TITLE I—COUNTERING RUSSIAN CYBER INTRUSIONS

SEC. 101. SHORT TITLE.
This title may be cited as the “Russian Cyber Intrusions Sanctions Act of 2017”.

SEC. 102. FINDINGS.
Congress makes the following findings:

(1) On October 7, 2016, the Department of Homeland Security and the Office of the Director of National Intelligence stated, the “U.S. Intelligence Community (USIC) is confident that the Russian government directed the recent compromises of e-mails from U.S. persons and institutions, including from U.S. political organizations. The recent disclosures of alleged hacked e-mails on sites like DCLeaks.com and WikiLeaks and by the Guccifer 2.0 online persona are consistent with the methods and motivations of Russian-directed efforts.”. The statement concluded that “only Russia’s senior-most officials could have authorized these activities”.

(2) On April 1, 2015, President Barack Obama issued Executive Order 13694 (80 Fed. Reg. 18077; relating to blocking the property of certain persons engaging in significant malicious cyber-enabled activities), which authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury, in consultation with the Attorney General and the Secretary of State, to impose sanctions on persons determined to be engaged in malicious cyber-hacking.

(3) On July 26, 2016, President Obama approved a Presidential Policy Directive on United States Cyber Incident Coordination, which states, “certain cyber incidents that have significant impacts on an entity, our national security, or the broader economy require a unique approach to response efforts”.

(4) On December 29, 2016, President Obama issued an annex to Executive Order 13694, which authorized sanctions on the following entities and individuals:

(A) The Main Intelligence Directorate (also known as Glavnoe Razvedyvatel’noe Upravlenie or the GRU) in Moscow, Russian Federation.

(B) The Federal Security Service (also known as Federalnaya Sluzhba Bezopasnosti or the FSB) in Moscow, Russian Federation.

(C) The Special Technology Center (also known as STLC, Ltd. Special Technology Center St. Petersburg) in St. Petersburg, Russian Federation.

(D) Zorsecurity (also known as Esage Lab) in Moscow, Russian Federation.

(E) The autonomous noncommercial organization known as the Professional Association of Designers of Data Processing Systems (also known as ANO PO KSI) in Moscow, Russian Federation.

(F) Igor Valentinovich Korobov.

(G) Sergey Aleksandrovich Gizunov.

(H) Igor Olegovich Kostyukov.

(I) Vladimir Stepanovich Alexseyev.

(5) On January 6, 2017, an assessment of the United States intelligence community entitled, “Assessing Russian Activities and Intentions in Recent U.S. Elections” stated, “Russian President Vladimir Putin ordered an influence campaign in 2016 aimed at the United States presidential election. Russia’s goals were to undermine public faith in the United States democratic process, denigrate Secretary Clinton, and harm her electability and potential presidency.”. The intelligence community “did not make an assessment of the impact that Russian activities had on the outcome of the 2016 election”. The as-assessment warns that “Moscow will apply lessons learned from its Putin-ordered campaign aimed at the U.S. Presidential election to future influence efforts worldwide, including against U.S. allies and their election processes”.

TITLE II—COUNTERING RUSSIAN AGGRESSION

SEC. 201. SHORT TITLE.

The title may be cited as the “Countering Russian Aggression Act of 2017”.

SEC. 202. FINDINGS.

Congress makes the following findings:

(1) The Government of the Russian Federation continues to violate its commitments under the Conference on Security and Co-operation in Europe Final Act, concluded at Helsinki August 1, 1975 (commonly referred to as the “Helsinki Final Act”), which laid the groundwork for the establishment of the Organization for Security and Co-operation in Europe, of which the Russian Federation is a member, by its illegal annexation of Crimea in 2014, its illegal occupation of South Ossetia and Abkhazia in Georgia in 2008, and its ongoing destabilizing activities in eastern Ukraine.

(2) The Government of the Russian Federation has ignored the terms of the August 2008 cease-fire agreement relating to Georgia, which requires the withdrawal of Russian troops, free access by humanitarian groups to the regions of South Ossetia and Abkhazia, and monitoring of the conflict areas by the European Union Monitoring Mission.

(3) The Government of the Russian Federation is failing to comply with the terms of the Minsk Agreement to address the ongoing conflict in eastern Ukraine, signed in Minsk, Belarus, on February 11, 2015, by the leaders of Ukraine, Russia, France, and Germany, as well as the Minsk Protocol, which was agreed to on September 5, 2014 (in this Act collectively referred to as the “Minsk Agreements”).

(4) On October 7, 2016, United States Secretary of State John Kerry, addressing the conflict in Syria, said “Russia and the regime owe the world more than an explanation about why they keep hitting hospitals, and medical facilities, and children and women. . . . These are acts that beg for an appropriate investigation of war crimes, and those who commit these would and should be held accountable for these actions. . . . This is a targeted strategy to terrorize civilians.”.

SEC. 203. SENSE OF CONGRESS.

