(d) BUDGET REDUCTIONS BY OVERSIGHT BOARD.—If the Oversight Board determines that the Governor, in the case of any then-applicable certified Instrumentality Budgets, and the Governor and the Legislature, in the case of the then-applicable certified Territory Budget, have failed to correct an inconsistency identified by the Oversight Board under subsection (c), the Oversight Board shall—

(1) with respect to the territorial government, other than covered territorial instrumentalities, make appropriate reductions in nondebt expenditures to ensure that the actual quarterly revenues and expenditures for the territorial government are in compliance with the applicable certified Territory Budget or, in the case of the fiscal year in which the Oversight Board is established, the budget adopted by the Governor and the Legislature; and

(2) with respect to covered territorial instrumentalities at the sole discretion of the Oversight Board—

(A) make reductions in nondebt expenditures to ensure that the actual quarterly revenues and expenses for the covered territorial instrumentality are in compliance with the applicable certified Budget or, in the case of the fiscal year in which the Oversight Board is established, the budget adopted by the Governor and the Legislature or the covered territorial instrumentality, as applicable; or

(B)(i) institute automatic hiring freezes at the covered territorial instrumentality; and

(C) the Governor submits a law to the Oversight Board under this subsection that is accompanied by a certification described in paragraph (2)(C) that the law is significantly inconsistent with the Fiscal Plan.

(4) OPPORTUNITY TO RESPOND TO NOTIFICATION.—

(A) FAILURE TO PROVIDE ESTIMATE OR CERTIFICATION.—After sending a notification to the Governor and the Legislature under paragraph (3)(A) or (3)(B) with respect to a law, the Oversight Board may direct the Governor to provide the missing estimate or certification (as the case may be), in accordance with such procedures as the Oversight Board may establish.

(B) SUBMISSION OF CERTIFICATION OF SIGNIFICANT INCONSISTENCY WITH FISCAL PLAN AND BUDGET.—In accordance with such procedures as the Oversight Board may establish, after sending a notification to the Governor and Legislature under paragraph (3)(C) that a law is significantly incon-

(5) FAILURE TO COMPLY.—If the territorial government fails to comply with a direction given by the Oversight Board under paragraph (4) with respect to a law, the Oversight Board may take such actions as it considers necessary, consistent with this Act, to ensure that the enactment or enforcement of the law will not adversely affect the territorial government's compliance with the Fiscal Plan, including preventing the enforcement or application of the law.

(6) PRELIMINARY REVIEW OF PROPOSED ACTS.—At the request of the Legislature, the Oversight Board may conduct a preliminary review of proposed legislation before the Legislature to determine whether the legislation as proposed would be consistent with the applicable Fiscal Plan under this subtitle, except that any such preliminary review shall not be binding on the Oversight Board in reviewing any law subsequently submitted under this subsection.

With respect to Puerto Rico, the term "applicable law" refers to 2 L.P.R.A. 97, as amended.

(2) AUTHORITY TO REVIEW CERTAIN CONTRACTS.—The Oversight Board may establish policies to require prior Oversight Board approval of certain contracts, including leases and contracts to a governmental entity or government-owned corporations rather than private enterprises that are proposed to be executed by the territorial government, to ensure such proposed contracts promote market competition and are not inconsistent with the approved Fiscal Plan.

(3) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that any policies established by the Oversight Board pursuant to paragraph (2) should be designed to make the government contracting process more effective, to increase the public's faith in this process, to make appropriate use of the Oversight Board's time and resources, to make the territorial government a facilitator and not a competitor to private enterprise, and to avoid creating any additional bureaucratic obstacles to efficient contracting.

(4) AUTHORITY TO REVIEW CERTAIN RULES, REGULATIONS, AND EXECUTIVE ORDERS.—The provisions of this paragraph shall apply with respect to a rule, regulation, or executive order proposed to be issued by the Governor (or the head of any department or agency of the territorial government) in the same manner as such provisions apply to a contract.

(5) FAILURE TO COMPLY.—If a contract, rule, regulation, or executive order fails to comply with policies established by the Oversight Board under this subsection, the Oversight Board may take such actions as it considers necessary to ensure that such contract, rule, executive order or regulation will not adversely affect the territorial government's compliance with the Fiscal Plan, including by preventing the execution or enforcement of the contract, rule, executive order or regulation.

(1) SUBMISSIONS OF REQUESTS TO OVERSIGHT BOARD.—If the Governor submits a request to the Legislature for the reprogramming of any amounts provided in a certified Budget, the Governor shall submit such request to the Oversight Board, which shall analyze whether the proposed reprogramming is significantly inconsistent with the Budget, and submit its analysis to the Legislature as soon as practicable after receiving the request.

(2) NO ACTION PERMITTED UNTIL ANALYSIS RECEIVED.—The Legislature shall not adopt a reprogramming, and no officer or employee of the territorial government may carry out any reprogramming, until the Oversight Board has provided the Legislature with an analysis that certifies such reprogramming will not be inconsistent with the Fiscal Plan and Budget.

(3) PROHIBITION ON ACTION UNTIL OVERSIGHT BOARD IS APPOINTED.—During the period after a territory becomes a covered territory and prior to the appointment of all members and the Chair of the Oversight Board, such covered territory shall not enact new laws that either permit the transfer of any funds or assets outside the ordinary course of business or that are inconsistent with the constitution or laws of the territory as of the date of enactment of this Act, provided that any executive or legislative action authorizing the movement of funds or assets during this time period may be subject to review and reversal by the Oversight Board upon appointment of the Oversight Board's full membership.

(d) IMPLEMENTATION OF FEDERAL PROGRAMS.—In taking actions under this Act, the Oversight Board shall not exercise applicable authorities to impede territorial actions taken to—

(b) RESPONSE TO RECOMMENDATIONS BY THE TERRITORIAL GOVERNMENT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—In the case of any recommendations submitted under subsection (a) that are within the authority of the territorial government to adopt, not later than 90 days after receiving the recommendations, the Governor or the Legislature (whichever has the authority to adopt the recommendation) shall submit a statement to the Oversight Board that provides notice as to whether the territorial government will adopt the recommendations.

(2) IMPLEMENTATION PLAN REQUIRED FOR ADOPTED RECOMMENDATIONS.—If the Governor or the Legislature (whichever is applicable) notifies the Oversight Board under paragraph (1) that the territorial government will adopt any of the recommendations submitted under subsection (a), the Governor or the Legislature (whichever is applicable) shall include in the statement a written plan to implement the recommendation that includes—

(A) specific performance measures to determine the extent to which the territorial government has adopted the recommendation; and

For so long as the Oversight Board remains in operation, no territorial government may, without the prior approval of the Oversight Board, issue debt or guarantee, exchange, modify, repurchase, redeem, or enter into similar transactions with respect to its debt.

(c) STAY NOT OPERABLE.—The establishment of an Oversight Board for Puerto Rico in accordance with section 101 does not operate as a stay—

(1) solely under subsection (b)(1) of this section, of the continuation of, including the issuance or employment of process, of a judicial, administrative, or other

A hearing under this subsection may be a preliminary hearing, or may be consolidated with the final hearing under subsection (e)(2). (i) GOVERNMENT OF PUERTO RICO.—For purposes of this section, the term "Government of Puerto Rico", in addition to the definition set forth in section 5(11) of this Act, shall include—

(1) the individuals, including elected and appointed officials, directors, officers of and employees acting in their official capacity on behalf of the Government of Puerto Rico; and

(2) the Oversight Board, including the directors and officers of and employees acting in their official capacity on behalf of the Oversight Board.

(j) NO DEFAULT UNDER EXISTING CONTRACTS.—

(1) Notwithstanding any contractual provision or applicable law to the contrary and so long as a stay under this section is in effect, the holder of a Liability Claim or any other claim (as such term is defined in section 101 of title 11, United States Code) may not exercise or continue to exercise any remedy under a contract or applicable law in respect to the Government of Puerto Rico or any of its property—

(A) that is conditioned upon the financial condition of, or the commencement of a restructuring, insolvency, bankruptcy, or other proceeding (or a similar or analogous process) by, the Government of Puerto Rico, including a default or an event of default thereunder; or

(B) with respect to Liability Claims—

(i) for the non-payment of principal or interest; or

(ii) for the breach of any condition or covenant.

(2) The term “remedy” as used in paragraph (1) shall be interpreted broadly, and shall include any right existing in law or contract, including any right to—

(A) setoff;

(B) apply or appropriate funds;

(C) seek the appointment of a custodian (as such term is defined in section 101(11) of title 11, United States Code);

(D) seek to raise rates; or

(E) exercise control over property of the Government of Puerto Rico.

(3) Notwithstanding any contractual provision or applicable law to the contrary and so long as a stay under this section is in effect, a contract to which the Government of Puerto Rico is a party may not be terminated or modified, and any right or obligation under such contract may not be terminated or modified, solely because of a provision in such contract is conditioned on—

(A) the insolvency or financial condition of the Government of Puerto Rico at any time prior to the enactment of this Act;

(B) the adoption of a resolution or establishment of an Oversight Board pursuant to section 101 of this Act; or

(C) a default under a separate contract that is due to, triggered by, or a result of the occurrence of the events or matters in paragraph (1)(B).

(4) Notwithstanding any contractual provision to the contrary and so long as a stay under this section is in effect, a counterparty to a contract with the Government of Puerto Rico for the provision of goods and services shall, unless the Government of Puerto Rico agrees to the contrary in writing, continue to perform all obligations under, and comply with the terms of, such contract, provided that the Government of Puerto Rico is not in default under such contract other than as a result of a condition specified in paragraph (3).

(k) EFFECT.—This section does not discharge an obligation of the Government of Puerto Rico or release, invalidate, or impair any security interest or lien securing such obligation. This section does not impair or affect the implementation of any restructuring support agreement executed by the Government of Puerto Rico to be implemented pursuant to Puerto Rico law specifically enacted for that purpose prior to the enactment of this Act or the obligation of the Government of Puerto Rico to proceed in good faith as set forth in any such agreement.

(l) PAYMENTS ON LIABILITIES.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the Government of Puerto Rico from making any payment on any Liability when such payment becomes due during the term of the stay, and to the extent the Oversight Board, in its sole discretion, determines it is feasible, the Government of Puerto Rico shall make interest payments on outstanding indebtedness when such payments become due during the length of the stay.

(m) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) A combination of severe economic decline, and, at times, accumulated operating deficits, lack of financial transparency, management inefficiencies, and excessive borrowing has created a fiscal emergency in Puerto Rico.

(2) As a result of its fiscal emergency, the Government of Puerto Rico has been unable to provide its citizens with effective services.

(3) The current fiscal emergency has also affected the long-term economic stability of Puerto Rico by contributing to the accelerated outmigration of residents and businesses.

(4) A comprehensive approach to fiscal, management, and structural problems and adjustments that exempts no part of the Government of Puerto Rico is necessary, involving independent oversight and a Federal statutory authority for the Government of Puerto Rico to restructure debts in a fair and orderly process.

(5) Additionally, an immediate—but temporary—stay is essential to stabilize the region for the purposes of resolving this territorial crisis.

(A) The stay advances the best interests common to all stakeholders, including but not limited to a functioning independent Oversight Board created pursuant to this Act to determine whether to appear or intervene on behalf of the Government of Puerto Rico in any litigation that may have been commenced prior to the effectiveness or upon expiration of the stay.

(B) The stay is limited in nature and narrowly tailored to achieve the purposes of this Act, including to ensure all creditors have a fair opportunity to consensually renegotiate terms of repayment based on accurate financial information that is reviewed by an independent authority or, at a minimum, receive a recovery from the Government of Puerto Rico equal to their best possible outcome absent the provisions of this Act.

(6) Finally, the ability of the Government of Puerto Rico to obtain funds from capital markets in the future will be severely diminished without congressional action to restore its financial accountability and stability.

(n) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this section are to—

(1) provide the Government of Puerto Rico with the resources and the tools it needs to address an immediate existing and imminent crisis;

(2) allow the Government of Puerto Rico a limited period of time during which it can focus its resources on negotiating a voluntary resolution with its creditors instead of defending numerous, costly creditor lawsuits;

(3) provide an oversight mechanism to assist the Government of Puerto Rico in reforming its fiscal governance and support the implementation of potential debt restructuring;

(4) make available a Federal restructuring authority, if necessary, to allow for an orderly adjustment of all of the Government of Puerto Rico's liabilities; and

(5) benefit the lives of 3.5 million American citizens living in Puerto Rico by encouraging the Government of Puerto Rico to resolve its longstanding fiscal governance issues and return to economic growth.

(o) VOTING ON VOLUNTARY AGREEMENTS NOT STAYED.—Notwithstanding any provision in this section to the contrary, nothing in this section shall prevent the holder of a Liability Claim from voting on or consenting to a proposed modification of such Liability Claim under title VI of this Act.

The Oversight Board may take such enforcement action as necessary as provided by section 104(l).

(d) REVIEW OF LEGISLATURE ACTS.—

(1) SUBMISSION OF ACTS TO OVERSIGHT BOARD.—Pursuant to section 204(a), the Governor shall submit to the Oversight Board any law duly enacted during any fiscal year in which the Oversight Board is in operation that may affect the Expedited Permitting Process.

(2) FINDING OF OVERSIGHT BOARD.—Upon receipt of a law under paragraph (1), the Oversight Board shall promptly review whether the law would adversely impact the Expedited Permitting Process and, upon such a finding, the Oversight Board may deem such law to be significantly inconsistent with the applicable Fiscal Plan.

(e) ESTABLISHMENT OF CERTAIN TERMS AND CONDITIONS.—No Puerto Rico Agency may include in any certificate, right-of-way, permit, lease, or other authorization issued for a Critical Project any term or condition that may be permitted, but is not required, by any applicable Puerto Rico law, if the Revitalization Coordinator determines the term or condition would prevent or impair the expeditious construction, operation, or expansion of the Critical Project. The Revitalization Coordinator may request a Puerto Rico Agency to include in any certificate, right-of-way, permit, lease, or other authorization, a term or condition that may be permitted in accordance with applicable laws if the Revitalization Coordinator determines such inclusion would support the expeditious construction, operation, or expansion of any Critical Project.

(f) DISCLOSURE.—All Critical Project reports, and justifications for approval or rejection of Critical Project status, shall be made publicly available online within 5 days of receipt or completion.

SEC. 505. FEDERAL AGENCY REQUIREMENTS.

(a) FEDERAL POINTS OF CONTACT.—At the request of the Revitalization Coordinator and within 30 days of receiving such a request, each Federal agency with jurisdiction over the permitting, or administrative or environmental review of private or public projects in Puerto Rico, shall name a Point of Contact who will serve as that agency's liaison with the Revitalization Coordinator.

(b) FEDERAL GRANTS AND LOANS.—For each Critical Project with a pending or potential Federal grant, loan, or loan guarantee application, the Revitalization Coordinator and the relevant Point of Contact shall cooperate with each other to ensure expeditious review of such application.

(c) EXPEDITED REVIEWS AND ACTIONS OF FEDERAL AGENCIES.—All reviews conducted and actions taken by any Federal agency relating to a Critical Project shall be expedited in a manner consistent with completion of the necessary reviews and approvals by the deadlines under the Expedited Permitting Process, but in no way shall the deadlines established through the Expedited Permitting Process be binding on any Federal agency.

(d) TRANSFER OF STUDY OF ELECTRIC RATES.—Section 9 of the Consolidated and Further Continuing Appropriations Act, 2015 (48 U.S.C. 1492a) is amended—

(1) in subsection (a)(5), by inserting “, except that, with respect to Puerto Rico, the term means, the Secretary of Energy” after “Secretary of the Interior”; and

(2) in subsection (b)—

(A) by inserting “(except in the case of Puerto Rico, in which case not later than 270 days after the date of enactment of the Puerto Rico Oversight, Management, and Economic Stability Act)” after “of this Act”; and

(B) by inserting “(except in the case of Puerto Rico)” after “Empowering Insular Communities activity”.

SEC. 506. JUDICIAL REVIEW.

(a) DEADLINE FOR FILING OF A CLAIM.—A claim arising under this title must be brought no later than 30 days after the date of the decision or action giving rise to the claim.

(b) EXPEDITED CONSIDERATION.—The District Court for the District of Puerto Rico shall set any action brought under this title for expedited consideration, taking into account the interest of enhancing Puerto Rico's infrastructure for electricity, water and sewer services, roads and bridges, ports, and solid waste management to achieve compliance with local and Federal environmental laws, regulations, and policies while ensuring the continuity of adequate services to the people of Puerto Rico and Puerto Rico's sustainable economic development.

SEC. 507. SAVINGS CLAUSE.

Nothing in this title is intended to change or alter any Federal legal requirements or laws.

(15) TERRITORY GOVERNMENT ISSUER.—The term “Territory Government Issuer” means the Government of Puerto Rico or such covered territory for which an Oversight Board has been established pursuant to section 101.

(b) OUTSTANDING BONDS.—In determining whether holders of the requisite principal amount of Outstanding Bonds have voted in favor of, or consented to, a proposed Qualifying Modification, a Bond will be deemed not to be outstanding, and may not be counted in a vote or consent solicitation for or against a proposed Qualifying Modification, if on the record date for the proposed Qualifying Modification—

(1) the Bond has previously been cancelled or delivered for cancellation or is held for reissuance but has not been reissued;

(c) CERTIFICATION OF DISENFRANCHISED BONDS.—Prior to any vote on, or consent solicitation for, a Qualifying Modification, the Issuer shall deliver to the Calculation Agent a certificate signed by an authorized representative of the Issuer specifying any Bonds that are deemed not to be Outstanding for the purpose of subsection (b) above.

(1) Not less than one Pool shall be established for each Issuer.

