COMMITTEE STATEMENT AND VIEWS

PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

H.R. 1233, the Presidential and Federal Records Act Amendments of 2013, was introduced on March 18, 2013, by Representative Elijah E. Cummings (D–MD). This legislation makes a number of modernizing reforms to federal recordkeeping procedures and requirements. As amended, H.R. 1233 would codify an executive order to fill an executive privilege related gap in the Presidential Records Act (PRA) while also streamlining outdated statutory recordkeeping language and making additional changes to improve the federal government’s ability to capture and archive electronic records.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

Congress first addressed federal recordkeeping in the 1930s, when the combination of growing public concern over poor agency recordkeeping practices and an expanding federal bureaucracy necessitated recordkeeping solutions for a larger volume of records. In 1934, Congress established the National Archives and the position of Archivist of the United States (Archivist) as the primary, central agent of records preservation for the federal government. In 1950, Congress followed up the establishment of the National Archives with the Federal Records Act (FRA), which established basic records management authority for federal agencies and set basic records management standards, including standards for disposal of records. The intent was that agencies would manage their own records internally, while the National Archives would filter and preserve those records that were transferred to the National Archives for posterity.

In 1955, Congress addressed presidential recordkeeping in its own right with the Presidential Libraries Act, which adopted the presidential library model, first conceptualized in 1938, for the permanent maintenance of the records of former presidents. In 1978, in the wake of Watergate, Congress passed the PRA, which was intended to be a comprehensive answer to the general issue of presidential records preservation and maintenance.

The PRA defined what did and did not qualify as a presidential record, clarified the ownership of presidential records, detailed guidelines for the management and custody of presidential records, established procedures for restricting access to presidential records under certain circumstances, and granted the Archivist, who heads NARA, the ability to promulgate regulations enforcing the PRA.7

The PRA did not, however, provide a procedure allowing former presidents to request continued restricted access to presidential records created during their respective administrations. To fill this gap, several presidents since the passage of the PRA have issued executive orders to formalize a request procedure and define the limits of such requests.8 To definitively address this issue, H.R. 1233 would create a framework that would enable former presidents to request continued restricted access on a very narrow basis, effectively in accord with the Reagan and Obama Administration frameworks.

In other areas, both the PRA and the FRA have become increasingly antiquated, particularly in regard to electronic information. Despite the rapid migration over the last several decades toward electronic communication and recordkeeping, federal recordkeeping laws are still focused on the media in which a record is preserved, not the information that constitutes the record itself. To correct this flaw, this legislation will shift the onus of recordkeeping onto the record and not the media it is contained in as a way to better enable NARA, and other agencies, to handle growing amounts of electronic communication. Additionally, the bill helps address a number of potential records security issues by further restricting access to presidential records for those convicted of an Archives-related crime and by explicitly codifying requirements for federal employees to file electronic communications regarding official business done through personal messaging accounts with their agency. Finally, the legislation makes changes that streamline and modernize title 44, such as repealing defunct provisions and striking unnecessary statutory references to the General Services Administration.

LEGISLATIVE HISTORY

H.R. 1233, the Presidential and Federal Records Act Amendments of 2013, was introduced on March 18, 2013, and referred to the House Committee on Oversight and Government Reform. In the 112th Congress, the provisions contained within the introduced version of H.R. 1233 were included in H.R. 3071, as amended and ordered reported by voice vote by the Oversight Committee.

At a business meeting on March 20, 2013, the Committee considered H.R. 1233 and ordered the bill to be reported by voice vote.

SECTION-BY-SECTION

Section 1. Short title; Table of contents

Section 1 establishes the bill’s short title as the “Presidential and Federal Records Act Amendments of 2013” and provides the legislation’s table of contents.

7See id. at § 2206. The PRA also provides that the same rules governing the collection, storage, and preservation of presidential records govern the collection, storage, and preservation of vice presidential records. See id. at § 2207.

8In 1989, President Reagan—who was the first president to be subject to the PRA—issued Executive Order 12667 to establish such a procedure. In 2001, President George W. Bush issued Executive Order 13233, which dramatically increased the scope of former presidents’ abilities to request and receive continued restricted access to their presidential records. In 2009, President Obama issued Executive Order 13489, which rescinded President Bush’s expansive executive order and effectively restored President Reagan’s request framework. See generally Exec. Order No. 13489, 74 Fed. Reg. 4669 (Jan. 26, 2009).
Section 2. Presidential records

Subsection (a) creates 44 U.S.C. § 2208 which establishes a clear appeals procedure by which a former president can request that an incumbent president maintain the privileged status of records of that former president that have yet to be released to the public by the Archivist.

