House of Representatives

FRIDAY, MARCH 10, 2017

The House met at 9 a.m. and was called to order by the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. JENKINS of West Virginia).

DESIGNATION OF THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following communication from the Speaker:

WASHINGTON, DC, March 10, 2017.

I hereby appoint the Honorable EVAN H. JENKINS to act as Speaker pro tempore on this day.

PAUL D. RYAN,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, the Reverend Patrick J. Conroy, offered the following prayer:

Loving God, thank You for giving us another day.

Be with each of us that we might be our very best, and prove ourselves worthy of Your love and Your grace. Bless our President and those who work in the executive branch and the Supreme Court with Your wisdom and good judgment.

Be with the Members of this people’s House in their work and deliberations this day that they might merit the trust of the American people and manifest the strength of our democracy to the nations of the world.

CELEBRATING MARS PETCARE FOR TWO MILLION MAN HOUR SAFETY AWARD

(Mr. WOMACK asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. WOMACK. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Mars, Incorporated, and Mars Petcare’s Fort Smith, Arkansas, facility which was recently honored with the Two Million Man Hour Safety Award from the Arkansas Department of Labor.

As a family-owned business since its founding in 1911, Mars has been a leading example of corporate responsibility practices that benefit their dedicated employees and the communities in which they operate.

Since Mars first opened the doors of its Petcare facility in Fort Smith in 2007, they have provided stable employment to over 200 Mars associates who are responsible for making food for our pets under the brand names Cesar, Nutro, and Sheba.

Impressively, Mars’ Fort Smith facility has accumulated 2 million work hours over 5 years without a lost day away from work due to a work-related injury or illness, a direct testament to the great workforce in Fort Smith and the leadership of the Mars organization.

In addition to their excellent safety record, Mars has had a significant impact on my district’s local economy. Recently, Mars Petcare announced plans to expand the Fort Smith facility, which is expected to generate an additional 130 new jobs over the next several years.

On behalf of everyone in northwest Arkansas, I am happy to celebrate this important milestone with Mars’ Fort Smith facility, and I thank Mars for its continued dedication to our community.
CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — HOUSE
March 10, 2017

WORKING FAMILIES DESERVE BETTER THAN TRUMPCARE
(Mr. CICILLINE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)
Mr. CICILLINE. Mr. Speaker, right now Republicans are racing to pass TrumpCare, legislation that repeals and replaces the Affordable Care Act. They are racing to pass it to because they know when the American people find out what is in this bill, they won’t support it.
But let me tell you what TrumpCare does. Mr. Speaker, it gives huge tax cuts to insurance companies and the top 1 percent. It allows insurance companies to raise premiums by 25 percent for older Americans. It eliminates funding for Planned Parenthood, denying millions of women critical care.
It cuts lifesaving support for the most vulnerable: children, Americas with disabilities, the frail elderly, and nursing home residents.
And it slashes funding for Medicaid.
TrumpCare is a great deal for the wealthy. TrumpCare is a great deal for insurance companies and drug companies. It is a raw deal for everyone else.
Millions will lose healthcare coverage. And let’s be clear, people are going to die when this happens. Millions more will end up paying for more lower quality care, and Republicans don’t even have a plan to pay for their proposal.
After 7 years, this is it. This is the best they have got: tax cuts for the rich and bad health care for everyone else.
Working families deserve better.

CONGRATULATING THE GENEVA VIKINGS
(Mr. HULTGREN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)
Mr. HULTGREN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate the Geneva Vikings girls basketball team on winning their first Class 4A State championship at ISU’s Redbird Arena on Saturday.
Facing the Edwardsville Tigers, the Geneva High School girls fought a close back-and-forth game until its final minutes.
Beating an unbeaten team is no small feat. With just 3.7 seconds left on the clock, junior guard Stephanie Hart made a shot to give the Vikings a one-point lead. As center Grace Loberg then stole the ball from the Tigers to run out the clock, the Tigers were unable to answer, giving Geneva the win, 41-40.
Virtually the same thing had happened in the semifinal the day before, when junior guard Margaret Whitley scored a game-winning point with just seconds left.
Clearly, the Vikings do well under pressure. I applaud Coach Sarah Meadduring World War II with a deep humility that defines the Greatest Generation. He said: “We were there to do the job, and we did it. And I came back.”

Our country can never repay Charles for his service and sacrifice, but we can stand as a grateful nation to honor his life and legacy with our deepest respect.

Our thoughts and prayers are with his wife, Helen, and the rest of the Geraci family.

Truly, it is men and women like Charles Geraci whom we can credit for the gift of freedom that we are able to pass along to our children and grandchildren. They protected and preserved that gift with their very lives. For that, we remain eternally grateful.

PRESERVING HEALTH CARE FOR VETERANS

(Mr. GALLEGO asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. GALLEGO. Mr. Speaker, today I rise as a proud marine on behalf of countless veterans across America whose healthcare options will vanish if House Republicans succeed in repealing the Affordable Care Act. The ACA has provided an invaluable safety net for our Nation’s veterans, fulfilling critical gaps in coverage within the VA system.

Mr. Speaker, in the first 2 years after the ACA’s implementation, the rate of uninsured veterans dropped by an astonishing 43 percent. This was largely due to the fact that, through the ACA’s Medicaid expansion, 7 out of 10 previously uninsured veterans became eligible for coverage.

The Republicans’ so-called repeal-and-replace plan would slash veterans’ options by abandoning our commitment to a more inclusive Medicaid program. Democrats refuse to compromise on care for our Nation’s heroes, and we absolutely refuse to compromise in the fight to preserve the lifesaving Affordable Care Act.

THE PEOPLE’S RIGHTS AMENDMENT

(Mr. MCGOVERN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, it has been 7 years since the dreadful Citizens United ruling.

In upholding the rights of corporations to donate to political campaigns under the First Amendment, the Supreme Court created an election system that is now corrupted by limitless, unregulated donations. Ordinary citizens are left powerless, and politicians are increasingly beholden to wealthy special interests.

Since Citizens United, we have seen a major telecommunications company, oil companies, and the tobacco industry all attempt to dismantle regulations and disclosure rules by claiming First Amendment rights. Today, I am reintroducing the People’s Rights Amendment to overturn Citizens United and declare, once and for all, that corporations are not people.

The Constitution was never intended to give corporations the same rights as the American people. Corporations don’t breathe; they don’t have kids; they don’t die in wars.

The Preamble to the Constitution is “We the people,” not “We the corporations.”

Let us hope this Congress doesn’t forget that.

LAWSUIT ABUSE REDUCTION ACT OF 2017

Mr. GOODLATTE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous materials on H.R. 720.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Virginia?

There is none.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to House Resolution 180 and rule XVIII, the Chair declares the House in the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union for the consideration of the bill, H.R. 720.

The Chair appoints the gentleman from West Virginia (Mr. JENKINS) to preside over the Committee of the Whole.

IN THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

Accordingly, the House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union for the consideration of the bill (H.R. 720) to amend Rule 11 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure to improve attorney accountability, and for other purposes, with Mr. JENKINS of West Virginia in the chair.

The Clerk read the title of the bill. The CHAIR. Pursuant to the rule, the bill is considered read the first time. The gentleman from Virginia (Mr. GOODLATTE) and the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CONyers) each will control 30 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Virginia.

Mr. GOODLATTE. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

H.R. 720, the Lawsuit Abuse Reduction Act, would restore mandatory sanctions for frivolous lawsuits filed in Federal court.

Many Americans may not realize it, but today, under what is called rule 11 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, there is no requirement that those who file frivolous lawsuits pay for the unjustified legal costs they impose on their victims, even when those victims prove to a judge the lawsuit was without any basis in law or fact.

As a result, the current rule 11 goes largely unenforced because the victims of frivolous lawsuits have little incentive to pursue additional litigation to have the case declared frivolous when there is no guarantee of compensation at the end of the day.

H.R. 720 would finally provide light at the end of the tunnel for the victims of frivolous lawsuits by requiring sanctions against the filers of frivolous lawsuits, sanctions which include paying back victims for the full cost of their reasonable expenses incurred as a direct result of the rule 11 violation, including attorneys’ fees.

The bill also strikes the current provisions in rule 11 that allow lawyers to avoid sanctions for making frivolous claims and demands by simply withdrawing them within 21 days. This change eliminates the “free pass” lawyers now have to file frivolous lawsuits in Federal court.

The current lack of mandatory sanctions would no longer be able to get off scot-free and, therefore, they couldn’t get away with those sorts of extortionary threats any longer.

The victims of lawsuits abuse are not just those who are actually sued. Rather, we all suffer under a system in which innocent Americans everywhere live under the constant fear of a potentially bankrupting frivolous lawsuit.

As the former chairman of The Home Depot company has written: “An unpredictable legal system casts a shadow over every plan and investment. It is devastating for startups. The cost of even one ill-timed abusive lawsuit can bankrupt a growing company and cost hundreds of thousands of jobs.”

The prevalence of frivolous lawsuits in America is reflected in the absurd warning labels companies must place on their products to limit their exposure to frivolous claims. A 5-inch brass fish heavily labeled “Harmful if swallowed.” A household iron contains the warning “Never iron clothes while they are being worn.” A piece of ovenware warns, “Ovenware will get hot when used in oven.”

And here are just a couple of examples of frivolous lawsuits brought in Federal court, where judges failed to award compensation to the victims:
A man sued a television network for $2.5 million because he said a show it aired raised his blood pressure. When the network publicized his frivolous lawsuit, he demanded the court make them stop. Although the court found the case frivolous, not only did it not comply with the rule, it granted the man who filed the frivolous lawsuit an exemption from even paying the ordinary court filing fees.

In another case, lawyers filed a case against a parent, claiming the parent’s discipline of their child violated the Eighth Amendment of the Constitution, which prohibits cruel and unusual punishment by the government, not private citizens. One of the lawyers even admitted signing the complaint without reading it.

The court found the case frivolous, but awarded the victim only about a quarter of its legal costs because rule 11 currently doesn’t require that a victim’s legal costs be paid in full. The Lawsuit Abuse Reduction Act would change that.

I thank the former chairman of the Judiciary Committee, LAMAR SMITH, for introducing this simple, commonsense legislation that would do so much to prevent lawsuit abuse and restore Americans’ confidence in the legal system. I urge my colleagues to support it today.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. CONyers. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I rise in strong opposition to H.R. 720, the so-called Lawsuit Abuse Reduction Act.

This bill amends rule 11 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure in ways that will chill the advancement of civil rights claims and increase exponentially the volume and costs of litigation in the Federal courts.

These concerns are not hypothetical. H.R. 720, as the deeply flawed version of rule 11 in effect from 1983 to 1993 in two ways: by requiring mandatory sanctions for even unintentional violations rather than leaving the imposition of sanctions to the court’s discretion, as is currently the case; and secondly, by eliminating the current rule’s 21-day safe harbor provision, which allows the defending party to correct or withdraw allegedly offending submissions.

Similarly, H.R. 720 will have a disastrous impact on the administration of justice in numerous ways. To begin with, the bill will chill legitimate civil rights litigation, which, to me, of course, is very important.

Civil rights cases often raise novel legal arguments, which made such cases particularly susceptible to sanction motions under the 1983 rule. For example, a Federal Judicial Center study found that the incidence of rule 11 motions under the 1983 rule was “highly disproportionate” to the relative number of rule 11 cases held in those courts than in some other types of cases.”

Another study showed that, while civil rights cases comprised about 11 percent of the cases filed, more than 22 percent of the cases in which sanctions had been imposed were, in fact, civil rights cases.

Under the 1983 rule, civil rights cases were clearly disadvantaged. Yet, H.R. 720 would reserve this problematic regime.

Although the bill’s rule of construction is a welcome acknowledgment of the problem, it does nothing to prevent defendants from using rule 11 as a weapon to discourage civil rights plaintiffs. Even landmark cases like Brown v. Board of Education might not have been pursued had H.R. 720’s changes to rule 11 been in effect at that time, because the legal arguments in the case were novel and not based on then-existing law.

In addition, H.R. 720 will substantially increase the amount, cost, and intensity of civil litigation and create more grounds for unnecessary delay and harassment in the courtroom itself.

By making sanctions mandatory and having no safe harbor, the 1983 rule spawned a cottage industry of rule 11 litigation. Each party had a financial incentive to tie up the other in rule 11 proceedings.

We heard testimony on a previous version of this bill that almost one-third of all Federal lawsuits during the decade that the 1983 rule was in effect were burdened by such satellite litigation, where the parties tried the underlying case and then put each side’s counsel on trial.

Finally, H.R. 720 strips the judiciary of its discretion and independence. H.R. 720 overrides judicial independence by removing the discretion that rule 11 currently gives judges in determining whether to impose sanctions and what type of sanctions would be most appropriate. It also circumvents the painstakingly thorough Rules Enabling Act process that Congress established more than 80 years ago.

For all of these reasons, I urge my colleagues to join us in opposing this highly problematic legislation.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. SMITH of Texas. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, the Lawsuit Abuse Reduction Act, known as LARA, is just plain wrong, but it would prevent the filing of thousands of frivolous lawsuits in Federal courts. These absurd lawsuits cost many innocent families their savings and often ruin their reputations.

Frivolous lawsuits have been filed against a weather channel for failing to accurately predict storms, against television shows people claimed were too scary, against a university that awarded a low grade, and against a high school that dropped a member from the track team.

Lawyers who bring these cases have everything to gain and nothing to lose under current rules, which allow plaintiffs’ lawyers to file frivolous suits without any penalty. Meanwhile, defendants are often faced with years of litigation and substantial attorneys’ fees.

Prior to 1993, it was mandatory for judges to impose sanctions, such as ordealing costs, for frivolous lawsuits, when lawyers filed frivolous lawsuits. Then, the Civil Rules Advisory Committee, an obscure branch of the courts, made penalties optional. This needs to be reversed by Congress. LARA requires lawyers who file frivolous lawsuits to pay attorneys’ fees and court costs of innocent defendants. This will serve as a disincentive to file junk lawsuits.

Further, LARA specifically requires that no changes “shall be construed to bar or impede the assertion or development of new claims, defenses, or remedies under Federal, State, or local laws, including civil rights laws, or under the Constitution of the United States itself.”

So civil rights law would not be affected in any way by LARA, and that might go a long way to reassuring the ranking member’s concerns about its impact on civil rights.

Opponents argue that reinstating mandatory sanctions for frivolous lawsuits impedes judicial discretion, but this is false. Under LARA, judges retain the discretion to determine whether or not a claim is frivolous. If a judge determines that a claim is frivolous, then they must award sanctions. This ensures that victims of frivolous lawsuits obtain compensation. But the decision to determine whether a claim is frivolous or not remains with the judge.

The American people are looking for solutions to obvious lawsuit abuse. LARA restores accountability to our legal system by reinstating sanctions for attorneys who are found by a judge to have filed frivolous lawsuits. Though it will not stop all lawsuit abuse, LARA encourages attorneys to think twice before making an innocent party’s life miserable.

These attorneys engage in legalized extortion and try to force individuals to settle out of court instead of paying huge legal costs. There is currently no disincentive to deter attorneys from filing frivolous cases. By requiring attorneys who file frivolous lawsuits to pay the court costs of those they sue, such lawsuits will be discouraged.

I thank Chairman GOODLATTE, the chairman of the Committee on the Judiciary, for bringing this much-needed legislation to the House floor. I ask my colleagues who oppose frivolous lawsuits and who want to protect innocent Americans from false charges to support the Lawsuit Abuse Reduction Act.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. CONyers. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from New York (Mr. NADLER).
the senior member of the House Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Chairman, I rise in opposition to H.R. 720, the Lawsuit Abuse Reduction Act. This bill is supposedly aimed at preventing frivolous litigation, which it would, in fact, create a whole new set of litigation, further clogging our overburdened Federal courts.

Under rule 11 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, a court may impose sanctions against a party that files a frivolous case or motion. A party subject to a rule 11 violation has a 21-day safe harbor period to withdraw or correct its filing, and sanctions are purely discretionary. This rule serves a vital role in maintaining the integrity of our legal system without creating a chilling effect on presenting novel claims. Judges, when they see frivolous suits, can sanction them and do.

This bill, however, would restore a failed version of rule 11 that was enacted by the Judicial Conference in 1983, but which was repealed 10 years later because it led to disastrous results. Under this bill, sanctions would be mandatory whenever a court rules that rule 11 has been violated. The safe harbor period, when filings can be withdrawn or corrected, would be eliminated.

We do not have to speculate about what would happen as a result of this bill because we have a decade of experience with the 1983 amendments, there were almost 7,000 reported rule 11 cases, becoming part of approximately one-third of all Federal civil lawsuits. The old version of the rule 11 became two cases, one on the merits and the other on a set of dueling rule 11 affidavits by both parties. The drain on the courts and the parties’ resources caused the Judicial Conference to reevaluate the rule and adopt the changes that this bill would now have us undo.

More troubling was the 1983 rule’s impact on civil rights cases, which are often based on novel claims that require significant discovery to establish. A 1991 Federal Judicial Center study found that whereas civil rights cases made up 11.4 percent of Federal cases filed, they constituted 22.7 percent of the cases in which sanctions were imposed. If we return to the old rule, we could see a chilling effect in which unintended, but no less vast, civil rights claims are never brought for fear of sanctions.

The courts have ample authority to sanction conduct that undermines the integrity of our legal system. But this legislation is not just a solution in search of a problem. By taking us back to a time when rule 11 actually promoted routine, costly, and unnecessary litigation, this bill is a cure worse than the disease.

Given that we already know this bill will be a failure, one wonders how it would survive its own rule 11 motion if Congress had such a thing. The courts, the trial judges, are the real problem. The disastrous results, rightly rejected this approach 20 years ago, and we should reject it again. I urge a “no” vote.