(2) A Pool that contains one or more Bonds that are secured by a lien on property shall be a Secured Pool.

(3) The Administrative Supervisor shall establish Pools according to the following principles:

(A) For each Issuer that has issued multiple Bonds that are distinguished by specific provisions governing priority or security arrangements, including Bonds that have been issued as general obligations of the Territory Government Issuer to which the Territory Government Issuer pledged the full or good faith, credit, and taxing power of the Territory Government Issuer, separate Pools shall be established corresponding to the relative priority or security arrangements of each holder of Bonds against each Issuer, as applicable, provided, however, that the term “priority” as used in this section shall not be understood to mean differing payment or maturity dates.

(B) For each Issuer that has issued senior and subordinated Bonds, separate Pools shall be established for the senior and subordinated Bonds corresponding to the relative priority or security arrangements.

(C) For each Issuer that has issued multiple Bonds, for at least some of which a guarantee of repayment has been provided by the Territory Government Issuer, separate Pools shall be established for such guaranteed and non-guaranteed Bonds.

(D) Subject to the other requirements contained in this section, for each Issuer that has issued multiple Bonds, for at least some of which a dedicated revenue stream has been pledged for repayment, separate Pools for such Issuer shall be established as follows—

(i) for each dedicated revenue stream that has been pledged for repayment, not less than one Secured Pool for Bonds for which such revenue stream has been pledged, and separate Secured Pools shall be established for Bonds of different priority; and

(ii) not less than one Pool for all other Bonds issued by the Issuer for which a dedicated revenue stream has not been pledged for repayment.

(E) The Administrative Supervisor shall not place into separate Pools Bonds of the same Issuer that have identical rights in security or priority.

(4) Notwithstanding the preceding provisions of this subsection, a preexisting voluntary agreement may classify Insured Bonds and uninsured bonds in different Pools and provide different treatment thereof so long as the preexisting voluntary agreement has been agreed to by—

(A) holders of a majority in amount of all uninsured bonds outstanding in the modified Pool; and

(B) holders (including insurers with power to vote) of a majority in amount of all Insured Bonds.

(e) AUTHORIZATION OF TERRITORIAL INSTRUMENTALITIES.—A covered territorial instrumentality is an Authorized Territorial Instrumentality if it has been specifically authorized to be eligible to avail itself of the procedures under this section by the Administrative Supervisor.

(f) INFORMATION DELIVERY REQUIREMENT.—Before solicitation of acceptance or rejection of a Modification under subsection (h), the Issuer shall provide to the Calculation Agent, the Information Agent, and the Administrative Supervisor, the following information—

(1) a description of the Issuer’s economic and financial circumstances which are, in the Issuer’s opinion, relevant to the request for the proposed Qualifying Modification, a description of the Issuer’s existing debts, a description of the impact of the proposed Qualifying Modification on the territory’s or its territorial instrumentalities’ public debt;

(2) if the Issuer is seeking Modifications affecting any other Pools of Bonds of the Territory Government Issuer or its Authorized Territorial Instrumentalities, a description of such other Modifications;

(3) if a Fiscal Plan with respect to such Issuer has been certified, the applicable Fiscal Plan certified in accordance with section 201; and

(4) such other information as may be required under applicable securities laws.

(g) QUALIFYING MODIFICATION.—A Modification is a Qualifying Modification if—

(1) the Issuer proposing the Modification has consulted with holders of Bonds in each Pool of such Issuer prior to soliciting a vote on such Modification;

(2) each exchanging, repurchasing, converting, or substituting holder of Bonds of any series in a Pool affected by that Modification is offered the same amount of consideration per amount of principal, the same amount of consideration per amount of interest accrued but unpaid and the same amount of consideration per amount of past due interest, respectively, as that offered to each other exchanging, repurchasing, converting, or substituting holder of Bonds of any series in a Pool affected by that Modification (or, where a menu of instruments or other consideration is offered, each exchanging, repurchasing, converting, or substituting holder of Bonds of any series in a Pool affected by that Modification is offered the same amount of consideration per amount of principal, the same amount of consideration per amount of interest accrued but unpaid and the same amount of consideration per amount of past due interest, respectively, as that offered to each other exchanging, repurchasing, converting, or substituting holder of Bonds of any series in a Pool affected by that Modification electing the same option under such menu of instruments);

(3) the Modification is certified by the Administrative Supervisor as being consistent with the requirements set forth in section 104(i)(1) and is in the best interests of the creditors and is feasible; or

(4) notwithstanding paragraphs (1) through (3), the Administrative Supervisor has issued a certification that—

(A) the requirements set forth in section 104(i)(2) have been satisfied; or

(B) the Modification is consistent with a restructuring support or similar agreement to be implemented pursuant to the law of the covered territory executed by the Issuer prior to the establishment of an Oversight Board for the relevant territory.

(h) SOLICITATION.—

(1) Upon receipt of a certification from the Administrative Supervisor under subsection (g), the Information Agent shall, if practical and except as provided in paragraph (2), submit to the holders of any Outstanding Bonds of the relevant Issuer, including holders of the right to vote such Outstanding Bonds, the information submitted by the relevant Issuer under subsection (f)(1) in order to solicit the vote of such holders to approve or reject the Qualifying Modification.

(2) If the Information Agent is unable to identify the address of holders of any Outstanding Bonds of the relevant Issuer, the Information Agent may solicit the vote or consent of such holders by—

(A) delivering the solicitation to the paying agent for any such Issuer or Depository Trust Corporation if it serves as the clearing system for any of the Issuer's Outstanding Bonds; or

(B) delivering or publishing the solicitation by whatever additional means the Information Agent, after consultation with the Issuer, deems necessary and appropriate in order to make a reasonable effort to inform holders of any Outstanding Bonds of the Issuer which may include, notice by mail, publication in electronic media, publication on a website of the Issuer, or publication in newspapers of national circulation in the United States and in a newspaper of general circulation in the territory.

(i) WHO MAY PROPOSE A MODIFICATION.—For each Issuer, a Modification may be proposed to the Administrative Supervisor by the Issuer or by one or more holders of the right to vote the Issuer's Outstanding Bonds. To the extent a Modification proposed by one or more holders of the right to vote Outstanding Bonds otherwise complies with the requirements of this title, the Administrative Supervisor may accept such Modification on behalf of the Issuer, in which case the Administrative Supervisor will instruct the Issuer to provide the information required in subsection (f).

(j) VOTING.—For each Issuer, any Qualifying Modification may be made with the affirmative vote of the holders of the right to vote at least two-thirds of the Outstanding Principal amount of the Outstanding Bonds in each Pool that have voted to approve or reject the Qualifying Modification, provided that holders of the right to vote not less than a majority of the aggregate Outstanding Principal amount of all the Outstanding Bonds in each Pool have voted to approve the Qualifying Modification. The holder of the right to vote the Outstanding Bonds that are Insured Bonds shall be the monoline insurer insuring such Insured Bond to the extent such insurer is granted the right to vote Insured Bonds for purposes of directing remedies or consenting to proposed amendments or modifications as provided in the applicable documents pursuant to which such Insured Bond was issued and insured.

(k) CALCULATION AGENT.—For the purpose of calculating the principal amount of the Bonds of any series eligible to participate in such a vote or consent solicitation and tabulating such votes or consents, the Territory Government Issuer may appoint a Calculation Agent for each Pool reasonably acceptable to the Administrative Supervisor.

(l) INFORMATION AGENT.—For the purpose of administering a vote of holders of Bonds, including the holders of the right to vote such Bonds, or seeking the consent of holder of Bonds, including the holders of the right to vote such Bonds, to a written action under this section, the Territory Government Issuer may appoint an Information Agent for each Pool reasonably acceptable to the Administrative Supervisor.

(m) BINDING EFFECT.—

(1) A Qualifying Modification will be conclusive and binding on all holders of Bonds whether or not they have given such consent, and on all future holders of those Bonds whether or not notation of such Qualifying Modification is made upon the Bonds, if—

(A) the holders of the right to vote the Outstanding Bonds in every Pool of the Issuer pursuant to subsection (j) have consented to or approved the Qualifying Modification;

(B) the Administrative Supervisor certifies that—

- (i) the voting requirements of this section have been satisfied;
- (ii) the Qualifying Modification complies with the requirements set forth in section 104(i)(1); and
- (iii) except for such conditions that have been identified in the Qualifying Modification as being non-waivable, any conditions on the effectiveness of the Qualifying Modification have been satisfied or, in the Administrative Supervisor's sole discretion, satisfaction of such conditions has been waived;

(C) with respect to a Bond Claim that is secured by a lien on property and with respect to which the holder of such Bond Claim has rejected or not consented to the Qualifying Modification, the holder of such Bond—

- (i) retains the lien securing such Bond Claims; or
- (ii) receives on account of such Bond Claim, through deferred cash payments, substitute collateral, or otherwise, at least the equivalent value of the lesser of the amount of the Bond Claim or of the collateral securing such Bond Claim; and

(D) the district court for the territory or, for any territory that does not have a district court, the United States District Court for the District of Hawaii, has, after reviewing an application submitted to it by the applicable Issuer for an order approving the Qualifying Modification, entered an order that the requirements of this section have been satisfied.

(2) Upon the entry of an order under paragraph (1)(D), the conclusive and binding Qualifying Modification shall be valid and binding on any person or entity asserting claims or other rights, including a beneficial interest (directly or indirectly, as principal, agent, counterpart, subrogee, insurer or otherwise) in respect of Bonds subject to the Qualifying Modification, any trustee, any collateral agent, any indenture trustee, any fiscal agent, and any bank that receives or holds funds related to such Bonds. All property of an Issuer for which an order has been entered under paragraph (1)(D) shall vest in the Issuer free and clear of all claims in respect of any Bonds of any other Issuer. Such Qualifying Modification will be full, final, complete, binding, and conclusive as to the territorial government Issuer, other territorial instrumentalities of the territorial government Issuer, and any creditors of such entities, and should not be subject to any collateral attack or other challenge by any such entities in any court or other forum. Other than as provided herein, the foregoing shall not prejudice the rights and claims of any party that insured the Bonds, including the right to assert claims under the Bonds as modified following any payment under the insurance policy, and no claim or right that may be asserted by any party in a capacity other than holder of a Bond affected by the Qualifying Modification shall be satisfied, released, discharged, or enjoined by this provision.

(n) JUDICIAL REVIEW.—

(1) The district court for the territory or, for any territory that does not have a district court, the United States District Court for the District of Hawaii shall have original and exclusive jurisdiction over civil actions arising under this section.

(2) Notwithstanding section 106(e), there shall be a cause of action to challenge unlawful application of this section.

(3) The district court shall nullify a Modification and any effects on the rights of the holders of Bonds resulting from such Modification if and only if the district court determines that such Modification is manifestly inconsistent with this section.

SEC. 602. APPLICABLE LAW.

In any judicial proceeding regarding this title, Federal, State, or territorial laws of the United States, as applicable, shall govern and be applied without regard or reference to any law of any international or foreign jurisdiction.

TITLE VII—SENSE OF CONGRESS REGARDING PERMANENT, PRO-GROWTH FISCAL REFORMS

SEC. 701. SENSE OF CONGRESS REGARDING PERMANENT, PRO-GROWTH FISCAL REFORMS.

It is the sense of the Congress that any durable solution for Puerto Rico's fiscal and economic crisis should include permanent, pro-growth fiscal reforms that feature, among other elements, a free flow of capital between possessions of the United States and the rest of the United States.

PURPOSE OF THE BILL

The purpose of H.R. 5278 is to establish an Oversight Board to assist the Government of Puerto Rico, including instrumentalities, in managing its public finances.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

Puerto Rico is in the midst of a fiscal crisis. The island has accumulated over $110 billion in combined debt and unfunded pension liabilities, and has seen a 10% decline in population over the past decade. Puerto Rico's local politicians have accelerated the crisis on the island through the passage of harmful legislation, including the imposition of a moratorium on the payment of debt. Due to the realities facing the island, and the inability of its local politicians to bring order and transparency, immediate congressional action is required. Because Puerto Rico is a United States territory and its residents are United States citizens, Congress has the responsibility and authority to make all needful rules and regulations for Puerto Rico.

Puerto Rico's situation underscores the necessity for Congressional action, and highlights the purpose of the Committee on Natural Resources' efforts to address the crisis. On May 18, 2016, Congressman Sean P. Duffy introduced H.R. 5278, the Puerto Rico Oversight, Management, and Economic Stability Act (PROMESA). H.R. 5278 represents the second iteration of PROMESA, the first being H.R. 4900, and incorporates solutions to the Puerto Rico crisis learned from the testimony received during the Committee's four hearings, as well as concerns raised by Members and stakeholders commenting on H.R. 4900.

The Committee's first hearing, Exploring Energy Challenges and Opportunities Facing Puerto Rico (Subcommittee on Energy and Mineral Resources, January 12, 2016), identified the need for energy and infrastructure development on the island, and highlighted the current deficiencies plaguing the island. For instance, Puerto Rico is hampered by permitting inefficiencies, with the World Bank having ranked Puerto Rico as 135th out of 189 countries for ease of "Dealing with Construction Permits." PROMESA in Title V addresses both the bureaucratic processes that hinder development on the island, and promotes the infusion of private capital to spur economic development. The Oversight Board has the opportunity to fast-track infrastructure projects by co-opting existing Puerto Rico laws, thus providing project proponents with the assurances of regulatory certainty.

The Committee's second hearing, The Need for the Establishment of a Puerto Rico Financial Stability and Economic Growth Authority (Subcommittee on Indian, Insular and Alaska Native Affairs, February 2, 2016), outlined the need for an independent oversight board to oversee Puerto Rico’s fiscal and governmental activities. At that hearing, the Committee received testimony from former Washington D.C. Mayor Anthony Williams who had previously served as an officer of the D.C. Board. Mayor Williams described the successes of the D.C. Board, and the challenges a similar board would face if instituted over Puerto Rico. Other testimony highlighted the limited oversight and transparency of actions within Puerto Rico’s governmental entities, such as the failure of Puerto Rico’s government to provide any audited financials for the past two fiscal years, and the lack of institutional control. As such, Titles I and II of PROMESA remedy the deteriorating health of Puerto Rico’s finances and economy—at no net cost to the U.S. taxpayer—through the establishment of an Oversight Board for the territory.

The third hearing, U.S. Department of the Treasury’s Analysis of the Situation in Puerto Rico (Full Natural Resources Committee, February 25, 2016), provided valuable testimony as to why Puerto Rico needed access to debt restructuring. Counsellor Antonio Weiss with the U.S. Department of the Treasury informed the Committee as to the unsustainability of Puerto Rico’s debt and the disorderly state of Puerto Rico’s financials. Therefore Titles III and VI of H.R. 5278 provide Puerto Rico’s indebted entities, with the management of the Oversight Board, the opportunity to restructure their debts in a fair and equitable manner for their respective creditors.

The final hearing was a legislative hearing on H.R. 4900 (Full Natural Resources Committee, April 13, 2016). That hearing alerted the Committee to a number of concerns expressed by stakeholders, such as the U.S. Department of the Treasury, and Members of the Committee. H.R. 5278 addresses many of the concerns raised to the Committee and provides a workable solution that will ensure Puerto Rico regains access to capital markets and achieves fiscal responsibility and transparency.

SECTION BY SECTION ANALYSIS OF THE BILL AS ORDERED REPORTED

Section 1. Short title; Table of contents

This section establishes the short title of the act as the “Puerto Rico Oversight, Management, and Economic Stability Act” or “PROMESA.” The bill contains seven titles: Title I—Establishment and Organization of Oversight Board; Title II—Responsibilities of Oversight Board; Title III—Adjustment of Debts; Title IV—Miscellaneous Provisions; Title V—Puerto Rico Infrastructure Revitalization; Title VI—Creditor Collective Action; and Title VII—Sense of Congress Regarding Permanent, Pro-Growth Fiscal Reforms.

Section 2. Effective date

This section defines the effective date of the act as the date of enactment, provides that Title III only applies to cases commenced under it on or after the date of enactment, and ensures Titles III and VI apply to all debts, claims and liens, regardless of creation date.

Section 3. Severability

If any provision of PROMESA is found invalid, this section permits the remainder of the Act to be unaffected by such invalidation, but expressly ties Titles I and II with Title III, such that if one title is found invalid, the other two titles will be as well. Accordingly, debt restructuring under Title III will be unavailable to Puerto Rico if the Oversight Board (including the manner in which appointments to the Oversight Board are made) is determined by a court to be invalid.

Section 4. Supremacy

This section provides that the provisions of PROMESA control if any territorial, or state law or regulation is inconsistent with the Act.

Section 5. Definitions

This section defines commonly used terms in the Act.

Section 6. Placement

This section instructs the Office of the Law Revision Counsel to place PROMESA as a new chapter under Title 48 (Territories and Insular Possession) of the United States Code to act as a buffer against claims this legislation will lead to similar laws being applied to states.

Section 7. Compliance with Federal laws

This section requires territories to continue compliance with all other Federal laws or requirements protecting health, safety, and the environment, as well as those territorial laws implementing Federally-authorized and delegated programs.

TITLE I—ESTABLISHMENT AND ORGANIZATION OF OVERSIGHT BOARD

Section 101. Financial Oversight and Management Board

This section establishes a Financial Oversight and Management Board (Oversight Board) within the Puerto Rico government pursuant to Article IV of the U.S. Constitution, which grants Congress plenary authority and responsibility over the territories. Furthermore, this section authorizes the creation of an Oversight Board for any other territory of the United States if such territory, by duly adopted resolution, requests an Oversight Board. In general, the Oversight Board is granted broad authority over territorial instrumentalities, and is empowered to require that instrumentalities establish fiscal plans and budgets in accordance with Sections 201 and 202.

