“(b) STANDARD FOR REDUCTION.—The Director may reduce the level for a goal pursuant to such a petition only if—

“(1) market and economic conditions or the financial condition of the enterprise require such action; or

(d) REORGANIZATION.—If the Director of the Federal Housing Finance Agency determines, after the end of the 1-year period beginning on the effective date of the abolishment under section 321(a), that a reorganization of the combined workforce is required, that reorganization shall be deemed a major reorganization for purposes of affording affected employees retirement under section 8336(d)(2) or 8414(b)(1)(B) of title 5, United States Code.

(e) EMPLOYEE BENEFIT PROGRAMS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Any employee of the Board accepting employment with the Federal Housing Finance Agency as a result of a transfer under subsection (a) may retain for 12 months after the date on which such transfer occurs membership in any employee benefit program of the Federal Housing Finance Agency or the Board, as applicable, including insurance, to which such employee belongs on the effective date of the abolishment under section 321(a) if—

PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

H.R. 1427, the Federal Housing Finance Reform Act of 2007, was introduced on March 9, 2007, by Financial Services Committee Chairman Barney Frank, with Mr. Watt, Mr. Baker, and Mr. Gary G. Miller. H.R. 1427 is based in significant part on a bill passed by the House in the 109th Congress by a vote of 331–90. Modifications have been made in several areas of the bill in this Congress to reflect discussions with the U.S. Department of the Treasury late in the last Congress. The purpose of the bill is to ensure that the government sponsored enterprises supporting the mortgage markets operate in a safe and sound manner and fulfill the missions assigned under their charters, both through establishment of a strong, independent regulator and through enhancements to their mission responsibilities.

SUMMARY OF MAJOR PROVISIONS

H.R. 1427 establishes the Federal Housing Finance Agency (FHFA or Agency) as an independent agency to oversee the safe and sound operations as well as the mission functions of the housing government sponsored enterprises (GSEs)—Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac, and the 12 Federal Home Loan Banks (collectively, the regulated entities). The Agency assumes the supervisory duties of the Office of Federal Housing Enterprise Oversight (OFHEO), the Federal Housing Finance Board (Finance Board), and the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) (with respect to mission oversight of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac).

The independent agency created in this legislation is headed by a Director appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate for a five-year term. The Director will appoint three deputy directors: a Deputy Director of the Division of Enterprise Regulation; a Deputy Director of Federal Home Loan Bank Regulation; and a Deputy Director for Housing. Among other things, this supervisory structure recognizes the unique nature of, and differences between, the Federal Home Loan Banks and the enterprises.

An oversight board (called the Federal Housing Enterprise Board) is created to advise the Director with respect to overall strategies and policies in carrying out the duties of the Director. The Enterprise Board will consist of the Director of the Agency, the Secretaries of Treasury and HUD, and two additional appointed directors. Funding for the Agency is to be provided by an annual assessment by the Agency on the regulated entities for the FHFA's reasonable costs and expenses. Congressional appropriations approval is not required.

Safety and soundness provisions

The legislation strengthens the existing safety and soundness oversight of the regulated entities, particularly with respect to Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac (the enterprises), providing the new regulator with safety and soundness authority that is comparable to and in some areas broader than that of the federal bank regulatory agencies. Under the legislation, the Director of the Agency will have enhanced authority in several areas critical to the safety and soundness of the GSEs:

Capital. The legislation provides the Agency significantly strengthened authority to establish appropriate capital standards for the regulated entities. In particular, the legislation removes restrictions on authority of the enterprises' current regulator that limit the regulator's ability to impose risk-based capital requirements that cover the full range of risks encountered by the enterprises. Instead, the Agency will have broad authority to establish and adjust risk-based capital standards and critical capital levels for all of the regulated entities in order to ensure that they operate in a safe and sound manner and maintain sufficient capital reserves. The Committee expects that the new regulator will use this expanded authority to determine whether the existing rules for the enterprises, which focus primarily on interest rate risk, should be strengthened, supplemented, or replaced, such as with standards that focus on the particular assets held by the enterprises. The Committee believes that providing the Agency flexibility to establish comprehensive risk-based capital standards will considerably enhance ongoing oversight of the safety and soundness oversight of the enterprises, particularly in a prompt corrective action framework, and that strong risk-based capital rules, combined with appropriate risk management and supervisory oversight, are the best means of ensuring that the enterprises operate safely.

As is the case under banking laws and regulations, a robust risk-based capital regime is an effective first line of defense in a strong financial oversight system. The legislation provides, as a further safeguard to address issues related to safety and soundness, significant new authority to the Agency with respect to minimum capital requirements. The Agency will have the authority to adopt rules to revise the minimum capital levels of the enterprises or the Federal Home Loan Banks, or both, to the extent needed to ensure that they operate in a safe and sound manner. The Agency is given specific authority to increase the minimum capital requirement for an individual regulated entity by order on a temporary basis to address certain violations or unsafe and unsound conditions, with temporary increases rescinded when the underlying conditions are remedied. The legislation also provides the Agency authority to establish capital or reserve requirements for specific programs or activities of the regulated entities.

In all cases, the Committee expects the Agency to exercise this authority in a manner consistent with that of the federal banking regulators, by establishing capital requirements necessary to ensure the safety and soundness of the regulated entities themselves, and not to address broader issues of potential risk to the financial system unrelated to oversight of the safety and soundness of the regulated entities.

Prudential standards. The Agency is provided authority to set prudential management and operations standards for the regulated entities, confirming and clarifying the authority of the enterprises' current regulator to adopt such standards. The requirements of the legislation for the adoption of prudential standards are broadly comparable to the requirements currently applicable to the federal bank regulatory agencies. As with the bank regulatory agencies, the Agency would be required to establish standards for internal controls, internal audit, liquidity, asset and investment management, record systems, and management of interest rate, market, and credit risk, as well as other operational and management standards the Agency determines are appropriate.

Portfolio standards. In addition to the prudential standards requirements, the legislation includes a specific requirement for the establishment of standards for the safe and sound and mission-compliant operation of the enterprises' portfolios. The factors to be considered are limited accordingly to the safety and soundness and mission of the enterprises themselves, and not to the competitive or financial impact on other market participants. The Committee expects the new regulator to establish standards governing the future operation and growth of the portfolios that will both ensure the safety and soundness of the enterprises and enable them to provide the support for the secondary mortgage markets contemplated under their charters. The standards required under this section are not intended to address potential risks to the financial system unrelated to oversight of the safe and sound operation of the portfolios of the enterprises themselves. To be clear, any system risk that results from the unsafe or unsound operations of the portfolios will clearly be addressed when safety and soundness is addressed. However, the Committee does not believe that systemic risk can be attributed to the operation of the portfolios if they are operating in a safe and sound manner. Therefore, the requirement for the development of standards is not intended to permit the new regulator to place arbitrary limits on the size of the portfolios of the enterprises.

This legislation further requires that the Director monitor the portfolios of the enterprises and provides the Director with the extraordinary authority to require an enterprise to dispose of or acquire assets, if the Director determines that such action is consistent with the safety and soundness or mission of the enterprise and is justified by the Director's regulatory responsibilities. The Committee expects this authority to be used solely as necessary to ensure the safety and soundness of the enterprises or their compliance with the requirements of their charters. As with the portfolio standards, the Committee does not expect this authority to be used to place arbitrary limits on the size of the enterprises' portfolios.

Prompt corrective action. The legislation strengthens the existing requirements for prompt corrective action by the regulator in response to conditions that could result in significant degradation of the capital of the regulated entities. H.R. 1427 requires the Director to establish capital classifications for the regulated entities similar to those which exist for federally regulated banks and provides authority for the Director to take actions to return the enterprise to financial health.

Insolvency. The legislation would provide the new regulator with the authority to place a regulated entity into conservatorship or receivership if the Director determines that one or more of the statutory grounds exists. The new regulator also has authority to place a regulated entity that has been classified as critically undercapitalized entity into conservatorship or receivership. Further, the regulator must place the entity into receivership if the Agency determines that the debts of the entity have exceeded its assets for 30 days or the entity has not been paying its debts as they became due for 30 days. The conservatorship and receivership provisions were modeled after similar provisions in the Federal Deposit Insurance Act that apply to federally insured depository institutions.

These provisions are intended to address a criticism of the current regulatory regime for the enterprises, under which the existing regulator does not have the authority to place an enterprise in receivership, which some critics believe has led to inadequate market discipline with respect to the operations of the enterprises. Additionally, the legislation provides for the first time a specific framework for receivership of a Federal Home Loan Bank.

Enforcement powers. The legislation strengthens the existing enforcement powers of the current regulators. The Agency is vested with cease-and-desist powers, if the Director has reasonable cause to believe that the regulated entity or an affiliated party is engaged in an unsafe or unsound practice or other violation of law. The Agency is empowered to issue civil money penalties and has the authority to remove management.

Federal Home Loan Bank operations. H.R. 1427 improves the operations of the Federal Home Loan Bank System by permitting the formation of joint offices by two or more Banks, specifying that joint offices are subject to supervision and oversight to the same extent as are the Banks, requiring sharing of information among the Banks, and raising the total asset eligibility cap for community financial institution members that use advances for additional lending activities. Two or more Banks are permitted to merge with approval of the boards of the Banks involved and the Agency. The legislation reforms the method by which each Bank elects its board of directors, requiring that two-fifths be independent directors with at least two being public interest directors.

Other. The legislation includes a variety of additional measures intended to strengthen the new regulator, such as a provision adding the Agency as a liaison member of the Federal Financial Institutions Examination Council (FFIEC), as well as measures intended to strengthen the operation of the enterprises and Federal Home Loan Banks, such as corporate governance improvements and requirements for the composition, operation, and compensation of the boards of directors of the enterprises.

Mission Oversight

New product review. Under the legislation, the authority to review and approve new products is transferred from HUD to the Agency. New products will be subject to a public notice and comment period before an enterprise can initially offer the product. The Director must approve or deny the product within 30 days after the close of the public comment period; if the Director does not act within 30 days, the enterprise may offer the product. A product may only be approved if it is authorized by law, in the public interest, consistent with safety and soundness of the enterprise and the mortgage finance system, and does not materially impair the efficiency of the mortgage finance system. The legislation also provides for an expedited review process for any new activity, service, undertaking or offering that an enterprise determines is not a product. The Agency must be notified of any such activity, must determine whether the activity, service, undertaking, or offering consists of, relates to, or involves a product and, if so, must notify the enterprise of that determination and treat the new activity, service, undertaking or offering as a product.

The definition of the term “product” explicitly excludes the automated underwriting system of an enterprise in existence on the date of enactment, including any upgrade to the technology, operating system, or software to operate the system. The term “product” also does not include modifications to mortgage terms and conditions or mortgage underwriting criteria relating to the mortgages that are purchased or guaranteed by an enterprise, provided that such modifications do not alter the underlying transaction to include services or financing, other than residential mortgage financing, or create significant new exposure to risk for the enterprise or the holder of the mortgage. The term “product” is not defined in the legislation, other than by the exclusion.

The Committee believes that the legislation provides the Agency with the flexibility to establish a workable system that will provide predictability as to what offerings or changes to existing offerings rise to the level of a new product that will be subject to notice and approval, addressing both the need to provide notice to market participants of new products and the need for the enterprises to respond in a timely manner to market demands. The Committee intends that the Agency will look to similar processes developed by the federal bank regulatory agencies in establishing procedures to minimize unnecessary burden on the enterprises and originating institutions while fulfilling the objectives of the provision.

The provision does not apply to existing products or activities that were commenced or offered prior to the enactment of this legislation, but does not limit the authority of the Agency to review products and activities for safety and soundness and compliance with the enterprises' respective charters.

Conforming loan limits. The bill updates the statutory conforming loan limit dollar amounts to reflect 2007 levels, and requires the Agency to adjust the conforming loan limit according to the annual housing price index maintained by the Agency. An additional high-cost area limit is authorized for areas where the median home sales price with respect to certain properties in that area exceeds the generally conforming loan limit, up to the lower of 150 percent of the conforming loan limit or the median home price for such properties in that area. This is consistent with current statutory authority for loan limits to go up to 150 percent of the nationwide conforming loan limit in Alaska, Hawaii, and U.S. territories. Loans in high-cost areas above the general conforming loan limit must be securitized. The Director will conduct a study of whether the securitization requirement raises the cost of high-cost area loans, and may terminate the requirement if it is found to raise costs.

Affordable Housing Goals. The affordable housing goals are revised to target these numerical goals to better meet the needs of lower income borrowers and communities, and to better align the income categories with the Community Reinvestment Act, in order to augment financial institutions' activities in serving low- and very-low income communities and families. The goals are also revised to create a statutory multifamily loan goal.

Under existing law, the enterprises must meet three annual housing goals established by HUD. These goals measure all single-family and multi-family mortgage purchases (including refinancings), and have been set as a percentage of total mortgage purchases that meet the three statutory goal categories, which are based on area median income (AMI), as follows: (1) "low-income" (less than 100 percent of AMI); (2) "special affordable" (less than 60 percent of AMI plus less than 80 percent of AMI in low-income areas; and (3) "central cities, rural areas and other underserved areas" (families in census tracts below 90 percent of AMI, plus families in minority census tracts below 120 percent of AMI). In addition, HUD has authority to establish subgoals, and currently uses such authority to establish home purchase subgoals and a multifamily subgoal, which is volume-based.

This legislation better targets these goals, by creating 3 single family owner occupied affordable housing goals, measuring mortgages that serve families which are: (1) "low income" (less than 80 percent of AMI), (2) "very low income" (less than 50 percent of AMI), and (3) living in census tracts below 80 percent of AMI plus those families below 100 percent of AMI living in minority census tracts. To reflect the narrowing of the types of loans measured, a statutory subgoal is established for refinancings, and a separate statutory subgoal is established for single family rental housing units.

In addition, the bill creates a statutory multifamily housing goal, to be based on loan volume, measuring units assisting low income families, very low income families, and units assisted by low income housing tax credits. The bill also requires establishment of additional requirements for smaller multifamily housing projects.

In establishing these goals, the legislation also recognizes that a verifiable measurement baseline is necessary to ensure consistency and accuracy over time. The Director is required to establish the single-family goals on Home Mortgage Disclosure Act (HMDA) data by using the prior 3-year market averages for each goal category, with authority to adjust such goals to reflect expected changes in market performance, using factors similar to those in current statute regarding goal establishment, and with a requirement that the enterprises must lead the market in each goal area. In addition, the Director must assign added credit toward achievement of the housing goals for mortgage purchase activities of an enterprise that supports housing that includes a licensed childcare center, or that supports housing that meets energy efficiency or other Federal, State or local environmental standards for the geographic area where the housing is located.

Duty to Serve. The bill also creates a statutory duty for the enterprises to serve underserved markets that lack adequate credit through conventional lending sources. The bill specifies three areas—manufactured housing, affordable housing preservation, and rural housing—and gives the Director authority to establish other underserved markets. Enterprises are required to develop loan products and flexible underwriting guidelines, and are to be evaluated on this basis, as well as the extent of outreach to qualified loan sellers and the volume of loans purchased. However, it is not intended that the Director would create percent-of-business or other numeric goals under this section.

Affordable Housing Fund. The legislation creates an “Affordable Housing Fund,” to be managed by the Director. Funds are derived through contributions to be made by Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac each year from 2007 through 2012, with the fund sunseting after this five year period. Contributions are to be made in amounts equal to 1.2 basis points on each enterprise’s average total outstanding mortgages (including both those held in portfolio and those securitized) from the prior calendar year. Seventy-five percent of these funds are used for affordable housing fund purposes, and twenty-five percent are allocated to the federal government as payments to REFCORP, in order to keep the bill deficit neutral. The Director can temporarily suspend allocations by an enterprise upon a finding that the allocation would contribute to the financial instability of the enterprise, would cause the enterprise to be undercapitalized or would prevent the enterprise from successfully completing a capital restoration plan.

Seventy-five percent of the affordable housing funds available in the first year will go to Louisiana and twenty-five percent of such funds will go to Mississippi for affordable housing needs arising out of Hurricanes Katrina and Rita. Thereafter, funds are allocated by formula to the states (including also D.C., federal territories, and federally recognized tribes). This formula is to be developed by HUD, and is to be based on a number of factors, including population, housing affordability, percentage of very and extremely low income families, cost of rehab, and extent of substandard and aging housing. If HUD fails to establish this formula on time, funds are distributed to states based on HOME allocations to states and Participating Jurisdictions.

One-hundred percent of funds must be used for the benefit of very low (below 50 percent of AMI) and extremely low (below 30 percent of AMI) income families. Very- and extremely low-income families are traditionally the hardest groups to provide affordable housing to without the availability of subsidies, and existing programs are often unable to provide the level of subsidies necessary to make rents affordable for such families. Funds may be used for both rental housing and homeownership, with at least ten percent of funds used by each state for home ownership. Home ownership purposes may include down payment assistance, closing costs, and assistance for interest-rate buy-downs for very low and extremely low income households who are first-time homebuyers. Families receiving homeownership assistance must have completed prepurchase counseling prior to buying the home. Funds also may be used for public infrastructure activities in conjunction with housing, but no more than 12.5 percent of funds in any state may be used for this purpose.

