Mr. JOHNSON, from the Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs, submitted the following

R E P O R T

[To accompany S. 3487]

[Including cost estimate of the Congressional Budget Office]

The Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs, to which was referred the bill (S. 3487) to amend the Presidential Transition Act of 1963 to improve the orderly transfer of the executive power during Presidential transitions, having considered the same, reports favorably thereon with amendments and recommends that the bill, as amended, do pass.

I. PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

The purpose of S. 3487 is to strengthen the presidential transition process by clarifying responsibilities of the General Services Administration (GSA) and other agencies during a transition and by requiring a contractual relationship between GSA and a transition team to guide the transition process.

II. BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

To “promote the orderly transfer of the executive power,” Congress passed the Presidential Transition Act of 1963.¹ This law and its successor statutes require the GSA to provide the President-elect and the Vice-President-elect with office space, equipment, staff, and communications services to prepare for the assumption of their official duties as President and Vice President.² The Edward “Ted” Kaufman and Michael Leavitt Presidential Transitions Improvements Act of 2015 (hereinafter the “2015 Presidential Transitions Act”) established the White House Transition Coordinating Council and the agency transition directors council to ensure efficient coordination between Federal agencies and transition teams when conducting transition activities.³

Trump for America, Inc. (TFA) was the organization designated to carry out pre-election and post-election transition activities for then-candidate Donald J. Trump.⁴ In December 2017, the Committee received an allegation from TFA that GSA had unlawfully disclosed its privileged communications.⁵ Since the allegation raised concerns about whether future presidential transition teams would trust GSA to safeguard their confidential material, and as the committee tasked by the Standing Rules of the Senate to oversee presidential transitions, the Committee opened an examination of the GSA’s actions.⁶ The Committee received 6,400 of pages of documents produced by GSA and conducted an interview with a GSA attorney.⁷

The information provided to the Committee demonstrated that both GSA and transition teams need additional guidance and protections in the event of third-party interest in the activities and records of a transition team. Specifically, there is no statutory requirement for GSA and transition teams to enter into a memorandum of understanding (MOU) to lay out the terms and responsibilities for each party regarding transition services. There also is no statutory language to ensure GSA is fully transparent with a transition team regarding its maintenance and distribution of transition team records.

This bill will address those deficiencies by requiring GSA and transition teams to enter into a MOU that sets the terms and conditions by which GSA will provide, and the transition team will receive, transition-related services. In addition, the MOU must designite a transition representative in the transition team to whom GSA must direct all third-party inquiries for transition team records. The bill also requires GSA and transition teams to provide advance notice if any deviation from the terms of the MOU is anticipated.

In addition to the issue regarding transition team records, the non-partisan Partnership for Public Service (Partnership) learned of other statutory obstacles transition teams faced during the 2016 presidential transition through interviews with transition officials.⁸ A main concern included differing interpretations of the services GSA could provide a transition team after inauguration day. According to the Partnership, despite the fact that the 2015 Presidential Transitions Act authorized GSA to continue providing services and facilities for up to 180 days after inauguration day, GSA and the Trump transition team negotiated an agreement whereby the transition team paid a lease to remain in GSA building space through February 2017.⁹ Transition officials also told the Partnership that 60 days, rather than the 180 days authorized under current statute, is a sufficient amount of time to allow transition officials “to focus on recruiting and filling key positions while also transitioning incoming White House personnel officials into their new physical quarters within the Executive Office of the President.”¹⁰ Current statute also caused unnecessary delays for transition teams onboarding detailed congressional staff because statute requires an agency head to approve the detail.¹¹

The Partnership also identified potential areas of improvement for transition activities within agencies during a presidential transition. According to the Partnership, transition officials viewed the agency transition directors council, established under the 2015 Presidential Transitions Act, “as helping to build trust with the incoming administration because almost all [council] members were the senior career officials responsible for their agencies’ transitions.”¹² However, a few agencies sent an official to the council who was not the person responsible for their agency’s transition responsibilities, raising “a risk of undermining the cohesiveness of the transition strategy.”¹³ The Partnership also learned of confusion among agencies regarding the statutory requirement to designate career officials to serve in an acting role for vacant senior political positions to be appointed by the incoming administration.¹⁴

This bill also addresses these concerns identified by the Partnership by clarifying that GSA can provide a transition team with services and facilities for up to 60 days after inauguration. This bill will reduce delays in detailing congressional staff to transition teams by having the Member of Congress for whom the staff works approve the detail rather than an agency head. The agency transition directors council will be required to be an agency employee whose job responsibilities include implementing presidential transition activities in order to prevent different individuals from leading transition activities of each agency and clarifies the requirement for agencies to establish a succession plan for each outgoing senior political position.

III. LEGISLATIVE HISTORY

Senator Ron Johnson (R–WI) introduced S. 3487 on September 25, 2018. The bill was referred to the Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs on September 25, 2018.

