The Senate met at 8:45 a.m. and was called to order by the President pro tempore (Mr. STEVENS).

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Dr. Barry C. Black, offered the following prayer:

May we pray.

Eternal, sovereign Lord, supply our needs for today.

Give strength to the weak as they shoulder heavy responsibilities. Give rest to the weary, that their tired hands will find new vigor. Give comfort to the sorrowful and compensate them for every joy that life takes away. Give all of us the presence of Your love, that we may find the peace of sins forgiven and the power to break the chains of temptation.

Use our Senators today for Your glory. Uphold them when they reach the limits of their strength.

We pray in Your powerful Name.

Amen.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The PRESIDENT pro tempore led the Pledge of Allegiance, as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

RESERVATION OF LEADER TIME

The President pro tempore, Under the previous order, leadership time is reserved.

This vote will go forward, unlike the votes for two far more qualified people nominated by President Clinton who were pocket-filibustered by the Republican leadership of the Senate, along with 59 other judges nominated by President Clinton who were pocket-filibustered by the Republican leadership.

What I worry about with this nomination of Mr. Kavanaugh, whose ABA rating has been downgraded—it is almost unprecedented to see that happen—is that he is a man who in all his statements spoke of making rulings that would make President Bush proud. This is an independent branch of Government. He is not supposed to make any President—Republican or Democratic—proud. He is not supposed to be a rubberstamp for anybody.

I think when you have a Republican-controlled Congress which has refused to be a check on the Bush-Cheney administration, whether it is the war in Iraq, the lack of weapons of mass destruction, the failures of Homeland Security with Katrina, or this latest fiasco in the Veterans’ Administration, there is no accountability. We at least should be able to speak to our courts and to expect our courts to be accountable.

This is an administration that has been secretly wiretapping Americans for years without warrants, despite the requirements of the law. This is an administration that refused to allow the Justice Department’s own Office of Professional Responsibility to proceed with an investigation into whether Justice Department lawyers violated their responsibilities or the law in establishing and justifying programs to spy on Americans. This is an internal government investigation that is being stymied by the administration that is talking about prosecuting reporters and newspapers for trying to inform the American people about their government. This is an administration that says the law is what the President decides the law should be—not what Congress passes.

What is desperately lacking throughout this administration and this Republican-controlled Congress is accountability. I will give you one example.

Yesterday, those responsible for Enron’s collapse, which caused so many employees and investors to lose their savings, were held accountable in a court of law. Precious little was done by the Republican-controlled Congress to look into that. It required an independent court of law. Of course, Enron had been very generous to the President and his friends and to many among the Republican leadership in the House and Senate in their contributions.

I compliment the President, who yesterday expressed some regrets over the disastrous course he charted in Iraq; he today, Brett Kavanaugh, who is a young and relatively inexperienced, but ambitious member of the White House’s inner circle. He is the President’s pick to put another ally and trusted member of the DC Circuit. He has spent most of his legal career in partisan political positions. As Staff Secretary to the President, Mr. Kavanaugh has been involved in President Bush’s use of 750 Presidential signing statements to give the President alone the power to choose whether to enforce laws passed by Congress. As an Associate White House Counsel, Mr. Kavanaugh worked with Karl Rove on the President’s plan to pack the Federal bench with ideologues such as William Pryor, Janice Rogers Brown and others. He helped justify the wall of secrecy that has shrouded so many of the White House’s activities.

At his hearing Mr. Kavanaugh emphasized, as if a qualification, that he had “earned the trust of the President” and his “senior staff.” All that may be useful for advancement within this President’s administration or Republican circles, but those are hardly qualifying qualifications for an independent judge of this President and this administration’s actions. Indeed, when pressed at his confirmation hearing to provide answers about his qualifications for this lifetime appointment and his responsibilities as a judge, Mr. Kavanaugh sounded like a spokesman and representative for the administration. Over and over he answered our questions by alluding to what the President would want and what the President would want him to do. We heard from a nominee who parroted the administration’s talking points on subject after subject. Rather than answer our questions, he referred us to the bland explanation offered by a former Presidential spokesman. I do not think the Senate should confirm a Presidential spokesman to be a judge on the second highest court in the land. I do not believe that Mr. Kavanaugh demonstrated that he has left his role as a member of the President’s administration or that he will.

The reasons for the downgrading of Mr. Kavanaugh’s ABA rating also raise concerns about his independence. Not only did the ABA fail to see Mr. Kavanaugh in his limited legal practice, but those who were interviewed recently raised concerns about Mr. Kavanaugh’s ability to be balanced given his many years in partisan political operative, but they are not qualities that make for a good judge.

My concerns about Mr. Kavanaugh’s judicial independence are heightened by the fact that he has been nominated to the DC Circuit, a court which the Republicans have spent more than a decade trying to pack. They spent President Clinton’s second term blocking his highly-qualified nominees, Elena Kagan, now Dean of Harvard Law School, and Janice Rogers Brown, a former clerk to Chief Justice Rehnquist and highly respected litigator. Nonetheless, I voted to confirm Judge John Roberts to be a member of the DC Circuit and later supported his nomination to be Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

After the Senate last year confirmed two of President Bush’s nominees that I strongly opposed—Janice Rogers Brown and Thomas Griffith—Republican appointees now comprise a two-to-one majority on this important court. This is not a court that needs another rubberstamp for the President’s political ally.

The Senate Republican leadership is catering to the extreme rightwing and special interest groups agitating for a fight over judicial nominations with a number of judicial nominees ready for bipartisan confirmation, the Senate Republican leadership would rather concentrate on this controversial and divisive nominee. That this nomination has not moved forward for 3 years is indicative of the fact that even Republican Senators know what a poor nomination this is. They have made no secret of the reason for rushing this nomination through the Senate now, after it has languished for 3 years under Republican control, and after the nominee admitted to slow-walking his responses to this committee. They want to stir up a fight. They want to score cheap political points at the expense of another lifetime appointment to the courts.

The Senate Republican leadership is apparently heeding the advice of the Wall Street Journal editorial page, which noted, “[a]pproval of the first round of judicial nominees that Republicans need to energize conservative voters after their recent months of despond.” Rich Lowery, editor of the conservative National Review, listed a fight over judges as one of the ways President Bush could revive his political fortunes, writing that he should, “[p]ush for the confirmation of his circuit judges that are pending. Talk about them by name. The G.O.P. wins judiciary fights.” Republican Senators are relishing this chance for a political fight. Senator Thurmond has said, “A good fight on judicial nominations helps energize our base. . . . Right now our folks are feeling a little flat.” Senator Cornyn has said, “I think this is excellent timing. From a political standpoint, when we talk about judges, we stir our base.” On May 8, the New York Times reported: “Republicans are itching for a good election-year fight. Now they are about to get one: a reprise of last year’s Senate showdown has given the Senate no reason to believe he has the capacity for independence.

I am prepared to vote on Mr. Kavanaugh right now unless others on the other side would wish to talk, which is the option of the Senate for a fight. As I said to the two leaders last night, I would be willing to go to a vote soon.

Mr. FEINGOLD. Mr. President, I wish to first note my concern about the procedure followed in the Judiciary Committee to report out this nomination precipitously to the floor. Our practice on nominations in the committee has been first to hold a hearing. Next, Senators are given the opportunity to review the transcript of the hearing and submit written questions. Normally, we are given a week to do that, which is a reasonable length of time. Then, once a nominee answers any written questions, the nomination can be noticed, and we have the right to hold that nomination for 30 days. That is not an extraordinary amount of time, but it is at least sufficient for the Senators on the committee to do their jobs and have confidence that the nomination has been considered with due diligence.

There is no good reason that we couldn’t follow that schedule in this case. Mr. Kavanaugh’s situation is unusual because he was first nominated several years ago, but his first nomination was essentially abandoned when he decided not to respond to written questions for a full 7 months after his hearing in April 2004. Senators on the Democratic side requested a new hearing for him over a year ago, after he was renominated. His nomination lay dormant until just a few weeks ago.

Then, all of a sudden, there was a full court press to get this nomination done. Why is that? The rush to judgment in the committee, as far as I can tell, is not driven by more than the majority leader’s desire to have a floor vote on the nomination before our next recess. There was no reason for the rush except for the majority leader’s political timetable. There is no crisis in the District of Columbia Circuit, which has the lowest caseload of any circuit in the country. All we were asking on the Democratic side in the committee was that we follow the regular order—a timely hearing and the opportunity to ask written questions.

I do want to note that I finally received answers the day before the committee vote to some of the questions that I first asked back in April 2004. I was not entirely satisfied with those answers, but they were certainly more complete than those the nominee provided when he first answered my questions in November 2004. The fact that these questions were finally answered just completes the record from 2004. I believe Senators deserved a chance to think about the hearing that was held on May 9, 2006, and ask further questions if they wanted to. A lot has happened in this country and in this administration where Mr. Kavanaugh works during the interval between his hearing in May 2004 and the hearing earlier this month. That is one of the reasons a second hearing was necessary. So it was a mistake for the minority leader to short-circuit the process by simply decreeing that written questions would not be permitted.

Since the leader has decided to press forward on this nomination, I will vote no. I do not think Mr. Kavanaugh is the right choice for this vacancy. He is a very bright young lawyer and he has some impressive credentials. He may well be ready for appointment to a district court judgeship. But his record does not give me confidence that he is ready to serve on the District of Columbia Circuit, widely seen as the second highest court in the land.

Mr. Kavanaugh has written almost nothing that we can look to for a sense of his judicial philosophy or judgment, of his temperament. In addition, so much of his career after clerking has been spent in partisan political positions that it is certainly legitimate to wonder whether he can be fair and impartial in a judicial role. Partisan political work does not necessarily disqualify someone from taking the bench. As has been pointed out, many very good appellate or Supreme Court judges held political posts. But most held other positions as well that demonstrated their capacity for independence. The Senate is entitled to ask for evidence that the nominee can be nonpartisan and impartial, not just assurances. In Mr. Kavanaugh’s case, there is simply no record to examine to give comfort on that score. Furthermore, we know from the latest ABA evaluation that at least some people who have come in contact with him in his work do not think that he is prepared to be an appellate judge.

We are currently considering judges on that court, only one—Judge Douglas Ginsburg—had less legal experience when he or she was confirmed than Brett Kavanaugh now has. Ginsburg had 13 years of legal experience, including a year as a Senate-confirmed Assistant Attorney General and 8 years as a professor at Harvard Law School. He had a record that the Senate could much more easily evaluate. Other judges on that court had much longer records of professional achievement, including Judge Sentelle who had 19 years of experience, including 10 years of private practice and 5 years as a judge; Judge Henderson had 18 years, including 4 as a U.S. district judge; Judge Randolph had 21 years of legal experience; Judge Grundler, 20 years; Judge Edward, 15 years, including 10 years as a law professor at Michigan and Harvard; Judge Tatel, 28 years; Judge Judith Rogers, 30 years, including 11 years as a judge; Judge Janice Rogers Brown, 28 years, including 11 years as a judge; Judge Griffith, 20 years.

The District of Columbia Circuit is not a place to learn the judicial ropes,
Mr. LEVIN. Mr. President, although I may not agree with a judicial nominee on policy matters, I will support that nominee as long as his or her values are consistent with the fundamental principles of American law and there is no indication that the nominee is so controlled by ideology that ideology distorts his or her judgment. Regardless of their political views, I will support a nominee who demonstrates fairness and openmindedness and whose reasoning is straightforward, clearly expressed, and worthy of respect.

Brett Kavanaugh is, unfortunately, not such a nominee. Because Mr. Kavanaugh does not have a judicial record to review, evaluating his fitness for the bench is not easy. We do not have written opinions from him that would reveal whether he looks objectively at both sides of an issue before making a decision. Therefore, we must judge him by how he has conducted himself in interviews before the American Bar Association Standing Committee on the Federal Judiciary and how he answered questions posed by the Senate Judiciary Committee. Mr. Kavanaugh’s conduct in those interviews gives me the confidence necessary to vote in favor of his nomination to the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

In its 2003 assessment of Mr. Kavanaugh, the ABA record noted concerns with the breadth of Mr. Kavanaugh’s professional experience. It was noted that he had never tried a case to verdict or judgment; that his litigation experience over the years was always in the company of senior colleagues and that he had very little experience with criminal cases. Specifically, the committee said: “Indeed, it is the circumstance of courtroom experience that fills the transcripts that make the record before the Court of Appeals, and concerns were expressed about the nominee’s insight into that very process.”

In its report on its recent reassessment of Mr. Kavanaugh, the ABA’s Standing Committee on the Judiciary downgraded his qualifications. The report states that one judge who saw Kavanaugh’s oral presentation in court said that Kavanaugh was “less than adequate,” and that he had been “sanctimonious,” and had demonstrated “experience on the level of an associate.” A lawyer in a different proceeding said: “Mr. Kavanaugh did not handle the case well as an advocate and dissembled.”

According to the report, the 2006 interview with Kavanaugh raised a new concern involving his potential for judicial temperament. Interviewees characterized Mr. Kavanaugh as, “insulated,” which one person commented was due to his current position as Staff Secretary to the President. Another interviewee questioned Mr. Kavanaugh’s ability “to be balanced and fair should he assume a federal judgeship.” And another said that Kavanaugh is “immovable and very stubborn and frustrating to deal with on some issues.”

A judge needs to be able to balance competing viewpoints and objectively determine a fair and equitable outcome. Mr. Kavanaugh’s lack of judicial or courtroom or scholarly experience added to my doubts about his impartiality and lead me to vote no.

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, I rise to briefly state my reasons for opposing the nomination of Brett Kavanaugh to serve as a judge on the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit Court.

I must say at the outset that I regret having to cast this vote. Throughout my tenure here in the Senate, I have supported the vast majority of presidential nominees—regardless of the party to which a president has belonged. With regard to the current administration, I have joined with my colleagues in voting to confirm the overwhelming majority of its judicial nominees—including those with whom I differ on matters of legal and public policy. I had assumed that, when nominated, Mr. Kavanaugh would likely be among this large group of judicial nominees to receive broad bipartisan support. After all, he has a commendable academic background, and served as a law clerk to two Circuit Court judges and one Supreme Court Justice. However, it appears—that after emerging from a confirmation process where his conduct can be described as disappointing at best, and dismissive at worst—Mr. Kavanaugh has practically invited opposition to his nomination.

In my view, there are few duties more important to the Senate than the consideration of the nomination of article III jurists. Other than considering a declaration of war under the Constitution, nothing is more important than deciding on a judicial nominee. The reasons for that view are practically self-evident: article III judges are appointed for life, and they are appointed to lead and populate an entirely separate branch of government. Our entire constitutional framework rests on an act of faith, first taken by our Founders, that is in some respects as audacious as it is vital: that the President will nominate, and the Senate will confirm, only those judicial nominees who demonstrate the temperament, intellect, experience, and character to stand independent of the executive and legislative branches of government and hold those branches accountable to the law. If a nominee does not demonstrate those qualities during the nomination process, if he or she does not show a capacity to render impartial judgments and to uphold the principle of equal justice under law, then the outcome of a vote on that nomination is, in this Senator’s view, a foregone conclusion: the nomination must be opposed.

During Mr. Kavanaugh’s two confirmation hearings, he failed to demonstrate the requisite qualifications for the high position to which he has been nominated. He failed to provide meaningful responses to many of the questions put to him. After his first hearing, he delayed providing any answers at all to written questions for seven months. It was not until after the 2004 elections that he finally decided to provide those answers. When he was finally forced to offer only a feeble rationale, saying he took responsibility for what he termed a “misunderstanding,” I found this explanation to be implausible, to say the least. As Associate White House Counsel of Mr. Kavanaugh’s responsibilities was to prepare judicial nominee to successfully navigate the confirmation process. So for him to say he nor is it a place to reward a loyal employee. It is a court that makes decisions every day that have a huge effect on the lives and livelihoods of American citizens and American businesses.

It has a caseload that demands not only a good legal mind but judgment, wisdom, and the ability to lead and impart those abilities. Brett Kavanaugh has impressive credentials, but his limited record makes it impossible for me to be confident that he will be the fair and impartial judge that this country needs on such an important court.

At the request of Mr. Reid, the following statement was ordered to be printed in the RECORD:

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, I oppose the nomination of Brett Kavanaugh to be U.S. Circuit Judge for the District of Columbia.

Mr. Kavanaugh’s lack of experience, partisan ideological leanings, lack of judicial temperament, and refusal to adequately answer questions posed by the Senate Committee makes him unqualified to sit on the second highest court in the country.

Mr. Kavanaugh is a young lawyer who has spent most of his career in partisan positions. He lacks substantive courtroom experience and has never tried a case to a verdict. In fact, a judge before whom he appeared characterized Mr. Kavanaugh work as “less than adequate” and at the experience level of an associate.

Now, Mr. Kavanaugh noted a legal scholar. The highlight of his career has been working with Kenneth Starr in the Office of the Solicitor General and at the Office of the Independent Counsel, where he spent 4 years and coauthored the infamous Starr Report.

Upon further review, the nonpartisan American Bar Association downgraded Mr. Kavanaugh’s rating from “well-qualified” to “qualified.” He was described by interviewees as “sanctimonious” and “immovable and very stubborn and frustrating to deal with on some issues.” These are not qualifications that make for a good judge. His low rating and nonjudicial demeanor put him in stark contrast to the majority of appointments to the DC Circuit who received “well-qualified” ratings and respectful reviews from the American Bar Association review panel.

The President can and should do better than this. The country deserves better.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. President, although I may not agree with a judicial nominee on policy matters, I will support that nominee as long as his or her values are consistent with the fundamental principles of American law and there is no indication that the nominee is so controlled by ideology that ideology distorts his or her judgment. Regardless of their political views, I will support a nominee who demonstrates fairness and openmindedness and whose reasoning is straightforward, clearly expressed, and worthy of respect.

Brett Kavanaugh is, unfortunately, not such a nominee. Because Mr. Kavanaugh does not have a judicial record to review, evaluating his fitness for the bench is not easy. We do not have written opinions from him that would reveal whether he looks objectively at both sides of an issue before making a decision. Therefore, we must judge him by how he has conducted himself in interviews before the American Bar Association Standing Committee on the Federal Judiciary and how he answered questions posed by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Mr. Kavanaugh’s conduct in those interviews gives me the confidence necessary to vote in favor of his nomination to the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. had a “misunderstanding” about the need to promptly answer questions put to him by Senators strains credulity.

Mr. Kavanaugh also failed to provide full and candid answers to important questions about his role and views in helping to shape some of the administrative decisions involving the controversial legal rationale for the expansion of legal rationales for the tort of contract. He also refused to tell the committee on that types of matters, if any, he would recuse himself if such matters came before him as a judge.

This refusal to be forthcoming with the Judiciary Committee—and by implication, with the Senate as a whole—bespeaks a dismissive attitude toward the confirmation process that makes it highly troubling. We have seen in recent years a growing tendency of candidates to treat the confirmation process more as a game of hide-and-seek than a serious procedure designed by the Senate to provide Senators with the information that they need to make careful, reasoned decisions about nominees. If candidates do not provide vital information about their role and views on the issues, it makes it impossible for Senators to adequately discharge their constitutional duty to advise and consent with respect to article III nominees.

I would be remiss if I did not mention another aspect of this nomination that makes it highly unusual. One is that the American Bar Association, ABA, downgraded its rating of the nominee, from “highly qualified” to “qualified.” Six of the eight members of the ABA committee who voted previously on this nomination voted to downgrade his nomination based on new information about his ability to act independently and his sparse record as a judge and legal practitioner. It also bears mentioning that this nominee, if confirmed, would be one of the least experienced judges to have served on this particular court. Only former Judge Kenneth Starr had less experience.

For these reasons, I must oppose this nomination. I hope that, if confirmed, this nominee will prove me wrong by growing into a wise, independent, and fair-minded jurist. But regrettably, at this time, he has given the Senate patry and insufficient facts on which to believe that he would be the right choice for the high office to which he has been nominated.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, the Court of Appeals for the DC Circuit is the second-highest court in the Nation. As such, its judges bear a unique responsibility to provide a bench of experienced judges that can hear appeals under many critical areas in which Mr. Kavanaugh has handled labor law matters. He could not provide a single example of his decision on this court that can hear appeals on rules to protect the environment under the Clean Air Act and the Safe Drinking Water Act. It is the only Federal appellate court that can hear appeals on rules to protect the environment under these laws.

Nothing in Mr. Kavanaugh’s record suggests that he would be willing to keep the executive branch in compliance with the law on these matters. More generally, nothing in his record suggests that he would be able to avoid the partisanship and politics that have marked his brief career.

In fact, partisan politics is the only area in which Mr. Kavanaugh’s qualifications cannot be questioned. He has been deeply involved in some of the most bitterly divisive political events in the last decade—and always on the same side.

At the Office of the Independent Counsel, Mr. Kavanaugh authored the infamous Starr Report, wrote the articles of impeachment against President Clinton, and investigated the tragic suicide of Vince Foster.

As an Associate White House Counsel, Mr. Kavanaugh worked to support the nomination and confirmation of Jay Bybee, the author of the notorious “torture memo.”

A judge who heard Mr. Kavanaugh’s oral arguments found that his presentation was “less than adequate,” and that he demonstrated skills “on the level of an associate”—a young lawyer at a law firm. Lawyers familiar with his work raised additional questions about his impartiality and partisanship. One attorney specifically questioned whether Mr. Kavanaugh was capable of being fair. “Mr. Kavanaugh should be capable of being fair. Is Mr. Kavanaugh capable of being fair?”

But Mr. Kavanaugh’s lack of qualifications goes beyond years of experience or individual interviews. More important, Mr. Kavanaugh is almost completely unfamiliar with the substantive issues of law that consistently arise in the DC Circuit.

These aren’t arcane concerns. The DC Circuit has a key role in upholding the rights of American workers. That court decides far more appeals than any other circuit of decisions by the National Labor Relations Board on unfair labor practices. Usually, these cases are filed by employers across the country attempting to overturn unfair labor practices found by the Board. Recently, almost one in three such appeals have been heard by the DC Circuit.

During our hearings, I asked Mr. Kavanaugh whether he had any experience dealing with labor law matters. He couldn’t provide a single example of work in this area—not one. Instead, he made vague reference to his work as a clerk and his brief time in the Justice Department.

The DC Circuit is also important to anyone who breathes our air or drinks our water. It is the only Federal appellate court that can hear appeals on rules to protect the environment under the Clean Air Act and the Safe Drinking Water Act. It is the only Federal court that can grant a remedy when the executive branch fails to follow congressional mandates to protect the environment under these laws.

But Mr. Kavanaugh’s record suggests that he would be willing to avoid the partisanship and politics that have marked his brief career.

In fact, partisan politics is the only area in which Mr. Kavanaugh’s qualifications cannot be questioned. He has been deeply involved in some of the most bitterly divisive political events in the last decade—and always on the same side.
Mr. Kavanaugh is a well-respected attorney with impeccable academic credentials and the background and experience necessary to serve as an excellent Federal appellate judge. He currently serves as Assistant to the President and staff secretary. He previously served in the White House Counsel’s Office as Senior Associate Counsel and Associate Counsel to the President.

Mr. Kavanaugh graduated from Yale College, cum laude, and Yale Law School where he served as the notes editor on the Yale Law Journal. He served as a judicial law clerk for Justice Anthony Kennedy on the Supreme Court of the United States, as well as Judge Walter Stapleton of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit and Judge Alex Kozinski of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit.

Prior to his Supreme Court clerkship, Mr. Kavanaugh earned a fellowship in the Office of the Solicitor General of the United States. After his clerkship, Mr. Kavanaugh served as an Associate Counsel in the Office of Independent Counsel, where he handled a number of significant constitutional and legal issues. He was a partner at the prestigious Washington law firm of Kirkland & Ellis and has argued both civil and criminal matters before the Supreme Court and appellate courts throughout the country.

Besides his obvious academic and professional credentials, I would note that Mr. Kavanaugh believes in giving back to his community. While in private practice, Mr. Kavanaugh took on challenging pro bono matters, including representation of the Adat Shalom congregation in Montgomery County, MD, against an attempt to stop the construction of a synagogue in the county.

Those who know Mr. Kavanaugh best strongly praise his intelligence, integrity, and approach to the law. Mark Touhey III, Mr. Kavanaugh’s supervisor at the Independent Counsel’s Office, wrote in his support: “Mr. Kavanaugh exhibits a wealth of qualities of integrity and professionalism in his work. These traits consistently exemplify Mr. Kavanaugh’s approach to the practice of law and will exemplify his tenure as Federal appellate judge.”

Judge Walter Stapleton said, “He really is a superstar. He is a rare match of talent and personality.” After arguing against Mr. Kavanaugh in the Supreme Court, Washington attorney Jim Hamilton stated, “Brett is a lawyer of great competency, and he will be a force in this town for some time to come.”

Some of Mr. Kavanaugh’s critics have tried to argue that he is too young to be a Federal appellate judge. In fact, he is only 41 years old and has had a broad range of experience that makes him an ideal candidate for the DC Circuit.

Mr. Kavanaugh’s legal work ranges from service as Associate Counsel to the President, to appellate lawyer in private practice, to experience as a prosecutor. He clerked at two of the U.S. Courts of Appeal, the Third and Ninth Circuits, and at the Supreme Court. In private practice and during his service as Associate Counsel, Mr. Kavanaugh participated in appellate matters in a number of the Federal courts of appeal and in the Supreme Court.

Besides, at age 41, Mr. Kavanaugh is considerably older than many of our Nation’s most distinguished judges were at the time of their nomination. In fact, all three of the judges for whom Mr. Kavanaugh clerked were appointed to the bench before they were 41. All have become regarded as distinguished jurists. Justice Kennedy was appointed to the Ninth Circuit when he was 38 years old. Judge Kozinski was appointed to the Ninth Circuit when he was 35 years old. Judge Stapleton was appointed to the district court at 35 and later elevated to the Third Circuit. There are many other examples of judges who were appointed to the bench at a young age and have had illustrious careers:

Age should not be the sole measure of a person’s experience. Many Senators began their service at a young age. Senators Biden and Kennedy were elected to the Senate at the age of 30, and Senator Leahy was elected at age 34.

Some of Mr. Kavanaugh’s critics have suggested that we should hold him accountable for his public service to his Nation somehow disqualifying him from further serving on the bench. I disagree.

Public service in the executive or legislative branches of Government should not be a disqualification for judicial office. This has never been the case, nor should it be. Justice Stephen Breyer was once the chief counsel to the Senate Judiciary Committee before being nominated and confirmed to the First Circuit by a substantial majority. I hope that none of us believe that his service on Senator Kennedy’s staff should have disqualified him.

Judge Abner Mikvah spent most of his career prior to appointment to the bench as a Democratic Congressman. His service in elective office was a State legislator in Illinois and later a U.S. Congressman. In fact, he was a sitting Congressman when he was nominated to the DC Circuit. He, too, was confirmed by a substantial majority.

The Senate has not considered service as a Democratic staff member or as a Democratic Congressman a bar to service as a U.S. Circuit Judge, nor should it consider Mr. Kavanaugh’s service in President Bush’s White House in his public service as a disqualification for judicial office. This is a major example of the paranoid, fact-free speculation that service in an elective branch of Government somehow tarnishes a lawyer’s reputation would be a terrible message for this body to send to the legal community and to all citizens. Mr. Kavanaugh is superbly qualified to serve as a Federal judge, and he has made clear that he understands the role of a judge is different from the role of a member of the White House staff.

Mr. Kavanaugh’s critics have raised concerns about Mr. Kavanaugh’s ABA rating. The ABA’s Committee on the Federal Judiciary has consistently and unanimously found that Mr. Kavanaugh has the integrity, professional competence, and judicial temperament to serve on the DC Circuit. Each year Mr. Kavanaugh’s name has been in nomination the committee has rated Mr. Kavanaugh, and each year every member of the committee has rated him ‘qualified’ or ‘well qualified.’

According to the ABA:

‘To merit a rating of “well qualified,” the nominee must be at the top of the legal profession in his or her local community; have outstanding legal ability, breadth of experience and the highest reputation for integrity; and either demonstrate or exhibit the capacity for judicial temperament.’ The rating of ‘qualified’ means that the nominee meets the Committee’s very high standards with respect to integrity, professional competence and judicial temperament and that the Committee believes that the nominee will be able to perform satisfactorily all of the duties and responsibilities required by the high office of a federal judge.

In 2004 and 2005 a majority of the committee thought Mr. Kavanaugh had earned its highest rating, ‘well qualified’; the rest thought he had earned a ‘qualified’ rating. This year the balance changed, with more members of the committee giving him a ‘qualified’ rating and the rest thinking he deserved a ‘well qualified’ rating.

Despite the fact that the ABA committee has included many committed Democrats in its membership, the committee’s ratings are unanimous that Mr. Kavanaugh is indisputably competent, intelligent, and qualified to serve on the DC Circuit. In response to what some of my Democratic colleagues have said about Kavanaugh’s ABA rating, I would like to quote from a letter that what ABA committee chairman, Stephen Tober had to say:

Let me underscore . . . that we didn’t find him not qualified. There’s not a brake of that in this report or in any earlier report. We found him qualified/minority well qualified. What I said at the end is what, in fact, many people said, that he has a solid reputation for intellectual capacity—a lot of people refer to him as brilliant—and an excellent writing and analytical ability. Those are great skills to bring to the court of appeals. I don’t have any questions about that.

According to Mr. Tober, in all of the ABA’s ratings, Mr. Kavanaugh’s ‘positive factors haven’t changed a whole lot. He is found to have high integrity. He is found to be brilliant. He is a very skilled writer and legal analyst. He has those components, and I have heard every one of them before . . . he has those skills that will serve him well, certainly, on a Federal court.

Finally, Mr. Tober acknowledged that ‘there is not a single not qualified vote cast in this report, which is a main point. Brett Kavanaugh is a highly qualified attorney who has experience as an appellate litigator presenting arguments in court, and experience as a judicial law clerk on the other side of the bench evaluating appellate arguments. He has spent a lot of time as a law clerk on the other side of the bench evaluating appellate arguments. He has spent a lot of time as a law clerk on the other side of the bench evaluating appellate arguments. He has spent a lot of time as a law clerk on the other side of the bench evaluating appellate arguments.

Today’s vote on this nominee is long past due. I urge my colleagues to confirm Brett Kavanaugh to be a U.S. circuit judge.

Mr. REID. I intend to vote against the confirmation of Brett Kavanaugh to the DC Circuit. This youthful, relatively inexperienced nominee lacks the credentials to be approved for a lifetime appointment to the second most important Federal court in the country.

At the outset, let me contrast this nomination with a circuit court nomination we recently approved: the nomination of Milan Smith to the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals. Mr. Smith is a pillar of the California legal community, a distinguished practicing lawyer with 27 years of experience in complex legal transactions. His nomination was the product of extensive consultation with Democratic Senators. The Judiciary Committee approved his nomination 18 to 0, and the full Senate gave its consent unanimously.

The Smith nomination is an example of the way the process is supposed to work. The Constitution gives the President and the Senate a shared role in filling vacancies on Federal courts. Working together, we can more fully qualify nonpartisan nominees through the process without rancor or delay.

But when the President uses judicial appointments as a reward to the extreme right of the Republican Party, he invites controversy and conflict. Regrettably, that may just be the result that the White House wants.

Cesar Conda, a former domestic policy adviser to Vice President Cheney, recently wrote in the Roll Call newspaper: ‘For Bush, a renewed fight over conservative judges . . . just might be the cure to the Republican Party’s current political doldrums.’

One of my Republican colleagues is quoted today by the New York Times, this month as saying: ‘A good fight on judges does nothing but energize our base. Right now our folks are feeling a little flat. They need a reason to get engaged, and fights over judges will do that.’

At the same time, a lengthy debate over judges serves to distract attention from the pressing problems facing the Nation: an intractable war in Iraq, soaring gas prices, millions of Americans uninsured. Instead of addressing these vital issues, this Senate has been forced to spend days and weeks and months talking about divisive judicial nominees.

The nomination of Brett Kavanaugh is nothing if not divisive. All eight Democratic members of the Committee oppose his confirmation. Every leading civil rights, environmental, and labor organization in the country has urged that he be rejected.

This nomination is not the product of consensus and consultation—it is a poke in the eye to the Senate. It is a wedge that disrupts the wonderful bipartisan which has characterized the immigration debate over the past 2 weeks. I recently met with Brett Kavanaugh. He seems like a bright young man. But he is a 41-year-old lawyer who has spent his short legal career in service to partisan Republican causes.

His two principal accomplishments as a lawyer are his work as an aide to Special Counsel Kenneth Starr during the misguided crusade to impeach President Clinton, and his current duty as a political lawyer in the Bush White House. Those positions do not disqualify Mr. Kavanaugh from future service, but they do not constitute the kind of broad experience in the law that we should expect from a nominee to the District of Columbia Circuit.

The DC Circuit is a uniquely powerful court. It has jurisdiction over challenges to Federal activities affecting the environment, consumer protections, workers and civil rights. This court also has appellate jurisdiction over the Occupational Safety and Health Administration and other agencies.

As a result, DC Circuit judges sit in a unique position to judge Government actions that affect our lives in fundamental ways. Mr. Kavanaugh’s slim, partisan record gives me no confidence in his ability to assume this awesome responsibility.

In the 113 years since the Court of Appeals for the DC Circuit was established in 1893, 54 judges have sat on the court. Only three of those judges came to the court with less experience than Kavanaugh. DC Circuit judges have averaged over 26 years of legal experience at the time of their appointment to the DC Circuit. Mr. Kavanaugh, in contrast, graduated from law school a mere 16 years ago.

It is not just Mr. Kavanaugh’s youth but his lack of practical experience that renders him unfit for this post. In his 16 years as a lawyer he has never tried a case to verdict or judgment. When questioned about this deficiency at his committee hearing, the nominee presumed to compare himself to Chief Justice John Roberts. But at the time of his appointment to the DC Circuit, Roberts had argued dozens of cases before the Supreme Court. Kavanaugh has argued just one such case, on behalf of the Starr investigation.

There are other kinds of experience one might bring to an appellate court. Some nominees are respected scholars. Some are sitting judges. Kavanaugh is neither.

His nomination should be rejected by this committee and the Senate. It is not the role of the Senate to play partisan politics as if the nominee were a high-ranking position in the Bush White House might constitute relevant experience, but we have little idea what he has accomplished in that role. He largely refused to answer questions from the committee about the issues he has handled or the positions he has advocated.

We know he helped to select many of the controversial judicial nominees... who have tied the Senate in knots in recent years. We know he was the author of a far-reaching government secrecy policy, despite his own role in stripping President Clinton of every vestige of privacy and privilege during the Starr investigation. Others have said that, in short, Mr. Kavanaugh has had a fancy west wing title.

Most nominees gain more stature over the course of their legal careers, but Mr. Kavanaugh is headed in the opposite direction. The American Bar Association recently lowered the rare step of its rating of this nominee. Lawyers and judges interviewed by the nonpartisan ABA Committee described Mr. Kavanaugh as “sanctimonious,” “immovable,” and “very stubborn and frustrating to deal with on some issues.” A judge before whom Mr. Kavanaugh appeared considered him “less than adequate” and said he demonstrated “experience on the level of an associate.” A lawyer who observed him during a different court proceeding stated: “Mr. Kavanaugh did not handle the case well as an advocate and dissembled.”

Needless to say, these are not qualities that make a good judge. Still others described Mr. Kavanaugh as “insulted.” That is the last quality we want in a 41-year-old man who will soon begin the cloistered life of an appellate judge. Mr. Kavanaugh lacks the wide experience that breeds wisdom and judgment, and he is unlikely to acquire those qualities on the bench.

Mr. Kavanaugh’s thin legal resume contrasts with the resumes of the two Clinton nominees who were blocked by the Republican-controlled Senate when they were nominated to the same court. Elena Kagan, now the Dean of Harvard Law School, had been both a practicing lawyer and a leading administrator at the time of her nomination. Allen Snyder, a former clerk to Justices Harlan and Rehnquist, had been a litigation partner at the law firm of Hogan and Hartson for 26 years. Under what definition of fairness do my Republican colleagues insist that Brett Kavanaugh is entitled to a Senate vote while Elena Kagan and Allen Snyder were denied a vote? By what standard do they consider Kavanaugh qualified to sit on the DC Circuit when these two other distinguished lawyers were denied that honor?

Unlike Kagan and Snyder, Mr. Kavanaugh will be considered by the Senate. But I will cast my vote against confirmation. This nominee’s record is too sparse and the court to which he is nominated is too important to the rights that Americans hold dear.

I urge the Senate to reject this unacceptable nomination.

Mr. President, even in this Bush Presidency, I continue to believe that a judge should have experience in a courtroom. I know that is somewhat heretical in the environment we have, but I really believe that if you are going to be a judge, you should have some practical experience, at least picking a jury, arguing to a jury, appearing before a court, making your views known to the judge. That is largely lacking with this young man.

Other than the We Have Learned the Judiciary Committee from two judges for whom he worked. It is unusual that people clerk for two separate judges. These clerkships are usually a year long, and you sit back there and you shuffle papers and you draft opinions for the judge on the cases that come before the judge—but that is very different than courtroom experience as a practicing lawyer. You may go watch a few arguments, but clerking for two judges doesn’t do the trick. That doesn’t give you the experience to be a judge, especially a judge on the District of Columbia Circuit Court of Appeals, the second highest court in the land.

I understand that Mr. Kavanaugh has argued several appeals. But not very many, and in any event that’s not the same as trying cases in my view.

I am going to vote against confirmation of Brett Kavanaugh. I want to make four brief points about this nomination.

First, Brett Kavanaugh is a youthful partisan who lacks the credentials to be appointed to the second most important Federal court in our country. He is 41 years old.

He has spent his short legal career in service to Republican causes.

He worked as an aide to Special Counsel Kenneth Starr. I think the work of Kenneth Starr will go down in history as a blight on this country. This partisan investigation disrupted this country and it was aided by the nominee who is before the Senate at this time.

He has been a lawyer in the White House for President Bush. The fact that he worked for Starr and now works in the White House doesn’t disqualify him. Some people do not add up to the kind of experience we should have from a nominee to the District Circuit Court. It doesn’t add up.

Second, Mr. Kavanaugh’s lack of practical experience renders him unfit for the post. In his years as a lawyer, he has never tried a case to a verdict or to judgment.

There are other kinds of experience one might bring to an appellate court. Some nominees are respected scholars and some are sitting judges. Mr. Kavanaugh is neither.

His high-ranking position in the White House might constitute relevant experience, but we have little idea about what he accomplished in that role. He has simply refused to answer questions from the committee about the issues he has handled or the positions he has advocated.

The big push for this man comes from partisans who want to push the majority in the Senate toward the nuclear option. They think it would be a great thing to disrupt the Senate in this way.

Third, the American Bar Association recently lowered its rating of this nominee. Most nominees gain more stature over the course of their legal careers, but Mr. Kavanaugh is headed in the opposite direction, and rightfully so. Lawyers and judges of the nonpartisan ABA Committee described Mr. Kavanaugh as being “sanctimonious” and “frustrating to deal with.” That says it all.

A judge before whom Mr. Kavanaugh appeared described him as “less than adequate” and said he demonstrated experience “at the level of an associate.”

A lawyer who observed him during a different court proceeding stated that: Mr. Kavanaugh did not handle the case well as an advocate and dissembled.

Needless to say, these are not qualities which make a good judge. But the right wing wants him, and he is going to become a judge.

Finally, let me say this: The nomination of Mr. Kavanaugh is divisive. All eight Democrats on the Judiciary Committee oppose his confirmation. Every leading civil rights, environmental, and labor organization in the country urged that he be rejected.

The Constitution gives the President and the Senate a shared role in filling vacancies on the Federal court. Working together, we can move highly qualified, nonpartisan nominees through the process without rancor or delay. But when the President uses judicial appointments to the extreme rightwing of the Republican Party, it invites controversy and conflict. And that is what we have. In sum, this nominee’s record is too sparse. The court to which he is nominated is too important. I hope we get a lot of votes against this nomination. I understand that everyone on the other side of the aisle will walk over here and vote for this unqualified candidate, but that is not how it should be.

If there is no one else wishing to speak, I ask that the vote proceed to the vote on Mr. Kavanaugh.

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, 2 weeks ago before the Senate Judiciary Committee, Brett Kavanaugh, the President’s nominee for the DC Circuit Court of Appeals, pledged that if he is confirmed:

I will interpret the law as written and not impose personal policy preferences;

I will follow precedent in all cases fully and fairly, and, above all, [I] will at all times maintain the absolute independence of the judiciary, which, in my judgment, is the crown jewel of our constitutional democracy.

Listen to the words that Brett Kavanaugh used: Fair, independent, and balanced. That is the kind of judge the Senate needs. Mr. President, so are the qualities America wants in our federal judges.

We need more qualified nominees on the bench who practice judicial restraint and respect the rule of law, and Brett Kavanaugh fits that description. President Bush nominated Mr. Kavanaugh on July 25 of 2003. And since this time, he’s endured not one—but two—hearings before the Senate Judiciary Committee.

He has been candid and forthcoming in answering countless oral and written questions from the Judiciary Committee. And he has met one-on-one with numerous Members—both Republican and Democrat.

And now it’s time that Brett Kavanaugh gets the fair up-or-down vote that he’s been waiting on for 3 years.

Last week, this morning, the Senate will give him that vote. We will fulfill our constitutional duty of advice and consent.

Over the last few weeks, we’ve heard a lot about his sterling credentials and legal prowess. And he has earned the respect of the legal community for his keen intellect and legal acumen.

And he is a graduate of Yale College and Yale Law School and was awarded a prestigious Supreme Court law clerkship.

He has an extraordinary range of experience in both the public and private sectors.

He has dedicated more than 16 years to public service—as an appellate lawyer, a prosecutor, and an Assistant to the President.

He has argued both civil and criminal matters before the U.S. Supreme Court and appellate courts throughout the country.

And he has received the American Bar Association’s stamp of approval to serve on the Federal bench on three separate occasions.

Brett Kavanaugh is respected in the legal community for his keen intellect and legal prowess. And he has earned the reputation as a man of integrity, fairness, and honesty.

In a larger sense, today’s vote is about more than just Brett Kavanaugh as an individual nominee. Today’s vote is another sign of progress for the judicial nominations process.

The Senate is continuing on a path we began a little more than a year ago. At that time, the Senate turned away from judicial obstruction and advanced the core constitutional principle that every judicial nominee with majority support deserves a fair up-or-down vote.

I am proud of the Senate for continuing on this path—for fairness, for principle, for the Constitution.

And I urge my colleagues to support the nomination of Brett Kavanaugh.

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, have the yeas and nays been ordered?

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The yeas and nays have not been ordered.

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, I ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. ISAKSON). Is there a sufficient second?

The question is, Will the Senate advise and consent to the nomination of Brett M. Kavanaugh, of Maryland, to be United States Circuit Judge for the District of Columbia Circuit?

The yeas and nays have been ordered. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk called the roll.

Mr. McCONNELL. The following Senators were necessarily absent: the Senator from North Carolina (Mrs. DOLE) and the Senator from South Dakota (Mr. THUNE).

Further, if present and voting, the Senator from North Carolina (Mrs. DOLE) and the Senator from South Dakota (Mr. THUNE) would have voted “yea.”

Mr. DURBIN. I announce that the Senator from California (Mrs. BOXER), the Senator from North Dakota (Mr. CONRAD), the Senator from Hawaii (Mr. INOUYE), the Senator from West Virginia (Mr. ROGERS), and the Senator from Colorado (Mr. SALAZAR) are necessarily absent.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any other Senators in the Chamber desiring to vote?

The result was announced—yeas 57, nays 36, as follows:

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The President will be immediately notified of the Senate’s action.

GENERAL MICHAEL V. HAYDEN TO BE DIRECTOR OF THE CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senate will proceed to a vote on Executive Calendar No. 672, which the clerk will report.

The legislative clerk read the nomination of General Michael V. Hayden, United States Air Force, to be Director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Ms. MIRKULSKI. Mr. President, there are five critical criteria that I evaluate all executive branch nominees: competence, integrity, commitment to the core mission of the department, commitment to the Constitution, and independence. Based on what I know about General Hayden after working closely with him for more than 5 years, and based on his testimony last week, I will support his nomination to be Director of the Central Intelligence Agency, CIA. I have no question about his competence or personal integrity and expect him to remain an independent voice, committed to the Constitution not just with words but with deeds.

My confidence in General Hayden should not be interpreted as confidence in this administration. I have flashing yellow lights about the Bush administration’s willingness to politicize this important intelligence agency. I am also concerned that this administration sometimes pays lip service to the law of the land, as we have seen with recent revelations about the warrantless surveillance program.

In more than 35 years as military intelligence officer, General Hayden has clearly demonstrated his competence, both in his work as Director of the National Security Agency, NSA, and as Deputy Director of National Intelligence. He led NSA at a critical time in the Agency’s history, as the United States struggled to protect the country against those who had attacked us. I inherited an agency that needed to be transformed: from its Cold War orientation, from analogue to digital, from concentrating on the Soviet threat to looking at multiple threats and running diverse actors. He accomplished this transformation at breathtaking speed.

As Deputy Director of National Intelligence, General Hayden helped stand up a brand new intelligence organization, recruiting a top-notch team, breaking down “stovepipes” between agencies, and helping to unify the entire intelligence community.

I have known and worked closely with General Hayden since 1999, when he went to NSA I have no question about his personal integrity. He has always been a candid reformer. But recent revelations about the warrantless surveillance program have raised serious questions: questions about the integrity of surveillance programs that may have side-stepped the law; questions about a decision at the highest level to keep most members of the Senate Select Intelligence Committee in the dark about these programs; and questions about whether a cabinet reformation has become a cheerleader for this administration. I discussed my concerns with Hayden during the confirmation hearing, and he promised to “speak truth to power.” I take him at his word, but the proof will be in his deeds.

I have no question about General Hayden’s commitment to the mission of the intelligence community. He has worked in almost every aspect of collecting and analyzing intelligence. But his expertise is technical intelligence, known as signals intelligence, SIGINT, and the CIA is our Nation’s lead agency for human intelligence, HUMINT.
These two disciplines have very different challenges, different technology, and different cultures. Many have asked if a SIGINT expert is the right choice to lead a HUMINT agency. General Hayden addressed this question in our hearing. He believes his long career in intelligence work has prepared him for this challenge. He has a plan to improve HUMINT tradecraft and develop common standards among all HUMINT agencies, including the Defense Intelligence Agency. He will also invest in research and development of the cutting-edge technology our men and women at the CIA need to accomplish their mission. General Hayden has promised to focus our human intelligence activities on understanding tomorrow's threats, not just responding to today's headlines. I believe he will bring to the CIA the same leadership, passion for reform, and respect for our intelligence workers that he brought to the NSA. He will be a strong advocate for the CIA as it struggles to redefine itself.

I have two flashing yellow lights about this nomination. First, I have serious questions about the Bush administration's commitment to protecting the Constitution. I believe we need a CIA Director who will be independent.

I believe General Hayden is committed to protecting the Constitution while providing our country security from terrorists. But I am concerned that others in this administration pay lip service to the law of the land. We all take an oath when we take office. We swear to support and defend the Constitution of the United States. We don't swear to a President or to a party. We know there are real threats, predators, actors who want to kill Americans. And we know that some of the tools that keep us safe must remain secret. Which is why our commitment to the Constitution is so important than ever. We can not protect the American people and ignore their Constitution when nobody's looking. Support for the Constitution must be more than lip service. We need a real commitment to put the Constitution first. The Framers gave Congress the responsibility for oversight over the President's policies. We must be informed about significant intelligence activities, as the law requires, so we can exercise our responsibility to protect the Constitution as we protect our Nation from the threats we face.

I am very concerned about the independence of the CIA. We need an independent voice at the CIA, someone who is willing to speak truth to power to whomever is President and also to the congressional oversight committees. The last few years have been difficult ones for the CIA, in part because American people have lost confidence in its leaders. The Agency has had too many "yes" men. General Hayden is an independent leader.

I asked General Hayden how he would avoid another Powell, when our distinguished Secretary of State was sent to the United Nations with wrong information, because CIA analysis had become too politicized. General Hayden said that his job at the CIA will be to let intelligence analysts do what comes naturally: provide unvarnished intelligence analysts, independent of political pressure. He says "I will keep anything from getting in the way" of their work. He promised to consider implementing a dissent channel to allow intelligence workers an avenue for expressing their concerns without leaking classified information to the press.

In conclusion, Mr. President, I believe General Hayden is qualified to lead the CIA, and I will vote for his confirmation. But I have serious concerns about how the Bush administration has politicized this important intelligence agency. The Senate Select Committee on Intelligence must keep a close eye on the CIA as it struggles to redefine itself and its role in our reformed national security architecture.

Mr. KERRY. Mr. President, I opposed the nomination of GEN Michael Hayden to serve as Director of the Central Intelligence Agency. General Hayden has many qualifications for the intelligence professional, but I am sad to say that he is the wrong person for the job.

Over the last years, the abuse of the CIA by the Rumsfeld Pentagon and the White House has hurt our national security and our credibility around the world, as the CIA was bullied into becoming a client of administration ideologues, yielding unfounded claims of "slam dunk" evidence for mythical weapons of mass destruction in Iraq.

I am not confident that General Hayden is the person best equipped to restore the CIA's independence and credibility, not just because he comes from the Pentagon but because he was the Administration's principal spokesperson and defender of an illegal domestic spying program.

We are reminded again and again of the administration's determination to keep the extent of their illegal domestic spying program secret. All we have to do is look at the news that the Department of Justice abruptly ended an investigation into the conduct of Department lawyers who approved the program—not because the approving lawyers were wrong but because investigators were denied the information to conduct the investigation.

The question before us is not whether we are committed to destroying terrorists and preventing terrorist attacks before they happen. We all are. In fact, we can wage and win a far more effective war on terror. No, the question is whether we can restore checks and balances between the executive and legislative branch and what can be done to restore the independence of the administration that too often appears run by people who hold themselves above the law. How many times will Government secrecy shield decisionmakers from any kind of accountability?

The fact that General Hayden was the key architect and, more recently, the principal defender of a program that listened to phone calls of Americans without a warrant, a program the administration, instead of relying on the consent of the people through the American Congress and the court created under the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act, chose, unnecessarily, to assert the President's unfettered authority as a war-time commander to execute this program.

We must use every tool at our disposal to protect America. But the administration has no reason to assert unchecked Executive power when Congress is more than willing to work to create the mechanisms to keep America safe while we still preserve our essential liberties.

America has been the strongest, safest, most secure nation on the planet for more than 200 years without ever having to choose between security and freedom. We can have both. But it requires an executive branch that respects the co-equal branches of Government. After the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001, the American people were united behind the President. Congress was—and is—prepared to do anything necessary to win the war on terror and ready to work with the President. If President Bush believed the domestic eavesdropping laws were insufficient, then all he had to do was ask Congress to improve them immediately. But the President didn't do that. Instead, he decided he was above the law.

General Hayden was the architect of that program, and to the public he clung to an unnecessarily expansive interpretation of Executive power. That is not what America needs in the next Director of the Central Intelligence Agency. We take our civil rights very seriously—and we should. It is our heritage and our birthright—one generation's gift to the next, earned in the blood of Americans since our revolution.

The mistrust, the anger, the lack of confidence so many Americans feel about the current program is the result of the way this administration has conducted itself: asserting its right to act by executive branch dictate because we are a nation at war. In one moment, the President of the United States says we are not listening to domestic calls without a warrant; in another, the Attorney General says he can't rule it out.

We are a nation at war with global jihadists, a war that, as the Department of Defense calls it, will be a "long war." Ad hoc and secret solutions to issues that demand a reasoned balance between security and the freedom of law abiding Americans cannot simply be handed over to the executive branch—of any party. This Congress has much work to do before we can say we have effectively insisted on that balance and done our duty. Before we do, it would be a mistake to support General Hayden’s nomination.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, I intend to vote against General Hayden. I respect General Hayden’s lifetime of public service, and his testimony included some encouraging signs that he learned important lessons from the way intelligence was used to defend the Iraq war.

However, I cannot support General Hayden’s nomination in light of the very serious questions about the scope and legality of the NSA domestic surveillance programs that he helped design, implement, and defend.

Until there is a full accounting of the surveillance program, I cannot in good conscience support a promotion for its chief architect.

We all want the administration to have strong leaders and the necessary means to gather the best possible intelligence for our foreign policy and national security, especially the war on terrorism.

Those critical goals require a Director of Central Intelligence who will work with Congress—not against us—in our efforts to prevent terrorism and improve our national security laws. We must protect the country while preserving our constitutional freedoms.

Mr. THUNE. Mr. President, today the Senate will vote on confirmation of three of President Bush’s nominations. Once again, the President has nominated experienced, well-qualified individuals who deserve confirmation by the Senate.

The President has nominated Brett Kavanaugh to serve as a judge on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. circuit. Mr. Kavanaugh has extensive experience in the law, having formerly served as a law clerk to Supreme Court Justice Anthony Kennedy. He later served as Associate White House Counsel, where he worked on a wide variety of legal and constitutional issues. Mr. Kavanaugh also practiced law as a partner in the Washington, DC, law firm of Kirkland & Ellis, and most recently served as Assistant to the President and staff secretary at the White House.

Yesterday I voted in favor of the motion to invoke cloture on Mr. Kavanaugh’s nomination, which now allows the Senate to give him an up-or-down vote. I am pleased that the Senate will now be allowed to vote on Mr. Kavanaugh’s nomination, and I hope the Senate will continue to give fair up-or-down votes to the other well-qualified judicial nominees the President forwards to the Senate.

The President has also nominated GEN Michael Hayden as Director of the Central Intelligence Agency. General Hayden is a career Air Force officer with a distinguished history of service to our country. His previous service as Director of the National Security Agency will serve him well in his new role at the CIA, where I believe he will continue to be a strong leader in service to our Nation.

Finally, the President has nominated Gov. Dirk Kempthorne to serve as Secretary of the Department of the Interior. Governor Kempthorne has an impressive career in public service, having served as a United States Senator representing the State of Idaho in this body for 6 years. I am confident that his career of public service and his Western State perspective will help him be an effective and responsible steward of our country’s public lands, waters, and other natural resources.

Unfortunately, a family obligation prevents me from being present during these votes. However, I support each of these nominees and, if present, would vote to confirm them. I therefore ask that the record reflect my support for each of these nominations.

(A at the request of Mr. Reid, the following statement was ordered to be printed in the Record.)

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, had I been present to vote on the nomination of Gen. Michael Hayden to be Director of the Central Intelligence Agency, I would have cast a vote of “no”.

I oppose General Hayden’s nomination because of his role in the administration’s program to conduct warrantless electronic surveillance on U.S. persons—a practice I believe is unlawful under the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act.

During his nomination hearing before the Senate Intelligence Committee, General Hayden admitted to participating in the design of the electronic surveillance program during his tenure as director of the National Security Agency. And as the Principal Deputy Director of National Intelligence, General Hayden became the chief advocate for the electronic surveillance program, even taking the unusual step of appearing before the National Press Club to defend the Administration’s program.

We are all united in fighting terrorism, but we can do it in a legal and constitutional way that gets the bad guys and protects our values and freedoms.

Mr. WIEBE. Mr. President, I oppose the nomination of General Hayden because of the controversy surrounding the electronic surveillance program. I wish him the very best and hope that he will turn out to be a strong and independent leader at the CIA.

But I also hope that the Intelligence Committees in the House and Senate will conduct careful and thorough oversight over General Hayden and the CIA to ensure that the civil liberties of U.S. citizens are protected and preserved.

Mr. NELSON of Florida. Mr. President, today I voted to confirm the nomination of General Michael Hayden to be Director of the Central Intelligence Agency replacing my friend and Florida colleague Porter Goss. I voted to confirm General Hayden based on his impressive record as a career intelligence officer in a broad spectrum of strategic intelligence activities and positions. He is widely recognized as one of the most qualified intelligence planners and managers among military or civilian intelligence professionals.

Despite my vote in favor of his confirmation I remain deeply concerned that recent revelations regarding domestic intelligence collection by the National Security Agency may have violated our laws. In hearings before the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence General Hayden often deferred questions about the program, the President’s and Justice Department’s statements about the program, and his own involvement in the NSA’s activity to closed sessions. My Intelligence Committee colleagues pursued these questions and ultimately recommended that the Senate vote on the nomination, in a bipartisan 12-3 vote. I still have many questions about this program and how it was conceived, and operated, and I will continue to seek answers to them. However, General Hayden has sufficiently demonstrated integrity, independence and openness that I am comfortable with confirming his nomination.

Given the threats our Nation faces today and challenges that our intelligence agencies face in coping with those threats, General Hayden should bring to this position much needed efficient, effective and, most importantly, independent leadership and management. That should be good for our intelligence agencies and good for the Nation.

Mr. JEFFORDS. Mr. President, I am casting my vote today in favor of GEN Michael V. Hayden to be Director of Central Intelligence. General Hayden has spent his career in national security and particularly intelligence, serving as Commander of the Air Intelligence Agency and as Director of the National Security Agency. General Hayden has served overseas in leadership positions with the U.S. Government in South Korea and Bulgaria, and is currently Principal Deputy Director of National Intelligence, serving directly under Director of National Intelligence.

He has a strong background in national security, particularly intelligence, and has served as Commander of the Air Intelligence Agency replacing my friend and Florida colleague Porter Goss. I voted to confirm General Hayden because of his strong leadership, independence and openness that I am comfortable with confirming his nomination.

Finally, the confirmation process has also brought to light General Hayden’s leadership qualities. At this time of change and realignment at the CIA, strong leaders are clearly needed. The agency has had a difficult time adapting to the changes in the intelligence community structure and has suffered a decline in morale and sense of mission. As all accounts, General Hayden... will bring a welcome change at the top, hopefully infusing the agency with a new sense of direction and relevance that is badly needed.

I remain very concerned, however, that the wiretapping activities of the NSA, sufficiently investigated, General Hayden insisted in his confirmation hearings that he was given unequivocal legal advice each step of the way. I do not doubt that this is true, but I believe that significant and compelling questions still remain. We need to get the CIA back onto its feet and functioning properly. I believe that General Hayden is capable of doing that. I trust he will put his considerable skills to work in earnest on this important task. The success is critical to our national security.

Mr. CHAMBLISS. Mr. President, the men and women at the CIA today represent the best intelligence professionals in the world, and they deserve our support and backing. I have known General Hayden for some time, and I am convinced that he is the right person for this job.

My initial concern regarding a military officer directing the world’s most sophisticated civilian intelligence agency have been addressed by General Hayden in private conversation as well as at the public hearing. The role and mission of the intelligence community at the Department of Defense where General Hayden has been for over 30 years is different from the role and mission of the CIA. General Hayden has convinced me that he can make the transition from the military side to the civilian side of the intelligence community while continuing to move the CIA in a positive direction of change and transition.

General Hayden has been instrumental in building our intelligence capabilities to meet the challenges of the 21st century. Before becoming the Principal Deputy Director of National Intelligence, General Hayden has demonstrated his willingness to express his opinion and speak his mind. His credibility and integrity are second to none. He brings all these traits to his position at the head of the Central Intelligence Agency.

He also brings with him the experience of leading an organization in transformation during the Cold War to becoming an intelligence organization focused on new threats and national security issues such as countering terrorism, preventing countries such as Iran and North Korea from obtaining nuclear weapons, and protecting America’s interests in Asia, Latin America, and elsewhere. As the Director of the CIA, General Hayden will face challenges as he continues this transformation to ensure that the CIA continues to be the world class organization it must be to address these threats. This means continuing efforts to replace the old, risk driven system that was not positioned to address the threats we are facing now and may face in the future. It also means ensuring the Agency does not reverse course by infusing ideas that previously opposed change, information sharing, or oversight.

Throughout his career, General Hayden has proven his management and leadership abilities. He will provide the enthusiastic and dedicated officers at CIA the top cover necessary for them to understand the innovative approaches to intelligence gathering that is required to penetrate the hard targets of today, and I am confident he will be able to keep the CIA moving on the right course.

Finally, General Hayden will head an organization that is responsible for managing our national human intelligence effort. His military experience combined with his experience as the Principal Deputy Director of National Intelligence will serve him well as he integrates the human intelligence efforts of the Department of Defense, the FBI, and others into the National Clandestine Service, recognizing the requirements and capabilities of those organizations as he establishes common standards designed to further strengthen our country’s intelligence capabilities.

I believe General Hayden is a qualified and dedicated person to lead the CIA in this new structure, and I look forward to working closely with him as the Director of the CIA.

Mr. FEINGOLD. Mr. President, I will vote against the nomination of Michael Hayden to be Director of the CIA because I am not convinced that the nominee respects the rule of law and Congress’s oversight responsibilities. General Hayden is highly experienced and talented. And some of his testimony before the Intelligence Committee last week was disturbing, including his statement that the intelligence process was manipulated in the lead-up to the war in Iraq, which was encouraging.

It was therefore particularly disappointing that General Hayden failed to dispel serious concerns about his direction and defense of a program to illegally wiretap Americans on American soil without the required warrants. Having finally been briefed about this program last week, I am more convinced than ever that this program is illegal. And I am convinced that there is no reason that this program could not have been briefed to the congressional intelligence committee 4½ years ago, as is required by law. Yet General Hayden expressed no doubts or concerns about the legality of the program or the administration’s failure to inform Congress.

It is not sufficient for General Hayden to say that the lawyers told him it was okay. He has an independent obligation to abide by the law. No one can force him to break the law—not the lawyers and not the President. Nor can the legal issues be complex or beyond the understanding of a very intelligent and experienced intelligence professional. For years, General Hayden had been conducting surveillance in compliance with the FISA law. For years, the NSA had been notifying the congressional intelligence committees about its programs. Then, one day, everything changes. FISA no longer applies—and, by the way, don’t tell Congress. We know from General Hayden’s testimony to the Judiciary Committee, that this administration acknowledges virtually no limits to its authority. Under the theories put forward by the administration’s lawyers, whenever national security is supposedly at stake, no laws are binding and Congress is merely an inconvenience. These assertions are contrary to our constitutional system and they are dangerous. And they cannot serve as an excuse for leaders like General Hayden who know better.

My decision to vote against General Hayden is not simply about responsibility for past conduct, although that is important. I will vote against this nominee because, given his recent actions and his less than reassuring testimony, I am not convinced that he will abide by the laws relevant to the position of the Director of the CIA. When I asked General Hayden, after General Gonzales’ testimony to the Judiciary Committee, that this administration acknowledges virtually no limits to its authority. about his willingness to respect congressional oversight. He was complicit in the administration’s failure to inform the full congressional intelligence committees about the warrantless surveillance program, even though this notification is required by law. His testimony was unfortunately filled with unsupported assertions and distorted facts to explain or criticize the administration’s failure to inform the full committees about the program. As Director of the CIA, General Hayden would have a legally binding duty to keep the congressional intelligence committees informed about the warrantless surveillance program. If General Hayden does not acknowledge this duty, we cannot be assured that the Congress will be kept fully and currently informed, as is required by law.

Finally, I remain concerned about previous misleading testimony by General Hayden regarding warrantless surveillance and his explanation for that testimony. In 2002, he told a joint congressional committee that, under FISA, the NSA was “not bound by any of that legislation,” and that it was “the only agency that has the ability to go in any direction at any time and with no oversight.” In fact, the President had already authorized the NSA to bypass those legal protections. General Hayden’s explanation for this statement, that he was speaking in open session at the time and had earlier given a fuller briefing to the committee in closed session, does not justify a public misleading statement.

Our country needs a CIA Director who is committed to fighting terrorism aggressively without breaking the law or infringing on the rights of Americans. General Hayden’s role in implementing and publicly defending the warrantless surveillance program does not give me confidence that he is capable of fulfilling this important responsibility.

The stakes are high. Al-Qaeda and its affiliates are extremely resourceful and are capable of fight back and we must join this fight together, as a nation. But when administration officials ignore the law and ignore the other branches of Government, it distracts us from fighting our enemies.

I am disappointed that the President decided to make such a controversial nomination at this time. In keeping with Senate historical practices, I defer to Presidents in considering nominations to positions in the executive branch. I do not believe it is the role of the Senate to reject nominees simply because they share the ideology of the person who nominated them. But we should not confirm a nominee for this position of great responsibility when his conduct and testimony raise such troubling questions about his adherency to the rule of law.

(At the request of Mr. Levin, the following statement was ordered to be printed in the RECORD.)

Mr. ROCKEFELLER. Mr. President, the Senate today considers the nomination of GEN Michael Hayden to be Director of the Central Intelligence Agency. I support General Hayden’s confirmation. He is the right person to lead the CIA out of a period of turmoil and controversy.

Without question General Hayden has the necessary credentials. He is a career foreign service officer who led the National Security Agency for longer than anyone in the history of that agency. When he took over the NSA it was no longer at the cutting edge of information technology as it had been during the Cold War. Not everything he tried worked but he led the agency’s turnaround. We no longer worry, as we did in 1999, that the NSA is on the verge of going deaf.

General Hayden took the NSA a year ago to become the Principal Deputy Director of National Intelligence—the number two job in the new organization created by Congress to modernize the intelligence community. He has helped Director John Negroponte start the process of building a cohesive community of the 16 disparate intelligence agencies. Now he will have a chance to continue working on that integration as the Director of the agency that is the lynchpin for U.S. intelligence, the CIA.

While his qualifications are obvious, General Hayden’s selection is not without controversy. As Director of the NSA he designed and implemented a warrantless surveillance program, authorized by the President, to intercept communications over the United States. The goal of this program is to find terrorists, something every Member of this body supports. But the program’s questionable legal underpinnings and the decision to keep it hidden from most Members of Congress have raised questions about General Hayden’s judgment and independence.

I wrote Director Negroponte in February expressing my view that General Hayden’s role in the public defense of the NSA program (which I requested) disqualifies him for an intelligence official. I reiterated that concern directly to General Hayden in a letter to him prior to his confirmation hearing last week. Officials of the intelligence community must avoid even the appearance of politicization.

General Hayden addressed this issue in his hearing and responded privately to my letter. After carefully considering his answers and his response, I believe the program does not disqualifies the NSA program is legal. I also believe his public appearances were in large part his effort to defend the men and women of the NSA. I still believe his participation in the White House public relations campaign was inappropriate, but I believe his explanation is sincere.

I raise this issue because it gets to the heart of what I think will be General Hayden’s challenge at the CIA—rebuilding the agency’s credibility and reestablishing its independence. The CIA was established in 1947 to be an independent source of intelligence for the President and other senior policymakers. We have no less a need for that independence now than we did then. The Government, both the executive branch and the Congress, must have intelligence that is timely, objective, and independent of political considerations. This is not just a goal; it is the standard set in law.

I believe, over the past few years we have witnessed a pattern of cynical manipulation of intelligence for political purposes. This politicization has damaged the credibility of the intelligence community and undermined America’s efforts to deal with critical national security challenges. General Hayden must take steps to assert his and the CIA’s independence.

The situation in the period prior to the Iraq war must never be repeated. Administration officials accepted without question any nugget of intelligence, no matter how poorly sourced, if it supported the decision to go to war with Iraq. In areas where the intelligence did not support the administration’s preconceived view, such as legitimate Iraqi ties to al-Qaeda and the 9/11 attacks, the administration badgered the intelligence community to find a link, ignored the intelligence that showed there was none, and set up a rogue intelligence operation at the Defense Department to aggressively push the alleged connection.

But perhaps the most blatant abuse of the intelligence process was and continues to be the leaking and selective declassification of intelligence information to support particular policy goals. Many of my colleagues have decried the unauthorized disclosures that regularly appear in the press. I join them in condemning these damaging leaks. But it is important to understand that most disclosures of intelligence information are made by executive branch officials pushing a particular policy, and not by the rank-and-file employees of the intelligence agencies. This has been the pattern of the current administration, particularly related to Iraq.

Based on his past performance I am sure that General Hayden will stand up to blatant attempts to influence intelligence judgments. I also believe he has the character to speak out when he believes the intelligence process is being misused by senior policymakers.

General Hayden also will need to regain the trust of the Congress. The administration’s repeated refusal to allow effective oversight of some of the most important intelligence programs has endangered critical intelligence capabilities and allayed the concern of the Intelligence Committees when their support is most needed. Signals intelligence and intelligence obtained from detainees are critical elements of our efforts to detect and stop terrorists. But the administration’s ill-advised attempts to conceal these findings have created suspicion and undermined public support for our counterterrorism efforts. Sustaining these kinds of intelligence programs over the long term requires the Congress to be a full partner from the beginning. Our mutual goal should be to ensure that critical intelligence programs receive the attention and support needed to be effective.

Some have questioned the wisdom of a military officer serving in this position. While I want to make sure that General Hayden is outside of the military command, I am convinced that General Hayden’s military experience will enable him to successfully manage the important and sometimes difficult relationship between the CIA and the Department of Defense. As CIA Director, he will be the chain of command manager of human intelligence collection activities across all agencies, including the Defense Department. This function is essential to ensuring effective coordination of our sensitive intelligence gathering tasks. We cannot afford the creation of redundant capabilities or any confusion as to who is in charge of these delicate operations.

General Hayden will take over the helm of the CIA at a time of rapid expansion of the agency’s workforce and the CIA’s budget. Under his predecessor’s tenure the CIA lost many of its most experienced and talented officers. He will need to move quickly to convince the current workforce that the days of political litmus tests are over and experienced professionals will be in charge rather than political cronies.

I cannot overstate the importance of the job General Hayden is undertaking! The CIA and our other intelligence agencies are the front line of our defense. The CIA must find better ways to penetrate targets such as Iran and North Korea while continuing to adapt to the ever changing tactics of the terrorist world. I think General Hayden is the right man for the job to see that the CIA remains the premier intelligence community.

The Senate Intelligence Committee’s 2004 review of Iraq intelligence exposed some glaring problems in the collection and analysis of intelligence. The CIA has been working hard to fix what it learned in that review and has begun integrating the lessons it has learned. It will be General Hayden’s job to see that the CIA embraces the reforms needed to deal with the challenges of the 21st century. I am confident he is the right person for the task.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. President, the CIA must at all costs avoid a repeat of the pre-Iraq war intelligence fiasco, when CIA Director George Tenet said intelligence was not carefully analyzed before it was reported to the White House. General Hayden understands the failures of analysis prior to the Iraq war and is committed to making major changes.

Only time will tell, but I am hopeful that General Hayden has what it takes to put the agency on the right path after recent collection and analytic failures.

Secondly, I think General Hayden brings with him the overarching view of the entire intelligence community needed to carry out the vision and transition the CIA to deal with the new asymmetric threat posed by the terrorist world. I think this is critically important at this time.

For instance, General Hayden is perhaps the only high-level official who has criticized the Department of Defense policy office of Douglas Feith. That office, before the war began, undertook to use a direct pipeline to the White House. He acted upon intelligence assessments, bypassing mechanisms in place which are intended to produce balanced, objective assessments.

General Hayden has done more than speak openly of his concerns about the Feith operation. He acted upon them by placing a cautionary disclaimer on the reporting of his agency relative to the links that Feith and others were trying to create between Saddam Hussein and al-Qaida, so that his agency’s reports could be misused for that purpose.

Again, speaking truth to power, General Hayden showed independence when he stood up against the positions being urged by Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld during the recent reforms of the intelligence community.

As to the surveillance activities of the National Security Agency, which General Hayden formerly led, many of us have questions as to the legality and as to the decision to implement the alleged collection of phone numbers called by millions of Americans should be placed at the doorstep of the Attorney General and the White House. I am one of those being briefed on the program, and I have a number of concerns. But my concerns are with the legality and privacy intrusions and effectiveness of the program authorized by the President, and given the legal imprimatur of the Attorney General. I know of no evidence that General Hayden acted beyond the program’s guidelines as set up by the President and the Attorney General.

I will vote for General Hayden’s confirmation.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, I rise in support of the nomination of GEN Michael Hayden to be the next Director of the CIA.

I support his confirmation first because I think General Hayden’s vision for the future of the CIA is right on point.

He has pledged to make the collection of human intelligence a top priority—a necessary move in understanding our Nation’s enemies and the threats we face.

At the same time, General Hayden understands the failures of analysis prior to the Iraq war and is committed to making major changes.

Only time will tell, but I am hopeful that General Hayden has what it takes to put the agency on the right path after recent collection and analytic failures.

Secondly, I think General Hayden brings with him the overarching view of the entire intelligence community needed to carry out the vision and transition the CIA to deal with the new asymmetric threat posed by the terrorist world. I think this is critically important at this time.

General Hayden served 6 years as the Director of the National Security Agency, the largest intelligence agency in the intelligence community.

He ably led a transformation from a Cold War institution to a key component of our Nation’s counterterrorism efforts.

Additionally, he served as Principal Deputy Director of National Intelligence under Ambassador Negroponte for the past year.

In this role, he oversaw the day-to-day operations of the Office of the DNI, and many of the DNI’s accomplishments to date can be directly attributed to General Hayden’s service.

Third, I am pleased that General Hayden made a commitment to me to appoint experienced intelligence professionals to serve on his direct staff and in senior positions across the agency.

I also support the administration’s intention to name Stephen Kappes as the Deputy Director of the CIA.

Mr. Kappes brings a wealth of experience in the clandestine service to the agency’s senior leadership.

Perhaps more importantly, his return to the agency has already gone a long way to assure operators that they are well represented in management and that their concerns will be met.

General Hayden will come to the agency at a time of major personnel problems. But he has already taken steps to move the agency beyond the problems of the past and that is good news.

There is no question that the concerns that have been raised about General Hayden are legitimate and important.

Before my meeting with General Hayden and his appearance at the confirmation hearings, I was concerned that he will not be sufficiently independent of the Department of Defense. On this point, I have been reassured.

General Hayden has shown his independence in the past, and has committed that if he finds his uniform to be a hindrance in any way, he will “take it off.”

Similarly, the Intelligence Committee will need to pay close attention to intelligence activities of the Department of Defense, especially in the area of human intelligence.

I have concerns that the Pentagon is going too far in this area, and I want to make sure that the CIA remains the leader and primary provider of this type of intelligence collection.

My greatest concern about General Hayden is that he was not more forthcoming in his answers during the open confirmation hearing.

Many members asked important questions on the NSA domestic surveillance program and on detention, interrogation and rendition policies.

In my view, the public deserved more forthcoming answers than those provided by General Hayden.

For example, I felt that General Hayden should have stated clearly, in full public view, whether he believes that certain interrogation techniques constitute torture. He could say yes or no without disclosing sources and methods.

It is my hope that General Hayden will be more forthcoming once he is confirmed as Director of the CIA.

The challenge ahead of General Hayden is daunting, but it is absolutely critical to our nation’s security that he succeeds.

I believe General Hayden is the sound intelligence professional the CIA needs to regain its footing as the world’s premier spy service and the hub of our nation’s intelligence analysis and research and development capabilities.

I look forward to working with him to protect the American people.

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, in several crucial respects, the CIA today is in disarray, and fixing our premier intelligence agency must be a top priority. The CIA must become as effective as we need it to be in combating terrorism and in serving all of our national security interests. The keys to a strong CIA are the independence and proficiency of its leadership.

I had a lengthy private discussion with General Hayden in deciding how I would vote on his confirmation. Our discussion confirmed the confidence that I have long had in General Hayden’s professionalism and competence. I remain outraged about the controversial domestic surveillance initiatives that the NSA has overseen at the White House direction, but the fact remains that President Bush and Vice President Cheney—not General Hayden—were the “deciders” in ordering this surveillance of Americans, with then-White House Counsel Gonzales acting in his capacity to validate a program that was structured and operated outside the checks and balances of existing law.

The CIA right now is in desperate need of professionalism after the debacle of the Agency’s outgoing leadership, and my discussions with General Hayden have led me to conclude that he has the competence, the experience, and the independence to serve capably in helping to repair the damage that has been done to the Agency. I will vote for his confirmation.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I rise in support of the nomination of General Hayden as the new Director of the Central Intelligence Agency. Based on my careful review of his long record as a career intelligence man and his answers to some important questions during his confirmation hearing, I am hopeful General Hayden will provide the CIA the kind of professional, non-partisan leadership it has sorely lacked for the past several years.

And I am also hopeful that this nomination signifies that the Bush administration has recognized, finally, that professionals, not partisans should be put in charge of national security.

General Hayden has impeccable credentials and a career in intelligence matters that is as impressive as it is long. Anyone can read the public record and quickly see that this man is more than qualified for this job.

And my personal meeting with General Hayden shortly after he was nominated only served to reinforce that impression. I reached with him privately in my office just off this floor, for more than 45 minutes.

During the course of that meeting, we discussed General Hayden’s career in the military until the Air Force and his dedicated service to America’s intelligence community that ultimately earned him a fourth star.

My meeting convinced me that General Hayden understands and respects the role of Congress in national security matters. He seems to grasp how essential it is that he consult regularly with the congressional leadership on these critical issues. And he seems to recognize the need to keep the congressional oversight committees fully informed about the intelligence community’s activities.

All of these are important because we are a nation at war and actions by the Bush administration have left our intelligence community—this Nation’s eyes and ears on those who mean us harm in disarray.

As a direct result of this administration’s actions, the Central Intelligence Agency and those it placed under contract have been directly implicated in abuse and detention centers that have given this nation a black eye around the world and been counterproductive to winning the fight against terrorism.

The findings of our intelligence community are increasingly questioned by the American people and the world.

And scores of incredibly talented and experienced career intelligence professionals have been driven from their jobs because they insisted on speaking the truth rather than tow the Administration’s line.

Things apparently got so out of hand at CIA in recent months that the President’s intelligence advisory board finally had to intervene and recommend change.

All of these developments have harmed national security and placed Americans at greater risk. And it is against this difficult backdrop that the Senate debates the nomination of General Hayden.

General Hayden has said in the confirmation hearings, “The next Director must right this ship and restore the CIA to its critically important position.”

I want to briefly lay out the three major challenges that I believe General Hayden faces in ensuring that he achieves the success the Senate expects of his tenure.

The first challenge is independence. General Hayden needs to speak truth to power and call the shots as he sees them, not as he thinks his boss wants them seen. Rebuilding the independence of intelligence also means ending its politicization. General Hayden must stand up to an administration that has either attempted to bully the intelligence community into saying what it wanted or worked around it when it couldn’t get the answers it needed.

General Hayden must provide assurances to Congress that intelligence assessments will not be manipulated. CIA intelligence civil servants, will be protected from outside interference, not politicized.

The second challenge is openness to oversight.

This administration has refused to follow the law and Senate rules that require keeping the intelligence committees fully and currently informed of important intelligence practices. Administration ideologues have apparently authorized detention and interrogation practices that have backfired in our efforts in the war on terror, and concocted controversial legal arguments for presidential powers backing a warrantless surveillance program that circumvents all efforts to keep Congress properly informed as required under the law. General Hayden must ensure that Congress is able to carry out its constitutional obligations on critical national security matters.

The third challenge is fixing our strategy in the war on terror.

After more than 4 years of the war on terror, Osama bin Laden remains at large and al-Qaeda and other radical fundamentalist terrorist organizations continue to pose a grave threat to our security. Terrorist attacks have increased not decreased on this administration’s watch. Two of the three so-called axes of evil are more dangerous today than they were when President Bush first uttered that memorable phrase and the third, Iraq, is on the verge of becoming what it was not before the war—a haven and launching pad for international terrorists. And America’s standing in the world has reached record lows in critical regions of the world.

In the short run, General Hayden must insist that the Bush administration redouble and refocus its efforts that go after “high value targets”. It is a travesty—a travesty—that nearly 5 years after 9/11, the Bush administration has not captured or killed Osama bin Laden. The CIA must lead efforts to understand the challenge posed by Iran and North Korea and their nuclear ambitions.

General Hayden must also build a global human intelligence capability over the next several years with diverse officers who understand the cultures and speak the languages of every key target across the entire globe. The CIA must play a leading role in understanding how to help win the battle of ideas going on within the Islamic world, and how to change the calculus of the young so that new generations of terrorists are not created.

These are all large and important challenges, with grave consequences for America and the world. Based on everything I have seen I am hopeful he is up to the task. And I am hopeful this administration will let him do the job for which it nominated him.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is, Will the Senate advise and consent to the nomination of General Michael V. Hayden, United States Air Force, to be Director of the Central Intelligence Agency?

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, I ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second?

There is a sufficient second.

The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk called the roll.

Mr. MCCONNELL. The following Senators were necessarily absent: the Senator from North Carolina (Mrs. DOLE) and the Senator from South Dakota (Mr. THUNE).

Further, if present and voting, the Senator from North Carolina (Mr. CONRAD), the Senator from North Dakota (Mr. BROWNBACK), and the Senator from West Virginia (Mr. ROCKEFELLER), and the Senator from Colorado (Mr. SALAZAR) are necessarily absent.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any other Senators in the Chamber desiring to vote?

NOT VOTING—7

The nomination was confirmed.

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, I would like to say a few words about the nomination of General Michael V. Hayden to be Director of the Central Intelligence Agency. I regret that I was not able to vote to confirm his nomination at this time, and I would like to take a few minutes to explain my vote.

As my colleagues may know, I voted to confirm Mr. Hayden when he was nominated to be the Deputy Director of National Intelligence, DNI. I stand by that vote for two reasons. First, General Hayden is obviously qualified on paper to fill the position. Second, he was serving as Deputy to the current DNI, John Negroponte. So there was a clear line of authority.

But today when the Senate voted on his nomination to be Director of the CIA, these two circumstances were significantly different. First, issues like the potentially illegal wiretapping of American citizens’ phone lines by the National Security Agency—a program which General Hayden reportedly designed and ran—have come to light. And second, he will no longer be serving as a deputy but as head of one of our Nation’s premier intelligence agencies—yet he is not resigning his commission as a uniformed officer. That raises the question of whether and to what degree he will be independent from decisions made at the Pentagon.

Some of my colleagues have insisted that Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld will no longer be in the chain of command overseeing General Hayden in his position at the CIA. Certainly, there is precedent for uniformed officers serving as head of the CIA. However, when we look at this precedent we also have to realize that circumstances have changed. A not insignificant part of the reason that we invaded Iraq is because our Nation’s intelligence was politicized, and because intelligence activities were manipulated to justify a predetermined conclusion—that Iraq had weapons of mass destruction.

Much of this intelligence manipulation was performed by intelligence bureaus within the Pentagon, under the supervision of Secretary Rumsfeld, who has been steadily expanding the Pentagon’s role in U.S. intelligence activities. It would seem to this Senator that given Secretary Rumsfeld’s track record, concentrating intelligence in his hands would be unwise to say the least.

The truth is that we don’t really know how much independence General Hayden will show with respect to the Secretary of Defense. After all, he is a military officer during his tenure as Director of the CIA. If, as is widely believed, he was the driving force behind the NSA’s wiretapping program, then I question his ability to balance the important need to defend our country with the equally important need to protect constitutional rights of all Americans.

I frankly think it is a shame that Congress didn’t take a few more days, or even a couple of weeks, to more deeply probe these fundamental issues of security and liberty. Indeed, if this body had taken sufficient steps to get answers about the NSA’s wiretapping program, and if General Hayden had considered leaving his role as an active military officer during his tenure as CIA Director, then it is possible that the concerns I mentioned might have been alleviated.

