The House met at 10 a.m. and was called to order by the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. LAWSON of Florida).

DESIGNATION OF SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following communication from the Speaker:

WASHINGTON, DC.
March 29.
I hereby appoint the Honorable Al LAWSON, Jr. to act as Speaker pro tempore on this day.

NANCY PELOSI,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

MORNING-HOUR DEBATE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the order of the House of January 3, 2019, the Chair will now recognize Members from lists submitted by the majority and minority leaders for morning-hour debate.

The Chair will alternate recognition between the parties. All time shall be equally allocated between the parties, and in no event shall debate continue beyond 11:50 a.m. Each Member, other than the majority and minority leaders and the minority whip, shall be limited to 5 minutes.

IN RECOGNITION OF DANA STRICKLAND

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. CARTER) for 5 minutes.

Mr. CARTER of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Mr. Dana Strickland on 25 years with the University of Georgia, College of Pharmacy, and to congratulate him for retiring on March 29.

The College's executive director of external affairs, Mr. Strickland, has been critical to the school's success—over the past two decades.

Increasing the endowment by a considerable amount, the College was able to build new buildings, support research by the faculty, and provide the best possible education to its students under Mr. Strickland's leadership.

The importance of these improvements cannot be overstated with the changing nature of pharmacists today who are on the front lines of the opioid epidemic and the rising cost of prescription drugs.

Thank you for your dedication to the University of Georgia, the pharmaceutical profession, and congratulations on your well-deserved retirement.

Mr. Strickland truly embodies what it means to be a PharmDawg. Although he will be difficult to replace, I have the utmost confidence in Dr. Michael Bartlett, who will be filling the role in the meantime.

REMEMBERING THE LIFE OF WILLIAM "RYAN" SAILORS

Mr. CARTER of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to remember the life of William "Ryan" Sailors, who passed away March 30 at the age of 22.

Throughout his life, Mr. Sailors had a special gift to brighten the days of everyone around him.

When he was younger, doctors thought that his life expectancy would only be to adolescence. Mr. Sailors not only surpassed that milestone, but also made the most of every single day he was on this Earth.

He refused to let his special needs get in his way, being infectiously positive and becoming famous for his trademark "thumbs up" to anyone passing by.

Some of Mr. Sailors' favorite activities included attending church each week at Wesley Monumental, eating snacks on the beach, and supervising vacuuming and cleaning around the house.

His life should be a reminder to all of us that we should try to make this world a happier place each and every day.

Mr. Sailors' family will be in my thoughts and prayers during this difficult time.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, CHARLIE WALDROP

Mr. CARTER of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Mr. Charlie Waldrop on his 100th birthday, April 27, 2019. Throughout his life, Mr. Waldrop has loved to serve others.

Serving our country during World War II, he fought in both France and Germany, and was discharged on his wife's birthday in 1946.

He served patients in Coastal Georgia for over 40 years, working as a pharmacist, and eventually opening his own pharmacy.

His notoriety and success in the profession enabled him to become the First District President of the Georgia Pharmaceutical Association, but his service doesn't stop there. He also worked as a deacon in his church and leads a Boy Scout troop.

I am proud to call Mr. Waldrop a Savannahian as he has become an icon in our town since he first moved there in 1927.

Mr. Waldrop, happy birthday, and thank you for everything you did to influence my career.

Thank you for your service to our Nation, to our community, and our profession.

FORT STEWART-HUNTER ARMY AIRFIELD WINS GOLD

Mr. CARTER of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the Fort Stewart-Hunter Army Airfield community for being named the 2019 Army Community of Excellence gold winner this past March.

This year is a record seventh time that these communities in the First Congressional District of Georgia have won the gold award, and last year, they won the bronze.

I want to thank everyone at Fort Stewart-Hunter Army Airfield for their commitment to the readiness of the soldiers, their constant efforts to make Maryland mourns the passing of Speaker Michael Busch

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. HOYER) for 5 minutes.

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, yesterday was the last day of the session of the General Assembly in Maryland.

Sadly, the day before, on Sunday, the longest serving speaker of the house of delegates—as we call our house of representatives—died on Sunday, and I rise to pay tribute to him.

He was a great American, a great public servant, and a very dear friend.

Maryland lost a champion. Michael Busch, Speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates for 25 years, and to the people of Maryland he served so faithfully for so many years.

I hope all of us in this House will find inspiration in Speaker Busch’s life and legacy as we strive to do right by those we serve, as he did for so many years, and to do so together in a way that is bipartisan, as was his inclination and performance; and be reflective of the way he lived his life and approached the work of governing.

In an age where, as I said, politics has been brought low by divisiveness, and in some respects, hatefulness and attacks on one another, Michael Busch was somebody who treated others with respect, with consideration, and with fairness.

Michael Busch served Maryland well. He served our people well. He will be missed.

IN CELEBRATION OF NATIONAL LIBRARY WEEK

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. THOMPSON) for 5 minutes.

Mr. THOMPSON of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in celebration of National Library Week, which began on Sunday and runs through Saturday, April 13.

This year’s theme is “Libraries = Strong Communities,” and Melinda Gates is the honorary chair.

In the last 20 years, the Gates Foundation’s Global Libraries initiative has been dedicated to enhancing libraries and empowering local communities.

National Library Week is an annual celebration highlighting the valuable role libraries, librarians, and library workers play in transforming lives and strengthening our communities.

Mr. Speaker, libraries have always been great equalizers in our society. Nearly 1.3 billion people visit public libraries every year, according to the Institute of Museum and Library Services.

They are at the heart of our cities, towns, schools and campuses, providing critical resources, programs, and expertise. Libraries provide a public space where all community members—regardless of age, culture, or income level—can come together to connect and learn.

First sponsored in 1958, National Library Week is an observance sponsored by the American Library Association and libraries across the country each April.

It is a time to celebrate the contributions of our Nation’s libraries and librarians and to promote library use and support. All types of libraries, including schools—public, academic, and special—participate.

There are several celebrations throughout the week, including today, which is National Library Workers Day. It is a time to show appreciation for the staff, administrators, and friends groups, and recognize the valuable contributions made by all library employees.

Tomorrow is National Bookmobile Day, which is celebrated today to recognize contributions of our Nation’s bookmobiles and dedicated professionals who make outreach possible and books accessible in our rural communities.

Mr. Speaker, from the largest library in the world, the Library of Congress, to the smallest local libraries around, I hope Americans will support their local libraries this week with a visit.

A PLEA NOT TO REINSTATE THE FAMILY SEPARATION POLICY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Texas (Mr. GREEN) for 5 minutes.

Mr. GREEN of Texas. Mr. Speaker, and still I rise. And I rise because I love my country. I rise today on a mission of mercy.

I am on a mission of mercy for people that I will likely never meet and greet. Perhaps by some fortuitous circumstance, I may encounter some of them, but I know not who they are currently in the sense that I know them personally.

I rise on behalf of the many people who are seeking asylum, and I do so, Mr. Speaker, because it has been reported on many news stations—outlets, if you will—that our President intends to reinstate the family separation policy.

I rise on a mission of mercy, and I make an appeal to the most powerful man on the planet Earth. My appeal is that you would not—N–O–T—you would not reinstate this policy.

I beseech you to please, Mr. President, treat these people the way you would want to be treated if you found yourself in similar circumstances. I beg that you would understand that separating babies from mothers is unacceptable by any standard that we know of.

No one supports the notion of taking babies from their mothers, children from their parents.

So I am begging and pleading with the President of the United States of America, the most powerful man on Earth: Please, Mr. President, do not reinstate this policy.

I also appeal to my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to encourage the President to do the right thing, the just thing.
If we are not pleased with the laws in this country, we have a means by which we can address the law. If we believe that something is unacceptable, there is a way for us to address it. The way to address this problem is with immigration reform.

I beg the President and all my colleagues on both sides of the aisle: Please, let’s try to resolve this with legislation. Let’s not do what we have done and, quite frankly, have not attained for.

Some of the children are still not back with their parents who were separated previously. This is the United States of America. This is not what we do. We don’t take children from their parents and then place them in places where we cannot find them such that we can reunite them.

This is my appeal, Mr. President. I make the appeal because, as a Member of Congress, I believe that at some point we are going to have to account for the actions that we engage in while we are here. I don’t want it on my record that while I was in the Congress of the United States of America and I had the opportunity to at least speak to power, to speak truth to power, and make an appeal on behalf of those who are among the least, the last, and the lost—I am making my appeal. I am doing what I can to help those who are fleeing harm’s way.

Mr. President, you don’t have to do this, and I beg that Members of both parties would please encourage him not to do so.

This is a moment for us to reflect and a moment for us to demonstrate to the world that what we preach, we will practice. We have, for years, encouraged other countries to take in refugees. We have gone so far as to pay countries to take in refugees. We have funded countries to take in refugees. We ought to practice what we preach.

Those who are not qualified should not come, should not be brought into our country. But I would also say this, that we should not say to the world, to back those who are fleeing harm’s way. You are not welcome in the United States of America.

This is not the country that would proclaim such a thing. Our laws we stand on, and I stand on those laws.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Members are reminded to address their remarks to the Chair.

REMEMBERING THE LIFE OF MUCAAD HUSSEIN ABDALLA

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. EMMER) for 5 minutes.

Mr. EMMER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to remember the life of Mucaad Hussein Abdalla, known by his friends and family as Siraj.

Last month, a tragic incident took the lives of 157 individuals when an airplane crashed in Ethiopia. This unfortunate event took the lives of eight Americans, and one of those individuals was Mucaad Hussein Abdalla.

Mucaad was a member of our community. Growing up in St. Cloud, Minnesota, he graduated from St. Cloud Apollo High School and began a career as a truck driver.

To his friends and family, Mucaad was simply known as Siraj, meaning a light or a lamp. He brought laughter, joy, and light to those around him.

We extend our most sincere condolences to his family and loved ones for their loss.

THANKING KORIANN CARTER AND THE UNITED WAY OF CENTRAL MINNESOTA

Mr. EMMER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize community resource navigator KoriAnn Carter and the United Way of Central Minnesota for working together on a pilot program to assist students and families at Lincoln Elementary School with food, housing assistance, mentoring, and after-school programs.

In addition, I want to recognize the work KoriAnn does through a program called Girls On Arise To Succeed in partnership with the Roosevelt Boys & Girls Club, McKinley Area Learning Center, and CentraCare Health, which brings young girls together to discuss important life topics and provide guidance.

For young women encountering family issues, experiencing homelessness, or struggling with mental health issues, this group gives them a space to talk to adults who care. Girls between 12 and 18 can participate in one of the girls groups where they learn lessons in healthy habits, the importance of education, how your current actions impact your future choices, leadership skills, goal setting, and gratitude.

These groups have transformed students throughout the St. Cloud area, giving them an avenue to succeed as well as find community and fellowship.

I thank KoriAnn and all the partners who make this possible. Their work to foster the next generation of leaders makes our corner of the world a better place.

CONGRATULATING ST. CLOUD VA

Mr. EMMER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate the St. Cloud VA for being one of only 18 hospitals nationwide to be selected to participate in the Department of Veterans Affairs’ efforts to establish the highest level of care for our military veterans.

Our veteran community rely on the St. Cloud VA to provide the highest level of care possible already. So to those of us in the community, it comes as no surprise that our VA will now help lead the Nation and the VA system to help establish these standards.

The selection is a great honor and testament to everyone who makes the St. Cloud VA the success it is today. The opportunity to lead our VA system to the highest standard of care for our Nation’s heroes is indeed a high calling.

Congratulations to the St. Cloud VA, and good luck in your mission.

RECOGNIZING STEVENS INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SIRES) for 5 minutes.

Mr. SIRES. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in recognition of a university in my district that has demonstrated leadership and innovation in STEM education.

Stevens Institute of Technology, located in Hoboken, New Jersey, has been leading the way with a rigorous technical curriculum that attracts the attention of some of the Nation’s most selective out-of-state competitors.

The university continues to develop new ways in which to augment the success of their students, and I was pleased to hear recently about innovative initiatives that support the success of underserved and underrepresented students.

It’s telling that the applications have increased 191 percent, and undergraduate enrollment has seen a 41 percent growth. Moreover, the graduation rate impressively rose to 47 percent with Pell Grant recipients graduating at a rate of 91 percent. This is well above the national averages, which are 59 percent and 51 percent, respectively.

There’s a reason. Forbes magazine recently called Stevens “one of the most desirable STEM colleges in the Nation.”

Upon graduation, 96 percent of Stevens graduates either get a job in their field, with an average starting salary of over $70,000, or enter graduate school within 6 months.

Not only is Stevens producing students who are highly skilled and prepared for the professional world, but Stevens is also at the forefront of cutting-edge research in areas of national importance, such as artificial intelligence and quantum computing. In a recent National Science Foundation competition for quantum engineering, Stevens won two out of eight grants awarded.

There are over 40,000 Stevens alumni who are essential to the economic progress of New Jersey and the Nation. I am proud to represent the university that acts as a trailblazer in scientific innovation.

I would like to recognize President Farvardin for his leadership, and I look forward to the continued success of Stevens and its students.

HONORING THE LIFE OF GERALD ALEXANDER KNIGHT

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. NORMAN) for 5 minutes.

Mr. NORMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize a great American, Gerald Alexander Knight, who was born on April 11, 1944. He was the middle child of five children born to his parents, Woodrow and Virda Knight.
His family, like most American families, had much to overcome during the ending of World War II and the economic and emotional hardship that ensued during the postwar period.

While the Knight family struggled to make ends meet, the American value of hard work, pride in what you do, and determination were instilled at a very young age. Gerald began working at the early age of 6 when he routinely walked a half mile to gather 3 gallons of water from his grandparents’ home. Wherever he worked, he earned his driver’s license and began driving a pulpwood truck at 4:30 every morning to earn money for his family. After finishing his early morning drive to the lumberyard, he would attend school and then returned home to gather another load of wood.

Gerald would often say: “I was born into poverty, but I did not choose to stay in poverty.”

After graduating from Flat Creek High School in 1962, he joined the Air Force and boarded a bus to San Antonio, Texas, where he entered training to become an air traffic controller. He was one of only three out of 18 to graduate, and he became an air traffic controller in the 668th SAGE Squadron serving during the Cuban Missile Crisis, where he monitored air traffic in the Southeastern United States and Puerto Rico to Cuba.

Gerald was soon stationed in Germany. During a visit to his home, he met his future wife, Joyce, on a blind date set up by his brother Charles. After one date, he asked her to marry him. However, being a senior in high school and needing to graduate, Joyce declined but promised to wait for Gerald until his military service was completed.

Gerald spent the next 2.5 years in Birkenfeld, Germany, where he continued to work in air traffic control and warned of the monitoring of the airspace of Europe, including tracking and identifying all aircraft in the airspace.

After completing his service in the Air Force, Gerald hitchhiked home, where the Vietnam war was raging. His younger brother Ronnie had been drafted and sent to serve in Vietnam. Gerald, wanting to be with his brother, offered to reenlist in the Air Force, provided he went to Vietnam. He never served in Vietnam due to a clerical error by the Air Force and was, instead, sent to Maine, where he declined and returned to South Carolina.

He married Joyce on November 6, 1966, and by 1970, they were the proud parents of two small girls, Carrie and Bobbie.

After working in the textile industry for a short time, he was hired by the DuPont company located in Camden, South Carolina, where he initially worked as a spinner operator. The company quickly realized that Gerald had a unique talent for listening and relating to people and moved him into the employee assistance department, where he was certified and began investigating sexual harassment cases and representing DuPont in Federal court.

He counseled employees and their families dealing with addiction problems, as well as working for the Lancaster Recovery Center, which served the entire community on these issues. Gerald was uniquely qualified to deal with these issues as he had struggled with alcohol abuse in his younger years until surrendering his life to Christ at the age of 38.

Gerald was instrumental in writing new human resources policy for DuPont and was once told: “You are the best outhouse lawyer I have ever seen.” His career at DuPont was stellar, and he was characterized by his peers as being honest, caring, and treating everyone with respect and dignity, regardless of their status in life.

When Gerald was asked what his greatest accomplishment was in life, his response was: “My girls. I look at their lives to measure my success, as they are working human beings with their own families serving God.”

Gerald Alexander Knight has lived a life with a sense of moral obligation to duty and a personal creed of God, family, and country, in that order. He is a proud member of the Greatest Generation and will be remembered for his kindness, generosity, and integrity.

God bless you, Gerald Alexander Knight. The world was a better place because you were in it.

RECOGNIZING PETTY OFFICER SECOND CLASS MARGARET NICOL OF THE U.S. COAST GUARD

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Washington (Ms. SCHRIER) for 5 minutes.

Ms. SCHRIER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take a moment to recognize Petty Officer Second Class Margaret Nicol of the United States Coast Guard.

A fellow resident of Sammamish, Washington, Maggie grew up in a large boating community in Florida. She found out all too well at the early age of 8 that the Coast Guard is an elite group of individuals whom we can always count on when we need to be rescued by them. Driven by a desire to give back, she enlisted in the Coast Guard Reserves during high school.

After attending college, she completed 2 years of Active-Duty service in Iraq, responded to Hurricane Katrina, and Rita, and went on to pursue registered nursing.

After relocating to the Seattle area in 2017, she rapidly qualified well ahead of deadlines to earn her response boat small boat Coxswain and boarding team qualifications. To support her colleagues, she amassed over 130 hours helping to train and qualify crew members, significantly increasing Station Seattle’s Reserve mobilization readiness.

But Petty Officer Nicol’s commitment to our country does not stop at the armed services. She is a business owner of FLWA Holdings, providing affordable housing located in Washington and Florida. She volunteers at Food Lifeline, serves local schools in the community, and engages with the Diveheart Foundation for disabled children, adults, and veterans.

Among her accolades, Petty Officer Nicol has earned the Global War on Terror Service Medal, the Humanitarian Service Medal, and, most recently, the high honor of being named the 2018 Coast Guard Enlisted Person of the Year. She epitomizes the Coast Guard’s core values of honor, respect, and devotion to duty. Most importantly, she leads by example, champions a humanitarian spirit, and has devoted her life to serving others.

Thank you. After you, Ms. SCHRIER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate Tahoma High School, State champions.

Congratulations to the students of Tahoma High School from Washington State’s Maple Valley on their 10th consecutive statewide victory and 23rd victory in the last 25 years in the Center for Civic Education’s We the People: The Citizen and the Constitution annual tournament.

These smart and ambitious students from the Eighth District will represent Washington State in the 32nd annual We the People finals later this month right here in D.C., where they will demonstrate their knowledge and understanding of the Constitution to distinguished panels of scholars, lawyers, and leaders from across the Nation. They will no doubt uphold the standards of excellence for which Tahoma High School is known and champion the values inscribed in our founding documents.

I would especially like to recognize Gretchen Wulfing. Tahoma High School’s dedicated teacher and coach for civic education. She has coached the Tahoma High School team for 11 years, was honored as one of Washington’s Civic Educators of 2016, and received Washington’s Civic Educator of the Year distinction. We are grateful for her dedication to our schools and to our next generation of leaders.

Congratulations to Gretchen and the hardworking students from Tahoma High School for being true warriors of the Constitution. You are exemplars of young people leading the way in the 21st century. Good luck, Washington could not be more proud of you. and to not close our doors to those seeking asylum. We are a good country at heart. We should not separate children from parents. We are better than that.

CONGRATULATING KAY ARTHUR ON RECEIVING THE LYDIA IMPACT AWARD

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. FLEISCHMANN) for 5 minutes.

Mr. FLEISCHMANN. Mr. Speaker, few people have the gift to bring people together, but Kay Arthur is one of these special individuals. Her passion for people and deeply rooted faith is illuminated through her television, radio, and online programs in which she uses God’s Word to reach over 75 million households in over 30 countries.

Kay is a four-time ECFA Christian Book Award-winning author and the cofounder of Precept Ministries International, and she will soon be recognized once again as the recipient of the Scenic City Women’s Network Lydia Impact Award.

An institution in the Chattanooga community, the vision of the Scenic City Women’s Network is to encourage, equip, and energize Christian women. As part of this vision, the Lydia Award is a special honor for a woman who emulates the attributes of Lydia in the Bible—a woman, a hospitable woman, and one who is fervent in spirit and serves the Lord.

Mr. Speaker, that woman is Kay Arthur.

I would like to share a story that illustrates her servant heart:

Being a high-profile Bible teacher and author and has never kept Kay from striving to meet the needs of whoever crosses her path. From waiters to cab drivers, Kay Arthur seeks to truly meet people where they are, but never leave them without a pathway to hope.

One chilly afternoon, Kay and her son David were driving back to the office after a lunch appointment. Kay noticed a lady in a wheelchair on the side of the road. David was instructed to promptly pull over. Kay sprang out of the car and approached the woman. After a quick conversation, Kay took off her full-length winter coat, wrapped it around this lady and shared that Jesus loves her, and the coat is a sign of His gracious love to her.

Kay never meets a stranger, no matter if in Chattanooga or a country of His gracious love to her.

It is a scary word. It is a magical word. It is the word that comes up every time Democrats propose a plan to better educate America’s children—socialism; to make the elderly more secure in their retirement—socialism; to make healthcare available to people in this country who still can’t see a doctor—socialism.

It is a magical word because, if you say someone is a socialist, you hide the fact that you actually don’t have a counterplan, that when the Democrats say here are a bunch of plans to make healthcare better and you don’t have a plan, you just say “socialism,” and that could end the conversation.

It is a magical word because it allows you to distract from the fact that, if you actually do the things to better educate America’s children or to make America’s retirees more secure in their retirement or to make healthcare available, that costs a little money. The problem with that is that, for my Republican colleagues, that money needs to go into tax cuts for the wealthiest people in this country and for corporations. That is a problem.

By the way, it is not a new thing. This has been going on for 100 years. I have a quote here from President Reagan. He is talking about Medicare here:

And behind it will come other Federal programs that will invade every area of freedom as we know it in this country until, one day, we will awake to find that we have socialism.

Ronald Reagan promised us that Medicare, probably one of the most successful programs this country has ever put forward, would lead to socialism. It goes back before that.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt, who did so much to make for the decency that is endemic in this country after the Depression, the Securities and Exchange Commission so that our capitalist economy would be a fair economy, the progressive income tax so we could actually fund our military and fund education—all socialism. He was a traitor to his class. He was a socialist. This goes back way.

So having quoted Ronald Reagan, let me quote another great leader, Inigo Montoya, in “The Princess Bride.” He says: “You keep using that word. I do not think it means what you think it means.”

So what does socialism mean? What is socialism?

Here is the dictionary definition. It is a system in which there is no private property or a system in which the government owns the means of production. What is that? Is Medicare socialist? At Mount Sinai or Sloan Kettering, are those hospitals or doctors working for the government? Of course not.

Was Dodd-Frank socialist? No. Dodd-Frank put in place regulations that have allowed JPMorgan Chase, Citibank, Wells Fargo, and all those banks to be more profitable than ever before. That is not socialism.

What is particularly interesting is socialism is just a lot of government in your economy. I took time to look at States where government is actually a big part of the economy. You can look this up, Mr. Speaker.

There is an article called, “The Top Five Most Socialist States.” West Virginia, Alaska, Wyoming, Mississippi, and Arkansas are the five States with the largest percentage of government spending as part of their economy—deep, deep red States. The top five socialist States, Republican.

Now, what about those socialist States that my Republican friends call socialist? Here are a couple of them: California, New York, Massachusetts—that is Taxachusetts.

California: My friend, DEVIN NUNES, the Representative from California, because they are trying to take plastic out of the Pacific Ocean, called California socialist.

These are the economic powerhouses of the Nation. They have GDPs that look like small countries. They have innovators; they start companies. And the reason for that is because innovators and business people want to start businesses in communities where there are good schools, access to healthcare, and people have the wages to actually buy their products.

So, Mr. Speaker, don’t be fooled by the ideological woe that is socialism. Socialism is what is used to address every effort that we make to make for a more fair and just society. That is not socialism.

These things—increased wages, better healthcare, and better access to education—are not socialism. They are in the finest tradition of making sure that opportunity is available to every American and that the American Dream will not die.

CONSTITUTIONAL SIGNIFICANCE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. BYRNE) for 5 minutes.

Mr. BYRNE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to raise questions of grave constitutional significance.

Last week, the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee requested the IRS turn over years’ worth of President Trump’s personal and business tax returns that cover business decisions and dealings long before the President came to office.
Similarly, the chairman of the Committee on Oversight and Reform has indicated that his committee will examine allegations regarding how the President valued real estate, among other business decisions, long before the President was elected. He has also indicated he may call members of the President’s family to testify about these and other Trump Organization dealings.

These actions are not only blatantly partisan, but they raise serious constitutional concerns.

Our system is one of limited powers and of checks and balances. The Congress is not a law enforcement agency. It is not a court of law. It is a legislative body.

Beside me are the words of Chief Justice Earl Warren, someone whom I would say most on the other side hold in high esteem:

“There is no general authority to expose the private affairs of individuals without justification in terms of the functions of the Congress. . . . Investigations conducted solely for the personal aggrandizement of the investigators or to ‘punish’ those investigated are indefensible.”

As the Supreme Court has repeatedly affirmed, investigations conducted by this House “must be related to and be in furtherance of a legitimate task of the Congress.”

The Court has particularly warned that investigations of the private affairs are off limits without a clear connection to this body’s constitutional functions. Rightly so. We are a nation of laws and of liberty.

The President’s political opponents tried and failed to make his tax returns and his business dealings an issue in the 2016 Presidential election. The American people settled that issue at the ballot box.

RECOGNIZING VICTORIA MEJIAS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BACON) for 5 minutes.

Mr. BACON. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Victoria Mejias, a leader from my district in Omaha, Nebraska, who has overcome the physical impairments of multiple sclerosis, or MS, to help others in desperate need, those who need to find new homes, new jobs, and new schools in the wake of Hurricanes Maria, Sandy, and Katrina and the tornados that rampaged Pilger, Nebraska, and Joplin, Missouri.

Victoria has lived in missionary work for many years and has always had an active interest in serving others in need. She found her second calling by assisting disaster relief efforts and facilitating the relocation of those most affected.

In 2017, Victoria found her work hitting closer to home than ever before. Victoria, who is the daughter of a Puerto Rican family, assisted in the relief efforts for Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands when they were devastated by the powerful category 4 hurricane that claimed an estimated 3,057 human lives and caused $91 billion worth of damage.

She worked fervently alongside U.S. veteran Joel Ortiz to initiate a relief plan that would help relocate affected families to Omaha and the surrounding areas. With her efforts, displaced families would have a place to call their home away from home.

The result was the birth of an organization which Victoria is proud to call her own, Heartland United for Puerto Rico. This organization has assisted approximately 50 families in relocating to areas throughout Nebraska and Iowa and continues to make influential impacts in the lives of these individuals who lost so much everything.

Unfortunately, much of Victoria’s efforts have been slowed as she continues her fight against the horrible impacts of MS. MS can be treated through disease-modifying therapies which work to reduce the frequency and severity of relapses, but they do not cure MS. In fact, there is no known cure.

Multiple sclerosis attacks the immune system’s healthy cells and affects the ability of the central nervous system to control the activities of the body.

In 2006, Victoria encountered her first difficulty with this disease when she lost her balance and fell to the ground, having no feeling of support from her legs beneath her. She was formally diagnosed with MS in 2016.

The diagnosis, although challenging, gave her a sense of relief, as she finally knew her experience was real and valid. She continues to suffer from many effects of the disease, such as broken legs and color blindness, and is no longer physically able to have the same influence she once had, but Victoria has the motivation to be a transformative leader within her community and does not let this stop her.

When you meet Victoria, she will tell you that being self-aware of your challenges is a strength, not a weakness.

What Victoria has accomplished in the lives of others is an achievement difficult for many who do not suffer from any physical limitations. Therefore, we should all draw inspiration from her example, her determination, and her achievements, all while struggling with the debilitating effects of MS.

May we all strive to be leaders in our communities, as Victoria has and will continue to be.

Victoria, we salute you and pray for your strength. We pray for your healing from this burdensome disease. Thank you for being such a great example and inspiration to all of us.

RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 12(a) of rule I, the Chair declares the House in recess until noon today.

Accordingly (at 10 o’clock and 50 minutes a.m.), the House stood in recess.

AFTER RECESS

The recess having expired, the House was called to order by the Speaker at noon.

PRAYER

Reverend Dr. Darryl D. Roberts, 19th Street Baptist Church, Washington, D.C., offered the following prayer:

O God, our redeemer, we give You the highest praise.

Saturate our hearts in Your love so that our will may be lost in Your perfect plan for creation.

We thank You for the Members of the people’s House, who believe, in the words of Thomas Jefferson, “that every human mind feels pleasure in doing good to another.”

May You endow each elected official and staff with abundant grace, wisdom, and compassion to stand for the public interest over personal interest, people over politics, love over hatred, truth over falsehood, and courage over fear.

May Your spirit breathe on this session, bring synergy in the midst of diversity, and promote unity for the benefit of the common good until we reach that glorious daybreak when justice shall roll down like water and righteousness like an ever-flowing stream.

Amen.

THE JOURNAL

The SPEAKER. The Chair has examined the Journal of the last day’s proceedings and announces to the House her approval thereof.

Pursuant to clause 1, rule I, the Journal stands approved.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from California (Mr. LAMALFA) come forward and lead the House in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mr. LAMALFA led the Pledge of Allegiance as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair will entertain up to 15 requests for 1-minute speeches on each side of the aisle.

HONORING THE NATIONAL ALLIANCE ON MENTAL ILLNESS

(Mrs. KIRKPATRICK asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. KIRKPATRICK. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the National Alliance on Mental Illness and to show support for my community and the millions of Americans living with a mental illness.

This weekend, I marched in the NAMI Walk to help raise awareness. I was inspired to hear the brave stories of so many survivors who have not given up on their mental wellness.

Before the Affordable Care Act was enacted, mental health coverage was lacking or missing altogether from most health plans. Medicaid expansion, a cornerstone of the ACA, has dramatically expanded access to treatment in many States, including Arizona.

But the Trump administration is again trying to eliminate the ACA and remove protections for people with mental illness and preexisting conditions.

Republicans have no health plan other than fighting to take away America’s healthcare. We must raise our voices and reject this again. We must fight for our healthcare and the coverage that treats our most vulnerable communities.

DON’T LET GOVERNMENT TAKE OVER THE INTERNET

(Mr. LAMALFA asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LAMALFA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to shed some light on the total hypocrisy of the Democrats’ Save the Internet Act under the guise of net neutrality.

This bill is nothing short of a Federal Government takeover of the internet, and the end result would be catastrophic. Democrats want a panel of unelected bureaucrats to have nearly limitless control over the internet, including decisions over content moderation and imposing new taxes and fees for internet services by the FCC.

To be clear, they would like the Federal Government to have nearly unchecked authority to regulate your internet. That should terrify those of you sitting at home.

This goes against everything that made the internet such a transformative engine of the American economy in the first place. In fact, this type of regulatory approach would cripple smaller ISPs that can’t afford the burdensome regulations, especially in rural communities.

I believe in a free and open internet that fosters innovation and takes our economy to new heights, like we have already achieved. This legislation will do the opposite of that.

This isn’t “Save the Internet.” We must vote “no” to save the internet process and the freedom to access it from legislation like this.

IMPROVE MENTAL HEALTHCARE FOR ALL AMERICANS

(Ms. JOHNSON of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. JOHNSON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, my experience as the first registered nurse elected to Congress allows me to examine our Nation’s healthcare priorities with firsthand knowledge.

Currently, our mental health system is failing our communities. Our Federal Government spends billions each year without addressing the underlying causes of mental health illnesses.

Needless to say, reform is necessary. In Congress, we have defended protections for preexisting conditions in the Affordable Care Act, a law that has brought a sense of security for the 11.5 million Texans and 133 million Americans living with preexisting conditions.

As we continue our work, we cannot lose sight of those living with mental health illnesses as preexisting conditions.

There is much to be achieved, and I am eager to continue working for the people to improve mental healthcare for every American.

RELEASEING JAMES BAKER’S INTERVIEW TRANSCRIPTS

(Mr. COLLINS of Georgia asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. COLLINS of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I have released several transcripts of interviews from the Judiciary Committee’s investigation into the apparent wrongdoing at the FBI and the Justice Department. Today, I am releasing another.

The American people deserve transparency. They deserve to know what transpired at the highest levels of the FBI and at the origin of the probe into President Trump’s campaign.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I request that the link www.dougcollins.house.gov/baker be placed in the RECORD so the American people can review the transcripts of one of James Baker’s interviews.

Out of an abundance of caution, this transcript has a limited number of narrowly tailored redactions, relating only to confidential sources and methods, nonpublic information about ongoing investigations, and nonmaterial personal information.

I will continue to work to release as many transcripts as possible, including the entirety of Mr. Baker’s interviews with the Judiciary Committee.

The American people deserve the truth.

SECRET HEALTHCARE PLAN

(Mr. DeFAZIO asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. DeFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, 2 weeks ago, the Trump Justice Department filed in court to say that the entire Affordable Care Act should be voided.

The President said: Don’t worry. We are going to have a great and better plan to replace it.

Then Mitch McConnell said: No, no, we are not doing that.

Then Trump said: Well, we will run on healthcare in 2020 and promise a better plan.

His consultant said: No, better not do that.

So now he has a secret plan that will be unveiled after the next election to replace the Affordable Care Act. Twenty-one million Americans would lose their insurance if it went away tomorrow.

We had another guy running for President back in 1968, Richard Milhous Nixon. He had a secret plan to end the Vietnam war. Actually, he didn’t have a plan to end the war, but it helped him win the Presidency.

Shame on us if a fake promise to have a better healthcare plan undisclosed will come out after the election.
Today, I ask my Republican colleagues: What side will history find you on, protecting American families or the need to protect partisan interests? A demonstration of this was the Republican-controlled Senate’s failure last week to advance a disaster aid package that includes billions for American families still recovering from 2017 natural disasters. Be on the right side of history.

FIND OUR HEALTHCARE SYSTEM

(Mr. GOTTHEIMER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. GOTTHEIMER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today because there is a lot we need to do to fix healthcare here in the United States. I will work with anyone, regardless of political party, who has ideas to improve healthcare and get costs down, but I find it unacceptable that the Department of Justice wants to gut the Affordable Care Act with no plan. We need to stabilize the volatile healthcare marketplace, increase competition so that affordable prescription drugs are within reach for everyone, cover preexisting conditions, and make sure that we always protect the Social Security and Medicare that our seniors rely on.

Last Congress, the bipartisan Problem Solvers Caucus introduced such a proposal, and we need to get it done now.

In New Jersey, we are very lucky to have some of the best healthcare providers, innovators, and hospitals in the world. We are America’s medicine cabinet.

Our people deserve a bipartisan approach to fix our healthcare system so that we can look out for everyone in New Jersey and everyone across the country.

WORK TOGETHER TO IMPROVE OUR HEALTHCARE SYSTEM

(Mr. PAPPAS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PAPPAS. Mr. Speaker, when we took our oath in January, no issue before us was more critical than healthcare. Over the past 100 days, we have fought the administration’s efforts to gut the Affordable Care Act at every turn. We must keep at it because the ACA has allowed 53,000 New Hampshire residents to enroll in Medicaid expansion. The coverage for substance use disorder makes it the best tool we have to fight the opioid crisis.

We also voted to empower House counsel to defend coverage for those with preexisting conditions. Half the adult population in my State of New Hampshire has a preexisting condition. We can’t go back to the days when insurance companies could discriminate against them.

We have also introduced legislation that will lower premiums, strengthen patient protections, and crack down on junk plans that could send New Hampshire families right into bankruptcy.

Lowering costs and expanding access to care must continue to be at the top of our priority list. Nothing is more important to the health of our districts and the well-being of this Nation.

Let’s work together to improve our healthcare system, not play politics with it.

HEALTHCARE AND THE BUDGET

(Mr. WOODALL asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WOODALL. Mr. Speaker, you have heard in the last round of 60-second comments a sense of urgency around healthcare. I share that sense of urgency, as I know everybody on my side of the aisle does.

But for the next 1 hour, Mr. Speaker, we are going to be talking about what purports to be the House budget, the budget that would tell us what our Medicaid priorities are, the budget that would tell us how we are going to save Medicare, the budget that would tell us how we are going to protect Social Security, and the budget that would tell us what our values are as a nation. That is what the law requires: that we bring such a document to the floor and that we do it by April 15.

But for the next hour, Mr. Speaker, what you are going to hear is that the House is producing no such budget, that the House is silent on protecting Medicaid, silent on protecting Medicare, and silent on protecting Social Security.

We can do better, as my colleagues have challenged us to do. It is going to take a partnership, though, not empty accusations.

CLIMATE CHANGE

(Ms. KUSTER of New Hampshire asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. KUSTER of New Hampshire. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to call for urgent action to reduce carbon pollution and save our planet.

We know climate change poses serious environmental and economic threats to communities across New Hampshire and throughout the United States. Let me give you one unusual example:

New Hampshire and Maine, researchers have found a 70 percent mortality rate among young moose calves between 2014 and 2016. That is up from 15 percent just two decades ago. These deaths are caused by the prevalence of winter ticks that are thriving with warmer winters.

Another recent study found that warming rivers could have an impact on the health of brook trout.
Mr. MORELLE. Mr. Speaker, by direction of the Committee on Rules, I call up House Resolution 294 and ask for its immediate consideration.

H. Res. 294

Resolved, That at any time after adoption of this resolution the Speaker may, pursuant to clause 2(b) of rule XVIII, declare the House in recess into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union for consideration of the bill (H.R. 1644) to restore the open internet order of the Federal Communications Commission. The first reading of the bill shall be dispensed with. All points of order against consideration of the bill are waived. General debate shall be limited to two hours equally divided and controlled by the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on Energy and Commerce. After general debate the bill shall be considered for amendment under the five-minute rule. In lieu of the amendment in the nature of a substitute recommended by the Committee on Energy and Commerce now printed in the bill, it shall be in order to consider an original bill for the purpose of amendment under the five-minute rule an amendment in the nature of a substitute consisting of the text of Rules Committee Print 116-10. That amendment in the nature of a substitute shall be considered as read. All points of order against that amendment in the nature of a substitute are waived. No amendment to that amendment in the nature of a substitute shall be in order except those printed in part B of the report of the Committee on the Budget for fiscal year 2020. The rule also provides for consideration of H.R. 2021, providing for consideration of H.R. 1644, the Save the Internet Act. That amendment in the nature of a substitute shall be considered as read. All points of order against that amendment in the nature of a substitute are waived. All points of order against the amendment to that amendment in the nature of a substitute shall be in order except those printed in part B of the report of the Committee on the Budget for fiscal year 2020. Each such amendment may be offered only in the order printed in the report, may be considered as read, shall be debatable for the time specified in the report equally divided and controlled by the proponent and an opponent, shall not be subject to amendment, and shall not be subject to a demand for division of the question in the House or in the Committee of the Whole. All points of order against such amendments are waived. At the conclusion of consideration of the bill for amendment the Committee shall rise and report the bill to the House with such amendments as may have been adopted. Any Member may demand a separate vote in the House on any amendment adopted in the Committee of the Whole. All points of order against such amendments are waived. At the conclusion of consideration of the bill for amendment the Committee shall rise and report the bill to the House with such amendments as may have been adopted. Any Member may demand a separate vote in the House on any amendment adopted in the Committee of the Whole. All points of order against such amendments are waived. If an agreement on lifting the cap is not reached, mandatory cuts to every Federal program are not a successful path to fiscal responsibility.

Without taking action to lift the caps established by the Budget Control Act, nondefense discretionary funding will be cut by $54 billion. Such drastic cuts threaten public health, the environment, access to education, job training, and lifesaving social services like food and housing assistance.

Cuts to nondefense discretionary funding would also impact our national security. Nearly one-third of investments in this year’s defense budget supports programs like veterans’ programs, homeland security initiatives, diplomatic operations, foreign aid, and Justice Department activities.

If an agreement on lifting the cap is not reached, mandatory cuts to every Federal program are not a successful path to fiscal responsibility. In a dangerous world, those cuts would be, in my view, harmful to national and global security.
Only a few months ago, the American people felt the harsh effects of a government shutdown. It is time to come together to take decisive action to avoid another blow to essential Federal programs that help hardworking Americans in every State. This legislation would mean working families will no longer have to rely on continued Federal funding for the programs that keep them safe, support their jobs, and invest in their children.

In fiscal year 2020, defense spending would be capped at $664 billion, with nondefense discretionary spending capped at $631 billion. The Investing for the People Act would also provide up to $8 billion, annually, for nondefense overseas contingency operations. OCO, activities that do not count against the spending caps, while limiting OCO designation of defense spending in 2020 and 2021 to no more than the fiscal year 2019 level of $59 billion dollars.

In his budget, President Trump proposed continued spending on defense measures but massive cuts to domestic programs like public health research, infrastructure investment, and support for low-income families.

Even as our Nation draws down from our overseas war operations, domestic spending remains at a historic low as a percentage of our economy. H.R. 2021 provides a pathway for improving the lives of Americans in every community and renews our commitment to spending to meet the needs of our communities and invest in our economy.

In addition to protecting Americans from spending cuts, the House will be considering protections for a product all of us here today rely upon to do our jobs and live our lives, just like millions of Americans: the internet. This rule also provides for consideration of essential protections for American consumers who use the internet.

The Save the Internet Act would reinstate the Open Internet Order of 2015 that classifies broadband internet services as common carriers that are prohibited from preferentially treating or discriminating against groups of persons.

An overwhelming 86 percent of Americans opposed the FCC's rollback of net neutrality protections. All this legislation does, Mr. Speaker, is restore those protections.

Fast and reliable internet access is absolutely essential to millions of working families and small business owners. Practices like blocking, throttling, and paid prioritization harm the ability of every American to experience the internet in the same way, regardless of provider or how much money you pay.

The Save the Internet Act includes enhanced transparency protections and enacts specific rules against throttling, blocking, and other violations of net neutrality. The FCC would be empowered to investigate consumer and business complaints and impose necessary fines against internet service providers for violations of the Communications Act. The bill also provides pathways to internet access for every American, especially those in rural communities who are being left behind by modern, high-speed internet infrastructure.

Additionally, this legislation revives the Lifeline program, created under the Reagan administration to subsidize phone service for low-income families. Under this legislation, the FCC would again have authorization to use the Lifeline program to expand access to broadband for low-income Americans, especially seniors, students, veterans, and disabled Americans.

In response to concerns raised by our Republican colleagues, the Save the Internet Act would ensure the FCC does not have the power to protect access to the internet but does not have authority to make decisions over internet content or the power to impose taxes and fees for internet access. This legislation forbears the FCC from applying more than 700 regulations under the Communications Act that are unnecessary to protecting an open internet, such as rate setting.

Internet service providers have long claimed that they were hamstrung by net neutrality protections and that strong consumer protections were preventing them from investing in higher speeds and advanced broadband infrastructure.

In reality, ISPs actually increased speeds and invested huge amounts in improving their broadband during the time when net neutrality protections were enforced by the FCC. Moreover, many of the largest providers have failed to keep their promise of increased investing after the Trump FCC repealed those protections, with investments actually shrinking in recent years.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to vote for this rule and for both pieces of legislation underlying it, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. WOODALL. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I thank my friend from New York for yielding me the customary 30 minutes.

And, at the risk of opening this debate yielding me the customary 30 minutes like I opened it here in 2019; Mr. Speaker, I have taken an opportunity to do something very productive and very bipartisan and we have turned it into something that is going to be very partisan and wholly unproductive. Both parties are considering in this rule today are going to be moving through the Senate. Neither of the bills we are considering today are going to be signed by the President. But the good foundation in both of those bills could have been, and we both of those bills could have been, and both of those bills could have been.

Let me start with H.R. 1644, Mr. Speaker, the so-called Save the Internet Act. I can’t speak for everyone else’s internet, but my internet is still thriving. I haven’t seen any nefarious internet shortages or blockages in recent days.

For the millions and millions of Americans trying to livestream C-SPAN right now, they are having no problems whatsoever. It is going right through the pipes the way it always has, Mr. Speaker. And, if it is in need of saving, it is certainly not in need of saving from this institutional rule.

I understand, Mr. Speaker, that my friends on the other side of the aisle are upset with the Trump administration’s FCC.

You will recall that the Obama administration and its FCC took the regulations that had governed the internet from its inception through its explosion of productivity and innovation, all the way through 2015, and threw all those regulations into a bucket, replacing it with a command-and-control government structure.

In its wisdom and with my great support, the Trump administration and the FCC threw the bucket out, taking us back to those rules that provided the foundation for the internet and all of the productivity that it has provided.

It is unfortunate, Mr. Speaker, that so many folks are afraid of Internet freedom that we need to try to find a way to clamp down on internet freedom and bend the internet to the will of the government.

I would argue that the Wild West innovation style that has driven the internet and tech companies from day one shouldn’t be boxed in by the government and certainly shouldn’t be replaced with a 1930s-era, Ma Bell telephone regulatory scheme.

That is what we are talking about here today with this bill, Mr. Speaker, is turning over regulation of the internet to title II of the Communications Act.

If you have not looked at title II recently, Mr. Speaker, it is almost 100 years old. It was created to govern that wonderful emerging technology called the landline telephone and the monoplistic telephone companies that existed at that time.

I don’t know how many of your staffers still have landline telephones, Mr. Speaker. I know your grandchildren probably don’t even know how to operate these devices.

We certainly should not be relying on those regulations to bring us forward with innovation. The heavy hand of government regulation always takes us backwards.

The good news, Mr. Speaker, is that, if you see legitimate challenges out there, we do have some bipartisan solutions to help address those: Former Chairman WALDEN’s H.R. 1101, one such bill that could have been on the floor today; Mr. LATTA’s H.R. 1006, another bill that could have been on the floor today; Mrs. MCNABB’s H.R. 1096 could have been on the floor today, just to name a few.

It is unfortunate, Mr. Speaker, that so many folks are afraid of Internet freedom that we need to try to find a way to clamp down on internet freedom and bend the internet to the will of the government.

I would argue that the Wild West innovation style that has driven the internet and tech companies from day one shouldn’t be boxed in by the government and certainly shouldn’t be replaced with a 1930s-era, Ma Bell telephone regulatory scheme.

If you have not looked at title II recently, Mr. Speaker, it is almost 100 years old. It was created to govern that wonderful emerging technology called the landline telephone and the monoplistic telephone companies that existed at that time.

We certainly should not be relying on those regulations to bring us forward with innovation. The heavy hand of government regulation always takes us backwards.

The good news, Mr. Speaker, is that, if you see legitimate challenges out there, we do have some bipartisan solutions to help address those: Former Chairman WALDEN’s H.R. 1101, one such bill that could have been on the floor today; Mr. LATTA’s H.R. 1006, another bill that could have been on the floor today; Mrs. MCNABB’s H.R. 1096 could have been on the floor today, just to name a few.
But none of those bipartisan options were seriously considered. Instead, we are left with a single option, in true government, monopolistic fashion, and that option is to support the Obama administration’s failed government takeover idea.

Mr. Speaker, I oppose that. I oppose the legislation. I hope my other colleagues will as well.

It did not have to be this way. This could have been a productive partnership. We could have worked together to turn what is obviously a productive and innovative tool fueling, not just urban America, not just suburban America, but rural America, and we could have talked about how to grow it together. But we chose a different path, digging partisan ditches even deeper early in 2019.

If that is not disappointing enough, Mr. Speaker, there is a second bill that this rule makes in order. That is H.R. 2021. That bill comes out of another committee, the innovation wing, that serves on the House Budget Committee. I love serving on the House Budget Committee, I have to tell you, Mr. Speaker. It is a wonderful committee on which to serve. Mr. MORELLE and I are both lucky to be on it. Two are two fabulous leaders on that committee: Mr. YARMUTH of Kentucky leading the Democratic side of the aisle and Mr. WOMACK of Arkansas leading the Republican side of the aisle.

If you were going to task two leaders in this institution with crafting the kind of budget that I talked about from the well earlier, Mr. Speaker, a budget that would protect Social Security, protect Medicare, protect Medicaid, a budget that would lay out priorities for America, talk about where it is that we want to see our children and our grandchildren go in the 21st century, those are the two leaders who could have made this happen in a long time around a unified vision.

But, instead, the order came down from on high, Mr. Speaker. There was to be no budget. I assume that is true. We have considered absolutely no budget in the so-called Budget Committee. We have had no budget markup in the Budget Committee. We have had no discussions of budget in the Budget Committee.

Instead, what we have before us today is a bill that is sometimes referred to as a caps deal. You have heard “caps deal” before, Mr. Speaker.

It is those times in years past where we have taken what are those discretionary caps, those limits on how much Federal money we can spend, and we have adjusted those so that we can invest in some shared priorities on the one hand while reducing spending in some other, lower priority places.

We have done that in a bipartisan way not once, not twice, but three times. We could have been here today, Mr. Speaker, for a fourth time.

If we are not going to actually do a budget, we still could have been here on a caps deal. But this is not a caps deal. This is not a caps bill that had input from Republicans in the House. This is not a caps deal that had consideration with the Senate. This is not a caps deal that has been done in bipartisanship with the White House.

This is a caps deal that is just a deal among warring factions of a divided Democratic Caucus, and that bill has come to the floor today—again, a bill that will not be considered in the Senate and a bill that will not be signed by the President.

We can normalize partisan failure in this institution, Mr. Speaker. We can. We can also normalize bipartisan cooperation.

I don’t fault the other side for the struggles that are, inevitably, going to happen when a new majority takes over in the U.S. House of Representatives. Leading is a very difficult, difficult thing to do.

But, at the end of the day, the majority is tasked with doing exactly that—leading. The Budget Committee should produce a budget. The United States of America should have a budget.

It is not easy to do. It is not easy to pass this House floor. It is not easy to pass through a committee. But it is what the law requires us to do; it is what we have the right leaders on the Budget Committee to do and it is what every single Member in this institution knows in their heart that we should do. Mr. Speaker, I urge defeat of this rule, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MORELLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, let me just make a few brief comments, and I always appreciate the passion that Mr. Woodall, my distinguished friend and colleague, brings to this discussion.

I do want to say what this is. First of all, the rule before the House has both a resolution, which I talked about, which is the law that establishes the caps, and a bill that provides for discretionary spending and, in addition, allows us to do IRS enforcement—$400 million is in the resolution—and the census 2020, which is upcoming and provides allocations to the authorizing committees, all of these things which will match the CBO’s baseline, I might add, and enforcement through regular Budget Act points of order.

So the issue here is this budget bill. What we do with the resolution, however, is critically important because it makes sure that we begin this process.

I think the thing that we all want to avoid in the greatest possible way is a shutdown. We saw that happen, and 2018 made history.

Although the House, the Senate, and the White House were all controlled by the same party when that process for the first time in U.S. history in a government shutdown, an inglorious end to the 115th Congress.

We need to do anything we can. This starts that process, creates a safety net and just-starts the budget process. So this is a completely appropriate and, in my view, mandatory way to start this process. And I will perhaps, if I get a moment or two, talk about the budget that the President submitted to us.

I also want to just mention for a moment, if I can, the comments raised by my colleague relative to the net neutrality bill. This, under the current rule, has enormous exposure to consumers and businesses. It does not impede what we are attempting to do. In fact, in my view, it will spur innovation, and it provides predictably for all users, consumers and businesses alike.

I do note that the rule that we rejected last night ensures that we do everything we can to reaffirm that commitment to fair access.

The rule made in order 12 amendments, both from Democrats and Republicans. It is a structured rule. Some of those amendments I agree with, some of those I disagree with, but every single one is worthy of debate on the floor. I am very proud, and I want to also congratulate the chair of our committee, Mr. McGovern, for making sure that we have amendments from both sides to discuss on this floor.

I do want to just mention a couple of them. Several amendments aim to strengthen access to broadband internet in rural and underserved communities. Mr. Buxton, for instance, has an amendment which we will take up which requires the GAO to produce a report about the ways the U.S. government can promote the deployment of broadband to rural communities.

Representative WEXTON has an amendment requiring the FCC to submit to Congress a plan on how the Commission would address problems in collecting data on deployment of broadband. By fixing these problems, we can have a better view of those communities that are served by broadband and ensure every community has access.

We have an amendment by Representative WATERS asking the Comptroller General to submit a report on how net neutrality helps ethnic and racial minorities and how those rules will help disadvantaged groups, rural populations, individuals with disabilities, and the elderly. Without that full information, we cannot ensure that everyone is receiving the same treatment.

We have an amendment from Representative DAVIDS directing GAO to submit a report examining the FCC’s efforts to assess competition. Colleagues are worried about how net neutrality rules will impact competition, but they have no data to back up their claims, so let’s collect the data we need. Net neutrality policy is always backed by good evidence.

We also made in order an amendment by Representative McAdams which would affirm that ISPs can still block unlawful content, such as child pornography. Some content has no place on the internet, nor anywhere in our homes, and we want to make sure that ISPs block this, as they should, and that nothing in the bill will prevent them from doing so.

There are several other amendments made by Democrats that will be on the floor. I won’t go into them any further. But I do want to acknowledge, also, that we have amendments in order submitted by Republican colleagues as well.

Mr. Latta submitted an amendment requiring the FCC to share the list of 700 rules that will be permanently forbore once this bill becomes law, which makes sense to me. We had this conversation rules yesterday, to ask the question what those 700 rules are. The FCC has determined them to be unnecessary and burdensome.

Let’s look at them and see what they are. Let’s look at the examples of the American people that the government was not regulating for the sake of regulating and that, when those regulations are no longer appropriate, we will remove them.

Finally, my colleagues on the Rules Committee made Representative Burgess’ amendment in order. It directs the GAO to initiate a study to examine the virtuous cycle of the internet ecosystem and the effect of net neutrality on that ecosystem—again, an amendment which was made in order to make sure that we have bipartisan discussion here on the floor.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. WOODALL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to respond to my friend from New York, but I just have too many speakable—let’s see the list. Let’s see the list of the American people that the government was not regulating for the sake of regulating and that, when those regulations are no longer appropriate, we will remove them.

Finally, my colleagues on the Rules Committee made Representative Burgess’ amendment in order. It directs the GAO to initiate a study to examine the virtuous cycle of the internet ecosystem and the effect of net neutrality on that ecosystem—again, an amendment which was made in order to make sure that we have bipartisan discussion here on the floor.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. Cole), a member of the Rules Committee, our ranking member on the Rules Committee, a member of the Appropriations Committee, and one of the most thoughtful Members of the Republican Conference.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank my good friend, a member of the Budget Committee, for yielding, and my colleague on the Rules Committee. I rise to oppose the rule and oppose the underlying legislation. Now, I oppose the rule because it is not really a rule at all. It is really legislation masking as a rule.

Buried in this rule is a measure that will, what we call self-execute, but deem what the budget is going to be. In other words, our friends are telling us: We may not have the votes, even though we have a substantial majority, to pass our own caps bill. But just in case, the rule vote, which is a partisan vote, we do control is here.

Now, that doesn’t speak to a high degree of confidence that my friends will have the votes, which they should have, on their caps deal. I would argue it is technically legal, but it is not a very good number and it fully expresses your distrust of your own majority that directly.

Second, let’s talk a little bit about the underlying legislation. There is a lot here I don’t agree with, but I want to focus on one thing in particular. Mr. Speaker, and that is the “budget” itself, because it is not a budget. It is a caps bill.

It is not even a caps deal. It hasn’t been negotiated with the Senate. It hasn’t been negotiated with the administration. It is an arbitrary number. It has no chance of becoming law. There is no way a Republican Senate will have double the amount of increase for defense. There is no way a Republican Senate will have double the amount of increase for defense. It is just not going to happen.

So, now, the Appropriations Committee—and I am always happy to have numbers as an appropriator—will now move on down with a set of numbers that we know will not survive negotiations with the Senate or with the President. So we are going to mark up a lot of bills, but they are going to be the numbers that are a fantasy.

