savings that would be provided over the full term of contracts offered in response to a single invitation to submit both competitive bids and bids for other cost containment systems for the sale of infant formula.

(ii) In determining whether a cost containment measure other than competitive bidding yields equal or greater savings, the State, in accordance with regulations issued by the Secretary, may take into account other cost factors (in addition to rebate levels and procedures for adjusting rebate levels when wholesale price levels rise), such as—

(I) the number of infants who would not be expected to receive the contract brand of infant formula under a competitive bidding system;

(II) the number of cans of infant formula for which no rebate would be provided under another rebate system; and

(III) differences in administrative costs relating to the implementation of the various cost containment systems (such as costs of converting a computer system for the purpose of operating a cost containment system and costs of preparing participants for conversion to a new or alternate cost containment system).

(C) In the case of any State that has a contract in effect on the date of the enactment of the Child Nutrition and WIC Reauthorization Act of 1989, subparagraph (B) shall not apply to the program operated by such State under this section until the term of such contract, as such term is specified by the contract as in effect on such date, expires. In the case of any State that has more than 1 such contract in effect on the date of the enactment of such Act, subparagraph (B) shall not apply until the term of the contract with the latest expiration date, as such term is specified by such contract as in effect on the date of the enactment of such Act, expires.

(D)(i) The Secretary shall waive the requirement of subparagraph (B) in the case of any State that demonstrates to the Secretary that—

(I) compliance with subparagraph (B) would be inconsistent with efficient or effective operation of the program operated by such State under this section; or

(II) the amount by which the savings yielded by an alternative cost containment system would be less than the savings yielded by a competitive bidding system is sufficiently minimal that the difference is not significant.

(ii) The Secretary shall prescribe criteria under which a waiver may be granted pursuant to clause (i).

(iii) The Secretary shall provide information on a timely basis to the Committee on Education and Labor of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry of the Senate on waivers that have been granted under clause (i).

(E)(i) The Secretary shall provide technical assistance to small Indian State agencies carrying out this paragraph in order to assist such agencies to achieve the maximum cost containment savings feasible.
(ii) The Secretary shall also provide technical assistance, on request, to State agencies that desire to consider a cost containment system that covers more than 1 State agency.

(iii) The Secretary may waive the requirement of subparagraph (B) in the case of any Indian State agency that has not more than 1,000 participants.

(F) No State may enter into a cost containment contract (in this subparagraph referred to as the original contract”) that prescribes conditions that would void, reduce the savings under, or otherwise limit the original contract if the State solicited or secured bids for, or entered into, a subsequent cost containment contract to take effect after the expiration of the original contract.

(G)(i) The Secretary shall offer to solicit bids on behalf of State agencies regarding cost-containment contracts to be entered into by infant formula manufacturers and State agencies. The Secretary shall make the offer to State agencies once every 12 months. Each such bid solicitation shall only take place if two or more State agencies request the Secretary to perform the solicitation. For such State agencies, the Secretary shall solicit bids and select the winning bidder for a cost containment contract to be entered into by State agencies and infant formula manufacturers or suppliers.

(ii) If the Secretary determines that the number of State agencies making the election in clause (i) so warrants, the Secretary may, in consultation with such State agencies, divide such State agencies into more than one group of such agencies and solicit bids for a contract for each such group. In determining the size of the groups of agencies, the Secretary shall, to the extent practicable, take into account the need to maximize the number of potential bidders so as to increase competition among infant formula manufacturers.

(iii) State agencies that elect to authorize the Secretary to perform the bid solicitation and selection process on their behalf and enter into the resulting containment contract shall obtain the rebates or discounts from the manufacturers or suppliers participating in the contract.

(iv) In soliciting bids and determining the winning bidder under clause (i), the Secretary shall comply with the requirements of subparagraphs (B) and (F).

(v)(I) Except as provided in subclause (II), the term of the contract for which bids are to be solicited under this paragraph shall be announced by the Secretary in consultation with the affected State agencies and shall be not less than 2 years.

(II) If the law of a State regarding the duration of contracts is inconsistent with subclause (I), the Secretary shall permit a 1-year contract, with the option provided to the State to extend the contract for additional years.

(vi) In prescribing specifications for the bids, the Secretary shall ensure that the contracts to be entered into by the State agencies and the infant formula manufacturers or suppliers provide for a constant net price for infant formula products for the full term of the contracts and provide for rebates or discounts for all units of infant formula sold through the program that are produced by the manufacturer awarded the contract and that are for a type of formula product covered under the contract. The contracts shall cover all types of infant formula products normally covered under cost containment contracts entered into by State agencies.

(vii) The Secretary shall also develop procedures for—

(I) rejecting all bids for any joint contract and announcing a resolicitation of infant formula bids where necessary;

(II) permitting a State agency that has authorized the Secretary to undertake bid solicitation on its behalf under this subparagraph to decline to enter into the joint contract to be negotiated and awarded pursuant to the solicitation if the agency promptly determines after the bids are opened that participation would not be in the best interest of its program; and

(III) assuring infant formula manufacturers submitting a bid under this subparagraph that a contract awarded pursuant to the bid will cover State agencies serving no fewer than a number of infants to be specified in the bid solicitation.

(viii) The bid solicitation and selection process on behalf of the State agencies shall be conducted in accordance with any procedures the Secretary deems necessary for the effective and efficient administration of the bid solicitation and selection process and consistent with the requirements of this subparagraph. The procedures established by the Secretary shall ensure that—

(I) the bid solicitation and selection process is conducted in a manner providing full and open competition; and

(II) the bid solicitation and selection process is free of any real or apparent conflict of interest.”.

(ix) Not later than September 30, 1996, the Secretary shall offer to solicit bids on behalf of State agencies regarding cost containment contracts to be entered into by infant cereal manufacturers and State agencies. In carrying out this clause, the Secretary shall, to the maximum extent feasible, follow the procedures prescribed in this subparagraph regarding offers made by the Secretary with regard to soliciting bids regarding infant formula cost containment contracts. The Secretary may carry out this clause without issuing regulations.

(H) In soliciting bids for contracts for infant formula for the program authorized by this section, the Secretary shall solicit bids from infant formula manufacturers under procedures in which bids for rebates or discounts are solicited for milk-based and soy-based infant formula, separately, except where the Secretary determines that such solicitation procedures are not in the best interest of the program.

(i) To reduce the costs of any supplemental foods, the Secretary—

(i) shall promote, but not require, the joint purchase of infant formula among State agencies electing not to participate under the procedures set forth in subparagraph (G);

(ii) shall encourage and promote (but not require) the purchase of supplemental foods other than infant formula under cost containment procedures;

(iii) shall inform State agencies of the benefits of cost containment and provide assistance and technical advice at State agency request regarding the State agency’s use of cost containment procedures;
(iv) shall encourage (but not require) the joint purchase of supplemental foods other than infant formula under procedures specified in subparagraph (B), if the Secretary determines that—

(I) the anticipated savings are expected to be significant;

(II) the administrative expenses involved in purchasing the food item through competitive bidding procedures, whether under a rebate or discount system, will not exceed the savings anticipated to be generated by the procedures; and

(III) the procedures would be consistent with the purposes of the program; and

(v) may make available additional funds to State agencies out of the funds otherwise available under paragraph (1)(A) for nutrition services and administration in an amount not exceeding one half of 1 percent of the amounts to help defray reasonable anticipated expenses associated with innovations in cost containment or associated with procedures that tend to enhance competition.

(J)(i) Any person, company, corporation, or other legal entity that submits a bid to supply infant formula to carry out the program authorized by this section and announces or otherwise discloses the amount of the bid, or the rebate or discount practices of such entities, in advance of the time the bids are opened by the Secretary or the State agency, or any person, company, corporation, or other legal entity that makes a statement (prior to the opening of bids) relating to levels of rebates or discounts, for the purpose of influencing a bid submitted by any other person, shall be ineligible to submit bids to supply infant formula to the program for the bidding in progress for up to 2 years from the date the bids are opened and shall be subject to a civil penalty of up to $100,000,000, as determined by the Secretary to provide restitution to the program for harm done to the program. The Secretary shall issue regulations providing such person, company, corporation, or other legal entity appropriate notice, and an opportunity to be heard and to respond to charges.

(ii) The Secretary shall determine the length of the disqualification, and the amount of the civil penalty referred to in clause (i) based on such factors as the Secretary by regulation determines appropriate.

(iii) Any person, company, corporation, or other legal entity disqualified under clause (i) shall remain obligated to perform any requirements under any contract to supply infant formula existing at the time of the disqualification and until each such contract expires by its terms.

(K) Not later than the expiration of the 180-day period beginning on the date of enactment of this subparagraph, the Secretary shall prescribe regulations to carry out this paragraph.

(L) A State shall not incur any interest liability to the Federal Government on rebate funds for infant formula and other foods if all interest earned by the State on the funds is used for program purposes.
The Secretary shall establish pilot projects in at least 1 State, with the consent of the State, to determine the feasibility and cost of requiring States to carry out a system for using universal product codes to assist retail food stores that are vendors under the program in providing the type of infant formula that the participants in the program are authorized to obtain. In carrying out the projects, the Secretary shall determine whether the system reduces the incidence of incorrect redemptions of low-iron formula or brands of infant formula not authorized to be redeemed through the program, or both.

The Secretary shall provide a notification to the Committee on Education and Labor of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry of the Senate regarding whether the system is feasible, is cost-effective, reduces the incidence of incorrect redemptions described in clause (i), and results in any additional costs to States.

The system shall not require a vendor under the program to obtain special equipment and shall not be applicable to a vendor that does not have equipment that can use universal product codes.

For purposes of this subsection, the term "cost containment measure" means a competitive bidding, rebate, direct distribution, or home delivery system implemented by a State agency as described in its approved plan of operation and administration.

For each of fiscal years 1995 through 1998, the Secretary shall use for the purposes specified in subparagraph (B), $10,000,000 or the amount of nutrition services and administration funds for the prior fiscal year that has not been obligated, whichever is less.

Funds under subparagraph (A) shall be used for—

(i) development of infrastructure for the program under this section, including management information systems;

(ii) special State projects of regional or national significance to improve the services of the program under this section; and

(iii) special breastfeeding support and promotion projects, including projects to assess the effectiveness of particular breastfeeding promotion strategies and to develop State or local agency capacity or facilities to provide quality breastfeeding services.

By the beginning of each fiscal year, the Secretary shall divide, among the State agencies, the amounts made available for food benefits under subsection (h)(1)(C) on the basis of a formula determined by the Secretary.

Each State agency's allocation, as so determined, shall constitute the State agency's authorized operational level for that year, except that the Secretary shall reallocate funds periodically if the Secretary determines that a State agency is unable to spend its allocation.

Notwithstanding paragraph (2) and subject to subparagraphs (B) and (C)—

(i) not more than 1 percent (except as provided in subparagraph (H)) of the amount of funds allocated to a State agency under this section for supplemental foods for a fiscal year may be expended by the State agency for expenses incurred under this section for supplemental foods during the preceding fiscal year; and
  (ii) not more than 1 percent of the amount of funds allocated to a State agency for a fiscal year under this section may be expended by the State agency during the subsequent fiscal year.

(B) Any funds made available to a State agency in accordance with subparagraph (A)(ii) for a fiscal year shall not affect the amount of funds allocated to the State agency for such year.

(C) The total amount of funds transferred from any fiscal year under clauses (i) and (ii) of subparagraph (A) shall not exceed 1 percent of the amount of the funds allocated to a State agency for such fiscal year.

(D) For State agencies implementing cost containment measures as defined in subsection (h)(9), not more than 5 percent of the amount of funds allocated under this section to such a State agency for supplemental foods for the fiscal year in which the system is implemented, and not more than 3 percent of the amount of funds allocated to such a State agency for the fiscal year following the fiscal year in which the system is implemented, may be expended by the State agency for expenses incurred under this section for supplemental foods during the succeeding fiscal year.

(E) Notwithstanding any other provision in this paragraph and paragraph (2) a State agency may, subject to the approval of the Secretary under subparagraph (F), expend not more than 3 percent of the amount of funds allocated to such agency for supplemental foods for the fiscal year 1991 for expenses incurred under this section for supplemental foods during the fiscal year 1990.

(F) Each State agency which intends to use the authority provided in subparagraph (E) shall request approval from the Secretary in advance and shall submit a plan showing how the State's caseload will be managed to meet funding limitations. The Secretary shall review and make determinations on such plans on an expedited basis.

(G) No State can use the authority provided under subpara-
date in fiscal year 1990.

(H) The Secretary may authorize a State agency to expend not more than 3 percent of the amount of funds allocated to a State under this section for supplemental foods for a fiscal year for expenses incurred under this section for supplemental foods during the preceding fiscal year, if the Secretary determines that there has been a significant reduction in infant formula cost containment savings provided to the State agency that would affect the ability of the State agency to at least maintain the level of participation by eligible participants served by the State agency.

(4) For purposes of the formula, if Indians are served by the health department of a State, the formula shall be based on the State population inclusive of the Indians within the State boundaries.

(5) If Indians residing in the State are served by a State agency other than the health department of the State, the population of the tribes within the jurisdiction of the State being so served shall not be included in the formula for such State, and shall instead be included in the formula for the State agency serving the Indians.

(6) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, the Secretary may use a portion of a State agency’s allocation to purchase supplemental foods for donation to the State agency under this section.

(7) In addition to any amounts expended under paragraph (3)(A)(i), any State agency using cost containment measures as defined in subsection (h)(9) may temporarily use amounts made available to such agency for the first quarter of a fiscal year to defray expenses for costs incurred during the final quarter of the preceding fiscal year. In any fiscal year, any State agency that uses amounts made available for a succeeding fiscal year under the authority of the preceding sentence shall restore or reimburse such amounts when such agency receives payment as a result of its cost containment measures for such expenses.

(j)(1) The Secretary and the Secretary of Health and Human Services (referred to in this subsection as the “Secretaries”) shall jointly establish and carry out an initiative for the purpose of providing both supplemental foods and nutrition education under the special supplemental nutrition program and health care services to low-income pregnant, postpartum, and breastfeeding women, infants, and children at substantially more community health centers and migrant health centers.

(2) The initiative shall also include—

(A) activities to improve the coordination of the provision of supplemental foods and nutrition education under the special supplemental nutrition program and health care services at facilities funded by the Indian Health Service; and

(B) the development and implementation of strategies to ensure that, to the maximum extent feasible, new community health centers, migrant health centers, and other federally supported health care facilities established in medically underserved areas provide supplemental foods and nutrition education under the special supplemental nutrition program.

(3) The initiative may include—

(A) outreach and technical assistance for State and local agencies and the facilities described in paragraph (2)(A) and the health centers and facilities described in paragraph (2)(B);

(B) demonstration projects in selected State or local areas; and

(C) such other activities as the Secretaries find are appropriate.

(4)(A) Not later than April 1, 1995, the Secretaries shall provide to Congress a notification concerning the actions the Secretaries intend to take to carry out the initiative.

(B) Not later than July 1, 1996, the Secretaries shall provide to Congress a notification concerning the actions the Secretaries are taking under the initiative or actions the Secretaries intend to take under the initiative as a result of their experience in implementing the initiative.

(C) On completion of the initiative, the Secretaries shall provide to Congress a notification concerning an evaluation of the initiative by the Secretaries and a plan of the Secretaries to further the goals of the initiative.

(5) As used in this subsection:

once every two years to the President and Congress, beginning with the fiscal year ending September 30, 1980, a written report, 1949, including, but not limited to, dry milk, or purchased under section 32 of the Act of August 24, 1935 may be donated by the less than 30 percent of the total cost of the program, which may be satisfied from State contributions that are made for similar programs. The Secretary may negotiate with an Indian State agency a lower percentage of matching funds than is required under the preceding sentence, but not lower than 10 percent of the total cost of the program, if the Indian State agency demonstrates to the Secretary financial hardship for the affected Indian tribe, band, group, or council.

(4) Subject to paragraph (6), the Secretary shall establish a forma for determining the amount of the grant to be awarded under this subsection to each State for which a State plan is approved under paragraph (6), according to the number of recipients proposed to participate as specified in the State plan. In determining the amount to be awarded to new States, the Secretary shall rank order the State plans according to the criteria of operation set forth in this subsection, and award grants accordingly. The Secretary shall take into consideration the minimum amount needed to fund each approved State plan, and need not award grants to each State that submits a State plan.

(5) Each State that receives a grant under this subsection shall ensure that the program for which the grant is received complies with the following requirements:

(A) Individuals who are eligible to receive Federal benefits under the program shall only be individuals who are receiving assistance under subsection (c), or who are on the waiting list to receive the assistance.

(B) Construction or operation of a farmers’ market may not be carried out using funds—

(i) provided under the grant; or

(ii) required to be provided by the State under paragraph (3).

(C) The value of the Federal share of the benefits received by any recipient under the program may not be—

(i) less than $10 per year; or

(ii) more than $20 per year.

(D) The coupon issuance process under the program shall be designed to ensure that coupons are targeted to areas with—

(i) the highest concentration of eligible individuals;

(E) The coupon redemption process under the program shall be designed to ensure that the coupons may be—

(i) redeemed only by producers authorized by the State to participate in the program; and

(ii) redeemed only to purchase fresh nutritious unprepared food for human consumption.

(F) (i) Except as provided in clauses (ii) and (iii), the State may use for administration of the program in any fiscal year not more than 17 percent of the total amount of program funds.

(ii) During any fiscal year for which a State receives assistance under this subsection, the Secretary shall permit the State to use not more than 2 percent of total program funds for market development or technical assistance to farmers’ markets if the Secretary determines that the State intends to promote the development of farmers’ markets in socially or economically disadvantaged areas, or remote rural areas, where individuals eligible for participation in the program have limited access to locally grown fruits and vegetables.

(iii) The provisions of clauses (i) and (ii) with respect to the use of program funds shall not apply to any funds that a State may contribute in excess of the funds used by the State to meet the requirements of paragraph (3).

[(G) The State shall ensure that no State or local taxes are collected within the State on purchases of food with coupons distributed under the program.

[(6)(A) The Secretary shall give the same preference for funding under this subsection to eligible States that participated in the program under this subsection in a prior fiscal year as to States that participated in the program in the most recent fiscal year. The Secretary shall inform each State of the award of funds as prescribed by subparagraph (G) by February 15 of each year.

[(B)(i) Subject to the availability of appropriations, if a State provides the amount of matching funds required under paragraph (3), the State shall receive assistance under this subsection in an amount that is not less than the amount of such assistance that the State received in the most recent fiscal year in which it received such assistance.

[(B)(ii) If amounts appropriated for any fiscal year pursuant to the authorization contained in paragraph (10) for grants under this subsection are not sufficient to pay to each State for which a State plan is approved under paragraph (6) the amount that the Secretary determines each such State is entitled to under this subsection, each State's grant shall be ratably reduced, except that (if sufficient funds are available) each State shall receive at least $75,000 or the amount that the State received for the prior fiscal year if that amount is less than $75,000.

[(C) In providing funds to serve additional recipients in a State that received assistance under this subsection in the previous fiscal year, the Secretary shall consider—

[(i) the availability of any such assistance not spent by the State during the program year for which the assistance was received;

[(ii) documentation that justifies the need for an increase in participation; and

[(iii) demonstrated ability to satisfactorily operate the existing program.

[(D)(i) A State that desires to receive a grant under this subsection shall submit, for each fiscal year, a State plan to the Secretary by November 15 of each year.

[(ii) Each State plan submitted under this paragraph shall contain—

[(I) the estimated cost of the program and the estimated number of individuals to be served by the program;

[(II) a description of the State plan for complying with the requirements established in paragraph (5); and

[(III) criteria developed by the State with respect to authorization of producers to participate in the program.

[(iii) The criteria developed by the State as required by clause (ii)(III) shall require any authorized producer to sell fresh nutritious unprepared foods (such as fruits and vegetables) to recipients, in exchange for coupons distributed under the program.

[(E) The Secretary shall establish objective criteria for the approval and ranking of State plans submitted under this paragraph.
(F) In approving and ranking State plans submitted under this paragraph, the Secretary shall—

(i) favorably consider a State's prior experiences with this or similar programs;

(ii) favorably consider a State's operation of a similar program with State or local funds that can present data concerning the value of the program;

(iii) require that if a State receiving a grant under this section applies the Federal grant to a similar program operated in the previous fiscal year with State or local funds, the State shall not reduce in any fiscal year the amount of State and local funds available to the program in the preceding fiscal year after receiving funds for the program under this subsection;

(iv) give preference to State plans that would serve areas in the State that have—

(I) the highest concentration of eligible persons;

(II) the greatest access to farmers' markets;

(III) broad geographical area;

(IV) the greatest number of recipients in the broadest geographical area within the State; and

(V) any other characteristics, as determined appropriate by the Secretary, that maximize the availability of benefits to eligible persons; and

(v) take into consideration the amount of funds available and the minimum amount needed by each applicant State to successfully operate the program.

(G)(i) An amount equal to 75 percent of the funds available after satisfying the requirements of subparagraph (B) shall be made available to States participating in the program that wish to serve additional recipients, and whose State plan to do so is approved by the Secretary. If this amount is greater than that necessary to satisfy the approved State plans for additional recipients, the unallocated amount shall be applied toward satisfying any unmet need of States that have not participated in the program in the prior fiscal year, and whose State plans have been approved.

(ii) An amount equal to 25 percent of the funds available after satisfying the requirements of subparagraph (B) shall be made available to States that have not participated in the program in the prior fiscal year, and whose State plans have been approved by the Secretary. If this amount is greater than that necessary to satisfy the approved State plans for new States, the unallocated amount shall be applied toward satisfying any unmet need of States that desire to serve additional recipients, and whose State plans have been approved.

(iii) In any fiscal year, any funds that remain unallocated after satisfying the requirements of clauses (i) and (ii) shall be reallocated in the following fiscal year according to procedures established pursuant to paragraph (10)(B)(ii).

(7)(A) The value of the benefit received by any recipient under any program for which a grant is received under this subsection may not affect the eligibility or benefit levels for assistance under other Federal or State programs.
Any programs for which a grant is received under this subsection shall be supplementary to the food stamp program carried out under the Food Stamp Act of 1977 (7 U.S.C. 2011 et seq.) and to any other Federal or State program under which foods are distributed to needy families in lieu of food stamps.

For each fiscal year, the Secretary shall collect from each State that receives a grant under this subsection information relating to—

- the number and type of recipients served by both Federal and non-Federal benefits under the program for which the grant is received;
- the rate of redemption of coupons distributed under the program;
- the average amount distributed in coupons to each recipient;
- the change in consumption of fresh fruits and vegetables by recipients, if the information is available;
- the effects of the program on farmers' markets, if the information is available; and
- any other information determined to be necessary by the Secretary.

The Secretary shall submit to the Committee on Education and Labor and the Committee on Agriculture of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry of the Senate a compilation of the information collected under paragraph (8).

The compilation required by subparagraph (A) shall be submitted on or before April 1, 1994.

Each State shall return to the Secretary any funds made available to the State that are unobligated at the end of the fiscal year for which the funds were originally allocated. The unexpended funds shall be returned to the Secretary by February 1st of the following fiscal year.

Notwithstanding any other provision of this subsection, a total of not more than 5 percent of funds made available to a State for any fiscal year may be expended by the State to reimburse expenses incurred for a program assisted under this subsection during the preceding fiscal year.

NUTRITION EDUCATION AND TRAINING

SEC. 19. (a) Congress finds that—

(1) the proper nutrition of the Nation’s children is a matter of highest priority;
(2) the lack of understanding of the principles of good nutrition and their relationship to health can contribute to a child’s rejection of highly nutritious foods and consequent plate waste in school food service operations;
(3) many school food service personnel have not had adequate training in food service management skills and principles, and many teachers and school food service operators have not had adequate training in the fundamentals of nutrition or how to convey this information so as to motivate children to practice sound eating habits;
(4) parents exert a significant influence on children in the development of nutritional habits and lack of nutritional knowledge on the part of parents can have detrimental effects on children’s nutritional development; and
(5) there is a need to create opportunities for children to learn about the importance of the principles of good nutrition in their daily lives and how these principles are applied in the school cafeteria.

PURPOSE

(b) It is the purpose of this section to encourage effective dissemination of scientifically valid information to children participating or eligible to participate in the school lunch and related child nutrition programs by establishing a system of grants to State educational agencies for the development of comprehensive nutrition education and training programs. Such nutrition education programs shall fully use as a learning laboratory the school lunch and child nutrition programs.

(3) If a State educational agency is conducting or applying to conduct a health education program which includes a school-related nutrition education component as defined by the Secretary, and that health education program is eligible for funds under programs administered by the Department of Health and Human Services, the Secretary may make funds authorized in this section available to the Department of Health and Human Services to fund the nutrition education component of the State program without requiring an additional grant application.

(4) The Secretary, in carrying out the provisions of this subsection, shall make grants to State educational agencies who, in turn, may contract with land-grant colleges eligible to receive funds under the Act of July 2, 1862, or the Act of August 30, 1890, including the Tuskegee Institute, other institutions of higher education, and nonprofit organizations and agencies, for the training of educational, school food service, child care, and summer food service personnel with respect to providing nutrition education programs in schools and the training of school food service personnel in school food service management, in coordination with the activities authorized under section 21 of the National School Lunch Act. (I) $50,000, in any fiscal year in which the amount appropriated for purposes of this section is less than $10,000,000;

(II) $62,500, in any fiscal year in which the amount appropriated for purposes of this section is $10,000,000 or more but is less than $15,000,000;

(III) $68,750, in any fiscal year in which the amount appropriated for purposes of this section is $15,000,000 or more but is less than $20,000,000; and

(IV) $75,000 in any fiscal year in which the amount appropriated for purposes of this section is $20,000,000 or more.

Funds made available to any State under this section shall remain available to the State for obligation in the fiscal year succeeding the fiscal year in which the funds were received by the State.

Enrollment data used for purposes of this subsection shall be the latest available as certified by the Department of Education.

The Secretary shall assess the nutrition education and training program carried out under this section to determine what nutrition education needs are for children participating under the National School Lunch Act in the school lunch program, the summer food service program, and the child care food program.

The assessment required by paragraph (1) shall be completed not later than October 1, 1990.

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE OVERSEAS DEPENDENTS’ SCHOOLS

Section 20. (a) For the purpose of obtaining Federal payments and commodities in conjunction with the provision of breakfasts to students attending Department of Defense dependents’ schools which are located outside the United States, its territories or possessions, the Secretary of Agriculture shall make available to the Department of Defense, from funds appropriated for such purpose, the same payments and commodities as are provided to States for schools participating in the school breakfast program in the United States.

(b) The Secretary of Defense shall administer breakfast programs authorized by this section and shall determine eligibility for free and reduced-price breakfasts under the criteria published by the Secretary of Agriculture, except that the Secretary of Defense shall prescribe regulations governing computation of income eligibility standards for families of students participating in the school breakfast program under this section.

(c) The Secretary of Defense shall be required to offer meals meeting nutritional standards prescribed by the Secretary of Agriculture; however, the Secretary of Defense may authorize devi-lations from Department of Agriculture prescribed meal patterns and fluid milk requirements when local conditions preclude strict compliance or when such compliance is highly impracticable.

(d) Funds are hereby authorized to be appropriated for any fiscal year in such amounts as may be necessary for the administrative expenses of the Department of Defense under this section.

(e) The Secretary of Agriculture shall provide the Secretary of Defense with technical assistance in the administration of the school breakfast programs authorized by this section.

SEC. 21. BREASTFEEDING PROMOTION PROGRAM.

(b) Conduct of Program.—In carrying out the program described in subsection (a), the Secretary may—

(1) develop or assist others to develop appropriate educational materials, including public service announcements, promotional publications, and press kits for the purpose of promoting breastfeeding;

(2) distribute or assist others to distribute such materials to appropriate public and private individuals and entities; and

(3) provide funds to public and private individuals and entities, including physicians, health professional organizations, hospitals, community based health organizations, and employers, for the purpose of assisting such entities in the distribution of breastpumps and similar equipment to breastfeeding women.

(c) Cooperative Agreements.—The Secretary is authorized to enter into cooperative agreements with Federal agencies, State and local governments, and other entities to carry out the program described in subsection (a).

(d) Gifts, Bequests, and Devises.—

Gifts, bequests, or devises of money and proceeds from the sales of other property received as gifts, bequests, or devises shall be deposited in the Treasury and shall be available for disbursement upon order of the Secretary.

(2) Criteria for Acceptance.—The Secretary shall establish criteria for determining whether to solicit and accept gifts, bequests, or devises under paragraph (1), including criteria that ensure that the acceptance of any gifts, bequests, or devises would not—

(A) reflect unfavorably on the ability of the Secretary to carry out the Secretary's responsibilities in a fair and objective manner; or compromise, or appear to compromise, the integrity of any governmental program or any officer or employee involved in the program.

NATIONAL SCHOOL LUNCH ACT

AN ACT To provide assistance to the States in the establishment, maintenance, operation, and expansion of school lunch programs, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That this Act may be cited as the “National School Lunch Act”.

DECLARATION OF POLICY

SEC. 2. It is hereby declared to be the policy of Congress, as a measure of national security, to safeguard the health and well-being of the Nation’s children and to encourage the domestic consumption of nutritious agricultural commodities and other food, by assisting the States, through grants-in-aid and other means, in providing an adequate supply of foods and other facilities for the establishment, maintenance, operation, and expansion of nonprofit school lunch programs.

