COMMITTEE STATEMENT AND VIEWS

PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

H.R. 2763, the Small Business Innovation Research and Small Business Technology Transfer Improvements Act of 2017, is sponsored by Rep. Stephen Knight. The purpose of H.R. 2763 is to improve the effectiveness of the SBIR and STTR programs. The objectives of these programs are achieving mission-specific federally funded research and development (R&D) through small businesses, stimulation of technological innovation in the small business sector by their commercializing the results of such R&D, and increased use of this community to meet the government’s diverse research and development needs.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

In December 2016, the President signed into law a five-year straight-line reauthorization extension of the current SBIR and STTR programs as part of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 (P.L. 114–328). Needed policy improvements, updates and oversight for the two programs were not included in the reauthorization. The five-year authorization continues 3.65 percent of already appropriated extramural R&D dollars to be reserved for small businesses through these programs, for a total of approximately $3 billion annually.

On June 15, 2017 the House Small Business Committee marked-up and ordered to be reported H.R. 2763, the “Small Business Innovation Research and Small Business Technology Transfer Improvements Act of 2017,” as amended, by voice vote. The bill was also referred to the House Science, Space, and Technology Committee, which shares jurisdiction over the Small Business Innovation Research (SBIR) and Small Business Technology Transfer (STTR) programs.

LEGISLATIVE HISTORY

On June 16, 2016, the Research and Technology Subcommittee held a hearing entitled, “SBIR/STTR Reauthorization: A Review of Technology Transfer.” Witnesses were: Dr. Pramod Khargonekar, Assistant Director for Directorate of Engineering, National Science Foundation; Dr. Michael Lauer, Deputy Director of Extramural Research, National Institutes of Health; Dr. Patricia Dehmer, Deputy Director for Science Programs, Office of Science, Department of Energy; Ms. Jilda D. Garton, Vice President for Research and General Manager, Georgia Tech Research Corporation.

On May 4, 2017, the Research and Technology Subcommittee and the Contracting and Workforce Subcommittee of the Small Business Committee held a joint hearing entitled, “Improving the Small Business Innovation Research and Small Business Technology Transfer Programs.” Witnesses were: Mr. Joe Shepard, Associate Administrator, Office of Investment and Innovation, United States Small Business Administration; Mr. John Neumann, Director, Natural Resources and Environment, U.S. Government Accountability Office; Mr. John Clanton, Chief Executive Officer, Lynntech, Inc.; Dr. John S. Langford, Chairman and CEO, Aurora Flight Sciences Corporation; Mr. Ron Shroder, CEO and President, Frontier Technologies; Ms. Angela M. Albán, President and CEO, SIMETRI, Inc.; Dr. Clinton T. Rubin, SUNY Distinguished Professor and Chair, Department of Biomedical Engineering, Director, Center for Biotechnology.

On June 22, 2017, the full Committee amended and approved by voice vote H.R. 2763, the Small Business Innovation Research and Small Business Technology Transfer Improvements Act of 2017.

COMMITTEE VIEWS

The SBA has failed to submit its statutorily required annual report for several years. This report and other information required to be supplied to Congress are essential. In H.R. 2763, the Committee adjusted deadlines in order to help SBA. In order to punctuate the Committee’s insistence on SBA meeting its responsibilities, the Committee also imposed a limitation on the Small Business Administrator’s travel budget in the event that SBA does not meet its annual reporting responsibility.

The Committee recognizes the importance of a strong U.S. manufacturing sector, including support and encouragement for innovation among small manufacturers. In Section 10 of H.R. 2763, the Committee directs Federal agencies to accord priority to competitive SBIR and STTR applications that propose research and development to spur manufacturing and manufacturing jobs in the U.S.

The Committee also recognizes the economic and national security implication of increased cybersecurity threats to the U.S. Government and private organizations and individuals. In Section 11 of H.R. 2763, the Committee directs Federal agencies to accord priority to competitive SBIR and STTR applications that propose research and development to strengthen cybersecurity technology for the U.S. Government and the private sector.

