PRAayer

Reverend Dr. Dan C. Cummins, Capitol Worship, Washington, D.C., offered the following prayer:

Merciful Father, in times like these, when we feel victimized by our circumstances, let us remember that we are not alone. In times like these, we need Your help to stand firm. In times like these, we need Your Holy Spirit to guide us. In times like these, we need Your prophet to declare Your word to us. In times like these, we need Your Holy Spirit to refresh us. In times like these, we need Your word revealed to heal us. In times like these, we need Your Holy Spirit to cleanse us. In times like these, I pray for God’s mercy on all those who are suffering. In times like these, we need Your promise to help us. In times like these, we need reminding that wisdom is from above. In times like these, we need reminding that the world is not our home. In times like these, I pray for Your presence and Your grace. In times like these, may we see the face of Christ in those who are suffering. In times like these, may we be comforted by Your love and Your mercy. In times like these, may we be reminded that we are not alone.

And yes, in times like these, when we see so many around us in desperation, remind us one more time, we are our brother’s keeper.

In Jesus’ name I pray, amen.

Senate

The Senate met at 3 p.m. and was called to order by the President pro tempore (Mr. GRASSLEY).

PRAYER
The Chaplain, Dr. Barry C. Black, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Holy God, who loves all and forgets none, thank You for the guidance of Your sacred words, a light for dark times.

Lord, we are grateful You provide wisdom for those who revere You. Send help and strength to our lawmakers, that they may strive to honor You in every endeavor. Inspire them to mount up on wings like eagles, running without weariness and walking without fainting. Lord, give them the wisdom to have a conscience void of offense toward You and humanity.

Eternal God, hear our intercessions, answer them according to Your will, and make us all channels of Your mercy and love.

We pray in Your Holy Name. Amen.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE
The President pro tempore led the Pledge of Allegiance, as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. HAWLEY). The Senator from Iowa.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to speak as in morning business for 1 minute.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

IOWA V. IOWA STATE FOOTBALL GAME
Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, this weekend I attended what some call Iowa’s own Super Bowl, the Iowa v. Iowa State football game. I talked with Iowans while tailgating, and tailgating most of the time goes on before the game for me. We talked about issues such as ethanol, biodiesel, and trade.

This year, the game was in Ames, and Iowa State hosted ESPN’s football “College GameDay,” and this was the first time ever for Iowans to do that. It was an opportunity to show off Iowa State’s campus and to celebrate the tradition of the annual Cy-Hawk game. Congratulations to the Iowa Hawkeyes for winning this year’s match-up, but both teams put up a strong fight, as you can tell from the final score of Iowa’s winning 18 to 17.

I yield the floor.

RESERVATION OF LEADER TIME
The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the leadership time is reserved.

MORNING BUSINESS
The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senate will be in a period of morning business with Senators permitted to speak therein for up to 10 minutes each. Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

RECOGNITION OF THE MAJORITY LEADER
The PRESIDING OFFICER. The majority leader is recognized.

SAUDI ARABIA
Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, this weekend saw a brazen attack by Iran on a critical oil facility in Saudi Arabia. This is not just an isolated drone strike with the prospect of regional escalation but an attack with significant repercussions for the entire global energy market.

We are fortunate that advances in U.S. oil and gas production have made the United States more energy independent and have added capacity to global markets, but the impact of this attack could still be substantial. For this reason, I welcome the administration’s preparations to potentially release oil from our Strategic Petroleum Reserve, if needed, to stabilize global markets. I hope our international partners will join us in imposing consequences on Tehran for this reckless, destabilizing attack.

APPROPRIATIONS
Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, now on another matter, when the Senate returned last week, we anticipated our top priority would be conducting the appropriations process and avoiding a lapse in government funding. We had a clear roadmap, a bipartisan, bicameral agreement negotiated by the President’s team and the Speaker of the House. It set top-line funding targets for both defense and nondefense, and it laid out ground rules to protect the process from partisan politics.

There has actually been reason for optimism. This week, we hope to move to the House-passed bills for Defense, Energy and Water, Labor-HHS, and State and Foreign Ops. This would be our first procedural step to getting the process moving for all of our priorities on both sides.

There is nothing controversial about this particular grouping of bills. In fact, it was Speaker PELOSI who combined this grouping of bills to move first. Furthermore, if any of the funding measures were going to be handled earnestly across party lines, surely it ought to be the bill funding the Department of Defense. Our fundamental obligation is to provide for the common defense of our country, and all Members feel our responsibility to keep the Nation safe.

