Mr. DARRELL E. ISSA, from the Committee on Oversight and

R E P O R T

ACTIVITIES OF THE HOUSE COMMITTEE ON OVERSIGHT AND GOVERNMENT REFORM, 112TH CONGRESS, 2D SESSION, JUNE 2012

THIRD SEMIANNUAL ACTIVITIES REPORT

The number one priority of this Congress is to foster private sector job creation and get Americans back to work.

The House Oversight and Government Reform Committee is uniquely positioned to conduct a broad-based, economy-wide examination of the barriers that stand in the way of job growth and economic recovery. In his State of the Union Address, the President called for a government-wide examination of regulations, to “help our companies compete” and to “knock down barriers that stand in the way of their success.”

In the first three quarters of the 112th Congress, the Committee held numerous hearings, including those at both the full committee and the subcommittee levels, to examine how the rules proposed and implemented by the Environmental Protection Agency, the Department of Interior, the Department of Labor, and the General Services Administration, among others, have hurt job creation. The Full Committee has advanced the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act, as well as the Regulatory Freeze for Jobs Act of 2012, and a moratorium on “Midnight Rules” or major rules offered by a lame duck president.

Private sector economic growth is not only held back by regulatory barriers standing in the way of small, medium-sized, and large businesses, but also by the uncertainty surrounding our nation's skyrocketing debt. The Committee's unique position to oversee all federal government agencies and functions, as well as our role in crafting federal workforce and government management legislation, gives us the opportunity to promote private sector economic growth by reducing fraud, abuse, and mismanagement in government spending, and improving government performance.

During the first three quarters of the 112th Congress, the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform held 165 oversight hearings and reported 63 bills and resolutions to the House for consideration, including the restoration of the successful D.C. Opportunity Scholarship Program, bills dealing with tax accountability for federal employees and contractors, transparency of grants, protecting whistleblowers, reducing the size of the federal workforce through attrition, modernizing the Federal Information Security Management Act, and reforming the United States Postal Service. The Digital Accountability and Transparency Act, a bipartisan transparency spending bill sponsored by the Chairman and Ranking Member and reported by the Committee, was adopted by the House of Representatives on a unanimous voice vote in April 2012.

To carry out its duties most effectively, the Committee established seven standing subcommittees: the Subcommittee on Federal Workforce, U.S. Postal Service and Labor Policy; the Subcommittee on Government Organization, Efficiency and Financial Management; the Subcommittee on Health Care, District of Columbia, Census and the National Archives; the Subcommittee on National Security, Homeland Defense and Foreign Operations; the Subcommittee on Regulatory Affairs, Stimulus Oversight and Government Spending; the Subcommittee on TARP, Financial Services and Bailouts of Public and Private Programs; and the Subcommittee on Technology, Information Policy, Intergovernmental Relations and Procurement Reform.

III. SUMMARY OF COMMITTEE OVERSIGHT PLAN

Pursuant to Rule X, Clause 2(d) of the Rules of the House, the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform for the 112th Congress adopted the following plan to guide the work of its subcommittees and the full committee. Because of the Committee’s role as the principal oversight body of the federal government and its mandate to investigate “any matter at any time,” this plan did not preclude oversight and investigation of other matters of importance to the American people.

The Committee’s adopted plan indicates oversight in several sectors, including:

- Government Spending and Economic Stimulus—including the American Reinvestment and Recovery Act and other economic stimulus programs.
- Financial Sector Regulation—including the implementation of Dodd-Frank, reviewing the FCIC, the creation of the CFBP, the Troubled Asset Relief Program and the recommendations of the Special Inspector General, including the failure of the Home Affordable Mortgage Program, and the Federal Housing Finance Agency’s oversight of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac.

- Consumer Protection—including abuses by the mortgage industry which, coupled with high unemployment and a stagnant economy, have contributed to the foreclosure crisis.
- Government Watchdogs—including the effectiveness of federal government inspectors general and their freedom from political interference, and ensuring the independence and integrity of the Government Accountability Office, and the federal government's actions on the recommendations in their biannual High Risk Series and their new annual list of duplicative, overlapping, and fractured federal programs.
- Federal Financial Management—including the record $125 billion in improper payments made in 2010, growth in non-tax debt owed to the Federal Government, the persistent inability of many federal agencies to achieve a clean audit, and a comprehensive detailed review of financial management systems in place in the Federal Government.
- Federal Real Property Disposal—including the proposal to use a Base Realignment and Closure style initiative to reduce the federal deficit by disposing of excess property.
- Government Contracting—including the transition from primarily Department of Defense personnel to Department of State support in Iraq, and the inclusion of mandated Project Labor Agreements in federal construction contracts.
- Open Government and Transparency—including federal spending data accuracy, grant reform, the implementation of the Government Performance and Review Act and Performance.gov, compliance with the Presidential Records Act and the Federal Records Act and the need to update those acts to keep up with technology, political travel and the Hatch Act, allegations of political interference with the Freedom of Information Act, and a government-wide review of FOIA backlogs and agency efforts to eliminate them.
- Technology Policy—including the Committee's ongoing oversight of the Federal Information Security Management Act, and the emergence of a federal cybersecurity policy.
- Federal Regulation and the Regulatory Process—including updating and strengthening the Unfunded Mandates Review Act of 1995, reviewing the role of the White House Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs in rulemaking, and initiating a government-wide and economy-wide review of regulatory impediments to job creation, and soliciting input from the private sector.
- Domestic Energy Production—including actions taken by the Federal Government that have impeded the development of domestic energy resources, including actions taken to discourage the use of new and newly deployed technologies, allegations of mismanagement and abuse at the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, the reorganization of the Bureau of Ocean Energy Management Regulation and Enforcement, and the Administration's moratorium on issuing oil drilling permits in the Gulf.
- EPA Regulatory Actions and Litigation—including the adequacy of the economic analysis of proposed rules, enforcement and permitting decisions made by the Agency, and the endangerment finding for greenhouse gases.
- Healthcare and Drug Policy—including systemic problems with medical device approval, prevalence of fraud and abuse in Medicaid and Medicare, impediments faced by the biotech industry, food safety, the Office of National Drug Control Policy, and the issuance of waivers to companies and states struggling to comply with provisions of the Affordable Care Act and other implementation issues.

- District of Columbia—including the District’s use of federal education funds and the D.C. Opportunity Scholarship Program, D.C. fiscal management, and general oversight of the D.C. government.

- Information Policy—including the Census, the National Archives and Records Administration, the Presidential Library System, and the future of the Presidential Records Act.

- Federal Workforce Policies—including pay and benefits, the use of “official time” to conduct union activities, and the appropriate size of the workforce.

- United States Postal Service—focusing on policies that will address the actual long-term fiscal sustainability of USPS and avoid a taxpayer bailout.

- National Security and Foreign Operations—including the Department of Defense to State transition in Iraq, waste and mismanagement at USAID, and the growing delays in the transition process from DOD to Veterans Affairs health care systems for wounded warriors.

- Homeland Security—including ongoing problems with financial management, operations and decision-making at the Department of Homeland Security, and policies regarding privacy and security at airports and the effectiveness of the Transportation Security Administration.

IV. SUMMARY OF ACTIONS TAKEN AND RECOMMENDATIONS MADE WITH RESPECT TO THE OVERSIGHT PLAN

STIMULUS SPENDING

The Subcommittee on Regulatory Affairs, Stimulus Oversight and Government Spending held a hearing on the two-year anniversary of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (the stimulus bill) to examine the effects of the stimulus on the economy after two years. During “The Stimulus: Two Years Later” hearing, economists and policy experts from a wide range of universities and public policy institutes testified about the results of the stimulus. Economist Russell Roberts at George Mason University summed up the views of the majority of the panel when he declared in his testimony that “the results have been deeply disappointing.”

A follow-up hearing held by the Subcommittee on Regulatory Affairs, Stimulus Oversight and Government Spending, held on September 13th was entitled “Take Two: The President’s Proposal to Stimulate the Economy and Create Jobs.” This hearing revisited the failure of the first stimulus to meet its goals and discussed how the President’s most recent proposal, “The American Jobs Act,” might suffer a similar fate. Experts from academia, think tanks, and financial institutions testified. On the President’s proposal for more stimulus, Professor John Taylor of Stanford University stated, “I think that makes it worse. Even the people who use these models to say it’s going to boost the economy, always emphasize its short-term. So it’s not a fixing growth.” In conjunction with this hearing, the Full Committee released a report entitled, “Doubling down on failure: before asking for a new stimulus package, will the Obama administration admit failure?” which compared the actual results of the 2009 stimulus with the predicted outcomes to demonstrate that it failed even by its self-imposed metrics for success. On Wednesday March 20th, the full Committee held a hearing titled “Oversight of the Department of Energy’s Stimulus Spending.” The hearing addressed the Committee’s ongoing investigation of the Department of Energy’s weatherization and ‘green energy’ loan programs, with a particular focus on the administrative and management-related challenges the DOE has faced in implementing these programs. Secretary Chu testified, admitting in response to questions from Subcommittee Chairman Jim Jordan that DOE loaned out money to agencies with a 50% probability of failure. Chu denied that political connections to the White House had anything to do with the loans.

