

EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

IN RECOGNITION OF THE 100TH BIRTHDAY OF PHIL SANGUINETTI

HON. MIKE ROGERS

OF ALABAMA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, March 27, 2020

Mr. ROGERS of Alabama. Madam Speaker, I ask for the House's attention to recognize the 100th birthday of Phil Sanguinetti.

Mr. Sanguinetti was born in 1920 in Norfolk, Virginia. He graduated from Virginia Tech in 1942 and received a master's degree from the University of Tennessee in 1948. He was a chemist at Monsanto from 1942 to 1954, and director of technical sales at Mobay Chemical Company from 1954 to 1962. He married Elise Ayers in 1950.

He began working at The Anniston Star in 1962 as national advertising manager. He was later named business manager, vice president and in 1973 named president of the company.

He has held leadership positions with International House at Jacksonville State University and Anniston Community Theater. He has also been active at Grace Episcopal Church.

Madam Speaker, please join me in recognizing Mr. Sanguinetti, his contributions and dedication to the Anniston area and wishing him a very happy 100th birthday.

CONGRESSIONAL TEACHERS AWARD

HON. VERN BUCHANAN

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, March 27, 2020

Mr. BUCHANAN. Madam Speaker, I rise today in recognition of outstanding public school teachers in Florida's 16th Congressional District.

I was once told that children are 25 percent of the population, but they are 100 percent of the future.

And it's true. The education of a child is an investment, not only in that student, but in the future of our country.

An independent panel has chosen the following teachers from Manatee, Sarasota and Hillsborough counties for Florida's 16th District 2020 Congressional Teacher Award for their accomplishments as educators:

Jessica Brumby for her accomplishments as a 4th Grade Teacher at Ballard Elementary School in Bradenton;

Linda Bolno for her accomplishments as a Kindergarten and 1st Grade Teacher at Rowlett Academy in Bradenton;

Jennifer Holt for her accomplishments as an 8th Grade Science Teacher at SCF Collegiate School in Bradenton;

Thomas Desmond for his accomplishments as a Music and Choral Teacher for Grades 9

through 12 at Braden River High School in Bradenton;

Kristen Costa for her accomplishments as a Behavior Specialist for Pre-K through 5th Grade at Fruitville Elementary School in Sarasota;

Bryan Burns for his accomplishments as a 7th and 8th Grade Teacher at Sarasota Military Academy Prep in Sarasota;

Robert Perkins for his accomplishments as a Math Teacher for Grades 9 through 12 at Sarasota High School in Sarasota; and Sandra Misciasci for her accomplishments as a 9th Grade Reading Teacher at Newsome High School in Lithia.

On behalf of the people of Florida's 16th District, I congratulate each of these outstanding teachers and offer my sincere appreciation for their service and dedication.

RECOGNIZING ARKANSAS CHILDREN'S RESEARCH INSTITUTE TREATMENT

HON. J. FRENCH HILL

OF ARKANSAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, March 27, 2020

Mr. HILL of Arkansas. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize researchers at the Arkansas Children's Research Institute for their hard work in developing a treatment for peanut allergy in children.

Recently, the FDA announced the approval of Palforzia, an oral immune therapy that gradually desensitizes children to peanut proteins.

This therapy has the potential to greatly reduce allergy-related deaths in children, given that 2.5 percent of children suffer from peanut allergies.

This treatment would not have been possible without the research of Dr. Stacie Jones and her team on oral immune therapy.

They developed the methods used in the trials for this peanut allergy treatment.

I am proud to have such a skilled team of experts in my district at Children's Hospital, where I served on the board of directors for 14 years.

TRIBUTE TO HONOR THE LIFE OF RICHARD BERNARD MORRIS

HON. ANNA G. ESHOO

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, March 27, 2020

Ms. ESHOO. Madam Speaker, I rise to honor the life and work of an extraordinary man, Richard Bernard Morris, who was born March 9, 1930 in Alameda, California, to Thelma T. and John E. Morris, and was the fifth of seven children. He passed away surrounded by his beloved family on Tuesday, January 21, 2020, at the age of 89.

Richard Morris attended Piedmont High School and attended the University of Santa Clara for one year prior to entering the Society of Jesus. In 1955, he left the seminary to join the United States Army and was stationed in Germany for two years.

After his military service, he completed his Bachelor of Arts degree at UC Berkeley and attended law school at Boalt Hall (Berkeley Law). It was at Berkeley where he met his best pal and true love, Anne "Bummie" Baumgartner, and they were married at Mission San Juan Bautista on September 12, 1959.