Finally, in all of this, we ought to point out, our own rules require the majority to present a budget. We couldn’t even get a budget out of the Democratic Budget Committee. Now, that is a failure to govern.

The Speaker, by the way, said on one occasion: Show me your budget, and I will show you your values.

It suggests that you don’t want to show the American people your values, because you certainly aren’t showing us a budget at all.

So the rule, frankly, is a backdoor way to enact some sort of caps legislation, caps legislation that will not be accepted by the Senate, that will not be accepted by the President of the United States.

The underlying legislation doesn’t have a budget, which our own rules require that it have. It has a mere statement of spending levels that, again, are not going to be accepted by the other Chamber or by the President of the United States.

And, finally, our friends have abdicated their most important responsibility, which is showing the American people their vision of what the budget ought to shape.

The rule ought to be rejected; the underlying legislation ought to be rejected; and our friends ought to challenge themselves to bring us a budget that they can support, that they can put in front of the American people.

Mr. MORELLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I appreciate my good friend, the gentleman from Oklahoma’s comments.

Those on the other side may say this is messy, but do you know what is messier? Another government shutdown.

We just endured, earlier this year, a 35-day government shutdown, the longest shutdown in our history. In this committee, we are committed to doing everything in our power to prevent that from happening.

We want to make sure we can move forward with appropriations legislation, and this provision is a safety net to assure that process can begin. When the budget bill is approved, whenever we begin that appropriations process, we will have a path forward.

My good friend raised the question of the President. I have to admit I am new here, haven’t been here very long. I have been involved in the budget process in the State of New York for many years.

Frankly, watching the budget and looking at the budget submitted by the President, I would say, I think it is no wonder that my friends on the other side didn’t submit, as an amendment, the President’s budget.

The President’s budget is devastating. I look to how it would devastate the people in my home State of New York: repeals the Affordable Care Act, eliminates health insurance for 2.2 million New Yorkers, abolishes protections for people with preexisting conditions, substantially increases premiums for older Americans.

If the budget that Donald Trump submitted became law, a 60-year-old living in New York making $25,000 a year could see their healthcare premiums increase by up to $5,000 annually, from $1,600 to $6,300 in 2020, a quarter of their income.

It cuts funding for New York’s Medicaid program by $156 billion over the next 10 years. Nationally, the Trump budget proposes to cut Medicaid by $1.5 trillion over the next 10 years, 36 percent in 2029 alone. College will be more expensive for 179,000 New Yorkers by completely eliminating the Direct Subsidized Loan Program and taking away grants for 108,000 students by abolishing the Supplemental Education Opportunity Grant program. At a time when people need to have knowledge more than at any other time in human history to safeguard their economic future and those of their families, to cut college programs is reprehensible.

But I don’t care just about New Yorkers, Mr. Speaker. My friend from Georgia, I have a brother who lives in Georgia. His children live in Georgia, I care a great deal about the people in Georgia as well.

The Trump budget: Eliminates after-school programs for 41,000 Georgia students by zeroing out the 21st Century Community Learning Centers program.

Takes away high-quality childcare and early education for 4,200 low-income Georgia children by cutting Head Start by 17 percent in the final year of this budget;
Eliminates nutrition assistance for up to 395,000 Georgians, 90 percent of whom live in households with at least one child, elderly person, or a person with a disability, by cutting the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program by $220 billion, nationally, over 10 years;
Takes the food out of the mouths of 4,000 pregnant women, new moms, babies, children, and infants served by the Women, Infants and Children program by 13 percent in the final year of this budget.

I could go on and on, Mr. Speaker, but I will spare my colleagues a long dissertation on the Trump budget, other than recognize that this House is moving forward. We are beginning this process. We have established a safety net.

This is what Americans want. They don’t want another shutdown. And we are doing absolutely everything in our power—together, I hope, in a bipartisan way—to make sure that we continue to move forward in the years to come.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. WOODALL. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 30 seconds just to say that my friend’s criticisms of the Trump budget are perfectly legitimate. What he failed to mention, though, is the reason he can make those criticisms is because the law required the administration to offer a budget, and it did. The law also requires this House to offer a budget, and we have not.

We are better than that. This is not an Article II responsibility. This is an Article I responsibility, and we will rue the day that we decided that we would rather talk about what Article II was doing instead of doing the work ourselves here at Article I.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. MEUSER), a new Member of this institution and a member of the Budget Committee.

Mr. MEUSER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in opposition to this rule and to H.R. 1644, also known as the government-controlled internet act.

Once again, House Democrats are putting Federal Government control over freedom and bringing to the floor yet another partisan, central command over freedom and bringing to the floor yet another partisan, central command over freedom and leading our constituents to oppose this effort and send a clear message that we need to move the internet forward, not backward. I hope they will oppose this rule and the underlying legislation.

Mr. MORELLE. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. WOODALL. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. BURGESS), a member of the Energy and Commerce Committee and the Rules Committee.

Mr. BURGESS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

As you know, the difficulty is, when we take away the managing of a business operation from that underlying business, the incentive to innovate and to serve consumers is likely to disappear.

The Internet, for decades, has thrived because it was not under the heavy hand of government. Because of this, our fierce competitiveness in the Internet not only has kept the Internet working, but one of the things that the Trump budget would do is regulate it under title II of the Telecommunications Act of 1934. Mr. Speaker, I do note for my friend, Mr. BURGESS, the new Member of this institution and a member of the Budget Committee, a few minutes ago.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in opposition to this rule and to H.R. 1644, also known as the government-controlled internet act.

Once again, House Democrats are putting Federal Government control over freedom and bringing to the floor yet another partisan, central command over freedom and leading our constituents to oppose this effort and send a clear message that we need to move the internet forward, not backward. I hope they will oppose this rule and the underlying legislation.

Mr. MORELLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I do note for my friend, Mr. BURGESS, whom I serve on the Rules Committee with, that we, in an effort to enhance bipartisanship, made his amendment in order. I believe it is the first amendment in order, and I certainly expect that it will get broad consideration on both sides of the aisle.

Mr. Speaker, I include in the Record a letter from over 120 businesses and startups urging Congress to support net neutrality. This letter says: ‘‘Passing H.R. 1644 will provide certainty for businesses and startups and would ensure critical consumer protections for Internet users that were adopted through the FCC’s 2015 Open Internet Order but later repealed.

Net neutrality is fundamental to guaranteeing that every American has an unencumbered access to the Internet. This access is also essential to a competitive, free market for the technology economy as well as entrepreneurship in this country. The benefits of these protections are not confined to technology companies and startups. Main Street businesses across numerous sectors increasingly rely on unfettered Internet access to run their operations and to reach customers.

Net neutrality has been critical to the Internet’s explosive growth, creating an open platform on which companies large and small can grow. We urge members of Congress to stand on the side of consumers and Internet users to quickly pass a clean, unamended version of H.R. 1644. This bill would restore strong rules prohibiting blocking, throttling, and paid prioritization while reinstating ex-ante enforcement and oversight by the FCC to prevent net neutrality-related harms from happening in the first place.

Passing H.R. 1644 will provide certainty for businesses and startups and would ensure critical consumer protections for all Internet users.’’

Sincerely,

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — HOUSE

H3145
Mr. MORELLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the sentiments of the gentleman. We certainly agree.

The House has passed disaster relief. We await Senate conferees, so we can move that process forward. But what strikes me as the most troubling is to have this conversation.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. WOODALL. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. WOODALL. Mr. Speaker, it is time we take action to help those suffering from the 2018 disasters. For this reason, I urge a "no" vote on the previous question.

Mr. MORELLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I would just reiterate what I said earlier, which is that all Americans need help in times of disaster.

Mr. MORELLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I certainly hope that my colleagues here across the aisle are going to march across to the other Chamber and insist to the United States Senate that it takes up that bill, that we establish a conference committee, and that we send this to the White House.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. WOODALL. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time, and I yield to my friend from New York, Mr. Woodall, because he is the gentleman in question.

Mr. Speaker, I have great respect for my friend from New York and I yield to him at this time.

Mr. Speaker, it is time for us to deliver on our promise of passing the Disaster Tax Relief Act of 2019 to the floor. I am a proud cosponsor of that bill with Tom Rice and Asia Choon Young.

This bill includes a set of common, routine tax breaks victims of virtually every disaster over the last decade have been entitled to, things like access to retirement savings without penalty, a tax credit for employers who continue to pay employees while shut down, suspending tax limitations on charitable contributions for relief efforts, and allowing hardworking families to use earned income from the previous year to calculate their earned income tax credits and child tax credits.

It is a shame that we have to resort to a procedural trick to ask for a vote on this very bipartisan, commonsense legislation that we have passed many times before.

Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. MORELLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, it is time we take action to help those suffering from the 2018 disasters. For this reason, I urge a "no" vote on the previous question.

Mr. MORELLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.
It is neat to be on the Budget Committee as a freshman because you are working with the biggest issues that we have in this country. We all care about healthcare and how it gets implemented, but we can’t implement it if we can’t pay for it, so the Budget Committee grapples with those issues.

We all want our seniors to be protected. They have been paying into Medicare and Social Security their entire lives, but we know those programs are headed toward bankruptcy. We can’t solve those problems except in the overarching look of a Federal budget process. It is what the law requires.

We get to talk about those big ideas. We get to think those big thoughts. We get to come together to make big and, yes, Mr. Speaker, difficult decisions.

President Trump, in his budget, made difficult decisions. I dare say I could go Member to Member in this Chamber and find 435 people out of 435 who would find at least one flaw in the President’s budget. I bet I could.

It is hard to write a budget for the United States of America, but the law requires us to do it. More importantly, even if the law doesn’t require us to do it, Mr. Speaker, we know that we should. We know the Constitution lays out that responsibility, the power of the purse, for the House. We have an entire committee called the Budget Committee.

I don’t want to wow you, Mr. Speaker, with my eloquence, but do you know what the responsibility of the Budget Committee is? It only has one: write the budget.

For years, there was a time when the Senate was not taking up budgets in its Budget Committee. I wondered why they didn’t disband the Budget Committee because the only job the Budget Committee has is to write the budget. We know we need to do that together. We know we do, but we are not.

The second bill this rule makes in order is the government takeover of the health care system. If the internet is broken and the benevolent hand of government can fix it, this is the bill for you. If you think the internet is not broken and perhaps government ought to stay where government is, and the freedom of the internet should continue, this is not the bill for you.

We need to defeat both of these bills, and we need to defeat the rule.

I do not, for the Rules Committee, we were working just beyond those doors last night, Mr. Speaker, and I think the Rules Committee did the best it could with the material that it had to work with. I see the staff director of the Rules Committee sitting back and having a tough one. I think the chairman did the best he could. You cannot solve the problem of a flawed, partisan committee process with the inclusion of amendments in the Rules Committee. You just can’t do it. But you can try as hard as they possibly could, making in order as many amendments as they could to try to satisfy as many concerns as they could.

The problem is not the Rules Committee, Mr. Speaker. That is not why we need to defeat the rules today. The problem is the leadership decision that has been made to bring up these two flawed products that were created in a partisan way when we could have brought to the floor two positive products created in a collaborative way.

We have to make a decision in this Chamber. Either we are in the business of making a point or we are in the business of making progress.

For the first 4 months of this year, we have been great at making a point, but we have been struggling to make a difference.

Like it or not, we have a Senate that has to pass this legislation and a President who has to sign it if we are to make it the law of the land. The two products today fail that test.

Let’s not waste another moment on them. Mr. Speaker, let’s not another moment.

Let’s reject this rule. Let’s not bring these two pieces of legislation to the floor.

Let’s go back to the drawing board collaboratively, as we know we can.

Lock any bipartisan group of Members together, Mr. Speaker, and they will craft a better solution. We have the right leaders in this Chamber for this time. We just need to free them up to lead.

Defeat this rule. Defeat the previous question.

Mr. Speaker, if we defeat the previous question, I ask unanimous consent to insert the text of my amendment in the RECORD, along with extraneous material, immediately prior to the vote on the previous question.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Georgia?

There was no objection.

Mr. WOODALL, in his comments, mentioned the list goes on and on for the kind of investments we make to continue to make sure that America leads in the 21st century. That is what this does today. That is what this rule will do. That is what the resolution budget process starts today.

Mr. Speaker, I thank all my colleagues for their words of support for H.R. 2021, the Investing for the People Act. I especially thank Chairman YARMUTH and Ranking Member WOACK for their work on our Nation’s budget.

I also thank Chairman PALLONE and Ranking Member WALDEN and all those who have worked on H.R. 1644, the Save the Internet Act.

Mr. Speaker, I urge a “yes” vote on the rule, and I urge a “yes” vote on the previous question.

The material previously referred to by Mr. WOODALL is as follows:

At the end of the resolution, add the following:

Sec. 8. Immediately upon adoption of this resolution the Speaker shall, pursuant to clause 2(b) of rule XVIII, declare the House resolved into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union for consideration of the bill (H.R. 2145) to provide disaster relief. The first reading of the bill shall be dispensed with. All points of order against consideration of the bill are waived. General debate on the bill shall be limited to one hour equally divided and controlled by the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on Ways and Means. After general debate shall be considered for amendment under the five-minute rule. All points of order against provisions in the bill are waived. No amendment shall be in order except the amendments specified in section 9 of this resolution. Each such amendment may be offered only in the order specified, may be offered only by the Member designated, introduced as read, and shall be debatable for 10 minutes equally divided and controlled by the proponent and an opponent. All points of order against each amendment are waived. After the conclusion of consideration of the bill for amendment, the Committee shall rise and Unemployment benefits are a vital lifeline for Americans who have lost their jobs, helping them keep the lights on and pay the rent while they search for work. But unemployment benefits replace less than half of a worker’s paycheck, on average. Especially for lower paid workers, who may not have any savings to fall back on, the best outcome is to find a new job as quickly as possible.

When you lose your job, it can be difficult to find a new one, especially if you are older, haven’t looked for a job in a long time, or have made mistakes in the past. Reemployment services give people looking for help the personal help they need to overcome those barriers.

For instance, States might provide assistance targeted to a claimant’s needs, things like customized career counseling and job search help with application materials, or allowing them to practice for tough job interviews.

Last year, we passed important legislation to improve reemployment services and eligibility assessment grants, or RESEAs. Our legislation added important worker protections, gave States incentives to improve the quality of the services being provided for workers, and ensured that sufficient funding is available in every State and territory.

When I asked how RESEA grants were being used in my home State of Illinois, they told me about Tara, who struggled to find a job after she was laid off, both because her skills weren’t up to date for the current labor market and because she had a criminal record. The Illinois RESEA helped her upgrade her job skills and find a job with an employer willing to take a chance, a chance on someone who had made mistakes. She is now working and going to school to get an associate’s degree in welding, so she will have better pay and benefits in the future.

The BRIDGE for Workers Act would add important and needed flexibility to allow States to serve all workers who could benefit from reemployment services, not just those who are expected to run out of benefits before finding work.

Mr. Speaker, I include in the RECORD a letter from the National Association of State Workforce Agencies endorsing the BRIDGE for Workers Act.

Hon. Stephanie Murphy, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.
Hon. Jackie Walorski, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.
Hon. Darin LaHood, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.
Hon. Voskuil, Torres Small, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR REPRESENTATIVES MURPHY, WALORSKI, SMALL AND LAHOOD: We are writing on behalf of the National Association of State Workforce Agencies...
Representative MURPHY and Representative BRIDGE for Workers Act, which support the BRIDGE for Workers Act, better jobs, and on a path to a better life, will get back to work faster, in need reemployment services get them. Request.

NASWA is the national organization representing all 50 state workforce agencies, D.C. and U.S. territories. These agencies deliver training, employment, career, and business services, in addition to administering the unemployment, veteran reemployment, and labor market information programs. NASWA provides policy expertise, shares promising state practices, and promotes state innovation and leadership in workforce development.

Thank you for your consideration of this request.

Sincerely,

JON PERRUPT, NASWA Board President, Executive Director, Utah Department of Workforce Services. SCOTT B. SANDERS, NASWA Executive Director.

Mr. DANNY K. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, the BRIDGE for Workers Act will ensure that more workers who need reemployment services get them. Those individuals and workers, like Tara, will get back to work faster, in better jobs, and on a path to a better future.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support the BRIDGE for Workers Act, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. WALORSKI. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 1759, the Building on Reemployment Improvements to Deliver Good Employment for Workers Act, also known as the BRIDGE for Workers Act, which I have worked on with my colleagues, Representative MURPHY and Representative LAHOOD.

This legislation builds upon the Bipartisan Budget Act of 2018, where we made a significant step forward in helping those unemployed, through no fault of their own, by pairing unemployment benefits with services.

Over the last few decades, there has been a focus on automation that has removed all human interaction from the benefit claims process. Beneficiaries have become nothing more than a number entered into a spreadsheet or into a computer database.

During the last recession, we saw that merely providing 99 weeks of unemployment benefits was not enough to help individuals get to the workforce. That is why, in 2012, we offered reemployment services and eligibility assessments, known as RESEAs, to the long-term unemployed based on successful State efforts to engage UI beneficiaries.

Since the recession, many States have rebranded unemployment to reemployment, because it is better for workers, their families, and an economy where we have 1 million more job openings than we have employed.

The Bipartisan Budget Act of 2018 provides States with funding certainty, so they can invest in these services and serve greater numbers. That is why H.R. 1759 is so important. It makes permanent a technical correction first made in FY 2019 appropriations.

This bill clarifies that reemployment services and eligibility assessments shall promote quicker reemployment to shorten benefit durations for all unemployment insurance claimants, not just those likely to exhaust unemployment benefits.

In my home State of Indiana, RESEA was redesigned in 2016 to assist UI claimants through early intervention to aid in a quicker return to meaningful employment and eliminate UI fraud.

Indiana’s RESEA program is two-fold. The initial RESEA expects beneficiaries to make an in-person visit to a WorkOne Center on approximately the sixth week of benefits. During that visit, they attend an orientation to learn more services, and then meet with a RESEA counselor for a one-on-one assessment interview to develop an individual reemployment plan. That plan may include workshops to improve job search or interviewing skills, or referrals to other supports or services beyond the UI agency.

Any of the RESEA initial participants who are still collecting at the 15th week of their UI claim are contacted for reengagement as part of the subsequent RESEA program. These long-term claimants are brought in for a one-on-one reassessment interview to determine if additional barriers to reemployment are present. At any point in the process where it becomes apparent that additional, more intensive services are needed, the customer then moves into the workforce system to gain more skills.

RESEAs are a valuable reemployment tool for those who have lost their job, through no fault of their own.

As Chair of this Committee, I urge support of H.R. 1759, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DANNY K. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, it is my pleasure to yield 4 minutes to the gentlewoman from Florida (Mrs. MURPHY), the sponsor of the bill.

Mrs. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today as the proud sponsor of this bill, the BRIDGE for Workers Act. I want to thank the three original cosponsors of this bipartisan legislation: Congresswoman WALORSKI, Congresswoman TORRES SMALL, and Congressman LAHOOD. I also thank Chairman NEAL and Ranking Member BRADY for their leadership on this committee, and Chairman DANNY DAVIS and his staff for all the work they have done on this bill to prepare it for floor consideration.

Mr. Speaker, no American worker wants to be unemployed, and it is vital for our government to provide cost-effective support during that challenging and stressful time. Our focus should be on giving unemployed workers the skills and resources required to return to the workforce as quickly as possible. We want everyone to feel the sense of dignity that comes with earning a paycheck, providing for their family, and contributing to our economy.

One way we support unemployed workers is through the Reemployment Services and Eligibility Assessment program. This program, administered by the Department of Labor, makes annual grants to States and territories to provide a range of services to recipients of unemployment benefits. Services include individual career counseling, assistance with job searches, and information on the local job market.

Under current law, States can only use these grants to assist workers who are expected to exhaust their unemployment benefits without having found a job. That is an unnecessary restriction that prevents many unemployed workers from getting valuable assistance.

Our bill would remove this restriction and allow States to use their grants to provide support to any individual receiving unemployment benefits, as long as the State believes these services would help the individual return to work more quickly. We provided a 1-year patch in the 2019 appropriations bill to make this change temporary, but this bill would make it permanent.

This is a critical step because research shows the longer workers are out of work, the harder it can be to match their skills, their professional networks, and a stable home life. By combining targeted reemployment services with unemployment insurance benefits, we will help keep people attached to the labor force who might otherwise become discouraged and give up looking for a job.

In my home State of Florida, it is estimated this bill could provide up to 25,000 additional individuals claiming unemployment benefits each week with access to reemployment services.

Mr. Speaker, I respectfully ask my colleagues to support the bipartisan BRIDGE for Workers Act.
Mrs. WALORSKI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. LAHOOD).

Mr. LAHOOD. Mr. Speaker, I thank Mrs. WALORSKI for her hard work on this particular piece of legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of H.R. 1759, the BRIDGE for Workers Act, also known as the Building on Reemployment Improvements to Deliver Good Employment for Workers Act. I am also proud to join Congresswoman Torres Small, and Congressman Davis, my colleague from Illinois, in being part of this bipartisan legislation.

Since becoming a member of the Ways and Means Committee, I have been focused on closing the JOBS Act, improving workforce development, and removing barriers to employment.

It is incumbent upon our Federal Government, in coordination with States and local governments, to ensure workers have the necessary tools and skills they need to get back into the workforce.

Last Congress, we worked in a bipartisan fashion to codify into law the Reemployment Services and Eligibility Assessment Act, bolstering its funding and improving the effectiveness. These reemployment services include career counseling, resume support, individualized reemployment plans, and access to trainings for those receiving unemployment insurance.

The goal of this program is to promote rapid reemployment and, ultimately, shorten benefit durations for all unemployment insurance claimants, not just those most likely to exhaust all benefits. This bill makes a technical correction to ensure that States have the flexibility to provide reemployment services to all insurance claimants from a variety of backgrounds and help them to work more quickly. This legislation builds on the recent law that improved the reemployment service program and will ensure that those in need of these services will be able to access them.

With over 7 million unfilled jobs in this country, it is crucial we work with our States, including my home State of Illinois, to provide the necessary resources to fill these jobs. Finding skilled workers is one of the number one issues in my district and many districts across the country; finding enough relief welders, truck drivers, construction workers, machinists, nurses, technicians, just to name a few.

Empowering individuals to get off the sidelines and back into the workforce is something this body should always strive to achieve. Every week that a person is out of work, through no fault of their own, is a week too long. This bipartisan fix to reemployment will help these individuals get back to receiving what they want most: a job and a paycheck.

Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleagues on the Ways and Means Committee for their support on this legislation, and I urge its passage in the House.

Mr. DANNY K. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. JUDY CHU).

Ms. JUDY CHU of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise to support the BRIDGE Act, which would ensure that all unemployment insurance beneficiaries could use reemployment service grants to get back to work sooner. Currently, only unemployed individuals who are likely to exhaust their unemployment benefits have access to these grants.

I know this change will make an impact in my district. In Pasadena, California, the Employment Development Department administers this program, which offers an orientation to dislocated workers. At the orientations, these clients are given a tour of all the services available, including reemployment services under the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act, and they are then able to pick out a service that best fits their needs.

But this change would allow all individuals to have access to this program and will help coordinate services better so that staff can help these individuals so that they don’t have to figure it out on their own, and then more dislocated workers in my community could find work more quickly.

It would help people like Hector. Just last week, I met with the Los Angeles Workforce Development Board and they told me his story.

Hector lost his job as an account manager, where he was making $44.71 per hour. This forced him to seek public assistance to make ends meet for himself and his family.

Through the help of the staff at the East Los Angeles/San Gabriel Valley America’s Job Center of California, he received a referral for an interview with the Maintco Corporation and was provided a bus pass that enabled him to get to the interview. He was able to quickly secure employment as a finance controller and is now making $55 an hour, which is $11 more than when he lost his job.

We must pass this bill to make sure that individuals who lose their jobs are not out of the workforce for too long. I urge my colleagues, Mrs. WORLICK, for introducing this bill, and I urge my colleagues to vote for it.

Mrs. WALORSKI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Kansas (Mr. ESTES).

Mr. ESTES. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlelwoman from Indiana (Mrs. WALORSKI) for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I want to mention that I, too, rise today in support of H.R. 1759, the BRIDGE for Workers Act. This technical correction bill builds on the progress we made in last year’s budget act to provide reemployment services to help get more people back to work faster and easier.

While the intent of last year’s law was to allow job counselors to consult with unemployed individuals as soon as possible, oftentimes implementation of the law led to this happening only in cases where unemployment benefits were set to expire.

Today’s bill realigns reemployment services and eligibility assessment with the original intent of their mission to assist unemployed individuals as soon as possible to get people back to work.

I know, in my district, case managers at the Workforce Centers of South Central Kansas provide a critical service connecting people with jobs or skills training to further their careers.

At a time when our economy is growing at historic rates and we have more job openings than ever before, the work these centers provide is extremely important to help make sure all Americans can participate in this economic revival.

I want to thank my fellow Ways and Means Committee members for working to bring this bill to the floor, and I urge my colleagues to support it.

Mr. DANNY K. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentlewoman from Wisconsin (Ms. MOORE), a member of our subcommittee.

Ms. MOORE. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentlelwoman from Illinois (Mr. DANNY K. DAVIS).

Mr. Speaker, I am absolutely delighted to rise in support of H.R. 1759, the Building on Reemployment Improvements to Deliver Good Employment for Workers Act, also known as the BRIDGE for Workers Act.

I do want to congratulate the authors of this bill, Mrs. WALORSKI and my colleague Mrs. MURPHY, for their effort in putting this forward.

This bill aims to provide workers receiving unemployment benefits the support they need to not only get back into the workforce as soon as possible, but to prevent them from being unemployed in the first place.

This legislation is so important because it would extend reemployment services and eligibility assessments to all claimants of unemployment benefits, rather than limiting these benefits to only those who are expected to run out of benefits. Helping all unemployment insurance claimants reenter the workforce is vital for a robust economy that will only thrive with a skilled workforce.

Mr. Speaker, research shows that the longer workers are out of work, the harder it can be to maintain their skills. Reemployment services equip workers with important tools, such as individualized career counseling and job search assistance, to find a job well matched to their skills and experience more quickly. This helps to stabilize families’ income.

These are the kinds of services that we need to invest in as a nation, especially since we know that not all boats are rising in this economy.

In my own State of Wisconsin, funding to the Department of Workforce Development...
Development's Reemployment Services Program was bolstered for fiscal year 2019, with an increase of nearly $722,000. Already, we have seen improvements in the program's effectiveness for Wisconsinites in need of just a little bit of extra assistance with finding suitable employment.

Mr. Speaker, I would also note that the BRIDGE for Workers Act was a bipartisan effort, so important for getting things done. We are pleased with the overwhelming cooperation on both sides of the aisle, and I urge my colleagues to support its passage.

Mrs. WALORSKI. Mr. Speaker, having no other speakers, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DANNY K. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire as to how much time I have remaining.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Illinois has 9 minutes remaining.

Mr. DANNY K. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the gentlewoman from New Mexico (Ms. TORRES SMALL), a cosponsor of this bill.

Ms. TORRES SMALL of New Mexico. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to express my full support for H.R. 1759, the BRIDGE for Workers Act, led by Representatives Murphy, Walorski, LaHood, and myself.

Mr. Speaker, my State of New Mexico continues to suffer from one of the highest unemployment rates in the country. In one county in my district, the unemployment rate is 17 percent. As lawmakers, we must prioritize policies that will help counties across the Nation like Luna County combat systemic problems that are preventing a swift return to the workforce.

Research shows that the longer workers are out of work, the harder it can be to maintain their skills and the more likely workers will fall out of the workforce entirely.

When I was in college, my dad lost his job. My parents and I had just taken out loans so that I could go to college. I remember sitting in class, worried. I was homesick, and I felt powerless to do anything to help my family through that difficult time. My dad is one of the hardest working people I know. On his own, he got the training he needed to find a job in our hometown, but it took years. We all made sacrifices in the meantime. I worked multiple jobs, and I graduated in 3 years to help limit that debt, and I took on my parents’ loan payments to help out.

Now my dad is a schoolbus driver, and the kids he drives to school, the work he does, and it builds stronger communities.

That is why I am proud to help lead the BRIDGE for Workers Act, which will help unemployed individuals find a job faster so that they can provide for their families and get back on their feet as soon as possible. This wets the six in the current law that limits reemployment services to only those expected to remain unemployed after their benefits run out.

Reemployment services are essential, as they give people without a job the tools to get back to work through programs offering targeted job search assistance, career counseling, and interview and resume workshops.

With greater access to these services, unemployed individuals will be more likely to find a job faster and rejoin the workforce.

This bill is also cost effective. Since it allows States to use their reemployment services grants more effectively, individuals will return to work quicker, which will generate more savings for our economy.

When Americans who want to work hard get the support they need to do just that, we all succeed. I encourage my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to support this legislation and help unemployed Americans across our Nation get back on their feet.

Mrs. WALORSKI. Mr. Speaker, having no other speakers, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DANNY K. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the gentlewoman from Alabama (Ms. SEWELL).

Ms. SEWELL of Alabama. Mr. Speaker, I am proud to stand as a member of this subcommittee to support the BRIDGE for Workers Act.

Mr. Speaker, no person wants to be without a job. I think that the hardest and most important thing that we as Members of Congress can do is to support the American worker to not only stay employed and find jobs, but, when they lose their job, that they are helped to be retrained—and that is exactly what this bill will do.

This bill will provide better reemployment services. Right now, they are limited. By expanding it, we will help American workers who are unemployed get back to work quicker and faster.

I want to acknowledge that this is a bipartisan bill. It is exactly what the American people need to see us do, which is to help workers maintain their dignity by not only staying employed but, when they lose their job, getting reemployed.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this bipartisan piece of legislation and want to thank the chairman of our subcommittee and the ranking member of our subcommittee for bringing this bipartisan bill to the floor.

Mrs. WALORSKI. Mr. Speaker, I have no other speakers. I am prepared to close, and I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, as you have heard today, the ability to pair benefits with services can have a profound effect on the lives of workers and their families.

At a time with more than a million more jobs than we actually have unemployed, this effort is especially critical. This bill gives States the flexibility they need to make reemployment services a great success.

Again, I urge support of H.R. 1759, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, I came to this session with the simple notion of coming to do a job and to go do my work. Listening to my colleagues’ representations and their articulation of experiences and what this bill really means, I am renewed, and I am delighted because it is an important bill, seriously important.

Yes, in many places the economy is good; people are able to work. But bridges connect and transport, and this bridge connects people to the opportunity to get a job they can be to be able to take care of their families, to have money so that their children can go to college or they can sustain themselves while their daughter is completing her education.

Mr. DANNY K. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I commend my colleagues, Mrs. MURPHY and Ms. TORRES SMALL; the ranking member of the subcommittee, Mrs. WALORSKI; and Mr. LAHOOD, my colleague from Illinois, for their ingenuity, creativity, and for the introduction of this tremendous piece of legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all of my colleagues to support this legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. DANNY K. DAVIS) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 1759, as amended.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. DANNY K. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

Mr. LEWIS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have five days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on the measure.

There was no objection.

Mr. LEWIS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 1957, as amended, the Taxpayer First Act of 2019.

I would like to begin by thanking my good friend, the gentlewoman from New York (Mrs. LOWEY), who is the chair of the Appropriations Committee for her support and helping move this important bill.

Mr. Speaker, this is not a Republican or a Democratic bill. It is an American one. I am proud of the process and the product. I also want to thank Chairman NEAL and Ranking Member BRADY, the Oversight Subcommittee Chair and the Ranking Member KELLY, my good friend; and all members of the Subcommittee on Oversight for joining me on this bill.

I would also like to thank our former subcommittee chairs, the gentleman from Florida (Mr. BUCHANAN) and our former colleague from Kansas, Ms. JENKINS, for their great work.

In addition, I am pleased that Chairman GRASSLEY, and Ranking Member WYDEN introduced a companion bill in the Senate.

Mr. Speaker, I would also like to congratulate all of the House Members and Senators who have bills and ideas that are included in this bill.

Mr. Speaker, as you well know, and as I know, and as other members of the committee know, this is a good bill. It is a necessary bill to do what is right and what is fair.

In particular, I would like to thank our staff, Karen, Rachel, Susan, Isabel, Allison, Jason, Lori, Michael, and Jamila. They worked so hard on this important bill, and I have faith that this time we will cross the finish line. We have been trying for years. Three times this bill passed the House. These individuals worked so hard on this important bill, and I have faith that this time we will do more than just cross the finish line.

For many years, the Oversight Subcommittee has labored in a bipartisan manner to improve the IRS. This bill is the result of many hearings, thoughtful oversight, and help from stakeholders. Mr. Speaker, we took our time and we did it right.

We asked our Democrat and Republican Members to provide feedback. We reached out to taxpayers and advocates. We asked questions and listened to the response. We listened to the answers. We learned that we all share the common goal of finding ways to help American taxpayers, and there is no time like the present.

Mr. Speaker, this is the season when millions of Americans are working around the clock to file their taxes by April 15. I am proud that this Congress will respond to their concerns with this bill to improve taxpayer services, protect taxpayers during enforcement, and strengthen the appeals process.

Mr. Speaker, the Taxpayer First Act contains many commonsense policies to achieve these goals. For example, the bill provides for matching grants for the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance program which help low-income and moderate-income taxpayers complete and file their taxes.

This bill also protects low-income taxpayers and people who receive Social Security disability insurance benefits from the private debt collection program.

Above all, the Taxpayer First Act serves as an example of the good and thoughtful policy that Congress can produce when both the process and the product are bipartisan.

Mr. Speaker, with this bill, we show taxpayers that their frustration does not fall on deaf ears, blind eyes, and hard hearts.

With this bill, Congress heard their concerns and responded to their calls, to their cries for action, and we did act.

Mr. Speaker, this bill should be an inspiration to us all. I urge all of my colleagues to support this bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

The Committee on Financial Services takes this action to forego formal consideration of H.R. 1957 with our mutual understanding that, by foregoing formal consideration of H.R. 1957 at this time, we do not waive any jurisdiction over the subject matter contained in this or similar legislation, and that our Committee will be appropriately consulted and involved as this or similar legislation moves forward. Our Committee also reserves the right to seek appointment of an appropriate number of conferees on any House-Senate conferees to any House-Senate conference involving this or similar legislation and request your support for any such request.

Finally, I would appreciate your response to this letter confirming this understanding, and I would ask that a copy of our exchange of letters on this matter be included in the Congressional Record during Floor consideration of H.R. 1957.

Sincerely,

RICHARD E. NEAL,
Chairman.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: I am writing concerning H.R. 1957, the Taxpayer First Act of 2019. HON. RICHARD NEAL, DEAR CHAIRMAN NEAL: I am writing with respect to H.R. 1957, the “Taxpayer First Act of 2019.” As a result of your having consulted with us on provision XXII of your Committee on Appropriations has a jurisdictional interest, I will not request a sequential referral on this measure, an opportunity to raise a point of order under clause 4 of rule XXI of the Rules of the House, or further amendment to the bill when it is considered on the House floor.

The Committee on Appropriations takes this action with the mutual understanding that we do not waive any jurisdiction over the subject matter contained in this or similar legislation, we do not agree to forego suspension or waivers of the House rule restricting the carrying of appropriations in measures and amendments thereto, and the Committee on Appropriations will include changes that have been discussed between the two Committees.
Mr. DANNY K. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. DAVIS).

I feel good because I have spent much of the day talking about helping those individuals in our country and in our society who need help the most. It is a great bill, and I am proud to support it.

I thank all of those operations in Chicago, the Center for Economic Progress, the City-Wide Tax Assistance Program via Ladder Up, the United Way, and all the rest of those agencies in the city of Chicago that are helping low-income people with their income tax.

Mr. KELLY of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. RICE).

I feel like today might be one of my best days in Congress, because I had the opportunity a moment ago to talk about helping individuals who are unemployed.

Now, we are talking about helping individuals with their income tax preparation, individuals who might be low income; individuals who have difficulty reading and writing and understanding; individuals who are disabled; individuals who have difficulty with the IRS for the billions in funding it is given for IT each year. That account prevents outrageous enforcement. IRS' enforcement tools so families and individuals who are poverty stricken, people who make less than 250 percent of what is known as the poverty level in this country.

I stand in support today of the Taxpayer First Act. Since the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act became the law of the land, our economic potential has been unleashed, and America is, once again, the land of opportunity. When we passed the tax reform package, our message was clear: We won't wait another 30 years to take up tax legislation. We will consistently work to improve the system for American taxpayers.

In order for any company to be successful, it needs modern technology that supports its customer service mission. The IRS, whose customers are 140 million Americans, should be no exception.

Filing taxes should be straightforward and simple, and taxpayers should be treated fairly and with respect by the IRS. However, that is not how the majority of Americans describe their experience with the agency. This legislation will require the IRS to modernize their ancient technology and will address many of the issues American taxpayers face when dealing with our Nation's tax collector.

Included in this package is my bill, the Electronic Signature Standards Act, which requires the IRS to implement uniform standards to accept electronic signatures. This is a simple, free way for small businesses and individual taxpayers to comply with system requirements. Providing uniform guidance for e-signatures will simplify the filing process for taxpayers who depend on this commonly used technology and enable the IRS to move forward with a secure filing option they already support.

In conjunction with other legislation in this reform package, the Electronic Signature Standards Act will bring the IRS into the 21st century so that it can serve hardworking American taxpayers better.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all my colleagues to support this legislation and take this opportunity to return the IRS to its taxpayer first mission.

Mr. LEWIS. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentlewoman from Illinois (Ms. LAHood).

Ms. LAHood. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of H.R. 1957, the Taxpayer First Act. I thank Chairman LEWIS and Ranking Member KELLY for their hard work on the Ways and Means Subcommittee on Oversight and for introducing this important piece of legislation to modernize and improve the Internal Revenue Service.

Since last Congress, our committee has focused on finding legislative solutions to make needed changes at the IRS. Dealing with the IRS can be frustrating, and ensuring an efficient and transparent IRS is key to restoring the relationship between taxpayers and the agency, as well as effective implementation of our Tax Code.

I am pleased that a bill I introduced with a Democratic colleague, Congresswoman KELLY from Pennsylvania (Ms. KELLY), the Improving Assistance for Taxpayers Act, is included in this bill. Currently, the Office of the Taxpayer Advocate located within the IRS represents taxpayer interests and helps address both individual and systemic issues at the agency. When it comes to addressing systemic issues, the taxpayer advocate can issue what is called a taxpayer advocate directive. Unfortunately, these orders are not always responded to in a detailed or timely manner.

Our bill aims to improve the process. Specifically, the IRS would be required to respond to taxpayer advocate directives within 90 days. We also establish an appeals process, when the advocate deems necessary. If detailed and timely responses are not provided, then the taxpayer advocate must report such instances to Congress.

This bill empowers taxpayers across the country by improving transparency and ensuring substantive and timely answers for taxpayers dealing with an issue at the IRS while improving congressional oversight.

Our constituents sent us to Washington to make government more effective, efficient, and accountable. These reforms included in my bill and the Taxpayer First Act will do exactly that, and I urge my colleagues to support this bill today.

Mr. Speaker, I am glad to see this provision included and this bill on the

Mr. KELLY of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. WENSTRUP).

Mr. WENSTRUP. Mr. Speaker, I thank the Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigation for this bipartisan bill that will modernize the IRS and improve the taxpayer experience. With the Taxpayer First Act redesigns the IRS with that mission at the forefront—putting the taxpayer first.

I would also like to highlight that this bill includes a provision to codify the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance, or VITA, matching grant program and make it permanent. My colleague, Mr. BINKS, and the ranking member, Mr. KELLY, for getting this bill to the floor today. This legislation is the product of years of work, and I am glad to see these commonsense provisions get one step closer to the finish line.

Congress hasn’t tackled real IRS reform in decades. With a bipartisan, bicameral effort, our goal is to modernize the IRS and improve the taxpayer experience. With this bill, the Taxpayer First Act redesigns the IRS with that mission at the forefront—putting the taxpayer first.

VITA centers provide free tax help by many volunteers to low-income individuals, persons with disabilities, and limited English-speaking taxpayers. These centers, and the many volunteers who operate them, assist thousands of our constituents every year. By making this program permanent, we will provide VITA organizations, volunteers, and the taxpayers they serve with certainty.

Mr. Speaker, I am glad to see this provision included and this bill on the Today’s vote is a culmination of several years of work and numerous hearings and discussions, including passing this bill in the House during last Congress.

Mr. Speaker, I encourage my colleagues to support the bill.

Mr. LEWIS. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. HILL).

Ms. HILL of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 1957, the Taxpayer First Act, which I wasn’t expecting to rise in support of, but this act modernizes the IRS and ensures that the IRS cannot abuse its enforcement powers. The Taxpayer First Act modernizes the IRS infrastructure, helps low- and middle-income taxpayers, and really creates critical reforms that my colleagues like the Honorable JOHN LEWIS and the Honorable JOHN LEWIS from California (Ms. MOORE) and the Honorable JOHN LEWIS from Wisconsin (Ms. MOORE).

Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the sage of this important legislation, and I urge all Members to support it.

Mr. ESTES of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. KELLY).

Mr. KELLY of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, I thank my dear friend from Georgia, Congresswoman Moore, and also Mike Kelly for their work on this legislation and for supporting the modernization of the IRS and protecting innocent Americans from IRS abuse.

Ms. HILL of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from New York (Ms. OCASIO-CORTEZ).

Ms. OCASIO-CORTEZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak on this bill.

First, I would like us to clarify exactly some of the things that we are able to deliver in this bill:

One is low-income taxpayer exception to the Private Debt Collection program.

The second is that it codifies the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance program that helps low-income taxpayers prepare their tax returns.

The third is that the bill allows the IRS to refer taxpayers needing assistance to low-income taxpayer clinics.

The bill also creates a single point of contact within the IRS to identify identity theft victims.

And, lastly, the bill allows all taxpayers over the next 5 years, to request an identity protection personal identification number to use to prevent identity theft.

So, I would like to commend all of those positive concessions delivered to the American people in this bill. However, I would also like to lodge some of my concerns perhaps for us to address in the future.

Dylan Matthews at Vox recently published an article that said: "It’s a huge scandal that Congress has not yet made it harder for the IRS to automatically prepare taxes for the vast majority of Americans. The IRS has all the information required to do that for all but..." a few taxpayers," and the main reason it doesn’t may have to do with the role of money in politics.

So, with this bill, I would like to again commend the advancements we have made for working-class people, but, I would be looking at a solution where everyday people do not necessarily have to spend hours every year preparing tax returns when the majority of Americans have relatively simple and straightforward returns. I want to raise up and commend those positive contributions and also point the way forward in the future.

Mr. KELLY of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

I thank Mr. Lewis so much. I can’t tell the gentleman what an honor it is to be on the floor with him today in the people’s House, working on legislation. It has been an incredible day for American people, to prove to them has been an incredible day for the American people, to prove to them.

To be here with Mr. LEWIS today and to make this a success. I can’t thank all of them, each and every one of them, on both sides of the aisle, for helping us. Without their help and without their support, we would not be here. Again, I say thank you.

Mr. Speaker, again, I say thank you to my friend and my brother, Mr. KELLY, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. CARSON of Indiana). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. LEWIS) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 1597, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds being in the affirmative) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed. A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

The Chair appoints the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. CARSON) to preside over the Committee of the Whole.

IN THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

Accordingly, the House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union for the consideration of the bill (H.R. 1644) to restore the open internet order of the Federal Communications Commission, with Mr. CARSON of Indiana in the chair.

The Chair read the title of the bill.

The CHAIR. Pursuant to the rule, the bill is considered read the first time.

General debate shall be confined to the bill and shall not exceed 1 hour equally divided and controlled by the chair and ranking minority member on the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

The gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. MICHAEL F. DOYLE), my good friend from the East Coast, and the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. WALDEN), my other good friend, each will control 30 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Pennsylvania.

Mr. MICHAEL F. DOYLE. Mr. Chair, I yield myself 3 minutes.

Mr. Chair, I rise today in support of H.R. 1644, the Save the Internet Act. This bill comes to the floor after more than 18 hours of consideration by the Energy and Commerce Committee over the course of hearings and markups since the start of this Congress. During that time, we have heard from consumer advocates, minority and underrepresented communities, rural broadband providers, small business innovators, entrepreneurs, and millions of constituents, all calling for the restoration of net neutrality rules.

In addition, polls show that more than 86 percent of all Americans, whether they be Republicans, Independents, or Democrats, opposed the Trump FCC’s repeal of the protections that this bill reinstates.

People around the country care deeply about a free and open internet because it is critical for so many communities and sectors of our economy.

This legislation will do three things: First, it restores bipartisan, commonsense net neutrality protections and puts a cop back on the beat to protect consumers, small businesses, and competitors from unjust, unreasonable, and discriminatory practices by internet service providers.

Second, this bill gives the FCC the authority to protect consumers, now and in the future, through forward-looking regulatory authority.

Third, the bill barriers, the FCC’s legal authority to support broadband access and deployment programs through the Universal Service Fund.
These programs pay for the deployment of broadband in rural communities through the Connect America Fund and support access for low-income families, seniors, and veterans through the Lifeline program.

The Save the Internet Act codifies the FCC’s 2015 Open Internet Order and permanently prohibits the FCC from applying provisions on rate setting, unbundling of ISP networks, or levying additional taxes or fees on broadband access.

This legislation imposes that heavy hand of Washington’s regulatory bureaucracy over the single most vibrant and important driver of the economic growth in America and the world: job creation, better quality of life, information sharing. We call that the open internet analogy. I would admit, no one fully understands the implications of this legislation, the scope of what it entails, and the impact it could have on consumers. There is much debate on this point in the committee.

Does this bill empower the FCC to dictate where and when new broadband networks can or must be deployed? We think it could.

Will this bill provide the authority for a government takeover and management of private networks? We think it could.

Would this bill allow government taxation of the internet? It could.

Could it lead to government regulation of speech on the internet? Yes.

And will this legislation limit the full potential of 5G and impede the development of the next wave of innovation in internet services? Most outside experts think it could.

So Republicans attempted to get to the bottom of these questions through our hearings and our markups. The answer to all of these questions was, regrettably, yes.

Now, we offered amendments. Mr. Chairman, at the full committee to close the doors to these and other powers that are granted to the Federal Communications Commission under this bill, powers that are completely unrelated to net neutrality. Every one of those amendments was rejected.

Supporters claim the bill locks into law more than 700 instances where the Federal Communications Commission—under the title II—has put forth a menu of options as a starting point for true bipartisan net neutrality legislation.

If Democrats don’t believe Mr. Waxman’s plan is a good starting point, then Representative frauen RODGERS has introduced legislation that is drawn directly from a bill that passed in Washington State’s Democratic-controlled legislature and was signed into law in 2018 by a Democratic Governor.

So what do all three of these proposals have in common? They are rooted in the shared principles of net neutrality that will protect consumers, but without putting unelected bureaucrats over the single most vibrant sector of the American economy.

So I remain committed to a bipartisan solution, to preserving a free and open internet. I actually believe it is achievable, and I want to express to my friends on the other side of the aisle—and they are my friends—that our work and our efforts together are genuine and have been made in good faith.

The fact is we can permanently address blocking, throttling, and paid prioritization. We could do so in a bipartisan way, and we all believe in open and free internet. We believe in net neutrality.

But net neutrality is not title II, near limitless government management of the internet. Net neutrality does not need the harmful, heavy-handed approach of title II. Net neutrality does not require a government takeover of the internet.

Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MICHAEL F. DOYLE of Pennsylvania. Mr. Chair, what my friend refers to as a takeover of the internet we call protecting consumers, and that is what we are asking the FCC to do.

I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. PALLONE), chairman of the full Energy and Commerce Committee.
Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Chairman, I thank the chairman of our Subcommittee on Communications and Technology for all the work that he has done on this net neutrality legislation.

We are here today to debate and vote on a bill that will keep the internet free and open. That sounds like a big deal, and it is a big deal.

The Save the Internet Act ensures that consumers, rather than internet service providers, have control over their data experience. This makes perfect common sense. Each of us should be able to decide what videos we watch, which sites we read, and which services we use. Nobody should be able to influence that choice—not the government and not the large companies that run the networks.

This legislation not only protects consumers from large corporations, but it also strengthens our economy by promoting innovation and small businesses. It ensures that any business, no matter how small, gets the same internet at the same speeds as giant corporate interests. That is only fair. There should not be favorites.

H.R. 1644 will return strong net neutrality protections to the internet. For over a decade, both Republican and Democratic FCCs restricted ISPs’ ability to control consumer access to the internet and undermine small businesses’ ability to compete. The Trump FCC rolled that back but failed to give up that authority in 2017, choosing the big companies over the people.

The bill before us would return the FCC to its traditional role of overseeing the Nation’s channels of communications. This is a carefully crafted bill that balances the need to put a cap on the beast without weighing down the industry. We are preventing blocking, throttling, and paid prioritization, and we are giving the FCC the authority to stop harmful practices in the future that are unjust or unreasonable.

The American people, Mr. Chairman, both Democrats and Republicans, overwhelmingly support restoring net neutrality. That makes sense. We all want to control our own internet experience. Again, I thank Chairman DOYLE for his leadership. Let me also take a moment to recognize the hard work of the committee staff, Alex Hoehn-Saric, Jerry Leverich, Jennifer Epperson, AJ Brown, Brandon, and Phil Murphy.

I strongly urge all my colleagues to vote ‘yes’ on the Save the Internet Act.

Mr. WALDEN. Mr. Chairman, it is my honor to yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. SCALISE), the Republican whip of the House and a terrific member of our Energy and Commerce Committee.

Mr. SCALISE. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman from Oregon for yielding.

Mr. Chairman, I rise in opposition to this bill that would create a government takeover of the internet.

If you look at the bill, first of all, it is always interesting to pay attention to the titles of bills—the Save the Internet Act. Whom do you want to save the internet from? Many would say they want to save it from the heavy hand of government.

I have also on the other side of the aisle to please show me what is so broken about the internet that the Federal Government needs to come in to save it.

First, let me take a moment to look at the growth of this great industry, this is one of America’s greatest exports. It is one of America’s greatest economic drivers. Some of the best jobs in America are created from the technology industry that has boomed and thrived because of the growth of the internet.

How has this internet grown? It has grown because there is no heavy hand of the Federal Government slowing it down. If you go back to look, as the internet continued to grow, as applications continued to grow on all kinds of devices, small handheld devices, the things that people are able to do, the improvements in their daily lives, because of the growth of the internet, the private money that has flowed in.

This is a carefully crafted legislation not only protects consumers from large corporations, but it also strengthens our economy by promoting innovation and small businesses. It ensures that any business, no matter how small, gets the same internet at the same speeds as giant corporate interests. That is only fair. There should not be favorites.

Mr. Chairman, I rise in opposition to this bill that would create a government takeover of the internet.
First, I include in the RECORD a letter from the County of Santa Clara, California, relative to the issue of net neutrality and the underlying legislation.

COUNTY OF SANTA CLARA,
OFFICE OF THE COUNTY EXECUTIVE,
San Jose, CA, April 4, 2019,
Hon. Anna Eshoo,
House of Representatives,
Washington, D.C.

DEAR REPRESENTATIVE ESHOO: The County of Santa Clara strongly supports H.R. 1644, the “Save the Internet Act of 2019.” This measure appropriately funds federal agencies’ policies protecting net neutrality as articulated by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) in its 2015 Report and Order. In the protecting and promoting the Open Internet (FCC 15-24) (the Order).

Like local governments across the country, the County of Santa Clara provides public safety, welfare, and governance services that depend on an open internet. For example, County public health alert systems and the County’s virtual emergency operations center are enabled by broadband internet access service (BIAS) provider practices subject to regulation under the Order. The County is deeply concerned that there currently is no “net neutrality” ensuring the protection of such systems, and thus strongly supports H.R. 1644, which would reestablish oversight of BIAS provider practices subject to public safety.

The County’s concerns are particularly acute in light of its past experience with BIAS provider practices. The County’s experience has demonstrated that BIAS providers will act in their own economic interests, even when doing so threatens public safety. For example, on April 16, 2015, after the FCC revoked net neutrality protections, Verizon throttled Santa Clara County firefighters in the midst of their efforts to fight the then-largest fire in California history—despite repeated requests to remove the throttling and allow the firefighters to perform their duties. These events are outlined in the attached Declaration, submitted to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit.

Net neutrality is also vital to the continued economic success of our region. Santa Clara County is home to the highest concentration of technology innovation and development and is home to almost 2 million residents. Net neutrality is necessary for the prosperity of the communities the County represents, fosters innovation, creates jobs, and promotes economic vitality both within the county and across the nation.

Preserving net neutrality for County of Santa Clara residents has long been an action for the County. In 2017, the County’s Board of Supervisors unanimously adopted resolution number BOS-2017-105, Resolution of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Santa Clara, Supporting the Preservation of Federal Rules and Policies Protecting Net Neutrality, to publicly confirm the County’s support of an open internet. In addition, the County of Santa Clara and the Santa Clara County Central Fire Protection District, along with the City and County of San Francisco, California Public Utilities Commission, Santa Clara Valley Transportation Authority, the District of Columbia, and several private and nonprofit entities filed a lawsuit (Docket 181651, D.C. Cir.) challenging the FCC’s December 2017 repeal net neutrality rules with its Report and Order, in the Matter of Restoring Internet Freedom (FCC 17-186).

By restoring the FCC’s 2015 order in the Matter of Protecting and Promoting the Open Internet, H.R. 1644 would ensure net neutrality. In addition, the bill would nullify the FCC’s 2017 Order in the Matter of Restoring Internet Freedom and would prohibit the enactment of any other rule substantially the same as this order, unless the new rule is specifically authorized by a law enacted after the date of the enactment of H.R. 1644. It is for these reasons we support H.R. 1644.

On behalf of the County residents, thank you for your co-sponsorship of this important measure that will protect net neutrality rules and policies now and in future.

Sincerely,

JEFFREY V. SMITH, M.D., J.D., County Executive.

Enclosure: Declaration of Fire Chief Anthony Bowden (Docket 18-1051, D.C. Cir.)

IN THE UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA CIRCUIT
CASE NO. 18–1051 (LEAD) : CONSOLIDATED WITH CASE NO. 18–1066 (SEVENTH) COMMISSION and UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, Petitioners, v.
BIAS INCORPORATED, et al., Respondents.

DECLARATION OF FIRE CHIEF ANTHONY BOWDEN
1. Anthony Bowden, declare:
   1. I make this declaration in support of the Brief of the County of Santa Clara (“County” for the sake of brevity) to which I refer you for the facts herein of my own personal knowledge.
   2. I was recently appointed the Fire Chief for the Santa Clara County Central Fire Protection District (“County Fire”). As Fire Chief, I also serve as Fire Marshal for Santa Clara County and as the California Office of Emergency Services (OES) Operational Area Fire and Rescue Coordinator. In these roles, I am responsible for the coordination of mutual aid resources in Santa Clara County. This includes the coordination of all fire resources to significant events, such as wildfires, throughout the state, when those resources are requested from Santa Clara County’s operational area. I have worked in fire protection for more than two decades, and in that time, I have held every rank at County Fire.
   3. Established in 1947, County Fire provides fire services for Santa Clara County and the ‘County’ is comprised of Campbell, Cupertino, Los Altos, Los Altos Hills, Los Gatos, Monte Sereno, and Saratoga. The department also provides protection for the unincorporated areas of the citizens.
   4. County Fire’s mission is to provide fire protection for the County’s citizens. This includes providing 24/7/365 protection to thousands of homes, a maintenance facility, and several other support facilities, and covers 128.3 square miles. The department employs almost three hundred personnel, including full-time firefighters, seasonal personnel, and other employees. The department also has a headquarters and a maintenance facility. The department’s firefighters respond to hundreds of calls a month, and in that time, I have held every rank at County Fire.
   5. County Fire employs on average 15 fire stations across the county. These fire stations are Fire Protection Services, a maintenance facility, and several other support facilities, and covers 128.3 square miles. The department employs almost three hundred personnel, including full-time firefighters, seasonal personnel, and other employees. The department also has a headquarters and a maintenance facility. The department’s firefighters respond to hundreds of calls a month, and in that time, I have held every rank at County Fire.
   6. County Fire also responds to mutual aid requests from other counties. In these situations, a county declares a state of emergency and requests help from other counties. In these situations, a county declares a state of emergency and requests help from other counties.