APPROPRIATIONS AUTHORIZED

SEC. 3. For each fiscal year there is hereby authorized to be appropriated, out of money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, such sums as may be necessary to enable the Secretary of Agriculture (hereinafter referred to as the “Secretary”) to carry out the provisions of this Act, other than sections 13 and 17. Appropriations to carry out the provisions of this Act and of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 for any fiscal year are authorized to be made a year in advance of the beginning of the fiscal year in which the funds will become available for disbursement to the States. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, any funds appropriated to carry out the provisions of such Acts shall remain available for the purposes of the Act for which appropriated until expended.

APPORTIONMENTS TO STATES

SEC. 4. (a) The sums appropriated for any fiscal year pursuant to the authorizations contained in section 3 of this Act shall be available to the Secretary for supplying agricultural commodities and other food for the program in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

(b)(1) The Secretary shall make food assistance payments to each State educational agency each fiscal year, at such times as the Secretary may determine, from the sums appropriated for such purpose, in a total amount equal to the product obtained by multiplying—

(A) the number of lunches (consisting of a combination of foods which meet the minimum nutritional requirements prescribed by the Secretary under section 9(a) of this Act) served during such fiscal year in schools in such State which participate in the school lunch program under this Act; and agreements with such State educational agency; by
(B) the national average lunch payment prescribed in para-

(2) The national average lunch payment for each lunch served shall be 10.5 cents (as adjusted pursuant to section 11(a) of this Act) except that for each lunch served in school food authorities in which 60 percent or more of the lunches served in the school lunch program during the second preceding school year were served free or at a reduced price, the national average lunch payment shall be 2 cents more.

DIRECT FEDERAL EXPENDITURES

Sec. 6. (a) The funds provided by appropriation or transfer from other accounts for any fiscal year for carrying out the provisions of this Act, and for carrying out the provisions of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966, other than section 3 thereof, less

(1) not to exceed 3½ per centum thereof which per centum is hereby made available to the Secretary for the Secretary's administrative expenses under this Act and under the Child Nutrition Act of 1966;

(2) the amount apportioned by the Secretary pursuant to section 4 of this Act and the amount appropriated pursuant to sections 11 and 13 of this Act and sections 4 and 7 of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966; and

(3) not to exceed 1 per centum of the funds provided for carrying out the programs under this Act and the programs under the Child Nutrition Act of 1966, other than section 3, which per centum is hereby made available to the Secretary to supplement the nutritional benefits of these programs through grants to States and other means for nutritional training and education for workers, cooperators, and participants in these programs, for pilot projects and the cash-in-lieu of commodities study required to be carried out under section 18 of this Act, and for necessary surveys and studies of requirements for food service programs in furtherance of the purposes expressed in section 2 of this Act and section 2 of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966, shall be available to the Secretary during such year for direct expenditure by the Secretary for agricultural commodities and other foods to be distributed among the States and schools and service institutions participating in the food service programs under this Act and under the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 in accordance with the needs as determined by the local school and service institution authorities. Except as provided in the next 2 sentences, any school participating in food service programs under this Act may refuse to accept delivery of not more than 20 percent of the total value of agricultural commodities and other foods tendered to it in any school year; and if a school so refuses, that school may receive, in lieu of the refused commodities, other commodities to the extent that other commodities are available to the State during that year.

Any school food authority may refuse some or all of the fresh fruits and vegetables offered to the school food authority in any school year and shall receive, in lieu of the offered fruits and vegetables, other more desirable fresh fruits and vegetables that are at least equal in value to the fresh fruits and vegetables refused by the school food authority. The value of any fresh fruits and vegetables refused by a school under the preceding sentence for a school year shall not be used to determine the 20 percent of the total value of agricultural commodities and other foods tendered to the school food authority in the school year under the second sentence. The provisions of law contained in the proviso of the Act of June 28, 1937, facilitating operations with respect to the purchase and disposition of surplus agricultural commodities under section 32 of the Act approved August 24, 1935, shall, to the extent not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, also be applicable to expenditures of funds by the Secretary under this Act. In making purchases of such agricultural commodities and other foods, the Secretary shall not issue specifications which restrict participation of local producers unless such specifications will result in significant advantages to the food service programs authorized by this Act and the Child Nutrition Act of 1966.

(b) The Secretary shall deliver, to each State participating in the school lunch program under this Act, commodities valued at the total level of assistance authorized under subsection (c) for each school year for the school lunch program in the State, not later than September 30 of the following school year.

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Secretary, until such time as a supplemental appropriation may provide additional funds for the purpose of subsection (b) of this section, shall use funds appropriated by section 32 of the Act of August 24, 1935 (7 U.S.C. 612c) to make any payments to States authorized under such subsection. Any section 32 funds utilized to make such payments shall be reimbursed out of any supplemental appropriation hereafter enacted for the purpose of carrying out subsection (b) of this section and such reimbursement shall be deposited into the fund established pursuant to section 32 of the Act of August 24, 1935, to be available for the purposes of said section 32.

(d) Any funds made available under subsection (b) or (c) of this section shall not be subject to the State matching provisions of section 7 of this Act.

(e)(1)(A) The national average value of donated foods, or cash payments in lieu thereof, shall be 11 cents, adjusted on July 1, 1982, and each July 1 thereafter to reflect changes in the Price Index for Food Used in Schools and Institutions. The Index shall be computed using 5 major food components in the Bureau of Labor Statistics' Producer Price Index (cereal and bakery products, meats, poultry and fish, dairy products, processed fruits and vegetables, and fats and oils). Each component shall be weighed using the same relative weight as determined by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

(B) The value of food assistance for each meal shall be adjusted each July 1 by the annual percentage change in a 3-month average value of the Price Index for Foods Used in Schools and Institutions for March, April, and May each year. Such adjustment shall be computed to the nearest 1⁄4 cent.

(C) For each school year, the total commodity assistance or cash in lieu thereof available to a State for the school lunch program shall be calculated by multiplying the number of lunches served in the preceding school year by the rate established by subparagraph
(B). After the end of each school year, the Secretary shall reconcile the number of lunches served by schools in each State with the number of lunches served by schools in each State during the preceding school year and increase or reduce subsequent commodity assistance or cash in lieu thereof provided to each State based on such reconciliation.

(D) Among those commodities delivered under this section, the Secretary shall give special emphasis to high protein foods, meat, and meat alternates (which may include domestic seafood commodities and their products).

(E) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, not less than 75 percent of the assistance provided under this subsection shall be in the form of donated foods for the school lunch program.

(2) To the maximum extent feasible, each State agency shall offer to each school food authority under its jurisdiction that participates in the school lunch program and receives commodities, agricultural commodities and their products, the per meal value of which is not less than the national average value of donated foods established under paragraph (1). Each such offer shall include the full range of such commodities and products that are available from the Secretary to the extent that quantities requested are sufficient to allow efficient delivery to and within the State.

(f) Beginning with the school year ending June 30, 1981, the Secretary shall not offer commodity assistance based upon the number of breakfasts served to children under section 4 of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966.

(g)(1) Subject to paragraph (2), in each school year the Secretary shall ensure that not less than 12 percent of the assistance provided under section 4, this section, and section 11 shall be in the form of commodity assistance provided under this section, including cash in lieu of commodities and administrative costs for procurement of commodities under this section.

(2) If amounts available to carry out the requirements of the sections described in paragraph (1) are insufficient to meet the requirement contained in paragraph (1) for a school year, the Secretary shall, to the extent necessary, use the authority provided under section 14(a) to meet the requirement for the school year.

PAYMENTS TO STATES

Sec. 7. (a)(1) Funds appropriated to carry out section 4 of this Act during any fiscal year shall be available for payment to the States for disbursement by State educational agencies in accordance with such agreements, not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, as may be entered into by the Secretary and such State educational agency for the purpose of assisting schools within the States in obtaining agricultural commodities and other foods for consumption by children in furtherance of the school lunch program authorized under this Act. For any school year, such payments shall be made to a State only if, during such school year, the amount of the State revenues (excluding State revenues derived from the operation of the program) appropriated or used specifically for program purposes (other than any State revenues expended for salaries and administrative expenses of the program at the State level) is not less than 30 percent of the funds made available to such State under section 4 of this Act for the school year beginning July 1, 1980.

(2) If, for any school year, the per capita income of a State is less than the average per capita income of all the States, the amount required to be expended by a State under paragraph (1) for such year shall be an amount bearing the same ratio to the amount equal to 30 percent of the funds made available to such State under section 4 of this Act for the school year beginning July 1, 1980, as the per capita income of such State bears to the average per capita income of all the States.

(b) The State revenues provided by any State to meet the requirements of subsection (a) shall, to the extent the State deems practicable, be disbursed to schools participating in the school lunch program under this Act. No State in which the State educational agency is prohibited by law from disbursing State appropriated funds to private schools shall be required to match Federal funds made available for meals served in such schools, or to disburse to such schools, any of the State revenues required to meet the requirements of subsection (a).

(c) The Secretary shall certify to the Secretary of the Treasury, from time to time, the amounts to be paid to any State under this section and shall specify when such payments are to be made. The Secretary of the Treasury shall pay to the State, at the time or times fixed by the Secretary, the amounts so certified.

(d) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Secretary may enter into an agreement with a State agency, acting on the request of a school food service authority, under which funds payable to the State under section 4 or 11 may be used by the Secretary for the purpose of purchasing commodities for use by the school food service authority in meals served under the school lunch program under this Act.

STATE DISBURSEMENT TO SCHOOLS

Sec. 8. Funds paid to any State during any fiscal year pursuant to section 4 shall be disbursed by the State educational agency, in accordance with such agreements approved by the Secretary as may be entered into by such State agency and the schools in the State, to those schools in the State which the State educational agency, taking into account need and attendance, determines are eligible to participate in the school lunch program. The agreements described in the preceding sentence shall be permanent agreements that may be amended as necessary. Nothing in the preceding sentence shall be construed to limit the ability of the State educational agency to suspend or terminate any such agreement in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary. Such disbursement to any school shall be made only for the purpose of assisting it to obtain agricultural commodities and other foods for consumption by children in the school lunch program. The terms “child” and “children” as used in this Act shall be deemed to include individuals regardless of age who are determined by the State educational agency, in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary, to have 1 or more mental or physical handicaps and who are attending any child care institution as defined in section 17 of this Act or any nonresidential public or nonprofit private school of high school grade or under for the purpose of participating in a school program established for individuals with mental or physical handicaps: Provided, That no institution that is not otherwise eligible to participate in the program under section 17 of this Act shall be deemed so eligible because of this sentence. Such food costs may include, in addition to the purchase price of agricultural commodities and other foods, the cost of processing, distributing, transporting, storing, or handling thereof. In no event shall such disbursement for food to any school for any fiscal year exceed an amount determined by multiplying the number of lunches served in the school in the school lunch program under this Act during such year by the maximum per meal reimbursement rate for the State, for the type of lunch served, as prescribed by the Secretary. In any fiscal year in which the national average payment per lunch determined under section 4 is increased above the amount prescribed in the previous fiscal year, the maximum per meal reimbursement rate for the type of lunch served, shall be increased by a like amount.
Lunch assistance disbursements to schools under this section and under section 11 of this Act may be made in advance or by way of reimbursement in accordance with procedures prescribed by the Secretary.

NUTRITIONAL AND OTHER PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

Sec. 9. (a)(1)(A) Lunches served by schools participating in the school lunch program under this Act shall meet minimum nutritional requirements prescribed by the Secretary on the basis of tested nutritional research, except that the minimum nutritional requirements—

(i) shall not be construed to prohibit the substitution of foods to accommodate the medical or other special dietary needs of individual students; and

(ii) shall, at a minimum, be based on the weekly average of the nutrient content of school lunches.

(B) The Secretary shall provide technical assistance and training, including technical assistance and training in the preparation of lower-fat versions of foods commonly used in the school lunch program under this Act, to schools participating in the school lunch program to assist the schools in complying with the nutritional requirements prescribed by the Secretary pursuant to subparagraph
(A) and in providing appropriate meals to children with medically certified special dietary needs. The Secretary shall provide additional technical assistance to schools that are having difficulty maintaining compliance with the requirements.

(2)(A) Lunches served by schools participating in the school lunch program under this Act—

(i) shall offer students fluid milk; and

(ii) shall offer students a variety of fluid milk consistent with prior year preferences unless the prior year preference for any such variety of fluid milk is less than 1 percent of the total milk consumed at the school.

(B)(i) The Secretary shall purchase in each calendar year to carry out the school lunch program under this Act, and the school breakfast program under section 4 of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 (42 U.S.C. 1773), lowfat cheese on a bid basis in a quantity that is the milkfat equivalent of the quantity of milkfat the Secretary estimates the Commodity Credit Corporation will purchase each calendar year as a result of the elimination of the requirement that schools offer students fluid whole milk and fluid unflavored lowfat milk, based on data provided by the Director of Office of Management and Budget.

[(ii)] Not later than 30 days after the Secretary provides an estimate required under clause (i), the Director of the Congressional Budget Office shall provide to the appropriate committees of Congress a report on whether the Director concurs with the estimate of the Secretary.

[(iii)] The quantity of lowfat cheese that is purchased under this subparagraph shall be in addition to the quantity of cheese that is historically purchased by the Secretary to carry out school feeding programs. The Secretary shall take such actions as are necessary to ensure that purchases under this subparagraph shall not displace commercial purchases of cheese by schools.

[(3)] The Secretary shall establish, in cooperation with State educational agencies, administrative procedures, which shall include local educational agency and student participation, designed to diminish waste of foods which are served by schools participating in the school lunch program under this Act without endangering the nutritional integrity of the lunches served by such schools.

[(4)] Students in senior high schools that participate in the school lunch program under this Act (and, when approved by the local school district or nonprofit private schools, students in any other grade level) shall not be required to accept offered foods they do not intend to consume, and any such failure to accept offered foods shall not affect the full charge to the student for a lunch meeting the requirements of this subsection or the amount of payments made under this Act to any such school for such lunch.

(b)(1) Not later than June 1 of each fiscal year, the Secretary shall prescribe income guidelines for determining eligibility for free and reduced price lunches during the 12-month period beginning July 1 of such fiscal year and ending June 30 of the following fiscal year. The income guidelines for determining eligibility for free lunches shall be 130 percent of the applicable family size income levels contained in the nonfarm income poverty guidelines prescribed by the Office of Management and Budget, as adjusted annually in accordance with subparagraph (B). The income guidelines for determining eligibility for reduced price lunches for any school year shall be 185 percent of the applicable family size income levels contained in the nonfarm income poverty guidelines prescribed by the Office of Management and Budget, as adjusted annually in accordance with subparagraph (B). The Office of Management and Budget guidelines shall be revised at annual intervals, or at any shorter interval deemed feasible and desirable.

[(B)] The revision required by subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall be made by multiplying—

[(i)] the official poverty line (as defined by the Office of Management and Budget); by [(ii)] the percentage change in the Consumer Price Index during the annual or other interval immediately preceding the time at which the adjustment is made.

Revisions under this subparagraph shall be made not more than 30 days after the date on which the consumer price index data re-hquired to compute the adjustment becomes available.

(2)(A) Following the determination by the Secretary under paragraph (1) of this subsection of the income eligibility guidelines for each school year, each State educational agency shall announce the income eligibility guidelines, by family size, to be used by schools in the State in making determinations of eligibility for free and reduced price lunches. Local school authorities shall, each year, publicly announce the income eligibility guidelines for free and reduced price lunches on or before the opening of school.

(B) Applications for free and reduced price lunches, in such form as the Secretary may prescribe or approve, and any descriptive material, shall be distributed to the parents or guardians of children in attendance at the school, and shall contain only the family size income levels for reduced price meal eligibility with the explanation that households with incomes less than or equal to these values would be eligible for free or reduced price lunches. Such forms and descriptive material may not contain the income eligibility guidelines for free lunches.

(C)(i) Except as provided in clause (ii), each eligibility determination shall be made on the basis of a complete application executed by an adult member of the household. The Secretary, State, or local food authority may verify any data contained in such application. A local school food authority shall undertake such verification of information contained in any such application as the Secretary may by regulation prescribe and, in accordance with such regulations, shall make appropriate changes in the eligibility determination with respect to such application on the basis of such verification.

(ii) Subject to clause (iii), any school food authority may certify any child as eligible for free or reduced price lunches or breakfasts, without further application, by directly communicating with the appropriate State or local agency to obtain documentation of such child's status as a member of—

(I) a household that is receiving food stamps under the Food Stamp Act of 1977; or

(II) a family that is receiving assistance under the program for aid to families with dependent children under part A of title IV of the Social Security Act.

(iii) The use or disclosure of any information obtained from an application for free or reduced price meals, or from a State or local agency referred to in clause (ii), shall be limited to—

(I) a person directly connected with the administration or enforcement of this Act or the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 (42 U.S.C. 1771 et seq.), or a regulation issued pursuant to either Act;

(II) a person directly connected with the administration or enforcement of—

(aa) a Federal education program;

(bb) a State health or education program administered by the State or local educational agency (other than a program carried out under title XIX of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1396 et seq.)); or
(cc) a Federal, State, or local means-tested nutrition program with eligibility standards comparable to the program under this section; and

((III)(aa) the Comptroller General of the United States for audit and examination authorized by any other provision of law; and ((bb) notwithstanding any other provision of law, a Federal, State, or local law enforcement official for the purpose of investigating an alleged violation of any program covered by paragraph (1) or this paragraph.

(iv) Information provided under clause (iii)(II) shall be limited to the income eligibility status of the child for whom application for free or reduced price meal benefits was made or for whom eligibility information was provided under clause (ii), unless the consent of the parent or guardian of the child for whom application for benefits was made is obtained.

(v) A person described in clause (iii) who publishes, divulges, discloses, or makes known in any manner, or to any extent not authorized by Federal law (including a regulation), any information obtained under this subsection shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than 1 year, or both.

(3) Any child who is a member of a household whose income, at the time the application is submitted, is at an annual rate which does not exceed the applicable family size income level of the income eligibility guidelines for free lunches, as determined under paragraph (1), shall be served a free lunch. Any child who is a member of a household whose income, at the time the application is submitted, is at an annual rate greater than the applicable family size income level of the income eligibility guidelines for free lunches, as determined under paragraph (1), but less than or equal to the applicable family size income level of the income eligibility guidelines for reduced price lunches, as determined under paragraph (1), shall be served a reduced price lunch. The price charged for a reduced price lunch shall not exceed 40 cents.

(4) No physical segregation of or other discrimination against any child eligible for a free lunch or a reduced price lunch under this subsection shall be made by the school nor shall there be any overt identification of any child by special tokens or tickets, announced or published list of names, or by other means.

(5) Any child who has a parent or guardian who (A) is responsible for the principal support of such child and (B) is unemployed shall be served a free or reduced price lunch, respectively, during any period (i) in which such child's parent or guardian continues to be unemployed and (ii) the income of the child's parents or guardians during such period of unemployment falls within the income eligibility criteria for free lunches or reduced price lunches, respectively, based on the current rate of income of such parents or guardians. Local school authorities shall publicly announce that such children are eligible for free or reduced price lunch, and shall make determinations with respect to the status of any parent or guardian of any child under clauses (A) and (B) of the preceding sentence on the basis of a statement executed in such form as the Secretary may prescribe by such parent or guardian. No physical segregation of, or other discrimination against, any child eligible for a free or reduced price lunch under this paragraph shall be made by the school nor shall there be any overt identification of any such child by special tokens or tickets, announced or published lists of names, or by any other means.

(6)(A) A child shall be considered automatically eligible for a free lunch and breakfast under this Act and the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 (42 U.S.C. 1771 et seq.), respectively, without further application or eligibility determination, if the child is a member of—

(i) a household receiving assistance under the food stamp program authorized under the Food Stamp Act of 1977 (7 U.S.C. 2011 et seq.), or

(ii) an AFDC assistance unit (under the aid to families with dependent children program authorized under part A of title IV of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 601 et seq.)), in a State where the standard of eligibility for the assistance does not exceed 130 percent of the poverty line (as defined in section 673(2) of the Community Services Block Grant Act (42 U.S.C. 9902(2))).

(iii) enrolled as a participant in a Head Start program authorized under the Head Start Act (42 U.S.C. 9831 et seq.), on the basis of a determination that the child is a member of a family that meets the low-income criteria prescribed under section 645(a)(1)(A) of the Head Start Act (42 U.S.C. 9840(a)(1)(A)).

(B) Proof of receipt of food stamps or aid to families with dependent children, or of enrollment or participation in a Head Start program on the basis described in subparagraph (A)(iii), shall be sufficient to satisfy any verification requirement imposed under paragraph (2)(C).

(c) School lunch programs under this Act shall be operated on a nonprofit basis. Each school shall, insofar as practicable, utilize in its lunch program commodities designated from time to time by the Secretary as being in abundance, either nationally or in the school area, or commodities donated by the Secretary. Commodities purchased under the authority of section 32 of the Act of August 24, 1935, may be donated by the Secretary to schools, in accordance with the needs as determined by local school authorities, for utilization in the school lunch program under this Act as well as to other schools carrying out nonprofit school lunch programs and institutions authorized to receive such commodities. The Secretary is authorized to prescribe terms and conditions respecting the use of commodities donated under such section 32, under section 416 of the Agricultural Act of 1949 and under section 709 of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965 as will maximize the nutritional and financial contributions of such donated commodities in such schools and institutions. The requirements of this section relating to the service of meals without cost or at a reduced cost shall apply to the lunch program of any school utilizing commodities donated under any of the provisions of law referred to in the preceding sentence. None of the requirements of this section in respect to the amount, for “reduced cost” meals and to eligibility for meals without cost shall apply to schools (as defined in section 12(d)(6) of this Act which are private and nonprofit as defined in the last sentence of section...
(d)(6) of this Act) which participate in the school lunch program under this Act until such time as the State educational agency, or in the case of such schools which participate under the provisions of section 10 of this Act the Secretary certifies that sufficient funds from sources other than children's payments are available to enable such schools to meet these requirements.

(d)(1) The Secretary shall require as a condition of eligibility for receipt of free or reduced price lunches that the member of the household who executes the application furnish the social security account number of the parent or guardian who is the primary wage earner responsible for the care of the child for whom the application is made, or that of another appropriate adult member of the child's household, as determined by the Secretary. The Secretary shall require that social security account numbers of all adult members of the household be provided if verification of the data contained in the application is sought under subsection (b)(2)(C).

(d)(2) No member of a household may be provided a free or reduced price lunch under this Act unless—

(A) appropriate documentation relating to the income of such household (as prescribed by the Secretary) has been provided to the appropriate local school food authority so that such authority may calculate the total income of such household;

(B) documentation showing that the household is participating in the food stamp program under the Food Stamp Act of 1977 has been provided to the appropriate local school food authority; or

(C) documentation has been provided to the appropriate local school food authority showing that the family is receiving assistance under the program for aid to families with dependent children under part A of title IV of the Social Security Act.

(e) A school or school food authority participating in a program under this Act may not contract with a food service company to provide a la carte food service unless the company agrees to offer free, reduced price, and full-price reimbursable meals to all eligible children.

(f)(1) Not later than the first day of the 1996-97 school year, the Secretary, State educational agencies, schools, and school food service authorities shall, to the maximum extent practicable, inform students who participate in the school lunch and school breakfast programs, and parents and guardians of the students, of—

(A) the nutritional content of the lunches and breakfasts that are served under the programs; and

(B) the consistency of the lunches and breakfasts with the guidelines contained in the most recent 'Dietary Guidelines for Americans' that is published under section 301 of the National Nutrition Monitoring and Related Research Act of 1990 (7 U.S.C. 5341) (referred to in this subsection as the 'Guidelines'), including the consistency of the lunches and breakfasts with the guideline for fat content.

(f)(2)(A) Except as provided in subparagraph (B), not later than the first day of the 1996-97 school year, schools that are participating in the school lunch or school breakfast program shall serve lunches and breakfasts under the programs that are consistent with the Guidelines (as measured in accordance with subsection (a)(1)(A)(ii) and section 4(e)(1)).

(B) State educational agencies may grant waivers from the requirements of subparagraph (A) subject to criteria established by the appropriate State educational agency. The waivers shall not permit schools to implement the requirements later than July 1, 1998, or a later date determined by the Secretary.

(C) To assist schools in meeting the requirements of this paragraph, the Secretary—

(i) shall—

(I) develop, and provide to schools, standardized recipes, menu cycles, and food product specification and preparation techniques; and

(II) provide to schools information regarding nutrient standard menu planning, assisted nutrient standard menu planning, and food-based menu systems; and

(ii) may provide to schools information regarding other approaches, as determined by the Secretary.

(D) Schools may use any of the approaches described in subparagraph (C) to meet the requirements of this paragraph. In the case of schools that elect to use food-based menu systems to meet the requirements of this paragraph, the Secretary may not require the schools to conduct or use nutrient analysis.

(g) Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this subsection, the Secretary shall provide a notification to Congress that justifies the need for production records required under section 210.10(b) of title 7, Code of Federal Regulations, and describes how the Secretary has reduced paperwork relating to the school lunch and school breakfast programs.

(h) In carrying out this Act and the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 (42 U.S.C. 1771 et seq.), a State educational agency may use resources provided through the nutrition education and training program authorized under section 19 of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 (42 U.S.C. 1788) for training aimed at improving the quality and acceptance of school meals.

[DISBURSEMENT TO SCHOOLS BY THE SECRETARY]

Sec. 10. (a) The Secretary shall withhold funds payable to a State under this Act and disburse the funds directly to schools, institutions, or service institutions within the State for the purposes authorized by this Act to the extent that the Secretary has so withheld and disbursed such funds continuously since October 1, 1980, but only to such extent (except as otherwise required by subsection (b)). Any funds so withheld and disbursed by the Secretary shall be used for the same purposes, and shall be subject to the same conditions, as applicable to a State discharging funds made available under this Act. If the Secretary is administering (in whole or in part) any program authorized under this Act, the State in which the Secretary is administering the program may, upon request to the Secretary, assume administration of that program.

(b) If a State educational agency is not permitted by law to disburse the funds paid to it under this Act to any of the nonpublic schools in the State, the Secretary shall disburse the funds directly to such schools within the State for the same purposes and subject to the same conditions as are authorized or required with respect to the disbursements to public schools within the State by the State educational agency.

SPECIAL ASSISTANCE

Sec. 11. (a)(1)(A) Except as provided in section 10 of this Act, in each fiscal year each State educational agency shall receive special assistance payments in an amount equal to the sum of the product obtained by multiplying the number of lunches (consisting of a combination of foods which meet the minimum nutritional requirements prescribed by the Secretary pursuant to subsection 9(a) of this Act) served free to children eligible for such lunches in schools within that State during such fiscal year by the special assistance factor for free lunches prescribed by the Secretary for such fiscal year and the product obtained by multiplying the number of lunches served at a reduced price to children eligible for such reduced price lunches in schools within that State during such fiscal year by the special assistance factor for reduced price lunches prescribed by the Secretary for such fiscal year.

B. Except as provided in subparagraph (C), (D), or (E), in the case of any school which determines that at least 80 percent of the children in attendance during a school year (hereinafter in this sentence referred to as the "first school year") are eligible for free lunches or reduced price lunches, special assistance payments shall be paid to the State educational agency with respect to that school, if that school so requests for the school year following the first school year, on the basis of the number of free lunches or reduced priced lunches, as the case may be, that are served by that school during the school year for which the request is made, to those children who were determined to be so eligible in the first school year and the number of free lunches and reduced price lunches served during that year to other children determined for that year to be eligible for such lunches.

(C)(i) Except as provided in subparagraph (D), (E), or (E), in the case of any school that—

- elects to serve all children in the school free lunches under the school lunch program during any period of 3 successive school years, or in the case of a school that serves both lunches and breakfasts, elects to serve all children in the school free lunches and free breakfasts under the school lunch program and the school breakfast program established under section 4 of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 (42 U.S.C. 1773) during any period of 3 successive school years; and

- pays, from sources other than Federal funds, for the costs of serving the lunches or breakfasts that are in excess of the value of assistance received under this Act and the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 (42 U.S.C. 1771 et seq.) with respect to the number of lunches or breakfasts served during the period; special assistance payments shall be paid to the State educational agency with respect to the school during the period on the basis of the number of lunches or breakfasts determined under clause (ii) or (iii).

(ii) For purposes of making special assistance payments under clause (i), except as provided in clause (iii), the number of lunches or breakfasts served by a school to children who are eligible for free lunches or breakfasts or reduced price lunches or breakfasts during each school year of the 3-school-year period shall be considered to be equal to the number of lunches or breakfasts served by the school to children eligible for free lunches or breakfasts or reduced price lunches or breakfasts during the first school year of the period.

(iii) For purposes of computing the amount of the payments, a school may elect to determine on a more frequent basis the number of children who are eligible for free or reduced price lunches or breakfasts who are served lunches or breakfasts during the 3-school-year period.

(D)(i) In the case of any school that, on the date of enactment of this subparagraph, is receiving special assistance payments under this paragraph for a 3-school-year period described in subparagraph (C), the State may grant, at the end of the 3-school-year period, an extension of the period for an additional 2 school years, if the State determines, through available socioeconomic data approved by the Secretary, that the income level of the population of the school has remained stable.