Fortunately, the caps agreement specifically allows us to increase defense funding to meet the growing threats our Nation faces. Yet here is where we are: One week in, our Democratic colleagues tried to stonewall the defense funding bill -- a vote and are now indicating they may even filibuster a motion to begin considering the House-passed defense funding bill later this week.

There is only one way to read this. Some of our Democratic colleagues have determined they would rather stage a political fight with President Trump than secure the resources that our uniformed commanders urgently need to do their jobs. National security is taking a back seat to partisan politics.

Let’s be absolutely clear about the concerns and the priorities that our Democratic friends are de-prioritizing. The defense spending measure would bolster efforts to modernize our forces and those of our U.S. military of the future. Russia is actively modernizing its own forces, just as we have seen the Putin regime step up its brazen steps to exert its destabilizing influence well beyond its borders. In China, the last decade has seen military spending nearly double. Our regional partners continue to feel the tightening grip of the Chinese Communist Party on trade and strategic activity throughout the Indo-Pacific region while the technological ripples of Chinese cyber meddling are felt right here at home.

In the face of surging great-power adversariness, simple upkeep is not enough to keep America and our allies safe from aggression. Comprehensive funding for R&D, modernization, and readiness programs is what is needed. In Afghanistan, Syria, Somalia, Yemen, and beyond, we continue to face sustained threats from terrorist organizations. In the Middle East, we have seen how Iran’s bid for regional hegemony and its investment in terror, missiles, and cyber activities threaten the United States, our allies and partners, key shipping lanes, and global energy markets.

This bipartisan Defense bill would help us to adapt to meet these new threats while ensuring our commanders can prosecute existing operations without being consumed by the instability of short-term continuing resolutions. Yet our Democratic colleagues would rather provoke a partisan feud with the President. They would rather have a fight with the President than stick to the agreement we all made. At least that is where we are as of the moment.

I remain hopeful that my friends on the Democratic side will join us in honoring the terms of the agreement that has been struck by the President and the Speaker and help us to reboot a bipartisan funding process. The readiness and modernization of America’s military and the safety of the American people should not play second fiddle to our Democratic colleagues’ political strategy.

BRETT KAVANAUGH

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, on a completely different matter, for anybody who has been reading the news over the past few days, it has probably felt a little like Groundhog Day because over the last couple of days, leading Democrats have tried to grab on to yet another poorly sourced, thinly reported, unsubstantiated allegation against Justice Brett Kavanaugh. There they go again. Call it a 1-year anniversary reenactment with Senate Democrats reopening the sad and embarrassing chapter they wrote last September.

The latest allegation was blasted out by a major newspaper despite the apparent lack of any corroborating evidence whatsoever. The reporting was so thin that the story ran not in the news section but on the opinion page. In fact, the article had to fact-check an erroneous correction. The writers conveniently failed to note that the supposed victim herself declined to be interviewed, and several of her friends say she has no memory of any such thing happening.

We all remember this pattern from the last time around: Shoot first, and correct the facts later. Here is another familiar pattern: Just like last September, little things like facts and evidence didn’t stop the Democrats from rushing to exploit this. Even as the media was trying to backpedal, a number of the Democratic Presidential candidates were hysterically calling for Justice Kavanaugh to be impeached on the heels of this ridiculous attack.

They were calling for Justice Kavanaugh to be impeached. That includes several of our own Senate colleagues. Even after the massive correction, no one in that group has backed off his ridiculous threat.

This laughable suggestion is already earning scorn throughout the country and across the political spectrum. A majority of Senators and the American people rightly rejected the politics of unsubstantiated attacks last year. It is just as transparent and self-serving today, 1 year later.

Yet it would be a mistake to dismiss this as a bad case of sour grapes. This is not just a leftwing obsession with the Constitution that it feels threatened by fair and faithful judges.

This is what I would say: When the simple notion that judges should be faithful to the Constitution looks like an attack on your agenda, maybe it is your agenda that needs a makeover, not our independent judiciary. When you are this willing to launch uninged personal attacks, you reveal a whole lot more about your own radicalism than about the men and women you target.

This is my commitment and the commitment of all of my Republican colleagues: As long as we remain in the Senate, we will fight to preserve our fair and independent judiciary.

LABOR, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, EDUCATION, DEFENSE, STATE, FOREIGN OPERATIONS, AND ENERGY AND WATER DEVELOPMENT APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2020—Motion to Proceed

CLOTURE MOTION

We, the undersigned Senators, in accordance with the provisions of rule XXII of the Standing Rules of the Senate, do hereby move to bring to a close debate on the motion to proceed to H.R. 2740, a bill making appropriations for the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education, and related agencies for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2020, and for other purposes.