RETURN TO TEXT
We are doing. We want this for our constituents, and Independents—support what the American people—Democrats, Republicans—believe it is likely that Verizon will continue to use the exigent nature of public safety emergencies and catastrophic events to coerce public agencies into higher cost plans ultimately paying significantly more for mission critical service—even if that means risking harm to public safety during negotiations.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States of America that the foregoing is true and correct.

Executed on August at San José, California.

Anthony Bowden.

Ms. ESCH. Mr. Chair, I rise in support of this bill. To those who may be viewing and listening in, it sounds as if, from our Democratic friends, that the sky is actually coming down around our ears. I have good news for you. It isn't.

The ranking member of the full committee said that the Republicans simply are opposed to paid prioritization, throttling, and blocking. But there is something else that the American people need to know. What they are against here is what they call the heavy hand of government. We say it is the Federal Communications Commission that should be able to enforce the law against throttling, blocking, and paid prioritization.

It is as simple as that. They don't want a cop on the beat.

This is a very simple, three-page bill, but it is powerful because it puts in place the protections that the FCC came up with in 2015. Notably, the courts upheld that decision.

There is a menu of legislative options on the other side of the aisle about Silicon Valley. You are not from Silicon Valley; I represent it. There are companies there that had filed suit against the ISPs because of what they have done. If you don't think that the ISPs haven't misbehaved, talk to the firefighters of Santa Clara County. Talk to them. They were fighting the worst fire in California’s history when they were being throttled. They called Verizon, and Verizon tried to sell them an upgraded plan as they were trying to save lives.

Across America, 86 percent of the American people—Democrats, Republicans, and Independents—support what we are doing. We want this for our constituents. We want the protection of consumers. We don't want any mitts on the internet. It is as simple as that.

Groups from A to Z, from the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops to the American Library Association, support this.

I am proud to be a net neutrality warrior, and I ask everyone in the House to become one, too, by voting for H.R. 1644. It is a simple, three-page, powerful bill that will serve the people of our country well.

Mr. WALDEN. Mr. Chairman, I am now privileged to yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. LATTA), the ranking member on the Communications and Technology Subcommittee.

Mr. LATTA. Mr. Chairman, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Chair, I rise today in opposition to H.R. 1644, the government takeover of the internet act.

This is not about net neutrality. If this was about net neutrality, we would be operating under the longstanding bipartisan premise that net neutrality would be achieved without title II.

Like many of my colleagues on both sides of the aisle, I agree that Congress needed to codify basic internet protection principles—no throttling, and no paid prioritization. The net neutrality bill I introduced is based directly upon the proposal from former Energy and Commerce Chairman Henry Waxman, which would prevent internet service providers from engaging in much of the discriminatory behavior the majority is concerned about. It would do so under title I.

Both former Republican and Democratic Federal Communications Commission Chairmen have recognized that net neutrality can be resolved without vastly expanding the FCC’s power under title II.

It is important to recognize the difference between title I and title II. The internet is currently regulated under title I, which means it is considered an information service. Besides the 2 years the FCC’s 2015 order was in effect, the internet has always operated under title I, since its infancy.

Chairman, we recognize that the internet under title II rules that classify broadband as a telecommunication service. These rules were created in the 1930s for the monopoly telephone systems and, obviously, do not fit on an innovative engine that has thrived on minimal government involvement.

Although the exact framework of net neutrality has been a bipartisan issue these past 10 years, we are at a point where Republicans and Democrats are using H.R. 1644 as no locking in. We have seen broadband investment and innovation decline during the time the internet was regulated under the framework that H.R. 1644 would establish. This has been verified through studies, but also in a recent Energy and Commerce Committee hearing when a witness who owns a small ISP in Oregon testified on the hampering effects the 2015 order had on his own business. While we can't quantify lost investment, we do not know the advancements in technology we have missed out on due to limited resources directed toward innovation.

On the point of not knowing, we still do not know the 700-plus regulations that H.R. 1644 would permanently bear from either. Before we permanently lock in anything, I believe Congress should know exactly what we are blocking in. We have pressed the majority for the list multiple times and have not received it. That is why I filed an amendment that would have required the Federal Communications Commission to produce this list if the bill does become law.

I support net neutrality, but I cannot and do not support H.R. 1644. We should be providing the American people with a real net neutrality solution rather than putting forward an agenda that does not have the capability to become law and won't protect the internet.

I thank the gentleman for yielding, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. MICHAEL F. DOYLE of Pennsylvania, Mr. Chairman, my friends keep talking about the government takeover of the internet. I am glad to see that they are finally taking a stand against... the foolish 5G nationalization proposal that the Trump administration can’t seem to stop talking about.

Mr. Chairman, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. BUTTERFIELD).

Mr. BUTTERFIELD. Mr. Chairman, I thank Chairman DOYLE for yielding time this afternoon.

Mr. Chairman, I rise today in support of H.R. 1644. Phone calls and letters from my constituents make it abundantly clear that they want to see broadband internet expanded in their communities, they want greater consumer protections, and they want it now. The digital divide is holding them down.

Until someone has lived in a community, Mr. Chairman, that does not have reliable access to high-speed internet, one cannot comprehend its importance. Internet connectivity enables students regardless of their financial circumstances the opportunity to access world-class educational resources. It spurs economic growth by giving businesses an opportunity to connect with customers throughout the world. It can help bring access to quality healthcare for families in rural communities.

I yield.

Mr. Chairman, on the other side, this legislation is not a socialist initiative. It is America, my friends, in the 21st century.

This bill provides permanent net neutrality protections and secures a free and open internet for constituents. This legislation will ensure that all Americans—Democrat, Republican, Libertarian, Independent, and Green Party—will have their voices heard, their stories told, and equal access to the information that is important to them.

The Save the Internet Act addresses the way in which internet traffic is handled before it reaches the consumer—an important step toward closing the digital divide and making the digital economy more inclusive. The internet was developed to enable user choice about what content to access. That is why we need to pass this legislation, and we need to pass it now.

I appreciate the work of Chairman DOYLE and the Democratic Caucus for understanding the urgency of passing this legislation.

Mr. Chairman, I urge my colleagues to vote “yes” on this legislation. Let’s send a message. Let’s try to reason with our friends in the Senate, and let’s get it passed and protect the internet.

Mr. MICHAEL F. DOYLE of Pennsylvania. Mr. Chairman, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. WALDEN. Mr. Chairman, I would just like to say, when it comes to 5G, Republicans had an amendment to keep 5G from being regulated by 1930s law called title II. My friends on the other side of the aisle want to get into a big discussion about the huge regulatory door they are opening in section 201 and section 202 that allows the FCC to basically run amok with rules. They will claim that they are locking down what the FCC did in 2015 but, in fact, while they may close one door—although we don’t even know all those 700 rules they are forbearing against that are going to go into statute, they can’t even provide that list and this bill isn’t going anywhere—they are opening this other authority—unlimited authority, frankly—to the FCC to regulate all these forms of technology.

Mr. Chairman, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. JOHNSON).

Mr. JOHNSON of Ohio. Mr. Chairman, I rise today to join my colleagues in opposition to the so-called Save the Internet Act. I say “so-called” because it really should be called another Big Government attempt to grab the internet act.

I am disappointed in my colleagues across the aisle who chose to place partisanship above the interests of the American people and working across party lines to codify actual workable solutions that prevent anti-competitive conduct rather than continuing the political game of information technology regulatory ping-pong under the guise of net neutrality.

Let me be clear, I support an open and free internet. However, this legislation doesn’t do that.

What it would do is impose heavy-handed title II regulations on the internet. Title II is unnecessary, but would actually stall broadband deployment.

From 1996 to 2015, the internet was thriving. It grew at a rapid, unprecendented pace and enabled countless innovative technologies that Americans have come to rely on: connectivity for businesses, students to do their schoolwork, families and friends staying connected, telemedicine, and many other everyday conveniences.

However, with the Big Government grab of then-FCC Chairman Wheeler and the classification of broadband as a utility-style telecommunication service under title II that we saw a decline in broadband deployment and online innovation and investment.

This is a serious issue, particularly for geographically challenging, rural areas such as eastern and southeastern Ohio that already struggle with broadband availability. The digital divide is very real, and we have a responsibility to provide solutions, not create additional barriers to employment, growth, and innovation.

Rural communities don’t need or want higher costs and fewer options than they already have, and that is why I am opposed to this legislation.

As I have stated before, the only saving the internet needs is from heavy-handed Washington regulations.

Mr. Chairman, I urge my colleagues to oppose this disingenuous legislation.

Mr. MICHAEL F. DOYLE of Pennsylvania. Mr. Chairman, I would submit that we are listening to the public and our constituents. Eighty-six percent of all Americans—Republicans, Democrats, and Independents—support what we are doing here today. It is the Republicans who are standing up for a very small number of ISPs in this legislation.

It gives me great pleasure to yield to the distinguished gentleman from California (Ms. PELOSI), who is the Speaker of the House.

Ms. PELOSI. I thank the gentleman for yielding, Mr. Chairman, and I commend him for his extraordinary leadership on this very important subject. To young people in our country and to every person in our country from sea to shining sea and to the future of our country. I join my colleagues in defense of the free and open internet which is a pillar of our democracy. I am pleased to follow Mr. DOYLE and his leadership; Mr. PALLONE, the chairman who weighed in again this afternoon, the godmother of net neutrality in an earlier time; Mr. BUTTERFIELD, for his wonderful statement; and I know we will be hearing from Congresswoman MATSU and other Members, and I am honored to join all of them.

Again, I salute Chairman MIKE DOYLE for his leadership of the Save the Internet Act and for his persistent, dissatisfied leadership to protect net neutrality. I also commend our former colleague in the House, Senator MARKET, for his leadership now in the Senate.

Let us salute the millions of Americans who have marched, mobilized, and made their voices heard in this fight. The 4 million Americans who wrote to the FCC—that would be the Federal Communications Commission—to support the 215 Obama-era net neutrality protections; the 10 million Americans who tuned in to watch a Livestream of the full committee markup on this legislation, and. Mr. Chairman, it is now 4.8 million and a growing number who have watched the committee proceedings on the House floor today.

That is so much enthusiasm in our country, that is the growing extent of the interest. That is unheard of for the work that we do here.

Net neutrality is a bipartisan priority for the American people. As Chairman DOYLE said, a full 86 percent of Americans oppose the Trump assault on net neutrality, including 82 percent of Republicans outside.

Young people, in particular, get it. This is about their jobs and their futures. With the Save the Internet Act, Democrats are standing up for the American people. We are restoring protections so that we can stop unjust discriminatory practices by ISPs—that would be internet service providers—that try to throttle consumers’ browsing speed, block their internet access, and increase their costs—throttle their speed, block their access, and increase their cost.
It would give entrepreneurs and small businesses a level playing field on which to compete and ensure American innovation can continue to be the envy of the world.

This legislation also brings the power of the internet to every corner of the country from rural America to cities, as Mr. BUTTERFIELD pointed out, because it provides the legal basis for the Connect America Fund.

We must close the urban-rural digital divide, although we have challenges in urban areas as well as in rural areas, but in rural areas this is a must do. It will make all the difference in the world guaranteeing better and cheaper internet for everyone, so we can create jobs and unlock the economic potential of every person in every community.

This debate is not just about legislation. It is about the quality of people's lives. More than 30,000 San Franciscans in my own district have written my own office about the impact of net neutrality in their lives.

They know that American businesses are at risk.

One writes:

As a small business owner, I depend on free and unfettered communication with my customers. My business and personal lifestyle are in jeopardy.

They know that America's innovation is at risk.

As a young student writes:

Without net neutrality, we lose our last medium of allowing small and upcoming companies to thrive.

They know that our spirit of entrepreneurialism is at risk. As another constituent writes:

The internet is a place where anyone, rich or poor, can make a living, become successful, and make themselves known.

They know that our very democracy is at risk because as one constituent writes:

A world without net neutrality undermines a central priority for a democratic society: the ability of all citizens to inform themselves and each other.

Those are some of the communications from my constituents.

I will just tell you about a family discussion I had. I was visiting my brother in Baltimore, Maryland, Thomas D'Alesandro, and we were sitting around the table with his children and grandchildren. We were talking about one thing and another that was going on in the country.

I said to my grandson: What do you think about all of this?

We were talking about national security, et cetera.

He said: My friends and I care about one thing: net neutrality.

That is so exciting to hear, and here we are delivering for young people.

Supporting this bill means supporting our democracy and showing that our voices count. In one of the public meetings I have heard, their will is respected, and that the internet remains free and open to all. We call on our Republican colleagues to join us to support our democracy by restoring net neutrality.

I hope we have a good, strong bipartisan vote as a tribute to Chairman DOYLE.

Mr. Chairman, I urge an "aye" vote. Mr. WALDEN. Mr. Chairman, again, I would urge Republicans for stopping any kind of action that throttles or blocks even paid prioritization on the internet. We share that common view of net neutrality.

But I would remind my colleagues that the legislation before us does not in any way provide any regulatory oversight over where you go when you get off the ISPs, get off that freeway, if you will, into places like Google, Facebook, and Amazon. They are great American companies. But what I hear from my constituents is that they are concerned about pay prioritization, the security, the trust, the data, and all of that that the edge providers are a huge part of this ecosystem.

Mr. Chairman, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. WALBERG).

Mr. WALBERG. Mr. Chair, I rise today in opposition to H.R. 1644. I believe, if we use words appropriately, that should be named the "Regain Big Government Control of the Internet Act."

Thankfully, after 2015, we only had a short time of what was so-called net neutrality, which are words that sound good but aren't true. It was Big Government takeover of net neutrality, and this bill opens the door to disastrous effects like that on getting broadband into rural America, where I live.

I still don't have broadband. In 2015, under the so-called net neutrality, we saw that broadband build-out stop. I am still looking forward to it someday. So this bill would take us backwards, not forwards.

It is clear that the bill also could have several unintended consequences which are completely at odds with the authors' intended outcomes.

Instead of doubling down on the light-touch framework which has resulted in the widespread success of the internet, Mr. Chair, my colleagues seem more interested in imposing more and bigger government regulation. The bill only forebears from what the FCC claims it forbore from, not what it can forbear from through the backdoor of sections 201 and 202.

Instead of letting the markets work under a framework which still robustly protects consumers, this bill would inject even more uncertainty into the market. It seems that, instead of locking in protections for consumers, the only thing it is really locking in is more partisanship.

I urge my colleagues to work with Republicans on bipartisan legislation that protects consumers and promotes broadband deployment in rural America, the place I live and the place I lack broadband now and, with the continued effort to have Big Government control, I probably will still lack.

It is time to change that, and I encourage my colleagues to oppose H.R. 1644, the "Regain Big Government Control of the Internet Act." It would say Republicans are for stopping the internet, then they had better talk to the White House: "Trump apparently wants to control 5G in a 'state-run' socialistic twist to American capitalism."

That is where you need to take those concerns about the government takeover over.

Madam Chair, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. Matsuji), vice chair of the Subcommittee on Communications and Technology.

Ms. MATSUJI. Madam Chair, I am pleased to join my colleagues in cosponsoring this legislation.

Our internet economy has been the envy of the world, with good reason. The first site to ever go live on the world wide web did so in August 1991, less than 28 years ago.

Since then, a balance of innovation and investment has transformed the internet into a driving force of the American economy. A balance of innovation and investment also requires that the internet remain open.

Innovators, entrepreneurs, businesses, and consumers rely on the internet as an open platform for online commerce, to freely exchange ideas, and to make internet access more accessible to more Americans.

To that end, addressing and preventing paid prioritization arrangements that result in consumer harm become a priority instead of fear; and, as I have said through this debate, the fundamental issue surrounding net neutrality is ensuring consumers don't have to pay more for the same products and services online.

I am mindful of the potential use cases that next-generation networks can facilitate, and I previously introduced legislation to ensure that all consumers are able to access online content equally as we balance the service requirements and consumer benefits of our open internet policies.

I also want to be clear that I don't support taxing the internet, but, going forward, I welcome a serious conversation with all my colleagues on universal service contribution reform in order to protect the long-term sustainability of rural broadband support.

Net neutrality protections must ensure the internet remains an open marketplace, ensure that the internet is free of content-based discrimination, and ensure broadband access is affordably and reliably deployed across the country.
Madam Chair, I appreciate the gentleman yielding.

Madam Chair, I join my colleagues in rising in opposition to H.R. 1644. What is most disappointing to me is that it seems like this is another example of the Democratic majority, during this Congress, being more interested in scoring political points than actually solving a problem.

In order for this legislation to become law, it is going to require bipartisan support, yet the Democrats have chosen today to move forward in a partisan way.

The rhetoric around net neutrality has been driven to a fever pitch. Dire predictions on the end of the internet led to a point against the chairman of the FCC and his family, as well as against some of our own colleagues.

Democrats say they want to save the internet; however, in the time since the Title II regulations were repealed under the Trump administration, network speeds are up drastically. Investment and coverage in rural areas has increased.

This debate isn’t about the merits of an open internet. I support an open, free internet, and I always have. This is truly about how we shape the future of our economy:

Do we want to regulate the internet as a 1930s-style utility where regulations stifle innovation and leave behind rural and poor Americans?

Do we want an internet economy that lifts people out of poverty and provides them with more economic opportunities?

As we work to close the digital divide, we need to decrease the barriers to deployment, not increase them. Imposing unnecessary regulations on small companies providing rural broadband will only further this divide. We must protect people in a way that does not put underserved areas of our country behind.

Republicans, for years, have offered to work across the aisle. I have introduced legislation modeled after a bill that passed in Washington State, enjoying bipartisan support overwhelmingly. In fact, it was lauded by Senator Cantwell.

She said: “In our State, Republicans and Democrats came together. . . Why can’t we see this same bipartisan- ship in the U.S. House?”

I ask my Democratic colleagues today that same question.

Mr. MICHAEL F. DOYLE of Pennsylvania. Madam Chair, I would say to the gentlewoman that we know that net neutrality rules don’t affect internet speed or internet investment.

And who says that? The CEOs of all the internet companies when they are talking to their Wall Street investors. Madam Chair, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. McNerney).

Mr. McNerney. Madam Chair, I rise today in support of H.R. 1644.

One of the greatest aspects of the internet is its potential to be an equalizer for small businesses that might not otherwise have resources to set up a brick-and-mortar shop. The internet provides them with the means to reach customers around the world. For students who want to learn how to code but whose schools can’t afford such classes, the internet opens the door for them. And for veterans who would otherwise have to drive hours to receive healthcare services, the internet gives them the ability to consult with their doctors wherever they are.

All of this is only possible if internet access is unfiltered, and that is not the case today. Today, we don’t even have a free and open internet because Trump’s FCC has repealed net neutrality protections, and set our country on a path backwards.

More than 8,000 of my constituents have written to me and called to express their opposition to elimination of these protections.

I also understand a net neutrality townhall, where people came from all over my district. They were of different ages, occupations, and backgrounds, but they all had something in common: They overwhelmingly wanted strong net neutrality protections.

I have listened to my constituents, and that is why I am fighting hard to restore these crucial protections, and that is why I became an original co-sponsor of the Save the Internet Act, which today we call net neutrality and prevent unreasonable discrimination practices of blocking, throttling, and paid prioritization.

While I agree with my colleagues that no business should engage in these types of unreasonable business practices, this bill is hardly neutral. It blatantly ignores “edge providers,” such as Facebook and Google. Just read the headlines about their great behavior.

They have made headlines for things like blocking, throttling, and requiring paid prioritization of consumer internet services.

Consequently, in the 2 years following the FCC’s 2015 order to regulate the internet under the stifling Title II, internet investments regulations, those investments have actually declined for the first time and only time in U.S. history outside of a recession.

As a Representative of some of the most unserved rural populations of Virginia, I have heard from providers, both large and small, that these stifling Title II regulations have hindered their ability to expand service to rural populations. This is particularly concerning, as unserved areas already face extreme challenges to gaining access to broadband.

Reinstating these stifling Title II regulations would only further increase the digital divide between urban and rural America.

I am a cosponsor of three bills offered by Ranking Members Walden, Latta, and Rodgers, all based on bipartisan approaches, which prohibit the practices of blocking, throttling, and paid prioritization. I believe all three of these bills provide a bipartisan, permanent solution to opening the internet.

I urge my Democratic colleagues to work with Republicans to solve this issue.

Mr. Michael F. Doyle of Pennsylvania. Madam Chair, may I inquire as to how much time I have remaining.

The Acting CHAIR (Ms. Kaptur). The gentleman from Ohio has 7 1/2 minutes remaining.

Mr. Latta. Madam Chair, may I in-...
Democrats understand that, already, we see behavior by ISPs that isn’t covered by those three bright lines, in the areas of zero rating and interconnection. There has to be a cop on the beat to protect consumers. This bill is about basic. It says we are going to outlaw the three bright lines. We all agree with that.

The only things we do in addition to this are two other things:

Number one, we restore the legal underpinnings for the Connect America program, which is Rural Broadband and the Lifeline program, which helps our seniors, veterans, and low-income families in the country. We make it easier for pole attachments to make rural deployment of broadband easier to do, to facilitate that. So we take care of rural America in the bill.

Then we also say there has to be someone to look out for consumers if, somehow down the road, an ISP finds a new way to have some unjust or unreasonable discriminatory behavior. Someone has to have the ability to say: You can’t do that, and, if you continue to do that, we are going to levy a fine or we are going to take action against you.

That is called consumer protection. What my friends over here want to do is simply take the three bright lines and say, okay, we will enforce that because they have been caught red-handed doing that. Everybody knows they have pled guilty to the blocking, the throttling, and the paid prioritization. We will outlaw that. But if they find some new, novel way to game the system and disadvantage consumers, we don’t want anyone to be able to stop that kind of behavior.

Madam Chair, it is sort of like locking your front door and leaving the back door open. That is what the Republicans would have us do, if we would agree to their so-called compromise that they are putting forward.

Let me tell you something. I didn’t come to Congress to work for internet service providers, I came to Congress to protect consumers.

And you are not fooling Americans. Eighty-six percent of Americans, be they Democrats, Republicans, or Independents, did not want to see the Pai FCC, the Trump FCC, repeal these net neutrality rules. There was overwhelming testimony during the rulemaking from more than 20 million people asking the FCC not to take this action. This is an issue not only amongst millennials but all throughout our population.

You have been hearing it on your telephones, too. That is why you all want to say you are for something. You stand there and say we are for a free and open internet, but what you are for is allowing these ISPs to figure out new ways to make sure there is no cop on the beat, the FCC, to be able to regulate that. That is why we are never going to agree until we sit down and protect consumers in this kind of bill.

Madam Chair, I reserve the balance of my time.

The Acting CHAIR. Members are reminded to address their remarks to the Chair.

Mr. LATTA. Madam Chair, I am prepared to close if the gentleman is. I have no more speakers.

Madam Chair, how much time do I have?

The Acting CHAIR. The gentleman from Ohio has 3½ minutes remaining.

Mr. LATTA. Madam Chair, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

In this debate today, we have heard both sides, but I really believe that, on our side, the American people don’t want to have a takeover of the internet. As we have spoken on our side, we will believe in the same things. We don’t want throttling; we don’t block; and we don’t want paid prioritization out there.

As has been stated earlier today, we have had three bills that were introduced, one being my piece of legislation that had been introduced by the former chairman of the Energy and Commerce Committee that set forth those policies and also stating that it should not have title II in it because, barain, you do not want to have the heavy hand of government coming in on this.

We had the Republican leader of the full committee with his legislation, taking what the FCC has done and putting in legislation to make sure, again, we don’t have the blocking and the throttling.

The gentlewoman from Washington State, when you look at her legislation, again, it came from a Democratic legislature, signed by a Democratic Governor, which stated the same things: You don’t want to have the throttling, blocking, or paid prioritization.

The American people want to make sure that the internet is out there, that it is working, and that you don’t have that heavy hand.

I think it is also important, as has been noted during the debate—what are we looking at here? We have had past FCC Chairmen all saying the same thing, except for Chairman Wheeler when he changed and went with the 2015 order. But Republicans and Democrats have all said the same thing, that this is information service, not a telecommunications service that would be coming under the draconian laws of the 1930s that were really to take care of the Ma Bells out there.

We also have seen that this bill does not go far enough, and a lot of people would be surprised about that. The question is raised: Why aren’t they included in this piece of legislation? Because if you want to make sure that everyone is included, you should have been looking at it in this legislation, because when you are looking at the Facebook and the Twitters out there, what is happening with them?

I also want to point out that I know there is some concern when this was going on back in 2015 and what happened when the current FCC rescinded the order. You know, the internet did not end. I did not get calls the next day saying I was not able to go online. I wasn’t able to do anything like that. I never received a call. So I think it is important we note that.

At the same time, what we have also discussed here today, and also in comments that we would like to see the 700 rules and the regs out there that the FCC forbore on. We still don’t have those. I have asked, through my amendment, that we get those because I think it is important we know what that is, because how do you know what they are doing if you don’t see it?

I think it is very important that these facts are considered. I think it is important that we have had this debate today. But I think it is also important that we don’t want to have whatever the government of the internet because we want to make sure that it does what it has always done. It is something that was formed out there that had what they called a light touch, to let it go forward, so I think it is important that we do that.

For those reasons, Madam Chair, I would recommend a “no” vote on H.R. 1644, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. MICHAEL F. DOYLE of Pennsylvania. Madam Chair, how much time do I have left?

The Acting CHAIR. The gentleman has 10 minutes remaining.

Mr. MICHAEL F. DOYLE of Pennsylvania. Madam Chair, I yield myself the balance of my time.

I appreciate this debate. A couple of points I would like to make as we close. I think people need to understand that, 2 years ago, when the Trump FCC decided to repeal the net neutrality rules that were in place, what did they replace them with? How did they protect consumers when they decided to repeal the net neutrality rules put in place by Chairman Wheeler during the Obama administration? I will tell you what they did. They did nothing—nothing, no protections, the Wild, Wild West. The only thing a consumer could look forward to was, if one of these ISPs violated their terms and conditions, they might be able to go over to the FTC and ask for relief.

Ask the California firefighters how that worked for them when they were in the middle of trying to put out these devastating fires in California and came up with their data cap and had no recourse. Ask them if they think that was unjust or unreasonable behavior.

For Republicans to stand here and say that they care about net neutrality rules when they had 2 years when they controlled the House and the Senate, and when they liked to see one of these three bills they like to talk about on the floor—because they controlled the floor to pass the bills, to pass it in their Republican-controlled Senate and give it to their Republican President to implement net neutrality rules to protect consumers. What did they do? They did nothing—nothing, crickets, silence.

Now Donald control the House of Representatives. We said that it is important to all Americans, and all Americans regardless—Democrats, Republicans, and Independents—wanted to see those net neutrality rules that were repealed restored. So what we have done is we have taken that 2015 open internet order and we said let’s put this into law. Let’s put this into statute so that no future FCC Commissioner can come there and change this.

We have forborne on 700 regulations that were in title II. You keep hearing this: We are putting the heavy hand of title II, Ma Bell, 1934 rules on the internet. That is not true. All of those provisions of title II were forborne. They are not part of this bill.

What did we keep in title II? We kept the consumer protections in sections 201 and 202. We saved the legal underpinnings that make it possible to do the Connect America Fund and the Lifeline Program. We put a cap on the beat so that, for future bad behavior on the part of the ISPs, there is someone there to say you can’t do that, and if you try to do that, we can take action against you.

Now, I ask you, what do the ISPs have to fear from that? If they are not acting in an unjust or an unreasonable or a discriminatory fashion, they have nothing to worry about. I would ask my friends, what unjust and unreasonable and discriminatory behavior do you think they should be allowed to engage in?

Well, I have news for you. Just the three bright lines that doesn’t cut it anymore. We have already seen behavior that is discriminatory that isn’t covered by those three bright lines. If there is no cop on the beat to enforce that on behalf of consumers, then it is the companies who are the losers.

We are not going to let that happen. The American people don’t want that to happen. People of all stripes have said, loud and clear, that they want to see commonsense, bipartisan net neutrality rules put into place.

When I say bipartisan, the only place it isn’t bipartisan is here in the House of Representatives, not out in the country. The Senate passed a similar bill without a vote with their CRA with 52 Members. It was bipartisan.

We tried to put that CRA on the floor last year, and the Republican majority wouldn’t put the bill on the floor so that we could have a vote on it. We tried to put a discharge petition to see if we could get the bill on the floor, and not a single Republicans helped us pass the discharge petition so that we could have a vote on net neutrality.

Let’s not kid ourselves here. Any campaign Americans had to have no regulation on the internet, that is what they have been about when they have been in power in this body.

Madam Chair, it is a new day, and it is a new House of Representatives, one that listens to the will of the people, the citizens of America who have said loud and clear that they want to see these rules put back in place.

To take action on both sides of the aisle, that you chance to be on the right side of history. This is your chance to be on the side of the angels. I ask all my colleagues to vote for this bill, vote “yes” on H.R. 1644 and restore net neutrality rules for all Americans.

I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Madam Chair, as a senior member of the Judiciary Committee and an original co-sponsor, I rise in strong support of H.R. 1644, the “Save the Internet Act of 2019.”

The Save the Internet Act puts a cop on the beat to protect consumers, small businesses, and competition from abusive practices of internet service providers and codifies popular, bipartisan, and targeted net neutrality protections.

An overwhelming 86 percent of Americans opposed the FCC’s roll back of the same protections that would be enacted by the Save the Internet Act, including 82 percent of Republicans.

The Save the Internet Act mirrors the similar bipartisan Congressional Review Act legislation that passed the Senate last Congress and had 182 bipartisan signers in the House.

The Save the Internet Act restores necessary, common-sense provisions for defending the internet put in place by the FCC during the Obama Administration and stops the current Trump-dominated FCC from applying more than 700 regulations under the Communications Act that are unnecessary to protecting an open internet such as rate setting.

The Save the Internet Act represents true net neutrality protections that are designed for today and tomorrow without loopholes.

The Save the Internet Act includes enhanced transparency protections, and enacts specific rules against blocking, throttling, and paid prioritization.

The legislation empowers the FCC to investigate consumer and business complaints, and, when necessary, fine internet service providers for violations of the Communications Act.

Additionally, the Save the Internet Act empowers the FCC to stop internet service providers from undermining net neutrality principles through new and harmful mechanisms.

Because of the Save the Internet Act, no longer will internet service providers be able to reject internet traffic, discriminate against websites, or create fast lanes and slow lanes, and stifle internet connectivity.

Another reason why all Members should support the Save the Internet Act is because it provides important new authorities that can be used to support broadband access and adoption for rural communities and struggling Americans.

The Save the Internet Act also restores authorities the FCC used starting in 2016 to fund broadband for low-income Americans, including veterans, seniors, students, and disabled Americans.

The FCC’s Universal Service program has subsidized phone service since the Reagan Administration, but only began fully supporting internet access recently.

Madam Chair, nothing in the Save the Internet Act would diminish internet service providers’ investments in broadband.

It should be noted that internet service providers did not cut back on investing, deploying and increasing speeds in 2015 and 2016, when the FCC did not issue rejections. The Save the Internet Act puts in place by the FCC.

In fact, after the Trump FCC repealed those protections, investments by many of the largest providers went down despite their claims that just opposite would happen.

Finally, Madam Chair, should be noted the legislation before us affirms several important principles and values, including the following:

1. A free and open internet is the single greatest technology of our time, and control should not be at the mercy of corporations.

2. A free and open internet stimulates internet service provider competition.

3. A free and open internet helps prevent unfair pricing practices.

4. A free and open internet promotes innovation.

5. A free and open internet promotes the spread of ideas.

6. A free and open internet drives entrepreneurship.

In short, Madam Chair, a free, open, and vibrant internet protects and strengthens our democracy.

I urge all Members to join me in voting to save the internet for all of our people by voting to pass H.R. 1644, the “Save the Internet Act of 2019.”

The Acting CHAIR. All time for general debate has expired.

In lieu of the amendment in the nature of a substitute recommended by the Committee on Energy and Commerce, printed in the bill, it shall be in order to consider as an original bill for the purpose of amendment under the 5-minute rule an amendment in the nature of a substitute consisting of the text of Rules Committee Print 116–10. AMENDMENT NO. 1 OFFERED BY MR. BURGESS

The Acting CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 1 printed in part A of House Report 116–37.

Mr. BURGESS. Madam Chair, I have an amendment at the desk.

The Acting CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

SEC. 4. GAO REPORT ON INTERNET ECOSYSTEM.

Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Comptroller General of the United States shall submit to Congress a report examining the effect of the rules described in section 2(b) on the virtuous cycle of the internet ecosystem and whether such rules protect the access of consumers to a free and open internet.

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 294, the gentleman from Texas (Mr. BURGESS) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Texas.

Mr. BURGESS. Madam Chair, I yield myself 2 minutes.

This amendment directs the Comptroller General of the United States to submit to Congress a report examining the influence of all entities on the virtuous cycle of the internet ecosystem and whether such rules protect the access of consumers to a free and open internet.

A portion of a consumer’s online experience is through social media platforms and through other edge providers. Examples of this would include Facebook, Google, YouTube, and others.

Nothing in the Save the Internet Act reviews all parts of the internet ecosystem. Yet, so-called edge providers are the services exercising the most discretion over content delivery.

As we saw last year with testimony in the Energy and Commerce Committee from Facebook and Twitter, the algorithms written by these companies are proprietary, and those proprietary algorithms may manipulate consumer access. We understand the role of these service providers and how each is weighted against the others. We need transparency rules for broadband providers, but not for edge providers.

The bill targets broadband service providers by reclassifying them as utilities under title II of the Communications Act, but we cannot achieve effective net neutrality principles without including the influence of edge providers on the internet ecosystem. For this reason, the amendment simply directs the Government Accountability Office to study the full internet ecosystem, that we can better understand the influence of all online entities in order to protect access to a free and open internet for every consumer.

Madam Chair, I reserve the balance of my time.

The Acting CHAIR. The Committee will rise informally.

The Speaker pro tempore (Ms. Bass) assumed the chair.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

A message from the Senate by Ms. Byrd, one of its clerks, announced that the Senate has passed without amendment a bill of the House of the following title:

H.R. 3030. An act to direct the Secretary of the Interior to execute and carry out agreements concerning Colorado River Drought Contingency Management and Operations, and for other purposes.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Committee will resume its sitting.

SAVE THE INTERNET ACT OF 2019

The Committee resumed its sitting.

Mr. MICHAEL F. DOYLE of Pennsylvania, Madam Chair, I claim the time in opposition to the amendment, even though I am not opposed to it.

The Acting CHAIR (Ms. KAPTUR). Without objection, the gentleman is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. MICHAEL F. DOYLE of Pennsylvania, Madam Chair, I yield myself as much time as I may consume.

The Save the Internet Act is narrowly focused on ISPs as the gatekeepers to the internet. They control their works, so they have the ability to shape and control traffic as it moves over their network.

Edge providers play a different role in the internet ecosystem and are not in the same class as internet service providers.

There are numerous cases of documented abuses by ISPs going back several years. I am sure that is a big part of why net neutrality has such overwhelming bipartisan support. Even 82 percent of Republicans oppose the FCC’s 2017 rollback of the rules.

Now, that is not to say that there are not problems on the edge—there are—but that is not what this bill is about.

So in the spirit of bipartisanship, we are going to accept this amendment.

We hear the concerns of Mr. BURGESS and our friends on the other side of the aisle, and we want to work together with them to address this.

We appreciate Mr. BURGESS’ willingness to work with us to find a compromise on this issue.

Mr. BURGESS. Madam Chair, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. WALDEN), the valuable ranking member of the full committee.

Mr. WALDEN. Madam Chair, I want to thank the gentleman from Texas (Mr. BURGESS) for his work on this amendment, and the Democrats for accepting his thoughtful approach.

Americans are more and more concerned about the role that tech companies play in this Information Age. You read about how content gets blocked, gets prioritized, or in some cases allegedly shadow banned.

We increasingly see these tech giants’ inability to curb harmful and illicit behavior online while they monetize our personal information.

Now, these are incredibly important platforms as well, they are great American companies, but in most cases, they come about as close to a monopoly as we’ve ever seen.

Meanwhile, these edge providers get special protection under section 230 of the 1996 Telecommunications Act and they are not covered by the net neutrality rules that we are discussing today. They are not covered at all.

This bill does nothing to protect consumers from online abuses.

When Republicans were in the majority, I personally presided over hearings with the most important tech companies in America. Mark Zuckerberg of Facebook and Jack Dorsey of Twitter came before our committee, sat inside the Rayburn hearing room, and talked to us for hours.

Our majority enacted landmark protections against online human sex trafficking that received the support of both sides of the aisle. We moved forward with that legislation. It is now law.

Just as the internet has not stopped working from rescinding the 2015 order, the internet has not stopped working because we enacted protections like FOSTA and SESTA. The internet still works.

But more improvements can be made in how we bring responsibility to this sector of the internet. We should review all participants in the virtuous cycle of the internet ecosystem, and that is the aim of this amendment.

The amendment calls on the Government Accountability Office to recommend solutions in dealing with edge providers, so they do not abuse their special privileges that the 1996 act gave them.

This is our third revision of the amendment to make it acceptable to move forward with the majority. I certainly had hoped we wouldn’t outsource this responsibility to the GAO over the FCC, not to mention the Energy and Commerce Committee and Congress, but I certainly believe we must make progress on this issue for the benefit of all American consumers and for the health of the overall internet ecosystem.

Mr. MICHAEL F. DOYLE of Pennsylvania. Madam Chair, we know the FCC does not have the authority to regulate the edge providers, and we know currently, since there are no net neutrality rules, the only recourse people have is to the FTC. Chairman Pai assured people that the FTC can fully police net neutrality.

Well, here is a nice article: “FTC gives Verizon right to block applications as long as they disclose it.”

So, there it is, ladies and gentlemen, these protections which you want to send over to the FTC, they have just now told the world that as long as they put it in their terms and conditions, they can block applications if they choose to do so.

The gentleman from Texas and the gentleman from Ohio, both good friends, bring up valid concerns about edge providers, but this isn’t the bill where it belongs. But we do want to work with them, and I look forward to engaging both of them and my good friend, the ranking member of the Communication and Technology Subcommittee, as we go forward to look into that part of the ecosystem.

Madam Chair, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. BURGESS. Madam Chair, again, this bill targets broadband service providers by reclassifying them as utilities under title II of the Communications Act, but we cannot achieve net neutrality principles without including the influence of edge providers on the internet ecosystem.

For this reason, the amendment simply directs the GAO to study the full ecosystem so that we can understand the influence of all online entities and, again, provide a free and open internet for every consumer.

Madam Chair, I certainly want to thank the chairman of the subcommittee and thank the ranking member of the full committee for participating in this amendment discussion.

Madam Chair, I urge an “aye” vote, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The Acting CHAIR. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Texas (Mr. BURGESS).

AMENDMENT NO. 2 OFFERED BY MR. LATTA

The Acting CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 2 printed in part A of House Report 116–37.

Mr. LATTA. Madam Chair, I have an amendment on the desk, No. 2.

The Acting CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Add at the end the following:

SEC. 4 REPORT.

Not later than 3 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Federal Communications Commission shall submit to the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation of the Senate a report that lists the 27 provisions of title II of the Communications Act of 1934 (47 U.S.C. 201 et seq.) and the over 700 rules and regulations referred to in paragraphs 5 and 37 of the Report and Order on Remand, Declaratory Ruling, and Order described in section 2(b)(1).

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 294, the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. LATTA) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Ohio.

Mr. LATTA. Madam Chair, I rise in support of my amendment that would require the Federal Communications Commission to provide a list of the 700 rules and regulations it claims it forbore from in the 2015 Open Internet Order.

This list will be provided to the Energy and Commerce Committee and the Senate Commerce Committee within 3 days of enactment of H.R. 1644.

The need for this amendment arises out of the majority’s claim that H.R. 1644 would lock in all provisions of law and regulations that the FCC forbore from applying to internet service providers in 2015.

At that time, the FCC claimed it forbore from applying over 700 regulations, but never made clear what 700 rules it was exempting ISPs from under title II.

For broadband providers to know what regulations actually apply to them, they need to know what provisions of law the FCC forbore from.

For the FCC to arrive at the number of over 700, it seems they must have analyzed the Code of Federal Regulations to determine which rules were applicable to broadband and which were not, but the FCC never made that list public.

We have asked the majority on multiple occasions for help tracking down that list. Instead of helping locate it, the majority has doubled down on the public statements made by the Obama FCC quantifying that number.

Now that H.R. 1644 might be passed by the House of Representatives, it is time to make it clear which rules of the road will not apply to broadband providers.

H.R. 1644 already imposes enough uncertainty on broadband providers, because it would give the FCC broad authority under title II to regulate the internet beyond even the bright-line rules.

If we cannot clear up that uncertainty before this bill gets passed, we should do all we can to let the public know what the bill does and what it would become law.

Unless we require the FCC to produce that list, we will never know what is in the bill.

We must do better for the American public and provide more transparency to support broadband employment, investment, and growth.

Madam Chair, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MICHAEL F. DOYLE of Pennsylvania. Madam Chair, I claim the time in opposition to the amendment, even though I am not opposed to it.

The Acting CHAIR. Without objection, the gentleman is recognized for 5 minutes.

There was no objection.

Mr. MICHAEL F. DOYLE of Pennsylvania. Madam Chair, the overwhelmingly popular Save the Internet Act would restore the commonsense and much loved net neutrality protections adopted by the FCC’s 2015 net neutrality order.

These protections were comprehensive in addressing bad behavior, but... targeted so as not to be overly burdensome. The agency made sure that dated and unnecessary provisions of the Communications Act and certain implementing regulations did not apply to broadband internet service. In fact, the 2015 order says that more than 700 regulations did not apply to broadband.

While the industry apparently didn’t need the FCC to tell them what wasn’t in the order, our Republican colleagues have raised a concern that more clarity is needed.

Madam Chair, I don’t remember the last time, however, that legislation was brought to the floor and concerns were raised about what the legislation didn’t do and where we asked for an enumerated list of provisions the legislation didn’t apply to.

That being said, I support greater clarity. The gentleman’s amendment would require the FCC to publish a list of all the provisions and regulations that were forborne by the 2015 order

Importantly, this wasn’t an issue at all when these net neutrality protections were in place for nearly 3 years, but our Republican colleagues have raised a concern, and in the spirit of bipartisanship, we will support this amendment.

Given that we are taking affirmative steps to address the concerns, we hope they will be persuaded to join us in supporting this immensely popular commonsense legislation.

Madam Chair, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LATTA. Madam Chair, I yield as much time as he may consume to the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. WALDEN), the Republican leader of the Energy and Commerce Committee.

Mr. WALDEN. Madam Chair, I want to thank Mr. LATTA for bringing this very thoughtful amendment to the House floor, and I want to thank my colleagues on the other side of the aisle who, I believe, agreed to accept it, if I heard that correctly.

The bill would codify the forbearance of 700 regulations into law, as you probably heard, Madam Chair. However, we just don’t know what those 700 provisions that are being forborne upon are.

We have repeatedly asked for that information in the subcommittee, in the full committee, and every step of the way.

Mr. LATTA. Madam Chair, I yield.

Mr. WALDEN. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. MICHAEL F. WALDEN of Pennsylvania. I yield to the gentleman from Oregon.

Mr. WALDEN. Madam Chair, I appreciate that from my good friend.

If it were that easy to get that list, why didn’t they get it for us from the Chairman of the FCC before we went through this process? We shouldn’t have to vote on the bill to find out what is in it.

Mr. MICHAEL F. WALDEN of Pennsylvania. Madam Chair, reclaiming my time, I was just amazed that he didn’t have the list already. That is his good friend over there, and I am sure a quick phone call on his point would have satisfied this curiosity he has.

Madam Chair, I am happy to entertain this. I intend to vote „yes” on this time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. LATTA. Madam Chair, I yield back the balance of my time.

The Acting CHAIR. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. LATTA).

AMENDMENT NO. 3 OFFERED BY MS. WATERS

The Acting CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 3 printed in part A of House Report 116–37.

Ms. WATERS. Madam Chair, I have an amendment at the desk.

The Acting CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

SEC. 4. GAO REPORT ON IMPORTANCE OF OPEN INTERNET RULES TO VULNERABLE COMMUNITIES.

(a) In General.—Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Comptroller General of the United States shall submit to Congress a report examining the importance of the open internet rules to vulnerable communities.

(b) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) OPEN INTERNET RULES.—The term „open internet rules” means the rules described in section 2(b).

(2) VULNERABLE COMMUNITIES.—The term „vulnerable communities” means—(A) ethnic and racial minorities;(B) socioeconomically disadvantaged groups; (C) rural populations; (D) individuals with disabilities; and (E) the elderly.

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 294, the gentlewoman from California (Ms. WATERS) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from California.

Ms. WATERS. Madam Chair, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Chair, I rise in strong support of H.R. 1644, the Save the Internet Act. The Save the Internet Act is a simple yet transparent piece of legislation that will restore the widely supported 2015 Open Internet Order rules and re-instate the consumer protections previously applied to industry by the Federal Communications Commission. I am proud to support the Save the Internet Act and thrilled to see Congress doing its job and protecting consumers once again.

Across the United States, more than 129 million people are limited to a single provider for broadband internet access. Of those 129 million Americans, about 50 million lack access to broadband internet access from a company that has violated network neutrality protections in the past and continues to undermine the policy today. This leaves over 177 million Americans, in primarily underserved communities, left without any market protection following the repeal of the 2015 Open Internet Order. The FCC’s repeal of the 2015 Open Internet Order harmed all internet users by diluting the broadband internet access that vulnerable people of color in underserved communities. This is unacceptable, and Congress must fulfill its duty to represent and protect Americans’ interests.

My amendment would call upon the Comptroller General and the Government Accountability Office to conduct a study on the importance of net neutrality and what access to the internet means to those in vulnerable communities. Specifically, it will examine the importance of net neutrality in the socioeconomic disadvantages, elderly, racial and ethnic minorities, and individuals from rural communities.

By requiring the study be conducted by the GAO, we can ensure that the data collected is transparent and free of political motivation. With this report, Congress will be able to decide for itself what the best course for it will be for the vulnerable consumer.

Over 80 percent of Americans support net neutrality and agree that an open internet uplifts the voices of people of color, rural communities, socioeconomically disadvantaged, the elderly, and disabled. It is no coincidence that all these constituencies have joined together, alongside millions of individual internet users. An open internet levels the playing field and gives all Americans a better shot at pursuing a better opportunity to achieve the American Dream.

Madam Chair, I urge all my colleagues to support gathering critical information to help us improve connectivity for our most vulnerable Americans and to vote in the affirmative for my amendment.

Madam Chair, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LATTA. Madam Chair, I rise in opposition to the amendment.

The Acting CHAIR. The gentleman from Ohio is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. LATTA. Madam Chair, I appreciate my colleague, the gentlewoman’s generous comments. I am here to encourage net neutrality and support the idea that every American should have the opportunity to connect.

The Save the Internet Act is a simple and critical net neutrality protections that we should all support. No blocking, no throttling, and no paid prioritization.

The FCC’s repeal of the 2015 Open Internet Order is necessary to hold on firm legal ground the net neutrality principles we should all support: no blocking, no throttling, and no paid prioritization.

While ensuring a free and open internet is of the utmost importance, so, too, is ensuring broadband internet access for all. In fact, according to the FCC’s 2018 Communications Marketplace Report, nearly one in four Americans lack access to broadband internet service at home.

As a proud Representative of one of the most rural congressional districts in the country, I cannot overstate what

AMENDMENT NO. 4 OFFERED BY MR. DELGADO

At the end of the bill insert the following:

SEC. 4. GAUD REPORT REQUIREMENTS ON BROADBAND.

(a) REPORT.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act the Comptroller General of the United States shall transmit to the Committees on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation of the Senate a report that addresses the benefits and harms of broadband internet access service being offered on a standalone basis (and not as part of a bundle with other services) by providers of broadband internet access service to consumers, particularly those living in rural areas.

(b) DEFINITION.—As used in subsection (a), the term ‘‘provider of broadband internet access’’ means a provider of broadband internet access, as such term is defined in section 8.2 of title 47, Code of Federal Regulations.

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 294, the gentleman from New York (Mr. DELGADO) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New York.

Mr. DELGADO. Madam Chair, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Ms. WATERS. Madam Chair, I yield my colleague, Chairman DOYLE, for his leadership on this bill.

The Save the Internet Act restores critical net neutrality protections that the FCC repealed last year. This legislation is necessary to hold on firm legal ground the net neutrality principles we should all support: no blocking, no throttling, and no paid prioritization.

While ensuring a free and open internet is of the utmost importance, so, too, is ensuring broadband internet access for all. In fact, according to the FCC’s 2018 Communications Marketplace Report, nearly one in four Americans lack access to broadband internet service at home.

As a proud Representative of one of the most rural congressional districts in the country, I cannot overstate what a huge problem this is. Individuals and small businesses in my district still lack access to stand-alone broadband internet because of high service costs, a lack of broadband infrastructure, and outdated and unreasonable bundling practices that require consumers to purchase a home phone service or a cable package as a condition for purchasing broadband internet service.

In today’s global economy, broadband shouldn’t come with any strings attached. That is why my amendment would give GAO 1 year to report to Congress on the benefits to consumers of making broadband internet service available to everyone on a standalone basis.

Additionally, it would include recommendations to Congress on ways to increase the availability of stand-alone broadband Internet service to consumers, particularly those living in rural areas.

Consumers increasingly don’t want to buy big cable bundles. They just want access to the internet. That is why I urge support for this amendment and for the underlying bill.

Madam Chair, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LATTA. Madam Chair, I rise in opposition to the amendment.

The Acting CHAIR. The gentleman from Ohio is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. LATTA. Madam Chair, I appreciate my colleague’s interest, the gentleman’s interest in stand-alone broadband. As he knows, this is a really important issue, especially in rural America, and one that the FCC has spent considerable time on, in fact, one that I have spent considerable time on as one of the co-chairs of the Rural Broadband Caucus.

So I do not oppose this amendment, but I want to observe here that this amendment will not do anything to relieve the smallest ISPs found in the most rural areas, from some of the worst excesses of this bill.

So I must say, I am disappointed that our friends in the majority refuse to give us a vote on my amendment, which would have included the language on small businesses that was passed unanimously by the House in the last two Congresses.

This amendment was exactly the same as the one that the Democrats have agreed to twice—to tie to the original 2015 order. It would have extended the exemption for small ISPs from the Obama FCC’s enhanced transparency rule for 5 years and expanded the exemption to include businesses with 250,000 subscribers or fewer.

In this amendment, we are simply protecting the consumers of small ISPs, but these enhanced disclosures placed an unnecessary regulatory burden on small businesses and distracted them from working to bring broadband internet access to rural parts of the country, especially those in rural America.

My colleagues in the majority seem supportive of the plight of the small, rural ISPs but could not support this amendment at subcommittee—even though they had voted to support it twice before. Instead, they asked us to find yet another bipartisan agreement on an issue that we have already spent hours negotiating and have already found common ground.

We held up our end of the bargain, even as we walked away from the deal that they agreed to twice before and proceeded to dig in on terms of the FCC’s 2015 order instead.

Although time has passed since the Small Business Broadband Deployment Act, H.R. 4596, passed the House unanimously in the 114th Congress with a vote of 411-0 and was reintroduced in the 115th Congress and passed on voice vote as H.R. 298, the need still exists to promote the continued deployment of broadband and prevent small ISPs from becoming burdened with additional requirements that make it more difficult to do what they are in business to do. In fact, basing in the past Congress and some of the statements on the floor today, I think it is safe to say there is bipartisan consensus on the need to support rural broadband for consumers.

As a reminder, my amendment would not have let small ISPs skirt transparency. Instead, they would follow the less onerous transparency rules adopted by the FCC in 2010. So consumers would still have access to the information needed to make informed decisions about their internet service, and ISPs could focus on providing service rather than cumbersome regulatory requirements.

I believe my friends across the aisle when they say they care about expanding broadband in rural America and closing the digital divide. Although, if they truly cared as much as they claim to, I would have expected my amendment to be made in order and to be adopted unanimously as it has been by the House in the past Congress and some of the state representatives on both sides of the aisle to support this amendment.

Madam Chair, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DELGADO. Madam Chair, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. Michael F. Doyle), chairman of the Subcommittee on Communications and Technology.

Mr. MICHAEL F. DOYLE of Pennsylvania. Madam Chair, thank you for the gentleman from New York (Mr. DELGADO), my friend and colleague.

You know, the FCC does need to do more to support the funding of stand-alone broadband, particularly for rural areas, and this amendment will help push them to do that.

The Save the Internet Act would restore many of the key authorities the FCC can use to fund rural broadband deployment in the future. It is really hard to understand how important that is for rural America, and this amendment would help us do even more. This amendment would simply require the GAO to study the benefits of stand-alone broadband plans and how we in Congress can increase the availability of these stand-alone plans in rural areas of the country where broadband is so hard to come by.

I support this amendment. It is a wonderful addition to a bill that would restore net neutrality to everyone across this country and help support rural broadband build-out as well.

Madam Chair, I look forward to working with the gentleman from New York.

Mr. LATTA. Madam Chair, we do not oppose the amendment, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DELGADO. Madam Chair, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Once again, I would like to thank Chairman Doyle for introducing this critical legislation and urge Members on both sides of the aisle to support this amendment.

Madam Chair, I yield back the balance of my time.

The Acting CHAIR. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from New York (Mr. DELGADO).

The question was taken; and the Acting Chair announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. MICHAEL F. DOYLE of Pennsylvania, Madam Chair, I demand a recorded vote.

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to clause 6 of rule XVIII, further proceedings on the amendment offered by the gentleman from New York will be postponed.

AMENDMENT NO. 5 OFFERED BY MS. PORTER

The Acting CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 5 printed in part A of House Report 116-37.

Ms. PORTER. Madam Chair, I have an amendment at the desk.

The Acting CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

SEC. 4. REPORT BY FCC ON ENFORCEMENT ACTIONS.

Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Federal Communications Commission shall submit to the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation of the Senate a report that describes all enforcement actions taken by the Commission under the rules described in section 2(b) since such date of enactment, including the amount of each fine imposed or settlement agreed to, the actions taken by the Commission to collect such fines and settlements, and the amounts of such fines and settlements collected.

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 294, the gentlewoman from California (Ms. Porter) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from California.

Ms. PORTER. Madam Chair, the Save the Internet Act of 2019 empowers the Federal Communications Commission, the FCC, to enforce net neutrality, protect consumers, and assist them with complaints against their Internet Service providers.
The FCC can fine internet service providers when they break the rules. However, simply issuing fines to a bad actor isn’t enough to change the behavior of those bad actors. Those fines need to be collected. Corporations that break the law must pay.

My amendment would require the FCC to report to Congress within 1 year on the number of enforcement actions it has taken against internet service providers that violate net neutrality. Importantly, that report must include both the fines imposed and the amounts collected.

The FCC must act as a cop on the beat when internet service providers misbehave, protecting consumers and keeping the internet free and open to all. When the FCC finds a bad actor, that fine should be paid by the company. If the FCC is not following through on protecting consumers, Congress should know so it can take oversight action, if necessary.

The FCC failing to collect fines is a real concern. Recently, The Wall Street Journal has highlighted the extent of the problem.

While the FCC has imposed record fines on robocallers—$208 million—it has collected less than $7,000 since 2015. That is 0.003 percent of the fines imposed. When everyday Americans get a parking ticket or a traffic violation, the government makes sure that they pay their fines. Corporations must be held accountable as well.

As we vote to restore a free and open internet, we should also vote to provide oversight of the agency tasked to protect consumers.

