

that we must complete our work, and I believe that most of the Democrats want to get this done.

Foremost, we should certainly complete our work on the Defense bill. Funding America's military should be our priority. It should come first here in the Senate. Our men and women in uniform don't get to hit the pause button, as we do. They don't get to shirk their duties, and neither does Congress. We cannot afford additional delay. Our service men and women—those troops whom we have entrusted to keep us safe and protect our democracy, our country, and our allies—cannot afford additional delay. We must not kick the can down the road when it comes to America's security and America's military.

Let's come together. We have done this. Senator LEAHY and I worked together last year, and for the first time in years, we met the deadline. We can do this again. We need the green light here. We need to provide the resources that are necessary to maintain the greatest fighting force the world has ever known. We should never be second to anybody else. Let's show our troops that we can actually get our work done here, that we actually care about them.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.