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The call will come.
Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, before I begin, I just want to comment on the Republican leader’s remarks. I listened very carefully to Leader MCCONNELL’s remarks about the appropriations process. He accused Democrats of wanting to provoke a partisan fight with the President rather than fund our military. It was a bold accusation considering that it was the President and the Republican majority on the Appropriations Committee who proposed taking funding from the military to spend on the President’s wall. That is what Democrats oppose. That is what Leader MCCONNELL called staging a political fight.

Across the country we see communities, military bases, and people in the military saying: Taking away this money hurts us. All Democrats are asking for is to protect the troops from having their resources robbed for a border wall—resources that Congress said should go to the military. By the way, the President promised Mexico would fund that wall—resources that Congress said should go to the military. By the way, the President promised Mexico would fund that wall.

They don’t let our top-notch companies in or let them in under such restraints that many of them don’t want to come in or can’t operate effectively or have to surrender their family jewels, their intellectual property, to Chinese companies.

If that is the case, and it is, why do we just let any Chinese company come in here, particularly when they might be a real national security risk? China’s telecom companies have 10 “points of presence” in North American networks, you know how many American companies have the same in China? Zero. China Telecom gets access to our networks, but T-Mobile or any other American telecom company can’t operate in China. Enough of that. Enough of China trying to take advantage of us. We sort of sit there and do not do anything to protect our workers, our wealth, and the great kinds of ideas Americans come up with in terms of intellectual property.

This isn’t just a question of fairness. It is a question of which nation will lead the world in these industries in the coming decades, creating jobs and wealth. I want America to lead. Our businesses should be able to compete equally and fairly. I am confident, if there were a level playing field, America would prevail, and we would stay the leading economy in the world. If we continue to let China take advantage of us while we sit there with our hands folded and particularly for our children and our grandchildren.

I conclude by reminding the Trump administration that in the ongoing trade negotiations with Beijing, where the President has been tougher on China than either of the previous two administrations—and that is a good thing—the topic of reciprocity and fair market access should be front and center, and we shouldn’t give in until we are treated fairly.

I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

BRETT KAVANAUGH

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, last year, we on the Judiciary Committee conducted an incredibly thorough review of a nominee to the Supreme Court of the United States. We dug into Justice Kavanaugh’s personal and professional life and discussed concerns openly in public.

 Allegations were raised against the Justice, but none could be corroborated or verified. I know about this because I had a team of dozens of lawyers and investigators chasing down each allegation we received. My team spoke to 45 individuals and took 25 written statements.

Anyone can review the 415-page investigation summary report that I released last November. We laid out the information we received, including some of the ugliest of claims. In the end, there was no credible evidence to support any allegations. Brett Kavanaugh then was duly confirmed to the Supreme Court by this body, as prescribed in the Constitution.

Now, fast forward to this past weekend, and the issues that I and a lot of other Members of the Senate have asked about this very day, just as if there is nothing else going on in this town, but you dig up something that happened a year ago.

The New York Times published a book excerpt about Justice Kavanaugh’s younger days that has fueled a very fresh rumor from someone whose friends claim contacted Senators on the committee. That person didn’t provide information to the committee’s majority. Apparently, he also didn’t provide any information to these writers. It is only on the word of two anonymous sources that his name and accusation come up in this story in the New York Times.

Again, my office never received anything from Mr. Stier or his unnamed friends, and we never received an allegation against Kavanaugh like the one other Members of the Senate have asked about this very day, just as if there is nothing else going on in this town, but you dig up something that happened a year ago.

The New York Times published a book excerpt about Justice Kavanaugh’s younger days that has fueled a very fresh rumor from someone whose friends claim contacted Senators on the committee. That person didn’t provide information to the committee’s majority. Apparently, he also didn’t provide any information to these writers. It is only on the word of two anonymous sources that his name and accusation come up in this story in the New York Times.

Now, the most shameful piece of this episode is that it took more than a full day, after publication, for the editors to intervene and to provide critical context. An editor’s note added to the story last night reads: “The book reports that the female student declined to be interviewed and says that she does not recall the incident.”

Let me quote again: “... she does not recall the incident.” That is the alleged victim. That is the opposite of corroboration and verification. In the legal world, this sort of thing is called exculpatory information. When it is not laid bare to provide greater context, it creates a serious credibility problem.

In this case, the New York Times withheld crucial facts that undercut its own reporting. We now have an uncorroborated accusation, rooted only in unnamed sources, with no direct knowledge of the event and that the alleged victim doesn’t even remember.

Now, you know about the New York Times. Their slogan is that they only print what is “fit to print.” I just described this situation of no corroboration rooted in an unnamed source without direct knowledge of the event and that the alleged victim doesn’t even remember.

