The House met at 2 p.m. and was called to order by the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. CLAY).

DESIGNATION OF THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following communication from the Speaker:

WASHINGTON, DC,
July 9, 2019.

I hereby appoint the Honorable Wm. LACY CLAY to act as Speaker pro tempore on this day.

NANCY PELOSI,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, the Reverend Patrick J. Conroy, offered the following prayer:

Loving and gracious God, we give You thanks for giving us another day. As the Members of this assembly return from days away celebrating our Nation’s birth, may they return rested and ready to assume the difficult work which must be done.

We pray for the needs of the Nation, the world, and all of creation. Bless those who seek to honor You and serve each other and all Americans in this House through their public service.

May the words and deeds of this place reflect an earnest desire for justice, and may men and women in government build on the tradition of equity and truth that represents the noblest heritage of our people.

May Your blessing, O God, be with us this day and every day to come, and may all we do be for Your greater honor and glory.

Amen.

THE JOURNAL

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has examined the Journal of the last day’s proceedings and announces to the House his approval thereof.

Pursuant to clause 1, rule I, the Journal stands approved.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. JOYCE) come forward and lead the House in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mr. JOYCE of Pennsylvania led the Pledge of Allegiance as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

GROWING OUR ECONOMY

(Mr. JOYCE of Pennsylvania asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. JOYCE of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, Congress has exactly 3 weeks before we break for our August work period, and we owe it to our constituents to get the job done.

The USMCA agreement will benefit every district in America, as it will lead to 176,000 new jobs and grow the U.S. economy by an additional $68 billion. This agreement will also be a huge benefit to my constituents. Pennsylvania’s 18th District is made up of so many hardworking dairy farmers who have struggled in recent years. This deal will unleash new markets and bring our industry back to life.

Instead of hauling Robert Mueller before a committee to rehash a case that is already closed, Congress should be putting all of our efforts into making the USMCA agreement law.

During July, my focus will be on passing the USMCA and growing our economy for years to come. I urge all of my colleagues to join me in this mission.

PREVENTING LYME DISEASE

(Mr. THOMPSON of Pennsylvania asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. THOMPSON of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 3073, the TICK Act, which would help combat the rise of tickborne and bloodborne illnesses across the country. These diseases are rapidly becoming a serious and growing threat to public health with more than 300,000 estimated cases annually.

In my home State of Pennsylvania alone, ticks are a common threat to those who explore our vast network of trails and public lands in Pennsylvania.

While ticks carry a variety of harmful diseases, Lyme disease is one of the most prevalent. Currently, there are no uniformly accepted treatment options for patients with chronic symptoms of Lyme disease.

The TICK Act would develop a national strategy to prevent and treat Lyme and other diseases, including those spread by mosquitoes and fleas. It would also authorize the Centers for Disease Control to award grants to State health departments to support early detection and diagnosis, improve treatment, and raise public awareness.

I am proud to cosponsor H.R. 3073, and I urge my colleagues to cosponsor this legislation to prevent and treat Lyme and other vector-borne diseases.

COMMUNICATION FROM CHAIR OF HOUSE REPUBLICAN CONFERENCE

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following communication from the Chair of the House Republican Conference:

WASHINGTON, DC, July 8, 2019.

Hon. Nancy Pelosi,
Speaker of the House of Representatives,
Washington, DC.

Dear Madam Speaker: Pursuant to clause 5(b)(1) of Rule X, I am writing to inform you... that Rep. Justin Amash has resigned as a member of the House Republican Conference.

Sincerely,

LIZ CHENET,
Chair, House Republican Conference.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following communication from the Speaker:

SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE,
July 9, 2019.

HON. ELIJAH CUMMINGS,
Representative of the State of Maryland, in Congress as representative of the State of Maryland.

The SPEAKER pro tempore said: The House is in recess, at 2 o’clock and 6 minutes p.m., pursuant to the request of the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. CARSON) ago.

PROTECTING AFFORDABLE MORTGAGES FOR VETERANS ACT OF 2019

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 1988) to clarify seasoning requirements for certain refinanced mortgage loans, and for other purposes, as amended.

H.R. 1988

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Protecting Affordable Mortgages for Veterans Act of 2019”.

SEC. 2. SEASONING REQUIREMENTS FOR CERTAIN REFINANCED MORTGAGE LOANS.

(a) GINNIE MAE.—Paragraph (1) of section 306(g) of the National Housing Act (12 U.S.C. 1721(g)(1)) is amended by striking the second sentence (as added by section 309(b) of Public Law 115–74).

(b) VETERANS LOANS.—Section 3709 of title 38, United States Code, is amended by striking subsection (c) and inserting the following:

“(c) LOAN SEASONING.—Except as provided in subsection (d), the Under Secretary of Veterans Affairs shall establish minimum seasoning requirements for loans guaranteed or insured under this chapter until the date that is the later of—

“(1) the date on which the borrower has made at least six consecutive monthly payments on the loan being refinanced; and

“(2) the date that is 210 days after the first payment due date of the loan being refinanced.

(c) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this Act may be construed to restrict or otherwise modify the authorities of the Department of Veterans Affairs.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentlelady from California (Ms. WATERS) and the gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. BARR) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlelady from California.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on this legislation and to insert extraneous material thereon.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the request of the gentlelady from California, the text of the bill as amended is ordered to be printed in the Congressional Record.

The Chair recognizes the gentlelady from California.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume. Mr. Speaker, last year, when Congress passed S. 2155, it included as section 309 a bill sponsored by Senators TILLIS and WARREN titled Protecting Veterans from Predatory Lending Act of 2018.

That provision put new requirements in place to protect veteran borrowers from the aggressive and deceptive marketing practices of lenders pushing mortgage refinance deals. However, the drafting of this provision caused some unintended consequences; specifically, an estimated 2,500 loans that were in full compliance with all requirements at the time were later denied Ginnie Mae securitization simply because they were in the process of being refinanced or securitized when the law became effective.

Senators WARREN and TILLIS weighed in with Ginnie Mae, stating that it was not their intention to orphan those loans and have urged Ginnie Mae to address the issue.

However, Ginnie believes legislation is needed to grandfather those orphaned loans and address other administrative issues that have resulted from the slight differences between the new requirements in S. 2155 and Ginnie’s prior requirements.

That is why we are here today with the bill from the gentleman from Georgia, H.R. 1988, which is a reasonable step to address what were clearly unintended consequences of the previous legislation. I am pleased to support this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I thank Mr. SCOTT and Mr. ZELDIN for introducing this bill, urge Members to vote ‘yes,’ and I recognize the balance of my time.

Mr. BARR. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 1988, the Protecting Affordable Mortgages for Veterans Act, introduced by my friend, the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. DAVID SCOTT).

This bill is an important continuation of work that our colleague LEE ZELDIN from Long Island, who is a lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserve, started last Congress to better protect our Nation’s veterans from financial fraud.

This Congress, I was pleased to join Congressmen SCOTT and ZELDIN as an original cosponsor of this legislation, along with my colleague on the House Veterans’ Affairs Committee, Congresswoman LEVIN, to assist with advancing this bill through both this committee, the Financial Services Committee, and the House Veterans’ Affairs Committee.

Last year, Congress enacted S. 2155, the most pro-growth banking bill in a generation. Section 309 of that legislation included a provision to impose a new seasoning requirement for the securitization of loans insured by the VA.

This provision addresses the questionable practice of churning; that is, the refinancing of a home loan over and over again just to generate fees and profits for lenders with a slight short-term benefit for the borrower but at an increased life-of-the-loan cost.

Unfortunately, that provision created a technical issue for a group of VA loans that fell into no-man’s land, if you will, between the date on which the mortgage was issued and the technical requirements of the new law, increasing the risk to lenders and making the loans less attractive to investors.

Congressmen ZELDIN and SCOTT took quick action to correct this unintended consequence, but Congress ran out of time last year and it did not become law.

The bill we are considering today, H.R. 1988, is a continuation of their efforts to address this unintended problem and ensure that these VA loans receive the equitable treatment they deserve.

To some, this bill today might seem to be just a technical fix, but it is an important one. Our Nation’s veterans should not be subject to suspect practices like churning.

I am pleased that this bill, along with the ongoing efforts of the VA loan securitizer Ginnie Mae, will stamp out churning and better protect veterans.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 1988 and, once again, commend my colleague from Georgia (Mr.
DAVID SCOTT), and I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. DAVID SCOTT), a senior member of the Committee on Veterans’ Affairs, and sponsor of H.R. 1885.

Mr. DAVID SCOTT of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I thank Chairwoman WATERS for her support and encouragement to us to continue this.

Mr. Speaker, I want to make this opening statement because it is very important for us to realize the importance of this bill because, today, according to the latest data from the Veterans Administration, we are losing 29 of our military veterans every single day to suicide.

This is a clarion call from our veterans for help, and what we are doing today is one small step. But, as I will explain as I go on, we are doing much, much more because we need to bring this suicide rate to stop.

So much of it is caused by disappointment, discouragement, and giving up. But, after today, with this vote, we will send a powerful message to this Nation and especially to our precious veterans that help is indeed on the way.

Now, I first of all want to thank my bipartisan friends Mr. ANDY BARR, Mr. ZELDIN, all of them, for this is truly a bipartisan effort, and I thank them for their support as we move forward with this.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I want to take my time and I want to go through this, and I want folks to really understand why this is so important. Mr. BARR touched on it.

Last year, when Congress passed S. 2155, which was called the Economic Growth, Regulatory Relief, and Consumer Protection Act, it included a set of bipartisan reforms to refinancing requirements for these predatory loans to protect our veterans from the predatory act of loan churning.

Mr. Speaker, this shows you the devi-ousness of it, that here you have these predatory lenders who are out here targeting our veterans and charging them over and over for the same payment on these refinancings.

How devious—how evil—can you be to do this to our veterans over and over again? And they do this to generate their income, while maintaining strong refinancing opportunities that they deserve, despite meeting all Federal requirements, as well as backing from the VA, and it is clear that it was not the intent of Congress to orphan these veteran loans.

But, rather, our intent when we passed the Senate bill was to ensure that there were strong and enduring protections in place to prevent future loan churning.

Can you imagine somebody sending you a bill and you paying for the same thing over and over? How evil is that? This bill that we have today will put a stop to that predatory type lending and the abuse that it has caused our veterans.

And this is also necessary. Mr. Speaker, because it preserves liquidity while maintaining strong refinancing requirements to keep these bad actors out and ensuring that our veterans, our men and women who have served our country through their outstanding bravery, their courage, their great sacrifice for us, have access now to safe and affordable homeownership opportunities.

And this is also necessary. Mr. Speaker, because it preserves liquidity while maintaining strong refinancing requirements to keep these bad actors out and ensuring that our veterans, our men and women who have served our country through their outstanding bravery, their courage, their great sacrifice for us, have access now to safe and affordable homeownership opportunities.

Mr. Speaker, without this needed legislative fix, VA lenders may need to sell or refinance these mortgages at a loss, causing damage to the VA home loan market and potentially hindering their ability to originate similar loans in the future or raising borrowing costs and rates for other qualified veterans who will be suffering the same abuse.

Mr. Speaker, as I mentioned before, I am especially proud to have worked with my colleagues on this: Mr. LEE ZELDIN on the Financial Services Committee; Ms. WATERS, our chairwoman; and Mr. ANDY BARR, who sits on this committee. I also want to mention Mr. MIKE LEVIN, who sits on the Committee on Veterans’ Affairs.

I provided bipartisan common sense to fix this for our beloved veterans. Through this bipartisan work of my colleagues on these two committees, we have been able to move this bill through the House, ensuring that the dream of homeownership continues to be preserved for our Nation’s precious veterans, to whom we owe the deepest debt of gratitude.

Mr. Speaker, I mentioned in my remarks about this great tragedy, and I want to take this opportunity to let veterans who may be watching this discussion this afternoon know that this Congress stands with them, and there are Members of Congress that have many bills and many different programs to get financial resources.

Mr. BARR, my Republican colleague, and I, for example, have a process going where we are addressing the shortage of psychiatrists. We are working with the American Psychiatric Association and the American Medical Association to pay those doctors’ stipend stipend stipend and give them scholarships so that they can come into the VA to work.

For the project I am working on with my good friend, Senator JOHNNY ISAKSON over in the Senate, we are trying to get more resources to open up more health clinics for our VA. And there are other things going.

I want people to know that down in my home State of Georgia, in my district, in the next month, on August 10, doctors, nurses, and hospitals all over Atlanta, Georgia, are coming together, giving their time, along with the top administrators from the VA. They will be there in Jonesboro at Mundy’s Mill High School.

We can cut down this suicide rate. It is a shame. It is a disgrace for this country. We are doing something about it in this Congress. Members on both sides of the aisle understand that this isn’t a Democratic problem or a Republican problem. It is America’s problem, and our veterans deserve to be heard.

Mr. BARR. Mr. Speaker, again, I thank my friend, the gentleman from Georgia, for his bipartisanism and his willingness to fight for veterans. I appreciate that.

Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from New York (Mr. ZELDIN), my Republican colleague on the House Financial Services Committee, a veteran himself and a servicemember who has been a champion on legislating this fix.

Mr. ZELDIN. Mr. Speaker, I thank Ranking Member BARR for his leadership, not just for yielding time. This is something that he has been working on himself, putting a lot of heart, passion, and thought into it.

I thank Congressman DAVID SCOTT for his incredible leadership on this important bipartisan effort. He laid it out so eloquently just now, the many aspects of not just this issue but the need to fight for veterans.

There are many people who are here in the gallery, millions of people at home watching C-SPAN, shocked at what they are seeing, as Republicans and Democrats in the House and the Senate work together to get a bill through committee, through the Chambers, and to the President’s desk to become law. The beneficiaries will be our Nation’s veterans.

I rise today to urge passage of H.R. 2515, the Protecting Affordable Mortgages for Veterans Act. It provides more than a technical fix. It is important for recently issued loans refinanced by the Department of Veterans Affairs to remain eligible for the secondary market.

This fix is essential to prevent a liquidity crisis in the veterans home loan market and ensure that the brave men and women who have served our Nation in uniform have access to affordable mortgages.

Through passage of this bill, we can ensure that VA home loans are not adversely impacted by issues in the veterans mortgage market created by the unintended consequences of S. 2155.

The Economic Growth, Regulatory Relief, and Consumer Protection Act, S. 2155 became law in May 2018 and contained several important bipartisan reforms to protect veterans from predatory lending and deceptive marketing. These provisions are essential to protect the VA home loan market, but whole sale loan timelines laid out in the legislation, and the way that Ginny Mae chose to implement the requirements of the new law, have left an estimated 2,500 or more VA home loans boxed out of the secondary market.

These loans are now considered orphan loans because they are no longer eligible for Ginnie Mae securitization, even though they met all Federal requirements and are backed by the VA.

This bill will prevent a government-triggered liquidity crisis in the VA mortgage market by fixing this problem and restoring eligibility for these orphaned loans.

Another issue ensures that veteran homeowners or prospective homebuyers who have earned access to the VA home loan program through their military service aren’t hurt by a fluke in S. 2155.

Without this bill, potential damage to the overall VA home loan market is likely because VA lenders may have to sell or finance these orphaned mortgages at a loss. This would have a negative impact on the brave men and women who served our country and deserve a path to homeownership.

Even one VA home loan negatively impacted by a minor mistake is one too many when it comes to giving our veterans access to homeownership. That is why we must pass this bipartisan bill and send it to the President’s desk to become law as soon as possible.

Again, I thank my lead bipartisan co-sponsors, Congressmen DAVID SCOTT and ANDY BARR, and MIKE LEVIN. I thank Chairwoman WATERS for her efforts and Ranking Member MCHENRY. This was a truly bipartisan effort from the committee. Everyone came together and worked together to get to this important bill and protect our Nation’s veterans.

I urge adoption of this important bipartisan bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Members are reminded to avoid references to occupants of the gallery.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I would inquire, through the Chair, if my colleague has any remaining speakers on his side.

Mr. BARR. Mr. Speaker, I am prepared to close.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I have no further speakers, and I am prepared to close.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BARR. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Once again, I thank the sponsor of this legislation, the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. DAVID SCOTT).

If that legislation does not passage, New York (Mr. ZELDIN) for his continued leadership on this legislation.

I thank the gentleman from California (Mr. LEVIN), whom I have the privilege of serving with on the Veterans Affairs’ Committee as well, for his leadership in getting this bipartisan legislation to the House floor and to this point.

I thank the chairwoman of our full committee, the gentlewoman from California (Ms. WATERS), for her leadership in being navigated this legislation forward.

Mr. Speaker, in conclusion, this is an important piece of legislation. It is bipartisan recognition of a problem created unintentionally by a law passed last year, and it is about providing two basic protections for veterans: protecting veterans who are seeking the dream of homeownership from predatory practices and from this practice of churning, and preserving liquidity in the secondary market for VA loans, which, as I am sure the gentlewoman from Kentucky (Mr. BARR) will control 20 minutes.

I thank the gentlewoman from Kentucky (Mr. BARR) each time.

Mr. Speaker, I thank Mr. SCOTT and Mr. ZELDIN for working in a bipartisan manner to bring H.R. 1988 before the House. I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from California (Ms. WATERS) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill. H.R. 1988, as amended.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

WHISTLEBLOWER PROTECTION REFORM ACT OF 2019

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 2515) to amend the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 (15 U.S.C. 78u–6) to amend the definition of whistleblower, as amended.

The Clerk read the title of the bill. The text of the bill is as follows:

H.R. 2515

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled.

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Whistleblower Protection Reform Act of 2019”.

SEC. 2. WHISTLEBLOWER.

(1) in subsection (a)(6)—

(A) by striking “(6) WHISTLEBLOWER.—The term ‘whistleblower’ means—”;

(B) by adding the following new subparagraph—

“(6) WHISTLEBLOWER.—

“(A) In general.—The term ‘whistleblower’ includes—

(B) by adding the following new subparagraph—

“(B) Special rule.—For purposes of subsection (h)(1), the term ‘whistleblower’ shall also include any individual who takes an action described in subsection (h)(1)(A), or 2 or more individuals acting jointly who take an action described in subsection (h)(1)(A);”;

and

(2) in subsection (h)(1)—

(A) in clause (ii), by striking “or” at the end,

(B) in clause (iii), by striking the period at the end and inserting “; and”;

and

(C) by adding at the end the following—

“(iv) providing information regarding any conduct that the whistleblower reasonably believes constitutes a violation of any law, rule, or regulation subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission to—

“(I) a person with supervisory authority over the whistleblower;”;

and

“(II) such other person working for the employer described under subsection (I) who has the authority to investigate, discover, or terminate misconduct.”;

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentlewoman from California (Ms. WATERS) and the gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. BARR) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from California.
Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I thank Representative GREEN, the chairman of the Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations, for working with the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. HUIZENGA) to craft this timely piece of bipartisan legislation that would give whistleblowers the protection they need.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce highlighted the importance of internal reporting in its 2010 letter to the SEC, stating: “The experience of the many companies with robust internal reporting programs, as well as the empirical evidence, demonstrate that all stakeholders benefit when those with knowledge of potential securities law violations report internally, thus enabling management to promptly investigate and take remedial action.”

By clarifying that whistleblowers who only report alleged misconduct to the employers are also protected by the antiretaliation provisions of the Dodd-Frank Act, this bill would encourage employees to communicate potential securities law violations to their employers without fear of being fired before they are able to report to the SEC.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BARR. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I rise in support of H.R. 2515, the Whistleblower Protection Reform Act of 2019.

I would like to thank my colleagues, Congressman GREEN and Congressman HUIZENGA, for their work on this commonsense, bipartisan legislation.

Mr. Speaker, whistleblowers play a very important role in rooting out bad behavior that harms the market as well as mom-and-pop investors. Additionally, businesses have a self-interest in detecting and eliminating illegal activity as swiftly as possible within their organizations. To that end, clarifying the concept of encouraging employees to report alleged securities fraud activities to their employers without fear of retaliation just makes sense.

Businesses typically strive to comply with the law, and they have incentives to do so from market pressures, but it is also because unlawful activity hurts the company itself and it hurts its investors, its customers, and the market. And the law is there to protect the markets, to protect the company itself and it hurts its investors.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I thank Mr. BARR for his assistance and his help. He is the Oversight ranking member, and he and I will be working together on many pieces of legislation.

I am honored today to say that this piece of legislation was born as a result of honorable intentions metamorphosing into unintended consequences, honorable intentions.

When we passed Dodd-Frank in 2010, we sought to add additional protections for whistleblowers above and beyond what was accorded in Sarbanes-Oxley. In so doing, with the best of intentions, we found that this legislation was taken before the Supreme Court of the United States of America, and the Supreme Court concluded—and I don’t quarrel with their conclusion, but the Supreme Court concluded that the legislation would apply only if the person who was a whistleblower took the concern to the SEC first.

I don’t quarrel with what the Supreme Court ruled. This is why we have this piece of legislation to correct the best of intentions that metamorphosed into unintended consequences.

Let’s talk for just a moment about whistleblowers. It is exceedingly important to do this because I want people to know that whistleblowers are extraordinary people in the sense only of they do extraordinary things. They are really ordinary people, but they do extraordinary things.

These are the people who are willing to put their livelihoods on the line. These are the people who are willing to take that step that many of us would not take because we would never stand alone. But they understand that it is better to stand alone than never to stand at all, and in so doing, they are protecting us: consumers, members of the public.

So I commend the whistleblowers of the world who take these extraordinary steps.

But we also want to do more than commend them. We want to protect them. This legislation will protect those who are willing to step forward, those who will see something and say something, something that we encourage people to do.

You can’t encourage people to see something and say something and then allow them to do this without the protections that we should properly accord them and that we intended to accord them under Dodd-Frank. So I am honored today to have this piece of legislation that will give whistleblowers the protection that we intended and will also send a message that the companies that they work for can have the opportunity to take corrective action before the SEC is informed.

Many of these companies want to do the right thing, and if given the opportunity, they will—not all, many. I think we ought to give them an opportunity to do the right thing; and to do so, we would want whistleblowers to report internally before they take this to an external source such as the SEC.

Mr. Speaker, this legislation is bipartisian. I am honored to tell you that, among the persons who are the cosponsors, we have the Honorable CAROLYN MALONEY; the Honorable Representative GERALD CONNOLLY; the Honorable GREIGORY MEKES; the Honorable JOYCE BEATTY, who is here in this room with us currently; and the Honorable VINCENTE GONZALEZ, all of whom support it, along with the Honorable EMANUEL CLEAVER.

I would also add, it is endorsed by the National Whistleblower Center, endorsed by the North American Securities Administrators Association, endorsed by Public Citizen, endorsed by the Government Accountability Project, endorsed by the Project On Government Oversight, and endorsed by the Securities Industry and Financial Markets Association.

It is another example of how, under the leadership of the Honorable MAXINE WATERS, we continue to produce bipartisan legislation. I am honored, Mr. Speaker, to have this honorable chairwoman presiding today.

Mr. BARR. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time, and I am prepared to close.

Mr. Speaker, again, I would thank Congressman GREEN and Congressman HUIZENGA for their leadership on this extending of whistleblower protections, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from California? There was no objection.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, this is a very important measure that will increase corporate accountability and help those companies committed to ferreting out wrongdoing to take action without government involvement and protects those workers who help them to do so.

I commend the gentleman from Texas and the gentleman from Michigan for working in a bipartisan manner to bring this bill before the House.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this important piece of legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. HUIZENGA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 2919, the Whistleblower Protection Act of 2019.

Whistleblowers are an effective means of rooting out bad behavior that harms the market as well as investors.

In fact, Section 922 of Dodd-Frank amended the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 to afford whistleblowers protection from retaliation by their employers for reporting suspected misconduct.

Additionally, Section 922 allows for the SEC to provide monetary awards to whistleblowers who provide “original information” resulting in monetary sanctions over $1 million. However, in February 2018, the Supreme Court held in Digital Realty v. Somers that whistleblowers who report alleged misconduct internally to their employer, as opposed to the SEC, are not protected by Dodd-Frank’s anti-retaliation provisions.

A whistleblower who reports directly to their employee about alleged misconduct shouldn’t risk being retaliated against. That’s why this bipartisan bill has been carefully crafted to clarify the application of the anti-retaliation provisions to whistleblowers provided within the Dodd-Frank Act.

By further clarifying the anti-retaliation provisions of section 922 apply to those whistleblowers who report internally will encourage employees to report potential misconduct in stead of automatically escalating that issue to the SEC.

Internal reporting may be more efficient and practical in some cases as employers have a chance to correct, self-report, or take other action.

Moreover, by clarifying the application of Dodd-Frank anti-retaliation protections to internal whistleblowers, the bill aligns with similar protections for internal whistleblowers within the Whistleblower Protection Act and Sarbanes-Oxley.

I’d like to thank my colleague, Mr. GREEN for working with me on the Whistleblower Protection Reform Act and I urge my colleagues to vote yes.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from California (Ms. WATERS) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 2515, as amended.

The question is taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 2162) to require the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development to discount FHA single-family mortgage insurance premium payments for first-time homebuyers who complete a financial literacy housing counseling program, as amended.

The Clerk read the title of the bill. The text of the bill is as follows: H.R. 2162

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Housing Financial Literacy Act of 2019”.

SEC. 2. DISCOUNT ON MORTGAGE INSURANCE PREMIUM PAYMENTS FOR FIRST-TIME HOMEOWNERS WHO COMPLETE FINANCIAL LITERACY HOUSING COUNSELING

The second sentence of subparagraph (A) of section 203(c)(2) of the National Housing Act (12 U.S.C. 1709(c)(2)(A)) is amended—

(1) by inserting before the comma the following: “and such program is completed before the mortgagor has signed an application for a mortgage to be insured under this title or sale agreement”;

(2) by striking “not exceed 2.75 percent of the amount of the original insured principal obligation of the mortgage” and inserting “not exceed 2.5 percent of the premium payment amount established by the Secretary under the first sentence of this subparagraph”.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentlewoman from California (Ms. WATERS) and the gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. BARR) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from California.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks on this legislation and to insert extraneous material therein.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from California? There was no objection.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise to support H.R. 2162, the Housing Financial Literacy Act, a bipartisan bill authored by Representative BEATTY, the chairwoman of the Subcommittee on Diversity and Inclusion, and cosponsored by Representative STIVERS. This bill will make homeownership more affordable for FHA borrowers who complete a housing counseling program from a HUD-approved housing counseling agency.

The HUD currently has the authority to provide premium discounts to incentivize housing counseling, HUD is not taking advantage of this opportunity to help borrowers and strengthen the FHA. Research has consistently demonstrated that loans made to borrowers who have received pre-purchase counseling perform better than loans made to comparable borrowers who did not receive pre-purchase counseling.

And when borrowers avoid delinquencies, lenders save money, too. A 2013 study by Freddie Mac found that, when 90-day delinquencies were lowered by 29 percent, lenders saved an average of $1,000 per loan.

Mr. Speaker, I thank Representative BEATTY and Representative STIVERS for their work on this commonsense, data-driven bill, and I urge my colleagues to vote “yes” on H.R. 2162.
Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BARR. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentlewoman from Ohio (Mrs. BEATTY) for her leadership and her work on H.R. 2162, the Housing Financial Literacy Act of 2019.

The Federal Housing Administration currently provides government-backed mortgage insurance to more than $1.3 trillion in loans. FHA insurance allows a wide array of borrowers to qualify for mortgages, including many low- and moderate-income families who might not otherwise have access to credit through traditional underwriting.

In fiscal year 2018, the FHA endorsed over 1 million forward mortgages, including over 775,000 purchase loans, nearly 83 percent of which were to first-time home buyers.

Given the large population of first-time home buyers using the FHA, it makes sense to encourage those individuals to seek out ways to strengthen their financial knowledge and better prepare themselves for the challenges of homeownership.

Right now, current law states that FHA does not have the ability to provide first-time homeowners with a discount on their FHA upfront premiums if they complete an approved homeownership financial counseling course—makes a lot of sense. However, the statute is drafted in such a way that the provision only applies in particular circumstances when FHA upfront premiums exceed 2.75 percent.

Since FHA upfront premiums are currently set at 1.75 percent, a rate that has not been exceeded in a decade, FHA does not currently provide an upfront premium discount to first-time homeowners who complete a financial counseling course.

This bill, H.R. 2162, would amend current law to allow FHA to provide a 0.25 percent upfront premium discount from the prevailing rate in effect at the time for other borrowers to first-time home buyers. This equates to a $625 savings off the current premium structure on a $250,000 mortgage.

The hope is, by making such a discount mandatory, more first-time homeowners will seek out financial literacy counseling and produce better outcomes for a traditionally at-risk group.

The bottom line is that FHA is a valuable tool to help expand the universe of mortgage credit in our housing system, and we ought to be doing all that we can to make sure that we are using our limited public resources to encourage all in our society who are interested in the commitment of homeownership through financial counseling or any other effective means of creating more stable and reliable borrowers.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield as much time as she may consume to the gentlewoman from Ohio (Mrs. BEATTY), the chair of the Subcommittee on Diversity and Inclusion and the sponsor of H.R. 2162.

Mrs. BEATTY. Mr. Speaker, first I would like to thank Chairwoman WATERS for all of her leadership and her support of this bill. Mr. Speaker, for a majority of American families, buying a home will be the biggest financial purchase in their lifetime. That is why this bill we are considering today is so important.

My bill, the Housing Financial Literacy Act, H.R. 2162, would provide a 25-basis point discount on an FHA upfront mortgage insurance premium to first-time home buyers who complete a HUD-approved housing counseling program.

One of the main barriers to homeownership is saving up for the downpayment. This bill would reduce that barrier by roughly $500.

The FHA has been utilized by everyday Americans to achieve the American Dream of homeownership. Eighty-two percent of all FHA-insured mortgages are used by first-time home buyers, likely since consumers only need to put down 3.5 percent as a downpayment. The downpayment is the number one barrier to homeownership for many first-time home buyers.

This bipartisan bill would incentivize those prospective first-time home buyers to take ahold of their financial futures by taking a financial literacy class, which makes sense. Not only does it help individuals build equity and appreciation for communications with lenders, and improved underwriting qualifications, such as higher credit scores, but there are also studies that show, as we have heard, that prospective first-time home buyers who have received housing counseling are nearly one-third, Mr. Speaker, less likely to face delinquencies or foreclosures.

When you consider the average cost to the taxpayer for default within FHA’s portfolio is greater than $65,000, this bill could actually save the taxpayers money. That is something that both my Republican and Democratic colleagues were interested in during the debate on this bill in committee, and both sides of the aisle will be happy to know that the Congressional Budget Office’s initial analysis, this bill would not have a cost to the U.S. taxpayer.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to close by thanking my colleague and friend from Ohio, Congressman STEVE STIVERS, for cosponsoring this important bill. STEVE and I have served as the co-chairs of the Financial and Economic Literacy Caucus for the past two Congresses. This is an issue that we care about deeply.

Mr. Speaker, I would also like to thank the organizations that came out in support of this bill. I think it is very important for people to know that the National Women’s Law Center, the National Associaion of REALTORS, the National Association of Real Estate Brokers, the Leadership Conference for Civil and Human Rights, the League of United Latin American Citizens, Credit Unions National Association, National Association of Federally-Insured Credit Unions, Public Citizen, and National Association of Hispanic Real Estate Professionals all support this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I think you get my point. People want this bill. It is the right thing to do.

Mr. Speaker, I want to also thank Congressman BARR for his support.

I urge my colleagues to join us in support of this bill. H.R. 2162 will allow more Americans to reach for that dream of homeownership in a financially responsible way. Please support this bill.

Mr. STIVERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. STIVERS), for advancing the cause of homeownership for many first-time home buyers using the FHA, it makes sense to encourage those individuals to seek out ways to strengthen their financial knowledge and better prepare themselves for the challenges of homeownership.

Given the large population of first-time home buyers using the FHA, it makes sense to encourage those individuals to seek out ways to strengthen their financial knowledge and better prepare themselves for the challenges of homeownership.

The hope is, by making such a discount mandatory, more first-time homeowners will seek out financial literacy counseling and produce better outcomes for a traditionally at-risk group.

The bottom line is that FHA is a valuable tool to help expand the universe of mortgage credit in our housing system, and we ought to be doing all that we can to make sure that we are using our limited public resources to encourage all in our society who are interested in the commitment of homeownership through financial counseling or any other effective means of creating more stable and reliable borrowers.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, for many folks across this country, owning a home is quintessential to the American Dream. While not everyone will always be able to afford a single-family home, we should work to encourage the American Dream of homeownership and ensure that we help people along the way. It is good for individuals, and it is good for communities. Not only does it help individuals build equity over time, but reducing the disparities in homeownership by race has the potential to reduce the racial wealth gap in this country.

However, we must work to ensure consumers are informed and encourage responsible homeownership, and the Housing Financial Literacy Act does just that. By providing a discount of 25 basis points on the upfront FHA insurance premiums for borrowers who complete HUD-approved pre-purchase financial counseling, what we are doing is making those homes more affordable; we are empowering those people with knowledge; and we are helping build the dream of homeownership.

This financial counseling is so important for first-time buyers. It helps them understand the costs associated with homeownership, like taxes, insurance, and maintenance costs. It also helps them factor in household budgeting and recognize high-risk financial products to make sure they can make informed decisions.

For people across this country, including in my district, having a place to raise their family is the American Dream, and I encourage my colleagues to support this bill to help make homeownership a reality for more people.

Mr. Speaker, again, I want to acknowledge my colleague, Congresswoman JOYCE BEATTY, for her incredible leadership on H.R. 2162, the Housing Financial Literacy Act. I encourage all of my colleagues to support the bill.

Mr. BARR. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, again, I would like to commend and applaud my friend, the gentlewoman from Ohio (Mrs. BEATTY), for her leadership on this. What an outstanding list of endorsements of this legislation. It goes to show how much work she has put into this and that Congressman STEWARTS and others have put into this bipartisan legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the chairwoman of the full committee, Congresswoman WATERS, for bringing this forward.

In closing, as we look at the legislation, it is really a win-win: It is a win because first-time home buyers are now going to be able to have a more affordable downpayment.

It is a win, in addition, because those first-time homeowners, as the gentlewoman from Ohio and the gentleman from Ohio pointed out, will be more prepared for the responsibility of homeownership, which is what is typically the most significant investment anyone makes in their entire lifetime.

And, finally—and I think this is a point that we do need to underscore as well—when you are talking about federally insured, federally backed, taxpayer-supported mortgages, it is good for the American taxpayer that we make sure that homeowners are prepared for that very important responsibility.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all of my colleagues, especially my friend, the gentleman from Ohio from Ohio for pushing this bill forward. This bill incentivizes financial literacy that will help avoid delinquencies and may have an impact well beyond the housing area.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all of my colleagues to join me in supporting this important piece of legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from California (Ms. WATERS) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 2162, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds being in the affirmative) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

EMPHASIZING IMPORTANCE OF GRASSROOTS INVESTOR PROTECTION, NON-INVESTOR EDUCATION MISSIONS OF STATE AND FEDERAL SECURITIES REGULATORS

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and agree to the resolution (H. Res. 456) emphasizing the importance of grassroots investor protection and the investor education missions of State and Federal securities regulators, calling on the Securities and Exchange Commission to collaborate with State securities regulators in the protection of investors, and for other purposes.

The Clerk read the title of the resolution.

