POVERTY AND UNEMPLOYMENT IN AMERICA

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from California (Ms. LEE) for 5 minutes.

Ms. LEE of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise again to really beat the drum about the ongoing crisis of poverty and unemployment in America.

On November 6, the Associated Press reported that we have crossed a terrible threshold. More job seekers now in America have run out of unemployment benefits than are receiving them. Simply put, the majority of Americans who are struggling to find a job are no longer getting unemployment benefits.

We need to extend unemployment benefits and we need to do it now, not just for those who are about to run out, but for the millions of Americans whose benefits ran out a long time ago—the millions who ran out of time to establish their careers, the millions who ran out of time to safeguard their families’ futures, and the millions who ran out of time to ignite the fires of the American Dream.

Congressman BOBBY SCOTT and I have a bill, H.R. 589, which will give millions of families just a little more time to find a good job, to make a secure home, and would provide a bridge over troubled waters while our Nation and the economy recovers.

Extending benefits for the 99ers is the right thing to do for millions of Americans who were laid off through no fault of their own. The working class, corporations took over their government and ran the economy into the ground. They watched as the banks raided the Nation’s treasury and lined their pockets with massive bonuses while millions of Americans lost their jobs. They watched as our Nation’s future was traded away for needless wars and tax cuts for billionaires.

Mr. Speaker, the American people are sick and tired. They don’t want to watch anymore. They don’t want to wait anymore. They have run out of time.

Nearly 50 million Americans are already living in poverty, struggling to feed their families and keep a roof over their heads. Countless millions more are living on the edge. They are desperately trying to stay ahead of disaster, living from paycheck to paycheck and waiting for the other shoe to drop.

The American people really have run out of patience. They don’t want to hear that the most powerful nation in the world is broke. They don’t believe it when they are told that we can’t afford Medicare or Medicaid or Social Security or unemployment benefits when we are spending $1 trillion on wars halfway around the world. They don’t want to hear empty promises from Representatives on both sides of the aisle about taking responsibility to ensure that the poor in America have “food in their stomachs and they have a roof over their head.”

The American people want action. They want us to pass the H.R. 589, to extend unemployment benefits for those who await to run out of their benefits and those who have already run out of time to find a job. They want us to focus on the need to create jobs, to focus on the need to reduce the deficit and create jobs, and to help those who are out of patience. They want us to move jobs to America, not just for those who are about to run out, but for those who are already running out of time to find a job.
