The Senate met at 10 a.m. and was called to order by the Honorable Roland W. Burris, a Senator from the State of Illinois.

PRAYER
The Chaplain, Dr. Barry C. Black, offered the following prayer:
Let us pray.
God of wonder, beyond all majesty, may our lives and our world be awakened by Your grace. Open our eyes to Your works and our ears to Your words of life.
Stir within our lawmakers a desire to please You. Enable them to bear with objectivity and respond with integrity, as they comprehend their individual and collective responsibilities. Lord, make them exemplary models of the highest and finest in faithful, loyal, and dedicated leadership. Give them wisdom, strength, and clarity to meet today’s daunting challenges.
We pray in Your great Name. Amen.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE
The Honorable Roland W. Burris led the Pledge of Allegiance, as follows:
I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

APPOINTMENT OF ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE
The Presiding Officer. The clerk will please read a communication to the Senate from the President pro tempore (Mr. Byrd).
The legislative clerk read the following letter:
U.S. Senate, President pro tempore, Washington, DC, December 8, 2009.
To the Senate:
Under the provisions of rule I, paragraph 3, of the Standing Rules of the Senate, I hereby appoint the Honorable Roland W. Burris, a Senator from the State of Illinois, to perform the duties of the Chair.
Robert C. Byrd, President pro tempore.

NOTICE
If the 111th Congress, 1st Session, adjourns sine die on or before December 23, 2009, a final issue of the Congressional Record for the 111th Congress, 1st Session, will be published on Thursday, December 31, 2009, to permit Members to insert statements.
All material for insertion must be signed by the Member and delivered to the respective offices of the Official Reporters of Debates (Room HT–59 or S–123 of the Capitol), Monday through Friday, between the hours of 10:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m. through Wednesday, December 30. The final issue will be dated Thursday, December 31, 2009, and will be delivered on Monday, January 4, 2010.
None of the material printed in the final issue of the Congressional Record may contain subject matter, or relate to any event, that occurred after the sine die date.
Senators’ statements should also be formatted according to the instructions at http://webster/secretary/congress_record.pdf, and submitted electronically, either on a disk to accompany the signed statement, or by e-mail to the Official Reporters of Debates at “Record@Sec.Senate.gov”.
Members of the House of Representatives’ statements may also be submitted electronically by e-mail, to accompany the signed statement, and formatted according to the instructions for the Extensions of Remarks template at http://clerk.house.gov/forms. The Official Reporters will transmit to GPO the template formatted electronic file only after receipt of, and authentication with, the hard copy, and signed manuscript. Deliver statements to the Official Reporters in Room HT–59.
Members of Congress desiring to purchase reprints of material submitted for inclusion in the Congressional Record may do so by contacting the Office of Congressional Publishing Services, at the Government Printing Office, on 512–0224, between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. daily.
By order of the Joint Committee on Printing.
Charles E. Schumer, Chairman.
Mr. BURRIS thereupon assumed the chair as Acting President pro tempore.

RECOGNITION OF THE MAJORITY LEADER

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The majority leader is recognized.

SCHEDULE

Mr. REID. Mr. President, following leader remarks, the Senate will resume consideration of the health reform legislation. Following leader remarks, the time until 12:30 will be for debate only. The majority will control the first half of the time allotted until 12:30. The Republicans will control the next half. The remaining time will be equally divided and controlled between the two leaders or their designees. The Senate will recess from 12:30 until 2:15 p.m. to allow for the weekly caucus luncheons. There are two amendments now pending. One is the Nelson of Nebraska amendment and the other is the McCain motion to commit the bill to the Committee on Appropriations.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Under the previous order, the time until 12:30 p.m. will be for debate only, with the time equally divided and controlled between the two leaders or their designees, with Senators permitted to speak for up to 10 minutes each, with the majority controlling the first hour and the Republicans controlling the next hour.

RECOGNITION OF THE MINORITY LEADER

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Republican leader is recognized.

HEALTH CARE REFORM

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, over the past several days, Americans have seen vivid detail what some supporters of this plan plan to do for the Medicare Program for seniors. They plan to use the giant piggy bank to pay for an entirely new government program. Yesterday, we heard floated, for the very first time, that they want to radically expand Medicare. So what is becoming abundantly clear is that the majority will make any deal, agree to any terms, sign any dotted line that brings them closer to final passage of this terrible bill. They entertain adding new experiments without any assessment of the impact this backroom deal-making will have on the American people or our economy. They are, for lack of a better term, winging it on one of the most consequential pieces of legislation affecting our country in memory.

Let me suggest to the majority, Americans would much rather we get it right than scurry around, throwing together untested, last-minute experiments in order to get 60 votes before Christmas. Let me say that again. Americans would much rather we get it right than scurry around, throwing together untested, last-minute experiments in order to get 60 votes before Christmas.

Over the past several days, our friends on the other side repeatedly voted to preserve nearly $3 trillion in Medicare cuts to finance their vision of reform, a vision that includes cutting nearly $3 billion from hospice care, $40 billion in cuts to home health agencies, $120 billion in cuts to Medicare Advantage, $135 billion in cuts to hospitals that serve seniors, and nearly $15 billion in cuts to nursing homes. What these cuts really illustrate is a lack of vision because cutting one troubled government program in order to create another is a mistake. I will say that again: $3 trillion in cuts to Medicare for seniors is not reform.

But Medicare cuts are just one leg of the stool holding up this misguided vision of reform. Let’s take a look at another. Let’s look at how this bill punishes not only seniors but how it kills jobs at a time when 1 in 10 working Americans is looking for one. This bill doesn’t just punish seniors, it punishes job creators too.

That is the message we got yesterday from small businesses across the country. They sent us a letter opposing this bill because it doesn’t do the things that small businesses expect this bill promised it would. It doesn’t lower costs, it doesn’t help create jobs, and it doesn’t help the economy. Here are just some of the groups that signed that letter: the Associated Builders and Contractors, the Associated General Contractors, the National Association of Wholesale Distributors, the National Retail Federation, Small Business and Entrepreneurship Council, and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Here is what these groups had to say about this bill. I am reading from their letter dated December 7, 2009, a letter that was addressed to every Member of the Senate:

In order to finance part of its $2.5 trillion price tag, H.R. 3590 imposes new taxes, fees and penalties totaling nearly half a trillion dollars. This financial burden falls disproportionately on the backs of small business. Small firms are in desperate need of this precious capital for job creation, investment, business expansion, and survival.

The letter goes on to detail all the ways in which this bill punishes small businesses, thus making it harder for them to retain or create jobs. These groups point out that under this bill, small businesses in the United States would see major cost increases as a result of new taxes on health benefits and health insurance, costs that would be passed on to employees and which would make health insurance more expensive, not less.

Under this bill, self-employed business owners who buy coverage for themselves could see a double-digit jump in their insurance premiums. For other small businesses, the bill won’t lead to a significant decrease in cost—something they were promised as a result of the bill. Under this bill, jobs would be lost and wages depressed as a result of a new law that would require businesses either to buy insurance for their employees or to pay a fine.

Needless to say, this is not the kind of legislation the American worker needs or wants at a moment of double-digit unemployment. Perhaps that is the reason that poll after poll after public opinion poll shows that the American workforce opposes this bill.

Some business groups may have supported this plan earlier in the year because they thought it was inevitable.
They didn’t want to be critical of a bill they thought they had no power to stop. But something happened between then and now: The American people realized what this bill meant for them. They realized what it would mean for seniors, for businesses, for our own economy, for our future as a country. Americans stood up, they made their voices heard, and now the tide has turned. The American people oppose this bill. They want us to start over. They want us to take commonsense, step-by-step reforms that everyone can support, not some backroom deal to have the government take over the health care system that is then forced on the American people without discussion.

Our friends on the other side can read the writing on the wall. They know the American people oppose this bill. But they have apparently made a calculation to force it through Congress over the heads of their constituents, over the heads of the American people even have a chance to absorb the details. The only thing that can stop them is the realization by Democrats themselves that this plan would be a tragic mistake for seniors, for the economy, and for our country and that a better path would be the kind of step-by-step reforms Americans have been asking of us, reforms Americans really want. Americans don’t think reform should come at the expense of seniors, and they don’t think it should happen at the expense of jobs. They don’t think it should make current problems worse.

Mr. President, we are now hearing talk that the administration is thinking of using the bank bailout TARP money that taxpayers reluctantly handed over during last year’s credit crisis on another spending spree like the stimulus which they said would stop unemployment at 8 percent but hasn’t. One trillion dollars later, unemployment is 10 percent. This is not only irresponsible, since the purpose of these emergency funds was to prop up the credit system in the midst of a crisis, it also violates both current law and the pledge we made that every dollar we got back would be returned to the taxpayer to reduce the national debt. That is the pledge we made when we passed the TARP proposal.

This proposal from the administration is completely wrongheaded, but it is perfectly illustrative of the way Democrats in Congress have been dealing with taxpayer money all year—by throwing it at one problem after another without much regard for the consequences. Whether it is the stimulus, Cash for Clunkers, or the health care bill that is currently on the Senate floor, Americans are running out of patience with politicians who promise jobs but who deliver nothing but more debt, higher taxes, and longer unemployment.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Montana.

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, for the benefit of all Senators, I would like to take a moment to lay out today’s program. It has been more than 2¼ weeks since the majority leader moved to proceed to the health care reform bill, and this is the ninth day of debate. The Senate has considered 18 amendments or motions. We have conducted 14 roll-call votes.

Today, the Senate will debate the amendment by the Senator from North Dakota, Mr. McCaIN on Medicare Advantage.

The time between now and the caucustime for debate on the Bill. The majority will control the first hour of debate this morning; the Republicans will control the second hour.

We are hopeful the Senate will be able to conduct votes on or in relation to the one-der amendment to the McCain motion, and the McCain motion sometime this afternoon.

Thereafter, we expect to turn to another Democratic first-degree amendment, which is likely to be the amendment by the Senator from North Dakota, Mr. DORGAN, on drug reimportation, and another Republican first-degree amendment. We are working on lining up these votes.

I note that the pending McCain motion is the third such effort by the Republicans to defend the private insurance companies that run the program called Medicare Advantage. That is the same so-called Medicare Advantage Program that the nonpartisan MedPAC says is overpaid—overpaid by 14 percent—compared with traditional Medicare, which does the same thing.

That is the same so-called Medicare Advantage Program whose overpayments add $90 to the Medicare premiums of a typical retired couple, even though that couple gets nothing in exchange.

That is the same so-called Medicare Advantage Program that helps those private insurance companies to pay their CEOs $8 million a year, $9 million a year, and in one instance more than $20 million a year in compensation.

So that is the same so-called Medicare Advantage Program that, in our view, needs a healthy dose of competition. That is all our bill would do. Our bill would move to competitive bidding in the private insurance Medicare market. It is high time we did so.

Today, we are going to have a colloquy among many new Senators, the group of Senators who were just elected last year, which is a very active group. I have met with them many times. They are very thoughtful, very active, and they have a lot to say.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Connecticut is recognized.

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, I will be very brief because we want to take the time to hear from our colleagues. I, too, want to commend them. A number of them serve on the Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions Committee and are tremendously helping us craft the legislation we now have before us in this compromised, melded bill.

I also want to make a note. I listened to the Republican leader this morning, and I will talk more about this later—but you would almost begin to believe that 300 days ago Barack Obama arrived as President of the United States, and all these problems emerged miraculously. The fact is, in the previous 8 years we watched the Nation accumulate more debt in one administration than all prior 43 administrations combined.

The situation we find ourselves in today is not just the top step. It happened over a number of years of carelessness, with a lack of regulation and a lack of the enforcement of the regulation that existed. We have been grappling with these problems. In December of last year, 300,000 people lost their jobs—in that 1 month alone. In January, almost 700,000 again, and the same was true in March. Almost 3 million jobs were lost before the ink on the inauguration papers was dry.

We are now finding ourselves—while still too high an unemployment rate—with a vastly improved economic condition in this country. Much more has been done. Yet as the American people oppose this bill. But the writing on the wall. They know the American people not rejected by Members of Congress who seem only to be interested in whether we are going to take care of those large firms that got us into this mess in the first place.

So I welcome the President’s ideas in this area. We welcome particularly this effort on health care, to make a difference not only for our economy, to reduce those costs, reduce those premiums, and make those insurance products available to all Americans who worry every night about whether they are going to fall into that abyss because of a health care crisis that happens to a family member or a loved one.

So today we are going to hear from a number of our colleagues who have been deeply engaged in these issues over the last several years and in their new membership in this wonderful body of the Senate. I welcome tremendously their efforts.
Mr. President, I yield the floor to allow them to discuss their ideas. I believe the first one to speak is our new colleague from Delaware.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Delaware is recognized.

Mr. KAUFMAN. Mr. President, I want to start by agreeing—and I practically always agree with the Senator from Connecticut—with his summation as to how we got to where we are, and why it is important we do something about it. He is right. The chairman of the Finance Committee is right too.

The freshman Senators who come from all over this country got together and, frankly, with the leadership of Senator WARNER from Virginia, put together a package which I think is a very constructive package for the Health Care Reform Act we have to pass.

I appreciate the opportunity to join with the other freshmen, including the Acting President pro tempore, to discuss the unique opportunity we have to finally enact meaningful health care reform.

Make no mistake, we need health care reform now. When you look out there and you see everything from covering premiums to insurers denying coverage for people with preexisting conditions, the health care system is failing individual Americans. There is no doubt about that.

Not only is it doing that, it is threatening the fiscal solvency of our country. Medicare and Medicaid are swallowing up more and more of our Federal spending. If we do not act soon, it will become the largest contributor to the deficit.

Mr. WARNER. Thank you, Mr. President.

The time for reform is now. We cannot wait any longer. As the Senator from Connecticut said, this is not something that just came out of nowhere. It has been there for a long time. The time has come to let the former time go by. We have to act now.

Thanks to the hard work of Senators REID, BAUCUS, DODD, and HARKIN and their staffs, we have a bill before us that can finally reform our health care system. It is a good bill. It is a bill that truly protects what works in our system and, at the same time, fixes what is broken.

No longer will Americans be denied coverage on the basis of preexisting conditions. We will will their coverage be revoked when they get sick and need it the most. This bill will help protect seniors by offering new preventive and wellness benefits.

It will extend the solvency of the Medicare trust fund by an additional 5 years. It will also help our economy by significantly cutting health care costs and reducing the Nation’s deficit by $130 billion.

You hear a lot of numbers. You see a lot of numbers. You read about it in the newspapers. Especially, you hear about it on the other side of the aisle. This will cut the deficit by $130 billion for the first 10 years and maybe up to $650 billion in the second 10 years. This will truly bend the cost curve, which we have to do if we are not going to go into insolvency.

It is interesting, when the other side talks about deficits, deficits, deficits, the thing the deficit is health care costs because what drives Medicare and Medicaid costs is health care costs.

This bill makes quality, affordable health care work for all Americans. But there is always more we can do. That is why I am pleased to join my other freshman colleagues to support a very promising amendment to the bill.

So much of what is broken in our present health care system revolves around basic inefficiencies that drive up costs, while simultaneously driving down quality. That is right. Costs go up, quality goes down. That is not the way we want to have it. We want costs to go down, quality to go up. Even worse, inefficiencies in the system often give way to the waste, fraud, and abuse that drains somewhere between $72 and $220 billion annually from doctors, patients, private insurers, and the State and Federal Governments. This is significantly increasing health care costs for Americans. These are inefficiencies that can and will be curbed.

By seeking creative ways to encourage innovation and lower costs even further—and more quickly—for Americans across the country, this amendment complements the underlying health care bill.

It adopts the full spectrum of 21st-century technologies and innovative methods of delivery to further cut through the red tape that continues to plague our system and stifle innovation. It provides commonsense, practical solutions that help contain costs, improve value, and increase quality. It increases penalties for health care fraud and enhances enforcement against medical crooks and utilizes the most sophisticated technology to better detect and deter fraud in the health care system.

It quickens the implementation of uniform administrative standards, allowing for more efficient exchange of information among patients, doctors, and insurers. It provides more flexibility in establishing accountable care organizations that realign financial incentives and help ensure Americans receive high-quality care. It provides greater incentives to insurers in the exchange to reduce health care disparities along racial lines.

These are just a few examples of the provisions in the amendment that I believe will mesh well with the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act. As I have said before, it is time to gather our collective will and do the right thing during this historic opportunity by passing health care reform now. I think this amendment can help us accomplish that and afford to wait any longer. We need to act now. We can do no less. The American people deserve no less.

Thank you, Mr. President.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Virginia is recognized.

Mr. WARNER. Thank you, Mr. President, for his comments and for his leadership on this issue. I also thank all of the freshmen. This is, I think, the seventh time the freshmen have come to the floor on this very important issue. If the freshmen have had to endure 65 speeches from the freshmen on the subject of health care.

Before I get into my remarks, I want to personally thank Senator BAUCUS, Senator DODD, the majority leader, and their staffs, for working with the 11 freshmen Members who have come together today to unveil a package of health care amendments focused on the issue of cost containment.

We have been working on this now for close to 3 months.

Let me say at the outset, I am proud of the enormous broad-based support we are receiving for this package of amendments. The Business Roundtable has endorsed the amendments. Compa- nies such as Walgreens and Quad/Graphics endorse this package. Groups such as the AARP and the AFL, and important think tanks such as the New America Foundation have endorsed this package. We also have support from Mark McCraney, who was the head of CMS under President Bush. While the merged bill starts to move us in the right direction in addressing health care spending in this country, this package strengthens that movement.

Our package further moves us away from a current system that makes no financial sense—one that rewards volume over quality and one that reimburses hospitals for higher, rather than lower, readmission rates.

We are taking the payment reform aspect of the health care bill—revisions that increase accountability, and focus on data mining and administrative simplification—and accelerating them. We are giving the Secretary, as we move forward, the ability to take pilot programs and broaden their approach and appeal. And if it works, we’ll bring that reform to our whole system.

While we anticipate a very good score from CBO in terms of lowering health care costs overall, another thing we are focused on with this bill—collaboration—has endorsements that include the AARP and the AFL, which consider it a very significant package.
My friend, the Senator from Delaware, has raised this point. There are still issues to be resolved in this bill. I still have some concerns, particularly with the public option portion. But I know that with a good-faith effort, we are going to get those issues resolved.

One thing that needs to be reaffirmed, time and time again, is what happens if we don’t enact health care reform. Not acting is a policy choice; it is every bit as much of a policy choice as moving forward on this bill. What many don’t realize is that the largest driver of our Federal deficit is not education funding, transportation funding, and not even TARP funds or the stimulus. The largest driver of our Federal deficit is health care spending.

If we fail to act now, Medicare, which provides health care to millions of senior citizens, will go bankrupt in the next 8 years. If we fail to act now, an average Virginia family will see their health care costs eat up 40 percent of their disposable income in the next decade.

One of the reasons we are seeing so much broad-based business support for our amendment package is business understanding that if we can’t drive down overall health care costs, the ability of the United States to come out of this recession and remain competitive in a global marketplace will be seriously undermined. As long as American business has to pay twice what almost any other industrialized country in the world pays for health care costs than any of our industrial competitors around the world, regardless of how productive the American workforce is, American businesses will be at a serious disadvantage.

Our amendment package is complex. It is a bit dense. There are some 30-odd different provisions that take very good parts of the merged bill and move them faster. It increases price transparency in health care pricing, and increases our ability to take programs and pilots that work and roll them out on a wider basis. My good friend, the Senator from Colorado, has been working hard on the administrative reform portion.

This is a good package of amendments. I was asked yesterday by somebody in the press how I would describe the package. I guess I would sum it up—and with many of these provisions fairly dense—with two things that this package of amendments is trying to do. I think we all remember, years back, in the travel industry, when you called up and tried to get an airline reservation and depending on whom you called and the time you called, you might get a totally different price on your airline ticket. Well, this package of amendments is trying to do for health care what Travelocity did for the airline business. And that is bring some true and full transparency to the health care system.

Our package of amendments will move us—it will not get us all the way there—but it will move us further down the field. I say this modestly, again, to the originators of the bill—it is a very good bill, a very good framework. But humbly I might say, as some know, I was lucky enough in the old days to fall into the cell phone industry. I understand what it is like living in that industry. I like to think about the cell phone industry as a metaphor for this package of amendments. If we think of the original bill as creating the cell phone of the 20th century, our package is basically the iPhone version to your Motorola flip phone original version. We literally provide dozens of new applications on a good, basic framework that has been provided by this merged bill. And we take these applications a little bit further into the 21st century.

I am very proud of the work all these freshmen Senators and their staffs have done over the last 3 or 4 months. Again, I thank the chairman of the Finance Committee, the majority leader and their staffs for helping us work through this package, and I look forward to its adoption.

With that, I yield the floor, and I believe the Senator from Colorado will speak next.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Colorado is recognized.

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. President, I wish to thank our colleague from Virginia, Senator WARNER, for his extraordinary leadership throughout this process of the freshmen coming together to see what we can do to move this legislation forward to improve it. I think a lot has been said about how the bill that was drafted by the HELP Committee, by the Finance Committee, and now by the majority leader is directionally correct in its efforts to get a handle on these skyrocketing costs. I think this package will take us much further in the right direction of trying to hold down costs for our working families and small businesses across the country.

Throughout this entire debate and going back to the very beginning, what I have said is, no matter where you are on many of the issues, there can’t be any disagreement that the current system, with respect to costs, is completely insane. Our families in Colorado face double-digit increases every year over the last decade. Their median family income has actually gone down by $300, and the cost of health care has gone up by 97 percent over that period of time. Our small businesses are paying 18 percent more for health insurance than large businesses just because they are small. As the Senator from Virginia was mentioning, we are spending, as a country, more than twice what almost any other industrialized country in the world pays for health care. In a percentage of our gross domestic product on health care. We are spending roughly 18 percent, going to 20 percent in the blink of an eye. We can’t hope to compete in this global economy if we are devoting a fifth of our economy to health care and everyone else in the world is devoting less than half that. Finally, as the Senator from Virginia also said, if you have a concern about deficits, we are facing in Washington becoming completely untenable, what you need to know is, the biggest driver of those is rising Medicare and Medicaid costs and the biggest driver of those is, of course, health care reform.

So my view has been, from the start, no matter what your entry point was into this debate, cost was the central question for our working families and for our small businesses. We have stressed the need over and over for health care reform to contain the rising costs that are plaguing our current system. That is why I think the Senate needs to adopt the freshman amendment package, which would cut costs, save taxpayers money, and in this bill in particular, will improve our health care system function more efficiently. This package of amendments will help strengthen the reform proposal’s ability to deliver affordable, quality health care to all Americans, whether they are in private plans or whether they are in public plans. These provisions will remove much of the red tape that, for so long, has slowed the delivery of care. Doctors from all over Colorado have told me that indeed, when their patients are hospitalized, their medical practices are mired in paperwork and their staffs spend far too much time and money jumping through administrative hoop after hoop. The time our doctors and nurses spend on unnecessary paperwork is time they can’t spend becoming better professionals and, most importantly, providing quality care to their patients. This amendment will require the Secretary of Health and Human Services to adopt and regularly update single national standards, some of the most basic electronic transactions that occur between insurers and providers, and meeting these standards will be enforceable by penalties if insurance providers don’t take steps to comply. My provision will make sure that as we implement health care reform, we are consistently identifying and implementing new standards.

There are also terrible inefficiencies in the way we pay health care providers and allow them to deliver care to patients. This package helps eliminate bottlenecks so patients are cared for in a reasonable amount of time. This package of amendments also expands the Senate bills reforms being made to Medicare and Medicaid. There is a provision that will allow accountable care organizations to work with private insurance companies to better craft strategies for Medicare and Medicaid and private sector plans to improve care. In addition, if doctors are forced into requesting a multitude of tests to confirm a diagnosis they have already made. This creates... unnecessary work for doctors, their administrative staffs, lab technicians, and so on. It is time we create a system that empowers doctors to practice medicine and do their jobs efficiently.

Under the current broken system, doctors have to endure unnecessary hurdles that discourage them from even setting up a practice. It is no wonder the number of primary care doctors has been steadily declining for some time now.

This package of amendments would create an environment that attracts doctors back to the field rather than make it more difficult for them to provide care. Along with the savings this bill already creates, these amendments will help doctors remove the red tape that has limited their ability to help patients in a timely manner.

We cannot go on allowing the middle class to absorb the rising costs of our Nation’s health care system. We need health care reform that will control costs and put us back on a path toward fiscal responsibility. This package of amendments will help us do that.

I wish to, again, say thank you to my colleagues from the freshman class for their work. This sometimes has seemed tedious and sometimes hard to describe, but I am particularly critical if we are going to get hold of costs as we go forward. That is the relief working families in this country need more than anything. In order to have stability in their lives, we have to get hold of rising health care costs.

With that, I yield the floor.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Massachusetts is recognized.

Mr. KIRK. Thank you, Mr. President.

With great joy and enthusiasm, I can say that today we are closer than ever to guaranteeing that all Americans, at long last, will have full access to quality, affordable health care. The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, which we and fellow freshman Senator JEFF MERKLEY of Oregon suggests, as Senator Kennedy of Massachusetts would have subscribed to, that this is the health care bill of rights. It will help doctors remove the red tape that has limited their ability to help patients in a timely manner. We cannot go on allowing the middle class to absorb the rising costs of our Nation’s health care system. Mr. KIRK. Thank you, Mr. President.

With great joy and enthusiasm, I can say that today we are closer than ever to guaranteeing that all Americans, at long last, will have full access to quality, affordable health care. The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, which we and fellow freshman Senator JEFF MERKLEY of Oregon suggests, as Senator Kennedy of Massachusetts would have subscribed to, that this is the health care bill of rights. It will help doctors remove the red tape that has limited their ability to help patients in a timely manner. We cannot go on allowing the middle class to absorb the rising costs of our Nation’s health care system. We need health care reform that will control costs and put us back on a path toward fiscal responsibility. This package of amendments will help us do that.

I wish to, again, say thank you to my colleagues from the freshman class for their work. This sometimes has seemed tedious and sometimes hard to describe, but I am particularly critical if we are going to get hold of costs as we go forward. That is the relief working families in this country need more than anything. In order to have stability in their lives, we have to get hold of rising health care costs.

With that, I yield the floor.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Massachusetts is recognized.

Mr. KIRK. Thank you, Mr. President.

our efforts. This is a wide-ranging number of groups, including consumer champions such as AARP, business leaders such as the Business Roundtable, and health providers such as Denver Health in my home State.

My colleagues have spoken about individual pieces of this effort that combine to make the whole. I will single out a section that I think will have a particularly strong influence on the future of our health care system.

Senator MERKLEY has authored an important provision that creates the independent Medicare advisory board. This board would be tasked with keeping down the costs in the Medicare system by issuing proposals to cut spending and increase the quality of care for beneficiaries.

I applaud this contribution to the bill, but I have wondered why we cannot take it a step further by looking at the whole health care system and not just Medicare in isolation. If we are going to tackle spiraling health costs across the country, we need to push each area of our health care system to be smarter and more efficient in dealing with cost growth.

One of my contributions to the package is a provision to expand the scope of the Medicare advisory board to examine not just Medicare but the entire health care system and task the board with finding ways to slow down the growth of health costs across the country. This would include providing recommendations on the steps the private sector should take to make our delivery system more efficient. Health care leaders and economists agree that such an approach can help push our system toward a more streamlined and coordinated way of delivering health care to all Americans.

In closing, I thank the Senator from Virginia for his leadership, the Senator from Oregon, Mr. MERKLEY, and Senator SHAHEEN from New Hampshire. It has been a delight to work with 11 of my fellow Senators. This is a bold contribution to the package that I know we will pass out of the Senate. We come from varying parts of the country and have varied political outlooks and backgrounds. This will attract broad support in our Chamber. It is a winning addition to health care reform, and I encourage all Senators to support our efforts.

I yield the floor.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tem.

Mrs. SHAHEEN. Mr. President, I am so pleased this morning to join my freshman colleagues in introducing our innovation and value package.

For the last several months, the freshmen in the Senate have been coming to the floor to help make the case for health care reform, to tell our colleagues and the public about what we have heard from our constituents, and to come together as one voice in support of reform.

Today, we back up that rhetoric with action. Today, we propose something concrete. We have talked about the importance of reforming the way we deliver care, about how we need to slow down the skyrocketing costs of health care, while improving quality, and about the need to provide incentives to make the changes happen. Today, we deliver the proposals are about containing costs, about looking into the future, thinking about our delivery system, and finding ways to make small but very important changes that will make a difference.

Throughout this debate, I have been talking about the importance of increasing the quality of care while reducing the cost. This amendment package does just that.

This amendment package matters. It matters to all the health care consumers who are interested in reducing costs and increasing the value in our health care system. It especially matters to business. The high cost of health care and insurance coverage eats away at the competitive edge for our businesses. If we can reduce waste and inefficiency, attack fraud, and simplify our system, we can reduce costs. The innovations in this package attract business because business understands that we need to take care of our public and private health care systems to lower costs and deliver value.

I am proud that, with this amendment, we are able to promote the good work of Eliot Fisher and his colleagues at Dartmouth Institute for Health Policy and Clinical Practice and to recognize the work they have done on accountable care organizations.

Accountable care organizations are about coordinating care among providers—hospitals, primary care physicians, specialists, and other medical professionals. These accountable care organizations make decisions with patients. I think that is the operative phrase. They make decisions “with” patients about what steps they can take together to improve care. When these efforts result in cost and quality improvements, providers and consumers can share in the savings. This is the essence of true reform. We must demand performance, quality, and value from our health care system. This package makes great strides.

I will close by thanking all of my fellow freshmen. I am so proud to be part of this freshman class and all of the great work they have done.

I especially wish to recognize Senator WARNER, who has really been the driving force behind this health care package. I am not sure I agree with his cell phone analysis, but I certainly agree with the leadership he has shown on this package.

Also, I recognize our senior colleagues, Senators DODD, BAUCUS, REID, and HARKIN, for the leadership they have shown in getting us to this point. Finally, I recognize all of the staff of the leadership he has shown on this package.

Today, we propose our senior colleagues, Senators DODD, BAUCUS, REID, and HARKIN, for the leadership they have shown in getting us to this point. Finally, I recognize all of the staff of the leadership he has shown on this package.

I, too, applaud our colleague, Senator ROCKEFELLER, for helping to initiate this package.

I wish to take a moment to talk about two provisions in the package that I included: curbing fraud and abuse with 21st-century technology and medication therapy management.

Today, Medicare spends about $430 billion annually; Medicaid, approximately $340 billion; the Children’s Health Insurance Program, an additional $5 billion, for a total of $775 billion.

In Medicare alone, annual waste amounts to between $33 billion and $78 billion. Yet, despite these sky-high numbers, investigations are pursued only after payment has been made, which means government fraud investigators have to recover funds that have already been paid. As a result, it is estimated that only about 10 percent of possible fraud is ever detected, and of that amount only about 3 percent is ever actually recovered. This means the government recovers, at best, about $130 million in Medicare waste, fraud, and abuse. Again, when estimates are between $33 billion and $78 billion, we are only recovering $130 million.

“Doctor shopping” is an example that was profiled in a recent USA TODAY news article and GAO report. This involves a patient receiving multiple prescriptions from numerous doctors in a short period of time, without getting caught. Each of the claims gets paid by Medicare, Medicaid, or even private health insurers.

The current technology exists to assist in real time if a claim warrants further investigation, and this technology will prevent fraudulent claims from being paid on the front end. A software company in Cary, NC, SAS, has developed this technology.

This amendment will require the Department of Health and Human Services to put into place systems that will detect patterns of fraud and abuse before any money leaves our Federal coffers.

Another source of waste in the system is people not sticking to their medication regimen. As much as one-half of all patients in our country do not follow their doctors’ orders regarding their medications. The New England Health Care Institute estimates that the overall cost of people not following directions is as much as $290 billion per year.
This waste can be eliminated with medication therapy management. That is a program where seniors bring all of their prescriptions, in a little brown bag, and their over-the-counter medications and their vitamins and supplements to the pharmacy to be thoroughly reviewed in a one-on-one session. The pharmacist follows up and educates the patient about his or her medication regimen.

North Carolina has some successful medication therapy management programs ready to take place.

In 2007, the North Carolina Health and Wellness Trust Fund Commission launched an innovative statewide program called Checkmeds NC to provide medication therapy management services to our seniors. During the program’s first year, more than 15,000 seniors and 285 pharmacists participated. Just this small program saved an estimated $10 million, and countless health problems were avoided for our seniors.

That accomplishment takes this successful North Carolina model and implements it nationally, permitting pharmacies and other health care providers to spend considerable time and resources evaluating a person’s drug routine and educating them on proper usage.

I urge passage of this freshman amendment package which will further reduce health care costs for American families. Thank you.

Mr. UDALL of New Mexico. Madam President, I seek recognition.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mrs. GILLIBRAND). The Senator from New Mexico.

Mr. UDALL of New Mexico. Madam President, this package today is a result of collaboration that began months ago when the Senate’s freshman class united as advocates for comprehensive health reform, when we united in the belief that the status quo is not acceptable.

The health care status quo does not work for Americans and it does not work for America either. If we fail to act, every person, every institution, every small business in this country will pay the price.

Achieving true reform means making insurance available and affordable to all Americans. It also means reining in out-of-control spending. For some, those two goals seem diametrically opposed but to prevent fraud from happening, we need to curtail abuses and excess spending. With these amendments, we encourage a faster transition to a 21st-century system that is more efficient, costs less, and holds providers and insurers accountable.

I am proud to sign on to all of the amendments in this package. But there is one proposal that is particularly important to the people of New Mexico. In my State, 30 of 33 counties are classified as medically underserved. Residents of these highly rural counties are more likely to be uninsured. They are more likely to have higher rates of disease. And because of a shortage in health care providers, they are often forced to travel long distances for care.

This amendment would help us take the first steps toward alleviating the growing shortage of primary care physicians in New Mexico and across the country. By 2025, there will be a shortage of at least 35,000 primary care physicians in the United States. As this shortage grows, our rural areas will be hardest hit.

In this amendment, we call for expert recommendations on how to encourage providers to choose primary care and to establish their practices in medically underserved areas. These experts would analyze things such as compensation and work environment. They would recommend ways to increase interest in primary care as a career.

We are closer than ever to providing all Americans with access to quality, affordable health care. I am proud to be a part of a group of freshmen who refuse to sit on the back bench and watch this reform develop from the sidelines. I am proud to be part of a group that from the beginning refused to accept the status quo as an option.

I thank the staff of all these fine Senators and thank personally my staff members, Fern Goodheart and Ben Nathanson.

I look forward to continuing the work with this outstanding group as we debate a bill that will improve our health care system for generations to come.

Madam President, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Illinois.

Mr. BURRIS. Madam President, it is also my pleasure to stand with my colleagues and be a part of this health reform package, to give recognition to those distinguished senior Senators who have put so much heart into drafting this important legislation, to our Leader REID and to Senator BAUCUS, Senator DODD, and all the individuals. It is a pleasure for me to be a part of this freshman colloquy on this major package.

Over the past several months, my freshman colleagues and I have taken the floor many times to speak about the need for comprehensive health care reform. I am pleased to join them today as we discuss our cost containment package.

This set of provisions will help promote accountability, increase efficiency, and reduce costs in our health care system. Our amendment will reinforce and improve the principles of high-value, low-cost care that is central to the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act.

Our amendment will strengthen Medicare’s ability to act as a payment innovator, paying for value and not for volume. In speeding this process, our amendment gives Medicare more of the resources it needs to gather data, expand programs that work, and reach the neediest patients.

We also work to strengthen waste, fraud, and abuse provisions in the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act. By proactively targeting these needy folks through cultural competency training, language services, and community outreach, our amendment will increase wellness and reduce the use of costly emergency room care.

My colleagues and I are supported by top business groups, consumer groups, and providers because they all know we have to transform the way care is delivered in this country. Businesses know that without the reduced cost of care and promoting transparency, the cost of premiums continues to rise, putting a stranglehold on wage increases and making them less competitive.

Consumer groups want to ensure the patients get more value for their dollar, that they do not just get more care but they get the type of coordinated, effective care that will keep them healthy and out of the emergency rooms. Those provisions on targeted care to get the best patient outcome want to be rewarded for doing so.

The evidence could not be clearer, the arguments couldn’t be more simplistic that the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, coupled with our amendment, will lower costs for ordinary Americans.
I call upon my colleagues to take an honest look at what we are doing, and I defy them to say that health care reform will not reduce costs and improve the functioning of our health care system. The debate over health care reform cannot be scoring political points. It must be about the health and well-being of the American people. All of our great work will bear fruit, and we will reform our Nation’s health system because there is no other option. Our citizens demand it, and they deserve no less.

I thank our distinguished colleagues. I am happy to be a part of this freshman colloquy in presenting such an important issue at this time in history in this great country of ours.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Alaska.

Mr. Begich. Madam President, I seek recognition about this package of cost containment offered by the freshmen. I am proud to join them in offering this amendment today.

The technical work in this package is complex and complicated, but the themes it addresses are simple and straightforward, which I know my colleagues on the other side will appreciate and we hope support—value, innovation, quality, transparency, and cost containment.

The full legislation now under debate in the Senate makes wonderful strides in fixing what is broken in America’s health and health care systems around the world. I am joined here on the other side, I want to commend 10 of the 11 new freshmen who are here and who have spoken with great eloquence and passion about this issue. I think all of us, regardless of which side of the aisle we are on, owe them all a great deal of gratitude for putting together a very fine package.

I particularly thank Senator Mark Warner, our colleague from Virginia, who has led this effort, but obviously so much of this has happened because of the cooperation and ideas that each Member who has spoken here this morning has brought to this particular cluster of ideas on cost containment. Americans owe them a debt of gratitude and can feel pretty good about the future of our country with this fine group of Americans leading it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The minority now has 60 minutes.

Mr. Baucus. Madam President, may I ask unanimous consent to speak for a couple of minutes to comment on the freshman package? It will just take a few minutes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. Baucus. Madam President, I join my good friend from Connecticut in thanking—I don’t know if calling them freshmen would be wise, because our colleagues act as though they have been here for years and know the subject extremely well.

Delivery system reform has always been something I have been pushing for, and I am happy to see it is part of your package, and also with additional focus on rural areas and reservations. We clearly need more of that, and more transparency. I firmly believe that will help us get costs down and get quality of care up. Your work on the independent Medicare advisory board is great too.

To be honest, these are all the next steps in ideas that are pretty much in the bill, but they are the proper next steps, and the next steps I firmly believe should be taken. So I compliment you for that, and thank you much, and I thank my friend from Arizona for allowing me this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Arizona.

Mr. McCaskill. Madam President, I wish also to add my words of congratulations to the new Members for their eloquence, their passion, and their well-informed arguments, although they are badly misguided. But I do congratulate them for bringing forth their ideas, and taking part in the debate. We welcome it, and I hope that someday we will be able to agree on both sides for us to engage in real colloquy between us, back and forth.

I think the American people and all Members would be well informed.

Madam President, I am unanimous consent for the next 30 minutes to engage in a colloquy with my colleagues.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. McCaskill. Madam President, I talk a lot about C-SPAN. I am a great admirer of C-SPAN. And the President—at least when he was running for the presidency—believed in C-SPAN as well, because he said C-SPAN would be in on the negotiations. Here is what was posted by a reporter from Politico last night at 5:48 p.m., entitled "No C-SPAN Here."

Right now a group of moderate Senators is meeting behind closed doors to try to hash out a compromise on the public option. Reporters, waiting for the meeting to break, were just moved out of the corridor nearest the meeting room and shunted around the corner, making it harder for the press to catch Senators as they leave. C-SPAN this is not.

I would remind my colleagues that the amendment we are discussing here is drafted to prevent drastic Medicare Advantage cuts from impacting all seniors' Advantage. The amendment says simply: Let’s give seniors who are members of Medicare, who have enrolled in Medicare Advantage, the same deal that Senator Nelson was able to get for the State of Florida—240,000 seniors. There are 11 million, American seniors who are enrolled in the Medicare Advantage Program. This amendment would allow all 11 million seniors to have their benefits and there would be no carve-out for various groups of seniors because of the influence of a Member of this body.

I want to quote again the New York Times, my favorite source of information, from an article entitled "Senator Tries to Allay Fears on Health Overhaul."

... Mr. Nelson, a Democrat, has a big problem. The bill taken up this week by the committee would cut Medicare payments to insurance companies that care for more than 10 million older Americans, including nearly one million in Florida. The program, known as Medicare Advantage, is popular... And the article lists the benefits, and then concludes as follows: "It would be intolerable to ask senior citizens to give up substantial health benefits they are enjoying under Medicare," said Mr. Nelson, who has been deluged with calls and complaints from constituents. "I am offering an amendment to shield seniors from those benefit cuts."

He is offering an amendment to shield senior citizens. Well, I am offering a motion that deals with all of the 11 million seniors who are under Medicare Advantage, as the Senator from Florida said, to shield seniors from benefit cuts. That is what this motion is all about. We should not carve out for some seniors, or for whatever reason, the Senator is not entitled to. That is not America. The way we should treat all of our citizens, and I hope my colleagues will understand this amendment is proposed simply in the name of fairness.

I ask the Senator from Tennessee and the Senator from Texas, who have a large number of enrollees in the Medicare Advantage Program, whether they feel this would be unfair? Mr. ALEXANDER. Well, I thank the Senator from Arizona for his motion, and I thank the Senator from Florida for his amendment, because Medicare Advantage is very important to Tennesseans. We have 243,000 Tennesseans who have opted for Medicare Advantage. About one-fourth of all Americans who are on Medicare have chosen Medicare Advantage because it provides the option for increased dental care, for vision care, for hearing coverage, for prescription drugs, and many benefits. It is helpful to low-income and minority Americans, and it is especially helpful to people in rural areas.

What the Republicans have been arguing all week is that, contrary to what our friends on the other side are saying, this bill cuts those Medicare Advantage benefits. The Director of the Congressional Budget Office says that fully half—fully half—of the benefits in Medicare Advantage for these 11 million Americans will be cut. Our Democratic friends say: No, that is not true. That is not true. We are going to cut $1 trillion out of Medicare over a fully implemented 10-year period of this bill, but nobody will be affected by it.

Well, the Senator from Florida apparently doesn't believe that. He says: We have 900,000 Floridians who don't want their Medicare Advantage cut. And he says: No Senator, you don't trust this Democratic bill to protect these seniors in Medicare Advantage.

So I ask the Senator from Texas: If the people of Florida and the Senator from Florida don't trust the Democratic bill to protect Medicare Advantage, why should 240,000 Tennesseans trust the Democratic bill to protect Medicare Advantage?

Mr. CORNYN. I agree with the distinguished Senators from Tennessee and Arizona, that what is good enough for the seniors in Florida ought to be good enough for all seniors. In my State of Texas, we have 532,000 seniors on Medicare Advantage, and they like it, for the reasons that the Senator from Tennessee has just listed. They do not want us cutting those benefits.

But I say to the Senators from Arizona and Tennessee, I seem to recall that we had amendments earlier which would have protected everybody from cuts in Medicare benefits, and now we have a targeted effort, negotiated behind closed doors, to protect States such as Florida and Pennsylvania and others, and I wonder whether the Nelson amendment to protect the seniors' Medicare Advantage is necessary if you look across the aisle had agreed with us that no Medicare benefits should be cut.

Mr. MCCAIN. As the Senator points out, a few days ago, by a vote of 100 to 1, we voted to pass an amendment proposed by the Senator from Colorado, Senator BENNET, which included words such as "protection guaranteed Medicare benefits" or "protecting and improving guaranteed Medicare benefits." The wording was: "Nothing in the provision shall result in the reduction of guaranteed benefits under title XVIII of the Social Security Act."

Is there any Member on the other side who can guarantee that seniors in his or her State in Medicare Advantage will not lose a single benefit they have today—not the guaranteed benefit the other side goes to great pains to talk about. I think those who are enrolled in Medicare Advantage believe that since they receive those benefits, they are guaranteed benefits as well. I would ask our two physicians here on the floor, who both have had the opportunity to deal with the Medicare Advantage Program, if you have a patient come in and you say: By the way, you are having your Medicare Advantage Program cut, but don't worry, we are protecting your guaranteed Medicare benefits, do you think they understand that language?

Mr. COBURN. I would respond to the Senator from Arizona in the following way. First of all, they won't understand that language. But more importantly, if you look at this, there is Medicare Part A, Medicare Part B, Medicare Part C, and Medicare Part D. They are all law. They are all law. What is guaranteed under the law today is that if you want Medicare Advantage, why can you have it? What is happening here is that we are going to take away that guarantee. We are going to modify Medicare Part C, which is Medicare Advantage.

So we have this confusing way of saying we are not taking away any of your guaranteed benefits, but in fact, under the current law today, Medicare Advantage is guaranteed to anybody who wants to sign up for it. So it is duplicitous to say we are not cutting your benefits, when in fact we are.

Let me speak to my experience and then I will yield to my colleague from Wyoming, who is an orthopedic surgeon.

What is good about Medicare Advantage? We hear it is a money pot to pay for a new program for other people. Here is what is good about it. We get coordinated care for poor Medicare folks. Medicare Advantage coordinates the care. When you coordinate care, what you do is you decrease the number of tests, you prevent hospitalizations, you get better outcomes, and consequently you have healthier seniors.

So when it is looked at, Medicare Advantage doesn't cost more. It actually saves Medicare money on an individual basis. Because if you forgo the interests of a hospital, where you start incurring costs, what you have done is saved the Medicare Trust Fund but you have also given better care.

The second point I wish to make is that many people on Medicare Advantage cannot afford to buy Medicare supplemental policies. Ninety-four percent of the people in this country who are on Medicare and not Medicare Advantage buy the supplemental polices. Why is that? Because the basic underlying benefit package of Medicare is not adequate. So here we have this group of people who are benefited because they have chosen a guaranteed benefit of Medicare Part C, and all of a sudden we are saying: Time out. You don’t get that anymore.

