LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

House of Representatives, Committee on Foreign Affairs, Washington, DC, December 30, 2016.

Honorable Karen L. Haas, Clerk of the House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

Dear Ms. Haas: I enclose herewith an annual report of the Legislative Review and Oversight Activities of the Committee on Foreign Affairs for the 114th Congress in accordance with rule XI of the Rules of the House of Representatives and section 136 of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946, as amended by section 118 of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1970, as amended by Public Law 92-136. This report covers committee activities during the 114th Congress.

Sincerely,

Edward R. Royce, Chairman.
FOREWORD

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
COMMITTEE ON FOREIGN AFFAIRS,

Under section 2 of rule X of the Rules of the House of Representatives, and section 136 of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946 (60 Stat. 832, as amended by section 118 of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1970 (Public Law 91-510) and Public Law 92-136 (1971)), the Committee on Foreign Affairs is charged with reviewing and studying, on a continuing basis, the application, administration, execution, and effectiveness of laws and programs within its jurisdiction.

As part of that oversight, rule XI(1)(d) of the Rules of the House of Representatives require the committee to submit to the House an annual report on committee activities not later than January 2 of each odd-numbered year. This report, which covers committee activities of the 114th Congress, has been prepared and submitted in fulfillment of that obligation.
LEGISLATIVE REVIEW AND OVERSIGHT ACTIVITIES

DECEMBER 30, 2016—Committed to the Committee on the Whole House on the State of the Union and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Royce, from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, submitted the following

REPORT

I. GENERAL REVIEW ACTIVITIES OF THE COMMITTEE

A. Executive Branch Reports and Congressional Notifications

Statutory reporting requirements, and the reports submitted in response to them, constitute one of the oldest information systems used by Congress. On every subject Congress covers, required reports offer a way to oversee and review the implementation of legislation by the executive branch.

In the foreign policy field, it is particularly important to ensure that reporting requirements and the resultant reports submitted by the executive branch are an efficient mechanism for supplying Congress with information. Information on domestic problems is often easier to obtain from sources outside the executive branch than information on problems from abroad. Moreover, the executive branch has sometimes attempted to shield its activities in the foreign policy field from public view and treat it as its exclusive domain. The lack of information on foreign policy problems and executive branch activities has been one of the major reasons it has been more difficult for Congress to play its legitimate role in the making of foreign policy, although the Constitution expressly shares such powers between Congress and the President.

For the Committee on Foreign Affairs, the improvement of the system of required reports offers more than tidier housekeeping. It offers another step toward a better supply of information that Congress needs to make foreign policy decisions. Through the careful placing of reporting requirements in legislation, the patient monitoring of the reports submitted by the executive branch in response to the requirements and utilization of the data supplied in them,
Congress can improve its capacity for an effective foreign policy role.

Committee staff also conducts a regular and robust review of congressional notifications and reports regarding the proposed obligation or reprogramming of funding for various program activities by our agencies of jurisdiction. From the start of this Congress through December 15, 2016, the committee has received 1963 notifications and reports from the Department of State, 550 from the United States Agency for International Development, 347 from the Defense Security Cooperation Agency, 81 from the Securities and Exchange Commission, 112 from the Department of Defense, 31 from the Millennium Challenge Corporation, 22 from the United States Trade and Development Agency, and 3 from the Broadcasting Board of Governors.

B. Reference Documents

Periodically the Committee on Foreign Affairs compiles, prints, and distributes official documents which are useful to the membership in exercising the oversight function as well as other responsibilities. These include the Legislation on Foreign Relations. This set is prepared under the direction of the staff of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs and the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations with the assistance of the Foreign Affairs, Defense, and Trade Division of the Congressional Research Service of the Library of Congress. This collection of laws and related materials contains texts referred to by the Committee on Foreign Affairs, and the Foreign Relations Committee, amended to date, and annotated to show pertinent history or cross references. The collection includes all laws concerning foreign relations, codified and in force, treaties in force, as well as executive agreements and orders, State Department regulations and State Department delegations of authorities.
