The House met at 10 a.m. and was called to order by the Speaker pro tempore (MRS. TAUSCHER).

DESIGNATION OF THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE
The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following communication from the Speaker:

I hereby appoint the Honorable ELLEN O. TAUSCHER to act as Speaker pro tempore on this day.

NANCY PELOSI, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

PRA YER
Chaplain Major Jim Higgins, Reserve Officer Association Chaplain of the Year, Powder Springs, Georgia, offered the following prayer:

Loving Lord, we give You thanks that You are ever present with us, guiding our thoughts and our deliberations. In these difficult times we acknowledge before You that we are unable, in the strength of our own power, to guide this Nation that You have entrusted to us. So we pray for a sense of Your will and of Your presence. Along with the vision of what is right, give us the courage to act accordingly.

As we gather today, Everlasting God, we pray for those whom we have sent into harm’s way. Give to them Your divine protection. As the Great Physician, be with those who have been wounded and lay in beds of pain. We give You thanks for the valor of those who have paid the ultimate cost for freedom, and ask that You accept them into Your home, not made with hands, but eternal in the heavens, surrounding their loved ones with Your peace, which passes all understanding. All of this we ask in Your most holy and precious name.
Amen.

THE JOURNAL
The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has examined the Journal of the last day’s proceedings and announces to the House her approval thereof. Pursuant to clause 1, rule I, the Journal stands approved.

PLE DGE OF ALLEGIANCE
The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentlewoman from Kansas (Ms. JENKINS) come forward and lead the House in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Ms. JENKINS led the Pledge of Allegiance as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

WELCOMING CHAPLAIN MAJOR JIM HIGGINS
The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. SCOTT) is recognized for 1 minute.

Mr. SCOTT of Georgia. I want to really share Reverend Jim Higgins, as we have the privilege of really sharing him in our two adjoining districts. Each year, the Reserve Officers Association presents a distinguished guest chaplain for today from my district in Georgia. Each year, the Reserve Officers Association presents a Chaplain of the Year Award, which is selected by the Chief of Chaplains of each military service.

And the award goes to a chaplain—a special chaplain—with special qualities. He is selected for extraordinary contributions to the welfare, the morale, and effectiveness of the Military Reserve Services. This year, the award went to Military Chaplain Major James Boren Higgins, who delivered our wonderful prayer this morning.

Dr. Higgins graduated from Illinois Wesleyan University in 1983. He earned his master of divinity degree in 1986 from Candler School of Theology at Emory University in Atlanta, Georgia. He received his doctor of ministry degree from Columbia Theological Seminary in Decatur, Georgia. And he has received the following outstanding awards. And, America, listen to these rewards.

He is a recipient of the Bronze Star Medal. He is a recipient of the Meritorious Service Medal. Dr. Higgins is a recipient of the Army Commendation Medal. He is also the recipient of the Army Achievement Medal. And he is the recipient of the Global War on Terrorism Service Medal. And for his distinguished duty in Iraq, he received the Iraq Campaign Medal.

What an extraordinary minister. Not just a minister of God, but a minister of the world. A minister to bring peace and comfort to his fellow soldiers at a time of great stress on the battlefields, as well as here at home.

Reverend Higgins currently lives in my district in Powder Springs, Georgia, with his lovely wife Pam and their three children. Reverend Higgins is the senior pastor and chief executive of the 3,200 member McEachern Memorial United States Methodist Church in Powder Springs, Georgia.

We are so proud to have Pastor Major James Boren Higgins as our guest chaplain of the day for the United States Congress. What an extraordinary individual at an extraordinary time, who has given an extraordinary service. We are so proud to have him serve as our guest chaplain of the day.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. GINGREY) is recognized for 1 minute.

There was no objection.

Mr. GINGREY of Georgia. I want to thank my colleague, Representative DAVID SCOTT, for allowing me to say a few words also about Reverend Jim Higgins, as we have the privilege of really sharing him in our two adjoining districts. districts. And, as David Scott has said, Madam Speaker, Dr. Reverend Major Jim Higgins, as we know, has brought us a very inspiring message as we open business today in the United States House of Representatives as our guest chaplain of the day.

But, as Representative Scott said, his service to us and to his constituents in Powder Springs and to our country goes much beyond just the spiritual. When you think about his service as a chaplain in the United States Army and, as David Scott was just saying, his service in Vietnam, and his tour of duties, Madam Speaker, of 18 months.

Now, today, the Marines limit rotation to 7 months and the Army to 12 months. But Jim Higgins’ rotation in Vietnam—a pretty tough place—was 18 months. Of course, he has this week, as has been said, been recognized as the United States Military Reserve Chaplain of the Year.

So we really are indebted to this great man, not only for his spiritual leadership, Jim, but great service to your country.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will entertain up to 10 further requests for 1-minute speeches on each side of the aisle.

STIMULATE THE ECONOMY

(Mr. Jackson of Illinois asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. Jackson of Illinois. We need to pass a stimulus conference report that stimulates the economy. We need to combine the best of public oversight and private spending in public-private partnerships to build and, in some cases, rebuild public infrastructure. This stimulative spending should be encouraged by Federal and State stimulus programs and bills.

But here’s what we have to look out for. Public-private partnerships are different than private-public partnerships where the private sector tells the public what is in their best interest. Do not confuse the two. It doesn’t work.

Do not confuse public-private partnerships with quasi-public-private partnerships. They are not the answer. They lack public accountability and can be rife with corruption. Only by achieving the best in publicly accountable oversight in public works projects, with private capital, can the balance be struck and we create jobs.

Today, the President will limit executive compensation for executives of companies that take advantage of taxpayer bailout funds. This is the right thing to do. However, the relationship between the public sector and the private sector should not be an afterthought, and the private sector cannot demand its own rules while using taxpayer funds.

We are slowly getting to the idea, Madam Speaker, of public-private partnerships as a way of bringing government, business, and labor together. It’s time to establish a new American paradigm.

STIMULUS AND THE NATIONAL DEBT

(Ms. Foxx asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. Foxx. The national debt will jump by more than $1 trillion in the 6 months ending in March. $1 trillion dollars in 6 months. Think about that. The previous record increase in the national debt was less than half this amount, and that was over the course of an entire year, which means we are currently racking up debt at four times the rate of the previous record. And all of this debt doesn’t include the so-called stimulus package that the Senate has already porked up to $900 billion. It’s so full of spending unrelated to job creation that we can’t even begin to tally the waste.

We must stop and take stock. With hardly a second thought, the Federal Government is careening towards a record $2 trillion deficit—payable by our children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren. My friends, we cannot borrow and spend our way to prosperity.

IMMIGRATION

(Mr. Baca asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. Baca. Our country is in desperate need of comprehensive immigration reform to ensure the security and the future of America. Our broken immigration policies have failed to secure our borders and have taken on racial profiling tactics.

Our families are being separated and terrorized with unjust border raids, such as the one that was held in my district a couple of weeks ago at a Home Depot parking lot. In the greatest Nation of the world, no one should ever live in fear of being torn apart from their families.

We shall not be a Nation of discrimination when our farms promote diversity. We need a cohesive program such as comprehensive immigration. We cannot stand complacent with our broken immigration policies. We need to take action.

Mr. President, you called for change. You and Madam Speaker need to deliver on that promise. I urge my colleagues to join me in passing comprehensive immigration.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Members are reminded to direct their remarks to the Chair.

UNIVERSAL HEALTH COVERAGE

(Mr. Courtney asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. Courtney. Today, February 4, 2009, we will go down as a historic milestone in America’s long journey towards universal health coverage. In a few hours, with a bipartisan vote, we will pass President Obama’s Children’s Health Insurance Program, extending health insurance to 4 million more American youngsters, keeping a promise that President Obama made to the American people to get this much-needed change accomplished. He did it in 2 weeks’ time. I would just say, contrast that with the 2-year rancorous partisan debate that divided this country over the issue.

The new Congress and the new President are delivering on this incredibly important step towards extending health coverage to children—strengthening their dental coverage; strengthening their mental health coverage; locking in for States like Connecticut eligibility so that working families’ children will be insured and will be covered.

Building on that success, extending health IT technology to our health care system, which is included in the stimulus package, extending people with unemployment Medicaid coverage, we are going to move forward as a country towards universal health coverage. Today will go down in history as an important step forward to accomplish that much-needed goal.
PREVENTING FUTURE DISASTERS
(Mr. BARROW asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. BARROW. Madam Speaker, this weekend marks the first anniversary of the combustible dust explosion at the Imperial Sugar Refinery in Savannah, Georgia.

What we learned in my community since this disaster hit is that the experts have known about this problem for decades. The private sector has developed standards that effectively deal with dust, but the public sector hasn’t responded. The trouble is not enough people know about the problem, much less the solutions, and those who do know about the solutions aren’t required to adopt them.

The only standards that are mandatory really are not designed with this problem in the first place, and so they aren’t working. The result is we have good standards that are not mandatory and inadequate standards that are mandatory. It ought to be the other way around.

Today I am reintroducing legislation we passed in the last Congress, legislation that will take such upside-down policy and flip it right side up.

On the anniversary of this latest disaster, our thoughts and prayers go out to the folks who are still suffering from their losses and injuries. But our work to fix what is broken with our regulatory system should continue until we have everything that we reasonably can to prevent any such disasters from ever happening again.

GIVING VOICE TO THE UNBORN
(Mr. BARRETT of South Carolina asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. BARRETT. Madam Speaker, “We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.”

We all know this quote, Madam Speaker, and it is no accident that life is mentioned first. It is our most basic right given to us only by our Creator.

Every life is a gift given to us by the grace of God, and there can be no doubt that life begins at the moment of conception. But as I stand before you today, my heart breaks for the faces that are missing because they were never born.

Madam Speaker, I pray for the men and women throughout this country and the world who are expecting a child and they believe they are in an impossible situation. I hope they would understand that with God, all things are possible.

We recently saw thousands descend upon the Supreme Court to stand up for the rights of the unborn. To them and all those who work every day to give a voice to the unborn, I say thank you and God bless.

ECONOMIC RECOVERY PACKAGE
(Mr. SQUIRES asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. SQUIRES. Madam Speaker, last week American companies announced that they will be laying off more than 102,000 employees in the coming weeks.

The economic situation is clearly getting worse, and Congressional Democrats are taking steps to get people back to work and to save jobs that without action will be lost in the next few months.

Last week, the House passed legislation that will save and create 3 to 4 million jobs. We will create nearly half a million jobs by investing in clean energy. Our economic package also puts nearly 400,000 people to work repairing crumbling roads, bridges and schools.

In another effort to jump start our economy, it also gives 95 percent of Americans an immediate tax cut.

Madam Speaker, economists told us that we needed to act boldly and swiftly to address our Nation’s troubled economy. This week, the Senate must pass the economic recovery package so that we can begin the long process of turning this economy around. Failure to act, as some on the other side of the aisle seem to believe, to do, is simply not an option.

STIMULUS MUST STIMULATE ECONOMY
(Mrs. MILLER of Michigan asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. MILLER. Madam Speaker, I believe that there is broad bipartisan consensus in this House that we must act to stimulate our economy. And actually, the vote last week indicated that there is a bipartisan belief that we can do this.

I have talked to my constituents, to local school districts, and local government and business leaders, and the consensus is that we must do better.

Too many programs were included in that bill that will not stimulate our economy. When we are borrowing money from our children and grandchildren, we have a responsibility to make certain that the plan will work, that it will create jobs, and that it will help get our economy moving.

President Obama has reached out his hand asking for bipartisan cooperation, and many of us are ready to answer his call. I believe that we can create a bill along the broad outlines put forward by the President and pass such a bill with strong bipartisan support. All it will take is the majority including the gentleman from New Jersey, that government rather than the productive sector needs to create more jobs.

Well, according to our new President and Members of this Congress, the $825 billion spending bill is going to create 3 million new jobs. I thought that sounded pretty good in an economy that is hurting like ours until I pulled out a pocket calculator and did the math.

3 million new jobs for $825 billion, that comes to $275,000 per job.

That’s by the President’s own numbers, $275,000 that will have to be paid back, with interest, by average Americans for every job that he himself says will be created.

Madam Speaker, we do not need to stimulate government. Government continues to grow just fine. We need to stimulate the productive sector, and the best way to do that is to get off its back.

SAVING CHILDREN’S LIVES
(Mrs. GRAYSON asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mrs. GRAYSON. Madam Speaker, I have five children, two of them are 3-year-olds who were born prematurely. They were in the hospital for a long time. They were on respirators for a long time. They were on 24-hour monitoring for a very, very long time.

If a doctor had come to me and said to me, Mr. GRAYSON, we can save your children but it will cost a million dollars, I would have said okay.

If a doctor had said, Mr. GRAYSON, we are saving your children, but it is going to cost your right arm, I would have said okay because the life of a child is more important than money. And yet, in America we have 25,000 children who die every year without reaching their first birthday.

This bill will cover 4 million children with health care who otherwise won’t have
it. I turn to the other side of the aisle and I say: Let’s save those lives, let’s choose life.

STOP BAILOUT BONUSES

(Mr. SAM JOHNSON of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. SAM JOHNSON of Texas. Madam
Speaker, last week Americans learned of 50,000 new layoffs in just one day. We also heard another startling fact: that the financial industry bailed out by Uncle Sam paid $18 billion in bonuses.

That’s just appalling.

The $18 billion payout in 2008 ranks as the sixth highest in bonus history and compares with 2004, a banner year, on Wall Street.

As a supporter of free enterprise, I back performance-based bonuses for a job well done.

Banks just barely getting by, thanks to taxpayer bailout money, have no business paying bonuses. With our economy sliding deeper into recession, this reckless decision to pay bonuses showcases the disgraceful behavior of greed and arrogance of Wall Street that Americans detest. It is flat irresponsible.

Let’s stop the bailout bonus bonanza now.

RECKLESS SPENDING

(Mr. BURGESS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BURGESS. Madam Speaker, the American people understand the need for a stimulus. They understand the need for job creation. What they don’t understand is why we are pursuing this reckless path of aimless spending.

Now we have heard it over and over again. Elections have consequences, they won, and we understand that. We also hear the need for bipartisan bills. But I have to ask you, Madam Speaker, doesn’t legislation also have consequences?

We often ask ourselves what makes a bill bipartisan? Is it just because we all have a chance to vote one way or the other and for that reason it is a bipartisan fort even if you vote against it or for it.

In reality, a bipartisan bill begins at its inception where the ideas are talked about among Members and typically amongst their staff. Certainly it involves hearings and markups at the subcommittee level, and certainly it involves hearings and markups at the full committee level. But many of the bills we have before us fail to achieve that lofty goal.

We are about to pass a stimulus bill that will vastly increase Medicaid spending, but at the same time in this great wash of cash, we can do nothing to provide adequate payments to providers. That would have been a bipartisan effort.

CHILDREN’S HEALTH INSURANCE PROGRAM REAUTHORIZATION
ACT OF 2009

Mr. POLIS of Colorado. Madam
Speaker, by direction of the Committee on Rules, I call up House Resolution 107. I respectfully ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the resolution, as follow:

H. Res. 107

Resolved, That upon adoption of this resolution it shall be in order for the House to adopt the Senate amendment to the table the bill (H.R. 2) to amend title XXI of the Social Security Act to extend and improve the Children’s Health Insurance Program, and for other purposes, with the Senate amendment thereto, and to consider the House, without intervention of any point of order except those arising under clause 10 of rule XXI, a motion offered by the chair of the Committee on Energy and Commerce or his designee that the House concur in the Senate amendment. The Senate amendment and the motion shall be considered as read. The motion shall be debatable for one hour equally divided among and controlled by the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on Energy and Commerce and the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on Ways and Means.

I rise in support of House Resolution
107, the Children’s Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act. I again wish to thank Speaker PELOSI who has been an unrelenting champion on this important issue. I also want to thank Chairman RANGEL and Chairman DINNer for sponsoring bills that were vetoed in the 110th Congress, and Chairman WAXMAN and all of my colleagues for their leadership on this issue in this Congress, and I want to recognize eveveryone’s efforts to bring this bill to

Although I began my House service only a few weeks ago, I have received hundreds of letters from constituents who have serious concerns about health care cost and coverage. Too often is the story of hardworking, low-income moms and dads forced to choose between buying groceries and visiting their family doctor. I have heard from those who have either lost their health care coverage or feared that they will lose it because they simply can’t afford it.

A large majority of Americans of all political persuasions support this important bill. It’s a fiscally responsible way to not only extend the number of children in our Nation who will receive health care, but to improve the quality of that care. This bill relieves the burden of taxpayers who currently subsidize millions of costly and inefficient uninsured emergency room visits. By encouraging preventative care for children who lack insurance today, we can actually reduce costs from the system and provide healthier outcomes for young people.

This bill is just common sense, given the Nation’s skyrocketing health care costs, coupled with our current ecoomic challenges. It is an investment where the return is a generation of healthy, happy and productive Americans. This legislation will provide health care coverage for more than 11 million children nationally.

Tomorrow morning, 170,000 children in my home State of Colorado wake up without health insurance. That is 170,000 too many. This bill will change that terrible statistic for the better by giving States the vital tools needed to reach out to uninsured children who are eligible for SCHIP and Medicaid, but not yet enrolled. This is not only critical to Colorado, but to all our States and territories.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — HOUSE

Madam Speaker, the epidemic of the uninsured is a consequence of the collapse of our struggling economy, it is a component of it. Under a new administration, with the political will of this new Congress, we have the power to set this particular wrong right. A healthy economy is supported by healthy people. Providing health care insurance for millions of uninsured Americans is an important beginning to keeping our people and our economy healthy. But it is just a beginning.

Protecting the health of our Nation’s young children is of paramount importance to society and the security of our Nation. A recent military study reveals that one-third of American teenagers are incapable of passing a basic physical test. This legislation will help give every child a chance at a healthy start.

With rising unemployment, a battered economy and more layoffs coming every day, the plight of the uninsured is likely to only get worse. Next month, if the SCHIP program expires. Our failure today would add millions of children to the rolls of the uninsured. To me, my constituents, and hopefully to my colleagues, as well, this is unacceptable. Today we have an opportunity to protect millions of children across the Nation who don’t have a voice and to safeguard their future.

I urge you to vote for this legislation.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. SESSIONS. Madam Speaker, I rise today in strong opposition to this completely closed rule and to the ill-conceived underlying legislation.

Madam Speaker, the gentleman from Colorado, extended me the time, well understands, as a freshman, that we have a good number of new Members to this body and who will be making a decision and voting for very important public policy decisions. It’s my hope today that I will be able to gather together an argument, not to rebuke the gentleman, but to show him and many of his other new colleagues, my new colleagues, why the statement “cost effective and common sense” does not apply to the SCHIP bill that the gentleman brings forth today.

Madam Speaker, 2 weeks ago I questioned my Democrat colleagues about their claim to be the most honest, open and transparent House in history when they put out that that is what the leadership of this body is attempting to accomplish. Once again, I will question that claim, because we’re provided with a product and a process that is none of the above.

I know that the gentleman on the Rules Committee had a chance, just last night, to hear a debate in the Rules Committee about this SCHIP bill. And I believe that hearing would produce enough evidence to suggest that this bill is neither cost effective nor common sense. Since the beginning of the 111th Congress, my colleagues on the other side of the aisle have had no regard—for regular order and continue to cram legislation through this body without Republican input.

When I came to the floor last month to oppose the previous version of this legislation, I explained my opposition on the very point that it had been brought to the floor without a single legislative markup. So unfortunately, the new Members of this body, unless they serve on the Rules Committee, have not heard the real facts of the case.

The real facts of the case, unfortunately, have not changed. In fact, neither Republican leadership nor Republican members on the Energy and Commerce Committee have had any opportunity to participate in drafting this 280-plus pages piece of legislation. I will bet that, Republican members, or Republican leadership have had no chance to craft any part of this 280-page legislative bill.

On January 12 of this year, my Republican colleagues and myself sent to President Speaker Pelosi, which I would like included in the RECORD, a letter outlining what Republicans would like to see the majority party, the Democrats, consider before expanding the current SCHIP program. We still, as of this morning, have received no answer, no answer, to a forthright and open letter. In responding to this, we are simply asking today on the floor of the House of Representatives for the opportunity not only to be heard but also to make sure that the newest Members of this body have a chance to know the facts of the case. And in reauthorizing this program, the first priority should be, should be, to make sure that our Nation’s poorest uninsured children are covered. The intent of the program is that. And we must first fulfill that goal.

Currently, at least two-thirds of the children who do not have health insurance are already eligible for Federal help through either SCHIP or Medicaid. The second priority is to ensure that SCHIP does not replace or significantly impact those who already have private health insurance and replace it with a government-run program. Speaking of government-run, you would take someone who has private health insurance and move them to a government-run program?

Madam Speaker, if this legislation passes, we know that there are 2.4 million children who will be moved from private insurance to SCHIP, a program that reimburses physicians 30 to 50 percent less than private health insurance. As a matter of fact, last night in the Rules Committee, there was in the debate that took place an acknowledgment from the Member who said, yes, he did understand. They’re even having problems getting physicians who will accept the patients because of the reduction in the reimbursement. Common sense would tell you that alone is not cost effective nor common sense.

More to my point about the newest Members of this body understanding the facts of the case because regular order and continue to cram legislation through this body without Republican input.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. SESSIONS. Madam Speaker, I rise today in strong opposition to this legislation that takes out from the law and offers no safeguards to ensure a check that it will be for American children before illegal immigrants. Once again, cost effective, and once again, common sense for the new Members of this body.

The Democrats’ proposed $32.8 billion expansion of a program that has yet to accomplish its original intent is typical of my friends on the other side. My friends, the Democrats, continue to push their government-run health care agenda, “universal coverage” as they call it, even though this legislation moves 2.4 million children currently on private health coverage to an inferior public program with less access. Common sense says you should not be doing that.

So, then, with physicians scaling back on Medicaid and SCHIP due to the extremely low government reimbursement rate, why would we want to subject 4 million more children to this type of care? Once again, the standard of common sense. I don’t know that this bill passes that hurdle. Madam Speaker, it seems unlikely that my Democratic colleagues are putting their agenda first, not our children’s health care.

In the days where Congress is faced with a second $350 billion financial services bailout and a proposed $1.2 trillion stimulus package, the Federal Government in any financial shape to be financing health care costs for children who are already receiving priority health insurance? Once again, the test of common sense and cost effectiveness would fail this legislation.

Therefore, I lend my colleagues before us recklessly increases entitlement spending by at least $73.3 billion over the next 10 years. That is increasing it due to the new entitlements. That is neither cost effective nor common sense. This expansion will allow SCHIP to grow at an annual rate of 23.7 percent over the next 5 years. Once again, not cost effective and not common sense.

Based on the Treasury Department’s financial report, the government has $56 trillion in unfunded liabilities, the most important of which is the Federal Government’s health care program. Why not do something that would be for the Nation’s poorest children rather than trying to push 2.4 million more children, unless you have a political agenda rather than a public policy agenda.

Each year that Congress fails to act on a solution, the long-term problem grows by $2 to $3 trillion. Do my friends on the other side of the aisle not see the writing on the wall? Where is common sense?

Madam Speaker, last week, a bipartisan group of Members voted against the Democratic Party’s $1.2 trillion stimulus package. Not only was the Democrat plan full of wasteful government spending that would not stimulate the economy, but my friends on the other side of the aisle shut out Republicans from the process much as they are doing today.

The American people are hurting. And the economy is struggling. Americans know that we cannot borrow and spend our way back to a growing economy. Republicans have a plan for fast-acting tax relief that will release the resources and creativity of the American people to create 6.2 million new jobs. Madam Speaker, I ask my Democratic colleagues, if the American people had the choice between fast-acting tax relief and slow, wasteful government spending, which would they choose? Trust me. A number of Democrats and every single Republican knew the answer on this floor. It is common sense to vote “no.”

This so-called “stimulus bill” includes $524 billion in spending provisions, $3 billion in prevention and wellness, including $400 million for STD prevention, sexually transmitted disease prevention, and $600 million to buy new cars for government workers. That will make sure we don’t have to ask for reform out of the Big Three auto makers. We will just buy them at the current rate. The bill includes $150 million for building repairs for the Smithsonian, $1 billion for follow-up on the health care plans that does not even begin until April 1, 2010, $1 billion for Amtrak which has not turned a profit in 40 years, $400 million for global-warming research, and another $2.2 billion for carbon-capture demonstration projects. The list goes on and on and on.

The American people deserve to know how their hard-earned tax dollars will stimulate the economy, not government spending where Washington gets to spend and Washington gets to give with good intentions so that the American people have confidence, not only in Congress, but in their own individual Member of Congress who casts that vote.

If expanding SCHIP to families making $80,000 a year isn’t enough, as this bill does, last week my Democrat colleagues voted in favor of making Wall Street millionaires and billionaires, like the former Lehman Brothers CEO, who was reported to have earned nearly half a billion dollars in compensation, eligible for public health subsidies. Approximately $100 billion of our friends’, the Democrats’, $1.2 trillion stimulus is the bailout for the failing Medicaid program. One such bailout provision is section 3003, which expands Medicaid eligibility to all individuals currently receiving unemployment benefits, regardless of their personal income or financial assets.

Boy, once again that standard of common sense and cost-effectiveness that my good friend from Colorado talked about is simply not there.

Madam Speaker, why are our friends, the Democrats, trying to force American taxpayers to pay for free health coverage for the very same executives who helped create the financial crisis in the stimulus package able to get this help?

Adding another trillion dollars to the Federal deficit and swelling the number of persons dependent on subsidized, government-run health care is hazardous to the health of the American economy. Any burden we place on our grandchildren.

The American people want more than just welfare. They want freedom. They want jobs. They want a real stimulus package and a real SCHIP bill. That’s what this Congress is failing to provide. The American people want more innovation, more efficiency, more accountability, and they want cost effectiveness and common sense. Evidently, this body is in short supply of each of those items under this leadership.

The American people hate waste in government. The Democrats, who are the majority party, are spending like never before, delaying even the thought of addressing the underlying programs of the already burdensome Medicaid and SCHIP programs. My friends on the other side of the aisle seem to be playing with money that does not even exist. We are printing it at this time. The printing presses are alive and working 24 hours a day, just simply first to meet the $700 billion bailout, and then to prepare for the $1.3 trillion stimulus package that is prepared for the President’s signature soon.

So what’s next? A $32.8 billion expansion of SCHIP, and finally, the massive omnibus which is expected this week or next.

We should be demanding more accountability. We should be demanding cost effectiveness, and we should be demanding common sense. That’s what the American people want, Madam Speaker.

Madam Speaker, we need a fast-acting tax relief bill that will stimulate the economy and create jobs. We cannot borrow and spend our way out of this crisis. We need to secure the original intent of the current government programs before expanding additional programs.

I came to Congress to protect the American taxpayer, which is why I encourage my colleagues to oppose this rule and the underlying legislation.
be funded through a stable funding source, not budget gimmicks. Further, the legislation should not include extraneous provisions unrelated to SCHIP that limit patient choices or deny access to quality medical care. Our nation’s Governors need a stable SCHIP program so they may properly budget. Every American faces the crushing burden of health care. This should not be a time Congress raises taxes, especially on the poorest Americans, to finance program expansions as part of the SCHIP reauthorization bill.

We believe these to be critical elements to improve this vital program that if fully corporated would dramatically increase bipartisan support for the legislation. Thank you for the consideration of this request. We look forward hearing from you and working with you towards a bipartisan agreement.

Sincerely,

Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. POLIS of Colorado. Madam Speaker, as you know, children do not control what family they are born into. And an important part of the meritocracy that makes our country great is that every child should have the opportunity to succeed. Establishing healthy habits and a healthy life early in life, regardless of the parent’s station, is an important part of making sure that a child has the opportunity to climb to whatever station they are capable of.

Madam Speaker, I would like to yield 2 minutes to a gentleman from Connecticut (Ms. DeLAURO).

Ms. DeLAURO. Madam Speaker, at a time when more and more parents and fathers are huddled around their kitchen table worried about how to cope with a job loss or pay their most basic expenses, why not have an opportunity today, an opportunity to ensure that 11 million children can get affordable health care coverage through the Children’s Health Insurance Program.

In my home State of Connecticut, unemployment keeps rising, and people are going from worried to scared. At such a time, it is our most basic economic and moral responsibility to provide health care to the most vulnerable among us. In this country, where 9 million children go without health care, why not let another day go by without passing this legislation.

This is a smart investment in children, in their health and in their success at school and in life. It provides critical dental care so that children, prenatal care to make sure every child has the best chance at a healthy start. It will help to discourage millions of children from smoking, a smart step towards a healthier Nation. We must shore up this vital safety net. We can afford it. It is a simple choice about fulfilling America’s promise for our Nation’s children and giving a small measure of peace of mind for their families.

I might say to my colleague on the other side of the aisle that, on a bipartisan basis, overwhelmingly, this House voted to pass the children’s health insurance bill. The United States Senate overwhelmingly on a bipartisan basis voted to pass the children’s health insurance bill. It was the former President of the United States who decided to veto that legislation when a majority of the American public supports health insurance for our children. Today we have an opportunity to right a wrong. Let’s pass the children’s health insurance bill. Let’s get it to the President’s desk. Let’s get it signed, and let’s give relief to the millions of families out there who are struggling.

Members of this body have health insurance, and their children have it. Why shouldn’t the children of working and middle class Americans?

Mr. SESSIONS. Madam Speaker, I would like to yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from Lewisville, Texas, Dr. BURGESS.

Mr. BURGESS. I urge my colleagues to look long and hard before voting on this rule today, and I urge a “no” vote on the rule. The fact is, Madam Speaker, that over half of the country has not had an opportunity to participate in this debate. 40 percent of this country is represented by Republican Members. We have not had input into this bill.

12 percent of this Congress is new. They have had no input into this bill. That leaves over half the country who haven’t been part of this debate.

Last night in the Rules Committee in one last attempt, I tried to modify the rule by adding 30 billion at a bipartisan bill when the two principal Republican sponsors in the other body withdrew their support for this bill as it came through the Senate.

I introduced an amendment that would have required identity, a person to provide proper identification before they signed up for SCHIP; not another step, but just simply another line that needed to be filled out on the form, and that was rejected.

You have to show your ID before you cash a check at the grocery store. Why shouldn’t they have to show identification before they sign up for this benefit?

I also introduced an amendment, after all, we are, as the Member from Texas said, the gentleman from Texas said, that children should be taken off of private health insurance and putting them on public health insurance. Why shouldn’t we not at least ensure that we will pay the providers a sufficient amount so that they will participate in the program?

Currently, it is difficult to find providers who will accept Medicaid and SCHIP. I introduced an amendment that would have required 90 percent of the reimbursement from the Federal Blue Cross/Blue Shield program or the States’ largest.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. SESSIONS. I give the gentleman 30 additional seconds.

Mr. BURGESS. Last night in the Rules Committee I introduced an amendment that would have required States to reimburse physicians at 90 percent of the Blue Cross/Blue Shield rate or the largest State HMO rate in that State or the insurance that the State provides for their own employees. That amendment was not even allowed a vote on the floor. This is the type of exclusionary politics that is being practiced in the House of Representatives, and the sooner we get past this point, the President asked for a more open and bipartisan government, the sooner we get past that point, the better for the American people.

Mr. POLIS of Colorado. Madam Speaker, a brief history on the SCHIP legislation and why this is so critical for us to pass here today. This rule before the House would permit the House to concur in the Senate amendment because this legislation has been considered repeatedly and thoroughly in the House in this Congress and the last.

In July of 2007 the House considered H.R. 3162 to reauthorize and amend SCHIP and the bill passed. In September 2007 the House considered H.R. 976 to reauthorize and amend SCHIP. The bill passed. The Senate also passed the bill and it was presented to President Bush and received a veto. In October 2007 the House again tried to reauthorize SCHIP. 3963 was the House bill. Passed the House, passed the Senate. The President again vetoed the bill and the House was unable to override the veto.

Ultimately, legislation to merely extend SCHIP as it was enacted into law will expire next month. Children’s lives are at stake. That’s what’s so critical about passing this bill today.

When people lack health care insurance they often don’t seek preventative care and are forced to use emergency rooms as their primary care provider. Not only does this cost more, this also provides for worse health outcomes, and conditions that could have been dealt with less expensively and more successfully in the onset are instead deferred, and incur more expense and worse health outcomes.

By passing this bill today, we can ensure that hundreds of thousands of poor children across our country receive adequate health care and are able to succeed and grow in school and be able to succeed in their lives.

Madam Speaker, I would like to reserve the balance of my time. Mr. SESSIONS. Madam Speaker, at this time I would like to yield 1 1/2 minutes to the gentleman from Marietta, Georgia, Dr. Gingrey.

Dr. Gingrey of Georgia. Madam Speaker, I do rise in strong opposition to this closed rule, as well as the underlying legislation, the Children’s Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act of 2009.

The Democratic majority has once again brought forward a closed rule that only tramples on the rights of the minority, and in fact, the development of this legislation has the majority even entertained the idea of allowing Republicans to work with them in a bipartisan manner to improve the bill.

As a physician, I keenly know how important it is that the Federal Government plays a role in providing health care to low-income children. At the same time, we must pass legislation that first reaches those who are most in need of this assistance.

During the initial consideration of H.R. 2 by the House, I offered an amendment that would have addressed a very important problem within current law that H.R. 2 overlooks, the practice of some States using loopholes to allow people to disregard significant portions of their income to make them eligible for CHIP and Medicaid. At the same time, some of these same States, these loophole States, have not provided for the children who demonstrate the most need for these programs.

Madam Speaker, my commonsense amendment would have simply instituted a gross income cap of 250 percent of the Federal poverty level for both CHIP and Medicaid eligibility, and it would limit any income disregards to a maximum of $250 a month or $3,000 per year. This amendment would grant those in those individuals who are already receiving Medicaid and CHIP so that we do not deprive current beneficiaries.

Therefore, Madam Speaker, I urge all my colleagues oppose the closed rule. The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. Gingrey of Georgia. I want to just in closing, Madam Speaker, urge all my colleagues, oppose this closed rule and this underlying legislation. Give us a chance, in a bipartisan spirit, to make this good law even better.

Mr. Polis of Colorado. Madam Speaker, I am proud to back a plan to help improve the health and chance for success of 11 million children. It also reduces the more costly nature of emergency room use, and moves us closer to providing every child in our Nation with affordable, high quality health care.

This bill also extends health care coverage to 4.1 million additional low-income children who are currently uninsured.

A healthy child is better prepared for learning and success. Studies show that early childhood health is indicative and can, in fact, impact the learning processes, the special education needs of the child and indeed, even the IQ of the child as the child matriculates through education. By making sure that children have health care coverage, we can, in fact, prevent a lot of gaps within our education system from arising before they are, and ensure that children, regardless of their background, have the opportunity to succeed in our country. This is the change that America needs.

Providing health care coverage for children and indeed, all Americans, is one of the reasons that I ran for Congress. Providing health care to 4 million more children will be a clear demonstration that change has come to Washington.

This is legislation that President Bush vetoed twice in the 110th Congress. Today we have the opportunity to send this bill to a new President who has committed to sign it this very afternoon and begin implementing it immediately to help cover 4.1 million additional children in our Nation.

Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. Sessions. Mr. Speaker, I yield the gentleman from Marietta, Georgia, Dr. Gingrey.

Dr. Gingrey of Georgia. Madam Speaker, I am proud to back a plan to help improve the health and chance for success of 11 million children. Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.
With regard to income limits, this bill does provide that if a State covers children in families of three with income over $52,800, which is 300 percent of the poverty rate, then the States get the regular Medicaid match rate. There are, in fact, income provisions in both as well as in the current version of the bill, which prevents payments to individuals not lawfully residing in the United States. So I believe that the issues that have been raised by my colleagues are addressed in the bill.

As I have mentioned, this bill has been voted on a number of times in Congress. The main difference now is we are sending it to a President who has indicated that he is, in fact, willing to sign it. The bill has been clear.

The bill says. The bill says very clearly that the issues that have been raised by my colleagues are addressed in the bill. The bill says very clearly that there is no new spending, that the bill, which prevents payments to individuals not lawfully residing in the United States will not receive payments, and it also is very clear with regard to the income level. So I think that this bill has been clear.

Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. SESSIONS. Madam Speaker, at this time, I would like to yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Lafayette, Louisiana (Mr. BOUSTANY).

Mr. BOUSTANY. Madam Speaker, I rise in opposition to the rule and to the underlying bill.

Last week, the Democratic majority rushed a flawed bill through the process, laden with wasteful spending of borrowed money that has not been shown or demonstrated to create jobs.

The American people are hurting. They are clearly hurting. We have tough economic times, and we have a responsibility to legislate and to legislate in a responsible way. Too often, children on Medicaid or on SCHIP receive fewer visits with primary care providers than those with private coverage.

As a physician, I know that government-run programs must achieve better results. My State has the eighth highest ER visit rate. This is unacceptable and we can do better. Now, the GAO has criticized government-run programs, like SCHIP, for disregarding patient problems. It warned: "Coverage alone does not guarantee services will be available or that children will receive needed care."

It is disappointing to me that the majority rushed this flawed bill to the floor without permitting any opportunity for improvements. In fact, as proposed, this bill would exacerbate enrollee children's access problems. The CBO warned that a similar bill would force more than 2.4 million children out of private health care plans and onto government rolls. The bill does not work for children who really need it — those who really already qualify for it but who are not enrolled. There are far too many of these children out there. This massive expansion fails to help those children most of all. States should measure also and report provider access problems in SCHIP programs to the Congress, just as they do for this, and it was not even entertained in the Rules Committee. I do not understand this, and it was not even entertained in the Rules Committee. I do not understand the closed debate here, the closed opportunity.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. SESSIONS. I yield the gentleman an additional 15 seconds.

Mr. BOUSTANY. Madam Speaker, I also need to limit the crowd-out of private coverage and target the neediest children for enrollment first. We need to help poor children first. I know we can do better. Oppose this rule. Oppose this bill.

Mr. POLIS of Colorado. Madam Speaker, I would also like to discuss that SCHIP will provide dental care, alleviating the most common childhood disease — tooth decay.

I cannot help but remember a story that was told to me when I was visiting a free dental clinic in Boulder, Colorado, that provides services to those individuals who are uninsured. The story is about a young girl who was in the third grade. Due to the lack of dental care and poor dental hygiene practices at home, her teeth had actually rotted out. This is when she was a young girl. She had received care for that as well. As a result, she was very, very shiny, and was constantly in pain. Her diet suffered. She suffered malnutrition because of the condition of her teeth. Fortunately, the community there was able to help her, but there are hundreds of thousands of young people across the country who suffer from no or from poor quality dental care, which has vast ramifications as well.

In addition, this bill gives the option of providing pregnant women critical prenatal care. When we talk about the impact on reducing the need for special education and for increasing one's IQ, these things start in the prenatal stage, and they continue through early childhood. I think that that is a very important aspect in terms of giving States that option as well as covering 4.1 million additional low-income children who currently lack insurance.

Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. SESSIONS. Madam Speaker, because there were no hearings held on this subject, many, many Republicans are coming down to the floor today to give their feedback and thoughts on this issue. Our next speaker is one of the most thoughtful and caring Members of Congress.

I would like to yield 1 1/2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Fort Worth, Texas (Ms. GRANGER).

Ms. GRANGER. Madam Speaker, I rise in opposition to the rule for the consideration of the SCHIP bill we will be considering later today.

The rule does not allow for the consideration of any amendments, and it bars the Republican motion to recommit. That is not a good way to reauthorize what has been a bipartisan program.

In its original form, the SCHIP program is an excellent program that ensures medical care is available to uninsured children. During my first time in Congress, I voted to help create the SCHIP program, and I believe we need to responsibly reauthorize it. That is why I have introduced a bill to expand the SCHIP program to cover millions of uninsured kids. It is a bill that is paid for without budget gimmicks and without raising taxes.

My bill, the Kids First Act, expands SCHIP by $19.3 billion over the same 4½-year period as the Democrat bill. According to the Congressional Budget Office, the Kids First Act will cover 3.6 million previously uninsured children. Without raising taxes and without budget gimmicks, the Kids First Act truly puts kids first, eliminating nearly all adults from this program designed for children so that more children can be covered.

I urge my colleagues to oppose this rule as well as the majority's SCHIP bill and, instead, to support the Kids First Act.

Mr. POLIS of Colorado. Madam Speaker, another story from Colorado is about someone who I know first-hand at one of the schools that I was involved in running.

Like many of the students I worked with, this student lacked health care insurance. She was diagnosed with diabetes, and she was not diagnosed early. She had severe symptoms, weakness, et cetera, but because of economic barriers to seeking health care and because of her lack of insurance, she did not seek any form of preventative treatment. When she then went in, she was asked to the emergency room, and she needed emergency dialysis immediately. So a condition that could have been dealt with through a combination of diet and insulin instead became an acute condition which had to be dealt with at a much greater cost and with a worse health outcome for the individual.

These are the stories that are taking place across our great Nation. By passing this bill today, we can make a dent in making sure that people have access to preventative care and to health care throughout their childhoods.

Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. SESSIONS. Madam Speaker, if I could please inquire as to the time remaining on both sides.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Texas has 5 minutes remaining. The gentleman from Colorado has 16 ½ minutes remaining.

Mr. SESSIONS. Madam Speaker, due to the time inequality at this point, I would like to reserve my time.

Mr. POLIS of Colorado. Madam Speaker, I am the last speaker for this side. I would like to reserve my time until the gentleman has closed for his side and has yielded back his time.

Mr. SESSIONS. Madam Speaker, we have had a series of Members who have come to the floor—Republican Members—who have talked, I believe, very adequately about the frailties of this bill. The frailties of this bill are obvious. The gentleman representing the Democratic majority has indicated that there were two tests laid forth—cost-effectiveness and common sense. I believe that the feedback from the Members of Congress on the Republican side have enumerated and have talked about several things that are important.

First of all, no hearings were held. Second of all, no Republican or bipartisan feedback was allowed in this bill.

Thirdly, it is a huge expansion that will place this great Nation in terrible financial circumstances for the future. It expands a program that was working well in my own children. Lastly, it will move 2.4 million children from a private-run insurance program to a government-run insurance program. We think that is a failure. We believe the two tests have not passed.

In conclusion, I want to say that I oppose this closed rule. With the current program not expiring until March 31 of this year, we have seen enough Members question the underlying legislation, and it deserves to be debated, I believe, openly and, I believe, in the committees of jurisdiction before we take a vote to pass on such a large expansion of a government program.

This legislation spends billions of dollars to substitute superior, private health care coverage with an inferior government-run program. It enables illegal aliens to fraudulently enroll in Medicaid and SCHIP. The majority party knows that, and so does every Member of this body. The legislation increases the number of adults on SCHIP, allowing even more resources to be taken away from low-income, uninsured children who need it the most and what this legislation should be about.

Madam Speaker, this legislation moves us closer and closer and closer to not only financial insanity but also to a government-run health care program and further away from access to quality health care, which is what this should be about, but what it should be about is quality health care for poor children. That is not what we are doing here today.

I encourage all of my colleagues to vote “no” on the rule and “no” on the underlying piece of legislation because, today, unlike before today, each of my colleagues has had a chance to hear the facts of the case. The facts of the case are compelling. The test that was established by our Democrat majority colleagues about cost-effectiveness and common sense does not apply. Why? For these reasons on these issues, I believe that the Republicans have stated the case of why we should not only vote “no” but why this is a bad deal not just for the taxpayers but for the children it was intended to help.

I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. POLIS of Colorado. Madam Speaker, SCHIP currently provides for coverage of 7 million children. This bill before us today would also allow for extending the coverage to 41 million uninsured children, every single one of them who is currently eligible for but not enrolled in SCHIP and Medicaid. Polls have shown that more than 8 percent of the American people support this bipartisan legislation, including large majorities of both major political parties. This is not only popular, Madam Speaker; this is the right thing to do for American families.

I urge a “yes” vote on the previous question and on the rule.

Ms. CASTOR of Florida. Madam Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 2 as amended and this rule. We will finally pass the children’s health care bill today, send it to President Obama for his signature, and provide affordable medical care to millions of children across America.

I was in the pediatrician’s office last Friday with my daughters. There is nothing like the feeling of knowing that your children are healthy after a checkup or that they are on the road to recovery. I speak for millions of parents who can share that sense of relief because they can take their kids to the doctor’s office and do so without breaking the family bank.

What good news for all Americans that one of the first bills President Obama will sign today will be one that improves access to quality affordable health care and reduces the cost of health care for families.

More affordable health care is central to our economic recovery and it is fundamental for families.

I am proud to say that the precursor to SCHIP originated in the 1990s as a new health care initiative in the state of Florida where the innovators enrolled kids in a health care plan at the start of the school year. They understood that healthy kids succeed in school at higher rates.

President Clinton and the Congress were so impressed by what Florida was doing in Floridians Kidcare, they took the blueprint and fashioned the national SCHIP partnership.

Access to health care for working families in my community and all over America through this innovative partnership between Federal, State and local communities is a winning proposition.

The new law will make it easier for parents and kids to afford the doctor’s office visits, and encourage States to cut costly bureaucratic red tape.

Our children’s health care initiative ensures that newborn babies receive the medical checkups and immunizations they need, ensures that toddlers and children are taken care of as they grow, and ensures that we all save money through preventative care.

Suffering through President Bush’s opposition does over the past years has been very costly, and we have lost ground. In Florida alone, over 800,000 children lack health insurance and that’s the third highest rate in the U.S. It’s more than the population of some States and it is growing. The lack of affordable health care for these working families is making it more expensive for everyone.

We are on a different path now. I thank the many members who championed SCHIP as an initiative that works within a broader health care system that leaves many unable to afford health care in America, especially Speaker Pelosi, who never gave up and kept the promise that in the first days of a new Congress with a new President, the health of American kids and the pocketbooks of hard-working families would be paramount.

Mr. POLIS of Colorado. I yield back the balance of my time, and I move the previous question on the resolution. The previous question was ordered. The resolution was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

Mr. WAXMAN. Madam Speaker, pursuant to House Rule XIX, I call up from the Speaker’s table the bill (H.R. 2) to amend title XXI of the Social Security Act to extend and improve the Children’s Health Insurance Program, and for other purposes, with the Senate amendment thereto, and I have a motion at the desk.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will report the title of the bill, designate the Senate amendment, and designate the motion.

(A) IN GENERAL.—In addition to the payments made under paragraph (1), for each fiscal year (beginning with fiscal year 2009 and ending with fiscal year 2013) the Secretary shall pay from amounts made available under subparagraph (E), to each State that meets the conditions under paragraph (4) for the fiscal year, an amount equal to the amount described in this subparagraph (B) for the State and fiscal year. The payment under this paragraph shall be made, to a State for a fiscal year, as a single payment not later than the last day of the first calendar quarter of the following fiscal year.

(B) AMOUNT FOR ABOVE MEDICAID CHILD ENROLMENT COSTS.—Subject to subparagraph (F), the amount described in this subparagraph for a State for a fiscal year is equal to the sum of the following amounts:

(i) FIRST TIER ABOVE BASELINE MEDICAID ENROLLEES.—An amount equal to the number of first tier above baseline child enrollees (as determined under subparagraph (C)(i)) for the State and fiscal year, multiplied by 55 percent of the projected State Medicaid expenditures (as determined under subparagraph (D)) for the State and fiscal year under title XIX.

(ii) SECOND TIER ABOVE BASELINE MEDICAID ENROLLEES.—An amount equal to the number of second tier above baseline child enrollees (as determined under subparagraph (C)(ii)) for the State and fiscal year, multiplied by 62.5 percent of the projected per capita State Medicaid expenditures (as determined under subparagraph (D)) for the State and fiscal year under title XIX.

(C) NUMBER OF FIRST AND SECOND TIER ABOVE BASELINE CHILD ENROLLEES; BASELINE NUMBER OF ENROLLEES.—For purposes of this paragraph:

(i) FIRST TIER ABOVE BASELINE CHILD ENROLLEES.—The number of first tier above baseline child enrollees (as determined under subparagraph (C)(i)) for the State and fiscal year under title XIX is equal to the number (if any, as determined by the Secretary) by which—

(I) the monthly average unduplicated number of qualifying children (as defined in subparagraph (F)) enrolled during the fiscal year under title XIX as described in clause (i)(I) exceeds the baseline number of child enrollees described in clause (ii)(I), for the fiscal year under title XIX.

(II) the sum of the baseline number of child enrollees described in clause (iii) for the State and fiscal year under title XIX, as described in clause (i)(II), and the maximum number of first tier above baseline child enrollees for the State and fiscal year under title XIX, as determined under clause (i).

(iii) BASELINE NUMBER OF CHILD ENROLLEES.—

(III) BASELINE NUMBER OF CHILD ENROLLEES.—For purposes of subparagraph (D), the projected per capita expenditures under the State child health plan (as determined under subparagraph (C)(C) for the fiscal year, multiplied by the enhanced FMAP (as defined in section 2105(b)) for the State and fiscal year involved (or in which the period occurs).

(B) TARGET AVERAGE NUMBER OF CHILD ENROLLEES.—The target average number of children enrolled in the State child health plan under this title (including such children receiving health care coverage through funds under this title pursuant to a waiver under section 1115) during fiscal year 2008 increased by the population growth for children in that State for the year ending on June 30, 2007 (as estimated by the Bureau of the Census) plus 4 percentage points; and

For purposes of subparagraph (A)(ii), the projected per capita expenditures under the State child health plan (as determined under subparagraph (C) for the fiscal year, multiplied by the enhanced FMAP (as defined in section 2105(b)) for the State and fiscal year involved (or in which the period occurs).

(ii) SECOND TIER ABOVE BASELINE MEDICAID ENROLLEES.—

The number of second tier above baseline child enrollees (as determined under subparagraph (C)(ii)) for the State and fiscal year, multiplied by 62.5 percent of the projected per capita State Medicaid expenditures (as determined under subparagraph (D)) for the State and fiscal year under title XIX.

(iii) TRANSFERS.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this title, the following amounts shall also be available, without fiscal year limitation, for making payments under this paragraph.

(g) Application to States that implement a Medicaid Expansion for Children after Fiscal Year 2008.—In the case of a State that provides coverage under section 115 of the Children's Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act of 2009 for any fiscal year after fiscal year 2008:

(i) any child enrolled in the State plan under title XIX through the application of such an election procedure from the determination for the State of the monthly average unduplicated number of qualifying children enrolled in such plan during the first 3 fiscal years in which such election procedure is in effect;

(ii) in determining the baseline number of child enrollees for the State for any fiscal year subsequent to such first 3 fiscal years, the baseline shall be determined by the State plan under title XIX for such third fiscal year shall be the monthly average unduplicated number of qualifying children enrolled in the State plan under title XIX for such third fiscal year.

(4) Enrollment and Retention Provisions for Children.—For purposes of paragraph (3)(A), a State meets the condition of this paragraph for a fiscal year if it is implementing at least 5 of the following enrollment and retention provisions (treating each subparagraph as a separate enrollment and retention provision) throughout the entire fiscal year:

(A) Continuous Eligibility.—The State has elected the option of continuous eligibility for a presumptive eligibility period under section 1920A(a) of title XIX under title XIX for the duration of such period.

(B) Liberalization of Asset Requirements.—The State meets the requirement specified in either of the following clauses:

(i) Elimination of In-Person Interview.—The State does not apply any asset or resource test for eligibility for children under title XIX or this title.

(ii) Administrative Verification of Assets.—The State permits a parent or caretaker relative who is applying on behalf of a child for medical assistance under title XIX to verify a child's eligibility under title XIX by certification of the information relating to family assets for purposes of determining and redetermining financial eligibility; and

(iii) takes steps to verify assets through means other than by requiring documentation from parents and applicants except in individual circumstances justifying an in-person application of a child for medical assistance under title XIX (or for medical assistance under title XIX in the case of a child in a family plan) or by the Secretary, that the projected expenditures under section 2107 of this title for which the Secretary estimates on or before the end of the immediately preceding fiscal year in which they are redistributed.

(C) Elimination of In-Person Interview Requirement.—The State does not require an application for a child for medical assistance under title XIX (or for child health assistance under this title), including an application for renewal of such assistance, to be made in person nor does the State require a face-to-face interview, unless there are discrepancies or individual circumstances justifying an in-person application or face-to-face interview.

(D) Use of Joint Application for Medicaid and CHIP.—The application form and supplemental forms (if any) and information verification process is the same for purposes of establishing and renewing eligibility for children for medical assistance under title XIX and child health assistance under this title.

(E) Automatic Renewal (Use of Administrative Renewal).—(i) In General.—The State provides, in the case of renewal of a child's eligibility for medical assistance under title XIX or child health assistance under this title, a pre-printed form and information from the information available to the State and notice to the parent or caretaker relative of the child that eligibility of the child will be renewed and continued based on the information unless the State has provided other information. Nothing in this subsection shall be construed as preventing a State from verifying, through electronic and other means, the information in subsection (c) and (d) above in determining the eligibility of a child for medical assistance under title XIX or child health assistance under this title.

(ii) Satisfaction Through Demonstrated Use of Ex Parte Process.—A State shall be treated as satisfying the requirement of clause (i) if renewal of eligibility of children under title XIX or this title is determined without any requirement for an in-person interview, unless such information is not in the State's possession and cannot be acquired from other sources (including other State agencies) without the participation of the applicant or the applicant's parent or caretaker relative.

(2) Availibility of Amounts Redistributed.—Amounts redistributed to a State under subsection (j) shall be available for expenditure by the State through the end of the fiscal year in which they are redistributed.
under subparagraph (A), the amount to be redistributed under such paragraph for each shortfall State shall be reduced proportionally.

(1) RETROSPECTIVE ADJUSTMENT.—The Secretary may adjust the estimates and determinations made under paragraph (1) and this paragraph with respect to a fiscal year as necessary on the basis of the amounts reported by States not later than August 1 of the following fiscal year, as approved by the Secretary.

(2) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by paragraph (1) shall apply to distributions of allotments for fiscal year 2007 and subsequent fiscal years.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 2105(g)(42 U.S.C. 1397e(g)) is amended—

(1) in paragraph (1)(A), as amended by section 201(b)(1) of Public Law 110–173, by striking the first 2 quarters of; and

Subtitle B—Focus on Low-Income Children and Pregnant Women

SEC. 111. STATE PLAN AMENDMENTS FOR LOW-INCOME PREGNANT WOMEN UNDER CHIP THROUGH A STATE PLAN AMENDMENT OR SECTION 1115 WaIVER.

SEC. 111. STATE PLAN AMENDMENTS FOR LOW-INCOME PREGNANT WOMEN UNDER CHIP THROUGH A STATE PLAN AMENDMENT OR SECTION 1115 WAIVER.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Title XXI (42 U.S.C. 1397aa et seq.), as amended by section 112(a), is amended by adding at the end the following new section:

“SEC. 2112. OPTIONAL COVERAGE OF TARGETED LOW-INCOME PREGNANT WOMEN THROUGH A STATE PLAN AMENDMENT OR SECTION 1115 WAIVER.

“(a) IN GENERAL.—Subject to the succeeding provisions of this section, a State may elect through an amendment to its State child health plan or a section 1115 waiver to provide pregnancy-related assistance under such plan for targeted low-income pregnant women.

“(b) CONDITIONS.—A State may only elect the option under subsection (a) if the following conditions are satisfied:

“(1) MINIMUM INCOME ELIGIBILITY LEVELS FOR PREGNANT WOMEN AND CHILDREN.—The State has established an income eligibility level—

(A) for pregnant women under section 1903(a)(16)(A), (1)(C), (2), and (3) of section 1902, on the date of enactment of this title (or title XIX) that is at least 200 percent of the poverty line and considering applicable income disregards specified under subsection (a)(10)(A)(i)(III), (a)(10)(A)(i)(IV), or (I)(1)(A) of section 1902 that is at least 185 percent (or such higher percentage as the Secretary determines and makes publicly available) to pregnant women under title XIX (or such higher percentage as the Secretary determines and makes publicly available) to pregnant women under title XIX of section 2102(b)(3)(C));

(B) whose family income exceeds 185 percent (or, if higher, the percent applied under section 2112(b)(1)(A) of the poverty line applicable to a family of the size involved, but does not exceed 200 percent of the poverty line applicable to a family of the size involved, but in no case lower than the percent in effect under any such subsection as of July 1, 2008; and

(C) for children under 19 years of age under this title (or title XIX) that is at least 200 percent of the poverty line applicable to a family of the size involved.

“(2) NO CHIP INCOME ELIGIBILITY LEVEL FOR PREGNANT WOMEN LOWER THAN THE STATE’S MEDICAID INCOME ELIGIBILITY LEVEL.—A State shall not provide pregnancy-related assistance under the State plan amendment that is lower than the effective income level (expressed as a percent of the poverty line) specified in this paragraph (as of the date of enactment of this section) for targeted pregnant women under such plan.

“(3) NO COVERAGE FOR HIGHER INCOME PREGNANT WOMEN WITHOUT COVERING LOWER INCOME PREGNANT WOMEN.—The State does not provide coverage for pregnant women with higher family income without covering pregnant women with a lower family income.

“(4) APPLICABILITY OF REQUIREMENTS FOR COVERAGE OF TARGETED LOW-INCOME CHILDREN.—The State provides pregnancy-related assistance for targeted low-income pregnant women in the same manner, and subject to the same requirements, as the State provides child health assistance for targeted low-income children under the State child health plan.

“(5) NO PRIORITIZED SERVICE OR WAIVER.—The State does not prioritize any existing service or waiver for pregnant women for any existing service or waiver for pregnant women based on a targeted low-income child or a targeted low-income child and, all claims shall be submitted and paid under such number (unless the State elects to receive federal matching funds under such section and to apply such section to the family of such a woman).

“(6) NO WAITING LIST FOR CHILDREN.—The State does not impose any waiting list for the enrollment under the State child health plan of targeted low-income children during the quarter, any enrollment cap or other numerical limitation on enrollment, any waiting list, any procedures designed to delay the consideration of applications for enrollment, or any similar limitation with respect to enrollment.

“(7) OPTION TO PROVIDE PREGNANCY-RELATED ELIGIBILITY.—A State that elects the option under subsection (a) and satisfies the conditions described in subsection (b) of section 2102 (relating to presumptive eligibility for pregnant women) to the State child health plan in the same manner as such section applies to the State plan under title XXI.

“(8) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this section:

“(A) PREGNANCY-RELATED ASSISTANCE.—The term ‘pregnancy-related assistance’ has the meaning given the term ‘child health assistance’ in section 2110(a) with respect to an individual during the period described in section 2110(a).

“(B) TARGETED LOW-INCOME PREGNANT WOMAN.—The term ‘targeted low-income pregnant woman’ means an individual—

(1) who is pregnant and becomes pregnant during the period in which the 60-day period (beginning on the last day of her pregnancy) ends;

(2) whose family income exceeds 185 percent (or, if higher, the percent applied under subsection (b)(1)(A) of the poverty line applicable to a family of the size involved, but does not exceed 200 percent of the poverty line applicable to a family of the size involved, but in no case lower than the percent in effect under any such subsection as of July 1, 2008; and

(3) as the Secretary determines and makes publicly available.

“(C) PREGNANCY-RELATED ELIGIBILITY.—The State determines eligibility for pregnancy-related assistance under this section on the date of the birth of the child, the child shall be deemed to have applied for child health assistance under the State plan and to have been found eligible for such assistance under such plan or to have applied for medical assistance under title XIX and to have been found eligible for pregnancy-related assistance under this title, as appropriate, on the date of such birth and to remain eligible for such assistance until the child attains 1 year of age. During the period in which the child is the preceding sentence to be eligible for child health or medical assistance, the child health or medical assistance eligibility identification number of such child shall also serve as the identification number of the child, and all claims shall be submitted and paid under such number (unless the State elects to receive federal matching funds under such section and to apply such section to the family of such a woman).

“(D) STATES PROVIDING ASSISTANCE THROUGH OTHER OPTIONS.—

“(1) STATES PROVIDING ASSISTANCE THROUGH OTHER OPTIONS.—
(1) CONTINUATION OF OTHER OPTIONS FOR PROVIDING ASSISTANCE.—The option to provide assistance in accordance with the preceding subsections of this section shall not limit any other option to provide such assistance provided by the Federal government under any applicable existing waiver.

(2) ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA.—(A) A child health assistance through the application of sections 457.10, 457.350(b)(2), 457.622(c)(5), and 457.626(a)(3) of title 42, Code of Federal Regulations, under subparagraphs (A) and (B) of section 1115(b)(1) of the Social Security Act (as in effect on the date of the enactment of the Children's Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act of 2009) and the final rule adopted by the Secretary and set forth in the Federal Register, under subparagraphs (A) and (B) of section 1115(b)(1) of the Social Security Act (as in effect on October 2, 2002), or (B) pregnancy-related services through the application of any applicable existing waiver.

(3) LIMITATION ON WAIVER.—(A) In general.—No funds shall be available under this paragraph for any other purposes except as provided in this section and in the final rule adopted by the Secretary under subparagraphs (A) and (B) of section 1115(b)(1) of the Social Security Act (as in effect on October 2, 2002).

(4) CLARIFICATION OF AUTHORITY TO PROVIDE POSTPARTUM SERVICES.—(A) Any State that provides child health assistance under any applicable existing waiver described in paragraph (1) may continue to provide such assistance, as well as postpartum services, through the end of the month in which the 60-day period (beginning on the last day of the pregnancy) ends, in the same manner as such assistance and postpartum services would be provided if provided under the State plan under title XIX, but only if the mother would otherwise satisfy the eligibility requirements that apply under the State child health plan (other than with respect to age) during such period.

(5) LIMITATION OF WAIVER.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed—

(A) to infringe congressional intent regarding the legality or illegality of the content of the sections specified in paragraph (1)(A); or

(B) to modify the authority to provide pregnancy-related services under a waiver specified in paragraph (1)(B).

(b) ADDITIONAL CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—

(1) NO COST SHARING FOR PREGNANCY-RELATED BENEFITS.—(A) In general.—Sections 1397cc and 1397cc-1 are amended—

(i) by striking ''Arkansas'' and inserting ''Act''

(ii) by striking paragraph (1) and inserting—

(1) NO COST SHARING FOR PREGNANCY-RELATED BENEFITS.

(b) PROVIDING ASSISTANCE .—The option to provide child health assistance under a nonpregnant childless adults waiver shall—

(i) be carried out through the end of the month in which the 60-day period for the waiver expires, in accordance with subparagraphs (A) and (B) of section 1115(b)(1) of the Social Security Act (as in effect on October 2, 2002), or

(ii) not later than September 30, 2009, a request to the Secretary for an extension of the waiver. The Secretary shall approve a request for an extension of an applicable existing waiver submitted pursuant to paragraph (A) but only through December 31, 2009.

(C) APPLICATION OF ENHANCED FMAP.—The enhanced FMAP determined under section 2105(b) shall apply to expenditures under an applicable existing waiver under subparagraphs (A) and (B) of section 1115 of the State plan under title XIX to provide medical assistance to a nonpregnant child during the period beginning on the date of the enactment of this section and ending on December 31, 2009.

(D) OPTION TO APPLY FOR MEDICAID WAIVER TO CONTINUE COVERAGE FOR NONPREGNANT CHILDLESS ADULTS.—(A) In general.—Each State for which coverage under an applicable existing waiver is terminated under paragraph (2)(A) may submit, not later than September 30, 2009, an application to the Secretary for a waiver under section 1115 of the Social Security Act to provide medical assistance to a nonpregnant child whose coverage (as referred to in this subsection) is terminated under subparagraph (A) of section 2105(b) of the Social Security Act.

(B) DEADLINE FOR APPROVAL.—The Secretary shall make a decision to approve or deny an application for a Medicaid nonpregnant childless adults waiver submitted under subparagraph (A) within 90 days of the date of the submission of the application. In no case has been made by the Secretary as of December 31, 2009, on the application of a State for a Medicaid nonpregnant childless adults waiver that was submitted under subparagraph (A) of section 2105(b) of the Social Security Act, the application shall be deemed approved.

(C) STANDARD FOR BUDGET NEUTRALITY.—The budget neutrality requirement applicable with respect to expenditures for certain assistance under an applicable existing waiver for a nonpregnant child shall be—

(i) no cost sharing for pregnancy-related benefits, safe in accordance with subparagraphs (A) and (B) of section 1115(b)(1) of the Social Security Act (as in effect on October 2, 2002). or

(ii) not later than September 30, 2009, a request to the Secretary for an extension of the waiver. The Secretary shall approve a request for an extension of an applicable existing waiver submitted pursuant to paragraph (A) but only through December 31, 2009.

(2) TERMINATION OF CHIP COVERAGE UNDER APPLICABLE EXISTING WAIVERS AT THE END OF 2009.—(A) IN GENERAL.—No funds shall be available under this paragraph for any period beginning on or after January 1, 2010, in determining the period to which the waiver applies, the individuals eligible to be covered by the waiver and the amount of the Federal payment under this paragraph.

(B) EXTENSION UPON STATE REQUEST.—If an applicable existing waiver described in subparagraph (A) would otherwise expire before October 1, 2011, and the State requests an extension of such waiver, the Secretary shall grant such an extension, but only, subject to paragraph (2)(A), through September 30, 2011.

(C) APPLICATION OF ENHANCED FMAP.—The enhanced FMAP determined under section 2105(b) shall apply to expenditures under an applicable existing waiver for the provision of medical assistance to a nonpregnant child whose coverage is terminated under subparagraph (A) of section 2105(b) of the Social Security Act, during the third and fourth quarters of fiscal year 2010 and during fiscal years 2011 and 2012.

(3) SEC. 2111. PHASE-OUT OF COVERAGE FOR NONPREGNANT CHILDLESS ADULTS UNDER CHIP; CONDITIONS FOR COVERAGE OF PARENTS.

(a) PHASE-OUT RULES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Title XXI (42 U.S.C. 1396 et seq.) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"SEC. 2105(b).—Notwithstanding section 1115 or any other provision of this title, except as provided in this subsection—

(i) the Secretary shall not on or after the date of the enactment of the Children's Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act of 2009, approve or renew a waiver, experimental, pilot, or demonstration project that would allow funds made available under this title to be used to provide child health assistance or other health benefits coverage to a nonpregnant child; and

(ii) notwithstanding the terms and conditions of an applicable existing waiver, the provisions of paragraphs (2) and (3) shall apply for purposes of any period beginning on or after October 1, 2011, in determining the period to which the waiver applies, the individuals eligible to be covered by the waiver, and the amount of the Federal payment under this title.

(ii) EXTENSION UPON STATE REQUEST.—If an applicable existing waiver described in subparagraph (A) would otherwise expire before October 1, 2011, and the State requests an extension of such waiver, the Secretary shall grant such an extension, but only, subject to paragraph (2)(A), through September 30, 2011.

(iii) APPLICATION OF ENHANCED FMAP.—The enhanced FMAP determined under section 2105(b) shall apply to expenditures under an applicable existing waiver for the provision of medical assistance to a nonpregnant child whose coverage is terminated under subparagraph (A) of section 2105(b) of the Social Security Act, during the third and fourth quarters of fiscal year 2010 and during fiscal years 2011 and 2012.

(2) RULES FOR FISCAL YEARS 2012 THROUGH 2013.—(A) PAYMENTS FOR COVERAGE LIMITED TO BLOCK GRANT FUNDED FROM STATE ALLOTMENT.—Any State that provides child health assistance or health benefits coverage under an applicable existing waiver for a target low-income child may elect to continue to provide such assistance or coverage through fiscal year 2012 or 2013, subject to the same terms and conditions that applied under the applicable existing waiver, unless otherwise modified in subparagraph (B).

(B) TERMS AND CONDITIONS.—(i) BLOCK GRANT SET ASIDE FROM STATE ALLOTMENT.—If the State makes an election under subparagraph (A), the Secretary shall set aside for the State for each such fiscal year an amount equal to the target low-income child may elect to continue to provide such assistance or coverage through fiscal year 2012 or 2013, subject to the same terms and conditions that applied under the applicable existing waiver, unless otherwise modified in subparagraph (B).

(ii) Payments from block grant.—The Secretary shall pay the State on a pro rata basis the amount set aside under clause (i) for the fiscal year, an amount for each quarter of such fiscal year equal to the applicable percentage determined under clause (iii) or (iv) for expenditures in the quarter for providing child health assistance or other health benefits coverage to a target low-income child.

(iii) ENHANCED FMAP ONLY IN FISCAL YEAR 2012 FOR STATES WITH SIGNIFICANT CHILD OUTREACH OR THAT ACHIEVE CHILD COVERAGE NOVICEE; FMAP FOR EXTRAS.—For purposes of clause (ii), the applicable percentage for any quarter of fiscal year 2012 is equal to—

(I) the enhanced FMAP determined under section 2105(b) in the case of a State that meets the outreach or coverage benchmarks described...
February 4, 2009

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — HOUSE

H941

in any of subparagraph (A), (B), or (C) of paragraph (3) for fiscal year 2011; or

"(ii) the Federal medical assistance percentage (as determined under section 1905(b) without regard to clause (4) of such section) in the case of any other State.

"(iv) AMOUNT OF FEDERAL MATCHING PAYMENT IN 2011.

For purposes of clause (ii), the applicable percentage for any quarter of fiscal year 2013 is equal to—

"(i) the REMAP percentage if—

(1) with respect to the State under clause (iii) was the enhanced FMAP for fiscal year 2012; and

(2) the State met either of the coverage benchmarks described in subparagraph (B) or (C) of paragraph (3) for fiscal year 2012; or

For purposes of subclause (i), the REMAP percentage is the percentage which is the sum of any such Federal medical assistance percentage and any applicable Federal medical assistance percentage (as determined under section 1905(b) without regard to clause (4) of such section) shall be construed as prohibiting expenditures described in such subparagraph under the State for any State plan amendment to provide, expenditures for targeted low-income children for the years beginning with fiscal year 2009, the Federal medical assistance percentage (as determined under section 1905(b) without regard to clause (4) of such section) shall be substituted for the enhanced FMAP under subsection (a)(1) with respect to any expenditures for providing child health assistance or health benefits coverage for a targeted low-income child whose effective family income would exceed 300 percent of the poverty line but for the application of a general exclusion of a block of income that is not determined by type of expense or type of income.

"(B) EXCEPTION.—Subparagraph (A) shall not apply to any State that, on the date of enactment of the Children's Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act of 2009, has an approved State plan amendment or waiver to provide, or has enacted a State law to submit a State plan amendment to provide, expenditures described in such subparagraph under the State child health plan.

"(2) RULES OF CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in the amendments made by this section shall be construed as—changing any income eligibility level for children under title XXI of the Social Security Act

(2) changing the flexibility provided States under such title to establish the income eligibility level for targeted low-income children under a State child health plan and the methodologies used by the State to determine income or assets under such plan.

(2) SEC. 202. INCREASED OUTREACH AND ENROLLMENT ACTIVITIES.—

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 1132(c)(1) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1397b(c)(1)) is amended by inserting "(through community health workers and others)" after "outreach";

(b) IN FEDERAL EVALUATION.—Section 2102(c)(3)(B) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1397b(c)(3)(B)) is amended by inserting "(such as through community health workers and others)" after "including practices".
“(a) AGREEMENTS BY STATES FOR MEDICAID AND CHIP OUTREACH ON OR NEAR RESERVATIONS TO INCREASE THE ENROLLMENT OF INDIANS IN THOSE PROGRAMS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—In order to improve the access of Indians residing on or near a reservation to obtain benefits under the Medicaid and State children’s health insurance programs established under title XIX or title XXI, the State shall encourage the State to take steps to provide for enrollment on or near the reservation. Such steps may include outreach efforts such as the establishment of positions to work directly with the Indian Health Service, Indian Tribes, Tribal Organizations, and Urban Indian Organizations to provide outreach, education, enrollment, eligibility determination, and the translation services when such services are appropriate.

(2) CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in paragraph (1) shall be construed as affecting arrangements entered into between States and the Indian Health Service, Indian Tribes, Tribal Organizations, or Urban Indian Organizations for such services, as defined in subparagraph (F) of section 1902(a)(46) of title XIX or section 2105(c)(9), as applicable for verifications of citizenship or national status, or section 1321(a)(3) concerning the agencies that may receive medical assistance provided under this title using such regular policies and procedures for requesting such an evaluation.

(III) Compliance with Screen and Enroll Requirements.—The State shall comply with the requirements under subparagraphs (A) and (B) of section 1902(b)(3) (relating to screen and enroll) before enrolling a child in health assistance under section 1902(a)(5) of title XXI and who is subject to premiums based on an Express Lane agency’s finding of such child’s income level, the State shall provide notice that the child may qualify for lower premium payments if evaluated by the State using its regular policies and procedures for requesting such an evaluation.

(IV) Tribal Organization or Urban Indian Organization.—In this section, the terms ‘Tribal Organization’ and ‘Urban Indian Organization’ have the meanings given those terms in section 4 of the Indian Health Care Improvement Act.

(b) NONAPPLICATION OF 10 PERCENT LIMIT ON OUTREACH AND CERTAIN OTHER EXPENDITURES.—Section 2105(c)(2) (42 U.S.C. 1396d(c)(2)) is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(C) Options for satisfying the requirements under subparagraphs (A) and (B) of section 2102(b)(3) (relating to screen and enroll) before enrolling a child in health assistance under section 1902(a)(5) of title XXI and who is subject to premiums based on an Express Lane agency’s finding of such child’s income level, the State shall provide notice that the child may qualify for lower premium payments if evaluated by the State using its regular policies and procedures for requesting such an evaluation.

(V) Coding.—The State meets the requirements of subparagraph (E).

(VI) Option to apply renewals and re-determination of eligibility and enrollment periods without a program application from, or on behalf of, the individual of such determination. Such temporary enrollment may continue for one year or until the individual of such determination is notified that the child is no longer eligible for medical assistance under the State plan under this title or the individual no longer satisfies the income eligibility requirements for medical assistance under this title.

(VII) Notice that the child may be eligible to receive medical assistance under the State plan under this title if the finding of the child’s eligibility for medical assistance under this title is made by an Express Lane agency or another source of information unless the State agency has reason to believe the information is erroneous.

(VIII) Availability of CHIP matching funds.—Any temporary enrollment period under this clause shall be treated as child health assistance under this title.

(II) In general.—With respect to a child whose eligibility for medical assistance under this title or for child health assistance under title XXI has been evaluated by a State agency using certain methodologies used by the Express Lane agency, a State may carry out its duties under subparagraphs (A) and (B) of section 2102(b)(3) (relating to screen and enroll) in accordance with either such clause.

(VIII) Notice that the child may be eligible to receive medical assistance under the State plan under this title if the finding of the child’s eligibility for medical assistance under this title is made by an Express Lane agency or another source of information unless the State agency has reason to believe the information is erroneous.

(VIII) Availability of CHIP matching funds.—Any temporary enrollment period under this clause shall be treated as child health assistance under this title.

(II) In general.—With respect to a child whose eligibility for medical assistance under this title or for child health assistance under title XXI has been evaluated by a State agency using certain methodologies used by the Express Lane agency, a State may carry out its duties under subparagraphs (A) and (B) of section 2102(b)(3) (relating to screen and enroll) in accordance with either such clause.

(VIII) Notice that the child may be eligible to receive medical assistance under the State plan under this title if the finding of the child’s eligibility for medical assistance under this title is made by an Express Lane agency or another source of information unless the State agency has reason to believe the information is erroneous.

of the child of the services that will be covered, appropriate methods for using such services, premium or other cost sharing charges (if any) that apply, medical support obligations (under section 1903(l)(3)), any risk management approaches (if any), and the actions the parent, guardian, or relative must take to maintain enrollment and renew coverage.

(1) In general.—For purposes of subparagraph (A) of clause (4) of section 1902(a)(10) of the Act, the managed care organization or the State Medicaid agency shall be deemed to apply the requirements of such subparagraph (A) if the State Medicaid agency or the State CHIP agency, as applicable, determines, after providing a 60-day notice to such entity and opportunity for a public hearing, that the failure to apply such requirements during the period involved, except that such payments shall not be regarded as subject to the error rate determined for payments made under the State Medicaid plan, is attributable to the managed care organization or to the State Medicaid agency for the period involved.

(2) Compliance.—If the Secretary determines that a State Medicaid agency or State CHIP agency is in compliance with the requirements of such subparagraph (A), the Secretary shall adjust the premium or other cost sharing charges (if any) that apply to the enrollee, medical support obligations (under section 1903(l)(3)), any risk management approaches (if any), and the actions the parent, guardian, or relative must take to maintain enrollment and renew coverage, in accordance with section 1903(m)(2).

(3) Revision.—If the Secretary determines that a State Medicaid agency or State CHIP agency is not in compliance with the requirements of such subparagraph (A), the Secretary shall adjust the premium or other cost sharing charges (if any) that apply to the enrollee, medical support obligations (under section 1903(l)(3)), any risk management approaches (if any), and the actions the parent, guardian, or relative must take to maintain enrollment and renew coverage, in accordance with section 1903(m)(2).
from an Express Lane Agency (as defined in subsection (e)(13)(F)), or from another public agency, then the applicant’s signature under penalty of perjury shall not be required as to such unauthorized disclosure requirement for an application for medical assistance may be satisfied through an electronic signature, as defined in section 1710(i) of the Government Paperwork Elimination Act (44 U.S.C. 3504 note). The requirements of subparagraphs (A) and (B) of section 1137(d)(2) may be met through evidence in digital or electronic form.

(a) AUTHORIZATION OF INFORMATION DISCLOSURE.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Title XIX is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"§ 402A. AUTHORIZATION TO RECEIVE ELIGIBILITY AND REQUIREMENTS that apply to disclosure pursuant to this section shall not be construed to prohibit the conveyance or disclosure of data or information otherwise permitted under Federal law (without regard to this section)."

(2) CONFORMING AMENDMENT TO TITLE XXI.—Section 1902(e)(1) (42 U.S.C. 1397a(e)(1)), as amended by subsection (a)(2), is amended by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

"(F) Section 1942 (relating to authorization to receive data directly relevant to eligibility determinations)."

(b) REQUIREMENTS FOR CONSENT.—Data or information may be conveyed pursuant to subsection (a) only if the following requirements are met:

(1) The individual whose circumstances are described in the data or information (or such individual’s parent, guardian, caretaker relative, or authorized representative) has either provided, in accordance with section 1902(c)(13)(D)(ii), a written or oral consent to disclose or has been notified that such unauthorized disclosure is not objected to after receiving advance notice of disclosure and a reasonable opportunity to object.

(2) Such data or information are used solely for the purposes of—

(A) identifying individuals who are eligible or potentially eligible for medical assistance under this title and enrolling or attempting to enroll such individuals in the State plan; and

(B) verifying the eligibility of individuals for medical assistance under section 1137(a).

(3) An interagency or other agreement, consistent with standards developed by the Secretary, that provides for such unauthorized use, disclosure, or modification of such data and otherwise meets applicable Federal requirements safeguarding privacy and data security, and

(4) The agency administering the State plan to use the data and information obtained under this section to seek to enroll individuals in the plan.

(c) PENALTIES FOR IMPROPER DISCLOSURE.—

"(1) CIVIL MONEY PENALTY.—A private entity described in the subsection (a) that publishes, discloses, or makes known in any manner, or to any extent not authorized by Federal law, any information obtained under this section is subject to a civil money penalty in an amount equal to $10,000 per violation of such unauthorized publication or disclosure. The provisions of section 1128A (other than subsections (a) and (b) and the second sentence of subsection (f)) shall apply to such civil money penalty under this paragraph in the same manner as such provisions apply to a penalty or proceeding under section 1128A.

(2) CRIMINAL PENALTY.—A private entity described in the subsection (a) that willfully publishes, discloses, or makes known in any manner, or to any extent not authorized by Federal law, any information obtained under this section shall be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned not more than 1 year, or both, for each such violation or disclosure.

(d) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—The limitations and requirements that apply to disclosure pursuant to this section shall not be construed to prohibit the conveyance or disclosure of data or information otherwise permitted under Federal law (without regard to this section)."

bears to the total submissions made for comparison for such month. For purposes of this subparagraph, a name, social security number, or declaration of citizenship or nationality of an individual shall be treated as inconsistent and included in the determination of such percentage only if—‘‘(i) the information submitted by the individual is not consistent with information in records maintained by the Commissioner of Social Security; ‘‘(ii) the inconsistency is not resolved by the State;
‘‘(iii) the individual was provided with a reasonable period of time to resolve the inconsistency with the Commissioner of Social Security or provide satisfactory documentation of citizenship status and did not successfully resolve such inconsistency; and ‘‘(iv) payment has been made for an item or service furnished to the individual under this title.
‘‘(B) If, for any fiscal year, the average monthly percentage determined under subparagraph (A) is greater than 3 percent—‘‘(i) the State shall develop and adopt a corrective plan to review its procedures for verifying the identities of individuals seeking to enroll in the State plan under this title and to identify and implement changes in such procedures to improve their accuracy; and ‘‘(ii) pay to the Secretary an amount equal to the amount which bears the same ratio to the total payments under the State plan for the fiscal year for providing medical assistance to individuals who provided inconsistent information as the number of individuals with inconsistent information in excess of 3 percent of such total submitted bears to the total number of individuals with inconsistent information.
‘‘(C) The Secretary may waive, in certain limited cases, all or part of the payment under subparagraph (B)(ii) if the State is unable to reach the allowable error rate despite a good faith effort by such State.
‘‘(D) Subparagraphs (A) and (B) shall not apply to a State for a fiscal year if there is an agreement described in paragraph (2)(B) in effect as of the close of the fiscal year that provides for the submission on a real-time basis of the information described in such paragraph.
‘‘(4) Nothing in this subsection shall affect the rights of any individual under this title to appeal any disenrollment from a State plan.’’.
(B) COSTS OF IMPLEMENTING AND MAINTAINING SYSTEM.—Section
1903(a)(3)
(42
U.S.C.
1396b(a)(3)) is amended—
(i) by striking ‘‘plus’’ at the end of subparagraph (E) and inserting ‘‘and’’, and
(ii) by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:
‘‘(F)(i) 90 percent of the sums expended during the quarter as are attributable to the design, development, or installation of such mechanized verification and information retrieval systems as the Secretary determines are necessary to implement section 1902(ee) (including a system described in paragraph (2)(B) thereof), and ‘‘(ii) 75 percent of the sums expended during the quarter as are attributable to the operation of systems to which clause (i) applies, plus’’.
(2) LIMITATION ON WAIVER AUTHORITY.—Notwithstanding any provision of section 1115 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1315), or any other provision of law, the Secretary may not waive the requirements of section 1902(a)(46)(B) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1396a(a)(46)(B)) with respect to a State.
(3) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—Section 1903
(42 U.S.C. 1396b) is amended—
(A) in subsection (i)(22), by striking ‘‘subsection (x)’’ and inserting ‘‘section
1902(a)(46)(B)’’; and
(B) in subsection (x)(1), by striking ‘‘subsection

(b) CLARIFICATION OF REQUIREMENTS RELATING TO PRESENTATION OF SATISFACTORY DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE OF CITIZENSHIP OR NATIONALITY.—
(1) ACCEPTANCE OF DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE ISSUED BY A FEDERALLY RECOGNIZED TRIBE.—Section
(42

INDIAN

U.S.C.
1396b(x)(3)(B)) is amended—
(A) by redesignating clause (v) as clause (vi);
and
(B) by inserting after clause (iv), the following new clause:
‘‘(v)(I) Except as provided in subclause (II), a document issued by a federally recognized Indian tribe evidencing membership or enrollment in, or affiliation with, such tribe (such as a tribal enrollment card or certificate of degree of Indian blood).
‘‘(II) With respect to those federally recognized Indian tribes located within States having an international border whose membership includes individuals who are not citizens of the United States, the Secretary shall, after consulting with such tribes, issue regulations authorizing the presentation of such other forms of documentation (including tribal documentation, if appropriate) that the Secretary determines to be satisfactory documentary evidence of citizenship or nationality for purposes of satisfying the requirement of this subsection.’’.
(2) REQUIREMENT TO PROVIDE REASONABLE OPPORTUNITY TO PRESENT SATISFACTORY DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE.—Section 1903(x) (42 U.S.C.
1396b(x)) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:
‘‘(4) In the case of an individual declaring to be a citizen or national of the United States with respect to whom a State requires the presentation of satisfactory documentary evidence of citizenship or nationality under section 1902(a)(46)(B)(i), the individual shall be provided at least the reasonable opportunity to present satisfactory documentary evidence of citizenship or nationality under this subsection as is provided under clauses (i) and (ii) of section 1137(d)(4)(A) to an individual for the submittal to the State of evidence indicating a satisfactory immigration status.’’.
(3) CHILDREN BORN IN THE UNITED STATES TO MOTHERS ELIGIBLE FOR MEDICAID.—
(A) CLARIFICATION OF RULES.—Section 1903(x)
(42 U.S.C. 1396b(x)), as amended by paragraph
(2), is amended—
(i) in paragraph (2)—
(I) in subparagraph (C), by striking ‘‘or’’ at the end;
(II) by redesignating subparagraph (D) as subparagraph (E); and
(III) by inserting after subparagraph (C) the following new subparagraph:
‘‘(D) pursuant to the application of section 1902(e)(4) (and, in the case of an individual who is eligible for medical assistance on such basis, the individual shall be deemed to have provided satisfactory documentary evidence of citizenship or nationality and shall not be required to provide further documentary evidence on any date that occurs during or after the period in which the individual is eligible for medical assistance on such basis); or’’; and
(ii) by adding at the end the following new paragraph:
‘‘(5) Nothing in subparagraph (A) or (B) of section 1902(a)(46), the preceding paragraphs of this subsection, or the Deficit Reduction Act of 2005, including section 6036 of such Act, shall be construed as changing the requirement of section 1902(e)(4) that a child born in the United States to an alien mother for whom medical assistance for the delivery of such child is available as treatment of an emergency medical condition pursuant to subsection (v) shall be deemed eligible for medical assistance during the first year of such child’s life.’’.

(B) STATE REQUIREMENT TO ISSUE SEPARATE IDENTIFICATION NUMBER.—Section 1902(e)(4) (42 U.S.C. 1396a(e)(4)) is amended by adding at the end the following new sentence: ‘‘Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, in the case of a child who is born in the United States to an alien mother for whom medical assistance for the delivery of the child is made available pursuant to section 1903(v), the State immediately shall issue a separate identification number for the child upon notification by the facility at which such delivery occurred of the child’s birth.’’.
AMENDMENTS.—Section
(4)
TECHNICAL
1903(x)(2) (42 U.S.C. 1396b(x)) is amended—
(A) in subparagraph (B)—
(i) by realigning the left margin of the matter preceding clause (i) 2 ems to the left; and
(ii) by realigning the left margins of clauses (i) and (ii), respectively, 2 ems to the left; and (B) in subparagraph (C)—

preceding clause (i) 2 ems to the left; and
(ii) by realigning the left margins of clauses (i) and (ii), respectively, 2 ems to the left.
(c) APPLICATION OF DOCUMENTATION SYSTEM TO CHIP.—
(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 2105(c) (42 U.S.C.
1397ee(c)), as amended by section 114(a), is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:
‘‘(9) CITIZENSHIP DOCUMENTATION REQUIREMENTS.—
‘‘(A) IN GENERAL.—No payment may be made under this section with respect to an individual who has, or is, declared to be a citizen or national of the United States for purposes of establishing eligibility under this title unless the State meets the requirements of section
1902(a)(46)(B) with respect to the individual.
‘‘(B) ENHANCED PAYMENTS.—Notwithstanding subsection (b), the enhanced FMAP with respect to payments under subsection (a) for expenditures described in clause (i) or (ii) of section 1903(a)(3)(F) necessary to comply with subparagraph (A) shall in no event be less than 90 percent and 75 percent, respectively.’’.
(2) NONAPPLICATION OF ADMINISTRATIVE EXPENDITURES
CAP.—Section
2105(c)(2)(C) (42
U.S.C. 1397ee(c)(2)(C)), as amended by section 202(b), is amended by adding at the end the following:
‘‘(ii) EXPENDITURES TO COMPLY WITH CITIZENSHIP OR NATIONALITY VERIFICATION REQUIREMENTS.—Expenditures necessary for the State to comply with paragraph (9)(A).’’.
(d) EFFECTIVE DATE.—
(1) IN GENERAL.—
(A) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in subparagraph (B), the amendments made by this section shall take effect on January 1, 2010.
(B) TECHNICAL AMENDMENTS.—The amendments made by—
(i) paragraphs (1), (2), and (3) of subsection
(b) shall take effect as if included in the enactment of section 6036 of the Deficit Reduction Act of 2005 (Public Law 109–171; 120 Stat. 80); and (ii) paragraph (4) of subsection (b) shall take effect as if included in the enactment of section 405 of division B of the Tax Relief and Health 2996).
(2) RESTORATION OF ELIGIBILITY.—In the case of an individual who, during the period that began on July 1, 2006, and ends on October 1, 2009, was determined to be ineligible for medical assistance under a State Medicaid plan, including any waiver of such plan, solely as a result of the application of subsections (i)(22) and (x) of section 1903 of the Social Security Act (as in effect during such period), but who would have been determined eligible for such assistance if such subsections, as amended by subsection (b), had applied to the individual, a State may deem the individual to be eligible for such assistance as of the date that the individual was determined to be ineligible for such medical assistance on such basis.

(3) SPECIAL TRANSITION RULE FOR INDIANS.—During the period that begins on July 1, 2006, and ends on the effective date of final regulations issued under subclause (I) of section 1903(b)(1) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1396b(c)(3)(B)(v)) (as added by subsection (b)(1)(B)), an individual who is a member of a federally-recognized Indian tribe described in subsection (b)(1)(I) of this section who presents a document described in subclause (I) of such section that is issued by such Indian tribe, shall be deemed to have presented satisfactory evidence of citizenship or nationality for purposes of satisfying the requirement of subsection (2) of section 1903 of such Act.

SEC. 212. REDUCING ADMINISTRATIVE BARRIERS TO ENROLLMENT

Section 2102(b) (42 U.S.C. 1397bb(b)) is amended—

(1) by redesignating paragraph (4) as paragraph (5); and

(2) by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(4) REDUCTION OF ADMINISTRATIVE BARRIERS TO ENROLLMENT.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subparagraph (B), the plan shall include a description of the procedures used to reduce administrative barriers to the enrollment of children and pregnant women who are eligible for medical assistance under title XIX or for child health assistance or health coverage under such title. Such procedures shall be established and revised as often as the State determines appropriate to take into account the most recent information available from the States concerning barriers to enrollment.

"(B) DEEMED COMPLIANCE IF JOINT APPLICATION AND RENEWAL PROCESS THAT PERMITS APPLICATION OTHER THAN IN PERSON.—A State shall be deemed to satisfy the requirements of subparagraph (A) if the State's application and renewal forms and supplemental forms (if any) and information verification process is the same for purposes of establishing and removing eligibility for children and pregnant women for medical assistance under title XIX or child health assistance under this title, and such process does not require an application to be made in person or a face-to-face interview.

SEC. 213. MODEL OF INTERSTATE COORDINATED ENROLLMENT AND COVERAGE PROCESS

(a) In General.—In order to assure continuity of coverage of low-income children under the Medicaid program and the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP), States shall establish a process of enrollment, retention, and coverage under such programs of children who, because of migration of families, emergency evacuations, natural or other disasters, public health emergencies, educational wards, foster care or other circumstances that change their State of residency or otherwise are temporarily located outside of the State of their residency.

(b) Report to Congress.—After development of such model process, the Secretary of Health and Human Services shall submit to Congress a report describing additional steps or authority needed in order to make further improvements to coordinate the enrollment, retention, and coverage under CHIP and Medicaid of children described in subsection (a).

SEC. 214. PROVIDING STATES TO ENSURE COVERAGE WITHOUT A 5-YEAR DELAY OF CERTAIN CHILDREN AND PREGNANT WOMEN UNDER THE MEDICAID PROGRAM AND CHIP

(a) Medicaid Program.—Section 1903(v) (42 U.S.C. 1396v(v)) is amended—

(1) in paragraph (2) by striking "paragraph (2)" and inserting "paragraphs (2) and (4)"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(4) That qualifies as creditable coverage as a group health plan under section 7701(c)(1) of the Public Health Service Act;

"(5) for which the employer contribution toward the premium for such coverage is at least 40 percent; and

"(6) that is offered to all individuals in a manner that would be considered a nondiscriminatory eligibility classification of such paragraph (3)(A)(ii) of section 151(b) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (but determined without regard to clause (i) of subparagraph (B) of such paragraph).

"(ii) EXCEPTION.—Such term does not include coverage consisting of—

"(I) benefits provided under a health flexible spending arrangement (as defined in section 105(c)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986); or

"(II) a high deductible health plan (as defined in section 223(c)(2) of such Code), without the use of such arrangement in conjunction with a health savings account (as defined under section 223(d) of such Code).

"(C) PREMIUM ASSISTANCE SUBSIDY.—

"(i) In General.—In this paragraph, the term 'premium assistance subsidy' means, with respect to a targeted low-income child, the amount equal to the difference between the employee contribution for each month of the month in which the employee under qualified employer-sponsored coverage and the employee contribution required for enrollment of the employee and the child in the qualified employer-sponsored coverage. The employee contribution is based on a result of an election by the State under subparagraph (G) for qualified employer-sponsored coverage under the plan and the State child health plan (subject to the limitations imposed under section 210(c), including the requirement that the total amount of the employee contribution required for enrollment of the employee and the child in such coverage toward the annual aggregate cost-sharing limit applied under paragraph (3)(B).

"(ii) STATE PAYMENT OPTION.—A State may provide a premium assistance subsidy either as reimbursement to an employee for out-of-pocket expenditures or, subject to clause (iii), directly to the employer's employee.

"(iii) EMPLOYER OPT-OUT.—An employer may notify a State that it elects to opt-out of being directly paid a premium assistance subsidy on behalf of an employee. In the event of such a notification, an employer shall withhold the total amount of the employer contribution required for enrollment of the employee and the child in the qualified employer-sponsored coverage and the State shall pay the premium assistance subsidy directly to the employee.

"(D) APPLICATION OF SECONDARY PAYOR RULES.—The State shall be a secondary payor for any items or services provided under the qualified employer-sponsored coverage under which the State provides child health assistance under the State child health plan.

"(E) REQUIREMENT TO PROVIDE SUPPLEMENTAL COVERAGE FOR BENEFITS AND COST-SHARING PROTECTION PROVIDED UNDER THE STATE CHILD HEALTH PLAN.—

"(I) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding section 210(b)(1)(C), the State shall provide for each targeted low-income child enrolled in qualified employer-sponsored coverage, supplemental coverage consisting of—

"(A) items and services that are not covered, or are only partially covered, under the qualified employer-sponsored coverage; and

"(B) cost-sharing protection consistent with section 210(c).

"(F) PAYROLL KEEPING REQUIREMENTS.—For purposes of carrying out clause (i), a State may elect to directly pay out-of-pocket expenditures... for cost-sharing imposed under the qualified employer-sponsored coverage and collect or not collect all or any portion of such expenditures from the parent of the child.

(F) OPT-OUT PERMITTED FOR ANY MONTH.—A State shall establish a process for permitting the parent of a targeted low-income child receiving a premium assistance subsidy to disenroll the child from the qualified employer-sponsored coverage and enroll the child in, and receive child health assistance under, the State child health plan, effective on the first day of any month for which the child is eligible for such assistance and in a manner that ensures continuity of coverage for the child.

(H) APPLICATION TO PARENTS.—If a State provides child health assistance or health benefits coverage to parents of a targeted low-income child who is eligible for such a subsidy, the State may elect to offer a premium assistance subsidy to a parent of a targeted low-income child who is eligible for such a subsidy under this paragraph. In such a case, the State shall establish a process for permitting the parent of the child from the qualified employer-sponsored coverage, except that:

(i) the amount of the premium assistance subsidy shall be increased to take into account the cost of the enrollment of the parent in the qualified employer-sponsored coverage under, or at the option of the State if the State determines it cost-effective, the cost of the enrollment of the child's family in such coverage; and

(ii) This paragraph to a child is deemed to include a reference to the parent or, if applicable under clause (i), the family of the child.

(J) ADDITIONAL STATE OPTION FOR PROVIDING PREMIUM ASSISTANCE.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—A State may establish an employer-family premium assistance purchasing pool for employers with less than 250 employees who have at least 1 employee who is a pregnant woman eligible for assistance under the State child health plan or, in the case of a State that has a pool for employers with section 225(a) employees, the State may elect to offer a premium assistance subsidy to any employer who offers such a subsidy for the enrollment of the child in qualified employer-sponsored coverage, except that:

(ii) Any waiting period for such coverage shall not be considered as limiting the authority of a State.

(ii) No waiting period imposd under the State child health plan, prior to the date of enactment of the Children's Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act of 2009.

(K) NOTICE OF AVAILABILITY.—If a State elects to offer such a premium assistance purchasing pool, the State shall:

(iii) include on any application or enrollment form for child health assistance a notice of the availability of premium assistance subsidies for the enrollment of targeted low-income children in qualified employer-sponsored coverage;

(ii) provide, as part of the application and enrollment process under the State child health plan, information describing the availability of such subsidies and how to elect to obtain such a subsidy; and

(iii) establish such other procedures as the State determines necessary to ensure that parents are fully informed of the choices for receiving child health assistance under the State child health plan or through the receipt of premium assistance subsidies.

(L) APPLICATION TO QUALIFIED EMPLOYER-SPOKED BENCHMARK COVERAGE.—If a group health plan or health insurance coverage offered by the individual under age 19 (or a parent) qualifies as creditable coverage as a condition of receipt of medical assistance.

(M) APPLICATION TO PREMIUM ASSISTANCE.—If a State

(i) provides a premium assistance subsidy to disenroll the child from the qualified employer-sponsored coverage, the child's family shall receive a premium assistance subsidy under this section in the same manner as the State offers such a subsidy for the enrollment of the child in qualified employer-sponsored coverage, except that:

(ii) the State may not reduce the child's eligibility for medical assistance under this title (and section 1906A) due to the receipt of such a premium assistance subsidy.

(iii) The application of this paragraph shall not change the individual's (or the individual's parent's) eligibility for medical assistance under this title (and section 1906A) due to the receipt of such a premium assistance subsidy.

(iv) No waiting period imposed under the State child health plan, prior to the date of enactment of the Children's Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act of 2009.

N. PREMIUM ASSISTANCE OPTION FOR CHILDREN

P. MEDICAID.—Title XIX is amended by inserting after section 1906A the following new section:

""PREMIUM ASSISTANCE OPTION FOR CHILDREN

""SEC. 1906A. (a) IN GENERAL.—A State may elect to offer a premium assistance subsidy (as described in subsection (c)) for qualified employer-sponsored coverage (as defined in subsection (b)) to all individuals under age 19 who are entitled to medical assistance under this title (and section 1906A) due to the receipt of a premium assistance subsidy under this title (and section 1906A).

(b) ELECTIVE COVERAGE.—If a State elects to offer a premium assistance subsidy under this title (and section 1906A) to all individuals under age 19 who are entitled to medical assistance under this title (and section 1906A) in accordance with this paragraph, the State shall:

""(b) QUALIFIED EMPLOYER-SPOKED COVERAGE.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—Subject to paragraph (2), in this paragraph, the term 'qualified employer-sponsored coverage' means employer-sponsored health plan or health insurance coverage offered through an employer—

(A) that qualifies as creditable coverage as a condition of receipt of medical assistance under section 1906A of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, or

(B) that is offered to all individuals in a manner that would be considered a nondiscriminatory benefit under section 125 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986

(ii) QUALIFIED EMPLOYER-SPOKED BENCHMARK COVERAGE.—If a group health plan or health insurance coverage offered by the qualified employer-sponsored coverage is provided to an individual under age 19, the State shall establish a process for permitting the individual to disenroll the child from such coverage and enroll the child in qualified employer-sponsored coverage. A State may not require such an election to the provision of child health assistance under, the State child health plan prior to the date of enactment of the Children's Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act of 2009.

(N) POTENTIAL IMPACT ON THE PREMIUM ASSISTANCE SUBSIDY.—In the case of an individual under age 19 who receives a premium assistance subsidy under a State child health plan, including administrative expenditures, for providing coverage under such plan for all such children or families.

(O) QUALIFIED EMPLOYER-SPOKED COVERAGE.—If a State

(i) provides a premium assistance subsidy to disenroll the child from the qualified employer-sponsored coverage, the child's family shall receive a premium assistance subsidy under this section in the same manner as the State offers such a subsidy for the enrollment of the child in qualified employer-sponsored coverage, except that:

(ii) No waiting period imposed under the State child health plan, prior to the date of enactment of the Children's Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act of 2009.

(P) OPT-OUT PERMITTED FOR ANY MONTH.—A State shall establish a process for permitting the parent of an individual under age 19 to disenroll the child from qualified employer-sponsored coverage under this section.

(Q) REQUIREMENT TO PAY PREMIUMS AND COST-SHARING AND PROVIDE SUPPLEMENTAL COVERAGE.—In the case of the participation of an individual under age 19 (or the individual's parent) in a premium assistance subsidy under this section for qualified employer-sponsored coverage, the State shall provide for payment of all enrollee premiums for enrollment in such coverage and all deductibles, coinsurance, and other cost-sharing obligations for items and services otherwise covered under the State plan under this title (exceeding the amount otherwise covered under section 1906A(b)(2)(B)(iv)), without regard to whether the individual or the individual's parent is otherwise eligible for medical assistance under this title (and section 1906A) due to the receipt of such a premium assistance subsidy.

(R) APPLICABILITY.—In the case of the participation of an individual under age 19 (or the individual's parent) in a premium assistance subsidy under this section, the provisions of section 223(c) of such Code, without regard to whether the plan is purchased in conjunction with a health savings account (as defined under section 223(d) of such Code), shall apply.

(S) APPLICABILITY.—In the case of a parent of an individual under age 19, the State shall impose any waiting period required under the group health plan or health insurance coverage offered by the qualified employer-sponsored coverage, except that:

(T) VOLUNTARY PARTICIPATION.—

(i) EMPLOYERS.—Participation by an employer in a premium assistance subsidy offered by a State under this section shall be voluntary. An employer may notify a State that it elects to opt-out of being directly paid a premium assistance subsidy on behalf of an employee.

(ii) BENEFICIARIES.—No subsidy shall be provided to an individual under age 19 under this section unless the individual (or the individual's parent) pursuant elected to receive such a subsidy. A State may not require such an election as a condition of receipt of medical assistance. States shall not require an individual to be an individual under age 19 (or the individual's parent) being or remaining eligible for medical assistance under this title (and section 1906A) due to the receipt of such a premium assistance subsidy, unless the State meets the requirements of this section.

(U) OPT-OUT PERMITTED FOR ANY MONTH.—A State shall establish a process for permitting the parent of an individual under age 19 to disenroll the child from qualified employer-sponsored coverage under this section.

(3) EFFECTIVE DATES .—The Secretary of Labor shall submit to the Congress the report pursuant to subclause (I), the Secretary shall promptly submit a report to each House of the Congress regarding the recommendations contained in the report under such subclause.

(4) TERMINATION.—The Working Group shall terminate 30 days after the date of the issuance of its report under clause (1).

(5) FEEDBACK.—The Working Group may provide the model notice to small employers and employers subject to the provisions of any law that is applicable to the State in which the employee resides, or to which the employer's employees are subject.

(6) EFFECTIVE DATES.—The Secretary of Labor and the Secretary of Health and Human Services shall, in consultation with the appropriate agencies, develop regulations and guidance, including model notices, to assist employers and other health plans in complying with this section.
CHIP ELIGIBLE INDIVIDUALS.—In the case of an enrollee in a group health plan who is covered under a Medicaid plan of a State under title XIX of the Social Security Act or under a State child health plan under title XXI of the Social Security Act who, in determining the plan administrator of the group health plan shall disclose to the State, upon request, information about the benefits available under the group health plan that are determined under regulations of the Secretary of Health and Human Services in consultation with the Secretary that require use of the model covered by a Medicaid or CHIP—Title XI (42 U.S.C. 1301 et seq.) shall provide technical assistance to States to assist them in adopting and utilizing core child health quality measures for use under such programs.

SEC. 1139A. CHILD HEALTH QUALITY MEASURES. (a) DEVELOPMENT OF CHILD HEALTH QUALITY MEASURES FOR CHILDREN ENROLLED IN MEDICAID OR CHIP.—(1) In general.—Not later than January 1, 2011, the Secretary shall identify and publish a core set of child health quality measures for use by State programs administered under titles XIX and XXI, health insurance issuers and managed care entities that enter into contracts with such programs, and providers of items and services under such programs.

(b) IDENTIFICATION OF INITIAL CORE MEASURES.—(1) In general.—(A) the Secretary shall identify existing quality of care measures for children that are in use under public and private health care arrangements, or that are part of reporting systems that measure both the presence and duration of health insurance coverage over time.

(c) TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE.—Based on such existing and identified measures, the Secretary shall publish an initial core set of child health quality measures that includes (but is not limited to) the following:

(1) The availability of care in a recommended set of ambulatory and inpatient health care settings in which care is furnished.

(2) The types of measures that, taken together, can be used to estimate the overall national quality of health care for children, including children with special needs, and to perform comparative analyses of pediatric health care services, health care providers, and economic disparities in child health and health care for children.

(3) The availability of care in a recommended set of ambulatory and inpatient health care settings in which care is furnished.

(4) Encourage voluntary and standardized reporting.—Not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of the Children's Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act of 2009, the Secretary, in consultation with States, shall develop a standardized format for reporting information and procedures and approaches that encourage States to use the initial core measures.

(5) Adoption of best practices in implementing the measures developed under the pediatric quality measures program to—

(5) improve and strengthen the initial core child health quality measures established by the Secretary under subsection (a);

(6) expand on existing pediatric quality measures used by public and private purchasers and advance the development of such new and emerging quality measures and;

(7) increase the portfolio of evidence-based, consensus pediatric quality measures available to public and private purchasers of children's health care services, providers, and consumers.

(2) EVIDENCE-BASED MEASURES.—The measures developed under the pediatric quality measures program shall, at a minimum, be—

(A) evidence-based and, where appropriate, risk adjusted;

(B) designed to identify and eliminate racial and ethnic disparities in child health and the provision of health care;

(C) designed to ensure that the data required for such measures is collected and reported in a credible manner; and

(D) periodically updated; and

(5) REVISING, STRENGTHENING, AND IMPROVING QUALITY MEASURES.—(a) In general.—Not later than January 1, 2011, and every 3 years thereafter, the Secretary shall disclose to the State, upon request, information about the benefits available under such programs administered under titles XIX and XXI of the Social Security Act or under a State providing medical or child health assistance to—

(1) improve and strengthen the initial core child health quality measures established by the Secretary under subsection (a);

(2) expand on existing pediatric quality measures used by public and private purchasers and advance the development of such new and emerging quality measures and;

(3) increase the portfolio of evidence-based, consensus pediatric quality measures available to public and private purchasers of children's health care services, providers, and consumers.

(6) PROCESS FOR PEDIATRIC QUALITY MEASURES PROGRAM.—In identifying gaps in existing pediatric quality measures and establishing priorities for development and advancement of new measures, the Secretary shall consult with—

(A) States;

(B) pediatricians, children’s hospitals, and other organizations and other organizations involved in the care and treatment of children, particularly children with special physical, mental, and development health care needs;

(C) dental professionals, including pediatric dental professionals;

(D) health care providers that furnish primary care to children and families who live in urban and rural medically underserved communities or who are members of distinct population sub-groups at heightened risk for poor health outcomes for development and advancement of new measures; and

(H) voluntary consensus standards setting organizations and other organizations involved in the advancement of evidence-based measures of health care.

(4) DEVELOPING, VALIDATING, AND TESTING A PORTFOLIO OF PEDIATRIC QUALITY MEASURES.—As part of the program to advance pediatric quality measures, the Secretary shall—

(A) award grants and contracts for the development, testing, and validation of new, emerging, and innovative evidence-based measures for children’s health care services across the domains of quality described in clauses (i), (ii), and (iii) of subsection (a)(5)(A); and

(B) award grants and contracts for—

(i) the development of consensus on evidence-based measures for children's health care services;

(ii) the dissemination of such measures to public and private purchasers of health care for children; and

(iii) the updating of such measures as necessary.

(5) REVISING, STRENGTHENING, AND IMPROVING PEDIATRIC QUALITY MEASURES.—(a) In general.—Not later than January 1, 2013, and annually thereafter, the Secretary shall publish recommended changes to the core measures described in subsection (a) that shall reflect the testing, validation, and consensus process for the development of pediatric quality measures described in subsection (g).

"(6) DEFINITION OF PEDIATRIC QUALITY MEASURE.—In this subsection, the term 'pediatric quality measure' means a measurement of clinical care that is capable of being examined through the collection and analysis of relevant information, that is developed in order to assess 1 or more aspects of pediatric health care quality in various institutional and ambulatory health care settings, including the structure of the clinical care system, the process of care, the outcome of care, or patient experiences in care.

"(7) In providing payments under subsection (b), there shall be construed as supporting the restriction of coverage, under title XIX or XXI or otherwise, to only those services that are evidence-based.

"(c) ANNUAL STATE REPORTS REGARDING STATE-SPECIFIC QUALITY OF CARE MEASURES APPLIED UNDER MEDICAID OR CHIP.—

"(1) ANNUAL STATE REPORTS.—Each State with a State plan approved under title XIX or a State child health plan approved under title XXI shall annually report to the Secretary on—"(A) State-specific child health quality measures applied by the States under such plans, including—

(A) experiment with, and evaluate the use of, new measures of the quality of children's health care under such titles (including testing the validity and suitability for reporting of such measures);

(B) promote the use of health information technology in care delivery for children under such titles;

(C) evaluate provider-based models which improve the delivery of children's health care services under such titles, including care management for children with chronic conditions and the evidence-based approaches to improve the effectiveness, safety, and efficiency of health care services for children; or

(D) demonstrate the impact of the model electronic health record format for children developed and disseminated under subsection (f) on improving pediatric health, including the effects of chronic childhood health conditions, and pediatric health care quality as well as reducing health care costs.

"(2) REQUIREMENTS.—In awarding grants under this subsection, the Secretary shall ensure that—

"(A) only 1 demonstration project funded under a grant awarded under this subsection shall be carried out in 1 or more States; and

"(B) demonstration projects funded under grants awarded under this subsection shall be conducted evenly between States with large urban areas and States with large rural areas.

"(2) AUTHORITY FOR MULTISTATE PROJECTS.—

(A) A demonstration project conducted with a grant under this subsection may be conducted on a multistate basis, as needed.

(B) FUNDING.—$20,000,000 of the amount appropriated under subsection (i) for a fiscal year shall be used to make grants under this subsection.

"(D) PROVIDING PATIENTS WITH EVIDENCE-BASED APPROACHES TO IMPROVING HEALTHY EATING HABITS.

"(i) PROVIDING PATIENTS WITH EVIDENCE-BASED APPROACHES TO IMPROVING HEALTHY EATING HABITS.—The Secretary, in consultation with the Administrator of the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services, shall conduct a demonstration project to implement an evidence-based and systematic model for reducing childhood obesity by awarding grants to eligible entities to carry out such project. Such model shall—

(A) identify, through self-assessment, behavioral risk factors for obesity among children;

(B) identify, through self-assessment, needed clinical preventive services described herein among those children identified as target individuals on the basis of such risk factors;

(C) provide ongoing support to such target individuals made available within the grant risk factors and promote the appropriate use of preventive and screening benefits; and

(D) be designed to improve health outcomes, satisfaction, and preventive care appropriate use of items and services for which medical assistance is available under title XIX or child health assistance is available under title XXI among such target individuals.

"(2) ELIGIBILITY ENTITIES.—For purposes of this subsection, an eligible entity is any of the following:

(A) A city, county, or Indian tribe.

(B) A local or tribal educational agency.

(C) An accredited university, college, or community college.

(D) A Federally-qualified health center.

(E) A local health department.

(F) A health care provider.

(G) A community-based organization.

(H) Any other entity determined appropriate by the Secretary, including a consortium or partnerships developed under grants in the years following paragraphs (A) through (G).

"(3) USE OF FUNDS.—An eligible entity awarded a grant under this subsection shall use the funds awarded under this subsection to—

(A) carry out community-based activities related to reducing childhood obesity, including by—

(i) forming partnerships with entities, including schools and other facilities providing recreational services, to establish programs for after school and weekend community activities that are designed to reduce childhood obesity;

(ii) forming partnerships with daycare facilities to establish programs that promote healthy eating behaviors and physical activity;

(iii) developing and evaluating community educational activities targeting good nutrition and promoting healthy eating behaviors;

(iv) providing patient education and counseling services to treat or prevent eating disorders, being overweight, and obesity;

(v) providing education and counseling to increase physical activity and promote healthy eating behaviors;

(training health professionals on how to identify and treat obese and overweight individuals which may include nutrition and physical activity counseling; and (providing community education by a health professional on good nutrition and physical activity to develop a better understanding of the relationship between diet, physical activity, and eating disorders, obesity, or being overweight; and

(D) provide, through qualified health professionals, training and supervision for community health workers to—

(i) educate families regarding the relationship between nutrition, eating habits, physical activity, and obesity;

(ii) educate families about effective strategies to improve nutrition, establish healthy eating patterns, and establish appropriate levels of physical activity; and

(iii) educate and guide parents regarding the ability to model and communicate positive health behaviors.

"(4) PRIORITY.—In awarding grants under paragraph (I), the Secretary shall give priority toward grants to entities—

(A) that demonstrate that they have previously applied successfully for funds to carry out activities that seek to promote individual and community health and to prevent the incidence of chronic disease and that can cite published and peer-reviewed research demonstrating that the activities that the entities propose to carry out with funds made available under the grant are effective;

(B) that will carry out programs or activities that seek to accomplish a goal or goals set by the Secretary in the Healthy People 2010 plan of the State;

(C) that provide non-Federal contributions, either in cash or in-kind, to the costs of funding activities under the grants to such entities;

(D) that develop comprehensive plans that include a strategy for extending program activities developed under grants in the years following the fiscal year for which they receive grants under this subsection;

(E) located in communities that are medically underserved, as determined by the Secretary;

(F) located in areas in which the average poverty rate is at least 150 percent or higher of the average poverty rate in the State involved, as determined by the Secretary; and

(G) that submit plans that exhibit multisectoral, cooperative conduct that includes the involvement of a broad range of stakeholders, including—

(i) community-based organizations;

(ii) local governments;

(iii) local educational agencies;

(iv) local private sector;

(v) State or local departments of health;

(vi) accredited colleges, universities, and community colleges;

(vii) health care providers;

(viii) State and local departments of transportation and city planning; and

(5) PROGRAM DESIGN.—(A) INITIAL DESIGN.—Not later than 1 year after the enactment of the Children’s Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act of 2009, the Secretary shall design the demonstration project. The demonstration shall draw upon promising, innovative models and initiatives to reduce behavioral risk factors. The Administrator of the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services shall consult with the Director of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the Director of the Office of Minority Health, the heads of other agencies in the Department of Health and Human Services, and such professional organizations, as the Secretary determines to be appropriate, on the design, conduct, and evaluation of the demonstration.

(B) NUMBER AND PROJECT AREAS.—Not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of the Children’s Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act of 2009, the Secretary shall award 1 grant that is specifically designed to determine whether programs similar to programs to be conducted by other grantees under this subsection should be implemented with respect to the general population of children who are eligible for child health assistance under State child health plans under title XXI in order to reduce the incidence of childhood obesity among such population.

(C) REPORT TO CONGRESS.—Not later than 3 years after the date the Secretary implements the demonstration project under this subsection, the Secretary shall submit to Congress a report that describes the project, evaluates the effectiveness and cost effectiveness of the project, evaluates the beneficiary satisfaction under the project, and includes any such other information as the Secretary determines to be appropriate.

“SEC. 506. MEDICAID AND CHIP PAYMENT AND ACCESS COMMISSION.

“(a) MEDICAID AND CHIP PAYMENT AND ACCESS COMMISSION.

“Sec. 1900. (a) ESTABLISHMENT.—There is established the Medicaid and CHIP Payment and Access Commission (in this section referred to as ‘MACPAC’).

“(b) DUTIES.—

“(1) REVIEW OF ACCESS POLICIES AND ANNUAL REPORT—MACPAC—

“(A) REVIEW OF ACCESS POLICIES—MACPAC shall:

“(i) review policies of the Medicaid program established under this title (in this section referred to as ‘Medicaid’) and the Child Health Insurance Program established under title XXI (in this section referred to as ‘CHIP’) affecting children’s access to covered items and services, including topics described in paragraph (2); and “(B) make recommendations to Congress concerning such access policies;

“(C) not later than March 1 of each year (beginning with 2010), submit a report to Congress containing the results of such reviews and MACPAC’s recommendations concerning such policies; and “(D) not later than June 1 of each year (beginning with 2010), submit a report to Congress containing an examination of issues affecting the implications of changes in health care delivery in the United States and in the market for health care services on such programs.

“(2) REPORTS TO BE REVIEWED—Specifically, MACPAC shall review and assess the following:

“(A) MEDICAID AND CHIP PAYMENT POLICIES—Payment policies under Medicaid and CHIP, including—

“(i) the factors affecting expenditures for items and services in different sectors, including the provision for updating hospital, skilled nursing facility, physician, Federally-qualified health center, rural health center, and other fees;

“(ii) payment methodologies; and

“(iii) the relationship of such factors and methodologies to access and quality of care for Medicaid and CHIP beneficiaries.

“(B) INTERACTION OF MEDICAID AND CHIP PAYMENT POLICIES WITH HEALTH CARE DELIVERY GENERALLY—The effect of Medicaid and CHIP payment policies on items and services for children and other Medicaid and CHIP populations other than under this title or title XXI and the implications of changes in health care delivery in the United States and in the general market for health care items and services on Medicaid and CHIP.

“(C) OTHER ACCESS POLICIES—The effect of other Medicaid and CHIP policies on access to covered items and services, including policies relating to transportation and language barriers.

“(D) CREATION OF EARLY-WARNING SYSTEM—MACPAC shall create an early-learning system to identify provider shortage areas or any other problems that threaten access to care or the health care status of Medicaid and CHIP beneficiaries.

“(E) COMMENTS ON CERTAIN SECURITIZATION REPORT—To its Congress (or a committee of Congress) a report that is required by law and that relates to access policies, including with respect to payment policies, under this title or title XIX or title XXI, the Secretary shall transmit a copy of the report to MACPAC. MACPAC shall review the report and, not later than 6 months after the date of submittal of the Secretary’s report, shall submit to the appropriate committees of Congress written comments on such report. Such comments may include such recommendations as MACPAC deems appropriate.

“(F) AGENDA AND ADDITIONAL REVIEWS—MACPAC shall consult periodically with the members of the appropriate committees of Congress regarding MACPAC’s agenda and progress toward achieving the agenda. MACPAC may conduct additional reviews of such recent and ongoing economically important changes and shall make such reports available to the public.

“(G) APPROPRIATE COMMITTEE OF CONGRESS—For purposes of this section, the term ‘appropriate committees of Congress’ means the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Finance of the Senate.

“(H) VOTING AND REPORTING REQUIREMENTS.—With respect to each recommendation contained in a report submitted under paragraph (1), each member of MACPAC shall vote on the recommendation, and MACPAC shall include, by member, the results of that vote in the report contained in such report.

“(I) EXAMINATION OF BUDGET CONSEQUENCES.—Before making any recommendations, MACPAC shall examine the budget consequences of such recommendations, or through consultation with appropriate expert entities.

“(J) MEMBERSHIP—

“(1) NUMBER AND APPOINTMENT—MACPAC shall be composed of 17 members appointed by the Comptroller General of the United States.

“(2) QUALIFICATIONS—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The membership of MACPAC shall include individuals who have had direct experience as enrollees or parents of enrollees in Medicaid or CHIP and individuals with national recognition for their expertise in Federal safety net health programs, health finance and economics, actuarial science, health facilities, health information technology, pediatric physicians, dentists, and other providers of health services, public officials, advocates, individuals with expertise in the delivery of health services, and individuals with expertise in the delivery of health services.

“(B) INCLUSION—The membership of MACPAC shall include (but not be limited to) physicians and other health professionals, employers, third-party payers, and individuals with expertise in the delivery of health services. Such membership shall also include consumers representing children, pregnant women, the elderly, and other vulnerable communities, current or former representatives of State agencies responsible for administering Medicaid, and current or former representatives of State agencies responsible for administering CHIP.

“(K) MAJORITY NONPROVIDERS.—Individuals who are directly involved in the provision, orudo of: the, delivery, of, items and services covered under Medicaid or CHIP shall not constitute a majority of the membership of MACPAC.

“(L) CONFLICT OF INTEREST DISCLOSURE.—The Comptroller General of the United States shall establish a system for public disclosure by members of MACPAC of financial and other potential conflicts of interest relating to the interests or actions of a member.

“(M) MEMBERS OF MACPAC Shalt be treated as employees of Congress for purposes of applying title I of the Ethics in Government Act of 1978 (Public Law 95–522).

“(N) TERMS.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The terms of members of MACPAC shall be for 3 years except that the Chairperson of Congress may designate staggered terms for the members first appointed.

“(B) VACANCIES.—Any member appointed to fill a vacancy occurring before the expiration of the term for which the member’s predecessor was appointed shall be appointed only for the remainder of that term. A member may serve after the expiration of that member’s term until a successor has taken office. A vacancy in MACPAC shall be filled in the manner in which the original appointment was made.

“(O) COMPENSATION.—While serving in the business of MACPAC (including travel time), a member of MACPAC shall be entitled to compensation at the per diem equivalent of the rate provided by level IV of the Executive Schedule under section 313 of title 5, United States Code, and while so serving away from home and the member’s regular place of business, a member may be allowed travel expenses, as authorized by the Chairman of MACPAC. Physicians serving as personnel of MACPAC may be provided a physician comparability allowance by MACPAC in the same manner as Government physicians may be provided such an allowance by an agency under section 5948 of title 5, United States Code, and for such purpose subsection (i) of such section shall be read in the same manner as it applies to the Tennessee Valley Authority. For purposes of pay (other than pay of members of MACPAC) and employment benefits, rights, and privileges, all personnel of MACPAC shall be treated as if they were employees of the United States Senate.

“(P) CHAIRMAN; VICE CHAIRMAN.—The Comptroller General of the United States shall designate a member of MACPAC, at the time of appointment of the member as Chairman and a member as Vice Chairman for that term of appointment, except that the Chairmanship or the Vice Chairmanship, if vacated, shall be filled in the same manner as it applies to the Tennessee Valley Authority.

“(Q) MEETINGS.—MACPAC shall meet at the call of the Chairman.