Mr. MCAIN. So a preponderance of people who enroll in Medicare Advantage are low-income people, and a lot of them are rural residents?

Mr. COBURN. A lot of them are rural. I don’t know the income levels, but I know there is a propensity for actually getting a savings, because you don’t have to buy a supplemental policy if you are on Medicare Advantage.

Mr. BARRASSO. I would add to that, following on my colleague from Oklahoma, that there is the coordinated care, which is one of the advantages of Medicare Advantage, but there is also the preventive component of this. We talk about ways to help people keep their health care costs down, and that has to do with coordinated care and preventing illness.

Mr. COBURN. And we heard from the freshman Democrats that they want to put a new preventive package into the program. Yet they want to take the preventive package out of Medicare Advantage. It is an interesting mix of amendments, isn’t it?

Mr. BARRASSO. We want to keep our seniors healthy. That is one way they can stay out of the hospital, out of the nursing home, and stay active. Yet with the cuts in Medicare Advantage, the Democrats have voted to do that—to cut all the money out of this program that seniors like. Eleven million American seniors who depend upon Medicare for their health care choose Medicare Advantage, but there is also the preventive aspect of this. In many cases, we find a big increase in government-run programs. What does that mean for low-income Americans, and what does it mean for seniors who depend on our biggest government-run programs, Medicare and Medicaid? It means they risk not having access to the doctor they want. The Senator from Wyoming mentioned the Mayo Clinic, widely cited by the President and by many on the other side as an example of controlling costs, is beginning to say: We can’t take patients from the government-run programs in some cases because we are not reimbursed properly.

What is going to happen behind all this happy talk we are hearing about health care is, we are going to find more and more low-income patients dumped into a program called Medicaid. Under this program half the doctors will not see a new Medicaid patient. It is akin to giving someone a bus ticket on a bus line that runs half the time. Medicare is going to increasingly look like Medicaid. The Mayo Clinic has already said they can’t afford to serve patients from the government-run programs. The Senator from Texas is exactly right. We don’t have to persuade the 11 million Americans who have chosen Medicare Advantage that it is a good program. They like it. In rural areas, between 2003 and 2007, more than 600,000 people signed up for it. In a way, the Senator from Florida may have a sweetheart deal, but in a way he has done us a favor. We have been trying to say all week the Democrats are cutting Medicare. They are saying: Trust us, we are not cutting Medicare. The Senator from Florida is saying: Floridians don’t trust you. You are cutting their Medicare Advantage. I want to have an amendment to protect them. Senator MCAIN is saying: Let’s protect all seniors’ Medicare Advantage.

Mr. MCAIN. May I also point out, for the record, on September 20, 2009, there was a letter to the conference of Medicare, urging them to include a meaningful increase in Medicare Advantage funding for fiscal years 2004–2005—a group of 18 Senators, including Senators Schumer, Lieberman, Clinton, Wyden, and others, to Charlene Frizzera, acting administrator of the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services.

We write to express our concerns regarding the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services’ proposed changes to Medicare Advantage rates for calendar year 2010. The advance notice has raised two important issues that, if implemented, would result in highly problematic premium increases and benefit reductions for Medicare Advantage enrollees across the country.

Again, as recently as last April, there was concern on the other side about cuts in the Medicare Advantage Program.

Mr. COBURN. I wonder if the Senator is aware, in Alabama, there will be 181,000 people who will get a Medicare Advantage plan in California, 1,606,000 seniors are going to have benefits cut; Colorado, 198,000; Georgia, 176,000; Illinois, 176,000; Indiana, 148,000; Kentucky, 110,000; Louisiana, 151,000; Massachusetts, 200,000; Michigan, 406,000—that is exactly what Michigan needs right now, isn’t it, for their seniors to have their benefits cut—Minnesota, 284,000; Missouri, 200,000; Nevada, 194,000; New Jersey, 156,000; New York, 853,000; Ohio, 499,000; Oregon, 250,000; Pennsylvania—maybe, maybe not because they may have the deal—866,000; Tennessee, 233,000; Washington State, 225,000; Wisconsin, 243,000.

I ask unanimous consent that the list of what the enrollment is by CMS on Medicare and Medicare Advantage enrollment, as of August 2009, be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

Mr. MCCAIN. They can’t afford it. Mr. COBURN. That is $2,000 a year. Mr. MCCAIN. They can’t afford it. Mr. COBURN. I will make one other point. Over the next 10 years, 15 million baby boomers are going to go into Medicare. We are taking $465 billion out of Medicare; on the 10-year picture, $1 trillion. So, we are going to add $15 million and cut $1 trillion. What do you think is going to happen to the care for everybody in Medicare? The ultimate is, we are going to ration the care for seniors, if this bill comes through.

Mr. MCCAIN. How much time remains, Madam President?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Five minutes is remaining.

Mr. MCCAIN. I ask Dr. Barrasso, have you treated people under Medicare Advantage?

Mr. BARRASSO. I have. People know there is an advantage to being in this program, and that is why they sign up for it. They realize there is value in prevention and there is value in coordinated care. There is value in having eye care, dental care, hearing care. There are advantages to wanting to stay healthy, to keep down the cost of care.

Mr. McCAIN. So you are making the case that even though it may cost more, the fact that you have a welter and fitter group of senior citizens, you, in the long-run, reduce health care costs because they take advantage of the kind of care that, over time, would keep them from going to the hospital earlier or having to see the doctor more often.

Mr. BARRASSO. That is one of the reasons that Medicare Advantage was brought forth. I know a lot of Senators from rural States supported it because it would allow people in small communities to have this advantage to be in a program such as that. It could encourage doctors to go into those communities to try to keep those people well, work with prevention. The 11 million people who are on Medicare Advantage know they are on Medicare Advantage. They have chosen it. It is the fastest growing component because people realize the advantages of being on Medicare Advantage. If they want to stay independent, healthy, and fit, they sign up for Medicare Advantage. I would think people across the country who are seniors on Medicare but are not on Medicare Advantage, would want to say: Why didn’t I know about this program? As seniors talk about this at senior centers—and I go to centers and meetings there and visit with folks and hear their concerns—they are converting over and joining, signing up for Medicare Advantage because they know there are advantages to it. For this Senate and the Democrats to say: We want to slash over $100 billion from Medicare Advantage because you, the beneficiaries, do not want those cuts, I think the people of America understand this is a great loss to them and a peril to their own health, as they lose the coordinated care and the preventive nature of the care.

Mr. MCCAIN. I ask the Senator from Tennessee, do you know of any expert economist on health care who believes we can make these kinds of cuts in Medicare Advantage and still preserve the same benefits the enrollees have today?

Mr. ALEXANDER. The answer to the Senator from Arizona is no. I do not know of one. I know of one Senator at least who does not believe it. He is the Senator from Florida. It is interesting that all week we have been going back and forth. We have been saying to the Democrats: You are cutting Medicare benefits. They have been saying: No, we are not. We have been saying: Yes, you are. No, we are not.

I am sure the people at home must say: Well, who is right about this? Well, the Senator from Florida, who sits on the other side of the aisle, has said: I am not willing to go back to Florida and say to the people of Florida that your benefits are going to be cut if you are on Medicare Advantage. So I want an amendment to protect you. The Senator from Texas wants and amendment to protect 11 million seniors and so does the Senator from Oklahoma and so does the Senator from Louisiana and so does the Senator from Wyoming, and the Senator from Tennessee.

So the Senator from Arizona is saying, believe we are cutting Medicare Advantage benefits for 11 million Americans. The Senator from Florida does not trust your bill. We do not either. We want an amendment that protects 11 million seniors.

Mr. CORNYN. Madam President, I would ask our Senators to expand in the brief time we have. It seems as if all of the discussion about health care reform is a bit about accountable care organizations, coordinating care, particularly in the later part of life, avoiding chronic diseases in life.

When I was at Kelsey-Seybold Clinic in Houston, TX, they told me it is Medicare Advantage that allows them to coordinate care, to hold down costs, to keep people healthier longer. Yet the irony, to me, is that by cutting Medicare Advantage benefits, we are going backward rather than forward when it comes to that kind of coordinated, less expensive care.

Would the Senator concur with that?

Mr. BARRASSO. I would concur that this is actually taking a step backward. That is why the Senator from Florida has demanded they make accommodations for the people of Florida. The people of Wyoming want those same accommodations, as do the people of Arizona and Texas. Because 11 million Americans have chosen the Medicare Advantage Program because it does help coordinate care. It has preventive care. It keeps it more patient centered, government centered, insurance company centered. That is the way for people to stay healthy, live longer lives, and keep their independence.

We have seen cuts across the board on Medicare, whether it is home health, nursing homes, hospice care, Medicare Advantage. And across the board, they are cutting Medicare in a way that certainly the seniors of this country do not deserve. They have paid into that for many years and they deserve their benefits.

Mr. ALEXANDER. If I may say to the Senator from Arizona one other thing, we have talked a lot about our good friend, the Senator from Florida, and how he has been so perception on noticing that his Floridians with Medicare Advantage may lose their Medicare benefits.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator’s time is expired.

Mr. MCCAIN. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent for an additional 30 seconds for the Senator.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I say to the Senator from Arizona, I believe there are other Medicare benefits that are likely to be cut in this bill. Aren’t there cuts to hospice? Aren’t there cuts to hospitals? Aren’t there cuts to home health care, which we talked about yesterday? So if Floridians do not trust the Democratic bill to protect their Medicare benefits from Medicare Advantage, why should they trust the Democratic bill to protect any of their Medicare benefits?

Mr. MCCAIN. I wish to finally point out what Dr. Coburn said. Medicare Part C, which is Medicare Advantage, is part of the law, and to treat it in any way different, because there isn’t any other side that do not particularly happen to like it, I think is an abrogation of the responsibilities we have to the seniors of this country.

I thank my colleagues and yield the floor.

Amendment No. 2962

Mrs. HUTCHISON. Madam President, I rise today to talk about another amendment that is pending, the Nelson-Hatch-Cassey amendment. This is an amendment that I think has been discussed in the last day as well. That is the amendment that would assure that no Federal funds are spent for abortion. That was unclear. It is unclear in the underlying bill. I think it is very important we talk about it, that we make sure it is very clear exactly what the Nelson-Hatch-Casey amendment does; and that is, it would bar Federal funding for abortion, which is basically applying the Hyde amendment to the programs under this health care bill.

Since the Hyde amendment was first passed in 1977, the Senate has had to vote on this issue many times, probably just about every year, and I have consistently voted to prohibit Federal funding for abortions, as I know my colleague and friend from Utah has done, as well as the Democratic sponsors of this amendment.

Yet it seems that some Members were on the floor last night misconstruing exactly what the Nelson-Cassey amendment does. Specifically, their claim was that the Hyde language only bars direct funding for elective abortions while the Nelson-Hatch-Cassey amendment bars funding of an entire benefits package that includes elective abortions and therefore is unprecedented.
I wish to ask the distinguished Senator from Utah, what exactly did the Hyde language say? Let’s clarify what Hyde was, so we can then determine if your amendment is the same.

Mr. HATCH. I thank the Senator so much.

The current Hyde language contained in the fiscal year 2009 Labor-HHS Appropriations Act says the following:

SEC. 507. (a) None of the funds appropriated in this Act, and none of the funds in any trust fund at any time made available pursuant to this Act, shall be expended for any abortion. (b) None of the funds appropriated in this Act, and none of the funds in any trust fund to which any funds appropriated in this Act shall be expended for health benefits coverage that includes coverage of abortion.

Mrs. HUTCHISON. So Federal funds are prohibited from being used in abortions in that particular bill.

What about programs such as CHIP, that was created in the Balanced Budget Act? And in 2009, it was reauthorized by Congress and signed by the President earlier this year. What about the CHIP program?

Mr. HATCH. I know a little bit about CHIP. That was the Hatch-Kennedy bill. I was one of the original authors of the program and insisted that the following language be included in the original statute:

LIMITATION ON PAYMENT FOR ABORTIONS

(A) In general.—Payment shall not be made from funds appropriated in this Act for any amount expended under the State plan to pay for any abortion or to assist in the purchase, in whole or in part, of health benefit coverage that includes coverage of abortion.

(B) Exception.—Subparagraph (A) shall not apply to an abortion only if necessary to save the life of the mother or if the pregnancy is the result of an act of rape or incest.

That is what the CHIP bill said, and that was the Hatch-Kennedy bill.

Mrs. HUTCHISON. I would assume you do not agree with that bill. What about the Federal Employees Health Benefits Plan, what does it say?

Mr. HATCH. The reason I mentioned Senator Kennedy is because he was the leading liberal in the Senate at the time, and yet he agreed to that language.

As to the Federal Employees Health Benefits package, the following language appears in the Financial Services and General Government Appropriations Act for fiscal year 2009:

SEC. 614. The provisions of Section 613 shall not apply where the life of the mother would be endangered if the fetus were carried to term, or the pregnancy is the result of an act of rape or incest.

Mrs. HUTCHISON. Well, isn’t that the same as the language in the Nelson-Hatch-Casey amendment?

Mr. HATCH. You are absolutely right.

Let me read the language for you in the Nelson-Hatch-Casey amendment.

In general.—No funds authorized or appropriated by this Act (or an amendment made by this Act) may be used to pay for any abortion or to cover any part of the costs of any health plan that includes coverage of abortion.

Mrs. HUTCHISON. So based on what you have said, this is not new Federal abortion policy. The Hyde amendment currently applies to the plans discussed, including the plans that Members of Congress have had abortion protections for all of the Federal health programs all say exactly the same thing.

The amendment we are going to vote on that is the Nelson-Hatch-Casey amendment would preserve the three-decades-long precedent—that is what your amendment does—and that we must pass it if we are going to guarantee that the bill that is on the floor is properly amended so it is the same as our 30 years of abortion Federal policy in this country?

Mr. HATCH. Right. The reason it is so critical we pass the Nelson-Hatch-Casey amendment is that it is the only way to guarantee that taxpayers’ dollars are not used to pay for abortion plans under the Democrats’ bill to pay for abortions. In other words, the Hyde language is in the appropriations process. We have to do it every year rather than making it a solid amendment. But this bill is not subject to appropriations. And so if we leave the Hyde language out of this bill, the language we have in the amendment, the Nelson-Hatch-Casey amendment, then we would be opening up a door for people who believe that abortion ought to be paid for by the Federal Government to do so. And we should close that door because that has been the rule since 1977.

Mrs. HUTCHISON. I thank the Senator for the explanation. I thank the Senator from Utah because I do think he was the person that was open to that. It is common knowledge that there has been a lot of questions raised about the bill and whether it would be a foot in the door for controlling a policy that has been the law of our country, and accepted as such. Whether it was a Democratic-controlled Congress or a Republican-controlled Congress, I think everyone has agreed this Hyde amendment language has protected Federal taxpayers who might have a very firm conviction against abortion so they would not have to be subsidizing this procedure.

Mr. HATCH. I appreciate the Senator from Texas pointing this out. The current bill has language that looks like it is protective, but it is not. That is what we are trying to do: close the loophole in that language and get it so we live up to the Hyde amendment, which has been in law since 1977.

To be honest with you, I do not see how anybody could argue that the taxpayers ought to be called upon to foot the bill for abortions. Let’s be brutally frank. The taxpayers should not be called upon to pay for abortions. The polls range from 61 percent of the American people, including many pro-choice people, who do not believe taxpayers should pay for abortions, to 68 percent. The polls are from 61 to 68 percent of those who do not believe the taxpayers ought to be paying for abortion, except to save the life of the mother or because of rape or incest. And we have provided for those approaches in this amendment. So anybody who argues otherwise is plain not being accurate.

Mr. SPECTER. Madam President, will the Senator from Utah be willing to yield for a question?

Mr. HATCH. Sure.

Mr. SPECTER. My question relates to the provisions of the pending bill, section 1303(2)(B) which specifies that the plan will not allow for any payments of abortion, and where there is, as provided under section 1303(2)(B), there will be a segregation of funds. So that under the existing statute, there is no Federal funds being used for abortion. But a woman has the right to pay for her own abortion coverage. And with the status of Medicaid, where the prohibition applies to any Federal funds being used for an abortion, there are Federal funds which allow for payment for abortion coverage coming out of State funds.

So aren’t the provisions of this statute, which enable a woman to pay for an abortion on her own, exactly the same as what is now covered under Medicaid, without violating the provisions of the Hyde amendment?

Mr. HATCH. Well, the way we view the current language in the bill is that there is a loophole whereby they can even use Federal funds to provide for abortion under this segregation language, and that is what we are concerned about. We want to close that loophole and make sure that the Federal funds are not used.

Like I say, there are millions of people who are pro-choice who agree with the Hyde language. All we are doing is putting the Hyde language into this bill in a way that we think will work better.

Mr. SPECTER. If the Senator will yield further.

Mr. BROWNBACK. Will the Senator yield for a comment?

Mr. HATCH. I would be happy to yield.

Mr. BROWNBACK. In responding to the Senator from Pennsylvania as well, I wish to quote BART STUPAK, who was in the same sort of position that you are putting forward, only on the House side. The same sorts of questions, naturally, were coming forward, saying: OK, you are blocking abortion funding for the individual. He said this—and I am quoting directly from Representative STUPAK:

The Capps amendment—which is in the base Reid bill here—departed from Hyde in several important and troubling ways: by mandating that at least one plan in the health insurance exchange provide abortion coverage, and by requiring a minimum $1 monthly charge for all covered individuals that would go toward paying for abortions and by allowing individuals receiving Federal affordability credits—
Those are Federal dollars—to purchase health insurance plans that cover abortion.

In all those ways, the Capps amendment—which is in the Reid bill—expands and does allow Federal funding of abortion that we have not done for 33 years.

Going on with Representative Stupak’s statement:

Hyde currently prohibits direct federal funding of abortion. . . . The Stupak amendment—which is also the Nelson-Hatch amendment—is a continuation of this policy.

Of the Hyde amendment—nothing more, nothing less.

I think it is important to clarify that this is a continuation of what we have been doing for 33 years that the Senator from Utah and the Senator from Nebraska are putting forward with this amendment.

I thank my colleague for yielding.

Mr. HATCH. Madam President, I thank my colleague for bringing it forward. The segregation language is very problematic language. That is what we are talking about. We basically have all agreed with the Hyde amendment, which is from 1977, and this would, in effect, incorporate the language in the bill.

Mr. JOHANNS. Would the Senator yield for another comment?

Mr. HATCH. Sure.

Mr. JOHANNS. I might just offer a thought here on that language. The National Right to Life group saw through that gimmick immediately. It took them about 20 seconds to figure out what was happening here. I think they referred to it as a “bookkeeping gimmick,” that somehow there would be some segregation if the Federal money went in your left pocket but you paid for abortions out of your right pocket. It doesn’t make any sense. That segregation isn’t going to work. They saw through it. They saw the gimmick it was.

Let me just say, I support the Senator’s amendment. I applaud Senator HATCH and Senator NELSON and Senator CASEY for bringing this very important issue forward. I applaud you for keeping this effort that started with the Hyde amendment—or Hyde language, rather—because what we are really saying here is we are saying very clearly to the American people, whether directly or indirectly, your tax dollars are not going to be used to buy abortions.

Thank you for your leadership on this issue. I am happy to be here to support that.

Mr. SPECTER. Would the Senator from Utah respond to my question? How can you disagree with the provisions of section 1303(2)(B) of the bill which is pending which specifies that if a qualified health plan provides services for abortion—this is the essence of it—if a qualified health plan provides coverage for services for abortion, the issuer of the plan should not use any amount of the Federal funds for abortion? So there is a flatout prohibition for use of Federal funds. And under section 1303(2)(B), there is a segregation of funds which is identical to Medicaid.

So how would you characterize it, how do you respond to the flat language of the statute which accomplishes the purpose of the Hyde amendment and allows for a payment by collateral funds, just as Medicaid pays for abortions without Federal funds?

Mr. HATCH. Let me respond to the distinguished Senator, although I am not going to ask him a formal question. If that is true, then why have the Capps language in there? Why don’t we just take the Hyde language, which is what we are trying to do. It isn’t true.

We know in this bill there will be subsidization to help people pay for health insurance. In fact, the subsidization can go to people up to $85,000 a year, and those dollars are not going to be used for abortion. It is a loophole that Hyde closes.

If the distinguished Senator from Pennsylvania believes the Capps language does what Hyde meant to begin with and what has been in law since 1977, what is wrong with putting the Hyde language in here and solving the problem once and for all? We see it as a loophole through which they can actually get help from the Federal Government directly and indirectly to pay for abortion.

Now, let’s think about it. There are no mandates in this language that we have for elective abortion coverage. Plans and providers are free from any government mandate for abortion. There is no Federal funding of elective abortion or plans that include elective abortion except in the cases where the life of the mother is in danger or the pregnancy is caused by rape or incest.

The amendment allows individuals to purchase a supplemental policy from a plan that covers elective abortion as long as it is purchased with private dollars. The amendment prohibits the public plan from covering elective abortions. It prevents the Federal Government from mandating abortion coverage by private health plans or providers within such plans. And insurance plans are not prevented from selling truly private abortion coverage, even through the exchange. This amendment doesn’t prohibit that.

The bottom line: The effect on abortion funding and mandates is exactly the same as that of the House bill changed by the Stupak amendment.

Now, look, if the distinguished Senator from Pennsylvania believes the Capps language is the same as Hyde, he is wrong. And if he believes it does what Hyde would do, he is wrong there. Why not just put the Hyde language in once and for all, which has been there since 1977? That is what the Stupak language is.

The Hyde amendment specifically removes abortion from government programs, but the Reid bill specifically allows abortion to be offered in two huge new government programs. The Reid bill tries to explain this contradiction by calling for the segregation of Federal dollars when Federal subsidies are used to purchase health plans. This “segregation” of funds actually violates the Hyde amendment which prevents funding of abortion not only by Federal funds but also by State matching funds within the same plan. Simply put, today, Federal and State Medicaid dollars are not segregated. So that is the difference.

If the distinguished Senator from Pennsylvania believes the current language in the Reid bill meets the qualities of the Hyde language, then why not just put the Hyde language in once and for all since it has been in law since 1977?

It is important to note that today there is no segregation of Federal funds and any Federal health care program. For example, the Medicaid Program receives both Federal and State dollars. There is no segregation of either the Federal Medicaid dollars or the State Medicaid dollars.

With that, I know I have some colleagues who have asked for some time to speak, so I will yield the floor.

Mr. VITTER addressed the Chair.

Mr. SPECTER. The Senator from Utah has not yet answered the question.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Louisiana is recognized.

Mr. VITTER. Thank you, Madam President.

I strongly support the efforts of the distinguished Senator from Utah and his amendment offered along with Senator NELSON and Senator CASEY. And I think this exchange and this colloquy is very helpful. In fact, I think it proves the point, particularly the participation of the Senator from Pennsylvania. The only folks who are defending the language in the Reid bill are the folks who are clearly pro-choice, pro-abortion. Folks who have a fundamental problem with that all say the underlying language in the Reid bill has huge loopholes. That includes people who want to support the bill otherwise. I am strongly against this bill. I am not in that category. But, as the distinguished Senator, Mr. BROWNBACK, mentioned, Representative STUPAK wants to support the underlying bill. He supported it in the House. But it was very clear in his efforts on the House floor that the underlying language, which is now in the Reid bill, had huge loopholes, wasn’t good enough, needed to be fixed. That is why he came up with the Stupak language, and that is essentially exactly what we have in this amendment.

Similarly, the U.S. Conference of Bishops is very supportive of the concepts of the underlying bill, but they have said clearly that the Reid bill is “communist influenced” on this abortion issue and “is actually the worst bill we have seen so far on the life issues.”
So this colloquy involving the distinguished Senator from Pennsylvania. I think that general debate proves the point clearly.

I again compliment the Senator from Utah, along with Senator Nelson, Senator Casey, and others—I am a con- sor of the amendment—on this effort. We need to pass this on the bill. This will do away with the loophole. This will be real language to truly prohibit taxpayer funding of abortions. This constitutes exactly the same as that long tradition, since 1977, of the Hyde amendment. This marries the Hyde language, so it should be crystal-clear.

What will this amendment specifically do? It will mean there are no mandates for elective abortion coverage. Plans and providers are free from any government mandate for abortion under this amendment language. It would mean there is no Fed- eral funding of elective abortion or plans that include elective abortion except in the case of when the life of the mother is in danger or in case of rape or incest. It means this amendment would allow individuals to purchase a supplemental policy or a plan that cov- ers elective abortion as long as that separate purchase is completely with private dollars. It would prohibit the public plan from covering those elective abortions and prevent the Federal Government from man- dating abortion coverage by any pri- vate plan. In other words, the public plan is pre- vented from selling truly private abortion coverage, including through the exchange, but taxpayer dollars would have nothing—absolutely nothing—to do with it.

Bottom line: The effect on abortion funding and mandates is exactly the same as the Hyde amendment with- out the loophole. This is the same as the Hyde language in the Reid bill. The Senate has accepted this amendment. It is a solid consensus.

I also agreed with the distinguished Senator from Utah when he said this should not be of any great controversy. Abortion is a deeply divisive issue in this country, but taxpayer dollars should not be of any great controversy. Abortion is considered covered as outpatient medical care. That is a point about being clear with the Hyde-type language, which is the Nelson-Hatch language, which does not go along with this. We are not going to fund this, and we are going to continue the 33-year policy. If we keep the Capps language in that funds abortion—the last time the Federal Government funded abortions was during that same period after the Hyde, and we were funding about 300,000 abortions a year. The Federal taxpayer dollars funded abortions through Medicaid. I cannot believe any of my colleagues would say: Yes, I would be willing to buy into that 300,000 abortions a year when President Obama and President Clinton said we want to make abortions safe, legal, and rare. Well, 300,000 a year would not be in that ballpark. That is the past number that happened when you didn’t have Hyde language in place at the Federal level.

Mr. HATCH. That is what it will do here too. All this yelling and screaming when they say it equals the Hyde language—it doesn’t. That is the prob- lem. If they want to solve the problem, why not use the Hyde language that has been accepted by every Congress since 1977? The Senator is right that there were 300,000 abortions a year be- tween 1973 and 1977 because we didn’t have the Hyde language. We got tired of the taxpayers paying for them. Why should they pay for it? Why should tax- payers who are pro-life—for religious reasons or otherwise—have to pay for abortions, elective abortions by those who are pro-choice. Why should we have to?

To be honest, the language in the current bill is ambiguous and it would allow that. Anybody who is arguing this is the same as the Hyde language hasn’t read the Capps language. We want to change it to go along with Hyde. It doesn’t affect the right to abortion, except that we are not going to have taxpayers paying for it.

Mr. HATCH. That is what Mr. THUNE. That is what Stupak and other Members of the House of Representa- tives saw; that this created tremendous ambiguity and they sought to tighten it up and reinstate the long-standing policy regarding Federal funds and their use to finance abortions since 1977, the Hyde language. The Stupak amendment to the House bill passed 240-180. That was a sizable, decisive majority of Members in the House of Representatives who saw through what the ambiguity was that exists regarding the House bill and now the Senate bill.

The language is usually ambiguous for the reasons you mentioned. This simply clarifies, once and for all, what has been standard policy at the Federal level going back to 1977. As the Senator stated earlier, I believe it represents the consensus view in America of both Republicans and Democrats who believe this is ground we can all stand on, irrespective of where people come down on this issue; that the idea that somehow Federal taxpayer funds ought to finance abortions is something most Americans disagree with. That is why there has been such broad, bipartisan support for this particular policy, and that is why it should be extended into the future.

As the Senator from Utah said, 61 percent are against funding abortions. But I have seen polls that suggest it is much higher than that. I know it is much higher in my State of South Dakota. I commend the Senator for seeing his way to offer an amendment that clarifies and removes all this ambiguity and what, to me, is clearly an intentional ambiguity regarding this issue and the underlying bill.

Mr. CORNYN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senator CORNYN be added as a cosponsor to the Nelson-Hatch amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Senator from Nebraska is recognized.

Mr. JOHANNES. Madam President, how much time remains?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There is 4 minutes remaining.

Mr. JOHANNES. Madam President, I have been on the floor a number of times debating this issue, a while back on a motion to proceed and since this amendment has come up. I wish to tell the Senator from Utah that I don’t believe I have seen a more concise, clear explanation of the history of the Hyde language than I saw over the last half hour of debate on the Senate floor. The Senator explained perfectly. Senator CORNYN laid out how we have, over a long period of time, stayed with that Hyde language. That was the agreement that had been reached.

Our colleague from Texas said this is a foxtrot, a tango, and I agree with her. If this Reid bill passes with the current language on abortion, it is not only a foot in the door but, in my estimation, it kicks down the door. It kicks down the door and sets up structure for the Federal funding of abortions. That is what we are going to end up with.

A couple weeks ago, I came to the floor when we were debating the motion to proceed and I said, at that time, to me, this is the pro-life vote, because if this bill goes to the floor, we will now need 60 votes to get an amendment passed. I said I don’t count the 60. I issued a challenge and I said: If there is any Member who has a list of 60 Members who will vote for this amendment, I am willing to look at that and change my view of the world. Well, that hasn’t happened.

In fact, there are many predictions being made that, sadly and unfortunately, this Congress will not get the 60 votes it needs.

Let me put this into context. For pro-life Senators, this is the vote, but it doesn’t stop here. In my estimation, you are pro-life on every vote. You don’t get a pass on this vote or that vote or the next vote or whatever the vote is. You are pro-life all the way through.

Even if this amendment doesn’t pass, I wish to make the case that this bill should be defeated, because it literally will create a system, a structure, a way to finance abortions. I don’t believe that is what this country wants. Many Senators, including the Senator from South Dakota and the Senator from Montana, have very clearly articulated how the bill made the case that the people of the United States do not want their tax dollars to go to buying abortions.

My hope is, 60 Senators will step up on this amendment. I will sure support it. I will be in support of it. I am so appreciative that Senator NELSON and Senator HATCH and Senator CASEY brought this forward. I am glad to be a cosponsor. It is my hope this amendment will pass.

It is my conviction that we need to stand strong throughout this debate and make sure this language doesn’t end up in the final bill.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator’s time has expired. The Senator from Montana has 3 minutes 17 seconds remaining.

Mr. BAUCUS. Madam President, with respect to the last debate, let’s be clear that the underlying bill keeps the three-decades-old agreement that has implemented the Hyde amendment to separate Federal funds from private funds when it comes to reproductive health care.

The Nelson-Hatch amendment is unnecessary. It is discriminatory against women. Women are the only group of people who are told how to use their own private money. That is unfair.

On another matter, with respect to the McCain motion, let me explain a little bit about Medicare Advantage and how it works. Essentially, the Medicare Advantage Programs are insurance companies. They are insurance companies that have their own officers, directors, their own marketing plans and their own administrative costs and they are concerned about the rate of return on investment for their stockholders. These are simple, garden variety, ordinary insurance companies.

In this case, they are insurance companies that get general revenue from payroll taxes and premiums. They are basically insurance companies that give benefits to senior citizens. These insurance companies are overpaid. There is not much disagreement that they are overpaid. How are they paid? Well, believe it or not, these insurance companies—Medicare Advantage—are paid according to the amount Congress sets in statute. That is their payment rate, what Congress sets in statute.
The problem is, by doing so, these preset rates overstate the actual cost of providing care by 30 percent. We pay more than it costs to provide care by about 30 percent, in many cases. These overpayments also clearly promote inef- ficient Medicare. Also, these payments have not been proven to increase the quality of care seniors receive. In the estimate I saw, about half the Medicare Advantage plans have care coordination and half don’t. Half are the ordinary fee-for-service plans. Because of this broken, irrational payment system, some plans receive more than $200 per enrollee per month and others receive about $36 per enrollee per month.

Again, the payment rates are set by statute, relating to fee for service in the area. It is broken. It doesn’t make sense. It causes great dislocations and differences in the payment rates. Frankly, under this broken system, all beneficiaries receive the same care. I believe all beneficiaries should be able to have access to the best care, not just those who happen to live in States with high payment rates.

Therefore, it behooves us to find a better, garden variety company. Of return. It is to the company, any overpayments also clearly promote inefficient Medicare Advantage plans. Because of this broken, irrational payment system, some plans receive more than it costs to provide care by 30 percent, in many cases. These overpayments also clearly promote inefficient Medicare. Also, these payments have not been proven to increase the quality of care seniors receive. In the estimate I saw, about half the Medicare Advantage plans have care coordination and half don’t. Half are the ordinary fee-for-service plans. Because of this broken, irrational payment system, some plans receive more than $200 per enrollee per month and others receive about $36 per enrollee per month.

Again, the payment rates are set by statute, relating to fee for service in the area. It is broken. It doesn’t make sense. It causes great dislocations and differences in the payment rates. Frankly, under this broken system, all beneficiaries receive the same care. I believe all beneficiaries should be able to have access to the best care, not just those who happen to live in States with high payment rates.

Therefore, it behooves us to find a better, garden variety company. Of return. It is to the company, any administrative costs, marketing costs, rate of return. It is to the company, any ordinary, garden variety company. Therefore, it behooves us to find a better way to pay Medicare Advantage companies so it is efficient, there is not waste, and payments go primarily to enrollees, to beneficiaries.

How do we do that? This legislation moves away from the current archaic system which sets statutory amounts in effect. Rather, we say, OK, why not have these companies bid? Let them compete based on costs in their regions. One region of the country is different from another region of the country. We are going to say what is fair here and there. A lot of waste and overpayments is provide that Medicare Advantage plans can compete in their area based on cost.

The plan will be paid the average bids that are based on competition in the area. What I think that is a far better way of paying for Medicare Advantage.

Will that reduce payments to beneficiaries? Certainly no. All guaranteed benefits are guaranteed in this legislation. In fact, I am going to check up on another statistic. I heard somewhere under this legislation there will be an increase of enrollees—not a decrease, an increase of enrollees. I am going to track that down because I want to be sure I am accurate.

I will conclude. I want to talk more about this issue later. There may be a separate amendment on this subject offered on our side. By and large, it is wrong to continue a current system that dramatically overpays and where 86 percent of the overpayment goes to the company and only 14 cents goes to the beneficiaries. We have to come up with a fair way of paying Medicare Advantage. I think a fair way is to have the companies competitively bid based on costs. That way they are going to get reimbursed at a level that is relevant to their area, and it is also relative to the cost they incur when they run their plans. I will have more to say about that later.

I yield the floor.

RECESS
The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senate stands in recess until 2:15 p.m.

Thereupon, the Senate, at 12:34 p.m., recessed until 2:15 p.m. and reassembled when called to order by the Presiding Officer (Mr. FRANKEN).

SERVICE MEMBERS HOME OWNERSHIP TAX ACT OF 2009—Resumed

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from California is recognized.

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the time be extended 5 minutes, Senator MURRAY for 5 minutes, Senator LAUTENBERG for 5 minutes, Senator HARKIN for 5 minutes, and Senator CARDIN for 5 minutes.

We have many Members who wish to come and speak, and I would urge them to contact us. I will just take a minute to get my notes in order, so I suggest that the balance of my time be taken up off our time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, we are in the middle of a very important debate about whether we are going to move forward and make sure our people in America have health care. That is what it is about. I am going to throw out a few numbers that are always on my mind as I talk about this issue. One of them is 14,000. Every day, 14,000 Americans lose their health insurance. I hope you think that is wrong. A lot of times it is just because they get sick and their insurance company walks away from them or they may reach the limit of their coverage, which they didn’t realize they had, and they are done for. They could lose their job and suddenly they can’t afford to pay the full brunt of their premium. They could get sick and then all of a sudden are now branded with a PC—and that is not a personal computer; it is a preexisting condition—and they can’t get health care.

So we are in trouble in this country, with 14,000 Americans a day losing their health care, and a lot of them are working Americans. As a matter of fact, most of them are working Americans. Sometimes a child, for example, will reach the age where they can no longer be covered through their parents’ plan, and the child might have had asthma. When they go to the doctor, they beg the doctor not to say they have asthma. I have doctors writing to me saying that parents are begging them: Please, don’t write down that my child has asthma; say she has bronchitis because when she goes off my medical plan, she is going to be branded with a preexisting condition. So 14,000 Americans a day, remember that number.

Then, Mr. President, 66 percent, that is the percentage—66 percent—of all bankruptcies that are due to a health care crisis. People are going bankrupt not because they didn’t manage their money well or they didn’t work hard and save but because they are hit with a health care crisis and either they had no insurance or the insurance refused them. The stories that come across my desk, as I am sure yours, are very frightening. They are hit with a bankruptcy. They lose their dignity, they lose everything because of a health care crisis.
Yesterday, I brought up a couple of numbers—29 out of 30 industrialized nations. That is where we stand on infant mortality. We are not doing very well. It is no wonder; more than 50 percent of the women in this Nation are not seeking health care when they should. They are not seeking health care, never getting it. No wonder we don’t do well with infant mortality.

Now, why don’t women do this? Because they either don’t have insurance or they have good enough insurance or they can’t afford the coverage they are fearful they are fearful that maybe if they go this time, the insurance company will say: No more.

We rank 24 out of 30 industrialized nations for life expectancy. My constituents are shocked to hear that. They are shocked at the infant mortality ranking, and they are shocked at the life expectancy ranking. I have heard my Republican friends try to rationalize this: Well, it is because our population of women and all those things. This is the most powerful, richest Nation on Earth. There is no reason we have to be 24 out of 30 in terms of our life expectancy, especially when we know so much of our problem deals with health care.

Women and men—dis-easable such as diabetes, which can be prevented and certainly treated.

The last number I will talk about is 45 percent. The average family in America by 2016, if we do nothing, will be paying 45 percent of their income on premiums. Now, this is disastrous, and 2016 is around the corner by my calculations. So that means more and more of us will not be able to afford insurance, and we are going to show up at hospital emergency rooms. That costs a lot and the outcomes are bad and America will continue on this downward spiral in relation to our health care system.

Why do I take time to talk about this issue? It is because we need to keep our eye on the big picture, and the big picture is not a pretty picture for our people right now. The status quo is not benign, it is not neutral, it is cruel. Every one of us could wake up in the morning having lost a job and having no health care. So what we are doing is going to help every American, and I think one of the best things we do in the underlying bill is to make sure that health care premiums are affordable for everyone. That is the key, and we do in a number of ways. But, Mr. President, in the middle of all this, we have an amendment that would roll back the clock on women’s rights. I am here to say, as I said last night—and I am happy to see other colleagues join me—it is unacceptable to single out one group of people—namely the women of this country—and tell them they can’t use their own private money to buy an insurance policy that covers the range of reproductive health care. Why are women being singled out? It is so unfair.

We have had a firewall in place for 30 years. It said this: No Federal funds can be used for abortion, but private funds can be used as long as abortion is legal, and it is. Roe v. Wade made it legal in the early stages of a pregnancy. Women have had that right.

Well, this amendment says there is one group of people—we are going to treat differently. We are going to take one procedure, that only applies to women, and say that they can’t buy health insurance for that procedure—only if it is a separate rider, which everyone knows is unaffordable, impractical, and will not work. I don’t see any amendment saying to men that if they want to have a procedure that relates to their reproductive health they can’t use their own private money to buy coverage for it. No, it is not in there. We don’t tell men, if they want to make sure they can buy insurance coverage through their pharmaceuticals for Viagra, that they can’t do it. No, we don’t do that, and I wouldn’t support that. It would be the same for all reproductive health care, which are so critical to keeping women healthy, are available. This underlying bill will also help women by ending discrimination based on gender-rating or gender-biased preexisting conditions, so that women can get maternity care, preventive care and screenings, including mammograms and well-baby care, expanding access to coverage even if an employer doesn’t cover it, and giving freedom to those who are forced to stay in abusive relationships because if they leave, their or their children could lose their coverage.

Mr. President, the amendment before us today would undermine those efforts and goes against the spirit and the goal of this underlying bill. All Americans should be allowed to choose a plan that allows for coverage of any legal health care service, no matter their income, and that, by the way, includes women. But if this amendment were to pass, it would be the first time that Federal law would restrict what individual private dollars can pay for in the private health insurance marketplace. Let me repeat that: If this amendment were to pass, it would be the first time that Federal law would restrict what individual private dollars can pay for in the private health insurance marketplace.

Now, the opponents of this bill have taken to the floor day in and day out for months arguing that this bill takes away choice. This bill doesn’t take away choice, Mr. President, but this amendment sure does. This amendment stipulates that any health plan receiving any funds under this legislation cannot cover abortion care, even if such coverage is paid for using the private premiums that health plans receive directly from individuals.

Simply put, the amendment says if a health plan wants to offer coverage to individuals who receive affordability credits—no matter how small—that coverage cannot include abortion. In this way, the amendment doesn’t only restrict Federal funds, it restricts private funds. It doesn’t just affect those receiving some amount of affordability credits, it also impacts people who are paying the entire cost of coverage but who just happen to purchase the same health plan as those with affordability credits.

The bottom line: This amendment would be taking away options and choices for American women.

There is no question this amendment goes much further than current law, no matter what our colleagues on the other side contend. Current law restricts public funds from paying for abortion except in cases of rape or incest or where the woman’s life is in danger. The existing bill before us represents a genuine compromise. It prohibits Federal funding of abortion, other than the exceptions I just mentioned, but it also allows women to pay for coverage with their own private funds. It maintains current law; it doesn’t roll it back.

This amendment now before us would be an unprecedented restriction on women’s health choices and coverage. Health insurance reform should be a giant step forward for the health and economic stability of all Americans. This amendment would be a giant step backward for women’s health and women’s rights. Women already pay higher costs for health care. We should not be forced into limited choices as well.

We are standing on the floor today having a debate about a broken health insurance system. It is broken for women who are denied coverage or charged more for preexisting conditions such as pregnancy or C-sections or domestic violence. It is broken when insurance companies charge women of childbearing age more than men but don’t cover maternity care or only cover it for hefty additional premiums.

The status quo is not working. Women and their families need health insurance reform that gives them options and choices. I urge my colleagues to stand up for real reform. Reject this shortsighted amendment. I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from California.

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to amend the previous order to give Senator Lautenberg 8 minutes, myself 2 minutes, and Senator Cardin 5 minutes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Senator from New Jersey.

Mr. LAUTENBERG. Mr. President, throughout my service in the Senate, I have been a strong supporter for health care reform. But we can’t allow reform to be used as an excuse to roll back women’s rights that they have had for almost half a century. That is why I strongly oppose the amendment offered by my friend, the Senator from Nebraska.

What this amendment does is remove a woman’s right to make her own decision, as a practical matter. It is to pro-hibit any of the health plans on the exchange from covering abortion. It will ban coverage even for women who don’t get a dime in Federal subsidy.

Women’s reproductive rights are always being challenged here in Congress. What about women’s reproductive rights? Let’s turn the tables for a moment. What if we were to vote on a Viagra amendment restricting coverage for male reproductive services? The same rules would apply for Viagra as being proposed for abortion. Of course, that means no health plan on the exchange would cover Viagra availability. How popular would that demand be around here? I understand that abortion is a medical issue such as Viagra present different issues, but there is a fundamental principle that is the same: restricting access to reproductive health services for one gender. This amendment is exclusively directed at a woman’s right to stand by herself. It doesn’t dare to challenge men’s personal decisions.

I have the good fortune of being a father of three daughters and grandfather of six granddaughters. I am greatly concerned about this new precedent this amendment would set. I don’t want politicians making decisions for my daughters or my granddaughters when it comes to their health and well-being, but that is exactly what this amendment does.

Nothing made me happier than when any of my daughters announced a pregnancy. I watched them grow and prosper in their health and well-being, as they were carrying this child. I was fully prepared to support a decision she might make for the best health of that new baby and protecting her health to be able to offer her love and care for a new child, as I saw in my years.

I don’t want to think and I don’t want to hear anybody saying that somebody is going to make a decision in this room that affects what my granddaughters or my daughters have to think about. If they want to restrict themselves, let them do it. But how can we permit this to take place when we are trying to make people healthier and better informed? This amendment wants to take away that right.

Right now, the majority of private health insurance plans do offer abortion coverage. This amendment would force private health insurance companies to abandon those policies, eliminate services, and limit a woman’s options. This amendment does not, contrary to statements being made here on the floor, simply preserve the Hyde language that has been in place for more than three decades. Make no mistake, this amendment goes well beyond the prohibition in the Affordable Care Act for paying for abortion. This amendment would make it impossible for a woman who pays for her premiums out of her own pocket to purchase a private health plan that offers her the right to choose what is best for her, for her health, and her family’s well-being.

We have been working hard for a long time to eliminate discrimination against women in our current health care system. Right now, our health care bill takes a balanced approach to abortion coverage. It preserves existing Federal law. Women have fought for this Nation’s founding to have full rights under the law, including suffrage, including voting rights. Unfortunately, this amendment would force them to take a step backward. I don’t want to see it happen.

I urge my colleagues, please, use your judgment, make your own choices about your own family. Make your decisions as to what you would recommend to a daughter or a wife. But for God’s sake, let the woman choose what is best for her.

I urge my colleagues to vote against this amendment. I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Maryland.

Mr. CARDIN. Mr. President, I rise in strict opposition to the Nelson-Hatch amendment. Let me start by saying that I support a woman’s right of choice as a constitutionally affirmed right. I understand how difficult and divisive this issue is. That is why the underlying bill we have before us carries the compromise that has already been reached between pro-choice and pro-life supporters. It represents maintaining the prohibition on Federal funds for abortion but allows a woman to pay for abortion coverage through using her own private funds. It doesn’t just affect people healthier and better informed.

Many of us believe the health care debate is critically important. It is also controversial. Let’s not bring the abortion issue into the bill. The Nelson-Hatch amendment would go beyond that. It would restrict a woman’s ability to use her own funds for coverage to pay for abortions. It blocks a woman from using her personal funds to purchase insurance plans with abortion coverage. If enacted, for the first time in Federal law, this amendment would restrict what individual private dollars can pay for in the private insurance marketplace.