Affordable housing grants are to be made to eligible recipients, which can be any organization, agency, or other entity (including a for-profit entity, a nonprofit entity, or a faith-based organization) that has a demonstrated capacity to carry out the proposed fund use. Grantee funds may only be used for affordable housing uses, and not for administrative costs, except that by regulation the Director can limit the amount of any grant amounts a state (or DC, a territory, or tribe) may use for administrative costs of carrying out the program to a percentage of such grant amounts, which may not exceed 10 percent of grant funds used.

Each state allocates funds under its own Allocation Plan, to be based on priority housing needs in each state, and on criteria that include greatest impact, geographic diversity, ability to obligate funds in a timely manner, and the extent to which rental housing projects are affordable, especially for extremely low income families. Funds are redistributed from any state that does not obligate funds within 2 years.

The bill contains a number of provisions to ensure that AHF funds are used for the specified housing purposes and are not misused or used for other purposes, including an explicit prohibition against fund use for political activities, advocacy, lobbying, counseling, travel expenses, or preparation or advice on tax returns. The bill provides that funds allocated for the affordable housing fund, may be transferred at a later date to a national Affordable Housing Trust Fund that may be subsequently enacted into law.

The GAO shall conduct a study and report to Congress within one year of enactment concerning the effect the AHF will have on availability and affordability of credit for homebuyers, and the extent to which the costs to the enterprises of funding the AHF will be passed on to homebuyers.

Transition provisions. The bill ensures that OFHEO, the Finance Board, and the offices in HUD that oversee Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac will continue their supervisory roles during the six-month period between the enactment and effective dates. During this time, OFHEO, the Finance Board, and HUD will have continued authority to issue regulations, ensure the safe and sound operation, and monitor the mission functions of the GSEs. On the effective date, all OFHEO, Finance Board, and HUD employees involved in the oversight of the GSEs will be transferred to the new Agency. All of the existing regulations from the former regulatory agencies will remain in force under the new Agency.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

Freddie Mac, Fannie Mae, and several of the Federal Home Loan Banks have experienced considerable accounting, financial reporting, and managerial problems in recent years. Significant operational and safety and soundness issues that have appeared since 2001 have highlighted the need to fortify the supervisory structure for all of the regulated entities to ensure that they conduct their business in a safe and sound manner and fulfill their statutory missions.

Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac were chartered by Congress in order to create a secondary market and increase liquidity in the home mortgage markets. Through their charters, the GSEs are granted special privileges not available to other private-sector firms. The Secretary of the Treasury is authorized, in his discretion, to purchase up to $2.25 billion of any obligations of the enterprises. The enterprises are exempt from state regulation, state income taxation, and SEC registration.

Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac buy residential mortgages from lenders and finance the purchases either by issuing debt securities or by packaging mortgages in the form of mortgage backed securities (MBS), on which they guarantee payment for a fee. Purchasers of the debt and MBS include mutual funds, major financial institutions, pension funds, insurance companies, individual investors, central banks, and other institutions in foreign countries. The safety and soundness of the enterprises is regulated by the Office of Federal Housing Enterprise Oversight (OFHEO). HUD is responsible for mission regulation of the enterprises.

In 1992, Congress established affordable housing goals for the enterprises to ensure a more targeted transfer of GSE benefits to the housing market. Even though the enterprises are required by charter to help facilitate affordable housing, HUD has found that the enterprises lag behind the private sector in their affordable housing performance. Each enterprise must create an affordable housing fund in order for more of the subsidy to pass through to consumers.

The Federal Home Loan Bank System was established by Congress in 1932 to provide liquidity to home mortgage lenders. The Bank System encompasses twelve regional Federal Home Loan Banks (Banks), each of which is cooperatively owned by its commercial bank, savings association, credit union, and insurance company member institutions. The Banks issue debt for which they are jointly and severally liable, and use the proceeds principally to make collateralized advances to their 8,000-plus member institutions. Member institutions primarily secure advances with residential mortgages and other housing-related assets. The Federal Home Loan Banks are supervised by the Federal Housing Finance Board, an independent agency of the executive branch consisting of 5 appointed members. The System fulfills its mission by providing members with access to funding and technical assistance, and through special affordable housing and community and economic development programs.

The Affordable Housing Program (AHP) of the Federal Home Loan Banks is the largest private grant program for housing in the nation. The AHP is funded with 10 percent each of the Federal Home Loan Banks' annual earnings and has been a significant source of funds for financing the production and revitalization of affordable housing for people with low- and moderate-incomes. The AHP is a competitive program that provides grants to finance the purchase, construction, or rehabilitation of owner-occupied or rental housing. Grants can also be used to lower the interest rate on loans or cover down payment and closing costs. AHP grants are flexible and often serve as a "bridge" for housing projects, providing "gap" financing to make thousands of housing projects and home purchases. In 2005, approximately $230 million was made available for regional housing projects, creating almost 40,000 affordable housing units. Since the program's inception in 1991, over $2.54 billion dollars in AHP grants and subsidized advances have been awarded, creating almost 430,000 affordable housing units.

H.R. 1427 creates a similar program for Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, establishing a new Affordable Housing Fund, funded through annual contributions from Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac. This new fund is designed to meet the affordable housing needs of our nation's poorest very low income and extremely low income families, which studies have shown have the most severe housing affordability needs. Traditionally, making housing affordable for such families requires deeper levels of housing subsidies than are typically available in most federal housing programs. The new Affordable Housing Fund is designed to target subsidies to these families. Funds are directed in the first year to meet housing needs arising out of Hurricanes Katrina and Rita, and in later years are distributed nationwide to states by formula.

As of December 31, 2004 (the last annual report filed), Fannie Mae reported total assets of approximately $1 trillion. As of December 31, 2006, Freddie Mac reported total assets of $813 billion, and the twelve Federal Home Loan Banks $1 trillion. As of the same date, Freddie Mac held $753 billion in outstanding debt, and the Federal Home Loan Banks $934 billion in debt. The combined portfolios of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac have grown from $138 billion in 1990 to $1.4 trillion at year end 2006. The Federal Home Loan Banks held $98 billion at year end 2006.

Freddie Mac announced in January 2003 that it would need to revise its financial statements, resulting in a special review by OFHEO. Following the discovery of accounting irregularities and a reorganization of its management, Freddie Mac announced in November 2003 that it had overstated earnings by $1 billion in 2001. The company said the error in its 2001 earnings—restated to $3.16 billion from $4.15 billion—stemmed from failure to properly account for derivatives activity.

In December 2003, OFHEO released a report on the special examination of Freddie Mac finding that the enterprise disregarded accounting rules, internal controls and disclosure standards. Furthermore, the report found that overall the company had understated its earnings by $5 billion between 2001–2003, and that the Board of Directors had failed to exercise adequate oversight. Freddie Mac entered into a consent order and settlement with OFHEO, under which it was required to undertake remedial actions relating to governance, corporate culture, internal controls, accounting practices, disclosure and oversight. The company also paid a $125 million civil money penalty. On March 23, 2007, Freddie Mac released its 2006 year-end financial reports and expects to resume filing timely quarterly and annual financial statements in the second half of 2007. Once Freddie Mac becomes current in its financial reporting, the company will begin the process of registering its capital stock with the SEC.

Shortly after the announcement of Freddie Mac's financial reporting problems, OFHEO began a special examination of Fannie Mae. In September 2004, the agency issued a report identifying a number of deficiencies within Fannie Mae, including insufficient internal controls, the improper application of accounting standards, and inadequate corporate governance policies. OFHEO concluded that Fannie Mae was "significantly undercapitalized" in the third quarter of 2004, and required that the enterprise's minimum capital requirement be increased by 30% to strengthen its financial position.

In May 2006, Fannie Mae entered into a Consent Order to settle matters related to accounting, internal control and other failures leading to a restatement of earnings by and losses to the enterprise. Under the Consent Order, Fannie Mae paid $400 million in fines and penalties and undertook numerous remedial actions. At the end of 2006, Fannie Mae announced that the restatement of its financial reports would lower its reported earnings by a total of $6.3 billion for the period between 2001 and 2004. In February 2007, Fannie Mae announced its intention to file the company's 2005 annual report by the end of August and the 2006 annual report before the end of 2007.

Like Freddie Mac, Fannie Mae agreed to improve its internal controls and its corporate governance, and temporarily increase its capital levels. Fannie Mae additionally changed its leadership team in the wake of the accounting restatement, and OFHEO is presently pursuing administrative action against several former Fannie Mae executives.

A number of Federal Home Loan Banks also have identified financial reporting and management deficiencies in recent years. For example, during their efforts to register with the SEC six Federal Home Loan Banks (Atlanta, Dallas, Des Moines, Indianapolis, Pittsburgh, and Topeka) determined that they had to restate certain financial statements due to misapplications of accounting standards, primarily those rules for derivative instruments and hedging activities. The Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago also restated its financials and entered into an agreement with the Finance Board to better manage its risks, but this announcement occurred prior to the SEC review.

Additionally, the Federal Home Loan Bank of Seattle entered into a written supervisory agreement with the FHFBS in December 2004. The agreement resulted from an excessive exposure to interest-rate risk volatility. The Federal Home Loan Bank of Seattle has since filed and begun to implement a 3-year business and capital management plan to better manage its operations.

In the 109th Congress, the House Financial Services Committee approved H.R. 1461, the Federal Housing Finance Reform Act, by a vote of 65 to 5. The legislation subsequently passed the House by a vote of 331 to 90. On October 31, 2005, H.R. 1461 was received in the Senate, read twice and referred to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs. While the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs approved a GSE regulatory reform bill (S. 190), the legislation never came up for consideration on the Senate floor. As a result, H.R. 1461 died at the end of the 109th Congress.

H.R. 1427—Federal Housing Finance Reform Act of 2007

Summary: H.R. 1427 would establish a single regulator—the Federal Housing Finance Agency (FHFA)—for government-sponsored enterprises (GSEs) involved in the home mortgage market. GSEs are privately owned, Congressionally chartered financial institutions created to enhance the availability of credit in the economy. The GSEs that would be regulated by FHFA under the bill include the Federal National Mortgage Association (Fannie Mae), the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation (Freddie Mac), and the Federal Home Loan Banks (FHLBs). These GSEs were created to increase the availability of credit for home mortgages.

FHFA would be an independent agency within the federal government with the authority to oversee the safety, soundness, and mission of the housing GSEs. Under H.R. 1427, FHFA would be authorized to collect fees from the GSEs and to spend such fees to pay for its operating costs. Because the GSEs would be compelled by the government to pay those fees, the amounts collected and spent would be recorded on the federal budget as governmental revenues and outlays, respectively. CBO expects that FHFA would become operational midway through fiscal year 2008, that its operations would cost about $50 million in 2008, and that fees collected by the agency would cover that spending.

The legislation also would require Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac to contribute amounts equal to 1.2 basis points on their average total mortgage portfolios (that is, 1.2 cents per $100 of the value of their mortgage portfolios) from the previous year to a new affordable housing fund created by the bill. Those contributions would occur over calendar years 2007 through 2011 and would be used for three purposes. First, each year, 25 percent of the funds deposited in the affordable housing fund would be used to pay some of the interest on the Resolution Funding Corporation (REF CORP) bonds that would otherwise be paid by the U.S. Treasury. Second, in the first year of the fund's operation, the remaining 75 percent of the funds would be used to fund the reconstruction of housing in areas of Louisiana and Mississippi affected by Hurricanes Katrina and Rita. In subsequent years, that remaining 75 percent would be used to provide grants to states and Indian tribes to support home ownership and rental housing among low-income households and investment in public infrastructure associated with housing activities.

As a result of the fees that would be collected and spent by FHFA and the transactions of the affordable housing fund, CBO estimates that enacting this legislation would increase revenues and direct spending by $2.7 billion over the 2008–2012 period and by $3.3 billion over the 2008–2017 period.

Finally, CBO estimates that implementing H.R. 1427 would result in net savings of about $22 million in discretionary spending over the next five years, assuming that appropriations are reduced to reflect the changes in regulatory structure that would be established in the legislation. Those savings would result from a reduction in the regulatory responsibilities of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

H.R. 1427 contains several intergovernmental mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act (UMRA), but CBO estimates that the aggregate costs to state, local, and tribal governments would be minimal and would not exceed the threshold established in that act ($66 million in 2007, adjusted annually for inflation). The bill also would authorize formula grants to support affordable housing programs, which would benefit state, local, and tribal governments.

H.R. 1427 would impose several private-sector mandates, as defined in UMRA, on Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac, and the FHLBs. CBO estimates that the aggregate direct cost of those mandates would exceed the annual threshold established by UMRA ($131 million in 2007, adjusted annually for inflation) in fiscal years 2008 through 2011.

Estimated cost to the Federal Government: The bill's estimated budgetary impact over the next five years is summarized in Table 1. The costs of this legislation fall within budget function 370 (commerce and housing credit).

Basis of estimate: The budgetary impact of the bill would stem mostly from the establishment of a new regulator for the GSEs and from the creation of the affordable housing fund. For this estimate, CBO assumes that H.R. 1427 will be enacted by the end of fiscal year 2007, that the affordable housing fund will become effective upon enactment, that the FHFA will become operational midway into fiscal year 2008, and that appropriation actions consistent with this bill will occur.

Background on GSE regulation

Currently, HUD is responsible for setting affordable housing goals for Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac and ensuring that these two GSEs meet such goals. HUD's oversight activities are funded from the agency's annual appropriation. In 2006, HUD spent about $6 million to perform those oversight responsibilities. In addition, the Office of Federal Housing Enterprise Oversight (OFHEO), an independent agency within HUD, currently oversees the financial safety and soundness of these two GSEs. OFHEO is funded through annual assessments collected from Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac; the collection and spending of those assessments are subject to appropriation actions. In 2007, OFHEO was authorized to collect and spend about $60 million to perform its duties.

The FHLB system, which consists of 12 regionally based banks, is currently regulated by the Federal Housing Finance Board (FHFB). FHFB is an independent agency that oversees the financial safety and soundness of the FHLBs as well as their mission compliance; it is funded through annual assessments collected on the earnings of the FHLBs. The collection and spending of those annual assessments are not subject to appropriation actions. In 2007, FHFB anticipates that assessments and spending will total about $34 million.

Under this legislation, beginning midway through 2008, FHFA would assume all of the responsibilities associated with oversight of Fannie Mae's and Freddie Mac's housing mission, which are currently under HUD's jurisdiction. Additionally, enacting H.R. 1427 would abolish OFHEO and FHFB six months following its enactment, and their functions and current staff would be transferred to FHFA. The legislation also would establish an Inspector General within FHFA.

Revenues and direct spending

CBO estimates that the collection and spending of fees by FHFA would increase revenues and direct spending by about $1.1 billion over the next 10 years.

We also estimate that enacting the affordable housing fund provisions of H.R. 1427 would increase revenues and direct spending by about $2.2 billion over the same period. CBO assumes that Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac would begin making deposits to the new, affordable housing funds in calendar year 2007, and that payments to REFCORP and spending for grants and other types of financial assistance from the funds also would begin in calendar year 2007. The estimated impact of the bill on direct spending and revenues over fiscal years 2008 through 2017 is shown in Table 2.

FHFA Fees and Spending. While many of the regulatory activities currently performed by HUD, OFHEO, and FHFB would continue under H.R. 1427, enacting this legislation also would establish some new authorities, such as the authority to liquidate a troubled or insolvent GSE and the authority to limit the portfolio holdings of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac (that is, the amount of mortgages that are held instead of repackaged and then sold as mortgage-backed securities) to ensure financial soundness and consistency with the mission of these two GSEs. In addition, Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac would not be able to undertake any new program without prior approval from the Director of FHFA. Also, section 106 of this legislation would authorize the Director of FHFA to assess fees on the housing-related GSEs each year to obtain funding for reasonable costs and expenses associated with FHFA's responsibilities. Those fees paid by the GSEs would be classified as federal revenues because they would be imposed through the exercise of the government's sovereign power.

Note: Positive (negative) changes in revenues correspond to decreases (increases) in budget deficits. Positive (negative) changes in direct spending correspond to increases (decreases) in budget deficits.

Revenue Effects of the Fees Assessed by FHFA. CBO estimates that FHFA would require annual funding of about $50 million in 2008, approximately half the amount that will be spent under current law to oversee the GSEs in 2007. In subsequent years, we estimate that the new agency would spend $100 million to $120 million a year. Under the bill, the first assessment by FHFA would occur midway into 2008, and CBO estimates that resulting collections would total about $1.1 billion over the 2008–2017 period. We expect that the fees assessed by FHFA would be roughly the same amount currently paid to OFHEO and FHFB. CBO estimates that any increase in costs stemming from the new responsibilities of FHFA would be offset by savings from merging the technical and administrative functions of OFHEO and FHFB.

CBO expects that the new collections under the bill would be treated as revenues in the budget. Because the new fees paid by the GSEs to FHFA would be approximately equal to the amounts they would pay to OFHEO and FHFB under current law, taxable incomes of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac or of other entities in the economy would not change significantly under the bill.

Spending Effects of the Fees Assessed by FHFA. CBO expects that such spending would begin in fiscal year 2008 after FHFA is established. We estimate that, in most years, FHFA would spend the total amount of fees it collects from the GSEs. Thus, enacting this provision would increase federal outlays by about $480 million over the 2008–2012 period and by about $1.1 billion over the 2008–2017 period.