The text of the resolution is as follows:

H. Res. 456

Whereas State securities regulators are the original pioneers of regulating the United States capital markets and have protected investors during times of boom and bust, from ticker tape to the blockchain;

Whereas State securities regulators founded the North American Securities Administrators Association (NASAA) as a voluntary association in 1919, 8 years after the first securities laws were enacted in Kansas in 1911;

Whereas NASAA’s membership in 2019 includes securities administrators in the 50 States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands, Canada, and Mexico;

Whereas the fundamental mission of the State securities regulators is protecting investors who want to invest and receive investment advice, and their jurisdiction extends to a wide variety of issuers and intermediaries who offer and sell securities to the public;

Whereas State securities regulators are leaders in civil and administrative enforcement actions, as well as criminal prosecutions of securities violators;

Whereas State securities regulators have led efforts resulting in landmark settlements to stop unfair practices in the securities industry, the result of dollars to harmed investors, and thousands of bad actors sitting in jail as the result of their work in investigating and uncovering fraud;

Whereas State securities regulators independently and within the framework of NASAA have also devised innovative ways for small companies to raise investment capital;

Whereas State securities regulators independently and within the framework of NASAA conduct investor education programs throughout the United States, providing important information to main street Americans on investing for a secure future and avoiding scams; and

Whereas State securities regulators are known for their accessibility and accountability to the investing public and have been willing to push the envelope when it comes to protecting investors: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives,

(1) emphasizes the longstanding role of State securities regulators in maintaining investor protection and vibrant capital markets in the United States;

(2) supports the efforts of State securities regulators to educate investors throughout the United States;

(3) supports the efforts of State securities regulators to promote responsible and efficient capital formation for the benefit of small businesses and investors throughout the United States;

(4) urges State securities regulators to continue working independently and within the voluntary framework of NASAA to protect and educate investors and promote capital formation;

(5) urges the Securities and Exchange Commission to maintain and expand voluntary collaboration with State securities regulators in the interest of the investing public.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentlewoman from California (Ms. WATERS) and the gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. BARR) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from California.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I want to thank Representative PRESSLEY and Representative HUZENGA for bringing H. Res. 456 to the floor, a bipartisan resolution that highlights the importance of our State securities regulators to protecting investors. This year commemorates the 100th anniversary of the North American Securities Administrators Association, the oldest international investor protection organization with a membership consisting of 67 State, provincial, and territorial securities regulators in the 50 States, the District of Columbia, the U.S. Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico, Canada, and Mexico.

The primary mission of both State securities regulators and NASAA is to protect and advocate for the protection of investors, especially the most vulnerable investors, like our Nation’s seniors, who may lack the expertise, experience, and resources to protect their own interests.

Grassroots regulators are often the first line of defense against investment fraud and often respond to emerging frauds and investment scams before they are detected at the Federal level. In 2019 alone, State securities regulators conducted nearly 4,790 investigations, leading to more than 2,100 enforcement actions, including 255 criminal prosecutions. These actions have resulted in approximately $486 million in restitution for harmed investors, nearly $79 million in fines and/or penalties, and 1,985 years in incarceration or probation being ordered.

In addition, in 2017, NASAA's U.S. members reported bringing formal enforcement actions involving more than 1,100 senior victims, illustrating their unwavering commitment to protecting senior investors.

NASAA also engages and collaborates with Congress to promote Federal laws to improve protections for senior investors. For example, in 2018, we worked with NASAA to pass the Senior Safe Act, which was inspired by a training program developed by NASAA in partnership with the Maine Council for Elder Abuse Prevention. The Senior Safe Act addresses barriers that financial professionals face in reporting suspected financial exploitation or abuse to authorities.

NASAA also collaborated with us on the Senior Security Act, which passed the House with broad, bipartisan support in April. That bill would, among other things, require the SEC to work across divisions and with the State securities regulators to ensure that seniors are not subject to financial exploitation.

I strongly support our State securities regulators, and I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this resolution.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BARR. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I, too, rise in support of H. Res. 456.

Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleagues, Congresswoman PRESSLEY and Congressman HUIZENGA, for their work on this bipartisan resolution.

More often than not, discussions in the Financial Services Committee are about the Securities and Exchange Commission, as it is the primary Federal regulatory agency for the U.S. securities markets.

However, State securities regulators also play an important and complementary role in grassroots investor protection, investor education, and facilitating capital formation.

H. Res. 456 highlights the important investor protection missions of State and Federal securities regulators. The resolution also encourages the continued collaboration between the SEC and State securities regulators.

American capital markets provide an avenue for mom-and-pop investors and retail investors to achieve the American Dream and grow their nest egg for retirement, for their child's college tuition, or to buy a home. Protecting investors, ensuring the integrity of our capital markets, and promoting capital formation are goals that we all can stand behind.

This resolution recognizes the important role State securities regulators play on each of these fronts.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support H. Res. 456, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield as much time as she may consume to the gentleman from Massachusetts (Ms. PRESSLEY), the sponsor of H. Res. 456.

Ms. PRESSLEY. Mr. Speaker, I thank Chairwoman WATERS for her vigilance and her steadfast leadership in continuing to bring us together across the aisle on issues of consequence to the American people and always putting consumer protection at the center of that. I also thank my colleague, Representative HUIZENGA, for his partnership.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of my resolution, which highlights the important role that State securities regulators play in strengthening the financial services industry.

The 2008 economic crisis devastated American families everywhere. But, as we watched the unemployment skyrocket, home values plummet, and credit disappear, it became clear that the impact of the crisis hit harder for some families than others. Many families that had just begun to build wealth through homeownership watched everything they had worked for disappear.

And although the recovery has been similarly unequal, it is critical to recognize that the protection of seniors is especially important for those families as seniors saving for retirement, for their child's college tuition, or to buy a home. Protecting seniors from the troubling upward trends in elder financial abuse. Additionally, they continue to work with medical professionals on ways to identify seniors at risk of financial abuse.

NASAA's work with AARP helps protect seniors from the troubling upward trends in elder financial abuse. Additionally, they continue to work with medical professionals on ways to identify seniors at risk of financial abuse.

NASAA's efforts to spread retirement best practices can help empower families with the knowledge to invest wisely for generations to come. My resolution recognizes 100 years of excellence in investor protection and encourages continued cooperation between local, State, and Federal regulators to ensure 100 more.

Mr. Speaker, I encourage my colleagues to support my resolution.

Mr. BARR. Mr. Speaker, once again, I appreciate the work of Ms. PRESSLEY, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, this important resolution demonstrates that our Federal form of government serves us well.

Both Federal and State authorities have important roles to play, and this is certainly true in the securities arena.

I congratulate my colleagues from Massachusetts and Michigan for bringing this bipartisan bill before the House.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this important piece of legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.
In my home state of Michigan, NASA members have worked tirelessly to become a leading voice for improving investment education, protected investors by utilizing securities enforcement, and helped build stronger communities by assisting in capital formation projects.

Today, NASA is the oldest international investor protection organization with a membership consisting of 67 state, provincial, and territorial securities regulators in the 50 states, the District of Columbia, the U.S. Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico, Canada, and Mexico. I want to congratulate NASA on their first 100 years and look forward to their work continuing for many years ahead. I urge passage of this resolution acknowledging the superb work of this outstanding organization.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from California (Ms. WATERS) that the House suspend the rules and agree to the resolution. H. Res. 456.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds being in the affirmative) the resolution, H. Res. 456, was agreed to.

IMPROVING INVESTMENT RESEARCH FOR SMALL AND EMERGING ISSUERS ACT

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 2919) to require the Securities and Exchange Commission to carry out a study to evaluate the issues affecting the provision of and reliance upon investment research into small issuers.

The text of the bill is as follows:

H.R. 2919

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled.

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Improving Investment Research for Small and Emerging Issuers Act.”

SEC. 2. RESEARCH STUDY.

(a) STUDY REQUIRED.—The Securities and Exchange Commission shall conduct a study to evaluate the issues affecting the provision of and reliance upon investment research into small issuers, including emerging growth companies and companies considering initial public offerings.

(b) CONTENTS OF STUDY.—The study required under subsection (a) shall consider—

(1) factors related to the demand for such research by institutional and retail investors;

(2) the availability of such research, including—

(A) the number and types of firms that provide such research;

(B) the volume of such research over time; and

(C) competition in the research market;

(3) conflicts of interest relating to the production and distribution of investment research;

(4) the costs of such research;

(5) the impacts of different payment mechanisms for investment research into small issuers, including whether such research is paid for by—

(A) hard-dollar payments from research clients;

(B) payments directed from the client’s commission income (i.e., “soft dollars”); or

(C) payments from the issuer that is the subject of such research;

(6) any unique challenges faced by minority-owned, women-owned, and veteran-owned small issuers in obtaining research coverage; and

(7) the impact on the availability of research coverage for small issuers due to—

(A) investment adviser concentration and consolidation, including any potential impacts of fund demands for investment research of small issuers;

(B) broker and dealer concentration and consolidation, including any relationships between the self-allocation of resources for investment research into small issuers;

(C) Securities and Exchange Commission rules;

(D) registered national securities association rules;

(E) State and Federal liability concerns;

(F) the settlement agreements referenced in Securities and Exchange Commission Litigation Release No. 18438 (i.e., the “Global Research Analyst Settlement”); and

(c) REPORT REQUIRED.—Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Securities and Exchange Commission shall submit to Congress a report that includes—

(1) the results of the study required by subsection (a); and

(2) recommendations to increase the demand for, volume of, and quality of investment research into small issuers, including emerging growth companies and companies considering initial public offerings.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentlewoman from California (Ms. WATERS) and the gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. BARR) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from California.

GENERAL LIAVE

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on this legislation and to insert extraneous material thereon.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from California?

There was no objection.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the ranking member of our Investor Protection, Entrepreneurship, and Capital Markets Subcommittee, Representative HUIZenga, and Representative MCADAMS, for working across the aisle on this bipartisan bill to improve investment research coverage for small issuers.

Investment research helps to raise investor awareness, understanding, and interest about a company, which in turn can promote informed investment and overall trading in a company’s securities.

However, reports indicate significant declines in analyst research on small public companies. In fact, it appears that most exchange-listed companies with less than $100 million in market capitalization have no research coverage at all.

To address this concerning trend, H.R. 2919 would direct the SEC to conduct a study on the issues that are affecting the availability of research coverage for small issuers, including emerging growth companies, companies considering an initial public offering, and minority-, women-, and veteran-owned businesses. It also directs the SEC to report back recommendations to improve the quality and availability of investment research for small issuers.

I urge my colleagues to support this bipartisan bill to enable us to identify some of the barriers small businesses face when attempting to get their story out to investors in our public capital markets.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BARR. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 2919— the Improving Investment Research for Small and Emerging Issuers Act. I thank my colleagues, Congresswoman HUIZenga and Congressman MCADAMS, for their efforts on this bipartisan legislation that will help small companies and our capital markets.

The U.S. capital markets have, and continue to be, a vibrant ecosystem, fueling America’s economic growth and generating millions of private sector jobs. These markets provide financing and needed resources to the smallest startups and the largest international companies.

However, a company’s size often impacts how easily it can access capital. For example, larger companies have generally found capital markets easier to access than smaller ones.

While the number of IPOs in the U.S. has rebounded from its post-crisis glut—thanks in large part to the success of the bipartisan JOBS Act of 2012—smaller companies still face significant regulatory and market impediments that disincentivize them from accessing capital via the public market.

There are differing perspectives as to why fewer companies, particularly small companies, have gone public over the past few decades. The data suggest that in fulfilling its capital formation mandate, the Securities and Exchange Commission needs to tailor its approach to account for the varying nature and size of companies.

An important piece to this approach is recognizing insufficient research coverage of microcap, small-cap, and emerging companies can undermine the liquidity necessary to attract investor interest and facilitate capital necessary for growth.

This bipartisan legislation would direct the SEC to study, evaluate, and...
Mr. Speaker, I am pleased that Mr. HUIZENGA and Mr. MCADAMS worked in a bipartisan manner to bring forth H.R. 2919. Markets work best when there is adequate public information, and the study on additional research provided for in this bill will help ensure that this is the case.

I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this important legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. HUIZENGA, Mr. Speaker, initial public offerings, or IPOs, have historically been one of the most meaningful steps in the lifecycle of a company. “Going public” was the ultimate goal for entrepreneurs. You start a business from scratch, build it up into a successful enterprise, and then open up an opportunity for the public to share in your success.

By completing an IPO, a company is able to raise much-needed capital for job creation and expansion opportunities, while allowing main street investors the opportunity to have an economic piece of the action and ability to participate in the growth phase of a company.

However, over the past two decades, our nation has experienced a 37 percent decline in the number of U.S. listed companies. Equal to the data we saw in the 1980’s when our economy was less than half its current size.

For myriad reasons, the public model is no longer viewed as an attractive means of raising capital. Instead, small and emerging growth companies are choosing to go public much later in their lifecycle or choosing not to go public at all.

We must work to change the trajectory. In speaking to the New York Economic Club, SEC Chair Clayton stated that “Regardless of the cause, the reduction in the number of U.S.-listed public companies is a serious issue for our markets and the country more generally. To the extent companies are eschewing our public markets, the vast majority of Main Street investors will be unable to participate in their growth. The potential lasting effects of such an outcome to the economy and society are, in two words, not good.”

I share Chairman Clayton’s concerns. We need to ensure that our capital markets are open for innovators and job creators and we must work to right-size regulations for smaller companies as well.

One way that Congress worked to lift burdensome regulations and help small companies gain access to capital markets was the bipartisan Jumpstart Our Business Startups Act—popularly known as the JOBS Act.

Section 105 of the JOBS Act changed the “gun-jumping rules” to provide an exception from the definition of an offer to allow for the publication or distribution by a broker or dealer of a research report about an emerging growth company that is the subject of a proposed public offering. However, few investment banks have published any pre-IPO research since passage of the JOBS Act, and research coverage of emerging growth companies continues to be an issue. This negatively affects investor interest and awareness in a company as well as trading liquidity.

This provision was intended to increase research for small companies. But contrary to its opposite effect and instead, there has been a significant decline over recent years in analyst research covering small public companies. According to the U.S. Chamber, “61% of all companies listed on a major exchange with less than a $100 million market cap companies have no research coverage at all.”

For equities with a market cap below $750 million, the average number of research analysts covering that stock is one, while equities above $750 million in market cap have an average of 12 research analysts covering the stock.

Additionally, the amount of research written on small companies has declined even as the percentage of individual ownership in small-cap companies has increased. Little to no research coverage generally corresponds with lower stock liquidity, and reduced research coverage may be particularly disadvantageous to individual investors who have limited research capabilities on their own.

In fact, one study from the Journal of Finance found that an increase in the number of analysts covering an industry improved the quality of analyst forecasts and information flow to investors. For that reason, it is important to examine current SEC rules and regulations affecting the ability of small companies to obtain research coverage regarding small issuers. The Treasury Report on Capital Markets recommended a holistic review of rules and regulations regarding research, including the Global Settlement, to determine, which provisions should be retained, amended, or removed.

H.R. 3050, the Improving Investment Research for Small and Emerging Issuers Act, would direct the SEC to study and evaluate issues affecting the ability of emerging growth companies and other small issuers in obtaining research coverage, including SEC rules, FINRA rules, state and federal liability concerns, the 2003 Global Research Analyst Settlements, and MiFID II. Not later than 180 days after enactment, the SEC will be required to submit to Congress a report that includes results of the study and recommendations to assist EGCS and other small issuers in obtaining research coverage.

Among the issues the SEC must consider are factors related to the demand for such research by institutional and retail investors, cost considerations for such research, and the impact on the availability of research coverage for small issuers due to a variety of market and regulatory conditions. The SEC’s report must include recommendations to increase the demand for, volume of, and quality of investment research into small issuers, including EGCS.

I’d like to thank the Financial Services Chairwoman, Ms. WATERS, and Rep. BEN MCADAMS, for recognizing the importance of research in our capital markets and working with me to address this issue.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from California (Ms. WATERS) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 2919.

The question was taken, and (two-thirds being in the affirmative) the rules were suspended and the bill was passed.

EXPANDING INVESTMENT IN SMALL BUSINESS ACT OF 2019

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 3050) to require the Securities and Exchange Commission to carry out a study of the 10 per cent threshold limitation applicable to the definition of a diversified company under the Investment Company Act of 1940, and for other purposes, as amended.

This Act may be cited as the “Expanding Investment in Small Businesses Act of 2019”.

SEC. 2. SEC STUDY.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Securities and Exchange Commission shall carry out a study of the 10 per cent threshold limitation applicable to the definition of a diversified company under section 5(b)(1) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 (15 U.S.C. 80a–5(b)(1)) and determine the impacts of such threshold limits upon the protection of investors, efficiency, competition, and capital formation.

(b) CONSIDERATIONS.—In carrying out the study required under subsection (a), the Commission shall consider the following:

(1) The size and number of diversified companies that are currently restricted in their ability to own more than 10 percent of the voting shares in an individual company.

(2) How the investing preferences of diversified companies have shifted over time with respect to companies with smaller market capitalizations and companies in industries where competition may be limited.

(3) The expected impact to small and emerging growth companies regarding the availability of capital, related impacts on investor confidence and risk, and impacts on competition, if the threshold is increased or otherwise changed.

(4) The ability of registered funds to manage liquidity risk.

(5) Any other consideration that the Commission considers necessary and appropriate for the protection of investors.

(c) SOLICITATION OF PUBLIC COMMENTS.—In carrying out the study required under subsection (a), the Commission may solicit public comments.

(d) REPORT.—Not later than the end of the 180-day period beginning on the date of enactment of this Act, the Commission shall issue a report to the Congress, and make such report publicly available on the website of the Commission, containing—

(1) all findings and determinations made in carrying out the study required under subsection (a); and
Mr. BARR. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Our capital markets are the envy of the world. This is due, in part, to the fact that once a company goes public, it can easily buy and sell shares. The SEC would have to issue a report to Congress with its findings and determinations. As part of its report, the SEC shall recommend to Congress any statutory changes that should be undertaken to address these concerns.

This is an important bill for helping emerging companies to raise money, so I urge all Members to vote—yes, no, 10 percent constrains their ability to sell their shares. This decline accounts for the main reason that the total number of stocks has declined.

The SEC would have to issue a report to Congress with its findings and determinations made in carrying out the study and soliciting public comment on the existing rules restricting a diversified mutual fund's exposure to a single company. I would also like to ask the SEC to determine whether that requirement limits capital formation considering current investing trends and other factors the SEC determines are necessary and appropriate to protect investors.

The SEC should also be able to make an informed decision on whether we should change the current diversification limits for mutual funds and whether doing so will provide additional investment in small company IPOs.

I urge all Members to vote yes, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 3050, the Expanding Investment in Small Business Act.

I commend my colleague, the gentleman from Wisconsin, for his leadership and his experience on this issue, and I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

This is an important bill for helping us make our capital markets as attractive as possible, especially for smaller companies.

For these reasons, I support H.R. 3050.

Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. STEIL), the author of this legislation.

Mr. STEIL. Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague from Kentucky.

Mr. Speaker, I rise to support my bill today, the Expanding Investment in Small Business Act.

Small businesses and entrepreneurs are vital to our economy. More than 60 percent of new jobs are created by small businesses, and almost half of our private-sector workforce is employed by firms with fewer than 500 employees.

Small businesses are also an engine for innovation. According to the Small Business Administration, small businesses account for an outsized percentage of patents granted in the most innovative industries. I see this ingenuity in Wisconsin in Racine, Janesville, Kenosha, and everywhere in-between. Entrepreneurs and startups create good-paying jobs for workers.

For all American workers and their retirement security. Just under half of all households are invested in mutual funds. Many Americans are invested in these funds through 401(k)s and pension plans. Their retirement security depends upon the ability to invest in a diverse set of growing, innovative companies.

Our rules, though, are burdensome. They shrink the number of publicly traded companies, either by deterring companies from going public or by encouraging them to stay private. I am glad to see bipartisan support for taking this important step forward to improving our capital markets.

The Expanding Investment in Small Business Act directs the SEC to consider whether existing mutual fund rules make it harder for small and emerging companies to raise money, so they can grow and invest. Under the Investment Company Act, a diversified mutual fund may not own more than 10 percent of an issuer's outstanding securities. As mutual funds have grown both in number and in size, they become an important source of funding for small businesses.
capital, in particular for small businesses.

A substantial mutual fund investment in a small-capital company can easily exceed the 10 percent cap. This likely deters mutual fund investments into growing and innovative companies.

My bill asks the SEC to consider four key items: one, how many mutual funds are currently affected by the 10 percent cap; two, how the investing preferences of diversified mutual funds have shifted over time with respect to smaller companies; three, the potential impact of a change in the 10 percent threshold; and, four, the ability of diversified funds to manage liquidity risk.

This information is necessary so that we can continue to work in a non-partisan manner to ensure that small businesses have access to capital, so they can grow and invest.

Smart, targeted reforms can give us more vibrant capital markets; growing, innovative small businesses; better outcomes for American investors; and, ultimately, a stronger economy.

I look forward to continuing to work with my colleagues toward this goal. I thank Chair Waters and Ranking Member McCrery for their support of this bill, and I urge my colleagues to support its passage.

This bill is an important step forward toward a stronger economy, more dynamic small businesses, and more jobs for American workers.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I have no further speakers, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BARR. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. RIGGLEMAN), who is an outstanding new member of the House Financial Services Committee. He is another gentleman who comes to Congress with a politician, but as an entrepreneur, someone who has built businesses and created jobs himself and understands intimately the need for small businesses and entrepreneurs to have the ability to access capital.

Mr. RIGGLEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I have to support my good friend from Wisconsin as we go forward. I am also in a very small business type of atmosphere in Virginia. I own a small business, a distillery, and for us, small businesses are one of the most important things we can support as we go forward.

I am here today to support my colleagues and to support Democrats in a bipartisan fashion. This is something that we need to do, we have to do, and I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I don’t need the 2 minutes to actually make sure that this happens. I urge my colleagues to support this bill and make sure we support small businesses in everything that we do.

Mr. BARR. Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support the legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time. I want to, again, thank the sponsors of H.R. 3050 and the gentleman from Wisconsin for working with my aide on the text of this legislation. I think it is a good bill and will, along with other measures that we are considering today, improve the access of small businesses to U.S. capital markets.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this important piece of legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from California (Ms. WATERS) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 3050, as amended.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

EXPANDING ACCESS TO CAPITAL FOR RURAL JOB CREATORS ACT

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 2409) to amend the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 to expand access to capital for rural-area small businesses, and for other purposes.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The text of the bill is as follows:

H.R. 2409

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Expanding Access to Capital for Rural Job Creators Act”.

SEC. 2. ACCESS TO CAPITAL FOR RURAL-AREA SMALL BUSINESSES.

(1) in paragraph (4)(C), by inserting “rural-area small businesses,” after “women-owned small businesses,”; and

(2) in paragraph (6)(B)(ii), by inserting “rural-area small businesses,” after “women-owned.”

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from California (Ms. WATERS) and the gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. BARR) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks on this legislation and to insert extraneous matter thereof.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to thank Representatives AXNE and MOONEY for working together to put forth this bipartisan piece of legislation to require the Advocate for Small Business Capital Formation at the Securities and Exchange Commission to pay particular attention to the unique challenges rural-area small businesses face in accessing the funds they need to grow and thrive.

This important bill has gained broad bipartisan support because it is aimed at understanding and real problems faced by Americans all across our country: the capital needs of rural startups and entrepreneurs.

When we created the Advocate for Small Business Capital Formation we recognized that our Nation’s small businesses are proven job creators which require special attention from the SEC. However, it is also important for the advocate to recognize that different types of small businesses face unique challenges. For example, as a result of my amendment to the legislation creating the position, the advocate is required to specifically consider the challenges facing minority-owned and women-owned small businesses.

H.R. 2409 would recognize another important category: small businesses in rural areas and require the advocate to pay special attention to and report to Congress on the unique challenges and issues they face.

According to a recent survey by the Small Business Majority, roughly one in five rural small businesses rated access to capital as one of the top three challenges to maintaining or growing their business in their community. What is more, these businesses largely get their funds from personal savings, and only 13 percent said that they received investments or gifts from friends or family. So I think it is time for the SEC to look into why that is and see what, if anything, we can be doing to encourage capital formation for our Nation’s rural small businesses.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all of my colleagues to support this important bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BARR. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 2409, the Expanding Access to Capital for Rural Job Creators Act. As a Member of Congress who represents a rural area, I want to commend the work of Congresswoman AXNE and Congressman MOONEY for their bipartisan commitment to help rural small businesses access capital.

In the House Financial Services Committee, we continue to highlight the importance of capital formation for individuals in underbanked rural communities.

Small and rural communities in Kentucky and other places are extremely vulnerable during recovery, and their subsequent recoveries are often slower due to a lack of access to capital.
U.S. counties as a whole saw more business establishments close than open during the first 5 years of the most recent financial crisis. This decline was felt disproportionately in rural areas, where the percentage of business closures was higher. Additionally, recent economic recession data shows that small businesses and startups are much less likely to form in rural areas than urban areas.

H.R. 2409 is an example of bipartisan legislation that can help solve the biggest problem that rural small businesses face, which is access to capital. This bill will expand the focus areas of the advocate to include rural small businesses. This data will help Congress and Federal regulators make better-informed decisions on how to best support economic growth in rural America.

By ensuring that Washington listens to and values the voices of rural small businesses, this legislation will help create jobs in rural Iowa and in rural areas across the country contributing not only to their success but to the economic success of this entire country's GDP.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 2409, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield today in support of my bill, H.R. 2409, the Expanding Access to Capital for Rural Job Creators Act. I want to thank my colleagues, Mr. MOONEY, Ms. VELÁZQUEZ, Mr. RIGGLEMAN, Mr. ROSE, and Ms. AXNE, for their work and for cosponsoring the Expanding Access to Capital for Rural Job Creators Act, and I want to thank our chairwoman of the Financial Services Committee to help us bring this here today.

As a small business owner, I know how difficult it can be to access the capital you need to succeed, and my friends across the aisle just explained to working with the SEC and my colleagues to accomplish this mission.

For these reasons and many more, Mr. Speaker, I strongly support this legislation, and I urge everyone else to do the same.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 2409, the Expanding Access to Capital for Rural Job Creators Act. I want to thank Representatives AXNE and MOONEY for their leadership on this important issue as well as my colleagues, Representatives VELÁZQUEZ, PAPPAS, and RIGGLEMAN, for their original co-sponsorship.

Small businesses are truly the heart of job growth in rural communities. The majority of the 19 counties in Tennessee’s Sixth District are rural, with four being categorized as economically distressed counties.

The workforces in these communities depend on the job opportunities provided by entrepreneurs who build their businesses from the ground up.

In my short time in office, I have visited small businesses in rural communities of Tennessee’s Sixth District. The men and women who run and work for these rural small businesses are some of the hardest working people I have ever met.

This bill is simple. It includes rural businesses in the mission of the Office of the Advocate for Small Business Capital Formation. This will allow rural small businesses to receive the capital formation assistance they might need and will require the Securities and Exchange Commission to consider any adverse effects regulations might have on rural small businesses.

Rural small businesses are often overlooked by their capital formation challenges, but their capital formation challenges deserve the same attention as any other type of small business.

Mr. BARR. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. JOHN W. ROSE), who is another outstanding new member of our committee. The gentleman from Tennessee does, in fact, represent a rural district and is himself a job creator and someone who knows about the need to provide expanded access to credit for rural American entrepreneurs.

Mr. ROSE of Tennessee. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 2409, the Expanding Access to Capital for Rural Job Creators Act. I want to thank Representatives AXNE and MOONEY for their leadership on this important issue as well as my colleagues, Representatives VELÁZQUEZ, PAPPAS, and RIGGLEMAN, for their original co-sponsorship.

Running a rural small business is a challenge, and it is important for me as the Representative of the Fifth District to advocate for the needs of these small business owners. By expanding their access to capital, we can help rural small businesses grow and sustain rural communities.

This bill will allow the SEC to help job creators and improve rural economies across the country. I look forward to working with the8 bipartisan colleagues to accomplish this mission.

For these reasons and many more, Mr. Speaker, I strongly support this legislation, and I urge everyone else to do the same.

Mr. BARR. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. JOHN W. ROSE), who is another outstanding new member of our committee.

Mr. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. RIGGLEMAN), who is an outstanding member of our committee.

Mr. RIGGLEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend, Representative MOONEY, and I would like to also thank my colleague, Representative AXNE, for introducing this legislation.

I rise today to speak in support of this bill, the Expanding Access to Capital for Rural Job Creators Act. This bill will expand the mission of the SEC Advocate for Small Business Capital Formation to identify the unique challenges facing rural small businesses and give them expanded access to the capital they need.

As someone who, along with my wife, started a distillery in the rural part of Virginia, I know many of the challenges faced by small business owners in rural areas. These small business owners are the backbones of communities across America and pillars of their economies that help these areas thrive.

According to Census data from 2017, one in five Americans live in a rural area. In my district, the Fifth District of Virginia, approximately 65 percent of the population resides in a rural area. These people deserve the same access to the financial system as urban dwellers and urban businesses. Running a rural small business is a challenge, and it is important for me as the Representative of the Fifth District to advocate for the needs of these small business owners. By expanding their access to capital, we can help rural small businesses grow and sustain rural communities.

This bill will allow the SEC to help job creators and improve rural economies across the country. I look forward to working with the bipartisan colleagues to accomplish this mission.

For these reasons and many more, Mr. Speaker, I strongly support this legislation, and I urge everyone else to do the same.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.
Mr. Speaker, I urge all Members to support this commonsense bill.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I inquire through the Chair if my colleague has any remaining speakers on his side.

Mr. BARR. Mr. Speaker, I have no further speakers, and I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, in conclusion, as a Representative of a rural congressional district and who has tremendous respect for the hardworking, small business owners of rural America—and in my counties, rural, central, and eastern Kentucky—I know how hard it is for folks to access the credit that they need to build a business, to grow jobs, to create greater and better opportunities for themselves and their employees.

Not every small business in America, Mr. Speaker, can access Silicon Valley. Not every small business in middle America can access Wall Street. We need the SEC to have greater sensitivity to rural small business and their unique challenges in terms of access to capital formation.

So I applaud the leadership of the Members who have brought this legislation forward. I urge my colleagues to support this legislation. Vote in favor of rural small business capital formation.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentlewoman from Iowa (Mrs. AXNE) and the gentleman from West Virginia (Mr. MOONEY) for introducing this important legislation.

This bipartisan bill passed the House by a near unanimous vote last Congress. It is time for it to become law to help rural businesses across this country become even more important job creators.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this important piece of legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.

REQUEST TO CONSIDER H.R. 962, BORN-ALIVE ABORTION SURVIVORS PROTECTION ACT

Mr. BABIN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on the Judiciary be discharged from further consideration of H.R. 962, the Born-Alive Abortion Survivors Protection Act, and I ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under guidelines consistently issued by successive Speakers, as recorded in section 956 of the House Rules and Manual, the Chair is constrained not to entertain the request unless it has been cleared by the bipartisan floor and committee leaderships.

Mr. BABIN. Mr. Speaker, I urge the Speaker to immediately schedule this important bill so we can take care of the most innocent of lives that we have in America.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman has not been recognized for debate.

Calling for the Resignation of Labor Secretary Alexander Acosta

(PAYNE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, serial sexual abuser Jeffrey Epstein has been arrested again. Federal officials have charged him with running a sex trafficking ring where he paid to have sex with girls as young as 14 years old.

More than that, officials said Epstein’s abuse happened between 2002 and 2005, 3 years before he received a sweetheart deal to spend a mere 18 months in prison and avoid Federal trial for sexual abuse of 36 underage girls.

The prosecutor who made that deal is our current Secretary of Labor, Alexander Acosta.

That is why I am calling for Secretary Acosta to resign. His actions in the Epstein case prove that he prefers to protect sex offenders against teenage abuse victims.

He prefers to protect millionaire criminals over the common man, so how can we trust him to protect millions of American workers from corporate abuse when he clearly supports lions of American workers from corporate abuse when he clearly supports?
REMEMBERING MIKE ASSANTE

(Mr. LANGEVIN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LANGEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise with deep sadness to remember a luminary in the field of cybersecurity.

Michael Assante passed away last Friday. The many tributes that have poured in from people in the ICS security community are a testament to his pioneering work and his kind soul.

I, too, have been touched by Mike's work. Mike and his colleagues at Idaho National Laboratory first briefed me many years ago on the Aurora vulnerability that showed how a bad actor could abuse malware to cause physical damage to the electric grid and potentially knock out power to millions.

That brief first piqued my interest in cybersecurity and led to my co-founding the Congressional Cybersecurity Caucus with Congressman McCaul.

Mike was many things—a brilliant researcher, a loving husband, a ferocious fighter of the cancer that eventually claimed his life—but I will always remember him, as will so many who knew him, as an extraordinary leader with extensive experience who ensures soldiers and units are ready for any mission.

During his 30 years of service with the United States military, he has done everything, from deploying in Iraq to leading the 3rd ID in hurricane response missions in Georgia.

Mr. Speaker, I thank Major General Quintas for his service to our Nation and the First Congressional District of Georgia. He has been a great leader for the 3rd Infantry Division.

Mr. Speaker, I wish Major General Quintas the best of luck in his new position at Fort Bragg.

PROTECTING THE AFFORDABLE CARE ACT

(Ms. GARCIA of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. GARCIA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Dr. Judy Genshaft for her 19 years of service as president of my alma mater, the University of South Florida.

Her advocacy for technology had a direct impact on the city of Tampa, which has grown into one of the most successful tech hubs in the world.

Under her leadership, USF's endowment nearly doubled; its 4-year graduation rate tripled; and now, all USF students graduate at the same rate, regardless of their race, ethnicity, or family income.

On a personal level, she is also an immensely generous donor, having helped fund the USF Honors College and then made an additional gift to endow its deanship.

More impressive than these numbers are Judy's contagious energy and her genuine concern for her students. She regularly worked 12-hour days and still made time to talk with students whenever she saw them.

Mr. Speaker, Judy is a woman clearly guided by purpose. I am so grateful for everything that she has done and the direction she has given the University of South Florida, better for our students and our city.

HONORING JUDY GENSHAFT UPON RETIREMENT AS UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH FLORIDA PRESIDENT

(Mr. SPANO asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. SPANO. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Dr. Judy Genshaft for her 19 years of service as president of my alma mater, the University of South Florida.

During her tenure, she emphasized research. That commitment has been a major part of why USF has been rated as one of the Nation's top 25 public universities for research.

Her advocacy for technology had a direct impact on the city of Tampa, which has grown into one of the most successful tech hubs in the world.

Under her leadership, USF's endowment nearly doubled; its 4-year graduation rate tripled; and now, all USF students graduate at the same rate, regardless of their race, ethnicity, or family income.

HONORING CLARENCE HOLLOWELL

(Mr. RUTHERFORD asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. RUTHERFORD. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Mr. Clarence Hollowell from Jacksonville Beach, Florida, for his service to our country and to our Jacksonville community.

Mr. Hollowell is a veteran of the United States Army, who now spends his weekdays serving his community as a U.S. postal worker and his weekends at local cemeteries cleaning the headstones of our fallen veterans. From start to finish, each headstone takes about 2 to 3 weeks to clean and, incredibly, Mr. Hollowell has cleaned over 600 of them. He does so selflessly, purchasing his own materials, and meticulously scrubbing each headstone with a toothbrush until the stone glints white.

In his own words, Mr. Hollowell says that “Everybody's got to have a project, and I think if you can help the community, even better.”

On behalf of the Fourth District of Florida, I thank Mr. Hollowell for his service and his inspiration to his community.
not have a place to live, some of them will not have food, and it is because of the policies of this administration. The Department of Homeland Security must serve the Nation, it must not serve one single President. I maintain that we are going to fight to fix this broken immigration system.

RECOGNIZING WEST JEFFERSON’S 33RD ANNUAL CHRISTMAS IN JULY FESTIVAL

(Ms. FOXX of North Carolina asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. FOXX of North Carolina. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Mrs. Elsie Waites, who passed away on May 28, 2019.

Mrs. Waites was a native Louisianan from Gloster and was born on May 9, 1920. Throughout her life, she was always known as someone who loved and cared for those around her.

Of her many accomplishments, Mrs. Waites was an avid volunteer in her local community, helping young children achieve their dreams. She also took it upon herself to organize a local quartet group, where she sang for several years traveling throughout the State.

While Mrs. Waites lived an extraordinary life dedicated and devoted to service and compassion, her first priority was always her family. She was a loving mother and grandmother to 8 children, 21 grandchildren, 44 great-grandchildren, and 8 great-great-grandchildren.

One of Mrs. Waites’ children, Mrs. Barbara Norton, is my good friend and former colleague in the Louisiana House of Representatives. I wish to extend my sincere and deepest sympathies to all of the family and friends whose lives were blessed by Mrs. Waites. I pray that God’s grace gives them comfort during this time, and that they are able to reflect on all the joyful memories that she provided.