Additionally, this section provides for the appointment of seven individuals to the Oversight Board through a process that ensures that a majority of its members are effectively chosen by Republican congressional leaders on an expedited timeframe, while upholding the President's constitutional role in making appointments.

The selection process requires Congressional leaders to provide lists of names to the President for appointment to the Oversight Board. The individuals comprising the lists are required to have knowledge and expertise in finance, municipal bond markets, management, law, or the organization or operation of business or government and may not be an officer, elected official, employee, or candidate for office of the territorial government prior to appointment. Once the lists are provided, the President has until September 30, 2016, to either select from the lists or appoint someone with the advice and consent of the Senate. If the President fails to appoint the full membership by that deadline, then the President must select candidates from the provided lists before December 1, 2016.

Each voting member's service on the Oversight Board is subject to a limit of three years, but allows for the reappointment of members. Vacancies must be filled in the manner by which the original member was appointed. The members are not paid for their service but shall be reimbursed reasonable and necessary expenses.

This section also outlines the authority of the Oversight Board to adopt bylaws and procedures required to conduct its business, provided that at an affirmative vote of a majority of Oversight Board's fully appointed members (i.e., at least four affirmative votes out of seven) shall be required to approve a Fiscal Plan under Section 201, to approve a Budget under Section 202, to veto a legislative act under Section 204, or to deem an infrastructure project as a Critical Project under Section 503.

In addition to the voting members appointed by the President, this section permits the Governor, or the Governor's designee to serve on the Oversight Board in an ex officio capacity without voting rights. However, the Oversight Board, upon a majority vote, may conduct its business in an executive session of its voting members, to the exclusion of the ex officio member.

Section 102. Location of Oversight Board

This section requires the Oversight Board to maintain offices in the territory it oversees and gives it the authority to have offices in other locations as necessary. Furthermore, Federal agencies are authorized to provide facilities and equipment for the Oversight Board to use.

Section 103. Executive director and Staff of Oversight Board

This section enables the Oversight Board to hire an executive director, revitalization coordinator, and staff as necessary. Salary for staff is at the discretion of the Oversight Board, provided that no staff may be paid more than the executive director. Additionally, the Oversight Board is allowed to have employees from the territorial or Federal government on detail.

Section 104. Powers of Oversight Board

This section sets forth the powers of the Oversight Board. Powers relating to the routine day-to-day operation of the Oversight Board include: holding hearings and sessions; obtaining official data from the territorial and Federal government, as well as creditors; accepting gifts; entering into contracts; and accepting support services from the General Services.

Furthermore, the section establishes powers relating to achieving fiscal stability and creditworthiness of a territory which includes: issuing subpoenas; certifying voluntary agreements between creditors and debtors, protecting preexisting voluntary restructuring agreements; filing a petition to restructure or to submit or modify a plan of adjustment on behalf of a debtor; seeking judicial enforcement of its authority to carry out the purposes of the Act; imposing appropriate penalties for violations of valid orders of the Oversight Board; ensuring prompt and efficient payment of taxes through electronic reporting, payment, and auditing technologies; and ensuring the prompt enforcement of applicable territorial law prohibiting public sector employees from participating in a strike or lock-out.

The Committee recognizes the failure of an amendment to execute properly at markup, which has caused subparagraph (i)(3) to not operate as intended. The goal of this provision is to ensure pre-existing, voluntary deals negotiated between creditors and debtors stay intact upon passage of PROMESA. However, this provision should not be used to justify last-minute, haphazard deals seeking to avoid Oversight Board scrutiny. As such, any clarifications made to this subparagraph will provide a date certain by which voluntary negotiations must have been completed.

Section 105. Exemption from liability for claims

This section exempts members and employees of the Oversight Board from liability resulting from actions taken while carrying out the provisions of PROMESA.

Section 106. Treatment of actions arising from Act

Except for an action arising out of Title III or out of the Oversight Board's issuance of a subpoena (Section 104(f)(2)), any action arising out of this Act is required to be brought in the United States district court for the covered territory. For a territory that lacks a district court, such action must be brought in the United States District Court for Hawaii.

Therefore, in the case of Puerto Rico, any non-Title III or non-subpoena related action must be brought in the U.S. District Court for the District of Puerto Rico. Appeals shall be handled in the applicable U.S. Court of Appeals (in the case of Puerto Rico, it is the First Circuit).

Section 107. Budget and funding for operation of Oversight Board

This section requires the Oversight Board to submit an annual budget to the President and committees of jurisdiction within the House of Representatives and Senate, and requires the territorial government to provide a funding source for the operations of the Oversight Board.

Section 108. Autonomy of the Oversight Board

This section prevents the territorial government or legislature from exercising any control over the Oversight Board, or from enacting, implementing, or enforcing any legislation, resolution, policy, or rule that would impair the purposes of the Act. Furthermore, the Oversight Board is explicitly permitted to hire outside counsel for representation.

Section 109. Ethics

This section subjects all members and staff of the Oversight Board to Federal conflict of interest and financial disclosure requirements.

TITLE II—RESPONSIBILITIES OF OVERSIGHT BOARD

Section 201. Approval of Fiscal Plans

This section establishes the method for developing Fiscal Plans for territorial governments and instrumentalities that provide the appropriate elected officials with the autonomy to develop such Fiscal Plans with guidance from the Oversight Board. To initiate the process, the Oversight Board determines a schedule by which the Governor must provide an approvable and certifiable Fiscal Plan. If the Governor fails to draft an acceptable Fiscal Plan as determined by the Oversight Board by the deadlines set forth in the schedule, then the Oversight Board will develop and adopt the Fiscal Plan, which shall be deemed approved by the Governor.

Each Fiscal Plan serves as the cornerstone for the structural reforms the Oversight Board deems necessary to ensure the territory, or instrumentality, will be on a path towards “fiscal responsibility and access to capital markets.” These documents incorporate requirements including any recommendation made by the Oversight Board pursuant to Section 205, the elimination of structural deficits, as well as the improvement of fiscal governance, accountability, and internal controls. Importantly, Fiscal Plans ensure the protection of the lawful priorities and liens as guaranteed by the territorial constitution and applicable laws, and prevent unlawful inter-debtor transfers of funds.

The Committee acknowledges the concern as to the ambiguity of the language regarding the funding of public pension systems. To clarify, Section 201(b)(1)(C) tasks the Oversight Board with ensuring fiscal plans “provide adequate funding for public pension systems.” This language should not be interpreted to reprioritize pension liabilities ahead of the lawful priorities or liens of bondholders as established under the territory’s constitution, laws, or other agreements. While this language seeks to provide an adequate level of funding for pension systems, it does not allow for pensions to be unduly favored over other indebtedness in a restructuring.

Section 202. Approval of budgets

This section outlines the process for developing annual budgets. Similar to the development of Fiscal Plans, the Oversight Board will establish a schedule the Governor and Legislature must meet for the development of territory and territorial instrumentality budgets. All budgets developed under this section must be developed in accordance with the appropriate Fiscal Plan. If the Governor and Legislature fail to develop certifiable budgets within the established deadline, then the Oversight Board is required to develop the budget for the territory or territorial instrumentality for that fiscal year.

Section 203. Effect of finding of noncompliance with budget

This section requires the Governor to submit a report at the end of each fiscal quarter to the Oversight Board describing the actual revenues, expenditures, and cash flow of the government for the previous quarter, as well as any other information the Oversight Board may request. If the revenues, expenditures, or cash flow is not in accordance with the certified budget, then the Oversight Board will alert the Governor of the inconsistency and provide an opportunity for the Governor to correct the inconsistency. If the Governor fails to correct such inconsistency within an established timeframe, then the Oversight Board shall make appropriate reductions in non-debt expenditures within the budget of the territorial government or territorial instrumentality to ensure the quarterly budget aligns with the certified budget.

Section 204. Review of activities to ensure compliance with Fiscal Plan

This section imposes a requirement that the Legislature of a territorial government provide a cost estimate with each duly enacted law, as well as a certification by the Legislature that such law is consistent with the Fiscal Plan. If the law is significantly inconsistent with the Fiscal Plan, or does not have a cost estimate associated with it, then the Oversight Board is granted the authority to “take such actions as it considers necessary,” including preventing enforcement of such laws.

Furthermore, this section mandates the Oversight Board to work with the territorial government to promote compliance of transparency in contracting by maintaining a registry of all contracts executed. The Oversight Board also has the authority to establish policies requiring precursory review by the Oversight Board of contracts, executive orders, rules, and regulations before such items could be executed, and requires such contracts and executive actions to promote market competition.

This section prohibits the enactment of new laws authorizing budgetary transfers between instrumentalities during the timeframe between the enactment of PROMESA and the appointment of the Oversight Board’s full membership. If any transfers of funds or assets during that period occur, such transfers of funds or assets are subject to review and reversal by the Oversight Board. Any transfer or reprogramming of funds that occurs after that time period will be subject to Oversight Board approval if such transfer or reprogramming of funds would require legislative approval.

Section 205. Recommendations on financial stability and management responsibility

This section establishes a process by which the Oversight Board may make recommendations to the Legislature or Governor of a territory. Such recommendations made under this section vary in scope and seek to ensure compliance with the Fiscal Plan and Budgets, as well as promote the financial stability, economic growth, management responsibility, and efficiency of service delivery of the territorial government. Additionally, the Oversight Board may make recommendations concerning the establishment of alternatives to pay for pensions, and the privatization and commercialization of entities within the territorial government.

Upon receipt of a recommendation from the Oversight Board, the Governor or Legislature must respond with a report detailing how such recommendations will be implemented, or why such recommendations will be ignored.

The Oversight Board may incorporate any recommendations—even those not adopted by the Legislature or Governor—into the development of Fiscal Plans.

Section 206. Oversight Board duties related to restructuring

This section establishes the requirements an entity must achieve to obtain a certification to enter into Title III. The Oversight Board, in its sole discretion, must certify by an affirmative vote of at least five of the seven members that the entity has: (1) made good-faith efforts to reach a consensual restructuring with its creditors; (2) adopted procedures necessary to deliver timely audited financial statements, and has delivered draft financial statements and other information sufficient for an interested person to make an informed decision; (3) the entity has a Fiscal Plan in place; and (4) no order approving a Qualifying Modification, as provided by Section 601, is in place.

Section 207. Oversight Board authority related to debt issuance

This section prohibits the territorial government from issuing debt without prior approval from the Oversight Board.

Section 208. Required reports

This section requires the Oversight Board to submit annual reports that describe the progress the territorial government has made in meeting the objectives of PROMESA, the assistance provided by the Oversight Board to the territorial government, recommendations to the President or Congress as to any changes in Federal laws that should occur, the precise use of funds by the Oversight Board, and any other activities the Oversight Board deems necessary.

Two additional reporting requirements on the Oversight Board are: (1) an examination of tax abatement agreements in place between the territorial government and private corporations; and (2) quarterly assessments on the amount of cash flow available for the payment of debt service on all notes, bonds, debentures, credit agreements, or other instruments for money borrowed.

Section 209. Termination of Oversight Board

This section establishes the conditions that must be met before the Oversight Board is terminated. The three conditions are: (1) the territorial government has adequate access to short- and long-term credit markets at reasonable rates; (2) for four consecutive years, the territorial government has developed its Budgets in accordance with modified accrual accounting standards; and (3) the territorial government has achieved balanced budgets during those four consecutive years.

Section 210. No full faith and credit of the United States

This section explicitly prohibits the full faith and credit of the United States from being pledged for any bond issued by the covered territory while an Oversight Board is in effect. Additionally, this section subjects any claim to which the United States is found to be liable to the appropriation process.

Finally, this section further insulates the Federal government from any expenditure by expressly prohibiting the authorization of Federal funds for the payment of any liability of the territorial government.

Section 211. Analysis of pensions

This section requires the Oversight Board to analyze pensions of the territorial government if the Oversight Board determines that the pension system is underfunded. Such an analysis includes an actuarial study of the pension liabilities, sources of funding available to cover pension debts, a review of existing benefits and the sustainability of such benefits, and a review of the pension system's legal structure and operational arrangements.

Section 212. Intervention in litigation

This section authorizes the Oversight Board to intervene in any litigation filed against the territorial government.

TITLE III—ADJUSTMENT OF DEBTS

Section 301. Applicability of other laws; Definitions

This section incorporates by reference a number of sections from Title 11 of the U.S. Code (Bankruptcy) to provide an administrative and procedural framework for debt adjustment under this Title.

Furthermore, this section provides applicable definitions for Title III, and requires the Oversight Board to determine whether creditors within an entity are “substantially similar” based on whether the claims are secured and whether such claims have priority over other claims.

Section 302. Who may be a debtor

This section limits access to Title III by allowing only entities that are subject to an Oversight Board and have received the appropriate certification pursuant to Section 206(b) to be considered a debtor.

Section 303. Reservation of territorial power to control territory and territorial instrumentalities

This section provides that, subject to Titles I and II of this Act, nothing in this Act prohibits a covered territory from exercising its political and government control over a territory and its instrumentalities. Several exceptions are provided within this section prohibiting the application of any territory law prescribing a method of composition or moratorium on the indebtedness of the territory or its instrumentalities to a non-consenting creditor. Furthermore, this section preempts the governor from issuing any unlawful executive orders that alter, amend, or modify the rights of holders of debt, nor may an executive order divert funds from one instrumentality to another or to the territory.

Section 304. Petition and proceedings relating to petition

This section exclusively authorizes the Oversight Board to initiate a proceeding for debt restructuring of an entity. Furthermore, the section enables the joint filing of petitions for debtors if the debtors are affiliated, as well as providing for joint administration of affiliated debtor cases.

Section 305. Limitation on jurisdiction and powers of court

This section limits a court from interfering with the political or governmental powers of the debtor, with any of the property or rev-venues of the debtor, or with the debtor's enjoyment of income-producing property, unless the debtor consents to such interference or the plan of adjustment provides otherwise.

Section 306. Jurisdiction

This section establishes original and exclusive jurisdiction for any case under Title III with the Federal district courts, and enables such court to oversee any additional claim or civil cause of action in which the party is involved for which the overseeing court has jurisdiction.

This section further provides for the manner in which removal, remands, transfers and appeals of relevant jurisdictional claims and cases should proceed. Generally, appeals are to be handled in the same manner that proceedings are taken to the courts of appeals from district courts.

Section 307. Venue

This section outlines the process for determining venue. Generally, venue for restructuring under this Title will be the Federal district court for the covered territory (or territorial instrumentality) or—for a territory that does not have a district court—the U.S. District Court for Hawaii. In effect, venue for Puerto Rico will be U.S. District Court for the District of Puerto Rico; venue for the U.S. Virgin Islands will be the U.S. District Court for the Virgin Islands; venue for American Samoa, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands; and venue for Guam will be the U.S. District Court for Hawaii.

If the Oversight Board so determines, venue for the case will be in the district court for the jurisdiction in which the Oversight Board maintains an office that is located outside the territory. In the case of Puerto Rico, venue will probably be in the District of Columbia.

Section 308. Selection of presiding judge

This section authorizes the Chief Justice of the United States to designate a district court judge to sit over the case if the debtor is a Territory. Otherwise the designation is left to the chief judge of the court of appeals.

Section 309. Abstention

This section allows a district court to abstain in the interest of justice from hearing a particular proceeding arising in or related to a case under Title III.

Section 310. Applicable rules of procedure

This section applies the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure to a case brought under Title III.

Section 311. Leases

This section exempts a lease to a territory from being treated as an executory contract or unexpired lease solely because the lease is subject to termination for failure of a debtor to appropriate rent.

Section 312. Filing of plan of adjustment

This section permits only the Oversight Board to file a plan of adjustment, once the Oversight Board has issued a certification pursuant to Section 104(j).

Section 313. Modification of plan

This section allows the Oversight Board to repeatedly change or modify a plan of adjustment, as submitted per Section 312, before such plan is confirmed, so long as such modification meets the requirements of Title III.

Section 314. Confirmation

This section outlines the conditions necessary to having a plan confirmed by a court. Under this section, the court shall confirm a plan if: (1) the plan complies with the referenced statutes in Section 301; (2) the plan complies with Title III; (3) the debtor is not prohibited by law from undertaking any of the actions of the plan; (4) unless otherwise agreed to, the holders of claims specified in 11 U.S.C. 507(a)(2) will receive cash equal to the allowed amount of such claim; (5) the debtor has secured the necessary legislative, regulatory, or electoral approval of such plan, or such provision is expressly conditioned on the securing of such actions; (6) the plan is in the best interest of the creditors and is feasible, which must include a consideration as to whether available remedies under the non-bankruptcy laws and constitution of the territory would result in a greater recovery for the creditors than is provided; and (7) the plan is consistent with the Fiscal Plan as established under Title II of PROMESA.

By incorporating consistency with the Fiscal Plan into the requirements of confirmation of a plan of adjustment, the Committee has ensured lawful priorities and liens, as provided for by the territory's constitution, laws, and agreements, will be respected in any debt restructuring that occurs.

Section 315. Role and capacity of Oversight Board

This section designates the Oversight Board as the representative of the debtor and authorizes the Oversight Board to take any action necessary on behalf of the debtor including the filing of a petition under Section 304, the submission or modification of a plan of adjustment, or the submission of other filings as required by the court.

Section 316. Compensation of professionals

This section permits the court to authorize the debtor's reasonable payment of professionals, such as attorneys, paralegals or others connected with a Title III proceeding. This ensures these professionals will receive compensation for services rendered during the Title III case.

Section 317. Interim compensation

This section authorizes the court to permit payment to professionals while the Title III case is ongoing.