I also regret the fact, however, that President Bush didn’t pick somebody who was equally qualified but not tied in to controversial programs such as collecting telephone information and listening in to conversations between American citizens. Because in this time of difficulty for the CIA, we don’t just need someone who is qualified, we also need someone who is credible. While the extent of General Hayden’s involvement in these activities is as yet unclear, I am concerned that his role could potentially undermine his ability to carry out his duties as head of the CIA.

Mr. President, despite some opposition, General Hayden was confirmed earlier this morning by the Senate. At this juncture, I can only hope that he proves my concerns to be unfounded. I wish him only the best in pursuing a goal that I know we all share—the safety and well-being of American citizens in this time of war.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The President will be immediately notified.

The majority leader is recognized.

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I know Senator NELSON will have 2 minutes of remarks to make; 30 seconds for me. The next vote will be our last. We anticipate a voice vote on the confirmation of Dirk Kempthorne after cloture is invoked. We are working on agreement for when we return. I expect the next votes to occur on the morning of Tuesday, June 6.

100 HOURS OF SERVICE AS PRESIDING OFFICER

Two quick congratulations: On behalf of the entire Senate, I congratulate two Senators for their presiding service. Earlier this week, Senator VITTER reached the 100-hour mark and will receive the Golden Gavel Award; and later this morning, Senator ISAKSON will get his 100th hour of service. We thank them both for their efforts in the Chair.

(Applause, Members rising.)
NOMINATION OF GENERAL MICHAEL V. HAYDEN TO THE POSITION OF GENERAL IN THE U.S. AIR FORCE

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senate will proceed to Executive Calendar No. 683, which the clerk will report.

The legislative clerk read the nomination of the following named officer for appointment in the United States Air Force to the grade indicated while assigned to a position of importance and responsibility under title 10, U.S.C.: GEN Michael V. Hayden to the position of general in the United States Air Force.

The nomination was confirmed.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is, Will the Senate advise and consent to the confirmation of the nomination of GEN Michael V. Hayden to the position of general in the United States Air Force.

The result was announced—yeas 85, nays 8, as follows:

Mr. McConnell. The following Senators were necessarily absent: the Senator from North Carolina (Mrs. DOLE) and the Senator from South Dakota (Mr. THUNE).

Further, if present and voting, the Senator from North Carolina (Mrs. DOLE) and the Senator from South Dakota (Mr. THUNE) would have voted "yea."

Mr. DURBIN. I announce that the Senator from California (Mrs. BOXER), the Senator from North Dakota (Mr. CONRAD), the Senator from Hawaii (Mr. INOUYE), the Senator from West Virginia (Mr. ROCKEFELLER), and the Senator from Colorado (Mr. SALAZAR) are necessarily absent.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any other Senators in the Chamber desiring to vote?

The result was announced—yeas 85, nays 8, as follows:

Mr. Menendez. Mr. President, I am now in a position to call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk called the roll.

If we are to ensure that our grandchildren will be able to marvel at the majestic grandeur of this country’s untouched wide open spaces, or learn of their Nation’s heritage at our historic treasures, or observe the beauty of the countless array of wildlife that roams the continent—it is essential that the next Secretary of the Interior recommit the Department to being a good steward of the land for all the people, and not a good server of it for the oil, mining, and timber companies. Given his consistently held positions for drilling in protected areas of the Arctic and off our coastslines, weakening the Endangered Species Act, and opposing the protection of roadless areas in National Forests, among others, I do not believe that Governor Kempthorne will make a change in the direction of the Interior Department.

I want it to be clear that the real problem is not with the nominee. The real problem is with the policies of the administration, and the willingness of the Secretary to carry them out without question. This administration has certainly been no friend to the environment, and the previous Secretary of the Interior was particularly adept at carrying out its program for exploitation. Whether it is in the waters off our beaches, in the sensitive lands of the Arctic, or the wild places of the West, the administration has consistently appeared to be working for the interests of the oil and gas companies over the interests of the public second. They have consistently pushed for opening the Alaska National Wildlife Refuge. They have proposed opening the Mid-Atlantic oil and gas drilling—barely 75 miles off the coast of New Jersey. And, according to the Government Accountability Office, they more than tripled the number of drilling permits approved for the West—until the point where GAO found that the Bureau of Land Management is having trouble meeting its environmental responsibilities.

The administration’s disdain of public lands extends to the point that they have now proposed selling it off to fund other programs or reduce the deficit. To his credit, the Governor flatly stated that he did not approve of reducing the deficit this way, but he was not nearly as clear about whether he would use public land sales to fund other programs. The Governor should not treat our public lands as if they were an inventory that needed to be gotten rid of, but rather as an asset that needs to be protected and nurtured for future generations.

In New Jersey, we don’t have an over-abundance of public land, which makes us value what we do have a great deal. Even in the most densely populated State in the Nation, we have a number of treasures valued by all New Jerseyans—the Pinelands, the Highlands, the Delaware Water Gap, our National Wildlife Refuges, historic sites, and more. This is where we take our children to show them the beauty of nature, where we learn about our past, where we take our vacations, and where we welcome visitors from other States and other countries. But many of these would not exist without the help of the Land and Water Conservation Fund. The Fund has not only helped the Government to preserve these and other sites, it has also helped the State create parks, ballfields, and other recreation areas. Liberty State Park, a green oasis in the middle of the New Jersey metropolitan area, less than a half mile from Ellis Island and the Statue of Liberty, would still be a tangle of deserted railroad tracks if it wasn’t for the help of the Land and Water Conservation Fund.

Unfortunately, the administration has been carrying on a multi-year assault on the Fund, slicing it from $573 million in 2002 to $142 million this year, and proposing only $85 million for 2007. For the second straight year, they have proposed eliminating the State grant program entirely. This is not the way to run a program that is supposed to provide $900 million each year for land acquisition.

I am also very concerned about the overall direction that the National Park Service has been moving in under this administration. First, the administration has inexplicably proposed rewriting the National Park Service’s management policies to take away the clear mandate to preserve the parks for future generations. We have not gotten any satisfactory answers as to why they have proposed this, but it is completely at odds with my view of why we have national parks, which is to protect our natural treasures for our children and our grandchildren. Even if the policies are not rewritten, our parks are in danger of simply falling apart. The National Parks Service faces a multibillion-dollar maintenance backlog, yet the administration has proposed slashing the account to fund that maintenance by over 30 percent.

This does not bode well for Ellis Island, where a large number of historic buildings are in danger of disappearing forever into crumbled brick because the National Park Service has been stalling for years instead of approving a redevelopment plan for the south side of the island. This part of the island belongs to New Jersey, and a dedicated nonprofit group has spent years raising millions to prepare for the rehabilitation of these structures, only to be thwarted by the National Park Service.

Right next door, the Statue of Liberty has been held hostage by fear since 9/11. The pedestal has been re-opened, but visitors are still forbidden from making the unforgettable climb up to her crown to look out onto the harbor. Just yesterday, the Senate passed the amendment, offered by Senator SCHUMER and myself, that would require the Secretary of the Interior to take the necessary security precautions and open the stairway to Lady Liberty’s crown once more. There is no reason it should have taken this long to take the precautions necessary to ensure that the statue is safe to climb, and there is no reason any longer for it to be held hostage to fear.

The National Park Service is not the only agency in the Interior Department facing crippling budget cuts that threaten its very mission. Wildlife refuges throughout New Jersey are going to be losing staff in the upcoming fiscal year. Their work will be left undone, without any staff at all. The largest of our refuges, Edwin B. Forsythe, is going to have to close one of its offices, and make due with only one law enforcement officer for its 47,000 acres. This doesn’t just detract from the experience for visitors. It also makes it tougher to protect against vandalism, littering, and other activities that harm the tens of thousands of birds and mammals that depend on the refuge as a sanctuary in a highly urbanized region.

This last point is extremely important. Making sure that wildlife has access to the habitat it needs to thrive is of the utmost priority, especially if endangered species are to survive. But right now the endangered species act is under attack. Last year, the other chamber passed a bill that would severely weaken a number of crucial protection measures, including the elimination of critical habitat. The Governor has a long record on endangered species issues, and much of it gives me great cause for concern. I hope that he will take a careful look at this issue and endorse policies designed to protect developers first and endangered species second.

I have just scratched the surface of the anti-environmental policies of the current administration. As I have limited myself to discussing the Department of the Interior, I have not mentioned the misguided policies designed to rollback the progress we have made in cleaning our air, our lakes, and our rivers. But the administration is facing the facts on global warming. We quite simply might never have the time to completely cover that ground. But Governor Kempthorne has demonstrated himself in the past to be aligned with the environmental philosophy of this administration, and therefore I cannot support his nomination as Secretary of Interior. I have no illusions, however. I am fully aware that he will be confirmed, and I hope that he proves himself as one of the bravest people in the country in the danger of making mistakes that we can not easily correct. And we need to reaffirm our commitment to being good stewards of the land for future generations. As Theodore Roosevelt said, “I recognize the importance of this generation to develop and use the natural resources of our land; but I do not recognize the right to waste them, or to rob, by wasteful use, the generations that come after us.” I hope that the administration will take these words to heart.

Mr. CRAPO. Mr. President, I am pleased to be able to recognize the distinguished achievement of my friend and fellow Idahoan Dirk Kempthorne, who will be sworn in today as the 49th Secretary of the Interior of the United States. Throughout years of public service from mayor of Idaho’s capitol, United States Senator, Governor, and now Interior Secretary, he has demonstrated himself in the past 8 years, Dirk has vigorously championed innovation in environmental and natural resource sciences. appointees trying to intimidate and muzzle climate scientists at the National Aeronautics and Space Ad-great minds of this Nation and the great technology that has been developed; as the Nation needs so desperately more oil and more gas, particularly natural gas; with the prices so high so that supplies can be increased and, hopefully, demand can be reduced, come down, jobs can stabilize, and the entire economy, from the Midwest to the Northeast to the far West can benefit from that effort, I wanted to show a graph of what I am speaking about because I think a picture is worth a thousand words, may I know if I have a few more minutes. This is why I continue to come to the Senate floor to say that the Gulf coast is America’s only energy coast.

This represents the miles and miles of pipeline, rigs, and infrastructure that have been developed in the Gulf of Mexico since the first well was drilled off of Creole, LA, in the gulf in the 1940s. By the way, that community was just completely wiped out in the last hurricane. It was the community of Katrina. But right off of Creole, a tiny little community in southwest Louisiana, the first offshore oil platform was drilled. Subsequently, over decades this infrastructure has been built and it has been improved and better and stronger using better technology, and as a result this country has benefited significantly from this contribution.

Another way to look at it is the oil and gas leasing that has occurred—which Kempthorne will now be responsible for, how these leases occur, where they occur, and when they occur. As you can see, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Texas have served as hosts to this industry, and we have served proudly. But there is a crisis now in the Gulf of Mexico, and it was brought to the television of every American—every American—with the landfall of Katrina and Rita and the subsequent flooding.

The reason this destruction that has occurred along the gulf coast, the flooding in the city of New Orleans and in communities throughout Louisiana, and the frightening and real erosion of America’s only coastal wetlands the coastal wetlands of Louisiana. We have lost over a million square miles of wetlands, and we are losing 33 football fields a day. Thirty-three football fields a day are being lost in this great and extraordinary wetland.

When people say: Senator, how are the beaches in Louisiana? I say: We don’t have beaches in Louisiana. We love the beaches that are in Florida, Alabama, and Mississippi. We have vacationed on them our whole lives. But we have the greatest delta system in America, but there’s a million acres in the Mississippi River itself, the land that we actually live on. On this land are great wetlands that supply fishing, that host and serve as the home of the mighty Mississippi River, and are the source for oil and gas. As the Secretary will come to know, this oil and gas could not be retrieved or mined from the Gulf of Mexico without the partnership of these Gulf Coast States. So what we are asking for is fairness. We are asking for a percentage, a percentage in dollars, from this drilling to come back into this area and help us restore our wetlands and invest in the infrastructure necessary to protect the gulf coast so that we can provide our people with a bright and strong economic future.

I am going to submit a longer statement for the RECORD. Again, I submit, looking at this chart, and just showing the more, that when we say the gulf coast is America’s energy coast, these are the pipelines that come from the Gulf of Mexico. You can see even the Rocky Mountains. We are proud of the production that goes out west. We are proud of that production. But as you can see, a lot of our gas is coming from Canada and, hopefully, more of our gas will come from Alaska.

I see my friend and colleague from Alaska, the senior Senator, on the Senate floor. We hope we can get more gas from Canada and from Alaska because we need it. But I want people to see where the gas is coming from. The gas is coming from Louisiana, and if you want more of it, then, No. 1, help us to save Rita and save Rita from washing away in the gulf; and, No. 2, help us to share in some of these revenues that will go right back into these communities to support the industry and the people and the schools and the churches and the towns that make this all possible. And, if not, then go find your gas somewhere else. I mean that. Go find it somewhere else because we have a lot of it down here. We are happy to give it, but we need some respect and cooperation on this point.

The Senator from Alaska is here to speak, and I am going to be back later this afternoon to finish the remarks that I want to put in the RECORD. I see Secretary Kempthorne standing here. I appreciate him being on the floor to hear these remarks. I am looking forward to having him come to Louisiana. I said he is not much use to us with a broken foot, so he has to get that foot fixed. He has promised to do that, and I am sure he will get up to Alaska sometime soon to see the great work that Alaska does. He, of course, is very familiar, having been the Governor of Idaho, with the West. But, Governor, we are looking forward to having you come down and visit us on the gulf coast.

I yield the floor.

LEGISLATIVE SESSION
The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will now return to legislative session.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Alaska is recognized for 10 minutes.

Mr. STEVENS. Mr. President, I would like to change the order in terms of the time agreement. I ask that I be recognized for 10 minutes. Following my presentation, Senator REED be recognized for 10 minutes, Senator SPECTER for 10 minutes, Senator BYRD for such time that he may require, and following Senator BYRD, Senator McCONNELL be recognized for such time as he may require.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

ENERGY
Mr. STEVENS. Mr. President, yesterday the House of Representatives passed the bipartisan American-Made Energy and Good Jobs Act. This bill directs the Secretary of the Interior to establish and implement a leasing program to enable the exploration, development, and production of Alaska’s oil and gas resources in the Arctic Coastal Plain.

I come today to commend our House colleagues for taking this action. Opening the Coastal Plain to development will help stabilize energy prices, spur economic growth, and enhance our national security. The Coastal Plain is believed to be the second largest oil field ever discovered in North America, capable of producing 1 million barrels of oil per day.

The National Defense Council estimates the development of the resources in our Coastal Plain will create between 700,000 and 1 million American jobs.

The majority in both Houses of this Congress and 70 percent of all Americans support exploration and development of Alaska’s Coastal Plain. Our Senate colleagues should join those in the House and act to authorize development of these domestic resources.

Going forward, the United States must increase domestic production to secure our energy independence. Our Nation is in the midst of an energy crisis. In 2003, gasoline cost $1.36 per gallon. This week, prices at the pump are averaging $2.88 per gallon in my State and in some places over $4 a gallon.

In the 1990s, natural gas prices in the lower 48, as we call it, averaged $2.50 per thousand cubic feet. Today, natural gas costs approximately $6 per thousand cubic feet, more than twice as much. This situation will only grow more serious. It is estimated that our LNG imports will increase by 500 percent in the near future. We also now face increased competition for that LNG from foreign nations.

In the last 14 years, India’s oil consumption has doubled. China was the second largest oil importer in the world in 2004. According to the Energy Information Administration, by 2035, the world energy consumption will increase by 57 percent.

Americans cannot conserve our way out of this problem, and we cannot suspend the law of supply and demand. If we continue to lock up our lands, this country will not have the energy needed to keep up with the global economy. Conservation and alternative fuels are part of the overall solution, but to end this crisis, we must also increase our domestic production of oil and gas resources.

In 2004, Congress provided the financial incentives to move forward with the Alaska natural gas pipeline. This pipeline is required to move 35 million cubic feet of gas known to be in the Prudhoe Bay area, when completed, will deliver about 4 billion cubic feet of natural gas per day to the American market.

I now have serious concerns about the process for this pipeline being constructed. Federal officials told me that it would take 44 months once the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission receives an application to proceed with it. Congress can shorten this timeframe by declaring a state of emergency, and we have to realize that it is a national emergency with regard to our future gas supply. Congress cannot intervene, however, until the State of Alaska has taken action on this gas pipeline project. The pipeline is to move gas from State lands, lands which the State of Alaska is the owner of, and the Alaska Natural Gas Pipeline Act of 2004 stipulated that if an application was not received by the Federal Government, the construction of this pipeline, the Department of Energy could study the feasibility of a pipeline to be built and owned by the Federal Government. This study is now underway.

While Federal ownership is not the preferred course of action, given our Nation’s current energy crisis and the emergency we face, this Nation must ensure that this project moves forward as quickly as possible.

Earlier this week, the Wall Street Journal published an interview with Lord John Browne, the chief executive officer of the British Petroleum Company. Lord Browne told the paper:

‘‘The growth for us in Alaska is gas. We are talking about, of course, the BP Company. He said: ‘‘Oil will continue, but gas will flip over and replace oil as the economic driver.’’ He is talking about the enormous potential of gas in the Alaskan economy. And he added that: ‘‘Once our pipeline is approved, we can look forward to 50 years’’—we can look forward to 50 years—of increased gas supplies.’’

Now, our State and the Federal Government have to act quickly so that we can begin to lay the foundation for this next 50 years of increased domestically produced natural gas.

Alaska’s energy resources are needed now. Our State’s potential is staggering. Trillions—I am told 32,000 trillion—of cubic feet of gas hydrates lie beneath the permafrost under the North Slope lands of Alaska. We have half the Nation’s coastline. It holds some of the world’s greatest prospects for oil. The energy Two-thirds of the Continental Shelf of the United States is off our State. In addition to that, we hope someday we will join the producers of ethanol. Ethanol can be made from wood chips. Our State forests contain millions of acres—millions of acres—of trees that are available for harvest, including particularly the Birch trees which I am told is a good source of material for this type of fuel to make ethanol.

Alaskans are pioneers, but we are also realists. It will take decades before our Nation can fully commercialize alternative energy sources. Solving our country’s energy crisis will require conservation. It will require development of fuels, but it also requires domestic production of our domestic oil and gas resources. Those who advocate only one or two of these approaches are misleading the American public. There is an urgent need for us to develop our domestic resources now, and there is an urgent need for us to develop alternative fuels and to conserve. We must do all of that, Mr. President.

Federal action is required and State action is required immediately if we are to develop this gas pipeline. This gas pipeline project must go forward, and authorization of the development of our resources in our Coastal Plain and the ANWR proposal is absolutely necessary. I urge the Senate to join the House in authorizing the development which was authorized by the Congress in 1980. For over 25 years we have had a majority in the Senate which approves the development and exploration and development of oil and gas resources of Alaska. It is only a filibuster that has stopped us. America needs these resources to meet the increased demand for our energy and to provide for relief from our continued increased dependence upon foreign sources for energy. I urge the Senate to join our colleagues in the House and authorize development of our Coastal Plain. I also urge my own State of Alaska to move quickly to approve the application for the natural gas pipeline so it can move forward also.

I thank the Chair, and I yield the floor.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Rhode Island.

NOMINATION OF GENERAL MICHAEL HAYDEN

Mr. REED. Mr. President, a short time ago the Senate approved the nomination of GEN Michael Hayden to be the Director of the Central Intelligence Agency. I think it was an appropriate confirmation by this body, but I do think it is also appropriate to comment on the nomination of General Hayden.

Twenty months ago, I came to the Senate floor to oppose the nomination of Porter Goss for the same position, as Director of the Central Intelligence Agency. At that time, I stated that the Director of Central Intelligence is a political position. It should stand above politics. The citizens of the United States have the right to assume that the Director of Central Intelligence is providing objective information and analysis to allow the President to make the best possible decisions.

I didn’t believe that a partisan choice was the proper choice then, and it seems in fact that was the case. Mr. Hayden was confirmed as Director of National Intelligence, and by other members in the Department of Defense and the administration believed that its political agenda was more important than the security of our country. The CIA was in turmoil then, and it is in turmoil now. The Agency’s assessments were discredited, and we are still subject to skepticism now. Many more experienced operatives have resigned. Mr. Goss, a political operative chosen by President Bush to lead the Central Intelligence Agency through a difficult period while engaged in a war, failed in this mission. So the administration is trying again.

This time, the President has chosen an intelligence veteran. General Hayden has served our Nation for the past 37 years as a distinguished intelligence officer in the U.S. Air Force. He has most recently held positions as Director of the National Security Agency and the Principal Deputy Director of National Intelligence. General Hayden is well versed in intelligence matters, has had real world experience, and I do not believe he is a partisan political operative. There is evidence that General Hayden has been and can be independent and objective. General Hayden is a better choice, a much better choice, than Mr. Goss. However, I still have some concerns.

First, there has been much discussion about General Hayden’s position in the military and his ability to be independent from the Defense Department in his assessments and in his operations. While the law has always allowed a military officer to serve in this position, I believe there is a valid reason for concern. The fiscal year 2007 National Defense authorization bill addressed this issue by authorizing the flag and general officers assigned to certain positions in the Office of the Director of National Intelligence and the CIA not to be subject to the supervision or control of the Secretary of Defense or exercise any supervision or control of military or civilian personnel in the Department of Defense, except as authorized by law. I believe this is an important provision and only one reason the Defense authorization bill should be passed this year, and I still have some skepticism now. Many more experienced operatives have resigned. Mr. Hayden is an example of where this administration has failed in this mission.

I also believe we have to go a step further. I think if a military officer is chosen as the Director of National Intelligence or Director of Central Intelligence, that position should be a terminal assignment. This position should be recognized by the officer and by other members in the Department of Defense and the administration as the final assignment of that particular officer. It should not be subject to availability as an insurance policy if an officer who takes one of these top intelligence positions is free from considerations about his future military career—what assignments he might be given, who he might be angering in the Department of Defense, who he might be pleasing within the Department of Defense, either consciously or subconsciously.

As I said earlier, intelligence should be about and it also should help the Pentagon assignments and of budgets and of other considerations. A law stating that the position as Director of Central Intelligence or National Intelligence is a final military assignment would help clarify this position in detail. It is an issue I will raise again during the consideration of the Defense authorization bill.

General Hayden has agreed, in consultation with Senator Warner and also in consultation with his family, that it is his intent to make this his final military assignment. I have no doubt that he will do that, but I believe it is important to formalize this provision in the law. That is why I will bring this up. It is not a position of our colleagues when the Defense authorization bill comes to the floor.

There is another issue, of course, that is of concern. That issue is the administration’s terrorist surveillance program. General Hayden headed the National Security Agency when the program was proposed and implemented. From what we know today, that program conducted electronic surveillance of international telephone calls and collected millions of domestic phone records. Let me be clear. A vote in support of General Hayden should not be construed as an endorsement of this administration’s surveillance program. Nor should concerns about the administration’s programs be viewed as an unwillingness to adopt aggressive intelligence activities against those who truly threaten this country. I believe we still do not know enough of the facts about these programs. From what we do know, however, I have grave concerns.

A thorough investigation must be conducted and must be conducted in a timely manner, but General Hayden was not the creator of the program, nor was he the one to provide the legal authority for the program. He stated he needed authority to implement such a surveillance program and the administration provided him with the authority he felt was sufficient. On this issue, at this time I will give General Hayden the benefit of the doubt. I did support the nomination of General Hayden. I am certain he knows he is taking a very difficult job at a very difficult moment.

Many other honorable men and women have joined this administration. They have come to this administration with years of experience and expertise, and they have found themselves in very difficult dilemmas, where their experience and their expertise was not utilized by this administration. Their objectivity, their sense of duty—not to a particular President but to the country overall—has been seriously challenged. In certain cases, the only remedy for these individuals is to resign rather than continue to support policies that they feel in their hearts and in their minds are not serving the best interests of this country. General Hayden might come to such a decision. Given his skill, his experience, and his dedication to duty, it is likely he would take the harder right than the easier wrong.

I yield the floor.

CONGRESSIONAL NOTIFICATION UNDER THE NATIONAL SECURITY ACT

Mr. SPECTER. Mr. President, I voted against General Hayden for the position of Director of Central Intelligence as a protest vote against the administration’s policy of not informing the Congress, with special emphasis on the Judiciary Committee, in a way which the administration and the Judiciary Committee do our constitutional job on oversight. I have no quarrel with General Hayden personally with an outstanding record. I have no objection to his retaining his military status. He has testified in a way, before the Intelligence Committee, which was candid. I would be especially pleased to support a fellow Pennsylvanian. But in light of General Hayden’s testimony before the Senate Intelligence Committee and seven additional members were informed. Then, at first, the House resisted to having only part of their Intelligence Committee informed, but, finally, 11 Members of the House were informed. Then, in the wake of the Hayden nomination, the administration finally complied with the Act and by letter of the members of the Intelligence Committee—I think, plainly, so that they could get General Hayden confirmed.

When the Judiciary Committee called in Attorney General Gonzales on February 6, which was the first day we could do it after the mid-December disclosures and the hearings which we had scheduled on Justice Alito, it was an embarrassing performance. The Attorney General refused to say anything of substance about what the program was. We were ready to retire into a closed session, had that been productive, but it was a situation where the Judiciary Committee was stonewalled, plain and simple.

The Attorney General then wrote us a letter on February 28 seeking to clarify and explain what he had testified to before—and only more questions were raised. We have still not resolved the issue of whether the Attorney General before the Judiciary Committee, but there is a question as to its value and whether we can get anything from a repeat performance from Attorney General Gonzales. As I say, that remains an open question.

In the interim, I have proposed legislation which would turn over the administration’s surveillance program to the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court. That court has a say anywhere of expertise. That court has a record for not leaking and we could have it make the determination as to the constitutionality of the program.

We had a hearing where we brought in four ex-judges of the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court who know its operations in great detail. They made some suggestions which were incorporated into my proposed legislation, thereby improving it. They answered the question about the possibility of an advisory opinion and the issue of the case in controversy requirement.

I have since conferred with Senator Feinstein and Congresswoman Jane Harman, ranking member on Intelligence in the House, about working on legislation. Both of those individuals have been privy to briefings by the administration on the program. There is discussion about the operational resources and with some structural changes—for example, expanding the 3-day period to 7 days—the FISA Court would be in a position to pass on an individual basis, the program. Whether that is so or not, I don’t know, but that is a possibility.

When the disclosures were made about the telephone companies providing substantial information to the administration and the NSA, the Judiciary Committee scheduled a hearing. We had it set for June 6. Yesterday, in an executive session, the issue was considered about subpoenaes, since two of the four telephone companies had requested subpoenas; the issue was also raised as to a closed session.

There were objections raised by some members of the committee about calling in the telephone companies. Suggestions were made by other members of the committee about calling in other members of the administration.

Since we were in the middle of the debate on immigration, we held a very brief hearing—cramped circumstances in the President's Room off the Senate floor. It was decided to defer the hearing with the telephone companies by 1 week to give the committee an opportunity on June 6, the same date we had previously scheduled a hearing, to consider these issues and decide them at greater length.

An interesting suggestion was made by one of the members of the committee—that in the past, when that member was a member of the Judiciary Committee, he had called for a secret session of the full Senate to discuss matters which had been disclosed to him in the Intelligence Committee which he was barred from publically. That is an avenue which I am currently pursuing.

The stonewalling of the Congress—and particularly the Judiciary Committee and precluding the Judiciary Committee from discharging our constitutional duty of oversight—is particularly troublesome in light of a pattern of expanding executive authority.

A ranking member of the administration purportedly told a ranking member of Congress that "we don't have to tell you anything." We have scheduled a hearing on signing statements where the President has asserted his authority to pick and choose what he likes of what he doesn't like in legislation which was passed by the Congress and signed by the President.

The Constitution gives the President the authority to veto but not to cherry pick.

We have the case of Judith Miller, the newspaper reporter put in jail for 85 days during an investigation of a national security issue as to whether the identity of the CIA agent had been disclosed, but there was also an investigation as to whether there had been perjury or obstruction of justice during the national security investigation. Perjury and obstruction of justice are serious charges, but they do not rise to the level of a national security issue, which would be the threshold for such action as jailing a reporter for 85 days.

We now have the situation where the Attorney General, on a Sunday talk show last week, raised the possibility of prosecuting newspapers under a World War I espionage statute.

I have talked to FBI Director Mueller and to the Deputy Attorney General about the search and seizure on Congressman Jefferson. This is a matter which ought to be inquired into—perhaps quietly—to see if a protocol can be arrived at about what would be done if this situation were to reoccur in the future.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Pennsylvania is recognized.

Mr. SPECTER. I thank the Chair.

(The remarks of Mr. SPECTER pertaining to the introduction of S. 852 are printed in today's RECORD under "Statements on Introduced Bills and Joint Resolutions.")

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, for how long am I to be recognized?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. For as much time as the Senator consumes.

Mr. BYRD. I thank the Chair.

Mr. President, I yield to my distinguished friend from Montana so that he may speak for not to exceed 10 minutes, and then I then be recognized in my own right.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Senator from Montana is recognized for 10 minutes.

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, thank you, and I thank my good friend from West Virginia. I know what he is going to speak on. The person he is going to speak about was a great person, a person I very much admired, as I admire the Senator from West Virginia—a wonderful relationship, wonderful, wonderful. It is a model for so many of us in the Senate and the country. I thank my very good friend.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I thank my dear friend, Senator Baucus, for his kind remarks.

SENATOR LLOYD BENTSEN

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, it is with great sadness that I join my colleagues in mourning the passing of a great man, an extraordinary statesman, and a good friend: Senator Lloyd Bentsen.

Lloyd Bentsen was the noblest of Americans. Courteous, thoughtful, and soft-spoken, Senator Bentsen embodied the finest traditions of America.

Lloyd Bentsen and I shared a perspective. It was based on the states that we came from. I used to tease Senator Bentsen that Montana is what Texas bounces off of, if all the things that Texans say about Texas were true.

We shared an outlook born in the open spaces of our great Land. We came from states that are larger than counties in Europe. You can go great distances in Montana or Texas without seeing another soul. And with that comes a view that values our fellow man.

We also shared a view of this Senate. We could not have been more compatible. We shared a goal, always to accomplish something good on behalf of the American people.

We also shared a hallway on the 7th floor of the Hart Senate building. I had good fortune to get an office next door to Senator Bentsen's. Our two teams were very closely woven together.

Very often I would wonder where in the world my staff was. They would be down the hall talking to Bentsen's staff because they are so compatible and had such good ideas.

My staff would often go to his for sage advice, as I would go to him. We would often walk over together for various reasons.

Senator Bentsen was a role model. He was smart, tough, and disciplined. He was always focused. He always maintained his temper. And he always kept his integrity. He was a Senators' Senator.

Lloyd Bentsen was a singular person. He was reserved, even-tempered, and fair. He reserved judgment, learned the facts, and listened to all points of view. And then he would take a strong position. And more often than not, that position would prevail.

Lloyd Bentsen had the strongest commitment to duty. Even after 14 hours of floor work, he would walk into a room for all-night budget negotiations. He would not complain. He would say: "This is what I signed up for."

Lloyd Bentsen contributed greatly to this Country. He served bravely in the Air Force. He served 6 years in the House of Representatives and 22 years in this Senate. He served 6 years as chairman of the Finance Committee. And he served 2 years as Secretary of the Treasury.

Lloyd Bentsen stood for responsibility, probity, and civility. He was a champion of sound tax policy. He fought for and achieved some of the most significant deficit reduction in our Nation's history. He played key roles in the 1980 budget summit and President Clinton's 1993 deficit reduction legislation.

And Senator Bentsen was a leader in international trade. We worked closely together for more than a decade, early on, to develop a Democratic position that supported free trade. We did so with an aggressive policy that broke down international trade barriers to American products. We worked closely on a series of initiatives, for at least a decade.

Chairman Bentsen skillfully and successfully worked to win passage of the 1988 Trade and Competitiveness Act. He guided the United States-Canada Free Trade Agreement through the Senate.
And in Texas, he is known as the father of the North American Free Trade Agreement.

But after that election, Chairman Bentsen was still for giving President Bush authority to negotiate trade agreements. He simply thought that it was the right thing for the country.

Senator Bentsen embodied the finest characteristics of public service. Some might say that he embodied a different era of the United States Senate. If that is so, then we are the poorer for having lost him. We are certainly the poorer for having lost him.

Our hearts go out to B.A., and the entire Bentsen family, on their great loss. Lloyd Bentsen was always very sweet and deferential to B.A. He often said the B.A. stood for “best asset.” Lloyd and B.A. Bentsen were married for 63 years.

Very often I would see the two of them together. It reminds me of the relationship of Senator and Mrs. Byrd.

They were very close; teasing each other. It was a wonderful relationship to behold. I have many memories of Lloyd and B.A. being together, whether flying on a plane to South America or here in the Senate, wherever.

My heart goes out to B.A. and to your family.

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow wrote:

> "A star quenched on high,
> For ages would its light,
> Unto the paths of this Senate.
> The light that Lloyd Bentsen leaves behind us will live for years beyond our ken, Especially in the South, but it was a tribute to the healing of the Nation that both sides were able to put aside their past differences to mourn the fallen together after that terrible conflict.

Although many communities lay claim to the birthday of Memorial Day, since World War I, when the holiday changed from honoring just those who died fighting in the Civil War to honoring those who were lost in battle in any war—those Americans—Memorial Day belongs to us all.

Mr. President, death knows no divisions or political views. Death knows no distinctions between uniforms or battlegrounds. The Nation knew that all too well after the Civil War. Death united the fallen—death unites the fallen—in God’s care. And death heals grief and loss in equal measure on all those left to mourn.

It is a lesson that some strident few today need to be reminded of, as they use military burials as a place of protest. No matter what views one may hold about the current conflict in Iraq and Afghanistan, or indeed of any conflicts anywhere, there is no place for intrusions during these solemn rites, no cause worth offering further pain to the families of the fallen.

The men and women in our military who don the uniform of the United States are not, as someone has so ingenuously put it, “the deciders.” They must, instead, put aside their personal views and forge seamlessly with the other members of their unit, so that the unit survives.

Every death is accompanied by stories of heroism, from the one who sacrificed his all to keep his fellow soldiers safe, to the heroes who brought the fallen home. No protests can change, and none should mar, those acts of bravery or those honored dead. Memorial Day is a day to put aside our own schedules and to spend some time remembering those who have risked their lives for us all, the lives of our Nation. It is a day to recall and revere their bravery, their duty, their strength, and their humanity. It is a day of tribute to them, and to their families, to whom the Nation owes so much.

The poet Joyce Kilmer, himself a sergeant with the “Fighting 69th” Division, who lost his own life in 1918 during the World War I wrote a poem called “Memorial Day.”

> The bugle echoes shrill and sweet,
> But not of war it sings to-day,
> The road is rhythmic with the feet
> Of men-at-arms to battle who come to pray.
> The roses blossom white and red
> On tombs where weary soldiers lie;
> Flags wave above the honored dead
> And martial music cleaves the sky.
> Wherever their wreath-strewn graves we kneel,
> They kept the faith and fought the fight.

Through flying lead and crimson steel They plunged for Freedom and the Right.

May we, their grateful children, learn Their strength, who lie beneath this sod, Who went through fire and death to earn At last the accolade of [Almighty] God.

In shining rank on rank arrayed They march, the legions of the Lord;

But for those who went to Arlington National Cemetery on Thursday, May 25, I say you may have witnessed the beautiful scene known as “Flags-In.” Just prior to each Memorial Day weekend, every available soldier from the 3rd U.S. Infantry Division, the Old Guard, honors their fallen brethren by placing a small American flag before each of the more than 220,000 grave stones and 7,300 niches at the cemetery’s columbarium. An additional 13,500 flags are set in place at the Soldier and Airmen’s National Cemetery, also in Washington, DC.

Flags are placed at the graves of each of the four individuals at the Tomb of the Unknowns by the tomb sentinels. Then, in order to ensure that each flag remains in place and standing proudly, the Old Guard patrols the cemetery throughout the weekend, watching over their fallen comrades. It is a stirring sight to see that, truly, none of those whose great sacrifices are forgotten, and to witness how seriously these young soldiers take their duty.

There will be speeches on Memorial Day—formerly referred to as Decoration Day. And I have made many of those speeches in my long years on Memorial Day. And on this coming Memorial Day, there will again be speeches, and wreaths will be laid. A moment of silence will be observed. For these few moments, our Nation both mourns and celebrates the loss of so many young men and women, fathers and mothers, sons and daughters, friends and relatives.

Mr. BYRD. I want to associate myself, again, may I say, with my colleague in every word he has chosen to speak about Lloyd Bentsen.

Mr. President, for how much time am I recognized?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. For as much time as the Senator wishes to consume.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I thank the Chair.

REMEMBERING OUR FALLEN HEROES

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I speak today in memory of our fallen heroes. Next Monday, the last Monday in May, the Nation honors the men and women who have given their lives in battle.

In the aftermath of the Civil War, the practice of decorating the graves of those who died in battle was already an established custom in many places, especially in the South, but it was a tribute to the healing of the Nation that both sides were able to put aside their past differences to mourn the fallen together after that terrible conflict.

The Prince of Peace. . . . Who brought a sword.

Mr. President, all too often these days, Memorial Day is just another 3-day weekend, an opportunity to work on the yard a little bit, an opportunity to go shopping, or to host a backyard barbecue. Fewer and fewer Americans honor the men and women in uniform and their fallen compatriots. Fewer, still, visit military cemeteries or actually decorate graves in the old-fashioned way.

But for those who went to Arlington National Cemetery on Thursday, May 25, I say you may have witnessed the beautiful scene known as “Flags-In.” Just prior to each Memorial Day weekend, every available soldier from the 3rd U.S. Infantry Division, the Old Guard, honors their fallen brethren by placing a small American flag before each of the more than 220,000 grave stones and 7,300 niches at the cemetery’s columbarium. And on this coming Memorial Day, there will again be speeches, and wreaths will be laid. A moment of silence will be observed. For these few moments, our Nation both mourns and celebrates the loss of so many young men and women, fathers and mothers, sons and daughters, friends and relatives.

Mr. Baucus. I very much thank my friend from West Virginia.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I thank the distinguished Senator from Montana, Mr. Baucus, for that lovely thought to which he refers by the great poet Longfellow, in his alluding to our former colleague, Lloyd Bentsen.

I thank the Senator from Montana for speaking as he has about our late former colleague, Lloyd Bentsen.

Lloyd and I served in the House together, too. We had a great admiration for him there. I said, ‘‘There is a young man going places’’—and he went. He went places.

I join with my colleague, Senator Baucus, today, in his message as words of reverie for Lloyd Bentsen, and for B.A., Lloyd’s lovely wife. I suppose she is in Texas today.

Mr. Baucus. She is.
Our hearts and our prayers go out to all the families who have lost a loved one in the Nation’s service, and especially to those families who have borne their tragedies so recently and whose tears are still so close to the surface. The thoughts and prayers are also with those whose family members have been wounded and who fight now for their lives.

As a nation, we celebrate and we honor the patriotism and the heroism that have kept us free. We kept us united, and kept us strong for these past two and a third centuries. It is on the shoulders of these brave legions of the fallen and their comrades in uniform, past and present, that our Nation is carried to greatness.

Technological and scientific progress is a source of pride and strength, economic prosperity a boon, and our Constitution—thank God—a blessing. But none of these gifts is sustainable without the will and the resolve to defend them, to the death if necessary.

Those we honor on Memorial Day have gone that extra mile. They have worn the uniform with pride, and they have won and kept our freedom with their lives. They have fought together around the globe, in the dark, in the mud, in the dust, on holidays, anniversaries, and weekends. Some have missed the births of their children. Some have missed growing old with their loved ones. They will enjoy no more 3-day weekends, no family vacations, no backyard barbecues. But in our moment of silence, as the flags snap in front of the rows upon rows of marble markers, let us think of Erma, and free men wear no tyrant, but living, throbbing hearts instead, our pledge that liberty shall live. That is something not heard about very often these days, a 69th wedding anniversary. Well, on that blessed day in 1937—a long time out ago—I certainly found a good thing. In looking back on the life that Erma and I shared, I can say, in accordance with the scriptural passage, that I must have been favored by the Lord. The joys of marriage are the heaven on earth to the English dramatic-artist, John Ford, five centuries ago.

Byrd: Mr. President, Monday next is Memorial Day. Monday next, being May 29, my memory goes back to May 29, 1937. It was a Saturday. I was working in the meat shop as a meat cutter at the Koppers Store in Stotestes, Raleigh County, WV. It was a coal mining community. I started working there in the gas station for $50 a month. I walked 4 miles to work and 4 miles back home, unless I might catch a bread truck or a milk truck.

But on that Saturday, May 29, 1937, at 5 o’clock p.m., my two senior meat cutters, Mrs. Maria Vasmer and Mrs. U.G. Nichols. And there I met with my school sweetheart, Erma Ora James. May God bless her sweet memory. She was the beautiful daughter of a coal miner. This was a coal miner who helped to teach me to play the old fiddle tunes long ago: “Sally Goodin,” “Mississippi Sawyer,” “Arkansas Traveler,” and “She’ll Be Comin Round the Mountain,” and so on.

At 5 o’clock that evening, Preacher Nichols pronounced Erma—God bless her sweet name—and me “husband and wife.” That union, I am very proud to say, endured for 68 years, 9 months, and 24 days. So on May 29, 3 days from now, Erma and I would have celebrated our 69th wedding anniversary. That is something to brag about. Dizzy Dean said it was all right to brag, if you have done it, and Erma and I did it. Erma didn’t quite go all the way. But on May 29, Erma and I would have celebrated our 69th wedding anniversary. That is something to brag about, very often these days, a 69th wedding anniversary.

The Scriptures tell us that “whoso findeth a wife findeth a good thing and obtainteth favour of the Lord.” Well, on that blessed day in 1937—a long time out ago—I certainly found a good thing.

In looking back on the life that Erma and I shared, I can say, in accordance with the scriptural passage, that I must have been favored by the Lord. The joys of marriage are the heaven on earth to the English dramatic-artist, John Ford, five centuries ago. How right John Ford was. When I think of Erma, I still think of the beautiful line from a song that I used to hear and play, I believe, when I played the fiddle: “She came like an angel from the sky.” For almost 69 years, this angel from the sky not only tolerated me, but she was the guiding light for me. She was my teacher. She taught me to drive an automobile. She was my banker, my accountant.

Very early in our marriage, as a matter of fact, on Sunday, the day after the Saturday evening on which Erma and I made our vows, I turned to her and said: “Here is my wallet, I think I had saved up probably $300. I said: ‘You keep it. When I need a dollar, I’ll come to you and ask for it.’ That is the way it was, and that is the way it has been throughout our 69 years.

What a job she did from the meager paychecks, and they were meager. Can you imagine. I started at $50 a month, and by the time I married, I had advanced. I was getting $70 a month when I married that sweetheart. She bought from this meager paycheck the things that we needed, our groceries. She paid the bills. She saved some money for a rainy day, and she gave me a monthly allowance.

Erma was my greatest critic, and she was my greatest supporter.

When I left the West Virginia Legislature to come to Congress, the other body, the House of Representatives, and this body, which also makes up the Congress, I was carrying 22 credit hours at Marshall College, now Marshall Universe, but she, Erma, managed our little grocery store. She took care of our two daughters, and she kept the home fires burning.

When I was attending law school while serving in the U.S. Congress, she would drive from our home at that time in Arlington, VA. She would meet me on Capitol Hill here, around 5:30 p.m., and she would give me my supper. She brought it to me in a paper bag. I would eat my supper while Erma drove me in our car to American University Law School for my classes at 6 p.m.

Then she would return later that evening, 8 o’clock or 9 o’clock, to pick me up and take me to our home in Arlington.

I also said, quite truly, that Erma had put three kids through school: our two daughters and me. Erma was the mother of two most wonderful children, my daughters Mona Carole and Marjorie Ellen. Marjorie was here yesterday with me as we had lunch with some friends in recognition—one might call it celebration, but I call it in recognition—of our 69th wedding anniversary. These two daughters have grown up to become outstanding women and mothers themselves. Marjorie was here with me and with her husband, John Moore. Like me, those daughters owe so much to the marvelous and wonderful woman they called ‘mother.’

Through the years, Erma was my constant companion. She was there with me, by my side, on the campaign trails. She was with me in 1958 when, as a Congressman. I made a tour of the economically depressed areas of the State and other parts of the country. She was with me in April 1969, in Mexico City, Mexico, when I served as a delegate to the Mexico-United States Interparliamentary Conference in Mexico City. I was with her all my trips to Europe and Asia. She was always there. Erma was always there with me at my side.

She is with me today, I know. For nearly 69 years, that woman, the greatest woman I ever met—I have met queens and great women of the world—was with me. She was always with me. She is with me now, I know. For nearly 69 years, she was my comfort in times of sorrow. She was stoic and brave. She never flinched in times of trouble.

We have lived and loved together through many changing years; we have shared each other’s gladness and wept each other’s tears; I have known none—a sorrow that was long unsought by Erma; for thy smiles can make a summer where darkness else would be.

I quoted from the lines of Charles Jeffries, “We Have Lived and Loved Together.”

This quiet, self-contained coal miner’s daughter confronted demonstrators in front of our home in Arlington. She spent many evenings alone when I had to stay late at the Capitol attending the Nation’s business. She always was most comfortable with the unassuming, down-to-earth West Virginia folk, back in the hills of West Virginia, like those back in the hills of Kentucky from which my friend, Senator MITCH MCCONNELL, comes. She met with kings and shahs, princes and princesses, Governors and Senators, the high and the mighty, the powerful Senators, Presidents. She entertained the wealthy of this Nation in a foreign land because it was important to her husband who served as the majority leader of this Senate and various other Senatorial offices. She did it all with innate, inherent graciousness, incredible patience, and a soft, warm smile. She was a remarkable lady of great wisdom, but most of all, great gentleness, yet she could be tough when she saw injustice or unfairness.

I was always so proud of her. In fact, the entire State of West Virginia took pride in Erma. That is why she was named West Virginia Daughter of the Year in 1990. Oh, could we call back the vanished years. And she was named West Virginia Mother of the Year a few years later.

Marriage is a sacred institution. It is more than the result of repeating a few vows. Marriage is an oath, an oath before God. I have admired the ancient Romans so much, as did Montesquieu, because they would not break an oath. They would go to their death rather than break an oath. The ancient Romans. So marriage is an oath before God, a sacred and noble contract between a man and a woman. Read it in the Bible.

It is a glorious commitment, a commitment of love, of caring, and of sacrifice. It is a commitment that Erma and I honored and enjoyed for almost 69 years, through the bad times as well as the good, down the rough roads as well as the smooth ones. Our life’s journey was not always smooth and easy traveling. In fact, it was as bumpy as some of our trips as a West Virginia mountain road. But over the years, Erma and I learned that the challenge of a marriage is the ability to overcome imperfections, not just to ignore them. We always remembered our devotion to each other, despite our shortcomings and despite the difficulties we encountered along life’s way.

And when Erma and I married on that blessed Saturday evening nearly 69 years ago, we were so proud and we were so poor that I could not even take a day off from work. We did not have the money for a honeymoon, so after the wedding we went to a square dance, where I played the fiddle and she played the fiddle, and we were so poor that I was back at work in the grocery store in that coal-mining camp of Stotesbury. I was back at the meat counter in a coal-mining camp of Stotesbury, WV, at the wedding in May 1937, allowing us the opportunity to celebrate our anniversary in more special ways over the years, my Erma, my Erma never changed. She never changed. From being the wife of a meat cutter at the Koppers store in Stotesbury, WV, to being the wife of the majority leader of the U.S. Senate, Erma never stopped being herself. Her enduring patience and her steadfast support were the stabilizing constants in our marriage.

Could I have made this journey without her? Could I have accomplished as much as I have accomplished—whatever that may have been—without her? I think not. The more important point is that I did not have it any other way. She was God’s greatest gift to me.

I don’t know what I ever did to deserve her, but somehow along the line, I must have done something that the Good Lord, the King, the Lord of Hosts, smiled down on me at 6 o’clock in the evening on May 29, 1937.

So may I close with these few words that come from a poem, “An Old Sweetheart of Mine,” by James Whitcomb Riley.

Is this her presence here with me. Or but a vain creation of a lover’s memory? A fair, illusive vision that would vanish into air, Dared I even touch the silence with the whisper of a prayer?

Nay, let me then believe in all the blended false and truth—

The semblance of the old love and the substance of the new,
The then of changeless sunny days—the now of shower and shine,

But love forever smiling—as that old sweet-heart of mine.

Mr. President, I simply say that I give thanks to Almighty God for a long and good marriage and the richness which that hallowed institution has given to my life because of one very extraordinary woman.

May God bless her and hold her to his bosom in Heaven until I come to be with her—this extraordinary woman, the daughter of a coal miner, Erma James Byrd.

Mr. President, these are a few lines which were the favorite lines of Erma. The author’s name is Isla Pascal Richard-Adson. The lines are these:

If I should ever leave you. Whom I love To go along the silent way. Grieve not Nor speak of me with tears. But laugh and talk of me As if I were there beside you. For I will come—I’ll come! Would I not find a way? Were tears and grief not be barriers? And when you hear a song or see a bird I loved. Please do not let your thoughts of me be sad. For I am loving you just as I always have. You were so good to me. There are so many things I wanted still to do—So many things to say to you. . . . Remember, that I did not fear death. It was just leaving you that was so hard to face.

We cannot see beyond this life But this you know—. . . I loved you so. Never doubt that I am with you still! Mr. President:

Love does not die with the body And nothing in heaven or on earth Can keep apart those who love one another.

Mr. President, I yield the floor. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Kentucky is recognized.

A GREAT MARRIAGE

Mr. McCONNELL. Mr. President, I congratulate my good friend from West Virginia on his extraordinary reminiscence of his remarkable wife of 68, almost 69 years. I think those of us in the Senate are well aware that the marriage of Robert and Erma Byrd was one of the great marriages of American history. No two people were ever more right for each other, ever more committed to each other, or provided a better example for our country than Senator and Mrs. Byrd.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I appreciate from my heart the kind words of my dear friend, Senator MITCH MCCONNELL, from our neighboring State of Kentucky. I am not sure that I was meant to have all these blessings, but I am sure of one thing: Erma was the perfect woman, the greatest woman I have ever met. And today I have no doubt that she is in Heaven. I also have no doubt that I can meet her.

Let me thank again my friend, MITCH MCCONNELL. How lovely were his words. How nice of him. I thank the Senator very much.

TRIBUTE TO FIRST LIEUTENANT ROBERT LEWIS HENDERSON II

Mr. McCONNELL. Mr. President, I ask the Senate to pause for a moment today in loving memory and honor of 1st Lt Robert Lewis Henderson II.

Lieutenant Henderson of Alvaton, KY, served with the 2123rd Transportation Company in the Kentucky Army National Guard, based in Owensboro, KY. On April 17, 2004, he gave his life in defense of our country in the city of Ad Diwaniyah, Iraq. He had served his nation as a citizen-soldier for 16 years—nearly half his life. Lieutenant Henderson was 33 years old.

On April 17, 2002, two years ago, as night approached, Lieutenant Henderson and three of his fellow soldiers were escorting a convoy of the Army’s 1st Armored Division. Their mission was to transport the 1st Armored Division, with its essential M1A1 Abrams tanks and missile launchers, toward the fierce fighting in Al Najaf, where Coalition forces battled terrorists.

Staff Sergeant Michael Grimes, a fellow Kentuckian who was with Lieutenant Henderson in the Humvee, recalls that Rob “was proud to be in the Kentucky Guard and on the mission that day.”

Lieutenant Henderson and his team drove through an area of Ad Diwaniyah that they had come to call “ambush alley.” The foreboding nickname proved apt as Lieutenant Henderson’s convoy, driving up the street, came upon an overturned tractor trailer in an intersection.

Listening for Henderson, who was driving the lead Humvee, tried to go around the obstacle, but as the escort team slowed, terrorists ambushed them.

Lieutenant Henderson sustained what proved to be a fatal gunshot in the leg, but he still managed to drive his team to a strategic position where they could return fire and then warn his team to a strategic position where the leg, but he still managed to drive what proved to be a fatal gunshot in an intersection.

As platoon leader, Rob was tasked with overseeing the complicated logistics of these missions. From scheduling maintenance on the heavy trucks to securing fuel, Rob’s duties encompassed “most everything,” recalled his friend 1SG Doug Pollard, who also served in the Kentucky Guard.

Sergeant Pollard, who met Rob when Rob first enlisted, said that “from day one, Rob was about nothing less than hard work and taking care of other soldiers.”

Lieutenant Henderson “led from the front,” a popular Army expression for officers who lead by example on the front lines. Sergeant Grimes said, “Rob would never do anything that he wouldn’t have done himself.”

1SG Michael Oliver, also of the Kentucky Guard, agreed. “Normally, as an officer you sit back, supervise and direct,” he said. “Lieutenant Henderson loved ... to get right in there.” Rob’s passion for life shone through in his civilian duties as well. He worked as a sales manager at Lowe’s hardware store in Bowling Green. He had worked at several Lowe’s stores throughout Kentucky, being promoted with each new post.

Working as much as 60-plus hours a week, Rob fulfilled his Guard training on the weekends, with the same commitment he showed in all aspects of life. While working at Lowe’s, Rob also met Lisa, the love of his life. They married in January 2003.

Raised in Rockfield, a small Warren County town outside Bowling Green, Rob Henderson loved football and baseball and cheering for the University of Notre Dame. He also had a fascination with trucks.

Rob worked hard on his home—especially the outside. Lisa Henderson recalls her husband’s attention to detail, saying, “he was obsessed with mowing the grass, and just insisted that our yard look better than any of our neighbors.” Often seen in jeans and work boots, he loved playing with his and Lisa’s two dogs.

Rob was excitedly awaiting the birth of his and Lisa’s first child. Lisa recalls hearing the excitement in Rob’s voice when she called to tell him they would be having a baby. Rob was training with his platoon in Greenville, KY, and he was so thrilled that he raced off the phone to tell his whole unit.

Peyton Joshua Henderson was born in July 2004, 3 months after a memorial service was held for Lieutenant Henderson in a chapel erected at Camp Arifjan, Kuwait.

More than 150 of Lieutenant Henderson’s fellow soldiers gathered inside.

Dozens more clustered outside the entrance, all to pay their respects to their fallen leader, brother soldier, and friend.

We thank Rob’s wife Lisa for sharing her stories of Rob with us. She and your son, Peyton, join us in the Capitol today. We are also honored that Rob’s mother, Lilian Henderson, has shared her memories of her son. And today we are thinking of Rob’s sister, Jackie Hawkins, and his half-sister, Monica Wiker, as well.

Mr. President, I cannot help but feel humbled when I think of Lieutenant Henderson’s selfless act. A good soldier to the end, he put his men first. It is easy to see his heroism now, but when I look back at the brave 17-year-old who stepped forward to honor his father and his country, I can see the heroism was already there.

This Nation can never repay our heroes or their families, but we will never forget them.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Michigan.

FORMATION OF A NEW IRAQI GOVERNMENT

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. President, last evening, during his press conference with Prime Minister Blair relative to Iraq, President Bush stated:

The formation of a new government represents a new beginning for Iraq and a new vision for the relationship between Iraq and our coalition.

I hope that is not overly optimistic, but, frankly, I am afraid that it is because of the incompleteness of the Iraqi Government. Its two most important positions—the Minister of Defense and the Minister of the Interior—have not been filled. These are critical positions because numerous police and army units have been dominated by militia members who are loyal to sectarian or political leaders and not to the central Government, and because many militia members outside the police and the army are engaged in a rampage against innocent civilians.

While there have been disagreements on a number of issues related to Iraq, almost everyone has agreed that the new Iraqi Government would have to be a government of national unity with specific emphasis on independent non-sectarian choices for the positions of Minister of Defense and Minister of the Interior if there was to be a chance of quelling the sectarian violence and defeating the insurgency.

Our senior military leaders have been telling us for years that there is no military solution to the violence in Iraq and that we must find a way to defeat the insurgency without a political solution among the Iraqis themselves.

The Government that was announced last week and approved by the Iraqi Council of Representatives does not yet have those critical ministers, and it did not include the two most important ministries: the Ministry of Defense and the Ministry of the Interior.
The plain truth is that the various Iraqi political actors were not willing to make the compromises necessary to bring about a government of national unity within the time allotted by the Iraqi Constitution. And they still haven’t. We hope they will at any time, but they still haven’t.

Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice, appearing on FOX News last Sunday, minimized the lack of selections for these two positions when she said:

People are dramatizing the fact that they didn’t get certain posts that they hoped to get.

She went on to say:

...let’s give them three days or four days, or five or six days, to come up with the best possible interior ministry. You know, the five days that they will take to vet people more thoroughly, to make sure they have the right person, will be well worth it.

On “Meet the Press” that afternoon, Secretary Rice even spoke of that failure as inevitable, saying:

...I think it actually shows some maturity that they were able to go ahead with the formation of the government so that they can start working, but that they can take a little longer.

How is that a sign of maturity? In my view, both the mature and the necessary thing under the constitution of Iraq was for the Iraqi political leaders to make the compromises necessary to form the entire Government, including, in particular, the Minister of Defense and the Minister of the Interior, the two most important ministries.

It was also disappointing that neither President Bush nor our Secretary of State mentioned anything about the need to amend the Iraqi Constitution. General Casey noted in testimony before the Senate Armed Services Committee:

We’ve looked for the constitution to be a national compact, and the perception now is that it is populated largely among the Sunni.

The Iraqi Constitution itself provides for the establishment of a committee to propose amendments to their constitution. That committee has 4 months to complete its work and to recommend amendments to the constitution to the full Parliament.

For a long time, I have been calling for President Bush and officials of his administration to put pressure on the Iraqis, to meet the timetables they have set in their own constitution to form a government of national unity. They are already urging Congress to weaken the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, the law enacted to prevent future Enron catastrophes. For example, they want to exempt 80 percent of publicly traded companies from rules requiring internal controls to ensure that their books accurately reflect their finances. They want to weaken or eliminate the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board that now polishes the accounting industry. They want to weaken other corporate reforms as well, from rules requiring oversight of hedge funds to rules requiring mutual funds to have independent directors.

But corporate corruption is not over. Just this year, AIG, one of the country’s largest financial firms, agreed to pay $1.6 billion to settle state and federal allegations of securities fraud and bid-rigging. Fannie Mae, an American government sponsored enterprise, paid $400 million to settle allegations of accounting fraud. In April, the former chief executive of Computer Associates, a leading high tech company, pled guilty to securities fraud and obstruction of justice. Another 20 publicly traded corporations are currently under investigation for playing games with the timing of stock option grants to maximize the profits that their top executives could pocket. The list, unfortunately, goes on.

The message that should be taken from the Enron convictions is not that corporate oversight is too tough, but that corporate executives must and can be held accountable when they misuse their positions, and mislead the investing public.

I am told that some corporations are waiting for my good friend, PAUL SABANEES to leave the Senate before attempting the law that he championed. They want him out of the way first. But my friend fought too hard and too long for the corporate reforms embodied in Sarbanes-Oxley to be tossed aside or watered down. This country cannot afford more scandals, and I, for one, believe the Senate cannot and will not turn back the clock on corporate oversight.

SENATOR ROBERT BYRD AND ERMA BYRD

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. President, I wish to add one comment to Senator McCONNELL's comments about Senator Byrd's two commitments and remain and always will in his heart and in our hearts. The love affair between Robert and his beloved wife Erma. Many things that Senator Byrd does inspires every one of us in the Senate—his love of this institution, his passionate commitment to this institution, and all the unique features of it, his love affair with the constitution of the United States. But I guess as powerful and potent as those two commitments are and remain and always will in his heart and in our hearts, hopefully his relationship with his wonderful, extraordinary wife Erma tops them all.

I thank him for that inspiration and thank him for all those other things that he does which help to keep this body, this unique body in the history of the world.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from West Virginia.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I shant leave this floor until I have said thank you to my noble friend, the able Senator from Michigan, the chairman of... the committee on which I serve, the committee which authorizes the expenditures we must make if we are to keep our Nation strong, the Armed Services Committee. I thank him. He has been and is an inspiration to me. His dedication, his thoughtfulness, his courtesies I thank him for all.

Mr. President, I yield the floor and suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The bill clerk proceeded to call the roll.

RECESS SUBJECT TO THE CALL OF THE CHAIR

The PRESIDING OFFICER. In my capacity as a Senator from Georgia, I ask unanimous consent that the quorum call be rescinded.

Without objection, it is so ordered.

In my capacity as a Senator from Georgia, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate stand in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

There being no objection, at 12:30 p.m., the Senate recessed subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reassembled at 2:42 p.m., when called to order by the Presiding Officer (Mr. BENNETT).

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The majority leader is recognized.

MORNING BUSINESS

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent there now be a period of morning business for Senators permitted to speak for up to 10 minutes each.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

(At the request of Mr. Reid, the following statement was ordered to be printed in the RECORD.)

VOTE EXPLANATION

• Mr. SALAZAR. Mr. President, I was necessarily absent during confirmation vote on the nomination of Michael Hayden to be the Director of the Central Intelligence Agency because I had returned to Colorado to honor commitments to my family. I want the RECORD to reflect that had I been here, I would have voted in favor of confirmation.

I was also necessarily absent during the cloture vote on the nomination of Dirk Kempthorne to be Secretary of the Interior. I support this nomination, and I want the RECORD to reflect that had I been here, I would have voted in favor of confirmation.

And I was necessarily absent during confirmation vote on the nomination of Brett Kavanaugh to be a U.S. Circuit Judge for the DC Circuit. I want the RECORD to reflect that had I been here, I would have voted against confirmation.

(At the request of Mr. Reid, the following statement was ordered to be printed in the RECORD.)

• Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, had I been present for the vote to invoke cloture on the nomination of my former colleague, Dirk Kempthorne, to be Secretary of the Interior, I would have cast a vote of “aye”.

HONORING OUR ARMED FORCES MEMORIAL DAY

Mr. LAUTENBERG. Mr. President, this week we are in a rush to finish our business so we can head home for the Memorial Day recess.

Memorial Day signals the beginning of summer, when children are out of school and families get to spend time together. It’s a time for vacations and trips to the shore, and backyard barbecues. But most important of all, Memorial Day is also the time when we remember the brave soldiers who have made the ultimate sacrifice for our country.

This year there are almost a thousand more names on that list than last Memorial Day.

In total, 2,750 troops have lost their lives in Iraq and Afghanistan: 2,455 in Iraq and 295 in Afghanistan. Almost 18,000 more have been seriously wounded.

I keep a gallery of the pictures of the fallen outside my office in the Hart building. More and more people come to visit it, and I encourage my colleagues, their staff and our constituent guests to view it and honor the memories of these brave soldiers.

New Jersey families have lost 21 troops in Iraq and Afghanistan.

Last year, near Memorial Day, I read the names of New Jersey’s fallen troops into the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD, where they would be enshrined for all time.

Fifteen more New Jerseyans have died since then. Today, with your indulgence, I would like to read their names and hometowns into the RECORD:

SSG Jeremy A. Brown, whose mother lives in West Orange; SFC N. Burkart, Blairstown; PFC Ryan D. Christensen, whose mother lives in Brick; LTC Terrence K. Crowe, member of the U.S. Army Reserve in Lodi, N.J.; SFC Michael Egan, his mother resides in Pennsauken; SGT Clarence L. Floyd, whose mother resides in Newark; CPT James M. Gurbisz, Eatontown; SSG Edward Karolasz, Kearny; SPC Gemaro Pellegrini, Jr., whose father resides in Wildwood; CPT Charles D. Robinson, Haddon Heights; LCpl Edward A. Schroeder, South Orange; SSG Stephen J. Sutherland, West Deptford; 2LT Dennis W. Zilinski, Howell; SSG Christian Longsworth, Newark; and SGT Matthew Fenton, Little Ferry.

On this Memorial Day, I hope every American will pause to give thanks for the brave soldiers who gave their lives for our country.

TRIBUTE TO NANCY JEAN PRICE

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. President, next week, on June 2, Ms. Nancy Jean Price will retire from my office having served the people of South Carolina for over 30 years as a congressional con-left jobs at small businesses across Idaho. I also held a hearing in Idaho last August regarding the reemployment rights of returning Guard and Reserve members, with particular focus on how those rights would impact members of the 116th. At that hearing it was evident that the reemployment rights to reemployment are critical, they do little good for those who have no employer, or no small business, to return to. I resolved then to find some way to assist small businesses to cope with the financial hardships of frequent and lengthy mobilizations of its employees or owners during the war on terrorism. I believe S. 3122 will provide some of that needed assistance.

The legislation would enhance the U.S. Small Business Administration’s Military Reservist Economic Injury Disaster Loan, or “MREIDL,” Program. That program provides loan assistance to small businesses to help them meet ordinary and necessary operating expenses after essential employees are called to active duty in their roles as citizen soldiers.

S. 3122 would raise the maximum military reservist loan amount from $1.5 million to $2 million. It would also allow the Small Business Administration’s administrator, by direct loan or through banks, to offer unsecured loans of up to $25,000, an increase from the current $5,000 loan limit: So that there are no processing delays, S. 3122 would require the SBA administrator to give these loan applications priority, and would require that loan applicants be adequately assisted during the application process by utilizing existing support networks, such as Small Business Development Centers.

Finally, S. 3122 would ensure proactive outreach about the MREIDL Program for Guard and Reserve members by requiring SBA and the Department of Defense to develop a joint Web site and printed materials with information about the program. It would require a joint SBA and DD feasibility study on other methods of possible assistance.

Just as the Guard and Reserve are serving us now, we must do what we can to ensure that their sacrifices do not place them in financial harm’s way on their return home. I strongly urge my colleagues to support this measure, and I, again, thank Senator Snowe for her leadership in introducing it.

CATASTROPHE INSURANCE

Mr. NELSON of Florida. Mr. President, yesterday, I introduced four bills, 3114, 3115, 3116, and 3117 that are aimed at providing a comprehensive solution to strengthen our Nation’s property and casualty insurance market. Without serious reform, the Federal Government will be forced to continue to spend billions of dollars of taxpayer money to cover the costs of natural disasters in the United States. Worse, without Federal action, property insurance soon will become more expensive and harder to find, preventing some consumers from insuring their homes and businesses.

As we know too well, the last few years have brought a devastating cycle of natural catastrophes in the United States. In 2004 and 2005, we witnessed a series of powerful hurricanes that caused unthinkable human tragedy and property loss. Hurricanes Katrina and Rita alone caused over $200 billion in total economic losses, including insured and uninsured losses. Recently, our home State of Florida, eight catastrophic storms in 15 months caused more than $31 billion in insured damages. Now Florida is witnessing skyrocketing insurance rates, insurance companies are canceling hundreds of thousands of policies, and Florida’s State catastrophe fund is depleted.

In short, the inability of our private markets to fully handle the fallout from natural disasters has made our Nation’s property and casualty insurance marketplace unstable. This market instability repeatedly has forced the Federal Government to absorb billions of dollars in uninsured losses. This is a waste of taxpayer money, especially when there are ways to design the system to anticipate and plan for the financial impacts of catastrophes.

As insurance companies struggle to maintain their businesses, costs are passed on to businesses and consumers across the country. In other words, the people who can least afford it are being forced to bear the disproportionate share of the billions of dollars of losses caused by natural catastrophes.

Many Floridians have seen their insurance bills double in the last few years. As I travel around Florida, I hear repeatedly from my constituents that they may soon be unable to afford property and casualty insurance. That is a frightening proposition for people living in a State where increasingly vicious hurricane seasons are predicted. I am sure we all agree—consumers never should be put in the untenable position of having to choose between purchasing insurance and purchasing other necessities.

While our Nation’s property and casualty insurance system is not yet completely broken, it is clear that Congress needs to act now to shore up the system. Private sector insurance is currently available to provide some catastrophe-related losses throughout the Nation and internationally, but most experts believe that there will be significant insurance and reinsurance shortages. These shortages could result in future dramatic rate increases for consumers and businesses and the unavailability of catastrophe insurance.

Let me be clear: these issues will not just affect Florida or the coastal States. Natural catastrophes can strike anywhere in our country. For example, a major earthquake fault line runs through several of our Midwestern States. We also saw firsthand the devastating effects of a volcano eruption at Mount St. Helens in Washington State.

In the past few decades, major disasters have been declared in almost every State. It is clear that the Federal Government has provided and will continue to provide billions of dollars and resources to pay for these catastrophe losses, at huge costs to all American taxpayers.

This has stymied these issues for decades. Although we have talked about these issues time and again, nothing much has gotten accomplished. The most notable step Congress did take was to create the National Flood Insurance Program. But Congress needs to do much more. It is time for a comprehensive approach to solving our Nation’s property and casualty insurance issues.

This bill adds a layer within the purview of the States, and I cannot underestimate the importance of State-based solutions to these insurance issues. Nonetheless, the Federal Government also has a critical interest in ensuring an affordable and fiscally responsible risk management of catastrophes.

For example, mortgages require reliable property insurance, and the unavailability of reliable property insurance would make most real estate transactions impossible. Moreover, the public health, safety, and welfare demand that structures damaged or destroyed in catastrophes be reconstructed as soon as possible.

Therefore, the inability of the private sector insurance and reinsurance markets to maintain sufficient capacity to enable Americans to obtain property insurance coverage in the private sector endangers the national economy and our public health, safety, and welfare.

In order to help protect consumers and small businesses, today I am introducing four bills for a comprehensive approach to fixing our troubled insurance system. Let me summarize each of the four bills and tell you how this integrated approach makes good policy sense.

The first piece of legislation I am introducing today is the Homeowners Protection Act of 2006, S3117. This bill is a companion bill to a bipartisan piece of legislation introduced by Floridians Representatives Brown-Waite, Hastings, and others.

This bill would establish a fund within the U.S. Department of Treasury, which would sell Federal catastrophe insurance to State catastrophe funds, like the fund I helped to set up in Florida, and essentially act as reinsurance mechanisms for insurance companies who lack resources to compensate homeowners for their losses.

Under this bill, State catastrophe funds would be eligible to purchase reinsurance from the Federal fund at sound rates. However, a State catastrophe fund would be prohibited from gaining access to the Federal fund until private insurance companies and the State catastrophe fund met their financial obligations. Why is this good for homeowners? Because this backup mechanism will improve the capacity and liquidity of homeowners insurance markets, which will reduce the chance that consumers will lose their insurance coverage or be hit by huge premium increases.

Importantly, the Homeowners Insurance Reform Act of 2006 also recognizes that part of the problem with our broken property and casualty insurance system lies with outdated building codes and mitigation techniques. Noted insurance experts and consumer groups have been pointing out this problem for many years. So, under the bill, the Secretary of the Treasury would establish an expert commission to assist States in developing mitigation, prevention, recovery, and rebuilding programs that would reduce the types of damage we have seen caused by recent hurricanes.

I note that this bill covers not just hurricanes, but catastrophes such as earthquakes, cyclones, tornados, catastrophic winter storms, and volcanic eruptions. These are disasters that do—and do—occur in many different States. Again, every State and every taxpayer is affected by this problem, not just Florida.

This bill has widespread support from a broad coalition of stakeholders, including ProtectingAmerica.org, a national coalition of first responders, businesses, and emergency managers. This organization is cochaired by former FEMA Director James Lee Witt, one of the most respected names in disaster prevention and preparedness.

The second bill I am introducing today is the Catastrophe Savings Accounts Act of 2006, S. 3115. The companion bill was introduced in the House of Representatives by a bipartisan group of Members including Tom Feeney and Debbie Wasserman Schultz.

This bill proposes changing the Federal Tax Code to allow homeowners to put money aside—on a tax-free basis—to grow over time. If and when a catastrophe hits, a homeowner could take the accumulated savings out of the account to cover uninsured losses, deductible expenses, and building up grades to mitigate damage that could be caused in future disasters. Homeowners could even reduce their insurance premiums because their tax-free savings would allow them to choose higher deductibles.

The benefits of this approach are pretty straightforward and very consumer friendly. Homeowners would be encouraged to plan in advance for future disasters, and they wouldn’t be taxed to do it. Moreover, homeowners wouldn’t be as dependent on insurance companies to help them out immediately after a disaster. As one expert has noted, why should a consumer continue to give insurance companies thousands of dollars each year when the consumer could deposit the same amount of money annually in a tax-free, interest-bearing savings account controlled by the consumer?

The third bill I am introducing today is the Hurricane Insurance Protection Act of 2006, S. 3116. This bill was introduced in the House of Representatives by Mark Foley and has eight cosponsors.

Under this bill, insurance companies would be permitted to accumulate tax-deferred catastrophic reserves, much the way that homeowners would be permitted under the bill I just discussed. Depending on their size, insurance companies could save up to a certain capped amount, which would grow over time.

Our current Federal Tax Code actually provides a disincentive for insurance companies to accumulate reserve funds for catastrophes. Under the current system, insurance companies can invest the reserves that already have occurred, instead of future losses. The United States is the only industrialized nation that actually taxes reserves in this way. It is time for reform, so that consumers are better protected for catastrophes.

Make no mistake though—this bill is not a giveaway to the insurance companies. Instead, the Policy Disaster Protection Act of 2006 would strictly regulate when and how insurance companies could use the money saved to help them out after a major disaster. Moreover, this approach should help make the insurance market more stable and less prone to insurers going bankrupt.

Finally, the fourth bill, S. 3114, that I am introducing as part of my comprehensive reform package is the Commission on Catastrophic Disaster Risk and Insurance Act of 2006.

Under this bill, Congress would create a Federal commission—made up of the best experts in the Nation—to quickly recommend to Congress the best approach to addressing catastrophic risk insurance. The experts on the commission would be required to analyze the three bills that I am introducing today, along with other potential approaches to reforming our insurance system.

Creating a Federal commission is not always the best answer, especially if it can slow down reform efforts. But in this case, the opposite would occur. I say that with confidence—because I am following a successful model that I used when I was insurance commissioner for the State of Florida in the 1990s. After Hurricane Andrew devastated South Florida in 1992, I created a nonpartisan commission comprised of university presidents.

I asked the Florida commission to study the problems with the property and casualty insurance market and recommend what legislative reforms were necessary to restore health to Florida’s system. Within months, the commission acted—breaking through the deep political logjam and inertia—to recommend the legislative reforms that ultimately became State law.

That model worked then, and I think it can work now on a Federal level. Without the work of an expert, neutral commission to help guide us in these incredibly complex matters, I fear that Congress will never find the consensus necessary to reform the system and bring stability.

Let me emphasize again what we need to accomplish to reform our current insurance system and to effectively plan for catastrophic losses.

We need a comprehensive approach that will make sure the United States is truly prepared for the financial fallout from natural disasters. We need a property and casualty insurance system that is not forced to spend valuable taxpayer dollars after a catastrophe strikes. We need a system that protects consumers and small businesses from losing their insurance policies or being forced to pay exorbitant premiums. We need ways to encourage responsible construction and mitigation techniques. And we need a system that helps insurance companies use their resources in cost-effective ways so that they will not go insolvent after major disasters.

Our American economy depends on a healthy property and casualty insurance system. By enacting meaningful reforms, we can ensure that our economy remains protected and remains the most resilient economy in the world. I know this complicated process won’t be easy for us—but let’s roll up our shirtsleeves and get it done.

I request that the four bills I discussed—S. 3114, S. 3115, S. 3116, and S. 3117—be printed in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

PASSAGE OF S. 2611

Mr. FEINGOLD. Mr. President, this was a truly historic week for the Senate. With passage of the Comprehensive Immigration Reform Act of 2006, S. 2611, we have succeeded in maintaining several key components of the bill that passed out of the Judiciary Committee 2 months ago. Components that I believe are crucial to fixing our broken immigration system.

For starters, supporters of comprehensive reform in the Senate banded together to defeat efforts to remove or further weaken provisions in this bill that will allow the estimated 11 million to 12 million undocumented immigrants currently living in the United States to earn legal status. As both the President and the Secretary of Homeland Security have said, mass deportation is not a realistic option. Neither is amnesty. This legislation would require those who are here illegally to come forward, pay hefty fines, pay taxes, learn English and civics, work, and grow out of the line of sight. This would enable them to learning the privilege of permanent resident status and ultimately a path to citizenship if they choose to pursue it. These core provisions remain in the bill, and I strongly support them.

However, I am disappointed in the changes to the legalization process that were made as part of the Hagel-Martinez compromise when the bill was first taken up on the Senate floor in April. The compromise would treat differently those people who have been here for more than 5 years and those who entered the country illegally in the last 2 to 5 years. This approach is overly complicated and difficult to administer, and it is unfair to treat these two categories of people differently. During floor consideration, I voted to remove these arbitrary distinctions from the bill. Unfortunately, that vote failed, and I believe we must accept this compromise as the only way to move forward with comprehensive immigration reform this year.

I am pleased that efforts to gut the guest worker program were not successful and that the Senate added additional strong labor protections for U.S. workers. We need a guest worker program that allows employers to turn to foreign labor as a ‘last resort’ when they genuinely cannot find American workers to do the job. But it is important that any guest worker program contain strong labor protections, as the program outlined in the legislation does. These protections will help ensure that the program does not adversely affect wages and working conditions for U.S. workers, and that we do not create a second-class of workers, who are subject to lower wages and fewer workplace protections.

Furthermore, by permitting these workers to enter the country legally, we can work to avoid a future flow of undocumented workers who would otherwise create a new underground economy.

New border security measures are, of course, an absolutely critical element of any immigration reform bill. This bill contains important provisions to strengthen and improve the personnel, equipment, infrastructure, and other resources our country needs to protect the border, and I strongly support those measures. But border security alone is not enough. According to a recent Cato Institute report, the probability of catching an illegal immigrant has fallen over the past two decades from 33 percent to 5 percent, despite the fact that we have tripled the number of border agents and increased the budget tenfold. We also must create realistic legal channels for immigrants to come to the United States and that allow undocumented immigrants who pass background checks to earn legal status. This reform of our immigration system is important to our national security because it will enable our border agents to focus their efforts on terrorists and others who pose a serious threat to our country.

The bill contains other important proposals, such as the DREAM Act, which provides higher education opportunities for children who are long-term U.S. residents who entered this country illegally through no fault of their own; and the AgJOBS bill to help agricultural workers; and family reunification. These provisions may not have been subject to as much debate as other elements of the bill, but they are just as important.

The amendment process also brought improvements to title III of the bill, which creates a new mandatory, nationwide electronic employment verification system. If not implemented correctly, this system could result in countless U.S. citizens and other work-authorized individuals being denied work as a result of errors or discrimination, a result that none of us want. The new version of title III is fairer, more transparent, due process, and labor protections to ensure that implementation of this system is as fair and accurate as possible.

That said, this system is a dramatic expansion of an existing pilot program that has faced problems of serious problems, and I have concerns about expanding it to a nationwide mandatory scheme. Its implementation will require robust congressional oversight to ensure that citizens and work-authorized immigrants are not turned down for jobs because of mistaken results.

Although the border security measures and the core reforms to our immigration system that are in this bill are very important, I do have concerns about some aspects of this system, including some changes that were made to this bill during the amendment process on the Senate floor.

One successful floor amendment would require the Government to build 370 miles of fence along the southern border. Every Member of this body recognizes that border security is critical to our Nation’s security, but I opposed the border fencing amendment because I cannot justify pouring Federal dollars into a system with questionable effectiveness. Border fencing costs between $1 million and $3 million per mile. And yet we will be committing vast resources to an initiative that I have serious doubts will even work. While fencing can be effective in urban areas, adding hundreds of miles of fencing in rural sections of the border will not stem the flow of people who are willing to risk their lives to come to this country.

I was also disappointed that the Senate approved the amendment making English the national language of the United States. Instead of considering divisive English-only amendments that fan the flames of tension over the issue of immigration, we should be providing recent immigrants with more opportunities to learn English. I also am concerned that this amendment’s language could limit the ability of the Federal Government to communicate with its citizens, which could have potentially devastating consequences in situations like national emergencies. That is why I supported an alternative amendment proposed by Senator SALAZAR, which simply recognized English as the ‘common and unifying’ language of the United States.

I continue to have serious concerns about some provisions in title II of the bill. Despite improvements that were made in the Judiciary Committee, title II still contains provisions that are both ill-advised and unnecessary. Title II contains measures that require excessive deference to executive agency determinations making immigration contexts; that expand the categories of individuals subject to the most draconian immigration consequences and apply some of these changes retroactively; and that require socialized immigration benefits, which was tabled, has been the subject of a great deal of misinformation. Under current law, undocumented immigrants are not entitled to Social Security benefits, and there is nothing in the underlying bill that would change this. Under the Ensign Social Security amendment, immigrants who paid into Social Security and later earned legal status would have been prevented from having their earnings that they already paid into the system and their Social Security benefits. The amendment, which I opposed, would have limited the Social Security benefits only of U.S. citizens and those... in the country legally. This amendment would have harmed elderly or disabled individuals who would be impoverished despite having paid into the Social Security system for many years and would deny innocent American children who are born to these workers survival assistance if its parents died while their mother or father worked and paid taxes in the United States. In addition, the Ensign amendment would have forced taxpayers to pay more for the means-tested welfare programs to which the impoverished individuals would have had to turn. For these reasons, I opposed the Ensign amendment, and I am pleased that the majority of my colleagues did as well.

Mr. President, the end result of several weeks of hard work is bipartisan, compromise legislation that will bring meaningful reforms to a system that has long been broken. The bill is far from perfect, but on balance, I believe it is a victory for supporters of comprehensive reform. But as the saying goes, it ain’t over ’til it’s over. In order for this legislation to become law, we need our colleagues in the House to work with the Senate during the conference committee process and to adopt a comprehensive approach to this issue. And we need the President, who has come out in favor of comprehensive reform, to stay invested in this process. He has spoken, but now he must act. We will need his help in convincing members of the House to abandon his position of chiseling away at due process rights. The President’s leadership, and the willingness of House leaders to work with the Senate, will be crucial in order to retain the important reform provisions contained in this bill during the conference process.

This is a defining moment for America, and I am hopeful that the Senate, the House, and the President will work together so that we can build on this success and enact a comprehensive reform bill by the end of this Congress.

COSPONSORSHIP OF S. 1112

Mr. BURNS. Mr. President, I would like to lend my support to S. 1112, the College 529 InvEST Act of 2006, which I cosponsored today. A college education is much too expensive for many and it has grown to include participants from 28 different jurisdictions, including Detroit, MI. In 2006, more than 32,000 students participated in the DTWT writing contest. To participate, students are asked to write an essay, poem, play, or song that addresses the impact that a single act of violence can have on the life of a child, the children of a victim and violence, and the things that they can do to prevent youth violence around them. As part of their participation in the contest, students are also asked to make a personal commitment that they will put their thoughts into action by working to help stop youth violence in their daily lives.

Each year, a DTWT Committee made up of community, business, and government leaders from each participating jurisdiction reviews the writing submissions of the students and picks two national finalists, one boy and one girl, from their area. I am pleased to recognize this year’s national finalists from Detroit, Demetrius Adams and Tiffini Baldwin, for their outstanding work and dedication to the prevention of youth violence.

Both Demetrius and Tiffini wrote about the serious effect that guns, gangs, and drugs can have on the lives of children. They demonstrated a deep understanding of the impact that a single act of violence can have on an entire community. I am impressed by the maturity they have shown in their work and congratulate them on being selected as national finalists.