FINANCIAL SECTOR REGULATION

In January 2011, the Full Committee held a hearing entitled “Bailouts and the Foreclosure Crisis: Report of the Special Inspector General for the Troubled Asset Relief Program” and heard testimony from Neil Barofsky, Special Inspector General for the Troubled Asset Relief Program (TARP). In his testimony he concluded that “the Home Affordable Modification Program (“HAMP”)—has been beset by problems from the outset and, despite frequent retooling, continues to fall dramatically short of any meaningful standard of success.” In late March, the Subcommittee on TARP, Financial Services and Bailouts of Public and Private Programs held a hearing entitled “Has Dodd-Frank Ended Too Big to Fail?” Mr. Barofsky testified that the costs of TARP included “the increased moral hazard and potentially disastrous consequences associated with the continued existence of financial institutions that are ‘too big to fail.’” Additionally in March, the TARP Subcommittee held a Joint Hearing with the Subcommittee on Government Organization, Efficiency and Financial Management on the state of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), entitled “Financial Management, Work Force, and Operations at the SEC: Who’s Watching Wall Street’s Watchdog?” where the Subcommittees heard from SEC Chairwoman Mary Schapiro, as well as other current and former SEC officials. In May, the Subcommittee on TARP, Financial Services and Bailouts of Public and Private Programs held a hearing, entitled “Who’s Watching the Watchmen? Oversight of the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau.” The Subcommittee heard testimony from Elizabeth Warren, Assistant to the President, and Special Advisor to the Secretary of the Treasury, along with several experts from universities and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, about the new Consumer Financial Protection Bureau.

In June 2011, the Subcommittee held a hearing titled, “The Changing Role of the FDIC.” At the hearing, Chairman Bair explained the FDIC’s new authority via the Dodd-Frank Act, regulations regarding risk retention, new categorizations of “systemically important financial institutions,” and suggested items for Congress to examine in years to come. In September and October 2011, the Subcommittee held two hearings on crowdfunding as a new and necessary means to improve small business capital formation. Additionally, in September, there was a Joint Hearing by the House Oversight TARP Subcommittee and the House Financial Services Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations entitled, “Potential Conflicts of Interest at the SEC: The Becker Case.” The witnesses included SEC Chairman Mary Schapiro, SEC Inspector General H. David Kotz, and former SEC General Counsel David Becker. At the hearing, Inspector General Kotz and Chairman Schapiro recognized and admitted to poor-decision making and structural problems within the Commission’s ethics office—which signed off on David Becker’s involvement with the liquidation of Bernard Madoff Investment Securities LLC, despite a conflict of interest—and announced reforms it would institute in the near future.

In November 2011, the Subcommittee on held the hearing “How Roadblocks in Public Markets Prevent Job Creation on Main Street,” that focused on potential solutions to shortages of liquidity for smaller and lesser known publicly traded companies. The NYSE and the NASDAQ testified in support of the Subcommittee’s ideas on how to allow for public companies to purchase liquidity support from broker-dealers.

In 2012, Committee staff continued its oversight of the use of cost-benefit analysis at the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (“Commission”). On January 5th, Chairman Issa sent a letter to Chairman Schapiro detailing the numerous flaws and concerns arising out of the Commission’s failure to properly apply cost-benefit analysis to proposed regulations. On April 17th, in a hearing before the Subcommittee on TARP, Financial Services and Bailouts of Public and Private Programs, SEC Chairman Mary Schapiro announced the Commission would be adopting many of practices urged by Chairmen Issa and McHenry in a series of letters in January and February. Commissioner Gallagher personally credited this development to the Committee. Since the April 17th hearing, Committee staff drafted follow-up letters to Chairman Schapiro and the SEC Office of the Inspector General. These letters lay out a comprehensive plan to ensure implementation of the Committee’s recommendations.

On April 5th, 2012, President Obama signed the JOBS Act into law. Three key components of the JOBS Act originated in a letter from Chairman Issa dated March 22, 2011. In that letter, the Chairman sought to motivate the Commission to remove regulations that banned general solicitation, capped the number of shareholders in non-public companies and effectively banned an investing approach known as crowdfunding, which provides ordinary investors the ability to invest a limited share of their income in non-public small startups. As a result of a series of letters and hearings, both in the Full Committee and Chairman McHenry’s TARP subcommittee, the House Financial Services and Senate Banking Committees took up the ideas and carried them forward as legislation, which eventually passed as part of the JOBS Act this April. These regulatory changes will enable increased capital formation by non-public companies, which will enable additional investment while subject to less costly regulation.

CONSUMER PROTECTION

On March 8, 2011, the full Committee held its first field hearing in Baltimore, MD, entitled “The Foreclosure Crisis.” The Committee took testimony from Maryland Governor Martin O’Malley, Baltimore Mayor Stephanie Rawlings-Blake, Mark Kaufman of the Maryland Commission on Financial Regulation, Jane Wilson from the St. Ambrose Housing Aid Center, and Iraq war veteran Kevin Matthews, who was illegally locked out of his home when his bank prematurely moved forward on a foreclosure.

On March 19, 2012, the full Committee held a field hearing in Brooklyn, NY, entitled “Failure to Recover: The State of Housing Markets, Mortgage Servicing Practices and Foreclosures.” The Committee heard testimony from Morris Morgan of the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, Suzanne Killian of the Federal Reserve System, Federal Housing Finance Agency General Counsel Alfred Pollard and representatives from Bank of America, JPMorgan Chase Bank, Wells Fargo Home Mortgage and CitiMortgage. NY Supreme Court Justice Arthur Schack, Meghan Faux of South Brooklyn Legal Services and Edward Pinto of the American Enterprise Institute also testified about impacts of the foreclosure crisis on our housing markets.

GOVERNMENT WATCHDOGS

In February 2011, the Full Committee held a hearing entitled “Waste and Abuse: The Refuse of the Federal Spending Binge” during which the Committee heard from the Comptroller of the United States and several private sector witnesses about the 2011 Government Accountability Office’s High Risk List (an ongoing series of GAO reports that detail the highest risk and most problematic programs in the federal government). In early March the Full Committee held another hearing entitled “The Refuse of the Federal Spending Binge II: How U.S. Taxpayers are Paying Double for Failing Government Programs” that examined a new report by the GAO focusing on duplicative federal government programs.

In June, the Government Organization, Efficiency and Financial Management Subcommittee held a hearing entitled “IRS E-file and Identity Theft,” which examined the growing problem of tax fraud perpetuated by identity theft. Commissioner Douglas Shulman testified and personally apologized to victims of identity theft and tax fraud. The Subcommittee held a follow-up hearing in November to address IRS’s inability to identify or prevent tax fraud.

The Subcommittee also addressed waste, fraud and abuse in the Medicare and Medicaid programs, which were responsible for almost $70 billion in improper payments in FY 2010. In July, the Subcommittee addressed waste, fraud, and abuse in Medicare at a hearing entitled, “Improper Medicare Payments: $48 Billion in Waste?,” and in December the Subcommittee had a Joint Hearing with the Subcommittee on Health Care, District of Columbia, Census and the National Archives entitled “A Medicaid Fraud Victim Speaks Out: What’s Not Working and Why?”

On February 15, 2012, the Full Committee held a hearing examining proposals to reform the federal government so it is more efficient, effective, and responsive to the American public. Virginia Senator Mark Warner and Wisconsin Senator Ron Johnson both testified alongside other government reform experts.

On February 28, 2012, the Full Committee continued looking at government reform from Comptroller General Gene Dodaro on the update to the GAO duplicative program report. Oklahoma Senator Tom Coburn, whose legislation created the report, testified as well.

Subcommittee Chairman James Lankford, who has advanced legislation to help identify duplicative programs for reduction, asked the Comptroller General to summarize the cause of government duplication. Mr. Dodaro testified that “basically many of these programs start out as well intentions, perceptions of need, that there’s always not a well-documented case for that in the first place, and there’s an accumulation over time. I mean, the hundred programs in Surface Transportation developed over decades. And there’s really not a regular process other than Congressional oversight to look at whether or not these programs are working effectively. I think in some cases, part of our recommendations are to really tie funding to outcomes, and not just—there’s a perception that providing money fixes problems.”

The Full Committee held a hearing in May 2012, “Where Are All the Watchdogs? Addressing Inspector General Vacancies.” The hearing examined how the community of Federal Inspectors General is short-handed due to the absence of permanent leadership in several agencies. In his opening remarks, Chairman Issa noted that There are currently ten vacant IG posts. Of those, eight are at agencies where the IG is presidentially appointed. Four IG posts have been vacant for more than 1,000 days. Five IG vacancies are at cabinet-level departments. The State Department has been without a permanent IG for more than four years.

FEDERAL FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT

On March 9, 2011, the Subcommittee on Government Organization, Efficiency and Financial Management held a hearing entitled, “A Look at the FY2010 Consolidated Financial Statements of the U.S. Government” during which the Comptroller General of the United States testified that “three major impediments continued to prevent GAO from rendering an opinion on the Federal Government’s accrual-based consolidated financial statements” including “financial management problems at the Department of Defense” and “the Federal Government’s ineffective process for preparing the consolidated financial statements.” The Subcommittee held several other hearings on federal financial management, including “Making Sense of the Numbers: Improving the Federal Financial Reporting Model,” “A Look at the FY2010 Consolidated Financial Statements of the U.S. Government,” “Improper Payments: Finding Solutions,” and “Financial Management at the Department of Homeland Security.”

On March 1, 2012, the Subcommittee on Government Organization, Efficiency and Financial Management held a hearing entitled “The Status of Government Financial Management: A Look at the FY2011 Consolidated Financial Statements” during which the Comptroller General of the United States, Daniel Werfel of the Office of Management and Budget and Richard Gregg of the U.S. Department of the Treasury testified about the problems that exist in addressing continued financial management issues. The Subcommittee held another hearing on federal financial management on February 7, 2012, entitled “Solutions Needed: Improper Payments Total $115 Billion in Federal Misspending.” Senator Thomas Carper (R-DE) was present at the hearing to discuss a bill meant to help reduce improper payments and other witnesses testified about the problems that lead to improper payments and what we can do to prevent them. On March 19, 2012, Reps. Todd Platts, Edolphus Towns and Gerry Connolly sent a letter to the Committee on Appropriations requesting that they consider the increased FY 2013 budget request of GAO, arguing the agency is “a critical tool in identifying waste and misspending” in federal government programs.