Rich entered private practice in 1960, first at Chickering & Gregory, and then at Feldman, Waldman & Kline, both in San Francisco. While in private practice, he began doing pro bono legal work and found his passion. In 1968, San Francisco was chosen as one of twenty cities to receive Ford Foundation funds directed at increasing the number of lawyers involved in pro bono work, and Rich was hired as the first Executive Director of the new San Francisco Lawyers Committee for Urban Affairs (now Lawyers Committee on Civil Rights).

Rich's family was his joy. He was keenly interested in each of his children, grandchildren, their spouses and friends. He was a generous, funny, original, and supportive father, father-in-law, and grandfather, and the best partner to Anne.

Rich was a devout Catholic who believed that work on behalf of the marginalized was fundamental to being a follower of Jesus. He was naturally attracted to quiet prayer and the contemplation of God's goodness in all things and people. As Jesuits would say, he was a contemplative in action, truly a "man for others." He believed strongly in social justice and instilled these principles in his children and grandchildren.

In 1975, Rich became Director of Communications for the American Bar Association, and the family moved to Evanston, Illinois. In 1998, Rich and Anne began a new adventure when they moved to Anne's family ranch in San Juan Bautista, California, where he soon became active in the movement for a more holistic, regenerative approach to land management.

In 2017, Rich and Anne moved back to San Francisco, where he was delighted to have a window with a view of his beloved Bay.

Madam Speaker, I ask the entire House of Representatives to join me in honoring this great and good man, and in extending our most sincere condolences to his beloved wife Anne, his eight children; his seven children-in-law; his eleven grandchildren and his siblings, Nancy Morris, RSJC, Bill Morris, and Thelma Clare Morris. Richard Morris' life was one of faith lived, duty, and purpose. He strengthened his community and bettered our nation, and it is an honor to pay tribute to him.

RECOGNIZING LAURA MONTEVERDI FOR HER WORK TO COMBAT THE OPIOID EPIDEMIC

HON. J. FRENCH HILL

OF ARKANSAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, March 27, 2020

Mr. HILL of Arkansas. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize Laura Monteverdi for her work to combat the opioid epidemic in Arkansas.

Laura was recently awarded the National Newsmaker Award by the Community Anti-Drug Coalitions of America (CADCA) for her outstanding focus on the opioid crisis in Arkansas.

The National Newsmaker Award is given to a journalist in TV, print or radio, who uses their platform to inform the public on substance use and misuse.

THV11, the CBS affiliate in Little Rock where Laura is an anchor, was awarded an Emmy in October for their work on Saving a Generation: The New Face of Drug Addiction.

Laura led the project, which takes a look at the drug addiction crisis in Arkansas. She now travels the state sharing her personal story with youth organizations, local churches and schools.

The opioid crisis is plaguing our Nation and hurting too many of our families, and I am proud to recognize Laura's passion and lasting commitment to tackling this devastating epidemic throughout Arkansas and the country.

TRIBUTE IN HONOR OF MAYOR
SUSAN HAMMER

HON. ANNA G. ESHOO

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, March 27, 2020

Ms. ESHOO. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the life and work of an extraordinary leader, former Mayor Susan Hammer of San Jose, California. She was a woman ahead of her time, one who championed diversity, the arts and the need for paying workers a living wage.

Susan Hammer was born on December 2, 1938, in Altadena, California. She grew up in nearby Monrovia and graduated from UC Berkeley, where she met her husband Phil. She died on March 7, 2020 at her home in Willow Glen, San Jose, with her family by her side.

After working on John F. Kennedy's presidential campaign, and at the newly formed Peace Corps, Susan and Phil returned to his hometown of San Jose. She worked on several campaigns and served on the San Jose City Council from 1983 until she was elected Mayor in 1991. She served as the 62nd mayor of San Jose from 1991 to 1999, working for diversity among city commissions, created the Mayor's Gang Prevention Task Force and began a partnership between the City and San Jose State University to build the Martin Luther King Library in downtown San Jose. She introduced policies that required the replacement of low-income housing destroyed by redevelopment and required city contractors to pay their workers living wages. She pushed for the construction of the Mexican Heritage

Plaza and earned the renaming of the San Jose Repertory building, the Hammer Theater.

Susan Hammer served on the Santa Clara County Juvenile Justice Commission and was a founding member and President of the San Jose Museum of Art. She was appointed to the Advisory Committee on Trade Policy and Negotiations by President Clinton, the first woman and the first elected official to serve on the Committee. Governor Gray Davis named her to the California State Board of Education.

Mayor Hammer's son Matt said his mother . . . "was our model of living a life of compassion and devotion to the community." The San Jose Mercury (March 10, 2020) in an editorial praising her, quoted her farewell address in which she said she hoped to be thought of as a mayor "who built community by championing the potential of people; who fostered social action; and who changed the face of the city by nurturing its spirit." "Mission accomplished" is the Mercury's evaluation of her work, and I wholeheartedly agree.