“(R) DIRECTOR AND STAFF; EXPERTS AND CONSULTANTS.—Subject to such review as the Comptroller General of the United States deems necessary to assure the efficient administration of MACPAC, MACPAC may—

“(1) employ and fix the compensation of an Executive Director (subject to the approval of the Comptroller General of the United States) and such other personnel as may be necessary to carry out its duties (without regard to the provisions of title 5, United States Code, governing appointments in the competitive service);

“(2) seek such assistance and support as may be required in the performance of its duties from appropriate Federal departments and agencies;

“(3) enter into contracts or make other arrangements, as may be necessary for the conduct of the work of MACPAC (without regard to section 3709 of the Revised Statutes (41 U.S.C. 5));

“(4) make adequate, progress, and other payments which relate to the work of MACPAC;

“(5) provide transportation and subsistence for persons serving without compensation; and

“(ii) the requirements to CHIP until after the date that is 6 months after the date on which a new final rule (in this section referred to as the "new final rule") promulgated after the date of enactment of this Act and implementing such requirements in accordance with the requirements of subsection (c) is in effect for all States. After such new final rule or a State specific error rate after such new final rule in effect for all States may only be inclusive of errors, as defined in such new final rule or other requirements at a reasonable time frame after the effective date for such new final rule that includes detailed guidance for the specific methodology for error determinations.

(b) REQUIREMENTS FOR NEW FINAL RULE.—For purposes of subsection (b), the requirements of this subsection are that the new final rule implementing the PERM requirements shall—

(1) include—

(A) clearly defined criteria for errors for both States and providers;

(B) a clearly defined process for appealing error determinations by—

(i) review contractors; or

(ii) the agency and personnel described in section 431.974(a)(2) of title 42, Code of Federal Regulations, as in effect on September 1, 2007, responsible for the development, direction, implementation, and evaluation of eligibility reviews and associated activities; and

(C) clearly defined responsibilities and deadlines for States in implementing any corrective actions plans; and

(2) provide that the payment error rate determined for a State shall not take into account payment errors resulting from the State’s certification of an applicant’s self-declaration or self-certification of eligibility for, and the correct amount of, medical assistance or child health assistance, if the State process for verifying an applicant’s self-declaration or self-certification satisfies the requirements for such process applicable under regulations promulgated by the Secretary or otherwise approved by the Secretary.

(d) OPTION FOR APPLICATION OF DATA FOR STATES IN FIRST APPLICATION CYCLE UNDER THE INTERNAL FINAL RULE.—For the purposes of applying the PERM requirements in accordance with the requirements of subsection (c) is in effect for all States, a State for which the PERM requirements were first in effect under an interim final rule for fiscal year 2007 or under a final rule for fiscal year 2008 may elect to accept any payment error rate determined in whole or in part for the State on the basis of data for that fiscal year or may elect to no have any payment error rate determined on the basis of such data and, instead, shall be treated as if payments under section 1903(a) were the first fiscal year for which the PERM requirements apply to the State.

(e) HARMONIZATION OF MEQC AND PERM.—The Secretaries shall review the Medicaid Eligibility Quality Control (in this subsection referred to as the “MEQC”) requirements with the PERM requirements and coordinate consistent implementation of both sets of requirements, while reducing redundancies.

(f) ELECTION TO APPLY PERM DATA.—A State may elect, for purposes of determining the erroneous payments for medical assistance ratio applicable to the State for a fiscal year specified by the Secretary of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1396b(u)) to substitute data resulting from the application of the PERM requirements to the State after the final fiscal year that implementing such requirements is in effect for all States for data obtained from the application of the MEQC requirements to the State with respect to a fiscal year.

SEC. 602. IMPROVING DATA COLLECTION.

(a) INCREASED APPROPRIATION.—Section 1909(b)(2) (42 U.S.C. 1397f(b)(2)) is amended by striking "$10,000,000 for fiscal year 2000" and inserting "$20,000,000 for fiscal year 2009".

"(c) TRANSPARENCY.—Section 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1396u–7), as inserted by section 6044(a) of the Deficit Reduction Act of 2005, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(6) PUBLICATION OF PROVISIONS AFFECTED.—

With respect to a State plan amendment to provide benchmark benefits in accordance with subsections (a) and (b) that is approved by the Secretary, the Secretary shall publish on the Internet website of the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services, or used in the Federal Register and on possible alternative methodologies to mitigate such programs."

SEC. 612. REFERENCES TO TITLE XXI.

SEC. 613. PROHIBITING INITIATION OF NEW HEALTH OPPORTUNITY ACCOUNT DEMONSTRATION PROGRAMS.

SEC. 614. ADJUSTMENT IN COMPUTATION OF MEDICAID FMAP TO DISREGARD AN EXTRAORDINARY EMPLOYER PENSION CONTRIBUTION.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—Only for purposes of computing the FMAP (as defined in subsection (e)) for a State for a fiscal year (beginning with fiscal year 2008) and approved under title XIX of the Social Security Act, any significantly disproportionate employer pension or insurance fund contribution described in subsection (b) shall be disregarded in computing the per capita income of such State, but shall not be disregarded in computing the per capita income for the continental United States (and Alaska) and Hawaii.

"(b) SIGNIFICANTLY DISPROPORTIONATE EMPLOYER PENSION AND INSURANCE FUND CONTRIBUTION.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of this section, a significantly disproportionate employer pension and insurance fund contribution described in this subsection is any identifiable employer contribution towards pensions or other employee insurance funds that is estimated to accrue to residents of such State for a fiscal year (beginning with fiscal year 2003) if the increase in the amount so estimated exceeds 25 percent of the total increase in personal income in that State for the year involved and DISREGARDED IN COMPUTING THE PER CAPITA INCOME OF SUCH STATE.

"(2) DATA TO BE USED.—For purposes of this subsection, the Secretary shall use the personal income data set originally used in calculating such FMAP.

"(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by subsections (a), (b), and (c) of this section shall take effect as if included in the amendment made by section 6044(a) of the Deficit Reduction Act of 2005.
Title C—Other Provisions

SEC. 621. OUTREACH REGARDING HEALTH INSURANCE OPTIONS AVAILABLE TO CHILDREN.

(a) DEFINITIONS.—In this section—
(1) the terms “Administration” and “Administrator” mean the Small Business Administration and the Administrator thereof, respectively;
(2) the term “disproportionate share hospital” means a hospital that—
(A) is designated under section 1905(b) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1396r–5(b)) as a hospital that serves a substantial number of low-income individuals;
(B) is located in an area that has a disproportionate share of low-income individuals; and
(C) is located in an area that has been determined by the Secretary of Health and Human Services to have an unusual need for medical services.

(b) PROVISION OF OUTREACH INFORMATION.—The Administrator shall ensure that not less than a specified percentage of the small businesses, as determined by the Administrator, receive outreach information from the Small Business Administration.

(c) TIMES FOR PROVIDING OUTREACH INFORMATION.—The Administrator shall ensure that no small business is provided with outreach information more than once in a fiscal year.

(d) DETERMINATION.—The determination under section 621(f) shall be made by the Administrator.

(e) REPORT.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator shall submit to the Committee on Small Business and Entrepreneurship of the Senate and the Committee on Small Business and Entrepreneurship of the House of Representatives a report on the status of the nationwide campaign conducted under subsection (d).

(f) CONTENTS.—Each report submitted under subparagraph (A) shall include a status update on all efforts made to educate owners and employees of small business concerns on options for providing health insurance for children through public and private alternatives.

SEC. 622. SENSE OF THE SENATE REGARDING ACCESS TO AFFORDABLE AND MEDICAL HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE.

(a) FINDINGS.—The Senate finds the following:
(1) There are approximately 45 million Americans currently without health insurance.
(2) More than half of uninsured workers are employed by businesses with less than 25 employees or are self-employed.
(3) Health insurance premiums continue to rise at more than twice the rate of inflation for all consumer goods.
(4) Individuals in the small group and individual health insurance markets usually pay more for similar coverage than those in the large group market.
(5) The rapid growth in health insurance costs over the last few years has forced many employers, particularly small employers, to increase deductibles and co-pays to drop coverage completely.
(b) SENSE OF THE SENATE.—The Senate—
(1) recognizes the necessity to improve affordability and access to health insurance for all Americans;
(2) acknowledges the value of building upon the existing private health insurance market;
(3) affirms its intent to enact legislation this year that, with appropriate protection for consumers, improves access to affordable and meaningful health insurance options for employees of small businesses and individuals by—
(A) facilitating pooling mechanisms, including pooling across State lines, and
(B) providing assistance to small businesses and individuals, including financial assistance and tax incentives, for the purchase of private insurance coverage.

TITLE VII—REVENUE PROVISIONS

SEC. 701. INCREASE IN EXCISE TAX RATE ON TOBACCO PRODUCTS.

(a) CIGARS.—Section 5701(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended—

(h) FLOOR STOCKS TAXES.—

(1) IMPOSITION OF TAX.—On tobacco products (other than cigars described in section 5701(a)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986) and cigarette papers and tubes manufactured in or imported into the United States which are removed before April 1, 2009, and held on such date for sale before such time, there is hereby imposed a tax in an amount equal to the excess of—

(A) the tax which would have been imposed under section 5701 of such Code on the article if the article had been removed on such date, over

(B) the prior tax (if any) imposed under section 5701 of such Code on such article.

(2) METHOD OF PAYMENT.—The tax imposed by paragraph (1) shall be paid in such manner as the Secretary may prescribe by regulations.

(3) TIME FOR PAYMENT.—The tax imposed by paragraph (1) shall be paid on or before August 1, beginning with such tax imposed on articles removed (as defined in section 5702 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986) on or after the date of the enactment of this Act.

(4) ARTICLES IN FOREIGN TRADE ZONES.—Notwithstanding the Act of June 10, 1934 (commonly known as the Foreign Trade Zone Act, 48 Stat. 990, 19 U.S.C. 81a et seq.) or any other provision of law, any article which is located in a foreign trade zone on April 1, 2009, shall be subject to the tax imposed by paragraph (1) if—

(A) internal revenue taxes have been determined, or customs duties liquidated, with respect to such article before such date pursuant to a request made under the 1st proviso of section 360 of such Act; or

(B) such article is held on such date under the supervision of an officer of the United States Customs and Border Protection of the Department of Homeland Security pursuant to the 2d proviso of such Act.

(5) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this subsection—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Any term used in this subsection which is also used in section 5702 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 shall have the same meaning as it has in such section.

(B) SECRETARY.—The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of the Treasury or the Secretary's delegate.

(C) UNCONTROLLED GROUPS.—Rules similar to the rules of sections 5601(e)(3) of such Code shall apply for purposes of this subsection.

(T) OTHER LAWS APPLICABLE.—All provisions of law, including penalties, applicable with respect to the taxes imposed by section 5701 of such Code shall, insofar as applicable and not inconsistent with this subsection, apply to the floor stocks taxes imposed by paragraph (1), to the same extent as if such taxes were imposed by such section 5701. The amount of any tax imposed by paragraph (1) shall be the ultimate burden of the tax imposed by paragraph (1) as the person to whom a credit or refund under such provisions may be allowed or made.

(E) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to articles removed (as defined in section 5702(o) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986) after March 31, 2009.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — HOUSE

Mr. DEAL of Georgia. Madam Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding. I think it would be appropriate for us to review what the SCHIP program is designed and was originally designed to do and where it is in light of what this bill attempts to do.

First of all, it stands for the State Children's Health Insurance Program. States call it by a variety of different names at the State level. In my State, it's called PeachCare. You would imagine that we would do that in Georgia, but it was originally designed in 1997 as a 10-year program—it was a block grant program—designed to fill in the need of children who live in families that are above the Medicaid poverty level eligibility but are still below 200 percent of poverty, and that in that capacity was a worthwhile and useful program.

During its 10-year initial lifespan as it was designed, there were times when States had shortfalls. In other words, the allocation under the Federal matching rate formula for the SCHIP program, coupled with the State's contribution, was not sufficient to meet the demand and to enroll children to be enrolled, and Congress stepped up to the plate, appropriated additional funds, and allowed those States to continue with their legitimate enrollment programs.

When it came to the 10-year time frame expiring, we were faced with, well, what is the future of SCHIP going to be? After much debate, vetoes by the President, about a program that was going to take a huge chunk of the Medicaid expanding government control of health care, we did an 18-month extension, and that 18 months will expire this next month.

And what it did was it said let's take the legitimate needs of the 200 percent of poverty and below, recognizing that some States had already far exceeded that limit, but nevertheless allowing them to be grandfathered in and provide enough money so that no State runs out of money to cover the eligible children.

Unfortunately, the bill before us today continues to take a step, in my opinion, in the wrong direction. We talk about the millions of children that are supposedly going to be enrolled as new enrollees in the program, and yet when we look at those figures, we find that about 2.5 million of those so-called new enrollees will be children who are already in private health insurance plans, but because their family is now eligible for the government to pay for their health care, it is anticipated that their families will simply take them off of the private insurance and put them on the taxpayer-paid program of SCHIP. I don't think that's what most Americans in this country want this program to be.

Couple that with the fact that we have no provision in this bill that requires States—

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The SPEAKER pro tempore.

The SPEAKER pro tempore.

The SPEAKER pro tempore.

The SPEAKER pro tempore.
Mr. BARTON of Texas. I yield the gentleman 1 additional minute.

Mr. DEAL of Georgia. There is no provision in this bill that requires States to go out and make the extra effort to enroll children who are eligible for SCHIP. Medicaid is the current SCHIP program under its current authorization of up to 200 percent of poverty but are still unenrolled.

In fact, it is estimated that about a quarter of the children who are eligible are simply not enrolled in the current program. These are the children that are at the lowest levels of poverty but are not covered. They should be the part that are our first incentive. The Republican version of this incentivizes States to take that extra effort to enroll those children first before they started going up the poverty level and enrolling in higher income families, many of whom already have private insurance.

I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. WAXMAN. Madam Speaker, I'm pleased at this time to yield to the gentleman from Washington State (Mr. MCDERMOTT).

Mr. MCDERMOTT. Madam Speaker, I rise in support of the SCHIP reauthorization legislation and want to thank the Speaker, Ms. PELOSI, for her leadership in bringing this bill to the floor. H.R. 2 clearly says that change has arrived for our country and our children.

Instead of the veto pen that was used last year by the outgoing President to deny health care to children, our new President will sign this legislation and, in so doing, will write a new chapter in America's commitment to our children and our future.

H.R. 2 is a real down payment on our efforts to ensure universal access to affordable health care for all Americans. It builds on successful models that have brought access to millions of children nationwide.

Health care should be a right, not a privilege for the rich in America. This legislation affirms the commitment of a new Congress to serve all the people, not merely those who have the means to pay any price for health care while the Nation pays a steep price by not covering its children.

H.R. 2 represents an additional 4 million children who will have access to health care. It will provide access to preventive health care, and this alone means America will raise healthier children who will grow to become healthier and more productive adults.

The American people have spoken. They want a more compassionate response to our Nation's problems. Today, we are voting with our heads and our hearts to do just that. This is not about ideology or party. It is about providing health care to children. H.R. 2 represents real change.

I am proud of my own State that took the lead before SCHIP was put in place in 1994. Three years before the enactment of SCHIP, Washington State expanded coverage to children up to 200 percent of the Federal poverty line. That was a huge commitment, and clearly, my State took the lead. As a result, we have fewer children uninsured, we have a healthier population, and more integrated primary care. It's time for us in Washington State, our State, and it recognizes that what worked for Washington State will work across the country.

Thirty million dollars was the commitment we made. H.R. 2 rewards those States that know clearly on that providing quality affordable health care to children was a sound, humane investment, but also, it expands a successful program to cover more uninsured children and working families.

The present economic difficulties in this country are going to make this program even more important than they've ever been in the past. This bill provides greater flexibility and will allow States to meet the needs of low-income working families.

I'm grateful also that this legislation includes important access for legal immigrant children who are currently denied coverage, children who are born in the United States and are U.S. legal citizens. In Washington State, we have provided coverage for these children, but the State is doing this alone without the full partnership of the Federal Government. H.R. 2 corrects this error and will allow Washington State to maintain coverage for more than 5,000 children.

Madam Speaker, we need to do the right thing. Providing universal coverage for children is an objective that we should all support. This legislation takes us one step closer to meeting this goal. I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. Madam Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to a distinguished member of the committee, Dr. GINGREY of Georgia.

Mr. GINGREY of Georgia. I appreciate the gentleman yielding, and I regretfully rise to oppose H.R. 2, not because I oppose the original legislation—which I think the bill was a very good bill and as a physician Member and a compassion for wanting to extend health care to our children—my concern with the bill with the reauthorization is that it doesn't really limit it to those children that need it the most, those, say, under 200 percent or between 100 and 200 percent of the Federal poverty level. This new bill actually allows that to go up to 300 percent.

But, Madam Speaker, there is an even bigger problem. This is a situation that some States use called—well, they're loopholes, really, and they call them income disregards. I think there are 3 States. Madam Speaker, who utilize that loophole that just simply says to couples or families, if you're not eligible, that is, you make more than 300 percent of the Federal poverty level—well, what is that, about $65,000 a year for a family of 4—the we will simply disregard the income that you make between 300 and 400 percent of the Federal poverty level and say, we're not going to count that.

And I had an amendment—which I thought was a very good amendment; unfortunately it's a closed rule—but that amendment would simply say that there will be income disregards only in the amount of a maximum of $3,000 a year or $250 a month. Only income disregards may be something like child care or something of that sort.

But to completely disregard, that's where we get into this crowd-out situation. Madam Speaker, where people whose children are already covered in the private market, they're going to drop that, clearly they're going to drop out because even though they can afford it so they can get on the government dole. And as was pointed out earlier, a lot of physicians are not going to take the SCHIP patient because of the reimbursement.

Mr. HOYER. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. WAXMAN. Madam Speaker, I am going to be magnanimous and give the gentleman 1 additional minute.

Mr. GINGREY of Georgia. I thank my ranking member of the Energy and Commerce Committee for his generosity. He knows that this Georgia brogue is a little bit slow.

But clearly it makes no sense, it makes no sense to crowd them out and put them into this program and then physicians are going to be less inclined to provide the service because their reimbursement under SCHIP or Medicaid is probably 30 percent less than it is in the private market.

So while in trying to enroll more children and help more children, I think, unfortunately, you're going to get less coverage and less service for those children.

So again, that was a good amendment. I'm sorry I didn't have a chance, Madam Speaker, to offer it. I think we could have made a good bill a whole lot better.

And for that reason, I'm going to oppose this bill.

Mr. WAXMAN. Madam Speaker, I am pleased at this time to yield 1 minute to the distinguished majority leader of the House of Representatives, the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. HOYER).

Mr. HOYER. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Madam Speaker, I thank the chair for bringing this bill to the floor in a timely fashion. I'm pleased that we're going to pass this bill, we're going to send it to the President, and he's going to sign it.

Atul Gawande, a surgeon and writer on health care policy, recently described our medical system like this:
Useful health care is an appallingly patched-together ship, with... fifteen percent of the passengers thrown over the rails just to keep it afloat.

If you can afford health care in America, chances are you'll be better able to see the world to get sick. You will be treated to the best hospitals by the most skilled doctors with the latest technology. However, if you're one of the Americans thrown overboard, if you're one of the 45 million uninsured Americans, or a checkerboard of poverty, you might be better off in some other places in the world. Every other developed nation has figured out how to cover all of its citizens. Every one but ours.

We're here today to start fixing that. Actually, we've been fixing that in a number of ways—Medicaid, Medicare, other programs that we've adopted—to patch the holes, however, that still exist in the leaking ship to make it into a vessel capable of carrying every passenger, every American.

We can't patch every hole today, but if I could pick just one leak to stop, it would be the hold where we keep our sick children. If you asked me for the most medically pivotal time of life, I would put it towards covering more children.

I don't say that out of misplaced sentimentality; I say it because it's well-established that childhood is the most medically pivotal time of life. A child who lives through the first years without a doctor's care, without regular checkups, without immunizations, and without booster shots is in for a lifetime of health danger. That child will live sicker and die sooner. In adulthood, he or she will be a less productive worker. And in old age, he or she will help swell the costs of our entitlement programs.

That is the logic behind the final passage of this bill, which brings into the State Children's Health Insurance Program, as has been said already, four million children who are eligible but not yet enrolled.

Very frankly, as a result of the veto of the legislation we passed in the last Congress, four million children went to bed last night with their parents worried if they got sick, what were they going to do, with the alternative being the emergency room: the most expensive, and in some cases least efficient, intervention in the health care system in our country.

It does what President Bush promised to do when he ran for re-election in 2004 accepting the Republican nomination. As I've said before, President Bush said this, "In a new term"—that meant the 2005 to the 2009 term that just expired—"In a new term, we will lead an aggressive effort to enroll millions of poor children who are eligible but not signed up for government health insurance."

Those millions of children of which President Bush spoke will be added by this bill. President Bush failed to deliver on his promise, but today, we will redeem that commitment. Today, the objective of years of work will be substantially advanced.

With this vote, and with President Obama's immediate signature, this bill will be law at last.

Backed by overwhelming majorities of Americans, we can pass this bill and help raise a healthier generation of Americans. That's good for our country, it's good for our economy, and it's good for the international community.

And in this recession, we can lend some vital assistance to the millions of families budgets that are stretched, literally stretched, to the breaking point and the point of letting the health care of our children be further at risk.

Madam Speaker, renewing American health care, bringing the best care in the world, which we have right here— as Dr. Gingrey knows, we have right here—bringing it to all of our people is a hugely complex job. That work, of course, does not end today, as Chairman Waxman would emphasize. But this important inclusion of more than four million of our children and the guarantee of access to health care is a victory for America's values and its health care future.

I urge my colleagues, each and every one of us, to vote for this legislation, vote for our children, vote for our families, vote for a healthier America.

Mr. Barton of Texas. Madam Speaker, can I inquire of the time remaining on each side?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Texas has 7 minutes remaining.

Mr. Barton of Texas. Madam Speaker, I yield myself 3 minutes. Madam Speaker, my admiration for the majority leader knows no bounds. Mr. Hoeyer is a great man, and he is an institutionalist, and he was personally involved in the negotiations of the last Congress. That led to a compromise. But sometimes he doesn't detail the entire facts of the matter. So I want to just point out a few things that our distinguished majority leader failed to mention.

Right now in America, the SCHIP bill that we're operating under is a Barton-Deal bill—Mr. Deal and myself, two Republicans—that extends the existing program. And to Mr. Hoeyer's credit and Ms. Pelosi's credit, they passed that extension in the last Congress when we couldn't get a political compromise.

Under current law, if you're low income, below 200 percent of poverty, your children are covered under Medicaid. If you're a working family that's under 200 percent of the Federal poverty level, you're automatically covered. In some States, they go up to 250 percent of poverty, and in some States they have asked for waivers to go even higher. That's what Mr. Hoeyer's State of New Jersey may be at 300 percent. I think the State of New York may be at 300 percent.

So it is a misnomer to say that there are all of these children out there that don't have health insurance. There are some. Now, the bill before us today really doesn't have an income test. It officially extends SCHIP out to 300 percent of poverty but allows the States to ask for waivers and do what are called income disregards, which basically means you could have families at 400 or 500 percent of poverty and if that State disregards their income, they can be covered. That was admitted on the House floor in last year's debate, and that provision is unchanged in the bill before us.

Now, President Obama has already scheduled a signing ceremony so there is no real suspense about whether this bill is going to pass with a Democrat majority of 258 votes and a Republican minority of 178 votes, we're pretty sure that this bill is going to prevail.

But the record should show that low-income children are covered, that children up to 200 percent of poverty are covered, and in some states it goes to 250 percent. This debate is about raising the level.

This debate is about do we want a children's health insurance program that covers every child in America with State and Federal dollars regardless of their ability to pay; do we want to freeze out the private sector for health insurance. That's what this debate is about.

Republicans are for children's health insurance. Republicans do believe, though, that we should target the help to those families that have less ability to help themselves.

And on the question of citizen verification, since we didn't have a legislative hearing, I'm not sure what the verification measurement is, but I think it's a personal affirmation.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. Barton of Texas. Madam Speaker, I yield myself 15 seconds. I recognize the gentleman from the State of New Jersey, 1 minute with an option for more.

Mr. Pallone. I thank the gentleman from California.

Madam Speaker, on this historic day I'd like to thank the chairman of the Health Subcommittee and the author of the SCHIP bill in the House, Mr. Pallone from the State of New Jersey, 1 minute with an option for more.

Mr. Pallone. I thank the gentleman from California.

Madam Speaker, on this historic day I'm reminded of a quote from the Pulitzer Prize winning American author, Pearl Buck, who said, "If our American way of life fails the child, it fails us all."

Well, this is a day worthy of celebration. It comes nearly 2 years after...
Deamonte Driver, a young boy from suburban Maryland, lost his life because his family lost its health insurance. And this simply should not happen in America. And if Congress does not act today, I can’t help but think of the stories of other children whose lives will be put at risk simply because they do not have access to health coverage.

There can be no greater cause or worthier goal than protecting the wellbeing of our Nation’s children. I emphasize that good government, in this case, our government, has a responsibility to make tough financial decisions: do they keep their families’ health insurance, or do they put food on the table at night?

And today we have an extraordinary opportunity to ensure that these children don’t fall through the cracks. This is a very good bill. With its passage, 11 million children will have access to the health care coverage they need to lead healthy and strong lives. And these children are our Nation’s future.

Let’s support them today by voting “yes.”

Mr. BARTON of Texas. Madam Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from California, Congressman McCLINTOCK.

Mr. McCLINTOCK. I thank the gentleman for yielding, and I think it’s a prime example of unintended consequences. Since its inception, we’ve watched as SCHIP has been slowly replacing employer health plans with government-paid plans—with spiraling costs to taxpayers. Employers discovered that the SCHIP could avoid their own plans, knowing that their employees would be covered by SCHIP.

This was supposed to provide health insurance for poor and working-class families but, like all things bureaucratic, it’s now morphed into one in which families earning as much as six-figure incomes and who would have good employer-paid health insurance are being pushed into the government program. And that is the fine point of it.

This is no longer a program for the children of poor people. It’s being used to insinuate government into the medical care of every American. Frankly, we don’t need the same people who run the TSA to run our health insurance.

Mr. WAXMAN. Madam Speaker, I yield 1 minute to a member of the Energy and Commerce Committee and a member as well of the Health Subcommittee, the gentlewoman from Illinois (Ms. SCHAKOWSKY).

Ms. SCHAKOWSKY. I am delighted to rise today in support of the Children’s Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act. I thank Chairman WAXMAN and Chairman PALLONE for their hard work on bringing it to us today.

As a mother and proud grandmother of four, I can think of no higher priority than ensuring that our children get the health care they need. Unfortunately, 7 million children nationally and 350,000 children in Illinois are at risk of losing their coverage if we don’t reauthorize this program.

But this bill will not only prevent SCHIP from expiring on March 31, it will also extend coverage to 1 million uninsured children nationally and 300,000 children in Illinois. It makes many needed improvements, including dental coverage and providing mental health parity. I am particularly pleased that it gives States the discretion to cover more women and children by lifting the 5-year ban for legal immigrants.

I am also pleased that after many thwarted efforts, we finally have a President that will sign this bill into law. It represents a renewed commitment to health care. This is the first step in making sure that every child, woman, and man in the United States has health care that is affordable, accessible, and high quality.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. DEAL).

Mr. DEAL of Georgia. I yield. Mr. WAXMAN.

Mr. WAXMAN. Madam Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the Speaker, without whom we would not be here.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from California (Ms. ESHOO).

Ms. ESHOO. Madam Speaker, I think today is really a great day in America because the legislation that is before us is one of the most important bills that we will pass in the 111th Congress, the Children’s Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act, or SCHIP.

As we know, the same legislation was vetoed not once, but twice by President Bush, forcing the Congress to pass short-term extensions and no improvements to the program. But, today, a promise is being kept to America’s children. They will be insured with good insurance. And the total will be 11 million. We are adding 4 million children to be covered. I think that is a victory.

The legislation invests more than $32 billion over 5 years, and it is fully paid for. It is good fiscal policy. It is good health policy, and it is good social policy.

Forty years ago today, I gave birth to my daughter, Karen. Today, more children are being born, and the little ones can look forward to what the Congress is providing. Bravo, bravo, bravo.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. May I inquire on the time remaining?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman has 45 seconds remaining.

Mr. WAXMAN. Madam Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the Speaker of the House, without whom we would not have passed this legislation before us today, who has been tireless in pushing forward the agenda to make sure that no child in this country goes without health insurance, the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PELOSI).

Ms. PELOSI. This is a very happy day for me, for the Congress, and for the little ones who can look forward to what the Congress is providing.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. WAXMAN. Madam Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the Speaker of the House, without whom we would not have this legislation before us today, who has been tireless in pushing forward the agenda to make sure that no child in this country goes without health insurance, the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PELOSI).

Ms. PELOSI. This is a very happy day for me, for the Congress, and for the little ones who can look forward to what the Congress is providing.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. WAXMAN. Madam Speaker, I yield 1 minute to Ms. SCHAKOWSKY.

Ms. SCHAKOWSKY. I am delighted to rise today in support of the Children’s Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act. I thank Chairman WAXMAN and Chairman PALLONE for their hard work on bringing it to us today.

As a mother and proud grandmother of four, I can think of no higher priority than ensuring that our children get the health care they need. Unfortuit was, in poetry, described as the "children's hour":
I quoted then Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's poem: Between the dark and the daylight, when the night is beginning to lower, comes a pause in the day's occupations that is known as the Children's Hour.

Today, the children's hour has come to pass. With the bipartisan vote of this House, and the signature of the new President of the United States, we will provide health care to 11 million children in America.

We owe a great deal of thanks to our chairman, Mr. WAXMAN, to the chairman emeritus, Mr. DINGELL, and Chairman FRANK PALLONE, of the Energy and Commerce Committee; Chairman RANGEL and PETE STARK of the Ways and Means Committee. So many women on the committees have worked for this. Congresswomen SCHAKOWSKY, BALDWIN, DEGETTE, ESHOO, and many others. This has been a product of many months on this important issue that involves our children.

But our success really springs also from the outside mobilization that went with this. A compilation of more than 300 organizations—everyone from AARP to the SPCA, March of Dimes, Easter Seals, and every organization in between—supported providing quality, affordable health care to America's children.

More than 80 percent of Americans support our bipartisan children's health insurance bill because they understand that with 2.6 million jobs lost last year, even more children do not have health insurance. For every 1 percent increase in unemployment—for every 1 percent increase in unemployment—it is estimated as many as 1.5 million Americans will lose their health care coverage.

The American people know that preventive care is more cost effective than relying on our Nation's emergency rooms. That phrase was used in the debate over the past 2 years. Everyone in America has access to health care. All they have to do is go to the emergency room. What a ridiculous statement.

They know also that reducing smoking, which the Campaign for Tobacco-Free Kids says this legislation will do, means healthier children leading longer lives.

The bipartisan, fully paid for children's health insurance bill represents the new direction that Democrats have fought for that now, today, we join with our Republican colleagues to bring to the floor. This is the beginning of the change that the American people voted for in the last election and that we will achieve with President Barack Obama. We look forward to this afternoon when the President of the United States will sign this legislation.

I speak some of our new Members of Congress on this floor. I see Congresswoman BETSY MARKAY and Congresswoman DAHLKEMPER on the floor. I don't know if others are here. But they have taken a major interest. Tom PERRIELLO of Virginia has taken a major interest in this legislation too. I commend them because their coming to Congress has already, only a few short weeks in the Congress, has already made a difference in the lives of the American people.

It's a very happy day for me because, as you know, each time I have been sworn in as Speaker, I have gavelled this House to order in honor and on behalf of all of America's children. Right now, they do not have a children's hour that signifies that we are a Congress for those children.

I urge all of my colleagues to support our effort to pass this with a tremendous, tremendous margin, and then also to celebrate the signing of the legislation this afternoon.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. I continue to reserve the balance of my time until they are ready to close. We have one speaker remaining.

Mr. WAXMAN. I yield 1 minute to a member of the Health Subcommittee and the full Energy and Commerce Committee who played a role in this legislation, the gentlelady from Wisconsin (Ms. BALDWIN).

Ms. BALDWIN. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I rise in strong support today of the Senate amendment to H.R. 2, the Children's Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act. Achieving health care for all in this legislation is the reason why I got into politics. It is my passion, it is my motivation. And, for the first time during my tenure in Congress, I see real promise that the Obama administration and this Congress will work together to achieve that goal.

SCHIP takes an important first step in moving towards achieving this goal. I am proud to support this particular bill because it contains some key provisions that we have been working on for years, for years, Mr. PALLONE, to fashion a provision that will allow the children in those States to in fact enjoy health insurance. In my State of Washington, over 5,000 kids are going to have health insurance as a result of this; the State will have $94 million to help those families. This is long overdue.

And to my friends across the aisle who somehow do not understand that parents who become unemployed in the downturn, even those who are already on welfare or 200 percent or 300 percent, I don't know why they don't understand the pain of parents who can't provide health insurance for their kids. This does it today. Let's pass this bill.

Mr. WAXMAN. Madam Speaker. I yield 1 minute to the vice chairman of the Energy and Commerce Committee and a longtime member of the Health Subcommittee, the gentlelady from Colorado (Ms. DEGETTE).

Ms. DEGETTE. We will pass this bill today. And we will pass this bill for millions of women, like Susan Molina, who are trying to work and support their children and do the right thing.
Madam Speaker, without question, the people of my State in North Carolina are hurting very badly. Unemployment figures show that the number of counties with double digit unemployment actually doubled to 34 during the month of December. That is more than one-third of the counties that we now suffering from double digit unemployment.

When people lose their jobs, they lose access to affordable health care, and it is the children, just as the gentleman from Washington just said, it is the children who suffer most in these circumstances. Today, we have an opportunity to take another step toward ensuring that every American child has access to affordable health care regardless of family circumstances.

With the passage of this bill, my State of North Carolina will reduce the number of children who lack health insurance by 46 percent. That is 136,000 children. There will be similar impacts across the country. I urge my colleagues to join me in approving this important bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Texas has 45 seconds remaining.

Mr. WAXMAN. Madam Speaker, at this time it is my great honor to yield to the gentleman from California for 1 minute. I urge my colleagues to join me in approving this important bill.

Mr. DINGELL. The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Texas has 45 seconds remaining.

Mr. DINGELL. I thank my friend, the gentleman from California, for his remarks.

Mr. RANGEL. Madam Speaker, what a great opportunity for us in this August body, whether we are Republican or Democrat, to think in terms of the comfort that we are giving parents and children by insurances that, if anything happened to these very special people, that they would have health insurance.

There is hardly a weekend that goes by that I don’t thank God for my three grandchildren and that whatever that anything, God forbid, should happen to them, that at least we would know they have access to health care. It reminded me when I was a young father and how precious my son and daughter would be. And then you would think of, of course, of the so many millions of people that go to work every day not being able to concentrate on their jobs and being productive and competitive, but thinking what would happen if their child became ill.

And it is not just the compassionate and right thing to do, to know that all of us would be able to go to sleep at night and to know that we made our contribution to provide health care to 11 million kids, but even from a national security or fiscal point of view, as doctors and researchers indicate, the great burden of fiscal costs for diseases and ailments that could have been detected if the children had access to health care. So many kids drop out of school with people not even knowing that they couldn’t hear, that they couldn’t understand properly, that they couldn’t see minor things that could have been prevented if the child could have been detected if the child hadn’t gone to the doctor without worrying about costs.

We need to expand access to children’s health care and make sure that every child has the ability to go to the doctor and receive treatment. This is not just the right thing to do; it makes fiscal sense to give children preventive health care.

As working class families struggle to make ends meet in these tough economic times, we have the opportunity to ease their burden by providing health care for 11 million children. Currently, more than 1 out of 8 children in Colorado lacks health insurance because they can’t afford it. As the mother of three, I understand the burden of caring for sick children and the relief of being able to take my children to the doctor without worrying about costs.

feel like you are doing the right thing by making it difficult for kids and others to smoke cigarettes. Indeed, from a Ways and Means point of view, it is a question of whether or not the bill could be adequately funded because last year, cigarette manufacturers paid no taxes because there was more consumption. So something is really working in terms of curtailing of people from destroying the quality of their own lives.

And so I do hope that we continue to have this as a bipartisan bill, that we can work fast and go home. I say that we worked together on one initiative that was good for our children, good for our community, and good for our country.

I now ask unanimous consent to yield the balance of my time to the chairman of our Health Subcommittee, and to have Dr. McDermott determine which Members he would like to yield to.

Mr. CULBERSON. I thank the gentleman from New York.

Mr. McDERMOTT. I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. CULBERSON. I will vote against it.

Mr. LINDER. Madam Speaker, I yield myself the balance of the time as I may consume.

The State Children's Health Insurance Program, which started in 1997, was for children, for children who lived in families who did not qualify for Medicaid but still needed health insurance. Today, four States have more adults in the program than children. It is being abused.

The health insurance program for children also required, originally, those in this country to show that they lived in this country legally, to have documentation. This program removes that proof. You now need only to say, "Yes, I am here legally." It also removes the 5-year requirement. When you are here legally and you are sponsored by someone, you have a sponsor responsible for taking care of your needs for 5 years. This is removed. What will happen if we follow on with an amnesty bill for the 20 million illegals who would be immediately eligible for the SCHIP program? Would it then be fully funded?

The funding, by the way, mostly by tobacco, falls on low-income people. The burden on the lowest 20 percent with the tobacco program is 37 times more than what was funded by an income tax. It also requires 22 million new smokers just to pay the bill. I want to see the majorities go re-elect their own colleagues.

It is estimated that 2.4 million people will drop private insurance; families will drop because they qualify. Employers paying employees less than $80,000 a year will drop it. This isn’t mean-spirited; it is in their interest. We saw this happen before.

In 1965, every physician and dentist in America drew full of patients that they treated for free. It was their community responsibility. When Medicare and Medicaid came along, they said, "Well, my taxes are going up to pay for that. The government will now do it." And they dropped that responsibility, and the burden fell on the taxpayer.

With the upper limit disregards in this program of the SCHIP, the essential minimum 75 percent of all Americans eligible for the program. Again, I repeat. I have heard it said many times it is fully funded. And Lyndon Johnson said that about Medicare and Medicaid. I was in dental school and watched his greatest mistake, that current Blue Cross pays. And those providers are going to disappear from the program. We are already seeing it in Medicare and Medicaid. Who is going to be left to treat these people?

There was a real bipartisan effort to reauthorize this program last year, to expand its income protections and to increase the money to pay for it. It wasn’t enough for the majority. They wanted to make it for everybody all of the time. This will not work.

I will vote against it.

Mr. McDERMOTT. Madam Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from North Dakota (Mr. POMEROY).

Mr. POMEROY. I thank the gentleman for yielding. A great country holds the interests of its children first and foremost. A great country responds to tough times and steep challenges by placing the interests of its children at the head of the line. When it comes to advancing measures to help. Today we have a chance to reflect this dimension of America’s greatness by passing this bill to extend vital health insurance to 11 million of our kids. We must take this action.

Like last year, we will have bipartisan support when it comes to moving this bill forward. But unlike last year, this time our efforts will receive a different reception at the White House. Our prior was a real bipartisan this bill. But we now have a new President. And this bill will be received with a resounding "yes." And the effort to get coverage to our children will at last succeed.

Mr. CULBERSON. I yield 3 minutes to my friend from Texas (Mr. CULBERSON).

Mr. CULBERSON. I thank the gentleman from Georgia. Each one of us as representatives of our districts have a fiduciary duty, the highest obligation of the law, to protect the Treasury of the United States to ensure that our children and grandchildren are not inheriting an unsustainable national debt. Today the national debt exceeds $10 trillion. Today the national deficit, for the first time in history, exceeds $1 trillion. It is approaching $1.5 trillion. Today the unfunded liabilities of the United States exceed $60 trillion.

And in that set of circumstances, it is essential that this Congress, on every bill, on every issue, on every vote and in every debate think first and foremost about that debt burden that we are passing on to our children and analyze every bill before us from that perspective. Is it physically responsible? Is it financially prudent to pass the legislation before us?

Obviously the Federal Government has a longstanding obligation to provide health insurance for the very poorest of our citizens. But the key is, we fiscal conservatives want to see poor American children provided health insurance first and foremost. We fiscal conservatives want to limit the coverage of health insurance coverage to those poor American children in circumstances where they can show that they are truly citizens, they are here legally, in our current law, they have to wait 5 years—and that they are truly poor.

Yet with the legislation this unleashed liberal leadership of the new Congress has put before us, you are hiding behind campaign slogans. Step back and let’s forget the next election. Think about the next generation. Let’s legislate for the next generation, not the next election. And when you look at the next generation, the legislation that this unleashed liberal leadership of Congress asked us to support would overhaul Medicare. Arnold Schwarzenegger in California to implement his plan of providing health insurance, quoting from the Washington Post, Schwarzenegger’s health insurance plan would require everyone living in California, even illegal immigrants, to have health insurance at an estimated cost of $12 billion. You’re changing existing law which requires the applicant to confirm, to verify and to prove that I am a citizen of the United States, you’re changing the requirement that you are here legally you wait 5 years to apply for public assistance. You’re repealing the requirement that if you come here legally that you’re not going to become a burden on American taxpayers. Today it is required that you have a sponsor. If you come into the United States legally, I have got to have a sponsor who will sign an oath confirming that I as the sponsor will support this individual. I am a citizen of the United States, you’re repealing that requirement.
Mr. LINDER. I yield the gentleman 1 additional minute.

Mr. CULBERSON. Under current law, if I enter the United States legally, I must have a sponsor who signs an oath “I confirm and I will pay for this new, this person entering the United States legally, I will make sure they don’t become a burden on taxpayers.” That requirement is repealed. When you look at the cost of this legislation to future generations, it’s a staggering bill to pass on to our kids. It’s an unacceptable burden to add to our children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren’s obligation. For the sake of a sound-bite, for the sake of a cheap election slogan, you’re passing on an unaffordable burden to our kids when we as fiduciaries, as trustees of the public Treasury, of the public dollar at a time of all these bailouts, the repeated bailouts of Wall Street, of re- warding bad behavior, something that the fiscal conservatives in the Congress have fought and are fighting now adding to the problem by repealing the citizenship verification requirement. You’re repealing the 5-year waiting period. You’re allowing States to provide health care coverage to people up to 400 percent of poverty. It’s unaffordable. It’s a dangerous trend. And I hope all of us vote against it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Members are reminded to address their remarks to the Chair.

Mr. McDERMOTT. Madam Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from California (Mr. THOMPSON).

Mr. THOMPSON of California. Madam Speaker, investing in children’s health care is one of the best investments our country can make. When kids see the doctor more regularly, they receive the preventive services that keep them healthier for longer. And they’re less likely to end up in the emergency room, which saves everyone money.

The State Children’s Health Insurance Program has been an extraordinary success. Over 1.5 million children in my home State of California get their health care through this program. However, today, we still have 1.25 million uninsured kids in California. That is unacceptable in the United States of America.

This bill will begin to address that tragedy by providing health care for almost 700,000 additional children in California alone. As a down payment toward health care reform, this legislation will reduce the percentage of uninsured children, just in California, by 55 percent. Our children deserve a healthy start. And this legislation ensures that 4 million more children across the country will get just that.

I ask for your “aye” vote.

Mr. LINDER. Madam Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to my friend from Iowa (Mr. KING).

Mr. KING of Iowa. Madam Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Georgia for yielding time, and I appreciate the privilege to address this issue of SCHIP. This has been a significant frustration to me to grow up in a society where we have respect for the rule of law and fiscal responsibility, or we identify the pillars of American exceptionalism and our charter is to go out and refurbish them. And what we have instead is a bill before us that apparently is a bill that is endorsed by the White House, Madam Speaker, that doesn’t reflect at all.

And I start down through the issue that is my charge here more than any other in this Congress, and that is what this SCHIP does to undermine the integrity of this that is shuttering off, keeping the magnet shut off that attracts illegals into the United States. And it’s clear. It’s not a number that comes from my side. And it’s not a number that comes from an agency. It’s a number that come from the Congressional Budget Office. The requirement to verify the citizenship of Medicaid applicants by using a verified Social Security number has been taken out of this bill. And that amounts to a cost, according to the CBO, of $5.1 billion federally. It will bring an extra cost on to the States, according to CBO, of $3.85 billion. So just that component, lowering the standard to open the door for anybody that wants to walk in the door and say, well, here is a Social Security number for you, and they will sit there and say, well, we have a government program for you, even though your residence might not be in the State and you may have come across the border illegally, that number of illegals applying for and qualifying under this open rule comes to $8.95 billion between the State and the Federal portion of this.

This legislation, which will be signed by President Obama later today, will expand the SCHIP program to cover an additional 4 million children. This is an accomplishment that our Nation can be proud of.

Mr. LINDER. Madam Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlelady from Pennsylvania (Mrs. DAHLKEMPER).

Mrs. DAHLKEMPER. Madam Speaker, I rise in support of SCHIP legislation before us today.

As I have said before, perhaps the most important reason that I ran for Congress was to help ensure that all children in this Nation have access to quality health care. A healthy start in life is something that all children deserve. And I’m particularly pleased that this bill will offer coverage to pregnant women, because I often tell the story of how I got covered. One of the most critical times in my life, the pregnancy of my second child, when it was deemed a pre-existing condition by my private insurer.

This legislation, which will be signed by President Obama later today, will expand the SCHIP program to cover an additional 4 million children. This is an accomplishment that our Nation can be proud of.

I urge my colleagues’ support of this legislation. It is actually the biggest one, is that opening up the door beyond 200 percent of poverty and allowing waivers for States to go beyond 400 percent of poverty, in fact, Medicaid for millionaires, sets the stage. This is a foundation stone for socialized medicine in the United States. And I oppose the bill.

Mr. CULBERSON. I thank the gentleman from Texas (Mr. CULBERSON).

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE

been here the first 17 days of this Congress, and this new leadership managed to spend about $1.3 trillion more than the entire annual budget of the United States. And our primary concern about this legislation is that we want to see health insurance for poor American kids first, and the bill dropped in front of us is going to open the door for fraud, for illegal aliens to apply, and for people who are here legally to walk in and get coverage. The minute they enter the United States, they become a burden on American taxpayers.

Mr. MCDERMOTT. Madam Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from California (Mr. BECERRA) 1½ minutes.

Mr. BECERRA. Madam Speaker, 200 years ago, one of our children, Diamonte Driver, perished from illnesses that today are easily preventable. We benefit from 21st century medical advances and the best trained doctors and providers in the world. Yet 2 years ago, 2 years ago, a young boy of 12, not far from this Capitol died after an infection in an abscessed tooth, an infection that spread beyond that tooth to his brain. Because his family did not have the money to remain on Medicaid coverage, and that Medicaid coverage had lapsed, he was unable, his family was unable to afford the $80 it would have cost to extract that tooth. And so 2 years ago, a young man by the name of Diamonte Driver died in America.

Today we say this is the 21st century and America understands that no one should die of a preventable disease or illness. We have 11 million children in this country who are still uninsured. Today’s legislation will make sure that about half of those kids, about 4 million of those kids will be insured, along with seven other million who today benefit on an ongoing basis from this SCHIP legislation.

We know what it was like 200 years ago in America and we know now what it could be like 2 years ago in America. We know that today we must do better for our kids and that is why we pass this legislation today.

Mr. LINDER. Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MCDERMOTT. Madam Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. PERRIELLO).

Mr. PERRIELLO. Madam Speaker, today I rise in support of H.R. 2, the State Children’s Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act of 2007.

At a time of foremost unemployment, and when more Americans are losing employer-sponsored health care for their children, this bill is needed urgently for the 150,000 Virginia children currently insured by the program, and the 55,000 more who will be covered.

This approach makes good public health policy. It’s morally the right thing to do by our children, and it’s good economic policy because it rewards the very families and parents who are working their way out of poverty. At a time when the cost of health care is crushing America’s families and America’s businesses, this is an important lifeline to extend to children in Virginia and children throughout the country.

While I am in full support of the underlying legislation, I am disappointed to learn that the Senate bill includes a disproportionate increase in the excise tax rate on tobacco products. The proposed tobacco tax could impact jobs and State revenues in already tight times.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. PERRIELLO. In these very difficult times, we are in this together as a matter of public health and as a matter of economic growth.

As the son of a pediatrician, I am pleased to have the opportunity to vote in favor of this critical legislation and in favor of children in the Fifth District.

I urge my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to join me in putting America’s children first and cast a vote in favor of this important bipartisan legislation.

Mr. LINDER. Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of the time.

Mr. MCDERMOTT. Madam Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON-LEE).

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas asked and was given permission to revise and extend her remarks.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Let me thank the chairman of the Full Energy and Commerce Committee, Mr. WAXMAN. Let me thank the manager, Dr. MCDERMOTT, and the chairman of the Full Committee on Ways and Means.

This is a miraculous accomplishment. The children of America are shouting today. It’s important to know that there are 8.9 million uninsured children in America. Overall, 11.3 percent of children in the United States are uninsured. That is unacceptable, and it is not befitting of this great Nation.

In Texas we have close to 1.5 million children that are uninsured. Today we say to them that they are a priority, and that their health care and their preventative health care is crucial; that it is not a waste of money. When 74 percent of uninsured children eligible for CHIP, for Medicaid are not enrolled, this is not a waste of money. It’s a matter of justice for those women will have access. I am gratified that they will also have access for certain adults that meet certain criteria; and I am delighted that we still have an opportunity to protect certain hospitals owned by physicians that will continue to serve children that are uninsured as well.

This is a great bill. We should vote on it enthusiastically and continue to work again to enroll more children for this great medical service.

Madam Speaker, I rise today in strong support for the Senate Amendment to H.R. 2—"the Children’s Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act." We stand today, closer to helping 4 million children without health insurance. No longer will these children be forced to live with fear of getting sick. Today is a great day. Today we are able to bring 4 million children to the fold. Finally, we can tell those 4 million children that are begging for help that Yes We Can!

NATIONALLY AND IN TEXAS

There are an estimated 8.9 million uninsured children in America. Overall, about 11.3 percent of children in the United States are uninsured, but the percentage of uninsured children in each state varies widely. Based on a 3-year average, there were an estimated 20.9% of uninsured children (under 19 years of age) in the State of Texas representing 1,014,000 of the State’s children.

According to the Institute of Medicine, uninsured people are less likely to use preventive services and receive regular care. They are also more likely to delay care resulting in poorer health outcomes. Texas has the highest uninsured rates of all 50 States and the District of Columbia (2005–2007). Almost one-quarter (24.4%) of Texans are uninsured compared to 15.3% of the general U.S. population.

Recent studies estimate that for every 1 percent increase in U.S. unemployment, 1.1 million Americans lose health insurance and more than a million enroll in Medicaid and CHIP. While Texas’ 6 percent December unemployment rate remains better than the national average of 7.7 percent, the State’s unemployment rate could reach 10 percent by 2010. Many states, including Texas, experience much higher Medicaid enrollment than projected due to job loss and lower incomes, and will be unable to support the higher demand without this relief.

HOW DOES CHIP HELP TEXAS FAMILIES?

According to 2004 U.S. Census data, Texas has the highest rate of uninsured children in the country with 21.6% of children in Texas lacking health insurance coverage. Nearly 90% of uninsured children in Texas have at least one working parent. The high children health insurance means that it is unaffordable for many Texas families. According to the Milliman Medical Index, the annual cost of health insurance for a family of four is $13,382.

Although many Texans have employer-sponsored health care insurance, many cannot get affordable coverage for dependents through an employer.

National data shows that virtually all the net reduction in SCHIP enrollment has been among children in families with incomes below 150% FPL. I want to share with you just some of the scary health statistics that are affecting children:
74% of uninsured children eligible for SCHIP or Medicaid but not enrolled.
11% of uninsured children in families not eligible for Medicaid or SCHIP with incomes below.
15% of uninsured children in families with incomes at or below the poverty-level who are ineligible for Medicaid and SCHIP.
90% of uninsured children that come from families where at least one parent works.
50% of two-parent families of uninsured children in which both parents work.
3.4 million uninsured children who are white, non-Hispanic.
1.6 million uninsured children who are African American.
3.3 million uninsured children who are Hispanic.
670,000 uninsured children of other racial and ethnic backgrounds.

PHYSICIAN-OWNED HOSPITALS
I am very pleased to see that this new version does not include the restrictions on physician-owned hospitals. Along with many of my colleagues, I have been very concerned that we had with the prohibition on physician-owned hospitals. Which is why I worked with my colleagues to ensure that this language was not included.

In my district of Houston, Texas the population has grown close to 4.5 million people and there are only approximately 16,000 beds available in the city. Physician-owned hospitals like St. Joseph Medical Center in my district provide essential emergency, maternity, and psychiatric care for their patients. They delivered over 6,000 babies in 2008, of which 3,700 were insured by Medicaid. Currently they provide $14M in uninsured care in the Houston Market. A Houston Institution for 120 years, St. Joseph Medical Center is also a major provider of psychiatric beds as it currently operates 102 of the 800 licensed beds in Houston.

In 2006, St. Joseph Medical Center, downtown Houston’s first and only teaching hospital was on the verge of closing its doors. When I learned they were going to shut down this hospital and turn it into high-end condominiums, I personally worked with the hospital board, community leaders, and local government to ensure this did not take place.

Eventually, after I was assured that it would be responsibly managed and it’s doors would remain open, I was able to help a hospital corporation, which, in partnership with physicians, purchased the hospital and has made it the premier hospital in the region to keep open St. Joseph’s doors including its qualified emergency room responsive to a heavily populated downtown. This formerly troubled medical center is now in the process of reopening Houston Heights Hospital, the fourth oldest acute care hospital in Houston.

ROBIN FROM TEXAS—HER STORY
Her daughter has a developmental disorder, known as autism. She was not certain of the extent of the proper diagnosis of her disorder due to her lack of funds being a single mother, and lack of quality health insurance. She is one of the many uninsured in Texas.

She scraped together money to take her daughter to the doctor when she gets sick and does not pay electricity so she can pay for 30 minutes of private speech therapy a week to complement what the school system provides.

She cannot qualify for SSI or Medicaid, they say she makes just over the maximum allowable income. She had trouble qualifying for CHIP in the past as well. Sadly once this mother has paid for daycare, speech therapy, clothing, car insurance, food, shelter, transportation, the rising cost of gasoline etc., she can barely meet her bills and lose quality insurance on her salary.

Robin wants the American dream for her and her daughter, but she is unable to obtain it. She is stuck in an old apartment building, with an even older car, and inadequate health coverage for her old daughter.

God help us, Robin and the many like her and her daughter deserve better.

THE ECONOMIC AFFECT ON HEALTHCARE
The economy has now lost 1.2 million jobs since the beginning of the year, with nearly half of those losses occurring in the last three months alone, pointing to acceleration in the pace of erosion in labor markets. It is more important than ever in this economy that children’s healthcare is not sacrificed.

Madam Speaker, my faith is renewed in the process that is being negotiated in the media. Thoughtful and deliberate negotiations were taken to advance this legislation—and through your leadership we have succeeding in bringing this to the floor for passage.

I look forward to a day when every child is covered and can play on football fields and jungle gyms without their parents fearing a bankruptcy injury to their child. This legislation is piece of mind to 4 million families and I will joyfully cast my vote for passage of this important legislation.

Mr. LINDBERG. Madam Speaker, can I inquire as to the time remaining on each side?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Georgia (Mr. LINDBERG) has 2 minutes remaining. The gentleman from Washington (Mr. MCDERMOTT) has 4½ minutes remaining.

Mr. LINDBERG. Madam Speaker, I reserve.

Mr. MCDERMOTT. Madam Speaker, I listened to fiscal conservatives rail against an idea about an article I read in this morning’s Washington Post. Over in Arlington, which is just across the river, they have a clinic where people go who don’t have health insurance and hope that their number is drawn from a lottery so then they can get to see a doctor.

Our health care system is in serious problems, from the seniors all the way down to the young people in this country.

Now, this bill says to the States, here’s some additional money for you to expand coverage to your youngsters.

Through no fault of their own, their’re born into a home where there is no way to pay for health care. And we are giving the States, in this time of economic collapse brought on by the fiscal conservatives in this body, who said that we could spend and spend and spend, and never have to meet the day of reckoning, the people who are now going to suffer from that will be our children.

Children have nobody to speak for them but us. And for us to put that money out there and give them the opportunity to have health care is humane in the very strongest sense of that word.

How anybody could vote against this, I have no idea, after you’ve wasted a trillion dollars on a war in Iraq, and have the real estate industry totally out of control, and then you pay to the children, you can’t see a doctor. What kind of body is this if we don’t take care of children?

I yield the remaining 3 minutes of my time to Mr. WAXMAN.

Mr. WAXMAN. Madam Speaker, we wish to reserve our time to close the debate.

Mr. LINDBERG. Madam Speaker, I would like to point out that nobody on this side opposes children. The SCHIP program was started under the Republican majority in 1997, principal sponsor being Republican Senator ORRIN HATCH.

We believe the program was a good start in allowing for the health coverage of children whose parents did not qualify for Medicaid. What will destroy this program is a lack of restraint and irresponsible expansion of it.

It is true we are in the midst of a global economic collapse. And that has caused us to re-examine our commitment to American children. Corporate leaders spending other people’s money, shareholders, ignored limitations, ignored risks, ignored warning signs, and gave us the problem we have over the economy today.

What makes us different? We are spending other people’s money and we’re spending more and more of it. We have a GAO study that says that if we continue to spend in our discretionary spending at the current percentage of the overall economy, and if we continue to tax at 19 percent of GDP, which is about the average since 1945, that in just 31 years from today, the entire Federal revenue stream will be insufficient to pay the interest on the debt because of entitlements, Social Security, Medicare, which is much worse than Social Security, Medicare.

And to solve those programs in the face of President Obama’s desire to get a handle on entitlements, we stand here today proposed to add a new one. It is true that this is designed as a block grant program. But there are no limitations on it. This will go out of control just like all of the other programs have, and our children will pay.

Madam Speaker, I hope we all oppose this.

Mr. WAXMAN. Madam Speaker, Members of the House of Representatives, this bill is going to pass by an overwhelming bipartisan majority, as it passed in the last Congress as well, at least twice. But the difference is, this bill will be signed tonight by the President of the United States.

President Bush vetoed this children’s health bill twice. And it is interesting to review the arguments he gave for rejecting the legislation. First of all, he said, there’s no problem for children getting health care when they need it. They can always go to an emergency room of a hospital. Of course, the care in an emergency room of a hospital is the most expensive care, and it often means that the child has gotten sicker than otherwise would be the case and is forced to go to that emergency room as the only option.

And the second reason he gave for vetoing the bill is, to me, one of the most astounding. He said, why should taxpayers subsidize parents for their children’s health insurance if the parents could afford to buy a private health plan for their own children? Well, many parents just can’t afford it or will not have that as an opportunity because of a pre-existing medical condition. But think of that argument.

Suppose the President of the United States said, we ought not to have public schools for children whose parents could afford to send them to private schools, I find that a remarkable argument for him to have made.

We, by the way, should value the opportunity for every child to succeed to the fullest extent of her or her ability, and that means education for all children and health care when those children need it.

We will have the President of the United States sign this bill tonight because election results make a difference. And we will have a President who will sign this bill into law, along with a bipartisan majority in the House and the Senate. And that will be a happy day for America’s children.

Mr. ENGELE. Madam Speaker, today is another great day for American families. Later this afternoon, President Obama will sign the State Children’s Health Insurance program Reauthorization into law.

Just one week ago, President Obama signed the Lilly Ledbetter Fair Pay Act into law—a bill which restores basic protection against pay discrimination. When women do better, families do better, and the Lilly Ledbetter act will make it easier for families to pay for day-to-day expenses like groceries, child care and doctor’s visits.

We build on the enactment of family security legislation today by providing health care coverage for 11 million children. In this commonsense legislation, we will preserve coverage for the roughly 7 million children currently covered by SCHIP and extend coverage to 4.1 million uninsured children who are currently eligible for, but not enrolled in, SCHIP and Medicaid.

As the third largest S-CHIP program in the nation, New York reduced the number of uninsured children in the State by 40%. We are only one of seven states to achieve a decline of that magnitude and I am so pleased that we will further strengthen children’s access to health care today.

During this time of economic distress, we must remember that the S-CHIP program is a critical part of our health care safety net and more broadly our family security safely net. S-CHIP has served New York and our country well, and I commend the Speaker for working so diligently on behalf of our nation’s children.

Mr. TOWNS. Madam Speaker, esteemed colleagues on both sides of the aisle, I stand before you today, one happy man. I am happy that I have the opportunity to vote in favor and hopefully bear witness to the passage of this momentous bill, the State Children’s Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act.

Our great leader, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., once famously remarked, “Of all the forms of inequality, injustice in health care is the most shocking and unhumane.” I wholeheartedly agree with Reverend King’s sentiments and I would like to take his statement one step further. I contend neglecting adequate health care for all of our children is perhaps the most disgraceful and appalling atrocity this nation faces.

Today we have an opportunity to take one step towards rectifying the wrongs of our past. Today we have the opportunity to vote in favor of a bipartisan piece of legislation that would expand health care to more than 11 million children nationwide and preserves the coverage of 7.1 million children through 2013.

This fine piece of legislation will reduce the number of uninsured children in my state by 66%; reducing the number from 400,000 to approximately 267,000. I don’t know about you, but that’s the type of change I can believe in.

The State Children’s Health Insurance Program catches the most overlooked segment of our population—those families and children that earn too much to qualify for Medicaid but too little for Health Insurance. This land-breaking and much needed piece of legislation will provide coverage to those families that are eligible for but not yet enrolled in SCHIP and Medicaid.

The legislation is truly bipartisan in nature, and is supported by numerous organizations including the American Hospital Association, AARP, and families USA.

My Democratic friends and Republican comrades, I urge you to take a stand against health injustices and take a stand for our children. I urge you to vote in support of the Children’s Health Insurance Health Program Reauthorization Act.

Ms. HIRONO. Madam Speaker, I rise today in strong support of H.R. 2, the Children’s Health Insurance Program (CHIP) Reauthorization Act. Our nation should show compassion for the most vulnerable among us, and CHIP helps millions of low-income children receive healthcare.

The last time we had a floor debate on H.R. 2, there were references made by those in opposition to the bill to a program in my state called Keiki Care. It was suggested by those individuals that the Keiki Care program was cancelled due to perceived crowd-out, where parents drop their children’s private insurance in order to enroll into a free government program.

That claim was entirely false, and I join Congressman ABERCROMBIE in correcting the misstatements made by the opposition. The Keiki Care program did not have an issue with crowd-out. It was intentionally designed so that those who wish to enroll in the program must be continuously uninsured for six months. There was also no spike in program enrollment that even suggests that parents were indeed dropping their private insurance to join. I would like to insert into the RECORD a fact sheet on Keiki Care published by the group Hawaii Covering Kids.

In Hawaiian, “keiki” means “child” or taken literally “little one.” H.R. 2 is a bill that provides for the health and well-being of the keiki most in need of our help. I urge my colleagues to join me in voting in support of H.R. 2 today.

KEIKI CARE

GOAL

All children and youths living in Hawai’i are enrolled in health insurance.

CHILDREN’S HEALTH

Compelling national health care statistics drive Hawai’i Covering Kids’ goal.

Children who are uninsured are twice as likely not to receive any medical care;

Only 45% of uninsured children had one or more well-child visits in the past year compared with more than 70% of insured children;

More than one in three uninsured children do not have a personal physician; and Uninsured children are less likely to receive proper medical care for common childhood illnesses such as sore throats, earaches, and asthma.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Approximately five percent of Hawai’i’s children and youths are uninsured statewide which means over 16,000 kids do not have health insurance. Hawai’i Covering Kids sponsored meetings in October 2006 and January 2007 to determine the “gap groups” and possible solutions. We concluded these children and youths are most likely uninsured.

Eligible for QUEST or Medicaid Fee-for-Service in households between 251–300% FPL but parents cannot afford monthly premium plus 25% of income.

In families with incomes above 300% FPL and parents cannot afford private health insurance.

Have temporary visas (V, H, K, etc.);

Undocumented immigrants;

Student dependents (F2 visa) whose parents cannot afford university health insurance plans.

2007 INITIATIVE

The Hawai’i State Legislature introduced HB1008, now Act 236, to help uninsured children and youths in the gap groups. It included paying QUEST and Medicaid Fee-for-Service monthly premiums for children between 251–300% FPL and establishing a free Keiki Care plan for children ages 31 days to 19 years old who are not insured for public health insurance. The Keiki Care plan is modeled after the low-cost HMSA Children’s Plan with limited benefits and some out-of-pocket expenses. It requires the child live in Hawai’i and be continuously uninsured for six months. Exceptions to the six-month uninsured provision include: (1) children who “income out” of QUEST or Medicaid Fee-for-Service, (2) children enrolled in an managed care children’s plan on the effective date (one-time only exemption), (3) newborns uninsured since birth, and (4) children in families affected by Aloha Airline’s bankruptcy.

TIMELINE

3 May 2007—HB1008 HD2 SD2 CD1 Passed by the Legislature;
30 June 2007—Signed by the Governor as Act 236;
1 March 2008—Enrollment Commenced;
1 April 2008—Keiki Care Effective Date.

ENROLLMENT

1 April 2008—1,827;
1 November 2008—2,021.

CROWD-OUT

Hawai’i has never experienced problems with parents dropping their children’s private health insurance to enroll them in public-facilitated programs. Keiki Care specifically discourages this tactic (called “crowd-out”) through an eligibility requirement that each child must be uninsured continuously for six months, limited benefit package, and some out-of-pocket expenses. The Parents with uninsured children often face hard choices: ... pay the electric bill or pay the doctor; fill the refrigerator or fill a prescription. That is why uninsured children often go without essential care and may not participate in co-curricular activities—not only because their parents fear an injury, but also because they fear the impact medical bills could have on their family budget.

Overall, Keiki Care supports healthier children, confident parents, and reliable payers to health care providers while preserving precious charity care and limited uninsured funds for others who are uninsurable.

Mr. HARE. Madam Speaker, I rise once again in strong support of the State Children's Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act (also known as SCHIP). I commend the Senate for acting so promptly on the measure and the leadership of this House for bringing it to the floor for its final vote.

One of the biggest moral failures of our nation is the fact that we allow nine million children to go without health insurance every day in the United States. This is unacceptable. Our children are the future of this great nation—a future that is compromised every day we let a single child go without health care.

Since its inception, SCHIP has successfully filled the gap between those families qualifying for Medicaid and those who can afford private health insurance. In these times of economic hardship, SCHIP creates a fundamentally important safety net, providing health coverage for seven million low-income children; 345,000 children in Illinois.

The legislation before us today reauthorizes the SCHIP program through Fiscal Year 2013, enabling states to maintain their current programs and extend them to an additional 4 million children.

SCHIP is the first critical step to improving health coverage across the nation. I urge my colleagues to vote yes on H.R. 2 and finally send it to the President's desk.

Mr. VAN HOLLEN. Madam Speaker, I rise in strong support for the Children's Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act of 2009. This bill will improve the very successful State Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP). The message and the substance of this bill is clear—we are going to preserve coverage for the 7 million children currently enrolled who otherwise have no access to health insurance while extending coverage to 4 million children who are from working families who earn too much to qualify for Medicaid, but do not earn enough to afford the very high costs of private health insurance.

By reauthorizing this important program through 2013, we will strengthen CHIP's financial stability, increase health care children receive, and increase health insurance coverage for low-income children. The Congressional Research Service projects that under this legislation, Maryland's CHIP allotment will increase by 162 percent. The bill is fully paid for by a 62 cent increase in federal excise taxes on cigarettes. Increasing the tobacco tax will save millions of children from tobacco addiction and save billions in health care costs. The 2000 U.S. Surgeon General's report found that increasing the price of tobacco products will decrease the prevalence of tobacco use, particularly among kids and young adults.

Just two weeks ago, a new President was sworn into office—President Obama. Passing this bill and sending it to his desk now sends a very important signal that change has come as a result of the last election. President Obama's predecessor twice vetoed this legislation. The new President will sign this legislation into law because he understands the hardships that America's poor families are struggling with at a time when millions of Americans have lost their jobs and lost health coverage for their children.

Madam Speaker, let's look out for America's children by providing them the health insurance they need and support my colleagues to vote for this much-needed legislation.

Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. Madam Speaker, for over a decade the State Children's Health Insurance Program (SCHIP) saved millions of America's low-income families from suffering the consequences of living without health insurance, and exemplified our nation's commitment to equal opportunity.

Former President Bush twice prevented this critically important program from benefiting people who fell through the cracks of America's flawed healthcare system. Thankfully, the new Congress and Administration exercised the power and political will to make a different choice. Today, America's children can rest assured that Congress' vote to provide healthcare coverage to 11 million low-income children will not be in vain.

The Senate-amended SCHIP bill authorizes 32.8 billion dollars over 4 1/2 years to cover the 7 million children who currently rely on SCHIP, and extends coverage to more than 4 million low-income children who are currently living without health care.

The bill also offers comprehensive and wide ranging care that includes mental, dental, preventive, maternal, and health services, increases health insurance enrollment, and fights geographical health disparities by offering additional support to under-funded states.

Madam Speaker, the SCHIP program is known by different names around the country. But whether it's called Healthy Families, Health Wave, Healthy Steps, or Kid Care, SCHIP's mission remains the same—providing children from hard working low-income families with the care that they need and deserve. Eight years of SCHIP have shown that this program helps to decrease costly emergency room visits and invasive medical procedures. We know that extending healthcare insurance helps to combat the social, economic, and health disparities that continue to divide our nation and hinder our progress. And, we know that healthy children are better equipped to compete in school and help America compete in the global market. The facts are clear. Missing school days from untreated asthma, tooth decay and mental health disorders and other illnesses are also missed opportunities for our children to reach their full potential and successfully compete.

However, some House and Senate Republicans were driven by ideological affiliation instead of economic prudence and moral obligation to vote against this bill. The House voted 19 times to halt the passage of this bill despite the fact that 19 states enacted budget cuts to SCHIP and Medicaid for 2009. The 2008 financial crisis clearly exacerbated our long standing healthcare crisis and therefore failing to pass SCHIP would be disastrous for both our health economy and our nation.

Last year, skyrocketing gas and food prices, and the plummeting job market made it difficult for low- and middle-income Americans to... finance their everyday needs—including healthcare. In 2008, one million additional children enrolled in Medicaid or SCHIP as a result of lost employment issued insurance.

In a country where a large portion of people receive healthcare insurance through their employer, it is not surprising that when the economy and job market plunge, the number of uninsured Americans soars. And children frequently pay the highest price.

This issue hits close to home. My state of Florida recently ranked 45th in the nation in terms of overall health. Like other low-ranking states, Florida has a large uninsured population and a high rate of child poverty. In fact, Florida has the second largest number of uninsured children in the country. What’s more, a disproportionate number of Florida’s uninsured low-income children are black, Hispanic, and reside in rural areas.

However, the targeted provisions in the 2009 SCHIP Reauthorization bill give us reason to be hopeful. Make no mistake. SCHIP and other emergency and supplemental programs are not the problems that are intrinsic in America’s healthcare system. State, local and federal entities must execute a coordinated effort to lessen the burden of uninsured people in this country as we embark on the road to long-term economic and health care development.

President Obama signing the 2009 SCHIP bill into law is a noble beginning to achieving healthcare reform, and sends a strong message to our nation’s children.

In the summer of 1997, the Select Panel for the Promotion of Child Health said, “Children are one third of our population and all of our future.”

SCHIP is as much of an investment in addressing the issues of today as it is to ensure the well-being of our nation, economy and competitiveness tomorrow. I am pleased to see that we are giving millions of children the basic health benefits they rightly deserve.

Mr. BACA. Madam Speaker, I rise today in strong support concurrent to the Senate Amendment of the Children’s Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act. In my District, foreclosures and unemployment are devastating many families with no end in sight. A facility in my district, the Community Hospital of San Bernardino is being forced to eat the costs or turn children away.

This bill will provide needed health care to our most vulnerable, our most in need, America’s children. With this bill, the state of California alone will be able to cover an additional 694,000 children who are currently uninsured. SCHIP benefits will be further improved, providing for all children enrolled in SCHIP to receive dental coverage. Parents should not have to choose between putting food on the table or paying for health insurance.

For too long we’ve faced partisan debates that only hinder our efforts. We now have the “change” voters want.

I urge my colleagues to help these families, do their fair share and vote for SCHIP.

Mr. EEEK of Florida. Madam Speaker, I rise in full support of H.R. 2 and am proud to cast my vote in favor of it.

Providing health care coverage for 11 million children has been a top priority of mine and the vast majority of both the 110th and 111th Congresses.

And, after several attempts, we are now only minutes away from sending this important legislation to a President that we know will sign it the moment it lands on his desk.

This is a great piece of the change promised in November and a win for the families of 4.1 million currently uninsured children. In my home state of Florida, passage into law of this bill will mean that 290,000 children will have affordable access to health care that they do not have right now. That will lessen the number of uninsured children in Florida by 36%. This bipartisan legislation renews and improves SCHIP, providing health care coverage for 11 million children—preserving coverage for the roughly 5 million children currently covered by SCHIP and extending coverage to 4.1 million uninsured children who are currently eligible for, but not enrolled in, SCHIP and Medicaid.

Covering more eligible children is not only the right thing to do—it’s also much more cost-effective for taxpayers than using the emergency room as a primary care provider. In addition, a healthy child is better prepared for learning and success.

I commend the willingness of those who are paying for this legislation, particularly the small businesses, local cigar importers, who showed a great willingness to do their part to see the SCHIP legislation passed despite the sacrifices they will have to make.

This is a proud day in the House of Representatives. I applaud my colleagues to join me in voting for this important legislation.

Mr. GREEN of Texas. Madam Speaker, I rise today in support of final passage of H.R. 2, the Children’s Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act of 2009.

This bill was passed last year, but after working on this bill for an entire Congress, I am pleased with the final version before us today.

This bill will extend the SCHIP program for four and a half years and provide SCHIP coverage for the 7 million children already enrolled in SCHIP and will insure nearly 4 million additional children.

The bill also includes a provision that will give 400,000 to 600,000 legal immigrant children access to health care. These children are currently barred from SCHIP, of the approximately 4.4 million children currently covered by SCHIP.

This provision, which was originally in H.R. 465, the Immigrant Children’s Health Improvement Act, will give states the option to cover children and pregnant women lawfully residing in the United States.

Current law requires these legal immigrants to endure a five year waiting period before they have access to Medicaid coverage when they would otherwise be eligible.

The waiting period costs more than covering these children because they often have no health insurance and end up in emergency rooms for primary care treatment.

The SCHIP reauthorization bill also includes language from a bill I originally introduced and will give one year of emergency Medicaid coverage for children born in the U.S. and their mothers, which is crucial in protecting the health and wellness of newborns born in this country.

I hope my colleagues will join me in supporting this legislation and reauthorize the SCHIP program to extend coverage to nearly 11 million low-income children.

Mr. SMITH of Texas. Madam Speaker, I oppose this bill for many reasons. In my role as the Ranking Member of the Judiciary Committee, though, I want to point out a few immigration provisions that undermine personal responsibility and burden American taxpayers.

In 1996, Congress required that legal immigrants wait five years after coming to the United States before receiving welfare benefits.

It’s only fair that American taxpayers not foot the medical bills of foreign nationals who arrive with a sponsor’s pledge not to let them become a “public charge.”

This bill, H.R. 2, changes current law and allows immigrants to get medical benefits at the expense of U.S. taxpayers.

The five-year waiting period for immigrants to receive government benefits is the last line of defense for the U.S. taxpayer. It should not be speeded up.

Prior to 1996, the cost of welfare for immigrants had jumped to $8 billion a year. The number of noncitizens on Supplemental Security Income increased more than 600 percent between 1982 and 1995. Both of these numbers are much higher yet H.R. 2 is enacted.

At a time when government spending is out of control, and when states, cities and American citizens are struggling to make ends meet, the last thing we need is to change good policy and further burden U.S. taxpayers.

This legislation should be voted down.

Mrs. CAPPS. Madam Speaker, I rise today in support of this bill and in support of America’s children.

As someone who spent over 20 years of my life as a school nurse dedicated to the betterment of children’s healthcare, I can think of nothing greater than fulfilling the promise of quality healthcare for all deserving children.

It was with great frustration I watched as President Bush repeatedly vetoed our proposals to improve the Children’s Health Insurance Program.

And I could not be prouder to know that the bill we pass today will be signed into law thanks to the commitment of President Obama to our nation’s children. This bill into law will mean 4 million more children get the care they need.

Four million more children won’t have to unnecessarily miss days of school because of preventable illness.

Four million more children’s parents won’t have to wait in the emergency room for their daughters and sons to receive routine care.

Earlier today I met with a school nurse who relayed to me that a child in her school district was injured on the playground and they can’t find a doctor to perform a necessary MRI because the child is uninsured.

I wish this was an isolated incident and that no other parent had to take their son from doctor to doctor and pray that someone will perform the procedure for free.

But it is all too common.

Passage of this legislation today may not help this one child’s family in time, but we can be sure that four million more children’s parents can take comfort that they will not ever face this situation in the future.

I urge my colleagues to vote for this legislation and in favor of our children’s future.

Mr. MARKEY. Madam Speaker, I rise today in strong support of the Senate-amended version of the Children’s Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act (CHIPRA) of 2009.

I am proud to be an original cosponsor of this important legislation to expand the highly successful State Children's Health Insurance Program (SCHIP). This bill will provide health insurance to an additional 4 million low-income children on top of the nearly 7 million who already benefit from the program. CHIPRA also improves access to dental care and mental health services and includes provisions to improve the quality of care and utilize health information technology for children.

In my home state, SCHIP enrollment is part of the reason why Massachusetts has the lowest rate of uninsured children in the country. More than 180,000 Massachusetts children receive care through SCHIP. For this reauthorization will allow the state to cover about 56,000 more Massachusetts children who currently do not have health insurance.

It is unfortunate that the previous two attempts to reauthorize SCHIP were vetoed by President Bush, who chose to side with big corporations over children. With the current economic crisis causing significant job losses, millions of Americans also are losing their health coverage, making today's vote even more important.

While President Bush twice dashed the hopes of millions of low-income families in need of health care for their children, the Obama administration recognizes the value of ensuring that all low-income children get the health care they need.

Two weeks ago this chamber approved CHIPRA by a larger margin than the two votes on SCHIP bills in the 110th Congress. I urge my colleagues to once again stand with the hard working families who want to provide their children with the health care they need. Vote yes on this critical legislation.

Mr. Etheridge. Madam Speaker, I am a strong supporter of the Children's Health Insurance Program, and I rise in support of this legislation. With one out of eight children in North Carolina lacking health insurance, and with the economic downturn making it even more difficult for families to afford health care, this legislation is more important than ever.

At the same time, I feel it is important to say a few words about fairness. Time and time again, Congress has singled out tobacco to pay for things spread across the entire country's economy. North Carolina's tobacco farmers grow a legal crop. These hard working farm families who work hard to be able to pay their bills and provide a better life for their children have suffered greatly from transformations in the global economy. Because my district is the second largest tobacco producing district in the country, H.R. 2 disproportionately affects my constituents. It is unfair for North Carolina's farm families to pay the entire cost of this bill, which has benefits that accrue to the whole must find more equitable ways to pay for worthy initiatives like the Children's Health Insurance Program, and I urge my colleagues to work together to be fiscally responsible without placing the burden on one region of the country or one segment of the economy

In these difficult economic times, North Carolina will need additional help to bear the economic effects of reduced farming and manufacturing. According to researchers at North Carolina State University, increased taxes and decreased revenues due to the provisions in this bill could reduce the state's economy by more than $1 billion. Other analysis shows that North Carolina's citizens pay over four percent of the costs of this legislation while receiving only two percent of the benefit. This will mean lost jobs in a region that is already one of the top ten in the nation in unemployment, and is one of the top five fastest areas in unemployment growth. I am hopeful that we can together get to get my home State the economic support it needs to weather both the national economic downturn and the prove to the United States that we are ready to afford a regular doctor's visit.

At the same, it is vital that we expand and extend CHIP to provide much-needed health care to our most vulnerable citizens. North Carolina has 296,000 uninsured children, the sixth-largest number in the country, and nearly half of these children would be able to get insurance under the provisions of this bill. Together with the 240,000 children currently served by NC Health Choice for Children, the new enrollees would be able to get the health care they need. Preventative care and timely treatment of disease ensures that children are healthy and productive, able to fulfill their potential. Access to health care also saves money for our health system in the long term, because it is more cost-effective to get primary care at a doctor's office than to go to the emergency room.

The bill improves the benefits available under CHIP, including by ensuring dental coverage and mental health parity. It improves the quality of care, and prioritizes coverage for the lowest-income children. Together these provisions will enhance children's lives and keep children from suffering from preventable disease.

As North Carolina's former Superintendent of Public Instruction, I have seen first hand that healthy children are better prepared for learning and success. My life's work has been helping children make the most of their God-given abilities, and CHIP plays a key role in giving children the environment they need to grow. Therefore, despite my misgivings about the funding mechanism, I will cast my vote in favor of H.R. 2.

Madam Speaker, as we work together to provide health care to America's children, we should all remember the family farmers who grow tobacco. I ask that we take steps in future legislation to help all of those who are hardest hit by this bill, especially including families in the Second District of North Carolina. However, today, for our children's health, I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this bill.

Mr. Reyes. Madam Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 2, the State Children's Health Insurance Program (SCHIP) Reauthorization Act of 2009, as amended by the Senate.

At this time, the reauthorization of SCHIP is critically important for the nation and particularly for my district of El Paso, Texas, where over 20,000 children in the County are enrolled in the program. My district has one of the highest rates of uninsured children in the country, and the current economic recession is making it even harder for many more families to afford health insurance.

I am deeply troubled that Texas has the highest number of uninsured children in the United States. It is simply unacceptable to have one in five children in my State without health insurance, and this legislation will expand coverage for millions who are uninsured. This bill is especially important because it is affecting many families across our nation. Recent studies estimate that for every one percent increase in our national unemployment rate, 1.1 million Americans lose health insurance and more than a million enroll in Medicaid and SCHIP.

Having a large number of uninsured children in our communities places a tremendous financial burden on parents and local hospitals, as families are forced to send their children to the emergency room rather than afford a regular doctor's visit. For the families of the children in El Paso and throughout our country who rely on SCHIP for scheduled checkups, prescriptions, eyeglasses, this program is vitally important. The cost of health care is rising, and reauthorizing SCHIP for the next four and a half years is an important first step in stemming the rising tide of the uninsured.

Today's bill provides sufficient federal funds to help states maintain their current programs and extend coverage to four million additional uninsured low-income children. Many states may experience much higher enrollment in SCHIP than projected due to job loss and lower incomes, and many would be unable to support the higher demand without this relief. By reauthorizing this program, we help states meet increased demand for SCHIP enrollment and prevent them from cutting back on the program just when families need it the most.

The health and quality of life of our children must be a priority, and I firmly believe that this bill provides the necessary assistance to states to provide quality health care to our nation's uninsured children especially in a time of economic recession. For this reason, I am proud to support this legislation, and I applaud President Obama and my colleagues in Congress for this top priority.

Mr. Abercrombie. Madam Speaker, it is my understanding that Section 214 of the Children's Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act of 2009, H.R. 2, would apply to the citizens of the Republic of Palau, the Republic of the Marshall Islands, and the Federated States of Micronesia.

According to the Compact of Free Association negotiated and agreed to by the United States, the citizens of these countries are here legally. However, the federal government currently processes assistance to states to pay for the health care of these individuals through such programs as Medicaid or SCHIP. Since Section 214 of this bill applies to those legally residing in the United States, I believe this clearly includes the citizens of the Republic of Palau, the Republic of the Marshall Islands, and the Federated States of Micronesia.

Therefore, Madam Speaker, as this bill moves forward, it is my hope that compact migrants will be treated fairly and will be treated fairly under this new law.

The Speaker pro tempore. All time for debate has expired.

The Speaker pro tempore. Pursuant to House Resolution 107, the previous question is ordered.

The question is on the motion by the gentleman from California (Mr. Waxman) to recommit the bill.

The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. Linder. Madam Speaker, I object to the vote on the ground that a quorum is not present and make the motion in order that a quorum is not present.

The Speaker pro tempore. Evidently a quorum is not present.
Mr. HUNTER, Mrs. LUMMIS and Mr. BABCHUS changed their vote from "yea" to "nay.

So the motion was agreed to. The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

PROVIDING FOR CONSIDERATION OF S. 352, DTV DELAY ACT

Mr. CARDOZA. Madam Speaker, by direction of the Committee on Rules, I call up House Resolution 108 and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the resolution, as follows:

_H. RES. 108

Resolved, That upon the adoption of this resolution it is proposed by to consider in the House the bill (S. 352) to postpone the DTV transition date. All points of order against consideration of the bill are waived except those under clause 10 of rule XXI. The bill shall be considered as read. All points of order against the bill are waived. The previous question shall be considered as ordered on the bill to final passage without intervening motion except: (1) one hour of debate equally divided and controlled by the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on Energy and Commerce; and (2) one motion to commit.

SEC. 2. Section 2 of House Resolution 92 is amended by striking "February 4" and inserting "February 26".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from California (Mr. Cardoza) now has the floor.
my opinion. And my colleagues are going to talk, again, about why this is going in the wrong direction.

But I want to point out that in the so-called stimulus bill, the majority party has put another $650 million to deal with this issue. According to our calculation, that is less than 1 percent of the people who need this assistance, have not requested the coupons. That equates, we believe, to spending over $3,900 per household for the holdouts who have not gotten their converter box. That is a lot of money to be spending.

I, frankly, think this is an excuse to put three times the amount of money that we think needs to be spent on the remainder of this program, and it’s just another example of overreaching on the part of the majority.

Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. CARDOZA. Madam Speaker, I yield to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. HARMAN).

Ms. HARMAN. I thank the gentleman for yielding and commend him for his leadership on the Rules Committee and also on the important issue of keeping people in their homes. Home foreclosures are rising. They’re a epidemic in his district, and I want our colleagues to know that another Member from California is noticing the leadership that he provides on that issue.

Madam Speaker, I rise in support of this rule and the underlying bill to provide a one-time—let me stress—one-time delay in the DTV transition. I sympathize with Americans who are unprepared for this transition, many of whom are elderly, minorities, or residents of rural areas. Television is important to our lives and can serve as a vital resource in times of emergency. So for those reasons, I support the legislation.

At the same time, we must not forget that the DTV transition’s real purpose is to improve emergency communications capabilities for first responders. The lessons of 9/11 are sadly fading.

Hundreds of police and firefighters died at the World Trade Center in part because they could not talk to each other on their radios.

The key to preventing this kind of tragic communication failure is to build a nationwide interoperable broadband system that will allow rescue workers from different units to talk to each other even though they operate on separate radio frequencies.

The foundation for this nationwide public safety network is the spectrum that is currently used for analog television broadcasting, and only after analog operations are cleared can that spectrum be put to its best and most important use.

Madam Speaker, in a perfect world this delay would not be necessary. And I want to make clear, again, that another delay should not, must not be necessary once this period ends. But this one-time delay will help protect our most vulnerable citizens while we get on with designing the build-out of the public safety network that is our ultimate goal.

It has been almost 8 years since the 9/11 attacks. Police, firefighters, and EMTs all over the country—and the families they protect—counting on us to finally get this right.

Ms. FOXX. Madam Speaker, I now yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Texas, the ranking member of Energy and Commerce, Mr. Barton.

Mr. BARTON of Texas asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. I thank the gentlelady from North Carolina.

Madam Speaker, we are here on the same issue that we were here on last week when, under the suspension of the rules, the House tried to pass a bill to delay the digital television transition period from February 17 to June 12. Wisely, the House rejected that on a bipartisan vote.

Our friends in the other body slightly changed the bill and did a procedure called hotlining it, which brought a basically identical bill back to the House.

The new chairman of the Energy and Commerce Committee, Mr. Waxman, has gone to the Rules Committee and asked that the bill be reported to the floor under a rule, which is not a bad idea. The problem is, this is a closed rule.

Now, I want to point out to the newer Members of this body what a closed rule is. It means there can be no amendments. Now, there may be occasions when that’s in order, but this is not one of those occasions.

There’s been no legislative hearing in the committee. There’s been no markup in the committee. In fact, two markups have been scheduled and canceled in committee.

So we have a piece of legislation. There’s been no debate on it in the Senate, it’s been hotlined, we had a suspension vote on it last week—which I think we had 20 minutes on each side before we had to vote. And so now we’re under a closed rule. So no Republican amendments or Democrat amendments were made in order.

I don’t know if Democrats offered amendments, but there were six Republican amendments made in order, one of which was by myself and Mr. Stearns. When I said quite simply, “You don’t need to delay it. Just authorize an additional sum of money.”

One of the things that the proponents of the delay are saying is we need to delay this because there is not enough money. Well, actually, there is enough money. But under an accounting rule by the Office of Management and Budget, when you send a coupon, you have to assume that that coupon is going to be redeemed 100 percent of the time. So of the $1.3 billion that has been appropriated, we can’t assume that that money is still in the account, but because there are coupons that are outstanding, they can’t issue new coupons.

The amendment that was not made in order simply said authorize another $250 million of coupons to be sent out because that money is already there and only about 52 percent of the coupons are being redeemed. So at the end of the game, you’re going to have plenty of money.

Interestingly enough, this bill doesn’t approve any money. The money for this bill is in the stimulus package—which probably won’t clear the Senate for another couple of weeks, probably will be a conference committee or maybe another closed system where there is not a real conference—but in any event, I doubt that stimulus package is going to be on the President’s desk within the next month.

So we’re delaying a hard day transition today with no additional money nor any way to send out any additional coupons. How silly is that? And no amendments made in order to correct this.

We had other amendments that would have exempted broadcasters from the delay if the cost caused by the delay was more than $100,000. That one was not ruled in order. We had an amendment that said the broadcasters in rural areas would have to go ahead with the hard day if they were sitting on spectrums that were allocated to provide broadband to rural areas. That wasn’t made in order. Nor one amendment was made in order.

And to top it off, myself and Mr. Stearns sent a letter to the new or the acting chairman of the Federal Communications Commission saying, “How many TV stations do you think are going to go ahead and go forward even though it’s not mandated?” You know what the answer is? Sixty-one percent of the 1,000 television stations in America are probably going to go forward. And believe it or not, 143 already have. They’ve already gone digital.

So, Madam Speaker, with all due respect, when you have a closed rule, no amendments made in order, no legislative hearing, no mark in the other body, I think we could defeat this rule; I think we could bring an open rule to the floor, let some amendments be made in order, let the body work its will; and if that passes, send that to the other body and try to work it out.

We on the Republican side want digital television transmission to go forward. We want the spectrum to be released for the first responders. We want the television stations to see the benefit of savings, but we do not need this delay, and we do not need a closed rule. Please vote “no” on the closed rule. The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the gentleman from Colorado will manage the time of the gentleman from California.

There was no objection. Mr. POLIS of Colorado. Madam Speaker, I would like to yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. Eshoo).

Ms. ESHOO. I thank the gentleman for yielding me the time.
Madam Speaker, I served on the Energy and Commerce Committee for 14 years, and much of that time in the Telecommunications Subcommittee was spent dedicated to digital transition. So I have been around this issue for a while.

After all of the oversight, after all of the work, after all of the hearings, it’s become unfortunately clear that we’re unprepared to transition on February 17. Many consumers never received their coupons because the coupons were sent by first class mail and they were prevented from reapplying.

Other consumers’ coupons expired because they could not find converter boxes before they expired, and we know that problems in the education program for the DTV transition probably left many families uncertain about what to do with their coupons.

And coupons were mailed third class. Now, I don’t know what genius came up with that in the department, but it was really, totally mishandled and bungled.

Seven and a half million households are prepared for the transition, and there are over 2.7 million coupons representing more than 1.5 million households on a waiting list right now today.

Every Member should have received a letter detailing how many of their constituents are on the list. I have 2,346 of my constituents are on the list. I have 2,346 of my constituents are on the list. I have 2,346 of my constituents are on the list. I have 2,346 of my constituents are on the list.

An amendment has been offered to make the transition smoothly. It would provide free converter boxes to people who do not have television in their homes and who do not have computer access. It would provide free cable cards to those people who do not have cable access and who do not have computer access. It would provide free computer access to those people who do not have computer access.

We cannot continue as we are. We don’t have the money to do that. We don’t have the money to do that. We don’t have the money to do that. We don’t have the money to do that.

I urge my colleagues to support this amendment. We cannot continue as we are. We don’t have the money to do that. We don’t have the money to do that. We don’t have the money to do that. We don’t have the money to do that.

committee. There has never been an opportunity to amend this bill on this floor or in committee. I serve on the committee, I serve on the subcommittee.

Further, if there's a concern about interest and consideration, then you free up the spectrum. Delay of transition to DTV means the analog transmitters here and the digital transmitters here—and they are both going. Until the analog is gone, the spectrum is not freed up for that interoperability she pleads for. Maybe if she has a hearing, she would better understand the bill.

Ms. FOXX. Madam Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to my esteemed colleague from California (Mr. Issa).

Mr. ISSA asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. ISSA. Madam Speaker, I have been in the House for 8 years, and I have been a member of the Energy and Commerce Committee, although on leave of absence, for 6. But before I came here, for two decades I was in the electronics industry, was part of the annual consideration of over a million dollars of private funding to help move digital television. We did so not just to sell the public to improve people's pictures, but in fact because of the efficiency of spectrum and what it would do. I have been a supporter of digital transition.

Today, I am here as the ranking member of Government Reform, sounding an alarm that I hope will be heard by my colleagues. President Obama did only one thing before he became President. Only once did he violate his “one President at a time” statement, and that was in fact asking for a delay in the digital transition. I believe he did so because in fact he was misled.

It is clear that there is doubt as to whether a gentleman named Gerard Salemme, who is in fact a highly compensated $300,000-plus a year individual with a company which is behind today—behind in their technology roll-out for using this new spectrum—was on his transition team, although he is still the executive vice president of a company called Clearwire.

To me, it appears as though the process behind closed doors in the transition team that led to the decision to delay digital television was clearly tainted by someone who, as an opportunist, was trying to use those extra 4 months to make their technology competitive with those that are already rolled out. That, to me, is the first of many tragedies. You have heard many others.

Additionally, having been in the consumer electronics industry for over 20 years, I'm well aware that the cost of these digital boxes are about $40. So even if you claim that you have 6 million people who haven't received them, you do $40 times 6 million and pretty soon you're $240 million—some that we would have to authorize with this delay in order to fully fund getting people their boxes.

No money is attached to this bill. As a result, this will simply cause a delay, giving certain companies an opportunity perhaps to catch up in technology, advancing one company over another, something we said we wouldn't do and what it would set us back a hard deadline. More importantly, we are not solving the basic problem here. It only takes $240 million or less dollars to fix this problem where $18 billion worth of spectrum is being held ransom.

This is bad business. It's bad for America's emerging wireless communications industry, it's bad for all the services that will be granted. I came from high tech. I know what we are doing is forcing us to stay in horse and buggy for months longer.

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT—STRATEGY, POLICY AND EXTERNAL AFFAIRS

As executive vice president—strategy, policy and external affairs, Gerard Salemme oversees Clearwire’s spectrum strategy, acquisition and development, public policy agenda and local, state, federal, and international regulatory and legislative affairs. Prior to assuming his current role at Clearwire, Salemme served as vice president of corporate affairs at Clearwire in November 2003 to April 2004. As the company’s senior policy executive, Salemme brings more than 30 years of telecommunications, government affairs, federal regulatory and public policy experience to Clearwire. Salemme has held key executive positions at XO Communications, AT&T Corp., McCaw Cellular, and GTE Corporation/Sprint Corporation. At AT&T, Salemme directed the company’s federal regulatory public policy organization, including participation in the FCC’s narrowband and broadband PCS auctions. In addition, Salemme has served as the senior telecommunications policy analyst for the U.S. House of Representatives Subcommittee on Telecommunications and Finance, as chief of staff to Congressman Ed Markey of Massachusetts, and as a lecturer of economics at the University of Massachusetts at Salem. He is currently a principal of ERI, a vice president of ERI, and a director of and consultant to ICO and ICO North America.

Mr. POLIS of Colorado. Madam Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from New York (Mr. Engel).

Mr. ENGEL. I thank the gentleman for yielding to me. I rise in support of this bill. I am just amazed at what I am hearing from my friends on the other side of the aisle. I have been on the Energy and Commerce Committee for the past 13 years, and I have been on the Telecommunications Subcommittee for most of that time. We have had hearing after hearing after hearing involving the DTV transition. It may be technically true that we haven't had a hearing on this bill, but we have had hearings ad nauseam on the whole issue.

And what are we talking about? We are talking about a 115-day delay. We are not talking about a 10-year delay. We are not talking about 115 days, 4 months—let's give us time to put our house in order so that people's televisions don't go blank. I don't think that is so unreasonable. I am amazed at the opposition to 115 days.

Now, I support this bill. I do it reluctantly because the transition to DTV will offer great benefits to our Nation. In recent weeks, it has become crystal clear that what I have been saying for years on the Energy and Commerce Committee is true—the spectrum is not provided nearly enough resources or education for this transition to be successful. So, if we wait 115 days so it will be more successful, what is the problem?

In the past two Congresses I have introduced the Digital Television Consumer Education Act. The legislation would have avoided the problems we are seeing right now. It would have educated the public about the transition, and it would provide additional funding for the converter box coupon program which, as we all know, is out of money.

Currently, there are almost 2 million people on a waiting list for converter box coupons. This means 4,000 people in my district are waiting for coupons. It would be unacceptable for us to force the transition upon so many of our constituents and your constituents and those of everybody else in this Chamber. It's clear we are not ready.

If we continue with the transition, millions upon millions of television screens in this country will simply go dark.

Again, I don't support an indefinite delay. This is a finite delay. This is a one-time delay. I won't support a further delay. But 115 days is not so terrible. When the transition occurs, which we know it needs to occur, TV pictures nationwide will become crystal clear; technology companies will be able to roll out new-generation wireless services that far outpace what we have today and, most importantly, as was mentioned, first responders will be able to carry interoperable communication devices that they badly need right now.

So, the benefits to the transition to digital are clear. The harm, however, that we would cause by forcing the transition on an unprepared Nation is equally clear. So let's wait the 115 days, let's do it right, and let's support S. 352.

Ms. FOXX. I yield 3 minutes to my colleague from Florida (Mr. Stearns).
Mr. STEARNS. I thank the gentlelady for yielding.

First, I rise in opposition to this rule and in strong opposition to the underlying bill. Let me say to my colleague from New York, we have spent over 2 years planning for this date of February 17, 2009. All the broadcasters, all the emergency workers, all the people that put up the towers, they are all ready to go. In fact, PBS pointed out that if they delay, it’s going to cost them $22 million. That’s just the tip of the iceberg.

The hearings we’ve had were to determine how to run the program and give the Department of Commerce the money they need to implement the coupon program. But we never had a hearing on this bill. That’s why I submitted six amendments to the Rules Committee yesterday. It would vastly improve the final product. In fact, as Mr. Issa pointed out, with the people that supposedly need the coupons, the $250 million allotment back in January, back in December, would have taken care of this problem. But, for some reason, it was not taken care of.

But we have never had a hearing, not one, on delaying the digital TV transition. We have had hearings, I agree, on how to implement the program, but not delaying and what the implications are. And, incredibly enough, this bill has not been any part of those hearings.

Markups are about the contentious issues: What is it going to cost the broadcasters, the people implementing the towers, and so forth?

Now, a Member on that side talked about national security and about delays in reference to 9/11. Madam Speaker, I submit for the RECORD a letter from the National Fraternal Order of Police. The National Fraternal Order of Police has come out strongly against this delay. And why would they come out against this delay? That is because this delay could mean that national security, the first responders, would be affected, would not have the information they need, and could not notify citizens in the case of an emergency.

But none of the six amendments I offered on behalf of my colleagues, Mr. BLUNT, Mr. WALDEN, and Mr. BARTON, were accepted. And so, really, we had no opportunity to make this bill better.

So when we transitioned on February 17, June 12, or whatever it is going to be, and you have no guarantee that this delay is going to be, and you have no guarantee that this delay will ever be a one-time delay, it is going to cost money, it is going to increase our risk for first responders. And, when you think about it, no matter what date you establish, there is always going to be somebody who doesn’t get his signal. In fact, the construction project in Wilmington, North Carolina in September to see if it would work was 99 percent effective.

So the question I would have for you: If the demonstration project was so effective in September, 5 months later surely it is going to be effective on February 17, 2009. Tens of thousands of people will not lose their television because the coupons would be available. I urge defeat of this rule.

Mr. TERRY. Madam Speaker, I rise in opposition to this rule. This delay is not a one-time delay only. And given that national security issues and increasing number of natural disasters we face, I can think of no time in our history when having access to television is more critical than it is now. Absent this extension, millions of television sets will go dark in 13 days.

This legislation contains specific language recommended by public safety organizations. It explicitly preserves the ability of public safety entities to use the DTV spectrum even voluntarily until the new transition date subject to existing FCC rules, and under no circumstances will there be any disruption of spectrum currently used for public safety communications.

As I said before, this bill has the support of leading public safety organizations, including the Association of Public Safety Communications Officials International, the International Associations of Chiefs of Police, the National Association of Fire Chiefs, and the National Emergency Number Association.

I would add that allowing the 6.5 million households estimated by Nielsen that are completely unprepared for the DTV transition to go dark is in and of itself a legitimate public safety issue. Those homes will not be able to continue to rely on local broadcast stations for news about natural disasters, evacuations, terrorist attacks, or other public safety announcements. One time delay of 115 days is a reasonable response to a very difficult problem that millions of Americans would face in 2 weeks absent this legislation.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. POLIS of Colorado. Madam Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to my colleague from Nebraska (Mr. TERRY).

Mr. TERRY. Madam Speaker, I rise today in opposition of this rule for a variety of different reasons. Let me engage in one of the first reasons, is I am not sure that a delay is necessary. Are there some hiccups or concerns? I am not going to agree with a couple of my colleagues and friends from the other side that talked about catastrophe. September 11th is a catastrophe. Delaying this is not, or February 17th is not. But let me run through what some of the concerns are.

Some of the concerns is that we are not 100 percent ready. Some of the concerns is there is a waiting list; although, there are 10 million coupons issued today that are valid, representing 5 million homes, so those are... people that were going to probably go in the next 13 days and buy one of the set-top boxes. I have gone into my electronics stores over the last week, and there are mountains. And I am not exaggerating, there were piles almost up to my neck in every one of the electronics stores that I went into.

So what are the appropriate responses here? Is a delay necessary? We have had hearings, granted, on the merits of DTV hard date. We have not been able to have a discussion in this Congress. It is necessary to delay this for 4 months; or, whether there are appropriate responses that don’t require a delay, like, for example, if we would have put up a suspension last week that said that the expiration dates aren’t in existence anymore. So if you had one that expired, you could go out and use it. We could have changed an accounting rule that would have fixed the so-called money problem, although as the past chairman of this oversight committee pointed out there really isn’t a money problem.

The amazing part about this to me is that with these simple solutions that both sides could have agreed upon, we could have had this done a couple weeks ago. But for some reason, 3 weeks ago just completely out of the blue our new President said we need to delay this. No discussion. When President Obama came to our conference a week or so ago, he was asked about why. And the response was, simply, because administration messed up. And he said, quote, “Our people are telling me that we need 4 months.” Then we find out that one of the people supposedly maybe that the President was referring to, a member of the transition team that was discussing with the transition team technology issues that owns a company called Clear Channel.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. TERRY. Mr. Salemme owns a business called Clearwire that actually will benefit from a delay because it puts his company into an advantageous position. Maybe that is why we are now talking about a delay of 4 months without any hearing. I would respectfully request that our committee oversight look into it. The ranking member of the oversight committee of Congress has co-sponsored, and I think it is a good idea to do.

Mr. POLIS of Colorado. Madam Speaker, there are many Americans that don’t realize that they have not made the transition to digital TV, absent this bill, in 13 days; with this bill, of a 115-day extension.

Mr. TERRY. Would the gentleman yield for one question?

Mr. POLIS of Colorado. I yield to the gentleman from Nebraska.

Mr. TERRY. There was a poll that was brought out last week that said that 95 percent of the homes are ready. So if 95 percent are ready today, what is the number then that we have to be at to implement the hard date? Would it be 100 percent, 99.5 percent?

Mr. POLIS of Colorado. Reclaiming my time, the gentleman from Nebraska has in his very own district 3,401 people who have not made the transition; I have in my district 3,671. There are a number of people across the country, particularly elderly people and people who aren’t as aware of the technology. Now, Nielsen has estimated that 6.5 million remain. And it is critical that, for many of these people, there are a lot of people don’t realize as they go about their everyday lives. We realize this in this body. We talk about, those involved with technology do.

Another issue is, for instance, many of the coupons were sent out via third-class mail, taking 4 to 8 weeks to deliver. Some of those, as is inevitable when things get mailed, actually get lost in the mail; when they arrive, some of them arrived after their expiration date. One of the provisions in the bill would actually allow consumers to reapply for coupons when their coupons expired.

So, again, for these reasons there would be a delay difficulty in explaining to any of our constituents whose televisions will go off in 13 days why we didn’t act to be able to allow them to continue to watch their television and give them time to see this transition through with this one-time delay. I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. FOXX. Madam Speaker, I now yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. PAULSEN).

Mr. PAULSEN. Madam Speaker, I am trying to figure out, why are we spending another $650 million on television coupons when Americans need jobs? Why is Congress continuing on this path of wasteful Washington spending when we can do much, much better?

The currency is that we are in right now was created by spending and borrowing money that doesn’t exist. So why are we doing more of the same? People are hurting. Many people have lost their jobs, and Americans are genuinely worried about the future. Last week, we considered a stimulus bill of $819 billion in a so-called stimulus; actually, it is over $1 trillion when you think of the debt payments that are included. This is enough to give every family in this country close to $11,000. And what is this money for? $600 million to buy new cars for government workers; $150 million for honey bee insurance. And, of course, $650 million for television coupons. And the list goes on and on.

I am asking my constituents, is this how you would spend your hard-earned taxpayer money? I don’t think so. It is no wonder that the American public is growing weary of this economic plan, and polls show a declining support. And do you know why? Because the American public is smart.

But why does a broken Congress continue to move on the same path, to spend hard-earned taxpayer money on the same old deficit plans that do little to create jobs and get our economy going?

Madam Speaker, I think we can do better. I think we must do better. Let’s heed the President’s call to smart bi- partisan action that would provide immediate real stimulus to create jobs in this economy, not one that explodes the budget deficit on wasteful programs. Let’s help families and small businesses with tax relief. Congress is from February 4, 2009, the Gentleman from North Carolina has 9 minutes remaining.

Mr. POLIS of Colorado. As testimony to the demand for the need to change, there are currently pending about 2 million requests for this bill, as passed, would finally allow for some those of those common by reissuing by allowing consumers to reapply for those coupons and help ensure that those who need coupons can still get them and their televisions do not go dark.

Madam Speaker, I would like to reserve the remainder of my time.

Ms. FOXX. Madam Speaker, I now yield 3 minutes to our distinguished colleague from Missouri (Mr. BLUNT).

Mr. BLUNT. Madam Speaker, I thank the gentlelady for yielding.

On the debate before us today, this has been a discussion that has been going on in the country for 3 years now. It was mentioned earlier that there were people who didn’t know that this date was pending. I don’t know how you could possibly be watching television and not know that this date was coming up. This has been the most broadcast, the most communicated date in the history of broadcasting. And if you don’t know that this date is coming up, you’re probably not watching television. And if you’re not watching television, you probably won’t know on February 18 whether it occurred or not.

There are really three important reasons not to pass this rule and not to pass this bill. One is first responders. The 9/11 Commission, in discussion after discussion since then and before then, has talked about getting all of our first responders on one level where they could communicate. All you have to do is have a flood, a tornado or an ice storm in your area to know that when the first responders come in to help, no matter how well your own first responders are communicating, if they don’t have this tool in their kit, they could be much more helpful if they could all communicate together immediately. And they cannot do that... until the last person gets off the spectrum that is allocated to them. Many of them are ready to do it on February 18. Others might be on March 1. But it doesn’t matter. We’re saying they can’t communicate because we’re not going to take people off the spectrum. Also, the 3-year plan better than a 115-day plan? The truth is, my friends, the people who win today, and I assume the majority will win since they had a majority of votes on suspension, the people who win will lose this argument in mid-June. In mid-June, there will be problems, just like there will be a few problems on February 18. In my district, the speculation is 99 percent of the people are ready for this transition. The original bill said that we would automatically make the transition when 85 percent were ready. The number was used a minute ago that we would automatically make the transition if 95 percent are ready in the whole country now. There are going to be problems in mid-June. And some of these problems are going to be those of what we do here today. There have been people contracted for 2 years, in some cases almost 3 years, to come in on February 17, to be there until a time certain on February 18, to make this transition happen. Those same people aren’t going to be able to be there because the outreach that was necessary, what we’re going to be spending the next year or so doing is digging out of the mess created by our Republican friends. We’re trying to deal with the outreach, and we’re trying to deal with digital TV. The fact remains, and it’s obvious based on any matrix you can imagine, that this program is horribly administered and poorly thought through. Don’t ask me that. Ask the 2 million people that are on a waiting list. Waiting for a coupon. Ask the 7 million people that Nielsen estimates are still unwired for digital TV.

The fact remains that we on this side didn’t write this bill. In fact, if you look at people like Congressman Mann, and if you’re saying for months that the way this program is being administered was poorly conceived. Let me give you an example. Right now, you sign up for a coupon and they send it to you third-class mail. And then if you don’t redeem it within a certain amount of time, then they have to wait for several months before they can reissue it. This program was destined to be a failure because that’s the way you want it.

Now you may think, what difference does it make that there are 2 million people waiting or 7 million people waiting? Let me ask you something. To the hundreds of thousands of people that are in your State that are not wired, what if there was an emergency tomorrow? What if there was a tornado? What if there was, God forbid, some kind of a fire and they needed to notify people quickly? People rely upon their television sets. Whom do you think you’re punishing by standing in the way of this extension? You’re punishing—let me just pose a couple more, and then you can answer them all at once. You’re punishing poor people who are punishing senior citizens who, by and large, have those rabbit ears, who de- spite the previous speakers, might not be reading about digital TV or reading “Digital TV Today” or reading the other papers. They think their television is fine because the outreach that was not necessary for this program was never done.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. JACKSON of Illinois). The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. POLIS of Colorado. I yield the gentleman 1 additional minute.

Mr. WEINER. What difference does it make if I were more now on a waiting list to get the voucher? What difference does it make to those citi- zens? What difference does it make when you hear the Nielsen Survey, not Democrat, not Republican, say that there are 7 million Americans not hooked up. You are going to say, “oh, it serves them right. We’re going to stick to the guidelines. It serves them right.” Well, the fact of the matter is we’re trying to do good policy. Let me make one final point because the distinguished gentleman from Missourialleged to this. It is interesting that nobody except people speaking on your side today seem to be opposed to this. The people that bought the spectrum say that they’re fine and that they’re in urgent hurry to get it. The people that are in the business of emergency response say, “we need people wired for television. That is even more important than getting access to the spectrum.” So all you’re doing is what you did last week, saying, “no, no, no,” as we try to fix your mess.

Ms. FOXX. Mr. Speaker, I yield now 2 minutes to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. SHIMKUS).

(Mr. SHIMKUS asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. SHIMKUS. Mr. Speaker, it’s always fun to hear my friend from New York come down on the floor. And I enjoy his passion.

A couple of points. This movement of the spectrum was directed and suggested by the 9/11 Commission years ago. Those of us on the subcommittee worked diligently to comply with the movement of the spectrum because we had 9/11, which was very serious. We had—and ANTHONY, you know this, we had firefighters that didn’t know that there was smoke. We didn’t talk to them. Well then came along Katrina. And Katrina rolls in. And we’ve got National Guardsmen on one side of the flood who can’t talk to the police officer or the disaster team going into New Orleans. That is where a lot of us come from on this.

Now we know the Fraternal Order of Police are not supportive of this move- ment. We know that the Sheriffs’ Associa- tion is not. We do know that other public safety agencies have, at the ca- joling and the encouragement of the majority, said, “we don’t need this.” But I will tell you one thing for sure is that I do not want to be the Member of Congress who delays the ability of the spectrum for first-line responders to get to them to communicate, but it’s also as important to make sure that we move to this new era.

How many of my colleagues have done what I have done. I spent 8 months in my district going to senior centers promoting this movement on February 17. I pray that we don’t move it past June 12.

Mr. POLIS of Colorado. Mr. Speaker, I would like to yield 1 minute to the gentleman from New York (Mr. WEINER).

Mr. WEINER. I thank the gentleman. I think that, in fact, it is very impor- tant that we do this motion. But do have two competing safety imperatives. One is the imperative of when this bandwidth is then used for emergency responders, which is not going to happen immediately. It’s going to take a little time. The other is our obligation to the citizens of Illinois and New York immediately. They are going to lose the most important con- nection to the outside world and to emergency response, the television. And unlike when your channel, your knobby little cord, you go to digital television, it’s going to go com- pletely black. And a lot of people rely on the television to get that kind of in- formation.

Mr. SHIMKUS. Will the gentleman yield briefly?

Mr. WEINER. Certainly.

Mr. SHIMKUS. The other caveat I have is that we are already sending money to first-line responders based upon the promise of selling the spec- trum. So we are already trying to move to help the first-line responders. But if we delay, the cost-benefit analysis of the spectrum is in question.
Mr. WEINER. There is no doubt that the premise of your remarks and mine is the same. The past administration screwed up the administration of this program. There is no doubt about it. We should not be where we are today. That is why I want to talk about this bill.

Ms. FOXX. Mr. Speaker, I now yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Tennessee (Mrs. BLACKBURN).

Mrs. BLACKBURN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlelady from North Carolina. And indeed we have been having a robust debate on this issue today. And I rise in opposition to the bill that is before us. I support moving forward for this transition. Just to correct the record a little bit, Mr. Speaker, on some of the things that have been said. We hear all of this, well, 95 percent of America is ready for this transition to take place. On January 22, 95 percent of this country was ready. That is the day that that number was released, January 22. Now we are coming up on the February 17 date. We know that over 300,000 people per week are coming off the list waiting for that coupon. And they are moving forward with readiness. Their expectation is that the Federal Government will make good on their promise. And they are going to move forward with this on February 17. Now it is important to our broadcasters. Talk to any of our broadcasters out there. They will tell you that they are running their stations at literally billions of dollars. They are running their digital, and they are running their analog. And they are ready to move that spectrum out. My goodness, you all are so concerned about climate change, they are using all this electricity to run these two systems paying extra bills. They are telling us, “We need this to take place.” We are hearing from first responders. And the gentleman from New York said that those that have acquired the spectrum at auction are not going to move forward. They are running their digital, and they are running their analog. And they are ready to move that spectrum out. My goodness, you all are so concerned about climate change, they are using all this electricity to run these two systems paying extra bills. They are telling us, “We need this to take place.”

Mr. WEINER. I just think this debate has been instructive. I would say that on one side you have people who are advocating for the 7 million or so people who are waiting without coupons and for the 7 million or so people that Nielsen says is in this universe of people who don’t have coverage. On the other side it is people that are advocating for who bought the spectrum at literally billions of dollars and for the TV broadcasters because they have to run to their transponders. No doubt about it. There are equalities on both sides. But I think someone should stand for the 2 million people who are waiting for coupons. That is us. Someone should stand for the 7 million Americans who don’t have the service. That is us. Who are you standing for?

Ms. FOXX. Mr. Speaker, I now yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. BROUN).

Mr. BROUN. Georgia. I thank the gentlelady.

If I may inquire of the majority manager, I have a question regarding section 2 of the rule. This provision changes the date by which the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations must file explanatory materials related to the omnibus appropriations bill. It is my understanding that the date change in section 2 of the rule is not necessary because the text of the omnibus is not available at this time. I may confirm for the record that it is still the majority’s intent to make this material available at the same time the omnibus bill is introduced? I will yield to the gentleman for an answer.

Mr. POLIS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to thank the gentleman from Georgia. We originally thought that the omnibus would be ready when we required a previous rule that Chairman OBERRY file a statement by today explaining the bill. The bill is delayed potentially until after the recess so the rule changes the statement deadline to February 26. It is our intention to file the statement when the bill is introduced.

Mr. BROUN of Georgia. So I want to confirm this. You will file it today.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Ms. FOXX. I give the gentleman 10 seconds.

Mr. BROUN of Georgia. I think it’s a crying shame that the majority’s not using regular order. We wouldn’t have this if we were using regular order on this bill and many others. And I suggest that the majority start using regular order for all these bills.

Mr. POLIS of Colorado. I don’t have any further speakers at this point, Mr. Speaker, and I would like to reserve the right to close until the gentlewoman has closed for her side and has yielded back her time.

Ms. FOXX. May I inquire exactly how much time we have left, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentlewoman has 50 seconds remaining on her side. The gentleman from Colorado has 7 minutes remaining on his side.

Ms. FOXX. Mr. Speaker, there has been a lot of talk about the need for debate on this bill, and I want to say that Mr. HOYER has said himself, our committees and Members are served on both sides of the aisle by pursuing regular order. Regular order gives to everybody the opportunity to participate in the process in a fashion which will affect, in my opinion, the most consensus and best product.

I agree with my colleagues that this has been a terrible process. We have not debated the extension of this deadline.

I also want to say that June 17 is a Friday. We’re going into tornado season March 1st, hurricane season June 1st. We have the potential for harming the very people the majority says that it wants to help because they will not be able to get the help they need.

The numbers they have been throwing around are exaggerated and, in some cases, absolutely wrong. There are 10 million coupons out there, and the numbers were January 22 numbers. I want to urge defeat of the rule and say, again, we should be doing this under regular order.

I yield back.

Mr. POLIS of Colorado. Mr. Speaker, on September 7, 1927, Philo Farnsworth flipped a switch and brought television into the world. Nothing has been the same since.

Can all remember our childhood, our growing up experiences with television, those of the next generation. It’s had an impact culturally, both positive and negative. It’s brought us closer together and yet further apart. And yet we have grown to rely on television for our news, and so much of our communication as well.

Mr. Speaker, without this bill, in just 13 days, television will no longer work... for millions of Americans. This will not only come as quite a surprise to them, but will also create even further gaps within our society.

This is a one-time delay only. I can think of no time in our history when having access to television is more critical than now, with the global emergency and the threat of terrorism. We can’t stand by and allow millions of television sets across America to go dark.

Yes, this delay was necessary because of the bungled implementation of this project and, no, it is not expected that there will need to be additional delays, and many people have spoken to the fact that they will not support additional delays in the conversion.

I encourage all Members of this body to following the Senate’s lead and support this bill on the floor today. I urge a “yes” vote on the rule and the previous question.

I yield back the balance of my time, and I move the previous question on the resolution.

The previous question was ordered.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY
Mr. TERRY. Mr. Speaker, I have a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman may state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. TERRY. Are non-Members of Congress allowed to vocalize a vote?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Only Members of the House are allowed to vote in the House.

Mr. TERRY. There were more than two “ayes” and there are only two Members on the House floor.

DTV DELAY ACT
Mr. BOUCHER. Mr. Speaker, pursuant to House Resolution 108, I call up the Senate bill (S. 332) to postpone the DTV transition date, and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the Senate bill.

The text of the Senate bill is as follows:

S. 332

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.
This Act may be cited as the “DTV Delay Act”.

SEC. 2. POSTPONEMENT OF DTV TRANSITION DATE.
(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 302(b) of the Digital Television Transition and Public Safety Act of 2005 (47 U.S.C. 309 note) is amended—
(1) by striking “February 17, 2009,” and inserting “February 17, 2009,” and inserting “June 12, 2009,”;
(2) by striking “Section 303(e)(1) of the Communications Act of 1934 (47 U.S.C. 303(e)(1)) is amended by striking “February 17, 2009,” and inserting “June 12, 2009,”; and
(3) by striking “June 12, 2009.”;
(b) LICENSE TERMS.—
(1) EXTENSION.—The Federal Communications Commission shall, at the time it approves the applications for the licenses for the recovered spectrum, including the license period and construction requirements associated with those licenses, for a 144-day period.
(2) DEFINITION.—In this subsection, the term “recovered spectrum” means—
(A) the recovered analog spectrum, as such term is defined in section 156(c)(vi) of the Communications Act of 1934; and
(B) the spectrum excluded from the definition of recovered analog spectrum by subsections (1) and (2) of such section.

SEC. 3. MODIFICATION OF DIGITAL-TO-ANALOG CONVERTER BOX PROGRAM.
(b) TREATMENT OF EXPIRED COUPONS.—Section 3005(c)(1) of the Digital Television Transition and Public Safety Act of 2005 (47 U.S.C. 309 note) is amended by adding at the end the following:
“(d) EXPIRED COUPONS.—The Assistant Secretary may issue to a household, upon request by the household, one replacement coupon for each coupon that was issued to such household and that expired without being redeemed.”;
(c) CONDITION OF MODIFICATIONS.—Section 3005(c)(1)(A) of the Digital Television Transition and Public Safety Act of 2005 (47 U.S.C. 309 note) is amended by striking “receives, via the United States Postal Service,” and inserting “redeems.”;
(d) CONDITION OF MODIFICATIONS.—The amendments made by this section shall not take effect until the enactment of additional budget authority after the date of enactment of such Act.

SEC. 4. IMPLEMENTATION.
(a) PERMISSIVE EARLY TERMINATION UNDER EXISTING REQUIREMENTS.—Nothing in this Act is intended to prevent a licensee of a television broadcast station from terminating the broadcasting of such station’s analog television signal (as defined in the Federal Communications Commission rules (47 C.F.R. § 90.545)) prior to the date established by law under section 302(b) of the Digital Television Transition and Public Safety Act of 2005 for termination of all licenses for full-power television stations in the analog television service (as amended by section 2 of this Act) so long as such prior termination is consistent with the terms of its license on the analog television service and that such licensee from commencing operations consistent with the terms of its license on the analog television service.

SEC. 5. EXTENSION OF COMMISSION AUCTIO AUTHORITY.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to House Resolution 108, the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. BOUCHER) and the gentleman from Texas (Mr. BARTON) each will control 30 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Virginia.

Mr. BOUCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield to myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. BOUCHER asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.

Mr. BOUCHER. Mr. Speaker, we are now less than 2 weeks from the February 17 digital television transition date, and millions of American households remain totally unprepared. On January 22, the Nielsen Company, which is a widely respected service that reports on television viewing in the United States, reported that fully 6.5 million households are totally unprepared for the transition. These are homes that rely upon antennas or rabbit ears to receive their television service. They do not have cable or satellite subscriptions. And given the fact that they are totally unprepared today, if the transition goes forward as scheduled, over 2 million households will lose all of their television service, and that number represents about 5.7 percent of the total American television viewing public. If almost 6 percent of the nation’s households lose all of their television service, I think that most people would declare that the digital television transition has been a failure.

At the present time, there are 3.7 million requests for converter box coupons pending at the U.S. Department of Commerce, and since early January, the program that funds those coupons has been out of money. Those requests therefore, cannot be honored.

