The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Massachusetts is recognized for 1 hour.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, for the purpose of debate only, I yield the customary 30 minutes to the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. COLE), pending which I yield myself such time as I may consume. During consideration of this resolution, all time yielded is for the purpose of debate only.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members be given 5 legislative days to revise and extend their remarks.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Massachusetts?

There was no objection.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, on Thursday, yesterday, the Rules Committee met and reported a rule, House Resolution 967, providing for consideration of H. Res. 965, authorizing remote voting by proxy in the House of Representatives and providing for official remote committee proceedings during a public health emergency due to a novel coronavirus resolution; and H.R. 6800, the HEROES Act.

Madam Speaker, the Rules Committee met for over 9 hours. While there are strong disagreements between Democrats and Republicans on these matters, I want to say that the proceedings were civil, and I appreciate that very much.

I want to thank the ranking member, Mr. COLE, for the tone that he set, not only yesterday, but in all of our hearings on issues where we have common ground and on issues where we disagree.

The rule provides for consideration of H. Res. 965 under a closed rule. It provides 1 hour of debate equally divided and controlled by the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on Rules and provides that upon adoption of the rule it shall be in order without intervention of any point of order to consider the resolution.

The rule further provides for consideration of H.R. 6800 under a closed rule, self-executes a manager's amendment from Chairwoman LOWEY, provides 2 hours of debate equally divided and controlled by the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on Appropriations, and one motion to recommit with or without instructions. The rule also provides that upon adoption of the rule, it shall be in order to consider the bill in the House without intervention of any question of consideration.

Finally, the rule provides suspension authority through July 19, 2020, and same-day authority and recess instructions both through July 21, 2020.

Madam Speaker, let me begin with a snapshot of what we are seeing in America today: a novel coronavirus that has infected more than 1.4 million people in this country and has taken the lives of close to 90,000 Americans already; more than 20 million jobs lost in the last month; communities asked to stay home; businesses closed; an unemployment rate that stands at 14 percent and growing; lines for food banks that stretch for miles; and first responders working to the bone to save lives.

People are struggling, Madam Speaker. We haven't seen numbers like this since the Great Depression. This situation demands a whole-of-government response that matches the challenges that we face.

I am proud that this Congress has come together on multiple bills that provide trillions of dollars in emergency aid. We knew then that although those bills were a large investment, they were just the first step in our response.

This rule will allow for consideration of the HEROES Act, a comprehensive response to further help the American people. This bill is named after the teachers, healthcare workers, and first responders who keep us all safe. It puts these heroes front and center by providing more than $1 trillion for States and localities to give them the pay that they have earned.

The bill also establishes a Heroes Fund totaling $200 billion so that the essential workers who have risked their lives during this pandemic get the hazard pay that they deserve.

There is another $75 billion for coronavirus testing, treatment, and tracing.

There is support here for workers, renters, homeowners, and small businesses.

This legislation also protects our democracy by providing resources to ensure safe Federal elections, an accurate Census count, and a Postal Service that can continue its vital work.

I am especially proud to see provisions here to fight the growing hunger crisis in America. That includes many of the ideas behind the bipartisan, bicameral FEED Act, and a separate 15 percent increase in the maximum benefit under SNAP, our Nation's premier antihunger program. More than 40 million people relied on this program even before this pandemic hit. So when people say they want to get back to normal, I want to get back to better than normal because having 40 million people in this country hungry even before this pandemic is unconscionable. We need to do better.

Today, we see lines for food banks across the country that go for miles and miles. Parking lots are so full at some of these places that they look like some kind of gathering for a major sporting event. Instead, it is people just trying to secure their next meal. This is happening in the richest country on the face of the Earth, a country whose President, by the way, was trying to weaken SNAP and slash its benefits before COVID-19 hit. If he succeeded, that would have thrown millions and millions of poor people off the program.

People are suffering, Madam Speaker. But just this week, Senate Majority Leader MITCH MCCONNELL called this bill a messaging exercise. I don't give a damn about sending a message, Madam Speaker. I want to send help to those in desperate need.

As we act on this bill today, we are also moving forward as part of this rule with temporary changes to ensure that Congress can continue legislating throughout the COVID-19 pandemic. That includes enabling virtual committee proceedings and remote voting on the House floor during this emergency.

I don't suggest these changes lightly. I still believe that we do our best work in person and side by side. But we must temporarily embrace technology during this unprecedented time, the same way local governments and countries around the world have, so we can continue legislating as safely as possible.

Madam Speaker, the status quo has become dangerous and unacceptable. We must act. Let's meet this moment. Let's honor our heroes, and let's make sure that we can act throughout this pandemic.

Madam Speaker, I encourage all my colleagues to support this rule and the underlying measure, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. COLE. Madam Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MCGOVERN), my good friend, for yielding me the customary 30 minutes, and I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, we are here today to consider a rule that provides for consideration of two items.

Today's rule establishes a process for consideration of H.R. 6800, what the majority is calling the HEROES Act, but what is better described as an 1800-page, $3 trillion Democratic list of policy priorities.

The rule proposes the most consequential change in the rules of the House of Representatives during my time in Congress. The change to the House rules covers two key areas:

First, it would impose, for the first time in our history as an institution, a system of proxy voting on the floor of the House of Representatives. That change also allows for the adoption of totally remote voting upon the certification of a single Member of Congress, Chairman LOFGREN, of a technology for that use.

Second, it would also allow committees to operate remotely and approve legislation remotely.

Madam Speaker, I said quite a bit about these rules changes at our committee meeting yesterday, and I continue to stand by those comments. I believe these changes will fundamentally alter the nature of the institution, and not for the better. We must never forget that the House is part of a Congress—literally, a physical meeting between delegates.

When we move to acting remotely, we lose that fundamental aspect of our character. We lose the opportunity to meet together, discuss ideas, discuss legislation, and move forward together on bills that shape our Nation. And we do so in a way that does not, in my view, pass constitutional muster.

Madam Speaker, I urge my colleagues to reject these rules changes today and return to the drawing board so that we can act together in a bipartisan manner to ensure that Congress can continue to operate during this crisis.

Not to be outdone with attempting to change the fundamental nature of the House of Representatives, in today's rule, the majority is proposing an enormous bill that will fundamentally change the nature of our country.

H.R. 6800, which we saw for the first time on Tuesday afternoon, is 1800 pages long. While we do not yet have a CBO score, the majority is purporting that the bill includes spending in excess of $3 trillion. And to make matters worse, the bill was assembled with only Democratic input. It is not a stretch to say that this bill is nothing more than Democratic policy agenda masquerading as a response to the coronavirus crisis.

Madam Speaker, it goes without saying that this bill is going nowhere, and it is going nowhere fast. The Senate will not consider this bill. The President will not sign it into law.

Why are we wasting what precious little time that the Speaker is allowing us to be assembled here at the Capitol on partisan policy priorities of one party instead of working together in a bipartisan manner is beyond my understanding.

What is even more surprising is how quickly the majority wants to move on a bill of this magnitude. Just 6 weeks ago, Congress passed, and the President signed into law, the CARES Act, a bill that provided over $2.3 billion for coronavirus relief efforts. And just 2 weeks ago, we passed another bipartisan bill that provided an additional $500 billion in relief. Some of the money from these two bills hasn't even been spent yet. But now, Democrats are falling all over themselves to spend another $3 trillion on their own priorities. It is simply astonishing.

Let me be clear of one thing, Madam Speaker: Republicans in the House, in the Senate, and in the White House stand ready to work with Democrats to pass another bipartisan coronavirus relief bill at the appropriate time and after the normal give-and-take of serious negotiation. That bill, when it comes, will be very different in scope and detail from what we are considering here today.

Consider just a few of the provisions in H.R. 6800:

- $3 trillion in spending;
- Nearly $10,000 for every American;
- A controversial bailout of multiemployer pension plans;
- Forgiving $10,000 of student loan debt per person;

- Federalizing the national election system;

- Changing credit scoring models and banning debt collection;

- Requiring nationwide vote by mail and same-day registration.

I could go on and on and on, but I think everyone gets the picture. So much of what is in this bill simply has nothing at all to do with the current crisis. It is more like a liberal Christmas card wish list.

Madam Speaker, it would make more sense, in my view, to just send it straight to Santa Clause than to send it to the United States Senate. It would have a better chance of becoming law that way.

Madam Speaker, this doesn't make sense. If the majority actually wants to help Americans, there are plenty of bipartisan ways to do so. We could be focusing our efforts on legislation to combat the pandemic, to get people back to work, and to restore the economy, but instead we have been handed 1800 pages and over $3 trillion in Democratic priorities that they would be pursuing regardless of the pandemic. We can do better than that; and, frankly, Madam Speaker, recently, we have done better than that.

I remind my friends that we actually considered and passed, on a bipartisan basis, four relief bills with almost no partisan dissent. Those bills were negotiated before they ever arrived on the floor of this body. We should return to that method and that system. It yielded real results for the American people. What we have got today will not.

Madam Speaker, I urge opposition to the rule, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, H. Res. 965 was mentioned, and some questions were raised about constitutional issues.

Madam Speaker, we have consulted with several constitutional scholars: Erwin Chemerinsky, the renowned constitutional expert and dean of the Berkeley School of Law; Deborah Pearlstein, constitutional law professor from Cardozo School of Law and former clerk to Supreme Court Justice John Paul Stevens; Sai Prakash, a constitutional law professor from the University of Virginia and former clerk to the late Supreme Court Justice Antonin Scalia—all of whom have found that the House has the constitutional authority to institute remote voting by proxy.

Madam Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the distinguished gentlewoman from California (Ms. MATSUI), and also a member of the Rules Committee.

Ms. MATSUI. Madam Speaker, I rise today in support of the rule.

The public health challenge this country faces is unprecedented in modern American life, and we have an obligation to respond in kind.

The administration's response to this pandemic and the implementation of bipartisan legislation providing trillions of dollars in support require meaningful oversight. As our public health experts continue to recommend social distancing, this rule will allow the House to execute its constitutional obligations in a way that respects their advice and limits the spread of COVID-19.

I also am here to support the HEROES Act. The additional funding included in this bill is needed immediately.

The HEROES Act builds upon the progress of our previous bills by providing nearly $1 trillion for State and local governments to pay healthcare workers, police, fire, teachers, transit workers, and other essential personnel.

It also increases flexibility in the PPP to help small businesses use money in a way that makes sense for them. I have heard from restaurants and small businesses across Sacramento that these changes are needed, and I am glad that this bill responds directly to their concerns.

And to contain the virus, the HEROES Act provides additional resources for testing, tracing, and isolation, and ensures every American has access to free coronavirus treatment, covers the cost of COBRA premiums for 9 months, and opens up special enrollment periods for ACA exchanges and Medicare.

As we come to fully appreciate the scale and severity of this pandemic, it is clear that additional support is necessary to prevent more deaths and job losses.

Madam Speaker, I look forward to supporting this bill and I urge my colleagues to do the same.

Mr. COLE. Madam Speaker, I include in the RECORD two articles from distinguished constitutional scholars at the Congressional Institute that do raise questions about the constitutionality of the proposed rules changes.

[From congressionalinstitute.org, May 13, 2020]

THE QUORUM, THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION, AND THE CORONAVIRUS: SOME QUESTIONS

The coronavirus pandemic has led some to call on Congress to continue its operations while Members are dispersed throughout the country. H. Res. 965 authorizes the Speaker to allow Members to vote by proxy when the Sergeant-at-Arms notifies her that there is a public health emergency due to the coronavirus. Conceivably, this means that a only minority of the Members will be present in the Chamber when conducting business. On the face of it, that would violate Article I, Section 5, of the Constitution, which requires a majority of Members to do business. To get insulate the votes against constitutional challenges, H. Res. 965 stipulates that proxy votes would count towards a quorum. This, however, would still seem to violate the intent of the Framers of the U.S. Constitution.

WHAT DOES THE CONSTITUTION SAY ABOUT QUORUMS IN CONGRESS?

Article I, Section 5, of the U.S. Constitution sets forth a requirement that a majority of the Members of either House of Congress must be present for it to conduct business:

Each House shall be the Judge of the Elections, Returns and Qualifications of its own Members, and a Majority of each shall constitute a Quorum to do Business; but a smaller Number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the Attendance of absent Members, in such Manner, and under such Penalties as each House may provide.

WHAT DID THE DELEGATES TO THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION SAY ABOUT THE QUORUM?

The current form of the quorum clause was the subject of debate at the Constitutional Convention of 1787.

The Committee of Detail was a group of delegates entrusted with devising a draft constitution that reflected the delegates' agreements. On August 6, 1787, it reported a draft that said "a majority of members" would "constitute a quorum to do business," though "a smaller number may adjourn from day to day." Unlike the Constitution that was ratified, the Committee of Detail did not include a provision allowing for the "smaller Number" to "compel the Attendance of absent Members" or penalize those who were missing.

On August 10, the delegates debated the Committee of Detail's quorum requirement. Two important concerns emerged. If the quorum were too high, it could prevent the majority from being able to transact business. If it were too low—or could be manipulated to be lowered—it would allow a small group of people to impose their will upon others.

According to James Madison's Notes of Debates in the Federal Convention of 1787, some delegates advocated granting the Legislature complete or partial discretion in setting a quorum:

John Francis Mercer of Maryland proposed following the example of Great Britain, where Parliament could determine its own quorum. There, he said, "the requisite number is small & no inconveniency has been experienced."

Gouverneur Morris of New York proposed setting the quorum at 33 Representatives and 14 Senators. This would initially be a majority for each Chamber, though it would be less than a majority as Members were added. Congress, he thought, should have a relatively low quorum since it would prevent a small group of people from withholding a quorum, which would be a particular risk when "a particular part of the Continent may be in need of immediate aid."

Rufus King of Massachusetts proposed initially setting the quorum at 33 Representatives and 14 Senators, but allowing Congress to increase the numbers as it saw fit. As the number of Members increased, a majority quorum would be "cumbersome."

Other delegates feared that a low quorum would allow small groups to make laws for the rest of the country:

Elbridge Gerry, also of Massachusetts, proposed that for the House the quorum should be no less than 33 and no more than 50, with the Legislature free to select a number within these bounds. A quorum of 33 in the House, Gerry said, would allow as few as two states to make laws for the rest.

George Mason of Virginia said the majority quorum provision was a "valuable & necessary part of the plan." In fact, he was concerned that a mere majority would allow people to object to the plan as a whole. He reasoned that with a lower quorum, states closer to the seat of government could make laws favorable to themselves in the absence of more distant states. "If the Legislature should be able to reduce the number at all, it might reduce it as low as it pleased & the U.

States might be governed by a Juncto," he said.

The delegates considered and overwhelmingly rejected King's motion that the Constitution set a minimum of 33 Representatives and 14 Senators while the number to be increased by law. Only the Massachusetts and Delaware delegations favored King's plan.

James Madison and Edmund Randolph, both of Virginia, moved to amend the draft by inserting a provision allowing for each House to summon and penalize absent Members. All the state delegations except for Pennsylvania supported this amendment. In fact, the Pennsylvania delegation was divided on the question. Then the delegations unanimously approved the majority quorum provision, as amended, and it is this version that made its way into the U.S. Constitution.

WOULD PROXY VOTES SATISFY THE CONSTITUTIONAL REQUIREMENT FOR A QUORUM?

It is clear that the delegates considered the possibility of quorums of consisting of a minority of the Members and rejected this option in favor of a majority quorum. That is beyond dispute. What is disputed is whether proxy votes counting towards a quorum would pass constitutional muster. Even though the Constitution allows each House to determine its rules of procedure (Article I, section 5), proxy votes counting towards quorum seem to run contrary to the intent of the delegates at the Constitutional Convention.

Proxy voting was certainly possible in the time of the Constitutional Convention. For instance, absentee or proxy voting was not unknown in the colonies. Yet, apparently, the suggestion was not raised at the Convention. One should be careful not to infer too much from silence, but one possibility is that the delegates did not consider that the Congress would ever "meet" by proxy. In fact, proxy voting would have settled some of the problems delegates on both sides of the issues raised. If proxy voting were permissible, then the distant states could have more easily defended themselves by stationing a member at the capital, armed with proxies of their absent colleagues. By the same token, those who feared that a small number could obstruct business by collecting proxy votes from others who shared their concerns. No one, apparently, raised proxy voting as a solution for issues with the quorum; rather, both sides seemingly operated under the assumption that a physical presence was necessary for participation in Congress.

If proxy votes were to count towards a quorum, the Randolph-Madison amendment would be a redundancy. Since the amendment allows each House to "compel the Attendance of absent Members," it is predicated on the notion that a physical presence is necessary for Congress to conduct its business. If a physical presence were not necessary, it would be unnecessary to "compel the Attendance of absent Members." Nor would there be any reason to penalize them for failing to show. However, the states nearly unanimously voted to include this provision in the Constitution, highlighting the importance of a physical presence at the Constitutional Convention.

The Framers' concern over the dangers of small numbers of Members of Congress transacting business in the absence of the majority of their colleagues is as valid today as it was in 1787. It is true that the coronavirus pandemic presents great difficulties to Congress, and both Chambers have shown that they can still conduct business without violating constitutional safeguards. As much as Congress needs to look to the here-and-now, it also must look to the future. In the long-run, the inperson presence of Members of Congress is absolutely vital to the strength of the Legislature, and no amount of proxy votes may substitute for it.

VOTING PRESENT BY PROXY IS AN UNCONSTITUTIONAL OXYMORON

The Constitution leaves a great deal of leeway to the House and Senate for establishing their own rules of procedure. But one provision is absolutely clear: in both chambers, a quorum is required to do business. And a quorum is defined as a majority of its members.

Article 1, section 5, of the U.S. Constitution states:

a Majority of each shall constitute a Quorum to do Business; but a smaller Number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the Attendance of absent Members, in such Manner, and under such Penalties as each House may provide.

If a physical presence were not necessary, it would be unnecessary to “compel the Attendance of absent Members.” Although proxy voting was possible at the time of the Constitutional Convention, the participants spent long days waiting for their colleagues to arrive to conduct business in person. Being physically present does make for an inefficient system, but that’s what the Founders intended—they did not intend to make it easy to reach consensus and govern. The constitutional provision for the quorum was designed to protect the public.

Quorums are not self-enforcing. So a quorum is assumed unless it questioned by a Member. That is why the House carries on non-controversial business even when it is evident that only a few Members are on the Floor. To conduct business such as voting, however, a quorum can be demanded by any Member through a point of order. Once demanded, the House cannot conduct any business—even a request to withdraw the call to quorum—until a quorum is attained. This protects the minority party. Once a party tries to take action beyond what has been agreed to by consensus, the other side can quickly shut that down by raising an objection to the lack of quorum. If a quorum cannot be achieved, under the Constitution, the only business allowed is a motion to adjourn.

This raises a question of whether the House can change its rules of procedures to allow proxy votes to count towards a quorum. Besides the oxymoronic notion that a member could vote “present by proxy,” the House’s precedents argue against it.

Proxy voting has never been allowed or even considered on the House Floor. But proxy voting has, from time to time, been allowed in Committees. Even though it has been banned since 1995, the House has established precedents for how proxy voting was treated in prior Congresses.

While Members who were absent could give their proxy to another Member on the Committee, allowing their votes to be counted, Deschler’s Precedents shows that the “no measure is to be reported from any committee unless a majority of the committee was actually present when the measure was ordered reported.” This echoes Cannon’s Precedents, a previous compilation of the precedents, which states:

Recognition of voting proxies by standing committees is a matter to be respectively determined by each committee for itself, but proxies may not be counted to make a quorum.

In other words, when allowed, Committees could count proxy votes, but they first had to have a majority of actual people attending or none of the votes would count.

It might be possible for the House to change the rules to allow proxy voting, but only after attaining a physical quorum. The one thing it cannot do under the Constitution and under the House’s own precedents is to allow those proxies to count toward a physical quorum. So it might be possible that, consistent with the Constitution, some proxy voting might be allowed if there is a physical majority present for a vote.

House Rules Committee Chairman McGovern has stated his view that Members who vote by proxy must give specific instructions on how their votes would be recorded, and those instructions should be printed in the Congressional Record. If done this way, where most Members were present, and only a few were unable to make it to Washington, it would be similar to a traditional courtesy of “pairing votes.” In the not-so-distant past, “vote pairing” would occur when a Member who was voting opposite of the absent Member withheld their vote and announced a pair with the absent member, thus offsetting each other’s vote. In today’s highly polarized Congress, such courtesies are rare, which might indicate the need for an updated system.

The one thing that Congress cannot allow is the idea of conducting controversial business with only a small number of Members present. It is understandable why the House Democratic leadership wants to put this rule in place since we are in the midst of a pandemic. At the same time, political leaders cannot simply ignore constitutional requirements or proper parliamentary forms to resolve the issues. Congress is, by definition, the gathering of people together to solve issues. This cannot—and should not—be done remotely.

Observers of Congress agree that one of the primary causes of divisive partisan polarization is that Members no longer form relationships and friendships. Back when Members met five days a week instead of three, they moved their families to Washington DC. Their kids went to school together, and their spouses formed friendships with other spouses. It’s human nature to be much more civil to someone whose spouse is friends with yours or whose kid is on your kid’s soccer team.

Most importantly, legislators need to legislate. There is a give and take created by amendments and debates that require direct human interaction. Too little of that goes on now—how much worse will it be if members are just “emailing it in?” Today, leaders from the House and Senate negotiate with the President, and the other 533 legislators vote on their agreement. That’s not legislating.

Proxy voting might be more efficient than waiting for everyone to physically get to Washington DC. But efficiency was not a goal of the founding fathers. They wanted the people’s representatives to get together and work out compromise and consensus. Isolated Members voting from remote locations will further harm civility and undermine Congress’ already weakening place in the Constitution’s balance of power.

Mr. COLE. Madam Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Texas (Mr. BURGESS), my good friend, a member of both the Rules Committee and the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

Mr. BURGESS. Madam Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me the time.

Madam Speaker, today’s rule contains a resolution that will really fundamentally change the proceedings of this House of Representatives. Once that passes—and it will, because this House is ruled by the majority—we will then take up a $3 trillion assistance bill.

It is not the first time this week that the majority Democrats have trampled on the rights of the Republican minority. Allowing multiple Members to vote by proxy does not seem like representative government. I, for one, will not give away the vote of the people of the 26th District to someone they did not elect. Governing is difficult, but we sought the jobs and we need to get back to work.

Far too many American lives have been lost to the pandemic. This novel coronavirus continues to wreak havoc on our healthcare, as well as our economy. There are plenty of things we could have done in the House on the Committee on Energy and Commerce during the last several months which were undone.

We passed a bill called the Pandemic All-Hazards Preparedness Act. This was a good bill, and it was signed into law in June of 2019, 6 months before the pandemic started.

We could have had a realtime oversight of this bill that we had just passed in the month of February ask the questions: Is it doing what we thought? Are we achieving what we attempted to achieve with that bill?

Here is a realtime test, a stress test, but we chose not to do it. We had hearings on flavored tobacco and horse racing instead.

In an effort to show what we should be working on, I wrote a series of hearing request letters this week to the Committee on Energy and Commerce Health Subcommittee chair, including work on the Strategic National Stockpile, mental health, racial disparities, provider relief, and testing. We should be working through authorizing committees to improve our Nation’s public health response to this pandemic.

State testing capacity has gotten substantially better, but we must reflect on what went wrong so we make sure that it does not happen again in the future.

I, frankly, do not understand what happened at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention in the month of February of this year. We have never really asked the question at the committee level. We should have.

If we don’t understand what went wrong, how do we prevent it from happening again if the virus makes a resurgence, if some other virus makes an appearance?

Congress, recognizing the importance of widespread diagnostic testing, did take action to encourage the development of testing strategies, and billions of dollars have been directed towards testing in our four previous response bills. But now we are poised to push $3 trillion of taxpayer money out the door, and we should evaluate, we should have the evaluation of what is the current state of our response and our recovery, including our testing strategy.

Madam Speaker, we have to get this right for the American people.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, let me just say, it is absolutely ridiculous for anybody to suggest that, under the process that we are advocating, somehow you are “giving away” your vote. There is no discretion at all involved in the process that we are putting forward. My colleague sat through hours of hearings yesterday. I would maybe suggest that he reread the bill.

Madam Speaker, I also include in the RECORD a letter from law professor Debra Pearlstein in response to Mr. Mark Strand’s article, which my ranking member just submitted for the RECORD.

CARDOZO LAW,
May 15, 2020.

DEAR CHAIRMAN MCGOVERN: I read with interest an article by Msrs. Mark Strand and Tim Lang introduced into the record during yesterday’s hearing of the House Rules Committee on H. Res. 965—Authorizing remote voting by proxy in the House of Representatives. Having written elsewhere in detail about my conviction that the rules change under consideration readily passes constitutional muster, I am grateful for the opportunity to explain why the Strand and Lang position fails to persuade.

Msrs. Strand and Lang offer no objection to the proxy voting process as such, but rather argue that the Constitution would permit votes by designated proxy only if a quorum of Members is already physically present in the House chamber as provided for under existing House rules. Their objection is to the rule change proposed as part of H. Res. 965 that would allow Members voting by proxy to count toward the establishment of a quorum “to do business” required by Article I, Section 5 of the Constitution. The authors cite no case law to support their view that the Constitution’s Quorum Clause requires Members’ physical presence, relying instead on two lines of argument: (1) the bare text of the Quorum Clause, and (2) the interpretive claim that, because other provisions of the Constitution refer to Members’ “presence” or “absence,” it must be that the Quorum Clause itself must be read to mandate physical presence. Neither argument is persuasive.

In defining the scope of the quorum requirement, the Quorum Clause itself says solely: “a Majority of each shall constitute a Quorum to do Business.” The Clause does not provide any method or test for determining the existence of a majority. Neither does it define what measure each House must use to establish the existence of a majority. The Clause itself thus provides no basis for determining whether the “majority” must be, for example, “a majority of Members present,” or “a majority of Members elected,” or “a majority of Members able to vote,” or some other metric altogether.

The authors must instead rely heavily on their interpretive claim that, because other provisions of the Constitution refer to Members’ “presence” or “absence,” the Quorum Clause itself must be read to include an implied requirement of physical presence, as if the Clause had been written to mandate “a Majority of members present shall constitute a Quorum.” That is, of course, not what the Constitution says. On the contrary, the absence of the word “presence” in the Quorum Clause cuts as much against the authors’ argument as in its favor. The framers of the Constitution knew exactly how to require “presence” when they wanted to; they do so, for example, just a few lines earlier in the text, in Article I, Section 3, providing: “The Senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments . . . [N]o person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two thirds of the members present.” The failure to include such a requirement in the Quorum Clause, or indeed to modify or define the Quorum Clause majority requirement in any way, suggests the framers did not intend to include presence as such as part of the quorum determination.

Particularly when coupled with the Clause immediately following the Quorum Clause—according each House broad discretion to “determine the rules of its proceedings”—it makes no sense to imagine the framers meant here to tie the hands of future congresses from using what reasonable, verifiable means might be available to adjust its procedures to accommodate a crisis. On the contrary, as both judicial opinion and the historical record referenced in my earlier letter make clear, the House’s discretion to adopt rules reasonably adapted to suit changing circumstances is precisely as broad as the Constitution’s text suggests.

As ever, I thank you for your efforts, and for the opportunity to share my views.

Sincerely,

DEBORAH N. PEARLSTEIN,
Professor of Law.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, I will go into this later in much more detail when we take up the resolution, but I would urge my colleagues to read the response.

Madam Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Florida (Ms. SHALALA).

Ms. SHALALA. Madam Speaker, I rise today in support of the rule and the underlying bills.

Madam Speaker, my office in Miami is not getting calls; we are getting cries for help. My neighbors are scared of both a virus that could kill them or their loved ones and worried about how they will make their next rent or mortgage payment or buy groceries or when their children will go back to school.

Today we vote on two bills. The first will allow Members of Congress to do our jobs, as described by our chair, Mr. MCGOVERN. The second will provide desperately needed relief.

We have already passed four pieces of legislation to respond to the pandemic which has killed more than 83,000 Americans. My friends and neighbors in south Florida are suffering. The HEROES Act gives money to my State, cities, and county that are shouldering both the economic and health burdens of COVID-19.

Unless we do this, my county and cities and school board will not be able to pay teachers or firefighters or police officers or transit workers or even hire contact tracers to help get this virus under control. This bill provides that and includes more money for SNAP and additional economic impact payments of up to $6,000 per family.

The HEROES Act also provides needed funds for the Postal Service. The Postal Service was founded in 1792. It is more critical than ever in helping people safely access medications and food and cleaning supplies and vote-by-mail ballots and more.

While the Senate may be here in D.C. whistling past the graveyard as they confirm judicial nominees, we are working to get the American people the help they desperately need. I urge all of my colleagues to support these bills.

Mr. COLE. Madam Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentlewoman from Arizona (Mrs. LESKO), my good friend and member of both the Rules Committee and the Judiciary Committee.

Mrs. LESKO. Madam Speaker, both bills under this rule are absolutely terrible and should be rejected.

First of all, you have the proxy voting and remote voting. This has never been done in the history of the United States—not during the Civil War, not during previous pandemics, and we shouldn’t do it now. When you have nurses going to work, when you have grocery store workers going to work, when you have everybody else going back to work, we are setting a terrible example by saying: “You don’t have to show up to work. Just give your voting card over to somebody else.” It is terrible.

And then when I offered an amendment in the Rules Committee yesterday saying, “Okay, if you don’t show up to work, you don’t get the travel allowance in your MRA,” that was rejected by every single Democrat Member on the Rules Committee.

And then Speaker PELOSI’s bill, I call it the Keep People Unemployed Act, because that is what it is. It will incentivize people to stay unemployed. It extends the $600-per-week unemployment payment through January 31 of next year. It mandates all businesses continue the Family Medical Paid Leave Act for another year, and it says that when you apply for SNAP, food stamps, that the $600 per week that you are getting doesn’t count towards income. So now you are going to have people that are sitting at home getting paid more than they did when they worked and getting food stamps.

I already have businesses in my district that say we need to hire back these people because Arizona is back open. They can’t hire the people because the people are getting paid more to sit at home.

In addition, it gives $1,200 to people that are here illegally. Why are we not prioritizing U.S. citizens? It lets criminals who are convicted of murder and rape, just because they are 50 years old or older, out of prison. And it federalizes elections, mandating that there is same-day voter registration and that everyone is mailed a ballot.

This is a ridiculous bill in this combined rule, and I ask my Members to vote “no.”

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, there is a lot that I could say, but let me just say this: In the time of this incredible tragic health pandemic and economic crisis, I don’t think now is the time to kick poor people, to beat up on people who are hungry in this country.

We ought to step forward, as the United States of America, the richest country in the history of the world, and make sure that nobody in our country goes hungry. It is shameful the way my colleagues on the other side of the aisle demagogue this issue. It is shameful.

Madam Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from California (Mr. CORREA).

Mr. CORREA. Madam Speaker, I rise in support of the underlying rule and the HEROES Act to provide stimulus checks to all taxpayers.

In April, I introduced H.R. 6438, the Leave No Taxpayer Behind Act, so that hardworking, taxpaying immigrants, immigrants who work in our fields to feed us on an everyday basis, also receive stimulus checks.

Thank you for including this measure in the HEROES Act, and I urge passage of the HEROES Act.

Mr. COLE. Madam Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. RODNEY DAVIS), my good friend and the distinguished ranking member of the House Administration Committee.

Mr. RODNEY DAVIS of Illinois. Madam Speaker, I rise today to speak in opposition to the underlying legislation, H. Res. 965.

The process that led to this debate is unacceptable. After a previous failed attempt to bring a similar rules-change package to the floor last month, I was hopeful that the work of the bipartisan task force to reopen the House would result in a genuine willingness toward bipartisan solutions. I was optimistic that our Democratic majority would partner with us to help this body adapt to the coronavirus pandemic.

We Republicans on that task force offered a realistic framework to make responsible, measured, and thorough reforms to get the whole House working again. That plan was dismissed out of hand by the Democratic majority, with no alternative.

It was not until Wednesday morning, just two days ago, with the release of H. Res. 965, that we saw any semblance of a plan, and in no way was it a product of bipartisanship or greater Member input.

The majority's unwillingness to work in a collaborative way was reinforced yesterday at the Rules Committee hearing when not one commonsense amendment offered by the minority was accepted.

Commonsense amendments like: Requiring the technology used by the House to be certified by the CAO; rejected.

Requiring technical support during virtual committee activity; rejected.

Allowing the entire House of Representatives to weigh in on the type of remote voting this body follows; rejected.

Not only is this resolution completely partisan, it is being rushed to the floor while there is still an unacceptable amount of unanswered questions, both on the specifics of the processes authorized in the rules changes and the technology to support it.

I know that this morning, at 6 a.m., we were provided a copy of the regulations that the Rules Committee plans on issuing. Is that the same type of consultation that we can expect for the remote hearing changes that are left to one Member of the majority to decide?

The House is on the receiving end of 1.6 billion unauthorized scans on our network per month. After broadcasting to the world that Members are going to now be able to cast their vote or operate in this institution remotely, I don't know about you, Madam Speaker, but I expect those to increase.

What further reduces my confidence in these sweeping changes that will not have their stated effect is the feedback from virtual committee roundtables that have already been attempted by every committee. There have been instances of the majority staff kicking participants off video conferences because they had not RSVP'd.

Madam Speaker, I include in the RECORD a list of the concerns that our ranking members have provided me on the House Administration Committee.

[From Committee on House Administration Ranking Member Rodney Davis]

REPUBLICAN RANKING MEMBERS EXPRESS SIGNIFICANT CONCERNS WITH DEMOCRATS PROPOSAL TO ALLOW FOR VIRTUAL COMMITTEE PROCEEDINGS

VIRTUAL COMMITTEE PROCEEDINGS INHIBIT THE ABILITY OF MEMBERS TO FULLY PARTICIPATE

Remote platforms give the majority, typically in the hands of a junior technical staffer not even co-located with the Chairman, the ability to control who can speak or even be heard by other participants.

Other potential inhibitors could include a member's lack of familiarity with the platform, lack of training, inadequate resources (i.e., hardware, software, reception and connectivity especially in rural areas), and user errors like inadvertently pressing the mute button.

Virtual proceedings create an inability of Members to be able to effectively interact and have conversations in person with each other and with staff. Members won't have the same opportunity to interact with each other in real-time that they do with in person hearings. This puts the minority at a distinct disadvantage because the majority controls the content and the schedule. Minority strategy is always a last-minute engagement and often is still forming as the hearing begins.

Remote proceedings depend on the reliability various technology elements. If any one fails, members can't fully participate.

Pre and post hearing engagement with witnesses, other members, staff, and press will be lost. A lot of work is done immediately before or after hearings in terms of connecting with people. All of that time, connection, relationship building will be gone.

Every Ranking Member who responded to a recent survey expressed some level of concern over their members ability to fully participate.

VIRTUAL COMMITTEE PROCEEDINGS RAISE MANY PARLIAMENTARY ISSUES

Many rules aren't self-executing, and members may have limited time to raise objections. Once the time has passed, the opportunity is lost.

For example, a point of order regarding the germaneness of an amendment must be made when the amendment is offered. After reading the amendment is dispensed with, the opportunity to object is lost.

The Majority already has demonstrated a great capacity to ignore points of order, parliamentary inquiries, and privileged motions. Since they will be controlling the technology, how will Minority members ever get a chance to even raise these procedural points?

It is unclear if current technologies have the capability to have a clearly visible timer which will create challenges enforcing time limits in a clear and transparent way.

Issues will arise without parliamentarians and counsels in the room to advise on amendments, motions, objections, and points of order.

VIRTUAL COMMITTEE PROCEEDINGS INCREASE THE RISK OF THE POLITICIZATION OF OFFICIAL COMMITTEE BUSINESS

Traditionally, there is a clear separation between official business and campaign work. This is particularly the case immediately before the general election, when the House generally takes about a month off to go campaign. This creates an important break between official hearings and legislative activity. With remote proceedings, there's less reasons the majority couldn't respond to some less than positive polling results by marking up newly introduced legislation that could make an impact in key districts leading up to an election.

VIRTUAL COMMITTEE PROCEEDINGS JEOPARDIZE THE INTEGRITY OF PROCEEDINGS AND RAISE MAJOR CYBERSECURITY CONCERNS

Requiring Members to be present to vote ensure Members are fully and transparently voting on their own volition. There is no question of technological/cybersecurity problems interfering with Members votes and there is no question as to whether the vote was cast by the Member or by a third party. Remote proceedings do not guarantee the same level of transparency and accountability.

EXPERIENCES OF COMMITTEES WITH UNOFFICIAL VIRTUAL COMMITTEE MEETINGS SO FAR LEND CREDENCE TO THESE CONCERNS.

Over 80 percent of Committees who responded to a survey responded that their committee had held unofficial committee meetings virtually over the past couple of months. Those meetings experienced numerous issues including:

People getting dropped or unable to unmute themselves in a timely manner.

Majority staff kicking people off if their numbers were not RSVP'd. This could be a concern in the future if Members or staff call in from an unrecognizable or un-RSVP'd phone number.

Members personal information almost released publicly due to platforms displaying the phone numbers of people on the call.

A Member who couldn't participate because of inadequate internet connection.

Unauthorized individuals accessing a meeting.

One committee attempted to hold a roundtable and experienced such significant technical glitches that called into question whether the bipartisan roundtable could even occur. It took some participants up to 30 minutes to join the Cisco Webex video chat while others could join with only with audio or never participate at all. Once connected, many participants could not tell who was speaking or even controlling the video or microphone settings. A third-party moderator was unaware until the end of the call that typed questions were being submitted by users throughout the conference for speakers to answer.

For another committee, the technical issues have been so bad that Member participation in recent calls has steadily declined with less than 30 percent of the Committee's members participating in the most recent virtual meeting.

SAFEGUARDS MUST BE ADOPTED TO ENSURE MINORITY RIGHTS AND SECURITY OF ANY OFFICIAL COMMITTEE PROCEEDING HELD VIRTUALLY

There needs to be a backup method of communication, independent of the primary platform, so that members can contact the Chair directly in the event the platform fails.

There must be clear rules and conditions developed in a bi-partisan way on control of audio/visual with respect to rights of minority. An independent IT operator should be mandatory for any remote proceedings. Video feeds should be equally accessible by both parties to ensure that no one can censor or edit official proceedings after the fact.

Members should not be forced to participate in committee activity over a technology platform when they are capable and willing to attend in person. Committees should always allow Members to participate by simply showing up to a hearing room in one of the House Office buildings.

All other House Rules should remain in effect. If committees are unable to guarantee procedural safeguards in the rules, they should not be permitted to use technology to deny Members procedural protections.

Technology should permit staff work. Committee staff engage in a lot of real-time work during hearings and markups. The technology should facilitate some ability for committee staff to continue to assist Members in "real-time."

There needs to be additional information on the security of the platform to be used and assurances that each Member has the connectivity needed to support the meetings.

Mr. RODNEY DAVIS of Illinois. Madam Speaker, Members' personal information on these roundtables has already been viewed publicly; Members being dropped from platforms because of poor connections; Members being unable to participate in web-based events due to poor internet connections in rural areas. And the list goes on.

I mention these examples not to say that all virtual proceedings cannot or should not be authorized, but I share these issues as further proof that the "crawl, walk, run" approach is necessary to make sure that virtual proceedings are done successfully.

In closing, I would like to reiterate what I shared at the Rules Committee hearing yesterday. I want to encourage all of us to take a step back. I want to make sure that we don't have a precedent set that will create a brand-new process.

We are not here simply debating an outdated rule, Madam Speaker. We are here debating what kind of institution we want the people's House to be and the example that we want to set for the American people and the rest of the world.

If we vote to adopt H. Res. 965, we are setting a new precedent that will forever change the processes that are used in the House of Representatives. It opens a Pandora's box, and it provides constitutional risks. And in times of crisis, Americans should trust their leaders. Vote "no" on H. Res. 965.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I am disappointed with the gentleman's statement. He referred to a failed attempt three weeks ago to deal with the issue of remote voting. There was no failed amendment. We pulled the bill to have discussions with Republicans about how we can move forward. That is why we did that.

And then the gentleman refers to all of these amendments that were brought up in the Rules Committee, commonsense amendments. Yeah, amendments on everything, including abortion, immigration, airline travel. But the gentleman knows full well that many of the suggestions that the Republicans offered during our negotiations we took into account and are part of this proposal.

So I don't know what the gentleman is talking about, but I will tell you this: That kind of attitude, that commentary, doesn't bode well for future negotiations.

Madam Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from California (Mr. SHERMAN).

Mr. SHERMAN. Madam Speaker, in all of our bills, virtually all the money goes to bandage the economic wounds. We need a greater focus on beating the disease. Workers need paid sick days so they will stay home if they are sick, even if they work for an employer with under 50 or over 500 employees.

The Defense Production Act needs to be amended so it can provide for the licensing of new technology, and inventors need to be well compensated if they invent something useful to attack the COVID virus.

We have provided money for testing, but only one-quarter of 1 percent of the money we provide in this bill or prior bills has gone for therapeutics, prophylaxes, and vaccines.

The clinical medical researchers of this country are sitting at home, because virtually all non-COVID medical research has been suspended. Let's put them to work. Let's learn more of the basic facts of COVID, and let's test every reasonable combination of generic compounds at every stage of the disease.

Yes, for a while, we can bind our economic wounds, but ultimately, we need to beat the disease.

Mr. COLE. Madam Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. JORDAN), my good friend and ranking member of the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. JORDAN. Madam Speaker, three weeks ago, the Attorney General of the United States said this: "The Constitution is not suspended during a crisis." Amen to that.

And guess who agreed with him, or at least used to agree with him? Last month, April 9, the Speaker of the House said: "There is a constitutional requirement that we vote in person." But, oh, how that has changed.

Today we are, in fact, suspending the Constitution. We are allowing proxies to establish a quorum and do the business of the American people. The Supreme Court has been very clear on this. In the Ballin decision, the Court said Members have to be present by stating: "All that the Constitution requires is the presence of a majority, and when that majority are present the power of the House arises."

You have got to be there. Actually, you have got to be here. You have got to be here to do the business of the people. You can't phone it in. You can't mail it in. This bill would allow one Member to have 10 proxies in their back pocket. Think about that. 22 Members with 10 proxies in their back pocket could do the business of 330 million people in this great country.

We all take an oath to the Constitution. Article I, Section 4 of the Constitution mandates that Congress must "assemble at least once in every year." That is when we start the session.

Article I, Section 5 requires Congress to physically congregate and vote to change where it is going to sit; frankly, what is happening today.

Section 5 also requires a recorded vote on any question at the desire of one-fifth present.

Article I, Section 6 mandates and protects Members from arrest during travel to and from their attendance at a session of their respective House.

You would think if you could mail in your vote, the Constitution wouldn't protect you on traveling to the vote. All of these provisions envision Members physically traveling and being present at the seat of the Federal Government.

As Mrs. LESKO said earlier, farmers are planting crops, truckers are moving goods, grocers are stocking shelves, frontline healthcare workers haven't missed a day. They can't phone it in. They can't mail it in. They can't proxy their work in. They have to be there and do it, and we should do the same.

The example this sends, the precedent this sets, is so darn wrong. And I encourage a "no" vote on H. Res. 965.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from New Hampshire (Mr. PAPPAS).

Mr. PAPPAS. Madam Speaker, I rise in support of the HEROES Act today because our frontline workers, first responders, and community members are rising to the occasion, and so must Congress.

We know we are living through an unprecedented crisis. If we fail to redouble our efforts, the public health threat will grow, more jobs will be permanently lost, additional small businesses will throw in the towel, and cities and towns will go bust.

The conversations I have every day with mayors, hospital officials, small business owners, and essential workers underscore why bold action is immediately needed. I fought for a number of provisions in this bill that are important to my constituents, including aid to local government to sustain essential services; free coronavirus testing, treatment, and vaccines for low-income individuals; expanded tax credits for small businesses to keep workers on the job; and giving our veterans a reprieve from VA debt collection.

No bill is perfect, but with bipartisan cooperation in the coming days, we can deliver meaningful results. We can meet this moment responsibly, ensure our communities are equipped to overcome this virus, and allow our economy to safely get back on its feet.

Mr. COLE. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, if we defeat the previous question, I will offer an amendment to the rule to change to two-thirds the threshold required to pass H. Res. 965, the resolution changing the rules of the House to adopt a proxy voting procedure on the floor and to allow remote proceedings.

Madam Speaker, changing the rule does require a two-thirds vote, and that is what we are doing in this rule.

Madam Speaker, the rules change that H. Res. 965 contemplates has simply never been utilized in the House of Representatives. We are quite literally setting a new precedent that will guide us into the future. Any change of this magnitude should only pass the House with bipartisan consensus, and a two-thirds threshold is appropriate to demonstrate whether or not such a drastic change and new precedent actually meets this test.

Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to insert the text of my amendment in the RECORD, along with the extraneous material, immediately prior to the vote on the previous question.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Oklahoma?

There was no objection.

Mr. COLE. Madam Speaker, I urge a "no" vote on the previous question, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, let me clarify for the Record that it only takes a majority to change the rules. Democrats have changed the rules with a majority. The Republicans have changed the rules with a simple majority, not two-thirds.

Madam Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Florida (Mr. HASTINGS), an effective and distinguished Member of this House and the Rules Committee.

Mr. HASTINGS. Madam Speaker, we convene today to pass a desperately needed relief package that will provide nearly $3 trillion in economic relief to frontline workers and families. I am proud to speak in favor of the rule and in strong support of the underlying legislation, the HEROES Act.

Like many of you, I continue to receive emails, letters, and phone calls from constituents bearing the brunt of this administration's disorganized response to the COVID-19 pandemic.

My constituents write: "I have been denied unemployment even though I have met every criterion. I am about to lose everything. Please help me."

They write: "I am homeless. I was just laid off because the schools are closing. I have my granddaughter with me. I need help."

And they write: "I am literally on my last $100 for food and have already maxed out my credit cards. Please help. Please help. Please help."

Americans are afraid not just of how they are going to make ends meet but whether they are going to make it through this pandemic at all.

Yet, this White House remains utterly disconnected from reality, moving at every opportunity to reject science, sideline medical experts, and pat themselves on the back for a job well done, even as the COVID-19 pandemic tears our communities apart.

This week, President Trump said that "we have prevailed," that "we are going to have one of the best years we have ever had," that we are beginning to "transition to greatness." The President of the United States refers to over 80,000 dead Americans as a "transition to greatness"? I wish I could say that I was shocked, but I am not.

What we continue to witness is a catastrophe. Calling it anything less does a great disservice to the millions of Americans who are affected by this illness.

If there is to be any silver lining in these trying days, at this exact moment, these public servants are working around the clock to protect us.

Madam Speaker, I say to my constituents: We see you.

Mr. COLE. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Just briefly, I want to thank my good friend, the distinguished gentleman from Florida, for being here. We all know he is fighting bravely a very deadly disease, and it says a lot about his personal courage and his commitment to service that he is here today. Madam Speaker, it is good to have him on the floor of the House.

Madam Speaker, I yield such time as she may consume to the gentlewoman from North Carolina (Ms. FOX), the ranking member of the Education and Labor Committee.

Ms. FOX of North Carolina. Madam Speaker, I thank my colleague from Oklahoma for yielding.

Today is a dark day in the history of our country, and for that, I rise in opposition to H. Res. 965, partisan legislation that would upend more than 200 years of precedent and jeopardize the deliberative process of the House of Representatives.

States have started reopening businesses, schools, and local economies. Congress should be following suit. Yet, this is the first time the House has come to semiregular order in over 2 weeks.

Speaker PELOSI and House Democrats are holding the people's House hostage. They would rather erect and prolong a partisan blockade instead of doing the people's business in the open.

Members of Congress should not be on the sidelines. We can and should get back to official business, especially committee work. Hearings and mark-ups are a critical function of the people's House.

Without passing ill-conceived legislation that jeopardizes our democratic institution, the House proved 2 weeks ago, and again today, that we can conduct business while following health guidelines. There is no reason congressional committees can't do the same.

Sadly, the Democrats are using this pandemic to justify gutting the Constitution and our practices, and it is disgraceful.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Colorado (Mr. PERLMUTTER), a distinguished member of the Rules Committee.

Mr. PERLMUTTER. Madam Speaker, it is good to see a Coloradan in the chair. I rise today in support of the rule, the HEROES Act, and H. Res. 965.

Madam Speaker, I want to start by thanking Chairman MCGOVERN for his leadership and his vision through this Congress and especially these last difficult months.

COVID-19 has affected every corner of our country and the world. The impact of the virus and the blow to our economy is massive, and Congress must act with force and speed.

While some of my colleagues may argue that we are spending too much money, these packages are a fraction of the losses we have suffered in this country and around the world. I am proud the HEROES Act includes a provision I introduced with Representative JOE MORELLE to provide $500 billion for States to help them to respond to the crisis and to avoid harmful cuts to law enforcement, firefighters, teachers, healthcare, and others at a time when we can least afford it.

The HEROES Act also includes a $375 billion provision from fellow Coloradan JOE NEGUSE for local, county, and municipal governments so they can maintain critical services.

Another provision that I worked on is the inclusion of the bipartisan SAFE Banking Act to provide legitimate cannabis businesses that are legal under State laws access to the banking system. The bill passed this body last fall with 321 votes, including 91 Republicans. Cannabis businesses across the country have been deemed as essential during this pandemic, and these businesses and their estimated 243,000 employees deserve equity with other legal businesses.

The SAFE Banking Act would also address the increased health risk of spreading COVID-19 on banknotes and coins, as well as the increased public safety risk associated with this cash-only industry. At a critical time, SAFE Banking will help protect jobs and encourage lending in our communities.

Madam Speaker, I urge all of my colleagues to support the HEROES Act, and I also encourage them to vote for

H. Res. 965. We had a spirited debate on this yesterday in the Rules Committee, and the fact is that we cannot let Congress come to a grinding halt, which is what I think some of my Republican colleagues would like to have us do. I believe it is legislative malpractice if we don't allow for remote voting during this pandemic.

Mr. MCGOVERN has acknowledged this is a first step, and I hope we continue discussions and eventually work on a permanent change to the House rules to ensure Congress operates with speed through future emergencies.

Mr. COLE. Madam Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Georgia (Mr. WOODALL), a member of the Rules Committee.

Mr. WOODALL. Madam Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. COLE) for yielding.

These are strange times. I saw my friend ALCEE HASTINGS on the floor. I wanted to sit down beside him and whisper in his ear like we would have done when we gathered last year. I wanted to grab his hand and tell him I have been praying for him. Now, he is gone, back off the House floor and back into social distancing.

No one denies that these are unusual times, even dire times, that require a substantial response. In many ways, what we are doing here today isn't unusual. We have a majority in the U.S. House of Representatives that will, in fact, jam through, on an almost party-line vote, its agenda. That is not unusual.

We have a majority in the House that is going to implement its ideas for rules changes in the House, even without a minority amendment. That is not altogether unusual. But I have listened to colleague after colleague come to the House floor and talk about the unusual times that, I would argue, require an unusual response.

I feel a little empty today in what I usually enjoy as a Rules Committee debate. I know how the Rules Committee goes, Madam Speaker. There are nine members of the majority and four members of the minority. The majority wins every vote, and not by a little, by a lot.

Your job, as a minority member on the Rules Committee, is to lose. You go up there, and you lose every day. That is often the way the House is when we are trying to put together a House position that is going to go into negotiation.

But I have heard the sense of urgency that I know each of my colleagues on both sides of the aisle believes, and our sense of urgency today doesn't allow us time to push a messaging bill across the floor.

Madam Speaker, this is the single largest borrow-and-spend bill the country has ever seen, and it included not one Republican amendment—not one. The single largest rules change the House of Representatives has seen in any of our lifetimes, and the underlying rules change includes not one Republican amendment—not one.

I listened to my chairman, for whom I have great respect. Candidly, with the small nature of the Rules Committee, we are able to develop relationships that the entire institution is not able to develop. I wish everybody on the House floor knew the gentleman from Massachusetts as I believe I know the gentleman from Massachusetts. When he talks about fighting hunger, when he talks about us doing better, he is absolutely right and absolutely sincere. When he talks about people suffering, when he talks about people in desperate need, he is absolutely right and absolutely sincere.

When my friend from Florida, Ms. SHALALA, said that she doesn't get calls in her office but that she gets cries from desperate people for help, I know that feeling because my office gets the same ones.

But that is not everything that is in this bill. This bill isn't all testing. This bill isn't all hunger.

I offered an amendment yesterday in the Rules Committee that said: You know what? We are going to perpetuate the myth that we disagree on everything in this institution. In a partisan way, let's divide this 1,800-page bill up. Let's divide it up into sections, and let's support those things that we can support and oppose those things that we oppose. Let's support hunger prevention and remediation. Let's support food for children. Let's support testing for first responders. Let's do those things.

Madam Speaker, this bill also repeals the SALT tax. It reinstates the SALT tax deduction. This is not an idea that has come about in an emergency. This is something we have been arguing about since 2017. This is something the Ways and Means Committee acted on in an almost purely partisan way in December. This is something the House acted on in a purely partisan way in December, long before we were talking about COVID.

This is a provision where 80 percent of Americans, the bottom 80 percent of all income-earning households, receive 4 cents out of every dollar of this provision, 4 cents to the bottom 80 percent of Americans. The top 5 percent of Americans, the top 5 percent of income earners, receive 80 cents out of every dollar.

It is not an emergency. It is not COVID-related. It is not going to the neediest of these. It is not a million-dollar provision. It is not a billion-dollar provision. It is not a $10 billion provision. It is a $200 billion provision tucked into this borrow-and-spend bill.

Madam Speaker, we don't disagree on serving those who need to be served. We don't disagree on medical research. We don't disagree on education. But we do have disagreements.

An 1,800-page bill, and I offered an amendment to say let's divide it up into sections so we can support what we can support in a bipartisan way and push through in a partisan way the things that we can't support. It was denied.

There are times and places to have partisan debates, Madam Speaker. Today is not one of them, and I reject the path that we are on.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. COLE. Madam Speaker, I yield the gentleman an additional 1 minute.

Mr. WOODALL. Madam Speaker, we have an opportunity, and not an opportunity that is an untread path as the path we are on today. We have a well-tread path.

I will remind my colleagues, as we fight amongst ourselves on this legislation, we have been to this floor already on COVID-related measures in a bipartisan, partnership-negotiated way. Not once, not twice, three times we have gone down that path.

For folks who are watching the debate today, Madam Speaker, I hope they don't take away that we are divided when it comes to supporting our constituency. I hope they don't take away that we are divided when it comes to standing united on behalf of those families that cannot stand for themselves in this tough time. And I hope, for my colleagues who feel like they need to push a messaging bill through no matter what, that they remember those times just a few short weeks ago where we came together, where we stood together, largest change in American history, largest bill, not one Republican amendment.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Vermont (Mr. WELCH).

Mr. WELCH. Madam Speaker, on March 1, Vermont had the lowest unemployment rate in its history. Today, it has the highest unemployment rate in its history. About one-third of Vermonters who would like a job can't find a job.

The Federal Government is the only entity that has the fiscal flexibility and the fiscal capacity to meet that need. We have to act. This legislation would provide Vermont with over $2 billion for State and local budgets. Absent that, the pain is going to be pressed, pressed, pressed down into our firefighters, our teachers, and our kids.

It has reforms to the Paycheck Protection Program so our restaurants and our small businesses have a chance to make use of that, something both sides want to happen.

It has $75 billion for testing, which is the path to getting on top of this virus.

It provides funds to try to stabilize our institutions of higher education that we must have on the other side of this virus.

There are differences, and we don't have the luxury of time for the full debate all of us would prefer, but we must act, and we must act now. If we make a mistake in how we proceed—and mistakes will be made—it should be on the side of erring to do too much, not too little.

Mr. COLE. Madam Speaker, may I inquire as to how much time is remaining.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Oklahoma has 3 minutes remaining. The gentleman from Massachusetts has 9 minutes remaining.

Mr. COLE. Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentlewoman from Illinois (Ms. UNDERWOOD).

Ms. UNDERWOOD. Madam Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

I rise in support of the HEROES Act, which meets urgent needs we are facing in northern Illinois. This legislation invests in the testing, tracing, and treatment we need to safely reopen our communities. It supports the essential workers whose sacrifices and dedication are keeping us safe and provides direct funding that will make a critical difference for smaller communities. I am so proud it also includes my bill to eliminate out-of-pocket costs for veterans and to help survivors of domestic violence.

This bill is not perfect. We have more work to do, such as ensuring affordable healthcare coverage for the tens of millions of Americans who find it too expensive. But the HEROES Act will provide relief to all of our communities, and we must pass it today.

Mr. COLE. Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. RASKIN), a distinguished member of the Rules Committee.

Mr. RASKIN. Madam Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

I want to start by saluting Chairman MCGOVERN, who has done such a sensational job under adverse circumstances bringing us a new rule so that we can maintain the continuity of the U.S. Congress.

We are bringing a rule forward today to allow for a very narrow exception to allow for proxy voting in the coronavirus emergency, when Members cannot get back to Washington, so we can continue the absolutely vital and central work of Congress.

That work continues today with the HEROES Act, which will put trillions of dollars into the heroes of America: the firefighters and the cops, the teachers, the frontline health workers, the emergency responders, the people who actually make America run. That is what the HEROES Act is all about.

We hear a lot in Congress about how much people love the States and the cities and the towns. Now is the chance to show it. Let's put our money where our mouth is and support Americans who are struggling with this crisis brought by the coronavirus and the mismanagement of the disease from the very beginning, the mismanagement of our efforts to fight it.

America, as Dr. Bright said yesterday, does not have a plan. We need massive testing. We need vigilant contact tracing. We need coordination of logistics rather than pitting the States against each other in a ruthless competition for PPEs and for ventilators.

The U.S. Government, under our Constitution, should be coordinating the national effort, not pilfering supplies from the States, much less pitting the States against each other in a brutal competition.

The HEROES Act takes us in the right direction by putting billions of dollars into the testing the population needs. A majority of the cases of infectious transmission comes now from people who are asymptomatic or pre-symptomatic.

The only way to deal with the disease and to put the coronavirus on the run is to do mass testing, diligent contact tracing; and we have got lots of people who can do it, because more than 35 million Americans have been thrown out of work in this process.

Let's put millions of people to work being contact tracers. Let's unify as a country. Let's show that America has the capacity and the strength to operate under our system of federalism to put money into the States and the counties and the cities to work together to stop the disease and to win this major public health battle.

The HEROES Act is the way to go.

Mr. COLE. Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Ohio (Mrs. BEATTY).

Mrs. BEATTY. Madam Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

I rise for this big and bold For the People legislation.

We have been called back again into this great Chamber because we can't quit living, because the world placed us here in unprecedented times, not in control of this virus and events happening to us, but to bring bold and big legislation for the people to speak to the human conditions by creating a heroes fund to give frontline workers the hazard pay they deserve, to make significant investments in State and local governments, direct payments to families, fair elections, housing, testing, contact tracing, and other priorities I proudly support.

The bill also includes language that I have championed to put a moratorium on consumer debt collection, to open up forgivable loans to more nonprofits, ban the box for small business loans, and to make sure that the smallest businesses can get a PPP loan, only to name a few.

I challenge my colleagues to join us and vote for this big and bold bill. Americans deserve every penny of it.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, I am waiting for one other speaker, but I don't think he has arrived, so I am prepared to close.

Mr. COLE. Madam Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

I thank my good friend from Massachusetts for a spirited debate. We certainly had one yesterday, and we had one again today, and I know we will have one in a few minutes.

In closing, Madam Speaker, I urge opposition to the rule. I oppose both the change in House rules that is being proposed today, and I oppose the massive and unwarranted 1,800-page, $3 trillion Democratic wish list that the majority is proposing as well.

The rules changes that this resolution proposes will fundamentally change the nature of the institution. I know that is not the intent of my friends, but I think that is the impact of the rule.

I am deeply concerned with how these changes will actually work in place, and I am concerned that we are doing so without regard to the fact that a change like this is likely to lead to litigation and may place in jeopardy legislation that we pass in a bipartisan manner.

After reaching a bipartisan agreement on $2.5 trillion in spending over the last 6 weeks, the majority is now seeking to spend $3 trillion more, regardless of the actual needs of the Nation and, frankly, without any input from the Republican side of the aisle.

My friends talk about the urgency of the moment. I agree. This is an urgent moment. But I also agree that we are going to have to work in a bipartisan fashion to actually pass something. So if this makes my friends feel better, that is fine; and if the intent is to set out a negotiating position, I guess that is legitimate; but if you think this is going to end up as law, you are sadly mistaken. The Senate has already said it will not take up the bill. The President has already said that, if it reaches his desk, he would veto it.

So let's do what we have done four times in a row: Sit down; work together; craft a bipartisan bill. We have proven we can do it, and we can do it again.

I am just mystified why my friends have felt the need to inject a clearly partisan bill and think this is going to move us down the road in the right direction. It is not. They are going to cement a lot of Members in on both sides of the aisle to positions that will make it more difficult to reach a common agreement when that is the appropriate thing to do.

This really is an exercise in legislative futility. H.R. 6800 will never become law. Democrats know that, and they are not going to be able to jam it through.

So they can come down here and talk about it as much as they want, and there are certainly some parts of it I could support, but as a package, it is going nowhere, and it is not moving us toward a solution.

I implore my colleagues to return to what they have done in the previous four bills where we worked together, brought a product that was bipartisan to the floor, and passed it overwhelmingly with almost no dissent. That was the formula for success. The formula they are pursuing now will not succeed. They know it will not succeed.

I have never been convinced as to why deliberately launching out something you know won't pass is useful.

Both sides do it, by the way, from time to time. We have certainly done it, so I don't want to suggest this is strictly a partisan exercise.

This bill will not succeed. I urge rejection of the rule.

Madam Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Madam Speaker, let me begin by again thanking my colleague from Oklahoma (Mr. COLE) for the tone he set in the Rules Committee debate yesterday and for his friendship and for always trying to be constructive.

Madam Speaker, I began this debate by speaking about the challenge we face today. And make no mistake, the list is long, but I have no doubt the American people can rise to these challenges. They are resilient and have shown again and again a perseverance that is no match for even a global pandemic.

The question, quite frankly, is whether our elected officials are up to these challenges; whether we are willing to rise above knee-jerk partisanship of the moment and put what is best for our country and this institution first ahead of the next great sound bite and before the next election.

In all my time here, I have seen us do that again and again, whether we face war or terrorism or natural disaster. I was proud of the way we came together on prior coronavirus bills, too.

But I worry that something is changing on the other side. It is deeply concerning to see the President throw up his hands and essentially say, "Enough." He has declared victory on testing, despite it being out of reach for most Americans.

The Senate majority leader has essentially said he is hitting pause on doing anything else related to this pandemic for the time being.

And there are some on the other side of this Chamber who want to conduct business as usual around here as if nothing has changed. We hear it today on the floor. Some Members get up and downplay this pandemic like it is no big deal. It is like we are living in "The Twilight Zone."

We are at the start of this pandemic, Madam Speaker, not the end, and if we run into our respective partisan corners now, what example are we setting? Things could get worse in the fall, and what then?

Madam Speaker, we need to act, and we need to act boldly and immediately, and that includes passing this rule. It means passing the HEROES Act, and it means making these temporary changes to allow for virtual committee proceedings and remote floor voting during this pandemic. This is what the moment requires.

The material previously referred to by Mr. COLE is as follows:

AMENDMENT TO HOUSE RESOLUTION 967

At the end of the resolution, add the following:

Sec. 13. Notwithstanding any other section of this resolution, an affirmative vote of two-thirds of the Members present and voting, a quorum being present, shall be required on adoption of House Resolution 965.

□ 1015

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time, and I move the previous question on the resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on ordering the previous question.

The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. COLE. Madam Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—yeas 219, nays 182, not voting 29, as follows:

AUTHORIZING REMOTE VOTING BY PROXY AND PROVIDING FOR OFFICIAL REMOTE COMMITTEE PROCEEDINGS DURING A PUBLIC HEALTH EMERGENCY DUE TO A NOVEL CORONAVIRUS

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, pursuant to House Resolution 967, I call up the resolution (H. Res. 965) authorizing remote voting by proxy in the House of Representatives and providing for official remote committee proceedings during a public health emergency due to a novel coronavirus, and for other purposes, and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the title of the resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to House Resolution 967, the resolution is considered read.

The text of the resolution is as follows:

H. RES. 965

Resolved,

SECTION 1. AUTHORIZATION OF REMOTE VOTING BY PROXY DURING PUBLIC HEALTH EMERGENCY DUE TO NOVEL CORONAVIRUS.

(a) AUTHORIZATION.—Notwithstanding rule III, at any time after the Speaker or the Speaker's designee is notified by the Sergeant-at-Arms, in consultation with the Attending Physician, that a public health emergency due to a novel coronavirus is in effect, the Speaker or the Speaker's designee, in consultation with the Minority Leader or the Minority Leader's designee, may designate a period (hereafter in this resolution referred to as a "covered period") during which a Member who is designated by another Member as a proxy in accordance with section 2 may cast the vote of such other Member or record the presence of such other Member in the House.

(b) LENGTH OF COVERED PERIOD.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in paragraphs (2) and (3), a covered period shall terminate 45 days after the Speaker or the Speaker's designee designates such period.

(2) EXTENSION.—If, during a covered period, the Speaker or the Speaker's designee receives further notification from the Sergeant-at-Arms, in consultation with the Attending Physician, that the public health emergency due to a novel coronavirus remains in effect, the Speaker or the Speaker's designee, in consultation with the Minority Leader or the Minority Leader's designee, may extend the covered period for an additional 45 days.

(3) EARLY TERMINATION.—If, during a covered period, the Speaker or the Speaker's designee receives further notification by the Sergeant-at-Arms, in consultation with the Attending Physician, that the public health emergency due to a novel coronavirus is no longer in effect, the Speaker or the Speaker's designee shall terminate the covered period.

The gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MCGOVERN) and the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. COLE) each will control 30 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Massachusetts.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members be given 5 legislative days to revise and extend their remarks.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Massachusetts?

There was no objection.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, we are in the midst of a pandemic, the likes of which the world hasn't seen in more than 100 years.

The question before us today is a simple one: Will this institution, which has adapted to challenges and technology time and time again throughout its history, adapt so that we can continue legislating during this public health emergency.

Medical experts have told us that COVID-19 is up to three times more contagious than the flu. That means, in a normal cycle of this virus, just one person with coronavirus could kick off a snowball effect that leads to up to 59,000 new infections.

Now think about that.

And then think about the way we normally operate here. Members travel frequently from their home States, some of which are coronavirus hot spots, to convene together here in the Capitol complex. Then we travel back home at the end of the week. And we repeat this process month after month after month.

Along the way, we come in contact with fellow travelers, colleagues, the general public, press, and the hundreds and hundreds of people who help make this House operate. There is no telling who among them could have compromised immune systems, preexisting conditions, or other heightened risks for illness. But we know just how easy this virus spreads among those with strong immune systems.

That is why the choices that each one of us makes are especially important—not just about protecting Members of Congress. This is about protecting all of those who come in contact with us.

Now, any of us could have the virus and not even know it. We could be asymptomatic but be carriers nonetheless. Convening Congress must not turn into a superspreader event.

Technology has changed considerably over the last 231 years. There are now tools available that make temporary committee proceedings and remote voting on the House floor possible—not forever, just temporarily during this emergency.

Now, some on the other side seem to think that temporarily embracing technology during this pandemic is a radical idea.

Well, let me say this loud and clear to my colleagues, Mr. Speaker: If anyone tells you you would be giving away your vote with remote voting by proxy, this is just a lie. Plain and simple, it is just not true.

What would be radical is if this House did nothing, if we made Members decide between spreading a deadly virus or legislating for the American people. That is a false choice. We can and we should do both.

At least 16 States, 10 countries, and the European Parliament have all implemented some form of remote procedures to safely conduct official proceedings during this pandemic. With this resolution, this House can finally join them.

Now, let me repeat: We are not suggesting permanent changes. No one believes we do our best work in person and side by side more than me, Mr. Speaker. Remote legislating will only be utilized so long as this pandemic continues.

Mr. Speaker, this is the type of adapting that this House has always done. Our Founders did not vote by electronic device, but we do. Constituents, decades ago, couldn't watch floor proceedings live on C-SPAN or listen to them on the radio, but ours can. Changes were made to our quorum requirement time and time again, including most recently after the September 11 attacks. And I could go on and on and on and on.

Believe it or not, adapting is action in this institution's DNA. There are always those quick to proclaim that any change means ending the House as we know it. But you know what, Mr. Speaker? The sky did not fall, and the House continues its work.

So I don't say this to make light of what we are doing here today. What we are doing is serious. It is a big deal. My State of Massachusetts has one of the oldest legislatures in the country, but even they changed their rules to allow for remote voting.

You can respect tradition without blinding yourself of the need to make temporary changes when necessary, and today is one of those times. This resolution comes after careful study, months of talks, feedback from constitutional experts, and conversations among a bipartisan task force. This resolution has been strengthened by this deliberative process, and it contains many provisions suggested by my Republican friends. It is now time to act.

Now, some communities have turned the corner with this virus, and I hope that continues. Medical experts tell us, however, that a second wave this fall could be even more damaging than what we are seeing now. So as we hope for the best, we must prepare for the worst. Anything less would be a dereliction of our responsibility.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all of my colleagues to join with us in supporting this resolution. Let's adapt the way this institution has always done. And let's make sure that we can continue legislating during this pandemic, no matter what the future may bring.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, we have worked long and hard together and tried to do so cooperatively. As my friend said, there are a number of things in here we have worked on together but, in the end, we were unable to reach an agreement.

Mr. Speaker, we are back here to consider the resolution representing the most consequential change to the rules of the House of Representatives in my time in Congress, and possibly the most consequential rules change since the establishment of the modern committee system in the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946.

Today, Mr. Speaker, the majority is proposing, for the first time in our history, a system of proxy voting on the floor of the House of Representatives. That change also allows for the adoption of a totally remote voting procedure upon the certification of a single Member of Congress. Second, it would allow for committees to perform remote proceedings, including markups.

Above all else, Mr. Speaker, Republicans believe that any change to centuries-old rules of the House should only be done in a bipartisan way that achieves consensus. Unfortunately, these proposed rules changes do not meet that goal.

While I have no doubt of the chairman's good intentions, I believe these changes will fundamentally alter the nature of the institution, and not for the better. As such, I simply cannot support them.

Mr. Speaker, though this resolution is intended only to deal with the present public health emergency, we must never forget that the temporary changes that we make today become the precedent that we follow tomorrow. I am deeply concerned that shifting to remote activity, both in the form of proxy voting and the form of remote committee work, will fundamentally change the way the House operates and will remove the collegial environment we enjoy when we meet in person, get to know one another, and use our knowledge of each legislator as a person to move toward bipartisan consensus. I fear that that would be lost in remote activity.

I am also deeply concerned that these changes will not pass constitutional muster. Why we would risk exposing important legislation to obvious constitutional flaws does not make sense to me.

Most of all, I am concerned that we are moving forward with these changes on a partisan basis. Any change that is this consequential should only be done after we reach bipartisan agreement—no matter how difficult it may be to achieve.

Mr. Speaker, I think a bipartisan agreement was possible on much of what my friends are trying to accomplish, but today's resolution is simply not it.