(ii) A school described in clause (i) may reapply to the State at the end of the 2-school-year period described in clause (i) for the purpose of continuing to receive special assistance payments, as determined in accordance with this paragraph, for a subsequent 5-school-year period. The school may reapply to the State at the end of the 5-school-year period, and at the end of each 5-school-year period thereafter for which the school receives special assistance payments under this paragraph, for the purpose of continuing to receive the payments for a subsequent 5-school-year period.

(iii) If the Secretary determines after considering the best available socioeconomic data that the income level of families of children enrolled in a school has not remained stable, the Secretary may require the submission of applications for free and reduced price lunches, or for free and reduced price lunches and breakfasts, in the first school year of any 5-school-year period for which the school receives special assistance payments under this paragraph, for the purpose of calculating the special assistance payments.

(iv) For the purpose of updating information and reimbursement levels, a school described in clause (i) that carries out a school lunch or school breakfast program may at any time require submission of applications for free and reduced price lunches or for free and reduced price lunches and breakfasts.

(E)(i) In the case of any school that—

(I) elects to serve all children in the school free lunches under the school lunch program during any period of 4 successive school years, or in the case of a school that serves both lunches and breakfasts, elects to serve all children in the school free lunches and free breakfasts under the school lunch program and the school breakfast program during any period of 4 successive school years; and

(II) pays, from sources other than Federal funds, for the costs of serving the lunches or breakfasts that are in excess of the value of assistance received under this Act and the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 (42 U.S.C. 1771 et seq.) with respect to the number of lunches or breakfasts served during the period; total Federal cash reimbursements and total commodity assistance shall be provided to the State educational agency with respect to the school at a level that is equal to the total Federal cash reimbursements and total commodity assistance received by the school in the last school year for which the school accepted applications under the school lunch or school breakfast program, adjusted annually for inflation in accordance with paragraph (3)(B) and for changes in enrollment, to carry out the school lunch or school breakfast program.

(ii) A school described in clause (i) may reapply to the State at the end of the 4-school-year period described in clause (i), and at the end of each 4-school-year period thereafter for which the school receives reimbursements and assistance under this subparagraph, for the purpose of continuing to receive the reimbursements and assistance for a subsequent 4-school-year period. The State may approve an application under this clause if the State determines, through available socioeconomic data approved by the Secretary, that the income level of the population of the school has remained consistent with the income level of the population of the school in the last school year for which the school accepted the applications described in clause (i).

(iii) Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this subparagraph, the Secretary shall evaluate the effects of this sub-paragraph and notify the Committee on Education and Labor of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry of the Senate of the results of the evaluation.

(2) The special assistance factor prescribed by the Secretary for free lunches shall be 98.75 cents and the special assistance factor for reduced price lunches shall be 40 cents less than the special assistance factor for free lunches.

(3)(A) The Secretary shall prescribe on July 1, 1982, and on each subsequent July 1, an annual adjustment in the following:

(i) The national average payment rates for lunches (as established under section 4 of this Act).

(ii) the special assistance factor for lunches (as established under paragraph (2) of this subsection).

(iii) The national average payment rates for breakfasts (as established under section 4(b) of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966).

(iv) The national average payment rates for supplements
(as established under section 17(c) of this Act).

(B) The annual adjustment under this paragraph shall reflect changes in the cost of operating meal programs under this Act and the Child Nutrition Act of 1966, as indicated by the change in the series for food away from home of the Consumer Price Index for all Urban Consumers, published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor. Each annual adjustment shall reflect the changes in the series for food away from home for the most recent 12-month period for which such data are available. The adjustments made under this paragraph shall be computed to the nearest one-fourth cent.
(b) Except as provided in section 10 of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966, the special assistance payments made to each State agency during each fiscal year under the provisions of this section shall be used by such State agency to assist schools of that State in providing free and reduced price lunches served to children pursuant to subsection 9(b) of this Act. The amount of such special assistance funds that a school shall from time to time receive, within a maximum per lunch amount established by the Secretary for all States, shall be based on the need of the school for such special assistance. Such maximum per lunch amount established by the Secretary shall not be less than 60 cents.

(c) Special assistance payments to any State under this section shall be made as provided in the last sentence of section 7 of this Act.

(d) In carrying out this section, the terms and conditions governing the operation of the school lunch program set forth in other sections of this Act, including those applicable to funds apportioned or paid pursuant to section 4 but excluding the provisions of section 7 relating to matching, shall be applicable to the extent they are not inconsistent with the express requirements of this section.

(e)(1) The Secretary, when appropriate, may request each school participating in the school lunch program under this Act to report monthly to the State educational agency the average number of children in the school who received free lunches and the average number of children who received reduced price lunches during the immediately preceding month.

(2) The State educational agency of each State shall report to the Secretary each month the average number of children in the State who received free lunches and the average number of children in the State who received reduced price lunches during the immediately preceding month.

(f) Commodity only schools shall also be eligible for special assistance payments under this section. Such schools shall serve meals free to children who meet the eligibility requirements for free meals under section 9(b) of this Act, and shall serve meals at a reduced price, not exceeding the price specified in section 9(b)(3) of this Act, to children meeting the eligibility requirements for reduced price meals under such section. No physical segregation of, or other discrimination against, any child eligible for a free or reduced priced lunch shall be made by the school, nor shall there by any overt identification of any such child by any means.

[MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS AND DEFINITIONS]

Sec. 12. (a) States, State educational agencies, and schools participating in the school lunch program under this Act shall keep such accounts and records as may be necessary to enable the Secretary to determine whether the provisions of this Act are being complied with. Such accounts and records shall at all times be available for inspection and audit by representatives of the Secretary and shall be preserved for such period of time, not in excess of five years, as the Secretary determines is necessary.

(b) The Secretary shall incorporate, in the Secretary's agreements with the State educational agencies, the express requirements under this Act with respect to the operation of the school ably necessary or appropriate to effectuate the purpose of this Act.

(c) In carrying out the provisions of this Act, neither the Secretary nor the State shall impose any requirement with respect to teaching personnel, curriculum, instruction, methods of instruction, and materials of instruction in any school.

For the purposes of this paragraph (i) the average annual per capita income for any State and for all the States shall be determined by the Secretary on the basis of the average annual per capita income for each State and for all the States for the three most recent years for which such data are available and certified to the Secretary by the Department of Commerce; and (ii) the average annual per capita income for American Samoa shall be disregarded in determining the average annual per capita income for all the States for periods end-

(g) Whoever embezzles, willfully misapplies, steals, or obtains by fraud any funds, assets, or property that are the subject of a grant or other form of assistance under this Act or the Child Nutrition Act of 1966, whether received directly or indirectly from the United States Department of Agriculture, or whoever receives, conceals, or retains such funds, assets, or property to personal use or gain, knowing such funds, assets, or property have been embezzled, willfully misapplied, stolen, or obtained by fraud shall, if such funds, assets, or property are of the value of $100 or more, be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned not more than five years, or both, or, if such funds, assets, or property are of a value of less than $100, shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned for not more than one year, or both.

(B) the final program operations report for the month is submitted to the Secretary not later than 90 days after the last day of the month.

(2) The Secretary may waive the requirements of paragraph (1) at the discretion of the Secretary.

(B) The notice and information referred to in subparagraph (A)(ii) shall be provided in the same manner in which the State or eligible service provider customarily provides similar notices and information to the public.

(C) The result of the decision of the Secretary shall be disseminated by the State or eligible service provider through normal means of communication.

(D)(i) Except as provided in clause (ii), a waiver granted by the Secretary under this subsection shall be for a period not to exceed 3 years.

(ii) The Secretary may extend the period if the Secretary determines that the waiver has been effective in enabling the State or eligible service provider to carry out the purposes of the program.

(5) The Secretary shall periodically review the performance of any State or eligible service provider for which the Secretary has granted a waiver under this subsection and shall terminate the waiver if the performance of the State or service provider has been inadequate to justify a continuation of the waiver. The Secretary shall terminate the waiver if, after periodic review, the Secretary determines that the waiver has resulted in an increase in the overall cost of the program to the Federal Government and the increase has not been paid for in accordance with paragraph (1)(A)(iii).

(6)(A)(i) An eligible service provider that receives a waiver under this subsection shall annually submit to the State a report that—

Sec. 13. (a)(1) The Secretary is authorized to carry out a program to assist States, through grants-in-aid and other means, to initiate, maintain, and expand nonprofit food service programs for children in service institutions. For purposes of this section, (A) “program” means the summer food service program for children authorized by this section; (B) “service institutions” means public or private nonprofit school food authorities, local, municipal, or county governments, public or private nonprofit higher education institutions participating in the National Youth Sports Program, and residential public or private nonprofit summer camps, that develop special summer or school vacation programs providing food service similar to that made available to children during the school year under the school lunch program under this Act or the school breakfast program under the Child Nutrition Act of 1966; (C) “areas in which poor economic conditions exist” means areas in which at least 50 percent of the children are eligible for free or reduced price school meals under this Act and the Child Nutrition Act of 1966, as determined by information provided from departments of welfare, zoning commissions, census tracts, by the number of free and reduced price lunches or breakfasts served to children attending public and nonprofit private schools located in the area of program food service sites, or from other appropriate sources, including statements of eligibility based upon income for children enrolled in the program; (D) “children” means individuals who are eighteen years of age and under, and individuals who are older than eighteen who are (i) determined by a State educational agency or a local public educational agency of a State, in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary, to be mentally or physically handicapped, and (ii) participating in a public or nonprofit private school program established for the mentally or physically handicapped; and (E) “State” means any of the fifty States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands of the United States, Guam, American Samoa, the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands, and the Northern Mariana Islands.

(2) To the maximum extent feasible, consistent with the purposes of this section, any food service under the program shall use meals prepared at the facilities of the service institution or at the food service facilities of public and nonprofit private schools. The Secretary shall assist States in the development of information and technical assistance to encourage increased service of meals prepared at the facilities of service institutions and at public and nonprofit private schools.

(3) Eligible service institutions entitled to participate in the program shall be limited to those that—

(A) demonstrate adequate administrative and financial responsibility to manage an effective food service;

(B) have not been seriously deficient in operating under the program;
(C)(i) conduct a regularly scheduled food service for children from areas in which poor economic conditions exist;
(ii) conduct a regularly scheduled food service primarily for homeless children; or
(iii) qualify as camps; and
(D) provide an ongoing year-round service to the community to be served under the program (except that an otherwise eligible service institution shall not be disqualified for failure to meet this requirement for ongoing year-round service if the State determines that its disqualification would result in an area in which poor economic conditions exist not being served or in a significant number of needy children not having reasonable access to a summer food service program).
(4) The following order of priority shall be used by the State in determining participation where more than one eligible service institution proposes to serve the same area:
(A) Local schools.
(B) All other service institutions and private nonprofit organizations eligible under paragraph (7) that have demonstrated successful program performance in a prior year.
(C) New public institutions.
(D) New private nonprofit organizations eligible under paragraph (7).
The Secretary and the States, in carrying out their respective functions under this section, shall actively seek eligible service institutions located in rural areas, for the purpose of assisting such service institutions in applying to participate in the program.
(5) Camps that satisfy all other eligibility requirements of this section shall receive reimbursement only for meals served to children who meet the eligibility requirements for free or reduced price meals, as determined under this Act and the Child Nutrition Act of 1966.
(6) Service institutions that are local, municipal, or county governments shall be eligible for reimbursement for meals served in programs under this section only if such programs are operated directly by such governments.
(7)(A) Except as provided in subparagraph (C), private nonprofit organizations, as defined in subparagraph (B) (other than organizations eligible under paragraph (1)), shall be eligible for the program under the same terms and conditions as other service institutions.
(B) As used in this paragraph, the term “private nonprofit organizations” means those organizations that—
(i) serve a total of not more than 2,500 children per day at not more than 5 sites in any urban area, with not more than 300 children being served at any 1 site (or, with a waiver granted by the State under standards developed by the Secretary, not more than 500 children being served at any 1 site);
or
(ii) serve a total of not more than 2,500 children per day at not more than 20 sites in any rural area, with not more than 300 children being served at any 1 site (or, with a waiver granted by the State under standards developed by the Secretary, not more than 500 children being served at any 1 site);
(ii) use self-preparation facilities to prepare meals, or obtain meals from a public facility (such as a school district, public hospital, or State university) or a school participating in the school lunch program under this Act;

(iii) operate in areas where a school food authority or the local, municipal, or county government has not indicated by March 1 of any year that such authority or unit of local government will operate a program under this section in such year;

(iv) exercise full control and authority over the operation of the program at all sites under their sponsorship;

(v) provide ongoing year-around activities for children or families;

(vi) demonstrate that such organizations have adequate management and the fiscal capacity to operate a program under this section; and

(vii) meet applicable State and local health, safety, and sanitation standards.

(b)(1) Payments to service institutions shall equal the full cost of food service operations (which cost shall include the cost of obtaining, preparing, and serving food, but shall not include administrative costs), except that such payments to any institution shall not exceed (1) 85.75 cents for each lunch and supper served; (2) 47.75 cents for each breakfast served; or (3) 22.50 cents for each meal supplement served: Provided, That such amounts shall be adjusted each January 1 to the nearest one-fourth cent in accordance with the changes for the twelve-month period ending the preceding November 30 in the series for food away from home of the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor: Provided further, That the Secretary may make such adjustments in the maximum reimbursement levels as the Secretary determines appropriate after making the study prescribed in paragraph (4) of this subsection.

(2) Any service institution may only serve lunch and either breakfast or a meal supplement during each day of operation, except that any service institution that is a camp or that serves meals primarily to migrant children may serve up to four meals during each day of operation, if (A) the service institution has the administrative capability and the food preparation and food holding capabilities (where applicable) to serve more than one meal per day, and (B) the service period of different meals does not coincide or overlap. The meals that camps and migrant programs may serve shall include a breakfast, a lunch, a supper, and meal supplements.

(3) Every service institution, when applying for participation in the program, shall submit a complete budget for administrative costs related to the program, which shall be subject to approval by the State. Payment to service institutions for administrative costs shall equal the full amount of State approved administrative costs incurred, except that such payment to service institutions may not exceed the maximum allowable levels determined by the Secretary pursuant to the study prescribed in paragraph (4) of this subsection.
(4)(A) The Secretary shall conduct a study of the food service operations carried out under the program. Such study shall include, but shall not be limited to—

(i) an evaluation of meal quality as related to costs; and

(ii) a determination whether adjustments in the maximum reimbursement levels for food service operation costs prescribed in paragraph (1) of this subsection should be made, including whether different reimbursement levels should be established for self-prepared meals and vendored meals and which site-related costs, if any, should be considered as part of administrative costs.

(B) The Secretary shall also study the administrative costs of service institutions participating in the program and shall thereafter prescribe maximum allowable levels for administrative payments that reflect the costs of such service institutions, taking into account the number of sites and children served, and such other factors as the Secretary determines appropriate to further the goals of efficient and effective administration of the program.

(C) The Secretary shall report the results of such studies to Congress not later than December 1, 1977.

(c)(1) Payments shall be made to service institutions only for meals served during the months of May through September, except in the case of service institutions that operate food service programs for children on school vacation at any time under a continuous school calendar or that provide meal service at non-school sites to children who are not in school for a period during the months of October through April due to a natural disaster, building repair, court order, or similar cause.

(2)(A) Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, any higher education institution that receives reimbursements under the program for meals and meal supplements served to low-income children under the National Youth Sports Program is eligible to receive reimbursements for not more than 2 meals or 1 meal and 1 meal supplement per day for not more than 30 days for each child participating in a National Youth Sports Program operated by such institution during the months other than May through September. The program under this paragraph shall be administered within the State by the same State agency that administers the program during the months of May through September.

(B) Children participating in National Youth Sports Programs operated by higher education institutions, and such higher education institutions, shall be eligible to participate in the program under this paragraph without application.

(C) Higher education institutions shall be reimbursed for meals and meal supplements served under this paragraph—

(i) in the case of lunches and suppers, at the same rates as the payment rates established for free lunches under section 11; and

(ii) in the case of breakfasts or meal supplements, at the same rates as the severe need payment rates established for free breakfasts under section 4 of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966.
(D)(i) Meals for which a higher education institution is reimbursed under this paragraph shall fulfill the minimum nutritional requirements and meal patterns prescribed by the Secretary—

(I) for meals served under the school lunch program under this Act, in the case of reimbursement for lunches or suppers; and

(II) for meals served under the school breakfast program under section 4 of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966, in the case of reimbursement for breakfasts.

(ii) The Secretary may modify the minimum nutritional requirements and meal patterns prescribed by the Secretary for meals served under the school breakfast program under section 4 of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 for application to meal supplements for which a higher education institution is reimbursed under this paragraph.

(E) The Secretary shall issue regulations governing the implementation, operation, and monitoring of programs receiving assistance under this paragraph that, to the maximum extent practicable, are comparable to those established for higher education institutions participating in the National Youth Sports Program and receiving reimbursements under the program for the months of May through September.

(d) Not later than April 15, May 15, and July 1 of each year, the Secretary shall forward to each State a letter of credit (advance program payment) that shall be available to each State for the payment of meals to be served in the month for which the letter of credit is issued. The amount of the advance program payment shall be an amount which the State demonstrates, to the satisfaction of the Secretary, to be necessary for advance program payments to service institutions in accordance with subsection (e) of this section. The Secretary shall also forward such advance program payments, by the first day of the month prior to the month in which the program will be conducted, to States that operate the program in months other than May through September. The Secretary shall forward any remaining payments due pursuant to subsection (b) of this section not later than sixty days following receipt of valid claims therefor.

(e)(1) Not later than June 1, July 15, and August 15 of each year, or, in the case of service institutions that operate under a continuous school calendar, the first day of each month of operation, the State shall forward advance program payments to each service institution: Provided, That (A) the State shall not release the second month's advance program payment to any service institution that has not certified that it has held training sessions for its own personnel and the site personnel with regard to program duties and responsibilities, and (B) no advance program payment may be made for any month in which the service institution will operate under the program for less than ten days.

(2) The amount of the advance program payment for any month in the case of any service institution shall be an amount equal to (A) the total program payment for meals served by such service institution in the same calendar month of the preceding calendar year, (B) 50 percent of the amount established by the State to be needed by such service institution for meals if such service institution contracts with a food service management company, or (C) 65 percent of the amount established by the State to be needed by such service institution for meals if such service institution prepares its own meals, whichever amount is greatest: Provided, That the advance program payment may not exceed the total amount estimated by the State to be needed by such service institution for meals to be served in the month for which such advance program payment is made or $40,000, whichever is less, except that a State may make a larger advance program payment to such service institution where the State determines that such larger payment is necessary for the operation of the program by such service institution and sufficient administrative and management capability to justify a larger payment is demonstrated. The State shall forward any remaining payment due a service institution not later than seventy-five days following receipt of valid claims. If the State has reason to believe that a service institution will not be able to submit a valid claim for reimbursement covering the period for which an advance program payment has been made, the subsequent month’s advance program payment shall be withheld until such time as the State has received a valid claim. Program payments advanced to service institutions that are not subsequently deducted from a valid claim for reimbursement shall be repaid upon demand by the State. Any prior payment that is under dispute may be subtracted from an advance program payment.

(f) Service institutions receiving funds under this section shall serve meals consisting of a combination of foods and meeting minimum nutritional standards prescribed by the Secretary on the basis of tested nutritional research. The Secretary shall provide technical assistance to service institutions and private nonprofit organizations participating in the program to assist the institutions and organizations in complying with the nutritional requirements prescribed by the Secretary pursuant to this subsection. The Secretary shall provide additional technical assistance to those service institutions and private nonprofit organizations that are having difficulty maintaining compliance with the requirements. Meals described in the first sentence shall be served without cost to children attending service institutions approved for operation under this section, except that, in the case of camps, charges may be made for meals served to children other than those who meet the eligibility requirements for free or reduced price meals in accordance with subsection (a)(5) of this section. To assure meal quality, States shall, with the assistance of the Secretary, prescribe model meal specifications and model food quality standards, and ensure that all service institutions contracting for the preparation of meals with food service management companies include in their contracts menu cycles, local food safety standards, and food quality standards approved by the State. Such contracts shall require (A) periodic inspections, by an independent agency or the local health department for the locality in which the meals are served, of meals prepared in accordance with the contract in order to determine bacteria levels present in such meals, and (B) that bacteria levels conform to the standards which are applied by the local health authority for that locality with respect to the levels of bacteria that may be present in meals served by other establishments in that locality.
Such inspections and any testing resulting therefrom shall be in accordance with the practices employed by such local health authority.

(g) The Secretary shall publish proposed regulations relating to the implementation of the program by November 1 of each fiscal year, final regulations by January 1 of each fiscal year, and guidelines, applications and handbooks by February 1 of each fiscal year. In order to improve program planning, the Secretary may provide that service institutions be paid as startup costs not to exceed 20 percent of the administrative funds provided for in the administrative budget approved by the State under subsection (b)(3) of this section. Any payments made for startup costs shall be subtracted from amounts otherwise payable for administrative costs subsequently made to service institutions under subsection (b)(3) of this section.

(h) Each service institution shall, insofar as practicable, use in its food service under the program foods designated from time to time by the Secretary as being in abundance. The Secretary is authorized to donate to States, for distribution to service institutions, food available under section 416 of the Agricultural Act of 1949, or purchased under section 32 of the Act of August 24, 1935 or section 709 of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965. Donated foods may be distributed only to service institutions that can use commodities efficiently and effectively, as determined by the Secretary.

(j) Expenditures of funds from State and local sources for the maintenance of food programs for children shall not be diminished as a result of funds received under this section.

(k)(1) The Secretary shall pay to each State for its administrative costs incurred under this section in any fiscal year an amount equal to (A) 20 percent of the first $50,000 in funds distributed to that State for the program in the preceding fiscal year; (B) 10 percent of the next $100,000 distributed to that State for the program in the preceding fiscal year; (C) 5 percent of the next $250,000 in funds distributed to that State for the program in the preceding fiscal year, and (D) 2 1/2 percent of any remaining funds distributed to that State for the program in the preceding fiscal year: Provided, That such amounts may be adjusted by the Secretary to reflect changes in the size of that State's program since the preceding fiscal year.

(2) The Secretary shall establish standards and effective dates for the proper, efficient, and effective administration of the program by the State. If the Secretary finds that the State has failed without good cause to meet any of the Secretary's standards or has failed without good cause to carry out the approved State management and administration plan under subsection (n) of this section, the Secretary may withhold from the State such funds authorized under this subsection as the Secretary determines to be appropriate.

(3) To provide for adequate nutritional and food quality monitoring, and to further the implementation of the program, an additional amount, not to exceed the lesser of actual costs or 1 percent of program funds, shall be made available by the Secretary to States to pay for State or local health department inspections, and to reinspect facilities and deliveries to test meal quality.
(1) Service institutions (other than private nonprofit organizations eligible under subsection (a)(7)) may contract on a competitive basis only with food service management companies registered with the State in which they operate for the furnishing of meals or management of the entire food service under the program, except that a food service management company entering into a contract with a service institution under this section may not subcontract with a single company for the total meal, with or without milk, or for the assembly of the meal. The Secretary shall prescribe additional conditions and limitations governing assignment of all or any part of a contract entered into by a food service management company under this section. Any food service management company shall, in its bid, provide the service institution information as to its meal capacity. The State shall, upon award of any bid, review the company's registration to calculate how many remaining meals the food service management company is equipped to prepare.

(2) Each State shall provide for the registration of food service management companies. For the purposes of this section, registration shall include, at a minimum—

(A) certification that the company meets applicable State and local health, safety, and sanitation standards;

(B) disclosure of past and present company owners, officers, and directors, and their relationship, if any, to any service institution or food service management company that received program funds in any prior fiscal year;

(C) records of contract terminations or disallowances, and health, safety, and sanitary code violations, in regard to program operations in prior fiscal year; and

(D) the addresses of the company's food preparation and distribution sites.

No food service management company may be registered if the State determines that such company (i) lacks the administrative and financial capability to perform under the program, or (ii) has been seriously deficient in its participation in the program in prior fiscal years.

(3) In order to ensure that only qualified food service management companies contract for services in all States, the Secretary shall maintain a record of all registered food service management companies that have been seriously deficient in their participation in the program and may maintain a record of other registered food service management companies, for the purpose of making such information available to the States.

(4) In accordance with regulations issued by the Secretary, positive efforts shall be made by service institutions to use small businesses and minority-owned businesses as sources of supplies and services. Such efforts shall afford those sources the maximum feasible opportunity to compete for contracts using program funds.

(5) Each State, with the assistance of the Secretary, shall establish a standard form of contract for use by service institutions and food service management companies. The Secretary shall prescribe requirements governing bid and contract procedures for acquisition of the services of food service management companies, including, but not limited to, bonding requirements (which may provide exemptions applicable to contracts of $100,000 or less), procedures for review of contracts by States, and safeguards to prevent collusive bidding activities between service institutions and food service management companies.

(m) States and service institutions participating in programs under this section shall keep such accounts and records as may be necessary to enable the Secretary to determine whether there has been compliance with this section and the regulations issued hereunder. Such accounts and records shall at all times be available for inspection and audit by representatives of the Secretary and shall be preserved for such period of time, not in excess of five years, as the Secretary determines necessary.

(n) Each State desiring to participate in the program shall notify the Secretary by January 1 of each year of its intent to administer the program and shall submit for approval by February 15 a management and administration plan for the program for the fiscal year, which shall include, but not be limited to, (1) the State's administrative budget for the fiscal year, and the State's plans to comply with any standards prescribed by the Secretary under subsection (k) of this section; (2) the State's plans for use of program funds and funds from within the State to the maximum extent practicable to reach needy children, including the State's methods of assessing need, and its plans and schedule for informing service institutions of the availability of the program; (3) the State's best estimate of the number and character of service institutions and sites to be approved, and of meals to be served and children to participate for the fiscal year, and a description of the estimating methods used; (4) the State's plans and schedule for providing technical assistance and training eligible service institutions; (5) the State's plans for monitoring and inspecting service institutions, feeding sites, and food service management companies and for ensuring that such companies do not enter into contracts for more meals than they can provide effectively and efficiently; (6) the State's plan for timely and effective action against program violators; and (7) the State's plan for ensuring fiscal integrity by auditing service institutions not subject to auditing requirements prescribed by the Secretary.

(o)(1) Whoever, in connection with any application, procurement, recordkeeping entry, claim for reimbursement, or other document or statement made in connection with the program, knowingly and willfully falsifies, conceals, or covers up by any trick, scheme, or device a material fact, or makes any false, fictitious, or fraudulent statements or representations, or makes or uses any false writing or document knowing the same to contain any false, fictitious, or fraudulent statement or entry, or whoever, in connection with the program, knowingly makes an opportunity for any person to defraud the United States, or does or omits to do any act with intent to enable any person to defraud the United States, shall be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned not more than five years, or both.

(2) Whoever being a partner, officer, director, or managing agent connected in any capacity with any partnership, association, corporation, business, or organization, either public or private, that receives benefits under the program, knowingly or willfully embezzles, misapplies, steals, or obtains by fraud, false statement, or forgery, any benefits provided by this section or any money, funds, assets, or property derived from benefits provided by this section, shall be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned for not more than five years, or both (but, if the benefits, money, funds, assets, or property involved is not over $200, then the penalty shall be a fine or not more than $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both).

(3) If two or more persons conspire or collude to accomplish any act made unlawful under this subsection, and one or more of such persons to any act to effect the object of the conspiracy or collusion, each shall be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned for not more than five years, or both.

(p) During the fiscal years 1990 and 1991, the Secretary and the States shall carry out a program to disseminate to potentially eligible private nonprofit organizations information concerning the amendments made by the Child Nutrition and WIC Reauthorization Act of 1989 regarding the eligibility under subsection (a)(7) of private nonprofit organizations for the program established under this section.

(q)(1) In addition to the normal monitoring of organizations receiving assistance under this section, the Secretary shall establish a system under which the Secretary and the States shall monitor the compliance of private nonprofit organizations with the requirements of this section and with regulations issued to implement this section.

(2) The Secretary shall require each State to establish and implement an ongoing training and technical assistance program for private nonprofit organizations that provides information on program requirements, procedures, and accountability. The Secretary shall provide assistance to State agencies regarding the development of such training and technical assistance programs.

(3) In the fiscal year 1990 and each succeeding fiscal year, the Secretary may reserve for purposes of carrying out paragraphs (1) and (2) of this subsection not more than ½ of 1 percent of amounts appropriated for purposes of carrying out this section.

(4) For the purposes of this subsection, the term “private nonprofit organization” has the meaning given such term in subsection (a)(7)(B).

(r) For the fiscal year beginning October 1, 1977, and each succeeding fiscal year ending before October 1, 1998, there are hereby authorized to be appropriated such sums as are necessary to carry out the purposes of this section.

COMMODOITY DISTRIBUTION PROGRAM

Sec. 14. (a) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Secretary, during the period beginning July 1, 1974, and ending September 30, 1998, shall—

(1) use funds available to carry out the provisions of section 32 of the Act of August 24, 1935 (7 U.S.C. 612c) which are not expended or needed to carry out such provisions, to purchase (without regard to the provisions of existing law governing the expenditure of public funds) agricultural commodities and their products of the types customarily purchased under such section (which may include domestic seafood commodities and their products), for donation to maintain the annually programmed level of assistance for programs carried on under this Act, the Child Nutrition Act of 1966, and title III of the Older Americans Act of 1965; and

(2) if stocks of the Commodity Credit Corporation are not available, use the funds of such Corporation to purchase agricultural commodities and their products of the types customarily available under section 416 of the Agricultural Act of 1949 (7 U.S.C. 1431), for such donation.