Mr. SMITH of Texas. Mr. Chairman, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentlewoman from Ohio (Ms. CHABOT), a senior member of the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. CHABOT. Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong support of the Lawsuit Abuse Reduction Act. I want to commend my colleague from Texas (Mr. SMITH) for his leadership on this important bill. Mr. SMITH, of course, is who is now the chairman of the Committee on Science, Space, and Technology, was, for a number of years, the chairman of the Committee on Science, and we have a long reputation, much experience in trying to find ways to make the legal system work better for more people all across the country, and this is part of that, because there is a huge cost associated with the abusive lawsuits that have been filed for many years in this country.

Businesses are a popular target for frivolous lawsuits that lack any legal or factual basis. These lawsuits can easily result in hundreds of thousands of dollars in discovery and legal costs. Small businesses oftentimes don’t have the financial resources to obtain a dismissal or sometimes even good legal counsel, and, therefore, their only option, in many cases, is to settle the case. In fact, many businesses and other entities put aside—insurance companies do this as well—a nuisance value of many of these cases because they realize so many cases are basically filed for not really legitimate reasons but because there is a cash payout at the end of this, and some who are able to will actually put that in their budget. But these expenses don’t just cost small businesses time and productivity. Too often they force small businesses into bankruptcy, and that means real people lose their jobs. This happens thousands and thousands and thousands of times all across this country.

Mr. Chairman, as chairman of the House Committee on Small Business, I cannot emphasize enough that we absolutely cannot afford to lose any more small businesses in this country and the associated jobs that go with them.

By ensuring that there are penalties for lawyers filing frivolous lawsuits, H.R. 720 will deter abusive litigation practices that pose a real threat to the stability of many small businesses all across this country. After all, small businesses are the backbone of the economy. About 70 percent of the new jobs and growth in this economy nowadays are created by small-business folks, so we should do everything we can to make sure that they are successful and able to hire more and more Americans so that we can get this economy moving again.

I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 720. I again thank Mr. SMITH for putting forth this very wise and thoughtful legislation which I think will go a long way toward improving the legal system that we have in this country.

Mr. CONYERS. Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to yield 4 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON LEE).

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Chairman, I thank the ranking member of the Committee on the Judiciary for his distinguished service and my good friend from Texas for his managing of this bill on which we have a vigorous and active disagreement, but realize that the role of the Committee on the Judiciary is to enhance justice for all Americans, no matter what size business, what ethnicity, racial background, what issue they bring, whether they bring a constitutional issue or whether they are for criminal justice.

That is why I rise to oppose this legislation, for it is important that we monitor, promote, codify, and respect justice. I oppose the legislation that, I hope, restore a conflicted version of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 11, in effect from 1983 to 1993. I use as a premise of my argument a letter a committee on Rules of Practice and Procedure of the Judicial Conference of the United States, in particular written by two distinguished Federal judges from Arizona, the chair of the Committee on Rules and the chair of the Advisory Committee on Rules, both Federal district court judges. But more importantly, my luck was to meet with a series of judges in the past week. Federal judges, Republican appointees and some Democratic appointees, and there was a vocal outcry of the outrage of this legislation, and not just begging that this legislation not be put in place.

Let me give you a description from the Federal courts, recognizing: “We of course share the desire of the sponsors of LARA to improve the civil justice system”—and that is the Lawsuit Abuse Reduction Act—“in our Federal courts, including the desire to reduce frivolous filings. But LARA creates a cure worse than the problem it is meant to solve.”

I, too, am concerned about small businesses. That is why we need to proceed as we are proceeding. It gives thoughtful judges the ability to protect those entities. The facts do not, according to the letter, support any assumption that mandatory sanctions deter frivolous filings.

“A decade of experience with the 1993 mandatory sanctions provision,” they go on to say, “demonstrated that it failed to provide meaningful relief from the litigation behavior it was meant to address, and instead generated wasteful satellite litigation that had little to do with the merits of cases."

What good is that for the small litigant? What good will they have when they might be subject to satellite litigation and Mr. Chairman, if you insisted they would want to return to the failed, discredited sanction regime rightly abandoned in 1993? H.R. 720 would require courts to impose monetary sanctions for any rule 11 violation, eliminating the sanction scheme provided for in the current law that allows attorneys to correct or withdraw a filing before rule 11 proceedings commence. That is justice: I made a mistake, I want to withdraw it. I am suing a small business, I have a different perspective. I know the facts, let me withdraw it.

The cost-shifting provision was eliminated by the courts because it encouraged satellite litigation, and many cases required parallel proceedings. Here is the worst of it: Suppose we were back in 1954. Would Brown v. Board of Education be a frivolous lawsuit subject to sanctions, a landmark decision of the United States Supreme Court that declared State laws establishing separate public schools for black and white students unconstitutional? The Supreme Court ruled that we had a constitutional right to an equal education.

The imposition of mandatory fees and costs on parties that file unsuccessful motions, as H.R. 720 does, will again have a chilling effect on plaintiffs' claims, especially in civil rights cases, because plaintiffs in such cases often raise novel legal arguments, leaving them vulnerable to a Rule 11 motion by a defendant.

The cost-shifting provision was eliminated by the courts because it encouraged satellite litigation; many cases required parallel proceedings—one on the merits and one on the Rule 11 motion. The 1983 rule had a regularly negative disproportionate impact on plaintiffs, especially plaintiffs in civil rights cases, because plaintiffs in such cases often raise novel legal arguments, leaving them vulnerable to a Rule 11 motion by a defendant.

Reinstating this mandatory fee shifting rule, as H.R. 720 does, will again have a chilling effect on plaintiffs' claims, especially individual plaintiffs taking on large corporate interests.

Sanctions were more often imposed against plaintiffs than defendants and more often imposed on plaintiffs in certain kinds of cases, primarily in civil rights and certain kinds of discrimination cases.

A leading study on this issue showed that although civil rights cases made up 11.4% of federal cases filed, 22.7% of the cases in which sanctions had been imposed were civil rights cases.

The imposition of mandatory fees and costs ultimately shifts the purpose of the Rule from deterrence to compensation, encouraging plaintiffs to file sham lawsuits. Spurred on by the hopes of gaining additional compensation, the Supreme Court affirmed a court of appeals' judgment, which agreed with the Secretary of Interior that operation of the federal Tellico Dam would eradicate an endangered species. The Court held that a prima facie violation of §7 of the Endangered Species Act, 16 U.S.C. §1536, occurred, and ruled that an injunction requested by the state should have been granted.

Mr. Chair, I rise in strong opposition to H.R. 720, the "Lawsuit Abuse Reduction Act of 2017," because it is both unnecessary and counterproductive.

I oppose this legislation that aims to restore a long-discredited version of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 11, in effect from 1983 to 1993.

The current Rule 11 allows federal courts, in their discretion, to impose sanctions for frivolous filings and it encourages litigants to resolve such issues without court intervention.

As written, H.R. 720 would change the sanctions for a violation of Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 11 to a cost-shifting sanction payable to the opposing party, an antiquated version of the Rule in effect from 1983 until 1993.

Why, Mr. Chair would we return to the failed and discredited sanction regime rightly abandoned in 1993? H.R. 720 would require courts to impose monetary sanctions for any Rule 11 violation, eliminating the safe harbor provision that currently allows attorneys to correct or withdraw a filing before Rule 11 proceedings commence.

That cost-shifting provision was eliminated by the courts because it encouraged satellite litigation; many cases required parallel proceedings—one on the merits and one on the Rule 11 motion.

The 1983 rule had a regularly negative disproportionate impact on plaintiffs, especially plaintiffs in civil rights cases, because plaintiffs in such cases often raise novel legal arguments, leaving them vulnerable to a Rule 11 motion by a defendant.

courts, and should avoid rule changes that have a discriminatory impact on civil rights, employment, environmental, and consumer cases.

For these reasons and more, I oppose this bill.

Mr. SMITH of Texas. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, the Judicial Conference, by its own admission, objects to any amendments to the Federal rules it doesn’t propose itself, but Congress has the constitutional authority and responsibility to establish and amend the Federal rules. It also has the duty to address problems with the judicial system that fall within its enumerated powers. Reducing frivolous lawsuits and ensuring that those who face meritless filings are able to receive compensation for losses caused by frivolous claims is a significant improvement to our justice system.

Also, Mr. Chairman, I would ask my colleagues, does a bill that grants the victims of corporate fraud the right to damages create satellite litigation? Of course it doesn’t. What it does is create a means of guaranteed compensation for a wrong suffered. This bill does just that. It creates a means of guaranteed compensation for a wrong suffered; namely, the wrong of a frivolous lawsuit.

It is the job of judges to apply the law. It is the job of Members of Congress to write the law. We are the people’s representatives, and all of us have constituents who have been the victims of frivolous lawsuits. We are responsible for the lack of any redress today for the victims of frivolous lawsuits, and we aim to remedy that today by passing this bill on behalf of the constituents who sent us here. If you deny that the victims of frivolous lawsuits are real victims, then vote against this bill.

What it does is create a means of guaranteed compensation for a wrong suffered. This bill does just that. It creates a means of guaranteed compensation for a wrong suffered; namely, the wrong of a frivolous lawsuit.

It is the job of judges to apply the law. It is the job of Members of Congress to write the law. We are the people’s representatives, and all of us have constituents who have been the victims of frivolous lawsuits. We are responsible for the lack of any redress today for the victims of frivolous lawsuits, and we aim to remedy that today by passing this bill on behalf of the constituents who sent us here. If you deny that the victims of frivolous lawsuits are real victims, then vote against this bill.

Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.
Mr. SMITH of Texas. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Let me first point out that this bill is being key voted by the United States Chamber of Commerce. It has been endorsed by the National Federation of Independent Businesses and also endorsed by the Physicians Insurance Association of America.

Mr. Chairman, let me remind Members what the base bill—which is just a page long—actually does. It makes it mandatory for the victims of frivolous lawsuits filed in Federal Court to be compensated for the harm done to them by the filers of frivolous lawsuits. The bill doesn’t change the existing standards for determining what is or is not a frivolous lawsuit. So under the bill, mandatory sanctions would only be awarded to victims of frivolous lawsuits when those lawsuits have no basis in law or fact.

The victims of frivolous lawsuits are real victims. They have to shell out thousands of dollars, endure sleepless nights, and spend time away from their family, work, and customers, just to respond to frivolous pleadings. Few would ever claim that judges should have the discretion to deny damage awards to victims of legal wrongs proved in court.

So why should judges have the discretion to deny damage awards to victims of frivolous lawsuits who prove in court that the case brought against them was, indeed, frivolous?

A vote against LARA, including a vote for the motion to recommit, is a denial of the fact that victims of frivolous lawsuits are real victims. But they are real victims, and they deserve to be guaranteed compensation when they prove in court that the claims against them are frivolous. This bill would do just that, and for these reasons, I urge my colleagues to support it.

Mr. Chairman, I yield back the balance of my time.

The Acting CHAIR (Mr. HULTGREN). All time for general debate has expired.

Pursuant to the rule, the bill shall be considered for amendment under the 5-minute rule. The bill shall be considered read.

The text of the bill is as follows:

H.R. 729

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Lawsuit Abuse Reduction Act of 2017”.

SEC. 2. ATTORNEY ACCOUNTABILITY.

(a) SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 11.—Rule 11(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure is amended—

(1) in paragraph (1), by striking “may” and inserting “shall”; and

(2) in paragraph (2), by striking “Rule 5” and all that follows through “motion.” and inserting “Rule 5.”; and

(3) in paragraph (3), by striking “situated” and all that follows through the end of the paragraph and inserting “situated, and to compensate the parties that were injured by such conduct. Subject to the limitations in paragraph (5), the sanction shall consist of an order to pay to the party or parties the amount of the reasonable expenses incurred as a direct result of the violation, including reasonable attorneys’ fees and costs. The court may also impose additional appropriate sanctions, such as striking the pleadings, dismissing the suit, or other directives of a non-monetary nature, if warranted for effective deterrence, an order directing payment of a penalty into the court.”;

(b) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this Act or any amendment made by this Act shall be construed to bar or impair the assertion or development of new claims, defenses, or remedies under State, Federal, or local laws, including civil rights laws, or under the Constitution of the United States.

The Acting CHAIR. No amendment to the bill shall be in order except those printed in part A of House Report 115–29.

Mr. SOTO: Mr. Chairman, I have an amendment at the desk.

The Acting CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Page 3, strike line 11 and all that follows through line 13, and insert the following:

(2) by striking “within 21 days” and inserting “within 14 days”; and

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 180, the gentleman from Florida (Mr. SOTO) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Florida.

Mr. SOTO. Mr. Chairman, my amendment would reinstate the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure rule 11(c)(2) safe harbor provision, which allows parties to avoid penalties by withdrawing or correcting the claims within 14 days from when the alleged violation of rule 11(b) becomes known, anytime up until the end of the discovery period.

This bill would force attorneys to assess their case blindly as it stands. Every attorney knows to assess their case based upon an objective set of facts regarding the situation.

A good attorney would never overpromise a cause of action, but this bill prevents even a fair assessment of a case. A full and accurate analysis of the merits of the case must be done on day one, because this bill requires mandatory sanctions with no grace period.

We have tried this already, and it did not work.

This bill will eliminate rule 11(c)(2)’s safe harbor provision, which currently allows the target of a rule 11 motion for sanctions to withdraw or correct the paper claim, defense, contention, or denial that is the subject of the motion for sanctions within 21 days after service.

Between 1998 and 1983, there were only 19 rule 11 filings. In 1983, rule 11 was changed to the standard being proposed by this bill. In the 10 years without this safe harbor provision, nearly 2000 filings for sanctions were made. A 1989 study showed that roughly one-third of all Federal civil lawsuits involved rule 11 satellite litigation, and approximately one-fourth of all those cases on the docket involved rule 11 actions that did not result in sanctions. Thus, attorneys had a dual job: one to try the case, and the other to try the opposing counsel.

We can’t go back to a failed system. The amount of sanction litigation that clogged the system was so extensive that in 1993, a mere 10 years after this failed legal experiment began, a safe harbor provision was established to unclog the system, and it worked. Since then, the amount of sanction satellite litigation has come down, and the courts are now better able to focus on the case at hand.

In committee, Mr. Cicilline of Rhode Island recommended the reimplementation of the 21-day safe harbor provision.

Instead of following this common-sense proposal, the committee rejected it by an 18–4 vote. I believe such an important provision needs to be revisited, but with a compromise. That is why I drafted this amendment that offers a 14-day safe harbor provision; and as a measure to protect further abuse, my safe harbor amendment is only available prior to the completion of discovery, yet another attempt to have a compromise here.

The intent for this discovery provision is that an attorney, during discovery, may realize a flaw in their case. Such a revelation should allow an attorney to correct or withdraw their claim without having the fear of having mandatory automatic sanctions imposed on them. Instead, this bill, as written, immediately places sanctions on the mistaken lawyer. This is well-intentioned, but it does not acknowledge the realities of litigation or the legal process.

In the real world, clients can easily misrepresent a situation to their counsel, and the truth won’t be known until discovery. This bill will have a stifling effect on the legal community and will lead to denied justice because attorneys will not be willing to take a case unless it is a guaranteed win.

We should take the lessons learned from the 1983 experiment and preserve the safe harbor provision to protect well-intended plaintiffs’ attorneys and not stack the deck against those who seek justice.

Mr. Chair, I urge support for my amendment, and I reserve the balance of my time.
Mr. SMITH of Texas. Mr. Chairman, I claim the time in opposition to the amendment.

The Acting CHAIR. The gentleman is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. SMITH of Texas. Mr. Chairman, I oppose this amendment which allows lawyers to file frivolous lawsuits to escape any sanction.

It is essential that LARA reverse the 1993 amendments to rule 11. The current rule allows those who file frivolous lawsuits to avoid sanctions by withholding any evidence within 21 days after a motion has been filed. This loophole, which LARA closes, gives unscrupulous lawyers an unlimited number of free passes to file frivolous pleadings with impunity.

Justice Scalia correctly predicted that such amendments would, in fact, encourage frivolous lawsuits. Opposing the 1993 amendments in which the 21-day rule was instated, Justice Scalia wrote:

In my view, those who file frivolous suits in pleadings should have no safe harbor. The rules should be solicitous of the abused and not of the abuser. Under the revised rule, parties will be able to file thoughtless, reckless, and harassing pleadings, secure in the knowledge that they have nothing to lose: if objection is raised, they can retreat without penalty.

LARA would eliminate the free pass lawyers use to file frivolous lawsuits. This amendment would eliminate that free pass that is so costly to innocent Americans.

Mr. Chairman, I oppose the amendment, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. SOTO. Mr. Chair, there is a sanction in place. You have to remove your claim or your assertion that is in question, and there is the cost of time that any attorney has to put in. But at the end of the day, we have already been down this road and it has failed. Now all we are going to see is more litigation again without the requisite increase in funding to our Federal courts.

And so what we are going to see is anybody who sues—who you are a plaintiff suing or defendant—is going to have a much more complex, dual-track litigation, and that is going to increase costs on businesses and on individuals who are facing litigation in our Federal courts. I believe we need to keep the lessons learned from the past, and I urge Members to adopt my amendment.

Mr. Chair, I yield back the balance of my time.

The Acting CHAIR. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Florida (Mr. Soto).

The question was taken; and the Acting Chair announced that the noes appeared to have it.

Mr. SOTO. Mr. Chair, I demand a recorded vote.

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to clause 6 of rule XVIII, further proceedings on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Florida will be postponed.
For these reasons, I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting the Jackson Lee Amendment.

COMMITTEE ON RULES OF PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE OF THE JUDICIAL CONFERENCE OF THE UNITED STATES,
Washington, DC, April 13, 2015.

Hon. Bob Goodlatte, Chairman, Committee on the Judiciary, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

Dear Mr. Chairman: We write to present the views of the Judicial Conference Rules Committee on H.R. 758, the Lawsuit Abuse Reduction Act of 2015.

The bill would also eliminate a provision adopted in 1993 that allows a party to withdraw challenged pleadings. Our concerns mirror the comments offered by the Judicial Conference in 2004 and 2005, and by the Standing Committee and Advisory Committee in 2011 and 2013, in response to similar legislation. Congress approved the amendments recommended by the Standing Committee and Advisory Committee in 1993.