I have a modest suggestion to my friends: Let's take appropriate cautions and go back to work. That is what the executive branch is doing. That is what the United States Senate is doing. That is what millions of Americans do each and every day. We should be no different. The House should do the same.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to reject these rules changes today and return to the drawing board so that we can act together in a bipartisan manner to ensure that Congress can continue to operate during this crisis.

Mr. Speaker, I urge opposition to the resolution, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I include in the RECORD a letter from Erwin Chemerinsky, the renowned constitutional scholar and dean of Berkeley School of Law, who actually wrote the book on constitutional law, discussing his view that the remote voting process we are considering today would be constitutional.

BERKELEYLAW,
UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA,
May 13, 2020.

Chairman MCGOVERN and Ranking Member COLE,

House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN MCGOVERN AND RANKING MEMBER COLE: I have been asked for my view as to whether the House of Representatives could constitutionally adopt a rule to permit remote voting by proxy. As explained below, I believe that this would be constitutional and it is very unlikely that any court would invalidate such a rule, especially in light of the current public health emergency.

My understanding is that the system of remote voting by proxy that is being considered would have some key features:

Low-tech remote voting process through proxy voting

Some number of Members would be present on the Floor for debate and in-Chamber voting

Proxy would be used to establish a quorum and to register the yeas/nays

The proxy holder would be another Member of the House

The proxy holder would have NO discretion on the vote. Instead, the proxy holder would be required (through the rule and accompanying regulations) to cast the vote in accordance with the specific and exact instruction from the Member.

The Constitution bestows on each House of Congress broad discretion to determine the rules for its own proceedings. Article I, section 5 of the Constitution says: "Each House may determine the Rules of its proceedings." This authority is expansive and would include the ability to adopt a rule to permit proxy voting. Nothing in the Constitution specifies otherwise.

Moreover, if this were challenged in court, it is very likely that the case would be dismissed as a political question. The Supreme Court has ruled that challenges to the internal operation of Congress are not justiciable in the federal courts. See Field v. Clark, 143 U.S. 649 (1892). Indeed, I have written, the Court often "has held that congressional judgments pertaining to its internal governance should not be reviewed by the federal judiciary." Erwin Chemerinsky, Constitutional Law: Principles and Policies §2.8.5 (6th ed. 2019).

Especially in the context of the current public health emergency, it is highly unlikely that any court would review and invalidate the procedures adopted by the House of Representatives that would allow it to conduct its business without endangering the health of its members and its staff. Every branch of government is devising new procedures to accomplish this. The Supreme Court, for example, will conduct oral arguments by telephone for the first time in its history. I am sure that the rules will ensure that the votes cast by proxy are accurate and carefully recorded.

I hope that this is helpful. Please do not hesitate to let me know if I can be of further assistance.

Sincerely,

ERWIN CHEMERINSKY.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, in the letter, the dean states: "The Constitution bestows on each House of Congress broad discretion to determine the rules for its own proceedings. . . . This authority is expansive and would include the ability to adopt a rule to permit proxy voting. Nothing in the Constitution specifies otherwise."

I also just say to my friend that the White House isn't operating as business as usual. My understanding is that the Vice President has been sequestered from the President. In addition to that, everybody in the White House is being tested multiple times before they can even get near the President. A lot of the work is being done by video conference. So even they are doing things differently.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. PETERS).

Mr. PETERS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H. Res. 965 to authorize remote voting and to continue committee proceedings remotely during the public health emergency of COVID-19.

Governors and mayors across the Nation have ordered Americans to stay home, to work from home, and avoid travel. Until we have adequate testing or a vaccine to protect ourselves and prevent our healthcare system from being overwhelmed, the best we can do here is to follow that advice.

We in Congress must do what we have asked of our constituents and what others have ordered of them. Some argue—and we have heard this just recently—that because we are asking our frontline heroes to show up at work, we lawmakers should be required to convene here in D.C. But that argument misses the point and dishonors our frontline workers, particularly those healthcare workers who are begging people to stay home, to avoid non-essential travel in order to slow the spread of this deadly disease. They ask others to stay home so that some day they can go home.

We in Congress are not first responders or frontline healthcare workers, although our frontline responders are certainly counting on us to provide them the resources they need. But we can hold our meetings and conduct our communications electronically. And because of the space limitations created by the need for physical distancing, working remotely is probably the only way that all of our committees can function at the same time.

Like everyone else, I don't want to give up the opportunity to work with my colleagues in person. Our interactions are too productive, and our relationships are too valuable. But in the face of this once-in-a-lifetime global pandemic, we need to overcome our default position.

Remote voting is not cowardice. It is leadership. Let's live by the same rules we impose on our fellow citizens. Let's show by our actions that we ourselves take this threat seriously.

I want to thank the leadership of Mr. MCGOVERN and Ms. LOFGREN and all of the other folks who have worked on this, including my friend, Mr. COLE, and I urge support of this resolution.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. THORNBERRY), my good friend and the distinguished ranking member of the House Armed Services Committee.

Mr. THORNBERRY. Mr. Speaker, those of us on the Armed Services Committee are privileged to work around, with, and for the men and women who serve in the military. Every one of them is a volunteer. Every one of them expects reasonable precautions with their health and safety and well-being. But every one of them knows that in carrying out their duties, there is some risk that goes with it, and they carry out their duties admirably.

What a contrast to what we are seeing with this resolution. I think one of the proudest times I have had in this House over the last 25 years has been on 9/11 and the days thereafter. That very evening, Members gathered on the steps of the Capitol, and in the days thereafter we went right back to work and passed the legislation that was needed to deal with the terrorist threat.

We were not even intimidated when many of our offices were attacked by anthrax in the days thereafter. It was not just about showing resolution to the terrorists; it was about showing the country that we can come together and get our work done. What a contrast to what we are seeing with this resolution.

Through the Civil War, 1918 flu, World War II, 9/11, throughout our history, there has never been proxy voting on this floor. Members accepted the risk and carried out their duties to the best of their ability. It was not about technology; it was about trust and integrity.

Were our predecessors so much braver than we are? Were they more ignorant about the risk or more careless with their own safety? Was their sense of their responsibility to the American people greater than ours? None of this makes sense.

But what makes the least sense of all, Mr. Speaker, is that any Member of either party would support a resolution that allows any of us to vacate, even temporarily, the trust placed in us by voters and undermine the very foundation of this representative democracy.

Our history is better than that. The voters deserve better than that. To me, Mr. Speaker, it is sad, rather despicable, and one of the darkest days in this institution.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Let me just say to the gentleman who just spoke, I am not intimidated, and I am not afraid; none of us are here. This isn't about any of that. This is about doing what is sensible, what is in the public health interest. This is not about us. It is about the people you all come in contact with.

Those who walk around and don't wear masks, somehow as a display of how unafraid they may be, may be carriers who are asymptomatic spreading this disease.

This is a public health crisis. This is different than what happened on 9/11. This is a public health crisis; that is, somebody who is carrying this disease can spread it in a very aggressive way.

So please spare me the self-righteous kind of indignation over this. We are supposed to follow the medical advice. We are supposed to practice social distancing.

And yet, the Rules Committee, which is the smallest committee in the Congress, had to meet in the Ways and Means Committee room, and we took up the whole room. We have 21 standing committees; I don't know how many subcommittees. Where does the Armed Services Committee meet? Where does the Transportation Committee meet? Maybe we can meet on the House floor, maybe one committee at a time.

I mean, the bottom line is, if we are going to follow the medical advice, we should not paralyze this institution.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. GOTTHEIMER), a distinguished member of this Chamber and a co-chair of the Problem Solvers.

Mr. GOTTHEIMER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today as Congress adapts for this pandemic so that we can represent our constituents and shape legislation during this crisis and do so safely in line with CDC guidelines.

This resolution includes remote committee participation and proxy voting, which are essential reforms during this pandemic and key to giving the American public the accountability and transparency they deserve. I am hoping remote floor debate and voting are next, and this paves the way. The Supreme Court is doing it, and so can we.

State legislators, including Oklahoma, and in my State of New Jersey, and legislators around the world are doing it. We are behind here, and it is time we step up. There is nothing extreme about working this way and adapting during an emergency, just like all Americans have.

I am very grateful to Chairman MCGOVERN, my good friend, a true statesman and institutionalist, and Representative LOFGREN, who has done an incredible job, for working with us in the Problem Solvers Caucus, with Democrats and Republicans, as we have continued making strides towards a truly remote system.

This debate and work are key for my district in north Jersey, which is at the epicenter of this crisis. Today's bill also includes full reinstatement of the SALT deduction, giving New Jersey a long-needed tax cut, something I have been fighting for for years. It also helps small businesses make ends meet, for workers who aren't sure they will get another paycheck, and for every other single county and community so they can support teachers, cops, EMS, and firefighters.

But it starts with making sure our system is built so we can do it, and today's proposal does just that. We should all support this legislation to defend this institution, to protect it, and to ensure that accountability and transparency in this institution lives on forever in the greatest country in the world.

I know we will get through this together if we put country ahead of party.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. HAGEDORN), my good friend and a distinguished Member of this body.

Mr. HAGEDORN. Mr. Speaker, I believe this is a bad idea for this institution and a terrible example for the Nation. I recommend a "no" vote.

You know, it is ironic that as our Nation opens up and people go back to work safely and responsibly into their jobs, the House is making a move to shut down, for all intents and purposes.

You know, tens of millions of Americans throughout this outbreak, this pandemic, have been out delivering and producing our energy, our food, helping with people in hospitals, policing our neighborhoods. They have been doing their jobs, and we should be doing our jobs in person moving forward.

You know, some might question why a Member of Congress like myself, who is dealing with stage 4 cancer, getting treatment the last year at the Mayo Clinic, why I would be the one passionately wanting everyone to travel and work in this Chamber, work in our committees. And it is because it is a bad idea for this House. It is a bad idea that we don't do our jobs in person. We are setting a terrible example.

Personally, though, I can tell you this: This is the job that I signed up for. This is the job that I asked the people of southern Minnesota for. And this is the job that I want to do. It is an honor to serve them. I think we should do it in person, work in committee in person, and do our jobs. And we can do it safely and responsibly.

I recommend a "no" vote.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman should be happy to know under the proposal we have, he can come here anytime he wants. He can be in his committee. He can be on this floor and debate. But this is for those who are in circumstances where that is impossible. It provides an opportunity for them to participate as well.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Michigan (Ms. STEVENS).

Ms. STEVENS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to discuss the activity of the House Science, Space, and Technology Committee, as we work through extraordinary circumstances to deliver for the American people.

The Science Committee, under the leadership of Chairwoman JOHNSON and Ranking Member LUCAS, has been holding briefings on topics such as infrastructure, energy jobs, vaccine developments, through the great technologies available to us over the worldwide web. Each has been bipartisan.

One important focus has been our domestic manufacturing role, retooling production lines to make the medical supplies needed to respond to the ongoing health crisis. This has been of particular importance for the Subcommittee on Research and Technology, which I chair, along with Ranking Member BAIRD.

How do we open platforms and utilize digital technologies for industrial collaboration to solve big problems and streamline our supply chain to get the medical supplies to those who need them now?

The Science Committee will continue to do the work it has always done to meet the needs of the American people, to propel American manufacturing innovation forward.

I urge my colleagues to support this fabulous resolution that will enable us to continue to do our work under great and trying circumstances.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Arkansas (Mr. WOMACK), my very good friend, and the distinguished Republican ranking member of the Budget Committee, and a fellow member of the Appropriations Committee.

Mr. WOMACK. Mr. Speaker, born from the people, the work of Congress is an integral part of our Nation. Or is it? Judging from the legislation that is before us right now, I am not so sure.

But tracing back to the Civil War, the Great Depression, World War II, 9/11, and many others, the House's business has never ceased, even in the toughest times in our country, and it should not cease today.

But instead of working safely, bringing back Members to the House, Speaker PELOSI has decided to pursue proxy voting.

Senators are back at work. Our military is on point right now defending our country in all corners of the world. Doctors, nurses, grocery workers, truck drivers, delivery personnel, they are showing up every day. They are not shirking from their duty. Shouldn't the House lead by example?

New House procedures might very well be necessary, but any change to the centuries-old rules that could fundamentally alter this institution should never be done without bipartisan support. And we are not seeing that.

This proposal runs counter to the Constitution, and it marginalizes, in my strong opinion, Mr. Speaker, the lawmaking process.

We need transparency, accountability, not procedures that further centralize the decision-making of our country into the hands of a select few. We must get back to regular order, and this is not the path back to regular order.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I am happy to provide the gentleman who just spoke with the history of the House of Representatives as to how voting rules have changed repeatedly.

But this radical idea that we are talking about here today, just look to the United States Senate. I mean, they just held a hearing in their Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions where some people were present, and some were remote. The chair and ranking member were remote, and administration witnesses were brought in through video conferencing.

I mean, the Senate can do it. Maybe my friends are afraid of technology. We will get you the help. We will get you the help to make it comfortable for you. But the bottom line is, if the Senate can do it, if it is okay for the United States Senate, why is it not okay for the House of Representatives?

Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from California (Mr. MCNERNEY).

Mr. MCNERNEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H. Res. 965. Today, there are more than 1.45 million confirmed COVID-19 cases and more than 86,000 related deaths in the United States, and these numbers continue to increase.

Our job in Congress is to provide help and leadership in this crisis. It is critical that we continue serving our constituents. But requiring Members of Congress to travel back and forth to Washington to vote and participate in official business in person during this pandemic puts the health of our constituents and ourselves at greater risk.

All this traveling by so many Members of Congress will worsen the crisis we are working to mitigate. If you don't agree with the rule changes, I urge you to reconsider. If you care about the health of your constituents, if you care about the health of yourself, your colleagues, and your staff, and if you really want to mitigate this crisis, then support the temporary rule and vote "yes" on H. Res. 965.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from California (Mr. MCCLINTOCK), my very good friend.

Mr. MCCLINTOCK. Mr. Speaker, the word "congress" literally means the act of coming together and meeting. The Constitution calls for representatives to attend, to assemble, and to meet. Congress is a deliberative body, and by its very nature, that requires the people's representatives to interact with each other, both through formal proceedings as well as through the countless informal conversations that are the unique product of coming together and meeting.

Fulfilling that duty, Congress has met throughout every war and pandemic that has come before us. We expect grocery clerks to show up at 4:00 in the morning to restock the shelves, but the House of Representatives is going to phone it in?

Each of us is the proxy for our constituents. They expect us to speak and vote for them, and answer to them, not hand off that trust to someone entirely unaccountable because we are too lazy or too scared to show up for work.

Good God, what are we doing to our country?

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

It is obvious that the gentleman who just spoke didn't read the bill. Nobody is asking anybody to hand off their ability to cast a vote here. There is no discretion involved. If he reads the bill, he will figure that out.

Mr. Speaker, I include in the RECORD a May 5 opinion piece published in The Hill from Saikrishna Prakash, a constitutional law professor from the University of Virginia and former clerk to the late Supreme Court Justice Antonin Scalia.

[From the Hill, May 5, 2020]

ONE VIRTUE OF A VIRTUAL CONGRESS

(By Saikrishna Prakash)

The need for social distancing has led to new demands for distant voting. With the coronavirus in the air, Congress is awash with proposals to allow senators and representatives to cast votes away from the chamber floors on Capitol Hill. It is true that desperate times call for desperate measures, but however extreme this reform may seem, remote voting would indeed be allowed under the Constitution. This new practice could also lead to the reform of one regrettable habit of the legislative branch.

The Framers likely assumed that members of the chambers would gather in a single room in order to conduct business. References to "assemble" and "attendance" in the Constitution suggest as much. Congress could easily satisfy this narrow reading of these terms if each chamber met in cavernous spaces. For instance, the Senate could meet in the baseball stadium where the Washington Nationals play, while the House could gather on the football field where the Washington Redskins play. Then legislators could easily sit several feet apart as they work.

But the chambers need not be so constrained. Laws can have meaning and serve purposes without being tied to the technology of a particular era. For instance, modern presidents have signed legislation by autopen, even though this technology is somewhat new. The justification for this is that so long as the president makes a decision about whether to approve a bill, the mechanics of putting pen to parchment are irrelevant. The same holds true for the Supreme Court. The justices have reached decisions by phone, sometimes hundreds of miles away from Washington. Six justices are necessary to conduct business, and they have concluded that voting by phone on important matters satisfies that requirement.

Congress could do something similar. The Framers perhaps demanded no more than for legislators to debate and collectively reach decisions in real time. The internet permits that live discussion and passing laws, either by voice vote or by roll call. With the advent of technology, one chamber can "assemble" virtually on Zoom, while legislators can also attend meetings in Google. A chamber can sit to conduct business online.

The more general point is that if legislators are monitoring proceedings in Congress online and can vote remotely, they are in "attendance" and can be present for quorums. What is good for the president and the Supreme Court must be good for Congress. There are positives and negatives of remote voting, so here are two potential disadvantages.

First, Congress will no longer have the excuse of being unable to conduct business when members go back to their constituencies. What was once a part time assembly may become a full time legislature, where leaders call votes during such inconvenient times for members. Many people do wish that Congress would return to its roots as a part time institution. To quote Will Rogers, "This country has come to feel the same when Congress is in session as when the baby gets hold of a hammer."

Second, though legislators do not have to pay attention to floor debates even when they are physically present, one might suppose that they will get more distracted if they have two browsers open, one trained on the proceedings in Congress and one centered on Sunday Night Football. A debate on a motion to recommit would suffer compared to a drive down the field in the final minute of the fourth quarter.

But there would be one positive that overwhelms these drawbacks. Last week, six members exercised the collective authority of the Senate and passed the $484 billion appropriation. Though the Constitution declares that a majority of each chamber would be a quorum to do business, the Senate had nothing like a quorum for this vote. Under current practices, however, both chambers assume a quorum, an assumption that can be overcome only if some legislators will call for it.

That assumption is almost as mistaken as supposing that lobbyists exist to further the public good. The Constitution decrees that the chambers can pass a bill only if there is a quorum. Members cannot just avert their gaze from this violation of the Constitution. The minimum mandate for passing legislation is not waivable. To pass legislation in a chamber, the presence of at least a majority of the voting members is required.

With a move to virtual sessions, Congress could cut the embarrassment of a handful of legislators passing legislation. If bills are uncontroversial, the chambers can meet online, and the majority in each can pass them. All in all, the move to remote voting could generate a salutary reform and also eliminate at least one excrescence of the Constitution.

Mr. MCGOVERN. In his piece, the professor says: The more general point is that if legislators are monitoring proceedings in Congress online and can vote remotely, they are in ‘attendance’ and can be present for quorums. What is good for the President and the Supreme Court must be good for Congress.”

Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. COHEN).

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I have been listening to the debate, and I have been really amazed at what I have heard from the other side. They said the military goes into battle, or is ready to go, and they don’t let these things bother them.

The military doesn’t have a great majority of their members who are 65 years of age and older. And when they do have members that are 65 years of age and older, and they have morbidity systems or past incidents that make them more likely to get a disease, they don’t send them into battle. They take care of them. They don’t put them out there in harm’s way.

Some people talked about the Senate. LAMAR ALEXANDER came up, and he got exposed to coronavirus from a staff member, so he had to go back to Maryville. RAND PAUL came up. He got exposed, took a test, still swam in the Senate pool, exposed everybody over there to COVID, and came back positive.

So, it is not about the Senate. This makes good sense.

One of our best epidemiologists said that the best place you could find to get the coronavirus is indoors in an enclosed room with a lot of people and a lot of talk. That is the definition of Congress. Washington is a hot spot; it is under a stay-at-home order; and you are not supposed to meet in groups of more than 10 people. We are more than 10. And if they expand it, we will be up to the level of 50, which is maybe the next level.

We are just protecting our Members and protecting their loved ones and protecting their constituents.

This is a good law. It gives people a chance to vote. We have Members who are going through chemotherapy now. The great JOHN LEWIS is going through chemotherapy. That means he cannot come up here and vote. That should not be the facts.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Arkansas (Mr. HILL).

Mr. HILL of Arkansas. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this rule change.

Rather than taking time to implement a bipartisan plan to safely open this House and our work on the Hill, as suggested by the Republican leader, the House majority is taking the lazy way out.

The U.S. Constitution and 200 years of precedent require a physical presence to establish a quorum to protect all Members’ rights and the rights of the Americans who vote for these Members.

If we pass this rule change today and make attendance optional, we are taking away the fundamental nature of our government of elected Members of the House representing our citizens.

Since the first Congress, through it all—bad roads, bad weather, invasion, and the burning of this very Capitol, Civil War, and depression—Members have assembled to do the people’s business.

Our Founders intended that legislating be hard but fair. Our Founders compelled the people’s representatives to assemble, to collaborate, to find a way forward. This rule will only make it harder to find that consensus during these times.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all of my colleagues to reject this unnecessary change to the House rules.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, let me remind my colleagues what the minority leader did suggest, and that is that all of us get preferential treatment, in terms of testing, that we all be tested regularly when we come back here, like they do in the White House; that even though our constituents can’t get tested, even though our hospital workers and those who work in homeless shelters and in food pantries can’t get tested, and our first responders can’t all get tested, the minority leader suggested that: You know, you are all so special here that you should move to the front of the line.

Well, I don’t know what people in your districts think, but my constituents think that is tone-deaf, that, quite frankly, we don’t deserve preferential treatment. But that is what he suggested.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. RASKIN), a distinguished member of the Rules Committee.

Mr. RASKIN. Mr. Speaker, I salute the chairman for his determination to keep the American Government going through this period, and that is what this resolution is about, the continuity of Congress and the continuity of government. We are here to keep the great American experiment in democratic self-government alive through the pandemic, through the crisis.

The first sentence of the Constitution, the Preamble, says:

We the people, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, ensure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and preserve to ourselves and our posterity the blessings of liberty, do hereby ordain and establish the Constitution of the United States.

The very next sentence vests all legislative power to us, in Article I, in the Congress, and gives us the right to determine the rules of our own proceedings.

That is what the Supreme Court calls a political question. It cannot be second-guessed by the Senate. It cannot be second-guessed by the President. It cannot be second-guessed even by the Supreme Court. It is up to us what our rules of proceeding are going to be.

Mr. Speaker, I have watched the debate, and one can only regard with amazement the full outrage summed up by our colleagues who display great reservoirs of self-righteousness. And it is amazing to me because the same Members have been operating for many years, for term after term, under the current rule, first adopted by a Republican-majority House, which allows two Members to form a working quorum.

I repeat: The current rule, which this body has ratified repeatedly, was adopted by a Republican majority, allowing two Members to constitute a working quorum.

So, how can anyone who has blithely accepted that state of affairs, when it would have been very easy to do something about it—there was no pandemic and no plague let loose on the land, with 86,000 people dead and tens of millions of unemployed. They did nothing about it, but now they want to suddenly turn on the proposal necessary to guarantee the continuity of the U.S. Government in which the numerical quorum majority rule is scrupulously observed through the well-known and well-accepted proxy system. This rule preserves the vote and the voice of each and every Member of the House.

Unlike the two-Member quorum rule, which was put into place by a Republican majority, our rule is based on effectuating the will and the vote of every Member. The proxies must be cast in strict accordance with the will of the Member, with no discretion, and no room for judgment.

Mr. Speaker, I expect to be a proxy because I live about a half hour away from here. I will cast the proxy vote exactly as given to me. And if I were to decide I know better than the person I am voting for, that should be the subject of ethical proceedings. I am nothing more than a letter carrier.

This is what the Congress needs to do. The American people expect nothing less from us. Let’s keep the Government of the United States in business.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. GOHMERT), my great friend and distinguished Member.

Mr. GOHMERT. Mr. Speaker, let me just read from the Constitution.

Article I, Section 5: “Each House shall be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own Members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum.”

You can't pass a bill on this floor with proxies and have it upheld unless you change the Constitution, and this doesn't do it.

Now, some here say: But if it saves one life, it is worth it. How about the million Americans who laid down their lives not for a wishy-washy, "Oh, maybe we should be afraid. We might get something and die." They didn't do that in the Spanish flu days. They didn't do it in the Civil War. But now we are going to do it. Come on.

There were people that died, saying things like: "Live free or die." And now, we are going to amend the Constitution with a House rule. That is ridiculous.

If you are going to destroy 40 million lives and livelihoods, at least have the courage to come here and do it in person.

You didn't let the Member from Georgia do it years ago. You denied that, and I felt like you were right. We have to preserve the Constitution, not abuse it with a House rule.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Members are reminded to address their remarks to the Chair.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I include in the RECORD a letter from Deborah Pearlstein, a constitutional law professor from Cardozo School of Law.

CARDOZO LAW,
April 16, 2020.

DEAR CHAIRMAN MCGOVERN: Thank you for your statement today recommending the implementation of temporary remote voting procedures in Congress during this tragic pandemic. As a professor of constitutional law, and a scholar who has written extensively on separation of powers issues in U.S. Government, I believe adopting procedures to allow for remote voting under these extraordinary circumstances is not only lawful, but essential to the maintenance of our constitutional democracy. Recognizing that specific procedures for remote voting may still be in development, the analysis offered here focuses foremost on the broad scope of Congress' constitutional authority to regulate its voting procedures.

As with much else in the Constitution, the description the text provides of how Congress is to fulfill its legislative "duties" once members have been elected is relatively brief. Article I, Section 5 provides that there must be "a Quorum to do business," which the Constitution defines as constituting simply "a Majority" of each House. The same Section likewise specifies that each House must keep a "Journal of its Proceedings," which must be published "from time to time," and which may, if a sufficient number of members desire, reflect how every member voted "on any question." The Constitution adds that neither House can adjourn for more than three days, or move the session to some other place, without the consent of the other House—a provision designed to prevent a single House from thwarting all congressional action by simply absenting themselves indefinitely.

There can be little question that the Framers imagined the legislature would do its work while assembled in some physical location. In 1787 when the Constitution was drafted, they could scarcely have imagined any other functional way of proceeding. Various other constitutional provisions thus refer to Congress as "meeting" (Art. I, Sec. 4) or "assembling" (Art. I, Sec. 3), and one even provides a mechanism by which members can compel "the Attendance of absent Members," (Art. I, Sec. 5) meaning presumably those members not otherwise present where Congress is meeting. Of course, none of the clauses in which those terms appear address how Congress casts or counts its votes. Indeed, neither the document itself nor any Supreme Court decision defines what counts as "attendance" or "assembling," much less how such "attendance" may be taken, or such "assemblage" may be accomplished. The Constitution equally contains no specific requirement of physical presence for Members to vote. What the Constitution does instead—as the courts have repeatedly recognized—is leave it up to each House of Congress to "determine the Rules of its Proceedings." (Art. I, Sec. 5) As the Supreme Court explained in United States v. Ballin, 144 U.S. 1 (1892), so long as there is a "reasonable relation between the mode or method of proceeding established by the rule and the result which is sought to be attained," the content of those rules are "beyond the challenge of any other body or tribunal."

Indeed, it is just such constitutional flexibility that has enabled Congress to embrace the various informal solutions it has adopted over the years to "do business," including relying on members to give "unanimous consent" to a vote even if something less than an actual majority of members is physically present on the House floor. But while such well settled procedures are surely constitutional, they may not always function to advance the system of majority rule the Constitution so plainly contemplates. As we recently saw when Congress enacted a substantial stimulus bill just last month, it is possible for one House member, acting alone, to single-handedly defeat the manifest preference of the bipartisan majority by insisting upon an actual demonstration that a majority of members were "present" (a term contained in House Rules, not in the Constitution itself). This forced House leaders to make a choice the Constitution cannot be understood to compel—between surrendering the will of the majority to the demands of a single man, or insisting, as they did, that Members jeopardize their safety (and thus their ability to effectively represent their constituents going forward) by defying lawful public health restrictions to travel and meet in Washington, D.C.

It is precisely in order to avoid such absurd results that Congress has embraced a variety of measures throughout its history to adjust to developing technologies and changing demands. Thus, for example, current House Rules provide that in the event the existing electronic voting system is "inoperable," the Speaker may direct the vote to be conducted through alternative methods, including through the use of "tellers" designated by the Speaker to "record the names of the Members voting on each side of the question." The teller system was an innovation put in place before the current electronic system was available, one among key reforms designed to strengthen Congress' ability to maintain a public record of Members' votes. The particular challenge of ensuring that Congress could continue to operate during the outbreak of infectious disease was indeed the subject of one of Congress's first efforts to provide for alternative rules of operation. Following Congress' return after the yellow fever epidemic that devastated the then-capital of Philadelphia in the summer of 1793, Congress adopted a law providing that in circumstances when "the prevalence of contagious sickness" made it "be hazardous to the lives or health of the members to meet at the seat of Government," the President could "convene Congress at such other place as he may judge proper." If Congress can delegate to the President the power to move congressional operations entirely, surely it can reserve for itself the lesser power to make whatever far more modest amendment to process is required to ensure Congress is able to vote in the same, extraordinary circumstances.

Finally, the temporary remote voting procedures as you have sketched them thus far appear to bear an entirely "reasonable relation" to the goal you aim to achieve, namely, ensuring that Congress preserves the ability to vote in a way that maintains the institution's representative character, protects the transparency of its operations, and fairly and accurately reflects the will of the American people. By keeping remote voting procedures tied as closely as possible to the existing system, the proposed approach protects Members' ability to participate in votes regardless of geographic location, technical knowledge or means; minimizes the risk of foreign or other unlawful interference in the vote; and maximizes Congress's ability to fairly reflect the will of the majority of the people even during the present crisis. The proposed approach contains essential safeguards to ensure that Members' preferences are fully and accurately recorded; as you emphasized in your recent statement, Members designated to submit voting cards on behalf of other elected Representatives may only act pursuant to the direct, express instruction of the elected Representative, retaining no discretion in carrying out the ministerial function they play in the modified voting process. As ever, Members remain subject to all the disciplinary powers the House possesses to ensure the appropriate exercise of their duties.

In short, with limited reforms that maximize Members' ability to represent the wishes of their constituents, while minimizing disruption and confusion in House operations, Congress can succeed in preserving the essential constitutional function of the legislative branch even amidst an unprecedented pandemic. It is a critically important initiative in these extraordinary times.

As ever, I thank you for your efforts, and for the opportunity to share my views.

Sincerely,

DEBORAH N. PEARLSTEIN,
Professor of Law.

Mr. MCGOVERN. In her letter, which I strongly recommend all of my colleagues should read in full, she says: "I believe adopting procedures to allow for remote voting under these extraordinary circumstances is not only lawful, but essential to the maintenance of our constitutional democracy."

The Constitution contains no specific requirements of physical presence for Members to vote. What the Constitution does instead, as the courts have repeatedly recognized, is leave it up to each House of Congress to "determine the rules of its proceedings."

The gentleman refers to the Spanish flu. Let me just say that that is not an example of something we want to aspire to. The Congress was basically paralyzed. They couldn't even get together to pass a bill to provide more doctors to rural areas where people were dying. They couldn't even do that. And as a result of Congress' inaction, more people died in that pandemic. So, please, I mean, let's get real here.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Rhode Island (Mr. LANGEVIN).

Mr. LANGEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

I rise in strong support of this resolution and commend Chairman MCGOVERN for overseeing this deliberative and well thought-out process.

The proposed changes to the House rules are absolutely necessary to ensure that Members of Congress can continue our vital legislative and oversight functions while protecting public health.

Now, I strongly believe that we need a more comprehensive, full e-Congress capability to be developed for conducting congressional business in the future only in times of emergency if we are unable to meet in Washington, D.C. However, I also believe that there are very real cybersecurity concerns that must be addressed before such a system will go live.

In the meantime, this resolution appropriately allows for in-person proxy voting during the duration of this public health emergency, and it holds open the possibility of remote voting if a secure system can be developed and verified for full House floor proceedings.

In the meantime, this step, of course, cannot be the end of our conversations on continuity of Congress. We do need a permanent framework that will account for remote congressional operations in the event or possibility of death or incapacitation of a significant number of representatives.

This is the 21st century. We should be able to do this in the future. I look forward to continuing to work with Chairman MCGOVERN to address this issue going forward.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. JOHN W. ROSE).

Mr. JOHN W. ROSE of Tennessee. Mr. Speaker, today, I am standing up for those who have stood up for this Nation throughout the current crisis: nurses, doctors, farmers, truck drivers, food service workers, distribution and supply chain workers, the millions of Americans who can't stay home and expect our country to survive.

Haven't we learned our lesson about outsourcing? Apparently not. Now, some of the Members of this House want to outsource their votes as well.

I will be voting "no" on this resolution, and I would encourage those ready to hand over their votes to someone else to just go ahead and hand over their seats to someone else.

With unemployment the way it is, I would bet that there are more than a few people back home in your district who would gladly accept your $174,000-a-year job and find a way to get to Washington and push a button.

I will vote "no."

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I insert in the RECORD letters and statements of support for H. Res. 965 from Chairman PALLONE, Representative THOMPSON, and Representative PETERS.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
COMMITTEE ON ENERGY AND COMMERCE,
Washington, DC, May 14, 2020.

Re H. Res. 965.

Hon. JAMES P. MCGOVERN,
Chairman, Committee on Rules,
House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN MCGOVERN: I write to you in support of H. Resolution 965, which would authorize voting by proxy in the House of Representatives and provide for official remote committee proceedings. By temporarily enabling committees to convene official proceedings remotely, this measure ensures that the Committee on Energy and Commerce can continue to conduct its important legislative, oversight, and fact-finding work during these extraordinary times.

I greatly appreciate the work of the House Rules Committee under your leadership in drafting and putting forward this very important measure. Our Committee will work diligently to ensure that each of our Members can participate remotely, to the greatest extent practicable, from different locations, at our noticed committee and subcommittee hearings, markups, depositions and other business meetings—some or all of which may be virtual in nature.

Thank you in advance for any further support you can provide us in the way of Committee-specific regulations or in addressing any questions that surface as we implement and put these temporary rules and regulations into practice.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK PALLONE, Jr.,
Chairman.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, DC, May 13, 2020.

Hon. JIM MCGOVERN,
Chairman, House Committee on Rules,
Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN MCGOVERN: I write to express my strong support for proxy voting and allowing for flexibility, during these unprecedented times.

The COVID-19 pandemic has created never before seen challenges to the operation of government and the ability of the House to conduct business. Not only are Member's health and safety at risk but the security and integrity of the House of Representatives, is as well. I commend you and your committee for diligently addressing these challenges with integrity and the dedicated intent to ensure the House can conduct the People's business in a safe and secure manner.

This pandemic has drastically changed how our communities operate. Many local governments and small business have adjusted their operations and the House of Representatives must do the same. Again, I commend you and your Committee for your work and I wholeheartedly support proxy voting and allowing for flexibility, during these extreme times.

Sincerely,

MIKE THOMPSON,
Member of Congress.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, DC, May 13, 2020.

Hon. JAMES P. MCGOVERN,
Chairman, House Rules Committee,
Washington, DC.

Hon. TOM COLE,
Ranking Member, House Rules Committee,
Washington, DC.

CHAIRMAN MCGOVERN, RANKING MEMBER COLE, AND MEMBERS OF THE RULES COMMITTEE: Thank you for this opportunity to comment on the very important proposals for remote voting.

Today we face a health crisis unknown in our lifetimes—a virus that spreads easily among us, that can hide itself as asymptomatic for a time can suddenly turn deadly. We have no vaccine to create herd immunity, nor a treatment nor cure, nor even enough tests to tell us who's got it and who doesn't. So all we can do to protect ourselves now and for the foreseeable future, and to keep our health care system from being overwhelmed, is to separate ourselves. That's how we lower the chance that the virus spreads. That's why governors and mayors across the country have ordered us to stay at home, to work from home, and to avoid travel if we can.

That's exactly what Congress did when we passed the CARES Act on March 27th. Our leadership from both parties worked to pass the bill on unanimous consent, and when one member objected, we achieved a quorum with members who could travel safely, often by driving alone in their cars. We encouraged other members to stay away from planes and airports and each other. By the way, that conveyed to the public that we in Congress understood the health challenge—we were aware that every time Members of Congress travel from across the country to Washington, DC, we put each other, our staff, Capitol Police and other workers, our families and ultimately our constituents at risk of infection.

Since then, conditions in Washington DC have become more dangerous—it's one of our nation's COVID hot spots. It's high time for us to do what we've asked—and others have ordered—our constituents to do. Figure out how to work from home.

I've heard the argument from Senate Leader McConnell and from some Democrats that because we ask people on the front lines to go to work, that we lawmakers have to show up in DC to work. But that argument misses the point. Some people—essential workers—can't stay home. If you are a doctor or a nurse, or someone who cleans hospital rooms, you have to go to the hospital to do your job. If you are a grocery clerk or checker, you have to go to the grocery store to do your job. If you are a fire fighter, or a police officer or an EMT, you have to go where people are in harm's way to do your job.

But if you're an accountant, or a lawyer, or a billing clerk or any other office worker—your job is still very important—but we've ordered you to stay home, because the technology available today makes it possible for you to do your job from your home. It's not great, but it's a way Americans have stepped up to make it work, and not to become vectors for the spread of this disease.

We in Congress are not first responders. Fundamentally, we have office jobs—very important office jobs that a lot of people depend on—but office jobs, consisting of phone calls, meetings, and more meetings. Like the rest of America, we can have our meetings electronically. We should live by the same rules we impose on other American office workers.

We are public servants, a concept reflected in the joint statement by Speaker Pelosi and Leader McConnell to reject the President's offer to supply Congress with test kits. Of course, Congress should not take test kits from hospital workers, first responders or grocery workers. Nor should we continue to travel and meet in a way that heightens the risk for those same people. We should follow the lead of American businesses, nonprofits, religious institutions and families who have found ways to communicate effectively and to make decisions over the phone, or in a variety of computer forums.

Tradition can be honorable, as it is in Congress. But tradition can be a dinosaur and can hurt and slow progress. Some traditions should never be abandoned. I would never give up the opportunity in the ordinary course of our business to see you all face to face, to work with you in committees, to see you twice a day on the House floor, and even to grab dinner after work. But in the face of this once in a lifetime global pandemic, we need to overcome the default position—that the way we've always done it is the only way it can be done. Congress has adapted to jet travel, to electronic voting and to making our work public on CSPAN. We can adapt to remote work.

It will be difficult, but not as difficult as we might imagine. Just look at how the remote skeptics propose we conduct our business. We would fly from across the country, making connections and taking transportation from Dulles Airport or Baltimore Washington International. Then we would isolate ourselves in our DC residences. Then, if we live too far to walk or don't have a car in DC, we would take transit or be driven to our offices, and we would isolate there. And to participate in our committees, we would make a phone call from our office in Rayburn or Longworth or Cannon to the committee room. Yet all of us have phones in our homes in our districts, and any of us could call the committees from there.

We've also heard that in person committee meetings will take up a tremendous amount of physical space. For our larger committees, like Transportation and Infrastructure or Armed Services, only the House chamber is big enough. If all of our committees were to meet in person, it would be impossible for them to meet at the same times. Remote participation is probably the only practical way to allow all committees to function at the same time, and thereby for all members to participate in the legislative process on behalf of their millions of constituents.

Remote voting is not cowardice. It's leadership. In the face of this pandemic, getting Congress to work remotely is an example for the rest of the country that meets this moment. Let us live by the same rules we impose on our fellow citizens. Let's find a way that allows all of our constituents to have a voice. Let's show by our action that we ourselves take this threat seriously.

I thank you for your leadership in this difficult moment.

Sincerely,

SCOTT H. PETERS,
Member of Congress.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I am glad that the gentleman who previously spoke says he wants to extend it for nurses, doctors, and teachers. He has a chance to do that in the next bill we are going talk about because there is money in there to provide them more assistance in terms of testing and treatment and tracing and more money there for PPE. But my guess is the gentleman is going to vote "no" on that.

The same people who are out here talking about being brave and standing up with our first responders are the same people whose leader has said that his proposal is to prioritize Members of Congress ahead of all of our constituents in terms of testing so we can operate here. I don't want to have anything to do with that. My constituents who are on the front lines, the doctors, the nurses, the first responders deserve to be tested before anybody in this House.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Massachusetts (Mrs. TRAHAN).

Mrs. TRAHAN. Mr. Speaker, this public health crisis has been devastating. Nearly 1.5 million Americans have contracted COVID-19 and, tragically, more than 85,000 people have died.

We have asked small business owners and workers in our districts to close up shop and stay home for months to do their part to slow the spread of this virus.

Across the country, workplaces are innovating and figuring out how to operate while keeping pace with commonsense public health guidelines.

Like them, Congress has an obligation to do the same. This moment requires us to lead by example, to show that in the face of a highly infectious disease we can change how we do business and still get our constituents the much-needed relief they desperately need, while also conducting proper oversight.

I support this rule change to temporarily allow committees to conduct meetings remotely and to provide my colleagues with the opportunity to make their constituents' voices heard.

This is the 21st century. We have an opportunity to show that we can use the tools at our disposal to continue congressional operations at full capacity while also practicing what we preach.

This is common sense, and I would urge my colleagues to support this change as well.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ROY), my very good friend.

Mr. ROY. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend from Oklahoma for yielding.

I just ask my colleagues here: What are we doing? We have 40 million Americans out of work. We have serious problems we have got to address, and we are going to pass a bill tonight that is a clear political bill filled with political promises from my colleagues on the other side of the aisle that has no chance of being passed in its current form. And why aren't we debating and doing the job of this body? We have no debate.

My friend from Maryland, Chairman RASKIN, we served together working to try to protect the Constitution, and he says that we have this rule in here for a quorum can be two people. I agree, that is a problem.

I don't care who is in charge of this body. We shouldn't operate that way. The American people want us to do our job and debate and work.

The Constitution is pretty clear about what constitutes a quorum. You can trot out various words from some professors around the country that say otherwise, but a quorum means presence. We should be here debating. It matters. It matters that we look each other in the eye. It matters that we are here talking to each other when there are 40 million Americans without jobs while we sit here in Congress and don't do ours?

We are not doing our job. While truckers carry food products, while people go to grocery stores, while first responders do their job, why aren't we doing ours? I would posit that the Constitution contemplates our physically being here looking each other in the eye to do our job.

If we want to have debates about committee work being remote or virtual, okay, but the actual act of voting, our solemn duty to represent hundreds of thousands of people who put their trust in us to do our job, we are supposed to be here. We are supposed to work with each other.

I have got a bipartisan bill right now that would help solve the problems, the PPP Flexibility Act, with my friend DEAN PHILLIPS from Minnesota. Let's debate and vote on it. Let's offer amendments. Let's actually have a debate in this body.

It is supposed to be the people's House—the people's House. It is our job, Mr. Speaker. This is not constitutional.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

The gentleman will be happy to know he will have 2 hours of debate on how to help our constituents. I have a feeling he is going to vote "no." He is going to vote "no" to help our teachers, our first responders. He is going to vote "no" to help States, cities, and towns. That is unfortunate, but we are going to move it forward.

Mr. Speaker, I insert in the RECORD letters and statements of support for H. Res. 965 from Representative KILDEE, Representative JEFFRIES, and Representative POCAN.

CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES,
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, DC, May 13, 2020.

Hon. JIM MCGOVERN,
Chairman, Committee on Rules,
Washington, DC.

Hon. TOM COLE,
Ranking Member, Committee on Rules,
Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN MCGOVERN AND RANKING MEMBER COLE: We write today in strong support of the H. Res. 965, which temporarily implements remote voting in the full U.S. House of Representatives and remote committee proceedings during this public health emergency due to the coronavirus.

Members of Congress must continue to faithfully and safely execute the duties of our office while acting in accordance with the social distancing guidelines outlined by medical experts. The suggested temporary rules would allow for Members to proxy vote on behalf of those Members who cannot safely travel to Washington, D.C. This proposed proxy voting system strictly governs the rules where a remote Member would send a letter to the Clerk designating a proxy. Members may serve as a designated proxy for up to ten Members and must receive exact written instruction on each vote. While there is no precedent on the House Floor for proxy voting, there is precedent in House Committees, where it was in place until the 104th Congress.

The implementation of H. Res. 965 would allow committees to hold virtual hearings, markups, and depositions enabling Members to perform vital oversight, conduct fact finding and bring legislation to the Floor. Especially during this national emergency, Congress must continue to do the work of American people, especially overseeing the trillions of dollars allocated by the federal government so far to combat the pandemic.

Members also have the responsibility to model compliance with the guidelines recommended by the leading science and health experts without dereliction of our duties. Proxy voting allows for Members to be engaged in work at the Capitol while ensuring their safety and those in their communities.

As the Congress continues to find innovative ways to remain in service of the American people, I am supportive of the provision in H. Res. 965 that will direct the Committee on House Administration to study the use of technology to allow Members to vote remotely in the House. After certification has been completed determining secure and operable technology for remote voting, the Rules Committee would issue guidance and regulations for implementation that can be authorized by the Speaker to allow Members to cast their votes remotely during the time period covered by the resolution.

We appreciate your hard work on this and the solicitation of advice and ideas from Members for many weeks, including members of both parties. It is our hope that these rules are only necessary for a short period of time and the House of Representatives can return to their normal functions in a safe manner to help families and workers impacted by this terrible health crisis.

Sincerely,

DANIEL T. KILDEE,
Member of Congress.

CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES,
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, DC, May 13, 2020.

Hon. JAMES P. MCGOVERN,
*Chairman, Committee on Rules,
Washington, DC.*

DEAR CHAIRMAN MCGOVERN: Thank you for your ongoing leadership during this time of crisis. Please see my statement below in support of remote voting by proxy:

As the House continues its work during this trying time, we must have a safe, secure and reliable way of conducting our most essential duty—passing legislation on behalf of the American people. Remote voting by proxy offers a temporary, commonsense solution that will allow the House to operate safely and effectively during this crisis. The proposal crafted by Chairman McGovern allows committees to continue their important work remotely, while also providing Members with the ability to vote on legislation without the threat of hacking or undue influence from bad actors. I stand in strong support of the proposal and believe it is the best path forward as we continue to confront this pandemic.

Best,

CONGRESSMAN HAKEEM JEFFRIES,
Chairman, House Democratic Caucus.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, DC, May 14, 2020.

Hon. JIM MCGOVERN,
*Chairman, House Rules Committee,
Washington, DC.*

DEAR CHAIRMAN MCGOVERN: I write in support of efforts to ensure Members of Congress are able to vote on essential legislation while not physically present in Washington, D.C. during the coronavirus pandemic. Numerous states, including the Wisconsin Legislature, and other nations, including the British Parliament, have already instituted successful virtual legislative meeting procedures.

While I intend to be physically present and voting this week, I know several of our colleagues will be unable to vote in person due to health or travel difficulties. Foreseeing this eventuality, the Congressional Progresssive Caucus issued a Whip Question to its Members several weeks ago to measure support for instituting virtual voting in the House of Representatives. Responses from the Caucus were overwhelmingly in support.

I support remote voting efforts in Congress in whatever form they may take, and plan to vote in favor of implementing legislation when it is presented to the full U.S. House of Representatives. I thank you for your friendship and look forward to continuing to work together on this and other matters.

Sincerely,

MARK POCAN,
*Member of Congress,
Co-Chair, Progressive Caucus.*

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON LEE).

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

We cannot do and cannot do—and how many times can I say it?—we cannot stand here and do nothing.

The Constitution has no provision that prohibits this body from doing something to avoid a catastrophe of not being able to govern this Nation.

My friends who were here during the heinous tragedy of 9/11 remember that we had a continuity committee and put in a provision of the rules under Republican leadership of what would constitute a quorum.

But let me say this, my friends. No one is telling you not to be present, but what it does say is that we are prepared, we will not panic. We are prepared in case a catastrophic resurgence of COVID-19 comes in the fall as the scientists have said.

And, no, no proxy is going to dominate this floor. A proxy is directed by the Member, and they must specifically, on each vote, tell you what to do. Those directions are specific.

At the same time, no Member is prohibited, as I said, from coming to this floor. Eleanor Roosevelt said: "One thing I believe profoundly: We make our own history." That is what we are doing. We are making our history so that we can serve the American public.

Do you think truck drivers and first responders want us to collapse and not pass a bill that provides for them so they will not be furloughed and fired? They want us to do our job.

Thomas Paine said, "times that try men's souls." This is a constitutional process. It allows for us to proceed and govern this Nation without an interruption.

We have seen Members who are COVID-19 positive. It can happen to a predominant number of Members. How, then, will we respond? We need to respond with the exact idea that has been promoted and put forward in this resolution.

Let me also acknowledge the fact that 36 million have filed for unemployment; 85,000 have died. It is projected 134,000 will die. That is why we have done prison dollars. That is why we put the heroes money in so that we don't have people seeking to eat.

Mr. Speaker, I include in the RECORD an article entitled "City Staring Down $169 Million Budget Gap" and an article from the Houston Chronicle entitled "Universal testing for coronavirus is a national security issue."

[From houstonchronicle.com, May 13, 2020]

CITY STARING DOWN $169M BUDGET GAP
(By Jasper Scherer and Dylan McGuinness)

Houston Mayor Sylvester Turner, facing an economy hammered by the coronavirus pandemic and collapsing oil prices, on Tuesday proposed to close an upcoming budget gap by furloughing about 3,000 municipal workers, deferring all police cadet classes and exhausting the city's entire $20 million "rainy day" fund.

The proposals are in response to an estimated $169 million revenue shortfall for the fiscal year that begins July 1.

Emptying the rainy day fund "leaves the city in a precarious state for the upcoming hurricane season," the mayor acknowledged in a message to city council members that accompanied his budget plan. The account hold money in reserve for emergency situations, such as cash flow shortages and major disasters.

The city had just recently replenished the fund after using all $20 million in the wake of Hurricane Harvey. It will not have that option if a storm hits Houston this year.

"The dollars from the economic stabilization fund are gone," Turner said. "There is no rainy day fund."

Under Turner's plan, the city also would draw $83 million from its cash reserves to balance the budget.

The city's tax- and fee-supported general fund, which covers most basic city operations, would spend $2.53 billion under Turner's plan, a decrease of about 1 percent from the current budget. Despite the narrow spending cut, the city would be left with a general fund balance that dips below the amount required by city ordinance.

Turner said the rule makes an exception "in the event of economic instability beyond the city's control."

Houston is expected to lose nearly $100 million in sales tax revenue during current fiscal year and the one beginning in July, due in part to a precipitous drop in oil prices, along with the closure of bars, restaurants and other businesses during the pandemic.

The overall city budget, including services that are funded by dedicated fees and utility charges, is $5.1 billion, a slight increase from the current budget.

The proposed spending plan, which is subject to approval by city council, only says that the city would furlough "thousands of municipal employees." At a news conference Tuesday, Turner said the number would be around 3,000 of the city's nearly 21,000 employees. The workers would forego 10 days of paying the city roughly $7 million.

Turner did not specify which departments would be required to send workers home without pay, though he said the city would not place anyone on furlough from the police, fire and solid waste management departments.

The city will implement any cuts until the new fiscal year begins July 1, Turner said.

The bulk of the city's operating budget is devoted to paying roughly 5,200 police officers and nearly 3,800 firefighters. Public safety would account for 59 percent of the general fund under the proposal, and usually about 90 percent of the police and fire departments' costs are devoted to personnel. Both departments would see modest increases of about 2 percent in spending under Turner's plan, with police climbing to $930.6 million and the fire department to $516.9 million.

The departments seeing the biggest cuts in their operation budgets include Public Works ($4.5 million, or 14.3 percent of its budget); Parks and Recreation ($10.4 million, 13 percent); and Solid Waste ($4.5 million, 4.8 percent).

Turner's budget plan could undergo significant changes, the mayor said Tuesday, if Congress allows local governments to spend COVID-19 stimulus funds to make up for lost tax revenue. Houston received $404 million from the roughly $2 trillion coronavirus stimulus package and for now is barred from spending it on previously budgeted expenses, though city officials may identify some public safety expenses related to the pandemic that can be covered with federal aid, Turner said.

"More than likely you will see additional dollars flowing into this budget in the next couple of weeks," Turner said.

The mayor already is proposing to use federal COVID-19 funds to cover the city's roughly $10 million annual contract with the Houston Zoo, which is paid out of the general fund. Turner said he also has directed the fire and police chiefs to determine which of their recent operations were devoted to COVID-19—spending that could be eligible for federal aid.

Democratic lawmakers in Washington, D.C., also have sought more money for state and local governments in Congress' next stimulus package, though such plans have met skepticism in GPO ranks.

Even if Congress gives Houston officials more flexibility to spend the funds, Turner said the $404 million will not cover all the city's COVID-19 expenses and lost revenue. The city already is projected to spend about $200 million on testing, contact tracing and other health expenses, Turner said, while putting additional funds toward rental assistance and programs to help homeless Houstonians.

"The $404 (million), though it seems like a big number, it's not big at all considering the needs that exist," Turner said. "Just because we may be able to pull dollars from what we have received, it doesn't mean that there will be sufficient dollars to do it."

If the federal government does provide more money, Turner said his first priority would be to reinstate the police cadet classes, which would cost $14 million. Next on the list would be eliminating furloughs and refilling the city's reserves.

Cities across the country already have slashed large chunks of their payrolls, placing workers on furlough, laying off employees and implementing hiring freezes. As many as 1 million municipal workers may be laid off or placed on furlough, according to the National League of Cities.

UNIVERSAL TESTING FOR CORONAVIRUS IS A NATIONAL SECURITY ISSUE

(By Rep. Sheila Jackson Lee)

Most Americans are not fully aware how up to now the United States has been so effective at preventing, combating, and mitigating outbreaks of infectious disease. We have been able to do this because of the expertise and responsiveness of superb institutions, independent agencies and offices throughout the federal government that effectively dealt with Ebola, H1N1, Zika, SARS and MERS.

I was alarmed by news reports in late December 2019 of a new or novel coronavirus. By January, the machinery of government with its unparalleled ability to project power globally, galvanize our allies, and coordinate peer competitors in the field of science and technology should have activated to provide all needed resources and assistance to China to contain the disease. This was not a China problem; it was a global threat requiring a global response.

So early the next month, on Feb. 10, I held a press conference to raise public awareness on the emerging threat posed. Two weeks later, on Feb. 24, I called another press conference to urge that testing be given the highest priority in battling the spread of the new coronavirus and the sickness it causes called COVID-19. And I continue to champion testing as the tool that federal, state, tribal and territorial governments must embrace to support our COVID-19 economic recovery.

We are at the beginning of May and testing is still urgently needed. There cannot be further delay in acting. If we cannot see COVID-19 there is no way to stop it. If we do not dramatically increase testing, we will remain prisoners of COVID-19 until we have a vaccine widely available, which is not expected to occur until early 2021.

As the nation does battle with COVID-19 it is not the role of public policy makers to determine acceptable losses of civilian lives. Although in military battles commanders must calculate acceptable losses as part of battle plans, none of these calculations are based on the intentional sacrifice of lives. Any commander thought to have unnecessarily cost the lives of soldiers or civilians through their actions or decisions would face severe consequences. If the decisions are not driven by public health, but by economic interest, this is the wrong calculation. The economic injury caused by COVID-19 is because there has been and continues to be insufficient testing to check its spread.

Decisions to open state economies seem to want to place responsibility upon small business owners who decide to reopen without making clear what the consequences may be to them if even one case of COVID-19 occurs among their employees or customers.

For this reason, I have partnered with Houston hospitals, local public health agencies, local businesses and international corporations to promote the provision of community-based COVID-19 testing sites to assist in this critical first step in stopping COVID-19's unchecked spread in local communities.

The economic and health security of the nation hinges on getting testing in every community so that we can shine a light on where COVID-19 is and where it is not present. The lack of testing early on and the continued lack of testing is costing trillions in lost economic output and it will continue to cost much more as we struggle to save lives through social distancing and providing adequate universal access to COVID-19 medical treatment, equipment and PPE to protect medical personnel as well as essential workers.

The United States needs to meet or exceed the recovery rate of other nations around the globe so that our national economy can benefit as the global economy recovers. This will happen once we demonstrate that our nation can do the hard work of implementing successful testing, contact tracing and social distance programs. Other nations including our own will not tolerate reinfections once they are under control because a COVID-19 infection anywhere is a threat to people living everywhere.

The virus that causes COVID-19 is less than five months old and it has rocked the world with its arrival. If this new coronavirus is under active transmission in communities, it could continue to evolve. This is the reason we must do the hard job of stopping this virus and do it sooner than later.

There are six actions that can be taken before the end of the summer to make it possible for children to return to school in the fall:

1. The president should use the Defense Production Act to produce enough of the COVID-19 15-minute test recently approved by the FDA for use in high risk areas like urban, rural, and Native American communities and environment such as food processing, warehouses, production lines or factories;

2. Target COVID-19 pandemic aid to communities based upon mortality not just known infections;

3. Equip health care professionals with enough PPE to provide home health visits to the elderly who will need more engagement than telemedicine can provide to ensure their health and welfare;

4. Provide 100 percent paid medical leave for persons who themselves or someone in their household have one or more of the known risk factors that make COVID-19 a deadly threat;

5. Implement robust contact tracing efforts to ensure that every infection is tracked and those who may have been infected are identified; and

6. Prepare contingencies to address public emergencies such as hurricanes, tornadoes and wildfires in conjunction with COVID-19 for known seasonal high-risk disaster areas of the nation, such as along the Gulf Coast, the Mid-Atlantic, Tornado Alley and fire-prone California and the Caribbean.

A greater commitment to universal testing will save the lives of hundreds of thousands of people and cost far less than the economic stimulus that is very necessary as the economy stagnates under the weight of COVID-19 stay at home orders and quarantines. A misstep at this point can have dire consequences for the lives of families, their children and the elderly; and result in an even deeper impact on the local, state and national economy.

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, we need rural, city, local, and State funding and $15 million in rental assistance. We need to do this resolution and pass the HEROES legislation now.

Mr. Speaker, as a senior member of the Committees on the Judiciary, and on Homeland Security, and the Budget, I rise in strong support of H. Res. 965, which authorizes the Speaker, in consultation with the Minority Leader, to temporarily implement remote committee proceedings and remote voting in the House when she has been notified by the Sergeant-at-Arms, in consultation with the Attending Physician, of a public health emergency due to the coronavirus.

When exercised, that authority lasts for 45 days but can be extended if the public health emergency persists or there is a resurgence.

Mr. Speaker, in the 231 years since the first Congress met in New York City on March 4, 1789, our nation has undergone and overcome many crises and challenges, from the presence of British troops in the capital city during the War of 1812, to the Civil War, World Wars I and II, the Spanish Flu of 1918, the Great Depression, and the Great Recession of 2008.

Through it all, Americans have persevered and America has flourished because Americans do not give up hope or give in to despair.

Instead of cursing the darkness, we light candles.

Our national history is one of pride in our democracy, in a government of, for, and by the people, and our willingness to sacrifice to keep it and our ability to adapt to changing times to sustain it.

Mr. Speaker, we are now in the midst of one of those 'times that try men's souls,' as Thomas Paine put it two centuries ago.

As of yesterday, there were at minimum 4,405,688 cases of COVID-19 across the globe and 1,400,500 in the United States, resulting in more than 300,000 deaths worldwide and more than 84,985 in the United States.

With just 4 percent of the world's population, the United States has one-third of the total COVID-19 cases and nearly 30 percent of deaths from COVID-19 globally.

Mr. Speaker, the necessary measures taken to slow the pandemic and 'flatten the curve' so as not to overwhelm the nation's health care system has also delivered a severe shock to economic activity in the United States.

Yesterday, the Department of Labor reported that the number of first-time unemployment insurance claims exceeded 2.85 million, bring the total number of unemployed to 36 million, shattering by orders of magnitude all previous marks.

So, Mr Speaker, it is essential that this Congress act and act now to put in place measure that will address the public health crisis, stem the economic onslaught, and ameliorate the suffering and deprivation of individuals and communities.

But requires that we first ensure that the Congress discharge the duties delegated it under the Constitution in a way that does not needlessly endanger Members, their staff, or any of the thousands of Capitol Hill personnel.

That is the purpose and intent of H. Res. 965; to allow Members from across the country to continue legislating on behalf of the American people while adhering to the advice of medical experts and protecting public health.

First, the resolution authorizes remote committee proceedings during the pandemic.

During the public health emergency period, committees are authorized to hold virtual hearings, markups, and depositions so Members can perform oversight, conduct fact-finding, and prepare legislation for the House floor.

Committee chairs can choose to hold entirely virtual proceedings, with Members participating from any location, or they can hold proceedings in the hearing room with some Members participating remotely.

Members participating remotely will count toward a quorum and be able to vote.

Committees are required to use software platforms approved by the Chief Administrative Officer (CAO) for remote participation.

Second, H. Res. 965 authorizes and implements procedures for remote voting on the House floor during the pandemic.

Specifically, the resolution allows for remote voting by proxy on the House Floor during the public health emergency period.

All Members voting remotely will be counted toward a quorum.

After sending a letter to the Clerk designating a proxy, Members are permitted to vote remotely on any vote.

Members voting remotely will be given 24-hours' notice before any final passage vote to ensure they can secure a proxy if they have not yet designated one.

Mr. Speaker, it is important to emphasize that this is not a general proxy, rather proxies must receive exact written instruction from the Member voting by proxy on each vote and are required to follow that instruction precisely.

To ensure transparency, a list of designated proxies will be posted on the Clerk's website and a list of Members voting remotely will be printed in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD following each vote.

In addition, Members' votes will be read aloud during the vote.

Additionally, no Member can serve as a designated proxy for more than ten Members.

Finally, the resolution provides for remote voting through technology during the pandemic, after a system is developed and certified.

The resolution directs the chair of the House Administration Committee to study the feasibility of using technology to vote remotely in the House, and to provide certification upon a determination that there is operable and secure technology for remote voting.

After the certification, the chair of the Rules Committee is directed to issue regulations on the implementation of remote voting and the Speaker is then authorized to notify the House that Members may cast their votes remotely during the public health emergency period covered by the resolution.

Mr. Speaker, in this moment of national crisis Americans are looking to their government to be there for them and enact policies and take action that will see us through this pandemic as safely and as quickly as possible.

To ensure that the House, the first branch of the co-equal but preeminent body vested by Article I with the power to investigate, legislate, and appropriate in further of the general welfare and national defense, remains able to discharge its constitutional duty, I urge all Members to join me in voting to pass H. Res. 965.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Washington (Mr. NEWHOUSE), my good friend and former Rules Committee member.

Mr. NEWHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Article I, section 5 of the United States Constitution states that only a majority can constitute a quorum in order to do the business of the people's House. As a former member of the House Rules Committee, I have a deep appreciation and a commitment to the precedence and procedures of this hallowed body.

But under this democratic proxy voting scheme before us today, only 22 House Democrats would need to be present in this Chamber to pass any and every single bill moving forward. This is a forced consolidation of power to a select few insiders, and it simply does not reflect the values of our constitution, our history, and our Nation.

The constituents of my Washington's Fourth Congressional District did not vote for their Representative to simply defer to a proxy and shirk the duties of serving as a U.S. Representative.

Mr. Speaker, the American people deserve more, and I urge a "no" vote on this terribly ill-advised and unconstitutional resolution.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I insert in the RECORD an April 14 AP news article entitled, "Wisconsin Assembly OKs Virus Bill in First Virtual Session."

WISCONSIN ASSEMBLY OKS VIRUS BILL IN FIRST VIRTUAL SESSION
(By Todd Richmond)

MADISON, WIS. (AP).—The Wisconsin Assembly overwhelmingly approved a sweeping coronavirus relief bill Tuesday during a virtual session, the first time state lawmakers have gathered since the pandemic began in the United States.

The session took place in the Assembly chamber as usual, but due to concerns about spreading the virus nearly two-thirds of the body's 99 members attended via video-conference. The Senate was to hold a similar session on Wednesday to send the bill on to Democratic Gov. Tony Evers.

It marked the first time in Wisconsin's 172-year history that lawmakers convened a session with members participating remotely. Legislative rules require lawmakers to be present to debate and vote on bills but a 2009 law allows for virtual sessions during disasters.

One section of the Assembly gallery was open to the public, with only 14 seats available and each spread out 6 feet apart. Public seating, also 6 feet apart, was available in the Capitol rotunda with speakers and TVs tuned to WisEye, the Legislature's version of C-SPAN. Two large TV screens, tuned to Skype, were set up on the Assembly chamber floor. About 35 members sat in the chamber, all spaced several seats apart. Many rows were empty. Several pages wore face masks, as did Assembly Minority Leader GORDON HINTZ. He was the only Democrat on the floor.

The session got off to a slow start as Chief Clerk Pat Fuller tried to call the roll. Lawmakers joined from their kitchens, Capitol offices and home offices and struggled to unmute themselves and register their attendance before Fuller moved on to the next legislator. Some seemed amused at the setup, smiling and waving to the camera. Others initially appeared befuddled, apparently unable to hear or to figure out how to be heard. Roll call votes took minutes as Fuller asked each lawmaker individually for his or her vote. In a normal world voting is almost instantaneous as lawmakers signal their votes from their seats with the touch of a button.

Moments before adjourning for a 10-minute recess, Speaker Pro Tempore Tyler August warned lawmakers not to touch their laptops during the break because if they disconnected themselves they wouldn't be able to log back in. Assembly Speaker Robin Vos, one of the few legislators on the floor, said setting up the virtual session was "extremely challenging" and he hoped the Assembly would never have to meet that way again.

The process smoothed out as the session progressed. The chamber ended up approving the bill 97-2.

The legislation largely ensures that Wisconsin can capture the $2.3 billion coming to the state under the federal stimulus bill, including higher Medicaid payments and unemployment benefits. The Legislature's budget committee would be allowed to allocate up to $75 million in funding during the public health emergency and up to 90 days after it ends.

The measure also would waive the state's one-week waiting period to receive unemployment for anyone who applies between March and Feb. 7, 2021; ban certain insurers from prohibiting coverage based on a COVID-19 diagnosis; ease licensing and credentialing for health care workers; reduce nurse training hour requirements; and render health providers immune from civil liability for services provided during the pandemic. Local municipalities also could choose to defer their residents' property tax payments.

Evers' administration has been working closely with Vos and Senate Majority Leader Scott Fitzgerald on the bill. The governor did not say Monday whether he supported the bill, saying he had not reviewed it, but he hoped it wouldn't be the last action taken by the Legislature to offer aid during the pandemic.

Nineteen states had allocated more than $3 billion to respond to the pandemic as of Friday, according to the National Conference of State Legislatures and the Wisconsin Policy Forum.

As of Tuesday, COVID-19 had killed 170 people in Wisconsin and infected more than 3,500. Among those who contracted the virus and recovered is Democratic state Rep. David Bowen, of Milwaukee.

Vos and Hintz were the only lawmakers who spoke about the bill prior to the vote. Hintz said the Legislature should be prepared to return to work on further legislation that helps Evers deal with the pandemic.

"We should make sure we are listening, enabling and supporting and giving (the Evers administration) the flexibility to manage this crisis," he said. "I refuse to admit this is all we can do as a state."

But Vos cautioned against giving Evers "blank checks" as the virus wreaks "economic carnage" on the state's finances. He said he was disappointed the bill didn't freeze state spending in fiscal year 2020-21 and lamented that state workers will still get an automatic 2% raise.

"We have to be just like a family where the credit card use is limited," Vos said. "Think before we spend. Make investments that are wise but not wanting."

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I insert in the RECORD a May 6 Boston Globe article entitled, "For the First Time in 400 Years, Mass. Lawmakers Vote Remotely."

[From the Boston Globe, May 6, 2020]

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN 400 YEARS, MASS. LAWMAKERS VOTE REMOTELY

(By Matt Stout)

With lawmakers dialing in from across the state, the Massachusetts House of Representatives on Wednesday voted remotely for the first time in the body's near 400-year history, and officially relaunched formal lawmaking amid the novel coronavirus pandemic.

The historic session, which lasted roughly an hour, included one substantive vote: a 157-0 roll call approving a bill that would allow the state to borrow billions of dollars over the next eight weeks to help pay its bills.

It came amid a surreal scene. As a smattering of people, including House Speaker Robert A. DeLeo, held court in a mostly empty chamber, dozens of representatives called in to a network of conference call lines, where other lawmakers gathered and recorded their votes.

A livestream offered a view inside, showing a half-circle of stanchions surrounding the rostrum to separate DeLeo, House clerk Steve T. James, a court officer, and others—all of whom were wearing masks—from the rows of seats where representatives would otherwise be stationed.

Where they actually were ran the gamut. Representative William Driscoll Jr., a Milton Democrat, tweeted a photo from his car parked in the Blue Hills Reservation, the livestream playing from a phone propped up on his dashboard. Representative Tram T. Nguyen shared a picture of her logged in from a kitchen countertop. Representative Susannah Whipps showed off a plate of vegetables on her Twitter feed.

House leaders discussed for weeks how to relaunch formal legislative sessions amid the spread of COVID-19, after spending the better part of two months moving bills through informal gatherings with no debate and where a single "no" vote could stall legislation.

The set of emergency rules was approved Monday, but only after a heated, partisan dispute that started when House minority leader Bradley H. Jones blocked the rules package, arguing that it effectively limited how often most representatives would be allowed to speak.

He had accused DeLeo of using the crisis to "achieve more power," while the Winthrop Democrat lashed out at what he called the Republicans' "recklessness and fiscal irresponsibility." (The House couldn't pass the borrowing bill unless the House held a formal vote.)

Jones and DeLeo ultimately agreed to a revision this week that allows some Republicans, including Jones, more chances to speak during legislative debates under the new rules, which could remain in effect until as late as January.

Such back-and-forth was largely absent from Wednesday's otherwise smooth session, though it included some awkward but harmless hiccups as lawmakers adjusted to their new remote reality.

Shortly before DeLeo opened the session, a voice fluttered through on the livestream.

"Hello?" a lawmaker asked.

Another voice quickly cut in, informing him he had accidentally called a number connected to a microphone within the chamber. "You're actually dialed into the rostrum line," he was told.

Later, when Representative Denise Garlick called in to speak on the borrowing bill, a delayed feedback from the session was audible over the livestream—trailing the chamber by several moments and causing Garlick to pause for several moments after DeLeo recognized her.

When she wrapped her testimony, a long pause again settled over the line, and the phrase "[Audio difficulties]" popped up on the livestream feed.

"Is the representative finished with her remarks?" DeLeo eventually asked.

"Yes," Garlick said.

Representative Harold P. Naughton was the only lawmaker not to cast a vote, but the Clinton Democrat had a good excuse: A lieutenant colonel in the Massachusetts Army National Guard, he was activated roughly a month ago and is reporting to Hanscom Air Force Base through May 31, he said Wednesday.

"I've been pushing back information that I feel my colleagues need from the vantage point of the National Guard," he said in a phone call, adding he did listen to the session. "It was pretty historic."

The Legislature owes its roots to Colonial times, when the "General Court" gathered for the first time in 1629 in London and later became the government of the Massachusetts Bay Colony. Amid its various iterations, members have met in person to cast votes, and House leaders initially questioned whether the state's constitution even allowed it to conduct remote voting.

The House's emergency rules try to limit who could be in the chamber to DeLeo and Jones; Aaron Michlewitz, DeLeo's budget chairman; eight "monitors" who would tally votes from members on conference call lines; and a few other Republicans, Democrats, and staff.

The bill the chamber passed Wednesday allows the state treasurer to borrow any "necessary" amount this fiscal year and pay it back by June 2021. Donning a gray mask, Michlewitz said from the House floor that the amount could be "in the range of $3 billion," though it will depend on how the state's finances weather the pandemic.