In July, Demetrius and Tiffini will join the other DTWT national finalists in Washington, DC, for National Recognition Week. During the week’s activities, the national finalists will attend a recognition ceremony and have their work permanently placed in the Library of Congress. In addition, they will have the opportunity to share... their thoughts on youth violence with Members of Congress and other policymakers. In the past, students have had the opportunity to meet with the Secretary of Education, the Attorney General, and other representatives from the Department of Justice. I know my colleagues join me in celebrating the work of all of the DTWT participants from around the country. I would also like to thank the DTWT organizers for their commitment to engaging youth and educating children about nonviolence. Their important efforts help to increase awareness of the issue and facilitate the development of local solutions to the youth violence problem in our Nation. While it is important that we recognize the hard work of the DTWT participants and organizers, it is also important that we support their efforts through our actions in the Senate. I urge those who would otherwise be supporting legislation that would help prevent youth violence by increasing the number of police officers on our streets, by increasing resources for school and community violence prevention programs, by making it more difficult for children and criminals to acquire dangerous firearms.

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, I rise today to remember my friend Rev. William Sloane Coffin who passed away in Vermont on April 12, 2006, at his home in Strafford.

Bill Coffin was an extraordinary man who leaves behind a legacy of inspired service for social justice that few Americans have matched. He dedicated his life to speaking out on behalf of those who were homeless, hungry, poor, and oppressed, and to improving the lives of the underprivileged, and to calling for justice for victims of discrimination in our society.

As chaplain of Yale University, Bill used that pulpit like none before him, and we can think of few whose presence seemed such a gift as that of The Rev. William Sloane Coffin, who lived here full time from the late 1980s until his death Wednesday at his home in Strafford.

The Upper Valley phase of Coffin’s life showcased the same devotion to social justice as his earlier chapters as pastor of Riverside Church in New York City and chaplain of Yale University. His focus shifted somewhat—the Vietnam War and black Americans’ civil rights while he worked in New Haven, Conn., and New York City; nuclear disarmament, gay Americans’ civil rights and the environment while in Vermont—but the larger theme remained. He was committed to speaking truth to power, and he did that by talking about the issues of the day with striking clarity and wisdom.

The Upper Valley phase of Coffin’s life was a period of activism, and the Upper Valley News appeared just a few weeks after the Sept. 11 attacks, and reviewing it now, more than four years later, makes us wish it had more of an impact in guiding this nation’s leaders about the topic at hand—how to best respond to terrorism.

“Nothing Americanize now,” Coffin wrote, “is that life can change on a dime. On Sept. 11, we lost, and lost forever, our sense of invulnerability and invincibility. Hard as that may be, we must not grieve their passing; they were illusions.”

“I was not the Devil’s strategy to persuade Americans to let go of the good fight. I hope we will resist. I hope that first we will present to the world conclusive evidence of whom these hijackers were, from whence they came, and who knowingly harbored them.”

“Today it is the Devil’s strategy to persuade Americans to let go of the good fight. I hope we will resist. I hope that first we will present to the world conclusive evidence of whom these hijackers were, from whence they came, and who knowingly harbored them.”

“Then I hope we shall try to build international consensus for appropriate measures, based, not on an ideology or an abstraction, but on the force of his personality. Whether at a dinner room table, behind a church pulpit, at a piano or on a stage at a political rally, Coffin was an engaging and rewarded attention. The message was difficult to separate from the virtuoso performance of high-spirited, humor and insight. Not even a failing body, and a head left in the wake of a stroke, blunted the force of his personality. Strafford Selectwoman Kay Campbell had it just right when she noted that Coffin, despite his national stature, had a knack for “treating us like we were all special.”

Mr. President, Vermonters were fortunate to have Bill Coffin as a resident of our unique State. Vermonters have a long history of independent thought, of standing up for what is right, and Bill Coffin set a standard for all of us. I was privileged to know him personally and to be able to hear his trenchant arguments, and I know his other friends and neighbors felt the same way. We were all made better, and felt better about ourselves, when we were in the company of Bill Coffin. I take this opportunity to commend a column by William F. Buckley and an editorial in the Valley News be printed in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD so that other Senators may have a further appreciation of this great and good man.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

[From the Valley News, April 14, 2006]

WILLIAM S. COFFIN

The Upper Valley has its share of accomplished people, but we can think of few whose presence seemed such a gift as that of The Rev. William Sloane Coffin, who lived here full time from the late 1980s until his death Wednesday at his home in Strafford.

The Upper Valley phase of Coffin’s life showcased the same devotion to social justice as his earlier chapters as pastor of Riverside Church in New York City and chaplain of Yale University. often, and did so most directly when I published, a fortnight ago, the obituary I did on William F. Rickenbacker. He is the only other fleeted spirit I ever addressed as Dear Wm, who always reciprocated with letters to address me as Dear Wm—both of us signing off as . . . Wm. As I am now, anxious to get a note off to you, especially since you have written so many good books again, and sent me reproofful letters to, your pal—Wm.”

Our disagreements were heated, and it is through the exercise of much restraint that I forebear doing more than merely to record that they were heated; on my way, heatedly, to record that Bill Coffin was a bird of paradise, and really sympathetic to, me, though thoughtlessly, lament his failure to bring the world around to his views.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, I am pleased to introduce today legislation with Senator SPECTER to reaffirm the exclusivity of the Foreign Surveilance Intelligence Act of 1978, FISA, and streamline the process by which it works.

This measure brings the so-called Terrorist Surveillance Program being conducted by the National Security Agency under the process required by FISA. The bill will enhance our national security and provide constitutional protections against government intrusion into the privacy of ordinary Americans.

Specifically, the bill that we introduce today would:

- Restate, in no uncertain terms, that FISA is the exclusive means by which our Government can conduct electronic surveillance of U.S. persons on U.S. soil for foreign intelligence purposes;

- Expressly state that there is no such thing as an “implied” repeal of our FISA laws. No future bill can be interpreted as authorizing an exception from FISA unless it expressly makes such exception;

- Increase flexibility under FISA by extending the period of emergency electronic surveillance from 72 hours to 7 days, which should cover all contin-gent needs; and

- Authorize designated supervisors at the NSA and the FBI to initiate emergency surveillance, provided that the surveillance is reported to the Attorney General within 24 hours, and approved by the AG within 3 days and the FISA Court within 7 days. The purpose of this is to prevent bureaucratic delay in an emergency circumstance.

In addition to these major provisions, the legislation we introduce today makes several additional changes to reinforce FISA’s exclusivity and adapt existing FISA authorities and procedures.

These changes are designed to allow applications to move faster from the field to the FISA Court, and to allow that Court to handle any increased caseload that will result from bringing the current NSA program into the FISA regime.

These additional authorities, streamlined procedures, and additional resources respond directly to needs described by the Attorney General, cur-cent and former FISA Court judges, and outside experts. Specifically, the bill:

- Allows the Attorney General to delegate his authority to approve applications going to the FISA Court to two other Senate-confirmed Justice Department officials;

- Takes FISA’s current allowance for 15 days of warrantless electronic surveillance following a declaration of war
  and extend it to the 15 days:
  1. Following a Congressional authorization to use military force, or
  2. A major terrorist attack against our nation for the same period of time.

- Authorizes additional personnel at the NSA, the FBI, the Department of Justice, and the FISA Court, to reduce the time it takes to initiate, review, and file a FISA application.

- Allows for additional judges to the FISA Court as needed to manage the caseload;

- Facilitates a review of the FISA application process, culminating in a report designed to eliminate any unnecessary delay in the filings; and

- Mandates the creation of a secure, classified document management system to facilitate electronic filing.

In addition, the bill will provide the FISA excludi,

- Prohibit the use of Federal funds for any future electronic surveillance of U.S. Persons that does not fully comply with the law;

- Require that the full Intelligence Committees be briefed on all electronic surveillance, and related, programs.

- We are in a war against terrorists, who seek to bring victory in unpredictable and asymmetric ways.

Intelligence is the key to our defense;
we must know about the terrorists’ intentions and capabilities to do us harm if we are to stop them.

Electronic surveillance, including surveillance conducted within the United States on U.S. persons, is part of our defense. The men and women at the NSA and the FBI who do this work are careful, dedicated officials.

But even in this war on terror, we should not sacrifice basic protections enshrined in the Constitution, including the fourth amendment protections against unreasonable search and sei-

In the FISA Court were brought to bear his authority to approve applications going to the FISA Court to two other Senate-confirmed Justice Department officials;

 veillance following a declaration of war
  and extend it to the 15 days:
  1. Following a Congressional authorization to use military force, or
  2. A major terrorist attack against our nation for the same period of time.

- Authorizes additional personnel at
  the NSA, the FBI, the Department of Justice, and the FISA Court, to reduce the time it takes to initiate, review,
  and file a FISA application.

classified document management system to facilitate electronic filing.

In addition, the bill will provide the FISA excludi,
important surveillance he might delay, or even avoid, if he must determine in advance that a court will grant approval. But this bill eliminates the requirement for Attorney General approval before surveillance begins.

Under the circumstances warrant, an Attorney General-designated supervisor of the NSA or FBI can begin emergency surveillance immediately. The designated officer would have to notify the Attorney General within 3 hours of starting, and then get approval from the AG within 72 hours. The Department of Justice would then need to obtain an emergency warrant from the FISA court within 7 days of the initiation of surveillance.

The Attorney General’s role would simply be to decide whether to stop the surveillance—not authorize it on the front end. And even on this decision to stop surveillance, the bill allows him to delegate it to two other Department of Justice officials. If the Court does not issue a warrant, the information cannot be used in any legal proceeding.

This provision is respectful of the administration’s needs. The 7-day emergency window in this bill more than doubles the existing 3-day period that exists for emergencies now. It also extends substantial additional resources to the Department of Justice and the intelligence agencies. And as I say, our bill expressly authorizes a designated agent to go ahead with necessary surveillance right away.

The Attorney General’s letter also asserts that FISA is unworkable because prompt action increases the chance that the target of surveillance may ultimately be notified if the FISA Court later turns down the warrant.

The risk here is no different than the risk every prior Administration has faced. And it is also infinitesimal, since only a small handful of FISA applications—only 4 out of 18,747 from 1979-2005, according to press reports—ever have been refused by the FISA Court.

Even in the extremely rare case of where a FISA Court denies an emergency warrant, and therefore directs notification of the target of surveillance, the FISA law has a provision that exempts the Attorney General from notifying the target if he certifies that doing so would imperil national security.

Despite the remote chances of national security being compromised, the legislation gives the Attorney General the benefit of the doubt, and provides that if the Attorney General or his designee stops the NSA or FBI surveillance within 72 hours, the target of surveillance will not be notified.

Beyond the Attorney’s General letter, the White House, the Department of Justice, and intelligence officials say that court review of the surveillance is not necessary for three reasons:

First, they argue that the President has the constitutional authority to order the surveillance, regardless of statutory prohibitions. This is a question for the courts to decide.

It is highly debatable whether the President has plenary article II constitutional power, but even if he does, he clearly has plenary authority to decide which of his powers are plenary. If he did, any Executive Branch official could open mail, or enter homes at any time without a warrant in the name of national security, and the doctrine of separation of powers we know it would end.

Secondly, the administration argues that the NSA electronic surveillance program is subject to numerous reviews and safeguards at both the Department of Justice and the National Security Agency, thus making outside oversight unnecessary.

This argument flies in the face of our system of government. We have three separate branches of government, each with checks and balances on the other two. The framers of the Constitution did not vest the Executive Branch with the right to oversee itself; that is the responsibility of the Congress and the Courts.

We have also recently seen how this arrangement of internal reviews, even if it were acceptable, simply does not work. Within the Department of Justice, the Office of Professional Responsibility was recently asked to review the legality of the activities of those involved in the surveillance program outside of FISA, but we have learned that OPR was denied the security clearances needed to do their work.

Finally, as I noted before, the Executive Branch says that outside review by the Congress and the courts would hamstring their ability to prevent terrorist attacks. I do not believe that is true, based on the briefings I have received, but even if it were, the answer is to amend FISA, not to throw it out.

The FISA law has changed since September 11 through the PATRIOT Act and the renewal of the PATRIOT Act. It can be done again. In short, if the President sees problems with an existing law, the simple answer is that he should ask to change it—not refuse to follow the law.

This war on terror will be a long war, and it will be mostly fought in the shadows.

It is thus especially important that the Congress and the American people be assured that we are waging this war in a way that upholds our principles and follows the Constitution.

I believe that our national security and core privacy interests can both be protected, given the right tools and authorities, if each branch of government will work together to fulfill their respective roles and obligations.

Congress was able to do that more than 25 years ago when it first enacted FISA, and I am confident we can do it again today.

I have been waiting for the NSA to submit views regarding metadata—that is, information about communications that does not include content. It is my strong belief that any and all metadata collection programs should be approved by FISA on a program basis. I would hope to add such a provision to this bill at a later time or to introduce a new bill to cover this subject.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

NATIONAL MIDDLE SCHOOL TEACHER OF THE YEAR

- Mr. AKAKA. Mr. President, I rise today to congratulate Gregg Agena of Mililani Middle School for being recognized as the national middle school teacher of the year by the National Association for Sports and Physical Education.

  Initially, Gregg was honored by being named the Southwest District Middle School Physical Educator of the Year. The Southwest District of the National Association for Sport and Physical Education, NASPE, is a six-State region, which includes Hawaii. There were four other finalists for the national recognition, and it is with esteemed pride that I recognize and congratulate Gregg for receiving the national honor.

  The award, which was announced at the NASPE national convention in Salt Lake City, UT, is a recognition of outstanding teaching at the middle school level and for motivating students to participate in physical activity throughout their entire lives. As a former educator and principal, I know firsthand the countless hours that go into creating curricula, and it makes me proud to see outstanding teachers receive recognition for their hard work.

  Gregg, who received both his undergraduate and graduate degrees from the University of Hawaii at Manoa, my alma mater, has also been recognized as the Nike Teacher of the Year, Hawaii Middle School Physical Education Teacher of the Year, and the recipient of the Ola Pono, which is Hawaii’s Drug Free Award.

  I would also like to recognize Kay Bicoy of Pearl City High School, who was named the Southwest District High School Physical Educator of the Year by NASPE. This was the first time that a public school teacher from the state of Hawaii was selected as a district award recipient, and it is with immense pride that I recognize not only one, but two teachers from my home State for such an accomplishment.

  The dedication of Gregg and Kay to their field and to the children of Hawaii are undeniable. I congratulate them both not only for these outstanding recognitions, but especially for their dedication to educating the youth from the state of Hawaii, and I wish them the very best in their future endeavors.
ALLAN W. McWILLIAMS

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. President, I am pleased today to recognize Mr. Allan W. McWilliams of Berryville, VA, who has served on the town council for 24 years. Mr. McWilliams served as ward representative from 1982 until 1991 and assumed his current role as the town’s recorder in 1991.

Mr. McWilliams, who is affectionately known as “Bugs,” has made numerous contributions as one of the town’s leaders. During his tenure on the town council, Mr. McWilliams has worked to promote fiscal responsibility, planned growth, and responsible fiscal planning. He has overseen the development of a professional community police force and has helped to implement a long-range capital planning project. As a resident of Berryville for more than 50 years and an owner of a business in downtown Berryville for the past 27 years, Mr. McWilliams is truly committed to the growth and success of this town.

Mr. McWilliams, who is married to Barbara, father toffer to Michelle, has brought an innovative spirit and common-sense, principled leadership to the Town of Berryville. I am grateful for his service to the Commonwealth of Virginia and am pleased to join his colleagues, friends, and family members in honoring him upon his retirement.

CONGRATULATING GERRY FISCHBACH

Mrs. CLINTON. Mr. President, I rise today to recognize Dr. Gerald D. Fischbach for his service as the Executive Vice President for Health and Biomedical Sciences and Dean of the Faculties of Medicine and Health Sciences at Columbia University in New York. Gerry Fischbach is a highly respected neuroscientist and educator. I have known Dean Fischbach since 1998 when he served as Director of the National Institute of Neurological Disorders and Stroke, NINDS, at the National Institutes of Health, NIH, during the Clinton administration.

As executive vice president and dean, Gerry Fischbach was charged with running the Columbia University Medical Center, CUMC, in northern Manhattan. The CUMC comprises the College of Physicians and Surgeons, the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, the School of Nursing, the College of Dental Medicine, and the Mailman School of Public Health. Dean Fischbach worked tirelessly to advance the Medical Center’s traditions, providing high-quality patient care, conducting innovative biomedical research, and educating generations of doctors, scientists, nurses, dentists, and public health professionals.

Gerry Fischbach is a native of Mount Vernon, New York and graduated from Colgate University. After graduating from Cornell Medical School in New York City, he completed his internship at the University of Washington Hospital in Seattle. In 1966, he began his lifelong dedication to research and education at the NIH. Before coming to Columbia, Dean Fischbach held Chairmanships at both Harvard University and Washington University in St. Louis, and was Director of the NINDS at NIH.

Throughout his career, Dean Fischbach has studied the formation and maintenance of synapses, the junctions between nerve cells and their targets through which information is transferred. His work has focused on the neuromuscular junction, where he pioneered using cultured neurons and muscle cells to characterize the biochemical, cellular, and electrophysiological mechanisms underlying the development and function of this junction. Beginning in the 1970s, Dean Fischbach began to study the mechanism by which motor neurons regulate the number of acetylcholine receptors on muscle cells. His work culminated with the purification and cloning of the acetylcholine receptor-inducing activity, ARIA, protein, which stimulates skeletal muscle cells to synthesize acetylcholine receptors. Dean Fischbach was key in demonstrating that synaptic development relies on biochemical mechanisms.

While at Columbia, Dean Fischbach initiated and implemented a strategic planning process and oversaw the completion and dedication of the new Irving Cancer Research Center. No stranger to Congress from his days at NINDS, he has been active in the effort to expand eligibility for federal funding for stem cell research, and has lectured, written, and testified before Congress numerous times on the subject. During his tenure, he created the Columbia Center for Neuroscience Initiatives and the CUMC Stem Cell Consortium, both of which have fostered understanding of the human brain and developed treatments for diseases that affect millions of Americans.

New York is blessed with an abundance of top research institutions and teaching hospitals, New York’s jewels, as my predecessor Senator Moynihan used to call them, and there is no doubt that Columbia’s medical center is one of the finest in the country. Columbia receives more NIH funding than any other New York institution, and two out of the past five Nobel Prize winners for Physiology and Medicine have been Columbia faculty. I have become very familiar with the outstanding clinical care provided by CUMC and the New York Presbyterian Hospital. Dr. Craig Smith, the surgeon who operated on my husband, is a Columbia faculty member.

My colleagues may have noticed that the one word I have not used in my remarks is ‘retiring.’ Although Gerry Fischbach may be stepping down from his current position, he is not retiring. He will remain an active CUMC faculty member and researcher. He also will serve as the Scientific Advisor for the Simons Foundation, a New York-based foundation dedicated to advancing the basic and clinical frontiers of autism research.

There will be more time to spend with his wife Ruth, a noted bioethicist, their children and grandchildren at their home in Wood’s Hole, and I suspect there may be a few more rounds of golf in his future. Gerry Fischbach will continue to do what he has devoted his life to: expanding, creating, and disseminating knowledge of the brain and working on developing means to treat disease. He will also continue to be active on health and science policy issues like stem cell research and it would not surprise me, once absorbed from the day-to-day responsibilities of Dean, if he is not more visible on Capitol Hill.

Dean Fischbach is leaving Columbia University Medical Center in good hands. Dr. Lee Goldman will assume the executive vice president and dean position in late June. A distinguished cardiologist, Dr. Goldman comes to Columbia from the University of California San Francisco where he is Chair of the Department of Medicine. I want to welcome Dr. Goldman to New York and look forward to working with him.

I ask that my colleagues join me in recognizing this great New York cardiologist, Dr. Gerald D. Fischbach. Congratulations Gerry and best to you and Ruth.

ANNUAL NEW JERSEY LAW ENFORCEMENT MEMORIAL SERVICE

Mr. LAUTENBERG. Mr. President, I commemorate the 21st annual New Jersey Law Enforcement Memorial Service held this week in Ocean Grove, NJ. At this ceremony, which is hosted by the New Jersey State Association of Chiefs of Police, NJSACP, honors the sacrifice made by law enforcement officers who have given their lives in the line of duty. Its participants represent the entire New Jersey law enforcement community, including State and local police agencies as well as prosecutors and federal agents based in New Jersey.

Events such as the New Jersey Law Enforcement Memorial Service and last week’s commemoration of National Police Week are the least we can do to express our gratitude to the brave men and women who risk their lives every day in service to our communities, States, and Nation. Our Nation lost 155 law enforcement officers in 2005. Their ultimate sacrifice and the important work they did every day must never be forgotten.

I am proud that my State of New Jersey honors these heroes in the oldest statewide law enforcement memorial service in the country, and I ask that the Senate join me in commending the NJSACP for hosting this important event.
IN RECOGNITION OF THE UNITED STATES COAST GUARD CUTTER ICEBREAKER "MACKINAW" AND HER CREW

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. President, it is with great pride that I pay tribute to the United States Coast Guard Cutter Icebreaker Mackinaw for her 62 years of exceptional service on the Great Lakes. The Coast Guard’s largest cutter assigned to the Great Lakes, the Mackinaw will be decommissioned on Saturday, June 10, 2006. The power and majesty of this ship have made her a unique and awe-inspiring cutter, setting a high standard by which other icebreakers are measured.

Construction of the Mackinaw began on March 20, 1943, by the Toledo Shipbuilding Company of Ohio. With the Great Lakes serving as a vital link for industry and commerce, the Coast Guard needed a vessel that could accomplish in one pass what took smaller icebreakers three or four passes to accomplish. Out of this need was born the Mackinaw, named for her strength, integrity, and rich maritime history. The Acacia is the last of the Coast Guard’s classic World War II era 180 foot buoy tenders, and when she is decommissioned on Wednesday, June 7, 2006, it will be the end of an era.

The Acacia, constructed during World War II by the Zenith Dredge Company of Duluth, Minnesota, was launched on September 19, 1944. Named after the U.S. Lighthouse Service Acacia, the only Lighthouse Service vessel sunk during World War II. In the years since her commissioning, the Acacia has served proudly on the Great Lakes, calling Charlevoix, Michigan, home port for the last 16 years.

Affectionately known as “The Big A,” the Acacia’s primary duties have been the maintenance of more than 210 buoys, lighthouses and other navigational aids in the Great Lakes. Servicing these aids to navigation has required travel from as far south as Calumet Harbor to as far north as Little Bay De Noc. The Acacia’s icebreaking capabilities were also vital to maintaining the safe passage of coal ships in the channels between Toledo, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan every winter through her participation in Operation Coal Shovel.

In addition, the Acacia has assisted in icebreaking and search and rescue operations on the Great Lakes and throughout the world. Internationally, the Acacia took part in operation Uphold Democracy in 1994, supporting the Department of Defense in patrolling the coastline of Haiti. Whether working on the Great Lakes or in international waters, the Acacia and her crew have completed all of their missions with class and integrity.

As we pay tribute to the Acacia, I want to recognize the contributions of her crew to her great success. The proud men and women who have served this country aboard the Acacia over the last 62 years are to be saluted for their commitment, hard work, and impressive skill in protecting and securing the safe passage of vessels on the Great Lakes.

On the eve of her decommissioning, I would like to praise the United States Coast Guard Cutter Acacia for her service on the Great Lakes. And I thank the current and former crew of this great ship for their service and commitment. The Acacia will be long remembered for a job well done.

MEASURES PLACED ON THE CALENDAR

The following bill was read the second time, and placed on the calendar:

By Mr. FRIST (for Mrs. DOLE):
S. 3250. A bill to suspend temporarily the duty on butane lamp-holder housings containing sockets; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. FRIST (for Mrs. DOLE):
S. 3251. A bill to suspend temporarily the duty on porcelain lamp-holder housings containing sockets; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. FRIST (for Mrs. DOLE):
S. 3252. A bill to suspend temporarily the duty on brass lamp-holder housings containing sockets; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. FRIST (for Mrs. DOLE):
S. 3253. A bill to suspend temporarily the duty on staple fibers of viscose rayon, not carded, combed, or otherwise processed for spinning; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. FRIST (for Mrs. DOLE):
S. 3254. A bill to suspend temporarily the duty on butane lamp-holder housings containing sockets; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. FRIST (for Mrs. DOLE):
S. 3255. A bill to suspend temporarily the duty on staple fibers of viscose rayon, not carded; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. FRIST (for Mrs. DOLE):
S. 3256. A bill to suspend temporarily the duty on Butanedioic acid, dimethyl ester, polymer with 4-hydroxy-2,2,6,6-tetramethyl-1-piperidinethanol; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. FRIST (for Mrs. DOLE):
S. 3257. A bill to suspend temporarily the duty on Butanedioic acid, dimethyl ester, polymer with 4-hydroxy-2,2,6,6-tetramethyl-1-piperidinethanol; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. FRIST (for Mrs. DOLE):
S. 3258. A bill to suspend temporarily the duty on Butanedioic acid, dimethyl ester, polymer with 4-hydroxy-2,2,6,6-tetramethyl-1-piperidinethanol; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. FRIST (for Mrs. DOLE):
S. 3259. A bill to suspend temporarily the duty on Butanedioic acid, dimethyl ester, polymer with 4-hydroxy-2,2,6,6-tetramethyl-1-piperidinethanol; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. FRIST (for Mrs. DOLE):
S. 3260. A bill to suspend temporarily the duty on Butanedioic acid, dimethyl ester, polymer with 4-hydroxy-2,2,6,6-tetramethyl-1-piperidinethanol; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. FRIST (for Mrs. DOLE):
S. 3261. A bill to suspend temporarily the duty on Butanedioic acid, dimethyl ester, polymer with 4-hydroxy-2,2,6,6-tetramethyl-1-piperidinethanol; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. FRIST (for Mrs. DOLE):
S. 3262. A bill to suspend temporarily the duty on Butanedioic acid, dimethyl ester, polymer with 4-hydroxy-2,2,6,6-tetramethyl-1-piperidinethanol; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. FRIST (for Mrs. DOLE):
S. 3263. A bill to suspend temporarily the duty on Butanedioic acid, dimethyl ester, polymer with 4-hydroxy-2,2,6,6-tetramethyl-1-piperidinethanol; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. FRIST (for Mrs. DOLE):
S. 3264. A bill to suspend temporarily the duty on Butanedioic acid, dimethyl ester, polymer with 4-hydroxy-2,2,6,6-tetramethyl-1-piperidinethanol; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. FRIST (for Mrs. DOLE):
S. 3265. A bill to suspend temporarily the duty on Butanedioic acid, dimethyl ester, polymer with 4-hydroxy-2,2,6,6-tetramethyl-1-piperidinethanol; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. FRIST (for Mrs. DOLE):
S. 3266. A bill to suspend temporarily the duty on Butanedioic acid, dimethyl ester, polymer with 4-hydroxy-2,2,6,6-tetramethyl-1-piperidinethanol; to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. FRIST (for Mrs. DOLE):
S. 3267. A bill to suspend temporarily the duty on Butanedioic acid, dimethyl ester, polymer with 4-hydroxy-2,2,6,6-tetramethyl-1-piperidinethanol; to the Committee on Finance.

STATEMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

By Mr. DAYTON (for himself and Mr. LOTT): S. 3239. A bill to require full disclosure of insurance coverage and noncoverage by insurance companies and provide for Federal Trade Commission enforcement; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

Mr. DAYTON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of S. 3239, the Honesty Is the Best Insurance Policy Act of 2006, be printed in the Record.

There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the Record, as follows:

SEC. 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Honesty Is the Best Insurance Policy Act of 2006”.

SEC. 2. UNLAWFUL ACT.

Each individual policy written by a State-registered insurance company shall include on the front or first page of the policy a “Noncoverage Disclosure” box restating in plain English, in bold font twice the size of the text in the body of the policy, all conditions, exclusions, and other limitations pertaining to coverage under that policy, regardless of the underlying insurance product in question.

SEC. 3. ENFORCEMENT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Any violation of this Act shall be treated as a violation of a regulation under section 18(a)(1)(B) of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 57a(a)(1)(B)) regarding unfair or deceptive acts or practices.

(b) REGULATIONS.—The Federal Trade Commission (referred to in this Act as the “Commission”) shall promulgate regulations to carry out this Act.

SEC. 4. POWERS OF COMMISSION.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Commission, acting through the Division of Financial Practices in the Bureau of Consumer Protection, shall prevent any person from violating this Act, and any regulation promulgated thereunder, in the same manner, by the same means, and with the same jurisdiction, powers and duties as though all applicable terms and provisions of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 41 et seq.) were incorporated into and made part of this Act.

(b) PENALTIES.—Any person who violates regulations promulgated under this Act shall be subject to the penalties and entitled to the privileges and immunities provided in the Federal Trade Commission Act as though all applicable terms and provisions of the Federal Trade Commission Act were incorporated into and made part of this Act.

(c) AUTHORITY PRESERVED.—Nothing in this Act shall be construed to limit the authority of the Commission under any other provision of law.

By Mrs. CLINTON (for herself and Ms. MIKULSKI):

S. 3255. A bill to provide student borrowers with basic rights, including the right to timely information about their loans and the right to make fair and reasonable loan payments, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pen dons.

Mrs. CLINTON. Mr. President. I rise today to introduce legislation to protect the rights of student borrowers trying to repay their loans. Students are borrowing more now than ever to pay for higher education. Need-based grant aid has stagnated while college costs have grown. The result is more students borrowing and higher levels of borrowing. In 1993, less than one-half of students graduating from 4-year colleges and universities had student loans. Now two-thirds do.

Unlike other debt, you take out student loans to invest in yourself. For most people, that is a wise investment. In the long run student loans help people earn more money and have more choices in their careers. Student borrowers must also take their responsibilities seriously, so future generations of students can also benefit from the chance to borrow money—they do not have to burden their families.

But today it is harder to pay back loans. In 1993, college costs had borrowed less for college, up from 31 percent in 1991. Student loan debt may even prevent borrowers from pursuing a higher degree. According to the Nellie Mae Corporation, 40 percent of college graduates who do not go to graduate school blame student loan debt. Most disturbingly, the prospect of student loan debt may prevent successful high school students from going to college. Twenty percent of low-income high school graduates who are qualified for college do not go to college.

The Student Borrower Bill of Rights will make it easier for students to repay and give them rights that are enforceable. The bill will give students the right to shop for loans in a free marketplace. It will give students access to better information about their loans. The bill will give student borrowers the right to make fair, monthly payments that do not exceed a percentage of their incomes and fair interest rates and fees. The bill would also give students the right to borrow without exploitation.

We need this bill now to help students struggling to go to college. For the average family, one more income to pay for a child to go to college than it did, as a percentage, 25 years ago.

So we need to do everything we can to ensure all students can afford college. It is in their best interest and it is in the Nation’s best interest.

I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting the Student Borrower Bill of Rights.

By Mr. SPECTER (for himself and Mr. LEAHY):

S. 3274. A bill to create a fair and efficient system to resolve claims of victims for bodily injury caused by asbestos exposure, and for other purposes; read the first time.

Mr. SPECTER. Mr. President, I am introducing a revised bill on asbestos reform, with the sponsorship of Senator LEAHY.

This is a subject which the Senate had considered earlier this year, and it is one which I hope we will return to.
To give impetus to that, I am introducing an amended version of the asbestos trust bill which makes very substantial improvements to satisfy interests and concerns raised by a number of Senators.

The bill provides for a more prompt recovery for the sickest claimants; stronger medical criteria; preserves the ability of the bankruptcy trusts to continue paying impaired claims; has an improved allocation formula for well-insured and financially strapped defendants, and it has a tighter control on so-called leakage.

Last Friday, we lost a great American judge, Judge Edward R. Becker, who made such an enormous contribution to the structure of this asbestos reform legislation. He gave his own time, came to Washington at his own cost to preside over many meetings with the so-called stakeholders, the manufacturers, the trial lawyers, the AFL-CIO representing labor, and the insurers. He was working on this bill making calls to Senators right up until the time that prostate cancer took him a week ago today.

When I gave him a report of our progress when it was obvious that the end was very near, he said, ‘‘We have a lot of work to do for the Gipper.’’ And we want to win one for the Gipper, for Judge Becker. We want to win this one for America.

I ask unanimous consent that the full text of my prepared statement and the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

Mr. SPECTER. I have sought recognition to comment about the status of on-going developments on asbestos reform and am pleased to introduce an amended version of S.852, the Fairness in Asbestos Injury Resolution Act, or the FAIR Act. In introducing this legislation today, I remind the Senate of important unfinished business that only in the last three years on ways to improve S.5345, even after the bill was side-tracked on the Senate floor on February 14, 2006. Sadly, Judge Becker passed away on May 19, 2006. Judge Becker—a federal Judge for 34 years—stands today as one of the greatest citizens in the history of the city of Philadelphia, one of the greatest judges in the history of the United States and one of my personal and trusted friends. His contributions and tireless work on this legislation helped bring the bill to its current point, and his commitment to solving the asbestos crisis in this country should be remembered as the Senate moves forward on this bill. This new bill is a product of our continued efforts to develop the most fair and rational system to replace the broken asbestos tort system.

More than three months have past since the Senate was prematurely diverted in its consideration of this important legislation. To remind my colleagues, the majority leader brought the committee-reported asbestos bill to the floor on February 6 and the following day this body voted overwhelmingly (98-1) to invoke cloture on the motion to proceed. While we pursued substantive debate, opponents of the bill raised a non-substantive and never-before used procedural obstacle that blocked the Senate from further consideration of the legislation, a budgetary point of order, lacked any merit because the proposed asbestos trust fund simply does not collect or spend a single penny from the American taxpayer. And let me make clear that the containing or private, non-taxpayer funds is iron-clad. The trust fund considered back in February and introduced again here today is capitalized exclusively by defendant companies, insurers and existing bankruptcy trusts that have known asbestos liabilities. The bill expressly provides that ‘‘[r]epayment of moneys borrowed by the administrator . . . is limited solely to amounts available in the [Fund].’’ It also states that ‘‘Nothing in this Act shall be construed to create any obligation of funding from the United States Government, including any borrowing authorized . . .’’ With these explicit statements throughout the bill, it is abundantly clear that this legislation is based on the use of money in the U.S. Treasury. In fact, the Congressional Budget Office confirmed these statements in a letter dated February 13, 2006, concluding that ‘‘the legislation would be deficit-neutral over the life of the fund.’’

The bill that I am introducing today will provide substantial assurances of acceptable compensation to asbestos victims and substantial assurances to manufacturers and insurers to resolve asbestos claims with finality. Over the past three decades, a solution to the asbestos crisis has been debated in the courts. Some 77 companies have gone bankrupt, thousands of individuals who have been exposed to asbestos have deadly diseases—mesothelioma and other such ailments—and are not being compensated or, because of the unfairness of the current system, receive little of the awards they do win. A May 10, 2005 report released by the RAND Institute for Civil Justice estimates that nonmalignants make up about 90 percent of the litigation and most are not seriously ill. The RAND estimates that the number of claims continues to rise, with over 730,000 claims filed already and some 200,000 pending. The number of asbestos defendants also has risen sharply, from about 300 in the 1980s, to over 5,000. ‘‘Other. Most of these defendants were users of the product, not asbestos manufacturers. These companies account for 85 percent of the U.S. economy and represent nearly every U.S. industry; including auto-makers, shipbuilders, textile mills, retail and electric utilities and virtually every company involved in manufacturing or construction in the last thirty years.”
the Department of Labor would house a national no-fault asbestos trust fund privately financed and guaranteed by defendant companies and insurers with proven asbestos liabilities. The bill totally exempts small business from paying into the Fund and provides a litany of safeguards to ensure that defendant companies do not encounter insolvencies or inequities because of their contributions.

Asbestos victims would submit their claims to the fund under specific and detailed procedures and receive fair compensation for their asbestos injuries they can meet certain medical criteria. These criteria are designed to prioritize compensation for those with an actual impairment from asbestos disease while providing medical monitoring to those who are not sick or unimpaired. Most important, the bill caps attorneys fees at 5 percent for a hearing, thereby helping many members about a victim receives through the Fund.

The national trust fund would operate as a surrogate for the tort system which would by and large cease to operate. Claims of all individualized cases at trial or beyond would be permitted to pursue that claim in the tort system. But such cases would be few and far between when measured against the massive number of unimpacted consolidated lawsuits that are the prime culprit to today’s litigation mess.

The bill provides for a well thought out start up process that ensures swift compensation to terminal asbestos victims and monetary reparation for a modified tort system in the event the trust fund cannot pay claims or exhausts the entire $140 billion. This latter point is especially important to note given repeated concerns that I have heard many members about the taxpayer being on the hook. Unlike the Black Lung Program or other federal compensation program for that matter; the asbestos trust fund will affirmatively sunset once the $140 billion is used. The Fund cannot hold claims. The sunset enables victims to pursue their claims in court but in a more equitable tort environment that prohibits forum shopping and use of junk science to prove asbestos claims.

Every single time a concern has been raised, Judge Becker and I have studied the issue extensively. A case in point was in September 2005, when the analysis of Bates White firm suggested that the proposed fund would face claims of over $140 billion, I called for a hearing on this issue. The hearing, which was held by the Judiciary Committee on November 17, 2005, we heard testimony on both sides of the issue. The Bates White study proved to be factually flawed. In fact, in December 2005, CBO confirmed its original cost estimate, reaffirming that $140 billion would be sufficient to cover claims filed for compensation under the trust fund.

The asbestos trust fund bill that I am introducing today with Senator LEAHY should come as no surprise to anyone because it essentially embodies the substitute bill that was pending on the floor months ago during the Senate’s full consideration of asbestos reform last February. The trust fund bill being introduced today includes specific floor amendments filed by Members from both sides of the aisle and a handful of additional new changes that we believe respond directly to concerns raised during the asbestos floor debate. The floor amendments included in this bill include, among others, the Kyl 1.67 percent hardship amendment, Landrieu amendment on gulf coast hurricanes and World Trade Center victims, and Coburn amendment regarding B-readers.

Other changes made include measures that address the well-insured defendant problem, and limitation on so called “dormant claims” that are traced through entities through the Fund. For the benefit of my colleagues and their staff, we will circulate a detailed section by section summary of the bill early next week during the recess. I also wish to thank the staff from the substitute. But for now, I would like to highlight some of the additional features that I believe respond to concerns raised by Members on both sides of the aisle:

Prompt Recovery for the Sickest Claimants: The new bill establishes safeguards to protect “gaming” of the start-up process so that those claimants that are the sickest receive prompt compensation. The bill also authorizes the Administrator to begin receiving, reviewing and deciding claims immediately following enactment of the FAIR Act. To ensure that claims processing begins immediately, the Administrator also is authorized to condition claims processing to an expedited basis.

Stronger Medical Criteria: The new bill strengthens the medical criteria by adopting new medical standards and definitions suggested by Dr. Coburn that would authorize random audits of affidavits, clarify that a claimant’s diagnosis be made by a “treating” rather than “examining physician”, require claimants to provide detailed, specific and credible affidavits as proof of significant asbestos exposure, and disqualify certain plaintiffs’ friendly B-readers from participating in claims administration. The current tort system largely operates from the financially-motivated relationship between plaintiffs’ attorneys and many of the doctors conducting medical tests and screening. While S. 632 contained provisions which would authorize this abuse (e.g., in the tort system that are still listed on court dockets) from being filed with the Fund.

The new bill remains both integrated and comprehensive and reflective of a remarkable will to enact legislation. This has become evident to me based on over a hundred meetings that I have personally had with Members and staff on the asbestos problem. The Senate plainly wants a more rational asbestos claims system, and I believe that this new legislation offers a realistic prospect of accomplishing that result.

If this amended bill is rejected, I do not see the agenda of the Senate Judiciary Committee revisiting this issue. I cannot conceive of a more strenuous effort being directed to this subject that has been done over the past three years. Let me make clear that this is the last best chance.

This said, I remain confident that during debate on the Senate floor, we can forge and enact a bill that is fair to the claimants and to business and that will put an end once and for all to this nightmare chapter in American legal, economic and social history. If we can summon the legislative will in a bipartisan spirit, it can be done. Anything less, would preserve the injustices of a system that even the highest court of this country has called upon the Congress to disregard.

Over the coming weeks, I plan on moving ahead with this bill and will do everything in my power to see that the Senate finishes its business on asbestos reform. The Judiciary Committee has worked too hard and too long on this bill to see it all go to waste over a procedural and technical nuance. I urge the Leader to schedule time for this important legislation in the coming months, and by introducing this bill today I hope that we make a first big stride in that direction. The time is now for asbestos reform and any further delay by this body will only prolong the suffering of asbestos victims, companies and their employees. I yield the floor.

SEC. 2. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.
(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:
(1) Millions of Americans have been exposed to forms of asbestos that can have devastating health effects.
(2) Various injuries can be caused by exposure to some forms of asbestos, including pleural disease and some forms of cancer.
(3) The inhalation by asbestos can have a latency periods of up to 40 years, and even limited exposure to some forms of asbestos may result in injury in some cases.
(4) Asbestos litigation has had a significant detrimental effect on the country’s economy, driving companies into bankruptcy, diverting resources from those who are truly sick, and endangering jobs and pensions.
(5) The scope of the asbestos litigation crisis cuts across every state and virtually every industry.
(6) The United States Supreme Court has recognized that Congress must act to create a more rational asbestos claims system.

(b) PURPOSE.—It is the purpose of this Act to:
(1) Grant a fair resolution of asbestos claims in an administratively fair, efficient, and transparent manner.
(2) Stop asbestos insurance and reinsurance companies from using asbestos claims as a means of avoiding their obligations.
(3) Provide a pathway to ultimate resolution of asbestos claims.
(4) Avoid the significant financial burden on the United States and U.S. citizens.
(5) Assist individuals injured by asbestos by ensuring their health and safety are protected.
(6) Help communities across the country, but hardest hit is Libby, Montana, where tremolite asbestos, one of the most deadly forms of asbestos, was contained in the vermiculite ore mined from the area and despite ongoing cleanup by the Environmental Protection Agency, many still suffer from the deadly dust.
(7) The asbestos found in Libby, Montana, tremolite asbestos, has demonstrated an unusually high level of toxicity, as compared to chrysotile asbestos. Diseases contracted from this tremolite asbestos are unique and highly progressive. These diseases typically manifest in a characteristic pleural disease pattern, and often result in severe impairment or death without radiographic interstitial disease or typical chrysotile markers of radiographic severity. According to the Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry previous studies by the National Institutes of Occupational Safety and Health document significant increased rates of pulmonary abnormalities and disease (asbestos and lung cancer) among former workers.

(11) Environmental Protection Agency supported studies have determined that the raw vermiculite ore mined and milled in Libby, Montana contained 21 to 26 percent asbestos, by weight. The milled ore, resulting from the processing in Libby, which was shipped out of Libby contained markedly reduced percentages of asbestos. A 1982 Environmental Protection Agency study concluded that ore shipped out of Libby contained 0.3 to 7 percent asbestos, by weight.
(12) In Libby, Montana, exposure pathways are and were not limited to the workplace, rather, for decades there has been an unprecedented 24 hour per day contamination of the community’s homes, playgrounds, gardens, and community. As such the entire community of Libby, Montana, has been designated a Superfund site and is listed on the Environmental Protection Agency’s National Priorities List.

(13) These multiple exposure pathways have caused severe asbestos disease and death not only in former workers at the Libby mine and milling facilities, also in the workers’ spouses and children, and in community members who had no direct contact general or special function governmental unit established under State law.

(14) STATE.—The term “State” means any State of the United States and also includes the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, American Samoa, and any other territory or possession of the United States or any political subdivision of any of the entities under this paragraph.

(15) SUBSTANTIALLY CONTINUES.—The term “substantially continues” means that the business operations have not been significantly modified by the change in ownership.

(16) SUCCESSOR IN INTEREST.—The term “successor in interest” means any person, that, in a or a series of transactions, acquires all or substantially all of the assets and properties (including, without limitation, under section 1123(b)(4) of title 11, United States Code), and substantially continues the business operations, of a participant.

(17) THE PURPOSES.—The purposes of the Fund shall be to provide benefits to asbestos claimants and their beneficiaries.

(18) WORKERS’ COMPENSATION LAW.—The term “workers’ compensation law” means a law respecting a program administered by a State or the United States or any political subdivision of any of the entities under this Act.

(A) processing claims for compensation for asbestos-related injuries and paying compensation to eligible claimants under the Act; and

(B) determining, levying, and collecting assessments on participants under title II;

(C) appointing or contracting for the services of such personnel; funding such expenditures, and taking any other actions as may be necessary and appropriate to carry out the responsibilities of the Office, including entering into cooperative agreements with other Federal agencies or State agencies and entering into contracts with nongovernmental entities;

(D) conducting such audits and additional oversight as necessary to assure the integrity of the program;

(E) managing the Asbestos Injury Claims Resolution Trust fund established under section 221, including

(i) administering, in a fiduciary capacity, the assets of the Fund for the purpose of providing benefits to asbestos claimants and their beneficiaries;

(ii) defraying the reasonable expenses of administering the Fund;

(iii) investing the assets of the Fund in accordance with section 222(b); and

(iv) retaining advisers, managers, and custodians who possess the facilities and expertise to provide for the skilled and prudent management of the Fund, to assist in the development, implementation and operation of the Fund’s investment policies and investment activities, and to provide for the safekeeping and delivery of the Fund’s assets;

(G) making such expenditures as may be necessary and appropriate in the administration of this Act;

(H) excluding evidence and disqualifying or debarring any attorney, physician, provider of medical or diagnostic services, including laboratories and others who provide evidence for which the Fund has paid; and

(I) having all other powers incidental, necessary, or appropriate to carrying out the functions of the Office.

(2) CERTAIN ENFORCEMENTS.—For each infraction relating to paragraph (1)(H), the Administrator also may impose a civil penalty not to exceed $10,000 on any person or entity found to have submitted or engaged in a materially false, fraudulent, or fictitious statement or practice under this Act. The Administrator shall prescribe the appropriate regulations to implement paragraph (1)(H).

(3) SELECTION OF DEPUTY ADMINISTRATORS.—The Administrator shall select a Deputy Administrator for Claims Administration to carry out the Administrator’s responsibilities under this title and a Deputy Administrator for Fund Management to carry out the Administrator’s responsibilities under title II of this Act. The Deputy Administrators shall report directly to the Administrator and shall be in the Senior Executive Service.

(d) EXPEDITIOUS DETERMINATIONS.—The Administrator shall prescribe rules to expedite claims under the Act. The Administrator may, in its discretion, in cases of extreme hardship, or in cases in which the circumstances of the claimant require it, accelerate the time for resolving the claim and for making a payment under the Act.

The Administrator shall be responsible for—

(A) processing claims for compensation for asbestos-related injuries and paying compensation to eligible claimants under the criteria and procedures established under title I.

(b) reporting directly to the Assistant Secretary of Labor for the Employment Standards Administration.

(c) A person who is a successor in interest under section 363(b) or 1123(b)(4) of title 11, United States Code; and start up of the Fund. The Administrator shall contract out the processing of such claims.

(d) conducting such audits and additional oversight as necessary to assure the integrity of the program.

(e) AUDIT AND PERSONNEL REVIEW PROCEDURES.—The Administrator shall establish audit and personnel review procedures for evaluating the accuracy of eligibility recommendations of agency and contract personnel.

(f) APPLI CATION OF FOIA.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 552 of title 5, United States Code (commonly referred to as the Freedom of Information Act) shall apply to the Office of Asbestos Disease Compensation and the Asbestos Insurers Commission.

(2) CONFIDENTIALITY OF FINANCIAL RECORDS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Any person may label any record submitted under this section as a confidential commercial or financial record for the purpose of requesting exemption from disclosure under section 552(b)(4) of title 5, United States Code.

(B) DUTIES OF ADMINISTRATOR AND CHAIRMAN OF THE ASBESTOS INSURERS COMMISSION.—The Administrator and Chairman of the Asbestos Insurers Commission—

(i) shall adopt procedures for—

(I) handling submitted records marked confidential; and

(II) protecting from disclosure records that determine to be confidential commercial or financial information exempt under section 552(b)(4) of title 5, United States Code;

(ii) may establish a pre-submission determination process to protect from disclosure records on reserves and asbestos-related liabilities submitted by any defendant participant that is exempt under section 552(b)(4) of title 5, United States Code.

(g) REVIEW OF COMPLAINTS.—Nothing in this section shall supersede or preempt the de novo review of complaints filed under section 555 of title 5, United States Code.

(h) CONFIDENTIALITY OF MEDICAL RECORDS.—Any claimant may designate any record submitted under this section as a confidential personal or medical file for purposes of section 552 of title 5, United States Code. The Administrator and the Chairman of the Asbestos Insurers Commission shall adopt procedures for designating such records as confidential.

SEC. 102. ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON ASBESTOS DISEASE COMPENSATION.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 120 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator shall establish an Advisory Committee on Asbestos Disease Compensation (hereinafter the "Advisory Committee").

(b) COMPOSITION AND APPOINTMENT.—The Advisory Committee shall be composed of 20 members, appointed as follows—

(A) The Majority and Minority Leaders of the Senate, the Speaker of the House, and the Minority Leader of the House shall each appoint 4 members. Of the 4—

(i) 2 shall be selected to represent the interests of potential claimants, 1 of whom shall be selected from among individuals recommended by recognized national labor federations; and

(ii) 2 shall be selected to represent the interests of claimants, 1 of whom shall be selected from among individuals who, for each of the 5 years before their appointments, earned more than 15 percent of their income by serving in matters related to asbestos litigation as consultants or expert witnesses.

(B) The Administrator shall appoint 4 members. Of the 4—

(i) 2 shall be selected to represent the interests of the insurer participants and 1 of whom shall be selected from among representatives of insurance companies, financial services or investment managers. None of the members first appointed under subsection (a)(2)(B) shall be individuals who, for each of the 5 years before their appointments, earned more than 15 percent of their income by serving in matters related to asbestos litigation as consultants or expert witnesses.

(c) OPERATION OF THE COMMITTEE.—

(1) Each member of the Advisory Committee shall be appointed for a term of 3 years, except that, of the members first appointed—

(A) 6 shall be appointed for a term of 1 year;

(B) 7 shall be appointed for a term of 2 years; and

(C) 7 shall be appointed for a term of 3 years, as determined by the Administrator at the time of appointment.

(2) Any member appointed to fill a vacancy occurring after the expiration of the term shall be appointed only for the remainder of such term.

(3) The Administrator shall designate a Chairperson and Vice Chairperson from among members of the Advisory Committee appointed under subsection (a)(2).

(4) The Advisory Committee shall meet at the call of the Chairperson or the majority of its members, and at a minimum shall meet at least 4 times per year during the first 5 years of the asbestos compensation program, and at least 2 times per year thereafter.

(5) The Administrator shall provide to the Committee such information as is necessary and appropriate for the Committee to carry out its responsibilities under this section. The Administrator may, upon request of the Advisory Committee, secure directly from any Federal, State, or local department or agency such information as may be necessary and appropriate to enable the Advisory Committee to perform its duties under this section. Upon request of the Administrator, the head of such department or agency shall furnish such information to the Advisory Committee.

(6) The Administrator shall provide the Advisory Committee with such administrative support as is reasonably necessary to enable it to perform its duties.

(d) EXPENSES.—Members of the Advisory Committee, other than full-time employees of the United States, while attending meetings of the Advisory Committee or while otherwise serving at the request of the Administrator, and while serving away from their homes and places of business, shall be allowed travel and meal expenses, including per diem in lieu of subsistence, as authorized by section 5703 of title 5, United States Code, for individuals in the Government serving without pay.

SEC. 103. MEDICAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—The Administrator shall establish a Medical Advisory Committee to provide expert advice regarding medical issues arising under the statute.

(b) QUALIFICATIONS.—The members of the Medical Advisory Committee shall be individuals who, for each of the 5 years before their appointments, earned more than 15 percent of their income by serving in matters related to asbestos litigation as consultants or expert witnesses.

SEC. 104. CLAIMANT ASSISTANCE.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—Not later than 120 days after the enactment of this Act, the Administrator shall establish a comprehensive asbestos claimant assistance program to—

(1) publicize and provide information to potential claimants about the availability of benefits for eligible claimants under this Act, and the procedures for filing claims and for obtaining assistance in filing claims;

(2) provide assistance to potential claimants in preparing and submitting claims, including assistance in obtaining the documentation necessary to support a claim and any other appropriate paralegal assistance;

(3) respond to inquiries from claimants and potential claimants;

(4) provide training with respect to the applicable procedures for the preparation and filing of claims to persons who provide assistance or representation to claimants; and

(5) provide for the establishment of a website where claimants may access all relevant forms and information.

(b) DUTIES.—The claimant assistance program shall provide for the establishment of resource centers in areas where there are determined to be large concentrations of potential claimants. These centers shall be located, to the extent feasible, in facilities of the Department of Labor or other Federal agencies.

(c) CONTRACTS.—The claimant assistance program may be carried out in part through contracts with labor organizations, community-based organizations, and other entities which represent or provide services to potential claimants, except that such organizations may not have a financial interest in the outcome of claims filed with the Office.

(d) LEGAL ASSISTANCE.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—As part of the program established under subsection (a), the Administrator shall establish a program to provide assistance to asbestos claimants concerning legal representation issues.

(2) LIST OF QUALIFIED ATTORNEYS.—As part of the program, the Administrator shall maintain a roster of qualified attorneys who have agreed to provide pro bono services to asbestos claimants under rules established by the Administrator. The claimants shall not be required to use the attorneys listed on such roster.

(e) NOTICE.—

(A) NOTICE BY ADMINISTRATOR.—The Administrator shall provide asbestos claimants with notice of, and information related to—

(i) pro bono services for legal assistance available to those claimants; and

(ii) any limitations on attorneys fees for claims filed under this title.

(B) NOTICE BY ATTORNEYS.—Before a person becomes a client of an attorney with respect to an asbestos claim, that attorney shall provide the pro bono service of legal assistance available for that claim.

(f) ATTORNEYS’ FEES.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding any contract, the representative of an individual may not receive, for services rendered in connection with the claim of an individual under the Fund, more than 5 percent of a final monetary award made (whether by the Administrator initially or as a result of an administrative review) under the Fund on such claim.

(B) REVIEW OF PROPOSED DECISION.
(i) REASONABLE PER. — If an individual seeks a review of a proposed decision in accordance with section 114(d) and is awarded compensation, the representative of such individual may, if any payment for services rendered subject to the limitation described under subparagraph (A), obtain a reasonable attorney fee from any compensation recovered by the individual.
(ii) CALCULATION OF REASONABLE FEE. — Any fee obtained under clause (i) shall be calculated by multiplying a reasonable hourly rate by the number of hours reasonably expended on the claim of the individual.

(III) REQUIREMENTS FOR COMPENSATION. — A representative of an individual shall not be eligible to receive a fee under clause (i), unless—
(I) such representation submits to the Administrator detailed contemporaneous billing records for any work actually performed in the course of representation of an individual;
(II) the Administrator finds, based on billing records submitted by the representative under subclause (I), that the work for which compensation is sought was reasonably performed and that the requested hourly fee is reasonable; and
(III) the claimant seeking a review of a proposed decision has been awarded a monetary compensation by the Administrator.

(iv) NO FEI FOR NO COMPENSATION. — If the claimant is denied any compensation after review of the claim, the claimant’s representative may not receive a fee from either the claimant or the Fund.

(2) PENALTY. — Any representative of an asbestos claimant who violates this subsection shall be fined not more than the greater of—
(A) $5,000; or
(B) twice the amount received by the representative for services rendered in connection with each such violation.

SEC. 105. PHYSICIANS PANELS.
(a) APPOINTMENT. — The Administrator shall, in accordance with section 3109 of title 5, United States Code, appoint physicians with experience and competency in diagnosing asbestos-related diseases to be available to serve on Physicians Panels, as necessary to carry out this Act.

(b) FORMATION OF PANELS. —
(I) IN GENERAL. — The Administrator shall periodically determine—
(A) the number of Physicians Panels necessary for the efficient conduct of the medical review process under section 121;
(B) the number of members of each Physicians Panel necessary for the efficient conduct of the exceptional medical claims process under section 121; and
(C) the particular expertise necessary for each panel.

(2) EXPERIENCE. — Each Physicians Panel shall be composed of members having the particular expertise determined necessary by the Administrator, randomly selected from among the physicians appointed under subsection (a) having such expertise.

(PA) PNL. — Except as provided under subparagraph (B), each Physicians Panel shall consist of 3 physicians, 2 of whom shall be designated to participate in each case submitted to the Physicians Panel, and the third of whom shall be consulted in the event of disagreement.

(C) TO BE ELIGIBLE TO SERVE. — To be eligible to serve on a Physicians Panel under subsection (a), a person shall be—
(1) a physician licensed in any State;
(2) board-certified in pulmonary medicine, occupational medicine, internal medicine, oncology, or pathology; and
(3) an individual who, for each of the 5 years before and during his or her appointment to a Physicians Panel, has earned not more than 15 percent of his or her income as a libel firm representing any party in asbestos litigation or as a consultant or expert witness in matters related to asbestos litigation.

(d) DUTIES. — Members of a Physicians Panel shall—
(1) make such medical determinations as are required to be made by Physicians Panels under section 121; and
(2) perform such other functions as required under this Act.

(e) COMPENSATION. — Notwithstanding any limitation otherwise established under section 3109 of title 5, United States Code, the Administrator shall be authorized to pay members of a Physician Panel such compensation as is reasonably necessary to obtain their services.

(f) FEDERAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE ACT. — A Physicians Panel established under this section shall not be subject to the Federal Advisory Committee Act (5 U.S.C. App. 2).

SEC. 106. PROGRAM STARTUP.
(a) IMMEDIATE. —
(I) IN GENERAL. — Subject to section 101(d), the Administrator may—
(A) start receiving, reviewing, and deciding claims immediately upon the date of enactment of this Act; and
(B) reimburse the Department of Labor from the Fund for any expense incurred—
(1) before the date of promulgation for preparing or carrying out any of the responsibilities of the Administrator under this Act; and
(2) during the 60-day period following that date of enactment to carry out such responsibilities.

(2) INTERIM REGULATIONS. — Not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator shall promulgate interim regulations and procedures for the operation of the program, including procedures for the expediting of terminal health claims, and processing of claims through the claims facility.

(b) INTERIM CONTRACTING. —
(1) IN GENERAL. — The Secretary of Labor and the Assistant Secretary of Labor for the Employment Standards Administration shall make available to the Administrator, on a temporary basis such personnel and other resources as may be necessary to facilitate the expeditious startup of the program. The Administrator may add in contract with individuals or entities having relevant experience to assist in the expeditious startup of the program including entering into contracts on an expedited basis during the startup period for the purpose of processing claims or providing financial analysis or assistance. Such relevant experience shall include, but not be limited to, experience with the review of workers’ compensation, occupational disease, or similar claims and with financial matters relevant to the operation of the program.

(c) TERMINAL HEALTH CLAIMS. —
(1) IN GENERAL. — The Administrator shall develop procedures, as provided in section 106(f), to expedite procedures to categorize, evaluate, and pay terminal health claims. Such procedures, as provided in section 106(f), shall include, pending promulgation of final regulations, adoption of interim regulations as needed for processing of terminal health claims.

(d) ELIGIBLE TERMINAL HEALTH CLAIMS. — A claim shall qualify for treatment as a terminal health claim if—
(A) the claimant is living and provides a diagnosis or medical report by a physician licensed in any State that—
(i) a physician licensed in any State;
(ii) board-certified in pulmonary medicine, occupational medicine, internal medicine, oncology, or pathology; and
(iii) an individual who, for each of the 5 years before and during his or her appointment to a Physicians Panel, has earned not more than 15 percent of his or her income as a libel firm representing any party in asbestos litigation or as a consultant or expert witness in matters related to asbestos litigation.

(iv) DUTIES. — Members of a Physicians Panel shall—
(A) make such medical determinations as are required to be made by Physicians Panels under section 121; and
(B) perform such other functions as required under this Act.

(v) COMPENSATION. — Notwithstanding any limitation otherwise established under section 3109 of title 5, United States Code, the Administrator shall be authorized to pay members of a Physician Panel such compensation as is reasonably necessary to obtain their services.

(vi) FEDERAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE ACT. — A Physicians Panel established under this section shall not be subject to the Federal Advisory Committee Act (5 U.S.C. App. 2).

(e) INORIZATION. — In final regulations promulgated under section 101(c), designate additional categories of claims that qualify as terminal health claims under this subsection, except that exceptional medical claims may not proceed.

(f) CLAIMS FACILITY. — To facilitate the prompt payment of terminal health claims processed through the Fund, the Administrator shall—
(I) start receiving, reviewing, and deciding claims immediately upon the date of enactment of this Act, except that exceptional medical claims may not proceed;
(II) have all the authority conferred by this Act on the Administrator; and
(III) return to the tort system any money used to process claims.

(g) PRIORITIZATION. — The Administrator shall, in final regulations promulgated under section 101(c), designate categories of claims to be handled on an expedited basis. The Administrator shall prioritize the processing of health claims involving claimants with the most serious health claims. The Administrator shall also prioritize claims from claimants who face extreme financial hardship.

(h) INTERIM ADMINISTRATOR. — Until an Administrator is appointed and confirmed under section 101(b), the responsibilities of the Administrator under this Act shall be performed by the Assistant Secretary of Labor for the Employment Standards Administration, who shall have all the authority conferred by this Act on the Administrator and who shall be deemed to be the Administrator for purposes of this Act. Before final regulations being promulgated relating to the processing of claims, the Interim Administrator may prioritize claims processing, with regard to the time requirements prescribed in statute II of this title, based on severity of illness and likelihood that exposure to asbestos may be a substantial contributing factor to the illness in question.

(f) STAY OF CLAIMS. — Return to Tort System.
(1) STAY OF CLAIMS. — Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, any asbestos claim pending on the date of enactment of this Act, other than a claim to which section 101(a) applies or as otherwise provided in section 101(b), stayed.

(2) TERMINAL HEALTH CLAIMS. —
A listing of established under subclause (I) shall contain a notice of their intent to seek a settlement or shall file their exempt health claim with the Administrator or claims facility. Filing of an exempt health claim with the Administrator or claims facility may serve as notice of intent to seek a settlement.

(ii) EXCEPTION.—Any person who seeks compensation for an exempt health claim from a trust in accordance with section 402(f) shall not be eligible to seek a settlement or offer under this paragraph.

(iii) WITHholder CLAIM INFORMATION.—To file a terminal health claim, each individual shall provide all of the following information:

(I) The amount received or entitled to be received as a result of all collateral source compensation under section 134, and copies of all settlement agreements and related documents sufficient to show the accuracy of that amount.

(II) A description of any claims for compensation against the asbestos-related disease filed by the claimant with any trust or class action trust, and the status or disposition of any such claims.

(III) All information that the claimant would be required to provide to the Administrator in support of a claim under sections 113(c) and 121.

(iv) A certification by the claimant that the information provided is true and complete. The certification provided under this subclause shall be subject to the same penalties, including statutory penalties, that would be applicable with regard to information provided to the Administrator or claims facility.

(V) For terminal health claims arising after the date of enactment of this Act, the claimant shall identify each defendant that would be the appropriate defendant in a civil action seeking damages for the asbestos claim of the claimant. Identification of all potential participants shall be made in good faith by the claimant.

(v) TIMING.—A claimant who has filed a notice of their intent to seek a settlement under clause (i) shall within 60 days after filing the notice, provide to the Administrator or claims facility the information required under clause (iii). If a claimant has filed an exempt health claim under clause (ii) the Administrator shall provide all affected defendants the information required under clause (iii).

(vi) WEBSITE.—The Administrator or claims facility shall post the information described in subclause (II) to a secure website, accessible on a password-protected basis to participants of the trust.

(II) REQUIRED INFORMATION.—The website established under subclause (I) shall contain a listing of—

(aa) each claimant that has filed a notice of intent to seek a settlement or claim under this clause;

(bb) the name of such claimant; and

(cc) if applicable—

(A) the name of the court where such claim was filed;

(B) the case or docket number of such claim; and

(C) the date such claim was filed.

(iii) PROHIBITIONS.—The website established under subclause (I) shall not contain any specific health or medical information or social security numbers.

(iv) PARTICIPANT ACCESS.—A participant’s access to the information established under subclause (I) shall be limited on a need to know basis, and participants shall not disclose or use the information for purposes other than paying an asbestos claim.

(v) VIOLATIONS.—Any person or other entity that violates any provision of this clause, truncatedly, shall be subject to injunction, or civil penalties, or both.

(vi) ADMINISTRATOR OR CLAIMS FACILITY CERTIFICATION OF SETTLEMENT.—

(I) DETERMINATION.—Within 60 days after the information under clause (iii) is provided, the Administrator or claims facility shall determine the eligibility of such claim.

(ii) CERTIFICATION OF SETTLEMENT.—The certification provided under this subclause (I) shall be limited on a need to know basis, and participants shall not disclose or use the information for purposes other than paying an asbestos claim.

(iii) REQUIREMENTS MGT.—If the Administrator or claims facility determines that the claim meets the requirements of a terminal health claim, the Administrator or claims facility shall immediately certify the claim.

(iv) REQUIREMENTS NOT MGT.—If the requirements under clause (ii) are not met, the claimant shall have 30 days to perfect the claim. If the claimant fails to perfect the claim within that 30-day period or the Administrator or claims facility determines that the claim does not meet the requirements of a terminal health claim, the claim shall not be eligible to proceed under this paragraph.

(v) Filing.—If the Administrator or claims facility fails to provide such notice within 10 days as a certified terminal health claim, the Administrator or claims facility shall list all terminal health claims for which notice has not been provided under this clause on the website established under clause (v).

(x) SETTLEMENT OFFER.—Any participant or participants may, within 30 days after receiving such notice, offer clause (vii) or (viii), file and serve on all parties and the Administrator a good faith settlement offer in an aggregate amount not to exceed the total amount to which the claimant would receive under section 131. If the aggregate amount offered by all participants exceeds the award determined by the Administrator under clause (vii) or (viii), the offer shall be pro rata until the aggregate amount equals the award amount. An acceptance of such settlement offer shall be subject to approval by the trial judge or authorized magistrate in the court where the claim is pending. If the court determines that such settlement offer is not acceptable offer within 20 days after a request, unless there is evidence of bad faith or fraud. No court approval is necessary if the terminal health claim was certified by the Administrator or claims facility under clause (vi).

(xi) OPPORTUNITY TO CURE.—If the settlement offer is rejected for being less than what the claimant would receive under the Fund, the Administrator, claims facility, or participants equals 100 percent of what the claimant would receive under the Fund, the claimant shall accept such settlement offer in writing.

(xii) PAYMENT SCHEDULE.—

(I) MEOSOTHELIOMA CLAIMANTS.—For mesothelioma claimants—

(aa) an initial payment of 50 percent shall be made within 30 days after date the settlement is accepted or offered; and the second and final payment shall be made 6 months after date the settlement is accepted; or

(bb) if the Administrator determines that the payment schedule would impose a severe financial hardship on the Fund, if the court determines that the settlement offer would impose a severe financial hardship on the participant, the offer may be extended 50 percent in 6 months and 50 percent 11 months after the date the settlement offer is accepted.

(xii) TERMINAL CLAIMANTS.—For other terminal claimants, as defined under section 106(c)(2)(B) and (C)—

(aa) the initial payment of 50 percent shall be made within 6 months after date the settlement is accepted and the second and final payment shall be made 12 months after date the settlement is accepted; or

(bb) if the Administrator determines that the payment schedule would impose a severe financial hardship on the Fund, if the court determines that the settlement offer would impose a severe financial hardship on the participant, the payments may be extended 50 percent within 1 year after the date the settlement offer is accepted and 50 percent in 2 years after date the settlement offer is accepted.

(III) RELEASE.—Once a claimant has received the final determination of the settlement of the claim, the claimant shall not have any rights to claim against the Fund or claims facility.

5. NONOPERATIONAL FUND.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, if the Administrator subsequently issues a nonoperational certification and notifies Congress that the Fund has become operational and pay all valid asbestos claims at 70 percent, all asbestos claims have been stayed or not filed may be filed or reopened in the appropriate Federal or State court.

6. RESERVATION OF RIGHTS.—Except as othewise provided in this Act, participation in the settlement and settlement process shall not affect or prejudice any rights or defenses a party might have in any litigation.

SEC. 107. AUTHORITY OF THE ADMINISTRATOR.
The Administrator, on any matter within the jurisprudence of the Administrator under this Act, may:

(a) request assistance from other Federal agencies with the performance of the duties of the Administrator under this Act.

Subitle B—Asbestos Disease Compensation

PROCEDURES

SEC. 111. ESSENTIAL ELEMENTS OF ELIGIBLE CLAIM.
To be eligible for an award under this Act for an asbestos-related disease or injury, an individual shall:

(1) file a claim in a timely manner in accordance with sections 106(c)(2) and 113; and
(2) prove, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the claimant suffers from an eligibility disease or condition, as demonstrated by evidence that meets the requirements established under subtitle C.

SEC. 112. GENERAL RULE CONCERNING NO-FAULT COMPENSATION.
An asbestos claimant shall not be required to demonstrate that the asbestos-related injury for which the claim is being made resulted from the negligence or other fault of any other person.

SEC. 113. FILING OF CLAIMS.
(a) WHO MAY SUBMIT A CLAIM.
(1) IN GENERAL.—Any individual who has suffered from a disease or condition that is believed to meet the requirements established under subtitle C, the personal representative of the individual, if the individual is deceased or incompetent may file a claim with the Office for an award with respect to such injury.

(2) DEFINITION.—In this Act, the term “personal representative” shall have the same meaning as that term is defined in section 194 of title 28 of the Code of Federal Regulations, as in effect on December 31, 2004.

(3) LIMITATION.—A claim may not be filed by any person seeking contribution or in-demnification.

(4) EFFECT OF MULTIPLE INJURIES.—
(a) IN GENERAL.—A claimant who receives an award for an eligible disease or condition shall not be precluded from submitting claims for and receiving additional awards to this title for any higher disease level for which the claimant becomes eligible, subject to appropriate setoffs as provided under section 134.

(b) LIBBY, MONTANA CLAIMS.—
(1) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding subpara-graph (A), if a beneficiary or claimant worsens in condition, as measured by pulmonary function tests, such that a claimant qualifies for a higher nonmalignant level, the claimant shall be eligible for an additional award, at the appropriate level, offsety any award previously paid under this Act, such that a claimant would qualify for Level IV if the claimant satisfies section 121(f)(8), and would qualify for Level V if the claimant provides:

(i) diagnosis of bilateral asbestos related nonmalignant disease;

(ii) evidence of TLC or FVC less than 60 percent; and

(iii) the claimant provides documentation that the claimant has placed a leading, served a discovery response or request for discovery, or taken other action to prosecute the pending asbestos claim within the 3-year period ending May 25, 2006, except that the failure to take such action does not affect the applicability of the special limitations period under subparagraph (A) if the claimant shows either:

1. that prosecution of the claim was stayed during all or part of the 3-year period ending May 25, 2006, by court order or operation of law;

2. that the claimant has taken reasonable steps to prosecute the claim within the 3-year period ending May 25, 2006, and that the period of inactivity is the result of the ordinary, generally applicable procedures or practices of the court in which such asbestos claim was pending.

(c) REQUIRED INFORMATION.—A claim filed under subparagraph (A) shall be in such form, and contain such information in such detail, as the Administrator shall by regulation prescribe. At a minimum, a claim shall include:

1. the name, social security number, gender, date of birth, and, if applicable, date of death of the claimant;

2. information relating to the identity of dependents and beneficiaries of the claimant;

3. an employment history sufficient to establish exposure to asbestos or other particulate matter, accompanied by social security or other payment records or a signed release permitting access to such records;

4. a description of the asbestos exposure of the claimant, including, to the extent known, information on the site, or location of exposure, and duration and intensity of exposure;

5. a description of the tobacco product use history of the claimant, including frequency and duration; and

6. an identification and description of the asbestos-related diseases or conditions of the claimant, accompanied by a written report by the claimant’s physician with medical diagnosis and medical test results necessary to establish eligibility for an award under this Act;

7. a description of any prior pending civil action or arbitration or settlement, judgment, or otherwise; and

8. for any claimant who asserts that he or she is a nonsmoker or an ex-smoker, as defined in section 113(b)(7) for purposes of an award under Malignant Level VI, Malignant Level VII, or Malignant Level VIII, evidence to support the assertion of nonsmoking or ex-smoking, including relevant medical records.

(d) PROPOSED DECISIONS.—The Administrator shall make a determination of eligibility and eligibility for an award under this Act and, if so, the value of the award. In making such determinations, the Administrator shall consider the claim presented by the claimant and any physicians panel or other medical evidence submitted by the claimant to support the claim, the medical determinations of any Physicians Panel to which a claim is referred under section 121, and the results of such investigation as the Administrator may deem necessary to determine whether the claim satisfies the criteria for eligibility established by this Act.

(2) ADDITIONAL EVIDENCE.—The Administrator may request the submission of medical evidence in addition to the minimum required by this section if necessary or appropriate to make a determination of eligibility for an award, in which case the cost of obtaining such additional information or testimony shall be borne by the Administrator.

(b) PROPOSED DECISIONS.—The Administrator shall provide to the claimant (and the claimant’s representative) a proposed decision accepting or rejecting the claim in whole or in part and specifying the amount of the proposed award, if any. The proposed decision shall contain findings of fact and conclusions of law, and shall contain an explanation of the procedures for obtaining review of the proposed decision.

(c) PAYMENTS IF NO TIMELY PROPOSED DECISION.—If the Administrator has received a complete claim and, after the Fund has been certified subject to section 106(b)(3)(E), has not provided a proposed decision to the claimant under subsection (b) within 180 days after the filing of the claim, the claimant shall be entitled to be paid an amount equal to the total of the award under section 133(a)(2). If the Administrator subsequently rejects the claim, the claimant shall be entitled to be paid the amount of proceeds of claim, minus the amount of any prior pending civil action or arbitration or settlement, settlement, judgment, or otherwise; and

(d) REVIEW OF PROPOSED DECISIONS.—

(1) RIGHT TO HEARING.—(A) IN GENERAL.—Any claimant not satisfied with a proposed decision of the Administrator under subsection (b) shall be entitled, as provided in section 113, for purposes of an award under Malignant Level VI, Malignant Level VII, or Malignant Level VIII, evidence to support the assertion of nonsmoking or ex-smoking, including relevant medical records.

(b) DATE OF FILING.—A claim shall be considered to be filed on the date that the claimant mails the claim to the Office, as determined by postmark, or on the date that the claim is received by the Office, whichever is the earliest determinable date.

(c) INCOMPLETE CLAIMS.—(1) A claim filed under subsection (a) is incomplete, the Administrator shall notify the claimant of the information necessary to complete the claim and inform the claimant of such services as may be available through the Claimant Assistance Program established under section 109(b) in further support of that claim.

(2) An incomplete claim shall be suspended until such time as the claimant submits the information necessary to complete the claim. If such information is not received within 1 year after the date of such notification, the claim shall be considered refused.

SEC. 114. ELIGIBILITY DETERMINATIONS AND CLAIM AWARDS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—(1) RESEARCH OF CLAIMS.—The Administrator shall, in accordance with this section, determine whether each claim filed under the Fund or claims facility satisfies the requirements for eligibility for an award under this Act and, if so, the value of the award. In making such determinations, the Administrator shall consider the claim presented by the claimant and any physicians panel or other medical evidence submitted by the claimant to support the claim, the medical determinations of any Physicians Panel to which a claim is referred under section 121, and the results of such investigation as the Administrator may deem necessary to determine whether the claim satisfies the criteria for eligibility established by this Act.

(2) ADDITIONAL EVIDENCE.—The Administrator may request the submission of medical evidence in addition to the minimum required by this section if necessary or appropriate to make a determination of eligibility for an award, in which case the cost of obtaining such additional information or testimony shall be borne by the Administrator.

(b) PROPOSED DECISIONS.—The Administrator shall provide to the claimant (and the claimant’s representative) a proposed decision accepting or rejecting the claim in whole or in part and specifying the amount of the proposed award, if any. The proposed decision shall contain findings of fact and conclusions of law, and shall contain an explanation of the procedures for obtaining review of the proposed decision.

(c) PAYMENTS IF NO TIMELY PROPOSED DECISION.—If the Administrator has received a complete claim and, after the Fund has been certified subject to section 106(b)(3)(E), has not provided a proposed decision to the claimant under subsection (b) within 180 days after the filing of the claim, the claimant shall be entitled to be paid an amount equal to the total of the award under section 133(a)(2). If the Administrator subsequently rejects the claim, the claimant shall be entitled to be paid the amount of proceeds of claim, minus the amount of any prior pending civil action or arbitration or settlement, judgment, or otherwise; and

(d) REVIEW OF PROPOSED DECISIONS.—

(1) RIGHT TO HEARING.—(A) IN GENERAL.—Any claimant not satisfied with a proposed decision of the Administrator under subsection (b) shall be entitled, as provided in section 113, for purposes of an award under Malignant Level VI, Malignant Level VII, or Malignant Level VIII, evidence to support the assertion of nonsmoking or ex-smoking, including relevant medical records.

(b) DATE OF FILING.—A claim shall be considered to be filed on the date that the claimant mails the claim to the Office, as determined by postmark, or on the date that the claim is received by the Office, whichever is the earliest determinable date.

(c) INCOMPLETE CLAIMS.—(1) A claim filed under subsection (a) is incomplete, the Administrator shall notify the claimant of the information necessary to complete the claim and inform the claimant of such services as may be available through the Claimant Assistance Program established under section 109(b) in further support of that claim.

(2) An incomplete claim shall be suspended until such time as the claimant submits the information necessary to complete the claim. If such information is not received within 1 year after the date of such notification, the claim shall be considered refused.
such relevant evidence as the claimant adduces and such other evidence as the representative determines necessary or useful in evaluating the claim.
(2) REPRESENTATION.—
(i) IN GENERAL.—A claimant may request a subpoena but the decision to grant or deny such a request is within the discretion of the representative. The representative may issue subpoenas for the attendance and testimony of witnesses, and for the production of books, records, correspondence, and the other relevant evidence. Subpoenas are issued for documents only if such documents are relevant and cannot be obtained by other means, and for wittnesses only where oral testimony is the best way to ascertain the facts.
(ii) REQUEST.—A claimant may request a subpoena in the context of the hearings. To request a subpoena, the requester shall—
(I) submit the request in writing and send it to the representative as early as possible, but no later than 30 days after the date of the original hearing request; and (ii) explain why the testimony or evidence is directly relevant to the issues at hand, and a best method or opportuty to obtain such evidence because there are no other means by which the documents or testimony could have been obtained.
(iii) ANY PERSON REQUIRED BY SUBPOENA TO ATTEND AS A WITNESS SHALL BE ALLOWED THE SAME FEES AND MILEAGE AS ARE PAID WITNESSES IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES. SUCH FEES AND MILEAGE SHALL BE PAID FROM THE FUND.
(2) REVIEW OF WRITTEN RECORD.—In lieu of a hearing under paragraph (1), any claimant not satisfied with a proposed decision of the Administrator shall have the option, on written request made within 90 days after the date of the decision of obtaining a review of the written record by a representative of the Administrator. If such review is requested, the claimant shall be afforsed an opportunity to submit any written evidence or argument which the claimant believes relevant.
(e) FINAL DECISION.—
(1) IN GENERAL.—If the period of time for requesting review of the proposed decision expires and no request has been filed, or if the claimant waives any objections to the proposed decision, the Administrator shall issue a final decision. If such decision materially differs from the proposed decision, the claimant shall be entitled to review of the decision on the claim not later than 180 days after the request for review is received, if the certified B-reader requests review of the written record. Such decision shall be in writing and contain findings of fact and conclusions of law.
(f) REPRESENTATION.—A claimant may authorize an attorney or other individual to represent him or her in any proceeding under this Act.

SEC. 115. AUDITING PROCEDURES.
(a) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator shall develop methods for auditing and evaluating the medical and exposure evidence submitted as part of the claims process. The Administrator may develop additional methods for auditing and evaluating other rele-fant evidence or information received by the Administrator.
(b) REFUSAL TO CONSIDER CERTAIN EVIDENCE.—
(i) IN GENERAL.—If the Administrator determines that an audit conducted in accordance with the methods developed under paragraph (1) demonstrates that the medical evidence submitted by a specific physician or medical facility is not consistent with pre-made requirements of this Act, any medical evidence from such physician or facility shall be unacceptable for purposes of establishing eligibility for an award under this Act.
(ii) REQUEST.—After a determination by the Administrator under subparagraph (A), the Administrator shall notify the physician or facility involved of the results of the audit. Such physician or facility shall have a right to appeal such determination under procedures issued by the Administrator.
(c) SUBMISSION OF VALID EVIDENCE.—Claimants shall be allowed to submit valid evidence if prior evidence is found unacceptable for purposes of establishing eligibility for an award under this Act.
(d) REVIEW OF CERTIFIED B-READERS.—
(i) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator shall prescribe procedures to randomly evaluate the x-rays submitted in support of a statistically significant number of claims by independent certified B-readers, the cost of which shall be paid by the Fund.
(ii) REQUEST.—If the period of time for requesting review of the written record by a representative of the Administrator expires and no request has been filed, or if the Administrator disagrees with the quality grading or ILO grade assigned to an x-ray submitted in support of a claim, the Administrator shall require a review of such x-rays by a second certified B-reader.
(iii) DISAGREEMENT.—If neither certified B-reader assigned under paragraph (1) disagrees with the quality grading or ILO grade assigned to an x-ray as part of the claim, the Administrator shall account the findings of the 2 independent B readers in making the determination on such claim.
(iv) CERTIFIED B-READERS.—The Administrator shall develop methods for auditing procedures for pulmonary function test results submitted as part of a claim, to ensure that such tests are conducted in accordance with American Thoracic Society Criteria, as defin ed under section 1348 of title 18, United States Code.

Subtitle C—Medical Criteria
SEC. 121. MEDICAL CRITERIA REQUIREMENTS.
(a) DEFINITIONS.—In this section, the following definitions apply:
(1) ASBESTOS DETERMINED BY PATHOL-OGY.—The term ‘‘asbestos determined by pathology’’ means significant evidence as to whether asbestos is present based on the pathological grading system for asbestos described in the Special Issues of the Archives of Pathology and Laboratory Medicine, ‘‘Asbestos-associated Diseases’, Vol.
130, No. 11, App. 3 (October 8, 1986).
(2) BILATERAL OR ASBESTOS-RELATED NON-MALIGNANT DISEASE.—The term ‘‘bilateral or asbestos-related nonmalignant disease’’ means a condition other than Malignant Level non-malignant disease based on — (A) a bilateral x-ray reading of 1.0 or higher based on the ILO grade scale;
— (B) bilateral pleural plaques;
— (C) bilateral pleural thickening;
— (D) bilateral pleural calcification.
(3) BILATERAL PLEURAL DISEASE OF R2.—The term ‘‘bilateral pleural thickening’’ means a condition in which the pleural capsule is thickened symmetrically on both sides.
(4) CERTIFIED B-READER.—’’Certified B-reader’’ means an individual who is certified by the National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health to perform the specific duties of a B-reader under the requirements of section 101(c)(2).
(5) DFUSIVE PLEURAL THICKENING.—The term ‘‘diffuse pleural thickening’’ means blunting of either costophrenic angle and bilateral pleural plaque or bilateral pleural thickening.
(6) ILO.—The term ‘‘ILO’’ means the descriptive criteria developed by the Institute for Work Related Pulmonary Disorders.
(7) FEV1.—The term ‘‘FEV1’’ means forced expiratory volume in 1 second, which is the maximal volume of air expelled in 1 second during performance of the spirometric test for forced vital capacity.
(8) VC.—The term ‘‘VC’’ means vital capacity, which is the maximal volume of air expired with a maximally forced effort from a position of maximal inspiration.
(9) ILO GRADE.—The term ‘‘ILO grade’’ means the radiological ratings for the presence of lung changes as determined from a chest x-ray, all as established from time to time by the International Labor Organization.

