The House met at 9 a.m. and was called to order by the Speaker pro tempore (Ms. DELBENE).

DESIGNATION OF THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE
The Speaker pro tempore laid before the House the following communication from the Speaker:
WASHINGTON, DC, March 12, 2020.
I hereby appoint the Honorable SUZAN K. DELBENE to act as Speaker pro tempore on this day.

NANCY PELOSI,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

PRAYER
The Chaplain, the Reverend Patrick J. Conroy, offered the following prayer:
God of mercy, thank You for giving us another day.
Bless the Members of the people’s House today as they leave for a week of constituent visits in their home districts. Protect them and all whom they encounter from the dangers of coronavirus infection, and help them to be of comfort and encouragement for people back home.
Help them to withstand open criticism when they know what is right before You and conscience. Often, they are characterized by half-truths and attributed motives that are far beneath them. Uphold them at such times with personal integrity and compassion for those most in need.
Continue to bless those who suffer with the virus infection and those whose labor is in treating this illness and finding effective cure.
May all that is done be for Your greater honor and glory.
Amen.

THE JOURNAL
The Speaker pro tempore. The Chair has examined the Journal of the last day’s proceedings and announces to the House her approval thereof.
Pursuant to clause 1, rule I, the Journal stands approved.
Mr. VARGAS. Madam Speaker, pursuant to clause 1, rule I, I demand a vote on agreeing to the Speaker’s approval of the Journal.
The Speaker pro tempore. The question is on the Speaker’s approval of the Journal.
The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the ayes appeared to have it.
Mr. VARGAS. Madam Speaker, I object to the vote on the ground that a quorum is not present and make the point of order that a quorum is not present.
The Speaker pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8, rule XX, further proceedings on this question will be postponed.
The point of no quorum is considered withdrawn.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE
The Speaker pro tempore. Will the gentleman from California (Mr. VARGAS) come forward and lead the House in the Pledge of Allegiance.
Mr. VARGAS led the Pledge of Allegiance as follows:
I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE
The Speaker pro tempore. The Chair will entertain up to five requests for 1-minute speeches on each side of the aisle.

COMMEMORATING LEGACY OF HELEN FABELA CHAVEZ
(Mr. VARGAS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)
Mr. VARGAS. Madam Speaker, I rise today in honor of International Women’s Day.
Throughout our past, many men have been recognized for their impact on our society; however, it is extremely important that we recognize the many women who fueled social change.
Helen Fabela Chavez was one of these women.
Helen was born on January 21, 1928, in Brawley, California, a city in my district. Like many Chicano children in the early 20th century, Helen began working in the agricultural industry at the age of 7.
After marrying Cesar Chavez in 1948, Helen left the workforce to take care of her husband and their eight children. However, after 10 years, Helen returned to the workforce as the breadwinner for the family while Cesar Chavez began to establish the National Farm Workers Association.
Helen and other Chicana members contributed greatly to the success of the union, and she later became the treasurer for what became the United Farm Workers.
I want to honor Helen Fabela Chavez, a woman who both raised and financially supported her family while also changing history from the grassroots up.

HONORING JACK CAMPBELL
(Mr. BISHOP of North Carolina asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)
Mr. BISHOP of North Carolina. Madam Speaker, I rise to honor the life of Jack Campbell, former commander of the Indian Trail VFW Post 2423.
Sadly, Jack passed away March 10, 2020.
At 19 years old and weighing 100 pounds, Jack was too light to be drafted, but “things changed.” In his words, and soon he was in Vietnam.
Jack’s service to his country did not end abroad. Upon returning, he became commander of VFW Post 2423, captain of the Honor Guard, and District 13 commander for VFW North Carolina.

Jack was a patriot who valued service, the national anthem, and the American flag.

Citizens of Indian Trail have lost a pillar of the community.

May we all look to Mr. Campbell's example: a life well lived, dedicated to our country and everything for which it stands.

Jo Ann send our thoughts and prayers to his family and loved ones.

UNITING TO FIGHT CORONAVIRUS

(Mr. GOTTHEIMER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. GOTTHEIMER. Madam Speaker, this week, coronavirus impacted my northern New Jersey community in a heartbreaking manner.

Our thoughts are with the loved ones of Bergen County resident John Brennan, New Jersey's first life lost from coronavirus. Mr. Brennan was a lifetime fixture at Yonkers Raceway, and a remarkable individual.

As of this morning, New Jersey now has 22 other presumed positive cases, several in my district alone.

North Jersey's hospitals and front-line medical professionals are working to contain the outbreak and keep our residents safe. I commend our counties and hospitals in New Jersey's Fifth District—New Bridge, Valley, Atlantic, Hackensack, Meridian, and Holy Name—for working so hard and working together and for holding daily calls to coordinate efforts to help combat the spread of the virus.

This week, I led members of our congressional delegation to ask the CDC when New Jersey should expect to receive confirmation of our pending presumed positive cases. We still have not received CDC confirmation of the tests that have been sent to the agency. I know the CDC is working diligently to fight this crisis, but gaps in testing confirmation hinder our ability to mitigate the spread.

Now is the time for our country to come together—our great hospitals, the CDC, all levels of government—to ensure all Americans are safe.

There is nothing partisan about this moment. We must, as a country and as government, come together to fight the coronavirus and keep our families safe.

LOCAL GOVERNMENTS ARE BEST CHANCE TO MITIGATE CORONAVIRUS

(Mr. LaMalfa asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LaMalfa. Madam Speaker, from the Oval Office, the President's address to the Nation last night stressed how important decisive action is today and in the future to prevent the spread of the virus tomorrow.

I commend the President for his latest measures to keep the country safe and to provide for its continued prosperity.

The travel ban from China proved to be a lifesaving choice for Americans, and we expect the European travel ban will provide a similar result and ability to hold off even worse results.

Should the House vote on a coronavirus package today, I would like to remind my colleagues that our local governments are the best chance we have of attacking this virus head-on.

The President has worked diligently to provide local public health officials the resources they need to mitigate the virus, including funds from the emergency supplemental we passed last week.

Our cities and towns know the risks that their citizens face the best, and Congress should be doing all it can to take proper action in aiding them and, most importantly, our American citizens.

EXTEND CENSUS DUE TO CORONAVIRUS

(Mr. Espaillat asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. ESPAILLAT. Madam Speaker, today, the Census begins to reach out to households across America.

All communities across the country must be counted, particularly those that are hard-to-count communities.

The Census is for everybody. However, due to the coronavirus pandemic, we now face difficult challenges for the Census.

The Census must be extended an additional 3 months so we can get an accurate count.

(English translation of the statement made in Spanish is as follows:)

Todavía no comenzamos el conteo del censo para familias a través del país pero por la creciente epidemia del coronavirus vamos a tener grandes obstáculos. El censo debe ser extendido por tres meses para tener un conteo preciso.

Hoy comenzamos el conteo del censo para familias a través del país pero por la creciente epidemia del coronavirus vamos a tener grandes obstáculos. El censo debe ser extendido por tres meses para tener un conteo preciso.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from New York will provide a translation of his remarks to the Clerk.

CONGRATULATING KENT FOUNTAIN

(Mr. Carter of Georgia asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. CARTER of Georgia. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize Mr. Kent Fountain for being elected the National Cotton Council chairman for 2020.

Mr. Fountain is an excellent choice for this important role and knows the cotton industry inside and out.

He is the president and CEO of Southeastern Gin and Peanut and has won numerous awards, including Southeastern Ginner of the Year in 2001 and the Horace Hayden National Ginner of the Year in 2016.

Additionally, Mr. Fountain works as the director of Cotton Council International, which promotes American cotton abroad.

With cotton being so critical to Georgia's economy, I am proud that we have someone from our State with so much expertise leading the national cotton industry.

Kent, congratulations on your election. Keep up the good work.

HIGHLIGHTING NASA'S ARTEMIS PROGRAM

(Mr. Thompson of Pennsylvania asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. THOMPSON of Pennsylvania. Madam Speaker, I rise today to highlight the NASA "be an astronaut" program.

For the first time in 4 years, NASA is accepting applications for a new class of astronauts.

Space exploration is a rich piece of modern American history, and thanks to the new Artemis program, it will remain a part of our future.

Artemis will send the first woman and another man to the South Pole of the Moon by 2024 and allow us to establish a permanent presence on the Moon by 2028.

Our Nation's astronauts help execute a bold vision for science and for exploration. Aspiring astronauts have the opportunity to join NASA for this new chapter in space exploration.

Applications are being accepted through March 31 at www.USAJOBS.com. U.S. citizens with a master's degree in a STEM field, 2 years of related experience, and a passing physical exam are eligible to apply.

Madam Speaker, I encourage all eligible space lovers and travelers to apply for this incredible opportunity.

BILL PUTS INTERESTS OF ILLEGAL IMMIGRANTS BEFORE RIGHTS OF AMERICAN CITIZENS

(Mr. Arrington asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. ARRINGTON. Madam Speaker, today, I rise in opposition to H.R. 5518, the Access to Counsel Act.

This bill would provide illegal immigrants the right to counsel immediately upon crossing our sovereign border, and American taxpayers, by the way, would be picking up the tab.

This legislation does nothing to address the humanitarian crisis at the border. It doesn't help women and children being exploited by the drug cartels. It doesn't fix our broken immigration system. It doesn’t secure the border. It doesn’t give resources to our law enforcement to keep them safe and successful in doing that job.

This bill puts the interests of illegal immigrants before the rights of American citizens.

Furthermore, it will overwhelm an already broken court system, charging hundreds of millions of dollars to U.S. taxpayers, and provide nothing to protect our citizens and the safety of our communities.

R E C E S S

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 12(a) of rule 1, the Chair declares the House in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

Accordingly (at 9 o’clock and 13 minutes a.m.), the House stood in recess.

A F T E R  R E C E S S

The recess having expired, the House was called to order by the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. McGovern) at 9 o’clock and 13 minutes p.m.

T H E  J O U R N A L

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, the unfinished business is the question on agreeing to the Speaker’s approval of the Journal, which the Chair will put de novo.

The question is on the Speaker’s approval of the Journal.

Pursuant to clause 1, rule I, the Journal stands approved.

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following communication from the Clerk of the House of Representatives:

OFFICE OF THE CLERK, HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,

Hon. Nancy Pelosi,
Speaker, House of Representatives,
Washington, D.C.

Dear Madam Speaker:

Pursuant to the permission granted in Clause 2(h) of Rule II of the Rules of the U.S. House of Representatives, I have the honor to transmit a sealed envelope received from the White House on March 12, 2020, at 11:42 a.m. and said to contain a message from the President on the Continuation of the National Emergency With Respect to Iran.

With best wishes, I am,

Sincerely,

Cheryl L. Johnson,
Clerk of the House.

CONTINUATION OF THE NATIONAL EMERGENCY WITH RESPECT TO IRAN—MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES (H. DOC. NO. 116–117)

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following message from the President of the United States; which was read and, together with the accompanying papers, referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs and ordered to be printed:

To the Congress of the United States:

Section 202(d) of the National Emergencies Act (50 U.S.C. 1622(d)) provides for the automatic termination of a national emergency unless, within 90 days before the anniversary date of its declaration, the President publishes in the Federal Register and transmits to the Congress a notice stating that the emergency is to continue in effect beyond the anniversary date. In accordance with this provision, I have sent to the Federal Register for publication the enclosed notice stating that the national emergency with respect to Iran that was declared on March 15, 1995, is to continue in effect beyond March 15, 2020.

The actions and policies of the Government of Iran continue to pose an unusual and extraordinary threat to the national security, foreign policy, and economy of the United States.

For this reason, I have determined that it is necessary to continue the national emergency declared in Executive Order 12957 with respect to Iran and to maintain in force comprehensive sanctions against Iran to respond to this threat.

Donald J. Trump,

A D J O U R N M E N T

Mrs. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to accord- ingly (at 9 o’clock and 16 minutes p.m.), the House adjourned until tomorrow, Friday, March 13, 2020, at 9 a.m.

ADDITIONAL SPONSORS
Under clause 7 of rule XII, sponsors were added to public bills and resolutions, as follows:
CONGRESSIONAL EARMARKS, LIMITED TAX BENEFITS, OR LIMITED TARIFF BENEFITS

Under clause 9 of rule XXI, lists or statements on congressional earmarks, limited tax benefits, or limited tariff benefits were submitted as follows:

Omitted from the Record of March 11, 2020
The Senate met at 9:30 a.m. and was called to order by the President pro tempore (Mr. GRASSLEY).

PRAYER
The Chaplain, Dr. Barry C. Black, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Almighty God, we rejoice that You still answer prayers. When we cry to You, You continue to be an ever-present help during seasons of trouble.

Lord, we marvel at Your power as we rest confident in Your ability to accomplish Your purposes. Today, inspire our Senators to put their total trust in You. May they not fear anything that may assail them on every side. Help them to remember that there is none holy like You, and nothing can compare to Your majesty and might.

We pray in Your great Name. Amen.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE
The President pro tempore led the Pledge of Allegiance, as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. Tillis). The Senator from Iowa.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to speak in mourning business for 1 minute.

CORONAVIRUS
Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, Iowa has had 14 presumptive positive cases of COVID–19. My staff and I remain in constant communication with Federal agencies to ensure that the Federal Government is properly managing emergency threats to the public health. I am also in regular touch with the Iowa Department of Public Health, which is meeting daily with its partners to share information with all Iowans.

While each day brings updates regarding COVID–19, what remains constant are the prevention efforts that we have all heard about, and just to name a couple: washing your hands often and covering your cough.

To find further updates and guidance about the COVID–19, please visit my website at grassley.senate.gov.

REMEMBERING BIJAN GAHISAR
Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, on another matter, in November of 2017, Bijan Ghaisar was shot and killed by two U.S. Park Police officers. That person was unarmed and in his vehicle.

The National Park Service oversees the U.S. Park Police and still hasn’t responded to a letter that Senator WARNER of Virginia and I wrote to the Park Service last November.

Now, we all know that Park Service officials are very concerned about the cherry blossom season. They just had a press conference to announce the peak dates of this year’s cherry blossom season. Acting Director Vela needs to take his agency’s obligations to respond to Senator WARNER’s and my letter and other inquiries from Congress as seriously as he takes the weather updates.

I yield the floor.

RECOGNITION OF THE MAJORITY LEADER
The PRESIDING OFFICER. The majority leader is recognized.

CORONAVIRUS
Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, this morning, the Senate and House Sergeants at Arms announced the suspension of public tours and nonofficial access to the Capitol Complex beginning at the close of business today and running through the end of March. Their decision was made in close consultation with the Attending Physician of the U.S. Congress, Dr. Brian Monahan.

I support the decision of these nonpartisan officers. It follows new guidance from the Washington, DC, Department of Health encouraging that all nonessential mass gatherings of more than 1,000 people be postponed. The Capitol Complex welcomes many times that many visitors on a typical day, particularly at this time of year. Congress will continue to do our work. Offices will be able to welcome constituents and visitors for meetings and official business by appointment, but in deference to the experts and to protect the health of many Americans who travel to our Nation’s Capital, tourism and nonofficial access to the Capitol and the complex will be put on pause.

This virus is challenging our Nation in ways that feel unfamiliar to us, but our great country is strong, we are equipped, and we have overcome far greater challenges before. I know the entire Congress will look forward to welcoming all Americans back to visit their beautiful Capitol as soon as possible.

In the meantime, we continue to encourage everyone to follow the facts, listen to the experts, and take smart and calm precautions as appropriate. Every American can access up-to-date recommendations for their own personal circumstances at www.coronavirus.gov.

Last night, President Trump addressed the Nation on the broader, ongoing effort to slow and mitigate the spread of the virus here on American soil. As I have noted before, the administration’s early proactive measures to repatriate U.S. citizens and restrict travel from China bought more time for public health professionals to prepare our response, and the funding measure that Congress passed last week is sending an infusion of new funding into laboratory research, frontline medical care, and everything in between.

This “bullet” symbol identifies statements or insertions which are not spoken by a Member of the Senate on the floor.
With those critical steps already taken, this week brought a further opportunity to help communities and families face the economic effects of the virus spread. Unfortunately, it appears at this hour that the Speaker and House instead of focusing on an immediate, immediate release of targeted relief to those who need it, the administration was ready to collaborate. The Senate was ready to seriously consider a compromise proposal, but it appears that over in the House, left-wing political rhetoric may have taken priority over the needs of our country. Certainly, this is disappointing.

I want to commend Secretary Mnuchin for his efforts and his continued conversation. At a minimum, I hope that Senate Democrats will not block potential requests from our colleagues today to pass smaller, non-controversial pieces of legislation right away that would bolster particular aspects of the fight against coronavirus. The good news is that our Nation’s economy remains strong. The President is continuing to take action himself. We just passed billions—billions—in urgent funding just last week, and the Senate will continue to stand ready and willing to work toward further bicameral, bipartisan action when the House Democrats decide to get serious.

USA FREEDOM REAUTHORIZATION ACT OF 2020

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, now, on another matter, yesterday the House of Representatives did come together around a bipartisan agreement to renew some critical national security tools. The USA FREEDOM Reauthorization Act of 2020 will reauthorize key authorities granted to intelligence and national security professionals under the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act.

First and foremost, this means ensuring that the men and women tasked with rooting out espionage and stopping terrorist activity on U.S. soil are equipped with the powers they need to be successful.

Today, the threats these professionals confront are as serious and diverse as ever. Terrorist groups continue to thrive. This is one of our most important tools to protect American communities. That is a fact. It is a fact that has been reaffirmed time and again by the Attorney General and by the numerous reauthorizations granted by Congress.

This time is no different. We can’t mistake the safety and security that FISA authorities have helped preserve for evidence that they are no longer needed. At the same time, we cannot mistreat a vital process for a perfect process. The 2016 election showed us perfectly clearly that the authorities granted under FISA are in need of targeted reforms to improve accountability. That was backed up by the findings of the Department of Justice inspector general.

That is why this legislation contains a number of specific reforms to address the kinds of failures that embarrassed the system in 2016: more oversight over the practices of the FISA Court, more declasification and more compliance practices, higher level approval for certain sensitive applications, and more.

Our responsibility here is twofold. We have to continue equipping our national security professionals and the intelligence community to anticipate, confront, and eliminate the threats facing our country, and we also have to respond to the failures of 2016 with real reforms that ensure the public trust is handled appropriately.

This legislation is passed by a bipartisan majority in the House and endorsed by the Attorney General, strikes the right balance. I am confident that it will pass the Senate as well. It is not a question of if this passes but when.

I hope that our colleagues who may not choose to vote for this legislation will not deny this body the opportunity to renew these authorities today to prevent any lapse. I hope none of our colleagues choose to force these important national security tools to temporarily lapse for the sake of making a political point, which will not change the outcome. In fact, I hope we can renew these authorities today.

But if we cannot, if some of our colleagues choose to object, the lapse will only be temporary, similar to past short lapses between reauthorizations. These national security tools should not lapse. They do not need to lapse, and I hope none of our colleagues choose to do so. If they do, I hope they will force them to lapse just for the sake of making a point. But at least it would only be temporary because this bill is going to pass, these authorities are getting renewed, and that is a great thing for the security of our Nation and the safety of the American people. I hope it can happen today.

MEASURE PLACED ON THE CALENDAR—H.R. 6172

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, I understand there is a bill at the desk due a second reading.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will read the bill by title for the second time.

The senior assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (H.R. 6172) to amend the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act of 1978 to prohibit the production of certain business records, and for other purposes.

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, in order to place the bill on the calendar under the provisions of rule XIV, I object to further proceedings.

RESERVATION OF LEADER TIME

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the leadership time is reserved.

CONCLUSION OF MORNING BUSINESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Morning business is closed.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

EXECUTIVE CALENDAR

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senate will proceed to executive session to resume consideration of the following nominations, which the clerk will report:

The legislative clerk read the nomination of James P. Danly, of Tennessee, to be a Member of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission for the remainder of the term expiring June 30, 2023.

Mr. MCCONNELL. I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

Mr. SCHUMER. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mrs. HYDE-SMITH). Without objection, it is so ordered.

RECOGNITION OF THE MINORITY LEADER

The Democratic leader is recognized.

CORONAVIRUS

Mr. SCHUMER. Madam President, yesterday, the World Health Organization officially declared COVID-19—known as the coronavirus—a pandemic, saying that it was “deeply concerned both by the alarming . . . spread and severity, and . . . alarming levels of inaction” by the nations of the world.

Let me repeat that. They were “deeply concerned both by the alarming levels of spread and severity, and the alarmingly low levels of action” by the nations of the world.

In my home State of New York, members of the National Guard arrived in New Rochelle this morning to clean institutions and deliver food to the more than 120 sick residents within the 3-mile containment area. Here in the Capitol, public tours will be suspended, and by the end of the week, the Capitol Complex will be restricted to official business only.

Today the House of Representatives will take up and pass several measures the Speaker and I called for earlier this week to alleviate the economic pain felt by American workers and families who are impacted by the coronavirus, including paid sick leave and sick leave security insurance, and an expansion of unemployment insurance. The legislation will also provide much needed help to States like New York that are overburdened by Medicaid costs. By temporarily modifying the FMA, it allows the States the flexibility and money they need to fight this problem. I have long fought for an increase in FMAP funding, and this is welcome and needed for New York. I am glad it is in the bill that Democrats in the House and Senate put together.

Many of the policies I have mentioned have been enacted by other countries dealing with the coronavirus. The policies are targeted at workers and families who are directly impacted by the virus, which is exactly where the focus needs to be, not on bailing out oil and gas companies or the cruise industry or to regulating banks—some of the ideas under discussion at the White House—rather than providing the American families, workers, mayors, county executives, Governors—are crying out for more testing and more speed in bringing the results of the tests back immediately. The President didn’t mention it in his speech.

I heard from the mayor of New Rochelle, who is now overseeing a 3-mile containment area. I asked: What is the No. 1 thing you need? He said testing. He told me that one of the reasons the State of New York had to impose the containment area was that it couldn’t determine who was safe to walk on the street and who wasn’t because of the lack of testing. If they had the test, they would know who had the virus. Those people could quarantine at home. They could go out and about with their lives and shop in the stores, go down the streets, and go through their normal activities. The lack of testing has forced many in containment areas to quarantine themselves when they may not have the virus at all.

The administration must expedite the approval of labs that are ready to provide testing. It must support the use of automatic testing to increase the number of kits available and do a better job of communicating to hospitals and localities about the number of testing kits available. The administration needs to get a handle on this now.

It has been well over a month since the first case of coronavirus was confirmed on our soil, and many places around the country were not able to test for the coronavirus with the necessary capacity or speed. The most glaring omission in this administration’s long list of problems has been the way they approach the coronavirus and the lack of testing. We need it now. The failure of the administration to anticipate problems with testing has put us weeks and weeks behind.

Last night, President Trump gave his national address about the coronavirus, and testing wasn’t included. It was amazing to me. The No. 1 problem was ignored.

I want to emphasize the central problem the President stressed the need for hygiene. He instructed Americans to stay home if they felt sick, something he questioned in the past. I was glad he is no longer calling this a hoax and, at least in his speech, not blaming the press or Democrats or somebody else for the problem. Blame isn’t going to solve anything. Yet, sadly and regrettably, the President’s speech fell far short of what America needs to contain the virus. His speech was almost robotic, lacking any empathy. The President seemed to show little concern for Americans impacted by the virus or for allies around the world fighting it. The President said his administration will address the lack of coronavirus testing kits, nor did he call for a national emergency to free up Federal resources to fight the virus. Calling for a national emergency under the Stafford Act would free up lots of FEMA’s resources to help States and localities. Why hasn’t it done it? It has been a mystery. We need him to do it, and do it now.

So many of the President’s statements and his speech were inaccurate and required no fewer than three corrections by the White House in the hours after. The President was not clear or accurate in describing the ban on travel from Europe to the United States, and he didn’t specify that it did not include U.S. citizens or to cargo. The President’s claim that health insurers have agreed to “waive all copayments for coronavirus treatment” was also, apparently, inaccurate. At a time of crisis, one would think that the President could give a speech that at least had the facts right, that there would be that care and focus. But, unfortunately, it wasn’t so. He didn’t bring this up to play “gotha.” It is very serious. There are many Americans who watched the President but may not have seen the White House correct his error-laden speech. As a result, many Americans may not have received necessary information. This is very, very unfortunate. At all times, but especially during a time of crisis, the President must be clear and accurate about his policies and guidance. We need leadership that is steady and, above all else, competent. These weren’t off-the-cuff remarks. This was a prepared speech.

In this moment, with lives in the balance, Americans must have confidence that their President knows what he is doing and knows what he is talking about. To his detriment and to the Nation’s, sadly, President Trump failed to inspire that confidence last night.

I had hoped the fact that the President delivered a national address was a sign that the administration was finally beginning to treat the coronavirus with the seriousness it needs. That is why it was so discouraging that only a few hours later, the President was back on the attack—attacking Democrats—when we all know that is not going to solve the problem and we all know it is a time to bring us together.

