

It also states that the private education lender as well as the Federal Government must provide information on creating a durable power of attorney to handle the borrower's financial affairs should the borrower be unable to make those decisions on their own.

In other words, borrower and lender must be on the same page.

Since I introduced this legislation I have been approached by other families in my district with the same problems the Bryskis encountered.

Giving students and their families more choices to protect them against disability or death is an important step. Our ultimate goal should be giving all students and families this protection. I would urge lenders to consider looking at student loan debt forgiveness in the case of death or disability as the Federal Government does. This is also an area where the new Consumer Financial Protection Bureau could play a role, and that agency does not need to wait for an act of Congress.

I believe this is a common-sense bipartisan piece of legislation that deserves the support of this entire body.

I would like to thank Chairman MILLER and Chairman FRANK for bringing this important legislation to the floor.

I urge its passage.

MEDIA SHOW BIAS IN IMMIGRATION COVERAGE

HON. LAMAR SMITH

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 29, 2010

Mr. SMITH of Texas. Madam Speaker, the national media have shown a clear liberal bias in their coverage of immigration.

For example, The New York Times frequently give large amounts of coverage to small pro-amnesty protests, but they ignore or downplay big protests by conservative groups.

This week, The Times featured a 1200-word story about a rally of "dozens" in support of the DREAM Act, which would grant amnesty to millions of individuals.

Earlier this year, The Times covered pro-amnesty demonstrations with as few as four or five protesters.

The Times is not alone in their biased coverage of immigration. By a margin of 12 to 1, the television networks featured more negative reports than positive reports about Arizona's immigration enforcement law; according to a Media Research Center analysis.

The national media should give Americans the facts, not advocate for a liberal, pro-amnesty agenda.

CHRISTOPHER BRYSKI STUDENT LOAN PROTECTION ACT

SPEECH OF

HON. LAURA RICHARDSON

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 28, 2010

Ms. RICHARDSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 5458, which would help families avoid financial uncertainty by requiring banks providing student loans to inform borrowers and cosigners of their obligations in case of incapacity or death; to define those terms in a standard way; and to discuss the option of credit insurance, which helps pay off debt in the event of death.

I want to thank my colleague, Congressman JOHN H. ADLER, for introducing this legislation. I would also like to express my deepest condolences to the family of Christopher Bryski.

Mr. Speaker, the Bryskis are hardworking people who in 2006 lost their son Christopher in a recreational accident, a tragedy no parent should ever have to endure and certainly one that the Bryskis could never have anticipated. In the midst of this tragedy, the Bryskis were unexpectedly burdened with Christopher's remaining student loan debt. As they soon found out, co-signers are often obliged to pay off the balance of private student loans in the instance of such tragedies, a requirement that is typically not included in federal loans. This bill would protect families like the Bryskis, including many of the families in my district, which contains three community colleges and five universities.

From 2007–08, 13 percent of students attending four-year public colleges or universities and 26.2 percent of those attending private four-year institutions had private student loans. The SLM Corporation, the major private loan provider commonly known as Sallie Mae, estimates that 84 percent of private student loans involve cosigners. These statistics make clear the need for private loan companies to thoroughly educate the students and families to whom they provide aid. This is the best way to ensure that American families are adequately equipped to manage their loans under any circumstances.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting H.R. 5458 and recognizing the immense burden that may befall millions of families across the nation if Congress does not act.

HONORING SEPTEMBER AS NATIONAL RICE MONTH

HON. TED POE

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 29, 2010

Mr. POE of Texas. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize the 20th anniversary of the annual September celebration of the harvest of rice in the United States.

For centuries, rice has been the primary food staple for over half of the world's population. Today, the United States and countries around the world still enjoy rice as a dietary staple, but also as the foundation for many dishes and side dishes. Rice is enjoyed as part of cereal, flour, bran, cooking oil, rice cakes and many other snacks.

