data bases, nor formulas, nor graphs associated with Factor #11. Since current law permits the Treasury to undertake extraordinary measures, Factor #11 buys no minutes from Congress at this time.

FACTOR #12: IS CONGRESS SCAVENGING BACK PROGRAMMATIC “MANDATORY SPENDING” AND EVENTUALLY PHASING IT OUT?

Mandatory programmatic spending, which sets payments, benefits, or does not require the annual appropriation of money by Congress. Effectively, these spending programs are on autopilot. According to CBO, programmatic spending was more than $2.5 trillion in 2017. It projects this spending to grow to more than $4.5 trillion in 2023.

Congress needs to rein in these programs by moving them back into the appropriated accounts of the budget. By starting to take such steps, Congress should be able to reduce this category of spending dramatically. In fact, it should phase it out altogether. Under the Debt Default Clock, if Congress returns enough of this spending to the appropriated category so that by the end of the ten-year budget period the mandatory category is less than what it was in 2017, it will buy one minute away from midnight. If the mandatory category is not to be phased out altogether by the end of the budget period, it will buy two minutes from midnight. Therefore, Factor #12 currently buys no minutes from Congress.

The data bases for Factor #12 are found at: the Congressional Budget Office, “The Budget and Economic Outlook: 2018 to 2028,” April 9, 2018, pp. 44 and 148, here. The formula for calculating whether mandatory spending is increasing or decreasing during the projected budget period of Factor #12 is: mandatory outlays (less offsetting receipts)—$2.5 trillion (mandatory spending in 2017) = dollar level increase (decrease) in mandatory spending. If mandatory spending is projected by CBO to be at zero dollars before the end of the budget period, it will be considered to have been phased out.

GRAND CANYON CENTENNIAL

Ms. MCSALLY. Madam President, in January 1918, President Theodore Roosevelt famously declared, “Let this great wonder of nature remain as it is now. You cannot improve on it.” He said these words while designating the Grand Canyon as a national monument. Eleven years later, it became a National Park, and today marks the centennial of that designation.

Known as one of the Seven Natural Wonders of the World, the Grand Canyon is more than history to Arizona, it is a part of who we are. Millions of visitors come to see this magnificent national treasure and its archeological sites to its one-of-a-kind trails; and for centuries, this vast array of canyons and mountains has served as a home to many different peoples, including many Native American tribes.

It was in 1898 that geologist John Wesley Powell first led an expedition down the hazardous Colorado River, during which he noted the ancient clues he found hidden in the layers of rock that told the story of its creation. His expedition led to future explorations of the rattling and mapping the great canyon. By the time it officially became a National Park in 1919, the Grand Canyon attracted some 44,000 visitors. Today, Arizona hosts more than 6 million visitors each year, and with a total economic impact of almost $1 billion a year, it is the greatest attraction in our State.

All Americans, but especially Arizonans, are truly blessed to have such a natural wonder as the Grand Canyon. I share in Teddy Roosevelt’s amazement, passion, and wonderment of the Grand Canyon, and I will continue to advocate for this park so that it may last for many more generations to come.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

RECOGNIZING THE FORT SMITH NOON LIONS CLUB

- Mr. BOOZMAN. Madam President, today I wish to recognize and congratulate the Fort Smith Noon Lion’s Club on its centennial celebration.

The Fort Smith Noon Lions Club first met on March 8, 1919, only 2 years after the creation of Lions Clubs International. With 25 charter members, the club’s mission was to encourage fellowship among local businessmen. Many prominent business leaders were part of that founding group, including Dr. Charles Holt, founder of Holt Crock Clinic; Fagan Bourland, who served as the city’s mayor for many years; and W.E. Harding, the founder of Harding Glass, one of the city’s largest companies at the time.

The club met for many years at the historic Goldmark Hotel in downtown Fort Smith and, later, at the Ward Hotel on Garrison Avenue. Among its earliest projects was supporting the Victory Loan Campaign designed to pay off debt from WWI. In the early days, it held festivals, hosted free concerts, and played local baseball games against the local Rotary Club.