The legislation was first filed by Governor Charlie Baker amid fears the state could face a budget gap after pushing its April 15 tax filing deadline into July, potentially diverting huge chunks of money it would otherwise collect now into next fiscal year.

That appeared to already be happening. Massachusetts tax revenues plummeted last month, dropping more than 50 percent below what the state collected at this time a year ago. The $1.98 billion in taxes the state collected in April—typically the biggest tax month—was more than $2 billion below state projections.

"A staggering number to say the least," Michlewitz said.

So, after Garlick and Representative Todd Smola, a Warren Republican, spoke in support of the bill, DeLeo teed up a roll call. Minutes later, he documented the 157-0 tally to officially move the bill to the Senate, where leaders are weighing their own rules to hold a remote session.

"Congratulations," DeLeo said to representatives watching and listening in. And he rapped the gavel to close the session.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I insert in the RECORD an April 1 Courier Journal article entitled, "Kentucky House Dramatically Limits In-Person Voting on Bills Due to Coronavirus Concerns."

[From the Louisville Courier Journal, Apr. 1, 2020]

KENTUCKY HOUSE DRAMATICALLY LIMITS IN-PERSON VOTING ON BILLS DUE TO CORONAVIRUS CONCERNS

(By Joe Sonka)

FRANKFORT, KY.—For the first time in the history of the Kentucky General Assembly, a large majority of House members voted on bills remotely by texting photos of their paper ballot via phone.

The move is part of rule changes adopted Wednesday out of concern about the coronavirus pandemic.

The change was agreed on by leadership of the Republican majority and Democratic minority of the House in order to keep members from being in close proximity on the floor of the chamber, as the number of confirmed cases of COVID-19 in Kentucky continued to increase.

On Monday, lawmakers learned that a legislative staffer had tested positive for the coronavirus, though no legislators had announced testing positive as of Wednesday.

In a press release announcing the rules change shortly before the House gavelled in on Wednesday, House Speaker David Osborne, R-Prospect, said the pandemic is a historic challenge to the state, and his chamber "is willing to take equally historic steps to meet our Constitutional obligations to the people of Kentucky."

"I appreciate the support of our Caucus members, House Minority Leadership, and our staff in making it possible to use every tool available to us in order to finish our work" Osborne stated.

In order to adopt the rules change to allow remote voting, House leadership allowed members to enter in groups of 25 to cast their vote as present and in favor of amending the rules.

Under the rules change, members could text a photo of their paper ballot vote to designated members of their party who remained on the House floor and cast their votes.

Following the approval of the rules change, members voted 89-1 to adopt Senate Bill 249—freezing the pension contribution rate of local government employers—in a nearly empty chamber.

The three Democratic leadership members remained on the floor as vote designates, while three Republicans remained as vote designates along with Osborne and two other GOP members of leadership.

Two Democratic House members—Reps. Terri Branham Clark and Nima Kulkarni—were seen casting their votes on the bill from their cars in the parking lot outside the Capitol Building.

Part of the reason Democratic leadership agreed to the change was a pledge they received from Republicans that the House would take up only vital budget and revenue bills on the floor Wednesday, and not unrelated bills.

After the passage of SB 249, Rep. Chris Harris, D-Pikeville, entered the chamber and spoke in praise of Osborne's move to change the voting rules—noting that two weeks earlier he spoke on the floor denouncing House Republicans' decision to remain in session and vote on bills that were not related to a state budget or responding to the coronavirus crisis.

"I thank you for taking these historic and unprecedented measures to protect not only our members, but our families and communities," Harris said. "I was critical when I felt you weren't getting it right, so I want to be just as vocal in complimenting you today."

The House later used the same voting method to approve a one-year state budget for the executive branch and other appropriations and revenue bills that passed the Senate earlier in the day.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. GROTHMAN), my very good friend.

Mr. GROTHMAN. Mr. Speaker, I will bring up three things that are very wrong with proxy voting that I don't think have been brought up today.

First of all, one of the problems we have in this building is, even though we all represent 700,000 people, there are some Congressmen who are a great deal more powerful than others, and this bill will greatly increase the power of leadership.

Right now, people run into each other in the halls, talk to each other in the Cloakroom, question parts of the bill, and sometimes question leadership's narrative. This bill says everybody is going to be back at home, which greatly strengthens the power of leadership because people aren't around to question the bill.

Secondly, it lessens bipartisanship. When we are gone, we do have conference calls with other Republicans, but I find I talk to Democrats much more when we are in this building; and by taking people out of this building, you will decrease bipartisanship as you make proxy voting the norm.

Finally, you are penalizing the press. We should all be available to the press after these votes so they get a variety of perspectives. We are going to work our way down to the point where it is the Speaker and a few other Democrats around, and the press are not going to be able to talk to us all. It is an insult to the press.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I insert in the RECORD an April 22 Washington Post article entitled, "U.K.'s Zoom Parliament Launches With a Few Glitches But Shows Virtual Democracy May Work for a While."

U.K.'S ZOOM PARLIAMENT LAUNCHES WITH A FEW GLITCHES BUT SHOWS VIRTUAL DEMOCRACY MAY WORK FOR A WHILE

(By William Booth)

LONDON.—Britain's extraordinary first "Parliament via Zoom" proceeded Wednesday in rather ordinary fashion, with the usual barbed questions and artful evasion by politicians, plus the addition of awkward views of oversize chins and bookshelves staged as backdrops.

Everything was the same, and everything was a little odd.

Breaking 700 years of tradition, the British Parliament has agreed to serve as a cradle of virtual democracy—to allow members to continue to debate, vote and legislate, but via video conferencing app, from the safety of their own homes, for the duration of Britain's coronavirus lockdown.

On Wednesday, there were a few minor technical hiccups. Some lawmakers' heads were cropped at the eyebrows by the bad framing. Their mics were sometimes too close or too far away, or the Internet connection bad, and so voices sounded tinny or muffled or like Darth Vader.

But all in all, for no rehearsals? Not a bad opening matinee.

For centuries, it has been essential for members of Parliament to be present in the Houses of Commons or Lords to vote. That's why special "division bells" ring out in Westminster's offices and committee rooms—and many bars—alerting lawmakers they have eight minutes to enter their lobbies, before doors are bolted shut.

Now, instead, they will get a ping on their mobile phones.

Britain is trying out "hybrid proceedings," where up to 50 lawmakers can be in the House of Commons—spaced six feet apart on the green leather benches—while another 150 of the 650 members can join by Zoom.

Wednesday's premiere featured the weekly thrust-and-parry session known as "Prime Minister's Questions," or PMQs.

Foreign Secretary Dominic Raab stood at the despatch box in place of Prime Minister Boris Johnson, who is recovering from the bout of covid-19 that put him in the hospital for a week.

In the sparsely populated House of Commons, Raab was quizzed by the new leader of the opposition Labour Party, Keir Starmer, who was prosecutorial in his questioning, insisting the government was slow to order a lockdown, slow to do widespread testing for the virus and slow to get vital protective gowns, masks and visors into the hands of front-line medical workers.

Speaker Lindsay Hoyle called on lawmakers by swiveling his head toward what appeared to be a TV monitor and shouting a version of: "We are now going over to Stephen Kinnock. STEPHEN KINNOCK!"

Shouting at a television being a time-honored tradition everywhere.

And then Kinnock, a Labour lawmaker from Wales, popped on the screen for those watching on Parliament TV—including Washington Post reporters—from their homes.

At one point, Hoyle shouted for David Mundell, a Scottish Conservative, who didn't answer.

"Unable to connect," the speaker said, perhaps creating a new meme, like the famous "orrrrrder, orrrrrder!" from past days. So they moved on.

In another exchange, Peter Bone, a Conservative from Wellingborough, was complaining about his constituents having to live off their overdraft accounts. "What on earth is going on?" Bone demanded. "When are the banks going to work in the nation interest and . . ."

Then his Zoom link went dead.

Raab said, "I got the gist," and answered anyway.

Legislatures around the world are sorting out how to proceed during the pandemic. Some—such as the German Bundestag and Irish Dail—are continuing to meet in person but with social distancing measures. Canada's Parliament is trying a mix of in-person and virtual, while the U.S. House of Representatives is fighting over a proxy voting proposal.

The Brits showed that it was possible to carry on.

The Guardian newspaper's Andrew Sparrow observed: "PMQs without 400-odd MPs in the chamber makes everything quieter, calmer, more intelligible and more grown-up. . . . Without the jeering and the aggro, it lacked gladiatorial edge, and frankly it was probably a bit more boring than the old PMQs. But boring is a much underrated virtue in governance."

Raab was questioned pointedly about the government's performance during the outbreak.

Labour lawmaker Barry Gardiner stated that the government's scientific advisory group on emergencies recommended a lockdown at the end of February. "The government claims it has followed scientific advice," he said. "But it hasn't, has it?"

Starmer asked Raab how it will be possible to go from the current 18,000 coronavirus tests a day to the 100,000 promised by the government by the end of the month.

Raab sought to correct Starmer, pointing out that the "capacity" stands at 40,000.

Starmer wasn't having it. "I didn't need correcting because I gave the figure for actual tests being carried out, which is 18,000," he said.

At the end of the session, Raab was asked by a Labour lawmaker if Britain would be "drawn into the U.S. president's disgraceful vendetta against the World Health Organization."

President Trump has cut off funding to the WHO because he says the international body sides too closely with China, where the virus first exploded onto the scene.

Raab said Britain supported international efforts and was a "leading player, whether it's on vaccines or supporting vulnerable countries, in helping to get through what is a global crisis."

He said the WHO has "has a role to play. It's not perfect, no international institution is—we do need to work to reform it. But we made clear we consider it an important part of the international response."

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, breaking 700 years of tradition, I also insert in the RECORD a March 26 Politico article entitled, "Corona-era European Parliament: Empty Chamber and E-Voting."

[From the Politico, Mar. 27, 2020]

CORONA-ERA EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT: EMPTY CHAMBER AND E-VOTING

(By Maia De La Baume)

The chamber was almost empty, even for a presidential address. One lawmaker wore a face mask. And deputies voted remotely for the first time in the assembly's 62-year history.

Welcome to the European Parliament in the age of social distancing.

The Parliament's special one-day plenary session on Thursday, held to pass a series of corona virus emergency measures, was a mixture of the strange, the surreal and the historic.

Only a handful of the Parliament's 705 members sat in the hemicycle chamber in Brussels. The rest were scattered across the Continent, following via video-link and voting by email from their home countries.

When European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen delivered a speech chastising EU member countries for thinking only of themselves at the start of the crisis, she stood meters apart from any aides and MEPs.

Parliament President David Sassoli, back in the building following a fortnight working from home after a visit to his home country of Italy, called the session “special and atypical.”

“It is the first time that a democratic parliament uses remote participation, this has never happened before,” Sassoli told MEPs after a first round of emailed votes. “The European Parliament is called on to experiment with things in this way at a moment for great danger for our citizens.”

As experiments go, this one was quite radical.

The Parliament’s regular plenary venue of Strasbourg has been abandoned for the next few months, at least. As much as the Parliament has a physical home at all right now, it’s Brussels.

Plenary sessions are normally four days long. But on Thursday everything was crammed into a one-day marathon to push through three coronavirus-related measures, including freeing up 37 billion in EU funding for member governments and temporarily allowing airlines not to use their slots at airports.

Some of the Parliament’s usual quirks were suspended—such as the “catch the eye” procedure whereby MEPs signal to the president that they wish to speak, and the blue cards raised to indicate a wish to question a fellow member.

Fewer ushers than usual roamed the chamber and they kept their distance from one another. Interpreters sat alone in their booths, rather than being crammed in with colleagues. Journalists were advised to stay away and watched via video stream.

Among the few MEPs who attended in person, Fulvio Martusciello of Italy wore a large white face mask. A Spanish MEP sported a new beard, perhaps a result of personal confinement.

In the Parliament, MEPs usually vote by raising their hands or by pushing a button on their desks to give their verdict on dozens or more amendments before adopting a final legislative proposal.

But on Thursday they considered only a few amendments as legislation was rushed through under an emergency procedure. And they voted from all across Europe by printing out a form, then signing, scanning and emailing it to the Parliament.

For some, such technological advances were long overdue.

For some, such technological advances were long overdue.

Bulgarian center-right MEP Eva Maydell also endorsed the innovation. But, she added, “this way of voting is only feasible for single votes. We need another solution for longer votes.”

Some MEPs apparently doubted their colleagues were up to the challenge of the new system. German Green MEP Rasmus Andresen asked his fellow lawmakers on Twitter not to “send your votes to all colleagues (dont push the “reply all” Button). It’s good to be transparent, but i dont want to receive about 2000 emails with your votes in my inbox today.” (No older MEPs shot back by criticizing his lack of apostrophes or use of upper and lower case letters.)

Other MEPs complained about formatting issues with the first ballots that were sent to them, including trouble converting the documents into a PDF if they were using Apple devices.

Dita Charanzova from the centrist Renew Europe group told POLITICO the Parliament should have gone entirely digital and regretted that staff such as ushers had to attend, given that people are meant to be staying at home for health reasons.

“We are now a digital Parliament, no one should have to take a risk just for a few members in an empty room,” Charanzova said. “It’s ridiculous to see the Commission there, and some MEPs. We should have gone completely digital for this plenary and for all future plenaries until the crisis is over.”

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. WALDEN), my good friend and the distinguished ranking member and former chairman of the Energy and Commerce Committee.

Mr. WALDEN. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend from Oklahoma, the current Republican leader of the Rules Committee, for yielding.

We are in unprecedented times, and unprecedented times do call for unprecedented actions. But using these times to smash a wrecking ball into the foundation of democratic lawmaking by making government more remote, more isolated from the people by dramatically centralizing even more power with those few at the top in the majority while giving the range of the House to fewer than 25 Members who show up with votes, with proxies, seems like a return to boss politics.

This is not to say there is never room for improvement in the way the House conducts its business.

Mr. Speaker, 10 years ago, I led the transition effort for House Republicans, and we looked at ways that we could modernize Congress and improve its operations.

But I knew these were matters not to be taken lightly and we needed an inclusive, bipartisan approach, and I took great care to solicit input from Democrats and Republicans alike. We even put up a suggestion box.

What we did was good work. The changes were relatively small, but the process was robust. Unfortunately, the reverse is true of this proposal.

“Regular order,” “accountability,” “transparency”—for the most part—“bipartisanship,” these are words that govern the Energy and Commerce Committee, the Republicans and Democrats. As the Republican leader of the Energy and Commerce Committee, I am concerned what this proposal means for the committees.

How do we preserve the rights of all Members on both sides of the dais from top to bottom as we Zoom through hearings and markups?

How do we preserve the integrity of the proceedings?

What if there is a technology failure?

What if somebody makes a mistake using the technology, like accidentally muting another Member or themselves? Haven’t we all, by now, experienced the inadequacies of video conferencing?

No serious legislator can believe that remote hearings, remote meetings, and remote markups are improved by these changes.

Moreover, this rules change further dehumanizes our processes. We all know social media has become a cancer on civility. Further distancing Members will not improve our relationships.

Think of what gets worked out between Members here on the floor or in the committees.

We need more bipartisan dialogue in this country, not less, so I urge my Democratic colleagues to withdraw this proposal and work with us to preserve the great democratic traditions of the U.S. House that will work in this challenging time.

□ 1345

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I have been inserting various articles into the RECORD showing other States and other parliaments and congresses across the world operating remotely to prove a point that it can be done.

I don't know whether my Republican friends are just intimidated by technology. I mean, listening to some of them, I think they think bifocals are a radical idea. But the bottom line is: We can do this.

The United States Senate had a remote hearing, and it worked out just fine.

The bottom line is that we are in the middle of a health crisis, a pandemic, and we need to make sure that we can continue to do our work in a safe and orderly way.

I mean, if I were cynical, I would think the reason my Republican friends are against this is to make sure we don't do anything. And I get it. They may not like the fact that we are trying to address the needs and the concerns of the American people, but we are going to do this, and I hope we get a bipartisan vote on this.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. HOYER), our distinguished majority leader.

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I want to remind us today of President Lincoln's words to Congress. He said this: "The dogmas of the quiet past are inadequate to the stormy present. The occasion is piled high with difficulty, and we must rise with the occasion. As our case is new, so we must think anew and act anew."

So said President Abraham Lincoln. So it is today.

This occasion is piled high with difficulty, but we must rise to the occasion. Our challenges are piled high, and this House must rise to meet them.

We find ourselves in new and unprecedented circumstances, so, Mr. Speaker, we must think anew and act anew.

The House has a duty to the American people to do its job, even in a crisis like this one that nobody on this floor has ever experienced. The House has a duty to the American people to do its job, especially in a crisis like this.

Let me say at the outset, Mr. Speaker—I want my colleagues to hear me on this—that there is no substitute for personal interaction of Members in a committee room or on the House floor. I share that view, Mr. MCCARTHY shares that view, Ms. PELOSI shares that view, Mr. MCCONNELL shares that view.

But when that is not possible because it poses a mortal danger—86,000 plus of our fellow citizens have died because they contracted COVID-19. It poses a mortal danger to the health of Members, staff, press, and the public, and therefore, we must provide an alternative way to do the people's business.

Now, let me say that we had a bipartisan task force. At the first task force meeting, RODNEY DAVIS, Republican from Illinois, said, "We want the Congress to be able to work."

My colleague said that, cynically, we could observe that perhaps for those who may not be able to garner a majority for what we pass, perhaps they don't want us to work.

I hope that is not the case.

I know the administration does not want us to do oversight, but that is our responsibility.

This resolution will enable the House to conduct its work in full without risking the health and safety of Americans and communities across the country from which Members come and to which they will return.

It allows committees to use remote technology to conduct hearings and mark up legislation, technology already in use safely and effectively by millions of Americans, including the Supreme Court, nine people who have decided they ought to be separated and are therefore doing what has never been done in history. It is not a revolution. They are using technology to do the same thing they could do in the hearing chamber of the United States Supreme Court, period.

The United States Senate, as so many of my colleagues have observed, held a virtual hearing. The chairman was not there. He was quarantined. The witnesses were not there. They were quarantined.

Now, there were, as Mr. MCCARTHY has suggested, Members in the hearing room. So it is what Mr. MCCARTHY refers to as a hybrid hearing. This rule provides for that.

It will also permit the use of proxy voting on the House floor and takes steps toward adopting remote voting once a platform has been deemed secure.

I had hoped that Democrats and Republicans could move forward with such changes on a bipartisan basis.

I absolutely reject any theory that the character of the House is being changed by this rule, absolutely reject it. My friend is shaking his head, "No, it is."

Nothing changes. The same people vote, the same issues will be considered, the same witnesses will be heard, the same committee rules will be followed. The only thing that changes is the technology that is available to us.

By the way, when that board was lit up, there were some who people thought that was a radical change: "I ought to be able to stand on the floor and say 'aye' or 'nay.'" And when C-SPAN was introduced: Oh, my. How radically that would change the House.

I reject, I say again, that this is any kind of radical change. What it is is the use of technology to accommodate the crisis we confront.

We had many productive discussions through our bipartisan task force, and, Mr. Speaker, I thank Mr. COLE, I thank Mr. DAVIS, I thank Minority Leader MCCARTHY. I congratulate JIM MCGOVERN, the chairman of the Rules Committee, for his fairness and for his attentiveness to everybody's position.

We didn't reach agreement. I am sorry that we didn't reach agreement. But we took a lot of the ideas that our friends on the Republican side of the aisle suggested. They were good suggestions, and we incorporated them in what we are doing.

We are including in this resolution the requirement that any software platforms are to be approved by the chief administrative officer, so some technology that is not accepted or proved to work would not be used, and allowing committees to hold hybrid hearings, which I just referred to, with both remote and in-person participation simultaneously.

However, Mr. Speaker, we were unable to reach a consensus on adopting 21st century tools that would allow the House to meet its constitutional responsibilities during this emergency, which is why Democrats are bringing this resolution to the floor today.

I hope, however, with this resolution now on the floor, that Republicans will join us in voting for it, and I urge them to do so.

If, in fact, you want the Congress to be able to act and exercise our responsibilities, you will vote for this rule, because it simply enables us to do what we have historically done: held hearings, voted on bills, brought them to the floor, had amendments, and passed them, the only difference being that there will be some people, maybe many people, who will be doing so, as technology enables us to do, virtually.

We know that remote technologies work, because the committees have already been using them to hold meetings, host forums, and engage in discussions about legislation.

Many State legislatures, Mr. Speaker, and foreign parliaments have already adopted these technologies successfully. By the way, one of them is Kentucky, for what it is worth.

The Washington metro area is still experiencing a high rate of infections, which has not yet peaked.

So our doctor, on whom we have relied for some of our health needs, says the best practice would be not to come together in one room, whether it be a committee room or the floor of the House, but would be to have people have the opportunity to vote remotely.

That is why the Capitol physician has cautioned us against bringing Members to Washington.

At the same time, more than half of those employed here as staff or support workers commute to the Capitol complex on public transit, and they are concerned. We have an obligation to protect them and their families as well.

This change is not permanent. This is to meet a temporary catastrophe that confronts our country which we have not seen the likes of for over a century.

It will not advantage or disadvantage either party. There is no partisan advantage in this rule; none, zero, zip.

It does not fundamentally alter the nature of the House or how it operates. Let me repeat that. It does not fundamentally alter the nature of the House or how it operates.

There is no dangerous precedent here, only a commonsense solution to an unprecedented crisis that demands our ingenuity and adaptability as an institution.

Now, I said it hasn't happened for more than a century. 1918, during the Spanish flu, they passed many, many pieces of legislation with two or three people on this floor.

Perhaps my colleagues on the other side of the aisle think that is better than the 432 others by technology saying, "I vote aye," "I vote nay," whether it is in committee or, frankly, on this floor.

Indeed, to paraphrase Lincoln: This is how to think anew and act anew. That is all we are doing.

We need to have a system in place not only to deal with the current crisis, but future emergencies, including the possibility that another surge of COVID-19 is going to happen this fall.

If we fail to act now, as we failed to act after 9/11, we may be in a lot of trouble come September, without the capacity to join us all together in this Chamber, but still with the capacity to join us all together and participate pursuant to the rules of this House, even though we do so virtually.

This resolution isn't just about adopting remote working tools for the House. It is about ensuring that the House of Representatives, the people's House, conducts its constitutional duties of policymaking and oversight effectively and safely.

I am not sure the executive department is shedding any tears that we are not here.

Hear me: It is about making sure that our system of checks and balances remains fully in place by keeping the House functioning to the full extent of its abilities even, as I said, it does so virtually.

Frankly, when I say something to people on some of this technology, whether it is Zoom, FaceTime, Teams, WebEx, or any other technology of that type, very frankly, when I am looking at TOM COLE on that, as we did a couple of times, I see him on the screen, I know it is TOM COLE, and when TOM COLE says something, I know that that is what TOM COLE is saying.

There is no secrecy here. There are no smoke and mirrors. There is no advantage to either party by this. That is why I do not understand why this isn't a bipartisan piece of legislation enabling this body to work in an effective way, albeit virtually.

□ 1400

Mr. Speaker, I want to thank Chairwoman LOFGREN from the House Administration Committee and Chairman MCGOVERN from the Rules Committee for their tireless efforts on this resolution, and I want to thank all of the Members who have been patient while we negotiated with Republicans through the bipartisan task force, hoping to produce a resolution that was bipartisan in its authorship.

Having said that, there is a very fundamental difference. I understand that.

Mr. COLE, at the hearing, offered a scholar's opinion that it would be unconstitutional to do this. Mr. MCGOVERN offered another scholar's opinion that it was fully constitutional to do this.

If that is the fundamental difference, I understand. But it is not because it radically changes the way this House works or radically changes the votes of the majority or the minority, or radically in any other way changes this House of Representatives to a body that is not represented. This resolution remains bipartisan in its ideas, and I hope it will be bipartisan in its adoption.

Once it has passed, I would ask my colleagues to familiarize themselves with its new proxy voting requirements and to adhere strictly to them. That will allow the Clerk's office to more effectively fulfill its role of recording and counting Members' votes with utmost accuracy.

Again, Mr. Speaker, I urge all of my colleagues to join me and many others in supporting this resolution and permitting the House to do its work safely and in compliance with social and physical distancing practices urged by all of our medical personnel.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I have been extraordinarily restrained in this debate because I have a lot of speakers that need to have time on the floor to express their feelings. Sometimes when the other side repeatedly says things that are either out of context or deserve a rebuttal, you have got to respond. To my good friends on the other side who have cited the Senate committee, they know in negotiations we said we would be happy to do exactly that. We just want markups to be in person. So please don't use the Senate committee as if we somehow were opposed to that.

Second, my friend said we are intimidated by technology. We are not intimidated by technology. Heavens.

We respect tradition and we think there is a better way to do this. As my friends know, we moved toward them in the course of that discussion.

Finally, my very good friend, the chairman, said this was a plot maybe to do nothing. We have passed four bipartisan pieces of legislation working together. We have done a lot in the last few weeks, and to suggest that we would deliberately sabotage the operation of the House simply because we disagree with you is wrong.

Quite frankly, doing nothing is bringing a bill to this floor—which you are getting ready to do in H.R. 6800—that you know the Senate won't pick up and you know the President won't sign. That is doing nothing.

We have proven that working together we can do a lot. All we ask is, let's return to that.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. ROGERS), the distinguished ranking Republican Member on the Homeland Security Committee.

Mr. ROGERS of Alabama. Mr. Speaker, I thank my good friend from Oklahoma for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong opposition to H. Res. 965. This blatant, partisan move to fundamentally alter the way the House and committees operate completely undermines the rights of the minority and over 200 years of precedent.

As ranking member of the Homeland Security Committee, I am particularly concerned how this resolution overrides the rules of our committee. At the beginning of the Congress our committee negotiated with the majority a set of rules that protected minority rights. Now those rules are being thrown out and replaced by regulations written by the chairman of the Rules Committee, regulations that the minority first saw only hours ago.

I don't understand why Speaker PELOSI doesn't trust her chairmen and chairwomen to negotiate with their ranking members on ways to accommodate committee business during this pandemic. But, apparently, she just doesn't trust them.

One of the things that concerns me most about this resolution is that nothing guarantees that Republican Members are going to properly be notified and able to fully participate in virtual committee hearings. That may sound petty to you, but, unfortunately, on my committee, it is already the reality. For the last 2 weeks, Homeland Security Democrats have been holding virtual hearings without notifying Republican Members. To make matters worse, they restricted participation to only a handful of their Members. I fear this resolution will only further empower the misconduct on my committee and cause it to spread to others.

Worst of all, this is being done for the short-term benefit of the majority, and not the American people.

Mr. Speaker, I include in the RECORD a letter from all ranking members opposing this resolution.

WASHINGTON, DC,

May 14, 2020.

Hon. STENY H. HOYER,
Majority Leader of the House,
Washington, DC.

DEAR MAJORITY LEADER HOYER: We write in regards to H. Res. 965, which proposes partisan changes that facilitate remote and virtual committee operations while the House remains in recess.

When the Majority first released proposed rule changes a few weeks ago, we couldn't possibly imagine it could get any worse for the House as an institution. Yet, somehow, the Majority managed to write an even more egregious package of rules changes and seems hellbent on pushing these changes through without bipartisan consensus.

Upending more than 200 years of precedent through partisan fiat will jeopardize the deliberative process of the House of Representatives and our ability to represent our constituents. The House will be in session this week with debate being held and votes being cast. If the whole House can conduct business while adhering to health guidelines, then so too can our Committees.

The work of committees should be prioritized to ensure that we are producing thoughtful legislation to support the continuing response to COVID-19 and to foster a robust economic recovery for the American people. Properly prioritizing this work will ensure greater flexibility in scheduling and increase our ability to follow all applicable health guidelines.

Congress has already demonstrated that we can come together during this crisis to address the needs of the American people. Unfortunately, many of the proposed changes in H. Res. 965 are only necessary if you seek to move partisan measures or legislation un-related to the COVID-19 response.

The proposed resolution gives unilateral authority to Chairman McGovern to determine how committees manage their business. Currently, committees are required to vote to ratify proposed committee rules, but this new superpower will allow a single Member of the House to determine the rules of the road for all without amendments and without a vote.

The issuance of a subpoena and conducting a deposition are serious matters. To allow remote depositions underscores how unserious H. Res. 965 truly is. A deposition is an important tool for committees to use and it should not be subject to the uncontrolled environment of an untested virtual setting.

The rights of the Minority in the House must be protected. Without the ability to ensure the rights of our Members are secured, we cannot support your efforts and will oppose any attempt to alter the rules.

As Ranking Members of all standing and select committees, we oppose this partisan assault on the rights of the House Minority and our ability to effectively represent the American people.

Sincerely,

Michael Conaway, Ranking Member, House Committee on Agriculture; Mac Thornberry, Ranking Member, House Committee on Armed Services; Virginia Foxx, Ranking Member, House Committee on Education and Labor; Kenny Marchant, Ranking Member, House Committee on Ethics; Michael McCaul, Ranking Member, House Committee on Foreign Affairs; Rodney Davis, Ranking Member, Committee on House Administration; Kay Granger, Ranking Member, House Committee on Appropriations; Steve Womack, Ranking Member, House Committee on the Budget; Greg Walden, Ranking Member, House Committee on Energy and Commerce; Patrick McHenry, Ranking Member, House Committee on Financial Services; Mike Rogers, Ranking Member, House Committee on Homeland Security.

Jim Jordan, Ranking Member, House Committee on Judiciary, House Committee on Oversight and Reform; Rob Bishop, Ranking Member, House Committee on Natural Resources; Frank Lucas, Ranking Member, House Committee on Science, Space and Technology; Sam Graves, Ranking Member, House Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure; Kevin Brady, Republican Leader, Committee on Ways & Means; Garret Graves, Ranking Member, Select Committee on the Climate Crisis; Tom Cole, Ranking Member, House Committee on Rules; Steve Chabot, Ranking Member, House Committee on Small Business; Phil Roe, Ranking Member, House Committee on Veterans' Affairs; Devin Nunes, Ranking Member, Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence; Tom Graves, Ranking Member, Select Committee on the Modernization of Congress.

Mr. ROGERS of Alabama. Mr. Speaker, many of my constituents are showing up to work every day; from grocery store clerks, to nurses, doctors, policemen, and first responders. If the House had the resolve and the courage to do the same, we wouldn't need this partisan resolution. This is disgraceful. I urge all Members to vote "no."

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I include in the RECORD a May 13 letter from Norman Ornstein, a current resident scholar at the American Enterprise Institute in support of our plan here.

MAY 13, 2020.

DEAR CHAIRMAN MCGOVERN: I want to commend you for the careful and thoughtful report you have issued and on which the House will soon act to provide the first important and meaningful steps to allow the House to operate during a dire emergency that may leave large numbers of members unable to work and be present in the Capitol to meet, vote and do other important business, including crafting and marking up legislation and doing important oversight.

As you know, I have been focused since 9/11 on making sure we have a functioning Congress at times of emergency; Congress is the first article in the Constitution, the first branch, for a reason, and it is essential for our freedom and our system of democracy that it be working and acting at all times, but especially during crises. The alternative is government by executive fiat, or no government at all. That spurred the creation of the Continuity of Government Commission, co-chaired by the late Lloyd Cutler and former Senator Alan Simpson, and which I have served as senior counselor.

My first interests, of course, stemmed from the terrorist attacks in 2001, but they were broadened by the anthrax scare that followed shortly thereafter. If it had been more directed and concerted, it could have resulted in widespread deaths and incapacitations of lawmakers in the House and Senate, meaning no quorum to meet the express Constitutional requirement and therefore no Congress for months or longer. That set of events also meant that in our Continuity of Government Commission, we had to consider the possibility of a crisis that could include a bio-attack, a pandemic, or a natural disaster. One of the things we discussed and considered, especially reflecting the interest of your colleague Jim Langevin, was the need to have a capability for Congress to debate and vote remotely if members were scattered across the country and could not meet together face to face in the Capitol or another designated forum.

Unfortunately, Congress, in the nearly 20 years since 9/11, took no significant steps to deal with these issues. Now they are back in a very serious way. COVID-19 is deadly, especially for older Americans and especially so when large numbers of people congregate closely together physically, which is a characteristic of Congress. As the congressional physician noted, meeting together in the traditional way is currently dangerous for lawmakers, their staffs, all those working in the Capitol complex, and all those they come into contact with. Travel on common carriers like airlines or trains is also dangerous, and it is possible that airlines will be shut down or curtailed enough that lawmakers back home would not be able to get back to the Capitol if there were an urgent need to meet to act for the benefit of the American people.

So the steps you have proposed, along with Majority Leader Hoyer and House Administration Chair Lofgren are thoughtful, balanced and sensitive to the need to create a plan to meet and vote remotely, while also understanding that this is a big step, given both the traditions of the House and the imperatives built into the Constitution. You commendably recognize that this first set of steps should be temporary, triggered only when absolutely necessary, and can and should be followed by additional action when we are confident that there are secure and usable technologies to allow remote voting, remote debate and deliberation, remote markups in committees, and so on. And you have pledged that you will write regulations that will balance the needs of majority and minority, be transparent, and avoid the kinds of manipulation that can occur with unlimited proxy voting.

I hope the House, in a bipartisan fashion, will endorse your plan and make sure we have a functioning House throughout this terrible crisis, to do what the Framers expected from the people's house, and to protect the interests and liberties of all of us.

Sincerely,

NORMAN ORNSTEIN,
Resident Scholar,

The American Enterprise Institute.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, in response to the gentleman who just spoke, I don't know what he is talking about, but there is nothing in this package that we are presenting that would undermine minority rights. I am happy to urge him to have his staff contact ours, but what he is talking about has nothing to do with what we are discussing here today.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from Illinois (Mr. BOST), my very good friend.

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend from Oklahoma for yielding to me.

Mr. Speaker, the American people are sacrificing on the front lines. It has already been discussed about the truck drivers, the nurses, and all of that.

I was going to go on to that, but then when I sat on this floor and listened to things that were being said—remember, I come from the State of Illinois where over a long period of time, about 35 years, we have seen small moves that sounded so good at the time, giving all of their power to the Speaker—all of their power given away, which is not what our Founding Fathers said.

Mr. Speaker, the sponsor of this bill has said on several occasions that he would like to insert this statement into the RECORD and this article into the RECORD. Well, they do not change the facts of Article I, Section 5 that are so clear, that this is unconstitutional.

I hope for the sake of the people who I represent or the people who each one of us represent that the Members will stand against this proposed rule, a rule that gives more power to one person instead of the individuals that we have here the way it was originally set up.

Mr. Speaker, as I direct my comments toward you and the Chair, I would like to say this: If you believe that I, as a Member, am going to give up by proxy the ability to represent my 720,000 people, it will not happen.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, the good news is that the gentleman doesn't have to give anything up.

Mr. Speaker, how much time remains?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Massachusetts has 1½ minutes remaining. The gentleman from Oklahoma has 8½ minutes remaining.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from Ohio (Mr. LATTA), my very good friend.

Mr. LATTA. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to H. Res. 965, which is a flagrant disregard to the Constitution and House traditions.

Proxy voting has previously been deliberated in this body. In 1970, an amendment was offered to ban all forms of proxy voting in committees. It argued committee members should be present in person to listen to debate, discuss, and vote. Proxy voting tends to add to the cloud of suspicion hanging over Congress.

The use of proxy voting on important bills gives up a Member's voice and adds to the appearance of secrecy. In 1974, an amendment was offered to entirely ban proxy voting. It was adopted by this House but later overturned by the Democratic Caucus. A CRS report gave the opponents' views to proxy voting by stating that it contributes to the domination of committee chairs, contributes to absenteeism, and detracts from the care necessary to formulate sound legislation.

A history maxim states that he who forgets the past is condemned to repeat it. Learn from our past and vote "no."

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished Member from California (Mr. LAMALFA), my good friend.

Mr. LAMALFA. Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague from Oklahoma for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, our Founders used to ride days on horseback, on wagons, and through unkind conditions to get to D.C. to do their jobs for all of us at the time. We only have to brave TSA lines and occasionally delayed flights.

The Constitution here did not catch the virus. Why are we voting on a measure here to basically suspend it? These rules have been in place since basically 1789.

Mr. Speaker, our constituents elected us to come to Congress and do our job and be their voice in Washington, D.C. This would only mute their voice.

Just as ballot harvesting in my State has led to some shady and even fraudulent outcomes, Members of Congress should not have to be here to be possibly coerced by certain other Members to how their votes should be shaped. We need to be able to show up. It is not that hard, really, at the end of the day.

We have a higher calling to come here and do our job and be present to have these interactions, to have these conversations, especially when we are talking about possibly $3 trillion of new spending that is going to be debt for the grandkids that we are still trying to be helpful to in our future generations.

I urge a "no" vote on this and we need to stop and think of what we are doing here.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from Arkansas (Mr. WESTERMAN), my very good friend.

Mr. WESTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, why is it not too big of a health concern to call us back from all across the country to vote on a useless messaging bill that will wither on the vine outside this Chamber, but it is too much to ask us to come back and hold committee hearings?

Proxy voting shouldn't happen; not now, not ever. If Members of Congress are unwilling to do their job, they should step down and let someone else do it. If politicizing a process weren't enough, the Speaker is now weakening the core foundations of Congress.

Already, House Democrats have demonstrated their expertise at crafting partisan bills behind closed doors. And on the Natural Resources Committee, they have been holding partisan virtual hearings disguised as roundtables with no Republican input.

I will concede to my colleagues across the aisle that proxy voting will keep the process moving: the wrong process, the wrong direction, and for all the wrong reasons. I am not only concerned about how we will be voting; I am also concerned about what we will be voting on.

Is the plan now for a handful of Members to come back to D.C. every other week to vote on yet another messaging bill from the Speaker? This is wrong and none of us should stand for it. Republicans are ready to get back to real work. I ask Speaker PELOSI to please quit playing games with the rules and let us do our jobs.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Alabama (Mr. BYRNE).

Mr. BYRNE. Mr. Speaker, I was listening to the majority leader talk about a statement that Abraham Lincoln made. He made it in his annual report to the Congress on December 1, 1862. In that message, he proposed one of the dumbest ideas that has ever been put forth in this Congress and that was: instead of freeing the enslaved people in this country, we would round them up and put them on boats and take them back to Africa. That is what was in his message.

He talks about the tired dogmas of the past. The Constitution is not dogma. It is the fundamental law of this country.

□ 1415

Remember, on December 1, 1862, this Congress was in this room. Fifty miles away, 10 days later, a fierce and awful battle took place in Fredericksburg, with 18,000 casualties. If it hadn't been winter, the Confederate Army could have come here and taken this building. Yet, they continued to meet here, through pandemics of yellow fever and malaria. This was the hottest spot in the country for typhoid fever for over 15 years, and the Congress still met in this room.

Millions of Americans go to work every day, doing their jobs, and they expect us to do the same. Instead of adopting this very ill-considered rule, we should all get to Washington, do our jobs, and take care of the American people.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from the great State of Pennsylvania (Mr. PERRY).

Mr. PERRY. Mr. Speaker, this isn't about changing the rules to get things done. This is about changing the rules to hide what is done and who has done it.

This rule would change what is going to happen shortly here, which is a bill that provides another $1 trillion to State and local governments in addition to the funds provided under the CARES Act. Now, much of the $1 trillion already sent to the States has yet to be spent.

Take my home State of Pennsylvania, Mr. Speaker, where the Governor there has withheld CARES Act funding and extorted the counties to go along with his indefinite shutdown, the untimely deaths of hundreds and thousands in nursing homes, and the bankruptcy of many of our citizens.

This unnecessary and unconstitutional mandate has resulted in 1.8 million Pennsylvanians losing their jobs. We are fifth in population, number one in unemployment, and one or two in untimely deaths in nursing homes.

Despite all the CARES Act funds that we have already given, 41 days is what it takes, on the average, for somebody to receive unemployment benefits run by the State.

More money isn't going to help anything here, Mr. Speaker, not one more cent.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from the great State of Michigan (Mr. WALBERG).

Mr. WALBERG. Mr. Speaker, I had an experience just last week, in a virtual hearing, when it came my turn to push the “mute off” button on the microphone, it didn’t work. I was passed over. Then, when I texted in to find out why, I was told, basically: That is too bad. We will catch you at the end.

The only place for us to be in this Congress is where we are supposed to be, and that is here. We ought to be doing our work together.

Let me read you a quote from General Omar Bradley, a famous general who understood the cost of leadership. He said, of the Athenians:

In the end, more than they wanted freedom, they wanted security. They wanted a comfortable life, and they lost it all—security, comfort, and freedom. When the freedom they wanted most was freedom from responsibility, then Athens ceased to be free.

Mr. Speaker, together, we work for the freedom of this country.

Mr. Speaker, I would submit to you that if I am not willing to do what is necessary to be here, then it is time for me to consider turning over to somebody else. I would suggest that that ought to be for all of us who are privileged to represent people in this august body, which is not like any other parliamentary body in the world, not like a State legislature. This is the U.S. Congress. Let’s act like it.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I have a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Massachusetts will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman just said that we had an official virtual hearing in this House.

I want to know whether or not, under the rules that currently exist, is it allowed for there to be official hearings virtually or remotely?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair doesn’t advise on committee proceedings.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I will take it as there was not a hearing.

Mr. WALBERG. Mr. Speaker, may I respond. Education and Labor Committee last week.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Not a hearing.

Mr. WALBERG. Witnesses.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, we have heard a lot today that the Republican plan was simply to prioritize testing for Members of Congress. Actually, it is a great deal more than that, as my friends know. It is much more expansive and much more complete.

Mr. Speaker, I include in the RECORD the Republican plan authored by the distinguished Republican leader, Mr. DAVIS of Illinois, and myself.

A PLAN FOR THE PEOPLE’S HOUSE FOUR STRATEGIES TO REOPEN CONGRESS AND RESTORE AMERICA’S VOICE (By Kevin McCarthy)

Benjamin Franklin once said, “If you fail to plan, you are planning to fail.”

Recently, we called on Speaker Pelosi to establish a clear, safe, and effective plan for reopening the House of Representatives. This follows the White House and America’s governors releasing their own detailed plans for a phased reopening of society, and now, both the United States Senate and Democratic Speaker of the California State Assembly calling their members back into session.

In the interim, a bipartisan taskforce has been convened—on which we are all serving—to further explore ways in which Congress can operate during this challenging time. While differences remain, it has become clear through our initial meetings that all members of our taskforce share several fundamental beliefs.

First, the business of the People’s House is “essential work” that must not be sidelined or ground to a halt.

Second, there is intrinsic value in a Congress—a physical meeting of people and ideas—that should be dutifully guarded.

And third, any changes to centuries-old rules and precedents of the House should be done in a deliberate and bipartisan way.

As we enter this indeterminate period between outright mitigation and a return to normalcy, everyone recognizes that our typical ways of doing business will need to adjust. Simply put, Congress will look and feel different.

However, we believe there is a pathway forward that enables the House to fully perform its key functions without compromising our shared values or sacrificing bedrock norms.

To that end, we offer four strategies that should form the basis of any plan to reopen Congress and restore America’s voice. These strategies are based on the advice of public health professionals, as well as guidance from parliamentary experts with decades of combined House experience.

We believe embracing this approach would achieve the necessary balance between health and institutional concerns—and hopefully build a more resilient and productive legislative branch in the process.

STRATEGY 1: MODIFY EXISTING PRACTICES AND STRUCTURES

The Rules Committee majority staff report on voting options during the pandemic states: “By far the best option is to use the existing House rules and current practices” (emphasis original).

Already, Congress has demonstrated its ability to adapt and to do so responsibly.

Earlier this month, the Rules Committee successfully convened an in-person business meeting in accordance with health guidelines developed by the Attending Physician and Sergeant at Arms. Likewise, over 50 members participated in a hearing on COVID-19 response efforts hosted by the Committee on Small Business. And this week, the Labor-HHS Appropriations Subcommittee will hold an in-person hearing on the coronavirus pandemic.

Beyond committee business, nearly 400 members came to the House Floor on April 23 in an orderly and physically distant fashion to record their votes on two consecutive measures, a process that Speaker Pelosi characterized as having been executed “fabulously.”

Moving forward, we should expand these protocols to reduce density and congestion in every facet of our work.

House office buildings and individual office floor plans should be assessed to provide new provisional occupancy levels—with an eye towards possible reconfigurations to accommodate physical distance.

Additionally, measures should be explored to engineer temporary controls or barriers in locations where physical distance is difficult to achieve, as is currently happening in grocery stores and other places of public accommodation across America. For example, plexiglass dividers could be installed in high trafficked areas, like security checkpoints, or possibly in committee hearing rooms along the dais to provide further separation between members.

STRATEGY 2: EMPLOY A PHASED RETURN WITH COMMITTEES

Just as our states are employing a phased reopening approach, Congress should do so as well—beginning with committees and subcommittees as the engines of regular order.

Currently, the average total membership of a standing House Committee is approximately 40 members, with average subcommittee membership in the teens.

Each committee should present an outline to the Majority Leader detailing their projected business meetings for the month ahead, along with estimated attendance levels.

Working backwards, this information could be used to generate a staggered business calendar, with rotating use of larger committee hearing rooms where necessary. Precedence should be given to bipartisan COVID-19 response measures and other high-priority legislative items, such as the National Defense Authorization Act, Water Resources Development Act, and FY21 appropriations measures.

By directing committees to focus on legislation that has bipartisan and bicameral appeal, we can make the most of each member’s time and effort, thereby making the House more productive.

This system would also ensure greater transparency and regular order for all members—as opposed to centralized decision-making by a select group of leadership and staff that reduces the role of representative to merely voting “yea” or “nay” on pre-drafted proposals.

At the start, we do not envision routine recorded votes occurring in the House every day or perhaps even every session week. Instead, our voting schedule should be reimaged in the near-term, with postponement authority providing a structure to queue up bills at the end of a week or work period.

Lastly, regular morning hour time should be restored so all members have the opportunity give one- and five-minute speeches from the House Floor, an essential forum that has not been available now for over a month.

STRATEGY 3: DEPLOY TECHNOLOGY IN A “CRAWL, WALK, RUN” PROGRESSION

The rules change proposal introduced by Chairman McGovern would enable sweeping use of technology for every element of committee business.

This is concerning for a variety of reasons—many of which are catalogued in the Rules Committee majority staff report—including untested assumptions that members have “reliable, connected technology, knowledge of how to use that technology, access to round-the-clock technical support, . . . [and] secure connectivity with the capacity to transmit potentially large amounts of data,” just to name a few.

From a security standpoint, the House averages 1.6 billion unauthorized scans, probes, and malicious attempted network cyber-connections per month. Earlier this month, our colleagues experienced this kind of incident firsthand with hackers interrupting a House Oversight Committee video event multiple times.

In our view, technology should only be deployed in a “crawl, walk, run” progression. Before we rush to discard over 200 years of precedent, we should require that rigorous testing standards be met, ample feedback be provided, and bipartisan rules of the road be agreed upon and made public to truly safeguard minority rights.

We believe “hybrid” hearings—an idea initially proposed by Democrats on the taskforce—could serve as a useful proof-of-concept to consider, similar to the model currently being used in the United Kingdom to facilitate virtual question time in the House of Commons.

For the purposes of these hybrid hearings, in-person quorum requirements should remain in place (most committee rules require only two members be present to hear testimony), with allowances for committee and non-partisan support staff to guide the proceedings and troubleshoot any technical problems. For the reasons outlined above, virtual participation should not become the default—but should instead be reserved for members in at-risk categories or who are otherwise unable to travel to D.C.

Under this proposal, committees that regularly handle sensitive and classified materials, including Intelligence and Ethics, would still be required to meet in-person.

We cannot recommend using virtual platforms for committee markups, given the mountain of unanswered questions regarding how more complex and involved procedural maneuvers would work in a remote setting.

STRATEGY 4: ACCELERATE ACTIVE RISK MITIGATION PRACTICES

Thanks to the efforts of the Attending Physician, in coordination with the House Administration Committee, the fourth strategy has already been set in motion.

Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) kits—including gloves, facemasks, and alcohol-based hand sanitizers—have been provided to each member office and committee, with additional supplies available on-demand.

Hand sanitizing stations are now ubiquitous around the Capitol campus—including on the House Floor—while enhanced cleaning procedures have become the new standard, with areas ripe for surface contamination having been limited or removed.

Staffing has been kept to a minimum through continued use of teleworking procedures, while the Capitol remains open to only members, required staff, and credentialed press.

Even so, these mitigation practices can be accelerated in several key ways.

Measured screening procedures should be considered, consisting of either self-reported medical diagnostic assessments, at-home temperature monitoring, touchless thermal temperature checks at office entry points, or any combination thereof.

A uniform “return-to-work” policy—in accordance with existing CDC guidelines—should be adopted for any staffer experiencing signs of illness.

Finally, our ongoing and iterative testing regime should be scaled as test availability increases nationwide. This plan should progress to incorporate asymptomatic randomized testing, and eventually, FDA authorized rapid antigen tests.

CONCLUSION

We fully appreciate the extraordinary nature of the challenge before us. However, when it comes to fundamentally altering how the House operates—in this case, potentially abandoning the Capitol for the remainder of the 116th Congress under the introduced Democratic proposal—every avenue should first be explored that preserves enduring institutional rules while prioritizing member health.

As Chairman McGovern recently wrote, “decisions we make today will influence the choices made in this chamber 100 years from now.”

We agree—and firmly believe it is our job as leaders of our respective parties to ensure the most reasoned voices prevail on this critical matter, not simply the loudest ones.

This pandemic has claimed too many lives and livelihoods already. We must not allow the institution we are tasked with safeguarding to be the next.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from California (Mr. MCCARTHY), who is the Republican leader of the House of Representatives.

Mr. MCCARTHY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding, and I thank him for his work, and RODNEY DAVIS’ as well. Unfortunately, it did not come to the place where we could have a bipartisan agreement.

Now, Mr. Speaker, today isn’t just a day for debate. It is also a day for remembrance. It is Peace Officers Memorial Day and the second-to-last day of Police Week. So, before I begin, I want to say thank you to everyone who serves as a police officer or is a family member of a police officer, including our wonderful Capitol Police and their families who do an incredible job protecting this campus, its employees, and its visitors. As the guardians of peace, they are on the front lines every day. Despite the danger, they are undeterred from performing their duty.

As the son of a firefighter, I know that they do not do their job for recognition or praise, but they truly deserve our gratitude, especially now. So, I thank them for everything they do, from a very grateful Congress.

Now, Mr. Speaker, the work of our frontline heroes is the definition of “essential.” It cannot be done remotely or by proxy.

Why should Congress be any different? We are supposed to represent the people. We should strive to show a level of determination in our important work that is worthy of the police officers we honor today. The American people expect us to do our part to defeat this virus just like they are doing on a daily basis.

Mr. Speaker, Speaker PELOSI said in this exact Chamber just a few weeks ago: “We are captains of the ship. We are the last to leave.”

But proxy voting calls on Congress to abandon the ship and be the first to leave for months or possibly for the rest of the session. The Speaker is on the brink of launching the most significant power grab in the history of Congress. It runs counter to 230 years of House rules and even the Constitution.

Mr. Speaker, our Founders would be ashamed that we aren’t assembling. I want every American to understand what it means for their Member of Congress to whom they lend their voice in Washington. It means that you can stay home for the rest of the year but still get paid for the rest of the year. Many Americans will not be paid.

It means that they can let someone else—Speaker PELOSI—consolidate power and do their job for them when they could do it for themselves. It means that they will participate only in legislative theater while shutting your voice out for the real lawmaking process.

A virtual Congress would be a Congress that is connected to the internet but disconnected from the American people. That isn’t fair to our constituents, our colleagues, or our country. It undermines the very purpose of representative democracy as our Founders designed it.

Roger Sherman, the only Founder to sign all four great state documents, said, in 1789: “When the people have chosen a representative, it is his duty to meet others from the different parts of the Union and consult and agree with them to such acts as are for the general benefit of the whole community.”

Sherman was right. Especially in a pandemic, our presence here, our Congress together, matters. It matters to our constituents; it matters to our institution; and it matters to all those who will come after us.

This pandemic has claimed too many lives and livelihoods already. We must not allow this great body that we are charged with safeguarding to be the next casualty if you pass this bill.

In fact, aren’t we proving today that we don’t need a virtual Congress?

In the middle of this virus, the House is conducting its business while following the health guidelines. We can do that at a committee level, too.

Our Republican colleagues, Mr. COLE and Mr. DAVIS, had submitted that “Plan for the People’s House” for the committees to work in a safe manner. It is the only side that has produced a plan, and it was a bipartisan plan to move forward. It is about more than reopening a campus. It is about restoring America’s voice.

We don’t have to choose between the health of our Capitol community and the health of this institution. We can continue to work in a safe and effective manner without overturning 230 years of constitutional and legislative tradition. Remote voting should be the final and last option, not the first and only.

Unfortunately, rather than allowing the most reasoned voices to prevail on this crucial matter, my friends across the aisle have surrendered to the loudest voice.

Mr. Speaker, as I look at this reckless proposal, I am reminded of what the great American author James Fenimore Cooper said in 1838. He said that the most dangerous attacks on freedom are made by “the largest trustees of authority, in their efforts to increase their power.”

Mr. Speaker, I believe that is worth hearing again. It was said in 1838 that the most dangerous attacks on freedom are made by “the largest trustees of authority, in their efforts to increase their power.”

Cooper was correct, and that should concern each and every one of us today. By changing the rules to increase the power of a select few, Democrats will forever alter our institution for the worse.

That will be the legacy that is left this Congress, a Congress that is a voice of people who have lent their voice throughout this Nation to 435 Members that will now shrink to 20. We were warned that the dangers of freedom will come from those who are the trustees of authority. We were warned so maybe today would never happen, but now we are witnesses of it. In a few minutes, we will be given the opportunity to make that choice.

Mr. Speaker, will your legacy be what Cooper had warned the Nation about? I hope it will not.

Mr. Speaker, if you are okay with overturning 230 years of tradition and allowing 20 Members to control Congress, then vote for this resolution.

Mr. Speaker, if you enjoy being cut out of the lawmaking process, then vote for this resolution.

Mr. Speaker, if you ran to get a title but are willing to give your vote in return, then vote for this resolution. But if you think our Congress still matters, and if you think the people's voice still matters, then I urge all of my colleagues to vote "no."

Mr. Speaker, I know each and every one of you will honor the police for doing their job. Each and every one of you will honor all those in the medical community for doing their job. I know Members will honor the delivery driver, will honor the cashier, and will honor those who are behind the check stands at Home Depot or in the grocery store because Members think what they are doing is essential.

I hope that Members look deep in their hearts because when they asked their constituents to vote for them because they believed the job they were running for was essential for the Nation—because I think it is—I want them to look at their vote.

Because, Mr. Speaker, if you believe 20 should have the power, if you believe you should have the title and not do the job, and if you believe you should be paid while you stay home, I think we have a difference of opinion.

I believe our work is essential, and I believe we are proving we can do it. I believed the Speaker when she said just a few weeks ago that we are captains of the ship and that we will be the last to leave, not the first to abandon it like you will today.

A vote for this resolution is a vote to abandon this House, to abandon the Constitution, to abandon 230 years of tradition. You will still have your title. You will have no power. And worst of all, your constituents will have no voice.

□ 1430

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Members are reminded to address their remarks to the Chair.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. McGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

The distinguished minority leader asked the question: Why should we be treated differently from anyone else in this country? That is actually a very good question, and that is why we rejected his proposal and his idea that Members of Congress get preferential treatment, that we move to the front of the line with regard to tests at a time when our doctors and our nurses and our teachers and volunteers in homeless shelters and in food banks can't get a test, but somehow we are so special that we should move to the front of the line.

We rejected that. And quite frankly, it is one of the reasons why people have a bad feeling sometimes about Congress because of when they hear those kinds of suggestions.

Quite frankly, I am ashamed that even that idea was brought forward in a serious way. I know they do this at the White House, but the idea that we would step ahead of everybody else doesn't make any sense.

Mr. Speaker, to hear some of my Republican friends, you would think this House conducts its business today, in 2020, just as it did in 1798. But that is just not true. A lot has changed these last 230 years, from the way we vote to the way we count a quorum. Americans are watching and they are listening to this debate live right now because of actions Congress took decades ago to adapt to new technology.

The changes that we are talking about here aren't permanent ones like that. These are temporary, to be used only during this pandemic. Once it is over, we go back to working side by side and in person.

State legislatures and governments around the world have already acted to make remote voting possible. I really don't know why some people here believe that this House is somehow different. We can't afford to let this pandemic stop our legislative work in its tracks.

And I would say to the minority leader: We want to do our work, and we want to do the oversight to make sure that the administration appropriates the money that we fought to get to the American people the right way.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to vote for this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. LOFGREN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H. Res. 965, a measure to ensure that the House can continue to govern during the coronavirus pandemic. The proposals before us offer new ways to conduct our legislative business. In some respects, they present new tools for governing—but they are within our authority to implement and they are not intended to replace our regular order. To the contrary, they present a fallback option to ensure that the House can continue to lead during this crisis, and as the resolution makes clear, they are intended to be used only during extraordinary circumstances.

And there can be no doubt that these are extraordinary times. We know that to date, about 1.4 million Americans have already contracted this deadly virus. To put this in perspective, that's more than the entire population of my hometown, San Jose, California, which is the tenth largest city in the country.

In just three months, more Americans have died from the coronavirus than were killed in all the wars we have fought in more than a half century combined—including in Vietnam, Iraq, and Afghanistan.

According to one model, which the White House has relied on, by August of this year the toll could be as high as 147,000 deaths. That's nearly twice as many as the same model forecast only two weeks ago.

At the same time, we face dire economic conditions. In the past eight weeks, more than 36.5 million unemployment claims have been filed, and the unemployment rate has quadrupled, soaring to 14.7 percent. It has previously been estimated that the nation's highest ever unemployment rate was 24.9 percent, during the Great Depression in 1933. Yesterday, California's Employment Development Department released new data which show that the unemployment rate in my state may already be 24.4 percent.

The coronavirus pandemic has affected nearly every aspect of our daily lives, upending businesses and grinding our economy to a halt. This crisis demands legislative action and oversight.

However, the health guidelines issued by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the advice of the Attending Physician show that there are significant challenges to the House operating as if nothing has changed, including the need for social distancing, use of masks or facial coverings, cancelling any gatherings of more than 250 individuals or more than 10 individuals in a high-risk category, and others.

Moreover, we are still learning about how this highly contagious deadly virus is spread and what steps can be taken to mitigate its further spread. I represent Santa Clara County, which experts now believe suffered the first death from the coronavirus in the United States. But experts did not know until mid-April that a death which occurred on February 6 was actually a result of the coronavirus.

I am mindful that many people are putting themselves at risk by working on the frontlines every day: from doctors and nurses, to police officers, firefighters, and paramedics, to transit workers and truck drivers, among others. As the daughter of a truck driver and a cafeteria cook, I deeply appreciate everything all of these people are doing to support their communities and the country, even at risk to their own health.

However, we in Congress have an option that most of these vital frontline workers do not: we can do our work remotely in a safe, secure, online format. It is clear that we need rules that allow the House to conduct oversight of the coronavirus response, mark up legislation, and take votes on the House Floor without needlessly putting Members, Capitol Police, staff, press, and non-partisan institutional staff at risk.

The resolution before us would provide mechanisms to do just that, both at the committee level and on the House floor.

A series of events this week prove that the highest levels of our government recognize the need to adapt our work to the 21st century—and that we can do so in a safe, secure, and transparent way.

The Supreme Court—which has long resisted modest attempts to increase transparency and public access to its proceedings—heard oral arguments by conference call, as it has done during the pandemic. Those important cases involve critical congressional oversight prerogatives.

The Senate held a hearing that included remote participation, as it has done during the pandemic. This time, it included an entire panel of witnesses testifying remotely, as well as a Chairman and Ranking Member who led the hearing remotely, in addition to other Senators.

For its part, the executive branch recognized the legitimacy and need for these virtual proceedings by participating in the proceedings of both the legislative and judicial branches—including by having high ranking members of the White House Task Force testify remotely in a Senate hearing about the Administration's response.

Expanding congressional activity online ensures that we can continue to act, while reserving precious testing equipment and supplies for frontline workers who don't have jobs that can be performed remotely.

The House has not always been quick to adopt technology to its legislative procedures. It is not unusual for any institution steeped in history and precedent to resist technological change. That was the case for the House when it came to advances like electronic voting and televising our proceedings—both of which we take for granted today. The first bill to permit a form of electrical and mechanical voting was introduced in 1886, but the House did not take its first electronic vote until 1973, nearly 90 years later. Similarly, it took more than 40 years from the time Members of the House first appeared on live television to the time that cameras were allowed to broadcast live proceedings on the House floor.

Resistance to technological change for governing has not been unique to the House. The Senate took another seven years after the House to permit television coverage of its proceedings, and it still does not permit electronic voting. Even today, the Supreme Court does not televise its proceedings.

Yet, as we have seen this week, both of those institutions have recognized that we are living in extraordinary times, and that it is essential to change the way they operate.

We can—and we must—act swiftly to ensure that Congress can continue its legislative and oversight work online during these unique and extraordinary times. Working with Leader Hoyer, Chairman McGovern, and the staffs of the Rules and House Administration committees, together we have prepared a proposal that encompasses two distinct components: remote, directed voting on the House floor, and remote committee hearings and markups to ensure that we can continue to develop additional legislative solutions and carry out oversight of the Administration's response.

For committee operations, the resolution provides for the use of suitable, secure online platforms for committee proceedings. The intent of the resolution is not to provide an advantage to either the majority or the minority, but to permit committees' proceedings to have the same status and significance as if they were held entirely in-person.

For voting on the floor, we will rely on a secure email system, coupled with Member-driven, remotely-directed authorizations. This system would use secure email for proxy votes: a solid, well known, resilient technology with very low bandwidth requirements that we understand very well from a cybersecurity standpoint.

These new provisions build on steps we have already taken to expand the use of technology during the pandemic to promote social distancing and other safeguards consistent with the advice of the Attending Physician and the CDC.

For example, last month the Speaker directed the creation of an electronic hopper to permit the virtual submission of all Floor documents—including bills, resolutions, co-sponsors and extensions of remarks—via a dedicated and secure email system. Since the policy took effect, 489 measures have been filed, and of those, 482 measures were filed electronically and just 7 were filed using the old process.

And in my capacity as Chairperson of the Joint Committee on Printing, I directed the GPO to accept for publication in the Congressional Record extensions of remarks submitted with a Member's electronic signature. Under this new, more convenient system Members have filed 356 extensions of remarks by email.

I represent Silicon Valley, which has become synonymous around the world for technology and the spirit of innovation. We in Congress must adopt the entrepreneurial spirit and openness to new technology that made that community a global leader and apply it to the procedural and logistical challenges we face in our legislative operations—as well as to a strategy to respond to and overcome the coronavirus.

Ms. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, the American people, our constituents, are keeping this country afloat during this emergency.

They are looking at the representatives to lead—not only through the legislation we debate and pass, but through the example we set.

I support H. Res. 965 because it will allow the House to do the People's business in a thoughtful and safe way.

We are in the midst of the unprecedented crisis—we cannot operate as if things are business as usual when all the science tells us that “business as usual” could mean hundreds of Members, staff, and employees of the Capitol get sick.

We need to change how the People's House operates until we ensure that America's frontline workers have access to adequate testing and PPE—and then can provide that same access to Members, staff, and Capitol employees.

Because as we all know—that is the only way to dig our way out of this health crisis.

H. Res. 965 would allow Members to designate a proxy to cast floor votes if it's considered too dangerous to travel to Washington and would allow for our Committees to continue their work in holding hearings and marking up legislation.

Over the past two months, Congress has passed 4 bills to provide much-needed relief to the close to 40 million of newly unemployed Americans, and the 1.45 million Americans that have tested positive for COVID-19.

Despite what my friends on the other side of the aisle say, Congress is working and will continue to work to meet the health and economic challenge in front of us.

H. Res. 965 gives us the ability to do that as we fervently do what is necessary to ensure this health emergency passes.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this usurpation of the rights and responsibilities of the members of Congress. And I emphasize the responsibilities of every member of Congress to do the job they were elected to do. I agree with my colleague from Arkansas Mr. Westerman. If you are not able to do the job you should consider stepping aside and letting someone else do the job. No one in this House is indispensable . . . no one.

One of my Democrat colleagues referred to this resolution as our rule, there is not one Republican in support of this resolution . . . it is your rule, not our rule.

I have heard multiple citations of history. Here is one I would like to cite. Caesar Rodney was one of the three delegates from Delaware to the Continental Congress. Despite suffering from facial cancer and asthma, Rodney rode 80 miles through a severe storm to cast his vote for Independence. He did not ask one of his Delaware colleagues to be his proxy. Despite his condition, he rode all night to cast his vote.

I stand in the spirit of Rodney Caesar and all others before us who valued upholding their responsibilities above their own self-interest and well-being, to call on all members of good faith who value this institution to vote ‘No’ on this resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. All time for debate has expired.

Pursuant to House Resolution 967, the previous question is ordered on the resolution.

The question is on the adoption of the resolution.

The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this question will be postponed.

(2) To prevent future suicides, it is critical to transition the cumbersome, existing 10-digit National Suicide Hotline to a universal, easy-to-remember, 3-digit phone number and connect people in crisis with life-saving resources.

(3) It is essential that people in the United States have access to a 3-digit national suicide hotline across all geographic locations.

TITLE VII—COVID-19 COMPASSION AND MARTHA WRIGHT PRISON PHONE JUSTICE SEC. 130701. FINDINGS.

Congress finds the following:

(1) Prison, jails, and other confinement facilities in the United States have unique telecommunications needs due to safety and security concerns.

(2) Unjust and unreasonable charges for telephone and advanced communications services in confinement facilities negatively impact the safety and security of communities in the United States by damaging relationships between incarcerated persons and their support systems, thereby exacerbating recidivism.

(3) The COVID-19 pandemic has greatly intensified these concerns. Jails and prisons have become epicenters for the spread of the virus, with incarcerated persons concentrated in small, confined spaces and often without access to adequate health care. At Cook County jail alone, hundreds of incarcerated persons and jail staff have tested positive for the virus since its outbreak.

(4) To prevent the spread of the virus, many jails and prisons across the country suspended public visitation, leaving confinement facility communications services as the only way that incarcerated persons can stay in touch with their families.

(5) All people in the United States, including anyone who pays for confinement facility communications services, should have access to communications services at charges that are just and reasonable.

(6) Unemployment has risen sharply as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic, straining the incomes of millions of Americans and making it even more difficult for families of incarcerated persons to pay the high costs of confinement facility communications services.

(7) Certain markets for confinement facility communications services are distorted due to reverse competition, in which the financial interests of the entity making the buying decision (the confinement facility) are aligned with the seller (the provider of confinement facility communications services) and not the consumer (the incarcerated person or a member of his or her family). This reverse competition occurs because site commission payments to the confinement facility from the provider of confinement facility communications services are the chief criterion many facilities use to select their provider of confinement facility communications services.

(8) Charges for confinement facility communications services that have been shown to be unjust and unreasonable are often a result of site commission payments that far exceed the costs incurred by the confinement facility in accommodating these services.

(9) Unjust and unreasonable charges have been assessed for both audio and video services and for both intrastate and interstate communications from confinement facilities.

(10) Though Congress enacted emergency legislation to allow free communications in Federal prisons during the pandemic, it does not cover communications to or from anyone incarcerated in State and local prisons or jails.

(11) Mrs. Martha Wright-Reed led a campaign for just communications rates for incarcerated people for over a decade.

(12) Mrs. Wright-Reed was the lead plaintiff in Wright v. Corrections Corporation of America, CA No. 00–293 (GK) (D.D.C. 2001).

(13) That case ultimately led to the Wright Petition at the Federal Communications Commission, CC Docket No. 96–128 (November 3, 2003).

(14) As a grandmother, Mrs. Wright-Reed was forced to choose between purchasing medication and communicating with her incarcerated grandson.

(15) Mrs. Wright-Reed passed away on January 18, 2015, before fully realizing her dream of just communications rates for all people.

SEC. 130702. REQUIREMENTS FOR CONFINEMENT FACILITY COMMUNICATIONS SERVICES, DURING THE COVID-19 PANDEMIC AND OTHER TIMES.

“(v) In the case of a third-party financial transaction fee, the exact fee, with no markup, charged by the third party for the transaction.

“(5) PROHIBITION ON SITE COMMISSIONS.—A provider of confinement facility communications services may not assess a site commission.

“(6) RELATIONSHIP TO STATE LAW.—A State or political subdivision of a State may not enforce any law, rule, regulation, standard, or other provision having the force or effect of law relating to confinement facility communications services that allows for higher rates or other charges to be assessed for such services than is permitted under any Federal law or regulation relating to confinement facility communications services.

(8) Release of funding not later than 30 days after the date on which an invoice is submitted with respect to an application that is approved, applicable services have been provided, and required invoices have been submitted as required under program rules.

SEC. 140001. SHORT TITLE.

This division may be cited as the “Giving Retirement Options to Workers Act of 2020” or the “GROW Act”.

SEC. 140002. COMPOSITE PLANS.

(a) AMENDMENT TO THE EMPLOYEE RETIREMENT INCOME SECURITY ACT OF 1974.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Title I of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (29 U.S.C. 1001 et seq.) is amended by adding at the end the following:

“PART 8—COMPOSITE PLANS AND LEGACY PLANS

“(a) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of this Act, the term ‘composite plan’ means a pension plan—

“(1) which is a multiemployer plan that is neither a defined benefit plan nor a defined contribution plan;

“(2) the terms of which provide that the plan is a composite plan for purposes of this title with respect to which not more than one multiemployer defined benefit plan is treated as a legacy plan within the meaning of section 805, unless there is more than one legacy plan following a merger of composite plans under section 806;

“(3) which provides systematically for the payment of benefits—

“(A) objectively calculated pursuant to a formula enumerated in the plan document with respect to plan participants after retirement, for life; and

“(B) in the form of life annuities, except for benefits which under section 203(e) may be immediately distributed without the consent of the participant;

“(4) for which the plan contributions for the first plan year are at least 120 percent of the normal cost for the plan year;

“(5) which requires—

“(A) an annual valuation of the liability of the plan as of a date within the plan year to which the valuation refers or within one month prior to the beginning of such year;

“(B) an annual actuarial determination of the plan’s current funded ratio and projected funded ratio under section 802(a);

“(C) corrective action through a realignment program pursuant to section 803 whenever the plan’s projected funded ratio is below 120 percent for the plan year; and

“(D) an annual notification to each participant describing the participant’s benefits under the plan and explaining that such benefits may be subject to reduction under a realignment program pursuant to section 803 based on the plan’s funded status in future plan years; and

“(6) the board of trustees of which includes at least one retiree or beneficiary in pay status during each plan year following the first plan year in which at least 5 percent of the participants in the plan are retirees or beneficiaries in pay status.

“(b) TRANSITION FROM A MULTIEMPLOYER DEFINED BENEFIT PLAN.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—The plan sponsor of a defined benefit plan that is a multiemployer plan may, subject to paragraph (2), amend the plan to incorporate the features of a composite plan as a component of the multiemployer plan separate from the defined benefit plan component, except in the case of a defined benefit plan for which the plan actuary has certified under section 305(b)(3) that the plan is or will be in critical status for the plan year in which such amendment would become effective or for any of the succeeding 5 plan years.