Affordable Housing Fund. Section 139 of H.R. 1427 would establish an affordable housing fund managed by the Director of FHFA. To support that fund, both Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac would be required to contribute amounts equal to 1.2 basis points on the previous year's average mortgage portfolio, (including mortgages held and those securitized), provided that the GSE is adequately capitalized and such contributions would not contribute to the GSE's financial instability. Under the legislation, these contributions by the GSEs would occur over calendar years 2007 through 2011 and would be used to pay some of the interest on REFCORP bonds, provide assistance to areas impacted by Hurricanes Katrina and Rita, and provide grants to states to support home ownership and public infrastructure. No later than June 30, 2011, the Director of FHFA would be required to report to the House Committee on Financial Services and the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs on whether the affordable housing fund should be extended or modified after the end of calendar year 2011.

REFCORP Bonds. The Resolution Trust Corporation (RTC) was created by the Financial Institutions Reform, Recovery, and Enforcement Act of 1989 (FIRREA) in the aftermath of the savings and loan crisis of the late 1980s as a means of liquidating insolvent institutions. FIRREA also established REFCORP to finance the operations of the RTC by issuing bonds. REFCORP issued about $30 billion in noncallable long-term bonds that mature between October 2019 and April 2030. The annual interest payable on those bonds through 2019 is $2.6 billion. (Interest payments will decrease from 2020 through 2030 as the bonds mature.)

The bulk of the interest on these bonds is paid by the U.S. Treasury. Under FIRREA, and later under the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act of 2000, the FHLBs are required to pay some of the interest due on these bonds. To the extent that those payments from the FHLBs are not sufficient to pay the interest due on the bonds, the U.S. Treasury is required to pay the remaining amounts due. (In 2006, for example, the Treasury paid about $2 billion of the interest due.) H.R. 1427 would direct that 25 percent of the amounts deposited in the affordable housing fund each year to be used to pay some of the interest on REFCORP Bonds. Thus, CBO estimates that the amount of interest paid by the Treasury would decrease over the 2008–2012 period by about $750 million.

Grants and other Financial Assistance. In fiscal year 2008, the remaining 75 percent of the deposits to the affordable housing fund would be provided to the Louisiana Housing Finance Agency and the Mississippi Development Authority to support reconstruction of affordable housing in areas affected by Hurricanes Katrina and Rita.

In subsequent years, 75 percent of the deposits to the affordable housing fund would be used to provide grants to states and Indian tribes to support efforts to increase and improve home ownership and rental housing for extremely low- and very low-income families, and investment in public infrastructure associated with housing activities. The funds would be distributed based on a formula developed by HUD. Also under the bill, the fund's resources could not be used to fund activities, such as lobbying or counseling services, or pay for a grantee's administrative expenses.

Budgetary Treatment of the Affordable Housing Fund. The required contributions to the affordable housing fund would be considered revenues because the bill compels their expenditure for governmental purposes. The deposit of specific amounts into the new fund would be compulsory, not voluntary. Likewise, expenditures from the fund would be a form of federal spending because the affordable housing funds could be obligated only for purposes specified in the bill. (FHFA would enforce the requirement for deposits into the affordable housing fund and would oversee spending of those funds to ensure compliance with federal purposes.)

Revenue Impact of Establishing the Affordable Housing Fund. The estimated revenue effect of establishing the fund consists of two broad components. First, the levy on the average total mortgage portfolio (that is, payments equal to 1.2 basis points on the value of the average mortgage portfolio) would be accounted for as a revenue when credited to the affordable housing fund. The combined mortgage portfolio for these GSEs has averaged $3.8 trillion over the last five years. CBO estimates that future portfolios of these entities will grow by CBO's forecast of mortgage debt outstanding (that is, mortgage debt on one to four family residences), which is estimated to be about 5 percent to 7 percent annually. We also estimate that because section 133 of this legislation would permit the GSEs to securitize and sell certain high-dollar loans in high-cost areas, a small expansion in the GSEs' volume of mortgage-backed securities would result.

CBO assumes that H.R. 1427 will be enacted by the end of fiscal year 2007, which would result in two assessments occurring in fiscal year 2008 and one assessment in each of the subsequent three fiscal years. The first assessment for the affordable housing fund would be based on the 2006 value of mortgage portfolios and would occur in calendar year 2007, but paid in fiscal year 2008. CBO estimates that in 2006 the value of the mortgage portfolios for both GSEs totaled about $4.3 trillion, and we estimate that the assessment for 2008 would total $520 million. In addition, an assessment on the 2007 value of mortgage portfolios would be collected in fiscal year 2008 of about $550 million in fiscal year 2008. CBO estimates that over the 2008–2011 period, assessments would total about $3.0 billion. (Under H.R. 1427, collections would stop in 2011; continuation of the fund would require additional legislative action.)

Second, spending of amounts from the affordable housing fund for both payments to the REFCORP and financial assistance to affordable housing programs would generate deductions against taxable corporate profits for the two GSEs. If the GSEs' taxable profits were reduced as a result of the affordable housing program, they would pay lower corporate income taxes. If the GSEs passed through some of the assessments to customers in the form of higher fees, other taxable incomes in the economy would presumably be lower. Therefore, CBO estimates that the payments to the affordable housing fund would reduce total taxable incomes in the economy and thus diminish federal tax receipts by about $750 million over the 2008–2012 period (25 percent of the amount of the payments from the funds). However, payments from the affordable housing fund to REFCORP would result in savings to the Treasury that are equal to the revenue loss caused by lower taxable incomes.

Spending from the Affordable Housing Fund. Expenditures from the fund would constitute direct spending by the federal government and would likely begin in fiscal year 2008. We estimate that enacting this provision would increase federal outlays by $3 billion over the 2008–2012 period, with no spending after 2012 under this legislation.

The bill would require that affordable housing fund grant amounts be committed for use within two years of the date the amounts are made available to the grantee. Unused amounts would be returned to the fund. While CBO estimates a lag between the recording of federal revenues and the spending of amounts in fund, we estimate that enacting the affordable housing provision would be deficit-neutral both over the 2008–2012, with no revenues or spending after 2012.

Other effects on spending

Enacting H.R. 1427 also could have an additional minor impact on revenues and direct spending because this bill would provide for civil and criminal penalties against GSEs or a party affiliated with them for various violations of law. While enacting the legislation would expand the number of possible violations, CBO expects that the amount of fines assessed would not significantly increase under the bill. In fact, prior to the $125 million fine paid by Freddie Mac in 2003, a $125,000 fine paid by one of its former employees, and a $400 million fine paid by Fannie Mae in 2007, no fines had been collected from any of the housing-related GSEs.

Section 117 would direct GSEs to register their capital stock with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) under the Securities Act of 1934. Registering under this act involves standardized disclosure of certain financial information but would not involve any payment of fees associated with other securities laws.

Under current law, GSEs are exempt from registering their capital stock with the SEC. However, Fannie Mae has registered its stock voluntarily, though its filings have been suspended pending restated financial statements. Freddie Mac intends to register, but like Fannie Mae, cannot do so until its financial statements are corrected. The FHLBs are registered with the SEC. Based on information provided by the SEC, CBO estimates that implementing section 117 of H.R. 1427 would impose no significant costs on the SEC.

In addition, enacting this legislation would abolish the FHFB. Thus, the receipts collected and spent by this regulatory body would no longer appear in the budget beginning midway through fiscal year 2008. Because collections and spending by FHFB are about equal, eliminating FHFB would have no net budgetary effect.

Spending subject to appropriation

Implementing H.R. 1427 could result in net savings of about $22 million in discretionary spending over the next five years, assuming appropriation actions consistent with the legislation.

Changes in HUD's Regulatory Responsibilities. CBO estimates that implementing the bill would reduce HUD spending by about $2 million beginning midway through 2008 and $6 million in each subsequent year because FHFA would take over HUD's current GSE-oversight responsibilities, though HUD would be responsible for developing regulations associated with allocating funds from the affordable housing fund.

GAO Studies and Audits. H.R. 1427 would require GAO to conduct several studies and audits over the next five years, including a study to examine the practices used by the GSEs to set guarantee fees, a study of the effects of the affordable housing fund on the cost of housing for borrowers, and an audit of the methodology used by FHFA to calculate changes in housing prices. Based on information from GAO, CBO estimates that it would cost GAO about $4 million over the next five years to carry out its responsibilities under this legislation. The bill also would require GAO to conduct annual audits of the financial transactions associated with the new regulator. However, the costs associated with the annual audits could be funded through the assessments collected by FHFA.

Elimination of OFHEO. Under H.R. 1427, OFHEO would be abolished six months after enactment. Because its collections are about equal to its spending, the elimination of OFHEO would have no net budgetary effect.

Estimated impact on State, local, and tribal governments: Several provisions of H.R. 1427 would preempt state laws and thus constitute intergovernmental mandates as defined in UMRA. Those provisions would allow FHF A to act outside the authority of state law in some circumstances and would preempt state statute-of-limitations and contract laws. These preemptions would primarily occur in the unlikely instance that FHF A serves as the receiver or conservator of a regulated entity. CBO estimates that the aggregate costs to states of complying with these mandates would be minimal and would not exceed the threshold established in UMRA ($66 million, in 2007, adjusted annually for inflation). The bill also would authorize formula grants to support affordable housing programs, which would benefit state, local, and tribal governments.

Estimated impact on the private sector: H.R. 1427 would impose several private-sector mandates, as defined in UMRA, on Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac, and the FHLBs. The bill would require Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac to contribute to a new affordable housing fund. In addition, the bill would require the housing-related GSEs to comply with new requirements to be administered by the FHF A and to register their capital stock with the SEC. CBO estimates that the aggregate direct cost of those mandates would exceed the annual threshold established by UMRA ($131 million in 2007, adjusted annually for inflation) in fiscal years 2008 through 2011.

Affordable housing fund

The most costly mandate would require Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac to make contributions to the affordable housing fund to be established by this bill. In each calendar year through 2011, those GSEs would be required to allocate amounts equal to 1.2 basis points for each dollar of their average total mortgage portfolios from the previous year. CBO estimates that the direct cost of those mandatory contributions would total approximately $3 billion over the 2008–2011 period.

Regulatory functions

The bill would establish a new federal regulator for the GSEs involved in the home mortgage market—Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac, and the FHLBs. In general, the GSEs would have to comply with regulations administered by their new regulator—the Federal Housing Finance Agency. Under current law, those GSEs pay assessments to their regulators. Under the bill, they would pay assessments for the operation of the FHFA. The duty to pay those fees would be a private-sector mandate, but CBO expects that the new fees would not differ significantly from the amounts the GSEs would otherwise pay to their current regulators.

The bill would authorize the FHFA to establish a conservatorship or receivership over a critically undercapitalized GSE, to increase the amount of capital GSEs must hold, and to limit the portfolio holdings of the GSEs to ensure financial soundness. Such new authority would impose private-sector mandates on the GSEs when it is utilized.

The cost to the GSEs would depend on how the regulations governing such authority are implemented. Because that information is not available, CBO cannot determine the cost of those mandates.

The bill also would impose new reporting requirements on the GSEs. The bill would require Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac to submit an annual report to the FHFA on certain charitable contributions and to include in their annual report to the Securities and Exchange Commission their income reported to the Internal Revenue Service. According to industry representatives, the cost to comply with those mandates would be minimal.

In addition, Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac, and the FHLBs would each be required to establish an Office of Minority and Women for developing and implementing standards and procedures to ensure the inclusion of minorities and women in their business activities. The GSEs also would have to conduct, or provide for the conducting of, an annual study to determine the levels of affordable housing inventory and the changes in those levels. According to industry representatives, the cost to comply with those mandates would be small relative to the annual threshold.

Registration of capital stock

The bill also would require the GSEs to register their capital stock with the SEC under the Securities Act of 1934. Registering under this act involves a standardized disclosure of certain financial information. Under current law, GSEs are exempt from registering their capital stock with the SEC. According to the SEC, Fannie Mae has registered its stock voluntarily, though its filings have been suspended pending restated financial statements and Freddie Mac intends to register, when its financial statements are corrected. The FHLBs are registered with the SEC. Therefore, the direct cost to the GSEs to comply with this mandate would be minimal.

Estimate prepared by: Federal spending: Susanne S. Mehlman. Federal revenues: Emily Schlect. Impact on State, local, and tribal governments: Marjorie Miller. Impact on the private sector: Paige Piper/Bach.

Estimate approved by: Peter H. Fontaine, Deputy Assistant Director for Budget Analysis and G. Thomas Woodward, Assistant Director for Tax Analysis.

The Honorable Barney Frank
Chairman
Financial Services Committee
2129 Rayburn House Office Building
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Barney,

I am writing regarding H.R. 1427, the Federal Housing Reform Act of 2007, which was reported to the House by the Committee on Financial Services on Wednesday, March 28, 2007.

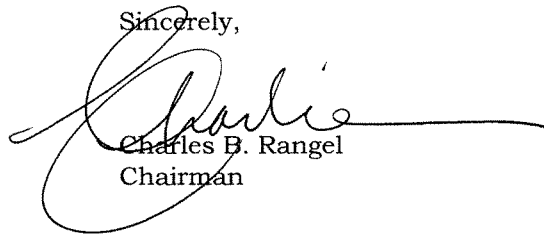

As you know, a provision within section 144 of H.R. 1427 would provide an exemption for a limited-life enterprise from Federal taxes, an authority which falls within the jurisdiction of the Committee on Ways and Means. The Ways and Means Committee has jurisdiction over all matters concerning taxes and the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

In order to expedite this legislation for floor consideration, the Committee will forgo action on this bill, and will not oppose the inclusion of tax provisions within H.R. 1427. This is being done with the understanding that it does not in any way prejudice the Committee or its jurisdictional prerogatives on this or similar legislation in the future.

The Honorable Barney Frank

I would appreciate your response to this letter, confirming this understanding with respect to H.R. 1427, and would ask that a copy of our exchange of letters on this matter be included in the record.

Sincerely,

Dear Charlie:

Thank you for your letter concerning H.R. 1427, the "Federal Housing Finance Reform Act of 2007". This bill was ordered reported by the Committee on Financial Services last month. It is my expectation that this bill will be scheduled for floor consideration in the near future.

I acknowledge your committee's interest in a provision contained in section 144 of the bill which would provide an exemption for a limited-life enterprise from Federal taxes. Such matters concerning Federal taxation fall under the jurisdiction of the Committee on Ways and Means. However, I appreciate your willingness to forego action on H.R. 1427 in order to allow the bill to come to the floor expeditiously. I agree that your decision to forego further action on this bill will not prejudice the Committee on Ways and Means with respect to its jurisdictional prerogatives on this or similar legislation.

I will include this exchange of correspondence in the committee report and in Congressional Record when this bill is considered by the House. Thank you again for your assistance.

Sincerely,

 Barney Frank

SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS OF THE LEGISLATION

Section 1. Short title

This section establishes the short title of the bill, the “Federal Housing Finance Reform Act of 2007.”

Section 2. Definitions

This section defines various terms referred to in the bill, including “regulated entities,” which refer to Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac, and the Federal Home Loan Banks, and generally conforms existing definitions to reflect the provisions of this bill.

TITLE I—REFORM OF REGULATION OF ENTERPRISES AND FEDERAL HOME LOAN BANKS

Subtitle A—Improvement of Safety and Soundness

Section 101. Establishment of the Federal Housing Finance Agency

Creates an independent agency, the Federal Housing Finance Agency (FHFA or Agency) as an independent Agency of the Federal government, headed by a presidentially appointed Senate-confirmed Director, to oversee Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac and the Federal Home Loan Banks (collectively the “regulated entities”). This provision grants the FHFA general supervisory and regulatory authority over the regulated entities, including any joint office of the Federal Home Loan Banks, and requires the agency to ensure that the purposes of the Act, the authorizing statutes and other applicable laws are carried out. The Director has a term of 5 years and may be removed only for cause. The Director shall appoint three Deputy Directors: Deputy Director of the Division of Enterprise Regulation; Deputy Director of Federal Home Loan Bank Regulation; and Deputy Director for Housing.

Section 102. Duties and authorities of Director

The principal duties of the Director will be to oversee the operations of the regulated entities (and any joint office of the Federal Home Loan Banks) and ensure their safe and sound operation as well as oversee their respective housing or housing finance and community and economic development missions. Regarding their housing missions, the Director must ensure that “the operations and activities of each regulated entity foster liquid, efficient, competitive, and resilient national housing finance markets that minimize the cost of housing finance * * * .” This provision clarifies, consistent with existing authority, that the Director will establish prudential management and operations standards for each regulated entity comparable to standards established by the Federal bank regulatory agencies for depository institutions. This section provides an enforcement regime for the standards, which may require the regulated entity that fails to meet the prescribed standards to submit a corrective plan, restrict asset growth, or increase capital. The Director is authorized to testify before Congress without prior Administration review of the testimony and to review and, if warranted, reject any acquisition or transfer of a controlling interest in an enterprise. The Director also is granted independent litigating authority to enforce the government-sponsored enterprise provisions of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992, as amended, any regulation or order thereunder, or any other provision of law, rule, regulation, or order, or in any other action, suit, or proceeding to which the Director is a party or in which the Director is interested, and in the administration of conservatorships and receiverships. This general independent litigation authority is supplemented by section 164, which grants specific authorization to the Director to enforce notices and orders issued under the capital and enforcement provisions of the Federal Housing Enterprises Financial Safety and Soundness Act of 1992.