The findings of the Federal Judicial Center underscore the judiciary’s united opposition to H.R. 758. Indeed, of the 200 lawyers, litigants, judges, and academics who participated in the 2010 conference at Duke University Law School convened by the Advisory Committee to search for ways to address the problems of costs and delay in civil litigation, nobody proposed a return to the 1983 version of Rule 11.

Thank you for considering the views of the Standing Committee and Advisory Committee. We look forward to continuing to work with you to ensure that our civil justice system fulfills its vital role. If you or your staff have any questions, please contact Rebecca Womeldorf, Secretary to the Standing Committee.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey S. Sutton, United States Circuit Judge Sixth Circuit, Chair, Committee on Rules of Practice and Procedure.

David G. Campbell, United States District Judge District of Arizona, Arizona, Chair, Advisory Committee on Civil Rules.

Ms. Jackson Lee, Mr. Chair, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. Smith of Texas. Mr. Chairman, I claim the time in opposition to the amendment.

Mr. Coffman, Mr. Chairman. The gentleman is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. Smith of Texas. Mr. Chairman, I oppose this amendment which would strike the provision for penalties for frivolous lawsuits and, thus, defeat the purpose of the bill.

Today, there is no guarantee that a victim of a frivolous lawsuit will be compensated, even when a court finds that the lawsuit is frivolous. This legislation gives the victims of frivolous lawsuits the ability to seek compensation from those who abuse the legal system. The underlying bill enables innocent Americans to protect

The study showed that judges on the front lines—those who must contend with frivolous litigation and apply Rule II—strongly believe that the current rules work well. The study’s findings included the following highlights:

- 85 percent of the 278 district judges surveyed indicated that “Rule 11 is needed and it is just right as it now stands”;
- 87 percent prefer the existing Rule 11 to the 1983 version or the version proposed by legislation (e.g., H.R. 4571 (the Lawsuit Abuse Reduction Act of 2004));
- 85 percent strongly or moderately support Rule 11’s safe harbor provisions;
- 91 percent oppose the proposed requirement that sanctions be imposed for every Rule 11 violation;
- 94 percent disagree with the proposition that an award of attorney fees should be mandatory for every Rule 11 violation;
- 85 percent believe that the amount of groundless civil litigation has not grown since the promulgation of the 1993 rule (for judges commissioned before 1992) or since their first year as a federal district judge (for judges commissioned after January 1, 1992);
- 72 percent believe that addressing sanctions for discovery abuses in Rules 26(b) and 37 is better than in Rule 11.

The findings of the Federal Judicial Center underscore the judiciary’s united opposition to H.R. 758. Indeed, of the 200 lawyers, litigants, judges, and academics who participated in the 2010 conference at Duke University Law School convened by the Advisory Committee to search for ways to address the problems of costs and delay in civil litigation, nobody proposed a return to the 1983 version of Rule 11.

Thank you for considering the views of the Standing Committee and Advisory Committee. We look forward to continuing to work with you to ensure that our civil justice system fulfills its vital role. If you or your staff have any questions, please contact Rebecca Womeldorf, Secretary to the Standing Committee.

themselves and their families from absolutely absurd lawsuits, which can cost them their reputations and their livelihoods.

Mr. Chair, I urge my colleagues to oppose this amendment, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Chairman, reading again from the Judicial Conference letter, it says: The facts do not support any assumption that mandatory sanctions under H.R. 720—that is what this bill is about—deter frivolous filings. All it does, after a decade of experience, is that it demonstrates that it failed to provide meaningful relief from the litigation behavior it was supposed to address.

What it will do is it will punish the small business. By eliminating the mandatory fee-shifting provision, the 1993 rule discouraged satellite litigation. Reinstituting this mandatory fee-shifting rule, as H.R. 720 does, will again have a chilling effect.

The Jackson Lee amendment would give the courts discretion to protect against the mom-and-pop business from having to pay because they mistakenly thought big bank XYZ did them in, and it really was a mistake on their part.

Sanctions are more often imposed against plaintiffs than defendants, more often imposed against plaintiffs in certain kind of cases, primarily civil rights and certain kinds of discrimination cases.

The Brown v. Board of Education of Topeka might have been perceived to be outrageous—how dare you try to strike down the separate but equal—and yet it has had an amazing impact and a case of moment in history.

Or the Loving v. Virginia, when two individuals who loved each other still were kept out of Virginia because they were of different races, it was absurd to file that lawsuit at that time. Yet, if they had had these kinds of penalties were in place, they might be suffering mandatory sanctions and kept out of the courthouse.

A leading study on this issue showed that, although civil rights cases make up 11.4 percent, 22.7 percent of the cases in which sanctions have been imposed are civil rights cases.

Mr. Chair, I urge my colleagues to support the Jackson Lee amendment. In order to foster justice, support the Jackson Lee amendment, which restores to the courts judicial discretion on penalties and sanctions, if you will, and listen to the Judicial Conference: this is a curse worse than the problem.

Mr. Chair, I urge support of the Jackson Lee amendment, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. SMITH of Texas. Mr. Chairman, let me just summarize this bill in one sentence, and that is that no reputable attorney is going to have any concerns with this legislation.

Mr. Chair, I yield back the balance of my time.

The Acting CHAIR. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON LEE).

The question was taken; and the Acting Chair announced that the noes appeared to have it.

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Chair, I demand a recorded vote.

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to clause 6 of rule XVIII, further proceedings on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Texas will be postponed.

AMENDMENT NO. 3 OFFERED BY MR. CONYERS

The Acting CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 3 printed in part A of House Report 115–29.

Mr. CONYERS. Mr. Chairman, I ask that my amendment be brought forward at this time.

The Acting CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Add, at the end of the bill, the following:

SEC. 2. PROVISIONS PERTAINING TO CONSTITUTIONAL CLAIMS OR CIVIL RIGHTS.

Nothing in this Act, or the amendments made by this Act, shall be construed to apply to actions alleging any violation of a right protected by the Constitution or any civil right protected by law.

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 180, the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CONYERS) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Michigan.

Mr. CONYERS. Mr. Chairman, I am very concerned that H.R. 720 may have a serious, deleterious impact on the ability of individuals to protect their civil and constitutional rights in Federal court. This is a point that has been emphasized on this side ever since we have started examining, more carefully, H.R. 720. Accordingly, my amendment would simply exempt these types of cases from the bill.

For example, a 1991 Federal Judicial Center study found that the incidence of rule 11 motions was “higher in civil rights cases than in some other types of cases.” Another study shows that, while civil rights cases comprised only 11 percent of the Federal cases filed, 37 percent of the cases in which sanctions had been imposed were, in fact, civil rights cases.

This amendment is necessary to protect a long line of actions. As a result, litigants will be clearly aware of its existence and will not be able to force opposing parties into satellite litigation when this case is brought under a civil rights law.

This amendment is necessary to avoid even the possibility of a chilling effect that the revisions made by the bill to rule 11 could have on those advocating for civil rights and constitutional law protections. As the late Robert Carter, a former United States judge for the Southern District of New York, who earlier in his career represented one of the plaintiffs in the Brown v. Board of Education case, said of the 1983 version of rule 11:

“I have no doubt that the Supreme Court’s opportunity to pronounce separate schools inherently unequal in Brown v. Board of Education would have been delayed for a decade had my colleagues and I been required, upon pain of potential sanctions, to plead our legal theory explicitly from the start.”

For that reason alone, I urge the adoption of this amendment.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. SMITH of Texas. Mr. Chairman, I claim the time in opposition to the amendment.

The Acting CHAIR. The gentleman is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. SMITH of Texas. Mr. Chairman, let me say, first of all, that the ranking member of the Judiciary Committee, the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CONYERS), has been a champion of civil rights all of his life. I recognize and respect that.

For that reason, I would like to try to reassure him that the base bill already says, as I mentioned in my opening statement:

“Nothing in this Act or an amendment made by this Act shall be construed to bar or impede the assertion or development of new claims, defenses, or remedies under Federal, State, or local laws, including civil rights laws, or under the Constitution of the United States.”

This provision clearly preserves the right to assert claims under the civil rights laws or the Constitution. I don’t know how this language could be more clear.

This amendment would allow frivolous claims to be brought under civil rights laws without the penalties required in the base bill. If this amendment were adopted, the bill would invite the filing of frivolous civil rights claims without any penalty whatsoever.

I urge my colleagues to oppose this amendment, which regrettably would expose innocent Americans to abusive and frivolous lawsuits.
Mr. CONYERS. Mr. Chairman, I yield the balance of my time.

Mr. CONVETEUR, Mr. Chairman, I yield the balance of my time to the gentle-woman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON LEE).

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Chairman, I support Representative CONVETEUR’s amendment.

I include in the RECORD in support of our amendment a Judicial Conference letter dated April 13, 2015, and letters from a number of organizations, including the Alliance for Justice and the American Bar Association for Justice.

I also include in the RECORD a letter from the American Bar Association, which begins their message: “On behalf of the American Bar Association, ABA, and its over 400,000 members, I am writing to urge you to vote against H.R. 720, the Lawsuit Abuse Reduction Act . . . which is scheduled for a floor vote this week.”

Re Group Strongly Oppose Attacks on Civil Justice.

Hon. BERNIE SANDERS, Chairman, Committee on the Judiciary, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

Hon. JOHN CONyers, Jr., Ranking Member, Committee on the Judiciary, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

Dear Chairman GOODLATTE and Ranking Member CONyers: On February 2, the House Committee on the Judiciary is scheduled to mark-up a bill that could make it more difficult for Americans to enforce their legal rights, and would place unreasonable burdens on the federal judiciary and federal law enforcement officials. The un-signed organizations strongly oppose these bills as harmful and unnecessary.

H.R. 720: THE LAWSUIT ABUSE REDUCTION ACT (LARA)

LARA would make major, substantive changes to Rule 11 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, bypassing both the Judicial Conference of the United States and the U.S. Supreme Court in the process. Rule 11 pro-vides judges with authority to sanction attor-neyes for filing frivolous claims and de-fenses. It provides judges with discretion to decide on a case-by-case basis if sanctions are appropriate. LARA would remove this ju-dicial discretion, mandating sanctions. LARA would reinstate a rule put into effect in 1983 and eliminated a decade later after problems itself.

I. AMENDMENTS TO THE FEDERAL RULES

The proposed amendment is necessary and has helped reduce frivolous lawsuits by 25 percent. The legislation would reinstate a man-datory sanction provision that was adopted in 1983 and eliminated a decade later after problems were: the rule had a chilling effect on federal courts. Corporate defendants supported the legislation would reinstate a man-datory sanction provision that was adopted in 1983 and eliminated a decade later after problems and nearly universal criticism. Among those problems were: the rule had a chilling effect on the filing of meritious civil rights, em-ployment, environmental, and consumer cases; the rule was overloaded in civil rights cases as sanctions were sought and imposed against all plaintiffs, no matter how severe the problems poses problems: the rule was overloaded in civil rights cases as sanctions were sought and imposed against all plaintiffs, no matter how severe the problems that were caused by the rule. These bur-dens adversely affected cases of all types, including business-to-business civil litigation. Congress should be looking for ways to de crease, not increase, wasteful burdens on the courts, and should avoid rules changes that have a discriminatory impact on civil rights, employment, environmental, and consumer cases.

H.R. 725: THE INNOCENT PARTY PROTECTION ACT

This bill would upend long established law in the area of federal court jurisdiction, spec ifically addressing the supposed overuse of “fraudulent joinder” to defeat complete di versity jurisdiction in a case. It was pre viously known as the “FraudulentJoinder Prevention Act.” However, this bill is not about fraud. It is a corporate forum-shopping bill that would allow corporations to move cases properly brought in state courts into federal courts. Corporate defendants support this bill because they prefer to litigate in federal court, which usually results in less diverse jurors, more expensive proceedings, longer delays for discovery, and slower time limits on discovery. For plaintiffs, who are sup posed to be able to choose their forums, this legislation would result in additional time and expense and the risk of sanctions and witnesses. Moreover, there is no evi dence that federal courts are not already properly handling allegations of so-called “fraudulent joinder” alleged under current laws. The bill would result in need less micromanagement of federal courts and a waste of judicial resources. While it purports to fix a non-existent problem, it cre ates problems itself.

H.R. 720: STOP SETTLEMENT SLUSH FUNDS ACT

Under existing laws, settlement terms that result from federal enforcement actions can sometimes include payments to third parties to advance projects that assist with recov ery, benefits, and relief for communities harmed by lawbreakers, to the extent such payments further the objectives of the en forcement action. This would cut off any payments to third parties other than individualized restitution and other forms of direct payment for “actual harm.” That restriction would harm law enforcement officials by limiting their ability to negotiate appropria te relief for real harms caused to the public by illegal conduct that is the subject of federal enforcement actions. This bill would be a gift to lawbreakers at the expense of families and communities suffering from injuries that cannot be addressed by direct restitution.

We urge you to oppose each of these bills. For more information, please contact Joanne Doroshow at the Center for Justice & De mocracy or Susan Harley at Public Citizen’s Congress Watch.

Very sincerely,

ABA URGES YOU TO OPPOSE PASSAGE OF H.R. 720, THE LAWSUIT ABUSE REDUCTION ACT

Dear Representative: On behalf of the American Bar Association and its over 400,000 members, I am writing to urge you to vote against H.R. 720, the Lawsuit Abuse Reduction Act of 2015, which is sched uled for a floor vote this week.

Even though this legislation may seem straightforward and appealing on initial re view, a thorough examination of the con tents of the bill is designed to provide compelling evidence that, rather than reduc ing frivolous lawsuits, H.R. 720 will encour age civil litigation abuse and increase court costs and delays.

H.R. 720 seeks to amend Rule 11 of the Fed eral Rules of Civil Procedure by rolling back critical improvements made to the Rule in 1983. The legislation would reinstate a man datory sanction provision that was adopted in 1983 and eliminated a decade later after experience revealed its unintended, adverse and counterproductive effects.

The ABA urges you to oppose enactment of H.R. 720 for three main reasons. First, the legislation was drafted in an empirical and evidentiary vacuum with little feedback from the judicial branch. Second, there is no dem onstrated evidence that the existing Rule 11 is inadequate and needs to be amended. And third, ignoring the lessons learned from ten years of experience under the 1983 man datory version of Rule 11, Congress incurs the substantial risk that the proposed bill would encourage additional litigation and increasing court costs and delays.

I. AMENDMENTS TO THE FEDERAL RULES SHOULD BE VETTED THROUGH THE RULES ENABLING ACT PROCESS

The Rules Enabling Act was established by Congress to assure that amendment of the Federal Rules occurs only after a com prehensive and balanced review of the problem and proposed solution is undertaken by the Judicial Conference of the United States, the policy-making arm of the federal judici ary, in consultation with scholars, lawyers, public officials, individuals, and organizations devoted to im proving the administration of justice. Prior to submission to Congress, a proposed rule undergoes a period of public comment, a process that often takes over two years and offers Members assurance the proposed amendment is necessary and wise.

In stark contrast, H.R. 720 proposes to amend the Federal Rules over the objections of the Judicial Conference and despite com pelling evidence that it will adversely affect the administration of justice.

II. THERE IS NO EMPIRICAL EVIDENCE THAT RULE 11 IS INADEQUATE AND NEEDS TO BE AMENDED

Proponents state that the legislation is needed to stem the growth in frivolous law suits that, according to the written state ment of the National Federation of Ind ependent Business’s, has created a legal cli mate that hinders economic growth and hurts job creation.

There simply is no proof that problems created by frivolous lawsuits have increased since 1993 or that the current Rule 11 is inef fective in deterring frivolous filings. In fact, it is more likely that problems have abated since 1993 because Rule 11’s safe harbor pro vision provides an incentive to withdraw frivolous filings at the outset of litigation.

III. RULE 11 IS EFFECTIVE IN DETERRING FRIVOLOUS ACTIONS

Rule 11 is an effective vehicle for deterring frivolous lawsuits. While opponents argue that Rule 11’s sanctions have not worked, Rule 11 creates an incentive for parties to evaluate the merits of their cases at the outset of litigation. As such, Rule 11 is an effective tool that will not adversely affect the administration of justice.
Mr. Jeffries. Mr. Chairman, I thank my distinguished colleagues in government and the lead Democrat on the House Judiciary Committee for their continued leadership.

My amendment would amend from the underlying bill all actions where whistleblowers allege misconduct or malfeasance in connection with the Federal Government. A whistleblower is defined as one who reveals wrongdoing within an organization in the hope of stopping it.

Our country has long recognized the importance of affording legal protections to whistleblowers. Under the protection and umbrella of these laws, whistleblowers have helped expose corruption, government waste, fraud, unconstitutional practices, and abuses of the public trust. They have risked, in many cases, their livelihoods to do what is right for this country and defend our democracy.

It should not be our objective to create a system that will stop people in good faith from coming forward by subjecting them or their representatives to mandatory sanctions, but that is exactly what this bill is designed to do.

This amendment will ensure that whistleblowers are protected under current law when they bring an action through our judicial system. The need for this amendment is clear now more than ever.

Donald Trump and his team appear, at times, to be paranoid about the information that comes out of 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue. If the 45th President of the United States chooses to run the White House and the government in the same way that he ran many of his businesses, their fear may be well-founded. He does not have a great track record.

Donald Trump has been sued by the Department of Justice for violating Federal antidiscrimination laws, refusing to rent apartments to people based on their race. I note that that lawsuit in the early 1970s was brought by the Nixon Justice Department.

He was forced to shut down Trump University, an apparent scam that he used to rip off students, swindling them out of tens of thousands of dollars. And he has repeatedly failed to pay his workers and contractors for their services—hardworking Americans.

He created a fake charity, the Trump Foundation, which apparently has been used to pay for a portrait of himself and pay off fines and bills. He has declared bankruptcy four times in his career after losing billions of dollars.

Now, my President and that is the first time that Donald Trump has had to act in the best interest of someone other than himself or his family.