And the waiting line for coupons is growing rapidly. On Friday of last week, the number of requests was 3.3 million, and over the weekend, during the day on Monday, that number climbed to 3.7 million. And I think we can expect a much larger increase in the number of requests that are filed with the Department of Commerce over the coming weeks.

percent of the entire viewing public is to delay the transition and provide the funding in the meantime to assure that when the transition does occur, it occurs smoothly. In recognition of that reality, the Senate has now, on two occasions, unanimously passed legislation to delay the transition until June 12. The most recent unanimously passed Senate bill moving the date to June the 12th is now the measure that is before the House.

My friends on the other side of the aisle will argue and have argued that if more money were provided for this program for converter boxes during the coming week, that the problems could be solved, and they have, in fact, put forward a proposal to do so. But I want to make a very clear point. The provision of more money for this program now, without moving the transition date, could not avoid the disruption. Waiting until June 12 to have a 1.6 million coupon requests at the Department of Commerce. That’s what the independent contractor working for the Department of Commerce estimates its approval numbers to be. That company is IBM, and they’ve been handling this program since its inception. They can process 1.6 million coupon requests every week. And so in the 13 days remaining between now and February 17, that backlog presently pending of 3.7 million requests could not be processed even if more money were provided for that program today. And then, beyond processing the requests, more time is required for mailing the coupons to those who have requested them, and then more time still required for the television viewer to get the coupon out of the mail and take that coupon to a store and redeem it for a converter box. So even if more money were provided for the program today, the program would still be a failure, and we would still have millions of homes dislocated in their television viewing.

Beyond the converter box program, which is at a standstill, more resources are also needed for the Federal Communication Commission’s call center program where waiting times are long. Where calls are frequently disconnected, and it’s very difficult to ever speak to a live technical assistance representative. In fact, Commissioner McDowell of the Federal Communications Commission reported on these facts. He had tried himself to contact the FCC’s call centers, and just as a test, determine what the real condition of those call centers happens to be. And he found that calls were disconnected, waiting times were unacceptably long, and it was virtually impossible to get a live technical assistant representative on the line.

Now, as that report reveals, the FCC’s call center program is in complete disarray, and that program is vitally important. There is a virtual absence of technical assistance available for people to connect their converter boxes; once they’ve connected them, if they still can’t get a viewable picture, get some expert advice on what further steps they might take, testing their antenna, for example, to determine whether or not the antenna would have to be replaced, adjusting that antenna to determine whether or not the digital signal can, in fact, be received. And the FCC’s call centers are the only vital point of contact and point of information that millions of people, primarily in rural stretches of our Nation, are going to receive. And that program today is in disarray.

More resources are going to be necessary in order to make that call center program effective. Only by delaying the transition and utilizing the $650 million that the stimulus measure provides for the DTV transition program, can these problems be addressed and can massive viewer disruption be avoided.

The 4-month delay that the bill before the House would accomplish has been endorsed by a broad range of organizations representing the very parties who could potentially be disaffected by the delay. And I’m going to take just a moment to go through an identification of some of these endorsing organizations.

Much has been said during the debate on the rule about public safety, and all of us share a concern about public safety. We want to make sure that spectrum is made available to first responders at the earliest possible time in order to deploy advanced communications equipment so that there will be full interoperability among first responders, police being able to talk to fire agencies, being able to talk to rescue agencies and to do so all across the country. That’s the goal. We hope that goal will soon be achieved.

But the organizations that represent these public safety agencies nationwide, the great weight of them, have gone on record as supporting this delay. These are the International Association of Fire Chiefs, the International Association of Police Chiefs, the National Emergency Number Association, that’s the voice of 911 across the country, and also the organization that represents the information technology professionals who work in first responder agencies, they have all endorsed this delay.

I would suggest that they recognize that the greater threat to public safety would come in something like 6.5 million households losing all television coverage, or having the potential for having that the true reason. If any party is going to happen unless the delay and the transition are adopted. Speaking on behalf of local broadcasters, the National Association of Broadcasters and the major networks have all endorsed this delay and have sent letters or have made public statements to that effect.

Speaking for the purchasers of the commercial wireless spectrum, the two major winners in the government-sponsored auction for that spectrum—AT&T and Verizon—have both endorsed this delay.

I would say during the debate on the rule about possible motivations for various parties having recommended the delay, including some comments, perhaps, about the motivation of the President in asking for this delay. It is very clear that the reason that this delay was asked was due to the loss of television viewing that would occur across this Nation if the delay were not accomplished. That is the real reason. If any party is going to have a stake in dislocating tax dollars that are already having to be spent to make the system work, it is very clear that whatever party asked for this delay because of the loss to them of television viewing.

I would simply not entertain requests for any delay beyond the 12th of June. Our chairman of the full committee, the draft legislation from California (Mr. Waxman), has been very clear about that. No requests beyond the 12th of June for a delay will be considered.

Speaking on behalf of the subcommittee, I can say precisely what that means. We will have the resources necessary to make sure that the program can be smooth and effective when the transition occurs in June. Under no circumstances will we allow the delay to delay this program again. The delay that this bill will accomplish, teamed with the stimulus appropriation will be sufficient to ensure a smooth digital television transition.

So, Mr. Speaker, I urge approval of the measure pending before the House, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, before I speak, I want to ask a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Such a inquiry is in order. A timely request for a division could have been entered.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. In the previous vote, the Speaker said the “ayes” have it. From visual inspection, it appeared that there were more “noo” Congressmen on the floor than “ayes” Congressmen. My parliamentary inquiry is: With the rules of the House, is it possible to ask for a show of hands without violating House rules or without asking for unanimous consent? The SPEAKER pro tempore. Such a vote is not in order. A timely request for a division could have been entered.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. Further parliamentary inquiry.
The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state his inquiry.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. If a Member on the floor at the time the Chair calls the question feels the Chair called the question erroneously, then that Member would be allowed to ask for a roll-call vote. Is that your remedy?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair’s call of a voice vote is not subject to challenge. Following the Chair’s call a Member could request a record vote or take the question by division.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 5 minutes.

Let me start out by stating that the majority is trying to fix a problem that I do not think really exists. We have sent out 33 million coupons; 22 million of those coupons have been redeemed, and 11 million coupons are outstanding. The outstanding coupons are being redeemed, I think, by about 500,000 a week, something like that. In my district, we could keep up the hard date and not have a problem, but if you think there is a problem, it is not from lack of money.

We have appropriated $1.3 billion. About half of that is still in the Treasury, but as I pointed out before, it cannot be used for any additional costs because they assume that 100 percent of the coupons are going to be redeemed. So what this means is the redemption rate is only about 52 percent. Once you send out a coupon, you have to wait 90 days until it is redeemed or until it expires before you can release an additional coupon.

If we really, really think that we need to do something, the simple thing to do is not appropriate but to authorize $250 million at $40 a coupon box. That is $240 million. You have authorized enough money to send out coupons, however many you can send, to these 6.5 million Nielsen household families that my good friend from Virginia talks about. Yet the majority has chosen not to do that. They have insisted that we have to delay the program.

So point one is: We have 33 million coupons that have been sent out. Twenty-two million have been redeemed. Eleven million are outstanding. If you want to eliminate the line, you authorize another $250 million so you can send out the other coupons. You could also just say you do not need a coupon. As my good friend from Nebraska has pointed out, it is not the lack of converter boxes. You can go to any electronic store in America and find the converter box. We could just say, “If you have not gotten a converter box, go get one.” There is no means test. Under the law, every household in America is entitled to two converter boxes. Go get them. Pay for them. Send the receipt. The Treasury will pay you your money. You could do that.

My good friend talks about the technical problems. Well, I am going to educate the country right now on the technical problems. Here is how to do it: First, get the converter box. Second, take it out of the box. Third, plug it in. Fourth, hook it up by cable to your TV set or to your antenna. Fifth, turn it on. Sixth, if you have a remote control, hit the scan button. Seventh, make sure that you tune your TV to channel 3. What is technical about that? It works.

Eighth, if you do all of that and it does not work, call whomever you bought the converter from. They will tell you, and they will walk you through it. If you are a senior citizen, in most States, you can dial 211, and they will even send somebody out to your house to make sure that it is plugged in, that it is hooked up, that it is turned on, that it is on channel 3, and that you hit the scan button. Now, that is not all that high-tech. If a Texas Aggie like me can understand it, I think the country can understand it. Next, every evening if we are delaying this until June 12 if this bill becomes law, according to the acting chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, 61 percent of the television stations in America are going to convert to digital. One hundred forty-three television stations already have converted, and in those areas where they have converted, I am not aware that there has been a huge problem.

As Clifft Stearns pointed out earlier in the rules debate, they did a pilot program down in North Carolina, and it was 99 percent effective. Regarding the time that they converted over, they had a 1-month window, but I am concerned down there to see if it would work.

So we have a situation here where we have had a hard date on the books since September of 2005. That hard date is February 17. Every broadcaster in America is ready to go; 143 three stations have already converted. Up to 61 percent of the remaining 1,000-some odd stations say they are probably going to convert. The acting chairman said that, before June 12, probably 90 percent will have it done. Acting Chairman Cox does say he supports the legislation that Mr. Boucher is bringing to the floor. He does support the delay.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOUCHER. Mr. Speaker, at this time, I am pleased to yield 3 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. BUTTERFIELD).

Mr. BUTTERFIELD. Mr. Speaker, this is an important issue. In my district, at least, it is very important. This is not an academic issue. It is very important. I am pleased that we now have another chance to pass this vitally important bill, because it has become increasingly clear that with the digital transition deadline looming just days away, literally millions of Americans are at risk of being left in the dark.

With an estimated 6.5 million households still unprepared for the digital transition, it is clear that a short delay is necessary. There are 6,000 households on the waiting list for converter box coupons in my district alone, and that number grows daily. So a short implementation delay is necessary. Acting Chairman Cox does not see the problem in granting this request.

Without a delay, many of these people would be without television service and would be at risk in the event of a disaster or of a national emergency. I represent a rural area where many people rely on over-the-air television broadcasts. So this issue is particularly important for districts like mine. People clearly need more time to learn just what this transition will mean for them.

The distinguished ranking member of the committee says that they have had enough time and that there are procedures in place for making it happen, but people need more time to learn. Even my constituents who manage to buy the box could still be left without a signal. Analog signals travel further than digital signals, and many people may still need a new digital antenna to receive the signal.

So, Mr. Speaker, in closing, I wish the Energy and Commerce Committee had the opportunity to mark up this bill, because I believe there are still some issues that are unresolved in the legislation. However, I strongly support this bill as it is written, and I look forward to its swift passage this afternoon so that consumers can be given more time to prepare for this tremendous change in their lives.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. I would like to yield 3 minutes to the ranking member of the Telecommunications Subcommittee, Mr. STEARNS of Florida.

Mr. STEARNS. Mr. Speaker, I also agree with you. I would like to have had the opportunity to have marked up this bill. Unfortunately, we did not mark up this bill, and I had six amendments—Mr. Barton and Mr. Blunt and Mr. Weldon—and they were not accepted. It would have made the bill, I think, improved.

I rise in strong opposition to this bill because, for over 2 years, we have been promoting February 17, 2009 as the date of the DTV transition. Industry and government have prepared and have procedures in place for making it happen. We should not look at some of the statistics from Mr. Boucher, he is using the Nielsen rating. Well, that Nielsen rating does show that a large percentage of Americans are ready to go, and most of the statistics he has collected are from a survey that was a month old. So, in this case, it has changed, and another 1 million people have already gotten coupons.

Frankly, a change in the date engenders skepticism among Americans, confusion and a distrust of the government. Mr. Speaker, I urge the House to pass this bill as it is written, and I look forward to its swift passage this afternoon so that consumers can be given more time to prepare for this tremendous change in their lives.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I look forward to its swift passage this afternoon so that consumers can be given more time to prepare for this tremendous change in their lives.
think we should move ahead with the date and defeat this bill this afternoon.

There are lots of broadcasters who have spent all of this money preparing, and now they have unbudgeted expenditures from the private sector that are going to have to be used. At this particular point in our economy, this is weak, to have to take these unbudgeted amounts of money and find this new money to make this transition is going to be a hardship for these folks. So a delay is not necessary.

All Congress has to do is delay the manufacture distribution cycle any short change of notice that they need, give them a little bit more money, and we can continue. The public is not served by delaying this because, in the end, the analog spectrum that is available could be used for first responders. Many, many carriers have already invested nearly $20 billion in spectrum auctions, and they have been promised the deployment of innovative, new, next-generation, wireless broadband services. Now, these, our Nation’s first responders, direly need and they deserve the spectrum. They paid for it.

So why can’t we give it to them? Why are we delaying this another 3 or 4 months? It is only because there is a perceived problem when there is really no perceived problem.

Mr. STUPAK. Mr. Speaker, I thank the chairman for yielding me time on this important issue.

In the next 2 years, we’ve held over six hearings on this transition to digital television and highlighted the problems that we find across America with this transmission date and the set date of February 17 and the need to extend the time. We need to extend the time because, in all honesty, the Department of Commerce has made many mistakes in this program, and to ensure that all Americans have an opportunity to transition and to get their converter boxes, we have to make this delay.

The other side has argued that converter boxes are readily available. Time and time again in my district in Northwest Indiana, I have found that folks have run out of converters because, in all honesty, there’s no more converter boxes available. Our coupons are only good for 90 days, and then they expire, and we have got to start the process all over again.

Even though we repeatedly warned the Department of Commerce this would happen, they did nothing until Christmas Eve when they notified us that they’ve run out of money, there’s no more converter boxes, and this is a disaster waiting to happen.

So I’m very pleased that the Obama administration has stepped forward, and this situation has now required that we delay the transition to allow this new administration the opportunity to properly prepare the Nation for DTV transition.

My colleagues on the other side of the aisle have stated that a delay would jeopardize public safety. This is simply not true.

As a former Michigan State police trooper and as a Member who’s focused on strengthening our Nation’s public safety and as a founder of the Law Enforcement Caucus way back in 1994, I’ve got to tell you the rhetoric about jeopardizing public safety is misplaced. And also as a member of the Energy and Commerce Committee, I’ve worked with my colleagues, public safety, and the FCC to promote the construction of a national, interoperable, wireless broadband network for law enforcement.

Congress must act quickly to modernize our public safety infrastructure, and we can do that. Basics such as access to television, before this transition and after the transition, we need access to the emergency alert system, as well as news information for local communities. This is access that’s a critical component of public safety.

As a result of this legislation and our bill being passed, a number of public safety groups support the delay of the DTV transition and have repeatedly said it would not jeopardize public safety. This legislation still preserves the right to make the switch, as soon as you’re ready, to make a switch from analog to the digital spectrum before the new transition date of June 12.

Public safety officials recognize that a one-time delay is necessary, and in a letter to us from public safety officials it says, ‘Specifically, the bill makes it clear that any public safety agency can use its existing license in the 700-megahertz band to commence operations after a broadcaster has voluntarily ceased operations on a channel before June 12. All 50 States and some local governments have FCC licenses for the 700-megahertz spectrum.’ It will not delay public safety. It will not jeopardize public safety. Vote ‘yes’ on the legislation.

Mr. UPTON. Mr. Speaker, I thank Mr. Barton.

I was one that several years ago helped write this legislation that we’re voting on today, and I said that we did it because we listened to the 9/11 Commission, and their number one recommendation was our first responders need the analog spectrum. They have got to have that so that they can communicate with each other. The fire fighters have got to get the same message that the police folks got on that fateful day back in September.

In Katrina, the Coast Guard folks couldn’t talk to the sheriffs as they tried to rescue people, and we knew that it was because of the spectrum. They did not have the slice of the analog spectrum necessary so they could communicate.

So the 9/11 Commission made their report, and then they did a follow-up report a couple of years later, and they said Congress still hasn’t acted, and they took all of us on. They gave us a flunking grade, E, and we came back and said, well, there was a number of things that had to happen.

We had to convert the television stations from analog to digital. We had to make sure that we stop selling analog TV sets. We had to be able to develop the technology and be able to get it out to these converter boxes, and we actually came up with a way that could help fund the consumer to pay for that box so that they could get the picture over the air.

Our broadcasters have done a marvelous job. They have spent more than $1 billion across the country informing the Nation about the February 17 date, a date that we set, Chairman Barton and myself, more than 3 years ago.

And our broadcasters, like my Channel 22 in South Bend, Indiana, which broadcasts in Indiana and Michigan wrote me almost a month ago and it says, ‘Anticipating the February 17 analog shutoff, WSBT is in the process of converting our backup analog transmitter to digital. This means there is currently no backup for our analog signal in the event of any technical failure to the primary transmitter. We do not stock any backup analog transmitter parts. We have been told that the age of the parts means they are likely to fail soon and replacements are either not in stock or exceptionally difficult and expensive.’

The Fraternal Order of Police, understanding probably better than just about anyone else is relating to the need for access to analog spectrum,
As a father, I try and limit how much television my daughter watches. However, that does not mean that I want to completely deny her access to this very informative medium, but that's exactly what others would have us believe. They would have us deny access to millions of American who rely on TV not only for their entertainment but for their safety.

Mr. Speaker, two major winter storms have passed through my district in the past 2 weeks, and thousands of people stayed off the roads during these storms because of the winter advisory alerts that went out on our local TV affiliates in Indianapolis. By having access to these alerts, thousands of my constituents were able to remain safe.

So I would implore the minority not to politicize this issue. This is a very serious issue that demands we act swiftly and responsibly. I encourage my colleagues to support this legislation.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. I'd like to yield 3 minutes to a member of the committee, Mr. TERRY of Nebraska.

Mr. TERRY. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition of this delay. I want to run through numbers, and I know it's hard to orally talk about numbers and have it sink in, but the Nielsen survey that was done showed there was about 6.5 million folks or households a month ago that weren't hooked up. And Mr. STEARNS from Florida mentioned that was 30 days ago, and many of those have already been hooked up, but let's just assume 30 days ago 6.5 million households.

Right now, in our communities and households there's 10 million coupons, valid, non-expired coupons. Let's assume, since each household was allowed two, that's 5 million households.

So, rear, working about is 1.5 million that would be left without resources, evidently, on February 18.

For that, we're going to delay 4 months and also put up $650 million to somehow say in the last 2-plus years we've spent millions and millions and millions of dollars of advertising, not only nationally but by our local affiliates and broadcasters, and here's what we've been told, it's not within the stimulus bill how that $650 will be spent, but we're told that 90 million of it is going to be spent paying people to go door to door, 40 million for converter boxes ostensibly for the 1.5 million which way exceeds the amount—and we have to ask if it's really going for converter boxes or it will be slid over somewhere else—and 160 million more in consumer education. Again, to find the 1.5 million people on February 18 that would ostensibly be left.

And the other thing that confuses me is none of the public safety organizations of which our friend from Virginia mentioned were coming to us in Congress, either side of the aisle, and saying, my goodness, you have to delay this.
HON. HENRY A. WAXMAN, Chairman, Committee on Energy and Commerce, House of Representatives, Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN WAXMAN: We understand that the House of Representatives may soon consider S. 352, the DTV transition extension bill that passed the Senate yesterday.

The bill the Senate passed yesterday included language to address the impact on public safety of a DTV transition delay. We expressed support for this language in a letter we sent on January 27, 2009, to Senate Commerce Committee Chairman Rockefeller and Ranking Member Hutchison.

Specifically, the language makes it clear that a public safety agency can use its existing license in the 700 MHz band to commence operations after a broadcaster has voluntarily ceased operations on a channel before June 12. All 50 states and some local governments have FCC licenses for 700 MHz spectrum, and are waiting for the DTV transition date to modernize their communications systems and ensure public safety.

Although we have concerns about the impact of delaying the transition date on public safety, since the language is now included in the final version of the bill we support passage of this legislation.

We thank you and your colleagues for taking into account concerns about public safety while considering this matter.

Respectfully,

CHRIS FISCHER, President, Association of Public-Safety Communications Officials-International.

RUSSELL B. LAINE, President, International Association of Chiefs of Police.

LARRY J. GRORUD, President, International Association of Fire Chiefs.

NATIONAL EMERGENCY NUMBER ASSOCIATION,

Re: digital television transition.

HON. HENRY WAXMAN, Chairman, Committee on Energy and Commerce, Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, DC.

HON. JOE BARTON, Ranking Member, Committee on Energy and Commerce, Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN WAXMAN AND RANKING MEMBER BARTON: I am writing on behalf of the National Emergency Number Association (NENA), the leading professional non-profit organization dedicated to the advancement of 9-1-1 emergency communications issues, as a follow up to our earlier letter regarding the digital television (DTV) transition. On behalf of NENA’s 7,000 members, we again wish to thank you for your efforts to ensure that Americans are properly prepared for the digital television transition.

The digital television transition is an unnecessary burden to be passed onto the American people at a time when the pressures of day to day life are heavy and growing. We appreciate your focus on flexibility for stations so that they can determine how best to provide the vital news, weather alerts and emergency information that free, local television provides to its viewers.

We hope the House will pass the legislation that was unanimously approved by the Senate. Thank you for your continued attention to this important matter.

Best wishes.

Sincerely,

DAVID K. REHR, President and CEO.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF BROADCASTERS,

HON. HENRY WAXMAN, House of Representatives, House Committee on Energy and Commerce, Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, DC.

HON. RICK BOUCHER, House of Representatives, House Committee on Energy and Commerce, Rayburn House Office Building.

DEAR CHAIRMAN WAXMAN and CHAIRMAN BOUCHER: On behalf of America’s broadcasters and the National Association of Broadcasters (NAB) Television Board of Directors, thank you for working to ensure that millions of Americans are able to successfully watch digital television (DTV) and for your efforts to help consumers receive converter box coupons prior to the transition date.

As you know, America’s full-power television stations have been working for the last two years to educate Americans about the switch to all-digital broadcasting. The DTV transition is the highest television priority of NAB, as broadcast networks and television stations across the country have contributed more than $1 billion to educate Americans on the pending switch.

Free over-the-air broadcasting is important part of American life. Broadcasters understand this as well as the need to ensure that Americans are both prepared and equipped to make the switch to digital. To this end, we support your efforts to give viewers and the federal government more time to get ready for all-digital broadcasting. As you know, many Americans are already enjoying the benefits of digital television. Indeed, some markets have already commenced digital-only operations, some stations are already digital-only and other stations will need to cease analog operations on February 17 or sometime before June 12.

It is important that stations have the flexibility to go all digital before the new cutoff date. Nor does it intend to have Congress does not intend to require stations to continue analog broadcasting just because the date is changing. Nor does it intend to have the Federal Communications Commission impose additional requirements on stations by either changing the current streamlined procedures for notifying the agency that the station is terminating analog service or imposing additional analog cessation deadlines.

We appreciate your focus on flexibility for stations so that they can determine how best to provide the vital news, weather alerts and emergency information that free, local television provides to its viewers.

We hope the House will pass the legislation that was unanimously approved by the Senate. Thank you for your continued attention to this important matter.

Best wishes.

Sincerely,

DAVID K. REHR, President and CEO.

AT THIS TIME, I AM PLEASED TO YIELD 2 MINUTES TO THE GENTLEMEN FROM TEXAS (MS. JACKSON-LEE).

(Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas was asked to revise and extend her remarks.)
Mr. BARTON of Texas. I would like to make a parliamentary inquiry. The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state his inquiry.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. I have just been informed that my friends on the majority side want to go to the White House for the SCHIP signing ceremony and we have to finish the debate in the next 10 minutes. Does this finish the debate mean? Actually call for a roll call vote in the next 10 minutes, or actually have the vote finished in the next 10 minutes?

Mr. BOUCHER. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. BARTON of Texas. I’ve got a parliamentary inquiry. I don’t know how to address this. If the Chair would advise, then I will address it in the appropriate way.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair does not control the program or the time that is remaining in the pending debate.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. That’s your answer?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. It is.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. Then I would ask unanimous consent for an additional 3 minutes, equally divided, to engage in a dialogue with the distinguished Member from Virginia who is controlling the time on the majority side.

Mr. BOUCHER. Will the gentleman from Texas yield to me?

Mr. BARTON of Texas. If we accept unanimous consent that we have 3 minutes equally divided.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will entertain that request only from the majority manager.
Does the gentleman from Virginia wish to propose that request?

Mr. BARTON of Texas. Further parliamentary inquiry.

Since when has it been the rules of the House that the minority cannot ask an unanimous consent request? When did that rule get changed? We're fixing to have a real problem here.

Now the majority can object to unanimous consent, but I at least have the right to offer a unanimous consent request.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will suspend.

The Chair would look to the majority manager for any request regarding the extension of time in debate.

The Chair recognized the gentleman from Texas for a parliamentary inquiry, but a unanimous consent request to extend the time of debate should be offered by the majority manager.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. Parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state his inquiry.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. What are the limits of a unanimous consent request? Unanimous consent means it requires unanimous consent of the House. I asked for a unanimous consent request for 3 additional minutes. What rule did I violate of the House in asking for a unanimous consent request as a member of the minority?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman did not violate a rule. The gentleman was not recognized for a unanimous consent request to extend time in debate. Only the majority manager will be recognized for extensions of time in debate.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. So the minority has to be recognized to make the unanimous consent request?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. To extend debate, the majority manager must offer the unanimous consent request.

The gentleman from Texas controls the time.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. I reserve my time.

Mr. BOUCHER. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire as to the time remaining on both sides?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Virginia has 9 minutes. The gentleman from Texas has 11 minutes remaining.

Mr. BOUCHER. In view of the fact that we have no further requests for time on this side and I do intend to close debate, at this time I would ask the gentleman from Texas if he has other speakers that he would like to recognize, or if he is prepared to close on his side.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. If the gentleman will yield.

Mr. BOUCHER. I would be pleased to yield.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. I have two additional speakers plus myself to close, and that would probably take 8 minutes, but I could do it in less.

Mr. BOUCHER. The gentleman has under the rule as much time as is allotted to him—and still remains—for his time allotted.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. I am just trying to facilitate the majority's request to go to the White House. Trying to do a good guy. I have now been muzzled on the House floor. We may decide to stay here all night.

Mr. BOUCHER. Well, reclaiming my time, I probably have about a 4-minute closing statement, and that is all the time we have with Congress on this side. If the gentleman would be amenable to a unanimous consent request that would limit his time to that same amount, I'm sure we would find that to be acceptable.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. We will expedite things on this side. We won't use all of our time.

Mr. BOUCHER. Let me ask the gentleman if he would like to recognize his colleagues in compliance with the various rules. And yet, it's so complicated in here, that isn't going to happen. We had Members say, Gee, we have got to do something to help public safety. This just delays that.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to put this report from Communications Daily into the RECORD so that Americans and our colleagues can see this.

Under the bill, a public safety agency can go on the air if a TV station vacates its channel in compliance with the various rules. And yet, it's so complicated in here, that isn't going to happen. We had Members say, Gee, we have got to do something to help public safety. This just delays that.

So, if you're going to the White House for power, you're going to cost jobs. Then, most Americans, 93, 94, probably pushing up higher than that, have already made the conversion, that we know of. A million people have come off the waiting list. The coupon list for the coupons for the last 4 weeks.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mrs. BLACKBURN. I yield the gentleman 30 additional seconds.

Mr. WALDEN. A simple change in the law to allow budget authority of $250 million to NTIA would allow them to flow these coupons out. The stimulus bill spends $600 million more on the conversion program, and yet that money isn't going to be out the door until April at the soonest.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. I am trying to figure out how that's democracy in action and how that is change for a better day. And now we are being asked to truncate the time to debate this bill, which was already limited to no amendments that has never had a hearing in this House or before the Energy and Commerce Committee or the subcommittee.

The Republicans were completely denied the opportunity to offer any amendment at any time. Now I am trying to figure out how that's democracy in action and how that is change for a better day. And now we are being asked to basically cut it quick, be quiet, go back to our offices so they can go to the White House for a media show.

Let me talk to this bill. Delaying the DTV date from February 17 to June puts it right in the middle of hurricane season, tornado season, and all that. It doesn't open up the spectrum any sooner for law enforcement to deal with the issues that the public safety community identified 5 years to the day of 9/11. Five years before, they said, You have got to give us some more spectrum so we can have interoperability. That is back in 2001. We are that to here. Now we are going to delay it some more.

For broadcasters in my State of Oregon, they are going to get to pay $500,000 to $1 million more in energy costs to run two transmitters, when they should only, and had counted on, only running one. So to keep their analog—most likely, a tube-driven transmitter fired up—that will add 4 million tons of carbon into the atmosphere at a time when I thought the majority and the House wanted to do something about carbon emissions.

So, it will cost $1 million, it will cost jobs. You will burn more energy. They will have to have engineers keep old transmitters hobbled together. We had a transmitter across the river in Washington State, an analog transmitter, burn up 2 weeks ago. Their analog transmitter. It's off the air. They switched. And they haven't had any real pushback from the community.

"The provisions in this new bill, according to Communications Daily,," that purport to provide a safety valve for public safety agencies that want to make use of the 700 megahertz spectrum before the revised deadline are worse than provisions that raised public safety objections," industry officials said Friday. "This bill is totally of no value to public safety," said an industry official.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. I am trying to figure out how if you move this to the middle of June, and you don't get the money out the door until April or May. I am not sure you have solved the coupon problem.

In closing, the Fraternal Order of Police, who represent a couple hundred thousand law enforcement officers, are opposed to moving this date. And so I, Mr. Chairman. I think it's unnecessary and it's expensive.

[From Communications Daily, Feb. 2, 2009]

[From Communications Daily, Feb. 2, 2009]
Commerce Committee Chairman Jay Rockefeller, D-W.Va., in a statement after the Senate passed an amended version (S-352) of its previous bill (S-328), “I have no doubt this is going to pass. Sen. Amy Klobuchar, D-Minn., said on C-SPAN’s ‘The Communicators,’ which airs Saturday on C-SPAN and Monday on C-SPAN 2, Klobuchar, who co-sponsored the legislation, said a representative from the converter box coupon program’s ballooning wait list ignited political momentum to delay the transition. ‘We thought let’s give this new administration a little time to fix the problems’ with the coupons, she said.

The technical changes in S-332 clarify that households can get replacement coupons for those that expired but haven’t been redeemed. Once budget authority approval of new money for the converter box program is granted, House and Senate economic stimulius billtech would grant access to this program, and there has been no challenge to that proposal so far.

Until the money is appropriated, the converter box program will have a backlog of coupon requests. SN-328 would have allowed emergency funds to kick in immediately. S-328 also makes clear that broadcast stations must shut down operations before June 12 can do so, and in cases where stations have made the switch, public safety can begin using the vacated spectrum.

PUBLIC SAFETY CONCERNS

The provisions in the new bill that purport to provide a safety valve for public safety agencies that want to make use of the 700 MHz spectrum before the revised deadline are worse than provisions that raised public safety objections, industry officials said.

If the bill is totally of no value to public safety,” said an industry official: “Some of these things could be fixed, but they would just give us the option to vote again and the Senate to vote again.” Public safety concerns have figured prominently in Hill debate. Sen. John McCain, R-Ariz., in particular has said it’s not an issue whether Congress passes the legislation unless sponsors addressed public safety concerns.

Public safety officials had objected to a requirement in the original version of the bill which passed the Senate that reduced the new deadline for the revised deadline. The FCC’s rules require private-law enforcement agencies to work within a relatively arcane and little utilized section of the FCC’s rules—section 90.545—before they can use the airwaves.

Under the bill, a public safety agency can go on the air if a TV station vacates its channel in compliance with both a Dec. 31, 2007, FCC order and section 90.545 of the FCC’s rules. To qualify under section 90.545, the station must vacate its channel between June 1 and June 30 for at least 30 days prior to its shutdown. Over the past week, numerous TV stations have filed requests to shut down by airing notices for fewer than 30 days. Under the legislation, the FCC would have no discretion to grant the requests.

In addition, under section 90.545 a public safety agency could go on the air only if its transmitters are sufficiently far away from those TV stations still on the adjacent channels—public safety agencies can’t use the spectrum if one station shuts down. But the separation requirement would be difficult to meet. As an alternative, the public safety agencies could negotiate agreements with the analog TV stations to submit the applications for FCC approval.

A prior version of the legislation required the FCC to rule within 14 days. The Senate-passed version has no such requirement, and there’s no requirement in the FCC rule. In addition, public safety agencies can submit applications now, but again, the FCC would have to approve the studies, and there’s no timetable for a FCC ruling. “They tried to fix something, but the fix actually made it worse,” industry officials said.

Meanwhile, House Republicans continue to oppose the delay. “Moving back the date would put a company in an industry that will be hard for it to swallow in this difficult economic climate.” Rep. Cliff Stearns, R-Fla., ranking member of the House Telecommunications Subcommittee, said in a Friday Washington Times Op-Ed. Stearns has co-sponsored a bill with Commerce ranking member Joe Barton, R-Texas, that would keep the 700 MHz spectrum while providing $500 million for the converter box coupon program.

But Democratic leadership hasn’t responded to Barton’s plan, believing it can pass the extension bill despite Republicans’ surprise blockage last week (CD Jan 29 p1). Thirteen Democrats voted with Republicans to stop a Thursday vote authorizing the extension provisions rules requires a super-majority vote. But 22 Republicans joined with Democrats in favor of moving the DTV delay bill. Republicans said they trust the FCC, which has made it clear to recommit,” which, if approved, would send the bill back to committee. But a straight majority vote would be required to do that, and many believe Democrats have a sufficient margin to defeat that.

The bill will go before the Rules Committee Tuesday to determine time limits and rules for amending the bill on the floor, Hill and industry officials said.

NATIONAL FRATERNAL ORDER OF POLICE

WASHINGTON, DC, 23 January 2009.

HON. NANCY P. PELOSI,
Speaker of the House, House of Representatives,
WASHINGTON, DC.

HON. JOHN A. BOEHNER,
Minority Leader, House of Representatives,
WASHINGTON, DC.

DEAR SPEAKER PELOSI AND REPRESENTATIVE BOEHNER,
I am writing on behalf of the members of the Fraternal Order of Police to express our concerns regarding S. 328, the “DTV Delay Act of 2009” which relates to public safety access to spectrum.

Many of the arguments being made in favor of delaying the DTV transition were made during the consideration of the Digital Transition and Public Safety Act in 2005. This is not a new issue, and was first recognized in a public safety report issued in September 1996. In 1997, Congress granted public safety access to this portion of spectrum under Title III, Section 3001 of the Balanced Budget Act of 1997. Unfortunately, the FCC has not acted to authorize broadcasters currently occupying the spectrum to remain there until 2006. Public safety access to this portion of spectrum was repeatedly pushed back until the enactment of the Digital Transition and Public Safety Act in 2005, which set a hard deadline of 17 February for analog broadcasters to allow public safety access to 24 MHz of spectrum on the 700MHz band. We are concerned that the staggered transition which would result if S. 328 is signed into law would jeopardize the channels that Congress promised to law enforcement and other public safety offices more than a decade ago.

For public safety to use the spectrum they have been promised, broadcast stations must stop analog broadcasts on those channels. Broadcast stations on the adjacent channels must also shut down to avoid interfering with the public safety communications we are trying to enable. For all those broadcast stations to have somewhere to go, additional broadcast stations must stop their analog transmission. This is a chain of events that makes the hard deadline of 17 February 2009 the only realistic and responsible option for clearing the spectrum for public safety’s use.

While S. 328 would still allow broadcast stations to shut down in 17 February, the bill is subject to current FCC regulations, and allow public safety to occupy this vacated spectrum, unless all the surrounding broadcast stations also voluntarily turn off, it is unlikely anyone can move. Moreover, under current FCC regulations, broadcasters generally would not be permitted to transition before the revised deadline. This would put even more pressure on public safety to get access to the vacated spectrum before the delayed transition date, and even then the FCC has the discretion to refuse the authorization.

The American public has asked broadcasters to take difficult, time consuming, and costly steps to enable better public safety communications. These broadcasters have admirably risen to the call and say they are ready for 17 February. If this delay goes into effect, it opens the door for future delays. More than a decade of work has gone by since Congress authorized public safety communications to expand on the spectrum, and we are very close to achieving our goal. I urge broadcasters they are much in opposition to what we hear being expressed as the opinion of the national organizations.
But isn’t that the way it goes on issue after issue? You have got the D.C. way and then you have got, as we say, the Tennessee way. The local way. And your local broadcasters have committed incredible resources to this. They have worked with their communities.

Seniors are prepared. We know that according to Nielsen. Seniors are more prepared than just about anybody for this. We know that the American public is on this to take place and we know that our first responders are saying let’s get this done so that we have that interoperability that was missing on 9/11. We have interoperability that was missing at Katrina. We have a readiness and a timetable for solving a problem that the American people have said we want to see some action on this.

Mr. Speaker, it is wrong to delay this. Let’s show the American people that the Federal Government can keep their word on something, and it is making this transition.

Mr. BARTON of Texas, I yield back the balance of my time, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BAUCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

I want to say just a few words in response to a couple of the arguments that were raised by my friends on the other side of the aisle. First, there was an effort to suggest that the Nielsen survey, which reports that 6.5 million homes are totally unprepared for the digital television transition, was an old survey. That it was a month old. In fact, that survey was taken the week of January 18. So it’s only a bit more than 2 weeks old at this point. And, for practical purposes, those are very current numbers.

The argument was made that more may not be provided for the converter box program during the coming week, and that that would solve the problem. That does not solve the problem for two very important reasons. First, it was an effort to suggest that the Nielsen test was conducted of an early shutoff of the analog signal did produce a good result, but there were very important circumstances at play in Wilmington that are not playing at play across the rest of the country.

First of all, a massive amount of advertising money was expended in advising people that the cutoff was coming, and telling them exactly what they had to do to prepare. The Federal Communications System set up a special field office in Wilmington. The FCC paid firefighters in that city to provide in-home technical assistance to people who were having problems. Most importantly of all, Wilmington is flat terrain—very different from the mountainous rural areas of America, where the primary problems with the transition are going to occur. So, yes, a good result, but the circumstances that we have are different.

Wilmington is very different from the rest of the country where the major problems are going to arise.

It was also mentioned by some in argument that the Department of Commerce has been saying for some time that it was running out of money for its converter box program. In fact, not until Christmas Eve—December 24—did the Department of Commerce send notice that the coupon program was out of money. Of course, Congress was in recess. And we have acted as expeditiously as we could since reconvening in order to correct the problem. And we are doing that now by proposing a delay.

This delay is absolutely necessary. It will be for one time only. It will ensure, in conjunction with the $650 million to be provided in the stimulus legislation, that the problems that confronted this program can successfully be addressed. Converter boxes can be supplied. The call centers can be staffed.

We can assure that when the transition occurs on June 12, that it does so smoothly, and for the benefit of the American people.

Mr. Speaker, I urge passage of this measure.

Mr. VAN HOLLEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of The DTV Delay Act. Two weeks of full-power television broadcast stations are required to terminate analog signals and transmit only in digital. Congress mandated the transition to digital in response to requests by police, firefighters, and emergency personnel for the increased reliability and communications.

To help Americans prepare for the transition and offset the associated cost for consumers, Congress established the TV Converter Box Coupon Program. But the program has been limited in its achievement because of the coupon shortages or ineligibility. According to the National Telecommunications and Information Administration, NTIA, as of January 28, 2009, more than 14 million coupons have expired. My constituents who live in group homes and single room occupancy homes have been denied coupons because they live in housing that does not fit the program’s narrow definition of a “household.”

My constituents are not the only ones affected by arbitrary expiration dates, coupon shortages or ineligibility. According to the National Telecommunications and Information Administration, NTIA, as of January 28, 2009, more than 14 million coupons have expired. The result is that millions of Americans will lose their television signal because they will be unable to purchase the equipment necessary for the transition. It has been reported in early January that the $1.34 billion that Congress appropriated for the coupons had run out. To date more than 3 million people are on the waiting list. This number includes nearly 7,000 of my constituents, who are saying that they have been unable to obtain the converter box they need for the upcoming digital transition.

Today 1.8 million households are on a waiting list to receive more than 3.3 million converter box coupons. Though funding was inserted in the Stimulus Package to pay for more coupons, unless the February 17th conversion date is delayed, few of these Americans will be able to receive the coupons and purchase their converter boxes in time.

The DTV Delay Act will help the Coupon Program to honor requests for coupons and enable those whose coupons may have expired, to receive new ones.

It is the purpose of the DTV Delay Act by extending the transition date to June 13th, 2009 and extending the period that the Coupon Program may operate until July 31st 2009.

According to the Nielsen Company, 6.5 million households will lose all TV reception on February 17, 2009. Television is the leading source Americans use to receive critical public safety information, news and entertainment. Yet millions of Americans, including many of the country’s most vulnerable groups like seniors, the poor and minorities, still need to take steps to prepare for transition.

I encourage my colleagues to join me in support of The DTV Delay Act. The country is not yet prepared for digital transition. This bill will provide the time we need to ensure that all Americans are able to receive the full benefits that transition to digital can provide.

Ms. ROYBAL-ALLARD. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of S. 352, the DTV Delay Act, which postpones the date of the analog-to-digital television transition from February 17, 2009, to June 12, 2009.

Over the last several months I have received call after call and letter after letter from my constituents who rely on their analog televisions for news, emergency information and entertainment. They are very concerned that they have been unable to obtain the converter box they need for the upcoming digital transition.

My constituents tell me that they applied for coupons well in advance of the deadline, only to be told that coupons were no longer available or that the coupons they received had already expired. My constituents who live in group homes and single room occupancy buildings have also voiced concern that they have been denied coupons because they live in housing that does not fit the program’s narrow definition of a “household.”

My constituents are not the only ones affected by arbitrary expiration dates, coupon shortages or ineligibility. According to the National Telecommunications and Information Administration, NTIA, as of January 28, 2009, more than 14 million coupons have expired. The result is that millions of Americans will lose their television signal because they will be unable to purchase the equipment necessary for the transition. It has been reported in early January that the $1.34 billion that Congress appropriated for the coupons had run out. To date more than 3 million people are on the waiting list. This number includes nearly 7,000 of my constituents, who are saying that they have been unable to obtain the converter box they need for the upcoming digital transition.
do not lose a critical communications safety net when our country transitions from analog to digital television.

I urge the Energy and Commerce Committee and the NTIA to use this additional time to address the needs of Americans who are currently ineligible for the converter box program, such as those that live in single room occupancy buildings and other group homes across the nation. These are people who need the coupons most because they will not be able to afford converters without the help of this program. They are entitled to the same access to the digital converter program as all other Americans. Let’s ensure that no Americans find themselves in the dark when the transition occurs.

Mr. REYES. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of S. 352, the DTV Delay Act.

I am a strong supporter for a delay in the Digital Television, DTV, transition set to occur on February 17, 2009, because I believe that without a postponement many families and individuals will be left behind. Without this delay, millions of Americans may see their televisions “go dark,” with a disproportionate impact on low-income, rural, and elderly Americans.

I am particularly concerned with this issue given the unique DTV transition challenges that exist in my congressional district and along the U.S.-Mexico border. Households on the U.S.-Mexico border already have low rates of cable or satellite television subscription. However, unlike other parts of the country, televisions in the border region will continue to work after the February transition, as viewers in the U.S.-Mexico border will maintain analog transmissions from Mexico. This presents a major obstacle for those trying to prepare analog-only viewers for this transition because many of these Spanish-speaking viewers will have little incentive to purchase the required digital converter box once they discover their television still works.

In addition, I am very concerned about the circumstances surrounding the National Telecommunications and Information Administration’s, NTIA, implementation of the TV Converter Box Program. Specifically, I am troubled by the NTIA’s creation of a waiting list after issuing the maximum amount of coupons allowed under its budget.

According to Commerce Department data, in just the last two business days, the size of this waiting list has grown by 200,000 households. There are now more than two million households on the waiting list for coupons. In my congressional district alone, the waiting list numbers have grown from 5,605 on January 30th to 6,013 on February 2nd.

These developments raise serious questions as to the actual ability of many households to comply with the February deadline. As the transition date has drawn near, it has become increasingly apparent to me that the government programs to support the transition are insufficient and that the transition should be delayed.

Mr. MARKEY. Mr. Speaker, I want to commend you for quickly putting this Senate legislation, once again, before the House for immediate consideration.

The situation as we found it is unacceptable. Millions of Americans may remain unprepared for the digital television transition. Mr. Speaker, as you know, I have had a long interest in the digital television transition. I held the very first hearing on “High Definition TV” in October of 1987—more than 20 years ago. In 1990, I battled hard and successfully as then-Chairman of the House Telecommunications and Finance Subcommittee to get the Federal Communications Commission to switch from pursuing an “analog” HDTV standard to a “digital” standard.

Moreover, I fought to build into the Telecom Act in 1996 the appropriate way in which broadcasters could utilize “spectrum flexibility” to multiplex the digital signal into several channels, thus offering wireless interactive television or information services. And I pushed unsuccessfully in the context of the 1997 budget battles to prohibit the sale of “analog-only” televisions by the year 2000—an amendment that was opposed by every Republican in our Committee markup in 1997. The result was over a hundred million analog-only sets were sold into the marketplace even as the government was stipulating it intended to turn off the analog TV signal. The failure to mandate “dual tuner” TV sets soon thereafter compounded the difficulty of this transition immensely by increasing the base of TV receivers that need digital converter boxes to receive digital TV signals.

Most recently, for the last two years as the Telecommunications and Internet Subcommittee Chairman, I convened six DTV hearings, and the Government Accountability Office, GAO, reports, and wrote numerous oversight letters to the FCC, to NTIA, and to industry and consumer representatives in headlong pursuit of ensuring a successful digital television transition on February 17th. At the last DTV hearing that we held the second week of September—just after the Wilmington, North Carolina switch-over test—the GAO testified:

NTIA is effectively implementing the converter box subsidy program, but its plans to address the likely increase in coupon demand as the transition nears remains unclear.

. . . With a spike in demand likely as the transition date nears, NTIA has no specific plans to address an increase in demand; therefore, consumers might incur significant wait time before they receive coupons as the transition nears and might lose television service during the time they are waiting for the coupons.

In response, I asked the Acting NTIA Administrator to give the Subcommittee a contingency plan for dealing with the expected surge in coupons within 30 days. Now, that contingency plan did not arrive in 30 days. Instead, it arrived to us on November 6th—just after Election Day. The NTIA’s “Final Phase” plan did not echo the GAO’s alarm bells, but rather stated the following:

This Plan demonstrates that the Coupon Program has both sufficient funds and system processing capabilities to achieve this goal . . . and to do so without the creation a large backlog of unprocessed coupons. The Program’s flexibility into the Program to respond to various or unexpected events. Moreover, based on actual, cumulative redemption data, NTIA will not authorize $1.34 billion in coupon funding despite increased demand leading up to the analog shut-down, on February 17th, and, in fact, may return as much as $380 million to the U.S. Treasury.

That’s from the NTIA just over two months ago. “No problem,” the agency is saying. In essence the agency is telling Congress, “We have a plan to deal with the surge and we don’t need any more money. No large backlog. And we’ll have hundreds of millions of dollars left over.”

Now, why is this important? It is important because we were actually in session in November. We could have acted during the “lame duck” session. The National Telecommunications Administration had said, “yes, we will likely have a shortfall,” or “please, Congress, let’s err on the side of caution and budget a couple hundred million more just in case . . . “. Yet NTIA told us all just the opposite. The agency said everything was fine and they didn’t need additional money for coupons.

In late December, I asked for an urgent status update on the program. That’s when NTIA wrote back to me—on December 24th—stating that a waiting list was going to begin in January and the DTV transition was fast being delayed. The agency didn’t need additional money for coupons.

In an attempt to respond quickly, I reached out to Ranking Member JOE BARTON, R–TX, and said if we worked together on an accounting fix we could start to address the waiting list issue and get the coupons flowing to consumers again and buy some time. I want to thank Rep. BARTON for his willingness to proceed on such a bill.

But that effort has simply become overtaken by events. If we passed it and also gave NTIA a couple hundred million dollars for additional coupons in a measure that passed through the House and through the Senate, and arrived to the President’s desk this evening, we simply wouldn’t be able to address the backlog and get coupons out to people who have requested them by February 17th.

Not every media market will be as unprepared as others on February 17th. I know that in the Boston market, our local commercial and noncommercial broadcasters, as well as our local cable operators, have worked diligently to be ready on February 17th and I commended them for that effort. Yet, even in Boston, it is important to note that a recent test brought a flood of calls to consumer call centers from citizens confused about or unprepared for the switchover. Many other media markets, in part due to the demographic makeup of such markets, will have an even greater risk of significant dislocation without immediate action. The Bush Administration has simply left us with so little time to make the needed adjustments on a national basis absent a short, one-time delay.

Mr. Speaker, although this is the last place we all wanted to be, and in spite of the fact that we toiled mightily to make this effort work, it is my judgment that a short delay is in the public interest in order to protect consumers. I urge passage of this emergency DTV legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. All time for debate has expired.

Pursuant to House Resolution 108, the Senate bill is considered read and the previous question is ordered.

The question is on the third reading of the Senate bill.
The Senate bill was ordered to be read a third time, and was read the third time.

MOTION TO COMMIT

Mr. BARTON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I have a motion to commit at the desk.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is the gentleman from Texas (Mr. BARTON) of Texas in his current form?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will report the motion to commit.

The Clerk reads as follows:

Mr. Barton of Texas moves to commit the bill (S. 352) to the Committee on Energy and Commerce with instructions to report the same back to the House forthwith with the following amendment:

At the end of the bill, add the following new section:

SEC. 6. CLEARANCE OF PUBLIC SAFETY SPECTRUM, ADJACENT CHANNELS, AND OTHER CHANNELS CAUSING INTERFERENCE.

Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, any amendments made by this Act, or any revision to any rule, regulation, or order pursuant to this Act or such amendments, no full-power television broadcast station shall be permitted, after February 17, 2009, to continue broadcasting on such channels as determined by the Federal Communications Commission to be necessary to prevent interference with public safety communications; and

(1) on any channel adjacent to the channel described in paragraph (1), if cessation of broadcasting on such channels is determined by the Federal Communications Commission to be necessary to prevent interference with public safety communications; or

(2) on any channel adjacent to the channel described in paragraph (1), if cessation of broadcasting on such channels is determined by the Federal Communications Commission to be necessary to prevent interference with public safety communications; and

(3) on any other channel, if cessation of broadcasting on such channel is determined by the Federal Communications Commission to be necessary to prevent interference with public safety communications; and

(a) all public safety radio service licensees can relocate onto and begin operation on channels 64, 68, or 69 (764-806 megahertz, inclusive); and

(b) no full-power television broadcast station is subject to unacceptable interference or has its coverage area significantly reduced.

Mr. BARTON of Texas (during the reading). Mr. Speaker, there was no objection to the request of the gentleman from Texas?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Texas is recognized for 5 minutes in support of his motion.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I will try to make this as succinct as possible. The motion to commit before us says that notwithstanding any other provision in the bill that is before us, those stations that have spectrum that is going to be used by public safety officials and first responders have to relinquish that spectrum on February 17. If there’s any station whose spectrum is adjacent to the public safety spectrum that would interfere with the public safety spectrum, those stations also have to relinquish their spectrum on February 17.

So what this motion to commit does is simply say that for first responders and public safety officials who have been waiting patiently for almost 7 years, they will get their spectrum on February 18. That is all it does.

I would point out that it’s been brought to my attention that the entire State of Hawaii has been digital now for an entire month. They went digital to protect migrating birds who could have otherwise been exposed if they waited until February 17 to move one or two part-time transmitters.

So, in the State of Hawaii, they have been all digital for a month, and there’s been no problem; 143 stations on the main island—already gone digital; there has been no problem.

The Acting FCC Chairman says that about 60 percent, and maybe as many as 90 percent of the TV stations, are going to go digital between February 17 and June 12. So I don’t think there’s a reason for the delay. But the motion to commit simply says that if we are going to pass the underlying bill, let’s at least put the first responders at the front of the line to go ahead and get their spectrum back.

With that, I would yield to the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. WALDEN) in support of the motion to commit.

Mr. WALDEN. Mr. Speaker, let’s get this down.

On November 6, NTIA notified us that they may have a problem with money. At the end of December, they said that they had a waiting list. And today is February 4. So you had December, January, and now February, 3 months to work this out, and there was a simple accounting fix that could have been done early on that would have solved this problem. So at a minimum we could have addressed this earlier had the majority wanted to. Right now, our biggest concern, frankly, should be with law enforcement and our emergency services.

Five years before America was attacked on September 11, 2001, the law enforcement community said: We need you to free up this spectrum, make this transition, and get it done; because if we have an attack or a problem in this country, we don’t have the interoperable capability to communicate. And, unfortunately, we will learn the sad, tragic, and deadly reality of that failure to communicate as rescue workers tried to do their jobs in New York City.

So all this motion to commit says is that let’s have the FCC make sure that we are not going to further hamper our emergency services personnel and their ability to have interoperable communications, so that fire and police can talk to each other when there is an emergency. That is all this says: FCC, make sure this gets done right; and, if there is a problem, move these stations so that we put the safety of our firefighters, the safety of our police first and the safety of our communities. Because, Lord knows, may be the subject of another attack.

We all hope that does not occur. But if it does, there will be another commission that says: How come you guys waited? Why didn’t you do what we told you to do when we had the last commission, the 9/11 Commission? Why didn’t you listen to the public service folks 5 years before the attack on 9/11? Why didn’t you step up and do your job?

There is a simple accounting fix that initially there was reportedly even bipartisan for, until the transition team said, ah, no, let’s just move the date. Then everything crumbled, and that is where we are today.

Last night my wife and I were watching TV, and here comes the ad on Comcast that says that: Congress has passed a law that says February 17, 2009, the analogue signal goes away, and you just subscribe to us or you do this converter box.

We are still having these folks advertise as of last night what the law is today. People, are confused. You think confusion? They are still being told, here is what you are going to do. And this is why people don’t trust the government, because you get everybody marching, doing what they are supposed to do, the broadcasters, the industries that supply the boxes, everything else, and then we move the goalposts. And I don’t think that makes sense. In this case, it doesn’t have to happen. We can work through this process. You could make a simple accounting change: you would be $250 million you authorized and you get the coupons out the door.

Mr. BOUCHER. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to the motion to commit.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. BOUCHER. Mr. Speaker, the primary reason that I am opposing this motion to commit is that it simply is unnecessary. And I want to address that in just a moment; but before I do that, I think a factual clarification is necessary. The Department of Commerce did not notify the Congress that the converter box program was out of money until Christmas Eve. Congress was in recess at that time. Ever since we have been back in session, we have been working to address the problem that that program running out of money has caused, and we have done that as expeditiously as the congressional schedule permits.

In November, in the communication to which the gentleman from Oregon referred, the Department of Commerce indicated that it was having to re-schedule in a certain way the provision of coupons, but it also said that it had ample money to continue the program to successful conclusion at that time. The Department of Commerce said nothing about the program potentially running out of money. That message did not come until December 24th.

Mr. WALDEN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman yield?

Mr. BOUCHER. If I have time remaining after I finish my statement, I will be happy to yield to the gentleman.
The motion to commit would essentially require the broadcasters in the four channels that will be devoted to public safety and in a buffer zone around those four channels to terminate their analogue broadcast. That is the essence of what the motion accomplishes. And it simply is not necessary.

The first point to be made is that there are very few public safety agencies that immediately are even prepared to start using that spectrum for advanced communications. And that fact comes to us from David Furth, who is the official at the FCC, Acting Chief of the Public Safety and Homeland Security Bureau, who has told us that very few public safety agencies could even utilize the spectrum immediately.

We have placed in this legislation a provision that says if broadcasters elect to turn off their analogue transmitters and vacate the spectrum prior to the transition date of June 12, they may do so; and, if they decide to do so, then public safety agencies that are prepared to begin to utilize the spectrum may have access to it, in accordance with what the Federal Communications Commission procedures. And so many broadcasters probably will take that option. I think numbers were provided on the other side about how many are likely to do that, and in those areas public safety agencies can go forward.

Beyond that, we have a very large list of endorsements for this delay coming from the associations that represent the great bulk of public safety agencies across the United States, and they are saying that there is a greater risk in shutting television off and having people lose vital public safety information that television provides than there is in delaying for a brief period the auction of the spectrum for the purpose of public safety agencies. Letters have been received from the Association of Public Safety Communications Officials International, the National Association of State Fire Marshals, the International Association of Chiefs of Police, the International Association of Fire Fighters, the International Public Safety Communications Officials, and the National Association of Police Executives. Letters have been received from the Association of State Fire Marshals and the National Association of Councils of State Government.

Mr. WALDEN. Mr. Speaker, I object to the vote on the ground that a quorum is not present and make the point of order that a quorum is not present.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Evidently a quorum is not present.

The Sergeant at Arms will notify members.

Pursuant to clause 8 and clause 9 of rule XX, this 15-minute vote on the motion will be followed by 5-minute votes on passage of S. 352, if ordered; and suspending the rules and passing H.R. 738, if ordered.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—yeas 180, nays 242, not voting 10, as follows:

Stated against:
Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, on rollcall No. 52, had I been present, I would have voted "nay."

DEATH IN CUSTODY REPORTING

ACT OF 2009

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The unfinished business is the question on suspending the rules and passing the bill, H.R. 738.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. SCOTT) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 738.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. CARTER. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The ayes and nays were ordered.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE

H999

Therefore, be it Resolved. Upon adoption of this resolution and pending completion of the investigation into his affairs by the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct, Representative Rainey is hereby removed as chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under rule IX, a resolution offered from the floor by a Member other than the majority leader or the minority leader as a question of the privileges of the House has immediate precedence only at a time designated by the Chair within 2 legislative days after the resolution is properly noticed.

Pending that designation, the form of the resolution noticed by the gentleman from Texas will appear in the RECORD at this point.

The Chair will not at this point determine whether the resolution constitutes a question of privilege. That determination will be made at the time designated for consideration of the resolution.

LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM

(Mr. WESTMORELAND asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. WESTMORELAND. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Florida for the purpose of announcing next week’s schedule.

Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. I thank my good friend from Georgia for yielding.

On Monday, the 9th of February, the House will meet at 2 p.m. for legislative business, with votes postponed until 6:30 p.m. On Tuesday, the 10th, the House will meet at 12:30 p.m. for morning hour and at 2 p.m. for legislative business. On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, the House will meet at 10 a.m. for legislative business.

We will consider several bills under suspension of the rules. The complete list of suspension bills will be announced by the close of business on Friday.

We also expect to consider S. 22, the Omnibus Public Land Management Act of 2009; and in addition, pending Senate action on H.R. 1, the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act, we anticipate House action on that legislation.

Mr. WESTMORELAND. Mr. Speaker, reclaiming my time, as to the public lands omnibus bill, I want to note for the gentleman from Florida that the bill he has announced for next week, the public lands omnibus bill, is a bill that actually contains 130 separate bills, and it authorizes $10 billion in taxpayer spending. Given our current economy, I would propose that we engage in the same belt-tightening that so many Americans, our constituents, are having to do every day.

Next week, we’ll consider an almost $1 trillion stimulus and a $10 billion massive lands bill, and at some point in the near future, we’re going to have to understand that we are going to have to streamline the amount of spending that we’re doing.

I’d like to ask the gentleman, will there be a bill on the floor next week to offset at least some of the massive spending the Congress is considering?

And I’d yield to the gentleman for the response.

Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

As the gentleman knows, we’re very focused on fiscal discipline, and we’re very concerned about our ever-increasing deficit. Now, we look forward to working with Chairman SPRATT and our new President on a budget that’s going to reduce spending and bring down our deficit, and we look forward to working with the gentleman and his colleagues on fiscal issues in the future.

As you well know, among other things, our goal continues to be to find a balance for the need for action during an economic crisis with our desire to go through the legislative process.

I could go at length with my good friend regarding how we got where we are, but in anticipation of the need to continue the rest of the business of the day, I’ll leave it at that.

Mr. WESTMORELAND. Thank you. As you well know, among other things, our goal continues to be to find a balance for the need for action during an economic crisis with our desire to go through the legislative process.

And in particular, the history that you’re talking about the past administration and the past Congresses, let me just remind my friend that we’re spending about $100 million a minute in this Congress, and so I’m glad to hear that the gentleman from Florida, my friend, is aware of the amount of money and the amount of deficit and the amount of debt that we’re piled up with.

And I’d like to remind the gentleman, also, that just down the road we will be considering a $410 billion omnibus spending bill and likely another supplemental of the amount of work that was not done in the last Congress about coming up with these appropriation bills, and we’re having to do it in one bundle, and I think the American people certainly have a concern about that spending.

But let me focus on something that my friend from Florida said, and that was the bipartisanship here. And like our new President, your fellow Democrats in Congress and you have often spoken optimistically about bipartisanship and about including Republican ideas in the stimulus.

Well, I’d like to remind my friend that only 4 percent of Republican ideas were even considered on the floor of this House, the people’s House, a house for open debate about especially of the importance of the type of spending that we’ve been doing. And of the few Republican amendments adopted in committee, the majority of those were either dropped or altered before the bill ever got to the floor, and to me, that’s not acting in a spirit of bipartisanship.

And worse yet, the Speaker is yet to meet with the Republicans to hear our ideas. President Obama has had about three meetings with our leadership and like to tell you, the Speaker of the body, the body we’re a part of, has not even met with Republicans yet to get some ideas.

So you’ve announced that we’re moving to convening time next week from Tuesday to Monday and this will ensure that negotiations on a $1 trillion spending bill occurs while most Members are not even going to be in town.

I’d like to ask the gentleman, what opportunities will Republicans be given next week or anytime in the future, but especially next week, to increase tax relief in the bill and cut wasteful spending before the stimulus is voted on again? And I’d yield to my friend from Florida to answer.

Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. I thank the gentleman for yielding. You have raised two issues at least that give me an opportunity to express the views of the leadership.

As I said before, our goals continue to be to find a balance between the need for action while we have this economic crisis and our desire to go through the legislative process.

The leadership has urged our colleagues in the other body to complete action on the recovery bill in a timely fashion, even if it means they have to work through the weekend.

In addition, we’ve scheduled an additional day, as you point to, of legislative business next week so we can begin the process of conferencing with the Senate.

Also, I would remind the gentleman that the Appropriations, Ways and Means, and Energy and Commerce Committees all held full markups.

And the gentleman, during our last colloquy, the Rules Committee, as I’m sure the gentleman knows that I’m privileged and honored to serve on, waived PAYGO points of order and made a Republican substitute in order. In addition, Chairwoman SLAUGHTER of the Rules Committee put out a call for amendments.

Speaking of bipartisanship, there was an evenly balanced number, at least 6–5. There were six Democratic amendments made in order, four Republican amendments, but especially next week, to increase tax relief in the bill in a timely fashion.
the gentleman correctly—and I will yield for an answer—only four of those were worth having a vote on the floor.
Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. No. Thank you for yielding. As I indicated to you, there were substantial mark-ups. For example, the Appropriations Committee met for over 8 hours, and Republicans as well as Democrats had an opportunity to offer their amendments.
You understand and your colleagues understand the process, and I can make this anecdotal and personal. My amendment was not made in order, and I serve on the Rules Committee. I would hope that the gentleman would understand the dynamics of the process.
Mr. WESTMORELAND. Reclaiming my time, and I certainly do understand that and the rules process that y'all so patiently sit in. But I also understand the con-comprising process and the fact that the American people expect us to go through, and these bills did go through Ways and Means and I know the Energy and Commerce.
But let me tell you, that in the Energy and Commerce Committee there were several amendments voted on in Energy and Commerce that were Republican amendments that passed and that the amendments were stripped out of the bill before it ever got to the Rules Committee before it ever got to the floor.
And I'd love to yield to the gentleman to see if he has some type of recollection that that did happen and to find out how these things got taken out of a bill that was passed through that committee.
Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. If the gentleman will yield, I am certainly not aware of that, and I speak constantly with the majority leader in that committee. It would not be the case if we had this colloquy again we can do that.
And let me say that I'd like to tell the gentleman, that where the President has set an example, the congressional Democrats have not really followed that as far as acting bipartisan.
And one last question that I'd yield to the gentleman for an answer is you mentioned that there would be a conference. It comes back to the Senate this weekend perhaps. I don't know if the other body's going to work this weekend or not, but let's say they do and there's a conference that's set up for Monday in H.R. 1. Are there going to be any Republicans included in that conference committee?
Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. As is altways the case, first, coming from the other body, as you well know, they're in the process now of dealing with a substantial number of amendments that are being offered by Republicans and Democrats. I can't speak to the conferencing numbers and to its breakdown as it were.
What I do know is that a conference is going to be scheduled, and on yesterday I personally visited Members of the Senate, and I have it on good information that they are going to work through a substantial portion of the weekend, and I suspect that those committees that are the committees of germane jurisdiction will contemplate the ideas of Republicans and Democrats in the conference.
Mr. WESTMORELAND. Well, reclaiming my time, could the gentleman just tell me if there are Republican on the conference committee?
Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. I cannot speak for those that are the Chairs and/or the appointment of members of the conference committee.
Mr. WESTMORELAND. Well, reclaiming my time, I hope that our leadership in this House would work in a bipartisan manner, and even though we've been shut out of the process so far, if there is a conference committee, that we would at least be included.
And with that, Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman from Florida.

HOUR OF MEETING ON TUESDAY
FEBRUARY 10, 2009
Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that when the House adjourns on Monday next, it adjourn to meet at 12:30 p.m. on Tuesday, February 10, for morning-hour debate.
The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. SHIMkus) directed the clerk to make the appropriate entry in the Journal.
The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. SHIMkus) announced the passage of H.R. 1.

MOURNING THE LOSS OF RAYMOND M. FITZGERALD
(Mrs. BIGGERT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute)

Mr. Speaker, I insert into the RECORD the Chicago Tribune article about Ray's life.

[From the Chicago Tribune, Jan. 26, 2009]

Raymond M. Fitzgerald, 1971-2009:
Navistar Legend
(By Joan Giangrasse Kates)

You could take a South Sider and move him to Washington, but in the case of Raymond M. Fitzgerald, you couldn't take the South Side out of the Illinois rep. John Shimkus (R-IL), who quickly took note of the quintessential South Sider's authenticity and unflappability.

"From the start, Ray was as honest and straightforward as they come," said Shimkus, from Downstate Collinsville. "He never lost his cool, and in our business, people respect that."

For four years, Mr. Fitzgerald worked in the Warrenville offices of commercial trucks and engines giant Navistar Inc., using his vast knowledge in the field of energy issues and technologies and making frequent trips to Washington.

Mr. Fitzgerald, 37, of Naperville, a former director of legislative affairs and government relations for Navistar, died Wednesday, Jan. 21, in Northwestern Memorial Hospital in Chicago, after a nine-month battle with stomach cancer.

"He had the respect of so many in Washington," said Tom Touhy, Navistar's director of corporate communications. "He knew a great deal about energy, and he knew his way around policymaking."

But maybe Mr. Fitzgerald's biggest coup in Washington wasn't getting legislation, but scoring a visit to the White House when his beloved White Sox met President George Bush after winning the 2005 World Series.

"He was all smiles that day standing there next to his team," said longtime friend Paul Doucette.

Born in Evergreen Park and raised on the South Side, Mr. Fitzgerald was a graduate of Brother Rice High School in Chicago. He received a bachelor's degree in economics and political science from Northern Illinois University.

In 2001, Mr. Fitzgerald married his wife, Kristin. He moved with his family to Naperville in 2005 after accepting a job with Navistar.

In addition to his wife, other survivors include three daughters, Nora, Maggie and Lucy; his mother, Kaye; and five sisters, Colleen Zientek, Mary O'Donnell, Debbie Noll, Linda Trinley and Maureen Harkala.

Mass will be held at 10 a.m. Monday in St. Thomas More Catholic Church, 2625 W. 81st St., Chicago.

Mr. Speaker, finally I'd like to offer my sincerest sympathies to Ray Fitzgerald's family, especially his wife, Kristin; his three daughters, Nora, Maggie and Lucy; his mother, Kaye; and five loving sisters who grew up with him in Chicago's south side. They will all remain in our thoughts and prayers.
Mr. Poe of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.

Mr. Poe of Texas, Mr. Speaker, not only are taxpayers bailing out Wall Street, but the robber barons are repaying the American people by giving away jobs to foreign workers.

That’s right. Forget stimulating the economy by offering jobs to the taxpayers. It is reported by the Associated Press that the banks that received the largest amount of bailout money, more than $1 trillion, requested over 20,000 visas for foreign workers over the last few years.

As economic times have gotten worse, they requested even more visas. Last year, the same bleak economic period in which the “Big Banking Boys Gang” begged for a government handout, their foreign visa requests increased more than a third over the previous year.

And just to be clear, these jobs were not for the so-called jobs Americans won’t do. Quite the opposite. They were for corporate lawyers, senior vice presidents, and analysts. The average annual salary for these American jobs given to foreigners was over $90,000.

Mr. Speaker, the American taxpayers are being played as fools. First, The Wall Street fat cats took the people’s money, and now they’re taking their jobs.

And that’s just the way it is.

THE STIMULUS PLAN

Ms. Jenkins asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.

Ms. Jenkins, Mr. Speaker, the folks in Kansas are struggling right now, and they are hoping Congress can provide some relief. Instead, this body introduced and passed a bill, spending nearly $1 trillion, disguised as a stimulus package, without a single Republican vote in favor of it.

By large majorities, I am hearing from Kansans that while they are eager for action to stimulate the economy, they do not support the bill the House passed last week. They also express continued frustration with the partisan rule in Washington, as opposed to a balanced bipartisan approach to good government.

When discussion about this package began, it was all about infrastructure investment and job creation. But somewhere along the way, the Speaker and the majority have lost sight of that and instead decided to craft a massive pork-laden bill.

The Speaker’s bill spends almost as much as Congress has appropriated for all war-related programs since 2001. And now we hear that the Senate wants to spend even more. This bill will take resources from the private sector, creating more government, not more jobs. In the long-run, this extreme expense of Federal spending will burden our children.

This bill will take resources from the private sector, creating more government not more jobs. In the long run, this extreme level of federal spending will burden our children. That’s not an economic stimulus. That’s a crime.

What’s more, many of the programs funded in this bill may have merit but they will not stimulate our economy. Before any program was included, two questions should have been asked. (1) Will this help the economy? And (2) Will it create jobs? If the answers were NO, then it should have been saved for another day.

The House Republicans had an alternative recovery package that, according to President Obama’s economic advisors, cost less and created more jobs. It would have allowed fast-acting tax relief for working families and small businesses.

Immediate tax relief would allow Kansans to keep more of their paychecks to use however they want. My constituents in Kansas know better than Washington politicians and bureaucrats how to use their money to stimulate our economy.

A real stimulus needs to have a balance of tax relief and targeted investment in our crumbling roads and bridges. The majority party forced through a bill full of wasteful and irresponsible government spending, and it needs to be fixed.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The Speaker pro tempore. The Chair will entertain Special Order proceedings—without prejudice to the resumption of further legislative business.

SPECIAL ORDERS

The Speaker pro tempore. Under the Speaker’s announced policy of January 6, 2009, and under a previous order of the House, the following Members will be recognized for 5 minutes each.

PUBLICATION OF THE RULES OF THE COMMITTEE ON SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY 111TH CONGRESS

The Speaker pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. Gordon) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. Gordon of Tennessee. Mr. Speaker, pursuant to House Rule XI(2)(a)(2) I hereby submit to the House the Rules of the Committee on Science and Technology for the 111th Congress as adopted by the Committee on January 28, 2009.

RULES FOR THE COMMITTEE ON SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY, U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, 111TH CONGRESS

RULE 1.—GENERAL PROVISIONS

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Rules of the House of Representatives, as applicable, shall govern the Committee and its Subcommittees, except that a motion to recess from day to day and a motion to dispense with the first reading (in full) of a bill or resolution, if printed copies are available, are privileged motions in the Committee and its Subcommittees and shall be decided without debate. (House Rule XI 1(a))

(b) SUBCOMMITTEES.—The rules of the Committee, as applicable, shall be the rules of its Subcommittees. (House Rule XI 1(a))

(c) VICE CHAIR.—A Vice Chairman of the majority party on the Committee or Subcommittee shall be designated by the Chair of the Committee as the Vice Chair of the Committee or Subcommittee, as the case may be, and shall preside during the absence of the Chair from any meeting. If the Chair and Vice Chair of the Committee or Subcommittee are not present at a meeting of the Committee or Subcommittee, the Ranking Majority Member who is present shall preside at that meeting. (House Rule XI 2(d))

(d) ORDER OF BUSINESS.—The order of business, procedure and the subjects of inquiries or investigations will be decided by the Chair, subject always to an appeal to the Committee. (House Rule XI 2(e))

(e) USE OF HEARING ROOMS.—In consultation with the Ranking Minority Member, the Chair of the Committee shall establish guidelines for the use of Committee hearing rooms. (House Rule XI 2(f))

(f) NATIONAL SECURITY INFORMATION.—All national security information bearing a classification of secret or higher which has been received by the Committee or a Subcommittee shall be deemed to have been received in Executive Session and shall be given appropriate safekeeping. The Chair of the Committee may establish such regulations and procedures as in the Chair’s judgment are necessary to safeguard classified information under the control of the Committee. Such procedures shall, however, ensure access to this information by any Member of the Committee or any other Member of the House of Representatives who has requested the opportunity to review such material.

(g) AVAILABILITY OF PUBLICATIONS.—To the maximum extent feasible, the Committee shall make its publications available in electronic form, including on the Committee website. (House Rule XI 2(g))

(h) COMMITTEE WEBSITE.—The Chair of the Committee shall maintain an official Committee website for the purpose of furthering the business and procedure of the Committee and its Subcommittees, including communicating information about the Committee’s activities to Committee Members and other Members of the House. The Ranking Minority Member of the Committee may maintain a similar website for the same purpose, including communicating information about the activities of the minority to Committee Members and other Members of the House. (House Rule XI 2(h))

(i) MOTION TO GO TO CONFERENCE.—The Chair is directed to offer a motion under clause 1 of Rule XXI of the House whenever the Chair considers it appropriate. (House Rule XI 2(i))

(j) CONFERENCE COMMITTEES.—Recommendations of conferees to the Speaker shall provide a ratio of majority party Members to minority party Members which shall be no less favorable to the majority party than the ratio of the Committee.

(k) OTHER PROCEDURES.—The Chair of the Committee, after consultation with the Ranking Minority Member of the Committee, may establish other procedures and take such actions as may be necessary to carry out these rules or to facilitate the effective operation of the Committee. (House Rule XI 2(j))

RULE 2.—REGULAR, SPECIAL, AND SPECIAL RULE 2.—REGULAR, SPECIAL, AND SPECIAL MEETINGS

(a) REGULAR MEETINGS.—Unless dispensed with by the Chair of the Committee, the meetings of the Committee shall be held on the second (2nd) and fourth (4th) Wednesdays of each month the House is in session at 10:00 a.m. [House Rule XI 2(b)]

(b) ADDRESSING THE COMMITTEE.—The Chair of the Committee may call and convene, as the Chair considers necessary, additional meetings of the Committee for the consideration of any bill or resolution pending before the Committee or for the conduct of other Committee business. The Committee shall meet at such time and place which the Chair of the Committee shall designate. [House Rule XI (2)(c)(1)]

(c) SPECIAL MEETINGS.—Rule XI 2(c) of the Rules of the House of Representatives is hereby incorporated by reference. [House Rule XI 2(c)(2)]

RULE 3.—MEETINGS AND HEARINGS GENERALLY

(a) OPENING STATEMENTS.—Insofar as is practicable, the Chair, after consultation with the Ranking Minority Member, shall limit the total time of opening statements by Members to no more than 10 minutes, the time to be divided equally between the Chair and Ranking Minority Member.

(b) ADDRESSING THE COMMITTEE.—The time any one (1) Member may address the Committee, not to exceed 10 minutes, shall be under consideration by the Committee or the time allowed for the questioning of a witness at hearings before the Committee, to the Chair and the Minority Leader of the Committee, and then only when the Member has been recognized by the Chair, except that this time limit may be waived by the Chair. [House Rule XI 2(g)]

(c) REQUESTS FOR WRITTEN MOTIONS.—Any motion made at a meeting of the Committee and which is entertained by the Chair of the Committee or the Subcommittee shall be open to the public, including to radio, television, and still photography, unless prohibited by clause 2(g) of rule XI of the Rules of the House of Representatives. [House Rule XI 2(g)]

(d) OPEN MEETINGS AND HEARINGS.—Each meeting for the transaction of business, including the markup of legislation, and each hearing of the Committee or a Subcommittee shall be open to the public, including to radio, television, and still photography, unless prohibited by rule XI 4(f)(2) of the Rules of the House of Representatives. [House Rule XI 4(f)(2)]

(e) AUDIO AND VISUAL COVERAGE.—(1) Whenever a hearing or meeting conducted by the Committee is open to the public, these proceedings shall be open to coverage by audio and visual means, as provided in Rule XI 4(f)(2) of the Rules of the House of Representatives. The Chair of the Committee or Subcommittees may not limit the number of television, or still cameras to fewer than two (2) representatives from each medium (except for legitimate space or safety considerations, in which case pool coverage is limited to two representatives from each medium).

(2) Radio and television tapes, television films, and Internet recordings of any Committee or Subcommittee meetings that are open to the public may not be used, or made available for use, as partisan political campaign material to promote or oppose the candidacy of any person for elective public office.

(3) It is, further, the intent of this rule that the general conduct of each meeting or hearing conducted under authority of this rule by audio and visual media, and the personal behavior of the Committee Members and staff, other government officials and personnel, witnesses, television, radio, and press media, shall be under consideration by the Committee Members and staff, other government officials and personnel, witnesses, television, radio, and press media, at all times.

(4) The personal conduct of the meeting or hearing, shall be in strict conformity with and observance of the acceptable standards of dignity, propriety, courtesy, and decorum traditionally observed by the House in its operations, and may not be such as to:

(A) distort the objects and purposes of the meeting or hearing or the activities of Committee Members in connection with that meeting or hearing or in connection with the general work of the Committee or of the House; or

(B) cast discredit or dishonor on the House, the Committee, or the Committee's designee, the Resident Commissioner or bring the House, the Committee, or a Member, Delegate, or Resident Commissioner into disrepute.

(5) The following shall apply to coverage of Committee meetings or hearings by audio or visual means:

(A) If audio or visual coverage of the hearing or meeting is to be presented to the public as live coverage, that coverage shall be conducted and presented without commercial sponsorship.

(B) The allocation among the television media of the positions or the number of television cameras permitted by a Committee or Subcommittee Chair in a hearing or meeting room shall be in accordance with fair and equitable procedures devised by the Executive Committee of the Radio and Television Correspondents' Galleries.

(C) Television cameras shall be placed so as not to obstruct the space between a witness giving evidence or testimony and any member of the Committee or the visibility of that witness and that member to each other.

(D) Television cameras shall operate from fixed positions but may not be placed in positions that obstruct unnecessarily the coverage of the hearing or meeting by the other media.

(E) Equipment necessary for coverage by the television and radio media may not be installed, or removed from, the hearing or meeting room while the Committee is in session.

(F) (i) Except as provided in subdivision (ii), floodlights, spotlights, strobe lights, and flashguns may not be used in providing any method of coverage of the hearing or meeting.

(ii) The television media may install additional lighting in a hearing or meeting room, without cost to the Government, in order to raise the ambient lighting level in a hearing or meeting room to the lowest level necessary to provide adequate television coverage of a hearing or meeting at the current state of the art of television coverage.

(G) In the allocation of the number of still photographers permitted by a Committee or Subcommittee, the preference will be given to photographers from Associated Press Photos and United Press International Newspictures. If requests are made by more of the media than will be permitted by a Committee or Subcommittee Chair for coverage of a hearing or meeting by still photography, that coverage shall be provided on the basis of a fair and equitable pool arrangement devised by the Standing Committee of Press Photographers.

(H) Photographers may not position themselves between the witness table and the members of the Committee at any time during the course of a hearing or meeting.

(I) Photographers may not place themselves in a position which unreasonably obstructs the hearing of the witness from the other media.

(J) Personal providing coverage by the television and radio media shall be currently accredited to the Radio and Television Correspondents' Galleries.

(K) Personal providing coverage by still photography shall be currently accredited to the Press Photographers' Gallery.

(L) Personnel providing coverage by the television and radio media and by still photography shall conduct themselves and their coverage activities in an orderly and unobtrusive manner.

RULE 4.—CONSIDERATION OF MEASURE OR MATTER

(a) IN GENERAL.—Bills and other substantive matters may be taken up for consideration only when called by the Chair of the Committee or by a majority vote of a quorum of the Committee, except those matters which are the subjects of special call meetings outlined in Rule 2(c).

(b) NOTICE.—(1) It shall not be in order for the Committee to consider any original measure or matter unless written notice of the date, place, and subject matter of consideration and, to the maximum extent practicable, the written text of the measure or matter to be considered and, to the maximum extent practicable, the original text of the measure or matter that have been made available to each Member of the Committee for at least 24 hours in advance of consideration, excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays.

(2) Notwithstanding paragraph (1), consideration of any legislative measure or matter by the Committee shall be in order by vote of two-thirds of the Members present, provided that a majority of the Committee is present.

(c) SUBMISSION OF AMENDMENTS.—To the maximum extent practicable, amendments to a measure or matter shall be submitted in writing to the Clerk of the Committee at least 24 hours prior to the consideration of the measure or matter.

(d) SUSPENDED PROCEEDINGS.—During the consideration of any measure or matter, the Chair of the Committee, or of any Subcommittee, may recess the Committee or Subcommittee, as the case may be, at any point. Additionally, during the consideration of any measure or matter or any Subcommittee at any time when there is a vote by electronic device occurring in the House of Representatives. Suspension of proceedings after a recess taken on the question of approving a measure or matter or on adopting an amendment shall be conducted in compliance with the provisions of Rule 11(d).

(e) INVESTIGATIVE OR OVERSIGHT REPORTS.—A proposed investigative or oversight report shall be considered as read in Committee if it has been made available to the Members for at least 24 hours (excluding Saturdays, Sundays, or legal holidays except when the House is in session on such a day).

(f) GERMANNESNESS.—The rules of germaneness shall be enforced by the Chair of the Committee or Subcommittee, as the case may be.

RULE 5.—POWER TO SIT AND ACT; SUBPOENA POWER

(a) IN GENERAL.—(1) A subpoena may be issued and authorized by the Chair of the Committee, or of any Subcommittee, to any witness, for the purpose of investigating or obtaining discipline of contempt, any material to promote or oppose the candidacy of any person for elective public office.

(2) Notwithstanding paragraph (2), a subpoena may be issued and authorized by the Chair of the Committee, or of any Subcommittee, to any witness, for the purpose of obtaining discipline of contempt, any material to promote or oppose the candidacy of any person for elective public office.
(2) The Chair of the Committee, after consultation with the Ranking Minority Member of the Committee, or, if the Ranking Member cannot be reached, the Ranking Minority Member's designee, shall, or, if the relevant Subcommittee, may authorize and issue such subpoenas as described in paragraph (1) during any period in which the House has adjourned for more than seven (7) days. [House Rule XI 2(m)(3)(A)]

(3) A subpoena duces tecum may specify terms of return other than at a hearing, at a committee meeting, or at a committee hearing. [House Rule XI 2(m)(3)(B)]

(b) SENSITIVE OR CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION.—Information received by the Committee or Subcommittee pursuant to a subpoena not made part of the record at an open hearing shall be deemed to have been received in Executive Session when the Chair of the Committee, in the Chair's judgment and after consultation with the Ranking Minority Member of the Committee, deems that in view of all the circumstances, such as the sensitivity of the information or the confidentiality of the information, such action is appropriate.

RULE 6.—QUORUMS AND VOTING

(a) QUORUMS.—

(1) One-third (1/3) of the Members of the Committee, or the Chair, or the Ranking Minority Member of the Committee, shall constitute a quorum for the purpose of taking a quorum and receiving evidence, which, unless waived by the Chair of the Committee after consultation with the Ranking Minority Member of the Committee, shall include at least one (1) Member from each of the majority and minority parties. [House Rule XI 2(h)(1)]

(2) VOTING BY PROXY.—No Member may authorize a vote by proxy with respect to any measure or matter before the Committee. [House Rule XI 2(h)(2)]

(c) REQUESTS FOR RECORD VOTE AT COMMITTEE.—A record vote of the Members may be had at the request of three (3) or more Members or, in the apparent absence of a quorum, by any one (1) Member.

(d) POSTPONEMENT OF PROCEEDINGS.—The Chair of the Committee, or of any Subcommittee, is authorized to postpone further proceedings when a record vote is ordered on the question of approving a measure or matter or on adopting an amendment, and to resume proceedings on a postponed question at any time after reasonable notice. Upon resuming proceedings on a postponed question, notwithstanding any intervening proceedings of the Committee or any underlying proposition shall remain subject to further debate or amendment to the same extent as when the question was postponed. [House Rule XI 2(g)(4)]

RULE 7.—HEARING PROCEDURES

(a) ANNOUNCEMENT OF HEARING.—The Chair shall make a public announcement of the date, time, place, and subject matter of a hearing, and to the extent practicable, a list of witnesses at least one (1) week before the commencement of the hearing. If the Chair, with the concurrence of the Ranking Minority Member, determines that it would cause to begin the hearing sooner, or if the Committee so determines by majority vote, a quorum being present for the transaction of business, the Chair shall make the announcement at the earliest possible date. Any announcement made under this Rule shall be made orally, by roll call, electronically, or in a fundamental manner, and promptly made available in electronic form, including on the Committee website. [House Rule XI 2(g)(3)]

(b) WITNESS STATEMENT: TESTIMONY.—

(1) In so far as is practicable, no later than 48 hours in advance of his or her appearance, each witness who is to appear before the Committee shall file in printed copy and in electronic form a written statement of his or her proposed testimony, and a curriculum vitae. [House Rule XI 2(g)(4)]

(2) To the greatest extent practicable, each witness appearing before the Committee shall include in his or her statement of proposed testimony a disclosure of any financial interests which are relevant to the subject of his or her testimony. These include, but are not limited to, public and private research grants, stock or stock options held in publicly traded and privately owned companies, government contracts with the witness or with a person or entity and any form of payment from any relevant entity. The source and amount of the financial interest should be included in this disclosure. [House Rule XI 2(g)(4)]

(e) ADDITIONAL QUESTIONS FOR THE RECORD.—Members of the Committee have additional views that have been submitted to the Committee shall have two (2) subsequent calendar days after the day of such notice (excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays) in which to file such views, in writing and signed by that Member, with the Clerk of the Committee. No supplemental, minority, or additional views, shall be accepted for inclusion in the report if submitted after two (2) subsequent calendar days have elapsed unless the Chair of the Committee or Subcommittee, as appropriate, extend the time for submission of views, in which case the Chair shall communicate such fact, including the revised day and hour for submission of views, to the Members of the Committee without delay. All such views so filed by one (1) or more Members of the Committee shall be included within, and as a part of, the report of the Committee with respect to the measure or matter. [House Rule XI 2(i)]

(d) EXTENDED QUESTIONING OF WITNESSES BY MEMBERS.—Notwithstanding Rule 3(b), upon a motion, the Chair, in consultation with the Ranking Minority Member, may designate an equal number of Members from each party to question a witness for a period of time equally divided between the majority and minority party, not to exceed one (1) hour in the aggregate or, upon a motion, may designate staff from each party to question a witness for a period of time equally divided between the majority and minority party, not to exceed one (1) hour in the aggregate. [House Rule XI 2(k)(2)]

(e) ADDITIONAL QUESTIONS FOR THE RECORD.—The Committee have two (2) weeks from the date of the hearing to submit additional questions for the record to be answered by witnesses who have appeared in person, in writing, by teleconference or any other electronic form a written statement of his or her views, and any responses thereto shall be printed in the hearing record. [House Rule XI 2(k)(2)]

RULE 8.—PROCEDURES FOR REPORTING MEASURES OR MATTERS

(a) FILING OF REPORTS.—

(1) It shall be the duty of the Chair of the Committee to report or cause to be reported promptly to the House any measure approved by the Committee and to take or cause to be taken the necessary steps to bring the matter to a vote. To the maximum extent practicable, the written report of the Committee on such measures shall be made available to the Committee membership for review at least 24 hours in advance of filing. [House Rule XI 2(k)(1)]

(2) The report of the Committee on a measure which has been approved by the Committee shall be filed within seven (7) calendar days (exclusive of days on which the House is not in session) after the date on which there has been filed with the Clerk of the House a written request signed by the majority of the Members of the Committee, for the reporting of that measure. Upon the filing of any such request, the Chair of the Committee shall transmit immediately to the Chair of the Committee notice of the filing of that request. [House Rule XIII 2(b)(2)]

(b) SUPPLEMENTAL, MINORITY, OR ADDITIONAL VIEWS.—If, at the time of approval of any measure or matter by the Committee, any Member of the Committee gives notice of intention to file supplemental, minority, or additional views, the Chair shall have two (2) subsequent calendar days after the day of such notice, in which to file such views, in writing and signed by that Member, with the Clerk of the Committee. No supplemental, minority, or additional views, shall be accepted for inclusion in the report if submitted after two (2) subsequent calendar days have elapsed unless the Chair of the Committee or Subcommittee, as appropriate, extend the time for submission of views, in which case the Chair shall communicate such fact, including the revised day and hour for submission of views, to the Members of the Committee without delay. All such views so filed by one (1) or more Members of the Committee shall be included within, and as a part of, the report of the Committee with respect to the measure or matter. [House Rule XI 2(l)]

(c) CONTENTS OF REPORT.—

(1) The report of the Committee on a measure or matter shall be printed in a single volume that shall—

(A) Include all supplemental, minority, or additional views that have been submitted by the time of the filing of the report on that measure or matter; and

(B) bear on its cover a rectal that any supplemental, minority, or additional views (and any material submitted under rule 8(c)(3)(A)) are included as part of the report.

(2) The report of the Committee on a measure which has been approved by the Committee shall include the following, to be printed as part of the report:

(A) The oversight findings and recommendations required pursuant to Rule XIX 3(c)(1)(B) of the Rules of the House of Representatives, separately set out and identified. [House Rule XII 3(c)(1)(B)]

(B) The statement required by section 308(a) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, separately set out and identified, if the measure provides new budget authority or new or increased tax expenditures as specified in House Rule XIII 3(c)(2); [House Rule XIII 3(c)(2)]

(C) with respect to reports on a bill or joint resolution for which a public hearing, or a "Constitutional Authority Statement" citing the specific powers granted to Congress by the Constitution pursuant to which the bill or joint resolution is proposed to be enacted. [House Rule XIII 3(d)(1)]

(D) With respect to each recorded vote on a motion to report any measure or matter of a public character, and with respect to any measure or matter to which a supplemental, minority, or additional view of a Member has been filed, the number of votes cast for and against, and the names of those Members voting for and against, shall be included in the Committee report on the measure or matter;

(E) The estimate and comparison prepared by the Committee under Rule XII, clause
(3)(d)(2) of the Rules of the House of Representatives, unless the estimate and comparison prepared by the Director of the Congressional Budget Office prepared under sub-paragraph (b) of this Rule has been timely submitted prior to the filing of the report and included in the report; [House Rule XIII
3(d)(2)]

F. In the case of a bill or joint resolution which repeals or amends any statute or part thereof, the text of the statute or part thereof which is proposed to be repealed, and a comparison of that part of the bill or joint resolution making the amendment and of the statute or part thereof proposed to be amended; [House Rule XIII 3(e)]

G. If the markup of the measure or matter unless waived under Rule 12(a); and

H. A statement of general performance goals and objectives, including outcome-related goals and objectives, for which the measure authorizes funding. [House Rule XIII 3(e)(4)]

(4) The report of the Committee on a measure which has been approved by the Committee shall further include the following, to be provided by sources other than the Comm ittee:

(A) the estimate and comparison prepared by the Director of the Congressional Budget Office, and determined under the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, separately set out and identified, whenever the Director (if timely, and submitted prior to the filing of the report) has submitted such estimate and comparison of the Committee; [House Rule
XIII 3(c)(3)]

(B) if the Committee has not received prior to the filing of the report the material required under subparagraph (A) of this Rule, then it shall include a statement to that effect in the report on the measure.

(5) IMMEDIATE PRINTING; SUPPLE-MENTAL REPORTS.—This Rule does not preclude:

(1) the immediate filing or printing of a Committee report unless a timely request for the opportunity to file supplemental, minority, or additional views has been made as provided by this Rule; or

(2) the filing by the Committee of any supplemental report upon any measure or matter which may be required for the correction of any technical error in a previous report made by that Committee upon that measure or matter.

(e) PRIVATE BILLS.—No private bill will be reported by the Committee if there are two private bills so related that both are rejected by the Committee will not be reconsidered during the same Congress unless new evidence sufficient to justify a new hearing has been presented to the Comm ittee.

(f) REPORT LANGUAGE ON USE OF FED-ERAL RESOURCES.—No legislative report filed by the Committee on any measure or matter reported by the Committee shall contain language which has the effect of specifying the use of federal resources more explicitly or exclusively than that specified in the measure or matter as ordered reported, unless such language has been approved by the Committee during a meeting or otherwise in writing by a majority of the Members.

RULE 9.—OTHER COMMITTEE PUBLICA-TIONS

(a) HOUSE REPORTS.—Any document published by the Committee as a House Report, on a measure which has been approved by the Committee, shall be approved by the Committee at a meeting, and Members shall have an opportunity to submit views as provided for in Rule 9(b).

(b) OTHER DOCUMENTS.—

(1) Subject to paragraph (2) and (3), the Chair of the Committee may approve the publication of any document as a Committee print which in the Chair's discretion the Chair determines to be useful for the information of the Committee.

(2) Any document to be published as a Committee print which purports to express recommendations of the Committee or any of its Subcommittees, other than a report of the Committee on a measure which has been amended by the Committee, must be approved by the Committee or its Subcommittees, as applicable, in a meeting or otherwise in writing by a majority of the Members, and except such Members shall have the right to submit such views, minority, or additional views for inclusion in the print within at least 48 hours after such approval.

(3) Any document to be published as a Committee print, other than a document described in subsection (2) of this Rule, shall—
(A) include on its cover the following statement: “This document has been printed for informational purposes only and does not represent either findings or recommendations adopted by this Committee;” and
(B) not be printed following the sine die adjournment of Congress, unless approved by the Chair of the Committee after consultation with the Ranking Majority Member of the Committee.

(c) JOINT INVESTIGATION OR STUDY.—
A report of an investigation or study conducted by the Committee and one or more other Committee(s) may be filed jointly, provided that each of the Committees complies independently with all require-

(b) Review of Multi-Year Appropriations.—The Committee shall, with respect to any program from time to time, each continuing program within its jurisdiction for which appropriations are not made annually in order to ascertain whether such programs could be made annually and whether aggregations therefore would be made annually.
STIMULATE THE ECONOMY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. Burton) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. POE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, we’ve heard a lot about stimulating the economy. We’ve passed bills to stimulate the economy. The Senate is doing the same thing. It’s all in the effort to get us out of this economic slump that we are going to supposedly pass legislation of $800 billion to move America forward to stimulate the economy, to help the pro-growth.

But if you look at this massive bill a little closer, I would like to ask this question: There are some programs in this bill—just a few that I've picked out; there are a lot more—that I question whether or not these will stimulate the economy. By Congress taking taxpayer money and giving it to certain entities, does it stimulate the economy or is it just more pork? Is it just more favoritism to certain entities?

In the new Stimulation Economy Act, there's $4 billion that goes to neighborhood stabilization activities. What is that? That's the community group ACORN. You know ACORN? That's the one being investigated for voter fraud in several States, yet to be prosecuted, of course, but money to give to these organizations. How does that stimulate the economy? I don't know.

Three billion dollars goes to wellness programs; how we can take care of ourselves better. Does that stimulate the economy? Maybe not.

One billion dollars for census follow-up. That means is after the census is taken, then a billion dollars is given to follow up on that.

Eight hundred million dollars goes to Amtrak. You know. Amtrak loses money every year. We have to give them money of the taxpayers to fund this subsidy.

Four hundred million dollars for climate change research. Now, I'm sure we all think we ought to study the climate and global warming and that sort of thing. But does that stimulate the economy to give $400 million to certain special interest groups to study climate change?

Six billion dollars to colleges. No question about it. Universities and colleges need money. But shouldn't a bill that appropriates money to the universities go in appropriations bill rather than a bill that stimulates the economy?

Six hundred million dollars is going for new cars for government workers—not the average taxpayer but just government workers.

Fifty million dollars goes to the National Endowment of the Arts. Don't see how that's going to stimulate our economy.

I like this one a lot: $250 million for tax breaks for Hollywood movie producers so they can buy more film. Now, I don't know that those people in Hollywood need taxpayer money, but they're going to get it. And how that stimulates the economy, we'll let the taxpayers decide.

The Coast Guard is getting a new ice breaker, $88 million. Stimulate the economy? Maybe not.

Homeland Security is getting new furniture but doesn't cost $250 million to certain special interest groups to study homeland security.

Even the $4 billion that goes to neighborhood stabilization activities. What is that? That's the community group ACORN. You know ACORN? That's the one being investigated for voter fraud in several States, yet to be prosecuted, of course, but money to give to these organizations. How does that stimulate the economy? I don't know.

Six billion dollars to colleges. No question about it. Universities and colleges need money. But shouldn't a bill that appropriates money to the universities go in appropriations bill rather than a bill that stimulates the economy?

Six hundred million dollars is going for new cars for government workers—not the average taxpayer but just government workers.

Fifty million dollars goes to the National Endowment of the Arts. Don't see how that's going to stimulate our economy.
And Mr. Speaker, as Mr. Mandela recognized, we have a responsibility to work to minimize the harm of poverty. Therefore, I join with my colleagues in recognizing January as Poverty in America Awareness Month and promise to continue to promote programs—no matter what else I do—that are designed to help eliminate and reduce poverty in America.

I thank you, Mr. Speaker.

ONE TEAM—ONE FIGHT—ONE NAME: THE DEPARTMENT OF THE NAVY AND MARINE CORPS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. JONES) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, thank you very much.

Mr. Speaker, last month I introduced H.R. 24, legislation to redesignate the Department of the Navy to be the Department of Navy and Marine Corps.

For the past 7 years, the language of this bill has been part of the House version of the National Defense Authorization Act, and I would like to thank the chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, DUNCAN HUNTER, the current chairman of the Armed Services Committee, IRE SKE LT ON, and all of the members of the committee for their support.

Every year, the full House of Representatives have supported this change. This year I hope the Senate will support the change and adopt the House position and join in bringing proper respect to the fighting team, the Navy and Marine Corps.

There is much I could say about the history of both great services, but the reason for this legislation always comes down to one issue—whenever a chief of Navy operations or commandant of the Marine Corps has come to testify before the Armed Services Committee, I've heard the Navy and the Marine Corps say, “We are one fighting team.” This is true, and I believe this. Then why should not the team be named “Navy and Marine Corps”?

Changing the name of the Department of the Navy to the Department of the Navy and Marine Corps is a symbolic gesture, but it is important to the team.

This legislation is not about changing the responsibilities of the Secretary of the Department, reallocating resources between the Navy and Marine Corps, or altering their mission. The Navy and Marine Corps have operated as one entity for more than 2 centuries, and H.R. 24 would enable the name of their department to illustrate this fight.

Over the years, I have been encouraged by the overwhelming support I have received for this change from many of the United States Armed Forces. I will quote one supporter of this change, the Honorable Wade Sanders, Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Reserve Affairs, from 1993 to 1998, who said, “As a combat veteran and former Naval officer, I understand the importance of the team dynamic, and the importance of recognizing the contributions of team components. The Navy and Marine Corps team is just that: a dynamic partnership, and it is important to symbolically recognize the balance of that partnership.”

Mr. Speaker, I would like to submit for the RECORD a list of others who have supported this effort to provide proper recognition for the Marine Corps. With their backing, I will continue to work diligently to see this bill through the House and wish for the Senate’s support. The Marines who are fighting today deserve this recognition.

Mr. Speaker, in closing, I would like to show what this change could mean to a family of a fallen Marine.

Mr. Speaker, first, this is a copy of a letter to a Marine family, a Marine captain who was killed for this Nation. The Secretary of the Navy sent this letter. We have removed the name respectfully, and it says, “The Secretary of the Navy.”

“On behalf of the Department of the Navy”—this is a proud team. “On behalf of the Department of the Navy,” the captain, Marine captain’s wife received this letter of condolences. And I do command the Secretary of the Navy for writing the letter of condolences.

But Mr. Speaker, if this bill should ever become the law of the land—ah! I hope that will be the year—that Marine family who gave a loved one for this country will receive the letter from the Department of Navy and Marine Corps and it will say in the heading, “Dear Marine Corps Family, on behalf of the Department of the Navy and Marine Corps, please accept my very sincere condolences.”

Mr. Speaker, this is what it should be: one Department of Navy and Marine Corps.

I hope, again, the House will send this to the Senate. I hope this year the Senate will accept the House position. It is the right thing to do for the team. God bless and God bless our men and women in uniform, and please, God, continue to bless America.

In the past eight years, the following have supported the change:

INDIVIDUALS
Secretary of the Navy Paul Nitze (1963–1967); Assistant Secretary of the Navy H. Lawrence Garrett, III (1989–1992); Acting Secretary of the Navy Daniel Howard (1992; Secretary of the Navy, 2000); General Carl Mundy, 39th Commandant of the Marine Corps; General Charles Krulak, 31st Commandant of the Marine Corps; Admiral James E. T. Townsend; Admiral James T. Carey (Chairman, National Defense PAC); Deputy Asst. Secretary of the Navy for Reserve Affairs Wade Sanders (1993–1998); James Zumwalt, Jr., (Son of the former CNO).

ASSOCIATIONS
Fleet Reserve Association; Marine Corps League; National Defense PAC; National Association of Uniformed Services; Veterans of Foreign Wars.

O UR BRAVE VETERANS NEED GOOD JOBS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. DeFazio) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. DeFazio addressed the House. His remarks will appear hereafter in the Extensions of Remarks.

As we know, President Obama has ordered his military commanders to draw up plans for the withdrawal of our forces. Many of them will be returning to civilian life. Making the transition from battlefield to the civilian workforce is always challenging. But, in these hard times, it’s going to be harder than ever.

Last March, the Veterans’ Affairs Department reported that returning veterans were having a harder time finding work than their civilian counterparts, and were earning less. That, Mr. Speaker, was before the economic crisis hit with full force.

We got another look at the problem in November, when the recruitment Web site, Monster.com, surveyed veterans about their experiences in the job market. It found that 81 percent of veterans don’t feel fully prepared to enter the workforce and, of that number, 76 percent said they were having trouble translating their military skills to the civilian world. In addition, hundreds of thousands of veterans are struggling with fiscal and mental problems, making it that much more difficult to get and to keep a job.

Mr. Speaker, veterans and their advocates have begun to report that some employers are ignoring the Federal law requiring them to give returning soldiers their jobs back—their jobs back, at the same pay. To make matters even worse, many military family members have taken time off from their own jobs or even left those jobs completely in order to take care of their injured loved ones.

I was proud to sponsor the bill in the last Congress that doubled the amount of time that a military family member could take off under the Family and Medical Leave Act. But it’s still unpaid leave, Mr. Speaker, and few Americans can afford that, particularly now. That is why we need to revisit the law and to amend it to provide paid leave under FMLA.
Mr. Speaker, there are many other things that we must do to help our brave veterans. Our new Veterans' Affairs Secretary, former General Eric Shinseki, has promised to make employment to veterans a top priority. He also wants to fast-track implementation of the new GI Bill, which will help more veterans to get the education they will need to succeed in the workforce.

I also know that my good friend, Hilda Solis, will make veterans' employment a priority when she becomes our new Secretary of Labor. She has seen firsthand the challenges that the servicemen and women face when they try to get jobs. I know that she will work to expand the Department of Labor's programs and job training and job search assistance for veterans.

Most importantly, Congress must move with a sense of urgency to pass an effective and far-reaching economic recovery package. The President's proposal is a good start, but it needs to do even more to create jobs for veterans, because veterans have a lot to offer employers. They are mature, they are skilled, hardworking, dedicated, respectful of authority, and they know how to be part of a team. And they have proven that they can do their job even under the toughest of circumstances.

All they need, Mr. Speaker, is a chance. They did their job in Iraq and Afghanistan; it's time for us to do our job and to send an economic recovery package to the President's desk that will give our veterans and their families the bright future that they deserve.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. Pence) is recognized for 5 minutes.

(Mr. Pence addressed the House. His remarks will appear hereafter in the Extensions of Remarks.)

BRING FEDERAL SPENDING UNDER CONTROL

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. Duncan) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. Duncan. Mr. Speaker, when a family is deeply head-over-heels in debt, it's tough to cut back and not even more so they can double or triple spending, even if it would help the economy. And that is exactly the situation our government is in regard to the so-called stimulus package, which we will take up again next week.

I voted against the big billion-dollar loan of our financial firms both times. But the majority voted for this, and raised our national debt limit to an astounding $11.315 trillion. No one can comprehend a figure like $11.315 trillion. However, even worse, the Government Accountability Office has told us that we have over $55 trillion in unfunded future pension liabilities.

If we don't bring Federal spending under control, we will soon not be able to pay all of our Social Security, veterans' pensions, and all the other things we have promised our own people with money that will buy anything. The Federal Government has become addicted to spending. The stimulus is a short-term fix that will cause even more serious problems in the very near future. Drug addicts prove every day that short-term fixes do not satisfy for very long.

When another Member of this body was asked a few days ago on MSNBC that, since our house was on fire, did we not need to pour water on it? He replied, Yes, but what we are doing with this stimulus package is like pouring kerosene on that fire.

The bill has some good things in it, but we simply cannot afford them. Probably the falsest charge made against those who oppose this stimulus is that we have to do something, and that if you vote against this, you're voting to do nothing.

First of all, we have, through the Treasury's sale of the Federal Reserve, taken hundreds of billions of dollars worth of action in just the last few months. Because we rushed into some of those moves, we have been finding out that some of that money has been simply ridiculous and in ways that justifiably angered the taxpayers.

One example, in fact, the Bank of America took $7 billion of the first $15 billion it received and increased its dividend.

Now we are rushing through this stimulus package, and the taxpayers will find out over the next few weeks or months some of the ridiculous or wasteful things this money will be spent on.

What we should do is give these hundreds of billions in actions already taken some time to work, coupled with some really effective stimulus moves, like a cut in payroll tax and a tax credit for people who buy or build homes or purchase cars or equipment.

Now, some of our leaders seem to be looking back in a dreamily but blind way to the New Deal. Most historians do not seem to realize this, but most economists realize that the New Deal delayed our recovery during the Depression.

In fact, in today's Washington Times, Mr. Beth Keizer, another Wall Street Journal economist, has signed a full page ad which says, "We, the undersigned, do not believe that more government spending is a way to improve economic performance. More government spending by Hoover and Roosevelt did not solve the United States economy out of the Great Depression in the 1930s. More government spending did not solve Japan's "lost decade" in the 1990s. As such, it is a triumph of hope over experience to believe that more government spending will help the U.S. today."

These economists continue, "To improve the economy, policymakers should focus on reforms that remove impediments to work, saving, investment and production. Lower tax rates and a reduction in the burden of government are the best ways of using fiscal policy to boost growth."

That is an ad signed by 203 leading university economists in today's Washington Times.

Unemployment—just speaking about that—unemployment averaged over 17 percent a year all through the 1930s, and even averaged 10 percent during World War II. The Nation did not really begin the return to prosperity until after World War II ended.

Those who do not believe this should read the 2003 book by Tim Pawlenty, called FDR's Folly—How Roosevelt and his New Deal Prolonged the Great Depression. Mr. Powell quotes David Kennedy, who wrote a Pulitzer Price-winning book in 1999, called Freedom From Fear, that the unemployment rate was high, but surely they were important. A combination of fixing farm prices, promoting labor unions, and passing a series of antibusiness tax laws would certainly have had a negative impact on employment.

Economist Thomas Hall and J. David Ferguson reported, "It is difficult to ascertain just how much the New Deal programs had to do with keeping the unemployment rate as high as it was, but surely they were important. A combination of fixing farm prices, promoting labor unions, and passing a series of antibusiness tax laws would certainly have had a negative impact on employment."

Economist David Bernstein reported, "New Deal labor policies contributed to a persistent increase in African American unemployment."

Historian Michael Bernstein made a case that New Deal agriculture policies "sacrificed the interests of the marginal and the unrecognized to the welfare of those with greater political and economic power." Mr. Powell summed his book up by saying, "At the very least, the lesson for us is that if economic shocks are followed by sound policies, we can avoid another Great Depression. A government will best promote a speedy business recovery by making recovery the top priority, which means letting people keep more of their earnings, removing obstacles to productive enterprise, and providing stable money and a political climate where investors feel that it's safe to invest for the future."

WE CANNOT SUBSIDIZE OR BORROW OUR WAY TO GROWTH

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. Bocciere). Under a previous order of the House, the gentlewoman from Ohio (Ms. KAPTUR) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Ms. KAPTUR. Mr. Speaker, when is the group in charge of the U.S. economy here in Washington going to wake up and take notice our trade accounts are out of balance as our mortgage market?

Congress can’t keep tweaking consumer purchasing with stimulus checks and then crossing its fingers in hopes that by some miracle it will actually lift our economy. More borrowed money simply means more short-term palliatives.

Hardworking families in our country do not need a consolation prize. They demand a real solution. What they need is a workable path by which they can become part of a growing economy. When recovery dollars are spent on goods largely imported from somewhere else, the promised bang to rescue our economy is received but as a mere whimpering palliative.

Congress must address the greater trade and tax structure problems pillaging on our purse strings. Take, for example, trade deficits growing between our Nation and industrialized economies, like the NAFTA pantries on both sides of the border. Those are just getting worse. Like the outsourcing of U.S. jobs. What are we going to do about that? Like global closed markets. Who’s going to open those up? And, like the value added tax, which creates such a damper on U.S. production.

A trillion dollars more in spending by Congress will miss the real mark of healing our economy by adding the important legs of tax reform and trade reform. While trade laws and tax laws remain as critical components of real long-term recovery, we cannot subsidize or borrow our way to growth. We are already paying over $200 billion on borrowed money to foreign interests, and those numbers are going to grow. And they are more than willing to put America in hock.

Wake up and take notice. If we want the benefits of growth, America must produce, not placate its way to prosperity.

As we approach NAFTA’s 15-year anniversary, let’s take a look at a textbook example of failed promises of prosperity. When NAFTA passed Congress by a tiny margin in 1993, proponents like President Clinton said that this new trade agreement would bring unprecedented prosperity and create millions of jobs across America. It was said the agreement would lock in trade surpluses, expand trade gains, and solve many of the social and economic ills facing North America, like illegal immigration.

Let’s take a look at the record. On its 10th anniversary, the U.S.-Mexico trade surplus wallowed into an estimated $40 billion deficit.

And U.S. jobs reported lost? 879,000. And workers’ wages? They failed to keep pace with productivity gains. We have not seen a single year of trade balance with Mexico since 1994, much less a surplus as was promised.

The growing trade deficit with Mexico is just one staggering figure in our trade data. In trade, the U.S. has lost money. In the last 15 years, we have had a trade deficit. The U.S. trade deficit accounts. Wages in Mexico have fallen dramatically, and the drug trade has snuggled up against our border and yielded murder as well as violent crime that has surged over into our country in places like Phoenix. And there is an upheaval churning on both sides.

Fifteen years ago, NAFTA was sold by the Clinton administration as a development strategy for Mexico, promising alleviation of poverty and inequity, while simultaneously halting illegal border crossings because it promised so much opportunity at home for Mexicans. Sound familiar? It is not a surprise that many of the Wall Street proponents of the ballot were the same ones who wrote NAFTA 15 years ago and found a size of big business, just like today. Take Citigroup, for example, or Goldman Sachs. They were in there with both fists.

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentlewoman yield?

Ms. KAPTUR. Mr. Speaker, will you yield to the gentlewoman when I am finished.

A healthy economy will require policy changes, not cough drops. We need products on our shelves that are produced here. We need real wealth creation here at home. We need trade that is prosperous and balanced, in the black, not in the red. And, we must infuse the power of our marketplace here at home to produce long term, to spur the necessary social and physical infrastructures to restore economic strength to our Nation rather than growing weakness. We need free trade among free people. America needs balanced trade accounts, not more trade deficits and one-sided trade agreements. And America needs production, not subsidy.

Most of all, we need changes in our trade policies and our tax policies that create real investment and long-term growth in our Nation so we don’t have to continue borrowing our way forward and making our children and grandchildren debtors into the vast part of this new century and millennium.

Now, the gentleman, who was a chief opponent to NAFTA, what does he have to report as he asks for some of this time?

Mr. DREIER. I thank the gentlewoman for yielding. I wanted to rise and congratulate her for making some very good points, and to say that I completely concur with her argument in support of free trade among free people.

And I believe that if you look at the dramatic changes that have taken place, still very serious problems, the gentlewoman is absolutely right in focusing on narcotrafficking, which has been one of the most serious challenges. And President Felipe Calderon, the relatively new president of Mexico, has been very bold and courageous in standing up to those narcotraffickers.

And it is true, much of that has spilled over into the United States. But Mr. Speaker, I believe that the fact that we are working together, Mexico and the United States, to try and focus on narcotrafficking and to try and encourage greater commerce so that we can sell more into Mexico is in fact a very good policy for us to pursue. We have the North American Free Trade Agree-ment. It is my hope, Mr. Speaker, that we will be able to build on that so that we can address the very correct concerns that my colleague has raised. And I thank my friend for yielding.

Ms. KAPTUR. I thank the gentleman for his comments, and just say I just wish that the main product that was being sent here wasn’t illegal nar- cotics.

DEFICIT SPENDING

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Texas (Mr. GOMHERT) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. GOMHERT. Mr. Speaker, I do appreciate my friend from Ohio pointing out the problems that arise with the trade deficit. That has been a problem. When I first came here and was sworn in on this House floor back January of 2005, what I began to hear from the other side of the aisle, correctly, was that the Republicans controlled the White House that they controlled the House, and controlled the Senate, and they are spending too much money. They are engaged in deficit spending, and it has to stop. And they were right.

In my first 2 years here, we had on some bills the White House asking for way too much money; and, to try to be a party that went along with the President, many of my colleagues would say we have got to do this, we are in charge, and money got spent when it shouldn’t have been spent. And so we should have been better about not having deficit spending, but we blew it, and the American voters called us on it, properly.

I say us. I was often not happy and on the contrary, and some in my party called me a troublemaker and still do. But we call them the way we see them. And the fact is, deficit spending was wrong when it was being done by a Republican White House and Congress, or Republicans from the White House, and they controlled the Senate, and the Republican Congress was doing it, because it is the Congress that does the appropriations, and it is wrong today. And so in November of 2006, when the Democrats were put in the majority in both the House and the Senate, I was hoping we would see the end of deficit spending, just as they promised. But that is not what happened. The deficit spending has gotten increasingly higher, and now in the first few weeks of this new term it has hit an all-time high.

You can’t spend your way to prosperity. It doesn’t work when you are spending your grandchildren and your great grandchildren's money. And you know, you have to know some day when we are dead and gone they are going to be cussing our names: Why did you run us up into such debt so we couldn't live like you did because you wouldn't save or spend? That is our obligation, and we owe so much better to the children and the generations to come.

There was a Rasmussen poll today that came out, and it says 45 percent of the American public are in favor of a tax cut-only stimulus bill. Steed and I run ads on TV and radio that aren't stimulus. Why would Congress do that? Why did Congress do it, and why is it increasing in such a dramatic scale?

Well, there is an atmosphere of arrogance that is growing all the time in Washington that the people out there who are working, they are doing all they can, well, there are some in Washington who think they are just too stupid to spend the money so that it stimulates the economy, so we must have people out there, who know much more and are so much better at spending other people's money, let the people in Washington spend the hard-working folks' money.

In the last couple of weeks we had $350 billion, the second half of that bailout that was such a mistake back in September, that other half has been allocated and approved. Then you add the $819 billion plus whatever the Senate is going to add, you put those together, it is around $1.2 trillion. Why is that a significant number? Because $1.2 trillion happens to be the amount basically that every individual income taxpayer in America will pay for 2008 in income tax. You want to see the economy stimulated? You give back every dime that every individual taxpayer paid in 2008, you will see the economy stimulated.

I am not even advocating that. I am just saying, give people back their money in their next two paychecks, the next two months' paychecks, a 2-month tax holiday, a 16 percent tax cut for this year. A study by Moody's Economist says that will increase GDP more in 1 year than any other tax proposal out there. It would be a 2-month tax holiday. And for those who don't make enough to pay income tax, you get to keep your FICA, so everyone, just like President Obama promised, will get an income tax holiday. You will get your money back.

But I was told last week when President Obama—and you can't be in a room with that guy and not really like him. He is a likeable, smart, congenial man. And when I was telling him about the tax holiday idea, it is not 3 months, 6 months, it is in your next paycheck. He wanted the idea talked about, and now Larry Summers won't call me back.

EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from California (Mr. SHERMAN) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. SHERMAN. I am all for the private sector paying executives whatever the private sector wants to, but it is very clear that the well-paid private sector firms, the firms that demand hundreds of billions of dollars in Federal funds, decide that they want to pay executives lavish salaries and enormous bonuses. That is why I have come to the floor today to show how the executive compensation of those firms that have benefited from the $700 billion bailout also known as the TARP.

Why is this executive compensation issue important for those companies that have received TARP funds?

First, because of fairness. Executives who have driven their companies into the ditch so badly that they need a Federal bailout shouldn't be receiving enormous salaries.

Second, our constituents demand it. And if you don't think they demand it, see what happens when the administration comes, having gotten the second $350 billion and asks for another one-half trillion dollars, a third installment on the TARP. We will hear from our constituents.

Third, the law we passed demands that there be reasonable standards of executive compensation at every company that received TARP funds. I thought the Bush administration would fail to follow that law, one of the many reasons I voted against it, and Section 111 of the TARP bill continues not to be applied.

And finally, and most importantly, our economy demands that we be tough with those who are coming to Washington for bailouts, because otherwise every executive and every industry is going to be coming here asking for a bailout.

So I was surprised this morning when my staff called me and said, "Congressman, announce victory. President Obama and the Secretary of the Treasury have announced that we are going to have a $500,000 limit on executive compensation of those who have received TARP funds." That was even stricter than the limit that I was proposing.

Unfortunately, the Treasury Department has now issued a nonbinding statement of how they are going to carry out this $500,000 limit, and they have made a mockery of the solemn pledge made today by the President of the United States to the American people. The headline is, "$300,000 Limit." However, the text of the Treasury announcement has three giant loopholes that make a nullity out of the statement of the President.

First, the limit has no application to those companies who have already received their second helping of TARP money after today and pay any executive anything they want as long as they have a shareholder vote. And here is the beautiful part. They can pay it even if the shareholders vote against paying it. It is a nonbinding resolution. So you can get a huge amount of money from the government without any oversight but another helping of TARP money after today and pay any executive anything you want as long as you have a nonbinding resolution of your shareholders which you are free to ignore.

Now, there are a few companies that are going to face a real limit, not the ones who got the first helping like the $25 billion that went to the major banking institutions; not those who got their second helping, an extraordinary amount of money that they may have gotten prior to today; not those who got the third helping of TARP funds, the "ordinary" amount that might be distributed in the future. But if you come back for a fourth helping, then and only then do you face a real $500,000 limit on executive compensation.

Finally, the proposal is supposed to come up on limits on luxury perks. But what does the proposal really contain in the fine print? It says that the board of directors of these companies has got to adopt a policy dealing with such items as private jets and lavish parties. Well, these are the boards of directors who have already approved every private jet and the concept behind every lavish party that these companies have already had. So what good is it to have these same board of directors adopt new policies which will simply mirror their own old policies on luxury perks?

I look forward to working with the administration, with the Treasury Department, so that the words of the President of the United States to the American people today are not rendered moot, but rather are actually carried out. We need a real $500,000 limit on all those firms that are holding our TARP funds, our taxpayer money. And I hope those companies choose to return the money to the Treasury, then they can pay their executives whatever they want.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from California (Mr. DREIER) is recognized for 5 minutes.

HOUSE RULE XI clause 2

Mr. SPRATT. Mr. Speaker, pursuant to House Rule XI clause 2(g)(1), the task forces of the committee are considered to be subcommittees.

Rule 13—Quorums

For the purpose of hearing testimony, not less than two members of the committee shall constitute a quorum.

Rule 14—Questioning witnesses

(a) Questioning of witnesses will be conducted under the 5-minute rule unless the committee adopts a motion pursuant to House Rule XI clause 2(g).

(b) In questioning witnesses under the 5-minute rule:

(1) First, the chairman and the ranking minority member shall be recognized.

(2) Next, the members present at the time the hearing is called to order shall be recognized in the order of their arrival at the hearing.

In recognizing members to question witnesses, the chairman may take into consideration the ratio of majority members to minority members and the number of majority and minority members present and shall apportion the recognition for questioning in such a manner as not to disadvantage the members of the majority.

Rule 15—Subpoenas and oaths

In accordance with House Rule XI, clause 2(m) subpoenas authorized by a majority of the committee may be issued over the signature of the chairman or of any member of the committee designated by him, and may be served by any person designated by the chairman or such member.

(b) The chairman, or any member of the committee designated by the chairman, may administer oaths to witnesses.

Rule 16—Witnesses’ statements

(a) So far as practicable, any prepared statement to be presented by a witness shall be submitted to the committee at least 24 hours in advance of presentation, and shall be distributed to all members of the committee in advance of presentation.

(b) In the greatest degree possible, each witness appearing in a nongovernmental capacity shall include with the written statement of proposed testimony a curriculum vitae and a disclosure of the amount and nature of proposed testimony a curriculum vitae and a disclosure of the amount and nature of any duties other than those pertaining to grade, or incriminate any person, or would violate any law or rule of the House of Representatives. The committee or task forces may by the same procedure vote to close one subsequent day of hearings.

Rule 18—Committee publications on the Internet

To the maximum extent feasible, the committee shall make its publications available in electronic form.

Staff

Rule 19—Committee staff

(a) Subject to approval by the committee, and to the provisions of the following paragraphs, the professional and clerical staff of the committee shall be appointed, and may be retained, by the chairman, or by the chairman's authorized committee designated by the chairman, or by the chairman or his authorized committee designated by the chairman.

(b) Committee staff shall not be assigned any duties other than those pertaining to... committee business, and shall be selected without regard to race, creed, sex, or age, and solely on the basis of fitness to perform the duties of their respective positions.

(c) No member of the committee shall be appointed to subcommittees or to any position that shall be considered as subordinate to any person, and no member of any subcommittee shall be employed to equitable treatment, including comparable salaries, facilities, access to official committee records, leave, and hours of work.

(d) Notwithstanding paragraphs a, b, and c, staff shall be employed in compliance with House rules, the Employment and Accountability Act, the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, and any other applicable Federal statutes.

Rule 20—Staff supervision

(a) Staff shall be under the general supervision and direction of the chairman, who shall have the authority to assign their duties and responsibilities, delegate such authority as he deems appropriate, fix and adjust staff salaries (in accordance with House Rule X, clause 6), and job titles, and, at his discretion, arrange for their specialized training.