When you look at those who are supporting this amendment, you can’t help but have some concern that this amendment is being offered as a way to derail and defeat the health care reform bill. Most of the people who are supporting this amendment will vote in opposition to the bill. It is quite clear that the Senate health reform bill already includes language banning Federal funds for abortion services. So supporters of this bill are not satisfied with the current funding ban. They are trying to use this to move the equation further in an effort to defeat the bill. This is really wrong as it relates to women in America.

I am outraged at the suggestion that women who want an abortion should be able to purchase a separate rider to cover them. Why would we expect this overwhelmingly male Senate to expect women to shop for a supplemental plan... in anticipation of an unintended pregnancy or a pregnancy with health complications? Who plans for that? The whole point of health insurance is to protect against unexpected incidents.

Currently, there are five States—Idaho, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Missouri, and North Dakota—that only allow abortion coverage through riders. Guess what. The individual market does not accept this type of policy. It doesn’t exist.

Abortion riders severely undermine patient privacy, as a woman would be placed in a position of having to tell her employer or insurer and, in many cases, her husband’s employer that they anticipate terminating a pregnancy.

Also, requiring women to spend additional money to have comprehensive health care coverage is discriminatory. We don’t do that for services that affect men’s reproductive rights.

I hear frequently from my friends on the other side of the aisle that the statements we make; that is, those who support the underlying bill—that this allows individuals who currently have insurance to be able to maintain their insurance builds on what is good in our system. This amendment takes away rights people already have. So if you have insurance today as an individual that covers abortion services, if this amendment were adopted, you will not be able to get that. And by denying people the ability to maintain their current insurance, if this amendment were adopted.

It is the wrong amendment. The policy is wrong. But clearly, on this bill it is wrong.

I urge my colleagues to accept the compromise reached on this bill. Many of us who would like to see us be more progressive in dealing with this issue and remove some of the discriminatory provisions in existing law understand we will have to wait for another day to do that. Let’s not confuse the issue of health care reform. Let’s defeat this amendment that would be discriminatory against women. That is wrong.

I urge my colleagues to reject the Nelson-Hatch amendment.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator’s time has expired.

The Senator from Wyoming.

Mr. ENZI. Mr. President, I yield up to 10 minutes to the Senator from Arizona.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Arizona.

Mr. KYL. Mr. President, America’s seniors have made clear they value the Medicare Advantage Program. They like their access to private plans, plan choices, lower cost sharing, and all the extra benefits not included in traditional Medicare, such as vision, dental, hearing, and the wellness programs that help them stay fit.

Before the Medicare Modernization Act of 2003, seniors had been deprived of their lack of choices. We made sure, under the Medicare Modernization Act, that seniors would be assured health care choices, just as all of us here in the Congress enjoy.

Now we must have access to private coverage and enjoy more benefits and choices, seniors want us to make sure Medicare Advantage stays viable, and they are not happy about the proposed cuts in the majority leader’s bill.

I have received more than 500 phone calls since I first heard from constituents who oppose the $120 billion Medicare Advantage cuts proposed by the majority’s bill. They know you cannot cut $120 billion from a program without cutting its benefits. A lot of seniors in Arizona are asking. What happened to the President’s repeated promise that if you like your insurance, you get to keep what you have? They do not like that under this proposal their benefits would be slashed by 64 percent, from $135 of value per month to $49 of value per month, which is exactly what the Congressional Budget Office projects would happen. They do not like the money that would go into Medicare to fund a new government entitlement program for nonseniors. They are not satisfied with the majority’s promise to protect “guaranteed” benefits. They want Members of Congress to be straightforward about our intentions and not engage in semantics.

They want an unequivocal promise they will be able to keep exactly what they have now, just as the President promised.

Here is the problem. There is an earmark buried on page 894 of the legislation before us that suggests that senior citizens in Florida must have insisted on this exact kind of protection for their Medicare Advantage Program.

This provision, in section 3201(g), was specifically drafted at the request of the senior Senator from Florida to protect the benefits for at least 363,000 Medicare Advantage beneficiaries in Florida, but very few anywhere else. Nothing in the bill grants the same protection that is granted to these senior citizens to those in my State or in the other States in which there are a lot of seniors who have the Medicare Advantage Program.

That is why I support the motion of my colleague, Senator MCCAIN, to commit this bill to the committee and return it without these—actually, what his bill does is to ensure that all seniors, whatever State they are in, enjoy the same grandfathering status as the senior citizens in Florida would have under the Nelson proposal.

The McCain motion to commit is straightforward. It would help the President keep his commitment that seniors get to keep their insurance if they like it. And it applies to all of America’s seniors the same protection granted to Floridians, as I said, isn’t that what all seniors deserve, the security of knowing their current benefits are safe? If our Democratic colleagues are not willing to extend this protection to every Medicare Advantage beneficiary, then I cannot imagine how they can claim to be in favor of protecting Medicare.

I have been sharing letters that I have received from Arizona constituents describing what the Medicare Advantage Program means to them. I thought today I would share excerpts from a few more of these letters.

A constituent in Surprise, AZ—I hope the President likes the name of that town: Surprise, AZ—just west of Phoenix, says: I truly hope you will consider keeping the Medicare Advantage plans for seniors. I find the savings a must on my fixed income.
I appreciate the [high quality] doctor care on my MedSun Advantage plan. Prescriptions are included in the cost of my plan, providing further savings for me. Medicare Advantage plans have made a big difference in my life. Please don’t let anything happen to this important program.

A constituent from Fountain Hills, AZ, writes:

I suffer from a specific type of amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, and rely on Medicare Advantage for all of my medical needs. I am asking that you do all that is in your power to protect and provide for the continued funding of this program. In Arizona, we have over 329,000 people who count on Medicare Advantage. Our lives would be devastated without it.

A constituent from Wickenburg, AZ, says:

Please don’t let anything happen to my Medicare Advantage. I like my Medicare Advantage plan because I can choose my own doctor in my own town and also choose a specialist if I need one.

I can also get regular check-ups and don’t have trouble getting to see the doctor. So, I ask that you don’t let the government cut my Medicare Advantage.

A constituent from Mesa, AZ, says:

I am a senior citizen. I am becoming more and more concerned about President Obama’s health care reform plans, and I am writing to tell you that I am happy with my Medicare Advantage plan. I request that you do all you can to not cut my benefits.

I have a fairly wide choice of doctors and specialists, who have always treated me with respect, given me the time I feel I need, and have provided excellent care.

I have a fitness benefit, which entitles me to the Silver Sneakers program at our local YMCA; two choices of a dental plan; a vision plan; plus many other options to maintain my level of health or to try to improve it.

Please, beg you, do whatever you can to maintain our Medicare Advantage plan. Do NOT cut any of our benefits.

We know there are millions of seniors out there who absolutely depend on Medicare Advantage. Many have stories to tell about how this program has improved the quality of their life and their health. I urge my colleagues to support the McCain motion to commit to ensure that all of America’s seniors, not just those in certain preferred counties, primarily located in the State of Florida, are grandfathered in these benefits.

Again, to make it very clear, Medicare Advantage benefits are cut by the $120 billion reduction in Medicare under the bill. The Senator from Florida found a way to grandparent the Medicare Advantage benefits for many of his constituents. What? The McCain motion to commit does is to apply that same grandfathering to all seniors in all States so that none of the seniors who have Medicare Advantage today would lose any of the benefits they enjoy today.

It seems to me what is good for our senior citizens in Florida ought to be good for our senior citizens in Arizona or any other State in which they reside. I urge my colleagues to consider and support the McCain motion to commit.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Wyoming.

Mr. ENZI. Mr. President, I yield up to 10 minutes to the Senator from Ohio, Mr. Voinovich.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Ohio.

Mr. Voinovich. Mr. President, I want to spend a minute discussing the very emotional and divisive issue of abortion. I personally believe that all children, born or unborn, are a precious gift from God, and we have a moral responsibility to protect them. It grieves me to think that there have been more than 40 million abortions performed in this country since 1973.

I am pleased to support the Nelson amendment that would apply the long-standing Hyde amendment, which currently prohibits Federal funding to pay for abortion services except in cases of rape, incest, or to save the life of the mother, to the health care reform bill.

The issue of abortion is one that results in very strong emotions on both sides of this issue. Because of the concerns that millions of Americans have with using Federal taxpayer dollars for abortion, Congress enacted the Hyde amendment. As a result, the Hyde amendment has restricted Federal Medicaid dollars from paying for abortion services since 1977, and has been applied to all other federally funded health care programs, including the Federal Employees Health Benefits Program.

Think about that, this language has been in place since the Ford administration, and has survived through the administrations of Presidents Carter, Reagan, George W. Bush, Clinton, and George W. Bush. That is 33 years, and all of a sudden, my colleagues want to change our policy on Federal funding of abortion.

We shouldn’t be making this type of sweeping policy change in the health care legislation, and the Nelson amendment is a necessary addition to the bill in order to protect our current policy and the unborn.

I urge you to vote against the Nelson amendment. All of America’s seniors are entitled to the most popular and fastest growing program. I am pleased to support the Nelson-Hatch amendment before the Senate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. Udall of Colorado). The Senator from Wyoming.

Mr. ENZI. Mr. President, I yield up to 10 minutes to the Senator from Idaho, Mr. Crapo.

Mr. CRAPO. Mr. President, I rise today to discuss the Medicare Advantage Program again. It is one that is facing nearly $120 billion in cuts under the Democratic health care bill.

Currently, there are nearly 11 million seniors enrolled in Medicare Advantage, which is about one out of every four seniors in the United States. In my home State of Idaho, that is about 60,000 people or 27 percent of all Medicare beneficiaries in the State.

Medicare Advantage is an extremely popular program. In fact, it is probably the most popular and fastest growing part of Medicare. A 2007 study reported high overall satisfaction with the Medicare Advantage Program. Eighty-four percent of the respondents said they were happy with their coverage, and 75 percent would recommend Medicare Advantage to their friends or family members.

But despite the popularity of the program, the massive cuts in the Reid bill will result in most seniors losing benefits or coverage or both under Medicare Advantage.

I have a chart in the Chamber which I have shown before. You cannot see the individual States too well on it from this distance at this size, but you can see the coloring on the United States in this chart.

If you live in a State that is red, deep red, or the pinkish color—which is almost every State in the Union—then you are going to see your benefits cut under Medicare Advantage under this bill.

Why am I bringing it up again? We have already had a vote on it. In fact, we have had two votes on it. The majority has insisted these cuts in the bill. The reason I am bringing it up again is because, as we have combed through this 2,074-page bill, we have found out there is a provision in the Reid bill that would protect Medicare Advantage benefits for some people in the United States, for just a few in this country.

During the Finance Committee markup, Senator Bill Nelson of Florida advocated on behalf of Medicare Advantage and the beneficiaries in his home State of Florida. Subsequently, during closed-door negotiations, the legislative language was added to protect those beneficiaries.

This is interesting because one of the reasons to us, as we have tried to stop the imposition of these cuts to Medicare, has been this bill will not cut any Medicare benefits. Well, if not, then why does Florida need a special exemption for its citizens? If not, why not support the McCain amendment that would give to all Medicare Advantage beneficiaries that the bill gives to primarily just a few in Florida?
December 8, 2009

Specifically, section 3201(g) of the Reid bill, very deep in the bill on page 894, has a $5 billion provision drafted to prevent the drastic cuts in the Medicare Advantage Program from impacting those enrollees who reside primarily in three counties in my home State of Wyoming. In Broward, Miami-Dade, and Palm Beach. It seems unfair that taxpayers would foot a $5 billion provision that provides protection for only some of the Medicare Advantage beneficiaries. It could be that there are cuts to Medicare Advantage benefits in this bill; again, benefits that one out of four beneficiaries in America receives—one of the fastest, if not the fastest, growing parts of Medicare. Instead of preferential treatment for some, why not extend these same protections for Medicare Advantage to all beneficiaries under Medicare? I know the 60,000 Medicare beneficiaries on Medicare Advantage in Idaho, my home State, want and deserve that same level of protection.

That is why I am here to support the McCain motion to commit, and that is what his motion to commit would accomplish, very plain and very simple. That the McCain motion would extend this grandfathering provision to all beneficiaries in the Medicare Advantage Program so all seniors in this popular and successful program could maintain that same level of benefits that today they enjoy under the current program in the Medicare Advantage Program deserves to keep these critical extra benefits, which include things such as dental protection, vision coverage, preventive and wellness services, flu shots, and much more.

In fact, most people who are not on Medicare Advantage in the Medicare Program have to buy supplemental insurance to get access to this coverage. Those in Medicare Advantage, which is one of the most popular programs, have the opportunity to get it through their Medicaid services. Why is Medicare Advantage so opposed? Well, some say it is because of the extra costs, except that the extra costs in Medicare Advantage are returned to the government or shared with the beneficiaries. I think the reason might be because Medicare Advantage is one part of the Medicare Program that we have successfully been able to do in the private sector and get their market for operation. Interestingly, when the private sector gets involved in administering this part of the Medicare Program, the Medicare beneficiaries get more benefits, and it becomes the most popular program in Medicare.

I know every provision in Pennsylvania, Senator Casey, has filed an amendment to protect the 864,000 Medicare Advantage beneficiaries in his home State, and I would expect strong bipartisan support for the McCain motion to commit, since I think every Senator representing their constituents in their State wants to see this kind of protection. At the end, the McCain motion to commit is simply an amendment that will protect nearly 11 million seniors today enrolled in the Medicare Advantage Program and help to keep the President’s promise when he said if you like what you have, you can keep it. If this bill is not amended in the way it is being proposed to be amended by Senator McCain’s amendment, 11 million Americans are not going to be able to keep what they have in the Medicare Program, and that is just a start on the impact of what people are going to see under this legislation in terms of a reduction of their benefits and the quality of services they have access to. I urge my colleagues to support this amendment, and I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Wyoming.

Mr. ENZI. I yield myself the balance of the time.

AMENDMENT NO. 296 TO AMENDMENT NO. 2786

Mr. President, I rise to speak in support of the amendment. We have been talking about the McCain amendment, which provides fairness for seniors who have Medicare Advantage so everybody across the country can have the same thing Florida is getting. But to all the Senator’s amendment, I wish to talk about is the Nelson amendment.

This amendment needs to be adopted if we truly want to prevent Federal dollars from being used to pay for abortions, if we ask our colleagues to support a Democratic amendment. This isn’t a partisan issue; it is a human issue. Even if you are on the other side, I hope you can agree it is not right to force people to pay for a procedure they may find offensive to the core of their morality. This issue is very personal for many of us. It is for me.

When my wife Diana gave birth to our first child, Amy was 3 months premature. She weighed just 2 pounds and was so small she was: Wait until morning and see if she lives. The doctors couldn’t do anything to help this newborn baby. She survived the night.

The next day I took Amy to a hospital in Casper. An ambulance wasn’t available so we went in a Thunderbird. It was in a huge blizzard, the same blizzard that prevented us to fly Amy to a hospital in Denver that specialized in that. But we took this car and went to the center of the State to the biggest hospital we could find. We ran out of oxygen on the way because the snow slowed us. The highway patrol was looking for us, and they were looking for an ambulance. All along the way, we were watching every breath that she took and say: It is not looking good. We had to help her to breathe again or: Have you had your baby baptized? We did have Amy baptized a few minutes after birth, as she worked and struggled to live. Watching an infant fight with every fiber of her being, unquestioningly showing the desire to live, even though they are only 6 months developed, is something that will show you the value of life. Amy survived and is now a teacher so gifted she teaches other teachers.

Amy’s birth changed my whole outlook on life. It reminded me of the miracle of a new life and the miracle that life. The Reid bill, as it is currently, does not respect life. But the amendment before us will allow that respect to be given to every American who benefits from that bill.

September 9, 2009, President Obama told a joint session of Congress: “No Federal dollars will be used to fund abortions.” I agree. No Federal dollars should ever be used to pay for abortions. To do otherwise would compel millions of taxpayers to pay for abortion procedures they oppose on moral or ethical grounds. Unfortunately, the Reid bill fails to meet that standard set by the President. Section 1303 of the Reid bill provides the authority to mandate and fund abortions. Some have questioned exactly how this bill funds abortions. It is quite simple. The bill funds abortions through the government-run insurance option and through subsidies to individuals to help pay for the cost of private insurance. Both of these options are funded with Federal dollars. Under the community health insurance option, also known as the government-run option, the Secretary of Health and Human Services could allow the plan to cover abortions. In addition, the new tax subsidies in the bill could also go to private plans that cover abortions. In both these cases, Federal subsidies would be paid to plans that cover abortion.

The Reid bill attempts to use budget gimmicks so its sponsors can argue that Federal funds will not pay for abortions. As the accountant in the Senate, I am not fooled by gimmicks and neither should anyone else be. If the Reid bill is passed, Federal dollars will be used to pay for abortions.

Money is fungible. That is an Interesting word. It means Federal dollars paid into a health plan could be shifted across accounts. We don’t have a good accounting system for that. It can replace other spending and those dollars could then go to abortions. There is no way to absolutely prevent Federal dollars from paying for abortions once they are paid to plans that cover abortions.

That is why Federal laws for the last 30 years have explicitly prohibited Federal funding going to such plans. That is right. It is already Federal law, although it comes in, in the appropriations bill, on an annual basis. Federal law currently prohibits funds going to private plans under the Medicaid Program, under FEHBP—that is the program where we get our health insurance; it is the one that provides all the health insurance for all Federal employees, the same choices of plans—and the TRICARE Program, which is for all our Active military and their families.

Current law recognizes the only way to actually prevent Federal funds from being used for abortion is to offer the coverage of abortion in separate insurance plans and collect separate premiums to pay for that plan. This is what States who want to cover abortion for their Medicaid populations already do. As I said earlier, Medicaid is prohibited from using Federal dollars to pay for abortions. As a result, States set up separate plans and collect non-Federal dollars in separate accounts to pay for those services.

If anyone has any doubts about the impact of the Reid bill, I would point them to the comments made by the senior staff at the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops. The associate director, Richard Doeringer, recently described the Reid bill as "completely unacceptable," and said it was the worst health reform bill they had seen so far on life issues.

It is probably worth it to note that the bishops have been longtime supporters of health care reform and covering the uninsured. Similarly, National Right to Life said the Reid bill "seeks to cover elective abortions in two big new Federal health programs, but tries to conceal that unpopular reality with layers of contrived definitions and hollow bookkeeping requirements."

There has also been some misinformation out there regarding this amendment, and I wish to take a minute to clear up a couple arguments used against the Nelson amendment. First, it does not prohibit individuals from purchasing abortion coverage with their own private dollars. When similar arguments were made during the House debate on the Stupak language, PolitiFact, a Pulitzer Prize-winning fact-checking organization, concluded that such statements were false. The Nelson amendment only prohibits Federal funds from subsidizing those plans.

Some have argued the Nelson amendment could cause individuals to lose the abortion coverage they currently receive from their current health insurance plans. That also isn't accurate. I would urge everyone to read section 1251 of the bill. Section 1251 says, clearly and unequivocally that:

"Nothing in this act or an amendment made under this act shall be construed to require that an individual terminate coverage under a group health plan or health insurance coverage, which is not prohibited from using Federal dollars for abortion services, and collect separate premiums to pay for that plan.

According to the sponsors of this bill, this section protects the ability of persons with existing insurance coverage to keep that same coverage. If section 1251 works as its authors describe it, this is how it would work: existing insurance plans that cover abortion and should allow individuals to keep the plans they have.

Some have also said this amendment would ban abortion procedures. That, too, is false. The amendment does not ban abortions; it simply prohibits Federal dollars from paying for abortions, which is consistent with the current law.

Many of my Democratic colleagues have argued during the debate that the health care we provide under this bill should be as good as the coverage given to Senators. If they believe that, they should all support applying the same very reasonable safeguards that apply to our own health plans. Federal employees' plans are prohibited from covering abortion—all Federal employees, not just Senators.

I will work hard to see that tax-payers are not compelled to fund abortion services. I believe those of us in elected office have a duty to work to safeguard the sanctity of human life, since the right to life was specifically named in the Declaration of Independence. By safeguarding our right to life, our government fulfills the most fundamental duty to the American people. When that right is violated, we violate our sacred trust with our Nation's citizens and the legacy we leave to future generations.

Regardless of what some people think, God doesn't make junk. He makes people in a variety of sizes, shapes, and abilities, and disabilities. There is a purpose even if we cannot understand it. I like the sign outside Gillette. It says: "If it's not a baby, you're not pregnant."

I don't believe Federal funding should be used to pay for abortions, and I will work to ensure that it doesn't happen under this bill. I will vote in support of the Nelson amendment and encourage my colleagues to do the same to protect life and respect the miracle of life that I witnessed with the birth of my daughter Amy.

I thank Senator Avant of South Carolina for their amendment, because HARRY REID takes care of the firewall between private funds and Federal funds. We keep that firewall.

Is it OK if Senator Durbin goes after Senator Stabenow?

Mr. DURBIN. Yes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Michigan is recognized.

Ms. STABENOW. Mr. President, first, I thank the Senator from California for her passionate advocacy and standing up for all of us, the women of this country. She is a mom, as she said, I, too, am a mom. As hard as it is for me to believe, I am also a grandmother with wonderful 2-year-old Lily and a 4-year-old Grandson Daniel who was born on his daddy's—my son's—birthday in August. Obviously, they are the light of my life, as well.

One of the reasons I feel so passionate about this bill on health care reform is that this is about extending coverage to babies so they can be born healthy, and about prenatal care; it is about making sure that in the new insurance exchange we have basic coverage for maternity care. I was shocked to learn that 60 percent of the insurance policies offered right now in the individual market don't offer maternity care as basic care. We happen to think that is incredibly important. We are 29th in the world in the number of babies—below Third World countries—that survive the first year of life. This health care reform bill is about making sure we have healthy babies, healthy moms, and it is about saving lives and moving forward in a way that is positive, expanding coverage, not taking away important coverage for women who, frankly, find themselves in a crisis situation.

That is what we are doing, unfortunately, through the Nelson-Hatch amendment. I haven't talked to any of my colleagues who have offered this amendment, and for others who feel deeply about this issue. In the bill that has come before us, I think we respect all sides and keep in place the longstanding ban on Federal funding for abortion services, and no one is objecting to that. No one is trying to change that.

As my friends have said, this is about whether we cross that line into private insurance coverage. We say to our families: You are going to have to decide whether, when you have a child and you are having a crisis in the third trimester and might need some kind of crisis abortion services—whether you are going to find yourself in a situation where you are going to need abortion services, and you are going to have to publicly indicate that and buy a rider on insurance because you can’t use your own money to buy an insurance.

Here is what we know now. We know five States have riders right now—Idaho, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Missouri, and North Dakota. There is no evidence there are any riders available in the private market. So even though technically, they say you can buy additional coverage, it is not offered or available. We are told by the insurance carriers that, in fact, it probably will not be available.

We all know what this is about. This is about effectively banning abortion services coverage in the new insurance exchange we are setting up, which could, in fact, have a broader implication of eliminating the coverage for health insurance policies. The notion that is what this is about, which is why it is so important.

Again, we are agreeing on the elimination or banning of Federal funding for abortions, other than extreme crises of women’s health. We have done that in Federal law. This is about whether we go on to essentially create a situation where effectively people cannot get that coverage with their own money.

The Center for American Progress noted that because approximately 86 percent of the people who are going to be offered new opportunities for insurance—small businesses, individuals, in the private market—that because 86 percent of them will, in fact, receive some kind of tax credit or tax cut, in fact, again, we are talking about eliminating this option altogether because the majority of people will get some kind of a tax cut during this process.

I think there are also some broader implications around the tax policy. If we are saying that someone can’t purchase an insurance policy of their liking if they are getting a tax credit to help with health insurance, the fact is, what about other tax credits? What about other kinds of ways in which people get tax credits or tax cuts today? The implications of these are extremely broad.

I urge a “no” vote. Let’s keep Federal policy intact, do not allow Federal dollars for individuals for abortion but respects the women of this country.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Illinois is recognized.

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, I commend my colleague from Illinois, the Democratic whip of the Senate, for his arguments. He speaks for me when he identifies the pillars of our views on this issue.

I was elected to the House of Representatives in 1974, 2 years after Roe v. Wade, and I have been in Congress now for 35 years. We have lived with those guidelines since then. I know it has not resolved the matter for many people, but it has served as a compromise.

What we have in this bill is a reflection of a continuation of those pillars. Having been the acting chair of the Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions Committee during the markup of the bill—indeed, Senator Kennedy voted by proxy, as they call it in that process—we insisted upon the adoption of a Kennedy amendment that maintained the notion of conscience in these matters. So we would not be forcing public money to go into abortion practices if they felt otherwise.

We have long held the view in this Congress, under Democratic and Republican leadership, despite the different views, that this matter of public money should not be used. Despite the arguments to the contrary, we have done that again with this bill.

The Senator from Illinois made a point about the measures in the bill that are the health and reproductive rights. We minimize the likelihood of there being a demand for abortion on the part of many.
I appreciate the fact that our leadership has made this matter, the Nelson-Hatch amendment, a matter of conscience. There is no caucus position on this amendment. There never has been and nor should there be, in my view, given the history of this debate.

I want to mention another argument we fail to understand here, in addition to the eloquent ones made by the Senator from Illinois. We rank 29th in infant mortality in the United States. It is an incredible statistic when you consider the wealth of our Nation. I worked on legislation with our colleague, LAMAR ALEXANDER, on infant births, prescreening, trying to provide resources and help for families with infants who suffer these debilitating and fatal problems.

This legislation takes a major step forward in taking the United States out of the basement when it comes to infant mortality and gets us back to where we ought to be in reducing the tragedy that occurs in infant mortality.

There is a distinction, clearly, between abortion and infant mortality. But this legislation takes a major step in improving quality of life, assisting children who arrive prematurely, as many do in our country today, and many do not survive that prematurity.

Today many women are not getting the kind of support they need during their pregnancy, thus increasing the likelihood of premature births occurring, or not getting the screenings that need to occur immediately so you can avoid the terrible problems that can ensue thereafter. This legislation takes a major step in that direction.

While we have done what is necessary for us to do, that is, protect the long-standing distinction between private and public dollars when it comes to abortion, we also have gone so much further. This bill provides support for families. It comes to minimizing the likelihood a child will be lost because they are not getting support services, as well as providing the reproductive services that will assist women during their pregnancies.

My colleagues know I am a late bloomer. I am a parent of a 4-year-old and an 8-year-old. My colleagues talk about being grandparents. I always said I was the only candidate in the country who used to get mail from AARP. Now they have a waiting list. We spent countless hours drafting legislation that is part of the language in our health care bill to make sure it renews the life of choice.

The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act that is currently before us maintains the Hyde amendment prohibiting Federal funding of abortions. As a result, neither the pro-choice nor the pro-life agendas are advanced.

This is clearly explained in an analysis done by the nonpartisan Congressional Research Service. I ask unanimous consent to have printed in the Record this analysis.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Hon. Jeanne Shaheen

FROM: Jon O. Shimabukuro, Legislative Attorney, American Law Division, Congressional Research Service

SUBJECT: Abortion and the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act

This memorandum responds to your request concerning abortion and the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act. The memorandum addresses Section 1032 of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, which prohibits Federal funds to pay for abortions except in instances of rape or incest, or if a woman's life would be endangered if an abortion were not performed.

This section of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act ("PPACA") prohibits Federal funds from being used to pay for abortions. This provision is commonly referred to as the "Hyde Amendment." In 1976, Rep. Henry J. Hyde offered an amendment to the Departments of Labor and Health, Education, and Welfare. Appropriation Act, 1977, that required that Federal funds be prohibited to pay for abortions provided through the Medicaid program.

The Hyde amendment, a matter of conscience, remains neutral on the issue of choice. While we have done what is necessary for us to do, that is, protect the long-standing distinction between public and private dollars when it comes to abortion, we also have gone so much further.

This bill provides support for families. It comes to minimizing the likelihood a child will be lost because they are not getting support services, as well as providing the reproductive services that will assist women during their pregnancies.

and facilities that are unwilling to provide, pay for, provide coverage of, or refer for abortions?"

Under the Senate measure, individual health care providers and health care facilities could not be discriminated against because of a willingness or unwillingness to provide, pay for, provide coverage of, or refer for abortions, if their decisions are based on their religious or moral beliefs. Section 1303(a)(3) of the Senate measure states: "No individual health care provider or health care facility may be discriminated against because of a willingness or an unwillingness, if doing so is contrary to the religious or moral beliefs of the provider or facility, to provide, pay for, provide coverage of, or refer for abortions."

4. "Does the Senate’s Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act ensure that there is a health plan available in every exchange that does not cover abortion beyond those permitted by the most recent appropriation for the Department of Health and Human Services?"

The Senate measure would require the Secretary of HHS to ensure that in any health insurance exchange, there must be at least one qualified health plan does not provide coverage for abortions for which the expenditure of federal funds appropriated for HHS is not permitted. If a state has one exchange that covers more than one insurance market, the Secretary would be required to provide the aforementioned assurance with respect to each exchange."

Mrs. SHAHEEN. Mr. President, the health reform legislation before us preserves the Hyde language and maintains the status quo in this country. We should keep it so. This should be a debate about health care. It should be about patients and ensuring they have access to quality care at all stages of their lives, regardless of what may happen in their lives. It is a mistake to make this debate one about abortion.

The amendment that is before us, the Nelson-Hatch amendment, would restrict any health plan operating in the exchange that accepts affordability credits from offering abortion services. In essence, the amendment before us would prohibit any plan with abortion coverage in the health insurance exchange regardless of where the money comes from. Put another way, a woman who pays for insurance with money out of her own pocket would most likely not be able to get insurance that covers abortion.

Make no mistake about it, this amendment is much more than a debate on whether Federal funds should be used for abortion, which is already established as a constitutional right. It is about the ability to access abortion on demand, to provide abortion in the health insurance exchange regardless of where the money comes from. Put another way, a woman who pays for insurance with money out of her own pocket would most likely not be able to get insurance that covers abortion.

The Nelson-Hatch amendment is a very far-reaching intrusion into the lives of women in how we were at last able to establish a law that is maintained in the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act before us.

The Nelson-Hatch amendment is a very far-reaching intrusion into the lives of women in how we were at last able to establish a law that is maintained in the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act before us.

The Nelson-Hatch amendment is a very far-reaching intrusion into the lives of women in how we were at last able to establish a law that is maintained in the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act before us. We have seen from the National Women’s Law Center shows us that in the five States that do require such a rider, there is no evidence that such plans exist. And even if they did exist, who would purchase that kind of a rider? No woman expects to need an abortion. This is no way to go into planning ahead of time.

Finally, this amendment would have effects that reach well into the private insurance market. An independent analysis by the School of Public Health and Health Economics at George Washington University concluded that a similar amendment adopted in the House—what is commonly known as the Stupak amendment—will have an "industry-wide effect," eliminating coverage of medically indicated abortions over time for all women." That means any type of abortion for which there is a medical indication of need would go uncovered.

I ask unanimous consent that "Introduction and Results in Brief" of the George Washington University analysis be printed in the Record. There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the Record, as follows:

AN ANALYSIS OF THE IMPLICATIONS OF THE STUPAK/PITTS AMENDMENT FOR COVERAGE OF MEDICALLY INDICATED ABORTIONS

By Sara Rosenbaum, Lara Cartwright-Smith, Ross Margules, Susan Wood, D. Richard Masland

INTRODUCTION AND RESULTS IN BRIEF

This analysis examines the implications for coverage of medically indicated abortions under the Stupak/Pitts Amendment (Stupak/Pitts) to H.R. 3982, the Affordable Health Care for America Act. In this analysis we focus on the Amendment’s implications for the health benefit services industry as a whole. We also consider the Amendment’s implications for the growth of a market for publicly or private supplemental coverage of medically indicated abortions. Finally, we examine the implications for the health benefit services industry as a whole. We also consider the Amendment’s implications for the growth of a market for publicly or private supplemental coverage of medically indicated abortions.

OVERVIEW OF CURRENT FEDERAL LAW

1. The Hyde Amendment and Medicaid

The Hyde Amendment has been part of every HHS-related appropriation since FY 1977. As set forth in the most recent annual Labor/HHS federal appropriations legislation, the Hyde Amendment provides in pertinent part as follows:

Sec. 507. (a) None of the funds appropriated in this Act and none of the funds in any trust fund to which funds are appropriated under this Act, shall be expended for any abortion.

(b) None of the funds appropriated in this Act, and none of the funds in any trust fund to which funds are appropriated under this Act, shall be expended for health benefits coverage that includes coverage of abortion.

(c) The term "health benefits coverage" means the package of services covered by a managed care provider or organization pursuant to a contract or other arrangement.

Mrs. SHAHEEN. When we pass this legislation that will reform our health care system, it should not be done in a way that would lose benefits for... women. All women should have access to comprehensive health care, including reproductive health care, from the provider of their choice.

I urge my colleagues to oppose any amendment that threatens reproductive choice for the women who have counted on this for over 30 years.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from New Jersey is recognized.

Mr. MENENDEZ. Mr. President, health care legislation we are considering is good for America. It is good for women and for families. It is a health care reform bill; it is not an abortion bill. In fact, not a dime of taxpayers' money goes to subsidize abortion coverage in this bill. It is, in fact, abortion neutral.

This amendment, however, would change that. It would roll back the clock on a woman's right to choose. It unfairly singles women out and takes away what they already have. It singles out our daughters and legislates limits on their reproductive health, their reproductive rights. If we were to do the same to men, if we were to single out reproductive health in this legislation—imagine the outcry. Imagine if men were denied access to certain procedures. Imagine if they were denied access to certain prescription drugs. Imagine if the majority had to suffer the decision of the minority. But that is exactly what we are being asked to do to our daughters with this amendment—rolling back the hands of time. I personally find that offensive, as do women across this country.

This bill has been carefully negotiated to ensure that we are preserving a woman's right to choose but doing so without Federal funding. To claim otherwise is hypocritical and misleading.

We are not the first to offer amendments that have nothing to do with the real issue at hand—that millions of Americans do not have health insurance and many are being forced into debt to buy coverage that insurers later deny. But now, I am not offering long-settled debates over this issue, we are actually faced with a proposal that would turn back the clock and deny women access to reproductive health care. It is the wrong debate at the wrong time.

Over the years, we have made extraordinary progress in addressing women's reproductive rights. We have debated this issue in our churches, in our communities, and in the U.S. Supreme Court that has said a woman's right to choose is the law of the land. Let's not turn back the clock. I respect the deeply held views of my friends from Nebraska and the strongly held views of my friend from Utah. I know we will debate the issue many times in many forums. They will raise their voices in protest of a woman's right to that choice. I will raise mine in protest. But this is neither the time nor the legislative vehicle for hot-button politics to get in the way of badly needed health care reform.

The language in this bill is clear: It preserves a woman's reproductive rights without any taxpayer funding. Yet we are engaged in a debate in which we are basically being told that neutrality is not good enough; that there is a need for a special health care reform bill, not a health care reform bill; that neutrality on the issue is not acceptable; that only effectively banning abortion is acceptable. We are not going to be dragged down that road, and the women of this country will not stand for it. Certainly, this Senator will not either.

The sponsors claim the amendment simply reinforces existing law restricting Federal funding of abortion coverage. Let's be very clear: There is no taxpayer money going to a woman's reproductive choices—none—and to say otherwise is simply wrong.

The fact is, this amendment that is being considered today would strip Comprehensive Health Care and the right leave our daughters with the same hopeless lack of options their grandmothers faced, and that is not where we ought to be.

This amendment would make it virtually impossible for insurance plans in the exchange to offer abortion coverage even if a woman were to pay premiums entirely out of her own pocket. It would do so by forbidding any plan that includes abortion coverage from accepting even one subsidized customer.

This amendment is nothing more than a backdoor effort to restrict rights women already have. Would I like it? I do not and clearly stated in this legislation that a woman should have a right to choose and all aspects of her reproductive health should be available under every plan? Yes, I would. But am I willing to accept neutrality as a reason to take away the right of a woman to make that choice? That would leave our daughters with the same hopeless lack of options their grandmothers faced, and that is not where we ought to be.

This legislation this month through the exchange, there would be at least one plan that does not. That is neutrality. It is fair. Let's accept it and move on.

Under this legislation, women will keep their fundamental right to reproductive health benefits and gain other benefits.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator has spoken for 5 minutes.

Mr. MENENDEZ. That is what we should do in terms of the underlying bill. Let's vote down this amendment.

Let's not turn back the clock.

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that in lieu of Senator BAUCUS's 4 minutes, Senator CASEY take that time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Senator from Pennsylvania is recognized.

Mr. CASEY. Mr. President, I rise in support of the Nelson amendment for two reasons, and I speak for myself, not for other Members of the Senate. Obviously, I know there is a good bit of disagreement on both sides and even within both sides of the aisle.

I support this amendment for two reasons. One, I wish to make sure we ensure, through this health care legislation, the consensus we have had as part of our public policy for many years now—that taxpayer dollars don't pay for abortion. I believe we can and will get this right by the end of this debate.

The second reason I support this is, I believe it is important to respect the conscience of taxpayers, both women and men across the country, who don't want taxpayer dollars going to support abortions. If there is one or maybe two areas where both sides can agree—people who are pro-life and pro-choice—it is on these basic principles: No. 1, we don't want to take actions to increase the number of abortions in America. I think that is the prevailing view across the divide of this issue. No. 2, we also have to do more to help those women who are pregnant, and I don't believe we are doing enough. We will talk more about that later. Even as we debate this amendment, the third thing I think we can agree on is, no matter what happens on this vote—and this debate will continue, even in the context of this bill—I believe we have to pass health care legislation this year.

There are all kinds of consumer protections in this bill that will help men and women—prevention services that have never been part of our health care system before, insurance reforms to protect families and, finally, the kind of security we are going to get by passing health care legislation in America. I believe we can get this decisive issue correct in this bill. We are not there yet, but I believe we can. I believe we must pass health care legislation this month, and then, from there, get it enacted into law.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from California.

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, before we turn this over to the Republican side, I ask unanimous consent to have printed in the RECORD a letter from religious leaders who support maintaining the underlying bill and who oppose this amendment, and they are: Catholics for Choice, Disciples Justice Action Center, The Episcopal Church, Jewish Women International, Presbyterian Church Washington Office, Religious Coalition for Reproductive Choice, Union of Reform Judaism, United Church of Christ, Justice and Witness Ministries, United Methodist General Board of Church and Society, Unitarian Universalist Association of Congregations.

We are proud to have their support for our position.
There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the Record, as follows:

RELIGIOUS LEADERS SUPPORT MAINTAINING THE STATUS QUO ON ABORTION IN HEALTH CARE REFORM

The undersigned religious and religiously affiliated organizations urge the Senate to support comprehensive, quality health care reform that maintains the current Senate language on abortion services.

We believe that it is our social and moral obligation to ensure access to high quality comprehensive health care services at every stage of life, and a functional health care system in a way that guarantees affordable and accessible care for all is not simply a good idea—it is necessary for the well-being of our nation.

The passage of meaningful health reform legislation will make significant strides toward accomplishing the important goal of access to health care for all. Unfortunately, the House-passed version of health reform includes language that imposes significant new restrictions on access to abortion services. This legislation, as a result in women losing health coverage they currently have, an unfortunate contradiction to the basic guiding principle of health care reform. Providing affordable health care to all Americans is a moral imperative that unites Americans of many faith traditions. The selective withdrawal of critical health coverage from women is inconsistent with this imperative and a betrayal of the public good.

The use of this legislation to advance new restrictions on abortion services that surpass those in current law will serve only to derail this important bill. The Senate bill is already abortion neutral, an appropriate reflection of the fact that it is intended to serve the varied diverse religious and moral views. The bill includes compromise language that maintains current law, prohibiting federal funds from being used to pay for abortion services, while still allowing women the option to use their own private funds to pay for abortion care. American families should have the opportunity to use their own funds to pay for abortion care. Americans, who receive a subsidy cannot use it to buy health insurance that covers abortion. No. 3, the Federal Government cannot mandate abortion coverage by private providers or plans. Then, finally, No. 4, as has been the case for 30 years, private insurance plans may cover abortion, and individuals may purchase a plan that covers it, but taxpayer dollars cannot be in the mix to purchase that.

Compare that to what is in the current Senate bill. The government-run plan can cover abortion. Americans who receive a subsidy can use it to buy a health insurance policy that covers abortion. The Federal Government can and does mandate abortion coverage by at least one provider or plan. There is a stipulation in the current bill that requires the Health and Human Services Secretary to assure the segregation of funds, the tax credit/Federal dollars can’t be used.

But the reality is, it is akin to saying: Here, put those Federal dollars in your left pocket. When you are purchasing the abortion coverage, make sure it is your right hand that is reaching into your right pocket. How do you segregate those funds? It is impossible. What it does is to simply erase the line between taxpayer dollars and funding of abortions.

Quoting the National Right to Life: Senator Reid included in his substitute bill language that some have claimed would preserve the principles of the Hyde Amendment. Such claims are highly misleading. In reality, the Reid language explicitly authorizes direct funding of selective abortion by a Federal Government program.

Well, I feel very strongly we must ensure that Federal dollars are not used to fund abortions directly or indirectly. Health care reform, under the Reid language, has become a vehicle for changing the current law of the land regarding abortion coverage. Here is what some of my constituents have said to me, and I am quoting from a gentleman in Kearney, Nebraska:

> It is time to make sure that abortion is explicitly prohibited by any language that may be put forward.

Another Nebraskan said to me:

> I know that the pro-life issue is not the only component of the Senate bill to consider, but it is probably the most important issue of concern that I have in this bill. Abortion is not health care.

From central Nebraska I heard this:

> I'm taking a minute to send a note to say "thank you" for standing up for life. Life is precious, whether you are just conceived or over 100 years of age.

Pro-life groups across the board support this amendment—the National Right to Life, Catholic Bishops, Family Research Council, They represent millions of Americans. But the reality is, Americans support this.

In a recent CNN survey, we confirm that 6 in 10 Americans favor a ban on the use of Federal funds for abortion. A recent Washington Post poll indicates 65 percent of adults believe private insurance plans paid for with government assistance should not include coverage of abortion.

I was in McCook, NE, while back, doing a townhall meeting in August. After everybody had left, a gentleman came up to me. He told me something about that I will remember all the years I am in the Senate. First, he spoke about his faith, and then he said: I hope you understand, Senator, I cannot, under any circumstances, agree to anything that would allow my taxpayer dollars, either directly or indirectly, to fund abortions. He said: I cannot go there. He said: Please, do everything you can to stop this from happening.

Today, I stand with that gentleman from McCook, NE, to say we have to stop this.

I applaud my colleague from Nebraska, and I wish to end my comments with this. Senator Nelson stood on this issue and in a recent interview he said this:

> I have said at the end of the day, if it doesn’t have the Stupak language on abortion in it, I won’t vote to move it off the floor.

I think that is a courageous statement. I do not mind standing here and saying I am very pleased to associate myself with Senator Nelson and Senator Hatch on this important amendment.

Mr. President, how much time do I have remaining?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate has 2 minutes 45 seconds.

Mr. JOHANNS. I yield my 2 minutes 45 seconds to Senator Hatch when he speaks. I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.
Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I yield 10 minutes to the Senator from Kansas.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Kansas is recognized.

Mr. BROWNBACK. Mr. President, I appreciate this very much. It has been a healthy debate, a big debate, and it is an unusual debate because we haven't debated Hyde around here for 20 years. So this is an unusual debate we are having. Normally, we debate about abortion but not about abortion funding because there has been an agreement in this body for 33 years about that. So this is an unusual debate, but I think it is an important one.

I think it is extraneous, in many respects, to the health care bill itself. Abortion is not health care, and so why we are debating the funding of abortion in a health care bill seems odd to me. But it is in the base bill, and we need to deal with that.

A lot of people are coming forward and saying; Well, OK, which way is this; is it in the bill or not on funding for abortion? I am going to go to an independent fact checker and cite this. This is an independent research and prize-winning fact checker, PolitiFact.com, and they say our opponents' characterization of this amendment was “misleading” and that “the people who would truly pay all their premium with their own money, and who would not use Federal subsidies at all, may decide to buy coverage even without a state subsidy.”

That is an independent group, PolitiFact.com, saying this doesn't limit the ability for somebody on their own to be able to purchase abortion coverage, if they want to do that, but in the base bill, what we are saying is we don't want to put Federal funds in it as the longstanding policy has been here.

As the President himself has said when he spoke to a joint session of Congress, launching the health care debate:

One more misunderstanding I want to clear up—under our plan, no Federal dollars will be used to fund abortions, and Federal conscience laws will remain in place.

Unfortunately, in the Reid bill, this is not true. This is not true in the Reid bill. What is in the Reid bill is the so-called Capps amendment language, which allows for the Federal funding of abortion.

I wish to describe—and I think a great deal of what is in here has been described, but what is taking place is the Federal subsidization of an insurance program that will use Federal funding in it. According to most groups, that is what is taking place in the Capps language, which is in the base Reid bill.

I say this is an unusual debate that is taking place because we haven't debated Hyde for years around here. I wish to read to you what is our normal status on funding of abortions; that is, that we don't do Federal funding of abortions. I will read to you what the normal status is. The U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops, which supports this base bill but does not support funding of abortions, describes it this way:

In every major federal program where federal funds combined with nonfederal funds to support or purchase health coverage, Congress has consistently sought to ensure that the entire package of benefits excludes elective abortions. For example, the Hyde amendment governing Medicaid prevents the funding of such abortions not only using federal funds, but also using the state matching funds that combine with the federal funds to subsidize the coverage. A similar amendment excludes elective abortions from the Federal Employees Health Benefits Program, where private premiums are supplemented by a federal subsidy.

So there it is prohibited as well.