(b)(1) Among the products to be included in the food donations to the school lunch program shall be cereal and shortening and oil products.

(2) The Secretary shall maintain and continue to improve the overall nutritional quality of entitlement commodities provided to schools to assist the schools in improving the nutritional content of meals.

(3) The Secretary shall—

(A) require that nutritional content information labels be placed on packages or shipments of entitlement commodities provided to the schools; or

(B) otherwise provide nutritional content information regarding the commodities provided to the schools.

(c) The Secretary may use funds appropriated from the general fund of the Treasury to purchase agricultural commodities and their products of the types customarily purchased for donation under section 311(a)(4) of the Older Americans Act of 1965 (42 U.S.C. 3030(a)(4)) or for cash payments in lieu of such donations under section 311(b)(1) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 3030(b)(1)). There are hereby authorized to be appropriated such sums as are necessary to carry out the purposes of this subsection.

(d) In providing assistance under this Act and the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 for school lunch and breakfast programs, the Secretary shall establish procedures which will—

(1) ensure that the views of local school districts and private nonprofit schools with respect to the type of commodity assistance needed in schools are fully and accurately reflected in reports to the Secretary by the State with respect to State commodity preferences and that such views are considered by the Secretary in the purchase and distribution of commodities and by the States in the allocation of such commodities among schools within the States;

(2) solicit the views of States with respect to the acceptability of commodities;

(3) ensure that the timing of commodity deliveries to States is consistent with State school year calendars and that such deliveries occur with sufficient advance notice;

(4) provide for systematic review of the costs and benefits of providing commodities of the kind and quantity that are suitable to the needs of local school districts and private nonprofit schools; and

(5) make available technical assistance on the use of commodities available under this Act and the Child Nutrition Act of 1966.
Within eighteen months after the date of the enactment of this subsection, the Secretary shall report to Congress on the impact of procedures established under this subsection, including the nutritional, economic, and administrative benefits of such procedures. In purchasing commodities for programs carried out under this Act and the Child Nutrition Act of 1966, the Secretary shall establish procedures to ensure that contracts for the purchase of such commodities shall not be entered into unless the previous history and current patterns of the contracting party with respect to compliance with applicable meat inspection laws and with other appropriate standards relating to the wholesomeness of food for human consumption are taken into account.

(e) Each State educational agency that receives food assistance payments under this section for any school year shall establish for such year an advisory council, which shall be composed of representatives of schools in the State that participate in the school lunch program. The council shall advise such State agency with respect to the needs of such schools relating to the manner of selection and distribution of commodity assistance for such program.

(f) Commodity only schools shall be eligible to receive donated commodities equal in value to the sum of the national average value of donated foods established under section 6(e) of this Act and the national average payment established under section 4 of this Act. Such schools shall be eligible to receive up to 5 cents per meal of such value in cash for processing and handling expenses related to the use of such commodities. Lunches served in such schools shall consist of a combination of foods which meet the minimum nutritional requirements prescribed by the Secretary under section 9(a) of this Act, and shall represent the four basic food groups, including a serving of fluid milk.

(g)(1) As used in this subsection, the term "eligible school district" has the same meaning given such term in section 1581(a) of the Food Security Act of 1985.

(2) In accordance with the terms and conditions of section 1581 of such Act, the Secretary shall permit an eligible school district to continue to receive assistance in the form of cash or commodity letters of credit assistance, in lieu of commodities, to carry out the school lunch program operated in the district.

(3)(A) On request of a participating school district (and after consultation with the Comptroller General of the United States with respect to accounting procedures used to determine any losses) and subject to the availability of funds, the Secretary shall provide cash compensation to an eligible school district for losses sustained by the district as a result of the alteration of the methodology used to conduct the study referred to in section 1581(a) of such Act during the school year ending June 30, 1983. The Secretary, in computing losses sustained by any school district under the preceding sentence, shall base such computation on the difference between the value of bonus commodity assistance received by such school district under this Act for the school year ending June 30, 1983, and the value of bonus commodities received by such school district under this Act for the school year ending June 30, 1982. For the purposes of this subparagraph—
(i) the term "bonus commodities" means commodities provided in addition to commodities provided pursuant to section 6(e); and
(ii) the term "bonus commodity assistance" means assistance, in the form of bonus commodities, cash, or commodity letters of credit, provided in addition to assistance provided pursuant to section 6(e).

The Secretary may provide cash compensation under this subparagraph only to eligible school districts that submit applications for such compensation not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of the Child Nutrition and WIC Reauthorization Act of 1989. The Secretary shall, during the 45-day period beginning on October 1, 1990, complete action on any claim submitted under this subparagraph.

(B) There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to carry out this paragraph, to be available without fiscal year limitation.

ELECTION TO RECEIVE CASH PAYMENTS

Sec. 16. (a) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, where a State phased out its commodity distribution facilities prior to June 30, 1974, such State may, for purposes of the programs authorized by this Act and the Child Nutrition Act of 1966, elect to receive cash payments in lieu of donated foods. Where such an election is made, the Secretary shall make cash payments to such State in an amount equivalent in value to the donated foods that the State would otherwise have received if it had retained its commodity distribution facilities. The amount of cash payments in the case of lunches shall be governed by section 6(e) of this Act.

(b) When such payments are made, the State educational agency shall promptly and equitably disburse any cash it receives in lieu of commodities to eligible schools and institutions, and such disbursements shall be used by such schools and institutions to purchase United States agricultural commodities and other foods for their food service programs.

CHILD AND ADULT CARE FOOD PROGRAM

Sec. 17. (a) The Secretary may carry out a program to assist States through grants-in-aid and other means to initiate, maintain, and expand nonprofit food service programs for children in institutions providing child care. For purposes of this section, the term "institution" means any public or private nonprofit organization providing nonresidential child care, including, but not limited to, child care centers, settlement houses, recreational centers, Head Start centers, and institutions providing child care facilities for children with handicaps; and such term shall also mean any other private organization providing nonresidential day care services for which it receives compensation from amounts granted to the States under title XX of the Social Security Act (but only if such organization receives compensation under such title for at least 25 percent of its enrolled children or 25 percent of its licensed capacity, whichever is less). In addition, the term "institution" shall include programs developed to provide day care outside school hours for schoolchildren, and public or nonprofit private organizations that sponsor family or group day care homes. Reimbursement may be provided under this section only for meals or supplements served to children not over 12 years of age (except that such age limitation shall not be applicable for children of migrant workers if 15 years of age or less or for children with handicaps). The Secretary may establish separate guidelines for institutions that provide care to school children outside of school hours. For purposes of determining eligibility—

(1) no institution, other than a family or group day care home sponsoring organization, or family or group day care home shall be eligible to participate in the program unless it has Federal, State, or local licensing or approval, or is complying with appropriate renewal procedures as prescribed by the Secretary and the State has no information indicating that the institution’s license will not be renewed; or where Federal, State, or local licensing or approval is not available, it receives funds under title XX of the Social Security Act or otherwise demonstrates that it meets either any applicable State or local government licensing or approval standards or approval standards established by the Secretary after consultation with the Secretary of Health and Human Services; and

(2) no institution shall be eligible to participate in the program unless it satisfies the following criteria:
   (A) accepts final administrative and financial responsibility for management of an effective food service;
   (B) has not been seriously deficient in its operation of the child care food program, or any other program under this Act or the Child Nutrition Act of 1966, for a period of time specified by the Secretary; and
   (C) will provide adequate supervisory and operational personnel for overall monitoring and management of the child care food program.

(b) For the fiscal year ending September 30, 1979, and for each subsequent fiscal year, the Secretary shall provide cash assistance to States for meals as provided in subsection (f) of this section, except that, in any fiscal year, the aggregate amount of assistance provided to a State by the Secretary under this section shall not exceed the sum of (1) the Federal funds provided by the State to participating institutions within the State for that fiscal year and (2) any funds used by the State under section 10 of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966.

(c)(1) For purposes of this section, the national average payment rate for free lunches and suppers, the national average payment rate for reduced price lunches and suppers, and the national average payment rate for paid lunches and suppers shall be the same as the national average payment rates for free lunches, reduced price lunches, and paid lunches, respectively, under sections 4 and 11 of this Act as appropriate (as adjusted pursuant to section 11(a) of this Act).

(2) For purposes of this section, the national average payment rate for free breakfasts, the national average payment rate for reduced price breakfasts, and the national average payment rate for paid breakfasts shall be the same as the national average payment rates for free breakfasts, reduced price breakfasts, and paid breakfasts, respectively, under section 4(b) of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 (as adjusted pursuant to section 11(a) of this Act).

(3) For purposes of this section, the national average payment rate for free supplements shall be 30 cents, the national average payment rate for reduced price supplements shall be one-half the rate for free supplements, and the national average payment rate for paid supplements shall be 2.75 cents (as adjusted pursuant to section 11(a) of this Act).

(4) Determinations with regard to eligibility for free and reduced price meals and supplements shall be made in accordance with the income eligibility guidelines for free lunches and reduced price lunches, respectively, under section 9 of this Act.

(5) A child shall be considered automatically eligible for benefits under this section without further application or eligibility determination, if the child is enrolled as a participant in a Head Start program authorized under the Head Start Act (42 U.S.C. 9831 et seq.), on the basis of a determination that the child is a member of a family that meets the low-income criteria prescribed under section 645(a)(1)(A) of the Head Start Act (42 U.S.C. 9840(a)(1)(A)).

(6)(A) A child who has not yet entered kindergarten shall be considered automatically eligible for benefits under this section without further application or eligibility determination if the child is enrolled as a participant in the Even Start program under part B of chapter 1 of title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 2741 et seq.).

(B) Subparagraph (A) shall apply only with respect to the provision of benefits under this section for the period beginning September 1, 1995, and ending September 30, 1997.

(d)(1) Any eligible public institution shall be approved for participation in the child care food program upon its request. Any eligible private institution shall be approved for participation if it (A) has tax exempt status under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 or, under conditions established by the Secretary, is moving toward compliance with the requirements for tax exempt status, or (B) is currently operating a Federal program requiring nonprofit status. Family or group day care homes need not have individual tax exempt certification if they are sponsored by an institution that has tax exempt status, or, under conditions established by the Secretary, such institution is moving toward compliance with the requirements for tax exempt status or is currently operating a Federal program requiring nonprofit status. An institution applying for participation under this section shall be notified of approval or disapproval in writing within thirty days after the date its completed application is filed. If an institution submits an incomplete application to the State, the State shall so notify the institution within fifteen days of receipt of the application, and shall provide technical assistance, if necessary, to the institution for the purpose of completing its application.

(2)(A) The Secretary shall develop a policy that allows institutions providing child care that participate in the program under this section, at the option of the State agency, to reapply for assistance under this section at 3-year intervals.

(B) Each State agency that exercises the option authorized by subparagraph (A) shall confirm on an annual basis that each such institution is in compliance with the licensing or approval provisions of subsection (a)(1).

(e)(1) Except as provided in paragraph (2), the State shall provide, in accordance with regulations issued by the Secretary, a fair hearing and a prompt determination to any institution aggrieved by the action of the State as it affects the participation of such institution in the program authorized by this section, or its claim for reimbursement under this section.

(2) A State is not required to provide a hearing to an institution concerning a State action taken on the basis of a Federal audit determination.

(3) If a State does not provide a hearing to an institution concerning a State action taken on the basis of a Federal audit determination, the Secretary, on request, shall afford a hearing to the institution concerning the action.

(f)(1) Funds paid to any State under this section shall be disbursed to eligible institutions by the State under agreements approved by the Secretary. Disbursements to any institution shall be made only for the purpose of assisting in providing meals to children attending institutions, or in family or group day care homes. Disbursement to any institution shall not be dependent upon the collection of moneys from participating children. All valid claims from such institutions shall be paid within forty-five days of receipt by the State. The State shall notify the institution within fifteen days of receipt of a claim if the claim as submitted is not valid because it is incomplete or incorrect.

(2)(A) Subject to subparagraph (B) of this paragraph, the disbursement for any fiscal year to any State for disbursement to institutions, other than family or group day care home sponsoring organizations, for meals provided under this section shall be equal to the sum of the products obtained by multiplying the total number of each type of meal (breakfast, lunch, or supper, or supplement) served in such institution in that fiscal year by the applicable national average payment rate for each such type of meal, as determined under subsection (c).

(B) No reimbursement may be made to any institution under this paragraph, or to family or group day care home sponsoring organizations under paragraph (3) of this subsection, for more than two meals and one supplement per day per child, or in the case of an institution (but not in the case of a family or group day care home sponsoring organization), two meals and two supplements or three meals and one supplement per day per child, for children that are maintained in a child care setting for eight or more hours per day.

(3)(A) Institutions that participate in the program under this section as family or group day care home sponsoring organizations shall be provided, for payment to such homes, a reimbursement factor set by the Secretary for the cost of obtaining and preparing food and prescribed labor costs, involved in providing meals under this section, without a requirement for documentation of such costs, except that reimbursement shall not be provided under this subparagraph for meals or supplements served to the children of a person acting as a family or group day care home provider unless such children meet the eligibility standards for free or reduced price meals under section 9 of this Act. The reimbursement factor in effect as of the date of the enactment of this sentence shall be reduced by 10 percent. The reimbursement factor under this subparagraph shall be adjusted on July 1 of each year to reflect changes in the Consumer Price Index for food away from home for the most recent 12-month period for which such data are available. The reimbursement factor under this subparagraph shall be rounded to the nearest one-fourth cent.

(B) Family or group day care home sponsoring organizations shall also receive reimbursement for their administrative expenses in amounts not exceeding the maximum allowable levels prescribed by the Secretary. Such levels shall be adjusted July 1 of each year to reflect changes in the Consumer Price Index for all items for the most recent 12-month period for which such data are available. The maximum allowable levels for administrative expense payments, as in effect as of the date of the enactment of this subparagraph, shall be adjusted by the Secretary so as to achieve a 10 percent reduction in the total amount of reimbursement provided to institutions for such administrative expenses. In making the reduction required by the preceding sentence, the Secretary shall increase the economy of scale factors used to distinguish institutions that sponsor a greater number of family or group day care homes from those that sponsor a lesser number of such homes.

(C) (i) Reimbursement for administrative expenses shall also include start-up funds to finance the administrative expenses for such institutions to initiate successful operation under the program and expansion funds to finance the administrative expenses for such institutions to expand into low-income or rural areas. Institutions that have received start-up funds may also apply at a later date for expansion funds. Such start-up funds and expansion funds shall be in addition to other reimbursement to such institutions for administrative expenses. Start-up funds and expansion funds shall be payable to enable institutions satisfying the criteria of subsection (d) of this section, and any other standards prescribed by the Secretary, to develop an application for participation in the program as a family or group day care home sponsoring organization or to implement the program upon approval of the application. Such start-up funds and expansion funds shall be payable in accordance with the procedures prescribed by the Secretary. The amount of start-up funds and expansion funds payable to an institution shall be not less than the institution’s anticipated reimbursement for administrative expenses under the program for one month and not more than the institution’s anticipated reimbursement for administrative expenses under the program for two months.

(ii) Funds for administrative expenses may be used by family or group day care home sponsoring organizations to conduct outreach and recruitment to unlicensed family or group day care homes so that the day care homes may become licensed.

(4) By the first day of each month of operation, the State shall provide advance payments for the month to each approved institution in an amount that reflects the full level of valid claims customarily received from such institution for one month’s operation. In the case of a newly participating institution, the amount of the advance shall reflect the State's best estimate of the level of valid claims such institutions will submit. If the State has reason to believe that an institution will not be able to submit a valid claim covering the period for which such an advance has been made, the subsequent month's advance payment shall be withheld until the State receives a valid claim. Payments advanced to institutions that are not subsequently deducted from a valid claim for reimbursement shall be repaid upon demand by the State. Any prior payment that is under dispute may be subtracted from an advance payment.

(g)(1)(A) Meals served by institutions participating in the program under this section shall consist of a combination of foods that meet minimum nutritional requirements prescribed by the Secretary on the basis of tested nutritional research. Such meals shall be served free to needy children.

(B) The Secretary shall provide technical assistance to those in-itutions participating in the program under this section to assist the institutions and family or group day care home sponsoring organizations in complying with the nutritional requirements prescribed by the Secretary pursuant to subparagraph (A). The Secretary shall provide additional technical assistance to those institutions and family or group day care home sponsoring organizations that are having difficulty maintaining compliance with the requirements.

(2) No physical segregation or other discrimination against any child shall be made because of his or her inability to pay, nor shall there be any overt identification of any such child by special tokens or tickets, different meals or meal service, announced or published lists of names, or other means.

(3) Each institution shall, insofar as practicable, use in its food service foods designated from time to time by the Secretary as being in abundance, either nationally or in the food service area, or foods donated by the Secretary.

(h)(1)(A) The Secretary shall donate agricultural commodities produced in the United States for use in institutions participating in the child care food program under this section.

(B) The value of the commodities donated under subparagraph
(A) (or cash in lieu of commodities) to each State for each school year shall be, at a minimum, the amount obtained by multiplying the number of lunches and suppers served in participating institutions in that State during the preceding school year by the rate for commodities or cash in lieu of commodities established under section 6(e) for the school year concerned.

(C) After the end of each school year, the Secretary shall—

(i) reconcile the number of lunches and suppers served in participating institutions in each State during such school year with the number of lunches and suppers served by participating institutions in each State during the preceding school year; and

(ii) based on such reconciliation, increase or reduce subsequent commodity assistance or cash in lieu of commodities provided to each State.

(D) Any State receiving assistance under this section for institutions participating in the child care food program may, upon application to the Secretary, receive cash in lieu of some or all of the commodities to which it would otherwise be entitled under this subsection. In determining whether to request cash in lieu of commodities, the State shall base its decision on the preferences of individual participating institutions within the State, unless this proves impracticable due to the small number of institutions preferring donated commodities.

(2) The Secretary is authorized to provide agricultural commodities obtained by the Secretary under the provisions of the Agricultural Act of 1949 (7 U.S.C. 1421 et seq.) and donated under the provisions of section 416 of such Act, to the Department of Defense for use by its institutions providing child care services, when such commodities are in excess of the quantities needed to meet the needs of all other child nutrition programs, domestic and foreign food assistance and export enhancement programs. The Secretary shall require reimbursement from the Department of Defense for the costs, or some portion thereof, of delivering such commodities to overseas locations, unless the Secretary determines that it is in the best interest of the program that the Department of Agriculture shall assume such costs.

(i) The Secretary shall make available for each fiscal year to States administering the child care food program, for the purpose of conducting audits of participating institutions, an amount up to 2 percent of the funds used by each State in the program under this section, during the second preceding fiscal year.

(j) The Secretary may issue regulations directing States to develop and provide for the use of a standard form of agreement between each family or group day care sponsoring organization and the family or group day care homes participating in the program under such organization, for the purpose of specifying the rights and responsibilities of each party.

(k)(1) States participating in the program under this section shall provide sufficient training, technical assistance, and monitoring to facilitate expansion and effective operation of the program, and shall take affirmative action to expand the availability of benefits under this section. Such action, at a minimum, shall include annual notification to each nonparticipating institution or family or group day care home within the State that is licensed, approved, or registered, or that receives funds under title XX of the Social Security Act, of the availability of the program, the requirements for program participation, and the application procedures to be followed in the program. The list of institutions so notified each year shall be available to the public upon request. The Secretary shall assist the States in developing plans to fulfill the requirements of this subsection.

(2) The Secretary shall conduct demonstration projects to test innovative approaches to remove or reduce barriers to participation in the program established under this section regarding family or group day care homes that operate in low-income areas or that primarily serve low-income children. As part of such demonstration projects, the Secretary may provide grants to, or otherwise modify administrative reimbursement rates for, family or group day care home sponsoring organizations.
(3) The Secretary and the States shall provide training and technical assistance to assist family and group day care home sponsoring organizations in reaching low-income children.

(4) The Secretary shall instruct States to provide, through sponsoring organizations, information and training concerning child health and development to family or group day care homes participating in the program.

(i) Expenditures of funds from State and local sources for the maintenance of food programs for children shall not be diminished as a result of funds received under this section.

(m) States and institutions participating in the program under this section shall keep such accounts and records as may be necessary to enable the Secretary to determine whether there has been compliance with the requirements of this section. Such accounts and records shall be available at all times for inspection and audit by representatives of the Secretary, the Comptroller General of the United States, and appropriate State representatives and shall be preserved for such period of time, not in excess of five years, as the Secretary determines necessary.

(n) There are hereby authorized to be appropriated for each fiscal year such funds as are necessary to carry out the purposes of this section.

(o)(1) For purposes of this section, adult day care centers shall be considered eligible institutions for reimbursement for meals or supplements served to persons 60 years of age or older or to chronically impaired disabled persons, including victims of Alzheimer's disease and related disorders with neurological and organic brain dysfunction. Reimbursement provided to such institutions for such purposes shall improve the quality of meals or level of services provided or increase participation in the program. Lunches served by each such institution for which reimbursement is claimed under this section shall provide, on the average, approximately \( \frac{1}{3} \) of the daily recommended dietary allowance established by the Food and Nutrition Board of the National Research Council of the National Academy of Sciences. Such institutions shall make reasonable efforts to serve meals that meet the special dietary requirements of participants, including efforts to serve foods in forms palatable to participants.

(2) For purposes of this subsection—

(A) the term "adult day care center" means any public agency or private nonprofit organization, or any proprietary title XIX or title XX center, which—

(ii) is licensed or approved by Federal, State, or local authorities to provide adult day care services to chronically impaired disabled adults or persons 60 years of age or older in a group setting outside their homes, or a group living arrangement, on a less than 24-hour basis; and

(ii) provides for such care and services directly or under arrangements made by the agency or organization whereby the agency or organization maintains professional management responsibility for all such services; and

(B) the term "proprietary title XIX or title XX center" means any private, for-profit center providing adult day care services for which it receives compensation from amounts granted to the States under title XIX or XX of the Social Security Act and which title XIX or title XX beneficiaries were not less than 25 percent of enrolled eligible participants in a calendar month preceding initial application or annual reapplication for program participation.

(3)(A) The Secretary, in consultation with the Assistant Secretary for Aging, shall establish, within 6 months of enactment, separate guidelines for reimbursement of institutions described in this subsection. Such reimbursement shall take into account the nutritional requirements of eligible persons, as determined by the Secretary on the basis of tested nutritional research, except that such reimbursement shall not be less than would otherwise be required under this section.

(B) The guidelines shall contain provisions designed to assure that reimbursement under this subsection shall not duplicate reimbursement under part C of title III of the Older Americans Act of 1965, for the same meal served.

(4) For the purpose of establishing eligibility for free or reduced price meals or supplements under this subsection, income shall include only the income of an eligible person and, if any, the spouse and dependents with whom the eligible person resides.

(5) A person described in paragraph (1) shall be considered automatically eligible for free meals or supplements under this subsection, without further application or eligibility determination, if the person is—

(A) a member of a household receiving assistance under the Food Stamp Act of 1977 (7 U.S.C. 2011 et seq.); or

(B) a recipient of assistance under title XVI or XIX of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1381 et seq.).

(6) The Governor of any State may designate to administer the program under this subsection a State agency other than the agency that administers the child care food program under this section.

(p)(1) From amounts appropriated or otherwise made available for purposes of carrying out this section, the Secretary shall carry out 2 statewide demonstration projects under which private for-profit organizations providing nonresidential day care services shall qualify as institutions for the purposes of this section. An organization may participate in a demonstration project described in the preceding sentence if—

(A) at least 25 percent of the children enrolled in the organization or 25 percent of the licensed capacity of the organization for children, whichever is less, meet the income eligibility criteria established under section 9(b) for free or reduced price meals; and

(B) as a result of the participation of the organization in the project—

(i) the nutritional content or quality of meals and snacks served to children under the care of such organization will be improved; or

(ii) fees charged by such organization for the care of the children described in subparagraph (A) will be lowered.

(2) Under each such project, the Secretary shall examine—

(A) the budgetary impact of the change in eligibility being tested;
(B) the extent to which, as a result of such change, additional low-income children can be reached; and

(C) which outreach methods are most effective.

(3) The Secretary shall choose to conduct demonstration projects under this subsection—

(A) 1 State that—

(i) has a history of participation of for-profit organizations in the child care food program;

(ii) allocates a significant proportion of the amounts it receives for child care under title XX of the Social Security Act in a manner that allows low-income parents to choose the type of child care their children will receive;

(iii) has other funding mechanisms that support parental choice for child care;

(iv) has a large, State-regulated for-profit child care industry that serves low-income children; and

(v) has large sponsors of family or group day care homes that have a history of recruiting and sponsoring for-profit child care centers in the child care food program; and

(B) 1 State in which—

(i) the majority of children for whom child care arrangements are made are being cared for in center-based child care facilities;

(ii) for-profit child care centers and preschools are located throughout the State and serve both rural and urban populations;

(iii) at least \( \frac{1}{3} \) of the licensed child care centers and preschools operate as for-profit facilities;

(iv) all licensed facilities are subject to identical nutritional requirements for food service that are similar to those required under the child care food program; and

(v) less than 1 percent of child care centers participating in the child care food program receive assistance under title XX of the Social Security Act.

(4) Such project shall—

(A) commence not earlier than May 1, 1990, and not later than June 30, 1990; and

(B) terminate on September 30, 1998.

(5) Notwithstanding paragraph (4)(B), the Secretary shall continue until September 30, 1998, the two pilot projects established under this subsection to the extent, and in such amounts, as are provided for in advance in appropriations Acts.

(q)(1) The Secretary shall provide State agencies with basic information concerning the importance and benefits of the special supplemental nutrition program for women, infants, and children authorized under section 17 of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 (42 U.S.C. 1786).

(2) The State agency shall—

(A) provide each child care institution participating in the program established under this section, other than institutions providing day care outside school hours for schoolchildren, with materials that include—
(i) a basic explanation of the benefits and importance of the special supplemental nutrition program for women, infants, and children;

(ii) the maximum income limits, according to family size, applicable to children up to age 5 in the State under the special supplemental nutrition program for women, infants, and children; and

(iii) a listing of the addresses and phone numbers of offices at which parents may apply;

(B) annually provide the institutions with an update of the information on income limits described in subparagraph (A)(ii); and

(C) ensure that, at least once a year, the institutions to which subparagraph (A) applies provide written information to parents that includes—

(i) basic information on the benefits provided under the special supplemental nutrition program for women, infants, and children;

(ii) information on the maximum income limits, according to family size, applicable to the program; and

(iii) information on where parents may apply to participate in the program.

[SEC. 17B. HOMELESS CHILDREN NUTRITION PROGRAM.]

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall conduct projects designed to provide food service throughout the year to homeless children under the age of 6 in emergency shelters.

(b) AGREEMENTS TO PARTICIPATE IN PROJECTS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall enter into agreements with State, city, local, or county governments, other public entities, or private nonprofit organizations to participate in the projects conducted under this section.

(2) ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS.—The Secretary shall establish eligibility requirements for the entities described in paragraph (1) that desire to participate in the projects conducted under this section. The requirements shall include the following:

(A) Each private nonprofit organization shall operate not more than 5 food service sites under the project and shall serve not more than 300 homeless children at each such site.

(B) Each site operated by each such organization shall meet applicable State and local health, safety, and sanitation standards.

(c) PROJECT REQUIREMENTS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—A project conducted under this section shall—

(A) use the same meal patterns and receive reimbursement payments for meals and supplements at the same rates provided to child care centers participating in the child care food program under section 17 for free meals and supplements; and

(B) receive reimbursement payments for meals and supplements served on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays, at the request of the sponsor of any such project.

(2) MODIFICATION.—The Secretary may modify the meal pattern requirements to take into account the needs of infants.

(3) HOMELESS CHILDREN ELIGIBLE FOR FREE MEALS WITHOUT APPLICATION.—Homeless children under the age of 6 in emergency shelters shall be considered eligible for free meals without application.

(d) FUNDING PRIORITIES.—From the amount described in subsection (g), the Secretary shall provide funding for projects carried out under this section for a particular fiscal year (referred to in this subsection as the “current fiscal year”) in the following order of priority, to the maximum extent practicable:

(1) The Secretary shall first provide the funding to entities and organizations, each of which—

(A) received funding under this section or section 18(c) (as in effect on the day before the date of enactment of this section) to carry out a project for the preceding fiscal year; and to enable the entity or organization to carry out the project under this section for the current fiscal year at the level of service provided by the project during the preceding fiscal year.

(B) is eligible to receive funding under this section to carry out the project for the current fiscal year;

From the portion of the amount that remains after the application of paragraph (1), the Secretary shall provide funds to entities and organizations, each of which is eligible to receive funding under this section, to enable the entity or organization to carry out a new project under this section for the current fiscal year, or to expand the level of service provided by a project for the current fiscal year over the level provided by the project during the preceding fiscal year.

Notice.—The Secretary shall advise each State of the availability of the projects conducted under this subsection for States, cities, counties, local governments, and other public entities, and shall advise each State of the procedures for applying to participate in the project.