The Committee considered S. 3487 at a business meeting on September 26, 2018. Senator Johnson offered an amendment that would allow GSA to provide services and facilities to a transition team for up to 60 days after inauguration of the President-elect and Vice-President-elect. The amendment would also terminate the designation of a transition representative under the MOU between a transition team and GSA either upon the request of the transition team or 180 days after inauguration of the President-elect and Vice-President-elect. The amendment was adopted by voice vote with Senators Johnson, Portman, Paul, Lankford, Enzi, Hoeven, Daines, McCaskill, Carper, Heitkamp, Peters, Hassan, Harris, and Jones present.

Senator Tom Carper offered an amendment that would impose new requirements on transition teams to develop an ethics plan and to report to Congress on each transition team member who applies for or receives a security clearance. It would also impose new requirements on any individual involved with a transition team to publicly disclose certain sources of their private income, regardless of the duration of involvement or the voluntary or compensated nature of the involvement. A voice vote was held on the amendment, and the amendment was not adopted. Senators Johnson, Portman, Paul, Lankford, Enzi, Hoeven, Daines, McCaskill, Carper, Heitkamp, Peters, Hassan, Harris and Jones were present for the voice vote.

The legislation as amended by the Johnson amendment was passed by voice vote with Senators Johnson, Portman, Paul, Lankford, Enzi, Hoeven, Daines, McCaskill, Carper, Heitkamp, Peters, Hassan, Harris and Jones present.

IV. SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS OF THE BILL, AS REPORTED

Section 1. Short title

This section gives the bill the short title of the “Presidential Transition Enhancement Act of 2018”.

Section 2. Presidential transition enhancements

This section improves the operation of presidential transitions for GSA and presidential transition teams.

Subsection (a) allows GSA to provide transition services to a transition team for up to 60 days after the inauguration of the President-elect and Vice-President-elect. This subsection clarifies that congressional employees may be detailed to a transition team and replaces the term “computers” with “information technology.” Under this subsection, transition teams and GSA will be required to enter into a MOU that will include the conditions by which transition teams will access GSA staff, facilities, and agency documents. The MOU also requires the transition team to designate a transition representative to whom GSA will direct any inquiries or legal instruments for transition team records. This designation ends either upon the request of the transition team or 180 days after the inauguration of the President-elect and Vice-President-elect. GSA will be required to notify a transition team at least three days in advance of taking any action that deviates from the terms and conditions of the MOU.

Subsection (b) requires that an agency employee serving as a senior representative in the agency transition directors council must be serving in a career position at the agency. This subsection also requires each agency to develop a succession plan for each senior non-career position in the agency by September 15 of a Presidential election year.

V. EVALUATION OF REGULATORY IMPACT

Pursuant to the requirements of paragraph 11(b) of rule XXVI of the Standing Rules of the Senate, the Committee has considered the regulatory impact of this bill and determined that the bill will have no regulatory impact within the meaning of the rules. The Committee agrees with the Congressional Budget Office's statement that the bill contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act (UMRA) and would impose no costs on state, local, or tribal governments.

VI. CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE COST ESTIMATE

U.S. CONGRESS,
CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE,
Washington, DC, October 23, 2018.

Hon. RON JOHNSON,
Chairman, Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs, U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: The Congressional Budget Office has prepared the enclosed cost estimate for S. 3487, the Presidential Transitions Enhancement Act of 2018.

If you wish further details on this estimate, we will be pleased to provide them. The CBO staff contact is Matthew Pickford.

Sincerely,

KEITH HALL,
Director.

Enclosure.

S. 3487—Presidential Transition Enhancement Act of 2018

S. 3487 would limit the period during which services and facilities are provided to Presidential transition teams and would authorize the executive branch to pay legislative employees working for them. S. 3487 also would set a timeline for the General Services Administration (GSA) to enter into agreements with campaigns to prepare for possible transitions.

According to GSA, most of the bill's provisions would not have a significant effect on the cost of a Presidential transition. However, by reducing from 180 days to 60 days after an inauguration the period in which a transition team may use government services and facilities, the bill would reduce costs for staffing and office space. CBO estimates that the decrease in costs would be less than $500,000 annually over the next five years.

Enacting S. 3487 would not affect direct spending or revenues; therefore, pay-as-you-go procedures do not apply.

CBO estimates that enacting S. 3487 would not increase net direct spending or on-budget deficits in any of the four consecutive 10-year periods beginning in 2029.

S. 3487 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act.

The CBO staff contact for this estimate is Matthew Pickford. The estimate was reviewed by H. Samuel Papenfuss, Deputy Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.

VII. CHANGES IN EXISTING LAW MADE BY THE BILL, AS REPORTED

In compliance with paragraph 12 of rule XXVI of the Standing Rules of the Senate, changes in existing law made by the bill, as reported, are shown as follows: (existing law proposed to be omitted is enclosed in brackets, new matter is printed in italics, and existing law in which no change is proposed is shown in roman):