(10) LOWER LIMITS OF NORMAL.—The term ‘lower normal limits of normal’ means the five percentile of healthy populations as defined in the American Thoracic Society statement on lung function testing (Amer. Rev. Resp. Disease 1987, 135:840-847) and any future revision of the same statement.

(11) Nonsmoker.—The term ‘nonsmoker’ means a claimant who—

(A) has never smoked; or

(B) has smoked fewer than 100 cigarettes or the equivalent amount of other tobacco products during his or her lifetime, and has not smoked within the 30 days immediately preceding the date the claim was filed.

(12) PO2.—The term ‘PO2’ means the partial pressure (tension) of oxygen, which measures the amount of dissolved oxygen in the blood.

(13) PULMONARY FUNCTION TESTING.—The term ‘pulmonary function testing’ means spirometry testing that is in material compliance with the quality criteria established by the American Thoracic Society and is performed on equipment which is in material compliance with the standards of the American Society for Technical quality and calibration.

(14) SUBSTANTIAL OCCUPATIONAL EXPOSURE TO ASBESTOS.

(A) IN GENERAL.—The term ‘substantial occupational exposure’ means employment in an industry and an occupation where for a substantial portion of a normal work year for that occupation, the claimant—

(i) handled raw asbestos fibers;

(ii) fabricated asbestos-containing products so that the claimant in the fabrication process was exposed to raw asbestos fibers;

(iii) altered, repaired, or otherwise worked with an asbestos-containing product such that the claimant was exposed on a regular basis to asbestos fibers; or

(iv) worked in close proximity to other workers engaged in the activities described under clause (i), (ii), or (iii), such that the claimant was exposed on a regular basis to asbestos fibers.

(B) REGULAR BASIS.—In this paragraph, the term ‘on a regular basis’ means on a frequent or recurring basis.

(15) TLC.—The term ‘TLC’ means total lung capacity, which is the total volume of air in the lung after maximal inspiration.

(16) WEIGHTED OCCUPATIONAL EXPOSURE.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The term ‘weighted occupational exposure’ means the equivalent amount of other tobacco products during his or her lifetime, and has not smoked within the 30 days immediately preceding the date the claim was filed.

(B) DETAILED RESULTS OF PULMONARY FUNCTION TESTING.—Subject to subparagraph (E), each year that a claimant’s primary occupation, during a substantial portion of a normal work year for that occupation, involved the direct installation, repair, or removal of asbestos-containing products such that the person was exposed on a regular basis to asbestos fibers, shall count as 2 years of substantial occupational exposure.

(C) HEAVY EXPOSURE.—Subject to subparagraph (E), each year that a claimant’s primary occupation, during a substantial portion of a normal work year for that occupation, involved the direct installation, repair, or removal of asbestos-containing products such that the person was exposed on a regular basis to asbestos fibers, shall count as 2 years of substantial occupational exposure.

(D) LOWER LIMITS OF NORMAL.—The term ‘lower normal limits of normal’ means the five percentile of healthy populations as defined in the American Thoracic Society statement on lung function testing (Amer. Rev. Resp. Disease 1987, 135:840-847) and any future revision of the same statement.

(E) SUBJECT TO.—Subject to subparagraph (E), each year that a claimant’s primary occupation, during a substantial portion of a normal work year for that occupation, involved the direct installation, repair, or removal of asbestos-containing products such that the person was exposed on a regular basis to asbestos fibers, shall count as 2 years of substantial occupational exposure.

(17) X-RAY.—The term ‘x-ray’ means exposure for a duration that is documented exposures in similar jobs or occupations where control measures had not been implemented. Claims under this subparagraph shall be evaluated on an individual basis.

(18) MEDICAL EVIDENCE.—

(a) General.—A claimant may alternatively satisfy the medical criteria requirement under this section.

(b) OTHER PROOF.—Exposure to asbestos may alternatively be established by invoices, construction or other similar records, or any other reasonably reliable and credible evidence.

(c) ADDITIONAL EVIDENCE.—The Administrator may require submission of other or additional evidence of exposure, if available, for a particular claim when determined necessary, as part of the minimum information required under section 113(c).

(d) EVALUATION.—The Administrator shall process the procedures necessary to evaluate the affidavits submitted to satisfy the exposure requirements for any disease level.

(e) TAKE HOME EXPOSURE.—Except for claims for disease Levels I through V, the claimant or his or her legal representative may take home exposure with no exception medical claim medical claim review, for review by a Physician's Panel.

(f) WAIVER.—The Administrator may, in his or her discretion, waive the exposure requirements under this section for individuals who worked at the vermiculite mining and milling facility in Libby, Montana, or within a 20-mile radius of Libby, Montana, for at least 12 consecutive months before December 31.
2004. Claimants under this section shall pro-provide such supporting documentation as the Administrator shall require.

(5) EXPOSURE PRESUMPTIONS.—
(A) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator shall prescribe rules identifying specific industries, occupations, or time periods in which workers employed in those industries, occupations, or time periods had substantial occupational exposure to asbastos as defined under section 121(a). Until 5 years after the Administrator certifies that the Federal OSHA has established such rules, the Administrator shall adopt from the findings of the Institute of Medicine.
(B) EXPOSURE REFINEMENTS AND ASSESSMENTS.—
The Administrator may, by rule, modify or eliminate those exposure presumptions as necessary.

(6) PENALTIES FOR FALSE STATEMENT.—Any claimant who submits false information under this subsection shall be subject to section 1348 of this title, United States Code (as added by this Act).

(7) ADMINISTRATIVE EXPOSURE DETERMINATIONS.— (A) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator shall prescribe rules and regulations necessary to administer this section.
(B) EXPOSURE GUIDELINES.—The Administrator may not prescribe rules and regulations under this subsection that provide for adoption of the guidelines in section 121(b)(2), except to the extent that such guidance provides less stringent standards for determining exposure than standards set by the Institute of Medicine.

(1) NONMALIGNANT LEVEL I.—To receive Level I compensation, a claimant shall provide—
(A) a diagnosis of bilateral asbestos-related nonmalignant disease; and
(B) evidence of 5 years cumulative occupational exposure to asbestos.

(2) NONMALIGNANT LEVEL II.—To receive Level II compensation, a claimant shall provide—
(A) a diagnosis of bilateral asbestos-related nonmalignant disease with ILO grade of 1/1
or greater; or
(B) evidence of 5 or more weighted years of substantial occupational exposure to asbesotos.

(3) NONMALIGNANT LEVEL III.—To receive Level III compensation a claimant shall provide—
(A) a diagnosis of bilateral asbestos-related nonmalignant disease with ILO grade of 1/0
or greater; or
(B) evidence of 15 or more weighted years of substantial occupational exposure to asbesotos; and
(C) supporting medical documentation, such as a written opinion by the examining physician, according to the diagnostic guidelines in section 121(b)(2), es-

(4) NONMALIGNANT LEVEL IV.—To receive Level IV compensation a claimant shall provide—
(A) a diagnosis of bilateral asbestos-related nonmalignant disease with ILO grade of 1/1
or greater and showing small irregular opac-ties of shape or size, either ss, st, or tt, and (F) evidence of TLC less than 50 percent or FVC less than 60 percent, and FEV1/FVC ratio greater than or equal to 65 percent;
(G) evidence of a decline in FVC of 20 percent or greater, after allowing for the expected decrease due to aging, and an FEV1/FVC ratio greater than or equal to 65 percent documented with a second spirometry;
(H) evidence of 5 or more weighted years of substantial occupational exposure to asbesotos; and
(I) establishing asbestos exposure as a substantial contributing factor in causing the pulmonary condition in question.

(5) NONMALIGNANT LEVEL V.—To receive Level V compensation a claimant shall provide—
(A) a diagnosis of bilateral asbestos-related nonmalignant disease with ILO grade of 1/0
or greater and showing small irregular opac-ties of shape or size, either ss, st, or tt, and prescribed by the claimant, before diagnosis;
(B) evidence of TLC less than 50 percent or FVC less than 60 percent, and FEV1/FVC ratio greater than or equal to 65 percent;
(C) evidence of 10 or more weighted years of substantial occupational exposure to asbesotos; and
(D) supporting medical documentation, such as a written opinion by the examining physician, according to the diagnostic guidelines in section 121(b)(2), est-

(6) MALIGNANT LEVEL VI.—
(A) IN GENERAL.—To receive Level VI compensation a claimant shall provide—
(i) a diagnosis of a primary lung cancer disease on the basis of findings by a board-certified pathologist;

(2) NONMALIGNANT LEVEL II.—To receive Level II compensation, a claimant shall provide—
(A) a diagnosis of bilateral asbestos-related nonmalignant disease; and
(B) evidence of 5 years cumulative occupational exposure to asbestos.

(3) NONMALIGNANT LEVEL III.—To receive Level III compensation a claimant shall provide—
(A) a diagnosis of bilateral asbestos-related nonmalignant disease with ILO grade of 1/0
or greater; or
(B) evidence of 15 or more weighted years of substantial occupational exposure to asbesotos; and
(C) supporting medical documentation, such as a written opinion by the examining physician, according to the diagnostic guidelines in section 121(b)(2), es-

(4) NONMALIGNANT LEVEL IV.—To receive Level IV compensation a claimant shall provide—
(A) a diagnosis of bilateral asbestos-related nonmalignant disease with ILO grade of 1/1
or greater and showing small irregular opac-ties of shape or size, either ss, st, or tt, and prescribed by the claimant, before diagnosis;
(B) evidence of TLC less than 50 percent or FVC less than 60 percent, and FEV1/FVC ratio greater than or equal to 65 percent;
(C) evidence of 10 or more weighted years of substantial occupational exposure to asbesotos; and
(D) supporting medical documentation, such as a written opinion by the examining physician, according to the diagnostic guidelines in section 121(b)(2), est-

(5) NONMALIGNANT LEVEL V.—To receive Level V compensation a claimant shall provide—
(A) a diagnosis of bilateral asbestos-related nonmalignant disease with ILO grade of 1/0
or greater and showing small irregular opac-ties of shape or size, either ss, st, or tt, and prescribed by the claimant, before diagnosis;
(B) evidence of TLC less than 50 percent or FVC less than 60 percent, and FEV1/FVC ratio greater than or equal to 65 percent;
(C) evidence of 10 or more weighted years of substantial occupational exposure to asbesotos; and
(D) supporting medical documentation, such as a written opinion by the examining physician, according to the diagnostic guidelines in section 121(b)(2), est-

(6) MALIGNANT LEVEL VI.—
(A) IN GENERAL.—To receive Level VI compensation a claimant shall provide—
(i) a diagnosis of a primary lung cancer disease on the basis of findings by a board-certified pathologist;

(7) MALIGNANT LEVEL VII.—
(A) IN GENERAL.—To receive Level VII compensation, a claimant shall provide—
(i) a diagnosis of a primary lung cancer disease on the basis of findings by a board-certified pathologist;

(8) MALIGNANT LEVEL VIII.—
(A) IN GENERAL.—To receive Level VIII compensation, a claimant shall provide a diagnostic guidelines in section 121(b)(2), est-

(9) MALIGNANT LEVEL IX.—
(A) IN GENERAL.—To receive Level IX compensation a claimant shall provide—
(i) a diagnosis of a primary lung cancer disease on the basis of findings by a board-certified pathologist;

(10) MALIGNANT LEVEL X.—
(A) IN GENERAL.—To receive Level X compensation, a claimant shall provide—
(i) a diagnosis of a primary lung cancer disease on the basis of findings by a board-certified pathologist;
(i) of a primary lung cancer disease on the basis of findings by a board-certified pathologist; (ii) of—

(a) a disease based on a chest x-ray of at least 1/0 on the ILO scale and showing small irregular opacities of shape or size, either ss, st, or tt, and present in both lower lung zones and;

(b) 10 or more weighted years of substantial occupational exposure to asbestos;

(III) shall complete a study contracted with the National Academy of Sciences shall complete a study on the basis of findings by a board-certified radiologist and confirmed by a board-certified pathologist; and

(iv) multisystematic medical evidence, such as a written opinion by the examining or diagnosing physician, according to the diagnostic guidelines in section 121(b)(2), established to show a disease related to asbestos exposure as a substantial contributing factor in causing the lung cancer in question; and 10 or more weighted years of substantial occupational exposure to asbestos;

(B) a claimant filing a claim with respect to Level VIII under this section.

(8) LIBBY, MONTANA.—A claimant applying for designation of a claim as an exceptional medical claim.

(a) the Administrator shall be deemed to qualify for Level VIII compensation, a claimant shall provide—

(i) a complete review of the claimant’s medical history and current condition;

(ii) such additional material by way of analysis and documentation as shall be prescribed by the Administrator; and

(iii) a detailed explanation as to why the claim meets the requirements of paragraph (4)(B).

(4) REVIEW.—(A) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator shall refer all applications and supporting documentation submitted under paragraph (2) to a Physicians Panel for review for eligibility as an exceptional medical claim.

(B) STANDARDS.—A claim shall be designated as an exceptional medical claim if the claimant, for reasons beyond the control of the claimant, cannot satisfy the requirements under this section, but is able, in the discretion of the panel, to show that the standards under this section, to show that the claimant has an asbestos-related condition that is substantially comparable to that of a medical condition that would satisfy the requirements of a category under this section.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION.—A Physicians Panel may request additional reasonable testing to support the claimant’s application.

(5) SCAN.—A claimant may submit a CT Scan in addition to an x-ray—

(E) MesoTHELIOMA CASES.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—The claimant shall submit the claim to the Administrator, who shall give due consideration to the recommendation of the Physicians Panel in determining whether the claimant meets the requirements for compensation under this Act.

(6) RESUMPTION.—A claimant whose application for designation as an exceptional medical claim is rejected may resubmit an application for designation as an exceptional medical claim under this section.

RULES.—The Administrator shall promulgate rules governing the procedures for seeking designation of a claim as an exceptional medical claim.

(7) LIBBY, MONTANA.—A Libby, Montana, claimant may elect to have the claimant’s claims designated as exceptional medical claims and refer to a Physicians Panel for review. In reviewing the medical evidence submitted by a Libby, Montana, claimant in support of that claim, the Physicians Panel shall take into consideration the unique and serious nature of asbestos exposure in Libby, Montana, including the nature of the pleural disease related to asbestos exposure in Libby, Montana.

(B) CLAIMS.—For all claims for Levels II through IV filed by Libby, Montana, claimants, as described under subsection (c)(4), the Administrator shall be the Physicians Panel issues a certificate of medical eligibility to a Libby, Montana, claimant, and notwithstanding the disease category designation the certificate of the disease or condition established in accordance with this section, or the value of the award
(A) IN GENERAL.—As part of the ongoing National Asbestos Exposure Review (in this section referred to as “NAER”1) being conducted by the Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry (in this section referred to as “ATSDR”) of facilities that received vermiculite ore from Libby, Montana, the ATSDR shall conduct a study of all Phase 1 sites where:

(1) the Environmental Protection Agency has mandated further action at the site on the basis of current contamination; or

(2) the site was an exfoliation facility that processed roughly 100,000 tons or more of vermiculite ore from Libby, Montana; or

(B) STUDY BY ATSDR.—(i) The study by the ATSDR shall evaluate the facilities identified under subparagraph (A) and compare:

(1) the levels of asbestos emissions from such facilities;

(2) the resulting asbestos contamination in areas surrounding such facilities;

(3) the likelihood of exposure to residents living in the vicinity of such facilities;

(4) the risks of asbestos-related disease to the residents living in the vicinity of such facilities; and

(v) the risk of asbestos-related mortality to residents living in the vicinity of such facilities, to the emissions, contamination, exposures, and risks resulting from the mining of vermiculite ore in Libby, Montana.

(C) RESULTS OF STUDY.—The results of the study required under this paragraph shall be transmitted to the Administrator. If the ATSDR finds as a result of such study that, for any particular facility, the levels of emissions or the likelihood of contamination caused by, the levels of exposure to nearby residents from, and the risks of asbestos-related disease and asbestos-related mortality to nearby residents from such facility are substantially equivalent to those of Libby, Montana, then the Administrator shall treat claims from residents surrounding such facilities in the same manner as those of Libby, Montana, and such residents shall have all the rights of residents of Libby, Montana, under this Act. As part of the results of the study, the ATSDR shall publish guidelines describing the eligibility for and implementation of regulations describing the eligibility for and amount of special adjustments under this paragraph. If a joint proposal is submitted, the Administrator shall promulgate regulations that reflect the joint proposal.

(III) ABSENCE OF JOINT PROPOSAL.—If railroad management and railroad labor are unable to agree on a joint proposal within 45 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the benefits prescribed in subparagraph (E) shall be the benefits available to claimants, and the Administrator shall promulgate regulations containing such benefits.

(IV) REVIEW.—The parties participating in the arbitration may file in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia a petition for review of the Administrator’s order. The court shall have jurisdiction to affirm the order of the Administrator, or to set it aside, in whole or in part. The court may remand the proceedings to the Administrator for such further action as it may direct. On review such the findings and order of the Administrator shall be conclusive on the parties, except that the order of the Administrator may be set aside, in whole or in parts or remanded to the Administrator, for failure of the Administrator to comply with the requirements of this section, for failure of the order to conform, or confine itself, to matters within the scope of the Administrator’s jurisdiction, or for fraud or corruption.

(1) AMOUNT.—(A) IN GENERAL.—(i) The term "nonsmoker" means a claimant described in section 121(d) of this Act, commonly known as the Employers’ Liability Act, for asbestos disease caused by asbestos as described in section 121(d) of this Act, would have received, during the 5-year period before the enactment of this Act, adjusted awards for any other claim under this Act.

(B) IMPLEMENTATION.—Before making adjustments under this paragraph, the Administrator shall publish in the Federal Register notice of, and a plan for, making such adjustments.

(4) SPECIAL ADJUSTMENT FOR FELA CASES.—(A) IN GENERAL.—A claimant eligible under subparagraph (B) of section 102 of the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act (42 U.S.C. 5122), as the result of a natural disaster, shall be entitled to file a claim under the Act of April 22, 1908 (45 U.S.C. 51 et seq.), commonly known as the Employers’ Liability Act, but the Administrator shall not promulgate regulations for special adjustments under this paragraph. amount of the special adjustment shall be reduced by an amount reasonably calculated to take into account all expenses of litigation normally borne by plaintiffs, including attorny fees.
(ii) LIMITATION.—The amount under clause
(i) may not exceed the amount the claimant is eligible to receive before applying the special adjustment under that clause.
(E) ARBITRATED BENEFITS.—If railroad management and railroad labor are unable to agree on a joint proposal within 45 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator shall appoint an arbitrator to determine the benefits under subparagraph (D). The arbitrator who shall so approve the claimant with asymptomatic exposure, based on the criteria under section 121(d)(1), shall consider the following:
(1) the nature of the information submitted to the railroad owner in accordance with the requirements of section 405;
(2) the procedures applicable to asbestos claimants under section 121(b); and
(3) the time for such payments to be made and scheduled to be paid from the Fund.
(f) RELATION TO STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS.—
The filing of a claim under this Act that seeks reimbursement for medical monitoring shall not be considered as evidence that the claimant has discovered facts that would otherwise commence the period applicable for purposes of the statute of limitations under section 113(b).
(g) COSTS.—Reimbursable medical monitoring costs shall include the costs of a claimant not covered by health insurance for an examination by the claimant’s physician, x-ray tests, and pulmonary function tests every 3 years.
(h) REGULATIONS.—The Administrator shall promulgate regulations that establish—
(1) the procedures for medical monitoring that is reimbursable; and
(2) the procedures applicable to asbestos claims.
SEC. 135. PAYMENT.
(a) STRUCTURED PAYMENTS.—
(1) IN GENERAL.—An asbestos claimant who is entitled to an award should receive the amount of the special adjustment through a structured settlement award made over a period of at least 10 years and not to exceed 20 years, without interest, under section 113(b).
(2) PAYMENT PERIOD AND AMOUNT.—
There shall be a presumption that any award made under this subsection shall provide for payment of
(A) 40 percent of the total amount in year 1;
(B) 30 percent of the total amount in year 2; and
(C) 30 percent of the total amount in year 3.
(3) EXTENSION OF PAYMENT PERIOD.—
(A) IN GENERAL.—In order to provide for the payment period of an award under subsection
(a) to be extended to a 4-year period if such action is necessary in order to preserve the overall solvency of the Fund, such guidelines shall include reference to the number of claims made to the Fund and the awards made and scheduled to be paid from the Fund as provided under section 405.
(B) LIMITATIONS.—In no event shall less than 50 percent of an award be paid in the first 2 years of the payment period under this subsection.
(4) LUMP-SUM PAYMENTS.—
(A) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator shall develop guidelines to provide for lump-sum payment to asbestos claimants who are mesothelioma victims and who are alive on the date on which the Administrator receives notice of the eligibility of the claimant.
(B) TIMING OF PAYMENTS.—Lump-sum payments shall be made within the shorter of—
(i) not later than 30 days after the date the claim is approved by the Administrator; or (ii) not later than 6 months after the date the claim is filed.
(C) TIMING OF PAYMENTS TO BE ADJUSTED WITH RESPECT TO SOLVENCY OF THE FUND.—If
the Administrator determines that solvency of the Fund would be severely harmed by the timing of the payments required under sub-paragraph (B), the time for such payments may be extended to the shorter of—
(i) not later than 6 months after the date the claim is approved by the Administrator; or (ii) not later than 11 months after the date the claim is filed.
(b) EXPEDITED PAYMENTS.—
(A) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator shall develop guidelines to provide for expedited payments to asbestos claimants in cases of terminal health claims as described under section 106(c)(2)(B) and (C).
(B) TIMING OF PAYMENTS.—Total payments shall be made within 6 months after the date the claim is approved by the Administrator; or
(i) not later than 6 months after the date the claim is filed.
(C) TIMING OF PAYMENTS TO BE ADJUSTED WITH RESPECT TO SOLVENCY OF THE FUND.—If
the Administrator determines that solvency
of the Fund would be severely harmed by the timing of the payments required under sub-paragraph (B), the time for such payments
may be extended to the shorter of—
(i) not later than 1 year after the date the claim is approved by the Administrator; or (ii) not later than 2 years after the date the claim is filed.
(D) PRIORITY OF CLAIMS.—The Administrator shall, in final regulations promgulized under section 106(c), designate categegories of claims to be handled on an excepted basis. The Administrator shall prioritize the processing and payment of health claims involving claimants with the most serious health risks. The Administrator shall also prioritize claims from claimants who face extreme financial hardship.
(c) ANNULMENT.—An asbestos claimant may elect to receive any payments to which that claimant is entitled under this title in the form of an annuity.
(d) LIMITATION ON TRANSFERABILITY.—A claim filed under this Act shall not be as-signable or otherwise transferable under this Act.
(e) CREDITORS.—An award under this title shall be exempt from all claims of creditors from and levy, execution, and attachment or other remedy for recovery or collection of a debt, and such exemption may not be waived.
(f) MEDICARE AS SECONDARY PAYER.—No award under this title shall be deemed to have been a payment for purposes of section 1922 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395y).
(g) EXEMPT PROPERTY IN ASBESTOS CLA-INT’S BANKRUPTCY CASE.—If an asbestos claimant files a petition for relief under section 301 of title 11, United States Code, no award granted under this Act shall be treated as property of the bankrupt estate of the asbestos claimant in accordance with section 541(b)(6) of title 11, United States Code.
(h) EFFECT OF PAYMENT.—The full payment of an asbestos claim under this section shall be in full satisfaction of such claim and shall be deemed to operate as a release to such claimant of any amounts paid or to be paid to the Administrator for purposes of section 1862 of the Social Security Act.
SEC. 136. SETOFFS FOR COLLATERAL SOURCE COMPENSATION AND PRIOR AWARDS.
(a) IN GENERAL.—The amount of an award otherwise available to an asbestos claimant under this title shall be reduced by the amount of any collateral source compensation, and by any amounts paid or to be paid to the claimant for a prior award under this Act.
(b) EXCLUSIONS.—

(1) COLLATERAL SOURCE COMPENSATION.—In no case shall statutory benefits under workers’ compensation laws, special adjustments made in connection with a conversion or total disability benefits under the Railroad Retirement Act (45 U.S.C. 201 et seq.), sickness benefits under the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act (45 U.S.C. 351 et seq.), and veterans’ benefits programs be deemed as collateral source compensation for purposes of this section.

(2) PRIOR ASBESTOS EXPENDITURES.—Any amounts paid or to be paid for a prior claim for a non-malignant disease (Levels I through V) filed against the Fund shall not be deducted as a setoff for amounts payable for the settlement or judgment, or on behalf of all asbestos claims against that person; and

(b) INCLUDES PAYMENTS MADE BY INSURANCE CARRIERS.—(1) AFFILIATED GROUP.—(A) means a defendant participant that is an ultimate parent and any person whose entire beneficial interest, directly or indirectly, is overruled on appeal and all appeals are

SEC. 135. CERTAIN CLAIMS NOT AFFECTED BY PAYMENT OF AWARDS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The payment of an award under section 106 or 133 shall not be considered a form of compensation or reimbursement for purposes of imposing liability on any asbestos claimant receiving such payment to repay any—

(1) insurance carrier for insurance payment; or

(2) person or governmental entity on account of worker’s compensation, health care, or disability payments.

(b) EFFECT OF PAYMENTS.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to authorize the pursuit of a claim that is preempted under section 403.

TITLE II—ASBESTOS INJURY CLAIMS RESOLUTION FUND

Subtitle A—Asbestos Defendants Funding and Limitation

SEC. 201. DEFINITIONS.

In this subsection, the following definitions shall apply:

(1) AFFILIATED GROUP.—The term “affiliated group” means a defendant participant that is an ultimate parent and any person whose entire beneficial interest is directly or indirectly owned by that ultimate parent on the date of enactment of this Act; and

(b) SHALL NOT INCLUDE ANY PERSON THAT IS A DEFENDANT PARTICIPANT OVER THE LIFE OF THE FUND.—The total payments required of all defendant participants over the life of the Fund shall not exceed a sum equal to the net present value of $90,000,000 less any bankruptcy trust credits under section 22(d). The Administrator shall have the authority to allocate the payments required of the defendant participants among the tiers as provided in this title.

(3) ABILITY TO ENTER REORGANIZATION.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this title, any debtors that, as a result of their direct or indirect majority-owned subsidiaries, have prior asbestos expenditures less than $1,000,000 may proceed with the filing of a plan of reorganization that does not comply with the requirements of this Act, including a trust and channeling injunction under section 524(g) of title 11, United States Code. Any asbestos claim made in conjunction with a plan of reorganization allowable under the preceding sentence shall be subject to the determination described in section 524(g) of this title.

(b) TIER I.—Tier I shall include all debtors that, together with all of their direct or indirect majority-owned subsidiaries, have prior asbestos expenditures greater than $1,000,000.

(c) TREATMENT OF TIER I BUSINESS ENTITIES IN BANKRUPTCY.—(1) DEFINITION.—In this subsection, the term “bankruptcy business entity” means a person that is not a natural person that—

(i) filed a petition for relief under chapter 11 of title 11, United States Code, before January 1, 2003; and

(ii) has not substantially consummated, as such term is defined under section 1121(2) of title 11, United States Code, any reorganization as of the date of enactment of this Act; and

(iii) the bankruptcy court presiding over the bankruptcy business entity’s case determines, after notice and a hearing upon motion filed by the entity within 30 days after the date of enactment of this Act, that asbestos liability is not the sole or contributing cause of the entity’s chapter 11 filing.

(b) MOTION AND RELATED MATTERS.—A motion under subparagraph (A)(iii) shall be supported by—

(i) an affidavit or declaration of the chief executive officer, chief financial officer, or chief legal officer of the bankruptcy business entity; and

(ii) copies of the entity’s public statements and securities filings made in connection with the entity’s filing for chapter 11 protection.

Notice of such motion shall be directed by the bankruptcy court, and the hearing shall be limited to consideration of the question of whether or not asbestos liability was the sole or a contributing cause of the entity’s chapter 11 filing. The bankruptcy court shall hold a hearing and make its determination with respect to the motion within 30 days after the date of the motion is filed. In making its determination, the bankruptcy court shall take into account the affidavits, public statements, and securities filings, and other information, if any, submitted by the entity and all other facts and circumstances presented by an objecting party. Any review of this determination shall be an expedited appeal permitted to the bankruptcy court. If the determination is against the weight of the evidence. Any appeal of a determination shall be an expedited review to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the circuit in which the bankruptcy is filed.

(2) PROCEEDING WITH REORGANIZATION PLAN.—A bankruptcy business entity may proceed with the filing, solicitation, confirmation, and consummation of a plan of reorganization that does not comply with the requirements of this Act, including a trust and channeling injunction described in section 524(g) of title 11, United States Code, notwithstanding any other provisions of this Act, if the bankruptcy court makes a finding to the effect that, if confirmation of a plan of reorganization is overruled on appeal and all appeals are

SEC. 202. AUTHORITY AND TIERS.

(a) LIABILITY FOR PAYMENTS TO THE FUND.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Defendant participants shall be liable to the Fund in accordance with this section based on tiers and sub tiers assigned to defendant participants.

(2) AGGREGATE PAYMENT OBLIGATIONS LEVEL.—The total payments required of all defendant participants over the life of the Fund shall not exceed $436,000,000,000 of such asbestos claims, except as provided in subsection (b).

It is the purpose of this Act to provide for the resolution of asbestos injury claims by establishing a fund for the payment of such claims, and for other purposes, to amend title 31, United States Code, by adding subchapter II to such title, and for other purposes.
final. Such a bankrupt business entity may continue to so proceed, if—
(A) on request of a party in interest or on a motion of the court, and after a notice and a hearing, the bankruptcy court determines over the chapter 11 case of the bankrupt business entity that such confirmation is required to avoid the liquidation or the cessation of the significant financial reorganization of that entity; and
(B) an order confirming the plan of reorganization is entered by the bankruptcy court within 9 months after the date of enactment of this Act or such longer period of time approved by the bankruptcy court for cause shown.

(3) APPLICABILITY.—If the bankruptcy court does not make the determination required under paragraph (2), or if an order confirming the plan is not entered within 9 months after the date of enactment of this Act or such longer period of time approved by the bankruptcy court for cause shown, the provisions of this Act shall apply to the bankrupt business entity notwithstanding the certification. Any timely appeal under title 11, United States Code, from a confirmation order entered during the applicable time period shall automatically extend the time during which this Act is inapplicable to the bankrupt business entity, until the appeal is finally and resolved.

(4) OFFSETS.—
(A) PAYMENTS BY INSURERS.—To the extent that a bankrupt business entity or debtor succeeds in a plan of reorganization including, a trust, and channeling injunction that involves payments by insurers who are otherwise subject to this Act as described under section 524(g) of title 11, United States Code, an insurer who makes payments to the trust shall obtain a dollar-for-dollar reduction in the amount otherwise payable by that insurer under this Act to the Fund.
(B) CONTRIBUTIONS TO FUND.—Any cash payments by a bankrupt business entity, if any, to a trust described under section 524(g) of title 11, United States Code, may be counted as a contribution to the Fund.

d) Tiers II Through VI.—Except as provided in section 204 and subsection (b) of this section, persons or affiliated groups are included in Tiers II, III, IV, or VI, according to the prior asbestos expenditures paid by such persons or affiliated groups as follows:
(1) Tier II: $75,000,000 or greater.
(2) Tier III: $50,000,000 or greater, but less than $75,000,000.
(3) Tier IV: $10,000,000 or greater, but less than $50,000,000.
(4) Tier V: $5,000,000 or greater, but less than $10,000,000.
(5) Tier VI: $1,000,000 or greater, but less than $5,000,000.

(6) ASBESTOS PREMISES DEFENDANT PARTICIPANTS.—
(A) IN GENERAL.—Asbestos premises defendant participants that would be included in Tiers II, III, IV, or V according to their prior asbestos expenditures shall, after 5 years of the Fund being operational, instead be assigned to the immediately lower tier, such that—
(i) an asbestos premises defendant participant that would be assigned to Tier II shall instead be assigned to Tier III;
(ii) an asbestos premises defendant participant that would be assigned to Tier III shall instead be assigned to Tier IV;
(iii) an asbestos premises defendant participant that would be assigned to Tier IV shall instead be assigned to Tier V; and
(iv) an asbestos premises defendant participant that would be assigned to Tier V shall instead be assigned to Tier VI.

(B) RETURN TO ORIGINAL TIER.—The Administrator may return asbestos premises defendant participants to their original tier, on a yearly basis, if the Administrator determines that the additional revenues that would be collected are needed to preserve the solvency of the Fund.

(c) TIER PLACEMENT AND COSTS.—
(1) PERMANENT TIER PLACEMENT.—After a defendant participant or affiliated group is assigned to a tier and sub-tier under section 204(4), the participant or affiliated group shall remain in that tier and sub-tier throughout the life of the Fund, regardless of subsequent asbestos expenditures.

(A) the filing of a petition under a chapter of title 11, United States Code;
(B) a discharge of debt in bankruptcy;
(C) the confirmation of a plan of reorganization;
(D) the sale or transfer of assets to any other person or affiliated group, unless the Administrator finds that the information submitted by the participant or affiliated group to support its inclusion in that tier was inaccurate.

(2) COSTS.—Payments to the Fund by all persons that are the subject of a case under a chapter of title 11, United States Code, after the date of enactment of this Act—
(A) shall be based upon the revenues of administration of the case under section 503 of title 11, United States Code, and shall be payable in accordance with the payment procedures, which include the timeline notwithstanding the pendency of the case under that title; and
(B) shall not be stayed or affected as to enforcement or collection by any stay or injunction power of any court.

(C) shall not be impaired or discharged in any current or future case under title 11, United States Code.

(d) SUPERSEDING PROVISIONS.

(1) IN GENERAL.—All of the following shall be superseded in their entitites by this Act:
(A) The treatment of any asbestos claim in any plan of reorganization with respect to any debtor included in Tier I.

(B) Any asbestos claim against any debtor included in Tier I.

(C) Any agreement, understanding, or undertaking by any such debtor or any third party with respect to the treatment of any asbestos claim filed in a debtor’s bankruptcy case with a petition date on or before the date of enactment of this Act, whenever such debtor’s case is either still pending, if such case is considered under this chapter 11 of title 11, United States Code, subject to confirmation or substantial consummation of a plan of reorganization under chapter 11 of title 11, United States Code.

(2) PERSONS OR AFFILIATED GROUPS.—Notwithstanding section 403(c)(3), any plan of reorganization, agreement, understanding, or undertaking by any debtor (including any pre-petition agreement, understanding, or undertaking that requires future performance) or any third party under paragraph (1), and any agreement, understanding, or undertaking entered into in anticipation, contemplation, or furtherance of a plan of reorganization, to the extent it relates to any asbestos claim, shall be of no force or effect, and no person shall have any right or claim with respect to any such agreement, understanding, or undertaking.

(a) IN GENERAL.—
(1) SUBTIER LIABILITY.—Except as otherwise provided under subsections (b), (d), and (i) of section 204, persons or affiliated groups shall be included within Tiers I through VII and shall pay amounts to the Fund in accordance with this section.

(2) REVENUES.—
(A) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of this section, revenues shall be determined in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, consistently applied, using the amount reported as revenues in the annual report filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission in accordance with the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 (15 U.S.C. 727 et seq.) for the most recent fiscal year ending on or before December 31, 2002. If the defendant participant or affiliated group does not file reports with the Securities and Exchange Commission, revenues shall be the amount that the defendant participant or affiliated group would have reported as revenue under the rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission in the event that it had been required to file.

(B) INSURANCE PREMIUMS.—Any portion of revenues attributable to the historical revenues of a defendant participant that is derived from insurance premiums shall not be used to calculate the payment obligation of that defendant participant under this subtitle.

(C) DEBTORS.—Each debtor’s revenues shall include the revenues of the debtor and all of the direct or indirect majority-owned subsidiaries of that debtor, except that the prior asbestos expenditures of a person that is included in Subtier 2 of Tier I shall not be included in calculating the revenues of any debtor that was a Subtier 2 participant included within a Subtier 2 person. If a debtor or affiliated group includes a person in respect of whose liabilities for asbestos claims a class action trust has been established the revenues shall be excluded from the 2002 revenues of such debtor or affiliated group—
(i) all revenues of the person in respect of whose liabilities for asbestos claims the class action trust was established; and
(ii) all revenues of the debtor and affiliated group attributable to the historical business operations or assets owned or conducted during the year 2002 by such person or by any other person that was included within such debtor and affiliated group.

(D) SUBTIERs.—
(1) IN GENERAL.—Each debtor in Tier I shall be included in subtiers and shall pay amounts to the Fund as provided under this section.

(2) SUBTIER 1.—
(A) IN GENERAL.—All persons that are debtors with prior asbestos expenditures of $1,000,000 or greater, shall be included in Subtier 1.

(b) SUBTIER 2 PAYMENT.—Each debtor included in Subtier 1 shall pay on an annual basis 1.67024 percent of the debtor’s 2002 revenues.

(C) OTHER ASSETS.—The Administrator, at the sole discretion of the Administrator, may allow a Subtier 1 debtor to satisfy its funding obligation under this paragraph with assets other than cash if the Administrator determines that requiring an annual payment of the debtor’s funding obligation would render the debtor’s reorganization infeasible.

(d) LIABILITY.—
(1) IN GENERAL.—If a person who is subject to a case pending under a chapter of title 11, United States Code, as defined in section 203(3)(A)(i), does not pay when due any payment obligation for the debtor, the Administrator shall have the right to seek payment of all or any portion of the entire amount due (as well as any other amount for which the debtor may be liable under sections 223 and 224) from any of the direct or indirect majority-owned subsidiaries under section 203(3)(A)(i).

(2) CAUSE OF ACTION.—Notwithstanding section 221(e), this Act shall not preclude actions among persons within a debtor under section 203(3)(A)(i) against the debtor to collect the payment obligations under this Act.

(e) RIGHT OF CONTRIBUTION.
(I) In general.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, if a direct or indirect majority-owned foreign subsidiary of a debtor participant (with such relationship to the debtor participant as determined on the date of enactment of this Act) is or becomes subject to any foreign insolvency proceedings, and such foreign direct or indirect majority-owned subsidiary is liquidated in connection with such foreign insolvency proceedings (or if the debtor participant’s interest in such foreign subsidiary is otherwise canceled or terminated in connection with such foreign insolvency proceedings), the debtor participant shall have a claim against such foreign subsidiary or the estate of such foreign subsidiary in an amount equal to the greater of—

(aa) the estimated amount of all current and contingent liabilities against such foreign subsidiary; or

(bb) the foreign subsidiary’s allocable share of the debtor participant’s funding obligations to the Fund as determined by such foreign subsidiary’s allocable share of the debtor participant’s 2002 gross revenue.

(II) Determination of claim amount.—The claim of each person in Subtier 1 or affiliated group under Tiers II through VI, a person or affiliated group in Tier VII shall be in addition to any payment requirement applicable to such person or affiliated group under Tiers II through VI.

(III) Effect on payment obligation.—The right to, or recovery under, any such claim shall not reduce, limit, delay, or otherwise affect the debtor participant’s payment obligations under this Act.

(3) Subtier 2.—

(A) In general.—Notwithstanding paragraph (2), all persons that are debtors that have no material continuing business operations and that do not own or control any other subsidiaries that have been allocated or earmarked for the settlement of asbestos claims shall be included in Subtier 2.

(B) Assignment of assets.—Not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act, each person included in Subtier 2 shall assign all of its unencumbered assets to the Fund.

(4) Subtier 3.—

(A) In general.—Notwithstanding paragraph (2), all persons that are debtors other than those included in Subtier 2, which have no material continuing business operations and no other subsidiary or asset that shall be determined by a court of competent jurisdiction in the United States.

(B) Assignment of assets.—Not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act, each person included in Subtier 3 shall contribute an amount equal to 50 percent of its total unencumbered assets.

(C) Calculation of unencumbered assets.—Unencumbered assets shall be calculated in accordance with section 507 of title 11, United States Code.

(D) Calculation of asbestos claim amount.—The assets of any class action trust that has been established in respect of the liabilities for asbestos claims of any person included within a debtor or an affiliated group that has been included in Tier I (exclusive of any assets needed to pay previously incurred expenses and asbestos claims within the meaning of section 502(b)(6)) as of the date of enactment of this Act) shall be transferred to the Fund not later than 60 days after the date of enactment of this Act.

(E) Estimated amount of claims of any person included in Subtier 1 or affiliated group under Tiers II through VI, a person or affiliated group in Tier VII shall be in addition to any payment requirement applicable to such person or affiliated group under Tiers II through VI.

(F) Subtier 1.—Each person or affiliated group in Tier VI shall be included in 1 of the 5 sub tiers of Tier II, based on the person’s or affiliated group’s revenues as follows:

(A) those persons or affiliated groups with the highest revenues included in Subtier 1;

(B) those persons or affiliated groups with the next highest revenues included in Subtier 2;

(C) those persons or affiliated groups with the lowest revenues included in Subtier 3;

(D) those persons or affiliated groups with the next lowest revenues included in Subtier 4; and

(E) those persons or affiliated groups remaining included in Subtier 5.

(G) Subtier 2.—Each person or affiliated group within each sub tier shall pay, on an annual basis, the following:

(A) Subtier 1: $27,500,000.

(B) Subtier 2: $24,750,000.

(C) Subtier 3: $22,000,000.

(D) Subtier 4: $19,250,000.

(E) Subtier 5: $16,500,000.

(3) OTHER PAYMENT FOR CERTAIN PERSONS AND AFFILIATED GROUPS.—

(A) In general.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this subsection, if an adjustment authorized by this subsection does not impair the overall solvency of the Fund, any person or affiliated group within Tier I, whose required annual payment in any given year would exceed such person’s or group’s average annual expenditure on settlements, judgments, defense, and indemnity costs relating to such claims, and such settlement, judgment, defense, or indemnity costs constitute 75 percent or more of the total prior asbestos expenditures by the person or affiliated group.

(B) No further adjustment.—Any person or affiliated group that receives an adjustment under this paragraph shall not be eligible to receive any further adjustment under section 204(d).

(h) Tier VII.—

(I) In general.—Notwithstanding prior asbestos expenditures that might qualify a person or affiliated group to be included in Tiers II, III, IV, or V, a person or affiliated group shall also be included in Tier VII, if the person or affiliated group—

(A) is or has at any time been subject to asbestos claims brought under the Act of April 22, 1980 (45 U.S.C. 51 et seq.), commonly known as the Employers’ Liability Act, as a result of operations as a common carrier by railroad;

(B) has paid (including any payments made by others on behalf of such person or affiliated group) not less than $5,000,000 in settlements, judgments, defense, and indemnity costs relating to such claims, and such settlement, judgment, defense, or indemnity costs constitute 75 percent or more of the total prior asbestos expenditures by the person or affiliated group.

(2) Additional amount.—The payment requirement for persons or affiliated groups included in Tier VII shall be in addition to any payment requirement applicable to such person or affiliated group under Tiers II through VI.

(G) Subtier 1.—Each person or affiliated group in Tier VII with revenues of $6,000,000,000 or more is included in Subtier 1 and shall make annual payments of $11,000,000,000 to the Fund.

(H) Subtier 2.—Each person or affiliated group in Tier VII with revenues of less than $6,000,000,000, but not less than $4,000,000,000 is included in Subtier 2 and shall make annual payments of $6,000,000,000 to the Fund.

(5) Subtier 3.—Each person or affiliated group in Tier VII with revenues of less than $2,000,000,000 is included in Subtier 3 and shall make annual payments of $500,000,000 to the Fund.
(6) JOINT VENTURE REVENUES AND LIABILITY.

(A) REVENUES.—For purposes of this subsection, the revenues of a joint venture shall be included as a divisor in calculating the relative joint ownership to calculate the revenues of the parents of that joint venture. The joint venture shall not be responsible for a contribution under this subsection.

(B) LIABILITY.—For purposes of this subsection, the liability under the Act of April 22, 1908 (45 U.S.C. 51 et seq.), commonly known as the Merchant Marine Act, shall be attributed to the parent owners of the joint venture on a pro rata basis, reflecting their relative share of ownership. The joint venture shall not be responsible for a payment amount under this provision.

SEC. 204. ASSESSMENT ADMINISTRATION.

(1) IN GENERAL.—Each defendant participant or affiliated group shall pay to the Fund in the amounts provided under this subtitle as appropriate for its tier and subtier each year until the earlier to occur of the following:

(A) the participant or affiliated group has satisfied its obligations under this subtitle; or

(B) the participant or affiliated group is an ultimate parent participating any other provision of this subtitle, and

(c) their relative share of ownership. The joint venture shall not be responsible for a payment amount under this provision.

(2) LIMITATION.—In this paragraph, the term ‘affiliated group’ shall include any defendant participant that is an ultimate parent participant as of the date the limitation applied, which was the most recent 12-month fiscal year as of the date the limitation is applied, whichever is greater.

(3) EXCEPTION.—The limitation in this paragraph shall not apply to defendant participants in Tier I or to any affiliated group whose revenues for the most recent fiscal year as of December 31, 2002, or for the most recent 12-month fiscal year as of the date the limitation is applied, whichever is greater, exceeds $1,000,000,000.

(4) DEFINITION.—In this paragraph, the term ‘affiliated group’ shall mean an affiliated group as defined under subsection (h).

(5) FINANCIAL INFORMATION.—All audited financial statements required under this paragraph shall be as reported by the defendant participant and its affiliated group.

(6) PROCEDURE.—The Administrator shall determine the financial situation of the defendant participant and its affiliated group. The Administrator shall then determine whether to make an adjustment under this paragraph and project financial statements for the 3 fiscal years following the application and projected financial statements for the 3 fiscal years following the application.

(7) FINANCIAL HARDSHIP ADJUSTMENTS.—(A) IN GENERAL.—Any defendant participant or affiliated group may request an adjustment of the amount of its payment obligation under this subsection under the procedures prescribed in subsection (m).

(B) RENEWAL.—A defendant participant may renew a hardship adjustment upon expiration of the period in which a payment obligation is satisfied under this paragraph. Such renewed hardship adjustments shall have a term of 5 years unless the Administrator determines that a shorter or longer period is appropriate in light of the financial condition of the defendant participant and its affiliated group and other relevant factors, provided that a financial hardship adjustment under this paragraph shall terminate automatically in the event that the defendant participant holding the adjustment files or is fined under title 11, United States Code.

(8) FINANCIAL STATEMENTS.—The defendant participant and its affiliated group shall submit financial statements prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. The defendant participant and its affiliated group shall take all reasonable steps to ensure that the financial statements submitted to the Administrator are made in good faith and are reasonable and attainable.

(9) INEQUITY ADJUSTMENTS.—(A) IN GENERAL.—A defendant participant—

(i) may qualify for an adjustment based on inequity by demonstrating to the satisfaction of the Administrator that the amount of its payment obligation was materially and adversely affected by the application of the limitation under this paragraph; or

(ii) the defendant participant—

(iii) its affiliated group net of insurance of its future liability in the tort system in the absence of the Fund; or

(iv) the defendant participant and its affiliated group shall have a right to obtain a rehearing of the Administrator’s determination under this subsection under the procedures prescribed in subsection (m).

(B) FACTORS TO CONSIDER.—In determining whether to make an adjustment under this paragraph, the Administrator shall consider—

(i) the financial situation of the defendant participant and its affiliated group as shown in its most recently audited financial statements, including income statement, balance sheet, and statement of cash flow, for the 3 fiscal years ending immediately before the application and projected financial statements for the 3 fiscal years following the application;

(ii) an analysis of capital spending and fixed charge coverage on a historical basis and the expected capital expenditures for the 3 fiscal years following the application, for a defendant participant’s application and for the 3 fiscal years following the application;

(iii) any payments or transfers of property made by the defendant participant or its affiliated group, including interest, dividends, and payments of dividends or transfers of property with respect to the 3 years ending immediately before the application and projected financial statements for the 3 fiscal years following the application;

(iv) any extraordinary transactions within the preceding 6 years involving the defendant participant, including payments of extraordinary salaries, bonuses, or dividends; or

(v) the defendant participant’s ability to satisfy its obligations under the statute by borrowing or financing with equity capital, or through issuance of securities of the defendant participant or its affiliated group to the Fund;

(vi) the defendant participant’s ability to delay discretionary capital spending; and

(vii) any other factor that the Administrator considers relevant.

(C) TERM.—A financial hardship adjustment under this paragraph shall have a term of 5 years unless the Administrator determines at the time the adjustment is made that a shorter or longer period is appropriate in light of the financial condition of the defendant participant and its affiliated group and other relevant factors, provided that a financial hardship adjustment under this paragraph shall terminate automatically in the event that the defendant participant holding the adjustment files or is fined under title 11, United States Code.

(D) RENEWAL.—A defendant participant may renew a hardship adjustment upon expiration of the period in which a payment obligation is satisfied under this paragraph. Such renewed hardship adjustments shall have a term of 5 years unless the Administrator determines that a shorter or longer period is appropriate in light of the financial condition of the defendant participant and its affiliated group and other relevant factors, provided that a financial hardship adjustment under this paragraph shall terminate automatically in the event that the defendant participant holding the adjustment files or is fined under title 11, United States Code.
payment to a plaintiff by or on behalf of that defendant;
(ii) shall qualify for a 2-tier main tier and a 2-tier sub-tier adjustment reducing the defendant participant’s payment obligation based on inequity by demonstrating that not less than 95 percent of such person’s prior asbestos expenditures arose from claims related to the manufacture and sale of railroad locomotives and related products, so long as such person’s manufacture and sale of railroad locomotives and related products is temperature and model related for purposes of this clause, a person’s manufacture and sale of railroad locomotives and related products shall be deemed to be temporally and model related if the asbestos was historically and generally filed against such person relate to the manufacture and sale of railroad locomotives and related products by an entity dissolved more than 25 years before the date of enactment of this Act;
(iii) shall be granted a 2-tier adjustment reducing the defendant participant’s payment obligation based on inequity by demonstrating that not less than 95 percent of such person’s prior asbestos expenditures arose from asbestos claims based on successor liability arising from a merger to which such person or its predecessor was a party that occurred at least 30 years before the date of enactment of this Act, and that such asbestos expenditures are inflation-adjusted value of the assets of the company from which such liability was derived in such merger, and upon such demonstration the Administrator shall grant such adjustment for the life of the Fund and defendant participant is the payment amount of the defendant participant’s payment under the statutory allocation was not inequitable. Based on this determination, the Administrator may, consistent with the terms and conditions as established by the Administrator, reinstate any or all of the payment obligations of the defendant participant as if the inequitable adjustment had not been granted for such 3-year period.
(ii) TERMS AND CONDITIONS.—In the event of a reinstatement under clause (i), the Administrator may require the defendant participant to pay any part or all of the amounts not paid due to the inequity adjustment on such terms and conditions as established by the Administrator.
(4) TIER II ADJUSTMENTS FOR WELL-INSURED DEFENDANT PARTICIPANTS.
(A) DEFINITIONS.—In this paragraph,
(i) the term ‘adjusted cash flow from operating activities’ means audited cash flows from operating activities as set forth in the Financial Accounting Standards Board Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 95 in effect on the date of enactment of this Act, adjusted for amounts required under this Act, reinstate any or all of the payment obligations of the defendant participant as if the inequitable adjustment had not been granted for such 3-year period.
(ii) increased by payments made for asbestos indemnity, defense costs, and any payments required under this Act, to the extent that such amounts are included in cash flows from operating activities;
(iii) increased by nonrecurring and unusual cash charges, including restructuring charges, as the extent that such amounts are included in cash flows from operating activities;
(iv) decreased by cash distributions to minority interest holders;
(v) increased by cash proceeds on sales of assets net of related secured debt, affiliates, subsidiaries, and investments to the extent that such amounts are included in cash flows from investing and cash flows from financing activities;
(VI) increased by cash distributions from nonconsolidated affiliates and investments to the extent that such amounts are included in cash flows from investing activities and cash flows from financing activities;
(VII) increased by net cash flow used by, and decreased by cash provided from, the working capital items to the extent such amounts are not already adjusted under this subparagraph and are included in cash flows from operating activities;
(VIII) increased by net cash flow used by, and decreased by net cash flow gained from, the working capital items to the extent such amounts are not already adjusted under this subparagraph and are included in cash flows from operating activities;
(IX) decreased by reimbursements or cash proceeds received from asbestos insurance policies for related expenses, to the extent such amounts are included in cash flows from operating activities; and
(X) decreased by other nonoperating cash inflows and outflows.
(b) Election of Alternative Adjustment.—Except for defendant participants that consent to be assigned to Tier II under section 204(j)(7)(A), a defendant participant assigned to subtier 3, 4, or 5 of Tier II may elect the adjustment under this paragraph, which shall apply instead of an adjustment under paragraph (c).
(C) Adjustment.—Subject to subparagraphs (D) and (E), the annual payment obligation, taking into consideration the limitations on tier-II adjustment under subparagraph (A), of any defendant participant that elects the adjustment under this paragraph shall be adjusted so as not to exceed the greater of $500,000 or 5 percent of that defendant participant’s expected cash flow from operating activities for the most recent fiscal year ending on or before December 31, 2002, or for the most recent fiscal year.
(D) Limitation.—The aggregate total of adjustments under this paragraph in any year shall not exceed $100,000,000. If the aggregate amount of adjustments authorized under this paragraph exceeds $100,000,000, the adjustment to which each defendant participant electing such an adjustment shall be reduced pro rata until the aggregate of all adjustments equals $100,000,000.
(E) Surcharges.—Defendant participants receiving an adjustment under this paragraph shall also be subject to the guaranteed payment surcharge under subsection (m) and the bankruptcy trust surcharge under section 222(c). Such surcharges shall be based on the full amount of any adjustment to which the defendant participant would be entitled under subparagraph (C) without regard to the limitation under subparagraph (D).
(5) Limitation on Adjustments.—The aggregate total of inequity adjustments under paragraph (3) in effect in any given year shall not exceed $200,000,000, except to the extent that additional monies are available for such adjustments as a result of carryover of prior years’ funds under subsection (j)(3) or as a result of monies available in that year under subsection (k)(1)(A).
(6) Rulemaking and Advisory Panels.
(A) Appointment.—The Administrator may appoint a Financial Hardship Adjustment Panel and an Inequity Adjustment Panel to advise the Administrator in carrying out this subsection.
(C) Coordination.—The panels appointed under subparagraph (A) shall coordinate their deliberations and advice.
(D) Rules.—The Administrator may adopt rules consistent with this Act to make the determination of hardship and inequity adjustments more efficient and predictable.
(e) Limitation on Liability.—The liability of any defendant participant is to the Fund shall be limited to the payment obligations under this Act, and, except as provided in subsection (f) and section 203(b)(2)(D), no defendant participant shall have any liability for the payment obligations of any other defendant participant.

(2) PROCEDURES FOR MAKING PAYMENTS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of determining the payment levels of defendant participants, any affiliated group including 1 or more defendant participants may irrevocably elect, as part of the submissions to be made under paragraphs (1) and (3) of subsection (a), a consolidated or a series of consolidated forms that include all of the information necessary to determine the payment level under this subtitle and pay to the Fund on a consolidated basis. The affiliated group elects consolidation as provided in this subsection—

(A) for purposes of this Act other than this subsection, the affiliated group shall be treated as if it were a single participant, including with respect to the assessment of a single annual payment under this subtitle for the entire affiliated group;

(B) the ultimate parent of the affiliated group shall prepare and submit each submission to be made under subsection (1) on behalf of the entire affiliated group and shall be solely liable, as between the Administrator and the affiliated group only, for the payment obligations attributable to the affiliated group under this subtitle, except that, if the ultimate parent does not pay when due any payment obligation for the affiliated group under this subtitle, the Administrator may require the ultimate parent to pay the amount attributable to the affiliated group under this subtitle, and

(C) all members of the affiliated group shall be identified in the submission under subsection (1) and shall certify compliance with this subsection and the Administrator’s regulations implementing this subsection;

and

(D) the obligations under this subtitle shall not change even if, after the date of enactment of this Act, the beneficial ownership interest between any members of the affiliated group may be liable under sections 222 and 224 from any member of the affiliated group;

(2) INDENMIFIABLE COSTS.—If an indemnitor has paid or reimbursed to an indemnitee any indemniifiable cost or otherwise made a payment or bears the financial hardship of indemnifying a defendant participant, either the indemnitor or indemnitee may have paid or reimbursed to an indemnitee any indemniifiable cost before December 31, 2002, indemnitee to a third party for an indemnifiable cost before December 31, 2002, indemnitee to a third party for an indemnifiable cost or otherwise made a payment or bears the financial hardship of indemnifying a defendant participant.

(3) TREATMENT OF CERTAIN EXPENDITURES.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, where—

(A) an indemnitor entered into a stock purchase agreement in 1988 that involved the sale of the stock of businesses that produced friction and other products; and

(B) the stock purchase agreement provided that the indemnitor indemnified the indemnitees and any indemnitees arising from various matters, including asbestos claims—

(i) asserted before the date of the agreement; and

(ii) filed after the date of the agreement and prior to the 10-year anniversary of the stock sale, then the prior asbestos expenditures arising from the asbestos claims described in clauses (i) and (ii) shall not be for the account of either the indemnitor or indemnitee.

(2) MINIMUM ANNUAL PAYMENTS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Consistent with the aggregate annual payments of defendant participants to the Fund shall be at least $3,000,000,000 for each calendar year of the Fund, or until such shorter time as the condition set forth in subsection (a)(2) is attained.

(2) GUARANTEED PAYMENT ACCOUNT.—To the extent payments in accordance with sections 202 and 203 (as modified by subsections (b), (d), (f), (g), and (m) of this section) fail in any year to raise at least $3,000,000,000, after applicable reductions or adjustments have been taken according to subsections (d) and (m), the balance needed to meet this requirement may be paid into a guaranteed payment account established under subsection (k).

(3) GUARANTEED PAYMENT SURCHARGE.—To the extent the procedure set forth in paragraph (2) is insufficient to satisfy the requirements of the type described in section 203(h)(1) (as modified by section 203(b)(6));

(B) a statement of revenues calculated in accordance with sections 203(a)(2) and 203(h); and

(C) a statement whether it has material continuing business operations and, if not, whether it holds cash or other assets that have been allocated or earmarked for asbestos settlements;

(E) in the case of debtors falling within Subtier 2 of Tier I, a statement of how much payment was calculated; and

(G) a signature page personally verifying the truth of the statements and estimates described in this paragraph, as required under section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 (15 U.S.C. 7201 et seq.).

(3) NOTICE TO PARTICIPANTS.—Not later than 90 days after enactment of this Act, each defendant participant shall mail to the Administrator the list of identifying information necessary to calculate the amount of any required payment to the Fund; and

(B) publish in the Federal Register a notice—which

(i) setting forth the criteria in this Act, and as prescribed by the Administrator in accordance with this Act, for paying under this headline as a defendant participant to submit such information regarding the completeness and accuracy of the list of identified defendant participants;

(C) any person who receives notice under paragraph (4)(A), and any other person meeting the criteria specified in the notice published under paragraph (4)(B), may submit to the Administrator with an address to send any notice from the Administrator in accordance with this Act and all the information required by the Administrator in accordance with this subsection no later than the earlier of—

(i) 30 days after the receipt of direct notice; or

(ii) 30 days after the publication of notice in the Federal Register.

(B) CERTIFICATION.—The response submitted under subparagraph (A) shall be signed by a responsible corporate officer, general partner, proprietor, or individual of similar authority, who shall certify under penalty of perjury that the contents are complete and accuracy of the information submitted.

(C) CONSENT TO AUDIT AUTHORITY.—The response submitted under subparagraph (A) shall be sent to the defendant participant or affiliated group, a consent to the Administrator's audit authority under section 222(d).

(b) NOTICE OF INITIAL DETERMINATION.—

(A) IN GENERAL.

(i) NOTICE TO INDIVIDUAL.—Not later than 60 days after receiving a response under paragraph (5), the Administrator shall send the person a notice of initial determination identifying the tier and subtier, if any, into which the person falls and the annual payment obligation, if any, to the Fund, which determination shall be based on the best information available to the Administrator and identified to the defendant participant.

(ii) PUBLIC NOTICE.—Not later than 7 days after sending the notification of initial determination to defendant participants, the Administrator shall publish a notice listing the defendant participants that have been sent such notification in the Federal Register.

(c) PAYMENTS.—Within 30 days of receiving a notice of initial determination requiring payment, a defendant participant shall pay the Administrator the amount required by the notice, after deducting any previous payment made by the participant under this subsection. The Administrator shall keep a record of the amount paid by the defendant participant to pay the future payment obligations of that defendant participant. The pendency of a petition for rehearing under paragraph (10) shall not stay the obligation of the participant to make the payment specified in the Administrator's notice.

(d) EXEMPTIONS FOR INFORMATION REQUIRED TO BE SUBMITTED.—

(A) PRIOR ASBESTOS EXPENDITURES.—In lieu of submitting information related to prior asbestos expenditures as may be required for purposes of this subsection, a nondebtor defendant participant may consent to be assigned to Subtier I of the defendant participant category.

(B) REVENUES.—In lieu of submitting information required for purposes of this subsection, the revenues as may be required for purposes of this subsection, a nondebtor defendant participant may consent to be assigned to Subtier I of the defendant participant category.

(e) NEW INFORMATION.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator shall adopt procedures for requiring additional information from defendant participants already paid, based on new information received.

(B) ADDITIONAL PARTICIPANT.—If the Administrator, at any time, receives information that an additional person may qualify as a defendant participant, the Administrator shall provide the information necessary to determine whether that person is required to make payments, and in what amount, under this subtitle and shall make any such determination in accordance with any other act consistent with this Act based on such information or any other information available to the Administrator with respect to such person.

(C) SUBPOENAS.—The Administrator may request the Attorney General to subpoena persons to compel testimony, records, and other information relevant to its responsibilities under this section. The Attorney General may enforce such subpoenas in appropriate proceedings in the United States district court for the district in which the person to whom the subpoena was addressed resides, was served, or transacts business.

(D) REHEARING.—A defendant participant has a right to obtain rehearing of the Administrator's determination under this subsection of the applicable tier or subtier of the Administrator's determination under this subsection, (d) or (h), if the condition set forth in subsection (l) is received from a defendant participant.

(E) ADMINISTRATOR'S DETERMINATION.—If a defendant participant may not file an action under subsection (f) unless the defendant participant requests a rehearing under this paragraph. The Administrator shall publish a notice in the Federal Register of any change in a defendant participant's tier or subtier assignment or payment obligation as a result of a rehearing.

(f) DEFENDANT INEQUITY ADJUSTMENT ACCOUNT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—To the extent the total payments by defendant participants in any given year exceed the minimum aggregate annual payments required under subsection (h), excess monies up to a maximum of 200,000,000 in any such year shall be placed in a defendant inequity adjustment account established within the Fund by the Administrator.

(2) USE OF ACCOUNT MONIES.—

(A) AT THE DISCRETION OF THE ADMINISTRATOR.—Not later than the earlier of—

(i) 30 days after the receipt of direct notice; or

(ii) 30 days after the publication of notice in the Federal Register.

(B) TO THE EXTENT NEEDED FOR PURPOSES OF THIS SUBTITLE.—A defendant participant may consent to the use of the defendant inequity adjustment account by the Administrator to provide in such notice for a public distribution, was served, or transacts business.

(C) REIMBURSEMENT.—An additional payment, or refunding amounts as may be required for purposes of this subtitle, a nondebtor defendant participant may not file an action under section 203 unless the defendant participant requests a rehearing under this paragraph. The Administrator shall publish a notice in the Federal Register of any change in a defendant participant's tier or subtier assignment or payment obligation as a result of a rehearing.

(D) DEFENDANT INEQUITY ADJUSTMENT ACCOUNT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—To the extent there are insufficient monies in the defendant guaranteed payment account established in subsection (k), the Administrator may take any action that the Fund may serve under this Act.

(E) GUARANTEED PAYMENT SURCHARGE.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—To the extent there are insufficient monies in the defendant guaranteed payment account established in subsection (k), the Administrator shall require such person to submit the defendant participant's relative annual liability under sections 202 and 203, if the request for the guaranteed payment account is an additional, or refunding amounts as may be required for purposes of this subtitle, a nondebtor defendant participant may not file an action under subsection (f) unless the defendant participant requests a rehearing under this paragraph.
all comments submitted under subparagraph (B).

(ii) Written Notice.—Not later than 30 days after publishing any final certification under subsection (b), the Administrator shall provide each defendant participant with written notice of that defendant participant’s payment, including the amount of any surcharge.

(m) Adjustments for Distributors.—

(1) Definition.—In this subsection, the term ‘distributor’ means a person:

(A) whose prior asbestos expenditures arise exclusively from the sale of products manufactured by others;

(B) who distributed prior to December 31, 2002, raw asbestos or a product containing more than 95 percent asbestos by weight;

(C) whose prior asbestos expenditures did not arise out of any payments made if such adjustment results from a final determination by the Administrator as a distributor under this subsection shall not apply to defendant participants in Tier I, Subtiers 2 and 3, and class action trusts.

(2) Tier Reassignment for Distributors.

(A) In General.—Notwithstanding section 202, the Administrator shall assign a distributor under this title under the procedures set forth in this paragraph.

(B) Designation.—After a final determination by the Administrator under section 204(i), any person who is, or any affiliated group in which every member is, a distributor may apply to the Administrator for adjustment of its tier assignment under this subsection. Such application shall be prepared in accordance with such procedures as the Administrator shall promulgate by rule. Once the Administrator designates a person or affiliated group as a distributor under this subsection, such designation and the adjustment of tier assignment under this subsection is final.

(C) Payments.—Any person or affiliated group that seeks adjustment of its Tier assignment under this subsection shall be liable for the amounts required of it under this title until a final determination by the Administrator is made under this subsection. Such payments may not exceed 5 percent of the costs of reconditioning, maintaining, servicing, constructing, or remanufacturing of any product.

(D) Adjustment.—Subject to paragraph (3), any person or affiliated group that the Administrator has designated as a distributor under this subsection shall be given an adjustment of Tier assignment as follows:

(i) A distributor that but for this subsection would be assigned to Tier IV shall be deemed assigned to Tier V.

(ii) A distributor that but for this subsection would be assigned to Tier V shall be deemed assigned to Tier VI.

(iii) A distributor that but for this subsection would be assigned to Tier VI shall be deemed assigned to no Tier and shall have no obligation to make any payment to the Fund under this title.

(E) Exclusive to Inequity Adjustment.—Any person or affiliated group designated by the Administrator as a distributor under this subsection shall be eligible for an inequity adjustment under subsection 204(d).

(3) Limitation on Adjustments.—The aggregate total of distributor adjustments under this subsection in any given period of 30 days shall not exceed $50,000.

SEC. 205. Stepdowns and Funding Holidays.

(a) Stepdowns.

(1) In General.—

(A) Reconsideration.—Subject to paragraph (2), the minimum aggregate annual funding obligation under section 204(h) shall be reduced by 10 percent if the initial minimum aggregate funding obligation for the 10th, 15th, 20th, and 25th years after the date of enactment of this Act. Except as provided in this subsection, the reductions under this paragraph shall be applied on an equal pro rata basis to the funding obligations of all defendant participants.

(B) Calculation.—The reductions under this subsection shall not apply to defendant participants in Tier I, Subtiers 2 and 3, and class action trusts. For defendant participants whose payment obligation has been limited under section 204(a)(2) or who have received a financial hardship adjustment under section 204(d)(2), aggregate potential reductions under this subsection shall be calculated on the basis of the defendant participant’s tier and sub-tier without regard to such limitation or adjustment. If the aggregate potential reductions under this paragraph exceeds the reduction in the defendant participant’s payment obligation due to the limitation under section 204(a)(2) and any financial hardship adjustment provided in section 204(d)(2), then the defendant participant’s payment obligation shall be further reduced by the difference between the potential reductions or waivers provided under this paragraph and the reduction in the defendant participant’s payment obligation due to the limitation under section 204(a)(2) and any financial hardship adjustment provided in section 204(d)(2). If the reduction in the defendant participant’s payment obligation due to the limitation provided in section 204(a)(2) and any financial hardship adjustment provided in section 204(d)(2) exceeds the amount of the reductions or waivers provided in this subsection, the reduction in the defendant participant’s payment obligation shall not be further reduced under this paragraph.

(2) Notice and Comment.

Before making a final certification under this subsection, the Administrator shall publish a notice in the Federal Register of a proposed certification and a statement of the basis therefor and provide in such notice for a public comment period of 30 days.

(b) Funding Holidays.

(1) In General.—If at any time the Administrator determines that a reduction or waiver under this section may cause the assets of the Fund and expected future payments to decrease to a level at which the Fund may not be able to satisfy all of its anticipated obligations, the Administrator shall revoke all or any part of such reduction or waiver and provide in such notice for a public comment period of 30 days.

(c) Certification.

(1) In General.—Before suspending, canceling, reducing, or delaying any reduction under subsection (a) or granting or revoking a reduction or waiver under subsection (b), the Administrator shall certify that the requirements of this section are satisfied.

(2) Notice and Comment.—Before making a final certification under this subsection, the Administrator shall publish a notice in the Federal Register of a proposed certification and a statement of the basis therefor and provide in such notice for a public comment period of 30 days.

(d) Final Certification.

(1) In General.—The Administrator shall publish a notice of the final certification in the Federal Register after consideration of all comments submitted under subparagraph (2).

(2) Written Notice.—Not later than 30 days after publishing any final certification under subparagraph (A), the Administrator shall provide each defendant participant with written notice of that defendant’s funding obligation for that year.
SEC. 206. ACCOUNTING TREATMENT.
Defendant participants payment obligations to the Fund shall be subject to discounting under the applicable accounting guidelines for acceptable accounting purposes and statutory accounting purposes for each defendant participant. This section shall in no way reduce the amount of monetary payments to the Fund by defendant participants as required under section 202(a)(2).

Subtitle B—Asbestos Insurers Commission
SEC. 210. DEFINITION.
In this subtitle, the term ‘‘captive insurance company’’ means—
(1) whose entire beneficial interest is owned on the date of enactment of this Act, directly or indirectly, by a defendant participant or the insurer’s ultimate parent or affiliated group of a defendant participant;
(2) whose entire beneficial interest was owned on the date of enactment of this Act, directly or indirectly, by a defendant participant or the insurer’s ultimate parent or affiliated group of a defendant participant; and
(3) that was incorporated or operating no later than December 31, 2003.

SEC. 211. ESTABLISHMENT OF ASBESTOS INSURERS COMMISSION.
(a) Establishment—There is established the Asbestos Insurers Commission (referred to in this subtitle as the ‘‘Commission’’) to carry out the duties described in section 212.

(b) Membership—
(1) APPOINTMENT.—The Commission shall be composed of 5 members who shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advise and consent of the Senate.
(2) QUALIFICATIONS.—
(A) EXPERTISE.—Members of the Commission shall have expertise sufficient to fulfill their responsibilities under this subtitle.
(B) CONFLICT OF INTEREST.—
(i) IN GENERAL.—No member of the Commission appointed under paragraph (1) may be an employee or immediate family member of an employee of an insurer participant. No member of the Commission shall be a shareholder of any insurer participant. No member of the Commission shall be a former officer or director, or a former employee or former shareholder of an insurer participants who was such an employee, shareholder, officer, or director at any time during the 2-year period ending on the date of the appointment, unless that is fully disclosed before the date of the Senate of the nomination for appointment to the Commission.
(ii) DEFINITION.—In clause (i), the term ‘‘shareholder’’ shall not include a broadly based trust that includes the stocks of insurer participants as a portion of its overall holdings.
(C) FEDERAL EMPLOYMENT.—A member of the Commission shall not be an officer or employee of the Federal Government, except by reason of membership on the Commission.
(3) PERIOD OF APPOINTMENT.—Members shall be appointed for the life of the Commission.
(4) VACANCIES.—Any vacancy in the Commission shall be filled in the same manner as the original appointment.
(5) CHAIRMAN.—The President shall select a Chairman from among the members of the Commission.

(c) Initial Meeting—
(1) INITIAL MEETING.—Not later than 30 days after the date on which all members of the Commission have been appointed, the Commission shall hold its first meeting.
(2) SUBSEQUENT MEETINGS.—The Commission shall meet at the call of the Chairman, as necessary to accomplish the duties under section 212.
(3) QUORUM.—No business may be conducted or hearings held without the participation of a majority of the members of the Commission.

SEC. 212. DUTIES OF ASPEROS INSURERS COM-MISSION.
(a) DETERMINATION OF INSURER PAYMENT OBLIGATIONS.—
(1) IN GENERAL.—For the purposes of this Act, the terms ‘‘insurer’’ and ‘‘insurer parcipant’’ shall, unless stated otherwise, include direct insurers and reinsurers, as well as any run-off entity, whether whole or in part, to review and pay asbestos claims.

(2) PROCEDURES FOR DETERMINING INSURER PAYMENTS.—
(3) AMOUNT OF PAYMENTS.—The Commission shall determine the amount that each insurer participant shall be required to pay into the Fund under the procedures described in this section. The Commission shall make the determination by first promulgating a rule requiring the asbestos liability, directly or indirectly, by a defendant participant or the insurer’s ultimate parent or affiliated group, or any portion of the affiliated group or a combination thereof; and
(3) that was incorporated or operating no later than December 31, 2003.

DEFINITION.
In clause (i), the term ‘‘private participants over the life of the Fund shall be equal to $46,625,000,000, less any bankruptcy trust credits under section 222(d).

ACCOUNTING STANDARDS.—In determining the payment obligations of participants that are not licensed in the United States or that are runoff entities,
the Commission shall use accounting standards required for United States licensed direct insurers.

Captive Insurance Companies.—No
payment to the Fund shall be required from a captive insurance company, unless and only to the extent a captive insurance company, on the date of enactment of this Act, issues the asbestos liability, directly or indirectly, of (and that arises out of the manufacture, distribution or installation of materials or products by, or other conduct of) a person or persons other than and unaffiliated with its ultimate parent or affiliated group of a defendant participant or participated in such a way that the asbestos liability is equiv to the issuer of such reinsurance policy.
(b) AGGREGATE PAYMENT OBLIGATION.—The total payment required of all insurer participants over the life of the Fund shall be equal to $46,625,000,000, less any bankruptcy trust

Nothing in
(c) ACCOUNTING STANDARDS.—In deterimizing the payment obligations of particiants that are not licensed in the United States or that are runoff entities,
the Commission shall use accounting standards required for United States licensed direct insurers.

Captive Insurance Companies.—No
payment to the Fund shall be required from a captive insurance company, unless and
only to the extent a captive insurance company, on the date of enactment of this Act, issues the asbestos liability, directly or indirectly, of (and that arises out of the manufacture, distribution or installation of materials or products by, or other conduct
of) a person or persons other than and unaffiliated with its ultimate parent or affiliated group of a defendant participant or participated in such a way that the asbestos liability is a member of its affiliated group or pool at the time the relevant insurance or reinsurer was issued by the captive insurance company.

(3) General Liability.—Unless otherwise provided under this Act, each insurer participant's obligation to make payments to the Fund is several. Unless otherwise provided under this Act, there is no joint liability, and the future insolvency of any insurer participant shall not affect the payment required of any other insurer participant.

(4) Adoption of Criteria.—

(A) INCLUSION IN INSURER PARTICIPANT CATEGORY. —

(i) IN GENERAL.—Insurers that have, or been assessed by a legal judgment or settlement, at least $1,000,000 in defense and indemnity costs before the date of enactment of this Act, in response to claims for compensation for asbestos injuries arising from a policy of liability insurance or contract of liability reinsurance or retrocessional reinsurance shall be insurer participants in the Fund.

(ii) EXCLUDING LIABILITIES.—Other insurers shall be exempt from mandatory payments.

(B) INSURER PARTICIPANT ALLOCATION METHODOLOGY.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—The Commission shall establish the payment obligations of individual insurer participants to reflect, on an equitable basis, the likelihood of the insurer's future liabilities under applicable asbestos exposure over relevant periods of time.

(ii) LIMITATION.—The allocation methodology is

(C) PAYMENT SCHEDULE.—

(i) FOR YEARS 1 AND 2.—For years 1 and 2, $2,700,000,000 annually.

(ii) FOR YEARS 3 THROUGH 5.—For years 3 through 5, $5,075,000,000 annually.

(iii) FOR YEARS 6 THROUGH 27.—For years 6 through 27, $1,147,000,000 annually.

(D) FUNDING HOLIDAYS.—Any reduction or waiver of the insurer participant's funding obligations shall be

(E) FINANCIAL RISK AND EXCEPTIONAL CIRCUMSTANCE ADJUSTMENTS.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—Under the procedures established in subsection (b), an insurer participant shall be exempt from its obligations under this section if it demonstrates to the Administrator that it no longer has insolvency, is unable to satisfy all of its anticipated obligations, the likelihood of its solvency, or its inability to meet any of its obligations.

(ii) CERTIFICATION.—The response submitted by each insurer participant shall be a signed certification by a responsible corporate officer, general partner, proprietor, or individual of similar authority, who shall certify under penalty of law the completeness and accuracy of the information submitted.

(F) NOTICE TO INSURERS.—Not later than 30 days after receipt of the information required by paragraph (2), the Commission shall send each insurer participant a notification of its initial determination requiring payments to the Fund, which shall be based on the information received from the participant in response to the Commission's request for information.

(G) NOTICE TO INSURER PARTICIPANTS OF INITIAL PAYMENT DETERMINATION.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—The notice shall include a list of all insurer participants notified by the Commission under subparagraph (A), and provides for 30 days for the submission of comments or information regarding the completeness and accuracy of the list of named insurer participants.

(H) NOTICE TO INSURER PARTICIPANTS OF INVOICE FOR PAYMENTS.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—The notice shall be provided to named insurer participants.

(ii) LISTS OF INSURER PARTICIPANTS.—The list of identified insurer participants shall include all the insurers as determined by the Commission.

(iii) Duty to Notify.—Insurer participants that have been sent such notification, and the Commission shall publish in the Federal Register a notice listing the insurer participants that have been sent such notice.

(iv) INFORMATION TO SUPPORT ADJUSTMENTS.—Each insurer participant shall provide the Commission with additional information to support adjustments to the initial determination.

(v) NOTICE OF UNINSURED CLAIMS.—Insurer participants may qualify for an adjustment based on potential claims for asbestos-related bodily injury, disease, or death on whose behalf the insurer participants' obligations are met. Such adjustments shall be the subject of notice, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

(C) PAYMENT SCHEDULE.—The aggregate annual amount of payments by insurer participants over the life of the Fund shall be as follows:—

(i) For years 1 and 2, $2,700,000,000 annually.

(ii) For years 3 through 5, $5,075,000,000 annually.

(iii) For years 6 through 27, $1,147,000,000 annually.

(iv) For year 28, $166,000,000 annually.

(D) FUNDING HOLIDAYS.—A runoff entity shall include any direct insurer or reinsurer whose asbestos liability reserves have been transferred, directly or indirectly, to the runoff entity and on whose behalf the runoff entity handles or adjusts and, where appropriate, pays asbestos claims.

(E) FINANCIAL RISK AND EXCEPTIONAL CIRCUMSTANCE ADJUSTMENTS.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—Under the procedures established in subsection (b), an insurer participant shall be exempt from its obligations under this section if it demonstrates to the Administrator that its methodology would jeopardize the solvency of such participant.

(ii) CERTIFICATION.—The response submitted by each insurer participant shall be a signed certification by a responsible corporate officer, general partner, proprietor, or individual of similar authority, who shall certify under penalty of law the completeness and accuracy of the information submitted.

(F) NOTICE TO INSURERS.—Not later than 30 days after receipt of the information required by paragraph (2), the Commission shall send each insurer participant a notification of its initial determination requiring payments to the Fund, which shall be based on the information received from the participant in response to the Commission's request for information.

(G) NOTICE TO INSURER PARTICIPANTS OF INITIAL PAYMENT DETERMINATION.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—The notice shall include a list of all insurer participants notified by the Commission under subparagraph (A), and provides for 30 days for the submission of comments or information regarding the completeness and accuracy of the list of named insurer participants.

(H) NOTICE TO INSURER PARTICIPANTS OF INVOICE FOR PAYMENTS.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—The notice shall be provided to named insurer participants.

(ii) LISTS OF INSURER PARTICIPANTS.—The list of identified insurer participants shall include all the insurers as determined by the Commission.

(iii) Duty to Notify.—Insurer participants that have been sent such notification, and the Commission shall publish in the Federal Register a notice listing the insurer participants that have been sent such notice.

(iv) INFORMATION TO SUPPORT ADJUSTMENTS.—Each insurer participant shall provide the Commission with additional information to support adjustments to the initial determination.

(v) NOTICE OF UNINSURED CLAIMS.—Insurer participants may qualify for an adjustment based on potential claims for asbestos-related bodily injury, disease, or death on whose behalf the insurer participants' obligations are met. Such adjustments shall be the subject of notice, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

(C) PAYMENT SCHEDULE.—The aggregate annual amount of payments by insurer participants over the life of the Fund shall be as follows:—

(i) For years 1 and 2, $2,700,000,000 annually.

(ii) For years 3 through 5, $5,075,000,000 annually.

(iii) For years 6 through 27, $1,147,000,000 annually.

(iv) For year 28, $166,000,000 annually.
an insurer participant for the amount of any asbestos-related payments it made or was legally obligated to make, including payments released from an escrow, as the result of a bankruptcy confirmed after May 22, 2003, but before the date of enactment of this Act. (B) ADDITIONAL PARTICIPANTS.—If, before the final determination of the Commission, the Commission receives information that an additional person may qualify as an insurer participant, the Commission shall require, if necessary, for calculating the individual payment obligations of participants who are parties to the certified agreement, the terms of the agreement, and the information described under subparagraph (A) and (B), including a provision requiring an offset credit for an insurer participant for the amount of any asbestos-related payments it made or was legally obligated to make, including payments released from an escrow, as the result of a bankruptcy confirmed after May 22, 2003, but before the date of enactment of this Act.

