

I wish both teams well but the Grizzlies just a little bit better.

TRUMP'S SNL APPEARANCE

(Ms. LORETTA SANCHEZ of California asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. LORETTA SANCHEZ of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to encourage Saturday Night Live to disinvite Donald Trump from hosting their show this weekend.

Many may believe that Mr. Trump is just causing controversy so that he can get media attention, but his divisive and racist rhetoric has very troubling and real-world consequences.

Many businesses and individuals have severed ties with Mr. Trump. Even SNL's owner, NBC Universal, stated that, "At NBC, respect and dignity for all people are cornerstones of our values," and they ended their relationship with Mr. Trump.

Perhaps this blunder happened because currently there is no Latino cast member on SNL, and there have only been two in the entire history of SNL.

I hope Saturday Night Live's producers, writers, and cast members will consider how Donald Trump hosting SNL will compromise the integrity of their show. Having Mr. Trump degrades the quality of SNL's humor because racism isn't funny. It is lazy, and it is cheap.

Comedy has the power to highlight hypocrisy in society and reveal important social truths and political commentary. SNL has achieved that in the past, and I hope it returns.

HAPPY 100TH BIRTHDAY TO TSCPA

(Mr. CONAWAY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. CONAWAY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate the Texas Society of CPAs on their 100th birthday. As a lifetime member of the TSCPA and a past chairman of the Texas State Board of Public Accountancy, the TSCPA holds a special place in my heart.

While not in plain view and often not recognized, CPAs are a special part of our communities. They do important oversight and regulation work that is integral to the functioning of our society. Bottom line, CPAs are essential for facilitating a thriving commercial system.

Some important TSCPA initiatives include financial literacy education and financial preparation in the event of a disaster. Both of these outreach programs are designed to help the general public improve their lives. Simply put, TSCPA is teaching people how to fish. In a complex world, these financial skills will benefit them and their children for the rest of their lives.

For 100 years, the TSCPA has been growing the profession, maintaining the profession's integrity, molding leaders, and helping others. Its growth is in the evidence of its success. Since its founding in 1915, the TSCPA has grown to 20 chapters and a membership of nearly 28,000 CPAs.

I am a proud member of the profession. I am proud to be a CPA, I am proud of my fellow CPAs, and I am proud of the TSCPA. I wish them happy birthday on their 100th birthday.

NOVEMBER IS MEN'S HEALTH MONTH

(Ms. KELLY of Illinois asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. KELLY of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, in our national conversation on health and health disparities, we often forget that men face some unique health and health access challenges. So I rise today on behalf of men around the world to recognize November as Men's Health Month and to raise awareness for men's health issues.

Today American men face a mortality rate 41 percent higher than women. Life expectancy for men is 76 years compared to 81 for women. American men face a higher mortality rate than women for 8 of the 10 leading causes of death, including cancer, liver disease, and heart disease. Additionally, men are at increased risk of mental health problems and 4.1 times more likely to commit suicide than women.

These are serious issues facing men around the world. Every November men around the world grow out their mustaches to raise awareness for these and other issues facing men. While I won't be able to join my colleagues in growing facial hair to raise awareness, I will be working behind the scenes to spread the word. In the meantime, I urge my colleagues to become educated about men's health and to stay healthy.