Congress has already passed major emergency appropriations to ramp up our response to the virus. The President’s early number $2 billion was, fortunately, increased significantly by
For those who don’t follow the day-to-day of energy policy, FERC is an independent agency within the Department of Energy. It regulates electricity, hydropower, natural gas, and oil pipeline industries. In my view, FERC’s role on the energy, very important entity, FERC plays a critical role in keeping the lights on and ensuring the delivery of reliable, safe, and affordable energy to America’s homes and businesses.

Mr. Danly has an impressive academic and professional background. He is a veteran, having served two tours of duty with the Army in Iraq, where he received a Bronze Star and a Purple Heart, and played a key role in executing counterinsurgency efforts during the surge.

After his career with the Army, Mr. Danly chose to pursue a very different career as a FERC attorney, first practicing at a major law firm and most recently serving as FERC’s general counsel for the past 2½ years.

Mr. Danly’s time at the FERC has been very productive. He has my strong support to be a Commissioner. This is the type of individual who knows his stuff, who has a great grasp and a keen understanding of issues related to the matters. He is well qualified and has a deep understanding of the issues that will come before him. He understands FERC’s mission as an independent and impartial regulator. Despite Mr. Danly’s very impressive qualifications and experience, I am disappointed that some of my colleagues have indicated they will oppose his nomination simply because he isn’t nominated alongside a Democratic candidate. So they will acknowledge that he has strong qualifications, that he has the expertise and the experience, but they are opposing him because they are saying he needs to be nominated alongside a Democrat. To me, opposing nominations on that basis alone is very troubling.

It is also incorrect to characterize pairing FERC nominees as the norm. I think Members should recognize that FERC is set up first and foremost to serve the public. I know that Members understand that FERC plays a critical role in keeping the lights on and ensuring the delivery of reliable, safe, and affordable energy to America’s homes and businesses. FERC is one of those very, very important Federal Government agencies that is not on the President’s radar. It is not on me as the chairman of the Energy and Natural Resources Committee. It is not on Leader McConnell. It is the responsibility of the President.

The much more recent Democratic vacancy at FERC, which was the choice of the Democratic leadership in this body, is for the Democratic leadership to work out with the White House. Send to the White House that nominee we can advance now. For those who are concerned about the Democratic vacancy, I will share this with you. There will be an opportunity for a pairing later this year. Commissioner McNair has already announced that if he will not return to the FERC for a second term, so there will be a vacancy in just a matter of months. I have encouraged the administration to send us both nominees at the same time so that the Senate can restore FERC to a full complement of five Commissioners. We give them a lot of work. There is a lot of responsibility. They need a full complement.

Right now, our opportunity is to confirm Mr. Danly. That is who we have in front of us. He is the only FERC nominee we have. He is well qualified for the job. He served our country in uniform. He now wishes to continue that service in a different capacity, and I hope—I hope—no one will vote against him on the floor today. So I am certainly urging the full Senate to support Mr. Danly’s nomination.

With that, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Alaska.

ASHLEY JOHNSON-BARR DAY

Ms. MURKOWSKI. Mr. President, the Alaska State Senate yesterday passed a bill that would establish March 12, 2020, as Ashley Johnson-Barr Day to be held each year. Ashley Johnson-Barr was a 10-year-old beautiful little girl in Kotzebue, AK. Ashley was probably one of those happy kids who loved purple; thus, I have a purple scarf and purple jacket today. She was one of those beautiful young children growing up in Kotzebue who would have gone on to have a good, productive life in an Inupiat community in the northwestern part of the State. But Ashley Johnson-Barr is remembered now because at the age of 10 years old, she was brutally raped and murdered. It is a heart-wrenching story, one that we take from the kids’ playground there in Kotzebue and taken to a location not too many miles outside the community.
Her death, the tragedy around the circumstance of how she left this world, is one that is an open and raw and hurtful and horrific scar on Alaska and on the communities. It is a reminder that in my State—a place of extraordinary beauty, with beautiful people, there is a callous way on our Native women and our Native children.

Yesterday in the Senate, we passed two measures that I have been working on for a period of time. Savanna’s Act is legislation that was initially brought about through the good work of my friend, the former Senator from North Dakota, Senator Heidi Heitkamp. Heidi and I worked on Savanna’s Act for a period of time. It is designed to improve coordination among all levels of law enforcement; increase data collection and information sharing; and empower Tribal governments with access to necessary law enforcement databases in cases involving missing and murdered indigenous women and girls wherever they occur, whether they are in a small, remote village or in our population centers.

Savanna’s law was passed through the Senate in the last Congress and got stalled out in the House. So I took this measure, along with the help of my friend from the State of Nevada, Senator CORTEZ MASTO. Working with her, we have now been successful in moving it through the Senate. It traveled with another measure—a bill that was sponsored by Senator CORTEZ MASTO and cosponsored by me.

The Not Invisible Act improves the engagement amongst law enforcement Tribal leaders, Federal partners, and service providers. We also designate an official to coordinate efforts among agencies in establishing a Tribal and Federal stakeholders’ effort to make recommendations to the Department of the Interior Department of Justice on how we deal with this, how we combat this epidemic of disappearance, of homicide, violent crimes, and trafficking of Native Americans and Alaskan Natives. This is something we have been trying to shine the spotlight on.

We are making significant progress and I want to talk about the Not Invisible Act—and working together to do more as we deal with those who are trafficked, those who are assaulted, and those who are violently murdered in their homes and in their communities. We have much work to do, but we have good coordination and good cooperation moving forward.

With that, I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BLUNT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded. The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

CLOTURE MOTION

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Pursuant to rule XXII, the Chair lays before the Senate the pending cloture motion, which the clerk will state.

CLOTURE MOTION

We, the undersigned Senators, in accordance with the provisions of rule XXII of the Standing Rules of the Senate, do hereby move to bring to a close debate on the nomination of James P. Danly, of Tennessee, to be a Member of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission for the remainder of the term expiring June 30, 2023.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. By unanimous consent the mandatory quorum call has been waived.

The question is, Is it the sense of the Senate that debate on the nomination of James P. Danly, of Tennessee, to be a Member of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission for the remainder of the term expiring June 30, 2023, shall be brought to a close? The yeas and nays are mandatory under the rule.

The clerk will call the roll.

The bill clerk called the roll.

(Mr. COTTON assumed the Chair.)

Mr. THUNE. The following Senators are necessarily absent: the Senator from Texas (Mr. CRUZ) and the Senator from Georgia (Mr. PERDUE).

Mr. DURBIN. I announce that the Senator from Washington (Ms. CANTWELL), the Senator from Minnesota (Ms. Klobuchar), the Senator from Vermont (Mr. SANDERS), and the Senator from Massachusetts (Ms. WARREN) are necessarily absent.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mrs. FISCHER). Are there any other Senators in the Chamber desiring to vote?

The yeas and nays resulted—yeas 54, nays 40, as follows:

Constitutional Record — Senate have are not instant. When people think of an instant test, they think of a flu test or a pregnancy test. The test that is required for this virus is not an instant test, but this is in the works, and we do have top scientists at Van- derville University and other institutions who are developing faster techniques, but, for now, any test offered must be sent to a lab to be processed and analyzed. Although these tests provide important information, we must continue to focus on preventing transmission and vaccination.

Some of the other work that is being done will help lead us to a faster path for antivirals and for vaccines. There is work in East Tennessee, right outside of Knoxville, at the Oak Ridge National Lab. Researchers have been using cutting-edge technology to identify drug candidates for targeting the novel coronavirus. They are using Summit, which is the world’s fastest supercomputer. What they have done is informed the screening about the coronaviruses, MERSA, SARS, and HINI—the different viruses—and they crunched it down, and they have identified 77 drug candidates for targeting the novel coronavirus that we know is COVID-19. Enabled by the screening of this database of more than 8,000 known drug compounds, the researchers acmplished in days what would have taken years for scientists to do in the lab.

In my remarks on the floor yesterday, I went into detail about the decades-long effort by scientists at Vanderville University’s Denison Lab to study coronaviruses. I want to reiterate one important point—that all across the country, scientists just like our friends at Vanderbilt are developing the antivirals and the vaccines that will eventually be used to combat multiple strains of virus, not just this particular outbreak but in addition to this outbreak.

The United States is a leader in research and development of pharmaceuticals. Our labs, talent, and capacity for innovation are the envy of the world, but right now we depend heavily on Chinese and foreign companies to manufacture active pharmaceutical ingredients. When this happens, we lose control of our supply.

So while we have all of this great work done in Oak Ridge, TN, and we are creating our pharmaceutical supply chain, we need something like the SAM-C Act to enable us to access to these drugs and these compounds that are identifying that we need. The SAM-C Act will not solve our immediate problem. Once passed, it will incentivize companies that specialize in development, manufacturing, and workforce training to bring those operations back to the safety of U.S.-based labs and institutions of learning, and it will expedite having the antivirals and the vaccines that are needed to prevent this.

I encourage all of my colleagues to

SECURING AMERICA’S MEDICINE CABINET ACT

Mrs. BLACKBURN. Mr. President, on Tuesday, my colleague Senator Menendez and I introduced the Securing America’s Medicine Cabinet—or SAM-C Act—to encourage an increase in American manufacturing of active pharmaceutical ingredients. These are termed APIs.

We did this because China dominates this portion of the pharmaceutical manufacturing and given last night’s news, I wanted to come back for a moment and highlight the important work that is being done in Tennessee and across the country to support our Nation’s response to this coronavirus pandemic.

Many Americans are very concerned, as they ought to be, about the availability of testing. As you all know, this virus is novel, which means we did not have test kits on the shelves before the outbreak started. The tests that we do protected—in other words, not lose their job. Isn’t that common sense?

That is exactly what my amendment does. My amendment makes it clear that power sector employees who report threats to our electric grid are protected from retaliation if they are fired, they can file a complaint with the U.S. Secretary of Labor. In that regard, this amendment brings whistleblower protections for energy sector employees in line with more than a dozens other whistleblower laws established for the Congress in recent years.
I have been involved in a lot of those whistleblower protection laws.

Next week is Sunshine Week—a time when we celebrate the importance of transparency and accountability in government. With transparency, you get accountability, and the public’s business ought to be public. The protection of our citizens from forest fires that is required for this virus is not an instant test, but this is in the works, and we do have top scientists at Vanderville University and other institutions who are developing faster techniques, but, for now, any test offered
must be sent to a lab to be processed

I would like to talk for a few minutes today about my favorite subject, which is Louisiana.

I could talk the rest of the day and through the entire weekend about the good things about Louisiana, but today
I want to talk about one of our problems. It is not just a problem for Louisiana; it is also a problem for the United States of America. It is also a problem for the American people; it is also a problem for energy independence for our country. Louisiana is drowning.
It is drowning because we are washing away our land. Our land is washing into the gulf.

I live about 250, 300 miles north of the Gulf of Mexico—sort of in the toe of the boot, if you think of Louisiana as a boot. If things continue as they are going, I may not be alive then, but my home—whomever lives in it after I am done—will be gulf front property. Remember, my home is 250 to 300 miles from the coast.

Why is that happening? Why is our land washing away into the gulf? There are a number of reasons. I will mention two, in particular. The sea levels in the Gulf of Mexico are rising. We can have a rigorous debate about the reason for that, and I know many smart people think it is for this reason and others disagree and think it is for that reason, but we can’t deny that sea levels are rising whatever the cause.

In fact, as the gulf meets the southern part of my State, it is rising about 12 to 13 inches every 100 years.

We have another reason, though, as to why my State is washing away—our land in southern Louisiana is sinking.

Why is that? The Mississippi Delta, of which Louisiana is a part, is an ecological and hydrodynamic masterpiece. What God did during the last ice age is just breath-taking. It used to be the Mississippi River, which runs right through my State, would overflow every year. It would deposit its sediment in South Louisiana. The water would recede and flow back into the river channel, but the sediment would remain. After thousands and thousands of years, the land was built up. Then we leveed the Mississippi River, I am not saying we did the wrong thing by leveeing the Miss-sissippi River, for we have increased the productivity of most of the Americans and enhanced our economy. When we leveed the river, we prevented it from overflowing so that it would no longer deeper sediment, but the sedi- ment that was already there before we leveed the river was slowly sinking. So we have sea levels in the gulf rising 12 to 13 inches every 100 years, and we have the land sinking. You don't have to be a senior at Cal Tech to figure out why. That is why our land is washing away.

Now, why is this important? It is obviously important for the people who live on the land that is washing away but also important for America’s energy independence because underneath the land that is slowly being washed into the gulf—criss-crossing that land and extending over into Texas and into Alabama—are 26,000 miles of pipelines that carry oil and natural gas that heat American homes and generate American energy. When that land washes away, those pipelines are going to be exposed.

Do you know what the saltwater is going to do to those pipelines? It is going to corrode them. When that land washes away, those pipelines now exposed are going to be exposed to ocean currents, and they are going to burst. It will not be all at once, but they are going to burst, and this country’s energy independence is going to be undermined.

Do you know how long and how much money it will take to move those pipelines? I don't know. I am not sure if there are enough ditches to quantify it.

Let me shift gears and talk about the solution as I think I have defined the problem.

We are helping ourselves, and I will give you an example. The Moriganza to the Gulf project doesn’t mean a lot to some of you, but trust me—it is a big deal to the people of Louisiana and to the American people who are familiar with it. We have been taxng ourselves for 20 years to pay for that project, which is part coastal restoration and part hurricane protection. We also received help from the American people.

Thank you. Thank you, American people, for coming to our aid.

In 2006, the U.S. Congress passed what we call GOMESA. It stands for the Gulf of Mexico Energy Security Act. That is what I mean when I talk about GOMESA, and GOMESA is a pretty straightforward bill. It says that, for all new oil and gas drilling in the Gulf, the Federal Government and the State government are going to share the oil royalties.

The government, as you know, owns the seabeds. We lease them to oil companies, and they drill and produce oil and natural gas. In fact, off of Louisiana’s coast, we have wells that produce about 16, 17 percent of the Nation’s oil and about 3 percent of the natural gas. Those oil companies pay royalties to the Federal Government, and the royalties flow through the Federal Government and the State government.

Under GOMESA, the American people, through their representatives, said: OK. On all new wells that are drilled after 2006, Louisiana gets 37.5 percent of the money that the Federal Government gets—but not just Louisiana. We didn’t want to be greedy. We asked to have Texas included. We asked to have Mississippi included. We also asked to have Alabama included so that the Fair is Fair. The Federal Government gets the rest.

Louisianans have put their money where their mouths are. We have dedicated all the GOMESA money to coastal restoration in order to try to build up our land faster than we have been losing our land to the gulf. It has been a losing battle, but we have been holding our own. To give you an idea of how dramatic it has been, since 1930—I think 1932—Louisiana has lost land the size of Delaware. I believe, if you run the numbers in terms of square miles, we have lost land the size of two Rhode Islands. I think we have lost a football field’s worth of land every year. This doesn’t just hurt Louisiana. This hurts America, and it hurts our energy independence.

Louisiana has put its money where its mouth is. We said: Thank you, American people, for passing GOMESA. We appreciate the 37.5 percent of the oil royalties we are going to get out of the Federal Government’s share, and we are putting every single penny into coastal restoration.

There is still a basic unfairness because 20 other States get 50 percent. Now, these States aren’t coastal States. I am happy for them. Don’t misunderstand me. These are inland States that have Federal lands. When oil companies drill on those Federal lands and hit oil or hit natural gas, those States don’t get 37.5 percent of what the Federal Government gets; they get 50 percent. That is just not fair. Everybody ought to be treated the same. Louisiana, and Alabama and Mississippi and Texas are not asking for any extra. We call that lagniappe in Louisiana. We aren’t asking for any extra. We are just asking to be treated like everybody else. In Louisiana, we are dedicating every single penny— I don’t know if I mentioned this or not— to solving the coastal restoration problem, which is not just Louisiana’s problem but is a problem for the United States.

We have a bill. It is called the COASTAL Act. The full name is the Conservation of America’s Shoreline Terrain and Aquatic Life Act. We call it the COASTAL Act. All the COASTAL Act would do would be to treat all the States the same. Everybody would get 50 percent. 50-50 split. Louisiana wouldn’t get more or less than any other State. Alabama wouldn’t get more or less than any other State. Mississippi wouldn’t get more or less than any other State. Texas would be under the same rules. All of the States would get 50 percent.

It would also make one other change. When GOMESA was passed, it capped the amount of money that Louisiana and Mississippi and Alabama and Texas could get each year from that 37.5 percent at $500 million a year. Out of basic fairness, we are asking that the cap be removed if we can pass this bill, the COASTAL Act. The quarterback of the American people is the senior Senator from Louisiana, Dr. Bill Cassidy. I am helping him all I can as are the Senators from Texas and Mississippi and Alabama and other States. All we are asking for is equity.

I don’t want to end on a negative note by just talking about our problems. If you haven’t visited Louisiana, please come. I have lived in five States and a foreign country. I have just never lived in a place like Louisiana. It is my home, and I know I am biased. God blessed our State, and in having blessed us, I think God blessed us a second time.

I mean, look at our location. We are at the top of the Gulf coast; we are in the middle of the Gulf South; we straddle one of the mightiest rivers in the entire world. We have more oil and gas than most nations do, which we share with the American people. My people are experts in things like agriculture, shipbuilding, petrochemical manufacturing, oil and gas exploration, food, timber, healthcare. I could keep going. Our people are hard-working, God-fearing, and fun-loving.

I tell my friends Senator Cruz and Senator Cornyn all the time how much I love Texas—and I do. Gosh, Texas is a great State. Every day, it seems like it wins an award. Yet I tell Senator Cruz and Senator Cornyn—in jest, of course—look, Texas is 5½ times bigger than Louisiana, but give us credit as we are 10½ times more interesting than you are.

We are just a fun, extraordinary, diverse State, but we need some help. We are not asking for extra; we are just asking for equity. I hope this Senate, in its wisdom, will pass the COASTAL Act.

I suggest the absence of a quorum. The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. Young). The clerk will call the roll.

The senior assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. President, President Trump had chance, after chance, after chance to get ahead of this coronavirus pandemic in the United States. He failed. Congress can’t make the same mistakes.

Senators should not leave town. I just saw Senator McConnel on the floor. It is his decision. One Senator from one State can make this decision to work away—to fail to take care of the $1.5 billion worker who is sick, who has to choose between going to work—perhaps getting sicker or perhaps infecting others—or staying home and giving up her $12-an-hour, $96-a-day job when she struggles with her rent. We have put her in that position.

Senator MCCONNELL, who was standing right there—his office is just down the hall—could make that unilateral decision; but we stayed and actually did the right thing. The Senate has no business leaving. We shouldn’t leave town until we pass the House package to help workers and to support our communities.

President Trump needs to sign it. We need to do our jobs. We need to take care of workers who are going to need help paying their mortgage, paying their rent, and taking care of their children if schools close or they get sick.

It is really, really simple. It is why we need to pass paid sick days now and to shore up unemployment insurance funds immediately.

We know that hundreds of thousands—who know millions of people are going to get laid off in the airlines, in restaurants, in hotels, in communities where they depend on these businesses to pay property tax. We know there are going to be lots of layoffs.

I agree. I am not an alarmist. I am not panicky. I think we are going to deal with this right. But we need the majority leader, Senator MCCONNELL, who sits right here and runs the Senate, who makes the decisions on whether we work or don’t work, whether he has us in session or keeps us here working—Senator MCCONNELL needs to make the decision to keep us here, and as soon as the House passes this bill, the Senate takes it up.

Paid sick days are one of the most important things we can do to stop the spread of this virus. We already know that our economy is going to get hurt. We know the President of the United States judges the economy by the stock market. He is the first President I have ever seen do that, but that is beside the point. We also know that the stock market is up and down and mostly down, and investors are uneasy at best. They want more predictability, and they are not getting it. But we know the most important thing is to deal with the spread of the coronavirus. If we can’t contain it, if we can’t do anything about it, if we can’t stop the spread of this virus, the other stuff just doesn’t matter as much.

You start with the spread of this virus. The best way to stop the spread of the virus is to say to people if they are sick: You can stay home, and you can get sick pay. Every other rich country in the world provides sick pay for people who can’t go to work because they are sick. It is as simple as that. If we don’t pass the sick day policy, if we leave town right now, even if we come back next week, which we are not scheduled to do—Senator MCCONNELL’s decision—even if we only go a week, that is 5 more workdays of sick people going to work when they shouldn’t, getting sicker, infecting others with coronavirus or the flu or anything else, or staying home and giving up their pay, which they need to meet their rent payment. The House package takes care of this. Senators shouldn’t be leaving this building until we get this help to the people we serve.

People in Indiana, in the Presiding Officer’s State, are scared. They are angry, and I am angry.

Many of us have been sounding the alarm for President Trump and Leader MCCONNELL, who always does President Trump’s bidding, as if he doesn’t even represent a State—he represents the President in this body—that the President has made us less prepared to handle a crisis like this one.

President Trump tried to gut the Centers for Disease Control and the National Institutes of Health.

Think about this: The United States of America, as recently as 10 or 15 years ago, had the best public health infrastructure, the best public health safety net in the history of the world. We have the Centers for Disease Control. We have the National Institutes of Health.

In Cincinnati, we have the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health—the only one of its kind in the world—and we have our county public health departments in each of Ohio’s 88 counties.

We had the best in the world until President Trump began to try to gut the CDC and the NIH. He refused to fill key public health positions.

Most importantly—this is just unbelievable when you think about it, and I know Senator young, the President, had concerns about that—he got rid of the White House’s entire global health security team 2 years ago. Let me repeat that. For 2 years, President Trump had a team that is supposed to manage pandemics. Do you know what that means? It means that there were about 40 people at the White House, led by an admiral who was an M.D.—an admiral who was also a doctor. His job was to survey the world and look around for potential illness outbreaks, to look around for potential pandemics. It might have been SARS. It might have been polio. It might have been a resurgence of polio. It might have been any number of things. It is a system, and if we are a rich enough country, we can do this, and we do it to protect—we care about the world. We protect our own people, although, as we see, if we don’t, we see what happens. His job was to continue to look around the world and look out for these kinds of pandemics. The President fired him. The President fired the whole office. The President has never replaced them. I sent him a letter at the time, more than 600 days ago—back in May of 2018—telling him he needed to stop and look at the health care infrastructure. Now we are all paying the price for President Trump’s decision. We see the real-time consequences.

This was unilateral disarmament. We unilaterally disarmed against the world’s infectious diseases.

We know that international tuberculosis is a problem. We know that international HIV/AIDS is a problem. We know that international malaria is a problem. We work on it together.

Do you know what? One of the things I am proudest about in our country is what we have done about public health.

We led the charge to eradicate small pox. Small pox killed hundreds of millions of people over time in this world—hundreds of millions.

We led the charge to eradicate small pox—we did this, and we led the charge to eradicate polio all over the world. I am old enough to remember children—not children anymore—children I went to grade school with who had had polio. They were recovered, but they still limped. They still had signs of polio—not crippling signs but signs of polio. We did that.

We took on tobacco in this body—Senator DURBIN, Senator BLUMENTHAL, Senator MERKLEY, and I and others. People smoke at half the rate today than they did 50 years ago. It is starting to go back up as we see e-cigarettes, but we have had huge public health victories in this country.

Do you know what? We have a President of the United States now and we have a Senate Republican leader, Majority Leader MCCONNELL, who—well, he certainly tried to help, but I won’t even talk about that. We have a President and we have a Senate majority leader who simply did all they could to dismantle the Centers for Disease Control and NIH. They left us unprepared when the President fired the global security team at the White House that looked out for illnesses. Now we have a global pandemic on our hands.

President Trump needs to stop predating he can lock out a disease by putting up walls at the border—that he has already allowed to spread—and he needs to start making up for all the lost time he has wasted, and so does Senator MCCONNELL.

We need to make sure we don’t end up with a financial crisis on top of the public health crisis. For some of us, this feels like deja vu. We have been in moments like this before. We have seen the market drop. We worried about the signs of polio. We did that. We bailed out the banks, but we didn’t do anything for the workers. That is what this body always does.

I am certain Senator MCCONNELL will get around to—and President Trump—helping corporations that have been hurt. There have been corporations that have been damaged badly—hotel chains, transportation companies, particularly airlines. They have been hurt badly by this. That part is going to get worse. I am sure they will open the public health budget, but there are billions of dollars for these industries, but we shouldn’t do it until we take care of the workers.
If we are going to give X number of dollars to the airlines, as we probably should, most of that money better end up in the pockets of the flight attendants, the pilots, the ticket agents, the mechanics, the baggage handlers, and all of the people who work for the airlines, rather than in the pockets of airline executives. Yeah, they serve us when we fly, and we don’t even know their names. We probably know the CEOs’ names, and we always help them, but we ought to be helping the workers.

Right now, we have a chance to stop this from spiraling out of control. We don’t have another 2008 on our hands yet, but we have to act now. We don’t go home for a week or two or three because Senator McConnell has some what whatever it is that would send us home. We need to act now. We need to make sure that we focus our efforts on preventing this virus from spreading and that we don’t have one crisis—the healthcare crisis—stacked on top of an economic crisis, making the healthcare crisis worse.

