The Senate was not in session today. Its next meeting will be held on Monday, June 27, 2011, at 2 p.m.

House of Representatives
FRIDAY, JUNE 24, 2011

The House met at 9 a.m. and was called to order by the Speaker.

PRAYER
The Chaplain, the Reverend Patrick J. Conroy, offered the following prayer:
Eternal God, we give You thanks for giving us another day. We pause in Your presence and ask guidance for the men and women of the people's House. Enable them, O God, to act on what they believe to be right and true and just, and to do so in ways that show respect for those with whom they disagree. In this, may they grow to be models and good examples in a time when so many in our world are unable to engage gracefully with those they are at odds with.
May the Members realize that Your congregation is wider and broader than ever we could measure or determine. Help them, and help us, O Lord, to put away any judgments that belong to You and do what we can to live together in peace.
As we approach this next recess, bless our great Nation and keep it faithful to its ideals, its hopes, and its promise of freedom in our world.
Bless us this day and every day. And may all that is done within the people's House be for Your greater honor and glory.
Amen.

THE JOURNAL
The SPEAKER. The Chair has examined the Journal of the last day's proceedings and announces to the House his approval thereof.

Pursuant to clause 1, rule I, the Journal stands approved.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE
The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Mississippi (Mr. NUNNELEE) come forward and lead the House in the Pledge of Allegiance.
Mr. NUNNELEE led the Pledge of Allegiance as follows:
I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER
The SPEAKER. The Chair will entertain up to five requests for 1-minute speeches on each side.

VOTE "NO" ON LIBYA RESOLUTIONS
(Mr. PAUL asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)
Mr. PAUL. Mr. Speaker, later this morning we will be debating and voting on two resolutions dealing with Libya. The first one, H.J. Res. 68, has been said to be one that literally endorses exactly what the President has been doing, and I agree with that: Even though it excludes ground troops, it doesn’t talk about Special Forces, CIA, contractors, and unlimited bombing, which is really what we have to restrict.
But the second one, H.R. 2278, has been said to be more strongly worded in restraint on the President, and this is where I disagree. I believe the wording is different. It says no funds for ground troops. But then it has exceptions, and the exceptions are for all the things that we’re already doing. So I believe if we vote and pass the second one, it will be the first time this Congress has given authority to the President for what he is doing right now.
So I urge my colleagues to look at both of these carefully. I have concluded that not only should the first one be voted down, but it’s very important that the second one be voted down as well.

DEFEAT AUTHORIZATION FOR WAR IN LIBYA
(Mr. KUCINICH asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)
Mr. KUCINICH. We’ve been in Afghanistan for 10 years at a cost of over a half trillion dollars and in Iraq for 8 years at a long-term cost of at least $3 trillion. Those who told us the war in Libya would last days now want to extend it for another year at a total cost of billions.
It is surreal that we could even be considering authorizing this war at a time when the government is collapsing in debt. Those who told us the war in Libya was to save civilian lives quickly switched to regime change, with innocent civilians dying from NATO’s bombs.
Prior to NATO’s assuming responsibility, we launched hundreds of cruise miles and dropped tons of bombs on Libya. Since NATO took over, the U.S. has struck from the air at least 90 times, including drone attacks. But these are not “hostilities,” claims the White House; so what business is it of Congress?

We must put an end not only to the war in Libya, but we must put an end to the thinking that the Constitution is a doormat and that our constituents must simply bear the consequences of the misguided policies of this administration without this Congress having any say whatsoever.

Defeat the authorization for the war. Vote for the Rooney bill, which limits the war and when we return, let’s vote for a total cutoff of funds for this wrongheaded adventure.

MR. PRESIDENT, UNLEASH THE POWER OF AMERICAN ENERGY EXPLORATION

(Mr. NUNNELEE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. NUNNELEE. Yesterday, President Obama executed a shortsighted energy plan and released 30 million barrels of oil from the Strategic Petroleum Reserve, all while the United States’ combined recoverable oil, natural gas, and coal resources are 1.3 trillion barrels of oil equivalent, the largest in the world.

We have 40,000 times more American natural resources under our ground than the amount President Obama took out of the Strategic Petroleum Reserve. Drawing down reserves intended for national emergencies is far from the energy plan we need, especially when we’re sitting on abundant resources.

President Obama must quit blocking American energy production...

Mr. President, if you want to make us energy secure, if you want to see a thriving economy creating jobs, if you want to free Americans from the burden of high gas prices, unleash the power and ingenuity of American energy exploration, and do it now.

RELEASE STAFF SERGEANT GILAD SHALIT

(Mr. DEUTCH asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. DEUTCH. Mr. Speaker, tomorrow marks the fifth anniversary of the abduction of soldier Staff Sergeant Gilad Shalit from inside Israel’s borders by the terrorist organization Hamas. For 5 years, Hamas has violated international human rights conventions by denying Shalit contact with his family and visits by the International Red Cross.

Now Hamas wants to be partners with the Palestinian Authority. If the Palestinian Authority is determined to pursue unity with Hamas, then President Abbas must demand that his new partner free Sergeant Shalit.

Israel can never be expected to negotiate with an organization that remains bent on its destruction. But if Hamas ever expects to have a seat at the table, it must show good faith now and immediately release Gilad Shalit.

We stand here today with our great ally, Israel. We stand here with allies from Europe and throughout the world. We stand here to believe in and fight for basic human rights. Anyone who can hear my voice knows that Gilad Shalit must be released.

CUT OFF FUNDS TO PRESIDENT’S WAR IN LIBYA

(Mr. POE of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. POE. Mr. Speaker, America’s third war continues. The President’s little war in Libya is unconstitutional and it also violates the War Powers Resolution. Even the administration says Libya is not a national security risk to America.

So why are we at war in Libya? Because the French want us there? Mr. Speaker, don’t you think we’ve done enough for the French in World War I, World War II, and even in Indochina, what we now call Vietnam?

The United States should not be involved in Libya’s civil war. The cost has been over $700 million to the American taxpayer. Mr. Speaker, don’t you think that money, that millions of dollars could be better spent building America instead of blowing up Libya?

Who are the rebels in Libya that we are supporting? Of course Omar Qadhafi is a tyrant, but we may end up replacing an oppressive regime with an extremist radical regime. Now, isn’t that lovely?

Congress should cut off all American funds to the President’s little war in Libya.

And that’s just the way it is.

CONGRESSIONAL OVERSIGHT OF THE LIBYAN OPERATION

(Mr. GARAMENDI asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. GARAMENDI. It appears this morning and today the House of Representatives and Congress will be carrying out its constitutional responsibilities dealing with the war in Libya. Resolutions will be on the floor. Appropriately, we will be voting today on whether we want to end, limit, or extend.

For me, I think we have to carry out the U.N. resolution that calls for the right to protect or the obligation and duty to protect. That is why the Libyan situation started. That needs to be completed.

I would suggest that the Hastings resolution that gives a year is good in that it provides the necessary restrictions on the White House and on the military in the Libya operation and basically puts the United States in a support position. I would prefer that there be an amendment to that—perhaps it will be in a motion to recommit—that it be limited to 6 months.

Oversight over corporate mergers needed

(Ms. JACKSON LEE of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, there are many issues that we must address in this august body, but it is tragic to note that we have been here for 24 weeks since the GOP took responsibility and control of this House and we have done nothing to create jobs. In fact, the majority leader has indicated the Republicans have no plans to do anything on jobs through this summer.

Why does this pose a crisis? Because in the midst of all of this, a number of mergers are coming into fruition, in particular the United-Continental merger. We have already had an announcement that Houston will lose 1,500 jobs, and no response from United or Continental. In addition, United had a recent collapse of its database, or its system which caused shutdowns and clogging of the system, where passengers were stuck in airports because they couldn’t get their planes off the ground.

When we have mergers with no restraints and no oversight, we have a problem. So jobs are necessary to be created, and there needs to be oversight over mergers like Continental and United so that communities like Houston and elsewhere won’t be losing jobs with no response.

MARKING THE 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER SCOUT

(Mr. WALZ of Minnesota asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WALZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor a piece of American history and to pay tribute to the Americans that created it: 2011 marks the 50th anniversary of the International Harvester Scout; the first Scout, built out of American ingenuity and steel, rolled off the assembly line 50 years ago in Fort Wayne, Indiana, the creation of Ted Ornas, literally drawn on a napkin at his kitchen table.

In the near future, my good friend from Indiana, Joe Donnelly, and I will come to this floor at the end of the day to tell the stories of the great company and the iconic IH Scout. We will also tell the stories of those who restore, drive, and keep the legacy alive.

These are stories of America, stories of hardworking people who respect our history and believe it is worth preserving.

The Scout reflects the exceptional American personality, ingenuity, thriftiness, self-reliance, and a can-do spirit. The Scout was built in the heartland of Indiana on these principles. I want to thank Jeff Bade and John Glancy for helping put this effort together. Horrifying our history reminds us of what we were capable of together in this great Nation.

AIRPORT AND AIRWAY EXTENSION ACT OF 2011, PART III

Mr. MICA. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committees on Transportation and Infrastructure and Ways and Means be discharged from further consideration of the bill (H.R. 2279) to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to extend the funding and expenditure authority of the Airport and Airway Trust Fund, to amend title 49, United States Code, to extend the airport improvement program, and for other purposes, and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. Poe of Texas). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Florida?

There was none.

The text of the bill is as follows:

H.R. 2279

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Airport and Airway Extension Act of 2011, Part III.”

SEC. 2. EXTENSION OF TAXES FUNDING AIRPORT AND AIRWAY TRUST FUND.

(a) Fuel Taxes.—Subparagraph (B) of section 4981(d)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by striking “June 30, 2011” and inserting “July 22, 2011.”

(2) Persons.—Clause (ii) of section 4271(d)(1)(A) of such Code is amended by striking “June 30, 2011” and inserting “July 22, 2011.”

(c) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section shall take effect on July 1, 2011.

SEC. 3. EXTENSION OF AIRPORT AND AIRWAY TRUST FUND EXPENDITURE AUTHORITY.

(a) In General.—Paragraph (1) of section 4960(d)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended—

(1) by striking “July 1, 2011” and inserting “July 22, 2011”; and

(2) by inserting “the Airport and Airway Extension Act of 2011, Part III” before the semicolon at the end of subparagraph (A).

(b) Conforming Amendment.—Paragraph (2) of section 4221 of such Code is amended by striking “July 1, 2011” and inserting “July 22, 2011.”

(c) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section shall take effect on July 1, 2011.

SEC. 4. EXTENSION OF AIRPORT IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM.

(a) Authority of Appropriations.—

(1) In General.—Section 48103 of title 49, United States Code, is amended by striking paragraph (8) and inserting the following:

“(8) $2,840,890,411 for the period beginning on October 1, 2010, and ending on July 22, 2011.”

(2) Obligation of Amounts.—Subject to limitations specified in advance in appropriation Acts, sums made available pursuant to the amendment made by paragraph (1) may be obligated any time during September 30, 2011, and shall remain available until expended.

(3) Program Implementation.—For purposes of sections 49117(b) and 47117(f)(2) of such title and meeting other requirements under sections 47114, 47115, 47116, and 47117 of title 49, United States Code, for the period beginning on October 1, 2010, and ending on July 22, 2011, the Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration shall—

(A) calculate the total amount made available for airport and airway programs under paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 49108 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 on an annualized basis as if the total amount available under section 49103 of such title for fiscal year 2011 were $3,515,000,000; and

(B) then reduce by 7 percent—

(i) all funding apportionments calculated under subparagraph (A); and

(ii) amounts available pursuant to sections 47117(b) and 47117(f)(2) of such title.

(b) Project Grant Authority.—Section 47104(c) of such title is amended by striking “June 30, 2011,” and inserting “July 22, 2011.”

(c) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section shall take effect on July 1, 2011.

SEC. 5. EXTENSION OF EXPIRING AUTHORITIES.

(a) Section 40117(l)(7) of title 49, United States Code, is amended by striking “July 1, 2011,” and inserting “July 23, 2011.”

(b) Section 49302(b) of such title is amended by striking “September 30, 2011,” and inserting “October 31, 2011.”

(c) Section 49303(b) of such title is amended by striking “September 30, 2011,” and inserting “October 31, 2011.”

(d) Section 47107(e)(3) of such title is amended by striking “July 1, 2011,” and inserting “July 23, 2011”

(e) Section 47115(c) of such title is amended by striking “July 1, 2011,” and inserting “July 23, 2011.”

(f) Section 49108 of such title is amended by striking “June 30, 2011,” and inserting “July 22, 2011.”

(g) Section 49108 of such title is amended by striking “June 30, 2011,” and inserting “July 22, 2011.”

(h) Section 49108 of such title is amended by striking “June 30, 2011,” and inserting “July 22, 2011.”

(j) Section 186(d) of such Act (117 Stat. 2518) is amended by striking “July 1, 2011,” and inserting “July 23, 2011.”

(k) The amendments made by this section shall take effect on July 1, 2011.

Mr. MICA. Mr. Speaker, I submit the following exchange of letters.

H. R. 2279 was applauded by both labor and industry stakeholders, and it was estimated that the bill would create at least 150,000 jobs.

The House followed on April 1 with a bill containing some controversial provisions that the Senate has indicated it will not accept. These provisions include the repeal of a National Mediacion Board rule on fair union representation elections and cuts to funding for FAA programs, airport construction and improvement, and air traffic control modernization.

For the last 2 months, we have worked with the Senate to resolve a number of differences between the two bills. The negotiations have made a lot of progress, and with a handful of major differences remaining, we may be on the cusp of enacting a long-term reauthorization—a reauthorization that provides the FAA with the stability and funding necessary to safeguard safety, modernize the system, and create jobs.

Like my Republican colleagues, I had hoped that each of the previous two short-term extensions would be the last. I was reassured by their expressions of a commitment to deliver a forward-looking bill that could pass both chambers and be signed by the President. But now we find ourselves with the need for a twentieth short-term extension. This extension is necessary, but I again say to my Republican colleagues: Let this extension be the last. Get a long-term bill done.

I will work with my colleagues across the aisle to produce a bipartisan FAA bill that will create jobs and keep our economy moving throughout the 21st century and make this our last extension. For the present time, however, this extension is necessary, and I urge my colleagues to support it.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. PETRI. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on the bill just passed, H.R. 2279.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Wisconsin?

There was no objection.

ADJOURNMENT TO TUESDAY, JUNE 28, 2011

Mr. WOODALL. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that when the Houseadjours today, it adjourn to meet at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, June 28, 2011; and when the House adjourns on that day, it adjourn to meet at 10 a.m. on Friday, July 1, 2011.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. Price of Georgia). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Georgia?

There was no objection.

PROVIDING FOR CONSIDERATION OF H.J. RES. 68, AUTHORIZING LIMITED USE OF ARMED FORCES IN LIBYA; AND PROVIDING FOR CONSIDERATION OF H.R. 2278, LIMITING USE OF FUNDS FOR ARMED FORCES IN LIBYA

Mr. WOODALL. Mr. Speaker, by direction of the Committee on Rules, I call up House Resolution 328 and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the resolution, as follows:

H. Res. 328

Resolved, That upon adoption of this resolution it shall be in order to consider in the House the joint resolution (H.J. Res. 68) authorizing the limited use of the United States Armed Forces in support of the NATO mission in Libya, if called up by the chair of the Committee on Foreign Affairs or her designee. All points of order against consideration of the joint resolution are waived. The joint resolution shall be considered as read. All points of order against provisions in the joint resolution are waived. The previous question shall be considered as ordered on the joint resolution to final passage without intervening motion except: (1) one hour of debate, with 40 minutes equally divided and controlled by the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on Foreign Affairs and 20 minutes equally divided and controlled by the ranking minority member of the Committee on Armed Services; and (2) one motion to recommit.

Size. 2. Upon adoption of this resolution it shall be in order to consider in the House the bill (H.R. 2278) to limit the use of funds appropriated to the Department of Defense for United States Armed Forces in support of North Atlantic Treaty Organization Operation Unified Protector with respect to Libya, unless otherwise specifically authorized by law, if called up by the chair of the Committee on Foreign Affairs or her designee. All points of order against consideration of the bill are waived. The bill shall be considered as read. All points of order against provisions in the bill are waived. The previous question shall be considered as ordered on the bill to final passage without intervening motion except: (1) one hour of debate equally divided and controlled by chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on Armed Services; and (2) one motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Georgia is recognized for 1 hour.

Mr. WOODALL. Mr. Speaker, for the purpose of debate only, I yield the customary 30 minutes to the gentlelady from New York (Ms. SLAUGHTER), pending which I yield myself such time as I may consume. During consideration of this resolution, all time yielded is for the purpose of debate only.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. WOODALL. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days to revise and extend their remarks.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Georgia?

There was no objection.

Mr. WOODALL. Mr. Speaker, House Resolution 328 provides a closed rule for consideration of H.R. 2278 and H.J. Res. 68. The rule provides a total of 3 hours of debate in this Chamber on this vitally important issue of U.S. military operations in Libya. The rule also provides the minority with two separate motions to recommit, with or without instructions.

Mr. Speaker, it was in this week in 1788, June 21, 1788, that the United States ratified its Constitution, that Constitution that still serves us so well today. In that Constitution, our Framers made clear that the power of the purse belongs here and here alone, here in the people’s House, here on Capitol Hill; and that Constitution made clear that the power to declare war lies here and here alone.

On June 3 of this year by a vote of 269–145 the House of Representatives passed a resolution asking the President to make clear what his intentions are in Libya, asking the President to come and consult with Congress, to get Congress’ permission, to seek our authority to prosecute those hostilities in Libya.

We have received some information from the White House since then. We have gotten a letter from the White House since then. We even have classified documents since then. But what we have not had since then, Mr. Speaker, is an opportunity for the American people to make their voice heard on this important issue, because, after all, this isn’t an issue for Congress, because this is about the American people’s voice. It is about the voice of the 911,000 people back home that I represent that I bring here to Congress, and those people’s voices have yet to be heard on this Libyan issue.

Operation Odyssey Dawn is in full operation now, since the month of March, and the people’s voice has still not been heard. But today, Mr. Speaker, the Rules Committee, as one of the longest-standing committees in this U.S. House of Representatives, first constituted in 1789, the Rules Committee is making that opportunity available with these two resolutions.

Mr. Speaker, my hope is that the people’s voice will be heard today; that in this hour upon hour of debate that we have today, these two very different choices for where this country goes, that the American people for the first time have their voice heard on the question of Libya.

As you know, Mr. Speaker, when we come back in July, we’re going to take up the FY 2012 defense bill. In fact, we’ll take it up tonight and start considering amendments when we return. We’ll again have an opportunity to have our voice heard. Because, Mr. Speaker, there is an entire gradation of options that we have here. Are we going to declare war on Libya? Are we going to allow the President to continue doing what he’s doing in Libya? Are we going to shut down the funding for troops on the ground on Libya? Are we going to shut down funding for Libya altogether? These are the questions that the Rules Committee has made available today and 2 weeks from now so that this House will be able to have its voice heard.

With that, I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. I yield myself such time as I may consume.

First, I want to thank my colleague very much for yielding the time, Mr. Speaker.

We’re considering matters of war and peace today. On Sunday, our Nation will have been engaged in military action in Libya for 100 days. The actions taken by the President have a grave impact on the constitutional role of Congress and the role of the United States abroad. Taken together, these are among the most important issues that we as Members of Congress will ever consider. These are the very debates that scholars and historians will study and analyze for decades to come.

Given these fundamental issues, the American people deserve the full and thorough consideration that should be afforded to all legislation introduced in this body—with committee hearings and debate, followed by an open and regular process, and a thoughtful debate by the whole House.

In 1990, when I was first here, the body considered a resolution regarding matters of war and peace. At the request of a gentleman who has great reverence for our forebearers, the House was asked to consider a resolution that would be used in the event of a war. The process by which these measures proceeded was characterized by both parties, brought to the House floor for a final debate before the American public. On that particular measure concerning the Persian Gulf, we had 25 hours of debate and 263 Members spoke. It was one of the most thorough airings of our constitutional obligations that I have witnessed.

In exchanges that can be publicly accessed today, Members of the House and our colleagues in the Senate engaged in a vigorous debate and a democracy earnestly working together for the best interest of all its citizens. Two decades later, we stand in a room imbued with this history—that debate took place right here—but we avoid the robust debates that preceded us here today. Indeed, the way today’s measures are being debated shame the dignity, history, and tradition of this body.

Today’s resolutions about our actions in Libya have been rushed through the House of Representatives. They were written behind closed doors and received neither committee hearings nor committee markup. The rules are being considered under a single closed rule following an emergency meeting of the Rules Committee yesterday. The process by which these measures proceeded through the Rules Committee is indicative of the chaotic and rushed process that we’re being asked to vote for here today.

Late Tuesday night—10 o’clock, I believe—we were given two resolutions for an emergency meeting on Wednesday. They were added as emergency items to our afternoon meeting. When we got to the Rules Committee, they had been pulled from the agenda. It was 9 p.m. Wednesday that we received the text of H.R. 2278. Yesterday, we were notified that the Rules Committee would meet on this new and unvetted bill, along with one of the original two resolutions, less than 3 hours before the meeting began. We now stand on the House floor being asked to vote for a closed rule. We will then be asked to consider two resolutions of historic proportions with no ability to debate or amend, let alone reflect the true will of the House.

Mr. Speaker, I regret the shameful way this important debate has been rushed through Congress, and I apologize to those who will look back on the work that we’re doing today. Quite simply, the legislative process matters. Historians, scholars, and yes, future Members of Congress will look back on our actions today to see how their forebearers shaped the fate of this country.

In the case of the resolution of the Persian Gulf, they’ll say how our democratic process thrived, whether one agreed with the resolution or not. Men and women who served in that war, who saw the outcomes, will see a dysfunctional democratic process, one that has committed a disservice to the American people, to the dignity of the House of Representatives, and the future of the United States, by avoiding a true debate on one of the most important issues of our time.

For these very reasons, I urge my colleagues to vote “no” on today’s rule.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. WOODALL. Mr. Speaker, at this time I am pleased to yield 3 minutes to a gentleman who has great reverence for the United States Constitution, the gentleman from Texas (Mr. PAUL).

Mr. PAUL. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

I rise in support of this rule, although I have a lot of complaints about how we deal with the issue of war. This is a debate that should have gone on for 4 months, not minutes. The resolution, which legalized war for 90 days, was started and extended. And if we had done this properly, we wouldn’t be bringing this up quickly today. No committee work, no discussion, no chance for amendment. But, nevertheless, I will support the rule because at least we get a chance to talk a little bit about what’s going on in Libya.

We have two resolutions that will come up under this rule. The first resolution, generally, I understand most individuals aren’t too keen on this, but because it’s a literal endorsement—a rather explicit endorsement—of the war, so obviously I oppose H.J. Res. 68. But my greatest concern is about H.R. 2278. The way I read this resolution is that it essentially grants the same authority that we grant in the first resolution because we say that no funds can be used—it denies the use of funds. But how can you deny the use of appropriated funds when they’re using funds that weren’t appropriated? It’s so replete with circular reasoning that it’s wholly inappropriate. So, yes, it’s a good statement. You don’t continue to be illegal, is what we’re saying.

What I’m concerned about are the exceptions. All the exceptions are for the things that they’re already doing, like search and rescue, intelligence gathering, reconnaissance, surveillance, refueling, operations planning, and doing everything except pulling the trigger. So it’s legalizing the current war.

I believe that H.R. 2278 is the first time that we in the Congress are making a statement of granting authority to the President to pursue this particular war. I am in strong opposition to that resolution as well, although I understand the other side of the argument because it says “denial of funds.” The author of the resolution said the reason why we have the exception is to protect the integrity of our contract or agreement with NATO. Well, in the resolution it says we have to stop the funding because we don’t want to support NATO’s war.

So it’s totally inconsistent. Makes no sense whatsoever. But it reminds me of H.R. 2275. The War Powers resolution, if you recall, in the Vietnam War, we didn’t want to get into that kind of war any more, so Congress, in its infinite wisdom, with good intentions, it designs the War Powers resolution, which legalized war for 90 days. That’s part of the reason why we’re here. We’re worried about 90 days. But here we’re going into the fourth month dealing with the War Powers resolution.

There is a simple solution to all of this, and that is to obey the Constitution. Don’t allow our Presidents to go to war without a declaration of war, and we wouldn’t be facing this problem of this debate that actually gets a little bit silly on restraining the President. Yes, we should. We should exert ourselves. We have the prerogatives, and we have the obligations. We have avoided it. It’s time to stand up for the rules.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from New York (Mr. NADLER).

Mr. NADLER. I thank the gentlelady for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to the Hastings resolution and in support of the Rooney resolution.

This morning’s paper, The New York Times, says that this is a dangerous resolution because it would allow the financing only for American surveillance, search and rescue missions, planning and aerial refueling. It would halt drone strikes and attacks on Libyan air defenses, and it would damage the Nation’s credibility in its leadership of NATO.

Mr. Speaker, I think that the Nation’s credibility—that is to say its promise to go to war if backed by the President and not by Congress—ought to be damaged. We have been sliding for 70 years into a situation where Congress has no role to play in the decision whether to go to war or not, and the President is becoming an absolute monarch. We must put a stop to that right now if we don’t want to become an empire instead of a Republic. This country was set up to be a Republic where the basic questions of war and peace are supposed to be answered by this Congress. Because of the exigencies of the Cold War, if the borders are crossed over the FOB, you don’t have time to call Congress. We lost a lot of that power. We ceded it to the President.

But in a situation such as Libya, whether the reasons for going there are good or not, the fact is there was no imminent threat to the United States, and the Secretary of Defense said that. There was plenty of time to negotiate with the Arab League, and there was plenty of time to go to the U.N. There should have been time to have, not consultations with Congress, but the authorization from Congress. In the absence of that authorization, we have to put our foot down now and say “no.” If foreign countries learn that they cannot discuss and have a clear decision unless Congress is aboard for the ride, good. That’s a good thing.

The power of the Presidency—and I’m not talking about this Presidency—as was said by Charles James Fox in 1780, the Crown, in case the power of the President, has increased, is increasing and ought to be diminished. This country’s power to go to war or not must reside here except in extreme and urgent emergencies. It is time to put our foot down now by passing this bill.

Mr. WOODALL. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from North Carolina (Ms. FOXX).

Ms. FOXX. I thank my colleague from Georgia for yielding time.

I rise today in support of this rule and of H.R. 2278, a bill to prohibit funds for continued U.S. military involvement in Libya except for operations involving search and rescue, intelligence, surveillance and reconnaissance, aerial refueling, and operational planning.

In 2007, then the junior Senator from Illinois, Barack Obama, confidently proclaimed to the Boston Globe this comment: “The President does not have power under the Constitution to unilaterally authorize a military attack in a situation that does not involve stopping an actual or imminent threat to the Nation.” However, now that he is not attacking political opponents, that stance has proven inconvenient, prompting one of his many flip-flops, such as his vote opposing to raise the debt limit.

Regardless of one’s position on the constitutional powers of the President as Commander in Chief or Congress’ authority to declare war, the legislative branch unquestionably yields the power of the purse. This bill represents a proper exercise of that power, pure and simple. The bill does not leave our military in dangerous circumstances without the funds or supplies they need. It does not require a precipitous withdrawal since, without a ground presence, there is nowhere from which to withdraw. The bill simply denies U.S. taxpayer funding for what the President calls a “kinetic activity,” but what the world recognizes as an ongoing bombing campaign in Libya.

It is for these reasons and many more that I urge my colleagues to support the rule and to support H.R. 2278.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. GARAMENDI).

Mr. GARAMENDI. I thank the gentle lady from New York for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, we are later this morning going to be engaged in one of the most important tasks of Congress, and that is what to do about war. Unfortunately, the administration—and I think they would agree to this—didn’t adequately engage Congress in the timeline of what we were doing in Libya. That conflict didn’t sufficiently engage during the course of it. We are now in a position where we will be making some decisions today about how we want this Nation to proceed, whether we want to be engaged with a full-on war or with limited or much more limited activity with regard to the support of NATO in the Libya fight.

Unfortunately, all of this is now being rushed upon us here on the last day just before the break for the 4th of July. The amount of time to debate this on the floor is far too limited. It would have been our preference on the Democratic side to have had a more full discussion along the lines that the gentle lady from New York discussed in her opening comments—a full-on discussion about how we are to proceed.

We are basically going to have two options—either full-on war with the American people and this Congress will not support perpetual war.

Mr. WOODALL. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield 5 minutes to the chairman of the Rules Committee, the gentleman from California (Mr. Dreier).

Mr. DREIER. I thank my friend from Lawrenceville for his typical stellar performance that saddens me greatly that we are here on the House floor, dealing with this. We have been in the midst of what has been a celebration, a celebration as described as the Arab Spring.

We saw a few months ago a young merchant in a small town in Tunisia very, very distraught over the fact that a government official came and took his scale away from him and took it to the government office.

He went back and asked for it, and when he made that request, he was denied it. He basically said he’d had enough, and so this young man chose to set himself aflame in the middle of the town square in this tiny town in Tunisia.

Now, as we all know, that launched what has become known as the Arab Spring. The Economist magazine very appropriately said that one of the great developments that the Arab Spring has wrought is that we have now seen those so-called “barbarians” in the Arab world, in the Muslim world, move towards self-determination. Many people in the West and in other parts of the world very arrogantly said there’s no way in the world that those people could possibly make great strides towards political pluralism and development of the rule of law, self-determination. In fact, many people saw this one very sad act—people throughout the Arab world in not only Tunisia, but Egypt, Bahrain and, yes, in Libya, demonstrate their frustration over authoritarian dictatorships that were actually undermining the potential of the people of each of those countries.

So that's why, Mr. Speaker, it saddens me that we are here today doing what it is that we're doing. Why? Because we should be in the midst of a celebration, a celebration of these very bold and dynamic steps that are being taken throughout the Arab world. And why is it that we're here? We're here because the United States has been described by Members on both sides of the aisle—and I just heard my friend from New York describe the actions of this Presidency—as being the act of a monarch.

Mr. Speaker, I think it's very important for us to look at recent history. If we go back to the 2006 election, the Republicans lost the majority in large part because of the war in Iraq. Democrats and Republicans alike acknowledged that.

There's an important distinction that needs to be made. If one goes back and looks at the action that was taken by President Bush, he chose to come to this Congress. He wanted the support of the American people through their elected Representatives and Senators to be behind his effort. We all know that he reached out to the United Nations, built a coalition, and there was lots of controversy. There, to this day, continues to be controversy. But the Congress was involved in that process, as has been the case in many instances in the past, not every instance, but many instances in the past.

We know, as my friend from Grandfather Community, North Carolina, just said, that President Obama when he was a candidate, United States Senator, was very critical of President Bush. We know that his campaign for the Presidency in large part centered around this notion of bringing home the troops, and we had his speech the before this one, and I think dealing with Afghanistan and his notion that we were going to bring these efforts to an end.

I would argue, Mr. Speaker, that as we, I said, should be in the midst of celebrating the Arab Spring, we probably would have had, when one thinks about the actions that took place in Libya, we probably would have had, Mr. Speaker, pretty broad support here in the Congress for the action that was taken by the President if there had been an early authorization of this.

Now, it is, as I said, very sad that we are here now because I think Democrats and Republicans alike acknowledge that this has been very, very poorly handled. And, Mr. Speaker, I don't know if there's any more time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. WOODALL. I yield the gentleman 2 additional minutes.

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend for yielding.

Let me just say that as we look at this, Mr. Speaker, I think we need to recognize that there are other very troubled spots in the world. We just, today, have gotten word of thousands of Syrians who are fleeing to Turkey because of the barbaric acts that have taken place there.

So I think that as we look at the greatest positive steps that have been taken in the Arab world, we need to make sure that the United States Congress and the President of the United States are in this together. There should be consultation and authorization to deal with this.

Mr. Speaker, I think it's not to say that as we look at this rule itself, I really am absolutely stunned, absolutely stunned at the kinds of things that I've heard from my colleagues on the other side of the aisle.

Now, Mr. Speaker, as my good friend from Rochester, New York (Mr. SLAUGHTER), knows, as we began debate on this, we had complete compliance with the 3-day layover requirement, and we had these measures before. I yield for 2 additional minutes. Mr. Speaker, there was not a single amendment offered in the Committee on Rules to deal with this, not a single amendment offered, and, in fact, one of these measures is offered by a Republican, gentleman from Florida (Mr. ROONEY); the other is offered by a Democrat, the other gentleman from Florida (Mr. HASTINGS).

And so when I think about 3 o'clock in the morning on June 23 of 2009, we began the debate on this horrible idea of cap-and-trade, and it was 3 o'clock in the morning and I was sitting upstairs with my Rules Committee colleagues, Mr. Speaker, and dropped in my lap, still hot because it had just come off of the copying machine, was 300 pages of an amendment that we reported out.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has again expired.

Mr. WOODALL. I yield the gentleman 2 additional minutes.

Mr. DREIER. Thank my friend for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, let me just say, at 3 o'clock in the morning we were handed this measure.

Now, what we have before us has, again, complied with the 3-day layover requirement, not a single amendment was offered, and there's a proposal offered by a Democrat and a proposal offered by a Republican. Mr. Speaker, I have to say that I believe that this rule is one that does allow for a free-flowing debate. It allows for an opportunity to consider this, and it's not as if we haven't been engaged in this discussion for a long period of time.

My friend from Cleveland is here and he has played a very, very constructive role in leading the charge on this over the past several weeks, as he often does, and I believe that our ability to continue this debate is an important one.

But again, Mr. Speaker, let me just conclude by saying it saddens me that at a time when we should be celebrating the fact there are people in the Arab world who are seeking the opportunity to enjoy the kinds of freedoms that we have here in the United States of America, that the President of the United States has chosen to go it alone without recognizing the very, very important responsibility of the first branch of the United States Government.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. KUCINICH).

Mr. KUCINICH. The right to protect civilians has morphed into the so-called right to change a regime and the right to destroy civilians. The situation is positively Orwellian, and it is all going wrong. Even early supporters of the war are changing their minds. I would quote from al Jazeera just a couple of days ago:

"Italy's foreign minister and the outgoing head of the Arab League have each called for a halt to hostilities in the war-torn north African country."

"Franco Frattini told members of Parliament on Wednesday that the suspension of military operations in Libya was 'essential' for immediate humanitarian aid, while Arab League chief, called for a political solution to the crisis."

"Moussa's sentiment was shared by the Italian foreign minister, who called for urgent humanitarian aid to trapped residents in cities like Tripoli and Misurata."

"He said the people in those areas face a 'dramatic' humanitarian situation and added that a suspension of hostilities would also avoid 'consolidating a division of Libya' between east and west."

"He said he hoped the European Council in Brussels on Thursday would highlight an end to the fighting in Libya as 'a practical solution.' "

The question is, Mr. Speaker, will Congress rush into the breach here while our allies are headed to the exit?

H.R. 2278 by Mr. ROONEY would immediately prevent the administration from engaging in direct offensive hostilities in Libya, and it ought to be supported.

Now, the resolution isn't perfect. It doesn't end the war in its entirety immediately, but it does make clear that the United States will not take over the war as European support continues to diminish.

I proposed an amendment with Representative AMASH of Michigan and 11 others to the Defense authorization bill that would eliminate all funds for military operations in Libya. I urge a vote for this bipartisan amendment when we come back after the recess.

H.R. 2278 and the Kucinich-Amash amendment are complementary. If we want to end U.S. involvement, we can do it in two steps: First step, vote for this bipartisan amendment when we come back, second step, vote for the Kucinich-Amash when we come back.

Mr. WOODALL. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.
Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield 2 minutes to the gentlelady from Texas (Ms. JACKSON LEE).

Ms. JACKSON LEE of Texas. I thank the gentlelady.

Mr. Speaker, I stand here this morning and oppose the ongoing war in Libya. The United States has supported the armed conflict against a government it has not recognized. People have been killed and wounded, entire communities destroyed. Our involvement has been ill-conceived and ill-advised.

Today I continue to call for the cessation of the violence and abuse against the Libyan people. We have to address this question away from the cloud, as I indicated, of politics.

We must adhere to the Constitution, Congress’ right to declare war, but I cannot understand why we would debate about the War Powers Resolution being constitutional. For some of us, we believe that the contents of it insist that it is.

So my point to my colleagues is, the Kucinich resolution is on the floor, and every Republican had the opportunity to vote for it. Why are we here again with a resolution that imitates the debate that we had. I believe the underlying principle and premise is to embarrass this administration and President Obama.

Mr. WOODALL. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume to say I absolutely agree with the gentlelady. This is no place for politics. And that’s why, as Mr. Kucinich has led this debate after time after time, he’s had tremendous support from the Republican side of the aisle.

This is not about Republicans and Democrats. This is about the Constitution of the United States. This is about the right to declare war.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentlelady has expired.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. I would be pleased to yield an additional 2 minutes to the gentlelady.

Ms. LEE. I thank the gentlelady.

Unfortunately, the Speaker did not grant our request, and we find ourselves here today debating this important constitutional issue well over 60 and even 90 days after hostilities began. So you will have to forgive me if I am somewhat skeptical about the political motives behind the floor actions that are scheduled today. Because we really need to understand that this is serious business, and it should not be politicized.

This is not about this President or any President. This is not about politics or isolationism. This is about the War Powers Act and the Constitution. It’s about standing up for this body and the important role, the most solemn and one of the most important decisions that we make as lawmakers, and that’s the decision to declare war.

Unfortunately, this resolution offered by my colleague from Florida (Mr. ROONEY) that is before us today has many exemptions that are very broad and, of course, fall short of ending this war. I have some concerns in terms of some of the limitations and exemptions, in terms of making sure that we do not broaden the war with these exemptions.

And I would hope the author, Mr. ROONEY, would be able to clarify these items and reassure us that: (1) reconnaissance would be limited to intelligence gathering and not tactical operations; (2) the War Powers Act specifically forbids Armed Forces from engaging in hostilities or into situations that would permit involvement in hostilities is clearly going to occur.

Now we have Republicans suggesting that the War Powers Resolution is unconstitutional. What do they want? This is a political game.

I voted for Mr. KUCINICH’s resolution, and the Republicans had the opportunity to also vote for Mr. KUCINICH’s resolution. This is to embarrass the President.

I agree with the underlying sentiment that this was handled badly and that there should have been consultation. Now there is an opportunity for authorization. We need to debate this not whether it is President Obama but whether or not there is a collaborative effort between NATO and the Arab League to address this hostile situation in Libya. And, frankly, I don’t like the politics of this. The politics says, it’s okay if it’s a Republican President but not okay if it’s Mr. Obama.

America is not preserving the integrity of this Constitution and have consistently voted that Congress has a right to declare war. We are now engaged in consultation process, and I hope Members will engage in the debate on the basis of right decisions that we make as lawmakers, on the question of whether or not we are in a collaborative effort with NATO on this issue of Libya. We are attempting to save lives; take the politics out of it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentlewoman has expired.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I would be happy to yield the gentlelady 1 additional minute.

Ms. JACKSON LEE of Texas. I thank the distinguished gentlelady.

I went to the Libyan Embassy at the very start of this horrific crisis and stood with the Libyan ambassador that resigned and called for the resignation of General Qadhafi. Today I continue to call for the cessation of the violence and abuse against the Libyan people. We have to address this question away from the cloud, as I indicated, of politics.

We must adhere to the Constitution, Congress’ right to declare war, but I cannot understand why we would debate about the War Powers Resolution being constitutional. For some of us, we believe that the contents of it insist that it is.

So my point to my colleagues is, the Kucinich resolution is on the floor, and every Republican had the opportunity to vote for it. Why are we here again with a resolution that imitates the debate that we had. I believe the underlying principle and premise is to embarrass this administration and President Obama.

Mr. WOODALL. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume to say I absolutely agree with the gentlelady. This is no place for politics. And that’s why, as Mr. Kucinich has led this debate after time after time, he’s had tremendous support from the Republican side of the aisle.

This is not about Republicans and Democrats. This is about the Constitution of the United States. This is about the right to declare war.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentlelady has expired.

Ms. SLAUGHTER. I would be pleased to yield an additional 2 minutes to the gentlelady.

Ms. LEE. I thank the gentlelady.

Unfortunately, the Speaker did not grant our request, and we find ourselves here today debating this important constitutional issue well over 60 and even 90 days after hostilities began. So you will have to forgive me if I am somewhat skeptical about the political motives behind the floor actions that are scheduled today. Because we really need to understand that this is serious business, and it should not be politicized.

This is not about this President or any President. This is not about politics or isolationism. This is about the War Powers Act and the Constitution. It’s about standing up for this body and the important role, the most solemn and one of the most important decisions that we make as lawmakers, and that’s the decision to declare war.

Unfortunately, this resolution offered by my colleague from Florida (Mr. ROONEY) that is before us today has many exemptions that are very broad and, of course, fall short of ending this war. I have some concerns in terms of some of the limitations and exemptions, in terms of making sure that this does not broaden the war with these exemptions.

And I would hope the author, Mr. ROONEY, would be able to clarify these items and reassure us that: (1) reconnaissance would be limited to intelligence gathering and not tactical operations and (2) refrueling would be limited to intelligence reconnaissance, not operations.

Again, I hope we can clarify these points because we must stand up for the Constitution and this body.

I hope that today we stand up for our Constitution. We must oppose, I believe, the resolution that gives carte blanche authorization to continue the war in Libya after the fact.
June 24, 2011

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE

H4539

I hold here in my hand, Mr. Speaker, a copy of Constitution of the United States of America, again, ratified this week in 1788. Article I, section 8: the Congress shall have the power to declare war. Article I, section 9: no money shall be drawn from the Treasuries, but in case of appropriation made by law.

Mr. Speaker, it’s easy to say that foreign policy is the domain of the President of the United States, and it is. But the purse is the domain of the U.S. House of Representatives.

I want to hearken back again to what the chairman of the Rules Committee said on the floor earlier: this should be a time of celebration. And, Mr. Speaker, when we have troops in harm’s way, it should be something that we are unified behind and believe in as a Nation, that we are ready to prosecute a war effort to the fullest extent and bring our voices where are you with it, or are you against it? Do you support what’s going on in Libya, or do you believe we’re headed in the wrong direction as a Nation?

But for today, we have an opportunity to take a step in that direction. We have an opportunity to make our military campaign we are supporting and prosecuting does not constitute “hostilities” within the meaning of the War Powers Resolution. Active support for military operations that involve extensive bombing of Libya plainly constitutes “hostilities.”

I have never viewed Libya as being in the vital national security interests of the United States. That in itself is a flashing warning sign and a presumption against military involvement in Libya. This is true notwithstanding the enormous hopes that rose with the democratic uprising that erupted this spring—and the overwhelming urge we have to express our sympathies for freedom and an end to Qaddafi’s tyranny and corruption have been met with the most brutal repression.

In March, Qaddafi blatantly threatened to exterminate tens, if not hundreds, of thousands of human beings, as provided today in H.R. 2778, is the wrong measure, but that is not the legislation before us today. A conflict that has lasted for months, not weeks, as the President indicated would be the case, and with a highly inconclusive situation on the ground.

Moreover, under the rules established by Mr. Hastings today largely mirrors that resolution. If you believe that what’s going on in Libya is in the best interest of the United States, if you believe we have a national security interest in Libya, if you believe that the Congress should make clear that we are behind the President and what’s going on in Libya, you have that choice today in the resolution offered by Mr. Hastings.

I hold here in my hand, Mr. Speaker, a copy of Constitution of the United States of America, again, ratified this week in 1788. Article I, section 8: the Congress shall have the power to declare war. Article I, section 9: no money shall be drawn from the Treasuries, but in case of appropriation made by law.

Mr. Speaker, it’s easy to say that foreign policy is the domain of the President of the United States, and it is. But the purse is the domain of the U.S. House of Representatives.

I want to hearken back again to what the chairman of the Rules Committee said on the floor earlier: this should be a time of celebration. And, Mr. Speaker, when we have troops in harm’s way, it should be something that we are unified behind and believe in as a Nation, that we are ready to prosecute a war effort to the fullest extent and bring our voices where are you with it, or are you against it? Do you support what’s going on in Libya, or do you believe we’re headed in the wrong direction as a Nation?

But for today, we have an opportunity to take a step in that direction. We have an opportunity to make our military campaign we are supporting and prosecuting does not constitute “hostilities” within the meaning of the War Powers Resolution. Active support for military operations that involve extensive bombing of Libya plainly constitutes “hostilities.”

I have never viewed Libya as being in the vital national security interests of the United States. That in itself is a flashing warning sign and a presumption against military involvement in Libya. This is true notwithstanding the enormous hopes that rose with the democratic uprising that erupted this spring—and the overwhelming urge we have to express our sympathies for freedom and an end to Qaddafi’s tyranny and corruption have been met with the most brutal repression.

In March, Qaddafi blatantly threatened to exterminate tens, if not hundreds, of thousands of human beings, as provided today in H.R. 2778, is the wrong measure, but that is not the legislation before us today. A conflict that has lasted for months, not weeks, as the President indicated would be the case, and with a highly inconclusive situation on the ground.

Moreover, under the rules established by Mr. Hastings today largely mirrors that resolution. If you believe that what’s going on in Libya is in the best interest of the United States, if you believe we have a national security interest in Libya, if you believe that the Congress should make clear that we are behind the President and what’s going on in Libya, you have that choice today in the resolution offered by Mr. Hastings.

I hold here in my hand, Mr. Speaker, a copy of Constitution of the United States of America, again, ratified this week in 1788. Article I, section 8: the Congress shall have the power to declare war. Article I, section 9: no money shall be drawn from the Treasuries, but in case of appropriation made by law.

Mr. Speaker, it’s easy to say that foreign policy is the domain of the President of the United States, and it is. But the purse is the domain of the U.S. House of Representatives.

I want to hearken back again to what the chairman of the Rules Committee said on the floor earlier: this should be a time of celebration. And, Mr. Speaker, when we have troops in harm’s way, it should be something that we are unified behind and believe in as a Nation, that we are ready to prosecute a war effort to the fullest extent and bring our voices where are you with it, or are you against it? Do you support what’s going on in Libya, or do you believe we’re headed in the wrong direction as a Nation?

But for today, we have an opportunity to take a step in that direction. We have an opportunity to make our military campaign we are supporting and prosecuting does not constitute “hostilities” within the meaning of the War Powers Resolution. Active support for military operations that involve extensive bombing of Libya plainly constitutes “hostilities.”

I have never viewed Libya as being in the vital national security interests of the United States. That in itself is a flashing warning sign and a presumption against military involvement in Libya. This is true notwithstanding the enormous hopes that rose with the democratic uprising that erupted this spring—and the overwhelming urge we have to express our sympathies for freedom and an end to Qaddafi’s tyranny and corruption have been met with the most brutal repression.

In March, Qaddafi blatantly threatened to exterminate tens, if not hundreds, of thousands of human beings, as provided today in H.R. 2778, is the wrong measure, but that is not the legislation before us today. A conflict that has lasted for months, not weeks, as the President indicated would be the case, and with a highly inconclusive situation on the ground.

Moreover, under the rules established by Mr. Hastings today largely mirrors that resolution. If you believe that what’s going on in Libya is in the best interest of the United States, if you believe we have a national security interest in Libya, if you believe that the Congress should make clear that we are behind the President and what’s going on in Libya, you have that choice today in the resolution offered by Mr. Hastings.

I hold here in my hand, Mr. Speaker, a copy of Constitution of the United States of America, again, ratified this week in 1788. Article I, section 8: the Congress shall have the power to declare war. Article I, section 9: no money shall be drawn from the Treasuries, but in case of appropriation made by law.

Mr. Speaker, it’s easy to say that foreign policy is the domain of the President of the United States, and it is. But the purse is the domain of the U.S. House of Representatives.

I want to hearken back again to what the chairman of the Rules Committee said on the floor earlier: this should be a time of celebration. And, Mr. Speaker, when we have troops in harm’s way, it should be something that we are unified behind and believe in as a Nation, that we are ready to prosecute a war effort to the fullest extent and bring our voices where are you with it, or are you against it? Do you support what’s going on in Libya, or do you believe we’re headed in the wrong direction as a Nation?

But for today, we have an opportunity to take a step in that direction. We have an opportunity to make our military campaign we are supporting and prosecuting does not constitute “hostilities” within the meaning of the War Powers Resolution. Active support for military operations that involve extensive bombing of Libya plainly constitutes “hostilities.”