His Cabinet, however, consists of the superwealthy, many of whom are unfamiliar with the programs that their departments oversee and who are inexperienced in handling billions and billions of taxpayer dollars. Many others seem more concerned about helping out interests that are corporate in nature, not the people's interests.

In the words of the legendary Supreme Court Justice Louis Brandeis: "Sunlight is the best of disinfectants, electric light the most efficient policeman."

Putting whistleblower protections at risk puts our democracy at risk, and for that reason, I urge adoption of this amendment.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

The Acting CHAIR. Members are reminded to refrain from engaging in personal attacks against the President. Mr. Smith of Texas. Mr. Chairman, I claim the time in opposition to the amendment.

The Acting CHAIR. The gentleman from Michigan recognizes for 5 minutes.

Mr. Smith of Texas. Mr. Chairman, I appreciate the Chair pointing out that it is improper to impugn the integrity of the President of the United States or others. I thank the Chair for pointing that out.

Mr. Chairman, the Lawsuit Abuse Reduction Act makes three important changes to rule 11 to limit lawsuits and thereby bring frivolous lawsuits to an end. These changes apply to all cases brought in Federal district courts.

However, this amendment would change that. If this amendment is adopted, the changes to rule 11 made by the Act would not prohibit frivolous lawsuits to be brought in relation to whistleblower claims. There is no reason to make this or other exceptions.

The changes made by the Lawsuit Abuse Reduction Act should apply uniformly throughout the Federal courts. Because this amendment excludes certain cases from the bill's coverage and thereby allows frivolous lawsuits to be filed without any of the penalties required by the bill, I oppose the amendment.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. Jeffries. Mr. Chairman, I would add that, in a democracy, the ability to use the Article III Federal court system is incredibly important as it relates to the chance for individual citizens who recognize that wrongdoing is taking place to do something about it and save taxpayers from the waste, fraud, and abuse that so many in this Chamber appear to often be concerned about.

Mr. Chairman, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. Smith of Texas. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Chairman, proponents of this amendment want to allow lawsuits with no basis in law or fact to proceed without penalty if the lawsuit relates to whistleblowers. Think about that. The proponents of this amendment support lawsuits that apparently have no basis in law or fact, and they want those frivolous lawsuits to proceed without penalty.
Let me remind Members what the base bill—which is just one page long—actually does. It makes it mandatory for the victims of frivolous lawsuits filed in Federal court to be compensated for the harm done to them by the filers of frivolous lawsuits. The bill does not change the existing standards for determining what is or is not a frivolous lawsuit. So under the bill, mandatory sanctions would only be awarded to victims of frivolous lawsuits when those lawsuits, as determined by the judge, have no basis in fact, including cases related to whistleblower actions that have no basis in law or fact.

This amendment would allow legally frivolous whistleblower cases to go without penalty and leave their victims uncompensated, so I urge all of my colleagues to oppose it.

Once again, I don’t know how any reputable attorney would have any concerns with this legislation. Mr. Chairman, I yield back the balance of my time.

The Acting CHAIR. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from New York (Mr. JEFFRIES).

The question is on the amendment offered by Mr. JEFFRIES. Mr. Chairman, I demand a recorded vote.

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to clause 6 of rule XCVIII, further proceedings will be postponed until the next day.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Ms. LOFGREN. Mr. Speaker, I have a motion to recommit the bill to the Committee on the Judiciary with instructions to report the same back to the House forthwith with the following amendment:

Add, at the end of the bill, the following:

SEC. 3. PROTECTING AMERICANS FROM FOREIGN GOVERNMENT INTERFERENCE.

Nothing in this Act or the amendments made by this Act shall be construed to apply to a civil action that implicates the foreign emoluments clause of the United States Constitution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from California is recognized for 5 minutes.

Ms. LOFGREN. Mr. Speaker, this is the final amendment to the bill, which will not kill the bill or send it back to committee. If adopted, the bill will immediately proceed to final passage, as amended.

As has been amply discussed, the mandatory sanctions and fees in this bill would have a chilling effect on cutting-edge litigation. One type of cutting-edge litigation is citizen lawsuits seeking enforcement of the foreign Emoluments Clause. The amendment proposed in this motion would exempt civil actions that implicate foreign emoluments.

Article I, section 9, clause 8 of the Constitution says: “No person holding any office of profit or trust . . . shall, without the consent of the Congress, accept of any present, emolument, office of profit or trust . . . shall, without the consent of the Congress, accept of any present, emolument, office of profit or trust . . . .”

Why did the Founding Fathers write this? Concern that foreign governments might try to control America. They wanted to make sure that nothing—not any gifts, no payments, no advantages of any kind—could be received by officers of the United States, including the President, unless Congress approved it. They wanted to make sure that loyalty was completely to America, not divided by obligations to foreign powers. So receipt of emoluments is a serious breach of the requirements of the Constitution unless Congress approves the payment.

Congress has not voted to approve payments by foreign governments to our President. Some Americans are considering legal action to protect America from a Presidential violation of the Emoluments Clause.

President Trump took the symbolic step of resigning from his businesses, but he still gets the income. Letting his family run his businesses doesn’t solve the emoluments violations.

Here are some of the potential problems:

In February, China gave provisional approval for 31 new trademarks for The Trump Organization, which have been sought for a decade, to no avail, until he won the election to be removed from the President’s business.

At Trump Tower in New York, the Industrial and Commercial Bank of China’s large tenant, the United Arab Emirates, leases space, and the Saudi mission to the U.N. makes payments. Money from these foreign countries goes to the President.

The President is part owner of a New York building carrying a $500 million loan, partially held by the Bank of China. He literally owes the government of China.

The Embassy of Kuwait held its 600-guest National Day celebration at Trump Hotel in Washington, D.C., last month, proceeds to Trump.

The President has deals in Turkey. When he announced the Muslim ban, Turkey’s President called for President Trump to name Trump Tower Istanbul. His company is currently involved in major licensing deals for that property.

Shortly after the election, the President met with former U.K. Independent Party leader Nigel Farage, to get help to get the view from his golf resorts in Scotland resolved. Both golf resorts he owns there are promoted by Scotland’s official tourism agency.

Foreign government-owned broadcast carriage fees are under Article 1, section 9 to solve the constitutional violation, although, in my view, that would not resolve concerns about divided loyalties.

But Congress has done nothing—neither enforce the clause nor authorize the payments. That is why patriotic citizens are returning to the third branch of government to defend the Constitution and the country.

America has never faced this situation before. Legislation will, of course, be breaking new ground and, therefore, be more susceptible to the mandatory rule 11 fees required by the bill.

Citizens who seek a President free from foreign influence by bringing actions in court should not be penalized with the mandatory fees required by this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I encourage my colleagues to vote for this motion to recommit, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. GOODLATTE. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to the motion.
Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, on roll No. 157, I was unavoidably detained to cast my vote in time. Had I been present, I would have voted “No.”

LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM

(Mr. HOYER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from California (Mr. MCCARTHY), my friend, for the purpose of inquiring of the majority leader the schedule for the week to come.

(Mr. MCCARTHY asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MCCARTHY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, on Monday, no votes are expected in the House. On Tuesday, the House will meet at noon for morning hour and 2 p.m. for legislative business. Votes will be postponed until 6:30.

On Wednesday and Thursday, the House will meet at 10 a.m. for morning hour and noon for legislative business. On Friday, the House will meet at 9 a.m. for legislative business. Last votes of the week are expected no later than 3 p.m.

Mr. Speaker, the House will consider a number of suspensions next week, a complete list of which will be announced by close of business today.

In addition, the House will consider several important bills from the Veterans’ Affairs Committee.

First, H.R. 1181, the Veterans Second Amendment Protection Act, sponsored by Chairman Phil Roe, which ensures that the Second Amendment rights of VA beneficiaries are not restricted without due process.

Next, H.R. 1259, the VA Accountability First Act, also sponsored by Chairman Roe, which grants the VA Secretary increased discretion to remove or suspend VA employees due to poor performance.

Finally, H.R. 1367, sponsored by Representative Brad Wenstrup, which enhances the VA’s ability to recruit and retain highly qualified employees.

The failures of the VA are well-documented and completely unacceptable. These bills are a step in the right direction towards creating greater accountability at the VA, and keeping our promise to Americans’ veterans who have sacrificed so much for us.

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for that information.

I would now like to ask him, we passed the DOD Appropriations bill and sent that to the Senate. We have already done the MILCON bill. And I am wondering—there are ten remaining bills—whether the majority leader could give me some idea, in light of the fact that the CR, which once it goes to April 28, we will either have to do those bills individually or in some sort of an en bloc fashion, whether the gentleman has any idea how soon we might be considering the balance of the year’s appropriation to September 30?

Mr. Speaker, I yield to my friend.

Mr. MCCARTHY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

I am pleased that we were able to pass the FY17 Defense Appropriations bill on a bipartisan basis this week. It is my hope that we can continue to pass the appropriation bills on a bipartisan basis at the height of our displeasure and disappointment as it relates to what is going on, back to the consideration of the reconciliation process for the repeal or modification of the Affordable Care Act with the American Health Care Act. The bill was posted this Monday, this past Monday night, it was marked up on Wednesday, there were no hearings, there were no opportunities for witnesses to testify. And as the gentleman knows, he is absolutely correct, I like these quotes, but I like these quotes because they point out theoretically what I would have great agreement with in terms of process.

Particularly, I call your attention to a quote of Speaker PAUL RYAN: “Congress is moving fast to rush through a healthcare overhaul that lacks a key ingredient: the full participation of your, the American public.”

That quote was July 19, 2009. That quote was referring to the process involved in the adoption of the Affordable Care Act.

As the gentleman knows, the Affordable Care Act had 79 hearings. As the gentleman knows, there were 181 witnesses who testified about the Affordable Care Act. As the gentleman knows, that process took approximately 1½ years, 8 months of which was waiting to see whether Senator GRASSLEY would participate in a bipartisan way in forging healthcare reform in this country.

The gentleman is well aware, not only have we had literally hundreds of thousands of people around the country come to townhall meetings, many that his Members have held, and express their deep concern about the loss of healthcare security if the Affordable Care Act is repealed. So there is no doubt that the American public—I am not saying it is 100 percent—but a large number of the American public are very concerned.

The gentleman further knows, the Affordable Care Act had 79 hearings. As the gentleman knows, there were 181 witnesses who testified about the Affordable Care Act. As the gentleman knows, that process took approximately 1½ years, 8 months of which was waiting to see whether Senator GRASSLEY would participate in a bipartisan way in forging healthcare reform in this country.

even the Consumers Union, and hundreds of other groups representing providers, patients, even insurance companies, have expressed deep, deep concern about the adverse consequences of the passage of the American Health Care Act that was marked up in the dead of the night. We were criticized. The gentleman apparently doesn’t agree with that. But the facts are the facts. They are not alternative facts.

You started marking them up on Wednesday morning, there was some delay, but that day, as you know, because we were very concerned about how fast you were moving that. Less than 48 hours after it was introduced, it was marked up. No hearings, no witnesses, no ability to read the bill.

As a matter of fact, shockingly, Mr. WALDEN voted against an amendment which said: Read the bill. Now, what was shocking about that is that was Mr. BRADY’s amendment that he offered back in 2010. He voted against the amendment: Read the bill. I don’t think anybody really had much opportunity to read the bill before it was marked up.

GREG WALDEN, who is chairman of the Energy and Commerce Committee, said on Wednesday:

On a bill of this significance, you would think that we would at least allow people to come in who are affected by the extraordinary changes in this bill and have a chance to let us know how it affects them.

That was GREG WALDEN, now the chairman of the Energy and Commerce Committee, July 9, 2009. He is now in charge of that committee. Not a single witness testified on the bill that was marked up in his committee. And it was marked up through the dead of the night, if we want to parse our words, because it started in the morning of Wednesday. But it didn’t end until the morning, 26 hours later, on Thursday. Which meant that Mr. WALDEN kept his members in their seats marking up a bill, except when they were voting coming over here, for 26 hours straight on one of the most consequential bills this House will consider and that the Senate will consider, affecting, as I said, millions and millions and millions of people.

Now, I understand the Budget Committee is scheduled to mark that bill up on Wednesday, just a week later. Again, I don’t know whether there are going to be hearings and if those hearings will be open to the witnesses that should be called to testify on a bill of such impact.

Let me do one additional quote, because the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee had an interesting quote as well. He said: “The Democratic Congress and White House simply aren’t listening. Democrats are ramming it through over the public’s objections.”

That was Mr. HOYER on March 17, 2010, some year after the bill had been introduced. Thousands of meetings had been held by Republicans and Democrats around the country on the bill. And, as I said, 79 hearings and 181 witnesses later. That is what Chairman BRADY said.

And, of course, Chairman BRADY, in less than 48 hours, had a markup. Now, he did not have quite as long a markup. It ended at 4:30 a.m. Thursday morning. So that was the deal of the early morning. But, nevertheless, most of my public wasn’t up watching. I presume even at 4:30, which would have been 1:30 for your public, they weren’t going to be up looking.

So this was done out of the sight of the public and is inconsistent, I suggest to my friend, Mr. Speaker, the majority leader, inconsistent with the pledge of transparency, openness, and those three quotes that I just read you that said the American people should have the opportunity to express their opinion on legislation generally, but certainly on legislation of this consequence.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to my friend. Mr. McCARTHY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

I always look forward to these discussions. I know they are about the schedule, but I always look forward to what quotes you are going to bring up next.

Let me see if I can answer all of those questions that you raised.

First, my friend, you informed me, last week and again today, that the Democrats have held 79 hearings over 2 years on ObamaCare. Well, we have spent the last 6 years.

I promised you that I would see how many hearings we had. When I went back and checked, the Republicans have held 113 hearings on the ways on the aisle on everything from the individual mandate and Medicaid sustainability, to the medical device tax, and ObamaCare’s failing co-ops.

We have been committed to repealing and replacing this law for years, and I am sure you will find a lot of quotes from almost every side of the aisle saying that same thing. We have done the work, we have listened to the American people, and we believe now it is time to act.

You did bring up about the committee. You brought up about reading the bill. So what we put forth is we put a website together for the patient-centered healthcare bill, and it is available online at readthebill.gov. Now, this is only 123 pages. That is a difference from your bill of 2,700 pages for ObamaCare.

Now, we remember what the Democrats said when they were passing ObamaCare, that you had to pass the bill to see what is in it. So I went back and checked, and people were unable to visit the website. We had over 350,000 visitors visit our website in just 36 hours, and 100,000 downloaded the legislative text.

Now, when you talk about dead of night, I was on this floor, you were on this floor, and I know people on both sides of the aisle have used it before, but the dilatory activity on the other side of the aisle to slow this process down put us into nighttime.

And then let’s think about how this process went. It was an open process. Why did it go so long? We debated hours of Democrats’ amendments because we weren’t going to shut it down. We never called the question. We kept going as long as people wanted to go. And we spent hours on one amendment after another, wanted to change to a hashtag of a different name. That was a Democratic amendment to somehow change the bill. We didn’t stop with that. We let everybody talk, and we let everybody have their voice because we believe in regular order.

Yes, we spent 27 hours on it because we were not going to deny anybody the ability to talk or offer their amendment. And that is exactly what we did, and that is what the American people expect to have happen.

So, 113 hearings, I congratulate you on your 79; 123 pages compared to 2,700. I believe this is a great first step in three phases. For too long this health care of ObamaCare has failed.

Now, 2,700 pages, approved 23 co-ops and provided more than $2 billion. In this short amount of time, 18 of them have collapsed. They had the quote that, if you like your health care, you could keep it, but millions of Americans found out that is not true either.

They said your premiums would go down. Millions of Americans have found out that is not true either.

Now, across this country, one-third of the entire country only has one provider. And the very sad part of this, just within the last month, Humana announced that they are going to pull out. That is leaving 16 counties, and I see my good friends from Tennessee, with no provider at all.

We can do so much better. That is why we spent the years; we spent the hearings; we have had the witnesses.

And I know it is your right to come and ask to adjourn so somehow we couldn’t get to the bill, it is your right to continue to ask to adjourn so Members can’t offer their amendments, but you know what? If we had to spend through the dead of night and stay up so made sure, even if it is on the other side of the aisle, a Democrat could offer an amendment, just a hashtag to change that is your right, and we would spend the time and do it. And we spent hours at it.

If you ask me, personally, I didn’t think that amendment changed anybody’s health care in America. But you have a right to do it, and we made sure we kept that right, and we had regular order.

I thank the gentleman for his quotes. Mr. HOYER. I thank the gentleman for his comments.

Mr. Speaker, we have had, literally, tens of thousands of hearings that have dealt with almost every issue that this House. I suppose I should take from the majority leader’s discussion that, if we have had those hearings in previous Congresses, in the last Congress, the Congress before that, the Congress before that, and we have a substantial number of new Members in this Congress, the American people have made millions of voters who are counting on this, we will just simply tell them: Read the transcript of 2002 or of 2009 or of 2013. That is not regular order, Mr. Speaker.

Regular order is you introduce a bill. It is referred to a committee, which in turn refers it to a subcommittee, and, even if it keeps it in the bosom of the full committee, it has a hearing. It posts the bill. It tells citizens throughout this country: If you have an interest, come in and tell us what your interest is, what your perspective is, what you think the ramifications of this bill are. The subcommittee marks it up, if it referred to a subcommittee full committee, it has a hearing. It posts the bill. It tells citizens throughout this country: If you have an interest, come in and tell us what you think and what the ramifications of this bill are. The subcommittee marks it up, and then it is referred to the floor. That is regular order, Mr. Speaker.

To rationalize a procedure which has a bill introduced Monday night and is subject to 24, 48, 72, 96 hours, straight of markup on the following Wednesday, less than 48 hours later, no matter how you dress it up, that is not, Mr. Speaker, regular order.

What it is trying to jam through a bill happens. The American public has an opportunity to tell us what they think about the bill. What it is jamming through a bill and not allowing the providers, the doctors, the patients, the insurance companies, all of the stakeholders, to have an opportunity to read that bill introduced about 72 hours ago now—a little more than that, maybe close to 96.