Section 103. Federal Housing Enterprise Board

A board, consisting of the Director, as chair, the Secretaries of Treasury and the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), and two additional appointed members, will advise the Director on strategies and policies in carrying out the duties of the Director. The additional directors are presidentially appointed Senate confirmed, have a term of 4 years, and can be removed only for cause. The board meets by notice of the Director, but at least every three months. The Board is prohibited from exercising any “executive authority.” The Board is required to testify before Congress and submit an annual report regarding safety and soundness, any material deficiencies, overall operational status, and performance in carrying out housing mission with respect to the regulated entities, as well as the operations, resources, workforce diversity, mission fulfillment and performance of the Agency.

Section 104. Authority to require reports by regulated entities

The Director may require the regulated entities to submit regular reports on condition, management, activities, or operations, and any special reports. Reports of fraudulent financial transactions must be submitted to the Director.

Section 105. Disclosure of income and charitable contributions by enterprises

The enterprises must submit annually to the Director a report on the total value of contributions made by the enterprise to non-profit organizations during its previous fiscal year. This report must also include specific information about the value and recipients of substantial contributions and about substantial contributions given to charities affiliated with enterprise insiders. The Director shall make the information submitted in the reports publicly available.

Each enterprise must prominently disclose in its annual report the amount of income reported by the enterprise to the Internal Revenue Service for the most recent taxable year.

Section 106. Assessments

Permits the Agency to obtain funding for winding up the affairs of the Office of Federal Housing Enterprise Oversight (OFHEO) and the Federal Housing Finance Board (Finance Board) and for reasonable costs and expenses on an annual basis through assessments on the regulated entities. The amounts received by the Director are not to be considered government funds or appropriated monies. It is expected that, in making annual assessments and disbursing funds for agency expenses, the Director will, to the extent possible, have assessments from Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac be used for supervision of those regulated entities and assessments from the Federal Home Loan Banks be used for supervision of those entities. Each regulated entity is to be assessed in accordance with its total assets. The Director is permitted to adjust assessments to pay additional estimated costs of regulating a regulated entity that is not adequately capitalized, or to ensure that a regulated entity bears the cost of enforcement activity it generates. Consistent with current practice at OFHEO and the Finance Board, assessments will be deposited with the U.S. Department of the Treasury, and the Director may request the Secretary of the Treasury to invest amounts of the collected assessments.

Assessments are not subject to apportionment, and, although the Director must submit financial operating plans, forecasts, and reports of agency financial condition to OMB, the latter has no approval authority with regard to the reports or other related jurisdiction over the agency.

The Government Accountability Office (GAO) must annually audit the financial transaction of the Agency and submit a report to Congress of each annual audit conducted. The Agency must reimburse GAO for the costs of any CPA firms the GAO hires in connection with such audits.

Section 107. Examiners and accountants

Grants the Agency special authority to hire examiners, accountants, economists, and experts in financial markets and information technology.

Section 108. Prohibition and withholding of executive compensation

Grants the Director, when making a determination of whether to prohibit the payment of compensation to any executive officer of the regulated entities, authority to take into account any factors the Director considers relevant, including “any wrongdoing on the part of the executive officer.” The Director is authorized to direct a regulated entity to withhold any payment, transfer, or disbursement of compensation to an executive officer or to place such compensation into escrow during review of the reasonableness and comparability of compensation. The approval of an agreement or contract does not preclude the Agency’s ability to make such a determination.

Section 109. Reviews of regulated entities

The Director may contract with any entity, including a nationally recognized statistical rating organization, that the Director considers appropriate to conduct a review of the regulated entities.

Section 110. Inclusion of minorities and women

Each regulated entity must have an Office of Minority and Women Inclusion responsible for matters relating to diversity in all aspects of the entity’s management, employment, and business activities in accordance with requirements established by the Director. Each regulated entity must develop and implement standards and procedures to ensure, to the maximum extent possible, the inclusion and utilization of minorities and women, and minority- and women-owned businesses at all levels of the entity and in all business and activities of the entity. Processes for evaluation of all contract proposals and for service provider hires of any kind must give consideration to the diversity of the applicants. Each regulated entity must disclose in its annual report detailed information about actions taken by the Office.

The Agency must take affirmative steps to seek diversity in all levels of its workforce consistent with the demographic diversity of the United States.

Section 111. Regulations and orders

The Director will issue any regulations, guidelines, and orders necessary to carry out the duties of the Director.

Section 112. Non-waiver of privileges

The submission by any person of any information to the Agency for any purpose in the course of any supervisory or regulatory process of the Agency shall not be construed as waiving, destroying, or otherwise affecting any privilege such person may claim with respect to such information under Federal or State law as to any person or entity other than the Agency. This provision may not be construed to imply or establish that any person waives any privilege applicable to information that is submitted or transferred under any circumstance to which the provision does not apply, or that any person would waive any privilege applicable to any information by submitting the information to the Agency, but for the provision.

Section 113. Risk-based capital requirements

The Agency is authorized to establish risk-based capital requirements for the regulated entities to ensure they operate in a safe and sound manner with sufficient permanent capital to support risk-taking. This section removes the current limitations on the form and content of risk-based capital rules included in the existing statute in order to provide the Agency with broad authority to adopt robust risk-based capital standards to ensure the safe and sound operation of the regulated entities. This section does not eliminate current risk-based capital regulations, which will remain in effect unless amended by the Director.

Section 114. Minimum and critical capital levels

This section authorizes the Director to raise the minimum capital requirements for the enterprises or federal home loan banks, or both, by regulation subject to notice and comment, from the current statutory levels to the extent such an increase is needed to ensure the regulated entities operate in a safe and sound manner, notwithstanding their capital classifications.

The section also provides the Director the authority to require a temporary increase in minimum capital for a regulated entity by order under certain circumstances related to the safety and soundness of the entity. A temporary increase in minimum capital may be required if the Director: (1) makes a determination for reclassification of capital category under the prompt corrective action provisions that an entity is engaging in conduct that could rapidly deplete its capital or significantly decrease the value of assets held, is engaged in an unsafe or unsound practice, or is in an unsafe and unsound condition; (2) determines that the regulated entity has violated any of the prudential standards and as a result of such violation determines that an unsafe or unsound condition exists; or (3) determines that an unsafe or unsound condition exists. A temporary increase in minimum capital ordered under this third provision, however, shall not remain in place for more than 6 months unless the Director makes a renewed determination of the existence of an unsafe and unsound condition.

Additionally, the Director may, at any time by order or regulation, establish such capital or reserve requirements with respect to any program or activity of a regulated entity that the Director considers appropriate to ensure that the regulated entity enterprise operates in a safe and sound manner with sufficient capital and reserves to support the risks that arise in the operations and management of the regulated entity.

This section provides for the periodic review of the capital of the regulated entities and any minimum capital level established under this section. If the Director determines that the circumstances justifying any temporary minimum capital increase made under this section are no longer present, the Director must rescind the temporary increase. The Director cannot lower minimum capital levels below current statutory levels.

Not later than 180 days after the effective date, the Director will establish by regulation critical capital levels for the Federal Home Loan Banks. In establishing critical capital levels for the Federal Home Loan Banks, the Director will take due consideration of the critical capital level established for the enterprises, with such modifications as the Director determines to be appropriate to reflect the difference in operations between the Federal Home Loan Banks and the enterprises.

Section 115. Review of and authority over enterprise assets and liabilities

Section 115 provides the regulator with authority to establish standards for the safe and sound and mission-compliant operation of the enterprises' portfolios. Not later than 180 days after the effective date, the Director must establish standards, after a notice and comment rule making process, by which the portfolio holdings, or rate of growth of the portfolio holdings, of the enterprises will be deemed to be consistent with the mission and the safe and sound operations of the enterprises. The Committee intends that the standards established under this section be designed to support the safe and sound operation of the enterprises, as well as their compliance with their charters and the fulfillment of their missions to provide liquidity and stability to the secondary markets for home mortgages. The standards required under this section are not intended to address potential risks to the financial system that are unrelated to specific considerations of the safe and sound operation of the enterprises' portfolios, nor are they intended to limit the enterprises' portfolios predominantly to assets acquired for the purposes of meeting the enterprises' affordable housing goals.

In developing the standards, the Director must consider a list of factors related to both the safety and soundness of the enterprises and the roles they play in the secondary mortgages markets. The Director is required to consider: (1) the size or growth of the mortgage market; (2) the need for the portfolio in maintaining liquidity or stability of the secondary mortgage market; (3) the need for an inventory of mortgages in connection with securitizations; (4) the need for the portfolio to directly support the affordable housing mission of the enterprises; (5) the liquidity needs of the enterprises; (6) any potential risks posed by the nature of the portfolio holdings; and (7) any additional factors the Director determines to be necessary to carry out the purposes of this section to assess mission-compliance and safety and soundness of the operation of the enterprises. The purpose of the standards-setting required in this section is to provide standards for the safe and sound and mission-compliant operation of the portfolios and the factors therefore are limited to the safety and soundness and mission of the enterprises themselves, not other market participants.

While this section requires the establishment of standards for operation and growth of the portfolios, the Director is provided authority, by order, to make temporary adjustments to the portfolio standards, such as during times of economic distress or market disruption. Such authority could be used by the Director to ensure that the enterprises are able to provide adequate liquidity to the market as needed without violating the standards.

The section requires that the Director monitor the portfolios of the enterprises. Pursuant to this review, and notwithstanding the capital classifications of the enterprises, the Director may by order and subject to such terms and conditions the Director determines to be appropriate, require an enterprise to dispose of or acquire any assets, if the Director determines that such action is consistent with the safety and soundness or mission of the enterprise.

Section 116. Corporate governance of enterprises

This section codifies a 2005 rule making by OFHEO for improvements in corporate governance, regarding boards of directors, compensation, codes of conduct and ethics, conduct and responsibilities of boards of directors, audits, extensions of credit to board members and executive officers, compliance program requirements, change of audit partners, risk management, CEO and CFO certification of disclosure, and other matters.

Section 117. Required registration under Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

Each regulated entity shall be required to register at least one class of the entity's capital stock with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC).

Section 118. Liaison with Financial Institutions Examination Council

The Agency is to participate on the Federal Financial Institutions Examination Council (FFIEC) in a liaison capacity. The FFIEC prescribes uniform standards for examination of financial institutions, with federal financial regulators as members.

Section 119. Guarantee fee study

The Agency, in consultation with the federal bank regulatory agencies and HUD, will, within 18 months of enactment, submit to Congress a study concerning the pricing, transparency, and reporting of Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac, and the Federal Home Loan

Banks regarding guarantee fees and the practices of other participants in the business of mortgage purchases and securitization.

Section 120. Conforming amendments

This section makes changes that are necessary to conform existing law with new provisions in H.R. 1427, such as eliminating references to the “Office of Federal Housing Enterprise Oversight” and replacing them with the “Federal Housing Finance Agency,” striking sections made unnecessary by earlier parts of the bill, and striking outdated provisions pertaining to the issuance of regulations.

Subtitle B—Improvement of Mission Supervision

Section 131. Transfer of product approval and housing goal oversight

This section amends and transfers authority to oversee the mission requirements of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac from HUD to the Agency.

Section 132. Review of enterprise products

This section strikes the “program” approval provisions of current law and replaces it with provisions under which the Director shall require each enterprise to submit a written request for and obtain the approval of the Director for a new product before the enterprise may initially offer the product. An enterprise may not offer any new product prior to obtaining approval of the Director, following public notice and 30-day comment period. The Director may approve, or conditionally approve, a new product if the Director determines that: (1) the product is authorized under the enterprise’s chartering act; (2) the product is in the public interest; (3) the product is consistent with the safety and soundness of the enterprise and the mortgage finance system; and (4) the product does not materially impair the efficiency of the mortgage finance system.

Immediately upon receipt of a request for approval of a product, the Director is required to publish notice of the request and of the 30-day period for public comment. Not later than 30 days after the close of the public comment period, the Director must approve or deny the product and specify the grounds for the decision in writing. If the Director does not act within the 30-day period to approve or deny a product, the enterprise may offer the product.

This section provides for expedited review of any new activity, service, undertaking or offering that an enterprise determines is not a product. Immediately upon receipt of a notice from an enterprise that a new activity, service, undertaking or offering is not a product, the Director must determine if the activity, service, undertaking or offering consists of, relates to, or involves a product. If the Director determines that any new activity, service, undertaking, or offering consists of, relates to, or involves a product, the Director shall notify the enterprise of that determination, and the new activity, service, undertaking or offering shall be considered a product subject to the established approval process for new products.

The Director may conditionally approve the offering of any product and may establish terms, conditions, or limitations with respect to the product and with which the enterprise must comply.

The product review process does not apply to certain fundamental aspects of enterprise operation. The definition of the term “product” explicitly excludes the automated underwriting system of an enterprise in existence on the date of enactment, including any upgrade to the technology, operating system, or software to operate the system. The term “product” also does not include modifications to mortgage terms and conditions or mortgage underwriting criteria relating to the mortgages that are purchased or guaranteed by an enterprise, provided that such modifications do not alter the underlying transaction to include services or financing, other than residential mortgage financing, or create significant new exposure to risk for the enterprise or the holder of the mortgage.

This section does not define specifically the term “product” other than by exclusion, due to the difficulty of adequately delineating the scope of offerings that the Director may determine are authorized under the enterprises’ charters and meet the other criteria set forth for approval. In determining what offerings or changes to existing offerings rise to the level of a new product that should be subject to notice and approval, this section therefore provides the Director adequate flexibility to implement this provision in a manner that addresses both the need to provide notice to market participants of new products and the need for the enterprises to respond in a timely manner to market demands. The Committee expects that the Agency will establish procedures, similar to those developed by the federal bank regulatory agencies, to provide for a timely and efficient process that will minimize unnecessary burden on the enterprises and originating institutions while assuring prompt and appropriate public notice. As with the banking agencies, the Committee expects that the Agency will establish procedures that provide for appropriate treatment of proprietary business information.

The provision does not apply to existing products or activities that were commenced or offered prior to the enactment of this legislation, but does not limit the authority of the Agency to review products and activities for safety and soundness and compliance with the enterprises’ respective charters.

Section 133. Conforming loan limits

This section updates statutory language from 1981 that set conforming loan limits for Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, and provided for adjustments upward through an index/housing survey. While the conforming loan limit has been raised every year since 1981, this section inserts 2007 conforming loan limits that were set by the current regulator at $417,000 for a one-unit single family residence; $533,850 for a two-unit family residence; $645,300 for a three-unit family residence and $801,950 for a four-unit family residence. Allows for these limits to be adjusted annually, starting on January 1 after the effective date of this legislation, to reflect increases and, for the first time, decreases in housing prices, and a new method for establishing annual adjustments authorized in this section.

This section authorizes Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac to further increase loan limits above the conforming loan limits in areas in which the median home prices are greater than the conforming loan limits. The enterprises may adjust loan limits in any such area up to the lesser of 150 percent of the conforming loan limit or the area median home price. This increase applies only to mortgages on which are based securities issued and sold by an enterprise. This provision is different from current law, which provides similar loan limit adjustments for Alaska, Hawaii, Guam and the Virgin Islands set at 150 percent of the conforming loan limit, without any relationship to median home prices.

The Director must establish a Housing Price Index, which would be subject to a GAO audit on the methodology and timing of the index followed by a report to Congress. The Director will conduct a study, within six months of the effective date, of whether the securitization requirement raises the cost of high-cost area loans, and may terminate the requirement if it is found to raise costs to borrowers.

Section 134. Annual housing report regarding regulated entities

The Director must submit an annual report to Congress after reviewing the Affordable Housing Activities Reports (AHARs) submitted by Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac and certain reports on the Federal Home Loan Banks in supporting low income housing and community development.

The Director's report will examine the affordable housing goals and how each enterprise is complying with those goals and the housing fund provisions, the progress of the Federal Home Loan Banks in their Affordable Housing Program (AHP) and Community Investment Program (CIP), and whether the regulated entities are achieving their respective missions. The bill requires detailed reporting by the Agency on housing and affordable housing issues and requires a detailed monthly survey of mortgage markets to assist the Agency in this report and in the establishment of the housing price index methodology to determine loan limits. Data collected for the monthly survey must be made public, but the Agency may modify the data in order to not reveal a borrower's identity.

This provision also requires the Agency, by regulation, to establish standards by which mortgages purchased and/or securitized by the enterprises shall be characterized as subprime loans. These standards are solely to provide data for purposes of the Agency report to identify the extent to which each enterprise is engaged in purchasing or other secondary market activities involving subprime loans. In its reports, the Agency also must identify the extent to which each enterprise is purchasing and securitizing subprime loans, and compare the characteristics of subprime loans purchased and securitized by the enterprises with other loans.

