A BILL

To amend the Safe and Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act to authorize the use of grant funds for gang prevention, and for other purposes.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4 This Act may be cited as the “Bullying and Gang
5 Reduction for Improved Education Act”.

1 SEC. 2. AMENDMENTS TO SAFE AND DRUG-FREE SCHOOLS
2 AND COMMUNITIES ACT.

3 (a) FINDINGS.—The Safe and Drug-Free Commu-
4 nities Act (part A of title IV of the Elementary and Sec-
5 ondary Education Act of 1965) is amended by inserting
6 after section 4001 (20 U.S.C. 7101) the following:

7 “SEC. 4001A. FINDINGS.

8 “Congress finds the following:

9 “(1) Bullying among children is aggressive be-10 havior that is intentional, involves an imbalance of 11 social or physical power or strength, and is typically 12 repeated over time.

13 “(2) A child who is being bullied or harassed
14 often has a hard time defending himself or herself.

15 “(3) Bullying can take many forms, including 16 hitting or punching; teasing or name-calling; intimi-17 dation through gestures or social exclusion; and 18 sending insulting, threatening, or offensive messages
19 via Internet sites, e-mail, instant messaging, SMS,
20 telephone, or any other electronic messaging system.

21 “(4) There is no single cause of bullying among 22 children; rather, individual, familial, peer, school,
23 and community factors may place a child or youth
24 at risk of bullying his or her peers.

1           “(5) A majority of parents, students, and edu-
2           cators report that bullying and harassment are 3           issues of major concern.

4           “(6) Research indicates that children and youth
5           with disabilities or special needs and children and 6           youth who are lesbian, gay, bisexual, or trans-gen-
7           der, or who are perceived to be so, face a higher risk
8           of being bullied than other children.

9           “(7) Children and youth who are overweight or 10          obese are at increased risk for bullying by peers.
11          Weight-based teasing is consistently associated with 12          high depressive symptoms, thinking about or at-
13          tempting suicide, and the development of binge eat-14          ing and bulimia nervosa later in life. As young as 15          the third grade, girls who experience harassment re-16          port lower self-esteem and satisfaction with their 17          weight and shape.

18          “(8) The degree to which a child is teased is 19          positively related to weight concerns, loneliness,
20          lower confidence in physical appearance, and higher
21          preference for isolative activities which are associ-
22          ated with decreased levels of physical activity among 23          overweight youth.

24          “(9) Research indicates that adolescents in un-
25          safe neighborhoods engage in less physical activity

1 than their peers; and that physical activity programs
2 can improve health, reduce obesity, and have positive
3 effects on academic achievement.

4 “(10) Children and youth who are bullied are 5 more likely than other children to be depressed,
6 lonely, or anxious; have low self-esteem; be absent
7 from school; suffer from headaches; complain of 8 stomach aches; have problems sleeping; experience
9 fatigue and poor appetite; and think about suicide.

10 “(11) Bullying can be a sign of other serious
11 antisocial behavior or violent behavior or both.

12 “(12) Children and youth who frequently bully 13 their peers are more likely than their peers to get 14 into frequent fights, be injured in a fight, vandalize
15 or steal property, drink alcohol, smoke, be truant
16 from school, drop out of school, and carry a weapon.

17 “(13) A study by the Department of Education
18 indicates harassment and bullying have been linked 19 to 75 percent of school shooting incidents, including 20 the fatal shootings at Columbine High School in Col-
21 orado and Santana High School in California.

22 “(14) Gang involvement and exposure to peer
23 violence greatly increases a youth’s likelihood of en-
24 gaging in violent behavior.

1           “(15) Youth who have been involved in gang ac-
2           tivity and violent behavior have a significantly great-
3           er chance of continuing to be involved in criminal
4           behavior as adults.

5           “(16) Ninety-one percent of students who are 6           not involved with gangs report that they expect to 7           complete high school, yet only seventy-five percent of 8           gang-involved youths expect to finish high school.

9           “(17) Children from areas with significant gang
10          influence or activity struggle with strategies to main-
11          tain their safety and report weighing the benefits
12          and costs of avoiding gangs or engaging with them.

13          “(18) Repeated exposure to violence is a cause
14          of childhood trauma, depression, anxiety, post-trau-
15          matic stress, aggression, violence, and other serious
16          behavioral problems.

17          “(19) Bullying, harassment, and gang-related
18          activity have serious safety consequences for schools
19          and the students who attend them: thirty-nine per-20          cent of middle schoolers and thirty-six percent of 21          high schoolers say they don’t feel safe at school.

22          “(20) The stresses of being bullied, harassed, or 23          involved with a gang can interfere with a student’s 24          engagement in school and can negatively impact stu-
25          dent learning.

1           “(21) Research indicates that bullying at school
2           can be significantly reduced through comprehensive,
3           school-wide programs designed to change norms for 4           behavior.

5           “(22) Evaluations of school-based gang preven-
6           tion and education programs show that they can re-
7           duce delinquency and gang activity and increase
8           commitment to peers and law enforcement.”.