The Committee has continued its focus on strong federal financial management, and is monitoring the Department of Defense in its goal to produce auditable financial statements by 2017. On September 23, 2011, the Subcommittee on Government Organization, Efficiency and Financial Management held a hearing entitled “The Department of Defense: Challenges in Financial Management” to address shortcomings in DoD’s current systems and problems the Department will face in trying to become auditable. The Subcommittee also addressed financial management concerns at the Department of Homeland Security in its October 27, 2011, hearing, “Internal Control Weaknesses at the Department of Homeland Security.” Peggy Sherry, Acting Chief Financial Officer of DHS, testified about significant weaknesses found in DHS’s controls over its financial management IT systems. In September, Rep. Todd Platts sent a letter to the White House expressing concern over DHS’s lack of a Senate-confirmed Chief Financial Officer. In November, the White House acknowledged Mr. Platts’s letter and nominated Ms. Sherry as CFO at DHS.

On March 22, 2012, the Subcommittee on Government Organization, Efficiency and Financial Management held a joint hearing with the Senate Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs Subcommittee on Federal Financial Management, Government Information, Federal Services and International Security entitled “New Audit Finds Problems in Army Military Pay.” The hearing investigated a GAO audit finding that the Army faces challenges in achieving audit readiness due to “continuing deficiencies” with payroll processes and controls. The Subcommittee took testimony from Asif Khan of GAO, Aaron Gillian of DOD, and Jim Watkins and Jeanne Brooks of the Department of the Army. LTC Kirk Zucchini also testified about his personal experience with military pay problems during his 28 years in the U.S. Army Reserve.

FEDERAL REAL PROPERTY DISPOSAL

In May 2011, Chairman Issa sent a letter to the Congressional Budget Office (CBO) asking for an estimate of President Obama’s “Civilian Property Realignment Act.” In June, the Committee received a response from CBO which stated in part that the “Legislation would probably not result in a significant increase in proceeds from the sale of federal properties.” Furthermore, CBO estimates that the legislation would increase both direct and discretionary federal spending. In July 2011, the Committee held a hearing entitled “Disposal of Federal Real Property: Legislative Proposals.” At the hearing, Theresa Gull, Deputy Assistant Director at CBO’s Budget Analysis Division, testified on CBO’s analysis of the President’s proposed property disposal legislation. She testified that, “CBO’s review of the President’s proposal concluded that it was not likely to significantly increase receipts from sales of federal property in part because there is only a limited amount of excess property with significant market value and there are numerous legal, practical, and political obstacles to the sale of such property.”

GOVERNMENT CONTRACTING

The Subcommittee on National Security, Homeland Defense and Foreign Operations conducted a hearing entitled “U.S. Military Leaving Iraq: Is the State Department Ready?” Several officials from the Departments of State and Defense testified, as well as commissioners from the Commission on Wartime Contracting in Iraq and Afghanistan. One of the Commissioners, Grant Green, testified that “this hearing poses the question, ‘U.S. Military Leaving Iraq: Is the State Department Ready?’ The short answer is ‘no,’ and the short reason for that answer is that establishing and sustaining an expanded U.S. diplomatic presence in Iraq will require State to take on thousands of additional contractor employees that it has neither funds to pay nor resources to manage.”

On September 15, 2011, the Subcommittee on National Security, Homeland Defense and Foreign Operations conducted a hearing entitled “Defense Department Contracting in Afghanistan: Are We Doing Enough to Combat Corruption?” The hearing examined the Defense Department’s investigation and handling of contractor payments to possible criminal patronage networks and the Taliban. Officials from the Defense Department and the Army acknowledged that oversight of the Host Nation Trucking contracts was inadequate and could have led to payments to insurgents.

On October 4, 2011, the full Committee conducted a hearing entitled “Where is the Peace Dividend? Examining the Final Report to Congress of the Commission on Wartime Contracting.” The hearing featured the Commissioners of the Commission on Wartime Contracting and examined waste, fraud, and abuse in contingency contracting practices and expenditures in Iraq and Afghanistan as set forth in the August 31, 2011 Final Report of the Commission on Wartime Contracting in Iraq and Afghanistan. At the hearing, Chairman Lankford asked, “Did you run into situations where it was a sole source, and you would see a need for suspension or debarment, but instead of actually debarring them, they would say, ‘They’re essential. We can’t function without them. So we know they’re a bad actor, but we don’t have any other folks that can help us.’” Commissioner Shays responded, “Countless times.”

On October 6th, 2011, the Subcommittee on Technology, Information Policy, Intergovernmental Relations and Procurement Reform conducted a hearing entitled “Protecting Taxpayer Dollars: Are Federal Agencies Making Full Use of Suspension and Debarment Sanctions?” The hearing focused on a recent Government Accountability Office report, “Suspension and Debarment: Some Agency Programs Need Greater Attention, and Governmentwide Oversight Could Be Improved.” Witnesses from GAO and various government agencies testified regarding wide disparities in Executive branch agencies’ use of suspension and debarment. At the hearing, Chairman Lankford asked “Common sense would seem to suggest these agencies are not looking for and thus not uncovering fraud on the part of their contractors. In some cases, though, these agencies may simply accept poor performance or staff may not complete the file of paperwork or help others avoid the same bad contractors in the future.”

On November 2, 2011, Subcommittee on Technology, Information Policy, Intergovernmental Relations, and Procurement Reform conducted a hearing entitled “Are Government Contractors Exploiting Workers Overseas? Examining Enforcement of the Trafficking Victims Protection Act.” The hearing explored federal agency implementation of the provisions of the Trafficking Victims Protection Act and allegations of abusive labor practices by prime and sub-contractors performing services in Iraq and Afghanistan, as well as at other United States embassies and consulates. Witnesses included representatives from CRS and GAO, as well as the Inspectors General from the State Department and Department of Defense. Sam McMahon, a lawyer who specializes in trafficking cases, testified, “The problem is transparency and reporting. There are not enough agents on the ground to report this conduct. It has to be the responsibility of the prime contractor. But now the prime contractor has no incentive and all the disincentive in the world to report the conduct. It makes the prime contractor look bad if they do report it, and they get no incentive for engaging in reporting.”

On November 16, 2011, the Subcommittee on Technology, Information Policy, Intergovernmental Relations, and Procurement Reform conducted a hearing entitled “On the Frontlines in the Acquisition Workforce’s Battle Against Taxpayer Waste.” The hearing examined the critical role of federal government acquisition professionals who are charged with ensuring that government procurements are competitive and effectively overseen so as to avoid waste, fraud, abuse, and mismanagement. The hearing highlighted the obligations and challenges of the acquisition workforce in the face of the evolving complexities of the current acquisition system. Witnesses included the Administrator for the Office of Federal Procurement Policy, as well as witnesses from defense Acquisition University and Federal Acquisition Institute. Dan Gordon, OFPP Administrator, testified that, “My priority number one has been strengthening the federal acquisition workforce. That means look for opportunities for training. It means do outreach. We need to—the second priority is fiscal responsibility. We need to buy less. We need to buy smarter. One of the benefits of buying smarter is that it reduces the burden on the federal acquisition workforce. Strategic sourcing, by having vehicles in place government-wide means that individual contracting officers don’t need to run competitions for contracts. That reduces their workload and is helpful. Rebalancing our relationship with contractors, whether it’s improving the communication, part of Mythbusters, or seeing to it that we’re doing better contract oversight.”

On November 17, the full Committee conducted a Business Meeting. One measure considered was H.R. 3433, the Grant Reform and New Transparency (GRANT) Act of 2011. The bill was approved by a voice vote. The legislation, introduced by Oversight Subcommittee on Technology and Information Policy Chairman James Lankford, R–Okla., directs agencies to establish uniform standards for how they notice, award, and disclose the tens of billions of taxpayer dollars spent each year through 1,670 discretionary grant programs.

On February 7, 2012, the Subcommittee on Technology, Information Policy, Intergovernmental Relations and Procurement Reform held a hearing entitled “Jobs for Wounded Warriors: Increasing Access to Contracts for Service Disabled Veterans,” which examined the systemic and pervasive failure of the federal government to provide Congressionally-mandated economic opportunities to wounded warriors. Subsequently, a draft bill was prepared to address contracting inequalities for veteran-owned small businesses when competing for government contracts within the small business programs authorized by Section 8a of the Small Business Act. The bill is currently awaiting additional sponsors and has been referred to the House Veterans Committee. At the hearing, Congressman Meehan asked, “Why is the Department of Veterans Affairs doing a fairly decent job of at least meeting their goal—3%—and some of the other critical agencies, HHS and others, sort of so woefully behind? What do they do well that the other agencies don’t do to meet their 3% requirement?”

On February 17, 2012, the Subcommittee on Technology, Information Policy, Intergovernmental Relations and Procurement Reform held a hearing entitled “How Much Is Too Much? Examining Duplicative IT Investments at DOD and DOE.” The hearing addressed whether government agencies have adequate processes and procedures in place to avoid wasting taxpayer money by buying redundant or overlapping IT systems that perform functions such as acquisition management, case management or document management. Based upon the findings and conclusions of that hearing, draft legislation has been prepared to address greater efficiencies in the Government’s use and acquisition of IT goods and services.