Where relevant, such provisions also specify that no Federal funds may be used to help pay the administrative expenses of a benefits package that includes abortions. Under this policy, those wishing to use state or private funds to purchase abortion coverage must do so completely separately from the plan that is purchased in whole or in part with federal financial assistance.

Here is a quick aside. That is what we are saying should be done in this bill, but it is not what is done in this bill.

Going on:

This is the policy that health care reform legislate Federal funds may be used to help pay the legal status quo on federal funding of abortion coverage. All of the five health care reform bills approved in the 111th Congress contain policies that support health care reform but do not support abortion funding, describes it this way:

This is from a group, the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops, that supports health care reform but not the abortion funding in it. They say as well that this fails in the Reid bill, that there is explicit funding for abortion in this bill.

I thank my colleagues, particularly on the other side of the aisle, Senators NELSON and CASEY, for being major co-sponsors of this amendment. They are the ones who look at this and say: I don't want this in the base bill. This should not be in the base bill. It doesn't belong in the base bill. The language should be different.

I also wish to note that most people across the country don't want this in the base bill. A majority of the country is opposed to abortion. They don't think this is the way we should go. They think it is the wrong way. But even people who support the bill itself by and large don't want Federal funding for abortion to be in this bill.

A Pew poll even showed that 46 percent of people who support health care reform want to see the radical abortion language removed, the Capps language in the Reid bill, and all pro-choice Republican and several pro-choice Democratic supported the measure in the House that would have removed the Federal funding for abortion. The American people feel this way because they know that forcing Federal funding of abortion is fiscally irresponsible and morally indefensible. Those are the two central pieces we are discussing, the fiscal responsibility or irresponsibility of this and the moral indefensibility. At a time when Federal Government being supportive and funding elective abortions flies in the face of trying to restrain or bend the cost curve down in this legislation. That is not us being fiscally responsible.

So, Mr. President, I agree this evening, but I think it is so striking. Back when we did fund for abortions, we funded about 300,000 a year. How is that extra funding going to help us be more fiscally responsible? That is why a majority of the people, pro-life and pro-choice, are saying the Federal Government should not be funding this. I don't believe that is fiscally responsible. And it is morally indefensible.

Unfortunately, in the Reid bill, this is not rare, 100,000. Why wouldn't we choose the route that says: I am not going to fund 300,000 abortions? I want abortion to be safe, legal and rare, as some people in pro-life, we are having 300,000 children who are not going to be here that we are funding the elimination of. Under anybody's definition of looking at that, they would say that is morally indefensible. The Federal Government that has long debated abortion policy, has not debated abortion funding, that is that morally indefensible for us to do something along that line.

There are many issues to debate but thankfully Hyde has not been one of them we have been debating until now. I say to my colleagues the adumbration we have had many times, whether you choose this day life or death, blessing our curve down in this legislation. That is morally indefensible. At a time when Federal Government being supportive and funding elective abortions flies in the face of trying to restrain or bend the cost curve down in this legislation. That is not us being fiscally responsible.
achieved that careful balance. Federal funds continue to be prohibited being used to pay for abortions unless the pregnancy is due to rape, incest or if the life of the mother is in danger. Health plans that choose to cover abortion must demonstrate that no tax credits or cost-sharing credits are used to pay for abortion care.

The Finance Committee adopted this solution primarily because the policy of separating Federal dollars from private dollars has been achieved in other instances and there is a precedent for that approach. Today, 17 States cover abortion beyond the Hyde limitations with State-only dollars in their Medicaid Programs. States and hospitals, which in no way want to risk their eligibility for Medicaid funding, use separate billing codes for abortions that are allowable under the Hyde amendment, and those that are not. And let me emphasize, there have never been any violations among the States in this regard. Similar approaches have also been taken with Title X family planning funds and the United Nations Population Fund. We ought to hew to current law and what we know already works.

Yet some want to prohibit women from using their own money—beyond taxpayer dollars—towards purchasing a plan in the exchange that covers abortion or limit coverage only through a supplemental policy. I have strong reservations about taking such an approach.

Under the Nelson-Hatch amendment, a woman must try to predict whether or not she will require that coverage. This is an unfair proposition. Half of all pregnancies in this country are unplanned and most women do not anticipate the necessity for abortion coverage. Furthermore, in most cases, women already have that coverage. Today, between 47 and 80 percent of private insurance plans cover abortion services. So for a middle income woman who already purchases coverage in the individual market and could now receive a subsidy, let me be clear about the effect this change would have. This would take away coverage she currently has essentially creating a two-tiered system for women who don’t have coverage through their employer and instead receive it through the exchange. That is fundamentally wrong, and is patently unfair.

And the fact is, over time, more and more individuals will receive coverage through the exchange, which means that the number of women who will confront these restrictions will grow. Not only that but this amendment threatens to reach even further than the exchange. According to a study by the George Washington University School of Public Health that reviewed the Stupak/Pitts provisions from the House—this is large enough so that Stupak/Pitts can be expected to alter the ‘default’ customs and practices that guide the health benefits industry as a whole, leading it to drop coverage in all markets in order to meet the lowest common denominator in both the exchange and expanded Medicaid markets.”

As opposed to the demonstrated evidence from States that separating Federal dollars from private dollars can not say the same about the availability of supplemental, abortion-only coverage.

In the five States that have similar prohibitions on abortion coverage to the Nelson-Hatch amendment, supplemental coverage is generally not offered—as a result of a lack of market demand for riders. And even if supplemental coverage were available, there are significant privacy concerns. If a woman opted to purchase supplemental abortion coverage, it could be inferred that she plans to obtain an abortion. Confidentiality is vital to women who are making this choice and the possibility that this information could be disclosed is both serious and disturbing. The assumption and intimidation on what should be a private matter between her family and her physician.

The fact of the matter is, whether to undergo an abortion is one of the most personal decisions a woman can ever make—and we shouldn’t ignore the real life circumstances that lead them to this choice. For some expecting mothers, tragedy strikes when a lethal fetal anomaly is discovered. Other times there may be serious health consequences to continuing a pregnancy. In these heartbreaking cases, a woman without coverage can face severe financial hardship in paying for these health costs—not to mention emotional anguish from ending a planned pregnancy.

Rather than focusing on abortion, we should concentrate on the significant obstacles women of child-bearing age face under our current health care system. And I believe we have clear victories for women in this bill. For example, maternity and newborn care is specifically included as an essential health benefit. Pregnancy is typically the most expensive health event for families during their childbearing years and there are significant consequences in a lack of coverage or even minimal coverage. Maternity coverage in the individual insurance market is difficult to find and exceedingly expensive. So we could have very clear gains in this market. Average riders alone ranged from $106 to $1,100 per month, required waiting periods of one to 2 years with either no or limited coverage during that period and capped total maximum benefits as low as $2,000 to $6,000. Yet expenditures for maternity care can be $8,000.

I am also pleased that we passed the Mikulski amendment, which I was proud to co-sponsor, that will enhance preventive services for women. This could include preconception care, where doctors counsel women on nutrition and other health interventions before they become pregnant, as well as proper prenatal care.

This is critical as mothers who receive no prenatal care have an infant mortality rate more than six times that of mothers receiving early prenatal care. Yet 20 percent of women of childbearing age are uninsured and approximately 13 percent of all pregnant women are uninsured.

This bill also at long last ends the discriminatory practice of gender rating. For years, women in this age group seeking insurance coverage have faced clear inequities compared to male. A study conducted by the National Women’s Law Center found that insurers who practice gender rating charged 25-year-old women anywhere from 6 percent to 45 percent more than 25-year-old men, and charged 40-year-old women from 4 percent to 48 percent more than 40-year-old men. These critical improvements will enhance both access and health care outcomes for women. This is precisely the direction we should be heading in... rather than imposing additional obstacles in front of women.

Throughout my tenure in Congress I have opposed Federal funding for abortion. At the same time, as a champion of women’s health, I have profound reservations about limiting coverage options for women when they are contributing private dollars. Women who are subject to an individual mandate and are contributing private dollars to the cost of their insurance should not have coverage choices dictated for them by the Federal Government. We are making decisions that will affect women on an intensely personal level and if we fail to craft the right solution, it could have serious implications for women’s health and privacy.

I appreciate the Finance Committee’s effort to navigate this difficult issue and hope we can concentrate on the task at hand—providing coverage to the 30 million uninsured Americans. In that light, I urge my colleagues to vote against the Nelson-Hatch amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. CASEY). Who yields time?

Mr. GRASSLEY. I yield such time as is remaining to the Senator from Utah.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I had a longer statement I was going to deliver this afternoon, but after listening to my colleagues speak about the Nelson-Casey-Hatch amendment, I want to take the time to refute some of the arguments they are making about our amendment.

It does not even sound as though they are talking about the same amendment I filed with Senators Nelson and Casey. Our amendment does nothing to roll back women’s rights. When my colleagues on the other side say that, they are simply mischaracterizing our amendment. Our amendment ensures that the Hyde language, a provision that has been in the HHS appropriation bills for the last 33 years, will apply to the new health care programs created through this bill. We are applying current law to these programs. That is it. The current Hyde language ensures that no Federal Government funds are used to pay for elective abortion or health plans that provide elective abortion. Today States may only offer Medicaid abortion coverage if the cost is paid for using entirely separate State funds, not State Medicaid matching funds. They cannot do that under current law. This is a longstanding policy based on a principle that the Federal Government does not want to encourage abortion.

For example, Guttmacher studies show that when abortion is not covered in Medicaid, roughly 25 percent of women in the covered population who would have otherwise had an abortion choose to carry to term. I wanted to explain why the Reid-Capps language in the Reid bill is not the Hyde language. First, the Hyde amendment prohibits funding for abortions through Medicaid and other programs funded through the HHS appropriations bill. However, the public option is not subject to further appropriation and therefore is not subject to Hyde. Directly opposite of the Hyde language, procedural tactics will be in jeopardy in the future. Any funding ban subject to annual appropriation will be in jeopardy in the future. Even if there are the votes to maintain the Hyde language, procedural tactics and veto threats could be employed and make it impossible to retain an annual ban.

Second, the Hyde amendment prohibits funding for health benefits coverage that includes coverage of abortion. This requirement ensures that the Federal Government does not encourage abortion by providing access to it. When the government subsidizes a plan, it is helping to make all of the covered services available. Federal premium subsidies authorized and appropriated in H.R. 3590 are not subject to annual appropriations and they are, therefore, not subject to the Hyde language. In contrast to the Hyde language, the Reid-Capps explicitly allow federal subsidies to pay for plans that cover abortion by applying an accounting scheme. Under the accounting scheme, the government is permitted to subsidize abortion coverage provided that funds used to reimburse for abortions are labeled “private” funds. This is an end run around the Hyde restriction on funding for plans that cover abortion.

Furthermore, under the accounting scheme, premiumholders will be forced to pay at least $12 per year as an abortion surcharge to be used for paying for abortions. The Nelson-Hatch-Casey amendment does not assert that no funds under H.R. 3590 will subsidize plans that cover abortion. However, it does nothing to prohibit individuals from purchasing separate abortion coverage or from purchasing plans that cover abortion without a Federal subsidy.

Another issue I want to raise is the impact the Nelson-Hatch-Casey amendment would have on coverage of elective abortions by private health plans. I heard some of my colleagues say that our amendment barred women from purchasing health plans with abortion coverage, even if they spend their own money. I understand there is a Politifact story with the headline “Lowey Says Stupak Amendment Restricts Abortion Coverage. Even for Those Who Pay for Their Own Plan.”

That is simply not true. Our amendment would not prohibit the ability of women to obtain elective abortions as long as they use their own money to purchase these policies. This would not preclude the use of the taxpayers of America, directly or indirectly. Our opponents will argue that it does, but if they take the time to read our amendment, they will note on page 3, line 6, that it ensures there is an option to purchase separate supplemental coverage or a plan with coverage for elective abortions. In fact, let me read it to my colleagues so we are all clear on what the language actually says. I am going to read it because I am tired of hearing some of the misrepresentations made on the floor by. I am sure, well-meaning people who are very poorly informed on this amendment. It is easy for me to see why they are poorly informed when I look at this itty-bitty bill.

My gosh, no matter how bright you are, who could know everything in this itty-bitty bill that will break the desk, if I drop it on it.

I am sorry. I shared the distinguished Senator from Iowa with this itty-bitty bill. I should have dropped it a little bit softly. I apologize.

Let me tell you what it actually says.

(2) OPTION TO PURCHASE SEPARATE SUPPLEMENTAL COVERAGE OR PLAN.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed as prohibiting any non-Federal entity (including an individual or a State or local government) from offering, purchasing separate supplemental coverage for abortions for which funding is prohibited under this subsection, or a plan that includes such abortions, so long as—

(A) such coverage or plan is paid for entirely using only funds not authorized or appropriated by this Act; and

(B) such coverage or plan is not purchased using—

(i) individual premium payments required for a qualified health plan offered through the Exchange towards which a credit is applied under section 36B of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986; or

(ii) other non-Federal funds required to receive Federal payment, including a State’s or locality’s contribution of Medicaid matching funds.

Under the Nelson-Hatch-Casey amendment, women are allowed to purchase separate supplemental coverage with their own money. I wish they would not, but we allow it. Anybody who says otherwise is misrepresenting what this amendment does. I am sure they are not intentionally misrepresenting but nevertheless misrepresenting. So have fair warning.

It is also true that our amendment allows women to purchase a health plan that includes coverage of elective abortions in addition to the supplemental abortion policy as long as they pay for it with their own money. So when those who oppose our amendment say a woman would never want to purchase abortion coverage as a separate rider, they are truly misunderstanding that our language also permits women to purchase an identical exchange plan that includes coverage of elective abortions, in addition to other health benefits. To be clear, under our amendment, a woman may purchase with her own funds either a supplemental policy that electives abortion coverage or an entire health plan that includes the coverage of elective abortions.

Today, Federal funds may not pay for elective abortion or plans that cover elective abortions. This is the fundamental component of the Hyde language. And to be clear, the Nelson-Hatch-Casey language does not prevent people purchasing their own private plans that include elective abortion coverage with private dollars.

Our amendment explicitly states that these types of policies may be offered. In other words, our amendment does not restrict these policies from being offered. The only caveat is that they may not be purchased with Federal subsidies. We want to purchase with their own money. So have fair warning. And the Reid-Capps language does not.

Let me read that section of the Nelson-Hatch-Casey amendment for my colleagues. It may be found on page 4, line 3, of the Nelson-Hatch-Casey amendment.

(3) Option To Offer Supplemental Coverage Or Plan.—

Now get this:

Nothing in this subsection shall restrict any non-Federal health insurance issuer offering a qualified health plan from offering separate supplemental coverage for abortions for which funding is prohibited under this subsection, or a plan that includes such abortions, so long as—

(A) premiums for such separate supplemental coverage or plan are paid for entirely using only funds not authorized or appropriated by this Act; and

or plan are paid for using only premiums collected for such coverage or plan; and
(C) any such non-Federal health insurance issuer that offers a qualified health plan through an exchange that includes coverage for abortions for which funding is prohibited under this subsection also offers a qualified health plan through the Exchange that is identical in every respect except that it does not cover abortions for which funding is prohibited under this subsection.

Our amendment has the support of the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops, the National Association of Evangelicals, and Americans United for Life Action.

Polls across the country indicate a majority of Americans do not want their tax dollars paying for elective abortions. According to a CNN/Opinion Research Corporation survey, 6 in 10 Americans favor a ban on the use of Federal funds for abortion. Anybody who understands that figure knows there are pro-choice people who also favor a ban on the use of Federal funds for abortion.

It also indicates that the public may also favor legislation that would prevent many women from getting their health insurance plan to cover the cost of an abortion, even if no Federal funds are involved. This poll indicates 57 percent of the nation opposes the use of public money for abortions for women who cannot afford the procedure, with 37 percent in favor of allowing the use of Federal funds.

So my question to my fellow Senators is the following: When is this Congress going to start listening to the American people, people on both sides of this issue, who do not feel that taxpayers ought to be saddled with paying for abortion through their tax dollars, or in any other way, for that matter?

I urge my colleagues to support the Nelson-Hatch-Casey amendment. Do the right thing and support our amendment, which truly protects the sanctity of life and provides conscience protections to health care providers who do not want to perform abortions. That is an important aspect of this issue, and I have waited until the last minute to say something about that issue. Why should people of conscience be forced to pay for any aspect of elective abortions? They should not. People who have deep feelings of conscience should not be forced—that includes nurses, doctors, health care providers, hospitals—they should not be forced to do this, just because of the radicalism of some people who exist in our society today, and some think the radicalism of some in this body and in the other body. It is radical to expect the American taxpayers to pay for elective abortions, especially when such a high percentage of women, according to some polls, and I think even higher—do not want to have Federal dollars used for this purpose.

I appreciate my colleagues. I appreciate what my colleagues stand for. But this is very important stuff.

I ask unanimous consent that a number of constituent letters be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

CONSTITUENT LETTERS

Senator HATCH: I am absolutely and adamantly opposed to having any of my tax dollars fund abortion directly or indirectly. I urge you in the strongest possible terms to vote against any motion to have the Senate consider any bill that does not include specific language like the Stupak Amendment.

Please let me know how you vote on the upcoming motion to proceed to consider any healthcare legislation.

Thank you.

Senator HATCH: I am extremely concerned that the majority of members of all the congressional committees that have considered healthcare legislation have refused to specifically include language that would prohibit allowing any of my tax dollars, directly or indirectly funding abortions.

I am absolutely opposed to being forced to fund abortions in any way with my tax dollars, and I urge you not to support any healthcare bill that does not specifically prevent this. I consider abortion to be the taking of innocent life and a fundamental moral issue. I do not want to be forced to support it in any way.

Thank you.

Senator HATCH: During floor debate on the health care reform bill, please support an amendment to incorporate longstanding policies against abortion funding and in favor of conscience rights. If these serious concerns are not addressed, the final bill should be opposed.

Genuine health care reform should protect the life and dignity of all people from the moment of conception until natural death.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Montana.

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senator from Nebraska be allowed to speak for up to 10 minutes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Senator from Nebraska, Mr. NELSON of Nebraska, Mr. President, I rise to discuss the bipartisan amendment which I have proposed with Senator HATCH, the Presiding Officer, and others. As my good friend and colleague from Utah has so eloquently explained, this amendment mirrors the language offered by Representative STUPAK that was accepted into the House health care bill. Our view is that it should become part of the Senate health care bill we are debating as well.

It is a fact that the issue of abortion stirs very strong emotions involving strongly held principles all across America, from those who support the procedure and those who do not. We are hearing that passion at times here on the Senate floor.

But we are not here to debate for or against abortion. This is a debate about taxpayer money. It is a debate about whether it is appropriate for public funds to, for the first time in more than three decades, cover elective abortions.

Some have claimed that the amendment restricts abortion coverage even for those who pay for their own plan. That is not true, according to politifact.com, a prize-winning, fact-checking Web site, which looked at similar claims by a House Member during House debate on the Stupak Amendment. PolitFact found, and I quote:

First, she suggests the amendment applies to everyone in the private insurance market when it just applies to those in the health care exchange. Second, her statement that the restrictions would affect women “even when they would pay premiums with their own money” is incorrect. In fact, women on the exchange who pay the premiums with their own money will be able to get abortion coverage. So we find her statement false.

The Nelson-Hatch-Casey amendment only incorporates the longstanding rules of the Hyde amendment, which Congress approved in 1976, to ensure that no Federal funds are used to pay for abortion in the legislation.

This standard now applies to Federal health programs covering such wide and broad groups as veterans, Federal employees, Native Americans, active-duty servicemembers, and others—all of whom are covered under some form of a Federal health program. And this standard applies to individuals participating in the Children’s Health Insurance Program, Medicare, Medicaid, Indian Health Services, veterans health, and military health care programs.

I wish to emphasize another point. All current Federal health programs disallow the use of Federal funds to help pay for health plans that include abortion. Our amendment only continues that established Federal policy. Some have said the Hyde amendment offers a new level of protection. That is not the case at all. The bill says the Secretary of Health and Human Services may allow elective abortion coverage in the Community Health Insurance Option—the public option—if the Secretary believes there is sufficient segregation of funds to ensure Federal tax credits are not used to purchase that portion of the coverage.

The bill would also require that at least one insurance plan that covers abortion and one that does not cover abortion be offered on every State insurance exchange.

Federal legislation establishing a public option that provides abortion coverage and Federal legislation allowing States to opt out of the public option that provides abortion coverage eases—let me repeat the word "eases"—the standards established by the Hyde amendment.

The claim that the segregation of funds accomplishes the Hyde intent falls short. Segregation of funds is an accounting gimmick. The reality is, taxpayer-supported Federal dollars would help buy insurance coverage that includes covering abortion.

I wish to offer some other points about the effect of the Nelson-Hatch-Casey amendment.

Under the amendment, no funds authorized or appropriated by the bill could be used for abortions or for benefits packages that include abortion. The amendment would prohibit the use of the affordability tax credits to purchase a health insurance policy that covers abortion. It would also prohibit Federal funding for abortion under the Community Health Insurance Option.

In addition, the amendment makes exceptions in the cases of rape or incest or in cases of danger to the mother's life.

In addition, the amendment allows an individual to use their own private funds to purchase separate supplemental insurance coverage for abortions, perhaps even what is called a rider to an existing plan.

The amendment allows an individual whose private health care coverage is not approved as a Federal insurance plan to purchase or be covered by a plan that includes elective abortions, paid for with that individual's own premium dollars.

Under the amendment, a private insurer participating in the exchange can offer a plan that includes elective abortion coverage to nonsubsidized individuals on the exchange, as long as they also offer the same plan without elective abortion coverage to those who receive Federal subsidies.

On another point, under Federal law, States are allowed to set their own policies concerning abortion. Many States oppose the use of public funds for abortion. Many States have also passed State abortion policies requiring informed consent and waiting periods, requiring parental involvement in cases where minors seek abortions, and protecting the rights of health care providers who refuse, as a matter of conscience, to assist in abortion.

But perhaps most importantly, there is no Federal law, nor is there any State law, that requires a private health plan to include abortion coverage. But the bill before us, as written, does.

As I have said, the current health care bill we are debating should not be used to open a new avenue for public funding of abortion. We should preserve the current policies, which have stood the test of time, which are supported by most Nebraskans and most Americans. The Senate bill, as proposed, goes against that majority public opinion. I think most women would prefer that this health care bill remain neutral on abortion, not chart a new course providing public funds for the procedure. Public opinion suggests so.

So does the fact that over the last 30-plus years Congress has passed new Federal laws that have not broken with precedent.

Finally, as President Obama has said, this is a health care reform bill. It is not an abortion bill. So it is time to simply extend the longstanding standard disallowing public funding of abortion to new proposed Federal legislation.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from California.

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, I yield to the Senator from California. At least indirectly it is our understanding that Senator Reid will soon come to the floor to speak.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. As soon as he comes in, I would be happy to yield.

Mr. BAUCUS. That would be my request.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Thank you. I appreciate the PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from California.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, simply put, I believe this amendment would be a harsh and unnecessary step back in health coverage for American women.

What this amendment would do, as I read it, is to prohibit any health insurance plan that accepts a single government subsidy or dollar from providing coverage for any abortion, no matter how necessary that procedure might be for a woman's health, even if she pays for the coverage herself.

The proponents of this amendment say their sole aim is to block government funds from being used to cover abortion, but the bill already does that. In the bill before us, health plans that opt to cover abortion services—in cases other than rape, incest, or when the life of the mother is at stake—must segregate the premium dollars they receive to ensure that only private dollars and not government money is used. They argue that segregating funds means nothing—you heard that—and that money is fungible. However, this method of separating funds for separate uses is used in many other areas, and there is ample precedent for the provision.

For example, charitable choice programs allow agencies that promote religious to receive Federal funds as long as these funds are segregated from religious activities. We all know that. We see it in program after program. If these organizations can successfully segregate their sources of funding, surely health insurance plans can do the same. Additionally, the National Institute of Health and Human Services must certify that the plan does not use any Federal funding for abortion coverage based on accounting standards created by the GAO.

This amendment would place an unprecedented restriction on a woman's right to use her own money to purchase health care coverage that would cover abortions. Let me give my colleagues one example. Recently, my staff met with a bright, young, married attorney who works for the Federal Government. She and her husband desperately wanted to start a family and were overjoyed to learn she was pregnant. Subsequently she learned the baby she was carrying had anencephaly, a birth defect whereby the majority of the brain does not develop. She was told the baby could not survive outside of the womb. She ended the pregnancy but received a bill of nearly $9,000. Because she was employed by the Federal Government, her insurance policy would not cover the procedure. Her physician argued that continuing the pregnancy could have resulted in “dysfunctional labor and postpartum hemorrhage, which can increase the risk for the mother.” The physician also warned that the complications could be “life threatening.”

However, OMB found that this circumstance did not meet the narrow exception in which a woman's life, not her health, is in danger. The patient was told: “The fetal anomaly presented no medical danger to you,” despite the admonitions of her physician. The best she could do was to negotiate down the cost to $3,000. This story, without question, is tragic. A very much-wanted pregnancy could not be continued and, on top of this loss, the family was left with a substantial unpaid medical bill. Health insurance is designed to protect patients from incurring catastrophic bills following a catastrophic medical event. But if this amendment passes, insured women would lose any coverage included in the underlying bill, even if she pays for it herself. Why would this body want to do that? I can’t support that.

A woman's pregnancy may also exacerbate a health condition that was previously under control, or a woman may receive a new diagnosis in the middle of her pregnancy. It happens. If this amendment passes, women in these circumstances would also learn that their insurance does not cover an abortion. In some cases, it may be unclear whether the woman's health problem triggers the strict definition of life endangerment.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. KAUFMAN). Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, there were 45,000 funerals in America this year. These funerals, 45,000 in number, stood out from all the rest. Why? They were tearful, as all funerals are. They filled our hearts with sadness and grief, as many of us know firsthand. But these 45,000 funerals were avoidable. That is why they were more tragic than most, because 45,000 times this year—nearly 900 times a week, more than 120 times each day, about every 10 minutes in America, every day, without end—someone dies as a direct result of not having health insurance.

That is a sickening number. You would have to be heartless not to be so horrified. It doesn’t just happen to those who did have health insurance but died because it was not enough to meet their most basic needs. That is what this is all about.

But it is not just about death. How many citizens in each of our States are bankrupt and broke because of a broken health care system? How many have to choose between their mother’s chemotherapy and their daughter’s college tuition? How many have to work two or three jobs to provide for a family they never have time to see, all because of an accident they had or an illness they acquired that some insurance big shot calls a pre-existing condition?

So many of these tragedies could be prevented. If our Nation truly values the sanctity of life, as I believe it does, we will do everything we can to prevent them. That is why we are pushing so hard. It doesn’t make sense for those who support health care to support tax policies that prevent millions and millions of Americans from ever reaching their goal of good health. That is why we must make sure that the health care bill we are debating allows taxpayer money to be spent on the prevention of heart attacks, strokes, and all other illnesses.

The question before us is whether public funds, for the first time in more than three decades, should cover elective abortions. Numerous public opinion polls have shown that most Americans, including those who support abortion, do not support public funds paying for abortion. But the Senate bill we are debating allows taxpayer dollars, directly and indirectly, to pay for insurance plans to cover abortion. That is out of step with the majority of Nebraskans and of all Americans.

Our amendment does not impose new restrictions on women despite what some have claimed, and I respect but strongly disagree with them. We are seeking to just apply the same standards to the Federal Health Care bill that already exist for every Federal health program.

Our amendment does not add a new restriction, but the bill does add a new relaxation of a Federal standard that has worked well for more than 30 years. Under our amendment, abortion isn’t limited, nor would people be prevented from buying insurance on the private market covering abortion with their own money.

Our amendment only ensures that where taxpayer money enters the picture, people are not required to pay for people’s abortions.

The Nelson-Hatch-Casey amendment incorporates the longstanding standard established by the Hyde amendment which Congress approved in 1976. Today it applies to every Federal health program. That includes plans that cover veterans, Federal employees, including Members of Congress, Native Americans, Active-Duty servicemembers, and a whole host of others.

Some people have called our amendment radical. Nothing could be further from the truth. It is reasonable. It is rational because it follows established Federal law. It is right. Taxpayers shouldn’t be required to pay for people’s abortions. It is just that simple.

Thank you, Mr. President. I yield the floor, and I note the absence of a quorum.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant bill clerk proceeded to call the roll. body disagree, as many citizens in the country disagree, on the issue. But divisive issues don’t have to divide us. There is value in finding common ground.

Among this institution’s immortals is Senator NELSON of Nebraska, who are pro-life, such as I am, and those who are pro-choice. One of the ways I have done this is by trying to reduce the rate and number of unintended pregnancies.

Our great country leads the world in many ways. But this area is not one in which we take much pride. The United States has one of the highest rates of unintended pregnancies among all industrialized nations, and that is an understatement. Half of all pregnancies in America—every other one—is unintended. Of those, more than half result in abortions.

I have worked to stop this problem before it starts. In 1997, Senator Olympia SNOWE and I started the first of many efforts to improve access to contraception. We said health plans should treat prescription contraception the same way it treats other prescription medications. We even passed a law that ensures that Federal employees have access to contraceptives. This proves what is possible when Senators of different backgrounds, both of good faith, work with each other rather than against each other.

In this case, a pro-life Democrat and a pro-choice Republican followed common sense and found common ground. I have always been appreciative of Senator SNOWE for her cooperation and her courage. I continue, to this day, to be grateful.

Let’s not forget that the historic bill before this body will continue those efforts. By making sure that all Americans can get good health care, we will reduce the number of unintended pregnancies at the root of this issue. That is a goal both Democrats and Republicans can agree is worthwhile.

Let’s talk about current law and this bill. In that and many other respects, this bill is a good, strong, and historic one. It is a bill that will affect the lives of every single American, and it will do so for the better. It will—as you have heard me say many times—save lives, save money, and save Medicare.

But you have also heard me say this bill deserves to go through the legislative process. That process includes amendments. It warrants additions, subtractions, and modifications, as the Senate sees fit. This is an appropriate process, one that has served this body well for more than two centuries.

The amendment before the Senate, offered by Senator NEILSON of Nebraska, would make dramatic changes in current law in America. It is worth examining what that law says, how this bill would treat it and what this amendment would require in addition and then evaluating whether it improves the overall effort.

As current law dictates, not a single taxpayer dollar—not one—can be used for abortion procedures. There are very few—but very serious—exceptions to this rule: Those are explicitly limited to cases in which the life of the mother is in danger and when the pregnancy is the result of rape or incest.

This law is the Hyde amendment. It has been on the books since the late Republican Congressman Henry Hyde wrote it in 1976. I have great respect for Henry Hyde, and I recall with fondness how this Illinois Republican Congressman came to Nevada and campaigned for me. We worked together at a time when a Republican could campaign for a Democrat and vice versa and not fear retribution and condemnation from his own party.

When we drafted the health reform bill for deliberation, we worked hard to come up with a compromise between pro-life and pro-choice Senators. On one side, there are some Senators who don’t believe abortion should be legal, let alone covered in a health plan. On the other hand, there are Senators who don’t want a woman’s access to legal abortion to depend on which health plan she could afford, and they wanted that reflected in this bill.

So legislation in pursuit of mutual concession, as Senator Clay advised, we struck a compromise. It is a compromise that recognizes people of good faith can have different beliefs, and instead of trying to settle the sensitive question of abortion rights in this bill, we found a fair middle ground.

That compromise is, we maintain current law. We are faithful to the Hyde amendment, which has been in place now for 33 years. Let me be clear. As our new insurance plans in the new marketplace we create—whether private or public—would be allowed to use taxpayer money for abortion, beyond the limits of existing law.

But we don’t stop there. The bill takes special care to keep public and private dollars separate to make sure that happens. This isn’t a new concept. It is worth noting this practice of segregating money is consistent with other essential programs that make sure the public doesn’t pay for things it shouldn’t. It is consistent with the existing Medicaid practice that gives States the option of covering abortion also at their expense. It mirrors practices already in place to separate church and State by ensuring the Federal Government gives religious organizations is not used for religious practices. So we are not reinventing the wheel.

Just as current law demands, the bill respects the conscience of both individual health care providers and health care facilities. And once again, it goes further. Our bill not only safeguards a long list of Federal laws regarding conscience protections and refusal rights, it even outlaws discrimination against those health care providers and facilities with moral and religious objections to abortion. That means if a doctor or health care worker is right to perform an abortion, he or she can say no, no questions asked. Health care facilities such as Catholic hospitals, which are the largest nongovernment, nonprofit health care providers in the country, would continue to have the right to refuse to perform abortions.

Under our bill, at least one plan that does not cover abortion services will have to be offered in each exchange so no one will be forced to enroll in a plan that covers abortion services. This is an improvement since the current marketplace does not provide a similar guarantee.

It is clear that the current bill does not expand or restrict anyone’s access to abortion. It does not force any health plans to cover abortion or prohibit them from doing so, period. Why? Because this bill is about access to health care, not access to abortions.

I have great respect for Senator BEN NELSON. His integrity and independence reflect on the Nebraskans he represents. His strong beliefs are rooted in his strong values. But he shows, better than most, that one can be steadfast without being stubborn. Senator NELSON has always been a gentleman whose consideration is the true portrait of how a Senator should conduct oneself.

I mentioned that our underlying bill leaves current law where it is. This amendment, however, does not. It goes further than the standard that has guided this country for 33 years. It would place limits not only on taxpayer money, which I support, but also on private money. Again, current law already forbids Federal funds from paying for abortions, and our bill does not weaken that rule one bit. I believe current law is sufficient, and I do not believe we need to go further. Specifically, I do not believe the Senate needs to go as far as this amendment would take us. No one should use the health care bill to expand or restrict abortion, and no one should use the issue of abortion to rob millions of the opportunity to get good health care.

This is not the right place for this debate. We have to get on with the larger issue at hand. We have to keep moving toward the finish line and cannot be distracted by detours or derailed by diversions.

Our health reform bill now before this body respects life. I started by saying I believe in the sanctity of life. But my strong belief is that value does not end when a child is born; it continues throughout the lifetime of every person.

With this bill, nearly every American will be able to afford the care they need to stay healthy or care for a loved one. It respects life.
Those who today have nowhere to turn will soon have security against what President Harry Truman called “the economic effects of sickness.” It respects life.

Those who suffer from disease, from injury, or from disability will no longer be told by insurance adjusters that they have met that they are on their own. It respects life.

It will help seniors afford every prescription drug they need so they do not have to decide which pills to skip and which pills to split. It respects life.

It will stop terrible illnesses before they start and stop Americans from dying of diseases we know how to treat. It respects life.

We will stop terrible abuses, such as insurance companies looking at earnings reports instead of your doctor’s report and charging rates that make the health we want a luxury. It respects life.

We will ensure the most vulnerable and the least prosperous among us can afford to go to a doctor when they are sick or hurt, not to the emergency room where the rest of us pick up the bill. It respects life.

This bill recognizes that health care is a human right. This bill respects life.

The issue in this amendment is not the only so-called moral issue in this debate. The ability of all Americans to afford and get the access to care they need to stay healthy is also a question of morality.

The reason I oppose abortion and the reason I support the historic bill is the same: I respect the sanctity of life.

This is a health care bill. It is not an abortion bill. We cannot afford to miss the big picture. It is bigger than any one issue. Neither this amendment nor any other should be something that overshadows the entire bill or overwhelms the entire process.

Throughout my entire public career, I voted on my conscience on the subject of abortion. As I said, that decision is based on something personal with me. My vote today will honor another principle I believe to my very core and that I will believe until my very last day on Earth: We must make it possible for every American to afford a healthy life.

I believe the compromise in our current bill and the current bill itself fully fulfill both of these moral imperatives. And I believe when we are given the trust of our neighbors, friends, relatives, the privilege to lead the opportunity to improve others’ lives, we cannot turn our backs. We cannot turn our backs on the tens of millions of Americans who have no health insurance at all—those hundreds, not hundreds, not millions but tens of millions. We cannot turn our backs on the many who do but live one accident, one illness, or one pink slip away from losing that insurance they have.

One of the most cherished charters this Nation has, drafted by one of our most beloved leaders, declared life to be the first among several of our absolute rights. Jefferson put it even before even the pursuit of happiness—life.

If we still truly value life in America—and I believe we do—if we still truly value the life of every American, we cannot turn our backs on the 14,000 of us who lose health care every single day of every week of every month of every year in this country—no weekends off, no vacations. How many of the thousands of men, women, and children who today will be kicked out in the cold will in the next year become one of the tens of thousands who die because of it? If we value the sanctity of life, as I know we do, and fix what is broken, as I know we must, we will not have to find out.

I believe in this bill and what it will do for our country for generations to come, what it will do for our constituents, my children, my grandchildren, and their children and their grandchildren. I will not support efforts to undermine this historic legislation.

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to vote in relation to the Nelson-Hatch amendment No. 2962; that regardless of the outcome of the vote with respect to that amendment, there be 2 minutes of debate prior to a vote in relation to the McCain motion to commit, equally divided and controlled in the usual form; that upon the use or yielding back of that time, the Senate proceed to vote in relation to the McCain motion to commit, equally divided and controlled in the usual form; that upon the use or yielding back of that time, the Senate proceed to vote in relation to the McCain motion to commit, equally divided and controlled in the usual form; that upon the use or yielding back of that time, the Senate proceed to vote in relation to the McCain motion to commit, equally divided and controlled in the usual form.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The motion to lay on the table was agreed to. Mrs. BOXER. I move to reconsider the motion to lay on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, there will be 2 minutes of debate equally divided prior to a vote in relation to the motion to commit offered by Senator from Arizona.

Who yields time? The Senator from Montana.

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, the McCain motion to commit on Medicare Advantage would keep overpayments in the Medicare Advantage program, even though the Medicare Payment Advisory Commission recommends that they be eliminated.

The McCain motion to commit is a tax on all seniors. It would maintain the overpayments to private insurers and require beneficiaries to pay higher Part B premiums. The average couple pays $90 per year just so insurers can reap greater profits under Medicare.

The McCain amendment is a raid on the Medicare trust fund. MA overpayments take 18 months off the life of the Part A trust fund. And according to MedPAC, there is no evidence of greater quality of care. In fact, MedPAC told Congress this year that “only some” MA plans are of high quality. MedPAC finds that “only half of beneficiaries nationwide have access to a plan that Medicare rates above average on overall plan quality.”

The more than 45 million seniors with Medicare deserve better. They do not deserve to subsidize high profits of private insurers. And the more than 11 million Medicare beneficiaries who choose to enroll in private plans also deserve better. They deserve plans that coordinate care. Most plans today do not. They deserve plans that are of high quality. Many plans today do not.

If Senators want to help beneficiaries, they will vote to eliminate overpayments under Medicare Advantage. And they should vote against the McCain motion.
The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Arizona.

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, this amendment is about an earmark. It is about a special deal cut for a special group of people who happen to reside in the State of Florida. I am never so presump-tuous as to think that too many votes trying to eliminate earmarks. But what I am trying to do is allow every American citizen who is enrolled in Medicare Advantage to have the same protection of their Medicare Advantage Program as the Senator from Florida has carved out in this bill. That is all it is about. It is about equality. It is about not letting one special group of people who reside in a particular State get a better deal than those who live in the rest of the country. That is all this amendment is about.

It will probably be voted down on a party-line vote. But what you have done is you have allowed a carve-out for a few hundred thousand people in the State of Florida and have dis-allowed the other 11 million who have Medicare Advantage from having their health care cut. That is what this is all about.

Mr. BOND. I ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second?

There is a sufficient second.

The question is on agreeing to the motion.

The clerk will call the roll.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Senator from Texas.

Mr. DURBIN. I announce that the Senator from West Virginia (Mr. BYRD) is necessarily absent.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any other Senators in the Chamber desiring to vote?

The result was announced—yeas 42, nays 57, as follows:

[Rollcall Vote No. 370 Leg.]

YEAS—42

NAYS—57

The PRESIDING OFFICER. On this vote, the yeas are 42, the nays are 57. Under the previous order requiring 60 votes for adoption of the motion, the motion is withdrawn.

Mrs. HUTCHISON addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mrs. SHAHEEN). The Senator from Texas.

Mr. DURBIN. Madam President, will the Senator from Texas yield for a presentation on the Senate from Texas that I be recognized to offer an amendment, and following that Senator CRAPO be recognized to offer an amendment, and Senator CRAPO, I believe, wishes to speak 2 or 3 minutes, and following that I would then be recognized as well for a presentation on the amendment I have offered, and follow- ing my presentation, the Senator from Minnesota, Ms. KLOBUCHAR, would be recognized, and Senator KAUFMAN would be recognized as part of the colloquy with Senator KLOBUCHAR.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Senator from Texas.

Mrs. HUTCHISON. Madam President, we have spent the last few days high-lighting how this health care reform bill is paid for by cutting benefits to seniors, jeopardizing their access to care. Almost $500 billion will be cut from the Medicare Program.

But this bill also imposes $5 trillion in new taxes. These are taxes that hit every American and virtually every health care business or related business in the country.

During an economic downturn, this approach is counterintuitive. These taxes will discourage investment and hiring. We are in one of the worst eco-nomic downturns in the history of our country. We do not need to tell any-body that. We are all feeling it. We know people who are suffering right now.

I look at what has been done in the past when we have had economic down-turns, and I look at President Kennedy, President Reagan, President Bush. They lowered taxes. What happened? The economy was spurred. Lower taxes have proven to spur the economy. Yet imposing taxes and fines are worse, the tax is not indexed, so it is a huge marriage penalty, and it could begin then to go down in numbers so that more and more people are af-fected.

Medicare payroll tax: This is the new payroll tax that is imposed on individ-uals making more than $200,000 and couples making more than $250,000. This tax raises another $42 billion. This additional payroll tax is a mar riage penalty. It is not indexed to inflation, meaning it is another AMT in the making because today, that may sound high—$200,000 and $250,000—it is a huge marriage penalty, and it could begin then to go down in numbers so that more and more people are af-fected.

This body voted unanimously during the budget debate—unanimously—that a point of order would be made against legislation that would impose a mar riage penalty in the budget. So we have voted unanimously that a budget point of order would stand if there is a mar riage penalty in the bill. Now here we are a few months later, and the majority is not only retracting from the opposition to the marriage penalty, but we now have for the first time in our Tax Code—or will when this bill passes—a pay-roll tax marriage penalty. How on Earth can we do that?

I am going to fight this marriage penalty, and I hope the Senate will vote against this concept. It is a new precedent that could be set in other areas that would say if you get married, you are going to get fewer bene-fits than if you are single. That is not a precedent we ought to be setting.

Then there is the medical deduction cap. There is a change in our Tax Code that would limit the itemized deduction for medical expenses. We have always had one that said if your medical expenses go above 7.5 percent of your income, you can deduct anything above that. This bill increases that threshold to 10 percent so that if you are going to get deductions—and this is going to affect people who have catastrophic accidents, really, not small bills of alleviating health conditions, or very, very expensive medicine—if you go above 7.5 percent today, you would be able to deduct. But in this bill, it is going to be 10 percent of your income before the government is going to allow you to deduct these added expenses.

Then there is the drug, device, and insurance company taxes: $60 billion in taxes assessed to insurance companies, $22 billion because the costs are going up manufacturers, and $20 billion on medical device manufacturers. The experts have said, all of the economists have said these taxes will be paid by the public. Of course they are going to be passed on to premiums for every insurance policy that is already there, and higher prices for medications and medical equipment.

So medications you take for diabetes or heart disease, medications or medical devices that you need to fight cancer would all become more expensive because every one of them would have a higher cost because the company is going to pay an added fee just for producing these medicines and equipment. So many families today are struggling with their medical bills. They are struggling to fill prescriptions. Why aren't we bringing costs down? Isn't medical cost part of the reason for reform? Why is that? Wasn't the point of reform to bring the costs down so more people would have affordable options for health care coverage? What happened to that? All of these taxes on individuals and businesses are going to drive prices and costs up.

In closing, the bill before us imposes 5% trillion in new taxes at a time when unemployment is soaring and our economy is struggling. We have 5% trillion in cuts to Medicare which is going to severely hurt our senior citizens and their access to health care, and then 5% trillion in tax increases, tax aging, taxing Tylenol, taxing high-benefit plans, taxing low-benefit plans, taxes on employee health care coverage, and taxes if you offer not quite enough. This is a tax-and-spend bill.

Republicans have repeatedly put forward ideas that would reform our health system, bring the costs down without burdening our employers with more taxes that would keep them from helping our economy by hiring more people; ideas that would increase competition and transparency and ensure access to affordable care.

So I hope while our colleagues are meeting to try to get their 60 votes—which we know they are—that maybe they might consider bringing everybody into this process and listening to other ideas that would not be a government takeover of our health care system; that would not be more government mandates, more taxes, cuts from Medicare; this is a recipe for a disaster for our country, and I hope it is too late for the Democratic majority to say: OK, let's get together and try to put together a bipartisan plan that will not hurt the quality of health care that we know and expected in our country, one that will bring costs down and make health care more affordable, one that will give carrots to our employers not sticks that will switch them if they don't have the right kind of coverage or the government-approved coverage or the right percentage of coverage.

We can do better and I hope we will. Thank you, Madam President. I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from North Dakota.

AMENDMENT NO. 2786, AS MODIFIED, TO AMENDMENT NO. 2786

(Purpose: to provide for the importation of Medicare-approved coverage; and to increase the threshold for income from which the itemized deduction for medical expenses is allowed.)

Mr. DORGAN. Madam President, I call up amendment No. 2793, as modified, and ask for its immediate consideration.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill clerk will report.

The Senator from North Dakota (Mr. DORGAN), for himself, Ms. SNOWE, Mr. GRASSLEY, Mr. McCAIN, Ms. STABENOW, Ms. KLOBUCHAR, Mr. BROWN, Mrs. SHELKEN, Mr. VITTER, Mr. KOHL, Mr. LEAHY, Mr. FEINGOLD, and Mr. NELSON of Florida, proposes an amendment numbered 2793 to amendment No. 2786, as modified.