(b) Staff assigned to the minority shall be under the general supervision and direction of the minority members of the committee, who may delegate such authority, as they deem appropriate.

RECORDS

Rule 21—Preparation and maintenance of committee records

(a) A substantially verbatim account of remarks actually made during the proceedings shall be made of all hearings and business meetings subject only to technical, grammatical, and typographical corrections.

(b) The proceedings of the committee shall be recorded in a journal, which shall among other things, include a record of the votes on any question on which a record vote is demanded.

(c) Members of the committee shall correct and return transcripts of hearings as soon as practical after conclusion of the session, except that any changes shall be limited to technical, grammatical, and typographical corrections.

(d) Any witness may examine the transcript of his own testimony and make grammatical, technical, and typographical corrections.

(e) The chairman may order the printing of a hearing record without the corrections of any member or witness if he determines that such member or witness has been afforded a reasonable time for correction, and that further delay would seriously impede the committee’s responsibility for meeting its deadlines under the Congressional Budget Act of 1974.

(f) Transcripts of hearings and meetings may be printed if the chairman decides it is appropriate, or if a majority of the members so request.

Rule 22—Access to committee records

(a) The chairman shall promulgate regulations to provide for public inspection of roll call votes and to provide access by members of the public to committee records (in accordance with House Rule XI, clause 2(e)).

(2) Access to classified testimony and information shall be limited to Members of Congress, the committee, the staff and staff of the Office of Official Reporters who have appropriate security clearance.

(3) Notice of the receipt of such information shall be sent to the committee members. Such information shall be kept in the committee safe, and shall be available to members in the committee budget office.

(b) The records of the committee at the National Archives and Records Administration shall be made available for public use in accordance with Title VII of the Right to Know Act of the House of Representatives. The chairman shall notify the ranking minority member of any decision, pursuant to clause 3(b)(3) or clause 4(b) of the rule, to withhold a record otherwise available, and the matter shall be presented to the committee for a determination on the record request of any member of the committee.

OVERSIGHT

Rule 23—General oversight

(a) The committee shall review and study, on a continuing basis, the application, administration, and effectiveness of those laws, or parts of laws, the subject of which is within its jurisdiction.

(b) The committee is authorized at any time to conduct such investigations and study as it may consider necessary or appropriate in the exercise of its responsibilities. Under the authority of House Rule X, clause 6, the committee may adopt by resolution expense resolutions as required by clause 6 of Rule X, to incur expenses (including travel expenses) in connection therewith.

(c) Not later than February 15 of the first session of a Congress, the committee shall meet in open session, with a quorum present, to adopt its oversight plans for that Congress, subject to the approval of the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform in accordance with the provisions of clause 2(d) of House Rule X.

Rule 24—Availability before filing

(a) Any report accompanying any bill or resolution ordered reported to the House by the committee shall be available to all committee members at least 36 hours prior to filing with the House.

(b) No material change shall be made in any report made available to members pursuant to this section after the occurrence of the ranking minority member by a majority vote of the committee.

(c) Notwithstanding any other rule of the committee, either or both subsections (a) and (b) may be waived by the chairman or with a majority vote by the committee.

Rule 25—Report on the budget resolution

The report of the committee to accompany a concurrent resolution on the budget shall include a comparison of the estimated or actual levels for the year preceding the budget year with the proposed spending and revenue levels for that year, along with the appropriate percentage increase or decrease for each budget function and aggregate. The report shall include any roll call vote or any motion to amend or report any measure.

Rule 26—Parliamentarian’s Status Report and Section 302 Status Report

(a) In order to carry out its duty under sections 161 and 122 of the Congressional Budget Act to advise the House of Representatives as to the current level of spending within the jurisdiction of committees as compared to the appropriate allocations made pursuant to the Budget Act in conformity with the latest agreed-upon concurrent resolution on the budget the committee shall, as necessary, advise the Speaker as to its estimate of the current level of spending within the jurisdiction of appropriate committees. Such estimates shall be prepared by the staff of the committee and transmitted to the Speaker in the form of a Section 302 Status Report.

(b) The committee authorizes the chairman, in consultation with the ranking minority member, to transmit to the Speaker the Section 302 Status Report described above.

Rule 27—Activity report

After an adjournment of the last regular session of a Congress sine die, the Chair of the committee may file any time with the Clerk the committee’s activity report for that Congress pursuant to clause 1(d)(1) of rule XI of the Rules of the House without the approval of the committee, if a copy of the report has been available to each member of the committee for at least seven calendar days and the report includes any supplemental, minority, or additional views submitted by a member of the committee.

Rule 28—Broadcasting of meetings and hearings

(a) It shall be the policy of the committee to give all news media access to open hearings of the committee, subject to the requirements and limitations set forth in House Rule XI, clause 4.

(b) Whenever any committee business meeting is open to the public, that meeting may be covered, in whole or in part, by television, radio, print, photography, or any of such methods of coverage, in accordance with House Rule XI, clause 4.

Rule 29—Appointment of conferees

(a) Majority party members recommended to the Speaker as conferees shall be recommended by the chairman subject to the approval of the majority party members of the committee.

(b) The chairman shall recommend such minority party members as conferees as shall be determined by the minority party; the recommended party representation shall be in approximately the same proportion as that in the committee.

Rule 30—Waivers

When a reported bill or joint resolution, conference report, or anticipated floor amendment violates any provision of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, the chair shall, if necessary, advise the Speaker as to its estimate of the current level of spending within the jurisdiction of appropriate committees in conformity with the latest agreed-upon concurrent resolution on the budget.

REVISION TO BUDGET ALLOCATIONS AND AGGREGATES FOR CERTAIN HOUSE COMMITTEES FOR FISCAL YEARS 2008 AND 2009 AND THE PERIOD OF FISCAL YEARS 2009 THROUGH 2013

Mr. SPRATT. Madam Speaker, under section 201 of S. Con. Res. 70, the Concurrent Resolution on the Budget for fiscal year 2009, I submit for printing in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD a revision to the budget allocations and aggregates for certain House committees for fiscal years 2008 and 2009.
and the period of fiscal years 2009 through 2013. This revision represents an adjustment to certain House committee budget allocations and aggregates for the purposes of sections 302 and 311 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, as amended, and in response to consideration of the Senate amendment to the bill H.R. 2 (Children’s Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act of 2009). Corresponding tables are attached.

Under section 323 of S. Con. Res. 70, this adjustment to the budget allocations and aggregates applies while the measure is under consideration. The adjustments will take effect upon enactment of the measure. For purposes of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, as amended, a revised allocation made under section 323 of S. Con. Res. 70 is to be considered as an allocation included in the resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. Inglis) is recognized for 5 minutes.

(Mr. INGLIS addressed the House. His remarks will appear hereafter in the Extensions of Remarks.)

AMERICA’S FINANCIAL CRISIS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker’s announced policy of January 6, 2009, the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. AKIN) is recognized for 60 minutes as the designee of the minority leader.

Mr. AKIN. Mr. Chairman, it is a pleasure to be able to join with some of my colleagues here tonight. And we’re going to be talking about a subject that is, I believe, near and dear to many people’s hearts, or at least of concern to many people. And I suppose one way to introduce this subject would be to take a look at something that has been in the news now for 6 and 7 years, and that would be the subject of how much money we have spent in the war in Iraq.

Many people were observing that we were spending way too much money, that the budget was out of balance and we are just wasting money over in Iraq and in Afghanistan. And yet ironically, in the very first month of this new administration and this new Congress, we spent more money in that first month than what we spent in 2 years in the two different wars for 6 and 7 years added together. If you add all of the money spent in Iraq, all of the money spent in Afghanistan and add it all together, it is less than what we spent in the first couple of months of Congress this year.

Now, how do we get to that point? What brought this about? If you want to try to take a look at how much money does that mean, that says that we spent in the first month more money than the entire tax revenue that we’re planning to collect for the year 2008. It would be as if you had your own family budget, and in January you spent all of your income for the year. You have got 11 very lean months to take a look at.

So how is it that we got to this point? That is what we are going to be talking about. We’re going to have a nice kind of roundtable discussion with many people from different States. And so I want to back up just a little bit and take a look at how did we get to this point that we have the economy in the condition that it’s in?

Well, the story goes back quite a ways. It goes back to the Carter years. People found that as people were trying to get mortgages, particularly in certain areas of economically disadvantaged areas in various cities, that it was hard for them to get home loans. And so they put together the Community Reinvestment Act. And in a sense, what it was saying to banks is, you have got to take a few of your loans and loan them to people who it’s not clear that they will be able to pay it back, because somehow or another people everywhere need to have a chance to buy a home and to own a home.

Well, that idea was then followed up with the creation of a couple of quasi-governmental but also quasi-private organizations that were little known at the time called Freddie Mac and Fannie Mae. And those organizations were in the same business of trying to help people that were sort of middle-income buyers or lower-income buyers to be able to buy a house. And so they helped to write loans and underwrite loans. The theory was, at least implicit, that the government IOU was behind the things that Freddie and Fannie took care of.

Then as we moved along further, we moved up to the Clinton era. Toward the end of Clinton’s days, what he did was increased the percentage of the loans that Freddie and Fannie had to make and increased the percentage of them that were very risky loans. In other words, essentially what he was saying was that the government is forcing Freddie and Fannie to make loans and that we know an awful lot of them are not going to be paid. And of course when you start to mandate that quasi-governmental groups are going to make bad loans, then pretty soon you’re going to have trouble.

Well, this coincided then, as we move along a couple further years, to the era when Alan Greenspan drops the interest rates extremely low because the economy is tanking. In 2000, Greenspan started dropping the interest rates. And then you create this idea of, well, hey, if we have got all of this money at tremendously low interest rates, where are you going to park it? Well, let’s park it in real estate because real estate always goes up. You can’t make a mistake in real estate.
In my first early days here at Congress, boy, did I feel stupid that I hadn’t bought a great big multimillion-dollar house, because if I could have just afforded the interest payments on it for 4 years, it would have doubled in value between 2004 and 2005. Of course, I would have had to have had it smart enough to buy it in 2000 and smart enough to sell it by 2005.

Well, as everybody knows, that old bubble popped. And increasingly all of these loans that were being made started in the process of defaulting. And it was not just people in economically disadvantaged areas that were making these loans. No, Wall Street got into the deal. And so did the speculators. And so what started to happen was you had people going out there and selling all of these loans. The local banks went through the Community Reinvestment Act and would make the loans. But as soon as they made the loan, they turned it right over to Fannie and Freddie. And so that if anything goes wrong, the Federal Government is going to bail them out.

Then you get to the point where people are running around who are mortgage brokers. And they don’t care what kind of mortgage you get, what kind of mortgage you want to borrow a half a million bucks, fine, because they simply write the loan, make the commission on the loan, and the loan is passed on largely to Freddie and Fannie.

In the meantime, Wall Street was taking all of these loans, packaging them together and slicing and dicing them and selling them all over the world and making a great deal of money in the process as the housing bubble was going up and up. Everything looked pretty good.

And then you had the rating agencies, such as Standard & Poor’s or the other one would be Moody’s. They were all giving these things Triple A ratings. If anything goes wrong, the Federal Government is going to bail them out.

And so now you get this situation where you’re spiraling upward and upward. The bubble is about to pop. Did anybody see it coming? Well, the answer is, yes, as a matter of fact they did. President Bush saw it coming. He saw it coming in 2003. And he approached the legislature. He said, I have the legislative authority to rein Fannie and Freddie in because these guys are going crazy making these loans, and it’s going to mess the whole economy up.

And so Congress, while we were in the majority in 2004, we passed a bill that allowed the President to have the authority to regulate Freddie and Fannie to stop this runaway train. It went to the Senate, and it was killed by the Democrats.

Now that’s a look at what appeared in the New York Times, not exactly a right-wing oracle, about that very time, September 11, 2003. And this is part of the quote, September 11, 2003, New York Times, “These two entities, Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, are not facing any kind of financial crisis.” Who would say that? Representative Barney Frank of Massachusetts, the ranking member on the Financial Services Committee. “The more people exaggerate these problems, the more pressure there is on these companies, the less we will see in terms of affordable housing.”

Mr. BROWN of Georgia. Would the gentleman yield?

Mr. AKIN. I would yield to the gentleman from Georgia who is quite an authority on this subject. Thank you for joining us tonight, gentleman.

Mr. BROWN of Georgia. Mr. AKIN, I just appreciate your yielding time. I would like to clarify something you said here just for my own personal edification and I hope the edification of the people who are watching tonight. You said just a few moments ago that Carter administration passed the Community Reinvestment Act. Is that correct?

Mr. AKIN. That’s correct. That was 2003 in the New York Times, September 11, 2003, the following, he says that we’ve got to regulate them more.

I’m reclaiming my time. People are saying that this is a failure of free enterprise. There has nothing to do with the failure of the enterprise. This is a failure of socialism.

Mr. BROWN of Georgia. That is what I wanted to clarify, if you don’t mind yielding back a second. But the thing is, the President of the United States, President Bush, who I have not always been in agreement with on many things, but he was asking to regulate these GSEs, government-sponsored enterprises, Freddie Mac and Fannie Mae. And it was actually Freddie and Fannie along with the Community Reinvestment Act, plus the low interest rates that were out there so that these subprime loans could be made. This is what created our housing bubble that just rose so quickly and then burst so rapidly that the housing prices went down. If I remember correctly, the Republicans in the House, we also, in fact, passed a bill. Is that not correct?

Mr. AKIN. That’s correct. We passed a bill. Reclaiming my time, we did pass a bill. And this is something that we saw as a problem. But as you will recall, the way that the Senate body works, while we sent legislation over to them, this article goes on to say the Democrats opposed it. And we did have the 60 votes to get it passed. So nothing was done. And perhaps if there is any blame that needs to be made on the economy being in the condition it’s in, it really rests with the U.S. Congress, with the House and the Senate.

Now there are other rating agencies that said that you were not going to get a Triple A rating to this trash, certainly they ought to have to be accountable as well. And certainly Wall Street was knowing that they were selling trash and rating it Triple A and selling it all over the world. It wasn’t that they hadn’t done some things wrong, but to allow that to happen, first of all, the Congress was out to lunch. Mr. BROWN of Georgia. But it was not the free enterprise system. It was not deregulation. It was not anything except for the Democrats here in Congress that blocked regulation. And it was, actually, there were programs that were established by Congress. If I remember correctly, the Carter administration passed the Community Reinvestment Act initially. And under the Clinton administration it was markedly expanded to force banks to make these loans where people couldn’t pay. Is that not correct?

Mr. AKIN. Reclaiming my time, my understanding was what Clinton did was not so much in the Community Reinvestment Act, although that was done with ACORN and all, but more specifically he appointed Jimmy hurricane Carter as a national guy to say that Fannie and Freddie make loans that essentially we knew weren’t going to be any good. I yield.

Mr. BROWN of Georgia. I appreciate that. So, the Community Reinvestment Act is where I was going, and I appreciate your mentioning that, and ACORN became a bunch of thugs using extortion. That is what I hear from my bankers at home in Georgia, that ACORN folks would come in and threaten them because they wouldn’t expand their services and they couldn’t put in ATM machines unless they would make these bad loans. And that is what created this whole financial debacle. And the blame, though, lies right at the feet of the people who are pushing this stimulus package saying it was free enterprise.

Mr. ACKERMAN. Reclaiming my time, gentlemen. I think you struck something that strikes me as being a bit of a famous irony. The people who created the problem now are charged with fixing it. And that leaves us in kind of an interesting—and I think that the reason that I wanted to take a little bit of time with you, gentlemen, and knowing that you know this subject, the reason I want to take time on it is because sometimes people want to say, oh, we don’t want to go witch-hunting or go looking at who we are going to blame. But on the other hand, if we don’t understand how we got into the problem, we will end up doing the same dumb thing over again. And that is my concern.

Mr. BROWN of Georgia. Absolutely. If the gentleman will yield, I’m a physician, as the gentleman knows. And in medical practice we look at problems and we try to find solutions to those problems. In fact, it is quite different from what lawyers do. Lawyers generally just argue problems. We try to fix problems. We try to find solutions in order to look at all the symptoms. We look at the causative factors that come to bear in any disease entity.
Now we've got a horrible disease problem of a poor economy. The American people are hurting, hurting terribly. And we're right now in a debate about a bill that the House passed last week, the Senate is taking it up now. But there is in my opinion a tremendous amount of good will by both colleagues, particularly on the other side, about what are the causation factors of the housing bust that has really created this economic problem that we have in this Nation.

And I commend the gentleman for bringing this up because that statement that the New York Times put in place, I think, is very indicative of what's going on now. And I heard the same people who were arguing back in 2003 and earlier against regulating Fannie and Freddie, those same people, when we were talking about the TARP funds, the Wall Street bailout, kept making cases that we need to make more of these loans in the name of affordable housing, make those loans to people who cannot afford to pay them.

Mr. AKIN. Reclaiming my time, you know, somehow or other people want to try and package this as compassionate. I'm trying to think of people such as myself or other people in my district and what happens if you put someone into a house, and maybe they can afford a $250,000 house, and you put them in a $400,000 house out of all of a sudden, every month they've got that mortgage payment coming due, and the financial pressure, it starts to drive the husband and wife apart and make the children's lives hell as eventually they end up on a street side with their sofa on the sidewalk because they can't afford it. How is that compassionate? I don't understand.

But gentleman, I note that we have some other distinguished guests here. Could we come back to you in just a minute?

Mr. BROUN of Georgia. Well, I have to leave in a second.

Mr. AKIN. I yield.

Mr. BROUN of Georgia. I'd like to tell you and the American public a story if you yield just another minute or two.

Mr. AKIN. I yield.

Mr. BROUN of Georgia. Okay. Thank you, Mr. AKIN, who's in the timber land business. He buys and sells timber land. And he was telling me a story during this whole period of time when real estate prices were going up. He had a piece of property in my district on the market for $1.3 million. A gentleman came in and said, I want to buy your land. My buddy said fine. Here's the contract. The buyer signed it. Went to closing.

My good friend, when he got to closing, of course, got his check for the $1.3 million, and all of the problems with the banking industry making these sub prime low doc, no doc, low documentation, no documentation loans, that the buyer actually borrowed $1.7 million for a $1.3 million piece of property. So he put $400,000 cash money in his pocket.

Now, if the property went up to $2 million or 2.1 million then the bank could be happy. But the buyer and the seller in this deal would have been happy, and everybody would have been fine.

But my friend found out that the buyer had no job. He had no assets. He had no way to pay for this loan for $1.7 million.

Mr. AKIN. So reclaiming my time, you're just giving an example of this absolutely crazy runaway policy that we have. It's basically a free money, you don't have any job, you don't have any money, borrow whatever you want and speculate and hope things work out right.

Mr. BROUN of Georgia. Well, that's the point I was trying to make if the gentleman would yield.

Mr. AKIN. I yield.

Mr. BROUN of Georgia. That's exactly the point I'm trying to make is that this whole banking industry debacle was crazy and it was set up by policy that Congress established, and Republicans try to do something about it because we, as the Republican Party, people here in the House, members of the Banking Committee in the Senate, Financial Services over here on the House side, realized that this was a disaster, and they tried to do something about it. And every effort that we did was blocked by the Democrats, who, right now, today want to force down the throat of the American people this stimulus bill that, in reality, is nothing, nothing but a steam roller of socialism that's being shoved down the throat of the American public and it's going to strangle to death the American economy, as well as the American people.

Mr. AKIN. Reclaiming my time, gentleman, we are going to get to that very point that you're making, and I thank you so much. Congressman BROUN from Georgia. And I sometimes think of it as doctor, but now you're congressman. You've got a couple of different hats. I appreciate your just straightforward approach. This is what we're talking about. It's hurting a whole lot of very small, very average people. And the thing that really makes me sick about it is we saw the thing come about, and now the American economy got a cold, we've given pneumonia to the rest of the world, and there are people starving because of these very policies.

And somehow, putting somebody in a house that they can't afford, I don't see how there's anything compassionate about that.

But we are joined by another doctor from the great State of Georgia as well, Dr. GINGREY, but maybe we should call him Congressman GINGREY. I would be happy to yield to you sir.

Mr. GINGREY of Georgia. Well, I thank my colleague from Georgia, Mr. BROUN, for his timely and insightful comments.

It's good to join with you this hour, Mr. Speaker, to try to shed some light on this issue, a terribly important issue to the American people when we're in these rather dire economic circumstances. But the big problem, of course Representative AKIN and Representative BROUN, Mr. Speaker, spent time explaining how this mess. And I think it's very important that they did this and kind of set the stage for where we are today, why we're here, how we got there, what the problem is and basically, who's to blame. And certainly, if you go in this, it's pretty clear. I won't go back through that important information.

But we're now trying to decide, Mr. Speaker, what to do about it, how to go about this reconciliation that we're in. And unfortunately, what the Democratic majority and what President Obama has recommended, I just don't think passes the smell test. I really feel that the likelihood of this being successful, when you look, Mr. Speaker, at the spending in this bill, this economic stimulus bill as it's called, where's the beef? I mean, the old expression—I don't see where there's anything or hardly anything in $825 billion that's going to do a whole lot of stimulating.

Mr. AKIN. Reclaiming my time just a minute. What you're doing is you're fast forwarding a little bit. We started by talking about how this mess. I was going to make just a comment. Sometimes people say this is as bad as the Great Depression. Certainly it's not. It's not as bad as what things were under Jimmy Carter when we had double digit unemployment and double digit inflation. But we can make it that bad if we work at it and do the wrong things. So that's scaling it.

Now, what you're talking about is we've got a solution, a solution proposed. It's a solution that's proposed by the Pelosi Democrat Congress. We saw the vote on that last week. Not a single Republican voted for it. But they had a proposal, and I think it's great that we do have a problem. We acknowledge there's a problem, and they made a proposal. And that's what you're talking about, Doctor, and you're talking about the mechanics of what they're proposing, and I think we need to take a look at it. And what you're saying, from what I'm hearing you say is, you don't think it's going to work at all.

Mr. GINGREY of Georgia. Well, if the gentleman will yield to me again and I think you yield to me. And it is the Pelosi proposal, the Democratic majority proposal, the Harry Reid proposal. But it's certainly not the Congressional proposal, because we Republicans, Mr. Speaker, are part of this, as well. And certainly from Missouri points out, we were never consulted. There was no essential no markup, no regular order.
And as Representative Aキン says, the importance of getting it right—you know, some people use the expression for goodness sake, don’t just sit there, do something. Well, I happen to be a doctor too, an OB/GYN doctor, and I know a lot of times it’s better to not just sit there, sit there. The baby will come.

But we’re not recommending though that we do nothing, Mr. Speaker. We’re just saying that when you’ve got a bill with 825, more in the Senate, billions of dollars in it, it needs to stimulate the economy for sure. And it needs to put people back to work for sure, not just maybe.

And as the gentleman from Missouri said, we could make matters far worse than they were in the late 70s under President Jimmy Carter, and we could even get as bad as it was back in 1929, 30, 31, 32, so we want to get it right.

And if the gentleman will bear with me just for a minute, I would appreciate it if I could show a poster or two to just to kind of put the spending, the so-called stimulus, in perspective. And if my colleagues will look at this first poster, and the question at the top says, can you afford to pay for the Democratic spending bill? And by golly, that would cost, at $825 billion, the economic stimulus plan that’s sailing through Congress would cost each American family more than $10,000 on average. More than $10,000. In fact $10,500.

Mr. Aキン. Reclaiming my time, you’re saying this is $10,000 for every family in America is what this thing is going to cost?

Mr. GINGREY of Georgia. Exactly. If the gentleman will just bear with me a minute, it’s just to show you a perspective, to show you what it means to be spending this amount of money.

And let me, Mr. Speaker, express my appreciation to my very good friend from St. Louis for taking this time to talk about what obviously is priority number one for working families all across this country. This is survival, because we all know how difficult it is out there. We’re regularly hearing from our constituents that they are losing their homes, they are having a difficult time making ends meet.

This afternoon I had the chance to meet with some local officials from one of the counties that I’m privileged to represent. And in San Bernardino County in California, the numbers of homes that have gone into foreclosure, it is mind boggling to see the challenges.

And I will tell you, when you think of a young family out there, working, trying to hold things together and they’re saving a little money. It is difficult time making ends meet, we all know, Democrat and Republican alike, that it is absolutely essential that we put into place government policies that will help to address those challenges.

Now, Mr. Speaker, my friend from St. Louis just brought to my attention an amazing quote that his 88-year-old father brought to mind for him since he had lived through this period of time, that being the Great Depression. And I say, after 8 years of the Roosevelt administration, there was just as much unemployment as when we started and an enormous debt to boot. What an incredible statement that was made by Franklin Delano Roosevelt’s Treasury Secretary in 1939. And the last line, Mr. Speaker, brings to mind the fact that in 1939, the American people and financial interests in this country were financing that debt.

Today, we know that that debt is coming from all over the world, that it is held by peoples all over the world, and that creates another very unique challenge for us.

So I would say that, as we know that our constituents are hurting, I believe very, very strongly that the answer to the problem of the families who have lost their homes and of the people who are losing their jobs into this full-time employment, into a full-time living wage, is not as when we started, and an enormous debt to boot.

And in that, and Mr. Speaker, I commend this to my colleagues. He said, “We have tried spending money. We are spending more than we have ever spent before and it does not work. I say, after 8 years of the Roosevelt administration, there was as much unemployment as when we started, and an enormous debt to boot.” What an incredible statement that was made by Franklin Delano Roosevelt’s Treasury Secretary in 1939. And the last line, Mr. Speaker, brings to mind the fact that in 1939, the American people and financial interests in this country were financing that debt.

That brings to mind for him since he had lived through this period of time, that being the Great Depression, and the last line, Mr. Speaker, brings to mind the fact that in 1939, the American people and financial interests in this country were financing that debt.

Today, we know that that debt is coming from all over the world, that it is held by peoples all over the world, and that creates another very unique challenge for us.

Mr. Aキン. Reclaiming my time for just a minute, I appreciate your perspective because we can stand here and talk about boxcar numbers and economic theory and policy, but you are bringing it down to what it has to do with the guy in the street, what it has to do with me.

Mr. Speaker, my friend from St. Louis just brought to my attention an amazing quote that his 88-year-old father brought to mind for him since he had lived through this period of time, that being the Great Depression. And I say, after 8 years of the Roosevelt administration, there was just as much unemployment as when we started and an enormous debt to boot.

Mr. Aキン. Reclaiming my time, I appreciate, Doctor, and Congressman your joining us and your perspective. I think when you start talking about... debts, and they keep getting worse and worse behind. Finally, they go out there, and that is when they end up with that sofa that’s sitting on a sidewalk.

That is what we are talking about with just one moment ago. Here is the story of how it all started with this “give somebody something,” and somehow or other, Uncle Sam and socialism are going to make it work.

Mr. DREIER. Would my friend yield for just one moment again please. Here is the story of the Social Security Administration, which is $1.0 trillion in spending package that has been put before us, and that package has already passed through this House. Speaker Pelosi has announced that it is going to be completed by the end of next week.

I wish very much that we would spend some time looking at what is that we have offered as an alternative to create jobs and to allow people to keep dollars in their pockets.

Mr. AKIN. Reclaiming my time, yes. Gentlemen, thank you for joining us to that point, because I don’t like people to come in here and be critical and say that it’s no good, that it will not work, and then don’t offer a better alternative. The good news is that there is a better alternative. We don’t have to be doing what we are doing.

I noticed that my colleague from Georgia, again Dr. GINGREY, Congressman GINGREY, has got a chart here.

Would you like me to yield, and do you want to explain what you have?

Mr. GINGREY. I very much appreciate the gentleman’s yielding. I thank him for that. I do have a chart I want to reference.

First of all, Mr. Speaker, I want to say that the American people are beginning to realize that this is unlikely to work and that there is a tremendous burden that it is going to put on them. As I pointed out on the previous chart, it is $10,400 per family. Now, they don’t get that. That is not any money that comes to them. That is the debt burden.

Now, in fact, in a recent Gallup Poll—the very reliable Gallup Poll. Everybody has heard of Gallup—there was a survey of 1,000 adult people nationwide; thirty-eight percent were in opposition to this bill as proposed, and another 17 percent said no matter what they do with it, no matter what changes they make, this is not the way to go. It is just Secretary Morgenthau钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾钾 potassium.

I think there is any economist out there who will say there was anything until World War II that generated the jobs; ‘44, and ‘45, we saw our unemployment rate go down to 4.7, 1.9, 1.2, and 1.9 percent. Again, let’s just think about that. We had 16 million Americans in uniform at that time. We had everybody working—we had everybody in the war plants. All of the women were working—so Rosie the Riveter was everywhere. That unemployment rate dropped, but it was because of World War II, not because of what was going on in the Roosevelt administration in the 1930s.

Mr. AKIN. Reclaiming my time, your point is just what was observed by the guy who was doing all of this Keynesian economics, this guy Morgenthau. After spending us into tremendous debt, he just basically said, after 8 years, we weren’t able to create any jobs, and you’re saying it was basically World War II that generated the jobs; all correct? I yield.

Mr. LATTA. I appreciate the gentleman for yielding. That is absolutely correct. I don’t think there is any economist out there who will say there was anything until we got into World War II when we saw the Great Depression break. Before Pearl Harbor in 1941, December 7, the unemployment rate was going down. Why? Because we had Americans working in those defense plants, who were making those arms that we were shipping overseas at the time, for example, under Lend-Lease. So we watched those numbers start to drop, and they really dropped, of course, during World War II when Americans were in uniform and in the defense plants.

As the gentleman had mentioned a little bit earlier, one of the things that concerns me is: Where are we going with this debt? Because we just keep adding to it in this country.
Mr. SCALISE. I thank the gentleman from Missouri for yielding. I thank the gentleman from Ohio for yielding.

What we have been talking about is a discussion we have been having here on this floor for the last few weeks. I am very encouraged that so many people across this country have started to really look at this bill closely and to recognize that, in fact, the bill that has been moving through the legislature here in Congress in the last few weeks is not, in fact, a stimulus bill. It is a massive spending bill, a bill that really will not do much to help get the economy started.

The Congressional Budget Office reports, of course, that very little of this money will go into the economy, and it will do is add a massive additional national debt to a debt that is already over $11 trillion. We are already hearing that this bill is already approaching $900 billion. Some reports show over $1 trillion. In addition, the budget that is going to be presented in just a few weeks by President Obama is expected to be $1 trillion out of balance.

All of this money that would be added to the national debt could add over 25 percent in 1 year to the total national debt of this country, whether or not it would actually provide stimulus to the economy. Most reports show it would not create any jobs. What it would do is increase inflation, devalue the dollar and put a tremendous burden on our children and grandchildren. I think that is why it is so important that we have worked so hard to come up with an alternative plan, a better way to solve this problem. That is, to go and look at tax cuts that will actually help middle-class families and small businesses that will create the jobs, not government spending, which in many cases has been spent on programs that have failed in the past and that create more government jobs. We need to be creating jobs in the private sector, and that is what I think is so encouraging.

As we have been presenting these alternatives, I think people across the country have seen and have realized that this is a much better way. It is so important after the failed bailouts of the last year that we get this right, and that is why it is important that we have been talking about this as people are seeing it. I think they are realizing some of the same things that we saw in that last year. We have not only all Republicans voted “no” but when, in fact, nearly a dozen Democrats also could not even stomach some of the spending by their own leadership and said “no” as well, because there is a better way.

I appreciate the fact that you have been highlighting this, as have other Members, to show that there are better ways for the American people and to show how the American people have, I think, galvanized and have said the same thing. Big government spending in Washington is not going to solve this problem. Let’s let middle-class families who are out there tightening their belts already in States that are trying to balance their own budgets show the better way as opposed to the failed old approaches of liberal, big government spending.

So I think the fact that we need to look out for our children and grandchildren is an extra highlight and why it is so important that we get this right and that we solve this problem the correct way. That is what this alternative plan does. I yield back.

Mr. AKIN. Reclaiming my time, Congressman SCALISE, thank you very much for your perspective, and I appreciate your optimistic and positive approach.

We’re not here just to say something won’t work. We’ve got a better way to solve this problem. We’ve got something that has worked time after time historically, and the approach that is being proposed, which is just massive government spending, not only did it not work for Morgenthau, who was the guy who was the champion of this Keynesian economics for FDR, but it’s never worked subsequently. It didn’t work for the Japanese for 10 years, as they ran up huge debts, spent a whole lot of money.

And the average American in this country has got enough common sense to realize that just dumping a whole lot of money, if you’re in financial trouble, if you’re the captain of your own little family, you’re not going to go out and buy brand new cars and run up a whole lot of debt. It doesn’t make any sense. And for government to do that, the public knows that won’t work either.

But I want to get back to my good friend, Congressman LATTA from Ohio, and I did interrupt you, and I yield to the gentleman.

Mr. LATTA. I appreciate you yielding back, and I think what you’re talking about is, when we’re running up these debts, I’d just like to run across just numbers.

Let’s just go back. If you look at this number on this chart right now, we’re looking over $10 trillion, $10.6 trillion of debt that this country owes, but let’s just go back a few years, and it doesn’t take us very long to do this.

In 1979, the United States debt was at $829 billion. It went to $2.8 trillion; 1999, $5.9 trillion; and here we are $10 trillion. And here we are 10 years later just doubling this number, when you look from 1999 to where we are today at $10.6 trillion.

But the real question that really concerned me is this, not only that massive huge debt but who owns this debt, you know, and you start looking at this chart right here. Right now, $682 billion of our debt today is owned by China. Going across, the Japanese own $777 billion, the United Kingdom, $360 billion; the Caribbean Banking Centers, $220 billion; the oil exporters—we send our money over to them. They’re using our money to buy our debt. They have $198 billion; Brazil, $292 billion.

But it always wasn’t this way. You know, in 1979, let’s just go back a few years ago. 1979, we had foreign debt of $119 billion; 1989, $429 billion; 1999, $1.2 trillion. These numbers are just escalating.

And the problem we have today is this. We’re having a situation out there where it is what happens when these other countries start stimulating their own economy and they start saying, you know, what, we can’t buy; that American debt, who’s going to be out there to buy that debt? And we have a couple of alternatives; either not issue that debt or have to put a higher interest rate out there to make these other countries want to buy our debt. Americans are saying we’re not buying it; these other countries are.

So I have a real concern of these problems, that other countries are owning our debt, that they could actually start dictating to the United States. The Chinese are telling us that we have to do something about our economy, you know.

Mr. AKIN. Reclaiming my time, I think the gentleman, what you are saying is—and you’re saying it in a pretty sophisticated way, but just some poor old guy from Missouri, what I think you are saying, just like when we issued all of these loans that people couldn’t pay, what we’re doing, in a national sense, is we’ve done down a dead-end street, and pretty soon, as we keep printing more and more money and keep getting more and more foreign countries buying our debt, there’s going to become a time, a reckoning, and boy, it’s really going to be unpleasant when we hit that stone wall at 70 miles an hour. Is that getting in the direction of what you’re saying, Congressman? I yield.

Mr. LATTA. I appreciate the gentleman for yielding again.

Again, you are absolutely correct. We’re hitting that situation right now. The rest of the world is looking at the same problems that we’re having in this country, but we’re issuing this massive debt out there, saying, please, buy our debt.

And all we can do is, there’s been very few articles in the national papers about this, and one of the few times we’ve seen some of the articles, they’re saying, well. It is not attractive enough to keep people wanting to buy it out there. Well, how far is that and when are we going to get to that?
My good German grandmother used to tell her grandkids this one saying, that he who goes a borrowing goes a borrowing. And you know, we’re at that point.

And the real question is how are the future generations going to get out of this? How is this going to work? And I think that really there are two theories here in terms of the way you handle the problem that we’re in with the economy.

One is you spend money like mad, which is what FDR tried to do and turned a recession into a Great Depression, and the Japanese followed that same example, went down the same street for 10 years, had a great big depression over there because they had a bunch of these guys thinking you could just stimulate the economy by spending money like mad that you don’t have.

But that raises the question in that we already have the amount of debt that you’re talking about. We should have a discussion if that theory worked, shouldn’t we?

Mr. LATT A. Absolutely.

Mr. AKIN. I mean, we’ve got a tremendous amount of debt; therefore, we shouldn’t have any economic troubles. And just as Henry Morgenthau found out, it doesn’t work. And the approach that is being done by the Pelosi Congress and what is being asked for by our new President is based on this Keynesian model of economics which really doesn’t work.

I also promised my good friend, the gentleman from the congressional district in Ohio, Congressman JORDAN, wanted to let you have—we’ve got about 5 minutes or so here. I wanted to let you have a chance to chip in on the whole conversation. You have been very helpful, and your thinking is highly respected, I know, in our caucus.

Mr. JORDAN of Ohio. I appreciate the gentleman for putting this Special Order hour together. This must be the Ohio hour because I notice the last two presiding officers over the Chamber were Ohioans as well, and then of course my friend from just north of our district, Congressman Latta and his expertise in this.

Think about the average family, what they saw from their government last week. I think it’s an important place to start as we think about this discussion.

The typical family, what did they see from their government? They saw the United States Senate confirm for Secretary of the Treasury a gentleman who didn’t pay his taxes on time. Think about it, not just any Cabinet position but Secretary of the Treasury. They saw from the House of Representatives, the other side of Congress, they saw the House of Representatives pass a stimulus package that will not do anything to foster and promote economic growth. I mean, that’s your government at work, America, certainly not where we need to be.

Think about this stimulus package that we’ve been talking about and what in the world is it for? It’s for promoting economic growth now and what it means, long-term implications for our kids and grandkids and the debt that it preserves.

First thing is this, and my colleague, our friend from Ohio, I think he said it right. The American people get it. They have figured out that this, quote, stimulus package is not what our country needs at this particular time. They don’t like the process that was used and, frankly, the lack of process, the lack of the fact that the Republicans weren’t included, and they don’t like the finished product, the finished product that has such things in it like $600 million for the government to buy a new fleet of automobiles.

I’d much rather see that families can use that tax money, their tax money, to purchase their own car versus giving more cars to the bureaucrats who work here in Washington. So they don’t like the process. They don’t like that, and I think they also understand, which was being pointed out very well by our friend and colleague from Ohio, Congressman Latta, they understand that this spending spree that has grabbed Washington over the last several months is just wrong to do to future generations of Americans. It is wrong to saddle our kids and our grandkids with this kind of debt, the kind of debt that Congressman Latta was pointing out and I know Congressman AKIN has pointed out earlier in the hour.

Think about this. We’re going to run a deficit this fiscal year approaching 10 percent of gross domestic product. Never in the history of this country have we had a deficit close to 10 percent of GDP. This year it looks like it’s going to be close to 10 percent of gross domestic product.

They understand that’s not the direction to go. They understand that what really fosters economic growth is reducing the tax burden on families, on taxpayers, on small business owners so they can keep more of their money, put it to work in the private sector, put it to work in utilities, creating jobs, protecting jobs, and promoting economic growth for the future. That’s where we need to focus.

Short-term, fast-acting tax relief versus big government spending. The American people understand tax relief is where we need to go. That’s the alternative we’ve been supporting. That’s the alternative we’ll continue to support. And the good news is, that’s what the Senate is beginning to look at.

We did a press conference today with some of the Senate Republicans, and they are talking about focusing on some of the same tax cut provisions we tried to get in the bill over here on the House side.

Mr. AKIN. Reclaiming my time for just a second here, what you’re talking about is where I really wanted to get to with this conversation tonight. The not just saying things won’t work. Yes, what’s being proposed, putting the government tremendously into debt, a lot Federal spending does not solve the problem, but there is a way to solve this problem, and that is going to require a little discipline, like some good wrestlers in the State of Ohio know, and I want to let you continue with that because we have a solution, a positive way, a bold approach to take care of this problem, and we don’t have to turn a recession into a great depression. But the solution that’s being proposed always created depressions from recessions. We don’t want to do that. We’ve got a way to solve the problem.

I yield.

Mr. JORDAN of Ohio. I appreciate the gentleman yielding.

My colleague said earlier that if big Federal Government spending was going to get us out of a depression it would have happened a long time ago because we’ve certainly been doing that. And you’re exactly right. The easiest thing in the world to do for politicians, for policy-makers, for Members of Congress is to spend money. It’s the easy thing to do.

The tough thing to do is the discipline thing to do. I had an old coach in high school and he talked about discipline every day in practice. And his definition was this. Discipline is doing what you don’t want to do when you don’t want to do it. It meant doing it his way when you’d rather do it your way, but it left an impression on me.

And frankly, the disciplined thing to do is to say we’re going to stop this excessive spending; we’re going to reduce the tax burden here so that business owners and families can have more of their money and promote economic growth and how do they know work in an economy. That’s what we have to focus on and have the discipline to say we’re not going to continue to spend and spend and spend and mortgage our kids’ and grandkids’ future.

Mr. AKIN. Reclaiming my time, I very much appreciate your perspective in getting to the positive solution. And I would yield to the gentleman. We’ve just got a minute or two, but if you’d like to join us, I yield.

Mr. FORTENBERRY. I want to thank the gentleman for having this very important discussion tonight on the House floor.

What we’ve done here in the name of stimulus is actually create an unneeded, unsustainable spending bill. And since the year 2000 or so, it’s very important to note that the Federal Government has actually grown by about 60 percent. We’ve been through an 8-year stimulus run in the name of spending, if you will, and yet we remain in economic straits at the moment.
I think this is very important to point out because the other problem here is the massive amounts of debt that we're going to compile if this bill should be passed. Debt that is unpaid for—the stimulus bill not being paid for—and bills that are sold along to future generations of children and grandchildren, or it will be sold, the wealth asset value of this country sold overseas to foreign debt holders, or it will come out in other forms of taxation such as inflation.

Mr. AKIN. Just reclaiming my time for a second, you're talking in kind of economic terms, but further, what does that mean to the average person in our district? It means a lower standard of living, doesn't it? It means you can't make ends meet. It means you're not going to buy the food you want to buy. And I yield again.

Mr. PORTENBERRY. Inflation is a very regressive form of taxation, particularly among the most vulnerable among us.

With that, let me say, I don't want to see any family experience unemployment, any business take a downturn or any family experience a foreclosure. And with that said, I think it's very, very important that we work very hard to get this right, a plan that makes sense, that maximizes economic productivity through any type of new governmental policies that we set, but a plan that is also potentially paid for over time and that does have some new bold ideas in it.

One of the problems here as well, though, is that much of the spending is targeted to States, and some States like Nebraska, we've been very fortunate to be insulated from these larger downward economic trends. We have a strong economy that is hitting some bumps at the moment, but nonetheless, we also have a set of values, if you will, where people work hard and take responsibility for themselves and care for their local businesses, as well as our citizens, have made prudent decisions about buying and lending, and we haven't suffered like the rest of the country in this regard.

But with that said, this bill effectively asks Nebraskans to subsidize other States that may have been poorly governing and want the Federal Government basically to make the tough decisions for them, not force them to make the tough decisions.

Mr. AKIN. Reclaiming my time, I think what you're saying in a polite, sort of sensitive way is California has been spending money at an incredible pace, and the question is, should Nebraska have to subsidize California? And that's really what we're talking about, isn't it? I yield back to the gentleman from Nebraska.

Mr. PORTENBERRY. I thank the gentleman for the time.

I think we are. It's a very important point to be made that a lot of communities in a lot of places have had to make choices with limited budgets to set priorities and have not rushed up to Washington to say bail us out, help us out. They have made those tough choices responsibly, and it's places like those, like Nebraska and other places, that I fear are subsidizing other places that have not performed admirably in terms of governance.

Another point here is I think there are some bold, new, innovative ideas in this overall package. I think they could be potentially considered as stand-alone measures. President Obama has a strong focus on, for instance, alternative energy development for a sustainable energy future.

Mr. AKIN. I think this is very important to point out because the other problem here is the massive amounts of debt that we're going to compile if this bill should be passed. Debt that is unpaid for—the stimulus bill not being paid for—and bills that are sold along to future generations of children and grandchildren, or it will be sold, the wealth asset value of this country sold overseas to foreign debt holders, or it will come out in other forms of taxation such as inflation.

One of the problems here as well, though, is that much of the spending is targeted to States, and some States like Nebraska, we've been very fortunate to be insulated from these larger downward economic trends. We have a strong economy that is hitting some bumps at the moment, but nonetheless, we also have a set of values, if you will, where people work hard and take responsibility for themselves and care for their local businesses, as well as our citizens, have made prudent decisions about buying and lending, and we haven't suffered like the rest of the country in this regard.

But with that said, this bill effectively asks Nebraskans to subsidize other States that may have been poorly governing and want the Federal Government basically to make the tough decisions for them, not force them to make the tough decisions.

Mr. AKIN. Reclaiming my time, I think what you're saying in a polite, sort of sensitive way is California has been spending money at an incredible pace, and the question is, should Nebraska have to subsidize California? And that's really what we're talking about, isn't it? I yield back to the gentleman from Nebraska.

Mr. PORTENBERRY. I thank the gentleman for the time.

I think we are. It's a very important point to be made that a lot of communities in a lot of places have had to make choices with limited budgets to set priorities and have not rushed up to Washington to say bail us out, help us out. They have made those tough choices responsibly, and it's places like those, like Nebraska and other places, that I fear are subsidizing other places that have not performed admirably in terms of governance.

Another point here is I think there are some bold, new, innovative ideas in this overall package. I think they could be potentially considered as stand-alone measures. President Obama has a strong focus on, for instance, alternative energy development for a sustainable energy future.

Mr. AKIN. Just reclaiming my time for a second, you're talking in kind of economic terms, but further, what does that mean to the average person in our district? It means a lower standard of living, doesn't it? It means you can't make ends meet. It means you're not going to buy the food you want to buy. And I yield again.

Mr. PORTENBERRY. Inflation is a very regressive form of taxation, particularly among the most vulnerable among us.

With that, let me say, I don't want to see any family experience unemployment, any business take a downturn or any family experience a foreclosure. And with that said, I think it's very, very important that we work very hard to get this right, a plan that makes sense, that maximizes economic productivity through any type of new governmental policies that we set, but a plan that is also potentially paid for over time and that does have some new bold ideas in it.

One of the problems here as well, though, is that much of the spending is targeted to States, and some States like Nebraska, we've been very fortunate to be insulated from these larger downward economic trends. We have a strong economy that is hitting some bumps at the moment, but nonetheless, we also have a set of values, if you will, where people work hard and take responsibility for themselves and care for their local businesses, as well as our citizens, have made prudent decisions about buying and lending, and we haven't suffered like the rest of the country in this regard.

Mr. AKIN. Reclaiming my time.

Mr. PORTENBERRY. Well, again, I'm grateful.

We don't, again, want to see any family suffer any unemployment or suffer any situation like that. But I think this letter that I got today from a constituent back home from Gail in Fremont says quite a bit. She said, "I'm writing to let you know I oppose the stimulus, Congressman. I'm opposed," she adds, "to the overwhelming debt the government is all too willing to place on us with a stand-alone plan for getting us back on stable ground."

She goes on, "What is the Federal Government doing without during this emergency?" She says, "In my home when there's no money, we do without. We don't spend money we don't have. I'd rather tighten my belt for a time than to live the rest of my life under the burden of increased taxes for this bloated stimulus package."

Unrestrained, unsustainable spending is the issue here, and we need to maximize economic productivity through smart thinking about what really is stimulus.

Mr. AKIN. Reclaiming my time. Thank you, Madam Speaker.
CONGRESSIONAL PROGRESSIVE CAUCUS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker’s announced policy of January 6, 2009, the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. ELLISON) is recognized for 60 minutes as the designee of the majority leader.

Mr. ELLISON. Thank you, Madam Speaker.

Tonight we’re here for the Congressional Progressive Caucus, and I’m joined by my colleague, the honorable HANK JOHNSON, who hails from the State of Georgia. And we are the Progressive Caucus. And we’re here week after week, month after month to help the American people understand that the progressive community throughout America has a group of people in Congress who are willing to stand up and stand strong and project a progressive vision for all of the Nation.

The Progressive Caucus has designed something we call the progressive message. So this is what we do. We come together, and we talk about our progressive vision for our country.

We started off only a few weeks ago talking about the need to hold the executives accountable and to not simply wipe things that happened in the past 8 years under the rug. Then we came back last week to talk about the economy and the stimulus package. And because we’re facing a rising unemployment rate, foreclosure rate that is increasing, because people are losing their jobs, because things are getting tougher every day, we’ve got to stick with this issue of the economy so we can talk to people about which way we want to conserve? Do you want to conserve these exploding unemployment rates they’ve handed us? Do you want to conserve this war in Iraq and Afghanistan? Maybe you want to conserve the regime of deregulation which has allowed businesses, and particularly in the financial sector, to do whatever they want and not have to worry about consumers. Is that what you’re trying to conserve? The people of America don’t want conservatism. They want a progressive vision. They’re looking at things like I have up on this graph right here.

They’re looking at Minnesota. We have an unemployment rate of 6.9 percent. Last year, 2007, it was 4.7. In California, they’re looking at 9.3 percent unemployment this year, 5.9 percent the year before.

What about our colleagues from Michigan, Congressman JOHNSON? We’ve got a serious problem. The question is if you look at these high unemployment rates, and you look at every blue line is 2007 and every red line is 2008, as you can tell, unemployment is up all across the Nation everywhere.

These things did not happen by accident. They are the product of a set of policies, many of which were promulgated right in this gallery you and I are in right now. Many of the policies saying that poor people have too much money and rich people don’t have enough money promulgated right here. Tax cuts for the wealthiest Americans, no accountability. As a matter of fact, it was put into legislation that the whole credit default swap market would be excluded from regulation, and now we know that these derivative products cause so much risk in the system that we don’t know what to do about it.

The fact is, the policies and the procedures that have brought this about were done right here during the last 8 years, and we are now going to project a progressive vision to get us out of it. Let me just say this before I turn it over to you, Congressman.

America has suffered 11 straight months of joblessness, of increasing job losses, totaling more than two million in the last year, 1.3 million jobs lost in the last 3 months alone. The job losses totaled over 500,000 in November, the biggest 1-month jump in 34 years. Now that’s serious business.

So, facing these kinds of things, Congressmen, what would be your thought as to what we should be thinking about right now?

Let me yield to you, Mr. JOHNSON of Georgia. Okay.

Mr. JOHNSON. If I can reclaim my time, the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act.

Mr. ELLISON. If I can reclaim my time. The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act.

Mr. JOHNSON. Thank you, Mr. Chairman. We’re in right now. Many of the policies were right here in this very Chamber, and they had the leadership up until 2006; and they aided and abetted this country’s decline and all of the things that contributed to it.

And so but now they want to dictate the solutions to getting us out of this morass. And it just doesn’t make sense. I hope the American people are paying great attention because my friends on the other side of the aisle, the only thing that they propose is more tax cuts for the wealthiest 10 percent, and that's certainly not going to work.

We've got to take care of our basic safety net. We've got people in this country who've lost their jobs, they've lost their homes. They are on the street—families no place to live, no food. And so we've got to fix those things while we also pay attention to the future needs of this country preparing us for the global economy and the long-term future.

And with that, Congressman. I'm going to yield back.

Mr. ELLISON. Congressman JOHNSON has correctly pointed out that we have got people losing their jobs. Unemployment is climbing up to 10 percent in many States, and we don't want to reach that point nationally. But one of the things that I think you will agree is that when you lose your job in America, so often you also lose something else—your health care.

You and I have been joined by Jim MCDERMOTT from the great State of Washington—[8:45 AM]

Mr. ELLISON. Congressman MCDERMOTT, welcome. What can you tell us about the other side of the story, even folks who do have a job, their health care crisis?

Mr. MCDERMOTT. You know, first, I want to say that I want to commend you, KEITH, for bringing this issue of the real vision we need at a time like this. People are looking out there and feeling pretty bummed out by an awful lot of what is going on. Yet, America has been able to rise above things like this in the past, and we are going to do it again.

One of the issues the last time we had this kind of mess—in 1932—that we didn't get done, was health care for every-body. Now, when you lose your job, that is bad enough. Not to have money to send your kids to college, just to barely pay the mortgage and maybe keep some food on the table, keep the car running, and that is all, and sud-denly not be able to take your kids to the doctor when you're sick is a horrible feeling as a parent because your kids look to you to take care of them.

And so what we did today on SCHIP was really the beginning of the vision of what needs to be happening for all Americans because today we were talking about 8 million kids in this country that don't have health insurance, and we took care of 4 million of them, but we didn't talk about the 40-some million adults who don't have health insurance, many of whom are being added to the roles every day as they lose their insurance when they lose their job.

Now, in this country we have always said the market will take care of them; that people can go out and buy their own health insurance, and the insurance companies will have some kind of plan. But it flat is not true. When you lose your job, the likelihood of you being able to find an insurance policy that you can afford and still pay your mortgage and still pay some money for food and run the car and a few things, is absolutely zero.

I mean, in the State of Washington, the highest paid unemployed person gets $518 a week. That is $2,000 a month. Now, that is a very small group of people.

Most people are getting the average in the State of Washington—$360 a week. So that is a little over $1,200, $1,300, $1,400 a month to live on. And to be able to buy a policy that can cover the hospital of your family is almost nonexistent.

So what I am here to talk about is the fact that this country needs a national health insurance. Buried in this economic recovery package are the seeds of a medical crisis. What we have said is if you are losing your job—and we have a program today called COBRA. I don't know what it stands for. It's some acronym in the government, but what it means is when you lose your job, you can keep your health insurance in the company you work for if you can pay the premium.

You have to pay the premium plus 2 percent. So you have to pay 102 percent of the premium, right. So here you are, unemployed, and you get out there and you're supposed to come up with the money to pay 102 percent of the premium. Most people can't do it.

So in this Thursday we made it possible. We put money in there for us to pay 65 percent of the premium for people who have lost their job and are eligible to take advantage of staying in their company plan under the COBRA program.

It's the first step because the people that are losing their jobs—if you think about it, if you're 65, you're taken care of. You have got Medicare. But if you're 55, you're really dependent on where your employment is or how rich you are. Most people are getting their health insurance through their employment.

Well, between 55 and 65 is when the wheels start falling off your wagon. When you're 30, you're never going to be sick. You're going to be able to do anything you want in your life. When you get to 50, maybe a little high blood pressure. But when you're really dependent on where your employment is or how rich you are. Most people are getting their health insurance through their employment.

And so what we did today on SCHIP was really the beginning of the vision of what needs to be happening for all Americans because today we were talking about 8 million kids in this country that don't have health insurance, and we took care of 4 million of them, but we didn't talk about the 40-some million adults who don't have health insurance, many of whom are being added to the roles every day as they lose their insurance when they lose their job.

Mr. JOHNSON of Georgia. We have cut down on so many medical errors. I know that you being a doctor, you could probably relate to this. The penmanship of the average doctor is quite, some say, arrogant. You can’t understand what the prescription is, how am I going to deal with that? And if you haven’t got health insurance, then you’re caught between a kid that has got a problem and, Can I fill the prescription? Or, If I can get a big hospital bill with my kid, how am I going to deal with that?

Mr. JOHNSON of Georgia. Would the gentleman yield?

I think the American people are ready to listen to this. I think that they have listened to the fiscal conservatives say, ‘We are going to be a fiscal conservative; we are going to waste $1 trillion on a war, and we are going to run the bank into the hole and we are going to bail them out.’ People are tired of hearing that. I fly home on the planes, and the flight attendants say to me, ‘My tax money is going to bail out those guys. I want my tax money to go for things that will help me and my family and all the Americans.’ And I think that the progressive message, its time is now. So I really commend you guys for coming down here and doing this. I have to run off, but I will come back another night and work with you.

Mr. JOHNSON of Georgia. If the gentleman will yield for just one second. Let me start by saying this. The new deal and the investment that was made in this country after the great depression caused this country to prosper; and the money, there were jobs for middle class, and people accumulated wealth. They were able to buy their homes, buy their cars, send their kids to college. But back then there was a whole group of things that are not in existence now. But things like infrastructure, health care, which have gone neglected for so long, these are the new areas that we can create jobs, we are talking about million to millions of jobs will be created if we have got to think out of the box in terms of what these long-term measures that are included in the stimulus package will produce in the long term. And if I could get you to just comment on that.

Mr. MCDERMOTT. You go back and you look at history; and I was reading something just today in the Smithsonian magazine. Do you realize that the land grants, the universities in this country were started in the middle of the civil war by Abraham Lincoln? I mean, the country is in chaos, people are dying everywhere. All this is going on, and he said, ‘We have to think about the future. We are going to start land grant universities. We are going to give them.’ And every State has one. I am sure Georgia has one, I am sure Minnesota has one. We have got one. Washington State University was created. The United States was created, the middle of the war. The National Science Foundation was created by Abraham Lincoln in the middle of the war.

In these times of the deepest darkest stuff, you have to make long-term investments and think about where we are going in the future. And this bill is filled with it in terms of the health care and in terms of the alternative energy things. Those are changes that are not going to take effect tomorrow. I think my Republican colleagues on Wednesday; they are going to be affecting us in 2 or 3 or 4 or 5 years, but our kids are going to be better off and our country will be better off because we got back up on the road and started thinking long term.

Mr. JOHNSON of Georgia. I think we have got to be broad-minded as we look for solutions to this difficulty that we face that was caused by the conservative economic theories, a failed policy, miserably, a miserably failed policy. And it is causing so much misery to the 90 percent of the people who were working and did not participate in the accumulation of wealth over the last 8 years.

So I am glad that Congressman ELLISON and the Progressive Caucus is taking the lead in ushering in change in the United States Congress. And I will say that I think that the House plan is shaping up on the Senate side, it seems like they are wanting to cut things that are important for a changing economy. They want to cut, things like $400 million has been re- signed SCHIP today. Go for it, President, the executive branch, and the legislative branch. So we are now charged with the responsibility and the obligation to be, as much as we really like the Senate, to be a forceful Presidency and the new administration and the new Congress, and that kind of thing, we have got to remain diligent that we move with haste and with all deliberate speed on certain things.

The American people voted for change. They voted for change in this body, they voted for change in the executive branch, and change we must fight for. And so when we have those people who want to take us back, it is our duty and our obligation to speak out against them. And that is why I support our courageous Speaker of the House, NANCY PELOSI. She gets a bad rap on radio and sometimes in print with people demonizing her.

But there is a reason why you want to reach out and kill the head of a movement. And it is because that person is being very effective. And so I think that for the most part, we should stand tall with the House version and stand behind our House leadership as they fight for the things that we’ve worked so carefully for and got into the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act that the Senate threatens now to take away because of wanting to compromise and getting some Republican votes.

Mr. ELLISON. Will the gentleman yield? If you don’t mind, if you have a few other facts and your disposal, would you mind detailing for us tonight some of the other things that you believe we need to stick with and not compromise away? Do you have a list of those kinds of things?

Mr. JOHNSON of Georgia. Yes. I would say one of the things would be the extension of the unemployment benefits. And another thing would be the increase in public assistance money, food stamps, and the like that serve as a safety net. It is just obscene in this country that we would allow people to be living under bridges and we don’t even have enough homeless shelters for people. And many of the people are suffering from some kind of health condition that has been neglected chronically. And so that is important.

I think it is very important that we make a strong investment in our public transportation system. And that money, that sort of money has been decreed by the Senate. And it doesn’t take us well into the future. We have to think more in terms of clean and efficient energy that is environmentally safe, that starts contributing to the global warming, because that threatens to take us all out, all the people on Earth. It changes our entire way of living. And so there are certain things we must address and we must address them now. And it is for the long-term benefit of America and the world.

Mr. ELLISON. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. JOHNSON of Georgia. I will.

Mr. ELLISON. One of the things that I think it is important to bear in mind is that as we look at the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act, it is not only stimulus. We keep talking stimulus, stimulus, stimulus. That is not really the right way to describe what we’re doing. It is for long-term investment. It is an adaptation to an emergency issue, but it is also to invest in the long-term health of our Nation. So it is not just stimulus. It is important for the American people to know that.

But I do like this chart because a conservative economist named Mark Zandi did it. And he got his computers out, did some readings and figured out what is going to stimulate the economy the most, what is going to give the economy the most punch. And he found that one of the lowest things on his chart was make the income tax cuts expiring in 2010 permanent. That is like .9 percent. That is pretty low. But the big ones, the big ones that he found were things like temporary increases in food stamps. That is 1.73. That is the highest one on here. That is going to jack up and get people, that is going to help stimulate the economy, things like extend unemployment compensation benefits, 1.64 percent, things you have a moment of emergency, that we have to stick with the House version and hold up. Increasing infrastructure spending, 1.59. These are things that are really going to stimulate the economy. And I think it is important that as we really focus on stimulating the deal we don’t give in to ideological matters.

One thing I will say regarding the Obama administration, and you know I’m a big fan, is that President Obama reached out to the Republican Caucus, came on board, sat down at the table and tried to work with them. And they completely rebuffed him. And they told him just nothing doing. And here he is reaching across the aisle, trying to move us to this post-partisan place. And not one of them, even though they got their tax cuts, voted for the stimulus package. So in my opinion, I think we should not try to, we should put all the weight on stimulating the economy. We get the economy in a much better place.

We have proved to the American people that conservatives are bad in economics. They don’t understand economics very well. When the Democratic President left office in the year 2002, they said, well, it didn’t take long for the Republican President to mess it all up. And the reason was because they are bad at economics. They don’t understand economics. Actually they like economics where the rich people get and the poor people don’t. If I may, they don’t quite understand that a rising tide lifts all boats. You have to make sure that everyone is part of the economic life of the country in order to have a strong, robust economy. They just have to have tax cuts for the rich people. By definition, being rich means you don’t need the money. You just stick that money in your back pocket. Maybe it can just sit in an account. But when you give moneys to the poor for things like unemployment insurance, things like food stamps, when you invest in the Nation’s infrastructure, then you are really building the economy. Then you’re really stimulating the economy.

In my view, I will say with all due respect to our President, who I believe is a great leader, that he has tried to deal with us on the other side of the aisle. They have rejected and rebuffed his overture. So skip their tax cuts. Let’s get to some real stimulative stuff.

And I yield back.

Mr. JOHNSON of Georgia. Thank you, Congressman. That whole process of trying to get bipartisan support here in the House, this probably doomed to failure from the outset because there was no good-faith being exercised by my friends on the other side. It was just politics as usual. Let’s play “gotcha” politics, and let’s use our control over the media to get our message out and to undercut public support for the change that Americans voted for in November.

And I think that the fact that no Republican bucked their leadership to vote in favor of this plan despite the political pressure they made significant concessions to my friends on the other side of the aisle, they kept moving the goalposts. If you do this, then they want something down here.

Mr. ELLISON. Do you remember Charlie Brown, whenever he tried to kick the ball, Lucy always picks the ball up. And they picked the ball up on the President, even though they said they were going to hold it down.

I yield back.

Mr. JOHNSON of Georgia. A tremendous analogy. And so we have seen what happened in the House of Representatives. The Senate is supposed to be a more thoughtful and deliberative body. But isn’t that the place where all of the earmarks come from? And it is politics up there, too, even though the Senators are elected for 6 years as opposed to the 3 years that Representatives are elected for. And simply cannot afford to not freeze our constitutional obligations to the Senate with respect to this reinvestment plan.

Mr. ELLISON. So Congressman, we’re going to begin to wrap up our hour at this time. We’re going to allow somebody else to offer their views to the American people. But as we get ready to wrap up, I wonder if you have any remarks you would like to share before we hand it over.

Mr. JOHNSON of Georgia. Yes. My friends on the other side have become what they call “fiscally conservative” once they lost the majority in the House. And the reason why they lost the majority is because people did not like this idea of spending while at the same time cutting revenues by giving a tax break to the top 10 percent of wealthiest individuals who didn’t need it. And so I find it ironic that we hear the voices of those same proponents of failed policy wanting to do it now. How do you get to do what policies we should have. And I just think that now is the time for change. Now is the time for Members of the Progressive Caucus and all the other caucuses to insist that our carefully crafted recovery and reinvestment package is not eviscerated by the Senate and then is crammed down our throat in conference committee. I just really want us to stand tall on this one. And I do believe that our Speaker is going to lead that effort. And for that, I want to thank her and let her know that we will be right there for her.

Mr. ELLISON. And if the gentleman yields back, you can bet I will be right there with you standing behind our great Speaker, Nancy Pelosi, a transformative leader for all America, a transformative leader, a leader with energy. The fact that she has children the same age as you and I, Congressman, doesn’t undermine her energy level. She is energetic. She is powerful. She is visionary. She is progressive. And you and I are here today talking about the Progressive Caucus.

We’re here talking about a progressive vision for our Nation. We’re making this obvious observation. In the Progressive Caucus you say, look, if you don’t like government, if you believe government is the problem, as Ronald Reagan famously said, “government is the problem,” it stands to reason you might not be good at it. If you think government is not a good idea to begin with, you might not invest the time, energy and resources necessary to be good at it. And therefore it should be no surprise to anyone that the government, that the Republicans and the conservative leaders in economics. They are just not good at it. And so it is not surprising to me that they would think that you could increase spending around a war, cut taxes, and then think that things are going to go well economically—they didn’t go well economically—and then deregulate everything, and then neglect the infrastructure.

Well, we’re back to offer a progressive vision, to say to America that it is time to have an inclusive economy, to have civil rights, to have environmental protection and to make a better way forward for all Americans. This has been Congressman KEITH ELLISON with the progressive Caucus with Congressman JOHNSON. Thank you, sir. Congressman MCDERMOTT joined us and we are very proud to be here representing the Progressive Caucus with the progressive message.

ANNALS OF PUBLIC POLICY: GETTING THERE FROM HERE

HOW SHOULD OBAMA REFORM HEALTH CARE?

(By Atul Gawande)

In every industrialized nation, the movement to reform health care has begun with stories. The Canadians told stories like the 1946 Toronto Globe and Mail report of a woman in labor who was refused help by three successive physicians, apparently because of her inability to pay. In Australia, a 1964 letter published in the Sydney Morning Herald sought help for a young woman who had lung disease. She couldn’t afford to refill her oxygen tank, and had been forced to ration her intake “to a point where she is on the borderline of death.” In Britain, George Bernard Shaw was at a London hospital when an assistant came in to report that a sick man had arrived requesting treatment. “Is he worth it?” the physician asked. It was the normalcy of the question that shocked Shaw and prompted his scathing and influential 1906 play, “The Doctor’s Dilemma.” The British health system, he charged, was “a conspiracy to exploit popular credulity and human suffering.”

In the United States, our stories are like the one that appeared in the Times before Christmas. Pregnan... national system of health coverage was not only necessary but also largely already in place—with nationally run hospitals, salaried doctors, and free care for everyone. So, while the proposal for a universal coverage system was spurred by those horror stories, the particular system that emerged in Britain was not the product of socialist ideology or a deliberate, ideologically motivated public choice, but rather the result of a series of unplanned, largely unintended events. Each country had a different continuing pattern of evolution. But each has taken a different and successful path that guarantees affordable health care for about ten per cent of an individual's income. Each has subsidies to limit the cost to no more than seven per cent of disposable income. Each system has among the highest public-satisfaction levels of any major Western country; each has a higher life expectancy, lower infant mortality, more physicians, and lower costs. The British system—not because it didn't work but because it was virulently disliked—was thrown over the rails just to keep it afloat. The program killed people. Many were harmed, but it is likely that thousands of lives were lost. The system provided more than thirty million Americans with the pharmaceuticals they took. Tens of thousands were uninsured, but millions more were locked in on a path that has a lower payoff than any other. For those in need, the effects were significant and irreversible. For those who could afford to purchase insurance, the effects were substantial and irreversible.

In France, in the winter of 1945, President de Gaulle was likewise weighing how to ensure that his nation's population had decent health care after the devastation of war. But the system that he inherited upon liberation had no significant public insurance or hospital sector. Seventy-five per cent of the population paid cash for private medical care, and in the remainder of the population living as refugees—the de Gaulle government had neither the time nor the capacity to create an entirely new system—insight was crucial if it was to have a chance. France had only one insurance system in place, and it became the scaffolding for French health care. With, an almost impossible range of crises on its hands—food shortages, destroyed powerplants, a quarter of the population living as refugees—the de Gaulle government had neither the time nor the capacity to create an entirely new system. It was also clear what had worked on it what had, expanding the existing pay-roll-tax-funded, private insurance system to cover all wage earners, their families, and their retirees. The self-employed were added on in the nineteen-fifties. And the remainder of uninsured sectors were finally included in 2000.

Today, Securité Sociale provides payroll-tax-financed insurance to all French residents, primarily through a hundred and forty-four independent, not-for-profit, local insurance funds. The French health-care sys-

By 1945, the United States was ranked thirty-sixth in the world, with a hospitalization rate of five per thousand. In France, sixty per thousand. In 1960, the World Health Organization ranked it the best health-care system in the world. (The United States was ranked thirty-sixth.)

The political scientist Paul Pierson observed that this system sounds a lot like politics, and not just economics. When a social policy entails major setup costs and large numbers of people who must devote time and resource to developing expertise, early choices become difficult to reverse. And if those choices are made by the political parties rather than the voters, there is a large political component to the political science literature. And now make it exceedingly difficult to do things differently.

The bottom line for our explanation for our employment-based health-care system. Like Sweden, Switzerland, the United States made it through the war without damaging its domestic infrastructure. But in the United States, much of our workforce abroad to fight. This led the Roosevelt Administration to impose national wage controls to prevent inflationary in-

The worst that could happen is to be upgraded. But you can't turn off the system, and, if you won't, we rebuild it. Grand plans admit no possibility of mistakes or failures, or the chance to learn from them. If we get things wrong, people will die. This doesn't mean that ambitious reforms are not possible, that the system can't be saved. But we have to start with what we have.

That kind of constraint isn't unique to the health-care system. A century ago, the modern telecommunications system that came to be called the P.S.T.N., the Public Switched Telephone Network. This auto-

Some people regard the path-dependence of our policies as evidence of weak leadership; we have, they charge, allowed our choices to be constrained by history and by vested interests. But that's too simple. The reality is that leaders are held responsible for the hazards of change as well as for the benefits. And that historical information isn't exactly inspiring. The familiar horror story is Mao's Great Leap For-like it. Yet this jerry-rigged system has provided us with 911 emergency service, voice mail, instant global connectivity, mobile-phone lines, and the transformation from analog to digital communication. It has also been fantastically reliable, designed to have as little as two hours of total downtime every forty years. As a system that can’t be turned on and off, we have been trapped in path-dependence. But that hasn’t prevented dramatic change. The structure may not have undergone revolution; the way it system has been a hodgepodge for so long in path-dependence. But that hasn’t prevented dramatic change. The structure may not have undergone revolution; the way it functions, the P.S.T.N. may be the ultimate twenty-first century possible.

So accepting the path-dependent nature of our health-care system—recognizing that we had better build on what we’ve got—doesn’t mean that we have to curtail our ambitions.
The overarching goal of health-care reform is to establish a system that has three basic attributes. It should leave one uncovered—medical debt must disappear as a cause of personal bankruptcy in America. It should no longer be an economic catastrophe for employers. And it should hold doctors, nurses, hospitals, drug and device companies, and insurers collectively responsible for making care better, safer, and less costly.

We have our old system, for a new one that will accomplish all this. But we can build a new system on the old one. On the start date for our new health-care system—on, say, January 1, 2011—there need be no noticeable change for the vast majority of Americans who have dependable coverage during the transition. But we can create a kind of lifeboat alongside it for those who have been left out or dumped out, a rescue program for people like Starla Darling.

In designing this program, we will inevitably want to build on the institutions we already have. That precept sounds as if it would severely limit our choices. But our health-care system has a tremendous advantage: We actually have experience with all kinds of systems. The truth is that American health care has been more florid than ship.
Our veterans’ health-care system is a program of twelve hundred government-run hospitals and other medical facilities all across the country (just like Britain’s). We could open it up to other people. We could give people a chance to join Medicare, our government insurance program (much like Canda’s). Or we could provide people with cov-verage through the benefits program that federal workers already have, a system of pri-ivate-insurance choices (like Switzerland’s).

These are all established programs, each with advantages and disadvantages. The veterans’ system has low costs, one of the nation’s best information-technology systems for health care, and quality of care that (despite what you’ve heard) has, in recent years, come to exceed the private sector’s on numerous measures. But it has a tightly limited choice of clinicians—you can’t go to see any doctor and the nearest facility may be far away from where you live.
Medicare allows you to go to almost any private doctor or hospital you like, and has been extremely popular among its beneficiaries, but it costs about a third more per person and has had a hard time getting doctors and hospitals to improve the quality and safety of their care. Federal workers are entitled to a range of subsidized private-insurance choices, but insurance companies have done even less than Medicare to contain costs and have done little to improve health care (although there are some striking exceptions).

THE AMERICAN ECONOMY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker’s announced policy of January 6, 2009, the gentleman from Iowa
(Mr. KING) is recognized for 60 minutes.

Mr. KING of Iowa. Madam Speaker, I very much appreciate the privilege to address you this evening on the floor of the United States House of Representatives. And I also appreciate the dialouge that is taking place on the floor.
This is the most deliberative body anywhere in the world. And we have a privilege to be part of it. And as we engage in this debate, it is the circumstance that across this country, across the country (just like Britain’s). We could have a system of private-insurance choices that takes place in our schools, in our churches, at the workplace, in the coffee shop, across the room, across the backyard fence, on the snowmobile and outside doing chores.

And over and over again, Americans interact with each other. And while that is going on, they talk about a lot of things that matter to them, much about the aftermath of the Super Bowl, but also current events. And America is, at this point, transfixed on the current event of the—I think not aptly named—“stimulus plan” that is being debated over in the Rothand of the United States House of Rep-resentatives.

And so as this American conversation takes place, they are moving towards a consensus. And sometimes we don’t achieve that consensus, Madam Speaker. But the more dialogue we have, the more facts that are brought to play, and in fact many Members in this body know that if they can bring the emotional anecdote to play, it also moves people’s opinions.

The things that move people’s opinions bring us towards a consensus. When we arrive at a consensus, that consensus, if America’s consensus doesn’t match up with the Congressional census you will see many Members, Madam Speaker, in this Chamber will shift their position to realign themselves with their constituents.

Now, there are two ways to do this job. One way is to stand up and lay out the framework of the principles that we believe in as individual Members, and then hang on to that framework, attach to it the components of public policy that are compatible with the fundamental belief framework. That’s what I believe I’ve done. And I very much like the input that I received from my constituents the people from my State and across the country, that adds to my knowledge base so that I can make a reasoned, informed decidion. That’s what I think the founders had in mind when they wrote this Constitution and established this constitutional republic, that there would be representatives in this constitutional republic that would come here. We owe our constituents, all of them, our best effort. And more importantly, Madam Speaker, we owe them our best judgment. That’s one way of doing this job here in the United States Congress.

The other is, Madam Speaker, to take a position that you’re going to get in front of your constituents, see where they are going, check the wind speed, the barometer, so to speak, and then put your finger in the air and take a position that reflects the position of your constituents.

And I would bring a little anecdote of Robespierre to mind. He was pretty well established within the French revolution. He was an advocate for the effective and ruthless utilization of power to get rid of enemies and get rid of the aristocracy that he believed had drug the French down and brought about this revolution. But as the people marched in the streets Robespierre went to the window and looked out and the mob was marching through the streets in France. This would be about 1789. And he said, I’d better get in front of them and see where they are going for I am their leader.

Now, that’s no kind of leader that just simply tries to lead the mob wherever it is that they happen to be going.
And some months later Robespierre was one of about 16,000 Frenchmen and women that found themselves a head shorter. But that was a leadership style that didn’t work very well for Robespierre, and it doesn’t work very well for the United States of America.

It’s our task to have a vision for the future. We need to articulate the principles that we believe in and build policies around those tried and true principles that have created this great American Nation. It isn’t going to be a grand mosaic of 435 Members that stick and see where they are going for I am their leader.

was a $700 billion bailout, without a prediction on the prospects of its success, it simply was an emphatic request from then Secretary of the Treasury Paulson that he needed to have a checking account with $700 billion in it, all his money, he might add, so that he could spend it at his discretion to pick up the toxic debt, as he described it. And that’s how we ended up with the TARP fund.

And so we let the first half of that out, 17 years later. And the second half was contingent upon the successful deployment of the first half. And I’ve seen not the signs of success of that first half. In fact, our stock market has continued to tank. Our economic indicators are going in the wrong direction. There’s $350 billion that went into his hand that much of it did get expended, with the other $350 billion, and now this Congress has approved that it go there. It only took the approval of one body to do that. And the Senate did that. That’s a start on this economic stimulus component.

But I did not hear a clearly articulated argument back then, back that started here on September 19 when Secretary Paulson came to this Congress and culminated in a vote that was in early October. I didn’t hear clearly articulated principles that they would adhere to on how America was going to get back on track.

And so I look on this continuum of mistakes that have been made, and I take us back to a year, and it’s my recollection, it’s not confirmed date, but about 1978 when the Community Reinvestment Act was passed and became law. That’s a component of the flaws that we have. It was legislation that I think was inspired for the right reasons. I think it was well-intentioned, but it turned out to be a large mistake. And it was because there were lenders that had redlined inner city neighborhoods that they decided the value of the real estate wasn’t going to be sustained in those neighborhoods and sometimes the residents didn’t have a very good credit rating. So, with the combination of those two things they just said these whole neighborhoods we’re not going to loan money in. People there couldn’t buy a house. They can’t buy a house. That sent the real estate value spilling downward. And a blanket decision to pick up a blanket around the map was the wrong thing to do, Madam Speaker. But the roots of the problem were created out of the good intentions of trying to provide for loans for residences within those neighborhoods that had been redlined, and the Community Reinvestment Act was born. And it was refreshed again in the early ‘90s, I believe it was 1993, brought up to a little more modern language. But in it all, it held lenders accountable if they wanted to expand their operations, set up a branch or consolidate. They were essentially stuck in place unless they could comply with the regulation of the Community Reinvestment Act and say, what are you doing to expand your loans into these neighborhoods? And if the answer was nothing, they were denied an opportunity to expand their operations, set up a branch or consolidate. They were essentially stuck in place unless they could comply with the regulation of the Community Reinvestment Act.

Once you lay down a foundation and a parameter, then you encourage the lenders to give bad loans. And when the lenders were giving bad loans in order to be positioned so that their portfolios were a certain percentage of those bad loans, doing so they had the ability to expand, and we had an economy that was expanding, although, going to the ‘80s it was not. We had our farm crisis, our real estate crisis and our energy crisis all together in the ‘80s and we lost 3,000 banks in the United States. I think it was well-intentioned, up a branch or consolidate. They were denied an opportunity to expand their operations, set up a branch or consolidate. And when the lenders were giving bad loans in order to be positioned so that their portfolios were a certain percentage of those bad loans, doing so they had the ability to expand, and we had an economy that was expanding, although, going to the ‘80s it was not. We had our farm crisis, our real estate crisis and our energy crisis all together in the ‘80s and we lost 3,000 banks in the United States. I think it was well-intentioned.

And I think that number got marginally higher after he had made that statement. But in any case, as this came together we had a lot of those were bad loans. We had bad loans that were made into these neighborhoods under the incentive of the Community Reinvestment Act and facilitated in a very different fashion as their competitor lending institutions, that gave an unfair advantage to the Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac institutions that were the secondary loan market. And they nearly cornered the secondary loan market, the mortgage market in the United States.

And we came to the floor in this Congress once in 2001, plus or minus a year on that one if you might, Madam Speaker. But again, and made the debate that we should regulate Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac more like other lending institutions because it was too high a risk for the taxpayers to take. Well, that amendment and that effort failed in those earlier years in this millennium, Madam Speaker.

And then, I remember the date, it was here on this floor and it took place from that microphone there and that microphone over there. It was an amendment that was brought to the floor October 26, 2005, by Congressman Jim Leach of Iowa, who was and remains very well respected among the banking community and the lending institutions. He brought an amendment that would have brought Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac into the similar capital requirements of the banks, and the similar regulatory requirements of the banks.

I think he stopped one step short with that amendment. I think he should have moved them towards the clear free market side of this. But in any case, as that amendment was defeated in the House in this last decade at least we’ve had an opportunity to get Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac right.

They were, again, Madam Speaker, playing off and capitalizing on the language in the Community Reinvestment Act that said make bad loans in these neighborhoods that don’t have a very good value of their real estate. But twice we turned away from shoring up Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, tightening them up, putting them back into the competitive marketplace. And so we found ourselves in a situation, when AIG was ready to go under and the $85 billion got poured in there about in that era, that’s a little bit before that, Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac became very unstable and we had to step in as the Federal Government and nationalize the balance of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac. Now the taxpayers own Fannie and Freddie. And now Fannie and Freddie don’t have any new regulation that requires them to meet those capital and regulatory requirements. But we missed an opportunity to privatize them and regulate them according to the other lending institutions.
The compound effect of the Community Reinvestment Act, mark-to-market swaps that were taking place, the lack of regulation on Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac and the defense that came from the then-chairman of the Financial Services Committee, from Massachusetts, who stood at that microphone and debated Mr. Leach, who was at this microphone, and at a certain point the political center of gravity on that debate went towards the gentlemen from Massachusetts, and I think the lobbying effect had an effect on the result as well, Madam Speaker.

But in any case, the Leach amendment went down. That was our last opportunity that I know on this floor to get Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac right.

So we had large financial indicators that were going in the wrong direction. And as this started to tumble it started to snowball down hill it took us to this point on September 19, when Secretary Paulson came to the Capitol and insisted that he have the $700 billion checking account to spend as he saw fit, and within those narrow parameters. Well, not so very narrow parameters, within a broad definition, a huge authorization/appropriation, and maybe the largest that had ever passed out of this Congress. And I'm not certain about that. But it was huge.

I listened to the gentleman from Minnesota, who left the floor a moment ago, Madam Speaker, and he talked about the surplus that we had in the year 2000. That happens to be the last year of the Clinton administration. It is true that we had a surplus during several of those years, and the gentleman from Minnesota, I think recognized that he was in the process of misspeaking and backed up to say that the budget surplus was an accomplishment of the administration at the time. At least that was the implication of his words. It was not a quote. I don't want it to be characterized as that, Madam Speaker. Then they go on and argue that this deficit is a deficit that came in the Bush administration, and so here we go again.

We have a Member of Congress here who will argue and who has argued that the Clinton administration deserves the credit for the surplus that was in our budget in the year 2000 and that the Bush administration deserves the blame for the deficit that we have today. Well, all right. On the surface, maybe you can make that connection, and I would be happy to have this dialogue with the gentleman from Minnesota. Should he arrive on this floor, I would be happy to yield and have that dialogue.

The first point I would make is that all of this spending starts here in the House of Representatives, within a broad definition, a huge authorization/appropriation, and maybe the largest that had ever passed out of this Congress. And I'm not certain about that. But it was huge.

So we have a $2 trillion stimulus plan and a stock market that continues to tank and a financial world out there that lacks confidence that government has been doing the right thing since the election and, in fact, since before the election. We have watched our economy spiral downward. We have watched our market indicators spiral downward. We have watched our unemployment rates go up. Those indicators do not indicate confidence in the leadership that we have in the financial world.

So the financial world, the investment world, the people who are putting capital in that is used to expand the productivity and the distribution and the market share of our companies, are pulling their capital out. They are investing in gold and in buying bonds. I am sure that some of that is sewn up in the mattress by now, that some of it is invested in gold, that some of it is invested in foreign currency as well. Although, I am a bit surprised that our dollar has held up as strongly as it has, and that is more of the weakness of foreign currency rather than a reason to consider there to be strength in this U.S. dollar today. In any case, the supply of U.S. dollars has gone up, and as it has, the instability goes with it.

So we have a $2 trillion stimulus plan that is 100 percent lock, stock and barrel owned by President Obama, who said to us that it is one leg of a multi-legged stool that has to be built in order to get this economy back on track again.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE

Now let me submit that there are two ways to look at this economic situation, and the economy is the Keynesian approach, which is, if government can pour enough money into the economy and get enough money into the hands of enough people who will take that money and spend enough of it, that it will stimulate the economy. So if more people go out and buy a loaf of bread or buy a car or maybe go to the theater or to the ball game or maybe buy a ball glove themselves, that increased spending will stimulate a demand that will cause more manufacturing and more goods to be brought into our economy. That is the Keynesian approach.

The problem with it is that, looking back in history and at the times when we have done such things, the actual economic measures do not support the idea that pouring money willy-nilly into the economy in an indiscriminate fashion results in the stimulation of our economy.

I will not argue, Madam Speaker, that there aren't some places where government can invest money that does stimulate the economy. One of those places would be investing in transportation links that open up development in new areas and that help goods and services move back and forth in a more efficient fashion. That does create economic development. Transportation has been the number one best tool to use to grow economic development throughout the history of all of humanity.

So I do not take it all off the table, but there is much that is on the table that I would take off. I would not put a dollar into the National Endowment for the Arts and call it economic development.

Here is another piece that I was just looking at. Of the infrastructure funding within the stimulus package, there is language in there that bans that money from going into facilities that allow religious worship in them. I am not sure if you heard that part of the debate, but I made the request that that language be eliminated and that we would not support it. I think that it goes downhill from there.

I know that President Obama has said that he is familiar with the Center for Disease Control and Prevention and therefore he approved of that. He has said that he inherited a $1 trillion deficit and there are going to be less stimulus in it. While I might agree with that, I think that President Obama has been the one to drive this bill and has not made the decision to put that language into the stimulus package as it is now. I think that it is an outrageous thing. It is the most outrageous.

Among the other outrageous things that are in this bill or where there are provisions that is contained in the stimulus package, the parametters set: $400 million for education and for the prevention of sexually transmitted diseases. Economic stimulus plan. I wonder what economic guru and wonder what department of economists would be best to help in coming up with an idea like that.

I know that President Obama has said that he is familiar with the College of Economics at the University of Chicago. He's the one that I went under. I don't know that that would be the kind of a policy that would emerge from a think tank at the University of Chicago, I suspect not.

As for the places I have been and as for the people who are good friends, if I took them seriously, it would not come out of their economics departments either. I can't imagine the mindset of people, who have the public trust, drafting into legislation legislation that now is in the $900 billion zone, unifying the country in interest. I can't imagine what kind of a think tank would produce an idea that got past the first sentence where we would stimulate the economy by investing $400 million in sexually transmitted diseases. It may be a good program, but I can tell you, Madam Speaker, that the return on that investment with regard to a stimulus plan would no way in the world be measured in our economy by investing $400 million in sexually transmitted disease prevention. That is one of those bizarre ideas. If that is a stimulus plan, that is not it, not for me, not for the taxpayers of America, and it ought to be out of there.

I will just read from this: “In order to control and prevent sexually transmitted diseases, the Centers for Disease Control used its budget for the following purposes:” This is within the existing budget of the Centers for Disease Control. “A transender beauty pageant, a campaign to advertise available HIV testing.” There would be an economic stimulus plan within the budget of the CDC, I presume. I would reject that as well. The Centers for Disease Control funded an event also put on by the Stop AIDS Project called “Got Love: Flirt, Date, Score” that taught participants how to flirt with greater finesse. This our Federal tax dollars.

It embarrasses me to read that for two reasons. One is this dialogue in this public sphere makes me a little uneasy. The other is that we have people who are entrusted, Madam Speaker, with the American people's tax dollars who would do this, allow this light face and maybe even under the light of day, take money and divert it to these kinds of projects.

I have a list here. I cannot bring myself to rest the read of the rest of it because I think that it goes downhill from there. In fact, clearly, it does.

So a $700 billion bailout plan, coupled with a $1.25 trillion stimulus package. It is a $2 trillion approach here that is designed to supposedly stimulate and create jobs. It has said that he inherited a $1 trillion deficit. I do not know that it is $1 trillion—it may be—but he also owns a $2 trillion bailout/stimulus plan. It is his plan. He voted for the $700 billion.

He's advocated the 1¼ trillion, even though I think that the President's approach to this is slightly more reasonable than that of the Speaker of the House, Madam Speaker, in that there's at least been lip service paid to the idea that there should be a little more stimulus in it, a little more for small business, and there should be less in this wish list. But when I look at the wish list, it comes to me this way. It appears to be the huge wish list that's been produced by the activist liberals in this Congress, Madam Speaker, and they can't seem to restrain themselves from jumping on this and putting in things that they couldn't get passed when they were held more accountable.

One of the former Members of the Congress who has been an effective leader on the other side of the aisle, from where I stand, said never let a crisis go to waste. Well, I have to tip my hat to that philosophy, however much I disagree with it. The Speaker, the leadership, the Chairs of the committees, both Appropriations, Financial Services and a number of others, have not allowed this crisis to go to waste. They've jumped on it with every opportunity to expand government, to grow government, to raise the baseline, to pour hundreds of billions of dollars, more than that of the Speaker of the House.

One of the former Members of the Congress who has been an effective leader on the other side of the aisle, from where I stand, said never let a crisis go to waste. Well, I have to tip my hat to that philosophy, however much I disagree with it. The Speaker, the leadership, the Chairs of the committees, both Appropriations, Financial Services and a number of others, have not allowed this crisis to go to waste. They’ve jumped on it with every opportunity to expand government, to grow government, to raise the baseline, to pour hundreds of billions of dollars, more than that of the Speaker of the House.

And there's a belief over on this side of the aisle—and I'd love to do this debate on the floor of Congress one day, to go even with the Speaker of the House—there's a belief that Franklin Delano Roosevelt somehow saved America from the Great Depression.
Well, I looked at that. I was taught that. I sat in the classrooms from probably eighth grade on where it was the mantra that FDR saved us from the Great Depression and won World War II. In fact, I didn’t hear my parents rebut that either. It didn’t come from the home. Then I began to look at it differently.

I will say FDR was very, very useful in fighting and winning World War II. He was great for the spirit of America. He held our will together, and it was a hard thing to do, and he provided a high level of confidence in American military and our Commander in Chief that was, I will say, essential in winning World War II in the way that we did, but that doesn’t equate into giving him a pass into what went on in the 1930s.

And I’m not here either, Madam Speaker, to advocate that my Iowa President, Herbert Hoover, got everything right. He got almost everything right in all the times across the entire life, he was a magnificent individual, an utterly brilliant man that sometimes the things he touched literally turned to gold, speaking of the gold mining industry in Australia. His life and his history was just a never-ending string of success, which gave him a sense, I think, of false confidence that he could manage an economy, support Smoot-Hawley, and use the government to get us out of an economic problem.

That set the stage for FDR to be elected in 1932, who came into this and began to kick off the New Deal, the New Deal that had within it a multitude of projects. Ones that come to mind are WPA, the CCC. There were a number of others. And as I watched that unfold, I went through the history of the New Deal, having been taught continually that the New Deal was what bailed us out of the Great Depression.

And so when I was a junior in high school, I was assigned the task of writing a term paper, and I don’t recall clearly, but I believe I had to select from a list of possible topics, and I think we might have been able to offer our own. But in any case, I chose the New Deal and the Great Depression and FDR because I had been convinced by the educators that FDR got us through the depression, and it was his creativity and innovativeness that saved us from that economic crisis.

And so I began to do the homework to write that term paper, and I took it very seriously. It was a project for me and it was personal. It was personalized and it was internalized. And the big part of it for me was to go into the public library, the public library, the Carnegie library in Denison, Iowa, where I went to high school. I sat down in there and I began to pull the newspapers. The newspaper was a county seat newspaper, county seat of about 6,500 people today, and they published twice a week.

I began getting those old newspapers out, and I started when the stock market crashed in October of 1929, and I read that newspaper thoroughly, took my notes. There were no copy machines in those days, so I was preparing the handwritten term paper that I would write and was ready to put the term paper together. I remember sitting in the room, the newspaper room in the library, looking up at the ceiling and thinking, this is far different than I thought it would be.

I really didn’t see evidence there that the New Deal had stimulated the economy. I didn’t see evidence it had saved us from the depths of the Great Depression. I couldn’t follow that huge vast government programs, government taking over entity after entity and justifying it. I couldn’t see the evidence that it had significantly reduced unemployment. I couldn’t see the evidence that capital had come into the investment markets, and if you tracked the Dow Jones Industrial Average, that Dow stayed down and way down throughout the 1930s, and unemployment that was about 25 percent going into FDR’s first term hung in there pretty tough all the way through. And I believe the lowest unemployment was throughout that entire decade was 14 percent.

Now, those things that I saw, that I read, when I come into something with a conclusion that I’m seeking to ratify with evidence and walk away from that having turned 180 degrees, realizing that FDR’s New Deal plan wasn’t a plan that bailed us out of the Great Depression but at best, at best, it can only be critiqued and analyzed to have perhaps diminished the depths to which we fell in the Great Depression, at the cost of the economy, all of that borrowed money and the tax money that came away from the private sector and was poured into growing government, that money that went in was money that scared other capital out of the investment business and kept private industry from growing. And so government investment made private capital hesitant, that that was left that wasn’t taxed away, and perhaps the government investment recovers from the Great Depression.

So even if FDR’s New Deal diminished the depths to which we might have fallen if he would have done a hand-off if he would have been a cool, like, not a Hoover, if he had done that, I think we would have recovered quickly. I think we would have bounced back quickly, but that wasn’t what happened.

Government spending brought about indecision and scared capital way from the marketplace, and it hired government workers, many, many government workers. The CCC camps would be among them, and I know what it’s like to try to hire labor when government workers are what you’re out to hire labor. Government will always pay when you’re talking about blue collar jobs. Government will pay the highest wages. They’ll pay the highest benefits. They’ll give the most job security. You’re out to hire a family and you’re unemployed, you’re looking for a job, and you go out into the job market and you put out your applications and you stand in line and you begin to market yourself and begin to go to job interviews, and you begin to work for Uncle Sam and going to work for the new entrepreneur down the road that just put together enough capital on a wing and a prayer to start up an entrepreneurial business that might grow into something magnificent, when government outbids the private sector for labor, they also, Madam Speaker, delay the recovery of a depression, of recession, or they diminish the growth during our bull markets in other good times and bad.

And that is what happened during the Great Depression. The Federal Government competed with the private sector for capital, by nationalizing, by competing for labor. When that happened, it diminished the inspirations of the entrepreneurs. They hired workers away that might have been entrepreneurs themselves but took them out of the labor force and the private sector.

And so government, the private sector shrunk, the stock market sank and stayed flat.

In fact, from that time in October of 1929, the Dow Jones Industrial Average did not recover to that level, not at all throughout the 1930s, not at all through the 1940s. Not until 1954 did the Dow Jones Industrial Average get back to the place where it was in October of 1929.

So one might even argue—in fact, Madam Speaker, I will argue—that not only did not the New Deal get us out of the depression. It might have helped bridge us marginally to get to the Second World War, but I’ll argue the Second World War didn’t take us out of it.
either because we didn’t get recovered. But what did happen was the Second World War destroyed the rest of the world’s industry, and it left the U.S., having been on a huge growth boom in our manufacturing and industry here to meet the war effort for the world and for our 16,000, mostly men but also women, that served in uniform during that period of time.

So we found ourselves in a world that needed, that was hungry for the products of industry, and with the only major industrial country in the world that hadn’t been destroyed in the Second World War, and as our industry cranked out product after product, and as we exported the excess, the greenback became the currency of the world, when all that happened, we were recovering economically. And that’s why it took until 1954.

So the Second World War was a big stimulus game-play that spent a lot of big government money, but the private sector, as we emerged from the Second World War, is what put the real meat on the bones and brought us out of that and took us through the recovery that reached in 1954. And then that’s the part of the economy that now that I remember in my life’s experience, Madam Speaker.

But we should not fool ourselves into believing that the New Deal was a good deal. We should instead go back and replay history, reset that clock and play it out. What ifCoolidge had remained President? What if we would have set a policy from this very floor of this Congress that we were exporting to have fiscal discipline and tax relief and get as much money into the hands of the productive sector of the economy as we possibly could? That would be a very interesting exercise to reset that clock and play it out. I believe that we may have dropped deeper, but I also believe that we would have recovered much more quickly, and I believe we would be a stronger, more robust economy today if we had made these changes.

So this brings us now fast forward into 2009, this day today. We’re here watching a stock market that has tanked, that hasn’t quite lost half of its value, but it’s juggling underneath and falling below the 8,000 floor. We have indicators that show that there are 10.5, 11 million people, maybe more, that are unemployed and looking for work; although, the real unemployment, marginally a little more than half of that number.

We have economic indicators that mean capital is scarce and unemployment numbers going up. Investment capital is diminishing. Smart money is going into the disciplines. Demand for loans has shrunk substantially. It hasn’t disappeared entirely. The marketing of these homes that were the toxic debt that Secretary Paulson talked about, actually there was a little bump in the transfer of those, but until we work our way through this, this economy is not going to be back on a solid foundation.

We have to get it on a solid foundation by having solid economic theory here on the floor of this Congress, not the idea that a new New Deal is going to somehow be better than the old New Deal. And I would challenge, Mr. Speaker, our President to lay out some data, new New Deal actually worked. And I understand his position that FDR didn’t spend enough money, that if he had just spent more money, if he hadn’t lost his nerve, if he hadn’t dropped interstate highway and fiscal responsibility, there would have been a lot bigger old New Deal that would have brought us out of the depression before the Second World War. I understand the President believes that because FDR lost his nerve on spending that it brought about a recession within a depression. That’s something I had never heard before. I understand that’s a belief. And I understand that the President of the United States believes that we can construct a multilegged stool of New Deal-like programs in order to, in a Keynesian way, stimulate the economy, that we have a real political problem on our hands that is an economic problem on our hands that is a parameter here that will set a precedent if we go forward with this stimulus plan for the United States of America that we can never go back and fix again. Once you cross that line, once you write that check, you obligate our children and our grandchildren to pay the interest on this debt—and Lord knows if they could ever pay the principal—once you buy into this huge, humongous, Keynesian, multi-trillion-dollar bailout/stimulus plan which says that government is the solution and the only answer and that, yes, private sector can tag along but they aren’t big enough to make a difference. Even though some of these companies are, CEOs, for example, are not accurately, too big to be allowed to fail. If the private sector can be too big to be allowed to fail, how can they not be big enough to work us out of this calamity? How can we draw a conclusion that we can create jobs out there from the government side of this argument when the very fact that those jobs haven’t been created in the private sector says there wasn’t a demand for them, they weren’t economically sound or smart capital would have found a way to create those jobs in the first place. But what we have is a self-confident, over-confident, in fact, arrogant government that believes that they are the solution and that they can lead the private sector. And when I hear the statement come out that the CEOs of these corporations that receive bailout money will be limited to no more than $500,000 a year in compensation, it sounds like enough money to me, also, Mr. Speaker. But I will tell you that more than likely it is what happens when you have the Federal Government engaging in providing capital into the private sector, they also begin to micromanage the private sector. When they micromanage the private sector, you get things like wage reductions for CEOs and boards of directors. And you get things like perhaps one day you’ll see, well, a wage decrease for the CEO, and when I hear that and I think the President of the United States wants to tell a company how much they can pay their CEOs and their board of directors, is there any principle there that remains that the CEO and board of directors, the President of the United States or this Congress telling these companies what they will pay their workers? If the President has enough influence in this Congress and holds the checkbook through the Secretary of the Treasury, and I’m pretty uneasy about him having our checkbook actually with his tax problems, but in any case, if he holds the checkbook and the directive of the President is that the blue collar worker on working enough money per hour, if you’re going to see a stream of capital come into the company, the lending institution, for example, then you’re going to comply with the demands of the President. That’s not have to be any of the land. They don’t have to be something that is legislation that is debated and voted up or down on the floor of this Congress, They only have to be the intimidation effect of we will make your life miserable, Mr. President, Board of Directors, if you don’t comply with this verbal comment that was made by the President of the United States, or the chairman of a committee. That’s how government gets in the business of managing corporations. That’s how European socialism emerges in our private sector, a little piece at a time, sometimes in a veiled way and it seems to all be justified as it comes along and it sounds good to us because we don’t want to be bailing out companies who aren’t economically sound or smart. CEOs and boards of directors are taking out hundreds of millions of dollars in bonuses. I agree with that, that sentiment. I think I saw that the Wall Street executives only bonusied themselves, in the aggregate, $30 billion last year. $20 billion! While we saw our stock market tank, while we saw all of our indicators go down and meanwhile they’re taking checks from the Federal Government. But it’s very dangerous to be in the business, the Federal Government, of micromanaging the private sector. So the alternative is we have to let some of them fail. There has to be a deterrent there to allow some of them to fail. And if we’re not willing to do that, then European-style socialism at best here we come, faster than you can believe, fast enough that an historian will get whiplash watching what happens in this Congress.

And as I looked at the poster that was put up on the floor, Mr. Speaker, the poster that says Congressional Progressive Caucus could end our financial crisis, I went to that Web site, cpc.grijalva.house.gov, and I will go there within the next few hours, Mr. Speaker, because I have... taken a look at these Web sites and it helps me understand what’s going on in the minds of the folks that are voting on that side of the aisle of the United States Congress. So my little visit over last weekend to the Democratic Socialists of America Web site, and I would point out that is the Socialist Party of America, that little visit to that Web site tells me a few things. First, they make the argument that they’re not Communists. You can get into the nuances with Speaker, and I would encourage you to look at that definitional difference. I think it’s a nuance, the difference between their definition of socialism and communism, but it comes to this. They don’t believe everything should be owned by the government. They think that there are small businesses that need to be run by entrepreneurs, supply and demand, barbershop and convenience stores, presumably, not the chains, just the individuals, maybe the doughnut shop down the road, some of those things need to be run by individuals, but by and large their statement very clearly is, large companies need to be run by the people affected by them. That is a dramatic departure from one of the huge foundations of what’s made this country great, our free market economy.

So we would actually see a position taken on a Web site of the Democratic Socialists of America that the government should make sure that we run these corporations for the benefits of well, let’s just say the people affected by them. That would mean, then, that the telephone customers would be the ones who would call the shots. They would say, here’s how it benefits me, and you would make those decisions according to my wishes, not according to me paying by bills willingly. Let’s just say that you had a sports bar chain and you ran that for the benefit of the people that are using it. So I guess the drinkers would make the call there, Mr. Speaker. That’s the philosophy that they define as different than communism, and I think it’s a nuance. But when I look at that philosophy and I see within that page that they call for the nationalization of the oil industry, the nationalization of the refineries and I’m watching out of this Congress come a call for the nationalization of our auto manufacturers and I’m watching on the pages there they do not have the latitude to clearly and freely make a profit without the government telling them what to do, then I read through the Democratic Socialists of America, and they say we are an active political party but we do not advance candidates on our ticket because our legislative wing is the Progressive Caucus in the United States Congress. I’ll say it again. Our legislative wing is the Progressive Caucus in the United States Congress, and I would point right off the Democratic Socialists of America Web site. So go there. I think that’s what I want to check. But I know that on that list there are 72 Members of Congress, one Member of the United States Senate, a self-professed socialist, 72 Members in this Congress who constantly are advocating for the policies that I read on their Web site. That link is there. They claim the link. The Progressive Caucus has the Web site and it names the people and the Members, and today they hold gavels and they’re Chairs of committees, full committees, they gave these people that are advocating the policies that scared the living daylight out of the American people in the aftermath of World War II. And we quit saying words that are considered to be pejorative about folks who want to collectivize our American economy and assets.

And so, Mr. Speaker, I think it is important that you, all Members of this Congress and the American people go down the road, some of those things need to be run by individuals, but by and large their statement very clearly is, large companies need to be run by the people affected by them. That is a dramatic departure from one of the huge foundations of what’s made this country great, our free market economy.

Well, it came back to this Congress, we shot it down, the President of the United States, President Bush, vetoed the SCHIP bill. Now, the grassroots are saying that line is there, the taxpayer. We’ve crossed that line, and it’s a huge foundation stone for socialized medicine. There is a waiver in there that allow States like New Jersey and New York to go to 400 percent of poverty, or the restraints are not there so that they can write more waivers and essentially it is health insurance for children and children of millionaires do qualify for this bill that passed the floor today. Children of millionaires will have their health insurance paid for by middle-income and low-income and upper-income taxpayers when it can’t be justified. This bill that passed off of here today takes at least 2.4 million children off of private sector insurance and puts them on to the public dole. And when you get to that point, you have reached a foundation stone for socialism. Mr. Speaker, and that’s the essence of my discussion today.

I thank the Speaker for his indulgence, and I would yield back the balance of my time.

The Senate met at 10:30 a.m. and was called to order by the Honorable Michael F. Bennet, a Senator from the State of Colorado.

PRAYER
The Chaplain, Dr. Barry C. Black, offered the following prayer:
Let us pray.
From the rising of the Sun to its setting, O God, Your Name is great among the nations. Thank You for the wonder of Your grace. Today, help our Senators to be energized by Your amazing grace. May this favor enhance their talents and impart to them the wisdom to choose the right path. As they walk on the road that glorifies You, help them to use their individual abilities to supplement the talents of their colleagues, producing a bipartisan harvest of accomplishments. May they commit themselves this day to Your care, for You are their mighty rock and fortress. Lord, lead and guide them so Your Name will be honored. We pray in the Redeemer’s Name. Amen.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE
The Honorable Michael F. Bennet led the Pledge of Allegiance, as follows:
I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

APPOINTMENT OF ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE
The Presiding Officer, the clerk will please read a communication to the Senate from the President pro tempore (Mr. Byrd).

The legislative clerk read the following letter:
U.S. Senate, President pro tempore, Washington, DC, February 4, 2009.
To the Senate:
Under the provisions of rule I, paragraph 3, of the Standing Rules of the Senate, I hereby appoint the Honorable Michael F. Bennet, a Senator from the State of Colorado, to perform the duties of the Chair.
Robert C. Byrd, President pro tempore.

Mr. Bennet thereupon assumed the chair as Acting President pro tempore.

RECOGNITION OF THE ACTING MAJORITY LEADER
The Acting President pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the Senator from Hawaii.

SCHEDULE
Mr. Inouye. Mr. President, today the Senate will resume consideration of H.R. 1, the Economic Recovery and Reinvestment Act, and Senators will offer and debate amendments to the bill. Rollcall votes are expected to occur this afternoon.

RECOGNITION OF THE MINORITY LEADER
The Acting President pro tempore. The Republican leader is recognized.

ECONOMIC STIMULUS
Mr. McConnell. Mr. President, according to news reports, President Obama called congressional Democrats down to the White House the other night to talk about treating this bill more like a stimulus and less like a free-for-all. I commend him for the effort, and I appreciate it. But after yesterday, it looks like they might need a little stronger medicine.
The day after meeting with President Obama, Democrats offered several amendments, and every single one of them added to the total cost of what is already nearly a $1 trillion spending bill—$11 billion here, $25 billion there, another $6 billion somewhere else. In other words, real money. By the end of the first day of debate, the Democrats had added more than $41 billion to a bill that just about everybody else in America already thought was way too large.
On this side, Republicans offered some amendments too. All but one of them, however, sought to reduce the cost to the taxpayer. The President has tried to set some priorities. Unfortunately, Democrats keep throwing more money on top of an already incredibly bloated bill. At some point, we are going to have to learn to say no. If we are going to help the economy, we need to get hold of this bill. Making it bigger isn’t the answer.
The President seems to recognize the problem. Last night, he repeated his call for discipline and restraint in a letter from OMB Director Peter Orszag. Its message was clear: The Nation is in a financial crisis and this bill should be stripped of everything that doesn’t aim to solve the crisis. As Mr. Orszag put it:
We need to recognize that this recovery and reinvestment plan is an extraordinary response to an extraordinary crisis. It should not be seen as an opportunity to abandon the fiscal discipline that we owe each and every taxpayer in spending their money and in keeping the United States strong in a global, interdependent economy.
This bill needs to be cut down, and we should start with permanent spending increases, which only increase the deficit from here on out. This is a permanent spending bill that has been slipped into a bill that was supposed to be timely, temporary, and targeted. Many of these additions may be very worthwhile, but they still don’t belong in a stimulus bill. So the first thing we need to do is to make a distinction between what grows the economy and what doesn’t. Anything that doesn’t ought to be cut out. That is what the President said Monday night, that is what he repeated last night; that we need to be. “trimming out things that aren’t relevant to putting people back to work right now." Add up the interest payments and the total nonstimulus spending in this bill and it is in the hundreds of billions of dollars. That is completely unacceptable. So there is plenty of room to cut wasteful spending. As Mr. McConnell said in his previous order, the leadership time is.

RESERVATION OF LEADER TIME

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Under the previous order, the leadership time is reserved.

AMERICAN RECOVERY AND REINVESTMENT ACT OF 2009

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Under the previous order, the Senate will resume consideration of H.R. 1, which the clerk will report.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (H.R. 1) making supplemental appropriations for preservation and creation, infrastructure, research and science, assistance to the unemployed, and State and local fiscal stabilization, for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2009, and for other purposes.

Pending:

Roid (for Inouye-Baucus) amendment No.
96, in the nature of a substitute.

Murray amendment No. 110 (to amendment No. 96), to strengthen the infrastructure investments made by the bill.

Vitter amendment No. 179 (to amendment
No. 96), to eliminate unnecessary spending.

Isakson-Lieberman amendment No. 106 (to amendment No. 96), to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to provide a Federal intcome tax credit for certain home purchases.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Tennessee is recognized.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that I be permitted to engage in a colloquy with my colleagues for 30 minutes, if that is acceptable to the Democratic leader.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there objection?

Mr. INOUYE. I have no objection.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I thank the Senor from Arizona. I started out by realtors from Arizona. I started out by point out that between 40 and 50 percent of what they are doing right now is dealing with foreclosed homes, or people who are about to work right now. So there is plenty of room to cut wasteful spending. As Mr. McConnell said in his previous order, the leadership time is reserved.

Another target-rich area is all the spending for new programs that claim to create new jobs. What people don’t realize is how much it costs to create some of these jobs. Analysts have gone through some of the new programs and here is what they have found: $524 million for a program at the State Department that promises to create 388 jobs here at home. That comes to $1.35 million per job. $1.35 million per job. That’s cheaper than a $1 trillion deficit. The bill before us, in its current form, will cost, with interest, $1.3 trillion. Soon we will vote on an omnibus appropriations bill that will cost $400 billion. The President is talking about another round of bank bailout funds that some say could cost as much as $4 trillion.

This isn’t monopoly money. All of it is borrowed money that the taxpayers will have to pay back at some point. I think we owe it to the American people to show some restraint on the bill that is before us.

Republicans have a number of better ideas for this bill since, more targeted, and more directly benefi-cial to workers and to homeowners. We have been sharing those ideas for the last week.

Economists from both sides of the poitical spectrum recognize that housing is at the root of the current downturn. We believe we should fix this problem first before we do anything else—certainly before we build a fish barrier, spruce up offices for bureaucrats or build a water slide. I mean, let’s get serious. We can either talk about fixing the problem or we can take immediate action to help 40 million Americans stay in their homes or buy a new one. That is our choice.

We need to act now, and soon we will be voting on a Republican better idea to do that. But first there are plenty of areas we can cut, even before we consider some of the good Repub-lican ideas that President Obama has said he wants to incorporate into the final bill.

Mr. President, I yield the floor. of the market has virtually collapsed. She said something has to be done to prevent the continual decline in housing values.

My home is in a perfectly good neighborhood. I pay my mortgage and all, but it is out of my control because all around me there are vacant properties. First, and because they are having problems, it is drawing down the value all around. So the people who play by the rules and are not doing anything wrong are along for the ride down. Until that is arrested, all of these other symptoms are going to exist. That was their analysis.

Now, if I can quote some other really smart people, if the Senator would allow me? The New York Times editorialized toward the end of last year, November 11:

Clearly, the [financial] system won’t stabilize until house prices stabilize, and banks won’t lend freely until losses on mortgages abate and the valuation of the mortgage-backed securities that have been included into and out of these crisis, run through the housing market.

Exactly the point the Senator from Tennessee is making.

Very recently, January 28, the new CBO Director, Director Elmendorf, said this in testimony:

Turmoil over housing and financial markets is likely to continue for some time, even with vigorous policy actions and especially without them. Most economists think that the main cause of this turmoil is rising losses, and rising losses are affecting the valuation of the mortgage-backed securities that have been included into and out of this crisis, run through the housing market.

A lot of folks rely on the advice of Warren Buffett. I probably should have relied more on the advice of Warren Buffett in my investments, I wouldn’t be where I am today. Here is what he said in April of last year:

Things connected with housing, whether it’s in brick or whether it’s in carpet, those businesses are no uptick at all.

His point is that once housing is affected, everything else that has anything to do with it is affected.

He made this comment as well:

The market won’t really come back until you get a close to normal ratio of vacant homes to homes up for sale, compared to current sales, and that’s a ways off.

We all listened with interest to Alan Greenspan. Here is what he testified in October of last year before Congress:

A necessary condition for this crisis to end is a stabilization of home prices in the United States.

Here is how I conclude all of this. The experts back home agree. They are seeing it on the ground. The experts who look at this from an economic standpoint, from a national macroeconomic standpoint, all agree. We need to heed their advice and address the housing crisis first. We cannot wave a magic wand and stop housing prices from falling further. Would that we could—we would do that. That is the market, and we cannot stop it.

What we are seeing is that home values, in a ratio to mortgages, are declining. So the other point the realtors told me was a lot of folks, through no fault of their own, are now paying mortgages on homes that exceed the value of the homes. That is the upside-down element. We can affect that part of the equation. That is to say, we can’t stop home values from going down until we do something else first. The other point the realtors told me what ratio—what people are paying in their monthly mortgage payments. I am going to leave that to my colleagues. The Senator from Nevada is here. The Senator from Georgia is here. They will talk about how they can address the costs people pay every month in their mortgages as a way of making them more healthy, able to pay the mortgage, not going to foreclosure, and ultimately fix that value of homes, and then we are on the road to recovery.

The last thing I wanted to say is that the secondary market is a big part of this. When people lend money, they want to then be able to sell that mortgage to somebody that has been the whole cause of this, the toxic loans in the secondary market.

In the Financial Times of August 26 of last year, Dr. Martin Feldstein said:

Mortgage-backed securities cannot be valued in a normal market. There is more certainty about the future of house prices.

That is precisely what this better Republican idea will get to. As my colleagues discuss these ideas of how to relate to this, remember what the original cause of the problem is, what the original cause of the problem is, what we can do about it, and what we can do about it. That is to say, how we want to focus laser-like on fixing housing first.

I appreciate the efforts of my colleagues.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I thank my colleague for so clearly outlining the nature of the problem. I ask the Chair to let me know when we are about 3 minutes from the expiration of the time.

There are other proposals we want to discuss which will be voted on here which will help fix housing first. The first is by the Senator from Nevada, Mr. ENSIGN. Senator ENSIGN’s idea will create instant jobs and give a jolt to the economy by giving an opportunity for lower mortgage interest rates to those persons who can afford to buy or refinance their home.

There are other proposals, such as one by Senator MCCAIN, to help people who are in trouble with their mortgage. The focus of my colleague is primarily on creditworthy Americans who could refinance their homes, save money, and get the economy moving?

Mr. ENSIGN. The case has been made that we need to fix housing first because it is the underlying cancer that is affecting our economy, and that cancer is spreading to other parts of the economy. If we don’t fix the underlying problem, it will not matter what we do with the rest of the spending bill. The better Republican idea is spread the economy. It is going to continue to get worse and worse. If home values continue to go down, no amount of money will help. We will have to have three or four TARP funds, trillions of dollars, and it is not going to help because we have not fixed the underlying problem.

Several of us got together. I happen to be the lead author on the bill, but there really a couple of us. Many many minds trying to fix housing. We have incorporated one of the ideas from Senator ISAKSON. I will let him describe that.

One of the hallmarks of the bill is we tried to get the housing in the bill. We eliminate the wasteful spending, and we have some targeted tax credits for families and small businesses to create jobs. We try to take care of the whole package, and we do it in a fiscally responsible way, so the total cost will be under $500 billion. It is not the $1 trillion the other side of the aisle has put forward. Such spending would put a tremendous burden on future generations.

What we have said is that we are going to allow anybody who has at least a 5-percent equity in their home, or if they already have a Fannie Mae-Freddie Mac-backed loan, would be able to refinance at about 4 to 4.2 percent interest. The average American family who refinances can save over $400 a month. That is not a one-time saving, that is a saving through a 30-year fixed loan. That is like a permanent tax cut.

All of the economists have told us that one-time tax rebates give a little bit of stimulus, but they cost more in the long run. Permanent tax relief is really what stimulates the economy. If a family only receives a one-time check, all they are going to do is pay down debt or save the money. But if they know they have over $400 per month, that is something they can count on. They can budget that. They can start spending that money. That will actually help stimulate the economy.

The economists who have done the studies are Glenn Hubbard and Christopher Mayer. They said this proposal will stabilize housing prices next year because they expect housing prices to go down by about 12 percent. If you lower interest rates on the average of about 1 percent, that historically has meant housing prices will rise about 7 to 8 percent. If we can get them down about a point and a half, they figure, instead of going down by 12 percent, housing prices next year will stabilize. We all know that if you do not stabilize housing prices in the United States, the economy is going to continue to go down.

I see the Presiding Officer from Colorado. Colorado is one of those States that is having pretty severe housing problems now. These housing problems started in my State, Nevada, and in Arizona, Florida, and California. They have spread to the rest of the country, so we need to fix this problem.

We have also put a limit on it. This is not for the rich. This is for loans of $750,000 or less. That is going to take care of about 40 million Americans. That is what this takes care of. 40 million people refinancing their homes—40 million households, not Americans—40 million households getting on average of over $400 a month. Put the numbers to that. That is a huge amount of money.

Mr. ALEXANDER. If I understand the proposal, if I am a creditworthy person, I can either refinance my home or buy a new home at this lower interest rate, which today would be between 4 and 5 percent for a 30-year mortgage. I would have that fixed mortgage all during that 30-year period of time.

Mr. ENSIGN. That is correct, this is a 30-year fixed. This is not an adjustable rate mortgage where there are catches and in a couple of years it is going to go up again and I am going to have to worry about that. This is a 30-year fixed mortgage that can be very significant to the average family’s budget.

We believe this is going to be one of the big fixes. You combine this with the other proposals, such as Senator ISAKSON’s proposal, and the other things Senator McCAIN and Senator MARTINEZ have come in with, with multiples of the people who are underwater—ours does some for houses that are underwater if they are backed by Fannie and Freddie right now. But all of the proposals together—I believe we can do exactly what we say needs to be done and that is fix housing first.

But our proposal also takes out all of the spending in the bill that does not create jobs. We still have tax incentives in there for families and small businesses to create jobs, but we take out all of the $200 billion in new entitlement spending, all of the other 34 new programs that are created. There are some worthy programs in there that most of us would support. At this time, we should not be spending money on new programs, especially without eliminating other programs.

We believe this is fiscally responsible. It is going to help the economy. It is going to help the housing problem. I appreciate your leadership, Senator ALEXANDER, for bringing this colloquy together so we can talk about the underlying problem.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I thank Senator ENSIGN for his leadership and the others on his proposal for their leadership. We hope it will attract significant attention yesterday said, and we hope it will attract significant attention today and tomorrow. It is going to help the housing problem. It is going to help the housing problem.

Mr. ENSIGN. That is right. And I am delighted the Senator from Tennessee called this colloquy today so we could talk for a few minutes about what JON KYL and JOHN ENSIGN said is the heart of the problem, and that is the U.S. housing market. Our houses are down 25 percent in the last 18 months. Equity lines of credit are dissolved because houses are underwater. One in five houses in the United States is worth less than what is owed on it. We have to provide help to those families who are, in a sense, underwater—help before they get to the ultimate problem of a foreclosure. We have to provide to the Department of Housing and Urban Development and to the economy and help to the sitting president and the economy at large.

INTEREST GROWS

The initial interest of last weekend was intensified yesterday afternoon, especially where builders linked the $2,000 credit to their advertisements in today’s newspapers. At Applehill Farm, in Chappaqua, Westchester County, where they are building a new home next to a former “cluster” development on a former farm, Tom Bisogno said he believed the $2,000 credit to its advertisement in today’s newspapers.

The New York Times, for example, printed an article in the Record two articles from the New York Times, one from April of 1975 and one from July of 1975. There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the Record, as follows:

NEW HOUSING TAX CREDIT PROMPTS RISE IN **

BUYING

(By James Feron)

WHITE PLAINS.—The recently enacted Federal tax credit on the purchase of new homes and condominiums signed into law last weekend seems to have passed its goal, according to initial reports on the situation in the metropolitan area.

Robert Jacobs, marketing director of One Strawberry Hills, a condominium in Stamford, Conn., said today that the idea was to reduce the number of empty and unsold housing units, “and to that we can only say, ‘Amen.’

Mr. Jacobs closed deals on four apartments yesterday and today, he said. “All were borderline cases where the $2,000 tax credit was evidently the deciding factor. We expect to sell at least 10 of our 35 unsold units the same way.”

He reported that “one man who had been renting in this area, who was married but with no children, said he was in a 50 per cent tax bracket and the $2,000 credit would mean more like $4,000 to him.”

The new Federal law calls for a 5 per cent tax credit up to a maximum of $2,000 on the purchase of a new home, providing, among other things, that the title be taken or the purchase be made after the President signed the bill.

Mr. ENSIGN. That is correct, this is right after the President signed the bill.

Like Strawberry Hill, Parker Imperial is adding the tax credit to previously announced price reductions by a sluggish market. “It’s a good selling tool, this tax credit, added to everything else,” Mr. Buonpane said.

Another question puzzling some builders was how to define when construction began. Many felt that the I.R.S. would refer to putting down a “footing,” or pouring concrete, but Mr. Buonpane asked if that meant “plot and install services have you started construction on a house?”

Builders said that setting Dec. 31 as the cut-off date would force quick decisions, which they liked. One builder said, “We’re going to begin ‘countdown’ advertising as soon as we can—You have only 100 days to make up your mind, etc.,” to encourage decisions. It could be dynamic for this market.”

HOME BUYERS GET A NEW INCENTIVE

(By Ernest Dickinson)

Thousands of new housing units throughout the nation that failed to meet the price qualification for 5 per cent Federal tax credit do so now because of an amendment liberalizing the law.

The change, builders predict, will give an added boost to new-home buying, especially between Labor Day and the end of the year.

The law as it was passed in March specified that new houses, condominiums and mobile homes had to be sold at the lowest price for which they had ever been offered if their buyers were to be eligible for the credit of as much as $2,000.

But some builders with units that had been on the market many months say they roll back prices to their original levels because, they said, they could not do so without losing money.

Another amendment, which was signed into law June 30, the builder must certify only that the price is the lowest at which the home has been offered since Feb. 28, 1975. Conditions to be met, although not the number of qualifying properties from which home buyers can choose this summer and fall. The increase is most apparent among high-rise condominiums.
Ordinarily, builders of low-rise or single-family detached housing can avoid that trap. If houses are not selling, the builder can simply stop construction.

The new tax-law provision helps not only future buyers but some past buyers as well. Its benefits are retroactive. A buyer who closed on a house but did not qualify for a tax credit then may now be able to obtain it.

This will be true if the only reason the property was not eligible then was that the builder had sold it at a price he raised before Feb. 28. A recent buyer who believes that his new-home purchase may now entitle him to a tax credit should contact his builder or local Internal Revenue Service office.