TITLE IV—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

Section 401. Rules of construction

This section provides that nothing in PROMESA shall be construed as limiting the authority of Congress to exercise legislative authority over the territories, or as hindering agreements between treaties and covenants affecting the Northern Mariana Islands or American Samoa.

Section 402. Right of Puerto Rico to determine its future political status

This section maintains the right for Puerto Rico to conduct a plebiscite to determine its future political status.

Section 403. First minimum wage in Puerto Rico

This section grants the Governor of Puerto Rico, subject to approval by the Oversight Board, the authority to designate a time period no greater than four years during which employers may pay employees who are initially employed after the date of enactment of PROMESA a wage that is less than the national minimum wage. Furthermore, the provision raises the maximum age of applicability of the statute for Puerto Rico from 20 to 25, but limits such age extension to the length of the Oversight Board's tenure.

Section 404. Application of regulation to Puerto Rico

This section exempts Puerto Rico from the regulations introduced by the Secretary of Labor on July 6, 2015 (80 Fed. Reg. 38515), relating to overtime rates for executive, administrative, professional, outside sales, and computer employees until such time as the U.S. Government Accountability Office (GAO) has completed a study regarding the economic condition of Puerto Rico, and the Secretary of Labor, upon considering such GAO study, recommends to Congress the regulation be held applicable in Puerto Rico.

This section also states that it is the sense of Congress for the Census Bureau to include Puerto Rico and the other territories in data collection efforts.

Section 405. Automatic stay upon enactment

This section automatically stays all litigation against Puerto Rico and its instrumentalities, as well as any other judicial, administrative or other action or proceedings to enforce or collect claims. The stay will remain in effect until the later of six months after the date of enactment or February 15, 2017. However, an extension may occur for 75 days if the Oversight Board certifies that this time is needed to complete a voluntary modification under Title VI, or for 60 days if the U.S. District Court for the District of Puerto Rico makes a similar determination.

If a party is determined to be subject to irreparable damage because of the imposition of the stay, the District Court is authorized to grant relief from the stay to such party.

The stay does not authorize the Government of Puerto Rico to stop payment on any of its liabilities. On the contrary, to the extent the Oversight Board determines it is feasible, the Government must continue to make scheduled interest payments during the stay.

The Committee views the stay as a critical component of the legislation. First, it preempts a rush to the courts by aggrieved creditors—an event that could increase the impact of and accelerate Puerto Rico’s debt crisis. Second, the stay ensures order during the initial few months of the Oversight Board’s existence, thereby allowing the Oversight Board the opportunity to establish its foundational structure and begin its monumental task of ensuring Puerto Rico regains access to capital markets.

Section 406. Purchases by territory governments

This section authorizes Puerto Rico and the other territories to make purchases through the General Services Administration.

Section 407. Protection from inter-debtor transfers

This section grants creditors the right to sue upon the conclusion of the stay, if the government of Puerto Rico transfers property between instrumentalities during the tenure of the Oversight Board in violation of any agreement, or applicable law that a creditor has or would have a pledge of, security interest in, or lien on such property.

Section 408. GAO report on small business administration programs in Puerto Rico

This section requires the GAO to conduct a report on the application and utilization of contracting activities of the Small Business Administration related to the HUBZone program.

Section 409. Congressional Task Force on economic growth in Puerto Rico

This section establishes a bipartisan, bicameral, Congressional Task Force comprised of eight members. Four of the members will be from the House and four will be from the Senate, split evenly between parties. The Task Force must provide a report no later than December 31, 2016, regarding: impediments in current Federal law and programs to economic growth in Puerto Rico including equitable access to Federal health care programs; recommended changes to Federal law and programs that would spur sustainable, long-term growth; the economic consequences of a Puerto Rico Department of Health regulation; and additional information as deemed necessary.

Section 410. Report

This section requires the GAO to submit a report to the House Committee on Natural Resources and Senate Committee on Energy and Natural Resources describing the conditions that led to the level of debt per capita, how the actions of the territorial government improved or impaired the territory’s financial conditions, and recommendations that could be taken by Congress or the Administration to avert future indebtedness of territories and states, while respecting sovereignty and constitutional parameters.

TITLE V—PUERTO RICO INFRASTRUCTURE REVITALIZATION

Section 501. Definitions

This section provides the definitions to commonly used phrases and words throughout Title V, including a reference to the statutory authority (Act 76) within Puerto Rico on which Title V is premised.

Section 502. Position of Revitalization Coordinator

This section establishes a Revitalization Coordinator under the Oversight Board to carry out the purposes of this Title, and the process for appointing the Revitalization Coordinator. The position will expire upon the termination of the Oversight Board.

Section 503. Critical Projects

This section outlines the criteria and process for a project to be designated as a Critical Project. To be considered as a Critical Project, a project proponent must apply to the Revitalization Coordinator and outline the impact the project will have on addressing infrastructure needs, the availability of private capital, economic benefits provided by the project, the status of the project (if it is ongoing), and additional criteria the Revitalization Coordinator may require. Furthermore, if the project is an energy project, the proponent may be required to submit additional information, such as how the project will help decrease the cost of electricity. If the project adversely impairs Puerto Rico's established land use plans, or an approved integrated resources plan, then such project will be ineligible for Critical Project designation.

In determining whether a project should be classified as a Critical Project, the Revitalization Coordinator must consider both recommendations from the Governor and comments from Puerto Rico's residents.

Additionally, this section outlines the process for Puerto Rico agencies to establish an expedited permitting process pursuant to Puerto Rico's Act 76–2000 (Act 76). If an agency fails to have such a process, then one will be established for it by the Revitalization Coordinator and Governor.

Finally, this section dictates that once a project is deemed a Critical Project, it gains the expedited permitting and review process of Act 76.

The Committee does not intend for projects that are not approved to be Critical Projects or that are deemed to be ineligible for Critical Project designation to be precluded from reapplying for Critical Project designation. If a project receives an adverse ruling, the Committee would encourage the project proponent to amend his or her proposal, and resubmit it for Critical Project designation.

Section 504. Miscellaneous provisions

This section prohibits Puerto Rico's Legislature and Governor from hindering the Act 76 process or any expedited permitting process authorized thereunder, and allows project proponents to petition the Oversight Board if the Revitalization Coordinator or Puerto Rico agencies are failing to expedite the project as envisioned by this Title. Furthermore, the section ensures Critical Projects approved prior to the termination of the Oversight Board receive continued expedited service even after the termination of the Board.

Section 505. Federal agency requirements

This section requires Federal agencies, at the request of the Revitalization Coordinator, to designate a point of contact within the Federal agency to serve as a liaison to the Revitalization Coordinator, and expedites to the greatest extent possible the completion of any required Federal action connected to a Critical Project.

Section 506. Judicial review

This section expedites the judicial process for any claim brought under Title V, and requires any such claim to be filed within 30 days after the date of the decision or action giving rise to such claim. The District Court for the District of Puerto Rico has jurisdiction for claims brought under this title.

Section 507. Savings clause

This section provides that nothing in this Title is intended to change or alter Federal requirements or laws.

TITLE VI—CREDITOR COLLECTIVE ACTION

Section 601. Creditor collective action

This section establishes a voluntary process for debt restructuring by debtors and creditors in a territory or territorial instrumentality covered by this bill. The Oversight Board is required to divide the creditors of each debtor into pools based upon criteria such as whether the bonds are distinguished by governing priority or security arrangements, whether the bonds were issued with the full or good faith credit, or whether senior and subordinated bonds were issued, among other considerations. Each pool, as established by the Oversight Board in consultation with the issuer, is permitted to vote on a Qualifying Modification, which essentially is a plan to restructure the debt. In order for a Qualifying Modification to be binding, a two-thirds majority of the outstanding principal amount in each pool must vote to accept the proposal. Dissenting creditors within a pool can be ordered into the Qualifying Modification by a district court. All pools of a debtor must meet the voting threshold in order for a Qualifying Modification to be approved.

Section 602. Applicable law

This section provides that United States law—and not international law or other foreign jurisdictional law—shall apply to Title VI.

TITLE VII—THE SENSE OF CONGRESS REGARDING PERMANENT, PRO-GROWTH FISCAL REFORMS

Section 701. Sense of Congress regarding permanent, pro-growth fiscal reforms

This section recognizes that any solution to Puerto Rico's economic crisis should include lasting, pro-growth propositions, including those promoting free-flowing capital between the United States and its possessions.

COMMITTEE OVERSIGHT FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Regarding clause 2(b)(1) of rule X and clause 3(c)(1) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the Committee on Natural Resources' oversight findings and recommendations are reflected in the body of this report.

COMPLIANCE WITH HOUSE RULE XIII

1. Cost of Legislation. Clause 3(d)(1) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives requires an estimate and a comparison by the Committee of the costs which would be incurred in carrying out this bill. However, clause 3(d)(2)(B) of that rule provides that this requirement does not apply when the Committee has included in its report a timely submitted cost estimate of the bill prepared by the Director of the Congressional Budget Office under section 402 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974. Under clause 3(c)(3) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives and section 403 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, the Committee has received, and adopts as its own, the following cost estimate for this bill from the Director of the Congressional Budget Office:

U.S. CONGRESS,
CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE,
Washington, DC, June 3, 2016.

Hon. ROB BISHOP,
*Chairman, Committee on Natural Resources,
House of Representatives, Washington, DC.*

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: The Congressional Budget Office has prepared the enclosed cost estimate for H.R. 5278, the Puerto Rico Oversight, Management, and Economic Stability Act.

If you wish further details on this estimate, we will be pleased to provide them. The CBO staff contacts are Megan Carroll and Matthew Pickford.

Sincerely,

KEITH HALL.

Enclosure.

H.R. 5278—Puerto Rico Oversight, Management, and Economic Stability Act

Summary: H.R. 5278 would create a legal framework for the federal government to oversee the fiscal and budgetary affairs of certain U.S. territories. In particular, the bill would outline procedures under which the governments of such territories and their instrumentalities could establish an oversight board and thus restructure their public debt. The bill would immediately establish such a board for the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

In CBO's view, and in keeping with guidance specified by the 1967 President's Commission on Budget Concepts, a control board established under H.R. 5278 should be considered a federal entity largely because of the extent of federal control involved in its establishment and operations. Because it would be a federal entity, all cash flows related to the board's administrative costs should be recorded in the federal budget. On that basis, over the 2017–2026 period, CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 5278 would:

- Increase direct spending by $370 million for the board's administrative costs;
- Increase revenues—from amounts transferred to the oversight board by the government of Puerto Rico to cover the board's expenses—by $370 million; and
- Have no significant net effect on the federal deficit.

In addition, CBO estimates that completing various reports and administrative requirements specified by the bill would cost about $1 million in 2017; such spending would be subject to the availability of appropriated funds.

Pay-as-you-go procedures apply because enacting the legislation would affect direct spending and revenues. CBO estimates that enacting the legislation would not increase net direct spending or on-budget deficits in any of the four consecutive 10-year periods beginning in 2027.

H.R. 5278 contains intergovernmental and private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act (UMRA). CBO estimates that the aggregate costs of the mandates on public entities would exceed the annual threshold established in UMRA for intergovernmental mandates ($77 million in 2016, adjusted annually for inflation). Because CBO is uncertain about how claims by creditors would be affected and the amount of losses that would occur as a result of the bill, CBO cannot determine whether the aggregate cost of the mandates on private entities would exceed the annual threshold established in UMRA for private-sector mandates ($154 million in 2016, adjusted annually for inflation).

Major provisions: Under the United States Constitution, the federal government retains sovereign authority to govern U.S. territories and insular areas. H.R. 5278 would create a legal framework for the federal government to establish oversight boards with broad authority to exercise control over the fiscal and budgetary affairs of U.S. territories.¹ The bill also would outline procedures under which territorial governments could restructure public debt, subject to the approval of any such oversight boards established on their behalf.

In general, oversight boards would be established only at the request of territorial governments; however, H.R. 5278 would automatically establish an oversight board for the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, which currently faces a financial crisis. It has already failed to make scheduled payments to service the territory's outstanding public debt—which currently totals more than $70 billion—and further defaults are widely viewed as inevitable.²

To help Puerto Rico address its mounting financial difficulties, the bill would establish a seven-member Financial Oversight and Management Board (hereafter, the board) that would assume control over fiscal and budgetary decisions of the Puerto Rican government, including its municipalities, agencies, and public corporations (hereafter, instrumentalities). The President would appoint all seven members of the board, six of whom would be chosen among individuals recommended by Congressional leaders. The

² D. Andrew Austin, Puerto Rico's Current Fiscal Challenges, Report for Congress R44095 (Congressional Research Service, May 2, 2016).

Governor of Puerto Rico (or a designee) would serve on the board as an ex officio member without voting rights.

Under H.R. 5278, the board would:

- Ensure that fiscal plans and annual budgets developed by the governor and legislature of Puerto Rico and territorial instrumentalities meet certain accounting standards and fiscal requirements;
- Review and approve such fiscal plans and budgets (or, if necessary, develop alternative plans that meet all such standards and requirements);
- Monitor ongoing budget execution to identify any differences between projected and actual revenues and expenditures; and
- Determine whether any such differences require corrective actions, including potential reductions in certain nondebt expenditures, hiring freezes, or other measures to reduce expenditures.

To achieve those objectives, the bill would give the oversight board certain sovereign powers over the Puerto Rican government and its instrumentalities. In particular, the bill would authorize the board to require the Puerto Rican government to provide the board with a dedicated source of funding, not subject to further legislative action, to cover its expenses. In addition, the board could issue subpoenas, obtain any necessary information and data from agencies and entities of the United States or Puerto Rico, and initiate civil actions in U.S. courts to enforce its authority. The board could enforce laws of Puerto Rico that prohibit employees of the territorial government and its instrumentalities from participating in a strike or lockout and, if necessary, effectively nullify any new laws or policies adopted by Puerto Rico that did not conform to requirements specified in the bill.

A variety of provisions of H.R. 5278 would establish the legal framework for restructuring public debt issued by Puerto Rico and its instrumentalities. The bill would prohibit Puerto Rico from issuing any new debt without the board's approval and would grant the board the sole authority to approve agreements to restructure existing public debt. (The bill specifies requirements that would pertain to any debt restructuring agreements negotiated prior to the bill's enactment.) Title III of the legislation would outline procedures—enforceable in U.S. courts—for such debt restructuring. The control board would represent Puerto Rico and its instrumentalities in all such proceedings. Upon enactment, H.R. 5278 would establish a stay on judicial or administrative proceedings against Puerto Rico (or a territorial instrumentality) related to existing debts. Finally, title VI would establish a process for creditors to pursue collective actions related to proposals to restructure some types of debt.

Once established, the control board would continue to operate until it certified that the government of Puerto Rico had, for at least four consecutive fiscal years, developed and adhered to budgets that met the bill's requirements, and that the territorial government had sufficient access to credit markets at reasonable rates.

Finally, HR. 5278 contains a variety of other provisions that would:

- Affirm Puerto Rico's right to determine its future political status with respect to the United States;
- Modify the minimum wage for most Puerto Rican workers under age 25;
- Require the Government Accountability Office to prepare a report on implementation in Puerto Rico of certain programs of the Small Business Administration;
- Establish a Congressional task force to recommend changes to federal laws and activities that would support economic growth in Puerto Rico; and
- Specify procedures aimed at accelerating review and permitting, by Puerto Rican and U.S. government agencies, of specific types of infrastructure projects.

Budgetary treatment: Cash flows of the government of Puerto Rico and its instrumentalities currently are excluded from the federal budget. In CBO's view, enacting H.R. 5278 would not change that general budgetary treatment; under the bill, overall net costs related to Puerto Rico's ongoing operations—including those stemming from decisions made by the control board established under the bill—would remain separate from the federal budget.

H.R. 5278 would specify that the proposed control board should not be considered part of the U.S. federal government; however, in CBO's view the activities of such boards should be considered federal activities, consistent with principles specified by the 1967 President's Commission on Budget Concepts. Although the report issued by that commission has no legal status, it remains the primary authoritative statement on the scope of the federal budget. The commission recommended that, "the budget should, as a general rule, be comprehensive of the full range of federal activities. Borderline agencies and transactions should be included . . . unless there are exceptionally persuasive reasons for exclusion."³ Thus, CBO believes the control board should be included in the budget because of the significant degree of federal control involved in its establishment and operations. In particular:

- The authority to establish the oversight board derives from the federal government's constitutional power to "make all needful rules and regulations" regarding U.S. territories;⁴
- The President would appoint all seven voting members of the board; and
- The board would have broad sovereign powers to effectively overrule decisions by Puerto Rico's legislature, governor, and other public authorities.

As a result, in CBO's view, all cash flows related to the oversight board established for Puerto Rico under H.R. 5278 should be recorded in the federal budget. More specifically, amounts provided by Puerto Rico to fund the board's operations should be recorded in the federal budget as revenues, and subsequent expenditures should be recorded as federal direct spending because they would not be contingent on further legislation.

Estimated cost to the Federal Government: The estimated budgetary effect of H.R. 5278 is shown in the following table. The costs

Note: Implementing the bill also would increase discretionary costs by $1 million in 2017 and by less than $500,000 in subsequent years.

Basis of estimate: For this estimate, CBO assumes that H.R. 5278 will be enacted before the end of fiscal year 2016. The bill would authorize the oversight board to require the government of Puerto Rico to establish a dedicated source of funding to fully cover anticipated direct spending for the board's expenses. Under H.R. 5278, such amounts—which would be considered revenues—would be transferred to the board and would remain available, without further appropriation, for the board's ongoing operating costs.

