

was asked to take the position of Editor/Organizer for IAM District 91 and then an organizer for IAM District 26, a position which he has continued to hold until now. From contract negotiations to communications to organization efforts, John's work has helped to secure economic and retirement security for his members and their families. As President of the Connecticut State Council of Machinists, John has been the voice for more than 10,000 active and retired IAM members and they could not have asked for a more passionate or dedicated leader.

John's work for IAM members has extended far beyond his role within the union itself. He has served as director of GrowJobsCT, a program that brings together labor and state business interests on issues of common concern in order to support manufacturing and its associated jobs throughout Connecticut. He has also served on a number of boards and commissions related to jobs, including as a member of the Board of Directors of the Connecticut Green Bank and Chairperson of the Board of Directors of the Connecticut Roundtable on Jobs and Climate. He was a founding member of the Connecticut Hydrogen and Fuel Cell Coalition, a member of the Advisory Board of Connecticut's Manufacturing Innovation Fund, and co-chair of the Workforce Development Committee of the Manufacturing Innovation Fund in its Investing in Manufacturing Community Partnerships federal initiative. John also played a critical role in the development of the Advanced Manufacturing Training Center at Goodwin College where he is an adjunct faculty member.

Over the years, John and I have worked on countless issues together and I will always be grateful for his candor, friendship, and support. He has dedicated a lifetime to ensuring safe workplaces. Today, as he marks his retirement, I am honored to stand and extend my deepest thanks and appreciation to John Harrity for his bold leadership and outstanding contributions to IAM and Connecticut's labor movement. I wish him, his wife, Cindy, his children and grandchildren the very best for many more years of health and happiness as they begin this new chapter.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. EARL BLUMENAUER

OF OREGON

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, January 25, 2018

Mr. BLUMENAUER. Mr. Speaker, my vote on January 22 is the same as my vote the prior time: No. The situation is the same as it was then, except there is one week fewer to actually get something done.

This legislation represents a fundamental failure on the part of Republicans to govern. This bill does next to nothing for Community Health Centers, the Children's Health Insurance Program, our veterans, our pension systems—some of which are in a state of crisis, and the victims of natural disasters. Hundreds of thousands of people in Puerto Rico remain without power. And, most glaringly, this bill does nothing to improve the situation of two-thirds of a million Dreamers, who deserve certainty and protection but whose lives Trump's reckless actions have turned upside down.

The situation continues to be outrageous, and it doesn't have to be this way. The priorities I'm fighting for are broadly supported by the American public. We should be able to address them directly and quickly, but I fear that we will be in the exact same spot in three weeks.

IN RECOGNITION OF STEVE MILLER'S SERVICE TO KENTUCKY'S SECOND DISTRICT

HON. BRETT GUTHRIE

OF KENTUCKY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, January 25, 2018

Mr. GUTHRIE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to give my sincere thanks to Steve Miller of Shelby County, Kentucky, who is retiring after nine years of service as a field representative with my office.

My friendship with Steve began when I was first elected to the Kentucky State Senate. Steve worked for the Senate leadership office, and I quickly learned how much everyone loved Steve. He built friendships quickly and had a deep knowledge of legislation and policy, so when I was elected to serve the Second District in the U.S. House of Representatives, I knew I wanted Steve on my team.

Steve rose up to the challenge and immediately developed a reputation for serving constituents effectively. He understood early on that service transcends ideological differences. Once, when Steve had an introductory meeting with a local official, he was rebuffed because the official was of a different party. Steve chuckled and explained that he wasn't there to be political—he was there to serve that community and be a resource to that official. A great relationship began in fifteen minutes and endures still.

For the past nine years, I've heard my constituents tell similar stories of appreciation for Steve. He wakes up each day thinking about who he can introduce me to as he hits the road to visit the constituents of Kentucky's Second District. I will miss Steve, but I wish him and his wife Donna good health and good times with their family during retirement.

HONORING THE CENTENNIAL ANNIVERSARY OF SANTA ROSA JUNIOR COLLEGE

HON. JARED HUFFMAN

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, January 25, 2018

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today, along with my colleague, Congressman MIKE THOMPSON, in recognition of the Santa Rosa Junior College's centennial anniversary. Serving more than 1.7 million students since opening its doors, this public institution has grown from seven women's vision for a local junior college into a nationally and internationally recognized leader in removing barriers to higher education.