Mr. DORGAN. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the reading of the amendment be dispensed with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

(The amendment is printed in today's RECORD under "Text of Amendments.")

Mr. DORGAN. Madam President, my understanding is that the Senator from Idaho is to be recognized next for laying down an amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Idaho.

MOTION TO COMMIT

Mr. CRAPO. Madam President, I have a motion at the desk which I wish to call up and ask for its immediate consideration.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill clerk will report.

The bill clerk read as follows:

The Senator from Idaho (Mr. CRAPO) moves to commit the bill H.R. 3590 to the Committee on Finance with instructions to report the same back to the Senate with changes that: all provisions of this Act shall result in an increase in Federal tax liability for individuals with adjusted gross income of less than $220,000 and married individuals with adjusted gross income of less than $250,000.

Mr. CRAPO. Thank you, Madam President.

As the motion which has just been read clearly states, this motion would be to commit this bill to the Finance Committee for the Finance Committee to do one simple thing, and that is to make the bill conform to President Obama's pledge to the American people about health care reform and who would pay for health care reform.

In a speech he has given in a number of different places, President Obama has very clearly stated:

I can make a firm pledge . . . no family making less than $250,000 will see their taxes increase . . . not your income taxes, not your payroll taxes, not any of your taxes. You will not see any of your taxes increase one single dime.

All this motion does is to commit this bill to the Finance Committee to have the Finance Committee assure that its provisions comply with this pledge.

Now, why would we want to do that? I think most Americans are very aware today that this bill comes at a huge price. There are $2.5 trillion of new Federal spending, $2.5 trillion of new Federal spending that is offset, if you will, by about $500 billion worth of cuts in Medicare and $493 billion worth of cuts in the first 10 years are tax increases, $1.3 trillion of tax increases in the first real 10 years of the full implementation of the bill. There is no question but that much of the tax increase that is included in this bill to pay for this massive increase in Federal spending will come squarely in the United States who make less than $250,000 as a family or less than $200,000 as individuals.

So all we need to do is to go through this bill to see that by the analysis we have made so far, it appears that at least 42 million households in America will pay a portion of this $1.2 trillion in new taxes, people who are under these income levels to whom President Obama made the pledge.

I will have a greater opportunity tomorrow to discuss this motion in more detail. Tonight I just had a few minutes to make the introduction and to call up the motion, and we will then get into a fuller discussion on how this bill provides a heavy tax burden on the middle class of this country in direct violation of the President's pledge.

So as I conclude, I would simply say this is a very simple amendment. We can debate about whether the bill does or does not increase taxes—I think that is absolutely clear—on those in the middle class. But all the motion would do is to commit this bill to the Finance Committee to have the Finance Committee make the bill comport with the President's pledge.

I will conclude by just reading his pledge one more time. The President, in his words, said:

I can make a firm pledge . . . no family making less than $250,000 will see their taxes increase . . . not your income taxes, not your payroll taxes, not any of your taxes. You will not see any of your taxes increase one single dime.
That is what this motion accomplishes.

With that, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from North Dakota.

Mr. Assistant Sergeant at Arms, the amendment I have offered with many colleagues—over 30 colleagues, Republicans and Democrats, a bipartisan legislation—deals with the issue of prescription drugs; specifically, the importation of FDA-approved drugs that the American people would be able to access for a fraction of the price they are charged in this country.

The American people are paying the highest prices in the world for brand-name prescription drugs.

It is not even close. Let me just show the first chart. I have many. I will show the first one to describe what brings me to the floor of the Senate.

That is what the Lipitor. There are so many people who take Lipitor that they probably ought to put it in the water supply—the most popular cholesterol-lowering drug in America, perhaps in the world. Here is what the American people pay for an equivalence quantity: $125. The same quantity costs $40 in Britain, $32 in Spain, $63 in the Netherlands, $48 in Germany, $53 in France, and $35 in Canada. Once again, it is $125 to the American consumer.

Here are the two bottles for Lipitor. It is made in Ireland by an American company and then sent around the world. This happened to go to Canada, and this went to the United States. It is the same company, made at the same manufacturing plant, and it is FDA approved.

Difference? The American consumer gets to pay three to four times higher cost. Fair? Not for me.

That is what this amendment is about. This amendment is about freedom, giving the American people the freedom in the global economy to buy the same FDA-approved drug from those countries that have an identical chain of custody as we do in this country, so an FDA-approved drug sold for a fraction of the price—why should we prevent the American people from being able to exercise and see the same savings every other consumer in the world sees?

Let me see whether anybody recognizes this. Prescription drugs are a significant part of our lives. We are bombarded with ads every single day. Let me show a demonstration of the push to increase the consumption of prescription drugs at the highest brand-name prices in the world.

On television, Sally Field says to us—and I have seen it many mornings when I am brushing my teeth—she says this:

I always thought calcium, vitamin D, and exercise would keep my bones healthy. But I got osteoporosis anyway, so my doctor started me on Boniva. And he told me something important: Boniva works with your body to help stop and reverse bone loss.

My test results proved I was able to stop and reverse my bone loss with Boniva. And he told me something important: Boniva works with your body to help stop and reverse bone loss.

Your body to help stop and reverse bone loss. And he told me something important: Boniva works with your body to help stop and reverse bone loss. Your body to help stop and reverse bone loss.

Some of the makers of the most prescribed name in sleep medicine comes controlled release Ambien CR. It is the only one with two layers of sleep relief. Ambien CR is a treatment you and your doctor can consider along with lifestyle changes and can be taken for as long as your health care provider recommends.

So ask your provider about Ambien CR, for a good night’s sleep from start to finish.

Here is another one:

Does your restless mind keep you from sleeping? Do you wake exhausted? Well, maybe it’s time to ask whether Lunesta is right for you.

For a limited time, you’re invited to take the 7-night Lunesta challenge. Ask your doctor how to get 7 nights of Lunesta free and see if it’s the sleep aid you’ve been looking for.

Here is another one:

They’re running the men’s room chair, with lots of guys going over and over. And here’s the dash to the men’s room with lots of guys going urgently. Then there’s a night game waking up to go.

These guys should be in a race to see their doctors. Those symptoms could be signs of BPH or enlarged bladder. Ask your doctor how to get 7 nights of Lunesta free and see if it’s the sleep aid you’ve been looking for.

Here is another one:

They produce all of this demand with dramatic amounts of marketing, promotion, and advertising, and then you jack up the price and keep it up. The question is, Who can afford these prescription drugs? Who can afford them?

So that is what brings me to the floor of the Senate. It is because when the American people are charged the highest prices for brand-name drugs—and this year, it goes up close to 10 percent once again in price—at a time when we have almost no inflation, isn’t that pricing prescription drugs out of the reach of too many Americans?

We are now talking about health care reform. There is nothing in any of this legislation in the House or the Senate that addresses the steep and relentless price increases on prescription drugs. There is nothing in any of this legislation that does that.

The question is, Shouldn’t we be addressing this as well?

I talked about Lipitor. Let me show you Plavix. Do you see the U.S. price? The U.S. consumer pays the highest prices in the world.

Here is Nexium. If you want to buy that, you got to pay $241 in the United States, and it is $36 in England, $33 in Spain, and $83 in Germany. The question is this: If Nexium is an FDA-approved drug—and it is—made in plants approved by our FDA—and it is—why should an American citizen not be able to access this drug from here, from here, and from here? It is because the pharmaceutical industry doesn’t want them to. They have had enough friends here to keep in place a law that prevents the American people from reimporting these drugs.

I don’t mean to make light or fun of all of it. Prescription drugs are important in people’s lives. I understand that. But you know what, you can only get a prescription drug if your doctor prescribes it and believes you need it. These advertisements are telling people sitting at home watching a television program tonight that you need to get up and go talk to your doctor and see if you don’t need some of these pills. It is trying to create consumer demand for something you can get only because a doctor believes you should have it.

Well, that is where we are now with prescription drugs in our country. A lot of people are taking prescription drugs. A lot of these drugs are miracle drugs, that they allow people to stay out of a hospital. They don’t have to be in an acute-care hospital bed if they manage the disease—whether it is high blood pressure, high cholesterol—with medicine. That is good, and I understand that. But this consumer demand-driven urge for prescription drugs is pretty unbelievable. Go talk to a doctor and ask that doctor what happens every single day in the doctor’s office. Somebody is coming in and saying: I wonder if I shouldn’t be taking some of this medicine. I read about it or saw the advertisement about this. I wonder if I shouldn’t be taking some of it. It is quite a deal.

You produce all of this demand with dramatic amounts of marketing, promotion, and advertising, and then you jack up the price and keep it up. The question is, Who can afford these prescription drugs? Who can afford them?

So that is what brings me to the floor of the Senate. It is because when the American people are charged the highest prices for brand-name drugs—and this year, it goes up close to 10 percent once again in price—at a time when we have almost no inflation, isn’t that pricing prescription drugs out of the reach of too many Americans?
FDA-approved drugs where they are sold at a fraction of the price.

Madam President, there is a lot to talk about, and I will describe a number of circumstances that have brought us to this point.

This is the place for this amendment—not some other place; this is the place. It is about health care. We have been told over and over again that our problem is that health care is consuming too large a portion of the GDP of this country—roughly 17 percent. I believe. All right, part of health care—not the largest part but one of the fastest growing parts is prescription drugs.

So if the issue is that health care is rising in cost relentlessly and consuming too large a portion of our GDP because we spend much more on health care than anybody else in the world by far—it is not even close—if that is the case and if one of the fastest rising areas of health care is drug costs, then why would legislation that leaves this Chamber unimproved? Do you not think we should not have something in this legislation that addresses these unbelievable price increases for prescription drugs? How is it that we would allow that to happen? I don’t know how we got to this point with prescription drugs in the bill, but I aim to try to put it in.

I understand, by the way, that there is tremendous pushback by the pharmaceutical industry. If I had the sweet-heart deal they have, I would fight to the finish to try to keep it. I understand that.

By the way, let me just say, as I have always said and nobody hears it very much—certainly the pharmaceutical industry will never hear this—that some of the things the pharmaceutical industry does for this country are laudable. I say, good for you. They talk about the prescription drugs they produce. Good for them. A substantial portion of that comes from research we have paid for at the National Institutes of Health with taxpayer funds. But that doesn’t matter to me. That information ought to be available to the pharmaceutical industry—and it is—so they can produce these new miracle drugs. I commend them.

My beef is not that they produce pharmaceutical drugs that help people. I am all for that. My beef is the way they price those drugs, saying to the American people: You will pay the highest prices in the world, and there is nothing you can do about it. It is their pricing policy. It is just not fair.

How many in this Chamber have visited with somebody at a town meeting someplace—I have—and they come up to you—in this case, an elderly woman who was close to 80 touched me gently on the elbow and said, “Senator Don- gan, can you help me?” She was talking about how many prescription drugs she had to take, how little money she had to pay for prescription drugs. How many people have said to you: Yes, I take the drugs my doctor asks me to take, but I cut them in half because I cannot afford the whole dose. We have all heard that. So the question is, Are we going to do something about it?

This is a chart that shows price increases in 2009. Enbrel, for arthritis, is up 12 percent. Singularl, for asthma, is up 12 percent. Boniva is up 18 percent. Nexium is up 7 percent. I want to talk about the issue of drug prices versus inflation. This chart shows what has happened to the price of prescription drugs, the red line, and the inflation rate in this country, the yellow line. It describes why it is urgent that we do something, why we cannot allow a health reform bill to leave this Chamber and do nothing about the issue of prescription drugs. We must at least address this question of whether the American people should not have the freedom to access these drugs being sold here for a fraction of the price elsewhere for a fraction of the price.

This year, there was a 9.3-percent increase in brand-name prescription drug prices, at a time when inflation is going down. We have had deflation. That is not normal.

Madam President, I know we are going to have a lot of debate here in the Chamber about a lot of things. I will describe tomorrow morning, when I speak, that 40 percent of the active ingredients in U.S. prescription drugs currently come from India and China. And they are worried about somebody from Sioux Falls, SD, buying prescription drugs from Winnipeg. Are you kidding me? Again, 40 percent of the active ingredients in U.S. prescription drugs currently come from India and China. In most cases, the places those active ingredients come from have never been inspected.

I will talk about that, but I am not going to go into that tonight. I will talk about a number of issues related to drug safety of the existing drug supply and how what we have included in this legislation with respect to pedigree, batch lots and track and trace will dramatically improve the existing drug supply in our country and make certain we prevent safety problems coming from the importation of drugs.

I am going to speak about this at some length tomorrow. But I just received a letter from the head of the FDA, Margaret Hamburg, who raises some questions about the amendment. I am not going to read the letter into the RECORD. I will talk more about it tomorrow. I must say, I am in some ways surprised by the letter and in some ways not surprised at all. Surprised, because this administration, President Obama, was a cosponsor of this legislation last year in the Senate—a cosponsor of my legislation. He was part of a bipartisan group that believed the American people ought to have this right and believed we could put together a piece of legislation that has sufficient safety capabilities and, in fact, dramatically enhances the safety of our existing drug supply.

I am going to show tomorrow that the existing drug supply has all kinds of issues. I will show batch lots of expired drugs that have gone through strip joints, in the back room in coolers, and distributed out of strip joints. I am going to talk about that. But, first, I wish to say I was surprised to get this letter because both the President and the Chief of Staff at the White House, Rahm Emanuel, were a cosponsor and a leader in the House for re-importation of prescription drugs.

I called the head of the FDA yesterday afternoon about this time and said: I have heard rumors that there was a letter coming to Capitol Hill on this issue. She told me she was not aware of such a letter. Twenty-four hours later, apparently she is aware of that letter because she signed it. I am interested in where it was written, but that is another subject I will save for tomorrow as well.

We will be told, as we have been so often, that if you allow the American people to buy prescription drugs that are FDA approved from elsewhere, it will somehow unbalance the system. The implication is, we are not smart enough and we are not capable enough of putting together a system that the Europeans have had together for 20 years.

In Europe, they do this routinely. For 20 years, they have had something called parallel trading. You are in Germany and want to buy a prescription drug from Spain? No problem. You are in Italy and want to buy a prescription drug from France? No problem. They have a specific parallel trading system, and it works and works well.

I am going to describe, in the words of someone who has been involved in that system for many years, that the Europeans can do, have done it, do it today with no problems. I will talk about how people saying they can do it, they are smart enough, they are capable enough, but we are not? Give me a break. That makes no sense to me at all. Of course, we can do this.

It is just that those who do not want to do it have decided this current “deal,” which allows the pharmaceutical industry to price as they wish in this country and make certain the American people cannot do anything to go out elsewhere for a fraction of the price. It is not fair to me. It does not make any sense to me.

I know some will view this as just an attack on the pharmaceutical industry. It is not intended to be that. As I said, I don’t have a grievance against that industry at all. But the problem I have is the way they price their product, and I think it is not fair to the American people.
We are dealing with health care, which is a big issue and an unbelievably controversial issue. This is one piece of it—not even the biggest piece—but it is an important piece.

I have a lot to say tomorrow morning, and will talk substantial time. I know there are others who want to speak tonight. I wish to say this. I have watched and listened in this Chamber now for some while. I have not spoken a lot on health care. I have been pretty distressed about some of what has been said in this Chamber. I have been particularly distressed about the television ads that have been running that are unbelievably dishonest with respect to the facts. The first amendment allows all that. I would be the last to suggest we ought to alter the first amendment.

This is a great country in which we live. Over the last century, for example, we have made a lot of changes, and in most every case—in most every single case of those changes have been unbelievably painful.

I think of the Presiding Officer and think of the period in which the women in this country wanted the right to vote and were taken to the Occoquan Prison. Lucy Byrne and Alice Paul, they nearly choked to death one of them; the other hung with a chain from a prison door all night long with blood running down her arms. Why? Because they wanted the right to vote. Think of the pain of that.

Now we look back and say: How could anybody have decided we are all Americans except women do not have full participation because they cannot vote? Think of that. You can go right up the line. Social Security: a Communist socialist plot. Medicare: What are you thinking about? A takeover of health care for senior citizens.

I bet there is not—I was going to say I bet there is not one. I shouldn’t say that. There are not more than two or three people in this Chamber, if we said: Let’s get rid of Medicare, who would say: Yes, let’s do that. Almost everybody believes that providing health care for senior citizens was the right thing to do.

There were no insurance companies in the fifties and early sixties that said: Here is our business strategy. Our business strategy is to go look for old people and see if we can’t sell them health care. Because we think that would be a very good deal. They were not doing that. They would not even make health insurance available to a lot of old folks because they knew, somewhere toward the end of their lives, they were going to need a lot of health care. One-half of the senior citizens in America had no access to health care. Think of that—lie down on your pillow at night frightened that tomorrow might be the day you have this dreaded disease and you have no coverage, so you have to go to a hospital. It is unbelievable.

So some people in this Chamber said: Let’s do Medicare. Man, that was radical. People said: Socialist plot, government takeover. But we did it. I was not here. They did it—God bless the ones who did it—and it enriched this country, to say all those who lived their lives and built the roads and built the schools and built the communities and put all the things together for us. You are not going to have to lay awake at night frightened about your health care; we are going to provide health care for you.

All these issues have been difficult, draining, wrenching issues, and they have all provoked great criticism and great anger, in many cases. This issue of health care brought to the floor of the Senate—I, perhaps, would have a different view of what is the priority. I have spent most of my time saying: The economic engine, restart the engine, get people back to work. But that does not mean health care is not important. It is. Health care continues to gobble up more and more of this country’s economy. At some point, somebody has to say: How do we stop that?

If we are spending much more than anybody else, how do we fix this? That is what this is about. It is going to take some courage to do it. One piece of it—not even the biggest piece—Republicans and Democrats—but that does not mean health care is not important. It is. It is about giving the American consumer the freedom that the global economy should offer everybody. The big shots got it. The big interests can do it. How about the American people?

We are not asking for anything other than fair pricing. How do you get it? My goal is not to ask the American people to accept drugs overseas. My goal is to say, if we allow the American people the freedom to do that, the pharmaceutical industry will be required to reprice their drugs in this country. It is as simple as that.

I know others wish to speak. As I said, I have a lot to say tomorrow. I am going to go home kind of upset about this letter today from the FDA, which is, in my judgment, completely bogus. I will read it tomorrow. I am not surprised by this. I heard rumors about it.

Tomorrow my hope is with my colleagues—Republicans and Democrats—we will pass this legislation at last, at long last. Many of us have been working on this issue 6, 8, 10 years. We will pass this legislation. Why? Because this is the place for it. This is the bill that should be amended. This is the time to do this. We cannot walk out of this Chamber and say something happened in that Chamber to deal with this. I say to all theARTGRASSLEY, who is on the floor, Senator McCain, who spent a lot of time on this issue—Republicans and Democrats have come together.

By the way, this has not happened very often on this bill. But this is a bipartisan bill with Republicans and Democrats pulling their oars together to try to get this done.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Iowa.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Madam President, before the Senator from North Dakota left and before I speak on another issue, I wish to tell him I am going to speak in support of his amendment. But I would like to ask him a question now, if he will answer it for me—a friendly question, but it is something I don’t know absolutely for sure, but I believe that pharmaceuticals are about the only thing a consumer in the United States cannot buy anywhere in the world that they want to buy. We ought to give them that right we do on everything else. There may be some other items I am not aware of, but I think it is only pharmaceuticals that you cannot import from wherever you want to buy them.

Mr. DORGAN. Madam President, I say to the Senator from Iowa, that Cohiba cigars from Cuba, I reckon. We have a special embargo with respect to Cuba. With that exception, I don’t think there is a legal product the American consumer cannot access anywhere else in the world.

This is about giving the American consumer the freedom that the global economy should offer everybody. The big shots got it. The big interests can do it. How about the American people having the opportunity to shop around the world for the same product and pay a fraction of the price of the charges that are imposed on them in the United States.

Mr. GRASSLEY. I thank the Senator from North Dakota.

I would like to talk about a recent news—

Ms. KLOBUCHAR. Madam President, we had a unanimous consent agreement. I am trying to figure out the order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the next speaker is to be the Senator from Minnesota, followed by the Senator from Delaware.

Mr. GRASSLEY. I am going to ask unanimous consent to speak now, if I may.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?
Mr. KAUFMAN. Will the Senator yield for a question? How long will the Senator be?

Mr. GRASSLEY. Fifteen minutes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Minnesota.

Ms. KLOBUCHAR. Madam President, I believe our speeches are 10 minutes long. If the Senator from Iowa could wait for 10 minutes, then we will be able to complete our speeches, as recognized by the Chair.

Mr. GRASSLEY. I will let the Senators speak, and I will speak tomorrow because I have to go to a meeting. I will let the unanimous consent agreement stand.

Ms. KLOBUCHAR. I was not aware the Senator from Iowa had to leave. If he can keep it to 10 minutes, that would be helpful.

Mr. GRASSLEY. I cannot keep it to 10 minutes, and I cannot shorten it. So I will let the unanimous consent agreement stand.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Delaware.

Mr. KAUFMAN. Madam President, the Senator from Minnesota and I are going to engage in a colloquy.

We are going to talk about health care fraud enforcement. It is no secret fraud enforcement. It is no secret health care fraud generates one of the fastest growing types of fraud criminals have already been felt. We are always on the lookout for new ways coming in after the fact and putting out the fire. That is not what we want to do. We owe it to our constituents to be proactive, to seek out and to solve problems on the horizon so that financial disasters can be averted.

In the midst of the debate concerning comprehensive health care reform, we must be proactive in combating health care fraud and abuse. Each year, criminals exploit health care pre-existing conditions. The way we protect that investment, and the way we make sure the funds are there to help people, is by doing things such as increasing the tools we need to prosecute these kinds of cases.

These criminals scheme the system to rob the American taxpayers of money that should be used to provide health care to those who need it most. We must put a stop to this, and we are doing that with this amendment. It provides straightforward but critical improvements to the Federal sentencing guidelines, to health care fraud statutes, to forfeiture, money laundering, and obstruction statutes, all of which would strengthen prosecutors' ability to combat health care fraud.

As a former prosecutor, I can tell you that when we had these types of cases, we used every tool you could use to put someone to jail. Every tool you could use to make sure you got the maximum sentence so a message would be sent not just to that particular criminal but to other white collar offenders who thought this might be a quick way to make a buck. They need to hear they can be caught and they will go to jail.

I know Senator KAUFMAN has worked on this and is taking a lead, and perhaps he can provide the details on this amendment.

Mr. KAUFMAN. Sure. This amendment directs a significant increase in the Federal sentencing guidelines for large-scale health care fraud offenses. It is incredible that despite enormous losses in many health care fraud cases, analysis from the U.S. Sentencing Commission suggests that health care fraud offenders often receive—and I know this is hard to believe—shorter sentences than other white collar offenders in cases with similar loss amounts. For some reason, people think health care fraud is kind of okay. Ms. KLOBUCHAR. If people knew this, they would be shocked. In health care fraud, you are taking money from people who need it most—when they are at the hospital—and yet they would have shorter sentences than other white collar offenders in cases with similar loss amounts.

Mr. KAUFMAN. There is data to show that criminals are drawn to health care fraud, when they are sitting around deciding what kind of fraud they are going to do, because the risk-to-reward ratio is so much lower. These sophisticated criminals are not exposed to the fact that these offenders are punished not only commensurate with the costs they impose on our health care system but also at a level that will offer real deterrence. People have got to understand they can't go out and commit health care fraud.

There are so many different ways it can be presented; that if in fact they do want to do this, they have got to understand that the risk-to-reward ratio is just not worth it.
it, they are going to get real time for the crime. As a result, our amendment directs changes to the sentencing guidelines that, as a practical matter, amount to sentence increases of between 20 and 50 percent for health care fraud convictions over $1 million.

Ms. KLOBUCHAR. The other thing that is great about this amendment is it updates the definition of "health care fraud offense" in the Federal criminal code so it includes violations of the anti-kickback statute, the Food and Drug and Cosmetic Act, and certain provisions of ERISA. These changes will allow the full array of law enforcement tools to be used against all health care fraud.

The amendment also provides the Department of Justice with subpoena authority for investigations conducted pursuant to the Civil Rights for Institutionalized Persons Act—also known as CRIPA. Under current law, the Department of Justice must rely upon the cooperation of the nursing homes, mental health institutions, facilities for persons with disabilities, and residential schools for children with disabilities that are the target of these CRIPA investigations. While such targets do not, and the current lack of subpoena authority puts vulnerable victims at needless risk.

Finally, in addition to the very important piece of this amendment that Senator KAUFMAN has pointed out, where we are actually increasing the ability to get better criminal penalties—the amendment corrects an apparent drafting error by providing that obstruction of criminal investigations involving administrative subpoenas under HIPAA—the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996—should be treated in the same manner as obstruction of criminal investigations involving grand jury subpoenas.

Senator KAUFMAN and I also plan to file an additional health care fraud amendment that would require direct depositing of all payments made to providers under Medicare and Medicaid. This amendment is incredibly important because the Medicare regulations already require direct depositing or electronic transfer, but these regulations have not been uniformly enforced and criminals are taking advantage of this system.

Again, as the question: Why would we want this money—$60 billion estimated for Medicare fraud alone—to be going to con men and crooks, people who are setting up fake storefronts with fake signs that say doctor's office, instead of to the hard-working people in this country who can hardly afford their health care insurance? It is an outrage.

That is why I am so glad Senator KAUFMAN would take the leadership here, that we have a group of us who were prosecutors working on this in the Judiciary Committee to include this in the health care reform bill, because Americans have waited too long for these kinds of changes.

Mr. KAUFMAN. That is a great amendment that I think will be a big help in terms of cutting down this fraud, and that is what we are all about. This is a bipartisan issue, if there was such a thing. For the Homeland Security Committee, I don't know of anyone who doesn't think we have to do more in terms of health care fraud. When we have $70 billion to $220 billion a year in health care fraud, we have to do everything we can to stop it.

As we consider and debate meaningful health care reform, we must ensure that criminals who engage in health care fraud—and more importantly those who contemplate doing so—understand that they face swift prosecution and substantial punishment.

When the time comes, Senator KLOBUCHAR and I, along with our fellow cosponsors, will urge our colleagues to support these amendments.

Madam President, I yield the floor. I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. KAUFMAN. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

AFGHANISTAN STRATEGY

Mr. KAUFMAN. Madam President, I rise today to speak about the Afghanistan strategy President Obama announced last week. The dilemma facing the President and our national security team in Afghanistan is one of the most complex and difficult I have seen in my more than three decades of public service.

President Obama's speech laid out a bold plan, and he has been both deliberative and courageous in his approach. At the same time, I share the concerns of many Americans about the challenges that lie ahead for our troops. Sending young men and women into harms way is the most difficult choices we must face. Each life lost is one too many.

The decision in Afghanistan is especially difficult because four primary questions remain. The first question is do we have a trusted and effective partner in President Karzai? No matter how many troops we deploy, we cannot succeed with an Afghan government plagued by corruption.

The second question is what length is Pakistan willing to go to help? We cannot defeat al-Qaida and degrade the Taliban without Pakistan's support.

The third question is can we accelerate the training of Afghan National Security Forces? Today, there are too few Afghan security forces to clear and hold against the Taliban, and they are not capable of taking over from U.S. troops. And in light of the President's 18-month deadline, it is clear that self-sufficiency for the Afghans is not optional; it is mandatory. Secretary Clinton and Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations hearing that July 2011 is a firm deadline. In 18 months, we will begin our withdrawal and we will not send additional troops after this time. This was reiterated by Secretary Clinton and Chairman of the Joint Chiefs Mulvan.

The fourth question is do we have enough qualified U.S. civilians in Afghanistan to partner with the Afghan people in promoting governance and economic development? We must send even more and ensure that the "civilian surge" extends to all 34 provinces, so they can partner with Afghans in the field.

I visited Afghanistan in April and September and had the opportunity to speak with our military and civilian leaders, President Karzai, and numerous Afghan ministers. I traveled to Helmand and Kandahar Provinces, and met with local government officials and tribal elders at a "shura," or community council. I traveled to Kandahar and saw the Afghan people was frustration with their government's inability to provide security, administer justice, and deliver basic services. They welcomed international assistance in the short-term, but sought improved civilian and governance. Most importantly, they wanted control transferred to Afghan security forces once they were capable of holding against the Taliban themselves.

Since returning from Afghanistan, my No. 1 concern has been the ability of the Karzai government to be an effective and trusted partner. In his second term, President Karzai must eliminate corruption, strengthen rule of law, and deliver essential services in order to win the trust of the Afghan people. Ultimately, the battle is not between the U.S. and the Taliban. It is a struggle between the Afghan government and the Taliban, and the fight must be won by the Afghans themselves. The notion of a corrupt government has emboldened the Taliban and further undermined trust between President Karzai and his people. President Karzai must translate promises in his inauguration statement, because increased government transparency and accountability is absolutely critical.

For me, the key point in President Obama's speech was that our military commitment is not open-ended. In July 2011, we will begin our troop drawdown. This has created an 18-month deadline for progress, injecting a sense of urgency to our mission that has been missing for the past 8 years. It sends a signal that the clock is ticking for the Afghan government to end corruption. They will no longer get a "blank check" because the time for action is now. On the security front, the Afghan National Army and Police have no choice but to assume greater responsibility given the certainty of a U.S. withdrawal.

As President Obama outlined, Pakistan is central to this fight. We cannot succeed without Pakistan’s cooperation because developments in the region are inextricably tied to both sides of the border. After my April visit, I was concerned about the Pakistani commitment. When I returned in September, however, I was pleased by the Pakistani military’s decision to go after elements of the Taliban in the Swat Valley and South Waziristan. At the same time, Pakistan must take action against the Afghan Taliban and al-Qaeda, which continue to provide safe haven in Pakistani tribal areas. If extremists continue to operate freely between Afghanistan and Pakistan, it will undermine security gains made on the Afghan side of the border. And the stakes are even higher in Pakistan, which has the kind of nuclear weapons and delivery vehicles.

In Afghanistan, we must break the momentum of the Taliban by improving security and strengthening our ability to partner with the Afghans. That is why I support efforts to accelerate the training of Afghan National Security Forces, ANSF. I am concerned that the President’s goal of increasing the Afghan Army to 134,000 in 2010 does not go far enough in building the capacity of the ANSF. By comparison, Iraq—a geographically smaller country with the same sized population—has 600,000 trained security forces. This is why we must accelerate our targets for building the army and improve the capability of the police, which has faced even greater challenges in terms of corruption, incompetence, and attrition.

Finally, our success in Afghanistan depends on more than troops—we need an integrated civilian-military strategy in order to sustain progress. Many dedicated U.S. civilians continue to serve in Afghanistan, and we must further augment these numbers and ensure they can directly interact with Afghans in the field. Given their role as a force multiplier for the military and international nongovernmental organizations, NGOs, this is an area where we must channel even more resources and people in the near term. We need a stronger civilian capacity, because counterinsurgency cannot and should not be conducted with the military alone.

Over the coming months, I will closely monitor our progress in Afghan governance, partnering with Pakistan, building the Afghan National Security Forces, and increasing the U.S. civilian surge. Improvements in these areas are critical to our overall success in Afghanistan, and will determine when our brave men and women in uniform can return home.

I yield the floor.

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. Udall of Colorado). The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Alabama. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. President, I see my good friends Senators KRAUMAN and KLOBUCHAR, had talked about actions we could take to deal with fraud in health care. I support that. I had the opportunity in the past, as U.S. attorney, to lead a group that would do that. But something is troubling me today a great deal. I am uneasy about it. It goes to the heart of how the legislation that is before us today has been put together.

Earlier today we had Senator MCCAIN offering an amendment to say that every State should have the same policies with regard to Medicare Advantage that the State of Florida will under this bill. Presumably, that was an effort to gain some support. We have seen other situations such as that with Pakistani border places getting special advantages.

Let me tell you something that is particularly troubling to me. It was written about by Robert Reich, who was Secretary of Labor in President Clinton’s Cabinet. He is a prolific writer about economic and health care matters. He starts his Sunday August 9 article this way on his blog. It says:

I am a strong supporter of universal health insurance—

He is not pulling any punches there. He believes in a single-payer government policy. Then he goes on to say—and a fan of the Obama administration. But I am appalled by the deal the White House has made with the pharmaceutical industry’s lobbying arm, PhRMA—

That is a pretty serious charge. He goes on to say:

Last week, after being reported in the Los Angeles Times, the White House confirmed it had promised Big Pharma that any healthcare legislation will bar the Government from using its huge purchasing power to negotiate lower drug prices. That’s basically the same deal George W. Bush struck in getting the Medicare drug benefit, and it’s proven a bonanza for the drug industry.

I will say, as I recall, that Mr. Reich was a critic of that at the time. Right or wrong, it was done and he was a critic of it. I give him credit for it. He said a continuation of that would be an even larger bonanza. He goes on to describe why he thinks it is a bonanza.

Right or wrong, as a matter of policy and so forth, it is no doubt that is something Big Pharma would like. He goes on to say:

In return, Big Pharma isn’t just supporting universal health care. It’s also spending lots of money on TV advertising and using the $848 billion. However, they do not begin the legislation shows it fails to deliver on almost all the major promises it made and is likely to cause a great deal of adverse, unanticipated consequences. As a result, I think the American people have intuitively understood this; that is, why they are so strongly opposed to it. They cannot imagine why the leadership of this Senate continues to try to push down on their brow this piece of legislation that does not do what it promised to do.

For example, the sponsors of the legislation say the bill’s total cost is $848 billion. However, that does not begin the benefits of the bill until 5 years after enactment and that $848 billion is the cost of expenditures over 10 years. So when you move forward to when the benefits actually start for those who will be receiving them and go 10 years from that point, the total costs are not $848 billion, they are $2.5 trillion. That is a huge difference. It is a monumental difference. It is a difference so large, you have to stand back and, with a straight face, try to contend that we have a sound budget-minded bill that is going to cost $848 billion, and we have tax increases of about half of that, and raids on Medicare for about half of that, and that the people are going to pay for it. It is not working in that way, in my view.

Another promise for the bill that was made by the President in the joint session to the Congress, he said this: "This bill will not add one dime to the deficit."

That is just not accurate. You can make anything deficit neutral if you pay for it by slashing Medicare and taking the money from Medicare to pay for it. You can make a bill be deficit neutral if you raise enough taxes. So they are raising $494 billion in taxes. They are cutting Medicare by $465 billion. That is the plan.

They claim they have a $120 billion surplus, worry about the budget. We have created a bill that is going to reduce the deficit. That is what they have said repeatedly. But they forgot something. They forgot that we have to pay our physicians. That was always supposed to be part of health care reform. In fact, the physician groups were told they were going to be paid. But under this bill, to show you how it has been doctored—and this has been done before, Republicans have participated in this in the past, and it has been something that has been going on for a decade, but it is really relevant today, particularly in this legislation because this legislation was supposed to fix this problem—they keep the physician rates slightly above last year’s rate for 1 year. Then for 9 years in the 10-year budget, they assume that doctor payments, physician reimbursements are going to be cut 23 percent. That is unthinkable. We are not going to cut physicians 23 percent. We can’t cut the physicians at all because they are already wondering whether they will continue to take Medicare patients and, even more so, Medicaid patients, where they get paid least.

We could have a mass walkout of physicians who couldn’t afford to see seniors if we were to cut their pay by 23 percent. In fact, we are not going to do that. We all know this. So what did they do? I know they were meeting down in the hallways somewhere, and they were plotting out this bill. They said: The President said it will not add to the debt. What are we going to do? The numbers don’t add up. We can’t raise taxes any more. We can’t cut Medicaid. We have to do all we can do. What are we going to do?

So what they obviously decided was to take the physician pay portion of the bill out, that one that would have fixed this aberrational law we have that requires it to be cut 23 percent, and so they put it in a separate bill. Every penny of this separate bill would be paid for by increased debt, so not really paid for at all. They offered that bill on the Senate floor; and it got voted down because Republicans all voted against it as being utterly fiscally irresponsible. Enough Democrats joined in to kill the bill. They wouldn’t support it either. A number of Democrats came to have some rationality. So they failed to do that.

But if you put the doctor fix in, you are increasing the costs of the bill by $250 billion, so the $120 billion surplus is reduced to a $120 billion deficit. So it does add to the deficit. It adds more than one dime to the debt; it adds $120 billion to the debt.

Another fiction was their promise that they would fix the physician payment issue. That is a permanent policy of paying them so every year they wouldn’t have to run to Congress and hire lobbyists to come here and meet with Senators to beg them not to have a 23-percent cut. That happens every year. In fact, this year it is a 9-year fix, and for 9 years it is reduced just like it has been done in the past. There is no reform in that part of health care that needs to be done.

Another fiction is that they are not cutting Medicare benefits. They say: We are not cutting Medicare benefits. We are cutting that bad old Medicare Advantage that 11 million seniors are benefiting from and enjoy and participate in. They are cutting that $100-plus billion which is about one-fourth of what the cuts to Medicare are. They say that is not truly cutting Medicare. But that clearly is cutting Medicare because Medicare Advantage is part of the Medicare Program. It is cutting Medicare. How they feel about Medicare Advantage, this is a cut to Medicare Programs that millions of seniors favor.

That is why Florida didn’t want to have their Medicare Advantage cut. So they got a special deal in this legislation. Everybody else in America won’t get that. They want to keep it.

Let’s go on a little bit further just to show you why the American people are unhappy. They have a right to be unhappy. People say: Those people out there at the tea parties and townhall meetings, they were just upset. They are poor Americans. They are not good Americans. Good Americans would come in and say: How much more money can we give you, big government, to take care of all our needs from cradle to the grave?

The people at the tea parties understand the kind of games that are being played here. They understand the cuts to the health care, to hospice programs, to hospitals, the hospitals that care for a disproportionate share of the poor people, and the $23 billion from just general Medicare accounts represent cuts to Medicare, which is our seniors program.

How is it, then, that we have this disagreement? How is it possible that you can’t agree on where $465 billion comes from? The sponsors of the bill, this is what they say. They say: We promised we wouldn’t cut Medicare benefits. Any guaranteed benefit any senior citizen has, we promised not to cut it. All we are doing is cutting payments to providers, the people who provide the benefit.

Give me a break. So you come in and you cut hospice, nursing homes, other providers, $118 billion from Medicare Advantage, $192 billion from the hospitals, nursing homes, and other providers, $43 billion from hospitals that serve a disproportionate number of poor and uninsured, $23 billion from unspecified Medicare accounts, and that this doesn’t weaken Medicare. If many of those will, why haven’t we done it already? If this didn’t reduce the quality of care for seniors, if we could reduce these hospitals and others and they could still provide care to our seniors, why haven’t we done it already?

Mike Horsley, hospital association in Alabama, tells me that as a result of an abominable wage index program that helps to determine how much hospitals get paid primarily through payments in general, two-thirds of the hospitals in Alabama are operating in the red. They don’t need to be cut any more.

I guess what I would say is, this is the way the game has been played. My colleagues are saying we have to cut guaranteed benefits. We are just cutting the money from the people who provide the benefits. How many of them are going to keep doing so, as the CMS Actuary’s report questioned? How many of those will, why haven’t we done it already?

Fiction No. 6—I have 16, and I will not go through all of them tonight—is that hospitals that treat the poorest and sickest will somehow be better off from this legislation. They are telling me that. I don’t know who in Washington may say they are not, but that is what they are telling me. I think they are telling the truth.

Fiction No. 5 is that average family premiums are going to increase. Have you heard that through this proposal? Senator EVAN BAYH asked the CBO about this, and they said families who do not receive coverage from their employer would see their premiums rise "about 10 to 12 percent higher by 2016" than under the current law. The ones who claim they are seeing some reductions, those reductions are only the
I am pleased to be able to serve in the Senate with Senator GRASSLEY who chaired the Finance Committee, is ranking member now, who does over 100 town hall meetings a year or something in the counties in Iowa. He met with thousands of people and got the same message I got, which is you people are irresponsible. The debt is surging and will double in 5 years, the whole economy, and triple in 10. I want to say that the American people are concerned about this. Senator GRASSLEY worked so hard to see if he could get a bill that would be bipartisan, that we all could support, or large numbers of the Senate could support. But we got off track.

I talked to one person who dealt with this issue. He said the way things got off track was that we abandoned ways to legitimately contain costs increases. The way to do that is to make the more personal stake in your health care, other things that would actually help reduce the cost of health care, is what we got away from and it became driven by President Obama’s determination to have a government option. That in my estimation, may have been the decisive event in the negotiations breaking down.

This is a serious piece of legislation. It seeks to alter one-sixth of the American economy. It does not do what it promises. It surges spending. It increases taxes dramatically. It represents a major governmental takeover and will ultimately undermine the special relationship between patients and their doctors. It will also substantially threaten the viability of Medicare. This money that is being taken out of Medicare will only accelerate its insolvency. By 2017, Medicare—I believe Senator GRASSLEY will agree—is expected to go into default. It will go down rapidly, actually.

It is that correct, Senator GRASSLEY, that by 2017, under current law, Medicare is projected to go into default and go rapidly into default, and if we could save any money out of Medicare, if we can save $4 trillion, shouldn’t it be kept in the Medicare Program to try to extend its life and make it a viable program that seniors can rely on rather than creating a whole new spending program with that money?

Mr. Grassley. Mr. President, if the Senator is asking me that question, I will tell him that he is absolutely right, not based upon what I say or what the Senator says, but every spring the trustees of Social Security and Medicare look ahead 75 years and they predict what the income and the outlays are going to be based upon the population and the projected growth of the economy and all that stuff. Right now, they are projecting $7 trillion of shortfall over that 75-year period of time. They already told us, and it has materialized, that in the year 2008 we started paying more money out of Medicare than was coming into Medicare, and by the year 2017, as the Senator correctly stated, the trust fund will be out of reserves.

Mr. Sessions. So we are spending the reserves in Social Security, which will be exhausted by 2017.

Mr. Grassley. In Medicare.

Mr. Sessions. Medicare. Excuse me.

I am going to yield the floor to Senator GRASSLEY. I say to the Senator, I appreciate your leadership and insight into this issue. I value your whole approach to it. I think most Americans—and if they understood this information as the Senator has articulated, the opposition to the bill would be even greater than it is.

I urge my colleagues to examine the fact that the bill simply does not do what it sets out to do. It does not meet its promises, and as a result, we absolutely should not go down this road to a major Federal takeover of health care, with ramifications that go far beyond what it might appear today.

I thank the Chair and yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Iowa is recognized.

Mr. Grassley. Mr. President, I had a chance to hear a great deal of what the Senator from Alabama said. I think I would highlight that what he said is what he is hearing from the grassroots of his State, which is very much what I hear from the grassroots of my State: people are very concerned about this proposal now. I oppose the proposal because of its negative effect on the Medicare Program and its beneficiaries is to quote former Senator Phil Gramm of Texas when he was asked about President Clinton’s proposal when President Clinton put the proposal on the table back in 1998. Senator Gramm said this about President Clinton’s proposal, which would be applicable today as our colleagues are studying it:

If your mother is on the Titanic, and the Titanic is sinking, and you want to be preoccupied with is getting more passengers on the Titanic.

Since its inception in 1965, the Medicare Program has helped ensure senior citizens that are 65 or older the security of knowing they have health insurance when they need care in a hospital or doctor’s office. For many seniors, it is the only insurance they have. It is not an option to be denied health care.

The best way to describe the effect of this proposal on the Medicare Program and its beneficiaries is to quote former Senator Phil Gramm of Texas when he was asked about President Clinton’s proposal when President Clinton put the proposal on the table back in 1998. Senator Gramm said this about President Clinton’s proposal, which would be applicable today as our colleagues are studying it:

If your mother is on the Titanic, and the Titanic is sinking, and you want to be preoccupied with is getting more passengers on the Titanic.
access to health care. But, as the Senator from Alabama and I were just discussing, the problems with health care and Medicare are such that Medicare is already under extreme financial pressure. So why would you load more people into a system that Senator Gramm of Texas was referring to as the Titanic? You would not load more people on it as it was going to sink.

This is not to say that this entitlement program, Medicare, is not in need of improvement, but having the 36 million people who are over 55 who, if we were to buy into the program is not an improvement. Even groups supporting the Reid bill, such as the AARP, are pointing out the severe shortcomings of such an approach.

Last summer, the AARP Public Policy Institute published an analysis of the Medicare buy-in concept. In their report, the AARP points out the potential for increased Federal entitlement spending, AARP said:

Expanding the program to more people could make Medicare even further if their care is made affordable through subsidies that would be funded by the existing Medicare trust funds.

And do not forget the effects of adverse selection from a Medicare buy-in program. Here AARP has studied it, and this is what they say about that: . . . the premium may be too uncompetitive for those who do not use much health care and too high for those without income. This may limit buy-in enrolment and drive up cost further.

So this means that this buy-in proposal is likely unsustainable. And we all know what happens when the government creates an unsustainable new program. What happens? The taxpayers end up on the hook for bailing it out down the road sometime.

We all know the Medicare Program has $37 trillion in unfunded obligations. We all know about the pending insolvent of the Medicare Program. The trustees say so every spring.

The Medicare hospital insurance trust fund started going broke last year. In 2008, the Medicare Program began spending more out of this trust fund than was coming in through the payroll tax. The Medicare trustees have been warning all of us for years that this trust fund is going broke. They now predict that it will go broke right around the corner in 2017. Well, as the AARP has pointed out, adding millions to the Medicare Program would almost certainly make things much, much worse for the fiscal health of a program that is not in very good financial shape. This proposal would also make things worse for the 25 million Medicare beneficiaries who paid into the program over the years and are receiving benefits under the program.

Since we started debate on this 2,074-page bill, Members on this side of the aisle have recognized the wisdom of slashing Medicare by $½ trillion and then using the savings to start a new Federal entitlement program. We on this side have stressed that provider cuts of this magnitude will make it financially harder for providers to care for beneficiaries. We have pointed out that this will worsen beneficiary access to health care, as providers stop treating Medicare patients.