Section 135. Annual reports by regulated entities on affordable housing stock

The regulated entities shall, pursuant to regulatory requirements established by the Director, conduct or provide for the conduct of an annual study to determine the levels and changes in levels of affordable housing inventory for the United States, each State, and each community in each State. Affordable housing inventory shall include affordable rental dwelling units and affordable homeownership dwelling units.

Section 136. Revision of housing goals

The Director is required to establish for the enterprises three single family housing goals and a multifamily special affordable housing goal. The bill adds a refinance subgoal to the single family goals, and a subgoal for single family rental housing units. In implementing these goals, the Director and the enterprises are required to address evidence of any disparities in interest rates between minorities and non-minorities of similar creditworthiness. The bill strengthens enforcement authority in the event that enterprises do not meet their housing goals. Compliance with the single-family goals for each year will be measured by whether the annual numerical targets established by the Director are met or exceeded.

Specifically, the bill replaces the three existing housing goals with three single family housing goals that measure the percentage of single family, owner-occupied purchase money mortgages for the following: (1) "low-income" families (families with incomes of 80 percent or less of area median income (AMI)); (2) "very low-income" families (families with incomes of 50 percent or less of AMI) and (3) families that reside in low-income areas (census tracts with median incomes of 80 percent or less of AMI and families with incomes less than 100 percent of AMI who reside in minority tracts). Separate statutory subgoals are established for refinancings, and for single family rental housing units. The Director will set the annual single family housing goal targets (both owner-occupied and rental) prospectively, using the prior three year average of market HMDA data as a baseline, and may increase the targets adjust to reflect expected changes in market performance based on factors similar to those in current law regarding goal establishment, including the ability of the enterprise to lead the industry in each goal area in making mortgage credit available. This provision should provide the Director flexibility to continue the practice of considering the enterprises' penetration into the subprime and other markets.

The Director continues to have discretion to set goals for a multi-year period. Setting multi-year goals allows the enterprises time to plan and incorporate goal-qualifying activities into their longer-term business strategies.

The newly created Multifamily Special Affordable Housing Goal measures mortgages that finance dwelling units for low-income families (families with incomes of 80 percent or less of AMI), very-low income families (families with incomes of 50 percent or less of AMI), and mortgages that finance dwelling units assisted by the low-income housing tax credit. The bill contains additional requirements to increase the purchase of small multifamily mortgages. The Director will give credit towards the Multifamily Special Affordable Housing Goal to dwelling units in multifamily housing that is financed by taxexempt or taxable bonds issued by a State or local housing finance agency if the bonds are secured by a guarantee of an enterprise or if the bonds are not investment grade and are purchased by an enterprise.

An enterprise may petition the Director, in writing, for a reduction in the housing goals. The Director may reduce the goal level only if market and economic conditions or the financial condition of the enterprise require such action, or if efforts to meet the goal would result in liquidity constraints, over-investment in certain market segments, or other consequences contrary to the enterprise's purpose. A denial from the Director to reduce the level of the goal may be appealed in the courts.

The Director shall assign added credit toward achievement of the housing goals for mortgage purchase activities of an enterprise that supports housing that includes a licensed childcare center, or that supports housing that meets energy efficiency or other Federal, State or local environmental standards for the geographic area where the housing is located. The availability of additional credit shall not be used to increase any housing goal, subgoal or target.

Section 137. Duty to serve underserved markets

This section adds a duty for each enterprise to serve underserved markets that lack adequate credit through conventional lending sources by increasing the liquidity of mortgage investments and improving the distribution of investment capital available for mortgage financing for underserved markets. This section instructs the enterprises to undertake activities relating to mortgages on housing for very low (50 percent and less of AMI), low (80 percent and less of AMI) and moderate (100 percent and less of AMI) income families.

The Enterprises are required to lead the industry in developing loan products and flexible underwriting guidelines to facilitate a secondary market in three specified markets—manufactured housing, affordable housing preservation (including through current government programs), and rural housing—and the Director may establish other underserved markets. However, it is not intended that the Director would create percent-of-business or other numeric goals under this section.

Within six months of the effective date, the Director must establish a manner for evaluating compliance of the enterprises under each of the three categories of the duty to serve provisions. When evaluating compliance, the Director will take into consideration: (1) the development of loan products and more flexible underwriting guidelines; (2) the extent of outreach to qualified loan sellers in underserved markets; and (3) the volume of loans purchased in such underserved markets.

The Director must report to Congress annually on this evaluation and the duty-to-serve provisions are enforceable under the same provisions as the housing subgoals.

Section 138. Monitoring and enforcing compliance with housing goals

The Director is authorized to take a number of steps to enforce compliance, including cease-and-desist orders, prohibition on enterprise offerings of products or engaging in any new activities, services, undertakings and offerings pending achievement of the goals, and civil money penalties not to exceed $50,000 per day, if the enterprise has failed to meet a housing goal, has failed to submit a housing plan if required, submits an unacceptable plan, fails to comply with the plan, or violates any other rule, regulation, or order relative to the housing goals.

Section 139. Affordable housing fund

This section creates an “Affordable Housing Fund,” to be managed by the Director. Funds are derived through contributions to be made by Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac each year from 2007 through 2012, with the fund sunseting after this five year period. Contributions are to be made in amounts equal to 1.2 basis points on each enterprise’s average total outstanding mortgages (including both those held in portfolio and those securitized) from the prior calendar year. Seventy-five percent of these funds are used for affordable housing fund purposes, and twenty-five percent are allocated to the federal government, to keep the bill deficit neutral. The Director can temporarily suspend allocations by an enterprise upon a finding that the allocation would contribute to the financial instability of the enterprise, would cause the enterprise to be undercapitalized or would prevent the enterprise from successfully completing a capital restoration plan.

Seventy-five percent of the affordable housing funds available in the first year will go to Louisiana and twenty-five percent of such funds will go to Mississippi for affordable housing needs arising out of Hurricanes Katrina and Rita. Thereafter, funds are allocated by formula to the states (including also D.C., federal territories, and federally recognized tribes). This formula is to be developed by HUD, and is to be based on a number of factors, including population, housing affordability, percentage of very and extremely low income families, cost of rehab, and extent of substandard and aging housing. If HUD fails to establish this formula on time, funds are distributed to states based on HOME allocations to states and Participating Jurisdictions.

One-hundred percent of funds must be used for the benefit of very low and extremely low income families. Funds may be used for both rental housing and homeownership, with at least ten percent of funds used by each state for home ownership. Families receiving homeownership assistance must have completed prepurchase counseling prior to buying the home. Funds also may be used for public infrastructure activities in conjunction with housing, but no more than 12.5 percent of funds in any state may be used for this purpose.

Affordable housing grants are to be made to eligible recipients, which can be any “organization, agency, or other entity (including a for-profit entity, a nonprofit entity, and a faith-based organization)” that has demonstrated experience and capacity to conduct an eligible activity, demonstrates the ability and financial capacity to undertake, comply, and manage the eligible activity, and demonstrates its familiarity with the requirements of any other Federal, State, or local housing program that will be used in conjunction with such grant amounts. Grantee funds may only be used for affordable housing uses, and not for administrative costs, except that by regulation the Director can limit the amount of any grant amounts a state, (or D.C. a territory or tribe) may use for administrative costs of carrying out the program to a percentage of such grant amounts, which may not exceed 10 percent of grant funds used.

Each state allocates funds under its own Allocation Plan, to be based on priority housing needs in each state, and on criteria that include greatest impact, geographic diversity, ability to obligate funds in a timely manner, and the extent to which rental housing projects are affordable, especially for extremely low income families. Funds are redistributed from any state that does not obligate funds within 2 years.

This section includes a number of provisions to ensure that the funds are used for housing and are not misused or used for other purposes. The Director is required to adopt regulations to set forth prohibited uses of Fund grant amounts, such as administrative, outreach or other costs of the grantee (other than administrative costs of carrying out the Fund program) or any grant recipient, and political activities, advocacy, lobbying, counseling, travel expense, or preparation or advice on tax returns. Grantees are required to submit annually a report to the Director to describe the activities funded during that year and the grantee's compliance with the allocation plan. These reports will be made publicly available. Other provisions to ensure appropriate use of Fund grant amounts include: (1) a requirement by the Director to establish program regulations; (2) authority for the Director to audit each state's compliance; (3) a requirement that each state develop systems to ensure program compliance and required annual state fund use reports; and (4) authority for the Director to impose penalties on states that do not comply with requirements, including requiring states and grantees to reimburse misused funds.

H.R. 1427 authorizes affordable housing funds allocated under the bill to be transferred at a later date to a national affordable housing trust fund that may be subsequently enacted into law. Although the establishment of an affordable housing fund with monies allocated from the GSEs will play a significant role in providing affordable housing, a national shortage of affordable housing will still exist. A trust fund would serve as a dedicated source of revenue for the production of new housing and the preservation and rehabilitation of existing housing that is affordable for low income people.

The GAO is required to conduct a study and report to Congress within one year of enactment concerning the effect the AHF will have on availability and affordability of credit for homebuyers, and the extent to which the costs to the enterprises of funding the AHF will be passed on to homebuyers.

Section 140. Consistency with mission

This section clarifies that the changes made relating to housing goals, duty to serve, and the affordable housing fund should not be construed to authorize an enterprise to engage in any program or activity that contravenes or is inconsistent with the charter acts of the enterprises.

Section 141. Enforcement

This section expands the enforcement authority currently provided the HUD Secretary with respect to enforcement of the enterprises' housing goals. The expanded authority allows the Director to issue and serve a notice of charges and to impose cease and desist orders and civil money penalties on an enterprise, if the Director determines that the enterprise has: (1) failed to meet a housing goal; (2) failed to submit certain required reports; (3) failed to submit mortgage data and other information and reports required under the chartering acts of the enterprises; (4) failed to submit an acceptable housing plan, if required; or (5) failed to comply with a housing plan or any other order, rule, or regulation under the applicable sections of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992, as amended by this bill.

The amount of civil money penalties that may be imposed may not exceed $50,000 for each day a failure to meet a housing goal, submit or comply with a required housing plan occurs; and $20,000 per day for failure to submit required reports or information or failure to comply with any order, rule or regulation for each day a failure occurs.

The Director may directly seek enforcement in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia or the United States District Court within the jurisdiction of which the headquarters of the enterprise is located; or may request the Department of Justice to bring the action.

Section 142. Conforming amendments

Makes changes that are necessary to conform existing law with new provisions in H.R. 1427, such as eliminating references to the “Secretary of HUD” and replacing them with the “Director,” striking sections made unnecessary by earlier parts of the bill, and striking outdated provisions pertaining to the issuance of regulations.

Subtitle C—Prompt Corrective Action

Section 151. Capital classifications

This section establishes capital classifications for the Federal Home Loan Banks as well as for Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac. The regulated entities can be classified as: adequately capitalized, undercapitalized, significantly undercapitalized, and critically undercapitalized. The Director may reclassify a regulated entity at any time, if: (1) the Director determines in writing that a regulated entity is engaging in conduct that could result in a rapid depletion of core or total capital or, in the case of an enterprise, the value of the property securitized has decreased significantly; (2) after notice and hearing, the Director determines that the entity is in an unsafe or unsound condition; or (3) if the entity is engaging in an unsafe or unsound practice, as deemed by the Director under section 1371(b).

A regulated entity will make no capital distribution if, after making the distribution, the entity would be undercapitalized.

Section 152. Supervisory actions applicable to undercapitalized regulated entities

If a regulated entity is classified as undercapitalized, the Director must “closely monitor” the condition of the regulated entity and review and monitor the entity’s compliance with a capital restoration plan. Additionally, the Director will have the authority to restrict the asset growth of an undercapitalized entity. Undercapitalized entities may not acquire any interest in any entity, offer any new product or engage in any new activity, service, undertaking or offering without prior approval from the Director. If the Director determines it is necessary, the Director also may use authority and take actions applicable to significantly undercapitalized enterprises.

Section 153. Supervisory actions applicable to significantly undercapitalized regulated entities

This section makes existing discretionary actions mandatory for significantly undercapitalized entities. The Director must take one or more supervisory actions to improve the management of the entity, including ordering a new election for the board of directors, dismissal of directors or executive officers, or requiring the entity to employ qualified management. Additionally, a significantly undercapitalized regulated entity cannot, without prior written approval by the Director, pay any bonus to any executive officer or provide compensation to any executive officer that exceeds that officer's average rate of compensation from the preceding calendar year.

Section 154. Authority over critically undercapitalized regulated entities

The Director may establish a conservatorship or receivership over a critically undercapitalized entity for the purpose of reorganizing, rehabilitating, or winding up the affairs of a regulated entity. The grounds for appointing a conservator or receiver include: assets are insufficient to cover obligations; there is a substantial dissipation of assets due to violations of law or unsafe or unsound practices; an unsafe or unsound condition to transact business; willful violations of cease-and-desist orders; concealment of books, papers, records or assets; the inability to meet obligations; losses that will deplete all of the entity's capital; any violation of law likely to cause insolvency or substantial dissipation of assets or earnings; consent by resolution of a regulated entity's board of directors; undercapitalization with no reasonable prospect of becoming adequately capitalized or failure to submit or implement a capital restoration plan; critical undercapitalization; or a determination that an entity is guilty of money laundering.

The Director must appoint the Agency as receiver for a regulated entity if the Director determines in writing that the assets of the regulated entity are and have been for the past month less than its obligations, or that the regulated entity is not and has not been for the past month generally paying its debts as those debts become due. Receivership and conservatorship appointments may be challenged in federal court.

The Agency, as conservator or receiver, may issue regulations as appropriate for the conduct of the conservatorship or receivership. The Agency succeeds to all the rights, titles, powers, and privileges of the regulated entity and of any stockholder, officer, or director of such regulated entity, and title to the books, records, and assets of any other legal custodian of such regulated entity. The Agency shall take over all assets and obligations of the regulated entity, perform all functions of the regulated entity, and preserve and conserve the assets and property of the regulated entity.

The Agency, as conservator, may take such action as may be necessary to put the regulated entity into a sound and solvent condition, and to carry out the business of the entity. As receiver, the Agency may place a regulated entity into liquidation having due regard for the housing finance market and may organize a successor entity.

The Agency, as conservator or receiver, may transfer any asset or liability of the regulated entity in default without any approval, assignment or consent. Any Federal Home Loan Bank may acquire the assets of any Bank in conservatorship or receivership with the approval of the Agency. The Agency, as conservator or receiver, shall pay all valid obligations of the regulated entity, to the extent proceeds of operations or sales are available. The Agency shall have the authority to issue subpoenas for the purposes of carrying out its authorities, and may contract for services relating to the carrying out of its functions, actions, activities, or duties. The Agency also is granted any incidental authorities it may need to carry out its powers as conservator or receiver.

The Agency, as receiver, must promptly publish and mail notice to the creditors of the regulated entities to present their claims to the receiver. The receiver may allow or disallow claims by creditors according to the provisions set forth in this section. The right of a conservator or receiver shall be subject to the limitations on the powers of a receiver under section 402 through 407 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation Improvement Act of 1991 concerning financial system risk.

Mortgages, or interests in pools of mortgages, held in trust, custodial, or agency capacity by a regulated entity shall not be available to satisfy the claims of creditors generally. Such mortgages or interest in a pool of mortgages shall be held by the conservator or receiver for the beneficial owners of such mortgages in accordance with the terms of the agreement creating such trust, custodial, or agency agreement. This provision is intended to protect the interests of holders of mortgage-backed securities by ensuring that the assets backing such securities do not become entangled in the insolvency estate of a regulated entity.

The Agency as conservator or receiver may disaffirm or repudiate any contract or lease to which the regulated entity is a party the performance of which the conservator or receiver determines to be burdensome and the repudiation of which will promote the orderly administration of the affairs of the regulated entity. Specific provisions are established for the treatment of qualified financial contracts, which include securities or commodity contracts, forward contracts, repurchase agreements, swap agreements and master agreements. No provisions of this subsection applies to extensions of credit from any Federal Home Loan Bank or Federal Reserve Bank to any regulated entity, or to any securities interest in the assets of the regulated entity securing such extension of credit.

The Agency may organize a limited-life regulated entity (LLRE) if a regulated entity is in default or it is in danger of default. The Director shall grant a temporary charter to the LLRE and the LLRE shall assume the liabilities of the regulated entity, purchase the assets of the regulated entity, and perform any other temporary functions which the Agency may prescribe. The Agency will not have the authority to revoke the charter of a regulated entity.

Section 155. Conforming amendments

This section makes changes that are necessary to conform existing law to the new provisions included in H.R. 1427.

Subtitle D—Enforcement Actions

Section 161. Cease-and-desist proceedings

If a regulated entity or regulated entity affiliated party is engaged in, has engaged in, or is about to engage in, an unsafe or unsound practice or is violating, has violated, or is about to violate a law, rule, regulation or condition imposed in writing by the Director in connection with an application or request, the Director may issue and serve a notice of charges on the regulated entity or regulated entity-affiliated party with respect to these actions. The Director may deem an entity to be engaged in unsafe and unsound practices if the entity receives a less than satisfactory rating for asset quality, management, earnings, or liquidity in its most recent report of examination.

