United States; and states that nothing in the constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States, or of any particular state. Currently, the federal government possesses approximately 1.8 billion acres of land. The U.S. constitution specifically addresses the relationship of the federal government to land.

The Property Clause gives Congress plenary power and full-authority over federal property. The U.S. Supreme Court has described Congress's power to legislate under this Clause as "without limitation." This Act falls squarely within the express constitutional power set forth in the Property Clause.