(5) EXAMINATIONS AND SUBPOENAS.—(A) EXAMINATIONS.—The Commission shall adopt procedures for examining the books and records of insurer participants to determine the completeness and accuracy of information submitted, or required to be submitted, to the Commission for purposes of determining payment obligations under this section. (B) SUBPOENAS.—The Commission may request the Attorney General to subpoena personnel to compel testimony, records, and other information relevant to its responsibilities under this section. The Attorney General may enforce such subpoena in appropriate proceedings in United States district court for the district in which the person to whom the subpoena was addressed resides, was served, or transacts business. (6) ESCROW PAYMENTS.—Without regard to an insurer participant’s payment obligation under this section, any escrow or similar account established before the date of enactment of this Act by an insurer participant in connection with an asbestos trust fund that has not been judicially certified by final order by the date of enactment of this Act shall be governed by the terms of the escrow agreement and returned to that insurer participant.

(7) NOTICE TO INSURER PARTICIPANTS OF FINAL PAYMENT DETERMINATIONS.—Not later than 60 days after the notice of initial determination is sent to the insurer participants, the Commission shall send each insurer participant a notice of final determination.

(c) INSURER PARTICIPANTS VOLUNTARY ALLOCATION AGREEMENT.—(1) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 30 days after the Commission proposes its rule establishing an allocation methodology governing the individual payment obligations of the participants who are parties to the agreement. The authority of the Commission under this subsection with respect to any participants who are parties to a certified allocation agreement, terminate on the day after the Commission certifies such agreement. Under subsection (b), the Commission may assume responsibility, if necessary, for calculating the individual payment obligations of participants who are parties to the certified agreement.

(d) COMMISSION REPORT.—(1) TERENCE OF THE COMMISSION.—Within 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act, insurer participants shall make an aggregate payment obligation to the extent that 50 percent of the aggregate funding obligation specified under subsection (a)(3)(C) for year 1.

(e) RESERVE INFORMATION.—(1) CONTENTS.—Within 30 days after the date of enactment of this Act, each insurer participant shall submit to the Administrator a certified statement of its net asbestos reserves as of December 31, 2004.

(f) TRANSFER OF AUTHORITY FROM THE COMMISSION.—Upon termination of the Commission under section 215, the Administrator shall assume the responsibilities and authority of the Commission, except that the Administrator shall not have the power to modify the allocation methodology adopted by the Commission or to certify an agreement or to promulgate a rule establishing any such methodology.

(g) ACCOUNTING TREATMENT.—(1) IN GENERAL.—Upon termination of the Commission under section 215, the Administrator shall assume all the responsibilities and authority of the Commission, including the power to make payments to the Fund, as authorized by section 319(a).

(H) JUDICIAL REVIEW.—(a) RULEMAKING.—The Commission shall promulgate such rules and regulations as necessary to implement its authority under... this Act, including regulations governing an allocation methodology. Such rules and regulations shall be promulgated after providing interested parties with the opportunity for notice and comment.

(b) HEARINGS.—The Commission may hold such hearings, sit and act at such times and places, take such testimony, and receive such evidence as it deems advisable to carry out this Act. The Commission shall also hold a hearing on any proposed regulation establishing an allocation methodology, before the Commission’s adoption of a final regulation.

(c) INFORMATION FROM FEDERAL AND STATE AGENCIES.—The Commission may secure directly or through the Office of the Federal Register and/or other Federal, State, or local entity or agency such information as the Commission considers necessary to carry out this Act. Upon request of the Chairman of the Commission, the head of such department or agency shall furnish such information to the Commission.

(d) POSTAL SERVICES.—The Commission may use the United States mails in the same manner and under the same conditions as other departments and agencies of the Federal Government.

(e) FYI.—The Commission may not accept, use, or dispose of gifts or donations of services or property.

(f) EXPERT ADVICE.—In carrying out its responsibilities, the Commission may enter into such contracts and agreements as the Commission determines necessary to obtain expert advice and analysis.

SEC. 214. PERSONNEL MATTERS.

(a) COMPENSATION OF MEMBERS.—Each member of the Commission shall be compensated at a rate equal to the daily rate of basic pay prescribed for level IV of the Executive Schedule under section 5315 of title 5, United States Code, for each day (including travel time) such member is engaged in the performance of the duties of the Commission.

(b) TRAVEL EXPENSES.—The members of the Commission shall be allowed travel expenses, including per diem in lieu of subsistence, at rates authorized for employees of agencies under subchapter I of chapter 57 of title 5, United States Code, for each day (including travel time) such member is engaged in the performance of the duties of the Commission.

(c) STAFF.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Chairman of the Commission shall, without regard to the civil service laws and regulations, appoint and terminate term and career employees to the staff of the Commission or to any other person who is necessary to enable the Commission to perform its duties. The employment of an executive director shall be subject to confirmation by the Commission.

(2) COMPENSATION.—The Chairman of the Commission may fix the compensation of the executive director and such other personnel as is necessary to enable the Commission to perform its duties, to the extent such personnel are engaged in the performance of the duties of the Commission.

(d) DETAIL OF GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES.—Any Federal Government employee may be detailed to the Commission without reimbursement, and such detail shall be without interruption or loss of civil service status or privilege.

SEC. 215. TERMINATION OF ASBESTOS INSURERS COMMISSION.

The Commission shall terminate 90 days after the last date on which the Commission makes a final determination of contribution under section 212(b) or 90 days after the last appeal of any determination by the Commission is exhausted, whichever occurs later.

SEC. 216. EXPENSES AND COSTS OF COMMISSION.

All expenses of the Commission shall be paid from funds appropriated to the Commission.

Subtitle C—Asbestos Injury Claims Resolution Fund

SEC. 221. ESTABLISHMENT OF ASBESTOS INJURY CLAIMS RESOLUTION FUND.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—There shall be established in the Office of Asbestos Disease Compensation the Asbestos Injury Claims Resolution Fund, which shall be used for—

(1) claims for awards for an eligible disease or condition determined under title I;

(2) claims for reimbursement for medical monitoring under title I;

(3) principal and interest on borrowings under subsection (b);

(4) the remaining obligations to the asbestos trust of a debtor and the class action trust under section 405(g)(8); and

(5) administrative expenses to carry out the provisions of this Act.

(b) BORROWING AUTHORITY.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator is authorized to borrow from time to time amounts as set forth in this subsection, for purposes of enhancing liquidity available to the Fund for carrying out the obligations of the Fund under this Act. The Administrator may authorize and direct a form of, over such term, with such necessary disclosure to its lenders as will most efficiently enhance the Fund’s liquidity.

(2) FEDERAL FINANCING BANK.—In addition to the general authority in paragraph (1), the Administrator may borrow from the Federal Financing Bank in accordance with section 6 of the Federal Financing Bank Act of 1973 (12 U.S.C. 2285), as needed for performance of the Administrator’s duties under this Act for the first 5 years.

(3) BORROWING CAPACITY.—The maximum amount that may be borrowed under this subsection at any given time is the amount that, taking into account all payment obligations of the Fund, can be borrowed in accordance with this subsection and all committed obligations of the Fund at the time of borrowing, can be repaid in full (with interest) in a timely fashion from—

(A) the available assets of the Fund as of the time of borrowing; and

(B) all amounts anticipated to be paid by participants during the subsequent 10 years.

(4) REPAYMENT OBLIGATIONS.—Repayment of monies borrowed by the Administrator under subsection (b) shall be paid in full by the Fund contribution described in paragraph (3) and limited solely to amounts available, present or future, in the Fund.

(c) LOCKBOX FOR SEVERE ASBESTOS-RELATED INJURY CLAIMANTS.

(1) IN GENERAL.—Within the Fund, the Administrator shall establish a trust under this subsection.

(A) A Mesothelioma Account, which shall be used solely to make payments to claimants eligible for an award under the criteria of Level VII.

(B) A Lung Cancer Account, which shall be used solely to make payments to claimants eligible for an award under the criteria of Level VIII.

(C) A Severe Asbestos Account, which shall be used solely to make payments to claimants eligible for an award under the criteria of Level V.

(D) A Moderate Asbestos Account, which shall be used solely to make payments to claimants eligible for an award under the criteria of Level IV.

(E) A Severe Asbestos Account, which shall be used solely to make payments to claimants eligible for an award under the criteria of Level I.

(2) ALLOCATION.—The Administrator shall allocate to each of the 4 accounts established in paragraph (1) amounts made to the Fund adequate to compensate all anticipated claimants for each account. Within 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act and periodically thereafter, the Administrator shall determine an appropriate amount to allocate to each account after considering appropriate epidemiological and statistical studies.

(d) AUDIT AUTHORITY.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—For the purposes of auditing the correctness of any information provided or payments made to the Fund, or determining whether a person who has not made a payment to the Fund was required to do so, or determining the liability of any person for a payment to the Fund, or collecting any such liability, or inquiring into any offense connected with the administration or enforcement of this title, the Administrator is authorized—

(A) to examine any books, papers, records, or other data which may be relevant or material to such inquiry;

(B) to summon the person liable for a payment under this title, or officer or employee of the person, or person other than the person, or person in possession, custody, or care of books of account containing entries relating to the business of the person liable or any other person the Administrator deems proper, to appear before the Administrator at a time and place named in the summons and to produce such books, papers, records, or other data, and to give such testimony, under oath, as may be relevant or material to such inquiry; and

(C) to take such testimony of the person concerned, under oath, as may be relevant or material to such inquiry.

(2) FALSE, FRAUDULENT, OR FICTITIOUS STATEMENTS OR PRACTICES.—If the Administrator determines that materially false, fraudulent, or fictitious statements or practices have been submitted or engaged in by persons submitting information to the Administrator or to the Asbestos Insurers Compensation Fund, or any other entity or person who provides evidence in support of such submissions for purposes of determining payment obligations under this Act, the Administrator may impose civil penalties not to exceed $10,000 on any person found to have submitted or engaged in a materially false, fraudulent, or fictitious statement or practice under this Act. The Administrator shall promulgate appropriate regulations to implement this paragraph.

(3) IDENTITY OF CERTAIN DEFENDANT PARTICIPANTS; TRANSPARENCY.—

(A) either the name of such person, or such person’s ultimate parent; and

(B) the likely tier to which such person or affiliated group may be assigned under this Act.
groups may be assigned. After publication of such list, any person who, acting in good faith, has knowledge that any other person has prior asbestos expenditures of $1,000,000 or greater, may petition to the Administrator or Interim Administrator for information on the identity of that person and the person’s prior asbestos expenditures.

(1) Private Right of Action—Except as provided in sections 203(b)(2)(D)(ii) and 204(c)(3), there shall be no private right of action under any Federal or State law against any participant based on a claim of compliance or noncompliance with this Act or the involvement of any participant in the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 221. MANAGEMENT OF THE FUND.

(a) In General.—Amounts in the Fund shall be held for the exclusive purpose of providing benefits to asbestos claimants and their beneficiaries and to otherwise defray the reasonable expenses of administering the Fund;

(b) Investments.—

(1) In General.—Amounts in the Fund shall be administered and invested with the care, skill, prudence, and diligence, under the circumstances prevailing at the time of such investment, that a prudent person acting in a like manner for like purposes would use.

(2) Strategy.—The Administrator shall invest amounts in the Fund in a manner that enables the Fund to make current and future distributions to or for the benefit of asbestos claimants. In pursuing an investment strategy under this subparagraph, the Administrator shall consider, to the extent relevant to an investment decision or action—

(A) the size of the Fund;

(B) the nature and estimated duration of the investment;

(C) the liquidity and distribution requirements of the Fund;

(D) general economic conditions at the time of the investment;

(E) the possible effect of inflation or deflation on Fund assets;

(F) the role that each investment or course of action plays with respect to the overall assets of the Fund;

(G) the expected amount to be earned (including both income and appreciation of capital) through investment of amounts in the Fund; and

(H) the needs of asbestos claimants for current and future distributions authorized under this Act.

(c) Bankruptcy Trust Guarantee.—

(1) In General.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, the Administrator, in its discretion, may authorize a pre ratable surcharge on all participants under this subsection to ensure the liquidity of the Fund if—

(A) the declared assets from 1 or more bankruptcy trusts established under a plan of reorganization confirmed and substantially consummated on or before July 31, 2004, that are no longer available to the Fund; or

(B) $4,000,000,000.

(2) Declared Assets.

(A) In General.—In this subsection, the term ‘declared assets’ means—

(i) the amount of assets transferred by any trust established under a plan of reorganization confirmed and substantially consummated on or before July 31, 2004, to the Fund that is required to be returned to that trust under the final judgment described in paragraph (1);

(ii) if no assets were transferred by the trust to the Fund, the amount of assets the Administrator determines would have been available for distribution to the Fund from that trust under section 402(f).

(B) Determination.—In making a determination under subparagraph (A)(i), the Administrator may rely on any information reasonably available, and may request, and use subpoena authority of the Administrator to obtain, any necessary information from any such trust or its trustees.

(d) Bankruptcy Trust Credits.—

(1) In General.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, or subparagraph (A) of this Act, but subject to paragraph (2), the Administrator may allocate, for each such bankruptcy trust, an amount of all credits to which insurers are entitled under section 202(c)(4)(A) of the Act.

(2) Allocation of Credits.—The Administrator shall allocate, for each such bankruptcy trust, the credits for such amounts based on the reasonable aggregate payment obligations as follows:

(A) Defendant Participants.—The aggregate amount that all persons other than insured participants who participated in the bankruptcy trust would have been required to pay as Tier I defendant under section 203(b) if the plan of reorganization under which the bankruptcy trust was established had not been confirmed and substantially consummated and the proceeding under chapter 11 of title 11, United States Code, that established the bankruptcy trust had remained pending as of the date of enactment of this Act.

(B) Insurer Participants.—The aggregate amount of all credits to which insurers are entitled under section 202(c)(4)(A) of the Act.
insurance or contracts of liability reinsurance or retrocession reinsurance applicable to asbestos claims, and the Administrator may bring an action or an arbitration against any self-insurer or reinsurer or other insurer participants under the provisions of such policies and contracts, provided that—

(A) any amounts collected under this subsection to enforce the assessment of any premium or premium deemed erosion allocated to any policy or contract under section 404, or otherwise re- duced coverage available to a participant; and

(B) all amounts collected under this subsection shall have no effect on the validity of the insurance policies or reinsurance, and any contrary State law is expressly preempted.

(c) DEFENSE LIMITATION.—In any proceeding under this section, the participant shall be barred from bringing any challenge to any determination of the Administrator that a direct insurer or reinsurer is in default in accordance with section 104(h)(10), or in a judicial review proceeding under section 303.

(d) DEPOSIT OF FUNDS.—(1) In general.—Any funds collected under subsection (c)(2) (A) or (C) shall be—

(A) deposited in the Fund; and

(B) used only to pay—

(i) claims made for an eligible disease or condition determined under title I; or

(ii) claims for reimbursement for medical monitoring determined under title I.

(e) NO CREDIT OR OFFSET.—(C) with respect to reinsurance contracts, all components of a Fund required to be paid by a participant shall be deemed to be payments to a single claimant for a single loss.

(f) NO CREDIT OR OFFSET.—(4) In any action brought under this section, a reasonable request for assistance in any proceeding and shall not be admissible against the nonpaying insurer participants or the Asbestos Insurers Commission and shall not be admissible against the participant in any proceeding and shall not have a preclusive effect on the validity of such information as may be necessary to enable the Administrator to determine whether—

(i) the person or persons to whom the as-bestos Insurers Commission, or any other person, has a right to receive the information under this subsection, which shall include, if such challenge could have been made and would have been more favorable to such participant, whether the participant believes any person or entity to be a successor in interest to or the Asbestos Insurers Commission or is a successor in interest to or is a successor to, any person who, within the United States generally accepted accounting principles as in effect from time to time—

(A) generated at least 40 percent of the revenues of such participant (or its affiliated group); or

(B) constituted at least 40 percent of the assets of such participant (or its affiliated group); or

(C) generated at least 40 percent of the operating cash flows of such participant (or its affiliated group); or

(D) generated at least 40 percent of the net income or loss of such participant (or its affiliated group), as measured during any of such 5 previous fiscal years.

(g) CREDIT FOR REINSURANCE.—(6) the value of any pending claim against the nonpaying insurer participants or the Asbestos Insurers Commission and shall have no effect on—

(A) the assessment of contributions under subsection (c)(2); or

(B) any other provision of this Act.

(h) PROPERTY OF THE ESTATE.—Section 541(b) of title II, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in paragraph (4)(B)(ii), by striking “or condition determined under title I; or

(ii) claims for reimbursement for medical monitoring determined under title I. The imposition of a fine under subsection (c)(2)(C) shall have no effect on—

(i) the assessment of contributions under subsections A and B; or

(ii) any other provision of this Act.

(i) TRANSFERS.—(1) NOTICE OF TRANSACTION.—Any participant that has engaged in any transaction or series of transactions, in which a signifi- cant portion of such participant’s assets, properties, or business was, directly or indi- rectly, transferred by any means (including by sale, dividend, contribution to a sub- sidary or split-off) to 1 or more persons other than the participant shall provide written notice to the Administrator of such transaction or series of transactions.

(2) TIMING OF NOTICE AND RELATED AC- TIONS.—(A) IN GENERAL.—Any notice that a partici- pant is required to provide under paragraph (1) shall be given not later than 30 days after the date of consummation of the transaction or the first transaction to occur in a pro- posed series of transactions.

(B) OTHER NOTIFICATIONS.—(i) IN GENERAL.—Not later than the date in any year by which a participant is required to make its contribution to the Fund, the participant shall deliver to the Adminis- trator a written certification stating that—

(I) the participant has complied during the period since the last such certification or the date of enactment of this Act with the notice requirements under this subsection; or

(II) the participant was not required to provide any notice under this subsection during such period.

(ii) SUMMARY.—The Administrator shall in- clude in the annual report required to be submitted to Congress under section 405 a summary of all such notices after removing all confidential identifying information received during the most recent fiscal year.

(3) CONTENTS OF NOTICE.—(A) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator shall determine by rule or regulation the information to be included in the notice required under this subsection, which shall include, if such information is not already contained in the transaction (or series of transactions) should be considered to be the successor in interest of the participant for purposes of the Act.

(1) by inserting after paragraph (5) and be-
(B) RELIEF ALLOWED.— In any action commenced under this subsection, the Administrator or a participant, as applicable, may seek—
(i) with respect to a transaction (or series of transactions) referenced in clause (i) of subparagraph (A), a declaratory judgment regarding whether such person has become the successor in interest of such participant or, in the case of a participant, of such other relief regarding such transaction (or series of transactions) as the court determines to be necessary to ensure that performance of any participant’s payment obligations under this Act is not materially impaired by reason of such transaction (or series of transactions).
(C) APPLICABILITY.—If the Administrator or a participant wishes to challenge a statement made by a participant that a person has not become a successor in interest for purposes of this Act, then this paragraph shall be the exclusive means by which the determination of whether such person became a successor in interest of the participant and the extent necessary to obtain complete relief, any other appropriate forum outside of the United States.

SEC. 224. INTEREST ON UNDERPAYMENT OR NON-PAYMENT

If any amount of payment obligation under this title is not paid on or before the last date prescribed for payment, the liable party shall pay interest on such amount at the Federal short-term rate determined under section 622(b) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, plus five percentage points, for the period from such last date to the date paid.

SEC. 225. EDUCATION, CONSULTATION, SCREENING, AND MONITORING

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator shall establish a program for the education, consultation, screening, and medical monitoring of persons for exposure to asbestos. The program shall be funded by the Fund.

(b) OUTREACH AND EDUCATION.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator shall establish an outreach and education program, including a website designed to provide information about asbestos-related medical conditions to members of populations at risk of developing such conditions.

(2) INFORMATION.—The information provided under paragraph (1) shall include information about—
(A) the signs and symptoms of asbestos-related medical conditions; (B) the value of appropriate medical screening programs; and (C) actions that the individuals can take to reduce their future health risks related to asbestos exposure.

(3) CONTRACTS.—Preference in any contract under this subsection shall be given to programs for individuals exposed to asbestos, and to services furnished to an eligible individual shall be limited to the amount that would be reimbursed at the time of the furnishing of such services under title XVIII of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395 et seq.) for similar services that are covered under title XVIII of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395 et seq.).

(4) MEDICAL MONITORING PROGRAM AND PROTOCOLS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator shall establish procedures for a medical monitoring program for persons exposed to asbestos who have been approved for level I compensation under section 131.

(B) PROCEDURES.—The procedures for medical monitoring shall include—
(i) a demonstration of specific medical tests to be provided to eligible individuals annually or by contract with another agency of the Federal Government, with State or local governments, or with private providers of medical services; and
(ii) an evaluation of such tests, which shall initially be provided under section 121(a)(13).

(C) FUNDING.—The Administrator shall establish the frequency with which medical screening shall be provided or made available to eligible individuals, which shall not be less than every 5 years.

(D) PROVISION OF SERVICES.—The Administrator shall ensure that medical screening services are provided to eligible individuals by qualified providers with a doctor-patient relationship with the individual; that appropriate medical tests, which shall initially be provided under section 121(a)(13), are performed according to guidelines developed and promulgated by the Administrator under this subsection, and that all appropriate medical tests required under subpart 4 of part B of title X of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395t et seq.) are provided to eligible individuals annually.

(A) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator shall establish procedures for a medical monitoring program for persons exposed to asbestos who have been approved for level I compensation under section 131.
monitoring program shall be provided with a list of approved providers in their geographic area at the time such claimants become eligible to receive medical monitoring.

(2) Review.—Not later than 5 years after the date of enactment of this Act, and every 5 years thereafter, the Administrator shall review, and if necessary update, the protocols and procedures established under this section.

SEC. 226. NATIONAL MESOTHELIOMA RESEARCH AND TREATMENT PROGRAM.

(a) In General.—There is established the National Mesothelioma Research and Treatment Program (referred to in this section as the “Program”) to investigate and advance the detection, prevention, treatment, and cure of malignant mesothelioma.

(b) Mesothelioma Centers.—

(1) Establishment.—The Administrator shall make available $1,500,000 from the Fund, and the Director of the National Institutes of Health shall make available $1,500,000 from amounts available to the Director for each of fiscal years 2006 through 2015, for the establishment of each of 10 mesothelioma disease research and treatment centers.

(2) Requirements.—The Director of the National Institutes of Health, in consultation with the Medical Advisory Committee, shall conduct a competitive peer review process to select sites for the centers described in paragraph (1). The Director shall ensure that sites selected under this paragraph are:

(A) geographically distributed throughout the United States with special consideration given to areas of high incidence of mesothelioma disease;

(B) closely associated with Department of Veterans Affairs medical centers, in order to provide research benefits and care to veterans who have suffered excessively from mesothelioma;

(C) engaged in exemplary laboratory and clinical mesothelioma research, including clinical trials, to provide mechanisms for effective treatments, as well as on the existence of, and genetic physicians with comprehensive, current information on mesothelioma and its treatment, as well as on the existence of, and general requirements for, the asbestos injury claims resolution fund; and

(E) able to facilitate transportation and lodging for mesothelioma patients, so as to enable patients to participate in the development protocols, as well as on the existence of, and general requirements for, the asbestos injury claims resolution fund; and

(F) able to facilitate transportation and lodging for mesothelioma patients, so as to enable centers to recruit patients in numbers sufficient to conduct necessary clinical trials.

(g) Review.—Not later than 5 years after the date of enactment of this Act, and every 5 years thereafter, the Administrator shall review, and if necessary update, the protocols and procedures established under this section.

(b) Contracts for Oversight.—The Director of the National Institutes of Health may enter into contracts with the Center for the execution and oversight of the centers established under subsection (b), or selection of the director of the Registry and the Tissue Bank under subsection (c) and oversight of the Registry and the Tissue Bank.

(e) Report and Recommendations.—Not later than September 30, 2015, the Director of the National Institutes of Health shall, after opportunity for public comment and review, publish and provide to Congress a report and recommendations on the results achieved and information gained through the Program, including:

(1) information on the status of mesothelioma as a national health issue, including:

(A) annual United States incidence and death rates information, and whether such rates are increasing or decreasing;

(B) the average prognosis; and

(C) the effectiveness of treatments and means of prevention;

(2) promising advances in mesothelioma research and treatment which could be further developed if the Program is reauthorized; and

(3) a summary of advances in mesothelioma research and treatment made in the 10-year period prior to the report and whether those advances would justify continuation of the Program and whether it should be reauthorized for an additional 10 years.

(g) Regulations.—The Director of the National Institutes of Health shall promulgate regulations to provide for the implementation of this section.

TITLE III—JUDICIAL REVIEW

SEC. 301. JUDICIAL REVIEW OF RULES AND REGULATIONS.

(a) Exclusive Jurisdiction.—The United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit shall have exclusive jurisdiction over any action to review rules or regulations promulgated by the Administrator or the Asbestos Insurers Commission under this Act.

(b) Period for Filing Petition.—A petition for review under this section shall be filed not later than 60 days after notice of such promulgation appears in the Federal Register.

(c) Expedited Procedures.—The United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia shall provide for expedited procedures for reviews under this section.

SEC. 302. JUDICIAL REVIEW OF DECISIONS.

(a) In General.—Any claimant adversely affected or aggrieved by a final decision of the Administrator awarding or denying compensation under title 42 shall have a right to judicial review of such decision. Any petition for review under this section shall be filed within 90 days of the issuance of a final decision of the Administrator.

(b) Exclusive Jurisdiction.—A petition for review may only be filed in the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.
SEC. 303. JUDICIAL REVIEW OF PARTICIPANTS’ ASSESSMENTS.

(a) Exclusive Jurisdiction.—The United States District Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit shall have exclusive jurisdiction over any action to review a final determination by the Administrator or the Asbestos Insurers Commission regarding the liability of any person to make a payment to the Fund, including a notice of applicable subtier assignment under section 204(i), a notice of financial hardship or inequity determination under section 204(d), a notice of a distributor’s adjustment under section 204(m), or notice of insurer participant obligation under section 212(b).

(b) Period for Filing Action.—A petition for review under subsection (a) shall be filed not later than 60 days after a final determination by the Administrator or the Commission giving rise to the action. Any defendant who receives a notice of its applicable subtier under section 204(i), a notice of financial hardship or inequity determination under section 204(d), or a notice of a distributor’s adjustment under section 204(m), or notice of an action within 30 days after a decision on rehearing under section 204(h)(10), and any insurer participant who receives a notice of a payment obligation under section 204(m), or notice of an action within 30 days after receiving such notice. The court shall give such action expedited consideration.

SEC. 304. OTHER JUDICIAL CHALLENGES.

(a) Exclusive Jurisdiction.—The United States District Court of the District of Columbia shall have exclusive jurisdiction over any action challenging any provision of this Act or execution with sections 202 and 203 of that Act.

(b) Direct Appeal.—A final decision in the action shall be reviewable on appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States. Such appeal shall be taken by the filing of a notice of appeal within 10 days, and the filing of a jurisdictional statement within 30 days, after the entry of the final decision.

(c) Judicial Review.—The United States District Court for the District of Columbia shall be the initial court of review of an action challenging a determination or that is seeking a stay or injunction pending final judicial action, including the exhaustion of all appeals in a court of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia and the Supreme Court of the United States.

(d) Exhaustration of Review.—An action of the Administrator or the Asbestos Insurers Commission for which review could have been obtained under section 301, 302, or 303 shall not be subject to judicial review in any other proceeding.

SEC. 305. STAYS, EXCLUSIVITY, AND CONSTITUTIONAL REVIEW.

(a) No Stay.—(1) PAYMENTS.—No court may issue a stay of payment by any party into the Fund pending its final judgment.

(2) EXCEPTION.—No court may issue a stay or injunction pending final judicial action, including the exhaustion of all appeals, on a legal challenge to this Act or any provision of this Act.

(b) Exclusivity of Review.—An action of the Administrator or the Asbestos Insurers Commission for which review could have been obtained under section 301, 302, or 303 shall not be subject to judicial review in any other proceeding.

(2) TREATMENT OF TRUSTS.—Section 202 of title 11, United States Code, as amended by this Act, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(j) ASBESTOS TRUSTS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—A trust shall assign a portion of the corpus of the trust to the Asbestos Injury Resolution Fund (referred to in this subsection as the ‘Fund’) as established under the Fairness in Asbestos Injury Resolution Act of 2006, if the trust qualifies as a ‘trust’ under section 201 of that Act.

"(2) TRANSFER OF TRUST ASSETS.—

"(i) Except as provided under clause (ii) of this subparagraph and subparagraphs (B), (C), and (E), the assets in any trust established or maintained in connection with asbestos claims (as defined in section 3 of the Fairness in Asbestos Injury Resolution Act of 2006) shall be transferred to the Fund not later than the date of enactment of the Fairness in Asbestos Injury Resolution Act of 2006 or 30 days following funding of a trust established under a reorganization plan subject to section 202(c) of that Act.

"(ii) As provided under subparagraph (B), the Administrator of the Fund shall accept and use the assets for purposes of paying compensation for asbestos claims (as defined in section 3 of the Fairness in Asbestos Injury Resolution Act of 2006), other than a trust established under a reorganization plan subject to section 202(c) of that Act, shall transfer the assets in such trust to the Fund as follows:

"(I) In the case of a trust established on or before December 31, 2005, such trust shall transfer 90 percent of the assets in such trust to the Fund not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of the Fairness in Asbestos Injury Resolution Act of 2006.

"(II) In the case of a trust established after December 31, 2005, such trust shall transfer 88 percent of the assets in such trust to the Fund not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of the Fairness in Asbestos Injury Resolution Act of 2006.

"(iii) Notwithstanding subsection (ii), the Administrator of the Fund shall—

"(I) accept and use the assets for purposes of paying compensation for asbestos claims (as defined in section 3 of the Fairness in Asbestos Injury Resolution Act of 2006), other than a trust established under a reorganization plan subject to section 202(c) of that Act, with related criteria in a related trust as of the date of enactment of the Fairness in Asbestos Injury Resolution Act of 2006;

"(II) provide to the Administrator of the Fund any information necessary to determine whether the trust satisfies the medical criteria described in paragraph (3) and (4) of the Act; and

"(III) if the Administrator of the Fund determines that such trust satisfies the medical criteria described in paragraph (3) and (4) of the Act, shall transfer the assets in such trust to the Fund as of the date of enactment of the Fairness in Asbestos Injury Resolution Act of 2006;

"(iv) for purposes of demonstrating respiratory impairment; and

"(V) The trust shall notify the Administrator of the Fund of any claim determined by the Administrator of the Fund to be eligible for compensation after the date of enactment of the Fairness in Asbestos Injury Resolution Act of 2006;

"(VI) Any trust transferring assets under clause (ii) shall be subject to the following requirements:

"(I) The trust may continue to process asbestos claims, make eligibility determinations, and pay claims in a manner consistent with the criteria established by the Administrator of the Fund;

cash payments in the ordinary course and consistent with past practices before enactment of that Act. A trust shall not make any payment in respect of any alleged contingent right to recover any greater amount than the trust had already paid, or had completed all determinations necessary to pay, to a claimant in cash in accordance with its ordinary liquidation procedures in effect as of June 1, 2003.

(3) INJUNCTION.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Any injunction issued as part of the formation of a trust described in paragraph (1) shall remain in full force and effect, except that any provision of such an injunction that is inconsistent with the formation of such a trust for resolution shall have no force and effect. No court, Federal or State, may enjoin the transfer of assets by a trust to the Fund. In accordance with this subsection the administrator of such a trust for resolution shall have no force and effect.

(B) BANKRUPTCY-RELATED AGREEMENTS.—

In an insurance receivership proceeding involving a direct insurer, reinsurer or runoff participant, there shall be a lien in favor of the Fund for the amount of any asbestos claim, including a claim described under subsection (e)(2), that requires future performance by any party, insurer of such party, settlement administrator, or escrow agent shall be superseded in its entirety by this Act.

(4) JURISDICTION.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Any jurisdiction over claims in which an individual is constitutionally entitled to just compensation; or

(B) EFFECT ON OTHER LAWS AND EXISTING CLAIMS.—

(a) EFFECT ON FEDERAL AND STATE LAW.—The provisions of this Act shall supersede any Federal or State law relating to asbestos claims, including any claim described under subsection (e)(2).

(b) EFFECT ON SILICA CLAIMS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—

(A) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this Act shall be construed to preempt, bar, or otherwise preclude any personal injury claim attributable to exposure to silica as to which the personal injury claimant, the authorized legal representative acting on behalf of or through the claimant, the settling defendant or the settling insurer, the settling defendant or the settling insurer, the settling defendant or the settling insurer, or any attorney or representative of any of the foregoing, the statute of limitations for a silica claim shall be extended until the plaintiff becomes insolvent or the plaintiff has a liquidating receiver designated for such plaintiff.

(B) PREEMPTION.—Claims attributable to exposure to silica that fail to meet the requirements of subparagraph (A) shall be preempted by this Act.

(2) REQUIRED EVIDENCE.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—In any claim to which paragraph (1) applies, the initial pleading (or, for claims pending on the date of enactment of this Act, an amended pleading to be filed within 60 days after the date of enactment of this Act) shall be accompanied by the information described under subparagraph (B)(i) through (iv).

(B) PLEADINGS.—If the claim pleads the elements of paragraph (1), the information described under clauses (i) through (iv) of this subparagraph if the claim pleads the elements of paragraph (1).

(i) admmissible evidence, including at a minimum, a B-reader's report, the underlying x-ray film and such other evidence showing that the claim may be maintained and is not preempted under paragraph (1);

(ii) notice of any previous lawsuit or claim for benefits in which the exposed person, or another claiming on behalf of or through the injured person, asserted an injury or disability based wholly or in part on exposure to asbestos;

(iii) if known by the plaintiff after reasonability inquiry by the plaintiff or his representative, the history of the exposed person's exposure, if any, to asbestos; and

(iv) copies of all medical and laboratory reports pertaining to the exposed person that refer to asbestos or asbestos exposure.

(3) STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS.—In general, the statute of limitations of any claim shall be governed by applicable State law, except that in any case under this subsection, the statute of limitations shall only start to run when the plaintiff becomes impaired.

(5) SUPERSEDDING PROVISIONS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided under paragraph (3) and section 106(f), any agreement, understanding, or undertaking by any person or affiliated group with respect to the treatment of any asbestos claim, including a claim described under subsection (e)(2), that requires future performance by any party, insurer of such party, settlement administrator, or escrow agent shall be superseded in its entirety by this Act.

(2) NO FORCE OR EFFECT.—Except as provided under paragraph (3), any such agreement, understanding, or undertaking by any such person or affiliated group shall be of no force or effect, and no person shall have any rights or claims with respect to any such agreement, understanding, or undertaking.

(6) EXCEPTIONS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in section 201(f), nothing in this Act shall abrogate a binding and legally enforceable written settlement agreement or any agreement entered into by a direct insurer, a defendant participant or its insurer and a specific named plaintiff with respect to the settlement of an asbestos claim of the plaintiff if—

(i) the date of the settlement agreement was prior to the date of enactment of this Act; and

(ii) the settlement agreement was executed by—

(I) the authorized legal representative acting on behalf of the settling defendant or insurer, the settling defendant or the settling insurer; and

(II) the individual's representative; or

(bb) an authorized legal representative acting on behalf of the plaintiff where the plaintiff is incapacitated and the settlement agreement is signed by that authorized legal representative;

(ii) the settlement agreement contains an express obligation by the settling defendant or settling insurer to make a future direct or indirect monetary payment or payments in a fixed amount or amounts to the individual plaintiff; and

(B) BANKRUPTCY-RELATED AGREEMENTS.—The exception set forth in this paragraph... shall not apply to any bankruptcy-related agreement.

(C) COLLATERAL SOURCE.—Any settlement payment under this section is a collateral source, except that the plaintiff seeks recovery from the Fund.

(D) ABROGATION.—Nothing in subparagraph (A) shall abrogate a settlement agreement otherwise fully enforceable settlement agreement which was executed before the date of enactment of this Act directly by the settling defendant or the settlement insurer and a specific named plaintiff to pay the health care insurance or health care expenses of the plaintiff.

(2) CIVIL ACTIONS AT TRIAL.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—This Act shall not apply to any asbestos claim that—

(i) was asserted, filed in a Federal or State court (not including a filing in a bankrupt court);

(ii) is not part of a consolidation of actions or a class action; and

(iii) on the date of enactment of this Act, the plaintiff is not entitled to receive a monetary award or medical monitoring under subtitle D of title I;

(B) DISMISSAL.—Except as provided under paragraph (2) and section 106(f) of this Act and section 524(j)(3) of title 11, United States Code, as amended by this Act, the remedies provided under this Act shall be the exclusive remedy for any asbestos claim, including any claim described in subsection (e)(2), under Federal or State law.

(3) PREEMPTION.—Any action asserting an asbestos claim (including any claim described in paragraph (2)) on or after the date of enactment of this Act may be maintained, in any Federal or State court, pending (including on appeal) on the appeal under clause (i) is not issued by a court of appeals on or after the date of enactment of this Act.

(A) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided under subsection (d)(2), no judgment other than a judgment for dismissal may be entered in any action asserting an asbestos claim (including any claim described in paragraph (2)) in any Federal or State court or on or after the date of enactment of this Act. A court may dismiss any action asserting an asbestos claim (including any claim described in paragraph (2)) on or after the date of enactment of this Act.

(B) DISMISSAL ON MOTION.—A court may dismiss any action asserting an asbestos claim (including any claim described in paragraph (2)) on or after the date of enactment of this Act.

(C) DENIAL OF MOTION.—If a court denies a motion to dismiss under subparagraph (B)(i), it shall stay further proceedings in any such action (including any appeal taken under this Act).

(D) EXCEPTION FOR PENDING CLAIMS IN COURT.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided under subsection (d)(2) and clause (i) of this subparagraph, an action asserting an asbestos claim that is pending on the date of enactment of this Act may not be dismissed under subparagraph (A), but any stay shall continue in ef effect, if the plaintiff (or the personal representa tive of the plaintiff if the plaintiff is deceased or incompetent) in such action has filed a claim, or is still entitled under section 113(b) to file a claim, with the Fund with respect to the asbestos claim, or, in the case of an injury involving an asbestos claim, to prevent the Fund from paying in full the plaintiff’s claim.

(B) DISMISSAL ALLOWED IF CLAIM IS ADJUDICATED.—An action exempt from dismissal under clause (i) shall be dismissed if—

(i) the plaintiff’s claim under the Fund has been finally adjudicated, and—

(aa) the award, if any, to the plaintiff from the Fund has been paid in whole or in part; or

(bb) the plaintiff has been determined to be eligible for medical monitoring;

(ii) the plaintiff under the Fund has been finally adjudicated and the claimant is not entitled to receive a monetary award or medical monitoring under subtitle D of title I; and

(iii) the plaintiff’s claim has been resolved and paid in full under section 106(f); or

(iv) after the Administrator certifies to Congress that the Fund has become operational and paying all valid asbestos claims at a reasonable rate, the plaintiff’s claim has been finally adjudicated.

(A) IN GENERAL.—This Act shall not apply to any action involving an asbestos claim in any Federal or State court in which such claim is asserted directly, indirectly or derivatively.

(B) NOTICE.—A claimant shall provide notice to the Administrator of any pending action involving an asbestos claim in any Federal or State court in which such claim is asserted directly, indirectly or derivatively.

(C) PROCEDURES.—The procedures for removal and proceedings after removal shall be in accordance with title 15 and title 28, United States Code, except as may be necessary to accommodate removal of any action sought to be removed from the court of the provisions of this Act, any party may remove the case to the district court of the United States for the district in which such action is pending.

(TIME LIMITS.—For actions originally filed after the date of enactment of this Act, the notice of removal shall be filed within the time limits specified in section 1446(b) of title 28, United States Code.

(C) PROCEDURES.—The procedures for removal and proceedings after removal shall be in accordance with title 15 and title 28, United States Code, except as may be necessary to accommodate removal of any action sought to be removed from the court of the provisions of this Act, any party may remove the case to the district court of the United States for the district in which such action is pending.

(D) REVIEW OF REMAND ORDERS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Section 1447 of title 28, United States Code, applies to any removal of a case under this section, except that notwithstanding subsection (d) of that section, a court of appeals may accept an appeal from an order of a district court granting or denying a motion to remand an action to the State court from which it was remed if application is made to the court of appeals not less than 7 days after entry of the order.

(A) IN GENERAL.—The court of appeals may grant an extension of the 60-day period described in clause (ii) if—

(ii) the court finds that it is not in the interests of justice, for a period not exceeding 30 days; or

(ii) the court finds that it is not in the interests of justice, for a period not exceeding 30 days.

(A) IN GENERAL.—If a final judgment on the appeal under clause (i) is not issued before the end of the period described in clause (ii), including any extension under clause (iii), the appeal shall be denied.

(E) JURISDICTION.—The jurisdiction of the district courts is limited to—

(i) determining whether removal was proper; and

(ii) determining, based on the evidentiary record, whether any other portion of this section is presented, preempted, barred, or otherwise precluded under this Act.

(6) CREDITS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—If, notwithstanding the express intent of Congress stated in this section, any court finally determines for any reason that an asbestos claim, including a claim arising under subparagraph (ii) that barred under this subsection and is not subject to the exclusive remedy or preemption provisions of this section, then any participant required to satisfy a final judgment executed with respect to any such claim may elect to receive a credit against any assessment owed to the Fund equal to the amount of the payment made with respect to such executed judgment.

(B) REQUIREMENTS.—The Administrator shall require participants seeking credit under this paragraph to demonstrate that the participant—

(i) timely pursued all available remedies, including remedies available under this paragraph to obtain satisfaction of the claim; and

(ii) notified the Administrator at least 20 days before the expiration of any period within which to appeal the denial of a motion to dismiss barred under this section.

(C) INFORMATION.—The Administrator may require a participant seeking credit under this paragraph to furnish such further information as shall be necessary and appropriate to establish eligibility for, and the amount of, the credit.

(D) INTERVENTION.—The Administrator may intervene in any action in which a credit may be due under this paragraph.

SEC. 404. EFFECT ON INSURANCE AND REINSURANCE CONTRACTS.

(a) EROSION OF INSURANCE COVERAGE LIMITS.—

(1) DEFINITIONS.—In this section, the following definitions shall apply—

(A) DEEMED EROSION AMOUNT.—The term "deemed erosion amount" means the amount of erosion deemed to occur at enactment under paragraph (2).

(B) DEEMED RESTORED AMOUNT.—The term "early sunset" means an event causing termination of the program under section 405(g) which relieves the insurer participants of paying some portion of the aggregate payment level of $46,025,000,000 required under section 212(a)(2)(A).

(C) EARNED EROSION AMOUNT.—The term "earned erosion amount" means, in the event of any early sunset under section 405(g), the percentage, as set forth in the following schedule, depending on the year in which the defendant participant’s funding obligations end, of those amounts which, at the time of the early sunset, a defendant participant has paid to the fund and remains obligated to pay into the fund.

(b) EROSION OF INSURANCE AND REINSURANCE ADMINISTRATIVE COSTS.—

The term "remaining aggregate products limits" means aggregate limits that apply to insurance coverage granted under the "products hazard", "completed operations hazard", "products—complete operations liability", and "products—complete operations liability" in any comprehensive general liability policy issued between calendar years 1974 and 1986 to cover bodily injury which occurs in any State, as reduced by—

(i) any existing impairment of such aggregate limits as of the date of enactment of this Act; and

(ii) the resolution of claims for reimbursement or coverage of liability or paid or incurred loss for which notice was provided to the insurer before the date of enactment of this Act.

(c) SCHEDULED PAYMENT AMOUNTS.—The term "scheduled payment amounts" means the future payment obligation to the Fund under this Act from a defendant participant in the amount established under sections 203 and 204.

(d) UNERASURED EROSION AMOUNT.—The term "unearned erosion amount", means, in the event of any early sunset under section 405(g), the difference between the deemed erosion amount and the earned erosion amount.

(e) QUANTUM AND TIMING OF EROSION.—

(A) EROSION UPON ENACTMENT.—The collective amount paid into the Fund of the insurer and reinsurer participants as assessed by the Administrator shall be deemed as of the date of enactment of this Act to erode the aggregate products limits established on the date of enactment of this Act.

(B) RESTORATION TO FUNDS.—To the extent that a final nonappealable judgment or settlement agreement between a defendant participant and 1 or more asbestos insurance participants as of the date of enactment; or

(C) RESTORATION TO FUNDS.—To the extent that a final nonappealable judgment or settlement agreement between an insurer participant and a defendant participant are parties for any individual defendant participant in the aggregate products limits as established under title 2 of this Act prior to an event of an early sunset, the applicable statute of limitations and contractual provisions do not apply to the defendant participant’s policies in such a manner that the last limits that were deemed eroded at enactment under this subsection are deemed to be the first limits restored upon an early sunset.

(f) COLLAPSE OF CLAIMS.—In the event of an early sunset, the applicable state of limitations and contractual provisions for any asbestos claims that were deemed eroded at enactment under this subsection are deemed to be the first limits restored upon an early sunset.

(g) TECHNICAL AMENDMENTS.—

Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, nothing in this Act shall be deemed to erode remaining aggregate products limits of a defendant participant that can demonstrate by a preponderance of the evidence that 75 percent of its prior asbestos expenditures were made in defense or satisfaction of asbestos claims alleging bodily injury arising exclusively from asbestos exposure at premises owned, rented, or controlled by the defendant participant (a "premises defendant") if in calculating such percentage, where expenditures were made in defense or satisfaction of asbestos claims alleging bodily injury due to exposure to the defendant participant’s products and to asbestos at premises owned, rented, or controlled by the defendant participant, half of such expenditures shall be deemed to be for such premises and 25 percent of such expenditures shall be deemed for all other premises.

(h) METHOD OF RESTORATION.—In general.—Notwithstanding subparagrah (A), the method of erosion of any remaining aggregate products limits which are subject to—

(i) a coverage-in-place or settlement agreement between a defendant participant and 1 or more asbestos insurance participants as of the date of enactment; or

(j) final and nonappealable judgment as of the date of enactment or resulting from a claim for coverage or reimbursement pending as of such date, shall be as specified in subparagraphs (A) or (B) and shall not be subject to erosion applicable to such insurance participants’ policies.

(k) MECHANICs FOR RESTORATION.—To the extent that a final nonappealable judgment or settlement agreement results in a decrease in aggregate limits to a defendant participant as of the date of enactment.

(l) SCHEDULED PAYMENT AMOUNTS.—The term "scheduled payment amounts" means the future payment obligation to the Fund under this Act from a defendant participant in the amount established under sections 203 and 204.

(m) UNERASURED EROSION AMOUNT.—The term "unearned erosion amount", means, in the event of any early sunset under section 405(g), the difference between the deemed erosion amount and the earned erosion amount.

(n) QUANTUM AND TIMING OF EROSION.—

(A) EROSION UPON ENACTMENT.—The collective amount paid into the Fund of the insurer and reinsurer participants as assessed by the Administrator shall be deemed as of the date of enactment of this Act to erode the aggregate products limits established on the date of enactment of this Act.

(B) RESTORATION TO FUNDS.—To the extent that a final nonappealable judgment or settlement agreement between an insurer participant and a defendant participant are parties for any individual defendant participant in the aggregate products limits as established under title 2 of this Act prior to an event of an early sunset, the applicable statute of limitations and contractual provisions do not apply to the defendant participant’s policies in such a manner that the last limits that were deemed eroded at enactment under this subsection are deemed to be the first limits restored upon an early sunset.

(C) COLLAPSE OF CLAIMS.—In the event of an early sunset, the applicable state of limitations and contractual provisions for any asbestos claims that were deemed eroded at enactment under this subsection are deemed to be the first limits restored upon an early sunset.

(D) RESTORATION TO FUNDS.—To the extent that a final nonappealable judgment or settlement agreement results in a decrease in aggregate limits to a defendant participant as of the date of enactment.

(E) SCHEDULED PAYMENT AMOUNTS.—The term "scheduled payment amounts" means the future payment obligation to the Fund under this Act from a defendant participant in the amount established under sections 203 and 204.

(F) UNERASURED EROSION AMOUNT.—The term "unearned erosion amount", means, in the event of any early sunset under section 405(g), the difference between the deemed erosion amount and the earned erosion amount.

(G) QUANTUM AND TIMING OF EROSION.—

(A) EROSION UPON ENACTMENT.—The collective amount paid into the Fund of the insurer and reinsurer participants as assessed by the Administrator shall be deemed as of the date of enactment of this Act to erode the aggregate products limits established on the date of enactment of this Act.

(B) RESTORATION TO FUNDS.—To the extent that a final nonappealable judgment or settlement agreement results in a decrease in aggregate limits to a defendant participant as of the date of enactment.

(C) COLLAPSE OF CLAIMS.—In the event of an early sunset, the applicable state of limitations and contractual provisions for any asbestos claims that were deemed eroded at enactment under this subsection are deemed to be the first limits restored upon an early sunset.

(D) RESTORATION TO FUNDS.—To the extent that a final nonappealable judgment or settlement agreement results in a decrease in aggregate limits to a defendant participant as of the date of enactment.
enactment through the date 6 months after the date of early sunset.

(5) PAYMENTS BY DEFENDANT PARTICIPANT.—Payments made by a defendant participant shall be computed, audited, and otherwise satisfy applicable self-insured retentions, deductibles, retrospectively rated premiums, and limits issued by nonparticipating reinsurers and carriers. Reduction of remaining aggregate limits under this subsection shall not limit the right of a defendant participant to collect from a co-participant.

(6) EFFECT ON OTHER INSURANCE CLAIMS.—Other than as specified in this subsection, this Act shall not affect the coverage, the payment or amount payable, or affect insurance for claims other than asbestos claims.

(b) DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROCEDURE.—

(1) Final and binding award.—An award by an arbitrator shall be final and binding between the parties to the arbitration, but shall have no force or effect on any other person. The parties to an arbitration may agree that in the event a policy which is the subject matter of an award is subsequently determined to be eroded in a manner different from the manner determined by the arbitration in a judgment rendered by a court of competent jurisdiction upon application by any party to the arbitration. Any such modification shall govern the rights and obligations between such parties after the date of such modification.

(c) FinitE RISK POLICIES NOT AFFECTED.—

(1) with respect to all claims determined eligible for compensation that have been filed and that the Administrator projects will be filed with the Office for the fiscal year;

(2) to satisfy the Fund's debt repayment obligation, administrative costs, and other financial obligations;

(3) claims analysis and verification of unanticipated claims—

(A) in general.—If the Administrator concludes, based on the results of the annual report submitted under this section, that

(1) the average number of claims that qualify for compensation under a claim level or designation is less than 75 percent of the number of claims expected to qualify for compensation under that claim level or designation in the most recent Congressional Budget Office estimate of asbestos-injury claims for any 3-year period, the Administrator shall conduct a review of a statistically significant sample of claims qualifying for compensation under the appropriate claim level or designation; or

(B) the significant number of claims that qualify for compensation under a claim level or designation do not suffer from an injury or disease for which exposure to asbestos was a substantial contributing factor;

(B) determinations.—The Administrator shall review the annual report and any recommendations made under subsection (b)(5) in order to determine which 1 or more of the following is true:

(A) the actual number of persons who suffer from asbestos-related claims is higher than the 25 percent of all asbestos-related claims which were determined in the most recent Congressional Budget Office estimate of asbestos-injury claims for any 3-year period, and the Administrator shall conduct a review of a statistically significant sample of claims deemed ineligible for compensation under the appropriate claim level or designation;

(2) determinations.—The Administrator shall review the annual report and any recommendations made under subsection (b)(5) in order to determine which 1 or more of the following is true:

(A) the total of all resolved claims while also meeting all other obligations of the Fund under section 221 when needed to pay 100 percent of all resolved claims while also meeting all other obligations of the Fund under this Act in its entirety; and

(3) recommendations concerning claims criteria—

(A) the Administrator determines that a significant number of the claims that qualify for compensation under the claim level or designation do not suffer from an injury or disease for which exposure to asbestos was a substantial contributing factor; or

(B) a significant number of claims that qualify for compensation under the claim level or designation do not suffer from an injury or disease for which exposure to asbestos was a substantial contributing factor;

(C) a significant number of claims that were determined under the claim level or designation to suffer from an injury or disease for which exposure to asbestos was a substantial contributing factor;

(D) the operation of the Fund generally, including changes in the enforcement or application of the laws I and II of this Act in its entirety; and

(E) the administrative costs of the program under titles I and II.

(f) Shortfall analysis.—(A) Analysis.—If the Administrator concludes, at any time, that the Fund may not be able to pay claims as such claims become due at any time within the next 5 years and to satisfy its other obligations, the Administrator shall prepare an analysis of the reasons for the situation, an estimation of when the Fund will no longer be able to pay claims as such claims become due, a description of the range of alternatives for responding to the situation, and a recommendation as to which alternative best serves the interest of claimants and the public.

The report may include a description of changes in the diagnostic, exposure, or medical criteria of section 121 that the Administrator believes may be necessary to protect claimants and the public. The report shall be submitted to the Committee on the Judiciary of the Senate and the Committee on the Judiciary of the House of Representatives. Any recommendations made by the Administrator for changes to the program shall, in addition, be referred to the Advisory Committee on Asbestos Disease Compensation established under section 102 for review.

(B) range of alternatives.—The range of alternatives under subparagraph (A) may include—

(1) termination of the program set forth in titles I and II of this Act in its entirety;

(2) reform of the program set forth in titles I and II of this Act (including changes in the diagnostic, exposure, or medical criteria, changes in the enforcement or application of those criteria, enhancement of enforcement authority, changes in payments, changes in contributions by defendant participants, insurer participants (or both such participants), or changes in award values);

(3) any measure that the Administrator considers appropriate.

(C) insurer shortfall assessment.—Beginning any year after the Fund has a 125 percent compensable percentage, the Administrator shall recommend to Congress, in the annual report submitted under section 121(a)(3)(C) of this Act the substantial contributing factor that would cause the Administrator to recommend the termination of this Act under subsection (g), then the Administrator may require that the Fund pay to claimants and insurers in addition to the payments imposed under section 221, except that the Administrator shall not impose such assessment in any year in which the percent of all resolved claims while also meeting all other obligations of the Fund under this Act in its entirety, including the payment of—

(D) debt repayment obligations; and

(E) remaining obligations to the asbestos trust of a debtor and the class action trust.

(B) remaining obligations.—For purposes of paragraphs (4)(A)(v) and (vii), the remaining obligations to the asbestos trust of a debtor and the class action trust shall be determined by multiplying the amount of assets transferred to the Fund by the debtor or class action trust by the applicable percentage set forth in the following schedule depending on the year in which a termination becomes effective and the applicable percentage shall be adjusted between years by quarter-yearly increments.
If a termination takes effect under this subsection, the applicable statute of limitations for the filing of sunset claims under subsection (h) shall be tolled for all asbestos claims, while such claimsants were pursuing claims filed under this Act. For those claimants who decide to pursue a sunset claim in accordance with the applicable statute of limitations shall apply, except that claimants who filed a claim against the Fund under this Act before the date of termination shall take effect as of the date of termination to file a sunset claim in accordance with subsection (h).

(7) Establishment of Master Asbestos Trust.

(A) Creation.—Within 120 days after the determination of the Administrator under paragraph (1), the Administrator shall create a trust to be the successor to the asbestos trusts and any class action trust, to receive funds equal to the amount determined by the Administrator to be necessary to pay the remaining aggregate obligations to the asbestos trusts and any class action trust under paragraph (1) (A)(iii) and (B), and to use such funds for the purposes of providing benefits in accordance with the terms of this paragraph to persons who would have held valid asbestos claims against the asbestos trusts under this Act had this Act not been enacted and to otherwise defray the reasonable expenses of administering the master trust.

(B) Jurisdiction.—The United States District Court for the District of Columbia shall have exclusive jurisdiction, without regard to the amount in controversy, over the master trust and all civil actions involving the application and construction of this subparagraph and the trust documents, including any action for the recovery of benefits due under the terms of this subparagraph after exhaustion of trust remedies and any action for breach of fiduciary duty on the part of any fiduciary of the master trust.

(C) Trustees.—The district court shall appoint, upon petition by the Administrator after consultation with the Advisory Committee, 3 persons to administer the master trust. Each trustee, and any successor to each trustee, must be independent, free of any adverse interest and have sufficient qualifications to fulfill the responsibilities described in this section.

(D) Trust Advisory Committee.—The Administrator, after consultation with the Advisory Committee, shall appoint 3 persons to represent the interests of trust beneficiaries as members of a trust advisory committee to consult with the master trust regarding the administration of the master trust and resolution of asbestos claims. At least 1 of the members of the trust advisory committee shall be an individual recommended by recognized national labor federations, and at least 1 of the members of the trust advisory committee shall be an individual representing the interests of any person who has filed a claim for benefits against the master trust with respect to such claim.

(E) Legal Representative.—The district court shall appoint, upon petition by the Administrator after consultation with the Advisory Committee, a legal representative of persons who may in the future have claims against the master trust for the purpose of representing the rights of such persons respecting the master trust and consulting with and advising the trustees respecting the administration of the master trust and resolution of asbestos claims. The legal representative shall have standing to appear and be heard as a representative of the future asbestos claimants in any civil action before the district court arising out of the master trust. The legal representative shall not represent the interests of any person who has filed a claim for benefits against the master trust with respect to such claim.

(F) Trust Documents.—The Administrator, in consultation with the Advisory Committee, shall create such trust documents as may be necessary to create and govern the operations of the master trust. The trust documents shall contain provisions that (i) address the payment of compensation to and reimbursement of necessary and reasonable expenses of the trustees, trust advisory committee members, legal representative, and appointment of successors to such persons, subject to approval by the district court in the case of successors to the trust and legal representative and (ii) provide for the master trust’s obligation to defend and indemnify the Administrator, trustees, members of the trust advisory committee, legal representative and their respective successors against and from legal actions and related losses to the extent that a corporation is permitted under the laws of Delaware to defend and indemnify its officers and directors.

(G) Duty of Trustees.—The trustees shall administer the master trust in accordance with the terms of this subparagraph and the Trust Documents. The purpose of providing benefits to persons with valid claims against the master trust and other persons described in subsection (B) shall be to ensure that the master trust has the financial position to pay, similarly situated asbestos claimants presented to it that involve similar diseases in substantially the same manner and capacity as would have been paid if the master trust had been created.

(H) Claims Resolution Procedures.—The trustees shall adopt and implement by the trustees shall contain—

(i) pro rata distributions of awards amounts that are subject to adjustment, if necessary, based on periodic evaluations of the value of the master trust’s assets and estimates of claims and future asbestos claims, and any action for the protection of the master trust for the purpose of paying such asbestos claims; and

(ii) proof requirements, claim submission procedures, and claim evaluation and allowance procedures that provide for expeditious filing and evaluation of all asbestos claims submitted to the master trust;

(iii) provisions for priority review and payment of claims whose circumstances require expedited evaluation and compensation;

(iv) exposure requirements for asbestos claimants to qualify for a remedy that fairly reflects the economic and other losses attributable to such trust; and

(v) review and dispute resolution procedures for disputes regarding the master trust’s disallowance or other treatment of claims for benefits.

(I) Medical Criteria.—The trustees, in consultation with the trust and legal representative, shall adopt and maintain uniform medical criteria that fairly reflect a current state of medical knowledge including scientific and medical knowledge. The trustees may adopt the medical criteria of section 121.

(J) Corporate and Civil Liability.—The trust agreements shall exclude any liability on the part of the master trust and any successor to the master trust arising out of the engagement in or the performance of any act of the master trust, the trustees, and the legal representative, that is within the scope of their duties under this Act, except as provided in the trust agreement, and shall exonerate the master trust from any and all claims which might otherwise be brought against the master trust under the laws of any State or Federal law.

(K) Reimbursement.—The master trust shall be entitled to recover from any asbestos-related entity whose liabilities were channeled to an asbestos trust or any class action trust, and any asbestos-related entity whose liabilities were not channeled to an asbestos trust or any class action trust any amounts paid to or on behalf of the master trust.

(L) Repeal.—Nothing in this Act shall be construed to amend or repeal any provision of Federal or State law, including any State or Federal law relating to asbestos, that is in effect on the date of enactment of this Act, or to alter the State or Federal law relating to asbestos in any manner.

(M) Effective Date.—The President shall, by executive order, determine the effective date of this Act to be 2 years from the date of enactment of this Act.
(J) AWARD AMOUNTS.—The trustees, in consultation with the trust advisory committee and the legal representative, shall adopt a matrix of award amounts for disease categories to all claimants who have previously had a reasonable person to obtain such a diagnosis before the date on which the previous claim against the Fund was disposed.

(C) MESOTHELIOMA CLAIM.—An individual who received an award for a nonmalignant or malignant mesothelioma (Levels I through VIII) from the Fund may assert a claim for a subsequent nonmalignant or malignant disease (except mesothelioma) under this subsection, unless the mesothelioma was diagnosed after the date on which the nonmalignant or malignant claim was resolved.

(2) EXCLUSIVE REMEDY.—As of the effective date of a termination of this Act under subsection (f) or (g), the Fund shall be the exclusive remedy for any asbestos claim that might otherwise exist under Federal, State, or other law, regardless of whether such claim could have been brought before the date of enactment of this Act or of the termination of this Act, except that claims against the Fund that have been resolved before the date of the termination determination under subsection (f) may be paid by the Fund.

(3) VENUE.—(A) IN GENERAL.—Actions under paragraph (1) may be brought in—

(i) any Federal district court;

(ii) any State court in the State where the claimant resides; or

(iii) any State court in a State where the asbestos exposure occurred.

(B) DEFENDANTS NOT FOUND.—If any defendant cannot be found in the State described in clause (i) or (ii) of subparagraph (A), the claim may be pursued against that defendant in the Federal district court or the State court located within any State in which the defendant may be found.

(C) DETERMINATION OF MOST APPROPRIATE FORUM.—If asbestos exposure occurred in more than one county (or Federal district), the trial court shall determine which State and county (or Federal district) is the most appropriate forum for the claim. If the court determines that a forum other than the one described in clause (i) or (ii) of subparagraph (A) would be the most appropriate forum for a claim, the court shall dismiss the claim. Any otherwise applicable statute of limitations shall be tolled beginning on the date the claim was filed and ending on the date the claim is dismissed under this subparagraph.

(D) STATE VENUE REQUIREMENTS.—Nothing in this paragraph shall preempt or supersede any State’s law relating to venue requirements within that State which are more restrictive.

(4) CLASS ACTION TRUSTS.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, after the assets of any class action trust have been transferred to the Fund in accordance with section 203(b)(5), no asbestos claim may be maintained that maintaining such claim would create liabilities arising from the operations of a person with respect to whose liabilities for asbestos claims a class action trust has been established, whether such claim names the person or a successor to such defendant.

(5) EXPERT WITNESSES.—If scientific, technical, or other specialized knowledge will assist the trier of fact to understand the evidence or to determine a fact in issue in an action permitted under paragraph (1), a witness qualified as an expert by knowledge, skill, experience, training, or education, may testify thereto in the form of an opinion or otherwise, if—

(A) the testimony is based upon sufficient facts or data; and

(B) the testimony is the product of reliable principles and methods; and

(C) the witness has applied the principles and methods to the facts of the case.

(1) AUDIT.—Any annual report to Congress required under this section shall be reviewed and certified as fairly representing the financial condition of the Fund by an independent auditor.

SEC. 406. RULES OF CONSTRUCTION RELATING TO LIABILITY.

(a) CAUSES OF ACTIONS.—Except as otherwise specifically provided in this Act, no asbestos claim that might otherwise exist under Federal, State, or other law, regardless of whether such claim could have been brought before the date of enactment of this Act or of the termination of this Act, except that claims against the Fund that have been resolved before the date of the termination determination under subsection (f) may be paid by the Fund.

(b) FUNDING LIABILITY.—Nothing in this Act shall be construed to require the United States Government to pay any award or part of an award, if amounts in the Fund are inadequate.

SEC. 407. RULES OF CONSTRUCTION.

(a) LIBBY, MONTANA CLAIMANTS.—Nothing in this Act shall preclude the formation of a fund for the payment of eligible medical expenses related to treating asbestos-related diseases for 50 days after receiving that information to the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency and the United States attorney for possible civil or criminal penalties, including those under section 17 of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2606), and to the appropriate State authority with jurisdiction to investigate asbestos matters.

(b) ASBESTOS AS AIR POLLUTANT.—If the Administrator receives information concerning conduct occurring after the date of enactment of this Act that may have been a violation of standards issued by the Environmental Protection Agency under the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2601 et seq.), relating to the manufacture, importation, processing, disposal, and distribution in commerce of asbestos-containing products, the Administrator shall refer the matter in writing within 30 days after receiving that information to the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency and the United States attorney for possible civil or criminal penalties, including those under section 17 of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2606), and to the appropriate State authority with jurisdiction to investigate asbestos matters.

SEC. 408. VIOLATIONS OF ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH AND SAFETY REQUIREMENTS.

(a) ASPEROSITOS IN COMMERCE.—If the Administrator receives information concerning conduct occurring after the date of enactment of this Act that may have been a violation of standards issued by the Environmental Protection Agency under the Clean Air Act (42 U.S.C. 7410 et seq.), relating to asbestos as a hazardous air pollutant, the Administrator shall refer the matter in writing within 30 days after receiving that information to the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency and the United States attorney for possible civil or criminal penalties, including those under section 113 of the Clean Air Act (42 U.S.C. 7413), and to the appropriate State authority with jurisdiction to investigate asbestos matters.

(b) ASBESTOS AS AIR POLLUTANT.—If the Administrator receives information concerning conduct occurring after the date of enactment of this Act that may have been a violation of standards issued by the Environmental Protection Agency under the Clean Air Act (42 U.S.C. 7410 et seq.), relating to asbestos as a hazardous air pollutant, the Administrator shall refer the matter in writing within 30 days after receiving that information to the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency and the United States attorney for possible civil or criminal penalties, including those under section 17 of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2606), and to the appropriate State authority with jurisdiction to investigate asbestos matters.

(c) OCCUPATIONAL EXPOSURE.—The Administrator shall refer the matter in writing within 30 days after receiving that information to the Administrator of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration under the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (29 U.S.C. 651 et seq.), relating to occupational exposure to asbestos, and the Administrator shall refer the matter in writing within 30 days after receiving that information. and refer the matter to the Secretary of Labor or the appropriate State agency with authority to enforce occupational safety and health standards, for investigation for possible violations of such statutes. SEC. 221. BAN OF ASBESTOS CONTAINING PRODUCTS.
Sec. 502. NATURALLY OCCURRING ASBESTOS.

(a) STUDY.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 18 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency shall—

(A) conduct a study to assess the risks of exposure to naturally occurring asbestos, including the appropriateness of the existing risk assessment values for asbestos and methods of assessing exposure; and

(B) submit a report that contains a detailed statement of the findings and conclusions of such study to—

(i) the majority and minority leaders of the Senate;

(ii) the Speaker and the minority leader of the House of Representatives; and

(iii) the relevant committees of jurisdiction of the Senate and House of Representatives, including—

(I) the Environment and Public Works Committee of the Senate;

(II) the Appropriations Committee of the Senate;

(III) the Judiciary Committee of the Senate;

(IV) the Energy and Commerce Committee of the House of Representatives;

(V) the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives; and

(VI) the Appropriations Committee of the House of Representatives.

(b) TECHNICAL AND CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—The table of contents in section 1 of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2601) is amended—

(1) by inserting before the item relating to section 201 the following—

"Subtitle A—General Provisions";

and

(2) by adding at the end of the items relating to title II the following—or used because the specific properties of asbestos are necessary for product use or function. Under no circumstances shall the term ‘asbestos containing product’ be construed to include any products that contain de minimis levels of naturally occurring asbestos as defined by the Administrator not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this chapter.

"Subtitle B—Ban of AsbestosContaining Products."

4. Distribute in commerce.—The term ‘distribute in commerce’—

(A) has the meaning given the term in section 3 of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2602); and

(B) shall not include—

(i) an action taken with respect to an asbestos containing product in connection with the end use of the asbestos containing product by a person that is an end user, or an action taken by a person who purchases from a person that does directly, or indirectly, from an end user or;

(ii) distribution of an asbestos containing product solely for the purpose of disposal of the asbestos containing product in compliance with applicable Federal, State, and local requirements.

5. Subject to subsection (c), the Administrator shall promulgate—

(1) not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this chapter, final regulations that—

(A) prohibit persons from manufacturing, processing, or distributing in commerce asbestos containing products; and

(B) provide for implementation of subsections (c) and (d); and

(2) not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of this chapter, final regulations that, effective 60 days after the date of promulgation, prohibit persons from manufacturing, processing, or distributing in commerce asbestos containing products.

6. Exemptions.—

(1) In General.—Any person may petition the Administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to grant an exemption from the requirements of subsection (b), if the Administrator determines that—

(A) the exemption would not result in an unreasonable risk of injury to public health or the environment; and

(B) the person has made good faith efforts to develop a substitute, a substance, or identify a mineral that does not present an unreasonable risk of injury to public health or the environment and may be substituted for an asbestos containing product.

(2) Terms and Conditions.—Except for an exemption authorized under paragraph (3)(A), an exemption granted under this subsection shall be in effect for such period (not to exceed 5 years) and subject to such terms and conditions as the Administrator may prescribe.

7. Governmental use.—

(A) In General.—

(i) Department of Defense.—Nothing in this section or in the regulations promulgated by the Administrator under subsection (b) shall prohibit or limit the manufacture, processing, or distribution in commerce of asbestos containing products by or for the Department of Defense or the use of asbestos containing products by or for the Department of Defense if the Secretary of Defense certifies (or recertifies within 10 years of a prior certification), and provides a copy of the certification to Congress, that—

(A) use of asbestos containing product is necessary for choral functions of the Department, which includes the use of the asbestos containing product in any weaponry, equipment, aircraft, vehicles, or other classes of property which are owned or operated by the Armed Forces of the United States (including the Coast Guard) or by the National Guard of any State and which are uniquely military in nature;

(B) use of asbestos containing product will not result in a known unreasonable risk to health or the environment.

(ii) National Aeronautics and Space Administration.—The Administrator of the Environment Protection Agency shall provide an exemption from the requirements of subsection (b), without review or limit on duration, if such exemption for an asbestos containing product is sought by the Administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to—

(A) conduct a study to assess the risks of exposure to naturally occurring asbestos; and

(B) submit a report that contains a detailed statement of the findings and conclusions of such study to—

(i) the majority and minority leaders of the Senate;

(ii) the Speaker and the minority leader of the House of Representatives; and

(iii) the relevant committees of jurisdiction of the Senate and House of Representatives, including—

(I) the Environment and Public Works Committee of the Senate;

(II) the Appropriations Committee of the Senate;

(III) the Judiciary Committee of the Senate;

(IV) the Energy and Commerce Committee of the House of Representatives;

(V) the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives; and

(VI) the Appropriations Committee of the House of Representatives.

8. Environmental protection agency review.—

(1) Review in 18 months.—Not later than 18 months after the date of enactment of this chapter, the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency shall complete a review of the exemption for roofing cements, coatings, and mastics utilizing asbestos that is totally encapsulated with asphalt, subject to a determination whether—

(i) the exemption would result in an unreasonable risk of injury to public health or the environment; and

(ii) there are reasonable, commercial alternatives to the roofing cements, coatings, and mastics utilizing asbestos that are totally encapsulated with asphalt.

(2) Revocation of exemption.—Upon completion of the review, the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency shall have the authority to revoke the exemption for the products exempted under paragraph (1)(B), if warranted.

9. Disposal.—

(1) In General.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), not later than 3 years after the date of enactment of this chapter, each person that possesses asbestos containing products that is subject to the prohibition established under this section shall dispose of the asbestos containing products, by a means that is in compliance with applicable Federal, State, and local requirements.

10. Exception.—Nothing in paragraph (1)—

(A) applies to asbestos containing products that—

(i) no longer in the stream of commerce; or

(ii) are in the possession of an end user or a person who purchases or receives an asbestos containing product directly or indirectly from an end user or;

(B) requires that an asbestos containing product described in subparagraph (A) be removed from the site of disposal.

11. Technical and conforming amendments.—The table of contents in section 1 of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2601) is amended—

(1) by inserting before the item relating to section 201 the following—

"Subtitle A—General Provisions";

and

(2) by adding at the end of the items relating to title II the following—

"Subtitle B—Ban of AsbestosContaining Products."

"Sec. 221. Ban of asbestos containing products."

Sec. 221. Ban of asbestos containing products.

Subsection (c) of section 601 of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2611) is amended by striking the second paragraph and inserting the following as the second paragraph:

It is the purpose of this section to protect the public health and the environment, and to provide appropriate, timely, and cost-effective regulation of asbestos containing products.

Sec. 222. Certification.

Sec. 222. Certification.

After the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency certifies (or recertifies within 10 years of a prior certification) that—

(A) the exemption would not result in an unreasonable risk to health or the environment; and

(B) the person has made good faith efforts to develop a substitute, a substance, or identify a mineral that does not present an unreasonable risk of injury to public health or the environment and may be substituted for an asbestos containing product.

Sec. 224. Certification by appropriate Federal and State agencies.

Sec. 224. Certification by appropriate Federal and State agencies.

After the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency certifies (or recertifies within 10 years of a prior certification) that—

(A) the exemption would not result in an unreasonable risk to health or the environment; and

(B) the person has made good faith efforts to develop a substitute, a substance, or identify a mineral that does not present an unreasonable risk of injury to public health or the environment and may be substituted for an asbestos containing product.
Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, in consultation with appropriate State agencies, shall establish comprehensive protocols for testing the presence of naturally occurring asbestos.

(2) Protocols.—The protocols under this subsection shall address both ambient air monitoring and activity-based personal sampling.

(A) suggested sampling devices and guidelines to address the issues of methods comparability, sampler operation, performance specifications, and quality control and quality assurance;

(B) a national laboratory and air sampling accreditation program for all methods of analysis of air and soil for naturally occurring asbestos;

(C) recommended laboratory analytical procedures, including fiber types, fiber lengths, and fiber aspect ratios; and

(D) protocols for collecting and analyzing aggregate and soil samples for asbestos content, including proper and consistent sample preparation practices suited to the activity;

not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency shall issue public education materials, recommended best management practices and recommended remedial measures for areas containing naturally occurring asbestos including existing:

(i) schools and parks; and

(ii) commercial and residential development.

(c) Mapping.—The Secretary of the Interior shall—

(1) acquire infrared mapping data for naturally occurring asbestos, prioritizing California counties experiencing rapid population growth; and

(2) process that data into map images; and

(c) Research Grants.—The Director of the National Institutes of Health shall administer 1 or more research grants to qualified entities for studies that focus on better understanding the health risks of exposure to naturally occurring asbestos. Grants under this subsection shall be awarded through a competitive peer-reviewed, merit-based process.

(f) Task Force Participation.—Representatives of Region IX of the United States Environmental Protection Agency, and the Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry of the United States Department of Health and Human Services shall participate in any task force convened by the State of California to evaluate policies and guidelines for the mitigation of risks associated with naturally occurring asbestos.

(g) Matching Grants.—The Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency shall be authorized to award 50 percent matching Federal grants to States and municipalities. Not later than 4 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency shall establish criteria to award such grants—

(1) for monitoring and remediation of naturally occurring asbestos—

(A) at schools, parks, and other public areas; and

(B) in serpentine aggregate roads generating significant exposure; and

(2) for development, implementation, and enforcement of State and local dust management regulations concerning naturally occurring asbestos that after the Administrator has issued model State regulations under subsection (a)(2), such State and local regulations shall be at least as protective as the model regulations to be eligible for the matching grants.

(h) Availability of Funds.—An amount of $40,000,000 from the Fund shall be made available to carry out the requirements of this section, including up to $9,000,000 for the Secretary of the Interior to carry out subsection (c), and the remainder for the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, at least $15,000,000 of which shall be used for the matching grants under subsection (g).

(i) Construction.—

(1) Guidelines and Protocols.—The guidelines and protocols issued by the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency under the specific authorities in subsections (a), (b), and (c) shall be construed as nonbinding best practices unless adopted as a mandatory requirement by a State or local government agency. Not later than 4 months after the preceding sentence, accreditation for testing will not be granted except in accordance with the guidelines issued under subsection (b)(2)(B).

(2) Existing Federal Regulations.—This section shall not be construed as creating any new Federal cause of action for civil, criminal, or punitive damages.

(3) Funding.—This section shall not be construed as creating any new Federal claim for injunctive or declaratory relief against a State, local, or private party.

(4) State Authority.—Nothing in this section shall limit the authority of States or localities concerning naturally occurring asbestos.

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, today, I join the chairman of the Judiciary Committee, Senator SPECTER, in introducing an amended version of S. 852, the Fairness in Asbestos Injury Resolution Act of 2006, the FAIR Act. This legislation enhances our previous trust fund bill by adopting many of the amendments incorporated in February by Senators on both sides of the aisle. We have incorporated amendments that further protect against fraud and make sure the sickest victims are paid as soon as possible. We have added crucial provisions that make our trust fund accessible to victims who were exposed to asbestos during the attacks on the World Trade Center and Hurricanes Katrina and Rita. We clarified the bill language to ensure that inactive dormant claims cannot be revived to overwhelm the trust fund.

This legislation also contains a few additional changes that we believe respond directly to concerns raised by our colleagues during floor debate. The amendments incorporated in this bill include, among others, the Kyl amendment that adds full funding and that was approved in February by the Senate majority leader to give us sufficient floor time to debate and vote on this important legislation on its merits.

By Mr. ALLEN (for himself, Mr. NELSON of Nebraska, Mr. CRAIG, Mr. INHOFE, Mr. LOTT, Mrs. DOLE, Mr. VITTER, Mr. ENSIGN, Mr. MARTINEZ, Mr. BURR, Mr. CRAPO, Mr. SUNUNU, and Mr. THUNE):

S 3275. A bill to amend title 18, United States Code, to provide a national standard in accordance with which nonresidents of a State may carry concealed firearms in the State; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. President, I rise today on behalf of myself, my good friend from Nebraska, Senator NELSON, and 11 other Senators—Senators CRAIG, INHOFE, MARTINEZ, BURR, CRAPO, SUNUNU, and THUNE—to introduce legislation to amend title 18, United States Code, to provide a national standard under which nonresidents of a State may carry concealed firearms in the State.

This bill is a companion bill to H.R. 457, which Congressmen CLIFF STEARNS of Florida and RICK BOUCHER of Virginia have introduced in the House.

This bill would allow anyone with a valid concealed carry permit or license issued by a State to carry a concealed firearm in any other State if they meet certain criteria. The laws of each State that govern where concealed firearms may be carried would still apply and would be fully respected within its borders. The bill would simply require States to recognize each other’s concealed carry permits and licenses, just as they recognize drivers’ licenses. It would not create a Federal licensing system.

The right-to-carry movement has enjoyed great success throughout our Nation. To cite just one example, the murder rate in my Commonwealth of Virginia fell by a dramatic 40 percent since the right-to-carry law that I signed as Governor took effect in 1995.

This is commonsense legislation. It recognizes that Congress has affirmed an individual’s right to carry firearms for “protective purposes in the Gun Control Act, 1968, and in the Firearm Owners’ Protection Act, 1986. In addition, last year, when this Congress passed the Protection of Lawful Commerce in Arms Act on a strong bi-partisan vote, we preserved all law-abiding citizens’ access to firearms and ammunition for all lawful purposes, including, of course, self-defense. I urge all my colleagues to join with Senator NELSON and me in cosponsoring this legislation to increase the safety of the many law-abiding Americans who have chosen to carry a firearm for protection against criminal attack.

By Mr. LUGAR (for himself, Mr. BIDEN, Mr. HAGEL, Mr. ALEXANDER, and Mr. WARNER):

S. 3222. A bill to build operational readiness in civilian agencies, and for other purposes; considered and passed.

Mr. LUGAR. Mr. President, this legislation is the result of a conversation begun in 2003 between members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and the leadership of the State Department. Since that time, the legislation has gone through a number of evolutions and has ensured the cooperation of the many law-abiding Americans who have chosen to carry a firearm for defense.

In December 2005, the President signed a directive putting the Secretary of State in charge of interagency stabilization and reconstruction efforts. Last month, Secretary Rice promised to dedicate 15 of the 100 new positions she is requesting for fiscal year 2007 to the Reconstruction and Stabilization Office. This legislation would provide the authority for the Secretary of State to increase the number of employees in the office to about 95 individuals, with seconded personnel and contractors included in that count.

Despite this good progress, significant gaps in our capabilities remain. Our legislation calls for a 250-person Active-Duty corps, in addition to the Reserve and OSAID employees. Such a corps would be capable of working with the military for both initial assessments and operational purposes. They would be the first civilian team on the ground in post-conflict situations, well in advance of the establishment of an embassy. This Active-Duty corps would be able to do a wide range of civilian jobs that are needed in a post-conflict or otherwise hostile environment.

Such a 250-person corps would be no larger than the typical Army company, but it would be a force multiplier. It would be equipped with the authority and training to take broad operational responsibility for stabilization missions. Establishment of such a corps is a modest investment of $80 million as part of the overall national security budget. Even in peace time, we maintain Active-Duty military forces of almost 1.4 million men and women who train and plan for the possibility of war. Given how post-conflict situations have been to American national security in the last decade, I believe it is reasonable to have a mere 250 civilians who are training for these situations and who are capable of being deployed anywhere in the world, at any time they may be needed.

This legislation also calls on the heads of other executive branch agencies to establish personnel exchange programs designed to enhance stabilization and reconstruction capacity. The Departments of Agriculture, Treasury, Commerce, Health and Human Services—indeed virtually all the civilian agencies—can make unique contributions to the overall effort.

Once the Department embraced the concept of organizing and leading the civilian effort, the main roadblock became resources. So far, only about $21 million has been made available for operations of the office, despite administration requests for substantially more funding. For 2007, the administration has requested a $75 million crisis response fund to be made available as a contingency for stabilization and reconstruction crises. Of this amount, the administration would like to spend $25 million for the organization, training, and emergency deployment of the Reserve component of the response corps. This legislation would fund the crisis response fund and $80 million for the operations of the new State Department office and the Active-Duty corps, including training, equipment, and travel.

So far, the office has heroically stretched dollars by recruiting personnel on detail from other agencies, taking advantage of DOD-funded training, and getting the State Department to pay for the overhead of new office space from other sources. But such a hand-to-mouth existence has obvious disadvantages. Detailed personnel rarely stay long, and institutional memory becomes short. Relying on DOD funds puts the office in the passenger seat when it should have the resources to pursue uniquely civilian-oriented goals.

In addition, the crisis response fund outlined in our legislation has not been appropriated. On the Senate side, we were able to secure $20 million for the fund in the fiscal year 2006 Foreign Operations Appropriations bill. The entire amount however was eliminated in the conference committee with the House.

One stopgap measure that the Congress did pass in fiscal year 2006 was the $1.2 billion transfer up to $50 million from the Pentagon to the State Department for boosting the civilian response to particular trouble spots. However, this money will not provide the resources necessary over the long term to improve the State Department’s capacity to be a capable partner in responding to complex emergencies.

The foreign affairs budget is always a tougher sell to Congress than the military budget. President Bush has attempted to reverse the downward spiral in overall foreign affairs spending that took place in the 1990s. In that decade, both the executive and legislative branches lost faith in the budgeting process. But President Bush has consistently requested increases for the 150 Account in his budgets. For the fiscal year 2007 budget, he requested a 10.3-percent increase over the CBO-determined fiscal year 2006 baseline. But, if previous years are any example, the amount appropriated will fall far short of the amount requested. Last year, the President’s annual request for foreign affairs was cut by $2.1 billion. The Congress cut the fiscal 2005 annual request by a similar amount. According to a Congressional Research Service report that I requested, Congress has provided $5.8 billion less than the President requested for foreign affairs in regular and supplemental spending bills since September 11, 2001.