Section 162. Temporary cease-and-desist proceedings

Whenever the Director determines that the violation or threatened violation or unsafe or unsound practice specified in the notice of charges is likely to cause insolvency or a significant dissipation of assets or earnings or is likely to weaken the condition of the regulated entity prior to completion of the proceedings for issuance of a permanent cease-and-desist order, the Director may issue a temporary cease-and-desist order requiring the regulated entity to discontinue such violation or practice and to take affirmative action to prevent or remedy such condition. The Agency may enforce these orders through its independent litigation authority.

Section 163. Prejudgment attachment

In any action brought pursuant to this title, or to enforce an order for money damages, restitution, or civil money penalties, the Director or the Attorney General may seek prohibitions against the withdrawal, transfer, removal, dissipation of any funds, assets, or other property.

Section 164. Enforcement and jurisdiction

The Director is granted independent litigation authority to enforce notices and orders issued under the capital and enforcement provisions of the Federal Housing Enterprises Financial Safety and Soundness Act of 1992. This is in addition to the general authority granted under section 102 to enforce the government-sponsored enterprise provisions of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992, as amended, any regulation or order thereunder, or any other provision of law, rule, regulation, or order, or in any other action, suit, or proceeding to which the Director is a party or in which the Director is interested, and in the administration of conservatorships and receiverships.

Section 165. Civil money penalties

This section establishes three tiers of civil monetary penalties that can be imposed on regulated entities or regulated entity-affiliated parties for violations of this title, the authorizing statutes, or any order, condition, rule, regulation, or the engaging in unsafe or unsound practices.

Under the first tier, violations of this title, the authorizing statutes, or any order, condition, rule, regulation, or the engaging in unsafe or unsound practices shall result in civil money penalties of not more than $10,000 for each day the violation continues.

Under the second tier, if a regulated entity or regulated entity-affiliated party commits any violation described above, recklessly engages in an unsafe or unsound practice, or breaches any fiduciary duty and these actions are part of a pattern of misconduct, will result more than a minimal loss, or result in pecuniary gain or benefit, the party shall forfeit and pay a civil penalty of not more than $50,000 for each day the violation continues.

Under the third tier, if a regulated entity or regulated entity-affiliated party knowingly commits any violation described above, engages in unsafe or unsound practices, or breaches any fiduciary duty, and knowingly or recklessly causes a substantial loss to the regulated entity or a substantial pecuniary gain or benefit to such party, the party shall forfeit and pay a civil penalty not to exceed the maximum amount permitted for each day the violation continues. The maximum daily amount for any civil money penalty that can be assessed is not to exceed $2 million for any individual and for any regulated entity.

Section 166. Removal and prohibition authority

If the Director determines that a regulated entity-affiliated party, directly or indirectly, violated any law, regulation, final cease-and-desist order, written condition or written agreement or engaged in any unsafe or unsound practice, or breach of fiduciary duty and, by reason of the violation, practice or breach, the regulated entity has suffered or will probably suffer financial loss or other damage, or the enterprise-affiliated party received a financial gain or other benefit, and the violation involves personal dishonesty or willful or continuing disregard for the safety and soundness of the entity. Under those circumstances, the Director may by written order and after notice and opportunity for hearing, suspend any regulated entity-affiliated party from office, prohibit such party from further participation in the affairs of the regulated entity, or prohibit the payment of compensation to the party if the Director determines that such action is necessary for protection of the regulated entity and serves such party with written notice of the suspension or prohibition.

Additionally, the Director may suspend or remove any regulated entity-affiliated party who is indicted or convicted of a felony involving dishonesty or breach of trust where continued service poses a threat to the regulated entity or impairs public confidence therein.

A party that is suspended and/or prohibited from participation in the affairs of a regulated entity under this section may apply to the courts for a stay of such suspension.

Section 167. Criminal penalty

This section provides that a person, who is subject to a removal or prohibition order and who knowingly participated directly or indirectly in the conduct of the affairs of any regulated entity, shall be fined not more than $1,000,000, imprisoned for not more than 5 years, or both.

Section 168. Subpoena authority

The Agency is granted the power to issue and enforce subpoenas.

Section 169. Conforming amendments

This section includes various conforming amendments.

Subtitle E—General Provisions

Section 181. Boards of enterprises

The boards of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac shall consist of 13 persons elected by the shareholders, or such other number that the Director determines.

Section 182. Report on portfolio operations, safety and soundness, and mission of enterprises

Within a year, the Agency must submit a report to Congress on: the portfolio holdings of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac; a description of risk implications for the enterprises of such holdings and the consequent risk management undertaken by the enterprises (including the use of derivatives for hedging purposes) compared with off-balance sheet obligations of the enterprises; analyses of portfolio holdings for safety and soundness, mission fulfillment, and potential systemic risk implications for the enterprises, the housing and capital markets and the financial system of portfolio holdings (including whether such holdings should be limited or reduced over time).

Section 183. Conforming and technical amendments

Makes changes necessary to conform existing law with new provisions included in H.R. 1427, such as setting the pay scale for the Director and Deputy Directors, striking sections made unnecessary by other parts of the bill, and establishing an Office of the Inspector General.

Section 184. Study of alternative secondary market systems

The Agency, in consultation with the Federal Reserve Board, the Department of the Treasury, and the Department of Housing and Urban Development, shall conduct a study of the effects on financial and housing finance markets of alternatives to the current secondary market system for housing finance. Issues specified in this section must be addressed in the study. The Agency will submit a report to Congress on the study within 24 months of the effective date.

TITLE II—FEDERAL HOME LOAN BANKS

Section 201. Definitions

New definitions are provided.

Section 202. Directors

The management of each Federal Home Loan Bank is vested in a board of 13 directors, or such other number as the Director determines appropriate, with terms of four years. All directors of a Bank who are not independent directors shall be elected by the members. Officers or directors of members of a Federal Home Loan Bank located in the district in which the Bank is located will have a majority of the board seats. This provision preserves the requirement in current law for the Agency to maintain the total number of elected directors representing members in any state at a number at least equal to the total number of elected directors representing that state as of December 31, 1960. This provision would not apply to directorships in any Federal Home Loan Bank resulting from the merger of one or more Banks. At least two-fifths of the directors will be independent members appointed by the Agency from a list recommended by the Federal Housing Enterprise Board, with at least 2 being public interest directors. In appointing independent members, the Agency may consult with each Federal Home Loan Bank about the knowledge, skills, and expertise needed on the Bank's board, and must take into consideration the demographic makeup of the community most served by the Affordable Housing Program of the Bank. Each Bank may pay directors for reasonable compensation and expenses, subject to the approval of the Director, which shall be reported to Congress in the Agency's annual report.

Section 203. Federal Housing Finance Agency oversight of Federal Home Loan Banks

The Federal Housing Finance Board is abolished and replaced by the Federal Housing Finance Agency.

The Director may enforce Federal Home Loan Bank compliance with the Affordable Housing Program and Community Investment Program requirements in the same manner and to the same extent as the Director may monitor and enforce the housing goals for the enterprises.

Section 204. Joint activities of Banks

Subject to regulation of the Director, any two or more Federal Home Loan Banks may establish a joint office for the purpose of performing functions for or providing services to the Banks on a common or collective basis, or may require the Office of Finance to perform those functions or services. This section is not intended to broaden the activities of the Banks, but to provide the Banks a means through which they can more efficiently conduct some of their business operations.

Section 205. Sharing of information between federal home loan banks

Not later than six months after the effective date, the Director shall prescribe rules to ensure that each Federal Home Loan Bank has access to information that the Bank needs to determine the nature and extent of its joint and several liability within the Bank System.

Section 206. Reorganization of banks and voluntary merger

Any two or more Federal Home Loan Banks may merge upon approval of their boards and of the Director of the Agency. The Director shall promulgate regulations establishing the conditions and procedures for the consideration and approval of any voluntary merger.

Section 207. Securities and Exchange Commission disclosure

This section exempts the Federal Home Loan Banks from compliance with some disclosure, reporting and other requirements under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the “’34 Act”), the Securities Act of 1933 (the “’33 Act”), and the Investment Company Act of 1940. In particular, shares of Federal Home Loan Bank stock are deemed exempted securities under the ’33 and ’34 Acts; Federal Home Loan Bank obligations are deemed “exempted securities” under the ’33 and ’34 Acts, “government securities” under the ’34 Act and the Investment Company Act of 1940, and are excluded from the definition of “government securities broker” and “government securities dealer” under the ’34 Act and the Investment Company Act of 1940.

In issuing any final regulations to implement these provisions, the Securities and Exchange Commission must consider the “distinctive characteristics” of the Federal Home Loan Banks when evaluating the accounting treatment of REFCORP, the role of the Federal Home Loan Banks’ combined financial statements, the accounting classification of redeemable capital stock, and the accounting treatment related to the joint and several liability for the Federal Home Loan Banks’ consolidated obligations.

Section 208. Community financial institution members

The threshold amount of total assets necessary for a Federal Home Loan Bank member to qualify as a community financial institution, and thus to become eligible to obtain long-term advances for small business, small farm, and small agribusiness funding purposes, and to use such loans as collateral for advances, is raised from $500 million to $1 billion. Community financial institutions may also use advances for community development lending and such loans as collateral for advances.

Section 209. Technical and conforming amendments

Makes changes necessary to conform existing law with new provisions included in H.R. 1427, such as eliminating references to the “Office of Federal Housing Enterprise Oversight” and the “Federal Housing Finance Board” and replacing them with the “Director of the Federal Housing Finance Agency.” Amends the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 by adding the Agency to the list of those federal agencies with which the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board may share information without loss of confidentiality.

Section 210. Study of affordable housing program use for long term care facilities

GAO is required to study the use of the Federal Home Loan Banks’ Affordable Housing Program to fund long-term care facilities for low- and moderate-income individuals and its applicability to the affordable housing funds of the enterprises. Not later than one year from the date of enactment, GAO will submit a report to the Director and to Congress regarding the results of the study.

Section 211. Effective date

Except as specifically provided, this title will be effective 6 months from the date of enactment.

[Subtitle B—Required Capital Levels for Enterprises and Special Enforcement Powers

[SEC. 1361. RISK-BASED CAPITAL LEVELS.

[(a) RISK-BASED CAPITAL TEST.—The Director shall, by regulation, establish a risk-based capital test under this section for the enterprises. When applied to an enterprise, the risk-based capital test shall determine the amount of total capital for the enterprise that is sufficient for the enterprise to maintain positive capital during a 10-year period in which the following circumstances occur (in this section referred to as the “stress period”):

[(1) CREDIT RISK.—With respect to mortgages owned or guaranteed by the enterprise and other obligations of the enterprise, losses occur throughout the United States at a rate of default and severity (based on any measurements of default reasonably related to prevailing practice for that industry in determining capital adequacy) reasonably related to the rate and severity that occurred in contiguous areas of the United States containing an aggregate of not less than 5 percent of the total population of the United States that, for a period of not less than 2 years, experienced the highest rates of default and severity of mortgage losses, in comparison with such rates of default and severity of mortgage losses in other such areas for any period of such duration.

[(2) INTEREST RATE RISK.—

[(A) IN GENERAL.—Interest rates decrease as described in subparagraph (B) or increase as described in subparagraph (C), whichever would require more capital for the enterprise.

[(B) DECREASES.—The 10-year constant maturity Treasury yield decreases during the first year of the stress period and will remain at the new level for the remainder of the stress period. The yield decreases to the lesser of—

[(i) 600 basis points below the average yield during the preceding 9 months, or

[(ii) 60 percent of the average yield during the preceding 3 years, but in no case to a yield less than 50 percent of the average yield during the preceding 9 months.

[(C) INCREASES.—The 10-year constant maturity Treasury yield increases during the first year of the stress period and will remain at the new level for the remainder of the stress period. The yield increases to the greater of—

[(i) 600 basis points above the average yield during the preceding 9 months, or

[(ii) 160 percent of the average yield during the preceding 3 years,

but in no case to a yield greater than 175 percent of the average yield during the preceding 9 months.

[(D) DIFFERENT TERMS TO MATURITY.—Yields of Treasury instruments with other terms to maturity will change relative to the 10-year constant maturity Treasury yield in patterns and for durations that are reasonably related to historical experience and are judged reasonable by the Director.

[(E) LARGE INCREASES IN YIELDS.—If the 10-year constant maturity Treasury yield is assumed to increase by more than 50 percent over the average yield during the preceding 9 months, the Director shall adjust the losses in paragraphs (1) and (3) to reflect a correspondingly higher rate of general price inflation.

[(3) NEW BUSINESS.—

[(A) IN GENERAL.—Any contractual commitments of the enterprise to purchase mortgages or issue securities will be fulfilled. The characteristics of resulting mortgage purchases, securities issued, and other financing will be consistent with the contractual terms of such commitments, recent experience, and the economic characteristics of the stress period. No other purchases of mortgages shall be assumed, except as provided in subparagraph (B).

[(B) ADDITIONAL NEW BUSINESS.—The Director may, after consideration of each of the studies required by subparagraph (C), assume that the enterprise conducts additional new business during the stress period consistent with the following—

[(i) AMOUNT AND PRODUCT TYPES.—The amount and types of mortgages purchased and their financing will be reasonably related to recent experience and the economic characteristics of the stress period.

[(ii) LOSSES.—Default and loss severity characteristics of mortgages purchased will be reasonably related to historical experience.

[(iii) PRICING.—Prices charged by the enterprise in purchasing new mortgages will be reasonably related to recent experience and the economic characteristics of the stress period. The Director may assume that a reasonable period of time would lapse before the enterprise would recognize and react to the characteristics of the stress period.

[(iv) INTEREST RATE RISK.—Interest rate risk on new mortgages purchased will occur to an extent reasonably related to historical experience.

[(v) RESERVES.—The enterprise must maintain reserves during and at the end of the stress period on new business conducted during the first 5 years of the stress period reasonably related to the expected future losses on such business, consistent with generally accepted accounting principles and industry accounting practice.

[(C) STUDIES.—Within 1 year after regulations are first issued under subsection (e), the Director of the Congressional Budget Office, and the Comptroller General of the United States shall each submit to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs of the Senate and the Committee on Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs of the House of Representatives a study of the advisability and appropriate form of any new business assumptions under subparagraph (B).

[(D) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The provisions of subparagraph (B) shall become effective 4 years after regulations are first issued under subsection (e).

[(4) OTHER ACTIVITIES.—Losses or gains on other activities, including interest rate and foreign exchange hedging activities, shall be determined by the Director, on the basis of available information, to be consistent with the stress period.

[(b) CONSIDERATIONS.—

[(1) IN GENERAL.—In establishing the risk-based capital test under subsection (a), the Director shall take into account appropriate distinctions among types of mortgage products, differences in seasoning of mortgages, and any other factors the Director considers appropriate.

[(2) CONSISTENCY.—Characteristics of the stress period other than those specifically set forth in subsection (a), such as prepayment experience and dividend policies, will be those determined by the Director, on the basis of available information, to be most consistent with the stress period.

[(c) RISK-BASED CAPITAL LEVEL.—For purposes of this subtitle, the risk-based capital level for an enterprise shall be equal to the sum of the following amounts:

[(1) CREDIT AND INTEREST RATE RISK.—The amount of total capital determined by applying the risk-based capital test under subsection (a) to the enterprise.

[(2) MANAGEMENT AND OPERATIONS RISK.—To provide for management and operations risk, 30 percent of the amount of total capital determined by applying the risk-based capital test under subsection (a) to the enterprise.

[(d) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this section:

[(1) SEASONING.—The term “seasoning” means the change over time in the ratio of the unpaid principal balance of a mortgage to the value of the property by which such mortgage loan is secured, determined on an annual basis by region, in accordance with the Constant Quality Home Price Index published by the Secretary of Commerce (or any index of similar quality, authority, and public availability that is regularly used by the Federal Government).

[(2) TYPE OF MORTGAGE PRODUCT.—The term “type of mortgage product” means a classification of one or more mortgage products, as established by the Director, which have similar characteristics from each set of characteristics under the following subparagraphs:

[(A) The property securing the mortgage is—

[(i) a residential property consisting of 1 to 4 dwelling units; or

[(ii) a residential property consisting of more than 4 dwelling units.

[(B) The interest rate on the mortgage is—

[(i) fixed; or public acquisition and may charge a reasonable fee for such copies.]

(b) CONFIDENTIALITY OF INFORMATION.—Any person that receives any book, record, or information from the Director or a regulated entity to enable the risk-based capital requirements established under this section to be applied shall—

* * * * *

(4) CLASSES OF STOCK.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The capital structure plan of a Federal home loan bank shall afford each member of that bank the option of maintaining its required investment in the bank through the purchase of any combination of classes of stock authorized by the board of directors of the bank and approved by the Finance Board the Director in accordance with its regulations.

(B) RIGHTS REQUIREMENT.—A Federal home loan bank shall include in its capital structure plan provisions establishing terms, rights, and preferences, including minimum investment, dividends, voting, and liquidation preferences of each class of stock issued by the bank, consistent with Finance Board regulations regulations of the Director and market requirements.

(B) at least one major credit rating agency, to determine, to the extent possible, whether implementation of the plan would have any material effect on the credit ratings of the bank.