Founded in 1918, the Santa Rosa Junior College was conceived of by members of the Federated Home and School Association of Santa Rosa, an organization of prominent women from across the City of Santa Rosa who came together around the idea of bringing higher education to their community.

Starting with an inaugural class of 19 students, the college had eight faculty members and was located in the basement of Santa Rosa's primary high school. Within the first seven years of operation, Santa Rosa Junior College went through great adversity: briefly closing due to a severe city-wide influenza outbreak, losing its basement location due to a fire, and operating nomadically out of several temporary spaces for four years. But out of this early turmoil came remarkable growth and resilience.

By 1927, the college attained the stability it needed to succeed and grow. Operating out of a permanent campus on over 40 acres of land, the college was able to begin extending its roots throughout the community, becoming the inaugural member of the newly created Santa Rosa Junior College District.

Today, Santa Rosa Junior College has grown significantly in scholastic capability and quality. Now spanning a combined total of more than 500 acres, the college district operates two campuses, a public safety training center, and a nationally ranked farm laboratory, among other facilities. The college now employs over 3,000 faculty and staff to instruct the more than 28,000 students who enroll each semester. With these sizable gains in students, facilities, and staff, the district has also expanded to serving 15 major high school campuses and 1,600 square miles, making it one of the largest college districts in the nation.

Santa Rosa Junior College, one hundred years old, offers exceptional academic, career technical, athletic and performing arts programs that have consistently garnered state, national and worldwide attention. Mr. Speaker, after a century of steady scholastic achievement and operational stability, the continuing success of Santa Rosa Junior College has led to immeasurable social and economic improvements for not only the North Bay community but the nation. It is therefore appropriate that we stand together in recognition of this momentous occasion.

SUPPORT CROSS-STRAIT STATUS QUO BETWEEN TAIWAN AND CHINA

HON. PAUL A. GOSAR

OF ARIZONA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, January 25, 2018

Mr. GOSAR. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to express serious concern and opposition to the unilateral decision by the Chinese Civil Aviation Authority to activate four air routes in the Taiwan-Strait. The decision was made without any consultation with the government of Taiwan, which is a clear violation of international law according to the International Civil Aviation Organization. This action by China could pose a grave threat to the cross-strait status quo between China and Taiwan. The cross-strait status quo has been essential in preventing a military crisis between the two countries that could be a threat to peace and security in East Asia.

All relevant parties, including the Taiwanese Government, support the continuation of the cross-strait status quo. The Chinese Government must come to the negotiating table with Taiwan in order to return to the status quo. I am pleased that the State Department has come out strongly against this unlawful action by the Chinese Government and I encourage them to use their influence to bring China back to the negotiating table. The relationship between China and Taiwan should be based on dignity and respect, not one side trying to dominate the other.

RECOGNIZING ASSISTANT CHIEF
JACK MULCAHY FOR 41 YEARS
AT THE GLENS FALLS FIRE DEPARTMENT

HON. ELISE M. STEFANIK

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, January 25, 2018

Ms. STEFANIK. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate Assistant Chief Jack Mulcahy on his retirement from the Glens Falls Fire Department after 41 years of service.

After serving in the Army and then the Navy, Mulcahy intended to become a State Police Trooper, but instead found himself with a temporary job at the Glens Falls Fire Department. This summer job turned into a four-decade career of helping those in his community as a firefighter. Mulcahy served in his role of assistant chief for ten years, and before that, a lieutenant for 15 years. Not only did Mulcahy risk his own life in fires to save others, but he also enjoyed assisting citizens in their everyday problems, like rescuing pets from trees. Mulcahy considers himself lucky to have been part of the Glens Falls firefighter "extended family," and looks forward to keeping in touch but also having more time to spend with his wife, three children, and grandson.

On behalf of New York's 21st district, I would like to thank Assistant Chief Mulcahy for his years of hard work and dedication to his community, and wish him all the best in the years ahead.

REMEMBERING ELIZABETH "LIZ" LEONARD

HON. RODNEY DAVIS

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, January 25, 2018

Mr. RODNEY DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to remember a valued member of the central Illinois community, Elizabeth "Liz" Leonard. Liz passed away on December 31, 2017 at just 64 years old, but her memory and legacy will continue to live on.

Liz touched so many lives in the Springfield community where she taught in the Springfield

School District 186 for more than 27 years. She was a beloved wife, mother and grandmother. Liz was also actively involved in the Springfield Bible Church and was a "Huddle Leader" for the Fellowship of Christian Athletes for over 20 years.