On March 27, the Subcommittee on Technology, Information Policy, Intergovernmental Relations and Procurement Reform held a hearing entitled “Labor Abuses, Human Trafficking, and Government Contracts: Is the Government Doing Enough to Protect Vulnerable Workers?” This hearing was a follow-up to the Subcommittee’s November 2, 2011 hearing highlighting potential widespread abuses of workers providing labor to U.S. government contractors. The hearing examined proposals designed to end the practice of trafficking submitted by the Department of Defense, Office of the Under Secretary for Personnel & Readiness, and the Office of Inspectors General from the Department of State and Department of Defense. It addressed proposed legislation to enhance oversight to end abusive labor practices in overseas contracting. At the hearing, Senator Rob Portman testified that, “This cuts across all party lines, philosophical lines because it’s really about something much more fundamental. And that’s who we are as a people. It’s about respecting and protecting human dignity. This legislation, as my colleague has talked about, is designed to ensure that the contracting dollars that come from our taxpayers after all are spent in a manner that’s consistent with our deeply held values as a nation. And it’s a lot of money—over $20 billion a year in Afghanistan and Iraq alone.”

OPEN GOVERNMENT AND TRANSPARENCY

In late March, the Full Committee held a hearing entitled, “Why Isn’t the Department of Homeland Security Meeting the President’s Standard on FOIA?” and issued a staff report entitled “A New Era of Openness? How and Why Political Staff at DHS Interfered with the FOIA Process” to determine why DHS was not following President Obama’s promise of more openness and transparency. Chairman Issa began the hearing by outlining DHS's FOIA problems, saying "now two full years into the Obama administration, Congressional investigators have uncovered evidence that career FOIA professionals at DHS have been compromised in their statutory compliance by the intrusion of DHS political staff into the department's FOIA procedures."

The Subcommittee on Technology, Information Policy, Intergovernmental Relations and Procurement Reform held a hearing in March to examine how technology could be used to create transparency entitled "Transparency Through Technology: Evaluating Federal Open-Government Initiatives." In June, based on the Committee's oversight work, Chairman Issa introduced the Digital Accountability and Transparency Act (DATA), which will make Federal spending data uniformly downloadable and machine-readable. The same month, the Committee reported the DATA Act to the House, and Sen. Mark Warner introduced companion legislation in the Senate.

In July, the Subcommittee held a hearing to examine the failure of Federal agencies' management systems to produce useful, accurate information on grants, contracts, and other spending. Then-Federal CIO Vivek Kundra testified that open-government policies can save taxpayers' money by illuminating waste, but only if the government ensures the accuracy and usefulness of its data. The Committee collected information on agency financial management data systems, and released its findings publicly online after the hearing. Meanwhile, the Committee continued its aggressive oversight of agencies' failure to produce auditable financial statements, including hearings by the Subcommittee on Government Organization, Efficiency and Financial Management on financial control weaknesses at the Departments of Defense and Homeland Security.

In March 2012, the Subcommittee on Technology, Information Policy, Intergovernmental Relations, and Procurement Reform held a hearing entitled, "FOIA in the 21st Century: Using Technology To Improve Transparency in Government." The purpose of the hearing was to examine ways to better utilize technology to meet federal FOIA obligations and solicit stakeholder opinions about the best ways to do so. Witnesses at the hearing included Miriam Nisbet, Director of the National Archives and Records Administration's Office of Government Information Services; Andrew Battin, Director of the Environmental Protection Agency's Office of Information Collection; Melanie Ann Pustay, Director of the Department of Justice's Office of Information Policy; and Sean Moulton, Director of OMB Watch's Federal Information Policy Division. Hearing testimony revealed, among other things, that the Obama administration's FOIA compliance was substantially below the compliance rate of the two prior administrations. The Committee released a staff report scorecard in conjunction with the hearing.

In April 2012, Chairman Issa sent a letter to Attorney General Eric Holder requesting clarification of the Department of Justice's recent publication of a notice referencing its Office of Information Policy as a "FOIA Ombudsman." Chairman Issa questioned the characterization and noted that DOJ's use of the term conflicted with the statutorily established role of the National Archives and Records Administration's Office of Government Information Services, which was effectively set up to serve as a federal FOIA ombudsman. Chairman Issa also requested further information from DOJ to determine the agency's basis for classifying OIP as the authority for resolving federal FOIA disputes, and noted that "DOJ's proposal to offer dispute resolution between agencies and FOIA requesters oversteps its statutory authority."

INFORMATION POLICY

The full Committee held a joint hearing in February 2012 with the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure entitled "America's Presidential Libraries: Their Mission and Their Future" at which the Archivist of the United States and several directors of individual presidential libraries testified about the services that presidential libraries provide to Americans. The full Committee also held a hearing on "Presidential Records in the New Millennium: Updating the Presidential Records Act and Other Federal Recordkeeping Statutes To Improve Electronic Records Preservation." The Archivist of the United States and the Chief Information Officer of the White House Office of Administration testified about possible improvements to the Presidential Records Act that could arise from current technological advances.

TECHNOLOGY POLICY

In May 2011, the National Security, Homeland Defense and Foreign Operations Subcommittee held a hearing, "Cybersecurity: Assessing the Immediate Threat to the United States" to examine cybersecurity. Several private sector witnesses testified, as well as Sean McGurk from the National Cyber Security Division of the Department of Homeland Security, who informed the Subcommittee that "The United States confronts a combination of known and unknown vulnerabilities, strong and rapidly expanding adversary capabilities, and a lack of comprehensive threat and vulnerability awareness."

In July 2011, the Oversight and Government Reform Committee held a hearing, "Cybersecurity: Assessing the Nation's Ability to Address the Growing Cyber Threat" to further examine cybersecurity. Witnesses from across the Federal Government, to include the Department of Homeland Security, the Department of Justice, the Department of Defense, and the Department of Commerce, discussed the cyber threat as well as the need to develop stronger strategic partnerships with the private sector. Witnesses responded to questions related to the aggressive nature of cyber attacks and the growing need to address weaknesses in the nation's information technology supply chain. The hearing also included a thorough discussion of the Administration's current cybersecurity legislative proposal.

On April 26 2012, on a unanimous voice vote, the Federal Information Security Amendments Act of 2012 (H.R. 4257) was approved by the House of Representatives. During the House Oversight and Government Reform Full Committee Markup on April 18, 2012, the bill was also approved on a unanimous bipartisan voice vote. H.R. 4257 enhances the Federal Information Security Management Act (FISMA) of 2002 by improving the framework for securing information technology systems. It also establishes a mechanism for stronger oversight of information technology systems by focusing on automated and continuous monitoring of cybersecurity threats and regular “threat assessments.”

FEDERAL REGULATION AND THE REGULATORY PROCESS

From the beginning of the 112th Congress, excessive federal regulation and the regulatory process hindering job creation has been a priority of the Committee, and the Committee held a series of hearings on the subject. In February, the Full Committee held a hearing entitled “Regulatory Impediments to Job Creation” during which the Committee heard from a variety of business leaders and policy experts. The Committee also released a 97 page staff report entitled “Assessing Regulatory Impediments to Job Creation” to document specific examples of government regulations that businesses say hinder job creation.

In April 2011, the Committee held a field hearing in San Jose, California on “Policies Affecting High Tech Growth and Federal Adoption of Industry Best Practices.” The Committee heard from several leaders in the tech industry about how government regulations affect their businesses, including Google and Microsoft. The Full Committee held two more field meetings on federal regulation in April entitled, “Regulatory Impediments to Job Creation: Assessing the Cumulative Impact of EPA Regulation on Farmers” and “Federal Policies Affecting Innovation and Job Growth in the Biotech and Pharmaceutical Industries.”

The Subcommittee on Regulatory Affairs, Stimulus Oversight and Government Spending also held a series of hearings on the topic: “Assessing the Cumulative Impact of Regulation on U.S. Manufacturers,” “Regulatory Impediments to Job Creation: The Cost of Doing Business in the Construction Industry,” “Assessing the Impact of EPA Greenhouse Gas Regulations on Small Business,” “Regulatory Impediments to Job Creation in the Northeast Part I,” and “Regulatory Impediments to Job Creation in the Northeast Part II.” Additionally, the Subcommittee on Technology, Information Policy, Intergovernmental Relations and Procurement Reform held several hearings on the subject: “Unfunded Mandates and Regulatory Overreach,” “Unfunded Mandates and Regulatory Overreach Part II,” and “Regulatory Barriers to American Indian Job Creation.”

In June 2011, the Full Committee held a field hearing in Charleston County, South Carolina entitled, “Unionization Through Regulation: The NLRB’s Holding Pattern on Free Enterprise” to examine the National Labor Relations Board’s (NLRB) decision to sue The Boeing Company for alleged unfair labor practices connected to the company’s decision to build “Dreamliner” 787s in South Carolina. The hearing exposed how the NLRB’s action against Boeing would impact the thousands of Boeing employees at a non-union worksite in South Carolina.

In September 2011, the Full Committee held a hearing entitled “How a Broken Process Leads to Flawed Regulation.” The hearing focused on the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs’ oversight of federal regulatory agencies, the regulatory process, and the impact of regulations on the economy. The Committee released a 34-page report in conjunction with the hearing, which detailed the multiple ways federal agencies seek to advance a political agenda, while avoiding the transparency and the checks and balances of the congressionally designed system. The Subcommittee on Regulatory Affairs, Stimulus Oversight and Government Spending also held a series of hearings to better understand the employment impacts of various regulations: “The Gainful Employment Regulation: Limiting Job Growth and Student Choice,” “Lights Out: How EPA Regulations Threaten Affordable Power and Job Creation,” and “The Price of Uncertainty: How Much Could DOT’s Proposed Billion Dollar Hours of Service Rule Cost Consumers This Holiday Season.”