Madam Chair, I urge my colleagues to support my amendment, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LATTA. Madam Chair, I rise in opposition to the amendment.

The Acting CHAIR. The gentleman from Ohio is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. LATTA. Madam Chair, I agree with the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PORTER), my colleague, that FCC enforcement is important in any area that the agency regulates, and that is why we will not oppose this amendment.

That is also why we in the majority have asked, at several hearings, when we were going to have our first FCC oversight hearing this Congress. We are 4 months into this Congress, and the majority has yet to bring the FCC before the committee to answer questions relating to its past enforcement efforts on ISPs, the impact of this legislation, and other topics pending at the FCC.

This is an issue that could have gained more support if the FCC had given the appropriate timeframe before bringing the FCC before the committee rather than the topic being delegated to a report that does not pertain to the base bill.

This is also an issue that could have gained more support from bipartisan negotiations. All four Republican net neutrality bills would have the FCC oversee ISP practices and enforce net neutrality to keep a free and open internet.

There is more agreement here than the majority would have you believe. There is also a role for the FCC to have in overseeing net neutrality and maintaining a free and open internet, and there should be clear net neutrality rules on the books.

Where we disagree is on giving the FCC unchecked powers to regulate the internet and determine on its own what is just and reasonable. That is not net neutrality.

I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. PORTER. Madam Chair, I just want to clarify that this amendment doesn’t define the power that the FCC would have to regulate, but would merely make sure that, when it does take action, the companies are held accountable for the fines that are imposed.

I appreciate that my colleague from the other side of the aisle does not oppose the amendment.

Madam Chair, I yield 1 minute to my colleague from Pennsylvania (Mr. MICHAEL F. DOYLE).

Mr. MICHAEL F. DOYLE of Pennsylvania. Madam Chair, I thank the gentlewoman for yielding.

The amendment protections we are discussing today will only be a toothless tiger if the FCC is not taking action to investigate potential violations and taking enforcement action where it is warranted.

The great thing about this amendment is that the FCC will have to come back to us 1 year after the Save the Internet Act is adopted and tell us what kinds of investigations and enforcement actions they have undertaken.

It also shines a light on whether the FCC follows through with its enforcement actions. As we just heard, recently, it was reported that even though the FCC fined robocallers $208 million, it only collected $7,000.

Remind me not to use them as my collection agent.

Rules aren’t a deterrent unless there are real consequences. This amendment will help Congress determine if the FCC is truly doing its job and better facilitate the critical oversight role of this body.

I fully support this amendment, and I look forward to getting this report.

Ms. PORTER. Madam Chair, I yield back the balance of my time.

The Acting CHAIR. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PORTER).

The amendment was agreed to.

AMENDMENT NO. 6 OFFERED BY MS. WEXTON

The Acting CHAIR. It is now in order to consider amendment No. 6 printed in part A of House Report 116–37.

Ms. WEXTON. Madam Chair, I have an amendment at the desk.

The Acting CHAIR. The Clerk will designate the amendment.

The text of the amendment is as follows:

Add at the end the following:

SEC. 4. PLAN RELATING TO FORM 477 DATA COLLECTION.

Not later than 30 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Federal Communications Commission shall submit to Congress a report containing a plan for how the Commission will evaluate and address problems with the collection on Form 477 of data regarding the deployment of broadband Internet access service (as defined in section 8.2 of title 47, Code of Federal Regulations).

The Acting CHAIR. Pursuant to House Resolution 294, the gentlewoman from Virginia (Ms. WEXTON) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Virginia.

Ms. WEXTON. Madam Chair, I rise in support of this amendment, which would require the FCC to submit to Congress a plan for how the Commission will evaluate and address problems with the collection on form 477 of data regarding the deployment of broadband internet access service.

Having better data and the creation of improved maps is essential to ensuring that service providers and government have the tools that we need to truly make universal broadband internet access a reality.

Too many residents of my district, and many other districts as well, lack affordable or any broadband internet access. This untenable situation is only made worse by maps and data charts that don’t accurately reflect this experience of our constituents on the ground.

Consumers should not bear the responsibility or burden of reporting on an issue that the FCC and service providers should actively be working to address.

Madam Chair, I reserve the balance of my time.
The question was taken; and the Acting Chair announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. MICHAEL F. DOYLE of Pennsylvania, Madam Chair, I demand a recorded vote.

The Acting Chair. Pursuant to clause of rule XVIII, further proceedings on the amendment offered by the gentlewoman from Virginia will be postponed.

Mr. MICHAEL F. DOYLE of Pennsylvania, Madam Chair, I move that the Committee do now rise.

The motion was agreed to. Accordingly, the Committee rose; and the Speaker pro tempore (Ms. WEXTON) having assumed the chair, Ms. KAPTUR, Acting Chair of the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, reported that that Committee, having had under consideration the bill (H.R. 1644) to restore the open internet order of the Federal Communications Commission, had come to no resolution thereon.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. MICHAEL F. DOYLE of Pennsylvania. Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and add extraneous material on H.R. 1644.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Pennsylvania?

There was no objection.

COMMEMORATING NATIONAL CENTER FOR MISSING AND Exploited CHILDREN’S 35TH ANNIVERSARY

(Mr. COMER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. COMER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to celebrate the 35th anniversary of the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children.

For more than three decades, this organization has assisted families in their times of greatest need and unimaginable pain, and it has assisted law enforcement agencies with the recovery of more than 290,000 missing children.

Although the Walsh family was the victim of child abduction with a tragic ending, their story inspired others and began a movement to create a coordinated national response to assist families like themselves.

The resulting organization has dutifully carried out their mission of finding missing children, reducing child sexual exploitation, and preventing future victimization. They achieved these goals not only by assisting families during and after their traumatic experiences but by providing technical assistance and resources to law enforcement and healthcare professionals.

I am proud that two vital pieces of legislation became law during the last Congress, the CyberTipline Modernization Act of 2018 and the Missing Children’s Assistance Act of 2018, both of which strengthened and modernized programs essential to supporting the center’s operations.

I join with the staff, partners, and past and future beneficiaries of the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children in celebrating their 35th anniversary.

HONORING JOE BRAMAN

(Mr. CLOUD asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. CLOUD. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Joe Braman, a Refugio rancher who is recognized internationally for his commitment to protecting endangered animals from poachers, as well as aiding law enforcement officers in protecting our border.

Thanks to meticulous training, Mr. Braman’s free-running pack dogs assisted with protecting South Africa’s endangered black and white rhinos, ultimately leading to the arrest of 27 poachers and the beginning of the recovery of the species.

His dogs can track human scent several hours old and take down hunters more than 20 miles away. They have proved immensely valuable in Texas as well. They have assisted local law enforcement in manhunts and border security.

Their 98 percent success rate with locating and capturing targets demonstrates their potential usefulness in future border security efforts.

Joe Braman’s unique and incredible ability to train dogs has made a positive difference, not just in Texas, but around the world, and I would like to extend to him our district’s appreciation for his excellent work and devotion to justice.

WISHING FIRST LIEUTENANT JAMES CLAYTON FLowers A HAPPY 103RD BIRTHDAY

(Ms. TORRES SMALL of New Mexico asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. TORRES SMALL. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor First Lieutenant James Clayton Flowers and wish him a very happy 103rd birthday.

Born on Christmas Day in 1915, Mr. Flowers has seen our great Nation through a century of progress, conflict, and change.

Enlisting in the United States Army Air Forces during World War II, Mr. Flowers was one of the few African American soldiers chosen to train as a Tuskegee Airman.

After World War II, Mr. Flowers started a family with his wife, Evelyn Flowers, and began teaching for New York City public schools, where he was a leader in the United Federation of Teachers.

When he and his wife retired, they found their new home in southern New Mexico. Even in retirement, Mr. Flowers continued to work for the betterment of his community. Leading by example, he taught future generations to serve their communities by building houses with Habitat for Humanity. He also invested in the local chapters of the NAACP and the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity.

Madam Speaker, please join me today in thanking First Lieutenant James Clayton Flowers for his service to our Nation and wishing him a happy 103rd birthday.

HONORING SERGEANT DOMINICK PILLA

(Mr. VAN DREW asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise his remarks.)

Mr. VAN DREW. Madam Speaker, I am here today to honor an outstanding member of south Jersey.

Recently in Vineland, New Jersey, we celebrated the naming of Sergeant Dominick Pilla Middle School. Sergeant Pilla was a brave soul who loved this country enough to enlist in the Army to serve to protect it.

Tragically, he was killed while saving a fellow soldier in Somalia during the Battle of Mogadishu in 1993 and was posthumously awarded the Bronze Star and the Purple Heart.

The naming of this school is to honor Sergeant Pilla’s love and sacrifice for... his country. Now he will be remembered by every student who walks through those halls. He will be honored by these students as they grow and learn to dedicate themselves to do what they do and love the way that Sergeant Pilla did.

I thank Sergeant Dominick Pilla for his service.

To all of the men and all of the women in the Armed Forces who serve our country so bravely and so selflessly, may God bless them.

CALLING FOR VOTE ON DISASTER FUNDING

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Ms. TORRES SMALL of New Mexico). Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 3, 2019, the gentleman from Florida (Mr. DUNN) is recognized for 60 minutes as the designee of the minority leader.

Mr. DUNN. Madam Speaker, today, I join my colleagues in calling for an immediate vote on disaster funding.

In 2018 and so far in 2019, we have witnessed devastating disasters with hurricanes hitting Florida, Georgia, Alabama, and the Carolinas; wildfires in California; flooding in the Midwest; an earthquake in Alaska; and several other widespread weather events that have harmed communities across our country and our territories.

The people in our districts and States need our help, and it is our duty to fight for them.

I thank my colleagues for joining me today, and I yield to the gentlewoman from Alabama (Mrs. ROBY), whose district adjoins my district.

Mrs. ROBY. Madam Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Florida for leading this very important conversation here tonight, and I thank all my colleagues from our neighboring States and across this country for keeping this issue in the forefront of the American people's minds.

Over the last several months, Americans in many corners of this country have experienced a devastating loss of life, property, and livelihood because of wildfires, flooding, and severe storms. I am here tonight to express my strong support for the many Alabamians, both in the Second District and in neighboring Lee County, who have been badly impacted by severe weather.

Last October, areas of the Wiregrass region in Alabama’s Second Congressional District were ravaged when Hurricane Michael made landfall. Barbour, Dale, Henry, Geneva, and Houston Counties were the most severely impacted.

Throughout the Southeast, people lost their loved ones and their homes, and our farmers were dealt a devastating blow during the middle of harvest.

This unprecedented disaster resulted in a tremendous economic setback for our agriculture community and our State. Last month, our neighbors in Lee County faced extreme devastation when tornadoes touched down. Many were killed, and many homes were lost and destroyed.

Madam Speaker, we are here tonight because the people need help. In Congress, it is our responsibility to make disaster recovery funds available now. I implore my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to stop playing political games with disaster funding. By politicizing this humanitarian issue, we are playing politics with people’s lives.

We must immediately advance commonsense, nonpartisan disaster assistance for the people who have been hit hardest and are struggling to recover. I am hopeful that alongside my colleagues on both sides of the aisle that a solution will be reached soon. Many Alabamians—many Americans—are depending on it.

Madam Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Florida for leading this discussion.

Mr. DUNN. Madam Speaker, I wish to express my gratitude to MARTHA ROBY for her speech and for her sentiments on her people in Alabama.

Next, I yield to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. AUSTIN SCOTT), who is my good friend and who has been one of the champions for the disaster supplemental. He has worked tirelessly for the last 7 months to advance this effort.

Mr. AUSTIN SCOTT of Georgia. Madam Speaker, I want to thank my colleague, Mr. DUNN, for leading this effort. I know his district was hit probably harder than any other district in the United States.

Madam Speaker, I rise today alongside many of my fellow colleagues to again stress the hardships many of our fellow Americans faced following these devastating natural disasters of 2018.

On October 10, 2018, Hurricane Michael entered my home State of Georgia as a Category 3 storm. With it, we saw widespread damage from dangerous winds, flooding, and torrential rains. Hurricane Michael traced a path of destruction through south and middle Georgia, straddling both mine and Congressman SANFORD BISHOP’s districts.

Our districts are largely rural areas that have also been hit hard by tornadoes and flooding in recent years. These areas are key to the State’s agriculture sector, which is Georgia’s number one industry.

Madam Speaker, the American farmer is the backbone of agriculture, and agriculture is Georgia’s number one industry.

Fearing the worst of this storm, many farmers began harvesting what they could as Hurricane Michael crept closer and closer to Georgia. It was the best yield we had seen in years for what was gathered before the storm hit. After years of low commodity prices, unfair trade practices, labor shortages, and consecutive years of devastating storms, we needed it. Once Hurricane Michael hit, it was all gone. Not only did we lose billions of dollars in commodity crops, like cotton and peanuts, but we also lost orchards and forests that will take decades to regrow.

The day after the storm, I have worked side by side with my friend and colleague, Congressman BISHOP, in an effort to bring our communities impacted by Hurricane Michael tools they need to recover and rebuild. At every turn, we have worked together bringing attention to the crisis and to bring relief to these farmers alongside our other colleagues who have been impacted.

The President and Vice President personally came down and promised help. I was there. For months, we have stressed the magnitude of the damage to our colleagues, and for months we were promised this was a priority for the White House and congressional leadership, from both sides of the aisle.

“Any bill to fund the Government has disaster relief.” I don’t know how many times I have heard it. I can’t name all the people I have heard it from. As we stand here today, 6 months later, these can only be called empty promises.

Never before have we seen American communities that were wrecked with catastrophes neglected like this. To this day, OMB has not even submitted a request for disaster assistance, calls to White House staff have gone unheeded, and but for one tweet on April 1, it seems the President has moved on.

For months I have received calls from farmers and the lenders they rely on that the financial impacts from Hurricane Michael were becoming increasingly more difficult to bear. Then last week, the Senate showed how truly ugly and partisan politics have become, voting down a measure that would have brought billions in Federal relief that communities in my home State of Georgia and around the country desperately need back on their feet again, money to restore infrastructure and restore services, as well as farm aid.

Certainly, no one would have stood in the way of disaster relief for States like Vermont or New York. Rural Americans, we have been forgotten. We were forgotten again last week in the Senate’s failure to pass disaster assistance.

Rural Americans are Americans, too, whether the press likes it or not, and whether certain Members of the Senate like it or not. They need our help to rebuild. If the Senate cannot pass a bill to provide this Federal disaster assistance, the bottom line is farm bankruptcies will continue, and I fear that the community banks and businesses that support the farm sector will too.

The truth is if Hurricane Michael had hit Americans who aren’t farmers or farmers who aren’t Americans, the stories of Washington’s apathy to get things done would be the front page of every paper.
Mr. Speaker, the American farmers work day in and day out to feed and clothe America and the world. I urge the White House and the Congress to reverse their course of abandoning our farmers and keep the promises that were made at the inauguration.

Mr. DUNN. Madam Speaker, I thank my good friend, AUSTIN SCOTT, for his words. He has truly been at the forefront on the fight for this disaster supplemental since day one.

Madam Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Omaha, Nebraska, (Mr. BACON). General DON BACON is my good friend and classmate.

Mr. BACON. Madam Speaker, I rise today to advocate in support of a disaster assistance package for recent floods, storms, fires, and others. Last month, my district and home State of Nebraska was hit by devastating flooding, destroying more than 2,000 homes, $340 billion in livestock, $440 million worth of property.

These heroes selflessly saved countless lives and property. These brave men and women who, in the midst of the floods, worked day and night to rescue nearly 200 people as volunteers, often rushing out to help others.

Fires and floods have impacted so many in our community. In March, my district and home State of Nebraska was hit by devastation.

I cannot thank these brave men and women enough for helping us get through these difficult times.

The Nebraska Board of Agriculture estimates that the March floods will have $400 million in losses for livestock and $340 billion in livestock feed loss, and $440 million worth of potential crop loss from delayed and prevented planting. Nebraskans are a strong and resilient people, but they need to know that we are with them and will help them through these difficult times.

While Nebraska has been experiencing these horrible floods, I take solace in our first responders and National Guard. I cannot thank these brave men and women enough for helping so many in our community. In many small communities across Nebraska, first responders are only volunteers, often rushing out to help others while their own homes were in peril.

These brave men and women saved countless lives and property.

I want to give a shout-out to the Waterloo Fire Department volunteers; they rescued nearly 200 people as volunteers over the course of a week. I think of the Salvation Army leader who ran the collection center, working countless hours while his own home was underwater.

In these trying times, I urge my colleagues to put politics aside and come together to help Nebraskans and other Americans hurting from these natural disasters that have occurred over the past year. We are Nebraska strong. We do need that Federal support.

Mr. DUNN. Madam Speaker, I thank General BACON for his words.

Madam Speaker, from Nebraska we have a true leader of the House and a good friend.

Mr. DUNN. Madam Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. FORTENBERRY).

Mr. FORTENBERRY. Madam Speaker, I thank Dr. DUNN for hosting this very important discussion. As we have visited on several different occasions, I want to publicly commend the gentleman for his dedication for fighting for the right thing to do, for his deep compassion for the people he represents and the tireless effort that he is making to explain the consequences of Hurricane Michael as it hit him, the floods that have hit us, and the wildfires that have hit others. I thank the gentleman so much for the time and for his leadership.

Madam Speaker, when spring approaches in Nebraska, we expect our rivers and streams to peacefully rise as snow from the nearby Rockies gently melts. Yet, we are the Cornhusker State, but we actually couldn’t be called the River State. Here is why: We have more miles of rivers than any other State in the Union. The Missouri, the Platte, the Republican, the Elkhorn, and the Niobrara — these are the famous rivers, but we really don’t think of them as threatening — until they are.

So as General BACON just said, this was the most destructive storm in most Nebraskans’ lifetimes. A perfect storm of factors caused the pain and destruction now all around us. Lands that were soaked from earlier autumn rains were frozen solid and then covered in snow. When the bomb cyclone’s lethal mixture of blizzard and rain hit our State, an enormous quantity of water, ice, and collected topsoil sped down the hard land like a furious slurry, into rivers, creeks, and reservoirs bursting through dams, levees, and other structures that normally would hold this back.

Madam Speaker, it is pretty hard to get the mind around what a 500-year event actually means. But as I was standing at the ridge on Offutt Air Force Base, which is located right south of Omaha near the confluence of the Platte and Missouri Rivers, I could see how the unprecedented force of water covered one-third of that entire base and many communities in eastern Nebraska. I witnessed firsthand hit the bank on the other side of the river, on the Iowa side, it blew it out and created a 62-foot deep hole.

As a member of the Appropriations Committee here in Congress, I turned to the commander of the Corps of Engineers who was with me.

I looked at him, and I said: What is the number?

He immediately shot back without hesitation and said: It is going to be a lot.

Now, a little bit down the road to the west is the town of Fremont. Mayor Scotty Getachman is a dedicated local who is in the heating and air-conditioning business and his main job. He brought out a 1940 map of the old river channel of the Platte River. The problem for this town of Fremont began when the river got a bit nostalgic and sought to go back to its old ways. In a place where now there is a ground zero near the Rod and Gun Club west of town, massive chunks of ice and the pressure of the Platte blew the levee. Water began to find its own channels in multiple breaches, and the southern part of the town of Fremont endured serious flooding.

We surveyed the damage from a freshly patched hole made from remnants of an old hog confinement lot and riprap from the old Scribner Air Base.

An initial call for help in the community brought 250 people out. Shortly thereafter, 1,000 people showed up to sandbag. One man moved his car to higher ground because he could see his house coming boiling out and it was later swept away by the raging river, and he spent the next few days at the intersection directing traffic as a volunteer.

Madam Speaker, a bit west of the town of Fremont is the small town of North Bend, and that is where a ditch dike could not contain itself and made its own channel, creating fingers of water flowing throughout the city, and the vast majority of homes in this small community were hit. The paved streets looked like mud streets by the time I got there, but even with 6 inches of water inside of it, the North Bend Eagle, the local newspaper, figured out a way to get that edition out.

Realizing that he was in a critical situation, the North Bend school superintendent transformed the entire school, really one of the newer buildings, into a center of gravity for emergency operations. Though school was canceled, it didn’t mean the kids weren’t busy. Initially they sandbagged, then they began to volunteer for days on end with the cleanup effort.

The people of North Bend organized themselves, and word spread. Goods poured in from all over the country. And as the superintendent told me, he said that what was happening there could make a good country song, they would have so much more appreciation for Nebraska.

Areas south of the town of Columbus, a little bit further to the west also were particularly hard hit with very large and mounting ag losses, the most visible sign of which were dead cattle. In fact, this past Saturday I went to a high school fundraiser in Columbus, and along Highway 81 the speed signs were still bent over green signs attached to them showing the magnitude and the volume of water that rushed over that area.
There is a truck stop there named T-Bone, Madam Speaker. It passes ersery with two enormous cowboy boots on poles embedded in concrete. One was found 300 yards away at Matulka’s garage. The other one was across the highway about a half mile away. They will probably be back in the passersby once again. By the time I got there, the 4 feet of mud and water had receded, and a lot had been cleaned up. I looked at Fred, and I said: How did this happen?

He said, At T-Bone’s, we don’t mess around. We are Nebraskans. We get it done.

On a more positive note, Madam Speaker, a Federal project initiated after the last flood of 2011 saved the little town of Schuyler, Nebraska, and a couple of other things positively have happened. Nebraska’s congressional delegation asked for expedited federal disaster assistance, and the President granted it.

☐ 1745

Even in the midst of this trauma, Nebraskans found a way to get a few laughs. Along the fence across from that truck stop of T-Bone’s, there was a hand-painted sign that said, Mud Wrestling Tomorrow.

Back at Offutt Air Force Base, it is a pretty jarring scene when you see a large fuel tank lifted up and turned on its side. It shows you the powerful force of this water.

As many of the Members of Congress who have experienced this have had the same outpouring of support from family and friends around the country, I want to tell you just a quick few things that have happened.

A nun from Rome wrote to me and offered her prayers. A Congressman from another area of the country texted me and said: ‘I’ll send my staff. Whatever you need.’ The Jordanian Ambassador to the United States contacted me with her concerns.

Madam Speaker, as you and I have seen firsthand, a natural disaster can create certain blessings in disguise. It is a time when we can come together and put aside any political differences and lend a helping hand to our fellow citizens.

I think that is exactly what America wants Congress to do right now: put our differences aside, find consensus, quickly pass supplemental aid, help our constituents, and others who have been so devastated by these unpredictable, unforeseen events. Many have waited and waited, and I think this is the time.

Mr. DUNN. Madam Speaker, I thank Representative FORBES for his compelling description of the damages that were suffered in Nebraska and also of the response of those brave people.

Madam Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. RIGGLEMAN). Representative RIGGLEMAN is my good friend and one of the most outstanding members of the new class here in Congress.

Mr. RIGGLEMAN. Madam Speaker, to my colleagues, I rise in support of them and the incredible work they have done for disaster relief, and I also rise today to speak about my district, the Fifth District of Virginia, which borders North Carolina, which was devastated by these hurricanes, first Florence and then Michael. The damage was immense, and the impact on families was tragic, including the loss of lives.

This is not an issue I take lightly. In fact, I pledged to make a donation to Drakes Branch Volunteer Fire Department in Charlotte County, which was an area the hurricanes hit particularly hard, actually, with the collapse of the volunteer fire station back into the river—and the fact is they had nowhere to actually do fire emergency work.

Applications for FEMA aid were filled in Charlotte County, Danville City, Franklin County, Halifax County, Lunenburg County, Mecklenburg County, and Prince Edward County. And many additional counties in my district were affected by these hurricanes.

Unfortunately, the effects were not limited to my district, and the lasting damage done by these storms lingers in the memories of all of us. Yes, these are rebuilding and recovering, but we cannot ignore the opportunity to prevent this from happening again.

There are other things we can do not only with disaster relief and supplemental aid, but on issues like I am in the Financial Services Committee by addressing issues in the National Flood Insurance Program. The NFIP is a necessary Federal backstop for flood insurance, but substantially increasing private participation will help Americans better prepare for potential future flood emergencies. I would also like to take this time to commend the great work done by so many emergency responders and volunteers who helped the communities of the Fifth District and throughout the other States and in my colleagues’ districts, helped them dig out and move forward after these hurricanes.

I have visited with many of these brave men and women who put themselves at risk to help their communities. I commend the strong folks who make up all of these communities, linked not only by hurricanes but by their ability to move on with great resilience.

Mr. DUNN. Madam Speaker, I thank Representative RIGGLEMAN for his words, and I know that his constituents are fortunate to have a man of his rare abilities serving them at all times. Madam Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from South Dakota (Mr. JOHNSON).

Representative DUSTY JOHNSON is another outstanding member of the freshman class.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Dakota. Madam Speaker. I am honored to be a part of this special order of Members, and I want to highlight the dire situation in my home State of South Dakota. Our State is just barely beginning to recover from dramatic flooding while, simultaneously, we are trying to prepare for the disaster to get worse as a blizzard this week will dump freezing rain and more than a foot of snow onto already saturated ground.

Many of my colleagues talk about similar and, in some cases, even more dramatic damage to their homes, and we have seen, in their States and in mine, commerce interrupted; we have seen livelihoods devastated; we have seen cattle killed, worse yet, we have seen human life lost.

Now, within South Dakota, there have been many impacted communities, although perhaps none more dramatically than Indian Country. When I have talked to President Bear Runner, Pine Ridge; President Borgeudo, Rosebud; or Chairman Frazier from Cheyenne River, their texts, their phone calls, their face-to-face meetings, they are heavy with the frustration and exhaustion of the Indians, the concern about what is going on for their people. Madam Speaker, put more appropriately, they are concerned for what is going on with our people.

Before I went back on the floor here, I came from a meeting with Chairman Harold Frazier, and he had picture after picture after picture, Madam Speaker, of the devastation there at Cheyenne River: cemeteries under water; roads under water, cattle under water, cars under water.

I know South Dakota is not the only community that is impacted. Many of us need a helping hand. Many of the States in our State are hard to ask for a helping hand, but tonight I would just ask my colleagues in this body and my colleagues in the Senate to do everything they can to put politics aside and to pass a disaster relief bill that can do much-needed work for our country.

Mr. DUNN. Madam Speaker, I thank Representative JOHNSON for his description, his words, and also for his granular knowledge of his district. I know that that is a benefit to everybody there.

Madam Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. RUTHERFORD). Sheriff JOHN RUTHERFORD is my good friend whose district of Jacksonville, Florida, abuts mine on the east side.

Mr. RUTHERFORD. Madam Speaker, I appreciate the gentleman yielding and giving me the opportunity to speak about this very important impacting our State and our constituents.

Madam Speaker, I rise today to strongly urge House and, particularly, Senate leadership to stop turning their backs on hurricane survivors in my home State of Florida and pass a disaster supplemental bill before Congress leaves for the next 2 weeks.

Last October, Hurricane Michael ravaged our State, hitting the panhandle with speeds of up to 155 miles an hour and killing 49 people. Six months later—6 months later—families, farmers, and businesses are still waiting for the assistance that they deserve.
Families lost homes, precious belongings, things that can never be replaced. Florida’s timber industry was decimated. The total timber damage is an estimated 2.8 million acres of timber that is now lying rotting on the ground.

This is, unquestionably, one of the worst storms to hit Florida in our long history.

But not only are Florida agriculture and other industries desperately awaiting our help; our national security is also being impacted. Tyndall Air Force Base, one of the Nation’s premier military installations, was completely demolished by this storm.

Since Congress has not passed emergency funding, the Air Force has been forced to move money from other accounts to help pay for the recovery. The Air Force is now facing even tougher choices, like limiting flying time and construction projects from other installations.

Madam Speaker, this is simply unacceptable. Maybe if the Senate Democrats would spend less time focused on running for President and more time doing the job that they were elected to do, folks back home would already have the disaster relief that they are due.

I voted, along with my House colleagues, to pass a supplemental back in December. In December, we passed that. The Senate Democrats have just obstructed that effort.

Entire small communities that were wiped away still have no assistance coming from the Federal Government. I hope the hardworking taxpayers of Florida remember this lack of concern when they go to the polls in 2020.

Our Senate is broken by a 60-vote cloture rule that has to be removed, and I hope the folks back home will remember this in November of 2020.

Mr. DUNN. Madam Speaker, I thank Mr. DUNN for his work, and I thank him deeply for his work for the work, not only in repairing the Oroville Dam spillway in order for the lake to be regulated safely and accurately for flood control as well as storing water that we need through the year.

Unfortunately, that is not the last disaster in northern California. We had two more on top of that: near Redding, California, what is known as the Carr fire—doing so much devastation on the west side there; then, ultimately, in November, 2 days after the election, in Paradise, California—we have all heard about that—a whole town basically has disappeared in that fire, in that configuration, destroying, again, thousands of homes and buildings, and dozens of people were lost in that.

The Camp fire and the areas around it—Concow, Magalia—they will be remembered for a long time. Thank you, Dr. DUNN for the work, not only in ripening this issue, but also in crafting disaster response legislation that would work for the people impacted by Hurricane Michael.

I also want to thank the gentleman from Georgia, AUSTIN SCOTT. Well before others were speaking out on this issue, Dr. DUNN and Mr. SCOTT were working very hard to ensure that the needs of our constituents were adequately represented.

Madam Speaker, disasters give us time to rise to the occasion as leaders in our community. They give us the chance to inspire people on their worst day, and to ensure that those who carry the disproportionate burden of challenge will be assisted and helped by their fellow countrymen and women in the United States of America.

Sadly, following Hurricane Michael, we have not, as a Congress, risen to the occasion, particularly in the Senate, where there is no movement now on legislation, before a two-week recess, to address the terrible tragedy of Hurricane Michael.

It is unfathomable to me that every other major storm that has hit our country, named, has received a disaster supplemental. And I guess the constituents that I serve, that Dr. DUNN, and Mr. SCOTT have wonder, What is it, what is so special about us? What is so different about the people of South Georgia, South Alabama, North Florida, that we would be left out?

Is it that Hurricane Michael blew at least five degrees off of land? No. Is it that it dumped less rain?

I guess it’s just that the people impacted by Michael are unique victims of a broken system in Washington that cares from disaster to disaster itself, rather than from the disasters impacting our constituents.

And, Madam Speaker, what is so deeply tragic about this is that as folks are trying to put their lives, and their schools, and their families, and their churches back together, we are moving into the summer lightning storm season in my community, and they are going to be victimized all over again, because they are realizing that there are substantial amounts of fuel on the ground in North Florida and South Georgia, and South Alabama, and with the first lightning storm that is going to ignite.

And so, as my Democrat colleagues, in a day or so, prepare for their retreat, my constituents prepare, not for a retreat, but for the advance of fires that will take their homes, their lives, their farms, their livelihoods, and their hope for a brighter future.

So I beg, I plead, I implore my colleagues, let’s look past the politics of this moment. Let’s realize that it could be any of our districts uniquely impacted by a storm, or a fire, or an earthquake, or some other terrible disaster. The tragedy on most days, when we wear our jerseys and suit up and compete against one another in the marketplace of ideas, let’s come together and empathize with them and to reach into the summer lightning storm season in my community, and they are going to be victimized all over again, because they are realizing that there are substantial amounts of fuel on the ground in North Florida and South Georgia, and South Alabama, and with the first lightning storm that is going to ignite.

And so, as my Democrat colleagues, in a day or so, prepare for their retreat, my constituents prepare, not for a retreat, but for the advance of fires that will take their homes, their lives, their farms, their livelihoods, and their hope for a brighter future.

So I beg, I plead, I implore my colleagues, let’s look past the politics of this moment. Let’s realize that it could be any of our districts uniquely impacted by a storm, or a fire, or an earthquake, or some other terrible disaster. The tragedy on most days, when we wear our jerseys and suit up and compete against one another in the marketplace of ideas, let’s come together as one team, as one country, and do right by those who are suffering from these terrible tragedies.

Again, I thank my colleague from Florida for yielding time, and I thank him for his leadership.

Mr. ROUZER. Madam Speaker, it is always a pleasure to introduce Representative GAETZ and hear his oratory. I thank him for his brilliant words.

Madam Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. ROUZER). Representative ROUZER is a friend. He has visited my home. I have visited his district. He truly knows what it is like to see other districts and empathize with them and to reach out; and I am deeply gratified to have him here speaking today.

Mr. ROUZER. Madam Speaker, I want to thank my colleague from Florida, Representative NEAL DUNN, who is not only a great colleague but a great friend.

Madam Speaker, it is not just Hurricane Matthew—pardon me, Hurricane Michael. In my district we had Hurricane Matthew in 2016—but it is also Hurricane Florence that devastated southeastern North Carolina and many other areas this past fall as well.

A lot of the previous speakers, colleagues who have come before me here today have talked about the need for disaster assistance, and they are exactly right. I want to complement what they have said, supplement what they have said, and paint a little bit of a broader picture here.

You have got to understand that agriculture, in particular, has faced 5 years of really, really low prices; so farmers, whether they are in North Carolina and have suffered from the flood of Hurricane Florence, or whether they are in Georgia, Florida, or Alabama, when else have suffered from Hurricane Michael, or the floods in Nebraska, for example, they have no equity left.

They have suffered 5 years of really, really low prices. We had a farm bill in place that, quite honestly, was not adequate in terms of the safety net that was in place and, as a result, they have no equity.

And I ask about this: Think about all those out there—and for those who are not involved in agriculture, think about it this way—assume that you have invested millions and millions and millions of dollars that are plowed, literally plowed into the ground, but then you are never able to produce a crop.

You have no equity left. You just took a loan out from the bank. You are highly leveraged because of 5 years of low commodity prices. You have taken that loan out. This is the one year that you had available to you to make up the difference, to begin to turn it around financially.

And lo and behold, you get hit by Hurricane Florence, totally flooded early September, no opportunity to harvest your crop, and you have none. That is the scenario. That is what is so many farm families all across Eastern North Carolina, all across the Southeast are facing today.

Meanwhile, you have got Members of the House and the Senate who care very deeply about their constituency, who have been working very, very hard to get an ag disaster package, and find it incredibly frustrating that here, in April, months after these storms have hit, we have made no progress. And there are a variety of reasons for that.

But the fact of the matter is, this Chamber and the Senate Chamber need to come together with the White House to get this ag disaster package done just as quickly as possible.

In North Carolina, agriculture is an $87 billion industry, the largest industry. That is what so many farm families all across the Southeast are facing today.

And let me make one final point. When these farm families are gone, when these farms are gone, they are not coming back; they are growing houses instead. They are not coming back.

This agriculture disaster package is so critically important. We have got to get it done. I thank the leadership and the spirit of my good friend from Florida, NEAL DUNN, and I really, really commend him and my other colleagues for putting forward the effort tonight to raise the bar to $902 billion. It is so critically important, not only for my home State of North Carolina, but for America.

Mr. DUNN. Madam Speaker, I thank Representative DAVID ROUZER for those words. It is a sad story that the gentleman told, but it is a story that needed to be heard and is one that is being lived out through many of our districts; the end of generations of farming in some families. It is a very sad story.

Madam Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. ALLEN), a good friend of mine from our class. He is a great Congressman. We have visited his district. And let me say that it has been a pleasure to work with him and his wife.

Mr. ALLEN. Madam Speaker, I thank Dr. DUNN for his work here this evening to bring attention to something that is not only on the great citizens in Florida, North Florida, but of course we heard about North Carolina, Nebraska; and, of course, we have been waiting since last October in Georgia.

You have heard about devastation from Hurricane Michael. It left a tremendous trail of destruction. It was a Category 3 storm that reached my district with winds over 100 miles per hour. We lost trees, power lines, crops, poultry houses, and much more.

While traveling the district, I was able to see firsthand the heart-wrenching wreckage that Hurricane Michael left behind, and it is still there to this day, nearly 6 months later.

Many of our farmers in my district are struggling to survive. I mean, we have seen on the harvest of the best harvest we were going to have in a long time. Gone.

In addition to Hurricane Michael, it is also important to highlight the need for the assistance we have been working to secure for our peach and peach producers in the State who still suffer from losses and damaged bushes and trees resulting from late season freezes.

And while I can say with confidence that I will always stand with rural America 100 percent.

I cannot stress enough that local farmers must obtain bank loans ahead of the upcoming planting season. So the urgency of getting a bill passed in both Chambers and sent to the President cannot be overstated. We do not have time for political games aimed at undermining our President.

Madam Speaker, agriculture is the number 1 industry in Georgia and in the 12th District of Georgia. I know this process has been more challenging than many of our farmers could have imagined, and I just want to reiterate that I will always stand with rural America 100 percent.

I will not stop working until the farmers of the 12th District of Georgia and across our great State get this disaster relief that they need and deserve.

I would like to thank Senators PERDUE and ISAKSON for leading the effort in the Senate, my colleagues AUSSIN SCOTT, SANFORD BISHOP, and NEAL DUNN, and others that you will hear from here tonight in the House, and all of my colleagues here this evening for... the commitment to getting this done. It cannot wait any longer.

Mr. DUNN. Madam Speaker, I wish to thank Representative ALLEN for his words and his support.

Next, I yield to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. BILIRAKIS), one of the most senior and experienced representatives in the delegation from Florida, a man who has been a personal mentor to me and a great model.

Mr. BILIRAKIS. Madam Speaker, I will yield the gentleman this: He has been a great model for me serving on the Energy and Commerce Committee. It is always good to go to the physician to hear firsthand what the patients need and want. So I thank the gentleman for healing his constituents over the years, and now serving them in the United States Congress.

Madam Speaker, I cannot stress enough the devastation that hurricanes over the last few years have inflicted not only on the State of Florida, but all over the country, as you can see, Georgia, North Carolina, Texas, what have you. And folks, we need to—come together. We need to come together and get this done for the American people.

The gentleman should be a no-brainer. We have waited too long for this to happen, and it needs to be a bipartisan bill out of the Senate. Get it on the floor of the House as soon as possible so we can help our constituents.

One example, in the city of Tarpon Springs alone, Hurricane Irma exacerbated shocking problems at its port. This puts at risk the livelihood of our marine and tourism business owners and impacts $250 million in yearly commerce a year.

A remedy known as the Anclote River Dredge Project was set to be funded under the previously-passed emergency supplemental bill. We were given assurances—I understand we have millions of dollars that need to be taken care of—but we need to take care of our constituents, and this is a good example.

And we did this right. We have county matching funds, State matching funds that are at risk right now. The city has put up money. We have got to get this project through.

The seafood industry is suffering. Again, commerce, the sponge industry is suffering because of the lack of dredging of this beautiful Anclote River.

Unfortunately, the sheer number of areas in need of repair from disasters force the already-allocated funding to be moved to other projects, and I understand that. But these projects are important as well. We need to ensure projects like Anclote are quickly and adequately fixed after a hurricane or other disaster; and, therefore, I support the immediate consideration of a disaster supplemental bill.

I thank my colleague, NEAL DUNN, for this Special Order. He is doing an outstanding job.

We have got to get this done quickly for our constituents.

Mr. DUNN. Madam Speaker, I thank Representative BILIRAKIS for his leadership and for the personal generosity of his time spent with me tonight. Madam Speaker, may I inquire how much time I have remaining?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Nebraska has 11 minutes remaining.

Mr. DUNN. Madam Speaker, next, I would like to introduce the third and final Representative from Nebraska, a good friend and a good friend of Nebraska, Thank you so much very much for being here.

Madam Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. SMITH).

Mr. SMITH of Nebraska. Madam Speaker, I thank Congressman DUNN for yielding. I appreciate his taking the initiative to bring folks together to discuss, understand, and seek to address the disasters across America.

Madam Speaker, representing one of the most rural districts in America, we have a lot of natural resources, among them, a lot of rivers, a lot of miles of river in Nebraska.

Not so long ago, conditions were such that the rivers flooded in the central and eastern part of Nebraska. In the west, a blizzard hit with the bomb cyclone, and it created massive damage. The chunks of ice flowing down rivers took out a dam, probably the first dam to break due to ice floes and the chunks of ice. It has been tragic. There has been loss of human life, certainly the loss of livestock.

The initial estimates are about $400 million in infrastructure damage and another roughly $1 billion in damage to crops and livestock.

I appreciate the fact that President Trump moved quickly on Governor Ricketts’ request for the disaster declaration.

We are working together among the Nebraska delegation, both Senators and all three House Members, to make sure that we articulate the needs of not only Nebraska farmers, but when you remove agriculture products, as is the case, ultimately, consumers will likely be impacted.

This is something we should always keep in mind because everyone needs to eat. When we lose the channels of supply for agriculture products, that is bound to increase the cost of food.

When you look at the storm, the bomb cyclone that hit, it probably couldn’t have happened at a worse time of year, right in the middle of calving season. It is a devastating condition here.

I do appreciate the fact that so many producers—I talked to one today. Instead of a 30-minute commute for a drive to work, they have to go 95 miles to get there. It is a matter of the bridge is out. When one bridge is out in rural Nebraska, that takes a few miles to make up for that.

I think we are resilient. Ag operators are resilient, so they are looking up. But we are concerned that, here in the next few weeks, in fact, there is another storm forecasted for later this week where folks are bracing for perhaps even more damage. Hopefully, we can get through this.

Again, I appreciate this opportunity to share what the needs are in Nebraska. I will be introducing legislation to extend number of State provisions often provided to disaster areas to cover this year’s disasters. I hope we can offer that support to disasters from last year as well, since we are discussing this evening multiple disasters from last year and this year.

Madam Speaker, again, I appreciate this opportunity.

Mr. DUNN. Madam Speaker, I thank Representative SMITH for his words. It speaks to the disaster, what happened in Nebraska, that all three Representatives showed up.

Madam Speaker, next, I would like to introduce and yield to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. Yoho), my good friend.

We share more in common than most Representatives. Because of the vagaries of redistricting, we ran in 2016 in the same 12 counties. He was a great support, a great example, and cleared the way for me. I want to say that I am deeply grateful for having Dr. TED Yoho here tonight.

Mr. YOHO. Madam Speaker, I want to compliment Dr. DUNN for doing an awesome job. His leadership on this is well noticed and well taken by the people of his district and all north central Florida, working together with the Georgia delegation and other States.

Florida is no stranger to hurricanes. The year before, we had Hurricane Irma that went through the whole State, bypassed the panhandle. In 2018, we had Michael that hit the panhandle virtually a Category 5. It was 2 miles short of Category 5.

The estimated impact for Hurricane Michael—in fact, it was so severe, before I get into the impact, we couldn’t gethold of Dr. DUNN, he was very concerned about that. We took a load, with the Gilchrist County Sheriff, to take supplies up there, looking for Dr. DUNN. We didn’t know if he had survived, because nobody had heard. So we are thankful that Dr. DUNN is here, and I know his constituents are.

The impact of this went from timber, cotton, cattle, peanuts, nursery, poultry, vegetables, other field crops, dairy, aquaculture, fruit crops, tree nuts, beekeepers, to mention a few. That is no structures.

The estimated cost just in the panhandle of Florida is $1.5 billion.

We heard these other States talking about agriculture as their largest economic driver in that State, their largest industry. Florida is the third largest State in the Union, with 22 million people. Agriculture is our second largest economic driver. It is a major component.

We look at the past—this is my fourth term in Congress—and I remember Hurricane Sandy came, hit the

Mr. DUNN. Madam Speaker, I thank Representative SMITH for his words. It speaks to the disaster, what happened in Nebraska, that all three Representatives showed up.

Madam Speaker, again, I appreciate this opportunity.

Mr. DUNN. Madam Speaker, I thank Representative SMITH for his words. It speaks to the disaster, what happened in Nebraska, that all three Representatives showed up.

Mr. YOHO. Madam Speaker, I want to compliment Dr. DUNN for doing an awesome job. His leadership on this is well noticed and well taken by the people of his district and all north central Florida, working together with the Georgia delegation and other States.

Florida is no stranger to hurricanes. The year before, we had Hurricane Irma that went through the whole State, bypassed the panhandle. In 2018, we had Michael that hit the panhandle virtually a Category 5. It was 2 miles short of Category 5.

The estimated impact for Hurricane Michael—in fact, it was so severe, before I get into the impact, we couldn’t gethold of Dr. DUNN, he was very concerned about that. We took a load, with the Gilchrist County Sheriff, to take supplies up there, looking for Dr. DUNN. We didn’t know if he had survived, because nobody had heard. So we are thankful that Dr. DUNN is here, and I know his constituents are.

The impact of this went from timber, cotton, cattle, peanuts, nursery, poultry, vegetables, other field crops, dairy, aquaculture, fruit crops, tree nuts, beekeepers, to mention a few. That is no structures.

The estimated cost just in the panhandle of Florida is $1.5 billion.

We heard these other States talking about agriculture as their largest economic driver in that State, their largest industry. Florida is the third largest State in the Union, with 22 million people. Agriculture is our second largest economic driver. It is a major component.

We look at the past—this is my fourth term in Congress—and I remember Hurricane Sandy came, hit the Northeast. Relief was put out. It was sent out.

This is something that we need to come together as Americans. We send billions of dollars in foreign aid around the world. It is time for us to look internally, fix our problems here, because the centers of those disasters, they accumulate. They don’t go away from one year to the next, and we are going into the next season, the next fire season. This is something we need to work now, to correct these things.

Madam Speaker, I appreciate the leadership of Dr. DUNN. Mr. DUNN, Madam Speaker, let me say that I am deeply indebted to Dr. Yoho. Our channel of communications went down after the storm in a way that America has never seen. We lost cellphones, landlines. We lost police radios. We were talking to each other by ham radios and runners.

When Dr. Yoho could not raise me or my office staff, he mounted a rescue operation, he answered with food and supplies and took care of the east end of my district. I will always be grateful to Dr. Yoho for that, and I thank him so much.

Madam Speaker, for my final guest, I would like to introduce the Representative from south Georgia, another good friend and a neighbor. We don’t quite abut districts, but we come pretty close. I spend a lot of time in his neighborhood. We don’t quite get along, but we come pretty much.

Madam Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. CARTER). Mr. CARTER of Georgia. Madam Speaker, I thank the gentleman foryielding.

Madam Speaker, I thank Dr. DUNN for the work that he has done, as well as my other colleagues, Representative AUSTIN SCOTT, Representative SANFORD BISHOP, and Representative MARTHA ROBY. All of these fine legislators have worked diligently on this, and I thank them for their efforts, as well as others.

Madam Speaker, I have the honor and the privilege of representing the First Congressional District of Georgia. The First Congressional District of Georgia includes the entire coast of Georgia, over 100 miles of coastline. We have a lot to be thankful for, a lot to be proud of. We have two major seaports and four military installations, Moody Air Base, Kings Bay Naval Base, Fort Stewart, and Hunter Army Airfield. We have the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center. We have two Coast Guard stations, one in Savannah and one in Brunswick.

We have so much to be thankful for, but we also have a very strong agriculture community, particularly in the western portion of our district. It is very, very important.

Madam Speaker, much of the State of Georgia is in need right now, and they can’t wait any longer.

In the First Congressional District of Georgia over the past few years, we have had hurricanes. We had Hurricane Matthew, Hurricane Irma, and Hurricane Michael. We have had fires. We had the West Mims Fire. We have had freezes and harsh freezing conditions that impacted our agriculture community.

These disasters have been detrimental to agriculture in Georgia. By the way, agriculture in Georgia is our largest industry. That is very important and very important for the First District.

In fact, just to be specific, blueberries, which are the leading fruit now in the State of Georgia, blueberries alone make up a $1 billion industry. That is “billion” with a B, a $1 billion industry. Those farmers are the backbones of their communities.

Blueberry farmers, in some areas, their crops make up 30 percent of the portfolios of banks. That is significant to these communities, and we simply cannot allow these farmers to continue going without this assistance.

The picture is similar for many of these farmers to repay their loans. It is putting them in jeopardy of not being able to farm next year and putting entire rural economies at risk. When you put 30 percent of your portfolio at risk, you are putting your community at risk.

Congressional inaction on this is absolutely unacceptable.

The Senate’s failure to pass disaster aid last week was one of the worst moments that I have experienced in Washington since I have come to Congress. These people need assistance, Madam Speaker. They need assistance. We need to help them. The American farmers feed the world. Georgia farmers are an integral part of this. Blueberries are an important crop in our district. Agriculture is the number one industry in Georgia.

It is time for us to respond to this. This is what we are to do as Members of Congress, not simply ignore this. It will not go away.

We need these farmers. They need our help, and we need to respond.

Madam Speaker, I encourage all my colleagues to support disaster aid.

Mr. DUNN. Madam Speaker, I thank my good friend, Representative CARVER, for his impassioned words. Obviously, he is echoing thoughts that we have heard from the other speakers.

Seldom has a Special Order been so well substantiated. How many people came to speak, so many people moved and hurt by the disaster.

It leaves me with very little time, but I want to say a couple things.

I want to reiterate that this is an unprecedented event for timber. Nobody has ever seen this much timber on the ground, 3 million acres of timber. Think about what that does to the foresters, the loggers, and the sawmills.

The military, we have lost an Air Force base, probably $4 billion to $6 billion worth of damage to that. We will rebuild it. We will rebuild it, and it will be great, but we need help from Congress to do that.

I have a Navy base in my district, $288 million in damage.

I have a Coast Guard base in my district that is particularly sad. They have a single building standing. They were victims of the storm; they were first responders to the storm. They were not paid by the Department of Homeland Security, for a month. It is shameful. These are fine people in the Coast Guard.

We have housing problems right now. Thirty percent of the homes in my house county is uninhabitable. Fifty percent of the commercial real estate is not usable.

We have special geography. We are 100 miles away from the next place where there is multifamily housing. We need housing on the ground in the affected areas.

Madam Speaker, I thank all the people who took time to come and tell our story, which is a sad story, and I urge the Congress to come to our rescue.

This picture, by the way, is not 6 months old. It is 2 weeks old.

Madam Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

2019 DEMOCRATIC FRESHMAN CLASS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker’s announced policy of January 3, 2019, the gentlewoman from Michigan (Ms. STEVENS) is recognized for 60 minutes as the designee of the majority leader.

GENERAL LEAVE

Ms. STEVENS. Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on the subject of my Special Order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from Michigan?

There was no objection.

Ms. STEVENS. Madam Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from California (Mr. GARAMENDI), my friend.

RECOGNIZING BRIGADIER GENERAL THOMAS E. KUNKEL

Mr. GARAMENDI. Madam Speaker, I thank the freshman class for giving me the opportunity to take a few seconds here.

Madam Speaker, I wish to recognize Brigadier General Thomas Kunkel upon his departure as Chief, Air Force Legislative Liaison to the U.S. House of Representatives.

In this role, General Kunkel managed the Air Force interaction with Members of Congress and their staffs in support of the Air Force programs and congressional oversight and travel.

He served as the Air Force’s senior advisor to the House for staff and congressional delegations, traveling to more than 20 countries, supporting leadership, Members, and committee offices.

Prior to his current position, he served as the 23rd Wing Commander, which operates A-10Cs, HC-130Js, HH-60Gs, and Guardian Angel pararescuemen at Moody Air Force Base, Georgia; Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, Arizona; and Nellis Air Force Base, Nevada; and oversight of Avon Park aerial Gunnery range, Florida.

General Kunkel received his commission in 1994 from the University of Texas, Arlington. He has served in the Air Force Special Operations and the Combat Air Forces as an HH-60G special operations and rescue pilot, flight examiner, and weapons officer. He has deployed in support of operations Allied Force, Enduring Freedom-Philippines, Enduring Freedom, and Iraq Freedom. During his time serving in operation Allied Force, then Captain Kunkel was the pilot in command who rescued the now Chief of Staff of the Air Force, General David Goldfein, whose aircraft had been downed by an enemy surface-to-air missile in Serbia. General Kunkel has also served as commander of the Air Staff as Program Element Monitor for helicopter sustainment and acquisitions.

He is married to Jennifer and has three children—Avery, Noah, and Griff—who have supported him and his career.

Madam Speaker, on behalf of the U.S. Congress and a grateful Nation, I extend our deepest appreciation to Brigadier General Thomas E. Kunkel for his dedicated service to the U.S. House of Representatives and to our Nation. We wish him well as he moves on to his next role at the National Military Command Center at the Pentagon.

There is no question that the Air Force, the Department of Defense, the United States, and all of us have benefited greatly from his service.

Ms. STEVENS. Madam Speaker, we are here today to recognize the accomplishments of the freshman class of the 116th Congress. As we approach the 100th day since we were sworn into office, history is before us. Congress is 230 years old.

As co-president of the freshman class, alongside my colleague, Representative COLLIN ALLRED of Texas, we ring with a dutiful pride, deeply humbled by this opportunity to serve in a legislative session that will mark the conclusion of a decade and the beginning of another. We take stock of new beginnings, of another. We take stock of new accomplishments of the freshman class of the 116th Congress, the House of Representatives strong, from every corner of the Nation, representing more people into the middle class.

We have held hearings, long overdue, on climate change and outrageous prescription drug prices, on Government oversight on human rights abuses at our border, and we have led on matters of safety and security.

Representative OCAÑO-CORTÉZ of New York is the youngest woman to ever serve in the House, and Representative FINKENAUER of Iowa is the second youngest. Representative VAN DREW of New Jersey is a dentist. Representative SCHIRR of Washington is a pediatrician. Representative UNDERWOOD of Illinois is a nurse.

Representative HAYES of Connecticut was the Teacher of the Year, and Representative SHAH-LAQUA of Florida, the longest serving health and human services secretary in history. Representative MUCARSEL-POWELL, also of Florida, is the first South American immigrant Member of Congress.

This freshman class brings its brilliant diversity, experience, and unity, a broad array of skills and life experience, to the Halls of Congress, generating a commitment to address legacy issues and usher in opportunities for the common good, the general welfare for all American people.

President Lincoln’s words bear down on us. He, who was once a Member of this very body, said: "Fellow citizens, we cannot escape history. We of this Congress and this administration, will be remembered in spite of ourselves. No personal significance, or insignificance, can spare one or another of us. The fiery trial through which we pass, will light us down, in honor or dishonor, to the latest generation."

The issues of today are complex, enormous, and often frustrating, but we do not bemoan. We bring a commitment to serve, to problem solve, and create opportunity. We are reminded that this very body saw us through western expansion to become a land of sea to shining sea, through pain, by the way. And we did reconstruction following a brutal Civil War.

And now, in the year 2019, in the first 100 days of the 116th Congress, we have been hard at work. We have passed the For the People Act, a historic bill to clean up corruption and restore ethics in Washington, putting voters at the center of elections. We passed the Paycheck Fairness Act, to finally fulfill gender economic equality in the workplace and bring more people into the middle class.

We embarked on our first 2019 Manufacturing Mondays. We passed multiple townhalls, coffee hours, and Manufacturing Mondays.

We truly do represent our Nation’s slogan of E pluribus unum—out of diversity, experience, and unity, a broad array of skills and life experience, to the Halls of Congress, generating a commitment to address legacy issues and usher in opportunities for the common good, the general welfare for all American people.

We, the people, for the people, a Congress and this administration, will be remembered in spite of ourselves. No personal significance, or insignificance, can spare one or another of us. The fiery trial through which we pass, will light us down, in honor or dishonor, to the latest generation. The issues of today are complex, enormous, and often frustrating, but we do not bemoan. We are evaluating all the ways to meet our country’s infrastructure needs. We, the people, for the people, a Congress and this administration, will be remembered in spite of ourselves. many, one. And though we have much more work to do as the end of our first 100 days approaches, we have made real progress in fulfilling our efforts to make the lives of ordinary Americans a little bit better.

As freshman class co-president, I can tell you that this class came here with a mandate to end the sabotage of Americans’ healthcare and to work to lower costs. I was proud to lead the effort, on our very first day in Congress, as we placed the United States House back on the side of the people by enacting the Affordable Care Act in court and with it its protections for people with preexisting conditions.

This resolution, that I was proud to lead, passed with bipartisan support, sending a strong message that the United States House will not stand idly by while this administration tries to take us back to the bad old days when people were denied care because they had a preexisting condition or ran into lifetime exclusion coverage.