Some are taking the initiative in such situations. The builder of High Point of Hartsdale, in Westchester County, for example, will soon be sending letters of congratulations to prospective buyers. To about eight buyers who previously purchased condominium apartments that only now qualify for the credit.

Leland Zaubeler, a vice president of the Robert Martin Corporation of Elmsford, which is building the 500-unit High Point, said that about 15 per cent of the unsold apartments that previously did not qualify for a tax credit do qualify now. "The amendment is beneficial," Mr. Zaubeler said. "It helps carry out the original intent of the law"—to move new housing.

The biggest problem with the legislation, according to many builders, is that many people will not understand what a tax credit is.

According to Mr. Norris, they refuse to believe it is not simply a tax deduction. "We've had people purchasing houses and telling their accountant to give him a tax credit should contact their builder or local Internal Revenue Service office.

Mr. ENZI. We need to pass a bill that will fix housing first. We recognized the problem about a year and a half ago, but Congress has not focused on the housing piece of that and come up with a solution that will work to fix housing. That did not happen. When we work in the market, to stabilize the banks.

‘Fix Housing First,” the slogan the Senator came up with, I appreciate the efforts of the Senator from Tennessee and the understanding that he has of this problem, not particularly if it deals with a lot of dollars, we can often wind up in a different direction than where we thought we were going. Right now this bill is not focused on housing. It needs to be focused on housing, and focused on housing first.

Government spending by itself will not solve the problem. We cannot spend our way out of it. We have tried that before. We tried it in the 1930s. Government interference did not help. So we need to take some of this money and devote it to stemming foreclosures, invigorating the housing market, and getting our financial institutions and individual investors to step back into the market without fear.

I have a lot more I would like to say, but I know our time is limited. I would like the Senator from Tennessee to be able to conclude this discussion. conclude the beginning of the long discussion I hope will put housing first. Until we solve housing first, we do not have a solution.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. President, how much time is remaining?

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Tennessee has 3 minutes remaining.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I thank the Senator from Wyoming for his leadership and his understanding of business that has come that way, through experience in his town.

The Senator from Arizona, Mr. MCCAIN, is on the Senate floor to speak on a different amendment. But he, too, has a proposal that will deal with fixing housing first. So our point is this: We understand Americans are hurting, that our economy is in a slump. But we also understand that if we do not deal with the national debt, we will be incurring the worst debt we could ever do to the working men and women of America: that is, having long-term inflation where dollars do not amount to anything and you cannot buy anything.

So our focus, instead of adding to the debt by over $1 trillion, is to reorient the stimulus package toward a true stimulus and fix housing first. That is what the 4-percent mortgage for creditworthy Americans is for. That is what the 15,000 tax credit for home buyers is for. That is what the Republican proposals to help people with foreclosures are for. That is part 1, fix housing first.

Part 2 is let people keep more of their money with more tax reductions. Then part 3 is take off this bill all of the spending items that do not have anything to do with creating jobs now. So we welcome the calls for bipartisan work ready to work. We have good ideas: fix housing first, let people keep more of their own money, and focus the bill on spending projects that create jobs today, not those that do not.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Thank you very much.

Mr. President. I ask unanimous consent to have printed in the RECORD a letter sent to me yesterday by Edward Kleinbard of the Joint Committee on Taxation.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

DEAR SENATOR WYDEN: You have asked me whether I believe that there is a constitutional issue associated with your legislative proposal to impose an excise tax on certain 2008 bonuses paid by TARP recipients that do not repay the amount of those bonuses in 2009 (through redeeming the preferred stock issued to the United States). There are many cases in the Court and others that have considered the question of when a tax might be held to be unconstitutional by virtue of its retroactive application, and as a result I am not able to answer your question definitively without more time to read the extensory jurisprudence. As a very preliminary matter, however, I believe that your proposal would be held to be constitutional if challenged in court.

First, I believe that there is a powerful argument that your proposal is not retroactive. Taxpayers can avoid the tax completely by repurchasing shares they sold to the United States; the excise tax would be 100 percent on any tax penalties paid by a taxpayer’s affirmative post-enactment decision not to repurchase those shares at the same price that the shares were sold to the United States. Moreover, the timing, repurchase price and amount of shares that must be repurchased are not punitive, and are commensurate with the conduct that Congress rationally finds to be contrary to the purpose and intent of the EESA legislation that authorized the Treasury’s investments.

Even if the excise tax were (contrary to the conclusion suggested above) viewed as having retroactive effect, the Supreme Court has generally given a high level of judicial deference to economic legislation and has repeatedly upheld retroactive taxation as constitutional, so long as the legislation is "supported by a legitimate legislative purpose furthered by rational means . . . ." "Pension Benefit Guaranty Corp. v. R. A. Gray & Co., 467 U.S. 717 (1984). For example, under the TARP, an amend- ment was permitted a $30,000 exemption in calculating his minimum tax liability. The Revenue Act of 1976, passed in October of 1976, reduced the exemption to $10,000 and applied the change retroactively to all tax years beginning after December 31, 1975. The Supreme Court upheld this retroactive amendment to the United States v. Duramont, 499 U.S. 292 (1981).

As another example, the Tax Reform Act of 1986 granted a special deduc- tion for the sale of employer securities by an estate to an employee stock ownership plan ("ESOP"). In December of 1987 Congress amended the statute to provide that the securities sold to an ESOP must have been directly owned by the decedent immediately prior to his or her death, and made the amendment effective as if it had been contained in the statute as originally written. In United States v. Darumont, 512 U.S. 26 (1994), the Supreme Court once again upheld the retroactive application of the amendment, in this case against an estate that had realized the original language to engage in a transaction that it believed would have reduced its tax liability by several million dollars. There are numerous other adverse precedents and Supreme Court cases to similar effect.

Your legislative proposal presents a particularly strong case for constitutional validity since it has only a modest look-back period, as was the case in Darumont, and is arguably a curative measure (with regard to the executive compensation provisions of TARP), as was the case in Carlton.

Please let me know if you have any further questions.

EDWARD KLEINBAARD.

Joint Committee on Taxation.

Mr. WYDEN. I will read briefly now from the letter from Mr. Kleinbard. I will quote from the second paragraph:

There is a powerful argument that your proposal is simply not retroactive.

It is his judgment, based on what he has had a look at thus far, it would be constitutional.

Mr. Kleinbard states specifically:

Taxpayers can avoid the tax completely by repurchasing shares they sold to the United States; the excise tax would be imposed on new shares, but on the taxpayer's affirmative post-enactment decision not to repurchase those shares at the same price that the stock sold to the United States. Moreover, the timing, repurchase price and amount of shares that must be repurchased are not punitive, and are commensurate with the cost of the program that the Congress can find to be contrary to the purpose and intent of the EERSA legislation that authorized the Treasury's investments.

I think anyone who looks at the letter from the Joint Committee on Taxation will see that the bipartisan amendment Senator SNOWE and I will be offering with respect to excessive cash bonuses is a matter that does pass constitutional muster and clearly is in the taxpayers' interest.

I mentioned two states, particularly from Tennessee and Georgia, have made a number of good points that I happen to feel strongly about with respect to the need to address the current housing crisis, and one of the things we have seen with respect to housing and all of the other economic challenges we have is we have to get people's confidence back in the American economy.

I believe the Snowe-Wyden amendment will help to generate that confidence by saying at some point we are going to say excessive bonuses are being paid with our taxpayer money. I mean these are companies who received billions and billions of taxpayer dollars.

If we are going to have the confidence we need to promote housing, as the distinguished Senators from Tennessee and Georgia both noted, we have to make sure taxpayers do not say: This is wrong. This is not right to give these excessive bonuses with taxpayer money.

I would note that Senator SNOWE and I set the limit for bonuses at $100,000.

Mr. WYDEN. I will read briefly now from the letter from Mr. Kleinbard. I will quote from the second paragraph:

I would note that Senator SNOWE and I set the limit for bonuses at $100,000.

So, clearly, we want to be sensitive to the young person getting started in financial services, someone, perhaps, who is the new secretary. But it is the onerous allowances that we are concerned about.

So it seems to me, if you are giving those kinds of retroactive tax breaks, you surely ought to take steps to protect taxpayers, as Senator Snowe and I seek to do with our legislation. The bottom line is, the Wall Street firms that took bailout money knew they were not supposed to pay their executives lavish bonuses, but they went ahead and paid out more than $18 billion in bonuses anyway.

The Wyden-Snowe amendment makes sure these firms can't take the money and give the Congress and taxpayers the runaround. If they took the bailout money, the Wall Street firms either have to pay taxpayers back for the excessive bonuses, or they ought to pay a tax on these bonus payments. Either way, they should not be allowed to pay outrageous bonuses to executives and then say the taxpayers with the bill. It is fundamental to say these bonuses are wrong and with billions of taxpayer dollars this kind of conduct. We have all heard about handling out of bonuses to executives at firms responsible for the current economic downturn. If we are going to take the action that happened a couple of weeks ago takes this to a completely different level. At a time when the Congress is faced almost on a weekly basis with requests for billions of dollars of additional money, how in the world is paying these kinds of bonuses, with taxpayer money, to stand, as if the economy were booming?

My colleagues from Wisconsin and Arizona have been waiting patiently. I hope Members will look at the amendment Senator SNOWE and I are offering. I hope they will look at the legal analysis provided by the Joint Committee on Taxation and will respect to how and why this particular proposal passes constitutional muster. I hope the Senate will say it is not enough to just give speeches about how it is wrong to hand out these bonuses with taxpayer money but will back bipartisan legislation to correct it and to protect taxpayers at a critical time when we must increase confidence in how major economic decisions are made.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. AMENDMENT NO. 140

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mrs. S. SHAHEN). Mr. FEINGOLD.

Mr. FEINGOLD. I ask unanimous consent that the pending business be set aside and that we take up amendment No. 140.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.
been a system designed to dissuade the use of earmarks through disclosure to one that actually makes it much more difficult to enact them. The principal provision of this amendment is the establishment of a point of order against unauthorized earmarks on appropriations bills. I've spoken at this point of order, supporters of the unauthorized earmark will need to obtain a supermajority of the Senate. As a further deterrent, the bill provides that any earmarked funding which is successful in stricken from the appropriations bill will be unavailable for other spending in the bill. It isn't the sort of thing where you can borrow from one piece and fix it with another. You have to reduce the bill by that amount.

As I mentioned earlier, the amendment also requires all recipients of Federal funds to disclose any money spent on registered lobbyists. It is only fair that the American people know which entities receiving Federal funding are using their money to lobby Congress. There may be no connection between the lobbying and the Federal funding, but a little transparency would help everyone decide that for themselves. I truly am delighted that President Obama is committed to keeping this stimulus package free of earmarks. We can ensure that his commitment is made good on future appropriations bills by adopting this amendment.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Arizona.

Mr. MCCAIN. Madam President, I am pleased to join with my good friend Senator FEINGOLD in offering this financially responsible amendment, along with Senators MCCASKILL, BURR, LIEBERMAN, GRAHAM, COBURN, and others. May I say that I find there are very few pleasant aspects of losing an election, but one of them is that most value is given to work with my friend from Wisconsin, Senator FEINGOLD, whom, for now many years, I have had the great honor and privilege of working with as we attempt to bring about the reforms which will help restore the confidence and trust of the American people in the way we do business in Washington but also in our stewardship of their tax dollars. I am pleased to join with my good friend Senator FEINGOLD.

Senator FEINGOLD outlined the provisions of the amendment so I don't want to repeat them. But I also want to point out that some people are saying: Why should we have this on this legislation, when this stimulus package does not directly apply? We know there is an omnibus appropriations bill coming down the pike. The House of Representatives intends to take it up soon. There is apparently, unfortunately, another TARP that may be coming, not to mention the other appropriations bills that are coming. So the sooner we address this issue, the better off we will be. I also think one of the reasons why support for the stimulus package is rapidly eroding is because you don't have to call it an earmark and it doesn't have to be technically an earmark, but when you see many of the provisions in this stimulus bill, they have nothing to do with stimulus and everything to do with spending. They are functionally earmarks as well, certainly in their effect.

It is not only appropriate but necessary to adopt this amendment so that the American people will know in the future, when we make tough decisions, this kind of practice of adding absolutely unnecessary, unwarranted spending of their tax dollars on appropriations bills without a proper process of scrutiny and ability to reject them will not occur. It will not restore their confidence. The stimulus package before us is important, but right now the American people see it not as a stimulus but a spending package. That is why this provision will restore some confidence in the future way we address this.

Every time Senator FEINGOLD and I have tried to kill off a specific unwanted and unnecessary and, many times, outrageous appropriation, if we had succeeded we would have taken down the whole bill. One of the important aspects of this legislation is to allow us to rifleshoot and remove unnecessary and wasteful spending.

I don't have to go through the list, but it does not do to do it. Even though we passed in January 2007, by a vote of 96 to 2, an ethics and lobbying reform package that had meaningful reforms, by August of 2007, we were presented with a bill containing very watered-down earmark provisions and doing far too little to rein in wasteful earmarks. Since we adopted the much heralded reforms of January 2007, we have spent $188,000 for the Lobster Institute, which includes a lobster cam at the bottom of the ocean, which is not something we need to make use of; $244,000 for bee research in Weslaco, TX; $200,000 for construction of a National Mule and Rangel Center for Public Service; $1.95 million for the Charles B. Steed Program Soaring To-}

The point is, some of these projects I am talking about may have virtue. It may be of the utmost national importance in this time of record deficits that we do not spend $188,000 for it. But it should be subject to debate and discussion and amendment and acceptance or rejection.

What Senator FEINGOLD and I are seeking is a process where these earmarks can be judged on their value, their contribution to the overall economy, and whether they are necessary. What we are trying to do is have a process system that the American people have still inserted without the Congress having the ability to carefully examine them.

It also would require recipients of Federal dollars to report any amounts that the recipient has expended on registered lobbyists. There is a new game in town—not so new, it has been going on for some years, but it grows—and that is that special interests, universities, others will go to a specific lobbying group, and they will then seek the earmarks this interest desires and believes is required. There are certain, obviously, amounts of money given to those lobbyists for their work. We are not saying they shouldn't do that, but that the amounts of money given to the lobbyists as a result of the recipients of Federal dollars obtaining those funds should be revealed.

Again, $144,500 for horsehoe crab research at Virginia Tech in Virginia; $500,000 for a maritime museum in Mobile, AL; $360,000 for Hawaii rain gauges; $401,850 for the Shedd Aquarium in Chicago, IL; and many other projects that have got to end. The American people do not trust the Congress to dispose of their tax dollars without these billions of earmarks, or at least a process where they are scrutinized and Members of Congress have the ability not to just vote on an appropriations bill that appears on the Member's desk shortly before the vote takes place. The appropriators will tell us these are all worthwhile projects. They are not, and they have resulted in corruption. There are former Members of Congress residing in Federal prison today because this process—this process—has corrupted people. It has to be fixed.

So I could go in citing examples of unauthorized earmarks and policy riders in appropriations bills and conference reports. But I think you have the picture. By the way, an egregious example that is being investigated today is that for one of the appropriations bills, appropriations were inserted after the bill was passed and signed by the President of the United States—a remarkable occurrence—a remarkable occurrence. It shows how far we have gone in our obligations to the American people.

I would like to say a word to my own side of the aisle. We just lost an election, and I will take the responsibility for that. But I can assure my colleagues on this side of the aisle that one of the reasons why Republicans lost the last election is because our party and those who are concerned about our stewardship of their tax dollars, believe we got on a spending spree which has mortgaged our children's futures.
February 4, 2009

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — SENATE

If there is a future on this side of the aisle, then we have to clean up our act on spending. Time after time, when some of us said: You have to veto these spending bills, the answer was: Well, we have to please Members. What we did was alienate those American citizens—frankly, of all parties—some feel strongly we have lost our sense of obligation to them as a careful stewardship of their tax dollars is concerned.

I want to mention one other thing. I had a very good conversation with the President of the United States. We all want to work together to pass this stimulus, a stimulus package that will get our economy going again. I look forward to those other Members on this side of the aisle, as well as the other side, to sit down, and let's have some serious negotiations so we can eliminate wasteful and unnecessary spending that is part of the stimulus package the Senate today.

We should make sure we adopt an amendment that as soon as the GDP improves for two quarters by 2 percent, we will then enact spending cuts to put us on a balanced budget within the next 10 years. We need to do that. We used to talk about millions of dollars and then we started talking about billions of dollars and now we are talking about trillions of dollars of deficits that will be run up that we will lay on future generations of Americans.

With this stimulus package, there must be a commitment to stop this spending and to reduce spending once our economy recovers, so we can have some sense of ability to put this Nation on a path to a balanced budget to eliminate the debt and deficit we are laying on future generations of Americans.

Americans are beginning to turn against the stimulus package as it is presently designed. They are doing that because they do not believe it is a stimulus package. They believe, correctly, it is a spending package. I urge my friends and colleagues to help restore confidence in whatever the outcome is, that we adopt this amendment, so in the future the American people can be sure we will have done our very best to eliminate unnecessary, wasteful, and corrupting spending that has characterized the expenditures we have made in the past on appropriations bills that contained those unwanted, unnecessary spending practices.

I thank the Senator from Wisconsin, again, and my friend, Senator Lieberman, and Members on both sides of the aisle who will support this amendment.

Madam President, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Connecticut.

Mr. LIEBERMAN. Madam President, I thank the Chair.

I rise to speak in favor of the Feingold-McCain amendment. I had the pleasure of hearing my friend from Wisconsin refer to this as an amendment with tripartisan support. Hearing that, I rushed to the floor to validate his description of it.

I am proud to be a cosponsor of this legislation. It is quite appropriate that this amendment is being offered on this Economic Recovery and Reinvestment Act. I support this act strongly. It is critically important. It is gravely important we adopt this legislation, and adopt it in a way that is appropriate for our economy, to start creating and protecting jobs again.

But there is an awful lot of money in this measure that has to be spent quickly. There are oversight actions and institutional instabilities that have been made part of the Economic Recovery and Reinvestment Act. But it gives us an opportunity to deal directly with what has become known as the earmark problem or the earmark crisis or the earmark scandal some.

I support this amendment and have cosponsored it because it does not end what has begun to be described as earmarks. It reforms the process. It creates a legislative vehicle for any 1 of 100 of us to stand and say: Hey, wait a second. What is this appropriation without authorization that has been put into this bill and to essentially demand, by raising a point of order, that 60 of the 100 of us agree that it is worth spending taxpayers' money on this particular appropriation.

This is necessary because we have taken a legitimate constitutionally created function of Congress—the power to appropriate—and we have misused it in too many cases that it now requires us to create a process to basically say, at times when it is justified: Stop. Stop this particular appropriation, this particular earmark.

When I talk about a constitutionally ordained process, I am talking about the fact that the Constitution gives Congress, uniquely, the power to appropriate public money. It is a matter of record, which my colleagues from Wisconsin and Arizona have made more than clear this morning again, that the power we have been given to appropriate has, in some cases, been misused in what now are called earmarks. So we need to create this checkpoint to say: No, let's demand 60 votes for this one.

The amendment would also require all recipients of Federal dollars to disclose any amounts the recipient has expended on registered lobbyists. This is a way to add some transparency—the sunlight that Justice Brandeis, I believe it was, said was the best disinfectant for bad behavior in Government.

So I am proud to be a co-sponsor. I hope we take this moment, as we appropriate necessary funding—hundreds of billions of dollars—to say that on all other appropriations bills coming along, every Member of this Senate will have the opportunity to ask something very reasonable and sensible: If they doubt the need, the validity of a particular appropriations earmark, that 60 of us have to say: No, we think it is OK.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator has the floor.

AMENDMENT NO. 106

Madam President, I am not sure, at this point, what the regular order is. I have come to the floor to speak about an amendment the Senator from Georgia, Mr. ISAKSON, and I have offered. This amendment is appropriate for the floor. I will speak for a few minutes on it. If not, I will hold until that amendment comes up.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator has the floor.

Mr. ISAKSON. Madam President, I thank the Chair, and I promise my colleagues I will be brief.

Senator ISAKSON and I have offered an amendment which will create a $15,000 tax credit for any purchaser of a home within a year after the date of enactment. There is no recapture clause for that. We do so to offer one of what we hope will be a series of measures to revive the housing market and housing values as a critical part of reviving our economy and creating jobs.

Very briefly, it was the subprime mortgage scandal, the bubble in housing prices, the collapse of housing prices, that has been at the heart of the follow-on collapse in our financial institutions and the collapse in consumer confidence, particularly, the confidence of the American consumer, whose demand, whose consumption, drives 70 percent of the American economy.

So bottom line: I saw a statistic from a reputable economist about a week ago that estimated in the last year there had been a loss of $4 trillion in the value of real estate in our country—$4 trillion. We are talking about $4 trillion of value in houses, which for most Americans—middle-income, lower middle, and lower income—who could afford to own a house, was the major asset they had, the major asset of value, the major source within them for which they had economic confidence because it was worth something beyond what the mortgage was. That is part of what gave them the confidence then to go out and consume, to drive our economy forward.

The collapse of housing values, the dramatic drop in activity—housing purchases and sales—is at the heart of the collapse in confidence and the spiraling downward of our economy today, and we simply will not get our economy going again unless we get that money in people's hands.

This credit Senator ISAKSON and I are proposing—we are not saying is going to solve all the problems. There has to be action in other ways. There has to be action through the Treasury Department in the second tranche of the so-called TARP money to help people stay in their homes, particularly those who are in homes that are now worth less than the mortgage they have. There has to be action to try to lower interest rates and so on.

But we think this action will really kick start the housing market by giving a $15,000 tax credit, refundable, to anybody who buys a house within a year of the date of enactment. That will drive sales. As you watch the interest rates coming down—and interest rates are at a low of many years, when you can get a mortgage—and then with the action through the Treasury Department to increase liquidity, and you add on the $15 billion, I think people are going to go out and buy homes. That is going to begin to raise the value of homes. If a home sells on the street, everybody else's house goes up in value. Then people's sense of their own wealth, their own economic well-being, is going to increase, and I think it will give them the confidence to go out and begin to consume.

In 2008, I can tell you, Connecticut's housing market experienced its sharpest decline in home sales and median home prices in 20 years. Single family home sales fell nearly 24 percent. This proposal Senator ISAKSON and I are making obviously costs some money. But compared to other proposals that have been made, this one will pay a return on the dollar.

Although we are waiting for a final estimate, I would anticipate the amendment could cost as much as $20 billion. However, we have had economic estimates from credible economists who have looked at the amendment Senator ISAKSON and I are offering and said they believe it could lead to as many as 1 million home purchases within this year, that it would generate 539,000 new jobs, mostly in construction, and $14 billion in Federal tax revenues. So that is a tremendous return on what this will cost the Treasury. Senator ISAKSON will show it in his comments, because we have talked about this—this has been tried once before in a terrible housing crisis in the 1970s and worked very well.

I am proud to stand with my friend from Georgia. This is a bipartisanship amendment; perhaps I should say tripartisanship. It deserves to have tripartisanship behind it, and I hope unanimous support as something that has been proven in the past and will work again today to get people's home values rising, because there will be the demand to buy houses in America once again.

I thank the Chair. I thank my colleagues, and I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Georgia is recognized.

Mr. CARDIN. Madam President, will the Senator yield for a moment?

Mr. ISAKSON. I will.

Mr. CARDIN. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent to be recognized after the Senator from Georgia has completed his comments.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. ISAKSON. Reserving the right to object, would it be good to lock in the speakers who are here at the same time?

Mr. GRASSLEY. Madam President, I don't want to do that because I am the manager for this bill and I have been waiting to speak. I want the floor after the Senator from Maryland completes his remarks, and I think I am entitled to it.

Mr. ISAKSON. I would never cross the Senator from Iowa.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Senator from Georgia is recognized.

Mr. ISAKSON. Madam President, first, I want to thank Senator LIEBERMAN for his very responsive remarks and for his cosponsorship for this legislation that is creating a floor for housing once again and for us to end what has become a terrible economic crisis.

AMENDMENT NO. 106, AS MODIFIED

I called this amendment up last night and now I wish to ask unanimous consent to make a few changes to the amendment to the desk for replacement of the existing amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there objections to the modification?

Without objection, the amendment is modified.

The amendment (No. 106), as modified, is as follows:

On page 449, beginning on line 16, strike through page 450, line 22, and insert the following:

SEC. 1006. CREDIT FOR CERTAIN HOME PURCHASES.

(a) ALLOWANCE OF CREDIT.—Subpart A of part IV of subchapter A of chapter 1 is amended by inserting after section 25D the following new section:

SEC. 25E. CREDIT FOR CERTAIN HOME PURCHASES.

(1) IN GENERAL.—In the case of an individual who is a purchaser of a principal residence during the taxable year, there shall be allowed as a credit against the tax imposed by this chapter an amount equal to 10 percent of the purchase price of the residence.

(2) DOLLAR LIMITATION.—The amount of the credit allowed under paragraph (1) shall not exceed $15,000.

(3) ALLOCATION OF CREDIT AMOUNT.—At the election of the taxpayer, the amount of the credit allowed under paragraph (1) (after application of paragraph (2)) may be equally divided among the 2 taxable years beginning with the taxable year in which the purchase of the principal residence is made.

(4) LIMITATIONS.—

(A) DATE OF PURCHASE.—The credit allowed under subsection (a) shall be allowed only with respect to purchases made—

(i) after the date of the enactment of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Tax Act of 2009, and

(ii) on or before the date that is 1 year after such date of enactment.

(B) LIMITATION BASED ON AMOUNT OF TAX.—In the case of a taxable year to which section 26(a)(2) does not apply, the credit allowed under subsection (a) for any taxable year shall not exceed the excess of—

(A) the sum of the regular tax liability (as defined in section 26(b)) plus the tax imposed by section 55, over

(B) the sum of the credits allowable under this paragraph (other than this section) for the taxable year.

(C) ONE-TIME ONLY.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—If a credit is allowed under this section in the case of an individual and such individual is married (as defined in section 1(b), other than paragraph (49)) with respect to the purchase of any principal residence, no credit shall be allowed under this section in any taxable year with respect to the purchase of any other principal residence by such individual or a spouse of such individual.

(B) JOINT PURCHASE.—In the case of a purchase of a principal residence by 2 or more unmarried individuals or by 2 married individuals filing separately, no credit shall be allowed under this section in any taxable year with respect to the purchase of any other principal residence.

(c) PRINCIPAL RESIDENCE.—For purposes of this section, the term 'principal residence' has the same meaning as when used in section 121.

(d) DENIAL OF DOUBLE BENEFIT.—No credit shall be allowed under this section for any purchase for which a credit is allowed under section 36 or section 1400C.

(e) SPECIAL RULES.—

(1) JOINT PURCHASE.—

(A) MARRIED INDIVIDUALS FILING SEPARATELY.—In the case of 2 married individuals filing separately, subsection (a) shall be applied to each such individual by substituting "$7,500" for "$15,000" in subsection (a)(1).

(B) UNMARRIED INDIVIDUALS.—If 2 or more individuals who are not married purchase a principal residence, the amount of the credit allowed under subsection (a) shall be allocated among such individuals in the same manner as the Secretary may prescribe, except that the total amount of the credits allowed to all such individuals shall not exceed $15,000.

(2) PURCHASE.—In defining the purchase of a principal residence, rules similar to the rules of paragraphs (2) and (3) of section 1400E(a) (as in effect on the date of the enactment of this section) shall apply.

(3) REPORTING REQUIREMENT.—Rules similar to the rules of section 1400C(f) (as so in effect) shall apply.

(4) RECAPTURE OF CREDIT IN THE CASE OF CERTAIN DISPOSITIONS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—In the event that a taxpayer—

(i) disposes of the principal residence with respect to which a credit was allowed under subsection (a), or

(ii) fails to occupy such residence as the taxpayer's principal residence, at any time within 24 months after the date on which the taxpayer purchased such residence (as in effect on the date of the enactment of this section), the tax imposed by this chapter shall be increased by the amount of such credit.

(B) EXCEPTIONS.—

(A) DEATH OF TAXPAYER.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply to any taxable year ending after the date of the taxpayer's death.

(B) INVOLUNTARY CONVERSION.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply in the case of a residence which is compulsorily or involuntarily converted (within the meaning of section 1033(a)) if the taxpayer acquires a new principal residence within the 2-year period beginning on the date of the disposition or cessation referred to in such paragraph. Paragraph (1) shall apply to such new principal residence during the remainder of the 24-month period described in such paragraph as if such new principal residence were the converted residence.

(C) TRANSFERS BETWEEN SPOUSES OR INCOMPATIBILITY OF INCOME.—In the case of a transfer of a residence to which section 1041(a) applies—

(i) paragraph (1) shall not apply to such transfer, and

(ii) in the case of taxable years ending after such transfer, paragraph (1) shall apply to the transferee in the same manner as if such transferee were the transferor (and shall not apply to the transferor).

“(D) RELOCATION OF MEMBERS OF THE ARMED FORCES.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply to a member of the armed forces of the United States on active duty who moves pursuant to a military order and incident to a permanent change of station.

“(e) SUNSET OF CURRENT FIRST-TIME HOMEBUYER CREDIT.—

(1) In general.—Subsection (g) of section 36 is amended by striking “July 1, 2009” and inserting “the date of the enactment of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Tax Act of 2009”.

(2) ELECTION TO TREAT PURCHASE IN PRIOR YEAR.—Subsection (h) of section 36 is amended by striking “July 1, 2009” and inserting “the date of the enactment of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Tax Act of 2009”.

(3) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to purchases after the date of the enactment of this Act.

Mr. ISAKSON. Madam President, the amendment is merely a technical amendment on dates and no other substantial change.

It is rare that we have a roadmap to success in times of difficulty, but this country has once before realized a housing crisis every bit as bad as the one we have today and economic troubles and unemployment every bit as dangerous, and that was in 1975. In 1975, the Congress and a Republican President, Gerald Ford, came together for the American people and passed a $2,000 tax credit for the purchase of any standing, vacant, new house and in one year’s time a 3-year inventory had been dissipated by 10 months. The case of a purchase of a principal residence under §10.1, a taxpayer may elect to treat such purchase as made on December 31, 2009, this section.

Mr. CARDIN. Madam President, let me comment on the underlying bill and the calls I have had in the last day, many more from both sides of the aisle. It is time to fix America’s problem, not to let bankruptcy judges modify terms of subprime mortgages which could have kept 600,000 families in their homes.

So let me make it clear. We all want to preserve home ownership. We all want to prevent foreclosure. The underlying bill will help us get to that moment which we should have done earlier, and I regret that the filibusters prevented us from doing that.

Now, it is not only home ownership. People are losing their jobs. Retailers, automobile dealers, and restaurants are feeling the pinch. Small business owners are closing their doors. We need jobs and we need consumer confidence. The underlying legislation will also focus on new job growth. That is the No. 1 objective: Create more jobs in America because we are losing them today. President Obama made it clear the criteria for this bill must be that the investments we make must be targeted to new job growth. He does that through targeted tax credits and tax cuts, through aid to our local governments to avoid the layoffs that each one of our States will confront with State workers.

Mr. CARDIN. Madam President, let me comment on the underlying bill and the calls I have had in the last day, many more from both sides of the aisle. It is time to fix America’s problem, not to throw money at the symptoms. It is time to fix housing first in the United States of America.

I yield the floor.

want to make sure there are right investments for America’s future, whether it is improving education, educational facilities, energy so we can become energy independent, broadband so that we can compete in the future, health care so we can become more efficient. In the way we deliver health care, our transportation system—I particularly mention public transportation which is critically important for our communities—or whether it is preserving home ownership. Also, the underlying bill must be temporary. We need to get back to balancing the budget; we understand that.

So what does this bill mean for the people of Maryland? Well, our State will receive directly $3.1 billion. We will receive $420 million for highways, $240 million for transit projects, $27 million for drinking water improvements, $96 million to improve wastewater facility plants, which is in desperate need in Maryland. The State energy program will get $8.5 million; weatherization assistance so that homeowners can have their homes much more efficient as it relates to the use of energy, $56.5 million. Many of the infrastructures that are being improved are 30, 40, 50 years old. A lot of our wastewater treatment facilities are in need of modernization. They are ready to go. The money has not been there for it. These are capital improvements so we don’t have to compete and have delays. Once it is done, we can get back to being more competitive and get back to the budget discipline that is so necessary in this Congress.

Let me talk for a moment about the real estate market. The real estate market triggered this recession. We know that. I was listening to my colleagues talk about that on the floor and I agree with them. It is difficult for people to get into the mood to buy a home. They just don’t know whether they have hit bottom. So I particularly appreciate the Finance Committee for bringing out in this legislation the first-time homeowners tax credits, legislation that I introduced last Congress. It was included in the bill we passed in the last Congress, but it was a noninterest-bearing loan of $7,500. The Finance Committee has now changed that to a credit, which I think will be much more effective. First-time home owners don’t know that if they get into the home buying market, the Federal Government is going to help them with a credit. That is what it should be, and I know there will be some additional efforts made to strengthen that amendment.

In regards to small business, I said earlier small businesses are the heart of America. It is where our economic strength is. The American dream is not only owning a home; the American dream is also owning a small business, being your own boss. Unfortunately, too many small businesses today have on their front door “going out of business.” We have to do more to protect small businesses. At the end of the day, when we pull out of this recession, we need to have small businesses in place because they are the economic engine of America. Madam President, 99.7 percent of the businesses in Maryland are small businesses and 80 percent of all new job growth is created by small businesses.

We had in the Small Business Committee a roundtable where we talked to small businesses in our State, in our country. It is interesting that a year ago, out of every seven small business owners used their personal credit cards in order to get credit for their business. We understand that. Today that is 50 percent. It is the only place they can get credit. It is the most expensive and it can be pulled at any time. We have to help small business owners with their credit problems. We have to make sure the government procurement actually gets down to the small business owner. In this underlying legislation, the SBA loans, the 504 program, the 7(a) loans, there are major provisions to make it less expensive for small businesses. That is good. I support that. There is a microloans provision in this legislation for small businesses. That is important. That is going to help. But we need to do more. We need to do more to help small businesses, minority businesses, women-owned businesses, veterans’ businesses.

The Senator from Maryland [Mr. CARDIN], for himself and Ms. LANDRIEU and Ms. SNOWE, proposes an amendment numbered 237 to amendment No. 98.

The amendments are as follows:

AMENDMENT NO. 168
(Purpose: In the nature of a substitute)
In lieu of the matter proposed to be inserted, insert the following:

SECTION 1. REDUCTION IN CORPORATE MINIMUM TAX RATES.
(a) GENERAL RULE.—Paragraph (1) of section 1(b) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended—
(1) by inserting “and” at the end of subparagraph (A), and
(2) by striking “but does not exceed $75,000,” in subparagraph (B) and inserting a period,
(b) PERSONAL SERVICE CORPORATIONS.—Paragraph (2) of section 1(b) of such Code is amended by striking “35 percent” and inserting “25 percent”,
(c) CREDIT RESULTING FROM DIFFERENT TAX RATE SCHEDULES.—Paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 1446(e) of such Code are each amended by striking “35 percent” and inserting “25 percent”,
(d) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2008.

SEC. 2. REDUCTION IN INDIVIDUAL MARGINAL INCOME TAX RATES.
(a) IN GENERAL.—(Paragraph (2) of section 1(i) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended to read as follows:
“(2) REDUCTION IN RATES AFTER 2008.—In the case of taxable years beginning after 2008, the tables under subsections (a), (b), (c), (d), and (e) shall be applied—
“(A) by substituting ‘25%’ for ‘28%’ each place it appears, and “(B) without regard to—
“(i) the rates on taxable income in excess of the amount with respect to which the 25 percent rate determined after the application of subparagraph (A) applies, and
“(ii) any limitation on the amount of taxable income to which the 25 percent rate determined after the application of subparagraph (A) applies.”,
(b) REPEAL OF EGTRRA SUNSET.—Title IX of the Economic Growth and Tax Relief Reconciliation Act of 2001 (relating to sunset of provisions of such Act) shall not apply to section 101 of such Act (relating to reduction in income tax rates for individuals),
(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2008.

SEC. 3. REPEAL OF ALTERNATIVE MINIMUM TAX.
(a) IN GENERAL.—(Paragraph (2) of section 2102(b) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to the application of the alternative minimum tax) is amended by inserting ‘25%’ for ‘28%’ after the period appearing after subparagraph (A),
(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2008.

SEC. 4. PERMANENT REDUCTIONS IN INDIVIDUAL CAPITAL GAINS AND DIVIDENDS TAX RATES.
Section 330 of the Jobs and Growth Tax Relief Reconciliation Act of 2003 (relating to sunset of title) is repealed.

SEC. 5. ESTABLISHMENT OF GROWTH TAX RELIEF AND REFORM AFTER 2009.
(a) RESTORATION OF UNIFIED CREDIT AGAINST GIFT TAX.—(Paragraph (1) of section 2005(c) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to general rule for unified credit against gift tax) is amended by striking “(determined as if the applicable exclusion amount were $1,000,000).”.
(b) EXCLUSION OF BALANCE OF UNIFIED CREDIT EQUAL TO $5,000,000.—Section (c) of section 2505 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to unified credit against estate tax) is amended as follows:
“(c) APPLICABLE CREDIT AMOUNT.—
“(1) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of this section, the applicable credit amount is the amount of the tentative tax which would be determined under section 2001(c) if the amount with respect to which such tentative tax is to be computed were equal to the applicable exclusion amount.
“(2) APPLICABLE EXCLUSION AMOUNT.—
“(A) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of this subsection, the applicable exclusion amount is $5,000,000.
“(B) INFLATION ADJUSTMENT.—In the case of any decedent dying in a calendar year after 2009, the applicable exclusion amount is increased by the inflation adjustment determined under section 1(f)(3) for such calendar year by substituting ‘calendar year 2008’ for ‘calendar year 1992’ in subparagraph (B) thereof.

If any amount as adjusted under the preceding sentence is not a multiple of $10,000, such amount shall be rounded to the nearest multiple of $10,000.

(c) FLAT ESTATE AND GIFT TAX RATES.—
(1) IN GENERAL.—(Subsection (c) of section 2001 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to imposition and rate of tax) is amended to read as follows:
“(c) TENTATIVE TAX.—The tentative tax is 15 percent of the amount with respect to which the tentative tax is to be computed.,”.
(2) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—
(A) Paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 2102(b) of such Code are amended to read as follows:
“(1) IN GENERAL.—A credit in an amount that would be determined under section 2010 as the applicable exclusion amount were $60,000 shall be allowed against the tax imposed by section 2101.
(B) RESIDENTS OF POSSESSIONS OF THE UNITED STATES.—In the case of a decedent who is considered to be a ‘nonresident not a citizen of the United States’ under section 2101, the credit allowed under section 2010 (relating to the credit allowed against estate tax) shall not be less than the proportion of the amount that would be determined under section 2010 as the applicable credit amount if the applicable exclusion amount were $175,000 which the value of that part of the decedent’s gross estate which at the time of the decedent’s death is situated in the United States bears to the value of the decedent’s entire gross estate, wherever situated.

(c) ESTATE TAX.—Section 2001(b)(2) of such Code (relating to computation of tax) is amended by striking “and” in the last preceding sentence.

Section 205 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to unified credit resulting from different tax rates) is amended by striking “(determined as if the applicable exclusion amount were $1,000,000).”.

(c) GIFT TAX.—Section 2505(c) of such Code (relating to unified credit against gift tax) is amended by inserting “if the provisions of subsection (c) (as in effect at the date of the decedent’s death)” after “tax” in the last preceding sentence.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — SENATE

February 4, 2009

SEC. 7. BASE BROADENING.

(a) In General.—Section 63 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(b) Restrospective Application of Depreciation Deductions After 2008.—In the case of any taxable year beginning after 2008, no itemized deductions shall be allowed under this chapter other than—"

"(1) the deduction for qualified residence interest (as defined in section 163(h)(3)), and"

"(2) the deduction allowed under section 170.".

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2008.

(AMENDMENT NO. 228

(Purpose: To ensure that the $1 trillion spending bill is not used to expand the scope of the Federal Government by adding new spending programs)

At the appropriate place, insert the following:

"In General.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, for each amount in each account as appropriated or otherwise made available in this Act, the President, the Administrator of Management and Budget shall make determination about whether an authorization for that specific program had been enacted prior to February 1, 2009, and if no authorization existed by that date, then the Office of Management and Budget shall reduce to zero the amount appropriated or otherwise made available for each program in each account where no authorization existed.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Madam President, our Nation's fiscal outlook is very grim. The Congressional Budget Office projects the Federal budget deficit will exceed $1 trillion. Despite this enormous deficit, President Obama is urging Congress to enact a massive stimulus plan that would add another $1 trillion in Government debt over the next 10 years. The President and his advisers insist that we must spend this money as quickly as possible in order to save our economy.

In the grassroots of my State, I don't think people argue with things that are in this bill that are truly stimulus, but I am getting outrage from my constituents about the large part of this bill that is strictly big-time spending. This is true only in a very narrow sense that increasing money in the form of business loans or consumer credit. Saving is just another form of spending—specifically spending on capital goods, such as factories and equipment. So we have to be about the correct route depends upon the circumstances. When workers are employed and factories are idled, they say we need to spend more and increase supply. But when workers are unemployed and factories are idled, they say we need to save more.

There are two opposing views on how to help the economy. Some people say consumption is the key to economic growth. When people go shopping, the economy is good, so we need to spend more. Others say investment is the key. When businesses invest, the economy is good, so they say we need to save more.

Some economists try to reconcile these opposing views by suggesting the correct route depends upon the circumstances. When workers are fully employed and factories are fully utilized, they say we need to save more and increase supply. But when workers are unemployed and factories are idled, they say we need to spend more and increase demand. While this explanation is appealing, it doesn't withstand careful scrutiny.

We are told that in order to stimulate the economy, all the Government has to do is put more money into the hands of consumers and they will spend it back into prosperity. The problem with this approach is that the only way the Government can put money into somebody else's hands is by taking it from somebody else's pockets—either in the form of taxes or borrowing. Now, this is a zero-sum game in which one person's loss is another's gain. Some economists try to obscure this fact by dodging a critical point in the marginal propensity to consume. In my judgment, that is just a fancy way of saying some people spend more of their money than others.

According to this concept, low-income people are more likely to spend an extra dollar than higher income people; thus, taking from the rich and giving it to the poor will stimulate consumer demand and boost the overall economy. It is the Government kind of pitting the role of fiscal policy.

This concept is flawed because it ignores the very important role of people saving. Money that is saved does not disappear; it flows back into the economy in the form of business loans or consumer credit. Saving is just another form of spending—specifically spending on capital goods, such as factories and equipment, or consumer goods such as cars and houses.

Of course, the critics say this is not always true. During a recession, banks are less willing to lend and businesses are less willing to borrow. Thus, some of the money previously available in the economy is no longer being used, and spend during a recession without crowding out other private sector spending. This is true only in a very narrow sense that increasing money..."
supply allows the Government to borrow and spend without reducing the amount of money available to the rest of our population. That is monetary policy masquerading as fiscal policy. Moreover, when the Government borrows or spends, it is neither using old or new money, what the Government is really borrowing is the resources it acquires; thus, every dollar the Government spends has an “opportunity cost” in terms of the potential uses of those resources.

Much of the confusion over this point comes from the failure to recognize the nature of money in our economy. Economists often talk about the multiplier effect in order to explain how each dollar of Government spending can result in more than a dollar of economic activity. But the multiplier effect is simply a way of illustrating the fact that if I give you a dollar, you will spend part of it and save part of it. The portion that you spend goes to someone who spends a portion and saves a portion, and so on and so on; thus, $1 effectively multiplies into many dollars.

Contrary to what some people might have you believe, the multiplier effect applies to the dollar, not just the dollar spent by the Government. According to Federal Reserve data over the past 50 years, the ratio between gross domestic product and our money supply—defined as currency plus bank reserves—has ranged from a ratio of 10 to 1, to 20 to 1. In other words, every dollar in our economy supports between $10 and $20 of economic activity.

During a recession, there are fewer working hours. And the multiplier effect then is lower, the level of spending is lower as well. That means the available dollars are being used less. Economists often refer to this as a decline in the velocity of money. The money no longer being used reflects the goods and services no longer being produced. With fewer goods and services available to buy, Government efforts to borrow and spend have a smaller effect. Instead of the Federal Reserve increasing bank reserves to boost private lending, the Government will increase borrowing to boost private spending. But this is really monetary policy disguised as fiscal policy.

The success or failure of this policy will depend upon how the additional money is used. Unfortunately, when some advocates of Government stimulus talk about priming the pump, they give the impression that we can grow our economy by simply spending money and it doesn’t matter in any way how you spend that money.

Consider the following comments by the great economist John Maynard Keynes, who didn’t agree with very much. He said this:

If the Treasury were to fill old bottles with banknotes, bury them at suitable depths in disused coal mines... and leave it to private enterprise... to dig the notes up again... there need be no more unemployment...

People are probably laughing at that. Nearly everyone would recognize the ill effects of printing up $1 trillion and dropping it from helicopters. But what if the Government hired 10 million Americans to dig holes and fill those holes back up, and paid each $100,000? Would that prime the pump and get our economy moving again? The answer should be obvious: It would be a complete waste of resources.

The 19th century economist Frederic Bastiat once observed:

There is only one difference between a bad economist and a good one: the bad economist confines himself to the visible effect; the good economist takes into account both the effect that can be seen and those effects that must be foreseen.

When the Government borrows money for some activity, that is what is seen. But what is not seen is what could have been created had those workers and resources been used in some different way. The benefit of a Government stimulus plan must then be weighted against cost. So far, there has been no comprehensive cost-benefit analysis of this proposed stimulus bill. I may have talked about a lot of economic philosophy, but it is pertinent to what we are on the Senate floor this week, the stimulus bill. There is a glaring omission given in recent comments that have been made by President Obama. So I want my colleagues to take into consideration what my President said.

Shortly before his inauguration, President Obama gave a series of speeches and interviews. I will read a couple sentences from them. According to the January 16 Washington Post:

Obama repeated his assurance that there is “near unanimity” among economists that government spending will help restore jobs in the short term, adding that some estimates of necessary stimulus now reach $3 trillion.

The President-elect said he believes that direct Government spending provides the most “bang for the buck” and that his advisers have worked to design tax cuts that would be most likely to spur consumer spending.

They quote President Obama:

“The theory behind it is I set the tone,” Obama said. “If the tone I set is that we bring as much intellectual firepower to a problem, that people act respectfully toward each other, that disagreements are fully aired, and that we make decisions based on facts and evidence as opposed to ideology, that people will adapt to that culture and we’ll be able to move together effectively as a team.”

Going on to quote President Obama: I have a pretty good track record at doing that.

I was quoting from the Washington Post, but also quoting within that article what the President said.

Now I want to go to a January 10 radio address by then-President-elect Obama, now our President:

Our first job is to put people back to work and put our economy on a sounder foundation for future growth. I asked my nominee for chair of the Council of Economic Advisers, Christina Romer, and the Vice President-elect’s chief economic adviser, Jared Bernstein, to conduct a rigorous analysis of this plan and come up with projections of how many jobs it will create—and what kind of jobs they will be...

The jobs we create will be in businesses large and small across a wide range of industries. And they’ll be the kind of jobs that don’t just put people to work in the short term, but position our economy to lead the world in the long term.

That is a quote from the January 10 radio address by then-President-elect but now our President.

These comments from President Obama are noteworthy for several reasons. First, he is our President, and we ought to respect his views, not always agreeing with them but consider them. First, he suggests a level, in those quotes I just gave, of unanimity among economists, and that unanimity does not exist. Second, he suggests his administration will make decisions based on facts instead of ideology. But now our President.

In that regard, I note that the Congressional Budget Office released an analysis of the House stimulus bill. According to the Congressional Budget Office, the House stimulus bill will create between 3 million and 8 million new jobs over the next 3 years, depending on whether the multiplier assumption is low—that will be 3 million—or high—that will be 8 million.

Given the cost of the House bill, these figures imply a very surprising and a very troubling result. The CBO estimate shows it will cost between $90,000 and $250,000 per job created. These numbers should be contrasted to those under the CBO baseline which show the gross domestic product per worker is about $100,000.

In other words, the jobs being created by the House bill could cost as much as 2½ times more than the jobs that would be created without the stimulus bill. There has been a lot of talk about “bang for the buck,” particularly during this debate. But there doesn’t seem to be any interest actually making sure it happens. In other words, that it actually happens, we get bang for the buck. Before we spend another $1 trillion, we ought to make sure we are getting our money’s worth.

It should also be noted that the Congressional Budget Office’s analysis only covers the years 2009 through 2011, but if you assume the ratio of employment to Government spending remains the same throughout the 10-year projection period that we always have in our bills, there will be only a few thousand new jobs. Moreover, if you adopt the standard assumption that increasing the national debt by $1 trillion will crowd out private sector investment, the net result will be fewer jobs because of this stimulus bill. I have written a letter to the Congressional Budget Office Director requesting an analysis of both the House and Senate stimulus bills. This analysis will cover the full 10-year period, consistent with the January baseline. The Director has indicated to me that this is a very complicated process, and their analysis may not be completed until next week. I strongly encourage my colleagues to have the CBO analysis before we have a final vote on this bill. The Senate must have the opportunity to carefully review the Congressional Budget Office analysis.

Let me repeat what I said at the beginning. Congress needs to take action to address declining growth and rising unemployment. At the grassroots of America, there may not be a consensus on that, but there is an overwhelming feeling that Congress can do things that will help the economy. But for sure, before we spend another $1 trillion, Congress must take time to look before we leap.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Hawaii.

AMENDMENT NO. 140

Mr. INOUYE. Madam President, I rise, in opposition to the Pese-Mc McCain amendment. Yesterday, I received a message from the Obama administration that concludes that the economy faces its most serious crisis since the Great Depression, and I think that is something to which we all agree.

It goes further and says the economic recovery package now being considered by this body is an essential step in putting the economy back on the path of growth.

Our President, President Obama, has asked the Congress to send a bill to him before the February recess, and I believe we have that responsibility to act quickly and responsibly. Therefore, I believe now is not the time to debate controversial legislation that is not relevant to economic recovery.

There are no earmarks contained in the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act that we are now considering before the Senate. I maintain that now is not the time to debate Senate floor procedures for the consideration of appropriations bills.

However, I oppose this amendment on its merits. This amendment is an attempt to undermine Congress’s power of the purse. Under this amendment, congressionally directed spending items that are not specifically authorized could be stripped from legislation.

As Senators are well aware, Congress is often called upon to approve spending that is not yet authorized. In a January 15, 2009, report the Congressional Budget Office concluded that in recent years, the total amount of unauthorized appropriations averaged between $160 billion and $170 billion per year.

In fact, for the current fiscal year, there are over $718 billion worth of authorizations that expire before September 30, 2009. This includes funding for housing programs, energy programs, environmental programs, transportation programs, the Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program, homeland security programs, public health programs, veterans programs, and on and on.

This amendment could tie the Senate in knots. Conference reports could be amended and returned to the other body, and once amended the House could further amend the bill. The regular order for producing spending bills is the best prescription for producing responsible spending bills, not creating new rules that will make the process so cumbersome that we will not be able to complete our work.

This legislation would also hand over to the President the authority to determine what spending bills would be considered by the Senate. Under this amendment, if the President requests funding for an unauthorized program, the funding would not be subject to a point of order. Thus, the President should not give such power to any President.

Nor is it clear to me why it would be all right for authorizers to authorize earmarks, for the President to earmark funds, but Members who are not authorizers could not earmark funds in spending bills.

I remind the Senate that the last highway authorization bill contained over 6,474 earmarks, and the last water authorization bill contained over 600 earmarks.

I believe Congress took significant action during the 110th Congress to add unprecedented levels of transparency and accountability to the process of earmarking funds for specific projects.

Under the rules in 2007, each bill must be accompanied by a list identifying each earmark that it includes and which Member requested it. Those lists are made available online before the bill is ever voted on.

In the Senate, each Senator is required to send the committee a letter providing the name and location of the intended recipient, the purpose of the earmark, and a letter certifying that neither the Senator nor the Senator’s immediate family has a financial interest in the item requested. This certification is available on the Internet for at least 48 hours prior to a floor vote on the bill.

We also significantly reduce the level of funding for earmarks. In the 2008 bill, the total dollar amount of earmarks for nonproject-based accounts was reduced by 43 percent. In the fiscal year 2009 omnibus bill, we will further reduce earmarks.

In our continuing effort to provide unprecedented transparency to the process, the chairman of the House Appropriations Committee and I announced new reforms to begin in the 2010 bills.

To offer more opportunity for public scrutiny of Member requests, Members will be required to post information on their earmark requests on their Web sites at the time the request is made, explaining the purpose of the earmark and why it is a valuable use of taxpayers’ funds.

To increase public scrutiny of committee decisions, earmark disclosure tables will be made publicly available the same day as the Senate subcommittee or the full committee takes action.

We are committed to keeping earmark funding levels below 1 percent of discretionary spending in subsequent years.

The new requirements included in this amendment will hamstring the Senate from fulfilling its responsibility. The amendment says no funds can be included in appropriations bills unless already included in an authorization bill that has passed the Senate during this session.

My colleagues the Senate has not passed a foreign affairs authorization bill in many years. All these measures aren’t authorized. In the past 7 years, we haven’t enacted an intelligence authorization bill. We don’t have one for last year or the year before. It has been 7 years since the Senate passed an authorization bill for Customs. Should we stop funding the construction of ports of entry on our borders? The Environment and Public Works Committee does not report legislation through the Senate to authorize specific Federal buildings. Does that mean we should stop repairing and improving the security or constructing Federal buildings that house over 1 million Federal employees? The Agricultural Research Service has never been authorized. Yet it has existed for 56 years. Should we stop funding agricultural research? The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration has never been authorized—NOAA has never been authorized—so does that mean we should stop funding for hurricane forecasting and severe weather forecasting, tsunami forecasting? Congress has not authorized juvenile justice funding for the last 2 years. Does that mean we should stop funding to keep kids out of gangs and in school?

Under this amendment, the Senate would be required to defer action on all items which it feels are important when the companion authorization bill is up. Are we going to allow the filibuster of an authorization bill to stop Congress from exercising its constitutionally mandated power of the purse? This amendment also applies to items which have been approved by the House. Any such item could be stricken if the authorization bill has not been completed.

Last year, we faced a situation on the Defense Subcommittee, which I am privileged to chair, in which we completed action on the Appropriations Act before we completed action on the Authorization Act. We were told by the President, the Department of Defense, the commanders on the field in Iraq and Afghanistan: You cannot stall this. So we passed the appropriations bill before the authorizing bill. Yet under this amendment, all the House items could be stricken by the Senate.

The Constitution gives the power of the purse to the Congress. It is our job to use that power responsibly. We have put procedures in place to make the process transparent and to hold Members accountable for their spending decisions. Rule XVI already establishes rules against funding and including unauthorized spending in general appropriations bills. Rule XLIV already establishes rules concerning congressionally directed spending items.

I can't speak for all my colleagues, but I can say this much. I was not elected by my constituents in Hawaii to be a rubberstamp. They expected me to use my initiative and to address their concerns. We can't use my initiative and to address my colleagues and tell them about the urgent requests we need. I'd go out on and on and tell you about many of the projects that have been part of the law today because we took congressional initiative. Therefore, I urge a "no" vote on the Feingold-McCain amendment.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mrs. HAGAN). The Senator from South Dakota is recognized.

AMENDMENT NO. 236

Mr. THUNE. Madam President, I wish to speak to an amendment that I introduced and filed and was made pending at the desk earlier today. What that amendment will do is eliminate not just one, but many programs that are created by the proposed $1 trillion stimulus legislation that is before the Senate today.

Earlier yesterday, I presented some information about the size and scope of this legislation and tried to put in very visual terms the immense amount of money we are talking about when you start looking at $1 trillion. It is $900 billion, but when you add interest on top of the $900 billion, $350 billion in interest—you have $1.2 trillion in new spending included in the stimulus bill. I say that because I think it is important to point out that is not the end; it is, frankly, the beginning.

We know for a fact the Omnibus appropriations bill—the sort of catchall appropriations bill we didn't complete last year—is going to be coming before the Congress, before the House first and then before the Senate. For the first time ever, that is going to exceed $1 trillion. So we have $1 trillion in the catchall appropriations bill. We expect at least a request from the administration for additional TARP authority—emergency funding to provide stabilization of financial markets and the tune of several hundred billion dollars. We don't know exactly what it will be, but we know it will be in the multiples with respect to hundreds of billions of dollars. We also have a supplemental appropriations bill that will be coming shortly after that to fund the ongoing conflicts in Iraq and Afghanistan.

My point simply is this: This is trillions of dollars of spending. This is a spending spree that is unprecedented even in this city, which is known for spending lots of money on lots of programs. What this amendment attempts to do is to put a little bit of restraint into some of the programs in the stimulus bill. Granted, many of us believe there are some things we should be doing, some steps we should be taking that would help the economy to recover, that would stimulate the economy, and, actually, the credibility of the stimulus bill that is in front of us goes beyond that.

The President's top economic adviser suggested when this whole debate began that whatever we do in terms of stimulus, it should be temporary, it should be targeted, and it should be timely. Much of what is included in this bill is none of the above. In fact, it is slow and unfocused and unending. So I am attempting, with this amendment, to make it clear that new programs that are created in this bill have to have been authorized by February 1 of this year. In other words, earlier this week. So if there is not an authorization for this new program—and we would ask OMB to make that determination—that spending would be knocked out of the bill, essentially.

The whole purpose of the amendment is, again, to say that if we are going to do something that is meaningful in terms of stimulating the economy, it should be temporary and it should be targeted and it should be focused. Much of the spending that is in this bill is anything but that. History has shown, time and again, when you put new programs in the books, you almost always take a long time to get those programs off the ground. In fact, the Congressional Budget Office has examined this issue and they offered this insight:

Brand new programs pose additional challenges to the process, including ambiguities and criteria, issuing the necessary regulations, and reviewing plans and proposals would make distributing money quickly even more difficult—as can be seen, for example, in the lack of any disbursements to date under loan programs established for automakers last summer to invest in producing energy-efficiency vehicles. Through Federal government, spending for new programs has frequently been slower than expected and rarely been fast tracked. Again that is the Congressional Budget Office. Given the current state of the economy, we simply can't afford to enact costly new programs that have little hope of making any real meaningful impact now, when the American people need it the most.

There may be programs in this proposed legislation that are worthy of support—I am not arguing that point—but surely not under the guise of economic stimulus. There are new programs that are created that will add to the size and scope of the government. If Congress has reacted to the size of it. As I have said already, we know for a fact there is going to be a lot of additional spending coming down the pike that we are going to be asked to consider. But adding to that $1 trillion for something that arguably does not create economic stimulus, does not create jobs, seems to me to be the wrong direction in which to head.

My amendment would simply prevent any new funding under the economic stimulus plan from going toward new programs that were not authorized before February 1 of this year—2009. As I said earlier, the President told us on the Office of Management and Budget to determine if a program was authorized before February of 2009. If the program fails to meet that standard, the program will not receive funding from the economic stimulus proposal.

Now, I would argue that this is a very commonsense proposal that protects the taxpayer and ensures funds are spent in a timely and effective manner. That isn't to say—and I will repeat myself—as I said earlier, that many of these programs are not worthwhile and, frankly, we ought to consider them. But we ought to do it under the regular order and procedures that we have in the Senate. We ought to have committee action, we ought to have hearings, we ought to have the necessary oversight, and we ought to be able to put these things on the floor where they can be debated. We have a process for doing that.

There are lots of programs that are included in the stimulus bill which, I would argue, don't meet that criteria. They aren't stimulus because they are not targeted, they are not timely, and they are not temporary. They are, in fact, creating new programs which, as I said earlier, the Congressional Budget Office has told us sometimes take a very long time to roll out. I think any of us can speak from experience on that point; that whenever we create any sort of a new Federal program, we have uncertainties that must be set, the rules against funding and including unnecessary or unwise proposals. This is, for example, in the case of the economic stimulus bill, start talking about new programs.

I would also say the whole purpose of this exercise, in my opinion at least, is job creation. It is to get the economy back on track and recovering and creating jobs. We have our jobs. The economy is hemorrhaging and a lot of people are hurting throughout the country. What they don't need is more spending on Government programs in Washington, DC. What we ought to be doing, on the other hand, is getting more money into the hands of the American people so they can spend it—more incentives for small businesses to begin to invest and create jobs because that is what they do best. In fact, two-thirds to three-fourths of all the jobs created in our economy are created by small businesses.

Now, $900 billion, the principal amount—and with interest it is over $1 trillion. My amendment would simply prevent any new funding under the economic stimulus plan from going toward new programs that were not authorized before February 1 of this year—2009. As I said earlier, the President told us on the Office of Management and Budget to determine if a program was authorized before February of 2009. If the program fails to meet that standard, the program will not receive funding from the economic stimulus proposal.

Now, I would argue that this is a very commonsense proposal that protects the taxpayer and ensures funds are spent in a timely and effective manner. That isn't to say—and I will repeat myself—as I said earlier, that many of these programs are not worthwhile and, frankly, we ought to consider them. But we ought to do it under the regular order and procedures that we have in the Senate. We ought to have committee action, we ought to have hearings, we ought to have the necessary oversight, and we ought to be able to put these things on the floor where they can be debated. We have a process for doing that.

There are lots of programs that are included in the stimulus bill which, I would argue, don't meet that criteria. They aren't stimulus because they are not targeted, they are not timely, and they are not temporary. They are, in fact, creating new programs which, as I said earlier, the Congressional Budget Office has told us sometimes take a very long time to roll out. I think any of us can speak from experience on that point; that whenever we create any sort of a new Federal program, we have uncertainties that must be set, the rules against funding and including unnecessary or unwise proposals. This is, for example, in the case of the economic stimulus bill, start talking about new programs.

I would also say the whole purpose of this exercise, in my opinion at least, is job creation. It is to get the economy back on track and recovering and creating jobs. We have our jobs. The economy is hemorrhaging and a lot of people are hurting throughout the country. What they don't need is more spending on Government programs in Washington, DC. What we ought to be doing, on the other hand, is getting more money into the hands of the American people so they can spend it—more incentives for small businesses to begin to invest and create jobs because that is what they do best. In fact, two-thirds to three-fourths of all the jobs created in our economy are created by small businesses.
trillion in new spending—is proposed in the stimulus legislation. If you divide that by the number of jobs that are proposed to be created—somewhere around 3 million—that comes out to $300,000 per job. The average annual wage of South Dakotans is under $30,000 a year. It is very difficult to explain to a constituent of mine in South Dakota how the Federal Government proposes to spend $300,000 of their tax dollars to create one job at a time when the largest burden of debt is crushing. Every generation of debt is crushing. If investors finally lose confidence in our ability to manage enormous bureaucracies, I have watched as they devoured resources in the name of delivering resources to others. It seemed that no matter how forcefully and sternly I demanded effective oversight, those filters often times became very narrow funnels.

Tax relief, I would suggest, puts dollars directly in the hands of taxpayers and businesses. That is not necessarily a guarantee it will flow to the economy, but it is very clearly the most direct route to the people who are most in need.

I must also admit that I am deeply troubled by the rush to approve the largest spending bill in history with no plan to pay for it. There really is, literally, no plan—no plan at all. There is not even an attempt at a plan. It seems these days in Washington something can be deemed an emergency and suddenly all fiscal restraint is checked at the door and everything in the bill becomes the price of an emergency. I cannot imagine how we justify passing the cost of this to our children. It is as if some believe we can use a credit card and history will somehow forgive the debt.

Just last year when the deficit reached a half trillion dollars it sent a shockwave across this country. Yet the spending machine just rolled on. For this year, that number doubled to more than $1 trillion, and there was a collective outcry to rein in spending. Now we are faced with legislation that would double the deficit in the blink of an eye. How many times can it be doubled before the debt becomes insurmountable and, tragically, the dollar becomes worthless?

A group of Nebraskans came to see me recently. They brought me a beautiful picture. I have it on display in my office. It was drawn by a 2-year-old girl. We talked about the stimulus package, and I certainly reached the conclusion that they were advocating that somehow, if we passed this, it would deliver a benefit to this child. But I wondered out loud how our young people would feel about being asked to pay for $1.2 trillion, and I wondered how they would manage a national debt that now grows at a rate of $3 billion a day. I contemplated how this little 2-year-old’s quality of life... is even more remarkable to me that we are contemplating the largest spending bill in history at a time when every one of us is aware that the current level of spending is not sustainable. It is not an abstract problem. It is real and it is growing with the passage of time. I cannot keep passing the buck with a promise to make tough decisions in the year to come. It does begin with the decisions we make today.

Like every single Member of this body, I am proud of the State I represent. Nebraskans to know every day that I support them. But that does not mean I support this bill. Some might be disappointed when I vote against this spending bill, but I believe Nebraskans understand what it means to take responsibility. They expect that of me today, just as they expect it when I served as their Governor.

The Nebraska State Constitution requires a balanced budget. That is not unusual for a State government. The State also basically bans any borrowing of money. So when the economy collapsed post-9/11, we made difficult decisions while other States issued debt. I not only had to balance the budget, I had to do it without borrowing. It was not easy, but we did it and the tough choices were worthwhile.

When I came to the Cabinet, I did not have to turn to the Lieutenant Governor and tell him that I had left a pile of debt behind. The State has steadfastly adhered to the principle of fiscal responsibility, and because of that it is better positioned to face the challenges of today.

I want to wrap up with this: I understand the significance of trying to do all we can to boost this economy. Of course I want people to have jobs. I want them to be able to pay the bills. I could not vote for this bill and still claim that I represent the principles of the State I come from, the principles of the State of Nebraska. I do want to say that we can—we must begin this imperative now. While we cannot solve all of our financial problems or balance the budget this year, we can take steps to address it. We can—and I do believe it is our duty to—begin to ameliorate the problem. I believe Nebraskans understand what it means to take responsibility, and values of the State I come from, the State I represent. I not only had to balance the debt. I not only had to balance the State also basically bans any borrowing of money.

 Amendment No. 39 to Amendment No. 98

On behalf of Senator DORGAN I ask unanimous consent the pending amendments to be temporarily laid aside so we can call up Senator DORGAN’s amendment No. 200 on runway plants.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered. The amendment is as follows:

(Purpose: To amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to provide for the taxation of income of controlled foreign corporations attributable to imported property) On page 576, between lines 8 and 9, insert the following:

SEC. 284. TAXATION OF INCOME OF CONTROLLED FOREIGN CORPORATION ATTRIBUTABLE TO IMPORTED PROPERTY.

(a) General Rule.—Subsection (a) of section 954 (defining foreign base company income) is amended by striking the period at the end of paragraph (5) and inserting ‘‘and’’, by redesignating paragraph (5) as paragraph (4), and by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

‘‘(5) imported property income for the taxable year (determined under subsection (j) and reduced as provided in subsection (b)(5)).’’.

(b) Definition of Imported Property Income.—Section 954(d) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

‘‘(j) Imported Property Income.—

‘‘(1) In General.—For purposes of subsection (a)(5), the term ‘imported property income’ means income (whether in the form of profits, commissions, fees, or otherwise) derived in connection with—

‘‘(A) manufacturing, growing, or extracting imported property;

‘‘(B) the sale, exchange, or other disposition of imported property;

‘‘(C) the rental, or licensing of imported property.

Such term shall not include any foreign oil and gas extraction income (within the meaning of section 967(c) or any foreign oil related income (within the meaning of section 967(c)).

‘‘(2) Imported Property.—For purposes of this subsection—

‘‘(A) In General.—Except as otherwise provided in this paragraph, the term ‘imported property’ means property which is imported into the United States by a controlled foreign corporation or a related person.

‘‘(B) Imported Property Includes Certain Property Imported by Unrelated Persons.—The term ‘imported property’ includes any property imported into the United States by an unrelated person if, before such property was imported by the controlled foreign corporation (or a related person), it was reasonable to expect that—

‘‘(i) such property would be imported into the United States; or ‘‘(ii) such property would be used as a component in other property which would be imported into the United States.

(C) Exception for Property Subsequently Exported.—The term ‘imported property’ does not include any property which is imported into the United States and which—

‘‘(i) before substantial use in the United States, is sold, leased, or rented by the controlled foreign corporation or a related person for direct use, consumption, or disposition outside the United States; or

‘‘(ii) is used by the controlled foreign corporation or a related person in a component in other property which is so sold, leased, or rented.

(D) Exception for Certain Agricultural Commodities.—The term ‘imported property’ does not include any agricultural commodity which is not grown in the United States in commercial quantities.

(2) Import.—For purposes of this subsection, the term ‘import’ means entering, or withdrawal from warehouse, for consumption or use. Such term includes any grant of the right to use intangible property (as defined in section 936(h)(3)(B) in the United States.

(B) United States.—For purposes of this subsection, the term ‘United States’ includes the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands of the United States, Guam, American Samoa, and the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands.

(C) Unrelated Person.—For purposes of this subsection, the term ‘unrelated person’ means any person other than a related person.

(D) Coordination With Foreign Base Company Sales Income.—For purposes of this subsection, the term ‘foreign base company sales income’ shall not include any imported property income.

(2) Separate Application of Limitations on Foreign Tax Credit for Imported Property Income.

(1) In General.—Paragraph (1) of section 964(d) (relating to separate application of section with respect to certain categories of income) is amended by striking ‘‘and’’ at the end of subparagraph (A) and by inserting after subparagraph (A) the following new subparagraph:

‘‘(B) imported property income, and’’.

(2) Imported Property Income Defined.—Paragraph (2) of section 964(d) is amended by redesignating subparagraphs (1), (J), and (K) as paragraphs (A), (B), and (C), respectively, and by inserting after subparagraph (A) the following new subparagraph:

‘‘(I) imported property income.’’

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The PRESIDENT pro tem of the Senate from Nebraska is recognized.

Mr. BAUCUS. Madam President, I first want to congratulate the Senator from Nebraska. I have known him as Agriculture Secretary. He served the people of his State as Governor and also as mayor. I compliment Senator JOHNS for his service to his State and to his country. I very much look forward to working with him in the Senate. Again, I extend my congratulations.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

(3) Paragraph (5) of section 959(b) (relating to deductions to be taken into account) is amended by striking “and the foreign base company oil related income” and inserting “the foreign base company oil related income, and the imported property income”.

(e) The amendments made by this section shall apply to taxable years of foreign corporations beginning after the date of the enactment of this Act, and to taxable years of United States shareholders within which or with which such taxable years of such foreign corporations end.

Mr. BAUCUS. Madam President, for the benefit of Senators, I would like to take a moment to talk about where we are in consideration of the bill. Today is the third day of Senate consideration. Yesterday was quite productive. We had a full debate and very little downtime, which I especially appreciate.

The Senate considered nine amendments and had rolcall votes on four. One was adopted by voice vote. The Senate adopted a Republican amendment by Senator Coburn to strike a tax amendment related to film production.

And with an overwhelming bipartisan 71-to-26 vote, the Senate adopted a Mikulski-Brownback amendment to allow a deduction for interest on the purchase of used motor vehicles.

By voice vote, the Senate adopted a Harkin amendment on which Senator Specter played a very important role, who worked very hard, Senator Specter did, on the Harkin amendment, to provide additional funding for the National Institutes of Health.

So where are we now? Pending are a Murray amendment to strengthen infrastructure investments—these are all pending—a Vitter amendment to strike several spending items; an Isakson-Lieberman amendment to provide a tax credit for home purchases; a Feingold-McCain amendment to provide greater accountability of congressional earmarks; a Cardin small business bonds amendment; a DeMint amendment making a series of tax cuts in lieu of the pending substitute; a Thune amendment in the nature of a substitute; a Thune amendment on new programs in the bill; and a Dorgan amendment on runaway plants. I might add that the Democratic caucus is conducting an issues conference today, but the floor is open for business.

We expect a number of Republican amendments and also Democratic amendments. We hope to have several votes on amendments this afternoon and evening after the Democratic issues conference concludes, perhaps starting about 5:30 today, although I cannot be absolutely sure. That is for the leaders to determine.

For the information of Senators, let me say I expect that we hope to have as many as 12 amendments pending today, and I hope to schedule votes on these at the end of the afternoon and into the evening. In addition to the Republican amendments that we expect to be offered, we also expect Senator Bingaman, who has expressed an interest in offering an amendment, as well as I mentioned Senator Dorgan’s run-away plants. Senator Wyden also spoke to me about his amendment on bonuses that he intends to offer with Senator Snowe.

Once again, I urge Senators, let the managers know of their intentions to offer amendments. We want to give the managers know of their intentions to offer amendments. We want to give Senators as much notice as possible. I reemphasize notice is efficient. It helps us get our amendments passed here.

I call all Senators for their cooperation.

AMENDMENT NO. 168

I wish to say a word or two on the DeMint amendment. I remind Senators that the DeMint amendment strikes the whole of the COBRA provisions, that language with his amendment, which reduces the corporate rate to 25 percent, and it makes permanent the 2001 and 2003 tax cuts, including capital gains. That is a big item, as we all know.

It further repeals, permanently repeals the alternative minimum tax provisions in the Code today. It changes the estate tax treatments by creating an exception up to $5 million per person. The person who is laid off can keep that health insurance only if the person laid off pays 102 percent of premiums, that is, the person laid off pays 102 percent of premium. That is a big item, as we all know.

It also strikes provisions that extend unemployment insurance to people who have lost their jobs, I cannot believe it would do something like that, but that is what the DeMint amendment does.

It also strikes the COBRA provisions. That is very important. I can’t believe that is what he wants to do. In current law, when somebody works for a company and is laid off for reasons not of the worker’s own making, they are laid off and there are more than 20 people in that firm, that person is entitled to keep health insurance offered by that firm if that firm does offer health insurance, I think it is for 18 months.

But that person who is laid off can keep that health insurance only if the person laid off pays 102 percent of premiums, that is, the person laid off has to pay for all of that health insurance, plus 2 percent administrative costs. Very clearly not many people who are laid off, not working, can afford to pay 102 percent of the health insurance premiums, especially when the premiums these days are going up at such a rapid rate.

We, in the underlying bill, say a person laid off in that situation gets a 65-percent subsidy so that person can keep health insurance for 18 months. I think that is the right thing to do, given the current circumstances. But, no, clearly not many people who are laid off, not working, can afford to pay 102 percent of the health insurance premiums, especially when the premiums these days are going up at such a rapid rate.

I also say, these are permanent tax cuts in the DeMint amendment. The 1-year deficit effects of this amendment are staggering. They are ugly, because basically this is a huge, big tax cut amendment and it is what it is.

Last night, Senator Coburn spoke eloquently about growing deficits in the future, how fast they are growing. It begins to take our currency in danger. Other countries might not be as interested in holding dollars, might not be interested in buying Treasuries.
Countries such as China come to mind, other countries come to mind.

Obviously the DeMint amendment would make the concerns of Senator Coburn balloon. I mean, if Senator Coburn is concerned about the deficits today, Senator Coburn, I am sure, would be dramatically concerned about the effects of this amendment, which would balloon the deficits to an even greater amount.

So I think the underlying bill is important, it is crucial. The estimates are, between either passing the underlying amendments or not passing them, a difference of about 3 to 4 million jobs, 3 to 4 million jobs in this country. We could choose not to pass this underlying bill. That would mean no economic stimulus recovery package. That would also mean about 3 to 4 million further jobs lost. If we pass this legislation, it would begin to create and bring some jobs back into this economy.

Let’s face it, banks are not lending for lots of reasons today. But one reason is because they are having a hard time finding creditworthy borrowers. It is harder to find creditworthy borrowers, when the borrower is having a hard time finding demand, because people are not buying the borrower’s products.

There are many parts to the overall solution. But one of them is helping create some demand, and this underlying bill does create demand. If, on the other hand, we do not pass the bill and pass these big tax cuts, it further balloons the deficit to a staggering amount. It is not going to have nearly the stimulative effect that the proponents might say it will not.

Our goal here, in representing our constituents in our State, is to take this kind of bad situation we find ourselves in—kind of inherited this. This is where we are, these are the cards that were played, that is the hand we have been dealt. So let’s do the best we can with what we have got. My judgment is, and I think it is the judgment of most Members of this body, this economic stimulus package may not be perfect, but it is pretty good. It will help create some jobs. It is certainly better than the alternative, which is nothing. Let’s get on with it and keep improving upon it as we proceed.

I strongly urge my colleagues not to adopt the DeMint amendment, which is a full repeal of the program and replaces it with a massive increase in debt.

I yield the floor and I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The assistant legislative clerk will call the roll.

Mr. MARTINEZ. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mrs. GILLIBRAND). Without objection, it is so ordered.

AMENDMENT NO. 159 TO AMENDMENT NO. 98
(Purpose: To reduce home foreclosures, compensate servicers who modify mortgages, and remove the legal constraints that inhibit modification, and for other purposes)

Mr. MARTINEZ. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent to call up amendment No. 159.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Without objection, it is so ordered.

The clerk will report the amendment.

The Senate proceeded to the consideration of Amendment No. 98, Mr. Martinez's amendment to reduce home foreclosures, compensate servicers who modify mortgages, and remove the legal constraints that inhibit modification, and for other purposes.

Amendment No. 159, Mr. Martinez's amendment to reduce home foreclosures, compensate servicers who modify mortgages, and remove the legal constraints that inhibit modification, and for other purposes, was adopted by the yeas and nays:

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment has been agreed to.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a quorum?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment has been made a part of the pending bill and is now read. The Senate will now proceed to the consideration of the pending bill or a matter relating thereto.

Today I am proposing a plan that would provide troubled homeowners with options and incentivize participation from the private sector from these private securitizers who are out there in the private sector. Included in the plan is a loan modification program that will encourage mortgage servicers to help stem the tide of foreclosures.

Currently, there are two primary factors hindering mortgage servicers from modifying loans: a lack of incentive compensation, and second and equally important the threat of litigation.

The plan has a two-pronged approach that aims to address these concerns by the newly created government mortgage servicers and removing the legal restraints that prevent modifications.

Under the plan, the Federal Government would temporarily provide a monthly incentive fee to servicers who modify privately securitized mortgages. It also includes a safe harbor provision that removes the legal constraints currently inhibiting modifications. This plan also recognizes the integrity of contracts.

There is always the potential that a relatively small number of junior investors could be harmed by the modifications permitted by the program. With this in mind, the proposed legislation eliminates the need for junior investors to file suit by creating a small claims fund that the Treasury may use to resolve potential disputes. This will go a long way in protecting investors acting in good faith for the greater good—a incentive that is greatly needed if we want investors to be on board in helping to resolve this current crisis.

The plan has been supported by a number of economists, including Columbia Business School Dean Glenn Hubbard and Vice Dean Christopher Mayer. According to a Columbia report, the plan could reduce up to 1 million foreclosures at a cost of about $1 billion—roughly 10 percent of the $100 billion required by other plans.

I have been supportive of similar concepts, including the plan put forth by FDIC Chairman Sheila Bair, which is based on the model used to modify the loans of IndyMac. I believe this plan is even more taxpayer friendly because future potential losses are shouldered by private investors, not the Government.
As we continue talking about the stimulus, I urge my colleagues to consider the need to address the root cause of this crisis, which is the housing market. Americans are struggling, and unless we provide them with realistic alternatives, we will fail to fix the larger problem at hand.

A lot of colleagues of mine have expressed support for this plan. I encourage Members on both sides of the aisle to please look at this plan carefully. Because as a result of what we are doing, we must also deal with the housing problem. The housing problem is what brought us into this problem. We will not get out of this economic mess until we once again resolve the housing problem.

We need to tackle it in two ways, in my view. We need to tackle it in keeping families in their homes, avoiding foreclosure where possible. A huge number of today's inventory of unsold homes are homes that have been or are coming out of foreclosure. Those homes in and of themselves obviously tend to be sold at much lower prices. So it continues to drive the market down. It depresses the market.

The second problem, obviously, is still the old law of economics of supply and demand. We have a huge inventory of unsold homes. This inventory of unsold homes also impacts price. So I support not only my proposal but the proposal my colleague from Georgia, the Senator from Georgia, JOHNNY ISAKSON, has proposed, which is to incentivize the purchase of homes by providing a $15,000 tax credit, over a year or 2 years, to anyone in America who purchases a home.

The bottom line is, if we can get the market back again and people buying homes again and we draw down that inventory of unsold homes, if we slow down or can bring foreclosures to a halt, those two elements, working together, will be a greater way in which we can now begin to see the housing market stabilize in prices, which will also stabilize the foreclosures of the future.

You see, families who are in trouble today were not the same families who were in trouble 2 years ago when this crisis began. Families who are in trouble today are people who increasingly find themselves upside down on their mortgage because of the continuing decline in home values.

I hope my colleagues will carefully analyze these proposals—not only mine, amendment No. 159, but also Senator ISAKSON's proposal. I think these two proposals, hand in hand, will help us to make a difference in the current housing crisis. Many other things we can talk about in the stimulus, but fixing housing is at the core of what we must do.

Madam President, I yield the floor. I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

Mr. MCCAIN. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded. The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. MCCAIN. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that consideration of the present amendment be set aside, and I send to the desk an amendment and ask for it to be considered at the appropriate sequence of amendments.

Mr. MCCAIN. Madam President, I think the absence of a quorum. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The bill clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. MCCAIN. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded. The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

AMENDMENTS NOS. 278 AND 279 TO AMENDMENT NO. 98

Mr. MCCAIN. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that consideration of that amendment in keeping with the orientation as decided by the majority leader and the minority leader.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there an objection to setting aside the pending amendment and calling up the amendment of the Senator from Arizona?

Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. MCCAIN. Madam President, I send another amendment to the desk and ask unanimous consent for its consideration.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Without objection, it is so ordered.

The bill clerk proceeded to call the roll.

The Senator from Arizona [Mr. MCCAIN] proposes amendments numbered 278 and 279.

The amendments are as follows:

AMENDMENT NO. 278

(Purpose: To reimplement Gramm-Rudman-Hollings to require deficit reduction and spending cuts upon 2 consecutive quarters of positive GDP growth)

On page 431, after line 8, insert the following:

known to history as the Great Depression, this body considered issues similar to those we are discussing on the Senate floor today. Two men—Mr. Smoot and Mr. Hawley—led the effort to enact protectionist legislation in the form of a tariff bill. The Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act, raised duties on thousands of imported goods in a futile attempt to keep jobs at home. In the face of this legislation, 1,285 economists issued a statement to President Herbert Hoover. This statement, subsequently printed in The New York Times, is as relevant today as it was nearly 80 years ago. “America is now facing the problem of unemployment,” these economists wrote. The proponents of higher tariffs would claim that an increase in rates will give work to the idle. This is not true. We cannot increase employment by restricting trade.” Mr. Smoot, Mr. Hawley, and their colleagues paid no heed to this wise admonishment, and the result was an increase in protectionist legislation. In doing so, they sparked an international trade war as countries around the world retaliated, raising their own duties and restricting trade, and they helped turn a severe recession into the greatest depression in modern history.

We know the lessons of history, and we cannot fall prey to the failed policies of the past. We should not sit idly by while some seek to pursue a path of economic闭锁ism, one that could lead to disaster. It didn’t work in the 1930s, and it certainly won’t work today. That is why I so strongly oppose the protectionist “Buy American” provision in the pending bill and believe we must strike it.

The Senate version of the stimulus bill goes beyond the stark protectionism of its House counterpart in a way that risks serious damage to America’s economic well-being. The bill could move the Senate floor to prohibit the use of funds in this bill for projects unless all of the iron, steel, and manufactured goods used in the project are produced in the United States. These antidote measures may sound welcome to Americans who are hurting in the midst of our economic troubles and faced with the specter of layoffs. Yet shortsighted protectionist measures like “Buy American” risk greatly exacerbating our current economic problems. The Peterson Institute for International Economics has calculated that the “Buy American” provisions in this bill will actually cost the United States more jobs than it will generate. Some of our largest trading partners, including Canada and the European Union, have warned that such a move could invite protectionist retaliation, further harming our ability to generate jobs and economic growth. And it seems clear that this provision violates our obligations under more than one international agreement.

The purpose of this stimulus legislation is to create jobs and generate economic growth. I am very concerned about the potential impact these “Buy American” policies will have on trade relations with our partners, an impact that will directly affect the number of jobs we are able to create at home. For example, earlier this week, President Obama will embark on his first trip abroad to Canada. I applaud his decision to visit our neighbors to the north, as they are one of our closest allies and strongest trading partners. Our two nations share an increasingly integrated trade relationship, resulting in nearly $1 million of trade and commerce crossing our border every minute, a level of trade that sustains approximately 7 million jobs here in the United States.

Should we adopt protectionist legislation, however, President Obama is likely to visit our ally with a dubious gift indeed: legislation that attempts to choke off Canada’s access to the U.S. market. In a letter Stephen Harper said yesterday that the provisions “are measures that are of concern to all trading partners of the United States.” In a recent letter, Canada’s ambassador to the U.S. Michael Wilson wrote. “If Buy American becomes the hallmark of the stimulus legislation, the United States will lose the moral authority to pressure others not to introduce protectionist policies. A rush of protectionist actions could create a downward spiral like the world experienced before World War II.” He goes on to say that further that this provision would “decrease North American competitiveness, thereby killing jobs rather than creating them.” It is beyond my comprehension why we would seek to harm such an important relationship by passing legislation with provisions that have been proven counterproductive time and time again.

The reaction of our Canadian friends is just the beginning of what we can expect if the “Buy American” provision become law. American trade with the European Union currently stands at over $200 billion per year. John Bruton, the European Commission’s ambassador to Washington, has raised serious objections to the “Buy American” provisions in a letter to Congress and the administration, saying that the provision “risks entering into a spiral of protectionist measures around the globe that can only hurt our economies.” Prime Minister Stephen Harper said yesterday that the provisions “are measures that are of concern to all trading partners of the United States.” In a recent letter,Canada’s ambassador to the U.S. Michael Wilson wrote. “If Buy American becomes the hallmark of the stimulus legislation, the United States will lose the moral authority to pressure others not to introduce protectionist policies. A rush of protectionist actions could create a downward spiral like the world experienced before World War II.”

In addition, it appears that the “Buy American” provision would violate our obligations under the WTO Agreement on Government Procurement and, in fact, reports indicate that the European Union is already considering a legal WTO complaint—and the procurement chapter of the North American Free Trade Agreement. Such action is not only potentially disastrous for our economic interests, it is also a terrible way to conduct foreign policy. Pascal Lamy, head of the World Trade Organization, said recently, “I hope the senators will be wise enough . . . to make sure the U.S. complies with its international obligations.” Will we?

In addition to the growing chorus of international opposition, there is also, opposition from the very American companies that would generate badly needed jobs at home. In a recent Wash-}

The U.S. Congress responded just as we can expect others to do now—by threatening retaliation and considering legislation that would restrict Japanese imports.

We took these steps in order to persuade our Japanese friends to abandon these protectionist measures and in the end we succeeded. The United States has spent decades pushing toward a globalized world of open trade and investment, governed by rules applicable to all. The “Buy American” provision contained in this legislation would undo this long-standing tenet of American trade policy and would violate our international obligations and commitments. Just last November in Washington, the U.S. signed a joint declaration with members of the G–20 pledging that “within the next 12 months, we will refrain from raising new barriers to investment or to trade in goods and services.” Yet here we are, barely 2 months later, contemplating whether or not to go back on a commitment to some of our closest allies and trading partners, potentially damaging our credibility to uphold future agreements. Canadian Prime Minister Harper pointed out the irony here when he noted that “we all agreed that we had to have a global response to recession, which would include stimulus packages in all major countries and the avoidance of protectionism, and certainly not protectionism in a stimulus package.”

In addition, it appears that the “Buy American” provision would violate our obligations under the WTO Agreement on Government Procurement and, in fact, reports indicate that the European Union is already considering a legal WTO complaint—and the procurement chapter of the North American Free Trade Agreement. Such action is not only potentially disastrous for our economic interests, it is also a terrible way to conduct foreign policy. Pascal Lamy, head of the World Trade Organization, said recently, “I hope the sen-we should not. President Obama himself spoke out against the Buy American provision. “I think that would be a mistake right now,” he said yesterday. “That is a potential source of trade wars that we can’t afford at a time when trade is sinking all across the globe.”

I hope all senators will support this amendment, which would strike the existing “Buy American” provision and replace it with a limitation on “Buy American” clauses in this bill. To adopt anti-competitive, protectionist policies is to risk economic disaster, and it is the last thing we should consider at a time of economic difficulty.

I urge my colleagues to support this amendment.

Mr. BOND. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the Record be held open for my second statement concerning the other amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. McCAIN. Madam President, there are other Senators who are waiting to speak and propose amendments, so I will come back at the appropriate time to speak at some length on both amendments.

I support the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

Mr. BOND. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

AMENDMENT NO. 161 TO AMENDMENT NO. 98

Mr. BOND. Madam President, today I wish to talk about a number of concerns I have about the underlying bill as well as some amendments I have filed and propose to call up. I have offered the distinguished chairman of the Appropriations Committee one amendment to call up, and I will check with him before actually calling it up.

I think it is important to put this in context. Our Nation is in the midst of a serious economic crisis. Workers in my home State of Missouri and across the Nation are facing job losses, small businesses are failing, and families are struggling to pay their bills and put food on the table. It is clear we have to act quickly and boldly to protect and provide tax relief for working families and hire new employees. The third and most important component of any economic recovery plan is attacking the root cause of the problem. Without help, our economy cannot recover from the breakdown in our financial and credit markets. Bad debt is creating fear and uncertainty about the solvency of our financial system. We cannot ignore this problem or wait until later to tackle it head-on.

Bad debt is weighing down the banking system. Bad debt is creating fear and uncertainty about the solvency of our financial system. We cannot ignore this problem or wait until later to tackle it head-on. As the Japanese, who “lost” a decade of economic growth, providing money for more spending but without dealing with the bad assets that were on the financial books in the country. We cannot just throw money at the problem. We already tried that last year, and it hasn’t worked. It hasn’t turned the economy around. There is a need for a comprehensive and effective package to deal with the root cause of our economic crisis. It is imperative that we select and act on one now.

One option that makes a lot of sense to me is creating a new Federal entity that will take on the toxic assets that are weighing down the banks. Acquiring these toxic assets would also address the housing crisis by allowing the Government to modify home mortgages that will likely default, be able to reduce the payments and allow those families with the bad mortgages to keep them.

During the savings and loan crisis in the 1980s and 1990s, the Government created the Resolution Trust Corporation to dispose of bad debt. We know this method can work. It was paid for. I was on the Banking Committee. We worked through it. But the RTC was the key component in helping our economy recover after almost 800 savings and loans failed. The RTC showed us that a good deal of the money—not all of it—was brought back as the Federal Government disposed of those assets acquired.

Whether it is through an RTC or another alternative, such as a bad bank or guarantee program, or some other combination, addressing the root cause of the economic crisis is the key component to economic recovery.

Together, those three components—infrastructure investment, tax relief, and attacking the root cause of the crisis—are critical to any timely, targeted, and temporary economic recovery package. Unfortunately, I must say that the Democratic spending bill before us today falls on all three counts.

I have to say I was very disappointed that after many years where we worked together on appropriations matters and tax matters, these measures did not go through hearings, did not go through bipartisan creation. We had a brief hearing, a brief markup session, and essentially the Democratic bill was reported out—without any Republican fingerprints on it.

The bill that has come out stimulates the national debt, stimulates the growth of Government, but will do very little to stimulate the economy or job creation. First, the Democrats’ spending bill shortchanges infrastructure. Next, the Democrats’ spending bill fails to give working families and small businesses real tax relief. Third, the Democrats’ spending bill fails to address the root cause of the economic crisis. The bill fails on all three counts.

Also, no one can ignore the massive price tag of this bill. The Democrats’ trillion-dollar spending bill is a huge debt to saddle on our children and grandchildren. The cost is too high—especially when many economists agree it will do little to create jobs and stimulate the economy today, when we really need it.

In other words, the Democrats’ trillion-dollar spending bill won’t work for what we need it to do. The wasteful spending in this bill is running rampant. It seems this is a massive down payment on the Democrats’ policy priorities masquerading as a stimulus bill.

I was glad that we were able to strike the $236 million tax break for Hollywood movie producers in the bill yesterday. But I am disappointed that even after the outpouring of calls from the American people—we certainly heard a lot in our office—45 Democrats still voted for that special interest tax break. I think it is insulting to struggling families in Missouri and across the country. It seems that the Democrats would try to sneak in an almost $250 million tax break for Hollywood movie producers. Calling such a tax break for Hollywood movies an energy stimulus is outrageous.

There are many more examples of this in the trillion-dollar spending bill that will have zero stimulative effect on our economy. How about the $75 million for solar panels on top of the $34 million to redecorate the Department of Commerce? This bill is loaded with many spending items that have nothing to do with stimulus or creating jobs. Maybe some of these items have merit on their own, but they won’t create jobs or grow our economy, and they don’t belong in an emergency stimulus bill.

The figures I have seen from CBO say less than 10 percent of this will be spent in the current year. Most of the spending is going to occur in 2011, 2012, and beyond. Only about 6 percent of it is on vitally needed infrastructure. We need a bill that meets the goals of creating jobs and solving the credit problem and helping American families now, not on the road server.

It is no surprise, Madam President, that the more Americans learn about this bill, the more they oppose it. You can see the results from the national polls. A recent Gallup poll shows that support for the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act that came out today shows only 37 percent of Americans support this massive spending bill. In Missouri, our calls are running 9 to 1 against it. I think probably that I will even be reduced and the opposite, figuring will be greater as people learn more about it. My offices in Washington and in cities across my State have received overwhelming phone calls saying stop this trillion-dollar spending bill.

I think it is critical that we pass legislation that will help our economy recover, help create jobs, and help people get back to work now. But I cannot support this spending bill that fails to stimulate the economy or create jobs. I cannot support a bill that will take from our grandchildren with even more debt. I cannot support this spending bill that would create a massive growth in Government programs, some of which may continue for years.

A critical ingredient to economic recovery is confidence that there be discipline in Government. There must be some confidence that we will not go hog-wild on a spending binge that saddles our kids with debt and sets off an inflationary cycle. We must not repeat the mistakes of the Great Depression by throwing up trade barriers. We are living in a global economy, and we are in a global economic crisis. This demands more free trade, not less. I am heartened that just yesterday President Obama acknowledged the dangers of protectionism. I hope my colleagues don’t follow the path of Smoot-Hawley and cause further damage to our economy and jobs. Cutting off trade not only threatens jobs, but it means more jobs in my State depend upon exports and depend upon the one or two industries that might be affected.

Farmers in my State have been absolutely wiped out in the past when their exports to Southeast Asia, for example, a decade ago were cut off. This retaliation that the European Union and others have threatened could cut off the markets forever.

Finally, the enormity of this spending bill sends the wrong signal about creating jobs. I hope this body will agree to a complete substitute to get a bill that will work and work now. I think there are some improvements that can be made in it. I have several of these I intend to offer at the appropriate time with several of my distinguished colleagues, including the ranking member of the Environment and Public Works Committee. He and I, along with Senators BOXER, BAUCUS, COCHRAN, CRPO, BAYH, BROWNBACK, and VOGNOVICH, will be offering an amendment for better roads, bridges, and highways. That amendment would follow the path of Smoot-Hawley and give us competition.

Another program that I intend to offer, in addition to investing in our transportation infrastructure, is investment in early childhood facilities. The shortage of these facilities is a chronic problem facing prekindergarten programs. I am offering an amendment that takes $400 million out of the HUD Neighborhood Stabilization Program to fund capital investments for new construction, rehabilitation, and retrofitting of early childhood development centers. There is almost $130 million in stalled capital projects in five States, which would serve 10,000 children. Projections on this survey suggest an immediate need that exceeds a billion dollars over the next 2 years, and it is offset.

Today I intend to offer a bipartisan amendment with Senators MURRAY, DODD, REED, and KOHL to address this problem by providing $2 billion in direct equity grants to States through the low-income housing tax credit program.

Much of these funds would be directed toward tax credit deals that have already been approved by State credit agencies and have financing in place to proceed into construction, except for a recent equity gap created by the credit crisis. In other words, these funds are ready to go. They are truly shovel ready, and they deal with a great problem.

The problem is, this crisis in the financial markets has made it impossible for the normal low-income housing credit deals to go forward. This money would fill in that gap. In my State of Missouri, there are about 703 affordable housing units approved by the Missouri Housing Development Commission that have been stalled. They are ready to go. For 2009, the States anticipate another 2,000 units would be stalled.

If the equity gap funding is provided, it not only will save these units, but also creative some 3,000 new jobs.

It is estimated the low-income housing tax credit will nationally build 120,000 homes annually while supporting 180,000 jobs. These are good to go, and when the President talks about shovel-ready projects, what better thing to do than to make sure we have affordable housing for those who most need it.

I believe this amendment provides that affordable housing for families displaced by home foreclosures.
Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the pending amendment be set aside.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. BOND. Madam President, I call for amendment No. 161.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report.

The bill clerk read as follows:

The Senator from Missouri (Mr. BOND), for himself, Mr. DODD, Mr. KOHL, Mrs. MURRAY, and Mr. WATSON, offered an amendment numbered 161 to amendment No. 98.

Mr. BOND. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the reading of the amendment be dispensed with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment is as follows:

(Purpose: To provide $2,000,000,000 from the HOME program for investment in the low income housing tax credit projects)

GAP FUNDING FOR LOW INCOME TAX CREDIT PROJECTS

On page 235, line 1, strike “$2,250,000,000” and insert in lieu thereof “$250,000,000,” and insert the following account after line 13 on page 235:

"For an additional amount for capital investments in low income housing tax credit projects, $2,000,000,000, to remain available until September 30, 2011: Provided, That the funds shall be allocated to States under the HOME program under this heading shall be made available to State housing finance agencies in an amount totaling $2,000,000,000, subject to any changes made to a State allocation for the benefit of a State by the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development for areas that have suffered from disproportionately high and costly job losses or foreclosure: Provided further, That the Secretary, in consultation with the States, shall determine the amount of funds each State shall have available under HOME: Provided further, That the State housing finance agencies (including for purposes throughout this heading any entity that is responsible for distributing low income housing tax credits or as appropriate as an entity as a gap financier, shall distribute these funds competitively under this heading to housing developers for projects eligible for such terms as allowable those who may have received funding) under the low income housing tax credit program as provided under section 42 of the I.R.C. of 1986, and the long term viability of buildings funded by assistance under this heading: Provided further, That the term basis (as such term is defined in section 42(f)(1) of the low income housing tax credit program) shall apply to any such projects under this heading: Provided further, That the Secretary shall collect all information related to the award of Federal funds from State housing finance agencies and publish a list that shall identify all projects selected for an award, including the amount of the award as well as the process and all information that was used to make this heading.

Mr. BOND. I thank the Chair, and I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Oklahoma.

Mr. INHOFE. Madam President, first, I wish to make a comment on the remarks of the Senator from Missouri.

One of the most disturbing things, other than the cost of this stimulus bill, is the fact there is nothing in there to stimulate. There are two things that could be done that would be of great benefit to the United States of America.

One is, as he talked about, infrastructure. I was somewhat shocked that in the bill, on the other side, there was only $30 billion, in the Senate bill $27 billion that would go toward highways, bridges, and that type of construction. I am very much in support of his amendment No. 161 that will raise that amount by $5.5 billion. I have to say, it is not enough. That would still be less than 5 percent of the total amount that would go to those items that would provide immediate jobs.

In my State of Oklahoma, we can identify over $1.1 billion, just in Oklahoma, of projects that are spade ready, and so I strongly support his amendment, sir.

Mr. BOND. I ask unanimous consent that the pending amendment be disposed of.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Missouri, the amendment as amended, is before the Senate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will proceed to the consideration of amendment No. 262.

Mr. BOND. I thank the Chair, and I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Oklahoma.

Mr. INHOFE. Madam President, first, I wish to make a comment on the remarks of the Senator from Missouri.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Oklahoma, the amendment as amended, is before the Senate.
This is fully offset. It does have $5.3 billion that would increase procurement.

I ask unanimous consent to set aside the pending amendment for the purpose of bringing up Inhofe amendment No. 285.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The bill clerk will report.

The bill clerk read as follows:

The Senator from Oklahoma [Mr. INHOFE] proposes an amendment numbered 282 to amendment No. 198.

The amendment is as follows:

(Purpose: To appropriate, with an offset, $5,232,000,000 for procurement for the Department of Defense to reconstitute military units to an acceptable readiness rating and to restock prepositioned assets and war reserve material.

On page 60, between lines 4 and 5, insert the following:

GENERAL PROVISIONS—THIS TITLE ADDITIONAL AMOUNTS FOR PROCUREMENT FOR RECONSTITUTION OF MILITARY UNITS AND RESTOCKING OF PREPOSITIONED ASSETS AND WAR RESERVE MATERIAL

SEC. 301. (a) ADDITIONAL AMOUNT FOR PROCUREMENT.

(1) IN GENERAL.—For an additional amount for “Procurement” for the Department of Defense, $5,232,000,000, to remain available until expended, to manufacture or acquire military material handling equipment, and materials required to reconstitute military units to an acceptable readiness rating and to restock prepositioned assets and war reserve material.

(2) AVAILABILITY.—The items for which the amount available under paragraph (1) shall be available shall include fixed and rotary wing aircraft, tracked and non-tracked combat vehicles, missiles, weapons, ammunition, communications equipment, maintenance equipment, naval coastal warfare boats, salvage equipment, riverine equipment, expeditionary material handling equipment, and other expeditionary items.

(3) PROCUREMENT AMONG PROCUREMENT ACCOUNTS.—The amount available under paragraph (1) shall be allocated among the accounts of the Department of Defense for procurement as the President considers appropriate. The President shall submit to the congressional defense committees a report setting for the manner of the procurement in such manner as the President considers appropriate. The President shall consider appropriate. The President shall allocate among the accounts a report setting for the manner of the allocation of such amount among such accounts.

(4) DEFENSE MANAGEMENT COMMITTEES.—In this subsection, the term “congressional defense committees” has the meaning given that term in section 101(a)(16) of title 10, United States Code.

(5) CONGRESSIONAL DEFENSE COMMITTEES.—The amount appropriated by title II under the heading “DEFENSE MANAGEMENT” is hereby reduced by $34,000,000.

(6) FEDERAL BUILDINGS FUND FOR GSA.—The amount appropriated by title V under the heading “GSA” is hereby reduced by $600,000,000.

(7) RESOURCE MANAGEMENT FOR U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE.—The amount appropriated by title VII under the heading “FEDERAL LAND MANAGEMENT” is hereby reduced by $13,000,000, with the amount of the reduction allocated to amounts available for measures necessary to convert GSA facilities to High-Performance Green Buildings.

(8) ENERGY-EFFICIENT FEDERAL MOTOR VEHICLE FLEET PROCUREMENT FOR GSA.—The amount appropriated by title V under the heading “GSA” is hereby reduced by $500,000,000.

(9) SUPPLEMENTAL CAPITAL GRANTS TO THE NATIONAL RAILROAD PASSENGER CORPORATION.—The amount appropriated by title VII under the heading “FEDERAL RAILROAD ADMINISTRATION” is hereby reduced by $850,000,000.

Mr. INHOFE. Madam President, I am hoping to be able to consider this amendment in the near future. Let me mention one other point of equal significance, and it is somewhat controversial.

I just got back a couple days ago from Guantanamo Bay. I have been down there several times. As a matter of fact, I was one of the first Members—I think the first Member of Congress down there after 9/11. I have watched it as the years have gone by, the criticism of things happening at Guantanamo Bay that have never happened at Guantanamo Bay. People are talking about torturing and all these things. This is not the truth.

What really bothers me is, you all have to do, if you want to know the truth about it, is pull up on your computer the Red Cross Web site. They are down there. They are talking about what is happening.

There are no human rights abuses. In fact, 3 days ago when I was there, some of the detainees were kind of laughing about the fact they actually had better medical treatment than they ever had before. As far as the food is concerned, it is the best. There are six camps in conjunction with the severity of the people, with a what level of terroristic activities he was involved in. The first three are the ones ready to go back, and the last ones are the more severe.

In camp 5 and camp 6, we are talking about really bad guys up there. They still have recreational activities, health care, dental care, food. So things there are good.

I hope any preconceived notions by any Member of the Senate could be satisfied by going and seeing for yourself or pulling up the Web site. We even had al-Jazeera in there to evaluate how people are treated at Guantanamo Bay. It is an asset we have had since 1903. It is something we cannot do without.

I have submitted an amendment, which I will not call up at this time, amendment No. 198. People such as Senator MARTINEZ, who is from Cuba, recognize the fact that we have to keep the facility open.

Right now, even though it has a capacity of 11,000, we only have about 25 detainees there. Of that, there are 170 who cannot be returned to their home country, cannot be repatriated because they will not let them back in. Of the 170, 110 are the real serious, most severe of the terrorists. What do we do with those? If something should happen—and, of course, the President cannot let them go out there because they will not let them back in. The other is to close Guantanamo Bay within 12 months.

The reason the second one is not workable is because you have to figure out what to do with all these detainees. I don’t know of one Senator on the floor who would like them sent to his or her State. I know they have come up with the 17 Institute of which is in my State of Oklahoma, where they could relocate these detainees. That becomes a terrorist target. It is something that is not acceptable.

All the amendment does, which I am hoping we will get cleared before too long, is to prohibit the use of funds in this stimulus bill to transfer detainees from Guantanamo Bay to any facility in the United States or to construct any facilities for such detainees in the United States.

When I say that, it will be necessary to do it. The courtroom down in Guantanamo Bay cost $12 million to build. It took a year to get it built. Because of its sensitive nature, the information, they cannot be tried in a normal court facility. This would preclude funds from being allocated toward the relocation of those detainees from Guantanamo Bay to any of the Continental United States areas.

With that, I serve notice I would like to get others to look at this amendment very carefully. This may be the Many are nameless and faceless. I think how interesting it would be, instead of citing unnamed economists, if you just plugged in the word "lawyer" or let's say "veterinarians." Veterinarians believe this, lawyers believe that. We wouldn't accept that at face value. We want to know what it was and whether it was credible and what they are talking about. Because we know there are economists who disagree with each other, and it is plain silly to suggest that among economists there is any of these unprecedented times we find ourselves in.

But there are two economists—Christina Romer and her husband, she being the most recent chairwoman of President Obama's Council of Economic Advisers—who found in a study they published in 2007 that a tax cut of 1 percent of GDP generates real output by about 3 percent over the following 3 years, a 1-to-3 ratio. Now, that strikes me as a lot better than some of what I have seen in terms of the stimulative, real effect in spending, which is roughly for every $1 spent, you may get a 1.5-percent increase in growth.

AMENDMENT NO. 277 TO AMENDMENT NO. 98

Mr. President, I just received a note from staff that indicates it is all right to go ahead and call up my amendment. Let me pause, Mr. President, and call up my amendment No. 277 and ask for its immediate consideration.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. BURRES). Is there objection to setting aside the pending amendment? Without objection, it is so ordered. The clerk will report.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A Senator from Texas [Mr. CORNYN] proposes an amendment numbered 277 to amendment No. 98.

Mr. CORNYN. Mr. President, I asked unanimous consent to ask the following:

The amendment is as follows:

(Purpose: To reduce income taxes for all working taxpayers)

Beginning on page 435, strike line 4 and all that follows through page 441, line 15, and insert the following:

SEC. 1001. REDUCTION IN 10-PERCENT RATE BRACKET FOR 2009 AND 2010

(a) IN GENERAL.—Paragraph (1) of section 10(i) is amended by striking out the first sentence of that paragraph and inserting in its place the following:

"(1) RULES FOR APPLYING CERTAIN OTHER PROVISIONS.—

"(1) Subsection (g)(7)(B)(ii)(I) shall be applied by substituting '5 percent' for '10 percent'."

"(2) WITHHOLDING PROVISIONS.—Subclause (B)(i) of section 34(B)(i)(D)(ii) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as added by subsection (a), shall apply to amounts paid after the 60th day after the date of the enactment of this Act.

Mr. CORNYN. Mr. President, simply stated, the amendment I offer today is based on the experience of what works. We have been presented all sorts of economic theories, some of which I have even bought into because I thought the smartest people on the planet knew more than I did, and perhaps I had to have faith in some of these smart people. But we know that experience, not just based on faith, that this amendment will work to stimulate the economy.

This amendment cuts the income tax rate in the lowest tax bracket from 10 percent to 5 percent, so it will immediately help some of the people who earn the least amount of money in our society, and it will in fact help all working Americans immediately. Currently, some Americans pay a 10-percent tax on income up to $16,050, which is roughly $8,000 for a single tax return. They pay a 10-percent tax on that now, and my amendment would cut it to 5 percent. That would put about $350 per year back into that individual's pocket, or roughly the same amount as the provisions in the current bill known as the "Making Work Pay" refundable tax credit. And I will talk about that in a minute. But this amendment would provide meaningful relief to more than 105 million Americans—to everyone who must file a tax return by April 15.

This amendment would provide an immediate economic stimulus and jolt to our economy and would show the American people and the global financial community that we are serious about delivering an economic stimulus that will actually work. Isn't that the first question we ought to ask: Will it work? This one will work, because experience proves it. This amendment will cut the size of this $1 trillion bill by about $25 billion because it replaces the so-called "Making Work Pay" refundable tax credit.

Now, the refundable tax credit, so everybody understands, is not like the usual credit against income. This is cash money paid by the Federal Government to a person whether they pay income taxes or not. In fact, what it amounts to is taking money from people who do pay taxes and giving it to people who don't necessarily pay taxes. It represents a huge transfer of wealth. But even worse, in this bill it represents a repetition of the failed stimulus bill that we voted on roughly 1 year ago.

I am sorry to say now I was one of those votes in favor of that stimulus bill. That is in the category of what I described earlier, when I believed the smartest people on the planet were telling us we had to spend this $150 billion. And we had bipartisan support for the bill. We borrowed $150 billion or so from our children and grandchildren. In other words, we added it to the Federal deficit. You know what kind of impact it had? It had zero, zip, nada, no impact on the economy, other than to rack up another $150 billion in debt for our children.

So this refundable tax credit, if passed in current form, represents a repetition of what we know will not work and which will in fact make our economic situation worse. It will represent a $46 billion transfer of wealth to folks who don’t pay income taxes in the first place. We should provide tax relief in a straightforward and transparent way to all taxpayers who owe income taxes. In other words, this amendment is about providing tax relief for taxpayers which, according to Ms. Romer, is the most efficient way to get our economy moving again, and one that will not pick winners and losers here in Washington, DC, after Congress takes its cut, but allows it to be kept by the people who earned it in the first place.

I ask my colleagues to support this amendment when we have an opportunity to vote on it later on. This is, once again, amendment No. 277, and I urge my colleagues to support it.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Hawaii.

Mr. INOUYE. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there any objection to the absence of a quorum? Without objection, it is so ordered.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The legislative clerk read as follows:

Amendment No. 242 to amendment No. 98

Mr. BUNNING. Mr. President, I call up my amendment No. 242.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there any objection to the pending amendment? Without objection, it is so ordered. The clerk will report.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

The Senator from Kentucky [Mr. BUNNING] proposes an amendment numbered 242 to amendment No. 98.

Mr. BUNNING. I ask unanimous consent the reading of the amendment be dispensed with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment is as follows:

(Purpose: To amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to suspend for 2009 the 1993 income tax increase on Social Security benefits, and for other purposes)

On page 570, between lines 8 and 9, insert the following:

SEC. 19. TEMPORARY REPEAL OF 1993 INCOME TAX INCREASE ON SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFITS.

(a) In General.—Paragraph (2) of section 86(a) (relating to social security and tier 1 railroad retirement benefits) is amended by adding at the end the following new flush sentence:

“This paragraph shall not apply to any taxable year beginning in 2009.”.

(b) Effective.—The amendment made by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2008.
goods and services in America, our growth in that area has started to decline for the first time in 25 years. We have found that unemployment rates are higher than they have been in 15 or 20 years—in some places even worse. Ask the average person or family member: How does this affect you? And they will say, of course, it does. My savings for my retirement are not what they used to be. I have lost a lot. I had planned on a life of comfort and security and now I am not sure.

How about your home? For most people it is the most important asset in their life. Even if you are paying your mortgage payment, your home value has been going down in most communities across America. People understand, too, that many of their neighbors are losing their homes to foreclosure. Some of these are hard-working families who have played by the rules and all of a sudden the world is upside-down. The principal they owe on their mortgage is more than the value of their home.

Ask people about jobs, about all the jobs we have lost across America—half a million jobs in December, even more in the month of January. As we lose more jobs, of course people face hardships. Part of our effort is to try to find a way to help them, provide a safety net, to give them a helping hand—as we should.

Let me tell you from what President Obama’s proposal means to America. First, we are going to try to help those people who are suffering. For those on unemployment right now, many of these people have been stretched to the absolute limit. Imagine losing your job and trying to keep your family together and make the utility bill payments and not lose the house—in the hopes that this is going to turn around and you will find another job. We provide an additional help to them. It is not as much as I would like to give more, but it means more money in unemployment relief for these families.

The second thing we find is that as soon as you lose your job, guess what happens next. You lose your health insurance. There is a program called COBRA where you can turn around and buy health insurance, but take a look at the price. The price is dramatically larger than you paid as an employee, if you had coverage at your workplace. So we need health insurance for these families. Shouldn’t we, for the millions of Americans who are out of work, give them a little more to live on and a little helping hand when it comes to the paying of their health insurance? That is not just humane; if you are looking at the pure economics of it, trust me, those unemployed families with an extra few dollars a week are going to spend this money back into this economy, keeping their families together.

Then we take a look at what we need to do to get this economy moving forward. President Obama said the first thing we need to do is to give working families, middle-income families, a helping hand. Tax policy over the last 8 years has been geared primarily, most of the breaks, to the wealthiest people in America. But the folks who have been falling behind are those with unemployment and middle-income families. The cost of living kept up, but their wages didn’t keep up. President Obama says, as part of our recovery plan, let’s give a helping hand, $500 to an individual, $1,600 to a family, at least so that these families can pay their bills and maybe try to get ahead a little bit. That, to me, is a sensible economic recovery.

Wouldn’t we start at the base of America, the strength of America, the ability of America—a helping hand, if they get the first helping hand, after we have taken care of those who lost their jobs, through unemployment? That is part of it.

He also has asked us, in the Obama plan: Help businesses, small businesses in particular, because they are the bedrock of the American economy. They create most of the jobs. They are the most vulnerable. We have seen it happen with the announcements of the closing of big companies that are laying off thousands of workers: 20,000 at Caterpillar, thousands at Starbucks and INTEL and the list goes on and on. But it is the small job in the mall or downtown that lays off the worker or goes out of business—then we start losing jobs that way. The President has proposed in his tax package, let’s allow these businesses to write off their losses and apply them to previous years’ tax liability. We can give them a helping hand, if they want to buy things that might expand their businesses, let’s encourage them, give them more of a tax writeoff. So we build this into the program here as well. I think these are all solid investments in the struggling with unemployment and middle-income families finding it hard to pay their bills and small businesses that are vulnerable to a weak economy.

Then the President goes a step further and the President says: Let’s now create jobs, let’s invest in America in a way that is going to build America’s economy for decades to come. He has identified several areas of importance that this will meet the test of time, and I hope will meet the approval of my colleagues.

The first thing he says is energy. We know, as long as we are captives of foreign oil producers who can run the price of gasoline up to $2.50 a gallon and back down again to $2.50 a month later, it is tough to build an economy. So President Obama has told us, as part of this, build into this energy-related investments, the kinds of things that make sense in areas that will give us energy capability.

We can’t build an American economy without energy. Let’s build it with homegrown energy, energy that uses our creativity and our resources and builds on them.

He also said: Let’s take a look at our schools, let’s take a look at our Government buildings, and if the energy is going out through cracks in the windows and the doors, let’s do something about it—more energy efficiency. That is a good investment. That is going to pay itself back over a period of time.

Secondly, there is this whole element of health care. We know that one of the crucial elements in our daily lives is the protection of health insurance, and we know the cost of that insurance and the cost of medical care continue to rise.

What President Obama has made part of this is something that is the most important single downpayment to health care reform. He believes we should start moving as a nation to put our medical records on computers so that we have technology that has our medical records, the records of my family, so that when you go to the hospital, the police, the nurses who are there have access to solid available information. They are not going through pages hoping they don’t miss one. It is going to mean that there will be more affordable health care for millions of Americans. That makes sense. That is a good investment.

The third element is education. What the President has said as part of his proposal here is that we need to start building—building, putting people to work—we need to start building the laboratories, the libraries, and the classrooms of the 21st century.

Let’s be honest about this. America is ingenious, in every aspect of life, creative as any nation on earth. But the reason we are is because our schools prepare our children to meet that challenge and to lead. That is part of the investment of this bill.

Overall, what the President is asking us to do is to do our very best today to invest about $900 billion—a huge sum of money. I do not doubt that—so at the end of the day we will have saved over 3 to 4 million jobs.

My friends, some of them on the other side of the aisle, say that is way too much money, $300 billion. This $900 billion represents about 6.5 percent of the gross domestic product of America. So you say: Is that enough? Is that enough of a catalyst? Most of the economists say: Err on the side of providing enough water to put out the fire. Don’t put so little on it that you will have to revisit that conflagration tomorrow. And in this regard, I think we need some who want to cut back the size of this program substantially, every time they cut back the size of it, they will cut back the number of jobs we will be creating in America at a time when we desperately need more of them.

We expect to lose in economic activity in America $1 trillion a year because of this recession. What we are putting back over 2 years, this $900 billion, means we are about at half of what we are going to lose. We are going to put some $450 billion of economic spending into an economy that is losing $1 trillion in activity. So we are not even keeping up with what the recession is doing to us. So those who want to cut this back dramatically, I can tell you, sadly, if they have their way, we will be back here again.

You remember last year. President Bush said the economy was weak and I knew how to solve the problem. Tax cuts will do it. And he asked us, the Democratic Congress, to give the Republican President $150 billion in tax cuts. And we did. Senator Baucus, the chairman of the Finance Committee, worked to deliver a bill, a bipartisan bill, focusing on tax cuts.

If you listen to my friends on the other side of the aisle, they believe this is the answer to every ill. If the economy is struggling, more tax cuts. Well, tax cuts have their place, and they are a part of this, but they are not the complete answer. We learned that when we put $150 billion into the economy in tax cuts last April, the economy grew, and it did not have the kind of positive impact we expected on our economy.

The point I want to get to is this: We have to act, and we have to act now. Sure, we should have this debate on the amendments. Some will prevail, some will not. But at the end of the day, the American people will not accept as a final verdict that the Senate did nothing. They will find it absolutely unacceptable that one of the worst economic crises in America was met with political resistance. They want us to work together. And we should. I am open—I believe most Democrats are—to good ideas and good suggestions, and a lot of our colleagues are, in good faith, working toward that end. But there is one basic thing we should remember: When we get down to the bottom line, most of the criticisms of this program, this $900 billion program, when you add up the total amount of their savings, it is less than 1 percent—less than 1 percent.

Well, let’s try to cure that 1 percent. Let’s do our best to make sure we do. But let’s not walk away from this challenge. Let’s not walk away from this crisis because we find in some paragraph in here something to which we object.

If there were ever a time when the American people expect us to rise to the occasion, to stand with President Obama as we turn this economy around, this is the time. I would say to my colleagues, let’s get it done this week. We need to tell America first—and the world—that we are not going to stand back and be victimized by this economy. We are going to use every talent, every tool we can to get this American economy moving again for the workers and families and businesses that count on us so much.

In the Senate, it is easy to get something lost in this debate and end up doing nothing. That is the one thing that is prevalent in the Senate too many times. But this is different. This is a historic challenge.

I hope Senators from both sides of the aisle will work in good faith to find a way to put together a product that will ultimately serve this country and serve it well. Two-thirds of the American people now say they support this plan. They do not believe it is the last thing we are going to do, and they sure do not believe the economy is going to be cured in weeks or months; it may take us longer. But we need to start working together and give this our best effort. We need to follow on from this. The housing market, mortgage foreclosures, people who are underwater with their own home mortgages, folks who will not consider buying a home because of the uncertainty of the economy. That is absolutely a priority. It may not be included in this bill. Perhaps it will be. But that is a priority we should turn to next.

Then we need to look at these financial institutions.

Make no mistake about it, when this Bernard Madoff is found guilty of a Ponzi scheme, people are wondering whether he will go to jail. I am not going to say whether he should or should not. He needs to be held accountable for what he did. A lot of innocent people lost a lot of money because of what he did. He needs to be held accountable.

What about the financial institutions that brought us to this moment in American economic history? I think we need accountability too. We need to make sure these executives do not run off with millions of dollars in bonuses, capitalizing on the taxpayers’ money, ignoring the fact that they failed in their business missions. We need to have a good, strong law in that regard too.

We need to have proper oversight and regulation of financial institutions so America never goes down this road again. That is our responsibility on our watch.

I sincerely hope both sides of the aisle will make it their business to get it done this week so the American people understand that we get it, we understand the severity of the crisis we face.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Wisconsin is recognized.

Mr. FEINGOLD. Mr. President, I was unaware of that, and I defer to my friend from Arizona.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Arizona is recognized.

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, if I know there are other Senators waiting to speak, I send an amendment to the desk and ask for its immediate consideration.

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, reserving the right to object. I think the pending amendments would have to be set aside.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection to setting aside the pending amendments?

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, reserving the right to object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Montana.

Mr. BAUCUS. We already have 16 amendments lined up in the queue. It is going to be a very late night tonight because of that great number of amendments.

I was wondering, I would be more than willing to work out an arrangement where the Senator’s amendment can be the next one available after our votes tonight, the first Republican amendment tomorrow. I have to draw the line somewhere here; otherwise, we would keep going. I renew my offer to make it the first amendment tomorrow.

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, I would prefer that you offer the amendment after we dispose of the 16 tonight.

Then we can agree by unanimous consent that it would be the first one up.

Mr. MCCAIN. If I could ask unanimous consent that I would be the first amendment considered tomorrow.

Mr. BAUCUS. That would be fine.

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, I will withhold proposing the amendment. I ask unanimous consent that my amendment be allowed to be filed and because of the beginning of legislative work tomorrow.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. BAUCUS. So far, I have to object, and I have to figure out why. I might say to my good friend, in order to get order here, they are telling me we are coming in at 9:30 tomorrow morning. I know the Senator, a former military man, is used to early hours.

Mr. MCCAIN. Whatever the floor staff wishes, as well as the manager. By the way, I say that with great respect to the staff on the floor who are making this machine, this unwieldy machine, run in the most efficient fashion.
Mr. BAUCUS. Thank you very much.
Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, I will withhold until tomorrow morning, according to the unanimous consent agreement, and file the amendment and ask for its consideration at 9:30 a.m.

Mr. BAUCUS. Or whenever we come into session tomorrow morning. We expect to be in about 9:30. There may be some leader time.

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, I would like to keep the floor, if I can, for a couple of minutes.