We know that job is harder because of all the ways President Trump and Leader McConnell have undone the many protections we put in place after the last crisis. They backed away from Wall Street reform safeguards. The President had a chance to get ahead of the crisis, and he didn’t. Worse, he left Wall Street reform safeguards in place while we have an ongoing $30 billion stock buyback.

For instance, JPMorgan is in the midst of an ongoing $30 billion in stock buybacks. Wells Fargo is in the midst of a $23 billion stock buyback, as if their executives, in all of their criminality and bad decisions, have earned it. That money would be better spent in company research, and in relief for people who need help. The reason big banks are supposed to have that money is so that they keep lending and keep communities afloat when we have crises like this.

It is time for all of us to come together in the Senate, in the White House, in the communities across the country, and, yes, on Wall Street. That means we don’t leave this building until we have done everything we need to do to get this epidemic under control, to get our communities the testing capacity and tools they need to manage this crisis, and to support the workers who are going to get hurt.

Leadership responsibility— I don’t care how he votes in the end—is to make the decision to put the House bill on the floor so we can vote on it, and President Trump, the day he gets it, needs to sign it.

Let’s help the people we serve—not next week, not 2 weeks from now, not tomorrow; let’s do it today. I suggest the absence of a quorum. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. MANCHIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

NOMINATION OF JAMES P. DANLY

Mr. MANCHIN. Mr. President, I will be voting to confirm Mr. Danly’s nomination to be a member of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission. I am doing so because I believe he is well qualified for the job. He has been the Commission’s general counsel for the past 2½ years. He understands the complex legal issues that come before the Commission.

I voted to report Mr. Danly’s nomination, both last November and again last week, on the strength of his qualifications, not on politics. I urge my colleagues to do the same.

The position to which Mr. Danly has been nominated is one of five seats on the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission. By law, no more than three of the five seats can be held by one party. Only three of the seats are now filled—two by Republicans and one by a Democrat. The other Democratic seat has been vacant since last August.

Traditionally, when both a Republican seat and a Democratic seat have been vacant, past Presidents have sent nominations to fill both at the same time. I am deeply disappointed that this is not happening this time. The politics involved in this town are outrageous. It is truly outrageous that even proper decorum, simple civility, and just a little bit of procedure are not even considered anymore.

The White House has had a highly qualified candidate to fill the Democratic seat for over a year, who has been totally vetted and has gone through all the processes we have, but the President and his staff have still not sent us her nomination. I think they are scared. I hear this because she is a very, very bright, very smart, very articulate, and very intelligent person. She possesses, and she is well respected in her field.

By breaking the longstanding practice of pairing nominations and not sending us a nomination for the Democratic seat, the administration undermines the bipartisan structure of the Commission. I made a commitment to Mr. Danly that I would support his nomination because he is well qualified, and I will honor that commitment and vote to confirm him. Two wrongs don’t make a right here, but this has got to stop.

Both sides have to stand up and say: Mr. President, this is a tradition. This is what we do. This is customary of what has been done, and it gives us a footholder. PERDUE, the Republican side needs to stop and to support another nominee unless we get both. This has to stop, and I am asking my colleagues on the Republican side to please help us with some kind of structure and some kind of procedure back into the operation. We need to start acting as a Senate and not be guided by the politics—the toxic politics—and this tribal mentality. I want the President to send us the nominations so we can have a fully functioning committee.

Moreover, with that, I urge my colleagues, please, let’s vote for the qualifications of the person, not the politics of the person. Also, let’s make sure we have a complete, working Commission and not just a partial Commission that is overweighted.

With that, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is, Will the Senate advise and consent to the Danly nomination? Mr. MANCHIN. I ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second? There appears to be a sufficient second.

The clerk will call the roll.

The bill clerk called the roll.

Mr. THUNE. The following Senators are necessarily absent: the Senator from Texas (Mr. Cruz), the Senator from Kansas (Mr. Moran), the Senator from Georgia (Mr. Perdue), and the Senator from Florida (Mr. Scott).

Further, if present and voting, the Senator from Kansas (Mr. Moran) would have voted ‘‘yea.’’

Mr. DURBIN. I announce that the Senator from Washington (Ms. Cantwell), the Senator from Minnesota
(Ms. KLOBUCHAR), the Senator from Vermont (Mr. SANDERS), and the Senator from Massachusetts (Ms. WARREN) are necessarily absent.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any other Senators in the Chamber desiring to vote?

The result was announced—yeas 52, nays 40, as follows:

The nomination was confirmed.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The majority whip.

Mr. THUNE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that with respect to the Dunly nomination, the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table and the President be immediately notified of the Senate’s action.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

LEGISLATIVE SESSION

MORNING BUSINESS

Mr. THUNE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to legislative session and be in a period of morning business, with Senators permitted to speak therein for up to 10 minutes each.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

CORONAVIRUS

Mr. THUNE. Mr. President, last week Congress provided billions in funding to address the coronavirus outbreak. These funds will help support virus research, testing, and medical care. Congress is now looking at other measures that may be required, including measures to address the economic impact of the virus. The House may consider an economic response measure today, but my understanding is that its bill does not yet reflect an agreement with the White House, which will be needed to move an stimulus package.

I want to echo the leader’s comments from yesterday and say that this is not a time for partisanship, and it is very important that we work together on matters related to the coronavirus so that we can get included legislation passed in a timely fashion.

More Americans are testing positive for the virus each day—including eight people in my home State of South Dakota—and it is our responsibility as Members of Congress to work together to ensure that our country has the resources it needs to combat and defeat this disease.

There is no doubt that things are stressful right now. Americans are understandably worried about their own health and the health of their loved ones. But we have a lot of dedicated people working to keep Americans safe, from nurses and doctors to public health officials. Everyone is focused on making sure we do what we need to do to limit the spread of this virus. And all of us, of course, can help in that effort by paying attention to the guidance we are given, whether it is advice from health officials. Everyone is focused on making sure we do what we need to do to limit the spread of this virus. And all of us, of course, can help in that effort by paying attention to the guidance we are given, whether it is advice from health officials.

I yield the floor.

Mr. CARDIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

NATIONAL WOMEN’S HISTORY MONTH

Mr. CARDIN. Mr. President, this Women’s History Month, we have the opportunity to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the ratification of the 19th Amendment of the Constitution, which gave women the right to vote.

We recognize the countless women who have put their own safety and comfort on the line in order to make this country more just, democratic, and inclusive. These include heroes like Margaret Brent, a daughter of Maryland who was the first to demand the right to vote for women in the colonial legislature, and Sojourner Truth, who advocated for African-American women’s suffrage movement. Thanks to their bravery and that of many other activists, our Nation witnessed the largest expansion of suffrage in its history.

A century later, we ought to celebrate that monumental achievement. The ability to vote has empowered women to demand a government that respects them as equals, and they have taken their power seriously. Women have voted in higher numbers than men in every national election for the last 55 years. In 2018, we saw the results that can happen when women raise their voices and cast more votes than men as a record 117 women won elections to Congress across the United States.

We cannot overstate how dramatically the adoption of the 19th Amendment has changed our country for the better, but it is also incumbent upon us to take stock of the progress that still needs to be made.

Just a few years after women won the right to vote, a suffragette named Alice Paul introduced another critically important constitutional amendment, one that would go even further in guaranteeing the equal status of women. It was called the Equal Rights Amendment, or the ERA, which reads as follows: “Equality of rights under law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex.” That is it. It is just 24 words. Yet those 24 words have the power to correct a 250-year silence in our Constitution when it comes to recognizing and protecting women’s equality.

The ERA was ratified by the U.S. Congress in 1972, and with Virginia’s ratification this past January, enough States have adopted the amendment to meet the threshold for it to be added to the Constitution. So what is the hold-up? Why isn’t it a part of the Constitution yet? When Congress ratified the Equal Rights Amendment, it imposed a deadline for State legislatures to ratify it. That deadline expired.

There should never be a deadline on equality. The Constitution does not call for time limits for the ratification of amendments, and there is precedent for amendments being added to the Constitution as many as 200 years after having first been proposed.

Most importantly, just as Congress had the power to impose and extend the deadline by resolution, we have the power to remove it through the same process. That is why I have introduced a resolution with Senator MURKOWSKI to remove the ratification deadline for the Equal Rights Amendment. Representative JACKIE SPEIER introduced a companion resolution that has already been passed by the House of Representatives. We are closer than ever to making the Equal Rights Amendment a reality.

This measure has historically enjoyed bipartisan support. The vast majority of Americans support it. The Senate is in favor of a constitutional equality amendment. Perhaps it is because they understand that this is an issue not of politics but of basic human rights. If you have any doubt about that, just look at the rest of the modern world. Every constitution written around the globe since World War II recognizes the equal stature of men and women. Ours does not. That is shameful.

Among those who are hesitant to support the ERA, one of their most common arguments is that it is not necessary. People argue that women already enjoy equal rights and protections in our society, so what is the need to write it down? To them, I say think again. Although the wage gap between men and women has narrowed over time, it still exists today. In 2019, women earned only 79 percent as much as their male counterparts for similar work. This disparity is even worse for women of color. It affects women their entire lives, and it affects their retirements. Recent data show that women over 65 are twice as likely as men to live below the poverty line. We owe it to America—to our mothers, daughters, sisters, friends, and selves—to remedy this societal failure.

Furthermore, as it stands, women in the United States have no Federal recourse for gender-based violence. Because courts have allowed police officers to refuse to defend victims of domestic abuse and have even struck down the protections offered by the Violence Against Women Act. The Equal Rights Amendment would require the Federal Government to prohibit and penalize this type of discrimination.

Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg once said that, if she could choose an amendment to add to the Constitution, it would be the Equal Rights Amendment because she would like her granddaughters, when they pick up the Constitution, to see that notion—that women and men are persons of equal stature—as being a basic principle of our society. As a grandfather of two granddaughters myself, I could not agree more. I want them to know that, in America, they will enjoy the same protections and opportunities as anyone else.

I want every young person to grow up understanding that her dreams are within reach, that her autonomy is respected, and that her life is significant. In order to make that reality, women need more than the right to vote, as fundamental as that is; they need a promise that they will be free from all forms of discrimination and injustice. That is why men, women, Republicans, and Democrats must come together in order to correct that silence in our Constitution—a silence that speaks volumes. We must all unite to support the Equal Rights Amendment.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The senior assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BOOZMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

HONORING OFFICER BRENT SCRIMSHIRE

Mr. BOOZMAN. Mr. President, I rise to honor Hot Springs Police Officer Brent Scrimshire, who was killed in the line of duty on Tuesday, March 10.

A native of Malvern, AR, Brent Scrimshire graduated from Malvern High School and Henderson State University. Officer Scrimshire was an exemplary member of law enforcement. He had served on the Hot Springs police force for a number of years and was recognized as the department’s Employee of the Quarter just recently in acknowledgment of his unique dedication, work ethic, and professionalism.

Arkansas Attorney General Leslie Rutledge also named him the Southwest Region Officer of the Year in 2016, which, according to media reports, he earned in part because of his lifesaving action when he helped to control the bleeding of a stabbing victim.

“Scrim” was known for treating his brothers in blue, as well as those he encountered while doing his job, with kindness and dignity. He also enjoyed being outdoors, hunting and fishing.

Officer Scrimshire deeply loved his wife and two children, who are now left behind to go through life without the devoted husband and dad they adored.

Our hearts break for them, the rest of his family and friends, and his entire family at the Hot Springs Police Department. His death is a tragic reminder of the risks our law enforcement officials face each time they put on the uniform.

I send my deepest condolences to Officer Scrimshire’s loved ones. We honor his service and his sacrifice and pray all those fortunate enough to have known him will find comfort in his legacy and in the outpouring of love and support from so many.

On behalf of all Arkansans, we celebrate Officer Scrimshire’s life and example of courageous, willing, and selfless public service. May he rest in peace.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The senior assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. CORNYN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

CORONAVIRUS

Mr. CORNYN. Mr. President, earlier today, as the Senate knows now, Leader McConnell announced that we would cancel our State work period so we could continue to work on legislation here in Washington, DC, to help families and our communities get through the economic effect of the coronavirus’s spread. I am glad he made that decision, and I look forward to continuing to work on those issues for the benefit of our constituents and the Nation.

This situation calls for an all-of-government response, and it will allow us additional time to hammer out a bipartisan agreement to respond to the ripple effect that this outbreak is having in Texas and across the country.

As we continue our discussions on this legislation, I would urge my colleagues that this is a time to put partisanship aside and stop playing politics. If there ever was a time...

There is actually precedent for that. At the height of the Ebola crisis in 2014, Republicans in the Senate worked with our Democratic colleagues and President Obama to ensure we were ready to treat Texans and other Americans who needed care from that partisan disease.

We need to come together to do the same now, not to use the opportunity to attack or score political points or to try to damage our opponents. Unfortunately, that seems to be the first impulse of some of our friends across the Capitol Chamber.

Most of the public concern is focused on the elderly, on cruise ship travelers, and those with underlying medical conditions, but we need to think of every family, every college student, and to make sure that everyone who is worrying about how to make ends meet during this particular crisis because they had to stay home and miss work has their concerns addressed as well. This virus could disrupt everyone’s daily routine in one way or the other, and as we have seen from the departure of some of our colleagues for self-quarantine, we are trying to get this together.

I am glad we will be staying in session to try to bring as much relief and reassurance as we can in this uncertain time, and I look forward to all of us, Republicans and Democrats, the House and the Senate and the White House working together to get every American ready for what is to come.

It is not just the Senate that is altering its plans due to the coronavirus. Across the country, serious measures are taking place out of an abundance of caution to keep the American people safe. Some schools are choosing to close their doors, nursing homes are barring visitors, and major events like South by Southwest in Austin are canceling.

On the global scale, we are seeing an unprecedented action, including all of Italy—some 60 million people—going on a complete lockdown.

For many Americans, it seems like this public health crisis has escalated incredibly quickly. We went from never having heard of this new virus to constant news coverage about its growing reach within a matter of weeks.
But this outbreak began long before the average American even knew it existed, and it was no accident that Chinese officials kept the rest of the world in the dark.

One of first people to sound the alarm about the novel virus—that is what they call it, the novel coronavirus—was 34-year-old Chinese doctor Li Wenliang, who, sadly, became a victim of the coronavirus.

On December 30 of last year, after seeing several patients who he believed at the time to have SARS, another type of coronavirus, Dr. Li messaged a group of medical school classmates to let them know that he had seen something new and different and potentially dangerous.

Dr. Li told them that these were confirmed cases of coronavirus infection, but the exact strain was still being subtyped. He also urged them to have their families and friends take protective measures, but these messages were soon deleted much wider than the intended audience, and the Chinese Communist Party and the government quickly stepped in to stop this information from being spread. Chinese police reprimanded Dr. Li and several other for “spreading rumors” about the virus.

In the Chinese Government’s effort to carefully conceal information about the rapid spread of symptoms throughout the city of Wuhan, this amounted to a big threat. They continued to take extreme measures to assure the Chinese people that there was no need for them to be concerned. They even refused to acknowledge the risk of human-to-human transmission, which is responsible for the global spread of this virus.

While this is a novel coronavirus strain, the underlying story is familiar. Chinese officials learn about a deadly outbreak of a new virus; they try to conceal the news; they aren’t transparent with their own people, much less other countries; and when the word begins to spread beyond their borders, they try to downplay the seriousness, even going so far as to manipulate data about the number of cases or fatalities.

We saw this story line play out with the bird flu in the late 1990s and again with the SARS epidemic in the early 2000s. This is just the latest example of the Communist Party’s habit in the face of a public health crisis. They continue to deny the facts and put their pride before public safety. It is a symptom of a much larger centralized censorship that we have come to associate with the Chinese Government—one that presents a threat to the rest of the world.

Imagine if the situation were different, if the government had listened to Dr. Li’s initial warnings, if they had reached out to international aid organizations for assistance, if they had employed additional resources to hospitals in Wuhan, and told the Chinese people to exercise normal caution.

Now, there is no way to be sure, but I imagine the current situation would look somewhat different. China’s censorship seriously handicapped our global response to this new virus, and they continue to release inconsistent, misleading statistics about the current state of the virus.

They have reported that the number of new cases continues to decrease, but I ask you: How can we possibly trust this data? How can we know that this isn’t just the latest attempt to downplay the crisis?

While China’s lack of transparency on the coronavirus has, without a doubt, had the greatest global impact, it is not the only country guilty of misrepresenting the nature of the threat in the rest of the world. We also suspect massive censorship from Iran, which is battling one of the world’s largest outbreaks. According to the Coronavirus Resource Center, which is operated at Johns Hopkins University, Iran has more than 9,000 cases. For reference, out of the more than 120,000 cases worldwide, China has far and away the greatest number, with more than 80,000. Italy is a distant second with more than 10,000, but Iran is on the list.

Just as China sought to keep initial reports of the virus quiet and downplay the impact, so did Iran. The leadership in Iran urged the Iranian people to vote in last month’s sham election, saying rumors of the coronavirus being pedaled by the United States to suppress voter turnout. They mocked the concept of quarantines. They even exported their masks to China, expecting that the coronavirus would have no impact on their country.

As we predicted then and now know, the Iranian leaders were absolutely wrong. They are now in the throes of trying to control the spread of the virus, which has claimed the lives of more than 12,000 and, that is just the ones we know about.

It is widely believed that Iran, like China, is suppressing data to make the situation seem less dire than it really is, and it is not just the civilians who are being impacted. Yesterday reports surfaced that Iran’s Senior Vice President and two other Cabinet members have the coronavirus. That comes after previous reports of other current and former officials being admitted to hospitals and at least 15 deaths.

The actions taken by the leaders of these countries—Iran and China—have, without a doubt, contributed to the rapid rise and spread of the coronavirus. They have concealed information; they have misrepresented the situation related to their own citizens and the global community, all in their own self-interest.

The reflexive censorship from China and Iran put the rest of the world at greater risk, and it handicapped our preparation for ways to address it. As our leaders, health officials, doctors, nurses, and scientists continue to work around the clock to contain this virus, we have to have transparency, and we have to know the facts.

If we are going to have any success on a global scale dealing with the coronavirus, we need honesty and transparency from all countries.

I suggest the absence of a quorum. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. LEE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.
We have to remember what happened with the Church Committee. The Frank Church Committee, a few decades ago in the U.S. Senate, looked at the use of intelligence gathering and concluded that in every administration—basically from Wilson through Nixon, who was the President immediately before the Church Committee did its investigation and issued its report—U.S. intelligence gathering agencies had abused their authority for par-tisan purposes basically to gage in political espionage. We know that this is dangerous. We know that this is bad. We also know that this is just the beginning and not the end of the opportunities for abuse.

Consider this: Given the breadth and the wide scope on the authority provided under FISA and given the fact that the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court is able to operate in secrecy and, for the most part, without any type of appellate review and any type of judicial review, these are provisions that are, in fact, vulnerable and susceptible to abuse.

So it is not just the President of the United States who has reason to be concerned. If the President of the United States has reason to be concerned about it, as he does—he reminded us just in the last few hours, issuing a statement this morning indicating that he still has concerns with FISA, the Senate is pointing out the flaws in the reform package passed by the Democratic-controlled House of Representatives earlier this week and that many have encouraged him to veto that legislation on that basis. But if the President of the United States himself has reason to be concerned about FISA, what about the rest of America? This is just the episode that people know about in connection with the abuse that took place in the Carter Page investigation. Had Donald Trump become President of the United States, we might well still not know about this particular instance of abuse. Because of the secret manner in which this law operates and the failure to provide special protections for known U.S. citizens, we all stand vulnerable—every American citizen, whether they hold office or not, whether they are famous or not, whether they are rich or poor, regardless of their culture, their background, or what part of the country they hail from.

So what we are seeking here are a few modest reforms to make sure that it is a little bit harder to abuse this law. We know human beings are flawed and fallible, and we have to rely on human beings to run governments. It would be nice, as James Madison said, if men were angels because, as Madison wrote in Federalist 51, if men were angels, they wouldn’t need a government. And if we had access to angels to run our government, we wouldn’t need these rules surrounding the extent of the power of government to protect us from the inherent risk associated with the unjust, excessive accumulation of power in the hands of a few.

But, alas, we are not angels, nor do we have access to angels to run our government, so we have to rely on rules. The rules we are proposing are not new. They are actually very mild. Among other things, we would like to see more robust amicus provisions, meaning provisions allowing for a third-party advocate in the FISA Court to be called in, under certain especially involving a sensitive investigation—invoking, for example, a political campaign or a candidate, an office holder, a church, a media establishment, something like that that operates with expression, Lone Wolf protection. An amicus ought to be appointed to represent an absent contrasting viewpoint, to represent American citizens where American citizens’ rights might be in jeopardy.

Under the recent Intelligence Authorization Act since 2015, that these provisions would be expiring first in December of 2019 and then we reauthorized them for a short period of time to give us more time to address these amendments. For years, we have been working on proposals and revisions to FISA with this specific expiration deadline in mind. I have not been, nor have any of my colleagues who have concerns about this, unresponsive to these demands. In fact, for me, personally—and I will not purport to speak for anyone else in this—for me, personally, I would be fine with two of the three provisions being reauthorized without any further modification. Lone Wolf and Roving Wiretaps—let them get reauthorized; that is fine. Let’s deal with 215 separately.

Incidentally, section 215—if Sunday comes and passes, 215 doesn’t go away. It just reverts back to a previous version of 215—a previous version that still gives the government the ability to gain access to some business records associated with FISA-ordered targets. It is just a modification.

Now, we can argue about whether that earlier provision would be adequate. Incidentally, inspectors general have looked at this and concluded that the 9/11 attacks were not the fault of the inadequacy of the intelligence. They were the result of mishandling of information that they did, in fact, gather and were able to gather.

In any event, I would love to be able to have that conversation separately with regard to 215 without all three of these provisions being held hostage simultaneously. I have made that offer.

That offer has been rejected.

I also think another appropriate approach in both circumstances might well be to give ourselves a 45-day extension. A 45-day extension would give us a little bit more time to deal with the coronavirus-related crises that we face right now and then consider and debate and vote on some additional amendments—some amendments that have never had the opportunity to see the light of day.

Keep in mind, this provision—getting back to the expiring provision that I have concerns with, section 215—existed prior to the moment when it reached its current formulation. When it existed in that formulation, it really did what the government needed it to. Not really been inadequate. There were some people, I am told—I wasn’t in the Senate or in Congress at the time that it came to be. I am told that its advocates included Robert Mueller, Jim Comey, and others, who thought it would be a good idea to give the government more power.

We have seen since then what happens when you give Jim Comey and Robert Mueller and other people in the government more power, and we have seen that there are some risks associated with this, not just if you are a President of the United States or a candidate for the Presidency of the United States, but we know that all Americans are potentially vulnerable.

So we fast forward to earlier this week, less than 48 hours ago. We received legislation, the legislation that was passed by the House of Representatives yesterday. That legislation was negotiated without input from members or without direct input from anybody in this body. The majority leader himself has stated publicly that he was not involved in the negotiation of that measure. That measure was passed within 24 hours after it was introduced. It is now coming over here.

Now, I am not saying that it shouldn’t be considered. In fact, I am kind of saying the opposite of that. I am saying, I am happy to consider it, but we need the opportunity to actually consider it. The world’s greatest deliberative legislative body or so it calls itself—the Senate—is supposed to be the cooling saucer, the cooling saucer where the hot tea spills out and is allowed to cool before it is acted on. In these circumstances in particular, where rights are at stake, rights are at stake that are potentially threatened by provisions under this bill—this bill introduced by Representative Nadler, and supported by Representatives Schiff, Pelosi, and others—which hasn’t had the opportunity to be independently reviewed in the Senate or to be debated or discussed or amended in the Senate. That is all I am asking for here.

All I ask is to give us a few weeks. Let’s take 45 days. Give the Senate a chance to deal with the immediate crises associated with the coronavirus and then a chance for us, in a timely fashion, to review the Pelosi-Nadler-Schiff bill and consider our own amendments to it—bipartisan amendments from people who have reached across the aisle in an effort to make this bill better.

And it is for those reasons that I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of the Senate bill at the desk providing for a 45-day extension of FISA.
ask unanimous consent that the bill be considered read a third time and passed, and that the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table; further, that at a time to be determined by the majority leader in consultation with the Democratic leader, the Senate proceed to the consideration of H.R. 6172 and that the only amendments in order be six amendments offered by the following Senators: Senator LEE, Senator LEAHY, Senator DAINES, Senator WYDEN, and Senator PAUL. Further ask that upon disposition of the amendments, the bill, as amended, if amended, be read a third time and the Senate vote on the bill, as amended, if amended, with no intervening action or debate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

The Senator from North Carolina.

Mr. BURR. Mr. President, reserving the right to object, I want to thank my colleague. He has shown more interest in this than he has shown in the history of tools that keep us safe.