Plan to allow participation in the child and adult care food program.—Not later than September 30, 1996, the Secretary shall submit to the Committee on Education and Labor of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry of the Senate a plan describing—how emergency shelters and homeless children who have not attained the age of 6 and who are served by the shelters under the program might participate in the child and adult care food program authorized under section 17 by September 30, 1998; and the advantages and disadvantages of the action described in paragraph (1).

Funding.—

In addition to any amounts made available under section 7(a)(5)(B)(i)(I) of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 (42 U.S.C. 1776(a)(5)(B)(i)(I)) and any amounts that are otherwise made available for fiscal year 1995, out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the Secretary of the Treasury shall provide to the Secretary to carry out this section $1,800,000 for fiscal year 1995, $2,600,000 for fiscal year 1996, $3,100,000 for fiscal year 1997, $3,400,000 for fiscal year 1998, and $3,700,000 for fiscal year 1999 and each succeeding fiscal year. The Secretary shall be entitled to receive the funds and shall accept the funds.

The Secretary may expend less than the amount described in paragraph (1) for a fiscal year if there is an insufficient number of suitable applicants to carry out projects under this section for the fiscal year. Any funds made available under this subsection to carry out the projects for a fiscal year that are not obligated to carry out the projects in the fiscal year shall remain available until expended for purposes of carrying out the projects.

As used in this section, the term “emergency shelter” has the meaning provided the term in section 321(2) of the Stewart B. McKinney Homeless Assistance Act (42 U.S.C. 11351(2)).

Pilot projects

The Secretary may conduct pilot projects in not more than three States in which the Secretary is currently administering programs to evaluate the effects of the Secretary contracting with private profit and nonprofit organizations to act as a State agency under this Act and the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 for schools, institutions, or service institutions referred to in section 10 of this Act and section 5 of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966.

(b)(1) Upon request to the Secretary, any school district that on January 1, 1987, was receiving all cash payments or all commodity letters of credit in lieu of entitlement commodities for its school lunch program shall receive all cash payments or all commodity letters of credit in lieu of entitlement commodities for its school lunch program beginning July 1, 1987. The Secretary, directly or through contract, shall administer the project under this subsection.

(2) Any school district that elects under paragraph (1) to receive all cash payments or all commodity letters of credit in lieu of entititlement commodities for its school lunch program shall receive bonus commodities in the same manner as if such school district was receiving all entitlement commodities for its school lunch program.

(c)(1) Using the funds provided under paragraph (7), the Secretary shall conduct at least 1 demonstration project through a participating entity during each of fiscal years 1995 through 1998 that is designed to provide food and nutrition services throughout the year to—

(A) homeless pregnant women; and

(B) homeless mothers or guardians of infants, and the children of the mothers and guardians.

(2) To be eligible to obtain funds under this subsection, a homeless shelter, a transitional housing organization, or another entity that provides or will provide temporary housing for individuals de-

As authorized by section 3 of the National School Lunch Act, appropriations to carry out the provisions of this section may be made not more than 1 year in advance of the beginning of the fiscal year in which the funds will become available for disbursement to the States, and shall remain available for the purposes for which appropriated until expended;"

"(B) by redesignating paragraphs (2) and (3) as paragraphs (4) and (5), respectively;

"(C) by inserting after paragraph (1) the following new paragraphs:

"(2)(A) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, unless enacted in express limitation of this subparagraph, the Secretary—

“(II) subsequent allocations of funds provided by the enactment of such legislation not later than the beginning of each of the second, third, and fourth quarters of the fiscal year; and

“(h)(1)(A) Each fiscal year, the Secretary shall make available, from amounts appropriated for such fiscal year under subsection (g)(1) and amounts remaining from amounts appropriated under such subsection for the preceding fiscal year, an amount sufficient to guarantee a national average per participant grant to be allocated among State agencies for costs incurred by State and local agencies for nutrition services and administration for such year.

“(B)(i) The amount of the national average per participant grant for nutrition services and administration for any fiscal year shall be an amount equal to the amount of the national average per par-participant grant for nutrition services and administration issued for the fiscal year 1987, as adjusted.

(ii) Such adjustment, for any fiscal year, shall be made by revising the national average per participant grant for nutrition services and administration for the fiscal year 1987 to reflect the percentage change between

(I) the value of the index for State and local government purchases, using the implicit price deflator, as published by the Bureau of Economic Analysis of the Department of Commerce, for the 12-month period ending June 30, 1986; and

(II) the best estimate that is available as of the start of the fiscal year of the value of such index for the 12-month period ending June 30 of the previous fiscal year.

(C) In any fiscal year, amounts remaining from amounts appropriated for such fiscal year under subsection (g)(1) and from amounts appropriated under such section for the preceding fiscal year, after carrying out subparagraph (A), shall be made available for food benefits under this section, except to the extent that such amounts are needed to carry out the purposes of subsections (g)(4) and (g)(5).

(2)(A) For each of the fiscal years 1990, 1991, 1992, 1993 and 1994, the Secretary shall allocate to each State agency from the amount described in paragraph (1)(A) an amount for costs of nutrition services and administration on the basis of a formula prescribed by the Secretary. Such formula shall—

(i) be designed to take into account—

(II) the varying needs of each State;

(II) the number of individuals participating in each State; and

(III) other factors which serve to promote the proper, efficient, and effective administration of the program under this section;

(ii) provide for each State agency—

(I) an estimate of the number of participants for the fiscal year involved; and

(II) a per participant grant for nutrition services and administration for such year; and

(iii) provide for a minimum grant amount for State agencies.

(B)(i) Except as provided in clause (ii) and subparagraph (C), in any fiscal year, the total amount allocated to a State agency for costs of nutrition services and administration under the formula prescribed by the Secretary under subparagraph (A) shall constitute the State agency’s operational level for such costs for such year even if the number of participants in the program at such agency is lower than the estimate provided under subparagraph (A)(ii)(I).

(ii) If a State agency’s per participant expenditure for nutrition services and administration is more than 15 percent higher than its per participant grant for nutrition services and administration without good cause, the Secretary may reduce such State agency’s operational level for costs of nutrition services and administration.

(C) In any fiscal year, the Secretary may reallocate amounts provided to State agencies under subparagraph (A) for such fiscal year. When reallocating amounts under the preceding sentence, the Secretary may provide additional amounts to, or recover amounts from, any State agency.

"(3)(A) Except as provided in subparagraphs (B) and (C), in each fiscal year, each State agency shall expend—

"(i) for nutrition education activities and breastfeeding promotion and support activities, an aggregate amount that is not less than the sum of—

"(I) ½ of the amounts expended by the State for costs of nutrition services and administration; and

"(II) an amount equal to a proportionate share of $8,000,000, with each State's share determined on the basis of the number of pregnant women and breastfeeding women in the program in the State as a percentage of the number of pregnant women and breastfeeding women in the program in all States; and

"(ii) for breastfeeding promotion and support activities an amount that is not less than the amount determined for such State under clause (i)(II).

"(B) The Secretary may authorize a State agency to expend an amount less than the amount described in subparagraph (A)(ii) for purposes of breastfeeding promotion and support activities if—

"(i) the State agency so requests; and

"(ii) the request is accompanied by documentation that other funds will be used to conduct nutrition education activities at a level commensurate with the level at which such activities would be conducted if the amount described in subparagraph (A)(ii) were expended for such activities.

"(C) The Secretary may authorize a State agency to expend for purposes of nutrition education an amount that is less than the difference between the aggregate amount described in subparagraph (A) and the amount expended by the State for breastfeeding promotion and support programs if—

"(i) the State agency so requests; and

"(ii) the request is accompanied by documentation that other funds will be used to conduct such activities.

"(D) The Secretary shall limit to a minimal level any documentation required under this paragraph.

"(4) The Secretary shall—

"(A) in consultation with the Secretary of Health and Human Services, develop a definition of breastfeeding for the purposes of the program under this section;

"(B) authorize the purchase of breastfeeding aids by State and local agencies as an allowable expense under nutrition services and administration;

"(C) require each State agency to designate an agency staff member to coordinate breastfeeding promotion efforts identified in the State plan of operation and administration; and

"(D) require the State agency to provide training on the promotion and management of breastfeeding to staff members of local agencies who are responsible for counseling participants in the program under this section concerning breastfeeding.

"(5)(A) Subject to subparagraph (B), in any fiscal year that a State agency achieves, through use of acceptable measures, participation that exceeds the participation level estimated for such State agency under paragraph (2)(A)(ii)(I), such State agency may convert amounts allocated for food benefits for such fiscal year for costs of nutrition services and administration to the extent that such conversion is necessary—

(1) to cover allowable expenditures in such fiscal year; and

(2) to ensure that the State agency maintains the level established for the per participant grant for nutrition services and administration for such fiscal year.

(B) If a State agency increases its participation level through measures that are not in the nutritional interests of participants or not otherwise allowable (such as reducing the quantities of foods provided for reasons not related to nutritional need), the Secretary may refuse to allow the State agency to convert amounts allocated for food benefits to defray costs of nutrition services and administration.

(C) For the purposes of this paragraph, the term ‘acceptable measures’ includes use of cost containment measures, curtailment of vendor abuse, and breastfeeding promotion activities.

(6) In each fiscal year, each State agency shall provide, from the amounts allocated to such agency for such year for costs of nutrition services and administration, an amount to each local agency for its costs of nutrition services and administration. The amount to be provided to each local agency under the preceding sentence shall be determined under allocation standards developed by the State agency in cooperation with the several local agencies, taking into account factors deemed appropriate to further proper, efficient, and effective administration of the program, such as—

(A) local agency staffing needs;

(B) density of population;

(C) number of individuals served; and

(D) availability of administrative support from other sources.

(7) The State agency may provide in advance to any local agency any amounts for nutrition services and administration deemed necessary for successful commencement or significant expansion of program operations during a reasonable period following approval of—

(A) a new local agency;

(B) a new cost containment measure; or

(C) a significant change in an existing cost containment measure.

(8)(A) No State may receive its allocation under this subsection unless on or before August 30, 1989 (or a subsequent date established by the Secretary for any State) such State has—

(i) examined the feasibility of implementing cost containment measures with respect to procurement of infant formula, and, where practicable, other foods necessary to carry out the program under this section; and

(ii) initiated action to implement such measures unless the State demonstrates, to the satisfaction of the Secretary, that such measures would not lower costs or would interfere with the delivery of formula or foods to participants in the program.
(B)(i) Except as provided in subparagraphs (C), (D), and (E)(iii), in carrying out subparagraph (A), any State that provides for the purchase of foods under the program at retail grocery stores shall, with respect to the procurement of infant formula, use—

(I) a competitive bidding system; or

(II) any other cost containment measure that yields savings equal to or greater than savings generated by a competitive bidding system when such savings are determined by comparing the amounts of savings that would be provided over the full term of contracts offered in response to a single invitation to submit both competitive bids and bids for other cost containment systems for the sale of infant formula.

(ii) In determining whether a cost containment measure other than competitive bidding yields equal or greater savings, the State, in accordance with regulations issued by the Secretary, may take into account other cost factors (in addition to rebate levels and procedures for adjusting rebate levels when wholesale price levels rise), such as—

(I) the number of infants who would not be expected to receive the contract brand of infant formula under a competitive bidding system;

(II) the number of cans of infant formula for which no rebate would be provided under another rebate system; and

(III) differences in administrative costs relating to the implementation of the various cost containment systems (such as costs of converting a computer system for the purpose of operating a cost containment system and costs of preparing participants for conversion to a new or alternate cost containment system).

(C) In the case of any State that has a contract in effect on the date of the enactment of the Child Nutrition and WIC Reauthorization Act of 1989, subparagraph (B) shall not apply to the program operated by such State under this section until the term of such contract, as such term is specified by the contract as in effect on such date, expires. In the case of any State that has more than 1 such contract in effect on the date of the enactment of such Act, subparagraph (B) shall not apply until the term of the contract with the latest expiration date, as such term is specified by such contract as in effect on the date of the enactment of such Act, expires.

(D)(i) The Secretary shall waive the requirement of subparagraph (B) in the case of any State that demonstrates to the Secretary that—

(I) compliance with subparagraph (B) would be inconsistent with efficient or effective operation of the program operated by such State under this section; or

(II) the amount by which the savings yielded by an alternative cost containment system would be less than the savings yielded by a competitive bidding system is sufficiently minimal that the difference is not significant.

(ii) The Secretary shall prescribe criteria under which a waiver may be granted pursuant to clause (i).

(iii) The Secretary shall provide information at 6-month intervals to the Committee on Education and Labor of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry of the Senate on waivers that have been granted under clause (i).

"(E)(i) The Secretary shall provide technical assistance to small Indian State agencies carrying out this paragraph in order to assist such agencies to achieve the maximum cost containment savings feasible.

"(ii) The Secretary shall also provide technical assistance, on request, to State agencies that do not have large caseloads and that desire to consider a cost containment system that covers more than 1 State agency.

"(iii) The Secretary may waive the requirement of subparagraph (B) in the case of any Indian State agency that has not more than 1,000 participants.

"(F) No State may enter into a cost containment contract (in this subparagraph referred to as the "original contract") that prescribes conditions that would void, reduce the savings under, or otherwise limit the original contract if the State solicited or secured bids for, or entered into, a subsequent cost containment contract to take effect after the expiration of the original contract.

"(G) Not later than the expiration of the 120-day period beginning on the date of the enactment of the Child Nutrition and WIC Reauthorization Act of 1989, the Secretary shall prescribe regulations to carry out this paragraph. Such regulations shall address issues involved in comparing savings from different cost containment measures, as provided under subparagraph (B).

"(9) For purposes of this subsection, the term 'cost containment measure' means a competitive bidding, rebate, direct distribution, or home delivery system implemented by a State agency as described in its approved plan of operation and administration."

(7) in subsection (i)—

(A) in paragraph (1), by striking "funds provided in accordance with this section" and inserting "amounts made available for food benefits under subsection (h)(1)(C)";

(B) in subparagraph (D) of paragraph (3)—

(ii) by striking "approved cost-savings strategies as identified in subsection (h)(5)(A)" and inserting "cost containment measures as defined in subsection (h)(9)"; and

(ii) by striking "at the discretion of the Secretary, up to 5 percent" and inserting "not more than 3 percent"; and

(C) by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(7) In addition to any amounts expended under paragraph (3)(A)(i), any State agency using cost containment measures as defined in subsection (h)(9) may temporarily use amounts made available to such agency for the first quarter of a fiscal year to defray expenses for costs incurred during the final quarter of the preceding fiscal year. In any fiscal year, any State agency that uses amounts made available for a succeeding fiscal year under the authority of the preceding sentence shall restore or reimburse such amounts when such agency receives payment as a result of its cost containment measures for such expenses.";
(8) in subsection (j), by striking “each year” and inserting “every other year”;
(9) in subsection (k)(1)—

In determining the location of clinics under this subsection, the Secretary shall consider—
(A) the location of the community college under consideration;
(B) its accessibility to individuals eligible to participate in the special supplemental food program under this section; and
(C) its willingness to operate the clinic during nontraditional hours.
“(2) The Secretary shall, from funds appropriated for the purpose of carrying out this subsection—
(A) evaluate any demonstration program carried out under paragraph (1); and
(B) submit to the Congress a report containing the results of such evaluation.
“(3) There is authorized to be appropriated for purposes of carrying out this subsection $1,000,000 for the fiscal year 1990 and such sums as may be necessary for each of the fiscal years 1991 and 1992.
“(p)(1) The Secretary is authorized to make grants to State agencies for the purpose of improving and updating information and data systems used for purposes of carrying out programs under this section.
“(2) Any State that desires to receive a grant under this subsection shall submit an application to the Secretary at such time, and containing or accompanied by such information, as the Secretary may reasonably require. Grants shall be awarded based on the need demonstrated by States in their applications.
“(3) There is authorized to be appropriated for purposes of carrying out this subsection $2,000,000 for the fiscal year 1990 and such sums as may be necessary for each of the fiscal years 1991, 1992, 1993, and 1994.”.
(b) Review of Priority System.—
(1) In general.—During the fiscal years 1990 and 1991, the Secretary of Agriculture shall conduct a review of the relationship between the nutritional risk criteria established under section 17 of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 and the priority system used under the special supplemental food program for women, infants, and children carried out under such section (hereafter in this section referred to as the “program”), especially as it affects pregnant women. In conducting such review, the Secretary of Agriculture shall—

(A) consult with the directors of State and local agencies that operate the program and with other individuals with expertise in the field of nutrition;

(B) take into consideration the preventive nature of the program; and

(C) examine the risks to individuals eligible for participation in the program, particularly pregnant women, from conditions such as homelessness, mental illness, and conditions that pose barriers to receipt of prenatal care, that may be associated with an increased probability of adverse pregnancy outcome or other adverse effects on health.

(2) REPORTS TO CONGRESS.—The Secretary of Agriculture shall report to the Committee on Education and Labor of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry of the Senate concerning the results of the review conducted as required by paragraph (1). (2) REPORT.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Agriculture shall submit to

[PART C—CROSS-PROGRAM PROVISIONS]

[SEC. 131. DETERMINATION OF TOTAL COMMODITY ASSISTANCE FOR THE SCHOOL LUNCH AND CHILD CARE FOOD PROGRAMS.

(a) School Lunch Program.—Section 6(e) of the National School Lunch Act (42 U.S.C. 1755(e)) is amended—

(1) by amending paragraph (1) to read as follows:

"(A) The national average value of donated foods, or cash payments in lieu thereof, shall be 11 cents, adjusted on July 1, 1982, and each July 1 thereafter to reflect changes in the Price Index for Food Used in Schools and Institutions. The Index shall be computed using 5 major food components in the Bureau of Labor Statistics' Producer Price Index (cereal and bakery products, meats, poultry and fish, dairy products, processed fruits and vegetables, and fats and oils). Each component shall be weighted using the same relative weight as determined by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

(B) The value of food assistance for each meal shall be adjusted each July 1 by the annual percentage change in a 3-month average value of the Price Index for Foods Used in Schools and Institutions for March, April, and May each year. Such adjustment shall be computed to the nearest 1/4 cent.

(C) For each school year, the total commodity assistance or cash in lieu thereof available to a State for the school lunch program shall be calculated by multiplying the number of lunches served in the preceding school year by the rate established by subparagraph (B). After the end of each school year, the Secretary shall reconcile the number of lunches served by schools in each State with the number of lunches served by schools in each State during the preceding school year and increase or reduce subsequent commodity assistance or cash in lieu thereof provided to each State based on such reconciliation.

(D) Among those commodities delivered under this section, the Secretary shall give special emphasis to high protein foods, meat, and meat alternates (which may include domestic seafood commodities and their products).

(E) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, not less than 75 percent of the assistance provided under this subsection shall be in the form of donated foods for the school lunch program; and

(2) in paragraph (2), by striking “Each State agency” and inserting “To the maximum extent feasible, each State agency.”

(b) CHILD CARE FOOD PROGRAM.—Paragraph (1) of section 17(h) of the National School Lunch Act (42 U.S.C. 1766(h)) is amended to read as follows:

(A) The Secretary shall donate agricultural commodities produced in the United States for use in institutions participating in the child care food program under this section.

(B) The value of the commodities donated under subparagraph (A) (or cash in lieu of commodities) to each State for each school year shall be, at a minimum, the amount obtained by multiplying the number of lunches and suppers served in participating institutions in that State during the preceding school year by the rate for commodities or cash in lieu of commodities established under section 6(e) for the school year concerned.

(C) After the end of each school year, the Secretary shall—

(i) reconcile the number of lunches and suppers served in participating institutions in each State during such school year with the number of lunches and suppers served by participating institutions in each State during the preceding school year; and

(ii) based on such reconciliation, increase or reduce subsequent commodity assistance or cash in lieu of commodities provided to each State.

(D) Any State receiving assistance under this section for institutions participating in the child care food program may, upon application to the Secretary, receive cash in lieu of some or all of the commodities to which it would otherwise be entitled under this subsection. ABANDONED INFANTS ASSISTANCE ACT OF 1988

AN ACT To authorize the Secretary of Health and Human Services to make grants for demonstration projects for foster care and residential care of infants and young children abandoned in hospitals, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, [SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

[(This Act may be cited as the “Abandoned Infants Assistance Act of 1988”.

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.
[(The Congress finds that—]

[(2) the inability of parents who abuse drugs to provide adequate care for such infants and young children and a lack of suitable shelter homes for such infants and young children have led to the abandonment of such infants and young children in hospitals for extended periods;

[(3) an unacceptable number of these infants and young children will be medically cleared for discharge, yet remain in hospitals as boarder babies;

[(4) hospital-based child care for these infants and young children is extremely costly and deprives them of an adequate nurturing environment;]
(5) training is inadequate for foster care personnel working with medically fragile infants and young children and infants and young children exposed to drugs;
(6) a particularly devastating development is the increase in the number of infants and young children who are infected with the human immunodeficiency virus (which is believed to cause acquired immune deficiency syndrome and which is commonly known as HIV) or who have been perinatally exposed to the virus or to a dangerous drug;
(7) many such infants and young children have at least one parent who is an intravenous drug abuser;
(8) such infants and young children are particularly difficult to place in foster homes, and are being abandoned in hospitals in increasing numbers by mothers dying of acquired immune deficiency syndrome, or by parents incapable of providing adequate care;
(9) there is a need for comprehensive services for such infants and young children, including foster family care services, case management services, family support services, respite and crisis intervention services, counseling services, and group residential home services;
(10) there is a need to support the families of such infants and young children through the provision of services that will prevent the abandonment of the infants and children; and
(11) there is a need for the development of funding strategies that coordinate and make the optimal use of all private resources, and Federal, State, and local resources, to establish and maintain such services.

[TITLE I—PROJECTS REGARDING ABANDONMENT OF INFANTS AND YOUNG CHILDREN IN HOSPITALS]

[SEC. 101. ESTABLISHMENT OF PROGRAM OF DEMONSTRATION PROJECTS.]
(a) In General.—The Secretary of Health and Human Services may make grants to public and nonprofit private entities for the purpose of developing, implementing, and operating projects to demonstrate methods—
(1) to prevent the abandonment of infants and young children, including the provision of services to members of the natural family for any condition that increases the probability of abandonment of an infant or young child;
(2) to identify and address the needs of abandoned infants and young children;
(3) to assist abandoned infants and young children to reside with their natural families or in foster care, as appropriate;
(4) to recruit, train, and retain foster families for abandoned infants and young children;
(5) to carry out residential care programs for abandoned infants and young children who are unable to reside with their families or to be placed in foster care;
(6) to carry out programs of respite care for families and foster families of infants and young children described in subsection (b);
(7) to recruit and train health and social services personnel to work with families, foster care families, and residential care programs for abandoned infants and young children; and
(8) to prevent the abandonment of infants and young children, and to care for the infants and young children who have been abandoned, through model programs providing health, educational, and social services at a single site in a geographic area in which a significant number of infants and young children described in subsection (b) reside (with special consideration given to applications from entities that will provide the services of the project through community-based organizations).

(b) PRIORITY IN PROVISION OF SERVICES.—The Secretary may not make a grant under subsection (a) unless the applicant for the grant agrees that, in carrying out the purpose described in subsection (a) (other than with respect to paragraph (6) of such subsection), the applicant will give priority to abandoned infants and young children—

(1) who are infected with the human immunodeficiency virus or who have been perinatally exposed to the virus; or
(2) who have been perinatally exposed to a dangerous drug.

(c) CASE PLAN WITH RESPECT TO FOSTER CARE.—The Secretary may not make a grant under subsection (a) unless the applicant for the grant agrees that, if the applicant expends the grant to carry out any program of providing care to infants and young children in foster homes or in other nonmedical residential settings away from their parents, the applicant will ensure that—

(1) a case plan of the type described in paragraph (1) of section 475 of the Social Security Act is developed for each such infant and young child (to the extent that such infant and young child is not otherwise covered by such a plan); and
(2) the program includes a case review system of the type described in paragraph (5) of such section (covering each such infant and young child who is not otherwise subject to such a system).

(d) ADMINISTRATION OF GRANT.—

(1) The Secretary may not make a grant under subsection (a) unless the applicant for the grant agrees—

(A) to use the funds provided under this section only for the purposes specified in the application submitted to, and approved by, the Secretary pursuant to subsection (e);
(B) to establish such fiscal control and fund accounting procedures as may be necessary to ensure proper disbursement and accounting of Federal funds paid to the applicant under this section;
(C) to report to the Secretary annually on the utilization, cost, and outcome of activities conducted, and services furnished, under this section; and
(D) that if, during the majority of the 180-day period preceding the date of the enactment of this Act, the applicant has carried out any program with respect to the care of abandoned infants and young children, the applicant will expend the grant only for the purpose of significantly expanding, in accordance with subsection (a), activities under such program above the level provided under such program during the majority of such period.

(2) Subject to the availability of amounts made available in appropriations Acts for the fiscal year involved, the duration of a grant under subsection (a) shall be for a period of 3 years, except that the Secretary—

(A) may terminate the grant if the Secretary determines that the entity involved has substantially failed to comply with the agreements required as a condition of the provision of the grant; and

(B) shall continue the grant for one additional year if the Secretary determines that the entity has satisfactorily complied with such agreements.

(e) Requirement of Application.—The Secretary may not make a grant under subsection (a) unless—

(1) an application for the grant is submitted to the Secretary;

(2) with respect to carrying out the purpose for which the grant is to be made, the application provides assurances of compliance satisfactory to the Secretary; and

(3) the application otherwise is in such form, is made in such manner, and contains such agreements, assurances, and information as the Secretary determines to be necessary to carry out this section.

(f) Technical Assistance to Grantees.—The Secretary may, without charge to any grantee under subsection (a), provide technical assistance (including training) with respect to the planning, development, and operation of projects described in such subsection. The Secretary may provide such technical assistance directly, through contracts, or through grants.

(g) Technical Assistance with Respect to Process of Applying for Grant.—The Secretary may provide technical assistance (including training) to public and nonprofit private entities with respect to the process of applying to the Secretary for a grant under subsection (a). (1)(A) The Secretary may enter into contracts or cooperative agreements with public or nonprofit private entities for the development and operation of model projects to disseminate the information described in subparagraph (B) to individuals who are disproportionately at risk of dysfunctional behaviors that lead to the abandonment of infants or young children.
(B) The information referred to in subparagraph (A) is information on the availability to individuals described in such subparagraph, and the families of the individuals, of financial assistance and services under Federal, State, local, and private programs providing health services, mental health services, educational services, housing services, social services, or other appropriate services.

(2) The Secretary may not provide a contract or cooperative agreement under paragraph (1) to an entity unless—

(A) the entity has demonstrated expertise in the functions with respect to which such financial assistance is to be provided; and

(B) the entity agrees that in disseminating information on programs described in such paragraph, the entity will give priority—

(i) to providing the information to individuals described in such paragraph who—

(1) engage in the abuse of alcohol or drugs, who are infected with the human immunodeficiency virus, or who have limited proficiency in speaking the English language; or

(II) have been historically underserved in the provision of the information; and

(ii) to providing information on programs that are operated in the geographic area in which the individuals involved reside and that will assist in eliminating or reducing the extent of behaviors described in such paragraph.

(3) In providing contracts and cooperative agreements under paragraph (1), the Secretary may not provide more than 1 such contract or agreement with respect to any geographic area.

(4) Subject to the availability of amounts made available in appropriations Acts for the fiscal year involved, the duration of a contract or cooperative agreement under paragraph (1) shall be for a period of 3 years, except that the Secretary may terminate such financial assistance if the Secretary determines that the entity involved has substantially failed to comply with the agreements required as a condition of the provision of the assistance.

(c) Study and Report on Number of Abandoned Infants and Young Children.—

(1) The Secretary shall conduct a study for the purpose of determining—

(A) an estimate of the number of infants and young children abandoned in hospitals in the United States and the number of such infants and young children who are infants and young children described in section 101(b); and

(B) an estimate of the annual costs incurred by the Federal Government and by State and local governments in providing housing and care for such infants and young children.

Congress a report describing the findings made as a result of the study.

Congress finds that—

(1) each year, hundreds of thousands of American children are victims of abuse and neglect with such numbers having increased dramatically over the past decade;

(2) many of these children and their families fail to receive adequate protection or treatment;

(3) the problem of child abuse and neglect requires a comprehensive approach that—

(A) integrates the work of social service, legal, health, mental health, education, and substance abuse agencies and organizations;

(B) strengthens coordination among all levels of government, and with private agencies, civic, religious, and professional organizations, and individual volunteers;

(C) emphasizes the need for abuse and neglect prevention, investigation, and treatment at the neighborhood level;

(D) ensures properly trained and support staff with specialized knowledge, to carry out their child protection duties; and

(E) is sensitive to ethnic and cultural diversity;

(4) the failure to coordinate and comprehensively prevent and treat child abuse and neglect threatens the futures of tens of thousands of children and results in a cost to the Nation of billions of dollars in direct expenditures for health, social, and special educational services and ultimately in the loss of work productivity;

(5) all elements of American society have a shared responsibility in responding to this national child and family emergency;

(6) substantial reductions in the prevalence and incidence of child abuse and neglect and the alleviation of its consequences are matters of the highest national priority;

(7) national policy should strengthen families to remedy the causes of child abuse and neglect, provide support for intensive services to prevent the unnecessary removal of children from families, and promote the reunification of families if removal has taken place;

(8) the child protection system should be comprehensive, child-centered, family-focused, and community-based, should incorporate all appropriate measures to prevent the occurrence or recurrence of child abuse and neglect, and should promote physical and psychological recovery and social re-integration in an environment that fosters the health, self-respect, and dignity of the child;

(9) because of the limited resources available in low-income communities, Federal aid for the child protection system should be distributed with due regard to the relative financial need of the communities;

(10) the Federal government should ensure that every community in the United States has the fiscal, human, and technical resources necessary to develop and implement a successful and comprehensive child protection strategy;

(11) the Federal government should provide leadership and assist communities in their child protection efforts by—

(A) promoting coordinated planning among all levels of government;
(B) generating and sharing knowledge relevant to child protection, including the development of models for service delivery;
(C) strengthening the capacity of States to assist communities;
(D) allocating sufficient financial resources to assist States in implementing community plans;
(E) helping communities to carry out their child protection plans by promoting the competence of professional, paraprofessional, and volunteer resources; and
(F) providing leadership to end the abuse and neglect of the nation’s children and youth.

