

113TH CONGRESS
1ST SESSION

S. 1248

To permit employees to request, and to ensure employers consider requests for, flexible work terms and conditions, and for other purposes.

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES

JUNE 27, 2013

Mr. CASEY (for himself and Mr. HARKIN) introduced the following bill; which was read twice and referred to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions

A BILL

To permit employees to request, and to ensure employers consider requests for, flexible work terms and conditions, and for other purposes.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4 This Act may be cited as the “Flexibility for Working 5 Families Act”.

6 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

7 Congress makes the following findings:

8 (1) Over the last 50 years, the demographics of 9 the Nation’s workforce have undergone significant

1 changes. As a result of the changes, the modern 2 workforce has a more diverse set of needs.

3 (2) Over time, increasing numbers of women
4 have joined the workforce. The Bureau of Labor
5 Statistics reports that in 1960 women composed 33
6 percent of employed persons, whereas in 2010 they 7 were 47 percent of employed persons.

8 (3) Fewer households have at least 1 parent at 9 home. According to the Bureau of the Census, more
10 than 70 percent of children are raised in families
11 that are headed by either a working single parent or 12 2 working parents. Furthermore, the number of 13 households with married parents and children, in 14 which both parents were in the workforce, rose to 66
15 percent in 2010. The number of single-parent fami-
16 lies has also increased, almost tripling over the last 17 50 years, from 5 percent in 1960, to 14 percent in 18 2010.

19 (4) More households are caring for older rel-
20 atives. According to the Bureau of the Census, the 21 average life expectancy for a child born in 2010 is 22 78.3 years, almost 10 years longer than for a child
23 born in 1960. The National Alliance for Caregiving
24 found that 57 percent of persons who provide unpaid 25 care to an adult or to a child with special needs are

1 employed, with 46 percent working full time and 11
2 percent working part time.

3 (5) Many jobs are now located outside of city
4 centers. Low-wage employees in particular have dif-
5 ficulty reaching jobs through public transportation
6 during off-peak shifts, such as shifts that start in 7 the evening or early morning.

8 (6) In response to the needs of the modern 9 workforce some employers have instituted flexible
10 work arrangements, which, according to Georgetown
11 University Law School's Workforce Flexibility 2010
12 initiative, are voluntary arrangements between em-
13 ployees and employers that alter the time or place
14 at which work is conducted, or the amount of work 15 that is conducted, in order to allow employees to 16 more easily meet the needs of both work and family
17 life.

18 (7) The National Study of the Changing Work-
19 force, published in 2002 by the Families and Work
20 Institute, found that employees with access to flexi-
21 ble work arrangements reported less interference be-22 tween their job and family life, and fewer mental 23 health problems.

24 (8) Corporate Voices for Working Families
25 found that implementing workplace flexibility im-

1 proves employee satisfaction, morale, and teamwork
2 as well as employee health, well-being, and resilience,
3 and helps to reduce stress.

4 (9) Flexible work arrangements have also been 5 shown to improve the bottom line for businesses.
6 Corporate Voices for Working Families found that 7 implementing workplace flexibility improves the bot-
8 tom line by helping businesses to attract and retain 9 key talent, increase employee retention and reduce 10 turnover, reduce overtime and absenteeism, and en-
11 hance employee productivity, effectiveness, and en-
12 gagement.

13 (10) The President's Council of Economic Advi-
14 sors found that, as more businesses adopt flexibility
15 practices, the benefits to society, in the form of re-16 duced traffic, improved employment outcomes, and 17 more efficient allocation of employees to employers,
18 may be greater than the gains to individual busi-
19 nesses and employees.

20 (11) According to a 2011 Government Account-
21 ability Office report, a flexible work environment can 22 increase and enhance employment opportunities for 23 individuals with disabilities.

1 (12) The Society for Human Resource Manage-
2 ment believes that the key to getting the best out of 3 every employee is a flexible work environment.

4 (13) According to the National Partnership for 5 Women and Families, businesses can retain their 6 most valuable asset—a trained and committed work-
7 force—by offering flexible workplace policies.