I remember Paul Harvey on the radio. He always came on and said: "Now, for the rest of the story." Senator LEE has never supported this bill, and I am giving many of these authorities to law enforcement. And let me explain what they are—roving wiretap and lone wolf. Lone wolf is that individual out there who pops up, whom we can find, who is not tied to an international terrorist group but is homegrown. On wiretapping, we are going to take roving wiretaps away from the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and we are going to take it away for terrorism. But since 1966, they have had roving wiretaps for organized crime—think about that—and then business records and their access to business records to find those clues that we need to keep America safe.

Senator LEE talked about us holding hostage, we are not holding anybody hostage. He is holding the bill hostage to get amendments, some of which shouldn't even be considered under the reauthorization of section 215. They are FISA reforms being taken up by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

That bill that came over from the House—the one supported by PELOSI, SCHIFF, and NADLER—is actually a bipartisan bill that 63 percent of the Republicans in the U.S. House of Representatives have supported. It is lead sponsored by Mr. MCCARTHY. I will not go down the list of them. But it is easy to make this call out as the boogeyman.

But to my colleagues, we don't play national security risk, boogeyman games against the American people. We err on the side of providing as many tools as we possibly can to make sure that our oath to keep America safe is as robust as it possibly can be.

Now, why do we need to do this? It is because we need to provide the American people with the tools that can continue to use these tools. If not, we are going to have cases that are working on today where they have to stop at midstream and start over at some point later on. The question is, Will they be able to, or will they have lost the coverage they need on a certain individual?

Now, what happens if they are gone? Will it be the result of trying to create guardrails that these agencies operated in. The President, under 12333 authority, can do all of this without Congress's permission, with no guardrails, with no ability to go in and say: Stay within this.

That authority exists. The thing that I hear the most is that we want the ability for an amicus to go in and represent somebody in front of this foreign intelligence court. Well, let me tell you something that you are never going to be told. The court itself has the authority, today, to assign an amicus to any case that comes before the court. And what better judge is there to make a determination than an individual on whom there is an application on for FISA coverage than the court itself to determine: Is this a person, an individual, who needs to be represented by a third party? No, it is not good enough for them to let him go in and want to make sure that everybody does it. And when everybody does it, we slow down a process because that is what they are there for. We slow down a process that is there trying to be ahead of the security risk that might have been prevented.

Personally, I am ready for a big debate. We are going to have it next week, and we can have a debate on every one of the amendments of Senator LEE and the list of people he gave, and I think that they will be struck down. But I am not going to have a 45-day extension. I will let us go dark. I will let us go dark, and if there is a need, the President, by Executive order, can do it for whatever period people think they are willing to let it expire.

I will make every attempt to try to get this process of reviewing FISA—not 215—in the Judiciary Committee, where it should come out of, where the folks on the Judiciary Committee, who are experts on the interactions with the court, have an opportunity to have input.

These amendments may never come out of the Judiciary Committee. They may never come out. Yet they want to expedite them and bring them right to the floor on a bill that is not necessarily appropriate to put them on.

Why? It is because they know by themselves they will never become law. They will have a tough time. So they will hold up those tools that we use for national security in an effort to try to get some changes.

Well, I am holding the changes. This is not a straight reauthorization. This is a bill that has very carefully been crafted by the Attorney General, the Speaker of the House, and the minority leader of the House. Sixty-three percent of the Republicans and not as many a percentage of the Democrats supported it. I think it was 270-some votes out of the House of Representatives.

Truthfully, by unanimous consent today the Senate should approve what they passed, but we will not because somebody wants to demand all of these amendments.

So for that reason, I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

Mr. LEE, Mr. President.

Mr. LEE. Mr. President, I appreciate the care, attention, and detail shown by my friend and colleague, the distinguished senior Senator from North Carolina. I do disagree with him for 10 independent reasons.

Yes, I do ask that the proponents of the unanimous consent request now before this body—that is, the very simple, clean reauthorization of the expiring provisions for 45 days, yet the Senate majority to spend just a few weeks to debate and consider these amendments after dealing with the coronavirus crisis—he suggested that I, as the proponent of this measure, have—I think the words were—never supported any of these tools, never in my entire time in the Senate lifted a finger to support these tools. That is curious because I was the author and lead sponsor of the USA FREEDOM Act, which, in 2015, extended and reauthorized these very same provisions. So his first argument is factually incorrect.

No. 2, he points to the lone wolf and roving wiretap provisions as things that he is concerned about. I understand that they want those. Now, lone wolf is used, but it is sort of a security blanket. People like knowing that it is there within the government, and I am willing to let that go. Roving wiretaps are used from time to time. I am willing to let these go. In fact, I have offered repeatedly—and I will offer again right now, if it is helpful—that I am willing to reauthorize those right now without a single modification, without a single limit beyond what has already been put in for the other provisions. I am willing to do that free of charge on anything. So those arguments are frankly disingenuous.

Last, as to the suggestion that I am somehow holding this bill hostage, I say to the Senator: You, sir, have it wrong. You have it precisely backward. What I am doing is saying: Let's preserve the status quo. We have a crisis to deal with, with the coronavirus.

It is of great frustration to me that this body, through its majority leadership and through its other leadership has known for years—I put them on notice for years, for basically the entire time I have been at the U.S. Senate—about the expiring provisions. I have made known ever since 2015, when we reauthorized these provisions, that I would continue to... want more reforms. Why we waited until the final days before the expiration of that period is beyond my ability to understand. But it is factually incorrect and manifestly unfair to suggest that I am the one holding this hostage.

I say to the Senator: It is quite the other way around, sir.

As to the suggestion that these are FISA reforms, not PATRIOT Act reforms, well, yes, they are all part of this package that we refer to collectively as the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act. The Senator is right as to the provisions, especially the provision that I am most concerned about, section 215, as we call it—section 215 of the USA PATRIOT Act. I give him that one, but that doesn't address the substance of the problem here.

As to Senator Burr's argument that we should err on the side of keeping Americans safe, I absolutely agree with that. There is no dispute about that.

I am just objecting to the finding of the Privacy and Civil Liberties Oversight Board that concluded a few years ago that our privacy and our security are not at odds with each other. This is not a zero-sum game between those two objectives. Our privacy is, in fact, part of our security. One of the reasons we became a nation, one of the reasons we don't fly the Union Jack or sing "Hail to the Queen" or wear wigs and robes or don't fly the Union Jack or sing "Hail to the Queen" or wear wigs and robes or don't fly the Union Jack or sing "Hail to the Queen" or wear wigs and robes or don't fly the Union Jack or sing "Hail to the Queen" or wear wigs and robes is that our privacy and our security are not at odds with each other. This is not a zero-sum game between those two objectives.

One of the reasons we became a nation, one of the reasons we don't fly the Union Jack or sing "Hail to the Queen" or wear wigs and robes or don't fly the Union Jack or sing "Hail to the Queen" or wear wigs and robes or don't fly the Union Jack or sing "Hail to the Queen" or wear wigs and robes is that our privacy and our security are not at odds with each other.

They are in fact part of the same cohesive whole.

No. 7, Senator Burr argues that a President of the United States can do all of this, in any event, without the three expiring provisions on the books. Well, my response to that is that is kind of curious. If that were the case, why is he fighting so hard for these provisions? What is anyone be concerned about their expiration? He suggests somehow that we would not have guardrails—any guardrails in place—if, in fact, these were allowed to expire. If they were allowed to expire, I am not at all certain that I would want to provide language identical to that found in lone wolf or roving wiretap or 215.

So if that is the case, perhaps you, sir, would rather have them expire. I really don't know, and I don't think that advances your argument.

No. 8, the suggestion was made that these amicus provisions—which are not the limit; they are one of six amendments that I would like to propose and have this bill be considered. But the FISA Court already has the authority to appoint an amicus. Well, this is true. We put that in the USA FREEDOM Act in 2015. The court does have that authority. That doesn't mean that we should err on the side of keeping Americans safe, I absolutely agree with that. There is no dispute about that.

So if that is the case, perhaps you, sir, would rather have them expire. I really don't know, and I don't think that advances your argument.

No. 9, to the extent that anyone is going to let this program go dark and if that concerns you, then you ought to agree to this unanimous consent request. This unanimous consent request will result in it not going dark.

I have made it entirely foreseeable that this bill will be considered at least debated, discussed, and considered before we get to this moment. It is not unreasonable for me to ask. I am not asking that you accept these amendments, that you incorporate them into existing law; I am instead simply asking that we be given the opportunity to vote on them.

Finally, No. 10, Mr. Burr argues that this legislation was carefully crafted by the Attorney General, the Speaker, the House, and several other officials and that some 270 or so Members of the House of Representatives voted for this. Well, good for them. That is their prerogative. I have my own election certificate. I serve in a different legislative body. I am aware of no obligation on my election certificate that requires me to defer to the Pelosi-Nadler-Schiff bill. In fact, I refuse to do that.

It is insulting to this body.

Had the Founding Fathers wanted to create a unicameral legislature, they could have done so. Had the Founding Fathers wished to create the Senate of the United States as simply a rubberstamp that would review what the House of Representatives did and then have a veto, yes or no, open or closed—a binary reaction to what the House of Representatives did—they could have, they would have, and they should have done so. They did not. We have our own independent obligation to review and amend. I have done so. I find it inadequate.

I am not demanding that all my amendments be accepted as a condition precedent for my willingness to keep these from going dark. All I am saying is that I want the opportunity to have amendments considered—bipartisan amendments—introduced by several Members.

So I am going to make another request. I will tone this one down. I will modify this one.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of the Senate bill at the desk providing for a 45-day extension of FISA. I ask unanimous consent that the bill be considered a third time and passed and that the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table; further, that at a time to be determined by the majority leader, in consultation with the minority leader, the Senate proceed to the consideration of H.R. 6172; and that the only amendments in order be five amendments offered by the following Senators: Senators LEE, LEAHY, DAINES, WYDEN, and PAUL. I further ask unanimous consent that the amendments—introduced by several Members, the bill, as amended, if amended, be read a third time and that the Senate vote on the bill, as amended, if amended, with no intervening action or debate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. BURR. I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The objection is heard.

Mr. LEE. Mr. President, you might notice that pattern here. This pattern is going to continue. This pattern is going to continue because this is unjust. This is unrealistic. This is unsustainable.

This used to be a body that prided itself on being the world's greatest deliberative legislative body. It is a body that has its own unique protections attached to it.

Article I of the Constitution sets out the parameters of the Senate, and it was clear that it will consist of exactly two Members representing each State, one of those Members, the Senate, is an entirely different kind of statutorily created legislative body. It is a body that has its own unique protections attached to it.

The Founding Fathers wished to create a unicameral legislature, they could have done so. Had the Founding Fathers wanted to create the Senate of the United States as simply a rubberstamp that would review what would be our own independent legisla tive body. We would be betraying our oath to the Constitution and those whom we represent if we didn’t do this.

This used to be a place, for that very reason—in fact, until quite recently, it was a place where Senators had any amendment considered on any legislation. Basic standards of collegiality, of decency and respect for each other and for the rule of law itself convinced Members over centuries—literally centuries—to defer to each other in at least their opportunity to propose and vote on amendments. In recent years, we have seen this deteriorate.

We have seen it deteriorate, sadly, under the leadership of Republicans and Democrats. Sure. We have seen it deteriorate at the expense of the representation of each individual State.

This simply isn’t acceptable, that we would get to this point in legislation and we would be unable to vote on or consider basic amendments to so important a law. They are asking us to reauthorize these expiring provisions—provisions with profound implications not only for national security but also for privacy, which are part of the same cohesion— and they are asking us to consider those until December of 2023 with only minimal reforms—reforms that, I would add, are modest at best, that are perhaps well-intentioned in some ways, but the Pelosi-Nadler-Schiff bill doesn’t cut the mustard. It doesn’t do the job.

I have just asked for six amendments. That was too many. And I have asked for five amendments, and that was too many. And if they are not ingesting that we can’t ask for any amendments, because if they did, that would be patently ridiculous. That would be uncivil. That would be unсенatorial. So we will try again. We will see what we can do with four.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of the Senate bill at the desk providing for a 45-day extension of FISA. I ask unanimous consent that the bill be considered a third time and passed and that the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table; further, that at a time to be determined by the majority leader, in consultation with the Democratic leader, the Senate pro-cede to the consideration of H.R. 6172 and that the only amendments in order be three amendments offered by the following Senators: Senators LEE, LEAHY, DAINES, WYDEN, and PAUL. I further ask that upon disposition of the amendments, the bill, as amended, if amended, be read a third time and that the Senate vote on the bill, as amended, if amended, with no intervening action or debate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. BURR. I object.

Mr. LEE. Mr. President, this is the natural product of the American people being asked again and again to simply accept that this is how things will operate. The American people are told to just settle—to settle for budgets that don’t balance or come anywhere close to it; to settle for a government that spies on you, that lies to you, that overreaches into the executive branch, that is somehow too content and seemingly eager and willing to allow and perpetuate and even expand those authorities.

This is unacceptable. We shouldn’t settle. We shouldn’t settle for an overreaching government. We should expect a government that respects the letter and spirit of the Fourth Amendment. We shouldn’t settle for a Senate in which the rights of individual Senators—a bipartisan group of Senators that has been trying for years to just have a vote on a few reasonable amendments—would be shut out. We should expect an open, robust debate, discussion, and amendment process.

Don’t set the stage for this. You should expect more. We should all expect freedom. We should all expect debate and liberty and the protection of your fundamental rights as American citizens.

So we will try this again, rolling the number down to an absolute bare min-um number of three amendments.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of the Senate bill at the desk providing for a 45-day extension of FISA. I ask unanimous consent that the bill be considered a third time and passed and that the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table; further, that at a time to be determined by the majority leader, in consultation with the Democratic leader, the Senate pro-cede to the consideration of H.R. 6172 and that the only amendments in order be three amendments offered by the following Senators: Senators LEAHY, DAINES, WYDEN, and PAUL. I further ask that upon disposition of the amendments, the bill, as amended, if amended, be read a third time and that the Senate vote on the bill, as amended, if amended, with no intervening action or debate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. BURR. I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The objection is heard.

Mr. LEE. Mr. President, earlier today, when the President of the United States issued a statement about the Pelosi-Nadler-Schiff bill purporting to but utterly failing to meaningfully reform the three expiring foreign intelligence surveillance provisions at issue, the President expressed grave concern over the process. He expressed grave concern over the content of the Pelosi-Nadler-Schiff bill, which the Senate reviewed, voted on, passed without amendment, with inadequate debate, violating the House of Representatives’ own 72-hour rule in order to get there. Perhaps he was talking about that, or perhaps he was talking about the fact that the Pelosi-Nadler-Schiff bill really doesn’t fix the problem. In fact, look at the fact that there was overt, politically motivated targeting that took place against the President of the United States.

Now, look—I know—those were different provisions under title I of the Foreign Intelligence Surveilance Act. I get that. But it is still part of the same legislative package. It is still more of the same set of laws we are concerned about here. The only time where we have the meaningful opportunity to take a deep breath and debate, discuss, and possibly amend these provisions is when they are set to expi-

I referred earlier to the USA FREE-DOM Act, which I authored and sponsored, along with my distinguished friend and colleague Senator LEAHY, the senior Senator from Vermont, back in 2015. That was brought about as a reform of the NSA’s overreach and for the—those were the very same provisions we were approaching the expiration of these very same provisions.

That is how we bring about reforms. In fact, we brought about some reforms in that very legislation that were outside of the narrow provisions we are expiring provisions in question. There is no rule, no law etched in stone, written into the rules of the Senate, the Constitution, or anything else that tells us that we cannot, that we may not, that we need not edit and reconsider any provision outside the narrow expiring provisions that we are facing with FISA. Quite to the contrary, we have a pattern and practice in the past that has established that this is the way we do things.

Look, in fairness, I wish we debated and discussed and amended these things a whole lot more because these laws are really messed up. We ought to be reviewing them and updating them a lot more of them. But because the people implementing them are bad. Maybe some of them are. I don’t know them. They have done some bad things, some of them. I am sure there are a lot of people who have access to these tools who are hard-working, well-intentioned, well educated, and highly specialized. I am even willing to assume most of them fit that description and wouldn’t ever knowingly, intentionally violate that law. But the fact is, the law has been violated. There are very few instances that the law is not bad because the people implementing them are bad. Maybe some of them are. I don’t know them.

Sunlight illuminates and it also dis-infacts, and the opposite happens when a cooperator is charged with the sacred responsibility of determining and in some cases limiting the rights of the American people, U.S. citizens—operates in secret.

court system is the fact that, despite its flaws, I would put it up against any system of its kind anywhere in the world. The reason is, it is done, with very, very few, narrow, careful exceptions, under the light of day. Rulings, decisions, and judgments are made public and appealable on multiple levels. That is not how the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court operates. It operates in secret.

So that is one of the reasons why we really should be reviewing and updating this stuff more often, especially when we know there have been abuses. We know from the sheer breadth of these statutes—some of which were written, by the way, in the immediate wake of the 9/11 terrorist attacks. As I mentioned earlier, I was not then a Member of this body. I was not a Member of the Senate or of the House of Representatives. In fact, I have never served over there. The Senate is the first place and only place I have ever held an elected office. I was an adult by then, and I was licensed—a practicing attorney by then. I remember watching as Congress was passing the PATRIOT Act and wondering why they were acting so quickly—so hastily—to put so many words and so many pages into a single bill.

I remember wondering whether they might, in the process of doing that, trample over the fundamental rights guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution without the American people knowing about it. This has come to fruition over time, and we have seen that it has been abused. We know the certainty is—sure as we know the sun will come up tomorrow in the East—that this will continue to happen. To what extent it continues to happen or how long it is allowed to is, in many respects, up to us.

As I said earlier, governments are run by human beings. Human beings, while redeemable, while generally good, can make mistakes. But they are much more prone to make mistakes when they can do so under cover of darkness, when they don’t have to answer to anybody. That is what is going on here. That is why I am so concerned about this one. That is why I consider it—I guess I would say—disappointed.

It is disappointing that this body, some of the most talented people I have ever had the pleasure of working with, from both sides of the aisle, the Senate and the House, the American people knowing about it. They have the chance to fix this. They have the chance to do better.

In connection in the intervening years—the Pelosi-Nadler-Schiff bill—a bill that I consider inadequate. It draws near to the Constitution with its lips, metaphorically speaking, but its heart is far from it. It pays loose homage to the notion that American citizens have rights worth protecting. Yet it functions in much the same way as carbon monoxide might operate in the human bloodstream, where the body might recognize something, mistake it for oxygen. That, by the way, is—I am told—why carbon monoxide is so deadly.

Your body will tend to recognize it mistakenly for O2 and in some ways prefer it to O2, thus, starving the body of actual oxygen. When we accept something that looks like it does the job—and it, in fact, doesn’t—it can do a lot of harm in the process. Why? Because the American Court operates in secret. It operates in secret. It functions in much the same way as carbon monoxide might operate in the human bloodstream, where the body might recognize something, mistake it for oxygen. The Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act, as the name suggests, was created not to go after U.S. citizens but to go after foreign spies and terrorists—not Americans. Sadly, over time, as a result of the advocacy of the people who were afraid of the government—the advocacy and defense of people like Jim Comey and Robert Mueller—we got a sort of morphing of FISA into something that wasn’t focused entirely, necessarily, anymore on foreign intelligence gathering. On agents of a foreign power, on terrorists, but could be used even with respect to U.S. citizens. This isn’t right. In our hearts, we know it is not right.

In our hearts, we should certainly know that it is not right when we have the opportunity to consider some amendments—one of the amendments that I have proposed—and a key part of the Lee-Leahy reform. We provide something that I don’t think would be shockingly American. In fact, I think any American citizen would be shocked not by the fact of its being introduced but by the fact that it is not already law. It would say that if they want to go after an American—if they know that the subject in question, the person investigating the person, in fact, an American—there ought to be added procedural protections attached to their investigation of that person; that if they get a court order under section 215 allowing them to search for and seize to any “tangible things”—any of a whole category of business records—they really ought to have to satisfy a different, slightly higher standard than they would if the person were a spy from a foreign country or a foreign terrorist or something like that. There are certain rights that do inhere in the fact that you are an American. That is not unreasonable. In fact, I am not sure I know any American citizen outside of Washington, DC, who would feel a moment’s pause with that, other than to say: Why on Earth is that not already law?

I am also convinced that most Americans would respond to the beefed-up amicus curiae provisions. Remember, “amicus curiae” is a Latin term that means friend of the court. It refers to the fact that within the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court, you have no jury, you have no opposing counsel, you don’t have a court reporter who is going to transcribe everything in it. You, instead, have total secrecy. Our FISA provisions would expand our amicus curiae provisions, would expand the circumstances in which the FISA Court must appoint a friend of the court—or amicus curiae—just to argue the other side. This doesn’t even remotely limit their power. It just says: Let’s bring somebody else into the room—somebody else who can be trusted, who has security clearance, but who can provide a different perspective.

Most Americans—in fact, I would say probably every American I know outside of Washington, DC—would say there is nothing unreasonable about that. In fact, what is unreasonable is the fact that that would require an amendment—a change—to existing law.

Another one of the provisions that we want to amend deals with what we call the pen register and the landline telephone business records—if that were decided today, it might well have been decided very differently today than it would have been then, and—gaily, with many categories of business records, there is a reasonable expectation of privacy. There is some expectation of some privacy buried within that, and we can’t conclude otherwise.

Secondly, separate and apart from developments in the law that ought to cause us to view with some suspicion the government’s open-ended ability with a mere subpoena to show records interest to and therefore access to certain categories of business records—unlike those circumstances where some one could go into a regular court, whether a civil or a criminal proceeding, and get a record on a more relevance standard without probable cause—in those circumstances, at least, there is more of an opportunity for somebody to respond. In many cases, that somebody might be the custodian of the records of the business entity in question, whether it is the mobile telephone services operator, the internet service provider, or the owner of the car rental facility, the storage unit facility—whatever it is, there is some opportunity, for that business enterprise to go into court to try to quash the subpoena, to argue that the government doesn’t, in fact, have a need for it; that it doesn’t need to produce it to defend its own business interests, if not those also of its own customers.

In some circumstances, there is also an opportunity for the person in question to be notified independently to object to or in other ways—one way or another—respond to the government’s desire to gain access to those business records. By contrast, under the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court, you don’t have that ability. That is why we need special protections here.

Look, it is not hard for the government to have to follow basic principles of due process. It is not hard for the government to have to show probable cause. In most circumstances, this can be done in a manner that no one has ever demonstrated, to my satisfaction, why—especially where, as in the case of my probable cause amendment, with the requirement that they satisfy that standard only when they are in the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court and they are going after a record pertaining to a known U.S. person—it would still allow them to go after other records pertaining to other people without that knowledge and, if they didn’t know someone was a U.S. person, they wouldn’t have to satisfy it. But even that is apparently unacceptable to the self-proclaimed masters of...
We have had years and years and years to address this, and we have refused—we have deliberately declined; we have been recklessly indifferent with respect to the need to reform these provisions. If not us, who? If not now, when? I have no interest in continuing to punt this thing over and over again. This is like Charlie Brown going after that same football with the same Lucy, who moves the darn football every time he hits it. This isn’t acceptable. I have great confidence in my colleagues that a few of us—Republicans and Democrats alike—will come forward and say: No, not on my watch, not anymore. This is not how the Senate is going to operate.

This is just within a few days when we have seen a few unfortunate things happen—things that are themselves symptoms of the same underlying problem. I don’t mean FISA, specifically. I am talking about something much broader, much broader. I am talking about the deviation from the norms of courtesy that have come to define this body over the centuries.

My friend, the distinguished colleague from Louisiana, Senator Kennedy, had he wanted, had he wanted considered and voted on last week in connection with the Energy bill. I disagreed with that amendment. I would have voted against it. In fact, I would have voted against it and spoken against it on the floor. I really didn’t like it, but he had an amendment he wanted considered. He was denied, he was denied the opportunity to have that amendment considered. He wasn’t even given adequate notice of his procedural rights that would come into play when the person—the Senator who had introduced an amendment—came down to the floor to amend her previous amendment and to use it as basically a maneuver to delay amendment to Senator Reid’s amendment out of that package, thus effectively denying him the opportunity to receive adequate consideration of his own amendment. He wasn’t given notice.

Because he wasn’t given notice, he missed out on the opportunity to do what he inevitably could have done and would have done, so long as he could have come down here with 10 other Senators—a combined total of 11 Senators—without that intervening call for the yeas and nays on the original amendment introduced by Senator Murkowski. We could have voted on that amendment, and she wouldn’t have been able to insert that managers’ package on her own without that intervening call for the yeas and nays on her original amendment.

This is one of many examples that—while probably painfully boring to the average American—should be deeply disturbing to any American who knows about, who cares about, who yearns for the freedom that comes from our representative government; that expects that people elected to make laws will actually be participating in that process and not simply dictated to by two leaders—one Republican and one Democratic—each House of Congress.