On January 2, 2012, the Subcommittee held a hearing entitled, “Volt Vehicle Fire: What Did NHTSA Know and When Did They Know It?” At this hearing, the Subcommittee examined safety issues surrounding the lithium-ion battery system of the Chevrolet Volt and similar safety concerns of other advanced vehicle technologies. The question before the Committee was whether the Federal Government’s partial ownership of General Motors created an inappropriate conflict-of-interest for the regulator responsible for evaluating the safety concerns surrounding GM’s marquee vehicle, the Chevy Volt. Mr. Daniel F. Akerson, Chairman and CEO of General Motors and David L. Strickland, Administrator, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration testified at the hearing.

DOMESTIC ENERGY PRODUCTION

In May 2011, the Full Committee held a hearing entitled “Pain at the Pump: Policies that Suppress Domestic Production of Oil and Gas” where EPA Administrator Lisa Jackson testified. The Committee also released a staff report the same day entitled “Impact of Statements by President, Energy Secretary about Raising Energy Costs on Americans Seen in Administration Policies.” Chairman Darrell Issa introduced the hearing by stating that “the United States has the largest reserves in the world—resources that can provide good-paying American jobs and fuel our economic expansion. Standing between that energy and U.S. consumers is an obstacle course of government red tape, regulation, delays and obfuscations.” In May, the Full Committee held a field hearing in Bakersfield, California entitled, “Pathways to Energy Independence: Hydraulic Fracturing and Other New Technologies.” Also in May, the Subcommittee on Regulatory Affairs, Stimulus Oversight and Government Spending held a hearing on “How Federal Reserve Policies Add to Hard Times at the Pump” to determine how actions of the Federal Reserve increase the price of gas for consumers.

In June 2011 the Full Committee released a 36 page report, “The BP Oil Spill Recovery Effort: The Legacy of Choices Made by the Obama Administration,” which documented how the decisions made by the Obama Administration delayed relief to the citizens of the Gulf Coast, while simultaneously hindering development of our natural resources. In conjunction with this report, the Full Committee held a hearing, “Making the Gulf Coast Whole Again: Assessing the Recovery Efforts of BP and the Obama Administration After the Oil Spill,” where the Committee heard directly from Gulf Coast residents about how the response was affecting their daily lives and ability to earn a living.

In September 2011, the Full Committee held a hearing entitled, “How Obama’s Green Energy Agenda Is Killing Jobs,” which explored the implications of government programs designed to transition the United States from traditional energy sources to “green,” or renewable, energy for the purpose of job creation and economic growth. At this hearing, the Chairman released a 36 page report which explained why the Administration's policy to favor "Green Job" creation over traditional job creation is fundamentally flawed and actually detrimental to the economic recovery. The Subcommittee on Regulatory Affairs, Stimulus Oversight and Government Spending also held a series of hearings to examine the impact of Administration policies on domestic energy production. In July, the Subcommittee heard from a diverse panel of Americans negatively affected by EPA's policy with respect to the permitting process of coal mining in Appalachia at its hearing entitled, "EPA's Appalachian Energy Permittorium: Job Killer or Job Creator?" Witnesses at the hearing included West Virginia Congresswoman Shelley Moore Capito, as well as mining executives from Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia and a union representative from Local 5958 and Co-Chair of the Mountain Top Mining Coalition.

In February 2012, the Full Committee traveled to Corpus Christie, Texas for a field hearing entitled, "Exploring All the Energy Options and Solutions: South Texas as a Leader in Creating Jobs and Strengthening the Economy." This hearing analyzed the contributions that Texas, particularly South Texas, is making to power the American economy. According to the U.S. Energy Information Administration, Texas produces more energy than any other in the Union. It ranks number one in crude oil production and Texas refineries account for one-fourth of the total amount of U.S. petroleum refining capacity. Texas also leads the country in natural gas production, producing approximately 30 percent of the nation's supply. Ms. Elizabeth Ames Jones, Chairman of the Railroad Commission of Texas testified, along with several energy executives.

In March 2012, the Full Committee began to examine the manner in which DOE has spent stimulus funds and held a hearing entitled, Oversight of the Department of Energy's Stimulus Spending at which Secretary Chu testified. In conjunction with this hearing, the Committee issued two reports: "The Department of Energy's Weatherization Program: Taxpayer Money Spent, Taxpayer Money Lost"; and "The Department of Energy's Disastrous Management of Loan Guarantee Programs." The Subcommittee on Regulatory Affairs held a follow up hearing on May 16, 2012, entitled, "The Obama Administration's Green Energy Gamble: What Have All The Taxpayer Subsidies Achieved?" Executives from Abound Solar, First Solar, Nevada Geothermal, among others testified before the Subcommittee.

On May 31, 2012, the Full Committee held a hearing entitled, "Rhetoric vs. Reality: Does President Obama Really Support an "All-of-the-Above" Energy Strategy?" This hearing questioned President Obama's claim of support for all forms of domestic energy production. Witnesses revealed that his Administration continues to be engaged in regulatory efforts aimed to slow down production of fossil fuels. The same day, the Subcommittee on Technology held a companion hearing entitled, "Rhetoric vs. Reality, Part II: Assessing the Impact of New Federal Red Tape on Hydraulic Fracturing and American Energy Independence." The Subcommittee hearing took a close look at the impact of two federal actions to regulate the practice of hydraulic fracturing, which could damage efforts to become energy independent. Witnesses included state regulators from Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, and Utah, as well as representatives from the EPA and DOI.

EPA REGULATORY ACTIONS AND LITIGATION

The Full Committee held a field hearing in Salinas, California, on “Regulatory Impediments to Job Creation: Assessing The Cumulative Impact of EPA Regulation on Farmers” where the Committee heard from a variety of farmers and small business leaders about how EPA rules hinder job creation. Richard Smith, the owner of Paraiso Vineyards, told the Committee “legislators presumably intend to codify good ideas. Unfortunately, most legislation is followed by regulatory fiat by unelected boards and/or staff; these subsequent ‘rules’ often complicate and/or compromise the original good intentions.” The Subcommittee on Regulatory Affairs, Stimulus Oversight and Government Spending held a hearing entitled, “Assessing the Impact of EPA Greenhouse Gas Regulations on Small Businesses.” During the hearing, Keith Holman, Deputy Executive Director of the National Lime Association, highlighted the negative effects of EPA regulations on small business owners when he stated that “while the GHG rules took effect only three months ago, we already see a chilling effect on lime companies’ plans to modernize or expand their plants because of the great uncertainty surrounding GHG permitting. This in turn makes it less likely that lime companies will create new jobs.”

In November 2011, the Full Committee held a hearing entitled: “Lights Out II: Should EPA Take A Step Back to Fully Consider Utility MACT’s Impact on Job Creation.” This hearing featured testimony from Virginia Attorney General Kenneth Cuccinelli, II and the Deputy Administrator of U.S. EPA, Robert Perciasepe. According to General Cuccinelli, “The MACT rule, while raising electricity prices generally, directly increases prices for electricity produced by coal. As I noted before, Appalachian Power supplies a significant portion of the electricity in southwest Virginia, and a majority of its power supply is generated from coal. So the poorest citizens of my state will face the largest electric price increases because of the MACT rule.” At this hearing, Mr. Perciasepe conceded that EPA’s jobs analysis failed to look at the impact that higher energy prices would have on employment.

The Committee has also launched an investigation into the Administration’s fuel economy standards for light and heavy duty vehicles jointly issued by EPA, the California Air Resources Board (CARB), and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA). The Committee is concerned that these standards were negotiated in secret, outside the scope of law, and could generate significant negative impacts for consumers. In furtherance of this investigation, the Subcommittee on Regulatory Affairs, Stimulus Oversight and Government Spending also held a hearing on October 2011 entitled “Running on Empty: How the Obama Administration’s Green Energy Gable Will Impact Small Business and Consumers.” At this hearing, Jeremy Anwyl, C.E.O. of Edmunds.com testified that auto executives felt they had a “‘gun to their head,’ and by that I think they are referring to the threat of a California opt-out, California waiver.”

HEALTHCARE AND DRUG POLICY

The Subcommittee on Health Care, District of Columbia, Census and the National Archives held a hearing entitled, “Obamacare: Why the Need for Waivers” in mid March 2011 to examine the process by which the Administration awards waivers to exempt certain companies from the new healthcare law. Chairman Trey Gowdy began the hearing by asking in his opening statement “in light of over 1000 companies requesting waivers from the burdens of this law, what did the President mean when he said, ‘if you like your health insurance, you can keep it’ and where are the failings of this law that necessitate a waivers process?” The Subcommittee then heard from several experts. In April, the Subcommittee held a hearing on government-run healthcare programs entitled “Waste, Abuse and Mismanagement in Government Healthcare” during which the Subcommittee heard from a variety of public and private sector experts at the federal and state level about government healthcare programs such as Medicare and Medicaid.