I have never viewed Libya as being in the vital national security interests of the United States. That in itself is a flashing warning sign and a presumption against military involvement in Libya. This is true notwithstanding the enormous hopes that rose with the democratic uprising that erupted this spring—and the overwhelming urge we have to express our sympathies for freedom and an end to Qaddafi’s tyranny and corruption have been met with the most brutal repression.

In March, Qaddafi blatantly threatened to exterminate tens, if not hundreds, of thousands of human beings, as provided today in H.R. 2778, is the wrong measure, but that is not the legislation before us today. A conflict that has lasted for months, not weeks, as the President indicated would be the case, and with a highly inconclusive situation on the ground.

Moreover, under the rules established by Mr. Hastings today largely mirrors that resolution. If you believe that what’s going on in Libya is in the best interest of the United States, if you believe we have a national security interest in Libya, if you believe that the Congress should make clear that we are behind the President and what’s going on in Libya, you have that choice today in the resolution offered by Mr. Hastings.

I hold here in my hand, Mr. Speaker, a copy of Constitution of the United States of America, again, ratified this week in 1788. Article I, section 8: the Congress shall have the power to declare war. Article I, section 9: no money shall be drawn from the Treasuries, but in case of appropriation made by law.

Mr. Speaker, it’s easy to say that foreign policy is the domain of the President of the United States, and it is. But the purse is the domain of the U.S. House of Representatives.

I want to hearken back again to what the chairman of the Rules Committee said on the floor earlier: this should be a time of celebration. And, Mr. Speaker, when we have troops in harm’s way, it should be something that we are unified behind and believe in as a Nation, that we are ready to prosecute a war effort to the fullest extent and bring our voices where are you with it, or are you against it? Do you support what’s going on in Libya, or do you believe we’re headed in the wrong direction as a Nation?

But for today, we have an opportunity to take a step in that direction. We have an opportunity to make our military campaign we are supporting and prosecuting does not constitute “hostilities” within the meaning of the War Powers Resolution. Active support for military operations that involve extensive bombing of Libya plainly constitutes “hostilities.”

I have never viewed Libya as being in the vit NATO's military campaign to protect the Libyan people, but for a much shorter period of time than provided by H.J. Res. 68.

I believe the President, as Commander-in-Chief, should come directly to Congress to seek a limited authorization of military support for our NATO allies, and Congress should promptly act on it. This would help secure a stronger consensus behind a much more limited and well-defined campaign, and ensure that it is truly conducted in pursuit of our national security and policy interests.

Mr. WOODALL. I yield back the balance of my time, and I move the previous question on the resolution.

The previous question was ordered.

The question was taken; and the previous question was ordered.

Mr. WOODALL. I yield back the balance of my time, and I move the previous question on the resolution.

Mr. JACKSON of Illinois. Further parliamentary inquiry, Mr. Speaker. Can the gentleman state his point of order?

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

The Speaker. The gentleman has not stated a proper parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. JACKSON of Illinois. Further parliamentary inquiry, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JACKSON of Illinois. The Speaker, the gentleman has not stated a proper parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. JACKSON of Illinois. The Speaker, the gentleman has not stated a proper parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. JACKSON of Illinois. The Speaker, the gentleman has not stated a proper parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. JACKSON of Illinois. The Speaker, the gentleman has not stated a proper parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. JACKSON of Oklahoma. The Speaker, the gentleman has not stated a proper parliamentary inquiry.
The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Illinois is engaging in debate and not stating a parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. JACKSON of Illinois. Further parliamentary inquiry, Mr. Speaker. The gentlewoman from Florida is engaging in debate at this point. The gentleman is not stating a parliamentary inquiry.

Pursuant to House Resolution 328, the joint resolution is considered read. The text of the joint resolution is as follows:

H.J. Res. 68
Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that:

SECTION 1. AUTHORIZATION FOR THE LIMITED USE OF UNITED STATES ARMED FORCES IN LIBYA. (a) Authority.—The President is authorized to use United States Armed Forces in Libya, in support of the United Nations authorization to conduct military operations in Libya as undertaken to enforce United Nations Security Council Resolution 1973 (2011) as requested by the Transitional National Council, the Gulf Cooperation Council, and the Arab League. (b) Execution of Authority. The authorization for such limited use of United States Armed Forces in Libya expires one year after the date of the enactment of this joint resolution.

SEC. 2. OPPOSITION TO THE USE OF UNITED STATES GROUND TROOPS. Consistent with the policy and statements of the President, Congress does not support deploying, establishing, or maintaining the presence of units and members of the United States Armed Forces on the ground in Libya unless the presence of the United States Armed Forces on the ground in Libya is necessary for U.S. Armed Forces to remain in a limited capacity. However, I cannot support an authorization which constitutes our current level of engagement for an entire year. This is what is proposed in H.J. Res. 68. Opposed by my friend from Florida (Mr. HASTINGS), and I therefore yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I do not support a complete U.S. withdrawal from NATO’s Operation Unified Protector. I believe that it is necessary for U.S. Armed Forces to remain in a limited capacity. However, I cannot support an authorization which constitutes our current level of engagement for a full year. This is what is proposed in H.J. Res. 68, opposed by my friend from Florida (Mr. HASTINGS), and I therefore must rise in opposition to his resolution.

This resolution not only authorizes U.S. military engagement in Libya far beyond even the 90-day NATO extension, but it justifies U.S. military engagement in Libya as undertaken to enforce a United Nations Security Council resolution and at the request of the Transitional National Council, the Gulf Cooperation Council, and the Arab League. Is this the United States Congress in this equation?

If an authorization resolution had been put forward in February, I might have been able to support it. I understand the mission. But in the intervening period, conditions have changed significantly on the ground in Libya, within NATO, with our NATO partners, and here in the U.S. Decisive action with congressional authorization at the outset might have solved this problem quickly, but now we have drifted into an apparently open-ended commitment with goals that remain only vaguely defined. And that is at the heart of the problem, Mr. Speaker.

The President asserted, “These strikes will be limited in their nature, duration, and scope.” Well, it is now day 97—of our involvement of U.S. Armed Forces in hostilities regarding Libya; yet Qadhafi still clings to power and the opposition appears to be receding to the point of collapse. Command for the military operation has been transferred to NATO; yet the constrained role the President has said is being played by U.S. forces in Libya still includes nearly one-quarter of the total sorties flown in Libya; suppression of the enemy air defense through missile strikes; strikes by unmanned Predators on Qadhafi targets; nearly 70 percent of the mission’s intelligence, surveillance, and reconnaissance; and over 75 percent of all aerial refueling.

Yet the President has yet to explain just what American interests are at stake and just what outcomes he is hoping to achieve.

The resolution offered by our Speaker, Speaker BOEHNER, and adopted by this Chamber on June 3 posed specific questions that required straight answers. Instead, we received a letter and accompanying documents from the Acting Assistant Secretary of State for Legislative Affairs and the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Legislative Affairs, which stated that U.S. actions in Libya were “taken in response to direct appeals from the Libyan people and acting with a mandate from the United Nations.”

The administration proceeded to justify its current policy by asserting that U.S. military operations in Libya do not constitute hostilities. This argument is so incredulous that even the administration in the Executive Branch and the Legal Counsel do not agree. Therefore, I am not optimistic that the reporting provisions in the resolution we are considering today, which calls for “a full and updated explanation of the President’s legal and constitutional rationale for conducting military operations in Libya,” will be fulfilled in a fulsome manner, respectful of congressional prerogatives.

Again, I must underscore that I do not support a complete withdrawal from our commitments concerning Libya. That would be dangerous. That would be ill-advised. A complete withdrawal of all U.S. military assets from the region would undermine the President’s intelligence efforts and our foreign policy goals, and would all but assure a victory for Qadhafi. It can lead to greater instability, which could affect NATO operations in Iraq and Afghanistan at a critical stage of transition. There are also proliferation concerns at stake, particularly as an increasing number of weapons have moved into the region and reportedly fallen into the hands of extremist organizations, including al Qaeda in the Islamic Maghreb. The Qadhafi regime is an unpredictable regime that has chemical weapons, including mustard and possibly sarin gas.

While a complete withdrawal is unacceptable, the resolution before us is also unacceptable. The resolution effectively ratifies all that the President has done, and it would grant him the blessings of Congress to continue on his present course. The resolution before us would enable mission creep, rather than setting clear parameters for U.S. engagement. I must therefore oppose this resolution.
I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the resolution, and I yield 2 minutes to the sponsor of the resolution, the gentleman from Florida (Mr. HASTINGS).

Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. It’s high time that Congress asserts its authority and engages proactively with the administration on this most serious question of war. I just wonder where my colleagues have been all the years that we have had Presidents and war. It will be interesting to see a match-up of their votes with this one.

Mr. Speaker, the underlying legislation authorizes the limited use of United States forces in support of the NATO mission in Libya. This legislation is a bipartisan effort to prevent the kind of open-ended, indefinite military commitments we have elsewhere in the world. Register that as Afghanist-an and Iraq.

Mr. President, this resolution is a companion to forward-leaning Senate legislation introduced by Senators JOHN KERRY, JOHN MCCAIN, BENJAMIN CARDIN, and RICHARD DURBAN. Immediately after they introduced the resolution here, the Senate, I brought it to the House so that we can make progress on this very important debate before us.

If I had my way, Mr. Speaker—and I don’t—you wouldn’t be in Libya at all. But I don’t have my way, and here we are, and the solution now is not to cut off all funding and suddenly walk out. We have a responsibility to our allies. As long as we are continuing to supply logistics and arms and intelligence and operational capabilities—and no boots on the ground—we must support our allies who are carrying out the direct combat operations. We must stand with NATO.

Again, Mr. Speaker, if I had my way—and I don’t—there are revisions to this resolution that I believe the Congress ought to consider. I maintain that a better date to end the authorization would be the end of September, and certainly no later than December. The 1-year authorization limits the President’s ability to engage our Armed Forces indefinitely so that we don’t find ourselves neck deep in yet another war.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. BERMAN. I yield the gentleman an additional 15 seconds.

Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. This authorizes the use of ground forces and at the same time requires the President to continually report to Congress. I would rather we use some of Libya’s frozen assets so that we could have them pay for the mission that they in the Senate, I brought it to the House so that we can make progress on this very important debate before us.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. I am pleased to yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Texas, Dr. PAUL, a member of our Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Mr. PAUL. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, this is a resolution that endorses the policies that have been going on for 4 months. Not only has the Congress basically been strong in opposition to what has been going on, the American people are even more so. So what this resolution does is endorses exactly what we’re doing—another unconstitutional war, involvement and justification under NATO and the United Nations, doing it secretly. There’s an attempt to restrain the funding of this effort over in Libya. How can we do something we’ve never authorized? They funds weren’t authorized. The President just goes and does it.

What we’re talking about here is the challenge for the Congress on looking at the unitary President. The unitary President has been around for quite a few years. That means that Presidents do what they want, and the Congress just acknowledges it. So that is what we’re doing with this resolution. It acknowledges and gives authority to the President to pursue this war, which is actually what he has been doing. Obviously, H.J. Res. 68, for me, is a very, very strong “no” because the last thing we need to do is to be giving explicit support and explicit authorization for the very policies that so many people now think are ill-advised.

This resolution also says you don’t send in ground troops. Well, that’s fine, no ground troops. But in this day and age, war can go on for a long time without the ground troops. It happened to a degree in Bosnia. But it didn’t exempt such things as special forces, the CIA. The CIA has been in Libya, and I’m sure they will be, as they are in many, many other hundreds of countries. Contractors. When we can’t send in troops, we send in contractors. We have as many contractors in Afghanistan as we do the military. So a couple thousand troops come out of Afghanistan and the President adds more contractors. Nothing ever changes.

But this whole idea of this effort to legalize the bombing, at least give the authority to the President to continue this, is foolish. How many more wars can we withstand? What number is this? This is I think number five. Today, in the papers, number six is coming. How long before we’re in Syria? Go into Syria tomorrow and in 90 days we’ll start talking about Syria and proper authority.

Instead, we in Congress have given up our responsibility for war. Because the responsibility of going to war should have been and still remains constitutionally mandated that the Congress makes these decisions. The President is not supposed to get us engaged in war without Congress’ authority. Too often we say, Whatever you need, we’ll endorse it.

We have another resolution coming up shortly.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. I yield the gentleman 30 additional seconds.

Mr. PAUL. Unfortunately, I think the next resolution, H.R. 2278, isn’t much different because it has too many exceptions. It says: Deny funding. But there are too many exceptions, and the exceptions are to allow the very things the President is currently doing.

So both resolutions have serious shortcomings. Both resolutions should be defeated if you’re opposed to this war in Libya.

Mr. BERNER. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Washington (Mr. MCDERMOTT).

Mr. MCDERMOTT asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.

Mr. MCDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the President’s response to Libya.

A week after it started, I received a phone call from a very distinguished professor at the University of Washington, who had left and was back in Libya. He is now the Finance Minister, Dr. Tarhouni. He said to me, Please give us air cover. If you can protect us from the air, we can take care of it ourselves on the ground.

As I listened to him, I thought of an experience I had with President Clinton. I flew to Africa, to Kigali, and met with people who had been part of the massacre—the maimed. Then I saw the President go into the hangar and speak to 500 Rwandans and apologize for not having responded to the Rwandan massacre on the first day. This was a situation where the Libyans were asking for it. It was one where the Arab League was asking for it. This was not something that was cooked up in the White House, created and sent out. This was done in response to people on the ground.

My belief is that these kinds of situations require the President to act decisively. He did and I support him.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Texas, Judge Poe, vice chairman of the Foreign Affairs Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations.

Mr. POE of Texas. I appreciate the chairlady for yielding me time on this issue.

Mr. Speaker, going to war is a big deal. That’s why the President put within the Constitution that when America is to go to war it is Congress that is to lead that charge, that it is Congress to authorize America’s going to war. That has been the law in the Constitution since it was written.

When came the War Powers resolution, and Congress decided that it would give a little of that constitutional authority to the President for a period of days until he justified his actions before Congress. That was put in place to stop Congress from having too many exceptions, to argue whether the War Powers resolution is constitutional or not. But in any event, Congress has not led America to war in Libya.
The President has. The President made that decision. As James Madison, the author of the Constitution, said in a letter to Thomas Jefferson—and I paraphrase—it has been the case that any branch of government has the executive brach that has led a country to war, and that's why our Constitution prevents kings and dictators and even Presidents from leading this country to war. It must be authorized by Congress.

But now we find ourselves in America's third war—in Libya. The President took us to war. Now, on this day, we are being asked to support and justify that war in this resolution. I vote "no."

We have no business in Libya. Even the administration has said it is not in the national security interest of the United States to be in Libya.

So why are we there? We are there because we don't like Muammar Qadhafi. There are a lot of bad guys in the world, and if we start picking them off one at a time we will be at war with most of the world, because most of the world is led by rogue dictators and bad guys. We have no business being in Libya. We have no business justifying this war on the House floor.

It is Congress' responsibility to fund any further action in Libya, and that is what we should do. It's unfortunate we don't have that up-or-down vote. I wish we could vote up or down today on that issue and let the House decide if we should be at war in Libya. $700 million has already been spent on the war in Libya. It's hard to figure out where that money came from. I get different answers from different people about where the President got that money. Maybe we should spend that $700 million in the United States, building America rather than blowing up Libya. I think that would be a better use of funds.

We need to take care of America. We shouldn't be involved in somebody else's civil war in Libya. Who are the rebels? We're not sure who they are either. They may be extremists. They may be patriots. They may be democratic philosophy. We have no idea. The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired. Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN, I yield the gentleman an additional 30 seconds.

Mr. POE of Texas. We don't know who the rebels are. They may be worse than Muammar Qadhafi. Now, isn't that a lovely situation if they take control and replace an oppressive regime with an extremist radical regime, and that's all because we are in a war that was unauthorized by this Congress. Cut off all funds. Vote against this resolution.

And that's just the way it is.

Mr. Berman. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield 2 minutes to a gentleman with the opposite view of this issue than I may the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. Kucinich).

Mr. KUCINICH. What? We don't have enough wars going on? A war in Iraq, a war in Afghanistan? We need one more war? We have to wage war against another nation which did not attack us? We have to wage war against another nation which does not represent an actual or imminent threat to the United States?

Mr. Speaker, I have to tell you that I have been all over this country, and I haven't had a single person come up to me to tell me, "You know, DENNIS, what America needs is another war." The last thing we need is to be voting to go to war. There are plenty of reasons to oppose the war in Libya:

It's unconstitutional. Article I, section 8 has given the Congress the power to declare war.

It's illegal. The War Powers resolution was passed over Presidential veto to allow the President latitude to respond when there is an imminent threat to the U.S. while retaining the constitutional duty of Congress. Even the President's top legal advisers at the Pentagon and the Department of Justice determined that the War Powers resolution applies to the war in Libya.

Another reason is that Americans don't want this war. A poll taken at the time by CBS News found that six in 10 Americans do not think the United States should be involved in a conflict within Libya. Just 30 percent of Americans in that poll thought the United States was doing the right thing by taking part in the current military conflict. A majority of Republicans, Democrats and Independents alike think the U.S. should not be involved in Libya.

Next, this war is a distraction. Our faltering economy demands the full attention of Congress and the President. The American people have little patience, or less, especially for a war of choice.

Then there is the cost of the war, Mr. Speaker. We've spent $750 million so far. If we keep going on, it will cost billions. We have to end this war. Vote against this authorization.

Mr. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. KINZINGER), a member of the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

Mr. KINZINGER of Illinois. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

I stand today in support of this resolution.

The world is watching our actions today. The world is asking: What are we going to do? We talk all the time about allowing Europe to take the lead in certain areas. It's allowing NATO to take the lead in foreign policy, and they have done that. Now will we today pull the rug out from under them simply because we have a dispute between the legislative and the executive branches?

I think the President should have come to this Chamber, too, but he didn't. Yet the wrong thing to do is to pull funding, and the right thing to do is to give him the authorization to go into Libya. A slaughter almost occurred, and we were able to stop it by our presence there. The vote we take in the House today will have implications far beyond our shores and far into the future. Finally, I am reminded of a quote by George Washington in which he states, "Liberty, when it begins to take root, is a plant of rapid growth."

I support this resolution and would urge all my colleagues to do the same. In doing so, we will be supporting the principles of freedom and liberty in the Middle East.

Mr. Berman. I am pleased to yield 1 1/2 minutes to the ranking member of the House Appropriations Committee, the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. DICKS).

Mr. DICKS. Mr. Speaker, I strongly support the Hastings amendment.

In my judgment, the President's initial commitment of U.S. airpower and naval forces to support the international effort was appropriate and certainly within his power as Commander in Chief. The United States' effort was undertaken in concert with a broad coalition of nations, and it followed a resolution adopted in the United Nations Security Council, authorizing "all necessary measures" to protect Libyan civilians attempting to overthrow the oppressive regime of Muammar Qadhafi. The Qadhafi government's response to the uprising, inspired by the Arab Spring, was to use force against civilians and opposition forces, and the brutal measures prompted the international outcry and the U.N. action.

In March, the President clearly outlined the rationale for our involvement in this military action. While the direct U.S. leadership of this effort lasted a brief time, U.S. forces remain engaged in the NATO operation. In this Chamber today, we are considering both the resolution authorizing the continued use of limited U.S. involvement in this effort or our immediate withdrawal from it.

While I believe it would have been more appropriate for the President, under the terms of the War Powers Act, to come to Congress earlier, I believe the language offered by HASTINGS of Florida, similar to the language introduced in the other body by Senators Mccain and KERRY, is the appropriate course of action at this time.

The language preserves the understanding between the administration and Congress that U.S. ground forces would not be appropriate at this time and were not asked for by the rebels.

The strict limitation of funds in the resolution offered by Mr. ROONEY of Florida would end our involvement unilaterally. I believe this action would be unwise and that it would materially harm our relationship with NATO allies.

And when I hear many of my colleagues on the other side of the House Chamber speaking in favor of abandoning the cause, I'm reminded of Ronald Reagan who attacked Libya with air power and called Qadhafi the "mad dog of the Middle East."

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to support the gentleman from California (Mr. LEVIN), ranking member of the Ways and Means Committee.

(Mr. LEVIN asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LEVIN. We should learn from the past. There are indeed times when American national interests should overtake political or partisan political interests.

I remember the debate on Kosovo 12 years ago. Congress refused to authorize American action by a split vote. That was a tragic mistake. House Republican leadership opposed that resolution; 187 noes against 31 yeas. I believe it was clear then that Republican leaders in this House opposed the Kosovo resolution, at least in those numbers, if George Bush had been President.

Today, there are echoes from Kosovo on this Libyan resolution. The Republican conference make the same mistake again. We should join together to support the Hastings' resolution that's consistent with the War Powers Act.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. ELISON).

Mr. ELLISON. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the Hastings resolution.

I think it's important to remember that U.S. military force is a very awesome thing and should only be employed in very select circumstances. We misused that power when it came to Iraq, and we used that power in an improper way and too long in Afghanistan. But when people are being slaughtered by dictators around the world, where massive loss of lives and innocents are at stake, I think it is appropriate for the United States to step up and protect those people.

Yes, we do have business in Libya. We have business in protecting mass murder from happening and stopping mass murder from happening around the world. We have business in stopping the destabilization of regions like north Africa. We have business in making sure that the peaceful resolutions in Ethiopia and recently Libya are not undermined. We have business in making sure that dictators like Ali Saleh in Yemen and Bashar al-Assad in Syria are not emboldened and the signal does not go out to them that they can continue to wipe out their population and nobody cares.

I believe that if I was in this Congress when Rwanda or Srebrenica or Darfur were happening, I pray that I would stand up and say that those people need to have some protection and that the most powerful Nation in the world shouldn't stand by while innocent women and children are being mowed down, and I hope today that my colleagues will join in that because it's the right thing to do.

Thank you very much.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Speaker, how much time is remaining on each side?

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. Baslady) says the gentleman from California has 10 minutes remaining, and the gentleman from Florida has 6 minutes remaining.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield 1½ minutes to the gentle lady from Texas, Ms. SHEILA JACKSON LEE.

Ms. JACKSON LEE of Texas. I thank the distinguished Speaker, and to the distinguished Members that are on this floor, what a heck of a position to be in.

Let me make it very clear this is a set of circumstances that frames itself around the Constitution, the War Powers resolution, that indicates that Congress must be consulted. But I am in the middle of these observations that took place months ago or many weeks ago as the crisis and the murderous acts of Colonel Qadhafi began to seize his people. And we went to the Libyan Embassy to ask for Colonel Qadhafi to step down, and we joined with the then-Ambassador to ask the Libyan government to make sure that that would not be authorized and to say that this would not be authorized.

But it is a crisis when we have an administration, unfortunately, that has not seen fit to undertake the consultation that is necessary. Yet I believe that we should finish the task, and it is different from Iraq and it is different from Afghanistan. We have a time certain and, as well, we have the Arab League that has asked us to stand with them against the oppression of one of its members.

This is a door opener to say to the people that we have asked to be with us to go against terrorist acts to stand for democracy. So this is a devastating position to put the Members of Congress in, but we must do our duty today, and I believe that it is good to say that the Hastings amendment is the framework, though I would prefer 6 months, and I hope there is an opportunity to address this for a limited time.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. GARAMENDI).

Mr. GARAMENDI. Mr. Speaker and Members, apparently the House has debated for more than almost 40 years about the War Powers agreement or War Powers law. What we have before us today is a way in which we can effect that law and put it into place, and there is reason for us to support the Hastings amendment or the Hastings resolution, and there are four reasons.

First of all, there's a humanitarian issue here, and that's why we went into this in the first place, the United Nations resolution on the obligation to protect, and indeed there was a threat.

Secondly, this particular intervention is supported by the United Nations, by NATO, by the Arab League, in a most unusual situation asking for the support of the Europeans and the United States in an Arab country.

Finally, we must continue our support of the effort, and we must do it in a very limited way. The resolution does that. It provides for a limited scope and a limited period of time and, therefore, it is in order; and it appropriately puts the Congress, both Houses if this should pass the Senate, in support of the operation, thereby fulfilling the War Powers Act.

I ask for an "aye" vote on the resolution.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased and honored to yield to 3 minutes to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SMITH), the chairman of the Foreign Affairs Subcommittee on Africa, Global Health, and Human Rights.

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. I thank the distinguished Speaker for yielding and thank her for her leadership today and every day on human rights issues.

I just want to say, Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the Hastings amendment. You know, when U.S. intervention in Libya began last March, I raised—and I was among many—several still unanswered questions about our involvement. They included questions about the validity of the authorizing resolution, the varying Presidential statements that seemed to shift like the wind, the level of U.S. involvement, the possibility of Qadhafi retaliating against American interests outside of Libya, and whether U.S. ground troops might well be requested at some point, although the resolution seems to clearly say that that would not be authorized by Congress.

In the course of the debate over the constitutionality and viability of the War Powers resolution, these questions have remained unanswered. The President has refused to seek congressional approval of his actions and has not provided a full explanation of his decisions. As the NATO campaign continues, new questions have arisen about U.S. participation and what is now NATO's involvement in Libya.

Let me just say mention was made a moment ago by Mr. LEVIN about the fact that somehow the Republican opposition to military action in Kosovo was political. It absolutely was not! I remember because I was very involved in trying to mitigate the Balkan troubles. I visited there many times, visited with Milosevic, the dictator in Belgrade. Actually, I was in Vukovar right before it fell.

So, frankly, the statement that was made earlier I think did a disservice to those of us who were not supportive of the Kosovo operation. I oppose any plan to war protect the Kosovar Albanians. We used air power. Milosevic invaded with ground troops. If Members will remember, that country's population was literally, literally pushed out into Macedonia and elsewhere—a 1.6 million refugees—because there was no plan when Milosevic sent in the ground troops and killed thousands of people because we had no plan to protect them. An estimated 18,000 people were killed.

So the revisionism that somehow Republican opposition to the war was a political calculation falls very, very far from the truth. And it's a cheap shot. I actually haven't heard words during the war and stated my oppositions based on principle, as did other Members. So I expect—and hope—unfounded revisionism would be avoided and that there would not be that look-back that does a disservice on the issue at hand to principled Republican opposition.

So, who exactly are we backing in Libya? What justification under international law is there for directing both U.S. and foreign government assets to a rebel group that is not democratically elected and, therefore, not necessarily representative of the people of that country? We don't know.

In addition, a senior NATO official told CNN on June 9 that Qadhafi “was a legitimate target of the bombing campaign.” Even though this was expressed as a NATO position, are we now to understand that the Obama administration is sanctioning the killing of foreign leaders? Again, pursuant to what international criteria or legal justification?

Mr. Speaker, again, I call on my colleagues to vote down this resolution that is offered, H.J. Res. 68.

Mr. Berman. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield 1 minute to the gentleman from New York (Mr. Meeks), a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee.

Mr. Meeks. Mr. Speaker, today I say that we have an opportunity. The camera of history is rolling. Let's stick together on this.

From its inception, this has been an international initiative to enforce U.N. Resolution 1973 and the response to the request of Libya's Transitional National Council, the Gulf Cooperation Council, and the Arab League. President Obama deployed U.S. assets early, said he will continue just with what we have already deployed, and there are no troops on the ground. The camera of history is rolling. Let's work together.

Ms. Ros-Lehtinen. I continue to reserve the balance of my time, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Berman. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. Moran).

Mr. Moran. Mr. Speaker, we were asked to come into Libya by Libyans, by the Arab League, by the Gulf Cooperation Council, by the European Union, and by the United Nations Security Council. Today we are standing where we are standing, with those who believe in freedom, in human rights, and in the rule of law.

But also today, as we debate this issue, Muammar Qadhafi's forces continue their merciless assault against civilians and combatants alike, not just in Misratah but in the western mountains and cities throughout central Libya. The Libyan Transitional National Council, which needs our support, is extraordinarily short of weaponry, money, and training. But they are on the ground fighting and dying to dislodge Qadhafi, who is a bad guy, who did oversee the killing of 189 innocent passengers on PanAm 103.

We need to be on the other side, not giving comfort to Qadhafi so that he can be the hero on the ground resolution and vote as he thanked Speaker Boehner for his resolution last week. We need to make clear we don't support him. We do support people who are fighting for the same values that define our country; 38 of those people were killed just this week. To cut off operational funding for the NATO operation is to side with Qadhafi against the forces who are fighting for those values which define us.

And, you know, the idea that this hasn't been explained sufficiently by the President is a bogus one. We have minds of our own. We know the facts. We can make a judgment. The right to close, Mr. Speaker; so I will reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. Welch. I thank the gentleman.

Ms. Ros-Lehtinen. I reserve the right to close, Mr. Speaker; so I will reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. Berman. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, we are 90 days into this operation, and the Republican leadership is bringing up this resolution in order to embarrass the White House. Let's just call it for what it is. They know it will fail. They want to continue to play games with U.S. national security.

Let's be honest about what's happening here. The Republican leadership allowed this resolution to come to the floor for one reason and one reason only: They know it will fail, and they think its defeat will be a political defeat for the White House. If that type of trifling and toying with national security appeals to them, so be it.

Mr. Speaker, I think our commitments to NATO and the humanitarian crisis that created the NATO operation in Libya are too important to be exploited for cynical political purposes. In my view, the perfect authorization would have been a 6-month authorization for a limited purpose with a limitation on that authorization with respect to a position the House has stood for the entire time, as has the President, and that is no boots on the ground.

But the Republicans didn't give this side the choice of the resolution for authorization. They told us what the resolution for authorization would be, and that's a very unfortunate kind of a situation. So we will work through this process. And perhaps, at the end of the day, after this resolution fails, we will get another letter to the House of Representatives sent to the Speaker thanking us from Colonel Qadhafi for once again demonstrating that we want to send a message that he is going to prevail in this conflict.

And when that happens, what do we think the dictator of Syria is going to think? Faced with the choice of change or quitting, he will hear the message: the way to survive, the way to hold onto power is for a despot to continue to kill his own people without the rest of the world doing anything.

There are critical alliances at stake. There are critical interests at stake. The national security question is far beyond simply what is going to happen in Libya, but in its neighbors, Egypt and Tunisia, throughout the Middle East and through the entire world, for the message of trying to say that we're going to pull the plug on this particular operation.

And heaven knows, we could spend time talking about the way the administration has handled it; but right now...
Mr. McKEON. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to the bill. I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 3 minutes.

I rise in support of this resolution. This is Congress exercising its authority as appropriate. And I agree with the President that Congress should do this, and I just wish we would understand that Congress has a certain responsibility in that regard.

Yes, the President should have asked us, but it’s been over 3 months and this house has chosen not to act until now. I think it’s appropriate that we are. I think we should authorize this mission in Libya, and I strongly support that mission.

Now, like most Americans, when this issue first came up, when the people in Libya had risen up against their oppressive dictator, I was very reluctant about the idea of U.S. military involvement, as I think we always should be. I think in the past we have been too over-anxious to use the U.S. military in places where it was not a good fit. We need to think carefully about this. And in every instance we need to strike a balance.

On the one hand, what is the positive impact that our involvement could have and, on the other hand, what are the risks of that involvement? I think there was a unique set of circumstances in Libya that made this make sense.

First of all, our involvement could have a very positive impact. We had international support from the U.N. The European Union, the Arab League, everybody in the world wanted Qadhafi to be stopped from slaughtering the civilians who were rightfully standing up and asking for the basic rights that we take for granted in this country. In addition to that, the U.S. military operation in Libya was roughly equivalent to the entire rest of the world’s combined. That gives us a unique set of capabilities. That unique set of capabilities was critical to stopping Qadhafi from crushing again the legitimate democratic aspirations of the Libyan people. If we had not acted, they would be crushed, many more civilians would be dead, and Qadhafi would be back in power. We cannot walk away from that responsibility and say that, well, yes, we don’t like Qadhafi, we wish the people there would do well, but we simply don’t want to support the action that is necessary to give them that opportunity. So in this case, I think the mission did make sense for that reason. The United States was in the position to make a difference and stand up for people who were asking for legitimate rights.

But then the broader question is, well, what does that have to do with the United States? That is true, but it’s true in a lot of countries. The reason this is so important is because of the broader movement that is going on, the so-called Arab Spring, people in Muslim countries rising up and demanding representative rights. That has an incredible impact on us. The reason this is so important is because of the broader movement that is going on, the so-called Arab Spring, people in Muslim countries rising up and demanding representative rights. That has an incredible impact on us. The greatest threat that we face as a country right now is from al Qaeda and their ideology. That ideology arose in part because of a whole bunch of repressive governments across the Muslim world that were not providing for their people, a number of repressive governments, by the way, which the United States has in the past supported. We had an opportunity to do the opposite, to stand up for Muslim people. Let me tell you, in the history of this country, I don’t think we’ve ever gotten as much positive press on the Muslim TV stations and Muslim media as we got for standing up to Qadhafi. This has been enormously helpful to us in that broader ideological effort. We have our national security interests here for standing up.

Now as a House, I don’t want us to stand up and say that we’re going to back down from that commitment that we made. Make no mistake about it, if we defeat this resolution and pass the Rooney resolution, we will stop the mission in Libya and empower Muammar Qadhafi, something that I know nobody wants to do.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MCECON. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to my friend and colleague, the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. BURTON).

Mr. BURTON of Indiana. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

I've heard a number of people say, well, the Constitution does give the President latitude, but during the Nixon administration Congress passed the War Powers Act, and then when the President vetoed it, Congress overrode his veto, and so the War Powers Act became law. Now whether or not you believe it's constitutional, it has never been tested in the courts, and so it's the law. And the law says, as well as the Constitution, at least this is what most of the people who have looked at the Constitution believe is what it stands for, the Constitution and the War Powers Act say the President cannot do what he did without the support and approval of Congress. Now the President written us into the war in Libya and it is, in effect, our war.

People say, well, no, it's NATO. Well, we are providing over 6,000 of the military ships and fighter planes to the air. The majority of the flights that are taking place where they're doing the bombing are done by our airmen and our aircraft. Over 90 percent of the missiles that are being used at over a million dollars per copy are American missiles. This is going to cost billions of dollars. If this were to pass and we were to stay there for over a year, you could count on it costing $2 billion or $3 billion.

My colleague from Arkansas just a few minutes ago talked about us being broke. The American people know, if Congress doesn't, that we're $1.5 trillion short this year, and we're $14 trillion in debt. We're printing money that our kids are going to have to deal with because they're going to have to pay for the debt down the road. Some of us will pay if we live long enough, but our kids are certainly going to inherit the debt. And so we're adding to the debt by going into a war we shouldn't be in and without the support and approval of the Congress in accordance with the War Powers Act and the Constitution.

Now my big concern is—and I'm going to talk on the other bill that is coming up later on—not just Libya. My big concern is this President, unless we send a very strong message to him, may take us into Syria. There's humanitarian problems in Syria right now, and the reason they went into Libya, they said, was because of the humanitarian problems. He talked to the French, the English, the NATO, United Nations and the Arab League for about 2 weeks before we went into Libya, but he didn't have time to talk to the Congress who appropriates the money and authorizes this stuff. He's the Commander in Chief once we go to war, but he needs the authority from Congress to go into it, and he didn't do it.

There are a lot of wars of opportunity. The President could go into Syria. He could go into the Ivory Coast.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. MCECON. I yield the gentleman 1 additional minute.

Mr. BURTON of Indiana. There are a lot of places we could go to war if we choose to do it. There's humanitarian problems around the world. But unless it's a threat to the United States or an attack on the United States, the President does not have the authority to do what he did without the support and approval of Congress.

President Bush came to Congress before he went into Afghanistan, and that's as it should be. This President should not overstep his boundaries. And what I wish we would do, which would exceed the legislation we're going to be talking about today, is to pass legislation that would cut off all funds for Libya. I know it would not pass the Senate, but it sure would send a signal to the President and the White House that we're not going to allow him to go into war without the approval of the American people and the approval of Congress.

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the distinguished minority whip, the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. HOYER).

Mr. HOYER. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

The previous speaker deludes himself, and he is my friend, if he thinks the message we send today goes only to the President. The message will go to all the world, the message will go to Muammar Qadhafi, the message will go to our NATO allies, the message will go to every nation of the world that America does not keep faith with its allies.

"America must lead. We must not equivocate. Such a course would encourage the enemies of peace, the bullies of the world. People around the world look to our country's strength in their struggle for democracy and basic human rights. And if we fail, they will undermine our NATO alliance, as we all know. If we want our allies to stand by us in our time of need in Afghanistan, we have to stand by them in places like Libya. We are either in an alliance or we have to stand by them in places like Libya."

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I yield the gentleman 1 additional minute.

Mr. HOYER. China has just hosted the Libyan opposition in China, and the opposition controls eastern Libya and is making progress in the west. I believe that the wrong decision today will significantly compromise that progress.

Qadhafi wrote us a letter in the last debate just some weeks ago and thanked the House of Representatives for its debate. Is that the message we want to send to Qadhafi? I think not. It would put civilian lives at risk to withdraw. It would potentially stall the growing movements for democratization, not just in Libya but across the Middle East and, indeed, across the world. And it would severely undermine our NATO alliance, as we all know. If we want our allies to stand by us in our time of need in Afghanistan, we have to stand by them in places like Libya. We are either in an alliance or we have to stand by them in places like Libya.

I do believe that President Obama could and should have done a better job of consulting with Congress at the outset of hostilities, and I do believe we are involved in hostilities. But I believe that we must, as a faithful ally, support and defend the NATO-led mission and support the Hastings resolution. America ought to do no less.
Mr. MCKEON. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to my friend and colleague, a member of the Committee on Armed Services, the gentleman from Florida (Mr. WEST).

Mr. WEST. I thank the chairman.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this amendment.

Very simply, the War Powers Act of 1973 states: “The President can send U.S. Armed Forces into action abroad only by authorization of Congress, or in case of a national emergency created by an attack upon the United States, its territories or possessions, or its Armed Forces.”

So as we look at the mission—or the perceived mission that we have in Libya—it does not even meet this criterion.

I stand here today as someone who has been sent forth from these shores in the 22 years that I’ve served in the United States Army. I stand here as the son of a man who left these shores to go defend this great country in World War II. I stand here as the younger brother of a man who left these shores to go defend this country and fight in Vietnam. And I stand here today as the uncle of a young man, a captain in the U.S. Marine Corps, who has already done two tours of duty in Afghanistan.

Many of my friends have called me—some call me colonel, some call me Allen—and they say, we need you to do one simple thing: understand that the club that you take is to support and defend the Constitution, to support and defend the laws of this country. They need us to stand up and be the guardians of the laws of this country.

Just before I came here today, I promoted Jerry Lee Stern to be a major, and I read him that oath of office, that he would greatly take what we must do now as this body, as legislators of this great nation, uphold the laws and not send our men and women into an undetermined, unspecified mission. They want the fight; they want to stand up for us. Let’s do the right thing by them.

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from California (Mr. SHERMAN).

Mr. SHERMAN. I have said that I would vote for a resolution granting authority to the President if it was appropriately limited and conditioned. I would like to see the conditions that require the Benghazi Transitional Government to remove from their midst the al Qaeda fighters and the Libyan Islamic Fighting Group. I would like to see the condition that we use the Qadhafi money that we seized, some $33 billion, rather than taxpayer money.

But putting those conditions aside, the one thing we almost all agree on is that we would want to limit this to air forces and perhaps a ground rescue mission. Anything else, that’s not what this resolution does.

Section one grants authority to the President to do whatever he decides to do, including armor divisions on the ground, in support of the NATO mission. Don’t be fooled by section 2, which provides the President with non-binding, unsolicited advice that we think that he should limit our ground operations to rescue missions and diplomatic security.

This is great authority to the President to put armor divisions on the ground, if that’s what he chooses to do.

Mr. MCKEON. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Mr. Speaker, consistent with the policy in here, it says: “Congress does not support deploying, establishing or maintaining the presence of units and members of the United States Armed Forces in the ground in Libya.” The resolution clearly prohibits ground forces.

I yield the balance of my time to the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. KING).

Mr. KING of Iowa. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

I will start out first by associating myself with the remarks of the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. HOYER), who I think laid this out clearly. This is a message that goes globally. This is a destiny message. The Speaker of this House understands his role. He understands that all of America is watching us today. And even if I had a vote, I would have said, no, don’t go into Libya. If I had an opportunity to amend this resolution, I would say let’s limit the authorization to a shorter period of time so that the President can do what he should do. But I believe that there are scores of Americans in their graves today because this Congress sent the wrong message in several conflicts that encouraged our enemy.

Clausewitz wrote: “The object of war is to destroy the enemy’s will and ability to conduct war.” And I would shorten that up to say, if you can destroy their will, it doesn’t matter what their ability is; you’ve taken their ability with it.

But this message encourages our enemy. This resolution says that Congress stands with the constitutional authority of the President to be Commander in Chief and to conduct our foreign policy. We should conduct our disagreement with the President domestically, not in our foreign policy and not by limiting an activity that could abrogate our NATO treaty.
basic human rights, when we have the ability to do so. I do not, however, support any effort to involve U.S. ground combat forces in this operation, and this authorization specifically prohibits ground combat forces.

Earlier this month, Congress received a letter from Colonel Qaddafi, praising its current President Obama and the NATO mission. The world watches America, and what we say has a dramatic effect on not just our own nation, but the safety and security of our allies and peoples around the world. That is why I will also vote today against H.R. 2278, which is a thinly veiled attempt to discredit the President and would only heighten the appearance of divisions between the United States and our allies. Abdicating the mission in Libya in this way emboldens Qaddafi, harms our standing in a dangerous region, and will make it more difficult in the future to rely on and partner with our allies.

I hope my colleagues will reject this measure and send a clear message of support for our allies and for the principles of democracy and human rights that make America great.

Ms. HIRONO. Mr. Speaker, engaging our armed forces is not a vote I take lightly. Like many, I was reluctant to enter our nation into another conflict. But the situation in Libya is different. This is a nation where the people were giving their lives to fight for a legitimate voice in their government. For these actions, their murderous dictator vowed to hunt them down like “rats and cockroaches.” Chilling words as Muammar el-Qaddafi is no stranger to taking the lives of the innocent. He has more American blood on his hands than any terrorist other than Osama bin Laden.

The international community sought our help in Libya. The Arab League supports the NATO mission and this is historic, as it is the first time the organization has supported an international intervention in an Arab country. The United States’ role can make a difference in Libya. To say otherwise is to question the very values our own nation was founded upon. I believe that our limited mission in Libya is needed and I stand with President Obama.

Let me address two things. The movement to overthrow longtime Libyan dictator Colonel Qaddafi began with the Libyan people. The United States should stand with the people of Libya and their fight for freedom and human rights.

We must also remember that under Colonel Qaddafi, Libya was involved in aircraft hijackings, extraterritorial assassinations, bombings at European airports, and the 1986 bombing of a Berlin nightclub popular with American Armed Forces. Libya had a central role in orchestrating the in-air bombing of Pan Am flight 103 over Lockerbie, Scotland in 1988, which killed 270 people, including 190 Americans. Libya was also central in the bombing of French UTA flight 772 in 1989, which killed 177 people from 18 nations, 7 of whom were American citizens.

The violence of Colonel Qaddafi is known to many nations around the world. In the early 1970s, Libya sent military troops and financed extremist Palestinian activities in Lebanon. Libya gave safe haven to Black September, the Palestinian terrorists that seized Israeli athletes hostage at the 1972 Olympics in Munich. Later in the decade, Libya sent armed forces into Chad and Uganda. Throughout the 1970s and well into the 1980s, Colonel Qaddafi either financed or materially supported revolutionary efforts in Chad, Corsica, Eritrea, Germany, Iran, Italy, Nicaragua, Northern Ireland, Japan, Lebanon, Philippines, Sardinia, Somalia, Sudan, Syria, Thailand, and Tunisia. Ending the reign of Colonel Qaddafi and his destabilizing influence is in the interest of the world.

I’ve heard from many of my constituents concerned that our engagement in Libya will become our next Iraq or Afghanistan. I share those concerns and have expressed them to the White House and was assured that our operations in Libya would be limited.

I have voted against the use of ground troops in Libya and my vote today affirms that position. I do not believe that the United States can afford to be involved in further prolonged foreign entanglements and nation building. H.J. Res. 68 authorizes the limited support for the NATO mission to one year. Would I be more comfortable with a shorter timeframe? Yes, but so likely would Colonel Qaddafi. Nothing would give him more comfort than a short deadline for him to so he can continue to slaughter his own people into submission.

The situation in Libya is unlike that in Iraq or Afghanistan. The mission in Libya has broad international support. It is the first time the Arab League and NATO, but also the United Nations, the Gulf Cooperation Council, the Libyan Transitional National Council, and the newly formed Libyan Transitional National Council. I strongly support the building of international goodwill and cooperation as integral to our nation’s as well as global security.

My vote today is for those brave and courageous people of Libya. My vote today is for continued rebuilding of our international reputation. Mahalo nui loa.

Mr. STARK. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in opposition to H.J. Res. 68. This legislation will not end our military involvement in Libya. Both simply maintain the status quo and appease Republican Members who want to score political points against the President. Under the guise of deficit reduction, Republicans have voted for deep cuts to Medicare, Medicaid, and other safety net programs. We could better achieve deficit reduction by swiftly ending the Libyan war and accelerating our withdrawal from Afghanistan.

Congress has the power of the purse. Our nation has been at war in Libya for 97 days and Congress has never authorized the conflict. We need to completely defund operations in Libya and put an end to this conflict. It is time for us to come together, use our constitutional authority, apply this critical check on the executive branch. At a time when we continue the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq, we cannot afford to pursue another military adventure that is not in our national interest.

We must get out of this war now.

I urge my colleagues to vote against this toothless bill, and instead defund operations in Libya in the upcoming 2012 Defense Appropriations bill.

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Missouri, Mr. Jackson, has placed on order of consideration of the joint resolution for violating clause 11 of rule XXI asserting that the text of the measure had not been available for “72 hours.”

Unfortunately, the gentleman mistated the actual wording of the rule.

Clause 11 states in relevant part “It shall not be in order to consider a bill or joint resolution which has not been reported by a committee until the third calendar day . . . on which such measure has been available.” The rule clearly counts days not hours.

I would refer Members to the ruling of Speaker pro tempore Poe on March 17, 2011 where he affirmed that under clause 11 of rule 21, an unreported measure may not be considered until the “third working day” on which it has been available to Members.

While the Chair was correct in his response that the rule provides a waiver of all points of order against consideration of the joint resolution, I also want to point my colleagues to House Report 111–114 which accompanied the rule providing for consideration of H.J. Res. 68 and H.R. 2278.

Under the heading “Explanation of Waivers,” the Committee states that it is not aware of points of order against consideration or the provisions contained in either measure and that the waivers are merely “prophylactic.” This means that for no waiver of clause 11 of rule XXI or any other point of order was necessary. That is because H.J. Res. 68 is being considered on the fourth calendar day after it was made available and H.R. 2278 is being considered on the third such day, fully in compliance with the rules of the House.

I hope that in the future my colleagues will pay closer attention to the wording of the rules in making points of order.

Mr. MCKEON. Mr. Speaker, I again urge my colleagues to oppose this amendment.

I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the passage of the joint resolution.

The joint resolution was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, and was read the third time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the passage of the joint resolution.

The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the noes appeared to have it.
Mr. MARCHANT. Mrs. ZOE LOPRFEN of California, Mr. CARSON of Indiana, Mr. MALONEY, and Mr. LUETKEMEYER changed their vote from "aye" to "no." Mr. MELLON and Mrs. MCCRARY of New York changed their vote from "no" to "aye." So the joint resolution was not passed.

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

Stated for:

Mr. WEST. Mr. Speaker, on March 19 of this year, I was in a meeting with a constituent and inadvertently missed the vote on H.J. Res. 68, a resolution authorizing for one year the limited use of the United States Armed Forces in support of the NATO mission in Libya. Because of the importance of this matter, I would like to request that the RECORD reflect that I had been present and would have voted "aye" on rollcall 493 in support of the resolution.

Stated against:

Mr. WEST. Mr. Speaker, on rollcall No. 493 I was unavoidably detained. Had I been present, I would have voted "no." Mrs. NAPOLITANO. Mr. Speaker, I was absent during roll call vote No. 493. Had I been present, I would have voted "no" on H.J. Res. 68, authorizing the limited use of United States Armed Forces in support of the NATO mission in Libya.

REMOVAL OF NAME OF MEMBER AS COSPONSOR OF H.J. RES. 69

Mr. HOLDEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to have my name removed as a co-sponsor of House Joint Resolution 338.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Pennsylvania?