We have also introduced bold legislation that will stop the sabotage, stabilize healthcare markets, and lower costs for regular folks, that I hope will pass with bipartisan support. After all, that is what the American people want us to do, to work together.

We have also passed commonsense gun safety measures that will keep our communities safe by closing loopholes in the background check system.

We passed the Paycheck Fairness Act, which helps guarantee that, no matter who you are, everyone gets equal pay for equal work.

Passage of H.R. 1, the For the People Act, is the largest, most sweeping election reform and campaign finance reform bill to pass the House in our Nation’s history.

It also significantly protects access to the ballot box for every American; it will shed light on the corrupting influence of dark money in our campaign finance system; and, finally, it will return the voices of working-class Americans to our democracy. And the best part: election day would be a holiday.

We are keeping our promise to women as well. With the introduction of the Paycheck Fairness Act, we are finally providing explicit protections to the LGBTQ community, finally making them equal under the eyes of the law.

family, friends, and colleagues, will be able to continue working hard in their communities and contributing to our economy—nearly $50 billion a year, by the way—without fear of being separated from their families.

Unfortunately, during our 100 days, the Trump administration’s top priority has proven not to be for the people. The administration’s recent budget proposal included deep cuts to Medicare, Medicaid, and the SNAP assistance program, all of this to pay for the radical GOP tax cuts which they have made on the backs of working people, veterans, and seniors.

After the eventual passage of the bipartisan budget without funding for a border wall, this administration decided to create a completely avoidable but devastating government shutdown. The 26-day shutdown cost families real money and opportunity, maybe more than 800,000 workers without a paycheck during that time.

Since then, we have seen an illegal national emergency declaration that seeks to take funding from vital national security needs to build the President’s border wall.

We are also now hearing threats of another government shutdown this time shutting down the border completely. This is wrong and downright reckless. Trade through our southern border accounts for $1.7 billion per day and would hurt our Texas economy.

And, finally, the Trump administration is trying once again to take our healthcare system, this time through the courts. This move could leave up to 53 million non-elderly Americans with preexisting conditions without access to healthcare—320,000 in my district. This is cruel; it is immoral; and it is just plain wrong.

It should be clear that our work is not done.

I am proud to be a Member of the majority for the people to defend our democracy, protect access to quality, affordable healthcare, and do so with justice and decency.

Madam Speaker, we have accomplished so much in these first 100 days, but we must make sure that the American people know that we are resoundingly focused on real solutions that will actually keep our border safe, help our businesses, and uphold our American values.

Ms. STEVENS, Madam Speaker. I yield to the gentlewoman from Pennsylvania (Ms. WILD), my friend.

Ms. WILD. Madam Speaker, I am so proud to rise today as part of this wonderful, diverse, strong, and vibrant freshman class.

As we mark the 100 first days of the 116th Congress, it has been a busy time, to say the least. In our first days of this 116th Congress, I have met with more than 150 constituents. I have held five townhalls and question-and-answer events, visited 17 local businesses and 10 local schools.

I have met with educators and labor leaders, health workers, business leaders, manufacturers, students, and senior citizens.

I have heard the same messages from constituents of all backgrounds throughout Pennsylvania’s Seventh District:

- Build an economy that delivers for working and middle-class people;
- Protect benefits like Medicare and Social Security that we have earned;
- Defend the rights and dignity of all people;
- Work across the aisle on urgent priorities, like protecting our communities from gun violence, combating the opioid epidemic, and protecting the environment;
- Fight to ensure that the next generation doesn’t have a lower standard of living than its parents.

These messages have driven and shaped my work, particularly as a Member of the Education and Labor Committee, where we have been working on legislation to raise the minimum wage, make workplaces safer for working Pennsylvanians and all Americans, help students saddled with student loan debt, and make higher education more inclusive and affordable.

I am so proud of everything we are doing in the Education and Labor Committee to build an economy and education system that lifts all workers, all students, all Pennsylvanians, and all Americans. I am also proud that I am keeping my promises to my constituents.

My promise to work to improve our healthcare system, lower healthcare costs, and protect people with preexisting conditions led me to introduce my own bill as part of a larger effort to improve the Affordable Care Act—the Family Health Care Affordability Act to fix the ACA family glitch, an issue that has prevented some workers from being able to extend their employer-provided insurance to their families.

My bill is a small fix to a big problem for many working families. I also comfort my constituents that I would work to reform our government, reduce the influence of money in politics, and ensure that every American has a voice in our democracy. We kept that commitment when we passed H.R. 1, a landmark government reform package that included my bill to enact early voting across the country. In Pennsylvania, we don’t have early voting, and that hurts working and lower income people who often have less time and flexibility to get to the polls.

This has been a productive 100 days, but people in my community and across the country are counting on us to do so much more. They are also counting on the Senate and the White House to do their part so that the legislation we are passing gets signed into law.

In these next 100 days, I will continue working to bring about a more just, more equal future across our communities and contributing to our economy—nearly $50 billion a year, by the way—without fear of being separated from their families.

I came to Congress on a mission to raise the standard of living for working people, and the Democratic majority has delivered on that promise in several ways already, from passing legislation to reduce the price of prescription drugs, to guaranteeing women get equal pay for equal work.
I commend my colleagues in the majority and the leadership of our Caucus for their hard work, fearlessness, and dedication that has gotten us this far, and we have only just begun.

I yield back to my sister Michel-gander, the gentlewoman from Rochester Hills, Ms. STEVENS.

Ms. STEVENS. Madam Speaker, I thank the gentleman, and I yield to the gentlewoman from Oklahoma (Ms. KENDRA S. HORN), my dear friend.

Ms. KENDRA S. HORN of Oklahoma. Madam Speaker, I thank Congresswoman STEVENS for yielding to me.

I am honored to rise this evening to talk about our accomplishments in the first 100 days. As a Representative of Oklahoma and Arkansas's Fifth Congressional District, I talked to people all across my district about what is important to them, about what is paramount, and above and beyond everything else, the thing I heard from people across my district is that people need us. That is exactly what we have done in this first 100 days.

From day one, I have said and will continue to say and advocate for the people of Oklahoma in the Fifth Congressional District that their voice is number one.

Throughout this time, we have prioritized commonsense solutions for the people of Oklahoma, legislation and actions that help to improve the lives of individuals. I have shown that with the time I have spent back in my district talking to and listening to the people there.

In order to hear from as many people as possible, we have held eight public events, or townhalls, ranging from coffee meetings to large townhall gatherings. From Seminole to Oklahoma City, from Oklahoma City Community College to diners, in both Oklahoma and Washington, D.C., I have met with more than 2,300 Oklahomans over the course of the first 100 meetings.

In response to inquiries from folks back home, I have replied to thousands of calls, letters, emails, and text messages about issues that are most important to them. Over and over I have heard: We need a voice.

So I have cosponsored 28 pieces of bipartisan legislation ranging from ensuring that the Indian Health Service is funded to increasing transparency in politics with the passage of H.R. 1, to ensuring that those individuals have that voice.

When we came in in the middle of a sadly, historic shutdown, I spoke up for the members of the FAA and our Federal employees, including our air traffic controllers, because we should never play politics with people's lives. No family should have to endure the hardships caused by partisan political games.

I cosponsored legislation; that is the Shutdown to End All Shutdowns Act. And beyond that, we stood up for paycheck fairness and for wage equality, which is not just a women's issue. This is an issue that impacts our families and our communities and our overall quality of life.

I have spoken up for education and ensuring that everyone has access to quality, available healthcare. That includes protecting people with pre-existing conditions, lifetime caps, and working, as we will continue to do, to make prescription drugs more affordable.

As a member of the House Armed Services Committee, I have been a vocal advocate for our servicemen and -women who have, sadly, had to deal with substandard housing.

I have spoken up for the security of our Nation, but also for respect for every single individual in our district. And in an effort to stay in touch with all corners of the district, I have toured some of our most critical facilities, from Tinker Air Force Base to the Palomar Family Justice Center and the Regional Food Bank of Oklahoma, and so many more.

I have spoken with some of our most vital organizations, like the VFW, the Black Chamber of Commerce, the Farm Bureau, education and healthcare advocates, as elected leaders, about priorities in our communities.

I have even had the privilege of showing a sheep at the Oklahoma Youth Expo, the largest youth expo in the Nation.

I am proud of what we have accomplished so far, and I am especially proud to serve with this historic freshman class. I look forward to what we accomplish moving forward and to being an independent voice for Oklahomans.

We have only begun, and I look forward to what we can accomplish in the next 100 days and the next 100 days after that to do it first.

Ms. STEVENS. Madam Speaker, I thank Congresswoman HORN for showing us what leadership looks like.

It should also be noted that our predecessor Speaker this evening, M. Xochitl Torres Small, the Congresswoman from the great State of New Mexico, is also a member of our freshman class.

Madam Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Colorado (Mr. NEGUZE), my friend.

Mr. NEGUZE. Madam Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman for yielding.

I would like to engage in a colloquy with my fellow colleague in House leadership, a Representative of the freshman class, Representative HILL, and, of course, our co-class president, Representative STEVENS.

Representative HILL, what do you think about the freshman class?

Ms. HILL of California. Madam Speaker, I am pretty excited to be here today because we get to brag a little, and I get a little tired with bragging about myself. I think that is something we do a lot as a Member of Congress, and today we get to brag about our friends. Mr. NEGUZE. I couldn't agree more, Representative HILL.
Mr. NEGUSE. Let me tell you about my friend Congresswoman ANGIE CRAIG from the great State of Minnesota, who held a flood briefing to start discussions around different agencies working together in the case of major flooding.

Ms. HILL of California. Well, let me tell you about my friend J OSH HARDER from the great State of California, who is fighting for broadband in rural areas through the Save the Internet Act.

Mr. NEGUSE. I don’t want to brag, but I am a Congresswoman JARED GOLDEN, from the great State of Maine, is advocating to lower the cost of prescription drugs for his constituents.

Ms. HILL of California. And Congresswoman JAHANA HAYES, who was Teacher the Year before, is now fighting to keep guns out of our classrooms.

Mr. NEGUSE. This freshman class truly is legislating with aggressive momentum.

Ms. HILL of California. Oh, we are indeed. Eighteen freshmen are leading House subcommittees, as my colleague, Ms. STEVENS mentioned, including: Congresswoman KENDRA HORN, Congresswoman MIKIE SHERILL, Congressman TJ COX, Congressman MIKE LEVIN, Congresswoman HARLEY ROUDA, Congresswoman SUSIE LEE, Congresswoman XOCITL TORRES SMALL, and Congresswoman LIZZIE FLETCHER.

That is a lot of people. And what is so exciting about that is that there has never been a freshman class with this many people with the gavel.

Mr. NEGUSE. Eighteen freshmen, quite an incredible feat. But I will also say that freshman Members of Congress have had much success legislating.

Congressman MAX ROSE from the great State of New York has had three amendments pass this House, including an amendment to expand childcare services for veterans seeking additional treatment.

Ms. HILL of California. Congressman ANDY LEVIN, who we just heard from, has introduced six pieces of original legislation. That is a lot.

Mr. NEGUSE. Representative HILL, I know that you know my great friend and colleague ABIGAIL SPANNERGER, who was able to include an amendment as part of H.R. 1 that would prevent foreign interference in U.S. elections.

Ms. HILL of California. Well, we really want to prevent interference not happening in any future elections, so I am glad to hear that.

Just this week, Congresswoman KIM SCHRIER introduced bipartisan bicameral legislation to help prevent child abuse.

Mr. NEGUSE. Congresswoman CHRISY HOUHAN created a new bipartisan caucus to represent the interests of veterans.

Ms. HILL of California. Congresswoman ABBY PINKENAUER was the first freshman to have legislation pass the House, a bill to bring Federal investment to small businesses in rural America.

Mr. NEGUSE. I do know that Members of this House would be well familiar with Congressman CHRIS PAPPAS, who has introduced bipartisan legislation to increase protections for first responders on the front lines of our Nation’s opioid epidemic.

Ms. HILL of California. My other friend, Congresswoman KATIE PORTER, a fellow member of the Katie Caucus, has introduced bipartisan legislation to make childcare more affordable.

Mr. NEGUSE. All of these accomplishments that Representative HILL and I have outlined that this freshman class has accomplished I think demonstrate that the freshman class is continuing to deliver for the people. Nearly 100 days into our transformative majority, we have passed major legislation across issue areas.

Ms. HILL of California. A truly sweeping Democratic reform package.

Mr. NEGUSE. The first gun violence prevention legislation passed in nearly a decade.

Ms. HILL of California. The Paycheck Fairness Act and reauthorization of the Violence Against Women Act.

Mr. NEGUSE. So as we conclude and head into the next 100 days, I think it is important to stress that we are going to continue to work to lower the cost of healthcare.

Ms. HILL of California. End corruption in Washington.

Mr. NEGUSE. Raise workers’ wages.

Ms. HILL of California. Invest in our Nation’s infrastructure and public education system.

Mr. NEGUSE. And, of course, address the existential threat—climate change.

Ms. HILL of California. Above all, we are going to stand up for the people, again, with the full force of this freshman class; and I am so excited to do it with you. Mr. NEGUSE, and with all of my fellow freshman colleagues.

Mr. NEGUSE. As am I, Representative HILL.

Ms. STEVENS. Madam Speaker, I thank Congressman NEGUSE for sharing some of his time with Congresswoman HILL from California.

This Special Order hour has truly been special, and what a delight to reflect on these first 100 days with a historic freshman class in a new season here in the Nation’s Capital.

Madam Speaker, I would like to conclude this Special Order hour of the freshman class of the 116th Congress, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Members are reminded to yield to each other in debate.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA STATEHOOD

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker’s announced policy of January 3, 2019, the Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia (Ms. NORTON) for 30 minutes.

Ms. NORTON. Madam Speaker, a week from Tuesday will be what we call Emancipation Day in the District of Columbia. We use that occasion to point out the continued inequality of the residents who live in our Nation’s Capital.

Emancipation Day was the day when Abraham Lincoln freed the slaves in the District of Columbia. There were slaves working in the District of Columbia. It was considered a Southern State. He freed them 9 months before the Emancipation Proclamation freed all slaves.

Yet the residents of the Nation’s Capital remain less free than any other Americans. Even without statehood, however, the people of the Nation’s Capital have, indeed, made progress.

Madam Speaker, I want to discuss the problems and the progress, especially as we come close to the point when we will bring our D.C. statehood bill to the floor and the House will vote whether to make the District the 51st State.

We recognize we were the last to be free because we are not free yet. We won’t be free until the District of Columbia becomes the 51st State of the United States of America.

Now, I recognize, of course, there are no slaves living in the District of Columbia today. But there is not a single free and equal citizen resident of the District of Columbia.

I cannot help but think of the stories that were told me of my great-grandfather, a runaway slave from Virginia. I am a third-generation Washingtonian. He was in the District of Columbia when Lincoln freed the slaves in the District of Columbia, but he was a runaway slave, so he was not free from slavery until 9 months later.

His name was Richard Holmes. My family tells many stories about Richard Holmes. This runaway slave from the District of Columbia came here to work on the streets of the District of Columbia. Actually, he came to get away from slavery.

I don’t tell any heroic stories of Richard Holmes. I tell it the way it was told to me. When nobody was looking, Richard Holmes just walked out that plantation. He found his way to the District of Columbia. There were not enough workers to build the streets of the District of Columbia, so he was able to get work on the streets building this city.

I understand that slave owners went around the streets of the District of Columbia looking for their slaves. The man who owned Richard Holmes found him and went up to the straw boss and said: That is my slave. I have come to get him.

The straw boss said: You called out a name. That man never answered to that name. No, he is a good worker. He is not your slave.

That is how Richard Holmes, whose name was called out, by the slave owner, "Richard," remained in the District of Columbia so I could become Eleanor Katherine Holmes and ultimately the Member who represents the District.

"Richard," they called out. By not answering to his name, Richard Holmes must have practiced for the day when the slaveholder would come looking for him. That is the kind of discipline I am trying to bring to my work in Congress because freedom from slavery did not give the residents of the District of Columbia House floor.

Yet we celebrate Emancipation Day. We are pleased that the slaves in the District of Columbia were freed earlier than the Emancipation Proclamation, but that is only because the Federal Government controlled the District of Columbia, and, therefore, Abraham Lincoln could say whether there would be slaves in the District of Columbia.

In a real sense, the Federal Government still has control over the District of Columbia because the District does not even have full home rule. Yes, in 1973, the District did obtain self government. That means that the District has a Mayor and a city council and governs itself, except when the Congress of the United States decides to intrude. And intrude, it does.

Until Democrats captured the majority this session, I have had to ward off bills to eliminate all the District's gun safety laws, for example. Intrusion can be very dangerous.

Of course, now that Democrats are in the majority, such a bill does not have any chance of getting through. But I have spent most of my time in the Congress in the minority, and whatever I have had to do for the District or get to the District, I have had to do from that perch.

Emancipation Day for the District is, yes, a day off for the District, a holiday. It is just that important to us. There are parades and there are celebrations. But it is not like George Washington's birthday, and it is not like Abraham Lincoln's birthday. The reason that it is a celebration in the District of Columbia is to remind us, the 700,000 residents who live in the District of Columbia, of our continuing obligation to work until the District and its residents are entirely free.

In this country, even small matters take work. I know because I have small matters every single day. But even without the vote, I have been able to get three bills passed in only 3 months of the Congress. What it takes is work. What it takes is an insistence to keep going until you secure what residents deserve.

If I have any frustration, it is not with the work I must do to make the District the 51st State. It is with the knowledge, according to the polls, that most Americans think that the residents of the District of Columbia, their Nation's Capital, have the very same rights that they do. Of course, I am on this floor this evening to make sure that they know we do not.

The new Members who just spoke on the floor must have been shocked because they would have been among the Americans who would have thought we had the same rights that everyone else does before they were elected.

Now, I don't want to say, look, I don't have any rights and I can't do anything for the District.

You can't face your challenges that way, Madam Speaker. I do vote in committee as the representative of the District of Columbia. I even vote on the House floor.

When I first came to Congress, I reasoned that since I could vote in committee, I ought to be able to vote in the Committee of the Whole. Sometimes we meet in the Committee of the Whole, for example, to vote on amendments. So I went to the Democratic Speaker. It was a Democratic Speaker for the first 2 years I was in Congress, Tom Foley, and I asked to be able to vote on the floor of the House.

He said: Eleanor, nobody ever said the District should be able to vote on the floor of the House. He said: Eleanor, nobody ever said the District should be able to vote on the floor of the House, so I will have to ask advice from outside counsel.

Tom Foley sent it to outside counsel. They came back, and they said: Yes, in the Committee of the Whole. If Congress votes to allow her to vote, she should be able to vote on the House floor.

Because there was a Democratic majority, I was given the right to vote on the House floor. I will never forget what happened afterward. My Republican friends then sued the House for giving me the right to vote on the House floor. They lost in the district court. Then they took it to the court of appeals, and they lost in the court of appeals. They knew better than to take it to the Supreme Court of the United States. So I voted on the House floor then, and I am voting on the House floor again.

I only go to Congress that I have spent most of my time in Congress in the minority, and I have not had that right as often as the Americans I represent deserve.

The District, of course, does not even have full local control. Madam Speaker, you would think that my Republican colleagues would be the first to give them that because the bywords for Republicans are "federalism" and "local control." Instead, as I have indicated, they have spent every day trying to interfere with the District's local control.

The one thing that ought to guarantee Americans freedom from Federal interference, including the Congress of the United States, is localism. That's why I have asked my Republican colleagues to grant me that privilege that they think all Americans should have.

The failure to give the District our full rights is not only a violation of every precept of the American creed, but a violation of treaties that the United States has signed. For example, in 1977, the United States signed the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights. The Human Rights Committee, which has oversight over that treaty, has said that the United Nations "remains concerned that residents of the District of Columbia do not enjoy full representation in Congress, a restriction that does not seem to be compatible with article 25 of the covenant," the covenant the United States has signed.

One of the reasons it calls the residents of the District of Columbia not to have full rights is that, as this chart shows, the residents pay more Federal taxes than any of the 50 States. Take a look. Mississippi pays the lowest Federal taxes, but it is the District of Columbia at $12,000-plus per person that pays the highest.

If you are from New York or California, Madam Speaker, if you are from Idaho or the other Washington, your pay fewer taxes per capita than the people I represent, but you have more rights than they do.

Nothing better illustrates, I think, in a country where "taxes" is often a dirty word, the inequity of paying more taxes than Mississippi. Mississippi has every right the District of Columbia has. I cite Mississippi only because its residents pay the lowest taxes per capita.

Madam Speaker, there is a second and perhaps more important reason to claim our full citizenship. That, of course, is that the residents of your Nation's Capital have fought and died in every war, including the war that created the United States of America, the Revolutionary War.

On this chart, we show the sacrifices during the 20th century when the United States fought major world wars. World War I, 635 D.C. casualties, that was more than three States. Understand, we are a city. We are smaller than most States, though about the size of seven States, but we had more casualties than three States. The Korean war, 575 D.C. casualties, that was more casualties than eight States. Moving on to World War II, we find 3,575 casualties. Note the number is going up, but that is more casualties than four States. Finally, the Vietnam war, 243 D.C. casualties, that was more than 10 States.

It is one thing to have given your treasure; it is quite another to have given the lives of your citizens.

The District, for most of its existence, has had fewer African Americans than White people. That is not the case today. It is about equal White and Black citizens.

When I speak of war casualties, I am reminded of citizens who have especially distinguished themselves in time of war:

The first African American general was born and raised in the District of Columbia.

The first African American Air Force general was also born in the District of Columbia;
The first African American Naval Academy graduate, born here in the District of Columbia; and The first African American Air Force Academy graduate, born in the District of Columbia.

If one of those African Americans because the District was a segregated city as well. With segregation and no vote, you see African Americans distinguishing themselves in the Armed Forces of the United States, fighting for our country.

So we move forward to today, and we see great progress on our statehood bill. Every Democratic Senator now backs the findings of H.R. 1.

H.R. 1 is a democracy bill. It calls for many kinds of improvements in democracy, and in that bill is included findings that lay out the case for D.C. statehood. That means that those who have voted for H.R. 1 here in the House have also voted to approve statehood.

The bill is a similar bill, but with only three sections. It is Leader Chuck Schumer’s bill. Their proposals are not as fulsome as H.R. 1, but has three major components: restoring the Voting Rights Act; establishing national automatic voter registration laws; and D.C. statehood, which Schumer has long sought.

D.C. statehood, for Democratic Senators, ranks just that high, along with the national voting rights bills cited. In both of our Chambers, Speaker Nancy Pelosi and Minority Leader Chuck Schumer have been full-throated supporters of D.C. statehood.

We are taking two paths to statehood, however, because so much of home rule remains unfinished. Most of home rule is done, but I think most Americans would be amazed to find out how much is not done.

For example, the District’s budget still has to come to the House of Representatives. We can get budget autonomy by vote of the House and the Senate without going all the way to statehood.

Or, take a life-and-death matter. We are now in the midst of climate change with all kinds of weather we had not seen. If there are floods in the District of Columbia or hurricanes, the District of Columbia cannot call out its own D.C. National Guard. It has got to go to the President of the United States to ask him to call out the D.C. National Guard.

For goodness’ sake, by the time it goes up the chain of command, half of D.C. could be blown away. That is life and death. That is what every single State has, and D.C. can get that without statehood.

So, while we recognize that in order to get statehood we would have a tough time in the Senate, we also rely on making sure that we complete home rule with matters having to do with the District of Columbia as another way to move toward getting more of our rights.

Now, again, I don’t want to leave the impression that because I don’t have the final vote on the House floor I just can’t get anything done. I have passed three laws—the third month of Congress, going into the fourth month—all ready, without being able to vote for those bills.

And, I must say, I am very humbled, but I am also proud. At the same time, that the organization that ranks Members of Congress has ranked me as the most effective Democrat in the Congress, and that is without having a vote.

To quote them, they said: The Center defines legislative effectiveness as the “proven ability to advance a Member’s agenda items through the legislative process and into law.” That means passing bills. And it went on to say that Norton’s ranking is “noteworthy because she is a nonvoting Member.”

I point out that because I don’t want my residents, especially, to hear me here on the floor indicating how important statehood is to then say: Well, I don’t guess ELEANOR HOLMES NORTON can do anything for us until she finally gets statehood.

I point out that I will be measured not by whether I got statehood. I may not get it. I will be measured by what I was able to get for the District of Columbia, who my residents voted for me to come to Congress.

Yes, only statehood can give the District the bucket of rights, the full bucket it is entitled to. Only statehood can make the District fully equal to the residents of the States. Only statehood can mean for the District what it means for the smallest States, that you can have two Senators as well as a Member of the House.

The District of Columbia has no Senators, so I have to do the work of both Houses. That is not how it is supposed to work.

So, instead of being disheartened, I am, indeed, elated that we already have 202 sponsors, or cosponsors, for D.C. statehood. It takes 218 to pass the bill.

People rushed onto the bill because of the knowledge that there is something wrong that there are people in our country who do not have the same rights that others have, and for no good reason.

If you were to ask people, “Well, why not?” today they would not be able to tell you. Without going into elaborate detail, I will tell you that it was a fluke having to do with a mishap or an accident when the Capitol was in Philadelphia and the troops from the Revolutionary War marched on the then-Capitol demanding their pensions.

The Framers were caught flat-footed and said: Oh, my goodness. We better make sure that the Capitol is not part of any State, and this is part of Pennsylvania.

Well, of course, we know that that was cured long ago. The District should not be part of any State, doesn’t want to be part of any State, but there are plenty of armed troops to protect the District from people marching on the District or the Capitol for their pensions or any other rights.

I am grateful to represent the District of Columbia. I am grateful because I love a good fight. I loved it as a kid in the civil rights movement. I loved it when I grew up in the District of Columbia, going to segregated schools and recognizing that all I had to do was get a good education and I could get out of that too.

But I take it as an honor and a privilege to represent residents who, in each and every way, are fully equal to each and every American and to do all that I possibly can to make that feeling reality in the United States of America.

Madam Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULEMAKING

U.S. CONGRESS, OFFICE OF CONGRESSIONAL WORKPLACE RIGHTS, April 9, 2019, Washington, DC.

Hon. Nancy Pelosi, Speaker of the House, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR MADAM SPEAKER: Section 303(a) of the Congressional Accountability Act of 1995 (CAA), 2 U.S.C. 1383(a), provides that the Executive Director of the Office of Congressional Workplace Rights “shall, subject to the approval of its Board of Directors, adopt rules governing the procedures of the Office, including the procedures of hearing officers, which shall be submitted for publication in the Congressional Record. The rules may be amended in the same manner.” Section 303(b) of the Act, 2 U.S.C. 1383(b), further provides that the Executive Director “shall publish a general notice of proposed rulemaking” and “shall transmit such notice to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President pro tempore of the Senate for publication in the Congressional Record on the first day of which both Houses are in session following such transmittal.”

Having obtained the approval of the Board, I am transmitting the attached notice of proposed procedural rulemaking to the Speaker of the House. I request that this notice be published in the section of the Congressional Record for the House of Representatives on the first day of which both Houses are in session following the receipt of this transmittal. In compliance with section
Section 303(b) of the CAA, a comment period of 30 days after the publication of this notice of proposed rulemaking being provided before adoption of the rules.

Any inquiries regarding this notice should be addressed to Susan Tsui Grundmann, Executive Director of the Office of Congressional Workplace Rights, Room LA-200, 110 Second Street, S.E., Washington, D.C. 20540; telephone: 202-724-9250.

Sincerely,

Susan Tsui Grundmann
Executive Director
Office of Congressional Workplace Rights.

The Procedural Rules currently set forth a single set of procedures for filing “complaints” under the CAA, whether the complaint is filed with the OCWR by an employee alleging violations of sections 201 through 207 of the Act, or by the OCWR General Counsel alleging violations of sections 210, 215 or 220 of the Act. The CAA Reform Act, however, uses the word “claim” to refer to an alleged violation of sections 201 through 207 of the Act as well as an alleged violation of section 102(c) of the Act, which incorporates the protections of the Genetic Information Nondisclosure Act. As a result, the term “complaint” in the CAA refers only to violations alleged by the OCWR General Counsel.

Because the procedures in the Reform Act governing employee “claims” differ significantly from those governing General Counsel “complaints,” these proposed rules set forth separate procedures for each. Therefore, subpart D, which concerns employee “claims,” includes new procedures for informal employee requests for advice and information; confidential advising services; filing of claims; electing to file a civil action; initial filing of claims; referral to the legislative branch of the federal government. Section 301 of the CAA (2 U.S.C. 1381) establishes the OCWR as an independent office within that branch. Section 303 of the CAA (2 U.S.C. 1383) directs the Merits Hearing Officer, to adopt rules of procedure governing the OCWR, subject to approval by the Board of Directors of the Office. The OCWR’s rules set forth the procedures by which alleged violations of the 13 laws made applicable to the legislative branch under the CAA are considered and resolved.

On December 21, 2018, the Congressional Accountability Act of 1995 Reform Act was signed into law. (Pub. L. No. 115-398). The new law reflects the first set of comprehensive reforms to the CAA. Among other reforms, the Act substantially modifies the administrative dispute resolution (ADR) process under the CAA, including: providing for preliminary hearing officer review of claims; requiring current and former Members of Congress to reimburse awards or settlement payments resulting from harassment or retaliation claims; and requiring certain employing offices to reimburse payments resulting from settled claims of discrimination; and appointing advisers to provide confidential information to brand employees about their rights under the CAA. Most changes to the ADR process will be effective 180 days following the date of the Reform Act, i.e., on June 19, 2019.

These proposed amendments to the OCWR’s Procedural Rules are the result of the OCWR’s review of the OCWR’s procedures in light of the changes in the Reform Act to the ADR program, and they reflect the OCWR’s experience processing disputes under the CAA since the original adoption of these Rules in 1995.

Scope of Comments Requested

The OCWR asks commenters to provide their views on the changes to the Procedural Rules proposed in this Notice.

Proposed Amendments to the Rules of Procedure, Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, as Required by 2 U.S.C. 1383, the Congressional Accountability Act of 1995, as Amended

Introductory Statement

Shortly after the enactment of the Congressional Accountability Act (CAA or the Act) in 1995, Procedural Rules were adopted to govern the processing of cases and controversies under the administrative procedures established in chapter IV of the CAA. 2 U.S.C. 1401-07. Those Rules of Procedure were amended in 1998, 2004, and again in 2016. The existing Rules of Procedure are available on the website of the Office of Congressional Workplace Rights (OCWR): www.ocwr.gov. Pursuant to section 303(a) of the CAA (2 U.S.C. 1383(a)), the Executive Director of the OCWR has obtained approval of its Board of Directors regarding certain amendments to the Rules of Procedure.

After obtaining the Board’s approval, the OCWR Executive Director must then “publish a general notice of proposed rulemaking... for publication in the Congressional Record on the first day on which both Houses are in session following such transmission.” (Section 303(b) of the CAA, 2 U.S.C. 1383(b)).

Notice

Comments regarding the proposed amendments to the OCWR Procedural Rules set forth in this NOTICE are invited for a period of thirty (30) days following the date of the-appropriate notice of proposed rulemaking in the Congressional Record. In addition to being posted on the OCWR’s website (www.ocwr.gov), this NOTICE is also available in alternative formats. This NOTICE in its alternative format should be made to the Office of Congressional Workplace Rights, at 202-724-9272 (voice). Submission of comments must be made in writing to the Executive Director, Office of Congressional Workplace Rights, 110 Second Street, S.E., Room LA-200, Washington, D.C. 20540-1999. It is requested, but not required, that an electronic version of any comments be provided via e-mail to: Alexander Ruvinsky, Alexander.Ruvinsky@ocwr.gov. Comments may also be submitted to the Executive Director at 202-426-1913 (a toll-free number). Those wishing to receive confirmation of the receipt of their comments are requested to provide a self-addressed, stamped post card with their submission. Copies of submitted comments will be available for review on the OCWR’s public website at www.ocwr.gov.

Supplementary Information

The Congressional Accountability Act of 1995, Pub. L. No. 104-1, was enacted into law on January 23, 1995. The CAA applies the rights and protections of 13 federal labor and employment statutes to covered employees and employing offices within the legislative branch of the federal government. Section 301 of the CAA (2 U.S.C. 1381) establishes the OCWR as an independent office within that branch. Section 303 of the CAA (2 U.S.C. 1383) directs the Merits Hearing Officer, to adopt rules of procedure governing the OCWR, subject to approval by the Board of Directors of the Office. The OCWR’s rules set forth the procedures by which alleged violations of the 13 laws made applicable to the legislative branch under the CAA are considered and resolved.

Subpart C. The OCWR proposes to redesignate the contents of current subpart D as subpart C. Therefore, sections 3.01 through 3.15 of this subpart prescribe rules and procedures for enforcement of the inspection, investigation and complaint provisions of section 215(c)(1) through (5) of the CAA, which concern the Board of Directors of the Office for Highway Safety and Health Act of 1970 (OSHAct). Sections 3.20 through 3.31 contain rules of practice for administrative proceedings to grant variances and other relief under sections 6(b)(6)(A) and 6(d) of the OSHAct, as applied by section 215(c)(4) of the CAA. The proposed modifications to subpart C reflect nomenclature changes and other clarifications to references to the “Hearing Officer” in this subpart are to the “Merits Hearing Officer” defined in these proposed rules. The proposed rules, adopted by the Executive Director to preside over an administrative hearing conducted on matters within the jurisdiction of the Office of Congressional Workplace Rights, are considered matters within the jurisdiction of the Office of Congressional Workplace Rights.

Subpart D and E. The Procedural Rules currently set forth a single set of procedures for filing “complaints” under the CAA, whether the complaint is filed with the OCWR by an employee alleging violations of sections 201 through 207 of the Act, or by the OCWR General Counsel alleging violations of sections 210, 215 or 220 of the Act. The CAA Reform Act, however, uses the word “claim” to refer to an alleged violation of sections 201 through 207 of the Act as well as an alleged violation of section 102(c) of the Act, which incorporates the protections of the Genetic Information Nondisclosure Act. As a result, the term “complaint” in the CAA refers only to violations alleged by the OCWR General Counsel.

Because the procedures in the Reform Act governing employee “claims” differ significantly from those governing General Counsel “complaints,” these proposed rules set forth separate procedures for each. Therefore, subpart D, which concerns employee “claims,” includes new procedures for informal employee requests for advice and information; confidential advising services; filing of claims; electing to file a civil action; initial filing of claims; referral to congressional ethics committees, and automatic referral to congressional ethics committees.

Proposed subpart E, which concerns General Counsel complaints, sets forth procedures for filing complaints, appointment of the Merits Hearing Officer, dismissals, summary judgment, withdrawal of complaints, and confidentiality requirements. The new provisions in subpart E address matters such as confidential advising services, preliminary review of claims, and automatic referral to congressional ethics committees, do not apply to OCWR General Counsel complaints alleging violations of sections 210, 215 or 220 of the Act. Therefore, they are not added to proposed subpart E.

Subparts F-H. Subparts F-H include the process for the conduct of administrative hearings held as the result of the filing of an administrative complaint. Subpart H sets forth the procedures for appeals of decisions by Hearing Officers to the OCWR Board of Directors and for filing of complaints by the Directors to the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.
Proposed amendments to subpart F concern such matters as depositions requests in cases in which a Member of Congress is an intervenor, rulings on motions to quash and motions for a final decision, and formal requirements for sworn statements. Proposed amendments to subpart G clarify the Merits Hearing Officer’s authority concerning frivolous claims, definitions, and requirements. The proposed amendments also set forth the substantive requirements for the Merits Hearing Officer’s written decision, including required findings and a final decision concerning the claim alleging a violation of laws described in section 415(d)(1)(C) of the Act, which requires Members of the House of Representatives and the Senate to reimburse the “compensatory damages” portion of a decision, award or settlement for a violation of section 201, 202, or 207 of the Act, the Member is found to have “committed personally.” Proposed Amendments to subpart H concern appellate proceedings before the Board. They clarify that a report on preliminary review pursuant to section 402(c) of the CAA is not appealable to the Board.

Subpart I. Subpart I concerns other matters of general applicability to the dispute resolution process and to the OCWR’s operations. Proposed amendments to subpart I concern attorney fees for discovery preproceeding; informal resolution of disputes; general requirements for formal settlement agreements—including settlement of cases against a Member of Congress subject to the payment reimbursement provisions of section 415(d) of the Act.

The proposed amendments to subpart I also concern payments governed by section 415(a) of the CAA, which provides, in relevant part, that “only funds which are appropriated by the Treasury of the United States for the payment of awards and settlements may be used for the payment of awards and settlements under this chapter.” Pursuant to section 415(a), the OCWR, through its Executive Director, prepares and processes requisitions for disbursements from the Treasury account established pursuant to section 415(a) when qualifying final decisions, awards, or approved settlements require the payment of funds. These proposed amendments provide further processing procedures and definitions of payments from the funds appropriated to the Section 415(a) Treasury Account, as defined in regulations issued by the Department of Treasury’s Bureau of Fiscal Services at 31 C.F.R. part 256, which provide guidance to agencies in the executive branch for submitting requests for payments from the Judgment Fund, which is a permanent, indefinite appropriation that is appropriated to an account of the Office in the United States. The proposed amendments also concern reimbursement to the Section 415(a) Treasury Account in connection with claims alleging violations of section 201(a) or 206(a) of the Act.

The proposed amendments to subpart I also add a new section governing the requirement in the Reform Act that employing offices keep post decisions in conspicuous places on their premises the notices provided by the OCWR, which contain information about employees’ rights and the OCWR’s ADR process, along with OCWR contact information. Finally, the proposed amendments set forth rules concerning the new requirement in the Reform Act that each employing office (other than any employing office of the House of Representatives or any employing office of the Senate) submit an annual report to the Committee on House Administration of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Rules and Administration of the Senate on the implementation of the Merits Hearing Officer’s program required under section 438(a) of the Act.

Explanation Regarding the Text of the Proposed Amendments

Only subparts of the Procedural Rules that include proposed amendments are reproduced in this NOTICE. The insertion of a series of five asterisks () indicates the absence of a rule. The unamended text of higher level sections or paragraphs remain unchanged when text is changed at a subordinate level, or that previous text and a paragraph are unchanged. (2) an estimate of the time necessary for presenting the party's case;
(3) the specific relief, including, when known in advance of a monetary relief or damages that is being or will be requested;
(4) the names of potential witnesses for the party's case, except for potential impeachment or rebuttal witnesses, and the purpose for which they will be called and a list of documents that the party is seeking from the opposing party, and, if discovery was permitted, the status of any pending request for discovery.

(b) Motion for continuation. A motion for continuation shall not be deemed granted unless the party moving for continuation shall state whether or not the opposing party consents to such postponement. A Merits Hearing Officer may grant such a motion upon a showing of good cause. In no event will a hearing commence later than 60 days after the filing of the claim(s).

§ 7.06 Consolidation and Joinder of Cases.

(a) Explanation. Consolidation is two or more parties having cases that may be treated as one because they contain identical or similar issues or in such other appropriate circumstances.

(b) Joinder. Joinder is when one party has two or more causes of action or claims for relief. For example, joinder might be appropriate when the parties to the same controversy require the intervention of the same judge, or when the parties are required to present their cases under the same substantive provisions of law.

§ 7.08 Transcript.

(a) Preparation. The Office shall keep an accurate electronic or stenographic hearing record, which shall be the sole official record of the proceeding. The Office shall be responsible for the cost of transcribing the hearing. Upon request, a copy of the hearing transcript shall be furnished to each party, provided, however, that such party has first agreed to maintain and respect the confidentiality of such transcript in accordance with the applicable rules prescribed by the Office of the Merits Hearing Officer. A transcript of the hearing may not be used as substantive evidence in a hearing before a Merits Hearing Officer unless specifically allowed by order of the Merits Hearing Officer. The Merits Hearing Officer may order the transcript to be destroyed if it would not be relevant to the proceedings.

(b) Motion to seal. A party may file a motion to seal the transcript or portions of the transcript to protect a party's interests. Upon a showing of good cause, the Merits Hearing Officer may order the transcript to be destroyed if it would not be relevant to the proceedings.

§ 7.09 Admissibility of Evidence.

The Merits Hearing Officer may apply the Federal Rules of Evidence to the greatest extent practicable. Among other things, that the Merits Hearing Officer may exclude evidence if, among other things, it constitutes inadmissible hearsay or its value is substantially diminished by the danger of unfair prejudice, by confusion of the issues, or by considerations of § 7.10 Stipulations.
The parties may stipulate as to any matter of fact. Such a stipulation will satisfy a party's burden of establishing the fact alleged.

§ 7.11 Official Notice.
(a) The Merits Hearing Officer on his or her own motion or on motion of a party, may take official notice of a fact that is not subject to reasonable dispute because it is either:
(1) a matter of common knowledge; or
(2) a matter of accurate and ready determination by resort to sources whose accuracy cannot reasonably be questioned. Official notice taken of any fact satisfies a party's burden of establishing the matter.
(b) When a decision, or part thereof, rests on the official notice of a material fact not appearing in the evidence in the record, the fact of official notice shall be so stated in the decision, and any party, upon timely request, shall be afforded an opportunity to show the contrary.

§ 7.12 Confidentiality.
(a) Pursuant to section 416 of the Act and section 1.08 of these Rules, all proceedings and deliberations of Merits Hearing Officers and the Office shall be confidential, except as provided in subsections and any related records, shall be confidential, except as specified in sections 416(c), (d), (e), and (f) of the Act and subpart B of these Rules. All parties to the proceeding and their representatives, and witnesses who appear at the hearing, will be advised of the importance of confidentiality in this process and of their obligations, subject to sanctions, to maintain it. This provision shall not apply to proceedings under section 215 of the Act, but shall apply to the Merits Hearing Officers' and the Board's deliberations under that section.
(b) Violation of Confidentiality. A Merits Hearing Officer, under section 405 of the Act, may resolve an alleged violation of confidentiality that occurred during a hearing. After providing notice and an opportunity to the parties to be heard, the Merits Hearing Officer, under subparagraph 1.08(f) of these Rules, may find a violation of confidentiality and impose appropriate procedural or evidentiary sanctions, to include the sanctions listed in section 7.02 of these Rules.

§ 7.13 Immediate Board Review of a Hearing Officer's Ruling.
(a) Review Strongly Disfavored. Board review of a Merits Hearing Officer's ruling shall generally be disfavored while a proceeding is ongoing (an "interlocutory appeal"). In general, the Board may consider a request for interlocutory appeal only if the Merits Hearing Officer, on his or her own motion or by motion of the parties, determines that the issue presented is of such importance to the proceeding that it requires the Board's immediate attention.
(b) Time for Filing. A party must file a motion for interlocutory appeal of a Merits Hearing Officer's ruling on or before 15 days after service of the ruling upon the parties. The motion shall include arguments in support of both interlocutory appeal and the requested determination to be made by the Board upon review. Responses, if any, shall be filed with the Hearing Officer within 3 days after service of the motion.
(c) Standards for Review. In determining whether to certify and confirm a request for interlocutory appeal to the Board, the Merits Hearing Officer shall consider the following:
(1) whether the ruling involves a significant change in policy or practice which there is substantial ground for difference of opinion;
(2) whether an immediate Board review of the Merits Hearing Officer's ruling will materially advance completing the proceeding; and
(3) whether denial of immediate review will cause undue harm to a party or the public.
(d) Merits Hearing Officer Action. If all the conditions set forth in paragraph (c) above are met, the Merits Hearing Officer shall certify and forward a request for interlocutory appeal to the Board for its immediate consideration. Any such submission shall explain the basis for the request. The Merits Hearing Officer concluded that the standards in paragraph (c) have been met. The Merits Hearing Officer's decision to forward or decline to forward a request for review is not appealable.
(e) Granting or Denying an Interlocutory Appeal is Within the Board's Sole Discretion. The Board, in its sole discretion, may grant or deny an interlocutory appeal, upon the Merits Hearing Officer's certification and decision to forward a request for review. The Board's decision to grant or deny an interlocutory appeal is not appealable.
(f) Stay Pending Interlocutory Appeal. Unless otherwise directed by the Board, the stay of proceedings pending an interlocutory appeal shall be within the Merits Hearing Officer's discretion that: no stay shall serve to toll the time limits set forth in section 405(d) of the Act. If the Merits Hearing Officer does not stay the proceedings, the request for an interlocutory appeal is pending with it.
(g) Procedures before the Board. Upon its decision to grant interlocutory appeal, the Board shall issue an order setting forth the procedures that will be followed in the conduct of that review.
(h) Appeal of a Final Decision. Denial of interlocutory appeal affects a party's right to challenge rulings, which are otherwise appealable, as part of an appeal to the Board under section 8.01 of the Rules from the Merits Hearing Officer's decision issued under section 7.16 of these Rules.

§ 7.14 Proposed Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law; Posthearing Briefs.
May be Required. The Merits Hearing Officer may require the parties to file proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law and/or posthearing briefs on the factual and the legal issues presented in the case.

§ 7.15 Closing the Record.
(a) Except as provided in section 7.14 of the Rules, the record shall close when the hearing ends. However, the Hearing Officer may hold the record open as necessary to allow the parties to submit arguments, briefs, documents or additional evidence previously identified for introduction.
(b) Once the record is closed, no additional evidence or argument shall be accepted into the record except on the grounds that the new or additional evidence or argument will aid in the decision of the proceeding. The Hearing Officer may receive unfiled evidence or argument unless the party or parties to the proceeding have been given notice of the opportunity to object to such evidence or argument. The party to the proceeding whose rights will be impaired by the admission of evidence or argument may file an objection in writing. Such objections shall be considered by the hearing officer in deciding whether to receive the evidence or argument.

§ 7.16 Merits Hearing Officer Decisions; Entry of Merits Hearing Officer's decision has been issued, but before an appeal is made to the Board, or absent an appeal, before the decision becomes final, a party to the proceeding before the Merits Hearing Officer may move to alter, amend, or vacate the decision. The moving party must establish that relief from the decision is warranted because: (1) of mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect; (2) the party did not know of the evidence or argument; (3) the evidence or argument could not have been discovered in time to move for a new hearing; (4) there has been fraud (misrepresentation, or conduct by an opposing party); (4) the decision is void; or (6) the decision has been satisfied, released, or discharged; it is based on an order entered after the decision has been reversed or vacated; or applying prospectively is no longer equitable. The motion shall be filed within 15 days after service of the Merits Hearing Officer's decision. No response shall be filed unless the Merits Hearing Officer so orders. The filing and pendency of a motion under this provision shall not relieve a party of the obligation to file a timely appeal or stay the Merits Hearing Officer's action unless the Merits Hearing Officer so orders.

PRAYER
The Chaplain, Dr. Barry C. Black, offered the following prayer:
Let us pray.
Almighty God, You know all about us. You know when we sit down and when we rise up. Forgive us when we fail to acknowledge Your sovereignty over our lives or to trust the unfolding of Your loving providence. Thank you for the gift of freedom to choose. Help us to use Your admonition as a lamp for our feet and a light for our path.

We pray in Your great Name. Amen.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE
The Presiding Officer led the Pledge of Allegiance, as follows:
I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

APPOINTMENT OF ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE
The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will please read a communication to the Senate from the President pro tempore (Mr. GRASSLEY).
The senior assistant legislative clerk read the following letter:

U.S. SENATE,
PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE,
Washington, DC, April 9, 2019.
To the Senate:

Under the provisions of rule 1, paragraph 3, of the Standing Rules of the Senate, I hereby appoint the Honorable CINDY HYDE-SMITH, a Senator from the State of Mississippi, to perform the duties of the Chair.

CHUCK GRASSLEY, President pro tempore.

Mrs. HYDE-SMITH thereupon assumed the Chair as Acting President pro tempore.

RESERVATION OF LEADER TIME
The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Under the previous order, the leadership time is reserved.

CONCLUSION OF MORNING BUSINESS
The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Morning business is closed.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

EXECUTIVE CALENDAR
The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Under the previous order, the Senate will proceed to executive session to resume consideration of the following nomination, which the clerk will report.
The senior assistant legislative clerk read the nomination of Daniel Desmond Domenico, of Colorado, to be United States District Judge for the District of Colorado.

RECOGNITION OF THE MAJORITY LEADER
The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The majority leader is recognized.

NOMINATIONS
Mr. MCCONNELL. Later today, the Senate will vote to advance the nomination of Daniel Desmond Domenico to serve as U.S. District Judge for the District of Colorado. After we vote on his confirmation, we will do the same for Patrick Wyrick, nominated to a vacancy in the Western District of Oklahoma.

Mr. Wyrick is a two-time graduate of the University of Oklahoma and held a clerkship in the Eastern District of Oklahoma at the outset of his legal career. That career included time in private practice, as the State’s Solicitor General and, most recently, as Associate Justice of the Oklahoma Supreme Court.

I am sorry to say that this week will mark 1 year since Mr. Wyrick’s nomination was first received in the Senate. I hope each of my colleagues will join me in long-overdue support for its prompt consideration on the floor.

Over the course of the week, as I have outlined, we will consider four other well-qualified nominees who have been waiting on the Executive Calendar for far too long. We will build on the action taken last week to restore some reason and sanity to the nominations process, which has suffered in recent years under the burden of partisan obstruction.

Before the week is through, we will also turn to the nomination of David Bernhardt to lead the Department of the Interior. The Senate has confirmed Mr. Bernhardt twice before to serve that Department as Deputy Secretary and as Solicitor. When you hear the nominee and review his credentials, it is easy to see why. Mr. Bernhardt has significant private practice experience, as well as a past record of service at the Department.

Along the way he has earned the respect of those who rely on the public lands the Department of the Interior is charged to oversee, from Native American leaders to sportsmen’s groups. He has been praised as a “proven leader” who “act[s] with integrity” and has “the right approach and skill set.” I hope each of my colleagues will join me in voting to confirm him later this week.

MEDICARE
Madam President, on a completely different matter, we are continuing to watch as our friends across the aisle take big steps in their party’s continued march toward the far, far left. As I... understand, they will soon introduce the Senate version of the radical healthcare proposal that I have come to call Medicare for None.

It is only the latest installment in the steady drumbeat of calls for socialist central planning that we have been hearing from our Democratic colleagues as of late.

Earlier this year, we saw the Speaker of the House declare her top priority as the Democrat politician protection act, an effort to literally rewrite the rules of free speech in American elections and give political campaigns a big dose of taxpayer dollars, all so the outcome of the political process could be more to the Democrats’ liking.

We have seen all but a tiny handful of our Democratic colleagues unable to reject an absurdly intrusive and mind-bogglingly expensive plan to forcibly remodel the U.S. economy and American families’ lives until they are sufficiently “green.”

National as soon as this week, the latest new scheme will make landfall in the Senate. I am sure it will grab a new round of headlines, but under the Cadillac hood, it will offer only the same old push mower engine, the debunked logic that Washington knows best and the American people can’t be trusted to decide what is best for themselves and their families.

That tired, old engine cannot power the kind of healthcare that Americans deserve. The legislation my colleagues want to brand as Medicare for All follows the actual Medicare Program that our seniors rely on until the only thing left is the label. Then it takes that label and slaps it on a brandnew, untested, government-run plan that Washington knows best and the American people can’t be trusted to decide what is best for themselves and their families.

This is what my Democratic colleagues believe will pass for a political winner. We are looking forward to that debate.

I will give them this: With Republicans standing for preserving what works and fixing what doesn’t, for reducing tax rates instead of shooting them sky-high, and for strengthening the employer-sponsored and Medicare Advantage plans that American families actually rely on instead of snatchig those plans away, my Democratic friends are certainly working hard to paint a contrast—and we welcome it.

S. 1057

Madam President, on yet another major matter, even as the Senate grapples with these kinds of major disagreements, I want to highlight that there were still bipartisan accomplishments constantly coming out of this Chamber. They don’t always make national front-page news, but they are for so many families, would like to the American people can agree on. It is that illegal robocalls are a major nuisance. Who hasn’t been annoyed after answering the phone and discovering it is an automated message asking you to purchase some product or provide sensitive personal information?

But of course, these calls aren’t merely a nuisance. Scammers use these calls to successfully prey on vulnerable populations, like the elderly, who may be less technologically savvy. It is no surprise that people are deceived. I think most of us have received robocalls that sounded pretty credible, and the practice of spoofing numbers adds another layer of deception.

Scammers can disguise the actual number they are calling from so the call looks like it is coming from a legitimate number. You may recognize the number calling you as a trustworthy local number, but the actual call is coming from the law.

I remember an article from my home State of Arizona a couple of years ago that reported that scammers had successfully spoofed the number of the Watertown Police Department. So to anyone who thinks that call, it looked as if it was really the Watertown Police Department calling.

If the source looks credible and the call sounds credible, it can be difficult not to believe it, which is why people fall prey to robocall scam artists every single day, sometimes with devastating consequences.

Scammers’ goal is to steal the kind of personal information that can be used to steal your money and your identity. When scammers are successful, they can destroy people’s lives.

There are laws and fines in place right now to prevent scam artists from preying on people through the telephone, but unfortunately, these measures have been insufficient. Almost a year ago today, when I was chairman of the Commerce Committee, I subpoenaed Adrian Abramovich, a notorious mass robocaller, to testify before the committee. His testimony made it clear that current fines are insufficient to discourage robocallers. Robocallers just figure that those fines are part of the cost of doing business.
In addition, the Federal Communications Commission’s anti-robocall enforcement efforts are currently hampered by a tight time window for pursuing violations. To address these problems, at the end of last year I introduced the Telephone Robocall Abuse Criminal Enforcement and Deterrence Act, or the TRACED Act.

Last week, my bipartisan legislation passed the Commerce Committee by unanimous vote. The TRACED Act provides tools to discourage illegal robocalls, protect consumers, and crack down on offenders. It expands the window in which the FCC can pursue intentional scammers from 1 year to 3 years, and in years 2 and 3. It increases the financial penalties for individuals making robocalls from zero dollars to $10,000 per call to make it more difficult for robocallers to figure fines into their cost of doing business.

It also requires telephone service providers to adopt new call verification technologies that would help to prevent illegal robocalls from reaching consumers. Importantly, it convenes a working group with representatives from the Department of Justice, the FCC, the Federal Trade Commission, the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, State attorneys general, and others to identify ways to criminally prosecute illegal robocalling.

Criminal prosecution of illegal robocalling can be challenging. Scammers are frequently based abroad and can quickly shut down shop before authorities can get to them, but I believe we need to find ways to hold those making robocalls accountable. There are few things more despicable than preying on and exploiting the vulnerable, and scammers should face criminal prosecution for the damage that they do.

I am very pleased that the TRACED Act has now moved to the full Senate for consideration. I am grateful to Senator MARKET for partnering with me on this legislation, and I am pleased that this is a bipartisan bill, supported by all 50 attorneys general, by the Commissioners at the Federal Trade Commission and the Federal Communications Commission, and by major industry associations and leading consumer groups.

Later this week, I will hold a hearing on the Commerce Committee Subcommittee on Communications, Technology, Innovation, and the Internet, which I chair, to further examine the problem of illegal robocalling. I will work to get the TRACED Act to the President’s desk as soon as possible.

This legislation will not prevent all illegal robocalling, but it is a big step in the right direction. I look forward to helping consumers by enacting the TRACED Act’s protections as soon as possible.

I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The Acting President pro tempore. The clerk will call the roll.

The senior assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. SCHUMER. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The Acting President pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Recognition of the Minority Leader

The Acting President pro tempore. The Democratic leader is recognized.

Trump Administration

Mr. SCHUMER. Madam President, the way the legislative branch today is “chaos.” This chaos stems from one source and one source only—President Donald Trump and his extreme agenda—and America is paying the price.

Everyone agrees there are issues at the border, but if you are the President and if you are in charge of our national security, you don’t tweet your way into a strategy; you don’t keep changing personnel, changing strategy, and tweeting your way through a problem as serious as this. That is why there is chaos when it comes to border issues—all created by the President and his whimsical, erratic, and often-times nasty pursuit of policy.