In June 2011, the Subcommittee held a hearing titled “FDA Medical Device Approval: Is There a Better Way?” The Committee heard from Dr. Jeffrey Shuren, a top political appointee at FDA, as well as a panel of experts on delays in the FDA approval process for medical devices. In July 2011, the Subcommittee held a hearing titled “Fulfilling a Legal Duty: Triggering a Medicare Plan from the Administration” in response to the Obama Administration’s failure to comply with their legal requirement to introduce legislation to reduce Medicare’s reliance on general revenue. At the hearing, Chuck Blahous, one of the two public trustees of the Medicare program testified that Congress should use the Medicare cuts in the Affordable Care Act to extend the solvency of Medicare rather than increasing government spending on new health care entitlement programs. The Subcommittee held two hearings this year focused on Obamacare’s impact on employers and jobs. The first hearing was titled “Impact of Obamacare on Job Creators and Their Decision to Offer Health Insurance” and consisted of a panel of employers testifying about the law’s employer mandate to offer health insurance as well as several of the law’s new regulations and taxes. At the hearing, Andrew Puzder, CEO of CKE Restaurants testified, “[T]he ironically named Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act presents all American businesses with huge regulatory and economic hurdles that inhibit economic growth. . . . Apart from the actual burden of this legislation, it has contributed to the sense—which is quite common among our franchisees—that their own government has no idea how businesses operate and no sensitivity whatsoever to the challenges they and their consumers are confronting in these difficult times.”

The second hearing titled “Obamacare’s Employer Penalty and Its Impact on Temporary Workers” focused on the adverse impact that President Obama’s health care law will have on staffing firms and temporary workers. During the question period, Mr. Gowdy spoke to witness John Uprichard, President and CEO of Find Great People International: “The thing that I was struck by when you and I met and talked is there wasn’t a partisan comment that came out of your mouth. . . . I, to this day, do not know your politics, and frankly it’s none of my business. The entire extent of our conversation was your concern for whether or not you were going to have to lay off your workers because of this.”

In September 2011, the Subcommittee held a hearing titled “Examining Abuses of Medicaid Eligibility Rules” with witness testimony about how non-indigent people can qualify for Medicaid to pay for their long-term care services. Janice Eulau, an assistant administrator for Medicaid Services in Suffolk County, New York testified, “We’re seeing, you know, people often come in and they have total resources of over $300,000, $400,000 total. That’s beyond their home, beyond pre-paid burial expenses, beyond those things that they’re allowed to have. . . . Probably most of the people that do some kind of Medicaid planning could at least pay for three to six months of care on their own, and many could pay for two years or more.”

In September 2011, Chairman Issa and Chairman Gowdy became Members of the Repeal Community Living Assistance Services and Supports Program (CLASS) Working Group with 12 other members of the House and Senate. The working group produced a report titled “CLASS’ UNTOLD STORY: Taxpayers, Employers, and States on the Hook for Flawed Entitlement Program.” The Committee drafted two letters that were sent from the CLASS Working Group to Secretary Sebelius with questions about the sustainability of the CLASS Program as well as the Administration’s plans to implement the program. The efforts of the Repeal CLASS Working Group were likely influential in the Administration’s decision to stop implementation of the CLASS Program due to serious concerns about the program’s sustainability.

The Committee released a report in October 2011 with estimates that we requested from the Joint Committee on Taxation on the distributional impact of Obamacare’s health insurance tax subsidies. The report titled “Uncovering the True Impact of the Obamacare Tax Credits: Increases the Deficit, Expands Welfare through the Tax Code, and Implements a New Marriage Tax Penalty.” In conjunction with the release of the report, the Subcommittee held a hearing titled “Examining Obamacare’s Hidden Marriage Penalty and Its Impact on the Deficit”. One of the other issues explored at the hearing was the incentive that employers will have to drop or reconfigure workplace health insurance in order to take advantage of the law’s subsidies and pass costs to taxpayers.

In November 2011, the Subcommittee held a hearing titled “Drug Shortage Crisis: Lives are in the Balance,” which focused on government laws and price controls that could be at the root of the crisis. Ted Okon, executive director of Community Oncology Alliance, testified that “[f]aced with the prospect of diminishing returns from low-priced, discounted, and rebated drugs, the incentive to stay in the market is reduced. This has led to fewer manufacturers producing these products.”

The Subcommittee on Health Care continued its oversight of waste, fraud, abuse, and mismanagement in the Medicaid program with a December 2011 hearing titled “A Medicaid Fraud Victim Speaks Out: What’s Going Wrong and Why?” and a April 2012 hearing titled “Is Government Adequately Protecting Taxpayers from Medicaid Fraud?” Both of the hearings were joint subcommittee hearings; the December 2011 hearing was conducted with the Subcommittee on Government Organization, Efficiency and Financial Management, and the April 2012 hearing was conducted with the Subcommittee on Regulatory Affairs, Stimulus Oversight and Government Spending.

At the December 2011 hearing, the Subcommittees heard the testimony of Richard West, a severely disabled Vietnam veteran who was a victim of Medicaid fraud. Mr. West's Medicaid-financed benefits were supposed to be provided by Maxim Healthcare, but Maxim billed the Medicaid program for a significant amount of care that Mr. West never received. Mr. West contacted both the state of New Jersey and CMS to inform them of the problem, but he was ignored. At the hearing, Mr. West testified, "They don't come out and say 'We don't believe you.' They just don't return your calls, don't answer your letters, don't respond to your emails. You are a burden to them, creating paperwork for them. It's easy for them to do nothing." Ultimately, Mr. West filed a successful lawsuit under the False Claims Act joined by the federal government, which ended up recovering more than $150 million. Members on both sides of the aisle were outraged with both Maxim's fraudulent billing practices and with the government's lack of effective oversight. Congressman Gowdy stated, "This is why people have lost trust in the institutions of government and why our fellow citizens have so little trust that we are spending their money as carefully as we would spend our own."

The joint Subcommittee hearing co-chaired by Congressmen Gowdy and Jordan featured testimony from three witnesses with intimate knowledge of specific practices in three states that led to massive amounts of taxpayer funds spent fraudulently through the Medicaid program. Dr. Gabriel Feldman, who filed a successful lawsuit against New York City, testified about the presence of a Medicaid industrial complex in New York City that enabled fraud in New York City's Medicaid-financed home health care program. Dr. Christie Ellis, a Texas orthodontist, testified about the scheme in Texas that resulted in Texas's Medicaid program spending more on braces than the rest of the Medicaid programs throughout the country spent on braces. Mr. David Feinwachs, a former key employee of the Minnesota Hospital Association, testified about a sophisticated scheme in Minnesota that resulted in the state overpaying the state's insurance companies that provided coverage to Medicaid enrollees in order to leverage the federal Medicaid reimbursement and cross-subsidize state-only health insurance programs.

Senator Charles Grassley (R-IA) and Congresswoman Michelle Bachmann (R-MN) gave opening statements at the hearing based upon their work uncovering the problems in Minnesota's program. Congresswoman Bachmann stated, "With limited information on data quality, CMS cannot ensure that States' managed care rates are appropriate, which places billions of federal and state dollars at risk for misspending. Billions of dollars at risk. This is unacceptable. It appears that a lack of proper auditing has fostered a breeding ground for Medicaid fraud." The final panel at the hearing consisted of CMS Medicaid director Cindy Mann answering Members' questions about CMS' failure to prevent or even detect the problems in New York, Texas, and Minnesota. The Commissioner of Minnesota's Department of Human Services Lucinda Jesson was also a witness at the final hearing and she faced questions about both the nature of UCare's $30 million repayment to the state and the inappropriately high rates the state was paying insurance companies through the Medicaid program.

In February 2012, the full Committee held a hearing titled "Lines Crossed: Separation of Church and State. Has the Obama Administration Trampled on Freedom of Religion and Freedom of Conscience?" on the HHS mandate that all employer-provided health insurance must cover contraception, abortifacients, and sterilization procedures. The Committee heard from two panels of witnesses that objected to the HHS rule and the narrow religious exemption that would have required numerous faith-based organizations to violate some of the central teachings of their faith. Bishop William Lori testified, "It is a question of government reaching into the internal governance of religious bodies and making a requirement contrary to church teaching." Rabbi Meir Soloveichik testified, "This is absolutely an issue of religious freedom and only of religious freedom. There are members of this Committee or of Congress or of the Executive Branch who are concerned about access to contraception. They can seek through legislation or otherwise to ensure greater access to that. . . . What they cannot do—and that's why we're here today—is to achieve this end by trampling on the religious freedoms and liberty of conscience of Americans." Dr. Allison Garrett, Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs at Oklahoma Christian, testified, "This debate is not about whether women have the right to obtain these drugs. Rather, this debate is about whether those who believe that contraceptives or abortion-inducing drugs that violate their religious convictions must pay for them. There is a vast difference between the right to make a purchase for oneself and requiring someone else to pay for it."

The Committee also released two reports in the first half of 2012. In March 2012, the Committee released a report entitled "Impact of President Obama's Health Care Law on Jobs." The report, which highlighted Congressional testimony of numerous business owners, described how Obamacare's many taxes and mandates will harm job creation. In April 2012, the Committee released a report entitled "Uncovering Waste, Fraud, and Abuse in the Medicaid Program." The report, which accompanied the joint Subcommittee hearing, described three major instances of Medicaid waste, fraud, and abuse and the ongoing failure at CMS to adequately protect taxpayer dollars spent through the program.

THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

The D.C. Subcommittee held a hearing in March 2011 on the District of Columbia Opportunity Scholarship Program (DCOSP). The DCOSP's authorization ended in 2009, and the doors were closed to new entrants. In fact, 216 students who had been offered scholarships had those offers revoked. Subcommittee Chairman Gowdy took testimony from parents and students affected by the end of the successful DCOSP. In May 2011, the subcommittee held a hearing on the fiscal sustainability of the D.C. budget. Testimony was heard from Mayor Gray, Council Chairman Kwame Brown, former control board chairwoman Alice Rivlin, and D.C. Chief Financial Officer Natwar Gandhi.