SECTION-BY-SECTION

Sec. 1. Short title

This section designates the bill the “Small Business Innovation Research and Small Business Technology Transfer Improvements Act of 2017.”

Sec. 2. Reporting requirements

This section requires the Small Business Administration (SBA) to file its annual report on the SBIR and STTR programs to Congress by December 31 of each calendar year. The section also requires each of the participating agencies to submit all of the required reports and information to the SBA by March 30 of each year.

Sec. 3. Requirements for insertion incentives

This section clarifies Congressional intent from the 2011 reauthorization by ensuring the Department of Defense establishes goals and insertion incentives for the transition of Phase III technology in subcontracting plans for any contracts with a value of $100 million or more.

Sec. 4. SBIR phase flexibility

This section extends through FY2022 the pilot program, instituted in the 2011 reauthorization (P.L. 112–81, § 5106) that allows three agencies (Department of Defense, the National Institutes of Health, and the Department of Education) to award a Phase II contract if the agency finds that the small business concern has already completed work typically done during Phase I. This section also extends this flexibility to all participating agencies.

Sec. 5. Establishing the Civilian Agency Commercialization Readiness Program

This section makes permanent the pilot program established in the 2011 reauthorization (P.L. 112–81, § 5123) that authorizes all civilian agencies to create Commercialization Readiness Programs (CRPs) by allocating no more than 10 percent of their program authorization to maximize advanced development of small business technologies that are facing high manufacturing or regulatory costs.

Sec. 6. Extension of the deadline for assistance for administrative, oversight, and contract processing costs

This section extends through FY2022 the pilot program authorizing agencies to utilize up to three percent of the allocations under the SBIR program for various administrative functions associated with operation of the SBIR and STTR programs.

Sec. 7. Improvements to technical and business assistance in the SBIR and STTR Programs

This section clarifies the types and dollar amounts of technical and business assistance that a small business may pay for with SBIR and STTR funds.

Sec. 8. Additional SBIR and STTR technology insertion requirement

This section requires the Small Business Administrator to report to the Science, Space, and Technology Committee and the Small Business Committee of the House of Representatives and the Small Business and Entrepreneurship Committee of the Senate on the goals and incentives used or created for technology insertion.

Sec. 9. Contingent limitations on use of certain funds pending submission of report

This section clarifies that the Small Business Administrator must submit the annual report to Congress required under Section 9(b)(7) of the Small Business Act (U.S.C. 638(b)(7)) not later than the last day of each calendar year. This section also stipulates, in the event the Administrator does not submit the required report on time, that no funds authorized or appropriated to the Small Business Administration may be obligated or spent for travel by the Administrator during the following calendar year until the Administrator submits the required report.

Sec. 10. Encouraging innovation in United States manufacturing

This section requires that in carrying out the SBIR and STTR programs, the Administrator shall give high priority to small manufacturing companies and other small business concerns that are engaged in manufacturing research and development for the purpose of developing and producing new products and technologies in the United States. This section also requires the Administrator to include in the annual report to Congress required under Section 9(b)(7) a determination about whether this priority is being carried out.

Sec. 11. Encouraging innovation in cyber security

This section requires that in carrying out the SBIR and STTR programs, the Administrator shall give high priority to firms that are engaged in cyber security research and development for the purpose of developing and implementing technology services and products to strengthen the security of United States Government and private computer systems, including software, hardware and portable devices. This section also requires the Administrator to include in the annual report to Congress required under Section 9(b)(7) a determination about whether this priority is being carried out.

Sec. 12. Innovative approaches to technology transfer

This section requires each Federal agency that participates in the STTR program to carry out an Innovative Approaches to Technology Transfer Grant Program. This Program supports innovative approaches to technology transfer at institutions of higher education (as defined in 3 section 101(a) of the Higher Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 1001(a)), nonprofit research institutions, and Federal laboratories in order to accelerate the commercialization of federally funded research and technology by small business concerns, including new businesses. This section also establishes grantee eligibility, application, and agency evaluation criteria for awarding grants, as well as setting limitations on grant amounts, eligible expenditures for grant funds, and agency data collection and program evaluation and oversight requirements. Finally, this section requires each affected agency to submit an annual report about the Program to the Science, Space, and Technology Committee and the Small Business Committee of the House of Representatives and the Small Business and Entrepreneurship Committee of the Senate.