“(2) REQUIREMENTS.—Any amendment pursuant to paragraph (1) to incorporate the features of a composite plan as a component of a multiemployer plan shall—

“(A) apply with respect to all collective bargaining agreements providing for contributions to the multiemployer plan on or after the effective date of the amendment;

“(B) apply with respect to all participants in the multiemployer plan for whom contributions are made to the multiemployer plan on or after the effective date of the amendment;

“(C) specify that the effective date of the amendment is—

“(i) the first day of a specified plan year following the date of the adoption of the amendment, except that the plan sponsor may alternatively provide for a separate effective date with respect to each collective bargaining agreement under which contributions to the multiem-

ployer plan are required, which shall occur on the first day of the first plan year beginning after the termination, or if earlier, the re-opening, of each such agreement, or such earlier date as the parties to the agreement and the plan sponsor of the multiemployer plan shall agree to; and

“(ii) not later than the first day of the fifth plan year beginning on or after the date of the adoption of the amendment;

“(D) specify that, as of the amendment’s effective date, no further benefits shall accrue under the defined benefit component of the multiemployer plan; and

“(E) specify that, as of the amendment’s effective date, the plan sponsor of the multiemployer plan shall be the plan sponsor of both the composite plan component and the defined benefit plan component of the plan.

“(3) SPECIAL RULES.—If a multiemployer plan is amended pursuant to paragraph (1)—

“(A) the requirements of this title and title IV shall be applied to the composite plan component and the defined benefit plan component of the multiemployer plan as if each such component were maintained as a separate plan; and

“(B) the assets of the composite plan component and the defined benefit plan component of the plan shall be held in a single trust forming part of the plan under which the trust instrument expressly provides—

“(i) for separate accounts (and appropriate records) to be maintained to reflect the interest which each of the plan components has in the trust, including separate accounting for additions to the trust for the benefit of each plan component, disbursements made from each plan component’s account in the trust, investment experience of the trust allocable to that account, and administrative expenses (whether direct expenses or shared expenses allocated proportionally), and permits, but does not require, the pooling of some or all of the assets of the two plan components for investment purposes; and

“(ii) that the assets of each of the two plan components shall be held, invested, reinvested, managed, administered and distributed for the exclusive benefit of the participants and beneficiaries of each such plan component, and in no event shall the assets of one of the plan components be available to pay benefits due under the other plan component.

“(4) NOT A TERMINATION EVENT.—Notwithstanding section 4041A, an amendment pursuant to paragraph (1) to incorporate the features of a composite plan as a component of a multiemployer plan does not constitute termination of the multiemployer plan.

“(5) NOTICE TO THE SECRETARY.—

“(A) NOTICE.—The plan sponsor of a composite plan shall provide notice to the Secretary of the intent to establish the composite plan (or, in the case of a composite plan incorporated as a component of a multiemployer plan as described in paragraph (1), the intent to amend the multiemployer plan to incorporate such composite plan) at least 30 days prior to the effective date of such establishment or amendment.

“(B) CERTIFICATION.—In the case of a composite plan incorporated as a component of a multiemployer plan as described in paragraph (1), such notice shall include a certification by the plan actuary under section 305(b)(3) that the effective date of the amendment occurs in a plan year for which the multiemployer plan is not in critical status for that plan year and any of the succeeding 5 plan years.

“(6) REFERENCES TO COMPOSITE PLAN COMPONENT.—As used in this part, the term ‘composite plan’ includes a composite plan component added to a defined benefit plan pursuant to paragraph (1).

“(7) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Paragraph (2)(A) shall not be construed as preventing the plan sponsor of a multiemployer plan from adopting an amendment pursuant to paragraph

(1) because some collective bargaining agreements are amended to cease any covered employer's obligation to contribute to the multiemployer plan before or after the plan amendment is effective. Paragraph (2)(B) shall not be construed as preventing the plan sponsor of a multiemployer plan from adopting an amendment pursuant to paragraph (1) because some participants cease to have contributions made to the multiemployer plan on their behalf before or after the plan amendment is effective.

“(c) COORDINATION WITH FUNDING RULES.—Except as otherwise provided in this title, sections 302, 304, and 305 shall not apply to a composite plan.

“(d) TREATMENT OF A COMPOSITE PLAN.—For purposes of this Act (other than sections 302 and 4245), a composite plan shall be treated as if it were a defined benefit plan unless a different treatment is provided for under applicable law.

“(a) CERTIFICATION OF FUNDED RATIOS.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—Not later than the one-hundred twentieth day of each plan year of a composite plan, the plan actuary of the composite plan shall certify to the Secretary, the Secretary of the Treasury, and the plan sponsor the plan's current funded ratio and projected funded ratio for the plan year.

“(2) DETERMINATION OF CURRENT FUNDED RATIO AND PROJECTED FUNDED RATIO.—For purposes of this section:

“(A) CURRENT FUNDED RATIO.—The current funded ratio is the ratio (expressed as a percentage) of—

“(i) the value of the plan's assets as of the first day of the plan year; to

“(ii) the plan actuary's best estimate of the present value of the plan liabilities as of the first day of the plan year.

“(B) PROJECTED FUNDED RATIO.—The projected funded ratio is the current funded ratio projected to the first day of the fifteenth plan year following the plan year for which the determination is being made.

“(3) CONSIDERATION OF CONTRIBUTION RATE INCREASES.—For purposes of projections under this subsection, the plan sponsor may anticipate contribution rate increases beyond the term of the current collective bargaining agreement and any agreed-to supplements, up to a maximum of 2.5 percent per year, compounded annually, unless it would be unreasonable under the circumstances to assume that contributions would increase by that amount.

“(b) ACTUARIAL ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODS.—For purposes of this part:

“(1) IN GENERAL.—All costs, liabilities, rates of interest and other factors under the plan shall be determined for a plan year on the basis of actuarial assumptions and methods—

“(A) each of which is reasonable (taking into account the experience of the plan and reasonable expectations);

“(B) which, in combination, offer the actuary's best estimate of anticipated experience under the plan; and

“(C) with respect to which any change from the actuarial assumptions and methods used in the previous plan year shall be certified by the plan actuary and the actuarial rationale for such change provided in the annual report required by section 103.

“(2) FAIR MARKET VALUE OF ASSETS.—The value of the plan's assets shall be taken into account on the basis of their fair market value.

“(3) DETERMINATION OF NORMAL COST AND PLAN LIABILITIES.—A plan's normal cost and liabilities shall be based on the most recent actuarial valuation required under section 801(a)(5)(A) and the unit credit funding method.

“(4) TIME WHEN CERTAIN CONTRIBUTIONS DEEMED MADE.—Any contributions for a plan year made by an employer after the last day of such plan year, but not later than two and one-half months after such day, shall be deemed to have been made on such last day. For purposes of this paragraph, such two and one-half month period may be extended for not more than six months under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

“(5) ADDITIONAL ACTUARIAL ASSUMPTIONS.—Except where otherwise provided in this part, the provisions of section 305(b)(3)(B) shall apply to any determination or projection under this part.

“(a) REALIGNMENT PROGRAM.—

“(1) ADOPTION.—In any case in which the plan actuary certifies under section 802(a) that the plan's projected funded ratio is below 120 percent for the plan year, the plan sponsor shall adopt a realignment program under paragraph (2) not later than 210 days after the due date of the certification required under such section 802(a). The plan sponsor shall adopt an updated realignment program for each succeeding plan year for which a certification described in the preceding sentence is made.

“(2) CONTENT OF REALIGNMENT PROGRAM.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—A realignment program adopted under this paragraph is a written program which consists of all reasonable measures, including options or a range of options to be undertaken by the plan sponsor or proposed to the bargaining parties, formulated, based on reasonably anticipated experience and reasonable actuarial assumptions, to enable the plan to achieve a projected funded ratio of at least 120 percent for the following plan year.

“(B) INITIAL PROGRAM ELEMENTS.—Reasonable measures under a realignment program described in subparagraph (A) may include any of the following:

“(ii) A reduction in the rate of future benefit accruals, so long as the resulting rate is not less than 1 percent of the contributions on which benefits are based as of the start of the plan year (or the equivalent standard accrual rate as described in section 305(e)(6)).

“(iii) A modification or elimination of adjustable benefits of participants that are not in pay status before the date of the notice required under subsection (b)(1).

“(iv) Any other lawful available measures not specifically described in this subparagraph or subparagraph (C) or (D) that the plan sponsor determines are reasonable.

“(C) ADDITIONAL PROGRAM ELEMENTS.—If the plan sponsor has determined that all reasonable measures available under subparagraph (B) will not enable the plan to achieve a projected funded ratio of at least 120 percent for the following plan year, such reasonable measures may also include—

“(i) a reduction of accrued benefits that are not in pay status by the date of the notice required under subsection (b)(1); or

“(ii) a reduction of any benefits of participants that are in pay status before the date of the notice required under subsection (b)(1) other than core benefits as defined in paragraph (4).

“(D) ADDITIONAL REDUCTIONS.—In the case of a composite plan for which the plan sponsor has determined that all reasonable measures available under subparagraphs (B) and (C) will not enable the plan to achieve a projected funded ratio of at least 120 percent for the following plan year, such reasonable measures may also include—

“(i) a further reduction in the rate of future benefit accruals without regard to the limitation applicable under subparagraph (B)(ii); or

“(ii) a reduction of core benefits;

provided that such reductions shall be equitably distributed across the participant and beneficiary population, taking into account factors, with respect to participants and beneficiaries and their benefits, that may include one or more of the factors listed in subclauses (I) through (X) of section 305(e)(9)(D)(vi), to the extent necessary to enable the plan to achieve a projected funded ratio of at least 120 percent for the following plan year, or at the election of the plan sponsor, a projected funded ratio of at least 100 percent for the following plan year and a current funded ratio of at least 90 percent.

“(3) ADJUSTABLE BENEFIT DEFINED.—For purposes of this part, the term ‘adjustable benefit’ means—

“(A) benefits, rights, and features under the plan, including post-retirement death benefits, 60-month guarantees, disability benefits not yet in pay status, and similar benefits;

“(B) any early retirement benefit or retirement-type subsidy (within the meaning of section 204(g)(2)(A)) and any benefit payment option (other than the qualified joint and survivor annuity); and

“(C) benefit increases that were adopted (or, if later, took effect) less than 60 months before the first day such realignment program took effect.

“(4) CORE BENEFIT DEFINED.—For purposes of this part, the term ‘core benefit’ means a participant's accrued benefit payable in the normal form of an annuity commencing at normal retirement age, determined without regard to—

“(A) any early retirement benefits, retirement-type subsidies, or other benefits, rights, or features that may be associated with that benefit; and

“(5) COORDINATION WITH CONTRIBUTION INCREASES.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—A realignment program may provide that some or all of the benefit modifications described in the program will only take effect if the bargaining parties fail to agree to specified levels of increases in contributions to the plan, effective as of specified dates.

“(B) INDEPENDENT BENEFIT MODIFICATIONS.—If a realignment program adopts any changes to the benefit formula that are independent of potential contribution increases, such changes shall take effect not later than 180 days after the first day of the first plan year that begins following the adoption of the realignment program.

“(C) CONDITIONAL BENEFIT MODIFICATIONS.—If a realignment program adopts any changes to the benefit formula that take effect only if the bargaining parties fail to agree to contribution increases, such changes shall take effect not later than the first day of the first plan year beginning after the third anniversary of the date of adoption of the realignment program.

“(D) REVOCATION OF CERTAIN BENEFIT MODIFICATIONS.—Benefit modifications described in subparagraph (C) may be revoked, in whole or in part, and retroactively or prospectively, when contributions to the plan are increased, as specified in the realignment program, including any amendments thereto. The preceding sentence shall not apply unless the contribution increases are to be effective not later than the fifth anniversary of the first day of the first plan year that begins after the adoption of the realignment program.

“(b) NOTICE.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—In any case in which it is certified under section 802(a) that the projected funded ratio is less than 120 percent, the plan sponsor shall, not later than 30 days after the date of the certification, provide notification of the current and projected funded ratios to the participants and beneficiaries, the bargaining parties, and the Secretary. Such notice shall include—

“(A) an explanation that contribution rate increases or benefit reductions may be necessary;

“(B) a description of the types of benefits that might be reduced; and

“(C) an estimate of the contribution increases and benefit reductions that may be necessary to achieve a projected funded ratio of 120 percent.

“(2) NOTICE OF BENEFIT MODIFICATIONS.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—No modifications may be made that reduce the rate of future benefit accrual or that reduce core benefits or adjustable benefits unless notice of such reduction has been given at least 180 days before the general effective date of such reduction for all participants and beneficiaries to—

- “(i) plan participants and beneficiaries;
- “(ii) each employer who has an obligation to contribute to the composite plan; and
- “(iii) each employee organization which, for purposes of collective bargaining, represents plan participants employed by such employers.

“(B) CONTENT OF NOTICE.—The notice under subparagraph (A) shall contain—

- “(i) sufficient information to enable participants and beneficiaries to understand the effect of any reduction on their benefits, including an illustration of any affected benefit or subsidy, on an annual or monthly basis that a participant or beneficiary would otherwise have been eligible for as of the general effective date described in subparagraph (A); and
- “(ii) information as to the rights and remedies of plan participants and beneficiaries as well as how to contact the Department of Labor for further information and assistance, where appropriate.

“(C) FORM AND MANNER.—Any notice under subparagraph (A)—

- “(i) shall be provided in a form and manner prescribed in regulations of the Secretary of Labor;
- “(ii) shall be written in a manner so as to be understood by the average plan participant.

“(3) MODEL NOTICES.—The Secretary shall—

- “(A) prescribe model notices that the plan sponsor of a composite plan may use to satisfy the notice requirements under this subsection; and
- “(B) by regulation enumerate any details related to the elements listed in paragraph (1) that any notice under this subsection must include.

“(4) DELIVERY METHOD.—Any notice under this part shall be provided in writing and may also be provided in electronic form to the extent that the form is reasonably accessible to persons to whom the notice is provided.

“(a) LEVEL OF CURRENT FUNDED RATIOS.—Except as provided in subsections (c), (d), and (e), no plan amendment increasing benefits or establishing new benefits under a composite plan may be adopted for a plan year unless—

- “(1) the plan’s current funded ratio is at least 110 percent (without regard to the benefit increase or new benefits);
- “(2) taking the benefit increase or new benefits into account, the current funded ratio is at least 100 percent and the projected funded ratio for the current plan year is at least 120 percent;
- “(3) in any case in which, after taking the benefit increase or new benefits into account, the current funded ratio is less than 140 percent and the projected funded ratio is less than 140 percent, the benefit increase or new benefits are projected by the plan actuary to increase the present value of the plan’s liabilities for the plan year by not more than 3 percent; and

“(4) expected contributions for the current plan year are at least 120 percent of normal cost for the plan year, determined using the unit credit funding method and treating the benefit increase or new benefits as in effect for the entire plan year.

“(b) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS WHERE CORE BENEFITS REDUCED.—If a plan has been amended to reduce core benefits pursuant to a realignment program under section 803(a)(2)(D), such plan may not be subsequently amended to increase core benefits unless the amendment—

- “(1) increases the level of future benefit payments only; and
- “(2) provides for an equitable distribution of benefit increases across the participant and beneficiary population, taking into account the extent to which the benefits of participants were previously reduced pursuant to such realignment program.

“(c) EXCEPTION TO COMPLY WITH APPLICABLE LAW.—Subsection (a) shall not apply in connection with a plan amendment if the amendment is required as a condition of qualification under part I of subchapter D of chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 or to comply with other applicable law.

“(d) EXCEPTION WHERE MAXIMUM DEDUCTIBLE LIMIT APPLIES.—Subsection (a) shall not apply in connection with a plan amendment if and to the extent that contributions to the composite plan would not be deductible for the plan year under section 404(a)(1)(E) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 if the plan amendment is not adopted.

“(e) EXCEPTION FOR CERTAIN BENEFIT MODIFICATIONS.—Subsection (a) shall not apply in connection with a plan amendment under section 803(a)(5)(C), regarding conditional benefit modifications.

“(f) TREATMENT OF PLAN AMENDMENTS.—For purposes of this section—

- “(1) if two or more plan amendments increasing benefits or establishing new benefits are adopted in a plan year, such amendments shall be treated as a single amendment adopted on the last day of the plan year;
- “(2) all benefit increases and new benefits adopted in a single amendment are treated as a single benefit increase, irrespective of whether the increases and new benefits take effect in more than one plan year; and

“(3) increases in contributions or decreases in plan liabilities which are scheduled to take effect in future plan years may be taken into account in connection with a plan amendment if they have been agreed to in writing or otherwise formalized by the date the plan amendment is adopted.

“(a) TREATMENT AS A LEGACY PLAN.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of this part and parts 2 and 3, a defined benefit plan shall be treated as a legacy plan with respect to the composite plan under which the employees who were eligible to accrue a benefit under the defined benefit plan become eligible to accrue a benefit under such composite plan.

“(2) COMPONENT PLANS.—In any case in which a defined benefit plan is amended to add a composite plan component pursuant to section 801(b), paragraph (1) shall be applied by substituting ‘defined benefit component’ for ‘defined benefit plan’ and ‘composite plan component’ for ‘composite plan’.

“(3) ELIGIBLE TO ACCRUE A BENEFIT.—For purposes of paragraph (1), an employee is considered eligible to accrue a benefit under a composite plan as of the first day in which the employee completes an hour of service under a collective bargaining agreement that provides for contributions to and accruals under the composite plan in lieu of accruals under the legacy plan.

“(4) COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENT.—As used in this part, the term ‘collective bargaining agreement’ includes any agreement under which an employer has an obligation to contribute to a plan.

“(5) OTHER TERMS.—Any term used in this part which is not defined in this part and which is also used in section 305 shall have the same meaning provided such term in such section.

“(b) RESTRICTIONS ON ACCEPTANCE BY COMPOSITE PLAN OF AGREEMENTS AND CONTRIBUTIONS.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—The plan sponsor of a composite plan shall not accept or recognize a collective bargaining agreement (or any modification to such agreement), and no contributions may be accepted and no benefits may be accrued or otherwise earned under the agreement—

- “(A) in any case in which the plan actuary of any defined benefit plan that would be treated as a legacy plan with respect to such composite plan has certified under section 305(b)(3) that such defined benefit plan is or will be in critical status for the plan year in which such agreement would take effect or for any of the succeeding 5 plan years; and

“(B) unless the agreement requires each employer who is a party to such agreement, including employers whose employees are not participants in the legacy plan, to provide contributions to the legacy plan with respect to such composite plan in a manner that satisfies the transition contribution requirements of subsection (d).

“(2) NOTICE.—Not later than 30 days after a determination by a plan sponsor of a composite plan that an agreement fails to satisfy the requirements described in paragraph (1), the plan sponsor shall provide notification of such failure and the reasons for such determination—

- “(A) to the parties to the agreement;
- “(B) to active participants of the composite plan who have ceased to accrue or otherwise earn benefits with respect to service with an employer pursuant to paragraph (1); and
- “(C) to the Secretary, the Secretary of the Treasury, and the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation.

“(3) LIMITATION ON RETROACTIVE EFFECT.—This subsection shall not apply to benefits accrued before the date on which notice is provided under paragraph (2).

“(c) RESTRICTION ON ACCRUAL OF BENEFITS UNDER A COMPOSITE PLAN.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—In any case in which an employer, under a collective bargaining agreement entered into after the date of enactment of the Giving Retirement Options to Workers Act of 2020, ceases to have an obligation to contribute to a multiemployer defined benefit plan, no employees employed by the employer may accrue or otherwise earn benefits under any composite plan, with respect to service with that employer, for a 60-month period beginning on the date on which the employer entered into such collective bargaining agreement.

“(2) NOTICE OF CESSATION OF OBLIGATION.—Within 30 days of determining that an employer has ceased to have an obligation to contribute to a legacy plan with respect to employees employed by an employer that is or will be contributing to a composite plan with respect to service of such employees, the plan sponsor of the legacy plan shall notify the plan sponsor of the composite plan of that cessation.

“(3) NOTICE OF CESSATION OF ACCRUALS.—Not later than 30 days after determining that an employer has ceased to have an obligation to contribute to a legacy plan, the plan sponsor of the composite plan shall notify the bargaining parties, the active participants affected by the cessation of accruals, the Secretary, the Secretary of the Treasury, and the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation of the cessation of accruals, the period during which such cessation is in effect, and the reasons therefor.

“(4) LIMITATION ON RETROACTIVE EFFECT.—This subsection shall not apply to benefits accrued before the date on which notice is provided under paragraph (3).

“(d) TRANSITION CONTRIBUTION REQUIREMENTS.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—A collective bargaining agreement satisfies the transition contribution requirements of this subsection if the agreement—

- “(A) authorizes payment of contributions to a legacy plan at a rate or rates equal to or greater than the transition contribution rate established by the legacy plan under paragraph (2); and
- “(B) does not provide for—

- “(i) a suspension of contributions to the legacy plan with respect to any period of service; or
- “(ii) any new direct or indirect exclusion of younger or newly hired employees of the employer from being taken into account in determining contributions owed to the legacy plan.

“(2) TRANSITION CONTRIBUTION RATE.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The transition contribution rate for a plan year is the contribution rate that, as certified by the actuary of the legacy plan in accordance with the principles in section 305(b)(3)(B), is reasonably expected to be adequate—

“(B) unless the agreement requires each employer who is a party to such agreement, including employers whose employees are not participants in the legacy plan, to provide contributions to the legacy plan with respect to such composite plan in a manner that satisfies the transition contribution requirements of subsection (d).

“(2) NOTICE.—Not later than 30 days after a determination by a plan sponsor of a composite plan that an agreement fails to satisfy the requirements described in paragraph (1), the plan sponsor shall provide notification of such failure and the reasons for such determination—

- “(A) to the parties to the agreement;
- “(B) to active participants of the composite plan who have ceased to accrue or otherwise earn benefits with respect to service with an employer pursuant to paragraph (1); and
- “(C) to the Secretary, the Secretary of the Treasury, and the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation.

“(3) LIMITATION ON RETROACTIVE EFFECT.—This subsection shall not apply to benefits accrued before the date on which notice is provided under paragraph (2).

“(c) RESTRICTION ON ACCRUAL OF BENEFITS UNDER A COMPOSITE PLAN.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—In any case in which an employer, under a collective bargaining agreement entered into after the date of enactment of the Giving Retirement Options to Workers Act of 2020, ceases to have an obligation to contribute to a multiemployer defined benefit plan, no employees employed by the employer may accrue or otherwise earn benefits under any composite plan, with respect to service with that employer, for a 60-month period beginning on the date on which the employer entered into such collective bargaining agreement.

“(2) NOTICE OF CESSATION OF OBLIGATION.—Within 30 days of determining that an employer has ceased to have an obligation to contribute to a legacy plan with respect to employees employed by an employer that is or will be contributing to a composite plan with respect to service of such employees, the plan sponsor of the legacy plan shall notify the plan sponsor of the composite plan of that cessation.

“(3) NOTICE OF CESSATION OF ACCRUALS.—Not later than 30 days after determining that an employer has ceased to have an obligation to contribute to a legacy plan, the plan sponsor of the composite plan shall notify the bargaining parties, the active participants affected by the cessation of accruals, the Secretary, the Secretary of the Treasury, and the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation of the cessation of accruals, the period during which such cessation is in effect, and the reasons therefor.

“(4) LIMITATION ON RETROACTIVE EFFECT.—This subsection shall not apply to benefits accrued before the date on which notice is provided under paragraph (3).

“(d) TRANSITION CONTRIBUTION REQUIREMENTS.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—A collective bargaining agreement satisfies the transition contribution requirements of this subsection if the agreement—

- “(A) authorizes payment of contributions to a legacy plan at a rate or rates equal to or greater than the transition contribution rate established by the legacy plan under paragraph (2); and
- “(B) does not provide for—

- “(i) a suspension of contributions to the legacy plan with respect to any period of service; or
- “(ii) any new direct or indirect exclusion of younger or newly hired employees of the employer from being taken into account in determining contributions owed to the legacy plan.

“(2) TRANSITION CONTRIBUTION RATE.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The transition contribution rate for a plan year is the contribution rate that, as certified by the actuary of the legacy plan in accordance with the principles in section 305(b)(3)(B), is reasonably expected to be adequate—

“(B) unless the agreement requires each employer who is a party to such agreement, including employers whose employees are not participants in the legacy plan, to provide contributions to the legacy plan with respect to such composite plan in a manner that satisfies the transition contribution requirements of subsection (d).

“(2) NOTICE.—Not later than 30 days after a determination by a plan sponsor of a composite plan that an agreement fails to satisfy the requirements described in paragraph (1), the plan sponsor shall provide notification of such failure and the reasons for such determination—

- “(A) to the parties to the agreement;
- “(B) to active participants of the composite plan who have ceased to accrue or otherwise earn benefits with respect to service with an employer pursuant to paragraph (1); and
- “(C) to the Secretary, the Secretary of the Treasury, and the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation.

“(3) LIMITATION ON RETROACTIVE EFFECT.—This subsection shall not apply to benefits accrued before the date on which notice is provided under paragraph (2).

“(c) RESTRICTION ON ACCRUAL OF BENEFITS UNDER A COMPOSITE PLAN.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—In any case in which an employer, under a collective bargaining agreement entered into after the date of enactment of the Giving Retirement Options to Workers Act of 2020, ceases to have an obligation to contribute to a multiemployer defined benefit plan, no employees employed by the employer may accrue or otherwise earn benefits under any composite plan, with respect to service with that employer, for a 60-month period beginning on the date on which the employer entered into such collective bargaining agreement.

“(2) NOTICE OF CESSATION OF OBLIGATION.—Within 30 days of determining that an employer has ceased to have an obligation to contribute to a legacy plan with respect to employees employed by an employer that is or will be contributing to a composite plan with respect to service of such employees, the plan sponsor of the legacy plan shall notify the plan sponsor of the composite plan of that cessation.

“(3) NOTICE OF CESSATION OF ACCRUALS.—Not later than 30 days after determining that an employer has ceased to have an obligation to contribute to a legacy plan, the plan sponsor of the composite plan shall notify the bargaining parties, the active participants affected by the cessation of accruals, the Secretary, the Secretary of the Treasury, and the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation of the cessation of accruals, the period during which such cessation is in effect, and the reasons therefor.

“(i) to fund the normal cost for the plan year;”
 “(ii) to amortize the plan’s unfunded liabilities in level annual installments over 25 years, beginning with the plan year in which the transition contribution rate is first established; and
 “(iii) to amortize any subsequent changes in the legacy plan’s unfunded liability due to experience gains or losses (including investment gains or losses, gains or losses due to contributions greater or less than the contributions made under the prior transition contribution rate, and other actuarial gains or losses), changes in actuarial assumptions, changes to the legacy plan’s benefits, or changes in funding method over a period of 15 plan years beginning with the plan year in which such change in unfunded liability is incurred.
 The transition contribution rate for any plan year may not be less than the transition contribution rate for the plan year in which such rate is first established.

“(B) MULTIPLE RATES.—If different rates of contribution are payable to the legacy plan by different employers or for different classes of employees, the certification shall specify a transition contribution rate for each such employer.

“(C) RATE APPLICABLE TO EMPLOYER.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided by clause (ii), the transition contribution rate applicable to an employer for a plan year is the rate in effect for the plan year of the legacy plan that commences on or after 180 days before the earlier of—

“(I) the effective date of the collective bargaining agreement pursuant to which the employer contributes to the legacy plan; or

“(II) 5 years after the last plan year for which the transition contribution rate applicable to the employer was established or updated.

“(ii) EXCEPTION.—The transition contribution rate applicable to an employer for the first plan year beginning on or after the commencement of the employer’s obligation to contribute to the composite plan is the rate in effect for the plan year of the legacy plan that commences on or after 180 days before such first plan year.

“(D) EFFECT OF LEGACY PLAN FINANCIAL CIRCUMSTANCES.—If the plan actuary of the legacy plan has certified under section 305 that the plan is in endangered or critical status for a plan year, the transition contribution rate for the following plan year is the rate determined with respect to the employer under the legacy plan’s funding improvement or rehabilitation plan under section 305, if greater than the rate otherwise determined, but in no event greater than 75 percent of the sum of the contribution rates applicable to the legacy plan and the composite plan for the plan year.

“(E) OTHER ACTUARIAL ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODS.—Except as provided in subparagraph (A), the determination of the transition contribution rate for a plan year shall be based on actuarial assumptions and methods consistent with the minimum funding determinations made under section 304 (or, if applicable, section 305) with respect to the legacy plan for the plan year.

“(F) ADJUSTMENTS IN RATE.—The plan sponsor of a legacy plan from time to time may adjust the transition contribution rate or rates applicable to an employer under this paragraph by increasing some rates and decreasing others if the actuary certifies that such adjusted rates in combination will produce projected contribution income for the plan year beginning on or after the date of certification that is not less than would be produced by the transition contribution rates in effect at the time of the certification.

“(G) NOTICE OF TRANSITION CONTRIBUTION RATE.—The plan sponsor of a legacy plan shall provide notice to the parties to collective bargaining agreements pursuant to which contributions are made to the legacy plan of changes to the transition contribution rate requirements at least 30 days before the beginning of the plan year for which the rate is effective.

“(H) NOTICE TO COMPOSITE PLAN SPONSOR.—Not later than 30 days after a determination by the plan sponsor of a legacy plan that a collective bargaining agreement provides for a rate of contributions that is below the transition contribution rate applicable to one or more employers that are parties to the collective bargaining agreement, the plan sponsor of the legacy plan shall notify the plan sponsor of any composite plan under which employees of such employer would otherwise be eligible to accrue a benefit.

“(3) CORRECTION PROCEDURES.—Pursuant to standards prescribed by the Secretary, the plan sponsor of a composite plan shall adopt rules and procedures that give the parties to the collective bargaining agreement notice of the failure of such agreement to satisfy the transition contribution requirements of this subsection, and a reasonable opportunity to correct such failure, not to exceed 180 days from the date of notice given under subsection (b)(2).

“(4) SUPPLEMENTAL CONTRIBUTIONS.—A collective bargaining agreement may provide for supplemental contributions to the legacy plan for a plan year in excess of the transition contribution rate determined under paragraph (2), regardless of whether the legacy plan is in endangered or critical status for such plan year.

“(e) NONAPPLICATION OF COMPOSITE PLAN RESTRICTIONS.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—The provisions of subsections (a), (b), and (c) shall not apply with respect to a collective bargaining agreement, to the extent the agreement, or a predecessor agreement, provides or provided for contributions to a defined benefit plan that is a legacy plan, as of the first day of the first plan year following a plan year for which the plan actuary certifies that the plan is fully funded, has been fully funded for at least three out of the immediately preceding 5 plan years, and is projected to remain fully funded for at least the following 4 plan years.

“(2) DETERMINATION OF FULLY FUNDED.—A plan is fully funded for purposes of paragraph (1) if, as of the valuation date of the plan for a plan year, the value of the plan’s assets equals or exceeds the present value of the plan’s liabilities, determined in accordance with the rules prescribed by the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation under sections 4219(c)(1)(D) and 4281 for multiemployer plans terminating by mass withdrawal, as in effect for the date of the determination, except the plan’s reasonable assumption regarding the starting date of benefits may be used.

“(3) OTHER APPLICABLE RULES.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), actuarial determinations and projections under this section shall be based on the rules in section 305(b)(3) and section 802(b).

“(a) IN GENERAL.—Assets and liabilities of a composite plan may only be merged with, or transferred to, another plan if—

“(1) the other plan is a composite plan;

“(2) the plan or plans resulting from the merger or transfer is a composite plan;

“(3) no participant’s accrued benefit or adjustable benefit is lower immediately after the transaction than it was immediately before the transaction; and

“(4) the value of the assets transferred in the case of a transfer reasonably reflects the value of the amounts contributed with respect to the participants whose benefits are being transferred, adjusted for allocable distributions, investment gains and losses, and administrative expenses.

“(b) LEGACY PLAN.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—After a merger or transfer involving a composite plan, the legacy plan with respect to an employer that is obligated to contribute to the resulting composite plan is the legacy plan that applied to that employer immediately before the merger or transfer.

“(2) MULTIPLE LEGACY PLANS.—If an employer is obligated to contribute to more than one legacy plan with respect to employees eligible to accrue benefits under more than one composite plan and there is a merger or transfer of such legacy plans, the transition contribution rate applicable to the legacy plan resulting from the merger or transfer with respect to that employer shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of section 805(d)(2)(B).”

(2) PENALTIES.—

(A) CIVIL ENFORCEMENT OF FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH REALIGNMENT PROGRAM.—Section 502(a) of such Act (29 U.S.C. 1132(a)) is amended—

(i) in paragraph (10), by striking “or” at the end;

(ii) in paragraph (11), by striking the period at the end and inserting “; or”; and

(iii) by adding at the end the following:

“(12) in the case of a composite plan required to adopt a realignment program under section 803, if the plan sponsor—

“(A) has not adopted a realignment program under that section by the deadline established in such section; or

“(B) fails to update or comply with the terms of the realignment program in accordance with the requirements of such section, by the Secretary, by an employer that has an obligation to contribute with respect to the composite plan, or by an employee organization that represents active participants in the composite plan, for an order compelling the plan sponsor to adopt a realignment program, or to update or comply with the terms of the realignment program, in accordance with the requirements of such section and the realignment program.”

(B) CIVIL PENALTIES.—Section 502(c) of such Act (29 U.S.C. 1132(c)) is amended—

(i) by moving paragraphs (8), (10), and (12) each 2 ems to the left;

(ii) by redesignating paragraphs (9) through (12) as paragraphs (12) through (15), respectively; and

(iii) by inserting after paragraph (8) the following:

“(9) The Secretary may assess against any plan sponsor of a composite plan a civil penalty of not more than $1,100 per day for each violation by such sponsor—

“(A) of the requirement under section 802(a) on the plan actuary to certify the plan’s current or projected funded ratio by the date specified in such subsection; or

“(B) of the requirement under section 803 to adopt a realignment program by the deadline established in that section and to comply with its terms.

“(10)(A) The Secretary may assess against any plan sponsor of a composite plan a civil penalty of not more than $100 per day for each violation by such sponsor of the requirement under section 803(b) to provide notice as described in such section, except that no penalty may be assessed in any case in which the plan sponsor exercised reasonable diligence to meet the requirements of such section and—

“(i) the plan sponsor did not know that the violation existed; or “(ii) the plan sponsor provided such notice during the 30-day period beginning on the first date on which the plan sponsor knew, or in exercising reasonable due diligence should have known, that such violation existed.

“(B) In any case in which the plan sponsor exercised reasonable diligence to meet the requirements of section 803(b)—

“(i) the total penalty assessed under this paragraph against such sponsor for a plan year may not exceed $500,000; and

“(ii) the Secretary may waive part or all of such penalty to the extent that the payment of such penalty would be excessive or otherwise inequitable relative to the violation involved.

“(11) The Secretary may assess against any plan sponsor of a composite plan a civil penalty of not more than $100 per day for each violation by such sponsor of the notice requirements under sections 801(b)(5) and 805(b)(2).”

(3) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—The table of contents in section 1 of such Act (29 U.S.C. 1001 note) is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 734 the following:

“PART 8—COMPOSITE PLANS AND LEGACY PLANS

(b) AMENDMENT TO THE INTERNAL REVENUE CODE OF 1986.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Part III of subchapter D of chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by adding at the end the following:

“Subpart C—Composite Plans and Legacy Plans

“(a) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of this title, the term ‘composite plan’ means a pension plan—

“(1) which is a multiemployer plan that is neither a defined benefit plan nor a defined contribution plan,

“(2) the terms of which provide that the plan is a composite plan for purposes of this title with respect to which not more than one multiemployer defined benefit plan is treated as a legacy plan within the meaning of section 440A, unless there is more than one legacy plan following a merger of composite plans under section 440B,

“(3) which provides systematically for the payment of benefits—

“(A) objectively calculated pursuant to a formula enumerated in the plan document with respect to plan participants after retirement, for life, and

“(B) in the form of life annuities, except for benefits which under section 411(a)(11) may be immediately distributed without the consent of the participant,

“(4) for which the plan contributions for the first plan year are at least 120 percent of the normal cost for the plan year,

“(5) which requires—

“(A) an annual valuation of the liability of the plan as of a date within the plan year to which the valuation refers or within one month prior to the beginning of such year,

“(B) an annual actuarial determination of the plan’s current funded ratio and projected funded ratio under section 438(a),

“(C) corrective action through a realignment program pursuant to section 439 whenever the plan’s projected funded ratio is below 120 percent for the plan year, and

“(D) an annual notification to each participant describing the participant’s benefits under the plan and explaining that such benefits may be subject to reduction under a realignment program pursuant to section 439 based on the plan’s funded status in future plan years, and

“(6) the board of trustees of which includes at least one retiree or beneficiary in pay status during each plan year following the first plan year in which at least 5 percent of the participants in the plan are retirees or beneficiaries in pay status.

“(b) TRANSITION FROM A MULTIEMPLOYER DEFINED BENEFIT PLAN.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—The plan sponsor of a defined benefit plan that is a multiemployer plan may, subject to paragraph (2), amend the plan to incorporate the features of a composite plan as a component of the multiemployer plan separate from the defined benefit plan component, except in the case of a defined benefit plan for which the plan actuary has certified under section 432(b)(3) that the plan is or will be in critical status for the plan year in which such amendment would become effective or for any of the succeeding 5 plan years.

“(2) REQUIREMENTS.—Any amendment pursuant to paragraph (1) to incorporate the features of a composite plan as a component of a multiemployer plan shall—

“(A) apply with respect to all collective bargaining agreements providing for contributions to the multiemployer plan on or after the effective date of the amendment,

“(B) apply with respect to all participants in the multiemployer plan for whom contributions are made to the multiemployer plan on or after the effective date of the amendment,

“(C) specify that the effective date of the amendment is—

“(i) the first day of a specified plan year following the date of the adoption of the amendment, except that the plan sponsor may alternatively provide for a separate effective date with respect to each collective bargaining agreement under which contributions to the multiemployer plan are required, which shall occur on the first day of the first plan year beginning after the termination, or if earlier, the re-opening, of each such agreement, or such earlier date as the parties to the agreement and the plan sponsor of the multiemployer plan shall agree to, and

“(ii) not later than the first day of the fifth plan year beginning on or after the date of the adoption of the amendment,

“(D) specify that, as of the amendment’s effective date, no further benefits shall accrue under the defined benefit component of the multiemployer plan, and

“(E) specify that, as of the amendment’s effective date, the plan sponsor of the multiemployer plan shall be the plan sponsor of both the composite plan component and the defined benefit plan component of the plan.

“(3) SPECIAL RULES.—If a multiemployer plan is amended pursuant to paragraph (1)—

“(A) the requirements of this title shall be applied to the composite plan component and the defined benefit plan component of the multiemployer plan as if each such component were maintained as a separate plan, and

“(B) the assets of the composite plan component and the defined benefit plan component of the plan shall be held in a single trust forming part of the plan under which the trust instrument expressly provides—

“(i) for separate accounts (and appropriate records) to be maintained to reflect the interest which each of the plan components has in the trust, including separate accounting for additions to the trust for the benefit of each plan component, disbursements made from each plan component’s account in the trust, investment experience of the trust allocable to that account, and administrative expenses (whether direct expenses or shared expenses allocated proportionally), and permits, but does not require, the pooling of some or all of the assets of the two plan components for investment purposes, and

“(ii) that the assets of each of the two plan components shall be held, invested, reinvested, managed, administered and distributed for the exclusive benefit of the participants and beneficiaries of each such plan component, and in no event shall the assets of one of the plan components be available to pay benefits due under the other plan component.

“(4) NOT A TERMINATION EVENT.—Notwithstanding section 4041A of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, an amendment pursuant to paragraph (1) to incorporate the features of a composite plan as a component of a multiemployer plan does not constitute termination of the multiemployer plan.

“(5) NOTICE TO THE SECRETARY.—

“(A) NOTICE.—The plan sponsor of a composite plan shall provide notice to the Secretary of the intent to establish the composite plan (or, in the case of a composite plan incorporated as a component of a multiemployer plan as described in paragraph (1), the intent to amend the multiemployer plan to incorporate such composite plan) at least 30 days prior to the effective date of such establishment or amendment.

“(B) CERTIFICATION.—In the case of a composite plan incorporated as a component of a multiemployer plan as described in paragraph (1), such notice shall include a certification by the plan actuary under section 432(b)(3) that the effective date of the amendment occurs in a plan year for which the multiemployer plan is not in critical status for that plan year and any of the succeeding 5 plan years.

“(6) REFERENCES TO COMPOSITE PLAN COMPONENT.—As used in this subpart, the term ‘composite plan’ includes a composite plan component added to a defined benefit plan pursuant to paragraph (1).

“(7) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Paragraph (2)(A) shall not be construed as preventing the plan sponsor of a multiemployer plan from adopting an amendment pursuant to paragraph (1) because some collective bargaining agreements are amended to cease any covered employer’s obligation to contribute to the multiemployer plan before or after the plan amendment is effective. Paragraph (2)(B) shall not be construed as preventing the plan sponsor of a multiemployer plan from adopting an amendment pursuant to paragraph (1) because some participants cease to have contributions made to the multiemployer plan on their behalf before or after the plan amendment is effective.

“(c) COORDINATION WITH FUNDING RULES.—Except as otherwise provided in this title, sections 412, 431, and 432 shall not apply to a composite plan.

“(d) TREATMENT OF A COMPOSITE PLAN.—For purposes of this title (other than sections 412 and 418E), a composite plan shall be treated as if it were a defined benefit plan unless a different treatment is provided for under applicable law.

“(a) CERTIFICATION OF FUNDED RATIOS.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—Not later than the one-hundred twentieth day of each plan year of a composite plan, the plan actuary of the composite plan shall certify to the Secretary, the Secretary of Labor, and the plan sponsor the plan’s current funded ratio and projected funded ratio for the plan year.

“(2) DETERMINATION OF CURRENT FUNDED RATIO AND PROJECTED FUNDED RATIO.—For purposes of this section—

“(A) CURRENT FUNDED RATIO.—The current funded ratio is the ratio (expressed as a percentage) of—

“(i) the value of the plan’s assets as of the first day of the plan year, to

“(ii) the plan actuary’s best estimate of the present value of the plan liabilities as of the first day of the plan year.

“(B) PROJECTED FUNDED RATIO.—The projected funded ratio is the current funded ratio projected to the first day of the fifteenth plan year following the plan year for which the determination is being made.

“(3) CONSIDERATION OF CONTRIBUTION RATE INCREASES.—For purposes of projections under this subsection, the plan sponsor may anticipate contribution rate increases beyond the term of the current collective bargaining agreement and any agreed-to supplements, up to a maximum of 2.5 percent per year, compounded annually, unless it would be unreasonable under the circumstances to assume that contributions would increase by that amount.

“(b) ACTUARIAL ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODS.—For purposes of this part—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—All costs, liabilities, rates of interest, and other factors under the plan shall be determined for a plan year on the basis of actuarial assumptions and methods—

“(A) each of which is reasonable (taking into account the experience of the plan and reasonable expectations),

“(B) which, in combination, offer the actuary’s best estimate of anticipated experience under the plan, and

“(C) with respect to which any change from the actuarial assumptions and methods used in the previous plan year shall be certified by the plan actuary and the actuarial rationale for such change provided in the annual report required by section 6058.

“(2) FAIR MARKET VALUE OF ASSETS.—The value of the plan’s assets shall be taken into account on the basis of their fair market value.

“(3) DETERMINATION OF NORMAL COST AND PLAN LIABILITIES.—A plan’s normal cost and liabilities shall be based on the most recent actuarial valuation required under section 437(a)(5)(A) and the unit credit funding method.

“(4) TIME WHEN CERTAIN CONTRIBUTIONS DEEMED MADE.—Any contributions for a plan year made by an employer after the last day of such plan year, but not later than two and one-half months after such day, shall be deemed to have been made on such last day. For purposes of this paragraph, such two and one-half month period may be extended for not more than six months under regulations prescribed by the Secretary.

“(5) ADDITIONAL ACTUARIAL ASSUMPTIONS.—Except where otherwise provided in this subpart, the provisions of section 432(b)(3)(B) shall apply to any determination or projection under this subpart.

“(a) REALIGNMENT PROGRAM.—

“(1) ADOPTION.—In any case in which the plan actuary certifies under section 438(a) that the plan’s projected funded ratio is below 120 percent for the plan year, the plan sponsor shall adopt a realignment program under paragraph (2) not later than 210 days after the due date of the certification required under section 438(a). The plan sponsor shall adopt an updated realignment program for each succeeding plan year for which a certification described in the preceding sentence is made.

“(2) CONTENT OF REALIGNMENT PROGRAM.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—A realignment program adopted under this paragraph is a written program which consists of all reasonable measures, including options or a range of options to be undertaken by the plan sponsor or proposed to the bargaining parties, formulated, based on reasonably anticipated experience and reasonable actuarial assumptions, to enable the plan to achieve a projected funded ratio of at least 120 percent for the following plan year.

“(B) INITIAL PROGRAM ELEMENTS.—Reasonable measures under a realignment program described in subparagraph (A) may include any of the following:

“(ii) A reduction in the rate of future benefit accruals, so long as the resulting rate shall not be less than 1 percent of the contributions on which benefits are based as of the start of the plan year (or the equivalent standard accrual rate as described in section 432(e)(6)).

“(iii) A modification or elimination of adjustable benefits of participants that are not in pay status before the date of the notice required under subsection (b)(1).

“(iv) Any other legally available measures not specifically described in this subparagraph or subparagraph (C) or (D) that the plan sponsor determines are reasonable.

“(C) ADDITIONAL PROGRAM ELEMENTS.—If the plan sponsor has determined that all reasonable measures available under subparagraph (B) will not enable the plan to achieve a projected funded ratio of at least 120 percent the following plan year, such reasonable measures may also include—

“(i) a reduction of accrued benefits that are not in pay status by the date of the notice required under subsection (b)(1), or

“(ii) a reduction of any benefits of participants that are in pay status before the date of the notice required under subsection (b)(1) other than core benefits as defined in paragraph (4).

“(D) ADDITIONAL REDUCTIONS.—In the case of a composite plan for which the plan sponsor has determined that all reasonable measures available under subparagraphs (B) and (C) will not enable the plan to achieve a projected funded ratio of at least 120 percent for the following plan year, such reasonable measures may also include—

“(i) a further reduction in the rate of future benefit accruals without regard to the limitation applicable under subparagraph (B)(ii), or

“(ii) a reduction of core benefits, provided that such reductions shall be equitably distributed across the participant and beneficiary population, taking into account factors, with respect to participants and beneficiaries and their benefits, that may include one or more of the factors listed in subclauses (J) through (X) of section 432(e)(9)(D)(vi), to the extent necessary to enable the plan to achieve a projected funded ratio of at least 120 percent for the following plan year, or at the election of the plan sponsor, a projected funded ratio of at least 100 percent for the following plan year and a current funded ratio of at least 90 percent.

“(3) ADJUSTABLE BENEFIT DEFINED.—For purposes of this subpart, the term ‘adjustable benefit’ means—

“(C) benefit increases that were adopted (or, if later, took effect) less than 60 months before the first day such realignment program took effect.

“(4) CORE BENEFIT DEFINED.—For purposes of this subpart, the term ‘core benefit’ means a participant’s accrued benefit payable in the normal form of an annuity commencing at normal retirement age, determined without regard to—

“(5) COORDINATION WITH CONTRIBUTION INCREASES.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—A realignment program may provide that some or all of the benefit modifications described in the program will only take effect if the bargaining parties fail to agree to specified levels of increases in contributions to the plan, effective as of specified dates.

“(B) INDEPENDENT BENEFIT MODIFICATIONS.—If a realignment program adopts any changes to the benefit formula that are independent of potential contribution increases, such changes shall take effect not later than 180 days following the first day of the first plan year that begins following the adoption of the realignment program.

“(C) CONDITIONAL BENEFIT MODIFICATIONS.—If a realignment program adopts any changes to the benefit formula that take effect only if the bargaining parties fail to agree to contribution increases, such changes shall take effect not later than the first day of the first plan year beginning after the third anniversary of the date of adoption of the realignment program.

“(D) REVOCATION OF CERTAIN BENEFIT MODIFICATIONS.—Benefit modifications described in paragraph (3) may be revoked, in whole or in part, and retroactively or prospectively, when contributions to the plan are increased, as speci-

“(b) NOTICE.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—In any case in which it is certified under section 438(a) that the projected funded ratio is less than 120 percent, the plan sponsor shall, not later than 30 days after the date of the certification, provide notification of the current and projected funded ratios to the participants and beneficiaries, the bargaining parties, and the Secretary. Such notice shall include—

“(A) an explanation that contribution rate increases or benefit reductions may be necessary,

“(B) a description of the types of benefits that might be reduced, and

“(C) an estimate of the contribution increases and benefit reductions that may be necessary to achieve a projected funded ratio of 120 percent.

“(2) NOTICE OF BENEFIT MODIFICATIONS.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—No modifications may be made that reduce the rate of future benefit accrual or that reduce core benefits or adjustable benefits unless notice of such reduction has been given at least 180 days before the general effective date of such reduction for all participants and beneficiaries to—

“(i) plan participants and beneficiaries,

“(ii) each employer who has an obligation to contribute to the composite plan, and

“(iii) each employee organization which, for purposes of collective bargaining, represents plan participants employed by such employers.

“(B) CONTENT OF NOTICE.—The notice under subparagraph (A) shall contain—

“(i) sufficient information to enable participants and beneficiaries to understand the effect of any reduction on their benefits, including an illustration of any affected benefit or subsidy, on an annual or monthly basis that a participant or beneficiary would otherwise have been eligible for as of the general effective date described in subparagraph (A), and

“(ii) information as to the rights and remedies of plan participants and beneficiaries as well as how to contact the Department of Labor for further information and assistance, where appropriate.

“(a) LEVEL OF CURRENT FUNDED RATIOS.—Except as provided in subsections (c), (d), and (e), no plan amendment increasing benefits or establishing new benefits under a composite plan may be adopted for a plan year unless—

“(1) the plan’s current funded ratio is at least 110 percent (without regard to the benefit increase or new benefits),

“(2) taking the benefit increase or new benefits into account, the current funded ratio is at least 100 percent and the projected funded ratio for the current plan year is at least 120 percent,

“(3) in any case in which, after taking the benefit increase or new benefits into account, the current funded ratio is less than 140 percent or the projected funded ratio is less than 140 percent, the benefit increase or new benefits are projected by the plan actuary to increase the present value of the plan's liabilities for the plan year by not more than 3 percent, and

“(4) expected contributions for the current plan year are at least 120 percent of normal cost for the plan year, determined using the unit credit funding method and treating the benefit increase or new benefits as in effect for the entire plan year.

“(b) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS WHERE CORE BENEFITS REDUCED.—If a plan has been amended to reduce core benefits pursuant to a realignment program under section 439(a)(2)(D), such plan may not be subsequently amended to increase core benefits unless the amendment—

“(1) increases the level of future benefit payments only, and

“(2) provides for an equitable distribution of benefit increases across the participant and beneficiary population, taking into account the extent to which the benefits of participants were previously reduced pursuant to such realignment program.

“(c) EXCEPTION TO COMPLY WITH APPLICABLE LAW.—Subsection (a) shall not apply in connection with a plan amendment if the amendment is required as a condition of qualification under part I of subchapter D of chapter 1 or to comply with other applicable law.

“(d) EXCEPTION WHERE MAXIMUM DEDUCTIBLE LIMIT APPLIES.—Subsection (a) shall not apply in connection with a plan amendment if and to the extent that contributions to the composite plan would not be deductible for the plan year under section 404(a)(1)(E) if the plan amendment is not adopted. The Secretary of the Treasury shall issue regulations to implement this paragraph.

“(e) EXCEPTION FOR CERTAIN BENEFIT MODIFICATIONS.—Subsection (a) shall not apply in connection with a plan amendment under section 439(a)(5)(C), regarding conditional benefit modifications.

“(f) TREATMENT OF PLAN AMENDMENTS.—For purposes of this section—

“(1) if two or more plan amendments increasing benefits or establishing new benefits are adopted in a plan year, such amendments shall be treated as a single amendment adopted on the last day of the plan year,

“(2) all benefit increases and new benefits adopted in a single amendment are treated as a single benefit increase, irrespective of whether the increases and new benefits take effect in more than one plan year, and

“(3) increases in contributions or decreases in plan liabilities which are scheduled to take effect in future plan years may be taken into account in connection with a plan amendment if they have been agreed to in writing or otherwise formalized by the date the plan amendment is adopted.

“(1) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of this subchapter, a defined benefit plan shall be treated as a legacy plan with respect to the composite plan under which the employees who were eligible to accrue a benefit under the defined benefit plan become eligible to accrue a benefit under such composite plan.

“(2) COMPONENT PLANS.—In any case in which a defined benefit plan is amended to add a composite plan component pursuant to section 437(b), paragraph (1) shall be applied by substituting ‘defined benefit component’ for ‘defined benefit plan’ and ‘composite plan component’ for ‘composite plan’.

“(3) ELIGIBLE TO ACCRUE A BENEFIT.—For purposes of paragraph (1), an employee is considered eligible to accrue a benefit under a composite plan as of the first day in which the employee completes an hour of service under a collective bargaining agreement that provides for contributions to and accruals under the composite plan in lieu of accruals under the legacy plan.

“(4) COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENT.—As used in this subpart, the term ‘collective bargaining agreement’ includes any agreement under which an employer has an obligation to contribute to a plan.

“(5) OTHER TERMS.—Any term used in this subpart which is not defined in this part and which is also used in section 432 shall have the same meaning provided such term in such section.

“(b) RESTRICTIONS ON ACCEPTANCE BY COMPOSITE PLAN OF AGREEMENTS AND CONTRIBUTIONS.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—The plan sponsor of a composite plan shall not accept or recognize a collective bargaining agreement (or any modification to such agreement), and no contributions may be accepted and no benefits may be accrued or otherwise earned under the agreement—

“(A) in any case in which the plan actuary of any defined benefit plan that would be treated as a legacy plan with respect to such composite plan has certified under section 432(b)(3) that such defined benefit plan is or will be in critical status for the plan year in which such agreement would take effect or for any of the succeeding 5 plan years, and

“(B) unless the agreement requires each employer who is a party to such agreement, including employers whose employees are not participants in the legacy plan, to provide contributions to the legacy plan with respect to such composite plan in a manner that satisfies the transition contribution requirements of subsection (d).

“(2) NOTICE.—Not later than 30 days after a determination by a plan sponsor of a composite plan that an agreement fails to satisfy the requirements described in paragraph (1), the plan sponsor shall provide notification of such failure and the reasons for such determination to—

“(A) the parties to the agreement,

“(B) active participants of the composite plan who have ceased to accrue or otherwise earn benefits with respect to service with an employer pursuant to paragraph (1), and

“(C) the Secretary of Labor, the Secretary of the Treasury, and the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation.

“(3) LIMITATION ON RETROACTIVE EFFECT.—This subsection shall not apply to benefits accrued before the date on which notice is provided under paragraph (2).

“(c) RESTRICTION ON ACCRUAL OF BENEFITS UNDER A COMPOSITE PLAN.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—In any case in which an employer, under a collective bargaining agreement entered into after the date of enactment of the Giving Retirement Options to Workers Act of 2020, ceases to have an obligation to contribute to a multiemployer defined benefit plan, no employees employed by the employer may accrue or otherwise earn benefits under any composite plan, with respect to service with that employer, for a 60-month period beginning on the date on which the employer entered into such collective bargaining agreement.

“(2) NOTICE OF CESSATION OF OBLIGATION.—Within 30 days of determining that an employer has ceased to have an obligation to contribute to a legacy plan with respect to employees employed by an employer that is or will be contributing to a composite plan with respect to service of such employees, the plan sponsor of the legacy plan shall notify the plan sponsor of the composite plan of that cessation.

“(3) NOTICE OF CESSATION OF ACCRUALS.—Not later than 30 days after determining that an employer has ceased to have an obligation to contribute to a legacy plan, the plan sponsor of the composite plan shall notify the bargaining parties, the active participants affected by the cessation of accruals, the Secretary, the Secretary of Labor, and the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation of the cessation of accruals, the period during which such cessation is in effect, and the reasons therefor.

“(4) LIMITATION ON RETROACTIVE EFFECT.—This subsection shall not apply to benefits accrued before the date on which notice is provided under paragraph (3).

“(d) TRANSITION CONTRIBUTION REQUIREMENTS.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—A collective bargaining agreement satisfies the transition contribution requirements of this subsection if the agreement—

“(A) authorizes for payment of contributions to a legacy plan at a rate or rates equal to or greater than the transition contribution rate established under paragraph (2), and

“(B) does not provide for—

“(i) a suspension of contributions to the legacy plan with respect to any period of service, or

“(ii) any new direct or indirect exclusion of younger or newly hired employees of the employer from being taken into account in determining contributions owed to the legacy plan.

“(2) TRANSITION CONTRIBUTION RATE.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The transition contribution rate for a plan year is the contribution rate that, as certified by the actuary of the legacy plan in accordance with the principles in section 432(b)(3)(B), is reasonably expected to be adequate—

“(i) to fund the normal cost for the plan year,

“(ii) to amortize the plan's unfunded liabilities in level annual installments over 25 years, beginning with the plan year in which the transition contribution rate is first established, and

“(iii) to amortize any subsequent changes in the legacy plan's unfunded liability due to experience gains or losses (including investment gains or losses, gains or losses due to contributions greater or less than the contributions made under the prior transition contribution rate, and other actuarial gains or losses), changes in actuarial assumptions, changes to the legacy plan's benefits, or changes in funding method over a period of 15 plan years beginning with the plan year in which such change in unfunded liability is incurred.

The transition contribution rate for any plan year may not be less than the transition contribution rate for the plan year in which such rate is first established.

“(B) MULTIPLE RATES.—If different rates of contribution are payable to the legacy plan by different employers or for different classes of employees, the certification shall specify a transition contribution rate for each such employer.

“(C) RATE APPLICABLE TO EMPLOYER.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided by clause (ii), the transition contribution rate applicable to an employer for a plan year is the rate in effect for the plan year of the legacy plan that commences on or after 180 days before the earlier of—

“(I) the effective date of the collective bargaining agreement pursuant to which the employer contributes to the legacy plan, or

“(II) 5 years after the last plan year for which the transition contribution rate applicable to the employer was established or updated.

“(ii) EXCEPTION.—The transition contribution rate applicable to an employer for the first plan year beginning on or after the commencement of the employer's obligation to contribute to the composite plan is the rate in effect for the plan year of the legacy plan that commences on or after 180 days before such first plan year.

“(D) EFFECT OF LEGACY PLAN FINANCIAL CIRCUMSTANCES.—If the plan actuary of the legacy plan has certified under section 432 that the plan is in endangered or critical status for a plan year, the transition contribution rate for the following plan year is the rate determined with respect to the employer under the legacy plan's funding improvement or rehabilitation plan under section 432, if greater than the rate otherwise determined, but in no event greater than 75 percent of the sum of the contribution rates applicable to the legacy plan and the composite plan for the plan year.

“(E) OTHER ACTUARIAL ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODS.—Except as provided in subparagraph (A), the determination of the transition contribution rate for a plan year shall be based on actuarial assumptions and methods consistent with the minimum funding determinations made under section 431 (or, if applicable, section 432) with respect to the legacy plan for the plan year.

“(F) ADJUSTMENTS IN RATE.—The plan sponsor of a legacy plan from time to time may adjust the transition contribution rate or rates applicable to an employer under this paragraph by increasing some rates and decreasing others if the actuary certifies that such adjusted rates in combination will produce projected contribution income for the plan year beginning on or after the date of certification that is not less than would be produced by the transition contribution rates in effect at the time of the certification.

“(G) NOTICE OF TRANSITION CONTRIBUTION RATE.—The plan sponsor of a legacy plan shall provide notice to the parties to collective bargaining agreements pursuant to which contributions are made to the legacy plan of changes to the transition contribution rate requirements at least 30 days before the beginning of the plan year for which the rate is effective.

“(H) NOTICE TO COMPOSITE PLAN SPONSOR.—Not later than 30 days after a determination by the plan sponsor of a legacy plan that a collective bargaining agreement provides for a rate of contributions that is below the transition contribution rate applicable to one or more employers that are parties to the collective bargaining agreement, the plan sponsor of the legacy plan shall notify the plan sponsor of any composite plan under which employees of such employer would otherwise be eligible to accrue a benefit.

“(3) CORRECTION PROCEDURES.—Pursuant to standards prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, the plan sponsor of a composite plan shall adopt rules and procedures that give the parties to the collective bargaining agreement notice of the failure of such agreement to satisfy the transition contribution requirements of this subsection, and a reasonable opportunity to correct such failure, not to exceed 180 days from the date of notice given under subsection (b)(2).

“(4) SUPPLEMENTAL CONTRIBUTIONS.—A collective bargaining agreement may provide for supplemental contributions to the legacy plan for a plan year in excess of the transition contribution rate determined under paragraph (2), regardless of whether the legacy plan is in endangered or critical status for such plan year.

“(e) NONAPPLICATION OF COMPOSITE PLAN RESTRICTIONS.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—The provisions of subsections (a), (b), and (c) shall not apply with respect to a collective bargaining agreement, to the extent the agreement, or a predecessor agreement, provides or provided for contributions to a defined benefit plan that is a legacy plan, as of the first day of the first plan year following a plan year for which the plan actuary certifies that the plan is fully funded, has been fully funded for at least three out of the immediately preceding 5 plan years, and is projected to remain fully funded for at least the following 4 plan years.

“(2) DETERMINATION OF FULLY FUNDED.—A plan is fully funded for purposes of paragraph (1) if, as of the valuation date of the plan for a plan year, the value of the plan's assets equals or exceeds the present value of the plan's liabilities, determined in accordance with the rules prescribed by the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation under sections 4219(c)(1)(D) and 4281 of Employee Retirement Income and Security Act for multiemployer plans terminating by mass withdrawal, as in effect for the date of the determination, except the plan's reasonable assumption regarding the starting date of benefits may be used.

“(3) OTHER APPLICABLE RULES.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), actuarial determinations and projections under this section shall be based on the rules in section 432(b)(3) and section 438(b).

“(1) the other plan is a composite plan,
“(2) the plan or plans resulting from the merger or transfer is a composite plan,
“(3) no participant's accrued benefit or adjustable benefit is lower immediately after the transaction than it was immediately before the transaction, and

“(4) the value of the assets transferred in the case of a transfer reasonably reflects the value of the amounts contributed with respect to the participants whose benefits are being transferred, adjusted for allocable distributions, investment gains and losses, and administrative expenses.

“(b) LEGACY PLAN.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—After a merger or transfer involving a composite plan, the legacy plan with respect to an employer that is obligated to contribute to the resulting composite plan is the legacy plan that applied to that employer immediately before the merger or transfer.

“(2) MULTIPLE LEGACY PLANS.—If an employer is obligated to contribute to more than one legacy plan with respect to employees eligible to accrue benefits under more than one composite plan and there is a merger or transfer of such legacy plans, the transition contribution rate applicable to the legacy plan resulting from the merger or transfer with respect to that employer shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of section 440A(d)(2)(B).”

TITLE X—JABARA-HEYER NO HATE ACT

SEC. 191001. SHORT TITLE.

This title may be cited as the “Jabara-Heyer National Opposition to Hate, Assault, and Threats to Equality Act of 2020” or the “Jabara-Heyer NO HATE Act”.

SEC. 191002. FINDINGS.

Congress finds the following:

(1) The incidence of violence known as hate crimes or crimes motivated by bias poses a serious national problem.

(2) According to data obtained by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the incidence of such violence increased in 2017, the most recent year for which data is available.

(3) In 1990, Congress enacted the Hate Crime Statistics Act (Public Law 101-275; 28 U.S.C. 534 note) to provide the Federal Government, law enforcement agencies, and the public with data regarding the incidence of hate crime. The Hate Crimes Statistics Act and the Matthew Shepard and James Byrd, Jr. Hate Crimes Prevention Act (division E of Public Law 111-84; 123 Stat. 2835) have enabled Federal authorities to understand and, where appropriate, investigate and prosecute hate crimes.

(4) A more complete understanding of the national problem posed by hate crime is in the public interest and supports the Federal interest in eradicating bias-motivated violence referenced in section 249(b)(1)(C) of title 18, United States Code.

(5) However, a complete understanding of the national problem posed by hate crimes is hindered by incomplete data from Federal, State, and local jurisdictions through the Uniform Crime Reports program authorized under section 534 of title 28, United States Code, and administered by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

(6) Multiple factors contribute to the provision of inaccurate and incomplete data regarding the incidence of hate crime through the Uniform Crime Reports program. A significant contributing factor is the quality and quantity of training that State and local law enforcement agencies receive on the identification and reporting of suspected bias-motivated crimes.

(7) The problem of crimes motivated by bias is sufficiently serious, widespread, and interstate in nature as to warrant Federal financial assistance to States and local jurisdictions.

(8) Federal financial assistance with regard to certain violent crimes motivated by bias enables Federal, State, and local authorities to work together as partners in the investigation and prosecution of such crimes.

TITLE XI—PRISONS AND JAILS

SEC. 191101. SHORT TITLE.

This title may be cited as the “Pandemic Justice Response Act”.

SEC. 191102. EMERGENCY COMMUNITY SUPERVISION ACT.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) As of the date of introduction of this Act, the novel coronavirus has spread to all 50 States, the District of Columbia, and 3 territories.

(2) The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention have projected that between 160,000,000 and 214,000,000 people could be infected by the novel coronavirus in the United States over the course of the pandemic.

(3) Although the United States has less than 5 percent of the world’s population, the United States holds approximately 21 percent of the world’s prisoners and leads the world in the number of individuals incarcerated, with nearly 2,200,000 people incarcerated in State and Federal prisons and local jails.

(4) Studies have shown that individuals age out of crime starting around 25 years of age, and released individuals over the age of 50 have a very low recidivism rate.

(5) According to public health experts, incarcerated individuals are particularly vulnerable to being gravely impacted by the novel coronavirus pandemic because—

(A) they have higher rates of underlying health issues than members of the general public, including higher rates of respiratory disease, heart disease, diabetes, obesity, HIV/AIDS, substance abuse, hepatitis, and other conditions that suppress immune response; and

(B) the close conditions and lack of access to hygiene products in prisons make these institutions unusually susceptible to viral pandemics.

(6) The spread of communicable disease in the United States generally constitutes a serious, heightened threat to the safety of incarcerated individuals, and there is a serious threat to the general public that prisons may become incubators of community spread of communicable viral disease.

(b) DEFINITIONS.—In this section:

(1) COVERED HEALTH CONDITION.—The term “covered health condition” with respect to an individual, means the individual—

(A) is pregnant;

(B) has chronic lung disease or asthma;

(E) has a neurological condition that weakens the ability to cough or breathe;

(F) has HIV;

(G) has sickle cell anemia;

(H) has cancer; or

(I) has a weakened immune system.

(2) COVERED INDIVIDUAL.—The term “covered individual”—

(A) means an individual who—

(i) is a juvenile (as defined in section 5031 of title 18, United States Code);

(ii) is 50 years of age or older;

(iii) has a covered health condition; or

(iv) is within 12 months of release from incarceration; and

(B) includes an individual described in subparagraph (A) who is serving a term of imprisonment for an offense committed before November 1, 1987, or who is serving a term of imprisonment in the custody of the Bureau of Prisons for a sentence imposed pursuant to a conviction for a criminal offense under the laws of the District of Columbia.

(3) NATIONAL EMERGENCY RELATING TO A COMMUNICABLE DISEASE.—The term “national emergency relating to a communicable disease” means—

(A) an emergency involving Federal primary responsibility determined to exist by the President under the section 501(b) of the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act (42 U.S.C. 5191(b)) with respect to a communicable disease; or

(B) a national emergency declared by the President under the National Emergencies Act (50 U.S.C. 1601 et seq.) with respect to a communicable disease.

(c) PLACEMENT OF CERTAIN INDIVIDUALS IN COMMUNITY SUPERVISION.—

(1) AUTHORITY.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), beginning on the date on which a national emergency relating to a communicable disease is declared and ending on the date that is 60 days after such national emergency expires or is terminated—

(A) notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Director of the Bureau of Prisons shall place in community supervision all covered individuals who are in the custody of the Bureau of Prisons; and

(B) the district court of the United States for each judicial district shall place in community supervision all covered individuals who are in the custody and care of the United States Marshals Service.

(2) EXCEPTIONS.—

(A) BUREAU OF PRISONS.—In carrying out paragraph (1)(A), the Director—

(i) may not place in community supervision any individual determined, by clear and convincing evidence, to be likely to pose a specific and substantial risk of causing bodily injury to or using violent force against the person of another;

(ii) shall place in the file of each individual described in clause (i) documentation of such determination, including the evidence used to make the determination; and

(iii) not later than 180 days after the date on which the national emergency relating to a communicable disease expires, shall provide a report to Congress documenting—

(I) the demographic data (including race, gender, age, offense of conviction, and criminal history level) of the individuals denied placement in community supervision under clause (i); and

(II) the justification for the denials described in subclause (I).

(B) DISTRICT COURTS.—In carrying out paragraph (1)(B), each district court of the United States—

(i) shall conduct an immediate and expedited review of the detention orders of all covered individuals in the custody and care of the United States Marshals Service, which may be conducted sua sponte and ex parte, without—

(I) appearance by the defendant or any party; or

(II) requiring a petition, motion, or other similar document to be filed;

(ii) may not place in community supervision any individual if the court determines, after a hearing and the attorney for the Government shows by clear and convincing evidence based on individualized facts, that detention is necessary because the individual’s release will pose a specific and substantial risk that the individual will cause bodily injury or use violent force against the person of another and that no conditions of release will reasonably mitigate that risk;

(iii) in carrying out clauses (i) and (ii), may—

(I) rely on evidence presented in prior court proceedings; and

(II) if the court determines it necessary, request additional information from the parties to make the determination.

(3) LIMITATION ON COMMUNITY SUPERVISION PLACEMENT.—In placing covered individuals into community supervision under this section, the Director of the Bureau of Prisons and the district court of the United States for each judicial district shall take into account and prioritize placements that enable adequate social distancing, which include home confinement or other forms of low in-person-contact supervised release.

(d) LIMITATION ON PRE-TRIAL DETENTION.—

(1) NO BOND CONDITIONS ON RELEASE.—Notwithstanding section 3142 of title 18, United States Code, beginning on the date on which a national emergency relating to a communicable disease is declared and ending on the date that is 60 days after such national emergency expires or is terminated, in imposing conditions of release, the judicial officer may not require payment of cash bail, proof of ability to pay an unsecured bond, execution of a bail bond, a solvent surety to co-sign a secured or unsecured bond, or posting of real property.