That, Mr. Speaker, is not regular order. And I will tell my friend for whom that deal of respect and I don’t think he puts the best face on it, but nobody believed the Republicans had a bill, Mr. Speaker, until Monday night.

Well, actually, I believed they had a bill at the last colloquy, and I looked for it all over this Capitol. I couldn’t find it. It wasn’t posted. The ranking member on the committee didn’t have it. No committee Democrat had the bill. They couldn’t read it.

So to pretend, Mr. Speaker, that hearing another bill at some other time in some other Congress suffices for regular order is something, Mr. Speaker, I cannot agree with. And if the situations were reversed, as I have experienced over the last 36 years, that side of the aisle would have torn this place apart. Why do I think that? Because I have seen it.

Yes, we had some delaying, four motions to adjourn, so that we had some time to figure out what this bill was about and some time to hear from the American people. It certainly wasn’t enough time. We are going to be hearing more from the American people, I think, Mr. Speaker.

I appreciate the gentleman trying to say that, well, we only had 48 hours. Sometimes, Mr. Speaker, we do that in a hurry. And the reason is because we are about to go on a break. We are about to go on an August break or a recess or something of that nature. That is not the committees didn’t have to meet through the night. They could have met today. They could meet next week. But this bill is being rushed through too fast with too much adverse consequence to so many people.

I would hope the majority leader would slow this bill down. I hope the Rules Committee has full hearings on this bill and that it does not have just attenuated hearings with few witnesses, because there are a lot of people who want to tell us, their Representatives, what their view is of this bill.

I know the Speaker has said there are going to be three phases to this bill, and the majority leader said so as well. Regular order is something, Mr. Speaker, that my friend, the majority leader, will urge the committees not to consider additional legislation either in the middle of the night or with no notice and no opportunity for witnesses and no hearings.

Previous hearings will not suffice, Mr. Speaker. Other Congresses had hearings. This Congress has a responsibility to hear from the American people. That is not what Mr. WALDEN said; that is what Mr. BRADY said; that is what Mr. WALDEN said. They said it at a time when they were in the minority, but it ought to apply when they are in the majority. And if we are in the majority, it ought to apply to us as well. I hope that happens, Mr. Speaker, for the country’s sake, for our people’s sake.

I will yield to the majority leader, Mr. Speaker, if he would like to speak.

Mr. Speaker, I do want to remind you of the gentleman for yielding, and I appreciate the gentleman’s comments.

Mr. Speaker, I do want to remind people, when you use reconciliation, what is the process? Well, the process states you have the authorizing committee post and they mark up. We did that. Budget Committee marks up. They will do that next week. Rules Committee will meet, then it comes to the House floor.

I will never apologize for having 113 hearings on repealing and replacing ObamaCare. I will never apologize for having all the witnesses in. And I love that you bring a lot of quotes of people inside that are elected, but I will be very frank. The quotes I care most about are the ones that come from my constituents.

For some reason, this idea that this is a complex issue but you had hearings before you going to forget all about those. Why do committees? Why do you keep Members on your own side of the aisle on the same committees? To build expertise, to solve big problems. So, no, they don’t forget what they learned in those hearings.

But let me read you quotes from a few constituents.

“Dear Kevin, thank you for your diligence in these disruptive, political times. I have severe asthma.”

“ObamaCare blew us out of the water. I retired early as an RN due to health problems, so I have to pay for my entire health insurance. I am not complaining about that, but I am tired of premiums go through the roof. I lost my doctor and my plan.”

“In 2017 there were few options without a $5,000 deductible. If I have to pay that much first, then why pay for insurance? Our income is not huge. We cannot afford this.”

Or from another constituent: “Dear Kevin, I just wanted to convey that I strongly feel legislative action is needed to fix the ACA.”

“My family deductible has increased over $3,000 a year—it used to be $1,000 8 years ago—and I practically only have health insurance in case a catastrophic accident were to occur.”

Or: “Dear Kevin, I just got my 2017 health insurance renewal notice, $650 per month, up 20 percent. I am 60 years old, have worked and saved all my life, but my situation has changed: I can’t go without insurance, but I can’t pay for it either. Something needs to be done. I am so upset that I am crying right now.”

But my friend, Mr. Speaker, on the other side of the aisle says to wait to help these people. Forget about the 113 hearings, even though it is more than the 70-some that ObamaCare had, or 123 pages is too much instead of 2,700.

I will never apologize for having the wisdom to listen and, now, the courage to lead. But I will promise you this, Mr. Speaker, and my friend on the other side of the aisle: I have never come to this floor to offer to adjourn just to disrupt the process.

And, yes, I had Members on our side of the aisle that would get frustrated that Democrats would offer an amendment that just dealt with a hashtag. No, let’s let them have their say. If they feel that is important for America, health care, to put a hashtag name change, then let’s spend hours on it. Because we believe in the process, we will defend your right to have that process even though it will not help one constituent of mine or yours.

But you want to spend your time doing that? We will do that. And we did do that. That is why we worked through the night. But we will not give up on the American people. That is why we are doing what we are doing, and I think the gentleman for yielding, Mr. HOYIEN, Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the remarks of the majority leader. I presume that he has heard from— I don’t have the quotes in front of me, but maybe I will bring them next week—the thousands of people who have said their lives have been saved by the Affordable Care Act; the thousands of parents with a child with a preexisting condition that, if the Republicans had succeeded in their 65 votes to repeal it, would not have been protected; the millions of seniors who are paying less for their prescription drugs because of the Affordable Care Act.

I could read all those letters. Why do I read the letters of Mr. WALDEN, Mr. BRADY, and Speaker RYAN? Because they are in charge. All our constituents, on either side, had no opportunity to testify on this bill. But Speaker RYAN, Mr. WALDEN, and Mr. BRADY could have given them that opportunity, and they chose not to. They rationalize it apparently because, well, we had hearings in the past.

Does this bill have the subject matter of the ACA? It does. But this bill was offered just some, as I said, 90-or-so hours ago. And the leader says: Well, that is okay. It is based on all those hearings we had.

The fact is this bill has not been brought forward for the last 7 years while there was a repeal for ACA.

Why? We all know why. Mr. Speaker, it is because the majority could not come to an agreement, and they are not in agreement now. Perhaps, if this bill stands out there a little bit, it is so flawed they won’t be able to get the votes on their side of the floor.

I was here—I don’t think the majority leader was here—when we adopted the part D prescription drug program. It was called up by the majority, the Republican Party at the evening hour; and we voted from 3 a.m. until 6 a.m. And when I say we voted, that vote was kept open for 3 hours while they opportune their constituents. You have got to vote for this. President Bush wants it. You have got to vote for this.

We voted against it. But the vote was held open 3 hours, I tell my friend. That was not regular order.

Now, our side has held a vote open from time to time—never for 3 hours, but from time to time. That is why it is being rushed. It is not because they had a lot of hearings before, not because witnesses had testified they didn’t like the Affordable Care Act. We understand that.

The issue is not whether people like or dislike the Affordable Care Act. It is how are we going to provide what the President has promised: access for everybody to healthcare at a lower cost and a better price.

I told the majority leader last week—and I repeat my comments, Mr. Speaker, to the majority leader this week—if they bring such a bill to the floor, I will support it. This bill does not do that.

So what President Trump promised during the election and what he promised from that podium just a few days ago is not what this bill represents. It is not what they promised to the American people.

What I asked the majority leader was—they are apparently going to have some sort of a process whether or not they will be also rushed through without hearings on the premise that there were hearings in the past.

I repeat that there are a lot of new Members in this body that didn’t have the opportunity to have those hearings and weren’t in this body. I don’t know how many there are because I don’t know how many Congresses we are talking about if we adopted this bill 7 years ago and then there were hearings subsequent.

So I don’t know where we are going, Mr. Speaker, but I think the American people expect an opportunity to be heard. Yes, I may quote some next week.

The people who were elected by the American people to do their job have the power to open up the doors and open up the windows and pull back the curtain that the American people could come in and testify. There were all those witnesses who testified in the last Congress and the Congress before that, but I am talking about the people who testified during a Congress in which we considered the bill. We haven’t had an open rule this year, Mr. Speaker. We have had structured rules. We have had no open rule.

So in terms of the majority leader telling me, Mr. Speaker, that we want everybody to have their opportunity, and he caricatures one amendment that was—I think I would agree with him—more to show that not a single Republican would vote. And Mr. BRADY, as I pointed out, didn’t vote for his own amendment that he offered when the Affordable Care Act was marked up to say read the bill.

Time was not given to read the bill. Mr. Speaker, I understand we are not going to have a conclusion today; but I am hopeful that the process that was perpetrated on not only the minority but also the majority this week will not be repeated, and that the representations that have been made by the Speaker, by the young guns, and by so many others would be a process that is, in fact, open, thoughtful, and democratic.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

ADJOURNMENT FROM FRIDAY, MARCH 10, 2017, TO TUESDAY, MARCH 14, 2017

Mr. MCCARTHY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that when the House adjourns today, it adjourn to meet on Tuesday, March 14, 2017, when it shall convene at noon for morning-hour debate and 2 p.m. for legislative business.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. BERGMAN). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?
what the American Health Care Act will do.
This bill, Mr. Speaker, will hurt people—women, seniors, individuals with disabilities, and middle class families. It will result in universal chaos, not universal coverage.

I strongly urge my colleagues to oppose this measure.

AN EXERCISE IN SMOKE AND MIRRORS

(Mr. LAWSON of Florida asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. LAWSON of Florida. Mr. Speaker, the Republican plan to repeal and replace the Affordable Care Act is an exercise in smoke and mirrors.

This proposal would give tax breaks to the wealthiest Americans while burdening the hardworking families with higher healthcare costs. The Republican plan also allows soaring new healthcare costs for our seniors and shortens the life of the Medicare trust fund, endangering seniors and disabled Americans who depend on Medicaid coverage. This is completely unacceptable to Floridians.

We need to hear from the Congressional Budget Office about what this bill would really mean in numbers. The American people deserve to understand what the Republicans are trying to do with their healthcare.

I will continue to fight to ensure that Floridians with preexisting conditions don’t have to worry about losing their healthcare coverage, and that young adults can stay on their parents’ insurance until they reach age 26, and that we are going to do all we can to make health care affordable and accessible for all Americans and not just for a select few.

WORST OF TIMES

(Mr. COHEN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, when President Trump was campaigning, he said that these were the worst of times for African Americans, conveniently or ignorantly forgetting slavery and Jim Crow. He said it couldn’t get any worse.

Well, it is getting worse with a Justice Department that has already retreated on voting rights and that has empowered private prisons to take advantage of people which are disparately proportionate to African Americans for prison incarceration; a HUD department where the Secretary has said slavery was akin to immigration and where $6 billion is to be cut from the budget; an education department that doesn’t believe in public education that has given African Americans a chance for the American Dream; and a healthcare bill that takes away health care from the poorest and makes it to where many will not have health care, and Medicaid will be decimated and possibility eliminated.

These are the worst of times and President Trump, Mr. Speaker, is showing African Americans things can get worse. They are getting worse, and they are on a daily basis.

MORE HEALTH OPTIONS FOR FAMILIES

(Mr. LAMALFA asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LAMALFA. Mr. Speaker, we see more and more that ObamaCare or the Affordable Care Act is, indeed, unsustainable.

Today I rise, once again, to share another story or two about some of the highlights that some of my constituents are feeling back at home.

Last night, I hosted a telephone townhall to have the opportunity to hear from people in my district, once again, about some of the unsustainable, horrible stories that they have to tell about the experiences they have had with the ACA: sky-high premiums; poor access to health care; options that are less and less, especially in rural California and rural America; deductibles that have risen so high that insurance isn’t really affordable for them to use at all.

Recently a physician within my district contacted my office and said that, after more than 30 years of a successful practice with happy clients, he is no longer able to provide the type of care his patients need due to the burdensome paperwork requirements. This is providing less choices for people, especially the middle-income families that have to choose between the things they want to save for for their future and for their dreams and now happen to have much higher premiums, less choices, and a deductible that makes their insurance almost useless to them.

The American Health Care Act will give back more options for families and other Americans that desperately need this help and to meet all the goals that we are setting out to do.

MEND THE LAW, NOT END THE LAW

(Ms. ROSEN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. ROSEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to voice my opposition to the repeal and replacement of the Affordable Care Act.

I will be the first to admit that ObamaCare has its flaws, but we should mend the law, not end the law. Because of the ACA, we have seen the uninsured rate in Nevada and in my district reduced by half.

The GOP replacement would not only drop 15 million Americans from their insurance and raise healthcare costs on hardworking Nevada families, but it would end funding for Planned Parenthood, taking away affordable healthcare services that so many women in my district rely on.

Recently I received a letter from a constituent whose family has a history of breast cancer. She is so concerned that she and her daughter will stop receiving the regular cancer screenings that they need to survive.

Mr. Speaker, it is unconscionable for us to vote on a bill that would create a life-or-death situation for millions of Americans across the country.

MEDICAID EXPANSION

(Mr. KIHUEN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. KIHUEN. Mr. Speaker, I have a new name for the process Republicans are using to destroy the Affordable Care Act. Instead of repeal and replace, how about we name it “we cut and gut”? Cut taxes for millionaires and billionaires, and gut coverage for hardworking Americans.

The bill would also undermine the Medicaid expansion in the Affordable Care Act. In Nevada, our own Governor Brian Sandoval, a Republican, made the decision to work with Democrats and expand the Medicaid program. Because we expanded Medicaid, 320,000 Nevadans now have health coverage, and Nevada’s uninsured rate has dropped from 23 percent to 12 percent, one of the largest declines in the entire country.

So, Mr. Speaker, I would ask my Republican colleagues: Do you really want to turn your backs on hardworking families just to give billionaires a tax cut that they don’t need or deserve?

Mr. Speaker, the silence is deafening.

THERE ARE RADICAL ISLAMISTS WHO WANT TO DESTROY OUR WAY OF LIFE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker’s announced policy of January 3, 2017, the gentleman from Texas (Mr. GOHMERT) is recognized for 60 minutes as the designee of the majority leader.

Mr. GOHMERT. Mr. Speaker, it is the end of another week in session.

Mr. Speaker, I want to revisit an important issue. It seems that what some of us were trying to point out for 8 years under the Obama administration fell on deaf ears, that there really are radical Islamists who want to destroy our way of life in the United States, who look at us as infidels, and not just Christians, Jews, secularists, and others, but even Muslims who do not adapt and accept the radical Islamic ways.

That works to the advantage of some because we have seen in the last 8 years CAIR, Muslim Brotherhood-affiliated groups, groups that were listed as co-conspirators in the Holy Land Foundation trial... back in 2008, where the named defendants were convicted of many counts, and they were supporting terrorism. They have ties all over the United States and they have ties to people who constantly had access to President Obama’s White House, the State Department, and so many other areas.

We saw time and time again the Obama administration looking the other way as serious matters arose involving radical Islamists, both in the United States and abroad. The Obama administration’s approach was: If we can just teach these racist, bigoted, Americans to love all Islamists. Because they wouldn’t point out that some are radicals, as my Muslim friends don’t hesitate to point out.

But this administration didn’t want to point out that there are radical Islamists, that they are part of Islam, that many of them are experts in Islam, like Baghdadi, who heads up the Islamic State. He has a Ph.D. in Islam. So it is kind of difficult to say that he has nothing to do with Islam when that is the basis for everything he said and did.

If one goes and looks at the pleading that the judge declassified from 2008 of testimony Khalid Sheikh Mohammed in a court at Guantanamo Bay, he makes very clear that he is not insane, that he is very lucid. He files a very impressive document explaining himself.

For everything that he said, for example, about the need to kill Christians and Jews, he had a direct quote, not from the Koran. Like where often Members of Congress, if you bring something up on the floor about Islam or the Koran, then it is amazing. It hasn’t happened in a while, but Members who bring something like that up, they frequently find themselves being presented a Koran. Somebody drops off a Koran.

But as an expert in the field pointed out to me when I showed him the Koran that was dropped off at my House, he says, that is a Koran, it is not a Holy Koran; because what they have done is they have taken what they call the Holy Koran and they have eliminated the verses that support terrorism and the killing of Jews and Christians. So if you read from cover to cover this Koran, you don’t see any of the verses that the most radical Islamists rely on for their killing, their behaving as betraying their fellow Americans. And it is okay, they believe, to lie if it ends up supporting the cause of their radical beliefs about Islam.

One of the reasons that I contend with so many others here that Egypt ought to be one of our dearest friends is because they have an elected president. Yes, he was a former general, like Eisenhower, like George Washington, like Andrew Jackson, like so many who had been generals before they became President. They understand warfare.

But the radical Islamists in the United States, so many of them, Muslims, Brotherhood-related groups, they pointed out time and again: Look, we know we are going to have to get to violence at some point. But for now, we are making so much progress in taking over the United States without using violence that right now violence dishonors the tenets of our government.

Some of us continue to point out that what the Obama administration constantly used as their fight against, not radical Islam—they couldn’t say that like President Trump does—but they believe is anti-terrorism: We have got to spend millions and millions, and hundreds of millions of dollars fighting violent extremism. They believed what the often Muslim Brotherhood-affiliated individuals would say: Yes, if we spend that money teaching people to love and accept Islam, then the problem goes away and there is no more violence.

Which is, in and of itself, a complete lie.

So the Obama administration has been spending money on things. I am told by someone who was looking at the ways that the Obama administration spent hard-earned taxpayer dollars paid to the government, and then the Obama administration would turn around and spend it. I am told by someone in Homeland Security—I haven’t seen it—but they even had a project spending taxpayer dollars to fight radical Islam by teaching schoolchildren pre-Islamic and Islamic studies. It is one of the reasons I am so glad we have had a change of President.

I know that there are so many people across the aisle, not necessarily people here in this body, but across the country, who keep saying: Oh, there is so much prejudice against Muslims, and that is the whole problem. If we can eliminate the prejudice against Islam, against Muslims, there will be no more violence.