Madam Speaker, I ask the entire House of Representatives to join me in honoring the life and work of Susan Hammer, a great and good woman who set the 'gold standard' in public service. We express our most sincere condolences to her husband, their three children, and all who had the privilege to know her. We are a better community and a stronger country because of Susan Hammer. I was blessed to know her and she will always be a source of inspiration to me.

RECOGNIZING DR. SARASWATHY
BATTAR FOR HER WORK AT CAVHS

HON. J. FRENCH HILL

OF ARKANSAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, March 27, 2020

Mr. HILL of Arkansas. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize Dr. Saraswathy (Sara) Battar for her groundbreaking work at the Central Arkansas Veterans Health Care System (CAVHS).

Dr. Battar developed a mnemonic guide, called VIONE, to help deprescribe unneeded medications. VIONE stands for Vital, Important, Optional, Not indicated, and Every medication has a specific indication for use.

Launched in 2016, VIONE is an electronic tool that uses five filters to assess medications and has benefitted more than 77,000 veterans at 24 VA facilities.

To date, over 168,000 prescription orders have been discontinued, achieving more than $5.8 million in cost avoidance while ensuring veterans are only taking the medications they need.

Dr. Battar is a champion for the veterans community throughout Arkansas and the country, and I am proud to recognize her commitment to better serve our Nation's heroes.

LEADERS MAKE A DIFFERENCE

HON. JOE WILSON

OF SOUTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, March 27, 2020

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Madam Speaker, I am grateful during this National Emergency to face the coronavirus pandemic many dedicated and extraordinary leaders have come forward to protect American families.

The White House briefings have been informative and encouraging with President Donald Trump, Vice President MIKE PENCE, U.S. Surgeon General Dr. Jerome Adams, Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) Alex Azar, White House Coronavirus Response Coordinator Dr. Deborah Birx, Acting Deputy Department of Homeland Security Secretary Ken Cuccinelli, Head of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID) Dr. Anthony Fauci, Director of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention Dr. Robert Redfield, and Administrator of the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services Seema Verma.

I appreciate hosting townhalls by telephone with professional participants Dr. Jonathan Knoche of the South Carolina Department of Health and Environmental Control, Jeremy Wheeler Congressional Relations Officer for the Department of Veterans Affairs Southeast Region, District Director Gregg White from the South Carolina Small Business Administration SBA Counselor Savannah Wilburn, Jamie Suber, the Interim Chief Administration Officer of the South Carolina Department of Employment and Workforce, Dr. Steve Shelton of Emergency Management for the Prisma Health-Midlands, Dr. L. Brannon Traxler of the South Carolina Department of Health and Environmental Control, and Dr. John Gnann of the Medical University of South Carolina and with Deputy Director Chuck Bundy of the S.C. Department of Commerce.

In the District, Governor Henry McMaster has been a defender of the families of South Carolina with Adjutant General Van McCarty, Emergency Preparedness Director Kim Stenson, School Superintendent Molly Spearman, Agriculture Commissioner Hugh Weathers, and Attorney General Alan Wilson. Local officials have been effective in combating this virus with Columbia Mayor Steve Benjamin, Lexington Mayor Steve MacDougall, Aiken Mayor Rick Osbon along with local law enforcement and all first responders with Sheriffs Leon Lott of Richland, Jay Koon of Lexington, Michael Hunt of Aiken, Ed Carrol of Barnwell, and Leroy Ravenell of Orangeburg.

The Second Congressional District Staff I have faith in, and they have fulfilled their duties on behalf of citizens. Chief of Staff Jonathan Day has ably led the Washington staff of Oren Adaki, Drew Kennedy, Leah Grace Denny, Emily Saleeby, Stephanie Pendarvis Jeremy Tillman, McLaurine Pinover, Joshua Grant, Daniel Ramirez, and Omar Hossino. District Director Alex Morris has always been available to the public for constituent service along with Laura Batey, Millie Powell, Hal Wade, Jeffrey Crosby, Byron Thomas, Sam Orr, Butch Wallace. Aiken and Barnwell Deputy Director Marth Ruthven along with Garrett Dragano with Evan Caldwell work tirelessly in promoting families.

Our office has been assisted by private sector leaders capably stepping up to face the invisible threat. Beginning with our medical and hospital professionals. All members of the community are courageous in standing up with churches and religious leaders, pharmacies, food stores, trucking with leaders Bill and Tobin Cassels, restaurants for being innovative with drive up service as developed by