EXPLANATION OF AMENDMENTS

An amendment offered by Representative Barry Loudermilk was adopted by the Committee. The amendment established a limitation on funding for the Small Business Administrator if the report to Congress described in Section 9(b)(7) is not submitted on time.

Enclosure.

H.R. 2763—Small Business Innovation Research and Small Business Technology Transfer Improvements Act of 2017

Under current law, the Small Business Innovation Research (SBIR) and the Small Business Technology Transfer (STTR) programs require federal agencies with extramural budgets for research and development (R&D) that exceed specified amounts to set aside a specified percent of that budget for contracts with small businesses or for cooperative research between small businesses and a federal laboratory or nonprofit research institution. Eleven agencies currently participate in those programs. A pilot program that authorizes participating agencies to use up to 3 percent of the R&D amounts set aside for the SBIR program to cover certain administrative costs will expire at the end of fiscal year 2017.

H.R. 2763 would:

- Extend the pilot program through fiscal year 2022,
- Require agencies in the STTR program to create a new program to provide grants to federal laboratories and research institutions that support the commercialization of federally funded research and technologies,
- Change certain annual reporting requirements for participating agencies and the Small Business Administration (SBA), and
- Direct the SBA to ensure that participating agencies prioritize SBIR and STTR funding for certain types of small businesses.

Because the pilot program does not affect the underlying costs of administering the SBIR or STTR programs, CBO estimates that extending the pilot program would have no budgetary effect. Based on an analysis of information from the SBA and several participating agencies, CBO estimates that implementing other provisions of H.R. 2763 would cost $5 million over the 2018–2022 period mostly for each agency participating in the STTR program to hire one additional employee to develop and implement the new grant program and for the SBA to update program rules and policy directives; such spending would be subject to the availability of appropriated funds.

Enacting the bill would not affect direct spending or revenues; therefore, pay-as-you-go procedures do not apply.

CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 2763 would not increase net direct spending or on-budget deficits in any of the four consecutive 10-year periods beginning in 2028.

H.R. 2763 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act and would not affect the budgets of state, local, or tribal governments.

The CBO staff contact for this estimate is Stephen Rabent. The estimate was approved by H. Samuel Papenfuss, Deputy Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.

In compliance with clause 3(e) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, changes in existing law made by the bill, as reported, are shown as follows (existing law proposed to be omitted is enclosed in black brackets, new matter is printed in italic, and existing law in which no change is proposed is shown in roman):

SMALL BUSINESS ACT

* * * * *

SEC. 9. (a) Research and development are major factors in the growth and progress of industry and the national economy. The expense of carrying on research and development programs is beyond the means of many small-business concerns, and such concerns are handicapped in obtaining the benefits of research and development programs conducted at Government expense. These small-business concerns are thereby placed at a competitive disadvantage. This weakens the competitive free enterprise system and prevents the orderly development of the national economy. It is the policy of the Congress that assistance be given to small-business concerns to enable them to undertake and to obtain the benefits of research and development in order to maintain and strengthen the competitive free enterprise system and the national economy.

