with a deal, they'll downgrade U.S. debt.

Could the threat to our national sovereignty be any clearer? It’s time for Congress to listen to the wisdom of our Founders and reclaim its constitutional primacy over monetary policy. There is a way to lift the burden of debt and help spur economic growth and job creation.

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Mr. Speaker, last Monday, the Joint Select Committee on Deficit Reduction announced that the bipartisan group had failed to reach an agreement. In an op-ed to The Wall Street Journal, Congressman JEB HENSARLING, cochair of the supercommittee, stated that the group “missed a historic opportunity to lift the burden of debt and help spur economic growth and job creation.”

Last week, I attended a town hall meeting in Forest Acres, South Carolina, hosted by Mayor Frank Brunson, where we discussed ways to promote small businesses and encourage job growth within the private sector. The message from the constituents is very clear: Congress must reduce Washington’s out-of-control spending before it’s too late.

As Congress returns from the Thanksgiving Day recess, I encourage our colleagues in the Senate to begin focusing on job creation by considering any of the 20 jobs bills the House has passed with bipartisan support this year.

In conclusion, God bless our troops, and we will never forget September the 11th in the global war on terrorism.

FAILURE OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE

Mr. BURGESS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.

Mr. BURGESS. Mr. Speaker, it was about a week ago that the Joint Select Committee announced that they were unable to reach an agreement in finding $1.2 trillion in cuts before their deadline. Now, could they have done this without really breaking a sweat? And the answer is yes, they could have. The entire target for which they were focusing on job creation by considering any of the 20 jobs bills the House has passed with bipartisan support this year.

In conclusion, God bless our troops, and we will never forget September the 11th in the global war on terrorism.

RECOGNIZING NATIONAL ADOPTION MONTH

Mr. HULTGREN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.

Mr. HULTGREN. Mr. Speaker, this Thanksgiving many of us had the opportunity to spend time with our families and loved ones, so I think it’s fitting that November is National Adoption Month. I also think it’s appropriate to take time during this holiday season to recognize the tens of thousands of families nationwide who are foster families.

Unfortunately, in my home State of Illinois, a potentially tragic situation has unfolded. Faith-based adoption agencies across the State are being shut down because of their belief in traditional marriage. The Illinois Department of Child and Family Services has declined to renew contracts with several organizations. They have declined these agencies, some of whose work was 70 percent foster care. It’s an unfortunate situation, and I’m watching it closely.

But today I want to say publicly that, as we fight to curb teenage pregnancy and abortion, the right to adopt is one thing we really must defend.

OBAMACARE JOBS

Mr. PITTS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Speaker, let’s be perfectly clear: Our tax policy affects job growth. When the Federal Government raises taxes, raises rates, or creates new taxes, businesses make decisions regarding their workforce. When the government takes more, businesses have to make due with less.

All told, last year’s health care reform law will raise taxes by $800 billion over the next 10 years. One of the new taxes is a 2.3 percent tax on medical devices.

Michigan-based manufacturer Stryker recently announced that they will reduce their work force by 5 percent so that they will be prepared to pay this new tax beginning in 2013. Stryker is just one of the first to announce reductions in the layoffs.

In the next year, medical device companies will be faced with difficult decisions about where they will cut in