Subsection (b) makes technical corrections to modernize a number of definitions contained in 44 U.S.C. § 2201.

Subsection (c) modifies 44 U.S.C. § 2203 to give presidential administrations the option to, in effect, allow pre-accession of physical and electronic records.

Subsection (d) amends 44 U.S.C. § 2204 to bar designated presidential representatives who have previously been convicted of a National Archives record-related crime from access to NARA facilities or records.

Subsection (e) creates 44 U.S.C. § 2209 which requires federal employees who create or send a Presidential record from a non-official electronic messaging account to forward a complete copy of the record to an official electronic messaging account within five days. In cases of intentional violation of this disclosure requirement, the section authorizes disciplinary action as determined by the appropriate supervisor, in accordance with subchapter I, II, or V of chapter 75 of title 5, U.S. Code.

Section 3. National Archives and Records Administration

Subsection (a) amends 44 U.S.C. § 2107 to outline the federal agency option of “pre-accessioning,” or the transfer of agency documents to NARA for processing and release in advance of the statutorily required date for doing so.

Subsection (b) amends 44 U.S.C. § 2111 to shift NARA’s duty to receive “recorded information” generally, rather than to receive any specific media containing information.

Subsection (c) amends provisions in 44 U.S.C. § 2114 to modernize terminology addressing the audio and visual records that NARA is likely to receive for deposit.

Subsection (d) amends 44 U.S.C. § 2116 to include digital reproductions among the categories of reproductions that federal agencies may keep when they are statutorily required to maintain copies of documents indefinitely.

Section 4. Records management by Federal agencies

Section 4 amends 44 U.S.C. § 3016 to expand the types of destruction that can be carried out to destroy federal records. The changes are intended to list damage actions that are specific to electronic records, such as “corruption,” deletion,” and “erasure,” that may not be covered under the current statutory language.

Section 5. Disposal of records

Subsection (a) amends 44 U.S.C. 3301 to adjust the federal definition of “records” to shift the emphasis to the information being stored in a given record, rather than any specific media used to store information and gives NARA the authority to define the term “record” as it applies to federal agencies, which, in effect, gives NARA the ability to issue binding regulations governing agencies’ record preservation, maintenance, and transfer requirements.
Subsections (b), (c), (e) amend 44 U.S.C. § 3302(3), § 3303(1), and § 3312, respectively, to add digitization language to provisions dealing with the scheduled disposal and evidentiary validity of federal records.

Subsection (d) amends 44 U.S.C. § 3303a(c) to update the language regarding the respective House and Senate congressional committees of jurisdiction.

Section 6. Procedures to prevent unauthorized removal of classified records from National Archives

This section creates new statutory rules governing access to NARA facilities and NARA records. It is intended to ensure against the theft of or damage to classified records under NARA's control and limit regular access to appropriate NARA officials and employees.

Section 7. Repeal of provisions related to the National Study Commission on Records and Documents of Federal Officials

Section 7 repeals provisions of Chapter 33 of title 44 governing the now-defunct National Study Commission on Records and Documents of Federal Officials.

Section 8. Pronoun amendments

Section 8 removes pronouns throughout title 44 and replaces them with gender-neutral references to the Archivist, former President, incumbent President, or other official, as appropriate.

Section 9. Records management by the Archivist

Subsection (a) amends 44 U.S.C. § 2902 to require NARA promote and pursue electronic recordkeeping and receipt of electronic records from federal agencies.

Subsection (b) amends 44 U.S.C. § 2907 to provide the Archivist with the authority to establish and use records centers with the capability of digitizing records in the same way that NARA would capture records on microfilm or other photographic processes.

Subsection (c) amends 44 U.S.C. § 2904 to delete vestigial language regarding the General Services Administration (GSA) and its Administrator.

Subsection (d) amends 44 U.S.C. § 2906 to clarify NARA's ability to inspect federal agencies' records for the purpose of ensuring their historical value.

Subsections (e), (f), and (g) amend 44 U.S.C. § 2115, the heading for chapter 29, of title 44, U.S.C., and 44 U.S.C. § 3102(2), respectively, to delete additional vestigial references to GSA and its Administrator.

Section 10. Disclosure requirement for official business conducted using non-official electronic messaging account

Section 10 creates 44 U.S.C. § 2911 which requires federal employees who create or send a federal record from a non-official electronic messaging account to forward a complete copy of the record to an official electronic messaging account within five days. In cases of intentional violation of this disclosure requirement, the section authorizes disciplinary action as determined by the appro-appropriate supervisor, in accordance with subchapter I, II, or V of chapter 75 of title 5, U.S. Code.

EXPLANATION OF AMENDMENTS

The provisions of the legislation as ordered reported are explained in this report.