The D.C. Subcommittee held a hearing in June 2011 on the security of the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority (WMATA). Our rail and subway systems have always been a terrorist target, especially in our nation's capital. The hearing examined policies in place to ensure all necessary measures are being taken to protect the American people who use the DC Metro system. To ensure this, the hearing focused on coordination efforts between the several jurisdictions that oversee the system and surrounding infrastructure to make certain there are no security gaps between the federal, state, local and related entities. Testimony was heard from WMATA General Manager and CEO Richard Sarles, Metro Transit Police Chief Michael Taborn, Metropolitan Police Chief Cathy Lanier, and Fairfax County Executive Anthony Griffin.

In January 2012, the D.C. Subcommittee held a hearing on the Administration's decision to allow indefinite camping by individuals protesting with the "Occupy DC" movement in McPherson Square, an area under the control of National Park Service, and the consequences of that decision. Chairman Gowdy took testimony from the Director of the National Park Service Jonathan Jarvis, Chief of the Metropolitan Police Department Cathy Lanier, Deputy Mayor for Public Safety and Justice of the District of Columbia Paul Quander, Jr., Director of the District of Columbia Department of Health Mohammad Akhter, M.D., and Mr. Timothy Zick, a Cabell Research Professor of Law at William and Mary School of Law.

FEDERAL WORKFORCE

The Subcommittee on Federal Workforce, U.S. Postal Service, and Labor Policy held three hearings exploring issues affecting the federal workforce. At the March 9, 2011 hearing entitled, "Are Federal Workers Overpaid?" Chairman Dennis Ross made it clear that "the Members of this Subcommittee recognize that our talented federal workforce performs critically essential missions throughout the government, on behalf of our nation. We appreciate their service." Ross also noted that despite the fact that the President had declared a two-year pay freeze, roughly $1 billion worth of pay increases would be handed out each year due to the practice of "step" or "time-in-grade" increases awarded purely on tenure. At that hearing, the Subcommittee heard testimony from John Berry, director of the Office of Personnel Management. Berry argued that those step increases were necessary for employee retention, and promised to work with subcommittee Chairman Ross and full committee Chairman Issa to evaluate that policy. After the hearing, Ross and Issa requested that GAO conduct a comprehensive pay and benefit survey to answer key questions in dispute about the comparability of federal employee and private sector pay.

An April 13th hearing examined the Federal Employee Compensation Act, the "workers' compensation" system used by federal agencies and the U.S. Postal Service, which has been criticized for keeping some workers on its system who are long since eligible for retirement. The Subcommittee found broad consensus amongst agency IGs for reform of the system. In May, the Subcommittee examined several proposals to reduce the size of the federal workforce through attrition, bringing Rep. Cynthia Lummis of Wyoming, and Rep. Tom Marino of Pennsylvania before the committee to testify. After examining these and other proposals at the hearing, Chairman Issa, Chairman Ross, and National Security Subcommittee Chairman Jason Chaffetz, introduced H.R. 2114, a bill to reduce the size of the federal workforce by 10% by the year 2015 through attrition.

The Subcommittee continued its oversight of issues affecting the federal workforce. At the June 1, 2011 hearing entitled, "Official Time: Good Value for the Taxpayer?" Chairman Ross underscored the need for the federal government to release information on official time usage in a timely manner. In 2009, the federal government spent nearly three million hours of official time on union activities in 2009, at a cost of $129 million. Ross also expressed concern that little evidence exists that official time is improving government productivity.

On July 27, 2011, Chairman Ross held a hearing to examine the administration of the Thrift Savings Plan, including its investment options, participation rates, and expenses. Greg Long, Executive Director of the Federal Retirement Thrift Investment Board, discussed additional legislative changes requested by the Board to ensure the plan continues to meet participant needs.

During the November 15, 2011 hearing entitled, "Back to the Basics: Is OPM Meeting Its Mission?" the Subcommittee examined the Office of Personnel Management's efforts to modernize the federal government's hiring and retirement claims systems. The Subcommittee found OPM had no business plan to move from the current antiquated, paper-based process and reduce the backlog of 60,000 claims. The Subcommittee also examined OPM's failed launch of an in-house jobs board, for which OPM Director Berry OPM admitted the agency underestimated both the systems and software challenges.

On January 25, 2012, the Subcommittee continued its review of federal employee compensation with a hearing entitled, "Retirement Readiness: Strengthening the Federal Pension System." During the hearing, the Subcommittee focused in options in reforming the federal pension system to bring it more in line with the private sector workforce and ensure pension benefits are available to current and future annuitants. The Subcommittee examined the pension formula for Members of Congress, which results in a more generous retirement benefit.

On May 16, 2012, the Subcommittee held a hearing entitled, "Hatch Act: Options for Reform." The hearing followed the Committee's June 2011 hearing, at which a bipartisan panel expressed support for making substantive changes in the Hatch Act statute. The Subcommittee examined legislation introduced to repeal the Hatch Act's arbitrary restrictions on state and local government workers who seek to run for elected office, and heard testimony from witnesses on the need for legislation that preserves the intent of the Hatch Act and reflects the realities of today's federal workplace. Subcommittee members also discussed the intent behind the statutory exemption that allows federal labor organizations and certain federal employee organizations to solicit, accept, or receive political contributions within their membership.

UNITED STATES POSTAL SERVICE

The Full Committee and the Subcommittee on Federal Workforce, U.S. Postal Service, and Labor Policy conducted oversight of the United States Postal Service, regarding fiscal sustainability and the prevention of a dollar for dollar taxpayer-funded bailout. The Subcommittee held a hearing in March with newly appointed Postmaster General Patrick Donahoe, Postal Regulatory Commission Chair Ruth Goldway, and postal industry experts to discuss what the Subcommittee called the “Looming Crisis at USPS.” The Subcommittee identified the key concern with the fiscal health of USPS- workforce costs represented 80% of expenses. Donahoe returned to testify to the Full Committee on April 5, 2011, at a hearing examining the sustainability of those costs in light of the recently signed contract with the largest postal union, the American Postal Workers Union. The Subcommittee also held a hearing featuring testimony from the businesses that make up the rest of the postal industry. The Committee is working on legislation that will allow USPS to return to fiscal sustainability and avoid a taxpayer funded bailout.

On June 15, 2011 the Subcommittee on Federal Workforce, U.S. Postal Service, and Labor Policy conducted the Committee’s fourth oversight hearing of this Congress focusing on whether the Postal Service could afford to maintain its current level of infrastructure. The following week, Chairman Issa and Subcommittee Chairman Ross introduced H.R. 2309, the Postal Reform Act, a bill designed to immediately restructure and reform USPS and prevent the need for a taxpayer funded bailout of the Postal Service. On September 21, 2011 the Subcommittee held a business meeting where an amended version of H.R. 2309 was favorably reported to the full committee by a recorded vote of 8 to 5. At an October 13, 2011 business meeting, the full committee considered H.R. 2309. During the markup, a proposal to retroactively recalculate USPS pension liabilities to create an artificial financial windfall for the Postal Service was defeated by a vote of 17–20. After a total of 15 amendments were adopted, H.R. 2309 was ordered reported to the House of Representatives by a recorded vote of 22–18.

In March 2012, the Subcommittee on Federal Workforce, U.S. Postal Service, and Labor Policy conducted an informational hearing on a United States Postal Service proposal to take over the administration of health care benefits from the Office of Personnel Management. At the hearing, Postmaster General Donahoe spoke in favor of the plan, arguing in his testimony that a USPS-administered health plan would save $7 billion per year. However, a second witness, Walton Francis, a federal health care expert, strongly questioned whether the planned savings were achievable.

CENSUS

On March 6, 2012, the Subcommittee on Health Care, District of Columbia, Census, and the National Archives held a hearing entitled: “The Pros and Cons of Making the Census Bureau’s American Community Survey Voluntary.” The successor to the Census Long Form, the American Community Survey (ACS) is sent to 3 million randomly selected addresses every year and under provisions of title 13 and title 18, U.S.C., those selected are legally obligated to complete the survey. The personal nature of several of the questions, however, has raised privacy concerns, which the hearing examined. Testifying at the hearing, Representative Ted Poe argued that “there is no compelling state interest that should allow this intrusion into private lives,” and reiterated his support for H.R. 931, a bill he has introduced to make the ACS voluntary. Other witnesses at the hearing, including Robert Groves, then the Director of the Census Bureau, argued that the information compiled by the ACS is vital to the proper allocation of federal spending and very useful to private sector businesses. It was also discussed that making the ACS voluntary would increase the costs of administering the survey, due to a lower response rate.

NATIONAL SECURITY AND FOREIGN OPERATIONS

In May 2011, the Subcommittee on National Security, Homeland Defense and Foreign Operations continued a series of hearings on issues in wounded warrior care that examined the transition of members of the military who are wounded in action from the Department of Defense to the Department of Veterans Affairs. The Subcommittee heard testimony from officials at the Departments of Defense and Veterans Affairs as well as the GAO which had uncovered problems in the transition of members of the military between the two departments. In May, the Subcommittee on National Security, Homeland Defense and Foreign Operations held a hearing entitled, “USAID: Following the Money” to examine how efficiently USAID uses federal funds. Rajiv Shah, Administrator of USAID, and Donald Gambatesa, Inspector General for USAID testified before the Subcommittee.

In June 2011, the Subcommittee conducted hearing to examine Venezuela’s sanctionable activity and what steps the Administration is taking to curtail that behavior. Also in June, the Subcommittee heard testimony from senior government witnesses about the state of our nation’s cybersecurity. In July, the Subcommittee held its second hearing examining the TSA’s efforts to secure airports and passengers. Members heard testimony from private and public sector witnesses about challenges and possible solutions.

