

EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

PAYING TRIBUTE TO INSURE ME

HON. THOMAS G. TANCREDO

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 27, 2006

Mr. TANCREDO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take this time to recognize the achievement of a financial and insurance company in my district. InsureMe of Englewood, Colorado was recognized as one of the "Best Small & Medium Companies to Work for in America" by the Society for Human Resource Management.

This award was given to InsureMe for their open communication between senior managers and company employees, generous salaries and benefits, and their dedication to high profits and low turnover. I would also like to add that the employees of InsureMe volunteer monthly to serve dinner to the homeless and some have even traveled to Ghana to build an orphanage. InsureMe's commitment to their community and successful business is clear.

Mr. Speaker, it is my distinct pleasure to honor InsureMe of Englewood and their achievements here today, and wish them the best in the future.

HONORING DOCTOR PATRICK MAXWELL

HON. MARSHA BLACKBURN

OF TENNESSEE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 27, 2006

Mrs. BLACKBURN. Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me today to honor Dr. Patrick Maxwell for his service to others.

In 2005, Dr. Maxwell received the American Society of Plastic Surgeons' Presidential Award for excellence in his field. While Dr. Maxwell is regarded as one of the premier surgeons in his field, he's also known for his charity.

Patrick is co-founder of the Tennessee-Kentucky chapter of Operation Smile, past president of the Nashville Chapter of the American Cancer Society, Founding Member of the Aspen Center for Integrative Medicine, and he actively supports his alma mater, Vanderbilt University School of Medicine.

We appreciate Dr. Maxwell's dedication to giving back to our community and I hope you'll join me in thanking him today.

TRIBUTE TO PROFESSOR MESFIN WOLDE MARIAM

HON. DONALD M. PAYNE

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 27, 2006

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, in August 2006, I visited Professor Mesfin Wolde Mariam in Kaliti prison in Ethiopia. Though it was sadening to see him in that kind of situation, I was nevertheless thrilled to have had the opportunity to pay my respect to a man I have known for over a decade. Professor Mesfin is one of the most dedicated and true champions of human rights. He chose to dedicate his life to studying famine and food security, writing about and promoting human rights and bringing to light issues often ignored and forgotten by many.

I first met Mesfin in the early 1990s, shortly after he founded the Ethiopian Human Rights Council, EHRCO, the most effective human rights organization in Ethiopia. I was with several Members of Congress on an official visit to Ethiopia. We decided to go to EHRCO's office and hold our meeting with Professor Mesfin in order to show our support for EHRCO and to underscore the significance of their valuable work. It was a memorable meeting and the opportunity to learn of their monumental undertaking was very valuable.

Unfortunately, this is not the first time Mesfin is in prison. He has paid dearly over the decades for standing up for what he believes in and for exposing systematic abuses and sometimes neglect as the case may be over a period of several decades. What is amazing about this incredible human being is his sharpness and focus even in prison. This is a dedicated human being who chose to stay in his native Ethiopia to stand up for, and educate the helpless and the neglected, even though he had plenty of opportunity and offers to live comfortably elsewhere.

In April 2006, his three children wrote about their father stating: "Many months have passed since Mesfin Wolde Mariam, the father of all three of us, and grandfather of Semra, Kristos, Kokeb, Tinsae and Oscar has been incarcerated. We miss him terribly and would love to see him home. No less important is our utmost respect, concern and commitment for the principles he has so staunchly promoted for longer than anyone of us has been around."

I was thrilled to learn that the New York Academy of Sciences decided to recognize Professor Mesfin for "his leadership in advocating for the disadvantage and in promoting human rights, civil society, and a peaceful transition to democracy." Professor Mesfin deserves this recognition and I thank the New York Academy of Science for its leadership and efforts.

INTRODUCTION OF THE CITY YOUTH VIOLENCE RECOVERY ACT OF 2006

HON. JOHN B. LARSON

OF CONNECTICUT

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 27, 2006

Mr. LARSON of Connecticut. Mr. Speaker, I rise today with the distinguished gentleman from Georgia, Mr. LEWIS, to introduce the City Youth Violence Recovery Act. I want to thank Congressman LEWIS for his work on this bill and for his lifelong work to unite every community into what he calls The Beloved Community.

As the media reports daily about the loss of life in the war in Iraq, we often ignore the war being fought at home in city streets across this country. After a decadelong decline of violent crime, it is again on the rise. In Hartford, for example, there have been 140 shooting victims since the beginning of 2006—this is an 18.6% increase over last year's city reports. And again, just over the weekend, gun violence claimed another young life. It was the city's 19th homicide this year. He was 19.

The challenges facing the city of Hartford are not unique. This violence, perpetrated both by and against young people, has devastated urban communities in cities both large and small. In a disturbing trend, our city children and teenagers are losing their lives, losing their friends, losing their family members, and losing their youth. They feel fear, helplessness, horror and the sense that life and safety are in danger. Tragically, many have grown numb to the violence around them.

Since community violence is caused by many things, there is no simple, single solution to eradicate it from our neighborhoods. We must address employment, housing, education, transportation, law enforcement, and other quality of life issues. Until we address these issues, we must do something to help the youth in our cities overcome the long-term emotional harm of witnessing this community violence.

In July, I was honored to have Mr. LEWIS come to Connecticut to talk with local leaders and children in the Hartford community. It was clear that the community's young people require more than physical security to keep them safe from harm. They need a network of support to treat the emotional, mental and developmental harms associated with community violence. Today, I am proud to be joined by Congressman LEWIS and 27 of my distinguished colleagues to introduce the City Youth Violence Recovery Act of 2006. This bill is a step in the right direction in healing the youth of Hartford and the youth in cities devastated by violence throughout the United States. Specifically, this bill would create a Department of Health and Human Services grant program to provide urban communities with funding for counseling, mental health services, post-traumatic stress type services, and violence prevention and conflict mediation for city youth.

We can no longer remain indifferent to the needs of our urban youth. As Members of Congress, as Americans, and as fathers and mothers, we cannot allow any more young lives to be lost in this war at home. Our cities' children deserve better; they deserve a future.