There was no objection.

LIMITING USE OF FUNDS FOR ARMED FORCES IN LIBYA

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. Speaker, pursuant to House Resolution 328, I call up the bill (H.R. 2278) to limit the use of funds appropriated to the Department of Defense for United States Armed Forces in support of North Atlantic Treaty Organization Operation Unified Protector with respect to Libya, unless otherwise specifically authorized by law, and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the title of the bill. The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to House Resolution 329, the bill is considered read.

The text of the bill is as follows:

H.R. 2278

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. LIMITATION ON USE OF DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE FUNDS FOR UNITED STATES ARMED FORCES IN SUPPORT OF NATO OPERATION UNIFIED PROTECTOR WITH RESPECT TO LIBYA.

(a) LIMITATION.—None of the funds appropriated or otherwise available to the Department of Defense may be obligated or expended for Armed Forces in support of North Atlantic Treaty Organization Operation Unified Protector with respect to Libya, unless otherwise specifically authorized by law.

(b) EXCEPTION.—The limitation on funds under subsection (a) does not apply with respect to—

(1) search and rescue;
(2) intelligence, surveillance, and reconnaissance;
(3) aerial refueling; and
(4) operational planning.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Florida (Mr. ROONEY) and the gentleman from Washington (Mr. SMITH) each will control 30 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Florida.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members be excused for five legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and to include extraneous material on the bill under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Florida?

There was no objection.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, on March 19 of this year, the President sent us into military activity, or war, in Libya. Within 48 hours, the President notified the Congress in accordance with the War Powers Act of his decision to do so. For 60 days, the President under the War Powers Act had the opportunity, and chose not to, to come to this body and make the case as to why being in Libya was important. On the 60th day, he wrote a letter to this body saying that he would welcome authorization, but he’s not asking for it.

Time and time again on the Armed Services Committee, we were presented... with speakers from the administration who would give certain updates on various matters to which I would ask: Are you here to ask authorization for ongoing activity in Libya? And the speakers, the witnesses, would say, “No.”

After 90 days and the President has not declared an end to hostilities, for example, in Libya, the time has come and gone and we’ve sent our indication over to the administration time and time again that we disapprove. But because the War Powers resolution, by some either Republican or Democrat or conservative or liberal in the House or Senate, is questionable whether or not they consider it constitutional or not, the President has operated in what we now know is called the zone of twilight as to whether or not he even needs our approval.

So what are we left with? Mr. Speaker, we’re left with, today, our ability under the power of the purse to restrict funds from ongoing operations in Libya. Without it and without the Supreme Court weighing in on whether or not the War Powers is unconstitutional, the President is breaking the law, but he is being restricted by nobody and being able to continue unfettered.

Some have said that the War Powers resolution isn’t worth the paper that it is written on. To that I say: Based on what Supreme Court decision? Based on what precedent? There is none, because the courts haven’t weighed in on it. I know some of our colleagues here have a pending case before the Court, and I wish them well, but what if they don’t accept the case? What if they say these Members, as they have said before, don’t have standing? Then we’re right back to square one.

Mr. Speaker, today we have the opportunity to send a message to the executive branch, and this transcends party and lightly restricts by nobody and being able to continue unfettered.

It’s the most difficult thing we have to do as government officials, and that’s send our kids into harm’s way. So it has to be a sober, deliberative, long debate, and the President has 60 days and chose not to engage in that debate. So here we are today saying, if you choose not to come here and get authorization, we are going to stop it until the next time. The President again has the ability in the future to come and try to get authorization for what he’s doing in Libya or anywhere else.

So, Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of my bill to withdraw funding from future engagement in Libya.

I reserve the balance of my time. Mr. SMITH of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 3 minutes.

The resolution—I think the gentleman made a lot of very fair points. I certainly think that the White House could have handled it better in terms of communicating with Congress. But what this resolution would do is that he has presented would be to end our mission in Libya. So all of the debates and arguments that you heard from the previous discussion apply to this just as well.

It has some limited options in terms of what the President could continue to do in support of NATO, but it very specifically disallows any effort at air support, any effort at suppressing opposition fire. It does allow for aerial refueling, but what the military has made clear is they will not do that without all of the other assets that are necessary to suppress enemy fire. We are not going to send up our aerial refueling apparatus or aerial refueling planes if we know we can’t protect them from being shot down.

So the effect of this resolution is to, again, end the mission in Libya, and people have different opinions about where they should come down on it. I don’t believe that we should end the mission in Libya. I do believe that Congress’ voice should be heard on this issue, and that is why I supported the resolution that would have authorized that. So I don’t think that we should stop what we’re doing in Libya, and getting back to the previous debate, there have been some comments that have been made that I want to be sure and correct.

I think we have a much better idea of who the forces in Libya fighting against Muammar Qadhafi are than has been said, and we know this because they control roughly half the country right now. What our mission was able to do, it stopped Muammar Qadhafi from being able to crush the folks who are rising up against him and retake the territory that they have. So in Benghazi and in most of I think it’s eastern Libya, it is controlled by these opposition forces, and by all accounts, they are a viable government. It is not an Islamic state. It does not have al Qaeda influence. It has a bunch of people who are simply trying to exercise free expression that they have been denied for nearly 40 years by Muammar Qadhafi. We have a whole new idea of who these people are. They are precisely the type of people that the United States of America should be supporting.

And as I mentioned before, in our great struggle against al Qaeda, one of the characteristics of it was anti-Western, and the ideology that bin Laden and many others advance is very anti-Western, and their biggest argument is that the West has consistently supported governments that have repressed the Muslim people, that we have not been good for them, and there are at least one or two instances when that argument actually has some facts to back it up. And so we have this chance to support a legitimate group of people who want basically what we have—democracy. They want the ability to vote for their representatives. They want a voice in their government, and we’re going to pull the rug out from under them.

And keep in mind, this is a very limited mission. It is NATO-led, but we are offering critical support to make it possible, and if we vote for the Rooney resolution, we will pull all of that away and right at the moment—in fact, there was a newspaper story this morning about how Qadhafi is talking about leaving Tripoli because the pressure is getting too great on him. We have had coalitions members of the Libyan government abandoning Qadhafi. He is ready to fall, and those voices of Libyan people who want the very freedoms that we all say we want for them are ready to rise, and we are going to revere that by pulling the minimal level of support that we are offering.

That is the effect of the Rooney resolution, and therefore I oppose it. I reserve the balance of my time. Mr. ROONEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to my friend from Texas (Mr. MCCAUL). Mr. MCCAUL. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this bill and in defense of the Constitution. The Founding Fathers clearly intended for Congress to have the power to commit this Nation into armed conflict.

Article I, section 8 of the Constitution states that Congress shall have the power to declare war. Our first Commander in Chief, George Washington, knew that when he said, “The Constitution vests the power of declaring war in Congress; therefore, no offensive expedition of importance can be undertaken until after they shall have deliberated upon the subject and authorized such a measure.”

That is exactly what this bill is about, and President Obama, when he was a Senator, knew this when he said that, “The President does not have power under the Constitution to authorize a military operation that does not involve stopping an actual or imminent threat to the Nation.”

He went on further to say that, “No law can give Congress a backbone if it refuses to stand up to legislation. The Constitution made it.”

I couldn’t agree more with him, but, unfortunately, as President, Mr. Obama appears to no longer agree with his prior interpretation of the Constitution. And in reviewing the War Powers Act, we can argue that it is unconstitutional, but that is for the Supreme Court to decide.
In applying the War Powers Act to the facts here in this case, it is clear that the President failed to comply with the requirements to get congressional approval; and when we examine the merits of the case for involvement in Libya, this administration has wholly failed to define our national interest, mission, or goal.

Why are we there? Are we there to kill Qaddafi or to provide humanitarian aid? And since when does humanitarian aid come from a missile launched from a Predator drone? And who are these rebels that we are supporting? The administration has failed to provide Congress with a clear answer to this question, but we do know that some of them are tied to terrorist organizations.

The bill introduced by my good friend from Florida (Mr. ROONEY) reasserts Congress’ role as a coequal branch of government, and it sends a clear message to the President that he must get congressional approval before he commits this Nation to war, as he stated when he was in the United States Senate.

With that, Mr. Speaker, I urge a “yes” vote on this bill.

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON LEE).

Ms. JACKSON LEE of Texas. Let me thank the gentleman from Washington (Mr. SMITH) for his leadership and for characterizing where we are today as a conflicted and, if you will, highly uncertain posture.

I’m looking at the vote count, and it looks as if 225 Republicans voted against a time certain to get out of Libya. If you read the bill H.R. 2278—and I am looking at it over and over again—there really is no print as to a time certain. There is a nebulous statement about limiting funds for such things as search and rescue, intelligence, surveillance and reconnaissance, aerial funding, and operational planning. That can go on ad infinitum.

We can take the American people’s money forever and ever and continue in this effort.

I don’t like where we are today. Constitutionally, it is true, it is Congress’ right to declare war. And the War Powers resolution—which my good friends on the other side of the aisle are now debating on its constitutionality, and of course they’ve used it in the past—does indicate that it was done in order to track the Constitution and allow congressional consultation. There was a letter sent by the President. There has been a report sent. But there’s no doubt that this was not handled right.

But in the Iraq war, an unnecessary war, no Arab League States asked us to join with them. There was no defined threat to the United States in the Iraq war, as we’ve learned. We left the right war in the right manner to dillydally in Iraq and lose 4,000 soldiers. So where is the hypocrisy here?

Right now, the Arab League has asked us to join them. Right now, our NATO allies are engaged in trying to get rid of an oppressive abuser and a person who has killed his own people. Where is the dignity on this place? It’s nothing but politics. And I respect my colleagues, but I do have choices about which direction they want to go. But I will tell you, I would much rather vote for something that is time certain, ending in 1 year or before. And if there is not a definitive end, then I will offer a privileged resolution to get out of Libya.

But I don’t want to abandon my friends in the Arab States who are now struggling for democracy. Why is Syria different? Why is Yemen different? Why is Bahrain different? You are absolutely right. Because other forces are engaged in Syria, Yemen, and Bahrain. And the Arab States are attempting to negotiate.

So I am not interested in willy-nilly going into all kinds of wars. I’m not interested in going to Syria or Yemen or Bahrain. But I am interested in being consistent.

We now have an operation, and we can tell that there is movement by those who are on the very law necessary and proper for carrying into execution, not only its own powers but also all other powers vested by the Constitution in the Government of the United States. . . .” The policy behind this power, entrusted to the President as Commander in Chief, to deploy U.S. armed forces to defend this country if necessary is “exercised only pursuant to: (1) a declaration of war; (2) specific statutory authorization; or (3) a national emergency created by attack upon the United States, its territories or possessions, or its armed forces.” Pursuant to this authority, the President “in every possible instance” shall consult with Congress before deploying U.S. Armed Forces, and to continue consultations as long as the armed forces remain in hostile situations.

As we consider this Joint Resolution, we must also consider facts surrounding the state of violence and unrest in Libya, and the consequences of both action and inaction on behalf of the Libyan people. I value the importance of a fair, just, and balanced approach. We must always act in compliance with our nation’s constitution.

Prior to this context, since assuming power, Colonel Qaddafi has ignored the needs of the Libyan people; choosing instead to train other oppressive leaders in intelligence and weaponry. Qaddafi had given money to dictators such as Robert Mugabe and Charles Taylor, and of course, we’ve been involved in providing weapons to regimes in the past.

In response to this Joint Resolution, the House Judiciary Committee, I believe in supporting this Joint Resolution, to get out of Libya.

As Members of Congress, we can exercise our power through appropriation, the appointment process, exercising oversight over the Executive, enactment legislation, or even establishing a select Committee to probe any abuse of power by the Administration.

The War Powers resolution is an integral part of our process. The actions that have taken place in Libya raise the debate on how the War Powers Resolution should be applied.

Presidents, Members of Congress, scholars and lawyers have long argued about which branch of government has the power to decide whether the nation goes to war, and meaningful discussions between the branches has not always taken place. In 1973, The War Powers resolution was passed over the veto of President Nixon, in order to provide procedures for Congress to participate in decisions to send U.S. Armed Forces into hostilities.

Such force is constitutional under the Necessary and Proper Clause which specifically provided that “Congress shall have the power to make all laws necessary and proper for carrying into execution, not only its own powers but also all other powers vested by the Constitution in the Government of the United States. . . .” The policy behind this power, entrusted to the President as Commander in Chief, to deploy U.S. armed forces to defend this country if necessary is “exercised only pursuant to: (1) a declaration of war; (2) specific statutory authorization; or (3) a national emergency created by attack upon the United States, its territories or possessions, or its armed forces.” Pursuant to this authority, the President “in every possible instance” shall consult with Congress before deploying U.S. Armed Forces, and to continue consultations as long as the armed forces remain in hostile situations.

As we consider this Joint Resolution, we must also consider facts surrounding the state of violence and unrest in Libya, and the consequences of both action and inaction on behalf of the Libyan people. I value the importance of a fair, just, and balanced approach. We must always act in compliance with our nation’s constitution.

Prior to this context, since assuming power, Colonel Qaddafi has ignored the needs of the Libyan people; choosing instead to train other oppressive leaders in intelligence and weaponry. Qaddafi had given money to dictators such as Robert Mugabe and Charles Taylor, and of course, we’ve been involved in providing weapons to regimes in the past.

In response to this Joint Resolution, the House Judiciary Committee, I believe in supporting this Joint Resolution, to get out of Libya.

As Members of Congress, we can exercise our power through appropriation, the appointment process, exercising oversight over the Executive, enactment legislation, or even establishing a select Committee to probe any abuse of power by the Administration.

The War Powers resolution is an integral part of our process. The actions that have taken place in Libya raise the debate on how the War Powers Resolution should be applied.
was deemed criminal, and punished with up to five years in jail.

Now, the people of Libya have given their lives in their fight for democracy. This current conflict in Libya began four months ago, when Colonel Qadhafi failed to do what was right for his country. Violence, as many Libyan citizens felt the painful consequences of a government resistant to change. Civil liberties were infringed upon, human rights were violated, and worst of all, many Libyan lives were lost. These atrocities were not committed under the command of some far away leader or as a consequence of a conflict with a foreign nation. No, these unforgivable acts were authorized by the hand of the Libyan leader himself.

I applaud efforts to come to the aid of the Libyan people. I condemn Colonel Qadhafi's despicable and inhuman actions, and support the President in our national policy—and the World's policy—of removing this tyrant from power. The widespread suffering in Libya was initiated and continues to be encouraged by the very man charged with protecting the Libyan people and their way of life. The people are in desperate need of outside assistance; the question is no longer whether or not Libya is in a critical condition. I call on my fellow Members of Congress to continue to condemn the violence taking place in Libya.

We should not forget that the people of Libya are continuing to fight for democracy and there has been a significant loss of life. Colonel Muammar Qadhafi has continued to refuse to acknowledge the will of the Libyan people and the reality of the dilemmas that Libya has always faced. It is not a question of the incumbent leader's right to be in power, but rather the right of the people to demand freedom and democracy. The consistent actions of the Administration that allow these atrocities to continue to sores to be repeated, and the United States Armed Forces in support of the United States, United Nations, and NATO must continue to push for the support of the African Union resolution. Turkey has proposed a roadmap to establish an immediate and verifiable ceasefire, secure humanitarian aid corridors, and advance a political process for a transition. However, Turkey has not yet provided an implementation strategy other than making it clear that Qadhafi must go.

After the President of South Africa, Jacob Zuma, engaged in peace talks with Qadhafi most of the world believed the bloodshed would end. Today, it is clear that Qadhafi is going to continue to fight to stay in power. We cannot stand by and watch as the people of Libya suffer. We need and must provide humanitarian aid. Americans have always come to aid of their neighbors in times of crisis.

We must continue to remember the context upon which we are currently operating in the world today. The Middle East is finally awakening to democracy and freedom. Advancing these objectives also advances our nation's security. The evidence is clear of an Arab Spring. The compelling lessons need to be learned by the people of Libya.

The Founders distributed the decision to go to war between the two political branches to assure that the decision would be made carefully. The founding generation experienced the hardships of several wars and they knew war's human and financial costs. They understood that a strong executive was already given the title "Commander in Chief," might flex the country's military strength injudiciously. Given this, Congress the essential power to declare war allows heads to cool, alternatives to be considered, and makes certain there is consensus if the country is called to fight.

I continue to support the premise that Congress has the sole authority to declare war, and our current debate must reflect this imperative. Congress has a right to assert its authority; however, the situation in Libya gives me great pause.

H.J. RES 68, "Authorizing the limited use of the United States Armed Forces in support of the NATO mission in Libya." Authorizes the President to continue the limited use of U.S. Armed Forces in Libya in support of U.S. security policy interests as part of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) mission to enforce U.N. Security Council Resolution 1973, as requested by the Transitional National Council, the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC), and the Arab League.

This bill will terminate such authorization one year after the date of enactment of this joint resolution. Further, H.J. Res. 68 states that consistent with the policy and statements of the President, Congress does not support deploying, establishing, or maintaining the presence of units and members of U.S. Armed Forces for the duration of the purpose of the presence is limited to the immediate personal defense of U.S. government officials (including diplomatic representatives) or to rescuing members of NATO forces from imminent danger. It requires the President to consult frequently with Congress regarding U.S. efforts in Libya, including by providing regular briefings and reports. Includes as elements in such briefings and reports:

(1) an updated description of U.S. national security interests and policy objectives in Libya;
(2) an updated list of U.S. Armed Forces activities in Libya;
(3) an updated assessment of the opposition groups in Libya, including potential successor governments; and
(4) an updated explanation of the President's legal and constitutional rationale for conducting military operations in Libya consistent with the War Powers Resolution.

H.R. 2278, "To limit the use of funds appropriated to the Department of Defense for United States Armed Forces in support of North Atlantic Treaty Organization Operation Unified Protector with respect to Libya unless otherwise specifically authorized by law," this bill prevents the use of funds to pay for United States participation in any aspect of North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) effort except intelligence, surveillance, search-and-rescue and other "non-hostile" support activities. I am for peace and not war, however I am not for the politics of the Republicans that vote against Democratic Presidents but for Republican Presidents. This war is an effort for humanitarian assistance in Libya. The Libyan people were being attacked and were dying by their own leader.

Although, I am again disappointed by the continuing actions of the Administration that are taking place without the consultation of Congress. This should not cause us to ignore the plight of the Libyan people. We must continue to insist on providing the technical assistance and weapons necessary to defeat this regime. I will vote against H.R. 2278 because it is a political game and does not have a time certain to leave Libya.

The resolution cuts off funds just to embarrass President Obama. I want peace to come to Libya in the right way. Efforts to support action by the African Union, European Union, NATO and other U.S. allies only advance our call for democracy that is now being heard and is spreading throughout the Middle East. This can be done while complying with the War Powers Resolution, that is why I will support H.J. Res. 68 for now which sets a time of one year.
Mr. ROONEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. KUCINICH).

Mr. KUCINICH. I would beg to depart from the remarks of the distinguished gentlelady from Texas because there are three ways to oppose this bill in principle, and we believe we are fighting for justice as well. I want to state that if you believe the war should end, then at least believe we should limit it today. That's what Mr. ROONEY does. I oppose this war. It's unconstitutional. It's in violation of statute. And there's a two-step way to end the war: Vote for Rooney, step one, and then the Kucinich-Amash amendment, which defunds the DOD bill. You can do that when we come back. But to claim that the Arab League is somehow asking for us to continue this attack on Libya is plain false. The fact of the matter is we have al Jazeera reporting that Italy's foreign minister and the outgoing head of the Arab League have each called for a halt to hostilities in Libya. It was reported that 2 days ago, Mr. Moussa, the outgoing head of the Arab League, said now is the time to do whatever we can to reach a political solution, and that has to start with a genuine cease-fire under international supervision. So you don't have the Arab League's head here saying, Oh, America, come on. Go for it. Prosecute the war. Bomb Libya. No, they're not saying that at all. We have to be very clear about that.

Even China, who's eating our lunch financially, they're not involved in this war. They're saying there ought to be a political solution, that from the Chinese minister 2 days ago. We've got to be careful about our intentions here. And our intention should be to end this war, and we can do it with Mr. ROONEY's bill.

The bill isn't perfect. It doesn't end the war in its entirety immediately, but it is true that we fear that the United States will not take over, that Europe's support continues to diminish. The Kucinich-Amash amendment is complementary to the bill. We want to end U.S. involvement in the war in Libya. We can do it in two steps. Vote "yes" for Mr. ROONEY's bill, which ends direct hostilities immediately, and support Kucinich-Amash when it comes up in 2 weeks.

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Mr. Speaker. I yield 3 minutes to the gentlelady from Ohio (Ms. KAPTUR).

(Ms. KAPTUR asked and was given permission to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. KAPTUR. I thank Ranking Member SMERRY for yielding me the time. I rise in support of this bill as well as the prior resolution, as it's better late than never. Here again, with Libya, Congress follows in the wake of a major executive branch military action absent congressional authorization.

I sent a letter to President Obama on March 22 regarding what was then called Operation Odyssey Dawn and have never gotten an answer. When one looks at the duration of U.S. military engagements in the Middle East, North Africa, and central Asia and what the future might bring, these are the longest wars and military actions in U.S. history.

Our Nation has fallen into deep debt directly connected to our expenditures of over $1 trillion in the past decade on wars that have not been paid for. Moreover, creeping defense commitments in that region and globally now consume over half of discretionary budget annually. It is an astounding predicament 20 years after the end of the Cold War, as jobless Americans question whether our Federal Government even sees their plight.

We all know freedom is not free, but it is largely the American people that are bearing this military burden more and more each year. What is most striking is that other nations in the region in which we are fighting are similarly paying their fair share of the load of boots on the ground, nor have they measured up either in terms of putting their treasuries at risk. Unless an alliance of nations in that region fight for freedom themselves, they won't own it, and we can't transfuse it.

Sadly, compared to the moral justification for World War II, which historians termed "America's most just foreign war," our Nation in the current period has drawn into resource wars in the proverbial sandbox, and is likely to judge as morally indefensible.

The world is full of bad dictators, but it always seems the dictators America judged as morally indefensible.

Let us be clear on the nature of the military operation have vast pecuniary impacts in that region and globally now consume over half of discretionary budget annually. It is an astounding predicament 20 years after the end of the Cold War, as jobless Americans question whether our Federal Government even sees their plight.

We all know freedom is not free, but it is largely the American people that are bearing this military burden more and more each year. What is most striking is that other nations in the region in which we are fighting are similarly paying their fair share of the load of boots on the ground, nor have they measured up either in terms of putting their treasuries at risk. Unless an alliance of nations in that region fight for freedom themselves, they won't own it, and we can't transfuse it.

Sadly, compared to the moral justification for World War II, which historians termed "America's most just foreign war," our Nation in the current period has drawn into resource wars in the proverbial sandbox, and is likely to judge as morally indefensible.

The world is full of bad dictators, but it always seems the dictators America judged as morally indefensible.

The West's utter and growing reliance on imported petroleum has twisted our foreign policy and crippled our domestic economy time and again.

As we import half of what we consume, until Americans clearly see our predicament, our Nation will keep repeating these same mistakes.

Let us be clear on the nature of the Libyan economy: 95 percent of its exports are oil; 80 percent of its government revenue derives from oil sales. All signs point to Libya's oil and its most important industry. And Libya is Africa's third largest oil producer.

The major powers involved in this military operation have vast pecuniary interests at stake through the military resources the United States that operate in Libya, whether it is Italy, from which operations are being staged, and which gets 22 percent of its oil from Libyan operations through firms like ENI and Repsol, or Canada, whose NATO General is leading operations, while Canada's second largest corporation, Suncor Energy, has major oil operations in Libya.

Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Ohio (Ms. KAPTUR).

President BARACK OBAMA. The White House, Pennsylvania Ave, NW, Washington, DC.

Dear President Obama: According to information available from public sources, the United States participated, and perhaps has led, military operations against the government of Libya. Press reports indicate U.S. military engagement began at 16:53 GMT March 19, 2011 bombing commenced on targets including surface-to-air systems and other air defense infrastructure.

It appears four days of U.S. air and naval strikes inside Libya have destroyed strategic communications facilities, the military intelligence headquarters, and air defense systems. It is unclear how many lives, civilian and military, have been lost, or saved, in these Libyan operations. Please provide a detailed description of the coalition of forces involved in these operations, the involvement of which the United States participated, and perhaps has led, military operations against the government of Libya. Press reports indicate U.S. military engagement began at 16:53 GMT March 19, 2011 bombing commenced on targets including surface-to-air systems and other air defense infrastructure.

History will judge whether these resource wars and selective dictator depositions are justifiable. But the answer for America is to invest here at home and restore America's independence and to extricate ourselves from all these foreign oil involvements.

March 22, 2011.

Barack Obama

CIA WORLD FACT BOOK—LIBYA

Economy—overview: The Libyan economy depends primarily upon revenues from the oil sector, which contribute about 95% of export earnings, 25% of GDP, and 80% of government revenue. The weakness in world hydrocarbon prices in 2009 reduced Libyan government tax income and constrained economic growth. Substantial revenues from the energy sector coupled with a small population give Libya one of the highest per capita GDPs in Africa, but little of this income flows down to the lower orders of society. Libyan officials in the past five years have made progress on economic reforms as part of a broader campaign to re-integrate the country into the international fold. This effort picked up steam after UN sanctions were lifted in September 2003 and as Libya announced in December 2003 that it would abandon programs to build weapons of Suncor a acquies ses actifs en Libye lors de la fusion avec Petro-Canada en 2009, qui a à son tour, obtenu des participations en Libye en faisant l’acquisition de la société énergétique allemande Veba Oil en 2002. En 2007 et 2008, ces participations ont été converties en contrats d’exploration et de partage de la propriété (CEPP). Les activités conduites en vertu des CEPP comprennent l’exploration du bassin Syrte exploité par Suncor et la remise en valeur d’autres champs existants en Libye, exploitées par une coentreprise dans laquelle Suncor est partenaire. À ce jour, Suncor a investi environ 1,4 milliard $ dans l’exploitation et la construction de ces activités, une somme initiale de 500 millions $ US qui représente 50% du prix convenu d’investissement dans les actifs et les plans de développement en vertu des CEPP.

La quote-part de la participation directe de Suncor dans les activités en Libye était de 34 700 barils par jour en 2010, ce qui représente moins de 6% de la production totale de Suncor et environ 2% de la production pétrolière nationale en Libye.

PROVEN RESERVES OF THE MAJOR OIL-PRODUCING COUNTRIES, AS OF END 2002

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Major producer (in rank order)</th>
<th>Proven reserves (billion tonnes)</th>
<th>Percentage of total</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1. Saudi Arabia ...............</td>
<td>261.8</td>
<td>25.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Iraq</td>
<td>112.5</td>
<td>10.7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. United Arab Emirates .......</td>
<td>97.8</td>
<td>9.1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. Kuwait</td>
<td>96.5</td>
<td>9.1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5. Iran</td>
<td>89.7</td>
<td>8.6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6. Venezuela</td>
<td>77.8</td>
<td>7.4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7. Russian Federation and Caspian Sea states</td>
<td>77.1</td>
<td>7.4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8. United States ..............</td>
<td>73.9</td>
<td>7.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9. Libya</td>
<td>29.3</td>
<td>2.8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10. Nigeria</td>
<td>24.0</td>
<td>2.3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11. China</td>
<td>18.3</td>
<td>1.7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12. North Sea (Norway etc.)</td>
<td>16.3</td>
<td>1.6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>13. Qatar</td>
<td>13.2</td>
<td>1.5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>14. Mexico</td>
<td>12.7</td>
<td>1.2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>All others</td>
<td>97.5</td>
<td>9.3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>World total</td>
<td>1154.7</td>
<td>100.0</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

SUNCOR RESPONSE, MARCH 3, 2011

SUNCOR’S OPERATIONS IN LIBYA—BRIEF BACKGROUND

Update: French translation added at 3:08 p.m. EST on March 3, 2011

Suncor's Libyan assets were acquired in the company's 2009 merger with Petro-Canada which, in turn, assumed interests in Libya through the acquisition of the German energy company, Veba Oil. In 2007 and 2008, these interests were converted to "Exploration and Production Sharing Agreements" (or EPSAs). Over the past two years, the EPSAs include exploration in the Sirte basin operated by Suncor and the redevelopment of other existing Libyan oilfields, operated by a joint venture company in which Suncor is a partner. To date, Suncor has invested approximately $1.4 billion in its Libyan operations, including an initial US$500 million, representing 50% of the assets. The company is investing in two assets and development plans under the EPSAs. Suncor’s working interest share of production from Libyan operations was 34,700 barrels per day in 2010, representing less than 6% of Suncor’s total production and approximately 2% of Libya’s national oil production.

CHINA’S OIL PROJECTS, WORKERS, UNDER ATTACK IN LIBYA

China rushed to evacuate thousands of workers from Libya on Thursday, after CNPC and other Chinese firms were attacked in the wave of unrest sweeping the country. Officials say 30,000 Chinese are in the country and the scramble to evacuate them—like the West—is the new front in a worldwide evacuation ever—is posing a new foreign policy dilemma for China, which has for decades supported the Gaddafi regime.

One Chinese railway worker painted a vivid picture of those attacks in his microblog posts on Chinese website Sina. Raiders set fire to equipment and injured Chinese workers in an attack on his work camp on Monday, said the blogger known as "Happy XuFeng," posting pictures of the inferno as well as desperate calls for help.

"We are in great danger," he wrote on Monday night, describing a group of more than 500 Chinese workers who lacked basic supplies. "Chinese companies in Libya are in a state of emergency, our projects are being raided and communities are in a mess." By Wednesday the blogger, whose internet records indicated he was an employee of China Railway 11th Bureau, reported that he and his colleagues were being evacuated to safety.

In an unusual statement on Tuesday, China’s President Hu Jintao ordered government workers to "spare no efforts to ensure the safety of life and properties of Chinese citizens in Libya." China has dispatched charter flights, COSCO transport ships and Chinese fishing boats to Libya to help. Hired buses will also stand ready to enter Libya to help with the evacuation if necessary, the foreign ministry said.

There have already been signs of resentment in Libya at China’s growing economic clout in the region. At the end of 2009, Libyan Foreign Minister Musa Kusa said in an interview: “When we look at the reality on the ground we find that there is something akin to a Chinese invasion of the African continent. This is something that brings to mind the effects that colonialism had on the African continent.”

The forced evacuation of such a large group of overseas Chinese has exposed one of the vulnerabilities of China’s foreign policy as its interests expand rapidly around the globe.

There are now tens of thousands of Chinese migrants working in potentially volatile places such as Sudan, Congo, Burma and Pakistan. Chinese diplomats worry that high-profile cases of kidnapping or violence towards Chinese workers overseas could provoke nationalist reactions at home and push the government, which prides itself on a policy of non-intervention, much more involved in the domestic political affairs of crisis-ridden countries.

To the intense discomfort of Beijing, a defrocked Colonel Muammar el-Qaddafi used the example of China’s violent crackdown on protesters in Tiananmen Square in 1989 to justify his own use of military force against domestic opponents. "The unity of China was more important than those people on Tiananmen Square," he said earlier this week.

The evacuations of oil companies have caused Libya's oil output to fall by half, sending oil prices higher amid global fears that sanctions in the Middle East will lead to shortages.

News of the attack on CNPC will heighten concerns among oil industry executives that the turbulence in Libya may lead to widespread sabotage of oil facilities and that it would take many months or even years to return the country to full production capacity, even if a settlement is reached.

In a speech earlier this week, Seif al-Islam Gaddafi, the son of Col Gaddafi, warned that unrest in the Middle East will lead to destruction of the world and that "the unrest will somehow spread to China. While regular Chinese people seem to have little interest in unrest in other parts of the world, China's leaders are more concerned as a whole." He also said, "the unrest will somehow spread to China. While regular Chinese people seem to have little interest in unrest in other parts of the world, China's leaders are more concerned as a whole."

China's trade with Libya centres mainly on oil, but the $6.5bn in bilateral trade also includes companies in a wide range of other businesses, thanks in part to China never having imposed sanctions on the Gaddafi regime. Chinese rail companies have signed lucrative railway contracts with Libya, agreeing in 2008 to build a rail line between Tripoli and Sirte for $2bn, according to reports.

CHINA'S OTHER PROBLEM WITH PROTESTS ABROAD

Talk of a "Jasmine Revolution" online and a subsequent stepping up of censorship by Beijing authorities this week has helped thrust the Internet—microblogging in particular—to the center of the conversation around how China's government manages problems domestically as well as abroad. At the same time, China faces abroad: The presence of tens of thousands of Chinese nationals, many of them workers for state-owned enterprises, living in potential conflict zones in Africa and elsewhere.

On Tuesday morning Beijing time, a person claiming to be one of those expatriates, an employee of a Chinese company in Libya, took to Sina Weibo, China's most active microblogging service, to send out a plea for help.

"Urgent situation Libya has lost control, the army has moved suppress demonstrators, countless dead and wounded," he wrote on his Sina Weibo page. "I read the hastily punctuated Chinese-language message, posted on an account with the name Happy Xu Feng. "Communication is completely cut off. Right now it's middle of the night I used a satellite to leave a message, calling on the government to send a plane to rescue us. Urgent.

It's not clear how the user was posting to Sina Weibo despite communications being down, but several hours later, the user posted another message saying a number of the company's employees had been killed or injured. That was followed by photos of a construction vehicle and a building in flames along with another urgent call for help.

The Chinese government in South Korea are preparing to send over planes. How come there's still no movement from our government? A lot of Chinese brothers are embroiled in fights with gangsters."

It's not clear which company Happy Xu Feng is working for and is almost impossible to confirm. The attack described in the posts. State media reported that "armed gangsters" looted a Chinese-operated construction site in the eastern city of Tripoli, setting several thousand Chinese workers to abandon their living quarters. However, that attack reportedly took place on Sunday, a day before the attacks described in the posts.

The messages were forwarded thousands of times and attracted hundreds of comments urging the government to move quickly.

"With or without events in the Middle East, China needs to refill the pipeline in Beijing. "With or without events in the Middle East, China needs to refill the pipeline in Beijing."

China's foreign minister, who is in Turkey for talks to facilitate the evacuation of Chinese nationals from Libya, said his government was in talks with the embattled country to coordinate efforts to evacuate Chinese nationals from Libya. The government has decided to dispatch chartered airplanes, as well as fishing boats and cargo ships, the report said, adding that Chinese president Hu Jintao and premier Wen Jiabao had jointly ordered "all-out efforts to ensure life and property safety of Chinese nationals in Libya."

News of Messrs. Hu and Wen's orders, including the "all-out" modifier, was first reported in the state-run Xinhua news agency Tuesday night, a sign of the sensitivity surrounding the operation.

Indeed, news of mounting protests in Libya, Egypt and elsewhere, public criticism over their ability to protect Chinese citizens abroad is arguably as big a concern as the unrest as it is being felt in the Middle East, China needs to refill the pipeline in Beijing."

Beijing came under considerable public pressure over its handling of the killing of Hong Kong tourists who had been taken hostage in Manila last August. More recently, leaders faced criticism for sending too few planes to evacuate Chinese citizens from Cairo after protests erupted there in late January. With Libya, too, the pressure is on.

"I just called the number 86-10-69561141 listed on the website of Ministry of Foreign affairs and a woman answered, sounding as if she's just waking up. I asked her in a comment on Happy Xu Feng's Sina Weibo feed. "As soon as the word 'Libya' left my mouth, she said 'the leaders have all gone home, we'll deal with it later.'" Wrote another: "Government, the time has come to test whether you rule for the people.

That test is not likely to be easy. According to state media, there are more than 30,000 Chinese living in Libya."

CHINA IN AFRICA: THE REAL STORY

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK.—Europe gets over 85 percent of Libya's crude exports. The rest goes to Asia, Australia and the U.S. Here's a breakdown of how much oil various countries import from Libya (in barrels per day) and the percentage of a country's total crude imports supplied by Libya:

- Italy: 376,000 (22 percent)
- France: 205,000 (16 percent)
- China: 150,000 (3 percent)
- Germany: 100,000 (1 percent)
- Spain: 136,000 (12 percent)
- United Kingdom: 95,000 (9 percent)
- Greece: 83,000 (15 percent)
- United Arab Emirates: 80,000 (15 percent)
- Austria: 31,000 (21 percent)
- Netherlands: 31,000 (2 percent)
- Portugal: 27,000 (1 percent)
- Switzerland: 17,000 (19 percent)
- Ireland: 14,000 (23 percent)
- Australia: 11,000 (2 percent)

(Source: International Energy Agency 2010 statistics)

[From YvesEngler.com, Mar. 29, 2011] WHY CANADA ATTACKED LIBYA

(By Yves Engler)

Would Stephen Harper attack Libya simply to justify spending tens of billions of dollars on F-35 fighter jets? Perhaps. But, add on doing it for major Canadian investors, reinforcing his "principled" foreign policy rhetoric and reassuring them that Canada is over a region in flux, and you pretty much have the range of reasons why a half dozen CF-18s, four other military aircraft and naval frigate are currently engaged in combat 10,000 km away from Canadian soil.

Over the past few months the Conservative's plan to buy 65 F-35 Joint Strike Fighter jets has become a serious political headache. A recent poll showed 68 percent of Canadians—including a majority of Conservative supporters—agreed that "now is not a good time to spend $16 billion on F-35s and $29 billion on these controversial single-engine jets. So, sending Canadian military aircraft to enforce a UN "no-fly zone" in Libya provides an opportunity to deflect attention from the F-35 purchase, an issue bound to be a hot topic in the election campaign that formally began Saturday. Critics of the F-35 purchase from the NDP's Michael Ignatieff to Project Ploughshares Ernie Regher to Liberal foreign affairs critic Bob Rae—support the "humanitarian" mission in Libya. With them, other leftists and humanitarians supporting a bombing campaign in North Africa, Harper can more easily justify spending nearly $1,000 per Canadian on the best fighter jet the country can buy. (The group FRAPRU, claims the cost of a single F-35 equals 6,400 social housing units.)

Conveniently, the right-wing press has already begun to connect the dots in support of the Harper government. An Ottawa Citizen headline read, "Libya shows why Canada needs jets," while a Sun Media chain editorialized that "Canada needs jets," while a Sun Media chain editorialized that "Canada needs jets," while a Sun Media chain editorialized that "Canada needs jets."

It's not clear which company Happy Xu Feng worked for, or whether Happy Xu Feng posted to Sina Weibo despite communications being down, but several hours later, the user posted another message saying a number of the company's employees had been killed or injured. That was followed by photos of a construction vehicle and a building in flames along with another urgent call for help.

"Urgent situation Libya has lost control, the army has moved suppress demonstrators, countless dead and wounded," he wrote on his Sina Weibo page. "I read the hastily punctuated Chinese-language message, posted on an account with the name Happy Xu Feng. "Communication is completely cut off. Right now it's middle of the night I used a satellite to leave a message, calling on the government to send a plane to rescue us. Urgent.

It's not clear how the user was posting to Sina Weibo despite communications being down, but several hours later, the user posted another message saying a number of the company's employees had been killed or injured. That was followed by photos of a construction vehicle and a building in flames along with another urgent call for help.

"Urgent situation Libya has lost control, the army has moved suppress demonstrators, countless dead and wounded," he wrote on his Sina Weibo page. "I read the hastily punctuated Chinese-language message, posted on an account with the name Happy Xu Feng. "Communication is completely cut off. Right now it's middle of the night I used a satellite to leave a message, calling on the government to send a plane to rescue us. Urgent.

It's not clear how the user was posting to Sina Weibo despite communications being down, but several hours later, the user posted another message saying a number of the company's employees had been killed or injured. That was followed by photos of a construction vehicle and a building in flames along with another urgent call for help.

"Urgent situation Libya has lost control, the army has moved suppress demonstrators, countless dead and wounded," he wrote on his Sina Weibo page. "I read the hastily punctuated Chinese-language message, posted on an account with the name Happy Xu Feng. "Communication is completely cut off. Right now it's middle of the night I used a satellite to leave a message, calling on the government to send a plane to rescue us. Urgent.

It's not clear how the user was posting to Sina Weibo despite communications being down, but several hours later, the user posted another message saying a number of the company's employees had been killed or injured. That was followed by photos of a construction vehicle and a building in flames along with another urgent call for help.

"Urgent situation Libya has lost control, the army has moved suppress demonstrators, countless dead and wounded," he wrote on his Sina Weibo page. "I read the hastily punctuated Chinese-language message, posted on an account with the name Happy Xu Feng. "Communication is completely cut off. Right now it's middle of the night I used a satellite to leave a message, calling on the government to send a plane to rescue us. Urgent.

It's not clear how the user was posting to Sina Weibo despite communications being down, but several hours later, the user posted another message saying a number of the company's employees had been killed or injured. That was followed by photos of a construction vehicle and a building in flames along with another urgent call for help.
jeopardy. Dru Oja Jay, editor of the Dominion and a candidate for the Mountain Equipment Co-op Board of Directors, notes “Canadian investors are legitimately worried about what will happen to the billion signing bonus Suncor paid out to the Libyan government, or whether SNC-Lavalin is going to recoup its investments in the country. There are 10 people employed in a workforce.” And these are some of this country’s most powerful corporations.

Embassy magazine includes both Suncor and SNC-Lavalin’s COOs among the nine most influential business executives in determining Canadian foreign policy.

Would a victorious Gaddafi have moved again against companies? Even then, didn’t, with all the bad press SNC and Suncor have received could they continue in Libya without regime change? Finally, will the rebels dependence on the west lead to better contract terms?

Unlike Egypt or Tunisia, the Conservatives denounced Gaddafi’s repression at the beginning of the Libyan uprising. This is partly because Gaddafi has never been on great terms with much of the West, even if there have been warmer relations in recent years. Also, there was widespread support for saving Gaddafi’s Hosni Mubarak and (to a lesser extent) Ben-Ali in Tunisia to the bitter end. So Libya gave Harper an opportunity to re-emphasize his “principled” foreign policy rhetoric.

Beyond wanting to appear on the side of human rights and democracy, another element motivating the military intervention in Libya is the desire to influence the revolutions in bordering states Tunisia and Egypt, which are still in flux. Controlling Libya gives the West a new point of leverage over developments in those countries. Bombing Libya tells democratic forces in the region that the west is prepared to use force to assert particular areas of commitment (the Somali famine is of no concern to the U.S. military intervention in Bahrain).

Recent developments in Libya are a reminder that if you give the western decision-makers an interventionist itch they take an imperial meal. In principle trying to stop Gaddafi from massacring people in eastern Libya is a good thing. But, the “no-fly” immediately bypassed by bombs Libyan tanks, Gaddafi’s compound and other targets in coordination with rebel attacks. On March 10, Secretary of Defense Robert Gates, in a careful speech at the National Press Club, the closest implies that if you have a commitment to non-proliferation of weapons of mass destruction, an issue that is incredibly important in the area of Libya.

The President has used the United Nations to authorize the military action to wage an all-out war on Qadhafi, without congressional approval or American support.

U.S. Admiral Locklear, in charge of the NATO operations against Libya, recently stated that ground troops would be needed to provide stability in Libya once the Qadhafi regime falls. And yet the President has not provided us any information about what a post-Qadhafi Libya will look like or will be our involvement. Is committing us to an extended military action; and for Congress to be relevant, the voices of this body need to be heard. I support the passage of Mr. Rooney’s resolution limiting the use of funds approved by the Appropriations Committee and the House to authorize U.S. military intervention in Libya.

This debate should come to an end. We know exactly what’s at stake. If Qadhafi is allowed to violently suppress the uprising in Libya, it will mean many more years of despotism. Isolated by his repulsive acts of repression and buoysed by oil wealth, he’d have nothing to lose by aiding violent opposition in nearby Arab and Muslim world who are thirsting for economic and political freedoms that we are on their side. We have the opportunity to show the Arab world and every nation on Earth who we are as a people. It shouldn’t matter who’s in the White House. We should be united in the cause of democracy. We should debate; but when the debate is over, politics should take a back seat to policy.

The legacy of democracy of America is that we will fight tyranny and defend innocent people as best and as forcefully as we can, in good economic times and bad. This debate should come to an end. We know exactly what’s at stake. If Qadhafi is allowed to violently suppress the uprising in Libya, it will mean many more years of despotism.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. MORAN), a member of the Appropriations Committee.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, if this resolution passes, and we weaken NATO’s mission, Qadhafi may very well prevail. His forces will then kill, rape, and torture all those Libyans who opposed him, as he has already tried to do. Qadhafi has reportedly kidnapped thousands of people, including young students and arrested and tortured them to keep them from marching, if any of his own soldiers refuse to gun down unarmed innocent civilians, they’re shot immediately.

Once he’s done with his own people, he’ll turn his attention to those NATO and Middle Eastern nations that attacked him and seek revenge. Remember, this is a man who is already responsible for the deaths of 189 innocent passengers on Pan Am 103.

Let’s face it. This is not about whether the Obama administration has been thorough enough in explaining the Libya rationale to Congress. Members of both parties have initiated similar actions in Grenada, Panama, Somalia, Bosnia, Haiti, Kosova.

What this really is about, the transcendent purpose of this mission is to seize an opportunity to show the world, particularly the young majority of the Arab and Muslim world who are thirsting for economic and political freedoms, that we are on their side.

We know exactly what’s at stake. If Qadhafi is allowed to violently suppress the uprising in Libya, it will mean many more years of despotism. Isolated by his repulsive acts of repression and buoyed by oil wealth, he’d have nothing to lose by aiding violent opposition in nearby Arab and Muslim world who are thirsting for economic and political freedoms that we are on their side. We have the opportunity to show the Arab world and every nation on Earth who we are as a people. It shouldn’t matter who’s in the White House. We should be united in the cause of democracy. We should debate; but when the debate is over, politics should take a back seat to policy.

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. MORAN), a member of the Appropriations Committee.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, if this resolution passes, and we weaken NATO’s mission, Qadhafi may very well prevail. His forces will then kill, rape, and torture all those Libyans who opposed him, as he has already tried to do. Qadhafi has reportedly kidnapped thousands of people, including young students and arrested and tortured them to keep them from marching, if any of his own soldiers refuse to gun down unarmed innocent civilians, they’re shot immediately.

Once he’s done with his own people, he’ll turn his attention to those NATO and Middle Eastern nations that attacked him and seek revenge. Remember, this is a man who is already responsible for the deaths of 189 innocent passengers on Pan Am 103.

Let’s face it. This is not about whether the Obama administration has been thorough enough in explaining the Libya rationale to Congress. Members of both parties have initiated similar actions in Grenada, Panama, Somalia, Bosnia, Haiti, Kosova.

What this really is about, the transcendent purpose of this mission is to seize an opportunity to show the world, particularly the young majority of the Arab and Muslim world who are thirsting for economic and political freedoms, that we are on their side. We have the opportunity to show the Arab world and every nation on Earth who we are as a people. It shouldn’t matter who’s in the White House. We should be united in the cause of democracy. We should debate; but when the debate is over, politics should take a back seat to policy.

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I yield the gentleman an additional 30 seconds.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, if this resolution passes, and we weaken NATO’s mission, Qadhafi may very well prevail. His forces will then kill, rape, and torture all those Libyans who opposed him, as he has already tried to do. Qadhafi has reportedly kidnapped thousands of people, including young students and arrested and tortured them to keep them from marching, if any of his own soldiers refuse to gun down unarmed innocent civilians, they’re shot immediately.

Once he’s done with his own people, he’ll turn his attention to those NATO and Middle Eastern nations that attacked him and seek revenge. Remember, this is a man who is already responsible for the deaths of 189 innocent passengers on Pan Am 103.

Let’s face it. This is not about whether the Obama administration has been thorough enough in explaining the Libya rationale to Congress. Members of both parties have initiated similar actions in Grenada, Panama, Somalia, Bosnia, Haiti, Kosova.

What this really is about, the transcendent purpose of this mission is to seize an opportunity to show the world, particularly the young majority of the Arab and Muslim world who are thirsting for economic and political freedoms, that we are on their side. We have the opportunity to show the Arab world and every nation on Earth who we are as a people. It shouldn’t matter who’s in the White House. We should be united in the cause of democracy. We should debate; but when the debate is over, politics should take a back seat to policy.

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I yield the gentleman an additional 30 seconds.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, if this resolution passes, and we weaken NATO’s mission, Qadhafi may very well prevail. His forces will then kill, rape, and torture all those Libyans who opposed him, as he has already tried to do. Qadhafi has reportedly kidnapped thousands of people, including young students and arrested and tortured them to keep them from marching, if any of his own soldiers refuse to gun down unarmed innocent civilians, they’re shot immediately.