Today, when we are in the midst of a global struggle of information and ideas, the global field can be set off by the publication of a cartoon; when we are in the midst of a crisis with Iran that will decide whether the nonproliferation regime of the last half century will be abandoned; when we have entered our fourth year of attempting to stabilize Iraq; and when years of effort to move the Arab-Israeli peace process are at risk—even then, we are unable to muster the necessary support for the President’s budget in foreign affairs.

As all this suggests, we have a long way to go in creating the kind of robust civilian capacity that we need. Both the State Department and the Defense Department are keenly aware of the importance of this legislation. If we cannot think this through and plan better as a government, the United States may come to depend even more on our military and its tasks and capabilities far beyond its current role. But I remain optimistic that we can build on the progress already made to create a strong and reliable civilian component that boosts our stabilization and reconstruction capabilities. Passing this legislation will demonstrate that there is a keen understanding in the Senate that we need to move forward. It will support the President’s plan already taken and encourage further progress. I urge its passage.

By Mr. BUNNING (for himself, Mr. OBAMA, Mr. LUGAR, Mr. BURNS, and Mr. PRYOR):

S. 3325. A bill to promote coal-to-liquid fuel activities; to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. BUNNING. Mr. President, I rise today to introduce the Coal-to-Liquid Fuel Promotion Act of 2006. Last month, I chaired an Energy Committee hearing on this promising technology that can turn coal into diesel fuel. Working with industry and the scientific community, I have put together a comprehensive piece of legislation with the goal of providing the right combination of incentives to create a backbone of coal-to-liquids infrastructures in the United States.

The first step is for the Department of Energy to help with planning these large-scale coal-to-liquids plants. This legislation will create a loan program where the private sector can obtain a loan of up to $20 million, matched dollar-for-dollar by non-federal money, to pay for the significant costs of planning, permitting, and engineering a coal-to-liquids facility. This program will have minimal cost to the taxpayers as these loans will be repaid, within 5 years, after a planned plant is financed. The federal government will also provide loan guarantees for coal-to-liquids facilities by expanding the program authorized in the Energy Policy Act of 2005.

It is not enough to simply help engineer plants to provide a loan guarantee—there must be an economic motivation for investors to put up the $1 to $2 billion it costs to build a large-scale coal-to-liquids plant. To that end, this bill will create a separate investment tax credit for coal-to-liquids technology. It will also extend the fuel tax credit for coal-to-liquids fuels until 2020. The combination of these incentives will be the one-two punch needed to jumpstart investment in this marketplace. This package of incentives is essential to developing a domestic coal-to-liquid fuels market.

With this domestically produced fuel from coal, we can bring down gas prices and be closer to energy independence. And these two goals, which are essential to our national security, bring me to the last part of this legislation. The Department of Defense consumes large amounts of fuel—for our airplanes, ships, and tanks—and nearly all of it is based on petroleum and too much of it comes from the Middle East. It is time we ensure that our military has a safe, domestic source of transportation fuel. My legislation will authorize funding for the continued testing and evaluation of coal-to-liquid fuels by the military. It includes authorization to engage in long-term contracts with producers to ensure a stable, domestic fuel for our armed forces. This bill also authorizes the Department of Energy and Department of Defense to evaluate coal-to-liquids fuels for storage in the Strategic Petroleum Reserve, which allows the government to turn to this domestic source of fuel for filling the reserve.

With this legislation America can take a huge step toward energy independence. My bill will domesticate the marketplace for coal-to-liquids fuels, bring down gasoline costs and provide our military with a secure, domestic fuel source. I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

S. J. Res. 38. A joint resolution approving the renewal of import restrictions contained in the Burmese Freedom and Democracy Act of 2003, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, today, along with my colleagues, Senators FEINSTEIN and MCCAIN, I rise to introduce an extension of the Burmese Freedom and Democracy Act of 2003.

We are joined by a host of original cosponsors: Senators FRIST, REID, AL-EXANDER, ALLARD, ALLEN, BENNET, BIDEN, BINGAMAN, BOXER, BROWNBACK, BUNNING, BURNS, BURR, CHAFFEE, CHAMBLISS, CLINTON, COCHRAN, COL- LINS, DEWINE, DOLK, DOMENICI, DURBIN, ENSIGN, FEINGOLD, HAGEL, HARKIN, KENNEDY, KERRY, KOHL, KYL, LEAHY, LIEBERMAN, LUGAR, MARTINEZ, MENENDEZ, MIKULSKI, MCCAIN, MCCONNELL, MURKOWSKI, OBAMA, SALAZAR, SANTORUM, SARBANES, SMITH, STABENOW, SUNUNU, VOINOVICH, and WYDEN.

This broad bipartisan coalition reflects the overwhelming consensus on this body that the issue of freedom in Burma—and the immediate threat that that country poses to the entire region—is one of major importance. To put it simply, America has a moral obligation to continue to stand with the Burmese people against the country’s dictatorial regime, the State Peace and Development Council (SPDC).
As many of you know, last year the extension of sanctions was signed into law by President Bush on July 27, 2005, and it enjoyed strong bipartisan support. It passed the Senate by a vote of 97-1.

The past year has brought more news from Burma that has ranged from the disconcerting to the horrific. First, the SPDC inexplicably decided to move the nation’s capital from Rangoon to the hinterlands. Thus, instead of using state resources for the betterment of the poor people, who desperately need it, the SPDC will use state funds to build a brand new, unneeded capital located deep within the interior.

Second, Nobel Peace Prize winner Daw Aung San Suu Kyi and scores of other prisoners of conscience remain imprisoned by the SPDC. There are rumors that she may be released soon, and I hope they prove true.

Third, last fall the SPDC began a brutal military campaign against ethnic minorities, resulting in thousands of new internally displaced persons (IDPs); these thousands to be added to the approximately half million already without a home in Burma. Burma has the biggest IDP problem in Asia, Mr. President.

This bill ensures that the United States will not be a party to such brutality and oppression. As in the past, the legislation prohibits imports into the United States from Burma. The bill also freezes on the assets held by Burmese Government officials in U.S. financial institutions. In addition, the bill authorizes the President to assist democracy activists dedicated to nonviolent opposition to the regime in Burma.

America is not alone in the effort to promote freedom and democracy in that nation. In addition to our allies in Europe, the ASEAN Inter-Parliamentary Myanmar Caucus, a grouping of members of parliament from six countries in ASEAN; just this week issued a strong statement on Burma. The group called on the U.N. Security Council to “adopt[ ] a resolution on Burma that would empower them to intervene in Burma’s crises. It is time for real action. It is time for a new, democratic and peaceful Burma.”

Clearly, it is time for the Security Council to discuss and debate a legally-binding, nonpunitive resolution on Burma. The resolution would be for the immediate and unconditional release of Suu Kyi and all other political prisoners in that country; an end to abuses against minorities (including the use of rape as a weapon of war); and the beginning of a meaningful national reconciliation process that includes the full and unfettered participation of the National League for Democracy and ethnic nationals—who, by the way, are being slaughtered and raped by an ongoing military offensive waged by the junta.

I am pleased to be joined by Senators Feinstein, Frist, Brownback, Lautenberg, Durbin, Feingold, Mikulski and Lugar in sending a letter to President Bush today asking that the United States support a resolution at the Security Council as soon as possible.

Until the SPDC’s demonstrates by its actions that it is serious about reconciliation and reform in Burma, the international community has no choice but to use more sticks—and less carrots—to increase pressure on the junta.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, I rise today once again with my friend and colleague Senator MCCONNELL to introduce legislation to renew the ban on all imports from Burma for another year.

Our legislation also amends the original Burmese Freedom and Democracy Act of 2003 to allow the sanctions to be renewed, one year at a time, for up to 6 years.

It is critical that the Congress and the administration send a strong signal to the military junta, the State Peace and Development Council, that our resolve has not weakened and we are still committed to a free and democratic Burma. Unless the SPDC makes “substantial and measurable progress” towards a true national dialogue on national reconciliation and recognition of the results of the 1990 elections—deci-

Let us review the facts.

Aung San Suu Kyi, Nobel Peace Prize recipient and leader of the National League for Democracy, remains under house arrest. She has spent the better part of the past 16 years imprisoned or under house arrest.

The human rights situation in Burma is deplorable and demands a clear, unified response from the international community: 1,300 political prisoners are still in jail; according to a report by the Asian human rights group, As-

Some may argue that because Suu Kyi remains under house arrest and the Burmese people lack basic human rights and a representative government, the sanctions have failed and it is time to lift the import ban.

I could not disagree more.

First, Aung San Suu Kyi and the democratic opposition continue to support a ban on all imports from Burma. If we lift this ban now, without any measure of progress towards democracy and human rights, we will turn back on them and give comfort to their oppressors.

Second, the international community is coming together to put pressure on Burma.
In July 2005, ASEAN forced Burma to forgo its scheduled rotation as chairman of the organization.

On December 16, 2005, the U.N. Security Council debated the situation in Burma for the first time.

Next week, United Nations Undersecretary for Political Affairs will brief members of the Security Council on his meeting with Suu Kyi, her first meeting with a foreigner since 2004. Why would we turn back now when the military junta is increasingly isolated and the plight of the Burmese people is on the agenda of the international community?

Indeed, while we are far from our goal of a free and democratic Burma, we are making progress and we should stay the course.

I remind my colleagues that under the provisions of this legislation, we will have the opportunity to debate sanctions on Burma every year. That is how it should be.

Sanctions are not a panacea for every foreign policy dispute. But, when they are backed by a robust international response, they can be effective and they can compel change.

Archbishop Desmond Tutu has rightly said, “As long as [Suu Kyi] remains under house arrest, not one of us is truly free”.

Today I urge the SPDG to release Aung San Suu Kyi, recognize the 1990 elections, and engage in a true dialogue with the National League for Democracy.

I urge the United Nations Security Council to debate and pass a binding, non-punitive resolution on Burma that recognizes the threat the regime poses and presses them to release Suu Kyi and all prisoners of conscience to be released.

And, finally, I urge United States Senate to renew the sanctions on Burma for another year.

SUBMITTED RESOLUTIONS

Mr. SPECTER (for himself, Mr. LEAHY, and Mr. HATCH) submitted the following resolution; which was considered and agreed to:

S. Res. 497

Whereas Edward Roy Becker was born on May 4, 1933, in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Whereas Edward Roy Becker enjoyed an extraordinary career as a leading jurist in the United States;

Whereas Edward Roy Becker graduated Phi Beta Kappa from the University of Pennsylvania in 1954 and received his law degree from Yale Law School in 1957 with academic distinction;

Whereas, following his graduation from law school, Edward Roy Becker managed a distinguished law practice at the partnership of Becker, Becker, and Fryman with his father and brother-in-law;

Whereas Edward Roy Becker was active in politics, and followed his father as a Republican committee man;

Whereas, at the age of 37, Edward Roy Becker was appointed to the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania in 1970, which was then elevated to the Court of Appeals for the 3rd Circuit in 1982, Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals for the 3rd Circuit from February 1998 until May 2003, and served as a Senior Judge until his passing on May 19, 2006; Whereas, cases, including Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals for the 3rd Circuit, Edward Roy Becker authored many innovative and important opinions;

Whereas, in 2002, Edward Roy Becker received the coveted Edward J. Devitt Distinguished Service to Justice Award after being selected as the most distinguished Article III Judge in the United States “whose career has been exemplary, measured by [his] significant contributions to the administration of justice, the advancement of the rule of law, and the improvement of society as a whole”;

Whereas, among his landmark decisions, the Supreme Court adopted 3 opinions rendered by Edward Roy Becker, including cutting-edge issues, including the reliability of scientific evidence, the rationale of class action certification, and the standards of review relating to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act;

Whereas the University of Chicago Law Review has consistently recognized Edward Roy Becker as among the 3 circuit judges who are most often cited by the Supreme Court;

Whereas the State of Kansas is privileged to benefit from the dedication to education and interdisciplinary debate of Kansas City Kansas Community College head coach Darren Elliot, assistant coaches Skippy Flynn and Adrian Self, and team members Ashley-Michelle Bruce, Ryan Coyne, Clay Crockett, Candace Emerson, Candace Moore, Amanda Montee, Deandre Tolbert, and Garrett Tuck: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) commends the extraordinary contributions of the Kansas City Kansas Community College debate team to the city of Kansas City, Kansas, in 2006 and extends its appreciation to the team for their national championship victories; and

(2) offers its best wishes to the team for future success.

SENATE RESOLUTION 498—DESIGNATING THE WEEK BEGINNING MAY 21, 2006, AS ‘‘NATIONAL HURRICANE PREPAREDNESS WEEK’’

Mr. VITTER (for himself, Ms. LANDRIEU, Mr. SHELBY, and Mr. LOTT) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary;

S. Res. 498

Whereas the President has proclaimed that the week beginning May 21, 2006, shall be known as “National Hurricane Preparedness Week”, and has called on government agencies, the private sector, organizations, schools, media, and residents in the coastal areas of the United States to share information about hurricane preparedness and response to help save lives and protect property;

Whereas the official Atlantic hurricane season occurs from a period beginning June 1, 2006, and ending November 30, 2006;

Whereas hurricanes are among the most powerful forces of nature, causing destructive winds, tornadoes, floods, and storm surges that can result in numerous fatalities and cost billions of dollars in damage;

Whereas, in 2005, a record-setting Atlantic hurricane season caused 28 storms, including 15 hurricanes, of which 7 were major hurricanes; whereas hurricanes are among the most powerful forces of nature, causing destructive winds, tornadoes, floods, and storm surges that can result in numerous fatalities and cost billions of dollars in damage;

Whereas the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration has predicted that between 13 to 16 storms will occur during the 2006 Atlantic hurricane season, with between 8 to 10 storms becoming hurricanes, of which between 4 to 6 storms could become major hurricanes of Category 3 strength or higher;

Whereas the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration reports that over 50 percent of the population of the United States lives in coastal counties that are vulnerable to the dangers of hurricanes;

Whereas, because the impact from hurricanes extends well beyond coastal areas, it is vital for individuals in hurricane prone areas to prepare in advance of the hurricane season;
Whereas cooperation between individuals and Federal, State, and local officials can help increase preparedness, save lives, reduce the impacts of each hurricane, and provide a more effective response to those storms;

Whereas the National Hurricane Center within the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration of the Department of Commerce and the Federal Emergency Management Agency work to develop a family disaster plan, create a disaster supply kit, and stay aware of current weather situations; and

Whereas the designation of the week beginning May 21, 2006, as "National Hurricane Preparedness Week" will help raise the awareness of the individuals of the United States to assist them in preparing for the upcoming hurricane season: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) supports the goals of the President in proclaiming the week beginning May 21, 2006, as "National Hurricane Preparedness Week";

(2) encourages the people of the United States—

(A) to be prepared for the upcoming hurricane season; and

(B) to promote awareness of the dangers of hurricanes to help save lives and protect communities; and

(3) recognizes—

(A) the threats posed by hurricanes; and

(B) the need for the individuals of the United States to learn more about preparedness so that they may minimize the impacts of, and provide a more effective response to, hurricanes.

NOTICE OF HEARING
COMMITTEE ON ENERGY AND NATURAL RESOURCES

Mr. DOMENICI. Mr. President, I would like to announce for the information of the Senate and the public that a hearing has been scheduled before the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources.

The hearing will be held on Monday, June 12, 2006, at 2:30 p.m. in room SD-366 of the Dirksen Building.

The purpose of the hearing is to receive testimony regarding the implementation of Sections 641 through 645 of the Energy Policy Act of 2005, the Next Generation Nuclear Power Act, and within the Department of Energy.

Because of the limited time available for the hearing, witnesses may testify by invitation only. However, those wishing to submit written testimony for the hearing record should send two copies of their testimony to the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources, United States Senate, Washington, DC 20510-6165.

For further information, please contact Clint Williamson at (202) 224-7556 or Steve Wasklewicz at (202) 228-6195.

A PRODUCTIVE WEEK

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, over the next 20 minutes or so, we will be wrapping up what has been a very busy but very productive week, moving to a period which will begin with the celebration of this weekend. In the sense that a lot of people will be with families back at home, back with their constituents, back in their communities, but we will move very quickly to our Memorial Day recess. I will have a few statements to make, a few words to say on what will be going on, on Monday.

We have had a very successful week in the sense that we have completed another nomination thus far. We will have a few more in a little bit that we have agreed to on both sides. We have completed an immigration bill that we worked on for about a month—initially, for 2 weeks, then a pause, and then for the last 2 weeks—a bill that, as I said yesterday, is a product of the will of this body. Not everybody agrees with it. Not anybody, I think, agrees with everything in that legislation. But it is comprehensive legislation that demonstrates that we are governing, addressing the very real problems, real challenges that face us in America today.

MARRIAGE PROTECTION AMENDMENT

Mr. FRIST. When we come back we will deal with a range of issues. I will have a little more to say about that in a bit, but the first issue we will come back to has to do with another institution, the institution of marriage.

Throughout human history and culture, the union of a man and a woman has been recognized as the essential cornerstone of society. For millennia, marriage has served as a public act, a civil institution to bind men and women in the task of producing and nurturing their offspring. In some eras it has existed apart from romance, love, and mutual regard. In ours, we have embraced the ideal of marriage that deepens and enriches the bonds of love, that grows with every shared memory, endeavor, and challenge: husband and wife, father and mother, building a family and a community over a lifetime.

At its root, marriage is and always has been a public institution that formalizes that family bond—it's intent to further the community's interest in successfully rearing the next generation of healthy and prosperous citizens. But now, this fundamental institution is under attack. There is a concerted effort underway to redefine marriage against millennia of human experience and against the expressed wishes of the American people. Activist courts are attempting to redefine marriage in this important social institution. And if marriage is redefined for anyone, it is redefined for everyone.

The threat is real. Just last year voters in 13 States passed by enormous margins State constitutional amendments protecting marriage. Nineteen States have State constitutional amendments also to protect marriage, and 5 more States have amendments pending. In total, 45 States have either State constitutional amendments or laws to protect marriage, or a definition of marriage. In Nebraska, the definition of marriage endures and remains true to the people or by judicial fiat. Will anyone, it is two sentences. The truth is, on the question of marriage, the Constitution will be amended. The only question is whether it will be amended by Congress as the representative of the people by judicial fiat. Will any legislation pass Congress or will the people amend the Constitution to preserve marriage as it has always been understood?
I say the people should have a voice. The American people have a right to settle the question of what marriage will be in the United States. Marriage is an issue that rightly belongs in the hands of the people, of the American people. So before the courts impose a vast, untested social experiment for which children will bear the ultimate consequence, let the people hold a thorough debate. The matter before us is critical. The debate before us is essential. Let it be held now for this and future generations of Americans, and let it ultimately lead the way forward.

MOTION TO PROCEED

Mr. President, I now move to proceed to Calendar No. 435, S.J. Res. 1, the marriage protection amendment. I ask unanimous consent the Senate resume consideration of this motion to proceed immediately following any morning business period on Monday, June 5.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT AGREEMENT—EXECUTIVE CALENDAR

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, under the previous order, as in executive session, I ask unanimous consent that at 10:05 a.m. on Tuesday, June 6, the Senate proceed to executive session, with 10 minutes of debate equally divided between the chairman and ranking member, followed by a vote on the confirmation of the following judicial nomination on the Executive Calendar: Calendar No. 626, Renee Marie Bumb to be United States District Judge for the District of New Jersey; provided further that following the vote, the President be immediately notified of the Senate’s action and the Senate then resume executive session.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

PROVIDING FOR AN ADJOURNMENT OR RECESS OF THE HOUSE AND SENATE

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate now proceed to the consideration of H. Con. Res. 418, the adjournment resolution; provided that the concurrent resolution be agreed to and the motion to reconsider be laid upon the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The concurrent resolution (H. Con. Res. 418) was agreed to, as follows:

H. Con. Res. 418

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That when the House adjourns on any day from Thursday, May 25, 2006, on a motion offered pursuant to this concurrent resolution by its Majority Leader or his designee, it stand adjourned until 2 p.m. on Tuesday, June 6, 2006, or until the time of any reassembly pursuant to section 2 of this concurrent resolution, whichever occurs first.

MEASURE PLACED ON THE CALENDAR—S. 3064

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I understand there is a bill at the desk that is due for its second reading.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will read the bill for the second time by title.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (S. 3064) to express the policy of the United States regarding the United States’ relationship with Native Hawaiians, and for other purposes.

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, in order to place the bill on the calendar under the provisions of rule XIV, I object to further proceedings.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill will be placed on the calendar.

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I understand there are five bills at the desk, and I ask for their first readings en bloc.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the bills by title en bloc.

The legislation clerk read as follows:

A bill (S. 3274) to create a fair and efficient system to resolve claims of victims of bodily injury caused by asbestos exposure, and for other purposes.

A bill (H.R. 5253) to prohibit price gouging in the sale of gasoline, diesel fuel, crude oil, home heating oil, and for other purposes.

A bill (H.R. 5311) to establish the Upper Housatonic Valley National Heritage Area.

A bill (H.R. 5403) to improve protections for children and to hold States accountable for the safe and timely placement of children across State lines, and for other purposes.

A bill (H.R. 5429) to direct the Secretary of the Interior to establish and implement a competitive oil and gasoline leasing program that will result in an environmentally sound program for the exploration, development, and production of the oil and gas resources of the Coastal Plain of Alaska, and for other purposes.

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I now ask for their second reading, and in order to place the bills on the calendar under the provisions of rule XIV, I object to my own requests en bloc.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard. The bills will receive their second reading on the next legislative day.

JACK C. MONTGOMERY DEPARTMENT OF VETERANS AFFAIRS MEDICAL CENTER

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent the Committee on Veterans’ Affairs be discharged from further consideration of H.R. 3829, and the Senate proceed to its immediate consideration.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered. The clerk will report the bill by title.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (H.R. 3829) to designate the Department of Veterans Affairs Medical Center in Muskogee, Oklahoma, as the Jack C. Montgomery Department of Veterans Affairs Medical Center.

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the bill.

Mr. FRIST. I ask unanimous consent the bill be read the third time and pass, the motion to reconsider be laid upon the table, and any statements related to the bill be printed in the RECORD.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The bill (H.R. 3829), was ordered to a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

OPERATION READINESS IN CIVILIAN AGENCIES

Mr. FRIST. I ask unanimous consent the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of S. 3222, introduced earlier today.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the bill by title.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (S. 3222) to build operational readiness in civilian agencies, and for other purposes.

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the bill.

Mr. FRIST. I ask unanimous consent the bill be read the third time and pass, the motion to reconsider be laid upon the table, and any statements related to the bill be printed in the RECORD.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The bill (S. 3222) was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed, as follows:

S. 3222

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled.

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Reconstruction and Stabilization Civilian Management Act of 2006.”

SEC. 2. FINDING.

(a) FINDING.—Congress finds that the resources of the United States Armed Forces have been burdened by having to undertake stabilization and reconstruction tasks in the Horn of Africa, Afghanistan, and other countries of the world that could have been performed by civilians, which has resulted in lengthy deployments for Armed Forces personnel.

(b) PURPOSE.—The purpose of this Act is to provide for the continued development, as a core capability of the Department of State and the United States Agency for International Development, of an effective expert civilian response capability to carry out reconstruction and stabilization activities in a country or region that is at risk of, in, or is in transition from, conflict or civil strife.

SEC. 3. DEFINITIONS.

In this Act—

(1) ADMINISTRATOR.—The term "Administrator" means the Administrator of the United States Agency for International Development.

(2) APPROPRIATE CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES.—The term ‘appropriate congressional committees’ means the Committees on Foreign Relations of the Senate and the Committee on International Relations of the House of Representatives.

(3) DEPARTMENT.—Except as otherwise provided in this Act, the term ‘Department’ means the Department of State.

(4) EXECUTIVE AGENCY.—The term ‘executive agency’ has the meaning given that term in section 105 of title 5, United States Code.

(5) SECRETARY.—The term ‘Secretary’ means the Secretary of State.

SEC. 4. SENSING AND READINESS.

It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) the civilian element of United States joint civilian-military operations should be strengthened in order to enhance the execution of current and future reconstruction and stabilization activities in foreign countries or regions that are at risk of, in, or are in transition from, conflict or civil strife;

(2) the capability of civilian agencies of the United States Government to carry out reconstruction and stabilization activities in such regions should also be enhanced through a rapid response corps of civilian experts supported by the establishment of a new system of planning, organization, personnel policies, and education and training, and the provision of adequate resources;

(3) the international community, including non-Governmental Organizations, the United Nations and its specialized agencies, should be further encouraged to participate in planning and organizing reconstruction and stabilization activities in such countries or regions;

(4) the executive branch has taken a number of steps to strengthen civilian capability, including the establishment of an Office, headed by a Coordinator for Reconstruction and Stabilization in the Department, the Presidential designation of the Secretary as the interagency Coordinator and leader of reconstruction and stabilization efforts, and Department of Defense directives to the military to support the Office of Reconstruction and Stabilization and to work closely with counterparts in the Department of State and other civilian agencies to develop and enhance personnel, training, planning, and analysis;

(5) the Secretary and the Administrator should work with the Secretary of Defense to augment existing personnel exchange programs among the Department, and the United States Agency for International Development, and the Department of Defense, including the regional commands and the Joint Staff, to enhance the stabilization and reconstruction skills of military and civilian personnel and their ability to undertake joint operations; and

(6) other Executive agencies should establish personnel exchange programs that are designed to enhance the stabilization and reconstruction skills of military and civilian personnel.

SEC. 5. AUTHORITY TO PROVIDE ASSISTANCE FOR RECONSTRUCTION AND STABILIZATION.

Chapter 1 of part III of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2351 et seq.) is amended by inserting after section 617 the following new section:

"SEC. 618. ASSISTANCE FOR A RECONSTRUCTION AND STABILIZATION CRISIS.

(a) AUTHORITY.—If the President determines that the national interests of the United States for United States civilian agencies or non-Federal employees to assist in stabilizing and reconstructing a region that is at risk of, in, or is in transition from, conflict or civil strife, the President may, in accordance with the provisions set forth in section 619(a)(5), notwithstanding any other provision of law, and on such terms and conditions as the President may determine, furnish assistance to respond to the crisis.

(b) SPECIAL AUTHORITIES.—In furtherance of a determination made under subsection (a), the President may exercise the authorities contained in sections 552(c)(2) and 610 of this Act with respect to the Secretary, the Under Secretary, the Comptroller of the United States, and the Office of the Administrator, notwithstanding any other provision of law, and on such terms and conditions as the President may determine, furnish assistance to respond to the crisis.

SEC. 6. OFFICE OF THE COORDINATOR FOR RECONSTRUCTION AND STABILIZATION.

Title I of the State Department Basic Authorities Act of 1956 (22 U.S.C. 2651 et seq.) is amended by adding at the end the following new section:

"SEC. 61. RECONSTRUCTION AND STABILIZATION.

(a) OFFICE OF THE COORDINATOR FOR RECONSTRUCTION AND STABILIZATION.—

(1) ESTABLISHMENT.—There is established within the Department of State the Office of the Coordinator for Reconstruction and Stabilization.

(2) COORDINATOR FOR RECONSTRUCTION AND STABILIZATION.—The head of the Office shall be the Coordinator for Reconstruction and Stabilization, who shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Coordinator shall report directly to the Secretary and shall have the rank and status of Ambassador at Large.

(b) FUNCTIONS.—The functions of the Office of the Coordinator for Reconstruction and Stabilization include the following:

(1) Monitor and coordinate with relevant bureaus within the Department of State, political and economic instability worldwide to anticipate the need for mobilizing United States and international assistance for the stabilization and reconstruction of countries or regions that are at risk of, in, or in transition from, conflict or civil strife.

(2) Assessing the various types of stabilization and reconstruction crises that could occur and cataloging the non-military resources and capabilities of Executive agencies that are available to address such crises.

(3) Planning to address requirements, such as demobilization, policing, human rights monitoring, and public information, that commonly arise in stabilization and reconstruction crises.

(4) Identifying personnel in State and local governments and in the private sector who are available to participate in the Response Readiness Corps or the Response Readiness Reserve established under subsection (b) or to otherwise participate in or contribute to stabilization and reconstruction activities.

(5) Taking steps to ensure that training of civilian personnel to perform such stabilization and reconstruction activities is adequate and, as appropriate, includes secure and reliable communications with the Armed Forces, including the regional commands.

(6) Sharing information and coordinating plans for stabilization and reconstruction activities, as appropriate, with the United Nations and its specialized agencies, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, nongovernmental organizations, and other foreign national and international organizations.

(7) Coordinating plans and procedures for joint civilian-military operations with respect to stabilization and reconstruction activities.

(8) Maintaining the capacity to field on short notice an evaluation team to undertake the needs assessment in stabilization and reconstruction crises.

(9) RESPONSE TO STABILIZATION AND RECONSTRUCTION CRISIS.—If the President makes a determination regarding a stabilization and reconstruction crisis under section 618 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, the President may designate the Coordinator, or such other individual as the President may determine appropriate, as the Coordinator of the United States response. The individual so designated, or, in the event the President does not make such a designation, the Coordinator, shall—

(1) assess and determine the immediate and long-term needs for resources and civilian personnel;

(2) identify and mobilize non-military resources to respond to the crisis; and

(3) coordinate the activities of the other individuals or management team, if any, designated by the President to manage the United States response.

SEC. 7. RESPONSE READINESS CORPS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 61 of the State Department Basic Authorities Act of 1956 (as added by section 6) is amended by adding at the end the following new section:

"SEC. 61. RESPONSE READINESS CORPS.

(a) RESPONSE READINESS CORPS.—

The Coordinator for Reconstruction and Stabilization shall...

The Coordinator for Reconstruction and Stabilization shall be designated by the President to manage the United States response..."
SEC. 9. SERVICE RELATED TO STABILIZATION AND RECONSTRUCTION.

(a) Promotion Purposes.—Service in stabilization and reconstruction operations is a purpose for promotion of employees of the United States Army Corps of Engineers under section 61(c) of the State Department Basic Authorities Act of 1956 (as added by section 7), and education and training of employees of the Response Readiness Corps under section 61(c) of the State Department Basic Authorities Act of 1956 (as added by section 7). The Secretary of State may, in the determination of authority to promote employees of the United States Army Corps of Engineers under section 61(c) of the State Department Basic Authorities Act of 1956 (as added by section 7), and education and training of employees of the Response Readiness Corps under section 61(c) of the State Department Basic Authorities Act of 1956 (as added by section 7), consider the performance of the employee in the training, education, and other activities described in paragraphs (5), (6), and (7) of section 7.

(b) Personnel Training and Promotion.—The Secretary and the Administrator shall provide training and professional development activities and other incentives and benefits to employees of the United States Army Corps of Engineers under section 61(c) of the State Department Basic Authorities Act of 1956 (as added by section 7) to enable them to contribute to stabilization and reconstruction requirements of any foreign country or region that is at risk of or in transition from, conflict or civil strife.

SEC. 10. AUTHORITIES RELATED TO PERSONNEL.

(a) Contracting Authority.—(1) In general.—The Secretary, or the Administrator, may enter into contracts to procure the services of nationals of the United States who are in, or are in transition from, conflict or civil strife in a foreign country or region that is at risk of or in transition from, conflict or civil strife.

(b) Personnel Training and Promotion.—The Secretary and the Administrator shall provide training and professional development activities and other incentives and benefits to employees of the United States Army Corps of Engineers under section 61(c) of the State Department Basic Authorities Act of 1956 (as added by section 7) to enable them to contribute to stabilization and reconstruction requirements of any foreign country or region that is at risk of or in transition from, conflict or civil strife.

(c) Other Incentives and Benefits.—The Secretary and the Administrator may establish a system of awards and other incentives and benefits to employees of the United States Army Corps of Engineers under section 61(c) of the State Department Basic Authorities Act of 1956 (as added by section 7) to enable them to contribute to stabilization and reconstruction requirements of any foreign country or region that is at risk of or in transition from, conflict or civil strife.

(d) Not Employees.—Individuals performing services under contracts described in paragraph (1) shall be considered to be employees of the United States Army Corps of Engineers under section 61(c) of the State Department Basic Authorities Act of 1956 (as added by section 7).

(e) Experts and Consultants.—The Secretary and the Administrator may enter into contracts with foreign countries or regions to assist in stabilizing and reconstructing a country or region that is at risk of or in transition from, conflict or civil strife.

(f) Authority to Accept and Assign Duties.—The Secretary and the Administrator may assign employees of the United States Army Corps of Engineers under section 61(c) of the State Department Basic Authorities Act of 1956 (as added by section 7) to any foreign country or region that is at risk of or in transition from, conflict or civil strife.

(g) Authorization to Accept and Assign Duties.—The Secretary and the Administrator may enter into contracts with foreign countries or regions to assist in stabilizing and reconstructing a country or region that is at risk of or in transition from, conflict or civil strife.

(h) Authorization to Accept and Assign Duties.—The Secretary and the Administrator may assign employees of the United States Army Corps of Engineers under section 61(c) of the State Department Basic Authorities Act of 1956 (as added by section 7) to any foreign country or region that is at risk of or in transition from, conflict or civil strife.

(i) Authority to Accept and Assign Duties.—The Secretary and the Administrator may enter into contracts with foreign countries or regions to assist in stabilizing and reconstructing a country or region that is at risk of or in transition from, conflict or civil strife.

(j) Authorization to Accept and Assign Duties.—The Secretary and the Administrator may assign employees of the United States Army Corps of Engineers under section 61(c) of the State Department Basic Authorities Act of 1956 (as added by section 7) to any foreign country or region that is at risk of or in transition from, conflict or civil strife.

(k) Authorization to Accept and Assign Duties.—The Secretary and the Administrator may enter into contracts with foreign countries or regions to assist in stabilizing and reconstructing a country or region that is at risk of or in transition from, conflict or civil strife.

(l) Authorization to Accept and Assign Duties.—The Secretary and the Administrator may assign employees of the United States Army Corps of Engineers under section 61(c) of the State Department Basic Authorities Act of 1956 (as added by section 7) to any foreign country or region that is at risk of or in transition from, conflict or civil strife.

(m) Authorization to Accept and Assign Duties.—The Secretary and the Administrator may enter into contracts with foreign countries or regions to assist in stabilizing and reconstructing a country or region that is at risk of or in transition from, conflict or civil strife.

(n) Authorization to Accept and Assign Duties.—The Secretary and the Administrator may assign employees of the United States Army Corps of Engineers under section 61(c) of the State Department Basic Authorities Act of 1956 (as added by section 7) to any foreign country or region that is at risk of or in transition from, conflict or civil strife.

(o) Authorization to Accept and Assign Duties.—The Secretary and the Administrator may enter into contracts with foreign countries or regions to assist in stabilizing and reconstructing a country or region that is at risk of or in transition from, conflict or civil strife.

SIGNING AUTHORIZATION

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that during the adjournment of the Senate, the majority leader and the senior Senator from Virginia be authorized to sign any duly enrolled bills or joint resolutions.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

APPOINTMENT AUTHORIZATION

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that notwithstanding the upcoming recess or adjournment of the Senate, the President of the Senate, the President pro tempore, and the majority and minority leaders be authorized to make appointments to commissions, committees, boards, conferences, interparliamentary conferences authorized by law, by concurrent action of the two Houses, or by order of the Senate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

MEMORIAL DAY

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, on May 30, 1868, mourners placed flowers on the graves of Union and Confederate soldiers at Arlington National Cemetery in Washington, D.C. This marked the first observance of Memorial Day.

On Monday, America will continue this tradition by honoring our Nation’s fallen soldiers in ceremonies across the country.

Ever since GEN George Washington defeated the British at Yorktown, American soldiers have honorably defended the cause of liberty in conflicts at home and, indeed, around the world.

Today, our men and women in uniform are bravely waging the war on terror, taking the battle to the enemy so that the enemy does not do battle here at home.

America thanks our soldiers for their dedication, for their determination, and for their patriotism. We honor the 25 million living veterans who have served their country in past wars with honor and courage. And we remember those patriots who have given the ultimate sacrifice in service to their country.

Two years ago, I had the privilege of attending the dedication of the National World War II Memorial. It was the largest gathering of surviving veterans in 60 years and an experience I will never forget. One of the veterans was asked how did they do it, how did ordinary young men set aside their fear in the face of extraordinary odds against determined enemies. The veteran replied simply:

There’s nothing else you can do but do your best and keep firing until the ammunition runs out.

One of the inscriptions on the monument is a quote by President Truman. It embodies the patriotic spirit of this annual remembrance. It reads:

“Our debt to the heroic men and valiant women in this our country can never be repaid. They have earned our undying gratitude. America will never forget their sacrifices.

So on Monday, we remember, we honor and we executive America’s heritage, those men and women who did their best, and we repay in small measure the debt we owe them for their service and their sacrifice.

LEGISLATIVE SESSION

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will return to legislative session.

ORDERS FOR MONDAY, JUNE 5, 2006

Mr. PRESIDENT. I ask unanimous consent that when the Senate completes its business today, it shall stand in adjournment under the provisions of H. Con. Res. 418 until 2 p.m. on Monday, June 5. I further ask that following the prayer and pledge, the morning hour be deemed expired, the Journal of proceedings be approved to date, the time for the two leaders be reserved, and the Senate then resume consideration of the motion to proceed to S. Res. 1, the marriage protection amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

PROGRAM

Mr. Frist. Mr. President, today, we confirmed Brett Kavanaugh to the DC Circuit, we confirmed General Hayden as CIA Director, and we confirmed a former colleague, Dirk Kempthorne, as Secretary of the Interior. In addition, we were able to confirm several nominations by unanimous consent. We have had a productive stretch in the last few weeks that we have been in session. Yesterday, we did pass the comprehensive immigration reform bill after a total of 4 weeks of good debate. Again, I congratulate the managers of the bill for their dedicated work in moving the bill along for passage. I congratulate Senators McCain and Kennedy, Senators Martinez and Hagel, and the entire Judiciary Committee which generated the bill, and all of my colleagues for their participation and active debate with amendments. When we return from the Memorial Day recess, we will continue on the motion to proceed to the marriage protection amendment. The first vote of the week will occur in the morning on Tuesday, June 6. That vote will be on a district judge nomination.

As we head in to the Memorial Day recess, we honor all who have died serving our great Nation.

ADJOURNMENT UNTIL MONDAY, JUNE 5, 2006, AT 2 P.M.

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, if there is no further business to come before the Senate, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate stand in adjournment under the provisions of H. Con. Res 418. There being no objection, the Senate, at 3:37 p.m., adjourned until Monday, June 5, 2006, at 2 p.m.

RECOGNIZING PHILIP SHAY MEEKS FOR ACHIEVING THE RANK OF EAGLE SCOUT

HON. SAM GRAVES
OF MISSOURI
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. GRAVES. Mr. Speaker, I proudly pause to recognize Philip Shay Meeks, a very special young man who has exemplified the finest qualities of citizenship and leadership by taking an active part in the Boy Scouts of America, Troop 376, and in earning the most prestigious award of Eagle Scout.

Philip has been very active with his troop, participating in many Scout activities. Over the many years Philip has been involved with scouting, he has not only earned numerous merit badges, but also the respect of his family, peers, and community.

Philip has served in the leadership positions of assistant senior patrol leader and senior patrol leader, among others. He is an ordeal member and an emeritus of the arrow and a tomahawker in the Tribe of Mic-O-Say. For his Eagle Scout project, Philip planned and supervised the building of ladders for a storage area, donating money for shades, and painting the stage area at the Liberty Christian Fellowship Church Building in Liberty, MO.

Mr. Speaker, I proudly ask you to join me in commending Philip Shay Meeks for his accomplishments with the Boy Scouts of America and for his efforts put forth in achieving the highest distinction of Eagle Scout.

HONORING EVANS MAPLES FOR HIS SERVICE TO RUTHERFORD COUNTY

HON. BART GORDON
OF TENNESSEE
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. GORDON. Mr. Speaker, today I rise to honor Evans Maples, a lifelong Rutherford County resident who has served as county trustee since 1994. Evans has decided he will not seek another term, and I want to thank him for all he has done for his community, which I have the honor of representing in this esteemed body.

For nearly 12 years, Evans has been responsible for collecting the county’s property taxes, as well as overseeing idle funds of the county. While most people might dread being in charge of such tasks, Evans has instead embraced his responsibilities as county trustee and has even managed to transform his position into one that has helped people in his community.

One of Evans’ most notable contributions to Rutherford County involves the tax relief program he initiated. The program is designed to help retired persons on fixed incomes keep their homes in the face of rising property taxes. Under this program, the State pays a portion of the taxes, which are matched by the county. Right now the program serves close to 800 county residents.

Evans also worked with the county commission’s budget, finance, and investment committee to develop the county’s first investment policy, which describes the parameters under which county funds may be invested.

Evans, today I want to thank you for your service to Rutherford County, and I wish you all the best in your future endeavors.

ON THE OCCASION OF MR. JIM PADILLA’S RETIREMENT

HON. LINCOLN DIAZ-BALART
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. LINCOLN DIAZ-BALART of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate Mr. Jim Padilla on the occasion of his retirement. Mr. Padilla dedicated 40 years of his life to the progress of Ford Motor Company and prepared it for the challenges of the 21st century.

I wholeheartedly commend Mr. Padilla for his hard work and dedication to such a deeply cherished American legacy as Ford Motor Company.

Mr. Padilla first joined the Ford family as a quality control engineer. Through years of hard work that spanned three continents, Mr. Padilla consistently proved himself a capable leader. Over those 40 years his steady climb through the company ranks ultimately led him to the top as president and chief executive officer.

Mr. Padilla’s career is worthy of yet another distinction: He became Ford Motor Company’s first Hispanic president and CEO. By taking the helm of one of America’s top 10 corporations, Mr. Padilla shattered stereotypes and showed that all Americans have the potential of realizing tremendous success. It is fitting that Ford’s Hispanic Network Group has created a scholarship program in his name, the “Padilla Scholars,” to benefit deserving college-bound students. Mr. Padilla has proven that in our country, a person who works hard and does not let limits can reach any goal. His life is an inspiration to young Hispanics and all young Americans as they commence the steady climb toward their dreams.

I know that Ford Motor Company will deeply miss Mr. Padilla’s leadership. I also know that his numerous contributions over the last four decades have helped to transform that company into the modern powerhouse that it is today. Mr. Padilla has earned himself a permanent place in the rich history and great American heritage that Ford Motor Company represents. Like the company he so effectively led, Mr. Padilla is a true American success story.

HON. VERNON J. EHlers
OF MICHIGAN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. EHlers. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the achievements of the members of the 2006 United States Physics Olympiad Team. These 24 individuals have shown tremendous aptitude in physics and leadership amongst their peers.

It is very challenging to earn a spot on this prestigious team. After being nominated by their high school teachers and taking a preliminary exam, 200 students qualified to take the second and final screening exam for the U.S. Physics Team. The 24 survivors of that group represent the top physics students in the U.S., and they are now at a nine-day training camp of intense study, examination and problem solving. Five of these exceptional students will advance and represent the United States in a tremendous international competition in July at the International Physics Olympiad in Singapore.

Members of the 2006 team include: Sophie Cai, ZeNan Chang, David Chen, Otis Chodosh, Kenan Diab, Jiashuo Feng, Yingyu Gao, Sherry Gong, Timothy Hsieh, Rui Hu, Ariella Kirsch, Jason LaRue, Men Young Lee, David Lo, Benjamin Michel, Hetul Patel, Veronica Pillar, Nimish Ramanlal, Ingmar Saberi, William Throwe, Arnav Tripathy, Henry Tung, Philip Tynan and Haofei Wei.

Mr. Speaker, as a nuclear physicist and former physics professor, I have worked to promote math and science education and to recognize the pivotal role these fields play in our nation’s economic competitiveness and national security. Educating our K–12 students in math and science is very important. It is encouraging to see so many young, outstanding physics students enthusiastic about science, and I note that many of them chose to pursue science as a result of a teacher or family member who encouraged them along the way. Making sure our teachers are well-equipped to teach science and math is very important in fostering the interest of future generations in these subjects.

I hope the composite enthusiasm of these students and the other semi-finalists will allow them to consider future careers in science, technology, engineering and math. Furthermore, I hope some of them consider running for public office and add their expertise to the policy world! I am very thankful for these future leaders and ask that you please join me in congratulating them on their wonderful achievements and wishing the top five the best of luck as they represent the United States in Singapore.
Mr. GRAVES. Mr. Speaker, I proudly pause today to honor an outstanding Virgin Islands governor by the Peace Corps Virgin Islands, an entrepreneur, a gubernatorial candidate at the College and University of the Virgin Islands, and a professor at the College by a score of 30-80 along the way. With their display of dominance throughout the year, it is clear that OCC was the best junior college team in 2006. The championship victory culminated a season in which the OCC Lazers went undefeated in large part because of her legacy—it has achieved this milestone. Now, as its crowning glory, it has been named for its mother—Yvonne E. Milliner Bowsky. Beyond this, one can attest that because of her vision and her dedication and those who followed and are still following in her footsteps, this school has become a place of academic excellence.

Mr. Speaker, the students of the Yvonne E. Milliner Bowsky Elementary School will always have in her an excellent role model to look up to and to be inspired by. Her excellence and achievement in so many areas is testament of what is possible if one works hard, is focused and is determined to serve and to do the best of one’s ability.

For these reasons, Mr. Speaker, I am honored to come before this Congress and offer my profound congratulations to Mrs. Bowsky and her family for this most deserved honor. I wish her and all who administer, serve and learn at the Yvonne Milliner Bowsky Elementary School God’s richest blessings.

HONORING THE CONTRIBUTIONS OF MRS. YVONNE E. MILLINER BOWSKY AND THE PEACE CORPS SCHOOL

HON. DONNA M. CHRISTENSEN OF THE VIRGIN ISLANDS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor an outstanding Virgin Islands woman, Mrs. Yvonne E. Milliner Bowsky. Mrs. Bowsky’s career of service and dedication to her family, her community, her students and to the Virgin Islands as a whole can be summed up in the word entrepreneurial. Mr. Speaker, in addition to being a devoted wife, mother and teacher—life’s paths which taken separately or together are challenging in and of themselves—Mrs. Bowsky has also served the Virgin Islands community as a professor at the College and University of the Virgin Islands, a gubernatorial campaign manager, and as special assistant for audits and control to the Governor she guided to victory, the late Alexander Farrelly. In addition to these accomplishments, her premier role was principal of the Peace Corps Elementary School which has been named in her honor.

Mr. Speaker, just as she was not an ordinary principal. As the first principal of the Peace Corps Elementary School, she was the strong hand and determined intellect that guided what will now be known as the Yvonne E. Milliner Bowsky Elementary School from a complex of empty and abandoned dormitories turned over to the Virgin Islands Government by the Peace Corps into a vibrant elementary school which opened in 1973. Her vision made it possible to relieve the overcrowded conditions at other schools in St. Thomas and improve the educational environment for our children.

The school named in her honor is now a modern facility, with eight brand new buildings housing 400 students, and is a bulwark of the public education system in our islands. Since its beginning in 1973, the Peace Corps Elementary School campus has been destroyed several times by hurricanes and other unfortunate events. But, it has managed to rise several times from the ashes and today—in large part because of her legacy—it has achieved this milestone. Now, as its crowning glory, it has been named for its mother—Yvonne E. Milliner Bowsky. Beyond this, one can attest that because of her vision and her dedication and those who followed and are still following in her footsteps, this school has become a place of academic excellence.

Mr. Speaker, the students of the Yvonne E. Milliner Bowsky Elementary School will always have in her an excellent role model to look up to and to be inspired by. Her excellence and achievement in so many areas is testament of what is possible if one works hard, is focused and is determined to serve and to do the best of one’s ability.

For these reasons, Mr. Speaker, I am honored to come before this Congress and offer my profound congratulations to Mrs. Bowsky and her family for this most deserved honor. I wish her and all who administer, serve and learn at the Yvonne Milliner Bowsky Elementary School God’s richest blessings.

HON. JAMES T. WALSH OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to praise the Onondaga Community College Men’s Lacrosse Team on their NJCAA National Championship. Onondaga Community College, OCC, defeated Suffolk Community College by a score of 30-6, giving the school their first men’s lacrosse national title.

The championship victory culminated a season in which the OCC Lazers went undefeated with an 18-0 mark, outscoring their opponents 445-80 along the way. With their display of dominance throughout the year, it is clear that OCC was the best junior college team in 2006 and arguably the best in history.

On behalf of all of my constituents, I congratulate these young men on their outstanding athletic achievement and praise Head Coach Chuck Wilbur, Assistant Coaches Mike Villano, Joe Villano, and Chris Brim on their team’s success. I look forward to the 2007 season when the Lazers take the field to defend their national title.
Mr. GRAVES. Mr. Speaker, I proudly pause to recognize Andrew Michael Grace, a very special young man who has exemplified the finest qualities of citizenship and leadership by taking an active part in the Boy Scouts of America, Troop 376, and in earning the most prestigious award of Eagle Scout.

Andrew has been very active with his troop, participating in many Scout activities. Over the many years Andrew has been involved with Scouting, he has not only earned numerous merit badges, but also the respect of his family, peers, and community.

Andrew has served in the leadership positions of den chief, patrol leader, and troop guide, among others. He served on the staff of the H. Roe Bartle Scout Reservation in the summers of 2004 and 2005, while being elevated to runner in the Tribe of Mic-O-Say. For his Eagle Scout project, Andrew planned and supervised the renovation of railings, lamp posts, and light fixtures at the Second Baptist Church in Liberty, MO.

Mr. Speaker, I proudly ask you to join me in commending Andrew Michael Grace for his accomplishments with the Boy Scouts of America and for his efforts put forth in achieving the highest distinction of Eagle Scout.

HONORING HARRIETT HOWARD'S SERVICE TO TENNESSEE VETERANS

HON. BART GORDON

OF TENNESSEE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. GORDON. Mr. Speaker, today I rise to honor Harriett Howard for her extraordinary service to Tennessee veterans. Harriett was recently named the 2006 Female Volunteer of the Year at the U.S. Department of Veteran Affairs Voluntary Service National Advisory Committee's Annual Meeting in Sparks, NV. Harriett was selected out of 94,000 active volunteers throughout the VA system of 154 facilities.

A retired Navy chief petty officer, Harriett has dedicated much of her life to serving veterans. Aside from the many hours she devotes in the Tennessee Valley Healthcare System, she has dedicated years as a WAVES national representative on the United Tennessee Veterans Association and on the Nashville-Davidson County Veterans Coordinating Council.

Harriett serves as a voice for our veterans. I know I can count on Harriett to keep me informed about the issues that concern Tennessee veterans, and I also know that if there is an opportunity to assist or recognize veterans, Harriett will be ready and willing to participate.

In fact, on Sunday, May 28, at the Middle Tennessee State Veterans Cemetery, Harriett will be conducting the “For Whom the Bell Tolls” ceremony, which includes reading the names of the 350 veterans buried there since last Memorial Day.

Harriett, I wish you well in your future endeavors, and I thank you for your dedication to serving our Nation's veterans.

HONORING THE LATE FAUSTO MIRANDA

HON. LINCOLN DIAZ-BALART

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. DIAZ-BALART of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the loss of an exceptional member of my community, the beloved Fausto Miranda. On Tuesday, May 9th, Mr. Miranda, the renowned Cuban sports reporter, passed away at the age of 91.

He was born on July 4, 1914 in the Cuban eastern city of Puerto Padre. He was forced to work odd jobs to survive. He worked as a street salesman, notary clerk, prison guard, band manager, janitor and a variety of other jobs. It was Mr. Miranda’s resilience that enabled him to overcome the many obstacles he faced throughout his life.

After arriving in Havana in 1933, he began his life long contribution to journalism. Mr. Miranda worked with several Cuban newspapers: Informacion, El Crisol, Alerta and Diario de la Marina and he was a fixture on the radio. Soon after the arrival of the communist dictatorship, Mr. Miranda sought political asylum in New York. For fifteen years, he worked as a doorman. However, Mr. Miranda did not abandon his commitment to journalism. He simultaneously started working for the well known newspaper El Nuevo Herald.

In 1975, Mr. Miranda moved to Miami. A year later, he reached a high point in his career by founding the sports pages of El Nuevo Herald. Subsequently, he managed the sports department of the Miami Herald/El Nuevo Herald for close to twenty years. Mr. Miranda moved to Miami. A year later, he reached a high point in his career by founding the sports pages of El Nuevo Herald. Subsequently, he managed the sports department of the Miami Herald/El Nuevo Herald for close to twenty years. Mr. Miranda passed away on January 9th, 1995.

Mr. Speaker, I proudly ask you to join me in commending the late Fausto Miranda as a true American hero and a true American friend.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. VERNON J. EHLERS

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. EHLLERS. Mr. Speaker, my vote for roll call No. 168 on the amendment offered by Representative CHABOT to H.R. 5386, was recorded as a “no.” This vote does not reflect my intent to have my vote recorded as an “aye.”

RECOGNIZING JEREMY CHRISTOPHER WOOD FOR ACHIEVING THE RANK OF EAGLE SCOUT

HON. SAM GRAVES

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. GRAVES. Mr. Speaker, I proudly pause to recognize Jeremy Christopher Wood, a very special young man who has exemplified the finest qualities of citizenship and leadership by taking an active part in the Boy Scouts of America, Troop 395, and in earning the most prestigious award of Eagle Scout.

Jersey has been very active with his troop, participating in many Scout activities. He has served as a patrol leader and assistant senior patrol leader and achieved the rank of Brother in the Order of the Arrow and Warrior in the Tribe of Mic-O-Say. Over the many years Jeremy has been involved with scouting, he has not only earned numerous merit badges, but also the respect of his family, peers, and community.

For his Eagle Scout Service Project, Jeremy designed and directed the installation of two especially designed fire pit shelters at the Heartland Presbyterian Youth Camp in Platte County. These shelters protect the firewood that is used by the campers and visitors to have fun campfires while delivering their youth-oriented programs.

Mr. Speaker, I proudly ask you to join me in commending Jeremy Christopher Wood for his accomplishments with the Boy Scouts of America and for his efforts put forth in achieving the highest distinction of Eagle Scout.
HONORING THE CONTRIBUTIONS OF MS. GLADYS ADINA ABRAHAM OF THE VIRGIN ISLANDS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate Ms. Gladys Adina Abraham on the most special and significant occasion of the renaming of the Kirwan Terrace School in her honor.

When historians look at the success story of the U.S. Virgin Islands in the 20th century—from islands purchased for $25 million in 1917 and said to be not worth the price, and its labeling as a “poohouse” by a visiting President, to the modern thriving American Caribbean metropolis, with its urban center and suburbs, a thriving middle class and a university fulfilling its function for more than 40 years as one of the magnets and engines for socioeconomic progress in the region—the heroes who achieved it and who are undoubtedly identified, are the 20th century Virgin Islands teachers. I am amazed and inspired by their accomplishments against the odds of geographical location and lack of resources at that time and the legacy they continue to create today. These educators, both men and women, in all three islands that comprise the U.S. Virgin Islands encouraged their students to strive for the best. It is this spirit, personified by the life and service and contribution of Ms. Gladys Dina Abraham, which we honor.

Ms. Abraham received her Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Elementary Education from New York University, was awarded a Fulbright scholarship in 1956 to study sociology in India, and received a Masters of Arts in Psychology from Columbia University in 1962. Like others in her generation, Ms. Abraham could have taken her degrees from our islands’ educational institutions and been better remunerated elsewhere. Instead, she returned home and shared her expertise with the children of the Virgin Islands; enlarging their world, expanding their horizons and inspiring their pursuit of knowledge as she served as teacher and later principal at Sibilly, Lockhart and first at Kirwan Terrace Elementary School.

From the inception, Ms. Abraham established a standard of excellence in education with far less funding, essentially no technology and less educational training and certifications than are required today. Her standards produced students who became governors, legislators, church, business and civic leaders. Our community owes a debt of gratitude to Ms. Abraham for her inspiration, for her children well and gave them a stake in the future of the Virgin Islands.

Kirwan Terrace School was originally named for a former Member of Congress who was instrumental in providing funding to build the neighborhood in which the school now sits. And while we did right to honor Congressman Kirwan—as in almost everything else we have received in our history—the school came about because of the insistence and advocacy of the community; in particular, the urging of the mothers. We need them and Ms. Abraham for inspiring us and generations to come.

Mr. Speaker, it is with great pride that on behalf of my family, staff and the 109th Congress that I extend my profound congratulations and thanks to Ms. Abraham on the renaming of the Kirwan Terrace School in her honor.

HONORING CHIEF DEPUTY SHERIFF DELAYNE D. OTT OF INDIANA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. CHOCOLA. Mr. Speaker, today I rise to honor a dedicated protector of our community, Chief Deputy Sheriff Delayne D. Ott. Deputy Sheriff Ott joined the LaPorte County Sheriff’s Department on January 15, 1967.

THAN ks a general for the military quality of life and veterans affairs appropriations act, 2007

SPEECH OF
HON. MARK UDALL OF COLORADO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, May 19, 2006

The House in Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 5388) making appropriations for the military quality of life functions of the Department of Defense, military construction, the Department of Veterans Affairs, and related agencies for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2007, and for other purposes.

Mr. UDALL of Colorado. Mr. Chairman, the Military Quality of Life-Veteran’s Administration appropriations bill we are voting on today is not nearly as good a bill as it should have been. I will support it today, but I’m very disappointed in the Republican leadership’s priorities reflected in this legislation.

The House Armed Services Committee, on which I sit, authorized these projects in the authorization bill that the House passed earlier this month. The Administration budget also requested these 20 projects, all of which are conventional military construction projects—things like hangars, barracks and unit headquarters.

To try to square the military priorities funded in this bill with the budget resolution the Republican leadership forced through the House, the Appropriations Committee used budget gimmickry to designate $507 million for 20 routine military construction projects as an ‘emergency’ so that this funding would not count against the bill’s allocation.

Those in the Republican leadership concerned more about finding money for tax cuts than for our troops decided to cut these military construction projects today. Because of the projects ‘emergency’ funding status, Republicans chose to strike all $507 million.

Regardless of whether or not they are labeled as ‘emergency funding,’ for bookkeeping reasons, they are valid and needed projects, selected through long-term planning exercises developed by the services, vetted through the Administration, and requested by the President.

The fact that the Republican budget put tax cuts ahead of the needs of our troops strikes me as backward and wrong. These are military priorities as defined by the President of the United States, and the majority chose to ignore them. They want to have it both ways—to say they support the troops, but also to be able to cut taxes for wealthy Americans. If this isn’t a good example of how this approach doesn’t work, I don’t know what is.

TRIBUTE TO HARRISBURG HIGH SCHOOL BULLDOGS BOYS TRACK TEAM

HON. JOHN SHIMKUS
OF ILLINOIS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. SHIMKUS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Harrisburg High School Bulldogs Boys Track Team. The Bulldogs won their Sectional Track Meet on May 19, 2006 by a substantial margin.

Continuing their tradition of success, this is the Bulldogs’ seventh consecutive team sectional track title. The Bulldogs finished first in the 4 x 100 relay, 100 meter dash, 4 x 200 relay, 400 meter dash and 4 x 400 relay. The Bulldogs team members also had many personal best times.

It is my pleasure to congratulate Coach Clint Simpson and the Bulldogs Track Team which includes Alex Maddox, Brett Brachera, Caleb Joyner, Tony Cossette, Michael Woning, Nick Bebout, Madison Medley, Blake Fitts, Aaron Winters, Kyle Alexander, Luke Ragan, Dustin Moulton, Michael Muggee, Logan Cummsisky, Mitchell Berry, Jake Stevens, Nick King, John Fuller, Jacob Sais, and Jeremy Martin on their success. I wish the Bulldogs continued success as they compete at the Illinois High School Athletic Association State Track and Field Tournament.

Again, congratulations!

RECOGNIZING BRIAN J. SHRYOCK FOR ACHIEVING THE RANK OF EAGLE SCOUT

HON. SAM GRAVES
OF MISSOURI
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. GRAVES. Mr. Speaker, I proudly pause to recognize Brian J. Shryock, a very special young man who has exemplified the finest qualities of citizenship and leadership by taking an active part in the Boy Scouts of America, Troop 66, and in earning the most prestigious award of Eagle Scout.

Brian has been very active with his troop, participating in many Scout activities. Over the many years Brian has been involved with scouting, he has not only earned numerous merit badges, but also the respect of his family, peers, and community.

Mr. Speaker, I proudly ask you to join me in commending Brian J. Shryock for his accomplishments with the Boy Scouts of America and for his efforts put forth in achieving the highest distinction of Eagle Scout. and has served our community for 39 years. He holds the record for the longest serving member in the history of the LaPorte County Sheriff’s Department.

He has served as a sergeant, captain and major and has held his current rank as Chief Deputy since January 1, 1999. He has been a certified Firearms instructor at the Indiana Law Enforcement Academy and has been the firearms instructor for LaPorte County for over 30 years, and has shot in pistol competitions nationwide for the past 25 years.

The LaPorte County Firearms Training Facility was dedicated in his name on Monday, May 15, 2006 for his unwavering dedication and commitment to firearms training and safety for LaPorte County officers.

He is also a devout family man, and he and his wife Phyllis have three children and four grandchildren.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Delayne D. Ott has shown his commitment to excellence and his undying loyalty to our community and its citizens. It is my honor to stand here today as his Congressman, and recognize him for his service.

ENERGY AND WATER DEVELOPMENT APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2007

SPEECH OF

HON. ROBERT B. ADERHOLT OF ALABAMA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, May 24, 2006

The House in Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 5427), making appropriations for energy and water development for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2007, and for other purposes:

Mr. ADERHOLT. Mr. Chairman, I rise today in opposition to the proposed amendment by the gentleman from Georgia. The three States of Alabama, Georgia, and Florida have areas which are dependent on the same water sources. While I sympathize with all those concerns, the language in the bill is necessary to prevent the Corps of Engineers from interfering in litigation which is meant to allocate those resources in a fair way among the three States.

Mr. Chairman, in 2005 we learned that the Corps of Engineers planned to revise the manuals which govern water sharing between three States—Alabama, Georgia, and Florida. The corps’ ACT manual has not been revised since it was written in 1951, even though nine dams have been built and successfully operated in the ACT Basin since then. In other words, there is no urgent need to revise the manuals, and doing so impacts the water supply of millions of persons in the Southeast. Furthermore, this matter is still in Federal court, and allowing the corps to revise these manuals now will interfere with ongoing litigation.

Mr. Chairman, we have tried to work this issue out with the corps directly. On April 14, 2005, the entire Alabama delegation sent a letter to Lt. Gen. Carl Strock, Commander of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, asking that he explain the corps’ actions in this matter. In response, on April 26, 2005 Assistant Secretary of the Army for Civil Works John Woodley wrote that the corps “will withdraw and disclaim any intention to re-evaluate or update the relevant operating procedures and manuals until all relevant litigation has concluded, or the three States’ Governors reach an agreement.”

However, Mr. Chairman, after that, the corps did not hold to their commitment. In a letter to Governor Bob Riley of Alabama, dated January 30, 2006, Assistant Secretary Woodley stated that since the relevant litigation has concluded, the corps will now begin revising its manuals. This litigation, however, is not concluded. My understanding is that the ACF litigation has been appealed, and the ACT litigation is still actively underway.

Mr. Chairman, if the corps’ manuals revisions are allowed to go forward, it will cause great harm to the State of Alabama. We will have inadequate water for drinking, power generation, navigation, recreation, and wildlife. For this reason, it is essential all three States come to a mutual equitable water sharing agreement. It is not appropriate for the corps to unilaterally step in and decree water distribution without the approval of all three States.

With all due respect to Mr. Deal’s concerns, I must ask for a “no” vote in the amendment.

HIRAM BINGHAM STAMP

HON. ROB SIMMONS OF CONNECTICUT
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. SIMMONS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor a son of Connecticut’s Second District, the district I am privileged to represent in this House.

The Bingham family has lived in Salem Connecticut for many generations. I have always been impressed with the Bingham family’s history of dedication to public service. Hiram Bingham IV is a prime example of this dedication—only exemplified by the fact that few people actually knew the extent of his good work, including his own family.

In 1988, Hiram passed away. A few years after his death, one of his sons discovered a bundle of documents tucked away in the attic at the family home containing records from Hiram’s work at the U.S. State Department. These records revealed an untold story of Hiram’s courage and heroism.

Hiram’s family and friends knew he worked for the State Department, but he rarely mentioned the details of his employment. From 1939 to 1941, Hiram Bingham served as the U.S. ambassador in Marseilles, France. The records in the closet revealed that while serving at his post Hiram helped save at least 2,500 people from the Nazis, including the artists Marc Chagall and Nobel Prize winning biochemist Otto Meyerhoff. During these years, this courageous individual issued papers that saved thousands of others, including families fleeing Nazi Germany. He also personally escorted dozens of people across the border into Spain.

It is of no small interest that this man of principle acted in direct opposition to official State Department orders that inhibited immigration of refugees to the United States. Hiram Bingham’s action defied the Nazi war machine, Vichy France and his own Nation’s State Department. Ignoring the consequences of being caught, he went about his work, quietly saving as many people as he could.

When his superiors discovered his activities in the spring of 1941, he was removed from his post and transferred to Buenos Aires. In 1946, he resigned because of the government’s failure to pursue the Nazi presence in Latin America.

After learning of his father’s extraordinary efforts, his son Robert Kim Bingham, began petitioning the U.S. Postal Service in 1998 to issue a stamp in honor of his father. During that time, I was serving in the Connecticut General Assembly and Robert asked me to send a letter of support for the stamp to the Post Master General. I took the letter down to the floor during our final week of session and as we worked late into the evening every member of the General Assembly signed onto that letter—representing the first time in memory that every member had signed a letter circulated for any purpose. Robert and his family should take pride in the overwhelming support his dream had with the people of Connecticut.

It has been my honor to work with the Binghams and be part of the process that brought us here today. I was pleased to read in a newspaper in my district that of the 21 issues that will be released this year, the most requests came in for Hiram Bingham. I am proud that the U.S. Postal Service has included Hiram Bingham in its tribute to American Diplomats.

Last year, I had an opportunity to visit Yad Vashem, the Holocaust Martyrs’ and Heroes’ Remembrance Authority, in Jerusalem. Hearing and seeing the stories of survival made Hiram’s work even more profound for me.

Evil is often easy to identify, yet it is often difficult to oppose. To do so requires courage and a strong moral core. Hiram Bingham had both.

He put his moral obligation above his career and he put his personal safety above his career. He paid a price, but heroes are often required to do just that.

Hiram Bingham did not solicit accolades for what he had done. He did not desire to pass others at all cost—he desired to serve others at all cost. And that is as good a definition of a “hero” as I have seen.

Hiram Bingham could have gone along with the orders that came to his desk, but he chose not to. Going along is always easy. Doing the right thing is often difficult. But by doing the difficult thing, Hiram Bingham is today known as one of 11 “righteous diplomats” who together saved 200,000 people from the Holocaust. Today the descendents of those 200,000 individuals total more than 1 million. That is a tremendous legacy for one’s life’s work.

I am pleased that this long overdue honor is being awarded to Hiram Bingham, a “righteous diplomat” who put his sense of right and wrong and his capacity to help others ahead of personal considerations.
RECOGNIZING BRETT RYAN HUNTLEY FOR ACHIEVING THE RANK OF EAGLE SCOUT

HON. SAM GRAVES OF MISSOURI
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. GRAVES. Mr. Speaker, I proudly pause to recognize Brett Ryan Huntley, a very special young man who has exemplified the finest qualities of citizenship and leadership by taking an active part in the Boy Scouts of America, Troop 351, and in earning the most prestigious award of Eagle Scout.

Brett has been very active with his troop, participating in many Scout activities. Over the many years Brett has been involved with Scouting, he has not only earned numerous merit badges, but also the respect of his family, peers, and community.

Mr. Speaker, I proudly ask you to join me in commending Brett Ryan Huntley for his accomplishments with the Boy Scouts of America and for his efforts put forth in achieving the highest distinction of Eagle Scout.

ON THE NEED FOR ACCOUNTABILITY IN THE DETAINEE ABUSE SCANDAL

HON. RUSH D. HOLT OF NEW JERSEY
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. HOLT. Mr. Speaker, it’s been more than 2 years now since the world saw the infamous photographs showing prisoner abuse at Abu Ghraib. To date, mostly junior enlisted personnel have been tried and prosecuted for various offenses related to detainee abuse in Iraq and Afghanistan. These individuals did not commit these acts in a vacuum; senior leaders allowed this abuse—and in several cases, deaths—to occur on their watch. That’s not simply my opinion. It’s the judgment of men like retired Rear Admiral John D. Hutson, a former senior Navy Judge Advocate General officer who has said “One such incident would be an isolated transgression; two would be a serious problem; a dozen of them is policy.”

Admiral Hutson and other senior former officers offered those kinds of comments, and their endorsement, for a report issued earlier this year by Human Rights First entitled Command’s Responsibility: Detainee Deaths in U.S. Custody in Iraq and Afghanistan. I strongly encourage my colleagues to take the time to read at least the executive summary of this meticulously documented 82-page report. You can find this report on the web at: http://www.humanrightsfirstinfo/pdf/06221-eth-nhrd-dic-rep-web.pdf

I would also recommend that my colleagues familiarize themselves with Human Rights First 2004 report, Getting to Ground Truth, which formed the foundation of their work on the detainee abuse issue. That report can be found on the Human Rights First website at: http://www.humanrightsfirst.org/us_law/PDF/detainees:Getting_to_Ground_Truth_090804.pdf

Let me be the first to share with you some of the key findings from Command’s Responsibility, which I am also including for the RECORD. The report documents 98 detainee deaths in U.S. custody. Of those 98 deaths, 45 are suspected or confirmed homicides. Thirty-four deaths were classified as homicides under the U.S. military’s own definition. Human Rights First found 11 additional cases where the facts suggest that deaths were the result of physical abuse or harsh conditions of detention. In 48 cases—close to half of all the cases—the cause of death remains officially undetermined or unannounced. At least 8 detainees, and possibly as many as 12, were tortured to death. To date, only 12 deaths have been ruled in any kind of punishment, and the highest punishment for a torture-related death has been 5 months confinement.

Most tellingly, no civilian official or officer above the rank of colonel responsible for interrogation and detention policies or practices has been charged in connection with any death of a detainee in U.S. custody, including the deaths of detainees by torture or abuse.

As retired Army Brigadier General David Irvine noted in the Human Rights First report, the future is the fundamental principle of command accountability, and that starts at the very top. The Army exists not just to win America’s wars, but to defend America’s values. The policy and practice of torture without accountability has jeopardized both.

I whole-heartedly agree, which is why last June I joined over 170 of my colleagues in cosponsoring HR 3003, which would establish an independent Commission on the Investigation of Detainee Abuses to conduct a full, complete, independent, and impartial investigation of the abuses of detainees in connection with Operation Iraqi Freedom, Operation Enduring Freedom, or any operation within the wider war against Al Qaeda. The Commission would be charged with determining: (1) the extent of the abuses; (2) why the abuses occurred; and (3) who is responsible, and to provide recommendations for corrective action.

This Commission is necessary because the work of uncovering all of the facts in these cases has yet to be done. This Commission must also address why no flag-rank officers have been held accountable for the deaths and abuse that occurred on their watch. If we are to avoid future cases of abuse and rebuild our reputation as a nation that lives by the rule of law, we must air the full facts about how aggressive interrogation techniques resulted in serious injury or death for dozens of detainees in our custody.

Mr. Speaker, the detainee abuse scandal has done grievous harm to our moral standing in the world, and given our terrorist enemies a powerful recruiting tool. We cannot allow it to happen again. I urge the House to support bringing HR 3003 to floor for an immediate vote.

Congress has allowed too much time to pass already; we need answers, and we need to hold senior civilian and military leaders accountable for this serious lapse.

Finally, I commend Human Rights First for their unflagging commitment to preserving and protecting human rights, for the high quality of their work on these issues, and for holding our Government and its representatives accountable in the court of public opinion on this critically important issue.

I therefore urge my colleagues to support H.R. 3003, the Command’s Responsibility Act, and bring it to the House floor for an immediate vote.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS — MAY 26, 2006 behavior it actually allows in practice. As long as the accountability gap exists, there will be little incentive for military command to correct bad behavior, or for civilian leadership to follow. As long as that gap exists, the problem of torture and abuse will remain.

This report examines how cases of deaths in custody have been handled. It is about how and why this “accountability gap” between U.S. policy and practice has come to exist, and it is about why ensuring that officials up and down the chain of command bear responsibility for detainee mistreatment should be a top priority for the United States.

THE CASES TO DATE

The cases behind these numbers have names and faces. This report describes more than 20 cases in detail, to illustrate both the failures in investigation and in accountability. Among the cases is that of Manadel al-Jamadi, whose death became public during the trial of the U.S. prisoners-arranger when photographs depicting prison guards giving the thumbs-up over his body were released; to date, no U.S. military or intelligence officer has been punished criminally in connection with Jamadi’s death.

The cases also include that of Abed Hamed Mowhoush, a 56-year-old Iraqi general beaten to death in connection with Jamadi’s death. Mowhoush, a former Iraqi general beaten to death. In the recently concluded trial of a low-level military officer charged in connection with Mowhoush’s death, the officer received a written reprimand, a fine, and 60 days with his movements limited to his work, home, and church.

And they include cases like that of Nagem Saboud Al-Hatab, a 52-year-old Iraqi, was killed while in U.S. custody at a holding camp close to Nasiriyah. Although a U.S. Army medical examiner found that Hatab had died of strangulation, the evidence that would have been required to secure accountability for his death—Hatab’s body—was rendered unusable in court. Hatab’s internal organs were left exposed on an airport tarmac for hours; in the blistering Baghdad heat, the organs were destroyed. The key to unlocking support for the Army medical examiner’s findings of strangulation was never found.

Although policing crimes by military personnel is always a priority, investigative failures into deaths in custody since 2002 have been unacceptable. The cases discussed in this report involve deaths deemed by reporters, witnesses were never interviewed, evidence was lost or mishandled, and record-keeping was scattered. They also include investigations that were cut short as a result of decisions by commanders—who are given the authority to decide whether and to what extent to pursue an investigation— or to rely on incomplete inquiries, or to discharge a suspect before an investigation can be completed. Given the extent of the non-reporting, under-reporting, and lax record keeping to date, the United States has seriously interfered in efforts to pursue investigations.

Investigators have failed to interview key witnesses, collect useable evidence, or maintain evidence that could be used for any subsequent prosecution.

Receipt of vital information has been inadequate, further undermining chances for effective investigation or appropriate prosecution.

Overlapping criminal and administrative investigations have compromised chances for accountability;

Overbroad classification of information and other investigation restrictions have left the CIA and Special Forces essentially immune from accountability;

Agencies have failed to disclose critical information, but have done so when this was made clear that all acts of torture and abuse are taken seriously—-not from the moment a crime becomes public, but from the moment the United States sends troops and agents into the field. The President should issue regular reminders to command that abuse will not be tolerated. The bond that regular, clear guidance, and too late.

CLOSING THE ACCOUNTABILITY GAP

The military has taken some steps toward correcting the failures identified here. Under public pressure following the release of the Abu Ghraib photographs in 2004, the Army reopened over a dozen investigations into deaths in custody and conducted multiple investigations; many of these identified serious flaws. The Defense Department also “clarified” some existing rules, reminding commanders that they were required to report “immediately” the death of a detainee to service criminal investigators, and issuing a release of a body without written authorization from the relevant investigation agency or the Armed Forces Medical Examiner, military judicial authority, or an autopsy norm, with exceptions made only by the Armed Forces Medical Examiner. And the Defense Department says that it is now working on a plan to train officers on the Geneva Conventions and rules of engagement to new units to be stationed in Iraq and responsible for guarding and processing detainees.

But these reforms are only first steps. They have not addressed systemic flaws in the investigation of detainee deaths; or in the prosecution of punishment of those responsible for wrongdoing. Most important, they have not addressed the role of those leaders who have emerged as a pivotal part of the problem—-military and civilian command. Commanders are the only line between troops in the field who need clear, usable rules, and policy-makers who have provided broad instructions since 2002 that have been at worst unlawful and at best unclear. Under today’s military justice system, commanders are the only line between troops in the field who need clear, usable rules, and policy-makers who have provided broad instructions since 2002 that have been at worst unlawful and at best unclear. Under today’s military justice system, commanders who fail to take steps to prevent investigations or appropriate prosecution.

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Ms. LOFGREN of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Samantha Fang for her selection as a Presidential Scholar in the Arts for 2006, our Nation’s highest honor for graduating high school artists.

Second, the President, the U.S. military, and relevant intelligence agencies should make clear that all acts of torture and abuse are taken seriously—not from the moment a crime becomes public, but from the moment the United States sends troops and agents into the field. The President should issue regular reminders to command that abuse will not be tolerated. The bond that regular, clear guidance, and too late.

Tribute to Samantha Fang

Hon. Zoe Lofgren

Of California

In the House of Representatives

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Ms. LOFGREN of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Samantha Fang for her selection as a Presidential Scholar in the Arts for 2006, our Nation’s highest honor for graduating high school artists.
Samantha was selected as one of the 20 Presidential Scholars in the Arts this year for her success and accomplishments as a classical pianist. She was selected for this honor by virtue of being a national Finalist in the NFMEA Arts Recognition and Talent Search (ARTS) program, a program in which 6,524 high school seniors applied to in 2006. Samantha and her fellow Presidential Scholars in the performing arts will be featured in a showcase performance during the Salute to the Presidential Scholars at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts.

Samantha, who will graduate as a valedictorian of The Harker School in Sunnyvale this June, began her piano studies at the age of 5. Currently, she is enrolled in the Preparatory Division at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music, where she was named an “Honorary Distinction” student, the highest award presented by the Preparatory Division. Additionally, Samantha was named the California state winner of the 2005 MTNA (Music Teachers National Association) Senior Piano Competition, has performed in the Weill Hall at Carnegie Hall as winner of the Russian-American International Festival and will be broadcast as a soloist on WQXR radio’s Young Artist’s Showcase this June.

I am proud to stand here today to recognize Samantha for her accomplishments as an exceptional artist and student. I urge Samantha to continue to take an interest in the performing arts, as artistic and creative innovation is a crucial component of America’s cultural fabric, and I wish her the best of luck as she continues her education at Harvard this fall.

IN HONOR OF JOHN C. HALL, SEPTEMBER 15, 1953-JUNE 15, 2006

HON. KEVIN BRADY OF TEXAS IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor June Kenyon upon her retirement from my district office staff.

Beginning in 1997 when I first took office, June has not only held public office in Humble, Texas her wealth of knowledge and experience gleaned from working for my predecessor, the Honorable Jack Field. Not only did June sign on as Office Manager but took on the role of Head of Casework to help constituents. I was blessed to have June’s expertise and long record of commitment to constituents in helping me confront the challenges of being a newly elected Congressman. For the next 9 years, June excelled at her role and increased her knowledge of the inner workings of Federal agencies to the point that some even invited her to brief their staffs on the intricacies of casework with Congressional offices.

June’s command of the system and success in resolving thousands of cases are a tribute to her professionalism and relentless-ness in serving the residents of the 8th Congressional District. Extremely hard-working, painstakingly fair, exceedingly knowledgeable—these are qualities June brought to the field office in the Houston area, a distinctive Long Island accent and a deep-seated love of music. Although she has also contributed significantly to the ability of Southeast Texans to survive the aftermath of Hurricane Rita this past fall that June’s abilities shown brightly as she led the efforts to resolve quickly and systemati-cally over 1,000 claims for expedited assistance from FEMA. Working long hours, interfacing with local officials and aid agencies, June contributed significantly to the ability of Southeast Texans to survive the aftermath of this devastating storm and begin the recovery process.

While June has always been a diligent staff-er, the last 18 months have created personal challenges for her, including a long commute to Conroe after redistricting led to closing the office. The reorganization also meant serving a different and larger geographic area. June did not miss a beat in adapting to the new conditions, including participating in the Mobile Office taking caseworkers to constituents in the small towns of East Texas.

In the years I have worked with June, I have come to know a committed Republican activist and a woman of broad and varied interests which I hope she will pursue in the time afforded by her retirement. From her native New York, June brought with her to the Houston area, a distinctive Long Island accent and a deep-seated love of music. Although she has yet to sing for our staff, June has shared with us reminiscences as varied as singing classical music at Carnegie Hall and the blues at the Congressman’s office. Are my honorable colleagues suggesting that members of Congress or the institution itself should be treated differently in the eyes of the law than those who hold the most important position in Amer-i-ca—that of “citizen”? I hope not.

HONORING JUNE KENYON ON HER RETIREMENT, HEAD OF CASEWORK, CONROE DISTRICT OFFICE

INTRODUCTION OF REFUGEES FROM ARAB LANDS RESOLUTION

HON. ILEANA ROS-LEHTINEN
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Speaker, today, I introduced a legislation acknowledging as refugees Jewish, Christian and other minorities that fled from Arab lands.

This measure serves to recognize major historical events, sheds light on other refugee populations that are often forgotten in discussions relating to Middle East peace, and underscores the need to address this issue in a comprehensive, balanced manner in order to resolve the conflict that currently exists in the Middle East.

It is imperative that the world knows about the displacement, which was spurred by ethnic and religious persecution, of Jewish, Christian and other minorities living in the Middle East, North Africa, and the Persian Gulf region.

For too long the world has failed to recognize the oppression, human rights violations, forced expulsion, and deprivation of assets these communities had to endure under Arab regimes. It is essential that the plight of these communities from Arab countries be integrated into discussions toward any agreement regarding the issue of refugees.

IN HONOR OF MARSHALL’S SESQUICENTENNIAL CELEBRATION

HON. MARION BERRY OF ARKANSAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. BERRY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to the town of Marshall in Searcy County, Arkansas, which will celebrate its 150th anniversary this year. This is a significant milestone for the community and for all who helped shape the town’s history. Marshall was established in 1856, after Native Americans roamed the land for centuries. The Osage tribe used the land for hunting and gathering in the 18th century and then sold their claim to the United States government. Nine years later, the government set aside the land as a reservation for the Cherokee Indians.

By the mid-1800’s, the Cherokees traveled west and Littleton Baker, J.W. Gray, and Jack Marshall were appointed to select a site for the new county seat of Searcy County. They originally named this location Burrowsville in honor of N.B. Burrow, a local citizen, but 11 years later changed the name to Marshall in honor of the former U.S. Supreme Court Chief Justice John Marshall. The town was eventually incorporated on January 13, 1884. Marshall played an important role during the War Between the States, becoming a hub of activity for both Confederate and Northern forces after Arkansas seceded from the Union on May 6, 1861. Both Confederate and Union companies organized in the area, participating in the battles of Shiloh, Pea Ridge, Pine Bluff, and Devil’s Backbone.