[Sec. 201. CONGRESSIONAL FINDINGS AND DECLARATION OF PURPOSE.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—

(1) the number of children in substitute care increased by nearly 50 percent between 1985 and 1990, as our Nation's foster care population included more than 400,000 children at the end of June, 1990;

(2) increasingly children entering foster care have complex problems which require intensive services;

(3) an increasing number of infants are born to mothers who did not receive prenatal care, are born addicted to alcohol and other drugs, and exposed to infection with the etiologic agent for the human immunodeficiency virus, are medically fragile, and technology dependent;

(4) the welfare of thousands of children in institutions and foster homes and disabled infants with life-threatening conditions may be in serious jeopardy and some such children are in need of placement in permanent, adoptive homes;

(5) many thousands of children remain in institutions or foster homes solely because of local and other barriers to their placement in permanent, adoptive homes;

(6) the majority of such children are of school age, members of sibling groups or disabled;

(7) currently one-half of children free for adoption and awaiting placement are minorities;

(8) adoption may be the best alternative for assuring the healthy development of such children;

(9) there are qualified persons seeking to adopt such children who are unable to do so because of barriers to their placement; and

(10) in order both to enhance the stability and love of the child's home environment and to avoid wasteful expenditures of public funds, such children should not have medically indicated treatment withheld from them nor be maintained in foster care or institutions when adoption is appropriate and families can be found for such children.

(b) Purpose.—It is the purpose of this title to facilitate the elimination of barriers to adoption and to provide permanent and loving home environments for children who would benefit from adoption, particularly children with special needs, including disabled infants with life-threatening conditions, by—

(1) promoting model adoption legislation and procedures in the States and territories of the United States in order to eliminate jurisdictional and legal obstacles to adoption; and

(2) providing a mechanism for the Department of Health and Human Services to—

(A) promote quality standards for adoption services, pre-placement, post-placement, and post-legal adoption counseling, and standards to protect the rights of children in need of adoption;

(B) maintain a national adoption information exchange system to bring together children who would benefit from adoption and qualified prospective adoptive parents who are seeking such children, and conduct national recruitment efforts in order to reach prospective parents for children awaiting adoption; and

(C) demonstrate expeditious ways to free children for adoption for whom it has been determined that adoption is the appropriate plan.

INFORMATION AND SERVICES

Sec. 203. (a) The Secretary shall establish in the Department of Health and Human Services an appropriate administrative arrangement to provide a centralized focus for planning and coordinating of all departmental activities affecting adoption and foster care and for carrying out the provisions of this title. (3) notwithstanding any other provision of law, provide (directly or by grant to or contract with public or private nonprofit agencies or organizations) for (A) the operation of a national adoption information exchange system (including only such information as is necessary to facilitate the adoptive placement of children, utilizing computers and data processing methods to assist in the location of children who would benefit by adoption and in the placement in adoptive homes of children awaiting adoption); and (B) the coordination of such system with similar State and regional systems;

(4) provide (directly or by grant to or contract with public or private nonprofit agencies or organizations, including adoptive family groups and minority groups) for the provision of technical assistance in the planning, improving, developing, and carrying out of programs and activities relating to adoption, and to promote professional leadership training of minorities in the adoption field;

(5) encourage involvement of corporations and small businesses in supporting adoption as a positive family-strengthen...ing option, including the establishment of adoption benefit programs for employees who adopt children;

(6) continue to study the nature, scope, and effects of the placement of children in adoptive homes (not including the homes of stepparents or relatives of the child in question) by persons or agencies which are not licensed by or subject to regulation by any governmental entity;

(7) consult with other appropriate Federal departments and agencies in order to promote maximum coordination of the services and benefits provided under programs carried out by such departments and agencies with those carried out by the Secretary, and provide for the coordination of such aspects of all programs within the Department of Health and Human Services relating to adoption;

(A) which may include such activities as—

(ii) outreach, public education, or media campaigns to inform the public of the needs and numbers of such children;

(c)(1) The Secretary shall provide (directly or by grant to or contract with States, local government entities, public or private nonprofit licensed child welfare or adoption agencies or adoptive family groups) for the provision of post legal adoption services for families who have adopted special needs children.

Grants funded by this section must include a strong evaluation component which outlines the innovations used to improve the placement of special needs children who are legally free for adoption, and the successes and failures of the initiative. The evaluations will be submitted to the Secretary who will compile the results of projects funded by this section and submit a report to the appropriate committees of Congress. The emphasis of this program must focus on the improvement of the placement rate—not the aggregate number of special needs children placed in permanent homes. The Secretary, when reviewing grant applications shall give priority to grantees who propose improvements designed to continue in the absence of Federal funds.

(2) Each State entering into an agreement under this subsection shall submit an application to the Secretary for each fiscal year in a form and manner determined to be appropriate by the Secretary. Each application shall include verification of the placements described in paragraph (1).

MISSING CHILDREN'S ASSISTANCE ACT

SHORT TITLE

Sec. 401. This title may be cited as the "Missing Children's Assistance Act".

FINDINGS

Sec. 402. The Congress hereby finds that—

(1) each year thousands of children are abducted or removed from the control of a parent having legal custody without such parents' consent, under circumstances which immediately place them in grave danger;

(2) many of these children are never reunited with their families;

(3) often there are no clues to the whereabouts of these children;

(4) many missing children are at great risk of both physical harm and sexual exploitation;

(5) in many cases, parents and local law enforcement officials have neither the resources nor the expertise to mount expanded search efforts;

(6) abducted children are frequently moved from one locality to another, requiring the cooperation and coordination of local, State, and Federal law enforcement efforts;

(7) on frequent occasions, law enforcement authorities quickly exhaust all leads in missing children cases, and require assistance from distant communities where the child may be located; and

(8) Federal assistance is urgently needed to coordinate and assist in this interstate problem.

DEFINITIONS

Sec. 403. For the purpose of this title—

(1) the term "missing child" means any individual less than 18 years of age whose whereabouts are unknown to such individual's legal custodian if—individual’s legal custodian without such custodian’s consent; or

SHORT TITLE

Sec. 401. This title may be cited as the "Missing Children's Assistance Act of 1995".

FINDINGS

Sec. 402. The Congress hereby finds that—

1. each year thousands of children are abducted or removed from the control of a parent having legal custody without such parent's consent; under circumstances which immediately place them in grave danger;

2. many of these children are never reunited with their families;

3. often there are no clues to the whereabouts of these children;

4. many missing children are at great risk of both physical harm and sexual exploitation;
(5) in many cases, parents and local law enforcement officials have neither the resources nor the expertise to mount expanded search efforts;
(6) abducted children are frequently moved from one locality to another, requiring the cooperation and coordination of local, State, and Federal law enforcement efforts;
(7) on frequent occasions, law enforcement authorities quickly exhaust all leads in missing children cases, and require assistance from distant communities where the child may be located; and

TITLE II—VICTIMS OF CHILD ABUSE ACT OF 1990

SEC. 201. SHORT TITLE.

SEC. 211. FINDINGS.

The Congress finds that—

(1) over 2,000,000 reports of suspected child abuse and neglect are made each year, and drug abuse is associated with a significant portion of these;

(2) the investigation and prosecution of child abuse cases is extremely complex, involving numerous agencies and dozens of personnel;

(3) traditionally, community agencies and professionals have different roles in the prevention, investigation, and intervention process;

(4) in such cases, too often the system does not pay sufficient attention to the needs and welfare of the child victim, aggravating the trauma that the child victim has already experienced;

(5) there is a national need to enhance coordination among community agencies and professionals involved in the intervention system;

(6) multidisciplinary child abuse investigation and prosecution programs have been developed that increase the reporting of child abuse cases, reduce the trauma to the child victim, and increase the successful prosecution of child abuse offenders; and

(7) such programs have proven effective, and with targeted Federal assistance, could be duplicated in many jurisdictions throughout the country.

MINORITY VIEWS

"Poor mothers like me struggle to do what's right for our families and we are good parents. The assumption that poor families don't take good care of their children is wrong. When I was a teenage parent I did everything I could to make sure Mark had what he needed.

"You may look at me and think that because I'm on welfare there must be something wrong with me, that somehow it's my fault that I'm poor. I am here to tell you that there is nothing wrong with me. I am a hard working person and a good mother. Everyone needs help sometimes."—Cheri Honkala, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, in testimony before the EEO Committee, January 18, 1995.

INTRODUCTION

Republican rhetoric notwithstanding, no Democratic Member of the Committee on Economic and Educational Opportunities (hereafter referred to as the "EEO Committee") would argue that the welfare system currently serves recipients like Ms. Honkala and her child as it should. Admittedly, much about it needs reform. However, as we make the necessary reforms, our motives must reflect the best virtues of our national spirit—our sense of fairness and our concern for others, especially the children, the elderly, and those who, through no fault of their own, need temporary government assistance. After all, "everyone needs help sometime."

Unfortunately, Ms. Honkala was the only witness called before the EEO Committee during the hearings on welfare reform who actually participates in the system we debate so vociferously. For Ms. Honkala and millions of others, welfare reform is a life and death issue, not a mere policy discussion. The Democratic minority selected her as a witness for the January 18, 1995, session because of her real-life experiences. Her simple eloquence reminded us of what, and who, is at stake in this debate.1

In our view, "welfare reform" is actually a misnomer for much of what our Republican colleagues propose in bills such as H.R. 999. How does eliminating model federal nutrition programs such as School Lunch and WIC reform welfare? How does repealing the Abandoned Infants Assistance program reform welfare? How does denying education and training assistance, low income home energy assistance, and child care assistance to legal immigrants reform welfare? It is painfully obvious to us that the Republican welfare proposals rely on punishing the poor, shutting out immigrants who are legal residents of our country, and gambling with the well-being of millions of children. Tax cuts promised to the wealthy under the "Contract with America" will be financed by social service cuts denied these vulnerable populations. The Committee Republicans have completely broken ranks from the great legacy of the Committee, which was so instrumental in efforts to build this nation’s middle class. The legend of “Robin Hood” is being stood on its head.

I. The process for consideration of the bill was deeply flawed

We are dismayed by the legislative process employed by the Republicans for consideration of welfare reform before the EEO Committee. The only conceivable rationale for their haste is that welfare reform, as part of the “Contract with America,” must reach the House Floor within the first 100 days of the 104th Congress. This rather cavalier conduct offends this great institution and is a terrible disservice to our constituents. Every major piece of legislation reported by this Committee in the past has been the result of information developed through bipartisan hearings. In fact, the two bills of comparable magnitude to this welfare reform bill that the Committee considered—health care reform and the reauthorization of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA)—were both developed through a bipartisanship. The Democratic majority accommodated the requests of the Republican minority and even held hearings on these two bills in the Republican Members’ districts.

To further elaborate, during the 103d Congress, this Committee’s predecessor (the House Education and Labor Committee) had before it a national issue just as complex and controversial as welfare reform. The subject was health care reform. In considering that legislation, the Democratic majority held 34 committee hearings and conducted 20 days of committee markups. The Republican minority was given more than ample opportunity to invite witnesses, offer amendments at markup, and pursue bipartisan agreement on issues.

That same openness and fairness marked consideration of reauthorization of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA). The Democratic majority held nearly 30 days of hearings, both in Washington and in Members’ districts, as views from across the nation were solicited. Purposeful bipartisan meetings were held between majority and minority Members and staff, during which the implications of proposed changes were thoroughly examined and debated.

Unfortunately, the same collaboration has been completely absent in the EEO Committee’s consideration of welfare reform. Our Republican colleagues repeatedly rejected requests for greater deliberation and bipartisan cooperation. The Committee Republican majority held only one Full Committee hearing and two Subcommittee hearings in preparation for markup of H.R. 999. No subcommittee markup was ever held to try to debate alternatives or amendments. The complex, far-reaching, and life and death impact of this legislation warranted more careful and thorough analysis.

The original “Contract” version of welfare reform (H.R. 4) was never considered by the Committee. Instead, our Republican colleagues drafted a significantly different measure for the commit-
We should not be misunderstood; we would not have preferred to consider the original "Personal Responsibility Act." It was even more draconian than H.R. 999.

The text of that new bill (H.R. 999) was introduced in the House less than 24 hours before the scheduled February 22-23 markup. While it was disturbing enough that our own Members had little notice of the bill’s final version, the public’s right to know the details of that document was flagrantly disregarded.

Convinced that the Members and the public would benefit from an oral description of the bill as the sun rose on the markup process, the Democratic Members requested, and were promised, a bipartisan “walk-through” of the bill by Committee Chairman William Goodling. While Democratic Members eagerly participated in a much abbreviated “walk-through,” very few Republican Members bothered even to sit in the hearing room during that discussion. We were disappointed that a truly bipartisan discussion of the proposed measure never materialized.

In the days leading up to the markup, the Republican majority signaled its intention to complete the markup in a single day. While, in the end, the process took two full days, the Republican majority imposed restrictions on both the number of amendments offered and the time allowed for debate. Sadly, had a reasonable attempt at bipartisan discussion and consultation been attempted by the Republican majority before and during the markup, there possibly would have been more bipartisan agreement on some amendments.

Moreover, in their haste to report out the EEO Committee’s part of welfare reform, the Republicans erred by excluding nearly 60,000 children of military families from school-based school lunch and breakfast. This so-called “glitch” probably would not have occurred if more normal deliberative consideration had taken place.

II. The Republican proposal promotes an extremist agenda and shreds vital social safety nets

Behind the Republican “welfare reform” curtain hangs a rather extremist agenda. An agenda that does little to ensure meaningful jobs at livable wages for those on welfare and those at risk of being on welfare. An agenda that punishes the poor (especially poor children) to redistribute wealth to the already well-off. An agenda that abdicates the federal responsibility to provide safety nets to protect our least fortunate from the full impact of hunger, homelessness, and abuse. An agenda that divides these United States into disparate states, where social inequities will once again be justified by the slogans “states rights,” and “state flexibility.” An agenda more designed to satisfy the political interests of Republican governors than to advance the interests of the working poor. An agenda that exposes children to dangerously low child care standards and diminished, ad hoc nutrition standards. An agenda that prescribes a de minimus federal role against abuse, neglect, and abandonment.

\(^2\)We should not be misunderstood; we would not have preferred to consider the original “Personal Responsibility Act.” It was even more draconian than H.R. 999.
A. The proposed child care block grant removes important child care safety nets

Recent studies by the Carnegie Foundation and Yale University indicate that disturbing numbers of child care settings provide mediocre or poor quality child care. Clearly, more and better child care is critically needed. Unfortunately, H.R. 999 proposes a new, consolidated child care block grant that will mean less and worse child care for our nation's families. That diminution would occur because there are four basic features of the proposed block grant's structure that undermine improved child care. First, the grant eliminates three existing mandatory child care block grants and folds them into a single discretionary block grant, with an aggregate funding level set at fiscal year 1994 funding. Second, no allowance is made, during the entire 5-year duration of the grant, for increasing the availability of child care when demand increases, as it will during recessions and other foreseeable economic emergencies. Funding is kept static for 5 consecutive years, and no trigger is built into H.R. 999 to anticipate those economic emergencies. Third, the block grant eliminates state matching requirements and permits a 20% transfer of federal dollars to other block grants. Fourth, the block grant eliminates mandatory child care health and safety standards and eliminates funds used by states to improve the quality of care.

Republican assertions that the new block grant will provide states with funding sufficient to provide child care to all eligible children contradicts the reality that many states (even when they match AFDC child care funding with their own state resources) fail to meet the demand. Thirty-five states and the District of Columbia have exhaustive waiting lists for child care assistance. In the state of Michigan, for example, 54,000 families went unassisted in 1994. In Texas and Florida, where so-called "seamless" systems currently exist, more than 20,000 children in each state await for child care services. The Republicans claim that consolidation into a solitary program will have greater reach and deliver better child care services is imaginary and misleading.

The Republicans appear not to have considered projections of future needs in devising this child care block grant. Moreover, the elimination of entitlement to child care leaves funding levels to the discretion of the appropriators, which then places the block grant in direct competition with every other program in the federal budget. This Committee has always recognized that the needs of children are different from providing for farm subsidies, public works, and missile systems.

Much to our surprise, in an article in the Washington Times on March 5, 1995, entitled "Welfare Reform's Limited Day Care Worries Goodling," Chairman Goodling expressed grave concern about the child care block grant himself:

The only major area of concern I have is in the area of day care. * * * If you are going to move [welfare recipients] into the job market * * * that's going to be very difficult without health care and day care* * * I'm concerned because we level fund it. (Italic for emphasis). (Exhibit B)
His admission begs the question of why he allowed H.R. 999 to be reported out of the EEO Committee without addressing his reservations. After all, Chairman Goodling is absolutely correct. When AFDC recipients move into the workforce, their child care needs will likely go unmet because of this inadequate, discretionary child care block grant. The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) projects that by the year 2000, the Republican proposal will leave approximately 800,000 children without any child care assistance, and funding for current services will be reduced by $2.5 billion, or nearly 25%.

The provision in H.R. 999 that allows states unilaterally to transfer 20% of the federal child care block grant funds to other block grants deeply concerns us. There are no limitations or restrictions on any governor’s ability to so transfer funding from this block grant. It can be transferred for any conceivable reason, despite the fact that needs are not being met. States may respond to AFDC-related pressures by shifting funds from other critical needs. In addition, questions about when a transfer of funds can be made are unanswered. Can a governor, for instance, decide to take 20% “off the top” of each year’s grant? Can the transfer be made in the middle of the year?

This new block grant combines resources currently available under separate programs for AFDC recipients and the working poor. Without sufficient funding increases, states will be forced to make unpalatable decisions about how to allocate a diminished pie. Substantial numbers of families will be left without access to safe, affordable child care.

Elimination of current national health and safety standards for child care centers that receive public funds is indefensible. With so many children currently languishing in mediocre and poor child care settings, abolition of these standards will further erode the quality of care. Millions of children will be more vulnerable to infectious disease, cared for in unsafe and unlicensed establishments, and attended to by poorly-trained child care staff.

Every amendment offered by our Democratic Members to ameliorate H.R. 999’s harmful potential was rejected by the Republican majority. Attached is a letter submitted by HHS Secretary Donna Shalala strongly opposing the child care block grant proposed in H.R. 999. (Exhibit C)

B. The Republican nutrition proposals are unconscionable

Among the most unjustified aspects of the Republican welfare proposal is the elimination of highly successful nutrition programs. In its best light, their block grant plan is very risky. If their plan misses the mark, as it most certainly will, millions of children will face imminent harm; pregnant women and newborn children will lose sources of nourishment proven critical to successful pregnancies, healthy early childhoods, and lifelong physical and mental vitality. We categorically reject such risk-taking with our nation’s future.3

3Attached is a letter from Acting Agriculture Secretary Richard E. Rominger strongly opposing these nutrition block grants. (Exhibit D)
Our Republican colleagues vehemently deny that their nutrition block grants will mean real reductions in federal nutrition assistance to pregnant women and children. They proudly point to their proposed five-year authorization figures, with 4.5% annual increases. Yet, they claim their bill will “save” $7.2 billion over 5 years. They dismiss the nearly universal fears of nutrition experts, child advocates, and children themselves. We all have it wrong, they insist.

The majority is at best miscalculating, in truth, prevaricating, when they claim an increase in spending of 4.5% each year. Federal funding for the nutrition programs comes from many separate sources. The Republicans select a few accounts and increase those each year by 4.5%, while either completely eliminating or cutting the other significant accounts.

Case in point: The most dishonest calculation involves the comparison offered by the Republicans for school lunch spending. Republicans claim their bill increases spending for school lunches (as distinguished from breakfast, snacks, summer and child care food) by 4.5% each year. However, H.R. 999 sets aside absolutely no specific amount for lunches, only a total funding level for all school meals. Furthermore, the calculation made by the majority does not include several major accounts. Commodities is the largest omission; the next largest omission is state administrative expenses. The former accounts for between $650 million and $850 million each year in peaches, cheese, and other food sent directly to schools for lunch and breakfast programs; the latter accounts for over $100 million each year. To omit these (in addition to nutrition education and training funds) from any calculation of amounts schools need to provide lunch is misleading and mendacious. The fact is, the Republican “school lunch comparison” omits approximately 20% of the funds currently used to provide nutritious lunches to children.

Furthermore, only 80% of the school meal block grant must be spent on the provision of such meals. Twenty percent may be transferred to other activities, as a governor so chooses. This would lead to catastrophic consequences for the children served by the program. Past experience shows schools will close programs, leaving millions of poor children without access to free, nutritious school meals. This is fact, not hyperbole.

Will children bring meals from home? Administrators frequently answer “no.” For many of our poorest children, the lunch they eat at school is the only nutritious meal they eat all day. Because of limited family income, at home many of these children survive on unhealthy, inexpensive snacks to tide them over until the next school day.

We further protest the Republican’s claim they are protecting poor children. First, cutting funding $7.2 billion will reach beyond bureaucratic spending and into children’s stomachs. Second, the Republicans set aside 80% of the block grant’s funds for school meals for poor children. However, according to the United States

4 By our calculations, the Republicans have padded their “increase.” (Exhibit F.)
5 This claim only regards those poor children in school during 1995. The majority acknowledges H.R. 999’s formula does not keep up with expected growth in school aged poor children projected by CBO.
6 We do not support the Republicans claim that the bill will decrease bureaucracy. See page 11.
Department of Agriculture (USDA), 90% of the current federal school meal funding goes to meals for children under 185% of the poverty level. Third, the formula for distribution of funds does not include any poverty factor. Indeed, the formula will shift funds from poor to wealthy states because reimbursement will be based on the number of meals served, regardless of whether those meals are served to poor or other students.

The strongest example of this shifting occurs in the state of Mississippi, which has a very high rate of child poverty. The USDA predicts that the Delta state’s funding will decrease continually each year that the formula is in place. The only way Mississippi or any other state can increase its allocation of the block grant is to serve smaller, but more frequent, snacks, as opposed to one or two meals (breakfast and lunch).

Furthermore, if a state chooses to transfer 20% of its block grant to other services, the formula will forever punish that state (the formula is partially based on prior year funding). Those funds may never be regained.

We find it hard to believe that Republicans deliberately developed their formula to achieve such a perverse result. If their goal was to protect poor children, they woefully missed the target.

The Republicans claim their nutrition proposal will only hurt bureaucrats. The bill not only fails to cut bureaucracy, it creates more. In a March 8, 1995, letter to the Congress, the American School Food Service Association contested the Republican assertions:

The Opportunities Committee claims that the block grant will result in less paperwork and therefore less administrative expense. Not so. Under the legislation * * *, schools would still have to report to the Secretary * * * (a number of current federal reporting requirements) * * * In addition * * * (s)chools would have to establish a whole new system to make sure that illegal aliens do not receive any benefit from the block grant.

By not eliminating reporting requirements now in place, adding an additional layer of state bureaucracy, and forcing schools to police the lunch line in order to seek out and eliminate illegal immigrants, the Republican bill increases bureaucracy.

Are states protected in a recession by the “carry over” and 20% transfer provisions? Republican claims that a state can “carry-over” unspent funds for one year to help ease the impact of an upcoming recession in the next year, misrepresents the relationship between the Republican’s formula and economic cycles. First, a state that does not spend all current year funds on meals will find its portion of the federal pie decreased the next year because the Republican formula reallocates funds to states that provide more meals than other states. Moreover, few recessions send a calling card to warn states of their impending impact, and few recessions last for only one year.

To illustrate, consider a state in 1996 whose “crystal ball” foretells that a recession of a certain magnitude will begin on January 23, 1997. Knowing the exact magnitude and the duration of the economic downturn, the state may calculate the additional funds needed to meet the expected increase of poor children in its school.\footnote{Under H.R. 999, the state can only allow for a single year projection.} In response, the state limits the number of meals served in 1996 in order to carry-over funds to 1997. The state, however, finds this foresight punished, as its allocation of federal funds for 1997 decreases in proportion to the number of meals not provided in 1996.

The Republicans further argue that a state in recession can simply transfer funds from other block grants to the nutrition programs to ease the impact of a recession. This implies that a recession causing increased unemployment and poverty could result in an increased need for child nutrition, but not for low-income child care or cash assistance. Such circumstances are difficult to imagine.

Without adequate hearings on H.R. 999, these questions could not be raised. We are left then to ask in this report: Was this a misunderstanding of the bill’s impact or was this intended?

1. The family nutrition block grant baselessly abolishes the WIC Program

The special supplemental nutrition program for women, infants, and children (“WIC”) is widely regarded as one of the most effective national social programs even instituted. Republicans and Democrats alike praise the program’s success. Leading national and local health officials join the chorus, point to indisputable health statistics. Perhaps the most compelling testaments come from those in the “trenches” in the war against poverty and malnutrition; the doctors, nurses, and social workers who have witnessed the overwhelming benefits of this program. The Republican proposal to eliminate WIC and allow the states to develop “WIC-type” programs is an appalling gamble with the lives of almost 7 million women, infants, and children served monthly by the program.

Due to funding constraints, current WIC assistance fails to meet a substantial part of the existing needy population. The National Association of WIC Directors testified before the EEO Committee that approximately 2,650,000 malnourished low income women, infants, and children are presently unserved. Some of our nation’s top corporate executives in testimony given to the EEO Committee, called for full funding of the program, stating WIC is a tremendously sound national investment; the financial equivalent of an AAA bond.

WIC’s benefits are many. In human terms, WIC has reduced the rate of very-low birth weight infants by almost 50% and has nearly eradicated iron-deficiency anemia among participants. WIC-participation leads to improved cognitive performance (including motor skills and digit memory) among young children. And, WIC participation greatly decreases the incidence of premature births.

In financial terms, WIC’s success is also striking. A 1991 study by Mathematica showed that every dollar spent on WIC prenatal care saves up to $4.21 in Medicaid savings in the first year alone of an infant’s life. Similarly, a 1990 General Accounting Office study estimated that the $296 million spent by the federal government in FY 1990 on WIC saved the nation $853 million in Medicaid costs.
Through cost-containment measures approved by this Committee, WIC saves the federal government $1 billion annually. The EEO Committee Republicans rejected an amendment to ensure that these rebate savings would continue under the block grant. In sum, WIC investments pay huge dividends in savings, particularly those associated with health care, disability, and special education costs.

Democrats are not the only strong advocates for WIC. Throughout its history, the WIC program has had strong bipartisan support. When President Ronald Reagan tried to reduce federal funding for WIC in the early 1980's, Senate Republicans rebuffed him. When WIC's funding level failed to keep pace with needs, President George Bush secured substantial WIC funding increases.

Perhaps the wisest provision of WIC is that it is administered by caring people at 9,000 clinics who teach young mothers how to eat properly and how to feed their children properly. With convenient, nutritious foods, WIC serves as an in-home laboratory for proper eating. For many mothers, WIC is often their first course in nutrition.

Among my concerns as we reform our welfare system is that we may inadvertently strip programs of the national standards and guidelines that make them work. In the case of WIC, nutrition requirements guide the program toward better health, and Medicaid savings, while avoiding the potential confusion associated with creating a complex web of 50 different state rules. Our children's health is not defined by state boundaries. Our nutritional standards should not be either.—Published in the Washington Post, February 28, 1995, excerpts from op-ed piece entitled “One for Our Children” (Exhibit E).

We are mystified as to why Republicans in the 104th Congress suggests that there is something to be gained from dismantling WIC. The committee has heard no testimony complaining of “burdensome bureaucracies” from the program’s directors. Perhaps it plays into the stereotype presently in vogue among Republicans that all the “Great Society” programs have failed. Ironically, WIC and so many programs they now seek to eliminate were not created as part of the “Great Society.” Whatever their motives, it is clear to us that their assault on WIC, if successful, will be a major national tragedy. ending a federal program that, by human and economic measures, saves taxpayer dollars and saves children's lives is reprehensible.

The proposed family nutrition block grant plan is particularly damaging because it cuts over $4.2 billion from the Child Care Food Program—one-half of the funding for child care centers and family and group day care homes. As increasing numbers of low-income women enter the workforce (particularly since welfare reform likely will place hundreds of thousands of women into the workforce) many more children will rely on those settings for well-balanced meals.
We have no faith in the Republican promises that the H.R. 999 family nutrition block grant will provide sufficient federal dollars to prevent harm against pregnant women and children. We have no reason to trust that Republican appropriators will allocate enough federal block grant funding to prevent serious reductions in WIC-type services at the state level. Among the reasons for our lack of faith, we note that on March 2, 1995, the House Appropriations Committee voted to rescind $25 million in FY '95 WIC funds. This cut alone will deny vital WIC services to 50,000 to 100,000 expectant mothers, infants, and young children.