Proverbs 31 reminds us that:

A woman who fears the Lord is to be praised. Honor her for all that her hands have done... Her children arise and call her blessed.

The dedicated volunteers of the festival committee and board of directors bring together this wonderfully patriotic community around America’s independence and the best Christmas trees in the country. As a former Christmas tree grower myself, I attest to the importance of recognizing this often overlooked, yet highly significant, farming industry, not just during the Christmas season, but all year round.

It is not only an honor to represent these patriots and tree growers, it is an honor for me to share this tradition with them every year.

PROTECT HEALTHCARE FOR ALL AMERICANS

(Ms. MUCARSEL-POWELL asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. MUCARSEL-POWELL. Mr. Speaker, 9 years ago, the House passed the Affordable Care Act to ensure that tens of millions of Americans had health insurance. Thanks to the ACA, over a million Floridians were able to get healthcare coverage.

In these past 9 years, Republicans have consistently tried to repeal and sabotage the Affordable Care Act. As a result, families in Florida are often unable to afford their healthcare.

Today, the President tried once again to repeal the Affordable Care Act. If the President gets his way, more than 1.6 million Floridians would lose their coverage, and insurance companies could charge even more, resulting in higher costs for American families. Women could be charged more than men for the same services, and people living with preexisting conditions could lose coverage.

Florida cannot afford these attacks on their healthcare, I implore the Senate to pass the bills that we have already sent them to protect healthcare for all Americans.

TRIBUTE TO ELSIE WAITES

(Mr. JOHNSON of Louisiana asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. JOHNSON of Louisiana. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Mrs. Elsie Waites, who passed away on May 28, 2019.

Mrs. Waites was a native Louisianan from Gloster and was born on May 9, 1920. Throughout her life, she was always known as someone who loved and cared for those around her.

I wish to extend my sincere and deepest sympathies to all of the family and friends whose lives were blessed by Mrs. Waites. I pray that God’s grace gives them comfort during this time, and that they are able to reflect on all the joyful memories that she provided.

INJUSTICE AT THE SOUTHERN BORDER

(Ms. BROWNLEY of California asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. BROWNLEY of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to address the continued injustices at our southern border.

Recent reports have continued to highlight the conditions at DHS detention camps are deplorable, inhumane, and abusive to children. Current and former Border Patrol agents have attested to the horrible conditions these children are being subjected to.

Now that we have provided emergency funding, we must stop this abuse by the Trump administration in its nth attempt. We need far greater accountability, we need to set required standards for medical care, we need to strictly limit the time spent in detention facilities, and we need to institute protocols to ensure compassionate processing of children and families.

A child who is turned away at our border does not reflect our values. It does not reflect who we are. And the impact on these children will last a lifetime.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues on the other side of the aisle to work with us to stop this stain on our great Nation’s long history of compassion, refuge, and inclusion.

AFFORDABLE CARE ACT

(Ms. KAPTUR asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. KAPTUR. Mr. Speaker. I rise today to condemn the actions of President Trump, his administration, and all the anti-life Republicans in Congress who seek to strike down the Affordable Care Act using the judicial system this time. Their callousness would cut off millions of Americans from their affordable healthcare plans.

Today, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit began hearing oral arguments in Texas v. United States, a case supported by the Trump administration that would strike down every health benefit afforded to the American people under the Affordable Care Act.

If Republicans strike down the Affordable Care Act, then the protections for 130 million Americans with preexisting conditions, more than a third of our people, would be erased, including nearly 5 million Ohioans. The uninsured rate would go up by 65 percent. The Affordable Care Act’s historic Medicaid expansion, which covers nearly 3 million Ohio people, would fall out the window. And protections for women that prevent insurance companies from charging them higher rates than men would disappear, as well.

These popular and lifesaving provisions would be repealed.

Mr. Speaker, since its inception, the Affordable Care Act has provided quality coverage for more than 16 million Americans. Let’s ensure that high-quality healthcare remains a right for all, not a privilege for just a few.

CONGRATULATING JOE DIETTERICK

(Mr. VAN DREW asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. VAN DREW. Mr. Speaker, when Joe Dietterick was told by his guidance counselor that he should join the Vineland High School crew team, he wasn’t interested at first. But Joe, a 16-year-old with cerebral palsy, isn’t one to back down from a challenge. All he needed was one practice on the lake, pushing his boat through the water with his doubles partner, Jason Wheeler, to immediately fall in love with rowing.

Joe and Jason went on to become Vineland High School’s first adaptive boat to row in the Atlantic County rowing championships, and they also went on to compete in the Stotesbury Cup Regatta.

Joe’s perseverance and willingness to challenge himself is an inspiration to his teammates; to his coach, Paul Myers; and to all who gave him the Most Courageous award at their team’s award banquet. Joe says that the comradeship and friendship that he has found with his teammates is what means the most to him.

Mr. Speaker, I thank Mr. Ditterick for being an important part of our community. He is an inspiration and he is a hero.

AFFORDABLE CARE ACT LAWSUIT

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker’s announced policy of January 3, 2019, the gentleman from California (Mr. GARAMENDI) is recognized for 60 minutes as the designee of the majority leader.

Mr. GARAMENDI. Mr. Speaker, I just put this placard up to emphasize what our Democratic Caucus is attempting to do. We have a program called “For the People,” and we are trying to deal with the issues of healthcare across this Nation.

We know, as do basically all the American public, that healthcare is, in many cases, not affordable. So how can we deal with this?

Well, one way is to deal with the cost of prescription medicines. We have a program. We have actually voted it off the floor. It is over in the Senate where it will linger as the Grim Reaper, Senator from Arizona, who was then the Speaker of the United States.

Back in 2010, we addressed this issue, at least in part, with the Affordable Care Act, which was promptly called ObamaCare by our Republican colleagues at that time. They campaigned against it and, ultimately, succeeded in winning the House in the 2010 election, and then spent 2011, 2012, 2013, 2014, 2015, 2016, and 2017 in an effort to repeal the Affordable Care Act. Fortunately, they did not succeed.

When the new President, Mr. Trump, came to town, they tried, once again, to repeal the Affordable Care Act in 2017. They failed, largely because a Senator from Arizona, who was then suffering from cancer, voted no in the Senate. So I thank Senator McCain for having the courage and the understanding of what it meant to have a preexisting condition.

H5292

So here we are today with all kinds of charts that I am not going to put up. I am just going to speak directly to this issue.

As was said just a moment ago by my colleague from California, it is interesting to note that Republicans, including the President, have put before the court

 Unable to gain a repeal in the Congress of the United States, they are now pursuing in the courts of the land a repeal that they could not do through the representatives of the people of the United States.

The cynical effort to do this actually began with the December 2017 tax cuts that the Republicans rammed through Congress without hearing not a hearing in the Ways and Means Committee, not a hearing in the Senate Committee on Finance, not a hearing at all.

Attached to that legislation was a repeal of the mandate that was in the Affordable Care Act that every American must either purchase insurance or have insurance through their employer. That repeal then opened the door to the current attempts now in the appellate courts. It could, indeed, be made by the U.S. Supreme Court that would totally repeal all aspects of the Affordable Care Act.

So what does this mean? Mr. Speaker, what does this mean for you and me?

I hope you do not have a preexisting condition. I do, because I am over 65, and 130 million Americans have a preexisting condition. The repeal of the Affordable Care Act would remove the protections that those Americans have that would guarantee them coverage without discrimination.

Mr. Speaker, I was the insurance commissioner in California in the early 1990s and again in 2002 to 2005. I know what it means when the insurance companies discriminate based upon preexisting conditions. I have seen the documents that they would require men and women to fill out before they would issue a health insurance program.

Every conceivable issue that a human being could have from high blood pressure to, indeed, being a female, was on that list, and the insurance companies had unilateral, total discretion to charge more or not provide insurance at all.

So the President of the United States, at this moment, together with those attorneys general and, apparently, the support of our Republican colleagues are, at this moment, attempting to reestablish a burden on 130 million Americans who do have a preexisting condition, who are protected but, if they have their way in court, would lose that protection and face, once again, the onerous and, in many cases, deadly burden of having a preexisting condition. They would be able to get healthcare insurance or having to pay several times more because of their preexisting condition.

Who among us does not have that? Well, perhaps the other 40 percent—actually, 50 percent of Americans who stand at risk of developing high blood pressure, diabetes, or some other illness.

That is not all. In my district in the Sacramento Valley of California, the Affordable Care Act has allowed the creation of what we call Federally Qualified Health Centers, which now are the principal providers of initial healthcare in my district.

It is not just for poor people, not just for transients who have moved from one job to another, but for people who have been insured for years but, because of a lack of medical services, could not get insurance. Federally Qualified Health Centers are totally dependent upon the Affordable Care Act. Repeal the Affordable Care Act and those clinics are gone, and the services that they provide will not be in communities, both urban and rural, across America.

How bad is it that those attorneys general are so stuck on repealing ObamaCare that they are ignoring the reality that millions upon millions of Americans have come to depend upon those clinics? If the Affordable Care Act is found to be contrary to law and the Constitution by the courts and by the cynical, diabolical repeal of one section of the Affordable Care Act, those people will not be able to get primary care services.

And that is not all. The Affordable Care Act expanded the Medicaid program across this Nation, and some 15 million Americans have been able to gain healthcare access through the Medicaid programs. In California, we call it Medi-Cal. The Medi-Cal program in California provides, perhaps, 3 million Californians with access to healthcare services. That, too, the expansion will be gone, and the support for States across this Nation will be eliminated if the Affordable Care Act is found to no longer exist because of court action.

How cynical, how sad, how harmful, but that is what they are pursuing. And that is not all. There is a problem that existed before the Affordable Care Act.

Young men and women found coverage in some universities, in some jobs through either the university and the fees or through an employer; but most, when they became 18 years of age, lost their family insurance. The Affordable Care Act said that is not good. They would be able to stay on their family’s insurance until the age of 26, where, presumably, they would be better able to buy insurance themselves or be able to have a job in which insurance would be provided.

Insurance is expensive, so the exchanges were set up across the Nation, insurance exchanges where people could shop for insurance. Those exchanges provided not only access to insurance markets, but they also provided, through the Affordable Care Act, tax credits that would make the insurance affordable to them.

No, it is going to be gone. It is going to disappear if the court in New Orleans rules against the Affordable Care Act.
And so how will they afford insurance? Well, they won’t. And in many States where there are Federal exchanges—California not included, because California set up its own State exchange. But in those States that have a Federal exchange, it won’t exist. The ability to shop for insurance will be diminished or eliminated and, along with it, the subsidies. So those people, some 9 million who now enjoy those subsidies, will not receive them.

It goes on and on. Are you a senior? Are you on Medicaid? If so, you are in the last year in which the doughnut hole will no longer exist, beginning 4 years ago. The doughnut hole, the prescription drugs doughnut hole in which prior to the Affordable Care Act there was a subsidy, part D, for prescription drugs, that ended at about $1,500 of prescription costs.

Then there was a doughnut hole in which the individual on Medicare would have to pay for insurance, and that was somewhere around $4,000. And then above that, Medicare would once again pick up the cost or most of the cost.

In the Affordable Care Act, we specifically set up a system so that over a 4-year period, the doughnut hole would disappear. It would shrink each and every year. It would rise from $1,500 to $2,000, $3,000, and so forth. And next year, it would be gone.

I am sorry for the seniors. The Affordable Care Act, if found by the court to no longer be constitutional, would reemerge immediately upon an action by either the appellate court or, I suppose, ultimately, the Supreme Court. So, welcome the doughnut hole back.

If someone happens to be a senior, they better start pocketing money—which I am sure they don’t have, to begin with—to prepare for the day when the cynical action of these attorneys general of one of them—and the President would once again reestablish the awesome, terrible prescription drugs doughnut hole.

How small-minded can you be? Apparently, there is no end to it. So here we are. Our effort on this Democratic side of the aisle is for the people, not for some ideological mumbo jumbo, but for the people. We want a healthcare program that provides solid benefits for Americans.

The Affordable Care Act takes us a long, long way toward that goal. It doesn’t achieve it totally, and we have more to do. Many of us talk about Medicare for All, and we hope to get there some day. But in the meantime, we have the Affordable Care Act, and our Republican colleagues are doing everything they can since its institution in 2010 to do away with it, and they have never, ever provided a substitute.

Do you remember that repeal and replacement mantra? There has never been a replacement program that made any sense whatsoever.

So, we are for the people. We want to deal with the cost of prescription drugs, not to increase them for seniors, as our Republican colleagues are attempting to do; not to put Americans out of the insurance market, as they are attempting to do, by eliminating the subsidies that are the lifeline of the American family regardless of your healthcare status; not to put people out of insurance if they are 18 to 26 years of age, as our Republican colleagues are attempting to do; not to eliminate the clinics that millions depend on to get the care that they need. They are getting from the American Academy of Family Physicians. We have some 130 million Americans who lose their healthcare coverage and that 130 million Americans should lose their health coverage and that 130 million Americans should be, once again, Facing insurance discrimination because of an existing healthcare issue. We are hearing from the President’s lawyers that it is good to eliminate the clinics, that it is good to eliminate the subsidies that some 9 million Americans are able to get so that they can afford insurance, and that the exchanges that provide a marketplace for people to sort out what kind of an insurance policy they want should be eliminated.

The President’s lawyers are out there purposely harming Americans all because the President has said we must repeal the ObamaCare program.

I am sorry. I disagree. I want Americans to have healthcare coverage. I was an insurance commissioner for years, and I fought the insurance companies every single day. Then I came here in 2009 and was able to vote, providing on this floor the vote that allowed the Affordable Care Act to move out of this House to the Senate and eventually become law—the 218th vote. I am proud of that vote because I know from my personal experience that the Affordable Care Act dealt with real problems that Americans had and gave Americans a real opportunity to get healthcare and to get healthcare services.

Here we are with the President of the United States actively this day doing everything he could not achieve in the Congress but rather now in the courts doing everything he can to harm Americans—how cynical, how terrible, and how harmful. But that is where we are. And we will see what the court does. Hopefully, they will be sympathetic to 130 million Americans, to 9 million Americans, to 15 million Americans, to children, and to young adults 18 to 25. Maybe, they will be sympathetic. We will see what happens.

But if the Affordable Care Act is somehow through the courts repealed and there is no replacement, then I want the American people to understand who is responsible for the harm that will immediately be inflicted upon Americans. It is our President and it is his colleagues who have aided and abetted and who today in-State attorneys general are arguing for the harm that will come to Americans.

We haven’t given up the fight, and we will never give up the fight so that every American has affordable health insurance, whatever that may be.

We have come a long way with the Affordable Care Act, and we will fight all along the way. Should we lose this battle, we are never, ever going to give up our goal of providing quality, affordable healthcare to every American. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Members are reminded to refrain from engaging in personalities toward the President.

RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 12(a) of rule I, the Chair declares the House in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

Accordingly (at 8 o’clock and 3 minutes p.m.), the House stood in recess.

REPORT ON RESOLUTION PROVIDING FOR CONSIDERATION OF H.R. 2500, NATIONAL DEFENSE AUTHORIZATION ACT FOR FISCAL YEAR 2020, AND PROVIDING FOR CONSIDERATION OF MOTIONS TO SUSPEND THE RULES

Mr. McGOVERN, from the Committee on Rules, submitted a privileged report (Rept. No. 116–143) on the resolution (H. Res. 476) providing for consideration of the bill (H.R. 2500) to authorize appropriations for fiscal year 2020 for military activities of the Department of Defense and for military construction, to prescribe military personnel strengths for such fiscal year, and for other purposes, and providing for consideration of motions to suspend the rules, which was referred to the House Calendar and ordered to be printed.

PUBLICATION OF BUDGETARY MATERIAL

STATUS REPORT ON CURRENT SPENDING LEVELS OF ON-BUDGET SPENDING AND REVENUES FOR FY 2019

DEAR MADAM SPEAKER: Pursuant to the enactment of sections 362 and 311 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, I am transmitting an updated status report on the current levels of on-budget spending and revenues for fiscal year 2019. This status report is current through July 1, 2019. The term “current levels” refers to the amounts of spending and revenues estimated for each fiscal year based on laws enacted or awaiting the President’s signature.

Table 1 compares the current levels of total budget authority, outlays, and revenues to the overall limits filed in the Congressional Record on May 10, 2018, as adjusted for fiscal year 2019. These comparisons are needed to enforce the point of order under section 302(f) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, which establishes a rule enforceable with a point of order against measures that would breach the budget resolution’s aggregate levels.

Table 2 compares the current levels of budget authority and outlays for legislative action completed by each authorizing committee with the limits filed in the Congressional Record on May 10, 2018, for fiscal year 2019. These comparisons are needed to enforce the point of order under section 302(f) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, which prohibits the consideration of measures that would breach the section 302(a) allocation of new budget authority for the committee that reported the measure. It is also needed to implement section 311(c), which provides an exception for committees that comply with their allocations from the point of order under section 311(a).

Table 3 displays the current level of advance appropriations in fiscal year 2019 for all of the advance appropriations bills. All of the advance appropriations are for accounts identified pursuant to H. Res. 6 and the statement of the Chairman published in the Congressional Record on January 8, 2019. This table is needed to enforce a rule against appropriations bills containing advance appropriations that (i) are not included in the statement of the Chairman published in the Congressional Record on January 8, 2019 or (ii) would cause the aggregate amount of such appropriations to exceed the level specified in section 103(c) of H. Res. 6.

In addition, a letter from the Congressional Budget Office is attached that summarizes and compares the budget impact of legislation enacted after the adoption of the budget resolution against the budget resolution aggregate in force.

If you have any questions, please contact Jennifer Wheelock or Raquel Spencer.

Sincerely,

JOHN YARMUTH, Chairman.

HON. JOHN YARMUTH, Chairman, Committee on the Budget, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: The enclosed report shows the effects of Congressional action on the fiscal year 2019 budget and is current through July 1, 2019. This report is submitted under section 308(b) and in aid of section 311 of the Congressional Budget Act, as amended.

The estimates of budget authority, outlays, and revenues are consistent with the allocations, aggregates, and other budgetary levels printed in the Congressional Record on May 10, 2018, pursuant to section 204(h) of the Bipartisan Budget Act of 2018 (Public Law 115–125), and section 103(m) of House Resolution 6 of the 116th Congress.

Since our last letter dated February 27, 2019, the Congress has cleared and the President has signed the following legislation that has significant effects on budget authority and outlays in fiscal year 2019:

Pesticide Registration Improvement Extension Act of 2018 (Public Law 116–8);
Medicaid Services Investment and Accountability Act of 2019 (Public Law 116–16);
Additional Supplemental Appropriations for Disaster Relief Act, 2019 (Public Law 116–20); Emergency Supplemental Appropriations for Humanitarian Assistance and Security at the Southern Border Act, 2019 (Public Law 116–26); and

A bill to provide for a 2-week extension of the Medicaid community mental health services demonstration program, and for other purposes (S. 2047).

Sincerely,

PHILLIP L. SWAGARL.

Enclosure.

DEAR MADAM SPEAKER: To facilitate application of sections 302 and 311 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, I am transmitting an updated status report on the current levels of on-budget spending and revenues for fiscal year 2020. This status report is current through July 1, 2019. The term “current level” refers to the amounts of spending and revenues estimated for each fiscal year based on laws enacted or awaiting the President’s signature.

Table 1 compares the current levels of total budget authority, outlays, and revenues to the overall limits filed in the Congressional Record on May 3, 2019, as adjusted, for fiscal year 2020 and for the 10-year period of fiscal years 2020 through 2029. These comparisons are needed to implement section 311(a) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, which establishes a rule enforceable with a point of order against measures that would breach the budget resolution’s aggregate levels. The table does not show budget authority and outlays for years after fiscal year 2020 because appropriations for those years have not yet been completed.

Table 2 compares the current levels of budget authority and outlays for legislative action completed by each authorizing committee with the limits filed in the Congressional Record on May 3, 2019, for fiscal year 2020, and for the 10-year period of fiscal years 2020 through 2029. These comparisons are needed to enforce the point of order under section 302(f) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, which prohibits the consideration of measures that would breach the section 302(a) allocation of new budget authority for the committee that reported the measure. It is also needed to implement section 311(c), which provides an exception for committees that comply with their allocations from the point of order under section 311(a).

Table 3 compares the current status of discretionary appropriations for fiscal year 2020 with the section 302(b) suballocations of discretionary budget authority and outlays among Appropriations subcommittees. The comparison is needed to enforce section 302(f) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 because the point of order under that section equally applies to measures that would breach the applicable section 302(b) sub-allocation.

In addition, a letter from the Congressional Budget Office is attached that summarizes and compares the budget impact of legislation enacted after the adoption of the budget resolution against the budget resolution aggregate in force.

If you have any questions, please contact Jennifer Wheelock or Raquel Spencer.

Sincerely,

JOHN YARMUTH, Chairman.

The Continuing Appropriations Act, 2019 (P.L. 116–5), as amended, extended several immigration programs through February 15, 2019, that would otherwise have expired at the end of fiscal year 2018. The estimated budgetary effects of these programs are shown in the “Authorizing Legislation” portion of this report. In addition, division H of P.L. 116–6 extended several immigration programs through the end of fiscal year 2019. Consistent with the language in title III of division H of P.L. 116–6, and at the direction of the House Committee on the Budget, the budgetary effects of extending these immigration programs for the remainder of the fiscal year are charged to the relevant authorizing committees, and are shown in the “Authorizing Legislation” portion of this report.

The Continuing Appropriations Act, 2019 (P.L. 116–6) extended several immigration programs through the end of fiscal year 2019. These extensions will be charged to the relevant authorizing committees, and are shown in the “Authorizing Legislation” portion of this report.

TABLE 3—DISCRETIONARY APPROPRIATIONS FOR FISCAL YEAR 2020, COMPARISON OF CURRENT LEVEL WITH APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE 302(a) ALLOCATION AND APPROPRIATIONS SUBCOMMITTEE 302(b) SUBALLOCATIONS

(In million dollars)

1. Amounts reflected are those discretionary items that were previously enacted. As of July 1, 2019, there are no enacted appropriations bills for FY2020.
2. The 302(b) includes amounts designated for disaster relief contained in the Department of Homeland Security Appropriations Act, 2020. The 302(a) will be adjusted after that bill is reported.

U.S. CONGRESS, CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE, Washington, DC, July 8, 2019.

Hon. John Yarmuth,
Chairman, Committee on the Budget, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

Dear Mr. Chairman: The enclosed report shows the effects of Congressional action on the fiscal year 2020 budget and is current through July 1, 2019. This report is submitted under section 308(b) and in aid of section 311 of the Congressional Budget Act, as amended.

The estimates of budget authority, outlays, and revenues are consistent with the allocations, aggregates, and other budgetary levels printed in the Congressional Record on May 3, 2019, pursuant to sections 1 and 2 of House Resolution 293 of the 116th Congress.

This is CBO's first current level report for fiscal year 2020.

Sincerely,

Phillip L. Swagel.

Enclosure.
BILLS PRESENTED TO THE PRESIDENT

Cheryl L. Johnson, Clerk of the House, reported that on June 28, 2019, she presented to the President of the United States, for his approval, the following bills:

H.R. 2940: To extend the program of block grants to States for temporary assistance for needy families and related programs through September 30, 2019.

The motion was agreed to; accordingly (at 11 o’clock and 49 minutes p.m.), under its previous order, the House adjourned until tomorrow, Wednesday, July 10, 2019, at 10 a.m. for morning-hour debate.

CONGRESSIONAL EARMARKS, LIMITED TAX BENEFITS, OR LIMITED TARIFF BENEFITS
Under clause 9 of rule XXI, lists or statements on congressional earmarks, limited tax benefits, or limited tariff benefits were submitted as follows:
Amendment No. 1 to be offered by Representative ADAM SMITH (NE) to H.R. 2900, the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2020, does not contain any congressional earmarks, limited tax benefits, or limited tariff benefits as defined in clause 9 of rule XXI.

PETITIONS, ETC.
Under clause 3 of rule XXI.

The SPEAKER presented a petition of Mr. Gregory D. Watson, a citizen of Austin, TX, relative to urging Congress to enact legislation that would prohibit a potential employer — including the Federal government, a State government, or a local unit of government — from requiring disclosure of an employment applicant’s Social Security number until a conditional or firm offer of employment is formally made to that applicant; which was referred to the Committee on Education and Labor.
The Senate met at 10 a.m. and was called to order by the President pro tempore (Mr. GRASSLEY).

PRAYER
The Chaplain, Dr. Barry C. Black, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Our Father in Heaven, how great You are. Today, lead our lawmakers in their work. May they be messengers of unity and hope.

Lord, make them productive servants who strive to honor You. Remind them to act with justice, love, mercy, and humility. May they speak words that bring life as they seek to live with integrity.

Sovereign Lord, strengthen our Senators to seize opportunities that bring peace, hope, and freedom.

We pray in Your great Name. Amen.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE
The President pro tempore led the Pledge of Allegiance, as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

RECOGNITION OF THE MAJORITY LEADER
The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mrs. HYDE-SMITH). The majority leader is recognized.

NOMINATIONS
Mr. MCCONNELL. Madam President, the Senate has continued to make headway in the personnel business. This week, we are confirming a number of President Trump's thoroughly qualified nominees to important vacancies in the Federal courts and in the administration.

As I have said, it is unfortunate for this institution that our Democratic colleagues have made it their routine practice to require not just rollcall votes but cloture votes as well on non-controversial nominees for lower profile positions—regular cloture votes on district judges, cloture votes on Assistant Secretaries, and, later this week, a cloture vote on an Assistant EPA Administrator.

These are the sorts of important but lower profile positions the Senate used to quickly process on a voice vote. When these sorts of people were qualified, they were voice-voted by Senates of both parties for Presidents of both parties. That was the norm.

New partisan hurdles will not deter the Senate from doing our job. We will continue to spend the time it takes to put impressive, impartial men and women on the Federal judiciary and give the President—more than 2 years into his administration—finally, more of his team in place in the executive branch.

Yesterday afternoon, we voted to advance the nomination of Daniel Bress to serve on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit. Mr. Bress comes with strong credentials, the academic pedigree, the legal experience, and, most importantly, a demonstrated commitment to the rule of law.

I am glad we voted to advance his nomination yesterday, and I urge our colleagues to confirm him later today.

Next, we will consider three district court nominees: T. Kent Wetherell to the Northern District of Florida, Damon Leichty to the Northern District of Indiana, and Nicholas Ranjan to the Western District of Pennsylvania.

After them, we will confirm several nominees to serve in the administration: Robert King to be Assistant Secretary of Education, John Pallasch to be Assistant Secretary of Labor, and Peter Wright to be Assistant Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency.

In each of these cases, the President has presented us with thoroughly well-qualified individuals to serve the Nation in these very important roles. This week, the Senate will give them the straightforward consideration and confirmations they deserve.

THE ECONOMY
Mr. MCCONNELL. Madam President, on another matter, Fourth of July celebrations weren’t the only thing for American families to smile about last week. We received even more positive news about the strong U.S. economy that American workers and job creators are building with a big assist from Republican policies.

More than 200,000 new jobs were created in June alone. The economy is overflowing with opportunities. American workers are in high demand and more and more previously sidelined individuals are getting to clock back in.

The last administration’s so-called recovery disproportionately helped a few major metropolitan areas, but it left whole communities and whole regions of our country more or less in the dust. Not these days. The results have been very different under Republicans’ pro-growth, pro-opportunity policy agenda. Now we are seeing a real all-American recovery.

As the New York Times reported last week, “Only recently have the economic gains filtered down to Black and Hispanic workers, those with less education, and others who face discrimination or other barriers to employment.”

So it is all kinds of American workers, all kinds of families, all kinds of small towns and farm counties and smaller cities and suburbs. This all-American recovery is benefiting our whole country with job opportunities, wage growth, net investment, and new optimism.

Two and a half years ago, Republicans started out with a pretty simple philosophy. It goes like this: The American people can accomplish great things and build prosperity for their families if Washington mostly stays out of the way.

We needed the Federal Government to stop creating so many economic headwinds and start creating a few tailwinds. So we achieved historic tax reform, major regulatory reform, and all kinds of economic policies geared toward helping workers and middle-class families earn more and then send less to the IRS.

The way Republicans see it, these ideas are actually no-brainers. So as long as you believe in the promise and potential of American workers and small businesses, this is clearly the way to go, and the results continue to speak for themselves.

RESERVATION OF LEADER TIME

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the leadership time is reserved.

CONCLUSION OF MORNING BUSINESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Morning business is closed.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

EXECUTIVE CALENDAR

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senate will proceed to executive session and resume consideration of the following nomination, which the clerk will report.

The senior assistant legislative clerk read the nomination of Daniel Aaron Bress, of California, to be United States Circuit Judge for the Ninth Circuit.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Illinois.

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL PARK SAFETY

Mr. DURBIN. Madam President, if you are a baseball fan, and many of us are, this is a big day—the day of the All-Star game.

I would like to spend just a few moments reflecting on an important issue for the fans of baseball across America.

Thirty-five million people every year enjoy one of America’s great summer experiences—seeing a game at a Major League Baseball park. Fans join their friends and family to eat hot dogs, nachos, peanuts, and so much more. We sing the national anthem together at the start of the game and “Take Me Out to the Ball Game” at the seventh inning stretch, a tradition started by a man named Harry Caray in a place called Wrigley Field.

Some—the more dedicated fans—keep scorecards of home runs, RBIs, and earned run averages. Sadly, there is another statistic that has been seeing more and more attention lately—and that is injuries.

A Bloomberg report from 2014 estimated 1,750 fans suffer injuries in Major League Baseball parks every season. Some are hit by balls; others are injured trying to escape being hit by a ball. This is far too many.

On May 29, a 2-year-old girl was hit by a foul ball at Houston’s Minute Maid Park. She suffered bleeding, bruises, and other injuries. She was treated in the hospital for her injuries.

Cubs outfielder Albert Almora, who hit the ball, was so devastated by the little girl’s injuries that he could barely speak. One will never forget the image of his head bowed, crying, when he saw the damage that was done to this innocent little 2-year-old girl by a foul ball that he hit.

What did he say afterward? “I want to put a net around the whole stadium.”

In the weeks following, we have seen more injuries in the stands. On June 10, a woman was struck by a line drive at Guaranteed Rate Field in Chicago. Two weeks later, a young woman was hit by a foul ball at Dodger Stadium in Los Angeles.

A survey by the polling organization FiveThirtyEight found that 14,000 more foul balls were hit in 2018 than 1998, and there is just no way—for fans to entirely protect themselves. Here comes something: 105 miles an hour off the bat. Even if you are watching it intently, you just can’t protect yourself or the people you love who are watching the game with you. Bryant Gumbel made that point on his cable TV show on this very subject.

If fans can’t do more, baseball teams can. In 2017, after a child was hit by a line drive at Yankee Stadium in New York, I wrote a letter to Major League Baseball commissioner Rob Manfred. I urged him to expand safety netting at all Major League Baseball stadiums past the home plate to the far edge of each dugout. To their credit, the league did exactly that.

It is now clear, however, that is not enough. The little girl at Minute Maid Park was 10 feet beyond current netting.

In June, the Chicago White Sox became the first Major League Baseball team to announce it is going to extend the netting. Let me tip my hat to Jerry Reinsdorf, the owner of the Chicago White Sox, for leading the way with this safety measure. The Washington Nationals, the Texas Rangers, and the Pittsburgh Pirates are all planning to do the same, and the Los Angeles Dodgers are conducting a study before making a protective strategy permanent.

I commend all these clubs for their leadership and commitment to fan safety, but I think we need more. We need a leaguewide standard.

Last month, my colleague from Illinois, Senator TAMMY DUCKWORTH, and I wrote to Commissioner Manfred calling on all 30 Major League Baseball teams to extend the protective netting to the right- and left-field corners.

Folks who complain that extending the safety netting to the foul poles will create an obstructed view ignore the facts. Right now, the majority of expensive seats in baseball are behind the nets, and people don’t complain. It is something you get used to, and you can get used to the safety of it as well. We should be reminded that the most expensive and popular seats have been hit netting for decades.

In 2002, a 13-year-old girl named Brittanie Cecil died after being struck in the head by a hockey puck at a National Hockey League game in Columbus, OH. The National Hockey League responded quickly, ordering protective netting behind the goal. Major League Baseball should show equal concern for its fans.

Ensuring the safety of fans at baseball stadiums is a tradition that stretches back to 1879, when the Providence Grays put up a screen behind homeplate to shield fans from the area that was called “the slaughter pen” at that time.

The increasing number of fans hit by balls makes it clear that new safety standards are needed at ballparks.

Today, we will see Major League Baseball’s finest players at the All-Star game. Baseball fans deserve the best. I urge Commissioner Manfred and all baseball teams to extend safety netting at Major League Baseball parks to the foul poles. Let’s not wait until next season. Increasing fan safety is a win for everyone.

PRESCRIPTION DRUG COSTS

Madam President, if you ask the American people about issues they truly care about, let them volunteer what they think about, what they worry about, the No. 1 item on the list is the cost of prescription drugs.

Do you know the latest when you reach a point where you need a drug or someone in your family needs a drug, and then you face the reality of what it is going to cost. If you are lucky, and you have a good health insurance plan, it covers the cost—but for many people, that is not the case. They have copays and deductibles or sometimes no real coverage when it comes to the cost of prescription drugs.

Of course, the prices of these drugs are way beyond what we can afford. You go to a drugstore, and you are shocked to learn that what sounded like a great idea in the doctor’s office turns out to be a very expensive idea at the cash register. For some people, it is an inconvenience, an annoyance, but for other people, it is a burden they just can’t bear. They can’t pay the cost. It is just too much.

Some of these drugs are just not minor additions to your life; they may be matters of life and death. In those circumstances, what are you to do?

I am reminded of people I have met across my State of Illinois as I have talked about this issue. One group stands out because there are many of them—people who are suffering from diabetes.

Of course, they know that using insulin and taking care of themselves is the way to have a good, normal life, but it turns out that the cost of insulin has gone up dramatically.

Did you know that insulin was discovered in Canada almost 100 years ago? The researchers who discovered this drug—this life-saving drug for diabetes—were at the time that they were going to surrender their legal patent rights to sell the drug for $1, give it away for $1. Do you know why? They said it was because no one should make a profit on a life-or-death drug. That was almost 100 years ago. But what are we faced with today? We are faced with a dramatic increase in the cost of insulin, a life-or-death drug.

I have sat down with parents and their children and talked about what they go through to have enough insulin so their daughter can survive. It is incredible. Mothers in retirement go back to work to take a job to pay for the daughter’s insulin.

The cost of insulin has gone up dramatically. In 1999, Humalog—a very common insulin sold by Eli Lilly—ran about $39 a vial. What has happened to the cost of that drug in 20 years? It has gone up to $329, a dramatic increase on a drug that was discovered 100 years ago.

At the same time, Eli Lilly is selling that drug in Canada for $39—$329 in the United States. Why? Because the Canadian Government has said to Eli Lilly: That is the most you can charge in our country. We are going to fight for the people who live in Canada to have affordable drugs.

Let me ask an obvious question. Who is going to fight in the United States for affordable drugs for our people, for those sons and daughters with diabetes—and for all the other conditions for which life-and-death drugs are now being priced way beyond the reach of ordinary Americans? Do you know who is supposed to fight? We are supposed to fight. We are supposed to fight for it. That is why we were sent here—Members of the U.S. Senate and the House of Representatives—to pass legislation to bring these under control.

Now we have legislation coming forward from the Senate HELP Committee on the issue of healthcare, and many of us had hoped that committee would use this opportunity to put in provisions to bring the cost of prescription drugs under control. Unfortunately, with only one exception, the bill is silent on the major issues.

The measures coming out of the Senate Judiciary Committee, where I serve, don’t go to the heart of the matter. They really will not make a big difference on the insulin scandal that we are now facing or on the cost of drugs in general.

I had a simple measure that I introduced with Republican Senator Chuck Grassley last year. Think about this. Have you ever seen an ad for drugs on television? If your answer is no, it is because you obviously don’t own a television. You can’t turn it on without seeing a drug ad, right? And if you watch during the day, when many seniors are watching, it is one after the other. After the other.

