CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Expressing the sense of the Congress that a commemorative postage stamp should be issued to promote public awareness of, and additional research relating to, Crohn's Disease.

Whereas an estimated 1,000,000 Americans have Crohn's Disease, which is a chronic and painful disorder that affects the intestinal tract;

Whereas Crohn's Disease affects approximately 100,000 children under the age of 18 and has been detected in infants as young as 18 months, with the disease's "second wave" developing in adults over the age of 50;

Whereas Crohn's Disease is difficult to diagnose due to the similarity of its symptoms to those of other intestinal disorders;

Whereas the cause of Crohn's Disease is still unknown, and Crohn's Disease has no known cure;

Whereas current evidence suggests that both genetic and environmental factors contribute to the development of Crohn's Disease;

Whereas it is estimated that two-thirds to three-quarters of children with Crohn's Disease will require one or more operations in their lifetime, and 60 to 90 percent of children with Crohn's Disease will experience growth failures; and

Whereas the Federal Government, public and private organizations, health care providers, and the medical community are striving to work together more closely in order to improve the quality of life of children and adults affected by Crohn's Disease: Now, therefore, be it

1        Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate
2 concurring), That it is the sense of Congress that—

3            (1) the United States Postal Service should
4        issue a commemorative postage stamp to promote
5        public awareness of, and additional research relating
6        to, Crohn's Disease; and

7            (2) the Citizens' Stamp Advisory Committee of 8        the United States Postal Service should recommend
9        to the Postmaster General that such a stamp be 10       issued.
