A BILL

To supplement current activities in the exchange of agricultural and farming expertise by establishing a grant program to support bilateral exchange programs whereby African American and other American farmers share technical knowledge with African and Caribbean Basin farmers regarding maximization of crop yields, use of risk management tools, expansion of agricultural trade, use of new financial instruments to increase access to credit, and other ways to improve farming methods, and for other purposes.

1        Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4        This Act may be cited as the “Farmers to Africa and 5 the Caribbean Basin Act of 2001”.

6 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

7        Congress finds the following:

8            (1) Many African farmers and farmers in Car-
9           ibbean Basin countries use antiquated techniques to 10           produce their crops, which results in poor crop qual-
11           ity and low crop yields.

12           (2) Many of these farmers are losing business
13           to farmers in European and Asian countries who use 14           advanced planting and production techniques and 15           are supplying agricultural produce to restaurants,
16           resorts, tourists, grocery stores, and other con-
17           sumers in Africa and Caribbean Basin countries.

18           (3) A need exists for the training of African 19           farmers and farmers in Caribbean Basin countries
20           and other developing countries in state-of-the-art
21           farming techniques regarding standard growing 22           practices, insecticide and sanitation procedures, and

1 other farming methods that will produce increased
2 yields of more nutritious and healthful crops.

3 (4) African-American and other American farm-
4 ers, including banking and insurance professionals,
5 are a ready source of agribusiness expertise that 6 would be invaluable for African farmers and farmers
7 in Caribbean Basin countries.

8 (5) A United States commitment is appropriate
9 to support the development of a comprehensive agri-
10 cultural skills training program for these farmers
11 that focuses on—

12 (A) improving knowledge of insecticide and 13 sanitation procedures to prevent crop destruc-
14 tion;

15 (B) teaching modern farming techniques,
16 including the identification and development of 17 standard growing practices and the establish-18 ment of systems for recordkeeping, that would 19 facilitate a continual analysis of crop produc-
20 tion;

21 (C) the use and maintenance of state-of-
22 the-art farming equipment;

23 (D) expansion of small farming operations
24 into agribusiness enterprises through the devel-
25 opment and use of village banking systems and

1 the use of agricultural risk insurance pilot prod-
2 ucts, resulting in increased access to credit for 3 these farmers; and

4 (E) marketing crop yields to prospective
5 purchasers (businesses and individuals) for local 6 needs and export.

7 (6) The participation of African-American and 8 other American farmers and American agricultural 9 farming specialists in such a training program prom-
10 ises the added benefit of improving access to African 11 and Caribbean Basin markets for American farmers
12 and United States farm equipment and products and 13 business linkages for United States insurance pro-
14 viders offering agricultural risk insurance products
15 and technical assistance.

16 (7) Existing programs that promote the ex-
17 change of agricultural knowledge and expertise
18 through the exchange of American and foreign farm-
19 ers have been effective in promoting improved agri-20 cultural techniques and food security and thus the 21 extension of additional resources to such farmer to 22 farmer exchanges is warranted.