Even the Republicans are worried sick about the chaos President Trump has created over the week. My friend JOHN CORNYN says this is all a giant “mess”—his words. Well, my friend from Texas is correct. Yet this dysfunction is not confined to a few agencies; this chaos is throughout the executive branch because Donald Trump has the same kind of switching of personnel, changing of policies, and trying to twist his way through a problem in other areas as he does with regard to the border.

Let me remind my colleagues that the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Interior Secretary, and the EPA Administrator each resigned amid scandal. The Trump administration has not yet nominated anyone for probably the most important Cabinet position, the Secretary of Defense, since Secretary Mattis’s departure, and when he departed, Secretary Mattis had a scathing rebuke of President Trump’s policies.

Look at the chaos at the State Department, where the damage extends beyond America’s borders. Because of incompetence and inaction, there are no nominees to more than 30 vacant key positions at State, including Under Secretary of State for Public Diplomacy and Special Envoy for North Korean Human Rights. There are no nominees to be our Ambassador to Pakistan or Egypt and none for Qatar or Thailand.

This is not the Senate blocking nominees as much as the President likes to blame somebody else for his problems; this is the President’s own administration that has failed to nominate people for such important positions, and many of these positions have been vacant.

The vacancies mentioned are ever important in our changing world, and this administration simply failing to nominate anyone.

We should be projecting stability and continuity through our State Department. Instead, it has been battered and belittled by its own administration to the point at which both sides in Congress have spoken out. Just yesterday, we learned the administration is pushing out the head of the Secret Service amid a new scandal surrounding a security breach at Mar-a-Lago, the so-called winter White House. Now joining the others who are gone—fired by Twitter or whatever—is the head of the Secret Service.

Across a broad spectrum of issues, his policies are so extreme that even good-faith nominees eventually face a choice—leave the administration or be consumed by the quicksand of the Trump swamp.

I hope the President or some of the people around him will realize that his administration is far from a fine-tuned machine; it is a slow-motion disaster that the American people see in action every day.

Women's Health

Madam President, on women’s health, the Senate Judiciary Committee will hold a hearing today on a sham bill that would further restrict women’s access to care.

Every woman and every family in America should shudder at the Republicans’ campaign to take away the rights of women to make decisions about their own health just to satisfy a hard-right, radical agenda that the vast majority of Americans completely disagrees with.

This bill would unduly restrict women’s rights to make their own health decisions. Dr. Jennifer Conti, who is a clinical assistant professor of OB/ GYN at Stanford, described the 20-week mark as set by the high court as “an arbitrary limit set in place by politicians that has no medical or scientific backing.” Let me repeat—“an arbitrary limit set in place by politicians”—politicians making decisions about women’s health. That is what is wrong here.

What is more, a 20-week ban is, arguably, unconstitutional. Just 2 weeks ago, a Federal judge in North Carolina ruled it was. We know the 20-week ban is just a start among those who want to take away women’s rights. They will try to go for a 10-week ban, then a 6-week ban. It is all part of a radical, relentless effort to completely and unequivocally strip women of their right... to make their own healthcare decisions.

The rhetoric we will hear from the Republicans in this hearing will be much the same we have heard for years. Whether it is a vote we took in the 1980s protecting one’s rights in my home State of New York, the Republicans have repeatedly used scare tactics and falsehoods to mislead the public. Yes, these are nothing but scare tactics, but don’t take my word for it. Time and again, fact checkers have ruled the Republicans’ rhetoric on these issues to be outright false.

Let’s be clear. Across the country, the reproductive rights of women are under attack. In statehouses across the country, the Republicans are forcing through radical proposals that would dramatically limit women’s rights to make their own choices—in Mississippi, in Georgia, in Kentucky. This is a threat to women in all 50 States, not just just in my State. It is dan gerously out of step with the American people.

The Trump administration is even imposing a gag rule on healthcare providers to stop them from discussing the full range of options with women who consider having abortions. They are literally preventing doctors from doing their jobs. It is illogical, intrusive, and hypocritical that the Republicans in Washington would tell a doctor what he or she can or cannot say to a patient in a private medical consultation. They are throwing a roadblock in front of the American people.

I have been around here long enough to remember when the Republicans were preaching that government should never come between a patient and his or her doctor. Why the change? Since taking office, President Trump and his Republican colleagues have repeatedly prioritized restricting women’s reproductive freedoms and have strategically placed obstacles in the way of their accessing the healthcare they deserve. Donald Trump and our Republican friends believe they know better than American women. That is wrong, and American women totally disagree with them.

Yet, while the Republicans across the country push these proposals, they look like the other way when President Trump proposes cutting programs that help newborns and young children.

The President wants to cut Medicaid by more than $1 trillion. That provides health care to 27 million children. He wants to eliminate programs that support emergency medical health services for children and that address autism and developmental disorders.

I hope my Republican colleagues will join us instead of slipping down this radical, ideological, and deeply misguided path to strip away the rights of women.

Now on disaster relief, as I said yesterday, the question of providing funding for Americans hurt by natural disasters is not an either-or proposition, but Republicans have treated it like one. They argue that we can either have funding for our neighbors in the Midwest, or we can pursue aid for Puerto Rico that the President opposes. For the President of the United States to pit American citizens against each other is simply un-American, and for Republicans in the Senate to go along with him is exhibit A of their refusal to stand up.

Some of my colleagues have said: Well, we are giving Puerto Rico just food stamp money. OK. Let’s give all the other States just food stamp money. What is that going to do? It is going to help them rebuild their homes and deal with the roads and all the other things that natural disasters have brought. Of course not.

That is the double standard, and it is not going to happen. We know the House, to their credit, is standing firm. Let’s come up with a compromise that funds both. As Americans have always done when American citizens in one part of the country are in trouble, we come together, and help them all—not just the ones the President likes or finds politically advantageous but all. We don’t say: We will give just food stamps to some but complete disaster relief to the others.

That is wrong, and that hurts American citizens in Puerto Rico and elsewhere.

Last week, Senator Leahy and I presented a solution that solves all the problems—$16.7 billion in relief for all a pile of programs, the rest of the disasters, including $2.5 billion in new funding that could help communities with the new disasters in the Midwest. It had support for Puerto Rico and the people in the other territories.

It is about time we stop this standoff, pass disaster relief, and help our fellow Americans before the next storms make their unwelcome arrival.

NOMINATIONS

Finally, on judges, today, the Republican leadership has pushed through a plan to remake the judiciary in the image of President Trump. Irony of ironies, the first nominee we will consider is a gentleman who supported the Republican leader’s decision to not consider even a committee hearing or a vote on Merrick Garland. That is galling.

Mr. Domenico and the other nominees we will consider today are outside the mainstream—way outside the mainstream—and should not be rushed through this body. Two hours of debate on a lifetime appointment? Shame on our Republican friends who went along with that.

By participating in this sham process, every Republican will fully own each and every radical decision each of these nominees makes. We see what is happening now. A very conservative justice in Texas is taking healthcare away from millions of Americans. He is taking away their protection for pre-existing conditions. My fellow Republicans, you are on warning: If you keep voting for these judges, you are going to carry the burden of their awful decisions that will hurt so many Americans. They are so far out of the mainstream.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. Scott of Florida). The Senator from Washington.

Mrs. MURRAY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to speak for 3 minutes as in morning business.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Without objection, it is so ordered.

WOMEN’S HEALTH

Mrs. MURRAY. Mr. President, as the minority leader explained, we unfortunately expect that today Senate Republicans will again make an effort to spread lies and misinformation about why some women decide to have abortions later in pregnancy, and they will do so instead of listening to women like Judy, from my home State of Washington, who learned that her son’s organs were not developing properly—his one lung was just 20 percent formed, and the other was missing entirely; women like Darla, from Texas, who learned that the complications of one of her twins was facing could endanger the other’s life as well; women like Alyson, a mother of six, who learned that one of her twins had died in the womb and the other was facing severe complications and that her own health was in severe risk from the pregnancy; or countless patients in States that are being denied access to safe, legal abortion that women struggle to exercise their rights protected under our Constitution.

It is worth asking, with so much else going on, why are Republicans spending time doubling down on lies to undermine women’s reproductive health? The unfortunate truth is that my Republican colleagues are not repeating these falsehoods because they are concerned about children or families; instead, they are doing whatever they think will help them reach their goal of taking away access to safe abortion in the United States of America.

Republicans may not be listening to women or doctors or families like the ones I just mentioned who had to make extremely difficult decisions, but Democrats are listening. We know women need to be able to make the healthcare choices that are right for them and their families, and we are determined to be able to let medical standards, not politics, drive patients’ care.

None of this should be controversial, and for the vast majority of people across the country, it is not. But as long as Republicans are holding partisan hearings to spread misinformation and lies or pushing anti-doctor, anti-women, and anti-family legislation or putting up new barriers to make it harder for women to access reproductive healthcare or trying to wind back trusted healthcare providers like Planned Parenthood through harmful gag rules or jamming through far-right, ideological judges to chip

Now on disaster relief, as I said yesterday, the question of providing funding for Americans hurt by natural disasters is not an either-or proposition, but Republicans have treated it like one. They argue that we away at Roe v. Wade, Democrats are not going to stop fighting back on behalf of women, men, and families in this country.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Colorado.

Mr. GARDNER. Mr. President, I have two unanimous consent requests. I ask unanimous consent that the manuel be waived. The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. GARDNER. And I ask unanimous consent that I be allowed to complete my remarks before the vote.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

NOMINATION OF DANIEL DESMOND DOMENICO

Mr. GARDNER. Mr. President, I come to the floor to speak in support of Dan Domenico, the district judge we will be voting on today.

I strongly support Dan Domenico for the district court position in the District of Colorado. Dan has impeccable academic and legal credentials. A native of the state, he is well known and well respected throughout the entire Colorado legal community. These characteristics make him very well suited to be on the bench.

A native of Boulder, CO, Dan received his undergraduate degree from George-town University and his juris doctorate from the University of Virginia—it has been a good week for the University of Virginia: a new Federal judge and a national championship—where he graduated Order of the Coif and was the editor of the law review.

After law school, Dan joined the respected firm of Hogan & Hartson and then clerked for Judge Tim Tymkovich, who is now the chief judge on the Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals. Following his clerkship, Dan continued his public service as a Special Assistant to the Solicitor in the U.S. Department of the Interior. There, he advised the Secretary and the Department on matters related to national parks, fish and wildlife, Bureau of Land Management issues, and Indian affairs. These are all areas that matter a great deal to Colorado and the West.

Dan was then appointed to be the solicitor general for the State of Colorado. While he was the youngest person tapped for the position, he then became the longest serving solicitor general in our State’s history, holding the position for 9 years. As solicitor general, Dan represented the State in both State and Federal courts, including the U.S. Supreme Court. He oversaw all major litigation for the State, and he provided legal advice to the Governor and State agencies.

Dan is currently the founding and managing partner at the Kittredge LLC, where he represents clients in high-stakes, complex litigation and appeals. He is an adjunct professor at the University of Denver’s College of Law, where he teaches courses in natural resources law and constitutional law.

As impressive as this background is, it is also an insight into the type of judge Dan would be. I am particularly struck by Dan’s service as the Colorado solicitor general.

While the Democratic leader may object to Dan Domenico, two Democratic Governors in Colorado did not. In fact, they kept his service. In fact, Dan served as solicitor general for the State of Colorado during a Republican Governor and two Democratic Governors. He served, regardless of party, with competence and zeal. That is what the Colorado legal community would tell anyone who wishes to listen. His approach to legal issues he confronted was the same regardless of the party in power. He looked to the law. And that is what we expect in every judge. That is what Colorado wants. That is what our country needs. We need experienced practitioners who are respected by their peers and who will faithfully apply the law regardless of politics or place in life. That is what I believe Dan will do, and that is why I enthusiastically support his nomination and hope my colleagues will follow suit as well.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Pursuant to rule XXII, the Chair lays before the Senate the pending cloture motion, which the clerk will state.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

CLOTURE MOTION

We, the undersigned Senators, in accordance with the provisions of rule XXII of the Standing Rules of the Senate, do hereby move to bring to a close the debate on the nomination of Daniel Desmond Domenico, of Colorado, to be United States District Judge for the District of Colorado.

Mitch McConnell, Johnny Isakson, Roger F. Wicker, John Boozman, John Cornyn, Mike Crapo, Shelley Moore Capito, Pat Roberts, Roy Blunt, Deb Fischer, David Perdue, Todd Young, John Thune, Joni Ernst, Steve Daines, John Hoeven, Thom Tillis.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. By unanimous consent, the mandatory quorum call has been waived.

The question is, Is it the sense of the Senate that debate on the nomination of Daniel Desmond Domenico, of Colorado, to be United States District Judge for the District of Colorado, shall be brought to a close?

The yeas and nays are mandatory under the rule.

The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk called the roll.

Mr. THUNE. The following Senators are necessarily absent: the Senator from Texas (Mr. Cruz) and the Senator from Wisconsin (Mr. Johnson).

Further, if present and voting, the Senator from Vermont (Mr. Johnson) would have voted “yea.”

Mr. DURBIN. I announce that the Senator from Illinois (Ms. Duckworth) is necessarily absent.

The yeas and nays resulted—yeas 55, nays 42, as follows:
lived in Mississippi and in Kensington, MD, right outside the District of Columbia. I graduated from high school in Japan. This is pretty typical of a lot of military families because they tend to move around quite a bit. One of the biggest challenges, being a student growing up in a military family, is frequently having to change schools. That requires a little bit of resilience on the part of the student because they have to learn how to make friends, even in new settings.

Because of the challenges of moving around as a kid, there was one thing I was always grateful for. I had the privilege of witnessing not only my dad but so many others of our U.S. military servicemembers in action. Seeing their courage and sacrifice showed me early on that there is nothing we can do to adequately repay these men and women for their service to their country, but you better believe we have to try, and we are going to keep trying—not just for them but to recognize them and to honor them.

In Congress we accomplished a lot for our military over the last few years. We restored America’s defense with the greatest investment in the military in decades, growing the largest troop pay raise in nearly 10 years. That is after we tried unsuccessfully to do what we have done from time to time, which is to cash in the “peace dividend.” Unfortunately, we can’t cash in the peace dividend trade those hurdles seem to be peace, as much as we would hope and pray for that.

But supporting our heroes on the battlefield is only part of our responsibility toward the military. We are also focused on ensuring that they get the care, support, and opportunities they need once they come home and take the uniform off as a veteran.

I have heard from many of my veterans in Texas who are frustrated with the service provided by VA facilities. They shared stories about having to travel hours upon hours to receive care, sometimes forcing them to accept lower quality care or sometimes to forego it entirely.

Both in Texas and across the country, VA facilities have notably been plagued by inefficiency, lack of accountability, and quality of care issues. Making matters more challenging, the VA has been hindered by unmitigated bureaucratic hurdles. The Veterans’ Administration has more than 300,000 people working for them. So bureaucracy should be its middle name. It is not designed to be efficient, but it is incredibly frustrating and costly for our veterans as they seek to get the care we promised them and that we are dutybound to provide.

Sadly, in some cases veterans turn to alternative coping mechanisms that can lead to destructive addictions. We know that self-medication is a real problem among military families for both health issues, and veterans, unless they are diagnosed properly and receive the correct medical care, can spiral down as a result of an alcohol or drug addiction, which is a coping or self-medication mechanism that does not work out well. Those stories do not end well at all. Those are some of the challenges we have facing our veterans and trying to provide them with the services they are entitled to and have earned.

But there is a good news part to this story. Last summer we took a major step to provide veterans with the healthcare they deserve when we passed the VA MISSION Act. This legislation organizes reforms in the Department of Veterans Affairs and provide veterans with more flexibility to make decisions themselves regarding their healthcare. In other words, they don’t have to adapt to the system. The system can adapt to them and be flexible to their needs.

One of the most common frustrations I hear from my Texas veterans is that it is sometimes impractical to travel to the next VA hospital when they need urgent care. The VA MISSION Act, consolidates and improves VA community programs. In other words, you can get the care in your community. It allows veterans to receive care from private hospitals and doctors.

It will make up for the Vet-ers’ Choice Program to continue until the approved Veterans Community Care Program matures and is fully in effect.

The VA MISSION Act included some of the most substantial reforms to the veterans healthcare system in years, lowering the barriers to care for veterans and giving them more treatment options. It has also provided the largest funding increase in recent history for veterans’ care and services and modernized the VA’s electronic health record system.

My hope is it will provide some needed relief to veterans and their families who aren’t happy with the status quo. But, it will take time to work with them until we get this right, to build on these reforms until we are able to provide the sort of care all of our veterans need and deserve. We don’t want to just provide for these men and women’s physical needs, we also need to ensure that they have adequate mental health resources as well.

Last Congress, I was an original co-sponsor of the Veteran Urgent Access to Mental Healthcare Act. Enacted as part of the VA MISSION Act, this law now allows those discharged under certain other-than-honorable conditions access to critical mental health care facilities. Veterans who are struggling deserve to be carefully evaluated at the onset of their mental illness and supported with the VA medical treatment necessary for their recovery.

I was proud to introduce the Mental Health and Safe Communities Act, which establishes peer-to-peer services that connect qualified veterans with other veterans to provide support and mentorship. One of the things I hear from our servicemembers, when they take the uniform off, is that what they miss most about the military is the camaraderie and sense of teamwork and mutual support. This legislation is designed to try to provide some transitional support for peer-to-peer services, to connect qualified veterans with other veterans during that period of time. It will also allow qualified veterans to obtain treatment, recovery, stabilization, and rehabilitation services.

While providing physical and mental healthcare for veterans is a top priority, it is only part of providing a smooth transition for those who leave military life to return to civilian life. We want to ensure that they have ample employment opportunities as well.

Last month, the veterans unemployment rate was 2.9 percent—down from 4.1 percent in March of last year and lower than the national unemployment rate. I would like to think that is, in part, a result of the concerted effort we have made to provide more opportunity to our veterans to transition into a meaningful career after life in the military. I am encouraged by those positive numbers. We will continue to follow this result and make sure it is not just a blip on the radar screen.

Last Congress, I introduced the American Law Enforcement Heroes Act, which is now law. It amended a 1968 law to allow grant funds to be used by police agencies working to keep our communities safe. Wherever I go across the State of Texas, I talk to police departments that were really having huge challenges trying to fill the vacancies in their ranks. This will allow more of our veterans who are trained to serve as career law enforcement officers and use grant funds to hire and train them further to make sure they have the skills needed in a specific police department or law enforcement position. This bill makes sure veterans can get hired by local law enforcement agencies when they come out of the military with the very skills that are needed by those police agencies working to keep our communities safe.

I also introduced the Jobs for Our Heroes Act, which was signed into law last January. This streamlines the process by which Active-Duty military reservists and veterans receive commercial driver’s licenses.

Finally, another bill I will mention was the Harry W. Colmery Veterans Educational Assistance Act, which made much needed updates for veterans facing school closures while enrolled. It also increased the resources and opportunities for educational assistance for veterans pursuing STEM careers—science, technology, engineering, and math—something we need more of.

While another piece of legislation I mentioned was signed into law by President Trump and represents our commitment in the Senate to supporting America’s veterans. I am proud of the work we have been able to do together on a bipartisan basis—big and small—to provide America’s veterans with the support and resources they need as they transition to civilian life. There is more I would like to accomplish, including providing greater care and open more doors to veterans. I look forward to working with all of my colleagues to do exactly that.

TRIBUTE TO LIEUTENANT GENERAL PAUL E. FUNK II

Madam President, I want to take just a moment to congratulate one outstanding servicemember from Texas who just received a big promotion. The Senate recently confirmed LTG Paul E. Funk II for his fourth star and for the position of commanding general of the U.S. Army Training and Doctrine Command.

Since 2017, General Funk has served as commanding general of the Third Armored Corps at Fort Hood, where he commands about 100,000 soldiers on five installations across five States. As excised as we were for him to take the helm at Fort Hood, it felt more like a homecoming for General Funk.

As a matter of fact, he was born at Fort Hood and is the son of a previous commanding general of the Third Corps at Fort Hood. They were the first father-son duo to command the unit and joined a small but impressive group of other fathers and sons who have commanded the same corps.

Throughout his career, General Funk has been deployed five times and led soldiers during Operations Desert Shield, Desert Storm, twice in Operation Iraqi Freedom, Operation Enduring Freedom, and Operation Inherent Resolve. General Funk is highly decorated and has received multiple Distinguished Service Medals, the Defense Superior Service Medal, multiple Legion of Merit awards, and numerous Bronze Stars, among other medals.

I would like to add a few words to congratulate soon-to-be General Funk and his wife, Dr. Beth Funk, on this incredible accomplishment. He is an outstanding soldier, leader, and patriot, and will do great work at TRADOC. The State of Texas is sad to say farewell, but we wish him the very best as he heads to Virginia for this incredible opportunity and his continued service to our country.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mrs. Blackburn), The Senator from Louisiana.

STOP SILENCING VICTIMS ACT

Mr. KENNEDY. Madam President, I want to talk briefly about two subjects. The first is sexual harassment. More specifically, I want to talk about a bill I am going to be introducing. It is about the abuse of nondisclosure agreements across government.

There are victims of sexual harassment who are prohibited from talking about their experiences because of a nondisclosure agreement that is attached to a settlement and has been paid for by taxpayers or, in some cases, with private funds. Victims are silenced. Victims are silenced so voters can’t find out about this disgusting behavior. I have always believed that sunlight is the best antiseptic and the best disinfectant, and it is long past time, in my opinion, that empowerment for people who wanted nothing more than to come to work every day and be treated with basic human dignity.

The title of my proposed law is the Stop Silencing Victims Act. It is really very simple. It would say that if you are a State or Federal employee or if you are a public official or a public employee and you are accused of sexual harassment and you settle that lawsuit—whether you settle it with taxpayer funds or private funds—then a nondisclosure agreement is prohibited in that settlement unless the victim wants to have a nondisclosure agreement. In other words, if you are accused of sexual harassment and you settle the case, the taxpayers are entitled to know what settlement unless the victim decides otherwise.

I am going to be careful here. We believe passionately, as we should, in due process in America; that just because you are accused of something doesn’t mean you are guilty of it. Some of my colleagues suggested in the past that you are morally tainted if you don’t automatically believe all accusers. I don’t agree with that. I think you are morally tainted if you don’t treat both the accuser and accused with respect and dignity and due process. So the purpose of my bill is not to take away anybody’s due process. Just because you are accused of something doesn’t mean you are guilty of it.

Having said that, I think we have to face the facts in America. We have had far too many instances of sexual harassment. We have seen it in Hollywood repeatedly. I don’t know how the actors in Hollywood have time to make movies; they are too busy molesting each other.

It is not just in Hollywood. It is all across society. It is in the Halls of Congress. It is in the halls of State government. It is in the boardroom. It is all across America. For the first time in a long time, women who are usually—not always but usually—the victims of sexual harassment have started to speak up. I thank them for that.

My bill will further enhance their voice. If they make an accusation of sexual harassment and the alleged perpetrator is a State employee or Federal employee and the lawsuit is settled, no longer will you be able to have an agreement that says nobody can talk about it unless the victim wants to. Once again, I think this kind of transparency will help us fight a very serious problem in America because this is no country for creepy old men or for creepy young men or for creepy middle-aged men or for anybody—man or woman—who wants to use their power to obtain sexual favors from somebody in fear of them in power in the workplace or otherwise.

IMMIGRATION

Madam President, I believe any President is entitled to surround himself with the advisers of his choice. I firmly believe that.

As you know, our recent Secretary of Homeland Security has been replaced. She and the President met on Sunday, and they mutually decided there would be a change at the top in Homeland Security. Secretary Nielsen decided to resign.

Shortly thereafter, her White House colleagues, her friends—the people she has worked with day in and day out to try to solve this crisis of illegal immigration into America—immediately became anonymous sources and proceeded to cut her to pieces off the record. Of course, our press, as it is entitled to do under the First Amendment, feasted on it. These were Secretary Nielsen’s colleagues; the people she worked with on a daily basis.

This is America. Within reason, you can say what you want, but you ought to put your name to it. You shouldn’t hide behind the label of an anonymous source. I believe, and I suspect the President does, too, that we should treat people with dignity and respect. I don’t think it is fair. Secretary Nielsen’s former colleagues did not show her dignity and respect. In fact, their behavior was classless.

I think Secretary Nielsen did the very best she could under difficult circumstances, for we do have a problem at the border. “Problem” is an understatement. In March, we had 100,000 people come into our country illegally. That is the most in 10 years. If that continues, we are going to set a record this year of the number of people entering our country illegally.

We are a nation of immigrants, and I am proud of that. Americans cannot be called anti-immigrant. Every year, we welcome a million people across the border to come into our country and become Americans. They do it legally. They follow the law—they are properly vetted; they get in line; they wait patiently. Then we welcome them in. We are a nation of immigrants, and I am very proud of that.

Unfortunately, we have another 500,000 to 600,000 people who don’t follow the rules. They come into our country illegally. Illegal immigration is illegal. Even if you think it is a good idea, I don’t think it is the rule of law, which is one of the bedrock principles in America, then you would want to stop illegal immigration. It is just that simple.

I don’t care who the President puts in charge of Homeland Security. I don’t want to leave that statement in isolation or allow it to be taken out of context. Obviously, the Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security is a very important post, but I don’t care which man or woman the President chooses. We have to solve this problem until we do three things. Some brandnew, shiny, magical wonder pony is not going to gallop in and save
Let's come together, and let's talk about barriers that are strategically placed. You cannot seal a 1,900-mile piece of real estate without having a barrier. It can't be done. If you don't believe me, ask Israel. That is why it has a border wall with the West Bank. That is why Saudi Arabia has a border wall with Yemen. That is why India has a border wall as do Bulgaria and Malaysia. I could go on.

Border walls work. All border walls say is: If you come into our country, you are in illegally because we believe in the rule of law.

The second thing we need to do, as the Presiding Officer well knows, is to pass asylum laws that look like somebody used high-level thinking on purpose because what we have now doesn't fit that description. If you are coming from Central America—from El Salvador, from Nicaragua, from Guatemala—to do is make your way to American soil, say the magic words, and you will be allowed into our country. You will be told: We are going to give you a court date. Yet we are so far behind in our immigration court that the court date will likely come in a year and a half or 2 years. You will be released into the country, and you will be told to come back for the court date. Some do. Many don't.

No other country that I am aware of has asylum laws as upside down as ours. You could drive all across Washington, DC, and pick the first person you find who is living under the interstate and say: You draft an asylum law for us. It would be better than the asylum law we have right now.

The U.S. Senate ought to be debating America's asylum laws right this second. I am not saying the other things we are doing—we are in the personnel business important, but there is not a single issue right now that is more important. Congress needs to do its job, and the Senate ought to be debating this issue right now. I don't know how it will turn out. How about we just surprise ourselves for a change and do something intelligent by putting the issue on the floor of the Senate and by letting us debate it and offer amendments. We might be surprised at what we can achieve.

The things we are going to have to do to solve our problem is to convince our friends in Mexico and our friends in Central America—El Salvador, Guatemala, Nicaragua—to work with us in terms of solving this problem. Mexico has already stated that the president do is to call an immigration summit. He has declined to do it, but I am going to keep talking about it until I persuade him to call an immigration summit. Invite the President of Mexico and the presidents of the Northern Triangle Central American countries. Let's come together, and let's talk about the problem.

There are some bad people coming across the border. Some of them are from Central America. The President is right about that. We have gang members, drug dealers, criminals, child sex traffickers, and adult sex traffickers. Yet some people coming across are not bad people. They are coming because they are scared. I read an analysis the other day of a poll conducted by Vanderbilt University. It was the most expensive, thorough poll that one could do. They didn't call people on the telephone; they talked to people in person. It was a representative sample.

This poll found that between one-third and one-half of the people with whom they talked who lived in Central American countries—the so-called Northern Triangle countries—had been victims of crime within the past year, usually of extortion. That is the problem in these Central American countries—the gangs are running the countries. In many cases, the police are in league with the gangs, and the judicial system is compromised.

I mean, imagine how bad things would have to be for you to take your child and your spouse and decide—I am going to leave where I am and walk, with the clothes on my back, 500 to 1,000 miles across the desert. How is how law is how bad things are where I am right now.” That is the case with many of the people in Central America.

I don’t know the answer. I think we should start with a Presidential summit—not representatives of the President’s but a Presidential summit of the President of the United States, President of Mexico López Obrador, and the Presidents of the Northern Triangle countries. Let’s see what we can do to try to solve this problem.

There is precedent for this. Back in the late 1990s and well into the next decade, we had a terrible problem with drug cartels and cocaine coming into this country from Colombia. We didn’t solve it, but we did solve it by working with Colombia to develop what we called then Plan Colombia. We sat down with the President of Colombia and said: We will work with you. We will even provide you with the funding in return for specific commitments—one being to stop growing cocoa leaves, for example. It has taken a decade, but we have not completely solved the problem. Yet, if you visit Colombia today, it is a different country.

The latest example of this new fundamentalism of intolerance comes from Yale University—in particular, from Yale Law School—where we learned last week that Yale Law School had imposed a new policy that would block students who work for certain faith-based organizations from accessing resources that are available to all other students. Specifically, that policy would prohibit students from receiving school resources if they decided to work for an organization that takes religious faith into account when hiring. Unlike federal law, Yale’s policy, as announced, failed to include an exemption for religious organizations even though Federal law recognizes the rights of religious organizations to hire based on their faith.

What we are talking about here is something very simple. Yale said to a group of students that if those in the group wanted to work for faith-based organizations, they would not be able to work for the same loan repayment programs that are offered to all other students who work for all other organizations. As to what Yale held out to students as being a neutral and generally available program for folks who chose to work in the public's interest either during the summer or after law school, Yale Law School, last week, said: Oh, no. It is not going to be available if you are a student of faith and choose to go to work for an organization that is faith-based and want to pursue its faith-based mission.

Ironically, this was done in the name of tolerance. Yale said it was trying to control the flow of people from Central America, until we revise our asylum laws, and until we build a barrier. I suggest the absence of a quorum. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

Mr. HAWLEY. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. HAWLEY. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that I be permitted to complete my remarks. Without objection, it is so ordered.

RELIGIOUS INTOLERANCE

Mr. HAWLEY. Madam President, I rise to discuss a new and growing fundamentalism—a fundamentalism of intolerance and bigotry that is spreading on our college campuses, in our universities, and in our communities.

That is the case with many of the people in Central America.

I don’t know the answer. I think we should start with a Presidential summit—not representatives of the President’s but a Presidential summit of the President of the United States, President of Mexico López Obrador, and the Presidents of the Northern Triangle countries. Let's see what we can do to try to solve this problem.

There is precedent for this. Back in the late 1990s and well into the next decade, we had a terrible problem with drug cartels and cocaine coming into this country from Colombia. We didn’t solve it, but we did solve it by working with Colombia to develop what we called then Plan Colombia. We sat down with the President of Colombia and said: We will work with you. We will even provide you with the funding in return for specific commitments—one being to stop growing cocoa leaves, for example. It has taken a decade, but we have not completely solved the problem. Yet, if you visit Colombia today, it is a different country.

The latest example of this new fundamentalism of intolerance comes from Yale University—in particular, from Yale Law School—where we learned last week that Yale Law School had imposed a new policy that would block students who work for certain faith-based organizations from accessing resources that are available to all other students. Specifically, that policy would prohibit students from receiving school resources if they decided to work for an organization that takes religious faith into account when hiring. Unlike federal law, Yale’s policy, as announced, failed to include an exemption for religious organizations even though Federal law recognizes the rights of religious organizations to hire based on their faiths.

What we are talking about here is something very simple. Yale said to a group of students that if those in the group wanted to work for faith-based organizations, they would not be able to work for the same loan repayment programs that are offered to all other students who work for all other organizations. As to what Yale held out to students as being a neutral and generally available program for folks who chose to work in the public's interest either during the summer or after law school, Yale Law School, last week, said: Oh, no. It is not going to be available if you are a student of faith and choose to go to work for an organization that is faith-based and want to pursue its faith-based mission.

Ironically, this was done in the name of tolerance. Yale said it was trying to foster a more tolerant environment. In fact, this is the most rank intolerance. It is blatant discrimination. It is discrimination against religious organizations and nonprofit organizations that are pursuing their good work and that are, indeed, doing it without asking their clients to pay a single cent. It is discrimination on the basis of faith, pure and simple. It is discrimination against students of faith who want to go to public interest organizations that share their faith mission and who want to do good in the world by pursuing those beliefs while helping those who are in need. It is discrimination, at the end of the day and at the root of the matter, that rejects this country’s commitment and our First Amendment’s commitment to pluralism.

You know, our First Amendment is an extraordinary text. When enacted, it was the first of its kind in the world, and it makes an extraordinary commitment. It says that the people of this country have the right to pursue and to observe their religious beliefs, whatever they may be, so long as they do so in peace with one another. It is, as an old friend of mine once said, the right to be wrong. Our First Amendment guarantees that every single American can pursue his or her most fundamentally held, deeply held religious beliefs so long as they don’t harm other people. That doesn’t mean we all have to agree on what religious beliefs are. It doesn’t mean we have to agree on the outcomes our religious creeds lead us to.

Our First Amendment recognizes the right to be wrong, but this new fundamentalism, this new intolerance and bigotry does not recognize the right to be wrong. In fact, it wants to eliminate the right to be wrong. It wants to say that, no, we all have to agree. We all have to now share Yale’s view of what an appropriate religious mission is. We now have to share Yale’s view of what students should be doing with their time. We have to share Yale’s view of what our deeply held beliefs, religious or otherwise, should be.

This sort of fundamentalism insists on a monochromatic view of the world that we all believe the same thing, that we all act in the same way, that we all behave the way our elites want us to behave. Well, I submit to you that is not the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. That is not our great tradition of pluralism. That is not what has allowed us to live in civil peace and civil friendship for these many years.

The question is, Why does Yale Law School and Yale University want to pursue a policy of discrimination towards religious believers, they may certainly do so, but they may not do it with Federal taxpayer money? That is my question. Yale University receives millions of dollars in Federal taxpayer subsidies every year, to pad its multibillion-dollar endowment. Yale Law School, this seat of privilege, does not have to accept this money from the Federal Government—I submit to you, is not entitled to this money from the Federal Government. It says that “the law school cannot prohibit a student from working for an employer who discriminates”—that is their understanding of what religious organizations do when they ask that the members of the organization share the same faith; they call that discrimination—“the law school cannot prohibit a student from working for an employer who discriminates, but that is not a reason why Yale Law School should bear any obligation to fund that work.”

Well, Yale Law School can certainly pursue its own beliefs, its own objectives and its own goals, but why should they be doing it with Federal taxpayer money? That is my question. Yale University receives millions of dollars in Federal taxpayer subsidies every year, to pad its multibillion-dollar endowment. Yale Law School, this seat of privilege, does not have to accept this money from the Federal Government—I submit to you, is not entitled to this money from the Federal Government. It says that “the law school cannot prohibit a student from working for an employer who discriminates”—that is their understanding of what religious organizations do when they ask that the members of the organization share the same faith; they call that discrimination—“the law school cannot prohibit a student from working for an employer who discriminates, but that is not a reason why Yale Law School should bear any obligation to fund that work.”

So I propose this: If Yale Law School and Yale University want to pursue a policy of discrimination towards religious believers, they may certainly do so, but they may not do it with Federal taxpayer money.

You know, Yale said at the end of last week that they would add an exemption. They said they would add an exemption for religious organizations and religious believers. We haven’t seen that exemption yet. I notice that it took days of pressure and outcry for them to come forward with this. I hope they will add an exemption. I hope they will stop targeting religious students for special disfavor. We are seeing an extraordinary amount of diversity, of the right to be wrong, which has been the basis for our civic friendship, for our civic peace, for the extraordinary diversity of thought and belief we so cherish in this country.

I yield the floor.

Ms. ERNST. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent to complete my remarks before the lunch recess.

to protect people from these horrendous actions. In the case of the military, the Department of Defense should take a stronger posture in terms of preventing sexual assault within its ranks. I say this as a former company commander and a retired lieutenant colonel. While there have been concrete steps taken to improve the safety of our servicemembers, there is more that we can and should do to protect our men and women in uniform and change the overall culture.

The message I hear all too often is that victims in our armed services have a fear of retaliation. Folks, this is absolutely unacceptable. Those who report sexual assault should not fear coming forward, and those who retaliate against individuals should be punished to the full extent of the law. I helped author a bill to make retaliation its own unique offense under the Uniform Code of Military Justice, and fortunately for our servicemembers, this bill is now law.

It is my hope that Congress can continue to work on legislation that addresses these issues.

While my personal story certainly does play a role in my passion for change, so also do the stories and faces of men and women back home in Iowa, every single one of them, with that face, with that name, with that heart, and with that soul. It is their stories that push me to want to make real and lasting change. Whether it is working with Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN, ranking member of the Judiciary Committee, to reauthorize the Violence Against Women Act or fighting to reduce the abuse of females in custody through legislation with Senators BOOKER and BLUMENTHAL, combating sexual assault should be bipartisan and something we all can agree on.

I look forward to continuing to work with my colleagues toward ending sexual assault once and for all. This issue will continue to plague us until we come together and take concrete steps to address it. We all can and must do better.

This month, as we raise awareness of sexual assault, I hope to see this body taking real and lasting action. I yield the floor.

MAIDEN SPEECH

Mrs. BLACKBURN. Madam President, it is an honor to speak on the floor of the Senate today for the first time. I really want to say a thank you to my colleagues here in the Senate for the warm welcome, especially Senator Alexander, for the friendship, advice, and counsel he supplies to each and every one of us as it has been decades.

Every voice matters. Every member of this Chamber speaking because women would not have been allowed. Yet our suffragists took care of that with women getting the right to vote. I love this quote by Susan B. Anthony. I think it is so good and appropriate for us: “I declare to you that woman must not depend upon the protection of man, but must be taught to protect herself, and there I take my stand.”

Women have always been fierce defenders of freedom and freedom’s cause. Many times people will say to me: Why do you choose to serve? For me, it really is more or less a calling to public service. In that calling, I find it important that the conservative voices that still exist to this day that conservative women should be seen but not heard.

Here in this Chamber and in my role, I will continue to fight against a media that chooses to empower women on one side of the aisle and denigrate those of us on the other side of the aisle. I am going to make certain that those conservative women do have a strong voice in the Senate.

I am here because, throughout my history—my family’s history, as I have researched our history—there were so many who chose to serve in the military. There are others, like my family, who have chosen to serve our communities and our neighbors in our schools, in our churches, and in community activities. I regard my public service as a civic duty and a way to give back to the country that has given me so many blessings.

What I have found from Tennesseans is that many of them are just like me. They have grown up in a rural area. They have worked hard, and they have built their version of the American dream. I am very typical of that. I grew up on a farm, attended college, married, had children, two grand-children must be held accountable the opportunities I have been given to work hard, to build a business, and to share in the benefits of hard work.

Politically, I fought the establishment of both parties in Tennessee when I was in the State Senate. There, thousands of Tennesseans joined me in opposing a massive, job-killing State income tax. We won that fight.

Ever since, I have been focused on fighting high taxes and fighting wasteful spending because I know the money we appropriate and that gets spent is not Washington’s money; it is the taxpayers’ hard-earned money. Government ought not have the first right of refusal on your paycheck, but it does. It is part of our duty as public servants to be responsible stewards of the taxpayers’ money and to be aggressive in rooting out waste, fraud, and abuse. I think especially of the 2010 warning of the then-Chairman of the Joint Chiefs, Admiral Mullen, when he said: “The most significant threat to our national security is our debt.”

Our debt today is a staggering $22 trillion. Now, think about this. When George Bush left office, that debt was at $10.7 trillion. It is $22 trillion today. For our children and for our grandchildren, I think it is immoral to pass on this kind of debt.

I am also here because I am pro-life, and I will protect those who cannot protect themselves. I will tell you it is astounding to me that this body could not pass legislation that would protect babies who are born alive as a result of botched abortions. It is a disgrace.

Big Abortion is a disgraceful blight on our country because its actions are a stain on the moral fabric of our country.

Just as I promised Tennesseans, I promise my colleagues that I am going to work hard and will stand strong for what I believe in. I am working for freedom, free people, and free markets. As Frederick Douglass said, “I would unite with anybody to do right and with nobody to do wrong.” I invite all of my colleagues to join me in promoting the idea of “big five”—faith, family, freedom, hope, and opportunity, especially freedom.

Washington needs to be reminded of just how precious the core value of freedom is, not only for Tennesseans but for all Americans. Every community and every church in Tennessee is filled with veterans and families who have sacrificed and who cherish that hard-won gift of freedom. They talk about it. They have parades. When the troops come home, they celebrate our freedom. In Tennessee, we have 470,000 veterans who call Tennessee home, and it is such an honor to come to this body and stand with them because of the work they have done for us.

I serve on the Armed Services and Veterans’ Affairs Committees. We know our military has to have the resources it needs to fight our 21st century wars. We must be held accountable the opportunities I have been given to work hard, to build a business, and to share in the benefits of hard work.

I agree with Leader McConnell. This is a key way to help our Nation and our Chamber function fully and better. As a member of the Judiciary Committee, I am going to work to confirm those qualified judges who will respect and uphold the Constitution.

In January, it was an honor to be sworn in by Justice Brett Kavanaugh and to join Senator Ernst as being the first Republican women on the Judiciary Committee. Being the first woman ever elected to the Senate from Tennessee and being a conservative woman are things that are not lost on me. Indeed, conservative women have quite a track record in leading the fight for freedom in our Nation’s history.

At the top of that record is fighting and winning the right for women to serve in the military. These women who fought and led that charge, and I am honored to join so many of our female colleagues in this Chamber in drafting legislation to honor that anniversary.

Indeed, I am going to provide you with the opportunity to cosponsor and participate in one of those bills that will have a commemorative coin for the event.
Howard Baker—a great Tennessean and the former majority leader of this body—once remarked about the nature of the Senate: “[A]nd if we cannot be civil to one another, and if we stop dealing with those with whom we disagree, we don’t like, we don’t trust, we don’t like, we would soon stop functioning altogether.”

With that in mind, my time in the Senate is going to be focused on action and accomplishment—things that will lead to positive change.

Many times, people have asked me: What are some of your strengths? What do you think helps you in the political process?

I have repeatedly said: I am a pretty good change agent.

That is something we need to do to fully function and to serve our Nation.

Tennessee has constituencies across every sector of our Nation’s economy, and they are wanting change. They want fair and free markets, less regulation, and less litigation.

Our industries are in agriculture, energy production, financial services, national security installations, veterans hospitals, world-class universities, healthcare, manufacturing, technology, entertainment, and communications.

In Tennessee, we are a logistics hub, with great networks and intermodal facilities. As a member of the Senate Commerce, Science, and Transportation Committee, I am going to work with my colleagues to ensure that Tennessee, and the Federal Government shows up, it is there to be a help and not a hindrance.

Tennessee is a cultural leader and is the Nation’s center for music, songwriting, and religion. The people want protection of the works they create and of the sermons they preach.

Tennesseans also tell me that as their Senator, they want me to be aware they are concerned about the future of the Nation. It is unimaginable to Tennesseans that nearly three decades after the end of the Cold War, there is a debate in Washington about, are you for socialism or are you for freedom? They cannot believe this is happening. They want to make certain we are going to continue to push forward and protect this Nation and protect our freedoms that we have. We will continue to do that and to push back.

We have a lot of challenges we are going to face. Tennesseans want to know what we are doing to advance rural broadband, and I have joined Senators Gardner and Cortez Masto on the ACCESS BROADBAND Act to make resources available to rural communities. Technology is not only enabled by freedom, it enhances freedom.

Make no mistake, our technology and our power are being challenged by all of our adversaries. Primary among them is Communist China, which is a threat that threatens the safety of the Nation, our military, our house of innovations, and in its unfair trading practices and monetary policy. We should all be united in taking on the Chinese. Our Tennesseans talk to me regularly about their concerns about some of the theft that takes place, and we have to be ready for bold ideas on how the Federal Government should spend their taxpayer dollars.

They don’t want tweaks around the edges of bills; they want something bold. They are concerned about how we are going to fund the military. They are concerned about what we are going to do to further our presence in this land.

Tennesseans want a Senator who will respect freedom and the rule of law. It is a sacred trust. This represents the best of what this Nation has to offer. Our history reflects a common set of values that are based on faith, family freedom, hope, and opportunity, and I look forward to working with my colleagues to preserve these values and to fight back against those who would attempt to undermine them.

I yield the floor.

ORDER OF PROCEDURE
Mr. MCCONNELL. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that all postcloture time on the Wyrick nomination expire at 5:30, Tuesday, April 9; further, that if confirmed, the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table and the President be immediately notified of the Senate’s action. I further ask unanimous consent that the mandatory quorum call with respect to the Stanton nomination be waived; finally, that notwithstanding the provisions of rule XXII, the cloture motion on the Abizaid nomination be withdrawn and the Senate vote on his confirmation at a time to be determined by the majority leader, in consultation with the Democratic leader, on April 10, 2019.

Mr. JONES. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING JR.’S LETTER FROM BIRMINGHAM JAIL

Mr. JONES. Madam President, I rise today to honor a great American, an American whose words lit a flame of hope in the hearts of those souls who had become weary with the weight of injustice, an American whose struggles—and, yes, dreams—are etched in the foundation of our Nation.

On April 12, 1963, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., was arrested in my hometown of Birmingham, AL. His crime? Leading a peaceful march to protest the indignity suffered by the Black community in the Jim Crow era. He had violated Birmingham public safety commissioner “Bull” Connor’s ban on public demonstrations, which targeted the growing resistance of African Americans to the injustices they were suffering.

While in solitary confinement in Birmingham, Dr. King wrote what became known as the “Letter from Birmingham Jail”—a stinging response to a group of White Southerners who had denounced his tactics and questioned the wisdom and timing of his arrival in Birmingham.

They insisted that he was an outside agitator coming to Alabama to instigate trouble. Dr. King responded famously: “Injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere.”

In his letter, he rejected the idea that African Americans should be more patient for change in the face of the daily indignities inflicted by segregation and in the face of violence and threats and intimidation. He wrote: “There comes a time when the cup of endurance runs over.”

While I did not experience this struggle as a young White child growing up in the nearby Birmingham suburb—I spent much of my adult life and career as a lawyer and former U.S. attorney examining the history and absorbing its lessons. I have often returned to Dr. King’s letter to understand the forces at play at the height of the civil rights struggle. Each time I read his words, I am in awe of his courage and resolve in the face of such incredible personal risk.

Today, we have made great progress in loosening the bonds of racial injustice that have constrained and suffocated our Nation for so many years, we have not yet fully relieved the weight of our country’s abominable history of slavery, segregation, and racial discrimination.

That is why I rise today. It is our civic duty and I believe our moral obligation to remember Dr. King’s words and his deeds, to tell his story, to appreciate that 1963 was not all that long ago, and to reflect on how many things have changed and how many have not. Our obligation is to honor Dr. King’s legacy by joining him in envisioning the mountaintop and working to make real his famous dream that our Nation will rise up and live out the true meaning of the creed: “We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal.” That is why we rise today.

Dr. King believed that those who led the soul to live up to its lofty potential to live up to its lofty ideals, where every man, woman, and child had an equal opportunity to succeed and to live a free life from discrimination. He saw the good in our country and believed we should have no barriers for him to see the bad. It is that positive spirit and clarity of vision that made his legacy so enduring.

Today, we will honor that legacy by reading the letter from the Birmingham jail in its entirety in the Senate Chamber.

I am honored to be joined today by Martin Luther King III, who is in the Gallery—the oldest son of Dr. King and Coretta Scott King—as well as our friend from Tennessee, Steve, the president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and a reverend. Together, they are at the forefront of the modern civil rights movement and personally carry on the legacy that Dr. King bequeathed us.

I am also very grateful that several of my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle will stand with me to read portions of the letter today. I urge the rest of our colleagues, any one in the Gallery, and anyone watching at home on television to consider what we might still learn today from this powerful message about justice and freedom from oppression and the indifference of people who stand idly by when their fellow Americans are persecuted.

To begin the reading of the letter, I would like to yield to my colleague from Tennessee, my friend Senator Alexander.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Tennessee.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Madam President, I thank the Senator from Alabama for including me today in the reading of Dr. King’s letter from the Birmingham jail.

Senator JOHNSON has standing to do this not just because he is from Alabama but because of his work as a U.S. attorney prosecuting Klansmen who blew up a church on 16th Street in Birmingham, killing children.

Senator JOHNSON said that all of this was not too long ago. It was not too long ago for me. I remember a day—on August 28, 1963, I was a student at that time at New York University School of Law with an internship in the U.S. Department of Justice. It was a hot summer day, and the streets were filled with the March on Washington. It was about lunchtime, I believe, that I went outside into that crowd, and I heard a booming voice from a man who was standing on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial. I heard the words that he hoped his four little children one day would “live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin.” I am not sure at that time, that at that age, that I understood fully what I was seeing and hearing, but I was hearing Dr. King’s “I Have a Dream” speech.

In 1962, a year earlier, I was a senior at Vanderbilt University in Nashville. It was not that long ago, but a lot has changed since then. Vanderbilt, a prestigious institution, just in that year was desegregating its undergraduate student body. But even then, Black Americans couldn’t go to the same restaurants, stay at the same motels, or go to the same bathroom—even then, and it was not that long ago.

Four months before I heard Dr. King speak in August of 1963, he wrote a letter from the Birmingham jail on the 16th of April, 1963. This was Dr. King’s letter:

My Dear Fellow Clergymen:

While confined here in the Birmingham city jail, I came across your recent statement calling my present activities “unwise and untimely.”

Dr. King’s letter went on to say:

I think I should indicate why I am here in Birmingham, since you have been influenced by the view which argues against “outsiders” coming into Birmingham. A little over a year ago the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and a reverend. Together, they are at the forefront of the modern civil rights movement and personally carry on the legacy that Dr. King bequeathed us.

I am also very grateful that several of my colleagues on both sides of the political aisle will stand with me to read portions of the letter today. Four months before I heard Dr. King speak in August of 1963, he wrote a letter from the Birmingham jail on the 16th of April, 1963. This was Dr. King’s letter:...
We have waited for more than 340 years for our constitutional and God-given rights. The nations of Asia and Africa are moving with jetlike speed toward gaining political independence. I hope the United States may rise to a new height of apprehension and urgency and squash the bug of coffee at a lunch counter. Perhaps it is easy for those who have never felt the stinging darts of segregation, who have never known the fear that a dark skin would not be equal to a white skin beneath the same God, to say, "Wait!" It rings in the ear of every Negro suffering and twisted and your speech stammering as you seek to explain to your six year old daughter why she can't go to the public amusement park that has just been advertised on television, and see tears welling up in her eyes when she is told that Funtown is closed to colored children, and see ominous clouds of inferiority beginning to form in her little mental sky, and see her begin to distort her personality by developing an unconvincing but very emotional kind ofahn of your own, and then you have to concoct an answer for a five year old son who is asking: "Daddy, why do white people treat colored people so mean?"; when you take your children to see a movie and the white children have a special "colored" section in the movie house; when you are humiliated day in and day out by nagging signs reading "white" and "colored"; when your first name becomes "nigger," your middle name becomes "boy" (however old you are), and your last name becomes "John," and your wife and mother are never given the respected title "Mrs.;" when you are harried by day and haunted by night; when you areblacked out from the Ridiculous depths of prejudice and racism to the majestic heights of understanding and brotherhood. The purpose of our direct action program is to create a situation so crisis packed and so dynamic that it will inevitably open the door to negotiation. I therefore concur with you in your saying that "there is a type of constructive, nonviolent resistance which is necessary for growth. There comes a time when the cup of endurance runs over, and men are no longer willing to follow the bitter and trying course of nonresistance, but are ready to sacrifice all--to begin the great national repository of惭然的深仇大恨和种族歧视到极点的壮丽境界。 everything that the Hungarian freedom fighters did in Hungary was "illegal." It was "illegal" to aid and comfort a Jew in Hitler's Germany. Even so, I am sure that, had I lived in Germany at the time, I would have aided and comforted my Jewish brothers. If today I lived in a Communist country where certain principles dear to the Christian faith are suppressed, I would obey God rather than men.

I must make two honest confessions to you, my Christian and Jewish brothers. First, I must confess that for the past years I have been gravely disappointed with the white moderate. I have almost reached the regrettable conclusion that the Negro's great condition is the white moderate's dream of time. And let me state the issue in that form—undeniably the Negro is the inferior race. I have said it. I have stated it clearly. I will state it again. There is no need now to stress the fact that I speak the truth.

lofty spires pointing heavenward. I have been impressed by the South's beautiful churches with their golden spires and stained glass windows. They are a testament to the deep moral concern that has been present in our society throughout history. As a minister of the gospel, I have seen the power of religion to bring people together and to inspire change. I am encouraged by the many southern religious leaders who have taken a stand for justice and equity. They have shown us how powerful religious education can be in shaping a more just society.

There was a time when the church was very powerful—in the time of the early Christians, when they were joined by both rich and poor. But I am not unmindful of the fact that each of you has taken some significant stands on this issue. I commend you, Reverend Stallings, for your commitment to the ideal of integration and your support of the Negro sit-ins and Freedom Rides. You have been a leader in the struggle for freedom. You have left your mark on the history of our nation and the world. Perhaps we might once again be able to see the justice of our cause and, with deep moral concern, serve as the channel through which our just grievances could reach heaven. It is true that the police have exercised a prophetic role in the struggle for justice. But it is also true that they have used force and violence to undermine the cause of justice. I believe that the means we use must be as just as the end we seek.

Perhaps I have once again been too optimistic. Is organized religion too inextricably bound to the harsh realities of race and economic injustice? I have heard many ministers say: “Those are social issues, with which the church has no real concern.” And I have heard many churchmen say: “Follow this decree because integration is morally right and because the Negro is your brother.” In the midst of blatant injustices inflicted upon the Negro, I have watched many churches serene and mouth pious irrelevancies and sanctimonious trivialities. In the midst of a mighty struggle to rid our nation of racial and economic injustice, I have seen many who have not been able to see the wind through the anesthetizing security of stained glass windows. In spite of my shattered dreams, I came to Birmingham with the hope that the white church would see the justice of our cause and, with deep moral concern, serve as the channel through which our just grievances could reach heaven. of the pioneer. They will be old, oppressed, battered Negro women, symbolized in a seventy two year old woman in Montgomery, Alabama, who rose up with a sense of dignity and willingly decided not to ride the segregated buses, and who responded with ungrum-ological profundity to one who inquired about her weariness: “My feet is tired, but my spirit is rested.” They were the young high school and college students, the young ministers of the gospel and a host of their elders, courageously and non-violently lunch counters and willingly going to jail for conscience’ sake.

One day the South will know that when these disinherited children of God sat down at lunch counters, they were in reality standing up for what is best in the American dream and for the most sacred values in our Judeo Christian heritage, thereby bringing our nation back to those great wells of democracy which were dug deep by the founding fathers in their formulation of the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence.

Never before have I written so long a letter. I’m afraid it is much too long to take your precious time. I can assure you that it would be much shorter if it had been written from a comfortable desk, but what else can one do when he is alone in a narrow jail cell, other than write long letters, think long thoughts, and pray long prayers?

If I have said anything in this letter that overstates the truth and indicates an una-reasonably high esteem for my own abilities, I beg you to forgive me. If I have said anything that understates the truth and indicates my having a patience that allows me to settle for anything less than the most perfect fulfillment of every truth and indicates my having a patience that does not hold each other in contempt, may God forgive me.

I hope this letter finds you strong in the faith. I also hope that circumstances will soon make it possible for me to meet each of you, not just as a politician or a civil-rights leader but as a fellow clergymen and a Christian brother. Let us all hope that the dark clouds of racial prejudice will soon pass away and the deep fog of misunderstanding will be lifted from our fear drenched communities, and in some not too distant tomorrow the radiant stars of love and brotherhood will shine over our great nation with all their scintillating beauty.