COMMITTEE CONSIDERATION

On March 20, 2013, the Committee met in open session and ordered reported favorably the bill, H.R. 1233, as amended, by voice vote, a quorum being present.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO THE LEGISLATIVE BRANCH

Section 102(b)(3) of Public Law 104–1 requires a description of the application of this bill to the legislative branch where the bill relates to the terms and conditions of employment or access to public services and accommodations. This bill codifies an executive order to fill an executive privilege related gap in the Presidential Records Act while also streamlining outdated statutory record-keeping language and making additional changes to improve the federal government’s ability to capture and archive electronic records. As such this bill does not relate to employment or access to public services and accommodations.

STATEMENT OF OVERSIGHT FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE COMMITTEE

In compliance with clause 3(c)(1) of rule XIII and clause (2)(b)(1) of rule X of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the Committee’s oversight findings and recommendations are reflected in the descriptive portions of this report.

STATEMENT OF GENERAL PERFORMANCE GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

In accordance with clause 3(c)(4) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the Committee’s performance goals and objectives are reflected in the descriptive portions of this report.

DUPLICATION OF FEDERAL PROGRAMS

No provision of H.R. 1233 establishes or reauthorizes a program of the Federal Government known to be duplicative of another Federal program, a program that was included in any report from the Government Accountability Office to Congress pursuant to section 21 of Public Law 111–139, or a program related to a program identified in the most recent Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance.

DISCLOSURE OF DIRECTED RULE MAKINGS

H.R. 1233 requires the Archivist to promulgate regulations requiring all Federal agencies to transfer all digital or electronic records to the National Archives in digital or electronic form to the greatest extent possible.
FEDERAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE ACT

The Committee finds that the legislation does not establish or authorize the establishment of an advisory committee within the definition of 5 U.S.C. App., Section 5(b).

UNFUNDED MANDATE STATEMENT

Section 423 of the Congressional Budget and Impoundment Control Act (as amended by Section 101(a)(2) of the Unfunded Mandate Reform Act, P.L. 104–4) requires a statement as to whether the provisions of the reported include unfunded mandates. In compliance with this requirement the Committee has received a letter from the Congressional Budget Office included herein.

EARMARK IDENTIFICATION

H.R. 1233 does not include any congressional earmarks, limited tax benefits, or limited tariff benefits as defined in clause 9 of rule XXI.

COMMITTEE ESTIMATE

Clause 3(d)(2) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives requires an estimate and a comparison by the Committee of the costs that would be incurred in carrying out H.R. 1233. However, clause 3(d)(3)(B) of that rule provides that this requirement does not apply when the Committee has included in its report a timely submitted cost estimate of the bill prepared by the Director of the Congressional Budget Office under section 402 of the Congressional Budget Act.

BUDGET AUTHORITY AND CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE COST ESTIMATE

With respect to the requirements of clause 3(c)(2) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives and section 308(a) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 and with respect to requirements of clause 3(c)(3) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives and section 402 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, the Committee has received the following cost estimate for H.R. 1233 from the Director of Congressional Budget Office:

MAY 20, 2013.

Hon. Darrell Issa,
Chairman, Committee on Oversight and Government Reform, House of Representatives, Washington, DC,

Dear Mr. Chairman: The Congressional Budget Office has prepared the enclosed cost estimate for H.R. 1233, the Presidential and Federal Records Act Amendments of 2013.

If you wish further details on this estimate, we will be pleased to provide them. The CBO staff contact is Matthew Pickford.

Sincerely,

Douglas W. Elmendorf.

Enclosure.
H.R. 1233—Presidential and Federal Records Act Amendments of 2013

H.R. 1233 would amend federal law regarding the preservation, storage, and management of federal records. The legislation would amend the Presidential Records Act to establish a process for reviewing Presidential records. The bill also would update archival laws to accommodate the government’s use of electronic and digital communications. Finally, H.R. 1233 would require the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) to prevent unauthorized access or removal of government records.

According to NARA, most provisions in the bill would codify and expand current practices. Executive Orders and Presidential memos have directed NARA and agencies to better manage government records. Consequently, CBO estimates that implementing H.R. 1233 would have no significant cost over the next five years. The bill could affect direct spending by agencies not funded through annual appropriations; therefore, pay-as-you-go procedures apply. CBO estimates, however, that any net increase in spending by those agencies would not be significant. Enacting H.R. 1233 would not affect revenues.

H.R. 1233 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act and would not affect the budgets of state, local, or tribal governments.

The CBO staff contact for this estimate is Matthew Pickford. The estimate was approved by Theresa Gullo, Deputy Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.