Now, to get back to the slogan of the newspaper, when did this stuff I described become something “fit to print” by the supposed American paper of record?

The sad consequences of this article are a misinformed public, a greater divide in our own discourse, and a deeper lack of faith in our news media. I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

UNITED AUTO WORKERS STRIKE

Mr. BROWN. Today I hope my colleagues will join me in standing in solidarity with thousands of UAW workers in Ohio and across the country. Workers are going without their paychecks today because they are demanding General Motors respect the work they do which has made this company so successful.

All workers have the right to stand up for fair pay and benefits, for better working conditions, and for a voice in their company. Let’s be clear. The autoworkers, shall we say, are the engine behind GM’s success. GM wouldn’t be making a dime of profit without the workers who actually make their cars and trucks. Autoworkers stood up and made sacrifices to help GM when times were tough.

The Presiding Officer was a Member of the House then, and I was a Member of the Senate. We saw what happened during the rescue of the auto industry and how much those workers gave up to save this industry. We remember the depth of the recession. We remember when President Obama took office as the auto industry was in the depths of the recession. We remember the promise to save this industry. We remember the billions of dollars in federal loans the auto industry received.

I spoke this week with Gary Jones, the international president of the United Auto Workers, about Lordstown and bringing these jobs back. That is what they are trying to win at the bargaining table.

We know strikes are always a last resort for workers. My wife grew up in Ashtabula, OH. Her dad carried a union card, Utility Workers of America. He did maintenance for that plant for 30 years. Twice when she was growing up they went on strike. She knows, as workers know, they never get back what they lose in a strike. So when they strike, it is when their backs are against the wall. The wife of one GM worker posted online this week: “I can only pay this strike is short.”

These workers want to do their jobs. They want to work. They don’t want to be on the picket line. They want to reach a solution that honors their work.

GM needs to agree to a contract that honors the dignity of work and recognizes autoworkers, the communities, and the families who are affected by this and helps up the success of the auto industry in Ohio and across the country.

Mr. President, once again, the Trump administration is trying to take healthcare away from people.

Mr. President, once again, the Trump administration is trying to take healthcare away from people. I will never forget. I was sitting at this desk on the Senate floor the night when Senators MURKOWSKI, COLLINS, and McCain voted against repealing the Affordable Care Act. I watched my colleagues. All of whom have good health insurance—all of us have good health insurance because of taxpayers. I watched my colleagues, one after another, vote to take health insurance away from millions of people. There are 900,000 people in my State alone who have insurance now because of the Affordable Care Act.

This time, the Trump administration is trying to pull funding from health facilities that tell the truth to their patients—facilities like Planned Parenthood—that helps up the success of the Affordable Care Act.

The assault on women’s healthcare isn’t just coming from the Trump administration; they are encouraging rightwing State legislatures all over the country. Over the past few years, we have seen State legislatures notably—including my State, unfortunately—Ohio—making it harder and harder for clinics to operate and provide those preventive services. They cut funding, they increase red tape, they raise against bureaucrats and bu- reaucracy, but they make it harder with more red tape. They come up with rule after unnecessary rule to dissuade young women from coming to these clinics.

These rules aren’t really about pa- tient health; they are about closing health clinics. Again, who made these laws? It is always the same. It is men who don’t listen, men who don’t understand how women’s bodies’ work. It is men who don’t understand how preven- tive care, like birth control, works. It is time for old White men in Wash- ington and in courtrooms to stop try- ing to take away women’s healthcare.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

CLOTURE MOTION

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Pursuant to rule XXII, the Chair lays before the Senate the pending cloture motion, which the clerk will state.

CLOTURE MOTION

We, the undersigned Senators, in accord- ance with the provisions of rule XXII of the Standing Rules of the Senate, do hereby move to bring into a close debate on the nomi- nation of John Rakolta, Jr., of Michigan, to be Ambassador Extraordinary and Pleni- potentiary of the United States of America to the United Arab Emirates.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. By unan- imous consent, the mandatory quorum call has been waived.

The question is, Is it the sense of the Senate that debate on the nomination of John Rakolta, Jr., of Michigan, to be Ambassador Extraordinary and Pleni- potentiary of the United States of America to the United Arab Emirates, shall be brought to a close?

The yeas and nays are mandatory under the rule.

(Yeas and nays result—yeas 55, nays 27, as follows:

Mr. CROMER. Mr. President, I would like to congratulate my friend for his remarkable leadership in our State’s media circles, Patsy Smullin.

Our Commonwealth is blessed with a rich ecosystem and picturesque land- and benefit Kentucky commu- nities.