The town worked hard to recover and rebuild in the decades following the war. Marshall established its first school district, constructed the Marshall Academy in 1888, and built a new courthouse in 1889. Agriculture production dominated the economy in Searcy County, with cotton and corn ranking as the primary agricultural products. The community even established the Mountain Wave newspaper in 1890, which continues to inform residents on the latest local and national news.

The town enjoyed great prosperity during these early years. The Marshall Bank was established in 1901 and the town’s first telephone system was constructed in 1902. The town’s first flour mill came around the turn of the century, quickly followed by its first sawmill in 1909. The community built a new school building known as “Old Main” in 1910 and completed the first all-weather road between Marshall and Harriet in 1916.

Although the first few decades of the 20th century were a time of growth for Marshall, the combination of World War I, the Great Depression, and serious flooding led to difficult times for the community’s residents. The population began to decline and those living off the land struggled to maintain a decent livelihood. Fortunately, many of Searcy County’s residents joined the Civilian Conservation Corps, CCC, and the National Youth Administration, N YA, where they could earn a decent wage. One of the NYA’s projects was to construct a gymnasium in Marshall.

Marshall and its surrounding communities pulled together during these challenging times, emerging stronger than before. Families in Marshall made victory gardens during WWII, saved tin cans for reprocessing, and even purchased war bonds. Farmers also began to clear land for cattle production and timber harvesting. These two industries now contribute heavily to Marshall’s local economy.

Marshall has always been a town of citizens who pull together during tough times to improve schools, help their neighbors, and attract new development to the region. The town now boasts a population of 1,313 citizens and is home to the Ozark National Forest and the Buffalo National River. Known for its beauty, tourists visit the mountainous region year-round to participate in a variety of popular recreational activities.

On June 3, 2006, friends and residents of Marshall will gather to celebrate 150 years of history. I ask my colleagues to join me in congratulating Marshall, Arkansas on this significant milestone. We send our appreciation to the town’s citizens for years of hard work and dedication to their community, and wish Marshall many more years as a wonderful place to live and raise a family.

THANKS TO ALLEN L. THOMPSON
HON. BENNIE G. THOMPSON OF MISSISSIPPI
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. THOMPSON of Mississippi. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to thank Allen L. Thompson, Senior Professional Staff of the Committee on Homeland Security and the Select Committee on Homeland Security, and for his dedication to our service to Congress and our Nation. As the Ranking Member of the Committee, I speak for the entire Committee when I say he will be missed when he leaves the Hill at the end of this month.

Al was one of the original Democratic staffers of the Select Committee on Homeland Security, the predecessor of the now-permanent Committee. During the past 3 years, he has been one of the “best and the brightest” working to secure our homeland and protect our communities. A Coast Guard Academy graduate, Al brought a unique perspective and discipline to the Committee.

With his expertise and knowledge of port security, supply chain policy, and the Coast Guard, Al has certainly been a key member of the House’s homeland security team. This Congress, Al has served as the Coordinator for Ranking Member LORETTA SANCHEZ on the Subcommittee on Economic Security, Infrastructure Protection, and Cybersecurity.

Representative SANCHEZ has this to say about Al:

“During my nearly 10 years in the House of Representatives, I’ve run across very few people with the level of professionalism and decorum matching that of Al Thompson. As the liaison assigned to assist me with my work as Ranking Member of this subcommittee, Al’s expertise and Coast Guard background was invaluable in helping me forward the Democratic agenda of this young Committee, particularly in the area of port security. He will be sorely missed by those of us who had the pleasure of working with him.”

Former Representative Jim Turner, who served as the Ranking Member of the Select Committee during the 108th Congress, sent me the following comments when he heard of Al’s departure: “When Al first joined the Select Committee in June 2003, I knew he came for the right reason—his deep commitment to making America safer. From his experience as a member of the United States Coast Guard, he knew this task must be accomplished over and over again every day by the men and women serving on the front lines of our homeland. For Alan, homeland security was not a theoretical duty to be accomplished only on ‘Patriotic Day.’

Now, as someone who has been married 38 years, I know that I would be remiss if I didn’t thank Becca, Al’s wife. She and their two sons, Tyson Allen and Hunter Gregory, have been as much a part of our Committee family as Al has. I personally want to thank Becca for her service to the Nation by lending us Al for long hours and late nights over the past 3 years, even with two young boys at home. From what I’ve seen, by the way, there is no question that those boys will follow in their father’s footsteps and play college ball and maybe, if Al has his way, join his beloved Steelers one day.

In sum, I want to thank Al Thompson for the caliber of service and patriotism he has dedicated to Congress, the Committee of Homeland Security, and the Nation.

RECOGNIZING MR. ALAN SIEGEL OF LAKE COUNTY, CA

HON. MIKE THOMPSON
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. THOMPSON of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Mr. Alan Siegel of Lake County, CA, as California’s 2005 Teacher of the Year.

For nearly 20 years, Alan has been educating and challenging the minds of the children of California’s First Congressional District. He has served at Mount Vista Middle School, Oak Hill Middle School and is currently teaching at Carle Continuation High School in the Konocti Unified School District. At Carle Continuation High School, Alan has played a positive and influential role in the lives of these young adults, not only as a teacher but as a mentor. Alan is the leading force in the social studies department, teaching U.S. history, civics and economics. He has also dedicated his time to educating his students in the field of computers and technology.

Mr. Speaker, Alan’s commitment to bettering Lake County extends beyond the classroom. He has become an active member of our community, volunteering each year to organize the Lower Lake Memorial Day Parade. He also volunteers his time to place American flags on the graves of veterans in the Lower Lake Cemetery to honor those who risked their lives to protect our country.

Mr. Speaker, Alan is one of 5 teachers selected as California’s 2005 Teacher of the Year. He is also the first “continuation school” teacher to be honored this year. After receiving this award, Alan traveled around the world to talk with educators and learn about different approaches to education. Last summer, Alan traveled to Japan for 12 days where he visited several schools, including a continuation school and lived with a Japanese family for 3 days.

Alan graduated with a bachelor of art’s degree in psychology from Michigan State University in 1981 and earned his teaching credentials and his bachelor of art’s degree in history from San Francisco State in 1987. His wife, Angela, is also a teacher at Carle Continuation High School and has been awarded Lake County’s 2006 Teacher of the Year.

Mr. Speaker, it is appropriate that we take this time to honor Mr. Alan Siegel as California’s 2005 Teacher of the Year and to thank him for his unwavering dedication to the students of Lake County. I wish Alan the best in all his future endeavors.

ENERGY AND WATER DEVELOPMENT APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2007

SP EECH OF
HON. JAY INSLEE OF WASHINGTON
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, May 24, 2006

The House in Committee of the Whole on the House of the State of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 5427), making appropriations for energy and water development for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2007, and for other purposes:

Mr. INSLEE. Mr. Chairman, I rise today to offer an amendment to the fiscal year Energy and Water Appropriations bill which would stop Enron from once again cheating Northwest consumers. I have worked with my colleagues and with Snohomish Public Utility District, SnoPUD, to ensure that the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission plays fair in the case between Enron Power Marketing Inc. and SnoPUD. For too long, Enron has been harassing utilities for termination fees through the FERC administrative litigation system.

The Enron Corporation has already wronged consumers through its manipulation of the energy market during the energy crisis of 2001. It wasn’t bad enough that Enron already collected an astonishing $1.8 billion through their market-manipulation schemes, including millions from SnoPUD. Today, Enron is trying to bilk another $122 million from Washington State consumers.

Enron argues that they deserve a fee for the termination of their contract for electricity that they never delivered to Snohomish Public Utility District, SnoPUD. Snohomish PUD’s contention is that because the power was never delivered, and because these contracts with Enron were entered into when the company was illegally manipulating the electricity market to inflate rates, these contracts are invalid.

Mr. Chairman, my amendment to the fiscal year 2007 Energy and Water Appropriations Act would prohibit the FERC from enforcing any decision that deems a termination payment is due to Enron from SnoPUD during fiscal year 2007. It’s Congress’s responsibility to ensure protection for consumers like those being served by Snohomish PUD from companies like the Enron Corporation. With this amendment, Congress will be deciding to stand with Enron, or stand with ratepayers.

IN HONOR OF MONTEREY HISTORY AND ART ASSOCIATION

HON. SAM FARR
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. FARR. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the Monterey History and Art Association on its 75th anniversary. During those 75 years, it has played a crucial role in preserving the colorful heritage of California’s first Capital by protecting the historic buildings, artifacts and mementos of the people who made Monterey County their home.

MHA’s diligence has resulted in the restoration and safeguarding of many elements of Monterey’s past, including ownership of Casa Serrano, the Fremont Adobe, Perry-Downer House, Doud House and the Mayo Hayes O’Donnell Library, as well as the Maritime and History Museum, all of which have contributed to Monterey’s reputation as the best-preserved city in the West.

The Monterey Peninsula represents a diversity of cultures, communities and creative ideals. As cultural tourism increasingly becomes a leading industry, MHA’s efforts serve to provide important economic benefits to the Monterey Peninsula.

Mr. Speaker, it gives me great pleasure to congratulate the Monterey History and Art Association for its 75 years of protecting the heritage of California’s first Capital, and commend its efforts in the preservation of the buildings and mementos of the cultures that have contributed to making Monterey the magnificent historic City that it is.

RECOGNIZING ROBERT ALAN WILBUR FOR ACHIEVING THE RANK OF EAGLE SCOUT

HON. SAM GRAVES
OF MISSOURI
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. GRAVES. Mr. Speaker, I proudly pause to recognize Robert Alan Wilbur, a very special young man who has exemplified the finest qualities of citizenship and leadership by taking an active part in the Boy Scouts of America, Troop 351, and in earning the most prestigious award of Eagle Scout.

Robert has been very active with his troop, participating in many Scout activities. Over the many years Robert has been involved with Scouting, he has not only earned numerous merit badges, but also the respect of his family, peers, and community.

Mr. Speaker, I proudly ask you to join me in commending Robert Alan Wilbur for his accomplishments with the Boy Scouts of America and for his efforts put forth in achieving the highest distinction of Eagle Scout.

PAYING TRIBUTE TO BRIGADIER GENERAL RANDALL E. SAYRE

HON. JON C. PORTER
OF NEVADA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. PORTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Brigadier General Randall E. Sayre, who is retiring as the Commander of the Neveda Army National Guard.

General Sayre has had a long and distinguished career. General Sayre earned his Commission through Army ROTC at the University of Nevada, Reno, graduating in 1976 with a Bachelors Degree in Criminal Justice. Over the next 2 decades, General Sayre served in a number of different capacities: his initial tour of duty was in Korea, serving as an Aviation Operations Officer; he also served tours of active duty as a pilot, commander and instructor pilot. In 1981, General Sayre was transferred to the Nevada Army National Guard, where he first served as an Evacuation Pilot with the 1150th Medical Detachment based out of Reno, and subsequently as a Section Leader, Flight Operations Officer, and Detachment Commander. General Sayre also served as Battalion Commander of the 151 Battalion, 113th Aviation, based in Reno, Nevada and as Deputy Commander, Nevada Army National Guard. In February 2003, General Sayre was appointed Commander, Nevada Army National Guard and Assistant Adjutag General for the State of Nevada. In this role, he was responsible for all policies, programs and plans for the Nevada Army National Guard.

Over the course of his long career, General Sayre has also earned a number of accolades. He has been awarded the National Defense Service Medal, the Army Reserve Components Achievement Medal (with 7 oak leaf clusters), and the Global War on Terrorism Service Medal, the Humanitarian Service Medal, and the Legion of Merit, along with many others.

Mr. Speaker, I am proud to honor the career of Brigadier General Randall E. Sayre. His long and illustrious record of service to his country shows that he is a true patriot and American hero. I thank him for his service and wish him the best in his retirement.

TRIBUTE TO VETERANS ON MEMORIAL DAY

HON. DANIEL E. LUNGREN
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. LUNGREN of California. Mr. Speaker, Memorial Day weekend offers many Americans the opportunity to spend much needed time with friends and family, as well as a break from the routine and hustle and bustle of everyday life. This weekend, as we gather for cookouts, take advantage of holiday sales and welcome the arrival of summer, we should refocus our attention and recognize the day’s true purpose. This is a national day of thanks, remembrance, and tribute.

Thanks for the gift of safety offered by our Nation’s veterans. Remembrance for those who have fought and died for our freedom.
And tribute to the men and women whose service in our armed forces has secured America’s future.

Set aside as a yearly reminder to be proud of the soldiers, sailors, airmen, and marines who have accepted our security as their duty.
Memorial Day is a unique celebration of both life and death. Recognized by all Americans, regardless of race, religion, or ethnicity, Me-orial Day is a national holiday dedicated to celebrating the lives of our fallen soldiers by honoring their memory.

Throughout our history, we have met and overcome each threat to our sovereignty and way of life with dignity. While our forces overseas and at home are engaged in a Global War on Terror, this Memorial Day is all made the more poignant by the nature of our enemy.
Islamofascists committed to the destruction of our Nation and our way of life should clearly remind all Americans that it is our solemn duty to honor the brave men and women in uniform who are fighting to secure the future of American generations. Through their sacrifice, Americans yet unborn will know greater peace, prosperity, and hope.

Giving what President Lincoln called the last full measure of devotion, the sacrifice of America’s armed forces has endured more than two centuries of liberty. Today, we honor those who have given their lives so our freedom could endure. Our commitment to the men and women of our Armed Forces should refect their dedication to us all.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. JOHN LINDER
OF GEORGIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. LINDER. Mr. Speaker, I was unable to cast rollcall votes 194–206 on May 24, 2006, because I was unavoidably detained on official business in the Seventh Congressional District of Georgia, at a constituent policy event on fundamental tax reform. Had I been present I would have cast the following votes: On rollcall No. 194, I would have voted “aye”; On rollcall No. 195, I would have voted “no”; On rollcall No. 196, I would have voted “aye”; On rollcall No. 197, I would have voted “no”; On rollcall No. 198, I would have voted “no”; On rollcall No. 199, I would have voted “no”.

JEWS AS AMERICANS MONTH

HON. CHARLES B. RANGEL
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to thank Representative Debbie Wasserman Schultz for her hard work on behalf recognizing Mayas Jewish American Heritage month and to express my gratitude to the President for his proclamation making May Jewish American Heritage Month.

After the burning of the Second Temple and the final dispersion of the Jews from Zion, people of Jewish heritage have settled in every corner of the world. There are Jews in China, in India, in Mexico, in Greece. While Hitler almost murdered all the Jews of Europe, he did not entirely succeed.

Because of the moral values of this country we put our entire nation into the fight against the Nazi's in World War II. What is so remarkable about the fact that the United States fought so fiercely and so bravely in World War II is that they did so to save the world. That desire arose from the nation's character, which is an amalgam of the religious heritage of its people—including its Jewish people.

Today I think about the Jewish soldiers in World War II who fought in the WWII not even knowing of the death camps and the overuse I think of the men who risked their lives every day in the mud of France and the fields of Belgium because they knew what was spreading and taking over Europe was immoral. When Eisenhower's troops first came upon a death camp, he made the camp guards and the German villagers who had lived in the green fields and gardens around the camp come to view the bodies and guard them. The message was clear: Americans find what you have done here and you villagers have tolerated here to be an immense crime, an unimaginable crime.

The greatness of our people is their character. Jewish people have brought a lot to the making of that character. Jews have known that the values in the Five Books of Moses are universal and throughout two thousand years of Diaspora brought their values with them to the shores of all the countries where they settled including America.

Judaism is a religion and a value system. No one who is not a Jew is considered less a person by a Jew. No stranger can be left without shelter, no hungry man without bread.

I could not help but notice in the Save Darfur Coalition and other grass roots organizations working so hard to stop the genocide in Darfur that many Jewish organizations are involved in the grass roots efforts. Among them are the American World Jewish Congress, The American Jewish Committee, Jews against Genocide Religious Action Center for Reform Judaism. I have received letters from children in Jewish schools asking me to help the people of Darfur. Jewish people have a special understanding about genocide. The parents of these children who write to me may have lost grandparents, uncles, aunts, cousins. But they also know they can write to their congressmen and their children can write and ask for help for these people so far away who are in desperate trouble as their relatives once were.

One of the characteristics I most admire is the activism many of the Jewish people engage in. That activism has meant a great deal to the Civil Rights movement. I also admire the way Jews have contributed to the “personality” of New York. As a New Yorker, I feel especially lucky because I have learned some Yiddish, some great jokes and have met some truly amazing people who love books, culture, art and life. I’m glad for the Jewish heritage I experience in my district every day I am at home.

I say to Jewish Americans today: Congratulations and Mazol Tov!
and Girls Club. In addition, she was elected President of the Yuma County Education Foundation, Somerton's Rotary Club, and Yuma County's School District Association.

Mrs. Bobbitt has demonstrated great leadership and thousands of students are now beneficiaries of her vision of equality and personal best.

I would like to personally commend Mrs. Judith Bobbitt for her tireless commitment to our community. Her life and work is an inspiration to us all.

TRIBUTE TO DENNIS E. NIXON

HON. HENRY CUELLAR
OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. CUELLAR. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Dennis E. Nixon, Chairman of International Bancshares Corporation (IBC), on his selection as an inductee into the 2006 Texas Business Hall of Fame on October 26, 2006.

Mr. Nixon is widely recognized as one of the nation’s leading banking authorities. Since joining IBC in 1975, he has been instrumental in the ranking of the bank as the largest minority-owned bank organization in the United States with assets of $10.3 billion with over 200 full service branches throughout Texas and Oklahoma in over eighty communities. IBC is headquartered in the City of Laredo and employs over three thousand in the South Texas region and in Oklahoma.

Mr. Nixon’s approach to banking is based at the community level in which all customers large and small retain the same value, and this approach has been achieved through the involvement of IBC in community service. Mr. Nixon believes in the importance of corporate social responsibility, and has encouraged his employees to be active volunteers in community service with various non-profit organizations. As a result, IBC was the winner of the 2001 Governor’s Volunteer Award in the corporate business category.

Mr. Speaker, thank you for allowing me to honor Dennis E. Nixon, Chairman of International Bancshares Corporation, in recognition of his selection as an inductee into the 2006 Texas Business Hall of Fame.

TRIBUTE TO CITY OF GAITHERSBURG

HON. CHRIS VAN HOLLEN
OF MARYLAND
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. VAN HOLLEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to congratulate the City of Gaithersburg on its tenth anniversary as a “CHARACTER COUNTS! City.”

Gaithersburg exemplifies the six pillars of a “CHARACTER COUNTS! City”—trust-worthiness, respect, responsibility, fairness, caring, and citizenship. Today, Gaithersburg celebrates its continued success in serving its citizens and teaching its children the importance of good character.

The CHARACTER COUNTS! program in Gaithersburg began in a meeting room filled with parents and children eager to learn the pillars of the program. In just over 10 years, the ideals of CHARACTER COUNTS! have spread through businesses and schools. Today, Gaithersburg has experienced the benefits of ethical education and has grounded the goals of the City in the ethos and framework of the CHARACTER COUNTS! program.

Through learning and focusing on customer needs, Gaithersburg seeks to continue the honest and open communication that has helped it become a nationally renowned city. Gaithersburg utilizes creative and fiscal responsibilities to promote its health and excellence. All of the people of Gaithersburg—city officials, employees, neighborhood and governmental agencies—strive to continuously improve the City through cooperation and an increased emphasis on customer service, which allows community needs to be identified and met.

By maintaining the best aspects of a small town while implementing the most advanced new technologies, Gaithersburg has a diverse array of wonderful characteristics. The residents of Gaithersburg benefit from safe neighborhoods and diverse transportation options. Elected officials have united to create a favorable business environment and to preserve beautiful parks and public places. Gaithersburg is a justly family-friendly environment and a citizenry that possesses a strong sense of community and individual responsibility.

I am pleased to honor the City of Gaithersburg for its outstanding commitment to values in its governance and daily life. Gaithersburg is a great place to live, work, learn and play, and I congratulate it on its tenth anniversary as a CHARACTER COUNTS! City.

INTRODUCTION OF SEEDS FOR SOLDIERS ACT

HON. TOM UDALL OF NEW MEXICO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. UDALL of New Mexico. Mr. Speaker, it gives me great pleasure to rise today to introduce the Seeds for Soldiers Act. As a nation currently welcoming home new veterans, we must do all we can to assist them upon their return. One way to do that is to help them jumpstart their new small businesses.

This bill does this by creating a specialized loan program for veterans through the Small Business Administration, which provides veterans with loans up to $3 million, allows for debt refinancing, and permits borrowers to defer payments for up to one year without any accumulation of interest. To encourage lenders to provide capital, the program will carry reduced costs and a higher government loan guarantee.

The bill also establishes a vocational re habilitation program for veterans specifically designed to assist in the transition out of service. The program, which will be established by existing Small Business Development Centers, will provide technical, vocational, and entrepreneurial assistance to veterans to help them use their skills learned in the military to open, maintain, and expand their own businesses. The bill authorizes $25 million in funding to provide $500,000 grants to the SBDCs to open this program.

As a member of both the House Veterans’ Affairs Committee and the Small Business Committee, I am well acquainted with the difficulties many vets face in establishing and sustaining small businesses. At a time when thousands of veterans are returning home from Iraq and Afghanistan, we must act in a very dramatic way to assist them in their return. This bill provides the seeds for veteran-owned businesses, so that they may grow into sustainable entities.

I am pleased to introduce this legislation today and wish to thank original cosponsors Representatives EMERSON, KELLY, and MICHAUD for their support. I urge my colleagues to join us in supporting both our veterans, and the benefits that small businesses contribute to our economy, by cosponsoring this bill.

30TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE WILLOWS THEATRE COMPANY

HON. GEORGE MILLER
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the 30th anniversary of the Willows Theatre Company in Concord (Contra Costa County), California and the major, positive impact it has had—and continues to have—in the cultural life of the San Francisco Bay Area. For three decades, the Willows has developed and produced dramas, comedies and musicals—more than 210 in all—drawn from contemporary American playwrights, composers and lyricists for a mix of world or area premieres and revivals of classic American shows. Six productions a year, for a total of 244 performances, attract thousands of loyal patrons each year. The current patron base has grown to more than 4,500 subscribers, with renewals at an enviable 87 percent. The company is training theater artists, and creating viable relationships with playwrights, designers, actors and students whose work will impact current and future audiences and artists.

Over the past 4 years alone, the Willows has earned 17 awards from the Bay Area Theatre Critics Circle. The Arts and Culture Commission of Contra Costa County honored Richard Elliott, artistic director, in 2000 and Andrew Holtz, managing director, in 2004 with Arts Recognition Awards. In 2002, the San Francisco Business Arts Council presented its Cyril Award for Non-Profit Arts Excellence to the Willows.

Aside from its renowned artistic successes, the Willows also is an economic force in the community. With an annual budget approaching $2 million, the company maintains facilities, employs administrative support staff, and affords the first opportunity for professional employment for many developing theater artists. The company was the first theater in Contra Costa County to operate under a seasonal contract with Actors Equity Association, with as many as 200 or more professional and non-union Bay Area artists employed during a season.

In support of other non-profit arts organizations throughout the region, the Willows operates a Community Box Office service that has Priselac makes many contributions to the healthcare establishments.

As part of its mission, the Willows engages youths in a variety of programs, including a conservatory, a round theater arts and student internship training program. In addition, it offers greatly reduced student ticket rates to encourage family and school attendance at live theater.

With a remarkable record of achievement in the past 30 years, the Willows is now focused on the future. Later this year, the company will expand its operations by opening a 220-seat cabaret-style theater in Martinez, the seat of government for Contra Costa County. Earlier this year, the company completed a 9,000 square-foot production facility in Waterfront Park in Martinez, in close proximity to the 1,000-seat John Muir Amphitheater. The facility was constructed to accommodate multiple performances of “John Muir’s Mountain Days,” a musical, commissioned by the Willows, based on the life of the famed preservationist John Muir, whose residence in Martinez is a National Historic Site.

These activities are part of the John Muir Festival Center, an educational, cultural heritage and economic development project in which the Willows has taken a leadership role along with its partners—the city of Martinez, the John Muir Association, the National Park Service, and the Martinez Historical Society.

On July 3, 2006, the Willows will celebrate its 30th anniversary with a gala that includes a dinner and a show in the John Muir Amphitheater featuring the Diablo Symphony and performers from past Willows Theatre productions.

I am proud to join in the celebration.

TRIBUTE TO THOMAS M. PRISELAC

HON. HENRY A. WAXMAN
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. WAXMAN. Mr. Speaker, we rise today to pay tribute to our good friend, Thomas M. Priselac, President and CEO of Cedars-Sinai Health System. Mr. Priselac has held the position of President and CEO since January 1994, and has helped transform Cedars-Sinai Health System into one of the premier providers of health services, graduate and continuing medical education services, and medical research. He has proven himself to be a strong leader who gets impressive results. We are pleased that he will be honored by B’Nai B’Rith International with the prestigious National Healthcare Award on June 5, 2006.

Mr. Priselac began his career in healthcare after receiving his Bachelor degree in Biology from Washington and Jefferson College in Pennsylvania and his Masters in Public Health from the University of Pittsburgh. He began his career at Montefiore Hospital in Pittsburgh as a member of the executive staff. In 1979, he began working at Cedars-Sinai. He was appointed to the role of Executive Vice President in 1988, which he fulfilled for six years prior to being appointed President and CEO. During his tenure at Cedars-Sinai, Mr. Priselac has helped lead it into one of our nation’s finest healthcare establishments.

In addition to his work at Cedars, Mr. Priselac makes many contributions to the healthcare community through his dedication and commitment to several healthcare related organizations. He has served on numerous healthcare related boards. He currently serves as Chair of the Association of American Medical Colleges, and chairs the Health Care Committee of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

It is our distinct pleasure to ask our colleagues to join us in saluting Mr. Priselac for his outstanding achievements and to congratulate him on receiving this prestigious award.

HONORING THE STUDENTS AT HALF HOLLOW HILLS HIGH SCHOOL EAST

HON. STEVE ISRAEL
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. ISRAEL. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate the students from Half Hollow Hills High School East in Dix Hills, New York for their hard work in the “We the People: the Citizen and the Constitution” national finals.

These outstanding young Americans placed fourth in this nationwide competition and I am honored to call them my constituents.

The students, Jason Aronson, Matt Bauman, Jillian Bernstein, Eric Bierman, Emily Chen, Davina Ettawy, Leilani Fanzadeh, Zach Goldberg, Chris Green, Arun Gupta, Jennifer Kim, Praneet Korrapati, Emily Kuznick, Tia Mansouri, Joshua Milber, Brooke Schachner, Stephen Schiraldi, Dana Schwartz, Dana Seidl, Fauzia Shaikh, Kunaal Sharma, Rivka Vani, Alyssa Weinberg and Joshua Woh, led by their teacher Scott Edwards, demonstrated a remarkable understanding of the fundamental ideals and values of American constitutional government.

Also worthy of special recognition is Eileen Gerrish, the state coordinator, and Charles Trupia, the district coordinator, who are among those responsible for implementing the “We the People” program in my district.

Their success in the competition is also a testament to the excellent teachers at Half Hollow Hills East High School and elsewhere on Long Island.

I offer my congratulations on their success and commend these students on their dedication to the study of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

TRIBUTE TO CHAIRMAN HENRY J. HYDE

HON. MICHAEL T. McCaul
OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. McCaul. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor a man who has for the past 31 years brought honesty, integrity and distinction to this Chamber, to his party and to the people of Sixth District of Illinois. I consider myself fortunate to have my congressional career overlap with his, even if only for one term.

At several points throughout Chairman Hyde’s career, he served in a position of leadership within the U.S. House of Representatives when a strong and competent leader was needed, and at all times he was the right man for the job. He served as chairman of the Judiciary Committee during a difficult time in our country’s history, and brought the highest level of integrity to his position.

Mr. Hyde was appointed chairman of the International Relations Committee shortly before 9/11, where he has valiantly led us through the early crucial years of the War on Terror. In his career, Chairman Hyde has worked diligently to protect and expand the freedoms of unborn children, to protect the homeland symbols of this Nation from desecration and to protect the freedoms of citizens all over the world.

Chairman Hyde has dedicated his career in public service to ideals worthy of a great Republican, and to principles worthy of a great statesman. His determination to seek truth and justice has earned him the respect of his colleagues on both sides of the aisle.

My single regret is that I only had 2 years to learn from Chairman Hyde, but those are lessons I will carry with me throughout my career. I wish him the best of luck in all his future endeavors.

RECOGNIZING 30 YEARS OF SERVICE BY COLONEL JOHN C. COLEMAN, USMC

HON. DARRELL E. ISSA
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. ISSA. Mr. Speaker, I rise to honor the 30 years of dedicated service of Col John C. Coleman, USMC.

Col John C. Coleman assumed duties as Commanding Officer, Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton on 21 October 2005.

Colonel Coleman was born 11 February 1954 and is a native of Warner Robins, Georgia. He was commissioned through the PLC Program following graduation from the Virginia Military Institute in May of 1976. Since commissioning, he has completed seven tours of duty in the Corps’ operating forces, two in the supporting establishment, and two with the joint community.

As a Company Grade Officer, Colonel Coleman served tours of duty with 2nd Battalion, 1st Marines, 3rd Battalion, 4th Marines, and with 3rd Battalion, 25th Marines. Assignments during these tours included Rifle Platoon Commander, 81mm Mortar Platoon Commander, Company Executive Officer, Assistant Battalion Operations Officer, H&S Company Commander, Rifle Company Commander, Weapons Company Commander, and Rifle Company Inspector/Instructor.

In addition to these assignments, he served in the supporting establishment as the Training Support Officer, Officer Candidate School, and as a Company Grade Monitor, Headquarters Marine Corps.

As a Field Grade Officer, Colonel Coleman served tours of duty with 1st Battalion, 2nd Marines, 1st Battalion, 4th Marines, 2nd and 3rd Marine Division headquarters, and 1st Marine Expeditionary Force Headquarters.

Assignments during these tours included Battalion Operations Officer, Battalion Executive
The one-year anniversary of passage of the stem cell research bill

HON. EDDIE BERNICE JOHNSON
OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Ms. EDDIE BERNICE JOHNSON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of stem cell research.

Last May, the House of Representatives narrowly passed H.R. 810, supporting federally funded embryonic stem cell research.

My vote, recorded in support of this bill, reflects my strong views on the potential for stem cell research to benefit society.

Stem cells can mature into nearly any type of cell, including nerve cells to repair damaged spines or heart cells to pump blood through the body.

The therapeutic possibilities of stem cells are endless.

It is my hope that the other body will work with us to support stem cell research.

Somewhere out there is a little girl who suffered a spinal injury and is unable to walk.

Therapists utilizing stem cells is her only hope. How much longer will she and millions of others have to wait?
INTRODUCTION OF LEGISLATION DESIGNATING “LARRY WINN, JR. POST OFFICE”

HON. DENNIS MOORE OF KANSAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. MOORE of Kansas. Mr. Speaker, joined by my Kansas delegation colleagues—Representatives TIARNT, RYUN and MORAN—I am today introducing legislation to designate the United States Postal Service facility located at 6029 Broadway Street in Mission, Kansas, as the “Larry Winn, Jr. Post Office Building.”

Edward Laurence “Larry” Winn, Jr., represented Kansas’ Third Congressional District in the U.S. House from 1967 to 1985. Born in Kansas City, Missouri, in 1919, he was an Eagle Scout who attended public schools and received a B.A. from the University of Kansas in 1941. Becoming an announcer for WHB radio, he later served as public relations director for the local branch of the American Red Cross. Returning to Kansas, he established and became vice president of Winn-Rau Corporation, a private home builder. For 14 years, he served as National Director of the National Association of Home Builders, and also served as President of the Home Builders Association of Kansas City.

In 1962, the incumbent U.S. Representative in the Third District, Robert Ellsworth, asked Winn, who had served as Republican Party chairman in that district, to be his campaign manager. He fulfilled that role in the 1962 and 1964 campaigns. In 1966, when Ellsworth unsuccessfully challenged incumbent U.S. Senator Jim Pearson in the Republican primary, Winn won election as his successor, defeating Overland Park Mayor Marvin Rainey. In later contests, among eight successful re-elections, Winn would defeat Lieutenant Governor James DeCoursey and Dan Watkins, the former chief of staff to Governor John Carlin.

Initially appointed to the House Committees on Space and Aeronautics [later renamed Science and Technology] and the District of Columbia, in 1963, he was appointed to the Select Committee on Crime, the Veterans’ Affairs Committee, and the International Relations Committee, which was later renamed the Foreign Affairs Committee. Described by Congressional Quarterly’s Politics in America, 1962 as “a quiet, unassuming man,” Winn eventually rose to the ranking Republican seat on the Science and Technology Committee, where he was an active supporter of America’s space exploration program. As Politics in America, 1982 noted, he also advocated research for the development of energy sources such as Cross. Returning to Kansas, he established and became vice president of Winn-Rau Corporation, a private home builder. For 14 years, he served as National Director of the National Association of Home Builders, and also served as President of the Home Builders Association of Kansas City.

Mr. Speaker, Larry Winn, Jr., served the people of Kansas for 14 years. His first term was marked by an abundance of energy, ingenuity and civic pride. In the course of his career, the Ralph Nader Congress Project’s Citizens Look at Congress review of Winn’s activities concluded that: “Legislatively, Winn shows a good feel for Third District needs and interests. . . . Although Winn has had considerable experience in public speaking and writing, his style is more folksy than polished.” During his tenure, he taped a weekly radio program on current congressional issues that was distributed to local broadcasters, as well as drafting and circulating weekly newspaper columns and twice-yearly congressional questionnaires that were sent to all in-district postal patrons. He estimated that over 2,000 Third District residents visited his Washington, D.C., office during the first four years of his tenure, and bumper stickers proclaiming: “I visited Congressman Larry Winn in Washington” were seen frequently across the Kansas City area.

Upon announcing his retirement from the U.S. House in 1984, Representative Winn published a column in the Christian Science Monitor decrying the increase in congressional partisanship. In the same column, he wrote: “I urge Congressmen to return to the national level to serve their constituents. . . . The people are tired of hearing about their region and not the nation.”

In 1985, Congressman Winn was appointed by the House on behalf of the General Accounting Office to review congressional issues that was distributed to the public. In 2004, Representative Winn was appointed by the House on behalf of the General Accounting Office to review congressional issues related to federal regional offices. In 1982, he was awarded the title of “Pioneer in the Promotion of Gasohol.”

Mr. Speaker and Colleagues, please join me in honoring the life of Congressman Robert N. Giaimo.

HON. JOHN B. LARSON
OF CONNECTICUT

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. LARSON of Connecticut. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Congressman Robert N. Giaimo, who passed away on May 24, 2006. Bob proudly served in this body from 1958–1980, representing the New Haven area in Connecticut. Bob was a profound figure who believed in public service and worked tirelessly for the people of this great state.

The son of Italian immigrants, Bob was raised in North Haven, Connecticut and was elected in 1958 to serve the Third District of Connecticut. During his 22 years in Congress, Bob made many significant contributions to this country. Bob co-sponsored a bill that created the National Endowment for the Arts and Humanities, which has allowed people in this country to reach their creative potential. He also led the first successful effort to end funds for the fighting in Southeast Asia. Bob worked to enact the Law of the Sea, the National Oceans Education Act, and to include the old New Haven Railroad in the Penn Central merger.

Bob’s priority in Congress was to create meaningful change and he represented rule. Intellectuals, poets, artists and writers became the spiritual leaders in the Filipino quest for freedom and independence from Spain. It was the written works by an unknown, young doctor from Laguna Province, Jose Rizal, which set fire to the independence movement. National movement’s explosive first novel, “Noli Me Tangere,” (“Touch Me Not”), shattered the facade of colonial rule and shed light on the destructive limitations forced upon the Filipino people. The novel, though immediately banned by the Spanish rulers, was disseminated under the other highly charged passages by Dr. Rizal and others.

In Manila, 1892, Rizal founded the independence movement, Luga Filipina. By 1898, an armed struggle for independence had begun, and government officials accused Dr. Rizal of leading the charge. For the circuslike spectacle of an unjust trial, Rizal was found guilty. On the evening of December 30, 1896, Dr. Rizal was executed by firing squad in what is now known in Manila as Rizal Park. The night before his scheduled execution, he wrote the poem “Mi Ultimo Adios,” a heartrending and poignant expression of his abiding love for the people and country of the Philippines.

Mr. Speaker and Colleagues, please join me in honoring the life and recognition of Dr. Jose Protacio Rizal. Dr. Rizal rose from the quiet life of a village doctor to become a beloved and courageous national hero of the Philippines—a man whose words blazed a trail of freedom throughout the Philippines. Bob worked to honor and recognize the leaders and members of the Order of the Knights of Rizal, Cleveland Chapter, for keeping the significant spirit of Dr. Jose Rizal alive for each new generation to know and understand. The life of Dr. Rizal reflects an inspiration for freedom for all people, and highlights the ideology that despite the seemingly endless struggle, justice and liberty will inevitably rise.

HONORING THE LIFE OF CONGRESSMAN ROBERT N. GIAIMO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. LARSON of Connecticut. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Congressman Robert N. Giaimo, who passed away on May 24, 2006. Bob proudly served in this body from 1958–1980, representing the New Haven area in Connecticut. Bob was a profound figure who believed in public service and worked tirelessly for the people of this state.

The son of Italian immigrants, Bob was raised in North Haven, Connecticut and was elected in 1958 to serve the Third District of Connecticut. During his 22 years in Congress, Bob made many significant contributions to this country. Bob co-sponsored a bill that created the National Endowment for the Arts and Humanities, which has allowed people in this country to reach their creative potential. He also led the first successful effort to end funds for the fighting in Southeast Asia. Bob worked to enact the Law of the Sea, the National Oceans Education Act, and to include the old New Haven Railroad in the Penn Central merger.

Bob’s priority in Congress was to create meaningful change and he represented... the values and aspirations of the people of the Third District of Connecticut.

Bob was well-respected among his colleagues. During his 11-terms in Congress, he served on the House Budget Committee, which he chaired for 4 years, the House Commission on Information and Facilities, and the Joint Committee on the Library. Bob also served on the House Appropriations Committee, and its subcommittees on Department of Defense, District of Columbia, Treasury Postal Service and General Government, Legislative Branch, and Housing and Urban Development. His dedication to his colleagues and the people he represented.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that my colleagues join me today in honoring the life of Robert N. Giambo. Bob’s legacy lives on in this Nation and among his family. My thoughts and prayers are with Bob’s wife, Marion Schuennemann Giambo, his daughter Barbara Giambo Koones, and his granddaughter, Tracy Elizabeth Phillips. Today, we lost a tremendous person who worked hard to improve the well-being of our country and the state of Connecticut.

TRIBUTE TO LAWRENCE E. HORNER

HON. BRAD SHERMAN
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Lawrence E. Horner for his civic and philanthropic service to the residents of the Conejo and San Fernando Valleys. Seventy-six years old, Larry is a proud veteran, an accomplished businessman, and dedicated public servant.

Larry was served as my senior district advisor since November 1997, and will be retiring at the end of this month. He has been an invaluable asset to me and to my constituents. His knowledge of issues ranging from economic development to military and veterans affairs has been crucial to helping me better serve my constituents. I will miss his depth of experience, leadership, and personal charm.

Larry’s extensive knowledge of the Conejo Valley has been an invaluable asset. I consulted extensively with Larry when working to protect and expand the Santa Monica Mountains National Recreational Area. His advice and experience were critical to my successful efforts to defend this irreplaceable natural resource.

Mr. Speaker, Larry received his bachelor’s and master’s degrees in Science from Indiana University. He served in the United States Army during the Korean War.

In 1954, Larry was discharged from the Army and met and married Betty Thurman. Happily married for more than 50 years, they have raised three children and contributed countless hours volunteering in their community.

In 1960, Larry and Betty moved to Southern California where he worked in the aerospace and defense industry for Lockheed, Litton, and finally as a Vice-President of Northrop in Newport Park.

In 1973, Larry began his career in politics by winning a seat on the Thousand Oaks City Council. He served on the Council for more than 16 years. During that period, his fellow Council Members asked him to serve as Mayor for an unprecedented five terms.

While serving as Mayor and Council member, Larry helped solidify a sound economic base for the city. He also established senior citizen facilities, reduced property tax assessments, increased the city’s supply of affordable housing and helped lower the crime rate. All of his efforts resulted in an improved quality of life for Conejo Valley residents.

Mr. Speaker, all of us in this House are dependent on the dedication and hard work of our staffs. When I was elected to represent the 24th Congressional District in 1996, I knew I would need an outstanding and popular leader in the Conejo Valley to head my Thousand Oaks office. Larry accepted the challenge and was instrumental in ensuring that my constituents received the quality services they needed and deserved.

Larry’s hard work and dedicated service in that office and, following redistricting and the 2002 elections, as a member of my Sherman Oaks office staff, have been exemplary. Larry’s accomplishments in business, politics, government, and community service are an impressive legacy. I will miss his service, but I look forward to his continuing friendship.

TRIBUTE TO LENCHO RENDON

HON. SOLOMON P. ORTIZ
OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. ORTIZ. Mr. Speaker, this month Capitol Hill saw the departure of one of the most talented people in Texas politics today, my just-retired Chief of Staff, my former Chief Deputy Sheriff in our other lives, my campaign advisor, my little brother, my best friend—some have even called him my “alter ego” Lencho Rendon.

Lencho is a legend in the House of Representatives and counts many, many friends here in this Chamber . . . friends he will remain close to in this next chapter of his life. Several of them join me in bidding our friend and colleague, Bob, goodbye. Lencho and I met not too long after I was elected Nueces County Sheriff in South Texas in 1976. He was working for the Webb County Sheriff’s office and a DEA Task Force; and he was beginning to make a reputation for himself as one of the absolute best at finding the drugs and getting evidence on them.

He was a master at that, and his detective and undercover work were monumentally dangerous just about every day. By the grace of God, Lencho lived to talk about—or not talk about—the everyday grind of living undercover to catch the bad guys.

He ran my first campaign for Congress, a task he took on each election cycle—and he remains my campaign chairman. In Texas, Lencho is the guy you go to when you want to hear the straight truth.

He can find the bottom line . . . and see around the corners . . . and strategize a way to get you where you want to go. He works on campaigns in South Texas during election season, and he understands the precise—almost-intersection of politics, policy, people, and the art of the possible.

Here on the Hill and in the international community, Lencho has made more friends than we can count. He employs the same skills on Capitol Hill he learned and practices in South Texas: figure out where you want to go, and he can find a way to get you there. He is widely respected by both Members of Congress and Capitol Hill staff members.

Lencho is an accomplished businessman—here and in Texas—that have felt his absence most abruptly and most profoundly. We haven’t missed a beat in our work for South Texans, but we have missed the presence of the man that we all respect and we all love. You grow so close to people with whom you stand in campaigns.

Lencho is unbelievably talented on so many levels, and has a deep and abiding compassion for people and families. It’s an old rule of politics: people that campaign together will always be there for each other. That is certainly true for me and my organization, but it’s true for most every political organization.

And so it will be—Lencho remains a trusted member of my family, and I will always seek his counsel on matters political and personal. I know he remains a trusted member of this Capitol Hill family.

HONORIZING MORRIS “MORRIE” TURNER

HON. BARBARA LEE
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the life and extraordinary achievements of Morris “Morrie” Turner, a native of Oakland, California. Morrie Turner is known not only for his legendary talent as a nationally-recognized cartoon artist, but has contributed greatly to our country through his use of art to advocate for social equality and community awareness.

On Wednesday, May 31, 2006, the East Bay Community will come together to celebrate Morrie’s outstanding career and immeasurable contributions to our society.

Born in 1923 in Oakland, California, Morrie assumed his nickname at an early age, always preferring it above the name Morris. He attended Cole Elementary and McClymonds High School in Oakland, and ultimately graduated from Berkeley High School in June 1942.

Morrie began drawing caricatures around the age of 10, and by the time he finished his secondary education he was comfortable with his drawing technique. After graduation, which was in the midst of World War II, he enlisted in the U.S. Army Air Corps, and continued his drawing while on guard duty. This eventually led to his first series, a strip called Rail Head, which was based on his experiences in the war and which appeared in Stars and Stripes.

Following the war Morrie returned to the Bay Area, where he began working as a clerk for the Oakland Police Department, but continued drawing on a freelance basis. During that time, and at the encouragement of his mother, he began sending his drawings to magazines. After sending out thousands of drawings, he achieved his first national publication in 1947, which was in a baking industry publication called Baker’s Helper, and which earned him a check for $5. After several of his work on roughly the same scale, Morrie got his first big break when Better Homes & Gardens bought one of his cartoons for $75.
Throughout his many years of drawing, Morrie had received no formal art training and so he sought advice and encouragement from other professional cartoonists. In that process, he began to question why there were no artists from communities of color working as professional cartoonists, particularly among those who were fourth generation, or even older. In response, his mentor Charles Schulz, creator of the infamous Peanuts strip, suggested that Morrie create one. In the early 1960s he did just that, creating Dinky Fellas, the strip that would later evolve into the hugely successful Wee Pals, a strip that takes place in a world without prejudice and that celebrated ethnic, racial, cultural and other differences in our society. In 1965, the series became the first multi-ethnic cartoon syndicated in the United States. Wee Pals went on to appear in over 100 newspapers worldwide, and has also featured a weekly additional panel called Soul Corner, in which the life of a famous person from a community of color is detailed.

Wee Pals also carries special significance in my district, because it later became the cornerstone and inspiration for my Police Department crime prevention and safety program. Through this effort, Morrie’s message of open-mindedness, equality and cultural embrace was coupled with one of public safety and community service, thereby impacting the lives of countless young people and families in the 9th Congressional District and beyond.

Morrie’s outstanding work in periodicals has been recognized by the public on numerous occasions, as have his published children’s books, whose titles include The Illustrated Biography of Martin Luther King, Jr. He was honored in 2000 by the Cartoonist Society with their Sparky Award, has been introduced into the California Public Education Hall of Fame and has also been recognized by Children’s Fairlant in Oakland; he is also the subject of a film called Keeping the Faith with Morrie.

On May 31, 2006, the friends, family and colleagues of Morrie Turner will come together to celebrate the career and immeasurable contributions of Morrie Turner to our community. On this very special day, I join all of them in thanking and saluting Morrie for his invaluable service to our community, and for the profoundly positive impact his work has had on countless lives here in California’s 9th U.S. Congressional District, across our country and throughout the world.

ENCOURAGING COMPREHENSIVE INVESTIGATION INTO THE HEALTH EFFECTS OF AGENT ORANGE EXPOSURE

HON. BRIAN HIGGINS
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. HIGGINS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of H.R. 4259. This important legislation would create the Veterans’ Right to Know Commission, an investigative body comprised of distinguished veterans of the United States Armed Forces and honorable citizens of our great Nation. The Commission would be delegated the task of comprehensively investigating the usage of chemical and biological agents employed by the U.S. military during wartime and their effect on the men and women of our Armed Services. I am a co-sponsor of this bill because I believe we require comprehensive knowledge regarding the health effects of various chemical and biological agents carried out under Project 112/ SHAD, so that we can more fully understand what exposure to them means for our veterans.

The consequences of exposure to chemical and biological agents like VX nerve gas, Sarin Nerve Gas and E. coli have long been debated by those in the scientific community. We now have evidence to show exposure to Agent Orange, an herbicide used for 10 years during the Vietnam War to defoliate and destroy crops, increases the risk of cancer, and the Air Force and the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs now officially recognize that exposure to this chemical plays a role in the formation of diabetes. However, some 50 years following initial exposure, the specific health effects other chemical and biological agents have on the human body are not fully understood. It is imperative to determine whether exposure to these dangerous chemicals tested on unknowing military personnel by the Department of Defense between 1962 and 1974, correlate with life threatening diseases. The American people deserve answers and this Commission will help provide those answers.

Thousands of brave veterans of foreign wars reside in my district, individuals who have put their very existence on the line to defend every right, ideal and freedom that this noble country exemplifies. We owe the passage of this legislation to these men and women and to all those who have been exposed to Agent Orange and to other destructive chemicals. Just last year, Western New York native and veteran Nelson C. Hughes passed away from cancer after being exposed to Agent Orange in Vietnam. He was one of the Nation’s leading advocates of Vietnam veterans suffering from Agent Orange exposure. I am troubled that in this time of prolific medical advances we are still unable to understand how some chemicals used by our own government affect the human body. Mr. Speaker, I call on Congress to honor Mr. Hughes and his colleagues by passing this bill. We have a duty to make every conceivable effort in the fight to understand and to treat their ailments, many of which may be directly or indirectly related to chemical exposure our government facilitated.

REGARDING THE 2006 LAUREATES OF THE FRANKLIN INSTITUTE’S AWARDS PROGRAM

HON. CHAKA FATTAH
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. FATTAH. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate, on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the Nation, the 2006 Laureates of The Franklin Institute Awards Program. Ten brilliant individuals will be honored on April 27, 2006 in the Benjamin Franklin National Memorial at The Franklin Institute in Philadelphia, for their outstanding achievements in science, technology, business, and philanthropy. Through the outstanding leadership of The Franklin Institute, Philadelphia’s great science museum, a 182-year tradition of recognizing brilliant achievement and promoting the pursuit of science and technology for the public good continues to inspire a passion for learning in millions of people each year.

The Franklin Institute Awards Program—considered by many as the American version of the Nobel Prize—is one of the oldest and most renowned science and technology awards programs in the world. The program’s distinguished history dates back to 1824, when the Institute was founded by a group of leading Philadelphians to train artisans and mechanics. Philadelphia, then the largest city in the United States, was the Nation’s innovation and manufacturing center. In 1824, the Institute arranged the first of what became a regular series of manufactured goods and inventions.

With these exhibitions came the presentation of awards—first certificates and later adorned medals—for scientific and technical scientific achievement. Recognized by the Institute’s Committee on Science and the Arts, which was founded as the Committee on Inventions with the beginning of the program, Fields recognized today include Chemistry, Computer and Cognitive Science, Earth and Environmental Science, Engineering, Life Science and Physics. Through a rigorous and unique case-prosecution process, the Committee evaluates the work of nominated individuals whose uncommon insight, skill or creativity has influenced future research or applications to benefit the public.

The newest awards, the Bower Award for Business Leadership and the Bower Award and Prize for Achievement in Science, were made possible by a $7.5 million bequest in 1988 from Henry Bower, a Philadelphia chemical manufacturer. The Bower Science Award carries a cash prize of $250,000, one of the richest science prizes in America.

The list of Franklin Institute Laureates reads like a canon of 19th, 20th and 21st century scientific achievement. Recipients include Alexander Graham Bell, Marie Curie, Rudolph Diesel, Thomas Edison, Niels Bohr, Max Planck, Albert Einstein and, more recently Stephen Hawking, David Packard, Roy Velagos, Jane Goodall, Herb Kelleher, and Gordon Murray to name a few. To date, 105 Franklin Institute Laureates have also been honored with 107 Nobel Prizes.

I invite Congress and all citizens of these United States to join me in congratulating the newest names to be added to this roll call of geniuses:

The winner of the 2006 Benjamin Franklin Medal in Chemistry, Samuel J. Danishefsky, of Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center and Columbia University, for his achievements in the field of organic chemistry, particularly for the development of strategies and methods for the preparation of complex natural products and related compounds, including oligosaccharide immunoconjugate vaccines, and their emerging applications in the field of cancer chemotherapy.

The winner of the 2006 Benjamin Franklin Medal in Computer & Cognitive Science, Donald A. Norman, of Northwestern University and Nielsen Norman Group, for his development of the field of user-centered design, which through the use of conceptual models, feedback, affordances, and constraints leads to the creation of interactive technologies which are easily employed by humans.
The winners of the 2006 Benjamin Franklin Medal in Earth & Environmental Science, Luna B. Leopold, of the University of California and M. Gordon Wolman, of The Johns Hopkins University, for advancing our understanding of how natural and human activities sculpt landscapes and influence landscape evolution. They developed a comprehensive explanation of why rivers have different morphologies and how floodplains develop. Their contributions form the basis of process geomorphology, modern water resource management, and environmental assessment. I regret to inform the Members that Dr. Leopold passed away in February. We express our sympathy to his family and join them in honoring his legacy.

Please also join me in honoring: The winner of the 2006 Benjamin Franklin Medal in Life Science, Fernando Nottebohm, of The Rockefeller University, for his discovery of neuronal replacement in the adult vertebrate brain, and the elaboration of the mechanism and choreography of this phenomenon; and also for showing that neuronal stem cells are the responsible agents, thereby generating a completely new approach to the quest for cures for brain injury and degenerative diseases.

The winners of the 2006 Benjamin Franklin Medal in Civil Engineering, Ray W. Clough, of the University of California, Berkeley, for revolutionizing engineering and scientific computation, and engineering design methods, through his contributions to the formulation and development of the finite element analysis method, and for his innovative leadership in establishing the field of earthquake engineering.

The winners of the 2006 Benjamin Franklin Medal in Physics, Giacinto Scoles, of Prince George’s College and Peter Toennies, of the Max Planck Institute for the development of techniques to study molecules embedded in superfluid helium nanodroplets by high-resolution spectroscopy. These techniques allowed for the investigation of reactive and fragile molecules that could not be examined in other ways, and also enabled them to study superfluid helium with unprecedented precision, yielding insights into superfluidity at the nanoscale level.

Finally, we congratulate: The winner of the 2006 Bower Award and Prize for Scientific Achievement, Narain G. Hingorani, for the conceptualization and pioneering advancement of the Flexible Alternating Current Transmission System (FACTS) and Custom Power in electric power systems, and for outstanding technical contributions in High Voltage Direct Current Technology, which have enhanced the quality and security of the electric power system.

And, the Winner of the 2006 Bower Award for Business Leadership, Ted Turner, for his visionary leadership in the worlds of business and media, as well as his philanthropic commitment to the health of our planet and the well being of our people.

Mr. Speaker, thank you for the opportunity to honor these trailblazers. Their collective body of work has changed the course of modern progress and greatly improved the human condition. This year, as our Nation celebrates the 300th anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin, Father of our industry, learning, patriotism and liberty, it is very fitting—in the spirit of Dr. Franklin—that we recognize the achievements of these individuals.

Mr. Speaker, as we congratulate Asian Pacific Americans for their accomplishments, we also recognize their struggles. Asian Pacific Americans contribute so much to our nation and we must ensure that this community is treated with the great respect it richly deserves. I urge all my colleagues to join me in honoring Asian Pacific Americans.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Captain Curtis A. Springer, Commander of Coast Guard Sector Baltimore, Maryland, since June 2003. As Commander, Captain Springer has worn many important hats. He is Captain of the Port for the Port of Baltimore, Officer in Charge of Marine Inspection, Federal On-Scene Coordinator, Search and Rescue Mission Coordinator, and Federal Maritime Security Coordinator for all Coast Guard operational missions performed in the Upper Chesapeake Bay and Washington, DC. Despite this overwhelming portfolio of responsibilities, Captain Springer has served the citizens of Maryland and this Nation quietly, honorably, and exceptionally. Embodying all that the United States Coast Guard is, Captain Springer has accepted his many roles and worked with his team regardless of the resources provided. This is a man who has earned the old fashioned way, through hard work and a sense of duty.

Captain Springer and I have been through much together: from dealing with the impact of the storm surge to Hurricane Isabel, to the water taxi disaster in Baltimore’s Inner Harbor to homeland security issues facing the Port of Baltimore. Through it all, Captain Springer has always ensured that the task at hand be completed at highest of standards.

Captain Springer is a unique leader with an innate sense of what needs to be done. As Captain of the Port, he is required to keep trouble away from our waterways before it arrives. It is critical to balance the economic realities of commerce and the impact on the private sector with the safety of the port. He has kept these often competing interests in delicate balance. Beyond his military and maritime duties, Captain Springer understands Baltimore is a working port. His wise decisions have positively affected the State of Maryland and the people who do business at the port.

Captain Springer received his commission from Officer Candidate School in 1982 after graduating from Methodist College in Fayetteville, North Carolina, where in 1980 he received a bachelor’s degrees in arts degree in education. He received a master of public administration from Michigan State University and a master of business administration from the Sloan School of Management at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Throughout his Coast Guard career, Captain Springer’s assignments have included staff officer at Reserve Training Programs Division Coast Guard Headquarters, Washington, DC; Deck Watch Officer and Operations Officer aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Mallow in Honolulu, HI; Operations Officer aboard the Coast Remembrance of Jeffrey Jarnell Johnson, Jr.: A Life of Accomplishment, Caring and Promise

By HON. KENDRICK B. MEEK
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. MEEK of Florida. Mr. Speaker, Jeffrey Johnson was a strong and gifted young man. I recognized it, and my staff recognized it, when he served as a high school intern in my Congressional office. His teachers also recognized his abilities, as did his coaches, and even college administrators at institutions to which he never attended. He was a bright and shining young man with talent, direction and purpose, and he had unlimited potential.

When Jeffrey put his mind to something, and focused his energy on it, he would overcome any obstacle to achieve it. Today, Thursday, May 25th, Jeffrey would have graduated Summa Cum Laude, and received the Miami-Dade County School Superintendent's Diploma of Distinction, from Carol City Sr. High School. He was imbued with intelligence, as evidenced by his grade point average, which landed him a Bright Futures full academic scholarship to St. Thomas University in Miami, where he looked forward to studying law.

I truly believe that Jeffrey would have become a leader in our community and perhaps even in our country, a person of consequence, a role model for others, and a force in the world for good.

Sadly, however, this strong, gifted, 17-year-old young man was tragically and senselessly killed in a shooting early Sunday, May 21, 2006. Our entire Dare County community is consumed in grief and sorrow because of his passing. His funeral services will be held Saturday, May 27th, at the New Birth Baptist Church Cathedral of Faith in Miami, Florida. The heart of every caring person aches because of the burden that now must be borne by his father, Jeffrey Sr., his mother, Brenda, and his beloved sister, Jarrika. The magnitude of their loss is truly beyond understanding.

I had the distinct honor and special privilege to have this young man serve as an intern in my office, where he epitomized standards of excellence and personal warmth in responding to the needs and concerns of my constituents. Many of them recall Jeffrey as the young intern who greeted them with utmost respect and empathy. He easily stood as a model student, defined by his quiet but dignified demeanor. His exemplary conduct and his study ethic garnered him the unique distinction that served as an example to all students seeking to prepare themselves as the leaders of tomorrow through the power of the educated mind and the sensitivity of a caring heart.

Jeffrey was a very special young man, and we are fortunate to have known him and are grateful for the gifts he left with us. Every person of goodwill is moved by his extraordinary life and the tragedy of his premature passing. I pray that his family will somehow be comforted by the fact that Jeffrey graced our lives, that he touched the lives of so many people during his all-too-brief time on this earth, and that we will never forget him.

Tribute to Doretha Adams

By HON. JAMES E. CLYBURN
OF SOUTH CAROLINA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 26, 2006

Mr. CLYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to a wonderful educator who has devoted her career to giving our young children a literal head start in life. Mrs. Doretha Adams is retiring after more than 35 years of teaching, and I join with those celebrating her extraordinary career.

Mrs. Adams knew when she attended college in Columbia, SC, that children were going to be an important part of her future. She graduated from Allen University in 1965 with a bachelor of science degree majoring in science and minor in physical education. She also earned a therapeutic recreation degree from Benedict College along with a child development certification. She continued her education at the University of Georgia and South Carolina State University where she completed a master's degree in early childhood education.

Mrs. Adams's career in education began in 1965 at Central High School, VA, where she taught science and physical education. She also found time to coach the Girls Varsity basketball team for 3 years.

However in 1969, she returned to Columbia, SC, and served as a substitute teacher in Richland School District One. As a parent, Mrs. Adams found a new career when she enrolled her first child at Ridgeway Headstart Center in 1972 and became a volunteer and the PTA president. Her enthusiasm for the Headstart program was evident, and the following year she was offered a position as a Headstart teacher with the Midland Community Action Agency, which later became the Midland Human Resource Development Commission. There she flourished in the classroom.
This beautiful shore community was incorporated on March 9, 1906, when it seceded from Ocean Township. Monmouth Beach is a small town, encompassing only one square mile, but it offers beautiful white sand beaches and friendly year round residents as part of its charm. The town’s beaches offer some of the best fishing and surfing in the area. Monmouth Beach began its centennial celebration on May 19, 2006 and residents will continue to celebrate this special event throughout the year. The celebration includes an exhibit of historical artifacts from the town of Monmouth Beach and artwork from the many talented artists who reside in Monmouth Beach. On May 21, 2006, the Monmouth Beach Police Department also celebrated its 100th birthday. I commend this fine institution for its service to the community of Monmouth Beach.

Mr. Speaker, I am proud to represent the citizens of Monmouth Beach and join with them in celebrating the centennial. Therefore, I rise today to honor the 100th anniversary of the founding of Monmouth Beach.

HONORING CAPTAIN BRIAN D. KELLY

HON. C.A. DUTCHE RUPPERSBERGER
OF MARYLAND
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. RUPPERSBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I rise before you today to honor Captain Brian D. Kelly, chief of the Office of Command and Control in the Operations Directorate at U.S. Coast Guard Headquarters. Over the years, Captain Kelly has served his country to the best of his ability and deserves recognition for his leadership.

Captain Kelly started his career with a solid foundation. He attended two fine institutions, which provided him with the proper education, training, and skills he would later need to succeed in the United States Coast Guard. With a B.S. in government, he graduated in 1982 from the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School where he earned an M.S. in management. The formal training he received certainly played an integral role in Captain Kelly’s success.

In his current role in the Office of Command and Control, Captain Kelly was charged with the task of running the Coast Guard’s Command Center, as well as the National Response Center. His contributions to this department have been exceptional. Everyday he works with his team to protect and serve the citizens of the United States.

The post 9–11 world we live in has changed the way our servicemen and women work to protect America. A top priority has been to ensure our Coast Guard has the proper training they need to protect this great Nation. In 2002–2003 Captain Kelly served as a Federal Executive Fellow at the Center for Strategic and International Studies. Through this program, Captain Kelly worked on a number of initiatives which included Iraq post-conflict reconstruction; national security simulation exercise, Project Terra Nova, and the CSSI Military Strategy. The knowledge he gained through these programs greatly impacted the way he executed future directives.

The Coast Guard is an extremely well run and managed Federal agency. These are the people who ensure our ports and waterways are secure. They also spearhead any water emergency efforts. In addition, the Coast Guard was instrumental in the Katrina relief effort; lives were saved because of their professionalism, perseverance and courage. It is such a great agency because of leaders like CPT Brian D. Kelly.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that you join with me today to honor CPT Brian D. Kelly. He is a remarkable leader and has served his country well. I look forward to working with him in the future. Welcome to Sector Baltimore, Captain.

TRIBUTE TO MICHAEL M. ADLER,
PRESIDENT OF THE GREATER MIAMI JEWISH FEDERATION

HON. KENDRICK B. MEEK
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. MEEK of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I rise to honor Michael M. Adler, who today concludes his two-year term as President of the Greater Miami Jewish Federation, marking 30 years of dedicated service to the Federation and its community.

Michael Adler’s connection to Miami is strong, and for him, community involvement is a family affair. He has the distinction of being Federation’s only second-generation president, following in the footsteps of his father, the late Samuel I. Adler, who held the position from 1984 to 1986. For two years prior to being elected President of Federation, Michael served as the General Campaign Chair for the Federation/United Jewish Appeal Campaign, which raises more than $22 million annually for much-needed services in Miami, Israel and in almost 60 countries around the world.

Michael has also served on and chaired numerous committees as part of his service to Federation. Along with his wife, Judy, he was a founding member of the Young Adults Division, charging it from 1987 to 1997, and was later Chairman of the National Young Leadership Cabinet. In addition to his Federation activities, he has also served as President of Temple Emanu-el on Miami Beach from 1995 to 1998. Over the years Michael has received many awards and honors for his involvement, including the UJA’s Herbert H. Lehman Award for Distinguished Service, and the Federation’s prestigious Stanley C. Myers Presidents’ Leadership Award.

His successes extend far beyond his activities in the Jewish community. He is Chairman and CEO of the Adler Group, one of South Florida’s largest and most successful real estate companies, and he has been involved with several successful business ventures in Israel, working closely with Prime Minister Ariel Sharon when Sharon served as Israel’s Housing Minister, to oversee the construction of new homes for immigrant families.

Michael is also active in the political community, founding NACPAC, a local pro-Israel action committee. He now serves as Chair of the Jewish Democratic Council’s Political Action Committee, and is very active in the Democratic Party.

Our entire community owes a tremendous debt of gratitude to Michael Adler for all that he has contributed to so many people over his years of caring and service. I know I speak for all my colleagues in extending to him a heartfelt “thank you” and our best wishes to Michael, his wife, Judy, and their children Matthew, David and Rachel.

TRIBUTE TO WILLIAM “BILL” ALLEN

HON. VERNON J. EHLERS
OF MICHIGAN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. EHLERS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to William “Bill” Allen. Bill is leaving the House of Representatives after nearly 4 years of distinguished service to this institution as an attorney with the Office of House Employment Counsel. As an Associate Counsel in the Office of House Employment Counsel, Bill has provided legal advice and counsel on employment issues to at least 124 current Members of Congress, 18 House Committees, the House Officers, and the United States Capitol Police Board. Bill’s clients can attest to his tremendous intelligence, legal prowess, creativity, and wit. In addition to his many other offices, in November 2005, Bill presented oral arguments on the scope of the Speech or Debate Clause before a rare en banc panel of the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit.

A Connecticut native and son of Frederick E. Allen and the late Evelyn M. Allen, Bill was raised in Ridgefield, Connecticut. Following his junior year of high school, Bill spent a week as part of a fellowship program sponsored by the Connecticut Congressional delegation. As a true New Englander, Bill grew to be a diehard New England Patriots and Boston Red Sox fan and his faith was finally rewarded in October 2004 when the Red Sox won their first World Series in 86 years.

A rare “Triple Hoo”, Bill earned his Bachelor of Science, Masters in Business Administration, and Juris Doctor from the University of Virginia. While at the University of Virginia, Bill represented the Engineering School, the Dental School, and the Law School on the University’s renowned student-run Honor Committee. Bill also served as an officer in the Raven Society and the Virginia Alpha Chapter of Tau Beta Pi, the national engineering honor society.

Bill is returning to private practice as a Senior Counsel at the law firm of Akin, Gump, Strauss, Hauer & Feld, L.L.P, where he worked from 1996 to 2002 on various class actions involving Title VII and the Fair Labor Standards Act. In private practice, Bill intends to resume his pro bono activity in the field of immigration law. While at the firm, Bill averaged over 100 hours of pro bono work per year and, in 2001, was named Akin Gump’s Pro Bono Lawyer of the Year for the firm’s D.C. office. Bill’s pro bono representation has included obtaining political asylum for a Sudanese national who had been repeatedly kidnapped and tortured by the Sudanese government and obtaining United States citizenship for an Ethiopian national.

The U.S. House of Representatives would like to express its deepest gratitude to Bill Allen for his invaluable service to this institution. Bill has worked tirelessly to provide House Employing offices with excellent legal advice and support. We wish Bill tremendous success in all of his future endeavors.

IN SUPPORT OF THE STEM CELL RESEARCH ENHANCEMENT ACT

HON. BETTY McCOLLUM OF MINNESOTA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Ms. McCOLLUM of Minnesota. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of expanding critical stem cell research and to urge the Senate to take action on the Stem Cell Research Enhancement Act (S. 471).

One year ago, on May 24, 2005, the House of Representatives passed the Stem Cell Research Enhancement Act (H.R. 810) by a vote of 238–194. I voted for this legislation because it increases funding for stem cell research, offering hope and the possibility of a cure for millions of Americans suffering from chronic and terminal illnesses. H.R. 810 also provides for the implementation of ethical guidelines to govern this research.

H.R. 810 would help to make significant advances toward finding a cure for currently incurable diseases such as juvenile diabetes, Alzheimer’s, Parkinson’s, and spinal cord injuries. Furthermore, expanding this research would increase our understanding of the abnormal cellular growth and development that occurs in cancer and birth defects, which would help create a safer and more efficient way of developing effective drugs.

For millions of individuals and their families, stem cell research provides hope for a life without the stress and suffering that accompany these serious health-related conditions. Expanding funding for this science is an effective way to cultivate the remarkable potential of a technology which could increase our understanding of causes, improve the effectiveness of treatments, and advance our ability to find cures for a wide range of debilitating diseases and other conditions.

Unfortunately, despite widespread, bi-partisan support for this legislation, including over 200 patient groups, universities, scientific societies, more than 75 national and local newspapers, and 80 Nobel Laureates, the Senate has yet to bring it to the Floor for a vote. It is time for the Senate to act to expand stem cell research.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to join me today in recognizing the importance of continuing efforts to improve the quality of life for all Americans by implementing legislation to expand stem cell research.

RECOGNIZING THE HISTORY OF THE BLACK HERITAGE STAMP SERIES AND HONORING CLARENCE IRVING

HON. GREGORY W. MECKS
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. MECKS of New York. Mr. Speaker, I rise today, during the week of the World Philatelic Exhibition being held at the Washington Convention Center, to recognize the history of the Black Heritage Stamp Series and to honor my former constituent, Chairman and Founder of the Black American Heritage Foundation, Mr. Clarence Irving.

In 1976, Mr. Irving conceived the idea of commemorating Black American Women on U.S. Postage Stamps. His proposal was that either of two women, Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune or Mary Church Terrell be commemorated. This proposal was presented to the Honorable Joseph P. Addabbo who represented my district at the time and the initiative became part of the activities surrounding the centennial celebration of the United States.

Two years later, the U.S. Postal Service created a completely new series commemorating Black Americans, with Harriet Tubman chosen as the first historical figure to start the “Black Heritage USA Series”. Each year another stamp appears in this commemorative series honoring a prominent African American figure.

Today, at 82, Clarence Irving still heads the Black American Heritage Foundation, organizing or supporting African American art initiatives throughout the country. I am grateful for his determination in realizing his vision and acknowledge him as the “Father of the Black Heritage Stamp Series”.

IN APPRECIATION OF MS. AMY WOOLF

HON. C.A. DUTCH RUPPERSBERGER
OF MARYLAND
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. RUPPERSBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I rise before you today in appreciation of an outstanding leader in the education field. I am pleased to acknowledge the dedication of Ms. Amy Woolf, an educator at Edgewood High School in Harford County.

Ms. Woolf attended SUNY Geneseo where she earned her degree in Biology and Secondary Education Certification in Biology and General Science. She went on to further her education at Towson University earning a Master’s Degree in Health in 1998 and an Administrative Certificate in 2003.

She has been very active in Edgewood High School. She is the advisor to the Honorary Science Magnet. She is also a Biology Curriculum Improvement Team; a member of both the Honors and Eligibility Committees; a student teacher supervisor; a presenter at staff development; and a member of the Faculty Advisory Council.

Ms. Woolf wears many hats while teaching at Edgewood High School. She plays a vital role in the education her students receive by her involvement in the General Curriculum Committee, the Forensic Science Curriculum and the Curriculum Committee for Math–Science Magnet. She is also a Biology Curriculum writer.

James Garfield said, “Next in importance to freedom and justice is popular education, without which neither freedom nor justice can be permanently maintained.” I believe that education is the key to success in life. We need teachers who love their jobs and encourage their students to thrive in a competitive environment. Ms. Woolf is one of those teachers. The best thing teachers can do is give their students something to think about outside of the classroom, and that doesn’t mean homework. A successful teacher will place a thought in the minds of their students and after a while the student will be able to pull something great out of that thought. Ms. Woolf achieves this greatness with her students. Her involvement is proof of how much she cares about the quality of education. "The Edgewood High School students receive. She is a great leader in her field and deserves acknowledgement of her achievements. Mr. Speaker, I ask you to join me today in thanking Ms. Amy Woolf for providing her students, and the future of our Nation with the best possible gift she can, education.

IN HONOR OF NELSON AND BOR- DEN MCGAHEE—30 YEARS OF MARRIAGE AND SERVICE

HON. SANFORD D. BISHOP, JR.
OF GEORGIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. BISHOP of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor a couple from my district, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson McGahee of Columbus, Georgia, who on May 15th of this year celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary. Nelson served his country in the United States Army, beginning a career as a civil servant at Fort Benning in Columbus. He has continued to serve his community as an active member of the Columbus Jaycees and the Columbus Airport Authority. His wife, Borden Black McGahee, has made her career in broadcast journalism. She grew up as a self-professed “Army brat,” and became an avid music lover at the tender age of 3 years old while attending the opera with her mother, a season ticket holder. This love of music brought her to the radio, where she became the news director of an Alabama radio station—a unique position at the time for a woman in Alabama. Upon moving to Columbus, she soon moved to television, where she served as the news director for all three of the affiliate news stations in the city. She left journalism to begin her career as a public relations officer for the Muscogee County School District and currently does freelance writing for the Columbus Ledger-Enquirer and also for Columbus and the Valley Magazine.

Throughout their three decades together, the McGahees’ have enjoyed Nelson’s passion for all things railroad. Nelson’s great-grandfather was a railroad employee, which sparked in Nelson a lifelong interest in trains. Their Columbus home is filled with railroad memorabilia from a variety of historic rail lines. In 1995, after a career interest, the couple has chosen to spend their 30th anniversary on a train ride in a car filled with history. They secured a ride from Jacksonville, Florida to Washington, D.C. aboard a 1930 Pullman car pulled by Amtrak. In addition to its age, this car has had its share of famous passengers. Former presidents Jimmy Carter, George H.W. Bush, and Bill Clinton have all taken trips in this car. This train ride in a car filled with history is proof of how much she cares about the quality of education. The Edgewood High School students receive. She is a great leader in her field and deserves acknowledgement of her achievements. Mr. Speaker, I ask you to join me today in thanking Ms. Amy Woolf for providing her students, and the future of our Nation with the best possible gift she can, education.

Five friends have joined the McGahees’ on this voyage, which will include a stop at “Old Ebbitt Grill,” a legendary restaurant in the heart of Washington, D.C. This restaurant has served nearly every major American politician throughout its 150-year history. Nelson and Borden McGahee are wonderful people who have shared a wonderful marriage. Their love for each other is inspirational, and surely their next 30 years will be as passionate as the first. This Southwest Georgia couple has chosen a distinctively American way to celebrate their anniversary and we wish them nothing more than as they proceed full-steam ahead into their future.

THE SIXTH DISTRICT’S AMERICAN IDOL

HON. HOWARD COBLE OF NORTH CAROLINA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. COBLE. Mr. Speaker, in the biggest electoral debate since the Bush-Gore presidential election in Florida in 2000, people are still talking about the selection of this year’s American Idol from the television program with the same name. With no disrespect intended toward this year’s winner, Taylor Hicks, most people think this year’s American Idol should have been Chris Daughtry of McLeansville, NC.

I will admit, Mr. Speaker, that I am extremely biased in this debate because Chris Daughtry is a resident of the Sixth District of North Carolina. And it would have been the second time that a town in the Sixth District produced the winning Idol, since previous winner, Fantasia, hailed from High Point, NC. That being said, most online polls, fan blogs, numerous web sites, and general talk about town all hailed Chris Daughtry as the next American Idol.

Most people know that my musical tastes run more towards traditional bluegrass music, so I am not a good judge of what is hot in the rock and pop music scene; but I do know about politics, and from everything I could learn, Chris Daughtry appeared to be the fan favorite. While I will not call for Congress to investigate this Idol election process, those of us who reside in the Sixth District of North Carolina will always be convinced that our guy really won—sort of like fans of Al Gore in 2000. Oh well, we are proud to say that we are the home of the real American Idol, Chris Daughtry of McLeansville, NC.

IN RECOGNITION OF NORMAN BERMES’ OUTSTANDING SERVICE TO THE EVACUEES OF HURRICANE KATRINA

HON. MICHAEL C. BURGESS
OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. BURGESS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in recognition of Norman Bermes and his wife Frances. Mr. Bermes immediately mobilized private resources in East Fort Worth to respond to the desperate need of the evacuees who arrived in the city, escaping the ravages of Hurricane Katrina when it impacted the Gulf Coast on August 29, 2005.

As the first evacuees began to enter the city, utilizing whatever means they could access and utilizing what limited resources they could carry, Mr. Bermes read the reports and newscasts and was not overly early to understand the plight these individuals faced, but was quick to turn a compassionate concern into action.

With the assistance of his wife, Frances, and other friends and associates from East Fort Worth, Mr. Bermes quickly organized a community effort to coordinate volunteers, space and donations to provide for the deep needs of the visitors arriving in the city in a steady stream from the Gulf.

By working through area churches and his network in the East Fort Worth Business Association, Mr. Bermes addressed the immediate need for food, clothing and housing for the evacuees.

His efforts secured access to several unoccupied individual apartments in the Woodhaven community. Regular communication through email, the Greater Meadowbrook News and flyers distributed through the community assisted in providing toiletries, paper, canned goods, clothing and kitchen necessities to allow the evacuees to reestablish daily lives after arriving, frequently, with only the clothes on their backs.

Mr. Bermes quickly recognized that beyond this need the evacuees would quickly need employment and other long-term solutions to enable them to regain their self-sufficiency. Continued efforts on his part and with volunteers established a Jobs Resource Center in our apartment units, equipped with internet access for email and online searches. Additionally, they were able to provide resume creation assistance, counseling for interview skills and a jobs posting effort to match local employers with a new and anxious labor pool. Practical creativity allowed Mr. Bermes and his volunteer assistance to press through the systemic challenges and surprises, including warehousing and distributing a truckload of donated mattresses and the thousands of other donations where they could be utilized by those in need.

By Thanksgiving, when they held the Cajun Thanksgiving Party for all of the evacuees, Mr. Bermes had mobilized resources and individuals to provide for over 50 families and 140 individuals. In doing so he touched engendered a sense of community among the newest residents of East Fort Worth and showed the warmth and compassion of North Texas.

I am honored to represent Mr. Bermes and the family and friends who know him and his compassion that made such a difference in providing hope, dignity and encouragement in the aftermath of such a tragedy on a scale our country has never before experienced.

IN APPRECIATION OF MS. KERRIE BAUER

HON. C.A. DUTCH RUPPERSBERGER
OF MARYLAND
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. RUPPERSBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I rise before you today in appreciation of a fine educator from Joppatowne High School. Mathematics Department Chair, Kerrie Bauer is worthy of great recognition. She is an inspiration. to her students and her peers. Her continued faith in students has made a tremendous impact on a countless number of lives.

Ms. Bauer began the foundation of her higher education at Elizabethtown College. She later earned her Master’s degree from McDaniel College and has since been certified as a co-advisor for the countywide algebra curriculum.

She is able to take a complex subject like mathematics and break it down into pieces so students have a better understanding of formulas. She encourages students through a positive learning environment. Ms. Bauer introduces students to creativity in the classroom; students learn the Quadratic formula to the tune of “Pop Goes the Weasel,” and practice math problems through group activities.

Ms. Bauer has made it a point to actively participate in school activities. She is a co-advisor to the National Honor Society; a member of the school Improvement Team; the Mariner Varsity Softball Coach; a member of the school Advisory Committee; and she volunteers at various athletic events. In addition to these contributions, she also organized a student vs. faculty basketball game to raise funds for the Johns Hopkins Research Hospital for Kidney Research after sisters, and former Joppatowne students, Amanda and Abby Gilland, died within a year of each other from a rare kidney disease.

Her hard work and dedication have not gone unnoticed. Ms. Bauer was named Teacher of the Month twice. She was nominated seven times to the list of Teacher of the Month twice. She was named Teacher of the Month twice. She was nominated seven times to the list of “Who’s Who Among High School Students,” and she was voted as the school’s “Most Spirited Teacher” for four years.

Ms. Bauer sets high expectations, but attains goals for her students. She provides them with academic and social guidance. She is convinced all students can be successful in life if only someone believes in them. This is a woman with one goal in mind: to equip young people with the skills and knowledge they require to be productive, successful members of society.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that you join with me in thanking Ms. Kerrie Bauer for providing her students with the support, confidence, courage, and knowledge they need in today’s society.

INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT

HON. JANE HARMAN
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Ms. HARMAN. Mr. Speaker, last year, the Intelligence Community made painful decisions about the architecture of our satellite programs. These were hard choices. We have worked carefully to mitigate the damage and retain the capability. The future depends on our capability, and the decisions are implemented well. That requires a talented and motivated workforce—both military and civilian.

The legislation being introduced today requires the Air Force to study the impact of proposed personnel cuts on our space programs.

The bill’s sponsors believe that the cuts mandated by the Quadrennial Defense Review could have an enormous impact on the space community, particularly the intellectual talent that gives us the edge over our adversaries and that we have worked so hard to build up over the past decade.

Allowing the Air Force to gut its personnel—both Active Duty and contractor support—without the benefit of an impact statement could undercut the careful measures we took to preserve our space systems acquisition.

The Department of Defense comptroller has directed the Air Force to “aggressively reduce contractor support.” This is a very dangerous path. Contractors have formed the core of our rebuilt space capability after we literally dropped billions of dollars of research and hardware into the ocean in the 1990s.

While active duty members often are forced to rotate out of the command due to the pressing needs of the service, the contractor community has provided much of the intellectual capacity, stability, and continuity to keep our programs on track.

Today, the Space and Missiles Command, located in El Segundo, California, in my Congressional district, has a record of which everyone is proud—45 successful launches, including 12 Evolved Expendable Launch Vehicles. We dare not put that record in jeopardy by releasing one-third of our brain trust.

This desire for continuity is also reflected in the Intelligence Committee’s report accompanying the FY 2007 Authorization bill, which passed the full House last month. In it, our Committee wrote: “Simply put, complex space systems acquisition requires extraordinary specialized knowledge, skills, and dedicated effort over time.”

For that very reason, Congress has a right—and a responsibility—to understand the impact of these cuts and be assured that our capability will not further erode in the face of pressing national security challenges.

I urge my colleagues to support this important legislation.

PALESTINIAN ANTI-TERRORISM ACT OF 2006

SPEECH OF
HON. TAMMY BALDWIN OF WISCONSIN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Monday, May 22, 2006

Ms. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, this week I made a very difficult decision in voting for H.R. 4681, the Palestinian Anti-Terrorism Act of 2006. I have been deeply moved by my constituents from both sides of the issue, including individuals with strong family ties to the Middle East. I want to take this opportunity to share my thoughts behind voting in support of the legislation.

In January 2006, Hamas, a designated terrorist organization that does not recognize the state of Israel and calls for an Islamized Palestinian state, won the legislative election to lead the PA government. Since then, the United States and the European Union have announced a series of measures designed to further isolate and pressure the Hamas-led Palestinian government until it recognizes Israel, renounces violence, and accepts previously signed Israeli-Palestinian peace agreements.

Specifically, Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice recently announced that the United States has begun to suspend over $400 million in direct aid to Hamas, while redirecting about $100 million from canceled projects to humanitarian assistance such as food and medicine distributed by non-governmental organizations (NGOs). The canceled aid includes: $45 million in direct aid to the PA; $125 million in infrastructure projects; $20 million in private enterprise development and re-vitalization, financial markets reform, trade programs and information technology sector support; $17 million in electoral, political party, local government and legislative support programs; $13 million in civil development; $15 million in rule of law and judicial programs; $7 million in technical assistance and vocational training; $4 million in community policing, among others. Similarly, the EU Commission announced that it had halted payments to the Hamas government, freezing all direct aid to the PA and payment of public employees’ salaries with EU funds through the World Bank, but not humanitarian aid through international and nongovernmental organizations.