Rice production has and continues to be a significant source of revenue for the American economy. In fact, rice production in the United States dates back to 1685 and is one of the oldest agribusinesses in the United States. Rice continues to be produced in force by 10,500 rice farmers in the States of Arkansas, California, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, and in my home State of Texas. In fact, I am proud to have 45 active rice farmers working on 20,000 acres of rice fields in the district that I represent—the most of any Congressional district in Texas. In Texas alone, the rice industry has created 2,700 jobs and $1.6 billion in total economic activity.

Rice farming is of critical importance to the economy of my district and to the southern United States. In 2009, rice farmers in the U.S. produced nearly 22 billion pounds of rice that had a farm gate value of more than $3 billion. Subsequent sales of rice generated $17.5 billion in total value added to the U.S. economy. This activity contributed 127,000 jobs to the U.S. labor force in 2009. Additionally, the U.S. is one of the largest exporters of rice and produces more than two percent of the world's rice supply, feeding millions around the world.

I am proud to represent the rice farmers of the second district of Texas, and to recognize their achievements during National Rice Month.

And that's just the way it is.

PAYING TRIBUTE TO TRI-COUNTY
SINGLE-STREAM RECYCLING FACILITY
BROWN, OUTAGAMIE, AND WINNEBAGO COUNTIES, WIS-CONSIN

HON. STEVE KAGEN

OF WISCONSIN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 29, 2010

Mr. KAGEN. Madam Speaker, I rise here today to pay tribute to the Tri-County Single-Stream Recycling Facility, located in Little Chute Wisconsin, on the occasion of its winning the Solid Waste Association of North America's Gold Award for Excellence.

Each year, the Association recognizes the best recycling facility in North America. I ask my colleagues to join me in honoring Tri-County, which serves Brown, Outagamie and Winnebago Counties, in recognition of its accomplishment.

I was honored to have participated in the Recycling Center's grand opening in 2009. I am proud to report that since then, the facility has achieved its annual goal of collecting 48,000 tons of material, while also managing to come in under budget.

The operation allows three counties to process glass, aluminum, paper and plastic without requiring any pre-sorting. This convenience to consumers enhances public participation and expands the overall reach of the projects. The spirit of cooperation between the participating counties has spurred its success and fueled discussions of expansion.

Special commendation should be made to Outagamie director of solid waste Phillip Stecker, Brown County solid waste director Chuck Larscheid, and Winnebago Solid Waste Management board chairman Patrick O'Brien for their exemplary stewardship.

Madam Speaker, the Tri-County Recycling Center has greatly improved the energy efficiency and environmental health of Northeast Wisconsin, and the Gold Award for Recycling Excellence is very well-deserved. I ask my colleagues to join me in saluting Tri-County's contributions to our society and our environment.

HONORING TREE FRESNO

HON. GEORGE RADANOVICH

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 29, 2010

Mr. RADANOVICH. Madam Speaker, I rise today to commend and congratulate Tree Fresno upon celebrating its 25th anniversary. The organization's anniversary was celebrated on Friday, September 24, 2010 in Fresno, California.

Since its inception in 1985, Tree Fresno has been involved in the planting of more than thirty-seven thousand trees on public land in and around the Fresno area. The organization has promoted youth environmental awareness and leadership by encouraging student participation in tree planting projects. Through the creation of the Junior Tree Fresno board of directors, the youth in the community have an opportunity to learn leadership and environmental stewardship skills. Tree Fresno provides tree education programs for citizens of all ages, creating an opportunity for volunteers to become actively involved with civic improvement projects.

By planting and maintaining trees, Tree Fresno is creating an improved urban forest in Fresno County where homes and parks are shaded, the air is cleaner and the beauty of the city is enhanced. Tree Fresno has planted trees along streets, trails, public parks and school campuses. Through the formation of community coalitions, Tree Fresno has been able to restore the natural oak forest along a major road by planting over fourteen hundred native oak seedlings. Through advocacy and beautification efforts, Tree Fresno has established itself as a leading organization in the community, dedicated to the improvement of the urban forest and overall quality of life for our community.

Madam Speaker, I rise today to commend and congratulate Tree Fresno upon 25 years of service to Fresno County and the surrounding communities. I invite my colleagues to join me in wishing Tree Fresno many years of continued success.
