

108TH CONGRESS
1ST SESSION

H. R. 3064

To amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to encourage stronger math and science programs at elementary and secondary schools.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

SEPTEMBER 10, 2003

Mr. EHLERS introduced the following bill; which was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means

A BILL

To amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to encourage stronger math and science programs at elementary and secondary schools.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4 This Act may be cited as the “National Science Edu-
5 cation Incentive Act of 2003”.

6 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

7 The Congress finds the following:

8 (1) As concluded in the report of the Com-
9 mittee on Science of the House of Representatives, 10 “Unlocking Our Future Toward a New National

1 Science Policy,” which was adopted by the House of 2 Representatives, the United States must maintain 3 and improve its preeminent position in science and 4 technology in order to advance human under-
5 standing of the universe and all it contains, and to 6 improve the lives, health, and freedoms of all people.

7 (2) It is estimated that more than half of the 8 economic growth of the United States today results
9 directly from research and development in science
10 and technology. The most fundamental research is 11 responsible for investigating our perceived universe,
12 to extend our observations to the outer limits of 13 what our minds and methods can achieve, and to 14 seek answers to questions that have never been 15 asked before. Applied research continues the process
16 by applying the answers from basic science to the 17 problems faced by individuals, organizations, and 18 governments in the everyday activities that make our 19 lives more livable.

20 (3) The effectiveness of the United States in 21 promoting economic growth will be largely deter-
22 mined by the intellectual capital of the United 23 States. Education is critical to developing this re-
24 source.

1 (4) The education program of the United States
2 needs to provide for 3 different kinds of intellectual 3 capital. First, it needs scientists and engineers to 4 continue the research and development that is cen-
5 tral to the economic growth of the United States.
6 Second, it needs technologically proficient workers
7 who are comfortable and capable dealing with the 8 demands of a science-based, high-technology work-
9 place. Last, it needs scientifically literate voters and 10 consumers to make intelligent decisions about public
11 policy.

12 (5) Student performance on the recent Third
13 International Math and Science Study highlights the 14 shortcomings of current K–12 science and mathe-
15 matics education in the United States, particularly 16 when compared to other countries. We must expect 17 more from our Nation’s educators and students if 18 we are to build on the accomplishments of previous 19 generations. New methods of teaching mathematics
20 and science are required, as well as better curricula
21 and improved training of teachers.

22 (6) Science is more than a collection of facts,
23 theories, and results. It is a process of inquiry built 24 upon observations and data that leads to a way of

1 knowing and explaining in logically derived concepts
2 and theories.

3 (7) Students should learn science primarily by 4 doing science. Science education ought to reflect the 5 scientific process and be object-oriented, experiment-
6 centered, and concept-based.

7 (8) Children are naturally curious and inquisi-
8 tive. To successfully tap into these innate qualities, 9 education in science must begin at an early age and 10 continue throughout the entire school experience.

11 (9) Teachers provide the essential connection
12 between students and the content they are learning.
13 High-quality prospective teachers need to be identi-
14 fied and recruited by presenting to them a career
15 that is respected by their peers, is financially and in-
16 tellectually rewarding, and contains sufficient oppor-
17 tunities for advancement.

18 (10) Teachers need to have incentives to remain 19 in the classroom and improve their practice, and 20 training of teachers is essential if the results are to 21 be good. Teachers need to be knowledgeable of their 22 content area, of their curriculum, of up-to-date re-
23 search in teaching and learning, and of techniques
24 that can be used to connect that information to their 25 students in their classroom.
