

EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

NATIONAL HISPANIC HERITAGE MONTH

HON. PETER J. VISCLOSKY

OF INDIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, September 16, 2019

Mr. VISCLOSKY. Madam Speaker, it is with great respect and sincere admiration that I rise to celebrate National Hispanic Heritage Month and its 2019 theme, Hispanic Americans: A History of Serving Our Nation. From September 15, 2019, through October 15, 2019, in honor of Hispanic Heritage Month, the people of the United States will once again celebrate the cultures and traditions and reflect on the many exceptional contributions our Hispanic brothers and sisters have made throughout our country's history.

Hispanic Heritage Month, which begins each year on September 15, recognizes the anniversaries of the independence of five Latin American countries: Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, and Nicaragua. Mexico and Chile observe their independence days on September 16 and September 18, respectively. Since its inception as National Hispanic Heritage Week in 1968, which later became National Hispanic Heritage Month in 1988, Americans have taken this time to not only honor the rich culture and traditions of Hispanic Americans, but also to reflect on the steadfast impact Hispanic Americans have had within their communities and throughout our nation. The diligent efforts of generations of Hispanic Americans have resulted in a better America.

America's success is reliant upon the rich heritage and cultural diversity of its people. Hispanic Heritage Month celebrates the many Hispanic leaders and members of our communities who have added to the prosperity of the United States in every facet of our society.

Madam Speaker, at this time, I ask you and my other distinguished colleagues to once again join me in recognizing Hispanic Heritage Month. Throughout America's history, present, and future, the Hispanic community has played and will continue to play a vital role in enriching the quality of life for the people of the United States and, for their remarkable contributions, they are worthy of our deepest respect and gratitude.

Mr. GALLAGHER. Madam Speaker, today I rise to recognize the dedicated years of service and incredible achievements of Kaukauna

Mr. Cazzola joined the United States Army Reserve in May 1970. He attended Basic Training at Fort Knox, Kentucky, and progressed to Advanced Individual Training as an Ammunition Specialist assigned to the 395th Ordnance Company at Redstone Arsenal, Alabama.

After 13 years of service, then Staff Sergeant Cazzola was promoted to Warrant Officer 1 and assigned to the 2nd Ammunition Platoon. Warrant Officer Cazzola's outstanding performance and execution of his duties earned him placement in the Active Guard Reserve Program in 1992.

Chief Warrant Officer Cazzola continued to excel through the ranks during his service, eventually earning the rank of Chief Warrant Officer 5. From 1995 to 2002, CW5 Cazzola served as a Support Maintenance Technician and the Ammunition Technician at a Regional Training Site. His commitment to serve was clear as he took on additional responsibilities in his role as Accountability Officer and Facility Manager.

CW5 Cazzola retired from the United States Army in February 2007 after a career of distinguished service. CW5 Cazzola was proudly inducted into the U.S. Army Ordnance Corps Hall of Fame as part of the 2019 Class of Contemporary Inductees. Induction into the U.S. Army Ordnance Corps Hall of Fame is a true honor and is reserved only for service members who go above and beyond their call of duty. CW5 Cazzola's numerous years of selfless service to this country are truly inspiring. Madam Speaker, I urge all my colleagues to join me in thanking CW5 Cazzola for his service and congratulating him on his induction into the U.S. Army Ordnance Corps Hall of Fame.

IN RECOGNITION OF THE ORANGE COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION

HON. J. LUIS CORREA

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, September 16, 2019

Mr. CORREA. Madam Speaker, I rise today in celebration of the Orange County Historical Society's 100th year of historical preservation.

The County of Orange in Southern California was officially formed on August 1, 1889. Thirty years later, on May 28, 1919, the Orange County Historical Society was founded to collect and preserve all materials relating to the history of Orange County.

The founding directors were prominent civic leaders: Samuel Armor, one of the County's first supervisors; H. Clay Kellogg, a civil engineer; Charles C. Chapman, citrus pioneer and philanthropist; and Samuel M. Davis, lawyer and former O.C. District Attorney.

The Society assisted with the interpretation of archaeological sites, planned rancho-style fiestas, organized parades and all manner of activities that involved or reflected local history. They even successfully petitioned the federal government to rename Sugarloaf Peak in the Santa Ana Mountains as Pleasants Peak, in honor of pioneer and Society member "Judge" J.E. Pleasants.

The Society has encapsulated Orange County's history through many landmark books and distinguished publications, including the Orange County History Series, the Centennial Bibliography of Orange County (1989), and the Orange Countiana, a journal that features articles written by many of Orange County's finest historians.

The Society has collaborated with local universities, such as California State University of Fullerton and Chapman University, to host historical conferences, workshops, tours of historic sites, and banquets honoring local pioneers. One especially popular event is the OC History Round-Up, a gathering where history comes alive through storytelling, music, and reenactments of some of Orange County's iconic historical figures.

The Society has hosted hundreds of diverse speakers who have played significant roles in Orange County's history. Additionally, the group recognizes outstanding work by historians with its Terry E. Stephenson Award and, for student historians, the Friis Pioneer Press Award.

The Orange County Historical Society will mark its Centennial with a celebratory gala on September 14, 2019. Please join me in congratulating the Society and its members for reaching this important milestone and for their tireless work bringing together families, residents, and historians to discover and explore Orange County's rich history.