Yours for the cause of Peace and Brotherhood,

MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR.

Mr. President, I am struck by a for-tiphrastic tone in the closing of this remarkable letter: “One day the South will recognize its real heroes.”

The South will recognize its real heroes indeed—heroes like Dr. King, like Rosa Parks, like my old friend Fred Shuttlesworth; heroes like Congressman JOHN LEWIS, like Fannie Lou Hamer, like Ida B. Wells; heroes like the countless others who stood alongside, who worked for civil rights and like the innocent victims swept up in the brutal crackdowns during this hopeful movement toward universal human dignity.

We carry on their legacy in our daily lives—in our schools, in our houses of worsip, in our workplaces, and will be throughout our society. That includes in the institution of the U.S. Senate. It is also carried on in the work of Dr.
King's family members, like Martin Luther King III.

Dr. King wrote his letter in the midst of this struggle and knew that much work still lay ahead. Less than 6 months after his arrest, the Klan in Birmingham planted a bomb outside the ladies’ lounge of the 16th Street Baptist Church, and it killed four innocent young African-American girls.

A year later, though, Congress passed the Civil Rights Act of 1964. The year after that the Voting Rights Act of 1965. Historic changes were afoot. Yet, despite this incredible historic progress—or perhaps because of —it—in April 1968, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., was assassinated in Memphis, Tenn. He was just 39 years old. He gave his life for this cause. He gave his life in a struggle during which so many gave their lives.

We have to remember this is not an ancient history. We know that we still have our challenges albeit in a world that has, no doubt, benefited tremendously from the progress he achieved, but it is still a work in progress. It will always be a work in progress.

If we truly carry on his legacy, we must recognize that we cannot stand idly by when we see injustice and that we cannot stand idly by when we see a reemergence of hateful rhetoric in our public discourse. We have seen it before in Birmingham and elsewhere. We have seen before the devastating violence that can follow, and it lives with us today. It lives with us today in tragedies like those of Charleston, Charlotteville, Pittsburgh, and now New Zealand.

We need to strive not just for civility but to make sure we live in a country that does not hold each other in contempt. That is the challenge. We talk a lot in this Chamber about civility and respect and dignity, but the fact is, when we leave this Chamber and go out into the world, people will hold each other in contempt more so than is just possible.

I thank my colleagues who joined me this evening for this historic event. It has been an honor and a privilege.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Ms. Murkowski), The Senator from Alaska.

REMEMBERING LIEUTENANT COLONEL RICHARD

COLE
Mr. BROWN. Madam President, we lost an American hero today—the last in the line of heroes that will I explain move me. Our attentive native Lt. Col. Richard Cole, and he was the last of the famed Doolittle Raiders.

In the spring of 1942, the Nation was reeing from Pearl Harbor, and 80 Americans embarked on a mission that would change the war. They wanted to know the dangers. They knew many of them would not come home. The Raiders showed America and the world that the United States and the Allied Forces could win the war. It was considered a turning point in the news coverage and in people’s minds.

Like my dad, the Doolittle Raiders came from a generation that spoke proudly of their service to their country. They rarely drew attention or talked much about their own courage.
They sought no recognition but, oh, how they earned it.

It was an honor to help award the Controversial Gold Medal to the Doolittle Raiders in Washington 4 years ago—a long time in coming and so deserved. I believe, at that time, there were five Doolittle Raiders left, and after the death of Mr. COLE, there are none today.

I am so glad that Dick Cole was able to live to receive that medal, as were a handful of others. These men are no longer with us, so it is all the more important that we continue to tell their story. My heart goes out to the families and friends of Lieutenant Colonel Cole and to those of all the Raiders. I thank the Doolittle Tokyo Raiders Asso for keeping that memory alive.

REMEMBERING OF CHERYL MARIE STANTON

Madam President, President Trump has made big promises to workers in Alaska and Ohio and across the country. He has promised workers everywhere that he will put American workers first. Yet we know in Lordstown and elsewhere, which have put a thumb on the scale of justice as they have chosen corporation over workers, that he has betrayed those workers. The people he has put in charge haven’t looked out for workers. Over and over again, they have raised their taxes for corporations. His Cabinet, frankly, looks like a retreat for Wall Street.

His latest nominee for the Department of Labor is more of the same, another nominee who puts corporations before workers. Cheryl Stanton is nominated to be Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division.

This is not an especially well-known Agency to most Americans, but it is a critical job for all American workers.
The Administrator is the person in charge of enforcing overtime rules, the minimum wage, child labor, and the Family Medical Leave Act. These are all Federal laws. The minimum wage is a Federal law. The overtime rule is a Federal law. The Family Medical Leave Act is a Federal law, as is the law regarding child labor. These are all Federal laws, but they don’t mean much if they are not enforced.

He put his thumb on the scale for corporations—that is right, defending corporations—that is right, defending the corporations against American workers when they stole workers’ wages. So she has been on the side of these companies when workers tried to make sure they got fair wages and fair overtime and that child labor laws were protected and the Family Medical Leave Act. She has taken the other side, though, the corporations. Now the President has put her in a job where she is supposed to look out for workers, but who knows if she will really do that.

Let’s look at some of her history: a decade defending corporations and then she helped South Carolina’s workforce agency that manages State unemployment insurance. When accounting errors resulted in overpayments of unemployment insurance—these weren’t errors made by workers; these were accounting errors made that the workers didn’t have anything to do with. When accounting errors resulted in overpayments of unemployment insurance to workers looking for jobs, she went after the workers, garnishing their wages.

Maybe worst of all, interestingly, she failed to pay her own house cleaners until they took her to court. Think about that. The person who is supposed to be in charge of making sure corporations pay their workers, whether it is minimum wage, whether it is overtime, whether it is enforcing child labor laws, whether it is enforcing the Family Medical Leave Act—she is the person who is supposed to be in charge of making sure corporations pay their workers, and she didn’t pay workers at her own house.

If you want to get a measure of a person, look at how they treat people whom they are allowed to mistreat, say it that way. Look at how they treat people who have less power than they do; how they treat the waitstaff at a restaurant, how they treat the entry-level staff in their office, how they treat the person who cleans their hotel room or cleans their office.

My favorite quote from the Bible—one of my favorite quotes—is from Matthew 25, when Jesus said as follows:

When I was hungry, you fed me; when I was thirsty, you gave me drink; when I was a stranger, you welcomed me. What you did for the least of these, you did for me.

I thought about that, and I know there is no way Jesus or Muhammad or Buddha or any of the great religious leaders would say somebody is worth less than somebody else, that a page is worth less than a parliamentarian, for instance, or that the Presiding Officer is worth less than the person who is sitting at the desk.

So Matthew 25 is exactly right. No worker is worth less than Ms. Stanton. No Senator is worth more or less than anybody else. I mean, Matthew 25 speaks to equality, speaks to the sort of way we should be treating people who may have lesser titles than we have.

I think of that when I think about Ms. Stanton and the job she has been nominated for. The workers whom she will be in a position to help or hurt—her career so far, she has been in positions where she has hurt workers, but the position she is in that she can help or hurt workers, these workers shouldn’t be treated with less respect. Their work has dignity. Whether they sweep the floor, whether they work for tips, whether they work on a salary, whether they raise children, whether they take care of an aging parent, their work has dignity.

If you love your country, you fight for the people. It works regardless of their kind of work. Whether they are working construction, whether they are a nurse, whether they are a housekeeper, whether they are a salesperson, whether they work at a counter in a fast-food restaurant, whether they are a page, whether they are a Senator, all work has dignity.

I think it is important, when you think about Ms. Stanton and the job she has, that they value workers, that it is worth less than Ms. Stanton. It is worth less than a Parliamentarian, for instance. Matthew 25, when Jesus said as follows: ‘one of my favorite quotes—is from Matthew 25, when Jesus said as follows: ‘When I was hungry, you fed me; when I was thirsty, you gave me drink; when I was a stranger, you welcomed me. What you did for the least of these, you did for me.’

When work has dignity, people are paid the wages they earn; they are paid a living wage; they have power over their schedules. It is about wages; it is about benefits; it is about the dignity of work; and it is about a safe workplace; it is about childcare. It is about all of those things.

Workers should not be intimidated into accepting less just because they can’t afford a fancy law firm. We need people in government who understand that. We need people who understand that, when you love this country, you fight for those people who make it work.

The last thing we need is an administration with more people serving in Washington who don’t value work or respect the Americans who do.

This is another nominee from the President of the United States who will put her thumb or who has put his thumb on the scale to support corporations over workers, to support Wall Street over consumers, to support big businesses over small businesses.

We don’t need another one of those in this administration, whether at EPA, whether at the Department of Labor, whether at the Federal Reserve, or whether at the White House.

I urge my colleagues, as this nomination comes forward, as Ms. Stanton comes forward to be Chief of the Wage and Hour Division—to be Administrator for the Wage and Hour Division, I urge my colleagues to listen a little more to the Americans whom we serve and a little less to big corporations that always have their way in this body—always have their way in this body. I urge my colleagues to listen a little less to those corporations trying to squeeze every last penny out of their workers and reject this nomination.

I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

Mrs. FISCHER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mrs. FISCHER. Mr. President, I rise to commend the incredible work done by the men and women of Offutt Air Force Base during the historic flooding that has affected the State of Nebraska.

Offutt Air Force Base is home to some of our Nation’s most essential missions. The men and women of STRATCOM stand constant vigil. They provide command and control for the U.S. nuclear deterrent and maintain watch over space operations, missile defense, and global strike.

Airmen of the 55th Wing execute some of the most sensitive and complex missions, ensuring that battlefield commanders and the President can make the decisions that have the most up-to-date intelligence, surveillance, and reconnaissance information available.

The Air Force’s only weather wing, the 557th Weather Wing, provides time-sensitive weather and collision avoidance information at any time and for any place around the globe.

Throughout Offutt, many other tenant units work in tandem with base leadership to fulfill vital missions that safeguard our national security. These men and women pride themselves on being ready for every threat, but the arrival of a once-in-50-year weather event provided a test unlike any other they have previously faced.

In 2019, Nebraska has seen severe flooding—the worst and most widespread natural disaster in the history of our State. When the waters began to rise, the lives of those at Offutt and the base’s critical equipment were put at risk, and the response was immediate. With less than 48 hours to prepare, highly essential aircraft such as the RC–135 were quickly routed to safe locations. The planes that could not be relocated were moved to higher ground. Contingency plans were put in place to ensure continuity of operations.

Across the installation, scores of airmen turned out to answer the call and move sensitive electronics and valuable equipment away from the reach of damage, fighting as a team against the oncoming flood.

Personnel worked around the clock to fortify facilities with more than 235,000 sandbags and 460 flood barriers to minimize damage as much as possible. These men and women mounted a Herculean effort to defend their base and do everything possible to protect their fellow airmen.

Across Offutt, we have seen a remarkable demonstration of what makes this base so special. Every day, airmen offering to do all they could to protect the base, personnel working tirelessly to ensure the highly critical operations of STRATCOM and the 55th Wing were not negatively impacted, and, above all, a unifying spirit of dedication and purpose that showed the world that, when disaster strikes, there is nothing that can keep the men and women of Offutt Air Force Base from answering the call of duty.

I am extremely proud to have the privilege of representing everyone who makes this base such a key part of our national security. There is no finer representation of what it means to serve than the work of the personnel at Offutt who responded to this emergency.

Despite the outstanding efforts made in preparation for this natural disaster, Mother Nature took a toll on the base. At the flood's peak, one-third of Offutt Air Force Base was underwater. Eighty facilities at the base have been impacted, and waters crested at a depth of 16 feet. More than 3,000 personnel were displaced from their work centers, and 1.2 million square feet of office space was underwater.

The damage across the installation is extensive, and it will take a concerted effort to ensure that the impacts from the flooding are resolved and that the base is fully restored.

I urge my colleagues to work together with the Nebraska delegation to ensure that when the full accounting of the impacts from the flood are assessed, we provide the Air Force with the full resourcing it needs to repair that damage.

The good news is, our service men and women at Offutt are already hard at work on the process of putting Offutt back on its feet.

As the water recedes, personnel have been working hard to account for the damage and take action to resume the operations that were suspended as a result of this disaster.

One of the signature sounds of the Bellevue, NE, community is the distant rumble of the engines of the aircraft that depart from and land at Offutt every day. We value the work that is done on the base, and that unmistakable sound was absent. Now that sound is back at Offutt.

Last week, the runway was certified for operation, and the first of our relocated planes came home.

We should not operate under any misperceived notions that repairing Offutt will happen overnight. This is going to be a step-by-step process. But with the hard work of the Air Force, Congress, and the local community, we can work on the process of putting Offutt Air Force Base even better than it was before.

I wish to offer my thanks to everyone at Offutt Air Force Base who dedicated their time and energy to responding to this disaster. I also want to thank the heros, the airmen of the Nebraska National Guard who provided aerial damage assessment during the flooding. Thank you to the countless members of the Bellevue and Omaha communities who donated food, equipment, and time to volunteer during the flooding.

As we look to the days ahead, I am confident that both Offutt and Nebraska will emerge from this disaster stronger.

Now is a time when we must focus on the future. We will rebuild and ensure that Offutt remains Nebraska Strong.

Thank you.

I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. LEE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

NOMINATION OF CHERYL MARIE STANTON

Mr. LEE. Mr. President, I come to the floor this afternoon to speak in support of my friend Cheryl Marie Stanton, who is well qualified to be the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division within the U.S. Department of Labor. I urge my colleagues to support her nomination.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. LEE. Mr. President, I wish to offer my thanks to everyone at Offutt Air Force Base from answering the call of duty.

As we look to the days ahead, I am confident that both Offutt and Nebraska will emerge from this disaster stronger.

Now is a time when we must focus on the future. We will rebuild and ensure that Offutt remains Nebraska Strong.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. LEE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to speak for up to 10 minutes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. LEE. Mr. President, it seems that every week now, I come to the floor to say the same thing, which is that healthcare is not political; it is personal. There is no part of healthcare that is more personal than the decision someone makes about whether or not to become a parent and under what circumstances to have a child. And that certainly is the case when things go terribly wrong, which they sometimes do. These reproductive health decisions need to be made by women in consultation with their doctors, their families, their partners, and most importantly, their faith. These are the decisions that are made by women in consultation with their doctors, their families, and their faith. That is what the Supreme Court has ruled. They should not be made by politicians—mainly men—looking to score political points from women's personal tragedies. Yet, once again, that is what the Republicans are doing right now.

I have a question. How dare you pretend to care about the health of women and babies when all of your actions suggest otherwise?

Unfortunately, Republicans haven't noticed, but we have a real healthcare crisis involving women and babies in this country. In most of the world, fewer and fewer women are dying from childbirth—not here in the United States. Our maternal mortality rate is climbing. More women are dying. Our infant mortality rate ranks a shameful 32 among the world's 35 wealthiest nations. That means we have more babies who aren't surviving through the first year of their life because of lack of healthcare, nutrition, and other issues.

The Republican majority should be working with us and taking action to improve health outcomes for moms and babies. Instead, they are busy trying to take away their healthcare.

Between 2010 and 2018, the Republican majority in Congress voted to repeal or weaken the Affordable Care Act more than 70 times—7–0. Now the Trump administration has stepped in to help. Last June and August, they expanded access to association health plans and short-term plans. We just call them junk plans because they don't cover so many basics, like prescription drugs, mental health care, and—you guessed it—maternity care.

Let me remind everyone that before the Affordable Care Act, most insurance companies did not cover prenatal care and maternity care as a basic part of healthcare. Women had to go out and pay extra, get a rider to cover something that is a basic part of our healthcare.

Thanks to these junk plans that don’t cover maternity care, and other sabotage, it is estimated that right now just a single prenatal care visit costs 16.6 percent more than it otherwise would because of these efforts to undermine, sabotage, and take away healthcare. Does that sound like the Republican majority cares about moms and babies?

Now the Department of Justice has announced that it agrees with the Federal judge in Texas who said the Affordable Care Act must be struck down. This is something the President has enthusiastically embraced.

The entire Affordable Care Act is at stake, including Medicaid expansion for low-income workers who want to work but now have to choose between working and having healthcare coverage, children staying on their parents’ plans until age 26, and protections for people with preexisting conditions.

In other words, if a baby is born with spina bifida, a heart defect, a genetic condition, or any other health problem, insurance companies would once again, under these plans, be able to deny them coverage or subject them to lifetime limits like we used to have. Does that sound like policies that care about moms and babies?

By the way, to emphasize that they support President Trump 100 percent, 2 weeks ago Senate Republicans passed a budget resolution out of committee on a party-line vote that once again has language to repeal the Affordable Care Act with no replacement. Sorry, moms and babies, you are on your own. And don’t go looking to Medicaid for health coverage either. The Trump budget would cut $1.5 trillion from Medicaid over 10 years—trillion. That is the same Medicaid that covers half of all babies born in America. When you gut Medicaid, you are keeping moms and babies from getting the healthcare they need. Does that sound as though Republicans care about moms and babies?

If our Republican colleagues really care about the health of moms and babies, here is what they should be doing: They would pass a baby act to make sure that every mother gets the best pregnancy care possible and every baby gets a healthy start. If our Republican colleagues care so much about the health of moms and babies, instead of politicizing issues around reproductive health and women’s ability to make their own choices—instead of politicizing what is happening around reproductive health, they would join us in making the Quality Care for Moms and Babies Act a reality.

It is time to stop the cynical, political stunts. It is time to trust women to make the best reproductive healthcare decisions for themselves, their families, and their futures. It is time to take action to resolve the maternal and infant health crisis in this country. It is also time to ensure that every mom and every baby has the healthcare they need for a healthy life.

This is the United States of America; we can do better for our moms and babies than is currently being done. Democrats are ready to take real action to join with our Republican colleagues. It is time they join us in protecting the health of moms and babies.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Ms. McSally). Under the previous order, all postcloture time is expired. The question is, Will the Senate advise and consent to the Wyrick nomination?

Ms. STABENOW. I ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second?

There appears to be a sufficient second.

The clerk will call the roll.

Republican leaders allowed one Senator to block the nomination of Ms. Feldblum to the EEOC, meaning that important civil rights agency is unable to do some of its most critical work.

In this moment, as our Nation is grappling with how to address the epidemic of sexual assault and harassment in the workplace, hamstringing the Agency that is responsible for protecting women's rights and safety is absolutely the wrong message to send to women, to workers, and to businesses.

So I am going to keep fighting to make sure the nominees to the National Labor Relations Board and the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission represent all voices, as they are supposed to, not just corporations.

I urge every man, woman, and worker who believes workers should have a voice to join me in that.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate from Ohio.

CHINA

Mr. PORTMAN. Madam President, I am on the floor tonight to talk about the importance of trade and specifically our country's economic relationship with China.

As a trade lawyer, as a former U.S. Trade Representative, as a member of the Finance Committee now that handles trade issues, I have been involved in these issues over the years.

Most importantly, I am from Ohio, which is a huge trade State. We are concerned about trade because we have a lot of manufacturing and a lot of agriculture, where jobs depend on trade both back and forth. In fact, in Ohio, about 25 percent of our manufacturing workers make products that get exported, and one out of every three acres planted by Ohio farmers is now being exported.

These are good jobs. These are jobs that pay, on average, about 16 percent more than other jobs and have better benefits. We want more of them.

With only 5 percent of the world's population and about 25 percent of the world's economy, America wants access to the 95 percent of the consumers living outside of our borders. It is always in our interest to open up overseas markets for our workers, our farmers, and our service providers.

While promoting exports, we also have to be sure we protect American jobs from unfair trade, from imports that are unduly undercutting our farmers and our workers, our service providers. Simply put, we want a level playing field, where there is fair and reciprocal treatment. If it is fair, if we have a level playing field, I believe American workers and businesses can compete and win.

The sweet spot for America is this balanced approach: opening up new markets for U.S. products, while being tougher on trade enforcement so American workers have the opportunity to compete.

In that context, I want to talk a little about the inequities in our relation-
China, as we all know, has relatively higher tariffs than the United States—on average, about a 10-percent tariff in China versus our 3.4 percent tariff, but that is not the biggest problem.

The biggest problem is a host of what are called nontariff barriers. Some keep American products out of China, and others coerce the production of those products to be in China. So if you want to sell in China, you have to produce in China, and that is in order to transfer this valuable intellectual property from U.S. companies to Chinese companies.

Investment is not reciprocal either. According to the U.S. Trade Representative in its section 301 report on China, in 2016, the OECD—Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development—ranked China the fourth most restrictive investment climate in the world, despite their being the second largest economy in the world.

So of all the countries in the world, OECD ranked China, the United States, and Japan the most restrictive in terms of accepting foreign investment.

Based on this report, China’s investment climate, then, is nearly four times more restrictive than that of the United States.

So the confluence of these two factors—the lack of transparency and reciprocity—stem from China’s Communist Party-led nonmarket economy. While China made an effort after joining the World Trade Organization to become more market oriented, in recent years, they have actually moved away from more market-based reforms and instead doubled down on the kind of mercantilism you would expect in the last century but revamped for the 21st century.

In doing so, China has placed enormous strain on the world’s trading system and, in turn, has undermined American jobs, American workers, and America’s overall competitiveness.

When I served as U.S. Trade Representative, I said that the United States-China trade relationship lacked equity, durability, and balance. Sadly, that is still the case today. We didn’t have a level playing field then.

Since that time, the conduct has even worsened. China has invested large sums of money in industrial capacity, subsidizing production that impacted industries in places like the United States but also Japan, the European Union, and many developing countries.

China has embarked on a so-called indigenous innovation campaign backed by hundreds of billions of dollars, and the full weight of its nontransparency, reciprocity, and predatory status. The intent of the indigenous innovation campaign seems to be directed primarily at us but also other countries around the world that are innovating.

The United States has been the leader in any innovative technologies, and now China is attempting to be the leader. Think of artificial intelligence or 5G.

China’s embrace of techno-nationalism has undercut critical commitments it has made to open up its markets, protect intellectual property rights, adhere to internationally recognized labor rights, and meet its WTO commitments on unfair trade practices, such as anti-dumping and subsidies.

Without changes to these practices, as long as the inequities and imbalances persist, the durability of our economic relationship remains in question.

I understand China is not going to become a free market economy anytime soon, and while I hope we can have a more market-oriented economy someday and we can move toward that in China, as they were moving that way after joining the WTO, I think it is vital that we at least demand a level playing field in the meantime.

That is why I have supported the Trump administration’s efforts to demand structural changes as part of its negotiations with China. This takes the form of a few different things. One is addressing our huge trade deficit—that is part of the negotiations—so China would buy more soybeans and might buy more LNG, liquefied natural gas. That is all good, but this agreement must also deal with these other issues, like forced technology transfers and dealing with nonmarket practices, like state-owned enterprises and other subsidies.

Addressing the first issue by selling additional soybeans and liquefied natural gas to China is a positive step forward, but a short-term reduction of our trade deficit, which is out of balance, isn’t enough. We have to seek progress on these sustainable structural changes so we can count on a fair trading relationship between two mature trading partners.

Ambassador Lighthizer, who is the current U.S. Trade Representative, is a tough negotiator, and I think he understands this, and he is going to ensure that we not only improve the imbalance in our trade deficit but also—if we get these structural changes we need—bring home a strong and sustainable agreement.

That leads me to my next point. Any agreement must not just address these important structural problems, but it also has to be enforceable. Without enforceability, it is going to be impossible to make any real, meaningful progress in this relationship based on the past. We also have to do more than merely enforce by negotiation. I support consultations and consistent enforcement; that is also good. But there also has to be some enforceable mechanisms with some consequences.

While I look forward to seeing the agreement that we come up with China—and I hope it happens soon—I would like to offer a few suggestions related to enforceability.

First, I favor reviving a China-specific safeguard to provide both due process and an effective response to surges with Chinese imports that injure U.S. domestic industry, such as the high-tech products or those derived from nonmarket practices we talked about earlier.

One model to consider is section 421 of the Trade Act of 1974, expired. Section 421 was a China-specific safeguard that was created, pursuant to China’s WTO Accession Protocol, to guard against increased imports from China—surges—with less demanding requirements than that afforded market economies. I think it would be good to get back to that.

Second, strong trade laws have been successful in addressing some of the externalities caused by China’s nonmarket practices. We have to continue to enforce those laws. Consider the 266-percent tariff that is currently in place with regard to imports of cold-rolled steel from China. That was because we brought a trade case, and we won the trade case using internationally accepted criteria as to what constitutes dumping and subsidies. Nonmarket economy methodologies give our trade remedy tools extra heft when deployed against these unfair imports from countries like China, which lack the transparency framework found everywhere else in the world.

China knows the effectiveness of our trade laws, especially the nonmarket economy methodologies we use to get that 266-percent tariff in place, and has therefore challenged the use of these methodologies. China has challenged this at the World Trade Organization. I hope that as part of any commitments made pursuant to the current talks, China will drop its challenge to the use of nonmarket methodologies until such time as China has actually become a market economy under established and accepted statutory criteria set out in U.S. law.

Third, increased transparency requirements can help make enforcement more effective. As long as key elements of the ways that China intervenes in the economy—such as the provision of illegal subsidies; currency manipulation, for that matter; the participation in the market in state-owned enterprises; and the application of laws—remain without transparency, it is going to be difficult to effectively monitor compliance with commitments that are made. We have to know. We have the right to know. I thus urge the administration to make enforceable transparency commitments to ensure we have enough visibility on China’s nonmarket practices to make enforcement as effective as possible.

I hope the administration takes some of these enforcement suggestions into account.

Today, pursuant to our section 301 investigation, the United States has levied tariffs of 25 percent on $50 billion and 10 percent on $200 billion of exports from China to the United States. These tariffs are in place now, and they are affecting a lot of our companies here in the United States because China has, in turn, retaliated against us, putting tariffs ranging from 5 to 25 percent on $100 billion of U.S. exports to China. So there has been an escalation of tariffs as we have been in these negotiations.

There has been discussion about the United States reducing our 25 percent and 10 percent tariffs in place as a backstop even after an agreement is reached. I think that is unlikely because I think it is a recipe for no agreement or an inadequate agreement.

Instead, I believe it is important for both countries to reduce or eliminate altogether the new tariffs under 301 and the retaliatory tariffs when the agreement is reached. Of course, the United States would be able to quickly reimpose tariffs if China doesn’t live up to the commitments it makes, and that would be appropriate. But I think we ought to make a commitment now to China that we are willing to get rid of these tariffs, or substantially all of them, if a good agreement is reached.

Over the next few weeks, I hope the President remains focused on reaching this agreement that addresses the structural inequities in our trade relations. Of course, soybeans are important, but this is a chance to resolve deeper issues, especially when there is such compelling evidence of commitments not met in the past and continued inequities in the U.S.-China trade relationship.

As part of reaching an enforceable structural agreement, I urge the administration to give China certainty about what we actually want and exactly what we want. From what I have heard, I believe giving Beijing the security of an unwavering negotiating position will help unlock China’s last best offer. My sense is that is not yet on the table because perhaps they think we have shifted in terms of our objectives and that a good agreement is reached and then allow the United States to take a step forward toward a more balanced, equitable, and durable U.S.-China relationship.

And I commend the administration and President Trump and Ambassador Lighthizer for engaging in these negotiations. I think we are headed in the right direction, but let’s bring it to a close.

I want to note that the current negotiations are only part of what must be a holistic and long-term strategy toward China. A good agreement and strong enforcement is essential, but to keep the United States competitive over the long term, we have to invest more here at home.

As an example, if you are going to be in a sports competition, it helps to go to the gym once in a while. Until recently, I hadn’t been hitting the gym too much.

As an example, if you are going to be in a sports competition, it helps to go to the gym once in a while. Until recently, I hadn’t been hitting the gym too much.

Unfortunately, we still have some challenges we need to address to be truly competitive. We have a workforce that too often lacks the skills necessary for the 21st century. We have an opioid epidemic that is undermining our economy as well as our communities. We have a crumbling infrastructure that is holding back economic growth.

Instead of people being awed at how quickly China can build a bridge, I want China to be awed at how effectively and how fast we can build a bridge here in this country. To do that, we need to build on the permitting reforms we have enacted in the last few years to make it easier to start and quicker to finish projects that keep our economy moving and growing. Investing in America with world-class career and technical education, infrastructure investment, pro-growth and pro-innovation economic policies, as we started with tax reform and regulatory relief, helps us do the things that would send signals to China and to the rest of the world that we are a vibrant nation, we are in the game, we are focused on the future, we are constantly innovating, and we are not a nation in decline.

I believe the best days of our country can be before us. We need to show the world that America remains, in fact, the world’s preeminent power because of our free markets, because of our innovations, and because of our work ethic. If we do that, we will be able to compete with China. If we don’t, even without these trade negotiations, it will be difficult.

By the way, unlike some, I don’t propose to compete with China by adopting policies and processes that mimic their system. As an example, nationalizing our 5G deployment or adopting 5-year industrial plans, as China does, is not the path to success. It gives in to the criticisms that we make of Beijing. Instead, we need to double down on the American way: big ideas and bold visions grounded in principles unique to our origins. After all, we believe in freedom and free markets because they work.

With regard to China, we should want to have a successful and mutually beneficial relationship on trade and other issues. China and the United States must be strategic competitors going forward.

I commend the Trump administration for entering into these difficult and very important negotiations with China, and I encourage the administration to stay strong in the pursuit of long-term, meaningful structural changes in that relationship. I want our country to do the hard work here at home, to ensure that American competitiveness is second to none. That combination—a successful resolution of longstanding issues with China and meaningful structural changes here at home—will ensure the continued prosperity and global leadership of the United States of America.

Thank you.

I yield back my time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Ohio.

ORDER OF PROCEEDURE

Mr. PORTMAN. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that notwithstanding rule XXII, the post cloture time on the Senate’s consideration of Executive Calendar No. 21, nomination of Daniel Desmond Domenico, of Colorado, to be United States District Judge for the District of Colorado. On vote No. 65, had I been present, I would have voted nay on the motion to invoke cloture on Executive Calendar No. 21.

Ms. DUCKWORTH. Madam President, I was necessarily absent for vote No. 65 on the motion to invoke cloture on Executive Calendar No. 21, nomination of Daniel Desmond Domenico, of Colorado, to be United States District Judge for the District of Colorado. On vote No. 65, had I been present, I would have voted nay on the motion to invoke cloture on Executive Calendar No. 21.

ARMS SALES NOTIFICATION

Arlington, VA.

Hon. JAMES E. RISCH,
Chairman, Committee on Foreign Relations,
U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

Dear Mr. CHAIRMAN: Pursuant to the reporting requirements of Section 36(b)(1) of the Arms Export Control Act, as amended, we are forwarding herewith Transmittal No. 19–13 concerning the Navy’s proposed Letter(s) of Offer and Acceptance to the Government of Japan for defense articles and services estimated to cost $1.150 billion. After this letter is delivered to your office, we plan to issue a news release to notify the public of this proposed sale.

Sincerely,

Charles W. Hooper,
Lieutenant General, USA, Director.

Enclosure.

TRANSMITTAL NO. 19–13
Notice of Proposed Issuance of Letter of Offer Pursuant to Section 36(b)(1) of the Arms Export Control Act

Annex Item No. vii
(vii) Sensitivity of Technology:
1. The proposed sale will involve the release of sensitive technology to the Government of Japan related to the Standard Missile–3 (SM–3) family. The Block IB is an iteration of the SM–3 family. It has distinct features over the older Block IA variant previously sold to Japan including an enhanced system which improves the search, discrimination, acquisition and tracking functions in order to address emerging threats. Once enclosed in the canister, the SM–3 Block IB missile is classified CONFIDENTIAL.
2. If a technologically advanced adversary were to obtain knowledge of the specific hardware and software elements, the information could be used to develop counter-measures that might reduce weapon system effectiveness or be used in the development of a system with similar or advanced capabilities.
3. A determination has been made that Japan can provide substantially the same degree of protection for the sensitive technology being released as the U.S. Government. This sale is necessary in furtherance of the U.S. foreign policy and national security objectives outlined in the Policy Justification.

4. All defense articles and services listed in this transmittal are authorized for release and export to the Government of Japan.

DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY FISCAL YEAR 2020 BUDGET REQUEST

Mr. ALEXANDER. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that a copy of my opening statement at the Subcommittee on Energy and Water Development’s budget hearing for the Department of Energy’s fiscal year 2020 budget request be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY FISCAL YEAR 2020 BUDGET REQUEST

Mr. ALEXANDER. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that a copy of my opening statement at the Subcommittee on Energy and Water Development’s budget hearing for the Department of Energy’s fiscal year 2020 budget request be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY FISCAL YEAR 2020 BUDGET REQUEST

Mr. ALEXANDER. The Subcommittee on Energy and Water Development will please come to order.

Today’s hearing will review the administration’s fiscal year 2020 budget request for the Department of Energy.

This is the Subcommittee’s first budget hearing for FY 2020.

We will have three additional hearings with the National Nuclear Security Administra-
I'm pleased that the Department’s budget request prioritizes supercomputing, and includes approximately $800 million to deploy exascale systems in the early 2020s. Unfortunately, the budget request this year again proposes to decrease spending on federally funded research and development, terminates ARPA–E and the loan guarantee programs, and cuts other funding, specifically:

- The Office of Science by $1 billion;
- Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy by $2 billion;
- Nuclear Energy by $502 million; and
- Fossil Energy by $178 million.

And that is why we are holding this hearing: to give Secretary Perry an opportunity to discuss the Department’s priorities, so Senator Feinstein and I can make informed decisions as we begin to write the fiscal year 2020 Energy and Water Development Appropriations bill over the next few weeks. Governing is about setting priorities, and we always have to make some hard decisions to ensure the highest priorities are funded.

Today, I’d like to focus my questions on five main areas, all with an eye toward setting up support for foundational research and development for science and energy research:

1. Maintaining a safe and effective nuclear weapons stockpile.
2. Advanced reactors.
4. Energy’s research programs.
5. The Nuclear Posture Review.

I’d like to hear more about that today, and look forward to hearing about the progress being made on the Uranium Processing Facility.

China, Japan, the U.S. and the European Union all want to be first in supercomputing. The stakes are high because the winner has an advantage in advanced manufacturing, simulating advanced reactors and weapons before they are built, finding terrorists and saving billions of Medicaid and Medicare dollars in a natural disaster, and other progress.

The U.S. regained the number one spot last year, thanks to sustained funding by Congress during both the Obama and Trump administrations. I am pleased that this budget request proposes to continue development of exascale supercomputers—the next generation computers that will develop a system a thousand times faster than the first supercomputer the U.S. built in 2008.

To ensure that nuclear power has a strong future, I must solve the decades’ long stalemate over what to do with used fuel from our nuclear reactors. Senator Feinstein and I have been working on this for a long time, and I’d like to take the opportunity to complement Senator Feinstein on her leadership and her insistence that we find a solution to this problem. To solve the stalemate, we need to find places to build geologic repositories and temporary storage facilities so the federal government can finally meet its legal obligation to dispose of nuclear waste safely and permanently.

This year’s budget request for the Department of Energy includes $100 million to restart work for Yucca Mountain repository and $6.5 million to study ways to open an interim storage site or use a private interim storage site. I strongly believe that Yucca Mountain can and should be part of the solution to the nuclear waste stalemate. Federal law designates Yucca Mountain as the nation’s repository for used fuel, and the Commission’s own scientists have told us that we can safely store nuclear waste there for up to one million years.

But even if the Yucca Mountain open today, we would still need to look for another permanent repository. We have more than enough used fuel to fill Yucca Mountain to its legal capacity. So Senator Feinstein and I, working with the leaders of the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources, Senator Murkowski and then Senators Bingaman, Wyden, Cantwell, and now Senator Manchin, have a bill to implement the recommendations of the President’s Blue Ribbon Commission on America’s Nuclear Future, which we’re working to reintroduce this year.

The legislation complements Yucca Mountain and would create a new federal agency to find additional permanent repositories and temporary facilities for used nuclear fuel. But the quickest, and probably the least expensive, way for the federal government to start to meet its used nuclear fuel obligations is for the Department of Energy to contract with a private storage facility for used nuclear fuel.

Two years ago, you told this subcommittee that the Department of Energy has the authority to take used fuel, but you also told us the Department has the authority to store the used fuel at a private facility without more direction from Congress. I understand that two private companies have submitted license applications to the NRC for private consolidated storage facilities, one in Texas and one in New Mexico, and I hope the NRC’s review is underway.

I look forward to working with Secretary Perry as we begin putting together our Energy and Water Development Appropriations bill for fiscal year 2020 and hearing what Secretary Perry’s priorities are. I also expect that the Department will continue to fund projects consistent with Congressional intent in the fiscal year 2019 Consolidated Appropriations Act.

I will now recognize Senator Feinstein for her opening statement.

TRIBUTE TO DR. SCOTT GOTTLIEB

Mr. ALEXANDER. Madam President, nearly two years ago, just before the Senate voted to confirm Dr. Gottlieb to lead the Food and Drug Administration, FDA, I said that he was “the right person to lead the FDA in [its] vital mission and move the agency forward so that America’s patients can benefit from the remarkable discoveries . . . that our nation’s researchers are working on.”

Since then, Dr. Gottlieb’s leadership at FDA has proved that prediction correct.

Dr. Gottlieb has been one of the President’s best appointments.

Two years ago, I also said that “there’s never been a more important time to capitalize on the significant funding Congress has given to medical research.”

Congress has given the National Institutes of Health, NIH, a $9 billion increase from 2015–2019, almost $40 billion dollars in 2019, and FDA plays a key role in bringing new treatments and cures to American patients.

In 2016, Congress passed what Leader McConnell called the most important legislation of the Congress, the 21st Century Cures Act, to help speed the development of new drugs and devices.

Dr. Gottlieb’s successful tenure at the agency includes helping to bring more competition to the market. In 2018, FDA approved or tentatively approved over 1,000 generic drugs, approved novel orbital drugs, which are drugs to treat rare diseases, and designated 18 regenerative medicines as regenerative medicine advanced therapies, so they can be reviewed faster.

There are just a few other important things Dr. Gottlieb has accomplished.

When Dr. Gottlieb took over at FDA, Congress was working to reauthorize the four medical product user fee agreements that make up about a third of FDA funding.

In addition to reauthorizing the four user fee agreements, Congress worked with Dr. Gottlieb and authorized an expedited approval process for generic
Dr. Gottlieb also announced a new plan, the Biosimilar Action Plan, to bring generic versions of biologic drugs, called biosimilars, to help improve competition for biologics by increasing market entry of biosimilars and providing more treatment options for patients.

FDA has approved a total of 18 biosimilar products since 2010, when the biosimilar pathway was created, 13 of which were approved under Dr. Gottlieb’s watch.

At his confirmation hearing, Dr. Gottlieb described the opioid crisis as “having staggering human consequences. I think it’s the biggest crisis facing the agency. . . . I think it’s going to require an all-of-the-above approach.”

Last year, 72 senators worked on legislation to combat the opioid crisis.

Dr. Gottlieb provided us with crucial advice as we worked on this legislation and he has begun to take advantage of the new law.

He has taken steps to help prevent illicit fentanyl, which is 100 times more powerful than heroin, from coming across the border.

He worked with Congress to clarify his authority to require opioids to be packaged in blister packs, such as a 3 or 7-day supply, to encourage doctors to prescribe responsibly; and clarified FDA’s authority to require safe disposal systems to accompany opioid packaging.

Dr. Collins, who leads the NIH, has predicted a nonaddictive opioid in the next decade, which really is the Holy Grail for fighting the opioid crisis and for helping the 50–100 million Americans living with pain.

I believe Dr. Gottlieb has laid groundwork to encourage the development of nonaddictive and nonopioid medicines and therapies to treat pain.

Dr. Gottlieb was integral to Congress’s ability to reauthorize the animal drug user fees, which authorize the FDA to collect user fees to speed the review and approval of new drugs that are needed by families, and veterinarians rely on to keep their animals healthy and the food supply safe.

The 21st Century Cures Act created the Regenerative Medicine Advanced Therapy Designation, which is similar to the very successful breakthrough drug pathway that safely shortened the development and review time for certain drugs, to get them to patients who need them more quickly.

While we worked on that law, I heard the story of Nashville resident Doug Oliver.

In 2007, Doug began to have trouble seeing and, after a near accident, had his driver’s license taken away and was declared legally blind.

The culprit was a rare form of macular degeneration.

His doctor at the Vanderbilt Eye Institute told him that while there were no cures, Doug could search online for a clinical trial.

Doug found a regenerative medicine clinical trial in Florida, where doctors took cells out of the bone marrow in his hip, spun them in a centrifuge, and then injected them in his eye.

Three days later, he began to see.

His eyesight eventually improved enough to get his driver’s license back, and he became an effective advocate for more support for regenerative medicine, which we included in the 21st Century Cures Act.

So, with his improved vision, he began writing letters and visiting me to advocate for more support for regenerative medicine, which we did in the 21st Century Cures Act.

Two years ago, Doug gave me the cane he had used while he was blind. He said: “I don’t need it anymore.”

In Cures, Congress included a pathway to bring new regenerative medicine treatments, similar to the treatment Doug received, to patients more quickly.

Dr. Gottlieb has worked to implement that new pathway to help develop safe treatments to ensure more patients are able to take advantage of this cutting-edge, personalized medical technology.

Additionally, Dr. Gottlieb has helped the agency develop and advance guidance for some therapies that will help new innovative companies developing these promising therapies, some of which may be for specific diseases and conditions that provide roadmaps for biotechnology companies who are leading the revolution in medicine.

During this exciting time in biomedical research, we are fortunate that Dr. Gottlieb was willing to serve.

The FDA and the biomedical community is in better shape today to advocate, advance, and develop the treatments and cures of the future because of his leadership.

CELEBRATING ROMANI AMERICAN HERITAGE

Mr. CARDIN. Madam President, today I rise to celebrate International Roma Day, which occurred yesterday, April 8, 2019. Last week, Senator Wicker and I, the Senate’s Romani Commission’s Senate cochairman, and I introduced a resolution that celebrates Romani American heritage.

As a member of the U.S. Helsinki Commission and the Organization for Security and Co-operation in Europe (OSCE) Parliamentary Assembly Special Representative on Anti-Semitism, Racism & Intolerance, I have long worked to improve the situation of Roma throughout the OSCE region.

The resolution introduced on April 4 does four things.

First, it recognizes and celebrates Romani American heritage. Roma have come to the United States with every wave of European migration since the colonial period. In the United States, there may be as many as 1 million Americans with some Romani ancestry, whether distant or more recent.

Romani people have made distinct and continuous contributions many fields, including agriculture, art, crafts, literature, medicine, military service, music, sports, and science.

Second, it supports International Roma Day and the Department of State’s robust engagement in activities to mark that occasion. In 1971, the First World Romani Congress met in London, bringing together Roma from across Europe and the United States with the goal of promoting transnational cooperation among Roma, combating social marginalization, and building a positive future for Roma everywhere. April 8 is now celebrated as International Roma Day around the world. U.S. Ambassadors and our Embassies across Europe and elsewhere are frequently asked to participate in April 8 celebrations across the region.

I commend the important work they are doing as they demonstrate the U.S. commitment to inclusive societies not only on April 8 but throughout the entire year.

Third, this resolution commemorates the 75th anniversary of the destruction of the so-called Gypsy Family Camp at Auschwitz. Experts estimate that 200,000 to 500,000 Romani people were killed in death camps and elsewhere throughout Europe. On August 2 to 3, 1944, Nazis murdered between 4,200 and 4,300 Romani men, women, and children in gas chambers when the Nazis decided to liquidate this camp. A number of governments have taken important steps in recent years to commemorate the genocide of European Romani victims, and educate future generations. Germany took an important step when it opened a memorial in Berlin for Sinti and Roma victims of national socialism. I also commend the Czech Government for its recent decision to remove the pig farm at the site of the Lety concentration camp and address remaining issues regarding the proper memorialization of that sensitive site.

Finally, this resolution commends the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Museum for its critically important role in promoting remembrance of the Holocaust and educating audiences about the genocide of Roma. The U.S. Holocaust Memorial Museum is the preeminent Federal institution dedicated to serving as a living memorial to the Holocaust. I am honored to serve as a member of the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Museum Council and I welcome the initiatives of the museum to ensure that Romani victims are remembered and support related scholarship.

I am pleased that Senator Wicker has joined me in introducing this resolution and urge other colleagues to join us in celebrating Romani-American heritage.
TRIBUTE TO LIEUTENANT COMMANDER STEVEN DAVIES

Mrs. HYDE-SMITH. Madam President, I am pleased to commend LCDR Steven Davies for his dedication to duty and service as a U.S. Coast Guard congressional fellow on my staff. Steve was recently selected to serve as executive officer of USCGC Thetis and will soon be deployed to fulfill that important responsibility.

A native of Lebanon, PA, Steve was commissioned after his graduation from the U.S. Coast Guard Academy, where he earned a bachelor of science degree in Government, served as vice president of his class, and captained the men’s soccer team. He is in the process of earning a master’s degree.

Steve has served in a broad range of assignments during his Coast Guard career. He has served overseas in Kuwait and deployed with Patrol Forces Southwest Asia in support of Operations Iraqi and Enduring Freedom, conducted national security missions on five ships in the Arabian Gulf. In addition to his operational assignments, Steve has served in vital roles in support of U.S. security interests. As commanding officer of USCGC Saltfish, he led search and rescue operations and various law enforcement missions in the Port of New York and New Jersey. As Commanding Officer of USCGC Kathleen Moore, Steve led a 26-person crew that interdicted $18 million of cocaine and nearly 700 undocumented migrants attempting to reach the United States.

Most recently, Steve served as the congressional fellow on my staff and, prior to that, for the Honorable Senator Thad Cochran of Mississippi. Steve’s operational experience in the Gulf of Mexico, Southwest Asia, and the Arabian Gulf, in addition to his technical expertise in counterdrug and migrant interdictions, search and rescue operations, and law enforcement missions, have been pivotal in helping to shape Department of Homeland Security and U.S. Coast Guard appropriations for fiscal years 2019 and 2018.

As a Coast Guard officer, he has served the State of Mississippi, the Coast Guard, and our Nation admirably. My staff and I have enjoyed the benefit of Steve’s counsel and have truly enjoyed working with him. Steve’s leadership has brought great credit to the Coast Guard, and I appreciate and commend his commitment to continue to serve our nation.

It is a pleasure to recognize and thank LCDR Steve Davies for his service to this country. My staff and I extend our gratitude to Steve and wish him “Fair winds and following seas” as he continues his journey in the U.S. Coast Guard.

NATIONAL NUCLEAR SECURITY ADMINISTRATION FISCAL YEAR 2020 BUDGET REQUEST

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that a copy of my opening statement at the Subcommittee on Energy and Water Development’s budget hearing for the National Nuclear Security Administration’s fiscal year 2020 budget request be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

NATIONAL NUCLEAR SECURITY ADMINISTRATION FISCAL YEAR 2020 BUDGET REQUEST

Mr. ALEXANDER. The Subcommittee on Energy and Water Development’s budget hearing for the National Nuclear Security Administration is now in order.

This is the second of the Subcommittee’s four budget hearings this year.

We heard from Secretary Perry last week, and we’ll have two more hearings in the coming weeks to review the Nuclear Regulatory Commission and the Army Corps of Engineers and the Bureau of Reclamation budget requests.

Senator Feinstein and I will each have an opening statement.

I will then recognize each Senator for up to five minutes for an opening statement, alternating between the majority and minority, in the order in which they arrived.

We will then move to testimony from Administrator Lisa Gordon-Hagerty to present testimony on behalf of the National Nuclear Security Administration and then give Admiral Frank Caldwell an opportunity to give a brief statement.

At the conclusion of the witnesses’ testimony, I will then recognize Senators for five minutes each, alternating between the majority and minority in the order in which they arrived.

First, I would like to thank our witnesses for being here today, and also Senator Feinstein, with whom I have the pleasure to work with again this year to draft the Energy and Water Appropriations bill.

Our witnesses today include: Ms. Lisa Gordon-Hagerty, the Administrator of the National Nuclear Security Administration (NNSA); Dr. Charles Walker, Deputy Administrator for Defense Programs; Dr. Breit Park, Deputy Administrator for Defense Nuclear Nonproliferation (Dr. Park is a former Associate Laboratory Director, Oak Ridge National Laboratory); and Admiral Frank Caldwell, Deputy Administrator for Naval Reactors.

Our subcommittee has a good record of being the first of the appropriations bills to be considered by the Committee and by the Senate each year. For each of the past four years, Senator Feinstein and I have been able to have our bill signed into law.

Last year, we worked together in a bipartisan way on the fiscal year 2019 Energy and Water Appropriations bill that was signed into law before the start of the fiscal year—the first time that happened since 2000.

In last year’s appropriations bill we provided $15.2 billion for the National Nuclear Security Administration, including $1.9 billion for the six life extension programs, which fix or replace components in weapons systems to make sure they’re safe and reliable.

We also funded the Uranium Processing Facility on track to removing the plutonium from South Carolina, and we are on track to removing the plutonium from South Carolina, and we are on track to removing the plutonium from South Carolina by 2021, and we continue to support our nuclear Navy.

When the Senate agreed to ratify the New Start Treaty in December 2010, we also agreed to support funding to modernize and maintain our nuclear weapons stockpile, plus the facilities to do the work. A vital part of NNSA’s mission is completion of the planning life cycle, which fixed or replaced components in weapons systems to make sure they’re safe and reliable.

The budget request includes $2.1 billion to maintain the life extension programs on time and on budget.

The NNSA is responsible for some of the largest construction projects in the federal government. Senator Feinstein and I have worked hard to keep costs from skyrocketing. We want to make sure hard-earned taxpayer dollars are spent wisely and that these projects are on time and on budget.

We’re here today to review the administration’s fiscal year 2020 budget request for the National Nuclear Security Administration (NNSA), the semi-autonomous agency within the Department of Energy responsible for a vital mission—maintaining our nuclear weapons stockpile, reducing the global dangers posed by weapons of mass destruction, and providing the Navy with safe and effective nuclear power.

The president’s fiscal year 2020 budget request for the NNSA is $15.5 billion, an increase of $3.1 billion over the fiscal year 2019 enacted level.

Today, I’d like to focus my remarks and questions on three main areas:

1. Effectively maintaining our nuclear weapons stockpile;
2. Keeping critical projects on time and on budget; and
3. Supporting our nuclear Navy.

The NNSA is responsible for some of the largest construction projects in the federal government. Senator Feinstein and I have worked hard to keep costs from skyrocketing. We want to make sure hard-earned taxpayer dollars are spent wisely and that these projects are on time and on budget.

decided to use existing facilities and expertise in New Mexico to make some pits, and repurpose the MOX facility in South Carolina to make the remainder. That’s a good plan and I support it. I want to hear from Administrator Gordon-Hagerty today how NNSA is applying the lessons we learned from UF and MOX to make sure we get the pit production restarted on time and on budget.

Naval Reactors is responsible for all aspects of nuclear power for our submarines and aircraft carriers. Naval Reactors has a lot on their plate right now—they are designing a new reactor core for the next class of submarines, refueling a prototype reactor, and building a spent fuel processing facility for nuclear waste from defense activities.

Admiral Caldwell and I had an opportunity to talk about the new spent fuel processing facility earlier this week. It is a part of the Navy’s consolidated interim storage for its used nuclear fuel.

The Navy’s program shows that it can be done safely and effectively, but that does not replace the need for a permanent repository at Yucca Mountain. That used nuclear fuel will still need to go to Yucca Mountain once it is built. I look forward to working with Administrator Gordon-Hagerty as we begin putting together our Energy and Water Appropriations bill for fiscal year 2020, and also with Senator Feinstein, who I will now recognize for her opening statement.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

RECOGNIZING THE BIG CHEESE OF MIAMI

Mr. RUBIO. Madam President, as chairman of the Senate Committee on Small Business and Entrepreneurship, it is my privilege to recognize a small business that exemplifies creativity, hard work, and dedication to improving their community. This week, it is my honor to name The Big Cheese of Miami, FL, as the Senate Small Business of the Week.

Having just celebrated their 35 year anniversary, The Big Cheese has grown from a 12-seat and 2-person operation to a landmark Miami Italian restaurant. Lifelong friends Bill Archer and Garry Duell founded The Big Cheese in 1984 and due to their rapid success, expanded to a larger location across the street. Bill is the culinary expert of the duo and has developed original recipes for all 120 items on the menu, while Garry focuses on the day-to-day operations. Along the way, they have shared in the restaurant’s success.

Today, The Big Cheese remains family-oriented and affordable and uses only high-quality, fresh ingredients. They have an extensive menu that includes everything from Italian favorites to Miami classics. Many of their employees have been there since inception, and others are second-generation employees, with an average employee tenure of 16 years. Bill, Gary, and longtime manager Salvatore Aiello strive to create a welcoming and friendly atmosphere and they have succeeded.

Their dedication to fair prices and made-from-scratch dishes has not gone unnoticed. They were voted The Best Inexpensive Italian Restaurant in Miami and received the 5 Kids Crown Award from South Florida Parenting Magazine for their pizza. They are proud to feed people from diverse socioeconomic and cultural backgrounds and remain focused on serving their community.

An example of their efforts to help community members in need was during Hurricane Irma recovery, when they donated food to the emergency operations center in Monroe County. They are also the official sponsor of the University of Miami Athletics Department, providing both the Hurricanes and their competitors with pregame meals. Since their founding, they have served thousands of University of Miami students and collected more than 200 pieces of original memorabilia. Their dedication to the school was recently honored when they were chosen to represent the University of Miami during the Taste of the NFL, a charity aimed at bringing awareness to the millions of Americans who struggle with hunger.

The Big Cheese is an exemplary community-focused small business. They have remained true to their original values and serve their community in times of need. Like many Main Street restaurants throughout our country, The Big Cheese is a place where community members have gathered and enjoyed meals together for decades. By focusing on quality food and superior customer service, The Big Cheese has stayed in high demand. It is with great pleasure that I extend my congratulations to Bill, Gary and all of the employees at The Big Cheese. I wish you all well as you continue serving the people of South Florida, and I look forward to watching your continued growth and success.

STATEMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

By Mr. KAINE:

S. 1070. A bill to require the Secretary of Health and Human Services to fund demonstration projects to improve recruitment and retention of child welfare workers; to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pension.

Mr. KAINE. Mr. President, investing in the development of a robust, well-trained, and stable child welfare workforce is central to improving outcomes for children and families across the United States. The existence of such a workforce is essential to a child welfare agency’s ability to carry out the responsibilities with which they have been entrusted. Child welfare work has been shown to be physically and emotionally challenging, as demonstrated by recent studies into the impact of secondary traumatic stress (STS) on child welfare professionals. The multitude of challenges inherent in child welfare work, combined with relatively low compensation and work benefits, make these careers difficult to sustain, resulting in high rates of turnover.

Studies conducted over the last 15 years estimate the national rate of turnover of child welfare workers to be 20-40 percent annually. In 2017, Virginia reported a turnover rate of 30%, while Washington State reported a turnover rate of 20% and Georgia reported a turnover rate of 32%. These high rates of turnover detract from the quality of services delivered to children and families and result in an estimated cost of $54,000 per worker leaving an agency.

Greater action is needed to ensure that individuals pursuing child welfare careers receive appropriate training and support to improve the sustainability of their important, yet demanding work. Higher rates of retention for child welfare workers translates to greater stability for families and improved services for vulnerable youth. Existing research provides a number of evidenced-based and promising practices for improving recruitment and retention in the child welfare workforce.

This is why I am pleased to introduce today the Child Welfare Workforce Support Act. This bill directs the Secretary to conduct a five-year demonstration program for child welfare service providers to implement targeted interventions to recruit, select, and retain child welfare workers. This demonstration program will focus on building an evidence base of best practices for reducing barriers to the recruitment, development, and retention of individuals providing direct services to children and families. Funds will also be used to provide ongoing professional development to assist child welfare workers in meeting the diverse needs of families with infants and children with the goal of improving both the quality of services provided and the sustainability of such careers. Investing resources in determining what practices have the greatest impact on the successful recruitment and retention of child welfare workers will assist in developing an evidence-base for future federal investments in this space.