2. The Republican assault on the School Lunch and Breakfast Programs is without merit.

President Harry S. Truman signed the National School Lunch Act on June 4, 1946, as a "measure of national security." Examinations conducted on World War II draftees had revealed shocking levels of malnourishment. In 1966, school-based federal nutrition assistance was augmented by enactment of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966. These nutrition programs have been widely praised over the past half-century.

When the Reagan Administration proposed that the federal government relinquish primary responsibility for child nutrition in 1982, Republican House Members, including Representatives William Goodling and Newt Gingrich, joined Democrats on a resolution adopted overwhelmingly by the House reaffirming federal primacy over child nutrition. In addition, Mr. Goodling stated at a hearing before the House Education and Labor's Subcommittee on Elementary, Secondary, and Vocational Education, on September 21, 1982, that:

I cannot lend my support to the proposition of turning back to the states all responsibility for achieving child nutrition goals. This approach fails to acknowledge either an adequate future federal commitment to or an appropriate federal role in attaining these objectives.

A turnback is an abrogation of responsibility at the national level. I fear that we would be turning back or reversing the tremendous progress that we have made to date in enhancing the nutritional well-being of this nation's youngsters.

Both of these Republican leaders fully supported the program's reauthorization last year. Neither even raised turning child nutrition programs into block grants. Nothing that has happened over the past year should have shaken their confidence in the efficacy of these nutrition programs. So why the change of heart?

Nutrition experts have rightly questioned why the child nutrition issue is being addressed in the present context:

The National School Lunch and Breakfast Programs
* * * are education support programs aimed at building healthy children, ready to learn.—Vivian Pilant, President, American Food Service Association, January 6, 1995.

We question the appropriateness of including child meals programs or WIC in [the Republican Welfare bill]. We would argue that the primary purpose of child meals programs is to preserve the health of the child or to achieve goals such as better educational performance and lower health costs.—Patrick F. E. Temple-West, Director, Nutritional Development Service, Archdiocese of Philadelphia, in testimony before the EEO Committee on February 1, 1995.

After only one hearing during the 104th Congress, in which all Republican witnesses testified against the school nutrition block grant proposal, and despite the lack of any legitimate hearing record supporting the H.R. 999 proposal, the Republicans insist on going forward. Since the American public has become more aware of this unfounded proposal, they have expressed justifiable outrage. The number of children fed under these programs speaks volumes about its reach. Each day, approximately 93,000 schools provide lunch to roughly 25,000,000 school children, and nearly 6,000,000 children receive school breakfast. Fifty-six percent of all public school children participate in the program. Ninety percent of federal funds provide free and reduced priced meals. Study after study indicates that children fed under these initiatives pay closer attention, achieve higher grades, and attend school with greater frequency and enthusiasm.

The Republicans claim that their block grant will not result in any decrease in funding for school lunch or breakfast programs. The block grant will lead to a nearly $2.5 billion cut over the next five years in these school nutrition programs alone. The chart inserted at the end of these views bears out these numbers. (Exhibit F)

We are further disheartened by the proposed elimination of federal minimum nutrition standards for school lunch and breakfast programs, which the USDA is in the process of updating. H.R. 999 permits and encourages a mixed bag of state standards. We strongly oppose this deference to the states over the issue of nutrition standards. It should not matter whether a child lives in Missouri or Pennsylvania, Texas or California. A basic national standard should be guaranteed to every child participating in federally-funded nutrition programs.

We further oppose the elimination of other child nutrition programs, including the summer food program, the special milk program, and the Child and Adult Care Food program. The Republican proposal will not guarantee that these smaller, but invaluable, efforts will be carried out at the state level through the block grants. The lower funding levels, and authority to transfer 20% of the funds to other non-nutrition block grants makes provision of these services unlikely.

There is a glaring contradiction between what the Republicans propose, on the one hand, with regard to food stamps and what they propose, on the other, relative to the school nutrition programs. While Republicans on this Committee insist that block grants for child nutrition programs and the end of individual entitlements cause them no serious worry that children will go hungry, the House Agriculture Committee’s departure from the original “Contract with America” raises serious questions about Republican consistency. Advocates for pregnant women and children may not have the same political clout as powerful agricultural interests, but we hope that a sense of conscience will rule the day.

9 Combined with the family based nutrition block grant, CBO estimates a $7 billion combined cut between FY 1996 and FY 2000.

The school nutrition block grant is further deficient because it lacks a trigger or other mechanism to increase authorizations for nutrition funding under worsening economic conditions. An amendment offered by Representative Jack Reed that would have provided for a 1% increase in the school nutrition block grant if the national unemployment rate exceeds 6 percent was approved by all Committee Democrats, but was rejected by all but one Committee Republican. We fail to understand their rationale for not supporting such “flexibility.”

Vague assurances by the Republicans that supplemental funding would be favorably acted upon, should the need arise, give us no solace. House Republican domestic budget slashing is the order of the day, not supplemental spending for non-defense items.

Supporters of child nutrition should return to their past commitments. When this bill reaches the House Floor, they will have that opportunity.

Finally, among the major state losers in the child nutrition block grant schemes is the state of California, which will likely lose $1.29 billion over the next 5 years. Texas will be a big loser as well, with estimated reductions in federal child nutrition assistance projected at $671 million. In the end, the biggest losers in the Republican block grant mania as it applies to nutrition will be our nation’s children.

C. Title III: The Republican proposal is unfair to legal immigrants

The Republican treatment of legal immigrants in H.R. 999 is terribly unfair. First, their legal immigrant provisions rely on stereotype and myth. Second, there is a glaring disconnect between much of what they propose concerning legal immigrants and reforming welfare. Third, no supportive legislative record has been established before the EEO Committee for the legal immigrant limitations the Republicans propose.

First, as to the myths. The Republican proposal to deny millions of legal immigrants benefits and opportunities for federal education, job training, and child care assistance assumes that legal immigrants drain the United States economy. In fact, legal immigrants contribute substantially to the federal and state treasuries. Annually, legal immigrants from countries such as Ireland, Russia, Mexico, and Ghana earn at least $240 billion and pay over $90 billion in taxes in the United States. Yet, they receive only $5 billion annually in welfare benefits. Many legal immigrants are successful entrepreneurs, establishing and operating businesses that employ millions of workers. There is no credible support for the proposition that legal immigrants flood the United States seeking to live off our welfare system. The fact that a legal immigrant is not yet a United States citizen in no way increases unrecompensed burdens on the federal government. By paying taxes, creating jobs, and serving in our nation's Armed Forces, legal immigrants more than carry their weight.

Second, we fail to see any logical connection between denying immigrant eligibility to programs under this Committee's jurisdiction and reforming welfare. Ironically, the Republican proposal contradicts a basic goal of welfare reform: fostering self-sufficiency.
Tools critical to achieving the ideal of self-improvement and independence (e.g. job skills training, education, child care assistance) are denied legal immigrants under H.R. 999.

Third, no legislative record exists before our Committee supporting the anti-immigrant provisions of the Republican bill. None of the hearings held before this Committee addressed these immigration issues. Incidentally, a February 1995 CBO study entitled "Immigration and Welfare Reform" (provided at the request of Congressman Harold Ford when he was Chairman of the Ways and Means Subcommittee on Human Resources) makes almost no mention of the relationship between legal immigration and federal job training, education, and other such assistance.

The Cunningham amendment adopted during the Committee markup does little to redress the harms in H.R. 999. Under that amendment, persons legally residing in the United States still lose eligibility to programs, including low income energy assistance and child care development block grant assistance. Elder immigrants are denied aid to seniors, including food assistance under the meals-on-wheels and congregate meals programs; programs which are not now, nor have ever been, means-tested. And, the Cunningham amendment continues H.R. 999's originally proposed restrictions on eligibility for many higher education programs and job training programs.

The one-year grace period allowed for legal immigrants to maintain their eligibility for such programs, as long as they are residing in the United States on the date of the bill's enactment, does little to soften the harsh nature of the Cunningham amendment.

Many consequences of these anti-immigrant proposals will harm United States citizens. Families composed of both immigrant and United States citizen members will be penalized by the denial or reduction of benefits because of the immigrant status of a family member. How will the immigrant child fare without the child care assistance otherwise available to his or her U.S. citizen siblings?
Will not that child's sibling be indirectly effected by this denial?
While in their Committee Report, the Republicans claim not to intend these consequences, the language in H.R. 999, then, is ambiguous. United States citizens likely will face national origin discrimination, as state and federal agencies seek to "identify" the legal immigrants in a given family.

Finally, the immigrant provisions of H.R. 999 will likely increase burdens on government treasuries, not alleviate them. The states will be left struggling to respond to effects to implementation of these discriminatory and unfair provisions.
D. The proposed work program is a poor substitute for the existing JOBS program

The repeal in H.R. 999 of the existing JOBS program (Job Opportunities and Basic Skills) proposes to eliminate a program that, since enacted as a central aspect of the Family Support of 1988 (with bipartisan effort and support) has attained significant success within its few short years of operation. Though previous welfare reform initiatives contained work programs, the creation and funding of the JOBS program represented a major change in welfare policy by increasing the emphasis on work activities. The Government Accounting Office recently reported that, while not perfect, the JOBS program has been working well, given its limited funding.

Under current law, all states are required to maintain a JOBS program. All non-exempted welfare recipients are required to engage in and be provided a variety of job search, counseling, education, training, placement, and other services (including child care). The JOBS program is separately authorized and funded (currently at $1 billion in fiscal year 1995).

The Hutchinson amendment, adopted during markup of H.R. 999, reinvents the wheel by creating a brand new work program. The new program, despite the Republican majority’s assertions, contains requirements similar to the current JOBS program, but because it is part of a larger welfare block grant, it no longer will receive distinct funding. The new larger block grant is capped below current growth rates, which is likely to force states to use what would otherwise be JOBS money to meet future recipient monthly cash assistance needs.

The new program mandates that states provide some job services, but provides no separate funds for that mandate. The CBO estimate for H.R. 999 raises the concern that this change in federal funding will result in higher AFDC costs, as the lack of training monies will keep recipients on AFDC for longer periods. And, under the Hutchinson amendment, the states no longer are required to automatically report periods and, thus, be held accountable to the federal government on their provision of job services.

While some work requirements are better than no requirements at all, the reality is that providing meaningful work programs to enable recipients to permanently leave welfare requires a substantial investment of time and money. The Republican majority, in their views, argue that their replacement of the JOBS program with a new work program represents a shift from job training to jobs. But, the Hutchinson amendment still permits states to provide an array of services, including jobs and job training, as does the current JOBS program. The existing JOBS program does not emphasize job training over jobs. The use of education and training services by states simply reflects the needs of recipients and local job markets. A majority of the recipient population has limited education and job skills. Moreover, job availability varies widely among and within states, and during business cycles. The record of states in providing jobs and job services has been uneven. Eliminnating separate funding for job services is likely to further weaken the ability of states to make meaningful progress in this area.

In short, front-end funds are vital to create long-term employment gains for individuals and for the states. The Republican bill fails to guarantee either the adequate federal or state funding, or meaningful oversight, necessary to ensure that welfare truly becomes temporary assistance leading to long-term self-sufficiency.

Any welfare reform plan worth its salt must address the connection between wages and work requirements. Our ranking Member, Representative Bill Clay, offered an amendment requiring that JOBS recipients receive a salary not less than the new minimum wage proposed recently by President Clinton. As President Clinton has recently noted

If we are serious about welfare reform, then we have a clear obligation to make work attractive and to reward people who are willing to work hard.

Our Republican colleagues opposed the Clay amendment on the specious rationale that such a requirement would lead to greater reluctance by employers to hire those working their way off welfare. This time-worn argument—that minimum wage requirements constrict work opportunities—remains unconvincing. All workers, including welfare recipients, deserve to earn a living wage.

E. The Child Protection Repeals Proposed by the Republicans Demonstrate Their Intent to Simply Shift Major National Concerns to the State and Local Level

The repeal of successful national child welfare programs also concerns us. The list of federal child welfare and child protection programs originally proposed for repeal under H.R. 999 includes:

- The Missing Children's Act,
- The Abandoned Infants Act,
- The Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act,
- The Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment and Adoption Reform Act,
- Programs under the McKinney Act providing family support centers to prevent homelessness, and
- Programs under the Victims of Child Abuse Act providing federal funds for assistance and prosecution in child abuse cases.

These programs are slated for elimination despite evidence that they are desperately needed. For example:

- 2.9 million children were reported abused or neglected in 1993, a nearly 25% increase since 1988,
- 1,028 child fatalities from maltreatment were reported in 1993,
- Approximately 444,000 children are estimated to have been in foster care at the end of 1993,
- During 1990, 69,000 children in the nation’s foster care system had the goal of adoption, 20,000 of whom were legally “free” to be adopted, and

11That proposal (H.R. 940) was introduced by House Minority Gephardt, along with representative Clay and 60 other Democrats on February 14, 1995, and would increase the minimum wage by 90 cents over 2 years.
In the past several years, courts in 22 states and the District of Columbia have found child welfare systems in violation of federal and state laws.

The child protection block grant proposed by the Republicans essentially abdicates federal responsibility for vulnerable children and transfers that responsibility to the states. That is an unattractive policy shift. Many state child welfare systems are overburdened and rift with political conflict. And, the welfare changes proposed by the Republicans will increase those pressures as more families fall into greater financial crises. Many of the programs the Republicans propose to abolish provide critical resources to public and private sector agencies, and community-based and grassroots organizations that address some of our nation's most horrific social problems. State matching requirements, which under current law ensure a commitment by the state to invest funds to remedy these problems, are eliminated under H.R. 999.

In the aggregate, repealing child welfare will reduce federal support by approximately $2.5 billion. The future of such renowned institutions as Father Flanagan's Boys Town and the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children will be endangered. These are only two examples of hundreds of community-based institutions that attempt to protect the well-being of millions of American children.

In their Committee report, the majority offers almost no rationale for their wide set of repeals. Their report states:

"The functions of the Child Protection Block Grant [to be established solely under the jurisdiction of Ways and Means Committee] dealing with child abuse and neglect prevention and adoption assistance will replace the narrow purposes of the programs being repealed under the Committee on Educational Opportunities (Committee Report at page 57)."

We believe that the 3 million abused and neglected children, the 450,000 children in foster care, and the millions of children who have been adopted by loving families because of the commitment these programs represent, deserve a better explanation.

CONCLUSION

Our nation's welfare system needs an overhaul. It locks many families in generational poverty. It creates disincentives for fathers to live at home with their families. It fails to offer a clear road back to the workforce for those who have stumbled along the way. However, the Republican proposal is clearly not a better alternative. It would force single parents to choose between the dignity of work and safety of their children. The child care block grant will not provide the resources necessary to meet rising demand. The price of child care will, therefore, increase as subsidies decline. And, the fact is, H.R. 999 will increase disincentives to employment.

Despite the stereotypes, welfare is not a way of life for most AFDC recipients. Most leave welfare within two years, and many do not return. Much of what lies at the core of this debate is divisive and hypocritical. Other national problems burden the Federal Treasury more than welfare. Other categories of "hand-outs" extend billions of federal benefits to corporate recipients. Where is the Republican outrage over that kind of dependency?

We fear for our nation’s children and wonder what they must be thinking as they listen to the debate over whether their hot school meals will simply disappear. We fear for the pregnant women and their infants who face the very real prospect that state officials will have to inform them that WIC assistance has been cut because federal support is insufficient. We fear for the legal immigrants who have paid taxes for many years and otherwise obeyed our nation’s laws, but will face discrimination and the loss of benefits because they are not yet citizens.

We regret that the Republican majority on the EEO Committee has paid so little attention to the views of those whose lives over which we deliberate. We wish they would disassociate themselves from the harsh comments of extremists like Robert Rector (a major architect of Republican welfare proposals), who dismisses the potential effects of eliminating the school lunch program this way:

“What does a hot school lunch offer to a 16-year-old girl who is pregnant? What does a hot school lunch offer two 16-year-olds in D.C. who are shooting at each other in the school hall with semi-automatic weapons?” (Quoted in Time Magazine, March 6, 1995).

That hot school lunch offers a healthy start for the expectant mother and her child, and it offers those angry teens less reason to be angry. Ms. Honkala and millions of other adults and children deserve reasonable, logical, and compassionate welfare reform.

EXHIBIT A

AN INTIMATE LOOK AT WELFARE: WOMEN WHO’VE BEEN THERE

(By Isabel Wilkerson)

CHICAGO, Feb. 13—The upper room of a community center in a worn corner of Chicago got tense and quiet the other night as a half-dozen women squinted to read about what might happen to a welfare system that perhaps no one knows better than they do.

The women hold respectable jobs: one is a crossing guard, one is a gang intervention worker, a couple work for the city. They have all been on welfare and hated it more than the ex-husbands and former boyfriends who left them or beat them, or are too broke or apathetic to pay child support.

They get together as often as they can to share pointers on how to file their income taxes or find reliable baby sitters. They trade war stories about the days they pooled food stamps to get through the month and cheer one another as they walk the narrow road of employees and bill payers. They call themselves the Welfare Alumni, a 5-year-old sorority of survivors, about 20 altogether, who have crossed the river between people on welfare and people on a payroll.

As the country turns its attention to the problems of the welfare system, they have been meeting with greater frequency, mulling the future of welfare as avidly as the most ardent Republicans in Congress. Some proposals infuriate them, but others, like the idea of not increasing aid for an additional child born to a mother already on welfare, get some support.

But unlike the lawmakers, the women debate out of fear. They know that on the bottom rungs of a fitful economy, they are only a layoff away from being on welfare again, that the safety net, frayed as it is, could be pulled from under them and their children.

And so on a frigid night in Chicago, they soberly turned the stark pages of a proposed Senate bill. They shook their heads from the opening paragraph and humphed their way through the parts about locking up men who do not pay child support or denying them driver's licenses.

"Like that's going to stop them," said Linda Baldwin, a mother of four who is now a family counselor. "If he doesn't have a job, never had a job and never cared what the state said about anything else, why would he care about this?"

Carol Friar, the group's president, said: "This is a jail sentence. You're not going to pay in jail either. That's just messing up those relationships."

No illusions about social ills

They do not look at welfare from the committee rooms of Congress or the libraries of universities but from the earthy positions of women who have actually raised families on $367 a month. They say they know better than anybody what will happen if public aid to poor families is cut off or if the Government makes fugitives of men who the women say do not have jobs or money to pay child support.

They say it is the children who will suffer for this, that the men will come after the women and blame or beat them for the punitive actions of the state. They say the answer is jobs for the men and a continued safety net for children whose mothers cannot find jobs. Otherwise, they say, the state will not be able to get money from men with nothing, and neither will they.

"At least if he gets a house, I can lien it," Mrs. Friar said.

Ms. Baldwin said: "Or the kids can go live with him. Or they can get the house when he dies. But he's not going to let them live with him if you're trying to put him in jail. They're going to have to come up with a new word for danger."

Many paths lead to welfare

The women got on welfare under different circumstances and for varying lengths of time. Mrs. Friar grew up on welfare in the Robert Taylor Homes, one of the sprawling housing projects in Chicago. Ms. Baldwin got on welfare when she gave birth to the first of her four children at 17. She stayed on it for 10 years. Gerri Tyson turned to welfare in 1982 after her marriage broke up.

"I was going to be on for six or seven months and someone was going to wave a magic wand and everything would automatically fall into place," Ms. Tyson said.

There was no magic wand. She could not rely on her ex-husband, a motorman for the Transit Authority. The times when she found a job, she said, her welfare check was cut or the rent went up and the baby sitter would not show. Six months on public assistance turned into six years.
When her children were older, she got a job in a Federal youth program, along with Ms. Baldwin, making more money than they thought they could possibly spend: $420 every two weeks.

Job euphoria is short-lived "With the first check we were going to get the kids new clothes, new furniture, a car and move," Mrs. Tyson said.

"Definitely move," Ms. Baldwin said.

They treated themselves to dinner out at a rib restaurant, bought a few clothes and discovered they did not have that much money after all.

"You don't have as many expenses when you don't work," Ms. Baldwin said. "You have to have clothes and shoes and have your hair fixed and cosmetics and carfare and lunch money."

All of my children have at one time or another been ill. Welfare covered her children's medical costs. Her job does not.

"I told my children, 'I suggest nobody in my family cuts or breaks or hurts anything cause I can't pay for it,'" Ms. Baldwin said. "Do you know how many medical bills I have. I have $2,000 in medical bills. I cannot pay these people. Pay them? With what?"

Now when she hears people on welfare bragging that they got a job and are free, she wants to take them aside and warn them.

"They say, 'I got me a job—First thing I'm doing is I'm moving out of here,'" Ms. Baldwin said. "I think to myself: You don't even know. You had so little for so long, to have that much is like having a million dollars."

They all have stories from life at rock-bottom. Lynda Wright, the group's executive director and the mother of four, went on welfare after her divorce and used to make up stories for her children when the electricity was cut off and they had to light candles to see.

"I told the kids we were celebrating," Mrs. Wright said. "We had this religion that went on for days."

Carol Stenson, a crossing guard, said the state public aid office had begun seizing the child support payments her ex-husband had finally begun making to her to pay back some of what she had gotten while on welfare. "I need that child support to eat and live," she said.

Emotional cost of the dole

The women of the Welfare Alumni said the system was degrading. But they do not agree on everything. The other day, Mrs. Friar and Mrs. Wright got into another of their long-standing debates over whether the Government should add payments for children a woman bears after she is already on welfare.

"Women at some point have to take responsibility for their lives," said Mrs. Friar, the mother of two.

"The money is for the children," Mrs. Wright said. "This is supposed to be about making sure children do not suffer."

"One mistake, maybe I could see," Mrs. Friar said. "But three mistakes? Love and children—you can control that. If you come to us with three kids, I can see the Government saying, 'We're not committing to another 10.'"
“I have a problem with the Government getting in bed with me,” Mrs. Wright said. “I don’t think white men should sit up in a room and make a law to degrade women.”

There was no resolution. What they do agree on is the view that the whole system is anti-family, first by keeping the father from the home and then by pitting mother against father over child support poor men usually cannot pay.

And they worry about what they consider a mean spirit haunting the country as politicians and voters appear to be turning on poor people. “It’s an attack on women and a loss of human caring,” Mrs. Friar said.

Political currents are worrisome

They point out that people on welfare make up a tiny part of the Federal budget and are not the cause of the nation’s problems. Now that they are taxpayers they, too, are angry at Washington. “We pay for those people,” Ms. Baldwin said, “to sit on their duff and ride in those planes and those limousines and get those salaries and those expense accounts that could feed half the people on public aid.”

From their vantage point, these are some of the things Congress should think about:

A two-year limit on benefits is not enough to get the training and find a job in an increasingly technology-oriented market. Most of the women relied on welfare for five or more years and are still struggling to stay off.

The system is disorganized and penalizes people who want to work or get an education.

Education and job training and protection of health benefits, temporarily at least, are needed when they get work.

Child-support enforcement is not enough. Men should play a bigger role in the children’s lives. “It should be that one weekend a month, you’re responsible for picking up these children and taking care of them,” Ms. Friar said, barring, of course, any indication of abuse by the father.

“My son needs a relationship with his father,” she said. “That has no cash value.”

Some say there should be a contract between poor families and the Government that requires recipients to set goals for independence in exchange for Government money. “Public aid never asks, ‘What is your plan?’” Mrs. Friar said. “You can ask people that. That’s fair. If a participant doesn’t uphold her end, a committee that includes former recipients should try to determine why and help her. The goal should be to have people leave healthy and independent.”

The women came together in 1990, friends and friends of friends who had been to welfare and back. It started as a support group and speaker’s bureau and has been helped along by grants and donated expertise from social workers, bankers and women’s advocates. There are 400 people on the group’s mailing list, but only those who have been on welfare or are currently on welfare can vote or hold office. The group holds food drives and budgeting classes and workshops on repairing credit for poor women, occasionally lobbies officials about welfare policy and generally serves as a bridge between the working world and the world of welfare. “We’re here to help others to make sure they don’t fall,” Mrs. Friar said.

At its meetings the other day, the group welcomed a new member, who said she had been struck in the eye by her boyfriend and had lost medical coverage for her children when she tried to get a job. She said the system got in the way and suggested that she wondered if it was worth it.

People in the group shook their head in recognition. They were all running from the stigma of welfare and got jobs for dignity’s sake. The meeting went on for a couple of hours. When it was over, Mrs. Friar had an announcement. There were jobs at the Park District, one for an administrative assistant with benefits. The women set down their coats and pulled out pens to write it down.
A CLOSER LOOK

Who's on Welfare, and for How Long

There are 14.3 million people, including more than 10 million children, on welfare. The typical mother on welfare is under 30, neither white nor black, has two children and has not finished high school. More than a third of women on welfare work their way off the rolls within two years, the time many lawmakers are proposing as a cutoff for aid. Other women leave, only to return.

The New York Times
WELFARE BASHING FINDS ITS MARK

(By Melinda Henneberger)

About two months ago, Carol Gagnon began slipping into grocery stores late at night to avoid other shoppers, who she says sometimes yell at her when she pulls out her food stamps.

“There’s so much more of that now, I’ve started going in the middle of the night,” said Ms. Gagnon, a formerly upper-middle-class mother in Eastham, Mass., who said she left an abusive relationship five years ago and now receives public assistance to support herself and her 7-year-old daughter.

Ms. Gagnon says her circumspection is a result of the harsh tenor of the welfare debate across the country, and especially in Washington. Congressional supporters of legislation now being thrashed out in the House, which would cut off welfare benefits after five years, have referred to the current system as “pampering the poor” and the proposed changes as “tough love.” President Clinton too has vowed to “end welfare as we know it.”

And welfare recipients have internalized the message. While reliance on a welfare check has always been deeply embarrassing for many—and recipients themselves generally agree that the current system isn’t working—the sense of shame has been heightened to the point that some are becoming both more critical of themselves and eager to distance themselves from others in the same situation.

“There’s such a barrage of shame and blame and welfare recipient bashing in this country that some A.F.D.C. recipients believe some of it,” said Eliot Katz, an advocate for the homeless in Edison, N.J., referring to those on Aid to Families with Dependent Children, the Federal cash assistance program for poor families. “So as to have some self-esteem, women on A.F.D.C. want to say, ‘I’m not like other women on welfare.’ That’s to be expected in this kind of environment.”

Dozens of welfare recipients interviewed in New Jersey, where an 18-month-old program denies additional benefits to families who have more children while already on welfare, spoke spontaneously of feeling more stigmatized than ever. Recipients in Wisconsin, Michigan and Massachusetts, where changes are also in the works, expressed similar sentiments.

John Hochschild, a construction worker in Mukwonago, Wis., who went on public assistance two years ago so he could care for his two children after his wife became debilitated by diabetes and pancreatitis, said recent changes in rules and attitudes have made things tougher.

“You start feeling like you’re getting hit everywhere you turn, and it bites at you,” Mr. Hochschild said, adding that local welfare officials had recently pressured his wife, currently in a hospital in intensive care, to enter a work program. “They always keep bringing up, ‘Well, you’re a two-parent family so you shouldn’t be in this situation.’”

Disparagement within the ranks

spoke disparagingly of others in the same situation, saying that while they were working hard to get off welfare, others were just lazy.

Meisha Lamiotte, 21, of Camden, N.J., who supports four sons on $463 a month from A.F.D.C. and $394 in food assistance, said: "This diner I go to, sometimes people in there are talking about their taxes paying for people on the welfare and how it's taking money out of their pocket to pay for Medicaid. Sometimes I see their point of view, but they have to understand that it's not too easy to find a job."

Still, Ms. Lamiotte, who is studying for her high-school equivalency degree, also says that "some people just like to sit at home and collect welfare. Some people just don't care, they figure they've got an income coming in and they don't have to do nothing, while me, I'm out here trying to do something with myself and set an example for my children."

When another woman in Ms. Lamiotte's equivalency-degree class for women on A.F.D.C. complained that welfare workers patronizingly "act like the money is coming out of their pocket," Marta Gonzalez, 30, of Camden, retorted, "It is coming out of their taxes."

My family puts me down

A woman from Edison, N.J., who asked that her name not be used because "my family puts me down as it is for being on welfare," complained bitterly about welfare fraud and suggested that food stamps of known drug abusers be coded to monitor their purchases.

And several said people like themselves who have received public aid for only a short time, should not be lumped with long-time recipients, while others said that those with two, three or four children should not be seen in the same light as those with many more.

"I can take half of what they say in Washington and push it aside, but sometimes I take it kind of personal because of the way they say it," said Cloran Davis of River Edge, N.J., a mother of four. "It's not that we don't try," she said, then added, "I know a few women offhand who have eight kids and are still reproducing, when they should have been cut off four kids ago."

Representative E. Clay Shaw Jr. of Florida, the Republican chairman of the House subcommittee that drafted the welfare bill taken up by the full Ways and Means Committee last week, argued that recipients will ultimately benefit from the new restrictions.

"It's going to be scary for them—no question about it—to come over from a life of receiving a check for doing nothing," Mr. Shaw said. "That's why people have to be pushed off. But in the long run they'll be much better off and their self-esteem will be raised considerably."

But several advocates for the poor suggested that even the talk of sweeping change has paralyzed some who had previously been moving toward independence through education and training.