James chose to participate in the To- bacco Buyout, which was created by legislation I introduced to free Ken- tucky farmers from a Depression-era tobacco quota system. He set out on a new agricultural path and focused on crops that would protect his region and one of the most bio-diverse rivers in the world.

James designed a new style of land management specifically to benefit the natural environment of his community and our country. He began growing hay, raising pasture-fed cattle, and harvesting hardwood. By his esti- mation, he has planted more than a million trees, and the majority of his farm is now forestland. As a result, his 600 acres of vegetation have formed a natural barrier to protect the Green River from runoff and other threats.

I would like to congratulate my friend for his remarkable leadership in Hart County and his important conser- vation work that has benefited Ken- tucky and our environment. He is cer- tainly deserving of this distinguished award, and I ask my Senate colleagues to join me in honoring Dr. James Mid- dleton for his passionate protection of our heritage.

TRIBUTE TO PATSY SMULLIN

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. President, today I want to recognize and honor a quint- essential Oregonian and legendary fig- ure in our State’s media circles, Patsy Smullin.
On September 12, Patsy earned well-deserved honors from the National Association of Broadcasters for her long-time leadership as president and owner of California Oregon Broadcasting, Inc., COBI.

As association president and our former Senate colleague Gordon Smith put it in presenting Patsy with its Chuck Sherman Television Leadership Award for local TV in medium and smaller markets, “Patsy’s passion for excellence in small market local television is unparalleled. She exemplified the best of broadcasting by running the longest continuously-owned and operated, independent broadcast organization in the West.”

Like former Senator Smith and countless elected officials throughout our State, I have come to know Patsy from regular visits to southern Oregon for townhalls, community meetings, and more.

When I visit TV station KOBI in Medford, I can always count on a wide-ranging and thought-provoking set of questions from her station’s journalists, and of course, that steadfast commitment to serious and fair journalism starts at the top with Patsy.

As the son of a journalist, I very much appreciate her unshakable dedication to independent journalism that continues in the very best tradition of both her profession and in the legacy established back in 1933 by California Oregon Broadcasting, Inc.

As a Senator, I appreciate in equal measure her rock-solid devotion to local journalism that serves viewers so well in all of southern Oregon.

In Patsy’s remarks accepting her award, she noted that ‘Television in medium and smaller markets is a business where the hours are often long, the pressure to get it right is heavy, and the monetary compensation is not equal to the responsibilities.”

Then, with classic Patsy modesty, she added, “I have been very fortunate throughout my career to be surrounded by individuals who might not make a lot of money, but who make a positive difference in their community each and every day and love their work.”

I will conclude my remarks by saying that all of southern Oregon is incredibly fortunate that Patsy has set the bar high in her decades-long career for working long hours and love of her profession to make a positive difference in her community each and every day.

TRIBUTE TO PETER B. EDELMAN

Mr. BROWN. Mr. President, I want to recognize the work that Professor Peter B. Edelman, faculty director of the Center on Poverty and Inequality at Georgetown University, has done and for his decades-long career fighting poverty on Milwaukee’s near Southside. He exemplifies excellence in small market local television. Professor Edelman continues to help expose the crippling poverty that still permeates through our country. His books ‘So Rich, So Poor: Why It’s So Hard to End Poverty’ and ‘Not a Crime to Be Poor. The Criminalization of Poverty in America’ have been important in shaping my view on the lack of economic mobility in America. A dedicated public servant who has worked in the organizations and organizations, Professor Edelman has been on the forefront of promoting and implementing social justice policies.

While I recognize we live in a time where politicians and special interests groups have tipped the scales in favor of corporations and the wealthy. I am encouraged to know that Professor Edelman is educating the next generation of anti-poverty advocates.

As the Coalition on Human Needs honors Professor Edelman as a recipient of its 2019 Human Needs Hero award, I want to express my thanks for his work as an advocate of working and development.

For five decades, Journey House has been a beacon of hope in the city’s Clarke Square neighborhood. Since its founding in the summer of 1969, Journey House has made tremendous strides in helping families move out of poverty on Milwaukee’s south side. I am delighted to honor this remarkable community organization and commemorate this significant milestone.

Through its four core programs, Journey House has helped low-income community members achieve their greatest potential. Its adult education program provides basic skills and GED education in both English and Spanish to lay the foundation for a successful career path. Its youth development programs focus on keeping children and young adults away from drugs and violence. Its emphasis on workforce readiness builds the skills and motivation employers seek. Its family engagement events offer the simple but important gift of spending time together in a safe and welcoming environment. Programming also includes community learning centers, housing for homeless youth aging out of foster care, and affordable family housing.