For this analysis, CBO examined the administrative costs—particularly for legal and financial expertise required to oversee procedures related to bankruptcy and debt restructuring—incurred by institutions involved in resolving financial crises faced by U.S. municipalities, including Detroit, Philadelphia, New York City, and the District of Columbia. For example, according to media reports the city of Detroit spent more than $170 million over a period of about 18 months for the services of legal and financial firms to manage bankruptcy proceedings related to that city's $18 billion in public debt. Other major bankruptcy cases in the private sector have involved administrative costs that have totaled hundreds of millions of dollars over a few years.

According to a 2015 report by Bloomberg news service, Puerto Rico and the Puerto Rico Electric Power Authority—a public corporation that serves as the territory's primary electric utility—have already spent more than $60 million for legal and financial advisory services to explore options for restructuring more than $70 billion in existing public debt. In addition, officials of the government of Puerto Rico indicated to CBO that they anticipate spending around $75 million in 2017 for ongoing legal and financial services related to restructuring the government's debt.

Based on those previous costs for restricting government debt, as well as information from the Department of the Treasury about the likely costs to operate the Puerto Rican oversight board, CBO expects that the board would spend roughly twice as much as the city of Detroit over the next two years to restructure the territory's debt and to prepare balanced budgets. CBO estimates that the board's activities would increase direct spending by $370 million over the 2017–2022 period. Most of that increase—$350 million—would occur within the first two years and would primarily cover fees of legal and financial consultants hired to restructure Puerto Rico's debt. After that restructuring was achieved, CBO estimates the board would spend $5 million annually to help the Puerto Rican government prepare and execute balanced budgets for the next four consecutive years as required by the bill—or through fiscal year 2022. For this estimate, CBO assumes that after the debt is restructured Puerto Rico would be able to meet the requirement of having balanced budgets for four consecutive years; however, if Puerto Rico could not meet that requirement, or if the board considered Puerto Rico's access to capital markets to be insufficient to meet the country's needs, the board would continue to operate after 2022. This estimate does not include any additional budgetary effects that could occur under the bill if other U.S. territories requested to have similar boards established on their behalf.

The estimated increase in direct spending under H.R. 5278 would be fully offset by increased revenues from transfers of cash from Puerto Rico, which CBO estimates would total $370 million over the 2017–2022 period. Under the bill, the Puerto Rican government would be required to provide such amounts to the oversight board. (That requirement is an intergovernmental mandate and is discussed in more detail in the section entitled Intergovernmental and Private-Sector Impact.) For this estimate, CBO assumes that amounts necessary to cover the oversight board's expenses would be transferred to the board as needed to pay expenses.

Finally, CBO estimates that establishing a Congressional task force to address economic issues in Puerto Rico and completing various reports and administrative tasks would increase federal costs. Based on information about the cost of similar activities, CBO estimates such costs would total $1 million in 2017 and less than $500,000 annually thereafter; such spending would be subject to the availability of appropriated funds.

Pay-As-You-Go considerations: The Statutory Pay-As-You-Go Act of 2010 establishes budget-reporting and enforcement procedures for legislation affecting direct spending or revenues. The net changes in outlays and revenues that are subject to those pay-as-you-go procedures are shown in the following table.

CBO ESTIMATE OF PAY-AS-YOU-GO EFFECTS FOR H.R. 5278, AS ORDERED REPORTED BY THE HOUSE COMMITTEE ON NATURAL RESOURCES ON MAY 25, 2016

Changes in Revenues	0	200	150	5	5	5	5	0	0	0	0	0	365	370

Increase in long-term direct spending and deficits: CBO estimates that enacting the legislation would not increase net direct spending or on-budget deficits in any of the four consecutive 10-year periods beginning in 2027.

Intergovernmental and private-sector impact: H.R. 5278 contains intergovernmental and private-sector mandates as defined in UMRA. CBO estimates that the aggregate costs of the mandates on public entities would exceed the annual threshold established in UMRA for intergovernmental mandates ($77 million in 2016, adjusted annually for inflation). Because CBO is uncertain about how claims by creditors would be affected and the amount of losses that would occur as a result of the bill, CBO cannot determine whether the aggregate cost of the mandates on private entities would exceed the annual threshold established in UMRA for private-sector mandates ($154 million in 2016, adjusted annually for inflation).

Mandates that apply to public entities

The bill would impose a number of mandates on the territorial government of Puerto Rico and its instrumentalities. Those instrumentalities include 78 municipalities, the Government Development Bank for Puerto Rico, public utilities and corporations, and other public entities within the territory.

Oversight board and administrative costs. The bill would create a framework for the federal government to oversee the fiscal affairs of the territory and would require the territorial government and its instrumentalities to comply with the directives and processes instituted by the board. The board would have the power to oversee and direct most of the budgetary activities of the territorial government and its instrumentalities. Government agencies and other public entities would be required to:

- Develop and submit fiscal plans, budgets, certifications, and other budgetary analyses;
- Provide the board with direct access to written and electronic records, documents, information, and data;
- Undertake reforms within their organizations, including reductions in spending and staff, necessary to achieve the goals of fiscal plans and budgets approved for the territory and instrumentalities; and
- Enforce laws necessary for the board to carry out its oversight activities;

According to officials in the territorial government, many government agencies and other public entities would have to hire additional personnel, particularly those with financial expertise, in order to comply with directives, information requests, and audits from the board. In some cases the territorial governments might be able to draw upon existing resources to fulfill some of those requirements, but the scope of activity for governmental agencies will expand significantly as the new directives from the oversight board are fulfilled and restructuring plans are implemented. Although the magnitude of those costs is uncertain, CBO estimates that public entities would spend several hundred million dollars over the next several years to comply with the board's requirements and to implement new fiscal plans. CBO expects that most of those costs would be incurred in the first few years after enactment of the legislation, when the board would be active.

The bill also would require the government of Puerto Rico to pay for the costs of the board's operations and activities. CBO estimates that the board's operations would cost $370 million over the 2017–2022 period, with most of those costs occurring in the first few years.

Preemption of territorial and local laws. The bill contains several preemptions of territorial and local authority. Because preemptions limit the authority of territorial and local governments, they are intergovernmental mandates as defined in UMRA. Among those preemptions,

- Section 4 of the bill would broadly preempt any general or specific law or regulation of the territory or its instrumentalities that is inconsistent with the legislation;
- Section 105 would exempt the board and its employees from liability for any claim brought against them resulting from actions taken to carry out the legislation; and
- Section 504 would preempt territorial and local laws governing permitting for infrastructure projects by creating a fast-track authority for critical projects.

Infrastructure. The bill would authorize an expedited approval process for critical infrastructure projects and would require the governor of Puerto Rico to appoint a revitalization coordinator, who would serve under the board, to coordinate critical infrastructure projects for the territory.

The bill would require territorial and local agencies that oversee permits to operate as if the governor had declared a state of emergency. Under Puerto Rican law, projects undertaken pursuant to an emergency order are exempt from the requirements of various Puerto Rican laws governing environmental reviews and administrative proceedings for projects. As part of that process, the bill would prohibit territorial and local agencies from requiring any permit, certificate, right-of-way, lease or other authorization from including a term or condition if the coordinator determines that it would impair the approval of those projects.

The expedited approval process could result in a loss of revenue from permits and fees for government agencies; however, because of the low cost of permits and limited number of projects that would be fast-tracked under this process, CBO estimates that the amount of forgone revenue would be small.

Other effects on public entities

The bill would provide benefits to the government of Puerto Rico and its instrumentalities by authorizing the rights and procedures under U.S. bankruptcy laws to be applied to those public entities. In the aggregate, territorial and local governments, as well as other public entities in Puerto Rico, owe more than $70 billion to creditors. By providing access to U.S. bankruptcy laws, the bill would allow those entities to restructure or possibly reduce their outstanding debt.

Mandates that apply to both public and private entities

The bill would impose mandates on public and private creditors that own Puerto Rican debt in two ways:

- By imposing a temporary stay on litigation relating to defaults by Puerto Rico while the board develops its bylaws and procedures, the bill would limit the ability of those entities to file claims in court or receive compensation for existing claims related to the recovery of their assets.
- By requiring creditors that are placed into specific debt pools to accept modifications to debt, The bill could affect public or private creditors in a number of ways, causing savings for some and losses for others. The amount recovered by a creditor through the procedures established in the bill and the timing of payments to creditors relative to what would happen in the absence of the bill would depend on several factors. Those factors would include market conditions and decisions by the courts and the oversight board.

Because of uncertainty about the number of creditors that would have their debt restructured, the scope of that debt, and changes to debt obligations, CBO has no basis for estimating either the overall direction or magnitude of those effects on public or private entities.

2. Section 308(a) of Congressional Budget Act. Clause 3(c)(2) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives requires each committee report that accompanies a measure providing new budget authority, spending authority, or new credit authority or changing revenues or tax expenditures to contain a cost estimate, as required by section 308(a) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, as amended, and when practicable with respect to estimates of new budget authority, a comparison of the total estimated funding level for the relevant program (or programs) to the appropriate levels under current law. The Congressional Budget Office has concluded that enacting H.R. 5278 will have “no significant net effect on the federal deficit” and that various reports and administrative requirements would cost about $1 million 2017, subject to the availability of appropriated funds.

3. General Performance Goals and Objectives. As required by clause 3(c)(4) of rule XIII, the general performance goal or objective of this bill is to establish an Oversight Board to assist the Government of Puerto Rico, including instrumentalities, in managing its public finances.

EARMARK STATEMENT

This bill does not contain any Congressional earmarks, limited tax benefits, or limited tariff benefits as defined under clause 9(e), 9(f), and 9(g) of rule XXI of the Rules of the House of Representatives.

COMPLIANCE WITH PUBLIC LAW 104–4

The Committee on Natural Resources adopts as its own the estimate of Federal mandates prepared by the Director of the Congressional Budget Office pursuant to section 423 of the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act.

COMPLIANCE WITH H. RES. 5

Directed Rule Making. The Chairman believes that this bill does not require any Federal agency to conduct rule-making proceedings.

Duplication of Existing Programs. This bill does not establish or reauthorize a program of the Federal government known to be duplicative of another program. Such program was not included in any report from the Government Accountability Office to Congress pursuant to section 21 of Public Law 111–139 or identified in the most recent Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance published pursuant to the Federal Program Information Act (Public Law 95–220, as amended by Public Law 98–169) as relating to other programs.

PREEMPTION OF STATE, LOCAL OR TRIBAL LAW

This bill would preempt any inconsistent State or territory law. The bill would not preempt any tribal law.

CHANGES IN EXISTING LAW MADE BY THE BILL, AS REPORTED

In compliance with clause 3(e) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, changes in existing law made by the bill, as reported, are shown as follows (existing law proposed to be omitted is enclosed in black brackets, new matter is printed in italic, and existing law in which no change is proposed is shown in roman):

Such minimum piece rates or employer piece rates shall be commensurate with, and shall be paid in lieu of, the minimum hourly wage rate applicable under the provisions of this section. The Secretary of Labor, or his authorized representative, shall have power to make such regulations or orders as are necessary or appropriate to carry out any of the provisions of this paragraph, including the power without limiting the generality of the foregoing, to define any operation or occupation which is performed by such home work employees in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands; to establish minimum piece rates for any operation or occupation so defined; to prescribe the method and procedure for ascertaining and promulgating minimum piece rates; to prescribe standards for employer piece rates, including the proportion or class of employees who shall receive not less than the minimum hourly wage rate; to define the term "home worker"; and to prescribe the conditions under which employers, agents, contractors, and subcontractors shall cause goods to be produced by home workers;

(3) if such employee is employed as a seaman on an American vessel, not less than the rate which will provide to the employee, for the period covered by the wage payment, wages equal to compensation at the hourly rate prescribed by paragraph (1) of this subsection for all hours during such period when he was actually on duty (including periods aboard ship when the employee was on watch or was, at the direction of a superior officer, performing work or standing by, but not including off-duty periods which are provided pursuant to the employment agreement); or

(4) if such employee is employed in agriculture, not less than the minimum wage rate in effect under paragraph (1) after December 31, 1977.

(b) Every employer shall pay to each of his employees (other than an employee to whom subsection (a)(5) applies) who in any workweek is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce, or is employed in an enterprise engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce, and who in such workweek is brought within the purview of this section by the amendments made to this Act by the Fair Labor Standards Amendments of 1966, title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, or the Fair Labor Standards Amendments of 1974, wages at the following rate: Effective after December 31, 1977, not less than the minimum wage rate in effect under subsection (a)(1).

(d)(1) No employer having employees subject to any provisions of this section shall discriminate, within any establishment in which such employees are employed, between employees on the basis of sex by paying wages to employees in such establishment at a rate less than the rate at which he pays wages to employees of the opposite sex in such establishment for equal work on jobs the performance of which requires equal skill, effort, and responsibility, and which are performed under similar working conditions, except where such payment is made pursuant to (i) a seniority system; (ii) a merit system; (iii) a system which measures earnings by quantity or quality or production; or (iv) a differential based on any other factor other than sex: Provided, That an employer who is paying a wage rate differential in violation of this subsection shall not, in order to comply with the provisions of this subsection, reduce the wage rate of any employee.

(2) No labor organization, or its agents, representing employees of an employer having employees subject to any provisions of this section shall cause or attempt to cause such an employer to discriminate against an employee in violation of paragraph (1) of this subsection.

(3) For purposes of administration and enforcement, any amounts owing to any employees which have been withheld in violation of this subsection shall be deemed to be unpaid minimum wages or unpaid overtime-compensation under this Act.

(4) As used in this subsection, the term “labor organization” means any organization of any kind, or any agency or employee representation committee or plan, in which employees participate and which exists for the purpose, in whole or in part, of dealing with employers concerning grievances, labor disputes, wages, rates of pay, hours of employment, or conditions of work.

(e)(1) Notwithstanding the provisions of section 13 of this Act (except subsections (a)(1) and (f) thereof), every employer providing any contract services (other than linen supply services) under a contract with the United States or any subcontract thereunder shall pay to each of his employees whose rate of pay is not governed by the Service Contract Act of 1965 (41 U.S.C. 351–357) or to whom subsection (a)(1) of this section is not applicable, wages at rates not less than the rates provided for in subsection (b) of this section.

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of section 13 of this Act (except subsections (a)(1) and (f) thereof) and the provisions of the Service Contract Act of 1965, every employer in an establishment providing linen supply services to the United States under a contract with the United States or any subcontract thereunder shall pay to each of his employees in such establishment wages at rates not less than those prescribed in subsection (b), except that if more than 50 per centum of the gross annual dollar volume of sales made or business done by such establishment is derived from providing such linen supply services under any such contracts or subcontracts, such employer shall pay to each of his employees in such establishment wages at rates not less than those prescribed in subsection (a)(1) of this section.

(f) Any employee—

(1) who in any workweek is employed in domestic service in a household shall be paid wages at a rate not less than the wage rate in effect under section 6(b) unless such employee’s compensation for such service would not because of section 209(a)(6) of the Social Security Act constitute wages for the purpose of title II of such Act, or

(2) who in any workweek—

(A) is employed in domestic service in one or more households, and

(B) is so employed for more than 8 hours in the aggregate, shall be paid wages for such employment in such workweek at a rate not less than the wage rate in effect under section 6(b).

(g)(1) In lieu of the rate prescribed by subsection (a)(1), any employer may pay any employee of such employer, during the first 90 consecutive calendar days after such employee is initially employed by such employer, a wage which is not less than $4.25 an hour.

[(2) No employer may take any action to displace employees (including partial displacements such as reduction in hours, wages, or employment benefits) for purposes of hiring individuals at the wage authorized in paragraph (1).

[(3) Any employer who violates this subsection shall be considered to have violated section 15(a)(3).

[(4) This subsection shall only apply to an employee who has not attained the age of 20 years.]

(2) In lieu of the rate prescribed by subsection (a)(1), the Governor of Puerto Rico, subject to the approval of the Financial Oversight and Management Board established pursuant to section 101 of the Puerto Rico Oversight, Management, and Economic Stability Act, may designate a time period not to exceed four years during which employers in Puerto Rico may pay employees who are initially employed after the date of enactment of such Act a wage which is not less than the wage described in paragraph (1). Notwithstanding the time period designated, such wage shall not continue in effect after such Board terminates in accordance with section 209 of such Act.

(3) No employer may take any action to displace employees (including partial displacements such as reduction in hours, wages, or employment benefits) for purposes of hiring individuals at the wage authorized in paragraph (1) or (2).

(4) Any employer who violates this subsection shall be considered to have violated section 15(a)(3).

(5) This subsection shall only apply to an employee who has not attained the age of 20 years, except in the case of the wage applicable in Puerto Rico, 25 years, until such time as the Board described in paragraph (2) terminates in accordance with section 209 of the Act described in such paragraph.