Yet another manifestation of that—one that has sadly become sort of one installment in a set of sequel movies—is what happens basically every time we have a spending bill.

To cite one example that occurred nearly 2 years ago, for many months we had been waiting to see when we would have the opportunity to debate, discuss, amend, and vote on a spending bill in the early months of 2018. It would be the first real spending bill that we had the opportunity to consider since the 45th President of the United States was sworn in, in January of 2017. We had been told by our respective party leaders in both Houses of Congress to wait for it; you will get the chance to review it; you will get the chance to debate it and amend it.

Then, one evening on a Wednesday in March of 2018, I received an email. It was 8:37 p.m. That email was from Republican leadership addressed to Republican Senators, saying: Attached is a spending bill that we are going to be addressing.

I thought: Good. This is what we have been waiting for, for months. I finally get to see it.

I opened it up. It was 2,232 pages long. It spent, as I recall, $1.2 or $1.3 trillion. I immediately distributed it to members of my staff who worked through the night, splitting it up, figuring out what each provision meant—recognizing that a 2,232 page Senate appropriations bill doesn’t read like a fast-paced novel. It doesn’t read like a newspaper. It is a very slow and cumbersome process, one that involves countless cross-references to statutory provisions that wouldn’t be recognizable to most ordinary Americans, so it takes a lot of time to review it.

My staff, after working on it through the night and through the next day, was as shocked as I was to see that the House of Representatives passed that bill—the same 2,232 page-long bill that most Members saw for the first time at 8:37 p.m. the previous night. The House of Representatives passed that bill before lunch the next day. The Senate—this body—was convened in the middle of the night the following evening and passed it with not one amendment, not one change from one Member of this body.

When we outsource things to the so-called four corners—the Republican and Democratic leaders of both Houses of Congress—everybody else gets shut out. This might be really good for you if you are from one of those States represented by one of those four corners, but it is really bad for everybody else. I look forward to working with my colleagues here in the Senate and in the House of Representatives to ensure that every Member of Congress—everybody else gets to participate in this process.
At the end of the day, it is not their fault. It is not the fault of the four corners so much as it is our fault. They are doing what they have to do. They are doing the job the way they know how to do it, the way they have learned how to do it, the way we have trained them to do it, sadly enough. We have left them to do it that way, so they do it. I am sure it is not easy to do it that way, but it is probably less hard than every other way out there. In that respect, I don't blame them for doing it that way.

Shame on us for passing that bill without any one of us having had the opportunity to read the whole darned thing except for maybe four Members. Between 435 Representatives and 100 Senators, you might have had 4 Members total who knew what was in there and had control over it. Shame on us for passing it anyway.

After those in the House of Representatives see for the first time the Pelosi-Nadler-Schiff bill less than 24 hours before they vote on it and pass it—a bill purporting to reform FISA while failing to actually do so in a meaningful way—shame on them. If we pass it over here, shame on us. The shame is especially acute if we don't even try, which is what we are being asked to do here. We are being asked to defer, to let somebody else do the legislating.

By the way, just as we were told when approaching that spending bill, as with most other spending bills in the 9 years I have been here, that we have to leave them to the experts—don't worry about this; this is for the Appropriations Committee's chairman, for the subcommittee chairmen, for the majority and minority leaders from the two Houses of Congress and basically for no one else; leave it to the experts—we are now being told to leave it to the experts here, which begs the question: What do we do when we realize we really rendered ourselves that insignificant that we are not even willing to defend our own right to raise our own ideas and our own concerns with something as profoundly significant and potentially impactful on the liberties of every single American—old and young, White and Black, male and female and of any station, rich or poor? These provisions—make no mistake—have the potential to affect every single one of us. Shame on us if we don't even try to make it better.

So I am not going to blame this one on PELOSI, NADLER, and SCHIFF. They can choose to pass an unwise bill, if they want to, that doesn't fix the problem, but I don't work for PELOSI or NADLER or SCHIFF. I work for the people of Utah. I was elected by the voters in the sovereign State of Utah, who expected me to come here and represent them.

By the way, this is an issue that is neither liberal nor conservative. It is neither Democratic nor Republican. This is not a partisan issue. In fact, the amendments that I am talking about here are bipartisan. This is simply an American issue. It is a constitutional issue. It is an issue pertaining to and inextricably intertwined with the basic dignity of the eternal human soul.

We can't pass this thing while pretending we know about the rights of the American people, not unless we at least try to pretend like we are doing our job, not unless we at least try to pretend like we are trying to make it better. Even if you don't think FISA has been abused—if you do, but we can't, insanely, insanely naive, but I respect your right to be wrong; I respect your right to agree with PELOSI, NADLER, and SCHIFF on that front if that is how you feel—there have to be other ways in which you might acknowledge you can make this bill better.

Maybe you are somebody who trusts the government way too much. Maybe you are somebody who thinks the government ought to be given more power. Maybe you are somebody who trusts the government when it makes allegations that somebody is an agent of a foreign power or is working for an agent of a foreign power or is a terrorist or has had some unkind thoughts toward the government. Even if you can't trust the government, you shouldn't, and what you would be suggesting would be unconstitutional. Yet, even if you were, then shame on you for not wanting to make this bill even more aggressive toward giving the government more power.

It is simply too grand a proposition to suggest that it is mere coincidence that the exact, magical combination of factors, of provisions that should have been included in this law—in the minds of every Member of the U.S. Senate—happened to materialize under the umbrella of the Pelosi-Nadler-Schiff bill that was passed by the House of Representatives yesterday. That is just absurd. I mean, come on. Are you telling me that you cannot find a single provision that you think couldn't have been written better?

Some in that position of still opposing it might say: Well, yes, but we have other things to do. That is true. That is exactly why I am trying to provide 45 additional days for us to debate and discuss other issues first and then to fix FISA later. I would be willing to cleanly reauthorize the program at issue—the program supported by the three expiring provisions—will go dark by his objection to my series of unanimous consent requests and about the fact that, as a result of his objection, not only is he essentially guaranteeing these programs will now go dark, but he is also guaranteeing, when we come back in just a few weeks, that no one is automatically going to vote for it. What, I would ask, is so compelling? Do people have appointments for haircuts or manicures? Do they have to go to the dog groomers? I really would like to know what is so compelling that we are being asked to continue voting on this bill, as fundamental as how to improve the safety and privacy of the American people.

I close by pointing out something that my friend and distinguished colleague from the senior Senator from North Carolina, said a few minutes ago about the fact of his almost ensuring that the program at issue—the program supported by the three expiring provisions—will go dark by his objecting to my series of unanimous consent requests and about the fact that, as a result of his objection, not only is he essentially guaranteeing these programs will now go dark, but he is also guaranteeing, when we come back in just a few weeks, that no one is automatically going to vote for it. What, I mean, I genuinely would like to know what that is that is so important, that is that is so important that we can't do this—we are going to have to turn to this when we could have gotten it done today instead of turning to other pressing issues in front of us, issues dealing with emergencies created by the coronavirus. We could have, should have, would have otherwise been able to have turned to those things immediately. Instead, we are going to talk on this for days. I mean, this can end up taking many days—a week or so—if it is drawn out sufficiently.

The program goes dark, and we lose the opportunity to debate, discuss, and enact other legislation—all because we have colleagues who decide they know better. It is not so much that they know better but that Representatives PELOSI, NADLER, and SCHIFF know better. It is their bill. Everybody else just voted for it.

Now we are all asked to vote for it, and we are told to mind our own business, to butt out, because our Big

To the extent their argument is that we are too busy to do this right now, then I would ask this question: Why? What are you doing right now? What better thing does any Member of the U.S. Senate have to do right now, at this moment, at 4:54 p.m., than to attend and defend and debate the rights and the significance of the rights of the American people?

I mean, I genuinely would like to know what is so compelling that makes it so that we can't do these things right now. In fact, in the time I have been speaking today, we could have easily voted on these very same amendments. We could have brought them up. We could have, and I would have agreed to have limited our debate to only a few minutes apiece. As we saw during the impeachment trial a few weeks ago, we are actually capable of casting votes and completing them within 6, 7, 8 minutes if we stand at attention or sit at our seats and listen as opposed to standing up and delaying the vote. What, I would ask, is so compelling? Do people have appointments for haircuts or manicures? Do they have to go to the dog groomers? I really would like to know what is so compelling that we are being asked to continue voting on this bill, as fundamental as how to improve the safety and privacy of the American people.
Brother—the brooding, omnipresent Federal Government—knows better. It can be trusted. Trust Big Brother. Sure, he is going to spy on you, but his intentions are good. Sure, he is going to spy on you, but he is really just hoping to go after the bad guys so that you don’t have to worry about the fact he is spying on your neighbor, on your constituents, on innocent Americans.

Even if I am wrong—let’s say, for a minute I am wrong—I am mistaken in concluding that any of this will ever be abused—you can’t really get around in concluding that any of this will ever be abused on your neighbor, on your constituents, on innocent Americans. We know of circumstances in which it has been. We know that the President of the United States has himself been the target of abuse under this.

Yet set that aside for a minute. Even under the absurd proposition that none of this will ever be abused again and that Pelosi and Nadler and Schiff and the have somehow found the magical formula that will forever guarantee these expiring provisions from being abused again, why wouldn’t you still want to make the bill better? Why would you be worse than those provisions go dark? Why would you be willing to postpone the consideration of other pressing business before the U.S. Senate? Is it really that important to shut out of debate your opponents who happen to disagree with you? What does this say about the next thing we will consider or the next thing after that?

This doesn’t end well. We know it doesn’t end well. It never, ever works to push U.S. Senators to the point that they are not entitled to their own opinions; to the extent they have them, they may express them but only in a brief period of time; and that they then have to run off and be good little boys and girls and let the adults take over. No. I know that this is the way it has been working for a while, but it is not going to anymore. It is not going to anymore because the American people are demanding more. They are demanding better. They want sometimes to have a little worse before they get better. Unfortunately, that is the position in which we now find ourselves. They have gotten worse, but they have gotten worse in a way that the American people are now noticing and are going to say: Don’t do this anymore. Don’t lock us out of the process. Don’t tell us we don’t matter. Don’t tell us that our own elected Senators can’t have a voice and that they won’t get a vote and that they cannot defeat it.

The President of the United States has been targeted unethically, unlawfully, unscrupulously by the deep state. We have the opportunity to fix that, to make it happen. It doesn’t happen to this President or any future President or any U.S. citizen regardless of how rich or poor or powerful or powerless. We must fix it. Shame on all of us if we don’t. Our oath to uphold, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States requires this. The American people deserve more, and they deserve better, and we must provide it.

(MRS. FISCHER assumed the Chair.)

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. BRAN). The Democratic leader.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT REQUEST— SCHUMER BILL

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, in a moment, Democrats will ask the Senate’s consent to take up and pass several measures that would immediately help American workers and American families cope with the impacts of coronavirus, including paid sick leave for workers, emergency unemployment insurance, and much needed assistance to States overburdened by Medicaid costs, known as FMAP.

These provisions are all included in legislation that will soon be passed by the House. Many of these policies have already been enacted by other countries dealing more successfully with the coronavirus than our country is. These policies targeted directly at the workers and families impacted by its spread. They are not going to the big, wealthy corporations or powerful people or wealthy people. They are going right at the workers and families—average working people who need the help.

Now, the Republican leader this morning called these provisions “an ideological wish list.” President Trump referred to them as “goody.”

If helping a construction worker who is laid off as a result of the virus is part of an ideological wish list, then God help those who believe that. If giving infected workers paid sick leave is a goody, then God help those who think that. If making sure our States, localities, hospitals, and first responders are compensated for their efforts is ideological, is a goody, those who believe those things have lost touch with the needs and aspirations of the American people, and they need to talk to some real people who have been impacted by the coronavirus, instead of sitting in their ideological towers.

With the comments made by the President and the Republican leader, they have revealed their own ideology—that even in a time of public crisis and need, the President and the Republican leader are more willing to entertain corporate tax cuts and bail out industries than helping American workers and families.

The policies are targeted at these bills today. The Republican leader should not be sending the Senate home for the weekend without taking action to help people who are or will soon be really hurting.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of the Schumer bill that is at the desk, that the bill be considered read three times and passed, and the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table with no intervening action or debate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

The Senator from Nebraska.

Mrs. MURRAY. Mr. President, this is simple. We need people who are sick to stay home if we have any hope of slowing the spread of this virus, but, today, one in four private sector workers in our country cannot stay home from work without losing a day’s pay or potentially a job.

We have got to fight this virus with everything we have—every single one of us—and that means we have to have policies in place that help people make the right choices for themselves, their families, and their communities right now.

Our bill will give all employees paid sick days immediately—today, not next week, not the week after, today—in public health emergencies like this one, in addition to allowing them to accrue 7, meaning it would help workers and communities right now.

I urge Senate Republicans: Treat this like the public health crisis it is. Allow parents, families, businesses, communities to have the peace of mind to know that we are acting today to take that we are taking needed actions to appropriately respond to the coronavirus. I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

The Democratic leader.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT REQUEST— S. 3497

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of S. 3497, submitted earlier today; that the bill be considered read three times and passed and the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table with no intervening action or debate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

The Senator from Nevada.

Mrs. FISCHER. Mr. President, releasing the right to object, this concept is also under discussion and the centerpiece of negotiations between House Democrats and Secretary Mnuchin, which are ongoing.

This Chamber will be in session next week to ensure that we are taking needed actions to appropriately respond to the coronavirus. Therefore, I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

The Senator from Washington.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT REQUEST— S. 3415

Mrs. FISCHER. Mr. President, this is simple. We need people who are sick to stay home if we have any hope of slowing the spread of this virus, but, today, one in four private sector workers in our country cannot stay home from work without losing a day’s pay or potentially a job.

We have got to fight this virus with everything we have—every single one of us—and that means we have to have policies in place that help people make the right choices for themselves, their families, and their communities.

Our bill will give all employees paid sick days immediately—today, not next week, not the week after, today—in public health emergencies like this one, in addition to allowing them to accrue 7, meaning it would help workers and communities right now.

I urge Senate Republicans: Treat this like the public health crisis it is. Allow parents, families, businesses, communities to have the peace of mind to know that we are acting today to take that we are taking needed actions to appropriately respond to the coronavirus. I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

The Democratic leader.
Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions Committee be discharged from further consideration of S. 3415—this is a bill that will allow American workers to earn paid family leave. During a public health crisis, we have a paid family leave provision in law already, and the rules are in place from Treasury. We received those in September. I worked on this provision during tax reform, and I would certainly be happy to work with the Senator from Washington and my colleagues on the other side of the aisle in a bipartisan manner to extend the program that we have in law already that will help families. This is a public health emergency. It is there. We need to work on it together.

Therefore, I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT REQUEST—S. 3372

Mrs. FISCHER. Mr. President, I rise today to call up and pass legislation to keep the American people safe.

The number of coronavirus cases in the United States is now over 1,000, including 10 confirmed cases in my home State of Nebraska.

In China, there are over 80,000 cases and over 3,000 people have died. The Hubei Province, which contains the city where the virus originated, has been under lockdown since last January, quarantining an unprecedented 56 million people. Italy, a country of 60 million people, is completely shut down. The World Health Organization has now declared that this outbreak is a pandemic, meaning it will likely spread to all countries on Earth.

As the virus spreads, our healthcare providers and emergency responders are at the forefront of this health crisis. When someone tests positive for this disease, our emergency responders are the first ones there transporting them to the hospital. At the hospitals, medical personnel, doctors, nurses, and technicians are all working around the clock to provide lifesaving care and treat this illness for those people—healthcare providers and emergency responders—need access to the proper equipment so they can stay healthy.

We can take action right here right now to make sure that that happens.

I introduced this bipartisan bill with the senior Senator from Arizona. It would update our current law to ensure healthcare workers and first responders have access to respiratory protective devices, specifically, standard N95s.

Under current law, the Federal Government can give targeted liability protection to people and entities to make, distribute, and administer certain drugs and protective equipment that are needed in a public health emergency. While surgical N95s are eligible for this protection, standard N95s are not. That doesn't make sense, and it doesn't make sense for two reasons. First, these devices are the same when it comes to protecting against airborne contaminants like we are dealing with for coronavirus. Second, the CDC has issued guidance listing standard N95s among the recommended personal protective equipment in this emergency. That makes it more difficult for the people and entities supplying, distributing, and manufacturing this equipment to do so, and we need to change that.

We need to make sure that these devices are readily available, and this legislation has bipartisan support in this body, and it has bipartisan support in the House. It was introduced by my colleague from Nebraska, Congressman Don Bacon.

The White House supports it. Vice President Pence said on Tuesday this legislation is "important . . . to ensure that our healthcare workers are properly protected and outfitted."

I mentioned that this bill has bipartisan support. I want to be clear that our hard-fought progress on this legislation would not have been made if it weren't for the tireless work of my good friend, the senior Senator from Arizona, Mr. McCain, who it is for her efforts that I want to thank her partnership.

We know that coronavirus is moving fast, and we owe it to America's healthcare providers and our first responders who are fighting to stay ahead of this.

Therefore, I ask unanimous consent that the Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions Committee be discharged from further consideration of S. 3372 and the Senate proceed to its immediate consideration. I ask unanimous consent that the Fischer substitute amendment at the desk be agreed to; the bill, as amended, be considered read the third time and passed; and that the motions to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

The Senator from Nebraska.

Mrs. FISCHER. Mr. President, this bill is something I think we should all agree upon. Other medical device facilities, manufacturers, manufacturers, currently have the protection we need as public emergency. They currently enjoy this protection, but this thin band of manufacturers, this thin band that provides these N95s which our healthcare providers need—and I talked to my first responders and firemen who were here this week and told them about this bill, and they said: We need this. We are transporting people to hospitals.

In Omaha, NE, the Omaha Fire Department has picked up flights of citizens from China to be at Camp Ashland, a National Guard facility between Lincoln and Omaha, and quarantined there. Fortunately, all were healthy, all were fine.

Omaha also received 15 people from a cruise ship, and all those people were not fine. These first responders, these firemen from Omaha, transported them to a world-renowned facility, the University of Nebraska Medical Center, but they currently do not have proper protection because we are arguing over something that other medical device providers currently have protection on during a public health crisis.

I understand that my friends on the other side want to make progress on this issue and on other issues, but that shouldn't stand in the way of getting this done. There is a shortage of respirators, and the U.S. Senate has an opportunity to fix it. We have an opportunity to ensure the American people are protected during this public health crisis, but my colleagues on the other side just stopped this from moving forward, and the...
American people need to understand what just happened here. As a result of this objection, I get to tell my Omaha firefighters that their safety and the health and safety of our healthcare providers in Nebraska and across this country are at risk.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Hawaii.

Ms. HIRONO. In response, I certainly am not arguing that there is not a need for respirators, but let me be very clear that this provides immunity for respirator manufacturers from this point onward.

Again, I need to reiterate. This has nothing to do with recognizing the need for respirators. What I am arguing is there should be a timeframe for this because this protection is supposed to be during a public health crisis, and I am saying that the way the House is approaching this is, they would like to provide this protection for respirator manufacturers for a period of 4 years. We can certainly evaluate it at that point.

So, clearly, my objection does not mean the death knell for this amendment. It means that we should work it out so we can provide an appropriate timeframe.

So I, once again, reiterate my objection to the current form of this amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Nebraska.

Mrs. FISCHER. Requiring the right to object, the legislation that is offered by my colleague is too narrow in scope. It does not cover all respirators currently recommended by the CDC for healthcare professionals who are treating patients with COVID–19. My colleagues know that. This is inadequate.

That is why the amendment that the Senator from Arizona and I have offered covers all CDC-recommended respirators. Moreover, our bill is not limited to this specific public health emergency but rather responsibly addresses future public health respirator needs. We also believe that what is going to happen in the future, and right here, right now, the Senate does have this opportunity to address these current emergencies and, yes, future emergencies by making sure that we can provide life-saving equipment to the American people. So, accordingly, I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

Ms. HIRONO. Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Hawaii.

Ms. HIRONO. Mr. President, so, once again, I repeat that this has nothing to do with stopping these respirators for this particular crisis to be included as necessary equipment under the current statute. I do think we ought to be able to come together to come up with a reasonable approach that can be supported in a bipartisan way.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Nebraska.

Mrs. FISCHER. I would suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Ms. FISCHER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The SENATE unananimously agreed to the motion to reconsider.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The motion to reconsider be considered read three times and passed and that the order be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the bill by title.

USA FREEDOM REAUTHORIZATION ACT OF 2020—Motion to Proceed

Ms. MURKOWSKI. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mrs. FISCHER. Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Nebraska.

Mrs. FISCHER. Reserving the right to object, the legislation that is offered by my colleague is too narrow in scope. It does not cover all respirators currently recommended by the CDC for healthcare professionals who are treating patients with COVID–19. My colleagues know that. This is inadequate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

Ms. MURKOWSKI. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Without objection, it is so ordered.

The SENATE unananimously agreed to the motion to reconsider.

The motion to reconsider be considered read three times and passed and that the order be rescinded.

The SENATE unananimously agreed to the motion to reconsider.

The senior assistant legislative clerk will read the motion.

The motion to reconsider having been presented and for the quorum call be rescinded.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

The clerk will report the bill by title.

The senior assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

MOTION TO PROCEED

Motion to proceed to Calendar No. 440, H.R. 6172.

The SENATE unananimously agreed to the motion to reconsider.

The senior assistant legislative clerk will read the motion.

The motion to reconsider having been presented under rule XXII, the Chair directs the clerk to read the motion.

The senior assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

MOTION TO PROCEED

We, the undersigned Senators, in accordance with the provisions of rule XXII of the Standing Rules of the Senate, do hereby move to bring to a close the debate on the motion to proceed to Calendar No. 440, H.R. 6172, a bill to amend the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act of 1978 to prohibit the production of certain business records, and for other purposes.

MOTION TO PROCEED

We, the undersigned Senators, in accordance with the provisions of rule XXII of the Standing Rules of the Senate, do hereby move to bring to a close the debate on the motion to proceed to Calendar No. 440, H.R. 6172, a bill to amend the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act of 1978 to prohibit the production of certain business records, and for other purposes.

Ms. MURKOWSKI. I ask unanimous consent that the mandatory quorum call be waived.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.
NIU is a university of opportunity. Today, nearly three quarters of NIU students fall into one or more of the following categories: about 45 percent of the students are Pell grant-eligible, 50 percent are students of color, and 50 percent are first-generation college students. I would like to commend NIU for its work to make higher education more accessible for families from all communities and walks of life.

NIU is a university of excellence. NIU has a nationally recognized faculty that includes prominent experts and leading scholars from a variety of disciplines, including science, East Asian studies, and visual and performance arts. After receiving a first-class education at NIU, over 200,000 alumni have gone on to make a difference in the Midwest and across the world, teaching people about the value of NIU as they do.

The State of Illinois has been enriched by NIU, and I look forward to the school’s many contributions in the years ahead. It is my distinct honor to congratulate President Lisa Freeman and the entire NIU community on its 125th anniversary.

SUNSHINE WEEK

Mr. ENZI. Mr. President, I rise to submit to the Senate a statement in support of Sunshine Week, an annual event that spotlights the key need of a government-transparency. Without openness and access to how all levels of government spend tax dollars or make key decisions, accountability and oversight will lack.

Where transparency is lacking, waste, fraud, and duplication tend to proliferate. The Government Accountability Office-GAO-regularly cites “lack of transparency” as a chronic problem across many agencies and programs. This can have serious consequences. This causes increased taxpayer spending and improper payments. This hinders competition. In turn, where transparency can affect everything from public health to our national defense.

Given the profound and far-reaching impacts of Federal programs and policies, the people need to know how their tax dollars are being spent. Without access to reliable, accurate information, how can we be sure good decisions are being made when it comes to spending the tax dollars of hardworking families? Sure that the policies we craft in this Chamber are working as intended? Sure that our limited resources go where they are needed most? Sure that the programs we create aren’t causing harm.

Well the chairman of the Budget Committee, I have focused the last several years on enhancing transparency and improving both the quality and quantity of data available for all decisionmakers. I am extremely gratified that my colleagues from both sides of the aisle, along with key organizations and experts, so often join these efforts.

One step in the right direction is the Senate Budget Committee has started to publish regular scorekeeping reports. These are available for the public on the committee’s website and track the budgetary impact of legislation approved by Congress against current and past spending levels. Other committees, Members of Congress, and taxpayers with ongoing updates about the fiscal implications of recently agreed upon legislation.

In addition, there are obviously many unknowns as it comes to agencies implementing the laws and programs already on the books. To address this concern, I led a bipartisan group of 15 Senators last July, along with Senator LANKFORD, to urge the White House Office of Management and Budget to make a complete list of all Federal programs publicly available in a central, governmentwide website. This would help to identify and eliminate program waste and duplication. Because, believe it or not, there is no comprehensive list of each and every program the Federal Government funds. It still isn’t available.

The fact that legislators and taxpayers don’t even know how many programs we have or what they do is troubling, particularly as we continue to create and fund new ones.