In addition to supporting local causes and providing a networking tool for businessmen, the club’s mission came into focus after Helen Keller spoke at the Lions Club International convention in 1925. She concluded her speech by saying, “I appeal to you Lions, you who have your sight, your hearing, you who are strong and brave and kind. Will you not constitute yourselves Knights of the Blind in this crusade against darkness?” Her eloquent plea transformed the Lions and made sight conservation the organization’s primary mission.

Throughout its 100-year history, the Fort Smith Noon Lions Club has contributed greatly to this mission by raising money to provide eye exams and glasses to local students and adults. Lions Club members have also collected thousands of pairs of glasses which are donated to the Southern College of Optometry in Memphis where students take the classes on international mission trips.

In recent years, the Fort Smith Noon Lions Club has donated more than $100,000 to help local residents with sight preservation and provided support to many local children’s organizations including the Fort Smith Boys Club, Good Samaritan Clinic, Clearing-house Backpack Program, Special Olympics, and the Children’s Emergency Center.

In addition, the club has provided all of the equipment and support needed for the Safety Patrol program in the Fort Smith Public Schools since 1946.

As an optometrist whose hometown is Fort Smith, AR, I am proud of the great work done by this club and Lions chapters around the world.

I congratulate the Fort Smith Noon Lions Club on its 100th anniversary and hope that these Knights for the Blind continue to prosper in their mission.

TRIBUTE TO OLIVER DIEZ

- Mr. RUBIO. Madam President, today I honor Oliver Diez, the Miami-Dade County Teacher of the Year from Palmetto Elementary School in Pinecrest, FL.

Oliver received this award in recognition for his dedication to teaching children a passion for music before they leave elementary school. He begins teaching students how to play an introductory instrument, the recorder, at an early age. From there, they can join one of his school’s before and after-school offerings of chorus, concert band, jazz combo, orchestra, and drum-line. Once they join a music program, his lessons focus on teaching them not only how to play instruments, but also its history. He believes this builds an appreciation for music in his young students.

Throughout his two-decade long teaching career at Palmetto Elementary School, he has built a successful music program at south Florida’s largest elementary school. His fourth and fifth grade students were invited to play at Carnegie Hall in New York City this March, the only elementary school students to play. While he believes teaching is messy at times, he knows it unites students to work together for the final performance.

Oliver graduated from Florida International University with his bachelor’s degree in 1999 and returned for his master’s degree in 2016, both majoring in music education. He also helped launch a booster club at his school that is a registered nonprofit for travel expenses for performances.

I express my sincere appreciation to Oliver for all of the accomplished work with his students and wish him continued success in the years to come.

TRIBUTE TO IAN JACKSON

- Mr. RUBIO. Madam President, today I honor Ian Jackson, the Volusia County Teacher of the Year from T. Dewitt Taylor Middle-High School in Pierson, FL.

Ian is an Advancement Via Individual Determination teacher, working with students from 8th to 12th grade and considers it his job to change the trajectories of his students for the better. After receiving this award, Ian noted that it was not just him being recognized, but also his students for their success.

Ian urges his students to strive for greatness in their middle school and high school coursework in preparation for the college workload. He focuses on ensuring his classroom feels like a second home to his students when they struggle and are in need of support.

Many of Ian’s students come from difficult circumstances, so he works to establish strong relationships and create a positive environment for them. He dedicates his time to listening to the needs of his students and conveying to them that he cares about their well-being. Eighty percent of his students are accepted into 4-year universities and many stay in contact with him through college and beyond.

Ian’s student, Lewis Lambti, at Tocca Falls College, Middle-High School since 2005. He previously taught English as a second language classes in Georgia. He earned his bachelor’s degree from Tocca Falls College.

I extend my sincere thanks and gratitude to Ian for his dedication to helping his students succeed in life. I look forward to learning of his continued success in the coming years.