SMALL BUSINESS ACT

SEC. 15. (a) To effectuate the purposes of this Act, small-business concerns within the meaning of this Act shall receive any award or contract or any part thereof, and be awarded any contract for the sale of Government property, as to which it is determined by the Administration and the contracting procurement or disposal agency (1) to be in the interest of maintaining or mobilizing the Nation's full productive capacity, (2) to be in the interest of war or national defense programs, (3) to be in the interest of assuring that a fair proportion of the total purchases and contracts for property and services for the Government in each industry category are placed with small-business concerns, or (4) to be in the interest of assuring that a fair proportion of the total sales of Government property be made to small-business concerns; but nothing contained in this Act shall be construed to change any preferences or priorities established by law with respect to the sale of electrical power or other property by the Government or any agency thereof. These determinations may be made for individual awards or contracts or for classes of awards or contracts. If a proposed procurement includes in its statement of work goods or services currently being performed by a small business, and if the proposed procurement is in a quantity or estimated dollar value the magnitude of which renders small business prime contract participation unlikely, or if a proposed procurement for construction seeks to package or consolidate discrete construction projects, or the solicitation involves an unnecessary or unjustified bundling of contract requirements, as determined by the Administration, the Procurement Activity shall provide a copy of the proposed procurement to the Procurement Activity's Small Business Procurement Center Representative at least 30 days prior to the solicitation's issuance along with a statement explaining (1) why the proposed acquisition cannot be divided into reasonably small lots (not less than economic production runs) to permit offers on quantities less than the total requirement, (2) why delivery schedules cannot be established on a realistic basis that will encourage small business participation to the extent consistent with the actual requirements of the Government, (3) why the proposed acquisition cannot be offered so as to make small business participation likely, (4) why construction cannot be procured as separate discrete projects, or (5) why the agency has determined that the bundled contract (as defined in section 3(o)) is necessary and justified. The thirty-day notification process shall occur concurrently with other processing steps required prior to issuance of the solicitation. Within 15 days after receipt of the proposed procurement and accompanying statement, if the Procurement Center Representative believes that the procurement as proposed will render small business prime contract participation unlikely, the Representative shall recommend to the Procurement Activity alternative procurement methods which would increase small business prime contracting opportunities. Whenever the Administration and the contracting procurement agency fail to agree, the matter shall be submitted for determination to the Secretary or the head of the appropriate department or agency by the Administrator. For purposes of clause (3) of the first sentence of this subsection, an industry category is a discrete group of similar goods and services. Such groups shall be determined by the Administration in accordance with the definition of a "United States industry" under the North American Industry Classification System, as established by the Office of Management and Budget, except that the Administration shall limit such an industry category to a greater extent than provided under such classification codes if the Administration receives evidence indicating that further segmentation for purposes of this paragraph is warranted due to special capital equipment needs or special labor or geographic requirements or to recognize a new industry. A market for goods or services may not be segmented under the preceding sentence due to geographic requirements unless the Government typically designates the area where work for contracts for such goods or services is to be performed and Government purchases comprise the major portion of the entire domestic market for such goods or services and, due to the fixed location of facilities, high mobilization costs, or similar economic factors, it is unreasonable to expect competition from business concerns located outside of the general areas where such concerns are located. A contract may not be awarded under this subsection if the award of the contract would result in a cost to the awarding agency which exceeds a fair market price.

(b) With respect to any work to be performed the amount of which would exceed the maximum amount of any contract for which a surety may be guaranteed against loss under section 411 of the Small Business Investment Act of 1958 (15 U.S.C. 694(b)), the contracting procurement agency shall, to the extent practicable, place contracts so as to allow more than one small business concern to perform such work.

(c)(1) As used in this subsection:

(A) The term "Committee" means the Committee for Purchase from the Blind and Other Severely Handicapped established under the first section of the Act entitled "An Act to create a Committee on Purchases of Blind-made Products, and for other purposes", approved June 25, 1938 (41 U.S.C. 46).

(B) The term "public or private organization for the handicapped" has the same meaning given such term in section 3(e).

(C) The term "handicapped individual" has the same meaning given such term in section 3(f).

(2)(A) During fiscal year 1995, public or private organizations for the handicapped shall be eligible to participate in programs authorized under this section in an aggregate amount not to exceed $40,000,000.

(B) None of the amounts authorized for participation by subparagraph (A) may be placed on the procurement list maintained by the Committee pursuant to section 2 of the Act entitled "An Act to create a Committee on Purchases of Blind-made Products, and for other purposes", approved June 25, 1938 (41 U.S.C. 47).

(3) The Administrator shall monitor and evaluate such participation.

(4)(A) Not later than ten days after the announcement of a proposed award of a contract by an agency or department to a public or private organization for the handicapped, a for-profit small business concern that has experienced or is likely to experience severe economic injury as the result of the proposed award may file an appeal of the proposed award with the Administrator.

(B) If such a concern files an appeal of a proposed award under subparagraph (A) and the Administrator, after consultation with the Executive Director of the Committee, finds that the concern has experienced or is likely to experience severe economic injury as the result of the proposed award, not later than thirty days after the filing of the appeal, the Administration shall require each agency and department having procurement powers to take such action as may be appropriate to alleviate economic injury sustained or likely to be sustained by the concern.

(5) Each agency and department having procurement powers shall report to the Office of Federal Procurement Policy each time a contract subject to paragraph (2)(A) is entered into, and shall include in its report the amount of the next higher bid submitted by a for-profit small business concern. The Office of Federal Procurement Policy shall collect data reported under the preceding sentence through the Federal procurement data system and shall report to the Administration which shall notify all such agencies and departments when the maximum amount of awards authorized under paragraph (2)(A) has been made during any fiscal year.

(6) For the purpose of this subsection, a contract may be awarded only if at least 75 per centum of the direct labor performed on each item being produced under the contract in the sheltered workshop or performed in providing each type of service under the contract by the sheltered workshop is performed by handicapped individuals.

(7) Agencies awarding one or more contracts to such an organization pursuant to the provisions of this subsection may use multiyear contracts, if appropriate.

(d) For purposes of this section priority shall be given to the awarding of contracts and the placement of subcontracts to small business concerns which shall perform a substantial proportion of the production on those contracts and subcontracts within areas of concentrated unemployment or underemployment or within labor surplus areas. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, total labor surplus area set-asides pursuant to Defense Manpower Policy Number 4 (32A C.F.R. Chapter 1) or any successor policy shall be authorized if the Secretary or his designee specifically determines that there is a reasonable expectation that offers will be obtained from a sufficient number of eligible concerns so that awards will be made at reasonable prices. As soon as practicable and to the extent possible, in determining labor surplus areas, consideration shall be given to those persons who would be available for employment were suitable employment available. Until such definition reflects such number, the present criteria of such policy shall govern.

(e) PROCUREMENT STRATEGIES; CONTRACT BUNDLING.—

(1) IN GENERAL.— To the maximum extent practicable, procurement strategies used by a Federal department or agency having contracting authority shall facilitate the maximum participation of small business concerns as prime contractors, subcontractors, and suppliers, and each such Federal department or agency shall—

(A) provide opportunities for the participation of small business concerns during acquisition planning processes and in acquisition plans; and

(B) invite the participation of the appropriate Director of Small and Disadvantaged Business Utilization in acquisition planning processes and provide that Director access to acquisition plans.

(2) MARKET RESEARCH.—

(A) IN GENERAL.— Before proceeding with an acquisition strategy that could lead to a contract containing consolidated procurement requirements, the head of an agency shall conduct market research to determine whether consolidation of the requirements is necessary and justified.

(B) FACTORS.— For purposes of subparagraph (A), consolidation of the requirements may be determined as being necessary and justified if, as compared to the benefits that would be derived from contracting to meet those requirements if not consolidated, the Federal Government would derive from the consolidation measurably substantial benefits, including any combination of benefits that, in combination, are measurably substantial. Benefits described in the preceding sentence may include the following:

- (i) Cost savings.
- (ii) Quality improvements.
- (iii) Reduction in acquisition cycle times.
- (iv) Better terms and conditions.
- (v) Any other benefits.

(C) REDUCTION OF COSTS NOT DETERMINATIVE.— The reduction of administrative or personnel costs alone shall not be a justification for bundling of contract requirements unless the cost savings are expected to be substantial in relation to the dollar value of the procurement requirements to be consolidated.

(3) STRATEGY SPECIFICATIONS.— If the head of a contracting agency determines that an acquisition plan for a procurement involves a substantial bundling of contract requirements, the head of a contracting agency shall publish a notice on a public website that such determination has been made not later than 7 days after making such determination. Any solicitation for a procurement related to the acquisition plan may not be published earlier than 7 days after such notice is published. Along with the publication of the solicitation, the head of a contracting agency shall publish a justification for the determination, which shall include the following information:

(A) The specific benefits anticipated to be derived from the bundling of contract requirements and a determination that such benefits justify the bundling.

(B) An identification of any alternative contracting approaches that would involve a lesser degree of bundling of contract requirements.

(C) An assessment of—

(i) the specific impediments to participation by small business concerns as prime contractors that result from the bundling of contract requirements; and

(ii) the specific actions designed to maximize participation of small business concerns as subcontractors (including suppliers) at various tiers under the contract or contracts that are awarded to meet the requirements.

(4) CONTRACT TEAMING.—

(A) IN GENERAL.— In the case of a solicitation of offers for a bundled or consolidated contract that is issued by the head of an agency, a small business concern that provides for use of a particular team of subcontractors or a joint venture of small business concerns may submit an offer for the performance of the contract.

(B) EVALUATION OF OFFERS.— The head of the agency shall evaluate an offer described in subparagraph (A) in the same manner as other offers, with due consideration to the capabilities of all of the proposed subcontractors or members of the joint venture as follows:

(i) TEAMS.— When evaluating an offer of a small business prime contractor that includes a proposed team of small business subcontractors, the head of the agency shall consider the capabilities and past performance of each first tier subcontractor that is part of the team as the capabilities and past performance of the small business prime contractor.

(ii) JOINT VENTURES.— When evaluating an offer of a joint venture of small business concerns, if the joint venture does not demonstrate sufficient capabilities or past performance to be considered for award of a contract opportunity, the head of the agency shall consider the capabilities and past performance of each member of the joint venture as the capabilities and past performance of the joint venture.

(C) STATUS AS A SMALL BUSINESS CONCERN.— Participation of a small business concern in a team or a joint venture under this paragraph shall not affect the status of that concern as a small business concern for any other purpose.

(f) CONTRACTING PREFERENCE FOR SMALL BUSINESS CONCERNS IN A MAJOR DISASTER AREA.—

(1) DEFINITION.— In this subsection, the term “disaster area” means the area for which the President has declared a major disaster, during the period of the declaration.

(2) CONTRACTING PREFERENCE.— An agency shall provide a contracting preference for a small business concern located in a disaster area if the small business concern will perform the work required under the contract in the disaster area.

(3) CREDIT FOR MEETING CONTRACTING GOALS.— If an agency awards a contract to a small business concern under the circumstances described in paragraph (2), the value of the contract shall be doubled for purposes of determining compliance with the goals for procurement contracts under subsection (g)(1)(A).

(g)

(1) GOVERNMENTWIDE GOALS.—

(A) ESTABLISHMENT.— The President shall annually establish Governmentwide goals for procurement contracts awarded to small business concerns, small business concerns owned and controlled by service-disabled veterans, qualified HUBZone small business concerns, small business concerns owned and controlled by socially and economically disadvantaged individuals, and small business concerns owned and controlled by women in accordance with the following:

(i) The Governmentwide goal for participation by small business concerns shall be established at not less than 23 percent of the total value of all prime contract awards for each fiscal year. In meeting this goal, the Government shall ensure the participation of small business concerns from a wide variety of industries and from a broad spectrum of small business concerns within each industry.

(ii) The Governmentwide goal for participation by small business concerns owned and controlled by service-disabled veterans shall be established at not less than 3 percent of the total value of all prime contract and subcontract awards for each fiscal year.

(iii) The Governmentwide goal for participation by qualified HUBZone small business concerns shall be established at not less than 3 percent of the total value of all prime contract and subcontract awards for each fiscal year.

(iv) The Governmentwide goal for participation by small business concerns owned and controlled by socially and economically disadvantaged individuals shall be established at not less than 5 percent of the total value of all prime contract and subcontract awards for each fiscal year.

(v) The Governmentwide goal for participation by small business concerns owned and controlled by women shall be established at not less than 5 percent of the total value of all prime contract and subcontract awards for each fiscal year.

(B) ACHIEVEMENT OF GOVERNMENTWIDE GOALS.— Each agency shall have an annual goal that presents, for that agency, the maximum practicable opportunity for small business concerns, small business concerns owned and controlled by service-disabled veterans, qualified HUBZone small business concerns, small business concerns owned and controlled by socially and economically disadvantaged individuals, and small business concerns owned and controlled by women to participate in the performance of contracts let by such agency. The Small Business Administration and the Administrator for Federal Procurement Policy shall, when exercising their authority pursuant to paragraph (2), insure that the cumulative annual prime contract goals for all agencies meet or exceed the annual Governmentwide prime contract goal established by the President pursuant to this paragraph.

(2)(A) The head of each Federal agency shall, after consultation with the Administration, establish goals for the participation by small business concerns, by small business concerns owned and controlled by service-disabled veterans, by qualified HUBZone small business concerns, by small business concerns owned and controlled by socially and economically disadvantaged individuals, and by small business concerns owned and controlled by women in procurement contracts of such agency. Such goals shall separately address prime contract awards and subcontract awards for each category of small business covered.

(B) Goals established under this subsection shall be jointly established by the Administration and the head of each Federal agency and shall realistically reflect the potential of small business concerns, small business concerns owned and controlled by service-disabled veterans, qualified HUBZone small business concerns, small business concerns owned and controlled by socially and economically disadvantaged individuals, and small business concerns owned and controlled by women to perform such contracts and to perform subcontracts under such contracts.

(C) Whenever the Administration and the head of any Federal agency fail to agree on established goals, the disagreement shall be submitted to the Administrator for Federal Procurement Policy for final determination.

(D) After establishing goals under this paragraph for a fiscal year, the head of each Federal agency shall develop a plan for achieving such goals at both the prime contract and the subcontract level, which shall apportion responsibilities among the agency's acquisition executives and officials. In establishing goals under this paragraph, the head of each Federal agency shall make a consistent effort to annually expand participation by small business concerns from each industry category in procurement contracts and subcontracts of such agency, including participation by small business concerns owned and controlled by service-disabled veterans, qualified HUBZone small business concerns, small business concerns owned and controlled by socially and economically disadvantaged individuals, and small business concerns owned and controlled by women.

(E) The head of each Federal agency, in attempting to attain expanded participation under subparagraph (D), shall consider—

(i) contracts awarded as the result of unrestricted competition; and

(ii) contracts awarded after competition restricted to eligible small business concerns under this section and under the program established under section 8(a).

(F)(i) Each procurement employee or program manager described in clause (ii) shall communicate to the subordinates of the procurement employee or program manager the importance of achieving goals established under subparagraph (A).

(ii) A procurement employee or program manager described in this clause is a senior procurement executive, senior program manager, or Director of Small and Disadvantaged Business Utilization of a Federal agency having contracting authority.

(3) First tier subcontracts that are awarded by Management and Operating contractors sponsored by the Department of Energy to small business concerns, small businesses concerns owned and controlled by service disabled veterans, qualified HUBZone small business concerns, small business concerns owned and controlled by socially and economically disadvantaged individuals, and small business concerns owned and controlled by women, shall be considered toward the annually established agency and Government-wide goals for procurement contracts awarded.

(h) REPORTING ON GOALS FOR PROCUREMENT CONTRACTS AWARDED TO SMALL BUSINESS CONCERNS.—

(1) AGENCY REPORTS.— At the conclusion of each fiscal year, the head of each Federal agency shall submit to the Administrator a report describing—

(A) the extent of the participation by small business concerns, small business concerns owned and controlled by veterans (including service-disabled veterans), qualified HUBZone small business concerns, small business concerns owned and controlled by socially and economically disadvantaged individuals, and small business concerns owned and controlled by women in the procurement contracts of such agency during such fiscal year;

(B) whether the agency achieved the goals established for the agency under subsection (g)(2) with respect to such fiscal year;

(C) any justifications for a failure to achieve such goals; and

(D) a remediation plan with proposed new practices to better meet such goals, including analysis of factors leading to any failure to achieve such goals.

(2) REPORTS BY ADMINISTRATOR.— Not later than 60 days after receiving a report from each Federal agency under paragraph (1) with respect to a fiscal year, the Administrator shall submit to the President and Congress, and to make available on a public Web site, a report that includes—

(A) a copy of each report submitted to the Administrator under paragraph (1);

(B) a determination of whether each goal established by the President under subsection (g)(1) for such fiscal year was achieved;

(C) a determination of whether each goal established by the head of a Federal agency under subsection (g)(2) for such fiscal year was achieved;

(D) the reasons for any failure to achieve a goal established under paragraph (1) or (2) of subsection (g) for such fiscal year and a description of actions planned by the applicable agency to address such failure, including the Administrator's comments and recommendations on the proposed remediation plan; and

(6) shall assist small business concerns to obtain payments, required late payment interest penalties, or information regarding payments due to such concerns from an executive agency or a contractor, in conformity with chapter 39 of title 31, United States Code, or any other protection for contractors or subcontractors (including suppliers) that is included in the Federal Acquisition Regulation or any individual agency supplement to such Government-wide regulation;

(9) shall cooperate, and consult on a regular basis, with the Administration with respect to carrying out the functions and duties described in paragraph (4) of this subsection;

(10) shall make recommendations to contracting officers as to whether a particular contract requirement should be awarded pursuant to subsection (a), section 8(a) of this Act, or section 2323 of title 10, United States Code, which shall be made with due regard to the requirements of subsection (m), and the failure of the contracting officer to accept any such recommendations shall be documented and included within the appropriate contract file;

(15) shall carry out exclusively the duties enumerated in this Act, and shall, while the Director, not hold any other title, position, or responsibility, except as necessary to carry out responsibilities under this subsection;

Dear Mr. Chairman:

On May 25, 2016, the Committee on Natural Resources ordered favorably reported as amended H.R. 5278, the Puerto Rico Oversight, Management, and Economic Stability Act. The bill was referred primarily to the Committee on Natural Resources, with an additional referral to the Committee on Small Business, among other committees.

I ask that you allow the Committee on Small Business to be discharged from further consideration of the bill so that it may be scheduled by the Majority Leader. This discharge in no way affects your jurisdiction over the subject matter of the bill, and it will not serve as precedent for future referrals. In addition, should a conference on the bill be necessary, I would support your request to have the Committee on Small Business represented on the conference committee. Finally, I would be pleased to include this letter and any response in the bill report filed by the Committee on Natural Resources to memorialize our understanding, as well as in the Congressional Record.

