106TH CONGRESS 1ST SESSION H. CON. RES. 208

Expressing the sense of Congress that there should be no increase in Federal taxes in order to fund additional Government spending.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

October 26, 1999

Mr. TOOMEY submitted the following concurrent resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means

OCTOBER 26, 1999

The Committee on Ways and Means discharged; considered under suspension of the rules and agreed to

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

- Expressing the sense of Congress that there should be no increase in Federal taxes in order to fund additional Government spending.
- Whereas Federal taxes are at their highest peacetime level in history, taking 20.6 percent of the gross domestic product;
- Whereas the typical American family pays 36 percent of its income in Federal, State, and local taxes—more than it spends on food, housing, and clothing combined;
- Whereas in 1999 governments at all levels will collect $10,298 for every man, woman, and child in the United States;

 $\mathbf{2}$

- Whereas the Congressional Budget Office forecasts that the productivity of American workers—and controlled Federal spending—will create a non-Social Security surplus of $996,000,000,000 over the next 10 years;
- Whereas the House of Representatives voted on May 26, 1999, to protect Social Security and Medicare by passing the Social Security lock box by a vote of 416 to 12; and
- Whereas Congress must protect Social Security and Medicare by controlling Federal spending, rather than by increasing taxes on any Americans: Now, therefore, be it
- Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That it is the sense of Congress that there should be no increase in Federal taxes in order to fund additional Government spending.