Journey House began with a staff of two local teenagers, Zian Kiciewski and Rudy Rosas, working as codirectors. With funding from VISTA—Volunteers in Service to America—they organized programs for youth engagement and development. As Journey House started to grow and as Zian and Rudy returned to school, the organization sought permanent leadership.

In 1974, Journey House hired its first full-time director in 1971. Today, Journey House is led by Dr. Michele Bria who, since her start in 1998, has been the inspiration behind the agency’s success. Under her leadership, the agency has grown from a small operation with two sites and a $200,000 budget to a multimillion dollar organization that serves thousands daily. Her hard work and commitment are reflected in the achievements of countless youth and families who have broken the cycle of poverty.

From its humble beginnings five decades ago, Journey House has played a transformative role in one of Milwaukee’s most ethnically and economically challenged neighborhoods. I am proud to recognize the contributions made by Journey House over the past 50 years, and I am grateful for the work the staff do every day to change lives for the better.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

RECOGNIZING HIGH STREET CHURCH

Mr. JONES. Mr. President, I rise today in recognition of High Street Church of Christ in Tuscumbia, AL. For over a century, this church has been a source of hope and inspiration to the city of Tuscumbia and the State of Alabama. Through their ministry and outreach, they have transformed the lives of so many Alabamians. Last year, on Senator Doug Jones’s request, the High Street Church of Christ hosted their centennial celebration with 2 days of events commemorating 100 years of tireless work and dedication. The speakers for the event included Brothers Michael S. Robert, Mansel Long, and Stanley Hubbard, many of whom who have been longstanding members of the church. I am proud to be able to honor the High Street Church here on the U.S. Senate floor and to let the congregants of this church know that they have my support and good wishes.

In is written, “Upon this rock I will build my church.” High Street Church of Christ has proven to be a rock—a pillar of the local community in North-west Alabama—since its inception in 1918. High Street Church has been a trailblazer as one of the first minority congregations in north Alabama. Under the current leadership of Brothers Eddie Goodloe, William Long, Roderick Metcalf, and Thomas Sledge, the church’s good work continues.

I am proud to recognize the contributions made by Journey House over the past 50 years, and I am grateful for the work the staff do every day to change lives for the better.
positive impact on Tuscumbia and Alabama for years to come.

Introduction of Bills and Joint Resolutions

The following bills and joint resolutions were introduced, read the first and second times by unanimous consent, and referred as indicated:

By Mr. HOEVEN (for himself, Mr. BENNET, Mr. BRAUN, and Ms. SMITH):

CLIMATE CHANGE

Mr. WHITEHOUSE. Mr. President, I am here today on the Senate floor for “Time to Wake Up” speech No. 253.

If you felt like the heat this summer was particularly brutal, you were not imagining things. July was the hottest month ever recorded, according to NOAA. The Secretary General of the World Meteorological Organization noted that monthly temperature records have been rewritten climate history, with dozens of new temperature records at [the] local, national and global level. The rapid heating of our Earth is wreaking havoc on our environment and public health. Here is a list from NOAA that you can find on their website.

Selected Significant Climate Anomalies and Events, July 2019, all around the globe.

In 1 day—1 day—the Greenland ice sheet lost 12½ billion tons of ice, melted into the sea. Throughout the world, from France to India, to the Arctic Circle, temperature records shattered. On July 4, the people of Anchorage, AK, experienced their first ever 90-degree day. At one point in July, excessive heat warnings asked nearly 170 million Americans to avoid the outdoors and take shelter in air conditioning, where available.

According to Deke Arndt, head of climate monitoring for NOAA, these record heat waves are, and I quote him, “almost entirely due to climate change.” Jack Williams, a professor with the Center for Climatic Research at the University of Wisconsin, told NBC news the “[h]eat waves of today are going to be the normal events of tomorrow.”

Where there is heat, there is apt to be fire. In the United States, wildfires rage on a remarkable scale. According to a new report by the major data analytics company CoreLogic, over 6.7 million acres have burned since the United States in 2018. That is about the land area of the 75 largest cities in the United States combined.

This summer, the Arctic experienced a record-setting wildfire season. Places that have not traditionally burned in parts of northern Canada, Alaska, Greenland, and Siberia were engulfed in flames visible from space.

In this map, the North Pole is about here. This looks down at Alaska here and Russia here and the Arctic. As you can see, fires were everywhere. Guillermo Rein of Imperial College London told Wired:

Arctic fires are rare, but they’re not unprecedented. What is unprecedented is the amount of carbon dioxide emissions. Never before, we set to have satellites around the planet seen this level of activity.