Once he’s done with his own people, he’ll turn his attention to those NATO and Middle Eastern nations that attacked him and seek revenge. Remember, this is a man who is already responsible for the deaths of 189 innocent passengers on Pan Am 103.

Let’s face it. This is not about whether the Obama administration has been thorough enough in explaining the Libya rationale to Congress. Members of both parties have initiated similar actions in Grenada, Panama, Somalia, Bosnia, Haiti, Kosova.

What this really is about, the transcendent purpose of this mission is to seize an opportunity to show the world, particularly the young majority of the Arab and Muslim world who are thirsting for economic and political freedoms, that we are on their side. We have the opportunity to show the Arab world and every nation on Earth who we are as a people. It shouldn’t matter who’s in the White House. We should be united in the cause of democracy. We should debate; but when the debate is over, politics should take a back seat to policy.

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I yield the gentleman an additional 30 seconds.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, if this resolution passes, and we weaken NATO’s mission, Qadhafi may very well prevail. His forces will then kill, rape, and torture all those Libyans who opposed him, as he has already tried to do. Qadhafi has reportedly kidnapped thousands of people, including young students and arrested and tortured them to keep them from marching, if any of his own soldiers refuse to gun down unarmed innocent civilians, they’re shot immediately.

Once he’s done with his own people, he’ll turn his attention to those NATO and Middle Eastern nations that attacked him and seek revenge. Remember, this is a man who is already responsible for the deaths of 189 innocent passengers on Pan Am 103.
That’s why I urge my colleagues to reject this legislation.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to my friend and colleague, the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. LYNCH).

Mr. LYNCH. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of Mr. ROONEY’s resolution.

Mr. Speaker, it’s a sad irony that at the same time that we’re committing our sons and daughters to an armed conflict in Libya in support of democracy and the rule of law, that we are also at home trampling on the fundamental principles of separation of powers and the plain language of the United States Constitution, which is the supreme rule of law in our land.

I’ve heard several times now an argument that is about politics. Well, in fairness, politics is to Congress like wet is to water. We cannot avoid that.

But this issue is really one of substance, and the United States Constitution clearly states that the President’s power as Commander in Chief to introduce Armed Forces into hostilities may be exercised only pursuant to three circumstances: first, a declaration of war; secondly, a specific statutory authorization; and, number three, a national emergency created by an attack on the United States or its territories. And none of those circumstances is in evidence here today.

So despite my great admiration and respect for our President, a lawful premise for this Libyan operation does not exist.

I’ve also heard the argument that we have to join with our international neighbors, that we can’t desert them. Well, as a matter of fact, I’ve been to Iraq now 14 times. I’ve been to Afghanistan 10 times. When we first went into Afghanistan, when I first went over there after hostilities started, it used to be 50 percent United States and 50 percent the rest of the world. Now when I go, it’s about 75 percent the U.S. and 25 percent the rest of the world. So they have migrated out of Afghanistan. At the same time, they’re asking us to pick up the load in Libya.

Also on my trips, I don’t meet any of our kids on their first tour of duty anymore. When I meet our kids, they’re on their third, fourth, fifth tour of duty. We’re stretched very thin. Our military families are stretched very thin. I think we should allow our international neighbors to pick up this load.

I urge my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to support the Rooney amendment.

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the ranking member of the Appropriations Committee, the gentleman from Washington (Mr. DICKS).

Mr. DICKS. The strict limitation of funds in this resolution offered by Mr. Rooney of Florida would end our involvement unilaterally. I believe this action would be unwise, and that it could materially harm our relationship with NATO allies from whom we will undoubtedly require support in the future. It would also undermine the worldwide effort to protect the people of Libya.

Now in this amendment, there are exceptions for intelligence, surveillance, and reconnaissance; aerial refueling; and operational planning. I asked the majority if they would put in suppression, because you can’t conduct these other missions without suppression, and if we don’t have airborne air defense, the allies will not be able to continue the bombing campaign. So all of these things that the gentleman says he wants to do and have exceptions for will be undermined by not having suppression.

Today’s F-18 Growlers go in on these missions and they suppress the enemy radars so that the bombing can continue. So I think this is fatally flawed because of the lack of suppression, and I feel it’s wise to vote against this because of that fact. I tried to offer this as an amendment, but I was told that they weren’t interested.

I just hope you understand that you are undermining this mission and you are undermining NATO. This deserves to be defeated.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to my friend and colleague, the gentleman from New York, Colonel GIBSON.

Mr. GIBSON. I thank the gentleman from Florida for yielding me time to speak today.

I’ve been opposed to this operation in Libya from the very start. In terms of national security priorities, we should be focusing on rapidly and successfully completing operations in Iraq and Afghanistan, reorganizing the national security establishment to more effectively wage counterterrorism operations against al Qaeda, and resetting the DOD to defend our cherished way of life in a manner consistent for a Republic, not an Empire. Going forward, we need to learn from these experiences and exercise more discipline; not getting involved in operations like Libya where vital national security interests are not present.

We should cease our involvement in Libya immediately. I’m supporting this resolution to cut off funds for combat operations. I view this as a good start, but I want to be clear: I will not be satisfied until all funds are cut off for this operation, no exceptions.

Then we need to revise the War Powers Act to ensure we never again end up with a President taking this country to war without proper authorization. We need to rediscover the Founders’ intent on this critical issue, and I’ve introduced legislation, the War Powers Reform Act, to make it so. The War Powers Reform Act clarifies when the President may deploy forces into hostilities, and it provides three ways to deal with hostilities: one, declaration of war; two, specific statutory authorization; or three, a national emergency created by an attack on the United States or an imminent threat of an attack on our country. If none of these circumstances are met, the President must first come to Congress to obtain authorization before deploying forces. The key change in the War Powers Act is that without prior authorization, the President may not obligate or expend funds to deploy troops into combat.

Congress must act to restore constitutional balance and the voice of the American people. We need to reform the War Powers Act so we have our colleagues to support both this bill and Mr. ROONEY’s resolution on Libya that we are voting on today.

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. KINZINGER).

Mr. KINZINGER of Illinois. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

America is a beacon of light around the world. At a time when many were cowering in their house wondering if there were going to be an attack, I think we can decide that Qadhafi was bringing to their doorstep would come tomorrow or the next day, American fighters came in and pressed Qadhafi’s forces back and pushed him back into Tripoli.

America has stood for the side of freedom in this Arab Spring. America has stood for people that don’t have a voice for themselves. Don’t let a dispute between the legislative branch and the executive branch result in us pulling the rug out from standing up for freedom. America has a responsibility to finish this through, to stand with our allies.

To leave now means Qadhafi wins, period. I urge a “no” vote on this resolution.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to my friend from Oklahoma (Mr. COLE).

Mr. COLE. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

I rise in reluctant opposition to this resolution. It’s well-intentioned, without question. It’s meant to limit our involvement in Libya, it’s meant to support our allies, and it’s meant to rein in a President who in my opinion is conducting an illegal and certainly unauthorized war.

It does too little and too much. It does too little, frankly, because even after it’s passed, the President will continue essentially to be able to operate as he’s been operating for several weeks. And it does too much because it gets us into a situation where we effectively micromanage the military by literally listing what missions they should take.

The resolution neither holds the President accountable nor ends our involvement in Libya, and it essentially leaves things exactly where they are. Congress should reassert its constitutional authority. Mr. Speaker, by either authorizing the use of military force under the War Powers Act, this resolution avoids either course. It postpones a decision. In doing so, in my view, it erodes the constitutional war-making authority of Congress and enhances an executive branch that is already over-reaching. We will appear to do something and we will actually do nothing. For that reason, I reluctantly urge the rejection of the resolution.

Mr. SMITH of Washington. I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. ANDREWS).

(Mr. ANDREWS asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, when the President of the United States went to the United Nations Security Council to urge intervention in the Libyan civil war, he frankly missed a stop. He should have come here first, and this Congress should have debated the wisdom or lack thereof of that effort. Knowing what I know about this, had that debate taken place here, I would be one who would have voted against authorizing the use of force here because I do not believe we have a vital national security interest in the Libyan civil war.

I am going to oppose this resolution, however, because I think that two constitutional wrongs do not make a right. Again, I believe the President should have come here and sought the authorization of this Congress before he initiated these hostilities, and they are hostilities. But when we have people at risk, when we have lives on the line, I think this resolution raises a practical and a constitutional problem. The President, the gentleman from Washington (Mr. DICKS) alluded to a few minutes ago, and I can think of another variation. If a NATO ally is sending people into Libya on an intelligence-gathering function and asks us to provide air cover for that function, is that an intelligence operation or isn’t it? I don’t know, there’s a good argument on either side, but it’s an adjudication that I don’t think a U.S. commander in the field ought to have to make, that’s a practical confusion that does not serve us well when people are at risk.

Then, secondly, just as the President has the obligation, I believe, to seek approval of this body and the other one before he initiates hostilities, he also has the responsibility to conduct those affairs once they begin. Our role is to oversee and fund or not fund such activities, but it is not to interfere with them. I think this is an impractical interference; so I’m going to vote “no.”

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. Speaker, could I inquire as to the time remaining?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Florida has 14 minutes remaining, and the gentleman from Washington has 12 minutes remaining.

1300

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to my friend and colleague from California (Mr. SHERMAN).

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, this bill defunds Libya unless authorized specifically by law. If it passes, long before it’s passed by the Senate, the President will come to us and ask for authorization, and I, for one, would want to grant limited, conditional authorization.

Now we just rejected an authorization provision that was, in effect, all authority and no limitation—at least that’s certainly how it would be interpreted by the White House legal counsel given how it was drafted. The House should consider real binding limits and conditions because democracy and rule of law are important, but democracy and rule of law for the people of the United States is more important.

There are those who regret that they cannot offer an amendment to this bill—yes, they can. The motion to recommit will be in order just as soon as we end debate.

I know that we’ve had important resolutions from the Arab League, the U.N., and NATO. Those are not substitutes for Congress. The War Powers Act is the law of the land, and if we don’t stand up for it now, when will we? And if this President won’t obey it, what President will?

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. DAVID SCOTT), a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee and also a member of the NATO Parliamentary Assembly. Mr. DAVID SCOTT of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, what we have here are two essential arguments: one is of an intramural argument between Congress and the White House, but it is a misplaced argument. There is no President that has come to this Congress for a declaration of war since World War II—and granted, we’ve been in seven or eight major conflicts. So this is much greater than this conflict between the White House and this Congress.

Unfortunately, I believe that this measure is just an attempt to, rather in a strong way, get the attention of the world and to chastise the President a bit. I think if you look at the RECORD there were communications here, but there is a larger profound message here. It’s not a message that this is to send to the President. This is a bad-timed piece of legislation because it sends the wrong message to the world.

Ladies and gentlemen of the Congress, we are the leaders of the free world. America is a great country, and as this mission is at stake, and this move, this bill will pull the rug out from under NATO at precisely the time when we need to be sending a strong message of encouragement. The United States is in a support role here. So it is very important with this amendment and make sure that we send the right message to our allies, that we will not pull the rug out from under them.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to my friend from Massachusetts (Mr. FRANK).

Mr. FRANK of Massachusetts. Mr. Speaker, I want to send a message to our allies. And I don’t think we are pulling the rug out from under them. Look at these wealthy, populous nations of Western Europe. I believe it is a good thing to get rid of Qadhafi, but does America have to do everything? People say to me that it’s the indispensable nation. That’s a terrible burden to impose on ourselves; we can’t afford it, and it cannot be done effectively. Let’s get people who can dispense with us.

My friend, the ranking member of the Appropriations Committee, says, look, we have to do this because NATO can bomb but they can’t suppress. What a great bunch of allies—they can bomb unarmed people, but if they shoot back, they got to come running to us.

Yes, I want to send a message to NATO. Qadhafi is a bad guy. If England and France and Italy and Germany and Spain and the Netherlands and Scandinavia can’t together muster the military might for the world, then let’s re-examine the value of these allies.

In “The King and I,” he says, If the allies are weak, am I not best alone? I want to send a message to our allies. And I don’t want to tell the world it’s time for once for them to step up. This is not to protect Qadhafi; it’s to say that America can no longer be asked to be the one that does everything, everywhere, every time. Our allies have to step up.

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. PAUL).

Mr. PAUL. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

I rarely speak on the House floor, and almost never have I ever come to the floor two times in one day to speak on this one issue. But this is my fourth trip to the floor today on this issue because I consider it so important and so serious.

If I could rename this bill, I would call it “a bill to authorize the use of force in Libya.” That is what we’re doing. As the President says—we are authorizing the use of force. We are endorsing the Obama war in Libya.

Some see this as weakening our presence over there, but there is no doubt, if you read it carefully, we are expanding and giving authority because of the exceptions. The exceptions include search and re-search, intelligence, surveillance, reconnaissance, refueling, planning—contract labor probably can still go in, the CIA is in there already, our military forces. And paying for it; How can you do all that without paying for it? So we are there.

This will be the first time the President will have received any information from the Congress that it’s okay to do what we’re doing. We’re supposed to be sending the message that we’re in charge of when we go to war and when we pay for this war. We’re not just supposed to lie over and capitulate to what the President wants—as we have been for too many years.

So there is no doubt that I think the proper vote here, the proper constitutional vote, the proper vote for the best of our national interests, the best vote for peace is to vote this resolution down just as we voted the previous resolution down. We should prohibit the use of funds.

A lot of us complain on this House floor that the President went to war—he didn’t come here, he went to NATO. But this supports NATO. One of the arguments in favor of this bill is we have the exceptions, so we don’t want to break ties and our allegiance to NATO. Well, that’s what we’re supposed to be doing. We’re supposed to be reclaiming the sovereignty and the responsibilities here in the House. We are not supposed to roll over for NATO and the United Nations. We’re supposed to stand up for this country.

We are not supposed to go into war under these conditions. And under those circumstances, I strongly urge a “no” vote on this resolution.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to my friend from Indiana (Mr. BURTON).

Mr. BURTON of Indiana. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Somebody said a while ago we ought to be supporting the Arab Spring because there are movements toward democracy over there. We went into Libya to help in a humanitarian effort and get rid of Muammar Qadhafi, but who are we supporting? Nobody at the White House wants to come down and say we’re supporting this group of people. We don’t know if it’s the Muslim Brotherhood, we don’t know if it’s al Qaeda—now we do know there are al Qaeda operatives that came from Afghanistan fighting with the rebels in Libya; are we supporting al Qaeda? Are we supporting the Muslim Brotherhood?

The Muslim Brotherhood in Egypt has opened up the border—or the Government of Egypt, whatever that is right now—has opened up the border between Egypt and Gaza, which provides a mechanism for weapons to get into Gaza to fire on Israel.

So before we start supporting a rebel movement and going after somebody like Qadhafi, we ought to find out who we’re for. We’re spending billions of dollars before this is over in a war where we don’t even know who we’re supporting, and it’s in violation of the War Powers Act and the Constitution. This is something we should not be doing.

The President should have come down here and made his case. He should have said what our goals are. He should have said who we’re supporting and why we’re supporting them. We are in a war against terrorism. We may well end up with terrorists controlling Libya and Egypt, and that is a tinderbox that we don’t want. We get about 35 percent of our energy from that part of the world, and if all hell breaks loose, we move over with the wrong guys, we’ve got a real problem in this country economically. And the President ought to be thinking about all that and making his case to the Congress in accordance with the Constitution and the War Powers Act before he does it.

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from California (Mr. McCINTOCK).

Mr. McCINTOCK. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, this bill purports to cut off funding for combat in Libya. In doing so, it simply forbids what the Constitution already forbids—the waging of war without explicit congressional authorization. But then it specifically grants to the President what the Constitution already forbids—the direct support of belligerents at war, and this bill authorizes them.

The House has decided for the first time whether or not to authorize war with Libya. It has specifically, categorically, and decisively rejected it. The President is now on notice that he is in direct defiance of Congress. That is the message we need to send today. Let’s not enter a war through the back door, when we have already decided not to enter it through the front.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to my friend from Texas, Judge GOMHERT.

Mr. GOMHERT. Mr. Speaker, it is true, Qadhafi is a bad guy. He needs to go. But the problem is for those who say will this mean the end of the Bush doctrine, well, I don’t know that this President has ever been enforcing the Bush doctrine. But the problem is, as my friend Mr. BURTON pointed out, we don’t know who is going to replace Qadhafi.

It is not in our national interest to help what may be another Iran, with Khomeini and Ahmadinejad coming to power, and especially when we are releasing oil at a time when oil should be saved in case it all goes to blazes in the Middle East and we don’t have any coming from there.

Now, I am not crazy about the exceptions either—the search and rescue, intelligence surveillance and reconnaissance, aerial refueling and operational planning—because this administration is probably going to describe everything they do as falling into those exceptions. But it is a step in the right direction. And some have said, and I know their hearts and I know they mean well, we want to support our troops, and I don’t like it when people say let’s back out and let’s cut funding when troops are in harm’s way.

I have talked to enough troops who want somebody in Washington to say, this is insane, don’t get us involved, because they are good soldiers; and when they get their orders, they are going to salute and they are going to go follow through on the orders.

We are the body that must step forward and say, Enough. Mr. President, this country cannot be the Arab League, to NATO or to the U.N. We are responsible to the American people.

So though I don’t like the exceptions, I will vote for this. It is taking a step in the right direction. Mr. SMITH of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentle lady from Michigan (Mrs. MILLER).

Mrs. MILLER of Michigan. Mr. Speaker, I intend to vote “no” on this resolution.

We just voted on a resolution on whether or not to authorize in Libya, and this House overwhelmingly voted “no,” no to authorizing that. I have been opposed to this action in Libya. I have not been persuaded that the U.S. has a vital interest there. And by the way, we were not asked by Qadhafi.

I spent 2 hours in a tent with Qadhafi in 2003. We were the first congressional delegation in over 38 years to be there. In fact, we were there because he was voluntarily giving up his nuclear arms. I will say that there probably are few dictators who are going to do that again after watching what is happening over there. He is a bloody dictator; but one of the things I learned, he hates al Qaeda.

I also think that this action vividly demonstrates the weakness of NATO, quite frankly. It is a great organization. We appreciate their partnerships, of course. They are our allies. But it is an antiquated organization. The United States is paying 75 percent of the cost of NATO, and NATO can’t even take out a two-bit dictator like Qadhafi.

Why? Because we have enabled our allies, providing their defense for them for decades. And instead of spending more on their defense, as they said, 2 percent of their GDP, they are spending their money on their social programs; they are spending their money on lower corporate tax rates, etcetera.

So I would say, yes, Qadhafi is a bloody dictator. He is a terrorist. He did not attack us. And by the way, let us remember who let the Lockerbie bomber out way early as well.

We need to get out of Libya, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from Ohio (Mr. BOEHNER), the Speaker of the House.

Mr. BOEHNER. Let me thank my colleague for yielding.

I want to say that I am disappointed that we have reached this point here today. Mr. Speaker, it didn’t have to come to this.

Nearly 100 days ago, the President initiated a strike against Libya without consultation from the Congress and without explanation to the American people. Then, as now, we all supported the removal of the regime of Libya, a regime that was slaughtering
Mr. Berman. Mr. Speaker, the Speaker of the House has made some very legitimate points, but then his conclusion is so contrary to the points he made. The proposition before us today, Mr. McClintock is right, it is an authorization of a series of acts of bellicosity, and I believe by their own definition cannot possibly help us either achieve the humanitarian goal of this mission or achieve the goal, the true humanitarian goal of removing Qadhafi from power.

We are authorizing intelligence-sharing, aerial refueling, operational planning, intelligence-gathering; but we are denying the only aspects of this operation that can allow us to achieve that goal—the suppression of air defense systems and the utilization of drones with missiles to stop Qadhafi from resuming his effort to massacre his own people.

I understand the argument. You don’t buy my notions of our national security. You don’t see the context of bringing this operation to a halt in terms of what it does to the stability of the democracy movements in Egypt and Tunisia. You don’t see any consequences in terms of Syria or the larger Middle East or the damage to alliance. I understand and accept that argument.

But Mr. Rooney tries to have it both ways and in fact comes up with a proposal that ensures that the mission is allowed to continue, but by definition cannot achieve its goals.

It is the worst. It is not the reasonable system of proposal. It is the worst of all solutions. If you’re going to authorize an operation through airpower and other methods, you don’t exclude the only parts that can possibly achieve success. If you’re against this operation, you stop the funding of the operation.

Mr. Rooney’s a number of members of the majority want to have it both ways. We don’t like Qadhafi so we want to do something. We don’t want to do anything that could work, but we don’t want to come out against the operation. But the fact is you’re ending the operation if this were to become law, because our European friends have said very clearly that, those parts of this operation that this amendment prohibits, those parts of the operation we cannot undertake if you are not doing it.

So why not be straightforward? Why not do what a number of colleagues on the other side have called for: stop funding the operation. Don’t try to have it both ways, ensure the operation’s defeat and end the operation, while pretending to still be interested in seeing Qadhafi go and the operation succeed.

I urge a “no” vote from anyone who cares about the consequences of what they do.

Mr. Rooney. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to my friend and colleague, the chairman of the Committee on Armed Services, the gentleman from California (Mr. McKeon).

Mr. McKeon. I yield the gentleman from Washington.

Mr. Dicks. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. McKeon. I yield to the gentleman from Washington.

Mr. Dicks. Thank you.

Wouldn’t you feel better if we could add a fifth item in this list of things, suppression of enemy air defenses? The reason I say that is I think we’re going to have a difficult time doing any of these other missions unless we have suppression.

It was just over there at Aviano and Sigonella, and we were told by the Navy that the allies do not have enough suppression to be able to continue to do these bombing missions without U.S. help. I think it would help if we could clearly state that is not somehow abandoned.

Mr. McKeon. Reclaiming my time, my good friend from Washington, there... are a lot of things that would make me feel better. If we could go back and start this whole thing over, there are a lot of things that would make me feel better. But the President has said we’re not engaged in hostilities. And I think we would agree that when we’re firing missiles in line with missions with our fighter planes suppressing ground fire, I believe that would—most of us agree that that is hostile.

The NATO people, we met with the military from Great Britain. They told us what we have in here would allow them to continue successfully their missions.

I urge my colleagues to join me in support of this bill.

Mr. SMITH of Washington. I yield myself the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is recognized for 4 minutes.

Mr. SMITH of Washington. There are a number about the House and arguments in favor of ending the mission in Libya. I think the Speaker articulated one, which is basically we support the idea of the removal of Qadhafi and they support the idea of supporting the people in Libya who are asking for a representative government. They just don’t like our President’s process. But that argument doesn’t really make sense because if, in fact, their big complaint is that Congress hasn’t had the opportunity to authorize this, then the Speaker of the House has had, by his own admission, a hundred days to offer that voice, to come up and say, No, we support the mission but here’s how we want to limit it. They have not done that.

I agree very strongly with Mr. BEN- MAN’s statements. You can’t have it both ways. You can’t say we would like to remove Qadhafi, we would like to support the Libyan people, but we’re going to offer up resolutions that are going to stop what we’re doing from happening.

Now, we can argue back and forth about that process, but clearly the Speaker of the House had an option in front of him to deal with that process issue, and this isn’t it.

As has been pointed out, this will stop what we are doing in Libya. If you support that—let me just say I support Mr. KUCINICH in the sense that he is very honest. He doesn’t like what is going on there. He wants it stopped. That is a legitimate position. But to stand up and say, Yes, we have to support the Libyan people; yes, Qadhafi should go, we’re just going to cut the legs out from under the effort that would actually do that because of a complicated process argument is not a legitimate point.

I also want to point out people are legitimately concerned about the U.S. being too militant in our approach, and I agree with that. We cannot be the policeman for the world. We should not always carry the load. But in this case it is a very, very limited mission that we have. For once, NATO is actually carrying the bulk of the mission.

While I agree with Mr. FRANK’s comments from earlier that NATO needs to step up and do more, we finally have an instance when they are stepping up and doing more, and we want to pull the rug out from under them for the tiny little pieces help that we are giving them to use that mission. This is a limited role, and we must recognize that.

The Speaker also emphasized that we would like to have all the answers going in. We’d like to know what the mission is. Let’s be exactly clear. Well, you don’t always have all the answers, and this has evolved. Initially, our mission was clear: Stop Qadhafi from crushing the forces who are trying to rise up and have a voice in their own government. And we did that.

Incidentally, we do have some answers about who these rebels are. Do you want to know who they are? Look at Benghazi. What’s going on in Benghazi, the place that is controlled by the people in opposition to Muammar Qadhafi? It is not the Muslim Brotherhood. It is not al Qaeda. It is the people of Libya wanting a representative government who are running that place. So let’s stop acting conveniently like we don’t know what these people are. We do have a very good idea who they are, and they are deserving of our support.

We have a clear, limited vision. If we vote for Rooney, we pull the rug out from under that mission. We put Qadhafi in a position to stay in power, and we undermine a group of people who are asking for a legitimate voice in their government. And keep in mind, again, this is a very limited use of U.S. power in a very positive way. Whatever the process arguments are that brought us to this point, don’t let them have the United States look like we don’t support people standing up for the very values that we continually espouse throughout the world.

I urge defeat of this resolution and support for what we are doing in Libya.

With that, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to my friend and colleague from Nebraska (Mr. TERRY).

Mr. TERRY. I have during my tenure here voted twice to empower our military to take action. The first time was with Administration President Bush. The second time was with Administration President Obama and I came to the Congress and made a powerful case that it was in our national security interest to do so. I supported that. Then it was with Iraq; and the President came to Congress. He spent a significant amount of time providing evidence without any doubt that there was a national security interest.

This time, however, it was a surprise to me and to most of my colleagues that this mission was occurring. There has been no attempt to define what the national security interests are, the United States’ interests in this military action. Without that, I can’t look my constituents in the eyes and tell them why we are in Libya right now, why we are in Libya right now, why we are in Libya right now in military strikes against that nation state.

So the one constitutional power that Congress has explicitly is the purse strings. We are exercising that right. I support the effort to pull those strings out. We should stop the flow of money into this action.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. KUCINICH).

Mr. KUCINICH. I want to thank Mr. ROONEY and thank my colleagues. I think this has been a very important debate for this country and for our Constitution.

I am opposed to this war and I want to end it. I think Mr. ROONEY’s bill is a powerful step in the direction of ending the war, but it’s not the only step that we should take. It’s the first step. The first step is a vote for Mr. ROONEY’s. You limit the war, and you stop the use of troops. Then the second step would be to vote on an appropriations amendment that would strike all funding for the war. So we take two steps here—the first step today.

We have some of the best people in this Congress who have been in this debate today, and they don’t agree with Mr. ROONEY’s bill. What they’ve said is that this bill would end the mission in Libya; and they’ve said that, if you don’t have the ability to suppress, you couldn’t continue with the bombing campaign. These are people on our side of the aisle who want to defeat this bill. They’ve made the points, I think, as to why we should pass it.

I want to thank Mr. ROONEY for his leadership, and I urge a vote in favor of Mr. ROONEY’s bill.

Mr. ROONEY. I yield myself the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. GOODLATTE). The gentleman from Florida is recognized for 4 minutes.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. Speaker, we have heard a lot of arguments today, and we’ve had a great debate—a debate we really should have been having over the last hundred days or so, one that could have been spurred on by the administration for coming to the Congress and making the arguments as to why we should authorize or should not authorize money for hostilities in Libya. The President had the opportunity to come and make the case to this body, and he chose not to.

The War Powers Act is clear. He has violated that law. Some have said it’s unconstitutional, but the courts have never weighed in on it, so it is the law of the land, and it’s one we have to abide by. But we can send resolution after resolution to the Senate and say that we don’t agree, that we don’t authorize. In the end, the power that we have is the power of the purse, as Mr.
Terry just said, and we have to exercise that power in this House and say that we aren’t going to spend money for hostilities in Libya.

We heard the mission “if you want to take out Qadhafi” or “if you want to free the Libyan people and give them the liberty they deserve.” Number one, it was never the mission to begin with to take out Qadhafi. That has somehow morphed over time. We don’t even know who the people are we’re supposedly helping.

Without that debate and without that argument—and I appreciate the debate we’ve had today because I think it has been very helpful, quite frankly—all we can do, is sit here and say, until the President comes and makes that case and gets authorization, he won’t get funds; and at the same time responsibly say to our NATO allies that we will support you in the rear, but we are not engaged in hostilities.

Mr. HOLT. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this resolution.

I wish our action today were unnecessary. As I noted earlier this year when the President initiated the Libya action, he would have been better served by putting this matter before this body in advance of taking action, not afterwards. And as I predicted then, the President has been subjected to almost daily partisan attacks over this operation. All of this was avoidable.

None of us wish to abandon freedom-seeking Libyans or our NATO allies, and a vote for this resolution does not mean we are doing either. Our logistical and intelligence support to NATO forces continues uninterrupted. Only the capacity to conduct cover action to assist the Libyan rebels will remain unimpeded. And the ability of the international community to continue to provide humanitarian aid to the people of Libya will be unaffected.

I am voting for the Rooney bill for what it says, not for what some in the majority say it says. This should not be used as a club to attack President Obama. I will support this measure because it is absolutely imperative for Congress, as an institution, to remind the President that the power to authorize military actions and wars resides in this body. We strengthen our democracy by passing this resolution, we strengthen this institution by passing this resolution, and we honor our NATO allies. The question is on the engrossment and third reading of the bill.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, and was read the third time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question was taken; and the previous question is ordered.

The question is on the engrossment and third reading of the bill.

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I demand a recorded vote. A recorded vote was ordered.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—ayes 180, noes 238, not voting 13, as follows:

Mr. GARRETT. Mr. Speaker, I have strong constitutional concerns regarding H.R. 2278. When the Founding Fathers met at the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia, the differentiation between which branch of the federal government initiates war and which branch conducts it was one of the most seriously debated topics. After deep thought and consideration, the Founders decided to grant Congress the power to declare war and left to the President, as Commander-in-Chief, the authority to conduct wars. Today, the Congress is asked to vote on a measure that would revere the constitutionally prescribed wars powers by directing the President on how to conduct the military conflict in Libya.

While I have supported past efforts to defund the military conflict in Libya, I cannot vote in support of a bill that only defunds some of the military effort while endorsing others. The Congress should and must debate the merits of our foray into Libya and either authorize it completely or demand that the President terminate our military engagement. This is the only constitutionally sound course for Congress to take.

Mr. STARK. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in opposition to H.R. 2278. This legislation will not end our military involvement in Libya. Both Congress the power to declare war and left to the executive branch to conduct it was one of the most seriously debated topics. After deep thought and consideration, the Founders decided to grant Congress the power to declare war and left to the President, as Commander-in-Chief, the authority to conduct wars. Today, the Congress is asked to vote on a measure that would revere the constitutionally prescribed wars powers by directing the President on how to conduct the military conflict in Libya.

While I have supported past efforts to defund the military conflict in Libya, I cannot vote in support of a bill that only defunds some of the military effort while endorsing others. The Congress should and must debate the merits of our foray into Libya and either authorize it completely or demand that the President terminate our military engagement. This is the only constitutionally sound course for Congress to take.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to House Resolution 332, the previous question is ordered.

The question is on the engrossment and third reading of the bill.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, and was read the third time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the passage of the bill.

The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I demand a recorded vote. A recorded vote was ordered.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—a yes 180, noes 238, not voting 13, as follows:
REPORT ON H.R. 2354, ENERGY AND WATER DEVELOPMENT AND RELATED AGENCIES APPROPRIATIONS BILL, 2012

Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN, from the Committee on Appropriations, submitted a privileged report (Rept. No. 112-118) on the bill (H.R. 2354) making appropriations for energy and water development and related agencies for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2012, and for other purposes, which was referred to the Union Calendar and ordered to be printed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 1, rule XXI, all points of order are reserved on the bill.

COMMUNICATION FROM CHAIR OF COMMITTEE ON TRANSPORTATION AND INFRASTRUCTURE

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. MEEHAN) laid before the House the following communication from the chair of the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure:

Hon. JOHN BOEHNER, Speaker, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

Dear Mr. Speaker: Pursuant to section 194 of title 14, United States Code, as Chairman of the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure, I am required to designate three Members of the United States Coast Guard Academy Board of Visitors. I designate Representative Frank Guinta (New Hampshire), Representative Andy Harris (Maryland), and Representative Rick Larsen (Washington) to serve on the Board of Visitors.

Since its founding in 1876, the Coast Guard Academy, based in New London, Connecticut, has accomplished its mission of educating, training and developing leaders of character who are ethically, intellectually, and physically prepared to serve their country. The Board of Visitors meets annually with staff, faculty and cadets to review the Academy’s programs, curricula, and facilities and to assess future needs. The Board of Visitors plays an important supervisory role in ensuring the continued success of the Academy and the tradition of excellence of the U.S. Coast Guard.

Thank you for your consideration in this matter.

Sincerely,
John L. Mica, Chairman.

APPOINTMENT OF MEMBERS TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF GALLAUDET UNIVERSITY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to 20 U.S.C. 4303, and the order of the House of January 5, 2011, the Chair announces the Speaker’s appointment of the following Members of the House to the Board of Trustees of Gallaudet University:

Mr. Yoder, Kansas
Ms. Woolsey, California

REAPPOINTMENT AS MEMBER TO ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON THE RECORDS OF CONGRESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to 44 U.S.C. 2702, and the order of the House of January 5, 2011, the Chair announces the Speaker’s reappointment of the following member on the part of the House to the Advisory Committee on the Records of Congress:

Mr. Jeffrey W. Thomas, Columbus, Ohio

COMMUNICATION FROM THE CLERK OF THE HOUSE

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following communication from the Clerk of the House of Representatives:

Hon. John Boehner, Speaker, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

Dear Mr. Speaker: Under Clause 2(e) of Rule II of the Rules of the U.S. House of Representatives, I herewith designate Robert Reeves, Deputy Clerk, and Kirk Boyle, Legal Counsel, to sign any and all papers and do all other acts for me under the name of the Clerk of the House which they would be authorized to do by virtue of this designation, except such as are provided by statute, in case of my temporary absence or disability. This designation shall remain in effect for the 112th Congress or until modified by me. With best wishes, I am

Sincerely,
Karen L. Haas,
Clerk of the House.

NATIONAL LABOR RELATIONS BOARD

(Ms. Sutton asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. Sutton. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to applaud the efforts by the National Labor Relations Board to modernize their rules to promote efficiency and fairness in the labor organization process.

The charge of the NLRB is to ensure that our workers get a fair shake; but for far too long, working men and women have had to deal with an outdated and lopsided system that puts the wants of big corporations over the needs of employees. At a time when our middle class is consistently under attack, these new proposed rules represent a positive step in restoring a more level playing field for workers.

Our workers deserve a fair system. Those who work to make our world turn deserve the opportunity to make a living for themselves and their families. I look forward to the NLRB adopting and implementing these new provisions to bring their rules into the 21st century and give our working families a fighting chance to strive and achieve the American Dream.
TAPPING THE STRATEGIC PETROLEUM RESERVE

(Mr. SCALISE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. SCALISE. Mr. Speaker, yesterday the President made a decision to raid 30 million barrels out of the Strategic Petroleum Reserve. Now, of course one thing the President did yesterday in that decision was he acknowledged that supply has an impact on price, which is a reversal of his previous statement.

The problem, rather than actually opening up known reserves of American oil where we can go and create tens of thousands of American jobs and get rid of some of this dependency on some of these Middle Eastern countries, what the President said instead was he’s just going to go and raid America’s, in essence, our safety net.

This Strategic Petroleum Reserve is there for national emergencies. It’s not there just because maybe the President feels it would be politically popular for a couple of days to do something. This doesn’t even get us past 2 days’ worth of America’s supply.

We have known reserves that this President is shutting off all across this country. And we can actually reduce our dependence on Middle Eastern oil if we go out and create those jobs, create that American energy, rather than raiding our savings account for oil.

And so the President’s decision was a failed policy that doubles down on his previous failed policy on energy that has gotten us to skyrocketing gas prices. And of course we’re going to be back here again in just a couple of days when this short-term fix runs out.

Instead, we should put a real energy policy in place that reduces our dependence on foreign oil.

CONGRESSIONAL NEUROSCIENCE CAUCUS

(Mr. BLUMENAUER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. BLUMENAUER. Mr. Speaker, yesterday we had the inaugural briefing of the Congressional Neurologic Science Caucus. The caucus seeks to involve and inform people on Capitol Hill about advances, opportunities, and challenges that face us with neuroscience.

I appreciate the leadership of my colleague, KATHY Mc MorRIs RodGErS, who is founding cochair of this effort and someone who cares deeply about neuroscience and how it’s fit through some difficult personal experience. I admire her courage and appreciate her adding to this important agenda.

We’re discovering so many areas related to the brain and so much about how these neurological systems work, how it’s damaged, how it recovers, how the brain responds to our environment, understanding interrelationships between traumatic brain injury, hydrocephalus, dementia, Alzheimer’s. We stand to gain so much from this research.

Developments in neuroscience offer the greatest opportunity for the 26 percent of American adults who suffer from mental illness to potentially improve their lives or perhaps avoid dysfunction, disease to live better, healthier lives.

The tremendous toll on victims and their families, their employees, employers and friends, the Federal Government, our highly engaged and involved and engaged. We hope the Neuroscience Caucus can help do just that.

ROLL CALL OF THE NOBLE 36

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. MEEHAN). Under the Speaker’s announced policy of January 5, 2011, the gentleman from Texas (Mr. POE) is recognized for 60 minutes as the designee of the majority leader.

Mr. POE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, it was said:

‘‘From this day to the ending of the world, we in it shall be remembered. We few, we happy few, we band of brothers; for he today that sheds his blood with me shall be my brother.’’

Shakespeare penned this hundreds of years ago in Henry V. It represents the unfailing commitment a warrior has for his fellow warriors.

Since 2004, 36 men and women from the Second Congressional District area of Texas that I represent have served honorably for this country, the United States, and they gave their lives for the cause of freedom in Iraq and Afghanistan.

Their photographs are over here to my left. You notice, Mr. Speaker, they are of all races. They are men and they are women. They are from all branches of the service. They are enlisted personnel and they are officers in the United States military.

I would like to honor each of them today by name and rank and branch of service and a comment or two about each one of them. These are the sons of liberty, the daughters of democracy of America. They are our heroes.

As we approach July 4, the Fourth of July as we like to call it, where America celebrates its independence and we celebrate not only our independence but our freedom and our liberty, we wave the flag, we attend parades and all of those are good things about America. See, it’s okay to be a patriot and it’s okay to show our patriotism as a Nation. But as we approach July 4, that important day in our history, I believe it is equally important that we remember that our freedom and our liberty has always cost America and it’s cost America its finest, its youth. These men and women, like patriots before them, are our youth so that we can have a future.

Patrick Henry, the great orator during the revolutionary times, said:

‘‘The battle, sir, is not to the strong alone; it is to the vigilant, to the active, to the brave.’’

We are fortunate those words still ring true today, Mr. Speaker, and American warriors overseas carry those values into battle. And perhaps avoid dysfunction, disease to live better, healthier lives.

Each of them have connections to southeast Texas. I would like to mention each one of them, because they deserve our recognition, but we also need to always remember them and their families. Because, you see, when these young men and women went off to war, their families went to war, too, but their families stayed stateside and they were ever vigilant while their sons and daughters and husbands and wives went overseas.

The first individual here, Mr. Speaker, is Staff Sergeant Russell Slay, United States Marine Corps, from my hometown of Humble, Texas. He was killed at the age of 34. He was killed on November 9, 2004. When Russell told his mother, Peggy Slay, that he was joining the United States Marine Corps after finishing high school, he told her that he knew she would not like it but he was going to do it anyway. And he did. When he joined the Marine Corps, he was killed in action. Peggy Slay, his mother, whom I have known since Russell’s death, has become very active in the Blue and Gold Star Moms in southeast Texas.

To refresh your memory, Mr. Speaker, a Blue Star Mom is an individual who has a son or daughter overseas and they carry a flag or they have a flag on their window at their home that has a blue star in that flag. Gold Star Moms are those who have lost a son or a daughter overseas in war, and they have a gold star. Peggy Slay is a leader in the Gold Star Moms in southeast Texas.

Next to him is Lance Corporal Wesley Canning, United States Marine Corps. He was 21, and he was killed on November 10, the day after Russell was killed. He is from Friendswood, Texas. He told his dad he always wanted to be a Marine, and he had that ambition to serve as a Marine for 20 years. He was a proud Texan, and when he was home on leave, he bought a new pickup truck so he could show his Marine buddies his new bumper sticker that said “Don’t Mess with Texas.” He was that kind of individual, that loved Texas and loved his country.

The third individual, Lance Corporal Fred Lee Maciel, Fred Maciel, age 20, was killed on January 26, 2005. He was also a member of the United States Marine Corps. He was from Spring, Texas. He was killed in a helicopter crash in al-Anbar province on his way to begin security preparations for the historic Iraqi elections that took place a few days later in January 2005. Four days later, I was in Iraq. The presence of the United States Marine Corps and Lance Corporal Maciel made those first free elections for the Iraqi people possible, and those elections were important for the history of that country, Lance Corporal Maciel was one of those individuals who gave his life so that another country, another people, could have those elections.

The fourth individual that is on this poster is Lance Corporal Robby Martinez, United States Marine Corps. He was killed at the age of 20 on December 1, 2005. He was from a small rural community called Cleveland, Texas. He dreamed of getting a degree in education and becoming a baseball coach after his career in the Marines. Today, there is a post office in Cleveland, Texas, named in his honor. When we dedicate the post office for Robby Martinez in Cleveland, Texas, the whole town turned it out for. In fact, the United States Air Force had a flyer over during that ceremony and that dedication. The people of Cleveland loved Robby Martinez and his family and appreciate his sacrifice for America.

The seventh individual is Sergeant Ben Williams of the United States Marine Corps. He was 30 years of age when he was killed on June 20, 2006. He is from Orange, Texas, down in the refinery area of southeast Texas. He joined the United States Marines right after high school, and he served his country for 12 years. He was serving his third tour in Iraq when he was killed on June 20, 2006.

Lance Corporal Ryan Miller, at the age of 19, member of the United States Marine Corps, was killed on September 14, 2006. He was from Pearland, Texas. He was killed in Afghanistan. Lance Corporal Ryan Miller graduated early so he could enlist and follow in his father’s and grandfather’s footsteps. After his tour of duty was over, he wanted to become a Houston police officer just like his parents, who are Houston police officers.

Staff Sergeant Edward Reynolds, Jr., United States Army. He was killed at the age of 27 on September 26, 2006, just a few days after Lance Corporal Ryan Miller was killed. He is from Port Arthur, Texas. He was killed in Afghanistan. Lance Corporal Ryan Miller was looking forward to New Year’s Eve because that’s when he was going to get married. He was a man who, as his fellow warriors say, pushed others to succeed in what they do.

Next is Captain David Fraser, 13th individual on this poster. He was a member of the United States Army. He was killed on November 26, 2006, at the age of 25. He was from Spring, Texas. He entered the United States Marine Corps, but after he joined the Army he was killed at the age of 21.

Lance Corporal Luke Yepsen, member of the United States Marine Corps. He was killed on September 14, 2006, and he was from Kingwood, Texas. He was killed at the age of 22 when he was killed. He attended Texas A&M University after high school, and he dropped out to enlist in the United States Marine Corps, just like Staff Sergeant Bill Meeuwsen left Texas A&M during school to fight for America.

Specialist Dustin Donica, United States Army. At the age of 22, he was killed on December 28, 2006. He was from Spring, Texas. And when he was asked why he joined the United States Army, here’s what he said. Mr. Speaker: Most people in my generation want something for them. I just wanted to give something back. That’s why I joined the United States Army.

The fifth individual is Sergeant William “Bill” Meeuwsen, age 24. Sergeant William “Bill” Meeuwsen is from Kingwood, Texas, near my area where I live, and he was a member of the United States Army. He went off to Texas A&M University, but he dropped out of school and enlisted in the United States Army because of 9/11. Amazing individuals, these people who left their careers after 9/11 and joined the United States military to protect the rest of us.

Over here on the far left is Lance Corporal Robert “Robby” Martinez, United States Marine Corps. He was killed at the age of 20 on December 1, 2005. He was from a small rural community called Cleveland, Cleveland, Texas. He dreamed of getting a degree in education and becoming a baseball coach after his career in the Marines. Today, there is a post office in Cleveland, Texas, named in his honor. When we dedicate the post office for Robby Martinez in Cleveland, Texas, the whole town turned it out for. In fact, the United States Air Force had a flyer over during that ceremony and that dedication. The people of Cleveland loved Robby Martinez and his family and appreciate his sacrifice for America.

Zach was an appreciator of the arts. He enjoyed drawing and playing his guitar. It was his drawing ability that stood out. In high school, he entered a contest and won a poster contest with his design, but after he joined the Army, he was killed at the age of 21.

We want to love those Marines, Mr. Speaker. Over here we have Private First Class Brandon Bobb, United States Army. He, likewise, was from Port Arthur, Texas, and he was killed at the age of 20 on July 17, 2007. He was a Marine who was always cheerful and was a soldier that others looked to for support and to lend a helping hand. He was always thinking about somebody else other than himself, according to his buddies in the military.

Next is Lance Corporal Anthony Aguinaldo. He was a member of the United States Marine Corps, and at the age of 20 he was killed on February 22, 2007. He was from Channelview, Texas. He entered the United States Marine Corps because he believed, like a lot of other people believe, it was the toughest branch of the military. You’ve got to love those Marines, Mr. Speaker.

The sixth individual is Tech Sergeant Walter Moss. Tech Sergeant Walter Moss was a member of the United States Air Force. He was 37 years of age, and he was killed on March 30, 2006. He also is from Houston, Texas. He joined the Air Force after high school and he served in Operation Desert Storm.

He specialized in detecting and defusing makeshift bombs, and he was killed while defusing an IED. I repeat, he was killed while defusing an IED. An IED, Mr. Speaker, that is the way that the cowards we fight fight us. They don’t come out in the open—heaven not. They don’t do that. They would lose. So they lie in wait in their holes, in their caves, and they put bombs, land mines—IEDs, as we call them—where they know our troops will come by, and then they remotely set those off. Tech Sergeant Walter Moss was an individual that was trained to diffuse those IEDs, but one exploded while he was trying to protect other warriors.

The ninth individual is Private First Class Kristian Menchaca. Kristian Menchaca was a member of the United States Army. He is from Houston, Texas. He was killed at the age of 23 on June 20, 2006, when he joined the United States Army, he wanted to be in the infantry. Kristian’s wife said that being in the military was what he always wanted to do. He was kidnapped and tortured and murdered by enemy forces. His murder made national news because of the brutality of the people we fight against after they captured Kristian Menchaca.

Number 10 on this poster is Staff Sergeant Ben Williams of the United States Marine Corps. He was 30 years of age when he was killed on June 20, 2006. He is from Orange, Texas, down in the refinery area of southeast Texas. He joined the United States Marines right after high school, and he served his country for 12 years. He was serving his third tour in Iraq when he was killed on June 20, 2006.

Lance Corporal Ryan Miller, at the age of 19, member of the United States Marine Corps, was killed on September 14, 2006. He was from Pearland, Texas. He was killed in Afghanistan. Lance Corporal Ryan Miller graduated early so he could enlist and follow in his father’s and grandfather’s footsteps. After his tour of duty was over, he wanted to become a Houston police officer just like his parents, who are Houston police officers.

Staff Sergeant Edward Reynolds, Jr., United States Army. He was killed at the age of 27 on September 26, 2006, just a few days after Lance Corporal Ryan Miller was killed. He is from Port Arthur, Texas. He was killed in Afghanistan. Lance Corporal Ryan Miller was looking forward to New Year’s Eve because that’s when he was going to get married. He was a man who, as his fellow warriors say, pushed others to succeed in what they do.

Next is Captain David Fraser, 13th individual on this poster. He was a member of the United States Army. He was killed on November 26, 2006, at the age of 25. He was from Spring, Texas. He entered the United States Marine Corps, but after he joined the Army he was killed at the age of 21.

