Whereas in 1962, John Glenn lifted off into space with a Bible he received from the New York Bible Society;

Whereas in 1968, the New York Bible Society sponsored the Committee on Bible Translation, a group responsible for creating the New International Version, which is now the most widely distributed, contemporary English version in the world, with more than 300,000,000 copies in circulation;

Whereas the New York Bible Society moved to Colorado Springs, Colorado, in 1988 and became the International Bible Society;