(2) LIMITATION.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Beginning on the date on which a national emergency relating to a communicable disease is declared and ending on the date that is 60 days after such national emergency expires or is terminated, at any initial appearance hearing, detention hearing, hearing on a motion for pretrial release, or any other hearing where the attorney for the Government is seeking the detention or continued detention of any individual, the judicial officer shall order the pretrial release of the individual on personal recognizance or on a condition or combination of conditions under section 3142(c) of title 18, United States Code, unless the attorney for the Government shows by clear and convincing evidence based on individualized facts that detention is necessary because the individual’s release will pose a specific and substantial risk that the individual will cause bodily injury or use violent force against the person of another and that no conditions of release will reasonably mitigate that risk.

(B) REQUIRED CONSIDERATION OF CERTAIN FACTORS.—If the judicial officer finds that the attorney for the Government has made the requisite showing under subparagraph (A), the judicial officer shall take into consideration, in determining whether detention is necessary—

(i) whether the individual's age or medical condition renders them especially vulnerable; and

(ii) whether detention will compromise the individual's access to adequate medical treatment, access to medications, or ability to privately consult with counsel and meaningfully prepare a defense.

(C) JUVENILES.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—Beginning on the date on which a national emergency relating to a communicable disease is declared and ending on the date that is 60 days after such national emergency expires or is terminated, notwithstanding sections 5031 through 5035 of title 18, United States Code, and except as provided under clause (ii), in the case of a juvenile alleged to have committed an act of juvenile delinquency, the judicial officer shall release the juvenile to their parent, guardian, custodian, or other responsible party (including the director of a shelter-care facility) upon their promise to bring such juvenile before the appropriate court when requested by the judicial officer.

(ii) EXCEPTION.—A juvenile alleged to have committed an act of juvenile delinquency may be detained pending trial only if, at a hearing at which the juvenile is represented by counsel, the attorney for the Government shows by clear and convincing evidence based on individualized facts that detention is necessary because the juvenile's release will pose a specific and substantial risk that the juvenile will use violent force against a reasonably identifiable person and that no conditions of release will reasonably mitigate that risk, except that in no case may a judicial officer order the detention of a juvenile if it will compromise the juvenile's access to adequate medical treatment, access to medications, or ability to privately consult with counsel and meaningfully prepare a defense.

(iii) LEAST RESTRICTIVE DETENTION.—In the case that the judicial officer orders the detention of a juvenile under clause (ii), the judicial officer shall order the detention of the juvenile in the least restrictive and safest environment possible, taking the national emergency relating to a communicable disease into consideration.

(iv) CONTENTS OF DETENTION ORDER.—In the case that the judicial officer orders the detention of a juvenile under clause (ii), the judicial officer shall issue a written detention order that includes—

- (I) findings of fact;
- (II) the reasons for the detention;
- (III) a description of the risk identified under clause (ii);
- (IV) an explanation of why no conditions will reasonably mitigate the risk identified under clause (ii);
- (V) a statement that detention will not compromise the juvenile's access to adequate medical treatment, access to medications, or ability to privately consult with counsel and meaningfully prepare a defense; and
- (VI) a statement establishing that the detention environment is the least restrictive and safest possible in accordance with the requirement under clause (iii).

(e) LIMITATION ON SUPERVISED RELEASE.—Beginning on the date on which a national emergency relating to a communicable disease is declared and ending on the date that is 60 days after such national emergency expires, the Office of Probation and Pretrial Services of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts shall take measures to prevent the spread of the communicable disease among individuals under supervision by—

- (1) suspending the requirement that individuals determined to be a lower risk of reoffending, or any other individuals determined to be appropriate by the supervising probation officer, report in person to their probation or parole officer;
- (2) identifying individuals who have successfully completed not less than 18 months of supervision and transferring such individuals to administrative supervision or petitioning the court to terminate supervision, as appropriate; and

(3) suspending the request for detention and imprisonment as a sanction for violations of probation, supervised release, or parole.

(f) PROHIBITION.—No individual who is granted placement in community supervision, termination of supervision, placement on administrative supervision, or pre-trial release shall be reincarcerated, placed on supervision or active supervision, or ordered detained pre-trial only as a result of the expiration of the national emergency relating to a communicable disease.

(g) PROHIBITION ON TECHNICAL VIOLATIONS AND CERTAIN MANDATORY REVOCATIONS OF PROBATION OR SUPERVISED RELEASE.—

(i) In the case of a revoked sentence of probation, the court shall resentence the defendant to probation, the duration of which shall be equal to the period of time remaining on the term of probation originally imposed at the time the defendant was most recently placed in custody, unless the court determines that decreasing the length of the term of probation is in the interest of justice.

(ii) In the case of a revoked term of supervised release, the court shall continue the defendant on supervised release, the duration of which shall be equal to the period of time the defendant had remaining on supervised release when the defendant was most recently placed in custody, unless the court determines that decreasing the term of supervised release is in the interest of justice.

(2) RESENTENCING IN CASES OF PAROLE.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Beginning on the date on which a national emergency relating to a communicable disease is declared and ending on the date that is 60 days after such national emergency expires, the court shall order the resentencing of a defendant who is serving a term of imprisonment resulting from a technical violation of the defendant's parole.

(B) RESENTENCING.—The court shall resentence the defendant to parole, the duration of which shall be equal to the period of time remaining on the defendant's term of parole at the time the defendant was most recently placed in custody, unless the court determines that decreasing the length of the term of parole is in the interest of justice.

(3) HEARING.—The court may grant, but not deny, a motion without a hearing under this section.

(4) NO MANDATORY REVOCATION.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Beginning on the date on which a national emergency relating to a communicable disease is declared and ending on the date that is 60 days after such national emergency expires, a court is not required to revoke a defendant's probation or supervised release under sections 3565(b) and 3583(g) of title 18, United States Code, based on a finding that the defendant refused to comply with drug treatment.

(B) DISSEMINATION OF POLICY CHANGE.—Not later than 10 days after the date of enactment of this title, the Judicial Conference of the United States shall issue and disseminate to all district

“(a) IMMEDIATE RELEASE OF VULNERABLE AND LOW-RISK INDIVIDUALS.—The purpose of the grant program under section 3062 is to provide for the testing, initiation and transfer to treatment in the community, and provision of services in the community, by States and units of local government as they relate to preventing, detecting, and stopping the spread of COVID-19 in correctional facilities.

“(b) PRETRIAL CITATION AND RELEASE.—

“(1) FINDINGS.—Congress finds as follows:

“(A) With the dramatic growth in pretrial detention resulting in county and city correctional facilities regularly exceeding capacity, such correctional facilities may serve to rapidly increase the spread of COVID-19, as facilities that hold large numbers of individuals in congregant living situations may promote the spread of COVID-19.

“(B) While individuals arrested and processed at local correctional facilities may only be held for hours or days, exposure to large number of individuals in holding cells and courtrooms promotes the spread of COVID-19.

“(C) Pretrial detainees and individuals in correctional facilities are then later released into the community having being exposed to COVID-19.

“(2) PURPOSE.—The purpose of the grant program under section 3065 is to substantially increase the use of risk-based citation release for all individuals who do not present a public safety risk.

SEC. 191503. SHORT TITLE.

This subtitle may be cited as the “Global Health Security Act of 2020”.

SEC. 191504. FINDINGS.

Congress finds the following:

(1) In December 2009, President Obama released the National Strategy for Countering Biological Threats, which listed as one of seven objectives “Promote global health security: Increase the availability of and access to knowledge and products of the life sciences that can help reduce the impact from outbreaks of infectious disease whether of natural, accidental, or deliberate origin”.

(2) In February 2014, the United States and nearly 30 other nations launched the Global Health Security Agenda (GHSA) to address several high-priority, global infectious disease threats. The GHSA is a multi-faceted, multi-country initiative intended to accelerate partner countries’ measurable capabilities to achieve specific targets to prevent, detect, and respond to infectious disease threats, whether naturally occurring, deliberate, or accidental.

(3) In 2015, the United Nations adopted the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), which include specific reference to the importance of global health security as part of SDG 3 “ensure healthy lives and promote well-being for all at all ages” as follows: “strengthen the capacity of all countries, in particular developing countries, for early warning, risk reduction and management of national and global health risks”.

(4) On November 4, 2016, President Obama signed Executive Order 13747, “Advancing the Global Health Security Agenda to Achieve a World Safe and Secure from Infectious Disease Threats”.

(5) In October 2017 at the GHSA Ministerial Meeting in Uganda, the United States and more than 40 GHSA member countries supported the “Kampala Declaration” to extend the GHSA for an additional 5 years to 2024.

(6) In December 2017, President Trump released the National Security Strategy, which includes the priority action: “Detect and contain biothreats at their source: We will work with other countries to detect and mitigate outbreaks early to prevent the spread of disease. We will encourage other countries to invest in basic health care systems and to strengthen global health security across the intersection of human and animal health to prevent infectious disease outbreaks”.

(7) In September 2018, President Trump released the National Biodefense Strategy, which includes objectives to “strengthen global health security capacities to prevent local bioincidents from becoming epidemics”, and “strengthen international preparedness to support international response and recovery capabilities”.

SEC. 191511. DEFINITIONS.

In this subtitle:

(1) APPROPRIATE CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES.—The term “appropriate congressional committees” means—

(A) the Committee on Foreign Affairs and the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives; and

(B) the Committee on Foreign Relations and the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate.

SEC. 191512. SUNSET.

This subtitle (other than section 191507), and the amendments made by this subtitle, shall cease to be effective on December 31, 2024.

Subtitle C—Securing America From Epidemics Act

SEC. 191513. FINDINGS.

Congress finds the following:

(1) Due to increasing population and population density, human mobility, and ecological change, emerging infectious diseases pose a real and growing threat to global health security.

(2) While vaccines can be the most effective tools to protect against infectious disease, the absence of vaccines for a new or emerging infectious disease with epidemic potential is a major health security threat globally, posing catastrophic potential human and economic costs.

(3) The 1918 influenza pandemic infected 500,000,000 people, or about one-third of the world's population at the time, and killed 50,000,000 people—more than died in the First World War.

(4) The economic cost of an outbreak can be devastating. The estimated global cost today, should an outbreak of the scale of the 1918 influenza pandemic strike, is 5 percent of global gross domestic product.

(5) Even regional outbreaks can have enormous human costs and substantially disrupt the global economy and cripple regional economies. The 2014 Ebola outbreak in West Africa killed more than 11,000 and cost $2,800,000,000 in losses in the affected countries alone.

(6) The ongoing novel coronavirus outbreak reflects the pressing need for quick and effective vaccine and countermeasure development.

(7) While the need for vaccines to address emerging epidemic threats is acute, markets to drive the necessary development of vaccines to address them—a complex and expensive undertaking—are very often critically absent. Also absent are mechanisms to ensure access to those vaccines by those who need them when they need them.

(8) To address this global vulnerability and the deficit of political commitment, institutional capacity, and funding, in 2017, several countries and private partners launched the Coalition for Epidemic Preparedness Innovations (CEPI).

CEPI's mission is to stimulate, finance, and coordinate development of vaccines for high-priority, epidemic-potential threats in cases where traditional markets do not exist or cannot create sufficient demand.

(9) Through funding of partnerships, CEPI seeks to bring priority vaccine candidates through the end of phase II clinical trials, as well as support vaccine platforms that can be rapidly deployed against emerging pathogens.

(10) CEPI has funded multiple partners to develop vaccine candidates against the novel coronavirus, responding to this urgent, global requirement.

(11) Support for and participation in CEPI is an important part of the United States own health security and biodefense and is in the national interest, complementing the work of many Federal agencies and providing significant value through global partnership and burden-sharing.

SEC. 191514. AUTHORIZATION FOR UNITED STATES PARTICIPATION.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The United States is hereby authorized to participate in the Coalition for Epidemic Preparedness Innovations.

(b) PRIVILEGES AND IMMUNITIES.—The Coalition for Epidemic Preparedness Innovations shall be considered a public international organization for purposes of section 1 of the International Organizations Immunities Act (22 U.S.C. 288).

(c) REPORTS TO CONGRESS.—Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the President shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report that includes the following:

(1) The United States planned contributions to the Coalition for Epidemic Preparedness Innovations and the mechanisms for United States participation in such Coalition.

(2) The manner and extent to which the United States shall participate in the governance of the Coalition.

(3) How participation in the Coalition supports relevant United States Government strategies and programs in health security and biodefense, to include—

(A) the Global Health Security Strategy required by section 7058(c)(3) of division K of the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2018 (Public Law 115–141);

(B) the applicable revision of the National Biodefense Strategy required by section 1086 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 (6 U.S.C. 104); and

(C) any other relevant decision-making process for policy, planning, and spending in global health security, biodefense, or vaccine and medical countermeasures research and development.

(d) APPROPRIATE CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES.—In this section, the term “appropriate congressional committees” means—

(1) the Committee on Foreign Affairs and the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives; and

(2) the Committee on Foreign Relations and the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The bill shall be debatable for 2 hours, equally divided and controlled by the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on Appropriations.

The gentlewoman from New York (Mrs. LOWEY) and the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. COLE) each will control 60 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from New York.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on the measure under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from New York?

There was no objection.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 4½ minutes.

Mr. Speaker, nearly 86,000 Americans have died, more than 1.4 million have become sick, and more than 36 million have lost their jobs because of coronavirus.

While Congress has taken significant action, we must do more.

On Wednesday, Federal Reserve Chairman Jay Powell urged Congress to think big to address this crisis. The HEROES Act is a bold step to provide that support and ensure our Nation meets the challenge of the pandemic and the ensuing economic recession.

Within the Appropriations division, this bill deploys more than $1.5 trillion in Federal funds to address this health and economic crisis.

First, the bill delivers nearly $1 trillion to States and local governments so that they can keep our heroes—first responders, health workers, teachers, and other public servants—paid and working for the American people.

I am proud that this bill will provide $67 billion to my home State of New York, which has been hit so hard by this crisis.

Second, we will only beat this disease with a robust national strategy for testing, tracing, and treatment.

Yesterday, Dr. Rick Bright, one of the Federal Government's top scientists, warned us: "If we fail to develop a national coordinated response, based in science, I fear the pandemic will get far worse and be prolonged, causing unprecedented illness and fatalities."

To that end, the bill builds on the CARES Act, with $75 billion for a nationwide testing and contact tracing strategy, and an additional $100 billion for the Health Provider Relief Fund.

Third, we must meet the challenge that the economic effects of lockdowns and stay-at-home orders are having on families.

As a mother and a grandmother, I am deeply concerned about the effects of coronavirus on children and their education. We are including $100 billion to support K-12 and higher education systems as they respond to this crisis.

To address rising hunger, this bill funds an expansion of SNAP benefits and other nutrition programs so that children and families have enough to eat.

To prevent a housing crisis, we are deploying new funds worth nearly $200 billion to help struggling families make rent or pay their mortgages.

Finally, to stop this crisis from weakening our democracy, we have included funding to hold safe elections, to carry out a fair and accurate Census, and to ensure that the Postal Service can continue safely delivering mail to American households.

I am so proud of the hard work of so many to ensure this bill provides the help that families, businesses, and communities need.

Mr. Speaker, the HEROES Act will meet the challenges this pandemic poses to our Nation. I urge a "yes" vote, and I reserve the balance of my time.

□ 1445

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in opposition to H.R. 6800. Not only is the bill premature; it was crafted behind closed doors and without any Republican input at all.

The pandemic we currently face is unlike anything we have experienced in modern history, and so, too, has been our response. I am pleased with how the Congress has worked together and quickly to provide urgent aid to those on the front lines and those struggling with the economic impacts of this disastrous scourge.

Every bill that has been enacted up to this point was ultimately the product of cooperation and bipartisan support. Each of those bills passed this floor with essentially no partisan division at all.

So it is very disappointing to come before you today, Mr. Speaker, on this one-sided bill that is loaded with provisions unrelated to the crisis that we face. This is not in the spirit of cooperation that the American people expect from their leaders during difficult times.

Indeed, the bill before us today has $3 trillion in spending, we think. We don't know. We don't have a CBO score yet. It provides nearly $10,000 for every person in the United States. And the $1.5 trillion of discretionary funding provided in this bill is more than typically appropriated in an entire fiscal year.

This includes almost a trillion dollars in new funding for States, cities, and counties, on top of roughly a trillion dollars we have already provided over the last two months. These new dollars are made available without any safeguards against funds going to jurisdictions that had financial problems long before the crisis and are unrelated to the crisis.

The bill gives the U.S. Postal Service a $25 billion windfall without requiring any reforms to their operations, and it bails out multiemployer pension plans.

There are also sweeping changes to our election system, requiring same-day voter registration and nationwide vote by mail. This is an incredible Federal intrusion into the election system that is operated not by the Federal Government, but by the States.

I am concerned with this path, Mr. Speaker. It leads us in the wrong direction. There is no reason for us to be here on the floor in this House debating this partisan wish list.

I know what can come from Members working across the aisle together. I have done it on many occasions with my good friend, the distinguished chairwoman of the Appropriations Committee. It is what led to the creation of the Infectious Disease Rapid Response Reserve Fund that allowed the administration to respond immediately to the emerging threat from the new coronavirus as we worked to understand where resources were needed.

I was proud to work with my counterpart in the Labor, Health, and Human Services Committee, Chairwoman DELAURO, on that fund, and even more proud to see it used effectively. That is an example of the two parties coming together, working together to pass a really good idea that benefitted this country at a critical time.

That is the cooperative nature that has been the hallmark of our government's response to the pandemic up till now. The American people expect and deserve nothing less. For that reason, I urge my colleagues to vote "no" on this bill, so that we can work together and on a better product that will be a responsible use of taxpayer dollars and truly help those in need.

Mr. Speaker, I have full faith that the leaders of the Appropriations Committee, Chairwoman LOWEY and Republican Ranking Member GRANGER, will work together to come up with a bill that we all support. That confidence is based on experience. I have seen them do it over and over again during my time in Congress, and particularly in dealing with the last four bills where we did work together and manage to craft a bill that not only passed here, but passed the United States Senate as well, essentially without dissent.

Mr. Speaker, if we continue down the path with this bill, we know that the Senate will not pick it up, and we know the President will not sign it. It is much more about political messaging than effective legislating.

I would just urge my colleagues, let's return to the path that we walked down together in these recent weeks. We bargained, we debated, but we brought products to the floor that we knew could pass the other chamber and that we knew the President would sign, and that we knew would immediately go forward to help the American people.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PELOSI), the outstanding Speaker of the House.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Speaker, I thank the distinguished chair for yielding and thank her for her tremendous leadership.

My colleagues, a horrible virus has made a vicious attack on the lives and the livelihood of the American people and, indeed, on the life of our democracy. We have been given a momentous opportunity and, therefore, a great opportunity to defeat the virus and to do so in a way that brings us together and takes us forward to a stronger America.

Today, the House will consider the HEROES Act, to honor those who are on the front lines, our healthcare workers, our first responders, teachers, sanitation workers, food providers, transit workers, and other essential workers.

Many of them have risked their lives to save lives, and now they may lose their jobs. For many of them, this is just what is happening right now as governors across the country are planning their budgets.

As the coronavirus takes its vicious toll on the lives and livelihoods in our country, it has also taken a toll on the States to deliver services to the people. Governors are forced to either cut services or increase taxes or both.

Congress must honor its responsibility to the American people, to lessen the blow of the coronavirus, by making the same serious investment of the HEROES Act to our State, local, Tribal, and territorial governments.

The plan that we are voting on today will make a tremendous difference, not only in the budgets of the States, but in the lives of the American people: their public health, the education of our children, the sanitation that is so important in defeating the virus, with the support of so many essential workers.

The distinguished gentleman on the other side of the aisle talked about the cost of the bill. The cost to the States, localities, territories, and Tribal governments is less than the cost of the Republican tax break, which gave 83 percent of the benefits to the top 1 percent. We think this is a major investment in the lives of the American people and in the budgets of our States and localities.

Setting aside how we got here, we must approach this tragedy with the deepest humanity, Mr. Speaker. All of our hearts are broken by the 87,000 Americans who have lost their lives and nearly 1.5 million who have been infected by the coronavirus.

The number of 36-or-more-million Americans who have filed for unemployment insurance is almost unimaginable. This is a moment when our fellow Americans are in deep suffering. We must have empathy for our heroes, the healthcare workers, for how exhausted they must be and how stressed they are in doing their jobs. And, again, they are at risk of losing their jobs in this economy.

We must also emphasize the pain of families who do not know where their next meal is coming from or how they are going to pay next month's rent. It is imperative that we address the needs of the American people with clarity as we proceed.

It is always interesting to me, Mr. Speaker, to see how much patience some people have with the pain and suffering of other people, a tolerance level that is not acceptable in a great country like America, with a sense of community and concern for each other.

We can all agree that we must open the economy, for sure, as quickly as we can. But we must do so based on science and data. The key to opening this door is testing, tracing, treating, and social distancing. Overwhelmingly, the scientific community agrees.

The HEROES Act has a strategic plan, something that has been lacking thus far, a strategic plan with a vision to end this plague, a strategic vision, a goal, a timetable, milestones, benchmarks, put forth by the Energy and Commerce Committee. That is really important. I thank the gentleman from New Jersey. You have to have a plan to succeed.

As families are devastated by the loss of life, this legislation of putting money in the pockets of the American people, which is also a stimulus for the economy, is essential. They are suffering so much in so many ways. We want to lessen the pain for them.

As Federal Reserve Chairman Powell said—this is very important, because it isn't one of us saying it to each other. The authority of the Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board said: "Additional fiscal support could be costly, but worth it if it helps avoid long-term economic damage and leaves us with a stronger recovery. This tradeoff is one for our elected representatives, who wield powers of taxation and spending."

As elected officials, we have the responsibility and the opportunity to think big, as he advised, and act now for the people.

The distinguished gentleman said, oh, my goodness, we put this bill on the floor. Well, let me just do a little history of the last few months.

I, too, am very proud of the fact that we were able to bring four bills to conclusion in a strong bipartisan way.

The first one on March 4: Testing, testing, testing. Not really fulfilled, but nonetheless intended.

Ten days later, on March 14: Mask, mask, mask, mask. Again, PPE, not fully realized, but nonetheless intended.

March 28, the President of the United States signed the CARES Act, the first CARES Act. And that was a bill that was developed by the Republican leadership in the Senate. They put forth their proposal. We responded, acted upon it, and came forth with a bipartisan agreement.

The next bill, the interim PPP bill, was also developed by the Republican leader in the Senate. He put forth their proposal; we put forth our suggestions; we negotiated; we came forth with a bipartisan bill.

Don't you take pride in the House of Representatives having the same opportunity and privilege as the Republican leadership in the Senate for us to put forth legislation in this terrible fight?

More than 80 percent of what is in this legislation has already been supported in a bipartisan way. We have agreed on State and local and other bills. We have agreed on testing in at least two other bills. We have agreed on supporting hospitals. We have agreed on unemployment insurance. We have agreed on direct payments. So much that is in this legislation has appeared in previous bipartisan legislation. So we are not asking people to do something they haven't done before.

But there are some things that we want to add, the postal system, more for voting—but they did vote for the vote-by-mail legislation before—a very strong OSHA regulation that mandates certain conditions so that our workers will be protected and that our employers will know what the standards are clearly that they must honor and, therefore, they are protected as well.

Now, some of the Members say: Let's take a pause.

Let's take a pause? Do you think this virus is taking a pause? Do you think that the rent takes a pause? Do you think that putting food on the table, or the hunger that comes if you can't, takes a pause? The hardship of losing a job doesn't take a pause. Or tragically losing a loved one, it doesn't take a pause.

So many lives may have been saved if we had testing, tracing, and treatment earlier on. Now, that is a lesson to us that that is what we must do so that we can end this. But we don't end it by pausing in the fight.

This virus is relentless. It is possibly mutating, changing its nature. This is a very difficult fight.

It gives us a moment that we must admit that the American people are suffering deeply. We must have empathy for the healthcare workers who, again and again, risk their lives to save lives and, again, are now at risk of losing jobs of their own, as I said before.

We must have empathy for the families who are sick and the parents who are struggling to pay the rent and put food on the table.

We must have empathy for families who have lost their loved ones. Can you just imagine losing a loved one so mysteriously, so out of the blue? Many people can't even embrace them or say good-bye because of the way the virus is communicated.

We cannot abandon them in this time of need. To protect lives and livelihood, Members of Congress, House and Senate, must come together, as we have done, responding to the Republicans' bills that they constructed on their own in the Senate, and now we offer back something that contains much of what they offered, a little more, because the needs are greater.

We must pass this bill to give the families the relief they need. These are the American people. This is our family. They are suffering. They need help. We have the resources and the opportunity to do so.

It is interesting to me, and so sad for me, as a mother and grandmother of children who are younger and college age, that this is the time that they would have been enjoying graduation. I have spoken at many, many, many graduations, watching hundreds of thousands of students walk across that stage, to see the pride in their families, many of them the first in their families to graduate from college, to see the symbol of success, love, and joy that it is for those families. They will be missing that ritual, sadly, whether it is college, high school, or, in my case, grade school, and even going into middle school.

President Kennedy said that children are our “greatest resource” and our “best hope for the future.” They are our hope, but we must also give them hope as they go forward by alleviating the challenge our country is facing and make the future better for them. It is always about the children and their future.

I urge our colleagues to consider all of those children all over America, but also in their own States, in their own districts, as they make their decision today that is so important to our country.

That is why I am so grateful, Mr. Speaker, to have a distinguished chairwoman, Chair NITA LOWEY of New York, as chair of the Appropriations Committee. She and many of our chairs of committees have been dazzling, dazzling with a depth of knowledge of the subjects, the extent of legislative brilliance that they have brought to all of this, knowing the challenge, understanding the policy, strategically thinking about how we can best accomplish and use money.

This is not a Christmas tree. There is nothing joyful about this. This is a very strategically planned piece of legislation that is tailored strictly to meet the needs of the American people regarding the coronavirus pandemic. To do anything less would not be responsible. There is more we could have done, but again, we wanted to keep the cost in line.

When you talk about the cost, you have to think about the opportunity lost. The Chairman of the Fed has told us to think big. It is never going to be cheaper, he said, because the cost of interest is so low, the cost of credit is so low.

And I say, not to act now is not only irresponsible in a humanitarian way, but it is irresponsible because it is only going to cost more, more in terms of lives and livelihood, cost to the budget, cost to our democracy, as Governors, city halls, and county executives struggle to make their budgets so depleted by this virus.

This funding is to make sure that they have the funds to take care of some of the funding for the coronavirus expenses directly, but also a recognition of the loss of revenue to their budgets because of this assault on our economy by this vicious little virus that we must defeat.

As we do that, Mr. Speaker, I thank the distinguished chairwoman for her extraordinary leadership. She has a few more bills to go, a lot of time left, a great contribution to make. I had the privilege of serving with her for decades, and I am sorry to see her leave the Congress, but she leaves a tremendous legacy.

We all believe that a budget should be a statement of our national values. What is important to us as a Nation should be reflected in our budgets and how we allocate our resources.

Chairman LOWEY has been just that messenger of values as she has put forth her budgets, and she does so with respect for the Republicans on her committee, in this Congress, and in this country. Bipartisanship is the order of the day.

As a former member of the Appropriations Committee, where I was forged, and the Intelligence Committee, I recognize full well the product, as Mr. COLE said, of appropriators working together. I always say, left to their own devices, they can get the job done, and they will.

I have no doubt that this legislation will have bipartisan support. I just want it to be soon because these Governors can't wait. Right now, as I said, they have many layoffs because they don't have the money. Are they going to raise property taxes? We can make that go away in large measure if we pass this legislation because it is not just about their budgets; it is about the services for the people of our country that will be lessened if we do not help.

What are we here for, but for the American people? How are their services delivered? In many ways by the statehouses and the State legislatures, the city councils, mayors' offices, and the rest. We have a responsibility to make the strategic spending that we need to do. That is what this bill does.

It is not for us to praise our heroes. Everybody praises them, thanks them, and honors them—words. We need deeds, and we need real support for them. We must always—this is the saddest part, all these people who have died.

I know, on both sides of the aisle, hearing our colleagues speak, that all of us will always carry those people in our hearts, 87,000 now. Hopefully, we can curtail the growth of that number with our testing, but we must make a decision to do so. That is the decision that we have to make here today.

Mr. Speaker, I thank all of my colleagues for their thoughtful and prayerful consideration of the HEROES Act. I thank all of you for your concern about the American people. Let us come together and give them a real signal that we care by allocating the resources to meet their needs.

We pray for all of them, all of our constituents, and we pray and thank God for continuing to bless America.

Mr. Speaker, I urge our colleagues to support the HEROES Act.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, while our distinguished Speaker and I may disagree on this particular bill, we certainly agree on our opinion of the chairwoman of the Appropriations Committee and her ability to bring us together.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. ADER-HOLT), my good friend and distinguished ranking member of the Commerce, Justice, Science, and Related Agencies Subcommittee of the Appropriations Committee.

Mr. ADERHOLT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Oklahoma for yielding to me.

I rise today in strong opposition to this bill. No doubt, as has been said, State and local governments across this Nation are hurting because of the economic downturn this virus has created. However, these times call for cooperation. The Democrats, unfortunately, have chosen partisanship.

America needs us to come together to address this pandemic, but the Democrats chose their own way, shutting out the Republicans in discussing this bill. Unfortunately, the Democratic leadership seems more interested in shaping the debate for November than solving the real problems that this country is going through today.

Among the many concerns of this package is the election mandates. The Democrat pipe dream would lead to widespread voter fraud by allowing voter harvesting and prohibiting even States from requiring voter identification.

Let me be clear: This bill is chock-full of proposals that have absolutely nothing to do with addressing the economic harms from the pandemic virus that we are experiencing in this Nation. A $3 trillion liberal wish list is not a serious proposal. The United States of America, this country, deserves better.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from New York (Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY), my friend, a fellow New Yorker, an outstanding Congresswoman from New York, and the chairwoman of the Committee on Oversight and Reform.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I thank my good friend from New York for yielding.

I rise in strong support of the HEROES Act. This bill will provide over $67 billion in emergency relief to New York State, emergency aid that is desperately needed by a State that is on the front line of our national fight against the coronavirus.

There is more than $17 billion that will flow directly to New York City, whose people continue to inspire the country with their resilience, courage, and compassion.

The act includes crucial support for renters, which is especially important to my district. For people who have lost their jobs, the Federal Government will pay their rent for them out of a $100 billion fund.

As chair of the Oversight and Reform Committee, I helped lead a bipartisan effort to save the Postal Service from financial ruin. This bill will provide $25 billion to ensure that it can continue serving the American public.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the numerous Members on both sides of the aisle who have joined me in fighting for this and supporting this funding. This emergency assistance will mean that we can avoid drastic service cuts at a time when American lives depend on the mail more and more every day.

Recognizing that Congress has a constitutional responsibility to ensure a fair and accurate Census, this bill extends certain reporting deadlines. The administration has asked for this delay as a result of the coronavirus crisis, which caused key operations of the 2020 Census to be postponed.

The bill would also enhance congressional oversight of Census operations. This administration has fought legitimate oversight tooth and nail, and the bill has added protections for this essential function.

Mr. Speaker, I urge a “yes” vote on this crucial legislation.

□ 1515

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. CALVERT), my very good friend and the distinguished ranking member of the Subcommittee on Defense Appropriations.

Mr. CALVERT. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in opposition to the HEROES Act. With $3 trillion in spending, there are plenty of giveaways for liberal priorities, such as handouts for illegal immigrants and failed pension systems, yet there is no funding for the defense industrial base.

Today, as we debate these measures, adversaries around the world are testing our ability to defend ourselves as we battle this virus and the economic impact. But instead of shoring up our defense industrial base, which is comprised of businesses in every one of our districts, the majority ignores the clear and present danger of those who wish to exploit this crisis.

China continues to secure its vision of regional dominance. Rather than spending billions of dollars to keep people dependent on the government, why not put them to work building more Virginia-class submarines, Joint Strike Fighters, amphibious combat vehicles, expeditionary sea bases, MQ-9 Reapers, satellites.

Let's accelerate the next generation of weapons systems, including the Columbia-class submarines, the new frigate, the B-21 Long-Range Stealth Bomber, the Army's Future Vertical Lift program.

The defense industrial base is comprised of hundreds of thousands of companies, from the primes to the 10-person shops making nuts and bolts. It is the small innovator that disrupts the system and provides leap-ahead technology. It is a critical industry that is completely ignored in the bill.

I am opposed to the bill for many reasons. It is a roadmap to an even more authoritative Federal Government, a first step toward a socialist system. But today I stand for the men and women of the United States Armed Forces and the defense community that supports them. As the beacon of freedom and democracy in the world, we must send a message that will not allow for bad actors to take advantage, and we will continue to be the world's superpower through our ability to project force to any corner of the world.

This bill is a retreat from our values and our place in the world. Americans don't want unlimited handouts and dependence; they want to work, innovate, and succeed. I urge a “no” vote.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from New York (Mr. NADLER), my friend, the outstanding chairman of the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, we find ourselves at a critical moment: 1.4 million Americans are sick; nearly 90,000 people have died; 36 million Americans are out of work.

My constituents in New York have been at the epicenter of this pandemic for months. While this bill is not perfect, it goes far to support the country and New Yorkers.

First and foremost, State and local governments will see nearly $1 trillion dollars in funding to fill the massive gaps in their budgets and prevent huge cuts to critical services. For New York State and New York City, that funding will mean the difference between recovery and total economic collapse.

I am proud the HEROES Act includes two bills I introduced: the COVID-19 Correctional Facility Emergency Response Act, for testing, treatment, and prevention of COVID-19 in prisons and jails; and the Public Safety Officer Pandemic Response Act, which will make sure that our brave first responders who die or become disabled get their benefits. The bill also includes many priorities for the Judiciary Committee, like additional funding for the Violence Against Women Act to address the surge in domestic violence, funding for Legal Aid and local law enforcement, and a ban on price gouging.

The bill includes $100 billion for rental assistance, $75 billion for homeowners assistance so people don't lose their homes, and financial support for the frontline and essential workers keeping our country running.

It is vital that door staff who have been working every day in our apartment and office buildings qualify for this additional pay. I look forward to working with my colleagues to make sure that happens.

The bill finally puts in place a comprehensive, nationwide, science-based strategy for testing and contact tracing that is essential to limit the spread of the pandemic and to get our economy open again.

Additionally, the bill improves PPP and makes loan forgiveness much easier to achieve for millions of small businesses. Nonprofits, the backbone of New York's economy, and housing cooperatives will also now be eligible for PPP.

The Postal Service, which has been a lifeline for American families since

George Washington and small businesses during the pandemic, will also receive much-needed funding to keep services running.

The bill is not perfect, but it is essential. I urge everyone to vote for it.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Arkansas (Mr. WOMACK), my good friend, and the distinguished Republican ranking member on the Budget Committee, as well as a valued member of the Appropriations Committee.

Mr. WOMACK. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, let me say before I get to the contents of my remarks, not lost on me is the work that Mr. COLE is doing today as a Rules Committee member and managing the debate that we just had, managing this debate with Appropriations. He is a real iron man today, and I just want to publicly thank him for the longstanding work that he is doing in support of our work here today.

Mr. Speaker, here we are in the people's House debating nothing more than a real partisan grab bag, and it is an expensive one. What we see as a crisis, Mr. Speaker, the other side sees as an opportunity to exert leverage: no collaboration, no transparency, no Republican input. They can't even wait until the trillions of dollars we have already spent is completely out the door before coming back for more.

Why? Because this is not about a response to the coronavirus; it is about implementing an agenda. Many of the items in this bill were already part of the liberal agenda before we could even say “coronavirus.”

What does the federalizing of elections have to do with COVID-19?

What does the SALT deduction that has been a source of contention with the other side have to do with COVID-19?

How about forgiving $10,000 of student loan debt? How did that get in the conversation with our response to coronavirus?

The Postal Service bailout, multiemployer pensions—are you kidding me?

Mr. Speaker, the people deserve better. This bill is not going anywhere, and they know it and we know it.

It is appropriate, Mr. Speaker, that the conversations that are taking place today on this floor about this bill are being done behind a mask because no one can argue this with a straight face.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield an additional 30 seconds to the gentleman from Arkansas.

Mr. WOMACK. As I was saying, it is appropriate that we are having this conversation, in many respects, behind a mask, because there is nobody on this floor today who can argue with a straight face that many of the provisions in this bill that we are debating right now are related to coronavirus or have any sense of congressional urgency.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. NEAL), my friend and the chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, who came to Congress in the same class as I did.

Mr. NEAL. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman for yielding and for her kind comments.

I am delighted to stand in support of H.R. 6800, the HEROES Act. It also could be called the confidence in the American people act. This legislation responds to the reality that 85,000 Americans have lost their lives, 36 million Americans are now without a job, and our thoughts are with those families today. I am delighted with the role that Ways and Means once again played in stepping up to deliver solutions in this latest legislation.

The HEROES Act includes a second round of economic impact payments to keep Americans afloat and infuse money back into the economy; liquidity, every economist has suggested that. This round is more substantial for families and fixes shortcomings in the first round of payments, like those of college students and others who are dependent on parents.

We enhanced the employee retention tax credit. This expanded version will come to the aid of 60 million Americans. The majority of those are employees of small and mid-sized businesses.

April brought about the worst plunge in unemployment since the Great Depression. We have extended the weekly Federal unemployment compensation payments through January of next year.

Frontline workers who haven't stopped since this crisis began we now know are under great pressure. We provide flexible funding to support childcare and adult daycare for essential workers to ease this burden.

The Ways and Means Committee also had a role in providing provisions to address the persistent public health emergency that is gripping the Nation. We led the charge to make investments in nursing home safety, as these facilities have been ravaged by the virus.

This bill was a team effort. Thank you to my Ways and Means Committee members for their contributions, who have been working around the clock with the staff to get this legislation before us today.

I sought out Jay Powell's advice on this from day one, in the early beginning. He said just a couple of days ago, "additional fiscal support could be costly but worth it if it helps avoid long-term economic damage and leaves us with a stronger recovery."

This is about balance right now. This is about relief and stability, which will hasten recovery. What we are doing here today will be, in fact, a fact-based approach to save the lives and livelihoods of the American people.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. FLEISCHMANN), my very good friend and the ranking member on the Homeland Security Committee of the Appropriations Committee.

Mr. FLEISCHMANN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong opposition to this bill.

This great Chamber has passed four bills, four bipartisan, bicameral bills that the House, the Senate, Republicans, Democrats, and the White House could agree on. This bill is not that. It is 3 trillion more dollars of unrestrained spending.

When given the opportunity, the people's House does need to speak up and does need to lead, but we need to lead on economic common ground, not on partisan grounds that will never pass outside of this Chamber.

I spoke with a young man yesterday who showed me a picture of his 6-year-old daughter. I spoke with a friend yesterday at Saint Mary's school in Oak Ridge, where they are having a graduation.

This is not a giving; it is a taking. We are burdening the American people with over $30 trillion worth of national debt.

Mr. Speaker, where does our debt go? It goes on the backs of future generations.

And worse, who buys our debt? China, other countries.

We are heading in the wrong direction. I plead with the majority to change this bill; come together, as we have done in the past.

I urge a "no" vote on this. I urge us to stand up and do the work for the hardworking Americans who are justly scared, justly concerned. We owe that to them. We represent them, and that is our job, and that is our calling.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. PALLONE), the outstanding chairman of the Committee on Energy and Commerce and another member of our great class.

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman for yielding.

I rise today in strong support of the HEROES Act. Our top priority is the health and safety of the American people, and the HEROES Act lays the foundation we will need to safely reopen the economy.

Contrary to my Republican colleagues, this legislation is directly related to the pandemic. Our legislation builds out national testing and contact tracing by finally requiring the Trump administration to develop comprehensive plans with clear benchmarks and timelines.

We also mandate a national czar and supply chain to guarantee that medical supplies, testing equipment, drugs, and, ultimately, vaccines are available to all Americans.

The bill also provides States with additional increases for their Medicaid programs to ensure that Americans don't lose their health insurance, and it ensures that all COVID-19 treatments and vaccines are free of cost-sharing for patients, as we did with previous legislation for testing.

The HEROES Act, Mr. Speaker, protects vulnerable patients in nursing homes by providing funding for States to establish and deploy strike teams, manage outbreaks, and assist with clinical care, infection control, and staffing.

This legislation also helps families stay connected. It ensures that they don't lose critical utility services. It prevents home energy and water service shutoffs and establishes a new program to provide water bill assistance for low-income households.

We also prohibit telephone and broadband service providers from stopping service, and provide bill assistance to low-income families and those who have lost their jobs.

The HEROES Act also provides funding to schools and libraries to purchase hotspots, connected devices, and other equipment.

And finally, Mr. Speaker, we go after price gougers by providing the Federal Trade Commission and State attorneys general the authority to seek civil penalties from those engaging in price gouging of goods and services.

Mr. Speaker, the HEROES Act is a bold next step in our process of protecting the American people and providing critical assistance during this crisis, and it is designed to try to end this pandemic, ultimately. It deserves strong bipartisan support.

□ 1530

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. RUTHERFORD), my very good friend, an esteemed member of the Appropriations Committee, and today of all days, a career law enforcement officer as well. Mr. Speaker, we honor him for his service and his colleagues for their service to all of us.

Mr. RUTHERFORD. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend from Oklahoma for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in opposition to this political and insincere attempt at coronavirus relief.

Over the past few months, Congress came together in a bipartisan way and passed four major packages to combat coronavirus, but now, for whatever reason, the Speaker has decided she is done working with Republicans.

Despite what you may hear from my friends on the other side of the aisle, they know this is not a serious bill. They also know that it was drafted in secret, without input from the minority, and many of them are just as disappointed that there was no attempt at bipartisanship.

Mr. Speaker, almost 40 million Americans are out of work, and here we are in Washington considering a bill that will never, ever become law.

How do you think those unemployed Americans feel right now?

I would say that they are not interested in watching the Speaker, who is still receiving a full salary, by the way, play these political games.

I do support elements of this bill.

So let me be clear: I do support additional coronavirus relief for hard-working Americans. I also support sending additional relief to States and cities to help them respond to the coronavirus and its costs.

However, I will not ask taxpayers to wipe out years of debt many of these localities incurred long, long before the coronavirus pandemic.

Let's get back to working together and write a bill we can all support.

Take out federalizing the elections process, which should be left to the States; take out the early release of criminals; take out the incentives for illegal immigration; take out all of the new government programs that keep communities from reopening and keep people from getting back to work.

We can do this the right way, but this isn't it.

Our constituents expect better, and so should we.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Members are reminded to address their remarks to the Chair.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. SCOTT), the chairman of the Committee on Education and Labor.

Mr. SCOTT of Virginia. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the HEROES Act.

The bill confronts the unprecedented pandemic that we are facing by first directing significant funding to State and local governments. Without this funding, they will have to make devastating cuts, especially in education, public safety, and basic services.

Then it funds education to address the unique challenges created by the pandemic. K-12 funding would be available for technology, summer programs, special education, and initiatives to reduce the achievement gaps. It funds higher education to support students and maintain their institutions. It provides relief for student loans, continuing the present relief from payments, as well as interest accrual, and extending that relief to virtually all student loans, both Federal and private. That relief goes to virtually all student loans. Then we target additional relief to students most in need of relief.

Mr. Speaker, this bill supports families by continuing the enhanced and expanded unemployment benefits, increasing SNAP benefits, and delivering another round of stimulus checks. It also protects healthcare insurance, so that under this bill, when you lose your job, you do not have to lose your health insurance.

The bill helps contain the pandemic by funding contact tracers so that those who have been in contact with those who test positive can be identified and they can isolate themselves.

Finally, the bill makes our workplace safer by requiring OSHA to promulgate and enforce clear standards to protect workers from COVID-19.

For our front-line workers, it authorizes premium pay for their heroic work.

This bill is a necessary response to today's health crisis. It enables workers and families to survive the pandemic.

If States don't get this money, the public will be inflicted with drastic cuts.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support the legislation.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. BRADY), my very good friend, the distinguished past chairman of the Ways and Means Committee and current ranking member.

Mr. BRADY. Mr. Speaker, I thank Mr. COLE for his remarkable leadership during these challenging times.

What are we doing here?

Our Nation is fighting a vicious battle for lives and jobs, yet Democrats waste time bringing a partisan, political, and dead bill to the House, never asking Republicans to work together.

It is shameful.

As one House Democrat who opposes this bill said, "This isn't the time for partisan gamesmanship. This is the time to find common ground."

Democrats parrot "go big, go big." What they didn't do is "go smart" to stimulate this economy.

This bill guarantees a prolonged recession. It leaves 36 million jobless Americans behind, but it delivers big for Democratic special interests.

What do mail-in ballots, marijuana banking, bailing out failed union pensions, and releasing criminals early have to do with America's struggling economy? Absolutely nothing.

The word "cannabis" even occurs more often than the word "job" in this bill.

As we continue to battle this virus, Republicans believe Congress should "go smart."

Our top economic priority is to make sure the millions of Americans who have lost their jobs temporarily don't lose them permanently, because lost jobs mean more drug and alcohol abuse, more domestic violence, more crime in the streets, and shorter lifespans.

We need to reopen our economy safely, help our local businesses rebuild their workforce and remake their workplaces so they are safe and healthy.

Instead, Democrats encourage millions of Americans to stay unemployed even if a good, safe job is offered.

If you get paid more than your salary not to work and have good healthcare, why would you go back?

But next year, when these government benefits all run out, don't be surprised that local businesses and jobs simply don't exist anymore.

This bill robs precious cash from local businesses struggling to survive, imposes costly mandates, provides a windfall to millionaires, and sends your hard-earned tax dollars to those here illegally.

This bill imposes a gag order to prevent the jobless from knowing their affordable health options, uses your tax dollars to fund abortions, and chooses rebate checks over paychecks. How will this get workers back into jobs?

It gets sadder. Democrats choose wealthy trial lawyers over our front-line healthcare workers, giving a green light to unleash frivolous lawsuits on hospitals, doctors, and local businesses doing everything they can to reopen safely.

These heroes are already struggling with huge losses. Fighting trial lawyers in court will only make it worse.

We will hear today about why we need to spend hundreds of millions more for State and local governments who, without question, are battling so hard.

But did you know that Congress has already funded over $760 billion to State and local communities? That is more than we have helped small businesses.

Did you know that State and local governments are struggling to spend all that money by the end of the year? As the Houston mayor told us: "I don't need more money. I just need the flexibility to spend it where it is needed."

Did you know most small communities in America haven't seen a dollar yet because many State governments are hoarding this crucial aid, refusing to pass it on to smaller counties and cities as Congress intended?

Let's fix these problems first.

The bottom line is this bill is crammed with special interest handouts but does nothing for the jobless. It guarantees more jobs will disappear while silly political games are played.

This is an unprecedented crisis, and so many Americans have been heroic. They deserve a Congress that works together to help them regain their jobs, their savings, and their future.

This bill is big: regrettably, a big fail for our economy.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. TAKANO), the chairman of the Committee on Veterans' Affairs.

Mr. TAKANO. Mr. Speaker, the public health emergency our country is facing requires immediate, bold action. That is why I rise today in support of H.R. 6800, the HEROES Act.

The HEROES Act will provide families, workers, and veterans in our communities with the support they urgently need during this pandemic.

As chairman of the House Committee on Veterans' Affairs, I am proud that this bill includes essential provisions to meet veterans' needs.

The HEROES Act authorizes VA healthcare for all veterans who have lost their health insurance due to the pandemic, including legislation introduced by Subcommittee Chair Representative PAPPAS to streamline the payment of emergency care claims to community providers.

As a result of COVID-19, veterans are facing financial hardships due to job losses while vital services are strained, leaving vulnerable veterans without support.

This bill includes provisions sponsored by Subcommittee Chair Representative LEVIN enabling VA to provide greater support for homeless veterans and their children.

It also includes legislation from Representative ALLRED increasing aid and attendance support by 25 percent for veterans and caregivers. Those who need assistance with daily activities must not be forgotten.

In addition to these strong veteran provisions, the HEROES Act responds to the dire economic and healthcare challenge our Nation is facing.

It provides $1 trillion in funding to support States and local governments in their response to this pandemic so that they can continue their essential services.

It addresses the urgent needs of families and workers by putting direct financial assistance in the pockets of every American, creating a $200 billion Heroes Fund to give hazard pay to essential workers, and providing assistance to renters and homeowners.

We are facing an extraordinary crisis. Congress needs to respond to it with the courageousness it demands. The health and livelihoods of the American people depend on it.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to vote “yes.”

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. WALDEN), my very good friend, and the past chairman and current ranking member of the Energy and Commerce Committee.

Mr. WALDEN. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank my friend from Oklahoma, who has done such a good job.

I rise today in opposition to this bill.

It is deeply troubling to me that during the worst pandemic in modern history and amidst a deep economic crisis, Democrats in the House continue to take a partisan path.

As Republicans and the Trump administration moved to respond quickly, it was congressional Democrats who needlessly delayed the initial passage of the CARES Act and later caused a pointless week-long shuttering of the Paycheck Protection Program. How many jobs were lost because of that delay?

And here we go again. According to Politico, “Democrats acknowledge that their behemoth proposal, whose summary alone is 90 pages, is more of a talking point than legislation that they expect to become law.”

Well, just from the Energy and Commerce Committee perspective alone, you have policies that amount to Federal Government takeovers of entire sectors of the economy, Mr. Speaker.

There is a sweetheart deal for Medicaid compliance carved out only for the State of New York and no one else.

The bill throws more good money after bad to the failing enrollment programs in ObamaCare and it violates years of bipartisan agreement to maintain Hyde protections on Federal healthcare spending.

Why would Democrats spend weeks crafting what amounts to an 1,800-page progressive manifesto that is dead on arrival in the Senate? Why?

Mr. Speaker, I again implore my friends across the aisle to please drop the partisan, petty politics. Let's move forward in a united way for the country. That is what the people across America are doing, and that is what they expect us to do here in Congress.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from New York (Ms. VELÁZQUEZ), the chairwoman of the Committee on Small Business.

□ 1545

Ms. VELÁZQUEZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of the HEROES Act, and I want to take this opportunity to thank the chairwoman from the Appropriations Committee for yielding.

This bill contains important provisions to help stop the economy's free fall. For small businesses, it authorizes an additional $10 billion in disaster grants.

It improves the PPP initiative, allowing businesses under stay-at-home orders to extend the loan coverage period until the end of the calendar year. Also, we are eliminating the 75–25 rule, to make it easier for small businesses to apply for PPP loans. It also sets aside 25 percent, or $30 billion, of the remaining funds for firms with fewer than 10 employees.

Equally important, this legislation assists struggling families. In this bill, we increase funding for SNAP by 15 percent to address the record increase in hunger that we are seeing in this country. The bill extends unemployment benefits, including $600 per week in pandemic unemployment insurance. For New Yorkers and hardworking people in this country struggling with rent, this measure provides $100 billion in rental assistance.

Many essential workers will receive hazard pay under this bill and better access to personal protective equipment, like nurses, door persons, transit workers, and those cleaning buildings so that the rest of us stay safe. Those are the real heroes of this crisis, and the HEROES Act compensates them more appropriately.

The HEROES Act will also help States and localities with enormous fiscal challenges.

Finally, this bill puts forth a strategic plan to test, trace, and treat the virus. Until we have widespread testing, consumer confidence will remain weak.

I urge everyone to support this bill.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Illinois (Mr. RODNEY DAVIS), my very good friend, and the Republican ranking member on the House Administration Committee.

Mr. RODNEY DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

House Democrats are once again taking advantage of a national emergency to push their own political agenda. We shouldn't be surprised, as we have seen them push their wish list at every turn.

We saw their attempts to federalize elections in H.R. 1; we saw it during the last coronavirus relief package negotiation; and we are seeing it again now. They are using the HEROES Act to nationalize election policy, not to help Americans vote, but to serve their own interests on election day.

This entire package would cost taxpayers $3 trillion, and at least $23 million of that would be going toward their federal elections takeover. Congress has already given $1.25 billion to States since 2018, $400 million alone to help States prepare for their elections amid this pandemic.

What the Democrats are proposing is outrageous. They are also requiring all States to adopt ballot harvesting. Ballot harvesting, in the way House Democrats are trying to use it, is when any individual can pick up any voter's ballot for any reason and deliver it to the polling place, completely unchecked. They don't have to provide their name. They don't have to show their ID. They don't have to be a resident of the State. They don't have to be an American citizen.

Why would we force States to allow for people who aren't even eligible to vote to then handle their voters' ballots?

This practice is so wrought with fraud that I released a report this week, before consideration of this bill, to highlight how ballot harvesting is being misused. It is a summary of 18 months of work by the House Administration Republicans on this issue. We found that this practice is one of the greatest threats to our ballot integrity.

In addition to this bill jeopardizing ballot integrity, it would also jeopardize people's health. How will ballot harvesting follow social distancing practices? Not to mention, allowing political operatives to pick up ballots is not necessary when mail ballots may have prepaid postage. Why does a ballot broker need to go door to door to pick up a ballot when you can mail it in for free?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield the gentleman from Illinois an additional 30 seconds.

Mr. RODNEY DAVIS of Illinois. One can only assume, Mr. Speaker, that this is only for political gain.

That is only one of the egregious provisions. The bottom line is, election day is less than 6 months away. States don't have enough time to implement these egregious election rules.

Last week, I received a letter from over 800 professors telling me to vote for this bill. A little research showed that 400 of them are donors to Democrats.

This is why this bill is politically motivated. It is a takeover of the elections at the national level. We need to vote “no” on this.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. WATERS), the dynamic chairwoman of the Committee on Financial Services.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 6800, the HEROES Act. This legislation includes a number of important proposals from the members of the Financial Services Committee and builds upon my proposal for more direct payments to families by providing a second round of stimulus payments for up to $6,000 per household.

I am pleased that this bill includes legislation championed by myself and Representatives HECK and SCOTT to create a $100 billion emergency rental assistance fund and a $75 billion homeowner assistance fund.

The bill also provides $11.5 billion for homeless assistance grants and $1 billion for new Section 8 vouchers to support persons experiencing homelessness.

The HEROES Act also suspends negative credit reporting for all consumers. And to ensure that consumers, small businesses, and nonprofits can weather the pandemic, the bill suspends debt collection and requires forbearance and loan modifications for consumer and commercial loans.

The HEROES Act strengthens the Defense Production Act to supercharge the production of diagnostic tests and personal protective equipment to protect our brave essential workers and help save American lives.

Importantly, the legislation also provides new funding and expands technical assistance, government deposits, and partnerships to support our Nation's community development financial institutions, known as CDFIs, and minority depository institutions, MDIs, which serve our low-income communities particularly hit hard by the pandemic.

Mr. Speaker, we are obligated to protect our Nation. The HEROES Act represents the response America needs to meet this crisis, so I urge all Members to support this critical legislation.

We hear Members on both sides of the aisle talking about how much they love America, how much they love their constituents. Put up or shut up. Now is the time to do it.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentlewoman from North Carolina (Ms. FOXX), my friend, the past chair and current ranking member of the Education and Labor Committee.

Ms. FOXX of North Carolina. Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague from Oklahoma for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong opposition to H.R. 6800, Speaker PELOSI's socialist wish list act. At a time when Americans are stepping up for one another, it is truly disheartening to watch House Democrats and Speaker PELOSI fail to deliver for our Nation's families, workers, and businesses.

As frustrating as it may be, it is not surprising. Democrats routinely disregard their own party's calls for bipartisan collaboration and accountability by meeting in secret, behind closed doors, without committee consensus to craft partisan monstrosities like the one we are set to vote on.

To satisfy the most extreme socialist left, Democrats are pushing a radical $3 trillion scheme that includes taxpayer bailouts for union-run pensions and money to illegal aliens, which will do nothing to help this Nation combat COVID-19.

This is not a relief package. It is Speaker PELOSI's partisan, 1,800-page socialist shopping list. We should defeat it.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I am very pleased to yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentlewoman from Connecticut (Ms. DELAURO), the dynamic, hardworking, and committed chair of the Subcommittee on Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies.

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, the HEROES Act is a critical $3 trillion rescue for our frontline workers, cities and States, and our small businesses. It creates the kind of modern-day safety net I have been fighting for with so many brave allies in and outside the U.S. Congress.

Paid sick days and paid family and medical leave are now available to all workers, including those workers in warehouses, healthcare, grocery stores, pharmacies, and retail.

The child tax credit is now available for all families, raised to $3,000 per child over 6 years old and a higher benefit for younger children, cutting child poverty nearly in half.

We raised the maximum food stamp benefit by 15 percent, bigger than in 2009, and we purged President Trump's $135 billion gift to real estate developers and hedge fund managers.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues: Let us act boldly and let us act swiftly for this Nation.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from Ohio (Mr. JORDAN), my good friend and the Republican ranking member of the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. JORDAN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, in 1 week, the Democrats have shown us exactly what they want to do. In 1 week's time, May 8, 1 week ago, seven Democrats on the House Select Committee on the Coronavirus Crisis sent a letter to Universal Stainless & Alloy Products in western Pennsylvania and they said: Give back your PPP money.

Right here is the letter: "You have not returned these funds."

Three days later, May 11, four of our colleagues, two Democrats, two Republicans, sent a letter to those seven Democrats and said: Hey, wait a minute. Universal Stainless followed the rules. They are entitled to their money. If they have to give it back, they will have to lay off steelworkers.

And today, this bill does what? This bill does what? It gives tax dollars to illegal immigrants.

In 1 week's time, they took money from steelworkers to give it to illegal immigrants. That is the Democrats' vision for their country.

If for no other reason, that is why we should vote against this bill.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I am delighted to yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Ohio (Ms. KAPTUR), my friend, the distinguished chair of the subcommittee that does so much good work here.

Ms. KAPTUR. Mr. Speaker, I thank Chair LOWEY for that gracious set-aside, and I wish to say that the American people expect Congress to have their backs.

Our economy needs help with historic levels of unemployment bearing down, and the HEROES Act will provide a bridge of support to save lives and livelihoods of our families, workers, hospitals, and small businesses on the front lines. Imagine those folks.

Let me applaud all of those still working, facing an unknown killer.

A huge win within this HEROES Act is significant and direct assistance to communities of all sizes that are hemorrhaging because of the costs of fire, police, and emergency squads.

This legislation will finally make multiemployer pension plans whole as well.

Today, the deep recession requires bold action by our Congress. American lives truly are on the line here at home. I urge all of my colleagues to vote "yes" on this lifesaving bill.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. GROTHMAN), my good friend, a distinguished member of both the Oversight and Reform Committee and the Education and Labor Committee.

Mr. GROTHMAN. Mr. Speaker, the first point I would like to make is some people feel this bill is a political instrument that will never become law. I see the current leader in the polls for next year's Presidential election signing this bill next February. So we have to pay careful attention to what is in it.

□ 1600

I take three things out of this bill.

First of all, another $3 trillion further in debt together with the $3 trillion we have already passed and the natural trillion-dollar deficit we have here. In the current year, we will go about $22,000 more in debt for every man, woman, and child in the country.

The second thing we take out of this bill is it is designed to discourage work. We extend, by Wisconsin standards, another 6 months in which people will be paid the equivalent of $50,000 a year not to work, and we are moving the work requirements for SNAP. In other words, it is an embracing of the idea that we want to discourage work and destroy our economy.

Finally, it is this effort to get more and more people to come here illegally. We are removing the requirement that you have to have a Social Security number for the earned income tax credit, and we are saying not only the new $1,200 per person but the old $1,200 per person will go to people who do not have a Social Security number. I cannot think of a quicker way to ruin the country.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from Minnesota (Ms. MCCOLLUM), who is the chair of the Subcommittee on Interior, Environment, and Related Agencies.

Ms. MCCOLLUM. Mr. Speaker, Native American communities are facing extraordinary challenges during this pandemic. Like other minority communities, they are disproportionately affected by COVID-19 with devastating loss of life and economic hardship. This pandemic has magnified the health disparities and historic lack of resources that exist within Indian Country. The HEROES Act contains many non-partisan priorities for Native Americans, reflecting bipartisan work to meet their critical needs.

I acknowledge my coworker, Mr. COLE, on the floor with me on this endeavor.

Mr. Speaker, we are providing $900 million through the Bureau of Indian Affairs to assist Tribal governments to operate essential community services and provide clean water and safe housing. $2.1 billion is for Indian Health Service to purchase additional PPE and provide Tribes more telehealth. The bill includes dollars for transportation, supports education for children, and $20 billion in direct relief to Tribal governments.

The Federal Government must uphold its trust and treaty obligations to Tribal nations. This bill is critical to ensure the health and safety of our Native American brothers and sisters.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from the great State of Texas (Mr. CRENSHAW), who is a former Navy SEAL.

Mr. CRENSHAW. Mr. Speaker, today's theatrics are shocking.

Thirty-five million jobs are lost. Businesses and livelihoods are ruined. While American grocers, nurses, and workers kept America going, Democrats kept Congress in hiding for the past 3 weeks. Hiding is fear; it is not leadership.

When we finally reconvened, we get this—Politico summed it up best: "Neither this bill nor anything resembling it will ever become law—it is a Democratic wish list filled up with all the party's favored policies."

Is this a joke? Because it certainly isn't based on reality. Reality would be working here for the last 3 weeks, examining each problem our Nation faces, and working together to find the best solutions. That shouldn't be all that difficult since, I would presume, we still have the same goal: mitigate the virus and save our economy and society.

Right? That is still our goal, isn't it? If it is, then stop playing games.

Mr. Speaker, $3 trillion of virtue signaling to your base is no way to govern in the midst of a crisis, and you know it.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from New York (Mr. JEFFRIES), who is the chair of the House Democratic Caucus.

Mr. JEFFRIES. Mr. Speaker, I thank the distinguished chair for her leadership.

More than 80,000 Americans dead, 35 million unemployed, the economy in recession—there is pain; there is suffering; and there is death throughout the land. Congress must act to provide relief to the American people.

We must support our State and local governments. We must strengthen unemployment insurance. We must provide an additional round of direct stimulus payments to everyday Americans. We must provide hazard pay to our heroes and our essential workers. We must increase access to testing, tracing, and treatment.

There is pain; there is suffering; and there is death throughout the land. Congress must act with the fierce urgency of now—not tomorrow, not next week, not next month, now. Vote "yes" on the HEROES Act.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. WILSON), who is a member of the Armed Services Committee and the Foreign Affairs Committee.

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Mr. Speaker, I oppose this parade of absurdities on behalf of America's students and grandchildren—Addison, Houston, Emily Ruth, Michael, Anna Grace, Jack, Sally, and Katherine—who will be burdened by debt.

On Monday, I saw the best of America in my birthplace of Charleston. I was with Boeing CEO David Calhoun as he presented planes full of PPEs to MUSC President David Cole, showing our appreciation for health professionals. I thank Doctors Balbir Minhas and Shalini Mittal for my N95 mask.

This was private business, not government, protecting American families. All levels of government were present: municipal with Mayor Keith Summey of North Charleston and Mayor John Tecklenburg of Charleston, county with council Chairman Elliott Summey, State with Governor Henry McMaster and Senator Marlon Kimpson, and Federal with Senator TIM SCOTT and Congressmen JOE CUNNINGHAM and RALPH NORMAN. Republicans and Democrats are working together.

Just 11 weeks ago today, I was at the same airport with President Donald Trump and 30,000 supporters thanking him for record job creation.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from Massachusetts (Ms. CLARK), who is a leader of our Caucus and a member of the Committee on Appropriations.

Ms. CLARK of Massachusetts. Mr. Speaker, we can't wish away this pandemic. We can't accept the false choice that we either reopen or lose to the virus. No. We must protect the American people and the institutions and values that define our Nation with action.

The HEROES Act provides us a path forward. We will save lives with testing, tracing, and treatment. We will protect our communities by supporting our teachers, police, and frontline workers. We will bring relief to families by providing them financial aid, food, rent relief, and healthcare. We will protect the sanctity of our democracy by honoring every American's vote.

We vote today knowing we have more hard days ahead and more work to do to ensure we don't just return to normal but that we emerge stronger, more just, and more prepared for the challenges ahead. Today, we vote for our heroes, for our future, and for the people.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. COMER), who is a member of the Agriculture, Education and Labor, and Oversight and Reform Committees.

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, hypocrisy and irresponsibility are alive and well today in this Chamber.

At the same time NANCY PELOSI is calling for oversight of the $3 trillion we have already spent, she is bringing up a reckless bill to spend $3 trillion more.

Much of this bill has nothing to do with COVID-19. Instead, this bill is a radical Democrat wish list: permanent mail-in voting, amnesty and stimulus checks for illegal immigrants, and more incentives for Americans not to work.

Across America, citizens are coming together to help their friends and neighbors. For all its faults, Congress did come together in a bipartisan way to pass numerous measures to fight this pandemic. But Speaker PELOSI has broken that spirit of cooperation. In choosing to play partisan politics and go at this one alone, she has set a terrible example for a nation in crisis. Instead of pausing the spending to evaluate our needs and engage with President Trump and the Senate, we are here today simply to appease the fringe elements of the Democratic Party.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from Illinois (Mrs. BUSTOS), who is a member of the Committee on Appropriations.

Mrs. BUSTOS. Mr. Speaker, a Boy Scout named Noah from Peoria, Illinois, wrote to me. He heard his city council talking about layoffs in the wake of COVID-19. Noah understands that we have failed towns like his. He wrote: “Many people are going to lose their jobs. Some of those will be firefighters and police officers. That will not help my city. . . . The city will not be as safe.”

Noah, I hear you. Today, the United States House of Representatives hears you.

With $915 billion for State and local assistance, we will help towns and cities like Noah’s. We will also expand assistance to small businesses and farmers and keep families afloat.

This isn’t the final battle in the war against this virus, but the HEROES Act will increase American security—our food, health, and workplace security. I will vote “yes.”

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. JOYCE), who is a member of the Homeland Security and Small Business Committees.

Mr. JOYCE of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, in every neighborhood across our country, Americans are struggling with the health and economic ramifications of the coronavirus.

As schools are closed and small businesses stay shuttered, American families are just trying to make it one day at a time. Here in Congress, House Democrats are just trying to fund Planned Parenthood.

American families are focused on putting food on their tables. Here in Congress, Democrats are focused on keeping Americans out of work instead of saving family-sustaining jobs.

American families are working together to weather this storm. Here in Congress, Democrats would rather blame our President than hold the Chinese Communist Party accountable for their role in this pandemic.

Here in Congress, Democrats are wasting time that we could be using to deliver real solutions for the American people. This bill is not the answer, and I urge all of my colleagues to vote “no.”

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from Ohio (Mr. RYAN), who is the chairman of the Legislative Branch Subcommittee.

Mr. RYAN. I have to tell you, Mr. Speaker, this is absolutely unbelievable. Just a few years ago, the stock market is at 25,000; corporate profits are the highest they have been in decades; the rich keep getting richer; and our friends on the other side say: What do we do now? Let’s do a tax cut where 83 percent of it goes to the top 1 percent of the wealthiest people.

Fast forward a few months: global pandemic; 36 million people unemployed; 40 percent of families who have a worker who makes $40,000 a year or less lost their job last month; 4 million people didn’t pay their rent; and the Republican Party says: We don’t have any money to help you.

Are you kidding me? Where do you guys live? Food lines around the blocks at our food banks in the United States of America, and one in five kids are going hungry. Your party can’t even get food to them.

This isn’t a wish list. If it is a wish list, it is for the working-class people.

How about the Teamsters who are going to get a pension when this bill passes? If we don’t act, their pension gets cut in half.

This is ridiculous. The Republicans are turning their backs on the American people. Let’s be honest.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I remind my friend that we worked with our friends to pass four bills, $3 trillion in the last 10 weeks. We would work with the majority again if they would sit down and bargain with us. Sadly, they decided not to do that.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARRINGTON), who is a member of the Ways and Means Committee. My very good friend is a great neighbor.

Mr. ARRINGTON. Mr. Speaker, Democrat leadership has established in this piece of legislation a new pandemic protocol for the United States Congress: the practice of reality distancing. Reality distancing is the unhealthy distance between politicians and their policies and the people they were elected to serve.

While tens of millions of working families have lost their livelihoods and millions more are struggling to survive, Members of Congress won’t miss a single paycheck and are wasting precious time on a partisan bill that is going nowhere.

Furthermore, Speaker PELOSI and many of her colleagues are so anxious to appease the left, and so zealous to advance their ideology, they didn’t even attempt to disguise this parade of horrors that is completely out of touch with the American people.

Some will suggest, Mr. Speaker, that this legislation is so extreme and absurd we can’t take it seriously. I would submit that we can’t take it seriously enough. When someone tells you who they are, believe them. This isn’t just the Democrats’ plan for America’s recovery; this is their vision for America.

I oppose it, and I pray to God none of these policies see the light of day.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from Florida (Ms. WASSERMAN SCHULTZ), who is the chairwoman of the Subcommittee on Military Construction, Veterans Affairs, and Related Agencies.

Ms. WASSERMAN SCHULTZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise to support our best hope to prevent long-term economic damage and preserve a strong recovery.

The Great Depression taught us long ago: do too little now and millions of temporary job losses will not vanish for years.

With nearly 90,000 dead and 36 million out of work, any half-hearted coronavirus response is a cowardly retreat.

The HEROES Act is a bold response. It lays out a safe, scientific path to reopen America through vital testing, tracing, and treatment. It supports State and local governments, provides hazard pay, and puts more money in workers’ and families’ pockets.

I am proud this bill prevents veterans from being burdened with co-pays or cost-sharing for COVID-19 preventative treatment or services and includes critical protections for VA healthcare professionals. These heroes need help just like the ones we count on now: first responders; healthcare and postal workers; teachers; sanitation, transit, and food service workers.

We need bold action now to keep America standing. If we don’t act, it will cost a whole lot more to pick this Nation up off the ground later.

By the way, I find it rich that the previous gentleman actually had the nerve and the audacity to quote Maya Angelou. She is rolling over in her grave and certainly would support this bill.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from the great State of Mississippi (Mr. GUEST), my good friend, a member of the Committee on Ethics, Committee on Foreign Affairs, and Committee on Homeland Security.

Mr. GUEST. Mr. Speaker, this bill would forever fundamentally alter our elections. It would provide a bailout to unsustainable pensions. It would release criminals from jail. It would provide protection and payments to illegal aliens. And it would discourage individuals from returning to work as we seek to reopen the economy. Furthermore, the $3 trillion price tag should be greatly concerning to every American.

It is disappointing that the Democrats developed this legislation behind closed doors and without consulting their Republican counterparts. The Speaker has presented a partisan bill that does more to divide our Nation than to address the current national crisis.

The coronavirus outbreak is not a time for political posturing but is, instead, a time to put country before party. Congress has worked in a bipartisan way to respond to the needs of Americans, and I hope that future negotiations will return to that level of cooperation.

Mr. Speaker, I intend to vote against this legislation, and I encourage my colleagues to do the same.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the distinguished gentleman from California (Ms. LEE), a senior member of the Committee on Appropriations.

Ms. LEE of California. Mr. Speaker, first, let me thank Madam Chair, our Speaker, our committee chairs—chair of the Black Caucus, Chairwoman BASS, and ROBIN KELLY chairs the Health Braintrust for the Black Caucus—for working together with me to address the unequal impact of COVID on people of color and the poor and making sure that people and organizations rooted in our communities play the lead role in recovery, including contact tracing.

