4 WHO ARE DEPLOYED TO THE REPUBLIC OF 5 KOREA.

6 (a) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Con-
7 gress that—

8 (1) it is in the United States national interest
9 to maintain treaty alliances and its forward military
10 presence in the Indo-Pacific region to deter conflict
11 and preserve peace and security;

12 (2) the United States fully stands behind com-
13 mitments to its allies in Northeast Asia as articu-
14 lated in the Mutual Defense Treaty Between the 15 United States and the Republic of Korea and the 16 Treaty of Mutual Cooperation and Security between 17 the United States and Japan;

18 (3) the alliances between the United States and 19 the Republic of Korea and between the United 20 States and Japan form the bedrock of regional sta-
21 bility in the Indo-Pacific region, including with re-
22 spect to the threat posed by North Korea;

23 (4) the withdrawal or significant reduction of 24 United States Armed Forces from the Republic of 25 Korea may risk upsetting the military balance in 26 that region; and

1           (5) Congress should be consulted in advance of 2           any significant changes to the status quo on the Ko-
3           rean Peninsula.

4           (b) LIMITATION.—None of the funds made available
5           to the Department of Defense for fiscal year 2019 may 6           be used to reduce the total number of members of the 7           United States Armed Forces serving on active duty who 8           are deployed to the Republic of Korea below 22,000 un-
9           less—

10           (1) the Secretary of Defense first submits to 11           the appropriate congressional committees a report
12           on—

13                   (A) the effect of such reduction on pre-
14                   serving deterrence on the Korean Peninsula;

15                   (B) the anticipated reaction of North
16                   Korea to such reduction;

17                   (C) the effect of such reduction on increas-
18                   ing incentives for the Republic of Korea to de-19                   velop an independent nuclear deterrent;

20                   (D) the effect of such reduction on the 21                   long-term military and economic partnership
22                   between the United States and the Republic of 23                   Korea and the United States and Japan, re-24                   spectively; and

1           (E) the effect of such reduction on the 2           military balance between the United States and 3           the People’s Republic of China and between the 4           United States and the Russian Federation;

5           (2) the Secretary of Defense, in consultation
6           with the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, first
7           certifies to the appropriate congressional committees
8           that—

9           (A) such a reduction is in the national se-
10          curity interest of the United States and will not 11          significantly undermine the security of United 12          States allies in the region;

13          (B) the Secretary has appropriately con-
14          sulted with allies of the United States, includ-
15          ing the Republic of Korea and Japan, regarding 16          such a reduction; and

17          (C) the Republic of Korea would be fully 18          capable of defending itself and deterring a con-
19          flict on the Korean Peninsula following such a 20          reduction; and

21          (3) such a reduction supports and is consistent
22          with the most current national defense strategy
23          under section 113 of title 10, United States Code.

1           (c) APPROPRIATE CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES DE-
2 FINED.—In this section, the term “relevant congressional 3 committees” means—

4           (1) the Committee on Foreign Affairs and the 5           Committee on Armed Services of the House of Rep-6           resentatives; and

7           (2) the Committee on Foreign Relations and