As of August 28, fires cut across more than 6 million acres of Siberian forest and 2.5 million acres of Alaskan tundra and forested land.

These fires aren’t just scarring the Arctic landscape; they are also releasing tons more of carbon dioxide, causing more climate change. Researchers estimate the Arctic fires have released more than 180 million tons of CO₂. For comparison, my home State of Rhode Island was responsible for around 9.75 million tons of carbon dioxide through our fossil fuel combustion in 2016—roughly 20 times as much, just from these fires.

NASA scientists are also tracing soot from these fires. The soot absorbs sunlight and warms the atmosphere; and when the soot settles and covers Arctic ice, it absorbs more sunlight and speeds up the melting and the warming. Once these forces are set in motion, the vicious cycle of warmer temperatures, wildfires, ice melt, and then ever warmer temperature is hard to break.

As fires rage in another iconic ecosystem: the Amazon. Far from the Arctic, fires rage in another iconic ecosystem: the Amazon. So far this year, the Amazon region has seen over 40,000 fires. Unlike the Arctic, our changing climate is less to blame for the devastation than humans.

Again, natural forest fires in the Amazon are rare, but warmer and drier conditions under climate change do make the fires larger and longer lasting than in the past. The true culprit in Brazil is manmade deforestation, accelerating under the new Brazilian President. Enforcement against illegal logging and clearing has declined. In the first 6 months of this year, over 1.300 square miles of Amazon forest were destroyed in Brazil, sometimes at a rate of more than three football fields’ worth of forest per minute.

The Journal Science Advances warns that deforestation in the Amazon is approaching a threshold where the rainforest will undergo irreversible changes.

Without the healthy forests of the Amazon, the world will lose one of its most important terrestrial carbon sinks—areas that naturally absorb carbon from our atmosphere. The Amazon is home to about 5 percent of annual global carbon dioxide emissions. A 2015 study published in Nature shows that the amount of carbon dioxide the Amazon absorbs is already falling, has fallen since the 1990s by nearly one-third.

In Brazil, the air has gotten so thick with smoke that in Porto Velho, a city in the upper Amazon basin, over 400 children landed in a local hospital with respiratory problems in the first 3 weeks of August. Public health offices in Brazil have declared a state of emergency. A pediatrician in Porto Velho said:

“Every year we have some fires and issues with smoke, but this was the worst year of them all.”

The tragedy in Brazil is reminiscent of the damage done in Southeast Asia to make way for palm oil plantations. Sumatra, Borneo, and parts of Malaysia saw over 70 percent of their peat forest lost to manmade deforestation. In Indonesia, nearly 106,000 acres burned in the first 5 months of this August.

I am from the Ocean State. Wildfires, of course, don’t burn in the ocean, but unprecedented heat waves are surging through our seas, laying waste to coral reefs in much the way wildfires ravage forests. The harm to the Amazon rainforests and to the Arctic steppes from wildfire finds an aquatic echo in the death of the Great Barrier Reef and reefs all over the world from climate-driven, unprecedented ocean heat waves.

Our willful blindness to these obvious calamities playing out on God’s Earth, which are largely due to malign influence from the fossil fuel industry and its great armada of front groups it uses to do its dirty business, needs to stop. The willful blindness has to come to an end. From the Equator to the Arctic, an Earth aflame will have life-or-death consequences for generations to come.

Even our news media are turning their back on the need for action. As these fires raged, Media Matters chronicled that not one—not one—of the five influential Sunday news shows covered them. They are basically political gossip shows. Indeed, Media Matters showed cable news devoted to wildfires in the Amazon only 7 percent of the time they devoted to the Notre Dame Cathedral fire. In other speeches, I pointed out how the royal baby has swamped climate coverage in our patriotic media.

And for Indonesia or Brazilian rain forests or Arctic tundra, the costs of the corporate greed and paid-for political ignorance that are stopping us from acting are on full display. Our planet suffers as a consequence. We avert our eyes in the pursuit of cheap fossil fuel. But nothing comes without a cost, and our debt is coming due. Pope Francis drove home this point in a recent Sunday address, saying: “We have caused a climate emergency that gravely threatens nature and life itself, including our own.”

Our world is on fire. I am sorry to quarrel with Billy Joel, but this time, we did start the fire. If that can’t get the attention of my colleagues in Congress, I do not know what can. We must wake up.

I yield the floor.

ADJOURNMENT UNTIL 10 A.M. TOMORROW

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate is adjourned until 10 a.m.