Adding millions more Americans to Medicare on top of the $½ trillion in Medicare cuts in this Reid bill would make beneficiaries’ access to care much worse. But do not take my word for it. Even the leading associations such as the American Hospital Association and the Federation of American Hospitals are opposing this proposal. They are mobilizing their ranks against this proposal even as I speak.

According to the AARP:

AARP warned that there are large cost-sharing requirements in Medicare, so this enrollees would still be exposed to significant cost sharing. Maybe these buy-in enrollees would have the resources to purchase supplemental Medicare policies to defray these cost-sharing requirements. Perhaps AARP is thinking of making even more money by selling supplemental policies to these retirees.

I share the goal of getting more Americans covered, but expanding the Medicare Program to early retirees is not the answer. Medicare beneficiaries have paid in to this program all these years and rightfully have the expectation to receive the benefits to which they are entitled under the program. The Medicare buy-in proposal would jeopardize these benefits. It would jeopardize existing retiree benefits. It would leave retirees exposed to significant cost sharing. It would be unsustainable and taxpayers would end up footing the bill.

Mr. CASEY. Mr. President, thank you very much. I rise tonight to continue the discussion and debate on health care. I had the chance over the last couple of months not only to do a good bit of work on a number of issues that relate to the bill and the two bills that came before and were merged into one bill, but also to hear from constituents across Pennsylvania of them are writing to us and urging us to pass a bill and some are urging us to go in the other direction. But the communications I get from people who write about their own stories, their own family, their own challenges are, of course, the most compelling and the most worthy of time and attention.

Often they come from Pennsylvania families who are not only facing health care challenges but facing economic challenges that I don’t think anyone in this chamber can fully understand, at least not at this point in someone’s life. Because when you become a Member of Congress, you are usually in pretty good shape. You may not have a lot of wealth, but you at least have a job to go to every day, you have a lot of people helping you, and you have health care. That is not something that can be said for tens of millions of Americans every day.

This legislation is the culmination of a lot of debate and discussion and analysis and study over many decades now. It is nice that we have been talking for years and years about preventing a preexisting condition from barring someone from health care. It is nice to talk about it, but it is a lot better when we do something about it. It is nice we have talked about limiting out-of-pocket costs for families who are trying to take care of their children, trying to care of themselves, but it is a lot better to do it, to enact it into law.

This bill makes it illegal to use preexisting conditions to deny someone coverage. This bill makes it illegal for insurance companies to put a lifetime cap on services, or an annual cap. This bill makes it illegal to discriminate so that no longer, if we do what we must do and get this bill passed, can an insurance company discriminate against a woman, which they do all the time. It is nice to talk about it, but it is a lot better when we do something about it.

One issue that has motivated me throughout this whole debate is what happens to our children at the end of the debate, at the end the legislative line, so to speak. Will children in America—and I am speaking about poor children and those with special needs because they are the ones who need help. If you are in a wealthy family, you will figure it out, and your family will figure it out. If you happen to be a poor family or a child who has special needs, will you be better off at the end of this debate or will you be worse off?

As it relates to poor children and children with special needs, the goal here has to be no child worse off. It is very simple. It is a very simple test. That is what we have been working on. I believe this bill that is on the floor right now is a dramatic improvement in the lives of so many families, I still think more work needs to be done—it relates to children, but there is no question that the bill we are debating will make children a priority in ways we haven’t been able to imagine, let alone law.

lot of sense unless you talk about it in terms of a real story.

Here is what Stacie Ritter said after she talked about the limit—very flatly, she said two words about whether a $1 million is enough to care for two daughters with leukemia over many years:

It’s not! When you add up the costs involved in caring for a patient with a life-threatening disease like cancer, $1 million barely covers the costs.

We have lots of stories like this.

Fortunately, the hospital social worker recommended we apply for secondary insurance through the State considering the highly probable chance we would hit the cap in another way. No, the insurance company didn’t help them. It was the State program in this case—the kind of public option that helped these kids. That part of the story has somewhat of a positive outcome. These kids are only 11. When they were 4 and 5, they didn’t have that kind of an option.

This story gets worse. This is what Stacie says:

During this time, my husband had to take family medical leave so we could turn caring for our one-year-old son and our twins at the hospital. . . .

For the 7 months my husband was out on family medical leave, he was able to maintain his employer-based insurance for us via a $717.18 a month COBRA payment.

Let me get this straight. We are now talking about COBRA—the extension of insurance coverage for people who are hurting, laid off or unemployed. That is another government initiative enacted by Congress. I am sure there were some folks who thought let’s not use government to extend health insurance. But in this case, it was helpful to this family. But it wasn’t enough.

Here is what Stacie says, as she keeps going:

After spending all our savings to pay the mortgage and other basic living expenses, we had to rely on credit cards.

We have a health care system that forced Stacie Ritter, and lots of other families in America, to rely upon credit cards so they could get the health care for their daughters who have leukemia and make ends meet so they could pay the mortgage and all the other things they had to pay for for themselves and their daughters and their son. That is what this health care system has forced them to do.

This isn’t unambiguous. This is exactly the worst part of our health care system. This last sentence might be the most poignant. She mentions they filed bankruptcy:

And when you file bankruptcy, everything must be disclosed. We even had to hand over the kids’ savings accounts that their great grandparents had given them when they were born.

That is another problem with this messed up system we have. It forced this family not only to worry about whether their daughters were going to be taken care of with leukemia, it not only said they probably had to declare bankruptcy to take care of themselves and get the care they needed, but in the course of the bankruptcy proceedings, they had to turn over savings accounts.

I don’t care if it was $1 or $1,000 or a much higher amount. I don’t care what the amount was. We should never allow a system to force two little girls with leukemia to turn over their savings accounts that their great grandparents started for them. That is how bad the system is.

I will spend lots of time complimenting doctors, hospitals, and nurses. We have a lot of good things. We have good technology. OK. I am acknowledging all that. But this system is messed up when we have this happen to one family, or one family, or one family. We don’t need to hear about a $1 or 1 million, but we know there are lots of them out there who face similar circumstances.

Some people might say you are talking about the family and all these people. Will it happen to you? It is going to happen. This is exactly what is wrong. This is what is irrefutable: No. 1, they were pregnant, as they are in effect when Stacie Ritter and her husband got the diagnosis for their daughters—if that was in effect, the following would have happened, and this is irrefutable: No. 1, they were upset, and as worried as they were that at least the most part of the thing would have had the peace of mind to know they didn’t have to worry about it costing too much to get them care. They would not have had to worry about this causing bankruptcy. So at least we would have given them some peace of mind and some security. Then on top of that, we would have given them the kind of care they needed, including the follow-up care.

When some people say we need to debate a little longer, 3 months or 6 months, or let’s talk about it for a couple more years—we have talked this issue to death for years. We know exactly what is wrong. This is what is wrong. That story alone is reason to pass the bill. There are a lot of other reasons, but a lot of those tragedies that are preventable if we do the right thing.

We have a bill that we are going to pass, and the first provision speaks to this family’s challenge.

Let me read one more letter and I will stop. I know I am over my time. We have heard a lot of discussion in the last couple of days about people whose personal tragedies bring all of us to our senses as we get lost in the politics. I received a letter this fall that I think sums it up in a way that both Hannah’s and Madeline’s story does as well. This is a letter that I received from a woman in Havertown, PA, suburban Philadelphia. She said:

On September 9, 2009, my sister-in-law’s cousin had to take her three-week-old son off of life support. He took two shallow breaths and passed away peacefully. He did not have to die, he did not have to be on life support, he did not even have to be in the (neonatal intensive care unit) NICU.

After 36 weeks gestation, his mother was told that she had Placenta-previa, but the insurance company and the doctor were at a tug of war on getting it covered.

This is America. Should a doctor have to be in any tug of war about whether this mother, who is pregnant, will be covered? That should not even be a discussion. There should not have to be any discussion about that. But that is how our system is.

At 39 weeks, Brandon’s umbilical cord ruptured. His mother Karen was rushed to the hospital and Brandon was taken to Jefferson Hospital in Philadelphia for brain cooling treatment to return brain activity.

It was too late. After minimal return of brain activity, it was decided after 3 weeks to take away life support.

She concludes with this haunting sentence, this haunting reminder of how bad a case this is:

Who saved money here? Was it worth a child’s life to save a few dollars? And I am sure 3 weeks of life support costs more than a C-section.

That is the end of her letter. So anybody who says that we have to make a couple little changes on the margins, but we have a great system that is not in need of major reform—I need only point to these two examples. That is all the information I need.

Unfortunately, we have thousands—hundreds of thousands—of national examples—literally millions of people who are denied coverage because of a preexisting condition. Sometimes because a woman has been a victim of domestic violence, that has been used as a preexisting condition in terms of whether she gets health care. So we have a messed up system.

When we allow these tragedies to happen day after day, year after year, and we have people in Washington saying: We just could not get it done, we have to debate a little longer—we have to get a bill passed. We are going to do that in the next couple of weeks. We will take whatever steps are necessary to get this legislation passed because we cannot say to this woman who wrote to me from Havertown, PA, nor can we say to these two girls and their parents—we can’t walk up to Hannah and Madeline and other kids like them in need of some peace and say: We got to let that lifetime limit matter done, but it got a little contentious.

We have to get it done, and we will get it done because we are summoned by a lot of things. But I think we are summoned by our conscience to get this done and make sure we can do everything possible—no system is perfect—to prevent these tragedies.
I yield the floor.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Vermont is recognized.

Mr. SANDERS. Mr. President, let me begin by thanking Senator CASEY for his continuing efforts in fighting to make sure that every American has good-quality, cost-effective health care. He has been a leader and I congratulate him.

Mr. President, I wish to touch on some of the health care issues that are out there and tell you what I think is positive in the bill we are dealing with.

In the Senate, we have a system which, in many ways, is disintegrating. It is an international embarrassment that in the United States of America, we remain the only Nation in the industrialized world that does not guarantee health care to all its people as a right. The result of that is, some 46 million Americans today have no health insurance. Even more are underinsured, with large copayments and deductibles.

We have some 60 million Americans today who, because of our very poor primary health care outreach network, do not have access to a doctor on a regular basis. The result of that is, incredibly, as has been found, according to a recent study at Harvard University, some 45,000 people die every single year because they do not get to a doctor when they should. As a result, by the time they walk into a doctor's office, they may die of what should have been a preventable disease.

That is money not going into doctors—we have a huge crisis in primary health care physicians—not money going into dentists. Many areas, including Vermont, have a serious dental access problem. Many children should not be going to nurses. We have a nursing shortage. This is money going into bureaucracy, profiteering, and salaries for the CEOs of insurance companies. It is going into inflated prices for prescription drugs at this country. As a nation, we pay the highest prices in the world for prescription drugs.

To my mind, as a nation, what we have to finally deal with is that so long as we have a competitive insurance plans out there, creating an enormously complicated and burdensome system. With each one of their thousands of plans, if you are young and do not get sick and are healthy, they have a plan for you. If you are older and you get sick, they have another plan for you. There are 1,300 private insurance companies with thousands and thousands of plans, and to administer all of this costs hundreds and hundreds of billions of dollars.

That is point No. 1, freedom of choice. People should have that choice. If they do not want it, that is fine. Point No. 2 may be even more important, if we are going to get a handle on exploding health care costs, somebody is going to have to rein in the private insurance companies whose only function in life is to make as much money as they possibly can. We need a non-profit, government-run public plan to do that. If we do not have that in this bill, I am not sure how we are going to get any handle on cost containment.

I will fight to make sure we have as strong a public option as is possibly can. As I have said publicly many times, my vote for this legislation is not at all certain. I have a lot of problems with this bill. We have to have at least, among other things, a strong public option.

Let me tell my colleagues something else I think we have to address in this bill. As I mentioned a moment ago, we have a disaster in terms of primary health care in America. Some 60 million Americans are difficult to get to a doctor on a regular basis, and that is dumb in terms of the health and well-being of our people. It is also dumb in terms of trying to control health care costs.

If somebody does not have a doctor they can go to when they get sick, where do they end up? They end up in the emergency room, and everybody knows the emergency room, by far, is the most expensive form of primary health care. Yet, in many cases, people have no other options. They end up in an emergency room. If they have a bad cold, Medicaid may pay $500 to $600 for their visit to the emergency room. That is totally absurd.

Furthermore, if you have a primary health care physician, that person can work with you on disease prevention—helping you get off cigarette smoking or helping you with alcohol, a drug problem, a whole myriad of issues in terms of good prevention, good nutrition, helping you get better health care. Yet, in many cases, people have no other options. They end up in a hospital which is driving people to the ER makes no sense at all.

As I mentioned the other day, there is a provision in this legislation in the Senate which authorizes a very significant expansion of federally qualified community health centers which, in a non-partisan way, a bipartisan way is widely supported by, I suspect, almost everybody in the Senate and in the House as well.

These community health centers today allow 20 million people to access not only good, quality primary health care but dental care, which is a huge issue all over this country, mental health counseling, a very big issue, and low-cost prescription drugs.

The problem is, while the community health centers today do an excellent job, there are not enough of them. So in order to have greater expanded community health centers, if we as a Congress are talking about bringing 13, 14, 15 million more people into Medicaid, I am not quite sure how a struggling Medicaid Program is going to accommodate those people, unless we provide the facilities and the medical personnel to treat them.

We need this. We need to expand primary health care. Community health centers are the most cost-effective way I know how to do that. There are studies that suggest providing that primary care, keeping people out of the emergency room, keeping them out of the hospital because they have gotten sicker than they should have gotten, we can, in fact, pay for these community health centers over a period of years by simply saving money.

In the Senate, we have very good language authorizing an expansion. In the House, they have similar language, except in the House they have a trust fund and a tax that actually pays for this going to do my best to make sure we adopt the House language, which pays for, through a trust fund, a substantial increase in community health centers and, in addition, a very significant expansion of the National Health Service Corps, which is a Federal program which provides debt forgiveness and scholarships for medical students who are prepared to serve in medically underserved areas in primary health care.

We desperately need more primary health care physicians, nurses, dentists. That is what the National Health Service Corps does. My hope is the Senate will adopt the House provision to greatly expand the National Health Service Corps, which is a Federal program which provides debt forgiveness and scholarships for medical students who are prepared to serve in medically underserved areas in primary health care.

What we have put together is an enormous complicated patchwork piece of legislation. It is going to be spending on health care somewhere around $800 billion to $1 trillion.

The American people want to know a couple of things. They want to know: Is this going to raise our national deficit? What CBO tells us is, no, it will not. More money is going to come in than the tax bottom 50 percent. This is appropriate, especially after all of President Bush’s tax breaks, to ask the wealthy to start paying their fair share of taxes so we can provide health insurance to tens of millions of Americans.

That, in my view, is exactly the right way to go.

Unfortunately, in the Senate, we have not done that. What we have chosen to do in the Senate is to raise about—I do not know the exact number—but we have chosen to impose an excise tax of 40 percent on so-called Cadillac plans. The problem is, given the substantial increase in health care costs in this country, a Cadillac plan today in 5 or 10 years may be a junk car plan.

I believe with a struggling middle class, with people desperately trying to hold onto their standard of living, the last thing the Senate wants to do is impose a tax on millions and millions of people who have fought so hard to get a halfway decent health care plan.

Let me very briefly read from a fact sheet that came from the Communications Workers of America, CWA is one of the largest unions in this country. Similar to almost every union, they are strongly opposed to this excise tax on health care benefits. This is what they say. I read right from it. This is a document from the CWA:

The U.S. Senate will soon vote on legislation that would tax CWA-negotiated employer health plans. The tax will be passed directly onto working families. To avoid the tax, employers will try to significantly cut benefits for active workers and pre-Medicare retirees.

How the House Benefits Tax Works.

A 40-percent excise tax would be assessed on the value of health care plans exceeding $23,000 for a family and $8,500 for an individual starting in 2013. (Levels are higher for pre-Medicare retiree plans and high-risk industry plans—$26,000 and $9,850.)

And here is an important point. Because while people may not have to pay this tax in a couple of years, with health care costs soaring, they will have to pay this tax in the reasonably near future.

Quoting from the CWA document:

These ‘‘thresholds’’ would increase at the rate of general inflation, plus 1 percentage point, or 3 percent. This is well below the medical inflation rate (4 percent) and about half the rate (6 percent) at which employer and union plan costs have been increasing.

In other words, the cost of health care is rising at a lot faster than inflation, which today is almost zero. It may actually be below zero, the point being that in a number of years, so-called Cadillac plans are going to reach the threshold upon which middle-class workers are going to be forced to pay a lot in taxes.

Let me go back to the CWA now. They write:

Health Benefits Tax Will Hit CWA—

And they are talking about many union workers here.

—CWA-negotiated Plans Hard and Result in Deep Cuts. In 40 of 43 states examined over 10 years (2015–2022) the average excise taxes assessed each worker, CWA’s most popular plans will be: $13,300 per active worker in the family plan.

That is for a 10-year period, $13,300.

$5,800 per active single worker. $13,600 for pre-Medicare retiree in the family plan, and $4,600 for pre-Medicare retiree in the single plan.

The bottom line is that the middle class in this country is struggling. We are in the midst of the most severe recession since the Great Depression of the 1930s. People are working longer hours for lower wages. The middle class is on the verge of collapse. The Senate should not be imposing an additional tax on middle-class workers.

The House got it right; the Senate got it wrong, and I intend to offer an amendment to take out this tax and replace it with a progressive tax similar to what exists in the House.

Let me conclude by simply saying this: I understand that the leadership in this chamber wants this bill forwarded as quickly as possible. I understand that. But in my view, we have a lot of work in front of us to improve this plan. Among many other things—many other things—and I know other Members have different views, the very least, States in this country—individual States—if they so choose, should be able to develop a single-payer plan for their States. Because at the end of the day, in my view, the only way we are going to provide comprehensive, cost-effective, universal care is through a single payer.

I know some people are saying: Well, we are dealing with health care, we are not going to be back for a long time. If that is all we were passed this year, I trust me, we would be back in a few years, because health care costs are going to continue to soar. Winston Churchill once said: “The American people always do the right thing when they have no other option.” And I think that is what we are looking at right now. We are running out of options.

What we have put together is an enormously complicated patchwork piece of legislation. It is going to help a lot of people. It involves insurance reform, which is absolutely right. We have a lot of money into disease prevention, which we should have. There are a lot of very good things in this Bill. But it is not going to solve, in my view, the health care crisis. Costs are going to soar. If we also have to use the courage as a body to take on the insurance companies, to take on the drug companies, at the very least let us give States—whether it is Vermont, Pennsylvania, California, or other States—the right to become a model for America, to give people in a cost-effective way through a Medicare-for-all, single-payer system. We have to do that.
The other thing we have to do, in my view, is to get rid of this tax on the middle class by taxing health care benefits. Mr. President, you will recall that a year ago we were in a highly controversial and difficult Presidential campaign. One candidate, who happened to have lost that election, introduced a different plan. He said he was not a tax cutter. That was exactly—or very close to it—to what we are talking about today. Then-Senator Barack Obama, who won that election, did not have a plan. And because he said that wasn’t a good idea. Well, how do you think millions of American workers are going to feel when they say: Wait a second, the guy who won told me he was against taxing health care plans, and now we are adopting the program of the guy who lost. How do the American people who voted in that election have faith in their elected officials if we do exactly what we said we would not do?

So believe we have to move toward a progressive way of funding this health care plan. As I stand here right now, this plan has a lot of good stuff in it, but there are a lot of problems in it. I very much look forward to the opportunity to be able to offer a number of amendments to strengthen this bill. It is very important to the people of Vermont and to people all over this country that not only I but the Presiding Officer and other Members have a right to offer amendments. Because if this bill is to work, it has to be adapted to the changing health and welfare of older adults and developing policy to prevent seniors from becoming victims of fraudulent scams and abuse.

During this Congress, I have been fortunate to be joined by my colleagues, Senators LINCOLN and HATCH and STABENOW, in advancing policy to reduce elder abuse. The Senate health care reform bill now includes both the Elder Justice Act and the Patient Safety and Abuse Prevention Act, and we will continue to work to see that they become law.

Today I am pleased to continue the effort to protect America’s vulnerable seniors by introducing an amendment that combines two very valuable bills, the Elder Abuse Victims Act and the National Silver Alert Act. Both have been passed by the House of Representatives.

Elder abuse is a sad scourge on our society, often hidden from sight by the victims themselves. Even in expert communities, conservatively estimate that as many as 2 million Americans age 65 and older have been injured, exploited or otherwise mistreated by someone on whom they depend for care or protection. As Federal policymakers, it is time that we step forward and tackle this change with dedicated efforts and more vigorous programs that will make fighting elder abuse as high a priority as ongoing efforts to counter child abuse.

It is in this spirit that I am offering an amendment to give the Department of Justice a roadmap for how to establish programs to better the frontline responses of state and local prosecutors, aid victims, and build a robust infrastructure for identifying and addressing elder abuse far more effectively than we do today.

We need to provide assistance to our courts, which would benefit from having access to designated staff that boast particular expertise in elder abuse. Specialized protocols may be required where victims are unable to testify on their own due to cognitive impairments or poor physical health. And there is a great need for specialized knowledge to support successful prosecutions and enhance the development of case law. Today, many state elder abuse statutes lack adequate provisions to encourage wide reporting of abuse and exploitation, more thorough investigations and greater prosecution of abuse cases.

For the victims of elder abuse, many of whom are physically frail and very frightened, much more. First and foremost, we must be more responsive. Not too long ago, it was difficult to even get an abuse case investigated. While that is starting to change, we have much work ahead. For example, sometimes emergency interventions are necessary, particularly if the older person is being harmed at the hands of family members or trusted “friends.” It may be necessary to remove the older adult from his or her home to a temporary safe haven. To do this, we must build a much more robust system of support.

And there is more we must do to assist vulnerable seniors who may not be abused, but who are nonetheless vulnerable because they suffer from cognitive impairment. As the prevalence of dementia rises in our aging society, we have a special responsibility to ensure that those who “go missing” from home are returned promptly and safely. This is the second part of the amendment, which proposes to create a national program to coordinate State Silver Alert systems.

The Amber Alert system, on which the Silver Alert Act is modeled, was created as a Federal program to rapidly filter reported information on missing children and transmit relevant details to law enforcement authorities and the public as quickly as possible. Using the same infrastructure as Amber Alerts, 11 States have already established Silver Alert systems to help seniors by establishing Silver Alert systems at very little additional cost. These programs have created public notification systems triggered by the report of a missing senior. Postings on highways, radio, television, and other forms of media broadcast information about the missing senior to assist in locating and returning the senior safely home. Now we have an opportunity to establish Silver Alert programs across the country.

Both of the provisions in this amendment are strongly supported by the Elder Justice Coalition. I ask my colleagues to support this amendment, and by doing so to markedly reduce the risk of harm to our most vulnerable citizens.

Mr. SANDERS. Mr. President, it appears I am going to be closing tonight. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Vermont is recognized.

MORNING BUSINESS

Mr. SANDERS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to a period of morning business, with Senators permitted to speak for up to 10 minutes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

TRIBUTE TO VIDA CHAN LIN

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I rise today to honor Vida Chan Lin. The Las Vegas Asian Chamber of Commerce recently named Vida Chan Lin as their first female president. For many years, Lin has been an advocate for Nevada’s Asian Pacific Islander American, APIA, community. Her early exposure to the complexities of business and the APIA community has cultivated the passion and talent necessary for success.

Vida Chan Lin moved to Las Vegas in 1994 and began developing her career as an insurance executive. Within a few years, Lin pursued her entrepreneurial interests and launched an insurance agency named V&S Insurance. The company was committed to providing outstanding service and education to Asian and minority communities in Nevada. Vida Chan Lin’s success continued when she was named vice president after a merger between V&S Insurance and Western Risk Insurance.

Vida Chan Lin’s continued involvement and dedication with supporting local community and business organizations resulted in a significant partnership that benefits families and businesses across Nevada. Lin has also advanced local business endeavors through her enthusiastic support of the Asian Chamber of Commerce, ACC, and the OCA Las Vegas Chapter. During her tenure in ACC, she helped develop annual events such as the Chinese New Year Community Achievement Awards Dinner, Bill Endow Golf Tournament, APIA Business Night. Her help with the OCA Las Vegas Chapter resulted in two national events to be held in Las Vegas for the first time—the OCA National Convention and the National Asian Pacific American Corporate Achievement Awards.

Being a leader in the Asian Pacific Islander American community has provided Vida Chan Lin an opportunity to affect younger generations. Her positive view of APIA issues brought forth an inspiration within our youth to provide for their communities. Lin promotes and ensures that the voice of APIA youth is heard. She continues to dedicate time for students involved in the OCA Las Vegas Chapter and ACC by engaging them in entrepreneurial development opportunities such as the Clark County Summer Business Institute.

As she continues to advance her career and charitable interests, Vida continues to give great care to her family. Las Vegas is better as a place because of dedicated people like Vida Chan Lin. Vida’s dynamic ambition reminds me of a quote from one of this country’s greatest Presidents. Teddy Roosevelt once said:

"The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood, who strives valiantly; who errs and comes short again and again, but never loses sight of the goal he loves. And who makes his best effort to do his work with his heart and his soul. He may never reach the goal, but at least he fails while daring greatly."

I know that Vida Chan Lin and the Las Vegas Asian Chamber of Commerce have a bright and blessed future. I congratulate Vida on being the first woman to lead the Asian Las Vegas Chamber of Commerce.

REMEMBERING ALBERT E. DIX

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, all of the Commonwealth of Kentucky has suffered a great loss with the recent death of Albert E. Dix. A fourth-generation journalist, Al Dix moved to Frankfort, Kentucky’s State capital, to become publisher of The State Journal in 1962, a post he would keep until his retirement in 1996. Known for being a mentor to aspiring journalists, Al Dix helped train scores of individuals who went on to work at papers with much larger circulations. But he was more than just one of Kentucky’s finest journalists. As one of his former press foremen put it, “He treated all employees really well, just like they were his family. He was a really good person all around.”

Indeed, Al Dix leaves behind a legacy as not only a superb publisher but as a pillar of his community. While I could say much more about my friend Al Dix, I think it appropriate for me to share with my colleagues a recent account of Al’s life, which was published by The State Journal on December 3, 2009. I ask unanimous consent that the full article be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

[From the State-Journal, Dec. 2, 2009]

FORMER PUBLISHER AL DIX REMEMBERED AS CARING LEADER

(By Charlie Pearl)

Journalists, bankers, politicians, educators and others took to Al Dix as an sensitive and caring publisher who was dedicated to improving the community but kept his good works private.

Dix died at St. Joseph Hospital in Frankfort Tuesday morning of pancreatic cancer. He was 80.

Services will be 2 p.m. Friday at South Frankfort Presbyterian Church with visitation at noon. Burial will follow at Frankfort Cemetery.

Richard Wilson, who retired from The (Louisville) Courier-Journal as its higher education reporter, got his first job in newspaper with The State Journal under Dix in 1963 and 1964.

"That helped me immensely during a nearly 40-year career in journalism," Wilson said. "Much of the reason for that was Al, who was unquestionably a reporter’s publisher. He was encouraged quality and openly shared his enthusiasm for its appearance in the newspaper.

"While he may have held strong views on many subjects, he never permitted them to permeate The State Journal’s news columns and he respected those who believed otherwise. He also frequently took a personal interest in their concerns, both professionally and personally." Bruce Brooks, retired executive vice president at Farmers Bank, said he always considered Dix "a friend." He was a little bit of a mentor to me.

"He was always willing to be a listening board for any situation. He was free with his advice and usually it was pretty sound and analytical."

Brooks said Dix was master of ceremonies at various functions, "and was really, really skilled at it. And he always had an open checkbook for a worthy cause. He would walk the walk and talk the talk.

Former City Council Pat Layton said Dix encouraged her to start her real estate career.

"He had a lot of insight of what was going on in the community," Layton said. "It wasn’t because he was publisher of a newspaper, but because he really loved his community."

"He was truly a leader. But a lot of people didn’t know about the many things he did for Frankfort because he was very private about it. He was an employee and their well-being, both professionally and personally.

He was always straightforward with his heart.

"About 40 years ago, we played one-wall handball at the old YMCA on Bridge Street. I was first there and he was with South Frankfort Presbyterian Church, and through a few Republican endeavors. He certainly was a conservative after my own heart.

"He had extraordinary compassion and was interested in literacy, education, good government and ethical behavior."

"I know that he and his family have contributed so much to his community and call on him for a little help (to various charities), he would just say, ‘How much do you need?’ "

Gersham’s wife, Priscilla, said Dix "was a precious jewel. He will be sorely missed by everyone."

Russ McClure, a former vice president of Morehead State University, said he was "mourn the many deaths of our colleagues during a year of special gifts committee doing fundraising for the new library and he came faithfully to every meeting.

"He was a person of intellect, humor, good personalitiy and good judgment. There was never a kinder soul and more generous person in the community."

Kirkland said their friendship spanned four decades.

"He was a person of intellect, humor, good personalitiy and good judgment. There was never a kinder soul and more generous person in the community."

Kirkland said their friendship spanned four decades.

"Among 40 years ago, we played one-wall handball at the old YMCA on Bridge Street. I was first there and he was with South Frankfort Presbyterian Church, and through a few Republican endeavors. He certainly was a conservative after my own heart.

"He had extraordinary compassion and was interested in literacy, education, good government and ethical behavior."

"I know that he and his family have contributed so much to his community and call on him for a little help (to various charities), he would just say, ‘How much do you need?’ "

Gersham’s wife, Priscilla, said Dix "was a precious jewel. He will be sorely missed by everyone."

Russ McClure, a former vice president of Morehead State University, said he was "mourn the many deaths of our colleagues during a year of special gifts committee doing fundraising for the new library and he came faithfully to every meeting."

"One thing I could always count on was Al being straight up and fair," McClure said.

"He was always straightforward with his heart.

But Dix encouraged him to stay in Florida, saying he would give the semen on Sunday. Hunt said:

"He filled the post for me and did an excellent job." He got raises every year and supplanted the pope on my absences after that. I was about ready to swap places with him."

Scottie Willard, who retired in September as press foreman after 44 years at The State Journal, remembers when Dix became publisher in 1962.

"He made a lot of improvements as far as press equipment when he took over," Willard said. "He treated all employees really well, just like they were his family. He was a really good person all around."

Ronne Martin, retired composing foreman who worked at the newspaper 43 years, agreed.

"He was super to work for," Martin said. "He gave me all sorts of opportunities and challenges at the same time, but they all worked out. He was a great guy. He treated everybody fairly."

Ann Maenza, Dix's daughter, now publisher of The State Journal, said her father "never cut corners and always made sure things were done right. He was old school, fair and honest."

Amy Dix Rock, senior director of regulatory and scientific affairs at Cumberland Pharmaceuticals Inc. in Nashville, Tenn., said her father was "always thinking of others. We don't know how many things he's done for others because he didn't talk about it."

"That's the way he was. He was soft-spoken but when he did speak you listened." Al Smith, who rose to prominence in the state as a weekly newspaper publisher and as the longtime host of KET's "Comment on Kentucky," said Dix was a newspaper publisher of the old school, "but the opposite of the domineering egotistic bosses who bullied employees and squeezed the news to match their biases."

"Old school" means that we always knew that with Al at The State Journal, it was like the grocery slogan of years ago, 'the owner is in the store.' He didn't have to call a distant headquarters to know what to say or do.

"He had strong views, conservative Republican views when he was in charge," Smith added. "I believe those views made him a better person." Smith noted how The State Journal under Dix supported a constitutional amendment that overhauled the state's judicial system and expressed its strong support for the future direction of Cuba and to fix a policy that has manifested failures. For many years we lived under a policy we have, with confidence in our values and vision, we need a Cuba policy that looks forward.

"The truth is, we have reached out to countries where our wounds were far deeper, and far more recent. When I first ran for Governor, I joined JOHN MCCAIN and I led the efforts to unfreeze our relationship with Vietnam, we said: 'let's be honest ... the Cold War is over. All the American trade embargo is doing is keeping Vietnam poor and thus encouraging a flood of refugees.'"

"For nearly 20 years after the fall of Saigon, the Vietnam war took a less bloody but equally hostile form. The U.S. and Vietnam had no diplomatic relations. Vietnamese assets were frozen. Trade was embargoed. But in 1995 the United States normalized relations with Vietnam. The Cold War had ended, and we even signed a trade deal with a country where 58,000 Americans had given their lives."

"The results? A Vietnam that is less poor and thus encouraging a flood of refugees."

The Kentucky Book Fair was founded by the State Journal in 1981.

Dix also was a member of the board of directors of First Capital Bank of Kentucky, the Franklin Republican Industrial Development Authority and the local Kiwanis Club; and served two terms as chairman of the American Saddledreeb Museum at the Kentucky Horse Park.

He loved fishing and making fishing rods, electric trains and saddledreer horses.

For example, it can be reasonably argued that U.S. pressure contributed to Cuba's decision to cease its military adventurism in Africa and its support for the violent insurgencies that ripped apart Central America in the 1980s.

But on the two most important questions the verdict is deci- sive.

First, did this policy fulfill its often-stated purpose of overthrowing the Castro regime? Fidel Castro outlasted nine American Presidents, from Eisen- hower to Clinton and retired only for reasons of health during the tenth. When he passed on the reins to his brother, Fidel joined Omar Bongo of Gabon and Libya's Colonel Qaddafi as one of the world's longest-serving head of states.

Second, have the benefits of our policy outweighed the costs? It is hard to argue they have. The embargo has cost Cubans access to our markets, and for many years to our food and medicine—with little progress to show. But it has cost Cuba as well. It has limited the influence of our people and our democracy. What's more, this fall's U.N. vote condemning America's embargo showed yet again: Cuba is not the only country isolated by our policy. The vote for the embargo was 180–0. All of our major allies voted against us, and one of the two voting with us itself routinely trades with Cuba.

Is it morally satisfying to sanction a government whose human rights prac- tices we abhor and whose political sys- tem rejects many of ours values? Sure. And helping Cubans to live in democracy and liberty absolutely remains a goal of American policy. But for 47 years now, we have endorsed an embrar- go in the name of democracy that pro-duced no democracy!

In fact, our rhetoric and policies have actually helped to consolidate the Cuban government. We have provided the Castro regime with an all-pur- pose weapon—exaggerated as a policy that has manifestly failed. For nearly 40 years, Cuba has been provided with Marshall Plan wealth in billions of dollars, and the Castro regime benefits from the fact that we maintain a policy of embargo—motivated by past grievance, not present realities and future dreams. Fidel Castro has stepped aside from day-to-day government, there is a new American President, and Cuba-American relations are improving, want- broad, far-reaching interaction across the Florida Straits. Times are chang- ing, and we cannot live in the past.

"The results? A Vietnam that is less poor and thus encouraging a flood of refugees."

Forty-seven years ago, I was in my first semester of college when Soviet missiles, deployed in Cuba, threatened to set the world on fire. No one who lived through those thirteen harrowing days in October will ever forget them. Certainly, the threat from Cuba was real.

"The results? A Vietnam that is less poor and thus encouraging a flood of refugees."

It is true that we continue to dis- approve of Cuba's dismal human rights record and palpable lack of freedom. And it is also true that, over 50 years, the embargo can claim some successes.

"The results? A Vietnam that is less poor and thus encouraging a flood of refugees."
also deprived—in accordance with U.S. policies except during brief periods—of interaction with America's people. We must have the courage to admit the need for a new approach. President Kennedy, who instituted sanctions against Cuba, had by mid-1963 set in motion secret contacts aimed at normalizing relations. Ford and Carter, too, looked for ways out of the box.

George H.W. Bush cooperated with Cuba on the Angola peace accord, and his administration even dangled a promise of improved ties with America. Each initiative failed for a different reason, but all were grounded in the same recognition: there must be a better way forward.

Fortunately, we know there is a different strategy that can succeed. The Clinton administration worked to refocus our policy around what matters: on the Cuban people, not the Castro brothers; on the future, not the past; and on America's long-term national interests, not the political exigencies of a given moment.

The Clinton administration promoted people-to-people relations "unilaterally"—without conditions on Havana. We worked to improve bilateral cooperation, like medical professionals combating drug trafficking, which were clearly in our national interest. Family travel in both directions quickly skyrocketed. And tens of thousands of Americans from across society—church members, academics and students, medical professionals, athletes, journalists, and more—were permitted to interact with their Cuban counterparts.

Those policies sent a clear and effective message to the Cuban people: the United States is not who your leaders say we are. Our problem is not now, nor has it ever been, with the Cuban people. We completely changed the dynamic: A synagogue with holes in its roof where birds flew around the sanctuary has been repaired with funds and materials from American supporters. Environmentalists worked together to save species and protect our shared environment. The children who received bats and balls—and moral support—from Baltimore Orioles players visiting Cuba for an exhibition game will never forget the gesture of American generosity.

And guess what. Across the board, Cubans have a better future for their country than contact with U.S. civil society. Even Cuba's human rights and democracy activists benefitted immeasurably from the contact.

Unfortunately, the Bush administration shut down most forms of contact and dramatically reduced our interactions to a tightly regulated, government-controlled trickle. They tightened licensing procedures, reduced transparency, and put government in the people's way in what amounted to a unilateral suspension of Americans' ability to help Cubans shape their future. People-to-people relations were made secretive, filtered, and for narrow objectives. That is the opposite of pro-democracy.

Regrettably, that was the record of the Bush administration: an enormous step forward in 2001, but up to the Obama administration to craft a Cuba policy that moves us forward.

In May 2008, Barack Obama said on the Presidential campaign trail that it was "time for a new strategy." While he was more interested in lifting the embargo as a source of leverage, he did declare at the Summit of the Americas: "The United States seeks a new beginning with Cuba," and announced that he was "prepared to have [the] Administration engage with the Cuban government on a wide range of issues."

As promised, the Obama administration has expanded licenses for Cuban-Americans—albeit only Cuban-Americans—to travel to Cuba. Controls on family remittances, gift parcels, and certain transactions with telecommunications companies were loosened as well. Mid-level talks about immigration matters and postal relations have resumed. And we've turned off an Orwellian electronic billboard flashing political messages from our Interests Section in Havana.

These are positive steps, but they are only a start. So what comes next?

At a minimum, the administration should use the authorities that it has to reinvigorate people-to-people relations—to unleash the energy of the American people who want to help Cubans build their future. The policy worked in the past and enjoyed wide support in both countries.

When announcing expanded family travel, the President said, "There are no better ambassadors for freedom than Cuban-Americans." But I think it's also fair to say that there are excellent ambassadors for freedom among the million other Americans—religious, faithful, teachers and students, environmentalists, scholars, doctors and nurses, political scientists, and artists—whose challenging minds, economic success, love for democracy, and advocacy of solid American values make them proud ambassadors as well.

The New York Philharmonic and its board of directors have been brilliant representatives of America on trips to North Korea, Vietnam and around the world. But when the administration recently blocked their proposed trip to Cuba. What are we afraid of?

Second, as we reinvigorate people-to-people diplomacy, the administration should review the programs that the Bush administration funded generously to substitute for it.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee is already undertaking an investigation into the need to reform Radio and TV Marti—programming beamed into Cuba at a cost of $33 million a year. Many Cubans call TV Marti "La TV que no se ve" because it has never, in 18 years of broadcast, had a significant audience in Cuba. Report after report has documented that the Marti services are hindered by bad management, weak professional trade, and serious politicization. We are looking at whether its business model—as a "surreptitious service" beyond the Voice of America standards and regulations—has failed, and whether the TV service should be closed entirely and radio should be integrated into the high-quality VOA services. We ought to be especially concerned about human rights activists in Cuba: a key bellwether audience are unanimous in their view that the Marti brand must be repaired.

Meanwhile, USAID's civil-society programs, totaling $45 million in 2008, have noble objectives, but we need to examine whether we're achieving any of them. The Bush administration changed the program's focus from supporting a Cuban people to accelerating regime change, and the fact that some of our grantees have extravagantly high overheads has raised concerns about where all the money is going. It is also fair to ask whether these programs even work.

Bush's refocus on regime change made it difficult for Cubans outside declared antiregime groups to accept the informational materials or assistance offered—even if they had a burning desire for it. Our interests section used to distribute tens of thousands of books a year to Cubans across the political spectrum and the books could be seen, well-worn, in government and Communist party think tanks today. The politicization has reduced the flow of information to many of the very same people eager to steer Cuba toward a better future.

The Foreign Relations Committee has begun a review of these programs. It is in the administration's interest to take the lead in overhauling them.

Finally, as I mentioned at the outset, I want to address legislation that will go on to further today's Cuba policy. S. 428, the Freedom to Travel to Cuba Act, does not lift the embargo or normalize relations. It merely stops our government from regulating or prohibiting travel to or from Cuba by U.S. citizens or legal residents, except in certain obviously inappropriate circumstances.

The Freedom to Travel to Cuba Act has strong support in Congress—33 sponsors in the Senate and 190 cosponsors in the House. I cosponsored similar legislation in the past, and I am proud to do so again. We are talking about restoring a fundamental American right—the right to travel—that is denied to Americans in countries other than Cuba. Americans who can get a visa are free to travel to Iran, Iraq, Sudan, and even North Korea, and it makes no sense to deny them the right to travel to a poor island near Florida. There is a certain irony in the fact that Americans who have to apply for licenses and wait, with little or no feedback, to travel to a country that we criticize for denying its citizens the right to travel. The current ban on travel contravenes the spirit of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights’ statement that “everyone has the right to leave any country, including his own, and to return to his country.”

Free travel also makes for good policy inside Cuba. Visits from Americans would have the same positive effects as people-to-people exchanges, but on a larger scale. Visiting Europeans and Canadians have already increased the flow of information and hard currency to ordinary Cubans, with a significant impact on the country. Cuba’s economic model, for sure, remains profoundly flawed, and human rights conditions remain dismal. But the hard-currency sectors of the Cuban economy have significantly altered workers’ dependence on the regime, introduced material incentives that are changing economic culture, and raised expectations, if not demands, for greater improvements in the future. After years of Cuban government propaganda, Americans are even better positioned than Europeans and Canadians to be catalysts of change. We can do more if we let them.

That is one reason why all of Cuba’s major pro-democracy groups support free travel. Freedom House, Human Rights Watch, and other groups critical of Cuba’s government agree. Studies of change in Eastern and Central Europe show a direct correlation between contact with the outside world and the peacefulness and durability of democratic transitions.

This is a policy whose time has come. Numerous polls of Americans—of Cuban origin and otherwise—show strong support. Non-Cuban-Americans have long supported easing restrictions. But here is what is surprising: one recent poll found that 59 percent of Cuban-Americans—the group most widely thought to oppose the Obama administration’s policy—actually support allowing all American citizens to travel to Cuba. As the proportion of Cuban Americans who arrived after 1980 increases, support for free travel is only growing. In fact, even many Cuban émigrés 65 years and older, once passionately opposed to it, now favor free travel. This is a sea change in the attitudes of Cuban-Americans, and we should not ignore it.

Change is in the air—in Havana, in Washington, and in major Cuban-American communities. I don’t personally hold high hopes that the transfer of power from Fidel to Raúl Castro and to the next generation of hand-picked loyalists portends rapid change, but it is obvious that the Cuba of today is not the Cuba of the 60s or even the 90s, and that our policy should not be stuck in time either. Cubans are searching for models for the future, and our economic system and democratic ideals appeal to them.

In September, when the Colombian rock star Juanes came to Havana, by some estimates as many as a million people came to hear the concert. From the stage, he looked out at the Cuban people and started a simple chant: Una Sola Familia Cubana. The crowd roared approval at the thought of ending the conflict between Cubans across the Florida Straits.

There is a hunger out there among the Cuban people. America should capitalize on it. They want contact with their own families, and they want contact with American people and American culture. Cubans are searching for that our policy should not be stuck in the Cuba of the 60s or even the 90s, and it is obvious that the Cuba of today is not the Cuba of the 60s or even the 90s, and this was one tough homemaker who remained one of my closest friends. And we became political allies and fast friends.

But Paula was more than a pretty face. Sure, she had perfectly coiffed hair and wore designer clothes and jewelry, but she had a razor-sharp mind to go with her smart and funny personality. She showed quickly she was nobody’s pushover. She could stand toe to toe and verbally slug it out with some of the most powerful and even most obnoxious Senators. In other words, she gave more than she got—and her opponents, more often than not, got more than they bargained for.

She was a great debater, a human dynamo who brought unrivaled energy and unbridled enthusiasm to the Senate. She was extremely intelligent and tremendously interested in politics—and she was very good at it. A quick look at her successful Senate campaign in 1980 attests to just how good she was.

By today’s big-bucks standards, Paula’s campaign was strictly bargain-basement. Fox News pundit Dick Morris, her pollster at the time, recalls the campaign being too cash-strapped to afford a teleprompter. Aides made do by writing scripts on paper towels and using them as Paula spoke. In the end, her powers of persuasion and command of the facts carried the day with voters.

After stirring voters’ hearts in Florida, Paula stirred things up in the Nation’s Capital. Change was in the air when she blew into wintry Washington in January 1981. For starters, she became the first Senator to bring her husband to Washington, which resulted in the Senate wives’ club being reestablished in the Senate. She helped spearhead legislation to help widows and women divorcees get into the job market. She supported efforts to improve pensions for women and make them more equal to that of men. She fought further to get daycare for the children of Senate employees. Even the all-male Senate gym was no sweat for Paula, who forced her fellow Senators to wear swimming suits so that she could swim there as well.

Paula was so attractive, so Florida sunshine that brightened my days during the years we served together in the Senate. She was a true blue conservative who was warm, witty and cracked wise. We shared many a joke and a laugh along with our commonly held moral, ethical and religious beliefs. And we became political allies and fast friends. In fact, Paula became and always remained one of my closest friends.