As so many people in the community know, the entire Leonard family was devoted to football. Liz's husband, Ken, and son, Derek, are high school football coaches for two rival teams in Illinois. The "Leonard Bowl," played between Ken's Sacred Heart-Griffin Cyclones and Derek's Rochester Rockets, has become one of the most uniting high school sports spectacles in the state. I can only imagine the dilemma Liz found herself in while attending these games and deciding who to root for.

As someone who knows the Leonard family well, my thoughts and prayers are with them and all members of our local community as we remember the tremendous positive impact the Leonard family and Liz have had on so many of our school districts and communities.

I thank Liz for shaping young minds, supporting young athletes and Christians, and for being a shining light in all of our communities.

COST ESTIMATE ON H.R. 4564, THE
POST-CALIPHATE THREAT ASSESSMENT ACT OF 2017

HON. MICHAEL T. McCAUL

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, January 25, 2018

Mr. McCAUL. Mr. Speaker, the following cost estimate H.R. 4564, the Post-Caliphate Threat Assessment Act of 2017, prepared by the Congressional Budget Office was not made available to the Committee at the time of filing of the legislative report.

CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE,

U.S. CONGRESS,

Washington, DC, January 18, 2018.

Hon. MICHAEL McCAUL,
Chairman, Committee on Homeland Security,
House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: The Congressional Budget Office has prepared the enclosed cost estimate for H.R. 4564, the Post-Caliphate Threat Assessment Act of 2017.

If you wish further details on this estimate, we will be pleased to provide them. The CBO staff contact is Mark Grabowicz.

Sincerely,

KEITH HALL, Director.

Enclosure.

H.R. 4564—POST-CALIPHATE THREAT
ASSESSMENT ACT OF 2017

As passed by the House of Representatives on January 9, 2018

H.R. 4564 would require the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) to prepare a threat assessment related to the current activities of foreign terrorist fighters, including information on the travel patterns and countries of origin for such persons. The act would require DHS, within 180 days of enactment, to report to the Congress on the results of the assessment. Using information from DHS, CBO estimates that implementing the act's provisions would cost less than $500,000; such spending would be subject to the availability of appropriated funds.

Enacting H.R. 4564 would not affect direct spending or revenues; therefore, pay-as-you-go procedures do not apply.

CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 4564 would not increase net direct spending or on-budget deficits in any of the four consecutive 10-year periods beginning in 2028.

H.R. 4564 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act.

The CBO staff contact for this estimate is Mark Grabowicz. The estimate was approved by H. Samuel Papenfuss, Deputy Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.

U.S. MARSHAL CLEVELAND
VAUGHN, JR.

HON. DON BACON

OF NEBRASKA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, January 25, 2018

Mr. BACON. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to commemorate African-American History Month by posthumously honoring the federal service, accomplishments and communal contributions of U.S. Marshal Cleveland Vaughn, Jr.

He was born on a farm in Earle, Arkansas, skipped a grade in country school and graduated from high school at age 16. He went to college at what is now known as the University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff and graduated with a degree in agriculture education. As a young boy, he dreamed of becoming a game warden.

He began his federal career as a special agent with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service in 1967, when he was accepted into a federal law enforcement training program. Mr. Vaughn wrote of the experience in an essay for the Omaha World Herald stating "I was the first black. At the time, I didn't realize what that meant, that it was a tremendous breakthrough. To me, it was a job. Period." It is a job he held for half of a 28-year career with the U.S. Department of the Interior. In 1993, Cleveland was the first African-American appointed to be the U.S. Marshal for the State of Nebraska. The U.S. Marshals Service describes the members of its ranks thusly, "hometown-men and women familiar with local feelings about national issues. They are people comfortable within their own neighborhoods." This is a particularly apt description of Mr. Vaughn according to his friends, family and colleagues. Quoting Shirley Vaughn, his wife of nearly 49 years, "He loved people. He loved his church. He loved to help."

Cleveland Vaughn was active in his church, Zion Baptist, serving as a trustee. He was a mentor and a confidant for the young and old. Cleveland shared his love of the outdoors and nature with all. He utilized his passion to help coordinate an annual wild game feed at Zion Baptist church, which emphasized fellowship between young men and positive role models. The Douglas County Attorney described Mr. Vaughn as a "public servant whose public service didn't stop." He was known for his generosity, openness and selflessness.
