A BILL

To restore health care coverage to retired members of the uniformed services, and for other purposes.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4 This Act may be cited as the “Keep Our Promise to 5 America’s Military Retirees Act”.

6 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

7 Congress finds the following:

1           (1) No statutory health care program existed
2 for members of the uniformed services who entered 3 service prior to December 7, 1956, and retired after 4 serving a minimum of 20 years.

5           (2) Recruiters, re-enlistment counselors, and of-
6 ficers at all levels of the uniformed services, and
7 other government officials, as agents of the United
8 States Government, used recruiting tactics that al-
9 lowed members who entered the uniformed services
10 prior to December 7, 1956, to believe they would be 11 entitled to fully paid lifetime health care upon retire-
12 ment.

13           (3) In the United States Court of Appeals for 14 the Federal Circuit decision of November 18, 2002, 15 in Schism v. United States (No. 99–1402), the 16 Court said: “Accordingly, we must affirm the dis-
17 trict court’s judgment and can do no more than 18 hope Congress will make good on the promises re-
19 cruiters made in good faith to plaintiffs and others
20 of the World War II and Korean War era—from 21 1941 to 1956, when Congress enacted its first
22 health care insurance act for military members, ex-
23 cluding older retirees. . . . We cannot readily imag-
24 ine more sympathetic plaintiffs than the retired offi-
25 cers of the World War II and Korean War era in-

1       volved in this case. They served their country for at 2       least 20 years with the understanding that when 3       they retired they and their dependents would receive 4       full free health care for life. The promise of such 5       health care was made in good faith and relied upon.
6       Again, however, because no authority existed to 7       make such promises in the first place, and because 8       Congress has never ratified or acquiesced to this 9       promise, we have no alternative but to uphold the 10      judgment against the retirees' breach-of-contract
11      claim. . . . Perhaps Congress will consider using its 12      legal power to address the moral claims raised by 13      Schism and Reinlie on their own behalf, and indi-
14      rectly for other affected retirees.”.

15           (4) Only the United States Congress can make 16      good on the promises recruiters made in good faith
17      to plaintiffs and others of the World War II and Ko-
18      rean War era.

19           (5) Statutes enacted in 1956 allowed those who 20      entered service on or after December 7, 1956, and 21      retired after serving a minimum of 20 years or by 22      reason of a service-connected disability to medical 23      and dental care in any facility of the uniformed serv-
24      ices, subject to the availability of space and facilities
25      and the capabilities of the medical and dental staff.

1           (6) Recruiters, re-enlistment counselors, and of-
2           ficers at all levels of the uniformed services, and
3           other government officials, as agents of the United
4           States Government, continued to allow members who 5           entered the uniformed services to believe they would 6           be entitled to fully paid lifetime health care upon re-
7           irement, despite enactment of statutes in 1956,
8           subsequent statutes, and the issuance of regulations
9           that defined and limited the availability of medical 10          care to retired members of the uniformed services.

11          (7) After 4 rounds of base closures between 12          1988 and 1995 and further drawdowns of remaining 13          military medical treatment facilities, access to 14          “space available” health care in a military medical 15          treatment facility is difficult or virtually nonexistent
16          for many military retirees.

17          (8) The failure to provide adequate health care
18          upon retirement is preventing the retired members
19          of the uniformed services from recommending, with-20          out reservation, that young men and women make a
21          career of any military service.

22          (9) Although provisions in the Floyd D. Spence
23          National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year
24          2001 (as enacted into law by Public Law 106–398)
25          extended coverage under the TRICARE program to

1 medicare eligible military retirees age 65 and older,
2 those provisions did not address the health care
3 needs of military retirees under the age of 65.

4 (10) The United States should make good on 5 the promises recruiters made in good faith in the 6 World War II and Korean War era and reestablish
7 high quality health care for all retired members of 8 the uniformed services.