Lance Corporal Luke Yepsen, member of the United States Marine Corps. He was killed on September 14, 2006, and he was from Kingwood, Texas. He was killed at the age of 22 when he was killed. He attended Texas A&M University after high school, and he dropped out to enlist in the United States Marine Corps, just like Staff Sergeant Bill Meeuwsen left Texas A&M during school to fight for America.
the school bus together from kindergartens all the way through high school.” She said Kamisha knew where she was headed in life. She had a big heart and wanted to help people, and that’s why she joined the United States Army.

Number 22, Specialist Donald Valentine III, United States Army, 21 years of age. He was killed September 18, 2007. He was from Houston, Texas. In the official statement on Donald’s death, here’s what the family said: Donald was a loving family man, and he always had a smile on his face. We will cherish all the memories we shared with him. He made us very proud. Now heaven has another hero that continues to watch over us as an angel in heaven.

Remarkable person, Specialist Donald Valentine III.

Number 23 is Lance Corporal Jeremy Burris, United States Marine, age 22, killed in action on October 8, 2007.

It is from Liberty, Texas. Liberty, Texas, according to the folks in Liberty, they claim that is the first settlement in Texas, before Texas was even a part of the United States or even a republic. Liberty, Texas. An interesting town for a warrior to be from.

He was an unapologetic person of religious faith, and he attended the non-denominational Cornerstone Church, where he led worship and praise services. He loved Texas, and his church pastor said at the funeral, “No one had better say anything negative about his home State of Texas.”

Mr. Speaker, you got to love those Texans. They love our State. They love America.

Number 24 is Staff Sergeant Eric Duckworth. He is the last photograph on this roll. Mr. Speaker. He was a member of the United States Army. He was killed on the 26th of October 2007. He was from Houston, Texas. His father, Michael, described him as an outgoing and good-humored son. He further said, “Eric was full of love and laughter and a godly spirit, but, above all, he was a true soldier and a proud warrior” for the United States.

Number 25, Corporal Scott McIntosh. He was a member of the United States Army. He was killed at the age of 26 on March 10, 2008. He was from Humble, Texas, my hometown. His mission in life was to travel to meet and make friends with every person he came in contact with. He shared his hearty laugh and always had a smile to give to other people that he came across. Scott always had a positive outlook on life. He loved to hunt and fish. He loved his family, the Army, and the country he lived in and his life.

Staff Sergeant Shawn Tousha, number 26 on this poster, Mr. Speaker. He was a member of the United States Army. He was killed at the age of 30 on April 9, 2008, in Afghanistan. He was from a little town called Hull, Texas. As a teenager, Shawn played football, and like most Texas rural boys, he loved it. He played at Hull-Daisetta High School. He liked to ride horses. He considered himself a cowboy. He liked to bull ride. He was a man from small town America, and he had a playful heart. He made a big impression on everybody that he knew grew up, and that was a positive impression on everybody that he knew grew up.

Number 27 on here, Lieutenant Colonel Mark Stratton II. Lieutenant Colonel Mark Stratton is the highest ranking officer that has been killed from our state’s congressional district. He was a member of the United States Air Force. At the age of 39, he was killed on May 26, 2009. He was from Houston, Texas. He was remembered by his friends as a man of unquestionable character and total loyalty to the people he loved. He was a patriotic American who exemplified the very best that American airmen have to offer.

Number 28, this individual with the big grin on his face, Specialist Jarrett Griemel, United States Army. He was killed on the 26th of October 2007. He was also from a little small town, La Porte, Texas. Jarrett was a member of the swim team and the surf club while he was in high school. He loved the outdoors and he, of course, loved the beach. He and his wife were living in a house that was located in one of the nearby neighborhoods. He spent his spare time parachuting and cliff diving. Jarrett lived his life to the fullest, but like the others I have mentioned, he loved America, and he loved to excel at everything and do it all that he could. He loved his family, and his family says that they will forever cherish the memories that he gave them because he touched every one of their lives.

Over here to the far left, Jeffrey Johnson was a member of the United States Marine Corps, age 21 when he was killed on May 11, 2010, from Tomball, Texas. At Corporal Jeffrey Johnson’s funeral, his family remembered him as a brother and a hero. His vehicle commander said Johnson was different by “Z,” a member of the United States Marine Corps. He went to Iraq and decided in February of 2010 to get reenlisted because of so many things. He was from Houston, Texas, and he fought for liberty. He fought for a people that he did not know in a land where he had never been. He was a Marine. He was a rare breed that gave his life for people far, far away and for Americans in this land.

Staff Sergeant Edwardo Loredo, 34 years of age, a member of the United States Marine Corps. He was killed on June 7, 2010, the very next day after Sergeant Brandon Bury was killed. He was from Houston, Texas, and he fought for liberty. He fought for a people that he did not know in a land where he had never been. He was a Marine. He was a rare breed that gave his life for people far, far away and for Americans in this land.

Mr. Speaker, we are blessed to have such a rare breed of people as Staff Sergeant Edwardo Loredo and his fellow patriots and warriors.

Number 34, Staff Sergeant Jesse Ainsworth, a member of the United States Army, 24 years of age, killed on July 10, 2010, from Dayton, Texas, another small town in southeast Texas. Jesse’s mother, Margaret Ainsworth, said Jesse was her hero, and he was her only son. She said she used to pick him up when he was a little kid from kindergarten, and every Friday they would go to Wal-Mart and buy some toy. She said ever since Jesse was “an itty bitty fellow” he wanted to be a Marine. Staff Sergeant Jesse Ainsworth, a member of the United States Army, died one day shy of his 35th birthday. He was from Houston, Texas, killed on June 24, 2010. His family says Edwardo was an adventurer. He adored his wife and his family, and he loved to cook for his neighbors and his family.

Mr. Speaker, we are blessed to have such a rare breed of people as Staff Sergeant Edwardo Loredo and his fellow patriots and warriors.

Number 35 on this poster of the Noble 36 is Staff Sergeant Leston “Tony” Winters, United States Army, 30 years of age when he was killed on July 15, 2010. He was from Sour Lake, Texas. Once again, small town rural America. In 1998 he graduated from Hardin Jefferson High School. Winters had already completed two tours of duty in Iraq and decided in February of 2010 to go back. He wanted to fight once more. He told his family that he felt compelled to be there with his buddies, even though he had a chance to stay.
After he graduated from high school in 1998, he enlisted in the Army, following the path of his grandfather. His family said that he loved being a soldier and serving his country. He is survived by his two daughters, Azalia and Eleanna.

It’s interesting about his funeral, Mr. Speaker, which I attended. The whole town of Cleveland, Texas, and nearby towns turned out for the funeral. Flags were strown and hoisted all up and down Main Street in Cleveland, Texas. The businesses shut down, the school closed as the funeral procession came through Cleveland, Texas, honoring Sergeant First Class Calvin Harrison; that was the day and procession full of hundreds of people, young and old, showing praise and honor and respect to Calvin Harrison for his sacrifice for America.

It was led by the Patriot Guard, those patriots that ride the Harley-Davidson motorcycles, most of them from the Vietnam era, who show their appreciation for the sacrifice by watching over the funeral procession and the funeral by riding those motorcycles with an American flag on the back.

These are the Noble 36 from southeast Texas, just a few of the people who have given their lives in Iraq and Afghanistan. I mention these individuals because they, like all Americans that have been killed in Iraq and Afghanistan, are important to America. They are important to our history because freedom is not free.

And that is not a trite expression. It’s not free. It has always been expensive, going all the way back to the Revolutionary War. We’re going to celebrate July 4th next week. And that war cost American lives, as has every war, because freedom is expensive. And it’s our young people, men and women, who go and serve.

Mr. Speaker, just like everybody serving today in Iraq and Afghanistan, every one of these people—every one—volunteered. They raised their right hand and they stood forward and said, I will serve, I will go. Call me. And they went. And we are to admire them for what they have done. They have gone down into the valley of the gun and the desert of the sun, and they have sacrificed their lives.

Last week, I happened to be in Iraq with other Members of Congress. It’s not easy to get to Iraq. But I got off that Blackhawk helicopter and it was 120 degrees in Iraq. And there they were, the American warriors with their warrior uniforms on and all that equipment they carry. How hot they were. It was 120 degrees. In Afghanistan and Iraq it gets hot in the summer. And those days are coming. We should always appreciate them.

We should also appreciate the ones that serve in other places in the world. On that same trip, Members of Congress had an opportunity to go near the South China Sea and see some of our warriors on some island I’m not sure I could find on a map. But they’re on this route. They have SEALs, our special forces, our marines, and our soldiers. They were doing an operation protecting the United States, representing the rest of us.

So we should be proud of those that go and serve, those that volunteer and those that are still there. We should appreciate the families that have stayed home while their loved ones go across the seas and represent this country. July 4th is coming up. It’s a great day in our history. I hope Americans tell their kids about our country and our history. We should tell American children about these young people and others who every day raise their right hand and go off to war representing the rest of us.

One of my former Presidents once said, “I like to see a man proud of the place in which he lives, and I like to see a man live so that his place will be proud of him.” All of these were proud of America and America is proud of all of them and the rest that continue to serve. These Noble 36, we are proud of them.

Mr. Speaker, these are the few, the bold, the brave, the courageous. These are the Americans. These are the sons and daughters of southeast Texas who have fallen in battle for their country. We are forever grateful for their sacrifice, and we are grateful for every man and woman in uniform somewhere in the world today representing the rest of us.

And that’s just the way it is.

MIDWEST FLOODING

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker’s announced policy of January 5, 2011, the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. KING) is recognized for 30 minutes.

Mr. KING of Iowa. Mr. Speaker, it’s my privilege to address you here on the floor of the House of Representatives. I would say at the outset that it is also my honor and privilege to have been seated here on the floor of the House of Representatives as I listened to a Congressman and judge, Ted Poe, address you on the brave patriots from Texas that were on the poster and as he went down through and said choice morsels of each individual’s life and what happened in their sacrifice and talked to us about the values that they defended and the reasons that they have put their lives on the line.

I’m impressed by the honor that Ted Poe did to those who have given their lives from Texas, and I’m very convinced that he would agree with me that he’d appreciate it if that honor could be reflected across all of the brave patriots who have given their lives in the defense of this country in this conflict and in past conflicts. We always pray that there be no future conflict.

Mr. Speaker, I came to the floor to address a different subject matter. Perhaps I’ll digress or cross over into the national security side. But I find that I don’t believe any Member of any delegation has yet come to the floor to talk about the natural disaster events that have been taking place in the Midwest, and in particular in the Missouri River basin area. I’m concerned who has grown up in that drainage basin area. I’ve lived there on that side of the great divide for most of my life. We have some circumstances today that eclipse the 500-year flood event of 1993.

In 1993, more water came down the Missouri River than ever before. It was the largest amount of cubic feet per second and the largest amount of over a million acre-feet that had come down. I will say there were a number of events that would compete with that, depending on how you define it. Mr. Speaker. One would be a flood in 1943 that brought the attention of the world. We were in the middle of a world war. We didn’t get to addressing the massive runoff in the Missouri River from the 1943 flood event.

In 1952, the huge floods came again and more water for a single month came down the Missouri River than ever before, or since. That amounted to a discharge in million acre-feet of 13.2 million acre-feet of water coming down in a single month, the month of April 1952.

That course flooded everything and put the water higher than it had been before, and it brought to it the attention of this Congress, in paying particular attention to what happened in the flood event in ’52, followed through on some plans that had been discussed after the 1949 flood, and they began to take action to move forward for the construction of what we now know as the Pick-Sloan Program.

The Pick-Sloan Program is the construction of six large dams on the Missouri River. One is Gavins Point Dam in South Dakota, and it goes on up to Fort Randall Dam, to Oahe, and then on up into North Dakota where you see Garrison Dam and Fort Peck. I left out Big Bend. So we have Gavins Point, Fort Randall, Big Bend, Oahe, Garrison Dam, and then Fort Peck Dam. These are all built on the main stem of the Missouri River, but they collect water from all the tributaries.

The security that we have now coming down through the Midwest comes down out of Montana into North Dakota, where it’s flooding now, and it’s flooding also across South Dakota, all across the bottoms, and is spilling out of the six dams one after another at discharge rates higher than we have seen at sustained rates ever before. It’s the most water to come down the river since these six dams were built in this Pick-Sloan Program starting in the fifties and even the sixties, especially in the Upper Missouri basin. The discharge level at Gavins Point Dam, which is the lowest one—that’s at Yankton, South Dakota—is now approaching 160,000 cubic feet per second. That’s more discharge than we’ve seen before.
June 24, 2011

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE

H4569

The result of this is we’re in a flood stage all down this river in the areas that I’ve mentioned. From below the dams, the Missouri River is at a flood stage. Some of it has just not yet arrived in St. Louis in its peak form. But because of this, it has flooded some of our communities, and it has flooded hundreds of thousands of acres of our farmland. It has caused us to build many miles of levees that some would design as permanent; and some of them, I hope, do stay permanent because, again, the water is going to be semi-permanent.

This is not, Mr. Speaker, a short-term situation that just happened because the clouds opened up and it gushed down into the river and it’s going to wash us up and be gone in a few days like many floods are. This is a long-term national disaster flood event and finishing in the early sixties. Missouri River basin all the way from Montana to St. Louis, Missouri. This is the highest water level that we have seen since the Pick-Sloan Program was built, and in some places, it’s the highest water we’ve ever seen. It will certainly be the longest term that we’ll have been underwater that has ever been.

So as I travel up and down the river—and I have the privilege, Mr. Speaker, of representing all of the Missouri River valley: the hills of the mountains, which would be from the Sioux City area where the Missouri River comes out of South Dakota and joins up and provides the border, the western border of Iowa, between Iowa and Nebraska. It’s all Missouri River with Nebraska on one side and Iowans on the other side; both of us are underwater on both sides of the river. It’s also true in South Dakota.

The water that’s coming down the river very quickly have brought a lot of criticism and a lot of scrambling. First, I want to say, Mr. Speaker, that the events that brought us to this are unprecedented in modern recorded history in that, of all of the area that the Pick-Sloan Program handles—all of the drainage area of the Missouri River and the Upper Missouri River in particular—the Corps of Engineers watches the precipitation; they watch the snowcap, and they anticipate how much water they will have.

We have gone through at least an 8-year record drought in the Upper Missouri River. These reservoirs—these six huge reservoirs that were not designed for the primary purpose at all of fishing and recreation but were designed for flood control and navigation and electrical generation and also to cool our generators where we have coal-fired generators along the river and for some of our cities on the Upper Missouri. That is not the reservoirs are to. It’s also true in South Dakota and Montana—because the tourism industry for recreation and fishing has so migrated to those beautiful areas that they have.

When the drought was over, when the pool drains down during an 8-year drought, which they have had, it might be three-quarters of a mile from where your dock was, where your boat was tied up to where the water actually is. We’ve even engaged in a struggle here on the floor of the House of Representatives about who gets the water when there is a short water supply. Congressman Denny Rehberg has tried mightily to keep as much water as possible in the tributaries and the rainfall reports that they had and the forecast, and announced that they had to increase that flow to 150,000 cubic feet per second.

That makes a tremendous difference, Mr. Speaker, because of the result of that necessary decision that the Corps of Engineers made was that the water tables, the water levels, would go up in the river above flood stage for what turns out to be almost the entire flow of the river. And I watched the Missouri River downstream from the dams.

Also, the flow that’s coming through upstream from the dams is flooding significant areas—residential areas, commercial property areas, ag land in vast amounts—all the way up through the Dakotas and Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, with some spilling over into Kansas. That’s the situation that we have.

I should say also, Mr. Speaker, that my life’s work has been the earthmoving business. We’ve gone in and built levees and dug ditches and built terraces and waterways and dams. We’ve bid work on the flood control work on the Missouri River, and I’ve watched the flows, studied the flows, floated the river for recreational purposes and engineering reasons. As a State senator in Iowa for 6 years and now as a Member of Congress into my fourth year, I’ve dealt with the public policies that have to do with the water coming down the river and the species that are affected by it.

With all of this together, if I look back upon it and try to become a Monday morning quarterback, Mr. Speaker, I’ll come to this conclusion that, yes, knowing what we know today, it would have been possible to have prevented this long-term flooding that we have in the Missouri River bottom—but that’s knowing what we know today. The Corps of Engineers has been known that they were going to get the heavy snowfalls that would come down on the mountains, which would be
I said 16.3 million acre-feet of storage capacity that they have, but the projected flow out of the Missouri River for this year is 54 million acre-feet, and that’s more than even came down in the 1993 floods, which was a 500-year flood that everyone had to be very careful in the same. I lived under that, Mr. Speaker. It flooded four of my major projects and changed my life, and the long story I won’t tell here, but I might not be in this Congress had it not been for the 1993 flood, which completely redirected my life.

This flood is redirecting the lives of thousands of people up and down the Missouri River bottom. It’s changing businesses. It’s changing residences. I’m convinced, Mr. Speaker, that we will lose businesses over the long term and we will lose people over the long term who can’t get back into their homes.

To give an example—and it’s a South Dakota example of the Dakota Dunes. It is a region that was built around a golf course, the Dakota Dunes Golf Course just outside of Iowa, outside of the north Sioux City side, which might call it a suburb of Sioux City itself. But in that area, people that I know and I will go to see. There the vision had developed an area in there for residences, and it’s a very nice area. It’s close to the river. The nicer the homes, the closer to the river they seem to be. And when those Corps of Engineers announced that a water level could be reached that discharge levels would be coming down the river, they went to work with private money and began building a temporary levee alongside the Missouri River to protect their homes.

This is a neighborhood coming together with their checkbooks to do emergency work to protect their homes, and while they were doing that, the Corps of Engineers let an emergency contract to build a levee that protects about half of those homes in that area, but it is not stable enough for them to build that levee to protect all of the homes. And so you have two levees: one private money, good homes protecting themselves; another one, Corps of Engineers’ money to protect the balance of those homes. If we lose that levee near the river, about half of the homes in the Dakota Dunes and probably the nicest homes will be under a massive amount of water. And Mr. Speaker, they were building this temporary levee.

And, Mr. Speaker, I’ve spent my life in the construction business, specifically the earthmoving business. We’ve had a fair number of our own machines running at a single time, but this operation in that area of the Dakota Dunes, a small population area, had 170 trucks dewatering the inside of their levee as the river runs around the outside. That’s true also with the protein company that’s there, and they have been protecting the generating plants with sandbagging and pumps and temporary levees.

And as you go on down the river, Nebraska, Omaha, has its story. Council Bluffs has its story. They’re protected by a pretty good Corps of Engineers’ levee, but the water is high, and these levees are not built for 2 months of high water and fast flows and turbulence up against these levees. So they have to be monitored 24/7 all the way through until the water goes down. And if there’s a little boil, somebody’s going to be in their town and there isn’t enough in down in the southwest corner of Iowa. We can lose a levee in a matter of just a minute or two.

I know that there was a levee that ended up that they had to repave the levee and get the water up over it because there was a levee break. They couldn’t have known that until the water had run off to the extent that it did. As I mentioned, they had to make, Mr. Speaker, and we are where we are. Now we’re watching 160,000 cubic feet per second come out of Gavins Point. That’s more than ever before.

The water table is above the flood stage all the way along the Missouri River from below Gavins Point. And I presume that the gentleman who represents North Dakota and the gentleman who represents South Dakota can speak to those issues up there, and I imagine that they can say that they have floods all the way up and down the Missouri River bottom completely throughout the Dakotas and likely Montana.

But, Mr. Speaker, these water levels are going to stay, and they’re going to stay for all of the rest of June, likely all the rest of July, and partway into August, most likely. And, in fact, these water levels could stay into September or October, depending on whether we get unseasonably high rains. If we do, if there’s additional rain to this, then these water levels or even, on the outside, higher water levels could be with us for a long time to come on into the fall.

The people that live in these States that I have mentioned have to live with high water for a long period of time, not like a tornado that comes through and damages structures. They have to protect themselves; another one, emergency work to protect their homes. Of course, they weren’t going to have floods all the way up and down. Of course, they weren’t going to have floods all the way up and down. They went to work with private money and began building a temporary levee alongside the Missouri River to protect their homes.

This is a neighborhood coming together with their checkbooks to do emergency work to protect their homes, and while they were doing that, the Corps of Engineers let an emergency contract to build a levee that protects about half of these homes in that area, but it is not stable enough for them to build that levee to protect all of the homes. And so you have two levees: one private money, good homes protecting themselves; another one, Corps of Engineers’ money to protect the balance of those homes. If we lose that levee near the river, about half of the homes in the Dakota Dunes and probably the nicest homes will be under a massive amount of water. And Mr. Speaker, they were building this temporary levee.

And, Mr. Speaker, I’ve spent my life in the construction business, specifically the earthmoving business. We’ve had a fair number of our own machines running at a single time, but this operation in that area of the Dakota Dunes, a small population area, had 170 trucks dewatering the inside of their levee as the river runs around the outside. That’s true also with the protein company that’s there, and they have been protecting the generating plants with sandbagging and pumps and temporary levees. And if there’s a little boil, somebody’s going to be in their town and there isn’t enough in down in the southwest corner of Iowa. We can lose a levee in a matter of just a minute or two.

I know that there was a levee that ended up that they had to repave the levee and get the water up over it because there was a levee break. They couldn’t have known that until the water had run off to the extent that it did. As I mentioned, they had to make, Mr. Speaker, and we are where we are. Now we’re watching 160,000 cubic feet per second come out of Gavins Point. That’s more than ever before.

The water table is above the flood stage all the way along the Missouri River from below Gavins Point. And I presume that the gentleman who represents North Dakota and the gentleman who represents South Dakota can speak to those issues up there, and I imagine that they can say that they have floods all the way up and down the Missouri River bottom completely throughout the Dakotas and likely Montana.

But, Mr. Speaker, these water levels are going to stay, and they’re going to stay for all of the rest of June, likely all the rest of July, and partway into August, most likely. And, in fact, these water levels could stay into September or October, depending on whether we get unseasonably high rains. If we do, if there’s additional rain to this, then these water levels or even, on the outside, higher water levels could be with us for a long time to come on into the fall.

The people that live in these States that I have mentioned have to live with high water for a long period of time, not like a tornado that comes through and damages structures. They have to protect themselves; another one, emergency work to protect their homes. Of course, they weren’t going to have floods all the way up and down. Of course, they weren’t going to have floods all the way up and down. They went to work with private money and began building a temporary levee alongside the Missouri River to protect their homes.

This is a neighborhood coming together with their checkbooks to do emergency work to protect their homes, and while they were doing that, the Corps of Engineers let an emergency contract to build a levee that protects about half of these homes in that area, but it is not stable enough for them to build that levee to protect all of the homes. And so you have two levees: one private money, good homes protecting themselves; another one, Corps of Engineers’ money to protect the balance of those homes. If we lose that levee near the river, about half of the homes in the Dakota Dunes and probably the nicest homes will be under a massive amount of water. And Mr. Speaker, they were building this temporary levee.

And, Mr. Speaker, I’ve spent my life in the construction business, specifically the earthmoving business. We’ve had a fair number of our own machines running at a single time, but this operation in that area of the Dakota Dunes, a small population area, had 170 trucks dewatering the inside of their levee as the river runs around the outside. That’s true also with the protein company that’s there, and they have been protecting the generating plants with sandbagging and pumps and temporary levees. And if there’s a little boil, somebody’s going to be in their town and there isn’t enough in down in the southwest corner of Iowa. We can lose a levee in a matter of just a minute or two.

I know that there was a levee that ended up that they had to repave the levee and get the water up over it because there was a levee break. They couldn’t have known that until the water had run off to the extent that it did. As I mentioned, they had to make, Mr. Speaker, and we are where we are. Now we’re watching 160,000 cubic feet per second come out of Gavins Point. That’s more than ever before.
Blencoe and ties it back in together, and they have pumps sitting there and they're protecting themselves from the flood. And that little Blencoe doesn't need to be the Alamo for the flood of 2011. They can fight this flood off, and we want to be there to help them all through that.

I have a business owner that builds trailers in Missouri Valley, Iowa. He had gone in and bought a business in downtown Missouri Valley a few years ago, and because of the floods from the thirties built a new location above the floodplain just on the outside of the town by the interstate, Interstate 29, which, by the way, is closed today because of the floodwaters covering the interstate highway. Mr. Speaker, he built a new plant above the floodplain so that he didn't have to be flooded out again.

And about 3 years ago, there was a quirk of weather and one of the major streams backed up and flooded his new plant. But the water that we have is unprecidented. It's strange in its nature in that flow. And it is water that is full of mud and silt and junk. Some of this is. Maybe 40 percent of this water is slat-laden water, but more than half of it, perhaps 60 percent, Mr. Speaker, is clear water. And when you fly over it and you look down, you can see through that water, and you can see the striping on Interstate 29. You can see corn stalks, corn stems, little sprouted plants that grew up and water. They flooded them, and they are standing there underneath 1½ or 2 feet of clear water. It goes on and on. Bean stubble is the same way, little fixtures. You will see irrigation systems standing out in the water. In 8 feet of water, there's an irrigation system standing there.

But this clear water that has emerged comes because the pressure from the river, hydrostatic pressure from the river, pushes down on the entire aquifer around there. As it pushes down, the water seeks its own level, so the silt and floodwater pushes down into the soil. When it does that, water equalizes and it comes up out of the ground, sometimes on the other side of the levy on the east side of the interstate, in my case. It would be like the kind of water you would find in a drainage tile or well. It comes up and sits on the surface everywhere, clear and clean and can be gutting down our transportation units, our interstate highway, and flooding family farms and businesses all up and down this river, and most of it has yet to reach St. Louis. This is a problem all the way across Missouri and St. Louis all the way up into St. Joe and north. It's a problem for the entire Missouri River bottom, Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota, North Dakota, and Montana.

To put it in perspective also, Mr. Speaker, the flow coming down this river, when people think that the Corps of Engineers could have done something different, marginally they could have, as I said, but they would have had to have been clairvoyant, and they would have violated the terms of the Master Manual. But the flow coming down the river at 150,000 cubic feet per second happens to be the amount of water that's just coming out of the Yellowstone River, itself. So those people who want to turn these American rivers back to what they were before we managed them and controlled them and built the Pick-Sloan Program, I would ask you all, Mr. Speaker, to think: If 150,000 cubic feet per second is flowing out of the Yellowstone River—and it is—and 150,000 cubic feet per second is flowing past out of Gavins Point and past down through Sioux City, if the Pick-Sloan Program had not been built, if we had no dams in the Missouri River, if all the tributaries of the Missouri River were completely dry except for the Yellowstone River, that little tributary up there in Montana, we'd still have the same amount of water there right now. It wouldn't last as long, but it would be going as big as it is today. That's how much this helps us. We know those other tributaries are flowing a lot of water. There's a massive amount. It's more than ever before. It's 54 million acre-feet for this year. It was a 500-year event in 1993. This is a 550-year event today.

So, Mr. Speaker, I have called upon the President to declare this entire area a national disaster area. I know that Governor Branstad has made that request. I know that the Governors in some of the States, such as Nebraska and Montana, have made that request. I believe that that request has been granted in a couple of cases, not yet for Iowa. I know that Governor Branstad has made this request for Iowa. And I thank the entire Iowa congressional delegation for joining with me in a letter to President Obama in making the request that he declare this a national disaster.

We have had a long time to be working with this water. A lot of sandbags have been filled. Some more will be filled. Many have to be emptied when this water goes down. And what we are going to need the most is the prayers of all the American people and perseverance.

So, Mr. Speaker, I appreciate your attention to this matter. I appreciate the Iowa delegation for standing with me and the delegations up and down the river who have stood together. We need to stand with the people whose property is under water and help them get through this. They are stoic people. They are determined people. They are not going to be standing there, complaining. They are going to do all they can to help themselves. And to honor their efforts, and others are determined to do all we can to help them.

So that is the update on the 2011 flood, Mr. Speaker. I appreciate your attention.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent, leave of absence was granted to:

Mr. Bucy (at the request of Mr. Carson) for today on account of attending the funeral of his aunt, Nettie Butterworth, in Birmingham, Alabama.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. KING of Iowa. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House do now adjourn. The motion was agreed to; accordingly (at 3 o'clock and 16 minutes p.m.), under its previous order, the House adjourned until Tuesday, June 28, 2011, at 10 a.m.

EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATIONS, ETC.

Under clause 2 of rule XIV, executive communications were taken from the Speaker's table and referred as follows:

2193. A letter from the Director, Office of Personnel Management, transmitting the Office's final rule — Prevailing Rate Systems: Redding. They are going to be done, and Southwestern Wisconsin Appropriated Fund Federal Wage System Wage Areas (RIN: 3206-
2201. A letter from the Attorney Advisor, Department of Homeland Security, transmitting the Department’s final rule — Safety Zone; Big Rock Blue Marlin Air Show; Bogue Sound, North Carolina [Docket No.: USCG-2011-0285] (RIN: 1625-AA00) received June 7, 2011, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.

2202. A letter from the Attorney Advisor, Department of Homeland Security, transmitting the Department’s final rule — Safety Zone; Second Annual Space Coast Super Boat Grand Prix, Atlantic Ocean, Cocoa Beach, FL [Docket No.: USCG-2011-0113] (RIN: 1625-AA00) received June 7, 2011, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.

2203. A letter from the Attorney Advisor, Department of Homeland Security, transmitting the Department’s final rule — Special Local Regulations; Allegheny River, Pittsburgh, PA [Docket No.: USCG-2011-0165] (RIN: 1625-AA08) received June 7, 2011, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.

2204. A letter from the Attorney Advisor, Department of Homeland Security, transmitting the Department’s final rule — Safety Zone; Fleet Week Maritime Festival, Pier 66, Red River [Docket No.: USC-2011-0260] (RIN: 1625-AAA7) received June 7, 2011, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.

2205. A letter from the Attorney Advisor, Department of Homeland Security, transmitting the Department’s final rule — Safety Zone; Key Largo, Biscayne Bay, FL [Docket No.: USCG-2011-0262] (RIN: 1625-AA00) received June 7, 2011, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.

2206. A letter from the Attorney Advisor, Department of Homeland Security, transmitting the Department’s final rule — Safety Zone; Repair of High Voltage Transmission Lines to Logan International Airport, Revere, MA [Docket No.: USCG-2011-0077] (RIN: 1625-AA00) received June 7, 2011, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.

2207. A letter from the Attorney Advisor, Department of Homeland Security, transmitting the Department’s final rule — Safety Zone; Second Annual Space Coast Super Boat Grand Prix, Miami Beach, FL [Docket No.: USCG-2011-0166] (RIN: 1625-AA00) received June 7, 2011, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.

2208. A letter from the Attorney Advisor, Department of Homeland Security, transmitting the Department’s final rule — Safety Zone; Catalina Island Club, Port Clinton, OH [Docket No.: USC-2011-0216] (RIN: 1625-AA00) received June 7, 2011, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.

2209. A letter from the Attorney Advisor, Department of Homeland Security, transmitting the Department’s final rule — Necessary Expenses [Docket No.: USC-2010-0062] (RIN: 1625-AA00) received June 7, 2011, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.

2210. A letter from the Attorney Advisor, Department of Homeland Security, transmitting the Department’s final rule — Safety Zone; Offshore Oil—Sunrise Isles Beach, FL [Docket No.: USC-2011-0034] (RIN: 1625-AA00) received June 7, 2011, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.
transmitting the Service’s final rule — Deferred of Dates Related to the 2011 Branded Prescription Drug Fee (Notice 2011–46) recieved June 6, 2011, pursuant to 5 U.S.C.
801(a)(1)(A); to the Committee on Ways and Means.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES ON PUBLIC BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS

Under clause 2 of rule XIII, reports of committees were delivered to the Clerk for printing and reference to the proper calendar, as follows:

Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN: Committee on Appropriations. H.R. 2554. A bill making appropriations for energy and water development and related agencies for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2012, and for other purposes (Rept. 112–118). Referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union.

Mr. SMITH of Texas: Committee on the Judiciary. First Semiannual Report on the Activities of the Committee on the Judiciary for the 112th Congress (Rept. 112–119). Refer-ed to the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union.

Mr. MILLER of Florida: Committee on Vets-ers’ Affairs. First Semiannual Report on the Activities of the Committee on Veterans’ Af-airs for the 112th Congress (Rept. 112–120).
Referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union.

Mr. BACHUS: Committee on Financial Services. First Semiannual Report on the Activities of the Committee on Financial Services for the 112th Congress (Rept. 112–121).
Referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union.

Mr. LUCAS: Committee on Agriculture. First Semiannual Report on the Activities of the Committee on Agriculture for the 112th Congress (Rept. 112–122). Referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union.

Mr. McKIEON: Committee on Armed Services. First Semiannual Report on the Activities of the Committee on Armed Services for the 112th Congress (Rept. 112–123). Referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union.

Mr. MCCAUL: Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure. First Semiannual Summary on the Activities of the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure for the 112th Congress (Rept. 112–124). Referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union.

PUBLIC BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS

Under clause 2 of rule XII, public bills and resolutions of the following titles were introduced and severally referred, as follows:

By Mr. LAMBDORN (for himself, Mr. FRANKS of Arizona, Mr. BARTLETT, Mr. ROONEY, and Mr. KLINKE):
H.R. 2349. A bill to require the Director of National Intelligence to submit a report on the foreign development of electromagnetic pulse weapons; to the Committee on Intelligence (Permanent Select). To the Recluse.

H.R. 2349. A bill to amend title 38, United States Code, to direct the Secretary of Vets-ers Affairs to annually assess the skills of certain employees and managers of the Vets-ers Benefits Administration, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Veterans’ Affairs.

By Mr. DEFAZIO (for himself, Ms. SLAUGHTER, Mr. RYAN of Ohio, and Mr. CARSON of Indiana):
H.R. 2350. A bill to secure public investments in transportation infrastructure; to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure, and in addition to the Committee on the Judiciary to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. HASTINGS of Washington:
H.R. 2351. A bill to direct the Secretary of the Interior to refrain from placing fish in certain lakes in the North Cascades National Park, Ross Lake National Recreation Area, and Lake Chelan National Recreation Area; to the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union.

By Mr. HASTINGS of Washington:
H.R. 2352. A bill to authorize the Secretary of the Interior to designate the boundary of the Stephen Mather Wilderness and the North Cascades National Park in order to allow the rebuilding of a road outside of the floodplain while ensuring that there is no net loss of acreage to the Park or the Wilderness, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Natural Resources.

By Mr. LARSON of Connecticut (for himself, Mr. RECHTERT, Ms. BALDWIN, and Mr. LATHAM):
H.R. 2353. A bill to extend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to extend and increase the exclusion for benefits provided to volunteer firefighters and emergency medical responders; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mrs. HARTZTLER (for herself, Mr. LUTCKEMEYER, Mr. RYAN of Ohio, Mr. KISSELL, Mr. LATTA, Mr. BACHUS, Mr. FORMICA, Mrs. MCQUEEN, Mr. BURTON of Indiana, Mr. DENHAM, Mr. ALEXANDER, Mr. BOUNTANY, Mr. DAVIS of Kentucky, Mr. STUTZMAN, Mr. GOINS of Indiana, Mr. ROGERS of Alabama, Mr. BROOKS, Mr. HANNA, Mr. TERRY, Mr. BILARAY, Mr. FLAKE, Mr. FOR of Texas, Mr. POMPRO, Mr. FLORIN, Mr. HENSARLING, Mr. NICOLAUER, Mr. CARTER, Mr. THORNBERRY, Mr. McCaUL, Mr. FARENTHOLD, Mr. ELLMERS, Mr. NUNNELEE, Mr. GRANDE, Mr. MACK, Mr. MANZELLO, Mr. KINGSTON, Mr. JORDAN, and Mr. AKIN):
H.R. 2355. A bill to amend title 38, United States Code, to exclude individuals who have been convicted of committing certain sex offenses from receiving certain burial-related benefits which are otherwise available to certain veterans, members of the Armed Forces, and related individuals, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Armed Services in addition to the Committee on Armed Services, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. PASCHELL, (for himself, Mr. KING of New York, Mr. THOMPSON of Mississippi, Mr. DANIEL, E. LUNGREN of California, Mr. CLARKE of New York, Mr. ROGERS of Alabama, Ms. RICHARDSON, Mr. CLARKIE of Michigan, Ms. MILLER of Michigan, and Mr. MIRAN):
H.R. 2356. A bill to enhance homeland secu-ry by preventing persons, protect against, respond to, and recover from an attack with a weapon of mass destruction, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Homeland Security, and in addition to the Committees on Energy and Commerce, Transportation and Infrastructure, Foreign Affairs, Armed Services, and Select Intelligence, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the Jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. GUIITA (for himself and Mr. CARNAHAN):
H.R. 2357. A bill to amend section 139 of title 49, United States Code, to increase the effectiveness of Federal oversight of motor carriers, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.

By Mr. KILDEE (for himself, Mr. PAYNE, Mr. ELLISON, Mr. SABLAN, Mr. KISSELL, Mr. STECHER, Ms. URIETA, Mr. PIERLUSI, Ms. BROWN of Florida, and Mr. POLIS): H.R. 2358. A bill to prepare disconnected youth for a competitive future; to the Committee on Education and the Workforce.

By Ms. SCHAKOWSKY (for herself, Mr. MACK, Mr. GURRIER, Mr. CORNISH, Ms. WOOLEY, Mr. BLUMINAUER, Ms. CHU, Mr. GUTIERREZ, Ms. LEE of California, Mr. FRANK of Massachusetts, and Mr. WASSERMAN SCHULTZ):
H.R. 2359. A bill to amend title VI of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act to ensure the safe use of cosmetics, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Energy and Commerce, and in addition to the Committee on Education and the Workforce, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. LANDRY:
H.R. 2360. A bill to amend the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act to extend the Constitution, laws, and jurisdiction of the United States to installations and devices placed on the seabed Outer Continental Shelf for the production and support of production of energy from sources other than oil and gas, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Natural Resources.

By Mr. COHEN (for himself, Mr. JACKson of Illinois, Mr. DECMEROTT, Mr. MILLS, and Ms. LEE of California):
H.R. 2361. A bill to amend the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act by explicitly baring debt collectors from bringing legal action on a debt in which the statute of limitations has expired against any consumer, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Financial Services.

By Mr. COLE:
H.R. 2362. A bill to facilitate economic development by Indian tribes and encourage inv-vestment by Turkish enterprises; to the Committee on Natural Resources.

By Mr. PRICE of Georgia:
H.R. 2363. A bill to establish performance-based regulatory programs that limit limitations on recovery in health care lawsuits based on compliance with best practice guidelines, and to provide grants to States for administrative health care tribunals; to the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

By Mrs. MALONEY (for herself, Mr. POLIS, Mr. TOWNS, Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California, Mr. STARK, Mr. FRANK of Massachusetts, Ms. NORT-TON, Mrs. DAVIS of California, Mr. CONNOLLY of Virginia, Mr. ISRAEL, Ms. WILSON of Colorado, Mr. WILVER, Mr. SHEIDAM, Mrs. CAPPs, Mr. SERRANO, Mr. NADLER, Mr. ENGL, Ms. MOORE, Ms. LEE of California, Ms. CHU, and Mr. JACOBSON of Illinois):
H.R. 2364. A bill to amend the Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993 and title 5, United States Code, to permit leave to care for a do-cas tic partner, child in law, adult child, sibing, grandchild, or grandparent who has a serious health condition, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Education and the Workforce, and in addition to the Committees on House Administration, and Oversight and Government Reform, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. HINOJOSA (for himself, Mr. GONZALEZ, Mr. LUJAN, Mr. GRIJALVA, Mr. REYES, Mr. SIERRAS, Mr. GUTIERREZ, Mr. PEARLSTINE, Mr. GENE GREEN of Texas, Mr. BUCSHON of West Virginia, Mr. BEYER, Mr. RODRIGUEZ of Texas, Ms. JACKSON LEE of Texas, and Mr. STAHR):

H.R. 2356. A bill to provide for additional Federal district judgeships; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

By Mr. BARTON of Texas (for himself, Mr. CAMPBELL, Ms. BERKLEY, Mr. BURTON, Mr. COHEN, Ms. LINDA T. SANCHEZ of California, Mr. PERLMUTTER, Mr. KING of New York, Mr. CONTRES, Mr. FRANK of Massachusetts, Ms. FITZGERALD, and Mr. FLEMING):

H.R. 2356. A bill to establish a program for State licensing of Internet poker, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Commerce, and in addition to the Committees on Financial Services, and the Judiciary, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. PEARCE:

H.R. 2357. A bill to provide for the safe disposal of Federal Government-owned transuranic waste for the benefit of all Americans; to the Committee on Energy and Commerce, and in addition to the Committee on Armed Services, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. ELLISON (for himself, Ms. WOOLSEY, Ms. LEE of California, Ms. CLARKE of New York, Mr. DAVIS of Illinois, Mr. CARSON of Indiana, and Mr. JACKSON of Illinois):

H.R. 2358. A bill to direct the Secretary of Labor to make grants to States, units of general local government, and Indian tribes for the purpose of creating employment opportunities for unemployed and underemployed residents in distressed communities; to the Committee on Education and the Workforce.

By Mr. ALTMIERE (for himself and Mr. ROONEY):

H.R. 2359. A bill to amend title 36, United States Code, to provide for an additional power plant, or a logo, legible under Federal charter; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

By Mr. DARRELL:

H.R. 2360. A bill to provide funds to the Army Corps of Engineers to hire veterans and members of the Armed Forces to assist the Corps with curation and historic preservation activities, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.

By Mr. BUCHSON (for himself, Mr. MCKINLEY, Mr. ISSA, Mr. GOSAR, Mr. FRANKS of Arizona, Mr. GIBBS, Mrs. BLACKBURN, and Mr. PAUL):

H.R. 2361. A bill to amend title 5, United States Code, so that scientific studies used in a rule making be published, and for other purposes; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

By Ms. BUEKEL (for herself, Mr. KINZINGER of Illinois, Mr. HULTOREN, Mr. ISSA, and Mr. CHABOT):

H.R. 2362. A bill to reduce the amount otherwise available for the payment of salaries and expenses of the Budget Committee and the Office of the Majority Leader of a House of Congress, if that House does not adopt a concurrent resolution on the budget for fiscal year 2011 or 2012; to the Committee on House Administration.

By Mr. JACOB:

H.R. 2363. A bill to establish a regulatory system and research program for sustainable offshore aquaculture in the United States exclusive economic zone, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Natural Resources.

By Mr. CAPUANO:

H.R. 2374. A bill to require automobile dealers to disclose to consumers the presence of "unrepaired known defects" on new automobiles, and to require manufacturers to provide the consumer with the option to enable and disable such devices on future automobiles; to the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

By Mr. COFFMAN of Colorado:

H.R. 2375. A bill to direct the Secretary of the Interior to issue, in a timely manner, oil and gas leases located on Federal land, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Natural Resources.

By Mr. DUGETTE (for herself and Mr. DENT):

H.R. 2376. A bill to amend the Public Health Service Act to provide for human stem cell research, including human embryonic stem cell research, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

By Mr. DONNELLY of Indiana (for himself, Mr. DAVIS of Kentucky, Mr. COURTNEY, Mr. VISCOSO, Ms. INDUSTRY & INNOVATION, Mr. BOREN):

H.R. 2377. A bill to amend title 38, United States Code, to provide for expedited procedures for the consideration of certain veterans claims, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Veterans Affairs.

By Mr. GENE GREEN of Texas (for himself, Mr. OLSON, and Ms. JACKSON LEE of Texas):

H.R. 2378. A bill to establish the Buffalo Bayou National Heritage Area in the State of Texas, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Natural Resources.

By Mr. GRIJALVA (for himself, Mr. HINOJOSA, and Mr. FILNER):

H.R. 2379. A bill to improve the literacy and English skills of limited English proficient individuals, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Education and the Workforce.

By Mr. GRIJALVA (for himself, Mr. KILDREE, Mr. LUJAN, and Mr. PASTOR of Arizona):

H.R. 2380. A bill to prescribe procedures for effective consultation and coordination by Federal agencies with federally recognized Indian tribes to conduct activities that impact tribal lands and interests to ensure that meaningful tribal input is an integral part of the Federal decision-making process; to the Committee on Natural Resources.

By Mr. HASTINGS of Florida (for himself, Mr. JOHNSON of Illinois, Mr. BLUENENAUER, and Mr. BOSWELL):

H.R. 2381. A bill to amend title 23, United States Code, to encourage and facilitate efforts by States and other transportation right-of-way managers to adopt integrated vegetation management practices, including enhancing plantings of native forbs and grasses that provide habitat for pollinators, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.

By Ms. JENKINS:

H.R. 2382. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to provide for the logical flow of return information between partnerships, corporations, trusts, estates, and individuals; to enable each party to submit timely, accurate returns and reduce the need for extended and amended returns, to provide for extended and amended returns, and to conform the automatic corporate extension period to longstanding regulatory rule; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. JOHNSON of Ohio:

H.R. 2383. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to allow seniors a one-time, tax-free retirement plan distribution to pay for essential repair to an annuity, for medical expenses, or for expenses attributable to a Federally declared disaster; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. MARKEY (for himself, Ms. CASTOR of Florida, and Mr. CONNOLLY of Virginia):

H.R. 2384. A bill to amend the Oil Pollution Act of 1990 to facilitate the ability of persons affected by oil spills to seek judicial redress; to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.

By Mr. MCDERMOTT (for himself, Mr. AUSTIN, Mr. BILIRAY, Mr. FILNER, Ms. HIRONO, and Mr. SABLAN):

H.R. 2385. A bill to provide funds to the Secretary of Veterans Affairs to conduct cost-benefit analyses of certain contracts; to the Committee on Veterans Affairs.

By Mr. GARY G. MILLER of California (for himself, Mr. CARDOZA, Mr. BILIRAY, Mr. THOMPSON of California, Mr. ROHRABACHER, Mr. CALVERT, and Mr. BUXBAUM of California):

H.R. 2386. A bill to amend the amendment title 23, United States Code, to modify the surface transportation project delivery pilot program to carry out a demonstration program using State environmental laws, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.

By Ms. NORTON:

H.R. 2387. A bill to amend title 40, United States Code, to eliminate the leasing authority of the Secretary of the Army to enter into building leasing agreements; to the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform.

By Mr. PAULSKEN (for himself and Mr. KIND):

H.R. 2389. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to provide a renewable electricity integration credit; to the Committee on Ways and Means, and in addition to the Committee on Energy and Commerce, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Ms. PEDTIE:

H.R. 2390. A bill to authorize the Secretary of Agriculture to enter into building leases agreements; to the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform.

By Mr. PIERLUISI (for himself, Mr. GRIMM, Mr. SCHIFF, and Ms. CASTOR):

H.R. 2391. A bill to require each Federal agency to submit an annual report of grant solicitations expected to be issued in the next fiscal year by the Office of Management and Budget for publication on a website, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform.

By Ms. RANGEL (for herself and Mr. POLIS):
H.R. 2394. A bill to amend the Internal Revenue Code to extend qualified school construction bonds and qualified zone academy bonds, to treat qualified zone academy bonds as specified private activity bonds, and to provide for the private business contribution requirement for qualified zone academy bonds; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. KILDEE (for himself, Mr. FALKOMARYA, Mrs. CHRISTENSEN, Ms. RICHARDSON, Ms. NOETEN, Ms. CHU, Mr. WU, Mr. KUCINICH, Ms. REED, Mr. FREELIUS, Mr. HINCHERY, Mr. TOWNS, Ms. WILSON of Florida, Mr. LEWIS of Georgia, Mr. CONyers, Ms. BROWN of Florida, Mr. BOW-WEN, Mr. TREY ELLISON, Mr. BISHOP of Georgia, Mr. HIRONO, Mr. GRIJALVA, Mr. PASTOR of Arizona, Mr. BUTTERFIELD, Ms. FUDGON, Mr. POLIS, Ms. CHUCEK of New York, and Mr. KILDEE):

H.R. 2395. A bill to amend the Workforce Investment Act of 1998 to permit the establishment of Jobs Corps centers in territories of the United States; to the Committee on Education and the Workforce.

By Mr. SCHILLING (for himself, Mr. WU, Ms. ENID BRINNICK JOHNSON of Texas, and Mr. CLARKE of Michigan):

H.R. 2396. A bill to authorize the Administration of the Environmental Protection Agency to award grants for electronic device recycling research, development, and demonstration projects, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Science, Space, and Technology.