It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) the President should call on all parties to fully implement the Minsk Agreement to address the ongoing conflict in Eastern Ukraine signed in Minsk, Belarus, on February 11, 2015, by the leaders of Ukraine, Russia, France, and Germany as well as the Minsk Protocol agreed to on September 5, 2014; and

(2) the Department of State’s Office of Global

TITLE III—EUROPE AND EURASIA DEMOCRACY AND ANTI-CORRUPTION INITIATIVE

SEC. 301. SHORT TITLE.

The title may be cited as the “Europe and Eurasia Democracy and Anti-Corruption Initiative Act of 2017”.

SEC. 302. FINDINGS.

Congress makes the following findings:

(1) The Government of the Russian Federation has sought to exert influence throughout Europe and Eurasia, including in the former states of the Soviet Union, by overtly and covertly providing resources to political parties, think tanks, and civil society groups that sow distrust in democratic institutions and actors, promote xenophobic and illiberal views, and otherwise undermine European unity. The Government of the Russian Federation has also engaged in well-documented corruption practices as a means toward undermining and buying influence in those European countries.

(2) The Government of the Russian Federation has largely eliminated a once vibrant Russian-language independent media sector, and severely curtails free and independent media within the borders of the Russian Federation. State-funded and controlled Russian-language media disseminated within and outside of the Russian Federation routinely traffic in anti-Western falsehoods and disinformation, while few independent, fact-based media sources provide objective reporting for Russian-speaking audiences inside or outside of the Russian Federation.

(3) Multinational corporations headquartered in the United States and European countries, and their subsidiaries and local franchisees, advertise on media outlets controlled and funded by the Government of the Russian Federation and are known to routinely traffic in anti-Western falsehoods and disinformation.

(4) Acting Undersecretary of the Treasury for Terrorism and Financial Crimes Adam Szubin stated on January 25, 2016, regarding Vladimir Putin, “We’ve seen him enriching his friends, his close allies, and marginalizing those who he doesn’t view as friends using state assets. Whether that’s Russia’s energy wealth, whether it’s other state contracts, he directs those to whom he believes will serve him and excludes those who don’t.”

(5) Many of President Putin’s inner circle and their families hold investments in the West, including in the United States, use the United States financial system, and enjoy freedom of movement in the United States and around the world.

SEC. 303. SENSE OF CONGRESS.

It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) the countries of Europe and Eurasia should redouble efforts to build resilience within their political systems and civil society to counter efforts of the Government of the Russian Federation to exert malign influence and undermine democratic institutions;

(2) misinformation generated by the Russian Federation, which is distributed in a variety of languages and through overt and covert channels, including traditional as well as social media, is polluting the information space, drowning out competing information, fanning pre-existing social, ecoномie, and political tensions, promoting conspiracies, and confusing and distracting its audiences;

(3) the United States should identify areas of cooperation with countries throughout the region that are vulnerable to Russian aggression, зинforation, and hybrid warfare;

(4) the United States should encourage the establiment of a commission for media freedom within the Council of Europe, modeled on the Venice Commission regarding rule of law issues, that would be chartered to provide governments with expert recommendations on maintaining legal and regulatory regimes supportive of free and independent media and an informed citizenry able to distinguish between fact-based reporting, opinion, and disinformation;

(5) the United States should encourage memers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (in this section referred to as “NATO”) at the 2017 NATO Summit to prioritize the development of a program within the NATO alliance to improve intelligence cooperation among member states to combat corruption efforts in Europe by the Russian Federation, including the use by the Government of the Russian Federation of corruption to pressure the countries of Central and Eastern Europe to abandon democratic institutions;

(6) the United States should—

(A) encourage full compliance with the Convention on Combating Bribery of Foreign Public Officials in International Business Transactions (commonly referred to as the “Anti-Bribery Convention”) of the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (in this section referred to as the “OECD”);

(B) promote accession beyond the current 40 state parties to the Convention; and

(C) require robust implementation from those countries, like the Russian Federation, that seek to join the OECD;

(7) it is vital to protect the integrity of the United States financial system from being used to shield illicit financial activity by officials of the Russian Federation and individuals in President Vladimir Putin’s inner circle who have been enriched through corruption;

(8) the United States should investigate and prosecute cases of corruption by Russian actors that use the United States financial system to shield illicit gains and support the efforts of allies of the United States to do the same;

(9) the production and exportation from the Russian Federation of conventional energy provides a stable and abundant source of revenue for the Russian Federation to undermine democratic institutions in Ukraine and elsewhere in Central and Eastern Europe; and
(10) the President of the United States should actively use the authorizations under the Sergei Magnitsky Rule of Law Accountability Act of 2012 (22 U.S.C. 5811 note) to sanction those responsible for Mr. Magnitsky’s death and the officials of the Russian Federation found complicit in gross violations of human rights.

such flows interact with the United States financial system;

(2) working with liaison officers in key United States embassies, especially in Europe, to work with local authorities to uncover and prosecute the networks responsible for the illicit financial flows described in paragraph (1); and

(3) seeking to expand the number of real estate geographic targeting orders beyond the number of cities to which such orders apply as of the date of the enactment of this Act to capture more links to illicit financial flows.