Thank you for your consideration of my request, and I look forward to further opportunities to work with you this Congress.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Chairman:

I am writing regarding H.R. 5278, the Puerto Rico Oversight, Management and Economic Stability Act. The bill contains a provision that is within the jurisdiction of the Committee on Small Business.

I do so with the understanding that this action does not affect the jurisdiction of the Committee on Small Business, and that the Committee expressly reserves the right to seek conferees on any provision within its jurisdiction during any House-Senate conference that may be convened on this or any similar legislation. I would ask that you support any such request.

I also ask that a copy of this letter be included in the Congressional Record during the consideration of H.R. 5278 on the House floor.

Dear Mr. Chairman:

On May 25, 2016, the Committee on Natural Resources ordered favorably reported as amended H.R. 5278, the Puerto Rico Oversight, Management, and Economic Stability Act. The bill was referred primarily to the Committee on Natural Resources, with an additional referral to the Committee on Education and the Workforce, among others.

I ask that you allow the Committee on Education and the Workforce to be discharged from further consideration of the bill so that it may be scheduled by the Majority Leader. This discharge in no way affects your jurisdiction over the subject matter of the bill, and it will not serve as precedent for future referrals. In addition, should a conference on the bill be necessary, I would support your request to have the Committee on Education and the Workforce represented on the conference committee. Finally, I would be pleased to include this letter and any response in the bill report filed by the Committee on Natural Resources to memorialize our understanding, as well as in the Congressional Record.

Thank you for your consideration of my request, and I look forward to further opportunities to work with you this Congress.

Sincerely,

Rob Bishop

Additionally, I appreciate your committee's assistance with any additional improvements to the bill within the jurisdiction of the Education and the Workforce Committee.

I respectfully request your support for the appointment of outside conferees from the Committee on Education and the Workforce should this bill or a similar bill be considered in a conference with the Senate. I also request you include our exchange of letters on this matter in the Committee Report on H.R. 5278 and in the Congressional Record during consideration of this bill on the House Floor. Dear Chairman Bishop,

I am writing with respect to H.R. 5278, the "Puerto Rico Oversight, Management, and Economic Stability Act," which was referred to the Committee on Natural Resources and in addition to the Committee on the Judiciary among other committees. As a result of your having consulted with us on provisions in H.R. 5278 that fall within the Rule X jurisdiction of the Committee on the Judiciary, I agree to discharge our committee from further consideration of this bill so that it may proceed expeditiously to the House floor for consideration.

The Judiciary Committee takes this action with our mutual understanding that by foregoing consideration of H.R. 5278 at this time, we do not waive any jurisdiction over subject matter contained in this or similar legislation and that our committee will be appropriately consulted and involved as this bill or similar legislation moves forward so that we may address any remaining issues in our jurisdiction. Our committee also reserves the right to seek appointment of an appropriate number of conferees to any House-Senate conference involving this or similar legislation and asks that you support any such request.

I appreciate your May 31, 2016, letter confirming this understanding with respect to H.R. 5278 and would ask that a copy of our exchange of letters on this matter be included in your committee report and in the Congressional Record during Floor consideration of H.R. 5278.

ADDITIONAL VIEWS

As Puerto Rico's sole elected representative in Congress, I write separately to explain why I support H.R. 5278, the Puerto Rico Oversight, Management, and Economic Stability Act, or PROMESA. H.R. 5278 is exceptional insofar as it was negotiated in a painstakingly bipartisan manner at an intensely partisan time in American political life, and inasmuch as it has been successful to date despite a well-funded and often dishonest lobbying campaign against the bill. The bill is imperfect—as all compromises by definition are—but it is also indispensable for my constituents. Of this I have no doubt.

At the May 25, 2016 markup of H.R. 5278, a bipartisan coalition of Committee members remained united to defeat multiple amendments designed to kill or severely weaken the bill. Amendments that were adopted strengthen the bill or are purely technical in nature.

I am convinced there is no superior legislative alternative to H.R. 5278 that can obtain the bipartisan support necessary to become law. Wishing there were does not make it so. And my constituents are not helped one iota by wishful thinking. They need swift, concrete action.

Overview

After decades of profound inequality at the federal level and profound mismanagement at the local level, the Puerto Rico government is in crisis, unable to meet its obligations to citizens and creditors. My constituents are leaving for the states in historic numbers, in search of equality and economic opportunity. Those who remain on the island face grave challenges. Everywhere I go in Puerto Rico, I see the concern etched on their faces. They fear for their finances, for their family, and for their future.

In an emergency, the first step is to stabilize the situation. I believe PROMESA can accomplish this objective. It pairs a comprehensive debt restructuring mechanism endorsed by the experts at the United States Treasury Department with an independent and temporary oversight board (which is not a federal entity)—not a heavy-handed control board—to help ensure that the Puerto Rico government conducts itself in a responsible, transparent, and disciplined manner.

I want to begin by underscoring five broad points about the bill before I highlight some specific provisions in the bill.

First, this bill is necessary, but not sufficient. Many commentators, including some of my congressional colleagues, like to cite one cause of the crisis in Puerto Rico, namely mismanagement at the local level. But they ignore the other cause of the crisis, which is inequality at the federal level enabled by Puerto Rico's status as a territory—rather than a state—of the United States. It may give such commentators comfort to blame everything on Puerto Rico, but it is a false comfort rooted in a flawed reading of history. The second-class treatment my constituents are subjected to, a consequence of our second-class status, must end. It will not happen in PROMESA, but I am confident it will happen soon.

Second, nobody is more dissatisfied than I am that the government of Puerto Rico has arrived at the point where an oversight board is being contemplated. The last thing I need is to be lectured to about the importance of democracy and dignity, particularly by those Puerto Rico politicians who prefer for Puerto Rico to remain a territory rather than to become a state or a sovereign nation, and who have therefore been complicit in the denial of democracy and dignity to the people of Puerto Rico. After all, I support statehood for Puerto Rico, because I want the 3.4 million American citizens I represent to have full democratic rights, not fewer democratic rights. Accepting a board is personally, not to mention politically, painful. But it is also the right and necessary thing to do. For those Puerto Rico politicians who seek broad debt restructuring authority but oppose an oversight board—this is not realistic. After intensive negotiations, the bill establishes a board that is robust but reasonable. Its powers are far less potent than the powers that Congress conferred upon the board that it established for the District of Columbia in Public Law 104–8, the District of Columbia Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Act of 1995. This is appropriate because Puerto Rico and the District are different in key respects. (I would note that P.L. 104–8 was supported by the District’s delegate in Congress, my colleague Rep. Eleanor Holmes Norton, and history has vindicated her actions.) The Puerto Rico government and the oversight board should work together as partners for prosperity, not as petty rivals for power. If the Puerto Rico government does its job well, the board will have a limited role and will cease to operate within a few years.

Third, I would never—under any circumstances—support this legislation if it authorized a court-supervised debt restructuring mechanism that is unfair to the over 330,000 workers and retirees in Puerto Rico’s severely underfunded public pension systems. The real threat to pension plan participants in Puerto Rico does not come from congressional action on PROMESA, but rather from the lack of congressional action. Those who argue otherwise may be well-intentioned, but they are wrong.

Fourth, as discussed in further detail below, I oppose Section 403 of the bill, which authorizes the Puerto Rico government to allow island employers to pay certain younger workers—hired after the date of enactment—less than the federal minimum wage for a specified period of time while the oversight board is in existence. In an otherwise bipartisan bill, this is the only instance where ideology can be said to have trumped intelligence. Nevertheless, I do not anticipate that the Puerto Rico government will ever use this authority, so its practical impact will be zero. Therefore, it is not worth discarding the broader bill over this misguided, but ultimately meaningless, provision.

Fifth and finally, there is a genuine emergency in Puerto Rico. I respect those who have concerns with certain aspects of the bill, but urge them to look at the bill holistically. If they do, I think they will find that its pros vastly outweigh its cons. Any public official who opposes this bill has the responsibility to articulate a superior alternative approach that can actually become law. As noted, I do not believe one exists. In my view, the choice is between this imperfect but indispensable bill and no bill at all. And no bill is the worst possible outcome for Puerto Rico and the United States as a whole.

Now I would like to discuss some discrete provisions of H.R. 5278 in additional detail.

The Powers and Responsibilities of the Oversight Board

In general, the oversight board, which is not a federal entity, will provide guardrails for the Puerto Rico government, but will not supplant or replace the territory's elected leaders, who will retain primary control over budgeting and fiscal policymaking.

As per Section 201, the governor of Puerto Rico will develop a long-term fiscal plan—covering at least five fiscal years—that meets broad standards set forth in the law. The fiscal plan must ensure the funding of essential public services, provide adequate funding for public pension systems, estimate revenues and expenditures in accordance with appropriate accounting standards, eliminate structural budget deficits, provide for a sustainable level of debt, improve fiscal governance, provide for capital expenditures that promote economic growth, and respect the relative priorities that different classes of bondholders have vis-à-vis one another under Puerto Rico law. The oversight board will be required to certify the fiscal plan, but the governor will have numerous opportunities to craft a fiscal plan that conforms to the law.

As per Section 202, once a fiscal plan is in place, the governor will prepare a proposed budget that complies with the certified fiscal plan. After the oversight board approves the proposed budget, the proposed budget will be transmitted to the Puerto Rico Legislative Assembly as normal. The governor will have numerous opportunities to craft a compliant budget, incorporating any feedback received from the board. Upon receiving the budget, the Legislative Assembly will retain its constitutional right to modify the budget as it sees fit, so long as the budget continues to be consistent with the certified fiscal plan. Once the board approves the budget adopted by the Legislative Assembly, the certified budget will take effect. Thus, the board would itself step in to craft a multi-year fiscal plan or annual budget only as a last resort, and only in the event that Puerto Rico's elected leaders utterly fail to do the jobs for which they are elected.

As per Section 203, at the end of each quarter during the Puerto Rico fiscal year, the governor will provide a report to the oversight board, describing the revenues, expenditures and cash flows for the preceding quarter, as compared to what was projected to be spent and received in the certified budget. Based on this report and other information available to the board, the board may determine that there is a material inconsistency between what was projected to occur in the certified budget and what actually occurred. If that is the case, the board may ask the Puerto Rico government for additional information to explain the inconsistency and, if the additional information is not sufficient to justify the inconsistency, the board may advise the Puerto Rico government to address the inconsistency through whatever remedial action the Puerto Rico government deems appropriate (for example, reducing spending or increasing revenues). If the Puerto Rico government does not address the inconsistency after being given multiple opportunities to do so, only then will the board be authorized to step in and address the problem. Again, Puerto Rico's fate rests in the hands of its elected leaders, under the broad supervision of the board.

Section 204(a) warrants careful analysis. An earlier version of PROMESA, released as a "discussion draft" on March 29th, required the oversight board to review every legislative act enacted by the Puerto Rico government and to make a determination—in the board's sole discretion—about whether each act was consistent with the certified fiscal plan. If the board determined that the act was consistent with the fiscal plan, the act would be allowed to take effect. However, if the board determined that the act was significantly inconsistent with the fiscal plan, the board was required to declare the act "null and void." This was essentially the procedure in place for the District of Columbia under Public Law 104–8, the District of Columbia Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Act of 1995.

In H.R. 5278, Section 204(a) has been substantially improved. Under the bill, the governor will send each legislative act to the board, but the board can opt not to require the governor to do so. Moreover, as long as the governor provides the board with (1) a "score" of the bill from the Puerto Rico Office of Management and Budget (OMB) or another appropriate entity estimating the impact of the act on expenditures and revenues, and (2) a certification from the Puerto Rico OMB or another appropriate entity that the law is not significantly inconsistent with the certified fiscal plan, then the act is insulated from board review. It would only be if the Puerto Rico government, after being given numerous opportunities, fails to transmit to the board the cost estimate or the certificate of "no significant inconsistency," or if the Puerto Rico government certifies that the law is significantly inconsistent but fails to provide a reasonable explanation for such inconsistency, that the board would even be authorized—rather than required—to prevent enforcement of the legislative act in question. In summary, as long as the Puerto Rico government adheres to the most basic requirements of responsible legislating, it is exceedingly unlikely that any legislative act will ever be reviewed by the board, much less reversed. This is a "good government" provision because the Puerto Rico government should not be enacting legislation without having a reasonable sense of what its fiscal impact will be.

Section 204(b) also requires precise description. The earlier version of PROMESA, released as a discussion draft on March 29th, mandated that the oversight board review every contract, other than "vendor contracts," proposed to be executed by the Puerto Rico government—and did not define the term "vendor contracts." Given that the Puerto Rico government executes over 100,000 contracts annually, this provision—apart from being objectionable as a policy matter—was infeasible as a practical matter.

Like Section 204(a), Section 204(b) has been substantially improved in H.R. 5287. First, it requires the oversight board to work with the Puerto Rico Office of the Comptroller to ensure that government agencies and departments are complying with the existing Puerto Rico law that requires agencies and departments to maintain a registry of all contracts they have executed and to send a copy of those contracts to the Office of the Comptroller, who publishes those contracts in an online database searchable by the public. This is a positive, pro-transparency measure.

Second, Section 204(b) authorizes—but does not require—the board to establish a policy to review certain contracts before they can be executed by the Puerto Rico government to determine whether they are inconsistent with the certified fiscal plan, thereby giving the board the discretion to craft a smart, sensible policy. The bill includes a “Sense of Congress” provision expressing the view that any policy established by the board “should be designed to make the government contracting process more effective, to increase the public’s faith in this process, to make appropriate use of the Oversight Board’s time and resources, to make the territorial government a facilitator of and not a competitor to private enterprise, and to avoid creating any additional bureaucratic obstacles to efficient contracting.” Compare this to Public Law 104–8, the District of Columbia Financial Responsibility and Management Assistance Act of 1995, which authorized the oversight board to pre-review every contract proposed to be executed by the District of Columbia government.

Section 204(b) applies the same reasonable oversight board procedures applicable to contracts to rules, regulations and executive orders as well. This is a dramatic improvement over the March 29th discussion draft, which authorized the board to directly issue rules and regulations, binding upon the people of Puerto Rico, as if the board were the Puerto Rico government.

Section 205 has also been substantially improved from the March 29th discussion draft. The discussion draft, which was drawn more or less verbatim from Public Law 104–8, (1) authorized the oversight board to submit recommendations to the Puerto Rico government regarding steps the government could take to promote financial stability and management efficiency, (2) required the Puerto Rico government to respond in writing as to whether it supported or opposed those recommendations, and then (3) empowered the board to impose its recommendations over the objection of the Puerto Rico government so long as the board provided notice to Congress. Under H.R. 5287, the anti-democratic provision empowering the oversight board to impose its recommendations over the objection of the Puerto Rico government has been removed. The board is still authorized to make policy recommendations and to obtain a written response from the Puerto Rico government regarding whether it will, or will not, implement those recommendations. Section 201 does require the fiscal plan put forward by the Puerto Rico governor to “adopt appropriate recommendations” submitted by the oversight board under Section 205, but the term “appropriate” provides the governor with significant flexibility to adopt sound recommendations and to decline to adopt unsound recommendations. The goal is for the governor and the board to work together for the benefit of the people of Puerto Rico, not to have parallel governing structures.

Section 208 requires the oversight board to submit a report to federal and local officials after each Puerto Rico fiscal year describing what the board has accomplished, how it has spent its funds, and the improvements that Puerto Rico has made. This section also requires the governor to submit a report to the oversight board, which the board must keep confidential, regarding the discretionary tax abatement or tax waiver agreements that the Puerto Rico government has with certain companies doing business on the island, providing these companies with a tax rate lower than the statutory rate.

Section 209 pertains to the termination of the board. The March 29th discussion draft provided that the oversight board would terminate once certain conditions were met, but could “snap back” into operation if certain triggering events subsequently took place. Under H.R. 5287, there is no longer a “snap back” provision. The board will terminate, once and for all, when the specified conditions are met. In terms of those conditions, the earlier draft required the Puerto Rico government to (1) have a balanced budget for five consecutive years and (2) have regained access to the capital markets at reasonable interest rates. H.R. 5287 shortens the time period in (1) to four consecutive years, the same as was required of the District of Columbia in P.L. 104–8.

Section 211 provides that, if the oversight board determines that one of Puerto Rico’s public pension systems is underfunded, the board shall conduct an analysis—prepared by an independent actuary retained by the board—of that pension system. The March 29th discussion draft contained a more ideologically-driven provision that required the Joint Board for the Enrollment of Actuaries to analyze Puerto Rico’s public pension systems, but that was drafted in a way that appeared to encourage the Board’s analysis to reach certain pre-determined conclusions. That language was removed and replaced with the current, impartial language of Section 211.

The debt restructuring framework

Taken together, the relevant provisions of H.R. 5278—including Section 104(i), Section 104(j), Section 201, Section 206, Title III, Section 405, and Title VI—authorize debt-issuing public entities in Puerto Rico to restructure their debts in a federal court-supervised process under certain terms and conditions, if good-faith efforts by an entity to reach a consensual debt-restructuring agreement with its creditors have not borne fruit.

Section 405 imposes a stay on all creditor litigation in order to create a more suitable environment in which debt restructuring negotiations can occur. The stay lasts from date of enactment through February 15, 2017 or six months after the date of enactment, whichever is later. The stay can be extended by up to 75 days if the oversight board determines such an extension is necessary for an entity to reach a consensual agreement with its creditors.