I have said with amusement here we have even reached the point at which we can not only pronounce but spell the name XARELTO. We see those ads so often for XARELTO and HUMIRA and so many other things that they just bombard us. Why? They bombard us with those ads in the hope that consumers watching those TV ads will go to the doctor and say: Doctor, I need XARELTO.

Well, XARELTO is a blood thinner. There are other alternatives that are much cheaper. But if you ask for that high-priced prescription drug and the doctor doesn’t want to get in a debate with you and puts it on the prescription pad, guess what you have just done. You may have the right drug for you at the moment—maybe—but you may have just added to the cost of healthcare by putting the most expensive drug for that condition on your formulary. In other words, the doctor is going to have to pay much more.

In all of the things they tell you about those ads, some of the things I think are the most amazing and amusing are claims like this: If you are allergic to XARELTO, don’t take XARELTO. Excuse me. How will I know I am allergic to it? After I take it, maybe.

Those sorts of things and warnings about suicide and death and everything else come at us, but there is one thing that isn’t included in those drug ads—one very basic thing. Excuse me, Eli Lilly; excuse me, Sanofi. How much does this cost? They don’t tell you because it is shocking sometimes for people to know that the cost of those drugs and their仿 mills of dollars, and perhaps getting rid of that little red patch on your elbow of psoriasis will not be worth $5,000 a month if you know the price.

So Senator Grassley and I put this in the bill last year and passed it in the Senate. How about that? It happens so rarely around here. We passed in the Senate a bill that required the drug companies to disclose the actual list price of the drug. It passed the Senate, and it got killed in a conference with the House when the pharmaceutical companies came in and said: We don’t want to tell anybody what these drugs cost.

Then I got an interesting call from the Trump administration. Notice, I am on the Democratic side of the aisle, so I was surprised. Dr. Azar from Health and Human Services called me and said: We like your bill. The President wants to make your bill the law. But the legislation that requires drug companies to disclose the cost of pharmaceutical drugs on their ads. Direct-to-consumer advertising has to tell the cost of the drug. Well, that is progress—a real difference.

Do you know what happened yesterday? In a Federal court hearing in Washington, the judge struck down the law. The judge said, Congress, you haven’t given this administration or any administration the authority to do that on its own. You have to change the law, giving it the authority, or you have to change the law itself to require the disclosure of drug pricing. It sounds like a radical idea to people that we would disclose to them how much these drugs cost in the drug advertising itself? It isn’t unusual for people to list the cost of items we buy every day. When it comes to lifesaving drugs, shouldn’t we have that disclosure as well? Well, I hope we will. I hope this bill that is coming to the floor will consider that as well as several other aspects when it comes to prescription drug pricing.

For example, did you know that the Veterans Administration, on behalf of the men and women who have served our country, actually negotiated with the pharmaceutical companies to have lower prices for the drugs that are used in VA hospitals and clinics? Why aren’t we down with these same drug companies and negotiate lower prices for our veterans. Good. Our veterans deserve it. But why won’t our Federal Government negotiate for those who are under Medicare? Why can’t we use the same drug formulary and pricing for the VA when it comes to Medicare? If we want to give our veterans a break—and we should—why wouldn’t we give our seniors a break?

I think we ought to have negotiated pricing in Medicare. I think the drug companies will get along just fine. Incidentally, they are pretty profitable today. If we had that commitment for renegotiating for Medicare, it could make a real difference.

I also think we ought to take on this insulin issue head-on—head-on. A story on “60 Minutes” recently was about a heartbroken mother from Minnesota whose son was on her health insurance plan under ObamaCare until he reached the age of 26. Then he was on his own. He was managing a restaurant. He didn’t have drug coverage, and he was diabetic. He couldn’t afford to pay the thousand dollars that was being charged for his insulin, so he decided to ration the dosage himself. It cost him his life. He, unfortunately, died because he couldn’t afford enough insulin at the high prices that are currently being charged.

We can change that. We can come to the side of consumers across America, to families who are trying to keep their kids alive, and many others. We can do that because we work in a place called the U.S. Senate, but in order to do that, we have to act like Senators. We have to say to the pharmaceutical companies: I am sorry, but there comes a point where you have pushed it too far. There comes a point where we have to step in on behalf of families and consumers in America and speak up on their behalf. Watch closely to see if that happens.

The gentleman who was on the floor, my colleague from Kentucky, will be the person who will decide that. Senator McConnell will decide whether we are going to challenge the pharmaceutical companies this year.

Do you remember how I started? It is the No. 1 issue that American families volunteer to use. So is it important? Yes, it is important. Will it make a difference? You bet—not just in Illinois but I bet in Kentucky as well. Many a family can step forward and talk about how tough it is to pay for these prescription drugs.

Do we have a chance to do it? You bet we do. There is a series of bills coming out of committee in the next couple of weeks. We could bring this to the floor of the Senate. Wouldn’t that be amazing if the U.S. Senate, instead of doing a handful of nominations of people you have never heard of, ended up actually passing a bill, making a law that addresses the issue of prescription drug pricing in America? That, to me, is a reason we were sent here.

What I would like to see and hope to see is a bipartisan effort. We Democrats are ready to stand up, but there are certain things we believe in. First, we believe in keeping the Affordable Care Act on the books. People with preexisting conditions shouldn’t be discriminated against. Families ought to be able to keep their kids on their health insurance plans until kids reach the age of 26. We are willing to fight for that even though this week there is a lawsuit by the Trump administration to do away with it.

Secondly, we believe we should negotiate prices under Medicare so that seniors get the price breaks that our veterans get today and many others do too.

Third, we need to do something about the overpricing by these drug companies, not just price disclosure on the ads but changing the patent laws to give American consumers a fighting chance. Canada is fighting for Canadians. When is America going to fight for Americans?

When it comes to pharmaceutical prices, this is our chance to do it, and we can get it done in the next 2 weeks. Who will decide that? The majority leader from Kentucky, Mr. McConnell. He will decide whether this comes to the floor, whether it is important enough to the people living in Kentucky, Illinois, New York, Mississippi, or wherever. It is his choice. It is in his power to make that decision. I hope the American people will reach out to him to encourage him to do that.

I yield the floor.

RECOGNITION OF THE MINORITY LEADER

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Democratic leader is recognized.

U.S. WOMEN’S WORLD CUP VICTORY

Mr. SCHUMER. Madam President, yesterday, I sent a letter to U.S. soccer that officially invited the U.S. women’s soccer team to come to the Senate to celebrate their outstanding World Cup victory. It was a late-night letter that I am sure that Megan Rapinoe, one of the team’s co-captains and stars of the tournament, has accepted our invitation. I greatly look forward to scheduling a time when the women’s soccer team can come to the Nation’s Capital.

What they have accomplished on and off the pitch is a credit to our Nation. Millions of young girls and young boys look up to these players. Millions of women are inspired by the light they have shown on the disparities between the men’s and women’s game—part of a broader fight for equal treatment and fair pay in the workplace for all women.

I believe it would be a fitting tribute to this great woman’s soccer team to bring legislation to the Senate floor that would make it easier for women to get equal pay in the workplace. The bill I have introduced would order a bill to do just that. I call on Leader McConnell, again, to bring that bill to the floor of the Senate, particularly in light of the great victory of the women’s team and the knowledge that they get paid much less than the men, even though they work just as hard and bring, at least in recent years, even greater glory to the United States.

Wouldn’t it be great if we could pass that bill while the women’s national team is sporting the Chamber’s? Wouldn’t that send a powerful message of our commitment to rooting out discrimination everywhere?

I urge Leader McConnell to consider it. Right now that bill lies in Leader McConnell’s all-too-full legislative graveyard. Perhaps this great victory might spring it free so that we could do something for women’s equality.

JEFFREY EPSTEIN

Madam President, on a much less happy note, an infringement Jefrey Epstein was indicted in New York on Federal sex trafficking charges. The newly released evidence of Epstein’s behavior involving dozens of children is sickening, is appalling, is despicable. Epstein should have been behind bars years ago, but, unfortunately, the Secretary of Labor, Alex Acosta, cut Epstein a sweetheart deal while Acosta was a U.S. attorney in Florida in 2008. While Acosta signed a nonprosecution agreement that allowed Epstein and his co-conspirators to remain free and evade justice, despite overwhelming evidence.

Mr. Acosta hid this agreement from Epstein’s victims, who were never to even figure out why Mr. Epstein was able to persuade U.S. Attorney Acosta not to prosecute, other than that Epstein could afford high-powered, high-priced attorneys. As the Miami Herald editorial board wrote, the thing that was not just that Acosta failed to get it right in 2008; the evidence suggests “he didn’t care to.”

Accordingly, I am asking three things. First, I am calling on Secretary Acosta to resign. It is now impossible for anyone to have confidence in Secretary Acosta’s ability to lead the Department of Labor. If he refuses to resign, I will call on President Trump to fire him. Instead of prosecuting a predator and serial sex trafficker of children, Acosta chose to let him off easy.

This is not acceptable. We cannot have one of the highest paid public officials in America someone who has done this—plain and simple.

Second, I am calling on the Department of Justice’s Office of Professional Responsibility to make public the results of its review of Acosta’s handling of the Epstein case. Senators Murray and Kaine have called for these findings, but the Justice Department so far has stonewalled, has refused to make them public. This rebuke cannot be kept in the dark, and there should be hearings.

Third, the President needs to answer for the statements he has made about his relationship with Mr. Epstein. In 2002, he said he would be free for 15 years and that he was a “terrific guy” who enjoyed women “on the younger side.” Epstein was also reportedly a regular at the Mar-a-Lago Club for years. The President needs to answer for this, and “I don’t recall!” is not an acceptable answer in this case, particularly since President Trump appointed Mr. Acosta to such a powerful position.

HEALTHCARE

Madam President, on healthcare, today oral arguments begin in Texas v. United States, and the fate of our entire healthcare system hangs in the balance due to this nasty, cruel lawsuit led by President Trump’s Department of Justice. If the courts ultimately strike down the law, the healthcare of tens of millions of Americans would be gone—gone. Prescription drug costs, high enough as they are, would go up even further. Protections for pre-existing conditions, that affect more than 100 million Americans would be eliminated. A mother or father whose child had cancer would have to watch them suffer because the insurance company could cut them off and say: We are not paying for this anymore. We cannot tolerate that.

I say to my Republican friends: You cannot have it both ways. You can’t say “Oh, I want to protect people with pre-existing conditions,” and then prevent...
Leader MCCONNELL has finally agreed. It is mind-bending. The hypocrisy is patently obvious. I don’t care if you love President Trump. You should be calling him out for this hypocrisy, which will affect the vitality—God’s most precious gift to us—the ability to live longer, healthier and well. President Trump is trying to take it away, despite what he says to you, Trump supporters.

Senate Democrats will head to the steps of the Capitol to highlight what this lawsuit could mean to average Americans. My Republican friends should take note. The American people are keenly aware of which party is trying to take away their healthcare. Even if it happens through the courts, in this Trump-supported lawsuit, they will know that congressional Republicans, by their silence—their meek, supine acquiescence—are complicit in the unraveling of our healthcare system. Americans believe we hold them accountable at the ballot box if they don’t change.

ELECTION SECURITY

Madam President, on election security, tomorrow the Senate will gather for a briefing by senior officials of the defense, law enforcement, and intelligence community on the threats facing our elections in 2020.

Russia has interfered in our elections. Everyone agrees with that. Our administration is doing nothing to stop it from occurring again in 2020, so we need a briefing by law enforcement on how serious the threat is—they have said “serious” in public statements—but it is only one step. We need to take more. We need to act, to prepare our democracy for the challenges ahead.

Bipartisan bills exist. We could put them on the floor right now. This is not a partisan issue. Senators RUBIO and VAN HOLLEN have the DETER Act. Senators MENENDEZ and GRAHAM have the Russia sanctions bill. But all of these bills have languished, victims of Leader MCCONNELL’s legislative graveyard. We have many more options when it comes to election security—legislation from Senators KLOBuchar and WARNER, FEINSTEIN and WYDEN, BRUMMENT and many others. It is time we move on these bills. As we continue to negotiate appropriations bills, we should include significant resources for election security. Nothing less than the vitality of and faith in our democracy is at stake.

There are not two sides to this issue. A foreign adversary attacked our democracy. I expect that Special Counsel Mueller’s testimony next week will highlight once again that Russia’s efforts to interfere in our democracy were sweeping and systematic.

What are we waiting for? What are we waiting for—for them to interfere again and for more Americans, whether they be Republican or Democrat or Independent or right or left, to no longer believe this democracy is legit? For 243 years, since the Declaration of Independence and certainly since the signing of the Constitution a few years later, we have had faith in this democracy. But the outcome isn’t what we want. But that faith is already eroding in good part because foreign powers can interfere in our elections. We cannot—we cannot—let that happen, no matter who you are, what your politics are. But Leader MCCONNELL is standing in the way of what could eat at the roots of our democracy and eventually make this mighty oak, the American experiment, fall. We don’t want that to happen.

The briefing is a good step, but it is only one step. We need to take more. We need to act, to prepare our democracy for the challenges ahead.

FOX NEWS

Madam President, I felt it was important to point this one out: President Trump amazingly attacked FOX News in the last few days in a series of tweets for coverage he viewed as unfavorable to his administration. This is FOX News, a news outlet that, frankly, is 90 percent or more on the President’s side. Their most popular shows seem to just be cheerleaders for President Trump. To me, it is the most biased newscast there is of the major news stations, not that any of them are free of any bias. Yet when President Trump hears a small, dissident tweet, dissident note, from FOX News, and now he attacks it—what kind of thin skin does this man have? What kind of thin skin? But it is worse than his thin skin—when a President can attack a news organization that is overwhelmingly friendly to him with threats of his leading advocates getting prime time space, some of them going to his rallies, it shows he really doesn’t believe in freedom of the press. Dictators—dictators—shut down the press and try to shame the press when they speak truth to power, which is what our President has done in all the years of this Republic.

When President Trump can even attack FOX News because once in a blue Moon it says something he doesn’t like, that shows he doesn’t really deserve to be President because a President must protect our liberties whether or not he is under fire.

Madam President, I suggest the absence of a quorum. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The senior assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. COTTON. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded. The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. COTTON. Madam President, I want to call your attention to a story that is tragic but also heartwarming and uplifting.

Honorary Colonel River “Oakley” Nimmo of Camden, AR, passed away last month at the age of 5 after a protracted struggle with his enemy, a rare form of cancer called neuroblastoma. Oakley’s family remembers him as a “sweet, brave boy” who liked to play with power wheels and toy guns, but all those who knew him have learned about him will remember Oakley for an act of service that perhaps only a child could perform.

Oakley fought his cancer valiantly, going above and beyond the call of duty. He was strengthened along the way by his Arkansas neighbors, who held yard sales and sold bracelets to help the Nimmo family pay for his care. He was also supported by 20,000 prayer warriors on a Facebook page entitled “Prayers for Oakley Nimmo.” But ultimately it was God’s will that Oakley should return home to him. He passed away on the 20th of June.

In light of Oakley’s heroic struggle, as well as his dream of becoming an Army man, Oakley was named an honorary colonel in the Arkansas National Guard. In the days leading up to his funeral, his family made a simple request: that veterans and servicemembers show up at the funeral in their uniform to give Oakley the proper sendoff. Word got around, and dozens came. Some traveled from nearby towns. Most had never even met this little boy, but it didn’t matter—he was a soldier like one of them. Soldiers from the Arkansas National Guard provided funeral honors for Oakley. They presented Oakley’s mother, Shelley, with the flag and a special ID tag with his name on it. Like a true soldier, Oakley was sent off from this world to the moving tune of “Taps” played by a military bugler.

Colonel Nimmo’s tour of duty on this Earth was brief, but he did teach an important lesson to all of us. At times, some voices may express doubts about our military, but Oakley reminded us—as perhaps only a child could—that being an Army man, a brave protector of our Nation, is one of the highest honors to which an American can be called.

The veterans and the servicemembers who attended Oakley’s funeral were there to honor him, but, in fact, it was a double honor because through his life and dreams, little Oakley honored them in return.

Oakley looked up to our troops in life. Now he looks down on them from above, where he will remain in God’s presence and our memory as a brave fighter against cancer, an inspiration, and lightning at the time, an Army man. I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. Scott of Florida). The clerk will call the roll.

The senior assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. CORNYN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

HEALTHCARE

Mr. CORNYN. Mr. President, yesterday our friend from New York, the minority leader, spoke on the Senate floor about the latest challenge to ObamaCare—the Affordable Care Act—which is being considered by the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals this week. Also, if you can believe the press, he is also going to have a press conference with the Speaker and other notable Democrats to talk about the danger of a court decision on the constitutionality of the Affordable Care Act. As one might imagine, he painted a pretty grim picture of what would happen if the court were to strike down the Affordable Care Act, affirming the judgment of the trial court. Of course, he tried to play the blame squarely on those of us on this side of the aisle. It is strange to me because blaming Republicans in Congress for a yet-to-be-decided court case doesn’t make a lot of sense, but it is pretty consistent with the message we have heard from our Democratic friends.

If the minority leader is going to pick a bone with anyone, then I guess his complaint is really about the Constitution itself. Court cases are decided on a case-by-case basis based on what the law is, and, of course, the Constitution is the fundamental law of the United States. So if a court ultimately holds an act of Congress to be unconstitutional, that’s because the Constitution prohibits it. And a consensus among all Americans is that the Constitution shall be inviolable, dating back to the early 19th century. The Supreme Court has made clear that is ultimately their job—not to decide what the policy should be but whether the policy enacted by Congress is consistent with the requirements of the Constitution.

So I find it pretty bizarre that in about an hour, the Democratic leader will join Speaker PELOSI for a news conference to talk about coverage for preexisting conditions, and I have no doubt that again they will try to blame Republicans as the bad guys and somehow perpetuate this myth that Republicans are opposed to covering people for preexisting conditions in their health insurance policies. They know that is false. They know that is a bald-faced misrepresentation of what our policy choices are in this body and in Congress as a whole. There is one thing that I think there is a consensus on in Congress with respect to healthcare, and that is that preexisting condition is a problem. In fact, there are pieces of legislation that I have cosponsored in the Senate that do exactly the illogical fallacy of their argument is that the only way one can do that is through the Affordable Care Act.

As we know, the Affordable Care Act has been a Trojan horse for a whole lot of other policies that, frankly, are not particularly popular because they have resulted in high deductibles and high premiums and have made it harder and harder for people to afford coverage. It has also precluded individuals from picking the kind of coverage that best suits their family’s needs at a price they can afford.

I think it is important for the American people to understand what we all understand—including the Democratic leader and the Speaker—which is that what they are saying about preexisting conditions is false. They know it, we know it, but they will not be guided by the facts but, rather, by the partisan rhetoric.

Here is the other strange thing in all of this. Most progressive Democrats—we used to call them liberals; now they call themselves progressives—have embraced Medicare for All as a solution to our Nation’s healthcare challenges. As everyone knows, Medicare for All was a recipe to bankrupt Medicare, which has traditionally, legally, and historically been a benefit for all. Yet they persist in saying it because they believe that people are either uninformed, naive, or so partisan that they will not be guided by the facts but, rather, by the partisan rhetoric.

They know that. Yet, presumably, today, at 12:30, when they hold their press conferences, they will say all Republicans are opposed to covering preexisting conditions because of this court case in the Fifth Circuit that has yet to be decided. They are just glib that this will provide, they think, some way for them to argue what they know is not true—that the Republicans are opposed to covering people’s preexisting conditions.

I believe health care for these patients shouldn’t hang in the balance of a court decision because, ultimately, it is our decision. If we pass the PROTECT Act, it will finally codify what every member of this body would agree on—that Americans deserve access to healthcare coverage. The PROTECT Act is just one example of the countless healthcare bills that are working their way through the Senate right now.

In addition, in the Senate Finance Committee, we are considering a package of bills to reduce prescription drug prices, just as we have in the Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions Committee and in the Judiciary Committee. The HELP Committee overwhelmingly passed a bipartisan bill to reduce healthcare costs, to increase transparency, and to eliminate surprise pricing.
of Americans oppose open borders and already struggle to manage their own bills. They certainly don’t want to be burdened with the costs of people who enter our country illegally and don’t pay taxes.

We don’t need these radical proposals to solve the crisis at our southern border. Both in the short term and the long term, we need bipartisan solutions that can provide some real relief. If we want to get to the root of the crisis and avoid the need for these bills, we need to fix the norm, we need to get down to brass tacks and talk about real reforms that, No. 1, will fix the problem and, No. 2, will stand a chance of actually becoming law.

Right now, there is only one bill, to my knowledge, that has bipartisan and bicameral support, and that is a bill called the HUMANE Act. I introduced this bill with my Democratic friend in the House, Mr. Sanchez, to address the humanitarian crisis at the border. First and foremost, the HUMANE Act includes important provisions to ensure that migrants in our custody receive proper care. It requires the Department of Homeland Security to keep families together throughout their court proceedings, and it includes additional standards of care. Beyond suitable living accommodations, the HUMANE Act requires each facility to provide timely access to medical assistance, recreational activities, educational services, and legal counsel.

It would require all children to undergo biometric and DNA screening so family relationships could be confirmed so as to ensure these children would be, in fact, traveling with their relatives rather than with human smugglers or sex traffickers. In order to better protect children who would be placed in the custody of Health and Human Services, this bill would place prohibitions on certain individuals who could serve as guardians. For example, no child should be released into the custody of a sex offender or a human trafficker. I would hope we could all agree on that.

In addition to improving the quality of care for those in custody, the HUMANE Act would improve the ways migrants would be processed. It would require the Department of Homeland Security to establish regional processing centers in high-traffic areas, which would serve as a one-stop shop by which the process would take place. This was a recommendation from the bipartisan Homeland Security Advisory Council. It would also alleviate the long wait times that are experienced by many asylum seekers. These centers would have personnel on hand to assist them, including medical personnel and asylum officers.

In addition to these changes, the legislation would also include provisions to make some commonsense improvements, such as additional Customs and Border Protection personnel and training for CBP and ICE employees who work with children.

The HUMANE Act would make much needed reforms to improve the processing and quality of care for migrants. Importantly, it would also take steps to address the flow of those who enter our country by the tens of thousands every year.

I spend a lot of time talking to folks who live and work on the border about the status quo and what we need to do to prevent this crisis from becoming even bigger. The most common feedback I get is that we need to close the loopholes that are being exploited by the people who are getting rich off of trafficking in human beings from Central America, across Mexico, and into the United States.

One of the most commonly exploited loopholes is something called the Flores settlement agreement, which was created to ensure that unaccompanied children don’t spend long periods of time in the custody of the Border Patrol. It was and remains an important protection for the most vulnerable people who are found along our border. It also ensures they can be processed and released to either relatives or to the Department of Health and Human Services pending the presentations of their cases before immigration judges when they claim asylum. Yet a misguided 2016 decision by the Ninth Circuit effectively expanded those protections from children to families.

The HUMANE Act also brings some certainty is that human smugglers and traffickers are not fools; they are entrepreneurs. They are twisted and criminal, to be sure, but they are entrepreneurs. They know how to exploit the gaps in our system, and they know how to make money while doing it. They know, if adults are traveling alone, they could be detained for long periods of time before they are eventually returned home after presenting their cases before immigration judges. The problem is that rather than single adults who arrive at the border alone, adults are bringing children with them so they can be processed as family units, thus taking advantage of that expansion of the Flores settlement agreement and drawing out the process to the point at which it overloads the system. They realize they can bring a child—any child—and pose as a family so they will be released after 20 days, never to be heard from again.

I have seen a recent increase in the number of families who have been apprehended. In May of 2018, roughly 9,500 families were apprehended. In May of this year, the number skyrocketed to more than 84,000. So, in just 1 year, it went from 9,500 to 84,000. Now, are legitimate families crossing the border? Absolutely. Yet we know many of these people who claim to be related are fraudulent families who use innocent children as pawns to gain entry into the United States. We need to get real about what we are talking about is, often, these children are abused and assaulted along the way, and many arrive at the border in critical health.

Before the Senate recessed for the Fourth of July week, which was about 10 weeks after the President requested emergency funds, we finally passed a bipartisan bill to fund much needed humanitarian relief. It included additional funding for the departments and agencies that have depleted their resources in trying to manage this crisis, and it makes $30 million available in reimbursement for which impacted communities may apply—charges that should be the Federal Government’s responsibility and not the local governments. As I said, after some hand-wringing and delay, the House passed this bill, and the President signed it. I hope my constituents back in Texas who have been working tirelessly to manage this crisis will soon find some relief.

It is important to remember, though, that depleted funding isn’t the reason for the crisis; it is only a symptom of a larger problem. In other words, we are dealing with the effects and not the cause of the basic problem. Without getting to the root cause, we are only setting ourselves up for failure, which means we’ll be back here in another couple of months and will have to pass another emergency appropriations bill for an additional $4.5 billion to try to deal with the problem we can fix but have refused to.

Sadly, this issue has become so politicized that few are willing to reach across the aisle and find solutions, and most of the proposals we have seen are ultrapartisan. The Democrats who are running for President support things like decriminalizing illegal border crossings or providing free healthcare to undocumented immigrants, both of which are unpopular, unsafe, and completely unaffordable. The vast majority
If we care about the welfare and the lives of these children, we cannot let these practices continue. It is unfair not only to these children but to the American people and to the immigrants who have waited patiently to enter the United States legally for people to be allowed to game the system, move to the head of the line, and break all the rules while doing it.

The HUMANE Act would clarify that the Flores agreement applies only to unaccompanied children. It would also provide greater time for processing and immigration proceedings to take place before a family is released from custody.

Eliminating this pull factor is an important way to stop the flow of those illegally entering our country because they know how to game the immigration system.

While the HUMANE Act will certainly not fix every problem that exists in our broken immigration system, it is an important start. It is a necessary start. It is the only bill pending before the Congress that is bipartisan and bicameral, and I would encourage all of our colleagues who are serious about our responsibilities to get to the root of the crisis to join us and get this passed and sent to the President for his signature.

I yield the floor.

Mr. KAINE. Mr. President, I rise today in support of the Affordable Care Act and to discuss the devastating impact its potential elimination would have on rural families and rural communities.

My State, Virginia, has so many rural communities, and in that, I am with every other Member of this body, and I want to talk specifically about them.

The Trump administration has sought for years to end the Affordable Care Act using every tool available. They have worked on that task here in Congress to repeal it and sabotage it and even dismantle it in the court system. Today marks another milestone in that deeply troubling effort.

The U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals will hear oral arguments in a case that could strike down the Affordable Care Act in its entirety. If the ACA were struck down, families and communities around the country would bear life-altering consequences, and the healthcare system would be thrown into chaos. Tens of millions of Americans would lose healthcare coverage and protections for preexisting conditions, among the countless other consumer protections that have been put in place by the ACA.

A number of my colleagues are going to be on the floor this afternoon speaking about particular aspects of this that trouble them. I want to focus on one in particular: how important the Affordable Care Act’s Medicaid expansion is to rural America and how much is at stake for those communities should the Affordable Care Act be eliminated.

Medicaid expansion enables low-income, rural residents to get affordable, quality health insurance so they can get the care they need. It is often the case that insurance companies do not compete with the same intensity in rural communities because there are just not enough patients. So it is common in rural America for somebody wanting to buy an insurance policy on the exchange, for example, to maybe have only one option. Medicaid expansion has turned out to be a huge benefit for many low-income people living in rural America. Even ty of those who are receiving insurance pursuant to Medicaid expansion were previously uninsured, and so for some, it is the first insurance they have had in their lives.

A particular impact of Medicaid expansion has not been on just individuals receiving that Medicaid but on the hospitals that are sort of the healthcare and even economic pillars in rural communities. Rural hospitals often bear a large share of the making the finances work. Again, lower patient volumes make it difficult. Medicaid expansion has meant that the care they have been providing that in the past might not have been reimbursed at all—that they are able to at least get a Medicaid reimbursement, and that has been a significant financial benefit to these hospitals.

Mr. President, you understand this because you and I are from the same state and there are a lot of rural communities. Rural hospitals are often the lifeline of rural communities. They can be the largest employers in a town or a county. They often do a tremendous amount of outreach on healthcare and other philanthropic efforts not just within the hospital walls but outside the hospital walls—sponsoring the Little League teams and doing the things that make a community a community. Residents of communities need access to healthcare, but they also need access to jobs and good healthcare information. Rural hospitals provide that.

I have seen the impact of rural hospital closures in Virginia firsthand. Two rural hospitals in Virginia closed in recent years because Virginia did not expand Medicaid initially. In the last year, Virginia has done Medicaid expansion, but before Medicaid expansion was done, we saw hospitals close in two communities in Virginia: Patrick County, which is a south side Virginia county that is on the border with North Carolina, and Lee County, which is a county that is on the border with Kentucky and Tennessee. Two hospitals have closed in those communities.

I got a letter from a mother in Christiansburg, VA, which is actually near Virginia Tech. Her name is Robin, and she wrote about the closure of the Pioneer Hospital in Patrick County in 2017. She wrote this:

My mother who recently turned 70 still lives in the county, and we are approaching a point of either moving back to Patrick County or moving my mother to Christiansburg where we currently live. My son has severe food allergies that could lead to anaphylactic shock (which would require constant access to epinephrine) and difficulty breathing, and my mother does not want to move back. She would rather stay in the county where she would have help getting to the hospital, but I have a son who needs care because of allergies. Do I have to move my mother out of the home where she would rather stay?

Rural hospitals across the country are struggling to keep their doors open for a number of reasons, but here is an amazing set of statistics. Whether a hospital expands Medicaid pursuant to the ACA is a massively significant factor in rural hospitals’ financial outlook and decisionmaking. Without Medicaid expansion, rural hospitals may be forced to cut vital services or even close. Here is the data point that really sells it all: Since Congress expanded Medicaid pursuant to the ACA, 107 rural hospitals have closed in the United States, and 93 of those 107 hospitals were in States that had not expanded Medicaid at the time of the closure.

Hundreds more rural hospitals are at risk of closure. Rural hospital closures disproportionately occur in States that have not expanded Medicaid. The success of the Texas case would wipe out the ACA, including Medicaid expansion, and deeply penalize these rural hospitals.

A comprehensive 2018 study published in Health Affairs found that Medicaid expansion is directly associated with hospital financial performance and that expansion substantially reduces the risk of hospital closure, particularly in rural areas. The study also found that going back to pre-ACA eligibility for Medicaid would drive even more rural hospitals to closure.

So we think about Robin’s dilemma of a mother living in a rural area where the hospital has closed. If the ACA is struck down and there is no Medicaid expansion, this is going to be faced by more and more rural communities across the country, and that means this is a dilemma individuals and their families will ultimately face.

Research from Georgetown University’s Health Policy Institute indicates that the uninsured rate for low-income adults in rural communities fell three times as fast in States that expanded Medicaid as compared to States that did not expand. Turn that around.
States that expand Medicaid find that rural families have a dramatically higher likelihood of having insurance than those in rural areas where the States haven’t expanded Medicaid.

As of now, 36 States, including Virginia and Medicaid and 14 have not. I am thrilled that earlier this year Virginia, after a multiyear battle, finally announced that Medicaid expansion was happening. In less than a year after expansion, nearly 293,000 adults are newly enrolled in Medicaid in Virginia, many of whom never had health insurance before in their lives—293,000 adults in a State where the population is about 8.5 million. That is a significant number of people who have received insurance through Medicaid expansion. They risk losing their eligibility if the administration is successful in its efforts to gut the ACA.

If we care about rural residents and rural communities, there are a number of things we can do. First, we must stand up against the administration’s attempt to end the ACA, including its Medicaid expansion.

I have now been in public life for 25 years since I was elected to the Richmond City Council in May 1994. I will say that in all of the elections I have been in, up or down, and all the various legislative and other battles, the single most dramatic moment in my life as an elected official was standing on the floor of the City Council in May 1994 representing the 8th ward, being asked by one vote—one vote—we saved the Affordable Care Act. I have never in my life in the public realm experienced something that was so dramatic and so consequential.

We have to continue to stand up. I would have thought that vote might have been in a new chapter. Instead, we would be talking about fixing and improving rather than repealing, but that is not the case, as evidenced by the lawsuit today. But my hope is that we will resist efforts to sabotage and destroy and instead join together in efforts to improve. I have joined with my colleagues to cosponsor a resolution allowing Senate legal counsel to intervene in the lawsuit, to defend the Affordable Care Act.

The second thing we can do to help rural communities is focus on the States that haven’t yet expanded Medicaid and provide them a clearer path and encouragement to do so.

I am proud to be an original cosponsor of something called the SAME Act, which would extend the same level of Federal assistance to every State that chooses to expand Medicaid regardless of when the expansion occurs. I think that is important.

Let’s use the original Medicaid Program as an example. It was passed in 1965. It was not a mandate; it was an option. The last State—Arizona; State 50—that joined didn’t join until 1982. There was a 17-year period between when the first State joined the then-voluntary Medicaid Program and when the last State joined.

Let’s make sure that whenever States join, they are treated the same. There are States that choose to expand now—these 14 States—we would make sure that they get the full Federal level of assistance as was available to those States that initially joined, and that should help remaining States get off the sidelines.

Finally, it is time to stand up against administrative sabotage to the Affordable Care Act. We shouldn’t promote skimping insurance plans. We shouldn’t slash funding for enrollment, outreach, or marketing. We should build on and improve and, yes, fix—because it is not perfect—the ACA to extend its promise of affordable coverage to even more Americans.

That is why I have introduced Medicare-X legislation to establish a public option plan that could be offered on the ACA exchanges, beginning in rural areas. My bill would also make the ACA’s tax credits more generous, expand tax credit eligibility to additional families, and allow for an enhanced reimbursement rate in rural communities where low patient volumes often pose financial challenges to healthcare providers.

In closing, the ACA has meant the difference between life and death for many families across the country, and I run into them every day.

I am going to be standing with some Senate colleagues on the steps of the Senate in a few minutes talking about a youngster from Winchester, VA, who has a series of significant healthcare challenges that would essentially in the past have made him uninsurable because of preexisting conditions but who now—because of that protection within the ACA, he and his family at least have a peace of mind of knowing that he can’t be kicked off insurance or turned down for insurance because he happened to be born with a condition over which he had no control.

If the ACA were to be struck down, families and communities would suffer, and I think that in Virginia, that would particularly be the case in our rural communities.

Again, I am just going to hold up this issue. We need to protect rural hospitals not only because of the healthcare they provide but because they are employment centers and centers of community outreach. When we see the closure of rural hospitals overwhelmingly being in States that have not expanded Medicaid, that tells us how valuable that portion of the ACA has been to stabilize the provision of rural healthcare.

I will continue to fight to protect the ACA and the health of my rural communities in Virginia and elsewhere. I encourage my colleagues to do the same.

I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll. The bill clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. THUNE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded. The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. CRUZ). Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. THUNE. Mr. President, we received more good economic news on Friday with the announcement that the economy created 224,000 jobs in June. Meanwhile, unemployment remained near its lowest level in half a century. June marked the 16th straight month that unemployment has been at or below 4 percent. That is a tremendous record.

June also marked the 11th straight month that wage growth has been at or above 3 percent, the highest wage growth had not hit 3 percent in nearly a decade.

Friday’s announcement was just the latest piece of good news about the economy. Thanks to Republican economic policies, the economy has taken off during the Trump administration. Economic growth is up, wage growth is up, personal income is up, and the list goes on.

Importantly, the benefits of this economic growth are being spread far and wide. One of the distinguishing features of the economic expansion that we have been experiencing is the way it has been reaching those who have trailed behind economically.

Over the past 3 years, pay hikes for the lowest income workers have exceeded pay hikes for the richest workers. Huge numbers of new blue-collar jobs have been created, and the employment situation for minorities has improved substantially.

The unemployment rates for Asian Americans, African Americans, and Hispanic Americans are all at or near record lows. The Wall Street Journal notes that “Nearly one million more blacks and two million more Hispanics are employed than when Barack Obama left office, and minorities account for more than half of all new jobs created during the Trump Presidency.”

So where has all this economic progress come from? At the end of the Obama administration, 2½ years ago, the economic outlook wasn’t too rosy. The economy was sputtering, and American families were struggling. Some were predicting that a weak economy would be the new normal. Republicans, however, didn’t agree with that. We knew that American workers and American businesses were as dynamic and creative as ever. But we also knew that burdensome regulations and an outdated tax code were holding our economy back and reducing the opportunities available to workers. So when we took office in 2017, we got right to work on improving our economy in order to improve life for the American people.