By Mr. SHERMAN (for himself, Mr. SCHILLING, Mr. LEWIS of Georgia, Mr. CONyers, Ms. BROWN of Florida, Mr. BOW-WEN, Mr. TREY ELLISON, Mr. BISHOP of Georgia, Mr. HIRONO, Mr. GRIJALVA, Mr. PASTOR of Arizona, Mr. BUTTERFIELD, Ms. FUDGON, Mr. POLIS, Ms. CHUCEK of New York, and Mr. KILDEE):

H.R. 2397. A bill to amend chapters 83 and 84 of title 5, United States Code, to set the age at which Members of Congress are eligible for an annuity to the same age as the retirement age under the Social Security Act; to the Committee on House Administration, and in addition to the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. SCOTT of Virginia (for himself and Mr. CONVERS):

H.R. 2398. A bill to amend chapter 44 of title 18, United States Code, to set the age at which Members of Congress are eligible for an annuity to the same age as the retirement age under the Social Security Act; to the Committee on House Administration, and in addition to the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

H.R. 2400. A bill to prevent States from prohibiting male circumcision; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

By Mr. SHERMAN (for himself, Mr. ELLISON, Mr. WAXMAN, Mr. NADLER, Mr. BERMAN, Mr. ENGEL, Mr. LEVIN, Mr. Green of Connecticut, Mr. ISRAEL, and Mr. ACKERMAN):

H.R. 2401. A bill to require analyses of the cumulative and incremental impacts of certain rules and actions of the Environmental Protection Agency, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

By Mr. WEBSTER:

H.R. 2402. A bill to specify the priority of the obligations of the United States Government if the debt ceiling is reached; to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. WELCH (for himself and Mr. GIBSON):

H.R. 2403. A bill to authorize the Secretary of Defense to provide assistance to State National Guards to provide counseling and reintegration services for reserve components of the Armed Forces ordered to active duty in support of a contingency operation, members returning from such active duty, veterans of the Armed Forces, and their families; to the Committee on Armed Services.

By Mr. CLAY (for himself, Mr. CARNAHAN, Mr. AKIN, and Mr. CONTREROS):

H.J. Res. 70. A joint resolution to grant the consent of Congress to an amendment to the compact between the States of Missouri and Illinois providing for the Bi-State Development Agency may mature in not to exceed 40 years; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

By Mr. STEARKE of Michigan (for himself, Mr. CICILLINE, Mr. GUTIERREZ, Mr. NEAL, Mr. WELCH, Ms. LEY of California, and Mr. HONDA):

H. Res. 331. A resolution expressing the sense of the House of Representatives that the President should immediately reassess the United States mission in Afghanistan and redirect funding to strengthen homeland security, to create jobs, and to reduce the Federal deficit and debt; to the Committee on Appropriations, in addition to the Committee on Foreign Affairs, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. FILNER (for himself, Mr. TOWNS, Mr. POE of Texas, and Mr. RODRIGUEZ):

H. Res. 332. A resolution calling for an impartial and independent investigation into the massacre of the Iranian Opposition Members in Camp Ashraf, Iraq; to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

By Mr. HONDA (for himself, Ms. MCCOLLUM, Mr. COHEN, Mr. PALLONE of New Jersey, Mr. SHAFRAN, Mr. ISRAEL, Mr. AL GREEK of Texas, Mr. BLAYRE, Mr. HINCHERY, Mr. NADLER, Mr. CICILLINE, Mr. YOUNG of Florida, Mr. MOURAN, Mr. PLATTS, and Mrs. DAVIS of California):

H. Res. 333. A resolution welcoming and commending the Government of Japan for extending an apology to all United States former prisoners of war from the Pacific War and establishing in 2010 a visitation program to Japan for surviving veterans, family members, and descendants; to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

By Ms. LEE of California (for herself, Mr. HONDA, Mrs. CHRISTENSEN, Ms. BALDWIN, Mr. ROYBAL-ALLARD, and Mr. JACKSON of Illinois):

H. Res. 334. A resolution supporting the goals and ideals of National Hispanic Heritage Day; to the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

By Mrs. MCDONALD of New York:

H. Res. 335. A resolution recognizing the need for safe patient handling and movement; to the Committee on Education and the Workforce, and in addition to the Committee on Energy and Commerce, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. NEUGEBAUER:

H. Res. 336. A resolution expressing support for designation of September 2011 as ‘‘National Prostate Cancer Awareness Month’’; to the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

CONSTITUTIONAL AUTHORITY STATEMENT

Pursuant to clause 7 of rule XII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the following statements are submitted regarding the specific powers granted to Congress in the Constitution to enact the accompanying bill or joint resolution.

By Mr. LAMBORN:

H.R. 2398. Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

The constitutional authority on which this bill rests is the power of Congress to provide for the common Defense and general Welfare of he United States, as enumerated in Article I, Section 8, Clause 1 of the United States Constitution.

By Mr. RUNYAN:

H.R. 2399. Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Article I, Section 8, and Article IV, Section 3 of the Constitution of the United States.

By Mr. HASTINGS of Washington:

H.R. 2400. Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Articles I–XIV

By Mr. HASTINGS of Washington:

H.R. 2401. Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Article I, Section 8 and Article IV, Section 3 of the Constitution of the United States.

By Mr. LARSON of Connecticut:

H.R. 2402. Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Article I, Section 8, and Article IV, Section 3 of the Constitution of the United States.

By Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN:

H.R. 2403. Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

The principal constitutional authority for this legislation is clause 7 of section 9 of article I of the Constitution of the United States (the appropriation power), which states: ‘‘No Money shall be drawn from the Treasury, but in Consequence of Appropriations made by Law’’; in addition, clause 1 of section 8 of article I of the Constitution (the spending power) provides: ‘‘The Congress shall have Power . . . to pay the Debts and provide for the common Defence and general Welfare of the United States . . . .’’ Together, these specific constitutional provisions establish the congressional power to authorize an appropriation for the purpose, amount, and period of availability, and to set forth terms and conditions governing their use.

By Mrs. HARTZLER:

H.R. 2355.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

The constitutional authority on which this Act rests is the power of Congress to make rules respecting the government and regulation of the land and naval forces, as enumerated in Article I, section 8, clause 14 of the United States Constitution.

By Mr. PASCRELL:
H.R. 2356.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

This bill is enacted pursuant to Article I, Section 8, Clause 1 of the Constitution of the United States and Article I, Section 8, Clause 16 of the Constitution of the United States.

By Mr. GUITTEN:
H.R. 2357.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Article I Section 8 of the United States Constitution, specifically Clause 3.

By Mr. KILDEE:
H.R. 2358.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

This bill is enacted pursuant to Article I, Section 8, Clause 1, the Spending Clause.

By Ms. SCHAKOWSKY:
H.R. 2359.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

The Constitutional authority of Congress to enact this legislation is provided by Article I, Section 8 of the United States Constitution (Clause 3), which grants Congress the power "to regulate Commerce with foreign Nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian Tribes."

By Mr. LANDRY:
H.R. 2360.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

This bill is enacted pursuant to the power granted to Congress under Article I, Section 8, Clause 3 of the United States Constitution.

By Mr. COHEN:
H.R. 2361.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Article I, section 8, clause 3 (relating to the power to regulate foreign and interstate commerce).

By Mr. COLE:
H.R. 2362.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

This bill is enacted pursuant to Article I, Section 8 which allows Congress to regulate trade amongst foreign Nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian Tribes.

This bill is enacted pursuant to treaties lawfully entered into and ratified pursuant to the power granted to Congress under Article II, Section 2.

By Mr. PRICE of Georgia:
H.R. 2363.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Clause 1, Clause 9, and Clause 18 of Section 8 of Article I.

By Mrs. MALONEY:
H.R. 2364.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Article I, Section 8 and Article III, Section 1 of the United States Constitution.

By Mr. BARTON of Texas:
H.R. 2366.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

This bill is enacted pursuant to the power granted to Congress under Article I, Section 8, Clause 3 of the United States Constitution.

By Mr. PEARCE:
H.R. 2367.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Article IV, Section 3, Clause 2.

By Mr. ELLISON:
H.R. 2368.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Article I, Section 8.

By Mr. ALTMIERE:
H.R. 2369.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Article I, Section 8, Clause 18.

The Congress shall have Power to make all Laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into Execution the foregoing Powers, and all other Powers vested by the Constitution in the Government of the United States, or in any Department or Officer thereof.

By Mr. BARROW:
H.R. 2370.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Article I, Section 8, Clause 18; Article IV, Section 3, Clause 2.

By Ms. BUERKLE:
H.R. 2372.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Clause 7 of Section 9 of Article I states, "No Money shall be drawn from the Treasury but in Consequence of Appropriations made by Law; and a regular Statement and Account of the Receipts and Expenditures of all public Money shall be published from time to time."

and Clause 18 of Section 8 of Article I states, "The Congress shall have Power . . . To make all Laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into Execution the foregoing Powers, and all other Powers vested by the Constitution in the Government of the United States, or in any Department or Officer thereof."

By Mrs. CAPPS:
H.R. 2373.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Section 8 of Article I of the Constitution.

By Mr. CAPUANO:
H.R. 2374.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

The Congress enacts this bill pursuant to Article I, Section 8, Clause 3, and Article I, Section 8, Clause 1, of the United States Constitution.

By Mr. COFFMAN of Colorado:
H.R. 2375.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

The power of Congress to make law regarding the needful rules and regulations respecting the property of the United States, as enumerated in Article IV, Section 3, Clause 2 of the United States Constitution.

By Ms. DeGETTE:
H.R. 2376.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

The power of Congress to make law regarding the needful rules and regulations respecting the property of the United States, as enumerated in Article IV, Section 3, Clause 2 of the United States Constitution.

By Mr. DONELLY of Indiana:
H.R. 2377.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Article I, Section 8, Clauses 1, 12, 13, and 14 of the U.S. Constitution.

By Mr. GENE GREEK of Texas:
H.R. 2378.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Article I, §§ 8.

By Mr. GRIJALVA:
H.R. 2379.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

U.S. Const. art. I, §§1 and 8.

By Mr. GRIJALVA:
H.R. 2380.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Article I, Section 8 of the United States Constitution, specifically Clause 1 (relating to the power of Congress to provide for the general welfare of the United States), Clause 3 (relating to the power to regulate commerce among the several states and with the Indian Tribes), and Clause 18 (relating to the power to make all laws necessary and proper for carrying out the powers vested in Congress).

By Mr. HASTINGS of Florida:
H.R. 2381.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Article I, section 8, clause 3.

By Ms. JENKINS:
H.R. 2382.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Clause 1 of Section 8 of Article I of the United States Constitution and Amendment XVI of the United States Constitution.

By Mr. JOHNSTON of Ohio:
H.R. 2383.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Clauses 12, 13, 14, and 18 of Section 8 of Article I of the United States Constitution.

By Mr. JOHNSTON of Ohio:
H.R. 2384.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Clauses 12, 13, 14, and 18 of Section 8 of Article I of the United States Constitution.

By Mr. JONES:
H.R. 2385.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Article I, Section 8 of the U.S. Constitution which states that "Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes", and the 16th Amendment to the Constitution which states that "Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on income".

By Mr. MARKEY:
H.R. 2386.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Article I, Section 8.

By Mr. MCDERMOTT:
H.R. 2387.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Clause 3 of Section 8 of Article I of the United States Constitution.

By Mr. MILLER of Florida:
H.R. 2388.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Clause 3 of Section 8 of Article I of the United States Constitution.

By Mr. MILLER of California:
H.R. 2389.
Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Clause 3 of Section 8 of Article I of the United States Constitution.
This bill is enacted pursuant to the power granted to Congress under Article I, Section 8, Clause 3 of the United States Constitution.

By Mr. NORTON:

H.R. 2391.

Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Article I, Section 8, Clause 3 ( Necessary and Proper Clause)

By Mr. PAULSEN:

H.R. 2391.

Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Article I, Section 8, Clause 18 of the Constitution.

By Mr. RANGEL:

H.R. 2394.

Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

By Mr. SCOTT of Virginia:

H.R. 2398.

Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

By Mr. SHERMAN:

H.R. 2400.
DELETIONS OF SPONSORS FROM PUBLIC BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS

Under clause 7 of rule XII, sponsors were deleted from public bills and resolutions as follows:
H.J. Res. 69: Mr. Holden.

AMENDMENTS

Under clause 8 of rule XVIII, proposed amendments were submitted as follows:

H.R. 2219

OFFERED BY: MR. CLARKE OF MICHIGAN

OFFERED BY: MR. COHEN

OFFERED BY: MR. HOLT

OFFERED BY: MR. HOLT
HUNGARY CELEBRATING FREEDOM EVENTS AND THE CENTENNIAL ANNIVERSARY OF PRESIDENT RONALD REAGAN

HON. STEVEN C. LATOURETTE
OF OHIO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. LATOURETTE. Mr. Speaker, I am congratulating Hungary on the series of events which pay tribute to the lasting idea of freedom and the principles of liberty. Hungry will erect a statue in commemoration of the centennial anniversary of President Ronald Reagan’s birth. Hungary will honor President Reagan for his contribution toward ending the Cold War and promoting democracy and liberty in Central Europe. In addition, Hungary is hosting the Hungarian Freedom Dinner and establishing the Hungarian Freedom Award.

I also note that Hungary formally and symbolically overcame the legacy of Communism by having recently passed a new Constitution, replacing the temporary Constitution rooted in the Soviet era, to solidify the rule of law.

In addition, I recognize Hungary as an important strategic partner of the U.S. in Europe, and commend the country for reaffirming its commitment to transatlantic values, the principles of constitutionalism, and republican government; and contributing to the stability of the region.

Hungary is a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and is an ally of the U.S. Hungary has been an important ally of the U.S. in Iraq and Afghanistan, and recently gave invaluable assistance in freeing the two American journalists captured in Libya.

Historically, Hungarians have fought for the ideals of freedom, popular sovereignty, the rule of law, and the cause of liberty at home and abroad, most notably in 1848, 1956 and 1989. Michael Kovats de Fabriczy fought for, and died defending America’s independence during the American Revolution in Charleston, South Carolina. In the Revolution and Freedom fight of 1956, Hungarians rose up against communist rule first within the eastern bloc countries. In 1989, Hungary was the first country to open its border and allowed refugees from East Germany to cross. Hungary became the first among the former Soviet bloc countries to transition to a Western-style parliamentary democracy.

In transatlantic relations, between 1995 and 2004, Hungary played a critical role in implementing the Dayton Peace Accords in the Balkans by allowing its airbase at TASZAR to be used by coalition forces transiting the region. Between April 2003 and December 2004, Hungary helped stabilize Iraq by deploying a 300-strong battalion to Iraq as part of the Multi-National Force, and in 2003 allowed the TASZAR airbase to be used for training the Free Iraqi Forces.

Since 2006, Hungary has led a Provincial Reconstruction Team in Afghanistan and has also deployed an Operational Mentoring and Liaison Team, which operates in partnership with the Ohio National Guard and other United States military personnel in Afghanistan.

More recently, Hungary’s military has taken over command of a joint battalion on the Balkans in support of NATO missions, and Hungary’s PAPA Airbase is the home base of the Strategic Airlift Consortium’s C–17 operations for NATO missions.

The United States and Hungary share common values of democracy, rule of law, separation of powers, cultural diversity, religious tolerance, and social mobility; and the United States is home to approximately 1.5 million Hungarian-Americans.

I ask my colleagues to join me in congratulating Hungary on the commemorative events to honor the legacy of Ronald Reagan in the region; recognizing Hungary as an important strategic partner of the United States in Europe; and commending Hungary for reaffirming its commitment to transatlantic values, the principles of constitutionalism, and democracy; and contributing to the stability of the region.

We wish Hungary a prosperous future.

HONORING THE BOROUGH OF ELVERSON, CHESTER COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA ON ITS 100TH ANNIVERSARY

HON. JIM GERLACH OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. GERLACH. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate the Borough of Elverson, Chester County, Pennsylvania on its 100th anniversary.

Elverson celebrates March 14, 1911 as the day it was incorporated as a borough. It was on that day that the arguments for and against incorporation were presented to Judge Hemphill at the Chester County Courthouse. The arguments in favor of incorporation were principally: (1) the need by the residents to govern themselves and to use their own taxes for improvements such as a public water supply and street lighting; (2) the need for their own polling place; and (3) the need for an independent school system. The main arguments against incorporation were: (1) the town had not grown sufficiently, and (2) the new responsibilities would create an undue tax burden.

In weighing these issues, Judge Hemphill felt that the democratic process would help ensure that the new responsibilities would not necessarily result in taxes that were either burdensome or ruinous and stated: “...if men of good judgment, careful, economical, and cautious, were placed in charge of the Borough’s business and development such would not necessarily be the result. The outcome, must of necessity, be dependent upon the action of the electors themselves, as in the case in every elective municipality.”

Over the years, the citizens of Elverson have seen the wisdom of Judge Hemphill’s words borne out, as their Borough has grown from meeting the needs of pre-World War I America to the present day.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that my colleagues join me today in congratulating the Borough of Elverson and its storied history on the occasion of its 100th anniversary and to extend best wishes to all its citizens—past, present and future.

HONORING PASTOR WILLIE JACKSON ON HIS TWENTY FIVE YEARS OF MINISTRY

HON. MIKE PENCE OF INDIANA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. PENCE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the steadfast and sacrificial service of Pastor Willie James Jackson, Sr., of Union Missionary Baptist Church in Muncie, Indiana. Pastor Jackson has been a leader not only in his church, but in his community, for twenty five years now, and I applaud his work and dedication.

Pastor Jackson became the shepherd of Union Missionary Baptist Church in 1986. His heart for service and missions has taken him across the country and the continent of Africa, but he has never forgotten his community at home. He has served on many civic, community, and religious organizations in Muncie and the surrounding area, and he is currently a member of the Collective Coalition of Concerned Clergy, third vice-president of the Northeastern district Sunday School and BTU Congress, board member on the Whitely Neighborhood Association, and is a board member for the Muncie Black Expo.

Those who know Pastor Jackson know him as a kind and generous man. He strives to unify and bring together people from all walks of life, and he is greatly respected throughout the community. A loving husband, father to three children, and grandfather to two grandchildren, Pastor Jackson has also mentored and cared for countless others in the community and in his church over his many years of ministry.

I congratulate Pastor Jackson for his twenty five influential years of service, and thank him for his many contributions to the community.

---

*This “bullet” symbol identifies statements or insertions which are not spoken by a Member of the Senate on the floor.

Matter set in this typeface indicates words inserted or appended, rather than spoken, by a Member of the House on the floor.
and to the sixth district of Indiana. His impact will be felt for years to come, and I wish him the best in his continued service and ministry.

TRIBUTE TO THE 100TH BIRTHDAY OF KHEN NGO

HON. JOE BACA
OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. BACA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to ask Congress to celebrate the 100th birthday of Khen Ngo, a prominent member of the Vietnamese Catholic community in San Bernardino. I would like to ask my colleagues to join me in celebrating this milestone with the Ngo family and the San Bernardino community.

Born on July 4, 1911 in the Hue Province in Central Vietnam, Khen Ngo completed elementary school by age thirteen. Tragically, he fell ill to an infectious disease and did not recover until age seventeen. Shortly thereafter his family enrolled him in tailoring school. Khen completed his secondary education within one year.

The skills he learned in school allowed him to become part of the family business. In Vietnam he opened and operated his own tailoring shop. Soon he was able to manage and maintain his parent’s shop as well. Outside of work he served in the Parish council of St. Camillus Catholic Church as a finance officer for fifteen years. Life was about drastically change for the Ngo family.

In 1975, the Vietnamese Communist Regime invaded Vietnam. The Ngo family was a prominent family; the last name was well-known across the country. Their heritage can be traced back to the first President of Vietnam, Ngo Dinh Diem. Sadly, the communist regime also knew the Ngos well. They sought out and imprisoned many of the family members, leaving Khen no choice but to escape. Khen came to the United States as a Vietnamese refugee.

He settled in Redlands, California and joined the Sacred Heart Church. The Ngos are a deeply religious and pious family. Together with his brother, Father Joseph Trong Ngo, the Ngos helped build and foster a Vietnamese Catholic community in San Bernardino. Khen lived a simple life and held steadfast to the Catholic teaching to honor your parents, and to live his life as a deeply religious and spiritual person.

His life continues to be filled with spirit and love. He surrounds himself with the people he loves and leads a simple life. He fathered seven children and bestowed upon them the virtues he embodies. Khen now spends his days fishing and watching soccer games with any of his twenty nieces and nephews or nine grandchildren. I want to extend my best wishes to Khen Ngo on his 100th birthday along with the wishes of my wife, Barbara, and my children, Major Pro Tem Joe Baca, Jr., Jeremy, Natalie, and Jennifer. Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in sharing this special day with Khen Ngo.
entire population of Colombia. In fact, in Colombia, our hemispheric neighbor, there are an estimated 4 million internally displaced people, equivalent to the entire population of Los Angeles. Pakistan has nearly 2 million refugees, and Somalia, Sudan, and Iraq all have over a million displaced people each.

Displaced persons are a national security issue as much as a humanitarian crisis that violates basic human rights. This spring, I hosted Congressional briefings with Antonio Guterres, the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, and Alexander Aleinkoff, the Deputy High Commissioner for Refugees. I commend the work of the U.N. High Commissioner and the many organizations—large and small—that are on the frontlines providing basic relief and security to displaced communities. And I will do everything I can to inform my colleagues about this important work.

But, while immediate relief is essential, we also must tackle the root causes of conflict and poverty that continue to drive up the number of displaced people. We cannot be a just and peaceful world with so many living without basic human rights and protections. So, this week, and every week, I will continue to use my voice and vote to end this humanitarian crisis and bring justice, security, and enduring peace to the millions of displaced people around the world.

FREE GILAD SHAHIT

HON. PETER T. KING

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Mr. KING of New York. Mr. Speaker, I rise on the fifth anniversary of the abduction of Israeli soldier, Gilad Shalti, to demand that Hamas release him immediately and unconditionally.

On June 25, 2006, Hamas brutally attacked an Israeli military post, killing two soldiers and wounding four others. Shalti was taken captive and seemingly wounded in the process. Since then, Mr. Crow has done many favors for the justice and his camp in East Texas.

HON. LOUISE McINTOSH SLAUGHTER

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to express my concern over extrajudicial activities of Justice Thomas and Ms. Thomas, increasing scrutiny, largely because of the acute ethical film that is to accompany the exhibits. The publicity-shy friend turned out to be Justice Thomas's mother as a crab picker. His father once ran a seafood cannery that employed Justice Thomas's mother as a crab picker.

Mr. Varn lived at the old cannery site, a collection of crumbling buildings on a salt marsh just down the road from Pin Point, Georgia. The property, and Mr. Varn said he hoped it could be preserved. Mr. Varn lived at the old cannery site, a collection of crumbling buildings on a salt marsh just down the road from Pin Point, Georgia. The property, and Mr. Varn said he hoped it could be preserved.

Mr. Crow stepped down as the project's executive director and promoted Justice Thomas's mother as a crab picker. It's just a very peculiar situation." Mr. Crow's largesse provoked controversy and raising a rising debate about Supreme Court ethics. But Mr. Crow's financing of the museum, his largest such act of generosity, previously unreported, raises the sharpest questions yet—both about Justice Thomas's extrajudicial activities and about the extent to which the justice should remain exempt from the code of conduct for federal judges.

Although the Supreme Court is not bound by the code, justices have said they adhere to its ethical standards. Yet, Justice Thomas's dealings with Mr. Crow pose a problem under the code. But they agreed that one facet of the relationship was both unusual and important in weighing any ethical implications: Justice Thomas's role in Mr. Crow's donation for the museum.

The code says judges "should not personally participate in... fund-raising of the museum, his largest such act of generosity, previously unreported, raises the sharpest questions yet—both about Justice Thomas's extrajudicial activities and about the extent to which the justice should remain exempt from the code of conduct for federal judges."
groups that stood to benefit from the court’s decision.

A month later, more than 100 law professors asked Congress to extend to Supreme Court justices’ code that applies to other federal judges, and a bill addressing the issue was introduced.

It is not unusual for justices to accept gifts or take part in outside activities, some with political overtones.

Justice Stephen G. Breyer has attended Renaissance fairs, a retreat for intellectuals, artists and media personalities that is a favorite of Democrats, including former President Bill Clinton. Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg spoke at a symposium sponsored by the National Organization for Women’s Legal Defense and Education Fund, and a philanthropic foundation once tried to give her a permanent award to construct that the money be given to charity.

But in the case of Justice Thomas and his dealings with Mr. Crow, the ethical complications are far more complex.

CONSERVATIVE TIES

Mr. Crow, 61, manages the real estate and investment businesses founded by his late father, Trammell Crow, once the largest landlord in Texas. The Crow family fortune is worth hundreds of millions of dollars and includes investments in hotels, medical facilities, public equities and hedge funds.

A friend of the Bush family, Mr. Crow is a trustee of the George Bush Presidential Library Foundation and has donated close to $5 million to Republican campaigns and conservative groups. Among his contributions were $100,000 to Swift Boat Veterans for Truth, the group formed to attack the Vietnam War record of Senator John Kerry, the 2004 Democratic presidential candidate, and $500,000 to an organization that ran advertisements urging the confirmation of President George W. Bush’s nominees to the Supreme Court.

Mr. Crow has not personally been a party to Supreme Court litigation, but his companies have been involved in federal court cases, including four that went to the appellate level. And he has served on the boards of two conservative organizations involved in filing supporting briefs in cases before the Supreme Court. One of them, the American Enterprise Institute, with Mr. Crow as a trustee, gave Justice Thomas a bust of Lincoln voyed and praised his jurisprudence at an awards gala in 2001.

The institute’s Project on Fair Representation later filed briefs in several cases, and in 2006 it became a party to a lawsuit challenging federal voting rights laws, a case in which Justice Thomas filed a lone dissent, embracing the project’s arguments. The project director, an institute fellow named Edward Blum, said the institute supported his research but did not finance the brief filings or the Texas suit, which was litigated pro bono by a former clerk of Justice Thomas’s.

“When it came time to file a lawsuit,” he said, “A.E.I. did not do it in doing that.”

COMING UP WITH A PLAN

In addition to his interest in politics and policy, Mr. Crow is well known for his keen devotion to history.

A backyard garden at his $24 million Dallas residence is dominated by old statues of dictators he has collected from fallen regimes, including Lenin and Stalin. His pri-date library is stocked with 6,000 rare books and artifacts, including a Senate roll call sheet from Justice Thomas’s confirmation and a “thank you” letter from the justice, accompanied by a donation.

There are a number of reasons Justice Thomas might be thankful to Mr. Crow. In addition to giving him the Douglas Bible, valued 10 years ago at $19,000, Mr. Crow has hosted the justice aboard his private jet and his 161-foot yacht, at the exclusive Bohemian Hotel in Palm Beach, Fla. At his grand Adirondacks summer estate called Topridge, a 105-acre spread that once belonged to Mar-dorie Merriweather Post, the cereal heiress, Mr. Crow’s chief of staff, who said he had been invited several times to perform at Topridge, recalled seeing Justice Thomas and his family “on one or two occasions.” They were accompanied by a guest who included other prominent Republicans—last summer, the younger Mr. Bush stopped by.

“There would be guys puffing on cigars,” Mr. Shaw said. “Clarence just kind of melted in with everyone else. We got introduced at dinner. Her a gentleman award.”

Mr. Crow’s $175,000 donation to the library in Savannah in 2001 started out anonymous, but it was eventually made public amid opposition to the project by some local black leaders who did not like Justice Thomas’s politics. Similarly, Mr. Crow sought to keep his role in the museum quiet.

At first glance, the J. M. Cain Heritage Museum, scheduled to open this fall, would seem an unlikely catalyst for an ethical quandary. That Pin Point’s history is worth of preservation is not in dispute.

Part of the Gullah/Geechee Cultural Heritage Corridor designated by Congress, it is representative of tight-knit Southern coastal settlements that were part of run-by-own farms and were often based around fishing. In Pin Point, the Varn crab and oyster cannery, founded in the 1920s, was a primary source of jobs until it closed in 1985.

Mr. Varn and his wife, Sharon, said they had long hoped the property could be saved from commercial development but had little success in changing its course, in part after their chance encounter with Justice Thomas, who was visiting his childhood home with a television news crew.

Justice Thomas, 62, was born and raised near the cannery overlooking the Moon River, where it was not uncommon for babies to rock in bassinets made of crab baskets while their mothers shocked oysters. He sympathized with the Varn’s wishes and said he had a friend who could help, Mr. Varn said.

The Varns eventually sold their property in April 2008. During a recent interview at their home near the cannery, they made it clear that they are not surprised to say, “When we sell it, who the buyer was, and a news release issued last November by a Savannah public relations firm said the museum was being “pritively funded by an anonymous donor.”

But the paper trail leads back to Mr. Crow, and in interviews at the project site, people working on it acknowledged that he was financed by a company called HKJRS/Pinpoint bought the land for $1.5 million, and incorporation records say the company is controlled by a Dallas-based partnership run by Mr. Crow.

Project documents reviewed by The Times show a preliminary construction budget of $1.3 million, but it is unclear if that includes expenses related to the content and design of the museum.

Justice Thomas remains closely involved with the project. Emily Owens, a museum spokeswoman who works for Mr. Crow’s company, said the justice “played a big part” in creating a video documentary that will be part of the exhibition. He hosted a design team from Dallas for a four-hour meeting at his Supreme Court offices in Feb-uary.

And he has had a role in picking people to help with the museum. Barbara Fertig, a history professor at Armstrong Atlantic State University in Savannah, said that she was asked to meet with Justice Thomas last spring and that “by the end of the meeting, he said he would like me to work on this project.”

She said she had “never been particularly curious” about why Mr. Crow is financing it, adding that costly preservation projects are “not affordable only by” motivated by friendships. Justice Thomas and Mr. Crow would seem to fall into that category.

“I’ve been in the company of the two of them together,” she said, “and they certainly really are friends.”

THE CODE OF CONDUCT

That friendship is important to deter-miming whether Justice Thomas’s interactions with Mr. Crow conflict with the code, said Raymond J. McKoski, a retired state judge in Illinois who wrote a law review article on charitable fund-raising by judges. If Justice Thomas did not “misuse the prestige of office” in getting Mr. Crow to take on the project, it should not be a concern, he said.

“Some of it depends on the conversations that took place,” Mr. McKoski said. “Who brought up the idea? How willing was Mr. Crow? Do I?”

What other questions were asked by Justice Thomas?”

Beyond the admonition against fund-raising, the code generally discourages judges from participating in activities that could create even the perception of partiality. It acknowledges the value of judges’ being engaged with their communities, but warns against taking on roles that might cause a reasonable person to worry that a judge is indebted to or influenced by someone.

“The code of conduct is quite clear that judges are not supposed to be soliciting private donations for their pet projects,” said Adam Cass, president of the Los Angeles Times reported that he had accumulated gifts totaling $42,200 in the previous six years—far more than any of the other justices.

Since 2004, Justice Thomas has never reported another gift. He has continued to disclose travel costs paid by schools and organizations he has visited for speeches and teaching, but he has not reported that any travel was provided by Mr. Crow.

Travel records for Mr. Crow’s planes and yachts, however, suggest that Justice Thomas may have used them in recent years.

In April 2008, not long after Mr. Crow bought the Pin Point property, one of his private planes flew from Washington to Savannah, where his yacht, the Michaela Rose, was docked.

A few weeks later, an item appeared in a South Carolina lawyers’ publication noting that Justice Thomas was arriving aboard the Michaela Rose in Charleston, a couple of hours north of Savannah, that the Crow family owns luxury vacation properties. The author was a prominent lawyer who said she knew of the visit because of a family connection.

Justice Thomas reported no gifts of travel that month in his 2008 disclosure. And there are other instances in which Justice Thomas's travels correspond to flights taken by Mr. Crow's planes.

On Jan. 4, 2010, when Justice Thomas was in Savannah for the dedication of a building in his honor, Mr. Crow's plane flew from Washington to Savannah and returned to Washington the next day. Justice Thomas reportedly disclosed that his travel had been paid for by the Savannah College of Art and Design, which owned the building.

In his 2009 financial disclosure, Justice Thomas reported that Southern Methodist University in Dallas—Trammell Crow's alma mater—had provided his travel for a speech there. But flight records show that Mr. Crow's plane flew from Washington to Dallas that day.

Among the questions The Times submitted to Justice Thomas was whether he was on any of those flights, and if so, whether the colleges reimbursed him or Mr. Crow. The colleges declined to comment.

One item not required to be reported in Justice Thomas's financial disclosures is the millions of dollars Mr. Crow is spending on colleges reimbursed him or Mr. Crow. The colleges reimbursed him or Mr. Crow. The

Among the questions The Times submitted to Justice Thomas was whether he was on any of those flights, and if so, whether the colleges reimbursed him or Mr. Crow. The colleges declined to comment.

One item not required to be reported in Justice Thomas's financial disclosures is the millions of dollars Mr. Crow is spending on colleges reimbursed him or Mr. Crow. The colleges reimbursed him or Mr. Crow.

In his 2009 financial disclosure, Justice Thomas reported that Southern Methodist University in Dallas—Trammell Crow's alma mater—had provided his travel for a speech there. But flight records show that Mr. Crow's plane flew from Washington to Dallas that day.

Among the questions The Times submitted to Justice Thomas was whether he was on any of those flights, and if so, whether the colleges reimbursed him or Mr. Crow. The colleges declined to comment.

One item not required to be reported in Justice Thomas's financial disclosures is the millions of dollars Mr. Crow is spending on colleges reimbursed him or Mr. Crow. The colleges reimbursed him or Mr. Crow.

In his 2009 financial disclosure, Justice Thomas reported that Southern Methodist University in Dallas—Trammell Crow's alma mater—had provided his travel for a speech there. But flight records show that Mr. Crow's plane flew from Washington to Dallas that day.

Among the questions The Times submitted to Justice Thomas was whether he was on any of those flights, and if so, whether the colleges reimbursed him or Mr. Crow. The colleges declined to comment.

One item not required to be reported in Justice Thomas's financial disclosures is the millions of dollars Mr. Crow is spending on colleges reimbursed him or Mr. Crow. The colleges reimbursed him or Mr. Crow.
collection is essential if we are going to protect our citizens' trust and confidence in election results. EAC develops and fosters the training and organization of our nation's more than 8,000 election administrators.

Terminating EAC is not only an invitation to repeat the empirical record of the 2000 presidential election, but it breaks faith with those who labored long and risked much to secure the right to vote for all Americans, particularly African Americans and other minority groups.

Mr. Speaker, if you believe every vote counts—and every vote should be counted—then we must preserve the EAC and oppose this legislation.

It is also important to note that abolishing the EAC would simply shift costs to the Federal Election Commission and local governments, not save taxpayer money. The FEC is not an agency that can make decisions in a timely and responsive fashion due to its partisan divisions. Consequently, transferring the functions performed by the EAC to the FEC is inconsistent with the national interest in ensuring election integrity, improving voter access to the polls, and enhancing the quality of election systems.

For these reasons, I strongly oppose H.R. 672 and I would urge my colleagues to join me in defeating this misguided and reckless legislation that puts the integrity of our election systems—public confidence in election outcomes—at risk.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION
HON. TOM COLE
OF OKLAHOMA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I was unavoidably detained and missed roll call vote No. 478. Had I been present, I would have voted "aye."

HIGHWAYS BETTERING THE ECONOMY AND ENVIRONMENT ACT OF 2011
HON. ALCEE L. HASTINGS
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to introduce the Highways Bettering the Economy and Environment Act with my Co-Chairman of the Congressional Pollinator Protection Caucus, Representative Tim Johnson. This bi-partisan bill provides much-needed aid for the birds, bats, bees and butterflies that pollinate our food.

The Highways BEE Act seeks no new monies and involves a limited federal role. It has received widespread endorsement from a diverse group of scientists, researchers and members of the business and environmental communities including the National Audubon Society, Lafarge Construction, National Farmers Union, the Isaac Walton League, American Farmland Trust, Waste Management, and DefenseOne.

This bill provides for existing authorities and funding sources to incorporate integrated vegetation management practices along America's highways, which includes things like reduced mowing and replacing invasive plant species with native forbs and grasses. This kind of roadside vegetation management provides much-needed habitat for pollinators and other small nesting animals.

The Association of American State Highway and Transportation Officials Vegetation Management Guidelines released in March advances integrated vegetation management principles and recommendations consistent with the objectives of this legislation. A number of states, including Minnesota, are already doing this and reporting maintenance cost savings of 20 to 25 percent from reduced mowing alone.

Mr. Speaker, there are around 17 million acres of land where significant reductions in mowing and maintenance can reduce costs for cash-strapped states. The millions of acres of agriculture and wildlife ecosystems adjacent to these roadways will benefit from the increased pollinator habitat resulting from integrated vegetation management practices.

To understand how worried we should be about declining pollinator populations, consider that rising global food prices are the primary topic of discussion at the G-20 meetings in Paris right now. This is the first time that agriculture has had the top spot at a meeting and is indicative of how serious the issue is. Food prices have soared overseas and a declining pollinator population will only make the situation worse. Seventy-five percent of all flowering plant species rely on creatures like birds, bats, bees and butterflies for fertilization. One out of every three bites of food that we eat, as well as $20 billion of products in the United States alone, derive for fertilization.

If we don’t solve these problems soon, we won’t have any bees. Without bees, we won’t have any food. The benefit to cost balance in the case of this bill, Mr. Speaker, is an easy choice.

HONORING DANIEL RODRIGUEZ
HON. PETER A. DEFAZIO
OF OREGON
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Mr. Daniel Rodriguez on the occasion of his retirement after 26 years of service as executive director for the University of Oregon Alumni Association.

The University of Oregon is a world class institution renowned for its groundbreaking research, and is an important keystone that unites Oregonians both at home and throughout the world.

Since coming to the University of Oregon in 1988, Dan Rodriguez has played a pivotal role in the rebirth of the alumni association. He created the alumni membership program that has topped 20,000 members worldwide and worked diligently to put the association on sound financial footing. He also led the effort to increase the number of active alumni chapters to 22 across the country.

But perhaps Dan’s greatest accomplishment is the construction of the new Ford Alumni Center. While Dan will be the first to say this Center came about due to the tireless effort of many committed individuals, there is no question he has been a driving force for the project since its inception.

Dan grew up in Sunnyvale, CA, and is a graduate of Arizona State University. While he is a Sun Devil by pedigree, it is difficult to think of a more devoted and true Oregon Duck than Dan. He has spent untold hours promoting the University and the alumni associations. He has also dedicated himself to the University’s hometown community of Eugene, Oregon, where he has served on the Eugene Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, the Rotary Club, and in several capacities with the American Lung Association of Oregon.

Dan has served four University presidents, seven athletic directors and acted as a mentor to hundreds of UA students teaching the importance of leadership and volunteerism as part of campus life. He leaves a team of 12 employees and a board of directors who will miss his devotion and dedication to the association and the university it serves.

On the occasion of his last day at the University of Oregon, I wish to personally thank Mr. Rodriguez for his service. He will certainly be missed. Go Ducks!

AMERICA INVENTS ACT
SPÉECH OF
HON. EARL BLUMENAUER
OF OREGON
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, June 22, 2011

The House in Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 1249) to amend title 35, United States Code, to provide for patent reform.

Mr. BLUMENAUER. Madam Chair, I rise in support of H.R. 1249, which will help America maintain its distinction as the most innovative country in the world. For too long, independent inventors, small businesses, and America’s leading universities and technology companies have been mired in a convoluted patent process that has stifled innovation and job creation. H.R. 1249 streamlines and clarifies the patent process, giving inventors and investors the certainty they need to expand their businesses and grow the economy.

This legislation also gives the United States Patent and Trademark Office the tools it needs to process the hundreds of thousands of applications it receives every year, increasing their ability to adjust its fees to reflect the actual costs of the services it provides, to fast-track patent applications, and to expand opportunities for post-grant review of patents. I remain deeply concerned that, under the manager’s amendment, the Patent and Trademark Office will have fewer resources to pursue these objectives, a change which risks squandering the very opportunities created by the remainder of the legislation.

Innovative stakeholders in my district have voiced concerns that the legislation’s expansion of the defense of “prior user rights” will weaken their ability to protect their patentable innovations and give rise to widespread trade secret litigation, particularly for those areas of research the blend federal investment and private investment. I look forward to working with my colleagues to ensure these concerns are addressed, so that America’s finest universities and research centers can continue their role as global leaders of innovation.

H.R. 1249 is a strong step toward protecting the administration of our system of intellectual property rights. This is a worthy bipartisan accomplishment. I am concerned that some of my colleagues have championed this bill as the ultimate job-creator and that once it passes, they will forget about the millions of Americans that are still struggling to find work. Patent reform is important, but what our workforce needs most are jobs. I urge my colleagues to build on this bipartisan momentum and work together to rebuild and renew America’s infrastructure, the most efficient way to create jobs and strengthen our economy.

INTRODUCTION: “FAMILY AND MEDICAL LEAVE INCLUSION ACT”

HON. CAROLYN B. MALONEY
OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mrs. MALONEY. Mr. Speaker, in our tough economic environment, individuals should not have to choose between caring for a loved one and their job. The high work participation rates among mothers and the caregiving needs of an aging population put further demands on American families. The landmark Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993 (FMLA) has allowed millions of employees to take up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave from work to care for a newborn or to care for a spouse, child under age 18, or parent who has a serious health condition. However, the law does not allow leave to care for a same-sex partner or spouse, a grandparent or an adult child. Anecdotal evidence suggests that same-sex partners have endured negative reactions and denials to requests for leave when partners gave birth or had a serious medical condition. When a loved one is in need of care, employees should not be subjected to discrimination but should be allowed to take advantage of the benefits FMLA provides.

Already, hundreds of companies, several states, and the District of Columbia have extended FMLA to individuals not originally included in the Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993. In order to do this at the federal level, today I am reintroducing the Family and Medical Leave Inclusion Act. This legislation will allow an employee to take unpaid leave from work to care for his or her same-sex spouse or domestic partner, parent-in-law, adult child, sibling, grandchild or grandparent if that person has a serious health condition. Additionally, in light of the recent repeal of the Military’s Don’t Ask Don’t Tell policy, a moral compass and not only a part-time sports reporter for the Tuscaloosa News, followed by a full time job with the Alabama Journal in Montgomery. During his reporting days, he chronicled the segregationist movement of the 1960’s and frequently profiled state and national politics, which later led to stints as a stringer for the New York Times and Time magazine, among others.

In 1976, Wayne Greenhaw briefly left journalism for politics, serving as Jimmy Carter’s presidential campaign press secretary for Alabama. Nearly two decades later, he entered public service as the Director of the Alabama Bureau of Tourism and Travel from 1993 to 1994. In 1995, President Bill Clinton appointed him as a representative to the White House Conference on Travel and Tourism. He was also awarded Travel Writer of the Year in 1995 by the Southeast Tourism Society.

Above all things, Wayne was a truly decent man who had a moral compass and not only knew the difference between right and wrong, but was willing to express it in a powerful way. As one of our best writers—and we’ve produced some mighty talented men and women from Alabama in this field—Wayne was not limited to any one medium. From fiction to nonfiction, books to poetry, beats reporting to plays, Wayne Greenhaw put his stamp on Alabama literature like few others.

Given his prolific talents, it is, therefore, not surprising that he was the recipient of the 2005 Clarence Carson Award for nonfiction and the 2006 Harper Lee Award for Distinguished Writing.

His most recent book, Fighting the Devil in Dixie, about civil rights activists confronting the Ku Klux Klan from the late 1950’s to the mid 1980’s, is considered “the culmination of his career.”

Mr. Speaker, Wayne Greenhaw has been described by his peers as “a storyteller” and “a part of our State’s history.” Wayne’s works always reflected his affection and passion for the history of our state. It is hard to imagine where our state would be without the historical and cultural contributions of this great writer. On behalf of the people of Alabama, I would like to extend my condolences to Wayne’s wonderful wife, Sally, and their family and many friends during this time of personal loss. Wayne’s love for Alabama and our people will never be forgotten. May he rest in peace.
Permitting Act. H.R. 2021 is the latest piece of legislation from the Majority that puts Big Oil before public welfare.

H.R. 2021 is yet another attack on the Clean Air Act. This harmful legislation would revoke Clean Air Act protections mandating that oil companies use pollution control technology for vessels used in offshore drilling. H.R. 2021 would allow oil companies to measure pollutants and toxics generated from offshore drilling rigs at onshore locations, effectively allowing for offshore sources to generate larger and larger amounts of toxic air pollution.

While these permitting loopholes present clear dangers to public health and welfare, perhaps the most egregious affront to the Clean Air Act is the provision in H.R. 2021 that eliminates the Environmental Appeals Board at EPA. This board provides those citizens directly affected by coastal air pollution access to an impartial review of permitting decisions. To be clear, this misguided legislation puts oil companies before the health of the American public.

For 40 years, the Clean Air Act has been successful in reducing emissions into the atmosphere of pollutants and chemicals that kill people and endanger public health. Its success is due, in large part, to being enacted and strengthened based on the best science to find the most effective ways to remove the worst pollutants from our air. The Clean Air Act should not be undercut to benefit large oil companies.

If enacted into law, this bill would have far-reaching consequences and damage public health in the Arctic, Atlantic, Pacific, and Gulf Coasts. The world’s most profitable oil companies should be held to the highest public health and environmental safety standards, not given a free pass to generate toxic air pollution. I urge my colleagues to vote against this harmful and reckless legislation.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. STEVEN R. ROTHMAN OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. ROTHMAN of New Jersey. Mr. Speaker, I wish to correct a vote that I made on the amendment to H.R. 2112. During the rollcall votes, I voted no on the Campbell amendment to prohibit funding for the Animal, Plant and Health Inspection Service (APHIS) from being used for lethal methods of wildlife control to protect livestock. It was my intent to support the amendment, as I stand in strong support of the federal government’s use of humane and non-lethal animal control whenever possible. My record on this issue clearly shows my long-standing support of this position and I hereby state my disapproval of the use of lethal methods of trapping, aerial hunting and poisoning of wildlife in order to protect livestock by the APHIS.

I wish to clearly state for the Record that I supported the Campbell-DeFazio-Peters amendment and did not intend to vote against it.

IN RECOGNITION OF THE 40TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE HARRY VAN ARSDALE, JR. CENTER FOR LABOR STUDIES AT SUNY EMPIRE STATE COLLEGE

HON. JERROLD NADLER
OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in recognition of the Harry Van Arsdale, Jr. Center for Labor Studies at SUNY Empire State College on the occasion of its 40th anniversary.

The New York State legislature created SUNY Empire State College in 1971 in order to provide educational opportunities to adults not adequately served by traditional residential colleges. At the same time, it also established the Center for Labor Studies, which was reorganized in 1990 to honor the distinguished labor leader, the long-time business manager of IBEW Local 3 and president of the New York City Central Labor Council, who did so much to support its creation.

The Harry Van Arsdale Jr. Center for Labor Studies at SUNY Empire State College continues to fulfill its namesake’s dream of providing wage-earning adults with an opportunity to develop labor leadership skills and to earn a college degree in a learning environment that celebrates their achievements and recognizes their particular needs. To do so, the Van Arsdale Center provides flexible, worker-friendly educational programs delivered by highly qualified faculty to ensure that its trade union students and other working adults may acquire the analytical and communicative skills that are the hallmark of a college degree.

The center currently serves several important constituencies in the New York City area, including IBEW Local 3 and United Association Local 1 apprentices as well as paraeducators affiliated with the United Federation of Teachers. The longest-standing of these partnerships is with the Joint Industry Board of the Electrical Industry in New York City (JIB), and it is one of the center’s most successful partnerships. Since 1978 every registered electrical apprentice in IBEW Local 3 has been required to complete, in addition to their related classroom instruction in electrical theory, an academic course of study in which they learn to read and write at the college level and for which they are awarded a college degree; or, if they already have a degree, a 20-credit certificate in “Labor and the Construction Industry.” Other programs were added later: the paraeducator program of the UFT in 2006, the college degree program of UA Local 1 in 2008; and others are in development.

The Harry Van Arsdale, Jr. Center for Labor Studies has graduated more than 5,000 men and women, many of whom have gone on to hold positions of honor in the New York City labor movement and beyond. Please join me in congratulating this exemplary educational organization on the occasion of its 40th anniversary.

H.R. 2320

HON. DON YOUNG OF ALASKA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. YOUNG of Alaska. Mr. Speaker, recently, I introduced H.R. 2250, which would make permanent the provisions of Section 646 of the Internal Revenue Code. Currently, these provisions are slated to expire on December 31, 2012.