(b) It shall be the duty of the Administration, and it is hereby empowered—

(1) to assist small-business concerns to obtain Government contracts for research and development;

(2) to assist small-business concerns to obtain the benefits of research and development performed under Government contracts or at Government expense;

(3) to provide technical assistance to small-business concerns to accomplish the purposes of this section; and

(4) to develop and maintain a source file and an information program to assure each qualified and interested small business concern the opportunity to participate in Federal agency small business innovation research programs and small business technology transfer programs;

(5) to coordinate with participating agencies a schedule for release of SBIR and STTR solicitations, and to prepare a master release schedule so as to maximize small business' opportunities to respond to solicitations;

(6) to independently survey and monitor the operation of SBIR and STTR programs within participating Federal agencies;

(7) to report not less than annually to submit a report not later than December 31 of each year to the Committee on Small Business of the Senate, and to the Committee on Science and the Committee on Small Business of the House of Representatives, on the SBIR and STTR programs of the Federal agencies and the Administration's information and monitoring efforts related to the SBIR and STTR programs, including—

(A) the data on output and outcomes collected pursuant to subsections (g)(8) and (o)(9);

(B) the number of proposals received from, and the number and total amount of awards to, HUBZone small business concerns and firms with venture capital, hedge fund, or private equity firm investment (including those majority-owned by multiple venture capital operating companies, hedge funds, or private equity firms) under each of the SBIR and STTR programs;

(C) a description of the extent to which each Federal agency is increasing outreach and awards to firms owned and controlled by women or by socially or economically disadvantaged individuals under each of the SBIR and STTR programs;

(D) general information about the implementation of, and compliance with the allocation of funds required under, subsection (dd) for firms owned in majority part by venture capital operating companies, hedge funds, or private equity firms and participating in the SBIR program;

(E) a detailed description of appeals of Phase III awards and notices of noncompliance with the SBIR Policy Directive and the STTR Policy Directive filed by the Administrator with Federal agencies;

(F) an accounting of funds, initiatives, and outcomes under the Commercialization Readiness Program; and

(G) a description of the extent to which Federal agencies are providing in a timely manner information needed to maintain the database described in subsection (k);

(8) to provide for and fully implement the tenets of Executive Order No. 13329 (Encouraging Innovation in Manufacturing); and

(9) to coordinate the implementation of electronic databases at each of the Federal agencies participating in the SBIR program or the STTR program, including the technical ability of the participating agencies to electronically share data.

(c) The Administration is authorized to consult and cooperate with all Government agencies and to make studies and recommendations to such agencies, and such agencies are authorized and directed to cooperate with the Administration in order to carry out and to accomplish the purposes of this section.

(d)(1) The Administrator is authorized to consult with representatives of small-business concerns with a view to assisting and encouraging such firms to undertake joint programs for research and development carried out through such corporate or other mechanism as may be most appropriate for the purpose. Such joint programs may, among other things, include the following purposes:

(A) to construct, acquire, or establish laboratories and other facilities for the conduct of research;

(B) to undertake and utilize applied research;

(C) to collect research information related to a particular industry and disseminate it to participating members;

(D) to conduct applied research on a protected, proprietary, and contractual basis with member or nonmember firms, Government agencies, and others;

(E) to prosecute applications for patents and render patent services for participating members; and

(F) to negotiate and grant licenses under patents held under the point program, and to establish corporations designed to exploit particular patents obtained by it.

(2) The Administrator may, after consultation with the Attorney General and the Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, and with the prior written approval of the Attorney General, approve any agreement between small-business firms providing for a joint program of research and development, if the Administrator finds that the joint program proposed will maintain and strengthen the free enterprise system and the economy of the Nation. The Administrator or the Attorney General may at any time withdraw his approval of the agreement and the joint program of research and development covered thereby, if he finds that the agreement or the joint program carried on under it is no longer in the best interests of the competitive free enterprise system and the economy of the Nation. A copy of the statement of any such finding and approval intended to be within the coverage of this subsection, and a copy of any modification or withdrawal of approval, shall be published in the Federal Register. The authority conferred by this subsection on the Administrator shall not be delegated by him.

(3) No act or omission to act pursuant to and within the scope of any joint program for research and development, under an agreement approved by the Administrator under this subsection, shall be construed to be within the prohibitions of the antitrust laws or the Federal Trade Commission Act. Upon publication in the Federal Register of the notice of withdrawal of his approval of the agreement granted under this subsection, either by the Administrator or by the Attorney General, the provisions of this subsection shall not apply to any subsequent act or omission to act by reason of such agreement or approval.