Both on and off Capitol Hill, she always could be counted on through good times and bad. I quickly learned that her word was her bond. Whenever I needed help, she was always there. And I certainly hope the reverse was true—that I was there whenever she needed help.

Women, minorities, as well as the elderly with disabilities also learned they could count on Paula. She was a tireless advocate on their behalf and they loved her for it. She also showed great political courage in 1984, when she disclosed during a hearing that she had been molested as a child. I am sure that horrific childhood experience, in part, informed her efforts to champion children’s causes.

While her legislative accomplishments are too numerous to mention here, I would like to make mention of one in particular. Paula spearheaded the Missing Children’s Act of 1982, the bill that instituted the National Center for Missing & Exploited Children. Thanks to that landmark legislation, the names of thousands of missing children are now part of the FBI’s national crime database.

To ensure the bill’s passage, Paula personally lobbied President Reagan. As great a communicator as he was, the “Great Communicator” knew he had met his match in Paula and lent his support. Of course the President knew he could always rely on Paula to help deliver a legislative win for “the Gipper” in the Senate—which she did many times.

As a staunch conservative, she found common cause with the President and other conservatives, including myself, on numerous issues. She was, for example, an ardent anti-communist who supported the President’s hard line against Soviet expansionism. She also despised overly big government—and, there is certainly a lot to despise in Washington, especially these days.

Paula was an unwavering friend for those who shared her values and commitment, but she was an implacable foe of political corruption and to those who supported illegal drugs on our streets and in our schools. She fought for legislation to cut foreign aid to nations that refused to reduce their export of harmful drugs. She further assisted in creating the Senate Caucus on International Narcotics Control and helped initiate the South Florida Drug Task Force.

I would be remiss if I didn’t say something about Paula’s stamina. She could endure as well as endure—often when she was in great pain. In 1982, she was knocked unconscious when a TV studio partition fell on her during an interview in Florida.

Those of us who worked closely with her know that the years that followed were often filled with crippling pain. Between votes on the Senate floor, she would often go to a room lent to her by one of her immediate and extended family. And her husband Gené is no less remarkable. He is one of the kindest, most friendly, decent and honorable men I have ever known—and his love for Paula has always been uplifting to behold.

In every aspect of their lives, they have been an exemplary couple. They have been just as exemplary as parents. As members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Gene and Paula took to heart the Mormon teaching that families are forever. They were determined to ensure that every family member worked hard toward achieving the goal of being able to be together in the hereafter. They have a great family and are well on their way toward achieving that lofty goal.

In the Old Testament book of Proverbs, we read:

Who can find a virtuous woman, for her price is far above rubies. The heart of her husband doth safely trust in her, and her children arise up, and call her blessed; her children rise up, and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her . . . Favour is deceitful and beauty is vain: but a woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be praised. Give her of the fruit of her hands; and let her own works praise her in the gates (Proverbs 31:10-31).

Today, I am honored to have the privilege of adding my voice to the chorus of praise for my dear friend, Paula Hawkins. I feel deeply that a loving Father in heaven and Jesus Christ have already embraced Paula and taken her into their care and treatment as one of truly great women who graced this Earth.

I truly loved Paula Hawkins. We were best friends. Like Gene and the Hawkins’ three children—Genean, Kevin and Kelly—11 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren, my wife Elaine and I look forward to a joyous reunion one day with Paula on the other side of the veil.

In the meantime, it is my hope that all of us here in this chamber will reflect on her service and follow her advice to that State Senator: Try Harder!

TRIBUTE TO ROY OBREITER

- Mr. LEVIN. Mr. President, the Office of Rural Development within the United States Department of Agriculture will soon say goodbye to Roy Obreiter, a longtime trusted adviser, friend, and colleague to all who have worked with him. I am delighted to have this opportunity to pay tribute to Roy, a staff appraiser with the agency in Michigan, who will retire after 38 years of dedicated service. I join many within the USDA, as well as the many who have benefitted from his work over the years, in celebrating this impressive milestone.

Roy has an encyclopedic knowledge of agency programs and appraisal guidelines. Through his hard work, focus, and passion, Roy has endeared himself to those who have had the pleasure of working with him.

Roy has been a role model and mentor to his peers and many others. His kind and gentle demeanor, combined with his ability to connect on a personal level, have helped him earn the respect and admiration of his colleagues within the agency. Roy is an incredibly decent human being, devoted to family and work, and loyal to those around him.

Beyond his personal qualities, Roy has distinguished himself with a remarkable record of contributions to the agency. The assistance he has provided to Rural Development programs during his career has been invaluable. Roy can be proud of his contributions to Michigan and to rural America. He will be missed by his colleagues and by those throughout Michigan who have been touched by his work.

I congratulate Roy Obreiter on a job well done and wish him the best as he embarks on the next phase of his life.

TRIBUTE TO TERRY SHERWOOD

- Mrs. LINCOLN. Mr. President, today I join many of my fellow Arkansans in recognizing and thanking Terry Sherwood with the Southwest Arkansas Planning and Development District for his 40 years of work with this agency and to wish him all the best in his retirement.

Since the Southwest Arkansas Planning and Development District was organized and began operation in 1967, it has served local governments by working as an indispensable partner to identify and implement State and Federal programs. Through Terry’s hard work and leadership with the Southwest Arkansas Planning and Development District, communities throughout southwest Arkansas have been impacted and their lasting results are a testament to his dedication and vision and will be felt for decades to come.
Not only has Terry admirably served in his chosen career, but he has also offered his talents and expertise to a variety of local, state and national organizations. Terry has served as past President and board member of the National Association of Development Organizations, chair of the Arkansas Highway and Transportation Public Participation’s Committee, and a member of the Arkansas Association of Development Organizations. Terry’s efforts have enhanced the lives of the citizens of our state. I am thankful for his work and his friendship and wish him a productive retirement.

I am proud to represent Terry in the U.S. Senate and pleased to have this opportunity today to publicly thank him for his contributions to the State of Arkansas and the people he touched.

Terry Sherwood, a graduate of Michigan State University, began working as an employee of Southwest Arkansas Planning and Development District, Inc. in 1969. His hard work and dedication showed as he became the executive director in January 1992. He has provided the people of Arkansas with many accomplishments that are spread throughout the State.

He has served on several boards in several leadership roles such as past president and board member of the National Association of Development Organizations, NADO, vice president and member of the executive board of the I-69 Mid-Continent Highway Coalition, chairman of the Arkansas I-69 Association, vice-president of Arkansas Good Roads, board member of the Council of Peers Southeast Regional Executive Directors Institute, board member of the Southwest Regional Economic Development Association, chair of the Association of Delta Development Districts Delta Regional Authority, member of the Public Participation Committee, chairman of the Arkansas Highway and Transportation Department, and member of the Arkansas Association of Development Organizations.

Terry has brought great leadership and outstanding integrity to the south Arkansas community. His leadership is unique and has inspired many other people in the area to get involved in their local neighborhoods and towns.

Mr. President, I ask that my colleagues join me in recognizing the great contributions Terry Sherwood has made to Arkansas and the United States of America.

MESSAGES FROM THE PRESIDENT

Messages from the President of the United States were transmitted to the Senate by Mr. Williams, one of his secretaries.

EXECUTIVE MESSAGES REFERRED

As in executive session the Presiding Officer laid before the Senate messages from the President of the United States submitting sundry nominations which were referred to the appropriate committees.

(The nominations received today are printed at the end of the Senate proceedings.)

MESSAGES FROM THE HOUSE

At 10:03 a.m., a message from the House of Representatives, delivered by Ms. Niland, one of its reading clerks, announced that the House has passed the following bills, in which it requests the concurrence of the Senate:

- H.R. 118. An act to authorize the addition of 100 acres to Morristown National Historical Park.
- H.R. 1454. An act to provide for the issuance of a Multinational Species Conservation Funds Semipostal Stamp.
- H.R. 1672. An act to reauthorize the Northwest Straits Marine Conservation Initiative Act to promote the protection of the resources of the Northwest Straits, and for other purposes.
- H.R. 2062. An act to amend the Migratory Bird Treaty Act to provide for penalties and enforcement for intentionally taking protected avian species, and for other purposes.
- H.R. 597 to clarify the authority of the Secretary of the Interior to extend grants and other assistance to facilitate political status public education programs for the peoples of the non-self-governing territories of the United States.

STATMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

By Mr. NELSON, of Nebraska:

S. 2846 A bill to authorize the issuance of United States War Bonds to aid in funding of the operations in Iraq and Afghanistan; to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs.

Mr. NELSON of Nebraska. Mr. President, I rise today to introduce legislation to help finance the war effort without sharp tax increases or increased foreign borrowing. The United States War Bonds Act of 2009 will authorize the Treasury to issue and market War Bonds to the American people to help finance the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq. I believe that we need shared sacrifice and fiscal discipline in financing the war effort. I don’t believe our first instinct should always be a rush to tax. The government has gone to great lengths to address the economic downturn and adding new taxes right now could undermine our efforts. We need to work to reduce Federal spending wherever possible and reduce the growth in spending to finance the war.

War bonds are a cost-effective way to reduce our dependence on foreign creditors and create an outlet for Americans to express their patriotism and support our servicemen and America’s mission. War bonds allow us to borrow from ourselves, rather than other countries.

This legislation finds a precedent in World War II savings bonds. From May 1, 1941 through December 1945, the War Finance Division and its predecessors were responsible for the sale of nearly $30 billion worth of War Savings Securites. Of this, more than $54 billion was the form of War Savings bonds. Although the times and economic circumstances are different than the 1940s, America’s commitment to protecting freedom and our way of life has not waned. My hope is that we can tap into the same spirit of patriotism and create a sense of participation in the war effort akin to that shown by the greatest generation.

The new military strategy increasing troops by 30,000 for Afghanistan announced last week by President Obama is estimated to cost $30 billion beyond the baseline for Iraq and Afghanistan funding, which stands around $130 billion for 2010. The public debt is currently more than $7.6 trillion and nearly $3.5 trillion—46 percent—of the debt is held by foreign investors. While there are no simple solutions to our fiscal woes, while we endeavor to get our fiscal house in order, more can also be required of our creditors and reduce our dependence on foreign creditors; this is a step in that direction.

By Mr. WHITEHOUSE (for himself and Mr. SCHUMER):

S. 2847 A bill to regulate the volume of audio on commercials; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

Mr. WHITEHOUSE. Mr. President, I rise today to introduce the Commercial Advertisement Loudness Mitigation Act of 2009—the CALM Act. I want to thank my original cosponsor Senator SCHUMER for his support of this straightforward and commonsense legislation, which would require the Federal Communications Commission, FCC, to limit the volume of television advertisements to a level no louder than the average volume level of the programs during which the advertisements appear. This time for this Act is overdue. All too often over the years, Americans sitting down after a long workday or workweek to enjoy their favorite television shows, have been assaulted by commercials at volumes that are degrees of magnitude louder than the shows themselves. The FCC first received enough complaints from viewers to look into the problem in the 1960s—when television was in its earliest stages—but technology did not exist to fix the problem. Years later, as consumer complaints piled up, the FCC had to reexamine the loudness issue. Unfortunately, it took no action.
even with the technology improved.

The complaints continue to this day; in the 25 quarterly reports on consumer complaints released by the FCC since 2002, 21 have listed as a top complaint the loudness of television commercials.

But now, with the digital transition complete and broadcasters, which presents a terrific opportunity to standardize the loudness of television commercials, we can finally take this long-overdue action. We now have a common digital platform used by all broadcasters, which presents a terrific opportunity to standardize the loudness of television commercials.

As Consumers Union, the nonprofit organization that publishes Consumer Reports has stated, in testimony before the House of Representatives, “the CALM Act provides an elegant and commonsense solution to finally ending a forty-five year consumer complaint in the United States.”

The House has already begun its consideration of companion legislation, and I applaud the leadership of Representatives on this issue. On television, the U.S. television industry has been deeply involved in the drafting of this legislation, and the standards it adopts are practicable, affordable, and effective. I hope my Senate colleagues will act quickly to pass the CALM Act and finally put an end to this longstanding irritation.

By Ms. MURKOWSKI:
S. 2851. A bill to require a study and report on the feasibility and potential of establishing a deep water sea port in the Arctic to protect and advance strategic United States interests within the evolving and ever more important region; to the Committee on Armed Services.

Ms. MURKOWSKI. Mr. President, as you are undoubtedly aware, the U.S. is an arctic Nation. As such, the U.S. must ensure that not only its economic and environmental interests in the region, but also its national defense and homeland security interests. While the U.S. maintains a strong working relationship with the 7 other arctic nations—Canada, Denmark, Finland, Iceland, Norway, the Russian Federation and Sweden—these nations also have their own interests to protect in the arctic region. Despite those relationships, the U.S. cannot assume that these nations will protect our interests in the region. The ability to project its territorial claims and protect its economic interests in the arctic will become increasingly important as the arctic shipping lanes become more accessible as the seasonal arctic ice decreases. With the high potential for increased industrial and commercial activity in the arctic region, the U.S. must ensure that it is prepared to protect human life as well as the vulnerable arctic environment.

While an expected increase in arctic activity on the horizon, the U.S. cannot wait until our interests in the region are threatened before we act. In that light, the Arctic Deep Water Sea Port Act of 2009 is a major step towards protecting vital U.S. interests in the region.

The Arctic Deep Water Sea Port Act of 2009 directs the Secretary of Defense, in consultation with the Secretary of Homeland Security, to conduct a study to determine the feasibility, and environmental impact of a deep water sea port in the arctic to protect U.S. strategic interests in the region. As the lead Departments for National Defense and Homeland Security initiatives for the U.S., the Department of Defense and the Department of Homeland Security, while working alongside their subordinate agencies, are best suited for determining and implementing policy decisions that protect U.S. sovereignty and national security.

This two-year study is designed to determine what strategic capabilities a deep water port could provide as well as an optimal location that would provide protection for a wide spectrum of U.S. initiatives. While studying the impact of commercial activity on defense, this study will also endeavor to determine the resource and timeframe needs to establish such a port, given the complex environmental constraints that the arctic marine environment presents. Upon completion of this study, the U.S. will be better positioned to understand the resource and development needs for the arctic region that are required to protect our interests in the region.

Mr. GRASSLEY:
S. 2851. A bill to make permanent certain education tax incentives, to modify rules relating to college savings plans, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, today I am offering legislation to make permanent a number of education-related tax relief measures. My legislation also improves and makes permanent the 529 college savings plans, and the American Opportunity Tax credit for education.

At the first hearing I held when I became Chairman of the Finance Committee in 2001, I made clear that education tax policy was a priority of mine. As Chairman, I was able to remove the 60-payment limit for deducting student loan interest and I was able to increase the income limits for that deduction. This was not the only time I fought hard to allow students to deduct their student loan interest. In 1997, I was able to re-instate the student loan interest deduction that Congress had eliminated from our tax laws. However, the 60-payment limit on the deductibility of student loan interest remained. I ensured that the 2001 tax relief bill took care of that problem. Other incentives for education that I was able to enact into law in 2001 included raising the amount that can be contributed to a college savings account from $50,000 to $2,000,000; making distributions from pre-paid college savings plans and tuition plans tax-free; and making permanent the tax-free treatment of employer-provided educational assistance. These tax policies and many others, including those for school renovations, repairs and construction, have proven their value to Iowa students in dollars and cents, year after year. The tax relief has led to measurable educational assistance to Iowa students and families nationwide, making education more affordable and accessible.

One draw-back of enacting these provisions in the 2001 tax relief bill, however, is that there was a short-term provision attached to that entire piece of legislation. All of the tax relief needs to be made permanent. Especially the education-related tax provisions. That is what my bill today does. My bill makes these provisions permanent.

It is no coincidence that I am introducing my education tax bill on the day the President of the United States talked about jobs. Our economy demands well-educated workers. The population of educated workers is good news for workers who find themselves unemployed or who want to go back to school to advance, or even change, their careers. Congress is willing to consider permanent tax relief for those who buy make the decision. Why isn't Congress willing to make an investment in people? That is what tax relief for education is. An investment in our future. It is just as important as job-creating tax incentives for businesses. Some will say we can't afford this, but we can't afford to lose billions of dollars of help for Americans working hard to educate their kids.

Education has made this country great. We should not let this opportunity pass us by. We should not let these education-related tax provisions expire. We should also continue to help make education affordable for families and students. This makes education accessible for all. I look forward to working with my colleagues on passing this bill.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the text of the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

S. 2851

Resolved, That the Senate—
(1) designates March 2010 as “National Autoimmune Diseases Awareness Month”;
(2) supports of health care providers and autoimmune patient advocacy and education organizations to increase awareness of the causes of, and treatments for, autoimmune diseases;
(3) supports the goal of increasing Federal funding for aggressive research to learn the root causes of autoimmune diseases, as well as the best diagnostic methods and treatments for people with autoimmune diseases.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. President, this resolution designates March 2010 as National Autoimmune Diseases Awareness Month. The purpose of the resolution is to increase awareness of autoimmune diseases and the need for aggressive research to learn the root causes of autoimmune diseases, as well as the best diagnostic methods and treatments for people with autoimmune diseases.

Autoimmune diseases are chronic, disabling diseases in which underlying defects in the immune system lead the body to attack its own organs and tissues. They can affect any part of the body—blood, blood vessels, muscles, nervous system, gastrointestinal tract, endocrine glands, and multiple-organ systems—and can be life-threatening.

Researchers have identified over 80 different autoimmune diseases, including multiple sclerosis, rheumatoid arthritis, juvenile diabetes, Crohn’s disease, scleroderma, polymyositis, lupus, Sjogren’s disease and Graves’ disease, and over 80 additional diseases of having an autoimmune basis. The National Institutes of Health estimates that autoimmune diseases afflict up to 25,000,000 people in the United States. Seventy-five percent of whom are women, and that the prevalence of autoimmune diseases is rising;

Whereas NIH estimates the annual direct health care costs associated with autoimmune diseases at more than $300,000,000,000, with over 250,000 new diagnoses each year;

Whereas autoimmune diseases are among the top ten leading causes of death in female children and adult women;

Whereas autoimmune diseases most often affect children and young adults, leading to a lifetime of disability;

Whereas diagnostic tests for most autoimmune diseases are not standardized, making autoimmune diseases very difficult to diagnose;

Whereas because autoimmune diseases are difficult to diagnose, treatment is often delayed, resulting in irreparable organ damage and unnecessary suffering;

Whereas the Institute of Medicine of the National Academy of Sciences reported that the United States is behind other countries in research into immune system self-recognition, the cause of autoimmune diseases;

Whereas a study by the American Autoimmune Related Diseases Association revealed that it takes the average patient with an autoimmune disease more than 4 years, and costs more than $50,000, to get a correct diagnosis;

Whereas there is a significant need for more collaboration and cross-fertilization of basic autoimmune research; whereas there is a significant need for research focusing on the etiology of all autoimmune diseases to be accepted by the United States, that leads to an understanding of the root causes of these diseases rather than treating the symptoms after the disease has already had its destructive effect; whereas the National Coalition of Autoimmune Patient Groups is a coalition of national organizations focused on autoimmune diseases, working to consolidate the voices of patients with autoimmune diseases and to promote increased education, awareness, and research into autoimmune diseases through a collaborative approach; and whereas designating March 2010 as “National Autoimmune Diseases Awareness Month” will help educate the public about autoimmune diseases and the need for research funding, accurate diagnosis, and effective treatments.

Resolved, That the Senate—
(1) designates March 2010 as “National Autoimmune Diseases Awareness Month”;
(2) supports of health care providers and autoimmune patient advocacy and education organizations to increase awareness of the causes of, and treatments for, autoimmune diseases;
(3) supports the goal of increasing Federal funding for aggressive research to learn the root causes of autoimmune diseases, as well as the best diagnostic methods and treatments for people with autoimmune diseases.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. President, this resolution designates March 2010 as National Autoimmune Diseases Awareness Month. "(1) ESTABLISHMENT.—The Secretary, in conjunction with States, shall establish a uniform process for the annual review, beginning with the 2010 plan year and subject to subsection (b)(2)(A), of unreasonable increases in premiums for health insurance coverage.

"(B) ELECTRONIC REPORTING.—The process established under subparagraph (A) shall include an electronic reporting system established by the Secretary through which health insurance issuers shall report to the Secretary and State insurance commissioners the information requested by the Secretary pursuant to this subsection.

On page 37, between lines 24 and 25, insert the following:

"(3) HEALTH INSURANCE RATE AUTHORITY.—

"(A) ESTABLISHMENT.—The Secretary shall establish a Health Insurance Rate Authority referred to in this paragraph as the "Authority" to be composed of 7 members to be appointed by the Secretary, of which—

"(i) at least 2 members shall be a consumer advocate with expertise in the insurance industry;

"(ii) at least 1 member shall be an individual who is a medical professional;

"(iii) at least 1 member shall be a representative of health insurance issuers; and

"(iv) such remaining members shall be individuals who are recognized for their expertise in health finance and economics, actuarial science, health facility management, health care technology, operated delivery systems, reimbursement of health facilities, and other related fields, who provide broad geographic representation and a balance between urban and rural members.

"(B) ROLE.—In addition to the other duties of the Authority set forth in this subsection, the Authority shall advise and make recommendations to the Secretary concerning the Secretary's duties under this subsection.

"(4) CORRECTIVE ACTION FOR UNJUSTIFIED RATE INCREASES.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—Pursuant to the procedures set forth in this paragraph, the Secretary, in consultation with the Authority, shall modify, or in an appropriate case, may approve as presented, the rate increase which is determined to be unreasonable and substantial in the opinion of the Authority.

"(B) NO INCREASE OR REDUCTION.—The Secretary shall not increase or reduce the rate increase based on the rate increase corrected, through mechanisms including—

"(i) denial of the rate increase;

"(ii) modification of the rate increase;

"(iii) ordering rebates to consumers; or

"(iv) any other actions that correct for the unjustified increase.

"(C) PAYMENTS.—The Secretary shall make payments based on the rate increase that is not unreasonable and substantial.

"(D) IMPLEMENTATION.—The Secretary shall ensure that, not later than 6 months after the date of enactment of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, the National Board of Insurance Commissioners (referred to in this section as the "Association"), in conjunction with States, or other appropriate body, will provide to the Secretary and the Authority a report on—

"(i) State authority to review rates in each insurance market, and methodologies used in such reviews;

"(ii) rating requests received by the State in the previous 12 months and subsequent actions taken by States to approve, deny, or modify such requests;

"(iii) justifications by insurance issuers for rate requests.

"(E) DETERMINATION OF WHO CONDUCTS REVIEWS FOR EACH STATE.—Using the report submitted pursuant to subparagraph (B), the Secretary shall determine not later than 1 year after the enactment of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act—

"(i) based on the Secretary's determination that the State has sufficient authority and capability to deny rates, modify rates, provide rebates, or take other corrective actions; and

"(ii) as a condition of receiving a grant under subsection (c)(1) and (ii) for the purpose of the Secretary shall undertake the actions described in subparagraph (A), based on the Secretary's determination that such State lacks the authority and capability as described in clause (i).

"(F) TRANSITION PERIOD.—Until the Secretary makes the determinations described in subparagraph (C), the relevant State insurance commissioner shall, as a condition of receiving a grant under subsection (c)(1), carry out the action described in subparagraph (A).

"(G) SUNSET.—Beginning on the date on which subparagraph (b)(2)(A) applies, the requirements of this paragraph shall no longer have force or effect.

"(5) PRIORITIZING PROPOSED PREMIUM INCREASES FOR REVIEW.—In determining which proposed premium increases to review under this subsection, the Secretary or the relevant State insurance commissioner may prioritize—

"(A) rate increases which exceed market averages;

"(B) rate increases that will impact large numbers of consumers; and

"(C) rate reviews requested from States, if applicable.

"(6) ANNUAL REPORT.—

"(A) UNIFORM DATA COLLECTION SYSTEM.—The Secretary, in consultation with the Association and the Authority, shall develop a uniform data collection system for rate information, which shall include information on rate increases and other relevant data such as consumer complaints, solvency, reserves, and any other relevant factors of market conduct.

"(B) PREPARATION OF ANNUAL REPORT.—Using the data obtained in accordance with subparagraph (A), the Secretary shall annually produce a single, aggregate report on insurance market behavior, which includes—

"(i) data on rate increases from one year to the next, including by issuer and by market and including medical trends, benefit changes, and relevant demographic changes; and

"(ii) a national growth rate percentage for every issuer, which shall be based on aggregated data of such issuer from premiums sold in each market; States the Secretary shall undertake the actions described in subparagraph (A), based on the Secretary's determination that such State lacks the authority and capability as described in clause (i).

"(C) DISTRIBUTION.—The Authority shall share the annual report described in subparagraph (B) with States, and include such report in the information disclosed to the public.

"(7) RECOMMENDATION ON EXCHANGE PARTICIPATION.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—Based on the information provided pursuant to this subsection and other relevant information, the official described in subparagraph (B) shall make recommendations to State Exchanges about whether particular health insurance issuers should be excluded from participation in the Exchange based on a history of excessive premium increases, low medical loss ratios, or market conduct.

"(B) REVIEWING OFFICIAL.—Either the Secretary shall determine that the Authority or any State insurance commissioner or commissioners, based on the determination in paragraph (4)(C), shall make the recommendations described in subparagraph (A).

"(8) VIEWS FOR EACH STATE.—Using the report described in subparagraph (G), the Secretary shall provide the views on rates, medical loss ratios, consumer complaints, and other data for each market.

SA 3031. "(1) the term 'database' means the database established under subsection (b); and

"(2) the term 'NAIC' means the National Association of State Insurance Commissioners.

"(b) MONITORING INSURER HANDLING OF REQUESTS FOR COVERAGE OF MEDICAL CARE.—

"(1) ESTABLISHMENT.—The Secretary shall, in consultation with the NAIC, establish and maintain a nationally consistent database that, using standardized definitions, tracks claims handling performance by—

"(A) all group and individual health insurance issuers offering group health insurance coverage in connection with a group health plan; and

"(B) external review organizations that consider and rule on external appeals from such plans and issuers.

"(2) CONTENT.—The database shall include information on the nature, timing, final dispositions, and other relevant details (as determined by the Secretary) of claims, appeals, reviews, and requests for or denials of treatment by the entities described in paragraph (1). The Secretary may limit the content of the database to those claims that are materially significant, as determined by the Secretary.

"(3) COLLECTION OF DATA.—The Secretary shall have the authority to collect and audit data from entities described in paragraph (1) necessary to implement the database, except that, in the case of issuers subject to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, such data shall be collected by the Secretary of Labor for use by the Secretary. At the discretion of the Secretary, such data collection authority may be delegated to State insurance regulators.
care case-management system (described in section 1916(b)(1)), a Medicaid managed care organization, or a similar entity shall not prohibit a particular hospital, physician or other entity within a category of healthcare providers from being qualified to perform a service or services because of a separate policy of the State plan, system, organization, or entity that does not recognize an approved nationally recognized accreditation organization with the appropriate 'deeming authority' from the Secretary'' after ''subsection (a)'' and in section 1913.

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section take effect on the date of enactment of this Act and, in the case of MA organizational plans under part C of title XVIII of the Social Security Act, apply to plan years beginning after that date.

SEC. 2008. AUTOMATIC INCREASE IN THE FEDERAL MEDICAL ASSISTANCE PERCENTAGE DURING PERIODS OF NATIONAL EMERGENCY.

(a) NATIONAL ECONOMIC DOWNTURN ASSISTANCE FMAP.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 1905 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1396d), as amended by sections 2001(a)(3), 2006, 4106(b), and 4107, is amended—

(A) in subsection (b), in the first sentence—

(i) by striking “and” and inserting “(5)”; and

and

(B) by adding at the end the following:

“(cc) NATIONAL ECONOMIC DOWNTURN ASSISTANCE FMAP.—For purposes of clause (6) of the first sentence of subsection (b), and

(1) NATIONAL ECONOMIC DOWNTURN ASSISTANCE PERIOD.—A national economic downturn assistance period described in this paragraph—

(A) begins with the first fiscal year quarter for which the Secretary determines that the rolling average unemployment rate for that quarter has increased by at least 10 percent over the corresponding quarter for the most recent preceding 12-month period for which data are available (in this subsection referred to as the ‘trigger quarter’); and

(B) ends with the first succeeding fiscal year quarter for which the Secretary determines that less than 23 States have a rolling average unemployment rate for that quarter with an increase of at least 10 percent over the corresponding quarter for the most recent preceding 12-month period for which data are available;

(2) ELIGIBLE STATE.—A State described in this paragraph is a State for which the Secretary determines that the rolling average unemployment rate for the State for any quarter occurring during a national economic downturn assistance period described in paragraph (1) has increased over the corresponding quarter for the most recent preceding 12-month period for which data are available;

(3) DETERMINATION OF NATIONAL ECONOMIC DOWNTURN ASSISTANCE FMAP.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The national economic downturn assistance FMAP for a fiscal year quarter determined with respect to a State under this paragraph is equal to the Federal medical assistance percentage for the State for that quarter increased by the number of percentage points determined by—

“(i) dividing—

(I) the Medicaid additional unemployed increased cost amount determined under subparagraph (B) for the quarter; by

(II) the State’s total Medicaid quarterly spending amount determined under subparagraph (C) for the quarter;

and

(B) MEDICAID ADDITIONAL UNEMPLOYED INCREASED COST AMOUNT DETERMINED.—

(1) (I) the State’s total Medicaid quarterly spending amount determined under subparagraph (A)(i)(I), the Medicaid additional unemployed increased cost amount determined under this subparagraph with respect to the quarter

and

(2) (ii) multiplying the quotient determined under clause (i) by 100.

(3) State Increase in Rolling Average Number of Unemployed Individuals from Three Quarter of a Calendar Year—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The amount determined by subtracting the rolling average number of unemployed individuals in the State for the base unemployment quarter for the State determined under subclause (I) from the rolling average number of unemployed individuals in the State for the base unemployment quarter for the State.

(II) BASE UNEMPLOYMENT QUARTER DEFINED.—

(aa) In General.—For purposes of subclause (II), except as provided in item (bb), the base quarter for a State is the quarter with the lowest rolling average number of unemployed individuals in the State in the 12-month period preceding the quarter for a national economic downturn assistance period described in paragraph (1).

(bb) Special Rule.—If the rolling average number of unemployed individuals in the State for the base quarter determined under item (aa), that quarter shall be treated as the base quarter for the State for such national economic downturn assistance period.

(ii) National average amount of additional medical assistance spending for nonelderly unemployed individual.—In the case of—

(i) a calendar quarter occurring in fiscal year 2012, $350; and

(ii) a calendar quarter occurring in any succeeding fiscal year, the amount applicable under this clause for calendar quarters occurring within the preceding fiscal year, increased by the annual percentage increase in the medical care component of the consumer price index for all urban consumers (U.S. city average), as rounded up in an appropriate manner.

(ii) State nonelderly, nonelderly adults, and children Medicaid spending index.—

(I) IN GENERAL.—With respect to a State, the quotient (not to exceed 1.00) of—

(aa) the State expenditure per person in poverty amount determined under subclause (II); divided by

(bb) the National expenditure per person in poverty amount determined under subclause (II).

(II) STATE EXPENDITURE PER PERSON IN POVERTY AMOUNT.—For purposes of subclause (I)(aa), the National expenditure per person in poverty amount is the quotient of—

(aa) the total amount of annual expenditures for providing medical assistance under the State plan to all individuals eligible for medical assistance under the State plan to all individuals described in paragraph (4)(A) (including a multiyear average of such expenditures paid for any fiscal year quarters occurring during such periods, as well as to the effects of the Comptroller General determines appropriate.

(ii) the monthly seasonally adjusted number of unemployed individuals for the State;

(bb) the total number of nonelderly adults and children who reside in the State, as determined under paragraph (4)(A).

(iii) NATIONAL EXPENDITURE PER PERSON IN POVERTY AMOUNT.—For purposes of subclause (I)(bb), the National expenditure per person in poverty amount is the quotient of—

(aa) the sum of the total amounts determined under subclause (II)(aa) for all States; divided by

(bb) the sum of the total amounts determined under subclause (II)(bb) for all States.

(III) STATE MEDICAID QUARTERLY SPENDING AMOUNT.—For purposes of subparagraph (A)(i), the State’s total Medicaid quarterly spending amount determined under this subparagraph with respect to a State and a quarter is the amount equal to—

(i) the total amount of expenditures by the State for providing medical assistance under the State plan to all individuals eligible for medical assistance under the State plan that occurred in the most recent fiscal year for which data is available; divided by

(ii) 4.

(IV) DATA.—In making the determinations required under this subsection, the Secretary shall use, in addition to the most recent available data from the Bureau of Labor Statistics Local Area Unemployment Statistics for each State referred to in paragraph (5), the most recently available—

(A) data on the average monthly unemployment rate for the period described in paragraph (1); determined under subparagraph with respect to the number of nonelderly adults and children who reside in a State described in paragraph (2) with family income below the poverty line for the period described in paragraph (1).

(B) data reported to the Secretary by a State described in paragraph (2) with respect to expenditures for medical assistance under the State plan for nonelderly, nonelderly adults, and children; and

(C) econometric studies of the responsiveness of Medicaid enrollments and spending to changes in rolling average unemployment rates and other factors, including State spending on certain Medicaid populations.

(V) DEFINITION OF ‘ROLLING AVERAGE NUMBER OF UNEMPLOYED INDIVIDUALS’, ‘ROLLING AVERAGE UNEMPLOYMENT RATE’.—In this subsection, the term—

(A) ‘rolling average number of unemployed individuals’ means, with respect to a calendar quarter and a State, the average of the 12 most recent months of seasonally adjusted unemployment data for each State;

(B) ‘rolling average unemployment rate’ means, with respect to a calendar quarter and a State, the average of the 12 most recent monthly unemployment rates for the State; and

(C) ‘monthly unemployment rate’ means, with respect to a State, the quotient of—

(i) the monthly seasonally adjusted number of unemployed individuals for the State; divided by

(ii) the monthly seasonally adjusted number of the labor force for the State.

(6) INCREASE IN CAP ON PAYMENTS TO TERRITORIES.—With respect to any fiscal year quarter for which the national economic downturn assistance Federal medical assistance percentage amount determined for the State under section 1905(c)(3) of the Social Security Act for amounts expended by the State prior to January 1, 2012.

(b) GAU STUDY AND REPORT.—

(1) STUDY.—The Comptroller General of the United States shall study the national economic downturn and periods of national economic downturn, including the most recent such period in effect as of the date of enactment of this Act, and the past and projected effects of temporary increases in the Federal medical assistance percentage under the Medicaid program with respect to such periods.

(2) REPORT.—Not later than April 1, 2011, the Comptroller General of the United States shall submit a report to Congress on the results of the analysis conducted under paragraph (1). Such report shall include such recommendations as the Comptroller General determines appropriate for modifying the national economic downturn assistance FMAP established under section 1905(c) of the Social Security Act (as added by subsection (a)) to improve the effectiveness of the application of such percentage in addressing the needs of States during periods of national economic downturn, including recommendations for—

(A) improvements to the factors that begin and end the application of such percentage;

(B) how the determination of such percentage could be adjusted to address State and regional economic variations during such periods;

(C) how the determination of such percentage could be adjusted to be more responsive to actual Medicaid costs incurred by States during such periods, as well as to the effects of any other specific economic indicators that the Comptroller General determines appropriate.

SEC. 2708. EVALUATION OF STATE COMPLIANCE WITH PROVISION OF COMMUNITY-BASED SERVICES TO INDIVIDUALS WITH PROVISION OF COMMUNITY-BASED SERVICES TO INDIVIDUALS WITH DISABILITIES.

Not later than December 31, 2010, and annually thereafter, the Inspector General of the Department of Justice shall prepare and submit to Congress a report that evaluates the adequacy of efforts by States to provide appropriate home and community-based services to individuals with disabilities in accordance with the requirements under Olmstead v. L.C., 527 U.S. 381 (1999).

SEC. 2709. PAYMENT TO STATES AS A RESULT OF THE SPECIAL DISABILITY WORKLOAD PROJECT.

(a) In General.—The Secretary, in consultation with the Commissioner, shall work with each State to reach an agreement, not later than 6 months after the date of enactment of this Act, on the amount of a payment to be provided to the State with respect to the Medicaid program liability as a result of the Special Disability Workload project, subject to the requirements of subsection (c).

(b) Payment Agreement.—

(1) DEADLINE FOR MAKING PAYMENTS.—Not later than 30 days after reaching an agreement with a State under subsection (a), the Secretary, in consultation with the State, from the amounts appropriated under paragraph (2), the payment agreed to for the State.

(2) APPROPRIATION.—Out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, there is appropriated $4,000,000,000 for fiscal year 2010 for making payments to States under paragraph (1).

(c) Requirements.—The requirements of this subsection are the following:

(1) FEDERAL DATA USED TO DETERMINE AMOUNT OF PAYMENTS.—The amount of the payment under subsection (a) for each State is determined on the basis of the most recent Federal data available, including the use of proxies and reasonable estimates as necessary. Such reasonable estimates are proportionately based on the amount of the payment that shall be made to each State that enters into an agreement under this section. The payment methodology is as follows:

(A) The number of SDW cases found to have been eligible for benefits under the Medicare program and the month of the initial Medicare program eligibility for such cases.

(B) The applicable non-Federal share of expenditures made under the Medicaid program during the time period for SDW cases.

(C) Such other factors as the Secretary and the Commissioner and the States, determine appropriate.

(2) CONDITIONS FOR PAYMENTS.—A State shall not receive a payment under this section unless the State:

(A) waives the right to file a civil action (or to be a party to any action) in any Federal or State court in which the relief sought includes a payment under subsection (a). The waiver of the right to file such action is resolved in favor of the State.

(B) approves under section 1115 or 1915 of such Act a Medicaid project; and

(C) submits an amendment intended to be proposed to amendment SA 2786 proposed by Mr. REID (for himself, Mr. BAUCUS, Mr. DODD, and Mr. HARKIN) to the bill H.R. 3590, to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to modify the first-time homebuyers credit in the case of members of the Armed Forces and certain other Federal employees, and for other purposes, which was ordered to lie on the table, as follows:

Beginning on page 402, strike line 15 and all that follows through page 403, line 9, and insert the following:

(A) NEWLY ELIGIBLE.—The term "newly eligible" means an individual described in subclause (VIII) of section 1902(a)(10)(A)(i) who, on the date of enactment of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, is not eligible under the State plan for full benefits or for benchmark coverage described in section 1907(b)(1) or benchmark equivalent coverage described in section 1907(b)(2), or is eligible but not enrolled (or is on a waiting list) for such benefits or coverage through a waiver under the State plan that has a capped or limited enrollment that is full.

SEC. 1601. UTILIZATION REVIEW ACTIVITIES.

(a) Compliance with Requirements.—

(1) In general.—A group health plan, and a health insurance issuer that provides health insurance coverage, shall conduct utilization review activities in connection with the plan or issuer under such health insurance coverage only in accordance with a utilization review program that meets the requirements of this section and section 1602.

(2) Subcontracting.—Nothing in this section shall be construed as preventing a group health plan or health insurance issuer from arranging through a contract or otherwise with one or more entities to conduct utilization review activities on behalf of the plan or issuer, so long as such activities are conducted in accordance with a utilization review program that meets the requirements of this section.

(b) Utilization Review Defined.—For purposes of this section, the terms “utilization review” and “utilization review activities” mean procedures used to monitor or evaluate the use or coverage, clinical necessity, appropriateness, efficacy, or efficiency of health care services, procedures or settings, and includes prospective review, concurrent review, second opinions, case management, discharge planning, or retrospective review.

(c) Written Policies and Criteria.—

(1) Written policies.—A utilization review program shall be conducted consistent with written policies and procedures that govern all aspects of the program.

(2) Use of written criteria.—

(A) In general.—Such a program shall utilize written clinical review criteria developed by a qualified group of actively practicing health care professionals, as determined by the plan, pursuant to the program. Such criteria shall include written clinical review criteria that are based on valid clinical evidence where available and that are directed specifically at meeting the needs of at-risk populations and covered individuals with chronic conditions or severe illnesses, including gender-specific criteria and pediatric-specific criteria where available and appropriate.

(B) Designating Rate of Standards in Retrospective Review.—If a health care service has been specifically pre-authorized or approved for a participant, beneficiary, or enrollee under a group health plan, the program shall not, pursuant to retrospective review, revise or modify the specific standards, criteria, or procedures used for the utilization review for procedures, treatment, and services delivered to the enrollee during the same course of treatment.

(d) Conduct of Sample Claims Denials.—

Such a program shall provide for a periodic evaluation of the clinical appropriateness of at least a sample of denials of claims for benefits.

(e) Conduct of Program Activities.—

(1) Administration by Health Care Professionals.—A utilization review program shall be administered by qualified health care professionals who shall oversee review decisions.

(2) Use of Qualified, Independent Persons.—

(A) In general.—A utilization review program shall provide for the conduct of utilization review activities only through personnel who have received at least appropriate training in the conduct of such activities under the program.

(B) Prohibition of Continuing Compensation.—Such a program shall not, with respect to utilization review activities, permit or provide compensation or any-possible, but not later than 30 days after the date on which the plan or issuer receives information that is reasonably necessary to enable the plan or issuer to make a determination on the claim, or, if earlier, 30 days after the date of receipt of the claim for benefits.

(c) NOTICE OF A DENIAL OF A CLAIM FOR BENEFITS.—Written notice of a denial made under an initial claim for benefits shall be issued to the participant, beneficiary, or enrollee (or authorized representative) and the treating health care professional in accordance with the medical exigencies of the case and as soon as possible, but in no case later than 2 days after the date of the determination or, if earlier, 60 days after the date on which the plan or issuer receives information that is reasonably necessary to enable the plan or issuer to make a determination on the claim for benefits and includes a claim for benefits determination under section 114 (relating to specialty care).

SEC. 1612. ACCESS TO EMERGENCY CARE. (a) COVERAGE OF EMERGENCY SERVICES. (1) IN GENERAL.—If a group health plan, or health insurance coverage provided by a health insurance issuer, provides any benefits with respect to specialty care and emergency services, the plan or issuer shall cover emergency ambulance services (as defined in paragraph (2)) furnished during the plan or coverage under the same terms and conditions under subparagraphs (A) through (D) of subsection (a)(1) under which coverage is provided for emergency services.

(b) REIMBURSEMENT FOR MAINTENANCE CARE. For purposes of this subsection, the term “emergency ambulance services” means ambulance services (as defined for purposes of section 1613(a)(7) of the Social Security Act) furnished to transport an individual who has an emergency medical condition (as defined in subsection (a)(2)(A)) to a hospital for the receipt of emergency services (as defined in subsection (a)(2)(B)), and in a case in which the emergency services are covered under the plan or coverage pursuant to subsection (a)(1), the emergency services are covered under the plan or coverage offered by a health insurance issuer, provides any benefit with respect to any emergency medical condition.

(c) LIMITATION. (1) In general.—If a group health plan, or health insurance coverage provided by a health insurance issuer, provides any benefits with respect to specialty care and emergency services, the plan or issuer shall cover emergency ambulance services (as defined in paragraph (2)) furnished during the plan or coverage under the same terms and conditions under subparagraphs (A) through (D) of subsection (a)(1) under which coverage is provided for emergency services.

(d) REQUIREMENTS OF NOTICE OF DETERMINATIONS.—The written notice of a denial of a claim for benefits determination under subsection (c) shall be provided in a manner consistent with subsection (a)(1)(C).

(e) COVERAGE OF EMERGENCY AMBULANCE SERVICES.—For purposes of this subsection, the term “emergency ambulance services” means ambulance services (as defined for purposes of section 1613(a)(7) of the Social Security Act) furnished to transport an individual who has an emergency medical condition (as defined in subsection (a)(2)(A)) to a hospital for the receipt of emergency services (as defined in subsection (a)(2)(B)), and in a case in which the emergency services are covered under the plan or coverage pursuant to subsection (a)(1), the emergency services are covered under the plan or coverage offered by a health insurance issuer, provides any benefit with respect to any emergency medical condition.

(f) LIMITATION. (1) In general.—If a group health plan, or health insurance coverage provided by a health insurance issuer, provides any benefits with respect to specialty care and emergency services, the plan or issuer shall cover emergency ambulance services (as defined in paragraph (2)) furnished during the plan or coverage under the same terms and conditions under subparagraphs (A) through (D) of subsection (a)(1) under which coverage is provided for emergency services.

(g) REQUIREMENTS OF NOTICE OF DETERMINATIONS.—The written notice of a denial of a claim for benefits determination under subsection (c) shall be provided in a manner consistent with subsection (a)(1)(C).

(h) COVERAGE OF EMERGENCY AMBULANCE SERVICES.—For purposes of this subsection, the term “emergency ambulance services” means ambulance services (as defined for purposes of section 1613(a)(7) of the Social Security Act) furnished to transport an individual who has an emergency medical condition (as defined in subsection (a)(2)(A)) to a hospital for the receipt of emergency services (as defined in subsection (a)(2)(B)), and in a case in which the emergency services are covered under the plan or coverage pursuant to subsection (a)(1), the emergency services are covered under the plan or coverage offered by a health insurance issuer, provides any benefit with respect to any emergency medical condition.
(B) may not be refused solely because the authorization involves services of a non-participating specialist (described in subsection (a)(3)).

(2) ONGOING SPECIAL CONDITIONS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subsection (a)(1), a group health plan or health insurance issuer may, at its discretion, require a beneficiary, or enrollee who has an ongoing special condition (as defined in subparagraph (B)) to receive a referral to a specialist for the treatment of such condition and such specialist may authorize such referrals, procedures, tests, and other medical services with respect to such condition, or coordinate the care or services provided with respect to such condition, subject to the terms of a treatment plan (if any) referred to in subsection (c) with respect to the condition.