Thereupon, the Senate, at 6:22 p.m., adjourned until Tuesday, September 17, 2019, at 10 a.m.
NATIONAL HISPANIC HERITAGE MONTH

HON. PETER J. VISCLOSKY
OF INDIANA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, September 16, 2019

Mr. VISCLOSKY. Madam Speaker, it is with great respect and sincere admiration that I rise to celebrate National Hispanic Heritage Month and its 2019 theme, Hispanic Americans: A History of Serving Our Nation. From September 15, 2019, through October 15, 2019, in honor of Hispanic Heritage Month, the people of the United States will once again celebrate the cultures and traditions and reflect on the many exceptional contributions our Hispanic brothers and sisters have made throughout our country's history.

Hispanic Heritage Month, which begins each year on September 15, recognizes the anniversaries of the independence of five Latin American countries: Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, and Nicaragua. Mexico and Chile observe their independence days on September 16 and September 18, respectively. Since its inception as National Hispanic Heritage Week in 1968, which later became National Hispanic Heritage Month in 1988, Americans have taken this time to not only honor the rich culture and traditions of Hispanic Americans, but also to reflect on the steadfast impact Hispanic Americans have had within their communities and throughout our nation. The diligent efforts of generations of Hispanic Americans have resulted in a better America.

America’s success is reliant upon the rich heritage and cultural diversity of its people. Hispanic Heritage Month celebrates the many Hispanic leaders and members of our communities who have added to the prosperity of the United States in every facet of our society.

Madam Speaker, at this time, I ask you and my other distinguished colleagues to once again join me in recognizing Hispanic Heritage Month. Throughout America’s history, present, and future, the Hispanic community has played and will continue to play a vital role in enriching the quality of life for the people of the United States and, for their remarkable contributions, they are worthy of our deepest respect and gratitude.

Mr. GALLAGHER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor American Legion Post 117 Elefson-Zeuske as its members celebrate the 100th anniversary of their charter in Shawano, Wisconsin.

Post 117 was chartered on November 1, 1919 in the name of Edwin Elefson as a patriotic veterans organization dedicated to supporting America’s service members and veterans. A member of the 32nd Red Arrow Division, Elefson was killed in action on September 14, 1918 in France. He is memorialized at the Oise-Aisne American Cemetery.

The Post held its first meeting on November 17, 1919 shortly after 30 members signed the original charter. In 1942, the Post changed its name to Elefson-Zeuske in honor of Wilmer Zeuske. A Sergeant in the US Army, Wilmer Zeuske was killed in action during World War II.

For 100 years, the Post has been an active member of the greater Shawano community by sponsoring numerous activities with the goal of improving the community, state, and nation. The members work hard to improve youth leadership through school programs, Boy Scout programs, and American Legion baseball.

The Post has helped develop statewide veteran programs to ensure that veterans are cared for when they return home from service. The members of Elefson-Zeuske truly embody the qualities of patriotism and selfless service to this country.

Madam Speaker, I urge all members of this body to join me in thanking Post 117 for its support of veterans, students, and the Shawano community.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Monday, September 16, 2019

Mr. HASTINGS. Madam Speaker, as Chairman of the U.S. Helsinki Commission—a congressional watchdog for human rights and democracy in Europe and Eurasia—I am frequently reminded of the new opportunities that technology and globalization present for human rights defenders around the globe. For those struggling to defend their liberty and human dignity, our interconnected world brings with it both sharing information, coordinating action, and demonstrating solidarity across thousands of miles in fractions of a second. It means that truth is more capable of piercing the veil of enforced ignorance erected by autocratic regimes. Technology also further empowers dissidents in exile to connect with, and influence the foot soldiers of freedom who march on in their homelands.

But with these new openings for liberty comes new challenges to the law enforcement, authoritarian and autocratic regimes are appropriating agile, 21st century technology to prop up sclerotic systems of brutality and corruption. Technological developments have provoked greater political opponents, independent journalists, and civil society activists operate in safety. The entire Staglin family have dedicated themselves to mental health advocacy and philanthropy, which they view as an obligation to give back. In 1990 the Staglins met at the University of California Los Angeles, where he graduated with a Bachelor of Science in Engineering and she earned her Bachelor of Arts degree in International Relations. Mr. Staglin then received an MBA with a concentration in Finance and Systems Analysis from the Stanford University Graduate School of Business. In 1975, Ms. Staglin graduated from New York University with a Master of Public Administration and in 1985, she did graduate work at University of California Davis, where she focused on viticulture and enology. In 1985 Mr. and Ms. Staglin founded Staglin Family Vineyard.

The American Institute for Public Service awarded Mr. and Ms. Staglin with the Jefferson Award in 2005.
