

more culturally and linguistically appropriate care, and eliminate Medicaid funding limitations for the U.S. territories, among other priorities for the communities we represent.

For the past 17 years, the Congressional Tri-Caucus—comprised of the Congressional Asian Pacific American Caucus (CAPAC), the Congressional Black Caucus (CBC), and the Congressional Hispanic Caucus (CHC)—has led to the introduction of the Health Equity and Accountability Act (HEAA).

Since its initial introduction, HEAA has resulted in key legislative proposals that have been passed into law—such as the Affordable Health Care Act (ACA), the creation of the Office of Minority Health, the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP), and the Health Information Technology for Economic and Clinical Health Act.

I urge this body to swiftly pass this legislation.

HONORING NEAL SMITH AS IOWAN OF THE WEEK

HON. CYNTHIA AXNE

OF IOWA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, April 28, 2020

Mrs. AXNE. Madam Speaker, I rise today to ask the House of Representatives to join me in recognizing Neal Edward Smith of Des Moines, Iowa—in recognition of his 100th birthday—as our Iowan of the Week.

Neal served our state as 'the gentleman from Iowa' in the United States House of Representatives from 1959 to 1995—the longest that any Iowan has ever served in the House. As the current representative of Iowa's 3rd Congressional District, which spans much of the same area Mr. Smith represented here in Washington, I was glad to have the example he set to look to when taking office last year.

As a fifth-generation Iowan, I've grown up with Mr. Smith's legacy across our state. Whether it's families using the Neal Smith Trail, employees working in the Neal Smith Federal Building, folks visiting the Neal Smith Wildlife Refuge, or even students studying to be a part of next generation of leaders at the Neal Smith Law Center at Drake University—all of us feel the presence of this Iowa legend and newly minted centenarian.

Mr. Smith honored our country by serving in the United States Army Air Forces during World War II as a bomber pilot. After his plane was shot down, Mr. Smith received a Purple Heart, Air Medal, four oak leaf clusters and nine battle stars for his bravery and heroism.

After exiting military service, Neal graduated both college and law school before entering public service, serving as the assistant county attorney for Polk County. In 1958, he was first elected to the U.S. House of Representatives, and he was reelected 17 more times after that.

It is an honor to commemorate Neal's commitment to public service for his 100th birthday, and applaud this 'gentleman from Iowa' for his hundred years of hard work and dedication to making Iowa better for everyone. Happy birthday, Neal.

HONORING STEVEN M. DUBINETT, M.D. 2019 WILLIAM S. MIDDLETON AWARD WINNER

HON. TED LIEU

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, April 28, 2020

Mr. LIEU of California. Madam Speaker, on behalf of the United States House of Representatives, I would like to extend my heartfelt congratulations to Dr. Steven M. Dubinett—a pulmonologist, professor, and researcher at the VA Greater Los Angeles Healthcare System—in recognition of his life-saving contributions to the field of oncology and lung cancer research.

The William S. Middleton award is the VA Biomedical Laboratory Research and Development Service's (BLR&D) highest honor. Named for the VA's chief medical director between 1955 and 1963, it is reserved for individuals who have made exceptional contributions to biomedical and bio-behavioral research that is relevant to the lives of veterans.

As many people know, the VA Greater Los Angeles Healthcare System (VAGLAHS) is a beacon in the community and indeed the country for high caliber researchers who dedicate their careers to improving the quality of life of those who have served. Dr. Dubinett is an exemplary representative for both VAGLAHS and his profession.

In addition to his admirable dedication to service, his work proves the valuable connection between basic research and real-world treatment applications. His research has directly led to a new treatment regimen and immunotherapy trials for lung cancer patients.

As a veteran, I have worked hard to ensure that our nation's service members are given the chance they deserve to succeed. I am always deeply moved by the work our partners do at the VA, in the non-profit sector, and at the state and local level to improve outcomes for our nation's veterans. That work—and all the headway we have made—is threatened by every new case of cancer, our progress undermined each time we fail to beat what has claimed the lives of too many veterans at home. Simply put, Dr. Dubinett is one of our most valuable allies in that fight.

From his work on in situ vaccination strategies and his research for the National Lung Screening Trial, to his membership on philanthropic boards and his mentorship of the next generation of scientists, the American people owe Dr. Dubinett a debt of gratitude. I am honored to count him among my constituents.

HONORING IOWA'S HEALTH CARE WORKERS AS IOWANS OF THE WEEK

HON. CYNTHIA AXNE

OF IOWA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, April 28, 2020

Mrs. AXNE. Madam Speaker, each week, I honor an Iowan who has done something outstanding that deserves to be recognized. I started my 'Iowan Of The Week' because I want to honor our unsung heroes, our everyday Iowans who leave a positive impact on their community not for reward, but because that is who they are. I've found parents, teachers, and farmers to celebrate each week.

This week, I ask the House of Representatives to join me in honoring Iowans a little differently. I ask you to join me in honoring all our health care workers. Our doctors, our nurses, our PAs, our RNs, our medical residents, our hospital administration staff and so many more have gone into work each day, working tirelessly as this outbreak of COVID-19 has spread across this country. They are working extra shifts and additional hours, leaving their families at home. They know they must work to contain this outbreak while taking extra precautions to keep themselves and their families safe.

As schools, small businesses, restaurants, and more close down to minimize the spread, our health care workers know that they will never be shut down. They are our first and last lines of defense against this outbreak, and I know they will see us through it. I've spoken with many in the health care field this week, and I've heard how they are being asked to cover longer shifts, to conserve medical supplies, and to care for and comfort patients. At a time when many Americans are working from home and engaging in social distancing,
