MENTAL HEALTH AWARENESS MONTH

(Mr. PAULSEN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PAULSEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the month of May as National Mental Health Awareness Month, an important time to share resources for individuals and families that cope with any number of mental health challenges, because about 1 in 5 Americans experience mental illness, and 1 in 25 struggle with a serious mental health condition.

Serious mental health illnesses are now costing Americans nearly $200 billion in lost earnings each year, and 16 million Americans have had at least one major depressive episode in the last year. That is why it is more important than ever to ensure that people and individuals who need help are able to get it.

The good news is that now individuals in need of help can call a 24-hour national help line, operated by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration, for a confidential conversation. Mr. Speaker, it may be the difference between life or death for someone who is in need.

A MOMENT OF SILENCE IS NOT ENOUGH

(Mr. HOYER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)