Basically, tomorrow morning we will be considering this amendment. I would like to say a few words because this is a proposal that I think should be considered, along with the legislation that is pending. It is a compilation of what we believe is the most effective way to address the stimulus and job creation. It has tax provisions, such as elimination of the 3.1-percent payroll tax for all employees for 1 year. It lowers the 35-percent tax bracket to 25 percent; lowers the 15-percent tax bracket to 10 percent; lowers the corporate tax bracket from 35 to 25 percent and has accelerated depreciation for capital investments for small business; the extension of unemployment insurance benefits; extension of food stamps, unemployment insurance benefits, tax-free training and employment services, as well as keeping families in their homes through a loan modification program. It provides tax incentives for home purchases and GSE-FHA conforming loan limits; national infrastructure and defense, which is very badly needed; transportation infrastructure; and also contains the trigger structure; and also contains the trigger of what we believe is the most effective process, whereby Members stick spendings into appropriations bills. The argument was also made that if a program is not considered to be a congresional directed spending’’ it will never be subject to this point of order, and Congress is free to fund it or not as it sees fit.

The Senator from Hawaii also raised the concern that this amendment creates a point of order against unauthorized earmarks added to conference reports. Darn right it does. We shouldn’t be adding earmarks to conference reports. Under the amendment, if a point of order is sustained against a provision in a conference report, that provision would be stricken, but the legislative process would continue with no murder potential roadblocks that exist currently. The conference report would revert to a nonamendable Senate amendment, which would be the conference agreement without the objectionable material, and the measure would then be sent back to the House. It won’t tie the two Houses in knots, as the Senator from Hawaii suggested. The House will accept the Senate amendment or it won’t. If the House makes a further change, the Senator from Hawaii noted, the regular order of business around here. The best way to avoid this issue is not to slip earmarks into conference reports.

The argument was also made that if our amendment was adopted, then authorizers would have the power to earmark, but no one else. This amendment doesn’t give the power to earmark to anyone. All it does is return the Senate to what should be the proper way to budget request. If you want a special project for your State or district, the authorizing committee of jurisdiction should review it, and legislation authorizing it should pass both Houses and be signed into law. That is the regular scrutiny we should require of special interest spending. Then the Appropriations Committee can decide whether and at what level to fund the authorized program. That is the way the system is supposed to work. If you now have an alternative, short-cut process, whereby Members stick spending provisions into appropriations bills without any scrutiny whatsoever. That is a recipe for waste, fraud and abuse. Let me reiterate, in order to be subject to our point of order, the program must be an earmark; that is, ‘‘congressionally directed spending’’ as defined in Senate rules, and it must not be authorized or included in the President’s budget request.

The Senator from Hawaii used the specter of an authorization bill being filibustered to stop the ability of Congress to use its power of the purse as an oversight against a program. Once again, if a program is not considered to be ‘‘congressionally directed spending’’ it will never be subject to this point of order, and Congress is free to fund it or not as it sees fit.

a bill that proposes to increase our debt to the tune of $800 billion, we should be doing all we can to assure our constituents that their money is not being wasted on pork-barrel spend-

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Arizona.

Mr. KYL. Mr. President, I ask unaniumously consent that an editorial in the February 4 edition of the Arizona Republic be printed in the RECORD at the conclusion of my remarks. The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered. (See exhibit 1.)

Mr. KYL. I will refer to that editorial, because it sets the stage for what we need to do to fix this bill. The Gallup poll yesterday said that 56 percent of Americans believe that either this bill should not be passed or that it should require major changes before it is passed. That is not only what most American people believe but also what most of the people on the Republican side of the aisle believe and I know some Members on the other side as well.

This editorial is titled “Senators should just start over in fixing fiscal MESS.” They say:

Far too much of the stimulus bill is simply unsuited as “economic stimulus.” The Senate would do us all a great favor if it started again from scratch.

In a different part they write:

When the Congressional Budget Office analyzed the stimulus bill in its original configuration, it found that just 25 percent of its content might have any effect on the economy this year.

A similar analysis by the Wall Street Journal concluded that just 12 cents of every dol-   lar spent would have a chance to create immediate stimulus.

They conclude:

Make the measure look like a stimulus package rather than a pork package.

That is what most of us believe we should do. You build the bill from the bottom up. What actually stimulates the economy, what actually creates jobs, you put that in the program.
There may be a place for extending unemployment benefits, though that probably should be in a separate bill, because it is clearly not stimulative even though it helps people who are hurting. I doubt that there would be an objection to doing it. But we ought to focus the stimulus on exactly that;
Otherwise the American people are going to be cynical when they look at a bill that is $1.3 trillion in size, and the experts are saying a very small percentage of that actually does anything to create jobs or stimulate the econ-yomy.

Let’s go back to last December. In the Washington Post, Lawrence Summers, head of the President’s National Economic Council, said:

Investments will be chosen strategically based on what yields the highest rate of return for the economy.

The Congressional Budget Office, the CBO, projects that in fiscal year 2009, the deficit is going to total $1.2 trillion, the largest deficit in American history. If we do that in building this bill from the bottom, we can actually do something that is great for the American people and still not be wasting taxpayer money.

If we do that, it might take us 2 or 3 more days, but this is the most important economic bill this Congress will have considered in decades. It is the biggest bill in the history of the United States. We spent yesterday, Tuesday, on it, today, tomorrow, probably Friday, perhaps Saturday. We spent 5 weeks on an emergency bill that is $1.2 trillion.

Surely we can actually do something worthwhile on a bill of this magnitude and with the emergency facing the country, if it takes us 3 or 4 more days to do it right, we ought to do it right. That means constructed from the bottom up with the experts who are saying a very small percentage of that will yield the stimulation. We would be very happy to have them involved in this process. I hope the recession is over by 2011. If it is not, obviously, we can look at that time to see whether we need more stimulus. But having stimulus for 2 years, that is a pretty long time to be stimulating.

Let’s adopt the McCain idea that after
2 years we take a pause and see what else we might need to do. We could probably save a lot of money. We would make wiser decisions, and we would be stimulating in the short term which is what we want to do.

The President’s Chief of Staff said last year: You never want to waste a crisis. He was referring to the use of a crisis such as this to accomplish certain good. He was talking about reform ideas and so on. But we have to be careful that others aren’t using this as an excuse to put spending in a bill that will take several years to fall out of the spending for this year. I hope the recession is over by 2011. If it is not, obviously, we can look at that time to see whether we need more stimulus. But having stimulus for 2 years, that is a pretty long time to be stimulating.

Let’s adopt the McCain idea that after
2 years we take a pause and see what else we might need to do. We could probably save a lot of money. We would make wiser decisions, and we would be stimulating in the short term which is what we want to do.

If we will solve this problem, the American people will be a lot more generous in their support for the other things we want to do. I have talked about some examples. I don’t want to go through a laundry list. A lot of this is oriented to Washington, DC: $9 billion for a Federal buildings fund; more money to help the auto companies, $600 million to buy more cars for Government employees; $248 million for USDA facilities modernization; $34 million to support the Government Computing headquarters; $125 million for the DC sewer system. All of these may well be important things to do. You can’t argue that they are directly stimulative, though some people will have to do the work associated with them. But we have no idea whether these things are ready to go, whether they can be done in the first 2 years, or whether these are things that actually will be spent, as will the majority of the money in the 2 year bill.

In any event, we have a process, as Senator COCHRAN, the ranking member on the Appropriations Committee, has said, that enables us to vet all of this spending and prioritize it so we put the most helpful spending first, and those things that are not as justified then fall out of the spending for this year and maybe come back next year. But it is our way of determining what we really want to do as a country that, obviously, cannot just have everything we want and we know pay for it, simply everything. So, as Senator COCHRAN said, we have the responsibility to be deliberate and consider these items carefully in the context of the President’s formal budget request. It is a matter of making tough decisions, and I would hope we could do that.

Now, let’s assume—because I am sure our Democratic colleagues will agree to eliminating some of these pork-barrel programs—we still have the problem that if the money is not reduced, then the money is still in the bill to be spent by somebody somewhere. So it is not just a matter of taking earmarks out, but it is a matter of eliminating the funds for those earmarks are in, or as soon as we authorize the money, it will come right back in and we will have the same projects.

In this regard, I am very troubled by programs that would fund directly States and local governments because we have seen the lists they have sent to us—their wish list of things they would like to get. If we simply strike the exact delineation of where they want some of this money to go but leave the money there, I ask you, where is it going to be spent? It will not take 5 minutes for them to get that list back out, put it on the table, and start going to town.

Just some general categories here:

The first is to repair and build schools. That has always been a local school function. It is not a Federal function.

There is $5.5 billion for a brandnew discretionary program on transportation.

There is $2.25 billion for a neighborhood stabilization program. That is the same kind of program that would have made funding available for groups such as ACORN that we took out of the housing bill in June of last year. I do not think people want this kind of money going to ACORN or groups like that.

There is $500 million to upgrade fire stations. I know all our local fire departments have to have more money to upgrade their fire stations. Is that a Federal responsibility?

There is $9 billion to the National Telecommunications and Information Administration for grants to provide access to broadband.

There are huge chunks that would go to local projects specifically delineated by the Conference of Mayors. On January 17, they issued their fourth update of a report that details much of the spending we would like to accomplish. It is a stunning list of porkbarrel projects involving swimming pools, water slides, corporate jet hangars, skateboard parks, dog parks, equestrian trails, golf courses, parking garages, museums, bike paths, and so on. Some of those things might be perfectly appropriate; all of them should be local responsibilities. If people in the community want something like that badly enough, they will find a way to get the money, none of these wasteful projects may be perfectly appropriate; if they are, local governments will find a way to fund them—there is $8.4 million—for a polar bear exhibit in Providence, RI. There is $6.1 million for corporate jet hangars in Fayetteville, AR, as well as 13 other hangars. These are all kinds of surplus money—$100,000 to create one cop job in Sulfur Creek, CA. I do not know what kind of community Sulfur Creek is, but surely California could come up with $100,000 to get a police officer on the force if they thought it was a good idea. I would hope we do not think there is a lot of money here for California. There is money to rehabilitate a skate park in Alameda, CA; $500,000 for Sunset View Dog Park in Chula Vista, CA. There is money for an equestrian park in San Juan, Puerto Rico, and so on.

The bottom line is, these things ought to be subjected to the usual appropriations process. I guarantee you, construction has a way of being careful when they go through these items. Yes, some of this stuff slips in, but they try to prioritize these projects, and it is not just a giveaway to local communities.

I think it is worthwhile noting what some of the money is specifically spent for in categories. Golf courses seem to be a big item. Golf courses. There are several million dollars for golf course renovations and construction in Shreveport, LA; Brockton, MA; Roseville, MN; Florissant, MO; St. Louis, MO; Lincoln, NE. There is an environmentally friendly golf course in Dayton, OH. That one might win the approval of the appropriators. There is the renovation of a golf course maintenance building in Kauai County, HI.

Not to leave out my own State—there are a lot of museums that are apparently in need of some renovation or construction money. That one is in Scottsdale, $35 million for a museum of the West. I guarantee you that will be a great museum, but I would hope we could help the folks in Arizona generate the money for this museum. There are museums in Miami, FL; Meridian, MS; a Minor League Baseball museum in Durham, NC; a museum of contemporary science—there are several museums of contemporary science; that must be a new trend—in Trenton, N.J. N.J. There is a music hall of fame in Florissant, MO.

I may be mispronouncing the names of some of these communities, in which case I am sorry. And to ask somebody to support this is to say, in 6 months or a year or a year and a half, did it work? For those who support something that does not work, not only is that not in the best interests of the United States, but I think there will be a very high price to pay for wasting perhaps a trillion dollars. It is money we do not have, and we cannot afford to waste it.

Just to illustrate the degree to which this prospect of free money has motivated people to what I regard as silliness—again, some of these projects

Parking garages are a pretty big item, and I will not list them all here, but there are a lot of them in California, Colorado, Connecticut. There is a maintenance garage recycling and sanitation truck wash—let me say that these kinds of maintenance recycling and sanitation truck wash in Bridgeport, CT—I am sure that is necessary, actually—$27 million. I gather all other communities in the country find a way to pay for theirs, but Bridgeport needs it as badly as anywhere. I am sure it will go to Yankee Doodle Garage in Norwalk, CT. And that list goes on and on. In fact, the list goes on and on. I will refrain from reading about another 30 of these.

Bicycles are a big item. Bike paths in Long Beach, CA; Miami, FL; Lewiston, ME; St. Louis, MO; Austin and Arlington, TX; Salt Lake City.

Water slides are a pretty good item. That is one in Carmel, IN. There is one in Shreveport, LA.

Pools—as I said, that is a big item. There is lots of swimming pool rebuilding and refurbishing and so on; California, San Leandro Creek, CA—a lot of California swimming pools. There are a couple here in Connecticut, Colorado. There is one to replace pools at city high schools in Meriden, CT; one to upgrade swimming pools and school restrooms in New Haven, CT. Florida has several pools. They are going to build a fishing pier in Savannah, GA. This one I do not understand. Mr. President: millions of dollars for propane heating replacement with solar water heating systems for county swimming pools in Maui, HI. I did not think they needed heated pools in Maui, but more power to them if they can go with solar. Again, the list goes on and on and on. This is the wastefulness.

These are the kinds of things that when you make money free, people will line up to take part in. Even if we were to eliminate the pots of money here that these particular specific items would come from—waste of millions, if the earmarks are gone but the pot of money is there—there are still other pots of money in the bill worth billions of dollars that represent wasteful Washington spending, money that will not go to create jobs. I urge my colleagues here, as we talk about bipartisanship, as every one of us is struck by the absolute seriousness of the crisis that faces our country, we should do something. And to ask somebody to support this is to say, in 6 months or a year or a year and a half, did it work? For those who support something that does not work, not only is that not in the best interests of the United States, but I think there will be a very high price to pay for wasting perhaps a trillion dollars. It is money we do not have, and we cannot afford to waste it.

I urge my colleagues here to do: We have several amendments today and tomorrow that will be offered to try to end the wasteful Washington spending and relegate those kinds of bills to the Appropriations Committee, where they can make the tough choices, and then focus on the things which can actually create jobs and stimulate the economy. Our colleagues on our side of the aisle will have several important suggestions in that regard, and we probably need to start with housing, which is where the problem started. Experts, as I read this morning, agree that until you solve that, you are probably not going to solve the rest of the problem.

So if we can approach the bill from a commonsense standpoint, which is what the American people want us to do, we can create a very good piece of legislation. But as it stands right now, there are going to have to be fundamental changes in this bill, starting basically from scratch, in order for it to do the work we want it to do and to be supported by the American people. We can afford the extra time, if it is 2 or 3 days, to get it done right.

I urge all of us to put the partisanship aside, the victory dances and all of that, and roll up our sleeves and try to see if we can follow the admonitions of the President when he laid out the original concept of this bill—timely, targeted, and temporary—and focus on those things which will do the job rather than simply to fulfill our spending wishes or those of many of our well-meaning constituents.

[From the Arizona Republic, Feb. 4, 2009]

SENATORS SHOULD FIRST START IN FIXING FISCAL MESS

In opposing President Barack Obama’s economic-stimulus package—now ballooned to more than $800 billion—congressional Republicans risk letting Democrats earn all the credit as stewards of a national economic re-vival.

Unfortunately, their strategy looks to be a safe bet.

Far too much of the stimulus bill is simply unserious as “economic stimulus.”

The Senate would do us all a great favor if it stands firm today against it.

Congress now enjoys a public mandate to spend like the drunken sailor of its dreams . . . on one condition. That it allocate spending not to its beloved “pork” but to spending projects that offer some promise, however slight, of sparking the economy.

And just what constitutes an economy-igniting spending project?

We know what doesn’t. Smoking-cessation programs may be helpful, but they are not “stimulus”.

Spending $870 million to combat bird flu may be a worthwhile investment in public health. But its prospects for kick-starting the 2009 economy are pretty much nil.

When the Congressional Budget Office analyzed the stimulus bill in its original configuration, it found that just 25 percent of its content might have any effect on the economy this year.

A similar analysis by the Wall Street Journal concluded that just 12 cents of every dollar spent would have a chance to create immediate stimulus.

And there are outright dangerous provisions to the bill.

The so-called “American” clause in the legislation, ensuring that only American-made steel and manufactured goods are purchased with stimulus money, is an open invitation to an economy-wrecking trade war. Europeans are rightfully infuriated by it.

So are serious Democratic-leaning economists like Larry Summers.

Make the measure look like a stimulus package rather than a pork package.

Then, Democrats might manage to peel off some of the IDC support that the president deems so valuable.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. MERKLEY). The Senator from South Carolina.

Mr. DEMINT. Thank you, Mr. President.

I would like to speak for a few moments on a couple of amendments. But before I do, I ask unanimous consent that following my talk that Senator Saxby Chambliss be allowed to speak.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

The Senator from Montana.

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, reserving the right to object, we have been going back and forth so if someone from this side of the aisle does appear by the time the Senator finishes his remarks, we could either have a gentlemen’s agreement or I could ask unani-mous consent that the next speaker be a Democrat. Is this a manageable suggestion? Senator here, so if a Democrat is here, after you finish, I say to the Senator—

Mr. DEMINT. I revise my request, Mr. President, to fit that request.

Mr. BAUCUS. I thank the Senator.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. DEMINT. Thank you, Mr. President.

AMENDMENT NO. 168

Mr. President, I would like to speak for a few minutes about Amendment No. 168. It is the DeMint amendment we are calling the American Option to the spending plan that has been proposed by the Senate. This is a complete substitute for the spending plan.

We call it the American Option because it helps to develop a free market American economy by leaving money in the hands of people and businesses rather than involving the Government direct where the money goes. So it basically puts our faith in the American people, in our free market economic system, instead of political decisions here in Washington.

Americans are concerned about the direction of our country. In fact, I have never seen people more anxious about where we are. They are worried about the economy but even more worried about the reckless spending and Government intrusion into our culture and into our free markets.

Our economy is in trouble. That is obvious. The national unemployment rate is now over 7 percent and climbing. Stock markets have plunged, jeopardizing the retirement security of millions of seniors. One million new homes were repossessed last year, and in the last week, thousands of Americans have lost their jobs at some of our Nation’s strongest companies, including Home Depot, Microsoft, Caterpillar, and Boeing. In the midst of these difficult and uncertain times, Americans understandably voted for change. Frustrated with runaway spending, Wall Street bailouts, and the need to find a candidate for President Obama who, as a candidate, promised to lower taxes, cut spending, increase domestic energy, and create millions of new jobs.

Like President Obama very much. We were elected to the Senate together, and we have worked together on several common goals. I truly believe he wants to do what is best for our country, but our economy needs more than slogans and empty promises.

As I have said before, I believe the stimulus bill that is being championed by President Obama and the Democratic majority is the worst piece of economic legislation Congress has considered in 100 years. Not since the passage in 1909 of the 16th amendment which cleared the way for Federal income tax has the United States seriously entertained a policy so com-prehensively hostile to economic freedom, nor so arrogantly indifferent to economic reality. The bill, if it were a country, would have the 15th largest economy in the world—right in between Australia and Mexico and greater than the gross domestic product of Saudi Arabia and Iran put together. The American people will be forced to borrow 100 percent of the unprecedented $1.2 trillion pricetag when you include interest. The stimulus bill will cost well over $1 billion for every page it is printed on and $400,000 for every job it hopes to create or save.

Proponents argue that we are facing a once-in-a-lifetime economic crisis and only an immediate and overwhelming stimulus bill can ignite the economy, create jobs, and spur growth. That may very well be true, but the spending bill before us today is just that: a spending bill, not an economic stimulus bill. The Democratic bill takes money—it actually borrows money—and decides where it should go. It does virtually nothing to stimulate the economy while it wastes billions of taxpayer dollars. It is a hodgepodge of long-supported pet projects that should be considered in the normal budget process but not an economic stimulus bill.

Using the troubled economy as their motive, Democrats have opened the floodgates for out-rageous wasteful spending.

Here are just a few of the examples from the Senate substitute: $400 million for researching sexually transmitted diseases. They are telling us that they took money from the carryover, then we find they left the money in there, which could be used for the same purposes once we pass the bill. There is $200 million for bike and pedestrian trails and off-road vehicle routes; $200 million to force the government to use electric cars; $34 million to renovate the Department of Commerce headquarters; $75 million for a program to... end smoking, which, if successful, will bankrupt the children’s health program Democrats just passed last week.

Of the more than $800 billion in the bill that is being sold as infrastructure investment, only $30 billion will actually go to build highways, another $50 billion for subsidies in our telecommunications and electricity infrastructure, and about $20 billion in business tax cuts. These are the only three components of the bill that might arguably affect the economy and create jobs and, even then, only temporarily. Altogether, only 11 percent of this so-called “American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009” will have anything to do with either recovery or reinvestment. And rest assured, the elevated spending levels in this bill will never recede.

The tax side of the bill is not much better. We can think of it this way: If nearly every Democrat in Congress supports a tax cut, it is probably not a tax cut. And the Irene Davis, Democratic plan reveals that $212 billion of smoke-and-mirror gimmicks—temporary cuts and rebates exactly like those that failed to stimulate the economy last year. Half of the tax changes in this bill are for people who do not even pay taxes, and all of them are temporary, which will undermine their impact. This bill is not an economic stimulus bill at all, but really a political stimulus—a stimulus to grow Government by $820 billion.

Any doubters of the bare-knuckled partisanship at the heart of the Democrats’ trillion-dollar catastrophe will do well to ask a simple question: Who benefits from this legislation? Who, indeed? Alternative energy companies, public employee unions, teachers unions, university faculty and administrators, welfare recipients, ACORN-style community organizers, politicians who spend the money, Federal bureaucrats who locate it, the limousine liberal lawyers and lobbyists who will influence every dime behind the scenes. In other words, this bill is a massive transfer of wealth not from the rich to the poor, but from middle-class families and small businesses to favored Democratic constituencies who are not the poor and middle class we promised to help.

This bill is not a stimulus; it is a mugging. It is a fraud. Conservatives who fear proponents of this bill want to create an economy closer to a European style of socialism are kidding themselves. The proponents of this bill want to strap a big rocket on the back of our economy and launch it all the way to Brussels. This massive spending bill is fatally flawed. It will not rescue our economy; it will strangle it.

That is why this bill must be stopped dead in its tracks. It cannot be fixed by tweaking it here or tweaking it there. It must be scrapped entirely so the leadership in Congress will be forced to consider real alternatives.

Fortunately, there is another way, a better way, a way that will actually stimulate the economy, spur investment, and create jobs, a way that will permanently and immediately save billions of dollars in the private sector and in the hands of Americans who buy goods, provide services, start businesses, and hire workers. I call it the American Option because it relies on the American people to generate jobs and growth, not the Federal Government.

The plan I am offering is not new or clever. It is only 11 pages long. It comes with no bells or whistles, no smoke and mirrors, but it will work, and it is based on proven American principles of freedom, equality, and opportunity.

The plan—developed by scholars J.D. Foster and William Beach at the Heritage Foundation—is the best anyone has proposed since the recession first took hold. The idea is simple. First, make the temporary tax cuts of 2001 and 2003 that are currently set to expire in 2011 permanent. Make our current rates permanent. This would create the certainty for citizens and businesses they need to plan their spending and to grow their businesses. The short-term, temporary tax relief of the sort envisioned in the current bill will stimulate economic growth; it is temporary and it creates economic uncertainty. It is the difference between a $1,000 gift one month, which you might put away or use to pay off some credit card, and another $1,000 which might get you thinking about buying a house, a new car, or taking a summer vacation or starting a new business. To encourage people to take risks and create new jobs, we must make tax relief for families and small businesses permanent. Recessions are caused by uncertainty that keeps investors on the sidelines. Permanent low taxes allow for plans and decisions to be made with an eye toward the future.

With the tax bomb diffused, part 2 of our plan will cut income tax rates across the board. The top marginal rate—the one paid by most of the small businesses that create new jobs—will fall from 35 percent to 25 percent. It simplifies the code to include only two other brackets: 15 and 10. These marginal rate reductions would be permanent and give the private sector maximum predictability as it decides how to best spend its recovered income. The involuntary majority of American families should be forced to pay the Federal Government more than 25 percent of the fruits of their labor.

Just as we cut taxes for families and small businesses, we need to cut them for corporations as well, from 35 to 25 percent, and we shouldn’t be afraid to say so. Our corporate tax rate is one of the highest in the world, driving investment and jobs overseas. Lowering this key rate will unlock trillions of dollars of capital that are locked in America and give it back to abroad. But giving large companies loopholes and targeted tax benefits which only encourage them to spend money on lobbyists who secure such goodies, Congress should get out of the business of picking winners and losers in the market and simply cut everyone’s taxes and let’s set the best companies win. This plan will make businesses compete for consumers, not Congressmen and Senators.

To further simplify and improve the code, our plan would also permanently repeal the alternative minimum tax, permanently maintain the capital gains and dividends rates at 15 percent, and permanently kill the death tax for estates under $5 million, and cut the tax rate to 15 percent; permanently extend the $1,000-per-child tax credit, permanently repeal the marriage penalty, and permanently limit itemized deductions to home mortgage interest and charitable contributions.

The Heritage Foundation’s Center for Data Analysis widely respected economic forecasting model projects this plan would result in nearly 500,000 new jobs this year, almost 3 million new jobs by 2011, 7.5 million new jobs by 2013, and a total of nearly 18 million jobs over the next decade. That is an average of nearly 2 million jobs every year. Instead of taking $1 trillion out of the economy, politicians can spread it around to special interests, the American Option will keep a trillion more dollars in the hands of American families and businesses. Instead of growing Government where waste and inefficiency flourish, instead of giving those who consume, not Congressmen and Senators and bureaucrats, we give Americans and small businesses the freedom to spend and invest their own money. The positive effects of letting more money stay in the private economy immediately and permanently will quickly become apparent.

Beyond the job creation, I know we are also interested in seeing our housing and real estate markets, as well as the automobile sector, emerge from the doldrums. Within 5 years, the American Option would produce $175 billion in residential investment and $362 billion in nonresidential investment, that is more than a half trillion dollars left to private citizens with the motivation to care for their families, invest in a new business, or expand their current productive activities. This is the kind of thing that will experience a dramatic increase in sales activity. Between 2009 and 2011, total sales of new cars and light trucks would rise $24.5 billion more than they would otherwise. Again, allowing private citizens and businesses to use their own capital instead of sending it off to Washington benefits all sectors of the economy.

The evidence in support of this legislation is not theoretical but historical, unlike the Keynesian arguments behind the Democratic spending and debt. In 1981, giving John F. Kennedy’s tax reductions led to 9 million private sector jobs in 5 years. Ronald Reagan’s 1981 tax cuts led to 7 million in the same timeframe. Five years on, the 2001 and 2003 tax cuts led to the creation of 4 million and 6 million jobs, respectively. Every time the United States has cut marginal tax rates, millions of jobs have been created—jobs that lifted the unemployment into the workplace, the working poor into the middle class, and the middle class into long-term economic security.

Similar stories can be told of Great Britain’s rescue under Margaret Thatcher in the 1980s. More recently, Israel’s economic reforms under their Finance Minister changed their whole economic platform.

President Obama’s own chief economist has shown that tax cuts do truly stimulate economic activity to the tune of $3 of increased output for every dollar of tax relief.

On the other hand, the world’s greatest experiments in spending our way out of a recession have three textbook examples. The first is Franklin Roosevelt’s response to the Great Depression. The New Deal began in 1933 with unemployment around 25 percent and effectively tended with the establishment of F.D.R.’s “war economy” in 1940 with unemployment still hovering around 20 percent. The second example is from the 1970s when huge deficits in the United States neither spurred economic growth nor curtailed inflation. The third example is Japan, their so-called Lost Decade, in which the Japanese Government tried in vain for 10 years to spend its way out of a national real estate and investment collapse.

Every discredited idea from these three monuments to economic mismanagement can be found in the fine print of the Democrats’ $1 trillion social experiment we are considering this week: massive spending, sky-rocketing deficits, inevitable tax increases, and the disastrous unintended consequences of hurried and arbitrary meddling in our economy.

Finally, there is another issue I want to address. I have recently heard some of my colleagues say that this recession is the fault of the free market, that President Obama has inherited the problems of a conservative ideology.

Mr. President, the charge is flatly, demonstrably false. In fact, it is incredible that anyone would say it.

Let me be clear: conservatism has nothing to apologize for.

It was not conservatism that foisted Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac onto the nation’s banks.

It was not conservatism that bailed out an auto industry bankrupted by its inability to manage costs and strangled by the tentacles of unionism.

Every problem now plaguing our economy can be directly traced to some Government policy that was passed with applause and warnings of principls conservatives.

The same scenario is playing out with this spending bill, but the result is not preordained.

The Democrat plan will fail, it will hurt our economy, it will kill jobs, it will lengthen and deepen the recession, and it will delay any hope of recovery.

But it is not enough to merely stop this, the wrong bill—we must pass the right one.

It is not simply a viable alternative—it is the American option to rescue our economy from an inexorable slide toward European social-democracy.

With a troubled economy, mounting national deficits, and national crisis ready to explode, conservatives must offer bold and proven solutions to secure America’s future.

We cannot simply dail a “liberal express”; we must show our fellow countrymen a better path.

There is nothing wrong with our economy that a free people cannot solve. All we need is the freedom to take back from Washington control of our economic destiny.

The policy approach I have outlined can work, and if implemented, will work. How do I know?

Because liberating people to pursue their own happiness and fortune is the only thing that ever does.

I thank the Chair, and yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Georgia is recognized.

Mr. CHAMBLISS. Mr. President, I rise to discuss the economic stimulus package. First of all, my friend from South Carolina has raised so many valid points in his discussion. I know he has an amendment that is primarily focused on reduction of taxes to stimulate this economy, create jobs, and put more money into people’s pockets. I concur with him 100 percent that this is the direction in which we need to go. I look forward to further debate on his amendment and seeing his amendment reach the floor.

This stimulus package we are now debating gets more expensive and, frankly, less stimulating with every passing day. The Democrat’s plan is not a job creating bill. Plain and simple, in its current form it is a spending bill.

We have been going through a number of amendments over the last several days and I am pleased to see that some of those amendments have had success. I think the bill looks somewhat better, but we still have a long way to go. This bill should not be about pet projects. Instead of wasting $800 million, for example, of hard-earned taxpayer money for new cars for the Federal Government or $650 million for a failed digital TV transition program or even $120 million for the Cen- sus Bureau to hire personnel who specialize in “partnerships,” we should be spending Americans’ money on creating jobs for Americans. These jobs will lead to economic growth and thereby stimulate and energize a very struggling automobile industry. This bill should fund money in the pockets of individuals who can buy new TVs instead of having to worry about the digital transmission issue covered in this particular proposal.

I have been in discussions with Senators McCAIN, MARTINEZ, and others. We are in the process of finalizing an amendment that will substitute for the base bill that does exactly that—focus on creating jobs and stimulating the economy.

Any package that is intended to focus on strengthening our economy simply must focus on three things and three things only.

First of all, job creation. Despite an injection of hundreds of billions of dollars into our banking system, the credit markets remain frozen.

A lack of both confidence in the market and credible borrowers are precluding our credit markets from thawing and freeing much needed capital. Along with the current dual track of the TARP program, we can loosen this tight grip on capital is through job creation.

We must incentivize the creation of new jobs through favorable tax treatment of businesses and individuals. My friend from South Carolina mentioned and we are going to have in our amendment that is very critical, I think, to the long-term corporate structure in America. A solution that will really will provide for the creation of jobs is the reduction of the corporate tax rate from 35 percent to 25 percent.

We have the second highest corporate tax rate in the world. What are we doing about charging corporations that amount of money? What are we doing importing jobs out of America.

A lack of both confidence and economic stimulus in the country this morning who happens to be a resident of my State and is somebody who I look for guidance from time to time. I asked him, “If you could point to anything that would create jobs in America, what would the first thing be?” He immediately said, “Cutting the corporate tax rate.” He said it is ridiculous what we do and that what we are going to hear from folks on the other side is that what we are doing by cutting the corporate tax rate will benefit the big corporations. The fact is, according to this renowned economist, the big corporations don’t pay that 35 percent anyway. It is the guys on Main Street, the insurance agencies in my home State, the veterinary hospitals down the street, and all the other small businesses that are, in fact, paying that 35 percent. It is our small manufacturers that have to keep our export markets at home competitive that are having to pay that 35 percent. If we reduce the corporate tax on those entities, then we are going to have the potential and the reality of creating jobs in this country. We are going to have more money in the pockets of individuals. One way we can do that, which is going to have in our amendment, is by the reduction of payroll taxes. That will put a bigger paycheck into the pockets of every hard-working American every single week; make no mistake about it.

We have to look at spending measures that will have an immediate stimulative effect on our economy. Military and highway construction can provide jobs in the immediate future and put stable defense back in the marketplace and start people spending their paychecks again. There is no better way to put money into the manufacturing sector tomorrow than by putting money into defense contracting if it’s one that can create right- and responsible-way. We need to increase defense spending and make sure America remains safe and secure. Yet there is nothing in the base bill that the Democrats have offered that will increase pure defense spending.

In addition to job creation, second, we have to focus on housing. The housing crisis is what got us into this real financial mess that we are in today. I don’t care what we do with respect to trying to spend or tax our way out of this; unless we fix the housing sector in this country, we are never going to recover from the economic crisis we are seeing today.

How do we do that? Again, you will see measures that have already been discussed in the form of amendments over the next couple of days—amendments such as that from my colleague and friend, Senator ISAKSON, to provide a $15,000 tax credit to anyone who buys a house between January 1 and December 31. Measures that are outside-the-box thinking such as the one by the Senator from Nevada that proposes to provide long-term, low-interest loans for individuals seeking to either purchase new or refinance a home, where if they are not able to do this, they will be subject to foreclosure. So it is these types of housing measures and provisions that will allow us to stimulate the housing sector and try to get that portion of our economy back on track.

Third, in addition to the job creation and housing, we have to focus on compassion for folks who have lost jobs during these tough times, through no fault of their own. In my State, we have had 2 weeks of major announcements of job losses. It is simply due to the fact that these corporations are having to develop cost-cutting measures that will improve their bottom line because their sales are down significantly. Their workers are quality workers and they would like to keep them on, but they simply cannot afford it. They have to find cost-cutting measures.

So when you find folks such as that who are in need of assistance, we have an obligation, I think, to provide some relief to them. It is important that we prevent the bottom from getting deeper. We have seen that as a result of this spiraling economy and not from irresponsible fiscal decisions.

We must act to expand protections to serve as a compassionate step toward regrowth of our economy, a restrengthening in our markets, and a return to fiscal security. All these provisions are going to be included, along with others, in the sub that we are now booking up forthcoming either tonight or tomorrow. We must be clear—job creation doesn’t mean “Buy American.” In tough economic times, it is all too easy to turn inward, to want to build protectionism walls around everybody believes in buying American more than I do, but it is not the time to pretend our economy knows only the bounds of our borders.

I say this as someone who represents a State with a strong manufacturing sector. We live in an interconnected, global economy, where most manufactured products have at least one component not made in America. “Buy American” is the quickest way to export American jobs.

The biggest problem I see with the current proposal that is under debate, which came out of the Finance Committee from the Democratic side, is that we are now turning to approach that bill in a top-down way. In other words, we are having to take the bill as it is and have amendments forthcoming that seek to strip out provisions in there that are not stimulating. Now, these are not for individuals in this body, projects that will do nothing but take money out of taxpayers’ pockets.

What we should do is develop a system directed toward this crisis that is a bottom-up review and a bottom-up attack on this financial crisis. We can do that basically by scraping the current bill and starting over again. It is not that complicated to do. I hope, at the end of the day, that this is the approach we will ultimately take. It is not just this trillion dollar spending package we are looking at in the Senate; we have to be responsible as we move forward because there are folks right behind this one. There is a TARP III, which we understand will be laid on the table within the next few days. We have heard numbers as high as another half trillion dollars that may be asked for in TARP III, and that may not be the end of the road there.

There is also an Omnibus bill that I understand has already been put together that spends $1 trillion of taxpayers’ money. One of my constituents said to me the other day, “We used to talk in terms of a million. Then we got to where we talk in terms of a billion. Now you folks are talking in terms of a trillion. What comes after a trillion?”

That is a pretty tough question to answer, but we are fast getting there. We as policymakers in the Senate have to be responsible with the taxpayers’ money. Sure, we want to do everything we can from a policy point of view to stimulate America out of this economic crisis. But spending our way out of this situation is not the answer. That is why I hope we can review where we are with this current proposal, and instead of having a top-down review of it, look at it in more positive terms and have a bottom-up review. Let’s start over again with the basics. We should start with the housing sector and figure out how to fix it. If there are good ideas out there that has already been talked about, let’s put them on the table and figure it out.

Secondly, let’s look at how we are going to create jobs. We simply know by spending money that we are not going to create main jobs. There are a lot of smart people in this body. Let’s figure out the best solution. Lastly, let’s be compassionate. We need to make sure Americans are taken care of when they have lost their jobs through no fault of their own.

Mr. President, I yield the floor. I see the Senator from Rhode Island is here. I assume going back and forth he would be next.

Mr. WHITEHOUSE. Mr. President, I rise today to discuss a feature of the economic recovery legislation that will both create jobs in the short term and help us confront the long-term economic challenges that are our own.

Clearly, creating jobs is a paramount goal of this legislation. In this time of deepening recession, one in ten Rhode Islanders is looking for a job. At 10 percent, our unemployment rate is second in New England and the second highest across this entire Nation. As I have traveled around my State, I have heard from countless Rhode Islanders struggling to hold on to their retirement savings, their homes, and their livelihood.

Against this dark background, jobs mean security. Steady employment helps families pay the bills and plan for the future. Jobs mean confidence in an unsettled time. In this weakening economy, job creation should be our highest economic priority.

But at the end of the day, the best jobs this legislation can create are jobs that produce lasting infrastructure, assets that will help our economy function smoothly for years to come, such as highways and bridges, weatherized homes and schools, and water treatment plants. These are win-wins for the American people.
Fortunately, this bill goes beyond a definition of infrastructure as just the things the Romans could build. The last few decades have seen enormous innovation in this country—new communications platforms, the Internet and new ways of thinking about e-commerce and e-energy. This technological revolution is transforming the way we live and work, as the rail system did and the highway system did in decades and centuries past. And as the Federal Government helped build the railways and highways, the bricks and mortar infrastructure of the 20th century, today this recovery bill will support the digital infrastructure of the 21st century. It is a dual benefit: jobs today and a platform for growth tomorrow.

To me, one of the most vital parts of our Nation’s infrastructure in this 21st century will be the development of a national health information network to improve the quality and efficiency of health care, to save money, and to save lives. But today this network is growing at the speed of mud. Health care is frighteningly behind the rest of American industry in its development and adoption of information and technology. Why? Because of economics, the strange, bizarre, twisted economics of our health care system that fails to reward doctors and hospitals when they invest in health information infrastructure.

If we can solve the health information network problem, private industry will develop technology to allow doctors to prescribe drugs electronically and help remind you to take them. Technology will help doctors update your vital information in real time and cross-reference your health issues with the best illness prevention and treatment strategies. And technology promises decision support programs implement best medical practices that will help health care providers avoid costly, life-threatening, and completely unnecessary medical errors that now bedevil our health care system.

Look at what private technology and innovation have already done with the Internet—Google, e-Bay, Amazon, YouTube, Facebook. Whose life has not been changed? Imagine what can happen in health care. Wonderful opportunities beckon, both in the near term, because funding this infrastructure will create jobs in the information technology sector, and in the long term to help us bring down the spiraling health care costs that threaten to engulf our economy.

But the broken economics of the health care system mean that those opportunities will not arise without help. Unelected Government agencies involved to set standards for this technology on which everyone can agree, the resolution of a digital x-ray image, for instance, or requirements protecting a patient’s privacy or leveling economic obstacles, we will never get to a national system.

The Romans could not build an electronic health information infrastructure, but we can and we must, and this legislation will.

There are rumors that an amendment will shortly be adopted that would, among other things, strip out this investment in health information technology. I have been told I am going to pay for meaningful use of health information technology in doctors’ offices. Starting with this recovery bill, keeping people healthy will keep the business of medicine healthy.

And that is the challenge of technology. Health information technology is about much more than digitizing data, more than going from illegible handwriting to clear electronic type. Health IT is about coordinating care between multiple providers. Anybody who has a serious illness is aware of the confusion that surrounds having to deal with multiple doctors. Health IT is about helping patients and their loved ones manage those complex, chronic conditions. Health IT is about cutting across multiple providers the wide variation—the wide and unexplained variation—in American medicine can be narrowed down to the best practices we know of and Americans can be assured they are getting the best quality of care about better care for patients who are ill, and it is also about preventive care for patients so they do not become ill.

The recovery bill recognizes that the goal is not health IT in every pot, but the best IT in every practice. The economic recovery bill also recognizes that for some doctors, this is a lofty goal and that they will need more than money to get there.

Everyone knows that new technologies are hard to learn, hard to adapt to, and hard to incorporate into an existing system. You can be a brilliant doctor, a master at the healing arts, and still have trouble coping with the demands of a new information technology. It often seems easier to keep doing things as they have always been done. So this bill does not just hand out grants to buy big fancy new boxes of equipment to sit in office closets. This bill includes implementation assistance so the doctors have a little help opening that box, installing that technology, and putting it to work on behalf of their patients.

Second, the recovery bill will be offered through regional extension centers, not unlike our agricultural extension service that has been helping farmers all over this great Nation for decades.

Every Senator in this body from a rural State knows how helpful and effective quality agricultural extension model is. And for those of us from urban areas, think of it as a “geek squad” for American doctors.

Third, the standards issue. Our esteemed colleague Dr. Coburn has often noted that the greatest challenge he sees in building up our national health information infrastructure is the lack of national standards. Doctors are... often afraid to adopt new technology before they are sure their health information system will be able to talk to other doctors' health information systems. Fortunately, significant progress has been made in creating a broad set of standards for health information technology, and thanks in part to the leadership of outgoing HHS Secretary Mike Leavitt. The recovery bill acknowledges that progress and builds upon it, establishing a new health information technology standards committee and establishing a process for the adoption of future standards, implementation specifications, and certification criteria so you know what you are buying meets the standards.

All that said, we all know that health information technology is ultimately about patients. Patients must trust and participate in the health information technology revolution if it is going to reach its full potential. Therefore, the recovery bill includes a number of vital privacy protections to ensure the security and the confidentiality of electronic patient records. These protections include changes in notification policy if there is an unauthorized disclosure of health information. It includes the establishment of privacy officers in HHS regional offices, new restrictions on the sale of health information, improved enforcement of violations to privacy law, and other strong provisions.

I am well aware that privacy is a controversial and highly charged area of debate. I think it is important we all view the privacy provisions in this bill as the beginning and not the end of our national discussion about health care privacy.

These provisions will require oversight and, perhaps over time, adjustment. I look forward to this ongoing challenge, and remain committed to being engaged in it. But for now, this is a good, strong privacy package. It has, I think, solid agreement in this building.

Last, but certainly not least, I wish to acknowledge the extraordinary work of the man who has been committed to health care in the Senate longer than anyone else—the incomparable Senator from Massachusetts, Edward Kennedy. He has been a tremendous supporter of advancing health information technology for years, and was the primary architect of this language in the Senate. As always, we are in his debt for the expertise and the leadership, the passion and the compassion he provides, and we look forward to his speedy return to the floor.

I will conclude, Mr. President, by saying I know there is an enormous amount of politics now surrounding this economic recovery plan. But in order to try to make the politics look good, we not only need to do the smartest and the best investment in this whole plan, one that not only works to provide jobs in a key American industry today but that lays the foundation for addressing what is probably the next biggest, most dangerous problem that is facing Americans behind this immediate economic crisis. Let us not be fools here in the service of political expediency. Let us stick with these health information technology elements of the bill, support them energetically, and I hope every colleague will see the wisdom of them and support their inclusion in this bill.

I thank the budget officer very much for his courtesy, and I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Mississippi is recognized.

Mr. COCHRAN. Mr. President, I am bringing to the attention of the Senate my opposition to an amendment that has been offered on this bill. Earlier today, the Senator from Wisconsin, Mr. FEINGOLD, offered amendment No. 140 to the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009, which would prevent the authorization of a $23 billion health information technology investment. Since I have been in the Senate, I have served on authorizing committees and the Appropriations Committee. The authorization process is an important function of our Senate. The Appropriations Committee works closely with authorizing committees. If any Senator opposes authorizing language that is contained in an appropriations bill, the Senator can offer an amendment to strike it. The Senator can strike the language if it determines that is the appropriate thing to do.

Now, all the committees produce earmarks, not just the Appropriations Committee. When I served on the Agriculture Committee, the farm bill customarily contained specific authorizations for expenditures of funds—entitlement to Federal dollars by certain classes of producers of agriculture products. If any Senator had an objection to any portion of that authorizing bill, he or she could offer an amendment to strike it or amend it. Individual Senators are free and have the power to modify any bill before the Senate, and appropriations bills are no different. But to get a point of order to raise over some provision with which they disagree is not an appropriate change in the rules of the Senate and should not be tolerated in this legislation. It should be stricken.

My experience has shown that because a program is authorized doesn't necessarily mean it is a good idea or that it will be funded. And that is another point.

Supporters of the amendment have made it clear their goal is to get rid of all earmarks—however earmarks may be defined by them—regardless of what committee may produce them, regardless of whether they have been specifically authorized. This amendment is a step toward that goal, in my opinion. So I suggest that the Senate should look carefully and consider seriously the impact that this amendment may have, and when it is called up, if it is, I hope the Senate will vote it down so. But under the language of this amendment by the Senator from Wisconsin, I suppose it would be subject to a point of order, but nobody is demanding a point of order against the bill containing that provision.

So what this amendment seeks to do, consciously or not, is to limit the impact that this amendment may have, and when it is called up, if it is, I hope the Senate will vote it down so. But under the language of this amendment by the Senator from Wisconsin, I suppose it would be subject to a point of order, but nobody is demanding a point of order against the bill containing that provision.

And, if so, which amendments, and how many amendments will be in order? The rules committee has to go before the Rules Committee or not, without any restrictions for expenditures of funds—entitlement to Federal dollars by certain classes of producers of agriculture products. If any Senator had an objection to any portion of that authorizing bill, he or she could offer an amendment to strike it or amend it. Individual Senators are free and have the power to modify any bill before the Senate, and appropriations bills are no different. But to get a point of order to raise over some provision with which they disagree is not an appropriate change in the rules of the Senate and should not be tolerated in this legislation. It should be stricken.

My experience has shown that because a program is authorized doesn't necessarily mean it is a good idea or that it will be funded. And that is another point.

Supporters of the amendment have made it clear their goal is to get rid of all earmarks—however earmarks may be defined by them—regardless of what committee may produce them, regardless of whether they have been specifically authorized. This amendment is a step toward that goal, in my opinion. So I suggest that the Senate should look carefully and consider seriously the impact that this amendment may have, and when it is called up, if it is, I hope the Senate will vote it down so.
Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, one specific area of this cobbled-together bill is spending. The bill provides significant increases in Medicaid spending. There is $37 billion in Medicaid funds in this bill. There is a fundamental change to Medicaid in this bill in the House bill awaiting to be put into the Senate bill when it comes to conference.

There are numerous amendments to try to fix some of the problems with the legislation. Amendments of this bill and I wish to discuss some of those at this point. I start with this $37 billion of FMAP money they have referred to. This is a huge payment to States. Now, some will say that $37 billion in Medicaid payments in this spending party bill is meant to help States pay for people already enrolled, but the facts tell a different story.

In January, the Urban Institute produced a report for the Kaiser Commission on Medicaid and uninsured titled “Rising Health Costs and the Uninsured.” The Urban Institute’s research asserts that for every 1 percent increase in statewide unemployment, Medicaid and Children’s Health Insurance Programs will see an increase of 1 million additional beneficiaries nationwide.

I want to make clear that for the unemployed who qualify, we ought to provide enough money in Medicaid to take care of it, but we are raising questions about money because of that. So, we have this formula that is kind of a benchmark—this Urban Institute research. Using that formula and the unemployment baseline that is in the bill, I had the Congressional Budget Office prepare a cost estimate for an amendment giving States additional funding based on the Urban Institute’s published research. This amendment would provide for an additional per capita Federal payment to States for every new enrollee—employed or unemployed. The Urban Institute research assumes will go on Medicaid or SCHIP during the 27 months contemplated in this bill.

Everyone watching probably knows that the Urban Institute is not exactly a conservative think tank, so their research should be credible to my friends on the other side of the aisle. Now, remember, the cost of the additional Medicaid funds for States in this bill is a whopping $37 billion. The cost of my amendment to take care of the new enrollee—employed going on SCHIP or on Medicaid—$10.8 billion. That is $10.8 billion for what the Urban Institute suggests are enrollment-driven increases in Medicaid spending due to the recession.

So the question is: Why does this bill provide almost eight times what the States actually need for new enrollments resulting from this economic downturn? The Senate is considering $37 billion in funding because States are facing deficits of as much as $51 billion in expenditures over the next 2 years. So let us not kid ourselves. What this is all about is a bill giving States money to help them fill their deficits. This outlandish sum of money is not needed for Medicaid. It might be needed for something else—and we ought to discuss it in terms of the something else—but not for Medicaid.

So you may want to ask: What commitments does the bill from the States in exchange for $37 billion, of which only $10.8 billion might be used for the need for which is supposedly in this legislation? Congress is giving States $37 billion and hoping that States will take actions contrary to Medicaid actually providing the care that people need. I use the word “hope” because the underlying bill doesn’t do enough to make sure the States do what is best for Medicaid. Does the bill prevent States from cutting their Medicaid Programs? It does not. The bill only prevents States from cutting Medicaid income eligibility. But if Congress is giving States $37 billion and telling them not to cut Medicaid eligibility, I think it is important we in Congress also tell the States that they can’t cut benefits. But this bill doesn’t do that. If Congress is giving States $37 billion and telling them not to cut Medicaid eligibility, shouldn’t Congress also tell them not to cut payments to providers? So you have eligibility, you have providers, you have benefits—and we are only dealing with eligibility in this bill—and, yet, giving out $37 billion of which almost $11 billion is the purpose of unemployed going on Medicaid.

States cannot change income eligibility, but under this bill as written they can cut provider payments to doctors, pharmacists, dentists, and benefits to providers. Will there be Medicaid beneficiaries who are elderly or disabled, able to receive home- and community-based services? If we want to keep seniors and the disabled in their homes rather than in institutions, paying direct care workers to provide home- and community-based services is very critical to that goal.

Will there be enough pharmacists taking Medicaid? Will there be enough rural hospitals and public hospitals taking Medicaid? I had one member of the Senate Finance Committee on my side of the aisle tell me in that State, their State legislature owes $100 million to hospitals. Shouldn’t we be taking care of problems like that?

Will there be enough community health centers taking Medicaid? Will Medicaid beneficiaries who are elderly or disabled get into nursing homes if they need to do that?

Will States cut mental health services because Congress didn’t prevent them from doing so in this bill? Even at the same time $37 billion, which is about $76 billion more than the demands of Medicaid because of unemployment?

Will there be pediatricians or children’s hospitals there for children on Medicaid? If the Senate does nothing to protect access to these vital providers, nobody will be able to assure the people who count on Medicaid that the care they need will be there for them. I have filed an amendment that prevents States from generally cutting eligibility and benefits and provider payment rates, funding States are receiving the $37 billion in additional aid. I go beyond just a requirement in the underlying bill that eligibility can’t be changed. We go to benefits and we go to protecting providers.

Will we protect Medicaid, then we ought to really protect Medicaid. I hope we will do that by adopting this amendment.

As written, the bill gives States $37 billion, also in the hopes that States do not take action that is contrary to economic growth. Here again, I use the word “hope” because the bill doesn’t do enough to make sure States do what is best for the economy either. We should ask for more guarantees that States will spend the money appropriately and that Medicaid beneficiaries will not be cut. If Congress gives States $37 billion and tells them not to cut Medicaid, should Congress also tell States not to raise taxes because, if States react to their deficit by increasing taxes, even in the face of this $37 billion—they will defeat the goal of economic recovery that we in Congress are trying to make happen through this legislation. For sure you do not increase taxes at a time of economic distress worse. It makes no sense for us to leave the door wide open then for States to raise taxes while getting a $37 billion windfall from the Federal Government.

I have an amendment that prevents States from raising income, personal property, or sales taxes as a condition of the receipt of $37 billion in Federal assistance. If Congress gives States $37 billion and tells them not to cut Medicaid, should Congress also tell States not to raise tuition at State universities? There is a report out just today that I heard about on the news about how unconstitutional college is becoming, particularly to middle-income Americans. People are not going to go to college even though a college degree is very essential for success in our society, and we are here giving $37 billion to States without any direction to the States whether or not they increase tuition once again, as they tend to do every year.

If States can price young people out of an education, that does nothing for preparing our workforce for the 21st century. So I also have an amendment that prevents States from raising tuition rates at State colleges and universities as a condition of the receipt of the $37 billion of Federal assistance.

For $37 billion—we are talking about $37 billion, just to give to the States—shouldn’t Congress expect States to modernize their Medicaid Program? We have heard my friend and colleague, Dr. Coburn, having an amendment requiring States to improve chronic care in Medicaid and develop medical homes as a condition of the receipt of $87 billion in Federal assistance—because these things are some of the best advancements you can make in the practice of medicine that are going to improve people’s life, but most importantly they save taxpayer dollars or even private dollars. For $87 billion, what does this bill do to ensure that all those Federal taxpayers’ dollars are being spent appropriately? Almost nothing.

During the markup we were able to get funding for the Department of Health and Human Services Office of Inspector General increased by $3.25 million. For those of you doing the math back home, $3,250,000 is just one-fourth of one hundredths of 1 percent of the $87 billion Medicaid spending on the bill. Senator CORNYN and I have an amendment that requires States to do something to improve their waste, fraud, and abuse rates in exchange for the $87 billion that the Federal taxpayer is spending. That is what that money for the inspector general is all about. It provides a list of eight options to combat waste, fraud, and abuse, and the Secretary can provide more options at his or her discretion as well.

States are given time to plan and implement options. States can choose to make their payments transparent. States can choose to implement recovery audit contractors—as is used very successfully in Medicare. States can choose the Medicare/Medicaid data matching program. States can implement third party liability programs that find other insurers who should pay before Medicaid pays out of the public fisc. States can implement electronic verification systems to limit fraud and abuse. States can implement the recently passed Paris system to protect the integrity of the program. States can comply with the recently implemented disproportionate share hospital audit requirement. States can choose to increase their budget for Medicare fraud control units. These are all very reasonable steps that States could and should take, if Congress is going to send them $87 billion in additional Medicaid dollars, when only $10.8 billion of that is necessary to take care of the people who will go on Medicaid because they are unemployed.

They do not have to do all these options, or they only have to do four of these many options: just show the American people that States can take four simple steps to reduce fraud, waste, and abuse. Shouldn’t Congress at least ask that much of the State, for $87 billion? If Congress is going to give States $87 billion in Medicaid funds, shouldn’t the formula be fair?

While I admire the hard work devoted to the exceedingly complex formula in this bill, it simply is not fair to certain States. States with low unemployment rates, States that have not seen the recession hit in full yet—those States will see less of the $87 billion than other States.

Senator Bingaman started down this road to correct this in our Finance Committee markup. You have an amendment that picks up the baton and drives it the rest of the way home. Each State gets a flat 9.5 percent increase in their FMAP payment and States can choose which 9 consecutive quarters in an 11-quarter period best fits the economic needs of their specific State. This is a better, this is a fairer way to spend $87 billion. If Congress increases this Medicaid spending, what guarantee do we have that the fiscal challenges facing Medicaid in the future will be solved? Sooner rather than later, we all must recognize that entitlements are unsustainable as currently constructed.

President Obama has acknowledged this himself on numerous occasions recently. One of my concerns about the additional Medicaid funding that is in this bill is that it places too much emphasis on Medicaid in the here and now, the short term, and ignores future fiscal challenges down the road, the next two or three years.

Just last year the Center for Medicare Services Office of Actuary reported that Medicaid costs will double over the next decade. That is simply unsustainable, and I think every Senator knows that. It is critical that both the Federal Government and States recognize the fiscal challenges we face and the need to take action right now. Senators CORNYN and HATCH and I have an amendment that requires States to submit a report to the Secretary detailing how they plan to address Medicaid sustainability. It is critical that we look at the future of Medicaid if Congress is going to give States $87 billion in additional Medicaid funding in the short term. It is only going to take about $10.8 billion to take care of the uninsured because of the economic recession we are in.

The House bill has a provision that fundamentally changes Medicaid. Medicaid is fundamentally a program that is about low-income pregnant women, children, and low-income seniors. Under the House bill, the Federal taxpayer would step in to pay the full cost to provide Medicaid coverage to people who lose their jobs and are not eligible for continuing coverage from their employer. Normally, Medicaid is supposed to be a shared State/Federal responsibility, with the States and the Federal Government sharing the costs. In the House bill, the Federal Government pays 62 percent—up from a national average of 57 percent to 43 percent. In my particular State, the Federal Government pays 62 percent—but not in this new Medicaid Program the House would create because under the House bill—get this—the Federal Government would pay 100 percent of the costs. In my particular State, the Federal Government pays 62 percent—but not in this new Medicaid Program the House would create because under the House bill—get this—the Federal Government would pay 100 percent of the costs. The House bill transforms Medicaid into a coverage for anyone who loses their job if they do not have access to COBRA coverage from their former employer, and we should offer this taxpayer-paid Medicaid coverage regardless of how wealthy they might be.

Now Medicaid is for low-income people, but it is being expanded in the House to, no matter how wealthy you might be, but being unemployed, you could qualify for Medicaid. Tell me if that is not a waste of taxpayers’ money. It is taxing low-income people to spend wealthy people’s money. Of course, the opposite of what we normally do in this country.

With all the fiscal challenges this country faces, and with entitlement sustainability already out of control, this ought to be seen by every Member of the Senate as an outrage. Obviously, it was not an outrage to the 244 people who voted for it in the other body. I hope folks on the other side of the aisle will come to the floor and defend a policy that, if you are unemployed—I suppose if you are an unemployed CEO who previously made $5 million, you can walk into the State office and get Medicaid. I don’t understand it.

My bigger concern is what happens in 2011 when the recession is already over. On December 31, 2010, what happens to all the people who have been covered by this massive expansion of Medicaid entitlement? What happens to all of the people who have been added to the rolls and the States who comply with the $87 billion influx in this bill, when only $10.8 billion is needed, according to CBO, based on the Urban Institute program, for those who are going to be unemployed? Mr. President, $76 billion more is going to be spent.

Someone on the other side needs to convince me that this policy we are putting in place is truly temporary. I do not buy that it is temporary. Every one of us knows the States will be coming back in the middle of next year to beg for an extension so they don’t have to cut Medicaid rolls. There are too many former Governors in this Chamber for anyone to argue that it is not going to happen.

A lot of people have worked very hard putting this bill together. I respect that they have worked hard. I wish they would have worked smarter. Giving States $87 billion even though that is about eight times what they need to stay ahead of enrollment-driven Medicaid increases is not well thought out. Giving States $87 billion while still allowing them to cut their Medicaid Program is not well thought out. Giving States $87 billion while still allowing them to get their tuition not well thought out. Giving States $87 billion without requiring them to do a better job of addressing fraud, waste, and abuse is not well thought out. Giving States $87 billion without making them address the fiscal sustainability of their Medicaid Program is not well thought out. A massive expansion of the entitlements under the guise of the word “temporary” is not well thought out.

This is already going to happen—a spending party. It is not well thought out. It is out of control. The Senate should support numerous amendments, as I have discussed this afternoon, to address the shortcomings that occur when partisan bills are moved too quickly.

I filed what is referred to as a Grassley-Schumer amendment to amend the American Opportunity Tax Credit work. In my opinion, the amendment makes the American Opportunity Tax Credit better. Senator SCHUMER agrees with the me, or obviously he would not be cosponsoring this with me, because he is joining me.

I think Senator SCHUMER for his support and look forward to working with him on simplifying the education tax credit. Congress has put into the Tax Code. I have long been an advocate for helping Americans afford college through the Tax Code. So when I was chairman of the Finance Committee, I successfully included a number of education measures in that tax bill of 2001. These measures were enacted into law as part of a bipartisan agreement—I want to emphasize, bipartisan agreement—that has never been done; it is an above-the-line deduction for the cost of higher education expenses because of that bill. In addition, people with student loans have greater flexibility when deducting student loan interest. I have always supported and look forward to repealing the sunset provisions Congress imposed back in 2001.

The other education tax provisions we included in the 2001 bipartisan tax legislation should be made permanent. Several provisions would fall into that category, but that debate will be left to another day. We are not pursuing that on this bill.

Today, Senator SCHUMER and I are here to build on the American Opportunity Tax Credit included in the legislation we are debating today. This is how we do it. The amendment Senator SCHUMER and I are offering would infor that purpose would not boost outlays or GDP much this year, but it would probably provide significant stimulus from 2010 through 2012.

Grants to state and local governments (such as increased assistance for education) might not increase state spending for the programs designated in the grants but, instead, the funds that would otherwise be spent on those programs. States could use those extra funds in a variety of ways: direct purchases of goods and services, tax relief, reductions in property or sales tax rates (or smaller tax increases), transfer payments, or reduced borrowing. The impact of grants therefore would depend on how states used them.

Transfers to persons (for example, unemployment insurance and nutrition assistance) would also have a significant impact on GDP. Transfers have a relatively strong effect on consumption because people tend to go to people, such as the poor or unemployed, who are likely to spend much of any additional income. For that reason and because transfers can be increased quickly, they are estimated to have a significant impact on GDP by early 2010. Transfers also include the controversial temporary nonbusiness tax cuts (or smaller tax increases), transfer payments, or reduced borrowing. The impact of grants therefore would depend on how states used them.

The change in employment relative to the change in GDP in CBO’s estimates is small compared with the broad industry-based studies of stimulus. For example, output per employee tends to fall in a recession because employers try not to fire their best workers even as they cut production in response to decreased demand. Therefore, as fiscal stimulus increases demand, firms can ramp up production without increasing employment proportionately. This suggests that fiscal stimulus boosts both productivity and hours of work as well as employment. Studies that ignore these effects are likely to overstate the impact of fiscal stimulus on employment.

The long-run impact on output

Most of the budgetary effects of the Senate legislation occur over the next few years. Therefore, if the Senate legislation were passed, it would reduce the risk of a recession and short-run fiscal stimulus would be offset in part. CBO’s basic assumption is that, in the long run, each dollar of additional GDP (Crowding out is unlikely to occur in the short run, although, as noted above, some of the Senate’s nonbusiness tax cuts and its stimulus grants would also affect their long-run impact; those governments might apply some of that money to investments they would not have carried out if they were relying on general revenues for noninvestment purposes and lowering the long-run economic return to those grants. In order to encompass a wide range of potential effects, CBO used two assumptions in developing its estimates: first, that all of the relevant investments together would, on average, add as much to output as the investments they were replaced by, and, second, that they would, on average, not add to output at all.

The principle, the long-run impact on output also would depend on whether it permanently changed incentives to work or save. However, according to CBO’s estimates, all of the relevant investments together would, on average, add as much to output as the investments they were replaced by, and, second, that they would, on average, not add to output at all.

Mr. LIEBERMAN. Mr. President, I rise to address comments made by my colleagues regarding several measures for the Department of Homeland Security in the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act: the $248 million provided for the construction of a consolidated headquarters, and the $500 million provided to fund construction and renovation of fire stations. These are both projects that will save lives, save money, and most importantly for this bill, create jobs.

The Senator from South Carolina has included funding for the DHS headquarters project among a list of what he refers to as “cats and dogs” which he is intent on stripping from the bill. But the DHS consolidation project is far more important to our Nation than those comments might suggest.

DHS is responsible for leading a unified national effort to secure the United States, yet the Department does not have all the necessary tools to do so, including an adequate headquarters. DHS is currently spread throughout more than 70 buildings located on 40 sites across the national capital region making communication, coordination, and cooperation among DHS components a significant challenge. Moreover, the existing space housing the Office of the Secretary, Intelligence, and other key functions is grossly inadequate, contributes to recruitment and morale problems, and is simply not befitting a cabinet agency critical to Americans’ security.

Some of my colleagues have argued that funding the important homeland security project is not appropriate in the stimulus bill. I respectfully disagree.

The DHS headquarters project will create jobs. The final environmental impact statement for the headquarters plan found that the overall project would create direct employment opportunities for over 32,000 people in the national capital region. Put another way, the economy would gain payroll earnings of approximately $1.2 billion during construction and renovation of the St. Elizabeths West Campus plus approximately $3.8 billion in additional expenditures during the construction phases.

Funding this project through the stimulus will also expedite the creation of these jobs. DHS estimates that the funding included in this bill will allow the headquarters project to be completed 12 months earlier than previously planned. This means funding will be spent into the local economy earlier creating real jobs and stimulating economic growth in DC, Maryland, and Virginia when it is most needed.

This bill will also save money. Accelerating the project will reduce the cost of the overall headquarters project by $16 million. Moreover, the Federal Government will be able to negotiate better prices with contractors because they can sign larger contracts up front which will result in additional cost savings.

In short, this project creates a win-win situation by creating jobs today and saving money for the taxpayer in the long run. And, most importantly, by fostering a more efficient and effective Department of Homeland Security, it will make our country safer.

I would also like to take a moment to address the mischaracterization by some of my colleagues and members of the media that this money will only be spent on furniture. The $248 million allocated to DHS will fund construction, IT infrastructure, security, and a host of other activities associated with constructing a building. Furniture is one allowable use of the funding, however less than 7 percent of the total funding proposed for the headquarters in this bill would be allocated towards furni ture.

And I would also like to address the comments of my colleague from Oklahoma regarding the value and the appropriateness of providing funds for the construction of fire stations. I would argue that as an issue of security, safety, and of job creation, there is nothing more valuable or appropriate.

The Nation’s fire houses are in dire need of attention. In cities and towns across America, they are too few in number, aging, and crumbling, and as a result, they are inadequate to provide the necessary protection to families and communities. The U.S. Fire Administration—part of the Department of Homeland Security—has provided a grim picture in its second needs assessment of the U.S. Fire Services. Consider the following: 80 to 75 percent of fire departments have too few stations to provide an optimal response; 36 percent of fire stations in the United States are over 40 years old; 54 percent of fire stations lack backup power; and 72 percent of fire stations are not equipped for exhaust emission control.

These figures show that our country’s fire stations are just not able to ensure that firefighters can serve the needs of their communities with the adequate safety and effectiveness.
These infrastructure problems are spread across the country, in communities large and small. Permit me to address the need for building more fire stations, from the ground up, to ensure that there are enough to protect the public. Without an adequate number of fire stations, the response time of firefighters may increase significantly in incidents where every moment counts. A fire doubles in size every 60 seconds. A 10-story building victim suffers irreversible brain damage after four minutes. So imagine the impact on a neighborhood where the fire houses are spread too far apart—imagine the increase in risk of death, injury, and property damage. This is a risk we cannot afford to take.

This funding, which would be distributed by the Department of Homeland Security to the communities with the greatest need, could be applied immediately to projects in need of attention. The U.S. Conference of Mayors has identified over 100 fire station construction or renovation projects that are “Ready to Go,” so thousands of jobs could be created immediately with this $500 million. This is funding that are “Ready to Go,” so thousands of jobs could be created immediately with this $500 million. This is funding that we cannot afford to trim from this $500 million. This is funding that, if used immediately, could be applied immediately to projects in need of attention and could have the greatest impact. Without these funds, the response time of fire stations, the response time of fire fighters, may increase significantly.

I encourage my colleagues to look at the facts. These projects, which are essential to the security of our Nation and our communities, will also create jobs and stimulate the economy. It is not wasteful spending and belongs in the stimulus bill we are considering today.

Mr. INOUYE. Mr. President, earlier today Senator MCCONNELL singled out for criticism funding in this bill for upgrades of outdated information technology at the State Department and U.S. Agency for International Development. He said: “$524 million for a program at the State Department that promises to cut $135 million per job.” Mr. President, I hate to think what the minority leader and former chairman of the Appropriations Committee, Mr. MCCONNELL, would say if a $1.35 million per job.” He went on to say: “$100 million for 300 jobs at the U.S. Agency for International Development, $333,333 per job.”

With all due respect to my friend, the minority leader and former chairman of the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee who was a strong supporter of these programs in the past, that is a simplistic statement which does not tell the whole story.

First, it underscores the number of jobs these funds will generate, as I will explain. And second, it implies that the only value of a stimulus project is the jobs created. If we adopt that standard, I hate to think what the minority leader would say about other Federal projects, whether the cost of building the Washington Monument or a project in his State.

Computer systems are inherently not personnel intensive, but they do have a significant impact on the supply chain economy.

The State Department’s and USAID’s estimate of the number of jobs related to information technology upgrades is approximately 688 jobs. I doubt the unemployed citizens of Kentucky, any more than the citizens of Hawaii, would score any better.

But this does not take into account the jobs created across the country when a Federal agency has a major investment in computer technology and systems. Much of the hardware would be manufactured by workers here in the U.S. But this funding would enable the U.S. Postal Service to upgrade its overseas and shipped to our ports, like Long Beach, CA.

U.S. workers unload the container ships and load the computer parts onto trucks or rail cars. Those trucks or trains travel across the country, and their drivers purchase fuel and food. The components are then unloaded and delivered to their final destination.

The 688 jobs cited by the Senate Appropriations Committee were merely jobs created with installing these computer systems and providing services to these Federal agencies. It does not take into account the impact of manufacturing, purchasing, and transporting new equipment.

But this funding will do more than create jobs.

The information technology upgrades proposed in this bill would improve the worldwide technology capabilities of our Federal agencies, which are particularly vulnerable to attack. This $500 million would improve cybersecurity which is so important to the safety and security it will provide to take.

Security to the communities with the greatest need, could be applied immediately to projects in need of attention and could have the greatest impact. Without these funds, the response time of fire stations, the response time of fire fighters, may increase significantly.

For purposes of this title—

(1) the term “securitized mortgages” means residential mortgages that have been pooled by a securitization vehicle;

(2) the term “securitization vehicle” means a trust, corporation, partnership, limited liability entity, special purpose entity, or other structure that—

(a) is the issuer, or is created by the issuer, of mortgage pass-through certificates, participation certificates, mortgage-backed securities, or other similar securities backed by a pool of assets that includes residential mortgage loans; (B) holds all of the mortgage loans which are the basis for a securitization vehicle described in subparagraph (A); and (C) has not issued securities that are guaranteed by the Federal National Mortgage Association, the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, or the Government National Mortgage Association; (3) the term "servicer" means a servicer of pooled and securitized residential mortgages, all of which are eligible mortgages; (4) the term "eligible servicer" means a servicer of pooled and securitized residential mortgages, all of which are eligible mortgages; (5) the "eligible mortgage" means a residential mortgage, the principal amount of which did not exceed the conforming loan size limit that was in existence at the time of origination for a comparable dwelling, as established by the Federal National Mortgage Association; (6) the term "Secretary" means the Secretary of the Treasury; (7) the term "effective term of the Act" means the period beginning on the effective date of this title and ending on December 31, 2011; (8) the term "incentive fee" means the monthly payment to eligible servicers, as determined under section 6003; (9) the term "Office" means the Office of Aggrieved Investor Claims established under section 6004(a); and (10) the term "prepayment fee" means the payment to eligible servicers, as determined under section 6004(b).

SEC. 6003. PAYMENTS TO ELIGIBLE SERVICERS AUTHORIZED

(a) AUTHORITY.—The Secretary is authorized during the effective term of the Act, to make payments to eligible servicers in an amount not to exceed an aggregate of $10,000,000,000, subject to the terms and conditions established under this title. (b) FEES PAID TO ELIGIBLE SERVICERS.—(1) IN GENERAL.—During the effective term of the Act, eligible servicers may collect monthly fee payments, consistent with the limitation in paragraph (2). (2) CONDITIONS.—For every mortgage that was— (A) not prepaid during a month, an eligible servicer may collect an incentive fee equal to 10 percent of the monthly payments received during that month, not to exceed $60 per loan; and (B) prepaid during a month, an eligible servicer may collect a one-time prepayment fee equal to 12 times the amount of the incentive fee for the preceding month. (c) SAFE HARBOR.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, and notwithstanding any investment contract between a servicer and a securitization vehicle, a servicer— (1) owes any duty to maximize the net present value of a securitized mortgage in the securitization vehicle to all investors and parties having a direct or indirect interest in such vehicle, and not to any individual party or group of parties; and (2) shall be deemed to act in the best interests of all such investors and parties if the servicer agrees to or implements a modification, workout, or other loss mitigation plan for a residential mortgage or a class of residential mortgages that constitutes a part or all of the pooled mortgages in such securitization vehicle if— (A) default on the payment of such mortgage has occurred or is reasonably foreseeable; (B) the property securing such mortgage is occupied by the mortgagor of such mortgage; and (C) the servicer reasonably and in good faith believes that the anticipated recovery on the principal outstanding obligation of the mortgage under the modification or workout plan and resultant value notes, the anticipated recovery on the principal outstanding obligation of the mortgage through foreclosure; (3) shall not be obligated to repurchase loans from, or otherwise make payments to, the securitization vehicle on account of a modification, workout, or other loss mitigation plan that satisfies the conditions of paragraph (2); and (4) if it acts in a manner consistent with the duties set forth in paragraphs (1) and (2), those duties shall not preclude a modification or workout plan to any person— (A) based on ownership by that person of a residential mortgage loan or any interest in a pool of residential mortgage loans, or in securities that distribute payments out of the principal, interest, and other payments in loans in the pool; (B) who is obligated to make payments determined in reference to any loan or any interest referred to in subparagraph (A); or (C) that insures any loan or any interest referred to in subparagraph (A) under any provision of law or regulation of the United States or any State or political subdivision thereof. (d) LEGAL COSTS.—If an unsuccessful suit is brought by a person described in subsection (d)(4), that person shall bear the actual legal costs of the servicer, including reasonable attorney fees and expert witness fees, incurred in good faith. (e) REPORTING REQUIREMENTS.— (1) IN GENERAL.—Each servicer shall report regularly, not less frequently than monthly, to the Secretary on the extent and scope of the loss mitigation activities of the mortgagee. (2) CONTENT.—Each report required by this subsection shall include— (A) the number of residential mortgage loans receiving loss mitigation that have become performing loans; (B) the number of residential mortgage loans receiving loss mitigation that have proceeded to foreclosure; (C) the number of foreclosures initiated during the reporting period; (D) data on loss mitigation activities, disaggregated to reflect whether the loss mitigation activities resulted in— (i) a waiver of any late payment charge, penalty interest, or any other fees or charges, or any combination thereof; (ii) establishment of a repayment plan under which the homeowner resumes regularly scheduled payments and pays additional amounts at scheduled intervals to cure the delinquency; (iii) forbearance under the loan that provides for a temporary reduction in or cessation of monthly payments, followed by a repayment plan due under the loan, including arrearage, and a new schedule of repayment amounts; (iv) waiver, modification, or variation of any material term of the loan, including short-term, long-term, or life-of-loan modifications that change the interest rate, forgive the payment of principal or interest, or extend the final maturity date of the loan; (v) short refinancing of the loan consisting of acceptance of payment from or on behalf of the homeowner of an amount less than the amount of the loan due and owing under the loan, including principal, interest, and fees, in full satisfaction of the obligation under such loan and as part of a refinance transaction, where the property is intended to remain the principal residence of the homeowner; (vi) acquisition of the property by the owner or servicer by deed in lieu of foreclosure; (vii) short sale of the principal residence that is subject to the lien securing the loan; (viii) assumption of the obligation of the homeowner under the loan by a third party; (ix) cancellation or postponement of a foreclosure sale to allow the homeowner additional time to sell the property; or (x) any other loss mitigation activity not covered; and (D) such other information as the Secretary determines to be relevant. (3) PUBLIC AVAILABILITY OF REPORTS.—After removing information that would compromise the privacy interests of mortgagees, the Secretary shall make public the reports required by this subsection.

SEC. 6004. COMPENSATION FOR AGGRIEVED INVESTORS

(a) IN GENERAL.— (1) COMPENSATION.—Each injured person shall be entitled to receive from the United States— (A) compensation for injury suffered by the injured person as a result of loan modifications made pursuant to this title; and (B) damages described in subsection (d)(3), as determined by the Secretary of the Treasury. (2) OFFICE OF AGGRIEVED INVESTOR CLAIMS.— (A) IN GENERAL.—There is established within the Department of the Treasury an Office of Aggrieved Investor Claims. (B) PURPOSE.—The Office shall receive, process, and pay claims in accordance with this section. (C) FUNDING.—The Office— (i) shall be funded from funds made available to the Secretary under this section; (ii) may reimburse other Federal agencies for claims processing support and assistance; and (iii) may appoint and fix the compensation of such temporary personnel as may be necessary, without regard to the provisions of title 5, United States Code, governing appointments in competitive service; and (iv) upon the request of the Secretary, the head of any Federal department or agency may detail, on a reimbursable basis, any of the personnel of that department or agency to the Department of Treasury to assist it in carrying out its duties under this section. (3) OPTION TO APPOINT INDEPENDENT CLAIMS MANAGER.—The Secretary may appoint an Independent Claims Manager— (A) to head the Office; and (B) to assume the duties of the Secretary under this section. (b) SUBMISSION OF CLAIMS.—Not later than 2 years after the date on which regulations are first promulgated under subsection (f), an injured person may submit to the Secretary a written claim for one or more injuries suffered by the injured person in accordance with such requirements as the Secretary determines to be appropriate; and (c) INVESTIGATION OF CLAIMS.— (1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall, on behalf of the United States, investigate, consider, ascertain, adjust, determine, grant, deny, or settle any claim for money damages asserted under subsection (b). (2) EXTENT OF DAMAGES.—Any payment under this section— (A) shall be limited to actual compensatory damages measured by injuries suffered; and (B) shall not include— (i) interest before settlement or payment of a claim; or (ii) punitive damages. (d) PAYMENT OF CLAIMS.— (1) DETERMINATION AND PAYMENT OF AMOUNT.—
A. IN GENERAL.—Not later than 180 days after the date on which a claim is submitted under this section, the Secretary shall determine and fix the amount, if any, to be paid for the settlement of such claim.

B. PARAMETERS OF DETERMINATION.—In determining and settling a claim under this section, the Secretary shall determine only—

(1) whether the claimant is an injured person;

(2) whether the injury that is the subject of the claim resulted from a loan modification made pursuant to this title;

(3) the amount, if any, to be allowed and paid under this section; and

(4) the person or persons entitled to receive payment hereunder.

2. PARTIAL PAYMENT.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—At the request of a claimant, the Secretary may make one or more partial payments before the final settlement of a claim, including final settlement on any portion or aspect of a claim that is determined to be severable.

(B) JUDICIAL DECISION.—If a claimant receives a partial payment on a claim under this section, but further payment on the claim is subsequently denied by the Secretary, the claimant may—

(i) seek judicial review under subsection (1); and

(ii) keep any partial payment that the Secretary determines to be appropriate for inclusion as financial loss.

3. ALLOWABLE DAMAGES FOR FINANCIAL LOSS.—A claim that is paid for injury under this section may include damages resulting from a loan modification pursuant to this title for the following types of otherwise uncompensated financial loss:

(A) I N GENERAL.—The acceptance by a claimant of any payment under this section, except an advance or partial payment made under subsection (d)(2), shall—

(i) be final and conclusive on the claimant with respect to all claims arising out of or relating to the same subject matter;

(ii) constitute a complete release of all claims against the United States (including any other claim brought by the person of the right to judicial review of a claim described in subsection (1));

(iii) be binding; and

(iv) preclude any exercise by the injured person of any right to judicial review of a claim described in subsection (1).

(B) ANY OTHER LOSS THAT THE SECRETARY DETERMINES TO BE APPROPRIATE FOR INCLUSION AS FINANCIAL LOSS.

4. ACCEPTANCE OF AWARD.—The acceptance by a claimant of any payment under this section, except an advance or partial payment made under subsection (d)(2), shall—

(A) I N GENERAL.—When the President submits the budget for the first fiscal year following a fiscal year in which there are 3 consecutive quarters of economic growth greater than 2% of inflation adjusted GDP, the President shall set and submit maximum deficit amounts for the fiscal year to which paragraph (1) applies that have not been otherwise obligated are rescinded.

(B) REDUCTIONS.—The reduction of sequestered amounts required by paragraph (1) shall be 2% from the baseline for the first year, minus any discretionary spending provided in the American recovery and reinvestment act of 2009 following the first year in which there are 2 consecutive quarters of economic growth greater than 2% of inflation adjusted GDP.

C. RECOVERIES PROVIDED IN THE AMERICAN RECOVERY AND REINVESTMENT ACT OF 2009.

1. SECURITIES.—Section 251 shall be implemented in accordance with this subsection.

(A) IN GENERAL.—When the President submits the budget for the first fiscal year following a fiscal year in which there are 3 consecutive quarters of economic growth greater than 2% of inflation adjusted GDP, the President shall set and submit maximum deficit amounts for the fiscal year to which paragraph (1) applies that have not been otherwise obligated are rescinded.

(B) REDUCTIONS.—The reduction of sequestered amounts required by paragraph (1) shall be 2% from the baseline for the first year, minus any discretionary spending provided in the American recovery and reinvestment act of 2009 following the first year in which there are 2 consecutive quarters of economic growth greater than 2% of inflation adjusted GDP.

(D) DEFICIT REDUCTION THROUGH A SEQUESTER.

(1) SECURITIES.—Section 251 shall be implemented in accordance with this subsection.

(2) MAXIMUM DEFICIT AMOUNTS.

(A) I N GENERAL.—When the President submits the budget for the first fiscal year following a fiscal year in which there are 3 consecutive quarters of economic growth greater than 2% of inflation adjusted GDP, the President shall set and submit maximum deficit amounts for the fiscal year to which paragraph (1) applies that have not been otherwise obligated are rescinded.

(B) MDA.—The maximum deficit amounts determined pursuant to subparagraph (A) shall be deemed the maximum deficit amounts for purposes of section 601 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, as in effect prior to the enactment of Public Law 105-33.

(C) DEFICIT.—For purposes of this paragraph, the term ‘deficit’ shall have the meaning given such term in Public Law 99-177.

3. PROCEDURES REESTABLISHED.—Section 25(b) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 is amended to read as follows:

(a) Authorization of Appropriations.—There are authorized to be appropriated to the Secretary, such sums as may be necessary to carry out this title.

SEC. 6005. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

There are authorized to be appropriated to the Secretary, such sums as may be necessary to carry out this title.

AMENDMENT NO. 278

On page 431, after line 8, insert the following:

SEC. 6. REDUCING SPENDING UPON ECONOMIC GROWTH TO RELIEVE FUTURE GENERATIONS’ DEBT OBLIGATIONS.

(a) ENFORCEMENT.—Section 275 of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 is amended by inserting at the end thereof the following:

(b) PROCEDURES REESTABLISHED.—Section 25(b) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 25(b). PROCEDURES REESTABLISHED.—Subject to subsection (d), sections 251 and 253 of this Act and any procedure with respect to such sections in this Act shall be effective beginning on the date of enactment of this subsection.”

(c) BASELINE.—The Congressional Budget Office shall not include any amounts, including discretionary, mandatory, and revenues, provided in this Act in the baseline for fiscal year 2009 and thereafter.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Missouri is recognized.

Mrs. MCCASKILL. I would like to talk about a few of the amendments I will be offering to this very important piece of legislation. Let me say this again. This is an important piece of legislation. I think everyone needs to take a moment, take a deep breath, and consider what the alternatives are. Either we come together in the Senate over the next few days and pass this bill or we do nothing—or we do nothing. I will tell you, where I live in Missouri, “nothing” is not an option. If people think we can do nothing and this problem will begin to take care of itself, they do not understand the economic situation we are facing. So I have no problem with a full debate. I have no problem with us looking at every line and figuring out whether there is money we can take out that is wasteful or not stimulative. But at the end of the day, we have to decide that we are going to put this on the shelf—are you kidding me? Put it on a shelf.

We have a crisis in this country. We are in a dramatic recession. The Government must act to stimulate job creation. If we do not, then we are going to have some explaining to do. Being brave and bold enough to do something is always harder than finding something wrong with something. And we will always be able to find something wrong in everything we do around here.

So buck up. Be strong. Move forward for the American people because that is what they said to us last November. That is what they want. They wanted it to be a new day.

I am sure a lot are talking with each other. I am glad we are debating amendments. I am glad we are working in a bipartisan fashion to try to pull some of the things out of this bill that have distracted the conversation about the Economic Recovery Act. They have distracted us. They put us on defense. Excuse me, we are on offense. We are trying to help our economy. Sitting back and shooting that thing is not going to get us there.

The collective things I think we can do to make it better, and several of the amendments I have offered have to do with our ability to make this process transparent and to make sure we are accountable for the money.

Finally, I have asked an amendment to strengthen the whistleblower protection. We have to make sure our whistleblowers are well taken care of. Some of the best information we get in cleaning up Government comes from inside the companies that work for the Federal Government. We need to have protections to defense contractors in last year’s Defense Authorization Act. We need to give it to every Federal contractor so that we can get the best information possible about what is going on internally in these companies as they spend public money.

Another amendment improves the transparency requirements for the public database Web site. We need this public database to work, because it is a new tool to allow us to track all the money to make sure the money is going where it was intended to go. We have to make sure our defense contractors have no problem with a full debate. We do not understand the economic situation we are facing. So I have no problem with a full debate. I have no problem with us looking at every line and figuring out whether there is money we can take out that is wasteful or not stimulative. printed on, $400,000 for every job it hopes or even claims to save or create.

This is about job creation. A lot of us have questions, if any of these goals are going to be met. But let’s assume the stated goals are met of saving and creating $51 billion per month of course, I don’t think it will ever meet those goals. Altogether, by the analysis of many expert analysis, only 11 percent of this bill has anything to do with recovery or reinvestment. Fact one is the amount of size and cost of this bill which is staggering and frightening to so many Americans. Part two is that Americans get it. It is common sense, and they can tell the difference between a laundry list of spending items, traditional Washington, big government items. Virtually every major item we find in the Federal Government’s budget every year, they can tell the difference between that, which this bill is, which the House bill is, and true focused job creation, economic stimulus. That is the difference. We ought to know this is a laundry list of spending.

The Vitter amendment would begin to try to change that. It would not be enough, but it would begin to make a dent in that by cutting $35 billion of spending. Some items are nothing particularly focused on job creation, economic development. That spending is in a number of different categories. I invite Members to look at all details of the amendment. It starts with $1 billion for Amtrak; $20 million for the removal of fish barriers. Let me clarify, small and medium-size fish barriers, in case one was wondering. What the heck is that, to begin with? I would venture to say 95 percent of the Senate has no idea, but we are going to throw $20 million at that issue. How many jobs will that save or create?

That is similar to some of the items in the bill as originally introduced: An enormous amount of money for Darby insurance; $400 million for the prevention of sexually transmitted diseases; $70 million still in the bill for supercomputing related to global climate change models. I am starting with what is the truly ridiculous and inane. From there we go to a lot of other items we can debate, which we may have to do, we may have to consider, but it is not stimulus. It is traditional Washington spending. How about, for the 2010 census? We just threw $210 million at the new census a few months ago. We are going to throw a billion dollars more. I don’t know if that is needed. I don’t know if that is a good idea. But I know with absolute certainty, as does everyone in this body, that is normal spending. That is a normal appropriations matter, not job creation, economic recovery, economic stimulus.

There are so many examples like that. FBI construction. I am a big supporter of the FBI. They may have capital needs. It is not economic stimulus. NIST construction. Most Americans don’t know what NIST is, the National Institute of Standards and Technology. Maybe they have capital needs. It is not significant job creation and economic stimulus. The Commerce headquarters, we are going to spend $394 million there under this bill. DHS, Department of Homeland Security, consolidation, reorganization, streamlining, saving. That is going to save money; right? Not exactly. $248 million to streamline and consolidate. USDA modernization, let’s modernize that Department.

Some of these may be good ideas. Some of this spending may be worthy. I don’t know, as I stand here today. But I absolutely know—and I daresay everybody in this body knows—it is not job creation. It is not economic stimulus. It is pent-up Washington demand for government spending. Most of what I am talking about right here in our Nation’s capital, in the heart of the right. I don’t know what the Department training facility, that is another $75 million; State Department capital investment fund, $524 million. That is almost a billion dollars. How many jobs in the Department of State will that create? How much impact in terms of real people in the real world in mainstream America will that have in stimulating the economy? My answer is zero. That is the obvious answer on the face of it. America’s District of Columbia sewer system, $125 million. Are communities around the country getting the same treatment? No. The Economic Development Assistance Program, and another biggie, Amtrak. Almost a billion again, we deal with Amtrak in the normal appropriations process every year. We have an important debate about whether to continue to subsidize Amtrak. We need to have that debate. We need to get it right. I don’t know what the precisely right answer is, but I know it is a normal spending item. It is not job creation. It is not economic stimulus. It is just turning this bill into a whole other year of appropriations inserted somehow magical in 2009 and 2010.

NASA climate change studies, a cool half a billion dollars. It is nice to use round figures like half a billion—neighborhood stabilization, historic preservation, fish and wildlife resource construction, comparative research, the pandemic flu, the smart grid.

People might say: You are not worried about a pandemic flu and the threat that causes to our Nation? I am. That is a serious concern. We need to address it. We have debated it and begun to address it in the normal appropriations process. Maybe we need to do more; I do not know. But I do know one thing. That is average spending item, but they are all clearly not job creation and economic stimulus. Yet this bill is littered line after line after line with all of those items. Many are ridiculous. Some are obscene. Others are debatable as spending items, but they clearly not job creation and economic stimulus. So I hope this vote tonight on the Vitter amendment will be the beginning of fundamentally changing this bill so it is no longer simply a laundry list of traditional Washington, big government spending items.

Again, the American people get it. No. 1, they know a trillion dollars is a terrible thing to waste. And No. 2, they know this bill, as it stands now, just like the House bill, is simply a laundry list of spending items, traditional Washington, big government spending, pent-up demand for spending here in the Nation’s Capital. It has been built up and spent for several years. It is not focused, disciplined, economic stimulus, or job creation.

There is a big difference between the two, and the American people, with their common sense, can spot that difference a mile away; and they have because they have been making their voices heard. Scientific polls, several polls—not one here, not one there—several across the board say that a plurality of the American people now say they hate this bill. This bill should be changed at its core, not at the margins but at its core, or it should be stopped, and we should start over. That is what we need to do.

The speaker immediately before me, the distinguished junior Senator from Missouri, said that not acting, doing nothing, is not an option. She said that with great passion and great focus. I agree. I am a little puzzled about how animated she was about that because I don’t know anyone, at least in this body, who thinks that is an option. The choice being laid out that it is this bill even after the amendments or nothing is a superficial, false choice. Nobody thinks it is this bill even after amendments or nothing.

We have to act. But this is not the universe of possibilities. We need to change this bill at its core or, if we cannot, we need to say no. We will stay on the subject. We will focus on the economic money for Darby insurance; we will act with real focus and speed. But it is not worth saying yes to a bad bill, particularly at the cost of nearly a trillion dollars.

So I urge all of my colleagues, Republicans and Democrats, to begin that bipartisan path forward toward making this a fundamentally different and worthy bill, and beginning that by adopting the Vitter amendment tonight.

With that, Mr. President, I yield back my time.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. TESTER). The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk pro- ceded to call the roll.

Mr. VITTER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Under the previous order, there will now be 15 minutes of debate equally divided prior to a vote in relation to amendment No. 179 offered by the Senator from Louisiana, Mr. VITTER.
The Senator from Louisiana is recognized.

Mr. VITTER. Mr. President, I would urge all of my colleagues to support this amendment. This would be an important start—not a finish but a start—to trimming down this bill and trimming out spending items out of the bill which are not job creation and economic stimulus. The whole savings would be about $35 billion of spending in the bill. That is obviously outlined and delineated in the amendment. In addition, it would omit the Davis-Bacon language which would cost the Government in terms of increased costs of projects another $17 billion.

The American people know the difference between a long laundry list of traditional Washington big government spending items and true, focused job creation and economic development. They know this bill right now is the former, not the latter. Let’s begin to urge all of my colleagues to support the amendment. Mr. REID. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Who yields time?

Mr. VITTER. Mr. President, if there are no other speakers, I ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The following Senator is recognized.

Mr. DURBIN. I announce that the Senator from Massachussetts (Mr. KENNEDY) is necessarily absent.

Mr. KYL. The following Senator is necessarily absent: the Senator from New Hampshire (Mr. GREGG).

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any other Senators in the Chamber desiring to vote?

The result was announced—yeas 32, nays 65, as follows:

AMENDMENT NO. 166

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, there will now be 2 minutes of debate equally divided prior to a vote in relation to amendment No.—the amendment Senator from Montana is recognized.

Mr. BAUCUS. We are now going to vote on the Isakson-Lieberman amendment, No. 106, the housing tax credit. I am prepared to accept the amendment.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The bill clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, I want to add my voice to that of our colleague from Georgia, Senator ISAKSON, in support of his amendment. This is an idea that is not inexpensive to do, but I think it may be the kind of confidence-building measure that is necessary to free our credit markets and begin to get the housing issue moving again. It is not the only answer. I think it is a critical component and element in achieving the results we all desire.

I think our colleague from Georgia came up with an idea worth our support. Therefore, I am going to be a cosponsor as chairman of the Banking Committee, and I urge my colleagues to support it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Georgia is recognized.

Mr. ISAKSON. Mr. President, I thank the chairman of the Banking Committee and other Members on both sides of the aisle who worked on this amendment. I am happy to accept his support.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on agreeing to the amendment.

The amendment (No. 106) was agreed to.

AMENDMENT NO. 237

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, next is the Cardin amendment, No. 237. I understand the chairman and ranking member of the Small Business Committee agree to this. I don’t see the chairman. I see Senator CARDIN on the Senate floor. I urge him to speak to the amendment. Otherwise, I am prepared to accept the amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Maryland is recognized.

Mr. CARDIN. Mr. President, I thank the amendment. This amendment will make it easier for small businesses to be able to get surety bonds in order to participate in these contracts with Government. It has the support of the chairman and ranking member of the Small Business Committee. I am prepared to accept a voice vote.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there further debate? If not, the question is on agreeing to the amendment.

The amendment (No. 237) was agreed to.

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote.

Mr. LEAHY. I move to lay that motion on the table.

The motion to lay on the table was agreed to.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Ms. CANTWELL). The Senator from Montana.
The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be in order.

Mr. THUNE. Madam President, what my amendment very simply says is that any of the funding in this bill that was not authorized as of February 1 of this year could not be funded under the bill. The point very simply is that, in order for a stimulus to be effective, it has to be timely, it has to be targeted, it has to be temporary. Funding in this way or programs in that are created that are new programs are going to be none of the above. It is going to take a long time, as we all know, to get regulations in place and create the bureaucracies. All these programs that are new programs included in this legislation are going to take a very long time to implement and, therefore, I do not believe ought to be considered stimulus and they ought not be funded as a part of this stimulus bill.

My amendment simply says any program that was not authorized as of February 1 of this year will not be funded under the stimulus bill. It is a way of trimming the cost of this bill back and doing something that actually I think eliminates a lot of the extraneous spending that is included in the bill. I urge my colleagues to support it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of the Senator has expired. The Senator from Hawaii is recognized.

Mr. INOUYE. Madam President, I rise in opposition to this amendment. This amendment says any item, unless the project was authorized prior to February 1 of this year, would be thrown out. No authorization bills have passed this Senate so far this year, so many worthwhile items might not meet the terms. In addition, there are new programs which were authorized but not before February 1, such as the $9.5 billion for energy loan guarantees, $3.2 billion for western area power, $5.5 billion for competitive grants. These are dead.

I urge all of you, keep in mind that this is not an easy amendment. This is a tricky one. I vote no.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. All time has expired. The question is on agreeing to the amendment.

Mr. THUNE. I ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The yeas and nays resulted—yeas 36, nays 61, as follows:

NOT VOTING—2

Gregg

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, there will now be 2 minutes of debate equally divided prior to the vote on amendment No. 159 offered by the Senator from Florida, Mr. Martinez.

Mr. MARTINEZ. Madam President, the housing crisis got us into this problem we are in today which necessitates the need for a stimulus bill. Until we deal with housing problems, we are not going to be out of this problem.

My proposal creates a situation where, for 3 years, it compensates private servicers of mortgages so they can be incentivized to work out mortgages for families who are in trouble, so that they might be able to stay in their homes and not be foreclosed.

This is a way to utilize the private sector, with some incentives from government money, to make sure we do not foreclose on more families.

Mr. Martinez. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of the Senator has expired. The Senator from Florida is recognized.

Mr. Martinez. Madam President, we are in a situation where, for 3 years, it compensates private servicers of mortgages so they can be incentivized to work out mortgages for families who are in trouble, so that they might be able to stay in their homes and not be foreclosed.

Mr. Martinez. This is a way to utilize the private sector, with some incentives from government money, to make sure we do not foreclose on more families. Two things will be accomplished. It also provides a safe harbor for the servicers, so that they are beyond legal liability for anything they might do in those workarounds.

At the end of the day, what will we do is stabilize home prices by freezing foreclosures. Not only will we be helping families, but we will also be trying to put a floor on the housing economy, on housing prices, which continue to decline. This will stabilize housing prices, it will avoid future foreclosures, and it will begin to turn us around and create the kind of housing economy we need in order for the American economy to come back.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Connecticut is recognized.
Mr. DODD. Madam President, first, I want to commend my colleague from Florida. This is a well-intended proposal. Here is the one problem with it that I tell my colleague: It breaks contracts. There is a constitutional issue here, and we could sue to pay the servicer where the legal liability was determined. That poses some real problems.

The other part of the amendment I totally agree with. In fact, we have to try to cover it. In fact, we established a safe harbor, my colleague will recall, in the bill we did together, and also trying to figure out a way to deal with this.

But I am nervous. There is $1.7 billion dollars in the amendment. No one can say with any certainty whether that would be an adequate amount to cover the government costs were these determined to be liabilities of the government. So I am uneasy about establishing a new bureaucracy here, and also the constitutional question of breaking these contracts which raises some very serious issues.

But what I recommend to my colleague is, we have got an amendment coming up in a little while, maybe tomorrow, where we can work together to try to accommodate this to deal with exactly what he is talking about. But I have a very difficult time accepting this for the reasons I have described.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on agreeing to the amendment.

Mr. KYL. I ask for the yeas and nays. The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second? At this moment there is not a sufficient second.

AMENDMENT NO. 278 WITHDRAWN

Mr. MARTINEZ. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent to withdraw the amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, the amendment is withdrawn.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment is withdrawn.

Under the previous order, there will now be 2 minutes of debate equally divided on the McCain amendment No. 278.

The Senator from Arizona is recognized.

Mr. MCCAIN. Madam President, every dollar of the $1.2 trillion we are contemplating spending with this legislation would add to the national debt. The national debt has already climbed to more than $10.2 trillion. This amount does not include any of the funding provided in the legislation we are considering. After achieving economic growth for two quarters, then, according to this legislation, the President shall submit in his first budget, after the restoration of economic growth, fixed deficit targets that would achieve a balanced budget not later than 5 years from that date.

The discretionary spending caps are restored in the first fiscal year after the restoration of economic growth for 5 fiscal years at a level equal to the budget baseline, excluding any and all portions of the Economic Recovery and Reinvestment Act. Basically, this legislation calls for, as soon as there are two quarters of GDP growth after inflation, that we embark on an effort to balance the budget. We are mortgaging our children’s future.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from North Dakota is recognized.

Mr. CONRAD. Madam President, I strongly share the desire of the Senator from Arizona to put the budget back on track, and put it on a path to balance. But I do not think this proposal has received the consideration it deserves. It has not had a hearing before the Budget Committee, yet includes a proposal to create deficit targets that were badly damaged during the Gramm-Rudman era, and turned out to actually cover for additional deficits. So I think that would be a profound mistake. We need a process that works. It deserves the consideration of the President and the Budget Committee.

I strongly urge my colleagues to oppose this amendment at this time. I raise a point of order that this amendment violates section 306 of the Congressional Budget Act.

Mr. MCCAIN. Madam President, I move to waive the applicable portions of the Budget Act, and I ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second?

There is a sufficient second.

The question is on agreeing to the amendment.

The yeas and nays have been ordered. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk called the roll.

Mr. DURBIN. I announce that the Senator from Massachusetts (Mr. KENNEDY) is necessarily absent.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from New Hampshire (Mr. GREGG). Are there any other Senators in the Chamber desiring to vote?

The yeas and nays resulted—yeas 44, nays 53, as follows:

The Senator from Montana.

AMENDMENT NO. 161

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, it is my understanding the next amendment is Bond amendment No. 161. I have checked with our side. Our side is willing to accept this amendment. I understand it is also acceptable by the other side, but I will let Senator Bond speak to that.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Missouri.

Mr. BOND. Mr. President, I have to do a couple things, and I just want to tell you, thanks so much for agreeing to support this bipartisan amendment cosponsored by my partner on the Transportation and Housing and Urban Development Subcommittee, Senator MURRAY, and Senator DODD, Senator REED of Rhode Island, and Senator KOHL.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senators VOINOVICH and BROWNBACK be added as cosponsors to this amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. BOND. Some people are a little confused. In 30 seconds—at 50 seconds maybe—let me tell you, this is $2 billion in direct equity that goes to State housing finance programs to produce affordable housing. The funds come from the home mortgages in the bill. The funds go to shovel-ready projects that have already been approved by State credit agencies. Why can’t they go forward? Because of the credit crisis and the crunch, the tax credits are no longer worth what they used to be worth. This amendment allows to fill the hole. It makes the projects viable. There will be tens of thousands of new units and tens of thousands of new jobs.

I appreciate very much my colleagues on the other side.

I yield to my colleague from Washington.

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, we are ready to vote.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on agreeing to the Bond amendment.
The amendment (No. 161) was agreed to.

AMENDMENT NO. 362

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, there will be now 2 minutes of debate equally divided prior to a vote on amendment No. 362, offered by the Senator from Oklahoma.

The Senator from Oklahoma.

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senators Martinez, Chambliss, Roberts, Brownack, and Bunning be added as cosponsors to the amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. President, there has been a lot of discussion and complaints about there not being enough funds in terms of infrastructure—roads and buildings and all that. Actually, it is under 4 percent in this bill. We have talked about that. What we have not talked about is the need for military procurement.

In a Washington Post article, Martin Feldstein talked about the fact that infrastructure spending on domestic military bases and procurement is one of the things we could do that would be very helpful, citing there are 655,000 employees in the aerospace industry alone.

Now, what I am trying to do with this amendment is to increase procurement by $5.3 billion. It is offset. So you have a decision: Do you want to spend $20 million for fish passage barrier removal, $34 million to renovate the Department of Commerce, or have a strong national defense? Do you want to spend $13 million to research volunteer activities or have a strong national defense?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator’s time has expired.

Mr. INHOFE. I urge adoption of my amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Missouri.

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, this amendment adds $5.2 billion for defense. It pays for it by cutting a long list of programs out of the bill: energy-efficient motor vehicle fleet—that is one I am not here—grants for the National Passenger Rail Corporation, among others.

On behalf of Senator INOUYE, I make a point of order that the pending amendment violates section 302(c) of the Budget Act.

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. President, I move to waive the applicable portion of the Budget Act and ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second?

There appears to be a sufficient second.

NOT VOTING—2

Gregg, Kennedy

The PRESIDING OFFICER. On this vote, the yeas are 38, the nays are 59. Three-fifths of the Senators duly chosen and sworn not having voted in the affirmative, the motion is rejected. The point of order is sustained, and the amendment falls.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, we have four more votes tonight, and then we will have no more votes tonight after those four.

What I wanted to talk about a little bit is tomorrow. We started on this bill Monday evening. Everyone has stood to give a speech on this—Democrat or Republican—has talked about the financial crisis our country is in. There are different ways of addressing it, and we understand that. I wanted to do everything I could to make sure there is an open process, and there has been. There have been no restrictions on amendments. There have been no complaints from us as to subject matter of amendments. However, the stark reality is we need to complete this bill.

We have stated and the Speaker has stated that we need to finish this bill before the Presidents Day recess. To do that, to jump through all the hurdles, is very difficult.

In my last conversation with the Republican leader, he indicated that he would like to go to conference. I am not holding him to that. Something could go wrong the next couple of days, tomorrow or Monday, but that is our intention. If we don’t go to conference, then we will do what we have done in the past: send something back over here. I would rather we did a conference. I think it would set a good tone. But conferences are sometimes slow and a little bit tedious. We have to get two different committees and maybe as many as three different committees to represent our own conference. We have to get everybody together and have a series of meetings.

To solve the financial crisis we have in our country is going to take a lot of cooperation. We know this bill is important. Democrats and Republicans acknowledge it is an imperfect piece of legislation.

Without belaboring the point, we are going to have votes again tomorrow. Now, my colleagues will note that in the vast majority of the votes we have had have been Republican amendments. That is fine. We are happy with that. We want to make sure that people with concerns about this bill offer those amendments, so that now we are at a point where we are offering amendments upon amendments.

I understand there are two big amendments I know the Republicans have tomorrow. One of them is the Enzi-McConnell amendment dealing with housing. I understand my friend—the man I have been with now going on 27 years; we came to Washington together—JOHN MCCAIN has an important amendment. There are probably other amendments. Democrats everybody thinks are important. I would at least note those two.

I hope we can look to finishing this legislation tomorrow. That doesn’t mean 5 o’clock or 6 o’clock tomorrow in the evening—and that is an understatement—but I think we should work to see if we can complete this legislation.

I know we are getting toward the end of amendments being offered because I have been told by my area that now we are getting into amendments dealing with religious liberty and other things that don’t have a lot to do, in my opinion, with this legislation, but we are setting no restriction or parameters on what amendments documents that the President has a piece of legislation on his desk and so we can leave and do our Presidents Day recess.

Now, we don’t have to take our recess, but we have responsibilities that are not less than in Washington, DC. We have a constituency at home to whom we also have responsibilities. I doubt there is one of us who doesn’t have a lot to do, in my opinion, with this legislation, but we are setting no restriction or parameters on what amendments documents that the President has a piece of legislation on his desk and so we can leave and do our Presidents Day recess.

So in light of the crisis facing the American people, there is no reason the American people shouldn’t expect us to take action. People need more time, and I am a patient man. Now, we understand—we will see 60 votes. We are happy to have this legislation. We hope we see 60 votes. We don’t have to go through cloture, but a cloture vote may be on Saturday or Sunday and 30 hours and all that stuff.

I just think the picture the people have here is that the Senate is one where we have really tried these first few weeks, including the time during this legislation, to have the Senate work as it used to. I hope everyone feels—as we start getting the House amendments dealing with matters I don’t think I can conform with what the intention of this bill is, which is economic recovery—that we should be worried about people not having the opportunity to offer amendments. I think we have offered a number of amendments on housing. You name the subject, we have done multiple amendments. I am a patient person, as I have indicated, willing to work with everyone, but my goal is to get this legislation over to the House as soon as we can.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Republican leader is recognized.

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, let me just say I think the amendment process has been well handled. We had a lot of amendments to offer today, and they are in the process of being voted on. We have a lot more amendments to offer tomorrow, and then I think we can discuss sometime during the day tomorrow exactly what the endgame might be on this legislation.

I am pleased, and my Members are pleased, I would say to the majority leader, with the way it has been handled to this point, and sometime tomorrow we will discuss how we move forward and conclusion.

I yield the floor.

AMENDMENT NO. 277
The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, there will now be 2 minutes of debate equally divided prior to a vote in relation to amendment No. 277 offered by the Senator from Texas, Mr. CORNYN.

The Senator from Texas is recognized.

Mr. CORNYN. Mr. President, my amendment reduces the 10-percent marginal income tax bracket to 5 percent—5 percent to 5 percent—in 2009 and 2010. Currently, the 10-percent tax bracket that was created in 2001 by the Economic Growth and Tax Relief Reconciliation Act applies to the first roughly $35,000 of income that a single taxpayer earns and $66,000 for a joint tax return. My amendment provides broad-based relief to more than 105 million tax-payers, including every hard-working American with an income tax liability.

My amendment does not add to the bill’s total. Instead, my amendment is paid for by striking the refundable making work pay credit which picks winners and losers by providing relief to only a select group of taxpayers. It also, I might say, repeals a mistake we made last year, or earlier—I guess last year, last January—when we spent $150 billion of our children’s and grandchildren’s money to try to stimulate the economy, and everybody agrees it did not work.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator’s time has expired.

Mr. CORNYN. I ask my colleagues to support the amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Montana is recognized.

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, the amendment is very simple. Let me explain the consequence of the amendment.

Those who pay income taxes will get a tax reduction. Those who work but do not pay income taxes—they pay payroll taxes—will not get any benefit from this amendment. That is the portion that is cut out. That is about 50 million Americans. So this amendment would give a tax cut to those who pay income taxes—a modest amount—and to pay for it, it disenfranchises those 49 million, 50 million Americans who will get a tax break under this bill because they work; that is, they pay payroll tax. Those who work but who are not wealthy will spend the money more than people who are wealthier and get a tax cut. So I suggest very strongly that we do not support this amendment.

I raise a point of order that the pending amendment violates section 201 of S. Con. Res. 21.

Mr. CORNYN. Mr. President, I move to waive the applicable portion of the budget Act and ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a point of order?

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, this amendment effectively undoes part of the agreement that was agreed to in 1993. This increase taxes seniors above certain income levels on 85 percent of their Social Security taxable income. We should not be in the business of taxing Social Security benefits. It is unfair, and it is punitive.

CRS estimates that at least 12 million seniors pay this tax. This amendment holds the Medicare trust fund harmless. Joint Tax says the amendment scores at $14.4 billion, so I reduce discretionary spending in the bill, except spending for veterans, by the necessary amount.

Now is the time to fix this problem at least for 1 year. I urge support of the amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, there now will be 2 minutes of debate equally divided prior to a vote on amendment No. 242 offered by the Senator from Kentucky, Mr. BUNNING.

The Senator from Kentucky is recognized.

Mr. BUNNING. Mr. President, my amendment is simple. It suspends for at least for 1 year. I urge support of the amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, there now will be 2 minutes of debate equally divided prior to a vote on amendment No. 242 offered by the Senator from Kentucky, Mr. BUNNING.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. WARNER). The Senator from Montana.

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, this amendment effectively undoes part of the budget agreement that was agreed to in 1993. We effectively balanced the budget and ended up with a $10 billion, $11 trillion surplus. The fact is, the amendment reduces taxes only on the top 24 percent, the highest income-earning seniors. Twenty-four percent of the most wealthy—seniors—that is highest income—will get a break in taxes. Other seniors will not. The other 76 percent will get no break.

The Senator from Kentucky pays for it by reducing parts of the bill, which cannot be justified. This is the road, this is energy, and so forth. Frankly, I don’t think that is a wise course of action to take.
Accordingly, I raise a point of order that the pending amendment violates section 201 of Senate Concurrent Resolution 21.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Kentucky.

Mr. BUNNING. Mr. President, I move to waive the applicable portion of the Budget Act.

I ask for the yeas and nays.

AMENDMENT NO. 300 TO AMENDMENT NO. 98

Mr. BAUCUS. The next amendment is the Dorgan amendment, No. 300, which we are prepared to take.

Mr. DORAN. Mr. President, I ask we consider amendment No. 300.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the amendment.

The bill clerk reported as follows:

The Senator from North Dakota [Mr. DORGAN] for himself, Mr. BAUCUS and Mr. BROWN, proposes an amendment numbered 300 to amendment No. 98.

Mr. DORGAN. I ask unanimous consent that the reading of the amendment be dispensed with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment is as follows:

(Purpose: To clarify that the Buy American provisions shall be applied in a manner consistent with United States obligations under international agreements.)

On page 430, strike lines 7 through 12 and insert the following:

(d) This section shall be applied in a manner consistent with United States obligations under international agreements.

Mr. DORGAN. I offer this amendment on behalf of myself, Mr. BAUCUS, Mr. INOUYE, and Mr. BROWN. It simply says that the "Buy American" section shall be applied in a manner consistent with United States obligations under international agreements.

I yield the remainder of my time to Senator BROWN.

Mr. BROWN. I thank the Senator from North Dakota and thank Senators BAUCUS and INOUYE for their support.

Americans are willing to reach into their pockets and spend billions of dollars for infrastructure to build bridges and highways and water and sewer and put people back to work. All that Americans want is that we provide jobs in this country—jobs, construction jobs—and that what they use for this construction, the materials, are made in America. This is WTO compliant. It follows U.S. and international global trade rules. It is a commonsense amendment.

Some people say "protectionism," but how can you have an $800 billion trade deficit and call us protectionist? How can you have a $200 billion-a-day net outflow and say we are closing our borders? It makes sense to vote for the Dorgan amendment.

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, I ask for 1 minute to speak in opposition to the amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment (No. 300) was agreed to.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There is now 2 minutes equally divided prior to a vote in relation to the amendment offered by the Senator from Arizona.

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, nearly 80 years ago, two men—Mr. Smoot and Mr. Hawley—led an effort to enact protectionist legislation in hopes of curing the woes of the American worker. Despite the strong objection of over a thousand leading economists of the time, the Smoot-Hawley legislation was enacted. This bill helped spark an international trade war that turned a severe recession into the greatest economic depression in modern history.

The Buy American provision in the current bill has echoes of the disastrous Smoot-Hawley tariff act. It prohibits the use of funds in this bill for projects unless all of the iron, steel, and manufactured goods used in the project are produced in the United States. These anti-trade measures may sound welcome to Americans who are hurting in the midst of our economic troubles and facing the specter of layoffs. Yet shortsighted protectionist measures like Buy American risk greatly exacerbating our current economic woes. Already, one economist at the Peterson Institute for International Economics has calculated that the Buy American provisions in this bill will actually cost the United States more jobs than it will generate.

Some of our largest trading partners, including Canada and the European Union—who account for hundreds of billions of dollars in annual trade—have warned that such a move could invite protectionist retaliation, further harming our ability to generate jobs and economic growth. And it seems... clear that this provision violates our obligations under more than one international agreement, including the WTO Agreement on Government Procurement and the procurement chapter of the North American Free Trade Agreement.

Just last November in Washington, the U.S. signed a joint declaration with members of the G-20 pledging that “within the next 12 months, we will refrain from raising new barriers to investment or to trade in goods and services.” Yet barely 2 months later, we are contemplating whether or not to go back on a commitment to some of our closest allies and trading partners, potentially damaging our credibility to uphold future agreements.

Even President Obama himself spoke out against the Buy American provision. “I think that would be a mistake right now,” he said yesterday. “That is a potential source of trade wars that we can’t afford at a time when trade is sinking all across the globe.”

We know the lessons of history, and we cannot fall prey to the failed policies of the past. We should not sit idly by while some seek to pursue a path of economic isolation, a course that could lead to disaster. It didn’t work in the 1930s and it certainly won’t work today. I hope all senators will support this amendment, which would strike the existing Buy American provision and replace it with a limitation on Buy American clauses in this bill.

As the President of the United States said it would be a mistake right now. It sends a message to the world that the United States is going back to protectionism.

I ask unanimous consent the comments of literally every leader in the world, including the Canadian leader, the European leader, and over 100 major industries in the United States of America in opposition to this amendment and an op-ed article by Douglas Irwin be printed in the Record at this time.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the Record, as follows:

LETTERS FROM WORLD LEADERS

U.S.

Canada

Ambassador Michel Wilson: “We are concerned about contagion, that is, other countries also following protectionist policies. If Buy America becomes part of the stimulus legislation, the United States will lose the moral authority to pressure others not to introduce protectionist policies. A rush of protectionist actions could create a downward spiral like the world experienced in the 1930s.”

EUROPEAN UNION

Ambassador John Bruton: “The United States and the European Union should take the lead in keeping the commitments not to introduce protectionist measures taken by the G20 in November 2008. Failing this risks entering into a spiral of protectionist measures across the globe that can only hurt our economies further.”

U.S. INDUSTRY

Over 100 signatories: “Enacting expansive new Buy American restrictions would invite our international partners to exclude American goods and services from hundreds of billions of dollars of opportunities in their stimulus packages and perhaps to adopt Buy Local rules for other barriers. Anti-American policies more broadly across their economies. The resulting damage to our export markets and the millions of high-paying American jobs they support would be enormous.”

QUOTES FROM WORLD LEADERS

U.K.

Prime Minister Gordon Brown: “The biggest danger the world faces is a retreat into protectionism.”

U.S.

President Barack Obama: It would be a mistake when worldwide trade is declining for the United States “to start sending a message that somehow we’re just looking after ourselves and not concerned with world trade.”

REPORT ON ‘BUY AMERICAN’

EU spokesman Peter Power stated that “if a bill is passed which prohibits the sale or purchase of European goods on American territory, [the European Union] will not stand idly by and ignore.” Buy American provisions would particularly damage US reputation abroad since they would come just a few months after the United States Adhered to project protectionism at the G-20 summit on November 15, 2008.

In a country of 400 million workers, with millions of new jobs to be created by the stimulus package, the number of employees affected by the Buy American provision is a rounding error.

General Electric (GE) Senior Counsel Karan Bhatia: “You would be creating an ample basis for countries to close their markets to U.S. products.”

Bill Lane—Caterpillar, Inc. Director of Governmental Affairs: “...The so-called Buy America amendment is really an anti-export provision.” “At Caterpillar we are doing everything we can to export American-made products to the numerous infrastructure projects being proposed around the world, particularly those in China. Embracing new Buy American policies would totally undermine those efforts to increase U.S. exports.”

Fred Smith—Chairman of FedEx: “...if the Congress passes the buy-American provision, we can assure you—and we operate in 220-some odd countries around the world and are a huge part of the import-export infrastructure of the United States—we will get retaliation, and it will be American jobs at risk.”

If We Buy American, No One Else Will

(by Douglas A. Irwin)

Hanover, N.H.—World trade is collapsing. The United States trade deficit dropped sharply in November as imports from the rest of the world plummeted in response to the financial crisis and recession. The United States imports from China, Japan and elsewhere declined at double digit rates. The last thing the world economy needs is a global downward sloping trade. Unfortunately, we may be doing just that.

Steel industry lobbyists seem to have persuaded the House to stop the “Buy American” provision in the stimulus bill it passed last week. This provision requires that preference be given to domestic steel producers in federal procurement. Steel producers in the United States and the Senate may broaden such provisions to include many other products.
That might sound reasonable, but history has shown that Buy American provisions can raise the cost and diminish the effect of a spending package. In rebuilding the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge in the 1960s, the California transit authority complied with state rules mandating the use of domestic steel unless it was at least 25 percent more expensive than imported steel. A domestic bid came in at 23 percent above the foreign bid, and so the more expensive American steel had to be used. Because of the large amount of steel used in the project, California taxpayers had to pay a whopping $400 million more for the bridge. While this is a windfall for a lucky steel company, steel producers—because they fear it will hurt their ability to win contracts abroad—weren’t really happy either. In the United States to block imports and favor domestic producers, other countries are watching closely to see if America will be at a competitive disadvantage in bidding for those contracts.

Remember the golden rule, or the consequences could be severe. When the United States imposed the Smoot-Hawley Tariff in 1930, it helped set off a worldwide movement toward higher tariffs. When everyone tried to restrict imports, the combined effect was a windfall for a lucky steel company, steel producers—because they fear it will hurt their ability to win contracts abroad—weren’t really happy either.

Mr. MCCAIN. I ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time the Senator has expired. The question is on agreeing to the amendment.

Mr. MCCAIN. I ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second? There appears to be a sufficient second. The clerk will call the roll.

The bill clerk called the roll. Mr. DURBIN. I announce that the Senator from Massachusetts (Mr. KENNEDY) is necessarily absent.

Mr. KYL. The following Senators are necessarily absent: the Senator from New Hampshire (Mr. GREGG) and the Senator from Ohio (Mr. VOINOVICH).

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any other Senators in the Chamber desiring to vote?

The result was announced—yeas 31, nays 65, as follows:

The amendment (No. 279) was rejected.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Montana is recognized.

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, on behalf of Senator LANDRIEU, I ask unanimous consent that the pending amendments be temporarily set aside, and Senator LANDRIEU’s amendment No. 102 be called up and agreed to, and that the motion to reconsider be temporarily laid on the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, I have checked with Senator COCHRAN.

Mr. ENNS. Mr. President, reserving the right to object, while we are waiting, may I lay down my amendment?

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, on the Landrieu amendment, I withdraw my request.

(4) TARP RECIPIENT.—The term ‘‘TARP recipient’’ means any entity that has received or will receive financial assistance under the financial assistance provided under the TARP.

(5) SECRETARY.—The term ‘‘Secretary’’ means the Secretary of the Treasury.

(6) COMMISSION.—The term ‘‘Commission’’ means the Securities and Exchange Commission.

SEC. 6002. EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION AND CORPORATE GOVERNANCE.

(a) IN GENERAL.—During the period in which any obligation arising from financial assistance provided under the TARP remains outstanding, each TARP recipient shall be subject to—

(1) the standards established by the Secretary under this title; and
(2) the provisions of section 162(m)(5) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as applicable.

(b) STANDARDS REQUIRED.—The Secretary shall require each TARP recipient to meet appropriate standards for executive compensation and corporate governance.

(c) STANDARDS.—The standards established under subsection (b) shall include—

(1) limits on compensation that exclude incentives for senior executive officers of the TARP recipient to take unnecessary and excessive risks that threaten the value of such recipient during the period that any obligation arising from TARP assistance is outstanding;
(2) a provision for the recovery of the TARP recipient of any bonus, retention award, or incentive compensation paid to a senior executive officer and any of the next 20 most highly-compensated employees of the TARP recipient based on statements of earnings, determinations, or other criteria that are later found to be materially inaccurate;
(3) a prohibition on such TARP recipient making any golden parachute payment to a senior executive officer or any of the next 5 most highly-compensated employees of the TARP recipient during the period that any obligation arising from TARP assistance is outstanding;
(4) a prohibition on such TARP recipient paying or accruing any bonus, retention award, or incentive compensation paid to a senior executive officer and any of the next 25 most highly-compensated employees, or such higher number as the Secretary in the public interest with respect to any TARP recipient;
(5) a prohibition on any compensation plan that would encourage manipulation of the reported earnings of such TARP recipient to enhance the compensation of any of its employees; and
(6) a requirement for the establishment of a Board Compensation Committee that meets the requirements of section 6003.

(d) CERTIFICATION OF COMPLIANCE.—The chief executive officer and chief financial officer (or the equivalents thereof) of each TARP recipient shall provide a written certification of compliance by the TARP recipient with the requirements of this title.

(1) in the case of a TARP recipient, the securities of which are publicly traded, to the Securities and Exchange Commission, together with any filings required under the securities laws; and
(2) in the case of a TARP recipient that is not a publicly traded company, to the Secretary.