I hope that as the Senate begins to discuss reauthorizing the Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act that we consider the Child Welfare Workforce Support Act and recognize the important role that child welfare workers make to improve outcomes for vulnerable infants and children.

By Mr. KAINE (for himself and Ms. BALDWIN):

S. 1073. A bill to amend the Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act to ensure protections for lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender youth and their families; to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pension.

Mr. KAINE. Mr. President, according to the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), lesbian, gay, and bisexual (LGB) youth are at an increased risk for experiencing maltreatment compared to non-LGB youth. A 2011 meta-analysis of 37 school-based studies found that LGB adolescents were 3.8 times more likely to experience childhood sexual abuse and 1.2 times more likely to experience physical abuse by a parent or guardian when compared to their heterosexual peers. Additional studies have demonstrated that gender nonconformity during childhood may increase the risk for child maltreatment. Unfortunately, there is not enough research and data available to identify the risk of child maltreatment for individuals who identify as transgender.

These risks for maltreatment often times result in LGBTQ youth entering the child welfare system. Studies have found that, “LGBT” young people are overrepresented in child welfare systems, despite the fact that they are likely to be underreported because they risk harassment and abuse if their LGBT identity is disclosed.” This over-representation of LGBTQ youth in the foster care system raises concerns about issues in the child abuse and prevention space. Additional research is needed to understand the risk of maltreatment among LGBTQ youth, particularly those identifying as transgender. These studies will yield invaluable information to be used in developing targeted prevention strategies to reduce the rates of adverse childhood experiences of LGBTQ individuals.

This is why I am pleased to introduce the Protecting LGBTQ Youth Act, which calls for HHS and other federal agencies to carry out an interdisciplinary research program to protect LGBTQ youth from child abuse and neglect and improve the well-being of victims of child abuse or neglect. This legislation also expands current practices around demographic information collection and reporting on incidences and prevalence of child maltreatment to include sexual orientation and gender identity. Additionally, the bill opens existing grant funding opportunities to invest in the training of personnel in best practices to meet the unique needs of LGBTQ youth and calls for the inclusion of individuals experienced in working with LGBTQ youth and families in state task forces. Improving data collection and disaggregation will provide greater protection for circumstances LGBTQ youth face in the home that, when left unaddressed, lead to entry into the child welfare system. This improved data-driven understanding can then be used to develop appropriate and effective primary prevention practices to decrease the risks faced by LGBTQ youth.

I hope that as the Senate begins to discuss the reauthorization of the Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act we consider the Protecting LGBTQ Youth Act to better understand the collective understanding of the risks faced by LGBTQ youth and the best ways to address them.

SUBMITTED RESOLUTIONS

SENATE RESOLUTION 148—SUPPORTING EFFORTS BY THE GOVERNMENT OF COLOMBIA TO PURSUE PEACE AND REGIONAL STABILITY

Mr. CARDIN (for himself and Mr. BLUNT) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations:

S. Res. 148

Whereas, in 2016, the Government of Colombia concluded a historic peace accord with the Revolutionary Armed Forces of Colombia (FARC), aimed at addressing the root causes of the half-a-century conflict, including economic inequalities, the rural-urban divide, and the historical exclusion of Afro-Colombians, indigenous people, women, and poor farmers, and is currently working to implement these accords;

Whereas the Governments and people of the United States and Colombia have forged a research partnership that has supported the following key elements to support peace, human rights, democracy, the rule of law, and security throughout the hemisphere and the world, which has been bolstered by the support of hundreds of thousands of Colombian-Americans and their contributions to American life;

Whereas, in 2000, the Government of Colombia engaged an impressive international consensus to build state capacity, and the United States committed to combat organized crime, drugs, and violence through its foreign assistance package in support of Plan Colombia;

Whereas Plan Colombia and its successor, Peace Colombia, have received significant commitments from the administrations of Presidents William Clinton, George W. Bush, Barack Obama, and Donald Trump, and continuously has been strengthened by broad bipartisan support in the United States Congress;

Whereas, while the Government of Colombia combined more than 80 percent of funds over the life of Plan Colombia, the political leadership, technical advice, military assistance, and intelligence-sharing role of the United States along with the $110,000,000,000 appropriated by the United States Congress through Plan Colombia and Peace Colombia to combat the illicit narcotics trade, transnational organized crime, advance democratic governance, promote economic growth, and defend human rights, played a key role in transforming a nation on the brink to an increasingly peaceful and prosperous democracy, while also safeguarding vital United States interests;

Whereas the Government of Colombia, throughout the administrations of Presidents Andres Pastrana, Alvaro Uribe, Juan Manuel Santos, and Ivan Duque, has made investments and shown remarkable courageous leadership, often at great cost and sacrifice, to consolidate domestic security, socioeconomic development, and the rule of law that far exceed those contributions made by the United States in Colombia;

Whereas, over the past 20 years, levels of crime and violence have subdued sharply in Colombia, per capita homicide rates declining from 62 per 100,000 people in 1999 to a record low of 23 per 100,000 people in 2017;

Whereas the alignment of improved security and sound economic policies has translated into steady growth in Colombia’s Gross Domestic Product, which increased from $86,000,000,000 in 1999 to more than $309,000,000,000 in 2017, and led to greater Foreign Direct Investment, which grew from $1,500,000,000 in 1999 to one of the highest in Latin America at an estimated $14,000,000,000 in 2017;

Whereas the United States and Colombia enjoy a very strong economic relationship with Colombia totaling an estimated $35,100,000,000 in 2016, supporting over 100,000 jobs in the United States;

Whereas the Government of Colombia has made impressive strides in reducing poverty during the last 15 years, with the poverty rate decreasing from 64 percent in 1999 to 27 percent in 2017, according to the World Bank;

Whereas, since 1999, the Government of Colombia has expanded the presence of the state, especially in territorial departments, which has contributed to the professionalism of the Colombian judiciary, and has improved the capacity of the Colombian Army, Navy, Air Force, and National Police;

Whereas Colombia is one of the United States’ most consistent and strategic partners through its support of United States diplomatic objectives at the United Nations and critical efforts made in the fight against transnational organized crime and increased cooperation in counterterrorism, including in Central America’s Northern Triangle, Afghanistan, and several countries in Africa;

Whereas Colombia signed a Memorandum of Understanding in April 2011 and is the first NATO partner nation in Latin America;

Whereas these gains are challenged by an escalating crisis in Venezuela, which has seen an influx of more than 1,200,000 Venezuelan into Colombia and the need for continued financial support to implement the peace accord and address humanitarian needs;

Whereas the internal armed conflict has victimized all Colombians, including women, children, and Afro-descendant and indigenous peoples, and has led to the repeated targeting of leading representatives of civil society, including trade unionists, journalists, human rights defenders, and other community activists who remain at grave risk from guerrilla groups, paramilitary successor organizations, organized criminal groups, and corrupt local officials;

Whereas efforts to achieve lasting peace in Colombia must address the hardships faced by victims of the armed conflict, as exemplified by the Government of Colombia’s Law on Victims and Restitution of Land of 2011;

Whereas the prospects for national reconciliation and sustainable peace in Colombia rely on the effective delivery of justice for victims of the conflict and the ability to hold accountable and appropriately punish perpetrators of serious violations of human rights and international humanitarian law; and

Whereas the work of Special Jurisdiction for Peace—the transitional justice mechanism created with the purpose of ensuring justice for victims of Colombia’s internal armed conflict—is fundamental to the implementation of the accords and the consolidation of peace in the country; Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) reaffirms the unwavering support of the Government and people of the United States of America to Colombia’s aspirations to live in a country free of violence and armed conflict;

(5) encourages the Government of Colombia to protect vulnerable populations who remain at risk in that country, including defenders of human rights, those facing threats due to crop substitution from the illicit crop market, and Afro-descendant and indigenous communities;

(6) encourages the Secretary of State to develop a comprehensive strategy to assist the Government of Colombia in managing the effects of the Venezuela crisis without endangering or detracting from the successful implementation and sustainability of the peace accord and its improved security, rule of law, and human rights for the Colombian people;

(7) reaffirms its commitment to continued partnership between the Governments of the United States and Colombia on issues of mutual interest, including security, counter-narcotics cooperation, combating transnational organized crime, ensuring justice for victims of serious human rights abuses, and interrupting the flow of illicit financial resources to terrorists and other violent groups; and

(8) supports the Special Jurisdiction for Peace as an important transitional justice mechanism and encourages the continuation of its work as an important institution in charge of guaranteeing truth, justice, and victims’ reparations in the aftermath of the country’s internal armed conflict; and

(9) commits to furthering the bilateral relationship between the United States and Colombia by working with leaders in the public and private sectors, as well as civil society from both countries, to ensure that the United States-Colombia relationship reflects the resolute bond through a shared commitment to support peace, human rights, democracy, the rule of law, and security throughout the hemisphere and the world, which has been bolstered by the support of hundreds of thousands of Colombian-Americans and their contributions to American life.

Whereas the Honorable Henry Morgenthau, Sr., United States Ambassador to the Ottoman Empire from 1913 to 1916, organized and led protests by officials of many countries against what he described as “a campaign of race extermination,” and, on July 16, 1915, was instructed by United States Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan that the “Department approves your procedure . . . to stop Armenian persecution”;

Whereas President Woodrow Wilson encouraged the formation of Near East Relief, chartered by an Act of Congress, which raised approximately $16,000,000 (more than $2,500,000,000 in 2019 dollars) between 1915 and 1930, and the Senate subsequently resolved condemning the massacres;

Whereas Raphael Lemkin, who coined the term “genocide” in 1944 and who was the earliest supporter of United Nations Convention on the Prevention and Punishment of the Crime of Genocide, invoked the Armenian case as a definitive example of genocide in his 1944 book, “Peoples without History”;

Whereas, as displayed in the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum, Adolf Hitler, on ordering his military commanders to attack Poland without provocation in 1939, dismissed objections by saying, “Who, after all, speaks today of the annihilation of the Armenians?”; setting the stage for the Holocaust;

Whereas the United States has officially recognized the Armenian Genocide—

(1) through a joint resolution which was written statement of the United States Government to the International Court of Justice regarding the Convention on the Prevention and Punishment of the Crime of Genocide and Proclamation No. 4386 issued by President Ronald Reagan on April 22, 1981; and

Resolved, That it is the sense of the Senate that it is the policy of the United States—

(1) to condemn the Armenian Genocide through official recognition and remembrance;

(2) to reject efforts to enlist, engage, or otherwise associate the United States Government with denial of the Armenian Genocide or any other genocide; and

(3) to encourage education and public understanding of the Armenian Genocide, including the role of the United States in humanitarian relief efforts, and the relevance of the Armenian Genocide to modern-day crimes against humanity.

The OCWR Rules of Procedure establish the procedures by which alleged violations of the 13 laws made applicable to the legislative branch under the CAA are considered and resolved. On December 21, 2018, the Congressional Accountability Act of 1995 Reform Act was signed into law. The new law refines the first set of comprehensive procedural rules promulgated under the CAA in 1995. Among other reforms, the Act substantially modifies the administrative dispute resolution (ADR) process under the CAA, including: separating preliminary hearing officer (PHO) review of claims; requiring current and former Members of Congress to reimburse awards or settlement payments resulting from harassment or retaliation; requiring certain employing offices to reimburse payments resulting from specified claims of discrimination; and appointing advisers to provide counsel to legislative branch employees about their rights under the CAA. Most changes to the ADR process will be effective 180 days from the date of enactment of the Reform Act. Therefore, on June 19, 2019, these proposed amendments to the OCWR’s Rules of Procedure are the result of the ongoing review of the OCWR’s procedures in light of the changes in the Reform Act to the ADR program, and they reflect the OCWR’s experience processing disputes under the CAA since the original adoption of these Rules in 1995.

Scope of Comments Requested

The OCWR asks commenters to provide their views on the changes to the Procedures Rules proposed by the OCWR.

Summary of the Changes

Subpart A. Subpart A of the Procedural Rules covers general provisions pertaining to scope and policy, definitions, and procedures concerning confidentiality. These proposed amendments to subpart A provide additional definitions, and also clarify pleading requirements and procedures concerning confidentiality.

Subpart B. Currently, subpart B of the OCWR Rules sets forth the pre-complaint procedures applicable to consideration of alleged violations of sections 201 through 207 of the CAA, which concern employment discrimination, family and medical leave, fair labor standards, employee polygraph protection, workplace harassment, employment and reemployment of veterans, and reprisal. Specifically, subpart B sets forth procedures for mandatory pre-complaint counseling and mediation, as well as the statutory election to file either an administrative complaint with the OCWR or a civil action in a U.S. district court. Under the CAA Reform Act, however, counseling and mediation are no longer mandatory jurisdictional prerequisites to adjudication of an alleged violation of sections 201 through 207 of the CAA. As a result, the term “complaint” in the CAA refers only to violations alleged by the OCWR General Counsel.

Because the procedures in the Reform Act governing employee claims differ significantly from those governing General Counsel complaints, the OCWR sets forth separate procedures for each. Therefore, subpart D, which concerns employee claims, “claims,” includes new procedures for informal pre-complaint requests for counseling and confidential advising; filing of claims; electing to file a civil action; initial processing and transmission of claims to parties; notification requirements; voluntary mediation; preliminary review of claims by a “Preliminary Hearing Officer;” requesting an administrative hearing before a “Hearing Officer;” judgements and withdrawal of complaints; confidentiality requirements; and automatic referral to congressional ethics committees.

Proposed subpart E, which concerns General Counsel complaints, sets forth procedures for filing complaints, appointment of a Preliminary Hearing Officer; summary judgment, withdrawal of complaints, and confidentiality requirements. The new provisions in the Reform Act governing matters such as confidential advising services, preliminary review of claims, and automatic referral to congressional ethics committees, do not apply to OCWR General Counsel complaints alleging violations of sections 210, 215 or 220 of the Act. Therefore, they are not addressed in proposed subpart E.

Proposed subparts F and G include the process for the conduct of administrative hearings held as the result of the filing of an administrative claim or an administrative complaint. Subpart F provides procedures for appeals of decisions by Hearing Officers to the OCWR Board of Directors and for appeals of decisions by the Board of Directors to the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.

Proposed amendments to subpart F concern matters not likely to engender objections in cases in which a Member of Congress is an intervenor, rulings on motions to quash and motions to limit, and formal requirements of evidentiary matters. Proposed subpart G clarifies the Merits Hearing Officer’s authority concerning frivolous claims, and the conduct of administrative hearings held as the result of the filing of an administrative claim or an administrative complaint. Subparts F and G include the process for the conduct of administrative hearings held as the result of the filing of an administrative claim or an administrative complaint.
defenses, and arguments. The proposed amendments also set forth the substantive requirements for the Merits Hearing Officer’s written decision, including required findings of decision, conclusions of law, and claim alleging a violation or violations described in section 415(d)(1)(C) of the Act, which requires Members of the House of Representatives and the Senate to reimburse the “compensatory damages” portion of a decision, award or settlement for a violation of section 201(a), 206(a), or 207 of the Act that the Member or the Office of Congressional Workplace Rights that successfully appeals a decision or overturns a referral decision pursuant to section 402(c) of the CAA is not appealable to the Board.

Subpart II concerns appellate proceedings before the Board, which clarify that a report on pre-liminary review pursuant to section 402(c) of the Act is not appealable to the Board. They clarify that a report on preliminary review pursuant to section 402(c) of the CAA is not appealable to the Board.

Proposed amendments to subpart II concern requests for attorney fees in arbitration proceedings; informal resolution of disputes; general requirements for formal settlement agreements—including settlement of cases making allegations against a Member of Congress or the House, or the Government Accountability Office; and request for recomputation of pay for a violation under part B of title II, and for compliance, investigation, and enforcement of section 204 of the Act. The proposed amendments to subpart II also concern payments governed by section 415(a) of the CAA, which provides, in relevant part, that “only funds which are appropriated by law to the Treasury of the United States for the payment of awards and settlements may be used for the payment of awards and settlements under this chapter.” Pursuant to section 415(a), the OCWR, through its Executive Director, prepares and processes requisitions for disbursements from the Treasury account established by section 415 of the Act, when qualifying final decisions, awards, or approved settlements require the payment of funds. These proposed amendments provide further guidance for processing certifications of payments from the funds appropriated to the Section 415(a) Treasury Account. They are based on regulations issued by the Department of Treasury’s Bureau of Fiscal Services at 31 C.F.R. part 256, which provide guidance to agencies in the executive branch for submitting requests for payments from the Judgment Fund, which is a permanent, indefinite appropriation that is available to pay many judicially and administratively ordered monetary awards against the United States. The proposed amendments also concern reimbursement to the Senate when the Act requires: (1) Members of the House of Representatives and the Senate to reimburse the “compensatory damages” portion of a decision, award or settlement for a violation of section 201(a), 206(a), or 207 of the Act that the Member is found to have “committed personally;” and (2) employing offices (other than an employing office of the House of Representatives and the Senate) to reimburse the “compensatory damages” portion of a decision, award or settlement for a violation of section 201(a), 206(a), or 207 of the Act that the Member is found to have “committed personally.”

Proposed amendments to subpart II also add a new section governing the requirement in the Reform Act that employing offices post and keep posted conspicuous places on their premises the notices provided by the OCWR, which contain information about employees’ rights and the OCWR’s ADJR process, along with OCWR contact information. Finally, the proposed amendments set forth rules concerning the new requirement in the Reform Act that each employing office of the House of Representatives (other than an employing office of the House of Representatives or any employing office of the Senate) submit a report both to the Committee on House Administration of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Rules and Administration of the Senate on the implementation of the training and education program required under section 438(a) of the Act.

Subpart II is subdivided into the following sections:

For example, an employing office or its representatives may disclose information about its employment practices and personnel actions, provided that the information was not obtained in a confidential proceeding. However, a claimant who obtains that information in mediation or other confidential proceeding may not disclose such information. Similarly, information forming the basis for the allegation of a claimant may be disclosed by that claimant, provided that the information contained in those allegations was not obtained in a confidential proceeding. However, the employing office or its representatives may not disclose that information if it was obtained in a confidential proceeding.

Sanctions. The Executive Director will advise all participants in the mediation and hearing at the time they become participants of the confidentiality requirements of section 416 of the Act and that sanctions may be imposed by a Hearing Officer for a violation of those requirements. No sanctions may be imposed except for good cause and the particulars of which must be stated in the sanction order.

TRIBUTE TO LARA YERETSIAN—28TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT WOMAN OF THE YEAR

HON. ADAM B. SCHIFF
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, April 9, 2019

Mr. SCHIFF. Madam Speaker, I rise today in honor of Women’s History Month. Each year, we pay special tribute to the contributions and sacrifices made by our nation’s women. It is an honor to pay homage to outstanding women who are making a difference in my Congressional District. I would like to recognize a remarkable woman, Lara Yeretsian of Hollywood, California.

Before moving to the United States, Lara and her family experienced hardship during the civil war in Lebanon. Her parents, who were wholeheartedly devoted to giving Lara and her three sisters a good life and a loving home, established Sassoun Bakery, a renowned Armenian bakery in the Little Armenia area of Hollywood, and enrolled Lara and her siblings in the local Armenian school. Lara continued her education at Southwestern Law School in Los Angeles, and received her J.D. degree in 1997, followed by her LL.M. degree in International and Comparative Law from Georgetown University Law Center in 1998. She interned for Judge Bert Glennon of the Los Angeles County Superior Court in California, and for Judge Robert M. Takasugi of the United States District Court for the Central District of California.

A well-respected and successful criminal defense attorney, and fluent in English, Armenian and Arabic, Lara spent a decade working on various high-profile cases at the law firm of Geragos & Geragos. Later, she founded her own firm, Yeretsian Law, and continues to work as an uplifting and compassionate guide for her clients. Recognized as a Southern California Super Lawyer for 2019, Lara’s professionalism and achievements have not gone unnoticed. In addition to her many accomplishments as an attorney, Ms. Yeretsian has authored numerous articles regarding issues that impact the criminal justice system.

In spite of her tremendously successful career, Lara never lost sight of her passion to give back, and her benevolence, leadership and advocacy are reflected in her philanthropic work in the community. Currently, she serves on the Board of Directors of the Armenian Bone Marrow Donor Registry and the Los Angeles City College Foundation, and as co-chair of the Hollywood chapter of the Armenian National Committee of America. Ms. Yeretsian also serves as co-chair of the Police Permit Review Panel of the Los Angeles Police Commission.

Lara is married to Hratch Manuelian, and they have two sons, David and Christopher. I ask all Members to join me in honoring this exceptional, well-respected woman of California’s 28th Congressional District, Lara Yeretsian.

HONORING THE FALL BROOK UNION ELEMENTARY SCHOOL DISTRICT FOR SERVING OUR MILITARY FAMILIES

HON. MIKE LEVIN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, April 9, 2019

Mr. LEVIN of California. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the students and faculty of Fallbrook Union Elementary School District. Last month, my staff met with administrators from Fallbrook Union who brought dozens of letters and drawings from the students of Mary Fay Pendleton Elementary School. The students shared what they liked most about their school. Ashton said “I love PE, when we play tug-of-war” while Alina said she loves Mary Fay “because we have a great librarian and a big library.” Taelin said that “at this school I like to help people that do not have a friend and help people in need.”

Mary Fay serves military-connected students living at Camp Pendleton Marine Corps Base. These students have parents who are serving their country on base or deployed abroad. Mary Fay creates a safe learning environment for its students and encourages them to dream and succeed.

These students are benefiting from a top-notch public education at an Impact Aid school. School districts across the country cross into land owned by the Federal Government, including military bases. These schools must operate with less local revenue because federal lands are exempt from local property taxes. It is our responsibility to ensure that schools like Mary Fay have the necessary resources to succeed by including sufficient funding for Impact Aid schools in the FY2020 budget. I was proud to join my colleagues in calling for the Appropriations Committee to support strong and continued funding for the Impact Aid Program.

I am honored to represent Mary Fay Pendleton Elementary School and I thank them for serving our military community. I especially want to thank the teachers of the entire Fallbrook Union Elementary School District for their heroic work and for encouraging their students to engage in the democratic process at a young age.

SASHA BAILEY
HON. ED PERLMUTTER
OF COLORADO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, April 9, 2019

Mr. PERLMUTTER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize and applaud Sasha Bailey for receiving the Adams County Mayors and Commissioners Youth Award.

The Youth Award focuses on teenagers who have overcome personal adversity and created positive changes in their lives and their community. The program provides businesses, the community and civic leaders an opportunity to support young people in their communities and recognize their accomplishments. Sasha is the perfect recipient for this award because despite adversities and challenges, she has become an inspiration and role model for her peers.

The dedication and leadership demonstrated by Sasha is exemplary of the type of achievement that can be attained with hard work and perseverance. It is essential that students at all levels strive to make the most of their education and develop a work ethic which will guide them for the rest of their lives.

I extend my deepest congratulations to Sasha Bailey for this well-deserved recognition. I have no doubt she will exhibit the same dedication and character in all of her future accomplishments.

IN HONOR OF NATIONAL FORMER POW RECOGNITION DAY AND THE JANESVILLE 99

HON. BRYAN STEIL OF WISCONSIN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, April 9, 2019

Mr. STEIL. Madam Speaker, today I rise in honor of National Former POW Recognition Day and the 77th anniversary of capture of U.S. soldiers on the Bataan Peninsula in the Philippines to the Imperial Japanese Army and the beginning of the Bataan Death March.

In November 1941, 99 soldiers from my hometown of Janesville, Wisconsin arrived on the Bataan Peninsula. These soldiers were known as the “Janesville 99” and composed Company A of the U.S. Army 192nd GHQ Light Tank Battalion. Less than three weeks after arriving to the Philippines, on December 8, 1941, Imperial Japan attacked.

For the next four months, out-gunned and under-supplied, sick and starving, these brave Wisconsinites fought the Battle of Bataan against a substantial Japanese invasion force. On April 9th, they were captured, tortured, and subjected to the Bataan Death March. Only 35 of the original Janesville 99 returned after the War. This is a solemn reminder of the bravery and selfless sacrifices our service members make for our freedom.

In Downtown Janesville, there is memorial to Downtown Janesville, there is memorial to this bravery and selfless sacrifices our service members make for our freedom.

This “bullet” symbol identifies statements or insertions which are not spoken by a Member of the Senate on the floor.
When President Ronald Reagan created the permanent National Former Prisoners of War Recognition Day on April 9, he said: "... It is truly fitting that America observe April 9 in recognition of our former prisoners of war that date is the anniversary of the day in 1942 when U.S. forces holding out on the Bataan Peninsula in the Philippines were captured. Later, as prisoners of war, these gallant Americans were subjected to the infamous Bataan Death March and to other inhumane treatment that left thousands of them before they could be liberated. In every conflict, brutality has invariably been meted out to American prisoners of war; on April 9 and every day, we must remember with solemn pride and gratitude that valor and tenacity have ever been our prisoners’ response.

Today, we recognize those who fought the impossible and endured the unimaginable for freedom from tyranny and oppression. I thank all our POWs for their sacrifice. May the Janevilles 99 rest in peace.

TRIBUTE TO LYNN ALVAREZ—38TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT WOMAN OF THE YEAR

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, April 9, 2019

Mr. SCHIFF. Madam Speaker, I rise today in honor of Women’s History Month. Each year, we pay special tribute to the contributions and sacrifices made by our nation’s women. It is an honor to pay homage to outstanding women who are making a difference in my Congressional District. I would like to recognize a remarkable woman, Lynn Alvarez, of the Los Feliz neighborhood of Los Angeles, California.

Ms. Alvarez has a long and distinguished career as a philanthropist, nonprofit administrator, law professor, and legal activist. She has helped both public and private institutions advance and govern their own respective initiatives, helping them to prosper with her unique expertise.

After Lynn earned a Juris Doctorate at the University of California, Berkeley, she headed off to New York City to join the litigation department of a major law firm, but soon realized her passion was more aligned with public interest law. She worked tirelessly as the legal director of a community-based organization representing Central American refugees, and subsequently worked on the national level in major class-action lawsuits representing the rights of immigrants. As a professor at the University of California, Los Angeles, Ms. Alvarez taught courses on professional ethics and immigration law.

Having served as a Board Member of nonprofit organizations including Human Rights Watch, Para Los Niños, the Central American Refugee Center, and the Los Angeles Education Partnership, Lynn is known for her consistent advocacy of human rights and dignity for all people. Lynn was appointed to the Board of Recreation and Parks Commissioners by former Los Angeles Mayor Antonio Villaraigosa and re-appointed as President of the Commission by Mayor Eric Garcetti in 2013. The Commission’s jurisdiction includes oversight and management of all park and recreation sites, annexation of public land for recreational reasons, and implementation of legal contracts and obligations.

Lynn and her husband, Steve Nissan, through their three wonderful sons enjoy the outdoor splendor of the City of Los Angeles parks, most particularly her “backyard park,” Griffith Park.

I ask all Members to join me in honoring an exceptional woman of California’s 28th Congressional District, Lynn Alvarez.
Their efforts are setting students up for success in the high-demand healthcare industry. I look forward to the many future accomplishments from these educators and their students.

WELCOMING PASTOR MACKEY TO PILGRIM REST

HON. RUBEN GALLEGO
OF ARIZONA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, April 9, 2019

Mr. GALLEGO. Madam Speaker, I rise today alongside the Phoenix community to usher in a new chapter of spiritual leadership with the installation of Pastor Terry E. Mackey to Pilgrim Rest Baptist Church in Phoenix, Arizona.

I stood on this floor last year to honor the life of Bishop Alexis Thomas, who served for eighteen years as the Senior Pastor of Pilgrim Rest until his passing in January 2018. I worked with Bishop Thomas as a part of My Brother’s Keeper, and I witnessed firsthand Pilgrim Rest’s boundless growth under his guidance.

The greatest testament to that leadership is its longevity. Phoenix still feels Bishop Thom- as’s reach through the “Word Center” edu- cational facility he constructed, and other ef- forts he oversaw: free light rail tickets for the homeless, food packages for low income el- ders, and free GED courses. I congratulate Pilgrim Rest on upholding the momentum of Bishop Thomas’s contributions in his absence this past year.

Today, I have the opportunity to acknowledg- e the new life Pilgrim Rest will breathe into the Phoenix community in the coming years as we welcome Reverend Terry Eugene Mac- key as the church’s 11th pastor.

In Houston, Pastor Mackey served as the Minister to Youth and Young Adults at Wheel- er Avenue Baptist Church, one of the nation’s largest predominantly African American churches. He then served as the Pastor of Riceville Mount Olive Baptist Church, where he tripled attendance and renewed the community’s investment in religious life.

Pastor Mackey has demonstrated a lifelong commitment to community service and leadership, and his ambitions for Pilgrim Rest’s fu- ture role in the Phoenix community residents are promising. He will continue to expand the church’s presence by “striving for higher heights” in worship and membership, and “deeper depths” in discipleship and relationships with God and the community.

Madam Speaker, I believe the greatest rever- ence we can show our previous leaders— the teachers who built the foundations upon which we carry out our good work—is to build higher, in the spirit of the work that came be- fore, and with an eye towards what the future needs of us. Pastor Mackey’s vision of justice, such foresight, and the people of Phoenix will be made a more diligent, faithful, and cohe- sive community because of his place at Pil- grim Rest.

The asylees come from nations on the African continent, Eastern Europe, Russia, the former Soviet bloc, Southeast Asia and the Caribbean.

Center Global follows a unique model. It provides access to healthcare, legal assistance, financial support, and most importantly, a safe LGBTQ peer community that is often unattainable in D.C.-area diasporas. REINTRODUCTION OF RESOLUTION SUPPORTING THE GOALS AND IDEALS OF JUBILEE DAY
HON. ALICE L. HASTINGS
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, April 9, 2019

Mr. HASTINGS. Madam Speaker, I rise today to introduce a resolution supporting the goals and ideals of Jubilee Day, which is celebrated on October 6th of every year by the Fisk University community.

Just after the end of the Civil War, the Fisk School was founded in Nashville, Tennessee as an educational institute that would be open to all, regardless of race or age. However, just five years after its founding, the school faced dire economic struggles. In an effort to save the institution from closing, a group of students formed a choral group, the Fisk Jubilee Singers, with the goal of raising money to fund the institution. They took all of the funds in the university’s treasury for travel expenses, hoping that the enormous risk would pay off.

Despite a few initial struggles, the Jubilee Singers eventually came to tour throughout the United States and Europe and raised enough funds to not only preserve the University, but also to pay for the construction of Jubilee Hall, the first permanent structure built for the education of African American students in the South.

The singers performed for such notable figures as William Lloyd Garrison, Wendell Phillips, Ulisses S. Grant, William Gladstone, Mark Twain, Johann Strauss, and Queen Victoria. Through their music they introduced the world to the spirituals of enslaved Africans as a musical genre.

Since its founding in 1866, Fisk University has educated countless intellectuals, artists, and civic leaders, and has played a pivotal role in the advancement of education for African American students. None of its accomplishments would have been possible without the talents and sacrifices of that first group of nine students.

Madam Speaker, as a proud alumnus of Fisk University, I urge my colleagues to honor the hard work, perseverance, and accomplishments of the original Jubilee Singers by co-sponsoring this resolution, and I urge its immediate consideration.

Sandi’s adroit management abilities and love of music led her next to the SLO Symphony, where for fifteen years she managed an award winning organization that brought concert performances in Europe, spawned a youth symphony and brought music to the masses, especially to young children. She mentored... her young female employees, many of whom today hold executive positions throughout the country. And for the last eight years as executive director of Leadership SLO, Sandi has taken her talents to an even larger stage. Sandi is first to raise her hand when help is needed, proud to speak up on topics needing a voice and is a woman who always, truly always, keeps the greater good firmly in her sight.

TRIBUTE TO JOELLE DOBROW—
28TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT WOMAN OF THE YEAR
HON. ADAM B. SCHIFF
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, April 9, 2019

Mr. SCHIFF. Madam Speaker, I rise today in honor of Women’s History Month. Each year, we pay special tribute to the contributions and sacrifices made by our nation’s women. It is an honor to pay homage to outstanding women who are making a difference in my Congressional District. I would like to recognize a remarkable woman, Joelle Dobrow of the Echo Park neighborhood of Los Angeles, California.

After graduating from the University of California, Los Angeles in 1970 with a bachelor’s degree in film and television, Ms. Dobrow became a pioneering activist in Hollywood. At a time when women simply didn’t have opportunities in these industries and direct films, Joelle and five other female directors set out to make a change. The “Original Six,” as they’ve come to be known, decided to get organized in the fight against sexism and together, they formed the first Women’s Steering Committee of the Directors Guild of America. Decades before the Me Too movement forced a Hollywood reckoning, Dobrow and the Original Six spearheaded the first entertainment industry lawsuits against feature films studios for discrimination against women and ethnic minorities.

Ms. Dobrow and the Original Six received the recognition for their important activism efforts with the recent book Liberating Hollywood and upcoming documentary This Changes Everything, which features Joelle along with Meryl Streep and Geena Davis as feminist crusaders in Hollywood.

Joelle’s groundbreaking leadership is apparent in her television career as the first woman Producer/Director for the bay area television station KTEH, and later, the first woman Associate Director/Stage Manager at KABC-TV in Los Angeles. She continued to have an accomplished career as a television producer and director, including working for Noticiero Estudiantil—for which she won an Emmy—and Good Morning America among many others. She also helped produce live events such as TV Goes to the Hollywood Bowl and Hollywood Rehearsals.

Fifteen years ago, Ms. Dobrow founded the Edendale Library Friends Society (ELFS) in her neighborhood of Echo Park and has since led the organization as President. Joelle and the ELFS serve as a vital bridge between the Los Angeles Public Library, elected officials, Echo Park Neighborhood Council, other nearby non-profit organizations, and the local community. In addition to her volunteer service with ELFS, Joelle also served on the successful Yes on Measure L campaign, a measure which permanently increased library funding for the City of Los Angeles.

In 2013, Ms. Dobrow received an Executive Master of Arts in Arts Management from Claremont Graduate University. She was recently the recipient of the Drucker Women in Leadership Fellowship, the Ahmanson Fellowship, and an Altrusa Richardson grant.

I ask all Members to join me in honoring this exceptional, well-respected woman of California’s 28th Congressional District, Joelle Dobrow.

IN RECOGNITION OF EAST-HAMPTON HIGH SCHOOL’S ‘WE THE PEOPLE’ TEAM
HON. RICHARD E. NEAL OF MASSACHUSETTS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, April 9, 2019

Mr. NEAL. Madam Speaker, I would like to take this opportunity to recognize the students and advisors of Easthampton High School’s ‘We The People’ team for their hard work, dedication, and outstanding achievement. These individuals prevailed over a number of other powerful forces to earn high placement honors in the Massachusetts ‘We The People’ academic contest for the second year in a row. They have accordingly earned the distinction of representing the Commonwealth in the 32nd ‘We The People’ national finals this month in Washington, D.C.

The annual ‘We The People’ tournament is a wonderful opportunity that brings bright young people together to learn about and debate issues of great importance in today’s world. The students of Easthampton High School’s team not only displayed exceptional commitment, ability, and character in preparing for and winning the statewide competition this winter, but they have also worked even harder this spring as they have looked forward to competing in the national competition. They have been preparing to testify at mock congressional hearings, demonstrating their knowledge of the U.S. Constitution, issue statements on a variety of topics related to our country’s political and historical heritage, and field complex questions from a panel of expert judges. There is no doubt in my mind that they will find this whole experience uniquely valuable for years to come.

This year’s Easthampton High School’s ‘We The People’ team have been led by their teachers Kelley Brown and Taylor Dadmun who have provided crucial guidance and instrumental mentorship. The outstanding work performed by this group is a testament to the value of quality teachers in the Massachusetts public school system. The victorious students are Kerissa Bilski, Joseph Brough, Kuden Chumego, Samuel Colenback, Benjamin Damworth, Sophia Fiordaliso, Corinne Gawle, Joseph Hwang, Madeline Kleeberg, Kassidy Marowitz, Abigail McMahon, Jaqueline Perez, Madison Rinker, Madison Rodriguez, Trevor Waidron, Hanna Wauczinski, Christopher Williams, and Mohamed Zabir. The team’s student coaches include Lucas Patton, Vinnie Cataliano, and Fernando Tenesaca.

RECOGNIZING THE NATIONAL FEDERATION OF PUBLIC AND PRIVATE EMPLOYEES AND ITS 25TH ANNIVERSARY
HON. THEODORE E. DEUTCH
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, April 9, 2019

Mr. DEUTCH. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize the National Federation of Public and Private Employees (FOPE) as it celebrates 25 years of fighting for America’s public sector employees.

The National Federation of Public and Private Employees represents over 15,000 public sector employees in Florida who work for our colleges and universities, our counties and municipalities, and our school board and law enforcement agencies. Additionally, FOPE represents numerous private sector employees across the United States in the fields of aerospace, automotive, forestry, and parking and transportation.

The right to collective bargaining is vital for strong labor and safety standards. Since passage of the National Labor Relations Act in 1935, employees have had the right to organize and determine whether they wish to have unions to represent them. As a result of this organizing, union members earn 28% more in yearly wages, are more likely to have employer provided health insurance, and enjoy more secure pension benefits than their counterparts.

Madam Speaker, the benefits of FOPE’s efforts reach far beyond its membership, improving the working conditions and compensation of workers across the board. For this, I ask my colleagues to join me in congratulating FOPE and its current President, Dan Reynolds, on their 25 years of service to workers in my district and across the country.

Recognizing Bill McGahan, Founder of Georgia Works!
Hon. Doug Collins
Of Georgia
In the House of Representatives
Tuesday, April 9, 2019

Mr. COLLINS of Georgia, Madam Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Bill McGahan, founder of Georgia Works!, for the life changing impact he has made on countless men in the greater Atlanta area.

Bill McGahan founded Georgia Works! in 2013 based off his fundamental belief that every life has value, and virtually every person can be given the tools and habits to make their lives better. With the ultimate goal of achieving self-sufficiency, Georgia Works! strives to end homelessness, criminal recidivism and dependency among chronically homeless men in Atlanta through programs that ensure personal development in good habits, work ethic and character.

By helping participants gain stable employment and housing, Georgia Works! offers homeless men a second chance at life. Through personal support, case management, and workforce training, as well as AA/NA classes, GED classes, support in obtaining a driver’s license, help setting up a bank account, and life skill preparation courses, the program works to set them up for long term success.

Thanks to Bill McGahan’s leadership, Georgia Works! has graduated more than 600 men. Even more impressive is the fact that the program has accomplished this major milestone without accepting a single dime of government funding.

While Georgia Works! is among his most prominent accomplishments, Bill McGahan’s love for and dedication to his community stretches far and wide. Bill has been involved in many organizations and non-profit boards including: The State of Georgia Housing Trust Fund for the Homeless Commission; Atlanta Area Co-Chair of the Steering Committee for the Governor’s Office of Transition, Support and Reentry; From Houses to Homes; Atlanta Academy; The Howard School, The Paces Civic Association; and The National Foundation for Facial Reconstruction.

As we celebrate Second Chance Month, I am incredibly proud to recognize Bill McGahan for his dedication to providing men with an opportunity for a second chance. On behalf of the people of Georgia, I commend him for his service and I thank him for his steadfast commitment to bettering our communities.

Tribute to Sofiya Fikhman—Woman of the Year
Hon. Adam B. Schiff
Of California
In the House of Representatives
Tuesday, April 9, 2019

Mr. SCHIFF. Madam Speaker, I rise today in honor of Women’s History Month. Each year, we pay special tribute to the contributions and sacrifices made by our nation’s women. It is an honor to pay homage to outstanding women who are making a difference in my Congressional District. I would like to recognize a remarkable woman, Sofiya Fikhman.

Born in the Ukraine in 1939, Sofiya was two years old when the war between the Soviet Union and Germany began. During World War II, she and her family, along with thirteen strangers, lived in the Bershad ghetto in a one-room tenement. After the Soviet army freed the ghetto in 1944, Sofiya and her family returned to Savran in 1945, where they lived until 1952, thereafter moving to Moldova to join her father’s family, where she pursued her education at a medical college to become a nurse.

Sofiya married her husband, Shmil, in 1958, and they had two children. Upon completing her degree that same year, she began work in a children’s hospital as a supervisor until 1967; then worked in early childhood education, retiring in 1988 to help raise her grandchildren. Ms. Fikhman was over fifty years old when she and her family moved to the United States in 1991, with the dream of creating a new life in a new country. She worked as a caregiver for the elderly, babysitter, and volunteered in her free time.

A tireless and dedicated volunteer, Ms. Fikhman has always enjoyed being of service to people in the community. She joined the Association of Holocaust Survivors from the Former Soviet Union in 1996, and two years later, started volunteering for the organization and undertook various tasks including answering telephone calls, curating events, assisting new immigrants, and visiting survivors in care facilities and hospitals. She expanded her volunteer work by visiting several Jewish day schools, where she educated young people about her experience during the Holocaust. Ms. Fikhman became a member of the City of West Hollywood Russian Advisory Board in 2006, where she continued to plan cultural events and assist immigrant families. Presently, Sofiya is a staunch volunteer at the City of West Hollywood’s Russian Language Public Library.

I ask all Members to join me in honoring this exceptional, well-respected woman of California’s 28th Congressional District, Sofiya Fikhman.
INTRODUCTION OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA FLOOD PREVENTION ACT OF 2019

HON. ELEANOR HOLMES NORTON
OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, April 9, 2019

Ms. NORTON. Madam Speaker, I rise to introduce the District of Columbia Flood Prevention Act of 2019. The bill would amend the Coastal Zone Management Act of 1972 (CZMA) to include the nation’s capital in the definition of “coastal state.” Our bill would correct an apparent oversight in the omission of the District of Columbia and would make the District eligible to receive federal funding and provide oversight for federally issued permits, facilities and actions that affect the coastal waters of the District. The District urgently needs the protection of the CZMA because of serious flood risks that currently affect federal assets, residents and businesses, including the National Mall and the cluster of downtown federal agencies.

In an effort to reduce coastal flood risk, Congress has authorized a number of programs to help states and territories respond to floods and mitigate risk through resiliency projects. Among the state programs, the CZMA provides planning and technical services to assist states in protecting, restoring and developing coastal communities and resources. Once the federal government approves a state’s coastal management plan, the state becomes eligible for grants. Federal actions must be consistent with the state plans and vice versa.

Even though the District is located on two rivers and has suffered substantial coastal floods in the past, D.C. was omitted from the list of eligible states and territories in the CZMA. This oversight probably occurred because the CZMA was passed in 1972—before the District achieved home rule. Of note, under Section 304 of the CZMA, “coastal state[s]” include the states and U.S. territories (Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, the Trust Territories of the Pacific Islands and American Samoa). Absent from this definition is the District, even though the District, including the federal complex, is under a serious threat from rising sea levels. Because territories are included in the definition of “coastal states,” it appears that D.C.’s omission is a mistake, which only Congress can correct.

Scientists have predicted that the tides on the Atlantic Coast could rise two to four feet by the year 2100, causing property worth as much as $7 billion in the District to be routinely under threat by floodwaters. This damage not only includes private homes and businesses, but the National Mall, federal buildings and three military bases located in the District. The Anacostia and Potomac Rivers are both tidally influenced, showing tangible salt water effects (and fish), and are part of an “intertidal-zone” existing between high and low maritime tides. In addition, the Maryland and Virginia coastal zones each include the tidal Potomac River, with Maryland’s zone ending at the District line. Because of these factors, the District should be eligible under the CZMA just like the states and territories already listed in the CZMA.

I urge support for this bill.

IN HONOR OF CONGRESSWOMAN EDDIE BERNICE JOHNSON

HON. SANFORD D. BISHOP, JR.
OF GEORGIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, April 9, 2019

Mr. BISHOP of Georgia. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor a distinguished public servant and a dedicated stateswoman, Congresswoman Eddie Bernice Johnson who was honored in a dedication ceremony in Dallas, Texas on April 6, 2019 to rename Dallas Union Station in her honor. The former Dallas Union Station now bears the name Eddie Bernice Johnson Union Station.

Since its establishment in 1916, the Dallas Union Station has stood as a prominent landmark for the City of Dallas, serving as a historic social anchor and an intermodal transportation hub—consolidating the five main rail stations into one and making Dallas a major transportation hub.
Congresswoman EDDIE BERNICE JOHNSON is serving her 14th term representing the 30th Congressional District of Texas. She is the first African-American woman and woman to chair the House Committee on Science, Space, and Technology (where she served as Ranking Member from 2011 to 2018) and is the Dean of the Texas Congressional delegation in addition to serving as Dean of the Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona Democratic Congressional Delegations. Congresswoman Johnson is also the highest-ranking Texan on the House Transportation and Infrastructure Committee, the first nurse to be elected to the U.S. Congress, and a member of the Subcommittee on Aviation and the Subcommittee on Railroads, Pipelines, and Hazardous Materials.

Congresswoman JOHNSON was born on December 3, 1935, to the union of the late Lee Edward Johnson and Lillie Mae White Johnson in Waco, Texas. A true intellectual, she graduated through her education by earning her Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing from Texas Christian University in 1967 and her Master of Public Administration degree from Southern Methodist University in 1976.

Congresswoman Johnson began her career as the first female African-American Chief Psychiatric Nurse at the V.A. Hospital in Dallas. In 1972, she became the first nurse ever elected to the Texas State House and achieved that same distinction upon her election to the Texas Senate in 1986.

Congresswoman JOHNSON is more than a legislator. She is a servant to all humankind. In addition to her civic duties, she continues to give of herself to countless causes and organizations, such as her acclaimed initiative, A World Can Be a Better Place, which has garnered national and international recognition. Dr. Maya Angelou once said that “I’ve learned that you shouldn’t go through life with a catcher’s mitt on both hands; you need to be able to throw something back.” During the more than 40 years that she has served as a public servant, Congresswoman Johnson has thrown a prodigious amount of love and service back to the state and nation she loves so much in her life, but none of it would have been possible without the love and support of her loving son, Kirk; and her grandsons, Kirk Jr., David, and James.

On a personal note, Congresswoman Johnson is my classmate, both of us having been elected in 1992. Immediately upon meeting her I was awed by her grace, dignity, class, elegance, and eloquence. Her manner of quiet persuasion and passion have propelled her to numerous leadership positions, including her election as Chair of the Congressional Black Caucus. She is a friend of longstanding and her deep humility and compassion reflect the timbre of her character.

Congresswoman JOHNSON is truly a stellar example of servant leadership. I am proud to have served alongside her in Congress where her friendship, leadership, and counsel are held in high regard by many.

Madam Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join my wife, Vivian, and me in offering with the people of the 30th Congressional District of Texas and countless others all across America, in extending our sincerest congratulations to Congresswoman EDDIE BERNICE JOHNSON on this tremendous honor and lasting memorial to her legacy of service to her community, state, nation, and humankind.

IN RECOGNITION OF THE DESIGNATION OF CHILDREN’S COURT WAY

HON. CAROLYN B. MALONEY
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, April 9, 2019

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Madam Speaker, I rise to pay tribute to the 100 Committee to Commemorate the Children’s Court, on the occasion of the designation of Children’s Court Way, located on the northwest corner of East 22nd Street and Third Avenue in Manhattan. Children’s Court Way will recognize the unique role of the Children’s Court in the development of the juvenile court system and the principle of treating children differently from adults.

The 100 Committee to Commemorate the Children’s Court was established in August 2012. It was dedicated in February 2014 in the presence of Manhattan Borough President Gale Brewer and Kips Bay area, including Dr. Samuel D. Albert, Edith Charlot, Louise Dankberg, Molly Hollister, Judge Judy Kim, Alan Krevig, Greg Lambert, Judge Andrea Masley, Greg Martello, Lois Rakoff, Marti Speranza, Mark P. Toor, and Tiffany Townsend. C. Waterman, Claude L. Winfield and the Committee’s Chairperson, Michelle Winfield. Their goal has been to gain recognition of the site where America’s first juvenile court operated for more than six decades.

Before the early 1900s, children under the age of 16 who were accused of crimes were tried and sentenced as adults. Progressive reformers believed young people awaiting trial in the same jails as adult criminal suspects were more likely to become repeat offenders than to be rehabilitated. In 1902, an act of the New York State legislature established the Children’s Part within the NY Court of Special Sessions, making New York County the first in the United States to have a juvenile court housed in its own building. The court, initially located at 66 Third Avenue, near East 11th Street, opened that summer.

The reform law also reclassified all crimes committed by minors under the age of 16, other than capital offenses, as misdemeanors so as to shield children from harsh sentencing laws. Emphasizing reform instead of detention helped countless children labeled as criminals. The guiding principle was, as a 1902 NY Times article put it, “to guard children against the exposure and environment of crime.”

By 1912, the original building was viewed as unsanitary, and noise from the heavily elevated train line made it hard to carry out court, proceedings. The decision was made to invest $250,000 in a new Children’s Court building. On July 1, 1915, the Children’s Court was officially established as a separate entity from the Court of Special Sessions. It relocated to 137 East 22nd Street near Third Avenue. The new site was chosen due to its proximity to other social welfare institutions, including the YMCA, United Charities, the Catholic Mission

House, the Manhattan Trade School for Girls, and the Free Academy—a predecessor of City College and the current site of Baruch College. A testament to New York's commitment to reforming young people's relationship with the justice system, the building housed a large main courtroom, physical and mental health services, and its own probation department. The Children's Court occupied this space until 1961, at which point the Family Court, as it is now called, relocated to 60 Lafayette Street.

Today, the Children's Court building is home to Baruch College's Steven L. Newman Real Estate Institute. More than a century later, though, the original inscription on the building's cornerstone still reads: “For every child let truth spring from earth and justice and mercy look down from heaven.” Like the inscription, the designation of this corner as Children's Court Way will serve as a reminder of the advances we have made in child welfare and the far-sighted reformers who dedicated their lives to the protection and advancement of America's children.

Madam Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in recognizing the dedication of the 100 Committee to Commemorate the Children's Court and celebrating the designation of Children's Court Way.

NATIONAL WEEK OF CONVERSATION

HON. JOYCE BEATTY
OF OHIO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, April 9, 2019

Mrs. BEATTY. Madam Speaker, I rise today to mark National Week of Conversation.

Right now, we as Americans are no longer expressing our disagreements in a respectful way. Need proof? Turn on the TV or check your Facebook and Twitter feed. It's gotten so bad that 75 percent of Americans—across the political spectrum—say the way we interact with each other has reached a 'crisis level.'

Madam Speaker, we need to learn how to disagree without being disagreeable—and that begins here in Congress.

That is why Congressman Steve Stivers and I launched the Congressional Civility and Respect Caucus last year.

We are on a mission to “Revive Civility” and visiting schools, civic organizations, and businesses in Central Ohio and D.C. to spread the message. I invite all my Democratic and Republican colleagues to join us in this effort.

Become a member of Congressional Civility and Respect Caucus and take time this National Week of Conversation to “Listen First.”

Our families, friends, constituents, and fellow Americans are counting on us.

TRIBUTE TO CYNTHIA HUBACH—28TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT WOMAN OF THE YEAR

HON. ADAM B. SCHIFF
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, April 9, 2019

Mr. SCHIFF. Madam Speaker, I rise today in honor of Women's History Month. Each year, we pay special tribute to the contributions and sacrifices made by our nation's women. It is an honor to pay homage to outstanding women who are making a difference in my Congressional District. I would like to recognize a remarkable woman, Cynthia Hubach of the Silver Lake neighborhood of Los Angeles, California.

Cynthia Hubach grew up exploring nature and observing wildlife right in her own backyard, in the open spaces of the 1960s San Fernando Valley. From her father Richard, a rocket scientist and entrepreneur, Ms. Hubach learned to love and respect nature, developing a lifelong commitment to protecting and preserving open spaces. From her mother Gail, who was chief of pharmacy at Canoga Park Hospital for well over twenty years, Cynthia learned the crucial values of hard work, self-reliance, and caring for one's community.

After graduating with a Bachelor of Arts in English from the University of California, Berkeley, her parents' alma mater, Cynthia took an unusual step into a career in local news. At KCBS-TV News in Los Angeles, Cynthia produced the 6 p.m. newscast through historic periods of civic turmoil and natural disasters. She went on to produce scores of hours of television, from MTV's Behind the Music to reality shows; most notably The Apprentice.

In 2010, with her father in the final months of a long battle with cancer, she decided she needed to make more of a difference in the world. That year, she enrolled in a master's program at Antioch University in Urban Sustainability. The coursework emphasized the connections among people, the economy and the planet, and how certain "leverage points" can have an outsized impact on all three. Community gardens are just that sort of leverage points, so in 2011, Cynthia started work to convert a quarter acre vacant lot she owned in Elysian Valley into a thriving community garden.

Cynthia has become increasingly involved in urban agriculture. She is an active member of the Master Gardener program and she has also served as co-chair of the Los Angeles Food Policy Council's Urban Agriculture Working Group. She is a board member for the Los Angeles Community Garden Council; an organization that supports about 40 community gardens with administrative and programming assistance.

Her love for nature and wildlife extends to her neighborhood in Silver Lake where she is the current Vice President of the Silver Lake Reservoirs Conservancy, which seeks to beautify the reservoir complex with native plantings, and responsibly expand areas of public access.

I ask all Members to join me in honoring this exceptional, well-respected woman of California's 28th Congressional District, Cynthia Hubach.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, April 9, 2019

Mr. CARBAJAL. Madam Speaker, I rise to recognize Jill Anderson for her Congressional Women of the Year Award and for all the incredible work she does to improve the quality of life on the Central Coast.

Ten years ago, Jill Anderson and her husband founded Shadow’s Fund, an organization to help find homes for senior and difficult-to-adopt dogs. Starting the organization with only a few dogs, they have now grown to caring for 42 dogs on-site and even more in foster homes. Along the way they established a sanctuary for those dogs, as well as pigs and wild horses. Jill has developed programs in the Lompoc community working with local residents on dog ownership, as well as bringing the community to their sanctuary. She also created a program to rescue Pitbull puppies from backyard breeders, socialize and train them, and make them breed ambassadors. Jill works 60 to 70 hours a week as a volunteer for Shadow’s Fund, it’s an honor to recognize Jill’s efforts to make the Central Coast a more humane place for animals and a happier place for its residents.

Mr. SCHIFF. Madam Speaker, I rise today in honor of Women’s History Month. Each year, we pay special tribute to the contributions and sacrifices made by our nation’s women. It is an honor to pay homage to outstanding women who are making a difference in my Congressional District. I would like to recognize a remarkable woman, Carrie Ann Sutkin of the Elysian Valley neighborhood of Los Angeles, California.

Born in Detroit, Michigan, Carrie Ann lived there until the age of fifteen, when her stepfather was offered a job as a health agency administrator in the counties of Alameda and Contra Costa and her family moved to Northern California. After volunteering as a health worker in the Dominican Republic, Ms. Sutkin learned the Spanish language at the University of California, Santa Cruz (UCSC) and also in Mexico City where she lived and studied Latin American politics.

Carrie Ann completed her Bachelor of the Arts degree at UCSC in 1984 and moved to Los Angeles in 1986 for her first professional job in the Department of Spanish and Portuguese at the University of Southern California. In 1990, she received a Master’s Degree in Urban Planning while interning for the City of Los Angeles Chief Legislative Analyst. Carrie Ann began her Doctorate in 1995 in Planning and Policy Development with her Dissertation on how her Chicana colleagues in the county re-planned and redeveloped the East Los Angeles Civic Center and wrote another Dissertation in Planning and Development on Chicana feminist planning in 2015. From 2012 to 2018, Ms. Sutkin represented Los Angeles County on three Redevelopment Agency Oversight Committees: Pomona, El Monte and West Covina. She currently has a thriving consultant practice for non-profit organizations.