In 1971, Congress passed, and President Nixon approved, landmark legislation known as the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (ANCSA). This legislation settled the aboriginal land claims of Native Alaskans in exchange for land selection rights and cash. The law was, and is, a bold and organic national experiment in Native land claims settlement. However, it has needed revision and refinement many times since. 1971. I am proud to have worked with my colleagues over the past several years to accomplish these improvements.

In 1988, Congress enacted legislation to authorize Alaska Native corporations to establish “settlement trusts.” Their purpose was to provide benefits to Alaska Natives and permit a legal structure that would protect and preserve, for current and future Alaska Native generations, much of the value of the land claims settlement. The original ANCSA required Native groups to form Alaska state law corporations to receive, administer, and distribute the ANCSA settlement, and the 1988 legislation was recognition that the corporate form had not always been well-suited to this task. In part, this was due to the federal tax problems that attend the corporate form, although ironically in the years after 1988, it became apparent that the federal tax rules relative to trusts present their own complexities and problems that discouraged the use of settlement trusts.

Congress enacted Section 646 of the tax code to address these problems. Section 646 provides for an elective regime for Alaska Native settlement trusts that (i) provides for a trust level tax at various rates ranging up to 10% in lieu of beneficiary level taxes; (ii) allows contributions to be made to these trusts on a tax-favored basis; and (iii) provides for administrative reporting for these trusts. When adopted, this elective treatment initially provided significant incentives to the use of settlement trusts to further the ANCSA settlement, and Alaska Native corporations utilized this provision to provide benefits through Alaska Native settlement trusts.

As I mentioned earlier, Section 646 is scheduled to sunset on December 31, 2012, despite the positive effects it has had for the Alaska Native community. The principal aim of settlement trusts is to provide funds to the Alaska Native beneficiaries. These beneficiaries are among the most economically disadvantaged persons in our country. Section 646 has worked well to provide an incentive for the use of settlement trusts, and must be continued.

Moreover, the looming expiration of Section 646 has had a chilling effect in recent years upon the establishment of new Alaska Native settlement trusts. Alaska Native corporations have no desire to exchange the corporate tax...
TRIBUTE TO ROBERT RUTLEDGE,
the Heart of St. Paul’s Episcopal School

Mr. Bonner, Mr. Speaker, it is with great sadness that I rise today to acknowledge the recent passing of one of Mobile's most beloved and respected educators, Robert Rutledge.

“Coach Bob,” as he was known to many, was head football coach, athletic director, assistant headmaster and headmaster over his 33-year career at St. Paul's Episcopal School. He has been described as the heart of St. Paul's and an influential role model for his students.

Under his guidance, St. Paul's athletic program gained statewide respect, including a trip to the 1993 State Championship game.

For three decades, Coach Bob inspired, led and prepared generations of students for the rigors of life, instilling in many the confidence to set their goals high and then work hard toward attaining them.

Bob's enthusiasm for coaching and teaching—and his devotion to improving the lives of each of his students—is what set him apart as a truly outstanding educator.

A former student and now local Mobile attorney, Charlie Potts, recently told the Mobile Press-Register that Coach Bob always followed the Golden Rule. Simply put, Bob Rutledge treated his students and players the way he would want to be treated.

Bob was also instrumental in shaping St. Paul's community service programs, including a fine arts program that today rivals the offerings of many colleges and universities.

For St. Paul's students and alumni, Coach Bob was more than a great educator and leader, he was like a parent and cherished friend. He had a talent for summoning the best in his students and building a faculty and staff that were second to none. Although he retired in 2006, his passing is a profound loss for St. Paul's and our entire community.

Mr. Speaker, I join with so many others from southwest Alabama in mourning the loss of a truly exceptional man who touched thousands upon thousands of lives with his generosity, leadership and strength.

My condolences go out to his wonderful wife of 45 years, Martha, and their children, Kellie, Brett and Dorié. You are all in our thoughts and prayers.

JACKSON HOLE MOUNTAIN RESORT (JHMR)—NATIONAL SKI AREA ASSOCIATION’S (NSAA) GOLDEN EAGLE AWARD

HON. CYNTHIA M. LUMMIS OF WYOMING
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, June 24, 2011

Mrs. Lummis, Mr. Speaker, I would like to congratulate and honor Jackson Hole Mountain Resort (JHMR) from the state of Wyoming for their receipt of the National Ski Area Association’s (NSAA) Golden Eagle Award. Having been a previous recipient of this award in 1995, JHMR again receives the highest honor in environmental achievement. This prestigious award is judged by industry peers and a select group of judges. As an example to all industries, both within and without the business of skiing, JHMR has managed to produce an environmentally-friendly ski resort. They are a great example to us all of environmental achievements. The award coincides with the resort’s five year anniversary of ISO 14001 certification. JHMR is one of only two resorts in the United States to have met these standards. This specific award, the Golden Eagle Award, honors their environmental excellence for “Medium Size Ski Areas” (200,000—500,000 visits). Businesses, such as this resort, are our hope for a more beautiful world in the future, showing us that spectacular sites do not have to come at the cost of our environmental degradation. Jackson Hole Mountain Resort is justly proud to receive this award. Their selection shows their positive impact and contribution to a better environment. A few of their contributions, to note, are: modifications to their heating systems that reduces energy use by 20%, and recycling all motor oil, along with anti-freeze, batteries, and snowmelt (from grooming equipment). They have demonstrated a level of responsibility, commitment and care that deserves our recognition, support and utmost respect.

The developments and strategies are exemplary. They are a great example to us all. I commend them for their great deeds, and agree they are most deserving of this Golden Eagle Award.

AMERICA INVENTS ACT

SPEECH OF
HON. STENY H. HOYER
OF MARYLAND
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, June 22, 2011

The House in Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 1249) to amend title 35, United States Code, to provide for patent reform:

Mr. HOYER. Madam Chair, I rise in support of this legislation. I am a strong supporter, as many of you know, of what we call our Make It In America agenda. Make It In America simply means we are going to provide jobs, we are going to provide opportunities, and we are going to build the manufacturing sector of our economy. In order to do that we also need to enhance the inventive, innovative, and development phases of our economy. This bill, I think, will facilitate this.

I congratulate the gentlelady from California for this amendment as well, which I think improves this bill. I rise in strong support and urge my colleagues to support this piece of legislation. I congratulate all of those who have worked on this legislation. It is obviously not perfect, but then again, no piece of legislation that we adopt is perfect. It is, however, a significant step forward to make sure that America remains the inventive, innovative development capital of the world. In order to do that we need to manufacture goods here in America—manufacture the goods that we invent, innovate, and develop here, because if we continue to take them to scale overseas, then the inventors, innovators, and developers will themselves move overseas.

So I thank Mr. Smith, Mr. Watt, Ms. Lofgren, and the others who have worked so hard on this legislation, who have dedicated themselves to trying to make sure that we have a context and environment in America which will facilitate the innovative sector of our economy.

IN MEMORY OF JIM WHAM

HON. JOHN SHIMKUS OF ILLINOIS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. SHIMKUS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in tribute to a man of great character, patriotism, and community pride: Mr. Jim Wham.

Jim Wham, Centralia, Illinois, was born May 20, 2011, at the age of 92.

I first met Jim when, as a child, I visited my late grandfather, John Shimkus, who owned a clothing store in Centralia. Jim Wham, already a well known attorney, knew my grandfather and I remember meeting this well educated, well informed, larger than life man. Many years later, when I began running for Congress, I again met Jim—who was very active in politics—and became much more acquainted with him. Jim became a friend and trusted advisor. His viewpoints on crucial issues were always well thought out and came from a deep love of his country. I could always count on Jim to tell me exactly what he thought.

Jim was a 1936 graduate of Centralia Township High School, was center on the Centralia Orphans basketball team that competed in the State Tournament at Champaign, and later attended the University of Illinois where he lettered in track. He was admitted to the Illinois Bar in 1947 and practiced at the law firm started by his grandfather William Bundy and reained the active senior partner of Wham and Wham until his death.

Jim also served in the Army Air Corps in World War II advancing to the rank of major and was awarded the bronze star.

Jim was large in stature and large in his love of politics, the law, and life. He shared his passion for this country and the Republican Party any chance he could.

Jim even ran for Congress once on the Jim Wham Party banner, after missing the deadline to file as a Republican. The reason for his Congressional run was because of the incumbent’s vote against the amendment prohibiting the burning of the flag. Jim had seen firsthand in WWII the price paid for that flag and wanted others to know it as well. He was first and foremost a true patriot.

Jim also served as a judge of the Illinois
Court of Claims and was a candidate for Illinois Appellate Court Judge. Jim was a member of the First United Methodist Church in Centralia and was a Sunday School teacher there.

Most recently, well into his 90’s, Jim hosted a weekly radio show on WILY in Centralia. I had the privilege of being his guest on this show in studio. He was still well informed, still very articulate, and I could still not win an argument with him. His voice in Centralia will be missed.

Survivors include his wife Phyllis; daughters
Sarah Cary and Jennifer Price; his brother
William; grandchildren: Andrew Wham Cary, Step
Wham Cary, Rebecca Ann Cary, Susannah Cary, James Daniel Price, Katharine Elizabeth Price and Mary Karen Price; and great grandchildren: Zachary Cary and Samantha Cary.

Jim was laid rest in Centralia. And while I was unable to attend in person, I can certainly take this opportunity to let his name ring throughout this hallowed hall. He deserves no less and would certainly love hearing it.

REMARKS IN HONOR OF CAPTAIN
TRACY D. SMYERS, UNITED STATES NAVY

HON. KAY GRANGER
OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Ms. GRANGER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate Captain Tracy D. (T.D.) Smyers for his 27 years of dedicated and distinguished service to our nation, the occasion of his retirement from the United States Navy.

It is an honor to join the people of Texas’ 12th Congressional District in honoring one of our own, Captain Smyers, upon his retirement as Commanding Officer of the Naval Air Station Fort Worth Joint Reserve Base for the past three years.

Locally appointed to the U.S. Naval Academy by Representative Charles Stenholm of Texas’ 17th district, he graduated from the academy in 1984 and attended flight school. He was designated a Naval Flight Officer (NFO) in September of 1985.

Spending the majority of his career in a P– 3 Orion aircraft, Captain Smyers succeeded in all leadership roles in multiple squadrons during his career. The most notable position was as the Commanding Officer of the VP-62 Broad Arrows. Captain Smyers led this squad-don during Operation Enduring Freedom in taxe different operational theaters. Additionally, Captain Smyers attended the National Defense University’s Industrial College of the Armed Forces earning a Master of Science Degree in Strategic Resourcing.

On April 11, 2008, Captain Smyers reported as the eighth Commanding Officer of Naval Air Station Fort Worth Joint Reserve Base, which provides support for units from every service and over 11,000 Guard, reserve, and civilian employees. It has truly been an honor to work with Captain Smyers. He is re-pected by all for his true professionalism.

While Captain Smyers has remained focused on the mission, his dedication to the sailors under his command has been exceptional. He epitomizes the phrase “Mission First. People Always” and I know the thousands of officers, sailors, and civilians he has led hold him in the highest regard.

Captain Smyers has upheld the highest traditions of the United States Navy. We will miss his leadership as Commanding Officer of Naval Air Station Fort Worth Joint Reserve Base, but we look forward to the contributions he will make to our community as he and his family transition to civilian life in our area.

HONORING THE LIFE OF DR.
MICHAEL R. REDMOND

HON. DONNA F. EDWARDS
OF MARYLAND
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Ms. EDWARDS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the outstanding commitment to pubic service made by Mr. Arun Shimpi, who retired in June after 43 years of tireless service toward enhancing the social and economic independence of Americans who are blind.

When Mr. Shimpi began work at National Industries for the Blind in 1968, he was a new employee of a charity serving individuals with blindness—one of the first in the nation.

Not only is his story one that captures the imagination of millions of individuals with blindness, it also highlights the importance of his work and the contributions he made to Northwest Florida.

Mr. Shimpi joined the National Industries for the Blind (NIB) in 1968 and has served in leadership roles at multiple locations, including the U.S. Office of Personnel Management, the Jacksonville Area Vocational Rehabilitation Center, the Jacksonville Naval Air Station, and the National Industries for the Blind. He has been a leader in the field of vocational rehabilitation for individuals with blindness, and has played a critical role in shaping the future of the field.

Mr. Shimpi has been a tireless advocate for Americans with disabilities, working to ensure that individuals with blindness have opportunity and access to the same opportunities as their peers. He has served on the organization’s board of directors, and has been involved in numerous committees and organizations. He has also been a vocal advocate for the importance of early intervention services for children with blindness.

Mr. Shimpi has been a true hero, and his work has made a significant impact on the lives of individuals with blindness. I want to recognize the contributions he has made and thank him for his service.

HONORING MR. ARUN SHIMPI

HON. JEFF MILLER
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. MILLER of Florida. Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the United States Congress, it is with great respect and honor that I rise today to recognize the life of Northwest Florida’s beloved Dr. Michael R. Redmond.

Born in Milton, Florida on March 19, 1943, Dr. Redmond lived a life deeply rooted in love for his family and community. Dr.
Redmond was a devoted public servant, and the contributions he made to Northwest Florda are innumerable.

Upon graduation from Campion Jesuit High School, Dr. Redmond attended St. Louis University, and after only three years of study, he was admitted to St. Louis University Medical School. A true patriot, Dr. Redmond served in the United States Army from 1969 to 1971 as a General Medical Officer at Leonard Wood
Army Hospital. During the Vietnam War, Dr.
Redmond served in the 25th Infantry Division as an Emergency Room/Casualty Physician earned two Bronze Stars. For 35 years, Dr.
Redmond practiced at the West Florida
Medical Center in the Department of Ophthalmology and served as the Chief Executive Officer from 2000 until his passing. His expertise while serving on the American Academy of Ophthalmology Board of Trustees and later as President of the AAO in 2003 was invaluable.

Dr. Redmond served as a member of the American Academy of Pediatrics, the Child-dren’s Eye Care Foundation, the Escambia County Medical Society, the Escambia County United Way Campaign and numerous other committees and organizations.

Respect emanates from his colleagues who day Dr. Redmond will forever be remembered as a caring physician who always put his patients first. In the eyes of the many people whose sight was restored due to his life-long dedication to “helping kids see,” he was a true hero. Serving as a testament to the gratitude his colleagues, the medical profession, and the public have for him, Dr. Redmond was awarded the Florida Medical Association’s highest award, the Certificate of Merit, for his outstanding service to the FMA. He also earned the American Medical Association Phy-sician’s Recognition Award from 1975 to 2000.

To some, Michael Redmond will be remembereed as a community leader, and to others, as a dedicated doctor and hero. To his family, he will forever be remembered as a loving husband, father, and grandfather. Michael is survived by his wife Jane; his children, Anne, Sandra, and Terry; and granddaughter, Sarah.

Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the United States Congress, I am privileged to honor the life of Dr. Michael Redmond for his service to North-west Florida and to this great nation. My wife Vicki and I offer our prayers for his entire family. He will be truly missed by all.

A TRIBUTE TO MAX METCALF-PUTNAM

HON. TOM LATHAM
OF IOWA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. LATHAM. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize and congratulate Max Metcalf-Putnam for achieving the rank of Eagle Scout. The Eagle Scout rank is the highest advancement rank in scouting. Only about five percent of Boy Scouts earn the Eagle Scout Award, a performance based achievement whose standards have been well-maintained over the years.

To earn the Eagle Scout rank, a Boy Scout is obligated to pass specific tests that are organized by requirements and merit badges, as well as completing an Eagle Project to benefit the community. Max’s project was to design and construct a series of wooden “trees” for the feline residents of the Fort Dodge Humane Society to facilitate more exercise and recreation while the cats await adoption. In his immediate future, Max will be attending Iowa State University this fall to major in physics and has already been accepted as a First-Year Honor Student.

Mr. Speaker, the example set by this young man and his supportive family demonstrates the rewards of hard work, dedication and perseverance. I am honored to represent Max and his family in the United States Congress. I know that all of my colleagues will join me in congratulating him on achieving an Eagle Scout ranking and will wish him continued success in his future education and career.

CELEBRATING THE 100TH ANNIVERSARY OF DEVIL’S LAKE STATE PARK

HON. TAMMY BALDWIN OF WISCONSIN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Ms. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to celebrate the 100th anniversary of Devil’s Lake State Park and the people of Wisconsin’s commitment to the maintenance of our most visited state park.

Since 1911, Devil’s Lake State Park has provided diverse recreation for countless spirited adventurers. From the dancing waters of the 374-acre lake filled with brown trout and northern pike to historic and sacred Effigy Mounds that are over 1,000 years old to the famed Devil’s Doorway and Balanced Rock formations, this picturesque park encompasses nearly 10,000 acres. Those who trek to its University Point is treated to a breathtaking view of the valleys and bluffs that flank the park. For over a century, campers, hikers, bikers, swimmers, anglers, boaters, and many more have flocked to this pristine destination. It is no wonder why Devil’s Lake State Park attracts so many visitors each year; to put it simply—to visit the park is to fall in love with it.

Although Devil’s Lake State Park is celebrating its centennial, it has been a source of recreation and tourism for far longer. Beginning in the mid-1800s, the Devil’s Lake area was surrounded by several hotels and resorts and even hosted Mrs. Mary Todd Lincoln and General Ulysses S. Grant during their visit. These establishments were serviced by a railroad that transported visitors often numbering in the thousands. As times changed and the automobile was introduced, the hotels faded into history and the park became more accessible as a day-trip destination. Finally, in 1911, the state designated the park as the third official Wisconsin State Park.

Of course, Devil’s Lake State Park would not be what it is today without the dedication of many over the years. In the days of the Great Depression, it was the hardworking individuals of the Civilian Conservation Corps who built trails, removed invasive species, built a reservoir, acted as fireguards, and built various structures. Today, it is the tireless efforts of the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources, The Friends of Devil’s Lake State Park, and the myriad of other volunteers and supporters who ensure that the park is protected and preserved for centuries to come.

In 1919, official attendance records indicate that there were 100,000 visitors. Today, Devil’s Lake State Park entertains approximately 1.8 million visitors per year and continues to serve as a recreational haven. As we look to the future, we see the possible addition of more campsites and land to the west and north and a unique opportunity to add some 4,000 acres from the decommissioned Badger Army Ammunition Plant (BAAP) to the south.

Today, I join visitors from South Central Wisconsin, across our great nation, and across the world in celebrating the 100th anniversary of Devil’s Lake State Park.

CELEBRATING THE LIFE OF BRIAN LANKER

HON. PETER A. DeFAZIO
OF OREGON
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. DeFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to celebrate the life and legacy of Pulitzer Prize-winning photojournalist Brian Lanker. Brian died on March 13th, ten days after being diagnosed with terminal pancreatic cancer. Brian was a remarkable photographer. He was also a good friend. He began his career at the Topeka Capital-Journal in 1970—a paper nationally renowned for excellence in photojournalism. While at the paper, he shot a series on natural childbirth using the Lamaze method, which was not common at that time. The series culminated in a photo of Lynda (then Coburn) Lanker, Brian’s future wife, giving birth to her son, Dustin. This magnificent photograph earned Brian the 1973 Pulitzer Prize.

Shortly after that achievement, Brian moved to Eugene, Oregon, to take a position as the director of graphics for the Register Guard. Under Brian’s direction, photos became a significant part of the news story. He raised the paper’s standard for photojournalism to new heights, and he was awarded two Newspaper Photographer of the Year awards for his effort. In a remembrance, Carl Davaz, the paper’s then-deputy managing editor, told David Dunlap that Brian always thought first about the reader when taking pictures, and used his talent to bring words and photography together.

Brian became a freelance photographer after he left the Register Guard in 1982. He took breathtaking photographs for distinguished publications including LIFE Magazine, Sports Illustrated, and National Geographic. He was sought out for his photographic instincts and ability to capture single moments that told entire stories.

His proudest works, however, came when he collaborated with poet Maya Angelou on two books: “I Dream a World,” his portraits of black women of achievement; and “Shall We Dance,” a photographic documentary of dance in America. The debut showing for “I Dream a World” set attendance records at Corcoran Gallery of Art in Washington, DC. It is now in its 14th printing, which made Brian particularly proud because it meant the stories of these distinguished women were being shared.

At the end of Mr. Dunlap’s remembrance, he wrote about Carl Davaz’ final visit with Brian. Brian simply told Carl, “There’s just so much left to do.” Just before Brian died, two of his children, who had separately planned weddings for later in the year, chose to get married at Brian’s bedside so he could share in their celebration. He died soon thereafter. Brian is survived by Lynda Lanker, a recognized artist in her own right, and their children Julie Coburn, Jacki Coburn, and Dustin Lanker, who had separately planned weddings for later in the year.

For my part, I agree with you, Brian—there was just so much left for you to do. You are deeply missed.

HONORING THE LEADERSHIP TRAINING INSTITUTE OF AMERICA

HON. RON PAUL
OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. PAUL. Mr. Speaker, for the past 15 years, the Leadership Training Institute of America, LTIA, has helped teach young people about free markets, limited government, and traditional values. LTIA has trained hundreds of young people through their national conference in leadership excellence, critical thinking skills, worldview apologetics, network development and community involvement in a unique format that integrates a Biblical perspective.

The Leadership Training Institute of America’s National Conference, held each summer in Washington, is available to a select number of students who have demonstrated a passion for leadership. I am pleased that 10 students from my congressional district have been selected to participate in these conferences. LTIA alumni take active roles in local government and civic groups in their communities.

Mr. Speaker, it is a pleasure to commend the Leadership Training Institute of America for helping to produce conservative leadership that is actively involved in local, state and federal arenas, and for casting this vision to future generations. It has been said that “Today’s youth are tomorrow’s leaders.” LTIA has embraced this philosophy and is investing its resources to secure a bright future for America through conservative leadership. I hope my colleagues will join me in honoring the Leadership Training Institute of America for their outstanding training of America’s youth for the past 15 years.

PLANNED FLOTILLA TO GAZA

HON. STEVE ISRAEL
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. ISRAEL. Mr. Speaker, in May, Representatives Napolitano and I led 34 of our colleagues from the House of Representatives in sending a letter to the Prime Minister of Turkey, Recep Tayyip Erdogan, urging his government to work to discourage the planned flotilla to Gaza. Earlier this month, the Turkish group IHH, one of the major organizers of the flotilla, announced that it was pulling out. This was a major victory, but other flotilla participants have opted to proceed with this provocative and unnecessary act.

The government of Israel has a right and a responsibility to protect the Israeli people. Recent events, such as the seizure of the Victoria, which was carrying more than 50 tons of weapons destined for Hamas militants, clearly demonstrate Israel’s legitimate security concerns regarding cargo heading to Gaza. The flotilla has nothing to do with providing aid to the people of Gaza. There are well-established avenues for getting humanitarian assistance to Gaza. The flotilla participants’ refusal to use these alternatives demonstrates that their true intention is to provoke Israel. I call on them to abandon their confrontational plans and work with Israel in allowing legitimate assistance, but not weapons, to enter Gaza.

JOBS AND ENERGY PERMITTING ACT OF 2011

SPEECH OF
HON. BARBARA LEE
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, June 22, 2011

The House in Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 2021) to amend the Clean Air Act regarding air pollution from Outer Continental Shelf activity.

Ms. LEE. Madam Chair, I rise in strong opposition to H.R. 2021.

By overriding offshore air pollution rules H.R. 2021 dirties our coasts and oceans, endangers the health of our citizens and constituents, and is trapped in the quagmire of the 20th century energy economy when we should be pressing towards the 21st.

I am distressed that many of my colleagues, while consistently touting an increased role for local and state government, want to completely overrun existing state health and environmental regulations. As the California Air Resources Board expressed in testimony, this bill will “quash local control, impose tremendous new costs on state and local government and taxpayers, and disenfranchise community groups and local stakeholders.”

Let us not lose sight of the fact that the Clean Air Act is first and foremost about public health and protecting our citizens from dangerous pollution that directly threatens their health. Turning again to testimony from the California Air Resources Board, which is supported by the Boards of other states, this bill will severely limit existing protections for public health in coastal states. I would particularly note that, as allowed for in section three, ships involved in drilling activities would not have to use emissions control technology, even though these ships already comprise the vast proportion of pollution from drilling operations.

Section two of this bill demands that the pollution being disgorge by offshore drilling projects be measured at the point of its impact with the shoreline. What some of my distinguished colleagues appear to have forgotten is that we in the coastal states actually engage in activities that extend past the shore. Let’s forget for a moment the enormous implications that this measure has for climate change and environmental degradation. What section two essentially states is that the health and safety of our fishermen, boaters, and the workers engaging in the very projects that are the topic of the present debate are inconsequential. I oppose this bill so strongly because these are the people who deserve and need to be protected.

For these reasons, I offer my complete support to my colleague from California, RepresentativeSpeier, one of the many Members here today whose constituents will suffer directly under this provision. Her amendment to cut section two from this bill represents at least a small step toward limiting the appalling health and environmental consequences of H.R. 2021, and I support that amendment unconditionally.

My district is home to the Port of Oakland, the fourth busiest container port in the United States. Large container ships like the ones we’re talking about here produce enormous amounts of pollution, and when loading and unloading at ports and docks can contribute drastic health consequences for the surrounding communities. These communities, like West Oakland in my district, are often home to poor communities and people of color, groups that remain under-represented in this body. Sacrificing their health and the health of coastal communities all around this country to increase the profits of big polluters like Shell Oil Company is flat-out wrong. I do not and will not support this bill.

This bill would allow the world’s largest oil companies to circumvent pollution standards that have protected our air and health for decades. Rolling back environmental protections hurts my constituents, and it hurts Americans all around the country. H.R. 2021 is bad for our health, bad for our environment, and bad for our country. I stand firmly with my colleagues in opposing this bill.

A TRIBUTE TO JULIANA OSGOOD

HON. TOM LATHAM
OF IOWA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. LATHAM. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize and congratulate Juliana Osgood for being named a state winner of the Library of Congress’s Letters about Literature program.

The Letters about Literature is a national reading and writing program that is sponsored by the Library of Congress. The program asks students to write to the past or present author of a book that affected their life. Nearly 70,000 young readers from across the country submitted letters last year to compete for the state-level awards for 2011.

A panel of judges that can include published authors, editors, publishers, librarians, teachers, and even state officials chose Juliana’s letter as a state winner. Juliana wrote a letter to author Patricia MacLachlan explaining how MacLachlan’s book, Edward’s Eyes, affected her life. Edward’s Eyes is a story of a family’s love and loss that chronicles the difficulty of dealing with the painful moments in life. MacLachlan’s acclaimed novel spoke to Juliana, and now Juliana’s letter to Machacihan has earned her recognition in her community as well as here in Washington.

Mr. Speaker, the example set by this young woman demonstrates the rewards of harnessing one’s talents and sharing them with the world. Julianna’s efforts embody the Iowa spirit and I am honored to represent her and her family in the United States Congress. I know that all of my colleagues in the United States House of Representatives will join me in congratulating her for her achievement and wish her continued success in her future education and career.

RETIREMENT OF REV. CESSAR L. SCOTT, SR. AS EXECUTIVE MINISTER OF THE BAPTIST GENERAL CONVENTION OF VIRGINIA

HON. ROBERT C. “BOBBY” SCOTT OF VIRGINIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. SCOTT of Virginia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Rev. Cessar L. Scott, Sr., Executive Minister of the Baptist General Convention of Virginia. Rev. Scott is retiring this year after 33 years of service as Executive Minister, and I would like to take this moment to recognize some of his numerous accomplishments during that time.

A native of Portsmouth, Virginia, Rev. Scott received his undergraduate degree from Virginia Union University in 1966 and his divinity degree from VUU’s Samuel Dewitt Proctor School of Theology in 1970. He also earned a master’s degree from Virginia Commonwealth University.

Rev. Scott first became Executive Minister of the General Convention in 1978. Founded in 1899, The Baptist General Convention of Virginia is the mission and network, representing over 1000 churches in the Commonwealth of Virginia. As the Executive Minister, Rev. Scott coordinates the day-to-day operation of the Convention, supervising its ministries and programs. These ministries offer conferences, workshops and retreats, and provide written resources on issues like Christian Education, Men’s and Women’s Health, and Youth Development.

Through his work at the Baptist General Convention, Rev. Scott has also supported many other state and national institutions including: the Children’s Home of Virginia Baptists, Inc; Virginia One Church, One Child Adoption Program; the Chaplain’s Prison Ministry; the United Negro College Fund; National
Mr. Speaker, I know my colleagues join me in thanking Joe Howry for his ethics, objectivity and professionalism and for being an example of what a journalist can and should be. I know they further join me in wishing him a long and healthy retirement surrounded by the love of his family and friends.

INTRODUCTION OF THE “OIL SPILL VICTIMS REDRESS ACT”

HON. EDWARD J. MARKEY OF MASSACHUSETTS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. MARKEY. Mr. Speaker, more than one year after the Deepwater Horizon tragedy that ultimately led to more than 4 million barrels of oil spilling into the Gulf of Mexico, the Congress has yet to enact a single legislative reform to improve the safety of offshore drilling and protect the families of the Gulf region who had their livelihoods impacted by the BP oil spill.

This legislation, the Oil Spill Victims Redress Act, would simply clarify that those who have suffered economic harm as a result of the spill can seek to pursue claims in state court from all of the companies involved. Some of the companies involved in the spill, including Halliburton and Cameron, have argued in court that the Oil Pollution Act pre-empts state law and, as a result, that state law claims brought by victims of the spill should be dismissed or removed to federal court. These companies have even argued that they should be exempt from all suits because they are not responsible parties as defined under the OPA. The Oil Pollution Act already provides for claims to be brought in state court and was not intended to preempt state law. The Act clearly states that “nothing in this Act shall affect, or be construed or interpreted to affect or modify in any way the obligations or liabilities of any person under . . . State law, including common law.”

However, in light of the legal arguments being made by the companies involved in this disaster in an attempt to limit their liability, we are introducing this legislation today that would further reaffirm the ability of citizens to seek compensation for the economic impacts of the spill in state court. We must not forget about the people of the Gulf who had their livelihoods devastated by the spill. This legislation will provide redress in state court to the families of the Gulf who have suffered economic harm as a result of the Deepwater Horizon disaster.

PUBLICATION OF THE RULES OF THE JOINT COMMITTEE ON PRINTING

HON. GREGG HARPER OF MISSISSIPPI
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. HARPER. Mr. Speaker, pursuant to clause 1(b) of the Rules of the Joint Committee on Printing, I hereby submit the Rules of the Joint Committee on Printing for the 112th Congress, as adopted by the Joint Committee during its organizational meeting on June 22, 2011.
party in the House of Congress opposite of that of the Chairman shall be the ranking minority member of the Committee.

(b) In the event the House and Senate are under different party control, the Chairman and vice Chairman shall represent the majority party in their respective Houses. When the Chairman and vice Chairman represent different parties, the vice Chairman shall also fulfill the responsibilities of the ranking minority member as prescribed by these rules.

RULE 7.—PARLIAMENTARY QUESTIONS

Questions as to the order of business and the procedures of Committee shall in the first instance be decided by the Chairman; subject always to an appeal to the Committee.

RULE 8.—HEARINGS: PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENTS AND WITNESSES

(a) The Chairman, in the case of hearings to be conducted by the Committee, shall make an announcement of the place and subject matter of any hearing to be conducted on any measure or matter at least one week before the commencement of that hearing. The Chairman determines that there is good cause to begin such hearing at an earlier date. In the latter event, the Chairman shall make such public announcement of the earliest possible date. The staff director of the Committee shall promptly notify the Daily Digest of the Congressional Record as soon as possible after such preeminent is made.

(b) So far as practicable, all witnesses appearing before the Committee shall file advance written statements of their proposed testimony 48 hours in advance of their appearance and their oral testimony shall be limited to brief summaries. Limited insertions or additional Germane material will be recorded in the record subject to the approval of the Chairman.

RULE 9.—OFFICIAL HEARING RECORD

(a) An accurate stenographic record shall be kept of all Committee proceedings and actions. Brief supplemental matter of which the Chairman is required to clarify the transcript may be inserted in the record subject to the approval of the Chairman.

(b) Each member of the Committee shall be provided with a copy of the hearing transcript for the purpose of correcting errors of transcription and grammar, and clarifying questions as to relevant issues. If any other person is authorized by a Committee Member to make his corrections, the staff director shall be so notified.

(c) Members who have received unanimous consent to submit written questions to witnesses shall be allowed two days within which to submit these to the staff director for transmission to the witnesses. The record may be held open for a period not to exceed two weeks awaiting the responses by witnesses.

(d) A witness may obtain a transcript copy of his testimony given at a public session or, if given at an executive session, when authorized by the Committee. Testimony received in closed hearings shall not be released or included in any report without the approval of the Committee.

RULE 10.—WITNESSES FOR COMMITTEE HEARINGS

(a) A list of witnesses for Committee hearings shall be made by the Committee staff under the direction of the Chairman. A list of proposed witnesses shall be submitted to the members of the Committee not fewer than 48 hours in advance of the hearings to permit suggestions by the Committee members to receive appropriate consideration.

(b) The Chairman shall provide such private time for questioning of witnesses by all members, including minority Members and the rule of germaneness shall be enforced in all hearings notified.

(c) Whenever a hearing is conducted by the Committee upon any measure or matter, the witness or witnesses invited to the Committee shall be entitled, upon unanimous request of the Chairman before the completion of such hearings, to call witnesses selected by the minority to testify at any time after the hearing thereof and during at least one day of hearing thereon.

RULE 11.—CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION

FURNISHED TO THE COMMITTEE

The information contained in any books, papers or documents furnished to the Committee by any individual, partnership, corporation or other legal entity shall, upon the request of the individual, partnership, corporation or other legal entity furnishing the same, be maintained in strict confidence by the members and staff of the Committee, except that any such information may be released outside of executive session of the Committee if the release thereof is effected in a manner which will not reveal the identity of such individual, partnership, corporation or entity in connection with any pending hearing or as a part of a duly authorized report of the Committee if such release is deemed essential to the performance of the functions of the Committee on behalf of the public interest.

RULE 12.—BROADCASTING OF COMMITTEE HEARINGS

The rule for broadcasting of Committee hearings shall be the same as Rule XI, clause 4, of the Rules of the House of Representatives.

RULE 13.—COMMITTEE REPORTS

(a) No Committee report shall be made public or transmitted to the Congress without the approval of the majority of the Committee except when Congress has adjourned: provided that any member of the Committee may make a report supplemental to or dissenting from the majority report. Such supplemental or dissenting reports should be as brief as possible.

(b) Factual reports by the Committee staff may be printed for distribution to Committee members and the public only upon authorization of the Chairman either with the approval of a majority of the Committee or with the consent of the ranking minority member.

RULE 14.—CONFIDENTIALITY OF COMMITTEE REPORTS

No summary of a Committee report, pending the issuance of the report, or statement of conclusions concerning any investigation shall be made by a member of the Committee or by any staff member of the Committee prior to the issuance of a report of the Committee.

RULE 15.—COMMITTEE STAFF

(a) The Committee shall have a staff director, selected by the Chairman. The staff director shall be an employee of the House of Representatives or of the Senate.

(b) The Ranking Minority Member may designate an employee of the House of Representatives or of the Senate as the minority staff director.

(c) The staff director, under the general supervision of the Chairman, is authorized to deal directly with agencies of the Government and with non-Governmental groups and individuals on behalf of the Committee.

(d) The Chairman or staff director shall timely notify the Committee Minority Member or the minority staff director of decisions made on behalf of the Committee.

RULE 16.—COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN

The Chairman of the Committee may establish rules and take such actions as may be necessary to carry out the foregoing rules or to facilitate the effective operation of the Committee. Specifically, the Chairman is authorized, during the interim periods between meetings of the Committee, to act on all requests submitted by any executive department, independent agency, temporary or permanent commissions and committees of the Federal Government, the Government Printing Office and any other Federal entity, pursuant to the requirements of applicable Federal law and regulations.
Colonel Schroeder began his military career in October of 1977 when he enlisted as a Staff Support Administrative Specialist at the rank of E-1. After three years he enlisted as an air traffic controller before earning his commission as an Officer Air Traffic Controller in 1987.

Colonel Schroeder has most recently been serving in the Office of the Secretary of Defense as the National Security, Policy, Plans, and Programs official for the National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA) process. He has served in this capacity since the passage of the NDAA in December of 2010. Previous to his current position, Colonel Schroeder served in the Office of the Secretary of Defense for European and NATO Policy as the Country Director for the Baltic nations of Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania.

Mr. Speaker, our country owes Colonel Schroeder a great debt of gratitude for his decades of service. Colonel Schroeder’s unwavering commitment to serving his fellow Americans embodies the Iowa spirit and I know all of my colleagues in the United States House of Representatives will join me in wishing him a well deserved and fulfilling retirement. I wish him the best of luck in his future endeavors as he begins this new chapter in his life.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize and congratulate native Iowan Colonel David Schroeder of the United States Air Force on his illustrious 34 year military career that will be coming to a close later this year.
PAYING TRIBUTE TO THE LIFE OF DANIEL WEBB
HON. JIM COSTA
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. COSTA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today with my colleague, Mr. CARDOZA, to pay tribute and honor the life of Daniel Edward Webb, who passed away at the age of 49, on Sunday, June 19, 2011. Dan and I had known each other for several decades and I greatly cherish our friendship. We say good bye to Dan as a brother, uncle, friend, avid forester and dedicated public servant.

Born in Mariposa, California, July 3, 1961, Dan was the fourth of twelve children. He spent several summers in the Sierra Nevada in the Youth Conservation Corps which sparked a lifelong admiration for the outdoors. His affinity for the mountains seemed to have been born with him, and his passion never wavered, no matter how removed his environment. Dan knew him for his wit, humor, love of people, and simple goodness. He gave of himself freely, whether it was in offering food to the homeless or helping a friend repair a water pipe, and for that selflessness, we honor him.

Dan was preceded in death by his mother Agnes, his father George Sr., and infant brother Andy. He is survived by siblings George Webb Jr. of Granite City, Illinois, Sheila Yokota of Kingsburg, Lisa Inouye of Kingsburg, Mark Webb of Leander, Texas, Colleen Webb of Ventura, and Byron Webb of Merced.

Mr. Speaker, it is with great humility, honor and respect that Mr. CARDOZA and I ask our colleagues in the House of Representatives to pay tribute to the life of Daniel Webb: a dedicated public servant, a forester, a brother, a friend—a great American.

AMERICA INVENTS ACT

SPEECH OF HON. HENRY A. WAXMAN
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, June 22, 2011

The House in Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 1249) to amend title 35, United States Code, to provide for patent reform.

Mr. WAXMAN. Madam Chair, it is with great frustration that I rise in opposition to H.R. 1249, the America Invents Act.

Our nation’s patent system is the backbone of our knowledge-based economy and the wellspring of our most competitive industries. Since the era of the Founding Fathers, the patent system has evolved on the principle that individuals are entitled and encouraged to claim ownership of their thoughts and discoveries. For this reason we continue to be a world leader in innovation, producing some of the greatest scientific advances of the modern era and serving as a robust market for all around the world who want to invest in or introduce the next “big idea.”

The objective of patent reform is to improve patent quality, reduce uncertainty and modernize a Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) mired in inefficiencies and delays. Regrettably, this bill as amended fails to achieve these critical goals.

On the issue of patent quality, I am deeply disappointed that Section 12 of the bill introduces a new supplemental examination procedure permitting patent holders a second chance to correct or revise information that was inaccurate or omitted at the time the patent was filed. The provision also prohibits any information provided in a reexamination proceeding as evidence that a patent holder committed inequitable conduct and deliberately filed a patent application that was misleading or deceptive.

Effectively, this amounts to a “get out of jail free card” for any company fearful of having their patent invalidated because they deceived the PTO. Furthermore, nothing in the bill would stop a patent holder from seeking a supplemental examination with information that wasn’t even available at the time the patent was originally filed. Why is it to stop a drug company from submitting new clinical studies conducted after the patent was filed to shore up questionable claims in an original application? And what is to stop a company from cutting corners on a patent application when they know they can just fix it later?

If this bill is enacted into law, I am hopeful that the PTO will, at a minimum, adopt reasonable limitations on this procedure such as prohibiting reexamination of information that didn’t exist at the time of the original filing. It is essential that the agency carefully police what stands to be an abusive practice.

On the issue of certainty, I am concerned that this bill fails to offer greater clarity of the protection available to inventors during the “grace period,” or the one year period an inventor has to file a patent application after disclosing or publishing information about the invention. This time is critical for small inventors to conduct market research, pitch their ideas to investors, and raise sufficient capital to file a quality patent application. As our system shifts from a first-inventor-to-file to a first-to-file paradigm, small inventors face an increased risk that someone will hear their idea and race ahead of them to file a patent or use their own pitch materials against them to claim there is prior art undermining the patent application. Which brings me to the issue of modernization. This legislation is a leap of faith. It represents a dramatic transformation of the patent system and introduces a host of new mechanisms for pre-grant submissions, post-grant challenges, and revamped derivation proceedings at an agency already mired in backlogs. Rather than giving the PTO the resources it needs to implement these sweeping changes, the Republican leadership has refused to let the agency collect and allocate the fees paid by patent filers. Instead, the agency must remain at the mercy of the appropriations committee for annual allocations.

It’s one thing to ask inventors to take a leap of faith on the bold restructuring of our patent system. But now they are being asked to take another leap of faith that appropriators won’t fall back on their long history of poaching patent fee revenues for other uses.

Congress can do better and inventors deserve better. If this legislation passes the House, I hope we will have an opportunity to fix these problems in negotiations with the Senate.

A TRIBUTE TO MIKE GARRISON
HON. TOM LATHAM
OF IOWA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. LATHAM. Mr. Speaker, I rise to recognize Mike Garrison for his 35 years of service with the Lacona, Iowa Fire Department and subsequent retirement.

At a time when many small communities struggle to find the necessary volunteers, Mike has shown the leadership and commitment to betters his community through public service. Mike was presented a plaque recognizing his service from the Lacona Fire Chief, Robert Dittmer, and a potluck dinner and ceremony was held for Mike.

I know that my colleagues in the United States Congress join me in commending Mike. He has dedicated his life to service in protecting the community of Lacona. It is an immense honor to represent Mike in Congress, and I wish all the best to him as he embarks on this next chapter in life.

Mr. KIND. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to express my disappointment in the deep cuts made to conservation programs in H.R. 2112, the Agricultural Appropriations Bill. I represent one of the most productive farming regions in the country, and these cuts will have lasting consequences for all. As the father of two young children, I am extremely concerned about passing an undue financial burden on to future generations. It is clear to all that sacrifices must be made, but conservation programs that play a vital role in protecting our Nation's wetlands, and the environmental and economic benefits associated with them. The United States has already lost over half its native wetlands, and continues to lose these crucial habitats at an alarming rate. WRP provides an avenue for farmers to take wetlands, which are normally considered underproductive for farming anyway, out of production so that they may continue to provide habitat and ecosystem services. Finally, the cuts to conservation programs will be damaging to agriculture and food security. Cutting funds to conservation will put millions of acres of farmland at risk to unplanned development.

I have made conserving our natural heritage one of the hallmarks of my work in Congress, and I cannot stand by and watch these cuts without making my voice heard. While I am concerned about passing on a financial burden to my children, I am also concerned about passing on an environmental burden. Cutting these programs will only cause problems for future generations.

NATIONAL HOMEOWNERSHIP MONTH

HON. RÚBEN HINOJOSA
OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. HINOJOSA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of June 2011 National Homeownership Month. The most current data show that of 130.7 million homes in the United States, 74.9 million serve as principal residences. Another 37.0 million homes are renter-occupied, and the remaining 18.8 million are either for sale, for rent, or for seasonal use. Despite the recent economic decline, the people of the United States remain one of the most attractive markets in the world. Owning a home remains a fundamental part of the American dream and the largest personal investment many families will ever make. High homeownership rates help communities through higher property values, lower crime, and higher civic participation. Homeownership promotes a more even distribution of income and wealth, and establishes greater individual financial security. It improves living conditions, which can lead to a healthier population.

Homeownership creates neighborhood stability since owners are more inclined to remain in their communities for a longer period of time than renters. It has been proven to increase social and political involvement due to the concern about one's property value. Homeownership correlates with lower neighborhood crime. It fosters more responsible behavior among youths in the community, such as higher academic achievement and lower teen pregnancy rates, due to the monitoring mechanism put in place to maintain the attractiveness of a community. Economists have been able to establish that there is a correlation between homeownership and positive neighborhood effects does exist.

Improving homeownership opportunities requires the commitment and cooperation of the private, public, and nonprofit sectors, including the Federal Government and State and local governments. It is of the utmost importance that we maintain the mortgage interest deduction and the 30-year fixed rate mortgage as their elimination would result in a reduc-
At this time in history, given our economic and political climate, changes should not be made to the mortgage interest deduction, the 30 year fixed interest mortgage, or downpayment requirements that are pragmatic and beneficial to our constituents and our economy, especially while the housing market remains fragile. They would reduce the availability and increase the cost of mortgage capital for millions of Americans.

President Obama has declared June 2011 as National Homeownership Month. It is my sincere hope that this Administration will do the right thing and facilitate the housing market recovery. I strongly support June 2011 as the proposed qualified residential mortgages proposal, modifications to the mortgage interest deduction, and changes to the 30-year fixed interest mortgage.

IN CELEBRATION OF THE UNVEILING OF THE 2011 "BID ON CULTURE" WINNING BANNERS RECOGNIZING BLACK MUSIC MONTH

HON. CHARLES B. RANGEL
OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the Artists whose designs were selected through the BID on Culture banner design competition. On Tuesday, June 21, the 125th Street Business Improvement District along with the Harlem Arts Alliance, Inc. and the Harlem Community Development Corporation unveiled the 2011 “BID on Culture” winning banners in recognition of June Black Music Month.

The “BID on Culture” Banners have added to the branding of 125th Street as the center of culture in Harlem, highlighting our community’s diversity, history, and contributions to and throughout our Nation and the world. Currently, there are 36 new banners that are flying on streetlight poles along the world-renowned famed 125th Street corridor. Let me now recognize the six winning designs that were selected from 41 submissions in the 3rd Annual “BID on Culture” banner design competition. Corine Campbell for Billie Holiday; Misha McGlown for Jimi Hendrix and Josephine Baker; Tomo Mori for Somos la Musica; Soyca Mphahlele for Joe Pass; and Hubert Williams for True Colours.

Harlem resident Artist, Corine Campbell says her creativity usually starts from a simple place like spotting a color combination that she wants to incorporate into a painting, expressing feelings with lines indescribable to words or finding attractive shapes to produce a portrait. She usually depicts women, while experimenting with different media, such as, paint, ink, pencils, yarn, fabric, and computer software. “It has been that way ever since I was a child drawing in my sketchbook in Harlem. Art allows me to escape somewhere fun while discovering numerous possibilities,” Campbell said. Her design in the 2011 banner competition features legendary jazz vocalist Billie Holiday. Detroit, Michigan Artist, Misha McGlown attended Wayne State University and Center for Creative Studies. Although she began painting professionally in 2006 and has since exhibited throughout the New York area, she is best known for her work under the Omo Misha brand. She was awarded her first solo exhibit by Columbia University in 2008 and on behalf of artHARLEM, she curated EVOLUTION: The Changing Face of Harlem—an exhibit, hosted by Columbia University, featuring the works of 25 Harlem artists. She is currently Curator-in-Residence for Harlem’s Café One and has worked in programming and development for The Children’s Art Carnival, and led residencies and youth workshops for numerous organizations in New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania. A multi-faceted artist, Misha is a published author and creator of The Omo Misha Times—a webzine covering art, fashion, politics, fun and social awareness. She has been the recipient of artistic awards by the Lower Manhattan Cultural Council, the Puffin Foundation, and Harlem Community Alliance. Her design in the 2011 banner competition feature Josephine Baker and Jimi Hendrix.

Artist Tomo Mori was born in Shijonawate in the countryside of Osaka, Japan and later moved to Tokyo. There, she discovered a severe affliction with allergies that kept her house-bound, but allowed her to find a new freedom: art. At 15, she enrolled in the Tokyo Metropolitan High School for Music and Fine Arts and a year later traveled to California to study English. She returned to Japan, where her first large scale painting, “Scream,” was exhibited at the prestigious Metropolitan Museum in Ueno. In 1991, she moved to Atlanta, and studied at the Atlanta College of Art. Tomo worked as a graphic designer for 16 years but last year, she decided to focus on her art. She has followed the artist to Harlem where she says she thrives from the creative energy. Inspiration struck while she was taking a dance class in Mali. She realized her focus on music/dance, process, and color are the catalysts for her 2011 banner competition design submission of the vibrant dancers, Somos la Musica, which will find a stage along 125th Street.