We eliminated burdensome regulations that were acting as a drag on economic growth, and we passed a historic reform of our Tax Code to put money in Americans’ pockets and make it easier for businesses to grow and to create jobs. Now we are seeing the results: a thriving economy that is extending more opportunities to more Americans.

For all of Democrats’ talk about inequality, it is actually Republicans and President Trump who have done something about it. We have helped create an economy that is lifting up people across the entire economic spectrum.

There is still more work to be done, of course. For one thing, we need to make sure that the agriculture economy is able to catch up to the economy at large. But thanks to tax reform and other Republican economic policies, American workers are doing better than they have in very long time.

It is unfortunate that the gains we have made would be reversed if Democrats have their way. Democrats’ plans—from budget-busting government-run healthcare to free college—all have one thing in common: They would cost a lot of money.

Where would the government get most of that money? From tax increases—tax increases on businesses and tax increases on ordinary Americans.

Thanks to the tax relief that Republicans passed, the economy has expanded, paychecks have increased, and more jobs and opportunities have been created.

Raising taxes would result in the opposite: fewer jobs and opportunities, a smaller economy, and more families struggling to get by on smaller paychecks.

Republicans are determined to make sure that doesn’t happen. We are committed to building on the progress we have made and further expanding economic opportunity for all Americans.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Pennsylvania.

HONG KONG

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. President, I rise today to speak about the very high-stakes political and social crisis that has been unfolding in Hong Kong over the past several weeks.

Hong Kong is a very exceptional city. It boasts of a very robust free market economy that has thrived for centuries. It has a very vibrant free press. It has an independent judiciary and a partially democratic election system. Those freedoms, combined with Hong Kongers’ natural entrepreneurial spirit and appreciation for individual liberty, have made Hong Kong a jewel of the financial and business world, one of the freest places in Asia, and a great place to live—for a time, anyway, as I did back in 1991.

Economic and political achievements are particularly impressive when you consider that Hong Kong is, after all, a part of China, which has neither a free economy nor a politically free society.

Back in 1997, Great Britain transferred Hong Kong to China on a condition—an explicit written agreement—that Hong Kong’s social and economic systems would be unchanged under a “one country, two systems” arrangement that would last for at least 50 years, until 2047.

The Chinese Government also made a pledge at the time—a pledge that Hong Kong’s legislative and executive leaders would be elected through “universal suffrage.” Yet, here we are, 22 years later. Hongkongers still do not enjoy complete universal suffrage, and Hong Kong has faced deep and persistent efforts by the mainland to erode the independence and the authority of Hongkongers.

On the surface, this ongoing crisis in Hong Kong was clearly caused by the Hong Kong Government, probably at the behest of the Beijing Party in China to pass a deeply unpopular extration bill. This bill would diminish Hong Kong’s independent legal system very dramatically, and it would do so by allowing and exposing individuals in Hong Kong to the authorities and the courts in mainland China, including Hong Kong citizens, foreigners, and even tourists—to being extradited to China.

The accused would then face prosecution by an authoritarian government in mainland China that does not uphold the rule of law. It would not practice the fair and impartial administration of justice. Let’s face it. The judicial system in China is politicized and controlled by the Chinese Communist Party.

Some people are concerned that if this bill were to become law, it would even pave the way for Chinese state-sponsored kidnapping of dissidents. It certainly would have a chilling effect on freedom in Hong Kong, a chilling effect that a lot of Hong Kong people do not want to see.

In response to this threat, the people of Hong Kong have for weeks poured into the streets to withdraw this bill and deeper democratic reforms. Remarkably, last month, one of these protests—one of these demonstrations brought together an estimated 2 million Hongkongers into the streets. It is running anywhere in the world that 2 million people would come out to protest anything.

But in Hong Kong, it is truly staggering because the total population of Hong Kong is only 7.4 million. That is about one in four Hong Kong residents who were demonstrating.

Just today, the Hong Kong Chief Executive said that bill was dead. But it has not been formally withdrawn, as I understand it, and I think the threat remains.

It is also important to note that on a deeper level these ongoing protests are really a response to efforts by the Chinese Government to “mainlandize” Hong Kong. It is an effort to impose which political, cultural, and even physical distinctions between Hong Kong and mainland China are meant to be diminished, the differences blurred, and the distinction eroded.

Hong Kong’s extration bill is just the latest example of the Hong Kong people’s struggle for the freedom, democracy, and respect for human rights that they cherish, that they want to hold on to, and that were promised to them when the handover occurred in 1997.

Hongkongers really have a rich history of protest, and I think that history reveals their enduring grassroots desire for the freedoms they have grown to love and cherish and for a democratic form of government that they deserve.

Back in 1989, the Tiananmen Square massacre that we all remember—the 30th anniversary was just last month. On the eve of the massacre, once it was clear the Chinese Communist Government would resort to violence, protesters with bullets and tanks—once that became clear, about 1.5 million Hongkongers marched in the streets of Hong Kong in solidarity with the students in Tiananmen.

In 2003, the Hong Kong leadership proposed an anti-subversion bill. Hongkongers rightly saw this bill as an attack on their freedom of speech and freedom of association. The Hong Kong leadership proposed it—again, doing it at the behest of the mainland Chinese Government—and 500,000 citizens protested and eventually forced the government to withdraw the bill.

In 2014, the Hong Kong Government announced a reform to change how Hong Kong’s legislative and executive branches would be selected. The proposal was meant to continue what already existed, and that was mainland Chinese Communist control over the election process in Hong Kong. One of the mechanisms they used to achieve this was that only candidates vetted by a committee of mostly pro-Beijing supporters would be allowed to seek the office of Chief Executive.

In response to this undemocratic measure, Hong Kong students staged a campaign of civil disobedience and peaceful protest to oppose this effort. Up to a half a million people participated in the movement. Students famously used umbrellas to shield themselves from tear gas and pepper spray that was being launched at them by the police, so much so that the pro-democracy protesters were quickly termed the “Umbrella Movement.”

All of these protests and acts of civil disobedience make it clear that Hongkongers want more freedom, not less freedom.

I think this matters. This matters obviously in Hong Kong, but it matters beyond Hong Kong. It matters to us. It should matter to us. What is happening in Hong Kong is not just important for those residents but for the rest of the world. Today the people of Hong Kong are fighting against an unpopular and unfair extradition bill. They are really fighting for what is happening in places throughout the world where people enjoy basic human rights, natural rights that everyone should have, including the right to free speech, the right to a fair trial, the right to be confident that your government will follow the law, and the right to participate in a just and fair representative system of government.

If the Chinese officials in Beijing and the Communist Chinese who rule mainland China have their way, they will extinguish these rights for the people of Hong Kong. If the extradition bill were to become law, it would threaten all of those rights because of the chilling effect of the threat of being extraterritorially prosecuted— Worse, the lawlessness of the Chinese judicial system.

In some important ways, I think Hong Kong can be seen as a canary in a coal mine for Asia. What happens in Hong Kong will at least set expectations about what might affect what happens in Taiwan over time, other Asian nations that are struggling for freedom in the shadow of China. The fact is, China itself is controlled by an authoritarian government, interested primarily in its own survival. That is the top priority of Beijing’s leadership. They have created a modern-day police state. They use mass surveillance, censorship, Internet applications in order to control their own citizens. They have imprisoned over a million of their own citizens, the Muslim Uighur minorities, in concentration camps.

China’s authoritarianism threatens free and open societies all around the world. In Hong Kong, the direct threat to the Communist regime in Beijing because people across China, naturally, ask the question: Why do Hongkongers get to have more rights and a better life and more freedom than we have? That is the threat the government in Beijing is trying to extinguish.

We, of course, recently had the blessing of being able to celebrate our own Independence Day, when Americans reflect on our own struggle against tyranny, against an unjust government, and our successful effort to throw that off and establish this, the world’s greatest, most vibrant, and freest democratic society.

In many ways, the Hongkongers are fighting for some of the very same values as our Founding Fathers did during the American Revolution. I think it is important that we in the United States not turn a blind eye to the struggle for freedom that is happening outside our borders. It is important that Americans continue to stand in support of the voices in Hong Kong calling for freedom, for democracy, and respect for basic human rights. I will do what I can in the Senate to support the people of Hong Kong in their peaceful protests for their own freedom, and I call on my colleagues in this administration to join me.

I yield the floor.

RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senate stands in recess until 2:15 p.m.

Thereupon, the Senate, at 12:30 p.m., recessed until 2:15 p.m. and reassembled when called to order by the Presiding Officer (Mrs. CAPITO).

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from California, Mrs. FEINSTEIN.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Madam President, if I understand the procedure, are we in morning business?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. We are postcloset on the Senate nomination.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. I ask unanimous consent to speak as in morning business.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Madam President, I rise today to oppose the nomination of Daniel Bress to the Ninth Circuit in California.

First, by history and tradition, this is a California seat on the Ninth Circuit. The fact is that Mr. Bress is neither a California attorney nor a California resident. In fact, he has not been a resident of the State for over a decade. He has lived and practiced in the Washington, DC, area for almost his entire adult life.

As California Senators, Senator HARRIS and I know that experience and connection to California are really necessary for a Ninth Circuit judge to be effective on the bench. We know our State, we know our constituents, and we know the challenges they face.

That is why the blue slip is so important. Honoring the blue slip ensures that Senators who understand and are accountable to their constituents have a say in judicial nominations for their home States.

Senator HARRIS’s and my blue slips were not returned. That ultimately symbolizes our objections. I was also very disappointed that the White House has moved forward with Mr. Bress’s nomination.

Senator HARRIS and I worked in good faith with the White House to find nominees acceptable to the President and to us. During our negotiations that took place, we informed the White House that we could support several other nominees who were, in fact, selected by the White House. Yet the White House and the Republican members of the Judiciary Committee have claimed this was an impasse. That is simply not true. For reasons still unknown to us, the White House abandoned our negotiations and nominated Mr. Bress for this seat instead.

I am very disappointed that Republican leadership decided to schedule a vote on Mr. Bress’s nomination, given both of our objections to his nomination and our concerns about a lack of connection to our State.

Now, I want to address what I mean by a lack of connection to our State.

The White House has greatly exaggerated Mr. Bress’s connections to California to justify their decision to move forward with a non-California nominee.

I have studied Mr. Bress’s record extensively, and I would like to run through some of what I have found.

Mr. Bress claims to spend a substantial amount of time working in his law firm’s San Francisco office. However, as recently as November 2018, Mr. Bress’s profile on the Kirkland & Ellis LLP website listed him as an attorney working exclusively in the firm’s Washington, DC, office. His profile page likewise provided contact information—phone and fax—only for the Washington, DC, office.

Just before he was nominated, Mr. Bress’s Kirkland & Ellis profile was revised to list him as an attorney in both the Washington, DC, and San Francisco, CA, offices.

In addition, according to a review conducted by my staff, every public legal filings submitted by Mr. Bress lists his office as Washington, DC. This includes legal filings submitted in California courts. Mr. Bress has never had an oral argument before the Ninth Circuit—never had an oral argument before the Ninth Circuit.

The chairman of the Judiciary Committee entered a letter into the record at Mr. Bress’s hearing identifying 26 cases in California courts that Mr. Bress has been involved in. However, according to Mr. Bress’s Senate Judiciary questionnaire, 11 of these 26 cases were asbestos lawsuits for a single client, the air conditioning manufacturer United Technologies Corporation. So those are two clients. This is hardly the wide breadth of California court experience that one would expect of a Ninth Circuit court appointee.

Mr. Bress does not belong to any legal organizations in California. His children do not attend school in our State. He has voted since high school in a California election. And he does not have a California driver’s license. Finally, Mr. Bress does not own any property in California outside of one share in a family business venture.

These facts, along with Mr. Bress’s residency in the Washington, DC, area—he lives here; his family lives here—make clear to us that he is not a Californian, nor is he suited for the Ninth Circuit.

This is something we have never experienced before; that is, bringing a judge from one coast to put him on the Ninth Circuit on the other coast.
Some of my Republican colleagues have cited past instances when an attorney living and practicing in one State has been nominated and confirmed to a seat in another State. This is highly unusual.

Republican colleagues have been able to provide examples of this occurring only 4 times in the past 20 years, and in each case, it was with the support of the home State Senators. This support is simply not here in this case; this is not the case with this nominee.

California is a diverse and complex State. We have over 40 million people. It is the fifth largest economy in the world. It makes up 14 percent of the U.S. economy. There are 53 Fortune 500 companies that are based in our State. We have the largest ag industry in the country. We produce more manufacturing revenue than any other State. And California technology companies produce 53 percent of all tech revenues in the United States.

The vast and diverse nature of California’s people and economy means the Ninth Circuit regularly considers challenging and complex issues of fact and law. These cases require not only the sharpest legal minds but lawyers and judges who know and understand the complexities facing the State of California.

We have an imported judge now coming to the Ninth Circuit. One of our most critical tasks as Senators is to ensure that lifetime appointments to the Federal courts are well qualified and well suited to the seats to which they have been nominated.

Home State Senators are a crucial part of this evaluation process. The Presiding Officer knows this very well. I am so disappointed that the majority has disregarded this.

This disregard of blue slips represents another breakdown of Senate traditions. It is really very disturbing. One has passed over 20 years here is that what goes around comes around. By doing this, it is a major violation of a precedent that this Senate has followed, I believe, to its absolute.

I will vote against Mr. Bress’s confirmation, and I urge my colleagues to do the same.

Thank you very much.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Rhode Island.

Mr. REED. Madam President, I rise today to salute a hometown hero, a dedicated journalist, and a trusted newsman, Jim Taricani, who sadly passed away last month after decades of contributions to Rhode Island and the field of journalism throughout this country.

This is just an example of the tributes that he won by a very, very enthusiastic population of Rhode Island. This is the front page of the Providence Journal on the day of his funeral service.

He was a gentleman. He was a man of integrity, a man of fairness—the qualities that define a great journalist. In fact, the words “great journalist” and “Jim Taricani” are synonymous.

He leaves behind an extraordinary legacy. He was an award-winning investigative journalist who earned multiple Emmys and the coveted Edward R. Murrow Award, and he was a true champion of the First Amendment.

Jim grew up in Connecticut and served the U.S. Air Force, where he was stationed in Europe as a military police officer. But he made his mark when he moved to Rhode Island and embarked on a career in broadcast journalism, first in radio, and then over a 30-year career at WJAR that spanned from the late 1970s through 2014.

Jim began his stint for NBC 10—WJAR—as a general assignment reporter but gained notoriety for covering big stories and uncovering the truth. He went on to found the station’s investigative team in 1979.

He earned a reputation for taking on tough stories about organized crime and political corruption. In reporting on these difficult topics, Jim’s own integrity, selflessness, and fairness shone through every day and every moment.

Indeed, Jim didn’t just talk about principles; he lived them. In February 2001, Jim obtained an FBI surveillance video documenting a confidential source. It showed a public employee accepting a bribe in the famed Operation Plunder Dome case, which transfixed Rhode Island and Providence, its capital, for many, many months. It marked a significant moment when people could see and hear what corruption looked like.

Rather than following a court order to reveal the source of the tape, Jim stood up for the First Amendment, and he was sentenced to 6 months of home confinement. Several of Jim’s friends and colleagues wrote letters to the judge on Jim’s behalf, including Christiane Amanpour, who interned for Jim in the early 1980s, when she was a student at URI.

She noted that Jim Taricani taught her “that journalism when done right is a noble profession, that America’s unique commitment to freedom of the press is vital to a functioning democracy, [and] that holding public officials to account is the imperative of a corruption-free society.”

Indeed, that is what Jim set out to do through his reporting. He became a strong advocate for other journalists, testifying before Congress about freedom of the press and the challenges journalists face in trying to keep the public informed about their government. His help, his actions, and his activity spurred action. The Senate Judiciary Committee advanced Senator SCHUMER’s bipartisan media shield bill. But the work to protect journalists, and to ensure that they can responsibly do their job and inform the American public. We must find a bipartisan way forward that balances freedom of the press and public safety.

Jim was also a tremendous advocate for the American Heart Association. A survivor of cardiovascular disease and multiple heart attacks, Jim documented his own process of undergoing a heart transplant, from uncertainty to recovery. Here is how the Providence Journal television critic described it:

Listed—the title refers to the word from doctors that every heart transplant candidate longs to hear—is the most powerful human interest story I have ever seen on local television. It is courageous first-person journalism, a story that you may never forget.

Taricani, who kept a diary throughout his hospital stay, wanted to have an experience video made in order to produce a donor awareness video for the American Heart Association. It was never his intention to broadcast the account, but when the news director, Dan Salamone, suggested it would reach a broader audience if televised, Taricani agreed.

That was Jim. He was not looking to be the story but was willing to share his story if it could help others. Thoughtful, tenacious, and tough—that was Jim. He was the way, 22 days after receiving his new heart. Jim was back at work, which tells you everything you need to know about how passionate he was about journalism and how much he loved his job.

Undoubtedly, the love of his life was his wife, Laurie White, who is a force in her own right and has taken up Jim’s cause of freedom of the press and encouraging the next generation of aspiring young journalists to go out and make a difference. She endowed a lecture series on First Amendment rights at the University of Rhode Island in Jim’s honor, which is a fitting tribute.

Jim was also a champion of the First Amendment for decades to come. As a journalist and as a person, nothing stopped Jim from following the facts, uncovering the truth, sharing important stories, and enlightening his audience. We are all, in Rhode Island and across the country, deeply saddened by the loss of Jim, but his example and legacy endure. That legacy will sustain us and inspire us to continue working together to build a just and decent country, and for that we are all grateful to Jim.

Madam President, I yield the floor to my distinguished colleague from Rhode Island, Senator WHITEHOUSE.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Rhode Island.

Mr. WHITEHOUSE. Madam President, it is a great honor to join my senior colleague, Senator REED, on the Senate floor to remember someone we both knew very well, Jim Taricani, a legendary investigative reporter, whom not only we knew well but so many Rhode Islanders knew well.

There was a rule in Rhode Island: When Jim called, you answered. He was also tough. He was always fair. He was the first of WJAR’s T-Team, a storied investigative unit for the NBC affiliate in Rhode Island.

Jim started working as a reporter in the 1970s, when the New England mafia was still active on the streets of Providence. He became known for segments exposing organized crime and for sniffing out public corruption, and, at times, a bit of a combination of both. Jim’s news sense and his doggedness were legendary.

Jim was a Rhode Island icon. In a small State, with more than its share of stories to tell and plenty of larger-than-life characters, investigative journalists have always had a particular prominence. For more than three decades, Jim was among the best of them all.

He was brave. When a Federal judge ordered Jim to divulge who had provided him with a tape of a bribe being accepted at Providence City Hall, he opted for a prison sentence rather than give away his sources. The courage of Jim Taricani made national headlines. He ended up serving 4 months of home confinement and testified before Congress in 2007 in support of a Federal shield law to protect the freedom of the press.

Rhode Islanders felt a personal connection to Jim for another reason. Jim needed a new heart in the 1990s. After having suffered two heart attacks in his thirties, he shared this health saga on the air, allowing WJAR cameras to follow along as he underwent a heart transplant and navigated his recovery.

From living rooms and kitchen tables across Rhode Island, Rhode Islanders rooted for Jim. As his health improved, the ultimate newsroom and investigative affiliate in Rhode Island.

I join Senator Reed today in thinking of Jim’s beloved wife, Laurie White, and the many friends of theirs who mourn Jim’s passing. He will be missed.

I yield the floor.

Mr. REED. Madam President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The senior assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. YOUNG. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mrs. BLACKBURN). Without objection, it is so ordered.

(The remarks of Mr. YOUNG pertaining to the introduction of S. 2063 are printed in today’s RECORD under “Statements on Introduced Bills and Joint Resolutions.”)

Mr. YOUNG. I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The senior assistant bill clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. MURPHY. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

AFFORDABLE CARE ACT

Mr. MURPHY. Madam President, I am going to begin by addressing the Affordable Care Act, with nothing to replace it, despite the fact that for almost a decade now, I have listened to this President and my Republican colleagues in Congress object to the Affordable Care Act, with nothing to replace it.

The Affordable Care Act has. That plan has not materialized yet because it doesn’t exist. It has never existed. It will never exist.

This is a court case the Trump administration, along with a number of Republican attorneys general, has brought to obliterate the Affordable Care Act, all of it, overnight. The case, if successful, would result in a humanitarian catastrophe in this country.

Why do I say that? Because the plaintiffs in the case, backed by the Trump administration, are arguing that the court should throw out the entire Affordable Care Act, with nothing to replace it, despite the fact that for almost a decade now, I have listened to this President and my Republican colleagues in the Congress object to the Affordable Care Act on the premise that they will have something better to replace it with—in President Trump’s words, a replacement that will insure more people, at lower cost, with all the protections the Affordable Care Act has. That plan has not materialized yet because it doesn’t exist. It has never existed. It will never exist.

The challenge with the Affordable Care Act, which insures over 20 million Americans, which guarantees that people with preexisting conditions cannot be discriminated against, and nothing—no protections, no expansion of Medicaid, no subsidies—for individuals who can’t necessarily afford with no safety net.

What if this lawsuit is successful? I haven’t heard a single Republican in this Senate talk about what they would do. I haven’t heard the President talk about what his plan is if his lawsuit is successful.

What happens to John? What are you going to do to make sure he still gets the treatment he needs? The answer is, you don’t know. The answer is, you are jumping without a net, and you are playing with the lives of millions of Americans.

John, a remarkable young man also because his eyes were opened when he was in the hospital. I want to read you his words. He said this to me a couple of weeks ago, and I asked him to write it down because it is really remarkable the capacity of young people to see beyond their own suffering.

I wanted to take this opportunity today to tell one more story about an experience I had in the hospital during my cancer treatment. This is a story about a young man who received cancer treatment the same time as me. During my daily physical therapy walks around the childhood cancer floor, I started to notice a pattern. There was always one room—directly across from the nurses station—with the same patient inside. A small boy, no older than three years old. I can remember asking my parents and nurses, “Why are that baby’s parents not with him?” I felt so angry that such a tiny child was left alone in a hospital room while going through cancer treatment. I remember seeing the tiny chemotherapy port embedded in his head through the glass door.

“Did they abandon him like that?” I asked the nurse walking with me that day. She explained to me that he had not been abandoned at all, he was not forgotten nor neglected. She explained that he was left alone due to pure necessity and desperation.

This is John talking. He said:

I learned that both of his parents were working day and night to be able to afford his care. Nobody deserves to go through this alone, especially not a three-year-old infant. I shared my story so that his story will not continue to take place in America. I shared my story so that patients fighting for their life will no longer be taken advantage of by the hospitals and insurance companies.

What a miracle that this young man, going through his own cancer treatment, could think of a 3-year-old child who has no parents there with him because his parents are working multiple jobs in order to afford the cancer treatments for their son.

Before the Affordable Care Act went into effect, people in this country went into bankruptcy because of medical costs. That does not happen any longer. It doesn’t mean our healthcare system is perfect. It doesn’t mean it doesn’t need more improvement. But we want to go back to the day in which a family lost everything simply because their 3-year-old son got cancer? Why would we take this chance with these people’s lives?

I, once again, come to the floor to beg my colleagues to stand with us, to stand with us and oppose this lawsuit—this careless, thoughtless lawsuit. At the very least, if you support it, then come to the floor with a real plan for how you are going to take care of John and all the millions of Americans who rely on the Affordable Care Act for coverage.

I yield the floor.

Mr. BLUMENTHAL. Madam President, I am very pleased to follow my colleague from Connecticut and to continue his thoughts about the utter chaos and catastrophe that would be caused by the success of this lawsuit now. And I say, look at the facts. Appeasement and catastrophe that would, in effect, turn back the clock to days that I remember well because I was attorney general when preexisting conditions were used as a ruse to deny lifesaving medical care and coverage to people with cancer, brain tumors, and literally lethal diseases.

In those days, as attorney general, I took their fight and made it my own, even sometimes calling presidents of insurance companies over weekends to go to bat for those individuals.

Those bad old days—the days of no protection against preexisting conditions—are over now, but they will come back if this lawsuit is successful.

If this lawsuit wins, young people who are now covered by their parents’ policies up to the age of 26 will be without it. If this lawsuit wins, the annual and lifetime caps on benefits will come back. If this lawsuit is successful, preexisting conditions will come back to haunt people who need and deserve coverage. If this lawsuit wins, millions of people—tens of thousands in Connecticut—will be at risk.

One of them is a young man, Conner Curran, a student at Ridgefield High School. His picture is right here. I met Conner 3 years ago when he was 5, and his parents noticed he was lagging behind his twin brother. They brought him to a doctor, expecting maybe a simple diagnosis. Instead, they were told that Conner had Duchenne muscular dystrophy. That is a degenerative, terminal disease. It has no cure. It is life-threatening. In fact, most people with the disease don’t survive past their mid-twenties.

Conner’s family wrote to me, telling me that their beautiful, young, sweet child, at the time just 5½ and full of life, would slowly lose his ability to run, to walk, to lift his arms. Eventually, they said, he would lose his ability to hug them.

Conner needs care—complex care—from multiple specialists, costing tens of thousands of dollars per year. Thanks to the Affordable Care Act, he has the coverage and insurance he needs.

There is no denying him coverage because of his illness, and he will receive the care he needs.

His family also wrote to me that the reinstatement of lifetime caps or elimination of essential health benefits will hinder his family’s ability to access the care Conner needs. In fact, if this lawsuit wins, there will be virtually insurmountable obstacles to Conner receiving that vital lifesaving care. If this disaster is possible, he will need access to Medicaid in offsetting costs of living with that disability.

For his family, the question is, Will Medicaid even be there? If that devastating day comes, will he receive the care he needs?

Conner’s family shared their concern over what would happen if the repeated and reckless attempts to undermine healthcare succeed and if repeal of the Affordable Care Act succeeds, their protections will be eviscerated; they will be lost, not just for a year or two but likely for their lifetime.

The Affordable Care Act ban on lifetime coverage caps is so important to kids like Conner. If the Republican-backed lawsuit against the ACA is successful, he will be one of the more than 1.2 million people in Connecticut who would meet a lifetime coverage limit and be forced to worry about how and if they can pay for their necessary medical care.

In Connecticut, about 25,000 young people get their healthcare coverage under their parents’ plans, thanks to the Affordable Care Act. They have demonstrated that children can be covered until the age of 26. If the Republican-backed lawsuit against the ACA succeeds, these young adults will be left without coverage.

In Connecticut, over a quarter of a million people have healthcare coverage because of the ACA’s Medicaid expansion. Another 110,000 have coverage through the Connecticut ACA exchange. If the Republican-backed lawsuit against the Affordable Care Act succeeds, their healthcare coverage will be gone.

If the Republican-backed lawsuit succeeds, the uninsured rate of Black Connecticut residents would likely double. One in five Latinos under 65 will go uninsured.

All of these people, like Conner, represent our Nation—the best of our Nation—with their dedication to the people they love, and they deserve to be heard. Their voices need to be heard loud and clear, as the true faces of the Affordable Care Act.

State—where people have worked hard all their lives. They have been challenged, but they really have given so much to this great country. Most of them did not have insurance. A lot of people across America had some really good insurance, but a lot of working people in West Virginia—of less means, poor people—did not have access.

Let me tell you what they used. They used the emergency room—the highest cost of entry with no preventive care, nothing to maintain health or wellness—but they would go there in an emergency. That is what most people who didn’t have any insurance used.

Let me tell you about the people who basically were working and could not afford the copays where they worked or weren’t afforded insurance at places where they worked. If they were ill or if they got hurt at home, working, they would go into work on Monday and make a crop claim, get hurt, and go to a very high cost to all of the States.

At the end of the year, and I think this is in most States, they would come to you—every hospital, every rural clinic would come to their Governor and their Legislatures; we would call them DSH payments, disproportionate share—and say: Governor Manchin, if you don’t help me with $10 million or $12 million—I have given away $20 million in charity care—we are going to have to close.

We had to scramble around, using taxpayer dollars to keep every rural clinic and hospital open for the people. People forget about all of that.

For those who had wonderful access to insurance or were offered insurance, that was wonderful. We want to make sure they still have that opportunity.

Guess what. We have a way to fix this. There have been two bills sitting on Senator McConnell’s desk for almost 2 years that would reduce the cost—what we know is wrong with the bill—the Affordable Care Act.

Let me tell you what is right with the Affordable Care Act. I wasn’t here in 2009. I would like to have seen changes, but now that I am here, I know what I had before, which wasn’t working, and I know what we now can fix can be a lot better.

In a bipartisan way we have tried to fix this. We have tried to find ways to make sure people who had good insurance are not going to be exorbitantly charged out of the market or priced out of the market. We are doing everything we possibly can.

I am asking everybody, please, for the sake of humanity, if a person for the first time has ever gotten insurance—and I have told people this. We gave people the greatest wealth card you could ever get, which is a health card, but we didn’t give them one shred of evidence as far as information about how to use it—the instructions. I compare it to this: If you bought a box of Cracker Jacks, you would get the prize inside, and they would show you how to use that little prize. We never took the time, but now they want to throw it out. Let’s make an effort to basically teach people how to live a healthier lifestyle, how to use preventive care, how to have a more productive and a healthier life. We have done very little of that.

For the first time, we know, scientifically, if a person is addicted to drugs—if they are addicted—it is basically a health problem. It is an illness. An illness needs treatment. For the first time, we know that has been inundated with opioid addiction and drug addiction, people are able to get treatment, get back into a productive lifestyle and get their lives cleaned up. For the first time they want to take that away. Out of 1.8 million people who live in my State, there are 800,000 West Virginians who have some form of preexisting condition because they have worked in the mines and the factories. They were hard workers. Those people are supposed to be supported. To take away from them, if you have ever talked to rural Americans in any State, you can ask: How are you doing? I am OK. I am OK. How is your health? Well, I don’t want to be a burden to my family.

Let me tell you what they are telling you when they say “I don’t want to be a burden to my family.” They are saying: I can’t afford insurance. I don’t have the income to go to work. I have to break my family and put them in bankruptcy to try to keep me alive. So whatever the good Lord has planned for me, I will accept.

That is not who we are as Americans. It is just not who we are. This is what we are trying to change.

We have 20 attorneys general, Republican attorneys general. These are people I know. I don’t think they are mean-spirited, but to be this insensitive to what is going to happen—every hospital, every clinic, every provider is going to be in jeopardy of not having a job or being able to provide the services people need. This thing will come unraveled—unraveled.

We are fighting and hoping and praying that this is not upheld in the court system. How it has gotten this far I do not know. I can tell you, reasonable people would not make this type of decision.

When you look at what is going on—let me tell you, in a bipartisan way, my Republican colleagues have admitted that millions of Americans will lose their health insurance if the Republican attorneys general succeed. They have admitted this. It is bipartisan because we all have the same challenges. Senator Tillis from North Carolina and nine other Republicans stated that oral arguments in Texas v. United States will begin September 5, and if it is in favor of the plaintiffs, protections for patients with preexisting conditions could be eliminated. We know that.

My good friend Senator Murkowski from Alaska said, in her own words, that this lawsuit will take away healthcare coverage from people with preexisting conditions. Senator Murkowski said: “With the uncertainty of the outcome in the upcoming Texas v. United States case, this legislation is needed now more than ever to give Alaskans, and all Americans, the certainty they need that protections for those with pre-existing conditions will remain intact.”

Our Republican colleagues know that if these attorneys general win, it will devastate households, our economy, and millions and millions of Americans’ health. That is why I have been working with them to fix the problems of the Affordable Care Act. I introduced the Premium Reduction Act with my Republican colleague and dear friend Senator Susan Collins from Maine. It would reduce the cost of health insurance in the individual market. We owe it to every West Virginian with a preexisting condition to fix our healthcare system.

I would like to introduce you to Aiden Jackson Williams. This is Aiden Jackson Williams right here. Aiden is a 6-year-old cancer survivor from West Virginia. At 9 months old, he was diagnosed with an optic glioma and underwent chemotherapy for 16 months. At 2 years old, he was told that Aiden will continue to get MRIs every 3 to 6 months, and there is a high chance of recurrence of other tumors in his body due to his condition.

With that said, Aiden doesn’t let it bother him. His parents are proud to say that today Aiden is doing great. He and his twin sister Reagan both enjoy sports, and he moves around just as well as anybody. To this day, Aiden is their hero and inspiration.

Like Aiden his fight and beat cancer. They shouldn’t also have to fight to keep their health insurance.

What we are saying is that if the ACA goes away, Aiden will not have the certainty to be able to have health insurance, to have the MRIs to detect early enough to save his life. That is what we are talking about.

This is life and death. This is life and death. This is not just a matter of the ideological differences that we have. We are all to fight hard, and that is why I am here—for Aiden and all West Virginians with pre-existing conditions. They are trusting us to do the right thing, along with my colleagues, the Republicans, in a bipartisan way. To fix what, basically, we have to know and understand that can be fixed with the bill before us, the Affordable Care Act, but not throw the baby out with the bath water.

I hope that each one of my colleagues will take this seriously and that they will work with us in a bipartisan way to fix the healthcare for Americans that is so needed.
With that, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Washington.

Mrs. MURRAY. Madam President, today President Trump and Republican attorneys general are explaining in court why they want people who got their healthcare through the exchanges or Medicaid expansion should have it ripped away. They are explaining why limits on patients’ out-of-pocket costs should go away while limits on their annual and lifetime benefits should come back and why protections for people with preexisting conditions should be struck down.

In other words, Republicans are, once again, fighting to take us back to the bad old days to give big insurance companies all the power, to leave millions of people without any hope of getting the quality affordable care they need and to leave patients and families with fewer protections and higher bills—patients like Lily from Gig Harbor, WA, in my old state.

Lily is a rising high school sophomore. She is a rising soccer star, and she is a patient living with cystic fibrosis. To stay healthy and stay on the field, Lily needs to take several prescription drugs each month, visit specialists every other month, not to mention the hospital a couple of times a year. Even on a good month, her healthcare can cost thousands of dollars.

For families like hers, the stakes could not be higher. If Republicans win their blatantly partisan lawsuit, insurance companies could kick patients like Lily off their parents’ insurance before they turn 26, meaning that instead of worrying whether Lily will be able to continue her soccer career at Gonzaga or UW or somewhere else, her family could spend her senior year worrying how to make sure she can get the healthcare she needs.

If Republicans win, insurance companies could also avoid covering essential health benefits patients need—things like prescription drugs or emergency care. They could remove limits on how much patients have to pay out of pocket and put limits on patients’ annual and lifetime benefits, which is particularly challenging for patients, like Lily, who need expensive drugs to treat chronic preexisting conditions.

If Republicans win, insurance companies could discriminate against patients who have preexisting conditions, like cystic fibrosis, by charging them more, excluding benefits, or even denying them coverage completely.

Let’s be clear. Lily is just 1 of 30,000 patients in our country with cystic fibrosis and 1 of over 100 million patients in our country living with a preexisting condition.

Like the woman who wrote to me about her severe arthritis, which could be deadly without treatment, or her husband whose high blood pressure could be deadly without medication, or the mom who wrote to me about her son’s rare form of epilepsy and how, without insurance, the medical costs would crush her family. For these families and so many other patients living with a preexisting condition, the lawsuit Republicans are bringing today is a matter of life and death.

People are watching closely, and they are not going to forget who kept their word to fight for their healthcare, to fight for protections for people with preexisting conditions, and who on the other hand promised to end them all by championing a partisan lawsuit that would throw the healthcare of millions of people out the window.

Democrats are not going to stop fighting for families like Lily’s, we are not going to stop holding President Trump accountable for his ongoing healthcare sabotage; and we are not going to stop pushing for commonsense steps that help women and families get quality, affordable healthcare or pushing Republicans with us to get the train back on the track and stop pulling up the rails.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Ohio.

Mr. BROWN. Madam President, I both concur and applaud the senior Senator from Washington State for her comments. We saw Senator MANCHIN here. I know Senator Kaine was here. Senator MURPHY was here. Senator BLUMENTHAL was here. I know there are probably a dozen others, all of whom know people and have talked to people, who get out and, as Lincoln said, listen to people and get their public opinion baths.