We are facing the worst health and economic crisis of our lifetime. Elevated rates of infection and death are in communities of color. Heroic front-line and essential workers being paid poverty wages. There are struggling small and minority-owned businesses, millions unemployed, and millions pushed into poverty.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentlewoman has expired.

Ms. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield the gentlewoman an additional 30 seconds.

Ms. LEE of California. Mr. Speaker, this House must fight for those who bear the brunt of this pandemic, not big corporations whose wealth permits them to weather this crisis.

This pandemic has shone a light, mind you, on the systemic racism, inequality, and poverty endemic throughout the country. The bill includes $75 billion for testing, contact tracing, and treatment in the highest impacted areas.

I am disappointed that we did not include Congresswoman JAYAPAL's Paycheck Guarantee Act; however, the Paycheck Guarantee Act would provide stability of a paycheck through this pandemic.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to embrace this in the future as we move forward.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from the great State of Arkansas (Mr. HILL), my very good friend and a distinguished member of the Financial Services Committee.

Mr. HILL of Arkansas. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. COLE), my friend.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this legislation.

Over the last 3 months, we have put together a series of bipartisan bills that are extraordinary, and they amount to $2.9 trillion in spending. While the amount $2.9 trillion is 60 percent of what the Federal Government spends in an entire year, nonetheless, this bipartisan effort was essential to beat the virus and get our economy back to full capacity.

Mr. Speaker, today, we vote on another $3 trillion in spending when we haven't even gotten all of the first phase of money out to our schools, to our hospitals, to our cities, to our States. We have not completed getting the money out to restart our economy.

Yet the House majority has blocked the House from working bipartisanly and has cooked up this 1800-page bill in the Speaker's hideaway. This proposal, much of which has nothing to do with the coronavirus, discourages work and delays our economic recovery.

We need to assess our actions and bring bipartisan efforts to the floor to address the gaps.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I am delighted to yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from Georgia (Mr. BISHOP), chair of the Subcommittee on Agriculture.

Mr. BISHOP of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman for yielding. From the ag appropriations, the bill provides:

- $10 billion for SNAP;
- $150 million for food banks;
- $3 billion for school food programs;
- $1.1 billion for WIC;
- $309 million for Rural Rental Assistance.

In addition, it provides:

- $1 trillion to States, counties, cities, territories, and Tribal governments;
- Hazard pay for essential workers;
- Free widespread testing, tracing, and treatment for every American;
- More direct payments to families.

It requires safety in the workplace and support for really small businesses and nonprofits of all kinds.

Mr. Speaker, it meets the challenges of COVID-19 for every single American, and I urge my colleagues to vote for it. It is a good bill. It is a good bill for America.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. MEUSER), my good friend, a member of the Committees on Budget, Education and Labor, and Veterans' Affairs.

Mr. MEUSER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. COLE) for yielding me the time.

Mr. Speaker, for the past 2 months, Americans have shown resilience, grit, and patience. The viral and economic data project that we now can begin a safe, soft reopening of our economy. President Trump's inclusionary, data-based leadership in this fight is helping to protect both lives and livelihoods.

Congress has also responded effectively in mitigating the effects of this public health and economic emergency. I am extremely disappointed, however, that this House Democrat bill was drafted with not only no Republican input, but no input from the American people.

Where is the investment for transportation and infrastructure?

Where is the funding to get our children back to school or to support small businesses to open their businesses safely?

Today, President Trump announced Operation Warp Speed to develop a vaccine for this virus. Where is this House's investment towards finding a cure?

Instead, this partisan wish list allows illegal immigrants to receive stimulus checks, removes local control of elections, and somehow cannabis is mentioned 68 times.

What in the world cannabis has to do with this crisis, I don't know.

This is another bill going nowhere. The American people deserve better, especially now.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the distinguished gentlewoman from New Jersey (Mrs. WATSON COLEMAN), a member of the Committee on Appropriations.

Mrs. WATSON COLEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman for yielding me the time.

Mr. Speaker, I am grateful to see us take up the HEROES Act today. From State aid to essential pay, this is a step toward making sure every American makes it through this crisis.

But I want to draw attention to something equally pressing. On both sides of the aisle, this pandemic has allowed us to agree that there is a floor below which we don't want any family to fall.

The truth is that, before COVID-19, countless Americans were just a personal or local or national disaster away from not paying rent, not buying groceries, or worse. COVID-19 is just one more crisis derailing their lives, particularly those of Brown and Black communities.

Mr. Speaker, I urge support of the bill.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from Michigan (Mr. HUIZENGA), my very good friend and a member of the Committee on Financial Services.

Mr. HUIZENGA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in opposition to this $3 trillion liberal, partisan wish list.

With our Nation facing an unprecedented challenge, this bill erodes the American people's faith in government when the Speaker refuses to work in a bipartisan manner to move our Nation forward.

Giving money to Planned Parenthood, creating marijuana diversity studies, and permanently rewriting our Nation's election laws have nothing to do with the challenges we are currently facing and certainly do not help west Michigan job creators or their employees.

Sadly, provisions in this bill actually disincentivize small businesses from opening or helping people get back to work in a safe and responsible manner. What the manufacturer in Kentwood, the pizza shop owner in Muskegon, or the farmers and growers I have heard from across west Michigan expect is for Congress to take a reasonable and responsible approach. That is not what is happening here today.

This mother-of-all Christmas tree bills isn't the HEROES Act. In fact, it should be called the cynical partisan act of 2020, and it has absolutely no chance of becoming law.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to reject this bill and turn our focus to helping our constituents, safely reopening our economy, and defeating this virus.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from Rhode Island (Mr. CICILLINE).

Mr. CICILLINE. Mr. Speaker, there has been a lot of discussion this morning about the HEROES Act as a political agenda. It is an agenda for the people of this country, providing economic relief to families who are suffering with direct cash payments, providing resources to protect our heroes on the front lines who are risking their lives to protect us, providing desperately needed money to cities and States to protect against tax increases at the State and local level to make up for revenue losses, expanding testing and treatment to defeat this pandemic, supporting hospitals at the center of this crisis, and rental and mortgage assistance for those struggling with these payments.

So the question is: This the agenda for the people. The real question is why is it not your agenda?

This is about responding in a comprehensive way to the hurt and devastation this pandemic is causing. You ought to join us in this effort. The American people need action now, and they need your support on this legislation.

Vote “yes” on the HEROES Act.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I just remind my friend we did join them in four bills. It might have been nice to be asked to join in a fifth.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. KUSTOFF), my good friend and a member of the Committee on Financial Services.

Mr. KUSTOFF of Tennessee. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me time.

Mr. Speaker, COVID-19 should never be a political issue. Yet today, Democrats have put forward an 1800-page bill filled with a wish list of policies drafted with zero input from House Republicans.

Now is the time to get serious about helping the American people. We should be returning to Washington to get back to what we were elected to do, not vote on a messaging bill that has absolutely no chance of becoming law. Our country deserves better.

Mr. Speaker, this bill was not a sincere effort to address this pandemic. It is why I will be voting against Speaker PELOSI’s wish list bill.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentlewoman from Florida (Ms. FRANKEL), a member of the Committee on Appropriations.

□ 1630

Ms. FRANKEL. Mr. Speaker, the COVID pandemic has brought so much grief and desperation to so many people, and we have seen how millions of Americans have rightfully stayed home to stay safe.

Our healthcare personnel, our police, our firefighters, our teachers, and other vital workers, they have been in full force, many risking their own lives to save ours. Today, we make sure that these heroes on the front line get the pay that they need and deserve to do their jobs. I urge passage of the HEROES Act.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. WENSTRUP), my very good friend who is a Member of the Ways and Means Committee and who has rendered distinguished service to our country and to our institution.

Mr. WENSTRUP. Mr. Speaker, for the past two months, Ohioans have made countless sacrifices and stepped up to help each other in many, many ways. They flattened the curve, and now they want to get back to work smartly and safely.

In the same vein, Americans need their representatives here in this body to be back to work, too. We should be working on legislative solutions that mark the first phase, phase one, of the recovery and reopening of the United States.

Much of this partisan bill has nothing to do with COVID-19 or the current crisis facing so many Americans. This bill, sadly, paints a vision for this Nation that does not match our great history.

The situation that we find ourselves in requires the best from all of us. This bill fails that test. Let’s make this our finest hour. Show what we can do, not what we can’t do. I oppose this bill.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. CUELLAR), a member of the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. CUELLAR. Mr. Speaker, Mark Twain said many years ago: “Thunder is impressive; but it is lightning that does the work.”

Look, we can talk about doing things, or we can get the work done. I think today we should choose to get the action done.

This is the first step that we need to take in order to help the folks that live in our district, the small businesses, the cities and the counties and the front-liners.

We know what’s going to happen. We are going to go ahead and pass this bill, this particular bill. It is going to go over to the Senate. We will negotiate with the Senate. We will come back. And sometime in the near future, we will be voting, and this particular bill will become law.

Mr. Speaker, we can either talk about doing things or we can take the first step. I choose to take the first step and get this bill moving.

Mr. Speaker, I ask all members to support this legislation, the HEROES Act.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. JOHN W. ROSE), my very good friend and member of the Financial Services Committee.

Mr. JOHN W. ROSE of Tennessee. Mr. Speaker, today I will be voting “no” on an 1,800-page, $3 trillion socialist wish list. This wish list is the product of partisan scrambling meant to take advantage of the present crisis brought on by the COVID-19 pandemic.

I, and the people in my district, won’t stand for it. I am from Tennessee where we balance our budgets, we don’t write checks we can’t cash, and where common sense is still king.

Today, I will be using that common sense to represent the people of the Sixth District of Tennessee and vote “no.”

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentlewoman from Michigan (Mrs. LAWRENCE), a member of the Committee on Appropriations.

Mrs. LAWRENCE. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the HEROES Act. This bold relief package recognizes the commitment to our Postal Service, providing critical emergency funding for the fiscal solvency of the Postal Service, to ensure we fulfill our democratic duties to be counted in the 2020 Census and vote in the upcoming primary.

It also demonstrates that we will stay committed to our local governments to have the resources that they have lost during this pandemic.

Mr. Speaker, this investment is for our families, for our communities, and for our country.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from California (Mr. MCCLINTOCK), my very good friend and member of the Judiciary Committee and Natural Resources Committee.

Mr. MCCLINTOCK. Mr. Speaker, $3 trillion divided by 129 million households means the average family will have to pay more than $23,000 for this single bill, either from their future taxes or from inflation robbing their savings and retirements.

Now, when we passed the last bill, I warned it was no substitute for restoring our Nation’s commerce immediately for a simple reason: The Federal Government does not finance the economy; the economy finances the government. Government cannot put a single dollar into the economy that it has not first taken out of that same economy.

The wholesale lockdown of the American people and the deliberate decimation of their livelihoods has been the single most self-destructive folly in our Nation’s history. These draconian measures have proven much less effective at stopping the virus than we were assured but have been much more effective at destroying the jobs that people rely upon to feed their families. We have had enough.

Democrats, don’t take away our future. Give us back our country.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentlewoman from Illinois (Ms. SCHAKOWSKY).

Ms. SCHAKOWSKY. Mr. Speaker, at least 84,000 people have died in the United States from COVID-19, and almost 40 percent of those deaths are nursing home residents and the valiant workers in those nursing homes.

We can and we must do better. The HEROES Act includes $150 million for strike teams in nursing homes struggling with outbreaks, requires public reporting of cases and deaths and PPE availability and testing in nursing homes, prioritizes testing for older Americans.

I urge my colleagues to vote “yes.”

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from California (Mr. LAMALFA), my very good friend, a member of the Agriculture Committee and the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee.

Mr. LAMALFA. Mr. Speaker, this bill is a grab bag of Democrat priorities that have nothing to do with abating this virus.

One of the most misplaced ones, however, is the addition of the SAFE Banking Act, which, if enacted, would financially green light the marijuana industry.

Think about that. Marijuana is still an illegal drug under the Federal Schedule I, yet this bill attempts to legitimize this criminal enterprise.

What is next? Shall we have safe banking for whale oil or shark fin sales?

Again, what does this have to do with the supposed disaster relief legislation?

As well, this bill contains H.R. 1 wish list items, including ballot harvesting, a shady practice where campaign operatives go door to door asking, or even coercing, people's private ballots.

How is this door-to-door practice supposed to mitigate spreading the virus, the whole premise of this bill, supposedly, being included in a $3 trillion emergency package?

Vote "no" on this. These are items that have nothing to do with what we should be prioritizing in this time of crisis.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from California (Mr. BERA).

Mr. BERA. Mr. Speaker, as a doctor and public health expert, I know we don't defeat this virus until we have a safe and effective vaccine. It is time for the United States to work with the rest of world to develop that vaccine and inoculate the world.

This bill allows U.S. global leadership to reemerge. The President may not want to lead, but let the world know the United States Congress is ready to lead and work with CEPI and the rest of the world to defeat this virus.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. SPANO), my very good friend and member of the Small Business Committee and the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee.

Mr. SPANO. Mr. Speaker, I rise in staunch opposition to H.R. 6800, the largest spending package ever considered and crafted without any input from Republicans in Congress.

COVID-19 is impacting all Americans, and overcoming the crisis requires input from all their representatives. However, the Speaker and Democratic Party are clearly not focused on confronting the pandemic. Instead, they are exploiting the crisis to accomplish political goals rather than protect the American people.

In this bill, Democrats include nearly a trillion dollars to bail out blue States and cities for years of irresponsible spending. It prevents States from requiring voter ID's and requires same-day voter registration. And nowhere in this 1,800-page bill do they find room for basic pro-life protections included in appropriations bills since Roe v.

Wade. This is all on top of potentially freeing murderers and rapists.

This bill steals money from the many to further the priorities of the few and then seeks to change election laws so they can do it all over again.

For these reasons, I vehemently oppose the bill.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from California (Mr. CISNEROS).

Mr. CISNEROS. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the HEROES Act. The mayors and local leaders in California's 39th and across America are asking for Congress to help their cities and towns. The HEROES Act will do that by providing $870 billion in direct funding to States, cities, and counties, and it will give them the flexibility to use the funding where it can do the most good.

This is what our leaders in the 39th are asking for, because it will allow them to maintain crucial programs and adequately fund public safety in order to protect our citizens.

I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. KEVIN HERN), my very good friend and colleague from my State and member of the Budget Committee, Natural Resources Committee, and Small Business Committee.

Mr. KEVIN HERN of Oklahoma. Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague from Oklahoma for doing a great job today.

Mr. Speaker, when I look at the so-called HEROES Act, I don't see legislation honoring heroes. I see an 1,800-page bill that takes 40 hours to read, written with zero bipartisan input. I see socialist fantasies from previously rejected bills. I see a mortgage on our children's future, financed by China, the very foreign adversary responsible for the crisis in the first place.

This bill was formed outside the collaborative nature of the House of Representatives. It was proposed without going through committee or the amendment process, and no one, including the Democrats, knows what is in it.

Passing a $3 trillion spending bill written behind closed doors in the Speaker's office sets a dangerous precedent that will have generational consequences. This is nothing more than a publicity stunt. This bill shows no bipartisan strategy for economic recovery. We should keep the House in session until we craft real bipartisan legislation that gets our country back up and running.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentlewoman from New York (Ms. CLARKE), the vice chair of the Energy and Commerce Committee.

Ms. CLARKE of New York. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of the HEROES Act.

As reported in Newsweek on Tuesday, my beloved Brooklyn has the distinction of having more deaths due to COVID-19 than any county in the United States, with a death toll exceeding 46 entire States. Over 4,000 souls have departed due to the dreadful virus.

The HEROES Act provides crucial relief and support for our heroes fighting COVID-19 on the front lines, who extended to us a lifeline at great risk to their own lives.

While this legislation does not include the Paycheck Guarantee Act, I believe that we must pass this bill. This is not the time for red or blue one-upmanship. COVID knows no political labels. I ask my colleagues to vote for the HEROES Act.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I have additional speakers on the way, but they are not here. I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. COHEN).

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, let me tell you something that is in this bill: There is a repeal of about a $100 billion tax break for the richest people in this country that Trump and McConnell snuck in CARES 1. We didn't see it at first. We found it.

We put out a letter asking for support. Do we get one Republican to say yes, I want to join you and get rid of that $100 billion tax break for 80 percent of the people who make $1 million a year or more and had nothing to do with coronavirus? Not one of you. You ought to be for that. That is thievery. That is robbery. Jesse James wouldn't need a mask if he came here. Trump and McConnell didn't have on a mask when they stole from the American people $100 billion for millionaires and billionaires.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I just advise my friend, if he is worried about tax breaks for billionaires and millionaires, he might want to get rid of SALT deductions in this current bill.

With that, Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. CARTER), my very good friend and member of the Energy and Commerce Committee and the only pharmacist in Congress.

Mr. CARTER of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in opposition to the HEROES Act.

This legislation ignores the fundamental issues affecting our country. It is a harmful misallocation of congressional efforts and ignores the plight of the American people.

For instance, this package references cannabis more times than it does jobs. It includes hundreds of billions to bail out States, which may be needed, but it is not even ensuring that there are guardrails to prevent reckless behavior and waste.

It extends increased unemployment benefits well past the targeted reopening of the country, forcing businesses to compete with a government program for employees.

This package would allow illegal immigrants access to direct payments, and it would move to federalize elections. These are just a handful of examples of the misguided and dangerous policies included in this legislation. We have allocated trillions of dollars in aid, and significant amounts of that still hasn't gone out the door.

Now is the time to discuss solutions for the problems facing the American people, not a partisan wish list.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield an additional 15 seconds to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. CARTER).

Mr. CARTER of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, now is the time for us to discuss solutions for the problems facing the American people, not to put out partisan wish lists. I urge my colleagues to oppose this.

□ 1645

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. CONNOLLY).

Mr. CONNOLLY. Mr. Speaker, their priority is corporate liability. Ours is helping to save a nation.

They say wait. Wait for what? The virus to stop spreading? It won't. Wait for another 36 million Americans to have to file for unemployment? Wait for another million businesses to collapse? For another 86,000 Americans to die?

The time to act is now if we are going to save this economy and protect public health and safety, not to dither, not to wait. The virus won't.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I would advise my very good friend from the great State of Virginia that we didn't wait. We worked with you and passed four bills. You are wasting time. You are wasting time. You have brought a bill here you know will not pass the Senate, that the President will not sign. You decided not to work with us. So please don't accuse us of delay.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Idaho (Mr. FULCHER), a member of the Education and Labor and Natural Resources Committees.

Mr. FULCHER. Mr. Speaker, the United States of America has generated more prosperity than every other nation in history combined. That is because our divinely inspired system of government prioritizes individual rights through a republic that has representation, employs market principles and property rights, and backs it up with rule of law.

The sponsors of today's legislation are using a pandemic as an excuse to propose spending $3 trillion on policies that reverse or undermine all three. Now, we all know it is not going to become law. Instead, it is part of a strategy to set the initial negotiation bar so outrageously to the left that the end negotiated result would transform our Republic to a socialist remotely governed Republic.

When I disagree with legislation content, I often consider compromise.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield an additional 15 seconds to the gentleman.

Mr. FULCHER. Mr. Speaker, when I disagree with the legislative content, I often consider compromise. But in this case, there is only one reasonable response, and that is a "no" vote.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from California (Mr. COX).

Mr. COX of California. Mr. Speaker, the working families of Central Valley, and the 86,000 Americans who have died, don't have the luxury of waiting for the White House, Leader MCCONNELL, or my friends on the other side of the aisle to sit around and let more Americans die or go bankrupt.

The fact is, Democrats are showing leadership in a plan that puts Main Street before Wall Street and takes care of the families who did nothing to cause this crisis but are paying with their lives.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this bill so we can recharge our efforts to test, track, and treat, which is the only way to reopen our Nation safely.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. PALMER), chairman of the Republican Policy Committee.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, I oppose this bill because it constitutes a threat to our national security.

On March 26, the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis reported that our debt-to-GDP was already at 106.8 percent. Since that time, Congress added over $2 trillion.

If this $3 trillion left-wing dream-come-true bill were to become law, it would likely move our debt-to-GDP at close to 120 percent by the end of this fiscal year. Debt levels of this magnitude are not sustainable. Debt levels of this magnitude will be a threat to Social Security and Medicare. Debt levels of this magnitude will reduce household income. And debt levels of this magnitude threaten our national security.

Once upon a time, there was bipartisan agreement about this. Former Secretaries of Defense across multiple administrations all warned that our debt will compromise our national security capabilities. It is foolhardy to ignore these warnings that the single biggest threat to our national security is our national debt.

America has enemies, and despite all the allusions of some, China is foremost among them. If this bill were to become law, it would undermine our ability to maintain our military superiority over China.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield an additional 15 seconds to the gentleman.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, if this bill were to become law, it would undermine our ability to maintain our military superiority over China.

In that regard, if Xi Jinping had a vote in this Chamber, he would be an enthusiastic "yes." Thank God he does not. But we do. I urge a "no" vote on this bill.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from Colorado (Mr. CROW).

Mr. CROW. Mr. Speaker, if we don't act boldly, we will spend the next decade recovering from this crisis, and many families and many communities may never recover.

My colleagues on the other side of the aisle are right about one thing: This is our vision for America, an America where people can pay their rent and mortgage and buy food for their children; where businesses will reopen and create jobs; where our cities can pay our firefighters, our paramedics, and our teachers next month; and where people can vote without risking their health and their lives.

America is great because, in times of crisis, we come together to meet the challenge. We do big things. Let us meet this moment. Let's pass this bill.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. THOMPSON), my very good friend, a member of the Agriculture and Education and Labor Committees.

Mr. THOMPSON of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong opposition to this legislation.

Through the CARES Act and the previous relief packages Congress has already approved, the Federal Government has acted swiftly to address our most pressing needs as a result of the coronavirus. Our efforts thus far have been about three things: saving lives, saving jobs, and saving our economy.

These bills were negotiated in good faith and passed with overwhelming bipartisan support to provide immediate resources and a lifeline to families, workers, businesses, and States.

Mr. Speaker, legislation on the House floor today is not in the same bipartisan spirit of addressing the urgent needs of Americans during the coronavirus pandemic. It is written without input from the minority and prioritizes divisive partisan policies over real relief for Americans.

One division I am concerned about is agriculture. Instead of simply supporting farmers, ranchers, and the effectiveness of our feeding programs, which is where our focus should be, the bill ties the hands of the USDA. These partisan policies have no place in a relief package, and this legislation is dead on arrival in the Senate.

As we begin to open up our economy, Congress must continue combating the virus and getting Americans back to work.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield an additional 15 seconds to the gentleman.

Mr. THOMPSON of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, we also could be doing more for working individuals by including my legislation, the AG CHAIN Act, which would suspend Federal income tax and payroll taxes for essential workers during this pandemic.

However, today's legislation was drafted and introduced with unnecessary haste and lacks bipartisan support to become law. I am voting “no” on this bill, and I urge my colleagues to do the same.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentlewoman from Pennsylvania (Ms. DEAN).

Ms. DEAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the HEROES Act because it recognizes the human sacrifice of our families, our teachers, our postal workers, our police. It recognizes the human suffering.

In my own counties of Berks County, 207 are dead, and in Montgomery County, 608 are dead. Included in that number is my own mother-in-law, dead of COVID earlier this month in a local nursing home without the ability of her family to be at her side.

And it recognizes the heroes all around us, like the staff at that nursing home who stood by and took care of Joan in a loving way.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentlewoman has expired.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield an additional 15 seconds to the gentlewoman.

Ms. DEAN. I will be voting “yes” on this bill to send nearly $40 billion to my hard-hit State of Pennsylvania. I urge all of our colleagues to do the same.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I have additional speakers on the way. They have not yet arrived, so I am going to reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield 30 seconds to the gentlewoman from Washington (Ms. DELBENE).

Ms. DELBENE. Mr. Speaker, the HEROES Act will help workers stay connected to their employers, their paychecks, and their benefits.

This bill includes an expanded employee retention tax credit. By building on this existing and bipartisan program, we help businesses keep their employees on the payroll through the end of the year and reduce unemployment.

The bill also expands the child tax credit to help families and reduce child poverty. These policies, along with support for essential public services, expanded testing, and contact tracing, are the reasons why I will be voting “yes.”

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentlewoman from Michigan (Mrs. DINGELL).

Mrs. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, we, in Michigan, have been devastated by this virus. We were third for the number of cases in the country for weeks and, until this week, remained third in the number of deaths.

Two million people are unemployed, and lives have been forever changed.

The Chair of the Fed said this week that if we don't want this economy to be ruined, we need to invest now, and that is what this bill does. It is not perfect, but the people of my district need help and they need it now.

There are pension provisions in here that are not perfect, that help some and not others, but I urge my colleagues to vote for this bill.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. HICE), a member of the Natural Resources and Oversight and Reform Committees.

Mr. HICE of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, the Federal Government has a responsibility to help both individuals and businesses through this crisis because, as the government, they shut down the economy. But I do have deep concerns with the way in which we are attempting to go about this.

We have already spent an unprecedented amount of money, $3.6 trillion, at an unprecedented rate. Now, we have a monstrosity, and we have yet to have a serious discussion as to how we are going to pay for this massive debt.

In this bill—$3 trillion, 1,800 pages, zero input from the minority, from the Senate or the White House, drafted behind closed doors, and just very little time to review it.

As ranking member of the Government Operations Subcommittee, I want to focus on the Postal Service. The Postal Service does not need a bailout; they need reform. It needs reform.

We have 12 consecutive years of losing money in the Postal Service, and it was not caused by this pandemic. It is a deeper pandemic within the Postal Service.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield an additional 15 seconds to the gentleman.

Mr. HICE of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, this is an issue that we have to resolve, not with just a bailout of $25 billion. They have $9 billion sitting in the bank over there.

This is our time to be responsible with the people's money, and I urge my colleagues not to support this bill?

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from New York (Mr. ESPAILLAT).

Mr. ESPAILLAT. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of heroes.

$15 billion for transit agencies, including $3.8 billion for the MTA, that is a good thing.

$2 billion for deep cleaning for public housing, such as NYCHA, that is a good thing.

Another round of stimulus checks, $1,200, plus another $1,200 for children, and the inclusion of taxpaying immigrants and their families, that is a good thing.

$2 billion to help employers provide hazard pay to essential workers, like hospital workers, transit workers, supermarket workers, and critical property service workers like janitors, security officers, residential door persons, and others who are often overlooked but are so crucial to keeping key buildings and facilities like the hundreds in my district up and running, that is a good thing.

$100 billion for emergency rental assistance, that is an extremely good thing. Help for New York State and New York City.

I rise in support of our heroes. This is a good thing.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. ESCOBAR).

Ms. ESCOBAR. Mr. Speaker, unfortunately, our colleagues on the other side of the aisle don't hear the suffering happening in our communities, communities like El Paso, vulnerable communities that need more testing, more tracing.

This bill does that. It provides that necessary step to safely reopening our economies. It also provides $1 billion for my community of El Paso, Texas, $35 billion for the State of Texas. For this and many other reasons, we need to look at this as one step in a long journey, a painful journey, but one that we are in together.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I just remind my friends we actually do hear. That is why we worked with you to pass four straight bills. I would be willing to work with you again. You chose not to do that. You chose to bring to the floor a bill you know will not be taken up by the Senate, will not be signed by the President. So let's abandon that course and go back to where we were at. We worked together. We got a lot done in a short period of time. I think that is what the American people want us to do.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, whenever my friend is ready to sit down, I am happy to work with him.

I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from California (Mr. GARAMENDI).

Mr. GARAMENDI. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this legislation.

Much talk, some facts. In California, $54 billion deficit by the State government. The counties I represent are reeling in their deficit. We need this bill; otherwise, we are going to see hospitals, we are going to see first responders, police, and firemen laid off.

Many say this bill is dead on arrival. If we do not move this bill, the death will be in our districts.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I have a great deal of respect for my very good friend from California, but we live in a system right now of divided government. We have a Democratic House that certainly has a voice in anything that is done. We have a Republican Senate, and we have a Republican President.

We have proven that we can work together. We did for four straight bills, extraordinary amount of time, largest single bill in American history. So it is not as if the two sides don't know how to do this.

For whatever reasons, my friends chose to decide to move alone. Well, they can certainly do that through this Chamber, and that is their right to do. I respect that if that is what they want to do. But if they think moving alone without Republicans will get them anywhere in the United States Senate or at the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue, I would just suggest that is probably not the case.

So again, we know how to do this. We have proven we can do it; an extraordinary job by all concerned on both sides of the House to get those four bills done.

Nobody works better, by the way, in a bipartisan sense than my good friend, the chairwoman of the Appropriations Committee, and nobody works with her better than my good friend, the ranking member of the Appropriations Committee. I would suggest the rest of us probably should clear out for a while and let those two work together. I bet you we could actually get a bill to pass.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. GREEN).

Mr. GREEN of Texas. Mr. Speaker, the richest country in the world is facing a looming humanitarian crisis. Hunger looms large in the land, Mr. Speaker. This bill provides a $14 billion solution with a humanitarian response to feed the hungry.

Homelessness looms large. Evictions are afoot. This bill provides $100 billion to keep people in their homes.

This humanitarian crisis necessitates a humanitarian response. This bill provides that response.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentlewoman from New Mexico (Ms. HAALAND).

Ms. HAALAND. Mr. Speaker, I rise to support the HEROES Act.

The administration's failed response to this crisis causes heartbreak, financial stress, and lays bare the disparities in our country.

Two Dine sisters didn't get treatment in time and died. Their sons will live without their mothers.

A single mom in my district lost her job and couldn't get help because of her status.

The HEROES Act meets this challenge at the level it demands. When I vote today, I will think of all the families and all of the essential workers, the people who stock our groceries and keep us fed.

Mr. Speaker, we must pass this bill.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. PERRY), a distinguished veteran in service to this country.

Mr. PERRY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I will tell you this bill, among other things—we can talk about all the wish list of things that are in it, and I am sure many have and many will. I want to talk about the trillion dollars of additional spending to the States and talk about my State of Pennsylvania, where we spent and sent billions of dollars where, right now, the Governor is holding hostage that money that is supposed to go directly to the counties. He won't give it to the counties that are going bankrupt right now.

What he is doing, Mr. Speaker, is making sure that our nursing home patients get exposed to COVID-19. It is a directive in Pennsylvania, if they have COVID-19 and the hospital releases them, they have to go back to the nursing home. So our nursing homes are 74 percent of the deaths across the State. Seventy-four percent of the deaths in Pennsylvania are because of the Governor's policy.

Meanwhile, he says he doesn't have enough money. We are going to spend more money in Pennsylvania when the money hasn't already been spent.

Oh, by the way, the unemployment compensation money that we sent to Pennsylvania, it takes 41 days right now to have your claim answered. People cannot exist on policies and promises. They need money.

Mr. Speaker, spending more money, sending more money to buttress failed policies doesn't fix the policies. They don't fix anything. They don't help anyone.

Let's fix the policies. Let's make sure the people get the money that we have sent to them instead of just sending more to the Governor, who is going to extort the counties and kill our elderly.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON LEE), a senior member of the Homeland Security and Judiciary Committees.

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman for yielding.

We heard on this floor, Mr. Speaker, God bless America, and now we know that America is sick and needs that blessing. Her lives, her livelihood are sick.

This is not Speaker PELOSI's bill. This is America's bill. And I am glad to stand here and support heroes who will get $200 billion, including transit workers.

I am glad we will get more direct payments, $6,000, to families that are desperate.

I am glad that there will be testing and contact tracing that will help save lives.

I am glad that local governments—my mayor is suffering—$375 billion.

And I am delighted to make sure that we know that the hungry people in the streets will get food.

I support the HEROES legislation.

Mr. Speaker, as a senior member of the Committees on the Judiciary and on Homeland Security, and founder and Co-Chair of the Congressional Coronavirus Taskforce, I rise in strong support of H.R. 6800, the Health and Economic Recovery Omnibus Emergency Solutions Act, or HEROES Act, the most installment of the necessary assistance and relief provided by Congress to address the adverse health and economic impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic.

The HEROES Act provides an additional $75 billion for the testing, tracing, and treatment we need in order to have a science-based path to safely reopen our country and helping ensure that every American can access free coronavirus treatment.

I support this legislation also because it provides strong support for our heroes fighting the pandemic on the front lines with nearly $1 trillion for state, local, territorial and tribal governments who desperately need funds to pay the health care workers, police, fire, transportation, EMS, teachers and other vital workers who keep us safe and are in danger of losing their jobs.

The Heroes Act also establishes a $200 billion Heroes' fund to ensure that essential workers receive hazard pay, something that I have long advocated and for which I worked closely with the House and committee leaders to secure.

Another reason to support this bill is that it puts money in the pockets of workers with a second round of direct payments to families up to $6,000 per household, new payroll protection measures to keep 60 million workers connected with their jobs and extending weekly $600 federal unemployment payments through January 2021.

There are several additional salutary provisions in this legislation which I will later address, but it is important to note for the record the scale of public health and economic crisis we are in.

Every day, we see the need for further action to combat the coronavirus crisis.

To date, there are more than 1,400,000 confirmed cases, over 85,000 dead, including 42,403 cases and 1,158 deaths in my home state of Texas.

On top of that, by taking the necessary measures to slow the pandemic and 'flatten the curve' so as not to overwhelm the nation's health care system, economic activity in the United States has experienced a severe shock to the system.

More than 36 million initial unemployment claims in the past month alone.

In addition, on March 23, 2020, the Dow Jones Industrial Average (DJIA) dipped to 18,321.62, which is even lower than it was on Election Night 2016, and far below the 19,827 mark where it stood on January 20, 2017.

In other words, Mr. Speaker, all the gains that were made to the stock market and heralded by this Administration as evidence of its genius have been wiped out, depleting the retirement savings and 401(k) fund of millions of ordinary Americans.

The situation is so dire that Federal Reserve Chair Jerome Powell, appointed by the current President, stressed the importance of Congress providing further fiscal relief, stating this week:

"While the economic response has been both timely and appropriately large, it may not be the final chapter, given that the path ahead is both highly uncertain and subject to significant downside risks. Additional fiscal support could be costly, but worth it if it helps avoid long-term economic damage and leaves us with a stronger recovery.”

Mr. Speaker, among people who were working in February, almost 40 percent of those in households making less than $40,000 a year had lost their job in March.

And in addition to the highly inequitable of gender and racial impacts, this economic downturn reveals a strong class dimension to the unemployment wave with 18.1 million of the 19.5 million jobs lost in the private sector last month classified as production and non-supervisory workers as opposed to managers.

So, we have simultaneously a public health emergency and an economic calamity, both of which are addressed in the legislation before us.

But before we can get back on our feet economically and restore the booming economy inherited by the current Administration, Americans must be assured and confident that there is a plan and strategy to combat COVID-19 and the resources and commitment needed to implement the plan and execute the strategy.

And that means testing, testing, and more testing, along with contact tracing.

Mr. Speaker, as the media was reporting in early January on the rapid spread of the novel coronavirus and the alarming increase in the numbers of persons infected, I understood that this was an emergency situation requiring urgent and immediate attention.

On February 10, 2020, I held the first press conference on the issue of the novel coronavirus at Houston Intercontinental Airport, which was followed by a second press conference on February 24, 2020 to continue efforts to raise public knowledge of the impending threat.

On February 26, 2020, I wrote the Chair and Ranking Member of the Committee on Homeland Security requesting to be briefed by Acting Secretary of Homeland Security Chad Wolf to regarding the preparedness of DHS to address a possible pandemic.

On March 19, 2020, I partnered with United Memorial Medical Center to open the first drive through Coronavirus Test Screening facility in the Houston area.

Since March 19, I have worked to open six other testing sites for a total of seven that are located within high risk communities in the city of Houston to reduce the need for travel to get access to COVID-19 testing.

In early March news reports regarding the high risks for COVID-19 infections in jails and prisons provided early notice that these locations might become hot spots where the unchecked spread of the virus would pose health risks to detainees, staff, and communities where they were located.

Infectious disease experts warned that overcrowded unsanitary conditions existed in these facilities making them extremely unsafe given what was known about the highly infectious nature of COVID-19.

That is why I worked with the Harris County Sheriff's Office to provide COVID-19 testing for detainees and staff beginning on April 21.

Detention centers are overcrowded and unsanitary and pose significant risks to detainees and staff should COVID-19 breach them, whether they are prisons, jails, or ICE detention centers.

In the weeks before the White House declared a national emergency concerning COVID-19, ICE held approximately 38,000 individuals in more than 130 federal, private, and locally operated detention facilities across the country.

Crowded, unsanitary conditions in ICE detention facilities put detainees, detention facility staff, and surrounding communities in danger.

Placing detainees in local jails or state prisons may have triggered infections in those confinement settings that might reach local communities where the infections would not be detected until infected persons were sick enough to seek medical assistance at hospitals.

Individuals in detention are often housed in close quarters together with individuals in poor health, making them highly vulnerable to contagious disease.

Reducing the number of persons being held by focusing on release of non-violent persons who are at the greatest risk should they contract the infection—the elderly, those with underlying medical conditions, and those with compromised immune systems is the right thing to do for public safety and health.

As I wrote in a May 6, 2020 Houston Chronicle op-ed, entitled Universal Testing Is A National Security Issue, universal testing, contact tracing, and social distancing is needed to protect the public health and safety, and to provide Americans with the confidence they need to restart the national economy by resuming economic activity.

Mr. Speaker, I am very pleased that H.R. 6800 includes in its provisions many of the policies I have advocated and worked with leadership to secure, including the following:

Bureau of Prisons—$200 million to prevent, prepare for, and respond to coronavirus in Federal prisons, including funding for medical testing and services, personal protective equipment, hygiene supplies and services, and sanitation services.

Indian Health Service—$2.1 billion to address health care needs related to coronavirus for Native Americans.

Department of Labor—$3.1 billion to support workforce training and worker protection activities related to coronavirus.

Health Resources and Services Administration—$7.6 billion to support expanded health care services for underserved populations, including:

1. $7.6 billion for Health Centers to expand the capacity to provide testing, triage, and care for COVID-19 and other health care services at approximately 1,000 existing health centers across the country; and

2. $10 million to Ryan White HIV/AIDS clinics to support extended operational hours, increased staffing hours, additional equipment, and additional home delivered meals and transportation needs of clients, who disproportionately suffer from co-morbidities and underlying immunosuppression that puts them at greater risk for COVID-19 complications.

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention—$2.1 billion to support federal, state, and local public health agencies to prevent, prepare for, and respond to the coronavirus, including $2 billion for State, local, Territorial, and Tribal Public Health Departments and $130 million for public health data surveillance and analytics infrastructure modernization.

2. $75 billion for testing, contact tracing, and other activities necessary to effectively monitor and suppress COVID-19.

ploy to skilled nursing facilities or nursing facilities within 72 hours of three residents or employees being diagnosed with or suspected of having COVID-19.

6. $20 million for Community Based-Child Abuse Prevention Grants.

Administration for Community Living—$100 million to provide direct services such as home-delivered and prepackaged meals, and supportive services for seniors and disabled individuals, and their caregivers.

Department of Education—$100.15 billion to support the educational needs of States, school districts, and institutions of higher education in response to coronavirus, including:

1. $90 billion for a State Fiscal Stabilization Fund for grants to States to support statewide and local funding for elementary and secondary schools and public postsecondary institutions.

2. $10.15 billion to help alleviate burdens associated with the coronavirus for both colleges and students, including $1.7 billion for Historically Black Colleges and Universities and Minority Serving Institutions, $20 million for Howard University, $11 million for Galaudet University, $11 million for the National Technical Institute for the Deaf, and $8.4 billion for other institutions of higher education.

Tenant-Based Rental Assistance—$4 billion to allow public housing agencies (PHAs) to respond to coronavirus and the ability to keep over 2.2 million families stably housed even when facing a loss of income, including $1 billion for new, temporary, vouchers for individuals and families who are homeless or at risk of becoming homeless, or fleeing domestic violence.

Public Housing Operating- Fund—$2 billion for PHAs to carry out coronavirus response for the operation and management of almost 1 million public housing units.

Housing for Persons with AIDS—$15 million to maintain operations, rental assistance, supportive services, and other necessary actions to mitigate the impact of coronavirus on low-income persons with HIV/AIDS.

Homeless Assistance Grants—$11.5 billion for Emergency Solutions Grants to address the impact of coronavirus among individuals and families who are homeless or at risk of homelessness and to support additional homeless assistance, prevention, and diver on activities to mitigate the impacts of the pandemic. I am also pleased that the language of my bill, H.R. 6803, to specifically help the Elderly and persons with disabilities during COVID-19 through wrap a round services was included.

Emergency Rental Assistance—$100 billion to provide emergency assistance to help low-income renters at risk of homelessness avoid eviction due to the economic impact of the coronavirus pandemic.

Housing Counseling Assistance—$100 million to enable housing counselors to respond to the surge of demand for services, which include foreclosure and eviction mitigation counseling, in light of the economic impact of the COVID-19 pandemic. The bill allows the purchase of technology and equipment so services can be provided through electronic means.

As the economic impact of the coronavirus pandemic becomes clearer and more far-reaching, it will be necessary to continually replenish the Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) and Economic Injury Disaster Loan program (EIDL).

Mr. Speaker, perhaps the principle reason to support this legislation is because it provides $75 billion for COVID-19 testing, contact tracing, and isolation measures; and ensures that every American can access free coronavirus treatment.

The legislation also provides hospitals and health care workers on the frontlines needed funding for the necessary resources, especially personal protective equipment (PPE), to battle the coronavirus pandemic and care for its victims.

Mr. Speaker, we have all seen the heart-wrenching stories of courageous doctors, nurses, ambulance drivers, orderlies, and others selflessly striving to save other others while putting themselves in harm's way because of the severe shortage of PPE.

Mr. Speaker, the current president fancies calling himself a "War President."

For anyone who needs reminding, the nation's greatest wartime presidents made sure that American troops on the frontlines were trained, equipped, and protected in battle.

The funding provided in this legislation will help states and local jurisdiction conduct necessary COVID-19 testing in local jails, juvenile detention centers, and elsewhere in the criminal justice system.

Testing is the key to reopening the economy and resuming our lives, and to prevent, prepare for, and respond to coronavirus, domestically or internationally.

If we cannot see where COVID-19 is within a community, there is no reliable way to prevent its spread other than quarantine.

If we do not dramatically increase testing, we will remain prisoners of COVID-19 until we have a vaccine widely available, which is not expected to occur until early 2021.

Universal testing for COVID-19 is a matter of life and death for millions of Americans, but it is also a salvation for millions of others who are living desperate lives behind locked doors.

The liberation of millions hinges on getting testing in every community so that we can shine a light on where COVID-19 is and where it is not present.

Mr. Speaker, the occasion demands that we rise, and I urge all Members to join me in voting to pass H.R. 6800, the Health and Economic Recovery Omnibus Emergency Solutions Act.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. KRISHNAMOORTHY).

Mr. KRISHNAMOORTHY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman for yielding.

I rise in support of the HEROES Act. Why?

Because our firefighters and first responders are heroes. They deserve to remain employed.

Because our frontline and healthcare workers are heroes. They deserve to have more testing and PPE.

Our small business people are heroes, too, and they deserve relief, also.

Heroic people need our action today. Inaction would not be heroic.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. NORCROSS).

Mr. NORCROSS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today at an unprecedented time.

First, I want to thank those frontline and essential workers, those who are working each and every day on the retail lines, certainly those who are working to keep our lights on.

But this HEROES Act will provide New Jersey the much-needed help it deserves and needs, second in the Nation. Almost 10,000 people have been impacted in a way that they will never forget.

But we know for workers this will take care of OSHA so they have a safe workplace; for families so they have food and SNAP benefits increase; for small businesses, emergency grants.

But most importantly, we, together, as a country, will get past this if we work together.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. BARR), my great friend and distinguished member of the Financial Services Committee.

Mr. BARR. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

For 2½ years, Americans have heard Democrats in this House criticize the historic tax cuts for exploding the debt. They have listened to Democrats repeat that criticism even as individual income tax revenues actually rose by $22 billion over CBO projections.

But today, Speaker PELOSI proposes a bill that is so reckless, so outrageous, and so fiscally irresponsible that it will add $3 trillion to our national debt overnight. And instead of hearing about the deficit or even concerns about this pandemic, struggling Americans are watching House Democrats push for legislation to legalize voter fraud, give stimulus checks to illegal immigrants, bail out mismanaged State and local governments, and restore tax breaks to blue State millionaires and billionaires.

So, to taxpayers across America, if you have ever had any doubt about where Democrats in this House actually stand on deficits and the debt, watch today's vote.

Instead of surrendering our country to socialism, we need to reopen our economy and allow Americans to safely get back to work. The government cannot sustainably respond to this crisis or any crisis unless and until we have taxpayers who are actually working.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from California (Mr. PANETTA).

Mr. PANETTA. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman for yielding.

H.R. 6800 is anything but a wish list for Democrats. Instead, the HEROES Act means everything to the people in all of our congressional districts.

States and cities across our country are losing revenue that will lead to a loss of services and our safety. The funding in this bill shores up those services and our security, especially for our small cities.

The PPP benefits small businesses, but it needs to be expanded and easier to understand. This bill provides those improvements, as well as more testing and tracing, help for renters and owners, broadband for kids, purchases for farmers, and protections for farmworkers.

So when you call this a wish list, know that it is our constituents who are wishing for funding so that they can fight and defeat this pandemic.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

There is nobody I respect more than my good friend from California. He is a bipartisan person by nature and instinct. All I would advise him is to resume what they did that worked before: Go back to operating in a bipartisan manner, sit down and negotiate, and we will actually get something done for the American people.

What they are doing now is partisan, one-sided, no Republican input, dead on arrival in the Senate, not going to be signed by the President. That is not a productive use of time. It may be a political choice; it may be smart politics—I don't know, I don't think so, but maybe—but it certainly is not going to result in legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PORTER).

Ms. PORTER. Mr. Speaker, Americans are suffering enough from this pandemic. They deserve the best policy to help them. Even if infection rates go down in May and June, unemployment will keep going up.

The Paycheck Recovery Act would protect our capitalist economy, which the virus is attacking. It would preserve businesses and give workers what they need most: their paychecks so they can provide for their families.

The HEROES Act should have used this approach, but I know our States and local governments and our frontline workers cannot wait for Federal help. I, therefore, support this bill.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. PAYNE).

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to support the HEROES Act, our fifth coronavirus aid package.

Right now, Americans are losing loved ones, jobs, their health insurance, and their patience. The only aid that they will get is whatever we provide them.

Government exists to help the country in times of great need, and there might not ever be a greater time in our lifetime than right now. I am shocked that many of my Republican colleagues seem not to care.

The price might be high, but the price of doing nothing is always higher. Our constituents count on us to do the right thing. This bill is the right thing for American workers, American families, and American businesses.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

□ 1715

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from Colorado (Mr. NEGUSE).

Mr. NEGUSE. Mr. Speaker, from Eagle County to Gilpin County and every community in between, our communities are looking to us to help them weather this crisis.

These aren't red counties; they are not blue counties. They are American counties.

This bill is about helping all of America, and in particular, the American heroes who are standing up for us every day, the firefighters, the nurses, the first responders, the teachers, and so many more.

They continue to stand up for us. Let's stand up for them.

Please, let's pass this bill.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from New York (Mr. ENGEL), the chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee.

Mr. ENGEL. Mr. Speaker, New York has been ravaged by the COVID-19 pandemic. My constituents in New Rochelle, New York, were in the original New York hotspot and have suffered greatly, both health-wise and economically.

I have worked tirelessly since the last CARES Act to help my constituents and bring as many resources as I can back to the Bronx and Westchester. This includes about $5 billion for hard-hit New York hospitals and $76 million for New York's community health centers.

With today's vote, the House makes clear its commitment to continue helping the heroes of this pandemic and our State even further.

The HEROES Act finally makes whole our State and local governments with nearly $34 billion in funding for New York and an additional $32 billion for local assistance.

It provides billions in hazard pay for the brave frontline workers who have kept us going through this crisis, and also allocates billions more for the three T's, testing, tracing, and treatment, keys to reviving our economy.

The bill also includes provisions I specifically requested and authored, including an additional $5 billion in education funding for New York to help prevent layoffs and program cuts, provisions to protect the medical supply chain, and increased Medicaid payments for safety-net New York hospitals.

What is more, New York will benefit greatly from the provision in this bill which repeals SALT, the caps on State and local taxes deductions, something we have fought hard for since the GOP tax scam passed 3 years ago.

In addition to the already mentioned provisions, there is an additional $175 billion in housing aid, including the $100 billion in rental assistance that I and other New Yorkers called for; extended unemployment benefits through January 2021; more direct stimulus payments to Americans; and billions in funding for hospitals and the Postal Service.

There are pension provisions in this bill which are controversial to some groups, and I am hopeful this can be resolved in conference.

I was pleased to see property service workers included under the Pandemic Premium Pay for the Essential Workers section. These workers, like janitors, security officers, residential door persons, and others, are often overlooked, but are crucial in keeping buildings and facilities up and running.

Please vote "yes."

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. SANCHEZ).

Ms. SANCHEZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of the HEROES Act.

COVID-19 has ravaged communities, businesses, and families. We will be reeling from the economic aftershocks of the coronavirus for many months to come.

The HEROES Act will provide desperately needed relief to stabilize our fragile economy and protect essential workers.

It will put us on the right path to economic recovery, a recovery that reduces food insecurity, compensates essential workers for risking their lives to do their jobs, and help to prevent counties and municipalities from having to lay off the workers that we rely on the most.

Mr. Speaker, I urge a "yes" vote on the HEROES Act. Let's support our heroes.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentlewoman from Alabama (Ms. SEWELL), the vice chair of the Committee on Ways and Means.

Ms. SEWELL of Alabama. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to support our HEROES Act.

This bill will provide $375 billion in support directly to local governments, which would mean millions of dollars for my counties and my towns in my district of Alabama.

These funds will help our communities with their lost revenues while protecting the jobs of those essential workers.

Mr. Speaker, I stand with the heroes and sheroes of Alabama, and I ask for all to support this bill, because we are dying in numbers, and we need to make sure that we are doing all that we can to protect the lives and livelihoods of all Americans.

Mr. Speaker, I ask for a "yes" vote on the HEROES Act. Let's stand with our heroes.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentlewoman from New Jersey (Ms. SHERRILL).

Ms. SHERRILL. Mr. Speaker, to date, 10,000 New Jerseyans have lost their lives to coronavirus; 1.1 million, their jobs.

The toll of the pandemic on New Jersey cannot be understated, nor can the need for additional relief. That is why I fought for desperately needed aid for State and local governments, a repeal of the SALT cap, increased funding for hospitals, testing, tracing, and PPE.

In these times, we must stand together as a Nation. We must be bold, we must be resolute, and we must be brave.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from California (Mr. MCCARTHY), the distinguished Republican leader of the House and my good friend.

Mr. MCCARTHY. Mr. Speaker, yesterday, Speaker PELOSI called scrutinizing China a diversion. That could not be further from the truth.

First, China lied to the world about the virus. According to a recent study, 95 percent of this crisis would have been contained if China had been honest. All they had to do was be honest. Imagine all the lives and livelihoods that would have been saved.

Second, during the crisis, China leveraged its stockpile of personal protection equipment for their own political gain and at the expense of our frontline workers.

Third, just this week, it was reported that China is now hacking our companies and universities to try to undermine our effort to find a cure to save lives.

Speaker PELOSI should withdraw her comments. Instead, she withdrew her Members from what was supposed to be a bipartisan task force on China, one that we had planned and worked for for more than a year, long before this virus came from the distant land.

Mr. Speaker, I would say to Speaker PELOSI that addressing China is not a diversion. Justice for Americans is not a diversion. It is what we must do to protect our country.

The real diversion is the proposal on the floor today.

This 1,800-page, $3 trillion proposal isn't a serious attempt at making public policy.

Mr. Speaker, I listened to the talk which you had before your conference. I listened when Speaker PELOSI told your conference to "go big."

Instead of going big, it seems you went crazy.

This is a political messaging bill that has no chance of becoming law. That is not my opinion. That is the opinion from your own Members and from the media itself.

Why do they have that opinion? Let's look at the flaws in the bill itself.

Its central demands were written behind closed doors, predates the crisis, and are not targeted to the coronavirus.

Changing election laws won't speed up the development of treatments or cures. That was the Democrats' number one bill, H.R. 1. Does anyone remember back when they introduced that, the very first bill in Congress, long before anyone ever heard of coronavirus?

Bailing out mismanaged pensions won't keep cash-strapped Main Street afloat as Americans practice social distancing.

Suspending the cap on SALT tax deductions for millionaires and billionaires won't reach the 36 million Americans who are now unemployed. The Democrats promised to do that in their campaign, not when the virus came forth.

This bill has more references to the cannabis industry in it than it does to jobs, even though it is jobs, not dispensaries, that are going up in smoke.

Millions of more dollars earmarked for the National Endowment for the Arts won't stop China from hacking our companies and universities who are working toward a vaccine.

America is in a serious crisis, but unfortunately, Mr. Speaker, the House Democrats see it as leverage to pass their socialist agenda.

Mr. Speaker, Majority Whip CLYBURN, who runs what I refer to as the 2.0 Impeachment Committee, called it a "tremendous opportunity to restructure things to fit our vision."

Mr. Speaker, you have a Member on the other side of the aisle, who authored the Green New Deal, who said, "you absolutely love to see it" while she was cheering the loss of good jobs in the energy industry.

There is another Member on the other side of the aisle, the co-chair of the Progressive Caucus, who said about passing more legislation, the concern, she said, "For me, the leverage is that there is enormous suffering."

Mr. Speaker, I want to assure the American public that those are not the views from this side of the aisle.

We do not view the coronavirus as an opportunity to reshape and restructure government. We do not smile and cheer when people lose their jobs. We do not think to use as leverage the fact that people are suffering. We do not see that as an opportunity to grab every philosophical idea we have that has nothing to do with the coronavirus and put it into a bill. That is not who we are.

Today's partisan spectacle continues a trend by, unfortunately, the Democrats that has strained Congress' relief efforts from the very beginning.

History will write that in January, Democrats were too busy impeaching President Trump to pay attention to what was happening in Wuhan, China.

In March, Speaker PELOSI delayed passage of the bipartisan CARES Act for 5 days. Her obstruction caused millions to lose their jobs and politicized the process but changed little in the bill.

In April, Democrats dragged their feet over replenishing the crucial Paycheck Protection Program for 14 days, allowing millions of jobs to be lost in the meantime and creating greater uncertainty for cash-strapped small businesses.

It is time for the political games to end. It is time to put politics on lockdown and get back to legislating.

1,800 pages. I won't ask who has read it, because I know nobody saw it in committee. We will vote on the largest bill in the history of Congress with not one committee hearing.

But Democrats might argue back because H.R. 1, their election law bill that they passed more than a year ago before the crisis, they didn't want to put it in here.

Democrats took the time to change the rules of the floor.

There are not many of us sitting on the floor today, Mr. Speaker, because of this virus. But there are more sitting on the floor today than can actually pass a bill after the rules they want to change.

You see, the American public, they might not understand that when they lend their voice for 2 years to the person they vote for to represent them in Washington, that may no longer be the case.

You see, now, after today, it only takes 20 people. Twenty Democrats could each hold ten proxies to themselves and pass anything they want, much like what we talked about here.

□ 1730

It won't stop China from hacking our universities to slow down our ability to have a vaccine. It won't bring a new job. It may help the cannabis industry, but it won't help Main Street. Maybe it helps you in an election because you are going to take an opportunity to try to change that as well. I will warn you, though, the American public is smart.

We just saw, Mr. Speaker, just this Tuesday in a seat in California where you changed the election law there. You made it an all-mail ballot. That was okay. But when you saw the returns were not coming in the way you wanted, you protested, so you changed it.

You actually put a place where people could walk in and vote, but not throughout the district. You picked one area. Where did you pick? The most Democrat precinct in the entire district.

It didn't turn out like you saw just a short time ago where a Democrat won by more than 9 points. No. It actually flipped. It flipped because the American public is frustrated. They are tired of these type of games they are seeing. They are tired of what they are seeing happening, Congress not working.

There are so many Americans, millions, who are no longer getting a paycheck, but Congress is for not working.

What do you say to the Starbucks employee who works just two blocks from here that shows up to work every day, but not Congress?

What do you say to the drivers who bring the food to the grocery stores or those who restock them every night? That that is essential. Or to the medical community who care for us? That that is essential.

What do you tell your constituents when you are going to ask them to vote for you again? That it wasn't essential for you to work, that you could have given a proxy to one of your friends who could vote for them, whom they do not know, whom they did not vote for, whom they did not lend their voice to?

What will you say to the constituent in a time of need? That you wrote an 1,800-page bill, but you didn't write it? It was a select few, not in a committee. It had no oversight, and that is why it ended up talking about cannabis more than it ever mentioned a job.

Yes, this bill is up in smoke, and it should end that way. But we should get back to what the American people expect of us: first, to work to earn your paycheck; and second, to make sure China never has the ability to do this again.

For more than a year, I worked with the other side to create a bipartisan committee. They actually said yes. We went down to the date. We named the people. It was February. We were going to announce it, but they backed away.

To the American public, I want them to know we welcomed Democrats to join us on this committee because we know and we understand 95 percent of this would have never happened had they not lied.

We did not invite this virus; we did not welcome it; but we will defeat it if we work together. The first thing is to work together to defeat this bill, this rule, and bring the country back in this Congress, what we were supposed to do so long ago.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Before I yield to Mr. SOTO, I would just like to say to the distinguished minority leader, I know what it is to see people suffer in my district. I know what it is to see people die in my district. There was too much time spent recommending Lysol and Clorox and other remedies for people who are really, really ill. So today, I am very pleased that we are working together with the leader of our party to address the pain, the suffering, and the illness that is happening in our communities.

Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. SOTO).

Mr. SOTO. Mr. Speaker, I don't need a magic minute to say the obvious, that President Trump's response to the coronavirus has been a colossal and utter failure that has left 36 million Americans without jobs, 87,000 dead, and 1.5 million with this disease.

You can drone on and on about conspiracy theories all you want, but we are going to clean up the mess. That is what the HEROES Act is about. That is what we are doing here today: backing up first responders, funding new tests, and making sure we put dollars into the pockets of millions of struggling Americans.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. SCALISE), my very good friend, the Republican whip.

Mr. SCALISE. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank my friend from Oklahoma for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, we are here talking about Speaker PELOSI's $3 trillion socialist giveaway plan. If you look at this bill—we have talked about what is in the bill. We should also be talking about what is not in the bill. And, of course, they have $500 billion in this package for States, including many that already wrecked their economy and had billion-dollar deficits prior to COVID-19—$500 billion to bail them out.

Keep in mind, Mr. Speaker, we already gave, working together, $150 billion to those States, and they haven't even spent all of that money. They haven't spent all of that money, but in this bill there is $500 billion to bail out States that were failing prior to COVID-19.

What is not in this bill, Mr. Speaker? Money to hold China accountable for this whole mess. There is no money in this bill to hold China accountable.

But, again, what is in this bill? Billions of dollars for people who are here illegally. Just look at this one page in the bill, a two-word change that makes accessible hundreds of billions of taxpayer dollars to people here illegally. It is in the bill.

Just what happened the other day, let's talk about American companies that they are going after right now. Just a few days ago, the Democrat majority sent a target letter to a number of businesses that employ blue-collar workers all around America, steel companies right here in Pennsylvania, in Ohio, and New York—steelworkers—and they demanded in the letter: We ask you return these funds immediately. So hundreds of steelworkers will go out of work based on the letter the Democrat majority sent out. And today, they are saying illegals can get that money.

So you are taking it away from steelworkers, shipbuilders, truck drivers, and you are turning around and giving it to people here illegally. What kind of set of priorities is that in the middle of a pandemic?

Again, what is in the bill, you have got hundreds of billions of dollars for all of these other things, billions for taxpayer funding of abortions in the bill.

What is not in the bill? Money to bring jobs back from China, PPE.

You just saw the President, yesterday, in Pennsylvania celebrating a company that is making PPE. So much of that is made right now in China. We are trying to bring that back because China is using their leverage to hold us hostage, not sending PPE, not sending lifesaving drugs. How about we make that in America? But, no, there is no money in this bill for that.

But then this bill mandates that States do things that would wreck their election laws, things like: forced mail-out ballots, again, to people here illegally; telling States they can't have integrity laws that would require a picture ID, Mr. Speaker.

To get into the Democratic National Convention, you will need to show a picture ID, but if your State says you have to show a picture ID to vote, they knocked that off the books. What set of priorities is that and, by the way, what does that have to do with COVID-19?

My goodness, we worked together to pass a bill to help families, to help small businesses and hospitals. Let's work together to solve this problem.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield the gentleman from Louisiana an additional 1 minute.

Mr. SCALISE. Mr. Speaker, again, I want to look at what is not in this bill and what is in this bill.

We worked together, Republicans and Democrats alike, to come up with a package of bills that will help families, small businesses, hospitals, and front-line workers. We did that together, working with President Trump. And then all of a sudden, not when we were here, but when everybody was forced to work remotely, we see this package of 1,800 pages dumped on us by dark of night that does all of these things that have nothing to do with this outbreak.

We should be working together to help safely reopen, like 36 States have already done successfully. Congress should be here working, leading, not working remotely. We have proven today, and we proved a few weeks ago, we can be here safely doing our job like all of the frontline workers are safely doing their job.

Let's get this country back open safely. Let's work together to get it done. Drop this wish list.

Thank goodness this will not become law, but it shows you the misguided priorities when you see a bill with so much garbage like this.

Mr. Speaker, I urge a "no" vote.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from New York (Mr. SUOZZI), a distinguished member of the Ways and Means Committee.

Mr. SUOZZI. Mr. Speaker, I represent three of the six hardest-hit counties in America. New York is the epicenter of the pandemic.

As a former mayor and county executive, my biggest priorities have been to deliver funds to New York based upon the rate of infection and to eliminate the SALT cap. Both are included in the HEROES Act.

Republican and Democratic Governors, mayors, and local officials all support this bill.

Mr. Speaker, it is the height of hypocrisy for Senator MCCONNELL to call this a blue State bailout when my State sends billions more to the Federal Government every single year, often to benefit Senator MCCONNELL'S State of Kentucky.

I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield 1 minute to the gentleman from California (Mr. THOMPSON).

Mr. THOMPSON of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this bill. It includes funding for State and local governments, for our healthcare workers, cops, firefighters, and teachers—those on the front lines working for us.

The tax provisions in this bill help small businesses pay their fixed costs and the wages of their employees so they can keep the lights on throughout this crisis. That is why small businesses support this bill.

It improves the PPP to help the small businesses and help their employees, and it includes the FEED Act, a bipartisan, bicameral bill that enables restaurants and small family farmers to feed hungry people.

The HEROES Act is an investment by the Federal Government to help the American people get through this pandemic.

Pass this bill.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. HOYER), the distinguished majority leader.

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, there has been a lot of talk about how there was no consultation on this bill. One of the reasons was because Senator MCCONNELL, of course, said: Let the States go bankrupt. We are not going to meet. We will wait. We will see. Let the municipalities go bankrupt.

There was no energy on the other side of the aisle to engage once more. However, the President, Secretary Mnuchin, and others said when they signed the last bill that we needed another bill.

So all this talk about not cooperating, I think, is correct, but I think it is incorrect as to who didn't cooperate, who didn't come to the table, who said let's wait, who said let the States go bankrupt. So let's not try to change the scenario here as to who wouldn't come to the table.

Today, more than 85,000 Americans have died from COVID-19, and that number grows every day. Wait, delay, pretend that this crisis has abated—that is not what the American people expect of us.

More than 36 million Americans have applied for unemployment insurance over the past 8 weeks, which is more than one in every five workers in America. That is why we need to act. This is a public health and economic crisis like no other this Nation has faced.

□ 1745

The people who are being hurt were not at fault. As one of the Republican Members said, and I agree with him, the economy was shut down. It didn't go into recession or depression; we shut it down.

When I say that "we shut it down," the President of the United States said we needed to stay at home. He was a little late to that, but he finally said it.

It is clear, therefore, that Congress has a duty to act. We have already enacted four major laws to address the impacts of this pandemic, and today, the House is moving forward with its next major legislative package.

By the way, when Secretary Mnuchin called Senator MCCONNELL, he didn't have a conference with us. He put a $250 billion bill Mr. Mnuchin wanted on the table. We said: Fine. Let's talk about it. But by the way, the hospitals need money; we need more testing; and we need to take care of some other people.

Finally, after offering the bill and having it fail on the Senate floor, then, and only then, was there a bipartisan discussion.

The HEROES Act will dedicate $1 trillion toward assisting our frontline heroes by providing grants to States, cities, counties, territories, and Tribal areas. If you talk to any one of them, they will say they are hemorrhaging revenues and need help now.

As State and local government revenues decline sharply, this will not only directly support first responders and healthcare workers, but it will also keep teachers from losing their jobs as they contribute to this great national effort by blazing trails in virtual learning.

Our bill would provide an additional $75 billion to ramp up a national, coordinated effort for testing and contact tracing, which we should have had 3 months ago and, indeed, perhaps before that. That will be critical to any effort to reopen our economy so that we aren't back here over and over again, confronting the fallout from this pandemic.

It would also require the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, or OSHA, to establish a clear and enforceable standard within 7 days to require workplaces to develop and implement plans to keep workers safe on the job. We admire and thank all those who showed up so we could stay home to try to defeat this virus. But we need to prevent employers from retaliating against people who say, "It is not safe, Mr. Employer. Make sure it is," which is what we are doing on this floor.

The HEROES Act allocates $175 billion to help renters and homeowners afford their monthly payments and utility bills as they deal with lost incomes.

Why did they deal with lost income? Because we shut the government down. I mean the Governors and the President shut it down to try to defeat this virus. Very frankly, we are wearing masks to try to defeat this virus. It is a different environment.

It increases SNAP benefits by 15 percent to help those facing hunger. All of us have seen these long lines in our districts of people who are fearful that they won't have food to put on their tables. It is time to act today for those people.

It protects our democracy by allocating additional resources to protect the 2020 Census and secure our elections as well as ensuring the Postal Service provides its essential service.

Mr. Speaker, as this crisis continues, the HEROES Act will provide direct payments to give additional help to those who, through no fault of their own, are struggling to pay their bills and support their families now—not tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow but now. It extends for 6 additional months the unemployment compensation program created under the CARES Act, including its additional $600 per week and expanded eligibility to the self-employed, contract workers, and gig workers, while providing needed funding to State agencies to handle the historic influx of new unemployment claims. They are overwhelmed, and they need help now.

It strengthens the Payroll Protection Program by making sure it can benefit underserved communities and non-profits of any size as well as provides $10 billion toward small business loans through the EIDL program.

This bill protects the independence of inspectors general. That is an important aspect for the American people, so they can still strengthen oversight without the fear of reprisals from this administration. Mr. Fine was fired, essentially, because they feared his neutrality and fairness.

The HEROES Act also protects healthcare coverage by expanding

COBRA subsidies so people have their health insurance by allowing a special open enrollment period in the Federal and State health insurance marketplace created under the Affordable Care Act.

Mr. Speaker, this is the legislation that the American people need as they face this crisis. It is a bold response to an unprecedented challenge.

So far, up to this time, we have demonstrated unity in responding to those people who have been hurt so badly. I tell my Republican colleagues, with all due respect, it is not time to abandon them now. So, hopefully, we will reestablish that unity. Again, I point out it was not us who didn't come to the table. It was our Republican friends who said: Not now. Let's wait. Let's let some time go by.

In the HEROES Act, we can say in one voice to the American people: We are in this together, you and us, you and the Congress of the United States.

When the House passes this bill, I urge the Senate to work with us and with the White House. Some people say this bill won't pass in this fashion. I think that is probably right. But we have set forth proposals. It is time, and hopefully, we will do it quickly, negotiate our differences, and pass legislation to help those people without their jobs, faced with rent, faced with mortgage payments, and faced with paying their bills. Let's make sure they know that we are in this together with them.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to vote "yes." Vote for the American people.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from California (Mr. RUIZ).

Mr. RUIZ. Mr. Speaker, this is an unprecedented crisis that requires an unprecedented, bold response.

The HEROES Act will support workers, families, hospitals, and cities in my district struggling to get by with: direct payments for families; extended unemployment benefits; vital funding for police, firefighters, teachers, cities, and Tribal governments; and investment in testing, tracing, and treating coronavirus so we can safely get our country back to work.

The American people can't wait for their savings to run dry and their businesses to go bankrupt. Vote "yes" today for the HEROES Act to bring relief to American families as we mitigate this health crisis.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentlewoman from Michigan (Ms. TLAIB).

Ms. TLAIB. Mr. Speaker, access to clean water and to affordable water is essential to saving lives and stopping the spread of COVID-19. No one deserves, Mr. Speaker, to die because they are too poor to afford water.

In my district alone, thousands of low-income households began this pandemic with their water shut off. Just think about it. You are being told to wash your hands 10 times a day but you can't have access. In the richest country in the world, 15 million people cannot wash their hands during this pandemic.

I thank my colleagues for supporting this bill.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. MALINOWSKI).

Mr. MALINOWSKI. Mr. Speaker, I will vote "yes" on the HEROES Act today because it will help the small towns I represent and keep our first responders on the job. I wish that my colleagues would listen to the Republican and Democratic local leaders who are pleading with us to do that.

I will vote "yes" because it pays for the testing we desperately need to go back to work safely.

I will vote "yes" because it will help every American exercise our right to vote without jeopardizing our right to life.

I don't expect Senator McCONNELL to agree with everything in this bill, but the time has come for him to start negotiating and find common ground.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentlewoman from Florida (Ms. MUCARSEL-POWELL).

Ms. MUCARSEL-POWELL. Mr. Speaker, I can't believe what I am hearing, that this bill is political, that we have to wait, and that our constituents don't need help. I want my colleagues on the other side to tell my constituents in Florida who can't access their unemployment benefits that they have to wait. Tell the people who don't have food to feed their families that they have to wait.

Each day that we delay, our constituents don't get the help they need. This is a bipartisan bill, and local municipalities are in dire need of those funds. Monroe County and Miami-Dade County are going to get the money they need to pay for our heroes—firefighters, teachers, and educators.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. BLUMENAUER).

Mr. BLUMENAUER. Mr. Speaker, as we face a challenge even greater than the Great Depression, it is imperative that we pass the HEROES Act today and then continue to fight.

Next, I hope we tailor a specific plan to rescue America's 500,000 neighborhood restaurants and their 11 million workers. Without action soon, 80 percent of them will go out of business this year, causing not just more economic loss and unemployment but irreparable damage to every community and every neighborhood in America.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from California (Mr. COSTA).

Mr. COSTA. Mr. Speaker, the HEROES Act legislation is vital to the health of the San Joaquin Valley and throughout the country by providing funding for much-needed medical education.

It provides funding to protect farmers and farmworkers and our food supply chain that has been turned upside down. Ag markets have shrunk, and for some, they have entirely disappeared. We need to provide support to ensure a true safety net is in place for American agriculture.

Our food supply is truly a national security issue. This has never been more evident than during this healthcare crisis.

I stand ready to work with my colleagues in both the House and the Senate to arrive at a bipartisan compromise.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

□ 1800

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. JUDY CHU).

Ms. JUDY CHU of California. Mr. Speaker, as businesses, families, and entire communities struggle, Congress must step up. The HEROES Act does just that, helping us through this crisis.