Soyca Mphahlele was born in Zambia, Africa. Harlem resident Artist Soyca Mphahlele grew up in the Parkside Projects in the Bronx and went on to attend the Fiorello H. LaGuardia High School of Music and Art and Performing Arts and later graduated with a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Visual Communication from the Maryland Institute College of Art. He has lived, worked, and worshipped in Harlem since he was a child. Soyca says his work “represents the tone of the real New York and his enduring respect for the art of the streets.” His 2011 banner competition design, New Colors, does just that.

Artist Hubert Williams was born in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, but moved to New York in 1964. A versatile photographer, filmmaker, and visual artist as well as a musician (organist) had his first encounter with a camera in 1976. He has since gone on to photograph his viewpoint of people, places, and structures as well as weddings, fashion events, opera, and jazz concerts. “I live to shoot,” Williams says with passion for photography through his vivid 2011 banner competition design submission True Colours.

In addition to the banner competition, BID ON CULTURE presents Black Music Month in Harlem featuring nearly 100 events at nine venues throughout the area. The month-long celebration honors Gospel, R&B, Classical, Caribbean, Salsa, Afro-Cuban, Funk, and Soul music performances as well as spoken word, art, and other entertainments. Known worldwide as the epicenter of Black culture, Harlem’s contribution to American music and all the arts is legendary. Concerts include the Michael G. Lewis Jazz Experience at the ALoft; Nate Lucas Organ Trio, and Paul Mooney “Live In Harlem,” at the Lenox Lounge; the Danny Mixon Trio at Showman’s Jazz Café; the Oral Tradition of Gospel Music in Harlem at the Dwyer Cultural Center; the Billie Holiday & Somos Band at the Harlem Stage Gatehouse; and Karaoke & Martini Thursday at Sylvia’s Also.

BID on Culture is also a participant in Make Music New York, a live, free musical celebration across the city that takes place each June 21, the longest day of the year, where hundreds of public spaces throughout the five boroughs become impromptu stages for more than 1,000 free concerts.

The 125th Street BID is a non-profit organization funded primarily from an additional tax assessment collected from the property owners within the defined boundaries. Organized in compliance with State and city laws, the property and business and business owners determine the services and programs needed for the district. The BID will utilize the competition to bring visibility to its streetscape improvement efforts and to enliven the community’s central business district. www.125thstreetbid.com.

The Harlem Arts Alliance (HAA) is a not-for-profit arts service organization committed to its mission of nurturing the artistic growth of artists and the organizational development of arts organizations based in Harlem and surrounding communities. Composed of over 750 individual artists and arts organizations, HAA plays an essential role by helping to build the resources, network, and capacity of its richly diverse membership. Counted among its members are young emerging artists as well as established and internationally recognized artists. Also represented are small grassroots organizations and major cultural institutions in Harlem and beyond. In addition, HAA maintains strong partnerships with numerous arts organizations and institutions throughout New York State, the region, and the nation to maintain vital collaborative efforts to promote the arts in communities (www.harlemaa.org).

Harlem Community Development Corporation (“Harlem CDC”), a New York State public benefit corporation, was created in 1995 to serve the greater Harlem community, including East Harlem, Central Harlem, West Harlem and Strivers’ Row. The organization is dedicated to envisioning and facilitating the development of a range of community development projects and revitalization initiatives and restore Upper Manhattan
CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — Extensions of Remarks

June 24, 2011

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2012

SPEECH OF
HON. HOWARD P. “BUCK” McKEON
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, June 23, 2011

The House in Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 2219) making appropriations for the Department of Defense for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2012, and for other purposes:

Mr. McKEON. Mr. Chair, I rise in support of the Fiscal Year 2012 Defense Appropriations bill. Ensuring that our military receives funding for the coming fiscal year is an essential duty of this Congress, and key to maintaining the capabilities of our Armed Forces. I applaud the work of the subcommittee and full committee for considering this legislation in regular order. I also give credit to my colleagues on the Rules Committee for ensuring that the House has once again returned to the days of open rules on appropriations bills, so every Member’s voice can be heard.

Furthermore, it is with the utmost appreciation that I commend the Appropriations Committee for working in partnership with the Armed Services Committee on matters relating to our military. As Chairman of the Armed Services Committee, I remain fully committed to providing our troops with the resources needed to fulfill their missions. To that end, I am pleased to see that this bill provides the full amount of funding requested by the President for fiscal year 2012 to fund Overseas Contingency Operations, which is essential to achieving victory in ongoing military operations in Iraq and Afghanistan.

However, I do have reservations about the cut to the defense base budget during a time when we are engaged in several overseas conflicts and facing an abundance of emerging threats to our security. Despite the fact that our nation’s heroes got Osama bin Laden, we are still a nation at war—a war that we did not start. Al Qaeda has named bin Laden’s successor and there is no doubt in anyone’s mind that their primary goal is to kill Americans.

I recognize that on a percentage basis, an $8.9 billion cut may not seem significant—less than two percent. But two percent is the same as an $8.9 billion cut, and providing for our armed services, and will therefore oppose any efforts that would further reduce the resources available for our men and women in uniform and their families. I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting the passage of this bill.

A TRIBUTE TO BENJAMIN J. BUFFINGTON

HON. TOM LATHAM
OF IOWA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. LATHAM. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize and congratulate Benjamin James Buflington for achieving the rank of Eagle Scout.

The Eagle Scout rank is the highest advancement rank in scouting. Only about five percent of Boy Scouts earn the Eagle Scout Award. The award is a performance based achievement whose standards have been well-maintained over the years.

To earn the Eagle Scout rank, a Boy Scout is obligated to pass specific tests that are organized by requirements and merit badges, as well as completing an Eagle Project to benefit the community. Benjamin’s project was to work with other troop members to construct a three tier fence that will help develop an outdoor horse arena for Harmony Ranch in Clear Lake, Iowa. Harmony Ranch is a faith-based organization that provides therapeutic horse-riding ministry for individuals with disabilities. When the project was finished Benjamin’s fence enclosed a 100 foot by 200 foot area to provide the much needed riding area.

Mr. Speaker, the example set by this young man and his supportive family demonstrates the rewards of hard work, dedication and perseverance. Benjamin’s efforts embody the Iowa spirit and I am honored to represent him and his family in the United States Congress. I know that all of my colleagues will join me in congratulating him on achieving an Eagle Scout ranking and will wish him continued success in his future education and career.

CELEBRATION OF CARIBBEAN AMERICAN HERITAGE MONTH

HON. DONNA M. CHRISTENSEN OF THE VIRGIN ISLANDS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, June 24, 2011

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, as the month of June draws to a close, I urge my colleagues to recognize the celebration of Caribbean American Heritage Month. The past, present and future of the Caribbean is closely associated with that of this country, as our islands exist between two great continents and are affected by the social, economic and political decisions that are made by our neighbors to the north and to the south.

The Caribbean, and Caribbean Americans were there at the founding of this great country and continue to be a part of its evolution into the 21st century.

As it relates to the territory that I represent, the U.S. Virgin Islands, from the rum trade that helped to fund the American Revolution, to the first salute of the colors of the newly declared nation to being the place where the young Alexander Hamilton spent his formative years, our contributions to the American story are well documented.

Less known, is that our territory was purchased from Denmark almost 100 years ago in conjunction with the building of the Panama Canal as a means to defend and other American interests in the region. Also less known are the contributions of our citizens who left the islands to live in this great nation and to contribute as average citizens who are teachers, doctors, and business men, and as standouts in the Harlem Renaissance and the civil rights movement in this country.

The Virgin Islands and the wider Caribbean have contributed and continue to contribute soldiers, historians, activists, legislators and yes, Members of Congress.

Mr. Speaker, this year, the Institute of Caribbean Studies led by the indomitable Dr. Claire Nelson has recognized Members of Congress of Caribbean American Heritage who served in the past and who serve now. In addition to myself, the Honorable BARBARA LEE, the Honorable SHEILA JACKSON LEE, the Honorable YVETTE CLARKE and the Honorable FREDERICA WILSON who proudly serve now, they also recognize former Member Mervyn Dymally and the late, great Shirley Chisholm.

Caribbean American members continue to serve this country in every walk of life in entertainment, in law, in finance, in economic development. The countries in the Caribbean Basin continue to be friends and allies of our great nation. It is only fitting that Caribbean American Heritage be a relationship that is honored and recognized on an annual basis.

CONGRATULATING THE ST. CLAIR HIGH SCHOOL BASEBALL TEAM ON WINNING THE MICHIGAN DIVISION II STATE TITLE

HON. CANDICE S. MILLER
OF MICHIGAN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, June 24, 2011

Mrs. MILLER of Michigan. Mr. Speaker, it is my distinct privilege to recognize a special achievement recently accomplished by the St. Clair High School Saints Baseball Team. St. Clair capped off a remarkable and extremely memorable 2011 season by taking home the MHSAA Division II State Championship, an achievement that helped to fund the American Revolution, its evolution into the 21st century, and to the south. The Virgin Islands and the wider Caribbean have contributed and continue to contribute soldiers, historians, activists, legislators and yes, Members of Congress.

Mr. Speaker, this year, the Institute of Caribbean Studies led by the indomitable Dr. Claire Nelson has recognized Members of Congress of Caribbean American Heritage who served in the past and who serve now. In addition to myself, the Honorable BARBARA LEE, the Honorable SHEILA JACKSON LEE, the Honorable YVETTE CLARKE and the Honorable FREDERICA WILSON who proudly serve now, they also recognize former Member Mervyn Dymally and the late, great Shirley Chisholm. Caribbean American members continue to serve this country in every walk of life in entertainment, in law, in finance, in economic development. The countries in the Caribbean Basin continue to be friends and allies of our great nation. It is only fitting that Caribbean American Heritage be a relationship that is honored and recognized on an annual basis.

CONGRATULATING THE ST. CLAIR HIGH SCHOOL BASEBALL TEAM ON WINNING THE MICHIGAN DIVISION II STATE TITLE

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, as the month of June draws to a close, I urge my colleagues to recognize the celebration of Caribbean American Heritage Month. The past, present and future of the Caribbean is closely associated with that of this country, as our islands exist between two great continents and are affected by the social, economic and political decisions that are made by our neighbors to the north and to the south.

The Caribbean, and Caribbean Americans were there at the founding of this great country and continue to be a part of its evolution into the 21st century.

As it relates to the territory that I represent, the U.S. Virgin Islands, from the rum trade that helped to fund the American Revolution, to the first salute of the colors of the newly declared nation to being the place where the young Alexander Hamilton spent his formative years, our contributions to the American story are well documented.

Less known, is that our territory was purchased from Denmark almost 100 years ago in conjunction with the building of the Panama Canal as a means to defend and other American interests in the region. Also less known are the contributions of our citizens who left the islands to live in this great nation and to contribute as average citizens who are teachers, doctors, and business men, and as standouts in the Harlem Renaissance and the civil rights movement in this country.

The Virgin Islands and the wider Caribbean have contributed and continue to contribute soldiers, historians, activists, legislators and yes, Members of Congress.

Mr. Speaker, this year, the Institute of Caribbean Studies led by the indomitable Dr. Claire Nelson has recognized Members of Congress of Caribbean American Heritage who served in the past and who serve now. In addition to myself, the Honorable BARBARA LEE, the Honorable SHEILA JACKSON LEE, the Honorable YVETTE CLARKE and the Honorable FREDERICA WILSON who proudly serve now, they also recognize former Member Mervyn Dymally and the late, great Shirley Chisholm. Caribbean American members continue to serve this country in every walk of life in entertainment, in law, in finance, in economic development. The countries in the Caribbean Basin continue to be friends and allies of our great nation. It is only fitting that Caribbean American Heritage be a relationship that is honored and recognized on an annual basis.

CONGRATULATING THE ST. CLAIR HIGH SCHOOL BASEBALL TEAM ON WINNING THE MICHIGAN DIVISION II STATE TITLE

HON. CANDICE S. MILLER
OF MICHIGAN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, June 24, 2011

Mrs. MILLER of Michigan. Mr. Speaker, it is my distinct privilege to recognize a special achievement recently accomplished by the St. Clair High School Saints Baseball Team. St. Clair capped off a remarkable and extremely memorable 2011 season by taking home the MHSAA Division II State Championship, an achievement that helped to fund the American Revolution, its evolution into the 21st century, and to the south. The Caribbean, and Caribbean Americans were there at the founding of this great country and continue to be a part of its evolution into the 21st century, and to the south.

The Caribbean, and Caribbean Americans were there at the founding of this great country and continue to be a part of its evolution into the 21st century, and to the south.

The Caribbean, and Caribbean Americans were there at the founding of this great country and continue to be a part of its evolution into the 21st century, and to the south. The Caribbean, and Caribbean Americans were there at the founding of this great country and continue to be a part of its evolution into the 21st century, and to the south.
In the state finals when the team scored two runs on wild pitches en route to a 4–1 victory over Grand Rapids Christian. The Saints consistently exhibited the intangibles like heart, discipline and a positive attitude. They were never afraid to get their gloves and jerseys dirty to make a play.

In addition, the Saints also compiled an impressive final record of 33 wins and only one 1 loss, with 31 wins coming straight in a row. I applaud the entire coaching staff for their efforts to prepare this team both mentally and physically for competition.

Here I think it is worth mentioning our hometown Detroit Tigers who are post-humously honoring former Manager Sparky Anderson by retiring his Number 11 jersey this season. I think Sparky put it best when he said, “Baseball is a simple game. If you have good players and if you keep them in the right frame of mind then the manager is a success.” I am sure Coach McElreach would echo that same sentiment.

In commend the Saints for staying energized and hungry each time they crossed the white chalk to face-off against their opponents. This is an extremely difficult task, considering the various pressures and distractions high school student-athletes face on a daily basis.

Mr. Speaker, I wish to recognize the hard work and sacrifices displayed by all the members of the 2011 St. Clair High School Baseball Program. I congratulate the coaches, staff, teachers, parents, students and fans for their assistance in making this a season no one will ever forget.

Despite the hardships, set-backs and obstacles, the Saints showed they had the skills, will power and fortitude to rise to any challenge and they accomplished their ultimate goal—a State Championship! Teamwork, perseverance and friendship all contributed to this title as well. I know the City of St. Clair, St. Clair County and the East China School District take great pride in what these young men were able to accomplish.

In closing Mr. Speaker, I share that same pride and express my personal congratulations and best wishes. All the accolades, awards and trophies won by this team are rightfully deserved. This baseball squad exceeded expectations and established a tradition of winning for future teams to follow. Way to go Saints!

RECOGNIZING HILLARY BERKOWITZ
HON. GREGORY W. MEEKS
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. MEEKS. Madam Speaker, I rise to recognize a student of the Month from the Sixth Congressional District of New York.

Hillary Berkowitz is the valedictorian of the 2011 class of Benjamin Cardozo High School. She will be attending Barnard College in the fall. She challenged herself with the most rigorous of college preparatory courses that Benjamin Cardozo High School have to offer, and has attained a grade point average of 103.13.

In May 2010, Hillary was the proud recipient of the Queens College Presidential Excellence Award granted to the “best junior” in each Queens high school, and she is currently a 2011 National Merit Semifinalist. She is a dedicated member of the school and actively participates in school events. She is the treasurer for her leaders club, volunteers in tutoring other students, and always helps her teachers in whatever way she can.

Her college counselor has deemed her “Benjamin Cardozo High School’s best” and is an exceptional young woman. She has a great love for academia and the arts, and hopes that she can attend law school in the future.

I am sure Coach McElreach would echo that same sentiment.

In commend the Saints for staying energized and hungry each time they crossed the white chalk to face-off against their opponents. This is an extremely difficult task, considering the various pressures and distractions high school student-athletes face on a daily basis.

Mr. Speaker, I wish to recognize the hard work and sacrifices displayed by all the members of the 2011 St. Clair High School Baseball Program. I congratulate the coaches, staff, teachers, parents, students and fans for their assistance in making this a season no one will ever forget.

Despite the hardships, set-backs and obstacles, the Saints showed they had the skills, will power and fortitude to rise to any challenge and they accomplished their ultimate goal—a State Championship! Teamwork, perseverance and friendship all contributed to this title as well. I know the City of St. Clair, St. Clair County and the East China School District take great pride in what these young men were able to accomplish.

In closing Mr. Speaker, I share that same pride and express my personal congratulations and best wishes. All the accolades, awards and trophies won by this team are rightfully deserved. This baseball squad exceeded expectations and established a tradition of winning for future teams to follow. Way to go Saints!

RECOGNIZING HILLARY BERKOWITZ
HON. GREGORY W. MEEKS
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. MEEKS. Madam Speaker, I rise to recognize a student of the Month from the Sixth Congressional District of New York.

Hillary Berkowitz is the valedictorian of the 2011 class of Benjamin Cardozo High School. She will be attending Barnard College in the fall. She challenged herself with the most rigorous of college preparatory courses that Benjamin Cardozo High School have to offer, and has attained a grade point average of 103.13.

In May 2010, Hillary was the proud recipient of the Queens College Presidential Excellence Award granted to the “best junior” in each Queens high school, and she is currently a 2011 National Merit Semifinalist. She is a dedicated member of the school and actively participates in school events. She is the treasurer for her leaders club, volunteers in tutoring other students, and always helps her teachers in whatever way she can.

Her college counselor has deemed her “Benjamin Cardozo High School’s best” and is an exceptional young woman. She has a great love for academia and the arts, and hopes that she can attend law school in the future. Her hard work and dedication to success have earned her the respect of her peers, her teachers, and the community. I know that she has a bright future ahead of her.

THE FASTER ACT
HON. MIKE COFFMAN
OF COLORADO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. COFFMAN of Colorado. Mr. Speaker, today I am introducing the Facilitating American Security Through Energy Resources Act—The FASTER Act. This legislation will require the Department of the Interior to increase and accelerate the approval of high-potential onshore oil and gas permits located on Federal lands.

The current Administration has delayed, canceled, and reduced domestic energy production. The proof is in the numbers: in 2008 there were over 2,400 new oil and natural gas leases issued on Bureau of Land Management land and 2.6 million acres leased for production, but in 2010 the number of new leases issued dropped to 1,308 and acres leased dropped to 1.3 million. In exchange for this massive reduction, Administrative officials only offer distant hope for renewable resources. This is extremely troubling.

My bill would require Department of the Interior officials to identify, in consultation with industry, leases that have the highest energy potential and expeditiously move them through the permitting process.

The Bureau of Land Management claims that it takes, on average, 206 days to process a drilling permit application, but in reality the permitting process.

The Bureau of Land Management claims that it takes, on average, 206 days to process a drilling permit application, but in reality the permitting process.
Mr. SMITH of Nebraska. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in honor of the Arcadia High School Band from Valley County, Nebraska. On May 26, 2011 the band visited Washington, D.C. for a special concert at the National World War II Memorial. Performing 12 patriotic anthems at the memorial, the talented group of students captured an audience from around the world who were visiting our nation’s capital.

The Arcadia High School Band traces its roots back to 1930 when 17 students joined. Today, 77% of the student body plays in the band. Throughout the years, the band has regularly performed outside of the Arcadia community from Mount Rushmore, South Dakota to Grand Island, Nebraska. For 8 of the last 10 years the band received the highest rating at District Music Contests, including a standing ovation and superior ratings from all three judges.

Led by Mr. Randall Warner, the Arcadia High School Band exemplifies a long standing commitment to excellence in musical performance and high academic standards. The band makes their community and the State of Nebraska extremely proud. I ask my colleagues to join me today in honoring the exceptional talent and dedication of the Arcadia High School Band.

TRIBUTE TO PIKEVILLE MEDICAL CENTER

HON. HAROLD ROGERS OF KENTUCKY
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. ROGERS of Kentucky. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to a world class hospital and the American Alliance of Healthcare Providers’ 2010–2011 “Hospital of the Year,” Pikeville Medical Center. Each year, the American Alliance of Healthcare Providers selects a recipient of its hospital of the year award. This year, Pikeville Medical Center became the Nation’s only repeat winner over hundreds of applicants from across the country. I am proud to report that this top notch institution in the heart of Eastern Kentucky was judged to be the nation’s most patient friendly hospital. This distinguished honor truly reflects an unwavering commitment to world class treatment by every one of Pikeville Medical Center’s over 2,000 employees and 250 physicians. The honor of being named “Hospital of the Year” for the second consecutive year is simply the latest example of the Pikeville Medical Center’s stellar reputation among its peers and fellow medical professionals; in fact, the hospital has been named the #1 hospital to work for in Kentucky in Best Places To Work for three straight years, and has been nationally recognized for best practices and outstanding doctors by numerous organizations. Needless to say, the Pikeville Medical Center is clearly committed to their noble mission of being a “quality, regional health care in a Christian environment.”

For 86 years, Pikeville Medical Center has served as a beacon of healing for the people of Pike County, Kentucky and the surrounding region. Since its humble beginnings in 1924, the hospital has expanded numerous times to meet regional needs. Today, the Medical Center complex boasts many specialties and services such as its award winning cancer center, state-of-the-art Diagnostic Equipment, 4-D Echocardiograms, a cardiac rehabilitation center, a sleep studies laboratory, and a neonatal intensive care unit. The Pikeville Medical Center has also fashioned a teaching program that is second to none and will ensure that our talented young medical professionals will not have to leave Eastern Kentucky to learn and develop their skills.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in honoring a fine example of patient care and community wellness, the Pikeville Medical Center. I congratulate the Center on this latest achievement and wish the employees and hospital leadership many more years of success.

H.J. RES. 68 AND H.R. 2278

HON. EARL BLUMENAUER
OF OREGON
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mr. BLUMENAUER. Mr. Speaker, today the House considered two bills that focused on United States involvement in Libya. Both failed to adequately address our role in that country. H.J. Res. 68 is the less objectionable of the two. I reluctantly supported this Resolution because it reaffirmed the United States limited participation in an international coalition to deal with the humanitarian crisis in Libya and bars all funds from being used to deploy, establish, or maintain a presence of Members of the Armed Services or private security contractors on the ground. It also sets a clear deadline for U.S. involvement there.

What I would have liked to see offered was the Resolution sponsored by Senators KERRY and MCCAIN. The Kerry/McCain Resolution goes further and clearly defines our interests and objectives in the region.

It makes clear that it is the sense of this Congress that we will support the Libyan people and political reform in the country; it clearly defines our goal in Libya as the removal of Muammar Qaddafi and his family from power through the NATO mission outlined by U.N. Security Council Resolution 1973, which includes diplomatic and economic pressures; and that we must support the Libyan people transition to a representational democracy.

H.R. 2278 would prevent the Department of Defense from using any funds to support NATO in its mission to stop the slaughter of civilians by a dictator who has time and again made clear his disregard for the lives of innocents.

Of equal concern is the fact that H.R. 2278 sets an unfortunate precedent and undermines key global institutions by turning our backs to a unified call for intervention.

Preventing U.S. action would endanger the recent display of democratic aspirations by so many in the region and only emboldens the other despots of the world such as Syria, Iran, and Yemen, suggesting there are no consequences for murdering peaceful protesters. As I have said from the start, I would support thoughtful legislation that acknowledges the U.S. has chosen to answer the cries of the innocent Libyan people, but makes clear that our commitment to their aspirations of self governance is not open-ended, and which clearly defines our goals and—more importantly—limits. That is why I voted for H.J. Res. 68 and look towards the Kerry/McCain Resolution to carry the day because it sets the right tone.

STATEMENT ON PRESIDENT OBAMA’S MAY 19 SPEECH ON U.S. POLICY IN THE MIDDLE EAST

HON. ANNA G. ESHOO
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Ms. ESHOO. Mr. Speaker, I rise to address a very important issue which has generated much debate and misinformation in recent weeks. When President Obama articulated his vision for U.S. policy in the Middle East on May 19th at the State Department, he laid out an historic call to support the democratic aspirations of people living under decades of autocracy and tyranny.

President Obama also reaffirmed our commitment to finding a peaceful solution to the conflict between Israel and the Palestinians. He restated their need for a negotiated settlement, and he opposed the Palestinian attempt to unilaterally seek UN recognition of their statehood. He also called for a resolution of the disputed lands based on the “1967 lines with mutually agreed swaps.”

President Obama’s call to use the borders that existed before the Six Day War as the basis for future borders was also made by President George W. Bush and President Bill Clinton. This is an almost two-decade old U.S. position. This policy position is well understood as the mainstream position by every diplomat, pundit, and scholar familiar with this issue.

The position is shared by Israel’s own Defense Minister, and by Israel’s former Prime Minister. It is shared by Israel’s Opposition Leader, and it is shared by a majority of the Israeli public.

The issue of a negotiated peace settlement between Israelis and Palestinians is far too important to cede to those who criticize the President for their own political aims. We must emphasize the facts. Support for Israel as a secure Jewish democratic state is a bipartisan priority, and this Administration has done at least as much as any other to expand and improve our security cooperation and diplomatic ties with her.

As I say to each of my colleagues to refrain from distorting or misrepresenting this issue, and to join together in support of a negotiated settlement that will bring peace and prosperity to a region riddled with conflict for far too long.
Mr. VAN HOLLEN. Mr. Speaker, I support limited U.S. involvement in NATO military operations in Libya because I believe it is the right thing to do. The Qaddafi Regime was threatening to show “no mercy” against the rebels and swore to go “door to door to hunt them down like rats.” In contrast with our NATO allies and the Arab League, the President decided to act to prevent a massacre.

Failure to act will have also sent the wrong signal to other dictators trying to snuff out the Arab Awakening.

The president assured us that, in time, leadership of military operations would be handed over to NATO and that the U.S. would then assume a supportive role. True to that pledge, the U.S. now plays a non-combat, support role comprised primarily of intelligence gathering, logistics, surveillance and search and rescue. Three-quarters of sorties, including the majority of the strike sorties flown in Libya are being conducted by our coalition partners; all 20 of the ships enforcing the arms embargo of Libya are European and Canadian; and no American troops are on the ground.

It is for these reasons that I am supporting H.J. Res. 68, a resolution authorizing limited use of U.S. Armed Forces in support of the NATO mission in Libya and opposing H.R. 2278, a bill to defund all but a specified list of U.S. actions in support of the NATO effort.

H.J. Res. 68 authorizes for one year the continued supportive role the U.S. is already playing in Libya while expressing Congress’ concurrence with the language in the UN Resolution forbidding the use of ground forces in the military action.

Conversely, I cannot support H.R. 2278, a bill to defund all operations other than search and rescue; intelligence gathering; aerial refueling; and operational planning. This bill threatens the mission and the safety of coalition forces.

Under the specific set of circumstances the president faced in Libya, I believe he made the right decision. To undermine the effort at this moment would be a serious mistake. Failure to act will have also sent the wrong signal to other dictators trying to snuff out the Arab Awakening.

The president assured us that, in time, leadership of military operations would be handed over to NATO and that the U.S. would then assume a supportive role. True to that pledge, the U.S. now plays a non-combat, support role comprised primarily of intelligence gathering, logistics, surveillance and search and rescue. Three-quarters of sorties, including the majority of the strike sorties flown in Libya are being conducted by our coalition partners; all 20 of the ships enforcing the arms embargo of Libya are European and Canadian; and no American troops are on the ground.

It is for these reasons that I am supporting H.J. Res. 68, a resolution authorizing limited use of U.S. Armed Forces in support of the NATO mission in Libya and opposing H.R. 2278, a bill to defund all but a specified list of U.S. actions in support of the NATO effort.

H.J. Res. 68 authorizes for one year the continued supportive role the U.S. is already playing in Libya while expressing Congress’ concurrence with the language in the UN Resolution forbidding the use of ground forces in the military action.

Conversely, I cannot support H.R. 2278, a bill to defund all operations other than search and rescue; intelligence gathering; aerial refueling; and operational planning. This bill threatens the mission and the safety of coalition forces.

Under the specific set of circumstances the president faced in Libya, I believe he made the right decision. To undermine the effort at this moment would be a serious mistake.

In recognition of the integral role he has played in establishing sound public investment throughout the region, Mr. Avalon has been the recipient of many outstanding community awards over the years. In 2005 he was presented with the California State Association of Counties “Circle of Service Award” and in 2007 he was honored by the Contra Costa County Watershed Forum with the “Watershed Champion of the Year Award.” His legacy will live on through the series of public works projects and programs that he helped create and the communities they serve.

The long-lasting benefits of Mitch Avalon’s career accomplishments not only benefit our generation but will improve our communities for generations to come; they stand as a testament to what diligent work and true commitment to community can produce.

Mr. Speaker, we are truly honored to pay tribute to our friend and dedicated public servant Mitch Alan Watershed Forum. His work was instrumental in creating the annual Contra Costa County Watershed Symposium, which has become an incredible asset to the community. If not for his efforts, many of Contra Costa County’s public works projects and programs would not have come to fruition.

Mitch Avalon’s contributions have not only been an incredible asset to Contra Costa County but to the entire Bay Area. Mr. Avalon sits on the boards of directors for the San Francisco Estuary, California Central Valley Regional Flood Control Association, and San Francisco Estuary Institute. In addition, he was the founding chair for the Bay Area Flood Protection Agencies Association.

In recognition of the integral role he has played in establishing sound public investment throughout the region, Mr. Avalon has been the recipient of many outstanding community awards over the years. In 2005 he was presented with the California State Association of Counties “Circle of Service Award” and in 2007 he was honored by the Contra Costa County Watershed Forum with the “Watershed Champion of the Year Award.” His legacy will live on through the series of public works projects, programs and associations he helped create and the communities they serve.

The long-lasting benefits of Mitch Avalon’s career accomplishments not only benefit our generation but will improve our communities for generations to come; they stand as a testament to what diligent work and true commitment to community can produce.

Mr. Speaker, we are truly honored to pay tribute to our friend and dedicated public servant Mitch Alan Watershed Forum. His work was instrumental in creating the annual Contra Costa County Watershed Symposium, which has become an incredible asset to the community. If not for his efforts, many of Contra Costa County’s public works projects and programs would not have come to fruition.

Mitch Avalon’s contributions have not only been an incredible asset to Contra Costa County but to the entire Bay Area. Mr. Avalon sits on the boards of directors for the San Francisco Estuary, California Central Valley Regional Flood Control Association, and San Francisco Estuary Institute. In addition, he was the founding chair for the Bay Area Flood Protection Agencies Association.

In recognition of the integral role he has played in establishing sound public investment throughout the region, Mr. Avalon has been the recipient of many outstanding community awards over the years. In 2005 he was presented with the California State Association of Counties “Circle of Service Award” and in 2007 he was honored by the Contra Costa County Watershed Forum with the “Watershed Champion of the Year Award.” His legacy will live on through the series of public works projects, programs and associations he helped create and the communities they serve.

The long-lasting benefits of Mitch Avalon’s career accomplishments not only benefit our generation but will improve our communities for generations to come; they stand as a testament to what diligent work and true commitment to community can produce.

Mr. Speaker, we are truly honored to pay tribute to our friend and dedicated public servant Mitch Alan Watershed Forum. His work was instrumental in creating the annual Contra Costa County Watershed Symposium, which has become an incredible asset to the community. If not for his efforts, many of Contra Costa County’s public works projects and programs would not have come to fruition.

Mitch Avalon’s contributions have not only been an incredible asset to Contra Costa County but to the entire Bay Area. Mr. Avalon sits on the boards of directors for the San Francisco Estuary, California Central Valley Regional Flood Control Association, and San Francisco Estuary Institute. In addition, he was the founding chair for the Bay Area Flood Protection Agencies Association.

In recognition of the integral role he has played in establishing sound public investment throughout the region, Mr. Avalon has been the recipient of many outstanding community awards over the years. In 2005 he was presented with the California State Association of Counties “Circle of Service Award” and in 2007 he was honored by the Contra Costa County Watershed Forum with the “Watershed Champion of the Year Award.” His legacy will live on through the series of public works projects, programs and associations he helped create and the communities they serve.

The long-lasting benefits of Mitch Avalon’s career accomplishments not only benefit our generation but will improve our communities for generations to come; they stand as a testament to what diligent work and true commitment to community can produce.

Mr. Speaker, we are truly honored to pay tribute to our friend and dedicated public servant Mitch Alan Watershed Forum. His work was instrumental in creating the annual Contra Costa County Watershed Symposium, which has become an incredible asset to the community. If not for his efforts, many of Contra Costa County’s public works projects and programs would not have come to fruition.

Mitch Avalon’s contributions have not only been an incredible asset to Contra Costa County but to the entire Bay Area. Mr. Avalon sits on the boards of directors for the San Francisco Estuary, California Central Valley Regional Flood Control Association, and San Francisco Estuary Institute. In addition, he was the founding chair for the Bay Area Flood Protection Agencies Association.

In recognition of the integral role he has play...
"We report news that emphasizes education, social issues and relative information. There are no hidden agendas. People who are doing positive things need be heard. The Culvert Chronicles gives a voice to the ‘common folk’ that make up this city."

The Reverend Dr. Culvert is a man of God who has devoted his time to teaching, not preaching, the word of God, directly from the Bible, to family, friends, members of the community and in the prison populations throughout New York State. His open door policy has prevented many youth from getting in trouble, and others to go back to school. Dr. Culvert always finds time to listen, give advice, or providing comfort to anyone in need. His compassion for people, especially the children and our youth has made him a renowned father figure and mentor for all. Reverend Dr. Culvert is the founder of the First Central Baptist Church of Harlem, where he currently serves as Pastor. He is listed among Who’s Who in American Education and was chosen as one of the top 5% of Educators in America. Dr. Culvert is also considered a “Jack of All Trades.” Some of his greatest achievements throughout his life-time were playing basketball, football, soccer and running track. In addition to his many talents, you will find Reverend Culvert on any given Sunday playing various musical instruments in the church, and singing Solos when the spirit hits.

Mr. Speaker, please join me and a very grateful nation in wishing my friend and ally, Reverend Dr. Edward R. Culvert, a great American hero a hearty Congressional happy birthday.

HONORING THE PREUSS SCHOOL
HON. SUSAN A. DAVIS OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, June 24, 2011

Mrs. DAVIS of California. Mr. Speaker, the Preuss School—a high school in my district in San Diego—just earned top billing in Newsweek as a “Miracle School.” I couldn’t agree more.

Nestled on the campus of UC San Diego, this model urban high school is where students from families who never went to college become ready to do exactly that.

Preuss’s teachers rightly assume that if students have the tools and motivation, they will succeed. And they do!

Every single senior in the Preuss class of 2011 will attend either college or community college. That’s an amazing accomplishment!

I’d like to congratulate the students, teachers, tutors, and administrators at the Preuss School. It’s my hope that Preuss’s achievements will inspire more miracle schools across our nation so its success will become the norm.
Daily Digest

Senate

Chamber Action
The Senate stands adjourned until 2 p.m. on Monday, June 27, 2011.

Committee Meetings
(Committees not listed did not meet)
No committee meetings were held.

House of Representatives

Chamber Action
Public Bills and Resolutions Introduced: 55 public bills, H.R. 2348–2353, 2355–2403; and 7 resolutions, H.J. Res. 70; and H. Res. 331–336 were introduced.

Additional Cosponsors:

Reports Filed: Reports were filed today as followed:
H.R. 2354, making appropriations for energy and water development and related agencies for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2012, and for other purposes (H. Rept. 112–118);
First Semiannual Report on the Activities of the Committee on the Judiciary for the 112th Congress (H. Rept. 112–119);
First Semiannual Report on the Activities of the Committee on Veterans Affairs for the 112th Congress (H. Rept. 112–120);
First Semiannual Report on the Activities of the Committee on Financial Services for the 112th Congress (H. Rept. 112–121);
First Semiannual Report on the Activities of the Committee on Agriculture for the 112th Congress (H. Rept. 112–122); and
First Semiannual Report on the Activities of the Committee on Armed Services for the 112th Congress (Rept. 112–123).

Airport and Airway Extension Act of 2011, Part III: The House agreed by unanimous consent to discharge and pass H.R. 2279, to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 to extend the funding and expenditure authority of the Airport and Airway Trust Fund and to amend title 49, United States Code, to extend the airport improvement program.

Meeting Hour: Agreed by unanimous consent that (1) when the House adjourns today, it adjourn to meet at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, June 28, 2011; and (2) when the House adjourns on that day, it adjourn to meet at 10 a.m. on Friday, July 1, 2011.

Authorizing the limited use of the United States Armed Forces in support of the NATO mission in Libya: The House failed to agree to H.J. Res. 68, to authorize the limited use of the United States Armed Forces in support of the NATO mission in Libya, by a recorded vote of 123 ayes to 295 noes, Roll No. 493.

H. Res. 328, the rule providing for consideration of the joint resolution (H.J. Res. 68) and the bill (H.R. 2278) was agreed to by a yea-and-nay vote of 240 yeas to 167 nays, Roll No. 492, after the previous question was ordered without objection.
Limiting the use of funds for United States Armed Forces in support of North Atlantic Treaty Organization Operation Unified Protector with respect to Libya: The House failed to pass H.R. 2278, to limit the use of funds appropriated to the Department of Defense for United States Armed Forces in support of North Atlantic Treaty Organization Operation Unified Protector with respect to Libya, unless otherwise specifically authorized by law, by a recorded vote of 180 ayes to 238 noes, Roll No. 494. Pages H4550–64

H. Res. 328, the rule providing for consideration of the joint resolution (H.J. Res. 68) and the bill (H.R. 2278) was agreed to by a yea-and-nay vote of 240 yeas to 167 nays, Roll No. 492, after the previous question was ordered without objection.

United States Coast Guard Academy Board of Visitors—Appointments: Read a letter from Chairman Mica, Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure, wherein he designated the following Members of the House to serve on the United States Coast Guard Academy Board of Visitors: Representatives Guinta, Harris, and Larsen (WA). Page H4564

Board of Trustees of Gallaudet University—Appointments: The Chair announced the Speaker’s appointment of the following Members of the House to the Board of Trustees of Gallaudet University: Representatives Yoder and Woolsey. Page H4564

Advisory Committee on the Records of Congress—Reappointment: The Chair announced the Speaker’s reappointment of the following member on the part of the House to the Advisory Committee on the Records of Congress: Mr. Jeffrey W. Thomas of Columbus, OH. Page H4564

Clerk Designations: Read a letter from the Clerk wherein she designated Robert Reeves, Deputy Clerk, and Kirk Boyle, Legal Counsel, to sign any and all papers and do all other acts in case of her temporary absence or disability. Page H4564

Amendments: Amendments ordered printed pursuant to the rule appear on page H4578.

Quorum Calls—Votes: One yea-and-nay vote and two recorded votes developed during the proceedings of today and appear on pages H4540, H4549–50 and H4563–64. There were no quorum calls.

Adjournment: The House met at 9 a.m. and adjourned at 3:16 p.m.

Committee Meetings

AGRICULTURAL PROGRAM AUDIT

Committee on Agriculture: Subcommittee on General Farm Commodities and Risk Management held a hearing on Agricultural Program Audit: Examination of Crop Insurance Programs. Testimony was heard from William J. Murphy, Administrator, Risk Management Agency, Department of Agriculture.

OMB’S ROLE IN THE DOE LOAN GUARANTEE PROCESS

Committee on Energy and Commerce: Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations held a hearing entitled “OMB’s Role in the DOE Loan Guarantee Process.” No testimony was heard.

NRC REPOSITORY SAFETY DIVISION—STAFF PERSPECTIVE ON YUCCA LICENSE REVIEW

Committee on Energy and Commerce: Subcommittee on Environment and the Economy held a hearing entitled “NRC Repository Safety Division—Staff Perspective on Yucca License Review.” Testimony was heard from the following Nuclear Regulatory Commission officials: Janet P. Kotra, Division of High-Level Waste Repository Safety; N. King Stablein, Branch Chief, Division of High-Level Waste Repository Safety; Aby Mohseni, Acting Director, Division of High-Level Waste Repository Safety; Lawrence E. Kokajko, Acting Deputy Director; Office of Nuclear Material Safety and Safeguards; and Catherine Haney, Director, Office of Nuclear Material Safety and Safeguards.

OVERSIGHT OF THE MUTUAL FUND INDUSTRY

Committee on Financial Services: Subcommittee on Capitol Markets and Government Sponsored Enterprises held a hearing entitled “Oversight of the Mutual Fund Industry: Ensuring Market Stability and Investor Confidence.” Testimony was heard from public witnesses.

VENEZUELA’S SANCTIONABLE ACTIVITY

Committee on Foreign Affairs: Subcommittee on the Western Hemisphere, Subcommittee on the Middle East and South Asia, and Committee on Oversight and Government Reform, Subcommittee on National Security, Homeland Defense and Foreign Operations held a joint hearing on Venezuela’s Sanctionable Activity. Testimony was heard from Daniel Benjamin, Ambassador-at-Large, Coordinator for Counterterrorism, Department of State; Thomas L. Delare, Director for Terrorism Finance and Economic Sanctions Policy, Bureau of Economic, Energy, and Business Affairs, Department of State; Kevin Whitaker, Acting Deputy Assistant Secretary, Bureau of Western Hemisphere Affairs, Department of State; and Adam J. Szubin, Director, Office of Foreign Assets Control, Department of the Treasury.
EXAMINING THE HOMELAND SECURITY IMPACT OF THE OBAMA ADMINISTRATION’S CYBERSECURITY PROPOSAL

SEE SOMETHING, SAY SOMETHING ACT OF 2011

Committee on the Judiciary: Subcommittee on the Constitution held a hearing on H.R. 963, the “See Something, Say Something Act of 2011.” Testimony was heard from Chris Burbank, Chief of Police, Salt Lake City; and public witnesses.

MISCELLANEOUS MEASURES

Committee on Natural Resources: Full Committee held a markup of the semi-annual 112th Congress Report on Legislative and Oversight Activities. The report was agreed to without amendment.

WHY WE SHOULD CARE ABOUT BATS

Committee on Natural Resources: Subcommittee on Fisheries, Wildlife, Oceans, and Insular Affairs held a hearing entitled “Why We Should Care About Bats: Devastating Impact White-Nose Syndrome is Having on One of Nature’s Best Pest Controllers.” Testimony was heard from Gabriela Chavarria, Science Advisor to the Director, Fish and Wildlife Service, Jim Peña, Associate Deputy Chief, U.S. Forest Service; Jonathan Gassett, Commissioner, Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources; and public witnesses.

RUNNING ROUGHSHOD OVER STATES AND STAKEHOLDERS: EPA’S NUTRIENTS POLICIES

Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure: Subcommittee on Water Resources and Environment held a hearing entitled “Running Roughshod Over States and Stakeholders: EPA’s Nutrients Policies.” Testimony was heard from Nancy Stoner, Assistant Administrator, Office of Water, EPA; Bethany Card, Director of Water Quality Programs, New England Interstate Water Pollution Control Commission; George Elmaraghy, Chief, Division of Surface Water, Ohio Environmental Protection Agency; Richard Budell, Director, Office of Agricultural Water Policy, Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services; and public witnesses.

MISCELLANEOUS MEASURES

Committee on Veterans’ Affairs: Full Committee held a markup to approve the Activities Report for the Committee on Veterans’ Affairs. The report was agreed to without amendment.

MISCELLANEOUS MEASURES

Committee on Ways and Means: Full Committee held a markup of the “Report on the Legislative and Oversight Activities of the Committee on Ways and Means during the 112th Congress as of May 31, 2011.” The report was agreed to without amendment.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS FOR MONDAY, JUNE 27, 2011

(Committee meetings are open unless otherwise indicated)

Senate

No meetings/hearings scheduled.

House

No hearings are scheduled.
Next Meeting of the SENATE
2 p.m., Monday, June 27

Program for Monday: Senate will be in a period of morning business until 6 p.m., with Senator Sanders being recognized at 4 p.m. for up to 90 minutes.

Next Meeting of the HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
10 a.m., Tuesday, June 28

Program for Tuesday: The House will meet in pro forma session at 10 a.m.

Extensions of Remarks, as inserted in this issue

HOUSE

Baca, Joe, Calif., E1194
Baldwin, Tammy, Wis., E1203
Benske, Dan, Mich., E1194
Blumenauer, Earl, Ore., E1198, E1213
Bonner, Jo, Ala., E1197, E1199, E1201
Castor, Kathy, Fla., E1207
Christensen, Donna M., The Virgin Islands, E1211
Coffman, Mike, Colo., E1212
Cole, Tom, Okla., E1198
Costa, Jim, Calif., E1208
Davis, Geoff, Ky., E1207
Davis, Susan A., Calif., E1215
DeFazio, Peter A., Ore., E1198, E1203
Edwards, Donna F., Md., E1202
Eskoe, Anna G., Calif., E1213
Farr, Sam, Calif., E1194
Fudge, Marcia L., Ohio, E1199
Gallegly, Elton, Calif., E1206
Garamendi, John, Calif., E1214
Gerlach, Jim, Pa., E1193
Granger, Kay, Tex., E1202
Graves, Sam, Mo., E1195
Harper, Greg, Miss., E1200
Hastings, Aline L., Fla., E1198
Hayworth, Nan A-S., N.Y., E1194
Hinojosa, Ruben, Tex., E1209
Holt, Ruch D., N.J., E1199
Hoyer, Steny H., Md., E1201
Israel, Steve, N.Y., E1204
Kinz, Ron, Wis., E1309
King, Peter T., N.Y., E1195
Latham, Tom, Iowa, E1203, E1204, E1207, E1208, E1211
Lee, Barbara, Calif., E1204
Lumims, Cynthia M., Wyo., E1200
McKeon, Howard P., “Ruck”, Calif., E1221
Maloney, Carolyn B., N.Y., E1199
Marino, Tom, Pa., E1197
Markey, Edward J., Mass., E1205
Mica, John L., Fla., E1212
Miller, Candice S., Mich., E1201
Miller, Jeff, Fla., E1202
Nadler, Jerrold, N.Y., E1200
Paul, Ron, Tex., E1203
Pence, Mike, Ind., E1193
Polis, Jared, Colo., E1195
Rangel, Charles B., N.Y., E1210, E1214
Richardson, Laura, Calif., E1207
Rogers, Kay, Ky., E1213
Rothman, Steven R., N.J., E1200
Sarbanes, John P., Md., E1206
Scott, Robert C., “Bobby”, Va., E1204
Shimkus, John, Ill., E1201
Slaughter, Louise McIntosh, N.Y., E1195
Smith, Adrian, Neb., E1213
Van Hollen, Chris, Md., E1206, E1214
Waxman, Henry A., Calif., E1208
Young, Don, Alake., E1200

The Congressional Record (USPS 087–390). The Periodicals postage is paid at Washington, D.C. The public proceedings of each House of Congress, as reported by the Official Reporters thereof, are printed pursuant to directions of the Joint Committee on Printing as authorized by appropriate provisions of Title 44, United States Code, and published for each day that one or both Houses are in session, excepting very infrequent instances when two or more unusually small consecutive issues are printed one time. 1. Public access to the Congressional Record is available online through the U.S. Government Printing Office at www.fdsys.gov, free of charge to the user. The information is updated online each day the Congressional Record is published. For more information, contact the GPO Customer Contact Center, U.S. Government Printing Office, Phone 202–512–1800, or 866–512–1800 (toll-free). E-Mail, contactcenter@gpo.gov. 1. The Congressional Record paper and 24x microfiche edition will be furnished by mail to subscribers, free of postage, at the following prices: paper edition, $225.00 for six months, $503.00 per year, or purchased as follows: less than 200 pages, $10.50; between 200 and 400 pages, $21.00; greater than 400 pages, $31.50, payable in advance; microfiche edition, $146.00 per year, or purchased for $3.00 per issue payable in advance. The semimonthly Congressional Record Index may be purchased for the same per issue prices. To place an order for any of these products, visit the U.S. Government Online Bookstore at: bookstore.gpo.gov. Mail orders to: Superintendent of Documents, P.O. Box 979050, St. Louis, MO 63197–9000, or phone orders to 866–512–1800 (toll-free), 202–512–1800 (D.C. area), or fax to 202–512–2104. Remit check or money order, made payable to the Superintendent of Documents, or use VISA, MasterCard, Discover, American Express, or GPO Deposit Account. 1. Following each session of Congress, the daily Congressional Record is revised, printed, permanently bound and sold by the Superintendent of Documents in individual parts or by sets. 1. With the exception of copyrighted articles, there are no restrictions on the republication of material from the Congressional Record.