In the past, GAO has identified massive amounts of duplication across the Federal Government, including more than 12 programs on financial literacy, 160 Federal housing assistance programs or activities, 94 green building initiatives, 253 crime prevention programs, 14 diesel emission reduction programs, 45 early learning and child care programs, and 163 STEM programs.

Most recently, GAO’s 2019 annual report on duplication found six different government programs engaged in quantum computing research. Clearly, all of these programs could be improved by some basic coordination or consolidation.

This simple inventory has been on the to-do list for almost a decade. There have been previous attempts, but those have fallen short. We will continue working with GAO and OMB until the list is actually published.

Most importantly, last fall, I joined with Senator WHITEHOUSE to introduce bipartisan budget process reform legislation—the first bill to be introduced reforms approved by the Senate Budget Committee since 1990.

The Bipartisan Congressional Budget Reform Act would increase transparency in the congressional budget process in a number of ways—by having Congress develop a fiscal plan that is easy to understand and offers the public a chance to view if Congress is living within its means, encouraging other committees to review the programs in their jurisdiction that are in the budget, requiring the Office of Management and Budget to review program portfolios—portfolios are groups of programs with... similar efforts. This has to be done on an ongoing basis.

But that is not all the bill would do. We also need to require CBO to review and report to Congress on the accuracy of its past projections and cost estimates, along with an annual plan outlining how it plans to enhance transparency. We need to make public the information underlying cost estimates of major legislation and reports related to the debt-to-GDP ratio agreed upon in the budget resolution. We need to require CBO to provide more information to help better understand the true costs of our actions by including projected interest costs in estimates for mandatory spending programs, revenue changes, and supplemental appropriations bills.

We need CBO to include 10 years of cost estimates for spending subject to appropriations, doubling the current practice of 5 years. We need to bring budget gimmicks into the light. CBO would release public estimates of appropriations legislation that include the costs associated with doling out money before the revenue comes in. We should expose gimmicks like budget bait and switch.

In Washington, one might say that “sunlight is the best disinfectant,” and that is true, but sunlight does far more than disinfect. It lights the way. Opening the books and reforming the budget process will help make us better equipped to face the enormous fiscal challenges looming just ahead.

AUSTRALIAN WILDFIRES

Mrs. BLACKBURN. Mr. President, for over 100 years, Australia and the United States have enjoyed a mateship made possible by our mutual commitment to democracy, human rights, and the rule of law.

After signing 1951’s Australia, New Zealand, United States Security Treaty, or ANZUS, Treaty, our two nations entered into a new level of cooperation on military matters; and for the past 15 years, we have shared our firefighting resources with one another.

In August 2018, over 100 Australian firefighters rushed to our aid as wildfires threatened to destroy communities in California, Oregon, and Washington.

When our Australian friends asked for support, and the fires struggled to contain devastating bushfires, we were happy to return the favor. I am especially pleased today to honor two Tennesseans who heard the cries for help and, in spite of the danger, asked, Where do I sign up.

Jahan Hay Sharp, who serves with the Forest Service, and Tommy M. Barnes, who serves with the National Park Service, embody the values that set Tennesseans apart: bravery, compassion, and an eager willingness to lighten others’ loads.

This month, I was happy to support S. Res. 527, a resolution led by my friends Senator JOHN BARRASSO and Senator BEN CARDIN recognizing the longstanding partnership between the United States and Australia and honoring firefighters like Jahan and Tommy, who rushed toward the flames to save a friend in danger.

They are indeed, and today, I encourage all Tennesseans to take a moment to reflect upon their bravery and their commitment to a very special ally.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

REMEMBERING ELEANOR ELKIN

Mr. CASEY. Mr. President, I rise today to pay tribute to Ms. Eleanor Elkin, who passed away at the age of 103 on December 4, 2019. Eleanor served as one of Pennsylvania’s most distinguished disability advocates. It is important that we remember a remarkable life dedicated to the betterment of others. Eleanor transformed the love for her family into a life of advocacy whose impact will be felt for decades to come.

Eleanor’s commitment to equality was evident long before her time as one of Pennsylvania’s most prominent disability rights leaders. Born in 1916, Eleanor served as one of Pennsylvania’s most prominent disability rights leaders. Born in 1916, Eleanor served in the Pennsylvania State Senate from 1943 to 1948. She was integral to the development of The Arc of the United States in 1975, which is now referred to as the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

Eleanor also joined forces with the Public Interest Law Center in one of the most consequential fights of her life, the closure of the Pennhurst State School and Hospital. Pennhurst was an institution in Pennsylvania for people with disabilities that was exposed in the 1960s as a center of abuse and neglect and which came to symbolize the shameful belief that people with disabilities should be isolated and hidden from view. Eleanor contributed her advocacy to the landmark 1974 case Halderman v. Pennhurst, which ruled that the constitutional rights of the residents of Pennhurst were being violated. This was a stark break from the common beliefs of the time which afforded people with disabilities little respect and even fewer rights. The case helped fuel the larger movement away from institutions and was an important step in the eventual closure of Pennhurst in 1987.

On behalf of the people of Pennsylvania and our grateful Nation, we extend our belated condolences to the family of Eleanor Elkin. Throughout her life, she fought for the dignity and well-being of people with disabilities. Whenever she saw injustice, she also saw an opportunity to make the world a better place. Celia Feinstein, director Emeritus of the Temple Institute on Disabilities, said that Eleanor was once asked how she would like to be remembered, and Eleanor replied simply that “I don’t know that I need to be remembered as much as I would want to know that what I’ve been doing [will] continue.” I have no doubt that thousands are ready to continue her work on behalf of people with disabilities. Pennsylvania and all of America are better places because of Eleanor’s commitment and extraordinary efforts. We may have lost Eleanor Elkin, but we will never lose the positive change she brought to countless lives and the impact she had on disability policy in our country.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

A message from the President of the United States was communicated to the Senate by Ms. Roberts, one of his secretaries.
EXECUTIVE MESSAGE REFERRED

In executive session the Presiding Officer laid before the Senate a message from the President of the United States submitting a nomination which was referred to the Committee on Energy.

(The message received today is printed at the end of the Senate proceedings.)

PRESIDENTIAL MESSAGE

REPORT RELATIVE TO THE CONTINUATION OF THE NATIONAL EMERGENCY THAT WAS DECLARED IN EXECUTIVE ORDER 12957 OF MARCH 15, 1995, WITH RESPECT TO IRAN—PM 52

The PRESIDING OFFICER laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, together with an accompanying report; which was referred to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs:

To the Congress of the United States:

Section 202(d) of the National Emergencies Act (50 U.S.C. 1622(d)) provides for the automatic termination of a national emergency unless, within 90 days before the anniversary date of its declaration, the President publishes in the Federal Register and transmits to the Congress a notice stating that the emergency is to continue in effect beyond the anniversary date. In accordance with this provision, I have sent to the Federal Register for publication the enclosed notice stating that the national emergency with respect to Iran that was declared on March 15, 1995, is to continue in effect beyond March 15, 2020.

The actions and policies of the Government of Iran continue to pose an unusual and extraordinary threat to the national security, foreign policy, and economy of the United States.

For this reason, I have determined that it is necessary to continue the national emergency declared in Executive Order 12957 with respect to Iran and to maintain in force comprehensive sanctions against Iran to respond to this threat.

DONALD J. TRUMP

S. 3478

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the ‘‘Commission on America’s Medical Security Act’’.

SEC. 2. NATIONAL ACADEMIES REPORT ON AMERICA’S MEDICAL PRODUCT SUPPLY CHAIN SECURITY.

(a) In General.—Not later than 60 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Health and Human Services shall enter into an agreement with the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine (referred to in this section as the ‘‘National Academies’’) to conduct a study and make a report on the security of the United States, which may include an analysis of—

(1) the supply chain of critical drugs and devices of greatest priority to the Federal Government, on critical drugs and devices that are sourced or manufactured outside of the United States, which may include an analysis of—

(A) any potential public health security or national security risks associated with reliance on critical drugs and devices sourced or manufactured outside of the United States, which may include responses to previous or existing shortages or public health emergencies such as infectious disease outbreaks, bioterror attacks, and other public health threats;

(B) any existing supply chain information gaps, as applicable; and

(C) any potential economic impact of increased domestic manufacturing;

(2) provide recommendations, which may include a plan to improve the resiliency of the supply chain for critical drugs and devices as described in paragraph (1), and to address any supply vulnerabilities or potential disruptions of such products that would significantly affect or pose a threat to public health security or national security, as appropriate, which may include strategies to—

(A) promote supply chain redundancy and contingency planning;

(B) encourage domestic manufacturing, including consideration of economic impacts, if any;

(C) improve supply chain information gaps;

(D) improve planning considerations for medical product supply chain capacity during public health emergencies; and

(E) promote the accessibility of such drugs and devices;

By Mr. THUNE (for himself and Ms. STABENOW):

S. 3479. A bill to amend the Federal Crop Insurance Act to encourage the planting of cover crops following prevented planting, and for other purposes; introduced by Mr. THUNE.

By Mr. REED (for himself, Mr. WHITEHOUSE, and Mr. SANDERS):

S. 3496. A bill to provide for Federal financing of short-time compensation programs during public health emergencies; to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, today I am joined by several of my colleagues in introducing the Layoff Prevention Extension Act and the Preventing Layoffs During a Public Health Emergency Act. Both bills would renew Federal support for State short-time compensation—or work sharing—programs and provide assistance for States to adopt and improve existing programs in law. The latter bill would specifically authorize financing for work sharing programs when there is a public health emergency.

The coronavirus has officially reached a pandemic level, with an increasing impact on individual lives, communities, and businesses across the United States. Last week, I was pleased that the Senate voted on an overwhelming bipartisan basis to approve nearly $8 billion in supplemental funding for public health agencies to respond to this outbreak, but that was only the down payment.

While Congress has taken initial steps to address coronavirus as a public health crisis and stop the spread of COVID–19, it is also important to support the workers, students, families, and businesses that are already being impacted as this outbreak ripples across the economy. In response to a reduced workforce due to workers that are ill, quarantined, or have new caregiving duties, companies that are losing business may need to lay off workers—even those that are healthy, if they do not keep workers on payroll. We need to extend emergency UI benefits, but just as importantly, we should incentivize employers not to lay off workers for what we hope will be a temporary public health emergency.

That is where work sharing can play a critical role, as it encourages, through financial incentives, employers and employees to voluntarily reduce hours instead of laying people off. The concept of work sharing is simple—it provides an alternative to help businesses that are experiencing a temporary slowdown the chance to retain employees on a less than full-time basis. By giving struggling companies the flexibility to reduce hours instead of their workforce, work sharing programs prevent layoffs and help employers save money on rehiring costs. All told, business owners who otherwise would be in danger of losing their jobs completely—would keep their jobs instead, with the UI system making up for lost wages.

According to the Department of Labor, work sharing saved approximately 570,000 jobs in the wake of the Great Recession (2008–2015). As part of the Middle Class Tax Relief and Job Creation Act, Congress enacted my Layoff Prevention Act of 2012, which provided temporary Federal financing for 100 percent of work sharing benefits paid to workers. States also received 1/3 grants for implementation, improved administration, and program enrollment efforts. This assistance helped save over 130,000 jobs from 2012 to its sunsets in 2013. Multiple studies have found that communities that adopted more robust work-sharing programs weathered the recession with lower unemployment rates. But even more jobs could have been saved if these programs had been in place before business slowed down.

The legislation I am introducing today would address the current public health emergency and help soften the blow of future slowdowns. The Preventing Layoffs During a Public Health Emergency Act would provide financing to States with and without formal work sharing laws during the period of a public health emergency, and up to one year after the termination of the emergency. The Layoff Prevention Act would provide a more permanent solution to give States an incentive to expand their work sharing programs to prevent future layoffs and blunt economic downturns.

I urge my colleagues to join me and Senators WHITEHOUSE and SANDERS in supporting passage of both bills to keep America's workers on the job, save taxpayers money, and provide employers with a practical, positive, and cost-effective alternative to layoffs.

SENATE RESOLUTION 542—COMMEMORATING THE 75TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE LIBERATION OF THE DACHAU CONCENTRATION CAMP DURING WORLD WAR II

Mr. GARDNER (for himself, Ms. SINEMA, Ms. MCSALLY, Mr. BENNET, and Mr. INHOFE) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations:

Whereas the Dachau concentration camp, established in March 1933—
(1) was the first concentration camp established by the German National Socialist, or “Nazi” government; and
(2) operated continuously until the end of World War II in 1945;

Whereas the Dachau concentration camp housed Germans who were deemed political, racial, or social threats by the Nazi regime, including Communists, Social Democrats, Jews, Roma, members of the clergy, Jehovah's Witnesses, and other religious and cultural minorities;

Whereas, in addition to Germans, prisoners at the Dachau concentration camp included Poles, Hungarians, Austrians, Italians, Lithuanians, Czechs, Slovenes, Belgians, and other foreign nationals from countries occupied or invaded by Germany;

Whereas the Nazis imprisoned more than 200,000 civilians in the Dachau concentration camp and the more than 100 subcamps of the Dachau concentration camp;

Whereas the Nazis murdered tens of thousands of innocent civilians at the Dachau concentration camp, one of many camps where the Nazis brutally killed millions of people, including 6,000,000 Jews, during the Holocaust;

Whereas the Nazis tortured and conducted medical experiments on civilian prisoners at the Dachau concentration camp, including by—
(1) subjecting the prisoners to pressure extremes;
(2) submerging the prisoners in freezing water;
(3) forcing the prisoners to drink salt water; and
(4) infecting the prisoners with malaria;

Whereas the Nazis subjected civilian prisoners at the Dachau concentration camp to forced labor—
(1) first for the initial construction and expansion of the camp; and
(2) later primarily for armaments production to supply the German military;

Whereas, following the advance of Allied Forces, the Nazi regime began the systematic transfer of prisoners from evacuated concentration camps to the Dachau concentration camp for continued imprisonment;

Whereas, in December 1943, Dwight D. Eisenhower was appointed as Supreme Commander of the Allied Expeditionary Forces and led the formal coordination of the Allied Forces, with the mission to liberate Europe

Whereas, on March 11, 1945, Allied Forces under the leadership of Lieutenant Colonel Felix Sparks, member of the Colorado Army National Guard and Commander of the Third Battalion of the 157th Infantry Regiment, 45th Infantry Division, along with units of the 42nd Infantry Division and the 29th Armored Division, led the liberation of the main Dachau concentration camp;

Whereas the 45th Infantry Division—
(1) was composed of National Guard units from Colorado, Oklahoma, Arizona, and New Mexico; and
(2) deployed in June 1943 in support of the Allied Forces during World War II individuals imprisoned at the Dachau concentration camp.

Resolved, That the Senate—
(1) commemorates April 29, 2020, as the 75th anniversary of the liberation of the Dachau concentration camp during World War II;
(2) condemns the crimes against humanity committed by the Nazi regime; and
(3) recognizes the valorous efforts of the 45th Infantry Division, the 42nd Infantry Division, and the 29th Armored Division of the Seventh Army of the United States in the liberation of the thousands of individuals imprisoned at the Dachau concentration camp.
their leadership as trailblazers and opening opportunities for scholarships, preferred admission for college, and amazing career opportunities.

Whereas, each year, Girl Scouts selects 10 exceptionally inspiring Gold Award Girl Scouts, nominated by local councils, as National Gold Award Girl Scouts;

Whereas Gold Award Girl Scouts have completed projects that demonstrate extraordinary leadership, have a measurable and sustainable effect, and address a local challenge relating to a national or global issue; and

Whereas the 2019 National Gold Award Girl Scouts are Isabella Madrigr of Temecula, California, Mary Katherine Putrell from Dallas, Texas, Minely Millan from Calle Rosa Imperial in Puerto Rico, Lauren Vanlandingham from St. Louis, Missouri, Phoebe Wall from Redmond, Washington, Taryn-Marie Jenkins from Wilmington, Delaware, Grace Goodpasture from Ashland, Virginia, Megan Loh from Placentia, California, Ana De Almeida Amaral from Chula Vista, California, and Kali Zaragoza from Pembroke Pines, Florida: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) recognizes Girl Scouts of the United States of America for 108 years of creating changemakers by nurturing and supporting the leadership development of girls;

(2) congratulates the Girl Scouts who earned the Gold Award in 2019, including the National Gold Award Girl Scouts; and

(3) encourages Girl Scouts of the United States of America to continue to champion the ambitions, cultivate the talents, and develop the skills of future women leaders.

AUTHORITY FOR COMMITTEES TO MEET

Mr. THUNE. Mr. President, I have 5 requests for committees to meet during today’s session of the Senate. They have the approval of the Majority and Minority leaders.

Pursuant to rule XXVI, paragraph 5(a), of the Standing Rules of the Senate, the following committee is authorized to meet during today’s session of the Senate:

COMMITTEE ON ARMED SERVICES

The Committee on Armed Services is authorized to meet during the session of the Senate on Thursday, March 12, 2020, at 12 p.m., to conduct a closed hearing.

Ms. MURKOWSKI. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of H. Con. Res. 87, which was received from the House.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the concurrent resolution by title.
The senior assistant legislative clerk read as follows:
A concurrent resolution (H. Con. Res. 87) authorizing the use of Emancipation Hall for a ceremony as part of the commemoration of the days of remembrance of victims of the Holocaust.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection to proceeding to the measure?
There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the concurrent resolution.

Ms. MURKOWSKI. I ask unanimous consent that the resolution be agreed to and the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table with no intervening action or debate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The concurrent resolution (H. Con. Res. 87) was agreed to.

DEPARTMENT OF VETERANS AFFAIRS CONTRACTING PREFERENCE CONSISTENCY ACT

Ms. MURKOWSKI. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Veterans' Affairs be discharged from further consideration of H.R. 4920 and the Senate proceed to its immediate consideration.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the bill by title.

The senior assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (H.R. 4920) to amend title 38, United States Code, to provide for an exception to the Department of Veterans Affairs procurement of certain goods and services covered under the Ability One program, and for other purposes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection to proceeding to the measure?
There being no objection, the committee was discharged, and the Senate proceeded to consider the bill.

Ms. MURKOWSKI. I further ask that the Tester substitute amendment be considered and agreed to; that the bill, as amended, be considered read a third time and passed; and that the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table with no intervening action or debate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment (No. 1555), in the nature of a substitute, was agreed to as follows:

(Purpose: In the nature of a substitute)

Strike all after the enacting clause and insert the following:

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.
This Act may be cited as the “Department of Veterans Affairs Contracting Preference Consistency Act of 2020”.

SEC. 2. EXCEPTION TO DEPARTMENT OF VETERANS AFFAIRS SMALL BUSINESS CONTRACTING REQUIREMENT FOR CERTAIN GOODS AND SERVICES COVERED UNDER ABILITY ONE PROGRAM.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subsection (d) of section 8127 of title 38, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by striking “Except” and inserting “(1) Except”;
(2) by inserting “In paragraph (2) and before “in subsections (b) and (c)” and (3) by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

“(2)(A) Notwithstanding paragraph (1) and except as provided by subparagraph (B) of this paragraph, with respect to the procurement of a covered product or service, a contracting officer of the Department shall procure such product or service from a source designated under chapter 85 of title 41, and in accordance with the regulations prescribed under such chapter.

“(B)(i) Subject to clause (ii), subparagraph (B) shall not apply in the case of a covered product or service for which a contract was—

“(II) in effect on the day before the date of the enactment of the Department of Veterans Affairs Contracting Preference Consistency Act of 2020.

“(ii) Clause (i) shall cease to apply to a covered product or service described in such clause upon a determination of the Secretary that when the current contract for the covered product or service is terminated or expires there is no reasonable expectation that—

“(I) two or more small business concerns owned and controlled by veterans will submit offers as described in paragraph (1); and “(II) the award can be made at a fair and reasonable price that offers best value to the United States.

“(C) In this paragraph, the term ‘covered product or service’ means—

“(I) a product or service that—“(I) is included on the procurement list under section 8503(a) of title 41; and “(II) was included on such procurement list on or before December 22, 2006; or “(ii) a product or service that—“(I) is a replacement for a product or service described under clause (i); and “(II) a contracting officer determines meets the quality standards and delivery schedule of the Department.”.

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—Such section is further amended in each of subsections (b) and (c), by striking “For” and inserting “Except as provided in subsection (d)(2), for”.

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by this section shall apply with respect to a contract entered into on or after the date of the enactment of this Act.

The bill (H.R. 4920), as amended, was ordered to a third reading, was read the third time, and passed.

ORDERS FOR MONDAY, MARCH 16, 2020
Ms. MURKOWSKI. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent that when the Senate completes its business today, it adjourn until 3 p.m., Monday, March 16; further, that following the prayer and pledge, the morning hour be deemed expired, the Journal of proceedings be approved to date, the time for the two leaders be approved for their use later in the day, and morning business be closed; further, that following leader remarks, the Senate resume consideration of the motion to proceed to H.R. 6172; and that notwithstanding rule XXII, the cloture motion filed during today’s session ripen at 5:30 p.m.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

ADJOURNMENT UNTIL MONDAY, MARCH 16, 2020, AT 3 P.M.
Ms. MURKOWSKI. Mr. President, if there is no further business to come before the Senate, I ask unanimous consent that it stand adjourned under the previous order.
There being no objection, the Senate, at 5:53 p.m., adjourned until Monday, March 16, 2020, at 3 p.m.

NOMINATIONS

DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY
MARK WESLEY MENEZES, OF VIRGINIA, TO BE DEPUTY SECRETARY OF ENERGY, VICE DAN R. BROUILLETTE, RE-SIGNED.

CONFIRMATION
Executive nomination confirmed by the Senate March 12, 2020:
FEDERAL ENERGY REGULATORY COMMISSION
CELEBRATING AMERICA'S NEWEST CITIZENS

HON. PETER J. VISCLOSKY OF INDIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. VISCLOSKY. Madam Speaker, it is with great pleasure and sincerity that I take this time to congratulate fifty individuals who will take their oaths of citizenship on March 13, 2020. This memorable occasion will be held at the United States Courthouse and Federal Building in Hammond, Indiana.

America is a country founded by immigrants. From its beginning, settlers have come from countries around the world to the United States in search of better lives for their families. Oath ceremonies are a shining example of what is so great about the United States of America—that people from all over the world can come together and unite as members of a free, democratic nation. These individuals realize that nowhere else in the world offers a better opportunity for success than here in America.

HONORING DILLON J. CARR

HON. SAM GRAVES
OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Madam Speaker, I proudly pause to recognize Dillon J. Carr. Dillon is a very special young man who has exemplified the finest qualities of citizenship and leadership by taking an active part in the Boy Scouts of America, Troop 1376, and earning the most prestigious award of Eagle Scout. Dillon has been very active with his troop, participating in many scout activities. Over the many years Dillon has been involved with scouting, he has not only earned numerous merit badges, but also the respect of his family, peers, and community. Most notably, Dillon

BIMBO BAKERIES USA

HON. ED PERLMUTTER
OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. PERLMUTTER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize and applaud Bimbo Bakeries USA for receiving Commerce City’s Business Appreciation 2020 Business of the Year Award. The Business of the Year Award is given to a Commerce City company with a pioneering spirit that has shown a history of leadership within its industry and the community. A staple of Commerce City since 1958, Bimbo Bakeries USA has demonstrated longevity and sustained growth within the community. They are the corporate arm of the Mexican multinational baked goods manufacturer, Grupo Bimbo. This facility now employs 132 employees, ten of which were hired in 2019. The company recently made a $3,500,000 capital investment to its facility, upgrading critical equipment such as the hamburger bun line.

In addition to their growing business, Bimbo Bakeries also gives back to the Commerce City community, donating to local organizations and projects such as a greenhouse at Lester Arnold High School and Thanksgiving dinner at Adams High School. I extend my deepest congratulations to Bimbo Bakeries USA for this well-deserved recognition from Commerce City.

HONORING DILLON J. CARR

HON. ANDY LEVIN OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. LEVIN of Michigan. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize the anniversary of the birth of Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, recognized as the “Founding Father” of the nation of Bangladesh. Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, called “Mujib,” is also known as “Bangha Bandu,” a title that means “Friend of the Bengal.” In recognition of the 100th year since the birth of Sheikh Mujib, the government of Bangladesh is celebrating March 17, 2020 through March 17, 2021 as “Mujib Borsho,” or the “Mujib Year.” Sheikh Mujib was born on March 17, 1920, in the province of Bengal, in what was then British India. Just over half a century later, on March 7, 1971, he would call for East Pakistan to become the independent nation of Bangladesh. He was subsequently arrested, but his vision for Bengalis would soon become a reality. Following a brutal war for independence, during which an estimated 300,000 to 3,000,000 people lost their lives, the nation of Bangladesh was born on December 16, 1971. Sheikh Mujib was released from prison and became the first President of Bangladesh, serving in that office from April 17, 1971 to January 12, 1972. In January of 1972, he was elected Prime Minister of the first Parliament of Bangladesh.