Our priority is a healthy economy, but there is none without healthy workers. So this bill ensures a plan for testing and contact tracing.

State and local governments will be able to pay workers on the front lines. Families will be able to get help to survive unemployment, stay in their homes, and keep their small businesses alive.

Mr. Speaker, we cannot afford to wait one minute longer.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, before I proceed, may I inquire how much time each side has remaining.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentlewoman from New York has 2½ minutes remaining. The gentleman from Oklahoma has 4¾ minutes remaining.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 30 seconds to the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. MFUME).

Mr. MFUME. Mr. Speaker, we have had a lot of talk on this floor about this bill and people pointing fingers and saying: It doesn't do this.

What it does do, though, is to provide real support for American heroes: our cops, our teachers, our firemen, our first responders, our State and local governments.

And this is not a Democratic effort. This is an effort that is supported by Republicans, and somebody needs to say that: Republican Governors, Republican mayors, and there will be Republican Members on that side of the aisle who vote for this bill because it is the right thing. It provides testing, and it provides a way out for our heroes.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I am prepared to close, and I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, I begin by thanking my good friend, the distinguished chairwoman of the Committee on Appropriations, for the debate, and I thank her for her very good work.

We have in front of us a product that, obviously, on this side of the aisle, we don't agree with. We do not believe we were included in the process. Frankly, this was unveiled without any bipartisan discussions. The Senate has already indicated it is not going to be taken up over there. The President has already indicated that he has a veto threat.

There are certainly elements in this bill that I can support. I want to commend my friend. Some of their work on Tribal issues was very, very impressive. There are other elements there; there are things we can work on together in this bill.

But my friends understand, as I think the fundamental reality, the Democratic House, they have every right to pass anything they want to pass. And there is a lot in this bill I disagree with, but I respect their right to move it across the floor.

But you have to recognize the political reality as well, Mr. Speaker. This bill is not going to be accepted in the United States Senate. This bill is not going to be signed by the President of the United States.

I would suggest, rather than pointing fingers at one another and disagreeing—and we do that on both sides of the aisle on occasion—that we do what we did recently. We worked together extremely well. My friend, the chairwoman, had a lot to do with that. We provided unprecedented relief to the American people in an extraordinarily short period of time and did it with almost no partisan dissent on this floor.

Sadly, that will not be what we see today. But because we don't do it today doesn't mean we can't do it or begin to do it tomorrow or later. But it will not succeed this way at the end of the day.

I have been exactly where my friends are sitting right now. I have been in this House when we had a Republican majority in the House and a Democratic Senate and a Democratic President, and we passed a lot of things that weren't acceptable to that Democratic Senate and would never have been signed by that Democratic President. Sometimes you want to do that to make a point.

This is not the time to make a point, Mr. Speaker. We are in the middle of a crisis. We need to work together. We have shown we can work together. We should actually take a great deal of pride in that, and we should go back and cooperate and move forward that way.

This vehicle will not pass. There are elements in it, working with Republicans, that could pass. There are lots of other things in here that aren't going to. And the reality is we don't have a lot of time.

I actually agree with my friends in the sense that we are in a crisis situation. It is important that the country see us act, but it is important that we act together. We have done it in a matter of weeks. We can do it again.

Mr. Speaker, I will just end on a hopeful note.

We can have this exercise today. I do look on it as a partisan exercise. I do look on it as a messaging exercise. I don't look on it as a serious effort to legislate. Serious efforts to legislate in divided government require consultation and inclusion with the other party.

In this Chamber, that means—sadly for my friends in the majority—you have to deal with the minority, because your ability to pass here, if anything rolls out of this Chamber with Democrat-only votes, essentially, is just simply not going to have any prospects in the United States Senate. It is never going to be signed by a Republican President.

Mr. Speaker, I commend my friend for all her hard work. I look forward to working with her—as we have so often done in the past—in the weeks ahead, and I hope we can come together, pass additional relief and additional policy changes that help us through this time that has come upon us through no one's fault in this Chamber.

Neither party wished for this to happen. Neither party had anything to do with it happening. And, frankly, when they are at their best, both parties work together to try and confront this crisis.

Mr. Speaker, again, we have done that in recent weeks. I don't think we have forgotten how to do it. So I hope we put this chapter behind us.

I urge rejection of this bill, but I also welcome my friends to the bargaining table and look forward to working with them so that we can come up with a product that not only meets the needs of the American people, but a product that also shows the American people that we can work together and put their good above all else.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, first of all, I want to say that my friend on the other side of the aisle is my friend. We have worked together. We have faced many challenges. And I do hope that we can face this challenge with direct assistance now because, in my judgment, we cannot wait.

As we close debate, the American people really have heard two visions:

Democrats want to send additional aid to people, to the healthcare system, to students and our heroes. People are suffering. I see it in my district, and I am sure my friends have seen it in their districts.

The Republican vision, which is wait and see, we will do something. The difference, to my friends, I want to make it clear: That is not an option.

Mr. Speaker, 86,000 Americans have died; 36 million have lost their jobs. I see it every day. Just the other day I spoke to friends at a nursing home. Too many people are losing their lives.

Mr. Speaker, today is the day. We have an opportunity to act now. Let's vote "yes."

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Speaker, over the last two months, I have pushed for and strongly supported four comprehensive, bipartisan COVID-19 relief laws.

By enacting those laws, Congress and the President have provided over $3 trillion to meet the challenges posed by the virus and loan guarantees backed by the Federal Reserve have added trillions more to the rescue.

Despite some stark differences of opinion on what constitutes the best federal, state and local response to the pandemic, we have managed to put partisanship aside and seek solutions.

We have rallied for the people we serve—to make our communities safer and to ensure that the tens of millions made unemployed by COVID-19 have a bridge to prosperity again.

Because so many Americans—especially those on the front lines—have sacrificed so much including their own lives to prevent the spread and heal the sick, many are alive today.

Still, the loss of life—and disability suffered by those who have survived—is staggering.

In my state of New Jersey, more than ten thousand people have tragically died so far with more than half of the fatalities suffered by women and men who resided in long term health facilities.

During this unprecedented crisis, there have been serious negotiations with all parties and stakeholders to craft legislation to mitigate the pandemic through an integrated plan to prevent, test and treat.

Much has been done—but much work remains.

As you know, Mr. Speaker, I am a strong believer in principled bipartisanship—especially when faced with a globe-altering pandemic.

At its core, bipartisanship is about respect for others even when there are fundamental disagreements. Bipartisanship is not an end unto itself, but can be a practical, good faith path to understanding different views in order to achieve fair, equitable and sustainable solutions to problems.

More often than not, bipartisanship helps build support and consensus for effective policies.

Despite some harsh rhetoric by some, we have nevertheless managed to put partisanship aside and seek solutions.

Until today.

The bill before us today was crafted in secret with no input from Republicans in either the House or Senate or the White House—it is the quintessential example of a partisan bill.

There were no congressional hearings on new policy initiatives or changes to existing programs or changes to funding levels or what the costs might be for newly created entitlements.

Is there a Congressional Budget Office (CBO) estimate of the cost of H.R. 6800? Nope—it doesn't exist.

We had three days to read H.R. 6800's over 1,800 pages.

I read the bill. I have more questions now than answers.

And I am shocked by an unfair process that disallows revisions to the text or amendments to a $3 trillion bill—the costliest piece of legislation in American history.

I would note parenthetically, that I've sponsored and managed many major bills on this floor. My American Embassy Security Act of 1999 for example was debated on the floor of the House for the better part of a week and we debated over 50 amendments to the bill before it passed the House.

The rule today allows only one amendment to recommit.

H.R. 6800 is unfair, deeply offensive and discriminates against students attending Catholic, other faith-based or private schools.

The U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops and a large number of faith-based school associations wrote each of us last night to convey their "extreme disappointment" that H.R. 6800 "eliminates from eligibility for aid almost all students enrolled by their parents in private schools. This would represent a stark departure from 55 years of precedent under federal education programs such as the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) and the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) and rejects the approach taken by Congress during all emergency relief efforts in memory . . . this is shocking and unprecedented."

H.R. 6800 also reopens the previously enacted CARES Act to restrict emergency services to Catholic, faith-based and other private school students.

That too is unconscionable.

Mr. Speaker, where are the calculations to responsibly justify the need for taxpayer's money, especially since funds provided in previously enacted COVID-19 appropriations laws are not even close to being exhausted?

I am disappointed because I support some key policy initiatives in the legislation including federal assistance at some significant level of funding to state and municipalities—especially those hardest hit like my state and district.

Today I introduced legislation—the New Jersey, New York, and Highly Impacted States COVID-19 Relief Fund Act.

Joined by my good friend and colleague Peter King of New York, the bill appropriates $500 billion in aid to the states, with significant amounts targeted to those with the highest infection rates—like New Jersey and New York.

Specifically, it appropriates:

$280 billion to the states:

$40 billion divided equally among 50 states;

$100 billion awarded based on the state's share of COVID cases provided by CDC data;

$200 billion awarded within 30 days of enactment to all municipalities and counties:

$100 billion to municipalities using a modified CDBG formula:

$750 million to entitlement municipalities (generally defined as those with populations of at least 50,000)

$250 million to non-entitlement municipalities (generally defined as those with populations of less than 50,000). These funds will be awarded to states, which must make awards to non-entitlement cities based solely on population within 30 days of receipt.

Territories—$10 billion for the five territories and the District of Columbia.

Tribes—$10 billion for tribal governments.

Given the death, morbidity and business lockdowns, many states will likely be unable to sustain their operations.

Comprehensive COVID-19 legislation should come to the floor of the House of Representatives for debate and votes after rigorous due diligence to the need and proposed remedies. H.R. 6800 has received no such scrutiny.

It's nearly certain that another COVID-19 bill will be considered by the House and Senate. We've got to get it right next time.

Ms. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to voice my support for the HEROES Act.

Yesterday, another 56,000 North Carolinians filed for unemployment, and 20 lost their lives.

Unfortunately, the public health and economic catastrophes caused by COVID-19 are not over—our families, our small businesses, our essential employees, our front line workers, and our Heroes need relief now.

I'm proud that the HEROES Act contains bills I've worked hard to support:

Emergency funding to keep our most vulnerable students fed and healthy.

Essential health and safety protections and essential pay for our workers who supply our food, deliver our mail and serve our seniors.

Desperately needed funding for housing, cities and states.

Critical student loan debt reliefs.

It's a lot easier to keep an economy moving than try to bring it back from a screeching halt.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, today, I will vote in support of H.R. 6800, the Heroes Act.

With more than 80,000 Americans tragically dead, more than 1.3 million sick, and more than 36 million out of work in the past eight weeks because of the novel coronavirus (COVID-19), there should be no doubt in anyone's mind about the staggering scale of this crisis. It demands extraordinary urgency and action from Congress.

As the Republican-controlled Senate continues to stonewall additional relief legislation, going so far as to say states should just go bankrupt, I am proud that the House has put together an urgently-needed package to protect the lives and livelihoods of the American people from the devastation of the coronavirus crisis. This legislation is not perfect, but it is designed to deliver effective and immediate relief to families and workers in need.

After hearing from dozens of my own local and county officials about the dire need, I am proud that the Heroes Act includes nearly $1 trillion in relief funding to state, local, territorial, and tribal governments. This funding will help our state and local governments pay vital workers like first responders, teachers, and health care workers.

The Heroes Act also puts us on a science-based path to safely reopen the country with billions for testing, contact tracing, research, and treatment, and it grants additional, much-needed relief to hospitals and health care providers. It also ensures that every American can access free coronavirus treatment, and it creates a new special enrollment period for the Affordable Care Act (ACA) exchanges to help the uninsured get coverage.

As Chair of the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee, I authored provisions to strengthen working and travel conditions for those in the transportation sector, including requirements on masks/face coverings for workers and passengers on commercial U.S. flights, Amtrak trains, and certain public transit. I was also able to secure language to increase the federal cost share for emergency declarations under FEMA to 100 percent federal so state and local governments aren't saddled with extra bills as their own budgets are hammered by this crisis. I also worked with Chairman Pallone to include provisions to provide financial assistance to low-income and other adversely affected consumers to assist with payments for drinking water and wastewater expenses during the pandemic.

With millions of essential workers on the frontlines every day, I am pleased that this legislation would strengthen safety measures by mandating a strong, enforceable workplace safety standard from the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA). This legislation would also ensure that these frontline, essential workers receive well-deserved hazard pay.

The Heroes Act also includes vital, direct relief to millions of Americans, including additional direct impact payments, critical supports to assist renters and homeowners with making monthly rent and mortgage payments, expansion of our nation's nutrition programs as families continue to line up at food banks, debt reduction for student borrowers who are facing economic distress as a result of the crisis, and an extension of vital safety-net unemployment benefits through January.

This legislation also makes critical fixes to the Payroll Protection Program and resolves many of the challenges and flexibility issues Tribal communities are encountering when using federal relief funding. The Heroes Act also provides $25 billion to preserve the U.S. Postal Service and blocks the Trump administration's attempts to cripple this essential service, while also including protections for our democracy with critical new resources to expand voting access and ensure safe elections during this pandemic. Americans should never have to choose between their health and their fundamental right to vote.

While I am strongly supportive of these and other provisions in the Heroes Act, I believe this legislation could have included proposals which would deliver more effective, streamlined, and accountable relief by keeping employees tied to their employers.

One such proposal is the Paycheck Guarantee Act (PGA), which I believe is more comprehensive than an expansion of the Employee Retention Tax Credit and is estimated to save the government billions of dollars. Similar to the airline relief provisions in the CARES Act that I authored, I believe the PGA would largely end mass layoffs, keep workers paid and connected to their health care and other benefits, prevent employers of all sizes from being forced to close permanently, and ensure that the economy is ready to restart when the pandemic ends.

Additionally, at least 27 million Americans have lost their employer-based health insurance due to layoffs or furloughs during the pandemic. While I believe it is important that the Heroes Act would allow many of these individuals to maintain their insurance through COBRA subsidies, there are millions more laid-off Americans who would remain uninsured because they were not fortunate enough to have employer-sponsored health care before the pandemic. That's why I support an expansion of Medicare, which would help ensure that everyone has access to health insurance during and after this pandemic, regardless of their employment status or employer-based benefits.

I am also disappointed that this legislation does not include the $26 billion my colleagues and I had pushed to allow extension of grant research funding. Right now, the grant funding continues to flow, but because of the public health risks due to COVID, many researchers are not able to perform their research before the grant period ends, threatening their employment. While it does include $4.2 billion, the lack of more robust funding will mean researchers in my district in Oregon will lose funding for their projects, and, ultimately, their jobs.

However, it is abundantly clear that there is a need for Congress to act immediately to deliver robust aid to the American people. The Heroes Act is a critical step in our nation's recovery, and I urge our Senate colleagues to waste no time in taking up this vital legislation. We must act—any delay will cause unnecessary and avoidable harm to our fellow citizens.

Ms. ESHOO. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 6800, the Health and Economic Recovery Omnibus Emergency Solutions (HEROES) Act. Once again the Democratic House is leading the way by advancing a historic legislative package to support our nation's heroes and every day Americans who are essential to meet the challenges of COVID-19.

Since the first coronavirus death in the U.S. in February, over 80,000 Americans have lost their lives to COVID-19, more than 1.4 million Americans have been infected, and 36 million Americans have filed for unemployment. Workers, families, health care providers and students are all hurting because their financial wellbeing, employment status and health are being tested by the coronavirus.

The HEROES Act builds on the critical investments Congress made since this public health and economic emergency began. We passed a bipartisan $8.3 billion funding package on March 4th to strengthen our nation's public health response to the coronavirus. A week later we passed the bipartisan Families First Act, which provided tens of billions of dollars to help working families and provide free coronavirus testing to anyone who needed one. At the end of March, we passed the largest aid package in American history, the bipartisan CARES Act, to fund health care providers; provide an additional $600 per week in Unemployment Insurance; and funding for small businesses to retain their employees. On April 4th we replenished the Paycheck Protection Program and advanced a national testing strategy.

The HEROES Act goes further than any legislation passed to date by providing desperately needed financial support to families, workers, and those who are risking their lives to perform essential jobs. It includes support for states, tribes, and local governments who are working to contain the pandemic, and the legislation guarantees that no American will go bankrupt paying for treatment related to COVID-19. It mandates workplace standards and protections for front line health care workers, and it protects our most vulnerable in nursing homes by creating a 'strike force' to manage infection and reduce the spread of COVID-19. Importantly, the bill also funds the U.S. Postal Service and requires all states to provide no-excuse voting by mail for November's election. As we work to provide health care resources, we must protect constitutionally mandated elections and the health of our democracy.

Specifically, the HEROES Act includes:

An additional round of $1,200 stimulus payments to every American making less than $75,000.

A Heroes' Fund for essential workers, with $200 billion to ensure that those who risk their lives for others during the pandemic receive hazard pay.

$4.5 billion for research and development of vaccines and therapeutics, with a focus on improving our nation's domestic manufacturing capacity.

$75 billion for testing, contact tracing and other COVID-19 monitoring and suppressing activities.

An additional $100 billion for health care providers who have lost revenue or experienced increases in costs related to COVID-19.

$500 billion to states to cover lost revenues due to the pandemic. The State of California is projected to receive more than $47 billion, and local governments will receive $375 billion to cover lost revenues due to the pandemic in two installments. This funding will be a lifeline to local governments providing critical services including much of the social safety net.

An increase to the minimum and maximum SNAP benefits. The bill rescinds work requirements and Trump Administration regulations that limit eligibility for SNAP.

I'm especially proud that the HEROES Act includes many of my legislative priorities. The legislation requires the FDA to report foreign drug manufacturing sites and the volume of drugs manufactured overseas, and it authorizes the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine to convene a commission to report to Congress in 90 days on how to best bring the manufacturing of critical drugs and devices back to the U.S. Legislation I authored to allow the Strategic National Stockpile to sell soon-to-be expired products to other governmental agencies and an expansion of the Federal Communication Commission's telehealth program are also included. The HEROES Act also includes a study on the short and long-term health impacts of COVID-19 because we have much more to learn about the effects of this novel virus on the human body.

The HEROES Act will not be the last legislation to address the public health and economic disaster wrought by coronavirus, but it's essential for the House to move expeditiously to stabilize our cascading economy, protect front line workers, help struggling families, and assist our state and local governments, and our health care providers so they can continue their heroic work.

I'm proud to support this legislation to help the American people in one of our nation's most crucial hours of need and I urge my colleagues to vote for the HEROES Act.

Mr. DANNY K. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, once again, the persistent disparities in our society, our physical well-being, and our economy have emerged with brutal clarity under the impact of the coronavirus. The pandemic's devastation on the least secure is widespread across multiple facets of life and profound in impact.

I strongly support the Heroes Act because it will target significant emergency assistance to improve well-being and help meet basic needs of some of those who are hardest hit by the pandemic. It is designed to get this critical aid to the local level quickly, prioritizing people who may not be receiving other help and entities with demonstrated success in helping individuals most in need.

Before the pandemic, my constituents struggled with poverty. Almost one-third of children in my District live in poverty, almost one-fifth of adults in my District over 18 have income below the poverty level, and one-quarter taxfilers in my District were low-income working parents. The pandemic and national crisis exacerbated the income inequality, hunger, and housing insecurity; in addition, the African American and Latinx communities have disproportionately lost their lives due to these persistent disparities in our society that so many took for granted.

As a Member of the Committee on Ways and Means and as Chairman of the Subcommittee on Worker & Family Support, I am proud of the policies providing critical supports, including:

A second round of more generous direct payments—up to $6,000 per family—to help individuals and families pay for food and housing;

Extension of the $600 federal unemployment payments through January 2021 recognizing that workers will face a job market unlike anything our country has experienced;

Modernization of key work and child tax credits to improve the economic well-being, reduce poverty, and increase labor-force participation of millions of workers;

$850 million for child and family care for essential workers;

$100 million to strengthen vulnerable children and families via home visiting;

Substantial investment in public health via coverage for people, help for physicians and hospitals, and free treatment; and Stabilization of multiemployer and single employer pension plans to protect retirees.

I applaud the investments in food security, housing assistance, small business assistance, help for non-profits, broadband, tribes, veterans, tribes, and our democracy.

I am thankful that this bill includes bills that I have championed—the expansion of the Earned Income Tax Credit for childless workers, foster youth, and homeless youth; the modernization of the Child and Dependent Care Tax Credit; investments in family care for essential workers and home visiting to support vulnerable children and families; assistance for foster youth; and the protection of vulnerable students from tax bills from emergency education grants.

This is an expansive bill. It is an expansive bill to meet a unprecedented challenge affecting everyone in our country. The last hearing that I chaired before we began remote working focused on reducing child poverty. We must not lose sight of that goal. We know how pernicious and devastating childhood poverty is. I am proud that this bill advances policies to reduce child poverty and strengthen the economical well-being of families. I am proud that this bill invests in strengthening our communities and businesses so that we can all come out of this crisis stronger. This is an historic bill, and I urge my colleagues to support the bill.

Mr. KILDEE. Mr. Speaker, I would also like to thank my colleagues for adding additional funding for our nation's tribal governments. This bill adds $20 billion to aid tribal governments who have been devastated by this pandemic, including tribes in my home state of Michigan. It is critical that tribal governments be given the flexibility to spend this money in a way that addresses the health and economic challenges they have endured. In many parts of Indian Country, tribes are among the largest employers of non-natives in their communities. We must ensure that tribal governments have the financial support to address the needs of their tribal members and those who are employed by the tribes.

I am also pleased that language was included in this bill that would ensure these federal dollars would only go to the 574 federally-recognized tribes. I want to thank my colleagues and Speaker Pelosi for including these provisions in this legislation.

Ms. GARCIA of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I'm proud to be supporting the Heroes Act.

This bill will provide $1 trillion to state and local governments on the frontlines of this pandemic to retain essential workers on payroll.

It will give much needed relief to renters and homeowners at risk of losing their homes.

It will finally give direct payments to all taxpayers, including workers with Individual Taxpayer Identification Numbers and eligible individuals from mixed-status families.

It will help families continue putting food on the table.

And I am particularly proud that it includes my bill, which would set aside 10 percent of Paycheck Protection Program funds for minority and community lenders that lend to the smallest businesses.

The American people need help now.

We cannot wait to act.

I urge all my colleagues to vote for this bill, which will help local and state governments, essential workers, families, and small businesses across America.

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Mr. Speaker, during this time of unprecedented crisis of Wuhan Virus, our families, small businesses, and hospitals need support now to maintain jobs, more than ever. Unfortunately, the Democrats have ignored any bipartisan effort to fight with families and jobs. Instead, we have the largest stimulus package yet, a $3 trillion wish list that partisan House Democrats have put forward by themselves. This massive, partisan bill has truly shown that they will let no crisis go to waste.

While millions of Americans are out of work and our families are attempting to recover, Democrats are mortgaging the future of younger Americans. Our children and grandchildren will be the ones paying the bill. Now is the time for Congress to work together to help our families recover from the coronavirus pandemic, I will be voting "no" on this legislation. This bill should never become law.

In conclusion, God Bless our Troops, and we will never forget September 11th in the Global War on Terrorism.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I am proud to support H.R. 6800, the HEROES Act, an urgently needed response to the COVID-19 pandemic designed to protect the lives and livelihoods of the American people while preserving the integrity of our democratic institutions on which our nation relies.

Among its provisions are those that will ensure our 2020 decennial Census is full, fair, and accurate. This bill grants the Administration's request to extend data delivery deadlines for apportionment and redistricting, while requiring greater transparency from the Census Bureau to Congress on the schedule and progress of 2020 Census operations.

These provisions also grant colleges and universities the flexibility to respond on behalf of their students who have been sent home due to the coronavirus. In addition, these provisions would ensure that in preparing and releasing information related to the 2020 Census or redistricting, the Bureau focuses its efforts on information that is being collected in the 2020 Census, without distractions or unnecessary diversion of resources from new, potentially inaccurate data products that are not required by federal law.

These provisions would require the Bureau to maintain high standards of data quality. To be clear, none of these provisions are intended to impact or interfere with the Census Bureau's efforts to protect the personally identifiable information of respondents, as required under Title 13. These provisions are common-sense measures that reflect this difficult and challenging period in our history with the narrowly focused goal of achieving a full, fair and accurate count of all-American residents in the 2020 Census.

I urge my colleagues in the Senate to swiftly consider and pass the HEROES Act so that American families and businesses receive the relief they need while ensuring an accurate 2020 Census.

Ms. LOFGREN. Mr. Speaker, during this unique and difficult time for our nation, I support The Heroes Act to respond to the COVID-19 pandemic and the related economic catastrophe.

This bill will provide relief to my constituents in California's 19th District by providing nearly $1 trillion for state and local governments and the added flexibility to use these funds to address significant revenue shortfalls. The State of California is projecting a $54 billion shortfall through the next fiscal year, and this additional funding and flexibility will help maintain various health and welfare programs as well as keep our teachers, first responders, public health and other essential workers employed.

Throughout the pandemic, more than 3,000 constituents and small business owners have contacted me to share the financial hardships they are facing. The Heroes Act addresses these challenges with a second round of direct payments for individuals and families, an extension of unemployment benefits, and $175 billion for rental and mortgage assistance. Plus, it strengthens the Paycheck Protection Program and expands eligibility to nonprofits of all sizes. The bill also makes key investments in food security by boosting SNAP maximum benefits by 15 percent and nearly doubling the minimum monthly benefit from $16 to $30. The bill provides $25 billion for the Postal Service to prevent its demise during this time when increasing numbers of Americans rely on it as a lifeline to receive medicine and vital materials.

COVID-19 has put an enormous strain on our education system, and this bill provides critical relief for students and schools. Our Santa Clara County institutions of higher education will be eligible for direct emergency funding and billions more will be available for California to support elementary and secondary schools. The Heroes Act also provides $7 billion for childcare providers and extends student loan debt relief.

The Heroes Act is also forward-facing, with $75 billion for testing, tracing, and treatment. California has been following science and medical professionals, and our national plan for reopening must also be strategic and science-based.

As Chair of the Immigration and Citizenship Subcommittee, I authored provisions to provide temporary protections for essential critical immigrant infrastructure workers and help keep detention centers safe. As Chair of the Committee on House Administration, I secured safeguards for our democracy, including funding and protections to ensure elections can be held in 2020. Working with the Chair of the Rules Committee, I helped craft provisions that bring Congress into the 21st Century, which will allow the House to play a full and robust legislative and oversight role during the pandemic.

A crisis of this magnitude requires bold legislative actions, and this bill will provide relief for American workers, families, students, small businesses, and healthcare systems. I vow to continue working with my colleagues in the House and Senate to help jumpstart our economic recovery and address specific community needs during and after this public health emergency.

Mr. KATKO. Mr. Speaker, as the House of Representatives considers further legislation in response to the Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19) pandemic, I rise to call for the equitable distribution of federal relief to tribal nations. Despite the dire impact this crisis has had on tribes in my district in Central New York, these communities have been underserved by current distribution mechanisms for federal relief.

In March, Congress passed the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act to address the significant public health and economic impacts of the ongoing pandemic. Critically, this legislation allocated $8 billion for payments to tribal nations in response to increased expenses and revenue shortfalls caused by COVID-19. These funds are critical to helping tribal governments maintain essential services during this crisis, however, the population-based distribution model currently being used by the U.S. Treasury has limited relief for tribes in my district.

Across New York State, the COVID-19 pandemic has closed the doors of many economic enterprises operated by tribal nations. With these conditions likely to persist in the months ahead, tribes will face sustained shortfalls in revenue typically used to maintain health care, nutrition, education and public safety services for their communities. The costs of disruption are especially dire for tribes with relatively smaller populations, which have received limited support under the current allocation formula for CARES Act funding despite facing a virtual cessation of economic activity.

To address this disparity, economic impact must be accounted for in any additional relief provided by Congress or the Administration to our nation's tribes. For example, utilizing available information such as employment or expenditure data would help to ensure substantive federal support for tribes of all sizes. These efforts would represent a critical step in ensuring the wellbeing of tribal communities in Central New York and across the country.

Ms. HAALAND. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of the Heroes Act.

When I talk to families in New Mexico, they're sharing their concerns, fears, and struggles. They're afraid of losing their homes, struggling to buy food, and can't afford healthcare and medicine.

I've been there. I know what it's like to live paycheck to paycheck, to care for a child on a limited income, and worry for an elderly parent who is in a senior community right now.

The Trump Administration's failure to begin widespread testing has caused heartbreak and economic stress for our families.

This pandemic has laid bare the disparities that already existed in this country.

Two sisters on the Navajo Nation who dedicated their lives to helping others contracted coronavirus, didn't get treatment in time, and died. Their sons will now go through life without their mothers.

Gladys Pineda, a single mom in my district, lost her job in homecare. She didn't qualify for assistance because of her immigration status—this bill will fix that.

Heroes come in all forms—they're hospital workers keeping our families healthy, grocery clerks stocking store shelves, teachers teaching remotely, and families staying home to protect elders and their communities.

The Heroes Act will provide economic stability so our communities can begin the long road of recovery from this public health emergency.

The families worried about housing security and utility shutoffs will have direct payments to help get through this tough time.

Children in the homework gap will benefit from an investment in broadband internet connectivity.

Small businesses will have access to a stronger Payroll Protection Program and emergency grants that will reach underserved communities and nonprofits of all sizes.

We're investing in testing, tracing, and treatment to promote a safe and responsible reopening.

Essential workers will get protection and hazard pay for the risks they're taking and help for childcare and other dependent care.

We know that state, local and tribal governments are doing everything they can, but they're stretched thin, which is why I worked so hard to include flexible and retroactive funding in this bill.

It means firefighters stay on the job, police officers don't get furloughed, and the services cities provide remain intact for our families.

As this pandemic impacts our democracy, we're making sure every voter has access to the ballot box and every person in this country is counted in the Census.

We're keeping the Postal Service open so every vote counts, medications get delivered, and rural businesses have support.

We're boosting funding for the Census and delaying the count so every person has the opportunity to fill out their Census form.

I heard from a dad in my district whose son serves in the military. He and his family were stuck in the middle of a move when the Defense Department issued its stop movement order. Many military families had to pay two sets of bills.

The Heroes Act includes provisions I fought for to allow these servicemembers to cancel leases and contracts without penalty.

In my home state of New Mexico, Native Americans make up just 11 percent of the population but over half of the coronavirus cases.

The HEROES Act takes important steps to address this disparity by providing $20 billion for Tribal governments; addressing tribal business concerns on PPP loans; and boosting funding for many Indian Health Service programs.

I'm sure we all can think of more things we would like in this bill or things we might have done differently. For example, I've heard from some unions that have concerns about the way this bill goes about the important task of shoring up multiemployer pensions.

As this bill and others move forward, I will continue to fight for the priorities that were left out and work with my colleagues to review and debate those on which there is disagreement.

To those who are saying that we don't need this legislation, I want you to think about the two sisters who died on the Navajo Nation, or the person who checks you out at the grocery store, and the thousands of people who are struggling right now.

American families are worth it, and we need to pass this bill.

Ms. DEGETTE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of the Heroes Act.

This pandemic is a crisis unlike any we've seen in our lifetimes.

In the last two months, more than 84,000 Americans have died, more than 1.4 million have tested positive for coronavirus, and more than 36 million hardworking men and women have lost their jobs and livelihoods.

We know that unprecedented problems call for unprecedented solutions. And the bill before us today is exactly the type of bold legislation that a crisis of this magnitude requires.

Most importantly, this legislation builds on our science-based approach to safely reopening our country.

It's clear that we cannot fix our economic crisis without fixing our public health crisis.

Until we have robust national testing and contact tracing system in place, Americans will not feel comfortable returning to work, schools, restaurants, or businesses at pre-pandemic levels.

The Heroes Act commits another $75 billion for testing, tracing and treatment. And it will help ensure that no one has to choose between putting food on the table or paying for the cost of coronavirus treatment.

This legislation also brings much-needed economic relief to our state, local, and tribal governments on the frontlines of this crisis.

By allocating nearly $1 trillion to local communities, the bill will ensure that teachers, firefighters, first responders, and other essential workers are able to remain on the job. And it will establish a $200 billion fund to ensure that these frontline heroes receive the hazard pay they deserve.

Additionally, the legislation includes my bill to make state and local governments eligible for paid leave payroll tax credits for workers affected by the coronavirus. Without these tax credits, the costs of providing paid leave could undermine successful local coronavirus responses at a time when budgets are already strained due to reduced tax revenues caused by the economic fallout of the pandemic.

As I have advocated for many weeks, we must put more money in the pockets of workers and families. The Heroes Act would provide a second round of direct payments to families, new payroll protection measures, and extended unemployment payments.

It would also provide greater health security through COBRA subsidies and a special health care enrollment period, stronger workplace protections, housing security and enhanced food assistance benefits.

Some on the other side of the aisle have accused us of thinking too big with this package.

But this is not a time to think small. Now more than ever, we must come together and take big, bold action to protect our communities from this unprecedented crisis.

I've spoken to teachers and firefighters in my community who are worried about losing their jobs because of state budget deficits. I've heard from countless small business owners who fear bankruptcy. And I've received thousands of emails from people scared to return to work because of inadequate testing.

Like those in my community, Americans across the country are looking to us for solutions. And that's what is in this bill.

Let's put politics aside. Let's do what's right for the American people. And let's pass this Heroes Act on behalf of all those who are hurting.

Mrs. TORRES of California. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank my colleagues for their consistent support of tribal governments. I also want to thank Speaker PELOSI and Chairwoman LOWEY. They have demonstrated a deep commitment to these important issues. Without their personal attention and support, this historic investment in Indian country would not be possible.

This is an issue that is deeply important to me because Covid-19 has taken a disproportionate toll on Native American communities. Historic inequities in health and infrastructure have resulted in extremely high infection rates on many reservations across our country. We must act, and I am proud to say, we are voting today to support Indian Country through the HEROES Act.

As a member of the Financial Services and General Government Subcommittee of the Appropriations Committee, I want to highlight four of the most significant tribal provisions in this bill that fall under our jurisdiction.

First, we doubled down on the investment in tribal governments by adding an additional $20 billion to the Coronavirus Relief Fund for tribes. This additional relief will provide the necessary funding to support tribal governments as they cope with the devastating effects of the pandemic.

Next, we made sure that the funding allocated to tribal governments actually goes to tribal governments. We did this by clarifying that only federally recognized tribal governments listed in the Federal Register are eligible for this funding. This was critical, and it was done to ensure compliance with a recent court order.

We also made sure that tribes—as well as state and local governments—had the discretion to use this funding flexibly. This will ensure that tribal governments can cover any cost and revenue losses associated with Covid-19.

Finally, we made sure that 100 percent of the funds appropriated for tribes from the Corona virus Relief Funds will stay in Indian Country. We did this by clarifying that the Department must reallocate any funds it claws back through enforcement action to other tribal governments. A year from now, we don't want the administration to balance their budget on the backs of Indian Country.

There is one other critical provision that I want to highlight. This bill rejects the allocation formula used by Treasury thus far. It requires a new consultation with Interior and Tribal Governments. That's because the Department has so far only relied on a deeply inequitable formula that ignores the economic impact of Covid-19. In California, this resulted in many of the smallest allocations going to the tribal governments that have spent the most to support their employees and fight Covid-19. Comparatively, many of those tribes that are least impacted economically received the highest allocations. This must be remedied as soon as possible, and it is my hope that after additional consultation, Treasury will understand that future funds must be allocated to tribal governments primarily based on economic factors such as total governmental and enterprise expenditures in 2019 or wages paid to employees as measured by quarterly IRS Form 941s.

Mr. Speaker, in this unprecedented time we face a question: will we use this pandemic as an excuse to walk away from our treaty and trust obligations to the indigenous peoples of this country? Or, will we rise to the occasion and make a clear statement that this country values our diversity and our commitments, and invest in the communities that need it most. I am proud to stand with our tribal nations in this difficult moment, and I urge my colleague to support this bill.

Mr. POSEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in opposition to H.R. 6800.

A short time ago we were experiencing the greatest economic growth our nation has ever seen, businesses expanding, record low unemployment, more prosperity for Americans across the board. Suddenly we find our nation thrust into a major health crisis, a pandemic caused by a coronavirus outbreak which began in Wuhan, China. Today, we have lost more than eighty thousand Americans from the virus and our economy is struggling as nearly thirty million Americans have lost their jobs.

Early on we took steps as a nation, and in each state, to suspend economic activity in order to slow the spread of the pandemic to keep our health care system from being overwhelmed and that worked.

Hopefully many of the millions of job losses are only temporary, but some will be permanent losses. The longer the economy stays locked up, the more likely we are to lose these jobs permanently.

Most of the states are focusing on safely reopening in a manner that prevents outbreaks that would overwhelm the health care systems. Washington's focus should be on finding ways to support those efforts so that Americans can safely return to work and get our economy working again.

Unfortunately, the $3 trillion, 1,800-page bill before us today fails to focus on a path for a working economy. Instead, Speaker PELOSI's bill, written behind closed doors and with little input from the other 434 Members of Congress, perpetuates "stay at home" as far as the eye can see. That is an unsustainable path. No nation ever has, or ever will, survive unless we work toward getting Americans back to work.

PELOSI's bill provides $1 trillion dollars to bail out poorly run, indebted states and local governments. It is fundamentally wrong to use this pandemic as an opportunity to exploit Florida taxpayers, forcing them to bail out New York, Detroit, Chicago, California and other states and localities that are in debt because the politicians they elected over decades made bad budget decisions.

At a time when millions of American workers have lost jobs this bill provides billions of dollars in stimulus checks to illegal immigrants, grants amnesty and lifts immigration caps. That is counterproductive and will delay economic recovery and wage growth. This bill also asserts federal control over states elections and overturns long-standing law preventing taxpayer funding of elective abortions. Across its 1,800 pages are 65 references to 'cannabis.'

This $3 trillion deficit spending bill does little to get Americans back to work, assist first responders, or defeat the pandemic. Americans want to get back to work. They want to safely open their businesses, return to their jobs and power-up this economy. They want their freedom. They want their lives back. And they want America to be strong and prosperous. Washington must listen to what Americans are saying rather than dictating from thousands of miles away. We must lead America out of this self-induced coma and back to prosperity.

Mr. GALLEG0. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to add my voice to the chorus recognizing this important fact: tribal governments and Native American citizens are disproportionately impacted by this virus. And the reason they are so vulnerable is the historic failure of this country to live up to its trust and treaty obligations. Obligations like providing strong healthcare, education, and economic opportunities.

Mr. Speaker, the tribal set-aside within the Coronavirus Relief Fund is not nearly adequate to right these historic wrongs, but it will help make sure that tribal governments do not fall even further behind as a result of the pandemic.

The Coronavirus Relief Fund is a lifeline for tribal governments. The Navajo Nation is experiencing one of the worst outbreaks in the entire Country, and Native Americans and Alaska Natives everywhere are more vulnerable to this disease due to chronic lack of health care and higher rates of pre-existing conditions. Additionally, tribal governments without large outbreaks are suffering disproportionate economic harm due to COVID-19 because they lack a tax base to replace lost revenue from shuttered businesses. When tribal governments made the decision to close their doors at tribal enterprises for the sake of public health, they also made the decision to shut off the revenue that supported vital government functions.

That is why the $8 billion we passed in the CARES Act and the $20 billion included in the Heroes Act for a Coronavirus Relief Fund for tribal governments are so essential, and why we must ensure that all Tribes receive the help they need. I am proud that this legislation fixes a number of known challenges with the implementation of the Fund.

First, it clarifies that only federally recognized tribal governments listed in the Federal Register are eligible for this fund. That was always the intent of Congress—a conclusion that has been upheld in a court of law—but it also is common sense.

Second, the bill clarifies that all of the funding allocated to tribal nations must stay with tribal nations. If some Tribes are unable to use their allocated money under the CRF by December 30, 2020, this bill requires Treasury to reallocate those unused funds to Tribal governments whose need was not met. Experience has shown us that the impact of the virus is not even across the nation, and this provision recognizes that fact. Additionally, it is worth noting that the bill also directs Treasury to reallocate any funding that the Inspector General recoups as a result of an audit and clarifies that any funding a tribe returns to Treasury is not subject to interest.

Finally, this bill asks Treasury, the Department of the Interior, and Tribal Governments to once again consult on the allocation of this funding. As Chairman of the Indigenous Peoples Subcommittee, I have heard from dozens of tribal leaders that the allocation process thus far has been flawed. The Administration's decision to strictly adhere to the Indian Housing Block Grant population formula has resulted in dramatically inaccurate counts for many Tribes. To the extent that Treasury feels the need to use population as a factor at all in further allocating this fund, the Heroes Act requires the Department to use population data provided by Tribal governments rather than IHBG.

Further, the fact that the only funds that have been released so far have been based solely on population data has resulted in extreme inequality amongst Tribal Nations, with many of the tribal governments that have endured the most significant economic hardship receiving the least economic support. To rectify this problem, the Department should allocate further funding primarily based on economic factors, as well as ensure that all Tribes receive a stronger baseline of relief than the $100,000 previously announced by Treasury.

I am proud to support this bill and hope that it can be the first step towards keeping our trust responsibilities to Tribes during this crisis and well into the future.

Mr. HOLDING. Mr. Speaker, it has now been seven weeks since the President signed the CARES Act into law to provide crucial relief to small businesses around the country. While these funds have been essential to keeping the doors open for many businesses, I want to draw attention to the entities that remain unable to access the emergency federal funding they desperately need despite providing invaluable community services during this emergency.

Throughout this crisis, YMCAs across the state of North Carolina have been on the front lines, working to ensure essential personnel have the resources and assistance they need. In the last few weeks, the YMCA of the Triangle in Raleigh, NC has provided child care services for over 1,700 healthcare workers and served roughly 50,000 meals to families across the region. In Garner, NC, the Poole Family YMCA has provided stability and care to essential personnel by setting up day camps for their children. Their invaluable efforts are central to ensuring healthcare workers can continue fighting this virus.

Despite their work supporting essential personnel, YMCAs continue to be left out of key federal assistance programs. Under the Paycheck Protection Program (PPP), which Congress passed specifically to help groups like this, affiliated YMCAs that collectively employ over 500 people cannot access funds. As a result, the YMCA of the Triangle and the YMCA of Greater Charlotte have furloughed over 95 percent of their staffs as they continue serving communities at a net loss.

Mr. Speaker, Congress cannot sit idly by as these YMCAs continue operating at a loss. I implore my colleagues to support an adjustment to affiliation rules for the Paycheck Protection Program in the next emergency package to ensure that YMCAs can access the assistance they need regardless of affiliation.

Mr. COURTNEY. Mr. Speaker, today we are voting on the HEROES Act, two days after the Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, Jerome Powell very bluntly stated that the Federal Reserve has exhausted its capacity to maintain liquidity in our financial markets, and that given the severity of this recession, the Congress needs to step up again to provide more fiscal relief to keep this country from going into a tailspin. He went on to say a protracted recession will do far more damage than the cost of the measures we're voting on. He was very explicit—fiscal policy is going to be costly, but the harm that would be done if we undershoot providing relief for individuals, households, and communities will be far more expensive in the long term than if Congress acts in a timely fashion.

This bill does a number of things—it is a lengthy bill, but fundamentally it provides support for states and local communities to keep the lights on in terms of vital public services, and deal with the fact that revenue is collapsing with the economic downturn we are experiencing. The bill includes a bipartisan request from the National Governors Association for $500 billion to states hard hit by the Coronavirus. The State of Connecticut, which has done a great job in terms of shoring up its rainy day fund is going through those funds at a very rapid rate, and this measure will help stabilize state and local finances over two years. Not only is this money just targeting larger municipalities, but also communities of less than 50,000 residents. That's funding directly to small towns like Vernon, where I live, which is a community with 30,000 people, and many of the more than 60 communities in the second Congressional district. This means we can protect our school systems, our public safety programs, and essential services like public works that are the underpinning of economic activity we would be hardpressed to maintain if we don't step in with some real fiscal relief.

There will also be for the first time, a real financial recognition of those workers who throughout this whole ordeal have been deemed essential, have been going to work, and have been keeping this country going. Whether that's health care services like nursing staff in hospitals, janitors, food supply workers, people in meatpacking plants, and in grocery stores that have kept this country fed. It also includes the people who have to go to work as a result of an order from the Pentagon, like the shipyard workers down in Groton, who are specifically enumerated in this bill as being eligible for hazard pay. These workers will be rewarded with premium pay for their essential work, on top of their normal wages, if this bill becomes law.

There are many other important provisions in this bill, from help to the unemployed, to hospitals, to farmers, to further direct assistance to families, all of which are gravely needed. I want to thank the people of the Second district for the strong input that our office has received. It is my hope that this important emergency response effort becomes law.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 6800, the Health and Economic Recovery Omnibus Emergency Solutions (HEROES) Act. Our nation is experiencing unprecedented job loss as our communities deal with a global health pandemic that is responsible for the deaths of more than 85,000 individuals in our country in just the past few months. We cannot wait another day, another week, or another month to take action. Our communities need help now and they are looking to Congress to lead. I'm grateful for the leadership of the House of Representatives, Speaker PELOSI, and our committee chairs and staff for working with us to put together an ambitious bill that will send needed help to individuals and families in the form of an additional direct stimulus payment; to our state and local governments, which are experiencing extreme budget shortfalls; and to our small businesses that are the backbone of our local economies and the heart of our communities. Although I am disappointed that the bill does not include several provisions including ongoing payments for individuals and families, additional funding to support child care, and a strong investment in our workforce systems, among other things, I will support this step forward.

We heard loud and clear from our state and local governments—they need more support to keep our communities safe. This bill includes $915 billion in emergency funding to state and local governments, funding that can be used to help prevent teacher job loss and funding cuts to education and, importantly, the bill expands the use of funds to cover lost, delayed, or decreased revenue from the public health emergency. The HEROES Act also includes $90 billion for the State Fiscal Stabilization Fund that can be used to provide emergency support to students—including Dreamers, who were previously excluded from receiving emergency grants—schools, and institutions of higher education. These funds are critical to supporting public colleges and universities, addressing student mental health needs, and purchasing technology and mobile hotspots to support distance learning. Under this proposal, my home state of Oregon would receive approximately $980 million.

During this public health crisis, no one should have to choose between affording basic needs or making payments on their student loans. The CARES Act suspended involuntary collection like wage garnishment or reduction of Social Security payments for delinquent federally-owned student loans. The HEROES Act follows my recommendation to extend these protections to all borrowers, including those who have privately held student loans.

Building on my earlier efforts to make sure K12 students can access school meals during school closures, this legislation funds school meal and child and adult care food programs with emergency relief that will help schools continue to meet the needs of children and their families. This bill will further help families access nutritious meals by increasing the SNAP benefit level by 15 percent.

I am grateful that this bill provides $7 billion for child care, but this is far from the investment that is needed to support families, providers, and the child care workforce at this critical time. I will continue to fight for significant, additional funding in future relief packages. If child care is not available and affordable, families will not be able to return to work. Additionally, I will continue to fight for additional funding for the Community Services Block Grant program to support the vital anti-poverty work of the more than 1,000 Community Action agencies across this country.

We cannot overcome this virus until we drastically increase our public health efforts. The HEROES Act provides crucial funding to conduct national testing, implement a contact tracing and surveillance strategy, and allow all Americans to seek treatment for COVID-19 without worrying about the cost. The bill also increases support for our frontline health care providers, invests in public health infrastructure, and expands access to health coverage whether employer-provided, publicly supported, or on the open market. The HEROES Act also provides key resources to older adults and people with disabilities. The bill provides an additional $85 million in funding for Older Americans Act (OAA) programs that were reauthorized earlier this year by legislation I was proud to lead. This means more resources for supportive services, nutrition programs, assistive technology, and elder rights protection activities.

The direct payments to individuals in the CARES Act was an important first step, but I know that too many people in Northwest Oregon and across the country need more support during this health and economic crisis. Although this bill does not provide at least $2,000 per month for individuals through the duration of the pandemic, which I advocated for, it does provide a second stimulus payment of $1200 to most individuals and, importantly, it retroactively fixes a problem in CARES and will now extend direct payments to individuals filing with Individual Taxpayer Identification Numbers.

More than 396,000 Oregonians have filed for unemployment insurance in the last two months. I know how important this support is during the pandemic, and I'm working in Congress to strengthen and expedite access to these benefits. The HEROES Act expands the additional $600 in federal benefits added to every weekly unemployment compensation check through January 2021, and it extends eligibility for self-employed individuals, gig economy workers, and independent contractors. This vital economic support must continue until workers can safely get back on the job. Also it is truly unfortunate that, despite the merits of a more comprehensive approach, the HEROES Act does not include the Paycheck Guarantee Act, legislation spearheaded by Congresswoman PRAMILA JAYAPAL. The Paycheck Guarantee Act would allow most individuals to stay on payroll during this national emergency and keep their benefits, and it would also significantly reduce the number of people filing for Unemployment Insurance. I will continue to advocate for creative approaches like the Paycheck Guarantee Act that maximize the benefits to workers and the economy while also reducing bureaucracy.

We need to do more to protect workers from hazardous conditions on the job, and I will keep fighting for workplace protections and personal protective equipment for all workers during the COVID-19 pandemic. I am an original cosponsor of the COVID-19 Every Worker Protection Act, and I'm pleased that it is included in the HEROES Act with additional funding for the Occupational Safety and Health Administration. Protecting essential workers during the pandemic is one of my top priorities. I have also advocated for premium pay for essential workers to recognize their role in sustaining our communities and the sacrifices they are making during the pandemic. The HEROES Act will provide frontline workers who are in contact with patients, the public, or co-workers—including grocery store workers, health care workers, and first responders—with an additional $13 per hour in premium pay on top of regular wages, up to $10,000.

As more communities start to lift stay-at-home orders, all workers need access to paid family, medical, and sick leave benefits. The HEROES Act will help expand access to emergency paid sick leave and emergency paid family and medical leave by eliminating exemptions for health care workers, first responders, workers at businesses with fewer than 50 employees, and workers at businesses with 500 or more employees. And I will keep working with my colleagues to secure permanent paid sick leave and paid family and medical leave for all workers.

I started working at Legal Aid while I attended community college, and learned there that people do not struggle by choice. With our national economy upended, consumers face even greater financial hardships and predatory actors continue to take advantage of people facing this crisis. We should have implemented the strengthened consumer protections in the HEROES Act at the beginning of this crisis, and I have continued calls for their passage. I'm glad that the HEROES Act suspends consumer debt collection during the COVID-19 emergency and for 120 days after the end of the national emergency to make sure consumers can fully recover. I worked with the Congressional Progressive Caucus to make debt collection suspension a priority in relief legislation.

We know that Oregonians are struggling through no fault of their own, and they should not be further harmed financially. Negative credit reporting will be suspended under the HEROES Act for the duration of this crisis and any future national emergencies. This is an essential step to safeguard consumers most affected by the current outbreak. I have also continued to call for medical debt collection and credit reporting suspensions—needed reforms to prevent a hospital visit from destroying the credit of consumers. I am glad to see that medical debt related to coronavirus treatments will not result in adverse credit information; however, we must give consumers the flexibility to settle their medical debt before it shows up on a credit report and we must continue to fight so everyone can access affordable health care.

The HEROES Act also clarifies the intent of the CARES Act by preventing the garnishment, levy, or seizing of direct payment for private debts. I have been a vocal advocate for stopping unfair garnishment and protecting payments like Social Security and other essential earned benefits.

Oregon has strong laws to prevent unfair price hikes during crises like the current pandemic. I am continuing to work with Oregon Attorney General Ellen Rosenblum on ways to expand Oregon's protections to all Americans. It's beneficial that the HEROES Act includes provisions to stop unconscionably excessive prices on necessities like food, hygiene products, personal protective equipment, and health services.

Workforce boards, labor unions, community colleges, community-based organizations, small businesses, and other stakeholders are training health care, direct care, and frontline workers, but they are in desperate need of more resources. I am pleased that the HEROES Act includes $2.5 billion for adult education, youth training, dislocated worker grants, migrant and seasonal farmworker programs, and public health worker recruitment and training as authorized in the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act, but this funding is insufficient to meet the scale of the crisis at hand. For comparison, the American Reinvestment and Recovery Act provided more than $7.7 billion in workforce funding. To respond to the economic consequences of the coronavirus pandemic, we need at least $15.1 billion in supplemental federal investments to help prevent further layoffs and provide dislocated workers and employers with access to employment services like training, career navigation, and supportive services. I will keep working with my colleagues on the Education and Labor Committee to advance the Re-launching America's Workforce Act because the historic unemployment levels over the last two months require an equally historic response to support workers.

No one should be forced to choose between paying their bills and paying for food, but as Oregonians face the ongoing economic consequences of COVID-19, this is becoming a reality for too many working families. This bill includes $175 billion to assist renters and homeowners make monthly rent, mortgage and utility payments, and other housing-related costs. The Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) is an important wrap-around support that helps low-income families pay for heating and cooling bills. The HEROES Act includes another $1.5 billion in supplemental funding for LIHEAP, but many more households will need and likely qualify for assistance in the coming weeks and months. Additionally, as individuals comply with stay-at-home orders across the country during the pandemic, they will likely be using more electricity and heat or air conditioning to keep their homes habitable. As we work to craft the next response package, I will keep fighting for more funding for LIHEAP to provide tangible assistance to families who are struggling to pay their bills. I also advocated for assistance similar to LIHEAP that would help households economically affected by COVID-19 with drinking water and wastewater services during this national emergency. The HEROES Act includes an additional $1.5 billion for this support.

The success of our economic recovery will depend on the success of our small businesses. The Paycheck Protection Program was a good first lifeline for many, but many business owners are concerned about artificial timelines and a lack of flexibility in the program. I'm glad that the HEROES Act will extend the coverage period to the end of 2020 and give businesses additional flexibility while still adhering to local stay-at-home orders that may not allow them to fully open and resume operating for some time to come. The bill would also expand PPP eligibility to additional nonprofit organizations of all types and sizes, as well as provide an additional $10 billion in economic injury disaster grants (EIDL) through the Small Business Administration.

Fisheries are an important part of our economy in Northwest Oregon, and I know that our coastal communities need more assistance to get through these challenging times. The HEROES Act provides an additional $100 million in disaster funding, and I will keep working to secure more direct assistance for fisheries and the domestic seafood supply chain. Northwest Oregon is known for its prestigious specialty crops, and our farmers have been struggling to make ends meet during the pandemic. The HEROES Act will also support our specialty crop farmers by providing $100 million for specialty crop grants and $50 million for support for local farmers markets and other direct to consumer markets.

This bill addresses one of the key shortcomings of previous legislative efforts; the exclusion of individuals from direct economic relief because of their immigration status. The HEROES Act retroactively extends direct payments to mixed-status families and immigrants who file taxes using ITINs, and it expands eligibility for other economic support. It removes barriers to testing, treatment, vaccines, and other health care based solely on immigration status and automatically extends work permits for individuals with DACA or TPS. The bill offers protections from ICE removal and employment authorization for individuals in critical industries, including agricultural workers and meatpackers. It also requires ICE to review its detention policies and find alternatives for individuals not subject to mandatory detention.

Importantly, the HEROES Act strengthens our democratic institutions with new resources to conduct secure, reliable elections using vote-by-mail. Oregonians have used this trusted method of voting for more than twenty years, and it should be implemented nationwide as a simple and safe solution that will increase access while allowing voters to maintain physical distancing measures.

We must act quickly and decisively to curb the spread of COVID-19 and create conditions that will allow us to begin our recovery, but we must also act boldly so our response is sufficient to prevent a widespread resurgence of the virus. We must also not leave behind any segment of our society as we work to repair the immense and harmful economic damage that we see across Oregon and the country. We are all safer and healthier when everyone in our communities is safer and healthier. I commend House leadership for putting forward a proposal that responsibly addresses the desperate need we are currently facing while also acknowledging the potentially disastrous costs of doing too little. I urge all my colleagues to support our nurses, first responders, grocery workers, and all frontline heroes by supporting this legislation.

Ms. ROYBAL-ALLARD. Mr. Speaker,

I strongly support the House Majority's Heroes Act which is a critical and urgent response in our fight to defeat the COVID-19 catastrophe. As the unimaginable toll of this virus continues to mount, an economic disaster is also unfolding in every corner of our country.

The Heroes Act is crucial to our ability to address these unprecedented crises. The bill includes new protections for working and middle-class families during this economic catastrophe by providing for a second round of direct payments of up to $6,000 per household. And it ensures economic stimulus payments for everyone who files a tax return, regardless of immigration status.

Our bill also provides $175 billion to help homeowners and renters make their mortgage and rent payments and new payroll protection measures to keep 60 million workers connected to their jobs. The bill also extends through January 2021, the weekly $600 federal unemployment payments and it requires OSHA to develop standards to make workplaces safe from the virus.

As we keep fighting COVID-19, the Heroes Act provides an additional $75 billion for testing, contact tracing, and treatment that is essential to our ability to save lives, curb the spread of the virus, and reopen our economy.

Furthermore, the Heroes Act provides our frontline heroes with the support and protection they need as they fight COVID-19 to save lives, and protect our communities. This legislation invests over $1 trillion into our states, cities, and towns, to ensure they can continue to pay our frontline personnel, including health workers, police officers, firefighters, transportation workers, farmworkers, and teachers. The bill also establishes a Heroes' Fund to ensure our frontline workers receive hazard pay, and it protects our Postal Service workers who are making deliveries on their routes every day.

In addition, the bill protects many immigrant families by automatically extending work authorization for DACA and TPS recipients. And it protects the health of the public at large by ensuring everyone, regardless of immigration status, has access to free testing, treatment, and services related to COVID-19. The bill also protects essential workers, such as our nation's farmworkers who pick the crops that feed our families, from deportation and it allows undocumented students to access higher education financial relief and it permits naturalization oath ceremonies to be administered remotely.

Our small businesses also get additional support in the Heroes Act. The bill strengthens the Paycheck Protection Program to ensure it reaches underserved communities and nonprofits of all sizes and types. And the bill provides $10 billion for COVID-19 emergency grants through the Economic Injury Disaster Loan program.

I am concerned however with the inclusion of the controversial GROW Act. And I hope this issue can satisfactorily be resolved during our negotiations with the Senate.

Nevertheless, once again, House Democrats are leading the way during this crisis of COVID-19 with legislation that will save lives and put families and workers first.

We have no time to lose. Nearly 90,000 Americans have died from this pandemic. 36 million Americans have filed for unemployment. And as Federal Reserve Chair Jerome Powell said earlier this week, Congress must act now to prevent a deeper and more painful recession.

I urge the Senate and the President to do the right thing and join the House in supporting the Heroes Act to protect the American people, help American workers, and bolster America's economy.

Ms. LOFGREN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 6800, the Heroes Act.

This November, the American people will cast their votes to elect a new government. Americans have voted during times of great strife in the past—during the Civil War, in the midst of the Great Depression, in the shadow of World Wars, and in the wake of terrorist attacks. Americans will stand united to vote this November, as well.

This year, however, we are faced with the unique challenges of a deadly, global viral pandemic which to date has killed more than 80,000 Americans and infected more than one million people in the United States. This emergency has already ground our daily lives and our economy to a halt. While drastic measures put in place have appeared to blunt some of the effects of this pandemic, we nevertheless face the prospect of a resurgence of the coronavirus in the Fall.

Public health experts agree that we must take steps to mitigate risk of the spread of COVID-19. This includes limiting public exposure to the virus by employing strict social distancing measures. These measures must also apply to the administration of our elections. To answer this challenge, the Heroes Act includes important provisions which I have authored to ensure safe and orderly elections in 2020. It appropriates $3.6 billion to assist state and local election officials to put into place much-needed protections for voters and poll workers.

This includes expanding no-excuse absentee vote by mail for every voter who wishes it, and providing 15 consecutive days of early in-person voting to ensure all who prefer or require to vote in person can do so without being forced to contend with overcrowded and potentially dangerous polling locations on election day. In the event of an emergency declaration, and including the COVID-19 pandemic, the bill provides that every registered voter will be mailed an absentee ballot with prepaid return postage so that they may vote from the safety of their homes.

The bill also sets important federal standards to ensure the American people know how, when, and where to vote, how to track their ballot, and it provides an opportunity to cure issues that may arise before their ballot is rejected.

We don't yet know how conditions related to the coronavirus will impact our elections in November, but we do know that we cannot risk imperiling the lives of countless Americans by being unprepared on election day. The right to vote is an essential element of our democracy and Americans should not have to weigh their rights of citizenship against their own health and safety.

The Heroes Act, if enacted, will put into place the necessary measures to allow every eligible voter to participate in our elections in a safe and orderly manner. The stakes are too high to fail to act, and I urge my colleagues to support this important legislation.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. All time for debate has expired.

Pursuant to House Resolution 967, the previous question is ordered on the bill, as amended.

The question is on the engrossment and third reading of the bill.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, and was read the third time.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. RIGGLEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I have a motion to recommit at the desk.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is the gentleman opposed to the bill?

Mr. RIGGLEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am opposed to the bill in its current form.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will report the motion to recommit.

The Clerk read as follows:

Mr. Riggleman moves to recommit the bill H.R. 6800 to the Committee on Ways and Means with instructions to report the same back to the House forthwith with the following amendment:

In subtitle A of title I of division B, strike section 20102.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. RIGGLEMAN) is recognized for 5 minutes in support of his motion.

Mr. RIGGLEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I offer this motion to recommit because Americans across this country are watching the steps we take in Congress.

Millions of Americans need our help and, unfortunately, millions more will lose their jobs if we consider partisan wish list legislation that has no chance of becoming law.

Our Nation continues to battle the COVID-19 pandemic, and the strength and ingenuity of the American spirit has shone forth. We in this Chamber came together to pass the CARES Act, a bipartisan aid package in March of this year.

In times of crisis, Americans should come together, but that togetherness has waned and the bipartisanship has vanished. Masked in darkness and socially distanced from any review or debate, this bill is filled to the brim with progressive agenda items.

Hidden amongst these poison pills is a provision that would change the ID requirement for the CARES Act rebate checks from Social Security number to taxpayer identification number. This switch will allow illegal immigrants and noncitizens to get checks they aren't eligible for.

I didn't think that a global pandemic meant it was time to stop helping American citizens who are desperate for assistance. Now, more than ever, we need to make sure these rebate checks go to Americans who need it.

This motion to recommit shouldn't be controversial. Unauthorized immigrants are not eligible for most Federal benefits, including SNAP, TANF, and most housing assistance programs. They weren't even eligible to receive this money in the first CARES Act.

The reason they are being included now is because this provision is the latest in a grab bag of liberal priorities that Democrats are trying to sneak through in this bill. But not on my watch. That is why I am proud to offer this motion to recommit.

It is time we show Americans that we will stand up and do our jobs in Congress, be the responsible leaders Americans elected us to be, not partisan headline grabbers or those who think messaging bills are more important than sensible legislation for all Americans.

The authors of the bill do not intend for this to become law, make a mockery of our responsibility to govern.

Enough of the messaging bills. Let's stop playing politics and start working on solutions that will help the American people.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all of my colleagues to join me, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from New York is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, as of this morning, nearly 86,000 people in the United States have died from this virus. More than 1.4 million people have been infected, and those are just the cases we know about because of the frontline workers who are risking their lives to test as many people as possible.

Unemployment is at its highest level since the Great Depression. Tens of millions of families are struggling to put food on the table and pay the rent.

If you don't understand the suffering, you haven't been paying attention. Just turn on the TV—or better yet, listen to your constituents. They are demanding two things: facts and action.

No matter what the President tweets, the facts of this pandemic are clear. And no matter whether Senator MCCONNELL sees urgency or not, the time for action is now.

The American people have unprecedented needs, and the Federal Government must step up to the plate, provide the necessary assistance to meet those needs. However, the Republicans are yet again standing in the way of helping people. They are in the same denial that led to the Trump administration's bungling of this virus.

Against the weight of economic expertise, they are saying we need to slow down on spending money. Against the clear desperation of families, they are saying we need to wait and see what happens.

Well, we know what is going to happen. We have seen what is going to happen. We have seen what has happened. There will be more cases tomorrow, more deaths this weekend, more economic hardship next week.

But instead of worrying about these concerns, the only thing Republicans can offer is regurgitated talking points about immigration.

Right now, the American people are focused on their own survival and that of their families.

I want to make it very clear: COVID-19 does not discriminate or differentiate on immigration status. Our country doesn't have time for Republicans to relitigate the culture wars.

Regardless of background or country of origin, we need action today. People are suffering. Every day there are more cases. We need action now without further delay. I strongly oppose the motion to recommit.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to vote "no," and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the previous question is ordered on the motion to recommit.

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 1(c) of rule XIX, further consideration of H.R. 6800 is postponed.

NAYS—199

□ 2124

Mr. ZELDIN changed his vote from “yea” to “nay.”

Ms. TLAIB changed her vote from “nay” to “yea.”

So the bill was passed.

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

Stated for:

Mrs. NAPOLITANO. Madam Speaker, I was absent during roll call vote No. 109. Had I been present, I would have voted “yea” on passage of H.R. 6800—the Heroes Act.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

Mr. DESJARLAIS. Madam Speaker, as a result of my physician’s recommendation to avoid travel as a result of recent knee replacement surgery, I was unable to be in the chamber for votes today. Had I been present, I would have voted “nay” on rollcall No. 105: Previous Question H. Res. 967, “nay” on rollcall No. 106: Passage H. Res. 967, “nay” on rollcall No. 107: Passage H. Res. 965, “yea” on rollcall No. 108: Motion to Recommit H.R. 6800, and “nay” on rollcall No. 109: Passage H.R. 6800.

LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM

(Mr. HOYER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. HOYER. Madam Speaker, I am going to be yielding to the Republican whip in just a second, but I will announce the schedule for the weeks to come.

As we face the crisis of the COVID-19 pandemic, the House must do its duty in full and do so in a way that contributes to the safety and welfare of our people and not in any way that harms it.

I want to thank each Member of the House for returning to D.C. today to vote on this important legislation.

Madam Speaker, Members are advised that no votes are expected in the House next week. Members are further advised that the House will be in session on Wednesday, May 27, and May 28.

As everyone knows, the Senate has amended the House-passed FISA bill, a very important piece of legislation that will require the House to act again. I expect that to be considered on the 27th.

I also expect conversations to continue on additional legislation addressing the COVID-19 pandemic. The House could vote on COVID-19-related bills on May 27 and 28.

I am pleased that the House has adopted a resolution to allow the committees to work remotely. I look forward to getting our committees back up and running so they can begin having hearings and markups on critical legislation.

□ 2130

Clearly, the House, as it moves forward, needs product. I have talked to the appropriators. I know that the WRDA bill is also a bill that we are looking at moving forward.

The National Defense Authorization Act is a bill that we want to see marked up. I talked to Mr. SMITH tonight so, hopefully, we will be moving ahead, getting product, and we will be considering that.

We have adopted some rules, not only for committees but for the floor, that will facilitate not only working on legislation but also the safety of our Members and staff.

As the gentleman knows, we have a number of must-pass bills that I have just mentioned. I think I did not mention the surface transportation bill, but I did mention WRDA. As committees begin consideration of these bills, I will be in touch with Members about when they will be scheduled.

Beyond May 27 and May 28, I want all Members to know that they will be given 72 hours' notice of when they would need to be returning to Washington, D.C., for any additional votes.

I would simply say one of the reasons that we are not meeting next week, we are going to give the staff, not only of the committees but of the House, the opportunity to determine exactly how the new rules can be carried out—not in any way to adversely affect either our Republican side of the aisle or the Democratic side of the aisle—and to reflect accurately the votes of Members, whether they are able to get to Washington during this pandemic or not.

Madam Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. SCALISE), my friend.

Mr. SCALISE. Madam Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

A couple of questions, but first, I want to ask: It is my understanding that on May 19, next week, we are supposed to be swearing in the new Members of Congress who were elected this week. You didn't mention that. Is that still going to move forward here on the House floor?

Mr. HOYER. Madam Speaker, I apologize for not mentioning that. There will be pro forma sessions, and at the pro forma session on Tuesday, we will swear in the two new Members.

Madam Speaker, I yield to the gentleman.

Mr. SCALISE. Madam Speaker, I thank the gentleman for that clarification.

Obviously, we had a full debate on the floor today about this change in the proxy voting. There still were many constitutional questions raised, especially as it relates to Article I, Section 5, which states that a majority of each House shall constitute a quorum. I would hope, although the rule is clearly passed and your side was able to pass that, doesn't mean it needs to be exercised because the Senate is going to be in next week.

Because we proved today that we can come back safely and conduct our business, I would just hope and urge that while it is now an opportunity, an option for the majority to use that, we still would continue to do business with a majority of Members being present. Because if a major piece of legislation were to come to this floor and to pass with a proxy—meaning 20 people holding proxies, clearly, under your bill, would be what your side would claim to be a majority—it would be challenged. It definitely would be eligible for being challenged in court under Article I, Section 5, the constitutional requirement of a quorum.

I would just hope that would be considered that, while it is there in the rule now, doesn't mean it has to be the way the House conducts business.

Mr. HOYER. Madam Speaker, reclaiming my time, the gentleman is correct. We expect a good turnout of Members on both sides of the aisle to be in the Chamber when we meet. We do know, however, there are Members who, for health reasons—either their own health or the health of one of their family members—transportation issues, as you know, are more difficult now with the pandemic going on, but our expectation is there will be a good number of Members.

We do not expect there to be 20 Members here. We expect there to be many more. And as the gentleman knows, when asked to come to the House to pass critically important legislation, Members on both sides of the aisle have been here in large numbers.

Madam Speaker, I yield to the gentleman.

Mr. SCALISE. Madam Speaker, I think today our total number of Members that showed up, out of 435, were 406. Of course, we didn't have the full 435. We will have a few more sworn in next week. But with over 400 Members of Congress able to get here safely to do our business—and again, we know the Senate is going to be in next week; we know the President is at the White House working, as well, with his team—I would just hope that we would continue to lead by example as we are encouraging others to safely reopen.

My home State of Louisiana today started entering into phase 1 of the reopening of our economy, and we saw so many new establishments. Of course, we have got our frontline workers, hospitals, and grocery stores that have already been opened and other establishments, but today we were able to have a full entering of phase 1, and from all accounts, it went very smoothly.

I know the gentleman's State of Maryland is doing the same thing, and 36 different States are already entering phase 1 of reopening. I would just hope that we would lead by example by showing here in the House that we, too, can do the people's business safely in person.

And do we know when that next time that the House would be convening? If it is not going to be next week, do we have a date when?

Mr. HOYER. Madam Speaker, I would tell the gentleman, May 27 and 28.

Mr. SCALISE. And is there any formal legislation or even committee hearings?

Mr. HOYER. I have already said, but I will repeat it.

We will be considering FISA legislation, I believe, on May 27, and we will be considering other COVID-19-related bills, if they are ready.

We have not specifically identified those bills, but on May 27 and 28, we will be meeting 2 days on that week. It is, as you know, Memorial Day on Monday of that week.

Mr. SCALISE. And then for committees like Armed Services that are going to be, hopefully, starting their negotiations on the National Defense Authorization Act, obviously, those are things that have an opportunity to be bipartisan. Hopefully, they will be bipartisan. Historically, they have been. And that would be, hopefully, some more work that the House would do here in Washington, here at the Capitol.