As per Section 206, in order for a debt-issuing entity to access a federal court-supervised restructuring under Title III, the oversight board must determine that (1) the entity has made good-faith efforts to reach a consensual restructuring agreement with creditors, and (2) the entity has made public draft financial statements and adopted procedures necessary to deliver timely audited financial statements. If 5 of the 7 members of the board determine that these criteria have been met, the board shall provide a certification and the debt-issuing entity can access Title III.

Good-faith efforts to reach a consensual restructuring agreement can take different forms, including—but not limited to—use of the “collective action clause” provisions of Title VI of PROMESA. Under this process, a debt-issuing entity can reach agreement with a critical mass of creditors in a particular class or pool (two-thirds of the owners of the outstanding principal in that pool), and that agreement can become binding—that is, enforceable by a court—on “holdout” creditors in the pool. This process will be mediated by the oversight board, called the “Administrative Supervisor” for purposes of Title VI. The debt-issuing entity can propose a particular modification to be voted on by creditors, or creditors can propose a modification that can be accepted by the board on behalf of the debt-issuing entity. But proposed modifications must meet certain standards before they can be voted on and accepted. Any voluntary agreement must be certified by the oversight board before it takes effect. In general, the board must determine that the debt restructuring agreement provides for a sustainable level of debt and that it is consistent with the certified fiscal plan.

Once a debt-issuing entity has accessed Title III, the oversight board—as the representative of the entity—will file the petition to adjust debts and file the plan of adjustment that proposes particular treatment for different classes of creditors (bondholders, government workers, retired government workers, vendors who have sold goods or services to the government). The board may only put forward a plan of adjustment that is consistent with the certified fiscal plan, meaning, among other things, that the plan of adjustment must provide “adequate finding” for public pension systems.

With limited exceptions, the provisions normally applicable in a proceeding under the federal bankruptcy code will apply to a Title III proceeding under PROMESA.

In order to confirm a plan of adjustment, the federal judge must determine, among other things, that the plan (1) is feasible and in the best interests of creditors (which is drawn verbatim from federal bankruptcy law); and (2) is consistent with the certified fiscal plan. The fiscal plan, in turn, is required to provide adequate funding for public pension systems and to “respect the relative lawful priorities or lawful liens, as applicable, in the constitution, other laws, or agreements” in effect in Puerto Rico prior to the date of enactment. This provision does not exempt any creditor from haircuts and simply memorializes what a federal judge would almost certainly do in any event—that is, look to relative payment priorities set forth in applicable state law when administering a debt restructuring process.

In sum, H.R. 5278 gives debt-issuing entities in Puerto Rico strong but fair tools to restructure their unsustainable debt, ideally through consensual, out-of-court agreements, but through a court-supervised process if necessary. It is important to emphasize that I do not view Puerto Rico and its creditors as adversaries engaged in a zero-sum conflict where one side’s gain is another side’s loss. Instead, I regard Puerto Rico and its creditors as passengers on the same distressed ship. We are going to sail safely to shore together, or we are going to sink together.

Labor related provisions

Section 403 relates to the application of the federal minimum wage in Puerto Rico. This provision, which I oppose, has generated controversy, and so it is important to understand exactly what the provision does—and does not—do.

Current federal law allows employers throughout the United States to pay workers up to age 20, in the first 90 days of employment, less than the federal minimum wage of $7.25 per hour, but no less than $4.25 per hour. Section 403 authorizes the governor of Puerto Rico, with the permission of the oversight board, to allow island employers to extend the 90-day period to up to 4 years, but only for Puerto Rico employees hired after the date of enactment. If the governor does not opt in, this provision has no effect. Once the oversight board is terminated, this provision is rendered null and void.

The provision also amends federal law to allow Puerto Rico employers to extend the subminimum wage provision to workers up to age 25, rather than up to age 20. Again, this is only for workers hired after the date of enactment and, again, this provision becomes null and void upon the termination of the oversight board. The Puerto Rico government can simply override this provision by enacting legislation maintaining the age ceiling age at 20.

In short, if the Puerto Rico government does not want to pay workers of any age less than $7.25 per hour for any period of time, it is completely free to take action to ensure that result, by declining to opt in to one provision (extending the 90-day rule) and affirmatively opting out of the other provision (raising the 20-year-old age ceiling).

More generally, this is a deeply misguided provision, even if it will not have any practical effect in Puerto Rico. The people of Puerto Rico are American citizens. Puerto Rico's economy is part of the U.S. economy. As federal policymakers, our objective should be to close the gap between Puerto Rico and the states, not to widen it. The gap exists precisely because the federal government has treated Puerto Rico unequally and unfairly over the years, and so the last thing Congress should be doing is enacting more bills that treat my constituents unequally and unfairly.

As Sergio Marxuach, the policy director at a Puerto Rico-based think tank, the Center for a New Economy, explained in detail during his testimony before the Senate Committee on Energy and Natural Resources on October 22, 2015, the application of the federal minimum wage to Puerto Rico is not the cause of the U.S. territory's economic problems and exempting Puerto Rico from the federal minimum wage is likely to harm, rather than to help, the territory's economy.

The percentage of working-age individuals in Puerto Rico who are working or seeking work in the formal economy—known as the labor participation rate—is very low. It currently stands at under 40 percent, compared to a U.S. national average of over 60 percent. There is a large informal economy in Puerto Rico, meaning many individuals earn income, but do not pay payroll or income taxes on that income and do not accrue benefits like Medicare and Social Security.

Given the specific situation in Puerto Rico, the goal of federal and local policymakers should be to enact policies that encourage island residents, whether they are unemployed or working in the informal economy, to obtain jobs in the formal economy. Authorizing employers in Puerto Rico to pay certain workers under the federal minimum wage would not help achieve this objective.

A recent report by the Puerto Rico Institute of Statistics compared the cost of living in Puerto Rico with approximately 325 urban areas in the United States, and concluded that the overall cost of living in Puerto Rico—encompassing gasoline, energy, food and housing—is 13 percent higher than in those jurisdictions. Residents of Puerto Rico are also required to pay an 11.5 percent sales tax on most purchases, which is the highest sales tax in the nation. It is difficult to see how a worker in Puerto Rico could earn under $7.25 an hour, pay taxes on that income, and still meet his or her most basic needs. The most likely result of exempting Puerto Rico from the federal minimum wage would be to discourage individuals from working in the formal economy, to encourage more individuals to work in the informal economy, to provide an additional incentive for individuals to rely upon government assistance programs rather than to work, and to increase the already-historic level of migration from Puerto Rico to the states. I am not aware of a single economist in Puerto Rico who has argued otherwise.

Rather than authorizing employers in Puerto Rico to pay workers a lower wage, a far more constructive course of action would be for Congress to include Puerto Rico in the federal earned income tax credit program and to fully extend the federal child tax credit program to the territory, as many economists in the states and Puerto Rico have proposed. Nearly every individual in the states who receives a refund check under the EITC and CTC programs does not earn enough to owe a single penny in federal income taxes, so there is no reasonable basis to argue that Puerto Rico residents should not be eligible for these programs because Congress has chosen to exempt territory residents from certain federal income taxes—the usual excuse given by policymakers for Puerto Rico’s discriminatory treatment under the EITC and CTC programs.

Section 404 relates to the U.S. Department of Labor’s (DOL’s) administrative rule. This rule—which became final on May 18, 2016—increases the salary threshold above which an employee is exempt from the overtime provision of the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA), raising it from the current $455 per week ($23,660 per year) to $970 per week ($50,440 per year). Accordingly, executive, administrative, and professional employees making between $455 and $970 per week are now covered by the overtime provisions of the FLSA and entitled to overtime pay for hours worked in excess of 40 per week.

The final DOL rule applies to Puerto Rico employers, even though the Puerto Rico Secretary of Labor requested an exemption from this rule and I expressed concern about my inability to obtain a reasonable estimate about the potential impact of extending the higher salary threshold to Puerto Rico. My concern was rooted in the fact that the White House issued a document to members of Congress that provides a state-by-state breakdown of how many workers in each jurisdiction are likely to be affected by the new rule. As is often the case, however, no breakdown was provided for Puerto Rico. This document was based on a statistical product called the Current Population Survey—jointly prepared by the U.S. Census Bureau and the Department of Labor—that is not conducted in Puerto Rico.

Section 404 will exempt Puerto Rico from the overtime rule. However, the provision requires the Government Accountability Office—within two years of the date of enactment—to prepare a report analyzing the economic impact of including Puerto Rico in the rule. Then, the Department of Labor, using the GAO report and other relevant information, can certify that including Puerto Rico in the rule will not have a negative impact on Puerto Rico's economy. Upon that certification, Puerto Rico will be included in the rule. If the certification is not provided, Puerto Rico will continue to be excluded.

At my request, the provision also includes a "Sense of Congress" that the Census Bureau and the Department of Labor should conduct a study to determine the feasibility of extending the Current Population Survey to Puerto Rico and the other territories, and should request the funding from Congress necessary to conduct that study—about $194,000—if it cannot fund the study with current appropriations.

I support Section 404 in its current form.

Puerto Rico's Political Status

Section 402, included at my request, confirms that nothing in H.R. 5872 shall be interpreted "to restrict Puerto Rico's right to determine its future political status, including by conducting the plebiscite as authorized by Public Law 113-76."

This provision is of critical importance. The American public and their elected representatives must come to terms with a fundamental fact, which is that the main cause of Puerto Rico's economic, fiscal and demographic problems is its undemocratic and unequal political status. As then-Chairman Ron Wyden and then-Ranking Member Lisa Murkowski both recognized during their opening statements at an August 1, 2013 hearing held by the Senate Committee on Energy and Natural Resources, a clear majority of voters in Puerto Rico rejected this status in a locally-sponsored plebiscite held in November 2012. My constituents are now being governed under an arrangement to which they do not consent.

Puerto Rico's status as a territory is not an abstract or theoretical problem. It is a moral, social and political wrong with crushing practical consequences for the men, women and children I represent. There will always be some people and politicians who assert, despite overwhelming evidence to the contrary, that Puerto Rico's consistent underperformance relative to the 50 states over the course of many decades has nothing to do with the unequal treatment that Puerto Rico receives as a territory. There are even people and politicians who claim that Puerto Rico's status is an advantage rather than a disadvantage, though their voices have mostly gone silent in recent years. These people and politicians can always be counted on to find some reason why now is not the moment to address the issue of status. They are wrong on the merits, and they are on the wrong side of history. The time has come for my constituents to have equality in this union or to have independence outside of it. If Puerto Rico can be compared to a weak and fragile body, then territory status is its depleted heart. Puerto Rico has the potential to be strong and stable, but it needs a powerful new heart.

I look forward to the day when the U.S. citizens who reside in Puerto Rico, especially the hundreds of thousands of men and women who have served this nation in the armed forces, can vote for their national leaders and fully participate in debates over national policy that affect every aspect of their lives. I look forward to the day when Puerto Rico will be treated equally as a matter of right, and does not have to beg this Congress for fair treatment. I look forward to the day when my constituents have the exact same rights and responsibilities as my stateside colleagues' constituents—not better treatment, not worse treatment and not “special” treatment.

That new day is just over the horizon. As noted, in a 2012 local plebiscite, Puerto Rico voters rejected territory status. In that same plebiscite, more voters expressed a preference for statehood than for any other status option. Congress responded in January 2014 by enacting an historic law—P.L. 113–76, explicitly referenced in Section 402 of PROMESA—that authorizes, and appropriates $2.5 million in funding for, the first federally-sponsored status plebiscite in the 118 years that Puerto Rico has been a U.S. territory. It is my hope and expectation that, in 2017, the Puerto Rico government will use this authority to conduct a federally-sponsored, yes-or-no plebiscite on whether Puerto Rico should be admitted as a state. In the immediate term, there is much that the Puerto Rico government and the federal government should do to help the territory manage its economic crisis, including—most urgently—swiftly enacting PROMESA. However, for Puerto Rico to truly prosper, it must be treated equally. And to be treated equally, the territory should become a state.

ADDITIONAL VIEWS

Puerto Rico's debt currently exceeds the size of its entire economy. On June 29th of last year, Puerto Rico's governor, Alejandro Garcia Padilla, declared that the Commonwealth's $70 billion in debt "is not payable." According to the U.S. Treasury Department, "Puerto Rico is already in default."¹

The island has been "shut out of the municipal bond market for more than two years and ran out of funding sources traditionally used to finance government operations more than six months ago."² In February, the Puerto Rico government announced that "it had substantial doubt about its ability to operate in the long term."³

The situation in Puerto Rico is close to, or has already become, a humanitarian crisis. Essential services are being cut or reduced. Schools and hospitals, if not already shuttered, face daily electricity or water shortages. Because hospitals don't have money to pay vendors, they are increasingly unable to provide healthcare services. The Obama Administration has grown increasingly concerned about Puerto Rico's ability to "handle a Zika outbreak because of the island's health care system challenges."⁴

As a result of the faltering economy, it is estimated that almost 100,000 Puerto Ricans left the island for better opportunities on the U.S. mainland last year, exacerbating the economic crisis.

H.R. 5278, introduced by Representative Sean Duffy (R-WI) on May 18, 2016, would assist Puerto Rico in restructuring $70 billion in unpayable debt. It is successor legislation to H.R. 4900, also introduced by Representative Duffy on April 12, 2016, as well as several discussion drafts released by the Majority.

The bill would create a process for the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico and the four other U.S. Territories, to restructure their bond debts under the direction of a seven-member Financial Oversight and Management Board ("Oversight Board"), which would have broad powers over the island's budget and finances. The legislation specifies that the Oversight Board is not a federal entity.

Members would be appointed to the Oversight Board by the President, selected from lists submitted by the House Speaker and Minority Leader, and the Senate Majority and Minority Leaders. Importantly, an Oversight Board is created for Puerto Rico, leaving the other Territories with the option to create an Oversight Board if their Governor and legislatures jointly request such an entity.

The bill outlines the conditions and methods by which Puerto Rico's outstanding debt could be restructured in federal court. The legislation would also impose a temporary stay on litigation, which is critically important, so that the Oversight Board can begin its work.

Prior drafts granted the Oversight Board far more sweeping authorities, including the power to fine or imprison public employees. A prior draft also included a provision authorizing conveyance of a portion of the Vieques National Wildlife Refuge to the Commonwealth, which was removed.

Previous drafts included language disadvantaging pension benefits in the restructuring process, as well. According to reports, the Teachers' Retirement System, together with the Public Employees' Retirement System, covering almost 330,000 workers and retirees, are broke, with combined liabilities of $43.2 billion and assets of just $1.8 billion.

The reported bill requires the Fiscal Plan to "provide adequate funding for public pension systems," meaning that the pension system must be made solvent enough to fund accrued pension benefits owed under current law.

Despite these improvements, H.R. 5278 is flawed legislation.

Section 403 expands application of the existing federal subminimum wage ($4.25/hr. for the first 90 days of employment) from covering those under 20 to covering those under 25 in Puerto Rico. It further extends application of the subminimum wage from 90 days to as long as four years, if the Governor requests the extension and the Oversight Board approves.

The authority of the Governor to request an extension expires with the termination of the Oversight Board. The Governor and local legislature retain the ability to increase the minimum wage above $7.25 per hour. While the bill prohibits firing employees for the purpose of replacing them with lower paid workers, Section 403 will only incentivize more workers to leave the island in search of a more livable wage.

Section 404 directs the Secretary of Labor, using a GAO study to be completed within 2 years of enactment, to determine if the new Department of Labor ("DOL") rule on overtime pay would negatively impact the economy of Puerto Rico, if implemented. The new DOL rule expands the pay cap for overtime pay eligibility from $23,660 per year to $47,476 per year. The rule would not apply on Puerto Rico until the determination is made. Like expanding the subminimum wage, delaying or potentially blocking new guarantees for overtime pay will further depress Puerto Rico's labor market.

The Oversight Board's powers are excessive, including the authority to force compliance with its edicts over local objections and override local legislative acts that are inconsistent with a required Fiscal Plan. The bill also gives the Oversight Board further authority to micro-manage Puerto Rico's budget, potentially leading to more devastating budget cuts.

Title V allows proposed construction projects to bypass critical local and Commonwealth-level environmental, public health, and consumer protections. These protections are not barriers to infrastructure upgrades and need not be waived. The real problem is access to capital, which will be addressed by the restructuring provisions, and a culture of mismanagement, addressed by a newly-created Energy Commission. The only precedent for using the approach in Title V for energy upgrades in Puerto Rico occurred between 2010 and 2012 and was an abject failure.

In addition to these harmful provisions, several critical issues are not addressed in H.R. 5278. The bill fails to provide a long-term solution to Puerto Rico's inadequate Medicaid treatment or allow access to the Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC), which would be helpful in increasing the island's meager 45% job participation rate. H.R. 5278 fails to include any federal stimulus funding or authorize supplemental funding to address the spread of the Zika virus on the island.

During Committee consideration of H.R. 5278, Democrats offered amendments to address some of the troubling provisions outlined above; these amendments were largely outside the jurisdiction of this Committee and, therefore, ruled out of order. It is unfortunate that the three other House Committees to which the bill was referred appear to have no plans to consider the bill.

Committee Republicans, meanwhile, sought to completely derail H.R. 5278 through amendments designed to remove or water down agreed-upon provisions such as the stay on litigation or the automatic Oversight Board for Puerto Rico. These and other poison-pill amendments were withdrawn or defeated by bipartisan votes.

H.R. 5278 includes extraneous and potentially counterproductive provisions and does not go far enough in providing protections for pensioners or a real federal investment in the Commonwealth's dying economy.

Measured against an ideal bill, this legislation is flawed. Measured against the on-going humanitarian crisis in Puerto Rico, however, this legislation is a workable compromise and necessary.

Ranking Member, Committee on Natural Resources.