In 1975, Sheikh Mujib and most of his family were assassinated. Just two of his daughters, current Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina and Sheikh Rehana, were spared, as they were living in what was West Germany at the time. The centennial of the birth of the “Founding Father” of Bangladesh, Sheikh Mujib, is deeply meaningful to the people of Bangladesh and to those throughout the world with personal connections to the country. Events are being organized in the United States and around the world to commemorate this historical event. I encourage my colleagues to join me in recognizing those working to honor Bangladesh’s history and commemorate this event, including Dr. MD. Rabbi Alam, Convener of Bangabandhu Parishad USA and a resident of my home state of Michigan.

I urge my colleagues to join me in standing with the people of Bangladesh, and those in

RECOGNIZING DAN OHL OF MALTA

HON. GREG GIANFORTE OF MONTANA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. GIANFORTE. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Dan Ohl of Malta for going above and beyond to answer the call of duty and personally fly blood platelets to his local hospital in a time of need.

Dan loves to fly. He says there's nothing like seeing Montana's stunning landscape from a different perspective.

As a Montana Highway Patrolman, Dan spends a lot of time on the ground, lending a hand to fellow Montanans. It wasn't until this past December that his love of flying and helping others came together.

In December 2019, Phillips County Hospital contacted Montana Highway Patrol for assistance delivering blood from Great Falls to their clinic in Malta. The troopers came up with a plan to use a series of relays to transport the blood to Malta but ran into a problem when there wasn't enough staff to execute it. That's when Dan stepped up.

Dan jumped into action and using his own Beach Craft Bonanza 6-seater, started the over 200-mile flight to Great Falls to meet the Red Cross at the local airport. He says it was the most precious cargo, aside from his family, he has had on his plane. When he touched down in Malta, he met with hospital staff who transferred the blood to the hospital. His quick delivery of blood saved a life.

For Dan, this is why he went into serving in the Montana Highway Patrol: he wanted to help Montanans. Whether he's on or off duty, he's called to step up in times of need and that's exactly what he did.

Madam Speaker, for selflessly helping his fellow Montanans, from the air and on the ground, I recognize Dan Ohl for his Spirit of Montana.

COMMENORATING THE 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF SOUTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

HON. DARIN LAHOOD
OF ILLINOIS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. LAHOOD. Madam Speaker, I would like to recognize Southern Illinois University (SIU) School of Medicine for celebrating their 50th anniversary.

SIU School of Medicine was established in 1970 after the Illinois General Assembly passed a bill calling for a second state medical school to be established in downstate Illinois and achieved full accreditation in 1972. Today, SIU School of Medicine admits 72 of the best medical students from around the world each year.

The medical education curriculum offered at SIU School of Medicine has brought the school national attention. The school's continuing medical education program provides an extensive schedule of accredited conferences and symposia for physicians and other healthcare professionals in central and southern Illinois.

I applaud the efforts of SIU School of Medicine, its faculty, and students. They continue to provide quality education committed to improving local healthcare. I extend my sincere congratulations to SIU School of Medicine for a successful 50 years, and I wish them continued success going forward providing quality healthcare services to the residents of Central Illinois.

CERTOL INTERNATIONAL LLC

HON. ED PERLMUTTER
OF COLORADO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. PERLMUTTER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize and applaud Certol International LLC for receiving Commerce City’s Business Appreciation 2020 Business on the Move Award.

The Business on the Move Award recognizes businesses bringing new employment, growth in sales or new capital investment to the city in the last year. Founded in 1979, and located in Commerce City since 2003, Certol International was an early pioneer in the manufacturing of infection prevention products for the medical and dental markets. Creating innovative products in these markets remains a core competency today. The company works with distribution partners to ship to customers in national and international destinations.

Certol International operates out of a 46,000 square-foot building in Commerce City with a staff of 38. In 2019, they hired two more employees and contributed over a million dollars in capital investment.

I extend my deepest congratulations to Certol International LLC for this well-deserved recognition from Commerce City.

Ms. JAYAPAL. Madam Speaker, I rise today to include in the RECORD how I would have voted for the following votes had I not been necessarily absent. Had I been present, I would have voted: YEA on Roll Call No. 87; YEA on Roll Call No. 88; NAY on Roll Call No. 89; and YEA on Roll Call No. 90.

HONORING ZACHARY DAVID GRADINGER

HON. SAM GRAVES
OF MISSOURI
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. GRAVES. Madam Speaker, I proudly pause to recognize Zachary David Gradinger. Zachary is a very special young man who has exemplified the finest qualities of citizenship and leadership by taking an active part in the Boy Scouts of America, Troop 495, and earning the most prestigious award of Eagle Scout.
Zachary has been very active with his troop, participating in many scout activities. Over the many years Zachary has been involved with scouting, he has not only earned numerous merit badges, but also the respect of his family, peers, and community. Most notably, Zachary has contributed to his community through his Eagle Scout project.

Madam Speaker, I proudly ask you to join me in commending Zachary David Gradinger for his accomplishments with the Boy Scouts of America and for his efforts put forth in achieving the highest distinction of Eagle Scout.

TRIBUTE TO CORALYN ANDRESTAYLOR—28TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT WOMAN OF THE YEAR

Hon. Adam B. Schiff
Of California
In the House of Representatives

Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. SCHIFF. Madam Speaker, I rise today in honor of Women’s History Month. Each year, we pay special tribute to the contributions and sacrifices made by our nation’s women. To pay homage to outstanding women who are making a difference in my Congressional District. I would like to recognize a remarkable woman, Coralyn AndresTaylor of the Silver Lake neighborhood of Los Angeles, California.

Coralyn AndresTaylor has more than thirty years of public health education program development, implementation and management. Her lifelong passion for public health began with her undergraduate degree in Dietetics from the University of California, Davis and then moving on to earn a Master’s in Public Health from the University of California, Berkeley. Upon receiving her master’s degree, Coralyn was admitted to the prestigious Assembly Fellowship Program at the California State Capitol where her interests and education in policy, finance, and health converged during her work with the Assembly Ways and Means Health Subcommittee.

Ms. AndresTaylor, MPH, RDN, CLE, CHES is currently the Department Administrator for PIH Health Good Samaritan Hospital’s Community Health Education Department and Lactation Resource Center. Her department oversees nutrition, cardiovascular health, stroke, perinatal health, breastfeeding, and diabetes. Since chronic diseases such as diabetes are both common and costly, Coralyn has a long-standing interest in prevention and educates individual patients and their family members in creating lifelong healthy habits. As a master’s-prepared Registered Dietitian Nutritionist, Certified Health Education Specialist, Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation Instructor and Certified Lactation Educator, she has applied her knowledge and skills for the benefit of diverse ethnic and disadvantaged communities throughout Los Angeles County. She continued to serve her community when she was appointed a Los Angeles City Health Commissioner in 2016.

With a passion for making a difference in her community, Ms. AndresTaylor volunteers with LINC Housing to help the formerly homeless, and people in need of affordable housing move to a stable living environment. Coralyn is well-regarded in her faith-based community frequently serving as Lector at Sunday morning services, and volunteers as a Eucharistic minister at Our Mother of Good Counsel Church in Los Feliz. She also participates in and plans the Women’s Cornerstone retreats and Faith Sharing groups for her church.

Coralyn and her husband, Peter have lived in Silver Lake for the past thirty-one years where they raised their two wonderful daughters, Andrea and Allyson. At home, Coralyn is the chief infection control and safety officer who frequently reminds her family and friends to wash hands, use sunscreen and wear bike helmets.

I ask all Members to join me in honoring this exceptional, well-respected woman of California’s 28th Congressional District, Coralyn AndresTaylor.

HON. ED PERLMUTTER
Of Colorado
In the House of Representatives

Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. PERLMUTTER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize and applaud Hunter Cyprian for receiving the Arvada Wheat Ridge Service Ambassadors for Youth award. Hunter Cyprian is a student at Standley Lake High School and received this award because his determination and hard work have allowed him to overcome adversities.

The dedication demonstrated by Hunter Cyprian is exemplary of the type of achievement that can be attained with hard work and perseverance. It is essential students at all levels strive to make the most of their education and develop a work ethic which will guide them for the rest of their lives.

I extend my deepest congratulations to Hunter Cyprian for winning the Arvada Wheat Ridge Service Ambassador for Youth award. I have no doubt he will exhibit the same dedication and character in all of his future accomplishments.

DISABLED VETERANS EDUCATION RELIEF ACT

Hon. Gregorio Kilili Camacho Sablan
Of the Northern Mariana Islands
In the House of Representatives

Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. SABLAN. Madam Speaker, today, I introduce the Disabled Veterans Education Relief Act which would extend VA education assistance for disabled veterans in vocational rehabilitation and employment (VR&E) training in the event their school closes or courses are disapproved. Section 109 of the Forever GI Bill law extended these protections to students using GI Bill benefits but did not include students using VR&E benefits. By extending these protections to the over 100,000 veterans who participate in the VR&E program every year, our nation will ensure that all veterans can access relief when their studies are disrupted by school closures or disapproved courses through no fault of their own.

The bill requires the VA to protect VR&E students on the same basis as their counterpart using GI Bill benefits as mandated by section 109 of the Forever GI Bill law. These protections include the restoration of benefits for those affected by school closures or the course was disapproved as a result of a modified policy, regulation, or law. In addition, my legislation authorizes the VA to continue paying subsistence allowances to VR&E students through the end of the academic term during which such closure or disapproval occurred. VA will also be required to notify affected students of imminent and actual school closures and inform them how the closure will affect their VR&E benefits.

The Act has the support of the Disabled American Veterans, American Legion, Paralyzed Veterans of America, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Student Veterans of America, AMVETS, Association of the U.S. Navy, Military Officers Association of America, National Military Family Association, and the Enlisted Association of the National Guard of the United States.

I urge my colleagues to support this bipartisan legislation.

WELCOME MABEL ROSE WILLS

Hon. Joe Wilson
Of South Carolina
In the House of Representatives

Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina, Madam Speaker, I am happy to congratulate Justin Matthew Wills and Aimee Renee Wills, of Lexington, South Carolina, on the birth of their new baby girl, Mabel Rose Wills. Mabel was born on Friday, March 6, 2020, weighing six pounds and eleven ounces and measured nineteen and three-quarter inches long at Lexington Medical Center in West Columbia, South Carolina.

Congratulations to her maternal grandparents, Kim and Rose Myers of Etna, Ohio, and her paternal grandparents, John and Elizabeth Wills of Huntsville, Alabama.

RECOGNIZING SPACE COAST CITY FEST

Hon. Bill Posey
Of Florida
In the House of Representatives

Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. POSEY. Madam Speaker, on March 28th and 29th, 2020, Brevard County families along with 100 business owners and 190 local church organizations will gather together to celebrate Space Coast City Fest. This uplifting event will take place at Space Coast Daily Park in Melbourne, FL, concluding a year and a half long outreach effort to unite the Christian Community.

Space Coast City Fest was created as a region-wide campaign to serve churches in the community and promote faith-based works. Over a period of 18 months, CityFest and CityServe have worked to raise the level of involvement of Brevard County churches in serving community needs. The focus of their initiatives include building long term partnerships with public and non-profit groups to help serve our schools, meet the needs of children within the foster care system, raise awareness & seek solutions for the Opioid crisis, tackle homelessness, feed the hungry, and revitalize troubled and sometimes forgotten neighborhoods.

In addition, special events were held to promote unity among church leaders and spread a message of Christian hope. The ReNew gathering drew more than 2,000 people for a night of worship & teaching, a conference for pastors and ministry leaders was attended by several hundred church leaders, an educational forum on community issues, and various training sessions were offered to church members. In the ten days leading up to the final festival event, a Christian message was shared in several smaller settings including a surf camp with Cliff and Damian Hobgood, two presentations in area prisons, a luncheon and a dinner for women, and a business and civic leaders’ luncheon.

The final event is a family-oriented festival at the Space Coast Daily Park next to Viera High School on March 28th and 29th. The festival will host a children’s area and an action sports program that includes professional BMX, Free-Style Motocross, and skateboard demonstrations. The event will wrap up with a mainstage program of contemporary Christian music bands from around the county, and will also include a message of hope from international evangelist Andrew Palau. Other featured performers include Adam Agee, Mandisa, Newsboys United, Blanca, Illusionist Jon Michael Hinton, Danny Gokey, and LeCrae. Thousands are expected to attend.

I would like to recognize the hard work of the local organizing committee chaired by Christopher Burton and Dr. Mike Ronisvalle in partnership with the Luiz Palau Association. Their efforts over the last 18 months of mobilizing events have greatly impacted our community and have brought us all together in a very special way. It’s notable that the $800,000 cost of the Space Coast City Fest Celebration was contributed by local churches, individuals, and businesses so that it could be free to the public.

I ask my colleagues in the U.S. House of Representatives to please join me in recognizing Space Coast City Fest.

HONORING KOLTON HUNT

HON. SAM GRAVES
OF MISSOURI
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Madam Speaker, I proudly pause to recognize Koltan Hunt. Kolton is a very special young man who has exemplified the finest qualities of citizenship and leadership by taking an active part in the Boy Scouts of America, Troop 82, and earning the mark of merit of Eagle Scout.

Kolton has been very active with his troop, participating in many scout activities. Over the many years Kolton has been involved with scouting, he has not only earned numerous merit badges, but also the respect of his family, peers, and community. Most notably, Kolton has saved his troop as the Senior Patrol Leader and earned his Arrow of Light award. Kolton has also contributed to his community through his Eagle Scout project. Kolton built a Little Free Library outside of Buckner Elementary School in Buckner, Missouri. Madam Speaker, I proudly ask you to join me in commending Kolton Hunt for his accomplishments with the Boy Scouts of America and for his efforts put forth in achieving the highest distinction of Eagle Scout.

INTSEL STEEL WEST

HON. ED PERLMUTTER
OF COLORADO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. PERLMUTTER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize and applaud Intsel Steel West for receiving Commerce City’s Business Appreciation 2020 Economic Development Award for Leadership.

The Economic Development Award for Leadership honors a business or individual that has been a catalyst toward economic vitality in Commerce City through creative leadership, innovation, facilitation, collaboration or through contribution of resources. Intsel Steel, the parent company of Intsel Steel West, was founded in 1960, and sells nearly 700,000 tons of steel per year for bridges, stadiums, barges, and large buildings throughout North America, Central and South America and Asia. Triple-S Steel, the parent company of Intsel Steel West, was founded in 1960, and sells nearly 700,000 tons of steel per year for bridges, stadiums, barges, and large buildings throughout North America, Central and South America and Asia. Triple-S Steel consolidated and expanded the company’s existing operations in Denver and at 7300 Clement St. in Commerce City with a new 234,000 square-foot facility at 8573 Ulster St. The Commerce City operations are now a subsidiary called Intsel Steel West, employing nearly 100 people.

I extend my deepest congratulations to Intsel Steel West for this well-deserved recognition from Commerce City.

HON. JOSEPH D. MORELLE
OF NEW YORK

Mr. MORELLE. Madam Speaker, I regretfully missed Roll Call vote 60 on February 12, 2020. Had I been present, I would have voted AYE.

COMMEMORATING CAROL MERNER AS CENTRAL ILLINOIS’ WOMAN OF THE YEAR

HON. DARIN LaHOOD
OF ILLINOIS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. LaHOOD. Madam Speaker, I would like to recognize Carol Merna, CEO for the Center for Prevention of Abuse (CFPA) in Peoria, IL, for being recognized as Central Illinois’ Woman of the Year.

As the CEO of the Center for Prevention of Abuse, Carol has led Illinois’ efforts for education and prevention of human trafficking, domestic violence, and abuse. During her time with the CFPA, Carol and the CFPA team have provided survivors more than 9,000 nights in safe shelters while also reaching over 35,000 Illinois students with prevention education. Carol’s work with the CFPA has helped changed the fundamental attitudes of society and institutions so that violence and abuse are never promoted, tolerated, or condoned. With over three decades of community and philanthropic experience, Carol’s boundless devotion to the promotion of the well-being of thousands of central Illinoisans has enhanced and bettered the lives of those men and women.

Carol’s commitment to the Peoria community and central Illinois is unmatched. Her Lynn Nishimura had an admirable career. She worked her way up at a variety of banking institutions, starting as a teller and retiring as a Senior Vice President. After her retirement in 2018, Lynn resumed her position as an unpaid volunteer of the Puget Sound Labor Agency as their Executive Director, where she had been since 2013. The Puget Sound Labor Agency credits Lynn Nishimura for providing crucial leadership and steering the organization through difficult times with her expertise in finance management and her devotion to their mission. Lynn Nishimura worked tireless hours during her time with Puget Sound Labor Agency to ensure people got the help they needed, from guaranteeing wheelchair ramp installations were completed to ensuring union member hardship assistance would continue to be available to the thousands of people who needed those services. Lynn is remembered for her warmth and fearlessness to rise to challenges in order to improve the lives of everyone around her.

Madam Speaker, it is with great pleasure that I recognize the life of Gerrilynn “Lynn” Nishimura. Her life and dedication to service is a reminder that it only takes one person to make lifechanging impacts in a community.
Mr. BUTTERFIELD. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize the decades of dedicated public service of a great North Carolinian, role model and man of faith, the Rev. Phillip R. Byrum—known to many as Father Phil.

Born in 1941, Rev Phillip R. Byrum is a native of North Carolina—son of the late Robert and Margaret Byrum. He attended Greensboro Public Schools and graduated from Greensboro College in 1963 with a degree in philosophy and religion.

He went on to attend the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, Massachusetts, graduating in 1966. He was assigned to St. Michael's Church in Tarboro, North Carolina and St. Mary's Church in Speed, North Carolina. He was ordained to the Priesthood on June 24, 1967, at Christ Church in Raleigh, North Carolina.

Father Phil was married to the former Anne Stuart Barnette in 1966. They became parents to two sons, Robert Stuart, born 1968 and John Keith, born in 1970. He is also a proud grandfather of seven grandchildren and great-grandfather of one.

Father Phil and his family moved to Albemarle, North Carolina in 1969, where he became the Rector of Christ Church. He and his family spent a joyful 22 years in this parish, with both sons attending local schools, and leaving to attend and graduate from University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Serving with passion and humility, Father Phil was a dedicated minister to his congregation and was heavily involved in many facets of community life, as well as the work of the Diocese of North Carolina. For many years, he chaired the Diocese's Liturgy and Music, and directed a music and worship camp for children on behalf of the Diocese for 19 years. He also began a long relationship with the Society of St. Margaret in Boston, Massachusetts where he served as a visiting chaplain to the Sisters for many years.

In May 1991, Rev. Byrum accepted a call to become Rector of St. Timothy's Church in Wilson, North Carolina. Shortly after, a temporary assignment stretched into nearly 30 years of service as Father Phil was asked to serve as priest-in-charge of a historic African American church in East Wilson, St. Mark's Church.

Father Phil completed his service in ministry from St. Timothy's in 2000, and focused his ministry service on St. Mark's, while also serving La Iglesia de la Guadalupana, the Spanish-speaking church officially recognized as a congregation in 1998 and shares St. Mark's facilities. Father Phil devoted his service in ministry at St. Mark's and La Guadalupana until his final retirement in 2020.

Father Phil had the privilege of leading his congregations at St. Mark's and La Guadalupana in serving the community with worship services in English and Spanish and through community outreach programs such as food ministries, tutoring programs, and assistance programs for those facing critical situations in their lives.

On February 29, 2020, Father Phil retired from active ministry and will continue to live in his home community.

Madam Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in congratulating and honoring the Rev. Phillip R. Byrum as he is recognized for his many years of service. His lifelong contribution to his congregations and community cannot be overstated.
Dr. Evans’ work is a testament to his passion for science and creating services that help people. He was decorated with honors and awards including a Distinguished Eagle Scout Award, the Distinguished Hoosier and he received the Sagamore of the Wabash Award from the Indiana Governor. Dr. Evans was also honored as the SBA Small Businessperson of the Year in 2006 and was the 2008 Ernst & Young Midwest Entrepreneur of the Year. Marian University honored Dr. Evans through the naming of the Michael A. Evans Center for Health Sciences building. Dr. Evans was the father of six children, Michael, Cara, Justin, Andrew, Katherine and Samantha. He enjoyed spending time with his children, working out and reading books on history, business and people who have made a difference in the world.

Mike will be forever missed by his family, friends, colleagues, and the entire community. On behalf of Indiana’s Fifth Congressional District, I extend my deepest condolences to Mike’s family. Today I join the community and the entire family in mourning the loss of Dr. Michael A. Evans who made a difference in the world.

IN RECOGNITION OF KEVIN J. O’BRIEN, SR., RECIPIENT OF THE GREATER PITTSTON FRIENDLY SONS’ MAN OF THE YEAR AWARD

HON. MATT CARTWRIGHT OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. CARTWRIGHT. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize Kevin J. O’Brien Sr. who will be named Man of the Year by the Greater Pittston Friendly Sons of St. Patrick. He will be honored at the group’s 106th annual gathering on Tuesday, March 17, 2020.

Born and raised in Avoca, Pennsylvania, Kevin is the son of the late Michael J. O’Brien, a former Friendly Sons President, and Mary Moore O’Brien. He is a 1974 graduate of Pittston Area High School, and he attended Luzerne County Community College, studying fire science technology. Kevin is the proud father of his son, Kevin Jr., and currently resides in Duryea, Pennsylvania.

Kevin was president of the Greater Pittston Friendly Sons in 1989, the year that the organization celebrated its 75th anniversary. Under his leadership, the Friendly Sons Scholarship was established, and Kevin’s family was an original donor to the program.

He began his career in public safety in 1978, working as a radio operator/dispatcher for the Luzerne County Civil Defense. During his 27-year career, Kevin rose to the rank of deputy director of the Luzerne County Emergency Management Agency. During those years, he oversaw the planning, training, and response to all natural and manmade disasters throughout Luzerne County. He concluded his 30-year career with the county as a lead crash and rescue firefighter at the Wilkes Barre/Scranton International Airport.

Kevin has also dedicated his time to local fire service; he was a member of the Avoca Volunteer Fire Department for the past 45 years. Kevin also became a Pennsylvania State Fire Academy instructor, conducting fire training programs throughout the Commonwealth. In 2011, he was awarded the title of instructor emeritus from the academy.

In addition to his volunteer fire service and full-time employment in emergency management, he also worked part time at the Pocono Raceway, starting in 1985 as a pit road fireman and eventually becoming fire chief at the facility. Kevin served as a NASCAR Advanced Training Program instructor and became a member of the NASCAR Safety Standards and Training Committee. In 2013, the NASCAR Track Services Division recognized Kevin for his dedication to the sport, and its safety, by awarding him the NASCAR Excellence in Track Services Award.

It is an honor to join the Greater Pittston Friendly Sons of St. Patrick as they recognize Kevin J. O’Brien Sr. as Man of the Year. He has had a successful career in service to his community, and I wish him all the best on this St. Patrick’s Day.

IN RECOGNITION OF INTERNATIONAL WOMEN’S DAY
HON. SHEILA JACKSON LEE OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Madam Speaker, I rise in strong support to commemorate the 43rd anniversary of International Women’s Day. On March 8, International Women’s Day, we take the time to recognize the incomparable contributions that women and girls all around the world have created in order to better our communities.

I am honored to be able to commemorate this momentous day with so many other women that have devoted their lives to making a change in our society. We commemorate women’s enduring achievements for our world and re dedicate ourselves to delivering education and opportunity to girls in every country.

Our lives have changed because of influential figures from Michelle Obama, America’s first lady, to Indira Gandhi, India’s first female Prime Minister. We have celebrated the courage and strength of Malala Yousafzai, the youngest Nobel Peace Prize recipient. In the last 100 years, we have seen and heard the voices of mentors who have raised and supported us. Women are beginning to leave their mark in every industry from corporations, to music, to sports, to education, to finances, to entertainers, to the Armed Forces, and to politics. The fight of women has always been fueled by the influence of our mothers who have raised and supported us.

Women spend one to three hours more on housework than men, two to ten times the amount of time caring for children and the elderly, and one to four hours less per day on economic market activities. An estimated 63 million young girls worldwide are out of school.

Millions of women are still denied fundamental rights, but we look to the promise of our past and know that our future is bright. We will usher in a new era of growth for our economies, security for our families, and strength for our countries.

Let us build on the successes of our history, protect the rights we have won, and continue to march towards a new dawn for women and girls around the world.

Our commitment to the empowerment of women and girls also calls us to re dedicate ourselves to fighting violence against women and girls in all spheres of life, from the classroom to the courtroom to the bedroom and everywhere in between.

This year, as we prepare to commemorate the centennial of the 19th Amendment, we take acknowledgement of this momentous achievement that unleashed the power of women to have a voice in our democracy, and in the process helped deliver transformative progress toward a more perfect union for all Americans.

In recognition of the innumerable contributions and continued leadership of America’s women, we will never stop fighting to advance the cause of freedom, equality and justice for all.

Today, and always, we reaffirm a vital truth that, when women succeed, America succeeds.