(d) TERMINATION OF MEMBERSHIP.—

(1) VOLUNTARY WITHDRAWAL.—Any member may withdraw from a Federal home loan bank if the member provides written notice to the bank of its intent to do so and if, on the date of withdrawal, there is in effect a certification by the Finance Board the Director that the withdrawal will not cause the Federal Home Loan Bank System to fail to meet its obligation under section 21B(f)(2)(C) to contribute to the debt service for the obligations issued by the Resolution Funding Corporation. The applicable stock redemption notice periods shall commence upon receipt of the notice by the bank. Upon the expiration of the applicable notice period for each class of redeemable stock, the member may surrender such stock to the bank, and shall

At least 2 of the Federal Home Loan Bank directors who are appointed by the Board shall be representatives chosen from organizations with more than a 2-year history of representing consumer or community interests on banking services, credit needs, housing, or financial consumer protections. (a) NUMBER; ELECTION; QUALIFICATIONS; CONFLICTS OF INTEREST.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The management of each Federal Home Loan Bank shall be vested in a board of 13 directors, or such other number as the Director determines appropriate, each of whom shall be a citizen of the United States. All directors of a Bank who are not independent directors pursuant to paragraph (3) shall be elected by the members.

(2) MEMBER DIRECTORS.—A majority of the directors of each Bank shall be officers or directors of a member of such Bank that is located in the district in which such Bank is located.

(3) INDEPENDENT DIRECTORS.—At least two-fifths of the directors of each Bank shall be independent directors, who shall be appointed by the Director of the Federal Housing Finance Agency from a list of individuals recommended by the Federal Housing Enterprise Board, and shall meet the following criteria:

(A) IN GENERAL.—Each independent director shall be a bona fide resident of the district in which such Bank is located.

(B) PUBLIC INTEREST DIRECTORS.—At least 2 of the independent directors under this paragraph of each Bank shall be representatives chosen from organizations with more than a 2-year history of representing consumer or community interests on banking services, credit needs, housing, community development, economic development, or financial consumer protections.

(C) OTHER DIRECTORS.—

(i) QUALIFICATIONS.—Each independent director that is not a public interest director under subparagraph (B) shall have demonstrated knowledge of, or experience in, financial management, auditing and accounting, risk management practices, derivatives, project development, or organizational management, or such other knowledge or expertise as the Director may provide by regulation.

(ii) CONSULTATION WITH BANKS.—In appointing other directors to serve on the board of a Federal home loan bank, the Director of the Federal Housing Finance Agency may consult with each Federal home loan bank about the knowledge, skills, and expertise needed to assist the board in better fulfilling its responsibilities.

(D) CONFLICTS OF INTEREST.—Notwithstanding subsection (f)(2), an independent director under this paragraph of a Bank may not, during such director's term of office, serve as an officer of any Federal Home Loan Bank or as a director or officer of any member of a Bank.

(E) COMMUNITY DEMOGRAPHICS.—In appointing independent directors of a Bank pursuant to this paragraph, the Director shall take into consideration the demographic makeup of the community most served by the Affordable Housing Program of the Bank pursuant to section 10(j).

(b) Each [elective directorship] member directorship established pursuant to subsection (a)(2) shall be designated by [the Board] the Director as representing the members located in a particular State, and shall be filled by a person who is an officer or director of a member located in that State, each of which members shall be entitled to nominate an eligible person for such directorship, and such office shall be filled from such nominees by a plurality of the votes which such members may cast in an election held for the purpose of filling such office, in which election each such member may cast for such office a number of votes equal to the number of shares of stock in such bank required by this Act to be held by such member at the end of the calendar year next preceding the election, as determined pursuant to regulation of [the Board] the Director, but not in excess of the average number of shares of stock in such bank required by this Act to be held at the end of such calendar year by the respective members of such bank located in such State, as so determined. No person who is an officer or director of a member that fails to meet any applicable capital requirement is eligible to hold the office of Federal Home Loan Bank director. As used in this subsection and in subsection (c) of this section, the term "member" means a member of a Federal home loan bank which was a member of such bank at the end of such calendar year.

(c) The number of elective directorships designated as representing the members located in each separate State in a bank district shall be determined by [the Board] the Director in the approximate ratio of the percentage of the required stock, as determined pursuant to regulation of [the Board] the Director, of the members located in that State at the end of the calendar year next preceding the date of the election to the total required stock, as so determined, of all members of such bank at the end of such year, except that in the case of each State such number shall not be less than one and shall not be more than six. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, (A) except as provided in clause (B) of this sentence, if at any time the number of [elective] member directorships so designated as representing the members located in any State would not be at least equal to the total number of elective directorships which, on December 31, 1960, were filled by officers or directors of members whose principal places of business were located in such State, [the Board] the Director shall add to the board of directors of the bank of the district in which such State is located such number of [elective] member directorships, and shall so designate the directorship or directorships thus added, that the number of [elective] member directorships designated as representing the members located in such State will equal said total number. Any [elective] member directorship so added shall exist only until the expiration of its first term. [The Board] The Director shall, with respect to each member of a Federal home loan bank, designate the State in the district of such bank in which such member shall, for the purposes of this subsection and subsection (b) of this section, be deemed to be located, and may from time to time change any such designation, but if the principal place of business of any such member is located in a State of such district it shall be the duty of [the Board] the Director to designate such State as the State in which such member shall, for said purposes, be deemed to be located. As used in the second sentence of this subsection, the term “total number of elective directorships” means the total number of elective directorships on the board of directors of the bank of the district in which such State was located on December 31, 1960, and the term “members” where used for the second time in such sentence means members of such bank, and (B) clause (A) of this sentence shall not apply to the directorships of any Federal home loan bank resulting from the merger of any two or more such banks.

(d) The term of each director, whether elected or appointed, shall be [3 years] 4 years. The board of directors of each Federal home loan bank and [the Finance Board] the Director shall adjust the terms of members first elected or appointed after the date of the enactment of the [Federal Home Loan Bank System Modernization Act of 1999] Federal Housing Finance Reform Act of 2007 to ensure that the terms of the members of the board of directors are staggered with approximately [$\frac{1}{3}$] $\frac{1}{4}$ of the terms expiring each year. If any person, before or after, or partly before and partly after, the date of the enactment of this sentence, has been elected to each of three consecutive full terms as an [elective] director of a Federal home loan bank in any [elective] directorship or [elective] directorships and has served for all or part of each of said terms, such person shall not be eligible for election to an [elective] directorship of such bank for a term which begins earlier than two years after the expiration of the last expiring of said three terms. [The Board] The Director is hereby authorized to prescribe such rules and regulations as it may deem necessary or appropriate for the nomination and election of directors of Federal home loan banks, including, without limitation on the generality of the foregoing, rules and regulations with respect to the breaking of ties and with respect to the inclusion of more than one directorship on a single ballot and the methods of voting and of determining the results of voting in such cases.

(e) Each term, outstanding on the effective date of the amendment to this section abolishing the division of elective directors into classes, of an elective or appointive directorship then existing shall continue until its original date of expiration, and any elective or appointive directorship in existence on said date shall continue to exist to the same extent as if it had been established by or under this section on or after said date. The Board in its discretion may shorten the next succeeding term of any such elective directorship to one year, and may fill such term by appointment. The term “States” or “State” as used in this section shall mean the States of the Union, the District of Columbia, and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico. The Board, by regulation or otherwise, may add an additional elective directorship to the board of directors of the bank of any district in which the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico is included at the time such directorship is added and which does not then include five or more States, may fix the commencement and the duration, which shall not exceed two years, of the initial term of any directorship so added, and may fill any such initial term by appointment: Provided, That (1) any directorship added pursuant to the foregoing provisions of this sentence shall be designated by [the Board] the Director, pursuant to subsection (b) of this section, as representing the members located in the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, (2) such designation of such directorship shall not be changed, and (3) such directorship shall automatically cease to exist if and when the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico ceases to be included in such district.

(f) VACANCIES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—A Bank director appointed or elected to fill a vacancy shall be appointed or elected for the unexpired term of his or her predecessor in office.

(2) [APPOINTED] INDEPENDENT BANK DIRECTORS.—In the event of a vacancy in any [appointive] independent Bank directorship, such vacancy shall be filled through appointment by [the Board] the Director for the unexpired term. If any [appointive] independent Bank director shall cease to have the qualifications set forth in subsection (a), the office held by such person shall immediately become vacant, but such person may continue to act as a Bank director until his or her successor assumes the vacated office [or the term of such office expires, whichever occurs first]. An independent Bank director may continue to serve as a director after the expiration of the term of such director until a successor is appointed.

(3) [ELECTED] MEMBER BANK DIRECTORS.—In the event of a vacancy in any [elective] member Bank directorship, such vacancy shall be filled by an affirmative vote of a majority of the remaining Bank directors, regardless of whether such remaining Bank directors constitute a quorum of the Bank's board of directors. A Bank director so elected shall satisfy the requirements for eligibility which were applicable to his predecessor. If any [elective] member Bank director shall cease to have any qualification set forth in this section, the office held by such person shall immediately become vacant, and such person shall not continue to act as a Bank director.

(h) If at any time when nominations are required members shall hold less than $1,000,000 of the capital stock of the Federal home loan bank, [the Board] the Director shall appoint a director or directors to fill the place or places for which such nominations are required, and [the Board] the Director may, prior to the filing of the certificate mentioned in section 12, appoint directors who shall be respectively designated by it as appointive directors and as [elective] directors, in accordance with the provisions of this section.

[(B) ADJUSTMENT.—Beginning January 1, 2001, each dollar amount referred to in the table in subparagraph (A) shall be adjusted annually by the Finance Board, based on the annual percentage increase, if any, in the Consumer Price Index for all urban consumers, as published by the Department of Labor.

[(C) EXPENSES.—Subparagraph (A) shall not be construed as prohibiting the reimbursement of expenses incurred by members of the board of directors of any Federal home loan bank in connection with service on the board of directors.]

(i) DIRECTORS' COMPENSATION.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Each Federal home loan bank may pay the directors on the board of directors for the bank reasonable and appropriate compensation for the time required of such directors, and reasonable and appropriate expenses incurred by such directors, in connection with service on the board of directors, in accordance with resolutions adopted by the board of directors and subject to the approval of the Director.

If any such examination shall indicate, in the opinion of [the Board] the Director, that under the laws of any such State or the regulations or procedure thereunder there would be inadequate protection to a Federal Home Loan Bank in making or collecting advances under this Act, [the Board] the Director may withhold or limit the operation of any Federal Home Loan Bank in such State until satisfactory conditions of law, regulation, or procedure shall be established. In any State where State examination of members or nonmember borrowers is deemed inadequate for the purposes of the Federal Home Loan Banks, [the Board] the Director shall establish such examination, all or part of* the cost of which may be considered as part of the cost of making advances in such State. The banks and/or [the Board] the Director may make studies of trends of home and other property values, methods of appraisals, and other subjects such as they may deem useful for the general guidance of their policies and operations and those of institutions authorized to secure advances.

The Secretary of the Treasury may, at any time, sell, upon such terms and conditions and at such price or prices as he shall determine, any of the obligations acquired by him under this subsection. All redemptions, purchases, and sales by the Secretary of the Treasury of such obligations under this subsection shall be treated as public-debt transactions of the United States. The Secretary of the Treasury shall not at any time purchase any obligations under this paragraph if such purchase would increase the aggregate principal amount of his then outstanding holdings of such obligations under this paragraph to an amount greater than $4,000,000,000. (2) For the purposes set forth in section 301(a), the corporation is authorized, pursuant to commitments or otherwise, to purchase, service, sell, lend on the security of, or otherwise deal in mortgages which are not insured or guaranteed as provided in paragraph (1) (such mortgages referred to hereinafter as “conventional mortgages”). No such purchase of a conventional mortgage secured by a property comprising one- to four-family dwelling units shall be made if the outstanding principal balance of the mortgage at the time of purchase exceeds 80 per centum of the value of the property securing the mortgage, unless (A) the seller retains a participation of not less than 10 per centum in the mortgage; (B) for such period and under such circumstances as the corporation may require, the seller agrees to repurchase or replace the mortgage upon demand of the corporation in the event that the mortgage is in default; or (C) that portion of the unpaid principal balance of the mortgage which is in excess of such 80 per centum is guaranteed or insured by a qualified insurer as determined by the corporation. The corporation shall not issue a commitment to purchase a conventional mortgage prior to the date the mortgage is originated, if such mortgage is eligible for purchase under the preceding sentence only by reason of compliance with the requirements of clause (A) of such sentence. The corporation may purchase a conventional mortgage which was originated more than one year prior to the purchase date only if the seller is the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, [the Resolution Trust Corporation,] the National Credit Union Administration, or any other seller currently engaged in mortgage lending or investing activities. For the purpose of this section, the term “conventional mortgages” shall include a mortgage, lien, or other security interest on the stock or membership certificate issued to a tenant-stockholder or resident-member of a cooperative housing corporation, as defined in section 216 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, and on the proprietary lease, occupancy agreement, or right of tenancy in the dwelling unit of the tenant-stockholder or resident-member in such cooperative housing corporation. The corporation shall establish limitations governing the maximum original principal obligation of conventional mortgages that are purchased by it; in any case in which the corporation purchases a participation interest in such a mortgage, the limitation shall be calculated with respect to the total original principal obligation of the mortgage and not merely with respect to the interest purchased by the corporation. [Such limitations shall not exceed $93,750 for a mortgage secured by a single-family residence, $120,000 for a mortgage secured by a two-family residence, $145,000 for a mortgage secured by a three-family residence, and $180,000 for a mortgage secured by a four-family residence, except that such maximum limitations shall be adjusted effective January 1 of each year beginning with 1981. Each such adjustment shall be made by adding to each such amount (as it may have been previously adjusted) a percentage thereof equal to the percentage increase during the twelve-month period ending with the previous October in the national average one-family house price in the monthly survey of all major lenders conducted by the Federal Housing Finance Board.] For 2007, such limitations shall not exceed $417,000 for a mortgage secured by a single-family residence, $533,850 for a mortgage secured by a 2-family residence, $645,300 for a mortgage secured by a 3-family residence, and $801,950 for a mortgage secured by a 4-family residence, except that such maximum limitations shall be adjusted effective January 1 of each year beginning with 2008, subject to the limitations in this paragraph. Each adjustment shall be made by adding to or subtracting from each such amount (as it may have been previously adjusted) a percentage thereof equal to the percentage increase or decrease, during the most recent 12-month or four-quarter period ending before the time of determining such annual adjustment, in the housing price index maintained by the Director of the Federal Housing Finance Agency (pursuant to section 1322 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992 (12 U.S.C. 4541)). The foregoing limitations may be increased by not to exceed 50 per centum with respect to properties located in Alaska, Guam, Hawaii, and the Virgin Islands. Such foregoing limitations shall also be increased with respect to properties of a particular size located in any area for which the median price for such size residence exceeds the foregoing limitation for such size residence, to the lesser of 150 percent of such foregoing limitation for such size residence or the amount that is equal to the median price in such area for such size residence, except that, subject to the order, if any, issued by the Director of the Federal Housing Finance Agency pursuant to section 133(d)(3) of the Federal Housing Finance Reform Act of 2007, such increase shall apply only with respect to mortgages on which are based securities issued and sold by the corporation.

The Corporation shall not issue a commitment to purchase a conventional mortgage prior to the date the mortgage is originated, if such mortgage is eligible for purchase under the preceding sentence only by reason of compliance with the requirements of clause (A) of such sentence. The Corporation may purchase a conventional mortgage which was originated more than one year prior to the purchase date only if the seller is the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, [the Resolution Trust Corporation,] the National Credit Union Administration, or any other seller currently engaged in mortgage lending or investing activities. With respect to any transaction in which a seller contemporaneously sells mortgages originated more than one year old prior to the date of sale to the Corporation and receives in payment for such mortgages securities representing undivided interests only in those mortgages, the Corporation shall not impose any fee or charge upon an eligible seller which is not a member of a Federal Home Loan Bank which differs from that imposed upon an eligible seller which is such a member. The Corporation shall establish limitations governing the maximum original principal obligation of conventional mortgages that are purchased by it; in any case in which the Corporation purchases a participation interest in such a mortgage, the limitation shall be calculated with respect to the total original principal obligation of the mortgage and not merely with respect to the interest purchased by the Corporation. 【Such limitations shall not exceed $93,750 for a mortgage secured by a single-family residence, $120,000 for a mortgage secured by a two-family residence, and $145,000 for a mortgage secured by a three-family residence, and $180,000 for a mortgage secured by a four-family residence, except that such maximum limitations shall be adjusted effective January 1 of each year beginning with 1981. Each such adjustment shall be made by adding to each such amount (as it may have been previously adjusted) a percentage thereof equal to the percentage increase during the twelve-month period ending with the previous October in the national average one-family house price in the monthly survey of all major lenders conducted by the Federal Housing Finance Board.】 For 2007, such limitations shall not exceed $417,000 for a mortgage secured by a single-family residence, $533,850 for a mortgage secured by a 2-family residence, $645,300 for a mortgage secured by a 3-family residence, and $801,950 for a mortgage secured by a 4-family residence, except that such maximum limitations shall be adjusted effective January 1 of each year beginning with 2008, subject to the limitations in this paragraph. Each adjustment shall be made by adding to or subtracting from each such amount (as it may have been previously adjusted) a percentage thereof equal to the percentage increase or decrease, during the most recent 12-month or four-quarter period ending before the time of determining such annual adjustment, in the housing price index maintained by the Director of the Federal Housing Finance Agency (pursuant to section 1322 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992 (12 U.S.C. 4541)). The foregoing limitations may be increased by not to exceed 50 per centum with respect to properties located in Alaska, Guam, Hawaii, and the Virgin Islands. Such foregoing limitations shall also be increased with respect to properties of a particular size located in any area for which the median price for such size residence exceeds the foregoing limitation for such size residence, to the lesser of 150 percent of such foregoing limitation for such size residence or the amount that is equal to the median price in such area for such size residence, except that, subject to the order, if any, issued by the Director of the Federal Housing Finance Agency pursuant to section 133(d)(3) of the Federal Housing Finance Reform Act of 2007, such increase shall apply only with respect to mortgages on which are based securities issued and sold by the Corporation.