"They're panicking," said Selma Goode, director of West Side Mothers, an advocacy group in Detroit. "They are just so worried that they're not making decisions that will protect them if their A.F.D.C. stops," she said, citing clients who had quit school after hearing about Michigan’s new “Work First” program requiring recipients to seek jobs.

Frying pan to fire

A Florida woman said she was so ashamed of being on welfare that she briefly returned to the home of her father, who had physically abused her, rather than stay on welfare after quitting her two jobs as a cashier and a secretary when she was nine months pregnant.

“I was only on it a couple of months, but I felt like scum,” said the woman, who asked not to be identified. She reluctantly returned to the welfare rolls when the abuse resumed, she said.

And Denise Belk, 36, a Detroit mother of four who works and still receives some public assistance, said fear of change hinders job-seeking welfare recipients. “They haven’t ever been employed,” she said. “And you’ve got to have some type of belief in yourself to even compete in the market world.”

Ms. Gagnon, whose voice shook with anger as she described her experience in Massachusetts, said: “We already have very little self-esteem, so the last thing we need is to have the country turn around and point the finger at us and say we’re the problem, but suddenly we’re responsible for everything from the schools to the deficit. It’s like ethnic cleansing. That’s what it feels like.”

WELFARE REFORM’S LIMITED DAY CARE WORRIES GOODLING

(By Chery Wetzstein)

House Economic and Educational Opportunities Committee Chairman Bill Goodling expects most of his panel’s block-grant welfare reforms to survive a House floor vote, but he’s not entirely at peace with one of his grants or certain provisions regarding legal aliens.

“The only major area of concern I have is in the area of day care,” the Pennsylvania Republican said in an interview at his office last week.

“If you’re going to move [welfare recipients] into the job market . . . that’s going to be very difficult without health care and day care,” Mr. Goodling said. “I’m concerned because we level funded it.”

Mr. Goodling’s committee passed a welfare reform bill that created a child care block grant out of nine federal programs. The bill calls for $1.9 billion for each of five years for the child care block grant.

The bill also creates two other block grants—one for school-based nutrition programs, and one to serve low-income families, including pregnant women, mothers and children.

These provisions should pass “by and large” when the welfare bill goes to the House floor, he said.

In addition to the child care funding, Mr. Goodling was concerned that his bill denied legal aliens access to 19 educational and job-related programs such as Pell grants, Stafford loans, job training for disadvantaged adults and youths, and the Job Corps.
Ironically, the House Ways and Means Committee's welfare reform bill, now in legislative markup, would allow legal aliens access to 10 programs denied them by the Economic and Educational Opportunities Committee bill.

"I've asked Ways and Means to bail us out on that" discrepancy, Mr. Goodling said, adding that he and other Republican leaders would iron out differences with members of the House Rules Committee.

"I wanted them to walk cautiously on the legal-alien issue," said the 20-year House veteran. "I would think there would be court cases all the time" if legal aliens were denied access to some programs, and "we don't need any more jobs for attorneys."

Mr. Goodling was especially supportive of his committee's creations of the nutrition block grants and had prepared comments to "debunk" recent criticisms of the plan.

"One of the things I've been hearing is, "You're cutting the funding for the school-lunch program,"" he said.

"The fact is, we're authorizing an entitlement to the states with a 4.5 percent increase every year for five years," said Mr. Goodling. "If you do that and cut down on the paperwork, which is what nutrition people back home complain most about, . . . they can feed many more children than at present.

"So, I think that debunks that whole argument."

Mr. Goodling also addressed criticisms that nutrition standards would diminish, states wouldn's have money to feed people in a recession and states will transfer nutrition money "willy-nilly."

"We say in the body of the legislation that [states] are expected to accept the most renowned nutrition standards of the day. If I were a governor, I would do nothing in the first year to change anything in the operation of these programs" but take the time to find out what can be done better.

New models of nutrition can be developed using the wisdom of the National Academy of Science and nutrition professionals, he said.

Governors can cope with recessions by "rolling over" any surplus savings from the black grants from one year to another. States won't have "use-them-or-lost-them" funding restrictions, Mr. Goodling said.

Moreover, he asked, "when did we ever have an emergency in this country when Congress didn't act pretty quickly to deal with that emergency? Supplementals [federal funding bills] come pretty quickly if the need is there."

"We've very definitely said that the person running [nutrition] programs has to certify that they have met all of the needs of that particular block grant. And then they can't will-nilly transfer [the money]—they can't transfer to something that is not in one of the three block grants."
Dear Mr. Clay:

This letter expresses the Administration's views on the Chairman's mark for child care consolidation and the repeal of several child welfare programs under consideration by the Committee on Economic and Educational Opportunities.

The Administration believes that both child care and child welfare are important issues for American families, and both issues have a distinguished bipartisan history in the Congress and in this Committee. Child care is of significance to millions of working parents and their children, as well as to those families who are trying to gain a foothold in the labor market. Child welfare services assist millions of our most vulnerable children and families in this Nation each year, often in times of crisis.

The Administration looks forward to working cooperatively with the Congress to pass bipartisan child care legislation and to reform and strengthen the child welfare system. The Administration has, however, serious concerns that a number of the features of the Chairman's mark would undermine the values of work and family to which we are all committed, and might undermine the economic independence of families and the safety and well-being of children.

The Administration believes that quality child care is an important component of a welfare reform strategy that is truly about work. Successful child care policy promotes the economic independence of families and children's healthy development; provides parents with real choices among quality alternatives for children of all ages; and encourages continuity of care for the child, regardless of changes in the parent's employment.

Last year, the President submitted a bold welfare reform bill, the Work and Responsibility Act of 1994, which embodied these values. It continued the assurance of child care as families move toward self-sufficiency, and made important new investments in child care for working poor families. At the same time, it extended health, safety, and quality provisions to all the major federal child care programs.

These important supports that enable parents to work and to ensure children's safe and healthy development appear to be missing from the Chairman's mark before you. Therefore, the Administration has a number of concerns:

The proposed legislation provides no assurance of child care to AFDC recipients who work or are preparing to work—even if a state requires them to participate in work or training. We should and must require all parents to become active and productive workers. And at the same time, we should assist them in their efforts to care for their children so that their children are not left home alone or in unsafe situations.
The proposed legislation may require states to choose between serving families making the transition from welfare to work and working families that need child care assistance to keep them from falling onto welfare. With a cap on total funding for child care far below projected spending under current law, and no separate guaranteed source of child care assistance for welfare recipients, the legislation could conceivably reduce assistance by limiting availability to only approximately of the million children of hard working American families by FY 2000 currently receiving federal child care support. The Administration believes that we should support working families and that families should not have to go on welfare to receive child care assistance. Moreover as demonstrated by the waiver applications the Department has received, states which are committed to making AFDC recipients work view child care as an indispensable tool in their efforts.

The proposed legislation repeals provisions for children's health and safety contained in the Child Care and Development Block Grant. These provisions were passed with bipartisan support in Congress and signed into law by President Bush after an extensive national debate. They represent a carefully crafted balance between state flexibility and the national interest in children's safety and healthy development. The provisions do not specify any standards at the federal level but instead require that states have such standards in three areas: control of infectious diseases, physical premises safety, and provider training. A study released in the last few weeks reported that most child care is far from adequate and that 40 percent of infant-toddler centers provide poor quality care. We believe that the proposed legislation could increase risks to children's basic health and safety.

The proposed legislation also repeals the provision in the Child Care and Development Block Grant that provides resources for quality care, as well as early childhood, before-school and after-school programs. This provision has been instrumental in ensuring that parents have choices among quality alternatives for their children. States have used these resources to build the supply of quality care, provide critical consumer education to parents, improve licensing and monitoring, and increase the training and supports to child care providers. The repeal of this provision raises concerns.

The Administration supports an approach to child care that genuinely supports work for parents, and safety and healthy development for children. Such an approach would assume child care for families moving toward self-sufficiency and expand child care opportunities for working families who want to avoid welfare dependency. We believe that ensuring quality choices for parents, and providing for continuity of services for children and families should be an element of such a proposal.

CHILD WELFARE

Children become part of the child welfare system because they have been abused or neglected or are in danger of abuse or neglect. The Administration has serious concerns, expressed in the letter to Ways and Means Subcommittee Chairman Clay Shaw and Ranking Member Harold Ford last week about the proposed block grant approach to child protection. There is unanimous agreement that the system for serving abused and neglected children and their families is seriously overburdened and unable to respond adequately to the needs of children today. The block grant approach potentially endangers the safety of these children by reducing funds for services and for foster and adoptive homes, eliminating critical protections for their well-being, and potentially halting progress in states that are moving forward on the reforms that are needed in this system.

The proposed legislation consolidates existing programs into a block grant with nominal federal oversight and reduces resources significantly from the current services baseline. The Administration has serious concerns about these provisions. First, the proposed legislation caps spending for child protection at $5.6 billion less than projected baseline spending over 5 years. This cut could force states to gamble with children’s well-being—choosing whether to: leave maltreatment reports uninvestigated, leave children in unsafe homes with minimal services, cut payments to foster parents, or eliminate prevention. Second, the proposed legislation virtually eliminates federal monitoring and accountability mechanisms and also eliminates federal support for research, training, technical assistance, and demonstration projects. It would be virtually impossible for the Federal Government to assure the safety of children or help states improve their systems.

The Chairman’s mark repeals the Abandoned Infants Assistance Act, the Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act, the Adoption Opportunities Program, the Crisis Nurseries Act, the Missing Children’s Assistance Act, and the Family Support Center program under the Stewart B. McKinney Homeless Assistance Act. The activities authorized under these programs would be permitted but not required under the Child Protection Block Grant approved by the Ways and Means Subcommittee on Human Resources.

In addition to general concerns about the block granting of child protection funds, the Administration has several specific concerns about the proposed repeal of programs within the jurisdiction of your Committee.

The proposed legislation repeals the Adoption Opportunities program and eliminates the Adoption Assistance program, leaving it up to states whether they can afford the subsidies that enable many special needs children to find permanent homes. These repeals could slow the progress that has been made on adoptions since 1988.

The legislation repeals the Abandoned Infants program, which was established to respond to the continuing crises of AIDS and crack cocaine. These crises have disproportionate effects on families and child welfare systems in selected urban areas.

The proposed legislation eliminates all direct federal support for non-profit agencies, community-based organizations and public-private partnerships, such as Children's Trust Funds, as well as all earmarked support for prevention of child abuse and neglect.
The Administration is committed to improving the child welfare system. The system must ensure the safety of children and strengthen the capacity of parents to nurture healthy children. Given the critical nature of these services, the Administration supports an approach to change that provides states and communities with flexibility to develop services that are responsive to the needs of their citizens, but within the context of a national framework that maintains a commitment to federal resources, and strong, effective protections for children and families.

In summary, the Administration looks forward to working with the Committee in a bipartisan fashion to promote two key goals: work for families and safety and healthy development for children. But we are concerned that the proposed legislation does not move toward these goals. It does nothing to provide child care that would move families from welfare to work, and it risks moving families who are now working back onto welfare as they lose child care assistance. It weakens protections for children’s safety in child care, and gambles with their well-being if they are abused or neglected. It neither holds state bureaucracies accountable nor cushions state taxpayers against recession or growing family needs. We believe there are alternative approaches to reform that achieve our mutual goals in far more constructive and accountable ways.

The Office of Management and Budget advises that there is no objection to the transmittal of this report to Congress.

A similar letter also was sent to Chairman William F. Goodling and members of the Committee on Economic and Educational Opportunities.

Sincerely,

DONNA E. SHALALA.

EXHIBIT D
DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE,
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY,

Hon. WILLIAM CLAY,
Ranking Democrat, Committee on Economic and Educational Opportunities, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR CONGRESSMAN CLAY: The House of Economic and Educational Opportunities Committee will shortly markup the Welfare Reform Consolidation Act of 1995. The bill would convert the Department of Agriculture’s (USDA) Child Nutrition Programs and the Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) into two block grants—a School-Based Nutrition Block Grant and a Family Nutrition Program Block Grant.

The Administration has serious concerns about the impact of this block grant approach on the health and well-being of the Nation’s children. Throughout their history, USDA’s Child Nutrition and WIC Programs have produced significant and measurable nutrition outcomes among the children who participate in them. The programs work because national nutrition standards are established, required, and verified, and because the funding structure ensures that the program can expand to meet the increased needs that are created by a recession or similar economic downturn. The proposed block grant structure would eliminate both of these protections, leaving children vulnerable to shifts in the economy, and to changes in nutrition standards that could be driven more by cost considerations than children’s health. For these reasons, the Administration opposes block grants for USDA’s Child Nutrition and WIC Programs.

Block grants for WIC would mean a reduction in benefits and/or services. At the end of 1995 there will be 275,000 more WIC participants than funding set aside for this population for fiscal year (FY) 1996 in the Family Nutrition Block Grant Program. California, Georgia, Virginia, New York, and Michigan have chosen to not run a summer feeding program for poor children, so USDA now does it. Under a block grant, USDA would have to stop these programs, so 700,000 children might have to go hungry when school is not in session.

Several States have chosen to not administer school lunch programs in private/parochial schools. Now, USDA ensures that eligible children in these schools can eat a healthy meal. Under a block grant, low-income children in parochial and other private schools may no longer receive assisted lunches.

National standards protect children, no matter where they live. Since 1976, growth stunting has decreased 65 percent; over the last 30 years occurrence of low birthweight has dropped and anemia among low income pre-schoolers has decreased. The proportion of low income households with diets meeting recommended levels for key nutrients grew at double the rate of the general population. Under the Welfare Reform Consolidation Act proposal, standards could vary widely from State to State. There will be no guarantee that State standards will adequately promote children’s health; children’s health could suffer if States set or alter nutrition standards to meet shifting budgets or other priorities unrelated to children. The general reduction in nutrition assistance for children could lead to increased malnutrition, growth stunting, and iron deficiency anemia, which can permanently reduce intelligence.

Enclosed are additional points that need to be taken into full consideration as the Committee debates this legislation.

The Administration is opposed to block grants for nutrition programs. President Clinton has said that nutrition programs are in the national interest: We believe that changes should be made to make programs more flexible and easier for States to administer. We are committed to reducing fraud and modernizing benefit delivery. But we do not support changes that jeopardize children’s health or cut benefits in the guise of devolution.

We are ready to work with Congress to bring about lasting and meaningful change in federal nutrition programs. We will support changes that preserve health and nutrition goals that are in the national interest, consolidate what is redundant, and reform what is outdated. But a national system of Federal nutrition programs establishes and meets nutrition standards, responds to economic changes, and ensures children will be protected. We believe the Federal Child Nutrition and WIC Programs provide a solid foundation for children to grow.

Sincerely,

RICHARD E. ROMINGER, Acting Secretary.
SCHOOL BASED NUTRITION BLOCK GRANT PROGRAM

Overall funding for the school-based programs would be $309 million less than the current policy in fiscal year (FY) 1996, and over $2 billion less for the 5-year period FY 1996-2000. Up to $1.3 billion of the block grant could be used for non-nutrition purposes in FY 1996. If States transferred the maximum amount of money out of the block grant, the cut could be as large as 24 percent of the FY 1996 level.

The School-Based Nutrition Block Grant would eliminate the standards that ensure America's children have access to healthy meals at school. We know that national nutrition standards, developed over 50 years of program operations, work. Recent Department of Agriculture (USDA) research demonstrates that school meals met the vitamin, mineral, and calorie goals set for the National School Lunch Program (NSLP). USDA, through its School Meals Initiative for Healthy Children, has proposed regulations to update nutrition standards and require school meals to meet the Dietary Guidelines for Americans.

The 1994 reauthorization of the Child Nutrition Programs further endorsed the Dietary Guidelines as national standards by making them a requirement for the school nutrition programs. Under this block grant proposal, States would be asked to develop their own nutrition standards, but there could be 50 different standards and, faced with reduced funding, there would be no incentive to maximize children's health in setting such standards.

Under the bill, children's health would be placed at risk during recessions. Between 1990 and 1994, the number of free lunches served to low income children increased by 23 percent. During this same period, the number of free meals served in child care centers increased by 45 percent. USDA's Child Nutrition Programs expanded to meet those needs. Block grants do not protect children from recessions; children's health would be jeopardized by States' limited ability to expand. Under this proposal, needy families and children could find nutrition benefits reduced at times when they are most needed. In fact, needy children would not be guaranteed a free meal. The bill could result in a charge for meals served to very low income children. States would be unable to respond to economic downturns without cutting back on the quality of food, raising taxes, or cutting other services so that children could eat. If enacted in 1989, this bill could have resulted in nearly a 20 percent reduction in funding for meals served to school children in 1994.

Since a State's funding would be based partially on the number of meals served in the previous year, States that serve more "free" meals than the national average would be penalized. In contrast, States that serve more total meals would fare better in the allocation formula. Since it costs more to serve a free meal to a poor child, States have an incentive to maximize their total meal count by serving more meals to affluent students. Without national nutrition standards, States might also be inclined to cut the quality or amount of food provided in order to serve more meals and maximize funding.
This effect would be heightened in a recession, when even more poor children need meals free or at low cost. Simply, if school enrollment rose in a State, the State’s grant amount would not provide an additional amount of money to help provide meals for additional children until the subsequent fiscal year. Further, if national enrollment increases, no additional funds would be available. Demographic data suggests enrollment will rise 4 to 6 percent during the authorization period of the grants.

A School-Based Nutrition Block Grant that operates as a capped entitlement would not decrease administrative complexity. The proposed block grant would require that schools continue to make a determination of income eligibility for “free” meals, keep track of spending on children under 185 percent of poverty, and count meals served so that the State grant allocation process can occur. In contrast, USDA’s nutrition initiative to improve school meals will decrease administrative burden.

The proposed block grants lack accountability. The reporting required in this proposal is not a guarantee that poor children would be adequately served, or that the nutrition standards set will be appropriate to children’s health needs. It also provides no guarantees that State oversight for program compliance will occur, which could allow errors or fraud to occur without detection. There would also be no guarantee that significant issues, such as dairy bid-rigging, where USDA has taken more than 100 actions in the last year, would be addressed.

FAMILY NUTRITION BLOCK GRANT PROGRAM

For the proposed Family Nutrition Block Grant, spending would be $943 million less in FY 1996, and $5.3 billion less over the 5-year period FY 1996–2000. Up to $900 million of the block grant could be used for non-nutrition purposes in FY 1996 (equal to the maximum amount available for child care, summer, and milk programs).

The Family Nutrition Block Grant program would not respond to economic downturns. If enacted in 1989, this bill would have resulted in a 43 percent reduction in funding for meals to children and food and services to women, infants, and children in 1994. WIC funding would have been 23 percent less than actually spent, and spending on the non-school child care, summer, and milk programs would have been 57 percent less than was needed. The points about overall non-responsiveness of block grants in recessions for the School-Based Block Grant Program are also applicable to the Family Nutrition Block Grant Program.

The Family Nutrition Block Grant, if effective on October 1, 1995, would force States to remove 275,000 women, infants, and children from the WIC Program. At year end, the program will serve 7.3 million participants, while the amount designated for WIC will support an average annual caseload of 7.0 million participants. Under the block grant proposal, States would provide services to 400,000 fewer WIC participants in FY 1996 than provided for in the President’s Budget.

The Family Nutrition Block Grant Program risks diminishing the effectiveness of the WIC program. By dropping national program requirements for the WIC Program, there would likely be an erosion of national program standards that could reduce or reverse the proven effectiveness of WIC in such areas as reduced low-birthweight and infant mortality. This could increase prenatal and pediatric health care costs. Cost savings to the Medicaid Program resulting from the WIC Program, now valued at $400 million to $1.3 billion per year, would decline.

WIC Program cost containment efforts would be diminished and the cost of food provided would increase. Cost containment efforts for infant formula alone amount to over $1 billion annually and fund services for nearly 1.6 million persons each month. The positive Federal influence on cost containment was recently demonstrated. At the direction of the Federal government, a Western State rebid its infant formula rebate contract and the winning bidder provided an 8 percent increase in its rebate per can of formula.

The Family Nutrition Block Grant would eliminate the viability of supporting meals served in 185,000 family day care homes. Denying all children in family day care homes the modest subsidy available to children in school-based programs could drive family day care homes out of the program. If welfare reform efforts result in more working, low-income parents, this cost squeeze on day care would be exacerbated.

The Family Nutrition Block Grant would eliminate national nutrition standards for child care programs. Like the School-Based Block Grant, with significant reduction in funding and State allocations tied to the total number of people served, there would be few incentives to put children's health and nutrition needs first.

ONE FOR OUR CHILDREN

As the nation engages in debate over the future role and direction of the federal government's activities in a host of programs, there is much that can be learned about federal-state cooperation and cost effectiveness in the example of one program that delivers tremendous benefits to some of the most vulnerable in our society.

The WIC Program—the Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants and Children—has a 20-year track record demonstrating how federal programs implemented by states can achieve important national goals, while saving taxpayers billions of dollars in preventable health care costs. In the drive to streamline and improve government programs, the need for WIC and WIC's success should not be obscured.

This prescriptive program has enjoyed bipartisan support since it was established by such leaders as Sen. Bob Dole and the late Senator Hubert Humphrey. By providing necessary nutrition to pregnant women, lactating mothers and one-third of all children born in the United States, WIC—quite simply—works. The program serves nearly 7 million mothers and children each month at a cost of less than $1.50 a day for each participating child. For that small amount, this program results in significant Medicaid savings that far outweigh the program's costs—by a ratio of 3-to-1, according to several studies. That is clearly an overwhelming return on a small national investment.

WIC's well-documented success is founded in its rock-solid nutrition standards. The foods offered must achieve requirements for iron, calcium, Vitamin A, Vitamin C and protein. Goals for these nutrients were selected based on firmly documented scientific evidence that increasing the intake of these nutrients at key junctures in fetal development and in infants' lives would improve health, reduce low birthweight and lower infant mortality.

There is no question that the societal costs of undernourished children are stunning. During my tenure as secretary of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, I recall visiting neonatal intensive care facilities at hospitals in Fort Lauderdale and in Detroit. In both facilities, I was saddened to observe low birthweight infants who had been hospitalized for the first six months of their lives. Hospital bills for these tender babies had already exceeded hundreds of thousands of dollars. I've always believed that the frequency of these perilous beginnings of life could be reduced by proper nutrition at critical stages in an infant's development.

Those compelling experiences aided me in formulating one of our major undertakings at HHS—development of the Healthy People 2000 initiative. By establishing health promotion and disease-prevention goals for the nation, we sought to achieve realistic concrete results by the year 2000. These included goals of reducing infant mortality, reducing the incidence of low birthweight and increasing early prenatal care. Our efforts were motivated by persuasive research documenting savings of $14,000 to $30,000 for every infant born without low birthweight.

The results of WIC's short-term nutrition intervention are compelling evidence that this type of preventive care works. A USDA study of WIC children found a 33 percent reduction in infant mortality and as much as a 23 percent reduction in premature births. A 1992 GAO study found a reduction of as much as 20 percent in low birthweights among WIC participants. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention documented a dramatic reduction in childhood anemia among WIC participants. What's more, the GAO study found that WIC's role in connecting participants to health care providers produced an improvement in immunization rates among WIC participants.

Perhaps the wisest provision of WIC is that it is administered by caring people at 9,000 clinics who teach young mothers how to eat properly and how to feed their children properly. With convenient, nutritious foods, WIC serves as an in-home laboratory for proper eating. For many mothers, WIC is often their first course in nutrition.

Among my concerns as we reform our welfare system is that we may inadvertently strip programs of the national standards and guidelines that make them work. In the case of WIC, nutrition requirements guide the program toward better health, and Medicaid savings, while avoiding the potential confusion associated with creating a complex web of 50 different state rules. Our children's health is not defined by state boundaries. Our nutritional standards should not be either.
As we come to grips with the changes voters demanded three months ago, we must find ways to more effectively achieve national policy goals with fewer dollars. WIC has been a real success story, and it should be used as a model and not lost, in the block grant debate.

1 H.R. 999 would not take effect until FY 1996. If funding had been authorized for FY 1995, it can be estimated the 1996 numbers would be 4.1% higher than FY 1995 authorization for the school based grant and 3.6% for the family based grant. These percentages represent the average increase in total funding each year beginning with the Republican's initial base, which represents a cut in funding. This comparison assumes the full amount authorized will be appropriated, and thus, represents a "best-case" scenario. There is no guarantee the amount appropriated will be the full amount authorized, and in addition, 20% may be transferred out of this block grants into other block grants. Numbers for FY 1995 are provided for comparison only and are not included in the totals.

2 WIC recipients that will have to be taken off program in 1996=over 100,000 (based on the 80% set-aside and the CBO inflation adjusted numbers for WIC for maintaining current services).

DISSENTING VIEWS OF MR. ROEMER

The 104th Congress is faced with a unique opportunity to reform the welfare system, which most Americans, including many welfare recipients, agree needs major change and restructuring. In the rush to meet the terms of the Contract with America, the Economic and Educational Opportunities Committee has attempted to reverse decades of public welfare policy in less than two days. In my view, the Committee did not meet the challenge.

If we truly wish to make welfare a temporary safety net, we must look at innovative ways to ensure that welfare recipients find and remain at work. I find it disappointing that the Committee abrogated its jurisdiction over one of the solutions to the welfare puzzle—job training. By relinquishing the JOBS program to another Committee, which chose not to include employment training or education in its bill, the Economic and Educational Opportunities Committee further exacerbated the existing disconnect that undermines the welfare structure in this country.

The Committee held three hearings on this bill and, in the end, did not heed many of the recommendations of the witnesses who did appear. Despite an entire hearing in which every witness expressed grave concerns about nutrition block grants, the proposal was included in the bill. H.R. 999 will dramatically cut Federal welfare spending despite testimony from the General Accounting Office that the new block grant proposals “present a greater challenge for the States to both implement and finance, particularly if such proposals are accompanied by Federal funding cuts.” A GAO report, which was requested by the Chairman of the Economic and Educational Opportunities Committee, also found that the new block grant proposals would be much more expansive than the block grants created in 1981.

Since H.R. 999 removes the entitlement status of certain child care and nutrition programs, States will undoubtedly receive significantly less funding to support these important initiatives. Not only does the bill make the child care and nutrition programs discretionary, subjecting them to the appropriations process, but it keeps funding for the child care block grant static and reduces expenditures for nutrition programs by as much as $7 billion, according to the Congressional Budget Office.

While I agree with assertions that reducing the administrative costs to States will result in some degree of savings, I find it difficult to believe that these current mandates in the nutrition programs account for over $6 billion in administrative expenses. The nutrition block grant proposal will simply take money from programs that serve children and apply the savings to offset other provisions of the Contract with America.

In order to ensure that this offset would not occur, I offered an amendment during full Committee markup that would have required that any savings from the consolidation of the nutrition programs be devoted to deficit reduction. I strongly oppose cutting child nutrition programs, but it was clear from the outset that the majority Members of the Committee were going to take this action. I believe that my amendment would have accorded Committee members the opportunity to answer decisively critic’s assertions that cuts in school lunch and other nutrition programs would be used to pay for tax cuts. Instead, the amendment was ruled out of order. I would argue that the amendment was germane to the bill. Since H.R. 999 transfers Federal funds to the States, it was also within the Committee’s jurisdiction to transfer Federal funds to deficit reduction.

In addition to the drastic cuts in child nutrition programs, significantly fewer resources will be devoted to child care as a result of the bill’s repeal of the AFDC Child Care, At-Risk Child Care, and Transitional Child Care programs. The bill eliminates these programs, and simply adds their FY 1994 funding levels to the authorization of the existing Child Care and Development Block Grant, which is a discretionary program. The bill, by also eliminating the State matching requirements in these three programs, sends a clear message to States that they can diminish their investment in child care.

During full Committee markup I offered an amendment that would have maintained the State matching requirement for the portion of the child care block grant that is derived from the three repealed child care programs. In many cases, this would have been less burdensome than the State matching requirements, which are currently equivalent to a State’s Medicaid matching rate and can range from 20 percent to 50 percent.

My amendment, which failed in Committee by a vote of 17 to 18, could have maintained current child care expenditures. It also would have provided a guarantee that States would operate effective programs. In the bill as reported by the Committee, the requirement that States contribute matching funds has been eliminated. This bill sends a clear signal to States that they will no longer have to share in the cost of providing child care services.

Another provision in H.R. 999 that will result in a reduction of child care services is the transfer authority, which permits States to re-allocate up to 20 percent of their child care and nutrition block grants to supplement other block grants formed under the larger welfare reform proposal. The bill allows States to shift their child care and nutrition funds to the Temporary Family Assistance Block Grant, even if this block grant is subject to a 5 percent penalty for a State’s failure to meet the bill’s work requirements.

In order to correct this oversight, I intended to offer an amendment that would have eliminated the transfer authority for states that have been penalized by the Federal government. My amendment would have protected nutrition and child care funds against raids by States looking to use these funds to replace any penalty they might have incurred for failing to meet the bill’s work targets. The amendment would have put more teeth into these work requirements by eliminating what many States consider to be an attractive “flexibility” feature of the bill—the transfer authority.
Unfortunately, debate on the entire bill was halted before this particular amendment, as well as a host of other amendments, could be offered. The result of this process is that the House's first attempt at welfare reform this Congress will be a series of bills that fail to recognize that the welfare reform puzzle has many pieces that might be carefully put together in a bipartisan manner.