NORTH RANGE EYE CARE, P.C.
HON. ED PERLMUTTER OF COLORADO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. PERLMUTTER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize and applaud North Range Eye Care, P.C. for receiving Commerce City's Business Appreciation 2020 Business on the Move Award.

The Business on the Move Award recognizes businesses bringing new employment, growth in sales or new capital investment to the city in the last year. North Range Eye Care, P.C. is a comprehensive eye center founded by Dr. David Hite. The center offers adult and children’s eye exams, treatment of eye emergencies and eye diseases, and co-management of eye surgeries like LASIK.

North Range Eye Care, P.C. first opened its doors in 2013. As new patient demand increased, Dr. Hite saw the need to expand. The company built a new 6,000 square-foot building in 2019 with 2,970 square-feet for the practice and the other half for leased business tenants.

I extend my deepest congratulations to the North Range Eye Care team for this well-deserved recognition from Commerce City.

HONORING ADAM JOHN LATHAM
HON. SAM GRAVES
OF MISSOURI
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020
Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Madam Speaker, I proudly pause to recognize Adam John Latham. Adam is a very special young man who has exemplified the finest qualities of citizenship and leadership by taking an active part in the Boy Scouts of America, Troop 1376, and earning the most prestigious award of Eagle Scout.

Adam has been very active with his troop, participating in many scout activities. Over the many years Adam has been involved with scouting, he has not only earned numerous merit badges, but also the respect of his family, peers, and community. Most notably, Adam has contributed to his community through his Eagle Scout project. Adam constructed three American flag retirement boxes and placed them in business across Liberty, Missouri, on behalf of American Legion Post 95.

Madam Speaker, I proudly ask you to join me in commending Adam John Latham for his accomplishments with the Boy Scouts of America and for his efforts put forth in achieving the highest distinction of Eagle Scout.

WELCOME BAKER ADDISON MORRIS
HON. JOE WILSON
OF SOUTH CAROLINA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020
Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Madam Speaker, I am happy to congratulate Alexander Fancourt Morris and Rebekah Livingston Morris, of Gaston, South Carolina, on the birth of their new baby boy, Baker Addison Morris. Baker was born at 4:48 a.m. on Tuesday, March 10, 2020, at Lexington Medical Center in West Columbia, South Carolina. He weighed 9 pounds and fifteen ounces and measures twenty-one inches long.

Congratulations to his grandparents Debra Morris of Columbia, and Major General (Ret) Robert Livingston and Barbara Livingston of Gaston. He will join his older brother, Alexander Fancourt Morris, Jr.

RECOGNIZING ESTHER STERLING AS CONSTITUENT OF THE MONTH
HON. MIKE LEVIN
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020
Mr. LEVIN of California. Madam Speaker, in celebration of Women's History Month, it is my honor to recognize Esther Sterling as my March Constituent of the Month. Ms. Sterling, a Holocaust survivor from my district, spent her childhood hiding from Nazis in Ukraine. Forged from her experience during this dark time in history, Ms. Sterling shares her story across my district with schools and community groups to help ensure that history will never repeat itself.

Esther's story is one of courage, fortitude, and determination. After World War II broke out, Esther, her mother, father, and sister were sent to the Ghetto of Sambor. When the Ghetto was terminated and residents were sent to an extermination camp, Esther's family managed to escape with the help of their devoted nanny. Above and beyond their nanny's apartment, Esther's father dug a hole beneath a coal and wood shack. Most of the time they hid within shack, but if there were passersby, the family crouched within the hole, breathing air provided from a tube.

As the war progressed, the German gestapo began to round people up for executions. Searching for a new place to hide his family, Esther's father was shot. Her mother was stricken with grief after her father's death, and as an eight-year-old child, Esther took on the responsibility of convincing her mother and younger sister to keep fighting for survival.

I launched a Constituent of the Month program to recognize individuals who have gone above and beyond to make our region and our country a stronger place for everyone to live and thrive. Ms. Sterling's perseverance and triumph during a time of great danger and divide is not only inspiring, but encouraging. I am honored to recognize her as my Constituent of the Month and I thank her for everything she's done to make our community a better place.

IN RECOGNITION OF ROBERT ROGERS, RECIPIENT OF THE FREELAND SONS OF ERIN 2020 CITIZEN OF THE YEAR AWARD
HON. MATT CARTHWAITE
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020
Mr. CARTWRIGHT of Pennsylvania. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize and applaud Oribi Manufacturing for receiving Commerce City's Business Appreciation 2020 Entrepreneurial Spirit Award.

The Entrepreneurial Spirit Award recognizes a company or entrepreneur that demonstrates a pioneering spirit and has seen success with anew start-up, new product development, or a company/product with growth into new markets. Oribi Manufacturing produces cost-effective, high-speed high-performance composite components appealing to industries looking for products that are thinner, stronger, lighter, and products created with continuous fiber. The company manufactures products like ballistic helmets, canine paddles, backpack frames, and props and bodies for drones for the U.S. military as well as the law enforcement, recreation, sporting, and aerospace industries. They also pride themselves on creating products made in the USA using American materials.

Oribi Manufacturing owns a 100,000 square-foot building at 5850 E 56th Ave. and built a new research and design facility with a new conference room this past year. Oribi Manufacturing doubled its revenue over the last three years, and in 2019, hired 20 full-time employees with plans to hire an additional ten employees in 2020.
I extend my deepest congratulations to Oribi Manufacturing for this well-deserved recognition from Commerce City.

INTRODUCTION OF THE LEADERSHIP INSTITUTE FOR TRANSATLANTIC ENGAGEMENT (LITE) ACT

HON. ALCEE L. HASTINGS
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. HASTINGS. Madam Speaker, I rise today to introduce the Leadership Institute for Transatlantic Engagement (LITE) Act—a bill that will create an institute to assist in strengthening ties with our allies, protect democratic institutions, and support visionary leadership on both sides of the Atlantic.

In the 116th Congress, under my leadership as chair, the Commission on Security and Cooperation in Europe, also known as the U.S. Helsinki Commission, has held events on the importance of international election observation, good governance, and focused on democratic backsliding in particular countries as part of our continued commitment to the underlying principles of the Helsinki Final Act adopted by the 57 North American, European, and Eurasian countries that make up the region of the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe (OSCE).

We identified numerous challenges in western democracy that are putting our democracies and the transatlantic partnership at risk, including as continuing disparities in wealth, health, employment, education, justice, and other sectors that lead citizens to question whether democracy can deliver. Common to among these issues is the role leaders can play in ensuring laws are equitable, transparent, and enforced; elections are free and fair; and laying the groundwork to ensure the same protections, rights, and laws, are extended to all in their constituencies.

The LITE Act will establish an institute to assist western democracies in living up to these ideals and restoring faith in democracy, by equipping transatlantic policymakers with legislative, communications, conflict resolution and other leadership tools to strengthen democratic institutions in their societies and the transatlantic relationship. Given demographic change on both sides of the Atlantic, the activities of LITE, as established by this legislation, will also include a focus on inclusive and intergenerational solutions to current challenges with the goal of empowering individual leaders and from diverse backgrounds with the knowledge, tools, opportunity, and access to fully participate in their democracies. In addition, LITE will seek to re-unify communities by assisting leaders with strategies that build resilience against the exploitation of community grievances that can lead to dangerous divisions in our societies.

In February, we hosted young parliamentarians from the OSCE region here in the U.S. Congress to discuss how we can strengthen their political inclusion to advance peace and security efforts. Last year, we held hearings featuring policymakers, and on global leadership, democracy and public diplomacy. These hearings were the capstone in a decade of events that began in 2009 whereby the Commission has convened U.S. and European policymakers under the banner of the Transatlantic Minority Political Leadership Conference and Transatlantic Inclusion Leaders Network to support increased political representation in western democracies. As we celebrate the tenth anniversary of these efforts that have been instrumental in shaping international relations over the past decade, I hope you will join me in supporting LITE to further codify leadership exchanges and knowledge building between diverse and young transatlantic policy makers as a means to sustain our democratic futures.

HONORING MICHAEL PAUL STEPHENSON, JR.

HON. SAM GRAVES
OF MISSOURI
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Madam Speaker, I proudly pause to recognize Michael Paul Stephenson, Jr. Michael is a very special young man who has exemplified the finest qualities of citizenship and leadership by taking an active part in the Boy Scouts of America, Troop 1028, and earning the most prestigious award of Eagle Scout.

Michael has been very active with his troop, participating in many scout activities. Over the many years Michael has been involved with scouting, he has not only earned numerous merit badges, but also the respect of his family, peers, and community. Most notably, Michael has earned the rank of Firebuilder in the Tribe of Mic-O-Say. Michael has also contributed to his community through his Eagle Scout project. Michael constructed two garden boxes for the early childhood education programs at the Platte County Community Center in Platte City, Missouri.

Madam Speaker, I proudly ask you to join me in commending Michael Paul Stephenson, Jr. for his accomplishments with the Boy Scouts of America and for his efforts put forth in achieving the highest distinction of Eagle Scout.

TRIBUTE TO ALEXIS SANCHEZ, 28TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT WOMAN OF THE YEAR

HON. ADAM B. SCHIFF
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. SCHIFF. Madam Speaker, I rise today in honor of Women’s History Month. Each year, we pay special tribute to the contributions and sacrifices made by our nation’s women. It is an honor to pay homage to outstanding women who are making a difference in my Congressional District. I would like to recognize a remarkable woman, Alexis Sanchez of the Los Feliz neighborhood of Los Angeles, California.

As a native Angeleno, Alexis Sanchez is a transgender woman and a fearless supporter of transgender rights in her community and across the country. Ms. Sanchez displays powerful personal initiative and leadership as an advocate for transgender rights empowering those who may not realize they have a voice. Dedicated to public service, she devotes her time to community organizing, media advocacy, and volunteering to support the LGBTQ+ community.

Alexis serves on the board of directors of Still Bisexual, a non-profit that seeks to raise bi+ visibility and advocate for mental health resources for bi+ individuals. Ms. Sanchez is involved in planning the City of West Hollywood’s Transgender Day of Remembrance and advocating for the creation of the first Transgender Day of Visibility in Los Angeles.

Ms. Sanchez is also a member of the City of West Hollywood Transgender Advisory Board, which is responsible for addressing issues concerning transgender rights, as well as making recommendations regarding the adoption of policies that would benefit the community. She has led the City of West Hollywood Transgender Advisory Board delegation that travels to Washington, D.C. to meet with Members of Congress and the Congressional LGBT Equality Caucus to discuss the importance of the transgender rights movement in federal policy.

Alexis works within the field of public policy to implement change that benefits her community. She is an Assistant Program Manager at the Institute for Public Strategies, where she oversees a program centered on substance use disorders within the LGBTQ+ community. Alexis is currently collaborating with a coalition of state representatives to create a tool for law enforcement, researchers, community groups, and local municipalities to track methamphetamine data and research in the LGBTQ+ community.

Ms. Sanchez spends her free time as a volunteer and mentor with Brave Trails, a leadership camp for LGBTQ+ teenagers and is an enthusiastic hiker and mountainier.

I ask all Members to join me in honoring this exceptional, well-respected woman of California’s 28th Congressional District, Alexis Sanchez.

HONORING MICHAEL PAUL STEPHENSON, JR.

HON. ED PERLMUTTER
OF COLORADO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. PERLMUTTER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize and applaud Hendrix Jett Rodriguez for receiving the Arvada Wheat Ridge Service Ambassadors for Youth award. Hendrix Jett Rodriguez is a student at Everett Middle School and received this award because his determination and hard work have allowed him to overcome adversities.

The dedication demonstrated by Hendrix Jett Rodriguez is exemplary of the type of achievement that can be attained with hard work and perseverance. It is essential students at all levels strive to make the most of their education and develop a work ethic which will guide them for the rest of their lives.

I extend my deepest congratulations to Hendrix Jett Rodriguez for winning the Arvada Wheat Ridge Service Ambassadors for Youth award. I have no doubt he will exhibit the same dedication and character in all of his future accomplishments.
HON. ELEANOR HOLMES NORTON OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020

Ms. NORTON. Madam Speaker, today, I introduce the Major General David F. Wherley, Jr., District of Columbia National Guard Retention and College Access Act (NGRCA). This bill is named for General Wherley, former Commanding General of the D.C. National Guard, who, along with his wife, Ann, and seven others were tragically killed when Metro trains collided on the Red Line on June 22, 2009. This bill would permanently authorize funding for a program that provides grants for higher education to members of the D.C. National Guard, which is under the control of the federal, not the District of Columbia, government. I renamed this bill after General Wherley because he worked tirelessly with me to get funding for the program for many years, and because of his devotion to the youth of the District and to the National Guard. The NGRCA authorizes an education incentive program, recommended by General Wherley and his successor, Major General Errol Schwartz, to stem the troublesome loss of D.C. Guard members to other units, including National Guard units in surrounding states that offer higher educational benefits to their Guards. I am grateful that Congress has consistently provided funds for the program at our request, most recently $413,000 in fiscal year 2020. Permanently authorizing the program is necessary, however, to ensure that D.C. Guard members receive the same treatment and benefits as other National Guard members, particularly those in neighboring states that compete with the District for members and provide these education benefits. Today, the Guard for the nation’s capital has a diminished ability to compete for regional residents if membership in the District of Columbia or Virginia Guards is more economically beneficial. A competitive tuition assistance program for the D.C. Guard would provide a significant and much-needed incentive to help maintain enrollment and level the field of competition. The federal government supports D.C. Guard functions and understands it should support this small benefit as well, because the appropriators have always funded the D.C. Guard program, even without authorization. However, depending on appropriations alone leaves the D.C. Guard at a competitive disadvantage with the tuition programs in nearby states. Because the program is not controversial, there is no reason not to permanently authorize funding for these D.C. National Guard education benefits.

I appreciate that the appropriators and ultimately Congress have not hesitated to fund the education benefits for the D.C. National Guard. This support argues strongly for permanent authorization. These small education benefits have not only encouraged high-quality recruits, but have helped the D.C. Guard maintain the federal presence here, including the possibility of a natural disaster or terrorist attack. I am pleased to introduce this bill based on the advice of Guard personnel, who best know what is necessary. I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

TRUTH ABOUT COMMUNISM

HON. JOE WILSON
OF SOUTH CAROLINA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Madam Speaker, I am grateful Dr. Derek W.H. Thomas, as of The First Presbyterian Church of Columbia, South Carolina, in the weekly First Things (Monday, March 1) newsletter published a tribute for Richard Wurmbrand of Bucharest, Romania. This tribute is a reminder to all Americans of the tragic true inhumanity of totalitarian communism enforced by Soviet Socialists.

The Voice of the Martyrs
This Saturday . . .

THE VOICE OF THE MARTYRS

This Saturday, February 29 (it is a leap year), is the anniversary of the arrest and imprisonment of Richard Wurmbrand in 1948. Born in Bucharest, Romania, in 1909, Richard was sent to Moscow as an adolescent to study Marxism. He was subsequently arrested by the Soviet secret police, and upon his return to Romania, he became a Comintern for the communist regime. At the outset of the second World War, he was converted to Christianity and was later ordained, first as an Anglican and then, as the war was almost over and his country occupied by the Soviet Union, a Lutheran. In 1944, he began a ministry to his Romanian countrymen and to Red Army soldiers. As the Soviet regime began to control churches, Wurmbrand began underground house churches. Within a few years, he denounced communism as incompatible with Christianity. He was arrested on February 29, 1948, while on his way to church.

Richard Wurmbrand passed through several penal facilities and would spend three years in solitary confinement, twelve feet below ground without light or sound (the guards put felt under their shoes). He later recounted that he maintained his sanity by sleeping by day and staying awake at night preaching out loud a sermon to himself.

Wurmbrand was released from prison in 1956 after eight and half years. Warned not to preach again, he worked to serve the underground churches and was arrested again in 1959 and sentenced to 25 years. During this second imprisonment, he was beaten and tortured, includingellation, burning, and being locked in a freezer icebox. Later, he recounted how his feet were beaten until the flesh was exposed, and then the next day beaten until the bones were exposed.

In 1964, Norwegians paid the Communist regime $10,000 for his release, and Wurmbrand and his wife would eventually emigrate to the United States. He died in 2001 in California.

During his time in the United States he authored almost 20 books and founded The Voice of the Martyrs, an organization that draws attention to the persecuted church worldwide.

Here is one of Wurmbrand’s famous quotes: “I have seen Christians in Communist prisons with fifty pounds of chains on their feet, tortured with red-hot iron pokers, in whose throats spoonfuls of salt had been forced, being kept asleep by cold and starved, whirled, whipped, suffering from cold—and praying with fervor for the Communists. This is

HOPE RULE

HON. ED PERLMUTTER
OF COLORADO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. PERLMUTTER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize and applaud Hope Rule for receiving the Arvada Wheat Ridge Service Ambassador for Youth award. Hope Rule is a student at Arvada West High School and received this award because her determination and hard work have allowed her to overcome adversities.

The dedication demonstrated by Hope Rule is exemplary of the type of achievement that can be attained with hard work and perseverance. It is essential students at all levels strive to make the most of their education and develop a work ethic which will guide them for the rest of their lives.

I extend my deepest congratulations to Hope Rule for winning the Arvada Wheat Ridge Service Ambassador for Youth award. I have no doubt she will exhibit the same dedication and character in all of her future accomplishments.

IN RECOGNITION OF JUDGE FRED A. PIERANTONI III, RECIPIENT OF THE GREATER PITTSTON FRIENDLY SONS ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

HON. MATT CARTWRIGHT
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. CARTWRIGHT. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Judge Fred A. Pierantoni III, who will receive the Achievement Award from the Greater Pittston Friendly Sons of St. Patrick. He will be honored at the group’s 106th annual gathering on Tuesday, March 17, 2020.

Judge Pierantoni is a lifelong resident of the Greater Pittston Area. He is a 1976 graduate of Pittston Area High School and a cum laude graduate of Wilkes University with a Bachelor of Science in political science. In 1983, Judge Pierantoni received his Juris Doctorate from Temple University’s School of Law in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Following law school, Judge Pierantoni was assistant district attorney in Luzerne County from 1983 to 1988. In 1992, Judge Pierantoni was elected as magistrate judge for District 11–1–5 and has spent 20 years on the bench serving the people of the Greater Pittston Area.

Judge Pierantoni was elected to the Luzerne County Court of Common Pleas and began his tenure on January 4, 2012. Since taking the bench, he has been assigned cases in criminal court including homicide, civil trials, and family court. Judge Pierantoni presently serves as administrative judge for the Luzerne County Juvenile Court Division and serves as supervising judge for the Luzerne County Grand Jury. He is also a zone delegate for the Pennsylvania Conference of State Trial Judges.

Passionate about maintaining the integrity of the legal profession and access to representation, Judge Pierantoni has volunteered his time to legal organizations and courts across the Commonwealth. He was an active member of the Pennsylvania Bar from 1983 until his election in 2012. He is also a past president of the Luzerne County Special Court Judges Association and former statewide president of the Special Court Judges Association of Pennsylvania. He previously served as chair of Pennsylvania Supreme Court Minor Court Rules Committee and was a member of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court Committee on Race and Gender Bias.

Judge Pierantoni is an active member of many civic organizations throughout the Greater Pittston Area and Luzerne County, such as the Lions Club. He previously served as volunteer solicitor to numerous fire companies, ambulance associations, civic and veteran associations, and youth sports leagues throughout the region.

It is an honor to join the Greater Pittston Friendly Sons of St. Patrick in recognizing Judge Fred A. Pierantoni III as the recipient of the Achievement Award. He has had a successful career serving his community and the law, and I wish him all the best on this St. Patrick’s Day.

HON. SHEILA JACKSON LEE OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Madam Speaker, this past Monday and Tuesday, I was unavoidably detained in my congressional district and was not present for Roll Call Votes 91 and 92. Had I been present, I would have voted as follows: On Roll Call 91, I would have voted AYE, on Motion to Suspend the Rules and Pass H. Res. 410, Encouraging reunions of divided Korean-American families; and on Roll Call 92, I would have voted AYE. On Motion to Suspend the Rules and Pass H.R. 1771, Divided Families Reunification Act.

INTRODUCTION OF A BILL TO ENSURE FAIR ACCESS AND OPPORTUNITY TO FEDERAL JOBS FOR ALL AMERICANS

HON. ALCEE L. HASTINGS
OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. HASTINGS. Madam Speaker, I rise today to introduce a bill to ensure fair access and opportunity to federal jobs for all Americans. For close to two decades now, I and many of my colleagues have been fighting to increase diversity in the international affairs and national security sector. I have called for a diversity plan from Pennsylvania Supreme Court Minor Court Rules Committee and was a member of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court Committee on Race and Gender Bias. Judge Pierantoni is an active member of many civic organizations throughout the Greater Pittston Area and Luzerne County, such as the Lions Club. He previously served as volunteer solicitor to numerous fire companies, ambulance associations, civic and veteran associations, and youth sports leagues throughout the region.

It is an honor to join the Greater Pittston Friendly Sons of St. Patrick in recognizing Judge Fred A. Pierantoni III as the recipient of the Achievement Award. He has had a successful career serving his community and the law, and I wish him all the best on this St. Patrick’s Day.

Mr. PERLMUTTER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize and applaud Haley Smith for receiving the Arvada Wheat Ridge Service Ambassadors for Youth award.

Haley Smith is a student at Arvada K–8 and received this award because her determination and hard work have allowed her to overcome adversities. The dedication demonstrated by Haley Smith is exemplary of the type of achievement that can be attained with hard work and perseverance. It is essential students at all levels strive to make the most of their education and develop a work ethic which will guide them for the rest of their lives.

I extend my deepest congratulations to Haley Smith for winning the Arvada Wheat Ridge Service Ambassador for Youth award. I have no doubt she will exhibit the same dedication and character in all of her future accomplishments.

RECOGNIZING THE 25TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE BOYS AND GIRLS CLUB OF NORTHERN CHAUTAUQUA COUNTY

HON. TOM REED
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, March 12, 2020

Mr. REED. Madam Speaker, today I rise to recognize the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Boys and Girls Club of Northern Chautauqua County. This important organization is providing vital services to the children and families of this area, and it is good to recognize their work.

The Boys and Girls Club of Northern Chautauqua County serves hundreds of youths a year and has six sites throughout Northern Chautauqua County. In 1994, the club was founded as a satellite program of the James-town Boys and Girls Club in Southern Chautauqua County. Space in the Masonic building on Central Avenue in Dunkirk was secured for the program and Jim Szwejbl became the first program director.

In 1996, the Boys and Girls Club of Northern Chautauqua County was incorporated as an independent club with Lynn Dorler as the first executive director for the club. Since that time, the club has provided after school activities and a positive environment that fosters relationship building, confidence building and a focus on healthy lifestyles through a variety of programs.

The club has had a variety of homes over the years. In 2006, the club moved to former Dunkirk School Number Six on Benton Street, had transitioned to the former St. Hyacinth School on Lake Shore Drive in 2010 and has recently found a new space in the Salvation Army building on Central Avenue.

The work this organization has done in the Dunkirk community and beyond has been instrumental in the lives of so many children and their families. For the past twenty-five years, this organization has become a cornerstone in youth programming in the area and I can’t wait to see what they do in the next twenty-five years.

Given the above, I ask that this Legislative Body pause in its deliberations and join me to recognize the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Boys and Girls Club of Northern Chautauqua County.
Tina Brown has been teaching at Kennett Middle School for 23 years. Every year she plans a trip for her students to attend the Wreaths Across America ceremony. She has also organized trips to treasured archives and military memorials throughout the state of Missouri and in the heart of Southeast Missouri such as the Stars and Stripes Museum in Bloomfield, Missouri. She even brought a class out to Washington, D.C. where I had the opportunity to meet these young students on the steps of the United States Capitol building and where her students were able to see the Vietnam War memorial. Trips like these are an important part of her teaching. They help students experience our nation’s history in a tangible, lasting way and educate our future generations on the world of opportunities ahead of them.

Tina’s phenomenal generosity extends beyond the classroom. She was the Chairperson of the Gold Star Monument for Dunklin county in 2019 and helped organize middle school students to raise money for this monument. Her efforts were fueled by her firm belief that there was a need in the community to recognize the families who have lost loved ones in service to our country. The monument is now awaiting placement in downtown Kennett, where it will be a reminder of those brave lives lost and of the compassion and patriotism of community members such as Tina.

I’m inspired not only by Tina’s work but by her dedication to our servicemen and women. Tina’s brother Frankie died while fighting for his country in Vietnam. Frankie was one of the brave young men that risked their lives for the sake of our country and tragically passed away fighting for our freedom. Tina was young when her brother died but remembers the profound loss that her family felt with Frankie’s passing. By teaching the importance of leadership and patriotism to her students, she honors his memory and keeps it alive for herself and others.

Tina is retiring from teaching this year to spend more time on the farm with her family. She will be greatly missed by students, faculty, and community members alike whose lives have been touched by her generosity and patriotism, as I have been.

Madam Speaker, please join me in congratulating Tina Brown for receiving this award.