(B) ONGOING SPECIAL CONDITION DEFINED.—

In this subsection, the term "ongoing special condition" means a condition or disease that—

(i) is life-threatening, degenerative, potentially disabling, or congenital; and

(ii) requires specialized medical care over a prolonged period of time.

(c) NOTICE.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—A group health plan or health insurance issuer may require that the specialty care be provided—

(A) pursuant to a treatment plan, but only if the treatment plan—

(i) is developed by the specialist, in consultation with the case manager or primary care provider, and the participant, beneficiary, or enrollee, and

(ii) is approved by the plan or issuer in a timely manner, if the plan or issuer requires such approval, and

(B) in accordance with applicable quality assurance and utilization review standards of the plan or issuer.

(2) NOTIFICATION.—Nothing in paragraph (1) shall be construed as prohibiting a plan or issuer from requiring the specialist to provide the plan or issuer with regular updates on the specialty care provided, as well as all other reasonably necessary medical information.

(d) SPECIALIST DEFINED.—For purposes of this section, the term "specialist" means, with respect to the condition of the participant, beneficiary, or enrollee, a health care professional or facility that has adequate expertise through appropriate training and experience (including, in the case of a child, appropriate pediatric expertise) to provide high quality care in treating the condition.

SEC. 1614. ACCESS TO PEDIATRIC CARE.

(a) PEDIATRIC CARE.—In the case of a person who has a child who is a participant, beneficiary, or enrollee under a group health plan, or health insurance coverage offered by a health insurance issuer, if the plan or issuer requires or provides for the designation of a pediatric primary care provider for the child, the plan or issuer shall permit such person to designate a physician (allopathic or osteopathic) who specializes in pediatrics as the child's primary care provider, if such provider participates in the network of the plan or issuer.

(b) CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in subsection (a) shall be construed to waive any exclusions of coverage under the terms and conditions of the plan or health insurance coverage with respect to coverage of pediatric care.

SEC. 1615. PATIENT ACCESS TO OBSTETRICAL AND GYNECOLOGICAL CARE.

(a) GENERAL RIGHTS.—

(1) A participant, beneficiary, or enrollee under a group health plan, or health insurance issuer offering health insurance coverage, described in subsection (b) may not require authorization or referral by the plan, issuer, or any person (including a primary care provider described in subsection (b)(2)) in the case of a female participant, beneficiary, or enrollee who seeks coverage for obstetrical or gynecological care provided by a participating health care professional who specializes in obstetrics or gynecology.

(b) APPLICATION OF SECTION.—A group health plan, or health insurance issuer offering health insurance coverage, described in this subsection is a group health plan or coverage that—

(1) provides coverage for obstetrical or gynecological care, and

(2) requires the designation by a participant, beneficiary, or enrollee of a participating primary care provider.

(c) CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in subsection (a) shall be construed to—

(1) waive any exclusions of coverage under the terms and conditions of the plan or health insurance coverage, or coordinate the ordering of related obstetrical and gynecological items and services, with respect to such condition, as described in subsection (1), by a participating health care professional who specializes in obstetrics or gynecology as the authorization of the primary care provider.

(d) TERMINATION OF CONTRACT WITH PRIMARY CARE PROVIDER.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to extend the transitional period under subsection (a)(4) of the Social Security Act (1861(dd)(3)(A) of the Social Security Act) at the time of such notice, but only with respect to the time period immediately preceding the date of such notice.

(e) CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to extend the transitional period under subsection (a)(4)(B) beyond the date of such notice.

SEC. 1616. CONTINUITY OF CARE.

(a) TERMINATION OF PROVIDER.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—If—

(A) a contract between a group health plan, or a health insurance issuer offering health insurance coverage, and a treating health care provider is terminated (as defined in subsection (e)(4)), or

(B) benefits or coverage provided by a health care provider are terminated because of a change in the plan or health insurance coverage, the plan or issuer shall meet the requirements of paragraph (3) with respect to the termination of such contract or coverage.

(2) TREATMENT OF TERMINATION OF CONTRACT WITH HEALTH INSURANCE ISSUER.—If a contract for the provision of health insurance coverage between a group health plan and a health insurance issuer is terminated and, as a result of such termination, coverage of services of a health care provider is terminated with respect to an individual, the provisions of paragraph (1) (and the succeeding provisions of this section) shall apply under the plan in the same manner as if there had been a contract between the plan and the provider that had been terminated, but only with respect to benefits that are covered under the plan after the contract termination.

(3) REQUIREMENTS.—The requirements of this paragraph are that the plan or issuer—

(A) notify the continuing care patient involved, or have the patient notified pursuant to subsection (d)(2), on a timely basis of the termination described in paragraph (1) (or paragraph (2), if applicable) and the right to receive continued transitional care from the provider under this section;

(B) provide the patient with an opportunity to notify the plan or issuer of the patient's need to continue care from the provider described in subsection (c); and

(C) subject to subsection (c), permit the patient to elect to continue to be covered with respect to the course of treatment by such provider with the provider's consent during a transitional period (as provided for under subsection (b)).

(b) CONTINUING CARE PATIENT.—For purposes of this section, the term "continuing care patient" means a participant, beneficiary, or enrollee who—

(1) is pregnant and undergoing a course of treatment for a serious and complex condition from the provider at the time the plan or issuer receives or provides notice of provider, benefit, or cost-sharing changes required by this section, the provider's consent; or

(2) is undergoing a course of treatment for a serious and complex condition from the provider at the time the plan or issuer receives or provides notice of provider, benefit, or cost-sharing changes required by this section, the provider's consent; or

(3) is scheduled to undergo non-elective surgery from the provider at the time of such notice.

(c) SCHEDULED NON-ELECTIVE SURGERY.—The transitional period under this subsection for a continuing care patient described in subsection (a)(4)(A) shall extend until the date of discharge of the patient from such care or the termination of the patient's life for care that is directly related to the treatment of the terminal illness or its medical manifestations.

(d) PERMISSIBLE TERMS AND CONDITIONS.—A group health plan or health insurance issuer may condition coverage of continued treatment by a provider under this section upon the provider agreeing to the following terms and conditions:

(1) The treating health care provider agrees to accept reimbursement from the plan or issuer and continuing care patient involved (with respect to cost-sharing) at the rates applicable prior to the start of the transitional period as if the plan or health insurance issuer were part of a group health plan (or, in the case described in subsection (a)(2), at the rates applicable under the replacement plan or coverage after the date of the termination of the contract with the primary care provider and the health insurance issuer) and not to impose cost-sharing with respect to the patient in an amount that would exceed the cost-sharing that could have been imposed if the contract referred to in subsection (a)(1) had not been terminated.

(2) The treating health care provider agrees to adhere to the quality assurance standards of the plan or issuer responsible for payment under paragraph (1) and to provide the plan or issuer with such reports and other information related to the care provided.

(3) The treating health care provider agrees otherwise to adhere to such plan's or issuer's policies and procedures, including procedures regarding referrals and obtaining prior authorization and providing services pursuant to a treatment plan (if any) approved by the plan or issuer.

RULES OF CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this section shall be construed—

(1) to require the coverage of benefits which would not have been covered if the provider involved remained a participating provider; or

(2) with respect to the termination of a contract under subsection (a) to prevent a group health plan or health insurance issuer from requiring that the health care provider—

(A) notify participants, beneficiaries, or enrollees of their rights under this section; or

(B) provide the plan or issuer with the name of each participant, beneficiary, or enrollee who the provider believes is a continuing care patient.

DEFINITIONS.—In this section:

(1) CONTRACT.—The term ‘contract’ includes, with respect to a plan or issuer and a treating health care provider, a contract between the plan or issuer and an organized network of providers that includes the treating health care provider, and in the case of such a contract the contract between the treating health care provider and the organized network.

(2) HEALTH CARE PROVIDER.—The term ‘health care provider’ or ‘provider’ means—

(A) any individual who is engaged in the delivery of health care services in a State and who is required by State law or regulation to be licensed or certified by the State to engage in the delivery of such services in the State; and

(B) any entity that is engaged in the delivery of health care services in a State and that, if it is required by State law or regulation to be licensed or certified by the State to engage in the delivery of such services in the State, is so licensed.

(3) SERIOUS AND COMPLEX CONDITION.—The term ‘serious and complex condition’ means, with respect to a participant, beneficiary, or enrollee under the plan or coverage—

(A) in the case of an acute illness, a condition that is serious enough to require specialized medical treatment to avoid the reasonable possibility of death or permanent harm; or

(B) in the case of a chronic illness or condition, an ongoing, serious, or complex condition (as defined in section 1902(r)(5)).

(4) TERMINATED.—The term ‘terminated’ includes, with respect to a contract, the expiration, nonrenewal or nontermination of the contract does not include a termination of the contract for failure to meet applicable quality standards or for fraud.

Subpart C—Protecting the Doctor-Patient Relationship

SEC. 1621. PROHIBITION OF INTERFERENCE WITH CERTAIN MEDICAL COMMUNICATIONS.

(a) GENERAL RULE.—The provisions of any contract or agreement, or the operation of any contract or agreement, between a group health plan or health insurance issuer in relation to health insurance coverage (including any partnership, association, or other organization that enters into or administers such contract or agreement) and a health care provider (or group of health care providers) shall not prohibit or otherwise restrict a health care professional from advising a patient who is a participant, beneficiary, or enrollee who is a patient of the professional about the health status of the individual or medical care or treatment for the individual who is a patient of the professional, whether benefits for such care or treatment are provided under the plan or coverage, if the professional is acting within the lawful scope of providers' practice.

(b) NULLIFICATION.—Any contract provision or agreement that restricts or prohibits medical communications in violation of subsection (a) shall be null and void.

Subpart D—Definitions

SEC. 1631. DEFINITIONS.

(a) INCORPORATION OF GENERAL DEFINITIONS.—Except as otherwise provided, the provisions of section 2791 of the Public Health Service Act shall apply for purposes of this part in the same manner as they apply for purposes of title XXVII of such Act.

(b) SECRETARY.—Except as otherwise provided, the term ‘Secretary’ means the Secretary of Health and Human Services in consultation with the Labor and the term ‘appropriate Secretary’ means the Secretary of Health and Human Services in consultation with carrying out this part under sections 2796 and 2793 of the Public Health Service Act and the Secretary of Labor in consultation with carrying out this part under section 713 of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974.

(c) ADDITIONAL DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this part:

(1) APPLICABLE AUTHORITY.—The term ‘applicable authority’ means—

(A) in the case of a group health plan, the Secretary of Health and Human Services and the Secretary of Labor; and

(B) in the case of a health insurance issuer with respect to a specific provision of this part, the applicable State authority (as defined in section 732(d) of such Act or defined inapplicable with respect to health insurance coverage, requirements imposed under this part with respect to the plan or coverage).

(2) CONTINUATION.—The term ‘continuation’ means, with respect to health insurance coverage offered by a health insurance issuer, an individual enrolled with the issuer to receive such coverage.

(3) GROUP HEALTH PLAN.—The term ‘group health plan’ has the meaning given such term in section 732 of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, except that such term includes an employee welfare benefit plan treated as a group health plan under section 732(a) of such Act if such a plan under section 701 of such Act.

(4) HEALTH CARE PROFESSIONAL.—The term ‘health care professional’ means an individual who is licensed, accredited, or certified under applicable State laws.

(5) HEALTH CARE PROVIDER.—The term ‘health care provider’ includes a physician or other health care professional, as well as any institution, professional corporation, or organization, or agency that provides health care services and that is licensed, accredited, or certified to provide health care items and services under applicable State laws.

(6) NETWORK.—The term ‘network’ means, with respect to a group health plan or health insurance issuer offering health insurance coverage, the participating health care professionals and providers through whom the plan or issuer provides health care items and services to participants, beneficiaries, or enrollees.

(7) NONPARTICIPATING.—The term “nonparticipating” means, with respect to a health care provider that provides health care items and services to a participant, beneficiary, or enrollee under group health plan or health insurance coverage, a health care provider that is not a participating health care provider with respect to such items and services.

(8) PARTICIPATING.—The term ‘participating’ means, with respect to a health care provider that provides health care items and services to a participant, beneficiary, or enrollee under group health plan or health insurance coverage offered by a health insurance issuer, a health care provider that furnishes such items and services under a contract or other arrangement with the plan or issuer.

(9) PRIOR AUTHORIZATION.—The term ‘prior authorization’ means the process of obtaining approval for the payment of health care items and services that would not have been covered if the contract or agreement, or the operation of any contract or agreement, under group health plan or health insurance coverage for the provision or coverage of medical services.

(10) TERMS AND CONDITIONS.—The term ‘terms and conditions’ includes, with respect to a group health plan or health insurance coverage, requirements imposed under this part with respect to the plan or coverage.

SEC. 1632. PREEMPTION; STATE FLEXIBILITY; CONSTRUCTION.

(a) CONTINUATION OF APPLICABILITY OF STATE LAW WITH RESPECT TO HEALTH INSURANCE ISSUERS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Subject to paragraph (2), the provisions of section 2791 of the Public Health Service Act (as added by section 2794 of such Act or defined in such section (c)) shall not prohibit, preempt, or otherwise affect a provision of State law which establishes, implements, or continues in effect any standard or requirement solely related to health insurance issuers (in connection with group health insurance coverage or otherwise) except to the extent that such standard or requirement prevents the application of a requirement of this part.

(2) CONTINUED PREEMPTION WITH RESPECT TO GROUP HEALTH PLANS.—Nothing in this subpart shall be construed to affect or modify the provisions of section 2791 of the Public Health Service Act (as added by section 2794 of such Act or defined in such section (c)) or the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 with respect to group health plans.

(b) CONSTRUCTION.—In applying this section, a State law that provides for equal access to, and availability of, all categories of licensed health care providers and services shall not be treated as preventing the application of any requirement of this part.

(2) APPLICATION OF SUBSTANTIALLY COMPLIANT STATE LAWS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—In the case of a State law that imposes, with respect to health insurance coverage offered by a health insurance issuer and with respect to a group health plan that is a non-Federal governmental plan, a requirement that substantially complies (within the meaning of subsection (c)) with a patient protection requirement as defined in paragraph (3) and does not prevent the application of other requirements under this subtitle (except in the case of other substantially compliant requirements), in applying the requirements of this part under section 2720 and 2754 (as applicable) of the Public Health Service Act (as added by part II), subject to subsection (a)(2), the State law shall not be treated as being superseded under subsection (a); and

(B) the State law shall apply instead of the patient protection requirement otherwise applicable with respect to health insurance coverage and non-Federal governmental plans.
(2) LIMITATION.—In the case of a group health plan covered under title I of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, paragraph (1) shall be construed to apply to the requirements of such plan as it relates to patient protection requirements (if any) offered in connection with the plan.

(3) DEFINITIONS.—In this section:

(A) PATIENT PROTECTION REQUIREMENT.—The term "patient protection requirement" means a requirement under this part, and includes (as a single requirement) a group or related set of requirements under a section or similar unit under this part.

(B) SUBSTANTIALLY COMPLIANT.—The terms "substantially compliant", "substantially complies with", and "substantially complies with" shall—

(i) provide a State with a notice of the determination described in paragraph (1); and

(ii) promptly publish in the Federal Register a notice that a State has submitted a certification under paragraph (1).

(iii) promptly publish in the Federal Register a notice that a State has submitted a certification under paragraph (1).

(iv) promptly publish in the Federal Register a notice that a State has submitted a certification under paragraph (1).

(C) DETERMINATIONS OF SUBSTANTIAL COMPLIANCE.—

(1) CERTIFICATION BY STATES.—A State may submit to the Secretary a certification that a State law provides for patient protections that are at least substantially compliant with one or more patient protection requirements. Such certification shall be accompanied by any additional information as may be required to permit the Secretary to make the determination described in paragraph (2)(A).

(2) APPROVAL DEADLINES.—

(i) INITIAL REVIEW.—Such a certification is considered approved unless the Secretary notifies the State in writing, within 90 days after the date of receipt of the certification, that the certification is disapproved (and the reasons for disapproval) or that specified additional information is needed to make the determination described in paragraph (2)(A).

(ii) ADDITIONAL INFORMATION.—With respect to a State that has been notified by the Secretary under subparagraph (i) that specified additional information is needed to make the determination described in paragraph (2)(A), the Secretary shall make the determination described in paragraph (2)(A) within the 60-day period beginning on the date on which such petition is submitted.

(iii) PUBLICATION.—The Secretary shall promptly publish in the Federal Register a notice that a State has submitted a certification under paragraph (1); and

(iv) PUBLICATION.—The Secretary shall promptly publish in the Federal Register a notice that a State has submitted a certification under paragraph (1); and

(D) STATE LAW.—The term "State law" includes all laws, decisions, rules, regulations, or other State action having the effect of law, of any State. A law of the United States applicable only to the District of Columbia shall be treated as a State law rather than a law of the United States.

(2) STATE.—The term "State" includes a State, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, American Samoa, the Northern Mariana Islands, any political subdivisions of such, or any agency or instrumentality of such.

SEC. 1634. REGULATIONS.

The Secretaries of Health and Human Services and Labor shall issue such regulations as may be necessary or appropriate to carry out this part. Such regulations shall be issued consistent with section 194 of the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996. Such Secretaries may promulgate any interim final rules as the Secretaries determine are appropriate to carry out this part.

SEC. 1634. INCORPORATION INTO PLAN OR COVERAGE DOCUMENTS.

The requirements of this part with respect to a group health plan or health insurance coverage are deemed to be incorporated into, and made a part of, such plan or the policy, certificate, or contract providing such coverage and are enforceable under law as if directly included in the documentation of such plan or such policy, certificate, or contract.

PART II—APPLICATION OF QUALITY CARE STANDARDS TO GROUP HEALTH PLANS AND HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UNDER THE PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE ACT

SEC. 1641. APPLICATION TO GROUP HEALTH PLANS AND GROUP HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE.

"SEC. 2720. PATIENT PROTECTION STANDARDS.

"Each group health plan shall comply with patient protection requirements under part I of subtitle H of title I of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, and each health insurance issuer shall comply with patient protection requirements under such part with respect to group health insurance coverage it offers, and such requirements shall be deemed to be incorporated into this subsection.

"(a) AGREEMENT WITH STATES.—A State may enter into an agreement with the Secretary for the delegation to the State of all or some of the Secretary's authority under title I to enforce the requirements of part I of subtitle H of title I of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act with respect to health insurance coverage offered by a health insurance issuer that is a non-Federal governmental plan.

"(b) DELEGATIONS.—Any department, agency, or instrumentality of a State which is delegated pursuant to an agreement entered into under this section may, if authorized under State law and to the extent the State consistent with such agreement, exercise the functions, powers, and duties of the Secretary which relate to such authority.

PART III—AMENDMENTS TO THE EMPLOYEE RETIREMENT INCOME SECURITY ACT OF 1974.

SEC. 1651. APPLICATION OF PATIENT PROTECTION STANDARDS TO GROUP HEALTH PLANS AND HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UNDER THE PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE ACT

"SEC. 2720. PATIENT PROTECTION STANDARDS.

"Each group health plan shall comply with patient protection requirements under part I of subtitle H of title I of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, and each health insurance issuer shall comply with patient protection requirements under such part with respect to group health insurance coverage it offers, and such requirements shall be deemed to be incorporated into this subsection.

"(a) AGREEMENT WITH STATES.—A State may enter into an agreement with the Secretary for the delegation to the State of all or some of the Secretary's authority under title I to enforce the requirements of part I of subtitle H of title I of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act with respect to health insurance coverage offered by a health insurance issuer that is a non-Federal governmental plan.

"(b) DELEGATIONS.—Any department, agency, or instrumentality of a State which is delegated pursuant to an agreement entered into under this section may, if authorized under State law and to the extent the State consistent with such agreement, exercise the functions, powers, and duties of the Secretary which relate to such authority.

PART III—AMENDMENTS TO THE EMPLOYEE RETIREMENT INCOME SECURITY ACT OF 1974.

SEC. 1651. APPLICATION OF PATIENT PROTECTION STANDARDS TO GROUP HEALTH PLANS AND HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UNDER THE PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE ACT

"SEC. 2720. PATIENT PROTECTION STANDARDS.

"Each group health plan shall comply with patient protection requirements under part I of subtitle H of title I of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, and each health insurance issuer shall comply with patient protection requirements under such part with respect to group health insurance coverage it offers, and such requirements shall be deemed to be incorporated into this subsection.

"(a) AGREEMENT WITH STATES.—A State may enter into an agreement with the Secretary for the delegation to the State of all or some of the Secretary's authority under title I to enforce the requirements of part I of subtitle H of title I of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act with respect to health insurance coverage offered by a health insurance issuer that is a non-Federal governmental plan.

"(b) DELEGATIONS.—Any department, agency, or instrumentality of a State which is delegated pursuant to an agreement entered into under this section may, if authorized under State law and to the extent the State consistent with such agreement, exercise the functions, powers, and duties of the Secretary which relate to such authority.

PART III—AMENDMENTS TO THE EMPLOYEE RETIREMENT INCOME SECURITY ACT OF 1974.

SEC. 1651. APPLICATION OF PATIENT PROTECTION STANDARDS TO GROUP HEALTH PLANS AND HEALTH INSURANCE COVERAGE UNDER THE PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE ACT

"SEC. 2720. PATIENT PROTECTION STANDARDS.

"Each group health plan shall comply with patient protection requirements under part I of subtitle H of title I of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, and each health insurance issuer shall comply with patient protection requirements under such part with respect to group health insurance coverage it offers, and such requirements shall be deemed to be incorporated into this subsection.

"(a) AGREEMENT WITH STATES.—A State may enter into an agreement with the Secretary for the delegation to the State of all or some of the Secretary's authority under title I to enforce the requirements of part I of subtitle H of title I of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act with respect to health insurance coverage offered by a health insurance issuer that is a non-Federal governmental plan.

"(b) DELEGATIONS.—Any department, agency, or instrumentality of a State which is delegated pursuant to an agreement entered into under this section may, if authorized under State law and to the extent the State consistent with such agreement, exercise the functions, powers, and duties of the Secretary which relate to such authority.

PART III—AMENDMENTS TO THE EMPLOYEE RETIREMENT INCOME SECURITY ACT OF 1974.
the following requirements of part I of subtitle H of title I of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act with respect to such benefits and not be considered as failing to meet such requirements because of the fault of the issuer to meet such requirements so long as the plan sponsor or its representatives did not cause such failure by the issuer:

(A) Section 1871 (relating to choice of health care professional).

(B) Section 1612 (relating to access to emergency care).

(C) Section 1613 (relating to timely access to specialists).

(D) Section 1614 (relating to access to psychiatric care).

(E) Section 1615 (relating to patient access to obstetrical and gynecological care).

(F) Section 1616 (relating to continuity of care), but only if such a replacement issuer assumes the obligation for continuity of care.

(2) APPLICATION TO PROHIBITIONS.—Pursuant to rules of the Secretary, if a health insurance issuer offers health insurance coverage in connection with a group health plan and takes an action in violation of section 1821 of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (relating to prohibition of interference with certain medical communications), the group health plan shall not be liable for such violation unless the plan caused such violation.

(3) CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to affect or modify the responsibilities of the fiduciaries of a group health plan under part 4 of subtitle B.

(4) TREATMENT OF SUBSTANTIALLY COMPLIANT STATE LAWS.—For purposes of applying this subsection, any reference in this subsection to a requirement in a section other provision in subtitle H of title I of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act with respect to a health insurance issuer is deemed compliance with subsection (a) to a reference to a requirement under a State law that substantially complies (as determined under section 1622(c) of such Act) with the requirement in such section or other provisions.

(c) CONFORMING REGULATIONS.—The Secretary shall issue regulations to coordinate the requirements on group health plans and health insurance issuers under this section with the requirements imposed under the other provisions of this title.

(b) PROCLAMATION OF ERISA CLAIMS PROCEDURE REQUIREMENT.—Section 505 of such Act (29 U.S.C. 1133) is amended by inserting “(a)” after “Sec. 505.” and by adding at the end the following new subsection:

“(b) when in the case of a group health plan (as defined in section 733) compliance with the requirements of part A of part I of subtitle H of title I of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, and compliance with regulations promulgated by the Secretary, in the case of a claims denial shall be deemed compliance with subsection (a) (with respect to such claims denial).”

(c) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—(1) Section 732(a) of such Act (29 U.S.C. 1182(a)) is amended by striking “section 711” and inserting “sections 711 and 716.”

“Sec. 716. Patient protection standards”.

(d) EFFECT ON COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENTS.—In the case of health insurance coverage offered and maintained pursuant to one or more collective bargaining agreements between employee representatives and one or more employers that was ratified before the date of enactment of this title, the provisions of this section (and the amendments made by this section) shall not apply until the date on which the last of the collective bargaining agreements relating to the coverage terminates. Any coverage amendment made pursuant to a collective bargaining agreement relating to the coverage which amends the coverage solely to conform to any requirement added by this section (or amendments) shall not be treated as a termination of such collective bargaining agreement.

(I) who is a mandated reporter;

(ii) to whom must they report and within what time frame; and

(iii) any consequences for not reporting;

(iii) evidentiary, procedural, sentencing, choice of remedies, and data retention issues relating to pursuing cases relating to elder abuse, neglect, and exploitation;

(iv) laws requiring reporting of all nursing home deaths to the county coroner or to some other designated entity;

(v) fiduciary laws, including guardianship and power of attorney laws;

(vi) laws that permit or encourage banks and bank employees to prevent and report suspected elder abuse, neglect, and exploitation;

(vii) laws relating to fraud and related activities in connection with mail, telemarketing, or the Internet;

(viii) laws that may impede research on elder abuse, neglect, and exploitation;

(ix) practices relating to the enforcement of laws relating to elder abuse, neglect, and exploitation; and

(x) practices relating to other aspects of elder justice;

(b) DEVELOPMENT OF PLAN.—Develop objectives, priorities, policies, and a long-term plan for elder justice programs and activities relating to—

(A) prevention and detection of elder abuse, neglect, and exploitation;

(B) intervention and treatment for victims of elder abuse, neglect, and exploitation;

(C) training, evaluation, and research related to elder justice programs and activities; and

(D) improvement of the elder justice system in the United States.

(c) REPORT.—Not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of this Act, submit to the Committee on Aging of the Senate, and the Speaker and minority leader of the House of Representatives, and the Secretary of Health and Human Services, and make available to the States, a report that contains—

(1) the findings of the study conducted under paragraph (1);

(2) a description of the objectives, priorities, policies, and a long-term plan developed under paragraph (2); and

(3) a list, description, and analysis of the best practices used by States to develop, implement, maintain, and improve elder justice systems, based on such findings.

(b) GAO RECOMMENDATIONS.—Not later than 18 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Comptroller General shall review existing elder justice initiatives in the Federal criminal justice system relevant to elder justice and shall submit to Congress—

(1) a report on such programs and initiatives; and

(2) any recommendations the Comptroller General determines are appropriate to improve elder justice in the United States.

(c) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $5,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 2010 through 2016.

SEC. 32. VICTIM ADVOCACY GRANTS.

(a) GRANTS AUTHORIZED.—The Attorney General, after consultation with the Secretaries of Health and Human Services, shall award grant to eligible entities to study the special needs of victims of elder abuse, neglect, and exploitation.

(b) AUTHORIZED ACTIVITIES.—Funds awarded pursuant to subsection (a) shall be used for pilot programs that—

(1) develop programs for and provide training to local law enforcement, service providers, law enforcement, fiduciaries (including guardians), judges and court personnel, and victim advocates; and

(2) examine special approaches designed to meet the needs of victims of elder abuse, neglect, and exploitation.

(c) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $5,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 2010 through 2016.

SEC. 33. SUPPORTING LOCAL PROSECUTORS AND COURTS IN ELDER JUSTICE MATTERS.

(a) GRANTS AUTHORIZED.—Subject to the availability of appropriations under this section, the Attorney General, after consultation with the Secretaries of Health and Human Services, shall award grants to eligible entities to conduct a validated evaluation of the effectiveness of the activities carried out through the grant by such recipient.

(b) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $5,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 2010 through 2016.

SEC. 34. SUPPORTING STATE PROSECUTORS AND COURTS IN ELDER JUSTICE MATTERS.

(a) GRANTS AUTHORIZED.—Subject to the availability of appropriations under this section, the Attorney General, after consultation with the Secretaries of Health and Human Services, shall award grants to eligible entities to conduct a validated evaluation of the effectiveness of the activities carried out through the grant by such recipient.

SEC. 35. SUPPORTING LAW ENFORCEMENT IN ELDER JUSTICE MATTERS.

(a) GRANTS AUTHORIZED.—Subject to the availability of appropriations under this section, the Attorney General, after consultation with the Secretaries of Health and Human Services, the Postmaster General, and the Chief Postal Inspector for the United States Postal Inspection Service, shall award grants to eligible entities to carry out elder justice initiatives in support of first responders who handle elder justice-related matters, to fund specially designated elder justice positions or units designed to support first responders in elder justice matters.

(b) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $5,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 2010 through 2016.

SEC. 36. EVALUATIONS.

(a) GRANTS UNDER THIS PART.—(1) IN GENERAL.—In carrying out the grant programs under this part, the Attorney General shall—

(A) require each recipient of a grant to use a portion of the funds made available through the grant to conduct a validated evaluation of the effectiveness of the activities carried out through the grant by such recipient;

(B) authorize the Attorney General to carry out an evaluation of the effectiveness of the activities carried out through such grant program by each of the grant recipients.

(2) APPLICATIONS.—

(A) SUBMISSION.—To be eligible to receive a grant under this part, an entity shall submit an application to the Attorney General at such time, in such manner, and containing such information as the Attorney General may require, which shall include—

(I) a proposal to support first responders in elder justice matters, and

(ii) the amount of assistance under paragraph (1)(B) the entity is requesting, if any.

(B) REVIEW AND ASSISTANCE.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—An employee of the Department of Justice, after consultation with an employee of the Department of Health and Human Services with expertise in evaluation methodology, shall review each application described in subparagraph (A) and determine whether the methodology described in the proposal under subparagraph (A) is adequate to gather meaningful information.

(2) DENIAL.—If the reviewing employee determines the methodology described in such proposal is inadequate, such employee shall recommend that the Attorney General deny the application for the grant, or make recommendations for how the application should be amended.

(iii) NOTICE TO APPLICANT.—If the Attorney General denies the application on the basis of such proposal, the Attorney General shall inform the applicant of the reasons the application was denied, and offer assistance to the applicant in modifying the proposal.

(1) CONSULTATION.—Subject to the availability of appropriations under this section, the Attorney General shall award grants to appropriate entities to conduct validated evaluations and activities that are funded by Federal funds not provided under this part, or other funds, to reduce elder abuse, neglect, and exploitation.

(c) ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISIONS.—

There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $7,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 2009 through 2016.

SEC. 37. DEFINITIONS.

In this part:

(1) ELDER.—The term "elder" means an individual age 60 or older.

(2) ELDER JUSTICE.—The term "elder justice" means—

(A) from a societal perspective, efforts to

(i) prevent, detect, treat, intervene in, and pursue, elder abuse, neglect, and exploitation; and

(ii) protect elders with diminished capacity while preserving their autonomy; and

(B) from an individual perspective, the recognition of an elder's rights, including the right to be free of abuse, neglect, and exploitation.

(3) ELIGIBLE ENTITIES.—The term "eligible entity" means a State or local government agency, Indian tribe or tribal organization, or any other nonprofit personality that is engaged in and has expertise in issues relating to elder justice or a field necessary to promote elder justice efforts.

PART II—ELDER SERVE VICTIM GRANT PROGRAMS

SEC. 41. ESTABLISHMENT OF ELDER SERVE VICTIM GRANT PROGRAMS.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—The Attorney General, through the Director of the Office of Victims of Crime of the Department of Justice (in this section referred to as the "Director"), shall, subject to appropriations, carry out a grant program to be known as the Elder Serve Victim grant program (in this section referred to as the "Program") to provide grants to eligible entities to establish, facilitate, or coordinate programs described in subsection (e) for victims of elder abuse.

(b) ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS FOR GRAN-

TEES.—To receive a grant under the Program, an entity must meet the following criteria:

(1) ELIGIBLE CRIME VICTIM ASSISTANCE PROgram.—The entity is a crime victim assistance program receiving a grant under the Victims of Crime Act of 1984 (42 U.S.C. 1401 et seq.) for the period described in subsection (c)(2) with respect to the grant sought under this section.

(2) COORDINATION WITH LOCAL COMMUNITY BASED AGENCIES AND SERVICES.—The entity shall demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Director that such entity has a record of community coordination or established contacts with other county and local services that serve elderly individuals.

(3) ABILITY TO CREATE ECRIT ON TIMELY BASIS.—The entity shall demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Director the ability of the entity to create, not later than 6 months after receiving such grant, an Emergency Crisis Response Team program described in subsection (e)(1) and the programs described in subsection (e)(2).

For purposes of meeting the criteria described in paragraph (2), for each year an entity receives a grant under this section the entity shall provide a record of community coordination or established contacts described in such paragraph through memorandums of understanding, contracts, sub-contracts, and other such documentation.

(c) ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISIONS.—

(1) CONSULTATION.—Subject to the availability of appropriations under this section, the Attorney General shall award grants to appropriate entities to conduct validated evaluations and activities that are funded by Federal funds not provided under this part, or other funds, to reduce elder abuse, neglect, and exploitation.

(2) GRANT PERIOD.—Grants under the Program shall be issued for a three-year period.

(3) LOCATIONS.—The Program shall be carried out in six geographically and demographically diverse locations, taking into account—

(A) the number of elderly individuals residing in or near an area; and

(B) the difficulty of access to immediate, short-term housing, and mental health services for victims of elder abuse.

(d) PERSONNEL.—In providing care and services, each program established pursuant to this section shall incorporate and assist in creating an Emergency Crisis Response Teams under subsection (e)(1).

(e) USE OF GRANTS.—

(1) EMERGENCY CRISIS RESPONSE TEAM.—

Each entity that receives a grant under this section shall use such grant to establish an Emergency Crisis Response Team program by not later than the date that is six months after the entity receives the grant. Under such program the following shall apply:

(A) Such program shall include immediate, short-term emergency services, including shelter, care services, food, clothing, transportation to medical or legal appointment as appropriate.

(B) Such program shall provide services to victims of elder abuse, including those who have been referred to the program through the adult protective services agency of the local law enforcement or any other relevant law enforcement agency.

(C) A victim of elder abuse may not receive short-term housing under the program for more than 30 consecutive days.

(D) The program shall enter into arrangements with the relevant local law enforcement agencies so that the program receives quarterly reports from such agencies on elder abuse.

(E) SPECIAL SERVICES REQUIRED TO BE PROVIDED.—Not later than one year after the date an entity receives a grant under this section, such entity shall establish the following programs (and community collaborations) to support such programs:

(A) COUNSELING.—A program that provides counseling and assistance for victims of elder abuse accessing health care, educational, pension, or other benefits for which seniors may be eligible under Federal or applicable State law.

(B) MENTAL HEALTH SCREENING.—A program that provides mental health screenings for victims of elder abuse to identify and break assistance and treatment for mental health disorders such as depression or substance abuse.

(C) EMERGENCY LEGAL ADVOCACY.—A program that provides for the representation of victims of elder abuse and, as appropriate, their families.

(known as Silver Alert plans) in coordination with States, units of local government, law enforcement agencies, and other concerned entities with expertise in providing services to seniors.

SEC. 54. SILVER ALERT COORDINATOR.

(a) NATIONAL COORDINATOR WITHIN DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE.—The Attorney General shall designate an individual of the Department of Justice to act as the national coordinator of the Silver Alert communications network. The individual so designated shall be known as the Silver Alert Coordinator of the Department of Justice (referred to in this subtitle as the “Coordinator”).

(b) COORDINATOR.—In acting as the national coordinator of the Silver Alert communications network, the Coordinator shall:

(1) work with States to encourage the development of additional Silver Alert plans in the network;

(2) establish voluntary guidelines for States to use in developing Silver Alert plans that will promote compatible and integrated Silver Alert plans throughout the United States, including—

(A) a list of the resources necessary to establish a Silver Alert plan;

(B) criteria for evaluating whether a situation warrants a Silver Alert, taking into consideration the need for the use of such Alerts to be limited in scope because the effectiveness of the Silver Alert communication network may be affected by overuse, including criteria to determine—

(i) whether the mental capacity of a senior who is missing, and the circumstances of his or her disappearance, warrant the issuance of a Silver Alert; and

(ii) whether the individual who reports that a senior is missing is an appropriate and credible source on which to base the issuance of a Silver Alert;

(C) a description of the appropriate uses of the Silver Alert name to readily identify the nature of search efforts for missing seniors; and

(D) recommendations on how to protect the privacy, dignity, independence, and autonomy of any missing senior who may be the subject of a Silver Alert;

(3) develop proposed protocols for efforts to recover missing seniors, and to reduce the number of seniors who are reported missing, including protocols for procedures that are needed from the time of initial notification of a missing senior to the time of the return of the senior to family, guardian, or domicile, as appropriate, including—

(A) public safety-communications protocol;

(B) case management protocol;

(C) command center operations;

(D) reunification protocol; and

(E) evaluation, debriefing, and public information procedures;

(4) work with States to ensure appropriate regional coordination of various elements of the network;

(5) establish an advisory group to assist States, units of local government, law enforcement agencies, and other entities involved in establishing and maintaining the Silver Alert communications network with initiating, facilitating, and promoting Silver Alert plans, which shall include—

(A) the maximum extent practicable, representation from the various geographic regions of the United States; and

(B) members who are—

(i) the Assistant Secretary for Aging of the Department of Justice (referred to in this section as the “Assistant Secretary”); law enforcement agencies, and other concerned entities that are involved in initiating, facilitating, or promoting Silver Alert plans, including broadcasters, first responders, family members, law enforcement officials, and others, and any existing material with respect to the Silver Alert communication network.

(b) LIMITATIONS.—

(VOLUNTARY PARTICIPATION.—The minimum standards shall not include any specific age requirement for an individual to be classified as a missing senior for purposes of the Silver Alert communication network. Age requirements for determinations of whether an individual is a missing senior shall be determined by each State, and may vary from State to State.

(5) PRIVACY AND CIVIL LIBERTIES PROTECTIONS.—The minimum standards shall—

(A) ensure that all information regarding the Silver Alert communications network comply with all applicable Federal, State, and local privacy laws and regulations; and

(B) include standards that specifically provide for the protection of the civil liberties and sensitive medical information of missing seniors.

(c) STATE AND LOCAL VOLUNTARY COORDINATION.—In carrying out the activities under subsection (a), the Coordinator may not interfere with the current system of voluntary coordination between local broadcasters and State and local law enforcement agencies for purposes of the Silver Alert communications network.

SEC. 56. TRAINING AND OTHER RESOURCES.

(a) TRAINING AND EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS.—The Coordinator shall make available to States, units of local government, law enforcement agencies, and other concerned entities that are involved in initiating, facilitating, or promoting Silver Alert plans, including broadcasters, first responders, family members, law enforcement officials, and others, and any other information the Coordinator determines to be appropriate.

(b) TRAINING.—The Coordinator shall coordinate—

(1) training and educational programs related to the Silver Alert communication network and the capabilities, limitations, and anticipated behaviors of missing seniors, which shall be updated regularly to encourage the use of new tools, technologies, and resources in Silver Alert plans; and

(2) informational materials, including brochures, videos, posters, and websites to support and supplement such training and educational programs.
SEC. 57. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS FOR THE SILVER ALERT COMMUNICATIONS NETWORK.

There are hereby authorized to be appropriated to the Department of Justice such sums as may be necessary to carry out the Silver Alert communications network as authorized under subsection (b) of section 2594.

SEC. 58. GRANT PROGRAM FOR SUPPORT OF SILVER ALERT PLANS.

(a) GRANT PROGRAM.—Subject to the availability of appropriations to carry out this section, the Attorney General shall carry out a program to provide grants to States for the development and enhancement of programs to support the Silver Alert plans and the Silver Alert communications network.

(b) ACTIVITIES.—Activities funded by grants under the program under subsection (a) may include—

(1) the development and implementation of education and training programs, and associated materials, relating to Silver Alert plans;

(2) the development and implementation of law enforcement programs, and associated equipment, relating to Silver Alert plans;

(3) the development and implementation of new technologies to improve Silver Alert communications; and

(4) other activities as the Attorney General considers appropriate for supporting the Silver Alert communications network.

(c) FEDERAL SHARE.—The Federal share of the costs incurred by a State under a grant under subsection (a) shall not exceed 50 percent.

(d) DISTRIBUTION OF GRANTS ON GEOGRAPHIC BASIS.—The Attorney General shall, to the maximum extent practicable, ensure the distribution of grants under the program under subsection (a) on an equitable basis throughout the United States.

(e) ADMINISTRATION.—The Attorney General shall prescribe requirements, including application requirements, for grants under the program under subsection (a).

(f) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—

(1) There is authorized to be appropriated to the Department of Justice $5,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 2010 through 2014 to carry out this section and, in addition, $5,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 2010 through 2014 to carry out subsection (b) of section 2594.

(2) Amounts appropriated pursuant to the authorization of appropriations in paragraph (1) shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 59. SAMMY K. VOLTURNO ELECTRONIC MONITORING PROGRAM.

(a) PROGRAM AUTHORIZED.—The Attorney General, after consultation with the Secretary of Health and Human Services, is authorized to award grants to States and units of local government to carry out programs to provide voluntary electronic monitoring service to eligible individuals to assist, in the location of such individuals if such individuals are reported as missing.

(b) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $2,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 2010 through 2014.

(c) DISQUALIFICATION.—The grant program authorized under this section shall be referred to as the “Sammy K. Volturno Electronic Monitoring Program”.

Subtitle C—Kristen’s Act Reauthorization

SEC. 61. SHORT TITLE.

This subtitle may be cited as “Kristen’s Act Reauthorization of 2009”.

SEC. 62. FINDINGS.

Congress finds the following:

(1) Every year thousands of adults become missing adults due to age, dementia, or mental capacity, or foul play. Often there is no information regarding the whereabouts of these adults and many of them are never reunited with their families.

(2) Missing adults are at great risk of both physical harm and sexual exploitation.

(3) In most states and local law enforcement officials have neither the resources nor the expertise to undertake appropriate search efforts for a missing adult.

(4) The search for a missing adult requires cooperation and coordination among Federal, State, and local law enforcement agencies and assistance from distant communities where the adult may be located.

(5) Federal assistance is urgently needed to help with coordination among such agencies.

SEC. 63. GRANTS FOR THE ASSISTANCE OF ORGANIZATIONS TO FIND MISSING ADULTS.

(a) GRANTS.—

(1) GRANT PROGRAM.—Subject to the availability of appropriations to carry out this section, the Attorney General shall make competitive grants to public agencies or nonprofit private organizations, or combinations thereof, to—

(A) maintain a national resource center and information clearinghouse for missing and unidentified adults;

(B) maintain a national, interconnected database for the purpose of tracking missing adults who are determined by law enforcement to be endangered due to age, diminished mental capacity, or the circumstances of disappearance, when foul play is suspected or when circumstances are otherwise suspicious;

(C) coordinate public and private programs that locate or recover missing adults or reunite missing adults with their families;

(D) provide assistance and training to law enforcement agencies, State and local governments, elements of the criminal justice system, nonprofit organizations, and individuals involved in the investigation, prosecution, and treatment of cases involving missing adults;

(E) provide assistance to families in locating and recovering missing adults; and

(F) assist in public notification and victim advocacy related to missing adults.

(2) APPLICATIONS.—The Attorney General shall periodically solicit applications for grants under this section by publishing a request for applications in the Federal Register and by posting such a request on the website of the Department of Justice.

(b) OTHER DUTIES.—The Attorney General shall—

(1) coordinate programs relating to missing adults that are funded by the Federal Government; and

(2) encourage coordination between State and local law enforcement and public agencies and nonprofit private organizations receiving a grant pursuant to subsection (a).

SEC. 64. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this subtitle $4,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2010 through 2020.

SEC. 2594. EXCEPTION TO MEDICAID COVERAGE EXCLUSION OF WEIGHT LOSS DRUGS AND INCLUSION OF WEIGHT LOSS DRUGS AS COVERED MEDICARE PART D DRUGS.

(a) ELIMINATION OF MEDICAID EXCLUSION.—

Section 1927(q)(6)(A) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1396r-8(q)(6)(A)) is amended by inserting “, other than prescription weight loss agents approved by the Food and Drug Administration under which such recipients or for overweight patients with a weight-related co-morbidity such as hypertension, type 2 diabetes, or dyslipidemia after weight gain”.

(b) INCLUSION OF COVERAGE UNDER MEDICARE PART D.—Section 1860D-2(e)(1) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395w-102(e)(1)) is amended in the first sentence and below subparagraph (B), by inserting “and prescription weight loss agents approved by the Food and Drug Administration when used for obese patients or for overweight patients with a weight-related co-morbidity such as hypertension, type 2 diabetes or dyslipidemia,” before the period.

SEC. 3071. TREATMENT OF CERTAIN MEDICARE GEOGRAPHIC CLASSIFICATION RECLASSIFICATIONS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, for purposes of making payments under Section 1886(d) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395ww(d)), the Secretary of Health and Human Services shall permit any hospital with Medicare Geographic Classification Reclassification that overlap for one fiscal year to immediately transition to year one of the subsequent reclassification with the loss of year three of the earlier reclassification.

(b) APPLICATION.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Subsection (a) shall apply to discharges occurring on or after October 1, 2009.

(2) SPECIAL RULE FOR FY 2010.—In the case of any hospital whose year three Medicare Geographic Classification Reclassification was lost or eliminated for fiscal 2010, the Secretary of Health and Human Services shall establish a process under which such hospital shall have 30 days from the date of the enactment of this Act to notify the Secretary of the hospital’s election to continue to receive the first-time homebuyers credit in the case of members of the Armed Forces and certain other Federal employees, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:
