1ST SESSION

H. RES. 675

Expressing the sense of the House of Representatives that socialist proposals such as Medicare for All, student loan forgiveness, and the Green New Deal with a guaranteed job for all, are antithetical to American foundational values of self-responsibility and opportunity, and by guaranteeing these programs as “rights”, we risk abandoning our actual rights.

RESOLUTION

Expressing the sense of the House of Representatives that socialist proposals such as Medicare for All, student loan forgiveness, and the Green New Deal with a guaranteed job for all, are antithetical to American foundational values of self-responsibility and opportunity, and by guaranteeing these programs as “rights”, we risk abandoning our actual rights.

Whereas, on February 7, 2019, Representative Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez and Senator Edward Markey introduced H. Res. 109 and S. Res. 59, respectively, resolutions recognizing the duty of the Federal Government to create a Green New Deal;

Whereas, on February 27, 2019, Representative Pramila Jayapal and Senator Bernard Sanders introduced H.R. 1384 and S. 1129, respectively, legislation to establish a Medicare-for-all national health insurance program;

Whereas several Democratic Presidential candidates have proposed tuition-free college or wealth redistribution policies;

Whereas, in socialism, the value of States and municipal government goes away and keeps government away from the people, instead favoring a centralized ruling body;

Whereas increasing taxes for Americans to redistribute wealth would eliminate the incentive for the American ingenuity which has made the United States the most productive country in the world;

Whereas eliminating private medical insurance options for nearly half of the population currently covered by employers and replacing it with a government-run system would result in a decrease in the quality and availability of care;

Whereas a guaranteed job for those who are unable or unwilling to work violates the treasured principle of self-responsibility and merit-based opportunity;

Whereas the late Charles Krauthammer defined the difference between political rights and economic rights, likening political rights to examples of free speech, worship, and freedom from government overreach, and cultural and economic rights as social and economic services guaranteed by the state;

Whereas the idea of social and economic rights creates a dependence on the state for necessities and can begin to replace the importance of political rights;

Whereas there is no form of socialism, whether extreme or modified, that has worked in other countries due to civil unrest and economic hardship for citizens;

Whereas the United States is a large robust country with enormous economic capacity due to the ability of citizens to live unencumbered by arbitrary taxes, fees, and mandates from the Federal Government; and

Whereas socialist proposals create government dependence for social services and neglect the identity of American political culture and freedom: Now, therefore, be it

1 Resolved, That it is the sense of the House of Rep-
2 resentatives that—

3 (1) the role of the United States Federal Gov-
4 ernment is to provide opportunities to increase indi-
5 vidual economic opportunity and self-empowerment;

6 (2) the proper role of the United States Federal 7 Government is governed and outlined by the United
8 States Constitution;

9 (3) current socialist proposals are working
10 against the defined role of government and abandon 11 the values which make us American;

1 (4) capitalism is the pinnacle of American de-
2 mocracy and economic freedom;

3 (5) the aforementioned proposals promote so-
4 cialism and undermine the American founding prin-
5 ciples of individual freedom and liberty;

6 (6) despite any flaw in our political system, our
7 political representatives in this compound Republic
8 should be mindful and committed to promoting indi-
9 vidual responsibility and merit-based opportunity;

10 (7) our belief is in the individual; government
11 becomes dangerous when power shifts from the indi-
12 vidual to big government and the collective state;

13 (8) the United States House of Representatives
14 promotes capitalism and the free market as a way
15 to empower Americans across all walks of life to ac-
16 cess economic opportunities and political freedoms;

17 (9) the United States House of Representatives
18 should continue to focus on policies which enrich the 19 American identity by promoting self-responsibility
20 and fostering opportunities through the free market
21 and a healthy economy; and

22 (10) the Federal Government should only do
23 things that need to be done on the Federal level, like
24 interstate commerce and the collective defense.