But there are those that are in this body here who have gone so far to show how open-minded they are and how much they embrace the ideals of Islam, and are in no way bigoted, that they have exposed this body to criminals, to hacking; and who knows just how far the security breaches go.

Mr. Speaker, we brought this up, but it is important to take note that this body—there were no Republicans that hired them, but Imran Awan seemed to be the leader, Abid Awan, Jamal Awan, Hina Alvi, Natalia Sova, each making $160,000-plus from the House of Representatives. The Awan brothers are of Pakistani descent. I am told the leader is now back in Pakistan while they are being investigated, but their immigration status appears unclear right now. They had been hired as IT specialists, computer specialists, to help some of my Democratic friends with their computer systems. And as suspicious activity continued to mount over the last 12 years, it was dismissed.

And I am reading from an article that Luke Rosiak, March 8, from The Daily Caller wrote.
VerDate Sep 11 2014 03:56 Mar 11, 2017 Jkt 069060 PO 00000 Frm 00025 Fmt 0636 Sfmt 0634 E:\CR\FM\K10MR7.049 H10MRPT1SSpencer on DSK4SPTVN1PROD with HOUSE

Anyway the article goes on: "The father died days later, with his children denying him a final moment with his loved one, and the body was taken to Pakistan, where there were significant assets in their father’s name. Galani was shocked to learn that his death certificate”—that of her husband—"listed him as divorced, according to a relative. The relative spoke only on condition of anonymity.

"They kept their stepmother in sort of illegal captivity from October 16, 2016, to February 2," the relative said, telling her they were in charge of her life and said she was not allowed to speak to anyone. The fact that she did not speak English made it easy for them to take advantage of her.

"As Shah laid hospitalized, they would not let the father communicate with the wife, they would say he’d be meeting her when they said so."

"The brothers bugged her house with hidden listening devices and told her ‘her secret was under constant surveillance’ and conversations within the house and over the telephone were being listened to. They would repeat what she had told people to prove that they were really listening."

"This happened in the United States of America, can you believe it?" the relative asked.

"Galani obtained a secret cellphone and stood in the yard to communicate with relatives, who encouraged her to call the police."

"After she did, Abid ‘threatened her very severely, made her fearful, they told her they are going to abduct or kidnap her family back in Pakistan, and she had to apologize."

Imran is the one who had done computer work here for so many of our Democratic friends here in the House.

"Imran then tried ‘to manipulate her. She said to him, ‘if you say you are my son, then why are you keeping my phone conversations listened to?’"

"He said to her, ‘I made contact with her stepson, and police responded to the Springfield home she shared with him."

"I made contact with her stepson. Abid, who responded to location and was obviously upset with the situation. He stated he had pulled up about positions I had taken like in support of Egypt against the Muslim Brotherhood and that there were those who were monitoring people that came to my office. I was told that they knew everybody that walks into your office."

"So when you see these kinds of reports, Mr. Speaker, it is a little disconcerting. It is disconcerting that people are not more concerned here in this body about the potential for the kind of breach that is being stated here.

Anyone else’s information here in Congress."

I am told by other IT professionals that do work here that, if you know what you are doing and you have access to even one Congress Member’s computer, which means their calendar, their emails, and notes taken and stored on the computer about meetings, then it is very easy—you are good—to access virtually anybody else’s information here in Congress.

"Anyway the article goes on: "The father died days later, with his children denying him a final moment with his loved one, and the body was taken to Pakistan, where there were significant assets in their father’s name. Galani was shocked to learn that his death certificate”—that of her husband—"listed him as divorced, according to a relative. The relative spoke only on condition of anonymity."
Well, Imran began working for her in 2005, the article says, and soon after, his two brothers and two of their wives all appeared on the congressional payroll, collecting more than $4 million. That is over this period of time, of course.

The brothers had numerous additional sources of income, all of which seemed to disappear. While they were supposedly working for the House, the brothers were running a car dealership full time that didn’t pay its vendors. After one Rao Abbas threatened to sue them, he began receiving a paycheck from another Democratic member of the House of Representatives, also from Florida.

While they were working for House Members—and it should be pointed out, not any Republican Members—they were working for House Members, including members of the Homeland Security and Foreign Affairs Committees—took and never repaid a $100,000 loan from Dr. Ali Al-Attar, who is a fugitive from U.S. authorities and is linked to Hezbollah.

This is perfectly consistent with what was going on for 8 years under President Obama. You had Imam Majid, who had been president of an organization that was listed as a co-conspirator.

So, whatever happened to all of those co-conspirators named by the U.S. Department of Justice?

Well, I understood from a former member of DOJ under the Bush administration that they took this first case, and much more successful in getting convictions, then they would turn around and go after the other co-conspirators.

But the interesting thing that happened immediately after that conviction in late 2008, we had a new President, and Eric Holder became Attorney General. Eric Holder had no interest in prosecuting the named co-conspirators of those convicted of supporting terrorism.

So, we spent 8 years with the Obama administration listening to people who identified not just being part of, but leading co-conspirator groups and supporting terrorism.

Of course, he was an American citizen by birth. His parents were both from Yemen. They came here on visas. He was born. They went back and trained him to hate America, as I first pointed out, had been occurring 7 years ago, and he spent in an international setting advised me that this person knew of radical Islamic leaders who sent their wives to the United States to have babies so they can bring them back, teach them to hate America, and then train them to be American citizens. They could come in and out at will.

I know CNN refused to do a proper investigation. They like name calling better than doing proper investigations.

Our Nation is threatened by people that hate us. Different countries had what many referred to as birth right travel programs.

China was bragging that they had the best birth right travel programs. You pay money to this travel group, they would get you a visa to come to the United States. Of course, you would want to come during the third trimester of pregnancy so you can have a child in the United States.

Then, some of them would advise: We will even help you make sure your child has an American passport before he or she leaves the U.S. so that your child can never be denied entrance, whether to college, for work, for whatever, they can come in and out as they pleased.

That is how a man named Anwar al-Awlaki, an American citizen, helped the Clinton administration, helped the Bush administration.

I had someone who was working at one time for the administration advise me that the Obama administration was really upset because they thought Anwar al-Awlaki was helping them as an enemy of the government.

When they found out that he was not actually helping the United States, he was still helping radicalize individuals, was behind some of the radicalization of people that went on to kill Americans in the United States.

With all of those ties, in fact, there are photographs of him leading right here in this building in which I stand, Mr. Speaker, Friday prayers with Muslim staffers here on Capitol Hill; leading those prayers.

President Obama thinks that with all his ties to people in his administration, to people on Capitol Hill, this guy, an American citizen, free to come in and go as he wishes, was so dangerous, we could not possibly allow him to come back and have a trial where he could testify about all his connections to people in the Obama administration, or Bush or Clinton administration. This guy is so dangerous, we better blow him up, silence him forever.

We don’t want to give this guy a trial. Silence him forever—the first American citizen to be ordered killed by a President without a trial, with a drone strike. That was Anwar Al-Awlaki. There are so many others.

A Muslim brother, the former President of Egypt who was ordered removed: If you try to remove Morsi, he was about to be to Egypt.

So, while we are, hopefully, about to create a better healthcare system in the United States, we have got to make sure the United States is protected. And for those who are so open-minded that they want to make sure that no Muslim ever suspects them of being prejudiced, they would allow people to get into our computer system constantly, without a background check, we are being put at risk.

There were put at risk. When the Obama administration listened to CAIR, the Council on American-Islamic Relations, the group you hear from immediately after there is a terrorist attack, basically challenging people: How dare you say this was a Muslim. Well, it was a radical Islamic. Oh, so you are an Islamophobe.

I kept hearing from people inside homeland security that we were spending more time and effort training our FBI trainees to spot Islam than when we were training them to understand radical Islam. But that is exactly why Tsarnaev was never stopped, was never picked up and prevented from killing and maiming people in Boston. And that is why most FBI agents believe that they could be deprived of Kim Jensen’s 700-plus pages of radical Islam that the Obama administration did not want FBI trainees to see and to know.

They finally bought it back toward the end, but most FBI trainees never got any training on what radical Islam looks like. They never knew what questions to ask. They never knew what questions to ask at a mosque. And yes, if somebody is suspected of being a radical Islamist, you should go to the mosque and talk to their friends, find out how they were acting, find out what their new religious practices were. There are people that understood and have studied Islam. They knew. Kim Jensen knew.

So I am very hopeful that people like Kim Jensen will be given free rein to once again fully train our Justice Department officials, people like Phil Haney. I am hopeful and prayerful that Phil, after he had so much information that was deleted under Secretary Napolitano establishing ties to terrorism—they wanted them deleted because many of them had ties with the White House and it would make the White House look bad.

But when Secretary Napolitano talked about, Yeah, we get pinged and then we connect the dots, well, she oversaw the elimination of dots, she oversaw the elimination of the ability to ping, as she said, and she exposed our country to dangers that were completely—if proper training had been given to our people in the Justice Department, in our Homeland Security Department, in our intelligence agencies and groups.

It really is clear from what has been going on only been here under two Presidents—President George W. Bush, President Obama—and now the third, President Trump. But under the first two administrations that I served with, we were told repeatedly that use of the section 215 program or the 702 program that allows wiretapping of foreign agents, we were assured that if an American citizen were picked up, nobody knows the name, it is immediately masked, the conversation is minimized, so you don’t have access to that.

We were told a lot of things that turned out to be lies. And it does appear that Snowden was guilty of treason from what we have seen. He should be tried and, if convicted, punished severely. But I sure learned a lot from what got released. I learned that we were lied to during the Obama years about what was or wasn’t being done in surveilling American citizens, and at least the last part of the Bush administration, the Presidents didn’t know. But somebody knew. If we do not, in this body, give President Trump the ability to do what he became famous for—and that is say “You’re fired”—then this country is not going to get back on a sound basis. There will continue to be people who will monitor others illegally, improperly, unconstitutionally, and use that information to get rid of leaders who don’t play ball with them. That is dangerous.

We hear of foreign intelligence people who are corrupt spy on their own people, and they are impressed with what was going on under the Obama administration and feel like that was a dream come true for anyone in intelligence, to be able to monitor the people of a country, like has been going on. I mean, it has got to be cleaned up or we lose our freedoms. Once you have the ability to reach in to people’s private life, completely—you don’t even have to have a case. You can destroy their lives.

A good example was Senator Ted Stevens of Alaska. Somebody should have gone to prison for what happened to that man. He was a prosecutor, judge, and chief justice—I prosecuted people as a prosecutor, I sentenced people who were convicted when I was a judge. I ruled on convictions when I was a Chief Justice—I had to make sure due process was followed and the people got a fair trial, evidence was not obtained illegally. But in Ted Stevens’ case, I know when I read that he had had this addition—I can’t remember now; I am going strictly off recollection, but they made so improvements to his home, and I thought, oh, come on, you have got to know, Senator, you can’t have that kind of improvement free to your home. You can’t do that.

But they came in with search warrants, took all of his documentation. They got all of his bank records, they got all of his computers, his flash drives, anything that had memory on it. They took all of his documentation. The man could not defend himself. He had, as it turned out, proof that he overpaid, maybe by half a million dollars, and that the prosecutor had material—a note, as I recall—from the contractor saying something like: Look, you are overpaying me.

Senator Stevens said: Yeah. I have got to overpay you because they will look closely at everything I do. I guess I am overpaying you, but I want the addition, and I have got to do this so I never get in trouble. Don’t even cause the least of suspicion. You are going to overpay me, so just take the overpayment.

He didn’t have those documents, and he was not allowed to testify about documents that were not producible. He couldn’t produce them because the prosecutors or the FBI, somebody kept those and refused to turn them over, which is a violation of the law, and it is a crime to unfairly prosecute somebody when you know they have evidence to prove they are innocent.

You don’t even give it back to him so he can use it and show the truth?

Thank God there was a whistleblower who finally exposed—if I recall correctly, I believe it was an FBI agent. The judge hit the roof, of course. Any judge, I would have. You deceived us? You caused this prosecution, had the trial right before the election so he would lose? You changed the election? You talk about the Russians, for heaven’s sake. That was an intentional invasion, done by the FBI. It was by Americans. They ran that Republican Senator out of his office, basically destroyed his life. If he had been in the Senate, he wouldn’t have been in that airplane when it went down.

But that is what a corrupt government can do. They can come after anybody. We have got to clean out the Federal Government of people who have become dizzy with their power. I believe this is one of the most powerful dictators in history responsible for killing, starving millions of people. Stalin, one of his quotes was: With power, dizziness.

I have got a brief dancy people working in the Federal Government. Thank God that there are not more of those than there are people who love America, who really do keep their oath to the Constitution. But it has become very dangerous, and we have got to get to the bottom of this.

I have had people say: Louie, aren’t you worried? I mean, you are talking about people who can destroy a Senator, can destroy all kinds of people. Aren’t you worried they will come after you, try to destroy you the same way?

I am more concerned about my country. We have got to salvage this country’s freedoms from the brink that it came to under the Obama administration.

Then we have a report, March 6, Paul Bedard, Washington Examiner: 300 Refugees Probed As Terrorists.

“In a bid to bolster President Trump’s new executive order suspending travelers from six nations into the U.S., federal law enforcement officials revealed that they are investigating 300 refugees for terrorist ties. “While U.S. officials would not provide details on the FBI investigations, they did say that they are refugees ‘who either infiltrated with hostile intent or radicalized’ since coming into the United States.”

So these investigations are ongoing. I heard yet again this week a number of people some of my friends in the aisle would say: Look, these refugees are not a problem. They are vetted for 2 years. We don’t have to worry about them.

Yes, we do. We have already seen people who came in as refugees, people who were granted asylum. A couple of them, I believe it was Tennessee or Kentucky where they got asylum. They had not bothered to check or notice that their fingerprints were on IEDs that were set up to kill Americans.

So this 2-year vetting, oh, no, no, it is a long, tedious process to make sure they are okay. Well, I found out this week from an official with Homeland Security who said he wanted to know just how thorough the 2-year investigation and vetting was by the U.N. because he knew Homeland Security didn’t do 2 years of vetting on these refugees. And, of course, the judges—who don’t know “sic’em” from “come out of it” think they have the right under the Constitution to be dictators, and for them, without proper knowledge of what is and isn’t a threat to this country, to just dismiss orders that the President had the authority to make and just say, oh, they are unconstitutional, even though from their own statements they proved their own ignorance. So we have got refugees coming in. Thank God somebody at the Homeland Security went straight to the president of the bottom of exactly what occurs during the 2 years that the United Nations refugee program does in vetting people. So he went straight to the person in charge of the refugee program at that time, and he said: I would like to get a description of the processes of vetting that refugees go through from these countries they allege they are coming from. What all does the U.N. do to vet these refugees? And the answer came back: Well, actually, we don’t do any vetting of the refugees. It is a long 2-year process most of the time, as we are trying to convince countries to take these people. We are not spending any of that time looking into their background. The 2 years is what it usually takes to get a country to accept them, figure out where they are going to go. No, somebody else must do that. We don’t worry about that. We are just trying to find a place for them.

Mr. Speaker, the next time you hear somebody say, Oh, no, this is a very personal reasons. We have got refugees coming in. Mr. Speaker, I move the Whole House on the state of the Union.

EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

HON. PAUL D. RYAN OF WISCONSIN IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES Friday, March 10, 2017

Mr. RYAN of Wisconsin. Mr. Speaker, the Honorable Robert H. Michel, former Minority Leader of the House of Representatives, died on February 17, 2017. On that day, I issued the following statement:

"On November 29, 1994, an extraordinary thing happened on the House floor. Outgoing House Speaker Tom Foley, a Democrat from the Pacific Northwest, asked outgoing Minority Leader Bob Michel, a Republican from central Illinois, to take the gavel and preside over the House. More than a symbolic gesture, it was a fitting sendoff for a happy warrior revered for his decency and commitment to what’s right."

"A half-century earlier, as a combat infantryman, Bob Michel was in the Battle of the Bulge. He was at Normandy too. For his service in World War II, he received two Bronze Stars and the Purple Heart."

"I did not have the privilege to serve with Leader Michel. But I do have the honor of working every day in the office in the Capitol that bears his name. What a name and legacy it is. What a life well-lived by this great and gracious man. Today the members of the House—past and present—mourn with the family and friends of our former colleague and leader."

"The House took several steps to honor Mr. Michel. The flags of the U.S. Capitol were lowered to half staff in honor of his passing. A book of condolences was made available for the remembrances of friends and colleagues. On February 27, 2017, the House adopted House Resolution 151, honoring the life of former Minority Leader of the House of Representatives, Robert Henry "Bob" Michel. A memorial service was held in Statuary Hall in the U.S. Capitol on March 9, 2017. The following is a transcript of those proceedings:

PRELUDE—(United States Army Brass Quintet)

PRESENTATION OF THE COLORS—(United States Armed Forces Color Guard)

NATIONAL ANTHEM—(United States Army Chorus)

The Reverend Patrick J. Conroy, S.J., chaplain of the United States House of Representatives

Reverend Conroy: God of Heaven and Earth, the work of Your hands is made known in Your bountiful creation and in the lives of those who faithfully live in Your grace.

Today we especially remember the life and work of Bob Michel, son of the very proud city of Peoria.

As the long-time minority leader, he was a modest man whose impact on the public well beyond his district far exceeded any projection of ego strength. A man of an age past, he was a better practitioner of governance than leader politics. A leader just as skillful at that ushered through a Democratic House much of President Ronald Reagan’s agenda, evidence of an extraordinary ability to legislate within our constitutional structures.

"Today, we celebrate the life of the Honorable Robert H. Michel, the distinguished leader from the State of Illinois. On the day of his passing, it was my sad duty as Speaker to order the flags flown over the Capitol to be flown at half staff.

"At this moment, I would like to ask the Capitol Police to present one of those flags from that duty to the Michel family, if you will, please."

(Presentation made.)

Speaker Ryan: Bob Michel was a man of very simple rituals. He pressed his own shirts. He whistled while he worked—not, he actually did whistle while he worked. He had time for everyone. That is a skill I am really learning to appreciate, and that is difficult to develop in this job.