SEC. 6003. BOARD COMPENSATION COMMITTEE.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT OF BOARD REQUIRED.—Each TARP recipient shall establish a Board Compensation Committee, comprised entirely of independent directors, for the purpose of reviewing employee compensation plans.

(b) MEETINGS.—The Board Compensation Committee of each TARP recipient shall meet at least semiannually to discuss and evaluate employee compensation plans in light of any documentation posed to the TARP recipient from such plans.

SEC. 6004. LIMITATION ON LUXURY EXPENDITURES.

(a) POLICY REQUIRED.—The board of directors of any TARP recipient shall have in place a company-wide policy regarding excessive or luxury expenditures, as identified by the Secretary, which may include excessive expenditures on—

(1) entertainment or events;
(2) office and facility renovations;
(3) aviation or other transportation services; or
(4) other activities or events that are not reasonable expenditures for conferences, staff development, reasonable performance incentives, or other similar measures conducted in the normal course of the business operations of the TARP recipient.

(b) POLICY FOR TARP RECIPIENT.—The term ‘‘TARP recipient’’ means a financial institution receiving financial assistance provided under the Emergency Economic Stabilization Act of 2008.

SEC. 6005. SHAREHOLDER APPROVAL OF EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION.

(a) ANNUAL SHAREHOLDER APPROVAL OF EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION.—Any proxy or consent form for any meeting of the shareholders of any TARP recipient during the period in which any obligation arising from financial assistance provided under the TARP remains outstanding shall permit a separate shareholder vote to approve the compensation of executives, as disclosed pursuant to the compensation discussion and analysis which disclosure shall include the compensation discussion and analysis, the compensation tables, and any related material.

(b) NON-EXECUTING VOTES.—A shareholder vote described in subsection (a) shall not be binding on the board of directors of a TARP recipient, and may not be construed as overruling a decision by such board, nor to create or imply any additional fiduciary duty by such board, nor shall such vote be construed to restrict or limit the ability of shareholders to maintain their inclusion in proxy materials related to executive compensation.

(c) DISCLOSURE FOR RULEMAKING.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Commission shall issue any final rules and regulations required by this section.

SEC. 6006. REVIEW OF PRIOR PAYMENTS TO Executives.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall review bonuses, retention awards, and other compensation paid to employees of each entity receiving TARP assistance before the date of enactment of this Act to determine whether any such payments were excessive, inconsistent with the purposes of the act or the TARP or otherwise contrary to the public interest.

(b) DISCLOSURE FOR RULEMAKING.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Commission shall review bonuses, retention awards, and other compensation paid to employees of each entity receiving TARP assistance before the date of enactment of this Act to determine whether any such payments were excessive, inconsistent with the purposes of the act or the TARP or otherwise contrary to the public interest.

(c) DISCLOSURE FOR RULEMAKING.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Commission shall issue any final rules and regulations required by this section.

SEC. 6007. REVIEW OF PRIOR PAYMENTS TO Executives.

(a) ANNUAL SHAREHOLDER APPROVAL OF EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION.—Any proxy or consent form for any meeting of the shareholders of any TARP recipient during the period in which any obligation arising from financial assistance provided under the TARP remains outstanding shall permit a separate shareholder vote to approve the compensation of executives, as disclosed pursuant to the compensation discussion and analysis which disclosure shall include the compensation discussion and analysis, the compensation tables, and any related material.

(b) POLICY.—A policy for the TARP recipient to include on annual proxy statement a ‘‘say on pay’’ proposal or advisory shareholder vote on the company’s executive cash compensation program.

(c) DISCLOSURE FOR RULEMAKING.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Commission shall issue any final rules and regulations required by this section.
The bill clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BAUCUS. I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Senator from Wyoming.

Mr. BARRASSO. Mr. President, the bill we are looking at today represents a massive Federal investment. It will provide Federal funds for a host of activities at State and local levels. This would be a new experience for many of our States.

The requirements set forth for Federal involvement have caused some State and local officials to take pause. But in the West, where we have already learned the lessons of Federal involvement, in my State of Wyoming, we deal with the Federal Government in the day-to-day operations of our land, of our businesses and of our communities. More than 45 percent of the land in Wyoming is federally owned. The Federal Government has introduced major predators into our landscape. The Federal Government manages the irrigation and grazing for agriculture production. We depend on Federal managers to access Federal lands for hunting and fishing. Living with this heavy Federal involvement in Wyoming, we struggle every day to cut the red tape and get work done. I urge the Members of the Senate to seriously consider the experience of the people of Wyoming.

We in Congress need to face the realities of our Federal system. Bureaucratic delays impact everyday life in Wyoming. Unless we seriously consider legislative alternatives, delays will affect many of the projects proposed for funding through this piece of legislation we are considering. The vast majority of projects proposed for this funding are subject to environmental laws. These laws provide for measured, thoughtful decision-making. They allow public involvement in our Government, and every bridge in this legislation. If projects are truly shovel ready, we should make it clear that NEPA compliance may create significant delays. We must be honest with ourselves and with our constituents. These same political delays that the Federal Government puts on transactions involving Indian lands. Almost every proposal to lease or develop the surface minerals, timber, water, and other resources located on Indian land is subject to approval by the Bureau of Indian Affairs. However, the current process that officials’ decision cannot be made until the NEPA review and documentation requirements have been fulfilled. The lengthy paperwork must be completed regardless of what the Indian tribe or the landowner wants and regardless of the tribe or the landowner’s participation in negotiating the transaction. Those review and documentation requirements take time, even when the process goes smoothly. If the House is called for its vote on the NEPA review, the process can be dragged on for many months or even years. The challenge of complying with NEPA has its own impacts on the human environment in the case of Indian lands. It makes Indian lands less attractive to prospective investors and developers, and it can lead to substantial delays and considerable uncertainty. I am not saying that NEPA has no benefits and that it is all bad. But as we consider this stimulus bill, we in Congress must be honest with ourselves. We must face the fact that NEPA compliance may create significant delays in the spending contemplated by this bill. That should not happen. We should make it clear that NEPA will not be available as a mechanism to block or substantially delay a project authorized by this legislation.

With that in mind, I hope Members of the Senate will support this amendment. We know in Wyoming that delay and red tape are part of every Federal project. If Washington is serious about implementing massive Federal investment in local communities, we must... ask ourselves the same questions being asked by our constituents: How do we make the process effective? How do we harness the most resources in the least amount of time? How can we best serve the people?

If you consider the on-the-ground realities of Federal projects, you see the necessity of this amendment. We need to put an end to bureaucratic delays. We must allow our communities to move forward with projects in a reasonable timeframe. We should allow the private sector to make Federal decisions, but we should limit unending lawsuits and delays. These are improvements that will vastly improve the effectiveness of Federal funding and allow truly shovel-ready projects to proceed without delay.

I yield the floor.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Montana.

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, at this point, I appreciate that the Senator from Wisconsin has an amendment. I wondered if perhaps he could hold off and offer his amendment tomorrow and work out with Senator BOXER the appropriate accommodations for both Senators. That would be my hope. In the meantime, Mr. HARKIN has an amendment he would like to offer.

Mr. BARRASSO. Mr. President, I will work on that with Senator BOXER.

Mr. BAUCUS. I thank the Senator for his accommodation.

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, I thank Senator BARRASSO. I didn’t know about the Senator. As he knows, he is waiving the National Environment Act as it pertains to these projects. I will be glad to work with him to figure out a way to do a side-by-side, however he wants to deal with it, a second degree.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Iowa is recognized.

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the pending amendment be set aside, and I call up Amendment No. 338 and ask for its consideration.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there objection?

Mr. BARRASSO. I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

The Senator from Iowa.

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, I wish to talk about the amendment I will be calling on now. There is no doubt that the automobile industry is the heart and soul of America’s manufacturing sector. It is absolutely critical to a healthy and diversified, vibrant U.S. economy. Right now this essential industry is on life support, hemorrhaging jobs, slashing dealership, closing dealerships, and, in the case of GM and Chrysler, dependent on Federal loans to avoid bankruptcy. Chrysler announced a 50 percent decline in January sales compared to the same period last year. GM had a 49 percent decline in sales. Ford had a 39 percent decline. Toyota, with major plants in America, suffered a 22 percent decline in U.S. sales. These numbers are shocking, and people who think this is only an automakers’ problem just don’t get it.

The auto industry is not just a few assembly plants in Detroit. The Big Three and foreign automakers have plants in Alabama, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Nevada, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, and Wisconsin.

There are car dealerships and auto parts manufacturers in thousands of communities all across America. Directly or indirectly, the auto industry supports one in every 10 jobs in this country.

So let’s be very clear, we are not going to have a strong economic recovery in the United States without a strong recovery in the automobile industry. That is why it is important this economic stimulus bill provide a major boost to the auto industry. The question is, What is the best way to give a boost to the automakers? Is it giving them money at the top and letting them deal with it as they will? Well, that is like old trickle-down economics; all we have to do is to have the top and somehow it will all trickle down.

Some of us have a better idea, and I think a better approach. It is to put it in at the bottom and let it percolate up. Here is what I mean by that.

The auto industry needs nothing more than to be back on the job producing full time, producing high-quality cars, providing for their families, paying their taxes.

Now, I am offering this amendment which will give low- and modest-income consumers a $10,000 subsidy for the purchase of a new car that is assembled in America—a car or pickup truck assembled in America.

Now, here are the conditions that apply to this. First of all, the car you are bringing in has to be at least 10 years old. You have to have title for the car in your own possession prior to the date of the enactment of this bill. The new car you are purchasing has to get at least 5 miles per gallon more than the car you are bringing in. The new car must have a fuel economy rating of 25 miles per gallon or better, in the case of a pickup, 20 miles per gallon or better. And the old car you are bringing in has to be relinquished to the Government and be destroyed. This offer, this $10,000 subsidy, would be available only to individuals with incomes of $50,000 a year or less or couples with an income of $75,000 or less.

So let me run through that again. Here is the way it would work. If you have an income of less than $50,000—or for a couple less than $75,000—if you have a car that is at least 10 years old, and you have had title to that car since before the enactment of this bill—actually before the calendar year—you could take your W-2 form to show your income, take the title of the old car to show you have owned it, show how old the car is, and you can go to any auto dealer anywhere you want and buy a new car and the subsidy will be $10,000. You will get $10,000. All you have to do is relinquish your old car, and that car has to be destroyed.

Well, what would this amendment accomplish? First of all, it would bring a lot of customers back into the auto showrooms, and they will not just be looking, they will be buying. This will be a shot of adrenaline right into the bloodstream of the domestic auto industry. Secondly, it will accelerate the shift from older gas-guzzling vehicles to new high mileage cars. Third, and very important in these tough economic times, it will make it affordable for ordinary working Americans to buy a new car.

Think about it. Think about people who make less than $50,000 or a couple who make less than $75,000 a year. Chances are, they are the ones who have the old clunkers. They need it to go back and forth to work. If you live in a rural area, it is absolutely essential. These are the people who have these old cars, and they put repairs in them—a couple hundred here, a couple hundred there—because they can afford to do that, but they cannot afford to buy a new car. But it is a much different story if the Federal Government is going to give you $10,000 to buy that new car.

For example, let’s take this example: A basic 2009 Chevrolet Cobalt gets 34 miles per gallon on the highway. It has a manufacturer’s suggested retail price starting at $16,330. After the Federal subsidy—assuming you are under the income limits, and you have this 10-year-old car—you will be able to buy that car for $6,330.

Now, what is also important is that you will be able to get financing under this program. Because the lender, with a $10,000 reduction in price, will be offering a car loan for far less than the car’s worth after it leaves the lot.

We had a session today, and we heard Mr. Larry Summers. We all know who he is down at the White House. He said there are a lot of willing lenders out there, but they do not have worthy borrowers.

Well, now, if you are a person—a low-income, moderate-income person—and you are making $50,000 a year, and you need a new car—you have an old clunker, and you keep paying for repairs on it, but you wish to buy a new car—let’s say it costs you $20,000 to buy a new car—you can go to your local bank and try to get a loan for $15,000 or $18,000 for a $20,000 car, and you will not get it. You will not get it. But if you go to that bank to try to get a loan for a $20,000 car and $10,000 of it is a subsidy from the Government, and you are only borrowing $10,000 for that car, you will get the financing.

So that is another important thing this amendment will do. It will start opening channels of credit. Money will start to begin to flow through banks and other lending organizations—savings and loans, credit unions, institutions such as that—for people to buy a car.

This amendment will make it affordable for a modest-income American to buy a new car. Mr. President, if you have any questions about it, it would stimulate a surge in auto sales—not just the automakers, but a broad swath of the economy impacted by the auto industry. Think about all of the other things that go into these cars in almost every community in America.

The Federal Government has given General Motors and Chrysler a few months to come up with a plan to ensure their long-term viability as businesses while producing a greener mix of vehicles. But we have failed to address two big questions.

In the midst of a severe recession, how do you boost demand for cars assembled in America? How do we get rid of that surplus we have out there? Go to any auto lot in your State. There are new cars all over the place, and there is no one buying them. So we failed to address that. How do we boost demand? Secondly, how do we give consumers compelling incentives to purchase fuel-efficient cars, especially at a time when gas prices have fallen dramatically? I was in my home State of Iowa this week, and gas is $1.77 a gallon. I have not seen it that low for a long time.

So this amendment provides a realistic answer to both questions. It would boost demand incredibly. We estimate that for the $16 billion this amendment would provide, it would cover more than 1.5 million purchases of new fuel-efficient, domestically assembled cars. It would accelerate the transition of our U.S. vehicle fleet toward more fuel-efficient cars, and this would be a gain for our whole country, reducing the demand for gasoline, reducing the dependence on foreign oil, lowering the operating costs of these new cars.

It will do little good to extend loans to GM and Chrysler if consumer demand for new cars remains dead. Now, we had the Mikulski amendment earlier today—today or yesterday—and that will help a little bit. But it is a tax deduction for modest-income Americans. It probably will not mean that much, maybe $1,000, $1,500. It is better than nothing. But if you want to sell those new cars, give them $10,000, give $10,000 to the average American. Say: Go buy a car with these conditions.

We are very good around here at passing billions of dollars. What are we up to, $900 billion now on this bill? There is a lot of good stuff in this stimulus bill, and I support it. We are good at giving a lot of money to Wall Street and banks and GM and Chrysler at the top. We seem to be very good at giving a lot of money at the bottom. How about giving some money down at the bottom?

You want to talk about rebuilding confidence in America? Think what would happen to all these modest-income Americans who could now go out and get a new car. Think of all the old clunkers we would take off the road and destroy. That would rebuild confidence. As I mentioned, we would get our lending channels going. There would be $10,000 there for these cars. With lending institutions, my gosh, loaning $6,000 on a $16,000 car, that is not everyone breaking a sweat.

So it is going to do little good for us to demand that automakers shift production to fuel-efficient cars if consumers are unwilling to buy them or they cannot buy them because of the recession.

This amendment is designed to address these challenges, to stimulate demand for new fuel-efficient cars, accelerate the shift toward a more fuel-efficient fleet, and help working-class Americans. As I said, you only qualify as an individual if you make $50,000 a year, or if you are making $75,000 or less. Let's help working-class Americans. Now, people might say: Gee, that is a lot of money, $16 billion. But aren't we trying to stimulate the economy?

Again, in closing, I say, you are not going to get economic recovery until we address the automobile sector. That is the big driver in this country, no pun intended, of course. But that is what we have to address. We are not doing it. We are going to call down the field: loans to GM, loans to Chrysler; they come up with a plan. But with all those new automobiles sitting out there, no one is buying them. Well, let's give them a subsidy. Let's give a subsidy to working-class Americans for a change, and give them a little hand up—not a handout, but a hand up. I will tell you, it will reverberate all through our economy if we are to do something like this.

Mr. President, I yield the floor and suggest the absence of a quorum.

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the removal of the quorum be rescinded.

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, I understand there has been an objection. I am not going to offer an amendment at this point until after this is resolved.

I wish to take a couple of minutes, if I may, on an amendment I will call up either this evening or tomorrow once this has been resolved, this process matter has been resolved. I intend to offer an amendment that would statutorily require a dedication of $50 billion from the second tranche of the so-called TARP funding to be dedicated to foreclosure mitigation.

As chairman of the Senate Banking Committee—and I am pleased to recognize that the distinguished Presiding Officer is a new member of that committee—for the last 2 years—in fact, 2 years ago this very week, we had our very first hearing, and I became chairman of the committee on the foreclosure problems in this country and the problems with the residential mortgage market generally. We had witnesses at that time who warned that we might face as many as 2 million foreclosures in the country. I recall when the witness testified to that there were those who scoffed at that prediction, that nothing such as that could possibly happen in the United States. Now it seems like a modest prediction in light of what has occurred over the last 2 years regarding our economy, in this country, all of which began with the residential mortgage market in this Nation.

More so than anything else, it was the predatory lending that drew people into mortgages they were ill-prepared to meet, did not require documentation of income. They were offered liar loans, in a sense. Of course, the brokers and the servicers and lenders were all passing on the responsibility with little or no accountability, were being compensated for their efforts, and no standards or requirements that would have required that the borrowers meet certain requirements in order to protect that mortgage and that homeowner.

I won't dwell on that this evening except to say that we have over 8 million homes underwater in effect, where the mortgages exceed the value of the homes. It is predicted that several millions more could lose their homes. Mr. President, 10,000 people a day in this country are losing their homes, along with the 20,000 losing their jobs, and there is an increase in the likelihood of further deterioration in the housing market.

I had hoped earlier on, with the first tranche of $350 billion, that more would be done in foreclosure mitigation. Regretfully, despite promises to the contrary, that never occurred. I am hopeful—in fact, beyond hopeful—because this amendment would require that $50 billion of that remaining $350 billion be dedicated to this purpose. I am confident that the new administration is committed to that. They certainly indicated as much in their comments. While not specifically identifying a separate fund, they certainly indicated they intend to dedicate serious resources toward foreclosure mitigation. This amendment would secure, beyond any doubt—that those resources I have identified would be allocated for foreclosure mitigation. There are some other important provisions that continue to deteriorate until we get to the bottom of that. There are a variety of different proposals that have been suggested on how we might achieve that. This amendment I am offering does not insist upon any particular formulation. There are a number of ideas out there. I think Sheila Bair, who is the chairperson of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, has one of the more creative ideas that I think would contribute to a tourniquet on this hemorrhaging that is occurring in the residential mortgage market. That is one idea. There are others as well. Several of my colleagues on both sides of this political divide have offered ideas that I think would contribute to the reduction of foreclosures in the country, many of which are very solid ideas. Some may need further work than others, but I think all of us are now aiming in the right direction.

It has been a journey of some length. It was only in the spring of last year that we faced some six filibusters in this Senate, and some of those filibusters were on a housing program that would reduce some of the problems we saw a year ago. Obviously, the mood has changed dramatically. We now have virtually everyone talking about how to deal with the foreclosure problem. I only regret that same consensus had not developed earlier. Had it done so, in my view, we would not be where we are today. This is not a natural disaster that has occurred; this was an avoidable economic problem. It was only in the spring of last year that we faced six filibusters—almost a record number—on a single piece of legislation. It was after that break that things began to open up and move.

My recollection is that is what a lot of the response was from some of our friends.

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, I would say to my colleague from Missouri that she has an excellent memory. I had 82 hearings in the Banking Committee, over a third of them on this subject matter alone. We came to the floor of the Senate at the behest of the majority leader, Senator Reid, who was a champion of these issues. We had these hearings prior to the Passover, Easter break in committee, over a third of them on this subject matter alone. We faced six filibusters—almost a record number—on one piece of legislation. It was after that break that things began to open up and move.

My colleague from Missouri has this exactly right. There were those who were vehemently opposed. There were all sorts of amendments, all sorts of efforts made to obstruct any effort for us to come up with ideas to allow us to mitigate the rising foreclosures in the country. Had we dealt with it then, a year ago, I think it is safe to say to my colleagues that we would not be in the situation we are in today.

Mrs. McCASKILL. Mr. President, I would ask my colleague, it is almost like what a famous baseball player once said: "It is deja vu all over again." Because I am hearing, if I am correct—and I would certainly ask him this question—I am hearing the same thing now on the economic recovery bill that we need to shelve it.

I heard one of our colleagues, who I believe is from your state, Senator Dodd's committee, actually today on TV and the last couple of days saying: We need to shelve this thing.

I would ask the Senator from Connecticut, through the Presiding Officer, I have this feeling that if we shelve it, we will be back here next year and, as with the housing crisis, the economic crisis in this country will do nothing but get demonstrably worse and more perilous for the American family.

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, responding to my colleague and friend from Missouri, she is absolutely correct. I think there is a tendency to look at these issues as if they were somehow separate, separate entities. We are dealing with this, dealing with the TARP legislation and dealing with the financial crisis and now dealing with the stimulus package is unrelated. It has been pointed out that there is a likelihood we will lose as much as $2 trillion out of our economy over the next 2 years. Making up that gap is going to require some effort.

This bill will ultimately, I hope, result in an appropriation of something between $800 billion and $900 billion—no small amount but far short of what we had hoped for in our recovery last year. If we defeat this or shelve this, as has been suggested, we exacerbate the economic problems of this Nation to a significant degree, which would require this body coming back at a later date with something that none of us even wants to contemplate at this point.

So this is not an unrelated matter. You shelve this, you walk away from this responsibility, and you burden the American taxpayer to the likes none of us could even begin to calculate.

So I thank my colleague from Missouri for pointing that fact out. This is related. If our economy does not begin to improve or at least not get worse, as the President has accurately pointed out, the problems only become more pronounced, more expensive to resolve in the coming weeks and months. So our economic future depends upon each of these pieces in place that will allow us to begin to turn that corner, see credit begin to move, borrowing occur, lenders lending, and activity economically in this country begin to move in the direction we need for recovery. So I thank her immensely for her comments. She identified exactly what needs to be done and explained it to our citizens.

This is not an idle effort just to secure some spending. It is absolutely essential if we are going to produce the kinds of jobs that are necessary, contribute to economic growth, and make a difference for our country. That is the reason I thought on this bill—it is a stimulus bill—of requiring to be set aside $50 billion of the TARP money in the next tranche to be dedicated to the rising number of foreclosures of residential properties in our Nation. If you are losing 20,000 jobs a day, you don't show it is a reason we need to do this. It helps to know that with every one of those people who loses a job, the greater the likelihood they will lose their home.
We need to do everything we can to try to stop that erosion in the job market and simultaneously do what we can to make it possible for people to stay in their homes. There is a direct correlation between the stimulus effort and TARP regarding mitigation of foreclosures. That is why I will ask my colleagues to be supportive of that effort tomorrow.

I yield the floor and suggest the absence of a quorum.

The Acting President pro tempore, the clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BAUCUS. I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The Acting President pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the pending amendment be set aside and the following amendments be permitted to call up amendments at the desk as follows: DeMint, No. 189; Boxer, an amendment regarding environmental laws; Barrasso, an amendment regarding environmental laws; Harkin, amendment No. 145; McCaskill, amendments Nos. 125 and 236, with a modification; that the Landrieu amendment No. 102 be called up, and once that is reported this evening, it be considered and agreed to, and the motion to reconsider be laid upon the table.

The Acting President pro tempore. Is there objection?

Without objection, it is so ordered.

AMENDMENT NO. 326 TO AMENDMENT NO. 98

Mr. BARRASSO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the pending amendment be set aside and I be allowed to call up amendment No. 326.

The Acting President pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The clerk will report.

The assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

The Senator from Wyoming [Mr. BARRASSO], for himself, Mr. CRAPO, Mr. ROBERTS, Mr. VITTER, Mr. ENZI, Mr. RISCH, and Mr. BENNETT, proposes an amendment numbered 326 to amendment No. 98.

Mr. BARRASSO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the pending amendment be set aside and I be allowed to call up amendment No. 189 on behalf of Senator DeMINT.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The clerk will report.

The assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

The Senator from Wyoming [Mr. BARRASSO], for Mr. DEMINT, proposes an amendment numbered 189 to amendment No. 98.

Mr. BARRASSO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that reading of the amendment be dispensed with.

The Acting President pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment is as follows:

(Purpose: To provide incentive for participation in the program under this section, each servicer of an eligible mortgage insured under this section shall be paid $1,000 for performing services associated with refinancing such mortgage, or such other amount as the Board determines is warranted. This shall be paid as compensation shall be provided by funds realized through the HOPE bond under subsection (w)."

At the end of division B, add the following:

TITLE VI—FORECLOSURE PREVENTION

AMENDMENTS

Section 109(a) of the Emergency Economic Stabilization Act of 2008 (12 U.S.C. 5219) is amended—

(1) by striking the last sentence;

(2) by adding at the end the following-

"(2) Loan modifications required. —" (A) In general.—In addition to actions required under paragraph (1), the Secretary shall, not later than 60 days after the date of enactment of this paragraph, develop and implement a plan to facilitate loan modifications to prevent avoidable mortgage loan foreclosures.

"(b) FUNDING.—Of amounts made available under subsection (a) and otherwise obligated, not less than $5,000,000,000 shall be made available to the Secretary for purposes of carrying out the mortgage loan modification plan required to be developed and implemented under this paragraph.

"(c) Certification. —The Secretary shall certify that the plan required by this paragraph may incorporate the use of—"
"(i) loan guarantees and credit enhancements;
(ii) the reduction of loan principal amounts and interest rates;
(iii) extension of mortgage loan terms; and
(iv) any other similar mechanisms or combinations thereof, as determined appropriate by the Secretary.
(D) Designation Authority.—
(i) FDIC.—The Secretary may designate the Corporation, on a reimbursable basis, to carry out the loan modification plan developed under this paragraph.
(ii) Contracting Authority.—If designated, the Corporation may use its contracting authority under section 9 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act.
(E) Consultation.—In developing the loan modification plan under this paragraph, the Secretary shall consult with the Chairperson of the Board of Directors of the Corporation, the Board, and the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development.
(F) Reports to Congress.—The Secretary shall provide to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs of the Senate and the Committee on Financial Services of the House of Representatives—
(i) upon development of the plan required by this paragraph, a report describing such plan; and
(ii) a monthly report on the number and types of loan modifications occurring during the reporting period, and the performance of the loan modification plan overall.

AMENDMENT NO. 388
(Purpose: To require the Secretary of the Treasury to carry out a program to enable certain individuals to trade certain old automobiles for new automobiles.)

SEC. 107. AUTOMOBILE TRADE-IN PROGRAM.

(a) Definitions.—In this section:
(1) AUTOMOBILE, FUEL, MANUFACTURER, MODEL YEAR.—The terms "automobile", "fuel", "manufacturer", and "model year" have the meanings given such terms in section 32901 of title 49, United States Code.

(2) ELIGIBLE INDIVIDUAL.—The term "eligible individual" means an individual—
(A) who is not an individual with respect to whom a deduction is allowable under section 151 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986; (B) who filed a return of Federal income tax for a taxable year beginning in 2007 or in 2008, as the case may be, and the taxpayer is allowed a credit (as determined under section 7703 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986), filed a joint return; (C) who is not an individual with respect to whom a deduction is allowable under section 151 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986; and
(D) whose adjusted gross income reported in the most recent return described in subsection (a), or in any return filed by a head of household (as defined in section 2(b) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986), is less than $75,000 in the case of a joint tax return.

(3) ELIGIBLE NEW AUTOMOBILES.—The term "eligible new automobile", with respect to a trade by an eligible individual for such new automobile, means an automobile that—
(A) has a fuel economy that—
(i) is not less than 25 miles per gallon (20 miles per gallon in the case of a pick up truck), as determined by the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency using the 5-cycle fuel economy measurement methodology of such Agency; and
(ii) has a fuel economy that is more than 4.5 miles per gallon (4.0 miles per gallon in the case of a pick up truck) greater than the fuel economy of such eligible old automobile, as determined by the Administrator using the 2-cycle fuel economy measurement methodology of such Agency for both automobiles.

(4) ELIGIBLE OLD AUTOMOBILE.—The term "eligible old automobile", with respect to a trade for an eligible new automobile by an eligible individual under the Program, means an automobile that—
(A) is operable;
(B) was first registered in any jurisdiction by any person not less than 10 years before the date on which such trade is initiated; and
(C) is registered under such eligible individual's name on the date on which such trade is initiated; and
(D) was registered under such eligible individual's name before January 16, 2009.

(5) PICK UP TRUCK.—The term "pick up truck" means a truck classified as a "light-duty truck" as determined by the Secretary in consultation with the Secretary of Transportation.

(b) Program.—The term "Program" means the Automobile Trade-In Program established under subsection (b).

(1) PROGRAM ESTABLISHED.—The Secretary shall establish the Automobile Trade-In Program to provide eligible individuals with subsidies to purchase eligible new automobiles in exchange for eligible old automobiles.

(2) DURATION OF PROGRAM.—The Program shall commence on the date on which the Secretary prescribed regulations under subsection (g) and shall terminate on the earlier of—
(1) September 30, 2010; and
(2) the date on which all of the funds appropriated or otherwise made available pursuant to section (h) and shall terminate on the earlier of
(1) September 30, 2010; and
(2) the date on which all of the funds appropriated or otherwise made available pursuant to section (h) have been expended.

(d) Trades.—
(1) IN GENERAL.—Except as otherwise provided in section (e), an eligible individual and a seller of an eligible new automobile initiate a trade as described in subsection (c) for such new automobile with an eligible old automobile of such individual, before the termination of the Program.

(2) DISPOSAL AND SALVAGE.—The Secretary shall authorize a seller to salvage portions of an automobile to be disposed of under such paragraph or to designate an automobile to be disposed of under such paragraph as an "old automobile" and to determine the extent to which an automobile may be disposed of under such paragraph or to designate an automobile to be disposed of under such paragraph as an "old automobile" and in such manner as the Secretary considers appropriate.

(e) Disposal of Eligible Old Automobiles.—
(1) IN GENERAL.—
(A) a person who receives an eligible old automobile in exchange for an eligible new automobile under the Program shall sell or lease the automobile before the date that is 1 year after the date on which such individual purchased the automobile under the Program.

(2) Exception for Hardship.—
(A) The Secretary may permit a seller under paragraph (1) to salvage portions of an automobile to be destroyed and disposed of under such paragraph, except that the Secretary shall require the destruction of the engine block and the frame of the automobile.

(3) Compensation.—The Secretary shall compensate a seller described in paragraph (1) for costs incurred by such seller under such paragraph in such amounts or at such rates as the Secretary considers appropriate.

(f) Regulations.—
(1) IN GENERAL.—The provisions of chapter 5 of title 5, United States Code, shall not apply to regulations prescribed by the Secretary.

(2) Expected Procedures for Rule-Making.—The expected procedures for rule-making shall be published in the Federal Register 60 days after the date of enactment of this Act.

(g) Disposal of Eligible Old Automobiles.—
(1) IN GENERAL.—A seller who receives an eligible old automobile in exchange for an eligible new automobile under the Program shall sell or lease the automobile before the date that is 1 year after the date on which such individual purchased the automobile under the Program.

(2) Exception for Hardship.—
(A) The Secretary may authorize a seller who receives an eligible old automobile under the Program to salvage such automobile and dispose of such automobile or to sell or lease such automobile in accordance with section (f) of this section.

(3) Compensation.—The Secretary shall compensate a seller described in paragraph (1) for costs incurred by such seller under such paragraph in such amounts or at such rates as the Secretary considers appropriate.

(h) Regulations.—
(1) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 30 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall prescribe rules to carry out the Program.

(2) Expected Procedures for Rule-Making.—The expected procedures for rule-making shall be published in the Federal Register 60 days after the date of enactment of this Act.

(i) Monitoring.—
(1) IN GENERAL.—There is authorized to be appropriated to the Secretary $15,000,000,000, including administrative expenses, to carry out the Program.
(2) AVAILABILITY.—The amount appropriated under paragraph (1) shall be available for the purpose described in such paragraph until September 30, 2010.

(3) EMERGENCY DESIGNATION.—Amounts appropriated pursuant to paragraph (1) are designated as an emergency requirement and necessary to meet emergency needs pursuant to section 204(a) of S. Con. Res. 21 (110th Congress) and section 301(b)(2) of S. Con. Res. 70 (110th Congress), the concurrent resolutions on the budget for fiscal years 2008 and 2009.

AMENDMENT NO. 125

(Purpose: To ensure compensation to officers and directors of entities receiving emergency economic assistance from the Government)

On page 428, between lines 11 and 12, insert the following:

Subtitle D—Limits on Executive Compensation

SEC. 1551. SHORT TITLE.

This subtitle may be cited as the "Cap Executive Pay Act of 2009.

SEC. 1552. LIMIT ON EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law or agreement to the contrary, no person who is an officer, director, employee, or any other employee of a financial institution or other entity that receives or has received funds under the Troubled Asset Relief Program (or "TARP"), established under section 111 of the Emergency Economic Stabilization Act of 2008, may receive annual compensation in excess of the amount of compensation paid to the President of the United States.

(b) DURATION.—The limitation in subsection (a) shall be a condition of the receipt of assistance under the TARP, and of any modification to such assistance that was received on or before the date of enactment of this Act, and shall remain in effect with respect to each financial institution or other entity that receives such assistance or modification for the duration of the assistance or obligation provided under the TARP.

SEC. 1553. RULEMAKING AUTHORITY.

The Secretary shall expeditiously issue such rules as are necessary to carry out this subtitle, including with respect to reimbursement of compensation amounts, as appropriate.

SEC. 1554. COMPENSATION.

As used in this subtitle, the term "compensation" includes wages, salary, deferred compensation, retirement contributions, options, stock, any other form of compensation or bonus that the Secretary of the Treasury determines is appropriate.

February 4, 2009

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — SENATE

I most likely will never meet anyone of you. I believe that you must be great, because you were voted to your place where you are seated today, by others just like me. I believe that the rest of the U.S. Congress is absolutely out of touch with average American citizens. I feel that MY beautiful state of Idaho where I live barely keeps my head above water. I believe my voice heard in the U.S. Congress. I could tell you how my family is being hit hard by sky-high gasoline, and energy prices, food prices, etc, and have to live with like-minded people who will not be able to make ends meet. We can spend a trillion dollars a year on a war that kills people, and we can spend a trillion dollars a year on tourism to replace industries that have been destroyed. Let us be leaders again. Let us be a great people again.

ANNA REED, Idaho Falls.

First of all I thank God that I live in Idaho and for the most part my representatives represent me. Secondly, I feel that the rest of the U.S. Congress is absolutely out of touch with average American citizens. I feel that MY beautiful state of Idaho where I live barely keeps my head above water. I believe my voice heard in the U.S. Congress. I could tell you how my family is being hit hard by sky-high gasoline, and energy prices, food prices, etc, and have to live with like-minded people who will not be able to make ends meet. There is only so much cutting back we can do and still earn a living or make ends meet.

High gas prices cannot help but have a negative effect on other businesses. In an area that relies heavily on natural resources (timber), we were told to become dependent on tourism to replace that. This is what happens when tourism is the backbone of your economy—people stay home, businesses go belly up, the local economy suffers.

The solution is to begin stepping up the pace to develop our own energy and according infrastructure so that we do not need to be so dependent on countries who certainly do not have our best interests at heart. We need to place other countries, our resources off limits and expect the world to meet our needs. It is morally wrong to exploit other countries’ resources while our own is locked away.

Thanks for the opportunity to comment.

WAYNE and JULIE BURKHARDT, Indian Valley.
If she drives the same 135 miles in our '02 Pontiac Bonneville that gets 22 mpg, she will burn 6.1 gallons of regular unleaded at $2.99/gallon for $25.01 (18.5 cents a mile.) So every time I take her for a ride, I suffer, she saves money. I drive the fuel cost at present prices. Savings numbers on my "bike" are slightly less, but comparable since it gets 46 mpg. My fill up for 139 miles (same distance to work) costs $27.00/$2.57 for $10.91, about half of what it costs to drive.

And a little publicized fact is that motorcycles contribute a lot less to air pollution, besides the smell. But this is beside the point.

Like a lot of other comments I have seen on the subject, I also think we should be drilling oil in ANWR as well as our own oil fields (production numbers are managed by the Texas Railroad Commission), Oklahoma, California and off-shore to reduce our dependence on foreign oil from countries that do not have our best interests at heart.

We definitely need to build more nuclear power plants, more refineries to balance supply with demand, and proceed with coal conversion, wind energy, and solar power. I know that hydrogen powered cars only emit water vapor. So highly explosive, I think it will be a tough sell and will take decades to develop an infrastructure for those daring souls willing to participate. A scary thought. The present price of such cars will have on the safety of other travelers.

Respectfully,

GENE HEIKKOLA, Meridian.

Today's energy prices and the rate of increase are far exceeding the rate of pay for many jobs in our area (Idaho Falls). As young people here in a farming family I'm pressing to think about the future and not know if I am going to able to provide for my family.

If we are waiting for a rainy day to tap into our domestic oil sources, that time is now! With all of the advancement in technology hopefully our reliance on fossil fuel is going to diminish so why not use them now. We should build nuclear power plants now for the future. Why we stopped building them I do no know..... Good luck. Please get with your Democrat partners and work something out....anything is better than nothing.

VAL MIKLE.

Thank you for taking enough interest in the issue of high gas prices to ask Idahoans. Personally, though it is a hit on the budget and will change the amount of time our fifth wheel spends in storage rather than on the road, the high prices are more of a nuisance than a threat. For that my wife and I are blessed. The worse for me and for the many other Idahoans that I talk to is that we, the little people, understand how to fix the problem and apparently our government does not or will not. We need to immediately start drilling where we know there are oil reserves (Alaska, North Dakota/Montana, off shore) and begin construction of new refineries as the drilling progresses. Also, begin the immediate construction of nuclear power plants to eliminate natural gas fired plants so that those resources can be diverted to other uses. We should begin work on oil shale research and development. Lastly, continue to encourage the development of economically feasible alternatives for our next generation of automobile fuel before we abandon what we already have. I had two ten-year-olds staying at our house last night and as we watched the 10:00 p.m. news they made comments that made it clear to me that they understood that government was the biggest obstacle to solving our current 'energy crisis' (so called). Congress needs to stop entertaining drilling proposals from the environmental crowd and do what is right for our country.

DON and GAE BURTON, Meridian.

I own a small landscape design and build firm in Boise. The skyrocketing fuel costs are a big hit to my little company. At the prices today, I am spending nearly $3,000 a month on fuel for four trucks and some small equipment. That is a cost to my company of $150 per day. It is hard to pass on all the higher expenses and still be competitive in the marketplace so the net effect is a hardship to my bottom line. This year my fuel costs will be more than 50 percent of my salary.

What is our energy policy? Why do we allow other nations to drill off our coast without any revenue sharing? When are we going to free ourselves from the Middle East and other nations such as Venezuela whom have such a hatred of America? Showing the rest of the world that we are serious about our own energy independence will have an immediate impact on the current price we pay at the pump.

We need to develop a dual approach. We need to open up drilling in ANWR and other areas that I do not own. We need to work towards weaning ourselves off of foreign oil and gain American oil independence.

At the same time we need to work on alternative forms of energy and collectively, government and private industry will be able to solve this crisis.

How about a little focus on our own energy independence and let's start taking care of ourselves, stop all the back biting political posturing and come together as Americans for the good of the nation and its long term survival as the greatest nation on God's Green Earth.

Thanks for listening.

DAVE. Boise.

HONORING OUR ARMED FORCES

CHIEF WARRANT OFFICER JOSHUA M. TILLERY

Mr. MERKLEY. Mr. President, I rise today to honor a brave Oregonian who tragically lost his life last Monday in Kirkuk, Iraq. CWO Joshua M. Tillery, went down in battle with the 1st Battalion, 6th Cavalry Regiment, 10th Mountain Division at Fort Drum. Chief Warrant Officer Tillery was serving his second tour of duty in Iraq at the time of his death.

Joshua was a recipient of the Bronze Star, the Air Medal, the National Defense Service Medal, the Iraq Campaign Medal for Combat Service, the Global War on Terror Service Medal, two Army Commendation Medals, six Army Achievement Medals, the Noncommissioned Officers Professional Development Ribbon, the Army Service Ribbon, the Army Overseas Service Ribbon, the Army Air Assault Badge, the Army Aviator Badge, the Combat Action Badge, and the Parachutist Badge for his courageous service to our country.

Chief Warrant Officer Tillery represents the most selfless and most honorable of men in our country. His family and friends have lost a hero that served his country and how he always wanted to do whatever he could to help people. Joshua loved to fly and was on his way to becoming a flight safety officer. Like so many Oregonians, he enjoyed outdoor activities, and particularly loved snowboarding and riding dirt bikes. He was 31 years old when he passed, a devoted husband, and father of three young boys with another baby on the way.

I offer my prayers and condolences to his family and friends. Oregon has lost one of its bravest and brightest young men, and I know I join all Oregonians in honoring the legacy of Joshua Tillery.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

TRIBUTE TO SYBIL MOSES

Mr. LAUTENBERG. Mr. President, I wish to pay tribute to Sybil Moses, a judge and pioneer who for 21 years brought to New Jersey her commitment to the rule of law and passion for the administration of justice. Sybil passed away on January 23, 2009, and is survived by her husband of 48 years, her son, her daughter, and her five beautiful grandchildren. She will be sorely missed by her family and by my home State of New Jersey.

Sybil opened up new opportunities for women by virtue of her hard work, and she created a path that many will follow in the years ahead. After proving herself as a prosecutor and a judge, Sybil was appointed the State’s first female assignment judge in 1971. Sybil understood not only the law, but also the needs of residents who came in contact with the court. While serving at the courthouse, for example, she created a free day care center, so that anyone attending a court matter could bring their child with them, rather than having to make other arrangements. Sybil served as a temporary judge until her retirement in October. Even retirement, however, could not stop Sybil, who accepted two Supreme Court committee assignments so that she could continue her work improving New Jersey’s judiciary.

Sybil attended Rutgers Law School in the early 1970s after the birth of her two children. Women were a rarity on campus, and she became part of a group of women who called themselves “The Band of Mothers.” Throughout her life, Sybil exhibited an unwavering strength and commitment to succeed, no matter the circumstances.

New Jersey was blessed to have such an enthusiastic, dedicated civil servant administering the rule of law for the past 21 years. Sybil blazed a path that made it easier for women everywhere to accomplish their goals. For that, she will be missed and will serve as a role model for future generations.

HONORING GENEST CONCRETE

- Ms. SNOEWE, Mr. President, 2 weeks ago, our Nation witnessed history when Barack Obama was sworn in as President of the United States. I am proud to say that the Sanford High School marching band, from my home State of Maine, was able to participate in the remarkable parade following the inauguration. This would not have been possible without the generous support of many individuals and businesses across southern Maine. I rise today to recognize one of these companies that made a significant donation toward the band’s trip, Genest Concrete.

A family-owned small business manufacturing architectural, landscaping and masonry products, Genest Concrete was founded over 70 years ago by Herrangilde Genest. The company started simple, producing hand-pressed concrete pavers for landmarks with materials mined from Mr. Genest’s gravel pit. Over the years, four generations of the Genest family have continually strived to make their company more innovative and cutting edge, eventually becoming one of the largest manufacturers and distributors of masonry products in New England. Headquartered in Sanford, Genest also has locations in Biddeford and Windham, with authorized dealers throughout northern New England and Massachusetts.

Genest Concrete provides landscape contractors, homeowners, masons, architects, and engineers with dozens of durable and superior concrete and masonry products. From stormwater brick to a variety of paving and wall stones, Genest has all the essential tools for producing unique driveways, patios, paths, and freestanding and retaining walls.

More than just a company, Genest is like a family. In fact, it recently launched an inventive effort designed to keep its staff and their families healthy. Performed in coordination with the Worksite Stars of York County program at Goodall Hospital, Genest brings nurses to the company to perform staff health risk assessments. These assessments allow the company to target physical activity and nutritional assistance to their employees. So far, an astounding 90 percent of employees have participated. And as part of the next phase, Genest plans to hold an on-site employee program this spring. All employees that complete the 12-week course will be given an additional vacation day. This is on top of the partial reimbursement the firm already offers toward gym memberships. Genest also hopes to make financial wellness and other classes available to its employees later this year.

In addition to helping sponsor the Sanford marching band’s trip, Genest has made many other generous contributions to the community throughout the years. In 2001, Genest provided materials for a class to build a skate park in South Berwick as his Eagle Scout project. In 2006, the company donated concrete to Habitat for Humanity in York County for its Blitz Build, when the group constructed a new house in Shapleigh. Genest Concrete also actively sponsors the Sanford Mainers, part of the New England Collegiate Baseball League, as well as teams in the Sanford-Springvale Youth Athletic Association basketball league. And among many other efforts, Genest serves as part of the Maine Children’s Alliance Business Advisory Group, as well as supports Day One, an initiative aimed at reducing substance abuse by Maine youth.

While rising to the top of its field, Genest has never forgotten the community that helped it get there. Its consistent and dedicated endeavors to serve the community have not gone unnoticed. Thank you to everyone at Genest Concrete for all of your philanthropic efforts, and best wishes for your continued success.

STATEMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

By Mr. Reed (for himself, Mr. Dodd, Mr. Kerry, Mr. Schumer, Ms. Stabenow, and Mr. Kennedy): S. 376. A bill to provide rules for the modification or disposition of certain assets by real estate mortgage investment conduits pursuant to division A of the Emergency Economic Stabilization Act of 2008, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs.

Mr. Reed. Mr. President, today I introduce, along with Senators Dodd, Kerry, Schumer, and Stabenow, the Real Estate Mortgage Investment Conduit, REMIC, Improvement Act. This legislation could be the keys to solving our national foreclosure crisis by unlocking mortgage securitization trusts so that more homeowners can stay in their homes.

In my own state of South Dakota, 7.30 percent of all outstanding home loans are delinquent and 5.33 percent of all home loans are in the foreclosure process. This is the 10th highest foreclosure rate in the Nation, and the highest in New England. I have heard story after story of how difficult it is to get a loan modified or restructured if it is part of a mortgage securitization pool. As we have learned, part of the reason we are in the worst housing crisis since the Depression is that Wall Street firms packaged mortgages into pools and then sold different tranches of these pools to investors from all over the world. This diverse and convoluted ownership structure has made it difficult to get investor approval to modify or restructure them. Unlike in the movie “It’s a Wonderful Life,” most families can no longer walk into their local bank to talk to George Bailey about modifying or restructuring their loan.

The Emergency Economic Stabilization Act of 2008 required the Treasury Department to use its new authorities to incentivize servicers toward more loan restructurings. However, it has become clear that additional legislation is needed to free servicers of these loan pools from conflicting requirements regarding modifications and provide them with the ability to sell mortgages to Treasury for foreclosure avoidance.

Many servicers, managing pools of loans for investors, are constrained by the trust agreements from modifying loans to a level that families can afford to pay or from selling the underlying mortgage loans. In other cases, servicers must obtain the approval of a significant number of the trust’s beneficiaries or third parties in order to make changes to how loans within the pool are handled. However, the trust agreements also provide that servicers must alter any agreements if they would be helpful or necessary to stay in compliance with tax rules under the REMIC statute; REMIC status frees these securitization trusts from taxation at the entity level and therefore provides important benefits to its investors.

Under the REMIC Improvement Act, in order to keep their preferred tax status under the REMIC provisions of the Internal Revenue Code, servicers would need to modify their trust agreements to remove artificial restrictions that keep them from modifying loans that provide a greater return to investors as a whole than foreclosing would, and keep families in their homes to prevent entire neighborhoods from falling apart at the same time. This is a practical way for servicers to modify loans without undue fear of legal sanctions. This also would allow servicers to sell loans to Treasury for restructuring without having to obtain an affirmative response by a significant number of the beneficiaries of the trust if it was for the good of the overall trust. Participation in any Treasury program would be voluntary, but some of the key legal impediments to participation would be removed.

Additionally, the Treasury Department has not put in place a loan modification program, even after Congress gave it the authority to do so in the Emergency Economic Stabilization Act. Many experts believe such a program would be helpful in helping resolve the current housing crisis. The REMIC Improvement Act will ensure that Treasury uses its authority to set up a program to achieve broad-scale modifications, where necessary, dispositions of foreclosed property.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the text of the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

S. 379

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. Short Title.

This Act may be cited as the “Real Estate Mortgage Investment Conduit Improvement Act of 2009.”

SEC. 2. SPECIAL RULES FOR MODIFICATION OR DISPOSITION OF QUALIFIED MORTGAGES OR FORECLOSURE PROPERTY BY REAL ESTATE MORTGAGE INVESTMENT CONDUITS.

(a) In General.—If a REMIC (as defined in section 860D(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986) modifies or disposes of a troubled asset under the Troubled Asset Relief Program established by the Secretary of the Treasury under section 101(a) of the Emergency Economic Stabilization Act of 2008 or under rules established by the Secretary under section 3 of this Act—

(1) such modification or disposition shall not be treated as a prohibited transaction under section 860(a)(2) of such Code, and

(2) for purposes of part IV of subchapter M of chapter 1 of such Code—

(A) an interest in the REMIC shall not fail to be treated as a regular interest (as defined in section 860(a)(1) of such Code) solely because of such modification or disposition, and

(B) any proceeds resulting from such modification or disposition shall be treated as an amount from troubled assets.

(b) TERMINATION OF REMIC.—For purposes of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, an entity which is treated as a REMIC under section 860D(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 shall cease to be a REMIC if the instruments governing the conduct of servicers or trustees with respect to qualified mortgages or such foreclosure property in order to participate in the Troubled Asset Relief Program established by the Secretary of the Treasury under section 101(a) of the Emergency Economic Stabilization Act of 2008 or under rules established by the Secretary under section 3 of this Act.

(c) COMMITMENTS.—A servicer or trustee may make commitments to purchase home mortgages or mortgage-backed securities; purchase home mortgage loans or mortgage-backed securities; purchase home mortgage loans or mortgage-backed securities; purchase home mortgage loans or mortgage-backed securities.

(d) USE OF BROAD AUTHORITY.—The Secretary of the Treasury shall use all available authorities to implement the home mortgage loan modification and disposition protocols, which shall include ratifying that servicer action taken in anticipation of any necessary changes to the instruments the servicers or trustees with respect to qualified mortgages or foreclosure property are consistent with the Secretary of the Treasury’s standard home mortgage loan modification and disposition protocols.

(e) PAYMENTS AUTHORIZED.—The Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to pay servicers for home mortgage loan modifications or other dispositions consistent with any rules established under subsection (b).

(f) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Any standard home mortgage loan modification and disposition protocols developed by the Secretary of the Treasury under this section shall be construed to constitute standard industry practice.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — SENATE

should be paid for the use of his or her work. The performing artist, however, is not paid by the radio station.

The time has come to end this inequity. Its historical justification has been overtaken by technological change. The digital world has taken music transmitted over a variety of platforms. When webcasters, satellite radio companies, or cable companies play music, and profit from its use, they compensate the performing artists. Terrestrial broadcast radio is the only platform that still does not pay for the use of sound recordings.

Radio play surely has promotional value to the artists, but there is a property right in the sound recording, and those that create the content should be compensated for their work. The United States is behind the times in this regard. Ours is the only Nation that is a member of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development but still does not compensate artists. The result of the lack of a performance right in the United States is that American artists are not compensated when their recordings are played abroad.

Artists should have the same rights regardless of the platform over which their work is used. All platforms promote artists and all platforms profit off the artists’ work. Today, different rate standards and restrictions are applied to different music delivery platforms, with broadcast radio stations being uniquely and completely exempt. In the last Congress, Senator Feinstein chaired a hearing in the Judiciary Committee that addressed whether the time has come to achieve platform parity by harmonizing the terms and conditions for use of the statutory copyright license. Senator Feinstein has been a leader on this issue, and I am pleased to accept her offer to lead negotiations this year to develop a new standard that can be applied across platforms.

We also need to make certain that songwriters are protected in this process. Songwriters currently do receive compensation from radio stations. The changes made by this legislation, which will ensure performing artists are compensated, should not have any negative effect on songwriters. I will work closely with the songwriters and we will make sure that is the case.

In the Performance Rights Act today, we are sensitive to the needs of broadcast radio stations; we are sensitive to the regulatory regime under which they operate; and we are particularly sensitive to the fact that it is not just artists, but also broadcasters that are facing a difficult economic climate. Rather than require all radio stations to pay fair market value to artists for the songs they play, the legislation includes special provisions for noncommercial and all but the largest educational stations. In addition, every radio station can use a statutory copyright license to transmit sound recordings, instead of negotiating licenses separately in the marketplace.

Noncommercial stations have a different mission than do commercial stations and they require a different status. Our legislation, appropriately, permits noncommercial stations to take advantage of the statutory copyright license subject only to a nominal annual payment to the artists.

Similarly, we intend to nurture, not threaten, small commercial broadcasters. The broadcasters that are working hard to serve their local communities while finding the right formula to increase their audience size. We intend to foster the growth of these stations—nearly 85 percent of the radio stations in Vermont—and the legislation does that by also providing a flat fee option for use of the statutory license to the more than 75 percent of commercial music stations earning less than $1.25 million a year. This payment may only provide minimal compensation to the artists whose music is used by the vast majority of commercial music stations, particularly when viewed against the fair market value of the music, but by helping radio stations grow, artists, the stations, and the public will all benefit.

I am an avid music fan and much of the music I enjoy I first heard on the radio. There is no question that radio play promotes artists and their sound recordings. There is no question that radio stations profit directly from playing the artists’ recordings. Traditional, over-the-air radio remains vital to the vibrancy of our music culture, and I want to continue to see it prosper as it transitions to digital. But I also want to ensure that the performing artist, the one whose sound recordings drive the success of broadcast radio, is compensated fairly. I will continue to work with the broadcasters—large and small, commercial and noncommercial—to strike the right balance.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the text of the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

S. 379

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Performance Rights Act”.

SECTION 2. EQUITABLE TREATMENT FOR TERRITORIAL BROADCASTERS.

(a) PERFORMANCE RIGHTS APPLICABLE TO RADIO TRANSMISSIONS GENERALLY.—Section 106(6) of title 17, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

“(6) in the case of sound recordings, to perform the copyrighted work publicly by means of an audio transmission;”.

(b) INCLUSION OF TERRITORIAL BROADCASTS IN EXISTING PERFORMANCE RIGHT.—Section 114(d)(1) of title 17, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by striking paragraph (A) and inserting “(A) by striking “subsection (f) if” and inserting “subsection (f) if, other than for a nonsubscription and noninteractive broadcast transmission,”;”.

SEC. 3. SPECIAL TREATMENT FOR SMALL, NONCOMMERCIAL, EDUCATIONAL, AND RELIGIOUS STATIONS AND CERTAIN USES.

(a) SMALL, NONCOMMERCIAL, EDUCATIONAL, AND RELIGIOUS RADIO BROADCASTING STATIONS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 114(f)(2) of title 17, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(D) Notwithstanding the provisions of subparagraphs (A) through (C), each individual terrestrial broadcast station that has gross revenues in any calendar year of less than $1,250,000 may elect to pay for its over-the-air nonsubscription broadcast transmissions a royalty fee of $5,000 per year, in lieu of the amount such station would otherwise be required to pay under this paragraph. Such royalty fee shall not be taken into account in determining royalty rates in a proceeding under chapter 8, or in any other administrative, judicial, or other Federal Government proceeding.

“(E) Notwithstanding the provisions of subparagraphs (A) through (C), each individual terrestrial broadcast station that is a public broadcasting entity as defined in section 118(f) may elect to pay for its over-the-air nonsubscription broadcast transmissions a royalty fee of $1,000 per year, in lieu of the amount such station would otherwise be required to pay under this paragraph. Such royalty fee shall not be taken into account in determining royalty rates in a proceeding under chapter 8, or in any other administrative, judicial, or other Federal Government proceeding.”.

(2) PAYMENT DATE.—A payment under subparagraph (D) or (E) of section 114(f)(2) of title 17, United States Code, as added by paragraph (1), shall not be due until the due date of the first royalty fee for nonsubscription broadcast transmissions that are determined, after the date of the enactment of this Act, under such section 114(f)(2) by reason of the amendment made by section 2(b)(2) of this Act.

(b) TRANSMISSION OF RELIGIOUS SERVICES; INCIDENTAL USE OF MUSICAL RECORDS.—Section 114(d)(1) of title 17, United States Code, as amended by section 2(b), is further amended by inserting the following before subparagraph (B):

“(A) an eligible nonsubscription transmission of

“(i) services at a place of worship or other religious assembly; and “(ii) an incidental use of a musical sound recording;”.

SEC. 4. AVAILABILITY OF PER PROGRAM LICENSE.

Section 114(2)(B) of title 17, United States Code, is amended by inserting after the second sentence the following new sentence: “Such rates and terms shall include a per program license fee for terrestrial broadcast stations that make limited feature uses of sound recordings.”.

SEC. 5. NO HARMOUL EFFECTS ON SONGWRITERS.

(a) PRESERVATION OF ROYALTIES ON UNDERLYING WORKS.—Section 114(1) of title 17, United States Code, is amended in the second sentence by striking “is the intent of Congress that royalties” and inserting “Royalties”.
The Hawaii Congressional delegation, by Mr. AKAKA (for himself, Mr. INOUYE, and Ms. MURKOWSKI): S. 381. A bill to express the policy of the United States recognizing and apologizing for past and present violations of human rights of Native Hawaiians, to provide for the reorganization of a Native Hawaiian government, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

Today I introduce the Native Hawaiian Government Reorganization Act of 2009. While this legislation is especially significant to Native Hawaiians, I introduce this measure for all the people of Hawaii. This bill will extend federal recognition to Hawaii's indigenous people for the purposes of a government-to-government relationship with the United States. This benefits all the people of Hawaii, as they will now have a structured, formal process to come together to address many unresolved issues confronting our state and our residents.

Unlike our Nation's other indigenous people, the Federal policy of self-governance and self-determination has not been extended to Native Hawaiians. The bill addresses this need and establishes parity. It provides Native Hawaiians a formal opportunity to participate in making policy decisions and empowers them to interact at the State and Federal levels through a government-to-government relationship. The legislation is consistent with federal and state law and allows Native Hawaiians to be treated the same way as our country's other indigenous people.

The United States has recognized and upheld a responsibility for the wellbeing of indigenous, native people, including Native Hawaiians. Congress has enacted more than 160 statutes to address the needs of Native Hawaiians. In 1988, I sponsored a measure commonly known as the Apology Resolution that was enacted into law. The Resolution outlined the history prior to- and following the overthrow of the Kingdom of Hawaii, including involvement by the United States. Further, in the Resolution the United States apologized for its involvement in the overthrow and committed itself to acknowledge the ramifications of the overthrow and support reconciliation efforts between the United States and the Native Hawaiian people. This was a historic declaration that has initiated a healing process. However, additional Congressional action is needed to continue this process.

This legislation allows us to take the necessary next step in the reconciliation process. The three things. First, it authorizes a process for the reorganization of a Native Hawaiian government for the purposes of a federally recognized government-to-government relationship. Once the Native Hawaiian government is recognized, the bill establishes an inclusive negotiations process representing both Native Hawaiians and non-Native Hawaiians. There are many checks and balances in this process and any agreements reached will require implementation legislation at the State and Federal levels.

This legislation is needed to address issues present in my home state. It is a reality that there are longstanding and unresolved issues resulting from the overthrow. Despite good faith efforts to address these issues, the lack of a government-to-government relationship has limited progress. Building on the constitutionally sound and deliberate efforts of Congress and the State of Hawaii, the necessary next step in the reconciliation process is needed.

The legislation I introduce today is identical to language passed by the House of Representatives in the 106th Congress. This bill is the product of five working groups the Hawaii Congressional Delegation created to assist with the drafting of this legislation. These working groups comprised of individuals from the Native Hawaiian community, elected officials from the State of Hawaii, representatives from federal agencies, Members of Congress, as well as leaders from Indian Country and supporters in each jurisdiction. This ensured that all parties that had expertise and would work to implement the legislation had an opportunity to collectively and collaboratively participate in the drafting process.

The Hawaii Congressional Delegation has carefully considered the significant public input and Congressional oversight on this bill over the last 9 years.
To date, there have been a total of 9 Congressional hearings, including 6 joint hearings held by the Senate Indian Affairs Committee and House Natural Resources Committee, 5 of which were held in Hawaii. From the beginning, the Senate Committee on Indian Affairs and the House Committee on Natural Resources, under the chair of Sen. Daniel Inouye and Rep. Niki Tsongas, respectively, set the record straight with the Native People of Hawaii in Hawaiian language. The Senate Committee on Indian Affairs and the House Committee on Natural Resources, under the leadership of Rep. Niki Tsongas and Sen. Daniel Inouye, respectively, set the record straight with the Native People of Hawaii in Hawaiian language.

In this Act:

(1) Approximately 6,800 Native Hawaiian losses and their families who reside on Hawaiian Home Lands and approximately 18,000 Native Hawaiians who are eligible to reside on Hawaiian Home Lands are on a waiting list to receive assignments of land.

(2) In 1959, as part of the compact admitting Hawaii into the United States, Congress established a trust 5 purposes, 1 of which is the betterment of the conditions of Native Hawaiians. Such trust consists of approximately 1,800,000 acres of land, submerged lands, and revenues derived from such lands, the assets of which have never been completely inventoried or segregated.

(3) The United States has a special trust responsibility to the State of Hawaii, but Native Hawaiians have never relinquished their claims to their inherent sovereignty as a people over their national lands to the United States, even through their monarchy or through a plebiscite or referendum.

(4) The United States has a special trust responsibility to the State of Hawaii, but Native Hawaiians have never relinquished their claims to their inherent sovereignty as a people over their national lands to the United States, even through their monarchy or through a plebiscite or referendum.

(5) Pursuant to the provisions of the Hawaiian Homes Commission Act, 1920 (42 Stat. 108, chapter 42), the United States set aside 203,500 acres of land in the Federal territory that had been purchased by the United States to address the conditions of Native Hawaiians.

(6) By setting aside 203,500 acres of land for Native Hawaiian homesteads and farms, the Act aims to recognize and maintain distinct Native Hawaiian communities throughout the State of Hawaii.

SEC. 2. DEFINITIONS.

In this Act:
SEC. 3. UNITED STATES POLICY AND PURPOSE.

SEC. 8. FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT.

Nothing in this Act shall be construed to preclude the disclosure of information that is not otherwise exempt from disclosure under the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. 552).

SEC. 9. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this Act—

(1) such sums as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this Act;

SEC. 10. NECESSARY ADMINISTRATIVE ACTIONS.

(a) AUTHORITY.—The Secretary shall, in addition to the actions described in section 7 of this Act, take any actions that are necessary to effectuate the purposes of this Act.

(b) REQUIREMENT.—The Secretary shall take any actions that are necessary to implement the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 11. REPORTS.

(a) NOTIFICATION.—The President shall—

(1) annually submit to the Congress a report that includes a description of the activities undertaken by the Task Force under this Act; and

(2) include in each such report an evaluation of the activities undertaken by the Task Force under this Act.

(b) MANDATORY REPORT.—The President shall submit to the Congress an annual report with respect to—

(1) Native Hawaiian communities and organizations that are not eligible for recognition under this Act; and

(2) any other activities or programs that relate to the Administration of this Act.
(d) Co-Chairs.—The Task Force representative of the United States Office for Native Hawaiian Affairs established under the authority of section 4 of this Act and the Attorney General appointed under the authority of section 5 of this Act shall serve as co-chairs of the Task Force.

(e) Duties.—The responsibilities of the Task Force shall be to—

(1) the coordination of Federal policies that affect Native Hawaiians or actions by any agency or agencies of the Federal Government significantly or unreasonably impact on Native Hawaiian resources, rights, or lands;

(2) to assure that each Federal agency develops a relationship with the Native Hawaiian people, and upon recognition of the Native Hawaiian government by the United States as provided in section 7(b)(2) of this Act, consultation with the Native Hawaiian government; and

(3) to assure the participation of each Federal agency in the development of the report to Congress authorized in section 4(b)(6) of this Act.

SEC. 7. PROCESS FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF A ROLL FOR THE ORGANIZATION OF A NATIVE HAWAIIAN INTERIM GOVERNING COUNCIL, FOR THE ORGANIZATION OF A NATIVE HAWAIIAN INTERIM GOVERNING COUNCIL AND A NATIVE HAWAIIAN GOVERNMENT, AND FOR THE RECOGNITION OF THE NATIVE HAWAIIAN GOVERNMENT.

(a) Roll.—

(1) Preparation of Roll.—The United States Office for Native Hawaiian Affairs shall assist the adult members of the Native Hawaiian community who wish to partici- pate in the reorganization of a Native Hawaiian government in preparing a roll for the purpose of the organization of a Native Hawaiian Interim Governing Council. The roll shall include the names of the—

(A) members of the Native Hawaiian community who wish to become citizens of a Native Hawaiian government and who are—

(i) the lineal descendants of the aboriginal, indigenous, native people who resided in the islands that now comprise the State of Hawaii on or before January 1, 1898, and who occupied and exercised sovereignty in the Hawaiian archipelago;

(ii) Native Hawaiians who were eligible in 1921 for the programs authorized by the Hawaiian Homes Commission Act (42 Stat. 108, chapter 106), as amended; and

(B) the children of the adult members listed on the roll prepared under this subsection.

(2) Certification and Submission.—

(A) Certification.—The Secretary shall certify that the individuals listed on the roll developed under the authority of this subsection are Native Hawaiians, as defined in section 27(A) of this Act.

(B) Publication.—The Secretary shall publish a final roll.

(c) Appeal.—

(i) Establishment of Mechanism.—The Secretary is authorized to establish a mechanism for an appeal of the Secretary’s determination as it concerns—

(I) the exclusion of the name of a person who meets the definition of Native Hawaiian, as defined in section 27(A) of this Act, from the roll; or

(II) a challenge to the inclusion of the name of a person on the roll on the grounds that the person does not meet the definition of Native Hawaiian, as so defined.

(ii) Publication;—The Secretary shall publish the final roll while appeals are pending, and shall update the final roll and the publication of the final roll upon the final disposition of any appeal.

(iii) Effect of Publication.—The publication of the final roll shall serve as the basis for the eligibility of adult members listed on the roll to participate in all referenda and elections associated with the organization of a Native Hawaiian Interim Governing Council and the Native Hawaiian government.

(iv) Distribution.—The Native Hawaiian Interim Governing Council is authorized to distribute all such final roll, a copy of the proposed organic governing documents, as drafted by the Native Hawaiian Interim Governing Council, along with a brief impartial description of the proposed organic governing documents, to the Native Hawaiian community, as well as to each member listed on the roll concerning the text and description of the proposed organic governing documents.

(v) Elections.—The Native Hawaiian Interim Governing Council is authorized to conduct a referendum of the adult members listed on the roll developed under the authority of subsection (a) for the purpose of determining (but not limited to) the following:

(I) The proposed elements of the organic governing documents of a Native Hawaiian government.

(II) The proposed powers and authorities to be exercised by a Native Hawaiian government, as well as the proposed privileges and immunities of a Native Hawaiian government.

(III) The proposed civil rights and protections of such rights of the citizens of a Native Hawaiian government, and all persons subject to the authority of a Native Hawaiian government.

(vi) Development of Organic Governing Documents.—Based upon the referendum, the Native Hawaiian Interim Governing Council is authorized to develop proposed organic governing documents for a Native Hawaiian government.

(b) Recognition of Hawaiian Government.—The Native Hawaiian Interim Governing Council is authorized to declare the Native Hawaiian government recognized by section 4(b)(6) of this Act, and to determine the number of adult members of the Native Hawaiian government.

(v) Measure of Membership.—The Native Hawaiian Interim Governing Council shall determine the number of adult members of the Native Hawaiian government, and the manner in which the duly elected officers of the Native Hawaiian government take office.

(vi) Recognition of the Native Hawaiian Government.—

(1) Process for Recognition.—

(a) Preliminary Submission of Organizational Governing Documents.—The duly elected officers of the Native Hawaiian government shall submit the organic governing documents of the Native Hawaiian government to the Secretary.

(B) CERTIFICATIONS.—Within 90 days of the date that the duly elected officers of the Native Hawaiian government transmit an enrolled copy of the organic governning documents to the Secretary, the Secretary shall certify that the organic governing documents—

(i) are consistent with applicable Federal law and the special trust relationship between the United States and the indigenous native people of the United States;

(ii) provide for the protection of the civil rights of the citizens of the Native Hawaiian government and all persons subject to the authority of the Native Hawaiian government, and to assure that the Native Hawaiian government exercises its authority consistent with the requirements of section 102 of the Act of April 11, 1968 (25 U.S.C. 1302);

(iii) are consistent with applicable Federal law and the special trust relationship between the United States and the indigenous native people of the United States;

(iv) provide for the protection of the civil rights of the citizens of the Native Hawaiian government and all persons subject to the authority of the Native Hawaiian government, and to assure that the Native Hawaiian government exercises its authority consistent with the requirements of section 102 of the Act of April 11, 1968 (25 U.S.C. 1302);

(v) prevent the sale, disposition, lease, or encumbrance of lands, interests in lands, or other property of Native Hawaiian government without the consent of the Native Haawaiian government;

(vi) establish the criteria for citizenship in the Native Hawaiian government; and

(vii) provide authority for the Native Haawaiian government to negotiate with Federal, State, and local governments, and other entities.

(C) FAIL TO ACT.—If the Secretary fails to act within 90 days of the date that the duly elected officers of the Native Hawaiian government submitted the organic governing documents of the Native Hawaiian government to the Secretary, the certifications authorized in subparagraph (B) shall be deemed to have been made.

(D) RESUBMISSION IN CASE OF NONCOMPLI-ANCE WITH FEDERAL LAW.—

(i) RESUBMISSION BY THE SECRETARY.—If the Secretary determines that the organic governing documents, or any part thereof, are not consistent with applicable Federal law, the Secretary shall resubmit the organic governing documents to the duly elected officers of the Native Hawaiian government along with a justification for each of the Secretary’s findings as to why the provisions are not consistent with such law.

(ii) AMENDMENT AND RESUBMISSION BY THE NATIVE HAWAIIAN GOVERNMENT.—If the organic governing documents are resubmitted to the duly elected officers of the Native Haawaiian government by the Secretary under clause (I), the duly elected officers of the Native Hawaiian government shall—

(I) amend the organic governing documents to ensure that the documents comply with applicable Federal law; and

(II) resubmit the amended organic governing documents to the Secretary for cer-tification in accordance with subparagraphs (B) and (C).

(2) FEDERAL RECOGNITION.—

(A) RECOGNITION.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, upon the election of the officers of the Native Hawaiian government and the certifications (or deemed certifications) by the Secretary authorized in paragraph (1), Federal recognition is hereby extended to the Native Hawaiian government as the representative governing body of the Native Hawaiian people.

(B) NO DIMINISHMENT OF RIGHTS OR PRIVI-LEGES.—Nothing in this Act intended to serve as a settlement of any claims against the United States, or to affect the erights of the Native Hawaiian people under international law.

SEC. 11. REGULATIONS.
The Secretary is authorized to make such rules and regulations and such delegations of authority as the Secretary deems necessary to carry out the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 12. SEVERABILITY.
In the event that any section or provision of this Act, or any amendment made by this Act is held invalid, it is the intent of Congress that the remaining sections or provisions of this Act, and the amendments made by this Act, shall continue in full force and effect.

(H) provide matching funds in accordance with paragraph (4); and

(I) be categorized as a medium or large health care provider by the Secretary.

(3) USE OF FUNDS.—Amounts received under a grant under this subsection shall be used to—

(A) facilitate the purchase of qualified health information technology systems;

(B) train personnel in the use of such systems;

(C) enhance the utilization of qualified health information technology systems (which may include activities to increase the awareness among consumers of health care privacy protections); or

(D) improve the prevention and management of chronic disease.

(4) MATCHING REQUIREMENT.—To be eligible for a grant under this subsection an entity may require that health care providers receive loans under the grant adopt the standards established by the Federal Government under section 3003.

(5) ELIGIBILITY.—To be eligible to receive a grant under this subsection the Secretary shall give preference to—

(A) eligible entities that will improve the degree to which the entity will link the qualified health information system to local or regional health information plans;

(B) with respect to awards made for the purpose of providing care in an outpatient medical setting, entities that organize their practices as a patient-centered medical home;

(C) adopt the standards and implementation specifications adopted by the Federal Government under section 3003;

(D) establish a qualified health information technology system to local or regional health information plan or plans; and

(E) award competitive grants to the Development of State Loan Programs to Facilitate the Widespread Adoption of Health Information Technology.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may award competitive grants to States for the establishment of State programs for loans to health care providers to facilitate the purchase and enhance the utilization of qualified health information technology.

(2) ELIGIBILITY.—To be eligible to receive a competitive grant under this subsection, a State shall establish a qualified health information technology loan fund and comply with the other requirements contained in this subsection.

(A) The Secretary shall award a grant under this subsection to a State that establishes a qualified health information technology loan fund in accordance with paragraph (2) (referred to in this subsection as a 'State loan fund') and comply with the other requirements contained in this subsection.

(B) Amounts received under a grant under this subsection shall be deposited in the State loan fund established by the State. No funds authorized by other provisions of this title to be used for purposes specified in this title shall be deposited in any such State loan fund.

(C) ELIGIBILITY.—To be eligible to receive a grant under paragraph (1) a State shall—

(A) submit to the Secretary an application at such time, in such manner, and containing such information as the Secretary may require;

(B) submit to the Secretary a strategic plan in accordance with paragraph (4); and

(C) establish a qualified health information technology loan fund in accordance with paragraph (2).

(D) require that health care providers receiving loans under a grant adopt the measures established by the Federal Government under section 3003.

(E) require that health care providers receiving loans under the grant implement the measures adopted under section 3003 and report to the Secretary on such measures; and

(F) provide matching funds in accordance with paragraph (4).

(3) USE OF FUNDS.—Amounts received under a grant under this subsection shall be used to—

(A) in general.—A State that receives a grant under this subsection shall annually prepare a strategic plan that identifies the intended uses of the funds available to the State loan fund of the State.

(B) CONTENTS.—A strategic plan under subparagraph (A) shall include—

(i) a list of the projects to be assisted through the State loan fund in the first fiscal year that begins after the date on which the plan is submitted;

(ii) a description of the criteria and methods established for the distribution of funds from the State loan fund;

(iii) a description of the financial status of the State loan fund and the short-term and long-term goals of the State loan fund; and

(iv) a description of the strategies the State intends to use to achieve the goals specified in the adoption of health information technology due to limited broadband access.

(G) USE OF FUNDS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Amounts deposited in a State loan fund, including loan repayments and interest earned on such amounts, shall be used only for awarding guaranteed or non-guaranteed loans to borrowers, or as a source of reserve for leveraged loans, the proceeds of which are deposited in the State loan fund established under paragraph (1), loans under this section may be used by health care providers to—

(i) facilitate the purchase of qualified health information technology systems;

(ii) enhance the utilization of qualified health information technology systems (which may include activities to increase the awareness among consumers of health care privacy protections and privacy rights); or

(iii) train personnel in the use of such systems.

(B) LIMITATION.—Amounts received by a State under this subsection may not be used—

(i) for the purchase or other acquisition of any health information technology system that is not a qualified health information technology system;

(ii) to conduct activities for which Federal funds are expended under this title, or that fund the Guaranteed Loan Program under the Wired for Health Care Quality Act; or

(iii) for any purpose other than making loans to eligible entities under this section.

(4) STRATEGIC PLAN.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—A State that receives a grant under this subsection shall annually prepare a strategic plan that identifies the intended uses of the funds available to the State loan fund of the State.

(B) CONTENTS.—A strategic plan under subparagraph (A) shall include—

(i) a list of the projects to be assisted through the State loan fund in the first fiscal year that begins after the date on which the plan is submitted;

(ii) a description of the criteria and methods established for the distribution of funds from the State loan fund;

(iii) a description of the financial status of the State loan fund and the short-term and long-term goals of the State loan fund; and

(iv) a description of the strategies the State intends to use to achieve the goals specified in the adoption of health information technology due to limited broadband access.
"(C) GUIDANCE AND REGULATIONS.—The Secretary shall publish guidance and promulgate regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this subsection, including—

(i) provisions to ensure that each State commits and expends funds allotted to the State under this subsection as efficiently as possible in accordance with this title and applicable State laws; and

(ii) guidance to prevent waste, fraud, and abuse; and

(2) PRIVATE SECTOR CONTRIBUTIONS.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—A State loan fund established under this subsection may accept contributions from private sector entities, except that such entities may not specify the recipient or recurrence of any loan issued under this subsection.

(ii) AVAILABILITY OF INFORMATION.—A State shall make publicly available the identity of, and amount contributed by, any private sector entity under clause (i) and may issue letters of commendation or make other awards (that have no financial value) to any such entity.

(3) MATCHING REQUIREMENTS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may not make a grant under paragraph (1) to a State unless the State agrees to make available (directly or through donations from public or private entities) non-Federal contributions in cash toward the costs of the State programs carried out under this section in an amount equal to not less than $1 for each $2 of Federal funds provided under the grant.

(B) DETERMINATION OF AMOUNT OF NON-FEDERAL CONTRIBUTIONS.—In determining the amount of non-Federal contributions that a State has provided pursuant to subparagraph (A), the Secretary may not include any amounts provided to the State by the Federal Government.

(4) PREFERENCE IN AWARDING GRANTS.—The Secretary may give a preference in awarding grants under this subsection to States that adopt value-based purchasing programs to improve health care quality.

(5) REPORTS.—The Secretary shall annually submit to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions and the Committee on Finance of the Senate, and the Committee on Energy and Commerce and the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives, a report summarizing the reports received by the Secretary under clause (ii) of subparagraph (B) of section 3010 and report to the Secretary a report on the activities funded under such section 3010.

(6) COMPLETE GRANTS FOR THE IMPLEMENTATION OF REGIONAL OR LOCAL HEALTH INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY PLANS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—To be eligible to receive a grant under paragraph (1), an entity shall submit to the Secretary an application in accordance with paragraph (5) that—

(i) a description of the financial costs and benefits of the project involved and of the entities to which such costs and benefits will accrue;

(ii) an analysis of the impact of the project on health care quality and safety;

(iii) a description of any reduction in duplicative or unnecessary care as a result of the project involved;

(iv) a plan that describes provisions to encourage the implementation of the electronic exchange of health information by all health care providers participating in the health information plan; and

(v) a plan to ensure the privacy and security of individually identifiable health information that is consistent with Federal and State law;

(vi) a governance plan that defines the mechanisms by which the stakeholders shall jointly make policy and operational decisions on an ongoing basis;

(vii) a financial or business plan that describes—

(I) the sustainability of the plan;

(II) the financial costs and benefits of the plan; and

(III) the entities to which such costs and benefits will accrue;

(viii) a description of whether the State in which the entity resides has received a grant under section 319D, alone or as a part of a consortium, and if the State has received such a grant, how the entity will coordinate the activities funded under such section 319D with the system under this section; and

(ix) in the case of an applicant entity that is able to demonstrate participation of all stakeholders pursuant to paragraph (2)(C), the justification from the entity for any such nonparticipation.

(B) DETERMINATION OF AMOUNT OF FUNDS.—Amounts received under a grant under paragraph (1) shall be used to establish and implement a regional or local health information plan in accordance with this subsection.

(7) MATCHING REQUIREMENT.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may not make a grant under this subsection to an entity unless the entity agrees to—

(i) demonstrate financial need to the Secretary;

(ii) organizations and agencies that provide outreach, access, equipment, and support services to facilitate greater use of broadband service by low-income, unemployed, aged, and otherwise vulnerable populations; and

(iii) job-creating strategic facilities located within a State-designated economic zone, Economic Development District designated by the Department of Commerce, Renewal Community or Empowerment Zone designated by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, or Enterprise Community designated by the Department of Agriculture.

(E) improve access to, and use of, broadband service by public safety agencies; and

(F) stimulate the demand for broadband, economic growth, and job creation.

(2) The Assistant Secretary may consult with the chief executive officer of any State with respect to—

(A) the identification of areas described in subsection (1)(A) or (B) located in that State; and

(B) the allocation of grant funds within that State for projects in or affecting the State.

(3) The Assistant Secretary shall—

(A) establish and implement the grant program as expeditiously as practicable; and

(B) ensure that all awards are made before the end of fiscal year 2010.

(C) seek such assurances as may be necessary or appropriate from grantees under the program that they will substantially comply with the program in accordance with project timelines, not to exceed 2 years following an award; and

(D) report on the status of the program to the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House and the Senate, the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House, and the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation of the Senate, every 90 days.

(4) To be eligible for a grant under the program an applicant shall—

(A) be a State or political subdivision thereof, a nonprofit foundation, corporation, institution or association, Indian tribe, Native Hawaiian organization, or other nonprofit or governmental entity with a State or political subdivision thereof, Indian tribe, or Native Hawaiian organization if the Assistant Secretary determines the partnership is consistent with the purposes this section;

(B) submit an application, at such time, in such form, and containing such information as the Assistant Secretary may require;

(C) provide a detailed explanation of how any amount received under the program will be carried out by the section in an efficient and expeditious manner, including a demonstration that the project would not have been implemented during the grant period without Federal grant assistance;

(D) demonstrate, to the satisfaction of the Assistant Secretary, that it is capable of carrying out the project and that the application relates in a competent manner in compliance with all applicable Federal, State, and local laws;

(E) demonstrate, to the satisfaction of the Assistant Secretary, that it will appropriate (if the applicant is a State or local government entity) or otherwise unconditionally obligate, from non-Federal sources, funds required to meet the requirements of paragraph (5);

(F) disclose to the Assistant Secretary the source and amount of other Federal or State funding sources from which the applicant receives, or has applied for, funding for activities or projects to which the application relates; and

(G) provide such assurances and procedures as the Assistant Secretary may require to ensure that grant funds are used and accounted for in an appropriate manner.

(5) The Federal share of any project may not exceed 80 percent, except that the Assistant Secretary may increase the Federal share of a project above 80 percent if—

(A) the applicant petitions the Assistant Secretary for a waiver; and

(B) the Assistant Secretary determines that the petition demonstrates financial need.

(6) The Assistant Secretary may make competitive grants under the program to—

(A) acquire equipment, instrumentation, networking capability, hardware and software, digital network technology, and infrastructure for broadband services;

(B) construct and deploy broadband service related infrastructure;

(C) deploy necessary infrastructure for the provision of wireless voice service;

(D) ensure access to broadband service by community anchor institutions;

(E) facilitate access to broadband service by low-income, unemployed, aged, and otherwise vulnerable populations in order to provide educational and employment opportunities to members of such populations;

(F) construct and deploy broadband facilities that improve public safety broadband communications services; and

(G) undertake such other projects and activities as the Assistant Secretary finds to be consistent with the purposes for which the program is established.

(7) The Assistant Secretary shall—

(A) require any entity receiving a grant pursuant to this section to report quarterly, in a format specified by the Assistant Secretary, on the extent of the entity’s assistance and progress fulfilling the objectives for which such funds were granted, and the Assistant Secretary shall make these reports available to the public;
(B) may establish additional reporting and information requirements for any recipient of any assistance made available pursuant to this section;
(C) shall establish appropriate mechanisms to ensure appropriate use and compliance with the conditions of use of funds made available pursuant to this section;
(D) may, in addition to other authority under applicable law, deobligate funds to a retrocession that demonstrates an insufficient level of performance, or wasteful or fraudulent spending, as defined in advance by the Assistant Secretary and award these funds competitively to new or existing applicants consistent with this section; and
(E) shall create and maintain a fully searchable database accessible on the Internet at no cost to the public, that contains at least the names of each entity receiving funds made available pursuant to this section, the purpose for which such entity is receiving such funds, each quarterly report submitted by the entity pursuant to this section, and such other information sufficient to allow the public to understand and monitor grants awarded under the program.
(b) Concurrent with the issuance of the Request for Proposal for grant applications pursuant to this section, the Assistant Secretary shall, in coordination with the Federal Communications Commission, publish the non-discrimination and nondisparagement requirements that shall be contractual conditions of grants awarded under this section.
(c) Within 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Commission shall complete a rulemakings to develop a national broadband plan. In developing the plan, the Commission shall—
(A) consider the most effective and efficient national strategy for ensuring that all Americans have access to, and take advantage of, advanced broadband services;
(B) have access to data provided to other Government agencies under the Broadband Data Improvement Act (47 U.S.C. 1301 note);
(C) evaluate the status of deployments of broadband service, including the progress of projects supported by the grants made pursuant to this section; and
(D) develop recommendations for achieving the goal of nationally available broadband service for the United States and for promoting broadband adoption nationwide.
(d) The Assistant Secretary shall develop and maintain a comprehensive nationwide inventory map of existing broadband service capability and availability in the United States that entities and depicts the geographic extent to which broadband service capability is deployed and available from a commercial provider or public provider throughout the United States. Not later than 2 years after the date of the enactment of the Act, the Assistant Secretary shall make the broadband inventory map developed and maintained pursuant to this section accessible to the public.
(e) For purposes of this section, the term "wireless voice service" means the provision of two-way, real-time, voice communications using a mobile service.

SEC. 5001. TEMPORARY INCREASE OF MEDICAID FMAP.

(a) PERMITTING MAINTENANCE OF FMAP.—Subject to subsections (d), (e), (f), and (g) if the FMAP determined without regard to this section for a State for—

(1) fiscal year 2009 is less than the FMAP as so determined for fiscal year 2008, the Fiscal Year Block Grant Act of the State for fiscal year 2008 shall be substituted for the State’s FMAP for fiscal year 2009, before the application of this section;

(2) fiscal year 2010 is less than the FMAP as so determined for fiscal year 2008 or fiscal year 2009 (after the application of paragraph (1)), the greater of such FMAP for the State for fiscal year 2008 or fiscal year 2009 shall be substituted for the State’s FMAP for fiscal year 2010, before the application of this section; and

(3) fiscal year 2011 is less than the FMAP as so determined for fiscal year 2008, fiscal year 2009 (after the application of paragraph (1)), or fiscal year 2010 (after the application of paragraph (2)), the greater of such FMAP for the State for fiscal year 2008, fiscal year 2009, or fiscal year 2010 shall be substituted for the State’s FMAP for fiscal year 2011, before the application of this section, but only for the first, second, and third calendar quarters in fiscal year 2011.

(b) PERMISSIBLE PERCENTAGE INCREASE.—Subject to subsections (d), (e), (f), and (g), for each State for calendar quarters during the recession adjustment period (as defined in subsection (b)(2)), the FMAP (after the application of subsection (a)) shall be increased (without regard to any limitation on the service amount in section 1903(b) of the Social Security Act) by 9.5 percentage points.

(c) ENCAPSULATION IN MEDICAID PAYMENTS TO LOCAL GOVERNMENTS.—Subject to subsections (e), (f), and (g), with respect to entire fiscal years occurring during the recession adjustment period and with respect to fiscal years only a portion of which occurs during such period (and in proportion to the portion of the fiscal year that occurs during such period), the amounts otherwise determined for Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, the Northern Mariana Islands, and American Samoa under subsections (f) and (g) of section 1108 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1318) shall each be increased by 9.5 percent.

(d) SCOPE OF APPLICATION.—The increases in the State’s FMAP under subsection (a) shall apply for purposes of title XIX of the Social Security Act and shall not apply with respect to—

(1) disproportionate share hospital payments described in section 1923 of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1396a–4);

(2) payments under title IV of such Act (42 U.S.C. 601 et seq.) except that the increases under subsections (a) and (b) shall apply to payments under part E of title IV of such Act (42 U.S.C. 692 et seq.);

(3) payments under title XXI of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1397a et seq.);

(4) any payments under title XIX of such Act that would otherwise be prohibited by the Department of Health and Human Services.

(e) STATE INELIGIBILITY.—

(1) MAINTENANCE OF ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS.—In general.—Subject to subparagraphs (B) and (C), a State is not eligible for an increase in its FMAP under subsection (a) or (b), or an increase in a cap amount under subsection (c), if eligibility standards, methodologies, or procedures under its State plan under title XIX of the Social Security Act (including any waiver under such title or under section 1115 of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1315)) are more restrictive than the eligibility standards, methodologies, or procedures, respectively, under such plan (or waiver) as in effect on July 1, 2008.

(B) STATE REINSTATEMENT OF ELIGIBILITY PERMITTED.—Subject to subparagraph (C), a State that has restricted eligibility standards, methodologies, or procedures under its State plan under title XIX of the Social Security Act (including any waiver under such title or under section 1115 of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1315)) after July 1, 2008, is no longer ineligible under subparagraph (A) beginning with the first calendar quarter in which the State has reinstated eligibility standards, methodologies, or procedures that are no more restrictive than the eligibility standards, methodologies, or procedures, respectively, under such plan (or waiver) as in effect on July 1, 2008.

(C) SPECIAL RULES.—A State shall not be ineligible under subparagraph (A)—

(i) for the calendar quarters before July 1, 2009, on the basis of a restriction that was directed to be made under State law as of July 1, 2008, and would have been in effect as of such date, but for a delay in the request for, and approval of, a waiver under section 1115 of such Act with respect to such restriction;

(2) COMPLIANCE WITH PROMPT PAY REQUIREMENTS.—No State shall be eligible for an increased FMAP rate as provided under this section for an action that results in an increase in the FMAP for such State under section 1903(b) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1396a) if the State, prior to July 1, 2009, has reinstated eligibility standards, methodologies, or procedures that are no more restrictive than the eligibility standards, methodologies, or procedures, respectively, under such plan (or waiver) as in effect on July 1, 2008; or

(ii) on the basis of a restriction that was directed to be made under State law as of July 1, 2008, and would have been in effect as of such date, but for a delay in the request for, and approval of, a waiver under section 1115 of such Act with respect to such restriction.

(3) NO WAIVER AUTHORITY.—The Secretary may not waive the application of this section or section 1115 of such Act defined in section 1905(b) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1396a) if the State certifies to the Secretary, as provided in section 1902(a)(37)(A) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1396a) (as determined otherwise provided:)

(4) SECRETARY.—The term “Secretary” means the Secretary of Health and Human Services.

(5) STATE.—The term “State” has the meaning given such term for purposes of title XIX of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1396 et seq.).

(6) SUNSET.—This section shall not apply to items and services furnished after the end of the recession adjustment period.

SA 289. Mr. GRASSLEY submitted an amendment intended to be proposed to the bill H.R. 1, making supplemental appropriations for job preservation and creation, infrastructure investment, energy efficiency and science, assistance to the unemployed, and State and local fiscal stabilization, for fiscal year ending September 30, 2009, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table: as follows:

On page 723, between lines 7 and 8, insert the following:

(3) QUARTERLY CERTIFICATION OF NO NEW TAXES.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—For each fiscal year quarter during the recession adjustment period, a State eligible for an increased FMAP under this section shall certify to the Secretary, as a condition of receiving the additional Federal funds resulting from the application of this section to the State for the quarter, that the State will not take any action to raise State income, property, or sales taxes during such quarter, and that the State will not make such a certification shall not be eligible for such additional Federal funds.

(B) DETERMINATION OF ACTIONS.—The Secretary shall certify that the State has made such a certification by the Secretary as a condition of receiving the additional Federal funds resulting from the application of this section to the State for the quarter, that the State will take any action to raise State income, property, or sales taxes during such quarter, and that the State will make such a certification shall not be eligible for such additional Federal funds.

(C) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS.—Each State that is paid additional Federal funds as a result of this section shall, not later than September 30, 2011, submit a report to the Secretary, in such form as the Secretary shall determine, regarding how the additional Federal funds were expended.

(D) ADDITIONAL FUNDING REQUIREMENTS.—Each State that is paid additional Federal funds as a result of this section shall, not later than September 30, 2011, certify to the Secretary that the State will use the additional Federal funds to make such a certification shall not be eligible for such additional Federal funds and any State that makes such a certification and is paid additional Federal funds as a result of the Secretary’s determination that the application of this section to the State for the quarter, that the State will not take any action to raise State income, property, or sales taxes during such quarter, and that the State will make such a certification shall not be eligible for such additional Federal funds.

(E) ADDITIONAL FUNDING REQUIREMENTS.—Each State that is paid additional Federal funds as a result of this section shall, not later than September 30, 2011, certify to the Secretary that the State will use the additional Federal funds to make such a certification shall not be eligible for such additional Federal funds and any State that makes such a certification and is paid additional Federal funds as a result of the Secretary’s determination that the application of this section to the State for the quarter, that the State will not take any action to raise State income, property, or sales taxes during such quarter, and that the State will make such a certification shall not be eligible for such additional Federal funds.
the quarter shall pay the Secretary an amount equal to the additional Federal funds paid to the State under this section during the period of noncompliance and shall cease to be eligible for an increased FMAP under this section for the remainder of the recession adjustment period.

(B) Nonapplication to state action taken prior to date of enactment.—In the case of a State that enacted a law or took other action before the date of enactment of this Act that will result in an increase in State income, taxes, or other such new law such action may only use amounts provided under this heading to assist consumers with the purchase or installation, or both, of an indoor or outdoor antenna, if upon the determination of the Assistant Secretary, in consultation with the Federal Communications Commission, the Secretary, and the Secretaries of Commerce such funds are no longer necessary to provide additional coupons under section 3005 of the Digital Television Transition and Public Safety Act of 2002; Provided further, That’.

TITLE I—FIX HOUSING FIRST

Subtitle A—Homeowner Security Program

SEC. 1001. HOMEOWNER SECURITY PROGRAM.

(a) Establishment of Program.—The Secretary of the Treasury (in this subtitle referred to as the “Secretary”) shall, not later than 1 month after the date of enactment of this Act, in consultation with the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, develop and implement a comprehensive homeowner security program in accordance with this section.

(b) Criteria.—The homeowner security program developed under this subtitle (in this subtitle referred to as the “program”) shall—

(1) require the Federal Government to take action to restore mortgage interest rates for 30-year fixed mortgages to amounts that are comparable to the return on obligations of the Treasury of comparable maturity, based on the average of the spreads of such rates over the 20-year period preceding the date of enactment of this Act;

(2) include specific measures to minimize cost and risk to the taxpayer and minimize market distortions;

(3) be limited to—

(A) providing funds to the Federal National Mortgage Association and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation from the fund established under section 1006 for the purpose of purchasing newly issued mortgages, bonds, or mortgage-backed securities under this subtitle; and

(B) the payment of applicable prepayment or other fees or penalties associated with underlying mortgage loans;

(4) limit such action to conforming loans, as determined by the Federal National Mortgage Association and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, using conforming loan limits in effect for 2008;

(5) apply such action only—

(A) to creditworthy homeowners, as determined by the Secretary, following an economic study of reducing mortgage interest rates, estimating the impact on the mortgage delinquencies and foreclosures, housing prices, and credit markets; and

(B) the payment of applicable prepayment or other fees or penalties associated with underlying mortgage loans;

(6) ensure availability of such mortgage loans for home purchases regardless of the type or size of financial institution that acts as a loan originator or a portfolio lender, taking into account the differences in the cost of funds and other factors when executing the program;

(7) allow new purchases and refinanced loans to qualify for such action; and

(8) result in the payment of a reasonable share of the amount of mortgage payments necessary to maximize the economic benefit of the program.

(c) Authority to Pay Certain Fees.—Funds made available to carry out this subtitle (in this subtitle referred to as the “program”) may be used to pay loan origination fees, if the Secretary determines that such payments are necessary to maximize the economic benefit of the program.

(d) Additional Considerations.—In developing the program under this subtitle, the Secretary shall consider whether refinancings under the program should be in the form of outright prepayment or new loans with significantly lower interest rates.

SEC. 1002. TERMINATION.

The program developed under section 1001, and the authority of the Secretary under this subtitle, shall terminate on December 31, 2010, or such later date as the Secretary determines that no further economic benefit can be achieved or cannot be achieved by the private market.

SEC. 1003. OTHER LIMITATIONS.

(a) Restrictions.—The Secretary, the Federal National Mortgage Association, or the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation re-packages and sells mortgages funded under the program developed under this subtitle, such mortgages shall be segregated from other mortgages not so funded, and shall be identified as such.

(b) Information Available to Borrowers.—The rules of the Secretary under this subtitle shall assure the ability of the homeowner with respect to a mortgage loan refinanced under the homeowner security program to ascertain the identity of the owner or holder of the mortgage, including upon resale of the mortgage.

(c) Authority of the Secretary.—The Secretary is authorized to issue such rules to effectuate this subtitle as the Secretary determines are appropriate, including measures designed to address problems that have contributed to the mortgage crisis, and to prevent such future crises.

SEC. 1004. STUDY ON INTEREST RATES.

In carrying out this subtitle, the Secretary shall—

(1) conduct an economic study of reducing mortgage interest rates, estimating the impact on the mortgage delinquencies and foreclosures, housing prices, and credit markets; and

(2) develop clear metrics for the homeowner security program.

SEC. 1005. REPORTS TO CONGRESS.

The Secretary shall submit a report to Congress once every 3 months on the development and implementation of the program required by this subtitle, together with any necessary legislative recommendations.

SEC. 1006. FUNDING.

(a) Establishment of Fund.—The fund established under this Act shall be in addition to the funds held by the Federal National Mortgage Association and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation from the fund established under section 1006 for the purpose of purchasing newly issued mortgages, bonds, or mortgage-backed securities under this subtitle.

(b) Authority of the Secretary.—The Secretary is authorized to requisition such funds as necessary.

(c) Authorization to Pay Certain Fees.—Funds made available to carry out this subtitle, $300,000,000,000, to remain available until expended.

(d) Termination of Fund.—The fund established under this Act shall remain in effect for such period as any obligation under this subtitle remains outstanding, and shall be terminated when all such obligations are repaid.

SEC. 1007. OTHER MORTGAGE PURCHASES.

Nothing in this subtitle shall preclude the Federal National Mortgage Association or the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation from using funds not appropriated under this subtitle for the purpose of purchasing mortgage loans.

Subtitle B—Foreclosure Mitigation

SEC. 1011. DEFINITIONS.

For purposes of this subtitle—

(1) the term “mortgage purchase” means a purchase of a mortgage, or share of a mortgage, on a mortgage-backed security; and

(2) the term “servicer” means a servicer of mortgage loans.
(4) the term ‘eligible servicer’ means a servicer of pooled and securitized residential mortgages, all of which are eligible mortgages;

(5) the term ‘eligible mortgage’ means a residential mortgage, the principal amount of which did not exceed the conforming loan size limit that was in existence at the time of origination of a comparable dwelling, as established by the Federal National Mortgage Association;

(6) the term ‘Secretary’ means the Secretary of the Treasury;

(7) the term ‘effective term of the subtitle’ means the period beginning on the effect of the subtitle and ending on December 31, 2011;

(8) the term ‘incentive fee’ means the monthly payment to eligible servicers, as determined under section 1012(a); and

(9) the term ‘Office’ means the Office of Aggrieved Investor Claims established under section 1013(a); and

(10) the term ‘prepayment fee’ means the payment to eligible servicers, as determined under section 1012(b).

SEC. 1012. PAYMENTS TO ELIGIBLE SERVICERS AUTHORIZED.

(a) AUTHORITY.—The Secretary is authorized during the effective term of this subtitle, to make payments to eligible servicers in an aggregate amount not to exceed $10,000,000,000, subject to the terms and conditions established under this subtitle.

(b) ELIGIBLE SERVICERS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—During the effective term of the subtitle, eligible servicers may collect monthly fee payments, consistent with the limitations in paragraph (2).

(2) CONDITIONS.—For every mortgage that was—

(A) not prepaid during a month, an eligible servicer may collect a one-time prepayment fee equal to 10 percent of mortgage payments received during that month, not to exceed $50 per loan; and

(B) prepaid during a month, an eligible servicer may collect a one-time prepayment fee equal to 12 times the amount of the incentive fee for the preceding month.

For purposes of subparagraph (A), total fees which may be collected for any mortgage may not exceed $1,000.

Safeguard. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, and notwithstanding any investment contract between a servicer and a securitization vehicle, a servicer—

(1) to maximize the net present value of the pooled mortgages in the securitization vehicle to all investors and parties having a direct or indirect interest in such vehicle, and not to any individual party or group of parties; and

(2) shall be deemed to act in the best interests of all such investors and parties if the servicer agrees to or implements a modification, workout, or other loss mitigation plan for a residential mortgage or a class of residential mortgages that constitutes a part of or all of the mortgages in such securitization vehicle, if—

(A) default on the payment of such mortgage has occurred or is reasonably foreseeable;

(B) the property securing such mortgage is occupied by the mortgagor of such mortgage; and

(C) the servicer reasonably and in good faith believes that the anticipated recovery on the principal outstanding obligation of the mortgage under the modification or workout plan exceeds, on a net present value basis, the anticipated recovery on the principal outstanding obligation of the mortgage through foreclosure;

(3) shall not be obligated to repurchase loans from, or otherwise make payments to, the securitization vehicle on account of a modification, workout, or other loss mitigation plan that satisfies the conditions of paragraph (2); and

(4) if it acts in a manner consistent with the privacy interests of the borrower and (2), shall not be liable for entering into a modification or workout plan to any person—

(A) based on ownership by that person of a residential mortgage loan or any interest in a pool of residential mortgage loans, or in securities that distribute payments out of the principal, interest, and other payments in loans in the pool;

(B) who is obligated to make payments determined in reference to any loan or any interest referred to in subparagraph (A); or

(C) that insures any loan or any interest referred to in subparagraph (A) under any provision of law or regulation of the United States or any State or political subdivision thereof.

(d) LEGAL COSTS.—If an unsuccessful suit is brought by a person described in subsection (d)(4), the person shall bear the actual legal costs of the servicer, including reasonable attorney fees and expert witness fees, incurred in good faith.

(e) REPORTING REQUIREMENTS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Each servicer shall report regularly, not less frequently than monthly, to the Secretary and the scope of the loss mitigation activities of the mortgage owner.

(2) CONTENT.—Each report required by this subsection shall include—

(A) the number of residential mortgage loans receiving loss mitigation that have become performing loans;

(B) the number of residential mortgage loans receiving loss mitigation that have proceeded to foreclosure;

(C) the total number of foreclosures initiated during the reporting period;

(D) data on loss mitigation activities, disaggregated to reflect whether the loss mitigation was in the form of—

(i) a waiver of any late payment charge, penalty interest, or any other fees or charges, or any combination thereof;

(ii) the establishment of a mortgage loan under which the homeowner resumes regularly scheduled payments and pays additional amounts at scheduled intervals to cure the delinquency of the loan; and

(iii) forbearance under the loan that provides for a temporary reduction in or cessation of monthly payments, followed by a repayment of all amounts due under the loan, including arrearage, and a new schedule of repayment amounts;

(iv) waiver, modification, or variation of any material term of the loan, including short-term, long-term, or life-of-loan modifications that change the interest rate, forgiven the principal of the loan, or extended the maturity date of the loan;

(v) short refinancing of the loan consisting of acceptance of payment from or on behalf of the homeowner of an amount less than the amount due under the loan, including principal, interest, and fees, in full satisfaction of the obligation under such loan and as part of a refinancing transaction in which the property is intended to remain the principal residence of the homeowner;

(vi) acquisition of the property by the owner or servicer by deed in lieu of foreclosure;

(vii) short sale of the principal residence that is subject to the lien securing the loan; and

(viii) modification of the terms of the loan to the homeowner under the loan by a third party;

(ix) cancellation or postponement of a foreclosure sale to allow the homeowner additional time to cure the delinquency or (x) any other loss mitigation activity not covered; and

(E) such other information as the Secretary determines to be relevant.

(3) PUBLIC AVAILABILITY OF REPORTS.—After removing information that would compromise the privacy interests of the borrowers, the Secretary shall make public the reports required by this subsection.

SEC. 1013. COMPENSATION FOR AGGRIEVED INVESTORS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—

(1) COMPENSATION.—Each injured person shall be entitled to receive from the United States—

(A) compensation for injury suffered by the injured person as a result of loan modification or workout pursuant to this subtitle; and

(B) damages described in subsection (d)(4), as determined by the Secretary of the Treasury.

(b) OFFICE OF AGGRIEVED INVESTOR CLAIMS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—There is established within the Department of Treasury an Office of Aggrieved Investor Claims.

(2) PURPOSE.—The Office shall receive, process, and pay claims in accordance with this section.

(c) FUNDING.—The Office—

(1) shall be funded from funds made available to the Secretary under this section;

(ii) may appoint and fix the compensation of such temporary personnel as may be necessary, without regard to the provisions of title 5, United States Code, applying to other appointments in competitive service; and

(iv) upon the request of the Secretary, the head of any Federal department or agency shall direct, on a reimbursable basis, any of the personnel of that department or agency to the Department of Treasury to assist it in carrying out its duties under this section.

(d) APPORTIONMENT OF AGGRIEVED INVESTOR CLAIMS MANAGER.—The Secretary may appoint an Independent Claims Manager—

(A) to head the Office; and

(B) to assume the duties of the Secretary under this section.

(b) SUBMISSION OF CLAIMS.—Not later than 2 years after the date on which regulations are first promulgated under subsection (f), an injured person may submit to the Secretary a written claim for one or more injuries sustained by the injured person in accordance with such requirements as the Secretary determines to be appropriate.

(c) DETERMINATION AND PAYMENT OF AMOUNT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall, on behalf of the United States, investigate, consider, ascertain, adjust, determine, grant, deny, or settle any claim for money damages asserted under subsection (b).

(2) EXTENT OF DAMAGES.—Any payment under this section—

(A) shall be limited to actual compensatory damages measured by injuries suffered; and

(B) shall not include—

(i) interest before settlement or payment of a claim; or

(ii) punitive damages.

(d) PAYMENT OF CLAIMS.—

(1) ADMINISTRATION AND PAYMENT OF AMOUNT.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 180 days after the date on which a claim is submitted under this section, the Secretary shall determine and fix the amount, if any, to be paid for the claim.

(B) PARAMETERS OF DETERMINATION.—In determining the amount of a claim under this section, the Secretary shall determine only—

(i) whether the claimant is an injured person;

(ii) whether the injury that is the subject of the claim resulted from a loan modification or workout pursuant to this subtitle; settlement of a claim, including final settlement, advance or partial payments before the final settlement, and any other payment on a claim under this section, except an advance or partial payment made pursuant to this subtitle for the following types of otherwise uncompensated financial loss:

(A) Lost personal income

(B) Any other loss that the Secretary determines to be appropriate for inclusion as financial loss.

(4) ALLOWABLE DAMAGES FOR FINANCIAL LOSS.—A claim that is paid for injury under this section may include damages resulting from a loan modification pursuant to this subtitle for the loss of personal income by an injured individual.

(5) ELECTION OF REMEDY.—On establishment of arbitration procedures under subparagraph (A), an injured person that submits a disputed claim under this section may elect to settle the claim through arbitration.

(B) BINDING EFFECT.—An election by an injured person to settle a claim through arbitration under this paragraph shall—

(1) be binding; and

(2) preclude any exercise by the injured person of the right to judicial review of a claim described in subsection (i).

(1) Judicial Review.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Any claimant aggrieved by a final decision of the Secretary under this section may, not later than 60 days after the date on which the decision is issued, bring a civil action in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, to modify or set aside the decision, in whole or in part.

(2) RECORD.—The court shall hear a civil action under paragraph (1) on the record made before the Secretary.

(3) STANDARDS.—The decision of the Secretary incorporating the findings of the Secretary shall be upheld if the decision is supported by substantial evidence on the record considered as a whole.

(4) ATTORNEY’S AND AGENT’S FEES.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—No attorney or agent, acting alone or in combination with any other attorney or agent, demand, receive, or collect, for services rendered in connection with a claim submitted under this section, fees in excess of 10 percent of the amount of any payment on the claim.

(B) VIOLATION.—An attorney or agent who violates paragraph (1) shall be fined not more than $10,000.

(6) APPLICABILITY OF DEBT COLLECTION REQUIREMENTS.—Section 3716 of title 31, United States Code, shall not apply to any payment on the claim.

(7) DUPLICATE Submission of CLAIMS.—The authority of the Secretary to provide assistance under this title shall terminate on December 31, 2011.

Subtitle C—Credit for Certain Home Purchases

SEC. 1021. CREDIT FOR CERTAIN HOME PURCHASES.

(A) ALLOWANCE OF CREDIT.—Subpart A of paragraph (2) of subsection (a) of section 163(h) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 shall be amended by inserting after section 163(h)(10) the following new section:

(B) ALLOCATION OF CREDIT AMOUNT.—At the election of the taxpayer, the amount of the credit allowed under paragraph (1) after application of paragraph (2) may be equally divided among the 2 taxable years beginning with the taxable year in which the purchase of the qualified principal residence is made.

(2) LIMITATIONS.—

(A) DOLLAR LIMITATION.—The amount of the credit allowed under subsection (a) shall not exceed $15,000.

(B) TOOLS但仍置信 the date of promulgation of regulations under this section, fees in excess of 10 percent of the purchase price of the residence shall not exceed the excess of—

(A) the sum of the regular tax liability (as defined in section 26(b)) plus the tax imposed by section 55, over—

(B) the sum of the credits allowable under this subpart (other than this section) for the taxable year.

(3) ONE-TIME ONLY.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—If a credit is allowed under this section in the case of any individual (and such individual’s spouse, if married) with respect to the purchase of any qualified principal residence, no credit shall be allowed under this section in any taxable year with respect to the purchase of any other qualified principal residence by such individual or a spouse of such individual.

(B) JOINT PURCHASE.—In the case of a purchase of a qualified principal residence by 2 or more unmarried individuals or by 2 married individuals filing separately, no credit shall be allowed under this section if a credit under this section has been allowed to any of such individuals in any taxable year with respect to the purchase of any other qualified principal residence.

(4) QUALIFIED PRINCIPAL RESIDENCE.—For purposes of this section, the term ‘qualified principal residence’ means a single-family residence that is purchased to be the primary residence of the purchaser.

(5) DENIAL OF DOUBLE BENEFIT.—No credit shall be allowed under this section if a credit under this section has been allowed to any of such individuals in any taxable year with respect to the purchase of any other qualified principal residence.

(6) SPECIAL RULES.—

(A) MARRIED INDIVIDUALS FILING SEPARATELY.—In the case of married individuals filing separately, subsection (a) shall be applied to each such individual by substituting ‘$7,500’ for ‘$15,000’ in subsection (a)(1).

(2) Unmarried Individuals.—If 2 or more individuals who are not married purchase a qualified principal residence, the amount of the credit allowed under subsection (a) shall be allocated among such individuals in such manner as the Secretary may prescribe, except that the total amount of the credits allowed to all such individuals shall not exceed $15,000.

(2) PURCHASE.—In defining the purchase of a qualified principal residence, rules similar to those paragraphs (2) and (3) of section 1400C(e) (as in effect on the date of the enactment of this section) shall apply.

(3) REPORTING REQUIREMENT.—Rules similar to those of section 1400C(f) (as in effect on the date of the enactment of this section) shall apply.

(f) Recapture of Credit in the Case of Certain Dispositions.—(1) IN GENERAL.—In the event that a taxpayer—

(A) disposes of the principal residence with respect to which a credit was allowed under subsection (a), or

(B) fails to occupy such residence as the taxpayer’s principal residence, at any time within 24 months after the date on which the taxpayer purchased such residence, then the tax imposed by this chapter for the taxable year during which such disposition occurred in which the taxpayer failed to occupy the residence as a principal residence shall be increased by the amount of such credit.

(2) OTHER RECUPERATIONS.—

(A) DEATH OF TAXPAYER.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply to any taxable year ending after the date of the taxpayer’s death.

(B) DIVORCE.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply in the case of a residence which is compulsorily or involuntarily converted (within the meaning of section 1031) to such residence at any time within 24 months after the date on which the taxpayer purchased such residence.

(C) TRANSFERS BETWEEN SPOUSES OR INCIDENT TO DIVORCE.—In the case of a transfer of a residence to which section 1941(a) applies—

(i) paragraph (1) shall not apply to such transfer, and

(ii) in the case of taxable years ending after such transfer, paragraph (1) shall apply to the residence in the same manner as if such transferee were the transferor (and shall not apply to the transferor).

(D) REPLACEMENT—MEMBERS OF THE ARMED FORCES.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply in the case of a member of the Armed Forces of the United States on active duty in the line of duty who moves pursuant to a military order and incident to a permanent change of station.

(E) JOINT RETURNS.—In the case of a credit allowed under subsection (a) with respect to a joint return, half of such credit shall be treated as having been allowed to each individual filing such return for purposes of this subsection.

(4) RETURN REQUIREMENT.—If the tax imposed by this chapter for the taxable year is increased under this subsection, the taxpayer shall, notwithstanding section 6012, be required to file a return with respect to the taxes imposed under this subtitle.

(g) BASIS ADJUSTMENT.—For purposes of this subtitle, if a credit is allowed under this section to the purchase of any residence, the basis of such residence shall be reduced by the amount of the credit so allowed.

(h) Election to Treat Purchase in Prior Year.—In the case of a purchase of a principal residence during the period described in subsection (a), a taxpayer may elect to treat such purchase as made on December 31, 2008, for purposes of this section.

(b) CREDITS.—In the case of a refund under paragraph (a), the amount of such refund—

(i) to the extent allocable to taxable years beginning before January 1, 2009, shall be treated as having been allowed to each individual filing such return; and

(ii) to the extent allocable to taxable years beginning after December 31, 2008, shall be treated as having been allowed to all such individuals.

(c) SUNSET.—The provisions of this section shall apply to taxable years ending after December 31, 2010.

the application of this paragraph, paragraph (1)(A) shall be applied, at the election of the taxpayer, by substituting ‘5’ or ‘4’ for ‘3’.

(B) APPLICABLE 2008 OR 2009 LOSS FROM OPERATIONS.—For purposes of this paragraph, the term ‘applicable date’ means—

(i) the taxpayer’s loss from operations for any taxable year ending in 2008 or 2009,

(ii) if the taxpayer elects to have this clause apply in lieu of clause (i), the taxpayer’s loss from operations for any taxable year ending in 2008 or 2009 after the applicable date.

(C) ELECTION.—Any election under this paragraph shall be made in such manner as may be prescribed by the Secretary, and shall be made by the due date (including extension of time) for filing the taxpayer’s return for the taxable year of the loss from operations for such election, once made, shall be irrevocable.

(D) COORDINATION WITH ALTERNATIVE TAX NET OPERATING LOSS DEDUCTION.—In the case of any taxpayer who elects to have subparagraph (B) apply, section 56(d)(1)(A)(ii) shall be applied by substituting ‘ending during 2001 or 2002 or beginning during 2008 or 2009’ for ‘ending during 2001, 2002, 2008, or 2009’.

(d) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Section 172 is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

(5) OTHER DEFINITIONS AND RULES.—For purposes of this section, the term ‘repurchase’ means, with respect to a debt instrument, any purchase of the debt instrument by—

(A) the debtor which issued (or is otherwise the obligor under) the debt instrument,

(B) any person related to such debtor.

Such term shall also include the complete forgiveness of the indebtedness by the holder of the debt instrument. For purposes of subparagraph (B), the term ‘related to’ shall not apply if a person is related to another person, whether a person is related to another person shall be made in the same manner as under subparagraph (e)(4).

Subsection (c)(8)(A) shall be applied in the same manner as under subsection (c)(9)(A).

(ii) PASS THROUGH ENTITIES.—In the case of a proceeding of a life insurance company, a loss from operations for a taxable year ending before the date of the enactment of this Act—

(A) any loss made under section 172(b)(3) or 810(b)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 with respect to such loss may (notwithstanding section 172(b)(3)) be revoked before the applicable date,

(B) any election made under section 172(k) or 810(b)(4) of such Code with respect to such loss shall (notwithstanding such section) be treated by the Secretary as if made before the applicable date, and

(C) any application under section 6411(a) of such Code with respect to such loss shall be treated as if timely filed if filed before the applicable date.

For purposes of this paragraph, the term “applicable date” means the date which is 60 days after the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 3102. EXCEPTION FOR TARP RECIPIENTS.

The amendments made by this section shall not apply—

(1) any taxpayer if—

(A) the Federal Government acquires, at any time, an equity interest in the taxpayer pursuant to the Emergency Economic Stabilization Act of 2008, or

(B) the Federal Government acquires, at any time, any warrant (or other right) to acquire an equity interest with respect to the taxpayer pursuant to such Act,

(2) the Federal National Mortgage Association and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation,

(3) any taxpayer which at any time in 2008 or 2009 is a member of the same affiliated group (as defined in section 1564 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, determined without regard to subsection (b) thereof) as a taxpayer described in paragraph (1) or (2).

Subtitle C.—Incentives for New Jobs

SEC. 3201. INCENTIVES TO HIRE UNEMPLOYED VETERANS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subsection (d) of section 51 is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

(14) CREDIT ALLOWED FOR UNEMPLOYED VETERANS HIRED IN 2009 OR 2010.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Any unemployed veteran who is employed by the taxpayer during 2009 or 2010 shall be treated as a member of a targeted group for purposes of this paragraph.

(B) UNEMPLOYED VETERAN.—For purposes of this paragraph, the term ‘unemployed veteran’ means any veteran (as defined in paragraph (5)(B), determined without regard to clause (ii) thereof) who is designated by the local agency as—

(i) having been discharged or released from active duty in the Armed Forces during 2006, 2007, or 2008, and

(ii) being in receipt of unemployment compensation under State or Federal law for not less than 4 weeks during the 1-year period ending on the applicable date.

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by this section shall apply to individuals who begin work for the employer after December 31, 2008.

Subtitle D.—Cancellation of Indebtedness

SEC. 3301. DEFERRAL AND RATABLE INCLUSION OF INCOME ARISING FROM INDEBTEDNESS DISCHARGED BY THE REPURCHASE OF A DEBT INSTRUMENT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 108 (relating to income from discharge of indebtedness) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

(1) DEFERRAL AND RATABLE INCLUSION OF INCOME ARISING FROM INDEBTEDNESS DISCHARGED BY THE REPURCHASE OF A DEBT INSTRUMENT.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—At the election of the taxpayer, income from the discharge of indebtedness in connection with the repurchase of a debt instrument after December 31, 2008, and before January 1, 2011, shall be treated as (notwithstanding such section) as a deduction ratably over the 5-taxable-year period beginning—

(i) in the case of a repurchase occurring in 2009, the fifth taxable year following the taxable year in which the repurchase occurs, and

(ii) in the case of a repurchase occurring in 2010, the fourth taxable year following the taxable year in which the repurchase occurs.

(B) DEFERRAL OF DEDUCTION FOR ORIGINAL ISSUE DISCOUNT IN DEBT FOR DEBT EXCHANGES.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—If, as part of a repurchase to which paragraph (1) applies, any debt instrument is issued for the debt instrument being repurchased and there is any original issue discount determined under subpart A of part V of subchapter P of chapter 1 of subchapter D of subchapter I of subpart A of part I of subchapter E of chapter 1 of subchapter F of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, such original issue discount shall be allowed to the issuer of such debt instrument as a deduction ratably over the 5-taxable-year period in which income from the discharge of indebtedness attributable to the original issue discount of the debt instrument is includible under paragraph (1), and

(B) does not exceed the income from the discharge of indebtedness with respect to the debt instrument so issued—

(i) the aggregate amount of deductions disallowed under clause (i) shall be allowed as a deduction ratably over the 5-taxable-year period described in clause (i)(1).

(C) COORDINATION WITH EXCLUSIONS FOR TABLE 11 OR INSOLVENCY.—If a taxpayer elects to have this subsection apply to a debt instrument, subparagraph (A) or (B) of subsection (a)(1) shall not apply to the income from the discharge of indebtedness with respect to the taxable year of the election or any subsequent taxable year.

(D) ACCELERATION OF DEFERRED ITEMS.—In the case of the death of the owner of such debt instrument, the liquidation or sale of substantially all the assets of the taxpayer (including in a title 11 or

(other than a telecommunications carrier, commercial mobile service carrier, cable operator, open video system operator, or satellite carrier) providing current generation broadband service or next generation broadband service to subscribers through the radio transmission of energy.

(18) RURAL SUBSCRIBER.—The term ‘rural subscriber’ means any residential subscriber residing in a dwelling located in a rural area or nonresidential subscriber maintaining a permanent place of business located in a rural area.

(19) SATELLITE CARRIER.—The term ‘satellite carrier’ means any person using the facilities of a satellite service licensed by the Federal Communications Commission and operating in the Fixed-Satellite Service under part 23 of title 47 of the Code of Federal Regulations or the Direct Broadcast Satellite Service under part 100 of title 47 of such Code to establish and operate a channel of communications for distribution of signals, and owning or leasing a capacity or service on a satellite to provide such point-to-multipoint distribution.

(20) SATURATED MARKET.—The term ‘saturated market’ means any census tract in which, as of the date of the enactment of this section—

(A) current generation broadband services have been provided by a single provider to 85 percent or more of the total number of potential residential subscribers residing in dwellings located within such census tract, and

(B) such services can be utilized—

(i) at least a majority of the time during periods of maximum demand by each such subscriber who is utilizing such services, and

(ii) in a manner substantially the same as such services are provided by the provider to subscribers through equipment with respect to which no credit is allowed under subsection (a)(1).

(21) SUBSCRIBER.—The term ‘subscriber’ means any person who purchases current generation broadband services or next generation broadband services.

(22) TELECOMMUNICATIONS CARRIER.—The term ‘telecommunications carrier’ means any person who is a member, and

(A) includes all members of an affiliated group of which a telecommunications carrier is a member, and

(B) does not include any commercial mobile service carrier.

(23) TOTAL POTENTIAL SUBSCRIBER POPULATION.—The term ‘total potential subscriber population’ means, with respect to any area and based on the most recent census of the United States, the total number of residential subscribers residing in dwellings located in such area and potential nonresidential subscribers maintaining permanent places of business located in such area.

(24) UNSERVED AREA.—The term ‘unserved area’ means any census tract which is located in—

(A) an empowerment zone or enterprise community designated under section 139, or

(B) the District of Columbia Enterprise Zone established under section 1400A, and

(C) a community designated under section 1400B, or

(D) a low-income community designated under section 45D.

(25) UNSERVED SUBSCRIBER.—The term ‘unserved subscriber’ means any resident subscriber residing in a dwelling located in an underserved area or nonresidential subscriber maintaining a permanent place of business located in an underserved area.

(b) CREDIT TO BE PART OF INCOME TAX CREDITS—(i) In the case of investment credit made by the Secretary of the Treasury under section 48C of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (as added by this section) or otherwise, the Secretary shall be authorized to provide the taxpayer with a credit against the income tax otherwise payable by the taxpayer for such year if the mutual or cooperative telephone company was not exempt from taxation and was treated as the owner of the property subject to such lease.”

(d) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—

(1) Section 49(a)(1)(C) is amended by striking “and” at the end of clause (ii), by inserting “, or” in place thereof, and by adding after clause (ii) the following new clause:

“(iii) the portion of the basis of any qualified equipment attributable to qualified broadband expenditures under section 48C.”

(2) The table of sections for part IV of subpart E of chapter 1 is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 48B the following:

“Sec. 48C. Broadband Internet access credit.”

