LEGISLATIVE ACTIVITIES REPORT

MARCH 29, 2001.—Ordered to be printed

Mr. HELMS, from the Committee on Foreign Relations, submitted the following

REPORT

INTRODUCTION BY SENATOR JESSE HELMS, CHAIRMAN, SENATE COMMITTEE ON FOREIGN RELATIONS

During the 106th Congress, the Committee on Foreign Relations approved authorization legislation for most programs falling within the Committee's jurisdiction, considered far-reaching legislation on United Nations reform, and reported several important bilateral and multilateral treaties.

In the second session of the 106th Congress, the Committee reported legislation, ultimately added to Foreign Operations authorization legislation, linking accountability, transparency, anti-corruption, and borrower-graduation requirements for the multilateral development banks to the authorization for Third World debt relief. The Committee also reported legislation to provide global AIDS and Tuberculosis relief, and legislation promoting micro-enterprise.

In a provision of the Admiral James W. Nance and Meg Donovan Foreign Relations Authorization Act FY2000-2001 (P.L.106-113), coauthored by Senators Helms and Biden, payment of U.S. arrears to the United Nations was tied to broad reforms. The first phase of P.L. 106-113 conditions—related to U.S. sovereignty—were met in November 1999, thus permitting the release of $100 million in arrears. U.N. negotiations to reform general and peacekeeping assessment scales, which were concluded in December 2000, largely satisfied the second phase of conditions by reducing U.S. dues.

The Committee approved resolutions of ratification for a substantial number of bilateral and multilateral treaties, including the Hague Convention on Inter-Country Adoption. Following hearings on the Comprehensive Test Ban Treaty (CTBT), the Committee was discharged of further consideration of that treaty, which was rejected by the Senate in October, 1999. The Committee also gave priority attention to a substantial number of pending law enforcement and investment treaties. The Committee reported bilateral extradition and mutual legal assistance treaties, as well as treaties providing for the return of stolen vehicles and aircraft. In addition, the Committee reported bilateral investment treaties and a maritime boundary agreement with Mexico. Multilateral agreements reported included the Hague Convention on Inter-Country Adoption, for which implementing legislation was also approved. The Committee also reported an inter-American convention on prisoner transfers, and an inter-American convention to prevent and punish corruption, among others. With the exception of the CTBT, the Senate approved all treaties that reached the floor during the 106th Congress.

Oversight hearings were numerous and productive. Perhaps the most significant hearing during the 106th Congress was the Full Committee field hearing on implementation of United Nations reform chaired by Senator Helms in New York on January 21, 2000. The Committee also held oversight hearings on U.S. foreign policy with Secretary of State Madeleine Albright, and on topics including the Anti-Ballistic Missile Treaty, the direction of treaty negotiations on conventional forces in Europe, national missile defense, U.S. embassy security, broadcasting, exchange programs, U.S.-Taiwan relations, inter-country adoption, the CTBT, the International Criminal Court, Iraq, reform of the IMF and World Bank, the Kyoto Protocol to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change, the U.S. embargo against the Communist regime in Cuba, sanctions policy, the Fujimori Government in Peru, U.S. policy in Africa, U.S. China policy (including permanent normalization of trade relations), corruption in Russia, and Gore-Chernomyrdin agreements concerning Russian arms sales to Iran.