"Actually, I would say this is the kind of inclusive program that the leader would enjoy: three Republicans, two Democrats, and Ray LaHood.

(Applause.)

Speaker Ryan: That is right. Because this is a celebration of a great life, this being a House event, we are going to hear some really great stories. I want to start the bidding with two.

One comes from Karen Haas, Karen, whom we all know very, very well right here in the House because she is the Clerk of the House.

But Karen serves as a long-time Bob Michel aide. Karen tells this story of a time she briefed the leader on a tax provision that was passed so that they wouldn’t have to go over the whole thing all over again with Bill Archer on the floor.

In the story of his very, very early days when he was a kid, she said that she(did something) and that was that they wouldn’t have to go over the whole thing all over again with Bill Archer on the floor.

They get to the floor, and sure enough, Bill Archer comes up on the floor, comes up, starts going into the tax policy. The leader sits down, and he says, ‘Walk me through it from beginning to end. Tell me all about it.’

Karen starts fidgeting in her chair. He just taps her lightly, and the leader basically is saying to her, without saying a word: ‘This is the job. A leader takes a moment; a leader listens.’

My predecessor, John Boehner, he tells a story of his very, very early days when he was the leader just as skillful as he was the leader just as skillful at that ushered through a Democratic House much of President Reagan’s agenda, evidence of an extraordinary ability to legislate within our constitutional structures."

"He would say: ‘Just look who’s here: my family, Republicans, Democrats, diehard Cub fans—and the rest of the world.’

"We have beautiful baseball weather outside, a U.S. Army band and chorus inside, and we meet in the right room. If you can’t be on the floor of the House, this is a great room to honor Bob Michel. Imagine how many times we walked across this room back and forth to his office, to his beloved floor of the House of Representatives.

But best of all, we meet with the uncommonly decent spirit of Bob Michel among us again. The only thing Bob loved better than the people’s House, as he called it, was his family.

To Bob and Corinne’s children—Scott, Robin, Bruce, Laurie, and their families, grand-children, we hope in this time of loss, as you look around here at the support and friendship, that you can replace that loss with happy memories of a great fellow, one loved by all.

Bob’s devotion to public service began when he was 19 years old. He was an Army private, off to fight with courage in some of the most important battles in human history. It continued after he left Congress, with his extraordinary efforts to increase America’s investment in medical research.

But he left his greatest mark in public service right here in this building. In his nearly 50 years in the House of Representatives, he said that the proudest moment of his career was when he was the leader just as skillful at that ushered through a Democratic House much of President Reagan’s agenda, evidence of an extraordinary ability to legislate within our constitutional structures.

"I was elected 2 years later, in a tumultuous election in 1982. Bob, of course, was the Republican leader at that time, and we had adjoining congressional districts. Not a lesser

March 10, 2017 CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — Extensions of Remarks E309
Many honors are afforded members of Congress, but to be asked to speak at a memorial service for a fellow member is the supreme honor. Yet, it is an honor to be here with speaker Ryan and senator Durbin, Vice President Cheney, Secretary Baker, Secretary LaHood, Secretary Ryan and senator Pitts. I will talk about the two of them later.

Today we remember a beloved former colleague who embodied the highest ideals of our party and his party, Senator Henry Dole. In this hallowed Hall, gathered beneath the great statue of Clio, the muse of history, Clio and her clock remind us that our time on this earth is fleeting. Bob Michel, a man who has written his name in history, reminds us that who we are is part of history, that our words and our actions will face the judgment of history, that we are part of the long and honored heritage of our democracy. This distinguished gathering is a tribute to Leader Michel’s leadership, service, and civility, embodying everything we hope our heritage would be.

Bob Michel was a statesman, a patriot, a proud immigrant, and a great American statesman—a patriot indeed.

Bob was a man of vision, a man of integrity, a man of conviction, and a man of civility. He loved his country, he loved his state, and he loved his constituents. He understood the importance of public service. He believed in the truth and compromise and working out the details to meet the needs of the American people.

It was a joy to behold Leader Michel’s devotion to his late wife, Corinne, and love for his children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren. I hope the grandchildren and the great-grandchildren who are here understand how much their grandfather is revered—and for a long time to come. Of all of his achievements as Republican leader of the House, Bob Michel was most proud of being a husband, father, and grandfather.

For so many of us, it was such an honor to serve with him, to be his colleague in the Congress. It was a privilege to serve with him. He was an honorable man and a joy to call him friend. Many of us, maybe, presuming, but he made us feel that we were all his friends.

Bob Michel was a patriot, a proud immigrant’s son, a soldier, and a great American statesman—a patriot indeed.

In World War II, Bob served with heroism and honor, and earned him the first congressional Distinguished Service Award. In the Congress, Bob fought for the people of Peoria and his beloved Illinois. He brought the values of the heartland to Washington. And he personified the highest ideals of our Nation.

His valor and leadership were recognized with the Presidential Medal of Freedom, with the high honor of France’s Knights of the Legion of Honor. All of us benefited from his wisdom, his dignity, and his integrity.

Bob once said: “Understanding the other person’s viewpoint is the beginning of political wisdom. We will always agree. But it does mean that when we disagree, it’s a disagreement based on fact.”

What great wisdom.

Leader Michel reminded all of us that we have a role to play in strengthening our democracy. Let us carry forward Bob’s courage, his conviction, and his civility.

With his characteristic civility and grace, Bob Michel held the respect of colleagues on both sides of the aisle. I am sure that Steny Hoyer and I are not the only colleagues in the House who served with him and since then all respected and loved Bob Michel.

His relationship with Speaker O’Neill was legendary. Bob Michel was the first Speaker, and he took the leader’s office and yielded the speaker’s office to Bob Michel. That office is now named for Bob Michel. And it brings a joy to all of us that it is, and it brings further to that office that it bears his name.

They were really close friends, and they traveled a lot. And I am just telling you this story because it is a story that worked with O’Neill, and Billy Pitts, who worked with Bob Michel. One time they were on a trip visiting Gorbachev in Russia, the Soviet Union, and it was going well and we were at a dinner, at a banquet in Moscow, and we were at a table and each table at the banquet had a political discussion, and this table had a discussion about the importance of public service, and it was such a nonpartisan, bipartisan, and everyone was at the table, and the discussion was about the importance of public service. So they both spoke and then Pitts stepped in for the Democrats.

Okay, Billy? Billy and Jack, please stand up, because they are the two closest people to Tip and Bob Michel.

(Applause.)

Minority Leader Pelosi: It wasn’t that long ago when Speaker O’Neill and chairman of the House Rules Committee, LaHood, and Senate Majority Leader Dole, had a role to play in strengthening our democracy. And he also understood that we were engaged in a political disagreement from time to time. And Bob Michel and Democrat might disagree on policy, but we always agreed, because he led us that way, on the importance of public service. He believed in the truth and compromise and working out the details to meet the needs of the American people.

It was a joy to behold Leader Michel’s devotion to his late wife, Corinne, and love for his children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren. I hope the grandchildren and the great-grandchildren who are here understand how much their grandfather is revered—and for a long time to come. Of all of his achievements as Republican leader of the House, Bob Michel was most proud of being a husband, father, and grandfather.

For so many of us, it was such an honor to serve with him, to be his colleague in the Congress. It was a privilege to serve with him. He was an honorable man and a joy to call him friend. Many of us, maybe, presuming, but he made us feel that we were all his friends.

Bob Michel was a statesman, a patriot, a proud immigrant’s son, a soldier, and a great American statesman—a patriot indeed.

Leader Michel, may I say again, had a role to play in strengthening our democracy. And he also understood that we were engaged in a political disagreement from time to time. And Bob Michel and Democrat might disagree on policy, but we always agreed, because he led us that way, on the importance of public service. He believed in the truth and compromise and working out the details to meet the needs of the American people.

straight-up guy through and through, as authentic and devoid of pretense as any man could be.

Like his counterpart, Senator Dole, Bob was a politician of conviction. A warrior who knew far bigger tests than a tough vote or a heated floor debate. I guess when you have landed at Normandy, led a platoon in combat, been wounded, and lived to tell the tale, the Bulge, you gain a perspective that doesn’t come any other way. You know what a real fight looks like, what a real loss feels like, and how to persuade others of politics are all a little bit more manageable.

When we are young and we first start reading about politics, we picture a certain kind of individual—men in Congress, maybe. In time, reality teaches us a little differently. In this case, the man and the ideal were awfully close.

The gentleman from Illinois commanded respect well beyond anything required by title. He was a man of courage, rectitude, and personal kindness, a friend we looked up to and were lucky to have in our lives. We honor Bob for all that he gave to America, and we are grateful for all that he meant to us.

(Applause.)

Mr. LaHood: Thank you all for being here. Thank you.

Mr. LaHood: And finally, Bob Michel the Cub fan. Many of us in this room received Christmas cards from Bob year in and year out. We are grateful to the Ricketts family and all of the people that put together that great organization that helped a great Cub fan watch them win the World Series.

Three final thoughts:

Mr. LaHood: When you worked for Bob Michel, you learned much more about politics and about people. You learned much more about yourself.

Mr. LaHood: Thank you for what you did for our leader. Please join me in giving the privilege of serving as a Bob Michel staffer to all of you that were a part of it.

President John Adams once said the Constitution is the project of good heads and good hearts, treating each other with mutual respect, all of you that were a part of it.

Mr. LaHood: And finally, Bob Michel the Cub fan. Many of us in this room received Christmas cards from Bob year in and year out. We are grateful to the Ricketts family and all of the people that put together that great organization that helped a great Cub fan watch them win the World Series.

Three final thoughts:

here, and who brought honor to his home town of Peoria.

Let me introduce, finally, Scott Michel. When the Michel family gave me the privilege of organizing the memorial service in Peoria and here, all of us, except for Scott, thought that a family member should say something. We persuaded Scott to be the one to represent the family. You all know Bob loved every one of his children and his grandchildren. So Scott really stepped up and decided that he would be the one to represent the family. So please welcome Scott Michel.

(Applause.)

Mr. Michel: Thank you, Ray.

First, let me thank all of you, on behalf of the entire Michel family, for joining us here this afternoon to celebrate the life of my dad, Bob Michel.

Since his passing last month in Arlington, Virginia, I have read glowing tributes, news articles, and obituaries capturing the highlights of his illustrious career and extolling the virtues of his character. What I want to tell you today is that the qualities that propelled him to such lofty heights were made a part of him by his father and mother, Charles and Anna Michel, back in Peoria, Illinois. His parents instilled in him values and character that developed, matured, and later were passed on to his sons and daughters, just as he had done for us.

As I got older and had a son of my own, I looked back and tried to replicate what I saw and learned when I was growing up. What did I see and learn? First, I saw a larger than life figure with a booming voice, a vivid presence, and the bearing of a leader. He was in charge. And even though his work in Washington was important, Bob always made sure we had fun. He would give us a four- or five-week break every year, and we would take three or four of our friends and go to California, where we would spend the week or the weekend wherever we wanted to go.

By the time we were 16 or 17 years old, he would give us a car and we would go out on our own for the week. I remember once, when we were driving up to the top of a mountain in San Diego, Bob said, “You know, I have a dream. I want to be a mountain climber.” And we all laughed. He had a great sense of humor, and we all had a great time.

Second, when he was at home, we saw up close what he was made of, and that made a lasting impression on all of us. Learning his life lessons was simple: just watch and listen. His lessons weren’t taught so much by conversation as by simple observation. We could see how he interacted with my mother: how he treated her, how he respected her, how they spoke with each other. It was with love, sensitivity, and without harsh or bitter words. We could see how he treated each of us, too. He was fair, evenhanded, strict when needed, held us accountable for our actions, and expected no less than our best at whatever we were doing, whatever tasks we were given, or whatever our school studies demanded. All of this reinforced his desire for us to be responsible.

He also showed us how to be humble by practicing humility. Bragging was called out. So was self-centeredness and arrogance. He showed us that working hard and doing a good job were its own reward. He showed us how to be honest by demanding the truth from us and expecting no less when dealing with others. He showed us how to be generous by supporting his community efforts to help assist, console, and empathize with those less fortunate or those who had fallen on difficult times. And he showed us how to be with others by treating them the way he would want to be treated. That sounds like the Golden Rule.

As I look back at the values and character that were instilled in him, his humility, his honesty, his work ethic, his generosity, his respect for others, and his abiding faith in God and our country—I feel so fortunate and blessed to have had him as my father. He loved us and his family in every way and with all his heart. He was a one-of-a-kind role model.

While his accomplishments in public life make us all so very proud, it is his values and character that he instilled in each of us that mean the most to us. That will be his lasting legacy.

Godspeed, Dad. I love you. I miss you. I know you are in God’s hands now. Before he left us, he would like to ask that you all join the U.S. Army chorus in singing “God Bless America,” which was one of my dad’s favorite songs, especially when he could lead the singing, as he did on numerous occasions.

MUSICAL SELECTION—(“God Bless America,” performed by the United States Army Chorus)

Reverend Conroy: Dear Lord, as we close our time together, send Your spirit of peace and consolation upon us who mourn the loss of the Honorable, former minority leader of the House, Bob Michel.

He was a glowing example, an icon of what it means to be a man for others. His decades of service to his home State of Illinois and our great Nation will be long appreciated by those whose lives are forever blessed by his life’s work and dedication.

His belief in the durability and transcendence of Congress as an institution, the first branch of government, is a challenge in this day of severe partisan divide and a persistent and seeming inability to consider compromise in order to reach consensus. May some from both sides of the aisle be inspired to emulate such a great statesman.

May Your angels, O God, come to greet you beloved Bob Michel, and may those who mourn him here be consoled with the knowledge that, for those whom you love, everything is turned to good.

Amen.

HONORING JOE McEARCHERN FOR HIS CAREER IN PUBLIC SERVICE

HON. BRADLEY BYRNE OF ALABAMA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, March 10, 2017

Mr. BYRNE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Joe Deal McEachern, Jr., for his over forty years of service as Chief Clerk of the Mobile County Probate Court.

Born in 1949, Joe has been a lifelong resident of Mobile County, Alabama. After Joe’s father passed away when he was young, he worked in various shoe stores in the Mobile area to help finance his college education. He attended public schools in Prichard, Alabama, and graduated from C.F. Vigor High School in 1968. During his time at Vigor, Joe was President of the National Honor Society, sports editor for the yearbook, and named “Student of the Year” by the Boy Scouts of America.

Joe went on to attend the University of South Alabama, where he graduated in 1972 with a bachelor’s degree in political science. While in college, he married Wendy Stinson, who also graduated from South.

In July of 1976, Joe was hired by Mobile County Judge of Probate John L. Moore to serve as chief clerk of the Probate Division. He later served as administrative assistant of the Court before being appointed chief clerk of the Court in March 1981. He has served in that position ever since under Judges John L. Moore III, Lionel W. Noonan, and Don Davis.

Early in his career, Joe oversaw and implemented changes to the Probate Court’s pre-computerized indexing system for judicial and land records. His work focused on making these systems more efficient and easier to use.

As technology advanced, Joe oversaw and implemented changes to the Court’s operations to utilize computer technology in all aspects of the Court’s operations, including the recording of documents, word processing, websites, judicial case management, and accounting.

Joe is currently the dean of the chief clerks of probate courts in the State of Alabama. He is a founding member and past president of the Alabama Probate Court Chief Clerks Association. He served as a member of the Alabama Law Institute’s Probate Code Revision Committee and assisted the Alabama Law Institute on numerous projects involving Alabama probate courts, probate law, and probate procedure. He has been asked to speak and present on these topics countless times throughout his career.

When he was not working, Joe has pursued a number of hobbies including photography, astronomy, birding, ham radio, and flying. He is also a long time member of the First Baptist Church of Mobile.

Joe has always been a good friend of the lawyers in our community, including a friend of mine. So, on behalf of Alabama’s First Congressional District, I want to wish Joe and Wendy all the best upon his retirement. His dedicated service to Mobile County has not and will not go unnoticed.

IN RECOGNITION OF ORELAND BOY SCOUT TROOP 1

HON. PATRICK MEEHAN OF PENNSYLVANIA

Friday, March 10, 2017

Mr. MEEHAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Oreland Boy Scout Troop 1 of Montgomery County, Pennsylvania as it celebrates its 100th Anniversary. The Boy Scouts of America chartered the troop in 1917, and its members have been active and dedicated contributors to their communities in the century since. Today, Troop 1 hosts scouts from Oreland, Flourtown, Erdenheim, Fort Washington, Maple Glen and other neighboring communities.

The Boy Scouts are one of the largest youth development organizations in the country, and I am pleased to have so many active troops in Pennsylvania’s 7th District, Oreland Boy Scout Troop 1 is one such troop, among the oldest in Pennsylvania, and it has trained so many of our area’s youth to be young men of character, service, and commitment to community and country.

Mr. Speaker, Oreland Boy Scout Troop 1 performs an invaluable service to the scouts involved and the communities it serves. I thank the Troop’s scouts and leaders over the last century for their service and leadership.
INNOCENT PARTY PROTECTION ACT

HON. SHEILA JACKSON LEE
OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, March 9, 2017

The House in Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 725) to amend title 28, United States Code, to prevent fraudulent joinder:

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. chair, I rise in strong opposition to H.R. 725, the Innocent Party Protection Act of 2017.

H.R. 725 is the latest Republican effort to deny plaintiffs access to the forum of their choice and, possibly, to their day in court.

H.R. 725 seeks to overturn longstanding precedent in favor of a vague and unnecessary test that forces state cases into federal court when they do not belong there, and gives large corporate defendants an unfair advantage to cherry-pick their forum without the normal burden of proving proper jurisdiction.

This bill would upend long established law in the area of federal court jurisdiction, specifically addressing the supposed overuse of fraudulent joinder to defeat complete diversity jurisdiction in federal courts.

It was previously known as the Fraudulent Joinder Prevention Act; however, this bill is not about fraud.

