

date, the software has identified 45 fraudulent travel documents and approximately 7,000 visa overstays.

These innovative processes conceived by Mr. Wagner have increased the efficiency, minimized costs, and allowed CBP officers to focus on keeping our country safe.

I hope my colleagues will join me in congratulating Ambassador Kozak, Ms. De Castro, and Mr. Wagner and thanking them for their great work.

FEDERAL WORKERS

In closing, Mr. President, I am going to say a few words about the way our Federal workers have been treated, unfortunately, during this administration. The truth is, the service of Federal workers like Ambassador Kozak, Ms. De Castro, and Mr. Wagner have not been honored by the President. Instead of appreciation, our Federal employees have too often faced complete disrespect in the form of pay freezes, hostile Executive orders, and of course the President's own disastrous government shutdown. During that 35-day, self-inflicted crisis, thousands of Federal workers went without pay. It is true that after we reopened they got that backpay, but during that tenure when they couldn't make their bills, oftentimes folks had to get out of daycare and couldn't get to the doctor. The stories we heard were remarkable. One survey found that more than half of all Federal workers dipped into savings to make ends meet. Those who weren't furloughed workers worked long hours in stressful and thinly staffed circumstances for weeks on end.

Candidly, I fear that the President's efforts to antagonize the Federal workforce is discouraging the best and brightest from serving in our government—at a time when nearly one-third of our Federal workers are nearing retirement age. This is wrong; it is unsustainable; and as a former CEO, these are just not good business practices, as well as the taxpayers will suffer from the consequences of this President's actions.

Our public servants are not bargaining chips. They are not faceless bureaucrats. They are our fellow Americans who dedicate their lives to serving their country, to protecting its people, and to making sure our tax dollars are properly spent.

Finally, I want to say, again, thank you to all our Federal workers. You deserve much better than what you have had the last couple of years. I will continue fighting in the Senate to protect your pay, your benefits, and your ability to continue to focus on what you signed up for—serving our country and its people.

I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.