* * * * *

(c) The Corporation may not 【implement any new program】 initially offer any product (as such term is defined in 【section 1303】 section 1321(f) of the Federal Housing Enterprises Financial Safety and Soundness Act of 1992) 【before obtaining the approval of the Secretary under section 1322】 except in accordance with section 1321 of such Act.

ADDITIONAL AND DISSENTING VIEWS

ADDITIONAL VIEWS OF REPRESENTATIVE GERLACH

I voted for H.R. 1427, the Federal Housing Finance Reform Act of 2007 that makes important improvements to the regulatory structure governing our government sponsored enterprises—Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac and the Federal Home Loan Banks. The work of the Treasury Department in reaching agreement with Chairman Frank on the central issues in this debate has struck the right balance and I am confident that additional fine tuning will occur as the process moves forward.

Section 210 of H.R. 1427 includes a provision I authored in the last Congress directing the GAO to study the work that Federal Home Loan Banks are doing to assist long-term care facilities and to advise the new regulator how these lessons might be applied to Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac. With a growing need for taking care of our elderly population, every conceivable response must be explored.

One area of great interest to me is the role of Federal Home Loan Banks in partnering with member institutions and local governments to support economic and community development. This is in addition to their great work with affordable housing and providing liquidity and capital market access to member banks.

I can point to many examples in my own district of how the Federal Home Loan Bank of Pittsburgh is already making a tremendous difference in economic development. A senior living facility for dementia and Alzheimer's patients was helped by the Bank's letter of credit. A local elementary school benefited from the Bank's low-interest community development financing and a small high tech business, Custom Processing Services received small business funding through their Banking on Business program.

The Bank is also a catalyst for important partnerships. In Reading, Pennsylvania, Al Boscov, who built Boscov's department stores to become the largest privately held department store chain in the country, has used his energy and commitment to public service to found a non-profit, Our City Reading, that has partnered with two local institutions, Sovereign Bank and Leesport Bank, to access over $1 million of FHLBank grants. These funds are being used in Mr. Boscov's inspirational quest to revitalize Reading.

I want the FHLBank of Pittsburgh be able to do more to help Reading, and challenged communities throughout its three-state district. As federal and state budgets grow tighter, the FHLBank System could become an increasingly important partner in economic and community development. While they must operate programs that enable their members to realize a return on their equity, Federal Home Loan Banks can make important contributions in meeting these challenges.

H.R. 1427 adds “housing finance and community and economic development” to the mission of Federal Home Loan Banks. This is an important step and builds off the statutory recognition of this role found in FIRREA and the Gramm Leach Bliley Act.

This statutory change should enable Federal Home Loan Banks to do even more as they partner with member institutions, local governments, health care providers and other key leaders in local communities. This language sends a clear signal of congressional intent to the new regulator that the mission of the Federal home Loan Banks includes supporting economic and community development through advance programs, new business activities, letters of credit, investment powers, and the acquired member asset programs.

I think that the letter from the National League of Cities that was inserted into the hearing record by Chairman Kanjorski says it very well. The letter states, “The NLC supports efforts at the legislative and regulatory level allowing FHL Banks and their members to build on these successful partnerships with local governments and expand their impact. We are not advocating mandatory program impositions on FHL Banks. Rather we want to see a statutory and regulatory environment that will support and encourage further development of new ways to support public finance and infrastructure in a partnership with Federal Home Loan Banks, their members, and local governments.”

I wholeheartedly support the sentiment expressed by the League and am glad that this legislation will help support that goal.

JIM GERLACH.

DISSENTING VIEWS

H.R. 1427 includes a number of important reforms which, if enacted, would significantly enhance the safety and soundness regulation of the housing Government Sponsored Enterprises (GSEs). The legislation also provides for the creation of an Affordable Housing Fund to be financed by Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac and distributed largely by state housing agencies. During the Committee's consideration of H.R. 1427, Republicans offered a number of amendments to address deficiencies in the current construction of the affordable Housing Fund. These amendments were designed to ensure that the funds were delivered more efficiently and effectively to their intended beneficiaries—extremely low-income Americans in desperate need of decent affordable housing options. By failing to adopt these amendments, the Committee missed an opportunity to build a broader bipartisan consensus for GSE reform as this legislation heads to the House floor and an uncertain future in the Senate.

There is general consensus on the Committee that serious affordable housing needs in our nation are going unmet. The disagreement arises over whether legislation designed to enhance regulatory oversight of the housing GSEs is a proper vehicle for a massive new government program that is extraneous to the bill's underlying purpose. Of equal concern is what effect assessing Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac over $500 million annually for the next five years will have on those Americans seeking to purchase a home or refinance an existing mortgage. As publicly traded companies accountable to their shareholders, Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac will inevitably seek to pass along these new assessments to their customers, resulting in what amounts to a middle-class mortgage tax on homeowners across America.

We are also concerned that, as presently constituted, the Affordable Housing Fund contains insufficient safeguards to ensure that grants will be distributed through a process that is objective, cost effective, competitive and fully transparent. Although the bill prohibits the use of funds for political purposes, political considerations could enter into the grant process administered by the States, with the potential to turn the program into a "slush fund" for influential politicians and advocacy groups. To address these concerns, we offered two amendments at the Committee markup of H.R. 1427.

The Bachus amendment would have redirected the proceeds from the Fund to the Affordable Housing Program administered by the Federal Home Loan Bank System. The amendment provided for the affordable housing funds to be allocated by the newly created GSE regulator among the twelve Federal Home Loan Banks, with all of the funds in the first year going to areas affected by Hurricane Katrina, as in the underlying legislation.

Established by statute in 1989, the Affordable Housing Program requires the Federal Home Loan Banks to direct 10 percent of their profits to affordable housing projects. Universally considered a success, the program features a locally-based, competitively-awarded—and most importantly, proven—delivery system. Indeed, in her testimony at the March 15 Full Committee hearing on GSE reform, Sheila Crowley of the National Low Income Housing Coalition praised the Affordable Housing Program as “highly successful” and a “conceptual cousin” of what the fund in H.R. 1427 hopes to accomplish.

In the Home Loan Bank program, member financial institutions propose projects to be supported by the fund as part of their own community outreach programs, in cooperation with nonprofit partners of their choice. The twelve individual Home Loan Banks fund and administer these grant projects in their respective regions.

This regionally based delivery system allows the funds to be tailored to localized housing and community development needs. In fact, local input is often cited as one of the most important reasons for the success of the Affordable Housing Program. There is just enough centralization in the program to maintain an organized structure, with rigorous checks and balances. Indeed, in its 16-year history, the Affordable Housing Program has distributed $2.3 billion in housing assistance grants with not one question raised as to the effectiveness and the integrity of the grant process. Moreover, the local public-private partnerships represent a common-sense way to utilize funding in a way that delivery directly to the states never could.

The Home Loan Banks already have the personnel, systems, and regulatory oversight in place to effectively implement a program that the Congressional Budget Office estimates will result in the distribution of $3 billion over the period 2008–2011. The Banks’ Affordable Housing Program has a time-tested track record and enjoys the confidence of the affordable housing sector and financial services industry alike. This is truly an instance in which there is no need to “reinvent the wheel.”

Like the Bachus amendment, the Biggert amendment sought to establish a more effective delivery mechanism for the new affordable housing funds, by redirecting the GSEs’ contributions to a competitive grant program administered by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and modeled after the Federal Home Loan Bank Affordable Housing Program. To ensure timely disbursement of the funds, the amendment directed HUD to structure the grant program based on HUD’s HOME program formula and criteria. In addition, the amendment capped the Fund at the lesser of 1.2 basis points of the GSEs’ average total mortgage portfolios or $520 million per year, and set a cap on administrative fees of no more than 10 percent of Affordable Housing Fund dollars. Finally, the amendment created a level playing field for both non-profits and for-profits to apply for grants, and added a sixth criterion for selection of applications that included the ability to leverage the grants through use of other funding sources.

Like the Federal Home Loan Bank System, HUD has long experience in administering grant programs of the kind envisioned by H.R. 1427. HUD administers over one hundred housing programs aimed at increasing homeownership, supporting community development, and increasing access to affordable housing. Among HUD's many housing programs is the HOME program, which Congress created in 1990 and today is the largest Federal block grant to State and local governments designed exclusively to create affordable housing for low-income households, allocating approximately $2 billion annually among the States and hundreds of localities nationwide.

Unlike the new GSE regulator, which will have only one national office, HUD has a national headquarters, 10 regional offices, and 81 field offices. HUD's regional and field offices are primarily responsible for administering HUD's programs and act as the primary HUD point of contact for States, local public housing authorities, communities, organizations, and individuals. More importantly, HUD's regional and field offices have a firsthand understanding of the needs of local communities across the country and provide regional and local oversight of federally operated and funded housing programs.

In sum, adoption of either of the alternatives we offered in Committee would have significantly improved the underlying legislation, by establishing a more reliable, objective, and competitive system for funding affordable housing priorities. While we continue to oppose inclusion of an Affordable Housing Fund in H.R. 1427, if the provisions are to remain in the bill, we intend to work to ensure that this new $3 billion program is used not to subsidize the activities of political advocacy groups, but rather to address the very affordable housing needs that exist in our country.

DISSENTING VIEWS OF REPRESENTATIVE PAUL

H.R. 1427 fails to address the core problems with the Government Sponsored Enterprises (GSEs). Furthermore, since this legislation creates new government programs that will further artificially increase the demand for housing, H.R. 1427 increases the economic damage that will occur from the bursting of the housing bubble. The main problem with the GSEs is the special privileges the federal government gives the GSEs. According to the Congressional Budget Office, the housing related GSEs received almost 20 billion dollars worth of indirect federal subsidies in fiscal year 2004 alone, while Wayne Passmore of the Federal Reserve estimates the value of the GSE's federal subsidies to be between $122 and $182 billion.

One of the major privileges the federal government grants to the GSEs is a line of credit from the United States Treasury. According to some estimates, the line of credit may be worth over two billion dollars. GSEs also benefit from an explicit grant of legal authority given to the Federal Reserve to purchase the debt of the GSEs. GSEs are the only institutions besides the United States Treasury granted explicit statutory authority to monetize their debt through the Federal Reserve. This provision gives the GSEs a source of liquidity unavailable to their competitors.

This implicit promise by the government to bail out the GSEs in times of economic difficulty helps the GSEs attract investors who are willing to settle for lower yields than they would demand in the absence of the subsidy. Thus, the line of credit distorts the allocation of capital. More importantly, the line of credit is a promise on behalf of the government to engage in a massive unconstitutional and immoral income transfer from working Americans to holders of GSE debt. This is why I offered an amendment to cut off this line of credit.

The connection between the GSEs and the government helps isolate the GSEs' managements from market discipline. This isolation from market discipline is the root cause of the mismanagement occurring at Fannie and Freddie. After all, if investors did not believe that the federal government would bail out Fannie and Freddie if the GSEs faced financial crises, then investors would have forced the GSEs to provide assurances that the GSEs are following accepted management and accounting practices before investors would consider Fannie and Freddie to be good investments.

Former Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan has expressed concern that the government subsidies provided to the GSEs makes investors underestimate the risk of investing in Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac. Although he has endorsed many of the regulatory "solutions" being considered here today, Chairman Greenspan has implicitly admitted the subsidies are the true source of the problems with Fannie and Freddie.

H.R. 1427 compounds these problems by further insulating the GSEs from market discipline. By creating a “world-class” regulator, Congress would send a signal to investors that investors need not concern themselves with investigating the financial health and stability of Fannie and Freddie since a “world-class” regulator is performing that function.

However, one of the forgotten lessons of the financial scandals of a few years ago is that the market is superior at discovering and punishing fraud and other misbehavior than are government regulators. After all, the market discovered, and began to punish, the accounting irregularities of Enron before the government regulators did.

Concerns have been raised about the new regulator’s independence from the Treasury Department. Although the Treasury now supports the creation of a new regulator, the compromise between Treasury and the drafters of H.R. 1427 does not address concerns that isolating the regulator from Treasury oversight may lead to regulatory capture. Regulatory capture occurs when regulators serve the interests of the businesses they are supposed to be regulating instead of the public interest. While H.R. 1427 does have some provisions that claim to minimize the risk of regulatory capture, regulatory capture is always a threat where regulators have significant control over the operations of an industry. After all, the industry obviously has a greater incentive than any other stakeholder to influence the behavior of the regulator.

The flip side of regulatory capture is that managers and owners of highly subsidized and regulated industries are more concerned with pleasing the regulators than with pleasing consumers or investors, since the industries know that investors will believe all is well if the regulator is happy. Thus, the regulator and the regulated industry may form a symbiosis where each looks out for the other’s interests while ignoring the concerns of investors.

Furthermore, my colleagues should consider the constitutionality of an “independent regulator.” The Founders provided for three branches of government—an executive, a judiciary, and a legislature. Each branch was created as sovereign in its sphere and there were to be clear lines of accountability for each branch. However, independent regulators do not fit comfortably within the three branches; nor are they totally accountable to any branch. Regulators at these independent agencies often make judicial-like decisions, but they are not part of the judiciary. They often make rules, similar to the ones regarding capital requirements, that have the force of law, but independent regulators are not legislative. And, of course, independent regulators enforce the laws in the same way, as do other parts of the executive branch; yet independent regulators lack the day-to-day accountability to the executive that provides a check on other regulators.

Thus, these independent regulators have a concentration of powers of all three branches and lack direct accountability to any of the democratically chosen branches of government. This flies in the face of the Founders’ opposition to concentrations of power and government bureaucracies that lack accountability. These concerns are especially relevant considering the remarkable degree of power and autonomy this bill gives to the regulator. For example, in the scheme established by H.R. 1427 the regulator's budget is not subject to appropriations. This removes a powerful mechanism for holding the regulator accountable to Congress. While the regulator is accountable to a board of directors, this board may conduct all deliberations in private because it is not subject to the sunshine act.

Ironically, by transferring the risk of widespread mortgage defaults to the taxpayers through government subsidies and convincing investors that all is well because a "world-class" regulator is ensuring the GSEs' soundness, the government increases the likelihood of a painful crash in the housing market. This is because the special privileges of Fannie and Freddie have distorted the housing market by allowing Fannie and Freddie to attract capital they could not attract under pure market conditions. As a result, capital is diverted from its most productive uses into housing. This reduces the efficacy of the entire market and thus reduces the standard of living of all Americans.

Despite the long-term damage to the economy inflicted by the government's interference in the housing market, the government's policy of diverting capital into housing creates a short-term boom in housing. Like all artificially created bubbles, the boom in housing prices cannot last forever. When housing prices fall, homeowners will experience difficulty as their equity is wiped out. Furthermore, the holders of the mortgage debt will also have a loss. These losses will be greater than they would have been had government policy not actively encouraged over-investment housing.

H.R. 1427 further distorts the housing market by artificially inflating the demand for housing through the creation of a national housing trust fund. This fund further diverts capital to housing that, absent government intervention, would be put to use more closely matching the demands of consumers. Thus, this new housing program will reduce efficiency and create yet another unconstitutional redistribution program.

Perhaps the Federal Reserve can stave off the day of reckoning by purchasing the GSEs' debt and pumping liquidity into the housing market, but this cannot hold off the inevitable drop in the housing market forever. In fact, postponing the necessary and painful market corrections will only deepen the inevitable fall. The more people are invested in the market, the greater the effects across the economy when the bubble bursts.

Instead of addressing government policies encouraging the misallocation of resources to the housing market, H.R. 1427 further introduces distortion into the housing market by expanding the authority of federal regulators to approve the introduction of new products by the GSEs. Such regulation inevitably delays the introduction of new innovations to the market, or even prevents some potentially valuable products from making it to the market. Of course, these new regulations are justified in part by the GSEs' government subsidies. We once again see how one bad intervention in the market (the GSEs' government subsidies) leads to another (the new regulations).

In conclusion, H.R. 1427 compounds the problems with the GSEs and may increase the damage that will be inflicted by a bursting of the housing bubble. This is because this bill creates a new unac-countable regulator and introduces further distortions into the housing market via increased regulatory power. H.R. 1427 also violates the Constitution by creating yet another unaccountable regulator with quasi-executive, judicial, and legislative powers. Instead of expanding unconstitutional and market distorting government bureaucracies, Congress should act to remove taxpayer support from the housing GSEs before the bubble bursts and taxpayers are once again forced to bail out investors who were misled by foolish government interference in the market.

RON PAUL.