It is a corporate forum-shopping bill that would allow corporations to move cases improperly brought in state courts into federal courts.

If enacted this bill would tip the scales of justice in favor of corporate defendants and make it more difficult for injured plaintiffs to bring their state claims in state court.

Corporate defendants support this bill because they prefer to litigate in federal court, which usually results in less diverse juries, more expensive proceedings, longer wait times for trials, and stricter limits on discovery.

For plaintiffs, who are supposed to be able to choose their forums, this legislation would result in more expensive, time-consuming detours through federal courts for plaintiffs.

Wrongdoers would not be held accountable for the harm they cause, while the taxpayers ultimately foot the bill.

For example: large corporate defendants (i.e. typically the diverse defendants) would be favored by the bill because, if the nondiverse defendant is dismissed from the case, they can blame the now-absent in-state defendant for the plaintiff’s injuries.

Smaller nondiverse defendants would also be favored because the diverse defendant does all the work for them.

The diverse defendant removes the case to federal court and argues that the nondiverse defendant is improperly joined.

If the federal court retains jurisdiction, the nondiverse defendant must be dismissed from the case.

If one or more defendants are dismissed from the case, it is easy for the remaining defendant to finger point and blame the absent defendant for the plaintiff’s injuries.

Even if a federal court remands the case to state court under the bill, the defendants have successfully forced the plaintiff to expend their limited resources on a baseless, time-consuming, and wasteful use of judicial resources.

Regardless of whether the case is remanded to state court or stays in federal court, this new, mandated inquiry will be a drain on the limited resources of federal courts.

By mandating a full merits-inquiry on a procedural motion, H.R. 725 is expensive, time-consuming, and wasteful use of judicial resources.

The bill would result in needless micromanagement of federal courts and a waste of judicial resources.

Lastly, by seeking to favor federal courts over state courts as forums for deciding state law claims, this bill offends the principles of federalism.

While it purports to fix a non-existent problem, it creates problems itself.

The ability of state courts to function independently of federal courts’ procedural analysis is a necessary function of the success of the American judiciary branch.

For these reasons, I urge my colleagues to join me in opposing the underlying legislation, H.R. 725, the dubiously named, Innocent Party Protection Act of 2017.

HAPPY 100TH BIRTHDAY TO LTC JAMES MEGELLAS, U.S. ARMY (RET.)

HON. KENNY MARCHANT
OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, March 10, 2017

Mr. MARCHANT. Mr. Speaker, I rise today with the great honor and privilege of recognizing a true American Hero, Lieutenant Colonel (LTC) James Megellas of Colleyville, Texas, in celebration of his 100th birthday.

Lieutenant Colonel James Megellas received his military commission on May 28th, 1942 as he walked the stage at his graduation from Ripon College in Ripon, Wisconsin. Simultaneously receiving his diploma and military orders, James became a newly commissioned officer in the United States Army.

Since receiving his commission on that fateful day, LTC Megellas’ incredible courage and selfless dedication to his country enabled him to become the most decorated officer in the history of the 82nd Airborne Division. His exemplary service to our nation and outstanding bravery during the Second World War helped to liberate a continent and defend the freedom of millions of civilians in the European Theater.

LTC Megellas reported for duty at Fort Knox, Kentucky on June 8, 1942 and began preparing to enter the war. Soon thereafter, he was selected to become a paratrooper within the 101st Airborne Division, where he served for the duration of the war on the front lines of the European Theater. His experiences during the war brought him to Anzio, Italy where he fought in the Battle of Anzio; The Netherlands for Operation Market Garden and the Battle of Nijmegen where he crossed the Waal River; and in Belgium where he fought in the Battle of the Bulge.

For his service during Operation Market Garden, LTC Megellas was the first American awarded the Military Order of Wilhem, the oldest and highest honor awarded by the Kingdom of the Netherlands. Furthermore, LTC Megellas was awarded the Belgium Fouragere, by the Kingdom of Belgium for his bravery in defense of the Kingdom.
In addition to his foreign honors, LTC Megellas has received over 25 awards for service and valor while serving in the U.S. Army. These honors include: the Distinguished Service Cross, two Silver Stars, two Bronze Stars, two Purple Hearts, the Presidential Unit Citation withCluster, and six Campaign Stars, Combat Infantryman Badge, and Master Parachutist Badge to name but a few of his awards.

Selfless action in the face of unspeakable atrocity is one of the defining characteristics of the Greatest Generation. LTC Megellas and his outstanding service stands as a shining example of how truly great this generation is. This example has set a high bar for which we as patriots and defenders of freedom should strive to achieve.

After leaving active duty in 1946, LTC Megellas continued to serve in the U.S. Army Reserves for an additional 16 years where he reached the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. Following his retirement from the Army Reserves, in November 1961, LTC Megellas was appointed by President John F. Kennedy to serve as Mission Director within the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) where he served in Yemen, Panama, Columbia, and Vietnam.

LTC Megellas remains active in supporting veterans and service members across the globe. He regularly travels to speak with veterans, historians, and school children to share his experiences and to remind us all of the tremendous accomplishments of the Greatest Generation.

Mr. Speaker, it is my great honor to stand before you today to wish this living legend a very happy birthday. I ask my distinguished colleagues to join me in wishing Lieutenant Colonel James Megellas a happy 100th birthday.

IN CELEBRATION OF MRS. EMMA BROWN’S 100TH BIRTHDAY

HON. SANFORD D. BISHOP, JR.
OF GEORGIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, March 10, 2017

Mr. BISHOP of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to extend my sincerest congratulations and Happy Birthday wishes to Mrs. Emma Brown, who is celebrating her 100th birthday on Sunday, March 12, 2017. On this day, the Greater Beallwood Baptist Church in Columbus, Georgia will honor and celebrate Mrs. Brown during the Sunday Worship Experience.

In 1917, the United States entered World War I and women did not have the right to vote, and segregation was rampant in the South. This is the year Mrs. Emma Brown was born. Indeed, Mrs. Brown has seen much in her lifetime and through it all, she has relied on her faith in the Lord.

Mrs. Brown and her family have been long-time fixtures at Greater Beallwood Baptist Church. Mrs. Brown’s mother, Lillie McGruder Morris, was very active within the church as a deaconess and choir member. Her engagement laid the foundation for the family’s commitment to the church.

After Mrs. Brown accepted Jesus Christ as Her Lord and Savior in 1942, she immediately became a servant of the church. She served as an usher for more than 50 years. She held the title of Church Mother for several years. In 2004, she was commended for her decades of service with a meritorious award from the Georgia Missionary Convention. She also received an achievement award from the Mount Calvary Women’s Mission Christian Education Auxiliary in recognition of her lifetime commitment to modeling Christian values.

In 1947, Mrs. Brown and her late husband Sgt. Lonnie Brown purchased their East Wynnton home in Columbus, where she still resides. For many years, Mrs. Brown worked at Saint Francis Hospital and as a private duty nurse. In her retirement, she has enjoyed participating in the Victory Play Girls Bowling League.

In addition to serving her church, Mrs. Brown felt a great sense of duty to be involved in her local community. She worked diligently to protect, educate, and encourage the youth of Columbus, Georgia and organizations such as Carver Heights Against Drugs (CHAD) have honored Mrs. Brown for her years of devotion to this work.

George Washington Carver once said, “How far you go in life depends on your being tender with the young, compassionate with the aged, sympathetic with the striving and tolerant of the weak and strong because someday in your life you will have been all of these.” Mrs. Brown has advanced far in life because she never forgot these lessons and always kept God first.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in honoring an outstanding citizen and woman of faith, Mrs. Emma Brown, as she, her family, and the congregation of Greater Beallwood Baptist Church celebrate her 100th birthday.

IN RECOGNITION OF KAY H. HIND

HON. SANFORD D. BISHOP, JR.
OF GEORGIA

Friday, March 10, 2017

Mr. BISHOP of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, it is my honor and pleasure to extend my personal congratulations and best wishes to an exceptional community leader and outstanding citizen, Ms. Kay H. Hind, on the occasion of her retirement from the SOWEGA Council on Aging in Albany, Georgia on Friday, March 31, 2017.

Kay Hind was born in Albany, Georgia. She attended Georgia Southwestern College (now University) in Americus, Georgia before transferring to the University of Georgia, where she earned a bachelor's degree in Home Economics in 1951. She then worked as a Home Economist Extension Agent in Crawford County and Lee County, Georgia.

Since 1967, Ms. Hind has served as Executive Director of the SOWEGA Council on Aging, leading the organization for 49 of the 50 years it has been in operation. It was established to promote the well-being and independence of older and disabled people in the Southwest Georgia area. The Council started out with an $8,000 budget, one employee, and one volunteer. Under Ms. Hind's leadership, the agency has been designated as an Area Agency on Aging by the state and expanded into a $6 million operation with more than 20 programs. It serves more than 25,000 seniors per year and offers information and resources to 67,000 seniors living in fourteen counties in Southwest Georgia.

In 2014, the SOWEGA Council on Aging opened a new Senior Center and Agency Office in Albany, fulfilling Ms. Hind's longtime dream. Prior to the construction of the building, the agency operated out of five old buildings spread out across town. This 45,000 square foot state-of-the-art facility allowed the agency to streamline operations, increase visibility in the community, and serve more seniors with new programs, including educational programs, computer classes, arts and craft courses, exercise programs, a fitness center, and more. In recognition of Ms. Hind's work and advocacy for seniors in the community, the Kay H. Hind Senior Life Enrichment Center was named after her, further cementing her great legacy.

Ms. Hind is a familiar face around Albany, where she is an active member of the community. She has served in leadership roles for many professional and civic organizations, including the Southeastern Association of Area Agencies on Aging; National Association of Area Agencies on Aging; Southern Gerontological Society; and the Albany Hospice Board, among others. She is also a member of the First United Methodist Church and Kiwanis Club of Albany, to which she has dedicated much of her service.

It is my pleasure to agree to the resolution offered to the Committee on Government Operations and Reform, and I call for a vote. I respectfully urge all Members to come to the well and vote yes. On a personal note, I have been blessed to know Kay Hind for many years and I can say without reservation that she is one of the most outstanding and warmhearted individuals with whom I have had the pleasure of working. Although we will miss her leadership with the SOWEGA Council on Aging, we are consoled knowing that this will only free up more time for her to continue to be involved in the community and enjoy some well-deserved relaxation.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in extending our sincerest appreciation and congratulations to Kay Hind upon the occasion of her retirement from an outstanding career spanning nearly five decades with the SOWEGA Council on Aging.

SOUTH CAROLINA WASHINGTON SEMESTER PROGRAM CELEBRATES 25 YEARS

HON. JAMES E. CLYBURN OF SOUTH CAROLINA

Friday, March 10, 2017

Mr. CLYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I rise as dean of the South Carolina congressional delegation to recognize and honor the South Carolina Washington Semester Program for its 25 years of offering outstanding young people from South Carolina colleges and universities the opportunity to come to Washington, D.C. to learn and serve. Each office in the delegation has benefited from involvement with these students, who work for us during the business day and earn college credits at night. The program was founded to ensure that South Carolina congressional offices had access to talented South Carolina students. These students have proven to be some of the brightest and most engaged to ever serve in our offices over the past quarter century.

The students are chosen competitively from statewide interviews and come to Washington for the academic semester. They work full time, five days a week, in placements consistent with their academic and career interests. While administered by the South Carolina Honors College, this is truly a statewide program and is larger than a single school. Over the years, high achieving students from The Citadel, South Carolina State University, University of South Carolina Lancaster, College of Charleston, University of South Carolina Aiken, Clemson University, Lander University, Winthrop University, Coastal Carolina University, Wofford College, Francis Marion University, Charleston Southern University, Claflin University, University of South Carolina Upstate, and University of South Carolina Columbia have participated. Over 25 years, more than 500 students have participated in the program.

In addition to each office in the delegation, Senators LINDSEY GRAHAM and TIM SCOTT and my colleagues MARK HANNAH, JEFF DUNCAN, TREY GOWDY, and TOM RICE, over its 25 years the program has been utilized by our predecessors as well. South Carolina Washington Semester Program students have served Strom Thurmond, Fritz Hollings, Jim DeMint, Arthur Ravenel, Henry Brown, Floyd Spence, Butler Derrick, Gresham Barrett, Liz Patterson, Bob Inglis, John Spratt, Robin Tallon, and Mick Mulvaney.

South Carolina Washington Semester Program students have also served in over 80 governmental, non-profit, and private sector agencies such as the White House, CNN, C-SPAN, United States Supreme Court, Departments of Justice, Commerce, Homeland Security, Education, State, Health and Human
IN RECOGNITION OF THE 130TH ANNIVERSARY OF SECOND BAPTIST CHURCH

HON. FRANK PALLONE, JR.
OF NEW JERSEY
Friday, March 10, 2017

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the 130th Anniversary of Second Baptist Church in Long Branch, New Jersey. Its members will celebrate this milestone during Sunday service on March 12, 2017 and it is my honor to join them in marking this signific- ant occasion.

Since its humble beginnings at the home of Ephraim Bell in 1887, Second Baptist Church has grown structurally and in membership, while continuing to provide outstanding spir- itual guidance to the community. The construction of the church building where the church still stands today began in 1904, under the leadership of Rev. Asbury Smallwood. To accommodate the growing congregation over the years, an educational wing was con- structed in the late 1970s and a second Sun- day service was added in 2000.

Throughout its 130 year history, Second Baptist Church has also expanded its vision and service to the community. In addition to serving all the spiritual needs of its members, Second Baptist Church is also home to the Portuguese congregation led by Rev. Aloisio Campos, Jr. The church has also served as a Monmouth County Head Start facility as well as a New Hope tutoring program location.

Its current pastor, Rev. Aaron N. Gibson, Sr., serves as the pastor of the church and has dedicated over 20 years of service to the congregation. Under his leadership, the church has seen significant growth and re- mains a mainstay of the community.

Mr. Speaker, please join me in congrat- ulating Second Baptist Church on its 130th An- niversary. Its service to the community is truly deserving of this body's recognition.

INTRODUCTION OF END RACIAL PROFILING ACT OF 2017

HON. JOHN CONYERS, JR.
OF MICHIGAN
Friday, March 10, 2017

Mr. CONYERS. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to introduce the End Racial Profiling Act of 2017, along with additional cosponsors. This legislation represents a comprehensive federal commitment to healing the rift caused by ra- cial, ethnic and religious profiling and restoring public confidence in the criminal justice sys- tem at-large. This legislation is designed to enforce the constitutional right to equal protec- tion of the laws by changing the policies and procedures underlying the practice of discrimi- natory profiling.

Recent events in the wake of President Trump’s Executive Orders on Immigration demonstrate that racial, ethnic and religious profiling remain dangerous and divisive issues in our communities. Airport detentions of Mus- lims and immigration raids targeted at the Latino community strike at the very foundation of our democracy. Though people across our nation are protesting in response to these ac- tions, there is no substitute for comprehensive federal anti-profiling legislation.

This legislation can be traced back to the data collection efforts of the late 1990’s that were designed to determine whether racial profiling was a fact versus an urban legend. Based upon the work around that legislation, Mr. Conyers, on December 11, 2001, introduced a bill to require the Attorney General to conduct a thorough study on the subject and to report back to Congress within 90 days. This is the precursor to this legislation.

Our legislation establishes the criteria for Federal action in cases of discriminatory profiling, at the local, state, or Federal level. The Offense-Proportionality Test examines whether the actions were so severe that Federal action is justified to begin addressing the issue.

The End Racial Profiling Act is designed to elimi- nate the well documented problem of ra- cial, ethnic, religious, gender, sexual orienta- tion, gender identity and national origin profiling. First, the bill provides a prohibition on racial profiling, enforceable by declaratory or injunctive relief. Second, the bill mandates that training on racial profiling issues as part of Federal law enforcement training. The collection of data on all routine or spontaneous in- vestigatory activities that is to be submitted through a standardized form to the Depart- ment of Justice. Third, the Justice Department is authorized to provide grants for the develop- ment and implementation of best policing practices, such as early warning systems, technology integration, and other management protocols that discourage or end discriminatory profiling. Finally, the Attorney General is required to provide periodic reports to assess the nature of any ongo- ing discriminatory profiling practices.

In recent years the deaths of Walter L. Scott, arising from a traffic stop, Michael Brown, Eric Garner, and Antonio Zambrano- Montes, all at the hands of police officers, have highlighted the link between the issues of race and reasonable suspicion of criminal conduct. These individuals were denied the basic respect and equal treatment that is the right of every American. Ultimately, these men are tragic examples of the risk of being victim- ized by a perception of criminality simply be- cause of their race, ethnicity, religion or na- tional origin. These dangerous misperceptions of criminality helped to cultivate an environ- ment in which the United States government considers discriminatory and unconstitutional executive orders a reasonable use of execu- tive power.

Decades ago, the passage of sweeping civil rights legislation made clear that race, religion and ethnicity should not affect the treatment of individual Americans under the law. The prac- tice of using race or other characteristics as a proxy for criminality in law enforcement under- mines the progress we have made toward achieving equality under the law. Please join me in supporting this legislation.
Mr. CURBELO of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I was unavoidably detained. Had I been present, I would have voted YEA on Roll Call No. 140.

Mrs. BLACKBURN. Mr. Speaker, Fred Thompson was a neighbor and trusted friend. He was embraced by the people of Tennessee because of his dedication to first principles and strong conservative values.

To most Americans, he was an actor, usually taking roles that exuded confidence and integrity.

To those of us that knew him personally, he was a devoted public servant that spent a large part of his life service to the people of the United States.

He began his public career as an assistant U.S. attorney in Tennessee before working with Senator Howard Baker, a man who was a role model for generations of Tennesseans looking to serve the American people.

He would go on to spend 8 years in the U.S. Senate himself, famously touring the state of Tennessee in his red pickup truck.

After conducting a life well-lived, naming this federal courthouse to honor him is a great way to show our respect for his commitment to the people of Tennessee.

I am glad this bill to give him that honor is on the floor today, and I hope all my colleagues will join me in passing it.