In September 2011, the Subcommittee continued its oversight of corruption along the military’s supply chain in Afghanistan, including whether the Pentagon has taken sufficient steps to eliminate possible extortion. In October, the Subcommittee held its second hearing on the progress of the Defense and State Department transition to a civilian-led mission in Iraq.

In November 2011, the Subcommittee conducted a hearing to examine whether the Obama Administration’s diplomatic strategy has made any impact on Iran’s progress toward obtaining a nuclear weapon. It also sought to determine whether the State Department will be prepared to defend itself against Iranian engagement in Iraq after the December 31, 2011, troop withdrawal deadline. In December, the Subcommittee heard testimony from the IG community about the challenges and solutions for more effective oversight in Iraq and Afghanistan.

In February 2012, the Subcommittee on National Security, Homeland Defense and Foreign Operations continued its oversight of Afghanistan operations by conducting a hearing entitled, “Are Changes in Security Policy Jeopardizing USAID Reconstruction Projects and Personnel in Afghanistan?” The Subcommittee addressed the potential impact of Afghanistan President Hamid Karzai’s Presidential Decree 62 upon the safety and security of U.S. Agency for International Development projects and personnel in Afghanistan. In particular, the hearing examined the issues raised by a March 9, 2012 Management Alert sent to US Agency for International Development Afghanistan Mission Director Dr. S. Ken Yamashita by Acting Special Inspector General for Afghanistan Reconstruction Steven Trent. Members heard testimony from the office of the Special Inspector General for Afghanistan Reconstruction, as well as a representative from USAID.

In March 2012, the Subcommittee on National Security, Homeland Defense and Foreign Operations continued its oversight of the Department of Veterans Affairs by conducting a hearing entitled, “Preventing Stolen Valor: Challenges and Solutions.” The Subcommittee addressed issues arising from the fabrication of military service records and awards by those who fraudulently seek to obtain personal and professional benefit. In particular, the hearing examined the federal government’s ability to maintain adequate databases to track and promptly access service records, as well as the extent to which those records are made available to those seeking verification. Members heard testimony from the Defense Department, the National Archives and Records Administration, the veteran community, and a private sector military records archivist.

HOMELAND SECURITY

The Subcommittee on National Security, Homeland Defense and Foreign Operations held a hearing in March on the use of full body scanners by the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) in airports. The Subcommittee received testimony from several experts in the private sector, as well as two TSA administrators. The Subcommittee also heard testimony from Sharon Cissna, a member of the Alaska State House of Representatives, and a repeated victim of invasive TSA searches. In April, the Subcommittee held a hearing entitled, “Tsunami Warning, Preparedness and Inter-agency Cooperation: Lessons Learned” to understand the Federal Government’s level of preparation for a tsunami in the United States. Additionally in April, the Subcommittee held a hearing on border security entitled, “The Border: Are Environmental Laws and Regulations Impeding Security and Harming the Environment?” A variety of current and former government officials testified, including former Border Patrol Agent George Zachary Taylor, who declared that “there is a tremendous difference of opinion between what the Law Enforcement Officers working along the Arizona-Mexico Border believe is the current state of National Security and Public Safety there and what the Department of Homeland Security Officials represent as the current state of National Security and Public Safety along that very same border.”

In July, the Subcommittee heard testimony from senior government witnesses about the state of our nation’s cybersecurity. Also in July, the Subcommittee held its second hearing examining the TSA’s efforts to secure airports and passengers. Members heard testimony from private and public sector witnesses about challenges and possible solutions.

In March 2012, the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform and the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure conducted a joint hearing entitled “TSA Oversight Part III: Effective Security or Security Theater?” The Committees examined the successes and challenges associated with Advanced Imaging Technology, the Screening of Passengers by Observation Techniques program, the Transportation Worker Identification Credential, and other security initiatives administered by the Transportation Security Administration. Members heard testimony from senior Transportation Security Administration officials, the Coast Guard, and the Government Accountability Office.

In May 2012, the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform and the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure conducted a joint hearing entitled, “TSA Oversight Part IV: Is TSA Effectively Procuring, Deploying, and Storing Aviation Security Equipment and Technology?” The Committees examined issues associated with the procurement, deployment, and storage of airport security related equipment. Members heard testimony from the Transportation Security Administration, the Department of Homeland Security Inspector General, and the Government Accountability Office.

V. SUMMARY OF ANY ADDITIONAL OVERSIGHT ACTIVITIES UNDERTAKEN, AND ANY RECOMMENDATIONS MADE OR ACTIONS TAKEN THEREON

DOJ’s Operation Fast and Furious—The Committee has been investigating DOJ’s fundamentally flawed gun trafficking investigation since February 2011. Fast and Furious relied on the tactic of “gunwalking”—ATF agents abandoned surveillance on known straw purchasers who were known to be obtaining weapons on behalf of Mexican drug cartels. Fast and Furious allowed roughly 2,000 firearms to walk. Only a fraction of the Fast and Furious guns have been recovered, mostly at crime scenes in Mexico. This reckless operation finally came to end after the death of U.S. Border Agent Brian Terry. The Committee has issued two subpoenas, one to former ATF Acting Director Kenneth Melson and another to Attorney General Eric Holder. Although the Committee has received approximately 7,000 documents, the Justice Department continues to refuse to comply fully with the subpoena. The Committee has held four hearings and conducted numerous transcribed interviews with both ATF and DOJ officials. The Committee has also raised the possibility of contempt proceedings with the Justice Department.

Politicization of the Office of Special Counsel—The Committee is investigating OSC’s Hatch Act investigation and report regarding political activity in the Bush White House Office of Political Affairs. As part of an ongoing oversight effort, the Committee continues to monitor OSC and the White House regarding their respective abilities to scrutinize Hatch Act compliance and resolve conflicts in a timely manner that protects taxpayers’ interests. The Committee held a hearing on Hatch Act reform and conducted a series of transcribed interviews related to OSC’s flawed Hatch Act investigation and report.

Politicization of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission—The Committee is investigating politicization of the NRC during the chairmanship of Gregory Jaczko. The Committee is also examining allegations that Jaczko has been abusive to staff and hostile to his colleagues on the Commission. The Committee wrote a number of letters to Jaczko, issued a 62-page report and held a hearing on the matter at which all 5 commissioners testified. Jaczko announced his resignation pending the nomination of his replacement on May 21, 2012. The Committee will continue to encourage the White House to take prompt action to prevent further damage to the agency.

Oversight of the Community of Inspectors General—The Committee is responsible for oversight of the community of federal inspectors general. Toward that end, the Committee held a hearing on the proliferation of vacant IG posts during the Obama administration. The Committee provided oversight and support to the Securities and Exchange Commission as the agency dealt with a crisis at its Office of the Inspector General. The Committee also collected and logged open and unimplemented IG recommendations for the fourth consecutive year.

DARPA Contracting Conflicts—The Committee has conducted an investigation for approximately nine months into possible impropriety related to Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency contracting. The contracts in question were awarded over the last two years to a company co-owned by DARPA Director Regina Dugan. The Committee has reviewed thousands of documents produced by the Defense Department and conducted transcribed interviews of current and former DARPA officials.

Countrywide's VIP Loan Program—The Committee is investigating the VIP loan program operated by Countrywide Financial Corporation. Countrywide used the program to give discounted loans and other preferential treatment to Members of Congress, congressional staff, federal employees, and employees of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac. Pursuant to a subpoena, the Committee received more than 100,000 documents from Bank of America, which acquired Countrywide. During the 112th Congress, the Committee has also conducted four transcribed interviews with current and former Bank employees.

Misuse of the SSI label by TSA—The Committee is investigating allegations that political appointees at TSA use the Sensitive Security Information (SSI) designation to withhold embarrassing or damaging information. Alternatively, TSA public affairs staff are alleged to have released actual SSI to the press for public relations purposes. The Committee has obtained documents from whistleblowers and the Department of Homeland Security and conducted transcribed interviews of current and former TSA employees.

False and Misleading Border Crossing Data—The Committee is investigating allegations from Customs and Border Patrol agents that the Department of Homeland Security knowingly publishes false and misleading border crossing data. According to CBP insiders, the agency misrepresents the number of “got aways”—individuals who illegally cross the southwest border and are never caught or otherwise accounted for. In response to a letter from Chairman Issa and Subcommittee Chairman Chaffetz, the Committee has obtained documents and a series of briefings.

Agency Conference Spending—On April 2, 2012, the General Services Administration's Office of the Inspector General issued a report finding significant waste and potential criminal activity occurred in conjunction with the planning and execution of the Public Building Service's Western Regions Conference (WRC). The WRC was held in October 2010 at the luxurious M Resort and Spa just off the Las Vegas strip. The conference cost taxpayers approximately $840,000. On April 16, 2012, at a full Committee hearing, Members examined the details surrounding the WRC and the lessons learned. In an effort to determine whether excessive conference spending is a government-wide problem, Chairman Issa wrote to all Cabinet-level Departments and additional agencies requesting conference information.

Fraud in the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP)—In February 2012, Scripps Howard News Service published an investigation finding that numerous SNAP vendors who were previously disqualified from the program were able to re-qualify due to lapses in the Department of Agriculture's (USDA) system for approving vendors. In early March 2012, the Committee held a hearing and heard from several witnesses. Although USDA's Under Secretary with responsibility for the SNAP program assured Committee Members that fraud is declining, the Pennsylvania Inspector General (PA IG) stated that caseload trends in her office show the exact opposite. The PA IG bluntly told the Committee that fraud in SNAP is on the rise. The Chairman sent a follow-up letter to the USDA Under Secretary asking for clarification and offering to continue the dialogue on methods to improve SNAP fraud prevention.