They meet people like Susan Halpern from Columbus, whom I will talk about in a few minutes. They talk to them. They meet. They see that what we do here actually matters to people’s lives. They can play games with the Affordable Care Act. They have been doing that for a decade now, literally almost a decade, putting people’s healthcare at risk and harming people, trying to take their healthcare away. These are real people, as these pictures show and as these stories show.

Let me back up for a minute. A Federal judge is hearing arguments in a case that would literally yank health coverage away from millions of Americans.

I know what that means in my State. There are 900,000 people in Ohio who have insurance today because of the Affordable Care Act. There are 100,000 Ohio seniors who have gotten major savings on their prescription drugs through the Affordable Care Act. One million Ohio seniors have had osteoporosis screenings, diabetes screenings, physicals with no copays and no deductible, and preventive care so they don’t get sick, saving the healthcare system money, saving taxpayers’ dollars, and making their lives better.

On the other side of the aisle, all of whom have good insurance paid for by taxpayers, want to take it away from them.

Almost any day you could look down the hall—you can open this door and walk down the hall, look down the hall, and you will see the healthcare lobbyists, the drug company lobbyists, the tobacco lobbyists, and the gun lobbyists. You will see one another walking back and forth in the Senate office, Senator MCCONNELL. Every one of those lobbyists causes us to spend more dollars on health insurance. The health insurance lobby, the gun lobby, the tobacco lobby, the alcohol lobby, the sports lobby coming out of Kentucky—all of them cost taxpayers more because it means people’s health gets worse because they don’t stand up to these interest groups.

We know what is happening in Texas. A partisan judge, an absolutely partisan hack of a judge, ruled in December to strike down the Affordable Care Act. I know Justice Roberts said we don’t talk about Obama judges or Bush judges or Clinton judges or Trump judges, that is not how we do it, and that is what Supreme Court Chief Justice Roberts says, but we know what has happened here. We know how Senator MCCONNELL is looking for the most extreme and young judges possible to put on the court to go after healthcare. To go after voting rights, to go after healthcare, costing our citizens their health and costing citizens billions of dollars.

We know the President wants to get rid of the entire Affordable Care Act. If President Trump gets his way, if the court decides to wipe it off the books, to take away the entire healthcare law, here is what happens: tax credits to help you afford your health insurance—gone; protections for preexisting conditions—gone.

Right now, 5 million Ohioans have a preexisting condition. Most of the rest of us will have a preexisting condition at some time in our lives. It is called aging, when people are more likely to develop illnesses and get sick.

So consumer protections built in by Obama, built in by the Affordable Care Act so insurance companies can’t deny you coverage, and they can’t say: “Sorry, we are not going to insure you.” Or “You already have insurance”—and they will take the insurance away if you just happen to get too sick and you cost the private insurance companies too much money—gone. Republicans in this body and President Trump want to take those protections away.

The ability to stay on your parents’ health insurance until you are 26—gone. We know what that has meant to so many of those families. If my colleagues would leave this building, leave their foreign travel, leave their nice homes that most of us have in our States and get out and listen to people, they will hear people say: Well, this is really important to my 26-year-old sister or my 26-year-old daughter or my 27-year-old son.

Ohio’s entire Medicaid expansion that Republican Governor Kasich did—gone. Limits on how much you pay out-of-pocket each year—gone. Many more affordable prescription drugs for seniors through closing the doughnut hole under the Affordable Care Act, if they get their way—gone. Preventive services, like mammograms and bone density screenings for Medicare beneficiaries—millions of them in my State and tens of millions of them in the country—gone. The list goes on.

There are 5 million Ohioans under 65 who have preexisting conditions. That is half the population of our State. I am not being an alarmist. We know this is what so many of you who were in the House earlier voted on and again to try to repeal the Affordable Care Act. You had no replacement. You said you did, but there was no replacement for the Affordable Care Act. It was the repeal of the Affordable Care Act, taking away all of these benefits that tens and tens of million Americans benefited from.

These Ohioans have been able to rest a little easier knowing they can’t be turned down for healthcare coverage or have their rates skyrocket because a child has asthma, because a husband has diabetes, because a wife was diagnosed with breast cancer, but this case intentionally puts all of that at risk.

President Trump has thrown the whole power and all of the attorneys—the battery of lawyers—in the Justice Department into this case to try to take the away the Affordable Care Act. That is what he promised in his campaign; that is what all these Republican Members of the Senate promised; and that is what all the Republican Members of the House promised. Do you know what? A lot of them lost last year because they want to take their insurance away. They are not doing it through Congress because that might be politically risky. They don’t want to do that. They are trying to do it through the court system and then blame who knows for what this.

In Columbus, I met Susan Halpern. Ms. Halpern is a cancer survivor. She is pictured here. She told me this: As a breast cancer survivor and self-employed small business owner in Ohio—

Creating jobs—
I depend on the ACA for my healthcare. I am aware that without the ACA, I would not be able to purchase health insurance for any price. Even though my cancer has been in complete remission for 12 years, I would still be uninsurable.

These stories from Michigan that Senator STABENOW tells, from Washington State that Senator MURRAY just told, that Senator KAINDE told, that Senator MURPHY has told, and that Senator BLUMENTHAL has told go on and on. These are all cases where people have insurance, and a bunch of people in this body, all of whom get insurance through their employers—trying to take it away from them. All of these benefits are gone, thanks to the lobbyists lining up in Senator MCCONNELL’s office from the gun lobby, the tobacco lobby, the insurance lobby, the spirits lobby, and all the rest.

Last week, in Cleveland, I met Maya Brown-Zimmerman, who pointed out to me that I had met her many years before when she was a student in high school. She went to the same school with my daughter. I met her at a school event once. She has a rare genetic disorder that one of her four children also inherited. Here is what she said:

I cried the day the ACA was passed because it meant stability for my family. No life-time caps on medical coverage, and the guaran-tee of being able to get health insurance even if something were to happen to my hus-band’s job.

She went on: Whether or not my family loses these protections literally keeps me awake at night.

Think about that. Think about the selfishness of my Republican colleagues, of President Trump, and of the people in this administration—all the Justice Department lawyers, and all these judges. Think about their selfishness. They have a political agenda, and they are keeping Ms. Brown-Zimmerman awake at night because she worries about her insurance. Think about the moral responsibility of that.

She said: I want our elected officials to remember we can’t predict when we will need to access the healthcare system and so access to healthcare is an issue that is going to affect us all.

There are not too many people who are not able to sleep in this body. There were not too many people who were not able to sleep in the House as they were all voting to repeal the Affordable Care Act. That doesn’t seem to cross their mind, but it crosses the minds of millions of people in Detroit, in Ann Harbor, in Cleveland, and in Mansfield.

Yesterday, in Cleveland, I met Maya Brown-Zimmerman, whom I just talked about. She said: ‘I have been in treatment centers in the country. I sat with a man and his daughter. He put his hand gently on his daughter’s arm. He looked at me, and he said: “Senator, my daughter would be dead if it were not for Medicaid.”’ He said: “My daughter would be dead if it were not for Medicaid.”

Yet Federal judges—Trump-appointed judges and Bush-appointed judges—and Republican Senators, all of whom get health insurance from the Federal Government, from taxpayers, are apparently willing to have that on the table. They are willing to work to repeal the Affordable Care Act with no real replacement. That matters in the life of Ms. Halpern. That matters in the life of Mrs. Brown-Zimmerman, whom I just talked about. That matters in the life of the gentleman in Cincinnati who talked to me about his daughter.

The President wants to make it hard-er for Ohioans to get that care. I don’t know how Members of this Congress and this President—all with good insurance that is paid for by taxpayers—can support dismantling this lifeline that so many Americans rely on. I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Michigan.

Ms. STABENOW. Madam President, I first want to thank my friend and colleague from Ohio for his passion and for caring so deeply, as we all do in our caucus, fighting for people’s healthcare.

It seems every week I am down on the Hill saying exactly the same thing: Healthcare is personal; it is not political. Healthcare is personal to every single person in Michigan; it is not political.

Whether a senator is able to afford the medication she needs to treat her chronic condition, that is personal. Whether a single dad is able to take his children to a trusted doctor when they get sick or hurt and keep them on his policy until age 26, that is personal. Whether a woman is charged more for the health insurance coverage she needs to detect cancer early enough so it can be cured, that is personal.

Unfortunately, the law that helps senators afford their healthcare, ensuring children can remain on their parents’ insurance until age 26, requires health insurance policies to charge women the same as a man and to cover lifesaving, preventive care, that law is currently in the intensive care unit on life support.

As we know, since 2010, Senate and House Republicans have voted to repeal or undermine the Affordable Care Act more than 100 different times. That didn’t sit right with them.

Whether a woman is charged more for the health insurance coverage she needs to detect cancer early enough so it can be cured, that is personal.

Unfortunately, the law that helps senators afford their healthcare, ensuring children can remain on their parents’ insurance until age 26, requires health insurance policies to charge women the same as a man and to cover lifesaving, preventive care, that law is currently in the intensive care unit on life support.

What Republicans couldn’t do in Congress, they are trying to do through the courts. Today, literally, the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals begins hearing arguments in a case brought by 18 different Republican attorneys general and Governors.

In short, these 18 Republican attorneys general and Governors, backed by the Trump administration and President Trump, are trying to take away your healthcare. If they win, for Ohioans to get could be completely overturned and healthcare taken away. That would take everything away, including Medicaid expansion, which we call Healthy Michigan. In Michigan, we have about 700,000 people getting healthcare now who don’t have to pick up the tab and getting healthcare. They can do both. Children staying on their parents’ insurance plans until age 26—gone. More affordable drugs for seniors—gone. Protections for people with preexisting conditions—gone.

In other words, it would put insurance companies back in charge of your healthcare, and we all remember what that was like.

Women could once again be charged more for coverage and have to get a rider if they want to get maternity care coverage and prenatal care coverage. Remember when being a woman was considered a preexisting condition? I do. Members of my family are women.

Families could once again face yearly or lifetime caps on care when they need it the most, when you think about it.

If the Affordable Care Act is repealed through the courts, the insurance companies would once again be able to say to your doctor: You know, I don’t think she really needs 10 cancer treatments or 12 cancer treatments, so we will pay for 5. If addiction treatment or mental health treatment is needed, they could say: I don’t think you really need to have more than two sessions if you are an addict. Come on. Today, the doctor decides, with you, what you need in terms of number of treatments, and the insurance should pay for it.

As I mentioned, nearly 700,000 people in my State are getting healthcare through Healthy Michigan or Medicaid expansion, and they could lose that. In fact, they will lose that. Our uninsured rate has fallen from 12 percent before the Affordable Care Act to 5 percent. So 12 percent of people were not insured at all, and now it is 5 percent. I would call that a success. Is there more that should be done? Yes. But that is positive, not negative.

The number of people without insurance who have been treated has fallen by 50 percent in Michigan—50 percent. And that is great for all of us. It is certainly great for hospitals that were treating people without insurance before. Someone walks into the emergency room and gets care in the most expensive way, and they don’t have insurance.

What happens? Everybody else’s insurance rates go up. That is what happened when people were able to get their own insurance coverage, insurance rates went down. In fact, we had over $400 million in Michigan that was put into the State government as a savings as a result of not paying for healthcare decisions of hospitals.

A record 97 percent of Michigan children can see a doctor now when they get sick—97 percent. I would argue that is a great success, not something to be taken away or something to play politics with.

Michigan seniors are saving money on their prescription drugs through the Medicare Part D Program—something called the doughnut hole, the gap in coverage that the law was written to close. More than half of our families in Michigan, which includes people with preexisting conditions, are now able to get coverage. The insurance companies can’t say no, and they can’t say: When you get sick, you are going to be dropped. They can’t deny you from getting the coverage you need if you have a preexisting condition.

One of those people in Michigan is Heidi. She was diagnosed with breast cancer. When I first came to the Senate, she gave a beautiful, strong speech next year. When I stood on the floor, a lot of people who had cancer and long-term conditions, in this case, hereditary cancer, could say: I will take that hundred dollars a month and spend it on medicine against other necessities, food bill against their medicine bill. They were unable to do that in the past 6 months. Americans are forced to make life-threatening choices.

Today, lawyers representing the Trump administration and a number of Republican Governors are attempting to have the Affordable Care Act ripped up and thrown out by a Federal court in the Fifth Circuit. They were unable to do that in the Congress, so now they have headed off to try to get it done in the courts. The case is happening in the Fifth Circuit. Is this not some theoretical exercise? Is this not some immediate threat to the healthcare of millions and millions of Americans?

I want to be clear at the outset of this that the bottom line is: When this happens, it is likely that complicit healthcare policy debates are not exactly a central topic of conservation. I am pretty sure that is the way the Republican Party wants it to be.

Today, lawyers representing the Trump administration and a number of Republican Governors are attempting to have the Affordable Care Act ripped up and thrown out by a Federal court in the Fifth Circuit. They were unable to do that in the Congress, so now they have headed off to try to get it done in the courts. The case is happening in the Fifth Circuit. Is this not some theoretical exercise? Is this not some immediate threat to the healthcare of millions and millions of Americans?

I want to be clear at the outset of these remarks what the bottom line is. The bottom line is that eliminating protections for preexisting conditions is now the official position of the Republican Party. That is the centerpiece of what this court case attacks—the ironclad, airtight guarantee at the heart of the Affordable Care Act that insurance companies cannot discriminate against those with a preexisting condition. The fact is, the Republican Party wants that eliminated.

This attack on Americans’ healthcare goes way beyond preexisting conditions. What about prescription drug costs? Prescription drugs are outrageously expensive right now, and the problem is getting worse under the Trump administration. Prices are up more than 10 percent in the past 6 months. Americans are forced to make life-threatening choices where they really have to balance their food bill against their medicine bill and medicine against other necessities, like shelter. In effect, Americans self-ration because their prescriptions just cost too much.

If this lawsuit succeeds, prescription drug costs are going to skyrocket even higher. If the Affordable Care Act is thrown out, that will be the end of the requirement that health insurance companies have to cover prescription drugs. Patients will be forced into junk insurance plans that don’t cover the care they actually need. Millions of people who were healthy and people who were wealthy. The Affordable Care Act changed that. More than 100 million people got a lifeline protection against discrimination if they had a preexisting condition. If the lawsuit succeeds, the biggest winners are going to be the largest of the insurance companies and the drug manufacturers. They would get the power they never once again walk all over the American people.

Here is the kicker: There is no replacement plan if the Affordable Care Act is wiped out. The President keeps saying, the days of yesteryear when healthcare was for the healthy and the wealthy. The reason I say that is that it is written on, and standing four-square behind protecting people with a preexisting condition.

That is what the Senate ought to be working on so the Trump administration can’t bring on a healthcare nightmare for millions and millions of Americans.

One of our most valuable members of the Senate Finance Committee has joined us now, Senator CORTEZ MASTO, and I am happy to yield to her to close our time before the vote.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Nevada.

Ms. CORTEZ MASTO. Madam President, I want to talk today about Kyle Bailey from Sparks, NV. Kyle is 27 years old, and he is an amazing success story. He was born with cystic fibrosis, a genetic condition that affects the lungs and digestive system, making it hard to breathe normally or absorb nutrients.

Cystic fibrosis has no cure, so patients like Kyle spend hours every day on treatments to keep themselves as healthy as possible. With good medical care and lifesaving medications, he has been able to live a full life, creating music and artwork. He is engaged to be married.

Yet Kyle lives in fear. He is afraid he will lose his health insurance and coverage for treatments that keep him alive. That could happen if the Republican Party succeeds in its latest attempt to use the courts to attack the Affordable Care Act and to end its protections for preexisting conditions.

Just today, a Federal appeals court has heard more arguments about whether the ACA is constitutional. On one side are patients like Kyle; on the other side are the Trump administration and 18 Republican State attorneys general, who all want the court to strike down the Affordable Care Act.

We have seen this before. The Republicans have tried to defeat the ACA in Congress and in the courts over 100 times, and each time they have failed because the American people have raised their voices and said: Stop, we want our healthcare back.

But just because the ACA survived those attacks doesn’t mean it is safe. It is especially scary for those who gained coverage and peace of mind thanks to the Affordable Care Act’s strong safeguards for patients.

One of the most important parts of the ACA is its guaranteed protections for people with preexisting conditions. Insurers used to be able to discriminate against people because of their medical history. They would weed out people who were born with genetic conditions, like Kyle, or people who had gotten seriously ill, like Ivy Batmale from Incline Village. At 5 years old, Ivy was diagnosed with acute lymphoblastic leukemia, one of the most common forms of childhood leukemia, but the years of harsh therapy triggered a reaction that affected her legs. Ivy was told that she would never walk again. She spent years in wheelchairs undergoing surgery and other treatments.

With costly therapies, Ivy got better.

This spring, she and her family marched into breakfast with me right here on Capitol Hill to advocate for childhood cancer research. But Ivy, like other cancer survivors, has had lingering health conditions over the course of her life and will need careful monitoring until she is 40 years old. That is why if Republicans give in on insurance companies the choice, insurers will either refuse to cover people like Ivy and Kyle or they will charge sky-high rates. The ACA keeps the insurance companies from doing that. If judges strike down the ACA, people like Ivy and Kyle will be endangered through absolutely no fault of their own.

Some people may hear stories about Kyle and Ivy and think, well, that is very sad, but it can’t affect that many people. That is wrong. In Nevada alone, in 2015, 1.2 million people under 65 had preexisting conditions. That is half of the nonelderly residents of the State.

A preexisting condition could be as rare as childhood cancer or as common as pregnancy. That means every other Nevadan could face increased insurance rates if the ACA is struck down.

I have met families at roundtables across the Silver State whose kids are some of the 44,000 Nevada children with asthma. Just last week in Las Vegas, I talked to 12-year-old Joey Douglas. Joey’s asthma often keeps him from school and sometimes lands him in the hospital for days. He told me that even when he is struggling to breathe, his biggest concern is whether his mom will be able to pay his medical bills.

These kinds of worries are the reason that when Kyle wrote to me, he asked me to speak out for people who don’t have a voice in healthcare policy in this country—people who are afraid that losing the ACA could mean losing protections that have allowed them to grow up, start a family, follow their passions, and live their lives to the fullest.

Every day and every day I am here to fight for people like Kyle and Ivy and countless Nevadans like them. I have repeatedly urged the President and Department of Justice to come down on the side of patients in the Texas case. I have cosponsored legislation to get rid of junk healthcare plans that let insurance companies make an end run around ACA protections for people with preexisting conditions, and I am committed to protecting and strengthening the ACA for all Americans but especially for people like Kyle, Ivy, and Joey.

So I am calling on this President and Republicans in Congress to do what we can to make sure that the Affordable Care Act is not repealed and that we are working for healthcare insurance for everyone.

I yield the floor.

NOMINATION OF DANIEL AARON BRESS

Mr. DURBIN. Madam President, this week, the Republican leader, Senator MCCONNELL, has scheduled a vote on a nominee to fill a Ninth Circuit seat based in California.

But the nominee, Daniel Bress, is a Washington, DC, lawyer who has only lived in California for 1 year since high school.

Mr. Bress checks many of the usual boxes that we see for Republican judicial nominees: He is very young—only 40 years old—he has a track record of representing big corporate interests, and he is a longtime member of the Federalist Society.

But what is new and different about this nominee is that, by any reasonable standard, he is not a member of the legal community of the State in which he would sit if confirmed.

Mr. Bress is listed by the California bar as an out-of-State attorney. He belongs to no legal societies or organizations in California. He has only worked on a handful of matters in California courts.

He doesn’t own property in California or even have a California driver’s license. Mr. Bress’s nomination is opposed by California’s two Senators, neither of whom has had an opportunity to opposed it.

He was reported out of the Judiciary Committee with opposition from all committee Democrats.

To my Republican colleagues, I say this: The vote on the Bress nomination will set a precedent that could come back to haunt your State.

Any Senator who votes to confirm Mr. Bress is giving their blessing to a process that could cause an out-of-state attorney to be seated in a circuit court judgeship in your own State, over the objection of your State’s Senators.

There are thousands of well-qualified attorneys living and practicing in California whom the Trump administration could have selected for this California-based Ninth Circuit seat. They by-passed us in favor of a Washington, DC, attorney with minimal California ties.

There have been many breakdowns in the Senate’s process for confirming judicial nominees under this Republican majority. If the Senate votes to confirm Mr. Bress, it would represent yet another new precedent that diminishes the Senate’s advice and consent process. I urge my colleagues to vote no.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. CAS- SIDDY). The Clerk from Florida. ORDER OF PROCEDURE

TRIBUTE TO MARY BALLARD

Mr. McCONNELL. Madam President, it is always a privilege to honor the men and women of America’s Greatest Generation. They defended our national values both at home and abroad, and we owe each one of them a tremendous debt of gratitude for their service and sacrifice. Today, I would like to recognize one of these intrepid America... game. I am glad to join her family and friends in marking Mary’s 100th birthday. With her lifesaving work in the Army and a longtime commitment to Kentucky, Mary has made a lasting impression on the lives of countless many. With all of them, I would like to wish her a happy birthday and thank her for her remarkable service to the United States. I urge my Senate colleagues to join me in honoring this Kentucky hero.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

TRIBUTE TO MYKAYLAN BURNER

- Mr. ROUNDS. Madam President, today I recognize Mykaylan Burner, an intern in my Washington, DC, office, for all the hard work she has done on behalf of myself, my staff, and the State of South Dakota.

Mykaylan is a graduate of Dakota Valley High School in North Sioux City, SD. Currently, she is attending South Dakota State University in Brookings, SD, where she studies political science and Spanish. Mykaylan is a dedicated and diligent worker who has been devoted to getting the most out of her internship experience and has been a true asset to the office.

I extend my sincere thanks and appreciation to Mykaylan for all of the fine work she has done and wish her continued success in the years to come.

RECOGNIZING CAPITAL SHOE FIXERY

- Mr. RUBIO. Madam President, as chairman of the Senate Committee on Small Business and Entrepreneurship, it is my honor to recognize a small business that exemplifies a rigorous work ethic, attention to detail, and dedication to tradition. This week, it is my privilege to name Capital Shoe Fixery of Tallahassee, FL, as the Senate Small Business of the Week.

Known for their expertise in shoe maintenance, Capital Shoe Fixery has become a local staple, servicing the members of their community since 1938. Having celebrated their 81st anniversary, the small business has become a landmark in the State’s capital and remains a true Main Street favorite. Originally owned by Elton and June Henley, Nick Camechis’s father, John, bought the business in 1966. After school, Nick spent his days helping his father around the store and learning the trade. Following the precedent of hard work and tradition, Nick took over the business in 1995. To this day, Nick expands on his father’s longstanding tradition of fairly priced, high-quality craftsmanship. Recently turning 65, this shoe cobbler has no current plans to retire, working 70 hours a week with no sick days.

Today, Capital Shoe Fixery remains family-oriented and affordable, providing only the highest quality of work to their customers. When customers arrive, they are greeted by Nick’s dog, Trick, who oversees a day of work. Capital Shoe Fixery will take in approximately 60 to 70 shoes a day during a typical legislative session. Furthermore, Nick is known for his honesty with customers and will decline new business if he feels that the damaged shoes are irreparable.

This outstanding quality of service and honesty by Capital Shoe Fixery has not gone unnoticed. In addition to their excellent reviews, in 2016, Capital Shoe Fixery was featured in Tallahassee Family Magazine, where the family-owned business was commended for their work ethic and attention to detail. The article truly cemented Capital Shoe Fixery as a Main Street staple, highlighting its unique traits that allow for remarkable customer experiences.

Capital Shoe Fixery has remained true to their original values by focusing on quality service with an expert investment of time, care, and honesty to prioritize the customer. In addition, it is a reminder of the extensive amount of time and care required to achieve success and longevity in business. Nick’s dedication is a quintessential example of how hard work can lead to exceptional success. It is with great pleasure that I extend my congratulations to Nick and Capital Shoe Fixery. I wish you well as you continue serving the people of Tallahassee, and I look forward to watching your continued success.

MEASURES READ THE FIRST TIME

The following bills were read the first time:

- H.R. 2740. An act making appropriations for the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education, and related agencies for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2020, and for other purposes.
- H.R. 3055. An act making appropriations for the Departments of Commerce and Justice, Science, and Related Agencies for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2020, and for other purposes.

EXECUTIVE AND OTHER COMMUNICATIONS

The following communications were laid before the Senate, together with accompanying materials, and documents, and were referred as indicated:

- EC-1860. A communication from the Acting Principal Deputy Director, Defense Pricing and Contracting, Department of Defense, transmitting, pursuant to law, the report of a rule entitled “Defense Federal Acquisition Regulation Supplement: Repeal of Transporation, Handling, and Related Instructions and Clauses” (RIN0750–AK58) (DFARS Case 2019–D020)) received during adjournment of the Senate in the Office of the President of the Senate on July 2, 2019, to the Committee on Armed Services.

PETITIONS AND MEMORIALS

The following petitions and memorials were laid before the Senate and were referred or ordered to lie on the table as indicated:

- POM-102. A joint resolution adopted by the Legislature of the State of California urging the United States Congress to block the President’s national emergency declaration by overriding the President’s veto of House Joint Resolution 46 and overriding the declaration of a national emergency within six months or at the earliest possible time pursuant to the National Emergencies Act, to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

- SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 2. Whereas, On February 15, 2019, United States President Donald J. Trump declared a national emergency in the United States and designated the State of California as the area affected; and

Whereas, The President intends to cut $7.5 billion in the United States Department of Defense’s funding targeted at the general welfare of our military, supporting infrastructure construction, defending national security threats, and limiting the flow of illegal drugs into the United States; and

Whereas, Appropriating funds intended for military construction projects and counterdrug activities will come at the expense of troop readiness and departmentwide efforts to address the military’s aging infrastructure and

Whereas, Funds would otherwise be used to improve water and other infrastructure, update maintenance and storage facilities for military vehicles, build new combat training facilities, construct a shooting range complex, and build a close combat training facility, located at the Navy SEAL Campus in Coronado, California; and

Whereas, Dollars would also otherwise be used for renovating the Defense Distribution Depot located in Tracy, California; and

Whereas, The President is proposing to revalue money already appropriated for updating runways and landing pads, as increased airfield security, at the Naval Air Station in Lemoore, California; and

WHEREAS, Funds would otherwise be used to construct a Navy SEAL reserve training facility in San Diego, California; and

Whereas, Money would otherwise be used for improving family housing projects to remove lead paint and update hazardous living conditions in service members’ homes; and

WHEREAS, The funds would otherwise be used to fund a C-130 flight training facility at the Channel Islands Air National Guard Station in Oxnard, California, which would train pilots to fly planes outfitted with Modul-Airborne Pods that are used to combat wildfires in California; and
Whereas, The national emergency declaration diverts attention from current emergencies that pose real dangers to the health and welfare of California’s environment at our border with Mexico; especially on the Tijuana River Valley and the New River in Calexico; and

Whereas, Dollars that would otherwise be used to fund international programs that treat wounded soldiers will be misused, placing even greater constraints on the moneys available for this purpose; and

Whereas, The President has also stated that he expects to use this national emergency declaration to revert and repurpose funds already approved by the United States Congress to allow the flow of drugs into the United States; and

Whereas, These funds were earmarked to combat the flow of drugs in West Africa, Mexico, and Colombia, and nations acting as drug cartels, such as North Korea; and

Whereas, In recent years, a substantial amount of counternarcotics funding has been used to stem the increasing tide of fentanyl being imported from China; and

Whereas, Controlled substances are more likely to be smuggled through official ports of entry than between border crossings; and

Whereas, Cutting drug interdiction funding will not deter the passage of controlled substances through the United States border, but will hamper counterdrug efforts in areas where the funds could make a meaningful impact; and

Whereas, The United States Department of Defense has roughly $1 billion earmarked for counternarcotic missions and drug interdiction for the 2019 fiscal year, and yet the Trump Administration has asked for $2.5 billion from the counternarcotic fund; and

Whereas, The Pentagon will have to divert money from the counternarcotic fund to appropriate funding to come with the extra $1.5 billion, negatively affecting our nation’s ability to effectively and efficiently combat the flow of drugs into our borders; and

Whereas, This nation needs to continue to repair and strengthen our military and redirecting funds needed for this purpose will undercut our accomplishments and underfund our operations; and

Whereas, Numerous news reports indicate that the President is considering reallocation of appropriated disaster relief and aid, including $2.4 billion appropriated to the State of California, the diversion of which will severely hurt communities already suffering as a result of natural disasters; and

Whereas, By the President’s own admission in regard to the national emergency declaration, he “didn’t need to do this”; and

Whereas, On February 26, 2019, the United States House of Representatives passed House Resolution 46 by a vote of 245–105, pursuant to the federal National Emergencies Act, to overturn President Trump’s emergency declaration and the United States Senate followed suit on March 14, 2019. On the following day, the President vetoed the resolution; and

Whereas, Twenty states, including California, have filed suit to block the President’s national emergency declaration; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the President should reconsider his motives and decide whether to allow military, defense, and counterdrug funds to be used for purposes not intended for those funds, and for which they were made available; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate transmit a copy of this resolution to the President and the Vice President of the United States, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, to the Majority Leader of the United States Senate, and to the Majority Representative from California in the Congress of the United States.

Senate Resolution No. 75

Whereas, Each member of the United States Armed Forces serves our country to provide a safer, more secure, and more prosperous America; and, in 2015, there were over one million active duty members of the Armed Forces; and

Whereas, If a service member sustains an injury or illness while on active duty, they may be discharged and return home to pursue higher educational opportunities; and

Whereas, Many service members embrace the opportunity to pursue higher education through the various tuition assistance programs and college funds offered to service members, which may be used in combination with federal and private student loans to pay for the cost of college; and

Whereas, If a service member loses his or her life as a result of an injury or illness sustained while on active duty, the federal education loans are forgiven under the Higher Education Act and private loan companies can choose to forgive the education loans; and

Whereas, When an educational loan is forgiven, the Internal Revenue Code categorizes the amount of the loan forgiven as income for a cosigner on the loan, which can include both family and friends of the deceased service member; and

Whereas, Taxing loan forgiveness as income can be burdensome to family members and friends especially during a time when they are grieving the loss of their loved one; and

Whereas, Families of veterans who lost their lives as a result of an injury or illness sustained while serving on active duty have already sacrificed so much for the United States; and

Whereas, [The federal bill H.R. 500, named the “Andrew P. Carpenter Tax Act,”] it is al- ready pending the House of Representatives to enact legislation, similar to H.R. 500 of the 115th Congress, that would amend the Internal Revenue Code to prevent the Internal Revenue Serv- ice from collecting taxes on any amount of student loan forgiven; and

Whereas, The [federal bill will] legislation would help to ease the financial burden for individuals who are already grieving for the loss of their loved one; Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of New Jersey:

1. This House respectfully urges the Presi- dent and Congress of the United States to enact [H.R. 500] legislation which amends the Internal Revenue Code to prevent the Internal Revenue Service from collecting taxes on any amount of student loan forgiven for deceased veterans.

Copies of this resolution, as filed with the Secretary of State, shall be transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to the Presi- dent and Vice President of the United States, the United States Secretary of De- fense, the Majority and Minority Leader of the United States Senate, the Speaker and the Minority Leader of the United States House of Representatives, and every member of Congress from New Jersey.

POM-105. A resolution adopted by the Sen- ate of the State of Hawai’i urging the United States Congress to embrace the goals of the New York Declaration on Forests and the 2015 Paris Agreement and make sustainable develop- ment the centerpiece of national social and sustainable policies; to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Senate Resolution No. 98

Whereas, Hawaii is recognized as a global pioneer in local and worldwide initiatives for peace, climate change adaptation, and human rights due to its adoption of global standards of social justice to improve the well-being of Hawai‘i's islands and the world; and Whereas, in September 2015, the United Nations General Assembly adopted the historic Transforming Our World: The 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development (2030 Agenda), a comprehensive, compassionate, creative, and courageous plan of action to protect the planet, and ensure that all people enjoy peace and prosperity; and Whereas, the 2030 Agenda includes seventeen Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), one hundred sixty-nine Targets, and two hundred thirty Indicators upon which general agreement has been reached to measure, monitor, and motivate; and Whereas, the Hawaiian islands are home to forests that play a pivotal role in Hawai‘i's natural environment, both historically and for future generations, by providing watershed, soil, and habitat protection; and Whereas, Hawai‘i’s forests cover two million acres, approximately half of the entire land mass of Hawai‘i, and Hawai‘i has a strong commitment to protecting, managing, and natural regeneration of its forests; and Whereas, forests are critically important to local culture, the people, and the perpetuation of pristine environments and provide aesthetic value, enjoyment, water conservation, and economic opportunities; and Whereas, the New York Declaration on Forests (NYDF) provides a proactive and participatory human rights based approach to protect and restore forests that supports the scope and significance of the United Nations SDGs; and
Whereas, the NYDF was created and launched at the United Nations Climate Summit at United Nations Headquarters in September, 2014, receiving endorsements by two hundred entities including governments, corporations, civil society, and indigenous peoples; and
Whereas, the NYDF outlines ten global targets related to protecting and restoring forests, which, if realized, have the potential to reduce annual carbon emission by 4.5 to 8.8 billion tons of CO2—the equivalent of the annual emissions of the United States; and Whereas, the ten goals of the NYDF are:
(1) Stop forest loss;
(2) Eliminate deforestation from agricultural products and commodities; and
(3) Reduce non-agricultural deforestation;
(4) Support alternatives to deforestation for subsistence farming, fuel, and other basic needs;
(5) Restore forests;
(6) Quantify forest conservation and restoration targets for 2030 as part of the 2030 Agenda SDGs;
(7) Reduce emissions from deforestation and forest degradation in accordance with global climate agreements;
(8) Provide financial incentives for action;
(9) Reward countries and jurisdictions that reduce forest emissions; and (10) Recognize the rights of indigenous peoples; and
Whereas, adopting the NYDF can accelerate public awareness and participation to achieve the United Nations Paris Agreement and the United Nations 2030 Agenda; and Whereas, the ten goals of the NYDF coincide with the SDGs and provide an agenda for grassroots and global action but it is up to individuals, communities, and states to generate the political will necessary to meet these goals.
Whereas, Hawai‘i is already participating in global efforts to empower and engage everywhere, to protect the planet and end poverty. Hawai‘i attended sessions of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change, the United Nations Human Rights Council, and the United Nations High Level Political Forum; and Whereas, in Hawai‘i, college, community, and capitol discussions on the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change Conference of Parties annual results and the United Nations High Level Political Forum follow-up and review of the SDGs contain- ed in the NYDF and how both sets of goals are being realized in the Hawaiian Islands and what next steps are needed to continue Hawai‘i’s forward momentum; and Whereas, adopting the NYDF in Hawai‘i will allow for greater coordination and com-unication between Hawai‘i and other NYDF jurisdictions to embrace the NYDF’s practical and support further improvements for Hawai‘i’s forests; and Whereas, adopting the NYDF will link Hawai‘i’s forest practitioners to a global network with relevant expertise and capacity to support the implementation of the forest elements of commitments under the Paris Agreement that; Now, therefore, be it Resolved by the Senate of the Thirtieth Legislature of the State of Hawai‘i, Regular Session of 2019, that this body engages, endorses, accept, and adopt the New York Declaration on Forests; and, be it further Resolved that the Legislature urges federal leaders and the nation to embrace the goals of the NYDF and the 2030 Agenda and make sustainable development the cornerstone of national social and sustainable policies; and be it further Resolved that certified copies of this Reso-lsion be transmitted to the President of the United States, Vice President of the United States, Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, Minority Leader of the United States House of Representatives, Majority Leader of the United States Senate, Minority Leader of the United States Senate, Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, members of Hawaii’s congressional delegation, United Nations Secretary General, United Nations General Assembly President, United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights, NYDF Platform Secretariat, Executive Secretary of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change, United Nations High Level Political Forum, and mayors of each county.