In the mean time, the Israeli government has cut off all ties with nearly all branches of the PA government, including security. Israeli Prime Minister Ehud Olmert has declared that his government will avoid meetings with visiting representatives or diplomats.

I am in support of certain financial sanctions on Hamas to ensure no U.S. government funding goes directly to support terrorism activities. On February 15, 2006, I voted in favor of, and the House passed, S. Con. Res. 76, which expressed the sense of Congress that no United States assistance should be provided directly to the PA; that the Israeli government maintains a lifetime of support about one-third of the Palestinian population. These cuts in aid came on top of the fact that Gaza’s economy is in dire straits, with average family income already below the U.N. poverty line. Economic conditions are also precipitously declining in the West Bank. Overall the PA shoulders a total debt of $1.3 billion, including $640 million to regional and local banks and making it virtually impossible for the PA to obtain new loans. Furthermore, Israel has decided to withhold $50 million a month in customs and tax receipts since January, although it intends to pay Israeli companies about $5.5 million a month from those receipts for the water and electricity used by the Palestinians. The Israeli government has also recently announced that it will buy drugs and medical equipment needed by Palestinian hospitals in Gaza out of its own coffers.

Yet, despite the dire needs of Palestinians, Hamas has chosen to ignore reality in favor of its extremist commitment to terrorism.

On April 17 of this year, a suicide bomber struck in a Tel Aviv restaurant, killing nine Israelis and injured dozens. The suicide bombing was carried out by Islamic Jihad, an Iranian-backed extremist group that refuses to acknowledge the cease-fire followed by Hamas. The Passover attack was a grotesque display of terrorism and violence, yet it was quickly defended by Hamas. Sami Abu Zuhri, the official spokesman for Hamas, stated at the time that the attack was “a natural result of the continued Israeli crimes” against Palestinian people. Hamas leaders are in a state of self-defense and they have every right to use all means to defend themselves.” It became clear to me that, without regards to the pressing needs of the Palestinian people, Hamas was ready to ignore its own cease-fire policy in favor of extremist political rhetoric that further isolate and weaken the PA and endangers the humanitarian situation of the Palestinian people. It was a chilling reminder of Hamas’ tendency to favor violence over peace and political posturing over progress, all at the expense of Palestinian people’s welfare.

The Passover bombing and the Hamas response to the bombing was a turning point in my consideration and analysis of H.R. 4681, the Palestinian Anti-Terrorism Act of 2006. I believe that a stronger message must be sent by the United States to Hamas that we will support a government that continues to embrace terrorism. H.R. 4681 is an appropriate vehicle to send that message. The bill intensifies the pressure placed on the Hamas-led PA by not only restricting direct U.S. aid to the PA (which has been suspended from Secretary Rice), but also restricting U.S. assistance to NGOs working in the West Bank and Gaza, subject to exceptions based on humanitarian needs. It expresses the sense of Congress that PA-controlled territories should be deemed as terrorist sanctuaries; denies visas to and restricted travel of any PA representative to the UN outside of a 25-mile radius of the U.N. headquarters building in New York City. Finally, the bill directs the President to prohibit international financial institutions from directly assisting a Hamas-led PA, and prohibits any U.S. officer or employee from having any official contacts with members or official representatives of Hamas.

In examining H.R. 4681 leading up to the vote, the bill had raised several significant questions about the additional financial and political isolation the most effective means to induce changes to Hamas policy towards Israel? Will such noose-tightening prompt the Palestinian people to insist that Hamas change its policy or will it inadvertently lead to humanitarian crisis and civil unrest in the West Bank and Gaza? Will political and financial sanctions firmly aimed at Hamas serve to strengthen the role of Mahmoud Abbas, the moderate President of the PA or further radicalize Hamas while undermining the position of most Palestinians?

In my hometown of San Diego just recently, there were even reports that a predator used it for identity theft crimes. It was up to the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) lost the names, Social Security Numbers, and the dates of birth of over 26 million Americans. We have a lot about identity theft and the misuse of personal information of deceased Americans. This is a serious issue for many reasons. For one, it is their loved ones who pay the price. Months or even years after a family member passes away, surviving spouses or other relatives will begin to receive credit card bills or even phone calls from bill collectors. A predator can go onto websites and purchase Social Security Numbers that are sold for purposes of tracking family histories and genealogy. The predator then uses the Social Security Number to apply for credit cards, loans, and other forms of consumer debt.

There were even reports that a predator was misusing the personal information of a New York resident who died in the September 11, 2001 terrorist attacks. In another case, a woman began to receive bills addressed to her daughter who had passed away 17 years before.

In my hometown of San Diego just recently, the local news media shed light on another unfortunate case. A predator took information of a woman published in an obituary and used it for identity theft crimes. It was up to the good names and pristine credit histories of personal security detail of the PA president. Emboldened by U.S. and Israeli opposition to Hamas, Abbas recently announced that it will call a national referendum on accepting a Palestinian state alongside Israel that would implicitly recognize Israel’s right to exist. Abbas is ready and willing to demonstrate to the international community the data security breaches in history occurred when the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) lost the names, Social Security Numbers, and the dates of birth of over 26 million Americans. We have a lot about identity theft and the misuse of personal information of deceased Americans. There were even reports that a predator was misusing the personal information of a New York resident who died in the September 11, 2001 terrorist attacks. In another case, a woman began to receive bills addressed to her daughter who had passed away 17 years before.

It is time Congress acted to block this form of identity theft from continuing. Predators can collect this information with relative ease giving them a study supply of Social Security Numbers, dates of birth, and the information they need to commit these horrible crimes. Furthermore, this form of identity theft can ruin the good names and pristine credit histories of... those who are deceased. Unless we take action, family members will continue to suffer from the misuse of their loved one’s personal information.

My legislation, the Identity Theft Protection for the Deceased Act, requires that the federal government inform each national credit bureau when an individual passes away. In turn, the credit bureaus will flag the histories of those who have deceased and potential creditors will know not to issue lines of credit or new loans to those attempting to misuse their personal information.

Mr. Speaker, I urge that we act to stop this vicious form of identity theft and protect the relatives of America’s deceased.

TRIBUTE TO MARY WILLIAMS

HON. JAMES E. CLYBURN
OF SOUTH CAROLINA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. CLYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to a dedicated employee of the State of South Carolina with whom I have had the extraordinary pleasure of working with as she prepares to retire from public service. Mary Lee Williams has served for more than twenty-five years on the staff of the South Carolina Human Affairs Commission (SHAC).

In 1983, during my tenure as South Carolina Human Affairs Commissioner, I selected Mary as the agency’s employee of the year. My comments at the time were “being a receptionist in any office is difficult, but when that difficulty is compounded by having to serve as a first point of contact to people who feel that they have been unfairly treated in the workplace, the job becomes nearly impossible.” I commented in my recognition that Mary “has over the years demonstrated that she has the capacity to do the nearly impossible.” I know the same is true today.

Mary Williams is a native of Richland County and is a product of its public schools. She joined us at SHAC in 1980, where she continued to serve ably as an Information Specialist. Her demeanor is friendly and helpful, and she always treated those seeking the Commission’s help with dignity and respect.

Mary draws her strength of character and her strong work ethic from her faith. She has been a member of Bethlehem Baptist Church for fifty-three years. There she lends her talents to singing in the Musical Choir, serving in the Women’s Ministry, and teaching Sunday School classes.

She has a beautiful voice and has been a member of Columbia, South Carolina’s Capital City Chorale for a number of years. The Chorale has performing on NBC’s Today Show and I have had the pleasure of sponsoring them in Washington, DC on two occasions. She also shared her talents as a soloist during a Black History Month program being a recipient at the Dorn Veterans Hospital in Columbia, and has been awarded a Certificate of Appreciation from the Veterans Administration for her service.

Mary has also found time to serve her community as a volunteer. She has donated her services to the Wheels-On-Wheels program for 17 years. For five years, she served on SHAC’s United Way Annual Campaign team, She has been an active member of both the National Association of Human Rights Workers and the South Carolina State Employees Association.

Mr. Speaker, I ask you and my colleagues to join me in congratulating Mary Ann Williams on her retirement from the South Carolina Human Affairs Commission. Her wonderful example of dedicated public servant who has made a true difference in the lives of others. On a personal note, I thank Mary for her friendship and support over the years. I wish her the best and Godspeed in her future endeavors.

THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA MEDICARE REIMBURSEMENT ACT OF 2006

HON. ELEANOR HOLMES NORTON OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I introduce the District of Columbia Medicaid Reimbursement Act of 2006 today to raise the federal medical assistance percentage (FMAP), the federal contribution from the federal government, to 75 percent from 70 percent and to reduce the District’s share from 25 percent to 20 percent for the first year. The District’s share of the local cost of Medicaid, a program that is carried by states and counties in our country. New York City, the jurisdiction that powers the economy of New York State, contributes a 25 percent local share to Medicaid while the state pays 5 percent, less than the District’s statutorily mandated 30 percent contribution. I introduce this bill because the District’s continuing responsibility for most Medicaid costs that are typically borne by entire states is a major component of the District’s structural deficit and threatens the stability of the city itself.

The District’s Chief Financial Officer reports that rapidly increasing Medicaid costs put the city at risk. In FY 2005, these costs accounted for $1.4 billion or 22 percent of the city’s gross funds budget. Total program costs have risen 42 percent since 1999, and are projected to increase by another $39 million this year. Yet the District, unlike other large cities which have lost significant populations, has no state and no state economy to share this burden. More than 25 percent of District children and adults are enrolled in Medicaid compared to 12 percent in Maryland and just 9 percent in Virginia. On average, the District spends over $7,000 per enrollee, while Maryland and Virginia spend $5,509 and $5,177, respectively, reflecting serious health conditions that are concentrated among big city residents.

The D.C. Medicaid Reimbursement Act of 2006 is the seventh in the “Free and Equal D.C.” series. This series of bills addresses inappropriate and often unequal restrictions placed only on the District and no other U.S. jurisdiction. Although today’s bill cannot address the entire structural problem that the District faces because the city is not part of a state, the bill would eliminate the greater percentage the District pays than any city by allowing a 25 percent city contribution, rather than a contribution even greater than New York City.

In 1997, as part of the Balanced Budget Act, Congress recognized that state costs were too costly for anyone city to shoulder. To alleviate the resulting financial crisis, Congress increased the federal Medicaid contribution to the District from 50 to 70 percent, and took responsibility for a few state costs—prisons and courts—relieving the immediate burden, but the city continues to carry most state costs.

A formulaic error in the Medicaid Disproportionate Share Hospital (DISH) allotment reduced even the 70 percent FMAP share, and as a result, the District received only $23 million instead of the $49 million due. I was able to secure a technical correction to the Balanced Budget Act of 1997, partially increasing the annual allotment to $32 million from FY 2000 forward. I appreciate that last year, Congress responded to my request to get an additional annual increase of $20 million in the budget reconciliation bill, bringing D.C.’s Medicaid reimbursement payments to $57 million as intended by the Balanced Budget Act. This amount did not reimburse the District for the years a federal error denied the city part of its federal contribution, and in any case, was not intended to meet the structural problem this bill partially addresses.

The District has taken important steps on its own to reduce Medicaid costs through greater efficiency, and to treat and prevent conditions that prove costly when hospitalization or expensive treatments become necessary. The District’s D.C. Health Care Alliance won federal recognition as one of only two Medicaid programs nationwide to exceed the federal government’s child immunization goal for school-age children at 95 percent, and improved its fraud surveillance, recovering $15 million in fraudulently billed funds. The city’s novel D.C. Health Care Alliance, for which federal approval is pending, would allow coverage of residents and provide more early and preventative care, avoiding huge Medicaid costs when health conditions become severe and Medicaid becomes the only option.

I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this increase that will help my city’s most needy residents.

IN APPRECIATION OF MS. CATHY SAYRE

HON. C.A. DUTCHE RUPPERSBERGER
OF MARYLAND
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. RUPPERSBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I proudly rise before you today in appreciation of an educator who has devoted 39 years of her life to bettering the lives of our children. Ms. Cathy Sayre is truly worthy of recognition for her dedication to Solley Elementary in Anne Arundel County.

Ms. Sayre is a graduate of Western Maryland College. Shortly after earning her degree she informed her parents she did not want to be a lab technician as planned, rather she would pursue a career in education; we are certainly glad she did. Ms. Sayre has been an instrumental part of the developmental process of many children.

As an elementary teacher, Ms. Sayre taught first, second, third, and fourth grades as well as a combination of second and third grades. She has educated over 1,200 students in her career. She is admired by peers and adored by her students.

Teachers are often the unsung heroes of the education field. They play a critical role in the life of a child. Educators instill wisdom in the minds of children; they lead our nation’s youth into the journey of adulthood. John F. Kennedy said, “Let us think of education as the means of developing our greatest abilities, because in each of us there is a private hope and dream which, fulfilled, can be translated into benefit for everyone and greater strength for our nation.”

Ms. Sayre has touched the lives of her students. Elementary teachers have a special gift. They leave a lasting impression on our children, which is just the beginning of their educational careers. At a very early age they learn what skills are necessary to grow and progress in the future. Teachers like Ms. Sayre leave a lasting legacy.

Mr. Speaker, I ask you to join with me in thanking Ms. Cathy Sayre for the outstanding work she has done as an educator. The students of Solley Elementary are very lucky to have such a kind and compassionate person who is dedicated to bettering their lives.

ENERGY AND WATER DEVELOPMENT APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2007

SPEECH OF
HON. JIM KOLBE OF ARIZONA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, May 24, 2006

The House in Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 7097), making appropriations for energy and water development for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2007, and for other purposes:

Mr. KOLBE. Mr. Chairman, I rise today in opposition to the Flake amendment regarding the GEDAC Packaged Gas Engine-Driven Heat Pump Development. I appreciate the attention that my fellow Arizonan has brought to the issue of so-called “earmarks.” I share his passion for limited, responsible government. We have seen instances in which inappropriate or even corrupt projects have been funded in appropriation, authorization and tax bills and we must ensure that all of the bills we pass—appropriations bills, authorization bills and tax bills—fund only projects that can stand up to scrutiny.

However, the GEDAC Heat Pump project is a project that deserves our support and will help us to find solutions to our country’s energy and water needs. Specifically, this project will allow for the continued development of natural gas-based heat pump technology that saves energy and water resources.

When completed, this will be the first small packaged system available in the United States. The technology is broadly applicable throughout the country, and it provides a number of benefits, including greater energy efficiency and water savings. The technology will not only save energy but will save water, which is important to Arizona. If successful, it could displace central station power generation which uses approximately a gallon of water per kilowatt generated. It is in line with the President’s efforts to address a climate change by developing technologies that have significantly reduced greenhouse gas emissions. It also is in line with the President’s efforts to utilize domestic energy resources.

None of the money in this particular project goes to private industry. Every dime of it goes to the Department of Energy’s Oak Ridge National Laboratory (ORNL). ORNL has a sophisticated facility for testing that private industry cannot afford to replicate every time it has a new idea.

Mr. Chairman, I understand the gentleman’s concern that we fund only those projects that can withstand serious scrutiny. But this project stands up to scrutiny and deserves our support. I urge a no vote on the Flake amendment.

CONGRATULATING THE PACE HIGH SCHOOL BASEBALL TEAM ON WINNING THE 5-A STATE CHAMPIONSHIP

HON. JEFF MILLER
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. MILLER of Florida. Mr. Speaker, it is my honor today to recognize and congratulate the Pace High School baseball team on winning the Florida State championship 5-A title.

The 19 Pace High School varsity baseball players secured an 11-7 victory over Tampa Hillsborough on May 18, 2006, to claim the 5-A State championship. It is Pace’s first championship since 1990 and their third State championship overall. On the way to claiming this hard earned title, Coach Charlie Warner rallied the team on three separate occasions, using the Patriots skills and talents to once again take the leading score. “I do not know if there are words to describe it,” Warner said. “To come out here and coach this game and see some great talent…It’s just a real pleasure to be able to do all of this.”

The community support from this rapidly growing city was unparalleled. As the Patriots made their way home the next day, Patriot Boulevard, which circles around the school and baseball field, was lined with hundreds of fans dressed in red, white, and blue to welcome home the champs. For 10 of the ball park players, this was their last victory at Pace High School; these 10 seniors graduated the next evening. I have no doubt that they will continue to inspire and make positive impacts on those around them.

Their resiliency has not only made me proud, but also their families, friends and community proud as well. As Pace High School Principal Frank Lay always says, “It’s great to be a Pace Patriot,” and it’s also great to represent the Patriots.

Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the United States Congress, I would like to congratulate the Pace High baseball team on their State victory and thank him for representing Santa Rosa County in such a first-class manner.

THE WORLD HUNGER CRISIS

HON. CHRISTOPHER H. SMITH OF NEW JERSEY
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, today I chaired a hearing to examine the enormous need for food aid around the world, particularly in sub-Saharan Africa which has the greatest need. As an essential element for life, the assurance of food availability must necessarily be a focal point of our humanitarian assistance programs and at the forefront of our interventions on behalf of those in the greatest need. While the extent that need is overwhelming, we must keep in mind the verses of Matthew 25, “as you did it to one of the least of these my brothers, you did it to me,” and “as you did not do it to one of the least of these, you did not do it to me.”

Mr. Chair, along with Greg Simpkins of the Africa Subcommittee staff, visited Kalma and Mukjar refugee camps in South and West Darfur. We saw first hand how food aid was making the difference between life and death for the thousands of people in the camps. We spoke with many people whose lives had been utterly devastated by the ravages of war, but who were keeping hope alive thanks to the gifts of international humanitarian aid and food aid.

However, our visit to these camps raised the question as to what the Government of Sudan, as well as other country governments, are going to do about contributing to the elimination of hunger by opening their own stocks of food or by facilitating, rather than hampering, the delivery of food to hungry people in their countries. In Sudan, the government has not only failed to contribute to the feeding of its own people, but has actually interfered with the supply of food to those in need in the Darfur camps like the ones we visited. Moreover, the Government of Sudan placed a commercial embargo on Kalma camp while we were there that prevented the sale of food and other necessary items to those able to buy them in the camps. We in the developed world should help feed those in need, but it is also the responsibility of the governments in question to respond to the needs of their own people.

The UN World Food Program has announced that almost 731,000 metric tons of food will be needed this year to feed the 6.1 million people caught in the conflict in Southern Sudan and Darfur. Over 89,000 metric tons were needed in East Sudanese refugees, Chadian nationals adversely affected by the influx of refugees, and a contingency reserve of six months for the refugees. An estimated 6.25 million people in the Horn of Africa face a severe humanitarian crisis this year resulting primarily from successive seasons of failed rains in that region. The World Food Program has sent out appeals for approximately 1.6 million metric tons of food aid for the Horn of Africa and the rest of the sub-Saharan.

Water also does not include, of course, the emergency food needs of peoples in other parts of the world, including Haiti, North Korea, Afghanistan, Bangladesh and Indonesia.

It is important to keep in mind that behind these mind-boggling numbers are real men, women and children, people like you and me, individuals who are suffering not only the present pangs of hunger but who will have to live with the long-term effects of mal- and under-nutrition. There are also those for whom the lack of food exacerbates the cruel effects of HIV/AIDS, malaria and other diseases, thus increasing the threat of death. This is the reason why it is so important for us to examine the crisis of world hunger, and to continue to direct our efforts to address it.
I am proud to say that we Americans continue our long tradition of compassion and generosity in responding to these needs. The United States is the primary donor of food aid in the world and the leading donor of food aid to Sudan and Chad. The U.S. Government has contributed a total of $282.2 million worth of food aid thus far in FY 2006 to Darfur and the Sudanese refugees in Chad through the World Food Program and the International Committee of the Red Cross. This follows contributions totaling $324.5 million to the same two organizations in FY 2005 for Sudan and Chad.

The United States is also addressing the nutritional needs of particularly vulnerable populations. The President’s Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief maximizes leverage with other donors including the USAID, the USDA and the World Food Program (with U.S. financial support) to address the needs of HIV-affected communities, both in terms of providing direct food assistance and in addressing the underlying causes of food insecurity.

During the hearing, we heard from our distinguished witnesses about the hunger crises in our world, what is being done to respond, and recommendations as to how we can respond better. Witnesses also testified about the causes of hunger and food insecurity. In responding to food aid, food is an individual lives. The most recent data available indicates that over 4 million children in 26 countries participated in the McGovern-Dole International Food for Education and Child Nutrition Program in fiscal years 2003 and 2004. This program has resulted in higher school enrollment and improved access to education, especially for girls.

It is also reported by teachers and program administrators that the FFE program has increased local communities’ concern for and participation in their children’s education. There is a general improvement in academic performance as children are better able to concentrate after receiving a nutritious school lunch. Both families and the school community benefit from training on food preparation, health and hygiene. In this regard, we were privileged to hear testimony from Mr. Gabriel Laizer, who now works on international development issues for the Alliance to End Hunger and who started his career as a beneficiary of a feeding program in his primary school in Arusha, Tanzania.

My good friend Tony Hall, a former Member of Congress who just recently left his position as the ranking member to the UN Agencies for Food and Agriculture, also testified. He has published a book recently entitled, “Changing the Face of Hunger,” which I highly recommend, and which recounts many stories from Ambassador Hall’s years of confronting hunger, poverty and oppression throughout the world. In his conclusion, he writes, “When you show Americans the poor and the hungry—when you connect with them and educe them and see the problems themselves—they don’t turn their backs. They want to help. They respond. We are a compassionate people, a giving people. We care in that spirit of compassion, I would ask my colleagues in Congress to continue to support the FY2006 emergency supplemental appropriation of $350 million for food aid. While encouraging other international donors to respond in a likewise generous manner, we must continue to help, to respond, to show that we care.

It is my hope and expectation that we may further educate ourselves, our colleagues in Congress and the American people about the poor and the hungry, and we may respond with the compassion that they so desperately need.

HONORING ASHLEY HULTMAN ON THE COMPLETION OF HER INTERNSHIP

HON. BART GORDON
OF TENNESSEE
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. GORDON. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to thank Ashley Hultman for her service during her internship in my Washington, DC, office. During her time on Capitol Hill, she has been a great help to me, my staff and my constituents in Tennessee’s Sixth Congressional District.

Ashley is no stranger to the workings of a congressional office. Prior to interning in the Nation’s capital, she assisted the staff in my Murfreesboro, Tennessee, office. While helping with countless projects and undertaking herself as constituents as she guided them through the Capitol or helped them cut through red tape at Federal agencies, she has certainly gained a wealth of experience that I hope will serve her well.

While we have enjoyed her help, Ashley now must return to Middle Tennessee to complete her degree at my alma mater, Middle Tennessee State University, where she is studying art history and political science.

I hope Ashley has enjoyed her internships as much as we have enjoyed having her help here in Washington, as well as in Murfreesboro. I wish her all the best in the future.

STATEMENT ON PASSING OF G.V. “SONNY” MONTGOMERY

HON. CORRINE BROWN
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Ms. CORRINE BROWN of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay my respects to Mr. Veteran, Gillespie V. “Sonny” Montgomery, who died May 12.

He served for 30 years in the House and I was lucky enough to serve with him on the Veterans Committee.

When I was first elected to Congress in 1992, I knew that I wanted to serve on the Veterans Committee. I could think of no better way to serve my constituents or my country than to be on the committee that oversees the Department responsible for helping so many people. Sonny Montgomery was my inspiration.

I was a new member and introduced myself to the chairman. A more gracious and gentle man you could not meet. I was walking down the hall with the former Speaker from the Florida legislature. Sonny made a comment that I was a pleasure to work with and how much he enjoyed my participation in the Committee. The former Florida Speaker said you don’t know her very well, she’ll cut your heart out.

He was deeply committed to the cause of veterans and worked in a bipartisan manner to get things done. He also authored the bipartisan Prayer Breakfast which still meets every week.

Everyone was Sonny’s friend. He was blessed to be surrounded by so many caring friends.

“Let the work that I have done speak for me,” a favorite line from a hymn. This line explains how Sonny lived his life.

God Bless Sonny Montgomery.

IN APPRECIATION OF MS. ROXANNE DODSON

HON. C.A. DUTCH RUPPERSBERGER
OF MARYLAND
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. RUPPERSBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I am proud to rise before you today in appreciation of a woman who has dedicated her life to educating young people. For eighteen and a half years, Ms. Roxanne Dodson has taught the beauty of art to Aberdeen Middle School students in Harford County. She has gained support and admiration from her peers and the school’s administrators for her gift of education.

Art is a subject which is unlike any other. It is not a matter of right or wrong; instead it is a test of one’s inner self. Some students simply do not have a natural gift in the arts; however, Ms. Dodson teaches personal growth and self acceptance. Students are rewarded for their courage to experiment and “think outside the box.” They are taught much more than basic lines, curves and colors: they are taught how to try something new and accept the talents they possess.

Ms. Dodson is devoted to the students of Aberdeen Middle School. She uses her honed skills to assist with the school plays, concerts, and other special events. She says, “When a student knows a teacher cares, the emotional walls, no matter how thick, start to disintegrate.”

I believe a successful learning environment is a safe environment. When students feel safe, they give more of themselves to the classroom, which results in learning. This is critical for the arts. An artist, no matter what level, must tear down their defensive walls to produce good, honest work.

Ms. Dodson received a Maryland Art Education award for outstanding service in 2001. Using her Masters degree in at-risk students, she developed a program to engage students who lack connection to other extra-curricular activities. This group created a garden entrance in their courtyard.

Ms. Dodson allows students to believe in themselves. She shows them the potential they have and encourages them to see their strengths. Her humorous and down-to-earth personality makes her approachable by students. She is among the elite in educators.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that you please join me in thanking Ms. Roxanne Dodson for awakening the expectations of her students and stimulating the creativity they will need for the rest of their lives. She is an inspiration to all educators.

IDENTITY THEFT PROTECTION ACT OF 2006

HON. CAROLYN B. MALONEY
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mrs. MALONEY. Mr. Speaker, I am introducing a bill today that allows individuals to protect themselves from identity theft by controlling access to their credit report and information through a simple and low-cost process.

Under this bill, only those persons specifically authorized by the individual would have access to their credit report. This is the most effective tool we have to combat identity theft. A credit report freeze works because it actually stops the granting of new credit, unlike the lower standard of a fraud alert, which only conditions the granting of credit.

This would not affect the use of credit cards or existing credit. It only prevents the issuance of new credit unless the individual requests the credit report be sent to the lender. This gives individuals control over their credit report and allows them to protect themselves.

The bill that I am introducing is closely modeled on a bipartisan bill introduced in the Senate cosponsored by Senators McCaIN and CLINTON, among others, and very closely similar to a bill introduced by Senator SHELBY in the Banking Committee. It is supported by the National Association of Attorneys General and all the groups concerned about individual privacy protections.

Many State laws give the right to freeze access to their credit report to everyone, but the data protection bills introduced to date addressing this issue would limit this right to data protection bills introduced to date access to their credit report to everyone, but the privacy protections.

PAYING TRIBUTE TO RONALD AND WANDA MARTINSON

HON. JON C. PORTER
OF NEVADA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. PORTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Ronald and Wanda Martinson for their 25 years of marriage.

Ron and Wanda are both from Minnesota and are career civil servants. Ron first came to Washington in 1969 to work for Congressman John Blatnik of Minnesota, and subsequently went on to work for a Congressman from Texas. After spending six years in the House of Representatives, Ron went to work for Marty Hoffman, the Sergeant of Arms for the Senate, as an Administrative Assistant for six years. Ron then accepted a position in the Executive Branch at United States General Services Administration (GSA). Toward the end of his service at GSA, Ron was detailed to Tom Davis, who was then Chairman of the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors, where he worked for three years. Following this detail, Ron retired. In 2003, after six years in retirement, Chairman Tom Davis of the House Government Reform Committee persuaded Ron to come out of retirement to be Staff Director for the Government Reform Subcommittee on Federal Workforce and Agency Organization.

Wanda came to Washington in 1974 and worked as Supreme Court Justice Harry Blackmun’s secretary for twenty-five years. Following her tenure at the Supreme Court, Wanda went to work at Immigration and Naturalization Service and Wanda now works for the Department of Justice.

Wanda and Ron first met at a bible study in Northern Virginia and began dating. Their courtship was not always “smooth sailing”; in fact, the couple broke up two different times. In keeping with their dedication to civil service and love of the Washington, D.C. political culture, Ron proposed to Wanda in one of the House buildings one evening while returning from a political event Ron and Wanda were married on April 25, 1981 at the National House Office Building.

Mr. Speaker, I am proud to honor the marriage of Ronald and Wanda Martinson. Their twenty-five years together is both impressive and inspiring. I wish them many more years of happiness together. I now yield the remainder of my time.

CONGRESSMAN HENSARLING HONORS HERB’S PAINT & BODY’S 50TH ANNIVERSARY

HON. JEB HENSARLING
OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. HENSARLING. Mr. Speaker, today I would like to recognize the outstanding service commitment of the people of Herb’s Paint & Body, a local icon around the Dallas metroplex, as they celebrate their 50th year of business and continue to make our community a better place to live.

Founded in 1956 by Herb Walne, Herb’s Paint and Body was originally a Humble Gas Station located in the northeast Dallas neighborhood known as Lake Highlands. Over the years, Herb’s Paint and Body grew to include a mechanical repair shop, an automatic car wash and a full service paint and body shop. There are now 5 locations, each of which prides itself on following Herb’s original goal of offering superior customer service.

Today their commitment extends beyond excellent customer service and reaches beyond the Fifth District. Herb’s Paint and Body holds an annual Golf Tournament to support Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) that successfully raised $21,000 last fall. During the Christmas season, Herb’s Paint and Body collects toys and canned goods to support the White Rock Center for Hope and help brighten underprivileged families’ holidays. Although Herb’s has expanded north, they continue to be deeply rooted in Lake Highlands through community involvement with schools and students. Recently, Herb’s Paint & Body joined me in honoring the Lake Highlands High School Varsity Cheerleaders at the “Red Out” celebration that raised over $400 and brought the Cowboys in to help Hurricane victims. Thanks to the generosity of Herb’s, the cheerleaders were able to sell the red T-Shirts that Herb’s Paint and Body donated and raise almost $14,000.

As the congressional representative of Herb’s Paint & Body, I feel privileged to recognize their excellence in service to the communities of the Fifth District of Texas.

EXTENSION OF FEMA HOUSING ASSISTANCE DEADLINE FOR HURRICANE KATRINA SURVIVORS

HON. ELIJAH E. CUMMINGS
OF MARYLAND
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. CUMMINGS. Mr. Speaker, today I rise today to oppose the pending termination on May 31, 2006 of the FEMA housing assistance for survivors of Hurricane Katrina.

FEMA was required to submit a plan for developing transitional and eventually permanent housing for those who lost their homes in Katrina by January 6—but this plan still has not been submitted.

Now, without itself having figured out how best to provide housing to those left homeless by the hurricane, FEMA is poised to leave some 55,000 families—many with very young, or very old, or even very sick members—with- out any viable option for finding or affording housing and with few remaining options for seeking Federal assistance except on a very short-term basis.

Mr. Speaker, shortly after Katrina devastated New Orleans, the President pledged that our Nation would help that city and its citizens rebuild their lives. Not only has the President failed to honor that pledge, but the administration is now willing even to force those who lost everything out of the temporary housing provided to them in the wake of the storm. This is shameful. Is this how we should treat our brethren who have suffered and lost so much?

I urge my colleagues not to let FEMA fail, once again, those who were failed by the government at every turn of this natural disaster. I urge my colleagues to join me in urging the administration to extend the FEMA temporary housing deadline.
These brave men and women came from every State as well as Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Washington, DC, American Samoa, the Northern Mariana Islands, and Guam. Whatever our views may be on the war, we salute these fallen heroes for their patriotism, sacrifice and bravery. We thank their families and mourn those that we will never forget the contributions of their loved ones.

Whether Democrat or Republican, supporter or opponent of the war, we honor those who have given their lives with the deepest gratitude and respect. Senator Chuck Hagel of Nebraska, Senator John McCain of Arizona, and Senator John Kerry of Massachusetts were all captured by the enemy in Vietnam. We are proud to have had them as colleagues and friends, veterans, and well-wishers from across the Nation. I am heartened by your calls and e-mails.

I have said before that having Parkinson’s has made me a better Congressman, and it’s true. I know first hand what people go through when battling illness or injury. This is why it is so important to pass a bill that will allow us to perform research on stem cell lines.

It is past time to allow researchers and doctors access to study these important cells. We have the ability to turn into any cell in the body, their potential should not be ignored.

When battling illness or injury. This is why it is important to enable sacrifice while serving in the Iraq War.

H.R. 810, the Stem Cell Enhancement Act.

Every day scientists are breaking new ground in the study of stem cells bringing new hope and possibility to finding cures for a variety of diseases. Parkinson’s disease affects over 1 million Americans, and I am one of those patients. Parkinson’s affects every day of my life.

When I was first diagnosed with this dreadful disease, I was told I would have to effectively manage my symptoms for a number of years. Unfortunately, in recent months, the symptoms have become more bothersome as the end of this Congress. The decision to re-

Colleagues and friends, veterans, and well-wishers from across the Nation. I am heartened by your calls and e-mails.

As the dean of the New York State congressional delegation, I have enclosed a roster of New Yorkers who have given their lives in Iraq. Also listed is a State-by-State numerical accounting of the deceased.

COMMEMORATING LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL’S SESQUICENTENNIAL

HON. NANCY PELOSI
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Speaker, I am deeply honored to rise today in recognition of the sesquicentennial of San Francisco’s Lowell High School. The oldest public high school west of the Mississippi River, Lowell has maintained its stellar reputation for excellence for a remarkable 150 years.

Lowell High School, originally named Union Grammar School, was established in 1856 by the San Francisco School Board. It was the first public secondary school in California. In 1894, the school was renamed to honor the distinguished poet, James Russell Lowell. Over the years, Lowell has relocated its campus twice to accommodate more students. It has occupied its current location near Lake Merced since 1932.

For one and a half centuries, Lowell High School has been a model of academic excellence. Lowell has been recognized as one of the best public schools in the Nation by numerous magazines, including Money, Parade, and Town and Country. This year, Newsweek ranked Lowell 26th among all public high schools in the Nation. The College Board ranked Lowell sixth in the number of Advanced Placement examinations administered in 1996, the school was ranked eighth in 1994. Lowell is also a three-time recipient of the U.S. Department of Education’s Blue Ribbon Award.

Today, we honor and thank all current and former faculty and staff who have challenged and inspired generations of students to reach their full potential. Lowell’s magnificent educators have helped their students achieve the highest level of learning and cultivate the strengths needed to succeed. Lowell produces determined students who matriculate at some of our country’s most prestigious universities. Lowell’s graduates are well equipped to assume the grave responsibility of making the world a better place.

We must also pay tribute to Paul Cheng for a lifetime of academic leadership, including 16 years as principal of Lowell High School. His contributions to education nociccio’s schools and students are extraordinary.

San Franciscans take pride in Lowell’s mission to foster an environment of superior learning while maintaining the cultural and social diversity that we respect and embrace. I am proud that San Francisco is the home of this impressive academic institution. Let us all join in celebrating and congratulating Lowell on its 150 years of loyal dedication to our Nation’s youth.

HONORING WILLIAM “BILL” GRALNICK

HON. ROBERT WEXLER
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. WEXLER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to recognize the retirement of a great leader in American Jewish community, the Southeast Regional Director of the American Jewish Committee, AJC, William “Bill” Gralnick.

For the past two decades, Bill Gralnick has championed Jewish causes and promoted inter-religious dialogue in south Florida. He has built bridges with the Christian and Muslim communities, advocated for strengthened U.S.-Israel relations, and combated anti-Semitism and intolerance in all its forms. He has brought south Florida law enforcement officials together with local clergy, and arranged for exchanges between Israeli security experts and local police. The presenters of the AJC in south Florida is a testament to Bill’s commitment, and I thank him for his unwavering dedication, spirit and resolve.

Today, I congratulate Bill Gralnick on his years of achievement with the AJC. Bill has been a beacon of leadership in south Florida, and his efforts have benefited the Jewish community both in our area and beyond. Bill has set a shining example for future generations, and I wish him “mazel tov” and much future success.

HON. FORTEY PETE STARK
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. STARK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to encourage my colleagues to consider the thoughts of former President Jimmy Carter on achieving a lasting peace in the Middle East.

[From the Nation, May 25, 2006]

HOSUE VOTE HARMS PALESTINE, ISRAEL, U.S. (By John Nichols)

Jimmy Carter has been blunt: Despite the fact of a Palestinian election result that was not to their liking, the former president says it is unprecedented, the United States and others under their influence to continue punishing the innocent and already persecuted people of Palestine.

Since the political wing of the militant group Hamas swept parliamentary elections in Palestine, the U.S. and Israel have been trying to use economic pressure to force a change of course. Democrats for the democracy that President Bush says he wants to promote in the Middle East, the U.S. has sanctioned policies that have fostered chaos in Gaza, stripped the West Bank and created increasingly harsh conditions for people who have known more than their share of suffering.

“ Innocent Palestinian people are being treated like animals, with the presumption that they are guilty of some crime,” argues Carter, a Nobel Peace Prize winner whose involvement in the Middle East peace process has extended across three decades. “Because they voted for candidates who are members of Hamas, the United States government has become the driving force behind an apparently effective scheme of depriving the general public of income, access to the outside world and the necessities of life.”

Instead of checking and balancing the president’s misguided approach to an election result that displeased him, Congress has added fuel to the fire.

By a lopsided vote of 361 to 37, the House voted Tuesday for the so-called “Palestinian Anti-Terrorism Act,” a measure so draconian that even the Bush administration has opposed it.

The legislation, which still must be reconciled with a similar measure passed by the Senate, would cut off all assistance to the Hamas-led Palestinian Authority, and place conditions on humanitarian assistance delivered directly to the Palestinians by non-government organizations. Presidential spokesman Tony Snow, in restating the White House’s opposition to the measure says that it “unnecessarily constrains” the flow of essential assistance—food, fresh water, medicine—in a manner that does, indeed, “tie the president’s hands” when it comes to providing humanitarian aid.

It also has the potential to encourage, rather than restrain, violence.

Representative Earl Blumenauer, an Oregon Democrat who was one of the few members of the House to argue against the legislation, correctly explained that the approach endorsed by most of his colleagues will strengthen the hand of Palestinian extremists.

“It does little to prioritize on the basis of our strategic interests, and provides no prospect for Palestinian reform coming through the process of negotiations.” Blumenauer said of the legislation. “In so doing, it weakens the hands of those who advocate for peace negotiations, and supports those extremists who believe in violence.”

Debra DeLee, President and CEO of Americans for Peace Now, which works closely with Israeli groups seeking a peaceful settlement of tensions with the Palestinians, calls the bill “an exercise in overreaching that will undercut American national security needs, Israeli interests, and hope for the Palestinian people, if it’s ever signed into law.”

“We urged the House to craft legislation that was focused and flexible enough to allow the U.S. to reach Hamas’ election victory in a firm, yet responsible, manner,” explained a frustrated DeLee. “But by failing to provide the president with a real national security waiver, by failing to include a sunset clause for draconian performance requirements that will stay on the books regardless of who is running the Palestinian Authority, and by failing to distinguish between Hamas and Palestinians who support a two-state solution, the supporters of this bill have missed that opportunity for now.”

Despite its dramatic flaws, the bill drew bipartisan support, with House Speaker Dennis Hastert, R-Illinois, and Majority Leader
John Boehner, R-Ohio, and Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi, D-California, lining up their respective caucuses behind it.

Of the 37 “no” votes, 31 came from Democrats, including senior members such as Michigan’s John Conyers and John Dingell, Californians George Miller and Pete Stark and Wisconsin’s David Obey. Ohio’s Dennis Kucinich, a contender for the 2004 Democratic presidential nomination, also opposed the measure, as did California’s Barbara Lee, a co-chair of the Congressional Progressive Caucus.

The six Republican “no” votes came from Maryland’s Wayne Gilchrest, North Carolina’s Walter Jones, Arizona’s Jim Kolbe, Ilinois’ Ray LaHood and Texans Ron Paul and Mac Thornberry.

As is frequently the case on votes involving Israel and Palestine, dozens of members did not participate. Nine House members, all of them Democrats, voted “present” Tuesday. Twenty-five members, eleven of them Democrats, fourteen of them Republicans, registered no vote.

Americans for Peace Now’s DeLee says that, as the House and Senate seek to recconcile differing bills, their group will continue to work to alter the legislation so that it will not encourage extremism or worsen a humanitarian crisis. But there is no question that the bill has made more difficult by the overwhelming House vote in favor of this misguided measure.

COMMENDING AMERICAN UNIVER-SITY OF ANTIGUA FOR ITS LEADERSHIP AND INNOVATIVE IDEAS

HON. DONALD M. PAYNE
OF NEW JERSEY
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, today I would like to bring to the attention of my colleagues a very innovative educational program which is helping to address the need for doctors and other trained medical professionals. As a member of the House Education and the Workforce Committee, I am supportive of exdanding educational opportunities for students interested in medical training.

Last year I had the opportunity to visit the American University of Antigua and to meet with students from my home State of New Jersey who are enrolled there. This school was founded only a few years ago and has already had an immense impact on the surrounding community, as well as the lives and careers of medical students around the world. Its founder, Neal S. Simon should be commended for establishing a quality medical education program that accommodates the need for diversity in the medical profession.

As part of a new and exciting partnership, the American University of Antigua is now cooperating with Tuskegee University, a Historically Black College, to explore developing a veterinary school at its campus in Antigua. Officials from Tuskegee University were happy to offer ideas and advice. This would be an important educational development for American University of Antigua and the community, due to the severe need for trained veterinarians in the Caribbean.

The students at American University of Antigua, while primarily American citizens, hail from all over the world. They are committed to a high standard of learning and achievement.
The faculty of the AUA is comprised of distinguished scholars who have mostly worked in American and European medical schools. The school has also enhanced the surrounding community by providing doctors, nurses and other medical professionals. The American students attend the university and receive training at an academic standard equal to what they would receive in the U.S. and are then able to obtain medical license in the United States where they contribute to easing the physician shortage that the United States is experiencing. Medical and nursing schools are running at full capacity in the United States, and AUA helps the American medical system fill its need for trained professionals.

The willingness of this university to work with other schools, such as Tuskegee, to improve its programs is commendable. The ability of this university to provide a world class education to a diverse group of students while adding much needed resources to the American and Caribbean community should be applauded. The ability to attract a qualified diverse student population is something that many United States schools can learn from. I hope that we will see more partnerships of this type in the future, and again, I commend the school for its leadership and innovative ideas.

RECOGNIZING THE IMPACT OF JU-VENILE DIABETES ON AMER-ICA’S YOUTH AND SUPPORTING AN INCREASE IN FY07 NIH FUND-ING

HON. ELIJAH E. CUMMINGS
OF MARYLAND
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. CUMMINGS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the impact of juvenile diabetes on America’s youth.

Typically diagnosed during childhood and adolescent years, juvenile diabetes, also referred to as Type I diabetes, currently affects more than 3 million Americans and more than 13,000 children are diagnosed each year.

Juvenile diabetes is an autoimmune disease which attacks and annihilates the insulin producing cells in the pancreas.

Since insulin aids in breaking down glucose, when the insulin producing cells are destroyed, glucose accumulates in the blood and can lead to multiple health problems, including blindness, heart failure, nerve damage, limb amputations, and kidney failure.

As a result of this chronic illness, individuals with juvenile diabetes must endure a lifetime of maintaining their glucose levels through daily insulin injections, blood glucose monitoring, and a healthy diet.

Sadly, although insulin aids in prolonging the life of a diabetic, it cannot prevent the complications associated with the disease. Even worse, is the fact that a cure for diabetes has yet to be discovered.

Mr. Speaker, I recently had the opportunity to speak with a family from my district, the Frinks, whose young daughter is afflicted with juvenile diabetes. Based on the wealth of knowledge she possessed about her condition and her ability to convey it so lucidly, I must admit that she left a lasting impression on me.

During our conversation, she revealed the extent of how different the life of a young dia-abetic is in comparison with non-diabetics. For instance, unlike other children, she must constantly check her glucose levels and give herself lifesaving insulin when necessary. She also revealed the critical impact her diet and other regular “child” activities played in her life. Unfortunately, it is reported that many Type I diabetics are susceptible to ridicule by their peers due to an overall lack of knowledge about the disease or because they are “different”.

By the end of our conversation, I was in awe. Not only did this young girl exemplify maturity well beyond her years, she also exhibited an unbelievable amount of courage in living with this often deadly disease.

Mr. Speaker, recent studies have shown that compared with non-diabetic youth, juvenile diabetics are more conscientious about healthy living, nutritional requirements, and responsible based on their lifestyles. This was definitely true with this young lady—she was a fount of knowledge about diabetes and prevention—at age seven! That is why I was so amazed—and applauded her courageousness.

Mr. Speaker, the life of this remarkable young woman represents the life experiences of many young people coping with juvenile diabetes. Because of heroes like hers, we must continue to work more diligently toward finding and funding a cure for the disease.
HONORING JOEL M. CARP
HON. RAHM EMANUEL
OF ILLINOIS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. EMANUEL. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the long and distinguished career of Joel M. Carp, one of the leaders in the Chicago nonprofit community. Mr. Carp will retire next month from the Jewish Federation of Metropolitan Chicago after almost thirty years of service.

Mr. Carp has dedicated his career to creating public policies and sustaining quality, comprehensive health and human services for all people, including refugees and immigrants. For the last 28 years, he has been working towards these goals at the Jewish Federation/Jewish United Fund, most recently as Senior Vice President for Community Services and Government Relations.

His dedicated service includes managing the Government Affairs Program, planning and budgeting for the Federation's numerous social welfare programs and services, and supervising the State of Illinois programs for immigrants, refugees and the homeless.

In addition to his work at the Jewish Foundation, Mr. Carp has served on numerous important task forces tackling welfare reform, hunger, housing, and emergency food and shelter for both the City of Chicago and the State of Illinois. Mr. Carp has also taken the time to write and publish many articles on the topics about which he is most passionate, sharing his invaluable perspectives with all who work in this important field.

In recognition of Joel Carp’s hard work and tireless dedication, he has received the Melvin A. Block Award for Professional Distinction from the Associated YM/YWHAs of Greater N.Y., the City of Chicago’s Commission on Human Relations Award, and a special award from the YMCA of the USA for helping to re-store Agency for International Development funding for human services in Lebanon.

Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the Fifth Congressional District of Illinois, I thank Joel Carp for his many outstanding contributions to our social service network and to the Chicago area Jewish Community. His efforts have had a profound impact on the lives of his co-workers, friends, family, and countless other individuals. I wish him continued happiness in all his future endeavors.

HONORING MR. ANDERSON KAMBELA MAZOKA
HON. BARBARA LEE
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Ms. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the extraordinary life of Mr. Anderson Kambela Mazoka of Zambia. He passed away away yesterday at age 56 in the Morning Side Clinic in Johannesburg, South Africa. News of this great leader’s death has come to us as a shock and a surprise.

Mr. Mazoka was born on March 22, 1943 in southern Zambia to Mr. Juda Mazoka and Mrs. Bertha Mazoka. His parents were teachers. They encouraged their son to excel in school, and excel he did. He was among one of the first graduates of the University of Zambia, which was founded in 1960. He worked briefly in Zambia, before he moved to the United States, where he both worked and studied.

In the early 1970s he returned to Zambia to work for Zambia Railways. In the period of 2 years he was promoted to general manager by the former president Kenneth Kaunda. His distinguished career also included acting as the managing director of South Africa’s mining giant, Anglo American Corporation.

Perhaps Mr. Mazoka’s greatest legacy though, was his active political life in which he fought for democratic causes and improving the lives of the poor in Zambia. As a charming and self confident man, he incited support and excitement from his followers who want so badly to see change in their country. He ran for president of Zambia in 2001 on the platform of providing free education, free medical services and addressing poverty. Although he narrowly lost the election, he continued fighting for these causes.

Mr. Mazoka dominated opposition politics. After his narrow loss, he remained the greatest challenger to the parliamentary majority in Zambia, the Movement for Multiparty Democracy (MMD).

He was the president of the United Party for National Development (UPND), the strongest opposition party in Zambia, which aligned with two other parties to create United Democratic Alliance (UDA). His sudden death has left a vacuum in his party and in the Democratic Alliance, a difficult blow to their cause in year where they face the first general elections since 2001.

Congresswoman BARBARA LEE’s niece’s father, Mr. Mazoka, envisioned a better Zambia for all. As members of Congress, let us honor this man who fought for democratic causes in one of our most beautiful countries in Africa. We offer our deepest condolences to his family. Mr. Mazoka is survived by his wife Mutinta and his three children. I join his family, friends and loved ones in saluting Mr. Mazoka for his lifelong commitment to public service and the positive impact his work has had on countless people.

MEMORIAL DAY
HON. HENRY A. WAXMAN
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. WAXMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to pay tribute to all those who have fallen in the defense of our country. Each year, Memorial Day is a special time to honor the departed, support the wounded, and praise the enduring commitment of all those who serve.

In my district this weekend, the white headstones of the Los Angeles National Cemetery will be surrounded with flowers and families. Amid the bustle of West Los Angeles, this serene and mournful field honors the great sacrifice that has sustained our blessed country and the core values we cherish.

My district is also home to the West Los Angeles Veterans Administration, which is the... largest VA facility in the continental United States. The land was generously donated after the Civil War to serve as an old soldiers home and I am pleased that efforts are finally underway to move toward this goal with plans for a State Veterans Home on the property. We must continue, however, to expand other services and programs in "veterans' needs."

We remain deeply opposed to the VA’s consideration of plans to divert portions of the property for commercial use. I am determined to continue working with local veterans groups, local officials, and the surrounding community to ensure that the entire property is preserved for the use of programs that benefit and serve our veterans. The sanctity of our battlefields, monuments, and veterans institutions is of utmost importance to preserve military history and pay respect to those who fought. I would like to take this opportunity to recognize the efforts of my constituent Leon Cooper, a World War II veteran of the Pacific Theater, who has been working to raise awareness about the build-up of garbage and refuse at the site of the Battle of Red Beach on Tarawa Atoll in the remote island nation of Kiribati. Nearly 1,000 Marines were killed and over 2,000 were wounded during heavy fighting over the span of just a few days in November 1943. I applaud Mr. Cooper for his commitment.

Although Tarawa has a monument to the Marines who died on Red Beach, heavy construction in the area has spurred an effort to find a new location closer to the battle site itself. I fully support this effort, which would also create an opportunity for the 2nd Marine division to restore the beach to a more appropriate and respectable condition. I encourage our local U.S. Embassy in Fiji to work with the Government of Kiribati on sanitation and conservation projects that would provide long-term solutions for maintaining the coastline and preserving the area. It would be a tribute to our veterans and a benefit to the Kiribati people.

And while we honor generations past, we must also be keenly aware of the needs of soldiers now deployed in Iraq and Afghanistan. It is unacceptable that returning veterans are facing unreasonable delays obtaining care and benefits. The number of new enrollees waiting for the first appointment at the VA has doubled in the past year. I am deeply concerned about the inadequate screening and services for the more than one-third of returning veterans who seek mental health care. It is imperative that we fight the budget cuts and misplaced priorities that have led to this deplorable situation.

As we observe Memorial Day, let us give thanks to all of our brave men and women who have stood in harm’s way or stand there today, far from home, living at great risk, and fighting under the stars and stripes. We owe them an enduring debt of gratitude.

FEDERAL TELEPHONE EXCISE TAX

HON. MICHAEL G. FITZPATRICK
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. FITZPATRICK of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to say good riddance to an outdated, antiquated tax that has long outlived its usefulness—the long distance telephone tax. This tax is known to many Americans only as another indiscernible line on their phone bill which reads as an access fee or charge for service. But in fact, this tax began as part of the War Revenue Act of 1898 as a temporary means to finance the Spanish American War. Interestingly, this was the only onerous tax in the War Revenue Act. The Act also gave us the much debated estate tax.

Back then, the excise tax was designed to be a luxury tax for people who owned telephones. Today, the war is ancient history and if you ask anyone walking down the street to join you in shouting “Remember the Maine,” I’d expect you to get quizzy stares. Today, there is no specific purpose for this tax. Telephones are a virtual necessity—not a luxury—and the revenues collected by this tax flow into the general fund. But this once temporary tax remains and costs American taxpayers, our small businesses and families almost $6 billion dollars a year.

On the tax, Gene Kimmelman, director of Consumers Union is quoted as saying, “this is the poster child for how messed up our telephone pricing system is today. It makes no sense to have to pay a tax to fight a war that was over more than 100 years ago.” Well today the tax has been repealed. Americans will soon be able to file for a refund as part of their 2006 tax return for the past three years of charges. The Treasury Department estimates that $15 billion will be refunded to the American public.

I encourage all Americans to take advantage of this opportunity to get their returns and I call on my colleagues to set their sights on ending this tax’s equally unnecessary counterpart, the local telephone excise tax. These are outdated, out-of-touch taxes and they should all be removed from the tax code.

COMMEND KIMBERLY BURNITZ FOR HER PARTICIPATION IN THE P3: PEOPLE, PROSPERITY, AND THE PLANET STUDENT DESIGN COMPETITION

HON. JUDY BIGGERT
OF ILLINOIS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mrs. BIGGERT. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to applaud the efforts of Kimberly Burnitz, and college student from Lockport, Illinois. Earlier this month, Kimberly and her team from Eastern Illinois University, came to Washington to compete in the P3—People, Prosperity, and the Planet—Student Design Competition.

Sponsored by the Environmental Protection Agency, the P3 design competition gives college-level students a chance to grow their technical and scientific skills by working on projects that address sustainability challenges faced by the developing world. After reviewing over one hundred proposals, the EPA provided grants to 40 of the most promising student projects that addressed these challenges while preserving the environment.

Among the teams chosen to develop their project, the students of Eastern Illinois University worked on a unique initiative to increase drinking water supplies in rural Haiti and other developing nations. Through extensive research and testing, Kimberly’s team devised locally feasible methods for Haitians to improve water cistern designs and repair cistern cracks.

While not among the final winners of the contest, their innovative project truly embodied the objectives of the competition—to find environmentally friendly ways to raise living standards and foster economic growth in the developing world.

Mr. Speaker, these are goals we can all agree on. Therefore, it is with great pleasure that I thank Kimberly for all her hard work, congratulate her team on their success, and wish them great success in all of their future endeavors.

URGE THE SENATE TO PASS THE STEM CELL RESEARCH ENHANCEMENT ACT

HON. JANE HARMAN
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Ms. HARMAN. Mr. Speaker, one year ago the House passed the Stem Cell Research Enhancement Act by a vote of 239–194. I was pleased to see this Chamber put science before ideology. The promise of finding cures for a whole host of debilitating diseases seemed bright.

But the year has come and gone, and the Senate has yet to take up its version of the legislation. Further delay is unacceptable. Today, I join my colleagues in the House to urge the Senate to schedule a vote on this critical, life-saving, and life-affirming measure.

This bill takes an ethical and moral approach to a challenging subject while respecting the value of life. It allows for federal funds to support research on stem cell lines derived from the surplus embryos of fertility treatments. Fertility clinics do not need these embryos and they would otherwise be discarded, not implanted. It requires explicit written donor consent, and it does not allow stem cells to be sold for profit.

Many Members of Congress like to talk about “values.” Today, I say to them: using discarded embryos to find life-saving cures is our moral obligation. Saving lives is precisely what we should all care about.

Parkinson’s disease, cancer, heart disease, Alzheimer’s, spinal cord injuries, and juvenile diabetes do not discriminate—every one of us has a family member or friend whose life has been changed by one of these debilitating conditions. This is not and should not be a partisan or ideological issue. People from both ends of the political spectrum—from Nancy Reagan to the late Christopher Reeve—have embraced the promise of stem cell research. It is my hope that the United States Senate will follow their lead.

Cures for many serious ailments may lie in stem cell research. We owe it to generations of Americans and their families to help find treatments that could lead to an improved quality of life. I urge my colleagues in the Senate to pass the Stem Cell Research Enhancement Act.
SPEECH OF
HON. MICHAEL G. FITZPATRICK
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, May 24, 2006

The House in Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 5427), making appropriations for energy and water development for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2007, and for other purposes:

Mr. FITZPATRICK of Pennsylvania. Mr. Chairman, I want to thank Chairman HOESEN for his work during consideration of the Energy and Water Appropriations Act to include language in the final version of the legislation to block funds that would have allowed an ill-advised policy directive by the Department of Energy to go forward. The policy directive would have prevented contractors to the agency from continuing to provide defined benefit pension plans and comprehensive healthcare coverage to their employees. Chairman HOESEN’s language blocks federal funds from implementing this directive.

The Department of Energy’s policy directive amounts to nothing more than an attack on organized labor unions and their members. Not only did the policy directive allow only a scant 90 days for the new restrictions to be executed, but no labor unions were consulted on the proposed policy prior to its promulgation. The Department of Energy failed to clear its policy with the Department of Labor to determine whether it is consistent with the requirements of the Service Contract Act and the Davis-Bacon Act.

Moreover, while this policy sets a significant precedent by having one of the largest federal departments prohibiting certain employers from providing benefits to their employees. Chairman HOESEN’s language blocks federal funds from implementing this directive.

It is my hope that the House will maintain its position in opposition to the Department of Energy in respect to this policy initiative, or any other legislative vehicle that would allow its execution as we enter negotiations with the other body in conference.

HONORING THE 2006 STATE CHAMPION DOWNERS GROVE SOUTH HIGH SCHOOL SPEECH TEAM

HON. JUDY BIGGERT
OF ILLINOIS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mrs. BIGGERT. Mr. Speaker, it is with great pleasure that I rise today to congratulate the Downers Grove South High School Speech Team on capturing the 2006 Illinois State Championship. On February 18, 2006, they bested 8 other teams to finish in first place and claim the championship title.

Even more impressive is the fact that this is the school’s 14th state championship, making Downers Grove South the “winningest” high school in state speech team history. In addition, the members of this exceptional team provided Downers Grove South with its third championship in the “Performance in the Round” event.

Today, our hats are off to team members Liz Adamski, Kyle Akerman, Joel Bennett, Jaclyn Bernard, James Courtney, Jeff Danziger, Cullen Deady, Meghan Deady, Stephanie Gilbert, Geyska Gonzalez, Eric Jensen, Sean Liston, Justin Mattkovich, Tess Mody, Dan Nelson, Chris Nichols, Colleen O’Neill, Cauley Powell, Anne Quiaoit, Alex Salfranek, Eileen Schroeder, Becca Seale, Shobana Shanmugam, Tara Smith, Adam Tanguay and Danielle Tannenbaum—for continuing their school’s tradition of hard work, dedication, and commitment to excellence.

I also would like to congratulate the coaches—Head Coach Jan Heitlen, Eligieh Wilson, Kim Pakowski, Rhin Ashlon, Tiffany Bruce, Aggie Valenti, Bridget Frodyma, Katy Gaby and Kavi Chawla—teachers, and parents for providing the guidance and support that helped the speech team achieve this great accomplishment.

Once again, congratulations to the Downers Grove South High School Speech Team on their state championship. I wish them the best of luck in their future endeavors.

FALLEN SOLDIERS’ MOTHERS ARE ALSO WAR CASUALTIES

HON. CHARLES A. GONZALEZ
OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. GONZALEZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to share a moving article published on Mother’s Day in the San Antonio Express-News. Since this piece speaks eloquently for itself, I see no reason to add any extra words. Maybe it is; maybe that scream for their mothers, who mercifully wear down resistance. Solace wrestles with it is either torment or release from them. When burying a child, remembrance is love and guilt is debilitating; however, my quantification of loss and angst seems as sentimental as some pet-bellied politician pontificating on Memorial Day. How can anyone suppose a wound so deep it bleeds concurrently with every thought of the initial one? Such trauma is personal, so much so that empathy even seems convoluted.

In the middle of the night, this woman still awakens to the imagined cries of her baby, only to clutch a pillow instead. Holidays are a poignant reminder of her diminished family, her unwitting contribution to a distant conflict that ignored every mother’s boundaries and ended innocence as abruptly as the life she mourns. Her naiveté is six feet under, too. The flag so gloriously waving in front of her home also casts a shadow. This Mother’s Day, there are women embracing memories rather than their children. These mothers fully understand the costs of war and wonder if the old generals and politicians who exacted them ever walk in a military cemetery and sob aloud? Do their sons and daughters wear our country’s uniform and see active duty?

FALLEN SOLDIERS’ MOTHERS ARE ALSO WAR CASUALTIES

(By Mary Alice Altorfer)

“Mama, Mama.” is the universal cry of the dying in battle. Men maimed and broken scream for their mothers, who mercifully can’t hear them.

Posthumous medals for valor muffle the child and honor the warrior, but for a Gold Star Mother, ribbons and ceremony are as short-lived as the cherished remains being buried. Without being a statistic, she, too, is a casualty of war. Buried in her strangled weeping are guttural pleas to God to ease the pain of losing a child. For this heartbroken woman, a coffin, even one draped in the American flag and carried by white-gloved Marines, is the grim totality of her forced acceptance, but grief takes on a presence of the flag so gloriously waving in front of her home also casts a shadow. This Mother’s Day, there are women embracing memories rather than their children. These mothers fully understand the costs of war and wonder if the old generals and politicians who exacted them ever walk in a military cemetery and sob aloud? Do their sons and daughters wear our country’s uniform and see active duty?

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. MARK R. KENNEDY OF MINNESOTA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. KENNEDY of Minnesota. Mr. Speaker, had I been in Washington yesterday, my votes on the following rollcalls would have been as follows:

Roll No. 196, Deal Amendment—“yes.”
Roll No. 197, Markey Amendment—“no.”
Roll No. 198, DeLauro Amendment—“yes.”
Roll No. 199, Andrews Amendment—“yes.”
Roll No. 200, Berkley Amendment—“no.”
Roll No. 201, Markey Amendment—“yes.”
Roll No. 202, Bishop Amendment—“no.”
Roll No. 203, Heffley Amendment—“no.”
Roll No. 204, Flake Amendment—“yes.”
Roll No. 205, Flake Amendment—“yes.”
Mr. BISHOP of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I regret that I was unavoidably absent for a portion of the House’s proceedings on May 18th and all proceedings on May 19th due to very urgent personal family business.

Had I been present on May 19, for the four votes which occurred during consideration of H.R. 5385, Making appropriations for the military quality of life functions of the Department of Defense, military construction, the Department of Veterans Affairs, and related agencies for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2007, and for other purposes:

I would have voted “aye;” on rollcall vote 176—Final Passage;
I would have voted “nay” on rollcall vote 175—the Blumenauer Amendment;
I would have voted “nay” on rollcall vote 174—the Rule on H.R. 5385;
I would have voted “nay” on rollcall vote 173—ordering the “Previous Question”—(Rule on H.R. 5385).

And, Mr. Speaker, had I been present on May 18, for the final five votes which occurred during consideration of H.R. 5386, Making appropriations for the Department of the Interior, environment, and related agencies for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2007, and for other purposes:

I would have voted “aye;” on rollcall vote 172—Final Passage—H.R. 5386;
I would have voted “nay” on rollcall vote 171—the Hefley Colorado Amendment;
I would have voted “nay” on rollcall vote 170—the Putnam of Florida Amendment;
I would have voted “aye” on rollcall vote 169—the Oberstar of Minnesota Amendment;
I would have voted “aye” on rollcall vote 168—the Chabot of Ohio Amendment.

This legislation will set up an independent Office for Veterans Identity Theft Claims to receive, process, and pay claims in accordance with this Act.

I am here today to introduce a bill that will ensure that Veterans will be made whole if they are harmed by this release of information without spending years in court and thousands of dollars for lawyers.

HONORING THE IMMORTAL FOUR CHAPLAINS OF THE USS (USAT) "DORCHESTER"

HON. ERIC CANTOR OF VIRGINIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. CANTOR. Mr. Speaker, sacrifice is a common virtue of the U.S. Armed Forces and this Memorial Day we will pause to honor our fallen men and women in uniform. Throughout history, members of the Armed Forces have lost their lives to preserve our freedoms. Sixty-three years ago, Father John Washington, Reverend Clark Poling, Rabbi Alexander Goode and Reverend George Fox died aboard the USS (USAT) Dorchester on February 3, 1943, as a result of a torpedo attack by a German U-Boat.

In the mayhem after the attack, the Four Chaplains provided comfort to fallen soldiers and handed out life vests to the survivors. After the life vests ran out, they removed their own life vests, gave them to needy soldiers, and stood arm-in-arm together praying for the comfort of the soldiers. Eighteen minutes after the attack, the USS (USAT) Dorchester sank with the Four Chaplains aboard. John Koenig, a resident of the 7th District of Virginia wrote of their sacrifice in a letter saying “By putting others in front of themselves without regard to race, creed, or color, thus in making the ultimate sacrifice costing each his life so that others might live, they exemplified the finest in saintly virtues.”

On behalf of the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer in Midlothian, Virginia, and the following members of the vestry: Alison Althouse—Registrar; Margaret Stevens—Registrar; Reverend Stephen Cowardin—Rector; Reverend Kathryn Jenkins; Rose O’Toole; Stewart Dentdler; Leonard Vance; John Flieke; Jo Anne Simpkins; Matthew Whitworth; Betsy Collins; Lois Thompson; Stefani Ross; Jennifer Westerystem; and William White, I am honored to recognize the sacrifices of the Immortal Four Chaplains of the USS (USAT) Dorchester.

TRIBUTE TO JAMES J. VINCENT, JR.

HON. BART STUPAK
OF MICHIGAN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. STUPAK. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to a man of honor, faith, family, and selfless service. On April 13, James (Jim) J. Vincent, Jr. lost his life when the County Rescue flying Eagle III, an emergency air and ground transportation program, which provides Critical Care level treatments during transport of critically ill or injured patients. The job was just outside Green Bay, Wisconsin, which required days away from home. Jim found the job very rewarding and by all accounts, he quickly earned the respect and admiration of his peers. While he was serious about his job, he also had a great sense of humor—often playing pranks on co-workers.

Mr. Speaker, for anyone who works in the military there are sacrifices that their families make in terms of time away from the family. While Jim did need to spend time away from his family throughout his career, he always had a deep love for his family. Jim had a strong faith in God and was an active member of Holy Redeemer Catholic Church. He and Gina believe in the power of God. In February they attended a conference put on by Father John Corapi and Jim was fond of Father Corapi’s teachings. Now, as Gina, Jim II, Luke, and Vanessa struggle to move forward with their lives dedicated to God for strength and comfort. With this strong faith, support from family and friends, and with time, I am confident that they will find the strength to persevere.

As we commemorate this Memorial Day, I am reminded of a beautiful sunny summer day in Traverse City when Jim Vincent walked across the Coast Guard hanger to greet a veteran who was seated awaiting the start of a program. As Jim approached the veteran, he reached out to shake the man’s hand and simply said, “Sir, thank you for your service to our country.” The veteran’s eyes welled with tears as he replied, “You’re welcome.” So as I conclude Mr. Speaker let me simply say “Jim, thank you for your service to our country.”

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. LORETTA SANCHEZ
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Ms. LORETTA SANCHEZ of California. Mr. Speaker, during consideration of the Agriculture Appropriations Act of 2007, on May 23, 2006, I inadvertently voted in favor of an amendment, H. Amdt. 895, offered by Representative Blumenauer. It was my intention to vote in opposition to the amendment. My true intention was to vote “no.”

ENERGY AND WATER DEVELOPMENT APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2007

SPEECH OF

HON. MARIO DIAZ-BALART
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, May 24, 2006

The House in Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union has under consideration the bill (H.R. 5427), making appropriations for energy and water development for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2007, and for other purposes:

Mr. MARIO DIAZ-BALART of Florida. Mr. Chairman, I rise today to thank the chairman and staff of the Energy and Water Appropriations Subcommittee for their continued support of the Florida Everglades FY07 Energy and Water Appropriations bill.

This legislation includes funding for the Army Corp of Engineers to proceed with Everglades Restoration, which will ensure natural water flows continue through Everglades National Park.

The Florida Everglades is a unique and precious ecosystem that must be preserved for future generations. Everglades Restoration is an invaluable investment that will ensure the Everglades is restored and protected.

I am pleased that the chairman included $164 million for Everglades Restoration, which is so critical to ensuring continuation of this vital project. Just last week, the Interior Appropriations bill included an additional $69 million for Restoration. The funding provided in the Interior bill, combined with that in the Energy and Water bill, will together provide a total of $233 million to allow restoration to move forward.

I thank my colleagues from Florida for their continued support of the Florida Everglades and Restoration funding. Additionally, I would like to thank the Governor of Florida for his steadfast support of Everglades Restoration.

Floridians understand the great benefit the Everglades provide not just to our ecological diversity, but also to our economy, which is so dependent upon tourism and ecotourism.

On behalf of myself, and the residents of southern Florida I am so proud to represent, I thank the chairman for his support of this funding.

PAYING TRIBUTE TO VERNON AND DARLENE BURK

HON. JON C. PORTER
OF NEVADA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. PORTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Vernon and Darlene Burk for their 55 years of marriage and for their service to the Boulder City community.
Their 55 years of marriage exemplify a loving relationship. They both are hard-working, generous, compassionate, resourceful, wise and are outstanding role models for their four children, Dianna, Karen, Jackie, and Michael and six grandchildren.

Vernon and Darlene’s exceptional character is evident in their professional lives as well. Vern served the Clark County School District for 30 years, retiring as the Associate Superintendent of Facilities and Transportation. He now serves on the Boulder City Hospital Board. As a small business owner, Darlene ran the Burk Fine Arts Gallery for 25 years. Darlene not only participated in the Boulder City Chamber of Commerce, she also served as President. During her time with the Chamber of Commerce, she was instrumental in creating the Old Town Merchants Association and was named “Woman of the Year.”

Both Vernon and Darlene are extremely active in Bethany Baptist Church, where Vernon is on the Board of Elders and Darlene had served as treasurer. Five years ago, the Bur Horizon Academy, an alternative high school in Las Vegas, was named in their honor. They also managed the renovation of the Boulder City Dam Hotel, a historic landmark and place to be for the rich and famous during the 1930s.

Mr. Speaker, I am honored to recognize Vernon and Darlene Burk on the floor of the United States House of Representatives. They are very good, personal friends of mine, and I thank them for their continued service to the State of Nevada.

RECOGNIZING ARTURO S. RODRIGUEZ
HON. HILDA L. SOLIS
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Ms. SOLIS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today, along with my colleague from California, Mr. Berman, to pay tribute to Arturo S. Rodriguez, president of the United Farmworkers of America, a longtime advocate for the rights of workers and working families.

Rodriguez was born and raised in San Antonio, Texas, and earned a bachelor’s degree from St. Mary’s University in 1971 and a master’s degree in social work in 1973 from the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. Rodriguez learned of the farmworker movement and Cesar Chavez in 1966 from his parish priest, and became active with the farmworker movement as a college student. He first met Cesar Chavez in 1973, and soon after married Chavez’ daughter, Linda.

Throughout the 1970s, Rodriguez worked with United Farm Workers to push for farm worker rights, including the pioneering Agricultural Labor Relations Act, which passed the California State Legislature in 1975. Rodriguez helped organize union representation elections throughout California, from the Salinas Valley to the Imperial Valley on the Mexican border to Ventura County citrus orchards. By fall 1979, Rodriguez was directing a UFW lettuce to Ventura County citrus orchards. By fall 1981, Rodriguez was directing a UFW lettuce to the Imperial Valley on the Mexican border throughout California, from the Salinas Valley to the Santa Clarita Valley.

During his tenure, Rodriguez was directly involved with renewed boycotts in the Imperial Valley and throughout California, from the Salinas Valley to the Santa Clarita Valley. The UFW organized thousands of workers at dozens of ranches to participate in the walkouts. Those efforts produced the famous “Support Your Pay Raise” campaign.

Rodriguez became UFW president in May 1993, shortly after Cesar Chavez’ death. Rodriguez recruited 10,000 new farmworkers as associate union members in the year after he assumed the UFW presidency. On the first day of his presidency, Rodriguez, led a 343-mile Delano-to-Sacramento march retracing the steps of an historic trek by Chavez in 1966. Since then, the UFW has won over 20 union elections and signed over 20 new, or first-time, contracts with growers.

Farm workers under most UFW contracts at mushroom, rose, citrus, strawberry, wine grape and vegetable companies enjoy decent pay, complete family medical care, job security, paid holidays and vacations, pensions and a host of other benefits. Unfortunately, the majority of farmworkers in California and the rest of the nation still have none of these protections. Arturo Rodriguez continues to advocate for federal legislation that would allow undocumented farm workers and their family members to earn legal status by working in agriculture.

Rodriguez lives at the UFW’s national headquarters at La Paz in Keene, Calif. He has three children, Olivia, Julia and Arthur IV, plus two grandchildren, Isabella and Sofia. I ask my colleagues to join with me in honoring Artie for his commitment to farmworkers and their families throughout our nation.

HONORING THE AFRICAN AMERICAN EDUCATION TASK FORCE
HON. BARBARA LEE
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Ms. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the African American Task Force for its clear record of success in encouraging and acknowledging academic achievement by African American youth in Oakland, California.

This month, the African American Education Task Force Held its Fifth Annual Awards Celebration at the ACTS Full Gospel Church in Oakland. At this celebration, almost 1,200 African American students from the 8th through 12th grades were honored for attaining grade point averages of 3.00 or above for the 2005–2006 school year.

These outstanding young people’s accomplishments are especially remarkable in light of the great budgetary challenges faced by the State of California and the Oakland schools. I want to commend each and every student who have worked for this outstanding accomplishment for understanding the importance of staying in school and the responsibility each individual has to take advantage of the educational opportunities available to him or her.

By continuing to be the best students you can be and completing your education, you will have moved a great deal of the way to achieving your personal goals and our shared goal of world peace. Your accomplishments represent your dedication and commitment to achieving your goals, and I am proud of you. The skills you have learned and the discipline you have developed will benefit you greatly.

I am honored to represent you in the United States House of Representatives, and on behalf of all the residents of California’s 9th U.S. Congressional District, I again salute you on your exemplary academic performance. I am confident that in the years to come you will continue your record of service and success, and I wish you the very best in all of your future endeavors.

SUN WALL
HON. JAMES L. OBERSTAR
OF MINNESOTA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, May 25, 2006

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Speaker, today I have introduced a bill to direct the administrator of General Services to install a photovoltaic system, known as the “Sun Wall,” on the headquarters building of the Department of Energy. There is no more appropriate Federal building with which to demonstrate the power and promise of photovoltaics than the Department of Energy headquarters building, known as the Forrestal Building, located in Washington, DC.

Photovoltaics reduce the consumption of fossil fuels and offer distinct advantages over diesel generators and primary batteries. Photovoltaics are highly efficient and have no moving parts, so the need for maintenance is virtually nonexistent. Over 25 Federal buildings throughout the country, from Boston, MA, to San Francisco, CA, already use photovoltaics to great effect.

Located in our Nation’s Capital, the Sun Wall project will serve as a model for the entire country. The design for the Sun Wall project has already been selected after an open competition. It is an attractive and energy efficient design that can generate a maximum of 200 kW of electricity and includes a solar thermal installation for hot water and hot air. The Sun Wall would be the largest building-integrated solar energy system on any Federal building in the country. All that is left to do is to provide the funding needed to purchase and install the proper equipment.

Mr. Speaker, an identical provision to this bill was enacted as part of the Energy Policy Act of 2005, Public Law 109–58, last August. While the bill authorized funding for fiscal year 2006, no funding was appropriated for that year. This bill offers the same language as was included in that act, but allows funding to be appropriated in fiscal year 2007.

PALESTINIAN ANTI-TERRORISM ACT OF 2006

SPEECH OF
HON. BARBARA LEE
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Monday, May 22, 2006

Ms. LEE. Mr. Speaker, today, the House considers H.R. 4681, legislation that I am sad to say is both overbroad in its reach and misses the mark by penalizing the Palestinian people without compelling Hamas to abandon its anti-Israeli rhetoric, its rejectionist policies and its support for terror and violence.

E1002 CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — Extensions of Remarks May 26, 2006
First of all Madam Speaker, I want to be clear: I have always and continue to unequivocally denounce and condemn any and all terrorist acts, whether committed by Hamas or any other terrorist group.

That is why I voted for S. Con. Res. 79 in February which declared that no U.S. assistance should be provided directly to the Palestinian Authority if any representative political party holding a majority of parliamentary seats within the Palestinian Authority maintains a position calling for the destruction of Israel.

My position on Hamas’s responsibilities in light of its having attained a majority of seats in the Palestinian Legislative Council, and thus its assumption of power as the governing party of the Palestinian Authority, has been clear:

Hamas must recognize Israel;
Hamas must renounce violence and terrorism;
Hamas must abide by previous peace agreements, like the Oslo accord, and act in accordance with the Roadmap; and Hamas must return the Palestinians to the negotiating table with Israel, and reach the mutually agreeable peace agreement that is called for in the Roadmap and the earlier agreements.

This is Hamas’s responsibility of governance. I believe the United States should do everything that it can to both insist upon and to facilitate Hamas taking up this burden of responsibility, and we should not rest until the goal of a negotiated settlement is achieved. Moreover, we should not slow the Middle East peace process by making these targets preconditions for our engagement in the process. As the assassinated Israeli Prime Minister Yitzak Rabin reminded us: I do not need to make peace with my friends.

Madam Speaker, I urge my colleagues to understand that engagement and negotiation for peace is a process, not an event, and it necessarily involves the belligerents to a conflict, not those whom we would aspire to put at the negotiating table.

I agree that we should not fund Hamas, but not at the expense of average Palestinians, which is the end result of this legislation. Among other things, this legislation obstructs a return to negotiations by imposing an impossible-to-achieve Presidential certification process. This legislation undermines U.S. national security interests by eliminating the President’s authority to waive sanctions in the interests of national security. This legislation restricts U.S. diplomacy with moderate Palestinians by failing to distinguish between those in government and other political leaders and activists who are not affiliated with Hamas and have rejected terror, recognized Israel, and support a two-state solution. These are a few of the important reasons this legislation needs to be rewritten.

Madam Speaker, supporting the fragile Middle East peace process requires us to keep as many channels as possible open and to those who are empowered by their electorate to represent their interests at the negotiating table.

That’s why we must reject counterproductive proposals like H.R. 4681 and continue working on all fronts to ensure the goal of a peaceful, two-state solution between the Israelis and the Palestinians.

ENERGY AND WATER DEVELOPMENT APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2007

SPEECH OF

Senate

Chamber Action

Routine Proceedings, pages S5303–S5400

Measures Introduced: One hundred nine bills and four resolutions were introduced, as follows: S. 3241–3349, S.J. Res. 38, and S. Res. 496–498.

Measures Passed:

Adjournment Resolution: Senate agreed to H. Con. Res. 418, providing for a conditional adjournment of the House of Representatives and a conditional recess or adjournment of the Senate.

Oklahoma VA Medical Center: Committee on Veterans Affairs was discharged from further consideration of H.R. 3829, to designate the Department of Veterans Affairs Medical Center in Muskogee, Oklahoma, as the Jack C. Montgomery Department of Veterans Affairs Medical Center, and the bill was then passed, clearing the measure for the President.

Civilian Operational Readiness: Senate passed S. 3322, to build operational readiness in civilian agencies.

Kansas City Kansas Community College Debate Team Championship: Senate agreed to S. Res. 496, commending the Kansas City Kansas Community College Debate Team for their National Championship victories.

Relative to Death of Judge Edward Roy Becker: Senate agreed to S. Res. 497, relative to the death of Edward Roy Becker, Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals for the 3rd Circuit.

Marriage Protection Amendment: Senate began consideration of the motion to proceed to consideration of S.J. Res. 1, proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States relating to marriage.

A unanimous-consent agreement was reached providing for further consideration of the motion to proceed to consideration of the joint resolution at 2 p.m., on Monday, June 5, 2006.

Nomination—Agreement: A unanimous-consent-time agreement was reached providing that at 10:05 a.m., on Tuesday, June 6, 2006, Senate begin consideration of Renee Marie Bumb, to be United States District Judge for the District of New Jersey, with 10 minutes of debate, followed by a vote on confirmation of the nomination.

Signing Authority—Agreement: A unanimous-consent agreement was reached providing that during the adjournment of the Senate, the Majority Leader and Senator Warner, be authorized to sign duly enrolled bills or joint resolutions.

Appointments Authority—Agreement: A unanimous-consent agreement was reached providing that notwithstanding the upcoming adjournment of the Senate, the President of the Senate, the President Pro Tempore, and the Majority and Minority Leaders be authorized to make appointments to commissions, committees, boards, conferences, or interparliamentary conferences authorized by law, by concurrent action of the two Houses, or by order of the Senate.

Nominations Confirmed: Senate confirmed the following nominations:

By 57 yeas 36 nays (Vote No. EX. 159), Brett M. Kavanaugh, of Maryland, to be United States Circuit Judge for the District of Columbia Circuit.

WASHINGTON, D.C.

The Congressional Record (USPS 087–390). The Periodicals postage is paid at Washington, D.C. The public proceedings of each House of Congress, as reported by the Official Reporters thereof, are printed pursuant to directions of the Joint Committee on Printing as authorized by appropriate provisions of Title 44, United States Code, and published for each day that one or both Houses are in session, excepting very infrequent instances when two or more unusually small consecutive issues are printed one time. Public access to the Congressional Record is available online through GPO Access, a service of the Government Printing Office, free of charge to the user. The online database is updated each day the Congressional Record is published. The database includes both text and graphics from the beginning of the 103rd Congress, 2nd session (January 1994) forward. It is available through GPO Access at www.gpo.gov/gpoadcess. Customers can also access this information with WAIS client software, via telnet at swais.access.gov, or dial-in using communications software and a modem at 202-512-1661. Questions or comments regarding this database or GPO Access can be directed to the GPO Access User Support Team at: E-Mail: gpoadcess@gpo.gov; Phone 1-888-293-6498 (toll-free), 202-512-1530 (D.C. area); Fax: 202-512-1262. The Team’s hours of availability are Monday through Friday, 7:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, except Federal holidays. The Congressional Record paper and 24x microfiche edition will be furnished by mail to subscribers, free of postage, at the following prices: paper edition, $232.00 for six months, $580.00 per year, or purchased as follows: less than 200 pages, $10.50; between 200 and 400 pages, $21.00; greater than 400 pages, $31.50; payable in advance; microfiche edition, $146.00 per year, or purchased for the same price in advance. To place an order for any of these products, visit the U.S. Government Online Bookstore at: bookstore.gpo.gov. Mail orders to: Superintendent of Documents, P.O. Box 371954, Pittsburgh, PA 15250-7954, or phone orders to 866-512-1800 (toll free), 202-512-1800 (D.C. area), or fax to 202-512-2250. Remit check or money order, made payable to the Superintendent of Documents, or use VISA, MasterCard, Discover, American Express, or GPO Deposit Account. Following each session of Congress, the daily Congressional Record is revised, printed, permanently bound and sold by the Superintendent of Documents in individual parts or by sets. With the exception of copyrighted articles, there are no restrictions on the republication of material from the Congressional Record.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to the Superintendent of Documents, Congressional Record, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, along with the entire mailing label from the last issue received.