(e) DESIGNATION OF CENSUS TRACTS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of the Treasury shall, not later than 90 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, dis-gnit and publish those census tracts meeting the criteria described in paragraphs (17), (23), (24), and (26) of section 48C(e) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (as added by this section). In making such designations, the Secretary of the Treasury shall consult with such other departments and agencies as the Secretary determines appropriate.

(2) MANNER OF DESIGNATION.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of designating and publishing those census tracts meeting the criteria described in subsection
(1), the Secretary shall in general:

(i) the Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe not later than 30 days after the date of the enactment of this Act the form upon which any provider who takes the position that it meets such criteria with respect to any census tract shall submit a list of such census tracts (and any other information required by the Secretary) not later than 45 days after the date of the publication of such form, and

(ii) the Secretary of the Treasury shall publish an aggregate list of such census tracts submitted and the applicable providers not later than 30 days after the last date such submissions are allowed under clause (1).

(B) NO SUBSEQUENT LISTS REQUIRED.—The Secretary of the Treasury shall not be required to publish any list of census tracts meting the criteria described in subsection
(1) after the list described in subparagraph
(A)(i).

(C) AUTHORITY TO DISREGARD FALSE SUBMISS-IONS.—In addition to imposing any other application penalties, the Secretary of the Treasury shall have the discretion to disregard any form described in subparagraph (A)(i) on which a provider knowingly submitted false information.

(f) OTHER REGULATORY MATTERS.—

(1) PROHIBITION.—No Federal or State agency or instrumentality shall adopt regulations or ratemaking procedures that would have the effect of eliminating or reducing any credit or portion thereof allowed under section 48C of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (as added by this section) or otherwise subverting the purpose of this section.

(2) TREATY REGULATORY AUTHORITY.—It is the intent of Congress in providing the broadband Internet access credit under section 48C of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986
(as added by this section) to provide incentives for the expansion of broadband connection and equipment and facilities offering expedited broadband access to the Internet for users in certain low income and rural areas of the United States, as well as to residential users nationwide, in a manner that maintains competitive neutrality among the various classes of providers of broadband services. Accordingly, the Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe such regulations as may be necessary or appropriate to carry out the purposes of section 48C of such Code, including:

(A) regulations to determine how and when a taxpayer that incurs qualified broadband expenditures satisfies the requirements of section 48C of such Code to provide broadband services,

(B) regulations describing the information, records, and data taxpayers are required to provide the Secretary to substantiate compliance with the requirements of section 48C of such Code,

(C) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to expenditures incurred after December 31, 2008.

(ii) The Senate finds that:

According to leading national and state organizations, there are more NEPA compliant, ready-to-go activities, than are funded in this bill, and If there is an action or funds made available for an action that triggers NEPA, and that activity could cause harm to public health, and that harm has not been evaluated under NEPA, the project would not meet the requirements of NEPA and should not be funded.

CONGRATULATING THE PITTSBURGH STEELERS ON WINNING SUPER BOWL XLIII

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of S. Res. 27, submitted earlier today.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The clerk will report the resolution by title.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A resolution (S. Res. 27) congratulating the Pittsburgh Steelers on winning Super Bowl XLIII.

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the resolution.

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the resolution be agreed to, the preamble be agreed to, the motions to reconsider be laid on the table, and any statement be printed in the Record.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The resolution (S. Res. 27) was agreed to.
February 4, 2009

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — SENATE

S1613

The preamble was agreed to.

The resolution, with its preamble, reads as follows:

S. RES. 27

Whereas on February 1, 2009, the Pittsburgh Steelers defeated the Arizona Cardinals to win Super Bowl XLIII; and

Whereas the Steelers’ 27–23 victory over the Cardinals was the Steelers’ sixth Super Bowl win, the most Super Bowl wins in National Football League (NFL) history; and

Whereas the Rooney family has exhibited a strong commitment to the Steelers organization; been instrumental in helping the Steelers to win 6 Super Bowl titles, and has created a legacy of dedication to, and integrity in, the NFL; and

Whereas Coach Mike Tomlin is to be congratulated for being the youngest coach in the NFL to win a Super Bowl, in only his second season as the head coach of the Steelers; and

Whereas “Steelier Nation”, which encompasses fans from all over the world, is to be honored for proudly waving “Terrible Towels” in support of the Pittsburgh Steelers; and

Whereas the Pittsburgh Steelers are an iconic symbol for hardworking Pittsburghers, exhibiting the same strong work ethic and ability to fight to the bitter end that is Pittsburgh; and

Whereas the leadership of Steelers quarterback Ben Roethlisberger led the team to win in the final plays of games throughout the season, especially during the last 2 minutes and 30 seconds of Super Bowl XLIII; and

Whereas Steelers wide receiver Santonio Holmes was named the Most Valuable Player in Super Bowl XLIII for his 6-yard touchdown reception with 35 seconds remaining, which is being called one of the most historic plays in Super Bowl history; and

Whereas the Pittsburgh Steelers, under the leadership of 50-year NFL veteran and Steelers defensive coordinator Dick LeBeau, ranked number 1 in defense in the NFL throughout the 2008 season and carried the Pittsburgh Steelers to a winning season and a Super Bowl victory; and

Whereas approximately 400,000 Steelers fans packed the streets of Pittsburgh on February 3, 2009 to honor the Steelers in a parade along Grant Street and the Boulevard of the Allies: Now, therefore, be it

AMENDING THE EMERGENCY ECONOMIC STABILIZATION ACT OF 2008

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of S. 383, that was introduced earlier today.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The clerk will report the bill by title.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (S. 383) to amend the Emergency Economic Stabilization Act of 2008 (division A of Public Law 110–343) to provide the Special Inspector General with additional authorities and responsibilities, and for other purposes.

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the bill.

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the bill be read three times and passed, the motion to reconsider be laid upon the table without intervening action or debate, and any amendments be printed in the Record.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The bill (S. 383) was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, was read the third time, and passed, as follows:

S. 383

EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

THE 2009 CONGRESS-BUNDESTAG/BUNDES RAT EXCHANGE

HON. NANCY PELOSI
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Ms. PELOSI. Madam Speaker, since 1983, the U.S. Congress and the German Bundestag and Bundesrat have conducted an annual exchange program for staff members from both countries. The program gives professional staff the opportunity to observe and learn about each other’s political institutions and interact on issues of mutual interest.

A staff delegation from the U.S. Congress will be selected to visit Germany from May 22 to May 31 of this year. During this ten day exchange, the delegation will attend meetings with Bundestag/Bundesrat Members, Bundestag and Bundesrat party staff members, and representatives of numerous political, business, academic, and media agencies. Participants also will be hosted by a Bundestag Member during a district visit.

A comparable delegation of German staff members will visit the United States for ten days July 11–19 of this year. They will attend similar meetings here in Washington and visit the districts of Members of Congress. The U.S. delegation is expected to facilitate these meetings.

The Congress-Bundestag/Bundesrat Exchange is highly regarded in Germany and the United States, and is one of several exchange programs sponsored by public and private institutions in the United States and Germany to foster better understanding of the politics and policies of both countries. This exchange is funded by the U.S. Department of State’s Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs.

The U.S. delegation should consist of experienced and accomplished Hill staff who can contribute to the success of the exchange on both sides of the Atlantic. The Bundestag reciprocates by sending senior staff professionals to the United States.

Applicants should have a demonstrable interest in events in Europe. Applicants need not be working in the field of foreign affairs, although such a background can be helpful. The composite U.S. delegation should exhibit a background can be helpful. The composite U.S. delegation should exhibit a background of personnel from the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs of the Department of State and past participants of the exchange.

Members of the House and Senate who would like a member of their staff to apply for participation in this year’s program should direct them to submit a resume and cover letter in which they state their qualifications, the contributions they can make to a successful program and some assurances of their ability to participate during the time stated. Applications may be sent to the Office of Interparliamentary Affairs, HB–28, the Capitol, by 5 p.m. on Friday, March 20, 2009.

HONORING SEAN PATRICK KEENAN

HON. SAM GRAVES
OF MISSOURI
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. GRAVES. Madam Speaker, I proudly pause to recognize Sean Patrick Keenan, a very special young man who has exemplified the finest qualities of citizenship and leadership by taking an active part in the Boy Scouts of America. Troup 376, and in earning the most prestigious award of Eagle Scout.

Sean has been very active with his troop participating in many scout activities. Over the many years Sean has been involved with scouting, he has not only earned numerous merit badges, but also the respect of his family, peers, and community.

Madam Speaker, I proudly ask you to join me in commending Sean Patrick Keenan for his accomplishments with the Boy Scouts of America and for his efforts put forth in achieving the highest distinction of Eagle Scout.

BILL NANGLE
HON. PETER J. VISCLOSKY OF INDIANA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. VISCLOSKY. Madam Speaker, it is with great pleasure that I rise today to honor one of Northwest Indiana’s most devoted citizens, Bill Nangle, Executive Editor of The Times. I have known Mr. Nangle for many years and can attest to a life dedicated to maintaining the integrity of the press and improving the governance of all those he serves. Not only is Bill a distinguished journalist, but he has used the power of his pen to be a force for progress and change in the community. Last week, the Hoosier State Press Association recognized Bill for his commitment to the pursuit of open government by presenting him with its Distinguished Service Award.

Throughout his illustrious career, which spans five decades, Bill has taken his role in the Fourth Estate seriously, leading the charge for openness and transparency in government. For example, in 1989, he pushed state legislators and then-Governor Evan Bayh to enact a state law reversing a court decision that closed county coroner records to the public.

And in 1998, Bill assembled Indiana’s seven largest newspapers to collaborate on “The State of Secrecy,” an investigation of government sunshine and First Amendment rights in which investigative journalists went undercover as ordinary citizens to try to access records in each of the state’s 92 counties that are lawfully open to the public. The flagrant legal violations that they uncovered prompted action from then-Governor Frank O’Bannon and spurred similar projects on openness and transparency in 32 other states. For his efforts, Bill Nangle was awarded the Sagamore of the Wabash, the state’s highest honor at the time.

Bill has also exercised his commitment to open, effective government locally. In 2005, he joined me in a consortium of local civic and business leaders to create Northwest Indiana’s Good Government Initiative. He was a driving force behind that effort to study government efficiency across many levels of our local government, including my office, and to implement solutions that improve government services while cutting costs. The Good Government Initiative became the model for the statewide Kerner-Shepard Report on Indiana government, and the lessons learned have been applied to government reform initiatives currently underway in the State.
INTRODUCTION OF THE RIGHT TO LIFE ACT

HON. DUNCAN HUNTER
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. HUNTER. Madam Speaker, as the father of three, I feel it is my duty to fight for the rights of our own innocent—the unborn. That is why, today, it is my honor to introduce the Right to Life Act. This bill accomplishes the simple, yet profound goal, of protecting all unborn children from the moment of conception.

While it is the fundamental and primary duty of the federal government to protect and defend the rights of all its citizens, America’s unborn have continually been harmed by Congress’s inaction to establish their constitutional right to life. Due to both the United States Supreme Court’s decision in the 1973 landmark case of Roe v. Wade and Congress’s failure to establish personhood thereafter, over 1.3 million babies have had their life taken from them prematurely. Since abortions became legal in 1973, over 40 million babies have had their life unjustly taken from them, an entire generation of who will never experience the joys and promise of being an American.

It is now time for Congress to stop this tragedy and recognize the life in every unborn child. Congress needs to effectively overturn Roe v Wade by enforcing four important provisions in the Constitution: (1) The due process clause (Sec. 1) of the Fourteenth Amendment, which prohibits states from depriving any person of life; (2) Sec. 5 of the Fourteenth Amendment, which gives Congress the power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this amendment; (3) The due process clause of the Fifth Amendment, which concurrently prohibits the federal government from depriving any person of life; and (4) Article 1, Section 8, which gives Congress the power to make laws necessary and proper to enforce all powers in the Constitution.

The Supreme Court’s decision in Roe v. Wade to determine when human life begins and therefore finding nothing to indicate that the unborn are persons protected by the Fourteenth Amendment, has left to Congress the responsibility of protecting the unprotected. The Court conceded that, “if the suggestion of personhood is established by the毂on, of course, for the fetus’s right to life would then be guaranteed specifically by the Amendment.”

Throughout my military service, I took great pride in knowing that I was protecting all Americans. From those who have lived many years, to those just conceived. I do not believe my responsibility to protect the lives of Americans ended when I returned home from Iraq and Afghanistan. I view service in this great House as an opportunity to continue protecting those who are the most vulnerable in our society. Members of this House to listen closely to their conscience and pass this legislation so that every unborn child will be legally recognized and afforded the same protection all Americans enjoy.

For those who have supported this legislation in the past, I wanted to bring your attention to a new provision holding women harmless if they do proceed with an abortion. It is important to recognize that the purpose of this bill is to protect the life of the unborn child, not put women in jail. Unfortunately, some supporters of this legislation have been accused of sponsoring legislation that incarcerates women for utilizing contraception. As a result, I wanted nothing to detract from our purpose of protecting the unborn. While I hope that this does not reduce the enormity of their action, I will not allow such an important issue to become sidetracked by those who wish to change the debate.

Technically, the Right to Life Act establishes and recognizes the personhood of an unborn child at the moment of conception. The reality is it gives the unborn the chance to experience life, to realize their hopes and dreams, to make a difference. I hope my colleagues will support me in this important effort.

AMERICAN RECOVERY AND REINVESTMENT ACT OF 2009

SPEECH OF
HON. PHIL HARE
OF ILLINOIS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, January 28, 2009

The House in Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 1) making supplemental appropriations for job preservation and creation, infrastructure investment, energy efficiency and science, assistance to the unemployed, and State and local fiscal stabilization, for fiscal year ending September 30, 2009, and for other purposes:

Mr. HARE. Chair, I rise today in strong opposition to the amendment submitted by my colleague from Arizona, Mr. FLAKE.

The amendment would slash funding for an essential service to the American people, Amtrak. Amtrak is the main provider of all intercity passenger rail service in the United States and it is a key component of the American economy.

Amtrak is a safe, energy efficient transportation alternative that moves thousands of people and tons of cargo every day. It also employs thousands of Americans across the country. What started as a proposal for a minimum of $1 billion in funding has already been reduced to $1.1 billion in the base bill. Further cuts are unacceptable; they would prevent the development of intercity passenger rail in communities such as those in my home state of Illinois. We are fighting to re-establish the Quad Cities to Chicago route which would help commuters with their work-day travel and make the Quad Cities more desirable for new businesses and economic development. Additionally, the Quad Cities is the only community of its size in the entire country that does not have a four-year institution of higher education. Amtrak service would expedite plans already underway to establish the tech and engineering branch of Western Illinois University in Moline, which is why I offered an amendment to add $500 million for capital assistance for intercity passenger rail service.

In addition to the benefits Amtrak provides my own community, it also impacts the entire nation. For every $1 billion invested in transportation infrastructure, over 40,000 jobs are created and $6.2 billion in economic activity is generated. Federal funding for Amtrak and passenger rail would boost the economy and create jobs all across America.

It is time to invest in America’s future. I urge my colleagues to vote no on this amendment and to preserve the transportation and energy future of America’s cities.

DEATH IN CUSTODY REPORTING ACT OF 2009

SPEECH OF
HON. SHEILA JACKSON-LEE
OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, February 3, 2009

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Madam Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 738 “Deaths in Custody Reporting Act of 2009.”

The purpose of this bill is to encourage States to report to the Attorney General certain information regarding the deaths of individuals in the custody of law enforcement agencies. I urge my colleagues to support this legislation.

Each year a small number of people die suddenly while restrained. Most of these deaths are associated with individuals who were restrained while being taken into custody during a violent police encounter. Other cases of sudden restraint death involve individuals in detention or residential treatment programs who were restrained during violent encounters while also under the influence of psychiatric medications.

Madam Speaker, no one is certain how many restraint related sudden deaths occur each year. Identifying the exact cause of death is the biggest problem. The number of deaths is in question but may range between 50 and 125 per year. Some estimates are higher. Sudden death after individuals were taken into police custody has been reported for several decades; however this piece of legislation provides the first uniform national reporting for all deaths in law enforcement and correctional custody. H.R. 738 will now make it possible to ascertain the percentage of deaths by suicides and homicides, or from natural causes, which will result in a significant improvement in the oversight of prisoner treatment. With the detailed statistical data, policy makers, both state and federal, can make informed policy judgments about the treatment of prisoners leading to great success in lowering the prisoner death rate. In fact, since the focus on deaths in prison emerged in the mid-1980’s, the latest BJS report, dated August 2005, shows a 64 percent decline in suicides and a 93 percent decline in the homicide rate.

Madam Speaker, between 2001 and 2004, state prison authorities nationwide reported a total of 12,129 state prisoner deaths to the Deaths in Custody Reporting Program (DCRP). Total number of deaths excludes 258 State prison executions during 2001–2004. Nearly 9 in 10 of these deaths (89 percent) were attributed to medical conditions. Less than 1 in 10 were the result of suicide (6 percent) and homicide (2 percent), while alcohol/drug intoxication and accidental injury accounted for another 1 percent each. A definitive cause could not be determined for 1 percent of these deaths.

The Deaths in Custody Reporting Act requires that states receiving federal funding report quarterly to the Attorney General, in methods prescribed by the Attorney General, the circumstances surrounding the death of any person in custody of a state prison or local jail, which includes any person in the process of arrest, en route to incarceration, in incarceration in any state facility (municipal jail, county jail, prison, juvenile facility or any other State or local correctional facility).

In 1983, the State of Texas Legislature passed laws requiring the reporting of all custodial deaths in Texas. The data was to involve deaths that occur in the process of arrest, as well as those deaths that occurred while confined in a jail or any correctional facility. This information was reported to the State Attorney General’s Office, and Special Investigator/Assistance/Special Investigation Division. The reports were aimed to be vital pieces to investigations and for open records requests. The failure to report a death to the proper authorities would result in a misdemeanor offense.

Madam Speaker, this legislation provides for detailed statistical data, that allows for policy makers, both state and federal, to make informed policy judgments about the treatment of prisoners leading to great success in lowering the prisoner death rate. I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

HONORING ANDY M. BROCK
HON. SAM GRAVES
OF MISSOURI
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. GRAVES. Madam Speaker, I proudly pause to recognize Andy M. Brock a very special young man who has exemplified the finest qualities of citizenship and leadership by taking an active part in the Boy Scouts of America, Troop 280, and in earning the most prestigious award of Eagle Scout.

Andy has been very active with his troop, participating in many scout activities. Over the many years Andy has been involved with scouting, he has not only earned numerous merit badges, but also the respect of his family, peers, and the overall scouting community. Madam Speaker, I proudly ask you to join me in commending Andy M. Brock for his accomplishments with the Boy Scouts of America and for his efforts put forth in achieving the highest distinction of Eagle Scout.

HONORING THE SERVICE OF ROY G. SMITH, ARKANSAS STATE DIRECTOR FOR USDA RURAL DEVELOPMENT

HON. JOHN BOOZMAN
OF ARKANSAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. BOOZMAN. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Arkansans’ USDA Rural Development Director, Roy G. Smith for his outstanding efforts to improve the quality of life for all rural Americans.

Roy has been a long standing champion for rural communities; both as a farmer and as an advocate, joining the Farmers Home Administration, a predecessor to today’s USDA Rural Development 40 years ago. Under his guidance countless Arkansans have benefitted from millions of dollars in projects to make their lives better.

We are blessed to have had Roy at helm for the past three and a half years and I am blessed to have him as a friend. I have enjoyed the Rural Development Tours where he showcased just some of the latest funded projects. I have been to many check presentations with Roy and I will remember his encouragement of getting civic leaders to sign the check “to get enough signatures to make the check float.”

Roy has done a tremendous job of meeting the needs of rural Arkansans. His leadership will be missed but his influence will be felt for years to come.

THE INTRODUCTION OF THE AMERICAN RENEWABLE ENERGY ACT

HON. EDWARD J. MARKEY
OF MASSACHUSETTS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. MARKEY. Madam Speaker, today I am introducing the “American Renewable Energy Act” to create a national renewable electricity standard that will revitalize our economy by creating hundreds of thousands of green jobs, save consumers billions of dollars on their energy bills and reduce our Nation’s global warming pollution by dramatically increasing our use of clean, renewable power. In the 110th Congress, the House repeatedly passed a national renewable electricity standard in overwhelming, bipartisan votes requiring that 15 percent of our electricity come from renewable energy sources like wind, solar and biomass and efficiency gains by 2020. The American Renewable Energy Act that I am introducing today would build upon that legislation and follows President Obama’s goal that we generate 25 percent of our electricity from renewables by the year 2025.

Electric power generation is responsible for roughly 40 percent of U.S. carbon dioxide—the private or the public of the heat-trapping gases causing global warming. Right now, the combustion of fossil fuels like coal, oil, and natural gas currently produce more than 70 percent of U.S. electricity. However, the way that we generate electricity is already beginning to change directly as a result of the American Solid Fuel Act. In 2007, we installed 5,244 megawatts of new wind generation, which accounted for 35 percent of all new generation that came online, second only to natural gas. And in 2008, the United States installed more than 8,300 megawatts of new wind capacity—over 40 percent of all new generation that was brought online. That newly installed capacity in 2008 led to the creation of more than 35,000 jobs in the wind industry over the last year.

Much of that renewable generation is the result of states across the country that are putting policies in place to incentivize renewable generation. Already, 27 States and the District of Columbia have adopted renewable electricity standards at the State level. Adopting a national renewable electricity standard will further unleash our tremendous potential and allow for the development of renewable resources all across the country.

Every region of the country has renewable resources waiting to be tapped. For instance, the Southeast is home to nearly a third of the biomass feedstock potential in the entire country. Special power plants can burn biomass exclusively and existing coal plants can co-fire biomass in their fuel stream without costly equipment upgrades, replacing 15 percent or more of fossil fuel needs with renewable fuel. Customer-sited solar photovoltaic cells would also earn triple credits under the legislation that I am introducing today, making the target much easier to achieve in places like Florida and Georgia where the solar photovoltaic resource is estimated to be 83–85 percent of the best solar resources in this world.

Adopting a national renewable electricity standard can reinvigorate our economy and our manufacturing sectors by creating an entire new cadre of green-collar jobs. Each wind turbine requires 220 to nearly 400 tons of steel to produce and workers to produce it. From the revamped Maytag plant that is now producing wind turbines in Iowa to the former Ohio manufacturing plant that President Obama visited on his way to Washington, alternative energy can revitalize our declining manufacturing centers across all our country.

Adopting a 25 percent electricity standard will create more than 350,000 green jobs by 2020—allowing the people who most need work to do the work that most needs to be done in order to address the climate crisis.

Moreover, adopting a renewable electricity standard will save consumers more than $49 billion over the next decade in lower energy bills, while channeling more than $70 billion in new investment into renewable technologies.

The American people overwhelming support a national renewable electricity standard. According to a December poll conducted by the Washington Post and ABC News, 84 percent of Americans support requiring utilities to increase their use of wind, solar and other renewable sources of power.

President Obama understands the importance of increasing our use of renewable energy to unleash a clean energy revolution that will get our economy moving again. The States all across the country that have already put similar policies in place understand the need for action. The overwhelming majority of the American people understand it. Now it is time for the Congress to take action to unleash the clean energy revolution by adopting a national renewable electricity standard.

LILLY LEDBETTER FAIR PAY ACT OF 2009

SPREECH OF

HON. ELEANOR HOLMES NORTON
OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, January 27, 2009

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, in my earlier remarks on the Lilly Ledbetter Fair Pay Act of 2009, I highlighted the first-rate work of AFSCME Council 26, affiliated with the American Federation of State, County & Municipal Employees (AFSCME), AFL-CIO, in a sex discrimination lawsuit brought by female custodians against the Architect of the Capitol, which is another way of saying the Congress of the United States of America. The women custodians were being paid one dollar less than their male co-workers. I referred to the female custodians’ lawsuit in my remarks because without AFSCME’s representation, this discrimination right here in Congress might never have been uncovered, just as Lilly Ledbetter did not discover the equal pay violations until after she retired.

The women’s Equal Pay Act lawsuit was historic as well because it was the first class-action under the Congressional Accountability Act that holds Congress to the same employment laws as our constituents. The class was expertly represented by lawyers Barbara Kraft and Tonya Scoville. By getting the women class certified, AFSCME and its lawyers were able to exert maximum leverage and, therefore, negotiate a just settlement with the Architect of the Capitol. The case underscores the importance of undoing the Supreme Court’s Ledbetter decision and restoring the long-standing interpretation of the Equal Pay Act. The Congress, the body representing the people, had been systematically and shamefully discriminating against its own workers.

I had been a strong supporter of these women since they first filed their lawsuit. As the former chair of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, who had responsibility for enforcing the Equal Pay Act, I felt at the time that it was my obligation to bring the female custodians’ case to the attention of other Members, and I spoke on the floor about the case in November 2008. I joined AFSCME and the women at a press conference on Equal Pay Day on May 10, 2000, to push for equal pay for these women as well as all other women in the workforce. After the women settled with the government, I was delighted when I was invited to help hand-deliver their settlement checks.

The Ledbetter decision undermined the ability of unions like AFSCME to uncover and protect workers from discrimination, and I was proud to cite the work of AFSCME, Barbara Kraft, Sarah Starrett and the women custodians of the U.S. Congress as the best evidence of the need for the Lilly Ledbetter Fair Pay Act of 2009.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. JOSEPH CROWLEY
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. CROWLEY. Madam Speaker, on February 3, 2009, I was absent for three rollcall votes. If I had been here, I would have voted: “Yes” on rollcall vote 47. “Yes” on rollcall vote 48. “Yes” on rollcall vote 49.

TRIBUTE TO TRINITY EPISCOPAL CHURCH

HON. JOHN SHIMKUS
OF ILLINOIS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. SHIMKUS. Madam Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to an important community institution in Mt. Vernon, Illinois. Trinity Episcopal Church this month celebrated its 100th anniversary. Since the first service was held at 1100 Harrison Street in Mt. Vernon on January 3, 1909, thousands of people have visited Trinity Episcopal to share in worship with their neighbors. Generations of families in Mt. Vernon and Jefferson County have been welcomed into the congregation at Trinity Episcopal. Today, Trinity Episcopal is an important part of the spiritual fabric of the community and also serves as a good neighbor to families in need throughout the area. Through a century of the congregation’s generosity, many have found a helping hand, warm embrace, and comfort in times of despair.

I want to congratulate Father Gene Tucker of Trinity Episcopal, all members of the congregation, and the extended Trinity Episcopal family on 100 years of service and thank them for the important role they play in our community.

HONORING THOMAS LEE KNOPP
OF MISSOURI
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. GRAVES. Madam Speaker, I proudly pause to recognize Thomas Lee Knopp of Platte City, Missouri. Thomas is a very special young man who has exemplified the finest qualities of citizenship and leadership by taking an active part in the Boy Scouts of America, Troop 351, and earning the most prestigious award of Eagle Scout. Thomas has been very active with his troop, participating in many scout activities. Over the years, Thomas has been involved with scouting; he has not only earned numerous merit badges, but also the respect of his family, peers, and community.

TRIBUTE TO MARTHA FLORES
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. MARIO DIAZ-BALART of Florida. Madam Speaker, I rise today to acknowledge the work and accomplishments of a distinguished radio journalist and community activist, Martha Flores. Mrs. Flores fled Cuba 50 years ago, on January 17, 1959, and immediately started advocating for her country’s freedom as a member of the first anti-Castro organization in exile “La Rosa Blanca”. She has since lived and worked in Miami, Florida and is also celebrating her 50th anniversary in journalism.

Mrs. Flores began her radio career as the host of a program on WMIE, the only station at the time that broadcast some programs in Spanish. Throughout the years, she has hosted radio shows on La Fabulosa, Ocean Radio, and WRHC Cadena Azul and for the past 18 years, has produced and hosted a nightly Spanish radio program, “La Noche y Usted” on WAQI Radio Mambí.

Mrs. Flores embodies the American dream and is testament of what can be accomplished...

CAMPUS SAFETY ACT OF 2009

SPEECH OF HON. SHEILA JACKSON-LEE OF TEXAS IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES Tuesday, February 3, 2009

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Madam Speaker, I rise today in strong support of H.R. 748, the “Center to Advance, Monitor, and Preserve Campus Safety Act of 2009” or “CAMPUS”. I would like to thank my colleague Congressman BOBBY SCOTT for introducing this important legislation, as well as the Chairman of the Committee on the Judiciary, Congressman JOHN CONYERS. I urge my colleagues to support this legislation.

Importantly, H.R. 748 would establish a national center for campus public safety and employ a collaborative effort with local state and federal officials to fight violence on university campuses. This center would train agencies to better deal with emergency situations that occur on university campuses, helping to eliminate unpreparedness at the universities.

The future of our country sits in our classrooms everyday along with those that train them. It is our job as members of Congress to ensure that these future leaders and all those involved in molding them will be taught in a classroom or lecture hall.

H.R. 748 is a bill that takes a great step in ensuring that the potential that is harbored in our classrooms everyday is protected. The events that occurred at Virginia Tech and Northern Illinois University are disastrous examples of why we need more concentrated protection efforts implemented by the Federal government. The Virginia Tech shooting resulted in the slaying of over 30 members of the Virginia Tech family and many others were wounded. The shooting that occurred on the campus of Northern Illinois University on February 14, 2008 also killed and injured several individuals on the campus. Unfortunately, because these events were the first of their kind for the schools, they were not fully knowledgeable on how to respond. In my home state of Texas, the University of Texas at Austin in 1966 was struck by fear when a sniper from atop the university’s bell tower struck and killed 16 people and wounded 31. The large gap in time between these events shows the length of inaction by the Congress in establishing a national center to protect the young minds in our Universities.

With the creation of a National Center for Protection of facilities of higher education, our country can finally begin to use the knowledge gained by officials in all states in conjunction with the Attorney General, the Secretary of Homeland Security, and the Secretary of Education in a collaborative effort to reduce violence in all higher education facilities across the country.

The CAMPUS Safety Act will create a National Center of Campus Public Safety, which will be administered through the Department of Justice. The Center will train campus public safety agencies, encourage research to strengthen college safety and security, and serve as a clearinghouse for the dissemination of relevant campus public safety information. By having this information, institutions of higher education will be able to easily obtain the best information available on ways to keep campuses safe and secure and how to respond in the event of a campus emergency.

The events that have taken place on the campuses of Virginia Tech, Northern Illinois, and Texas Universities shows that campus violence is not regional nor is it specific to one state and we should not be either of these things when fighting against it. That is why we must act as the front line in that battle against campus violence by passing this legislation and developing a National Center for Campus Public Safety. I urge my colleagues to support this legislation.

CONGRATULATING THE EFFORTS OF U.S. ATTORNEY ROBERT C. BALFE III

HON. JOHN BOOZMAN OF ARKANSAS IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. BOOZMAN. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor U.S. Attorney Robert C. Balfe III for his commitment and service to the citizens of this country.

Bob has done a tremendous job at the helm of the Western District of Arkansas, working to bring justice to criminals and initiating programs to make our streets safer.

One of Bob’s top priorities has been targeting crimes against children. Indictments of child sexual predators increased by 800% in the Western District of Arkansas in part due to the creation of Project Safe Childhood Task Force which is dedicated to the identification and apprehension of online child sexual predators.

The list of Bob’s accomplishments is lengthy, from the successful implementation of an Immigration Crimes Task Force to a Financial Crimes Task Force and an anti-gang initiative. You don’t have to look far to see how the citizens of the Western District of Arkansas have benefited from Bob’s leadership and vision.

I thank him for a job well done and I thank his wife Jennifer and his young sons, Ryan and Luke for the sacrifices they have made to allow Bob to serve the people of Arkansas.

HONORING THE SERVICE OF POPE COUNTY SHERIFF JAY WINTERS

HON. JOHN BOOZMAN
OF ARKANSAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. BOOZMAN. Madam Speaker, today I rise to honor the Pope County, Arkansas Sheriff Jay Winters for his dedication, commitment and selflessness he has shown on the job and in the community.

Sheriff Winters has served his community admirably, first for the U.S. Army then as a officer for the Russellville Police Department, then as the Deputy Sheriff of Pope County and for the last 18 years, as Sheriff.

His influence is felt throughout the community, volunteering with the Russellville Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis Club, the Arkansas River Valley Boys and Girls Club and as an active member of the First Assembly of God Church in Russellville where he serves as a Deacon and a Sunday School teacher.

I have had the privilege to work with Jay on many different projects, most recently in an effort to help with recovery efforts from a tornado in Atkins.

Now after more than two and a half decades in law enforcement Jay is retiring. He'll be able to spend his time focusing on his family, his wife Sheena, daughter Amber Morgan and her husband Ryan, son J.J. and the light of his eye, his granddaughter Kyleigh. I appreciate his friendship and example. I am honored to have had the opportunity to have worked with such a great man, and thank him for his service.

INTRODUCTION OF THE 9/11 HEALTH AND COMPENSATION ACT OF 2009

HON. CAROLYN B. MALONEY
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mrs. MALONEY. Madam Speaker, today, I am pleased to introduce the “James Zadroga 9/11 Health and Compensation Act of 2009,” along with my good friends Mr. NADLER, Mr. KING of New York, Mr. McMATHON and others who have worked so tirelessly in this effort. This legislation would provide medical care and compensation for those who are sick with World Trade Center (WTC) illnesses, including first responders who came to New York from every state and nearly all Congressional districts in the nation.

Specifically, the bill would establish a federal health and compensation program for WTC responders and community members. Building on the existing programs at WTC Centers of Excellence, the program would provide ongoing medical care for WTC-related health conditions to approximately 15,000 additional WTC responders and 15,000 additional WTC community members, for a total of 55,000 responders and 17,500 community members.

The bill would also reopen the Victim Compensation Fund (VCF) to provide compensation for those sickened by 9/11 exposure and to address the over 10,000 pending lawsuits brought by sick 9/11 responders. Additionally it would limit the liability in litigation for New York City and the WTC contractors to the amounts available under the Captive Insurance Fund and their existing liability limits and insurance.

Finally, the legislation would require a matching contribution from the City of New York for the health program.

More than seven years after the 2001 attacks on the World Trade Center, we must not forget the heroes who served the nation in our time of need. I encourage my colleagues to join me in support of the James Zadroga 9/11 Health and Compensation Act.

TRIBUTE TO CATHERINE OLSON

HON. JAMES A. HIMES OF CONNECTICUT
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. HIMES. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the musical accomplishments of Catherine Olson, an eighth-grade student at the Christian Heritage School in Trumbull, Connecticut.

Each academic year, the National Music Certificate Program awards State Achievement Certificates to students with exemplary performance records for music. Of this year’s 100,000 participants, only 700 students earned this recognition.

Catherine Olson has been named a recipient of this award for the 2007–2008 academic year and will be playing at Carnegie Hall on February 8, 2009.

I applaud Catherine’s efforts. Her accomplishments are a fine example to the young people of our nation to continue in their effort and determination to achieve success in their field. I wish her good luck in her performance on February 8th and congratulate her on her impressive achievements thus far.

HONORING H. THOMAS KORNEGAY
FOR HIS SERVICE TO THE PORT OF HOUSTON AUTHORITY

HON. GENE GREEN
OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. GREEN. Madam Speaker, H. Thomas Kornegay’s influence will be forever respected and admired as he retires as executive director from the Port of Houston Authority (PHA) after 37-years of service.

The Port of Houston is made up of the PHA and the numerous private industrial facilities that line the Houston Ship Channel. The Port ranks first in the U.S. in foreign waterborne tonnage and second in overall total tonnage. Along with the Houston Ship Channel, the PHA aids with navigational safety which has been instrumental in making Houston a center for international trade, moving over 200 million tons of cargo in 2006.

Kornegay played an essential role in developing both the Barbours Cut Terminal as well as the Bayport Terminal, each accredited in setting the path for continued economic development within the Houston-Metropolitan region. Along with the development of the two container terminals, Kornegay participated heavily in completing the deepening and widening of the Houston Ship Channel, a $700 million project which benefited Houston and Texas’ overall economy and environment. In the aftermath of Hurricane Ike, Kornegay also managed the PHA’s operational recovery with minimal repercussions to PHA’s assets. As a result of Kornegay’s guidance, the PHA posted a ninth consecutive year of growth, a record year in the handling of cargo and containers, and all-time records in importing and exporting steel.

Kornegay’s leadership roles have been astounding, including serving as chairman of the board of the American Association of Port Authorities and chairperson of the U.S. Delegation of AAPA, an organization that represents more than 140 public port authorities in North America, Latin America, Canada, and the Caribbean. Mr. Kornegay also served as President of the International Association of Ports and Harbors from 2005–2007, which has affiliated ports that handle more than 60 percent of the world’s seaborne trade in metric tons.

Kornegay has been named “Maritime Person of the Year” by the Greater Houston Port Authority, as well as “Engineering Person of the Year” by local Houston engineers. Kornegay has also received the Russell H. Perry Award by the Texas Department of Transportation.
H. Thomas Kornegay was first selected as PHA's executive director in April 1992 after working with the Port Authority staff since April 1972. Kornegay will retire after 17 years from his position as PHA's executive director, but his contributions will forever impact the success of the Port of Houston.

HONORING THE LIFE OF FLETCHER L. GIBSON

HON. ALCEE L. HASTINGS
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the life of Fletcher L. Gibson. Mr. Gibson was born on May 1, 1942 in Marianna, Florida. In 1973, he married his perfect companion, Alonzetta. Over the next 35 years, their great love produced two sons, Brandon and Jason. Together, they established a reputation for honoring God and the power of knowledge. They exemplified the value of caring and giving back to the community.

Fletcher graduated Florida A&M University in 1963 with a Bachelor's degree in pharmacy. As a pharmacist, he was committed to providing superior service, a kind word, and a warm smile to each of his customers. They were as much his friends as anybody else who he was close with. Throughout his career he served as a mentor for young pharmacy students by providing them internships and clinical training.

Fletcher Gibson was a man of great faith and excellent character, a person known for his many good works and his love for family and friends. He always displayed a selfless compassion and a desire to help those around him. An extraordinary man of few words, Fletcher taught lessons of love, giving, and kindness by the example he set and the life he lived. He was a very good friend to me and countless other people. Fletcher Gibson was loved by all who knew him and he will be dearly missed.

NATIONAL BOMBING PREVENTION ACT OF 2009

SPEECH OF HON. SHEILA JACKSON-LEE
OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, February 3, 2009

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Madam Speaker, I rise today in strong support of H.R. 549, the National Bombing Prevention Act, introduced by my distinguished colleague from New York, Representative King. This important legislation establishes the Office of Bombing Prevention within the Protective Security Coordination Division of the Office of Infrastructure Protection of the Department.

This legislation is a bi-partisan bill, whose lead sponsor is the Ranking Member of the Committee on Homeland Security, Representative King and is also cosponsored by Chairman Thompson. The function of the Office of Bombing Prevention already exists in the Department, and this bill establishes it in statute. The Office is responsible for coordinating the Government efforts to deter, detect, prevent, protect against, and respond to terrorist explosive attacks in the United States. As we all know, the most likely terrorist threat to our nation's critical infrastructure and transportation modes is from explosives. Moreover, although our nation's security experts have been working assiduously on large-scale terror attacks, since the terror attacks that hurt our nation, we must also be vigilant when it comes to improvised and smaller attacks.

Mr. Speaker, we need to ensure that the Office of Bombing Prevention has the protection of being established by the force of law, so the Department can readily meet the threats to our nation. This legislation requires the Secretary to develop and periodically update a national strategy to prevent and prepare for terrorist explosive attacks in the United States which is due 90 days after the date of enactment. The Secretary is further required to report to Congress regarding the national strategy. This strategy is also called for by Homeland Security Presidential Directive–19, Combating Terrorist Use of Explosives in the United States, issued by President Bush in February of 2007. This legislation also authorizes the Office of Technology transfer efforts as well as research into explosives detection and mitigation.

I did, however, have one reservation with regards to this legislation, regarding canine procurement, which is why I introduced an amendment, which was addressed by the bill in Sections 4 and 5. Dogs are used to detect illicit substances every day. They are used to: detect illegal narcotics; find money that is being smuggled out of the country; and locate explosives that may be concealed in cargo, within vehicles, on aircraft, in luggage and on passengers.

There is no doubt that every day, the actions of these dogs and their handlers significantly contribute toward deterring threats and protecting our nation from terrorists. While the contributions of our canine forces are priceless, they are not without cost. We must place a price on what we are willing to pay for untrained dogs.

The Department of Homeland Security's Inspector General has found that from April 2006 through June 2007, Customs and Border Protection spent $1.46 million on purchasing 322 untrained dogs—that is about $4500 per dog. Most of these dogs are purchased in Europe and brought to America. These are not fully trained animals. They are puppies that will be trained to provide valuable service. I think most people would find $4500 for an untrained dog an exorbitant amount.

However, I cannot deem this amount out of bounds because the Department of Defense pays $3500 for each untrained dog. The Secret Service pays an average of $4500 for each untrained dog, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation pays $3500 for each untrained dog. The Secret Service pays $3500 for each untrained dog. The State Department pays $3500 for each untrained dog. The State Department pays $3500 for each untrained dog.

The Department pays an average of $4500 for each untrained dog. The Untrained Service pays an average of $4500 for each untrained dog. The Untrained Service pays an average of $4500 for each untrained dog.

There is no doubt that every day, the actions of these dogs and their handlers significantly contribute toward deterring threats and protecting our nation from terrorists. While the contributions of our canine forces are priceless, they are not without cost. We must place a price on what we are willing to pay for untrained dogs.

INTRODUCTION OF THE PERFORMANCE RIGHTS ACT OF 2009

HON. JOHN CONYERS, JR.
OF MICHIGAN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. CONYERS. Madam Speaker, today I join my colleagues in both the House and the Senate in introducing the Performance Rights Act of 2009, legislation that takes a first step at ensuring that all radio platforms are treated in a similar manner and that those who perform music are paid for their work. I am joined by Representatives ISSA, BERMAN, BLACKBURN, PETERSON (MN), HODES, WEINER, WASSERMAN SCHULTZ, COHEN, NADLER, SHERMAN, WEXLER, JOHNSON (GA), SCHIFF, SHADEGG, JACKSON-LEE, LINDA SANCHEZ, HARMAN and WAXMAN.

This narrowly tailored bill amends a glaring inequity in America's copyright law—the provision in Section 114 that exempts over-the-air broadcasters from paying those who perform the music that we listen to on AM and FM radio. The purpose of the bill is to take a necessary step towards platform parity so that any service that plays music pays those who create and own the recordings—just as satellite, cable and internet radio stations currently do.

Fairness mandates that all those in the creative chain—from the artist, musicians and others who bring the recording to life—get compensated for the way they enrich our lives. The U.S. is the only developed country in the world that does not require privately owned over-the-air radio stations to compensate the performers who create the music that broadcasters use to attract the audiences that generate their ad revenues. Because of music, radio is able to profit, and so refusing to compensate those who create that music is unfair and ultimately harmful to everyone—including the broadcasters. This long overdue law requires all other platforms in the U.S. (including satellite and Internet radio) to compensate the copyright owner, so broadcast radio should not receive a free pass.
The events that transpired during last week's Davos World Economic Forum further distanced Turkey from Israel. While Israeli President Shimon Peres spoke frankly about his nation’s “aim for peace, not war,” Prime Minister Erdogan redefined President Peres’ comments and chided the audience for applauding his words. After being cut short by the moderator, the Prime Minister walked off the stage.

As protesters hurl eggs outside the Israeli Consulate in Istanbul, Prime Minister Erdogan is on record questioning if it is appropriate for Israel to have diplomatic relations with Turkey. Erdogan has also steered his diplomatic team to meet with Iran, Syria, and Sudan to discuss ending the conflict in Gaza, while Jordan, Egypt, and Saudi Arabia were gathering in Kuwait. Instead of discussing the issue with other moderate Muslim nations, Turkish leaders chose to meet with hardliner Iran and the Genocidal wielding Sudanese government.

I am deeply concerned by this shift away from the West and the outright anti-Semitism that is ripping through Turkey's streets. For a nation that prides itself on its friendship with the Jews, these actions are a step backwards and have the potential to harm ties between the two nations, and harm Turkey’s relationship with the West.

All of these moves from Ankara may just be pandering to the nationalistic, anti-Israel, anti-minority voters of Turkey, but regardless of Prime Minister Erdogan intentions, the results are dangerous and engender hate. What's more is that they move Turkey away from its secular, moderate stance as a bridge between the West and Islam.

For years I have asked that Turkey end its constant discrimination against Christian minorities, specifically Armenians and Greeks. Now with anti-Semitism spreading through the country, I call on Turkey’s leadership to take concrete steps towards ending this destructive intolerance against minorities. Only these efforts will help to reestablish normal ties with Israel.

TRIBUTE ON THE OCCASION OF MAJOR GERALD THOMAS' RETIREMENT FROM THE UNITED STATES MARINE CORPS

HON. KENDRICK B. MEEK
OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. MEEK of Florida. Madam Speaker, today I recognize and pay tribute to MAJ Gerald Thomas, U.S. Marine Corps, on the occasion of his retirement from active duty. Major Thomas has served our great Nation for more than 21 years, earning many decorations, among them the Bronze Star with Combat “V,” I, and many other members of this Chamber, have worked with him over the past 3 years that he has served as part of Headquarters U.S. Marine Corps Office of Legislative Affairs and as the Deputy Director of the U.S.M.C. Liaison Office in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Major Thomas distinguished himself through exceptional military leadership while serving as the Deputy Director. Every day he served in direct support of not only the Marine Corps Office of Legislative Affairs but in direct support of every member of Congress, every Marine and every American. His keen abilities in organization, interpersonal relationships, and communication were extremely critical to the successful accomplishment of the Marine Corps Office of Legislative Affairs’ mission. His contributions and achievements in his role have been understated but always effective and noteworthy. While serving in the Liaison office, Major Thomas was able to develop and execute legislative strategy for the United States Marine Corps that was instrumental in achieving fiscal and policy landscape conducive to training and equipping the Nation’s most elite fighting force, ensuring their success on the battlefield. He routinely turned broad guidance into action which energized the Office of Legislative Affairs and members of Congress alike. His actions allowed the Marine Corps to engage members of Congress and their staffs, directly facilitating the increased emphasis on improving Congressional relationships—a cornerstone of the Marine Corps' strategic vision.

The Marine Corps House of Representatives Liaison Office that Major Thomas leaves behind is functional and responsive, highly integrated, and favors a proactive legislative strategy. While leading the Marine Corps Liaison Office through the extraordinary challenges associated with Operation Enduring Freedom, Operation Iraqi Freedom and the ongoing Global War on Terror, he concurrently ensured that a myriad of daily Congressional communications, tasks, and events were executed flawlessly. The leadership and direction that Major Thomas provided was instrumental to the Marine Corps' tremendous success during a period of extraordinarily high operational tempo and unprecedented Congressional interactions between Marine Corps and Congress.

Throughout his tour, Major Thomas effectively responded to several thousand congressional inquiries, many of which gained national level attention. He demonstrated a unique ability to translate the language of Representatives to the language of the Marine Corps and vice versa, enabling him to provide us with a clear sense of what the Marine Corps could accomplish. Because of the Major, Members of Congress were able to establish lasting professional relationships with members of the Marine Corps that didn't exist prior to his arrival. During his time on Capitol Hill, Major Thomas successfully planned, coordinated and escorted over 50 international and domestic Congressional and State Delegations. His detailed coordination with other government officials, U.S. State Department, and senior military officials ensured that each delegation was conducted professionally. His attention to detail and anticipation of requirements allowed Representatives to focus on fact-finding and gleaning new information to support the people of the United States. With more than 15 delegations to Central Command Major Thomas assisted in educating...
Members of Congress on the successes and challenges facing our service men and women that could only be gained from first-hand observation and face-to-face interaction. Due to his professionalism, dedication and keen knowledge, Major Thomas became the most sought after military escort for delegations traveling into Central Command.

The time he has spent supporting Members of the House has been truly noteworthy. He has made lasting contributions to the House of Representatives.

Major Thomas has also made a lasting contribution in the sustenance of today’s readiness and the shape of tomorrow’s Marine Corps. Maj Thomas’ distinguished service has left a mark of true excellence that will last long after he has departed the Office of Legislative Affairs. The Marine Corps will miss him, but Major Thomas leaves a tremendous legacy for others to follow and emulate. I wish Major Gerald Thomas congratulations and all best wishes as he enters this new chapter of his life.

During his 21 years of service, Maj Thomas has served as:
- Communications Marine—Marine Corps Base Camp Lejeune;
- Student—Marine Corps Education Program—University of Arizona;
- Platoon Commander—Echo Company, 2nd Battalion, 6th Marines;
- Platoon Commander—Weapons Platoon, Echo Co, 2nd Battalion, 6th Marines;
- Executive Officer—Echo Co, 2nd Battalion, 6th Marines;
- Staff Platoon Commander—The Basic School;
- Executive Officer—Alpha, Charlie, & Echo Companies;
- The Basic School Instructor—Infantry Officer Course;
- Student—Infantry Officers Captain’s Career Course;
- Company Commander—Lima Co, 3rd Battalion, 2nd Marines;
- Congressional Fellow—Office of Rep. Sanford Bishop;
- Joint Action Officer—Plans, Policies, and Operations Department, HQMC;
- Deputy Director—Marine Corps House Liaison Office.

HONORING KORTNEY STEVEN GUTIERREZ

HON. SAM GRAVES
OF MISSOURI
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. GRAVES. Madam Speaker, I proudly pause to recognize Kortney Steven Gutierrez of Platte City, Missouri. Kortney is a very special young man who has exemplified the finest qualities of citizenship and leadership by taking an active part in the Boy Scouts of America, Troop 351, and earning the most prestigious award of Eagle Scout.

Kortney has been very active with his troop, participating in many scout activities. Over the many years Kortney has been involved with scouting, he has not only earned numerous merit badges, but also the respect of his family, peers, and community.

Madam Speaker, I proudly ask you to join me in commending Kortney Steven Gutierrez for his accomplishments with the Boy Scouts of America and for his efforts put forth in achieving the highest distinction of Eagle Scout.

INTRODUCTION OF THE SAVE AMERICAN ENERGY ACT

HON. EDWARD J. MARKEY
OF MASSACHUSETTS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. MARKEY. Madam Speaker, today I am introducing the “Save American Energy Act” to obtain the significant benefits of cost-effective, environmentally friendly, energy efficiency resources. These energy efficiency standards will not only lead to lower global warming emissions but will also create jobs, reduce the need for new power plants, and save consumers money. As President Obama clearly articulated, energy efficiency is the cleanest, cheapest, fastest source of energy. The legislation that I am introducing today follows President Obama’s stated goal of reducing electricity demand 15 percent by 2020 by creating an energy efficiency resource standard, EERS.

Reducing electricity consumption 15 percent by 2020 will save consumers $130 billion over the next 20 years and reduce carbon dioxide emissions by more than 5 billion tons through 2030. The Save American Energy Act sets minimum levels of electricity and natural gas savings to be achieved through utility programs, building codes, appliance standards, and other efficiency measures. This legislation will initially create a modest savings requirement of 1 percent for electricity and three-quarters of a percent for natural gas and gradually build to a 15 percent cumulative requirement for electricity and ten percent for natural gas in 2020.

The benefits of energy efficiency standards are clear and far-reaching. First, energy efficiency standards will dramatically reduce the global warming emissions that are creating the climate crisis. Energy efficiency is the easiest and quickest way that we as a Nation can take action to reduce emissions. These energy efficiency savings would reduce carbon dioxide emissions by approximately 260 million metric tons per year by 2020—the equivalent of the annual emissions from 43 million automobiles.

Second, energy efficiency standards will create jobs and can help revitalize our economy. The Save American Energy Act will lead to the creation of 260,000 new green-collar jobs. These jobs will be everything from retrofitting buildings to weatherizing homes. At a time when the American economy lost nearly 2 million jobs in the last 4 months of 2008, according to the Department of Labor, passing an energy efficiency standard can help send people back to work doing the work that most needs to be done.

Third, energy efficiency standards will decrease peak electricity demand. Savings from efficiency can be done far more cheaply than bringing new generation on line. New generation from conventional resources costs some $207 per kilowatt hour compared to $0.03 per kilowatt hour from energy efficiency savings. The Save American Energy Act will reduce peak electricity demand by about 90,000 megawatts in 2020. This reduction would eliminate the need to build 300 medium-sized new power plants.

Fourth, The Save American Energy Act will result in billions of dollars in consumer savings on their energy bills. This bill allows for numerous cost-effective efficiency savings in every aspect of our economy. The legislation that I am introducing today requires utilities to obtain energy efficiency savings that are available at a lower cost than traditional energy supply options.

Many States around the country have already implemented successful efficiency standards. Vermont and California are two of the States leading the way and 15 States and the District of Columbia have put in place policies promoting energy efficiency. The Save American Energy Act would set a federal efficiency standard but allows States with programs that meet or exceed that standard to administer the program directly, fostering policy innovation and adaptation to local circumstances.

The Save American Energy Act will take advantage of the cost-effective, available energy efficiency opportunities that can be quickly put in place. Adopting a national energy efficiency standard will allow us to reduce carbon emissions, create new green jobs, and reduce the need to build power plants; all while benefiting customers. The time to act is now.

AMERICAN RECOVERY AND REINVESTMENT ACT OF 2009

SPEECH OF
HON. ELEANOR HOLMES NORTON
OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, January 27, 2009

The House in Committee of the Whole on the House of the State of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 1) making supplemental appropriations for job preservation and creation, infrastructure investment, energy efficiency and science, assistance to the unemployed, and State and local fiscal stabilization, for fiscal year ending September 30, 2009, and for other purposes:

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Chair, I rise today to applaud a particular section of the stimulus package that will have a profound impact on the citizens of the District of Columbia. The hundreds of millions of dollars in AIDS/HIV testing and prevention contained in the legislation before us will assist an amazing organization in the District called the Whitman Walker Clinic. When it is time to award these funds, I strongly urge the Secretary of HHS and the Director of the Office to look favorably upon the Clinic’s application.

The District of Columbia is facing an HIV/AIDS epidemic of untold proportions. It is estimated that 1 in 20 citizens of the District now have HIV or AIDS. This is one of the highest incidences in the country, if not the highest compared to other major metropolitan areas.

The Whitman-Walker Clinic (WWC), a comprehensive primary care clinic with centers of excellence in HIV/AIDS care and Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender (LGBT) health care, has been providing healthcare and support services to the District of Columbia for 30 years. WWC is one of the largest nongovernmental HIV/AIDS medical and service organizations in the metropolitan Washington area. The Clinic provides a full spectrum of medical and support services to patients residing in the District of Columbia metropolitan area through its two District of Columbia sites; Elizabeth Taylor Medical Center (ETMC) and Max Robinson Center (MRC). The overall aim of WWC HIV/AIDS services is to improve health outcomes of persons living with HIV/AIDS (PLWHA) by providing clients with comprehensive and coordinated primary medical care; dental care; HIV/AIDS specialty care; medical adherence case management; mental health and addiction counseling and treatment; HIV education, prevention, and testing; support groups; nutrition counseling; legal services; and day treatment programs. The Clinic offers a comprehensive continuum of HIV/AIDS-related medical, behavioral health, and social services through our “one-stop-shop” approach to service delivery where all client services are available and integrated at a single location at each of our sites. The WWC “one-stop-shop” approach combined with a newly implemented Electronic Health Record (EHR) enhances and ensures coordination of care, confidentiality, and elimination of duplication of effort and/or services. The co-location also allows better and more efficient access to services for clients.

Among the many recent accomplishments of the Clinic are the four key new services which advance care for HIV patients: (1) the addition of an electronic health record (EHR) system; (2) the establishment of the Medical Adherence Case Management Department; (3) implementing the Public Benefits Department; (4) and implementing a new visit type: the “Rapid HIV” visit.

(1). The Electronic Health Record: WWC implemented an electronic health record system, “eClinicalWorks,” in order to achieve significant clinical and operational efficiencies that are needed to support a high quality client/physician encounter. WWC EHR allows for a complete multidisciplinary approach to health care. All clients of WWC are established in our electronic health record (EHR) system in order to track progress in an organized and efficient manner. The health care practitioners, medical health practitioners, nurse case managers, and other providers to coordinate the care of that client, exchange information, and communicate with each other in an efficient and trackable manner. When we receive information from an outside health service, that information is scanned into the patient’s Clinic-based EHR. Similarly, when we send out information to an external provider, a note is made in the EHR as to the nature of the communication.

(2). Medical Adherence Case Management Department: The Medical Adherence unit consists of Medical Adherence Case Managers and Medical Adherence Care Coordinators. The Medical Adherence Case Managers, all of whom are RNs, provide the following: barriers to care assessment, care planning, disease process education, medication/treatment management support, 24-hour support via pager and pillbox initiation. The Medical Adherence Care Coordinators provide support by addressing clients who no-show as well as: pre-visit refills reports and followup, home visits, accompaniment to medical appointments, social services to relate to barriers to care (like emergency financial assistance clinics, housing clinics, access to food and transportation) and other elements as they relate to life skills for managing a healthy lifestyle. This unit provides an immediate point of care for our new clients, establishing the relationship from the minute they walk in the door, or receive an HIV positive test result. WWC recognizes that for many of our clients, access to food and transportation can be a huge barrier to maintaining care. Each staff person in Medical Adherence will be trained in accessing resources available to assist clients in these areas. The Medical Adherence Department also employs two full-time referral coordinators who assist patients in securing specialty and subspecialty appointments. For HIV-positive patients, the Medical Adherence staff members, in conjunction with our physician providers, close attention to identifying those patients at risk of failing their treatment regimens.

(3). Public Benefits Department: As of October 1, 2008, all WWC clients receive eligibility screening for public and private insurance through our recently established Public Benefits department. This screening and support ensures that clients are able to identify all relevant insurance programs for which they qualify. By thoroughly assisting clients in securing insurance, it also ensures that Ryan White funds remain the payor of last resort. Public Benefits Coordinators meet with all new HIV clients soon after they test positive at the Clinic or sustain a diagnosis as a new patient with previously diagnosed HIV. Potential patients will be asked to bring in proof of residency and income. Public Benefits Coordinators then assist potential patients in determining for what insurance programs they are eligible and in applying for benefits. Public Benefits Coordinators, most of whom are bilingual (English/Spanish), work closely with medical providers and the Medical Adherence Case Management department to help clients overcome barriers such as a medication they cannot afford, lack of insurance, denial of a service by their public insurance, all to ensure easy access to the services that they need. They guide clients through every step of the process necessary to eliminating barriers to care related to payor source. Most of the D.C. patients seen by WWC are ultimately deemed eligible payor programs such as Medicaid and DC Alliance.

(4). The “Rapid HIV Visit”: The development of a “Rapid HIV” appointment type has allowed the Clinic to retain new HIV clients in care. Through this system, all new HIV clients are seen by the Medical Adherence Nurse Case Management team as well as by their primary medical provider on the same day they test positive in one of our facilities or seek care at WWC for their previously diagnosed HIV. New HIV patients seen at WWC are ultimately deemed eligible for payor programs such as Medicaid and DC Alliance. The “Rapid HIV” appointment type has allowed the Clinic to retain new HIV clients in care. Through this system, all new HIV clients are seen by the Medical Adherence Nurse Case Management team as well as by their primary medical provider on the same day.

In the House of Representatives
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. RUPPERSBERGER of South Carolina. Madam Speaker, unfortunately I missed recorded votes on the House floor on Tuesday February 3, 2009. Had I been present, I would have voted “yea” on rollover vote #47 (Motion to Suspend the Rules and Agree to H. Res. 82), “yea” on rollover vote #48 (Motion to Suspend the Rules and Agree to H. Res. 103), “yea” on rollover vote #49 (Motion to Suspend the Rules and Agree to H. Res. 559).

Tribute to John Patti

Hon. C.A. Dutch Ruppersberger of Maryland

In the House of Representatives
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. RUPPERSBERGER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor a veteran Baltimore journalist who has reached a very special milestone. John Patti is celebrating 25 years of service at WBAL Radio.
From anchoring WBAL's coverage from the Vatican when Archbishop William Keeler was elevated to the College of Cardinals to Cooperstown, New York where Chuck Thompson and Earl Weaver were inducted into the Hall of Fame to local election coverage in Maryland, John's professionalism, talent, and dedication to reporting the news are second to none.

In fact, John Patti has spent the past 37 years broadcasting in Baltimore. John's specialty has always been feature reporting. During his career, John earned nine prestigious Edward R. Murrow Awards presented by the Radio-Television News Directors Association. In 2000, John captured the coveted Best of Show Award in the prestigious New York Festival in 2000 for his investigative journalism. As a sports reporter, John won the Eclipse Award, given out by the thoroughbred racing industry for excellence in reporting.

I am pleased to report John is home grown Baltimore. He graduated from Mount Saint Joseph High School in 1973 and received his Bachelor's Degree from Towson State University in 1977. He and his wife Stephanie live with their three sons in Howard County.

John Patti began at WBAL in February, 1984...and is still there reporting the news 25 years later. For that, he deserves our congratulations.

HONORING CHARLES MAXWELL CASSIDY
HON. SAM GRAVES
OF MISSOURI
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. GRAVES. Madam Speaker, I proudly pause to recognize Charles Maxwell Cassidy of Platte City, Missouri. Charles is a very special young man who has exemplified the finest qualities of citizenship and leadership by taking an active part in the Boy Scouts of America, Troop 351, and earning the most prestigious award of Eagle Scout.

Charles has been very active with his troop, participating in many scout activities. Over the many years Charles has been involved with scouting, he has not only earned numerous merit badges, but also the respect of his family, peers, and community.

Madam Speaker, I proudly ask you to join me in commending Charles Maxwell Cassidy for his accomplishments with the Boy Scouts of America and for his efforts put forth in achieving the highest distinction of Eagle Scout.

A PROCLAMATION HONORING THE CENTENNIAL ANNIVERSARY OF THE ST. JOSEPH CATHOLIC CHURCH OF FAIRPOINT, OHIO
HON. ZACHARY T. SPACE
OF OHIO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. SPACE. Madam Speaker:

Whereas, in 1908 families gathered $8000 dollars to erect a church building before formally establishing St. Joseph Catholic Church in 1909; and

Whereas, in September of 1950 His Excellency the Bishop John King Mussio of the Steubenville Diocese dedicated the newly renovated chancel;

Whereas, St. Joseph Church continues to serve an active and vibrant congregation and continues to better Fairpoint by its presence; now, therefore, be it Resolved, that along with the friends and congregation of St. Joseph Church and the residents of the 18th Congressional District, I congratulate St. Joseph Catholic Church on reaching their 100 year anniversary. We recognize the steadfast service provided by the Church, and commend the congregation for its continued life.

HONORING PENNSYLVANIA STATE POLICE CHAPLAIN GROVER DEVAULT
HON. JOSEPH R. PITTS
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. PITTS. Madam Speaker, I stand today to honor Pennsylvania State Police Chaplain Grover DeVault. Grover has spent his entire adult life ministering to the spiritual and emotional needs of those around him.

Early in his service, Grover served as a chaplain in the United States Army, including time spent in Vietnam. In this capacity, Grover provided guidance and counseling not only to members of his military unit, but the people of Vietnam as well, whose lives were upended by war in their homeland. It is my understanding that Chaplain DeVault was wounded as a direct result of enemy action during his active duty service. The event occurred on February 27, 1969, while he was stationed in Da Nang, Vietnam. For this, I recommended him for a Purple Heart.

He retired from the Army as a Lieutenant Colonel, but his ministry did not end there. Grover has remained very much involved in ministering to our troops and veterans in various capacities. His work on their behalf is no longer a duty, but a commitment that he has made because of his personal belief in the importance of ministering to the spiritual needs of those who serve our nation.

One of the ways he continues to serve our troops is as a missionary, along with his wife Nancy, with Cadence International. Cadence is an evangelical mission agency dedicated to reaching the military communities of the United States and the world with the Good News of Jesus Christ.

In addition to his work with our troops, he actually established the chaplaincy program within the Pennsylvania State Police force and has provided chaplain services to the Troop J Lancaster Barracks of the State Police for many years. It was in this capacity that he provided a desperately needed service as a counselor to the emergency personnel who responded to the tragedy at the Amish school in Nickel Mines, Pennsylvania in 2006.

Grover is a man of great integrity who has dedicated his life to serving the spiritual needs of the men and women who serve our nation.

I am pleased to honor him here in the House of Representatives, and I thank him for the important work he has done in spreading the Gospel to a community that is so important to our nation.

TRIBUTE TO THE WEST ROWAN HIGH SCHOOL FALCONS FOOTBALL TEAM
HON. HOWARD COBLE OF NORTH CAROLINA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. COBLE. Madam Speaker, great sports teams become known for doing everything well, but at least one thing better than everyone else. Championships are earned by those teams that can adapt during a title run. That's exactly what happened to a high school football team in our congressional district that was known for an explosive offense, but won a state championship by having its defense rise to the occasion. On behalf of the citizens of the Sixth District of North Carolina, we wish to congratulate the football team of West Rowan High School for winning the North Carolina 3A state championship. The Falcons soared to new heights with the first football championship in the school's history.

The championship was not won with an explosive offense for which West Rowan is known, but by a spectacular display of defense that forced six turnovers. The team was led by Head Coach Scott Young, who is able to pull the squad together and make them believe they were capable of anything. As a result, the Falcons finished the season with an impressive 15–1 record that was capped with a dominating 35–7 win over West Craven High School.

Also assisting the team during this outstanding 15–1 season was Tom Young, who coaches Ed Bowles, Butch Browning, Jeff Chapman, Joel Crotts, Tim Dixon, Ralph Ellis, David Hunt, Lee Linville, Joe Nixon, Kevin Parks, Sr., Stevie Williams, and Durwood Bynum, athletic trainer Amber DeDomino, video coordinator Alan Champion, and ball boys Bryant Young, Marcus Cory, and Owen White.

Again, on behalf of the Sixth District, we would like to congratulate Principal Jamie Durant, Athletic Director Todd Bell, Head Coach
Scott Young, and everyone affiliated with the West Rowan Falcons for proving the old football adage that great defenses win championship. Congratulations to West Rowan on a spectacular season and for winning the North Carolina 3A state championship.

NATIONAL STALKING AWARENESS MONTH

SPEECH OF
HON. SHEILA JACKSON-LEE OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, February 3, 2009

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Madam Speaker, today we will vote on an important piece of legislation that discusses a problem that persists in communities across our country. This bill will show that this problem will not go away with wishful thinking and good intentions. Something must be done to prevent stalking now. We can not afford to wait. I encourage all of my colleagues to support this resolution, do their part to make America aware of stalking, and do their utmost to prevent it's occurrence.

Every day, millions of woman and men have their lives disrupted by a stalker. While every state and DC has passed laws that make this act illegal, stalking still happens far too often. We must do everything we can to tell those being stalked that they are not alone and we will help them. We must do everything we can to tell those terrorizing their fellow man or woman with stalking that you will be caught and prosecuted.

Madam Speaker, stalking has multiple ways it can impact it's victims. Stalkers do not just harass and annoy their targets, they also cause real financial and psychological harm. 26% of stalking victims have lost time working because of their stalkers while a full 7% have been so frightened, they have not returned to work at all. Almost 30% have sought counseling because of the stalking. Overall, the prevalence of insomnia, anxiety, social dysfunction and severe depression is much higher among stalking victims.

These victims feel helpless and will do anything to control their lives again. The number of victims who drastically change their lives to get away from these individuals is staggering. Through no fault of their own, the victims often reach out to law enforcement early requesting restraining orders to prevent contact with their tormenters. These attempts rarely work and result in about 3 out of every 4 restraining orders being violated. Victims have gone so far as to move from their homes to prevent the stalker from being able to antagonize them. One in seven victims has moved in order to maintain their ability to live their life or as normally as possible.

In one out of five cases, the stalker will approach her target with a weapon to threaten or harm them. The worst is that in cases where a woman is murdered by an ex-intimate partner, nearly 90% of them were stalked prior to the homicide. This can not be allowed to go on any more. We have the means and the ability to prevent these attacks.

While technology has aided law enforcement in the ability to target stalkers it has also been used by the stalker to target and contact victims. One in four victims have reported being stalked online. Every day women are stalked and not enough of them are reporting it. Less than half report it to law enforcement officers and only 7% contact victims groups. As the famous author Michele Archer said, "It is important that people know that stalking is a crime and that they can do something about it." This advice can help save a lot of lives.

The biggest misconception about stalking is that it only happens to women. While women are the majority of the targets, they are by no means the only gender that is stalked. Men and women are both targeted and attacked. This legislation will help bring attention to this problem that's underreported, undereducated on and overlooked far too often.

All of us, as members of Congress, want to help, and so often we disagree on how to accomplish that laudable goal. For once we can agree on a problem and can help provide a solution. Today we have that chance to make an impact upon the people who live in daily fear. We can say to them today they are not alone, we are on their side and we will do anything we can to fight for them. We can also say that stalker's days are numbered. Madam Speaker, I urge that my colleagues to support this resolution.

AMERICAN RECOVERY AND REINVESTMENT ACT OF 2009

SPEECH OF
HON. PHIL HARE OF ILLINOIS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, January 27, 2009

Mr. HARE. Mr. Chair, I rise in strong support of H.R. 1, the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009.

One week ago, President Obama called for bold and swift action to address the worst economic crisis since the Great Depression. Millions of jobs have been lost, homes have been foreclosed, and families have been stretched to the limit. We must act now.

I join my colleagues to give the American people hope that better days are ahead. The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act is a downpayment on the investment of our future. It is the first vital step in an intensive effort to reinvigorate our economy by focusing on JOBS, JOBS, JOBS.

This bill will save and create three to four million jobs by immediately putting people to work rebuilding our neglected roads and bridges. Further, the legislation confronts our 21st Century energy challenges by combating climate change and creating good-paying green jobs that cannot be outsourced. The bill also provides funding for education to ensure that every American has the ability to compete with any foreign worker in the new global economy.

Additionally, the measure provides relief for those who lost their jobs and will help struggling families make ends meet while the economy recovers. In fact, if we do not pass this legislation the unemployment rate is expected to explode to staggering 12 percent.

This legislation must pass if we are to overcome the economic crisis. I urge my colleagues to vote yes on the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act.
HONORING THE SERVICE OF STATE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF FARM SERVICE AGENCY, DOTSON COLLINS

HON. JOHN BOOZMAN
OF ARKANSAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. BOOZMAN. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Arkansas Executive Director of Farm Service Agency, Dotson Collins, for his commitment to this country.

Dotson has led a life of service, first in the U.S. Armed Forces. He studied agriculture under the GI Bill and he used that knowledge and understanding to become a leader in the field.

Dotson first served as USDA State Executive Director under President Ronald Reagan and President George H.W. Bush. In 2006, under President George W. Bush he was anxious to do it again.

Dotson devoted his life to helping Arkansas. The list of positions he has held is impressive, from Labor Commissioner and Director of the Commodity Food Stamp Division, to Policy Advisor of Agriculture, Veterans and Military Affairs, Environment and Rural Development.

In roles that would leave the rest of us tired, Dotson found time to serve as President of the Christian Union Council, a position he has held for the last 20 years and he’s looking at ways he can continue to help Arkansans.

I appreciate the leadership Dotson has shown and most of all I appreciate his friendship.

THE IMPORTANCE OF THE STEEL INDUSTRY

HON. ZACHARY T. SPACE
OF OHIO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. SPACE. Madam Speaker, there is perhaps no industry that better encompasses the American spirit than the steel industry. Spanning generations, the steel industry has offered the benefit of employment to millions of Americans, producing material that would serve as the backbone of America.

Earlier today, a number of my colleagues joined me for a hearing entitled the “State of the Steel Industry.” At the hearing, industry executives joined with labor unions to discuss the future of American steel production.

The present economic recession, coupled with the dubious trade and economic policies of competing nations abroad, makes the future of the industry of grave concern. In my district alone, hundreds of Ohioans depend on the industry for gainful employment. These jobs are good jobs. Given the present state of the economy in Ohio, we cannot afford to lose these jobs.

I am proud to be a Member of the Congressional Steel Caucus, and proud to have the opportunity to work on behalf of the millions of Americans whose employment depends on the production of American steel. I look forward to working with all of my colleagues who share my passion for this issue to ensure that the American steel industry can thrive.

There is no question that American steel can compete with any industry in the world on a level playing field. Congress must make that field even.

HONORING KEVIN CORWIN
OF MISSOURI
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. GRAVES. Madam Speaker, I proudly pause to recognize Kevin Corwin of Galtain, Missouri. Kevin is a very special young man who has exemplified the finest qualities of citizenship and leadership by taking an active part in the Boy Scouts of America, Troop 67, and earning the most prestigious award of Eagle Scout.

Kevin has been very active with his troop, participating in many scout activities. Over the many years Kevin has been involved with scouting, he has not only earned numerous merit badges, but also the respect of his family, peers, and community.

Madam Speaker, I proudly ask you to join me in commending Kevin Corwin for his accomplishments with the Boy Scouts of America and for his efforts put forth in achieving the highest distinction of Eagle Scout.

IN MEMORY OF KEN RUFENER

HON. ELTON GALLEGLY
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. GALLEGLY. Madam Speaker, I rise in memory of my friend, Ken Rufener, who passed away Saturday after a fulfilling 89 years.

Ken Rufener was the epitome of service. He served as a United States Air Force statistical officer in the Far Eastern theater during World War II, and subsequently made the Air Force his first career. Before retiring 26 years later, Ken was assigned to the Pentagon before being loaned to the Rand Corporation in Southern California.

After the Air Force, Ken moved his wife, Doris, and their two children to Westlake Village and he went to work as a cost analyst for the Hughes Aircraft company for the next 15 years.

His new home became the beneficiary of Ken’s energy, sense of service and sense of community. He helped bring youth baseball to Westlake Village, serving as first vice president and coach of the Westlake Athletic Association. He joined the Westlake Golf Course from becoming an industrial park. Ken also served as president of the First Neighborhood Homeowners Association.

In 1987, Ken was elected to the Westlake City Council for his first of two 4-year terms and served as mayor for 2 years. After retiring from the council, Ken was elected in 1997 to a 4-year term on the Las Virgenes District Water Board.

Ken was a member of the Military Order of the World Wars and the Retired Officers Association.

Among the awards Ken received for his service were the Patrick Henry Patriotism Award, Westlake Village Citizen of the Year, and the Conejo Valley/Las Virgenes Civitas award for service to the Conejo Valley.

Ken and Doris’s daughter, Karen, died about 10 years ago.

Madam Speaker, I know my colleagues will join my wife, Janice, and me in offering condolences to Ken’s wife of 66 years, Doris, their sons, David, and all their family and friends, and in celebrating Ken’s life of service to his country, his community and his family.

Godspeed, Ken.

CONDEMNING THE ATTACK ON THE TIFERET ISRAEL SYNAGOGUE IN CARACAS, VENEZUELA

HON. DEBBIE WASSERMAN SCHULTZ
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Ms. WASSERMAN SCHULTZ. Madam Speaker, I rise today to express my profound concern and indignation regarding the recent attack on the Tiferet Israel Sephardic synagogue in Caracas, Venezuela.

The attack, which occurred just days after International Holocaust Remembrance Day, on the Jewish Sabbath, was reminiscent of Kristallnacht.

For five hours, violent anti-Semites profaned and vandalized a Sephardic synagogue in capital city Caracas, leaving behind graffiti with words of hatred.

But the violence didn’t stop there. Sacred torah scrolls were hurled about recklessly and damaged. The synagogue’s guard was held at gunpoint and was found on the floor of the building by synagogue members on Saturday morning.

Let me be clear. This brazen attack on the Venezuelan Jewish community did not occur in a vacuum.

It was the direct result of the Venezuelan government’s leaders, officials, media commentators and others, who have fostered an atmosphere of intimidation against the Jewish community.

During the Gaza crisis, anti-Semitic and anti-Israel statements were made by the Venezuelan President, the foreign minister, interior minister, the president of the national assembly, a number of congress members, and governors across the country.

In the most recent example of his blatantly anti-Semitic public comments, President Hugo Chavez said “the Israelis criticize Hitler but have done something worse,” and also asked “Don’t Jews repudiate the Holocaust? This is precisely what we’re witnessing.”

Hateful, fear-mongering comments like these were condemned by our own Department of State, in a 2008 report where they listed “drawing comparisons of contemporary Israeli policy to that of the Nazis” as an example of anti-Semitism.

President Chavez “condemned” Friday’s attack on Tiferet Israel as briefly as possible, making no mention of plans to ensure the safety and security of the Jewish community in his country. He did, however, take a considerable amount of time to throw mud at his opponents, accusing them of staging the synagogues’ attack.

In November 2008, President Chavez signed a statement along with the presidents of Argentina and Brazil condemning religious intolerance, and “in particular anti-Semitism and anti-Islamism.”

In the strongest of terms I urge the government of Venezuela to live up to this statement, and end the incessant bullying and harassment of the Jews of Venezuela.

HONORING AMBASSADOR JOE M. RODGERS

HON. MARSHA BLACKBURN OF TENNESSEE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mrs. BLACKBURN. Madam Speaker, I rise today to celebrate the extraordinary life of Ambassador Joe Rodgers, who passed away on Monday at the age of 75. He exemplified the values of dedication, hard work and perseverance; and he committed himself to serving others. This is the inheritance he leaves his family and all those who knew him.

Although a native of Alabama, he built many of the iconic buildings that define his adopted hometown of Nashville. From the Schermerhorn Symphony Center to the Wildhorse Saloon to the Country Music Hall of Fame and Museum, many of the most well-known and well-loved buildings in Middle Tennessee will stand as a permanent memorial to Joe Rodgers. He was an enormous force in the construction industry, building a series of companies that built hotels, hospitals, university buildings and countless other structures around the country and around the world.

Not content to rest on his success in business, Joe Rodgers engaged in public life through his support of candidates who shared his belief in fiscal conservatism. He would eventually become National Finance Chairman for both the Republican National Committee and the re-election effort of President Reagan. In 1985, President Reagan named him the U.S. Ambassador to France. His exemplary service was rewarded with the rank of Grand Officer of the Legion of Honor presented by French President Mitterand. He also served on both the Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board and the U.S. Trade Representative’s Foreign Advisory Committee.

At home in Nashville he was involved with countless civic, charitable and religious groups such as the Boy Scouts of America, the Chamber of Commerce, the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and Vanderbilt University.

Indeed it is difficult to find another person who has had so much impact on so many different aspects of our community. He will be missed and our sympathy is with his loving family.

Madam Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in appreciation of a life well lived.

NATIONAL TEEN DATING VIOLENCE AWARENESS AND PREVENTION WEEK

SPERECH

HON. SHEILA JACKSON-LEE OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, February 3, 2009

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Madam Speaker, we must pass House Resolution 103 and bring awareness to an often overlooked yet extremely dangerous issue.

As a parent, I know the dangers my children faced when they were growing up. I often lost sleep worrying that something would happen to one of my kids that was beyond my control. It was part of the reason I decided to run for Congress.

Today, more than ever, we need to make people aware of the dangers our children face, we never did. Children have such broad access to information that it ages them in ways still not fully understood.

They look at their favorite movie or TV stars and want to emulate them. They research adult topics on the Internet and share information through cell phones and facebook with their friends. They feel because they know things they view as adult, they are adults. Parents do not discuss regularly enough drug use, domestic violence or sex with their children.

This legislation will set aside a week to help foster discussion between the parent and the child, which is the number one way to prevent the awful outcomes which have become far too common on our daily news. This resolution will also bring attention to this matter and would let Americans know that this issue is serious.

The statistics are staggering: one out of every eleven adolescents have reported they have been the victim of a physical abuse. Of the teenagers who are in “serious relationships” one in five have reported being abused in some way. Our children are trying to be like us and in the process they are growing up far too fast. The scariest statistic is, of children who are between the age of 11 and 12, the youngest of our teens, has been or knows someone who has been abused. This is a true travesty.

We can no longer sit by and reminisce about the golden age of child rearing. Children can not be left alone and can expect to turn out like we did. As Chair of the Congressional Children’s Caucus, I have worked tirelessly to ensure all America’s children can lead safe and productive lives. We must ensure they get the right start.

This resolution will not only prevent our children from living through a terrible ordeal, but it will also help curtail future attacks. Evidence exists showing the severity of domestic violence among a couple is far greater if there is a pattern of abuse from early on in the abuser’s life. We have a duty to protect our children and we have a duty to protect our fellow citizens and assure the right to live in peace.

Proclaiming this week National Teen Dating Violence Awareness and Prevention Week will show how serious this issue is and continue the discussion which has already begun in many homes. This resolution will also expand the discussion to many homes in the district I represent as well as the rest of the country. We must pass this resolution today and send a clear message to our fellow citizens that this issue will not go away.

Madam Speaker, I urge its immediate passage so we can begin to solve a problem that’s gone unchecked far too long. We can make a difference in these and future young adults. The time to act is now.

MIDDLE CLASS INVESTOR RELIEF ACT

HON. MARK STEVEN KIRK OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. KIRK. Madam Speaker, in the past year, shareholders in American companies have seen the value of their holdings drop by 30 percent. Congress is taking action to stimulate our economy, and reviewing options to strengthen oversight of the capital markets that keep our economy going.

We must not forget the small investor. Middle class families have watched their nest eggs shrink and their home values drop. Their shaken confidence impacts consumer spending and the future growth of our nation’s economy. Some middle class Americans nearing retirement may need to work additional years to earn back their stock losses.

With continuing economic uncertainty, we must bring relief to middle class families while boosting investor confidence in an uncertain stock market. Today, I am introducing the Middle Class Investor Relief Act, increasing the maximum annual capital loss a taxpayer can take from $3,000 to $20,000.

Current tax law is asymmetrical with regard to taxing capital gains and writing off capital losses. Long-term gains are taxed at 15 percent while capital loss write-offs are capped at $3,000 per year. An individual who lost more than $3,000 in the stock market could take years to rebuild his or her holdings. The Middle Class Investor Relief Act will correct the asymmetry of current tax law and help middle class Americans recover losses and rebuild their portfolios.

2008 REALTOR ACHIEVEMENT AWARD: MICHELE BRENNAN

HON. DAVID G. REICHERT OF WASHINGTON

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. REICHERT. Madam Speaker, I rise in recognition of a wonderful American, a devoted professional, volunteer and personal friend. Michele Brennan, a constituent, was recently honored by the Seattle-King County Association of Realtors with “The Realtor Achievement Award” for an extraordinary body of work improving both the association and real estate industry overall.

Michele, a dedicated wife and mother of two children, has worked in the real estate industry for 25 years. She ensures that my office is aware of the issues important for Realtors, the families they serve, and my constituents in the Eighth District of Washington.

Apart from her professional duties in the real estate industry, Michele is a selfless leader dedicated to the betterment of her community. A long-serving volunteer in the Auburn, Washington School District, Michele has also served as president of the Kent, Washington Swim and Tennis Club and as a member of the Windermere Foundation Board, where she worked hard on behalf of needy families and children. It is difficult to fully explain Michele’s dedication to her community involvements, either as a leader or “behind-the-scenes” organizer. Michele is interested not in earning praise, but only in making a positive impact.
Mr. ABERCROMBIE. Madam Speaker, I rise today to introduce the Native Hawaiian Government Reorganization Act of 2009, a bill to affirm and formalize the long political relationship between Native Hawaiians and the United States. This measure clarifies that political bond and provides a process for Native Hawaiians to form their own governing body and participate in a government-to-government relationship with the United States. This is a companion measure to legislation being introduced by Senator DANIEL AKANA in the Senate this evening.

The United States recognized the sovereignty of the Kingdom of Hawaii more than 175 years ago, accorded the Kingdom full diplomatic recognition and entered into treaties and conventions in 1826, 1842, 1849, 1875 and 1887, all ratified by Congress. The United States has declared in law a special responsibility for the welfare of the Native peoples of the United States, including Native Hawaiians. P.L. 103–150, the Apology Resolution, extended an apology to the Native people of Hawaii on behalf of the United States for our country’s role in the overthrow of the Kingdom of Hawaii in 1893. The Apology Resolution also expressed the commitment of Congress and the President to acknowledge the ramifications of the overthrow, and to support reconciliation efforts between the United States and Native Hawaiians.

This relationship was explicitly affirmed in the Hawaiian Homes Commission Act of 1920, which set aside 200,000 acres of land for homesteading by Native Hawaiians. Legislative history clearly shows that Congress based this action and subsequent legislation on the constitutional precedent in programs enacted to benefit Native Americans. In fact, since Hawaii’s admission into the Union fifty years ago, Congress has legislated on behalf of Native Hawaiians, including them as Native Americans in numerous statutes.

The legislation I am introducing today is important not only to Native Hawaiians, but to everyone in Hawaii. It provides a process to address many longstanding issues facing Hawaii’s indigenous peoples and the State of Hawaii. In addressing these matters, we have begun a process of healing, a process of reconciliation not only between the United States and the Native people of Hawaii, but within the State of Hawaii.

The essence of Hawaii lies not in the allure of its islands, but in the beauty of its people. The State of Hawaii has recognized the need to preserve the culture, tradition, language and heritage of its people. This measure gives form to the U.S. government’s responsibilities in that same effort.

THE "MULTI MODAL TRANSPORT BENEFIT AND TECHNICAL CORRECTIONS ACT"

Mr. BLUMENAUER. Madam Speaker, today I am introducing the “Multi-Modal Transport Benefit and Technical Corrections Act,” a bill that encourages flexibility for employees and employers hoping to take advantage of the bike commuter tax benefit created in last year’s financial rescue package. The bill also makes small technical changes to the program.

This legislation amends the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to allow employees to receive transportation fringe benefits for the same month both in the form of transit passes and reimbursements of qualified bicycle commuting expenses. It offers smarter, more flexible benefits without imposing additional costs on employers or taxpayers, as the multi-modal benefits fall under existing caps for transit. Allowances under the program will make it easier for commuters to commute to work, and providing parity to those who choose alternative methods of transportation, simply makes sense. Bike commuters—who burn calories instead of gasoline, emit fewer fossil fuels and have a much smaller impact on our roads and transport systems than most other commuters—should at the very least have the same access to fringe benefits that their car driving colleagues enjoy. The “Multi-Modal Transport Benefit and Technical Corrections Act” will level the playing field for bike commuters and ensure smooth application of the bike commuter tax benefit for employers.

I am proud to introduce this bill today and urge my colleagues to support it.

RECOGNIZING WILLIAM J. POST WHO IS RETIRING FROM HIS POSITION AS PRESIDENT AND CEO OF PINNACLE WEST CAPITAL CORPORATION

Mr. MITCHELL. Madam Speaker, I rise today to congratulate William J. Post, who is retiring from his position as Chairman and CEO of Pinnacle West Capital Corporation after 38 years of extraordinary service to the company. Since the beginning of his time at Pinnacle West in 1973, Bill’s strong work ethic and ambition have earned him great respect, and have inspired others within the company. During his time at Pinnacle West Bill’s leadership contributed to many important company milestones, including navigating a state push to deregulate utilities and then reshuffling when that effort was pulled back. Bill accomplished this without bankruptcy, new ownership, or any kind of employee reorganization. His efforts have made a significant and lasting impact on the company.

Bill is well-known for his leadership abilities not only within the Pinnacle West Corporation, but in his community as well. Most notably, he contributed to the creation of the Greater Phoenix Business Leadership Coalition, which is comprised of regional businesses working toward stabilizing the economy. Bill is also involved in the United Methodist Outreach Ministry, Translational Genomics Research Institute, Blue Cross Blue Shield, and Arizona State University.

On a personal note, like me, Bill is an alum- nus of Tempe High School, where I also taught. I know the residents of our hometown share my pride in seeing a fellow Tempe Buffaloes make such profound contributions to the community.

Madam Speaker, please join me in recognizing Bill Post’s contributions to Pinnacle West Capital Corporation and his surrounding community, and wishing him well in his retirement.

BLACK HISTORY MONTH

Mr. VISCONTI. Madam Speaker, It is with great respect and sincere admiration that I rise to celebrate Black History Month and its 2009 theme—The Quest for Black Citizenship in the Americas. Throughout its history, the struggle for racial equality has been and continues to be one of the greatest testaments of America’s progress.

The theme for this year’s Black History Month, The Quest for Black Citizenship in the Americas, is a reminder that in striving for a greater society, we must examine the past. No group has contributed more to reflecting on the past in order to create a better future than the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP). As the NAACP celebrates a remarkable milestone, its 100th anniversary, we take this time to remember the outstanding contributions of so many proud and courageous individuals: black, white, men, women, young and old. These men and women have given hope in the bleakest of times and allowed us, as a society, to make strides toward equality once considered impossible.

Recognizing that emancipation was only the beginning of the fight for true equality, the NAACP was founded with the ideals of creating and preserving equal citizenship for all men and women throughout America. Knowing that there is still work to be done, it is the vision of the NAACP that, one day, all individuals will have equal rights and the United States will be free of racial hatred and discrimination. As the first page of the NAACP Constitution indicates, the principal goals of the organization are: to ensure political, educational, social, and economic equality, to eliminate racial prejudice in America, to remove racial barriers through the democratic process, to secure civil rights, to inform the public and seek the elimination of racial discrimination, and to educate individuals about their constitutional rights.

In the First Congressional District, I am proud to serve as the representative for three branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. At this time, I would like to pay special tribute to these three groups, which have played such a critical role, locally, in the fight for racial equality and in improving Northwest Indiana for all residents. These three outstanding representatives of the First Congressional District include the East Chicago Branch, led by President Philip Pulliam, the Hammond Branch, led by President Karen Pulliam, and the Hammond Branch, led by President Mary Aaron.

It is the efforts of organizations like these that allow us to reflect on what makes the United States of America so special. Nowhere else in the world do you find such an integrated country. The United States is made up of people from so many different racial, religious, social, and ideological backgrounds, it is the efforts of the many brave citizens who have fought and continue to struggle for equality that have made America what it is.

Madam Speaker, I ask that you and my distinguished colleagues join me in remembering the many brave men and women who have led the struggle for equality among all Americans, and I ask that you join me in honoring the work and tireless dedication of the members of organizations, such as the NAACP, who continue their selfless work today. Through the efforts of these honorable individuals and organizations, we are reminded of how far we have come as a nation, while realizing that there is still progress to be made.

REDUCING OVER-CLASSIFICATION ACT OF 2009

SPEECH OF

HON. SHEILA JACKSON-LEE

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, February 3, 2009

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 553, The Reduce Over-Classification Act of 2009. This measure will allow the expansion of information that the Department of Homeland Security shares with state and local governments. The bill also will require "portion marking" which refers to the identification of paragraphs in a document that are classified, but allows the unclassified portions to be viewed.

The measure requires the department to develop the policies, procedures and programs to prevent the over-classification of information relating to weapons of mass destruction, terrorism, homeland security or other matters within the scope of the information-sharing environment that must be disseminated in order to prevent and respond to acts of terrorism. The practical, day-to-day processes will be done in coordination with the National Archives and Records Administration but in reality it will require full-fledged cooperation from the Department of Homeland Security and the very able staff that make up its workforce.

This legislation requires all finished intelligence products to be prepared in the standard unclassified format, provided that an unclassified product would serve to benefit state and local governments. Mr. Speaker, and I ask that you join me in honoring the highest distinction of Eagle Scout.

Madam Speaker, I proudly ask you to join me in commending Tyler Wade Kuehn for his accomplishments with the Boy Scouts of America and for his efforts put forth in achieving the highest distinction of Eagle Scout.

IN SUPPORT OF LEGISLATION TO PREVENT VIOLENCE

HON. CAROLYN B. MALONEY

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mrs. MALONEY. Madam Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 748, the "Campus Safety Act of 2009," H. Res. 82, which establishes January 2009 as National Stalking Awareness Month, and H. Res. 103, which supports the goals and ideals of National Teen Dating Violence Awareness and Prevention Week. These bills will help to combat violence, disseminate safety information, and raise awareness about these critical issues.

All Americans should feel safe in their communities, their workplaces, their schools, and their homes. Everyone, but particularly children and teens, should have access to the necessary resources to recognize a violent or abusive relationship and to get out safely. I believe that it is particularly important in this day of instant communication that we educate young people about the unintended consequences of sharing too much information on the Internet or via a cell phone. While these are valuable tools to communicate in the 21st century, they can also pose new and sometimes unexpected dangers.

We all must be aware of the warning signs of violent relationships whether they are affecting our friends, our neighbors, or our children. The bills before us today show that we will not tolerate the violence, abuse, and sexual assault that pervade our society. I urge my colleagues to support these important bills.
INTRODUCTION OF THE CORAL REEF CONSERVATION ACT REAUTHORIZATION AND ENHANCEMENT AMENDMENTS OF 2009

HON. MADELINE Z. BORDALLO OF GUAM
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Ms. BORDALLO. Madam Speaker, today I have introduced a bill to amend and reauthorize the Coral Reef Conservation Act of 2000. In the 110th Congress, I joined my colleague, Congressman ENI FALEOMAVAEGA of American Samoa, in introducing H.R. 1205, the “Coral Reef Conservation Amendments Act of 2007.” Both the House of Representatives passed by voice vote on October 22, 2007. The bill I have introduced today, with Congressman FALEOMAVAEGA and 15 other colleagues, strengthens H.R. 1205 without changing its original intent.

Conservation of coral reef ecosystems is essential to public health, promote environmental sustainability, and ensure long-term economic progress for the jurisdictions we represent in Congress. The sovereign waters of the United States off the coast of Guam, and in the Pacific region as a whole, contain a majority of the shallow-water coral reefs in the United States, as well as some of the world’s greatest coral reef biodiversity. These reefs, and reefs around the world, protect us from storm waves, provide habitat and shelter for fisheries, provide food and recreation for our residents, and are the basis for marine tourism industries.

Today, however, various pressures on the world’s reefs threaten to destroy them and the numerous services that they provide. Unless the United States acts in conjunction with the global community to focus, prolonged action on coral reef education, research, and management, the condition of our coral reefs will continue to degrade.

Since its enactment in 2000, the Coral Reef Conservation Act has stimulated a greater recognition of our coral reefs, and more focused management capability than at any time in our history. The Coral Reef Conservation Act Reauthorization and Enhancement Amendments of 2009 would further strengthen the original legislation by establishing a new community-based planning grants program, by promoting international cooperation, and by recognizing the important contributions of the U.S. Department of the Interior in coral reef management and conservation efforts.

This bill would also codify the United States Coral Reef Task Force established in 1998 by President Clinton through Executive Order 13089. The work of the Task Force and its mission to coordinate the efforts of the United States in promoting conservation and the sustainable use of coral reefs internationally is vital to our interests. Since 1998, the Task Force has acted to facilitate and support better management and conservation of coral reef resources at the local level. Many beneficial efforts, such as the development and implementation of local action strategies to address threats to our reefs, are underway thanks to the work of the Task Force and its member agencies.

I look forward to working with my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to advance this legislation to enhance our capacity for the conservation and restoration of healthy and diverse coral reef ecosystems, our “Rainforests of the Sea”.

COMMEMORATION OF MONSIGNOR BONNER HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI

HON. JOE SESTAK
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. SESTAK. Madam Speaker, on this day, one of the finest schools in Pennsylvania’s 7th Congressional District will pay honor to its many exceptional graduates who have given their lives in service to our nation.

It is with a combination of pride and humility that I rise to honor the alumni, faculty, students and families of Monsignor Bonner High School in Drexel Hill, Pennsylvania. Specifically, we owe a debt of gratitude to Mr. Dennis Murphy and Mr. Jim Ulmer. These two combat Veterans of the Vietnam War, in collaboration with other Veterans, graduates, and school president, the Rev. Augustine M. Esposito, O.S.A., Ph.D, have worked hard to pay tribute to Bonner’s courageous graduates and their families and comrades-in-arms past, present, and future.

Founded in 1953 and expertly led by friars of the Order of St. Augustine, Monsignor Bonner High School has imbued in every young man who has passed through its doors the moral and intellectual foundation required to serve our nation with honor, courage, and commitment. Among its alumni and faculty are thousands of veterans including the Rev. John Melton, O.S.A., who served in the United States Marine Corps and throughout his tenure as Bonner’s Guidance Counselor inspired an untold number of young men to follow his example of service to country, community, and God.

As our nation fights two wars far from our shores it is essential that we thank Monsignor Bonner High School and its surrounding neighborhoods in the Delaware Valley that have offered so many of their sons and daughters in service to our nation.

There is a headstone in Ireland that reads, “Death leaves a heartache no one can heal, love leaves a memory no one can steal.” Today, Monsignor Bonner High School continues to reflect the very best in our nation and society in memorializing the sacrifices of some of its many heroes. Most importantly, they have done so in a way that will forever represent our love and respect for the great gift those young men offered in service to the United States of America.

RENEWABLE ENERGY

HON. ELIO T. ENGEL
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. ENGEL. Madam Speaker, I would like to discuss an article in today’s New York Times confirming that renewable energy industries—especially wind and solar—have been slowed significantly by the credit crisis and the broader economic downturn.

I believe that we should not allow frozen credit markets to derail renewable-energy projects, and we cannot allow reduced oil prices to lull us into complacency. We have an opportunity to address both of these concerns by working with the Senate, and with the Obama Administration, to pass the economic recovery package into law.

I believe that the recovery package must extend tax credits for biofuels, wind, and solar. It must make infrastructure investments. It must increase federal dollars for energy research, development, and deployment. And it must encourage the production of alternative fuel motor vehicles, including plug-in electric drive vehicles.

The time to act is now. A clean, green recovery package is our nation’s best path to restoring our economy, and our best chance of creating jobs that cannot be outsourced.

MOURNING THE DEATH OF FORMER SENATOR JAMES B. PEARSON OF KANSAS

HON. DENNIS MOORE OF KANSAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. MOORE of Kansas. Madam Speaker, I rise today to note the death of former Kansas United States Senator James B. Pearson, who died on January 13th at the age of 90.

Appointed to the U.S. Senate in 1962, upon the death of Andrew Schoeppel, James B. Pearson served our state with distinction from 1962 through 1978. Elected in 1962, and re-elected in 1966 and 1972, Senator Pearson was a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, he also rose to become Ranking Republican member of the Commerce, Science and Transportation Committee. Senator Pearson represented our state during an important and turbulent era, addressing issues that included: the Vietnam War; the civil rights revolution; enactment of the Medicare and Medicaid programs; America’s space exploration program; and deregulation of the trucking and airline industries. Senator Pearson was a voice of reason and common sense during these difficult times and I am proud that he was originally from Prairie Village, which is located in the Third Congressional District of Kansas. In 2003, I joined with the rest of the Kansas congressional delegation in authorizing legislation naming the Prairie Village U.S. post office in his honor.

Madam Speaker, the website for the Topeka Capital-Journal newspaper recently carried a blog commentary regarding Senator Pearson’s career, which I believe very accurately summarizes his service to Kansas throughout his public life. I ask that it be included with this statement, as well as the obituary article regarding Senator Pearson that was published in the Washington Post.

[From the Topeka Capital Journal, Jan. 29, 2009]

MELLINGER: PEARSON’S POLITICAL STORY IS ONE WORTH REMEMBERING

(By Gwyn Mellinger)

Without fanfare, Jim Pearson, one of Kansas’ most complex politicians, died earlier this month. Most of the state's news media marked his passing with only perfunctory notices, hardly a fitting testament to his contributions during 17 years in the U.S. Senate and another decade in various other public offices.

This is what happens when you live to be 88 and choose to spend the last decades of your life in relative obscurity. In retirement, Pearson split his time between homes in Baldwin City and Gloucester, Mass. As health problems prevented travel, his visits to Kansas became fewer. Even so, he remained invested in the state whose voters sent him off to Washington and were sometimes bewildered by him.

Pearson never took a break from the drawl that betrayed his upbringing in Tennessee and Virginia, as well as his education at Duke University and the University of Virginia School of Law. As an outsider, he launched his Kansas political career from a law practice in Johnson County, where he was a city attorney and probate judge before serving a term in the Kansas Senate.

He was state Republican chairman in 1962, when Gov. John Anderson appointed him to fill the seat vacated by the death of Andy Schoeppel. Later that year, Pearson secured the position in a special election and was re-elected in both 1966 and 1972. When he sought re-election in 1978, he was succeeded by Nancy Kassebaum.

With benefit of hindsight, Pearson's political record seems particularly astonishing. When Kansas was nonetheless relatively rural development and the interests of the rural counties were in the ascendant, Pearson's positions would have seemed straightforward. He was close to Sen. Strom Thurmond (S.C.), that party's most conservative principle, and generally voted with his Democratic colleagues. When President Jimmy Carter broke with the Nixon administration by opposing the bombing of Cambodia, Pearson voted against the Vietnam War fairly early. The senator opposed legislation that reduced the number of votes required to end a filibuster from 67 to 60. He also broke with the Nixon administration on efforts to end the Vietnam War. His closest Senate colleague was Republican Sens. Charles "Mac" Mathias (Md.) and Edward Brooke (Mass.), and Democrat John Culver (Iowa).

David Seaton, the senator's former press secretary and now publisher of the Winfield Daily Courier, said Sen. Pearson's toughest races were always in the Republican primary. "For a long time, he was not considered Republican enough by the traditional Republican party people."

James Blackwood Pearson was born in Nash County, N.C., the youngest of five children of Jefferson and Mary Crow. Growing up in a rented one-bedroom house in East Dallas, Trammell Crow graduated from Woodrow Wilson High School in 1932. Unable to attend college because of the Great Depression, Mr. Crow worked several odd jobs; eventually he joined his father's company in Dallas and worked his way up to director at the American Institute of Banking and at Dallas College, the evening division of Southern Methodist University.

Trammell Crow passed the Texas CPA exam in 1938 and accepted a position with Ernst & Ernst as an auditor. When World War II approached, he applied for and was accepted for an officer's commission in the U.S. Navy where he used his auditing skills. Later he was in charge of Navy audit teams that worked with various defense contractors. By 1944, he earned the rank of commander in charge of cost inspection for the Eighth Naval District in New Orleans.

Mr. Crow married Margaret Doggett in 1942 and returned to Dallas in 1946, when his Naval assignment was completed. Mr. Crow went to work for the Doggett Grain Company where he would stay until 1948 when, at age 33, he began his legendary career in real estate.

In the 1950s, Trammell Crow introduced Dall-

IN COMMEMORATION OF BLACK HISTORY MONTH

HON. ALICE L. HASTINGS
OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Ms. EDDIE BERNICE JOHNSON of Texas. Madam Speaker, I rise today to commemorate this 33rd Black History Month, a month that celebrates Black History with a view to its promotion, preservation and research.

Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. Madam Speaker, I rise today to commemorate this 33rd Black History Month, a month that celebrates Black History with a view to its promotion, preservation and research.
Black History Month has grown as a celebration of Black history and culture over many decades. At the urging of historian Carter Woodson, the second African American to receive a degree from Harvard University, the fraternity Omega Psi Phi first created Negro History and Literature Week in 1920. In 1926, Woodson changed Negro History and Literature Week to Black History Week. In 1976, they extended the week to a month-long observance.

Since its earliest origins, Black History Month has made a significant contribution to the promotion and research of Black history. When the tradition of Black History Month first began, Black history had barely been explored by mainstream academia. Although much work remains to complete our understanding of African-American culture, our understanding is vastly improved. This has contributed to both an increased sense of racial pride among African-Americans and an increased appreciation of African-American culture among non-White Americans.

Madam Speaker, these and other continued important initiatives to address the inequities, which continue to affect African-Americans. For these reasons, I am extremely pleased to commemorate Black History Month and encourage my colleagues to join me in doing so as well.

American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009

Speech of

Hon. James R. Langevin

Of Rhode Island

In the House of Representatives

Wednesday, January 28, 2009

The House in Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 1) making supplemental appropriations for job preservation and creation, infrastructure investment, energy efficiency and science, assistance to the unemployed, and State and local fiscal stabilization, for fiscal year ending September 30, 2009, and for other purposes.

Mr. LANGEVIN. Mr. Chair, I rise in support of H.R. 1, the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act, which will save and create millions of jobs across our country, jumpstart our economy and transform it to meet the needs of the 21st century by making our nation more globally competitive and energy independent.

We are facing dire economic times. Every week, we are faced with new reports on job losses across our country. In my home state of Rhode Island, we have the country’s second highest unemployment rate at ten percent and last December, we were ranked sixth nationally in foreclosure rates. These harsh realities have made it increasingly clear that our economy will face an even sharper downturn if we do not act soon. With that in mind, I support taking action to rebuild our nation’s economy.

H.R. 1 will appropriate $544 billion for transportation and infrastructure upgrades and construction, health care programs, education assistance, and energy efficiency upgrades, and includes $275 billion in personal and business tax breaks for a total of $819 billion to be expended over Fiscal Years 2009 and 2010. This measure helps those hit hardest by the downturn by extending unemployment benefits, providing job training to get people back to work quickly, increasing food stamp benefits, and extending health benefits for those who lose their job.

This measure provides $90 billion to modernize our crumbling roads and bridges, increase transit and rail funding to reduce traffic congestion and gas consumption, and invest in clean water and other environmental restoration projects. It is estimated that Rhode Island will receive $154 million for highways and bridges and $39 million for the Clean Water State Revolving Fund, which will significantly raise and almost double our state’s budget for these programs. These projects will immediately create jobs in my state, as projects will only receive funding if they are “ready to go” within 90 days of the enactment of this bill.

This measure also includes education initiatives that will build 21st century classrooms, labs and libraries through a new program that will modernize, renovate and repair school buildings. It is estimated that Rhode Island will receive $48 million for Title I programs, which serve disadvantaged children, and $48 million for IDEA Funds. H.R. 1 also provides $15.6 billion for Pell grants, and it is estimated that Rhode Island will receive $97.5 million in aid for 28,217 recipients for an average award for the academic year 2009–10 of $3,456. Investing in our children’s education not only has long-term benefits to our economy, but it also delivers on our nation’s promise to ensure that all individuals have an equal opportunity to succeed.

I have strongly advocated for a comprehensive energy plan to lower costs, create jobs and improve our environment. H.R. 1 will not only double renewable energy production, but I am especially pleased that funding is included to build our ability to transport renewable energy to homes throughout our nation. The bill also promotes a Smart Grid Investment Program to modernize our electricity grid to meet the needs of our growing and evolving energy system. While Congress supports an efficient assistance system of power generation, the bill also provides necessary credits to individuals to make their homes more energy efficient through weatherization programs and with credits to purchase energy efficient appliances.

This measure includes individual tax relief, including the “Making work pay” tax credit, which will provide up to $500 for an individual or $1,000 for married couples filing jointly. Parents will also benefit from an increase in the child tax credit for families with three or more children and the bill allows for additional low-income families to receive the child tax credit. It will also provide a tax credit up to $7500 for first time home buyers if they purchase a home between April 8th, 2009 and July 1st, 2009, injecting a much needed incentive into the housing market.

I also supported H.R. 1 because it includes unprecedented accountability and strong oversight by creating the Recovery Act Accountability and Transparency Board, which will coordinate and conduct oversight of federal spending under the bill. A website with the board’s reports will be placed on a website, which will also show how funds are spent and list announcements of contract and grant competitions and awards.

Mr. Chair, it is important to understand that this funding is not a silver bullet, but that our economy will continue to decline without this immediate action. The Recovery package will begin to slow our downward economic trend and allows us to regain our footing as we begin to make much-needed long term investments to transform our economy for the 21st century. American prosperity depends on individual economic security. It is only when Americans do not have to worry about losing their job, keeping their home or paying their bills that our economy will truly flourish. I am committed to improving the economic outlook for the millions who are struggling, and I will continue working with my colleagues in Congress on this vital and urgent goal.

Introduction of the “Mortgage and Rental Assistance Restoration Act of 2008”

Hon. Carolyn B. Maloney

Of New York

In the House of Representatives

Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mrs. MALONEY. Madam Speaker, today I am reintroducing “The Mortgage and Rental Assistance Restoration Act” for the 111th Congress. I have introduced this in previous Congresses and I will keep working to pass this important piece of disaster relief policy that will protect all Americans.

My bill would reauthorize the Mortgage and Rental Assistance Act, MRA, which was discontinued by the Disaster Mitigation Act effective May 2002. The MRA provides mortgage and rental payments to people who suffer a loss of income due to a federally declared disaster such as a hurricane or terrorist attack. Without a job, most people would be unable to keep their homes due to the financial burdens of mortgages or rents. The MRA provides cover for both home owners and renters.

After the terrorist attack on September 11, 2001, individuals who required temporary housing assistance relied upon the MRA, included in the Stafford Act, for aid. Under the MRA program many were eligible for grants to repair homes to a habitable condition, or to obtain mortgage or rental payment assistance to prevent foreclosures or evictions.

The MRA program was a crucial component to help victims of the Sept. 11th attack in my home state of New York. However, in 2005, in the wake of Hurricane Katrina, the MRA was not available for mortgage or rental assistance. As a result many people who would have been eligible for mortgage or rental assistance were unable to receive it. This was unfair and detrimental to the recovery process.

The United States government has a responsibility to help communities recover from disaster and keep people from losing their homes. The MRA program helps provide stability during unstable times and that is why it must be reauthorized.
Ms. BORDALLO. Madam Speaker, today I have introduced a private relief bill to grant full annuity set forth in 28 U.S.C. 373 to the Honorable John S. Unpingco of Piti, Guam, former Judge of the United States District Court of Guam.

Prior to his confirmation on October 8, 1992, by the United States Senate as Judge of the District Court of Guam, Judge Unpingco served a combined total of 27 years as an officer in the United States Air Force, the United States Air Force Reserve, and as a federal civil employee in the Department of the Air Force. However, despite his long and distinguished career as a public servant, upon attaining the age of 65, Judge Unpingco can only receive an annuity provided on the federal bench and valued at approximately 12/15th of the salary he earned at the time he stepped down from the bench.

The issue of retirement inequity is one unique to Judges appointed to serve on the bench for the District Courts of Guam, the Northern Mariana Islands, and the Virgin Islands. Each of these Courts was established pursuant to an Act of Congress enacted in the authority of Congress to govern territories granted by Section 3 in Article IV of the Constitution. Article IV judges are appointed for fixed-length terms pursuant to statute. Article III judges, however, their counterparts serving on the bench in District Courts in the 50 States and in the District of Columbia, are appointed for life in accordance with the Constitution.

In the 109th Congress, I wrote with my colleagues from the Virgin Islands, Mrs. CHRISTENSEN, to the Judicial Conference of the United States, to request their review of draft legislation to amend 28 U.S.C. 373 to allow for the retirement of Article IV judges under terms more equal to those provided under current law for judges of Article III Courts and the United States Tax Court. The Committee on the Judicial Branch of the Judicial Conference of the United States carefully examined the legislative proposals on this issue and responded in writing on January 5, 2006, indicating that this is a matter more appropriately addressed at this time through a private relief bill. To date, Congress has confirmed the appointments of 16 Judges to the Article IV Courts for the Districts of Guam, the Northern Mariana Islands, and the Virgin Islands. Length of terms has varied over time and across the three courts. There are unique circumstances surrounding Judge Unpingco’s executive and judicial service. He separated from the civil service to fulfill a judicial responsibility, was reappointed, he is eligible to receive a proportional annuity upon reaching age 65 provided he has at least ten years of judicial service.

It is understood that Article III judges are appointed for life-time terms because the framers of the Constitution recognized that an effective and independent judiciary could only be realized if judges were free from political interference in their decision-making. We are seeking changes to the retirement provisions for Article IV judges to provide consistency with the provisions already established by the framers. Article IV judges should not have to face the possibility of having to seek employment at the expiration of their term. Having to do so raises possible conflict of interest and judicial independence concerns our founding fathers sought to prevent from occurring.

We are proposing that Article IV judges be afforded a similar option to retire as judges in the U.S. Tax Court, who also do not receive lifetime appointments, are eligible to retire at the expiration of their term regardless of age. Under Section 7447(b)(3) of Title 26 of the United States Code, judges of the United States Tax Court who are not reappointed can retire upon completion of their term they have notified the President of their willingness to accept retirement within a period of twelve months. We are proposing similar consideration for Article IV judges. Specifically, that an Article IV judge, who is not reappointed, would be allowed to retire after the expiration of their term. An Article IV judge retiring under this provision would receive an annuity equal to 50% of the judge’s salary at the time of retirement. Reaching the age of 65, the retired judge would be eligible to receive the annuity amount authorized under current law (28 U.S.C.373(e)).

Alternatively, we propose that an Article IV judge, who has at least ten years of judicial service, but is not reappointed, and who has not reached the age of 65, be eligible to retire at the expiration of his term provided he has a combined total of 15 years of Federal service, including a minimum of 10 years of judicial service, which may include military and civil service.

Enclosed, for your review, is draft legislative language for each of these proposals.

Amending the retirement provisions would ensure the judicial independence of Article IV judges and provide for their freedom from political interference. In addition, it would place the Article IV judges of the U.S. District Courts of Guam, the Mariana Islands and the Virgin Islands on more equal terms with their colleagues serving in other U.S. Courts. Thank you for your consideration of this request. We look forward to working with you to address this matter in the 109th Congress and would appreciate your review and comment on the enclosed legislative proposals.

Sincerely,

MADELEINE Z. BORDALLO, Representative of Guam, Co-Sponsor of Bill
DONNA M. CHRISTENSEN, Representative of Guam

AMENDMENT NO. 1. To 28 U.S.C. §373(e) Offered by Ms. BORDALLO. Section 373(e) of title 28, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by inserting “(1)” after “(e)”;

(2) by striking “, or who is not reappointed (as judge of such court),”;

and

(3) by adding at the end the following: “Any judge of the District Court of Guam, the District Court of the Northern Mariana Islands, or the District Court of the Virgin Islands who is not reappointed (as judge of such court) shall be equal to 50 percent of the salary the judge received when leaving office, subject to subparagraph (B).

(B) If the judge has attained the age of 65 years, or in the case of a judge described in subparagraph (A), upon attaining the age of 65 years—

(i) his or her judicial service, continuous or otherwise, aggregates 15 years or more, the annuity of the judge shall be equal to the salary received when leaving office; or

(ii) if his or her judicial service, continuous or otherwise, aggregated less than 15 years but not less than 10 years, the annuity of the judge shall be equal to that proportion of the salary received when leaving office which the aggregate number of such years of judicial service bears to 15.

AMENDMENT No. 2 TO 28 U.S.C. 373(e) OFFERED BY MS. BORDALLO

Section 373(e) of title 28, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by inserting “(1)” after “(e)”;

(2) by striking “, or who is not reappointed (as judge of such court),”;

and

(3) by adding at the end the following:

“(2) Any judge of the District Court of Guam, the District Court of the Northern Mariana Islands, or the District Court of the Virgin Islands who is not reappointed (as judge of such court) shall, upon the expiration of his or her term of office shall, upon the completion of such term, be entitled to receive, during the remainder of his or her life, an annuity equal to the salary received when leaving office, if the judicial service of the judge, continuous or otherwise, aggregates 10 years or more, and the service of such judge as an officer or employee of the United States, continuous or otherwise, including military service, aggregates 15 years or more.”

JUDICIAL CONFERENCE OF THE UNITED STATES.

WASHINGTON, D.C., February 23, 2005.

HON. MADELEINE Z. BORDALLO
House of Representatives, Cannon House Office Building, Washington, D.C.

HON. DONNA M. CHRISTENSEN
House of Representatives, Longworth House Office Building, Washington, D.C.

DEAR DELEGATES BORDALLO AND CHRISTENSEN: I am writing in furtherance of Administrative Office Director Leonidas Ralph Mecham’s letter dated February 23, 2005, concerning your request for Judicial Conference approval of a proposal for legislation to amend the retirement provisions for territorial district court judges, contained in section 373 of title 28, United States Code.

The Judicial Conference Committee on the Judicial Branch discussed your legislation at length during its December 1-2, 2005, meeting. The Committee recommended no action on this issue by the full Judicial Conference.

The Committee considered both proposals at length. It was the unanimous view of the Committee that the proposed legislation involved matters that are better handled through private relief bills (intended to benefit a single territorial district court judge) and that this objective should not be achieved by amending title 28, United States Code. The Committee’s determination is consistent with Judicial Conference precedent. During the 1990s, the Conference declined to endorse legislation that was intended to benefit a single territorial district court judge at least three occasions. At the time, the Conference declined to endorse legislation that would have increased the retirement benefits accruing to certain territorial judges for their services as territorial judges in prior years (when the salary of that position was less than $20,000 per year). The Conference was of the view that the bill as framed would apply only to one territorial judge and, therefore, if the Congress desired to enact such legislation, it would better be accomplished by a private bill (and not by amendment of title 28).

I should note that the Committee also considered whether the Committee could recommend to the Conference a more general resolution (e.g., that the Conference resolve to recommend that Congress amend the age and service provisions governing territorial district judges’ retirement (28 U.S.C. 373(a)) to make them more congruent with those available to other fixed-term judges). After considerable discussion, that proposal was also considered to be unsatisfactory. The Committee believes that territorial district judges accept their judgeships with the understanding that non-reappointment is a possibility. There was also concern about maintaining parity with other fixed-term judges, such as bankruptcy and magistrate judges, whose retirement system is contributory.

I regret that my reply could not be more favorable. Should you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact Cordia Strom, Assistant Director for Legislative Affairs at the Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts, at 202-502-1100.

Sincerely,

D. Brock Hornby
District Judge.

HON. TIM RYAN
OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. RYAN of Ohio. Madam Speaker, I rise to honor Emily Campbell Brown, the extraordinary mother of our former colleague and now member of the other body, Senator SHERRITOD Brown. Mrs. Brown died at her home in Mansfield, Ohio, on Monday at the age of 88.

She was born and raised in Mansfield, Georgia, and married Dr. Charles G. Brown of Mansfield, Ohio in 1946. She taught English at the High School and was a leader in the Mansfield YWCA. She and her husband were instrumental in the founding of the Mansfield chapter of Habitat for Humanity and the Ohio Hunger Task Force. She was always active in the Richland County Democratic Party. In 2007 the Richland County Democratic Party established the Emily Brown Young Democrat Award in her honor. Just last year she campaigned for important issues and candidates.

She raised three sons, Robert, Charles, and our friend SHERRITOD, and was blessed with 6 grandchildren and a great grandson.

Madam Speaker, our prayers and thoughts are with Senator Brown and all of his family in this difficult time as we remember his mother, a remarkable lady Emily Campbell Brown. Her progressive spirit and commitment to social justice lives on through her sons and her family.

Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that a column written by Connie Schultz the daughter-in-law of Emily Brown and the wife of Senator BROWN that appeared in today’s Cleveland Plain Dealer be printed in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD at the conclusion of my remarks.

[From the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Feb. 4, 2009]

EMILY CAMPBELL BROWN, AN ACCOMPLISHED LADY WHO DEFINED HER OWN LEGACY

(By Connie Schultz)

It didn’t take long for me to realize I’d met my match in the likes of Emily Campbell Brown.

Six years ago, before I married her son, we were dressing for a black-tie event at her home. After I’d wriggled into a floor-length gown, she scooted up next to me.

“Cohhhhhhhhhhhnnnniej,” she said in the Southern lilt that always coaxed another syllable out of my name. “Would you like to borrow a necklace?”

“Oh, wow. ‘Thank you, Emily,’” I said, “but I’m afraid that might draw attention to my chest.”

“Hmm,” she said, glancing at my necklace. “Isn’t that what you’re trying to do?”

I could hear her son chuckling in the next room.

“Emily,” I said, kissing her powdered cheek. “You and I are going to do just fine.”

Most of the obituaries for Emily, who died Monday at 88, identify her first and foremost as the mother of my husband, U.S. Sen. Sherritod Brown. They mention that she also raised two other successful sons, and that she married a doctor.

She was proud of the men in her life, but to define Emily by her relationships is to diminish the giant force of a woman who made social justice the cornerstone of her life, and that of her family. One of the first e-mails
HON. CHARLES B. RANGEL
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 4, 2009

Mr. RANGEL. Madam, Speaker, today I rise to congratulate the family of the late and great Hazel Scott and the author of Hazel Scott’s first memoir, Karen Chilton for writing such an important biographical book on a stellar Caribbean American pianist, singer, actress, and activist.

In 1939, when Café Society, New York City’s first fully integrated nightclub, was all the rage, Hazel Scott was its star. Still a teenager, she wowed audiences with her jazz renditions of classical masterpieces by Chopin, Bach, and Rachmaninoff. A child prodigy, born in Trinidad and raised in Harlem in the 1920s, Scott’s musical talent was cultivated by her musician mother, Alma Long Scott, as well as her outspoken advocacy of civil rights. Her relentless crusade on behalf of African Americans, women, and artists made her the target of the House Un-American Activities Committee (HUAC) during the McCarthy Era, eventually forcing her to join the black expatriate community in Paris.

By age twenty-five, Hazel Scott was an international star but, before reaching thirty-five, she considered herself a failure. Plagued by insecurity and depression, she would try twice to take her own life. Her life came to a close, dying of pancreatic cancer, at the age of 61 on October 2, 1981.

Karen Chilton, a New York-based writer and author who also co-authored “I Wish You Love,” the jazz memoir of legendary vocalist Gloria Lynne, traces the fascinating arc of this brilliant and audacious American artist from stardom to ultimate obscurity. Readers will learn from the prelude to the civil rights movement to the dark moments in our nation’s history where racial, ethnic, and political discrimination ran rampant.

So Madam Speaker, I ask that in this Black History Month, that you and my distinguished colleagues join me in honoring the life of Hazel Scott and thanking Karen Chilton. Karen truly authored a book that many generations of future stars will cherish.
SENATE COMMITTEE MEETINGS

Title IV of Senate Resolution 4, agreed to by the Senate on February 4, 1977, calls for establishment of a system for a computerized schedule of all meetings and hearings of Senate committees, subcommittees, joint committees, and committees of conference. This title requires all such committees to notify the Office of the Senate Daily Digest—designated by the Rules Committee—of the time, place, and purpose of the meetings, when scheduled, and any cancellations or changes in the meetings as they occur.

As an additional procedure along with the computerization of this information, the Office of the Senate Daily Digest will prepare this information for printing in the Extensions of Remarks section of the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD on Monday and Wednesday of each week.

Meetings scheduled for Thursday, February 5, 2009 may be found in the Daily Digest of today’s RECORD.

The Congressional Record (USPS 087-390). The Periodicals postage is paid at Washington, D.C. The public proceedings of each House of Congress, as reported by the Official Reporters thereof, are printed pursuant to directions of the Joint Committee on Printing as authorized by appropriate provisions of Title 44, United States Code, and published for each day that one or both Houses are in session, excepting very infrequent instances when two or more unusually small consecutive issues are printed one time. Public access to the Congressional Record is available online through GPO Access, a service of the Government Printing Office, free of charge to the user. The online database is updated each day the Congressional Record is published. The database includes both text and graphics from the beginning of the 103d Congress, 2d session (January 1994) forward. It is available through GPO Access at www.gpo.gov/gpoaccess. Customers can also access this information with WAIS client software, via telnet at swais.access.gpo.gov, or dial-in using communications software and a modem at 202-512-1661.