Whereas, Hawai‘i is recognized as a global partner and local leader in promoting human rights to create a culture of democracy, rule of law, and protection of the planet through its adoption of global and regional standards to guide decisionmaking on policies and protection of our islands and the planet; and Whereas, Hawai‘i is guided by traditional Hawaiian values and emerging international democratic movements to create good governance, ensure participation in policy making and protection of our islands and the planet; and Whereas, in September 2015, the United Nations General Assembly adopted the historic 2030 Development Agenda entitled “Transforming Our World: The 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development”; a comprehensive, compassionate, and courageous plan of action to end poverty, protect the planet, and ensure that all people enjoy peace and prosperity; and Whereas, in February 2015, the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change Conference of Parties agreed to the Paris Agreement, calling for the first time to limit future increases in the global average temperature to 1.5 degrees Celsius; and

Whereas, the Aarhus Convention consists of numerous articles covering ideas and coordinating implementation including the following:
(1) Access to Environmental Information;
(2) Collection and Dissemination of Environmental Information;
(3) Public Participation in Decisions on Specific Activities;
(4) Public Participation Concerning Plans, Programmes and Policies Relating to the Environment;
(5) Public Participation During the Prepa-ation of Executive Regulations and/or Generally Applicable Legally Binding Normative Instruments; and
(6) Access to Justice; and Whereas, the parties to the Aarhus Convention:
(1) Aimed to further accountability and transparency in decision making to strengthen public support for decisions on the environment;
(2) Recognized that there needs to be a full range of procedures for participation in environmental decision-making, have free access to the political process, and know how to exercise that access;
(3) Recognized the importance of respective roles for individual citizens, non-governmental organizations, and the private sector in environmental protection; and
(4) Desired to promote environmental education to further the understanding of the environment and sustainable development and to encourage widespread public awareness of and participation in decisions affecting the environment and sustainable development.

Resolved by the Senate of the Thirtieth Legislature of the State of Hawai‘i, Regular Session of 2019, that this body engages, enddorses, accepts, and adopts the Aarhus Convention; and be it further Resolved that the Congress of the United States is requested to consider adopting the Aarhus Convention and make protection of the environment and decision-making on environmental policies the centerpiece of national debate and practice; and
Resolved that certified copies of this Resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States, Vice President of the United States, Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, President Pro Tem of the United States Senate, Majority Leader of the United States House of Representatives, Minority Leader of the United States House of Representatives, Majority Leader of the United States Senate, Minority Leader of the United States Senate, Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, and Chairs of Hawai‘i’s Climate Change Mitigation and Ad-pation Commission.

POM-107. A concurrent resolution adopted by the Legislative Council of the State of Louisiana urging the United States Congress to take such actions as are necessary to recognize the historical significance of Juneteenth Independence Day to the United States and observe Juneteenth nationally as a holiday, to the Committee on the Judiciary.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 66
Whereas, news of the end of slavery did not reach frontier areas of the United States, and in particular the southwestern states, for more than two and a half years after President Lincoln’s Emancipation Proclamation, which was issued on January 1, 1863, and months after the conclusion of the Civil War; and

Whereas, Juneteenth is an annual observance and celebration of the date Union soldiers enforced the Emancipation Proclamation freeing all remaining slaves in Galveston, Texas, on June 19, 1865; and

Whereas, since 1865, the day has been celebrated by African-Americans as a day of freedom and of African-American culture, art, history, and achievement; and

Whereas, the celebration of the end of slavery is an important and enriching part of the history and heritage of the United States; and

Whereas, for more than one hundred fifty years, Juneteenth Independence Day celebrations have been held in African-American communities throughout our history, and is an opportunity to highlight the value of African-American culture, art, history, and achievement; and

Whereas, forty-six states and the District of Columbia have declared Juneteenth Independence Day as a special day of observance in recognition of the emancipation of all slaves in the United States; and

Whereas, in 1949, United States Congress officially recognized Juneteenth as the observance of Independence Day of Americans of African descent; and

Whereas, Juneteenth reflects our belief in liberty and equality for every citizen, as everyone can benefit from a greater understanding and appreciation of the experiences of others; whereas,

Resolved, That the Legislature of Louisiana does hereby memorialize the United States Congress to take such actions as are necessary to recognize the historical significance of Juneteenth Independence Day to the United States and observe Juneteenth nationally as a holiday; and be it further Resolved, that a copy of this Resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States of America and to each member of the Louisiana congressional delegation.

POM–108. A concurrent resolution adopted by the Legislature of the State of Louisiana urging the United States Congress to take such actions as are necessary to authorize the garnishment of veterans’ disability benefits to fulfill child support obligations; to the Committee on Veterans’ Affairs.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 7

Whereas, Civil Code Article 224 provides that parents are obligated to support, maintain, and educate their child, and the obligation to educate a child continues after minority as provided by law; and

Whereas, § 5 CFR Part 581, Subpart A provides that monies received by a civilian employee for services rendered to a governmental entity are subject to garnishment for the purpose of enforcing the legal obligations of obligors to provide child support; and

Whereas, pursuant to 42 U.S.C. 659, the United States consents to the withholding and garnishing of income of an individual for the enforcement of the individual’s child support and alimony obligations; and

Whereas, 42 U.S.C. 659 further provides that the federal government will authorize under certain circumstances the garnishment of service-connected disability compensation paid by the Secretary of Veterans Affairs to former members of the armed forces for the purpose of enforcing child support and alimony obligations; and

Whereas, in United States v. Rose, 481 US 619 (1987), the Supreme Court held that not only could a state consider the amount of disability benefits received by a veteran in setting the amount of child support, but once a veteran’s child support obligation had been created, the veteran’s disability benefits could be used to satisfy that obligation; and

Whereas, in the Rose case, Justice Marshall, quoting the legislative record, describes the purpose of veterans’ disability benefits as compensation for impaired earning capacity, untimely and inadequate compensation for disabled veterans and their families; and

Whereas, as of February 2019, the current total for child support arrears in Louisiana is $1,923,958,949.00 and less than one percent of that amount has been collected; and

Whereas, adequate child support is vital to the well-being of children and families in our state; Therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Legislature of Louisiana does hereby memorialize the United States Congress to take such actions as are necessary to authorize the garnishment of veterans’ disability benefits to fulfill child support obligations; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this Resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States of America and to each member of the Louisiana congressional delegation.

POM–109. A resolution adopted by the Mayor and Council of the City of Cincinnati, Ohio, expressing its support for H.R. 5, the House version of the Equality Act of 2019, to assure that federal civil rights laws are fully inclusive of protections for all persons, regardless of sexual orientation or gender identity; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

STATEMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

By Mr. YOUNG:

S. 2063. A bill to amend title XI of the Social Security Act with respect to organ procurement organizations; to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. YOUNG. Mr. President, I rise today to discuss an issue that is very important to me and to the 1,300 Hoosiers currently in need of an organ transplant. That issue is the lack of organs for patients in need and our broken organ donation system.

For more than 30 years, our Nation's organ donation system has operated in complete darkness. Groups known as organ procurement organizations, or OPOs, are responsible for getting organs from the donors to the patients who need them, but questions surround the effectiveness, transparency, and accountability of these organizations.

OPOs are the main link between donors and organ recipients, and their performance can be a limiting factor for all stakeholders in the organ donation system.

In the last 20 years, no OPO has been decertified due to serious issues of underperformance. For example, CMS recently recertified the New York City OPO despite persistent underperformance for nearly a decade. This problem exists throughout the country.

Currently, OPO performance is measured by data that is self-reported, unverified, and fraught with errors. Many of these errors have been documented by Lenny Bernstein and Kimberly Kindy at the Washington Post.

That is why today I introduced legislation that would require organ procurement organizations to be held to metrics that are objective, verifiable, and not subject to self-interpreta tion. This way, there can be meaningful transparency, evaluation, and accountability. Updating these metrics will also establish clear, parity-based donation rates to be evaluated and improved. This is desperately needed for the more than 113,000 Americans currently waiting for a lifesaving transplant. The legislation I introduced today is supported by the American Society of Nephrology, Dialysis Patient Citizens, and the nonprofit group ORGANIZE. Additionally, in April of this year, I wrote to CMS Administrator Seema Verma urging CMS to update OPO metrics to be objective and verifiable.

I am hopeful that we will soon see action from the White House and the Department of Health and Human Services. You see, this issue is very personal to me. My friend Dave "Gunny" McFarland from Jeffersonville, IN, died because his heart transplant never came. We served together in the U.S. Marine Corps, and over the years, I have gotten to know his widow, Jennifer McFarland Kern. Jen has made it her mission to raise awareness about the organ transplant process and to help prevent others from facing a similar situation.

Because the system is so complex, most people don't know how it works or what is happening to the organs actually being protected. It is time to change that. Today's legislation is the first in a series of bills I am working on to reform our organ donation system once and for all and help save precious lives. I will not stop until we increase the availability of organs for patients in need.

Semper fidelis.

ENCOURAGING A SWIFT TRANSFER OF POWER BY THE MILITARY TO A CIVILIAN-LED POLITICAL AUTHORITY IN THE REPUBLIC OF THE SUDAN

Mr. THUNE. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the consideration of Calendar No. 106, S. Res. 188.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the resolution by title.

The bill clerk read as follows:

A resolution (S. Res. 188) encouraging a swift transfer of power by the military to a civilian-led political authority in the Republic of the Sudan, and for other purposes.

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the resolution, which had been reported from the Committee on Foreign Relations, with an amendment to strike all after the resolving clause and insert in lieu thereof the following:

Whereas the nation of Sudan has endured corrupt and brutal dictatorships for most of its post-independence period since 1956;

Whereas President Omar al-Bashir came to power through a military coup in 1989, and for the next 30 years he and his government were responsible for horrendous crimes in Sudan, especially in Darfur, South Kordofan, Blue Nile, and in what is now the Republic of South Sudan;

Whereas the United States Government designated Sudan a State Sponsor of Terrorism on August 12, 1993, for its support to international terrorist organizations and extremists, including elements of what would later be known as al Qaeda;

Whereas more than two decades of civil war between President al-Bashir’s government and insurgents in southern Sudan resulted in more than 2,000,000 deaths and led to the eventual independence of South Sudan in 2011;

Whereas on April 11, 2019, Sudan’s military removed President al-Bashir from office and arrested him, charged with the Constituion, dissolved the National Assembly, and imposed a three-month State of Emergency and nightly curfew;

Whereas Lt. General Abdel-Fattah al-Burhan, former general inspector of the Sudanese Armed Forces, who replaced Lt. General Ibn Auf on April 12, 2019, as the chairman of the Transitional Military Council, said on April 21, 2019, that the council was “ready to hand over power tomorrow to a civilian government agreed by political forces”;

Whereas the Rapid Support Forces, paramilitary forces led by Lt. General Mohammed Hamdan Dagolo, also known as “Hemeti”, a former Janjaweed leader who currently serves as the deputy chairman of the Transitional Military Council, have been implicated by the United Nations Panel of Experts in widespread violations of international humanitarian law that human rights groups suggest may amount to war crimes, and have also been accused of killing protesters during the recent uprising;

Whereas, the African Union Peace and Security Council convened on April 30, 2019, and reiterated its conviction that “a military-led transition to Sudan will be totally unacceptable and contrary to the will and legitimate aspirations” of the Sudanese people, expressed “deep regret” that the military had not stepped aside, and, negotiations were underway, demanded that the military hand over power to a civilian-led transitional authority within 60 days: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) supports the African Union Peace and Security Council’s initial two-week deadline urging a swift transfer of power by the military to a civilian-led political authority in Sudan that—

(a) has a civilian character and composition reflecting the will of the Declaration of Freedom and Change Forces leading negotiations on behalf of citizens; and

(b) immediately begins a transparent process leading to credible elections and security sector reforms;

(2) calls on the ruling authorities in Sudan to—

(A) respect the right to freedom of association and expression;

(B) protect the rights of opposition political parties, journalists, human rights defenders, religious minorities, nongovernmental organizations, and civic movements to operate without interference;

(C) lift the bureaucratic restrictions on and facilitate access for humanitarian relief operators;

(D) introduce strong measures to create transparency and address the structural corruption and kleptocracy of the state;

(E) pursue accountability for serious crimes and human rights abuses by President al-Bashir’s regime and elements of the security forces under the control of the Transitional Military Council; and

(F) release remaining political prisoners and refrain from arbitrary arrest, detention, and torture;

(3) urges the United States Government to support efforts to advance a peaceful transfer of power and a civilian-led transition period that creates the conditions under which timely democratic elections can be held that meet international standards and be overseen by credible domestic and international electoral observers, and for the peaceful resolution of Sudan’s conflicts;

(4) encourages the African Union and its member states to continue supporting the Sudanese people’s aspirations for democracy, justice, and peace;

(5) expresses concern that the participation in the transitional government of individuals who have been implicated in possible war crimes would undermine efforts to restore peace and democracy and pursue justice and accountability in Sudan;

(6) emphasizes that until a transition to a credible civilian-led government that reflects the aspirations of the Sudanese people is established, the process to consider removing Sudan from the State Sponsor of Terrorism List, lifting any other remaining sanctions on Sudan, or normalizing relations with the Government of Sudan will continue to be suspended; and

(7) stands in solidarity with the people of Sudan and their aspirations for a democratic, participatory government.

Mr. THUNE, Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the committee-reported amendment to the resolution be withdrawn; that the Cruz substitute amendment to the resolution at the desk be considered agreed to; that the resolution, as amended, be agreed to; that the committee-reported amendment to the preamble be withdrawn; that the Cruz committee-reported amendment to the preamble be withdrawn; that the resolution, as amended, was agreed to; that the amendment (No. 909) to the preamble was agreed to as follows:

(Purpose: To amend the preamble)

Strike the preamble and insert the following:

Whereas the United States Government designated Sudan as a State Sponsor of Terrorism on August 12, 1993, for its support to international terrorist organizations and extremists, including elements of what would later be known as al Qaeda;

Whereas in 2003, President al-Bashir’s government launched a ruthless crackdown against insurgents and civilians in Darfur, which killed at least 300,000 Sudanese and displaced 3,500,000 more people, prompting Congress and the Administration of President George W. Bush, in 2004, to describe the Government of Sudan’s actions in Darfur as genocide;

Whereas in 2011, when conflict resumed in South Kordofan and Blue Nile states, President al-Bashir’s government conducted indiscriminate attacks on villages and rampaged and killed civilians, and waged a campaign of forced starvation in the Nuba Mountains region of South Kordofan that displaced as many as 200,000 people;

Whereas, while the fighting between government forces and insurgents in Darfur has subsided since 2016, violent attacks against civilians continued and the right of access remains restricted in some opposition stronghold areas of Darfur, South Kordofan, and Blue Nile;

Whereas President al-Bashir remains the subject of 2 outstanding arrest warrants from the International Criminal Court based on charges that include 5 counts of crimes against humanity, 2 counts of war crimes, and 3 counts of genocide;

Whereas Sudan’s economic crisis risks bringing the national economy to total collapse and plunging the country into an end to President al-Bashir’s possible transition and press for a citizen-centered democratic transition;

Whereas women have played a prominent role in the Sudanese revolution and have helped to bring about the ouster of former President al-Bashir;

Whereas President al-Bashir’s government unlawfully detained and tortured hundreds of Sudanese during the protests, including political leaders, journalists, doctors, union leaders, youth and women leaders, in gross violation of international civil and human rights, some of whom remain in detention;

CHRISTA McAULIFFE COMMEMORATIVE COIN ACT OF 2019

Mr. THUNE. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs be discharged from further consideration of S. 239 and that the Senate proceed to its immediate consideration.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the bill by title.

The bill clerk read as follows:

A bill (S. 239) to require the Secretary of the Treasury to mint coins in recognition of Christa McAuliffe.

There being no objection, the committee was discharged, and the Senate proceeded to consider the bill.

Mr. THUNE. I further ask unanimous consent that the Shaheen amendment, which is at the desk, be considered and agreed to.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment (No. 907) was agreed to, as follows:

(Purpose: To improve the bill)

On page 4, line 13, strike “2020” and insert “2021”.

On page 5, line 6, strike “2020” and insert “2021”.

On page 5, line 7, strike “2020” and insert “2021”.

Mr. THUNE. I ask unanimous consent that the bill be considered read a third time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Without objection, it is so ordered.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading and was read the third time.

Mr. THUNE. I know of no further debate on the bill, as amended.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there further debate?

If not, the bill having been read the third time, the question is, Shall the bill pass?

The bill, as amended, was passed, as follows:

S. 239

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Christa McAuliffe Commemorative Coin Act of 2019”.

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

Congress finds the following:
(1) Christa McAuliffe was a social studies teacher at Concord High School in Concord, New Hampshire.

(2) In 1985, Christa McAuliffe was selected to be a participant in the Teacher in Space program of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

(3) On January 28, 1986, Christa McAuliffe and 6 other astronauts were tragically killed during the Space Shuttle Challenger disaster.

(4) In 1989, For Inspiration and Recognition of Science and Technology (in this Act referred to as “FIRST”) was founded to inspire young people’s interest and participation in science and technology.

(5) The mission of FIRST “is to inspire young people to be science and technology leaders, by engaging them in exciting mentor-based programs that build science, engineering, and technology skills, that inspire innovation, and that foster well-rounded life capabilities including self-confidence, communication, and leadership.”

(6) 2019 marks the 30th anniversary of the founding of FIRST.

(7) Each year, more than 1,000,000 children from the United States and more than 80 countries participate in a FIRST program.

(8) Studies have shown that alumni of FIRST programs are more likely to become scientists and engineers and to volunteer in their communities.

(9) FIRST is dedicated to carrying on the mission of Christa McAuliffe of inspiring students and bringing a new generation of dreamers and innovators.

(10) 2016 marked the 30th anniversary of the Space Shuttle Challenger tragedy.

SEC. 3. COIN SPECIFICATIONS.

(a) DENOMINATIONS.—In commemoration of Christa McAuliffe, the Secretary of the Treasury (hereafter referred to in this Act as the “Secretary”) shall mint and issue not more than 350,000 $1 coins, each of which shall—
(1) weigh 26.73 grams;
(2) have a diameter of 1.500 inches; and

(A) a designation of the value of the coin;
(B) an inscription of the year “2021”;
(C) an inscription of the words “Liberty”, “In God We Trust”, “United States of America”, and “E Pluribus Unum”.

(b) SELECTION.—The design for the coins minted under this Act shall be—
(1) selected by the Secretary, after consultation with the family of Christa McAuliffe, FIRST, and the Commission of Fine Arts; and
(2) reviewed by the Citizens Coinage Advisory Committee.

SEC. 5. ISSUANCE OF COINS.

(a) QUALITY OF COINS.—Coins minted under this Act shall be issued in uncirculated and proof qualities.

(b) MINT FACILITY.—Only 1 facility of the United States Mint may be used to strike any particular quality of the coins minted under this Act.

(c) PERIOD FOR ISSUANCE.—The Secretary may issue coins under this Act only during the period beginning on January 1, 2021, and ending on December 31, 2021.

SEC. 6. SALE OF COINS.

(a) SALE PRICE.—The coins issued under this Act shall be sold by the Secretary at a price equal to the sum of:
(1) the face value of the coins;
(2) the surcharge provided under section 7(a) with respect to the coins; and
(3) the cost of designing and issuing the coins, including—
(A) labor;
(B) materials;
(C) dies;
(D) use of machinery;
(E) overhead expenses;
(F) marketing; and
(G) shipping.

(b) BULK SALES.—The Secretary shall make bulk sales of the coins issued under this Act at a reasonable discount.

(c) PREPAID ORDERS.—
(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall accept prepaid orders for the coins minted under this Act before the issuance of the coins.

(2) DISCOUNT.—Sale prices with respect to prepaid orders under paragraph (1) shall be at a reasonable discount.

SEC. 7. SURCHARGES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—All sales of coins issued under this Act shall include a surcharge of $10 per coin.

(b) DISTRIBUTION.—Subject to section 5134(f)(2) of title 31, United States Code, and section 8(2), all surcharges received by the Secretary from the sale of coins issued under this Act shall be promptly paid by the Secretary to the FIRST robotics program for the purpose of engaging and inspiring young people, through mentor-based programs, to become leaders in the fields of science, technology, engineering, and mathematics.

(c) AUDITS.—The FIRST robotics program shall be subject to the audit requirements of section 5134(f)(2) of title 31, United States Code, with respect to the amounts received under subsection (b).

SEC. 8. FINANCIAL ASSURANCES.

The Secretary shall take such actions as may be necessary to ensure that—
(1) minting and issuing coins under this Act result in no net cost to the Federal Government; and
(2) no funds, including applicable surcharges, are disbursed to any recipient designated in section 7(b) until the total cost of designing and issuing all of the coins authorized by this Act, including labor, materials, design and issuance expenses, marketing, and shipping, is recovered by the United States Treasury, consistent with sections 512(k) and 513(f) of title 31, United States Code.

Mr. THUNE. I further ask unanimous consent that the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table with no intervening action or debate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

MEASURES READ THE FIRST TIME—H.R. 2740 AND H.R. 3055

Mr. THUNE, Madam President, I understand that there are two bills at the desk, and I ask for their first reading en bloc.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will read the bills by title for the first time en bloc.

The bill clerk read as follows:

A bill (H.R. 2740) making appropriations for the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education, and related will talk about his nomination just by way of example, not by way of argument before a confirmation vote because that has passed.

I think his nomination and confirmation are another example of the decline of the Senate, once-proud traditions relating to judicial nominations.

He was opposed by both of his home State Senators. Both Senator Feinstein and Senator Harris did not return a blue slip for Daniel Aaron Bress. The blue slip, as many people know, is literally a single piece of paper where Senators sign their name and then check off whether they support or oppose, as a way to have consensus between Senators from their home State, and it has always been accorded respect and deference in this Chamber, but that has all changed now.

In this case, you had a California nomination—I will get to that part of it in a moment—where, as I said, both Senators did not return blue slips. In this case, in particular, I think it is particularly offensive because Senator Feinstein is the ranking member of the committee.

For those who don’t pay attention to all this terminology, “ranking member” is the top person in one party who is not the chairman or chairwoman, as the case may be.

So as the top Democrat, the ranking member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, her opposition to Judge Bress should be an important factor in his nomination and confirmation.

Prior to this administration, the Judiciary Committee had never held a hearing for a nominee from the ranking member’s home State without his or her support. Again, that has all changed just recently.

Prior rules and norms have not stopped Republicans in the Senate from pushing extreme and sometimes corporate nominees through this process, especially at the circuit court level.

In a recent press release, Senator Feinstein and Senator Harris explained that they opposed Judge Bress in part because he had so few connections to California. He lived in California for only 1 year since graduating from high school, he has not voted in California in an election for over a decade, and the California bar lists him as a Washington, DC, attorney. I mention that in particular because that should be relevant. When a home State Senator—in this case, two home State Senators, one of whom is the top Democrat on the Judiciary Committee—I think in that case there should be deference paid to that kind of concern that is raised. After all, they both represent their State.

As I mentioned earlier, the blue slip process is predicated on the idea that home State Senators are more familiar than anyone else with their State’s legal community. I think that goes without saying. They serve an important role in nominating individuals to serve and represent the State.

Judge Bress is an example of why the blue slip process is so important. He is not part of the California legal community. Despite objections of the Senators, he will now sit on the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals and decide cases for a State with over 39 million residents and 2 out of 5 counties.

Without blue slips, what would prevent a California judge from being nominated to a court in another State? What would happen if you had someone from a different State, who had very little ties to a State, be nominated and confirmed, for example, to serve in a State like Pennsylvania? It doesn’t make a lot of sense to most people. It is a norm that should not be violated.

His nomination illustrates how the blue slip process has been eviscerated, especially for the circuit courts, which is something that I had some firsthand experience with. I did not return a blue slip on one nominee who was confirmed, and in the second case, there was a hearing scheduled over my objections by way of not returning a blue slip.

That experience that I had as a Senator whose blue slip and the deference that should be paid as part of that blue slip process—that circumstance in my case is at variance with my experience for district court judges.

Senator Toomey and I—my colleague from Pennsylvania—have worked together to jointly recommend consensus nominees to the Federal district courts in Pennsylvania. We have three districts—the Eastern District, the Middle District, and the Western District.

Unfortunately, this bipartisan district court process has become the exception rather than the rule. I do not return a blue slip to a nomination here in the Senate, where every State had some kind of process by which nominees were presented for confirmation by their home State Senators, and the White House—the administration—in every case would pay deference to that.

That is exceedingly rare today. I am thankful we have maintained it so far in Pennsylvania with regard to the work Senator Toomey and I do together and our staffs do together to reach consensus. It doesn’t always work that way. We only have one hears about the ones who don’t work out because we keep that to ourselves and move on to the next person and see if we can’t reach consensus. I appreciate that. I think we are either at 19 or 20 judges confirmed since 2011, working together, and I hope we can maintain that so that at least—the blue slip process can be respected for district court nominees.

I think people who elect us in our home States expect that. They expect us to work together and to try to reach consensus where we can, and sometimes it is not possible, but they do expect us to do that. If there is an expectation of consensus and bipartisan cooperation... that adheres to or is expected of Senators, then there ought to be institutional support for that here in the Senate and by the administration. As I mentioned, that is not the case today, at least as it relates to the appeals court, the circuit courts around the country.

This has relevance, of course, not just to process and norms and traditions; that is in and of itself important. It is of even greater significance when you consider the issues these courts will deal with.

Just today, for example, there was oral argument before the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in the Texas v. United States case—a monumental case that has the potential to cause millions of Americans to lose coverage. We know that because we know that since the Affordable Care Act was passed, more than 20 million people have gained coverage, the larger share of that being people who gained coverage through the expansion of Medicaid.

If that case were to be successful—a case brought by Republican attorneys general from around the country and then later opposed by Democratic attorneys general from around the country—then later opposed by Democratic attorneys general from around the country, the circuits courts around the country.

Under the old system, the old rules, the old law, you could be denied treatment or coverage because you have a preexisting condition. That was happening routinely. That is no longer the law today. The law today is that if you have a preexisting condition, you can still get coverage. As I said, that would be all the more so if there was a preexisting condition the way the Affordable Care Act, like the protection if you have a preexisting condition protection.

If you had to step back and summarize where we have been in the last more than—just about 2½ years now since the Trump administration came into office, working with House Republicans, the Senate Republicans, the White House, and the administration—all of these folks need to lift themselves out of the urban. It knows no bounds.

As of January, for example, the Gallup data released that said the number of Americans—I am reading from the first line of a news story from the publication Vox. The headline is “Under Trump, the number of uninsured Americans has gone up by 7 million.” The sub-headline is “Even in a strong economy, Americans are losing their health coverage.” This is an article written by Sarah Kliff who spends a lot of time writing about and analyzing healthcare as an issue. It is dated January 23, 2019. I will read just the first two sentences: “The number of Americans without health insurance has increased by 7 million since President Donald Trump took office, new Gallup data released Wednesday shows.” Again, this is a January 2019 story. It goes on from there to say: “The country’s uninsured rate has steadily ticked upward since 2016, rising from a low of 10.9 percent in late 2016 to 13.7 percent—a four-year high.”

So at the end of 2016, at the beginning of the Trump administration, the uninsured rate was 10.9. At the end of 2018, going into 2019, it stood at 13.7. So Gallup tells us that 7 million more people do not have healthcare who had it when the President started his administration.

A number of organizations have catalogued recent analyses of the potential threats that could impact communities if this Texas v. United States case were successful. I will mention again for the record that the litigants—the ones bringing the case, these Republican attorneys general—prevailed at the district court level. Now it is on appeal at the circuit court, and, in my judgment, it is probably more likely than not that they will prevail at that level too. Then, of course, the only option would be the Supreme Court, and I don’t have a lot of confidence that this Supreme Court would rule against that case, which would result in chaos. That is a terrible understatement for what would result. Because all of America’s seniors—subtly lose their coverage and tens and tens of millions more lose the protections they enjoy now, especially those against the denial of treatment or coverage because that individual has a preexisting condition.

Here are the numbers, just to remind folks. Everyone has heard the number nationally. One hundred thirty-three million Americans, roughly, have a preexisting condition. In my home state of Pennsylvania, the number is a little more than 5.3 million people. Those numbers are terribly high, but I think the one really making an impression on me and I hope on others—especially those in Pennsylvania—is the number of children in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who have a preexisting condition. Six hundred forty-two thousand seven hundred Pennsylvanians have a preexisting condition—642,700. No action by the U.S. Congress, by the administration, or by the courts should allow any child being denied coverage or treatment because of a preexisting condition—any child but let alone numbers that are so high and so offensive to even consider that number of children or any portion of that number could be denied coverage.

The only number I will emphasize tonight is 642,700 Pennsylvania children and others who have lost their ability to purchase prescription drugs because of the sabotage that has been available up until the recent past for prescription drug coverage for seniors—that support potentially could go away completely. So seniors will again potentially be footing the bill if this lawsuit is successful.

Two more, just for the record. Access to treatment would be in jeopardy for some 800,000 people with opioid use disorder issues. We know there are a huge number of Americans with opioid addiction. That support comes from Medicaid expansion.

Whether it is the repeal bills that were promoted on the Senate floor over and over again or whether it is the lawsuit that could have as devastating of an impact on healthcare as any repeal bill because no matter what you do, the Affordable Care Act was—will have its impact on 133 million people. It knows no bounds. It is a number that jumps out at me—this number of children or any portion of that number could be denied coverage.

In Pennsylvania, that number is lower, but it was still more than $1,100 per person.

All of that will be at risk if this case is successful. Just like the protections that could impact seniors, the support that has been available up until the recent past for prescription drug coverage for seniors—that support potentially could go away completely. So seniors will again potentially be footing the bill if this lawsuit is successful.

A lot of that support has come from the support for quality treatment that folks need to lift themselves out of the addiction. Those who are in treatment, those who are in recovery, they need that support comes from Medicaid expansion. Whether it is the repeal bills that were promoted on the Senate floor over and over again or whether it is the lawsuit that could have as devastating of an impact on healthcare as any repeal bill because no matter what you do, the Affordable Care Act was—will have its impact on 133 million people. It knows no bounds. It is a number that jumps out at me—this number of children or any portion of that number could be denied coverage.

So seniors will again potentially be footing the bill if this lawsuit is successful.
Why was it wrong that millions of people got their healthcare through an expansion of Medicaid? Why would anyone ever doubt that someone next to you who doesn’t have coverage, first and foremost, and might have an opioid addiction problem is getting coverage, and because they have insurance coverage, they can get treatment for that terrible scourge our country is going to be dealing with for decades—why is that the wrong thing to do? How would taking that coverage away from someone with an opioid problem advance the interests of the American people? The answer is, it wouldn’t. The answer is, it would set back the efforts to deal with a whole host of folks out there who are getting treatment today solely, completely, because of Medicaid expansion.

The last thing I will mention is our rural areas. I represent a State that has 67 counties, and 48 of them are rural. A lot of the rural hospitals in those communities are already teetering on the edge of collapse and have been for years—not just the last several years but for many years.

One of the fastest ways to ensure that more rural hospitals would close and collapse is to cut Medicaid or to take away Medicaid expansion. That has an adverse impact, the likes of which we can’t even begin to calculate because folks in rural Pennsylvania will lose coverage if you decimate Medicaid or you take away Medicaid expansion, but that doesn’t end there.

A lot of folks in those communities are getting treatment for an addiction issue or something related. They will be adversely impacted; their families will; their communities will, but it doesn’t stop there in a rural area.

In a lot of these rural areas in my home State—and it is true all across the country—the biggest employer, or at least the second or third biggest employer, is often a hospital. In my State, there are probably 25 counties where the top employer in those 48 rural counties—about half of them, roughly—the No. 1 and No. 2 employer is a hospital. So cutting Medicaid or eliminating Medicaid expansion or sabotaging the health insurance markets or taking away the coverage of the Affordable Care Act has healthcare consequences, has opioid addiction treatment consequences, and of course has a job consequence as well. If you cut Medicaid in a lot of rural areas, you are going to lose a lot of jobs. It is as simple as that, as devastating as it is. So we have a long way to go to make progress on healthcare. I hope—I hope—my Republican friends will come together with us and work on lowering the cost of healthcare and lowering the cost of prescription drugs, those but they don’t seem to be that interested in that. Some are, intermittently, once in a while, but they don’t seem to be interested because there is an obsession in the Senate, on the Republican side, with decimating the Medicaid Program, ending Medicaid expansion, and completely wiping out all the gains of the Affordable Care Act.

That would be bad enough, but it is doubly worse or it is doubly insulting. I should say, when there is no plan for replacement. So what if a court of law, what if a Federal court in the Fifth Circuit, in the next couple of months, says the moving party here, the party that wants to declare the Affordable Care Act unconstitutional—declares the moving party is the prevailing party, that they win? Let’s say it doesn’t go to the Supreme Court, but even if it does, let’s say it loses there. What happens then to those 20 million people who got coverage? What happens to the 150 million-plus who have coverage today, protections today, who did not have it before the Affordable Care Act? They were paying their premiums for years, if not decades. They had coverage for years, if not decades. Their children were maybe covered in their employer-sponsored plan, but in many cases—maybe not in every case—they didn’t have much protection from preexisting conditions. They didn’t have protections against lifetime limits or caps on the treatment you can get in a year or over a lifetime.

We had the bizarre and insulting and degrading experience, where women were discriminated against by the insurance companies because they were women. Being a woman was actually, in a sense, a preexisting condition. That made no sense. Are we going to go back to those days because a group of attorneys general wanted to change the law, and they couldn’t prevail on the Senate floor, or they couldn’t prevail over time in the House, or by way of what the administration would do, so they went into court, and they are going to wipe out coverage for tens and tens of millions of Americans? Is that a good thing for America? I don’t think so. I think that sends everything in the wrong direction.

Unfortunately, that is not just theory. Some of it is already happening. As I said before, Gallup tells us that 7 million fewer people have healthcare today, or at least as of January, than did two Januarys before that. So we have a long way to go to make progress on healthcare, but we are not going to make much progress around here if we have a continual fight. I hope some will agree to set aside the fight about repeal and lawsuits taking away coverage. Let’s work together to lower costs, and let’s work together to lower the costs of prescription drugs, in particular, because I have to answer to a lot of families.

One of them is Matt Stefanelli, a young man we just spoke to today talking about his children. Matt’s son has type 1 diabetes. We are from the same home county. He is worried not only about his own healthcare, but he is worried about his son’s healthcare. We have an answer, and the answer is to respond to families like Matt’s.

I yield the floor.

ADJOURNMENT UNTIL 9:30 A.M. TOMORROW

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senate stands adjourned until 9:30 a.m. tomorrow.

Thereupon, the Senate, at 7:07 p.m., adjourned until Wednesday, July 10, 2019, at 9:30 a.m.

CONFIRMATION

Executive nomination confirmed by the Senate July 9, 2019:

THE JUDICIARY

DANIEL AARON BRESS, OF CALIFORNIA, TO BE UNITED STATES CIRCUIT JUDGE FOR THE NINTH CIRCUIT.
Mr. CROW. Madam Speaker, today, I include in the RECORD two agency letters my office received in response to two inquiries I sent in February. The first is a June 25, 2019 letter in response to a February 28, 2019 letter I wrote with 19 of my colleagues to the U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) regarding public health risks and treatment of detainees at ICE detention facilities and contract facilities. The second is a June 28, 2019 letter in response to a February 20, 2019 letter I wrote to the Department of Homeland Security regarding medical concerns at the ICE contract facility in Aurora, Colorado.

DEAR REPRESENTATIVE CROW: Thank you for your February 28, 2019 letter regarding public health risks and treatment of detainees at U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement detention facilities and contract facilities. Enclosed, please find answers to the questions posed in your letter. The co-signers of your letter will receive a separate, identical response.

Thank you again for your letter and interest in this important matter. Should you wish to discuss this matter further, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

RAYMOND KOVACIC, Assistant Director, Office of Congressional Relations.

U.S. IMMIGRATION AND CUSTOMS ENFORCEMENT (ICE) RESPONSE TO THE FEBRUARY 28, 2019 LETTER REGARDING PUBLIC HEALTH RISKS AND TREATMENT OF DETAINEES AT DETENTION FACILITIES

1. How many and what kind of outbreaks have occurred at ICE and contract detention facilities nationwide in the past 12 months and how many of those did the ICE Health Services Corps oversee?

Response: In the past 12 months, the U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) Health Services Corps (IHSC) was notified of an estimated 368 public health investigations in 31 detention facilities housing ICE detainees; those investigations affected 308 housing units. IHSC oversaw 112 of these investigations in 15 facilities where IHSC is the facility medical authority that operates the medical clinic. ICE staff in these 22 facilities conduct intake medical screening for detainees inclusive of infectious disease, with national ICE Health Services Corps, Field Health Service, and Enforcement and Removal Operations (ERO) personnel to implement a medical hold for detainees diagnosed with infectious diseases that pose a health risk to other detainees, staff, visitors, and the community until the detainee is rendered non-contagious. ICE policies for these 22 facilities are designed to prevent transmission of communicable diseases and minimize the impact on ICE operations. This action allows ICE staff sufficient time to facilitate the necessary arrangements for continuity of care prior to the alien's transfer, release, or removal.

Additionally, in these 22 facilities, an IHSC medical provider or designee orders medical isolation of detainees diagnosed with infectious diseases in accordance with guidelines on transmission-based precautions for the duration of the infectious period to prevent transmission. ICE staff are responsible for providing a recommendation on cohorting with restricted movement in adult detention facilities and developing site-specific medical policies for facilities to help reduce the spread of significant infectious diseases, if appropriate.

IHSC does not have medical authority in facilities where it does not operate the medical clinic—each medical authority is responsible for developing its own facility policies and protocols for managing infectious and communicable diseases in compliance with governing detention standards. IHSC's designee, the Federal Medical Coordinator (FMC), in each area of responsibility conduct site visits at locations housing detainees for over 72 hours to ensure that appropriate medical care is being provided according to national detention standards and contractual requirements.

2. How is the ICE Health Services Corps ensuring that detainees are treated properly, humanely and with dignity while in quarantine?

Response: ICE ERO oversees the civil immigration detention of one of the most highly transient and diverse populations of any detention or correctional system in the world. IHSC's primary responsibility is to ensure the health, safety, and welfare of those in our custody, and comprehensive medical care is provided from the moment detainees arrive and throughout their stay.

As stated in Question 2, while IHSC does not have direct operational oversight over medical care in facilities where it does not provide that care, its FMCs in each area of responsibility work to ensure proper medical services are being provided and that national detention standards and contractual requirements are met.

In those facilities that are staffed by IHSC, daily assessments are provided of those individuals that are cohorting due to exposure to an infectious disease. IHSC monitors for signs and symptoms associated with the condition and also provides open access to sick call and urgent care services that are usually provided within the cohorted unit. During these interventions, detainees have the opportunity to report any complaints related to their medical care.

4. Please provide a list of ICE-owned and operated and contracted detention facilities that ICE Health Services Corps has treated for a disease outbreak and quarantine.

Response: The following indicates where public health investigations occurred in the past twelve months. Each facility's medical authority is responsible for overseeing public health investigations in collaboration with their local health department.

Facilities where IHSC is the medical authority: Alexandria Detention Facility, Winnfield, Louisiana; Adelanto ICE Processing Center, Adelanto, California; Eloy Detention Center, Eloy; Terre Haute Detention Center, Terre Haute, Indiana; Winnfield Detention Center, Winnfield, Louisiana; Texas ICE Processing Center, San Antonio.

Facilities where IHSC is not the medical authority: Adelanto ICE Processing Center, San Bernardino, California; Weir Detention Center, Weir, Texas; Otay Mesa Detention Center (San Diego CDF), San Diego, California; Mesa Verde ICE Processing Center, Northgate ICE Processing Center, Elizabeth ICE Processing Center, Florence ICE Processing Center, Midland ICE Processing Center.

5. How many inter-facility detainee transfers have occurred in the last 12 months nationwide and how many of the detainees has ICE Health Services Corps determined to have had a viral disease?

Response: ICE cannot statistically report this information in the manner in which it was requested.

6. What is the ICE Health Service Corps protocol for ensuring that newly-transferred detainees do not pose a health risk to themselves or other detainees?

Response: At IHSC-staffed facilities, all detainees are screened upon arriving at a facility and a prescreen is conducted to identify those detainees who have acute or urgent medical concerns so that further evaluation can be prioritized. All facilities, including those that ICE holds detainees pursuant to Intergovernmental Service Agreements, conduct intake screenings to identify individuals with time-sensitive health concerns.

7. What is the ICE Health Service Corps guidance in place to prevent communicable diseases from spreading among detainee populations?

Response: ICE Health Service Corps protocol for ensuring that newly-transferred detainees do not pose a health risk to themselves or other detainees.
Response: Please see response to Question 2.

8. Which agency is responsible for oversight of IHSC protocols, which are only applicable in the 22 facilities for which IHSC is the medical authority, and where IHSC delegates the medical clinic. These protocols comply with state and local requirements, as well as applicable detention standards.

9. What role does the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) play in responding to public health risks at ICE and contract detention facilities?

Response: CDC is responsible for oversight and responsibilities to the CDC. However, ICE notes that in general, public health interventions fall under the authority of local and state health departments, although state health departments do occasionally request assistance from the CDC. In ICE’s case, IHSC routinely collaborates with the CDC on public health interventions involving multiple jurisdictions.

Hon. Jason Crow,

House of Representatives,
Washington, D.C.

Dear Representative Crow:

Thank you for your February 20, 2019 letter to the Department of Homeland Security.

I appreciate your concerns regarding the recent expansion of the Denver Contract Detention Facility and welcome the opportunity to address them more fully. Please see the attached enclosure with responses to the specific questions posed in your letter.

Thank you again for your letter and interest in this important matter. Please contact the ICE Office of Congressional Relations for additional assistance.

Sincerely,

Mark A. Morgan, Acting Director.

THE DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY’S RESPONSE TO REPRESENTATIVE JASON CROW’S FEBRUARY 20, 2019 LETTER

Please explain the number and types of disease outbreaks (e.g., chicken pox) in the past year at the Denver Contract Detention Facility and the Colorado State Health Department are notified. Per the ICE Performance-Based National Detention Standards 2011 (PBNDS 2011), facilities shall comply with current and future plans implemented by federal, state, or local authorities. Addressing specific public health issues including communicable disease reporting, surveillance, and requirements are codified in state regulations. Designated medical staff shall notify the IHSC PHSP of any ICE detainees with a significant communicable disease or any contact or outbreak investigations involving ICE detainees exposed to a significant communicable disease without known immunity.

Significant communicable diseases include, but are not limited to, varicella (chicken pox), measles, mumps, pertussis (whooping cough), and typhoid. Additionally, IHSC provides a weekly cohort report to ICE Enforcement and Removal Operations (ERO) leadership in those situations where cohorting of detainees is required.

2. What active have ICE and GEO taken to respond to the recent varicella outbreaks and what measures are being put in place to prevent future outbreaks?

When active varicella is suspected or confirmed, the patient is isolated, placed under airborne precautions, and referred for medical evaluation. In the event that the patient is housed is placed under cohort status. In addition, dorm members and susceptible contacts are then tested for their immune status. Contacts with a positive titer, which is suggestive of immunity, can be released from cohort status. Contacts who are still found to be susceptible are placed under cohort status daily to identify any new patients with signs and symptoms of varicella.

The GEO Group Inc. (GEO) followed these precautions in the seven cases identified. Because medical staff from ICE and our vendor, GEO, often do not know which detainees have been in contact with or exposed to disease, we’ve defined, observation of early symptoms and prompt isolation are used to prevent the spread of varicella. IHSC and GEO have also consulted with the state and local health departments regarding their recommendations.

Additionally, ICE notes that six of the seven varicella cases occurred for the more than three weeks prior to diagnosis. The incubation period for varicella is 10 to 21 days, so it is not known whether they were exposed to varicella before or after entering the facility. All seven individuals came from a facility in California where they were housed for only a few days after crossing the border.

3. Will ICE direct GEO to hire more properly-trained medical staff to accommodate the increase in detainee admissions? Please also describe what contract requirements and oversight are in place to ensure that detainees receive proper medical attention.

ICE continues to manage medical services nationwide to ensure the highest level of care for its detained population. In accordance with the terms and conditions related to the number of full-time equivalent (FTE) medical staff required under the Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR)-based contract with GEO, the service provider conducted a staff investigation and created a staffing plan for the delivery of health care services. FAR-based medical staffing plans, which typically include additional FTEs for overtime, shift rotations, and facility-specific circumstances, are reviewed by IHSC as part of the initial acquisition process and, thereafter, as deemed necessary by ICE. IHSC also has a Management CONSULT (MCO) assigned to the Denver Area of Responsibility who is responsible for monitoring medical care at the Denver CDF. The MCO works in conjunction with the Colorado's Department of Health Care (Women's Health) and ensures that health care services are being provided appropriately and timely to detainees irrespective of the day-to-day changes in theDenver CDF's admissions and releases. In addition, the MCO conducts quarterly visits to evaluate the medical care at the site.

4. What requirements are in the GEO contract or other ICE guidance to ensure detainee care is provided properly and timely?

ICE takes the health, safety, and welfare of those in our care very seriously. Comprehensively addressed in the GEO contract detainees arrive in ICE custody and continues throughout the entirety of their stay. This care includes an initial health screening, as well as subsequent medical visits, referrals to specialists, and 24-hour access to emergency care as necessary.

Section IV.A.1.5–Management Plan of ICE's PBNDS 2011 explicitly states, “[u]nderstands the importance of a fully qualified and trained professional staff in appropriate number to operate a safe, secure, and efficient medical department at the Aurora ICE Processing Center (the Center). Our proposed staffing plan reflects a well thought out and efficient strategy for staffing the Center in order to provide detainees with access to medical care 24 hours a day seven (7) days a week.”

Also, at Section IV.A.1.5–Quality Control and Oversight, GEO is required to establish a Quality Control Plan governing health services at the Center to ensure that health services are consistent with the Performance Based National Detention Standards, court orders, American Correctional Association (ACA) standards, standards established by the National Commission of Correctional Health Care (NCCHC), and specific client policies.

In addition, ICE’s PBNDS 2011 clearly lay out the expected outcomes and expected practices for detainee health care at dedicated facilities like the Denver CDF in detention standards 4.3–Medical care and 4.4–Continuity of care. GEO standards and policies cover topics such as designation of authority, communicable disease and infection control, notification detainees about health services, translation and language access for detainees, and adherence to health care regulations. The PBNDS 2011 specifically addresses the need for competent professionals to provide consistent and informed medical care, including access to medical and dental care, transportation to medical appointments, and treatment and management of medical conditions.
The Denver CDF is accredited by the ACA and the NCCHC, and the facility is obligated to comply with the requirements of both the ICE PRNDS 2011 and the DHS Prison Rape Elimination Act. On October 4, 2018, ICE’s inspection contractor, The Nakamoto Group, completed an annual detention inspection. The Lead Compliance Inspector reported a final rating of “Meets Standards” and reported zero deficiencies in medical care.

5. Please describe the contract relationship between ICE and GEO and attach copies of the relevant contract documents (e.g. agreements, MOUs, guidance, etc.)

GEO was awarded an indefinite-delivery/indefinite-quantity contract to provide detention services at the Denver CDF on September 15, 2011. The contract period of performance included a 2-year base period and four 2-year option periods. The contract period of performance expires on September 16, 2021.

GEO provides full-time detention and transportation services at the Denver CDF in Aurora, Colorado, for ICE detainees. Services are provided in compliance with the ICE PRNDS 2011, ACA standards for adult local detention facilities, standards for health services in jails, NCCHC, and other applicable state and local requirements.

6. Since 2015, how many 911 calls were placed from the Facility to local and state emergency professionals?

ICE is unable to provide a response, as it does not track this data. However, as previously noted, detainees have access to 24-hour emergency care as necessary.

7. When privately contracted facilities fail to comply with their contractual obligations, ICE has the opportunity to issue compliance waivers forgiving contractors for the breach. Has ICE issued any compliance waivers for the Facility? If so, how many, and what were the justifications for those waivers?

ICE has issued no compliance waiver to or on behalf of the Denver CDF.

8. Since 2015, has ICE submitted a Contract Discrepancy Report for the Facility following the granting of any compliance waivers?

ICE has not submitted a Contract Discrepancy Report for the facility.

IN RECOGNITION OF THE 37TH ANNUAL METRO DETROIT YOUTH DAY

HON. ROBERT J. WITTMAN OF VIRGINIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, July 9, 2019

Mr. WITTMAN. Madam Speaker, I am honored to recognize First Class Johnathan D. Hoggatt for his military service. Sergeant First Class Hoggatt enlisted into military service as an Infantryman at Fort Benning, Georgia in 1998. He served in numerous infantry leadership positions from Fire Team Leader to Infantry Platoon Sergeant. His last assignment was as the Battalion S2/S3- Air and Ranger Instructor at the 6th Ranger Training Battalion. He is currently an Operations NCOIC with Easy Squadron, Asymmetric Warfare Group.

His assignments include A Co, 2nd Battalion, 130th Infantry Regiment, Illinois National Guard (Mattoon, Illinois); HHC, 6th Ranger Training Battalion (Eglin AFB, FL); 1 Battalion, 9th Infantry Regiment, 2nd Infantry Division (Fort Carson, CO); and numerous Virginia National Guard Units. He has deployed to Iraq and Afghanistan, where he served diligently and with honor to uphold and protect the freedoms this nation provides.

SFC Hoggatt’s military education includes Senior Leaders Course, Joint Fire Power Course, Joint Air Operations Command and Control Course, Military Free-Fall Basic Course, Battle Staff Course, Pathfinder Course, Tactical Certification Course, Jumpmaster Course, Basic Instructor Course, Emergency Medical Technicians Course, Ranger School and Basic Airborne Course.

SFC Hoggatt has earned the Master Parachutist Badge, Pathfinder Badge, Ranger Tab, Military Free-Fall Badge, Combat Infantryman’s Badge, and several other awards and decorations. SFC Hoggatt holds a Bachelor of Science in Biology from Virginia Commonwealth University and is currently working on a Master of Arts in Biomedical Science from Liberty University.

Madam Speaker, please join me in congratulating the courage displayed and sacrifice made by Sergeant First Class Hoggatt during his time in our nation’s armed forces. Our gratitude to Sergeant First Class Hoggatt and all our other servicemen and women cannot be expressed enough.

HONORING COACH RON FIOCHETTA
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, July 9, 2019

Mr. JOYCE of Pennsylvania. Madam Speaker, I rise today to congratulate Ron Fiochetta, who will be posthumously inducted into the All-American Amateur Baseball Association Hall of Fame later this summer.

Baseball was not his only love. He also coached football where I had the opportunity to play for him. As a former player, student, and someone who looked up to Coach Fio, I realize this award is truly deserved. His late wife, Joy, and his children continue to exemplify his commitment to community, coaching, and leadership.

Sadly, Ron passed away in 1997 at the age of 51, but his legacy lives on. He brought national recognition to Altoona in the AAABA Tournament. He was the manager of Altoona’s L.S. Fiore from 1984 through 1997. During his tenure, L.S. Fiore won 10 Altoona AAABA League championships, four AAABA Regional championships, as well as a second place finish in the AAABA National Tournament in 1994. I take great pleasure in congratulating the Fiochetta family on this great honor for Coach Fio.

RECOGNIZING THE 60TH ANNIVERSARY OF ROGER AND RUTH BORR

HON. BILL HUIZENGA
OF MICHIGAN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, July 9, 2019

Mr. HUIZENGA. Madam Speaker, today I rise to congratulate my longtime friends and fellow West Michigan residents, Mr. Roger Hale Borr and Mrs. Ruth Elaine Borr, who will be celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary this August.

This significant benchmark is a symbol of their commitment to each other and to their family. Throughout their marriage, Roger and Ruth have been blessed with two children and three grandchildren, who have seen firsthand the love a dedicated marriage can bring. I am happy to join their friends and loved ones in extending my best to them as they celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary on Tuesday, August 6, 2019.

Over the years, I have personally witnessed the devotion, affection, and passion they share with not only each other, but the West Michigan community as well. Through marriage, Roger and Ruth have strived to serve others, brought joy to one another, and shared their wonderful example of kindness and love.

Madam Speaker, please join me in congratulating my dear friends, Roger and Ruth, on this exciting occasion. Happy 60th wedding anniversary.
HONORING IAN WOOLDRIDGE OF MISSOURI
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, July 9, 2019

Mr. SHIMKUS of Illinois. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the life of Michael "Mikey" Thomas George, 16, who passed away surrounded by his loving family on Sunday, June 23, 2019.

Mikey was a proud student of St. Edward High School in Lakewood and a dedicated Michael Bublé and Roman Reigns fan. His friends and family knew Mikey for his contagious smile, laughter, and quick wit. His favorite summers were spent on Kelley's Island, enjoying the sun and island lifestyle. Mikey was known to entertain all with his singing, dancing, and with the creative nicknames he gave to people.

Mikey loved his family dearly. He is survived by his loving parents, Kristine and Tony George, his triplet siblings, David and Julia, and his older siblings, Joseph George, Justin Rose (Lisa), Robert George, Krystle George-Kearns (Christian) and Jonathon Rose (Amer); grandmother Glenna Botkins, along with numerous aunts, uncles and cousins.

My deepest condolences go out to the George Family, and all whose lives were touched by Mikey. He will most certainly live in our hearts forever.
COLORADO RAILROAD MUSEUM

HON. ED PERLMUTTER
OF COLORADO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, July 9, 2019

Mr. PERLMUTTER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize and commend the Colorado Railroad Museum on their 60th anniversary.

Railroads have played a unique role in the development and history of the state of Colorado, enabling the safe transportation of people and goods across Colorado’s rugged geography and serving as the backbone of Colorado’s economy and culture since 1876.

Connecting the past and future of Colorado, the Museum serves to tell the story of America from the First Nations of the region to the immigrants and their families who came after to build their new lives in Colorado. Servicing more than 100,000 visitors annually, the Museum provides hands-on educational opportunities, preserves and displays educational historical artifacts, and offers exemplary educational programs to the community including: “Day Out with Thomas” events for children and “Living History” train rides in a restored steam locomotive. Thanks to a fundraising effort, the Museum has expanded their work to include a climate-controlled library to handle archival records and a roundhouse to ensure the safety of their rolling stock so generations to come may continue to enjoy them. As such, they have continually ranked amongst the top 10 paid attractions in the Denver metro area and as one of the top 10 railroad museums in the United States.

The Museum has been recognized by the Smithsonian Institute and others for their work in preserving the history of the Rocky Mountain West. I extend my deepest congratulations to the Colorado Railroad Museum for their well-earned accolades and I look forward to another 60 years of their service to our community and the people of Colorado.

HONORING COMMUNITY CHAMPION
SAM ZURZOLO

HON. MIKE KELLY
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, July 9, 2019

Mr. KELLY of Pennsylvania. Madam Speaker, I would like to recognize one of my constituents from back home in Western Pennsylvania, Mr. Sam Zurzolo. Sam is a lifelong resident of Butler County and an admirable veteran who proudly served as a Sergeant Major in the United States Marine Corps. Sam is the epitome of a service-minded citizen and his compassion, integrity, and dedication deserve praise. He is a leader in the truest sense of the word and a role model for those who are privileged to know him.

Sam has built a legacy based on selflessness and generosity that will inspire others for generations to come. Therefore, on behalf of the 16th Congressional District, the State of Pennsylvania, and the United States of America, I would like to express sincere gratitude and appreciation to Sam Zurzolo—an extraordinary individual, a noble public servant, and a true Community Champion.

IN RECOGNITION OF THE RETIREMENT OF DEARBORN POLICE CORPORAL MICHAEL NELSON

HON. DEBBIE DINGELL
OF MICHIGAN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, July 9, 2019

Mrs. DINGELL. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize Police Corporal Michael Nelson for his many years of service to the Dearborn Police Department. Corporal Nelson recently retired after thirty years of exemplary work with the department.

Prior to his service in the Dearborn Police Department Corporal Nelson served three years in the United States Army and was deployed to Grenada. Corporal Nelson began at the Dearborn Police Department in 1989 as an Animal Control Officer. In 1994, Corporal Nelson became a certified Motor Carrier Officer and a regional instructor specializing in commercial vehicle enforcement. In this role, he trained hundreds of police officers and created a safer environment for everyone in the Dearborn community. In 2003, he was promoted to the rank of Corporal and was placed in charge of the Animal Control and Parking Systems Operations.

Corporal Nelson served the Dearborn community in various roles for a total of thirty years. His commitment to protecting the Dearborn Community has impacted hundreds of his fellow officers and residents. His work training officers in commercial vehicle enforcement has been crucial to the continued safety of Dearborn. His exemplary service to the community stands as a role model of the dedication, sacrifice, and commitment of our police officers. His dedicated leadership will be missed, but we wish him good health and every happiness in his retirement years.

Madam Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in honoring the thirty years of service of Police Corporal Michael Nelson to his country and to the Dearborn, Michigan community. His commitment to public safety is worthy of commendation.

IN HONOR OF DAVID TRAN

HON. J. LUIS CORREA
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, July 9, 2019

Mr. CORREA. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the life of Mr. David Tran, an esteemed Californian and a caring person to everyone who knew him.

Mr. Tran passed away on June 30, 2019 but will continue to be remembered for his love of family and commitment to serving his community.

Mr. Tran was born on February 8, 1957 in Phu Nhuan, Saigon, Vietnam. After coming to the United States, Mr. Tran worked in a variety of different fields. Mr. Tran worked as a middle school teacher for 20 years, then as an insurance agent for 7 years, and after as a data entry clerk for 10 years. Those who worked with him can attest to his commitment to professional service and valuable contributions.

Mr. Tran was a role model to all and upheld the virtues of integrity and devotion throughout his life. Mr. Tran spent his time enriching the lives of countless others who had the privilege of knowing him. He enjoyed playing soccer and tennis, as well as playing the guitar. He was a member of the Lien Hoa Temple and Pho Da Temple, where he demonstrated his commitment to his spirituality and serving his community.

David Tran lived a life worthy of honor and remembrance. His kindness and love of all people persists with his wife, Quyen Tran; his two children, Anh Tran and Julie Quynh Nhu Tran; and his two grandchildren, Alexander Tran and Benjamin Tran.

I ask my colleagues to join me in recognizing the legacy of Mr. David Tran. May his honor and commitment serve as an example for all and his spirit rest in peace and glory.

HONORING THE FAMILY OF GREG McDaniel

HON. JIM COSTA
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, July 9, 2019

Mr. COSTA. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the family of Greg McDaniel on Atwater’s 2019 4th of July parade. On December 25, 2018, the greater Atwater community lost one of their dedicated leaders who served as the President of Atwater’s 4th of July Committee for over 20 years. In honor of Mr. McDaniel’s many years of commitment to organizing this parade, his wife Pinky has been named the Grand Marshal of this year’s parade.

As President of the Atwater 4th of July Committee, Mr. McDaniel played an integral role in the planning of Atwater’s annual 4th of July parade and celebration. Each year he successfully helped raise the necessary funds and oversaw many of the operations that helped make the parade the event it has grown into today. Mr. McDaniel was committed to making each year’s celebration better than the year before, which is reflected in what Atwater’s 4th of July celebration has become.

Atwater’s 4th of July celebration is now a day consisting of a morning run, parade, and fireworks that attracts thousands from throughout the City of Atwater and other cities in Merced County. The positivity Mr. McDaniel exuded in this endeavor is now present in the Atwater community members that have stepped up to continue the traditions Mr. McDaniel cared so deeply about.

Mr. McDaniel was joined in all he did by his wife of 45 years, Pinky. She was by his side assisting him in all his tremendous community contributions. In addition to planning the 4th of July celebration, Mr. McDaniel spent many years with local youth sports organizations, announced the Atwater High School football games, and served many times as the president of the Atwater Chamber of Commerce, among various other civic engagements. Though he is deeply missed, his wife Pinky, sons Christopher and Jeffery, grandchildren, and residents of Atwater continue to carry on the legacy he left.

Madam Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in honoring the family of Greg McDaniel. It is both fitting and appropriate that we honor them as his wife Pinky is recognized as the Grand Marshal of a parade and celebration her husband dedicated so many years to. I wish his family and the residents of Atwater the best as they celebrated the 4th of July.

HONORING THE RETIREMENT OF CAPTAIN JASON B. FITCH

HON. MIKE LEVIN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, July 9, 2019

Mr. LEVIN of California. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize the retirement of Captain Jason B. Fitch. Captain Fitch has devoted his young adult life to the service of his family and country. Later this year, on December 1, 2019, Captain Fitch will retire from active duty after honorably serving this Nation for 28 years. As he completes his tour of duty in the Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Research, Development, and Acquisition, and prepares to hang up his military uniform, we all know that his influence has reached far beyond the strict confines of his rank and previous job titles.

Captain Fitch’s military career began 28 years ago today as a Midshipman when he took the Oath of Office at the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis, Maryland. After graduation, he was commissioned as an Ensign into the United States Navy. He served honorably in uniform for nearly three decades with tours of duty across the United States and deployments around the world. He served as the Supply Officer for Naval Special Warfare Center in Coronado, California. He served aboard the USS Bonhomme Richard (LHD 6) and the USS Mount Vernon (LSD 39). In 2006, Captain Fitch was recognized as the Navy Fuel Officer of the Year and as the Fuel Director for the Navy Bulk Fuel Terminal of the Year for 2007. He also served as the Naval Aviation Enterprise Officer and Director for the H-60 “Seahawk” Integrated Weapons Support Team at Naval Inventory Control Point in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. While assigned to U.S. Special Operations Command, he deployed to Operation Enduring Freedom (2013) in support of the Special Operations Joint Task Force-Afghanistan (SOJTF–A) as the J4 director.

Captain Fitch was entrusted with command ashore, where he served as the Commanding Officer for Naval Special Warfare Group ONE Logistics. During his tenure as command, he deployed to Operation INHERENT RESOLVE (2015) as the J4 director of Combined Joint Special Operations Task Force-Iraq and received the Bronze Star Medal. He currently serves at the Pentagon as the Director for Outcome Based Logistics and Supply Chain Management in the Office of the Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Expeditionary Programs and Logistics Management (E&LM).

In addition, Captain Fitch earned a master’s degree in Business Administration with concentrations in Petroleum Management and International Business from the University of Kansas. He earned a Master of Science in National Security and Resource Strategy from the National Defense University’s Eisenhower School. Captain Fitch also completed Kellogg’s Executive Development Program.

In honor of his service, I would like to express my gratitude for Captain Jason B. Fitch’s dedication to this country and our community. I wish him and his family the best as he retires to San Diego this December.

CAPE CORAL CITIZEN FLORIAN MICKULEIT RECEIVES THE CITIZEN COMMENDABLE ACTION COIN

HON. FRANCIS ROONEY OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, July 9, 2019

Mr. ROONEY of Florida. Madam Speaker, I rise today to congratulate Florian Mickuleit on receiving the Citizen Commendable Action Coin for aiding law enforcement in rescuing a man from a canal. This award is given by an Officer of the Cape Coral Police Department to a civilian for exemplary behavior or a remarkable act.

On June 4, 2019, a concerned citizen called Cape Coral Police to report that a man had been swimming in the canal by their home for an extended period, and he refused to come out of the water. When police arrived, they found the man was not acting rationally and was out of their rescue rope’s range. The man claimed that the current was too strong for him to swim to shore.

Mickuleit had been delivering a rental boat in the area and offered to use the boat in a rescue attempt. He drove the boat to the middle of the canal with officers onboard, and they were finally able to help the man safely to shore. The man was then taken to the local hospital by Lee County Emergency Medical Services.

I am grateful for Florian and his actions to help save a citizen in need. I commend his actions and congratulate him on receiving this honor.

MEDICAID AND CHIP TERRITORY TRANSPARENCY AND INFORMATION ACT

HON. GREGORIO KILILI CAMACHO SABLAN OF THE NORTHERN MARIANA ISLANDS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, July 9, 2019

Mr. SABLAN. Madam Speaker, today, I introduce the Medicaid and CHIP Territory Transparency and Information Act, which would require the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) to publish on its website, and periodically update, specified information related to federal expenditures under Medicaid and the Children’s Health Insurance Program (CHIP) in each of the U.S. territories.

Presently, data reporting for the Northern Mariana Islands’ (NMI) Medicaid program is waived at the discretion of Secretary of Health and Human Services, as allowed by Section 1902(j) of the Social Security Act. American Samoa also has this waiver. Absent this waiver, other insular areas are required to maintain appropriate reporting systems as a condition of receiving Medicaid funds. However, there is little evidence to suggest that CMS has been carrying out any robust oversight. An April 2016 Government Accountability Office report found that “the lack of enforcement of program integrity measures and information systems—have contributed to the limited federal program integrity efforts in the territories.” The report goes on to state “until recently,

REMEMBERING JULIUS W. HEGELER II OF DANVILLE, ILLINOIS

HON. JOHN SHIMKUS OF ILLINOIS IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, July 9, 2019

Mr. SHIMKUS. Madam Speaker, I rise to note the passing of a most remarkable man. Julius W. Hegeler II of Danville, Illinois died July 5, 2019 at the age of 91.

To say that Mr. Hegeler led an impactful life would be to gloss over the thousands who benefitted from his caring nature, his generosity of spirit, and his humanity. Few people are in a position to make such a positive impact, and even fewer take the opportunity. Mr.
Hegeler will forever be remembered for having seized his opportunity with such an outsized desire to help that he never turned anyone away.

A lifelong resident of Danville, Julius graduated from Danville High School and went on to earn a business degree before enlisting in the Air Force. He flew 70 missions as a jet pilot during the Korean War, was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross in May 1954 for “extraordinary achievement,” and earned the Army and Oak Leaf Cluster as well.

Returning from the war, Julius and others built a chemical packaging company that he later sold. His fortune made, in 1992 he placed 90 percent of his wealth into the Julius W. Hegeler II Foundation and set out to give back to the community that he loved. Julius was especially concerned with helping those with disabilities and gave generously to local organizations such as Danville AMBUCS and WorkSource Enterprises. There were no limits to causes he would support, however, as the arts, education, recreation, community, and youth-focused groups and organizations have all benefited from his finan-darius Hegeler, and those memories I will always hold dear.

Madam Speaker, I would like to offer my sincerest condolences to the family of Julius W. Hegeler II on the loss of this truly remarkable individual, and I wish the family the best during this very trying time.

IN RECOGNITION OF THE 100TH ANNUAL ANN ARBOR CITY TENNIS TOURNAMENT

HON. DEBBIE DINGELL
OF MICHIGAN IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, July 9, 2019

Mrs. DINGELL. Madam Speaker, I rise today to celebrate Ann Arbor’s 100th City Tennis Tournament. The event provides a vital outlet promoting community building and healthcare competition.

Established in 1919, the Ann Arbor City Tennis Tournament is one of the oldest city tennis tournaments in the country. Starting with a tournament of 24 men at West Park, the competition has expanded to over one hundred players across several categories, adding a women’s event in 1922 and parent-child matches. The Ann Arbor Area Commu-

HON. RICHARD HUDSON OF NORTH CAROLINA IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, July 9, 2019

Mr. HUDSON. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Mr. John Falkenbury, the President and Chief Operating Officer for the United Service Organizations (USO) of North Carolina, on his decades of service to the State of North Carolina.

John was appointed President and COO for the USO of North Carolina in March 2009. During his tenure, he was responsible for planning, organizing and directing the operations of the state headquarters, five USO fixed centers and a mobile center. More than that, he helped organize and marshal thousands of volunteers over the years to support hundreds of thousands of active-duty servicemembers, veterans and their families.
John brought 25 years of corporate and military experience to the job, which allowed him to grow and advance the mission of USO.

The USO centers across the state provide local resources and support to our men and women in uniform and their families. These services include transition assistance, financial literacy, child educational programs, deployment and homecoming operations, military civilian outreach programs, Fallen and Wounded Warrior escort services, and a focus on providing the entire community with support and assistance. Through his leadership, dedication and passion for service, John has been a champion in ensuring these programs are readily available for anyone who needs them.

A resident of North Carolina’s Eighth Congressional District and someone I’ve been lucky enough to call a friend for more than two decades, I can say from John, he is a true pillar of the community above and and beyond his USO and military service. John has served as President and CEO of Five Oaks Nursing Center in Concord, the Managing Partner of the Falkenbury Family LLC, and President of the Stephen D. Falkenbury Jr.
Foundation in Charlotte. He also served as the WBT-AM radio station’s on-air analyst and was a credentialed military consultant and frequent guest for News14 Carolina. I know I speak for everyone in the community when I say we are truly grateful for his unwavering service and cannot thank him enough. I would like to offer my sincerest appreciation and wish him a long and happy retirement.

Madam Speaker, please join me today in honoring President John Falkenbury and his service to our state.

HONORING ROSS PEROT
OF TEXAS IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, July 9, 2019

Ms. JOHNSON of Texas. Madam Speaker, today, I would like to honor the life and legacy of Ross Perot, a Texas native and gracious philanthropist. His innovation, leadership, and generosity in both the private and public sectors were immeasurable.

Mr. Perot led a life of excellence and service. He was a pioneer in the computer servces industry, founding the Electronic Data Systems Corp. in 1962 and Perot Systems

Corp. in 1988. With his success, he prioritized efforts to honor and care for our nation’s Pows and veterans. For this work, he was recognized with the Winston Churchill Award, only the third American to receive this award. His humanitarian efforts through the Perot Foundation have brought immeasurable gains to the Dallas community and the state of Texas. He was a strong supporter of the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center in my district, and his family continues to honor his legacy with the Perot Museum of Nature and Science.

We are all grateful for the talents he shared with us. I would like to extend my deepest sympathies to his wife, Margot; their five children and spouses, Ross Jr. and Sarah Perot; Nancy Perot and Rod Jones; Suzanne and Patrick K. McGee; Carolyn and Dr. Karl Rathjen; and Katherine and Eric Reeves; and his 16 grandchildren.

Committee Meetings

NATIONAL DEFENSE AUTHORIZATION ACT FOR FISCAL YEAR 2020

Committee on Rules: Full Committee held a hearing on H.R. 2500, the “National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2020”. The Committee granted, by record vote of 8–4, a structured rule providing for consideration of H.R. 2500, the “National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2020”. The rule provides one hour of general debate equally divided and controlled by the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on Armed Services. The rule waives all points of order against consideration of the bill. The rule provides that an amendment in the nature of a substitute consisting of the text of Rules Committee Print 116–19, modified by the amendment printed in part A of the report, shall be considered as adopted and the bill, as amended, shall be considered as read. The rule waives all points of order against provisions in the bill, as amended. The rule makes in order only those further amendments printed in part B of the report and amendments en bloc described in section 3 of the resolution. Each amendment in part B may be offered only in the order printed in the report, may be offered only by a Member designated in the report, shall be considered as read, shall be debatable for the time specified in the report equally divided and controlled by the proponent and an opponent, may be withdrawn by the proponent at any time before action thereon, shall not be subject to amendment, and shall not be subject to a demand for division of the question. The rule waives all points of order against the further amendments printed in part B of the report or amendments en bloc described in section 3 of the resolution. The rule provides that the chair of the Committee on Armed Services or his designee may offer amendments en bloc consisting of amendments printed in part B of the report not earlier disposed of. Amendments en bloc shall be considered as read, shall be debatable for 20 minutes equally divided and controlled by the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on Armed Services or their designees, shall not be subject to amendment, and shall not be subject to a demand for division of the question. The rule provides that at the conclusion of consideration of the bill for amendment the Committee shall rise and report the bill, as amended, to the House with such further amendments as may have been adopted. The question of such amendments’ adoption shall be put to the House en gros and without division of the question. The rule provides one motion to recommit with or without instructions. The rule provides that clause 7(a)(1) of rule XV shall not apply with respect to H.R. 553. Finally, the rule provides that it shall be in order at any time on the legislative day of July 11, 2019, or July 12, 2019, for the Speaker to entertain motions that the House suspend the rules, as though under clause 1 of rule XV, relating to the bill (H.R. 1327) to extend authorization for the September 11th Victim Compensation Fund of 2001 through fiscal year 2090, and for other purposes. Testimony was heard from Chairman Smith of Washington, and Representatives Thornberry, Garamendi, Armstrong, Bacon, Barr, Bishop of Utah, Dunn, Gallagher, Hartzler, Lesko, Mast, Olson, Pence, Smith of New Jersey, Shimkus, Stauber, Yoho, Stivers, Wilson of South Carolina, and Wenstrup.