And we would just push to make sure that that is the case, that we do as much of our work here, not remotely, not through Zoom and Skype and Webex and other things, but actually here in the Capitol where we can, again, show the country, as we are asking them to safely reopen and start getting our economy back on track, that we would do the same thing.

Mr. HOYER. Reclaiming my time, what I think, Mr. Whip, is that we are showing that we intend to do our work and we intended to do it with concern for the safety of our Members, with the safety of our staff, the safety of witnesses who appear before our committees, and the safety of committee members as they proceed.

I will tell you that Mr. SMITH and I had a discussion, as I said a little earlier, and he is going to be talking to his ranking member. I expect them to have a markup, and I expect that markup to be in person.

Mr. SCALISE. I would just share the gentleman's hope that that happens. I know there was a lot of concern expressed with the resolution that authorized pro forma sessions until July 21, and I sure hope that is not the approach that the House would be taking, that instead of pro forma, we would actually be here in person doing the work of the people.

Mr. HOYER. We are in session now, of course, and I expect us to be in session on May 27 and 28. I expect, in the interim, committees will be considering legislation so that we will have product to do.

We are behind schedule. I still want to accomplish much of the work that we need to do as a regular order of business in the near term.

Mr. SCALISE. Madam Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. HOYER. Madam Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

REMOVAL OF NAME OF MEMBER
AS COSPONSOR OF H.R. 6666

Mr. VAN DREW. Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to be removed as a cosponsor of H.R. 6666.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Ms. JACKSON LEE). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New Jersey?

There was no objection.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair announces that the Speaker's announced policy of April 7, 2020, will remain in effect through July 21, 2020.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent, leave of absence was granted to:

Mr. DESJARLAIS (at the request of Mr. MCCARTHY) for today on account of recovering from surgery.

REMOTE VOTING BY PROXY REGULATIONS PURSUANT TO HOUSE RESOLUTION 965, 116TH CONGRESS

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, DC, May 15, 2020.

MADAM SPEAKER: Pursuant to Section 6 of House Resolution 965, 116th Congress, I hereby submit the following regulations regarding remote voting by proxy for printing in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

Sincerely,

JAMES P. MCGOVERN,
Chairman, Committee on Rules.

REMOTE VOTING BY PROXY REGULATIONS
PURSUANT TO HOUSE RESOLUTION 965

A. Proxy Designation Letter

1. A Member seeking to vote remotely by proxy must submit to the Clerk a dated and signed letter authorizing another Member to serve as their proxy. The letter must be submitted before the beginning of the first vote in which the Member wishes to vote by proxy, and must include:

i. An affirmative statement that because of the public health emergency the Member is unable to physically attend proceedings in the House Chamber and is granting authority to have their vote cast by proxy.

ii. The name and state of the Member who is being designated as a proxy.

iii. The original signature of the Member granting the proxy. Auto-pen or stamped signatures will not satisfy this signature requirement.

2. A letter missing any of the items in paragraph 1 shall not be verified by the Clerk pursuant to regulation B.3, which will result in the proxy being unable to vote on the Member's behalf.

B. Submission of Proxy Designation Letter to Clerk

1. Before submitting a letter designating a proxy, Members must confirm with their designated proxy that he or she agrees to and is able to vote for them.

2. To ensure the Clerk receives the letter in a timely manner, a Member seeking to vote by proxy should scan and email the letter to the Clerk from a House-maintained email account. Such electronic copy shall be actionable by the Clerk, including if, despite best efforts, the physical original is lost or damaged.

3. Upon electronic receipt of any letter described in these regulations, the Clerk must verify the letter and send a confirmation of receipt via email. A Member seeking to vote by proxy must then send the dated and signed hard copy of the letter to the Clerk so that it may be kept as a record. The Clerk, in concurrence with the Chair of the Committee on House Administration, may impose additional security requirements with respect to the electronic submission of proxy letters.

4. The Clerk must make any letter received pursuant to these regulations available on a publicly accessible website as quickly as practicable upon verification of the letter.

5. The letter will be used by the Clerk to certify that a Member serving as a proxy has the authority to cast votes on behalf of the Member voting remotely by proxy.

C. Duty of the Proxy

1. A Member serving as a proxy must agree to and be able to appear in the Capitol for roll call votes at any time for the duration of the covered period. If they are unwilling or unable to perform this duty at any point, they must inform the Member for whom they are voting by proxy as quickly as possible.

2. Before a Member's presence may be recorded by proxy during a quorum call, the Member serving as a proxy must have exact instruction pursuant to regulation C.6 from the Member voting by proxy on whether they intend to be recorded as present, and must follow such instruction in responding to the quorum call.

3. Before a vote may be cast by proxy, the Member serving as a proxy must have exact instruction pursuant to regulation C.6 from the Member voting by proxy on whether they intend to vote yea, nay, or present on the specific text or matter at hand, and must follow such instruction exactly in casting the proxy vote.

4. If the text of a measure changes after such instruction is received, the Member serving as a proxy may not cast a vote for the Member voting by proxy until new instruction is received.

5. If an identical motion is made to a motion on which a Member voting by proxy has previously given instruction, the Member serving as a proxy must still receive voting instructions pursuant to regulation C.6 on the new motion in order to cast the proxy vote.

6. The Member voting by proxy must provide written voting instruction (which may be in electronic form) to the Member serving as proxy. Members shall use official devices and accounts to transmit such instruction to the maximum extent practicable. If they are unable to transmit written instruction in a timely manner, a member of their staff may transmit the instruction at the direction of the Member, and that Member must confirm the instruction by telephone to the Member serving as proxy before the vote may be cast on their behalf.

D. Alteration or Revocation of Proxy

1. At any time during the public health emergency, a Member is permitted to change their designated proxy.

i. In addition to including all the information required by regulation A, a letter changing a Member's proxy must clearly state that the signing Member seeks to change their proxy from the Member currently holding their proxy to a different Member who will hold their proxy starting on the date specified in the letter.

ii. Any such letter must be submitted following the directions provided for the Proxy Designation Letter in regulation B.

2. A Member may revoke their proxy at any time for any reason. Revocation of proxy does not prohibit a Member from designating a proxy at a later time.

i. A Member seeking to revoke their proxy must send to the Clerk a signed letter revoking their proxy which includes the date upon which their proxy is revoked. This letter must be submitted following the directions provided for the Proxy Designation Letter in regulation B.

ii. Pursuant to section 2(a)(2)(B) of House Resolution 965, a Member will be considered to have revoked their proxy if they vote or record their own presence in the House Chamber.

E. Timing of Votes

1. The Majority Leader must provide Members with 24-hours' notice before any vote on the final disposition of bills or joint resolutions conducted during the period designated by the Speaker pursuant to House Resolution 965.

REMOTE COMMITTEE PROCEEDINGS REGULATIONS PURSUANT TO HOUSE RESOLUTION 965, 116TH CONGRESS

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, DC, May 15, 2020.

MADAM SPEAKER: Pursuant to Section 4(h) of House Resolution 965, 116th Congress, I hereby submit the following regulations regarding remote committee proceedings for printing in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

Sincerely,

JAMES P. MCGOVERN,
Chairman, Committee on Rules.

REMOTE COMMITTEE PROCEEDINGS REGULATIONS PURSUANT TO HOUSE RESOLUTION 965

A. Presence and Voting

1. Members participating remotely in a committee proceeding must be visible onscreen within the software platform when joining the proceeding for the purposes of identity verification.

2. Members participating remotely in a committee proceeding must continue to use the software platform's video function for the remainder of the time they are attending the proceeding unless they experience connectivity issues or other technical problems that render the member unable to fully participate on camera (except as provided in regulations A.3 and A.4).

3. The exception in regulation A.2 for connectivity issues or other technical problems does not apply if a point of order has been made that a quorum is not present. Members must be visible to the committee chair in order to be counted for the purpose of establishing a quorum.

4. The exception in regulation A.2 for connectivity issues or other technical problems does not apply during a vote. Members must be visible to the committee chair in order to vote.

5. Members experiencing connectivity issues or other technical problems hindering their participation in the proceeding should inform committee majority or minority staff.

6. The chair shall make a good faith effort to provide every member experiencing connectivity issues an opportunity to participate fully in the proceedings.

7. Members may not participate in more than one proceeding simultaneously.

B. Technology

1. When a proceeding is conducted at a remote "place" pursuant to section 4(a)(6) of House Resolution 965, streaming the proceeding on the committee's website constitutes sufficient public, Member, and press access for the purposes of section 4(e) of such resolution. Proceedings may be streamed on a reasonably short delay if necessary for technical reasons.

2. Any text based or private messaging function in the software platform used for virtual proceedings must be disabled unless it is used to provide technical or logistical support to members, witnesses, or staff, which may be excluded from the public video stream and will not be considered a committee record.

3. When providing notice of a remote proceeding, chairs must also provide notice of the software platform to be used for participation. Notice of such software platform constitutes proper notice of a "place" for purposes of section 4(a)(6) of House Resolution 965.

4. Members must have the opportunity to participate in a non-public rehearsal on the committee's chosen software platform prior to the first remote full committee hearing, prior to the first remotely-attended full committee markup, and prior to the first remote deposition held using that platform, and members shall be given reasonable notice (no less than 48 hours) regarding the timing of any such rehearsal. Subcommittee chairs are encouraged to provide the same non-public rehearsal opportunities to subcommittees.

5. Members participating remotely must be provided access to technical support via telephone throughout any proceeding.

6. Only members, witnesses, temporarily designated participating staff, and necessary support staff may have participatory access on the software platform, meaning access which enables an individual to speak and be seen, as opposed to simply viewing the proceeding.

7. The committee majority staff, in consultation with the committee minority staff, must prepare a list of individuals with participatory access on the software platform and share the list with members at least 24 hours prior to any proceeding, to the greatest extent practicable.

8. Official reporters should be given direct access to the platform itself rather than the livestream.

9. Members of the press and the public may view remote proceedings via the committee website, as outlined in regulation B.1.

10. Committees must conduct remote proceedings using software platforms certified by the Chief Administrative Officer. The Chief Administrative Officer should inform committees, including the ranking minority members, each time a software platform is certified.

11. To the greatest extent practicable, the software platform used for remote proceedings must enable participants to view proceedings in a "grid view" format.

12. Committee chairs should inform the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on House Administration of any impactful technical issues arising from conducting proceedings remotely.

C. Deliberations

1. Committee chairs must allow members participating remotely reasonable latitude when they are seeking recognition for motions, points of order, or any other procedures where timeliness is a factor in the event that there are problems with technology such as lag or having the microphone muted.

2. Members participating remotely must seek recognition verbally. It is the responsibility of the member seeking recognition to unmute their microphone prior to speaking.

3. No one may unmute a member's microphone absent an explicit request from the member, which may be via another channel.

4. The chair or an individual designated by the chair may mute participants' microphones when they are not under recognition for the purposes of eliminating inadvertent background noise. This policy must be carried out uniformly and should be announced at the outset of the proceeding. Members should have a clear understanding of the need to unmute their microphone each time they wish to speak.

D. Decorum

1. Member microphones may not be muted for the purposes of enforcing decorum.

2. Members participating remotely must conform to the same standards for proper attire as are required to participate in a committee proceeding in person.

3. Members and witnesses participating remotely should appear before a nonpolitical, professionally appropriate background that is minimally distracting to other members and witnesses, to the greatest extent possible.

EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

FOOD ALLERGY AWARENESS WEEK

HON. DORIS O. MATSUI

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Ms. MATSUI. Madam Speaker, this is a special week for the more than 32 million Americans living with potentially life-threatening food allergies. Food Allergy Awareness Week, May 10 through 16, is dedicated to raising awareness about the challenges our food allergy families and friends face each and every day.

Of course, this year's Food Allergy Awareness Week comes at a critical time. Our country is grappling with its greatest public health threat in over a century. The COVID-19 pandemic has made life even more challenging for most Americans, including our food allergy families. The New York Times recently reported on the lack of safe, healthy, and affordable food choices for allergic families. In addition, CNBC reported that the threat of contracting the corona virus is keeping people away from visiting emergency rooms. In ordinary times, a food allergy reaction sends one person in the U.S. to the emergency room every three minutes. During the pandemic, food allergy families have needed to change the way they prepare for emergency care related to anaphylaxis.

Individuals and families with food allergies are resilient, and I have long been inspired by their courage to navigate life's challenges. That's why I have been working for the past year with FARE (Food Allergy Research & Education), the world's leading food allergy advocacy organization, to improve the quality of life for the more than 1.5 million Americans allergic to sesame.

Sesame is a common ingredient and is found in food like bread, cookies, and pizza dough. But many people don't know that it is also found in other items such as candy corn, ice cream, and sushi.

Sesame's widespread use is why those allergic to it desperately need to know what foods it is found in so they can avoid this ingredient. Unfortunately, that information does not exist. Currently, sesame is often labeled as a "natural flavor" or as a "spice" on the ingredients label leaving millions of Americans unable to make smart and healthy food decisions to protect themselves or their family members.

Thankfully, there is hope. Last year, I wrote and introduced the Food Allergy Safety, Treatment, Education, and Research (FASTER) Act, H.R. 2117 that would require sesame be added to the list of allergens that must be labeled. It would join other common allergens like milk, eggs, and peanuts that are already labeled. The FASTER Act is the first meaningful food allergy legislation at the federal level in more than a decade and would change the lives for millions of Americans. The FASTER Act is a bipartisan solution that provides food allergy families with the life-saving information they need.

I am proud to fight for food allergy families and during this year's Food Allergy Awareness Week, I urge my colleagues to join with me in support of the more than 32 million Americans affected by life-threatening food allergies.

HONORING THE CAREER OF CIRCUIT COURT JUDGE ANDREW HOWORTH

HON. TRENT KELLY

OF MISSISSIPPI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. KELLY of Mississippi. Madam Speaker, I rise today to commemorate the outstanding career of Judge Andrew Howorth. Mr. Howorth chose to create his first Facebook post to announce to friends and family his plans on retiring as of June this year. In his nearly two decades on the bench, Mr. Howorth has honorably served the state of Mississippi and the people of the Oxford-Lafayette County in his commitment to both his career and the well-being of North Mississippi.

Mr. Howorth best described his dedication to public service in this way: "This is an opportunity . . . to work to preserve the integrity of the judicial system as is the responsibility of every judge. The part I'm most looking forward to is meeting and working with new people." Mr. Howorth is not only an example of judicial leadership but embodies a commitment to his community that is nothing short of admirable. He has served on the Mississippi Drug Court Advisory committee and is a Mississippi Bar Foundation fellow. He is an active member of the Oxford Rotary Club, has served on the Oxford Housing Authority and the Oxford-Lafayette County United Way. Last year, he was honored as the county Chamber of Commerce Citizen of the Year, and I cannot think of an award that better suits Mr. Howorth.

In his retirement, Mr. Howorth plans to spend time on his farm in Abbeville with his wife, Elizabeth. They have an extensive bucket list they intend on checking off, and I wish them the best in this treasured season of life.

I commend Judge Howorth for his admirable service to the state of Mississippi and his commitment to advocating for justice. Whom ever is to be appointed by the Governor has a substantial legacy to live up to.

THE WUHAN VIRUS WEB OF LIES

HON. JOE WILSON

OF SOUTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Madam Speaker, as a former journalist myself, it is sad the mainstream media is so biased due to Trump Derangement Syndrome of mindless hatred. There is unlimited U.S. fake news, the Chinese Communist Party is relentless with propaganda, Russia blogs sow absurd discontent, Iranian zealots flat out lie, but in the midst of this madness it should be gratefully recognized there are rare beacons of truth as evidenced on March 19th with The Epoch Times editorial The Web of Lies Spun Around the CCP Virus.

It is especially noteworthy what was correctly opined months ago is still rarely true today. It is so important and correct it should be worthy of the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD for the American people to know today and historians in the future. I include in the RECORD a piece authored by Heng He, a commentator on Sound of Hope Radio, a China analyst for NTD and a writer for The Epoch Times newspaper.

"THE WEB OF LIES SPUN AROUND THE CCP VIRUS"

The world can learn much by paying attention to how the outbreak of the CCP virus—commonly known as the novel coronavirus—has been handled in China.

There were at least two well-known doctors at Wuhan Central Hospital during the outbreak, the whistleblower Dr. Li Wenliang and whistle-provider Dr. Ai Fen.

Ai is the emergency room director who saw a SARS coronavirus-positive test report for a patient on Dec. 30, 2019, and sent the report to a friend. The report immediately circulated in a circle of eight doctors that included Li.

The reaction was almost instantaneous. At 10:20 p.m., the hospital sent a message conveying a Wuhan Health Commission notice that anything about the "unknown pneumonia" shouldn't be made public. One hour later, the hospital sent another, similar notice. Then, on Jan. 2, Ai was called to the hospital office and was rebuked by a hospital official, who also conveyed orders from higher authorities. Ai didn't talk about the virus afterward, not even to her husband, until Jan. 20.

Li and seven other doctors who were considered whistleblowers got more serious punishment. They also were censured, and not by hospital officials, but by police on Jan. 3. The censorship effort turned out to be very successful; all of the doctors who knew about the outbreak kept silent.

Meanwhile, the rest of China and the world were kept in the dark for at least another 20 days.

The coverup and censorship had begun before Ai shared the test report. Wuhan Central Hospital sent out the first "unknown pneumonia" patient sample on Dec. 24, 2019. The report, which the hospital received Dec. 27, indicated that a coronavirus was found in the sample, with 70 percent similarity to SARS coronavirus. A report from a second test facility stated simply, "SARS." Both facilities were private companies.

The hospital reported the results to the Wuhan Health Commission the same day, which means that Wuhan officials knew of the disease three days earlier than Ai. While the Wuhan Health Commission can directly order the hospital to silence doctors, only administrative officials can order the police to punish whistleblowers.

The coverup was already at the city government level as early as Jan. 3.

• This "bullet" symbol identifies statements or insertions which are not spoken by a Member of the Senate on the floor.

Matter set in this typeface indicates words inserted or appended, rather than spoken, by a Member of the House on the floor.

Other organizations also covered up the outbreak. On Jan. 1, the Hubei Provincial Health Commission notified gene-sequencing companies not to take the Wuhan pneumonia samples, not to test the samples, not to submit scientific papers, and not to reveal the results to the public. It also was ordered that all samples must be destroyed.

On Jan. 3, the National Health Commission formally banned all non-governmental facilities from testing samples related to the Wuhan pneumonia case, which the Beijing financial magazine Caixin recounted, in the report "Tracing the Novel Coronavirus Gene Sequencing: When Did the Alarm Sound." The Caixin article was taken down several hours after being published.

HUMAN-TO-HUMAN TRANSMISSION

An esteemed, senior doctor named Zhong Nanshan was used to manage part of another coverup. Zhong went to Wuhan on Jan. 19. Before he left Wuhan to go to Beijing the next day, he announced that the virus was capable of human-to-human transmission, which authorities at different levels had denied.

Before Zhong, two groups of experts had been sent to Wuhan by the Chinese Center for Disease Control and Prevention (China CDC). Why is it that Zhong would find something within one day while so many experts visiting Wuhan couldn't? Caijing, another Beijing-based financial magazine, interviewed an expert from the second group, and asked those in the group whether hospital staff had been infected—the key evidence for human-to-human transmission. The experts never got an answer.

Zhong had earned a good reputation for fighting SARS and is the leading Chinese official for fighting respiratory infectious diseases. An outsider to Wuhan, he hadn't been involved in the previous coverup. He had the authority to change the status of the epidemic disease, and could change the tone without exposing government wrongdoing.

Zhong, then, was just another tool of the Party. During this outbreak, even partial "truth" from the CCP becomes part of the lies.

From day one, every Party and government organization—and the hospitals and individuals inside the system—has been involved in weaving a web of lies. Anyone who intentionally or unintentionally exposed the lies was immediately silenced, by different organizations, at different levels, and by different authorities.

'DISASTERS MAKE THE NATION STRONG'

The CCP's institutions are designed for keeping its power, not for preventing and handling natural disasters, especially not for something like the novel coronavirus.

The pattern is usually like this. When a large-scale natural disaster such as an earthquake or flood occurs, the CCP doesn't need to do much for the victims and survivors. Digging up survivors is for taking photos or videos—saving lives is the least concern.

During the Sichuan earthquake in 2008, classrooms collapsed, killing schoolchildren, while government buildings remained standing. But officials were never held accountable for the corruption that caused the shoddy school construction. The CCP's "solution" was to jail parents and activists who sought the truth and justice.

In fighting disasters, the most important work is to brag about how great the CCP is. The people can only see the gratitude of the survivors to the Party, the red-flag-waving rescue teams, the award and victory celebration ceremonies, and other similar actions. As time goes by, people who have no direct experience of the suffering can only remember—the propaganda, while totally forgetting the victims and the officials responsible for the disaster.

This pattern is captured in the CCP slogan, "disasters make the nation strong." It might be difficult to understand that natural or even man-made disasters can be transformed into a "good thing" to enhance the CCP's power. After the victims, the survivors, and the activists are silenced, CCP can easily generate the support of those who haven't suffered personally.

The disasters don't make the nation strong. They make the CCP strong.

SCAPEGOATS

During this virus outbreak, the CCP has gone even further. "Disasters make the nation strong" has become "CCP saves the world." The CCP has claimed that China bought time for the world, a boast that has been echoed by some Western media.

But if the CCP didn't cover things up, there was not need to "buy time." The CCP is very good at allowing a small problem to grow, then using all resources to fight the "big problem." People see the CCP fighting the big problem so efficiently that they tend to forget the problem was originally created by the CCP. This is part of the Party's information war.

From the beginning, Chinese authorities have sought to pass the blame for the outbreak. The first scapegoat was Huanan Seafood Market (HSM). HSM was formally mentioned as the source by Chinese authorities on Dec. 30, 2019, on Jan. 11 by the Wuhan Health Commission, and on Jan. 22 by Gao Fu, the director of China CDC.

However, three papers, including two from Lancet and one from the New England Journal of Medicine, and all by Chinese doctors and scientists, published between Jan. 24 and 30, tell a different story.

In the first 41 cases, 13 of them had no HSM contact history, and the first case, and two of three subsequent cases, had no HSM history. Since those cases were all confirmed before Jan. 11, the Wuhan Health Commission was aware that HSM could only be the first cluster, and not the original source. Denial of human-to-human transmission is one thing, while intentionally misleading about the origin of the disease is a totally different issue. What did they want to hide?

The second scapegoat is the pangolin, the odd mammal with scales whose meat is considered a delicacy. On Feb. 7, a research group at South China Agriculture University announced that they had found a virus in the pangolin that has a 99 percent similarity to the coronavirus causing the Wuhan pneumonia.

However, one of the researchers, Shen Yongyi, pointed out in an interview with Nanfeng Daily that the pangolin sample wasn't from the university's collection but from a certain specific government unit. Shen said that under heavy pressure, results were revealed to the public, rather than publishing them in a scientific journal first.

Since these two scapegoats didn't work well, the United States has become the new target.

Zhao Lijian, the spokesperson for the Foreign Ministry Department, has claimed that a U.S. military team brought the coronavirus to Wuhan. This was not Zhao's personal mistake. Before Zhao's accusation, the SARS-fighting Dr. Zhong said that because the coronavirus outbreak appeared in China doesn't mean it originated in China. Since then, Zhao's accusation and similar finger-pointing have flooded China's social media.

If the HSM and pangolin were put forward to find someone, anyone, to blame, out of a spontaneous response, the decision to point at the United States is an equally well-orchestrated strategy from the top circle of the leadership. Why does the CCP want to do something so obviously wrong that nobody around the world would believe? The CCP is trying to turn the coronavirus controversy to its advantage, especially in China.

What else could be more effective and convenient than blaming the United States? The United States has been the No. 1 scapegoat for all the CCP's own problems for the past 70 years.

Did the CCP lie about the Wuhan outbreak at the early stage? Yes. Is the CCP still lying now? No doubt. Will the CCP lie in the future? Definitely. What should we do? Don't trust anything from the CCP. That's what Taiwan has been doing, and doing so well.

During the SARS outbreak in 2003, Taiwan was abandoned by the World Health Organization (WHO), which favors the CCP. Facing the coronavirus, Taiwan can only rely on itself. The most important lesson the rest of the world can learn from Taiwan is not to trust the CCP or WHO.

While some countries believe that Taiwan should be accepted by WHO, it turns out that it's not Taiwan that needs WHO, but the whole world needs Taiwan.

The Epoch Times refers to the novel coronavirus, which causes the disease COVID-19, as the CCP virus because the Chinese Communist Party's coverup and mismanagement allowed the virus to spread throughout China and create a global pandemic.

IN HONOR OF BOBBY DUKE RORER

HON. ANDY BARR

OF KENTUCKY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. BARR. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Mr. Bobby Duke Rorer. Mr. Rorer was born in Cynthiana, Kentucky, lived for many years in Lawrenceburg, and currently resides at the Thomson-Hood Veterans Center in Wilmore, Kentucky. He celebrates his 96th birthday on May 29th.

Mr. Rorer volunteered to serve his country during World War II. He enlisted in the United States Army on July 3, 1942, soon after turning 17. He served as a Technician Fifth Grade with the 871st Airborne Engineers Company C. His Company was shipped to the South Pacific, where they moved through the islands building airstrips. They were under constant attack by the Japanese. Mr. Rorer suffered twice from malaria.

During a time that his company was a Tsili Tsili, a Japanese bomber crashed and exploded. The explosion was massive and Rorer was buried alive. Fortunately, he was dug out but lost his hearing. He encountered heavy fighting, illness, a typhoon, and many other difficulties as his company continued building airstrips throughout the islands.

After serving for more than 3 years. Mr. Rorer was honorably discharged on January 3rd, 1946. For his service, he was awarded the Asiatic Pacific Theatre Ribbon with 2 Bronze Service Stars, the Philippine Liberation Ribbon with 1 Bronze Service Star, the American Theater Ribbon, Meritorious Unit Award, and the World War II Victory Medal. He returned home and became a heavy equipment operator. In his own words, "I am proud to have served my country in its greatest time of need."

It is my honor to recognize Mr. Rorer, celebrate his 96th birthday and thank him for his service and sacrifice to our nation during World War II. As a part of "The Greatest Generation", Mr. Rorer and his fellow soldiers fought to preserve the freedoms that we enjoy today, and we can never thank them enough. I am forever grateful for Americans like Bobby Duke Rorer.

HONORING THE MEMORY OF MORRIS HOOD, III

HON. RASHIDA TLAIB

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Ms. TLAIB. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the memory of the late former-Michigan State Legislator Morris Hood, III, whose life was tragically cut short by COVID-19.

Morris Hood was born and raised in Detroit. His roots ran deep in Detroit and Wayne County. Mr. Hood was elected to Michigan's House of Representatives, where he served the maximum three terms before he went on to be elected to Michigan's State Senate, where he served the maximum two terms. He cared deeply for the people he represented and prioritized his time connecting with them, whether it was hosting meetings about important issues or attending community gatherings. His easygoing nature and innate leadership abilities afforded him respect from his colleagues on both sides of the aisle. Morris Hood leaves a legacy of advocacy for policy initiatives to uplift the communities he served. He was a champion for education and remained committed to improving our public schools.

Morris Hood was a true public servant and more than that, a friend. Please join me in honoring his legacy.

CONGRATULATING CYNTHIA WILLIAMS AND THE AUSTIN PEOPLES ACTION CENTER ON ITS 40TH YEAR ANNIVERSARY

HON. DANNY K. DAVIS

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. DANNY K. DAVIS of Illinois. Madam Speaker, May 10th marked the 40th Year Anniversary of the Austin Peoples Action Center which was organized by a teenager/young adult, her parents and members of the Third Unitarian Church of Chicago in the Austin Community. Austin at the time was the largest community area in the City of Chicago and was still under-going a serious population change from being predominately white to becoming majority black. There was wholesale migration, racial animosity, blockbusting, panic peddling and mistrust. Cynthia Williams, a feisty teenage/young adult emerged as a leader of a group and the Austin Peoples Action Center was born, with support of the Williams family, the Mayfield Block Club and the Third Unitarian Church. The group took off with neighborhood programs, help for teenagers, block club organizing and other self-help activities, e.g. community festivals and the Taste of Austin which has occurred for more than thirty-five years in succession. Help for teenagers and young adults has evolved into Maternal and Child Health Programs and the largest WIC Program in the State of Illinois, Parenting Skills Development, Technology Training and other activities for youth.

I take this opportunity to commend and congratulate Ms. Cynthia Williams and the Austin Peoples Action Center on 40 Years of Productive Service.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. NORCROSS. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor and commend the life and legacy of the late Gloucester County, New Jersey resident Mrs. Lorraine Madden.

Born in 1933, in the mining town Shamokin, Pennsylvania, Lorraine Madden was the third born child of Clarence and Marie Greager. In the 1940's the family moved to South West Philadelphia where she attended catholic school and began working at the age of fifteen to contribute to her family.

Mrs. Lorraine Madden married Fred Madden, Sr. and had two sons, Fred Jr. and Thomas. She worked at a local hospital, Bell Telephone, Harleco Company, A.E. Price Importers and lastly in human resources for Johns Manville. After retirement, Lorraine and Fred relocated to Surfside Beach, South Carolina for the next twenty years. After being many miles away from their family and friends they decided to move back to New Jersey.

The residents of Gloucester County, New Jersey greatly adored and appreciated Mrs. Madden. Her passing is a great loss for our entire community. She is the beloved wife of Fred H. Madden, Sr., devoted mother of the Honorable Fred. H. Madden, Jr. (Patricia) and Thomas Madden, Sr. (Margaret). Loving grandmother of Patricia, Maureen, Thomas, Hillary, Tara, Frederick, III, Catherine and Margaret. Proud great-grandmother of Jace, Kaylee-Jo, Alyssa, Ava-Jo, Jeffrey, Declan, Everly and William.

Madam Speaker, I ask you to join me in honoring the late Lorraine Madden, of Gloucester County, New Jersey, a loved wife, mother and grandmother.

NORTH AUGUSTA BUSINESSES GET CREATIVE

HON. JOE WILSON

OF SOUTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Madam Speaker, it was heartwarming that on May 7th, during National Small Business Week, The Augusta Chronicle identified North Augusta businesses, getting creative. As we all work together to defeat the Wuhan Virus, it is inspiring to see small businesses working together.

I include in RECORD the following article developed by Staff Writer Miguel Legoas.

With a tent, a couple tables, and a dedicated staff, The Purple Hull restaurant made a DIY drive-through that has done so well owner Ray Henderson said they may make a more permanent version.

"I think it's developed some business that we didn't have, so I think we may go and actually build off the back-end and put us a drive through there," he said.

Henderson said the pandemic dealt a serious blow to the business, as it has done with many other small businesses, which is why they had to get creative in order to persevere.

Jenny and Jesse Elliot, of Shoppe313, have flexed those same creative muscles with their online sales and by creating kits for parents so they can build their own teddy bears from home.

Suzanne Fanning, of the Pink Dipper ice cream ship, also reiterated Henderson's point, and since re-opening her store has adjusted hours, put up a partition between the customers and employees, updated their delivery service, and has done more with curbside pickup.

"Every day is a learning process being open during the pandemic," Fanning said. "What we learned and what we're trying to teach our staff is that, in this craziness, we're having to be really flexible. . . (and) most customers have been really pretty understanding of the changes."

But some of the customers in the North Augusta area have done much more than be courteous. Parks Pharmacy store manager Karen Powell said some customers, in their own time and with their own money, surprised the pharmacy with handmade masks for the entire staff.

"It was very touching, it spoke very loudly that someone cared," Powell said.

"We've got a little GroupMe chat, we've got emails shooting back and forth when all this was kicking up, the Chamber and North Augusta Forward were super, super helpful in just educating us all about the resources that are available," Fanning said.

Henderson said they have tried to help other businesses, ones that could be considered competitors. When Wife Saver said it would be closing, they offered encouragement and help, and did the same with a nearby Mexican establishment. They even provided DeShawn's Seafood and Chicken Restaurant with some much-needed supplies.

"We all kinda doing our own thing and not really focused on each other," Henderson said. "I think it made it where we were more willing to open up and say "Hey, I need your help."

CONGRATULATING EMMALINE LANDES ON SELECTION AS AN ARKANSAS STATE HONOREE FOR PRUDENTIAL SPIRIT OF COMMUNITY AWARDS

HON. BRUCE WESTERMAN

OF ARKANSAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. WESTERMAN. Madam Speaker, I rise today to congratulate Emmaline Landes on her selection as Arkansas' state honoree with the Prudential Spirit of Community Awards. As one of only 102 students chosen nationwide, Emmaline was recognized for her outstanding service to her peers. Sponsored by Prudential Financial and partnered with the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP), this award honors the top youth volunteers of the year.

A senior at El Dorado High School, Emmaline has raised over $16,000 since 2013 for various nonprofits and causes by selling more than 300 pieces of original artwork. Some of these causes include child abuse, homelessness, animal adoption, hunger, healthcare, and arts education. In addition to these causes, Emmaline has produced several original art shows with the aim of raising funds for those in her community. Some of her shows' revenue has been used to purchase medical supplies for those with ALS or AIDS, and some has been used to purchase baby clothing and supplies for those facing teenage pregnancy.

Given a $1,000 scholarship and $2,500 to donate to the COVID-19 efforts of a nonprofit of her choosing, Emmaline stands out as one of the most selfless examples of servant-leadership. I take this time to thank her for her service to the state we both call home.

RECOGNIZING DR. BERT BRIGHT

HON. GREGORY F. MURPHY

OF NORTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. MURPHY of North Carolina. Madam Speaker, I rise today to pay a heartfelt tribute to a very special gentleman who has been instrumental in the growth and development of many lives in eastern North Carolina. Dr. Bert Bright has served well in numerous roles at Arendell Parrott Academy in Kinston, N.C. for the past 25 years.

Dr. Bright has excelled as a middle school science teacher, a Science Olympiad coach—taking five teams to top ten finishes nationally, a varsity football coach, Assistant Headmaster, and finally, Headmaster. He has been a servant leader, a forward thinker, an encourager and a friend to students, parents and faculty. During his tenure as Headmaster, he has overseen multimillion-dollar building projects, administered advanced technology with campuswide wireless access, instituted an after-school program, expanded transportation services and fervently cheered state championship teams in five different sports. He expanded a diverse enrollment through multi-community outreach. But even more than all these achievements, Dr. Bright will be remembered most as a caring teacher and leader who saw the potential in every student and challenged them to be their best. A nurturing administrator who mentored his staff with skill, understanding and dedication.

Parrott Academy enjoys a family atmosphere while maintaining a rigorous curriculum, competitive athletic programs, and exemplary fine arts interwoven with a culture of service. Such an environment would not be possible without the compassion, extraordinary commitment to excellence in education, model of sportsmanship, and servant's heart of Dr. Bert Bright.

Madam Speaker, please join me in recognizing upon his retirement, a true Patriot in every sense of the word: Dr. Bert Bright.

CONGRATULATING PETER
NEWBOULD ON HIS RETIREMENT

HON. ADAM SMITH

OF WASHINGTON

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Madam Speaker, I rise to honor and congratulate Peter Newbould, the Senior Public Policy Manager of the Alzheimer's Association Washington State Chapter, on his retirement.

Peter has had an outstanding career advocating for those affected by Alzheimer's. In his six years at the Alzheimer's Association he guided other advocates in opening a meaningful discussion with Congress about this disease. Peter spread awareness of Alzheimer's and was a top ten recruiter in the nation for the Alzheimer's Impact Movement.

Peter was instrumental in advancing public policy goals and served on the advocacy subcommittee of the Dementia Action Collaborative, helping win State appropriations to implement priorities in the 2016 Alzheimer's State Plan.

Prior to joining the Alzheimer's Association, Peter had an impressive career including working for over 13 years in the U.S. House of Representatives. In the 1980s, he was Chief of Staff to Congressman Jim Florio of New Jersey and Congressman RON WYDEN of Oregon. He then served for 21 years as Director of Congressional & Political Affairs at the American Psychological Association, during which he co-chaired a coalition that won passage of two federal laws on mental health parity.

Madam Speaker, it is with great admiration that I recognize and congratulate Peter Newbould on his retirement and the incredible advocacy work he has done for those facing Alzheimer's.

HONORING THE LIFE OF JANET OWENS

HON. JOHN H. RUTHERFORD

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. RUTHERFORD. Madam Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Janet Owens, an inspirational community leader and advocate, who passed away on April 8th after a long battle with cancer. Janet was the executive director of the Local Initiatives Support Corporation's (LISC) Jacksonville office for 10 years, serving as a tireless advocate for residents and communities. Under her leadership, new affordable housing was financed, community centers were created to improve financial stability, playing fields were renovated, and local nonprofit organizations were made stronger. I am saddened by her passing, but honored to recognize her dedication and longtime commitment to the people and neighborhoods that Janet fought to improve every day of her life.

Janet was first and foremost a community servant, focused on empowering people and organizations as well as equipping them with the right information and resources. A significant part of her career was spent in public service. She worked in city government in Greenville, South Carolina; Adrian, Michigan; and Washington, D.C. Her service continued after leaving government and was extended in the private sector where she served as Vice President of United Way of Northeast Florida and held positions with the Girl Scouts of Gateway Council and Volunteer Jacksonville.

At LISC, Janet was a tremendous driving force in advancing the organization's mission to help under-resourced neighborhoods in Jacksonville. She believed these neighborhoods were ripe for opportunity and renewal, and her leadership ensured that public and private resources benefitted those most in need. Since its opening in 1999, LISC Jacksonville has invested nearly $500 million in the community, creating 2,100 affordable homes and 1.7 million square feet of space for commercial, community, and educational facilities. Most notably, Janet was the driving force behind LISC Jacksonville's investment in several pivotal historic preservation projects in downtown Jacksonville, including the Barnett Bank and Laura Street Trio.

Janet's commitment to community development extended well beyond her professional life. She was involved in a range of volunteer activities and was acknowledged for her commitment with numerous awards and accolades over the course of her life. In 2019, she was the recipient of the University of North Florida's OneJax Humanitarian Award, which recognized her integrity, generosity, and dedication to improving the relationships among Jacksonville's diverse populations. Leadership Jacksonville also acknowledged her as an outstanding community trustee during its 2018 Leadership Celebration. The Girl Scouts Gateway Council bestowed their Women of Distinction Award to Janet in honor of her career accomplishments, service to others and impact on the Northeast Florida community.

Janet was a true advocate for the underserved, and her legacy of community service will live on through her accomplishments both in Florida and nationally. I ask the House of Representatives to join me in celebrating her life of public service and extend deepest condolences to her mother, Mamie Garrett; her beloved husband of thirty-seven years, Gregory Owens; their three children Greg, Garrett and Morgan; and her grandchildren, siblings, relatives and friends.

CONGRATULATIONS AIRPORT HIGH SCHOOL

HON. JOE WILSON

OF SOUTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Madam Speaker, in the midst of the catastrophe of the Wuhan Virus it was uplifting to read on the front page of The State newspaper of Columbia, S.C., on May 14th "Airport High School holds virtual graduation ceremony" by Tracy Glantz.

Lexington County School District Two is professionally led by Superintendent Bill James with an extraordinary School Board of Chairman Bill Bingham, Elizabeth (Beth) Dickerson Branham, Cynthia M. (Cindy) Kessler, R. Kevin Key, Christina Rucker, J.M. (Bud) Summers, and Linda Alford-Wooten. Principal David Damm provides dynamic leadership.

I include in the RECORD the article highlighted by the inspiring family photo of Graduate Marcus Gadsden and his deservedly proud parents Yvonne and Richard Gadsden.

AIRPORT HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATION

About 300 seniors at Airport High School walked across a stage in their graduation caps and gowns on Wednesday, but it wasn't their graduation day yet. Wednesday was the second day of filming and photographing at the school to produce a televised, virtual graduation ceremony that will air June 6.

South Carolina state officials have left it to school districts to plan for graduation while taking necessary precautions with social distancing to stop the spread of coronavirus. "We talked of every possible option, but never stepped away from our foundational desire to keep it safe and keep it responsible," Airport High Principal David Damm said.

Groups of graduates and their parents were spaced several feet apart as they approached the stage. The students took their turns, walking across the stage, receiving their diploma case and getting photographs made. These images will be put together in a video along with speeches by Principal David Damm, valedictorian Ashleigh Smith, salutatorian Rose Brandon, Student Body President Katie Kyzer, and Senior Class President Geena Rocanella.

"There's some element to it that we hope is special. . . We are trying to provide the graduates with a memory, a video of their graduation, but do it in a way that keeps people apart and safe," Damm said.

"I'm just glad to have had a ceremony, even if it was small," Julion Brooks said after walking across the stage. His parents, Shaquana and Lamar Brooks, made photographs while wearing T-shirts honoring the class of 2020—"delayed not denied"—printed across the front.

At Lexington District 2's other high school, Brookland-Cayce, students will have a similar opportunity on May 14. Other efforts to help honor the class of 2020 include yard signs, billboards, social media and a countywide porch light salute on May 20, at 8:20 p.m. Virtual graduation ceremonies for the two high schools will air online and on local television June 6, the Lexington 2 school district announced this week.

They will be broadcast together from 5-7 p.m. June 6 on WACH-Fox 57. They will also be available for streaming via STIRR, a free TV app. The presentations will be posted on the school district's YouTube channel after they have aired.

HONORING OUR OFFICERS DURING NATIONAL POLICE WEEK

HON. GILBERT RAY CISNEROS, JR.
OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. CISNEROS. Madam Speaker, established by a joint resolution of Congress in 1961 and authorized by President John F. Kennedy in 1962, National Peace Officers Memorial Day was proclaimed on May 15th. The proclamation further established the calendar week of May 15th as National Police Week.

National Police Week honors the heroic and selfless devotion of our peace officers to our country. It is a time to honor those who make sacrifices year-round, missing weekends, holidays, and family events to serve their communities. It is also a sacred time as we honor the fallen men and women in law enforcement who have laid down their lives in the line of duty to protect others.

This week we are humbled by the challenges they face and the profound sacrifices that they make. Despite the daily adversity officers face, their dedication to protect the rule of law and their communities remains unwavering. Even in times of grave danger and uncertainty, such as the current Covid-19 pandemic, our nations' police officers were some of the first to stand ready to serve and protect the citizens of their communities.

The spirit of National Police Week is exemplified by those whose actions reflect courage, sacrifice, and selflessness. I am honored to rise today and recognize several individuals who bravely serve the residents of California's 39th District. Serving the Cities of Walnut and Diamond Bar I'd like to honor Lieutenant Tomas Giandomenico, a 30-year veteran of the Los Angeles County Sheriffs Department and an Army Veteran, Sergeant Paul Parkhurst, who has served since 2006, and Deputy Jesse Acuna who has served since 2010. From the Fullerton Police Department, I would like to recognize, Sergeant Ryan O'Neil, who has served our community since 2008. From the Chino Hill's Sheriffs Station, I would like to honor Deputy Ed Hernandez, Deputy Eileen Negron, and Deputy Tony Ortega for the daily sacrifices that they make to keep our citizens safe.

These deputies have gone above and beyond the call of duty. Not only serving their community while in uniform, but also using their personal time to help those in need. Lieutenant Giandomenico and Deputy Acuna help disadvantaged youth in Kenya at the School of Angels, a school they founded to provide over 100 children a safe place to gain educational opportunities. Sergeant Parkhurst, a Marine combat veteran, helps transitioning veterans who are returning from active duty adjust to civilian life in the Los Angeles Sheriffs Departments, Vets to Vets program.

Madam Speaker, I urge you and my other distinguished colleagues to join me in commending these heroes: Lieutenant Tomas Giandomenico, Sergeant Paul Parkhurst, Sergeant Ryan O'Neil, Deputy Jesse Acuna, Deputy Ed Hernandez, Deputy Eileen Negron, Deputy Tony Ortega, as well as all law enforcement officers, past, and present that make our country, and my District such a special place.

HONORING THE CAREER OF MS. TAMMY ROGERS

HON. TRENT KELLY
OF MISSISSIPPI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. KELLY of Mississippi. Madam Speaker, I rise today to commemorate the outstanding career of Ms. Tammy Rogers and congratulate her on her retirement from the Lee County Board of Supervisors. After nearly three decades in this seat, Ms. Rogers has served her county well and set the precedent of hard work and commitment in county government.

Tammy Rogers first applied as the Lee County Board of Supervisors Secretary in 1989, though this was not the first they had heard from her. A coworker recalls her phone calls regarding the dilapidated state of a bridge near her home. Ms. Rogers commitment to excellence was only solidified by her new position in public service. She is known for her work-ethic and transparency among her coworkers, as well as her dedication to forming relationships with each supervisor. It is dedication like this that makes North Mississippi great.

The decision to retire after 30 years of service was a difficult one for Ms. Rogers, however she will continue with her career at a local bank. I respect and admire her commitment to public service for so many years and wish her the best in this new chapter of life.

Her colleague Billy Davis said of Ms. Rogers, "You can get some more good ones, but you won't get anyone better." I think this comment exemplifies Ms. Rogers impact on her community and dedication to service. She will continue to be a pillar in her community.

HON. ROBERT E. LATTA

Mr. LATTA. Madam Speaker, it is my great pleasure to pay special tribute to an outstanding student from Ohio's Fifth Congressional District. I am pleased to announce that Caleb Wawrzyniak of Sylvania, Ohio has been offered an appointment to the United States Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Caleb's offer of appointment permits him to attend the United States Air Force Academy this fall with the incoming Class of 2024. Attending one of our nation's military academies not only offers the opportunity to serve our country, but also guarantees a world-class education while undertaking one of the most challenging and rewarding experiences of their lives.

Caleb brings a tremendous amount of leadership, service, and dedication to the incoming Class of 2024. IN RECOGNITION OF THE 100TH BIRTHDAY OF ORRIN (BOODY) BROWN, JR.

HON. MIKE ROGERS
OF ALABAMA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. ROGERS of Alabama. Madam Speaker, I ask for the House's attention to recognize the 100th birthday of Orrin (Boody) Brown, Jr.

Mr. Brown was born on Easter Sunday April 4th, 1920, to Orrin and Mary Charles at their home on South 4th Avenue in Opelika, Alabama. During his childhood, Mr. Brown attended Miriam S. Brown Elementary School.

As a teenager, his family moved to North 8th Street just across from Cliff Hare High School where he graduated in 1937. He worked several after-school and summer jobs including working as a soda jerk at a local pharmacy. Always a music lover, Mr. Brown played the alto saxophone with a small group of friends in town.

After high school graduation, he attended Alabama Polytechnic Institute (API), now known as Auburn University. With World War II looming, Mr. Brown joined the Air Cadet program, but failed the initial physical because he didn't meet the weight requirement. After increasing his dietary intake, he passed the physical. He graduated in 1941 with a degree in Aeronautical Supervision and was then commissioned in the Army Air Corps.

Mr. Brown was assigned to Cherry Point, North Carolina where he learned to fly anti-sub patrol as a navigator/bombardier. When the U.S. joined the war, his group was sent to England as part of the 8th Air Force. He flew 30 missions in B-24s dropping supplies and agents to the French, Belgian and Norwegian resistance. He remained in the National Guard after the war and retired as a Lieutenant Colonel.

After returning to Opelika, Mr. Brown worked assisting veterans with loans. He met his future wife, Barbara Saunders on a blind date. They married in October of 1947 and were blessed with three daughters: Barbara (Bebe) and twin sisters Stephanie and Debbie. Mr. Brown has ten grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren.

Mr. Brown worked at the Alabama Gas Company and later with Botsford Knight Insurance Agency until his retirement. He was an active member of First United Methodist Church where he sang in the choir and participated in the Lumpkin Sunday School Class. He has been a member of the Kiwanis Club for over 60 years and was a member of the Saugahatchee Country Club where he enjoyed playing golf and preferred walking to riding in a golf cart. He still enjoys watching Auburn and SEC sports.

Madam Speaker, please join me in recognizing Mr. Brown and wishing him a very happy 100th birthday.

INHUMANITY IN AFGHANISTAN

HON. JOE WILSON

OF SOUTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Madam Speaker, on Tuesday May 12th there was an inhuman murderous attack by terrorists of a 100-bed hospital compound in Kabul, Afghanistan, which included a maternity ward run by aid group Doctors Without Borders. Gruesomely, the terrorist attack left 16 murdered, including mothers, infants, and healthcare workers, and 15 others were wounded. Shortly thereafter, a cowardly suicide bomber targeted a funeral ceremony of a local police commander in Nangahar, leaving at least 24 dead and 68 injured. This level of fanaticism underscores that we must secure Afghan families or the terrorists will again eagerly kill Americans as they did on September 11th from a cave in Afghanistan.

Tuesday's gut-wrenching attacks are unfortunately not an aberration in Afghanistan, as terrorists who would like to stifle freedom and liberty continue to destabilize the country and threaten the democratic trajectory of the Afghan government. Although the Afghan Taliban have formally denied their participation in these attacks, President Ashraf Ghani pointed an accusatory finger at the terrorist group and called on them to cease and desist. "I once again call on them to embrace peace," President Ghani said in an official statement, noting that it is "not only a demand of the government, but the nation and the international community." America is grateful for President Ghani's courageous leadership. As Co-Chairman of the Afghan Caucus, I especially have appreciated meeting with the President in Kabul where I found firsthand his devotion to the people.

If the Taliban truly did not participate in these heinous attacks, the group should work with the Afghan government to bring the murderous perpetrators to justice.

It is especially tragic that these attacks occurred during the Muslim holy Month of Ramadan, a time meant for solemn prayer and peace. The people of Afghanistan deserve a peaceful future, free from terrorism and death that they have been plagued with for far too long.

Americans pray that peace, stability, and security return to Afghanistan and we stand ready to support Afghanistan's government and security services in their efforts to realize this dream for prosperity of Afghan families.

TRIBUTE TO MR. LESLIE HERBERT WEXNER

HON. STEVE STIVERS

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. STIVERS. Madam Speaker, I rise today on behalf of myself and my colleagues, Representatives TROY BALDERSON and JOYCE BEATTY, as well as the people of Central Ohio to celebrate the career of one of Ohio's most distinguished citizens, a man who devoted his life to building a historic company and to the improvement of his community, Mr. Leslie Herbert Wexner.

Born in Dayton, Ohio, Mr. Wexner has lived the American Dream. The child of a Russian-Jewish immigrant and a first generation American, he attended The Ohio State University and served in the Ohio Air National Guard. He then got his start in the retail industry working at his family's store, Leslie's. He used that first-hand experience to found The Limited, taking the company public on the New York Stock Exchange just six years later.

Since then, he grew L Brands to, at one point, include household names such as Victoria's Secret, Bath & Body Works, Abercrombie and Henri Bendel. He has consistently been ranked among the Top 100 Best Performing Chief Executive Officers and was named the longest-serving CEO of a Fortune 500 company in 2012.

His success as an entrepreneur is matched only by his extraordinary impact as a philanthropist who has made incredible contributions to Central Ohio. The Wexner Foundation began in order to fill a void in the North American Jewish Community, and has since expanded its mission, with programs including the Wexner Service Corps, the Wexner Field Fellowship, Wexner Senior Leaders, and Wexner Alumni Summits.

Beyond that, he and his wife, Abigail, have empowered individuals throughout Central Ohio with their charitable works, including support for the Columbus Foundation, The Ohio State University's Wexner Medical Center, the Abigail Wexner Research Institute at Nationwide Children's Hospital, and the Wexner Center for the Arts.

To attempt to quantify Mr. Wexner's impact is impossible. As Mr. Doug Kridler, president and chief executive officer of the Columbus Foundation once said, "Les blew the ceiling off our sense of the possible in Columbus."

Mr. Wexner tackled projects large and small. From growing his business and providing thousands of jobs, to supporting developing leaders and encouraging medical breakthroughs, he has undeniably helped make Central Ohio a wonderful place to live, work, and raise a family.

We all have come to know Mr. Wexner for his tireless work ethic, and his commitment to improving the lives of his neighbors. He has done a phenomenal job of building consensus and demonstrating the importance of civility in the process. His impact will be far-reaching for years and years to come, and as he begins this next chapter in his life, we are confident that our communities will continue to benefit from his exemplary leadership.

It is an honor to recognize his retirement, and we ask all of our colleagues to join us in congratulating Mr. Les Wexner on an extraordinary career and wishing him and Abigail all the best.

HONORING RICHARD L. JACOBS ON THE CELEBRATION OF HIS 90TH BIRTHDAY

HON. ROSA L. DeLAURO

OF CONNECTICUT

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Ms. DeLAURO. Madam Speaker, it is my privilege to rise today to join the New Haven community in extending my heartfelt congratulations and very best wishes to Richard L. Jacobs, Esq., as he celebrates his 90th birthday. A New Haven native who has dedicated a lifetime to the pursuit of advocacy and justice, this is a remarkable milestone for this pillar of our community.

The Jacobs family's law practice has been an institution in the City of New Haven since its founding by Dick's father, Israel, more than a century ago. Following his graduation from Yale University and Yale Law School, Dick joined the family firm where he has been practicing for more than six decades. He is well known for both his staunch advocacy on behalf of as well as his sincere affection for his clients. Dick's commitment and determination to ensure justice for all led to his early and unflinching support of the New Haven Legal Assistance Association and ensuring that those most in need had access to quality, affordable legal services.

Throughout his professional career, Dick has demonstrated an unparalleled commitment to the justice system. He has been a member of the New Haven County Bar Association and the American Association for Justice since his bar admittance in 1957 and has served four years as both a member and section chairman on the Connecticut Bar Association. Among the many accolades he has earned, Dick was honored with both the Connecticut Bar Association's Special President's Award as well as the New Haven Legal Assistance Association's Award for Support and Equal Access to Justice. Dick is endowed with an unwavering duty to pursue what is right and it is that indefectible spirit that has won him the respect and admiration of those fortunate enough to know him both in and out of the courtroom.

A lifelong resident of New Haven, Dick has always shown a deep commitment to the community. It is where he and his wife, Cary, raised their own family and where they continue their good work to make a difference. A proud graduate of Yale University and Yale Law School, Dick is an Eli through and through—never missing a home football game, often simply walking right to Yale Bowl to see the games.

Like so many others, I consider myself fortunate to know Dick Jacobs and I am honored to have this opportunity to celebrate this very special occasion. Today, as he marks his 90th birthday, we pay tribute to the lifetime of dedication Richard L. Jacobs has made to the City of New Haven and our legal system. I wish Dick all the best for many more years of health and happiness. Happy Birthday.

Randy Thompson's accomplishment is to be commended not just in our district, but across our state and nation. Not only does his work serve as an example of academic excellence and perseverance, but it also serves as a source of pride for the citizens of South Arkansas.

HONORING SACRAMENTO COUNTY SHERIFF'S DEPUTY MARK STASYUK

HON. AMI BERA

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. BERA. Madam Speaker, I rise today in recognition of National Police Week and to honor a fallen law enforcement officer who served my community, Sacramento County Sheriff's Deputy Mark Stasyuk.

On September 17, 2018, Deputy Stasyuk and Officer Julie Robertson responded to a call at a local auto parts store. A gun battle ensued at the store and Deputy Stasyuk was killed in the line of duty. Sheriff's Deputy Mark Stasyuk was a four-and-a-half year veteran of the Sacramento County Sheriff's Office.

Deputy Stasyuk was a beloved son, brother, and newlywed husband to his wife, Amy. He was a member of Sacramento County's vibrant Russian-American community, had a strong faith and a love of the outdoors.

Deputy Stasyuk had planned on creating his wife's dream backyard at their new house. Tragically, he was killed before he could fulfill her dream. To honor his life and service, his fellow deputies at the Sacramento County Deputy Sheriff's Association stepped in—working with local contractors to make sure that the backyard was finished and could be a healing place for Amy and the Stasyuk family.

This week in May marks the annual observance of National Police Week. Deputy Stasyuk's bravery and sacrifice for the Sacramento community and his fellow deputies' support of his family is a testament to the commitment to service that law enforcement officers bring to our communities every day. Today, I ask my colleagues to join me in honoring all those have taken the oath to protect and serve, and who have fallen in the line of duty. We are forever grateful for Deputy Stasyuk's sacrifice, and he will not be forgotten.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Madam Speaker, in the midst of the battle against the Wuhan Virus it is refreshing to read of innovations by small businesses to protect our courageous health professionals.

The Augusta Chronicle first page featured Lisa Stuart of Carolina CoverTech on May 4th with a thoughtful article by Staff Writer Damon Cline, which I include in the RECORD:

Carolina CoverTech makes 12,000 products that—as the company slogan says—“cover, protect, contain and enclose.”

But it wasn't until this month that the third-generation manufacturer made a product to cover and protect health care workers.

The North Augusta-based custom fabricator—best known for producing commercial awnings, golf car fabrics and spill-control guards for the oil industry—is making disposable isolation gowns for University Hospital.

With the COVID-19 pandemic draining the nation's supply of personal protection gear, the hospital called on CoverTech to produce a special run to help get it through the shortage.

“Three weeks ago we had never made one, ever,” CoverTech President Rian True said. “Now we're making 2,000 a day.”

Although the company and the hospital are less than 15 minutes apart, the idea of a supplier-customer relationship was something neither knew was possible.

But when gown stockpiles started running low, University began searching for options while volunteers and staff cranked out up to 1,200 smocks a day using inexpensive sealing machines and plastic sheeting from home improvement stores.

In a facility that disposes of 2,000 gowns a day, hospital officials predicted all inventory would be exhausted by the time the pandemic's predicted “curve” began its upward ascent. Mike Brown, University's director of materials management, offhandedly mentioned the dilemma to Greg Shuford, the pharmacy manager at University's Summer-ville campus.

Shuford happened to know True, and he quickly put the two together.

CoverTech operations manager Lisa Stuart said the plant started producing prototypes using existing material within a day of the first meeting.

“We like people who come to us and need us to solve a problem,” she said. “We can be agile and do things quickly.”

After a few modifications and switching the material to a textured plastic sheeting, the plant had created a gown that fit the hospital's needs. True said it took a little over a week to get the gown line up to full production.

Brown said some of the hospital's nursing staff have mentioned they prefer CoverTech's smock to the ones sourced from the hospital's medical-equipment supplier.

“They say its a little more durable,” Brown said. “So they have managed to make a gown that is of equivalent quality and is a little more durable.”

The gowns, generally light blue in color, keep bodily fluids from contaminating health care workers' clothing and scrubs. The gowns are worn by all workers treating suspected or confirmed COVID-19 patients.

Reed said he enjoys designing products for all designing products for all types of applications, but that the gown project was especially satisfying.

“We feel like we're helping make a little bit if a difference,” he said.

MARTHA F. WILSON

HON. DONALD NORCROSS

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. NORCROSS. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor and commend the life and legacy of the late Camden, New Jersey resident the Honorable Martha F. Wilson.

Born on March 2, 1953 in New Church, Virginia, the Honorable Martha Wilson's family relocated to Camden, New Jersey where she graduated from Camden High School in 1970. Mrs. Wilson attended Camden County College and Rutgers University-Camden and following graduation she married the Honorable Gilbert "Whip" Wilson, Sheriff of Camden County, New Jersey.

The Honorable Martha Wilson was the first African American to work for the Campbell Soup Company where she served as a Medical Secretary in the Medical Department. Shortly thereafter she worked as an Accountant Receivables Clerk at the RCA Corporation located in Cherry Hill, New Jersey.

Among her many accomplishments include receiving the Camden County Federation of Democratic Women as a Camden County Women of Honor award and the Gloucester County NAACP 'Power Couple' distinction with her beloved husband Sheriff Wilson. Martha also honorably dedicated her life to serving her community in many roles such as President of the Camden City Board of Education, Representing Parent to the New Jersey School Board Association and also represented students in New Jersey, New York, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands as Executive Board Member of the National Coalition of Elementary and Secondary Education Association; National School Board Association; and Equality and Advocacy Institutes.

The residents of Camden, New Jersey greatly adored and appreciated the dedication and humble service of Mrs. Wilson. Her passing is a great loss to Camden and our entire community, as well as a deeply personal loss for those who were privileged to call her a friend and mentor.

IN RECOGNITION OF OUR NATION'S LAW ENFORCEMENT

HON. WILLIAM R. KEATING

OF MASSACHUSETTS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. KEATING. Madam Speaker, I rise today in recognition of our nation's law enforcement.

This year, May 10th marks the start of national police week. This is a time to honor the men and women that serve in local, state and federal law enforcement across our country. National Police Week is an occasion to celebrate the heroes among us and also to reflect on those that have paid the ultimate sacrifice and fallen in the line of duty.

I wish to pay a special tribute to the fallen officers whose names will be added to the National Law Enforcement Memorial this year from my home state of Massachusetts. Thomas F. Dylan, James B. DeShazo, and Harold J. Collins have made their final commitment to their community and will be justly honored at the National Law Enforcement Memorial in our nation's capital.

Typically, tens of thousands of law enforcement officers head to Washington, D.C. to partake in the events of National Police Week. This year, however, the service of these brave men and women has been made more evident than ever. Instead of celebrating with their families and friends, they continue to serve on the front lines during the Covid-19 pandemic.

Madam Speaker, I am proud to honor the incredible service of our nation's law enforcement. I ask that my colleagues join me in recognizing their sacrifice and service to our country.

HONORING PINE BLUFF SCHOOLS FOR THEIR COMMITMENT TO LEARNING IN THE TIME OF COVID-19

HON. BRUCE WESTERMAN

OF ARKANSAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. WESTERMAN. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the work of the Pine Bluff School District in Arkansas' Fourth Congressional District. In the face of COVID-19, these educators are going the extra mile to bring internet access to students working from home in rural areas.

This school district took quick action to deploy their school buses to those rural areas from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. each weekday, providing their students the opportunity to conduct their assignments from home. This actively combated the struggle that young people of low-income households may face without having access to their school's network. It also aided those students who may face rural connectivity issues.

In a rural district like Arkansas' Fourth, action like this is necessary to ensure our students can succeed even out of the classroom. Thanks to the quick thinking and hard work of educators at Pine Bluff School District, students of South Arkansas are provided the opportunity to learn and to stay connected in the time of the COVID-19 crisis.

I take this time to thank these servant-leaders for their example and for their commitment to the education of our communities' most vulnerable citizens. Because of these heroes, the future of our country is brighter, even in the face of trying times.

SYDNEY POWELL: AMERICAN LEGAL HERO

HON. JOE WILSON

OF SOUTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Madam Speaker, Americans are grateful for the persistence, competence, and professionalism of Sydney Powell Esq., attorney for General Michael Flynn. As more information emerges about the outrageous General Flynn case, it is increasingly obvious that Flynn, a decorated general and former director of the Defense Intelligence Agency, was the victim of rogue FBI entrapment on entirely illegal and unconstitutional grounds. Confirming the worst of the Deep State.

Sydney Powell deserves highest accolades for fighting for General Flynn in the face of a deliberate criminal conspiracy by rogue leadership at the FBI to incriminate both General Flynn and the Trump Administration under the fake pretense of "Russian collusion." The entire investigation began and continues to be a partisan witch hunt which must be uncovered for the sake of the American Republic. If this can happen to someone like General Flynn, indeed it can happen to any law-abiding citizen of this country. In persistently fighting against this madness, Sydney Powell and the rest of General Flynn's capable legal team also fight for the rights of all Americans to defend themselves against illegal conspiracies of the highest degree by a Deep State.

As a proud attorney myself and being the grateful father of S.C. Attorney General Alan Wilson, I am especially shocked at the rogue FBI and Department of Justice abuses of the profession.

From the outset, there was absolutely no criminal predicate before the election for investigation into General Flynn. Previously undisclosed FBI documents from 2016 make the intentions of federal investigators crystal clear. One note from these documents written by the former head of FBI counterintelligence reads, "What is our goal? Truth and admission or to get him to lie, so we can prosecute him or get him fired?" These documents also reveal discussions regarding how the Justice Department could get Flynn to admit to breaking the Logan Act, even though this law has never been used to convict an American citizen and questions abound as to its legality since its enactment in 1799.

But when General Flynn was blackmailed into pleading guilty, none of these documents were made available to him or his legal team. And while federal investigators did not believe that General Flynn had lied intentionally during the investigation, the disgraced Special Counsel Mueller and his team disregarded this and moved ahead with the dubious charges, ratcheting up the pressure by even threatening to charge General Flynn's son, aided and abetted by the shamefully biased U.S. District Judge Sullivan.

What emerges from the evidence at hand is a shameful and chilling account of attempted entrapment by the federal government against an innocent man with a long history of serving his country. I commend Sydney Powell for her fortitude and determination against these seemingly insurmountable odds. America is grateful for leaders like General Michael Flynn and for strong advocates of the law like Attorney Sydney Powell.

It is sad that many Democrats and their brazen mainstream media allies have become afflicted with Trump Derangement Syndrome leading to any nefarious illegality to establish the ends justify the means of the destruction of the Trump Presidency.

HONORING SARAH ETTA WORK

HON. JOHN JOYCE

OF PENNSYLVANIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. JOYCE of Pennsylvania. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize Sarah Etta Work as she celebrates her 100th birthday on Wednesday, May 27.

A dedicated member of her community, Mrs. Work graduated from Connellsville High School in 1938 before attending the Carnegie Institute of Technology. She managed the kitchen at Springfield Elementary School in Newville, Pennsylvania for 27 years.

Mrs. Work and her husband, Glenn, established the Mill Run Campground, now the Yogi Bear Campground in Mill Run, Pennsylvania. Today, she continues to maintain a consistent presence at the campground.

For decades, Mrs. Work has been an outstanding community member. She is a member of the Indian Creek Baptist Church, where she taught Sunday School for over 40 years. Additionally, she served as a 4-H leader for 25 years. Mrs. Work has two children, six grandchildren, and 14 great-grandchildren. Before Glenn's passing in 2007, Mr. and Mrs. Work were married for 67 years.

It's my honor to congratulate Sarah Etta Work on a century of life well-lived. I wish her a very happy 100th birthday and every continued happiness.

RECOGNIZING SUSAN DAVIS' OUTSTANDING CAREER AT THE RAINER CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

HON. ADAM SMITH

OF WASHINGTON

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. SMITH of Washington. Madam Speaker, I rise to honor and thank Susan Davis for over 12 years of dedicated service to her community as Executive Director of the Rainer Chamber of Commerce.

Susan provided an invaluable service to South Seattle over the last 12 years as the Executive Director of the Rainer Chamber of Commerce. She always saw the potential in the region and worked tirelessly to celebrate diversity and bring economic prosperity. Although not originally from Washington, Susan became a heartbeat of her community.

There are few who have had a stronger dedication to South Seattle. Susan focused on improving education, economic development, and public safety. During her time as Executive Director she produced festivals and parades for the community, helped create the Southeast Seattle Map and Guide, and hosted extraordinary guests at the Chamber luncheons. Her enthusiasm and kind spirit allowed her to connect and make friends with nearly anyone.

Susan's genuine passion for giving back did not go unnoticed—and still does not. Even though Susan is no longer with the Chamber of Commerce, she is still working on projects in the neighborhood and looking for ways to contribute to her community.

The entire community will miss Susan's presence in this role, but she has created a legacy and we will continue to see the benefits of what she accomplished for many years to come.

Madam Speaker, it is with great respect and admiration I honor Susan Davis on her outstanding career as Executive Director of the Rainer Chamber of Commerce and the lasting impression she made on her community.

HONORING THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, IRVINE FOR ITS EXEMPLARY LEADERSHIP AND COMMITMENT TO COVID-19 RESPONSE

HON. HARLEY ROUDA

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. ROUDA. Madam Speaker, I, along with Representative KATIE PORTER, rise today to recognize the University of California, Irvine for its exemplary response to the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic. UCI has always been committed to providing quality medical treatment and research to the Orange County community and improving public health nationwide. In this time of crisis, UCI's commitment to public health is nothing short of admirable.

UCI has been a leader in COVID-19 response since this threat was first recognized. Researchers and medical professionals perform extensive research, conduct clinical trials on drugs to treat the virus, test large volumes of people for the virus, and collaborate with researchers and healthcare professionals across the nation. Widespread testing is critical to tracking the spread of the coronavirus. UCI has made this a priority by testing first responders and screening physicians, staff members, and other health care providers daily. Researchers at UCI also create and produce protective shields to meet the needs of healthcare providers on the front lines and contribute sample-preserving fluid for COVID-19 test kits.

In light of this crisis, we look to institutions like UCI to provide us with the research and treatment tools to get us through this extraordinary public health crisis. We are grateful for the work UCI has done to research, prevent, and treat the virus as well as educate the public on best-practices during this time.

I ask that all Members join me in honoring the important work and leadership of the University of California, Irvine.

IN RECOGNITION OF THE 130TH ANNIVERSARY OF PELL CITY

HON. MIKE ROGERS

OF ALABAMA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. ROGERS of Alabama. Madam Speaker, I ask for the House's attention to recognize the 130th Anniversary of Pell City, Alabama.

In the late 1890s, in a small community tucked midway between Birmingham and Atlanta, three railroad lines connected. The story of Pell City began when a young insurance salesman en route to Talladega missed his train, and, thus, was forced to spend a night at Pell City's Cornett Hotel. That young man's name was Sumter Cogswell.

Upon reviewing the community's location to water, cotton fields, coal mines and railroads, Mr. Cogswell decided to invest in the growth of the community. It took him two tries and upon his second try, he moved his family and household belongings to the community raising the number of people calling this area home to just over 40 people.

A textile mill was built and jobs were plentiful. In 1901, Pell City became the location of the second courthouse in St. Clair County, an act that would take an amendment to the Alabama State Constitution to complete.

In the 1960s, Logan Martin Lake and Interstate 20 added to the town's appeal, and the population increased dramatically.

In the 130 years since that fateful day when Mr. Cogswell missed his train, and with the direction and investment of visionary leaders, Pell City has continued to grow and flourish in one of the fastest growing counties of Alabama.

Madam Speaker, please join me in recognizing the 130th Anniversary of Pell City, Alabama.

THANKING DAVID MANGAN FOR EXEMPLARY SERVICE

HON. BRUCE WESTERMAN

OF ARKANSAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. WESTERMAN. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor David Mangan of Hot Springs, Arkansas for his front-line efforts to combat the COVID-19 epidemic in our home state. Due to his actions, medical professionals will now be able to research the effects of convalescent plasma on those recovering from the novel virus.

In April 2020, Mangan became the first person to donate blood plasma after the U.S. Food and Drug Administration approved clinical trials and use of plasma extracted from those who have survived the virus to treat those who are currently battling COVID-19.

After contracting the virus on his way home to Arkansas from a ski trip, Mangan and his wife soon realized the severity of their symptoms, quarantining themselves for 14 days and learning of their positive tests. While he has recovered from the illness, Mangan knew that his plasma could be the life-saving difference for someone else facing this virus. During a visit to the Arkansas Blood Institute, Mangan donated over 600 millimeters of yellow plasma to be donated to the cause.

David Mangan is truly an example of heroism in a time of great need. He exemplifies the strength of a survivor and the heart of a true servant. I take this time to wish him and his family well in the coming days and thank them for their commitment to seeing our communities thrive and return to good health.

SECRETARY POMPEO IN ISRAEL

HON. JOE WILSON

OF SOUTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Madam Speaker, congratulations to Secretary of State Mike Pompeo for traveling to Israel this week, his first international trip in nearly two months amid the ongoing Wuhan Virus pandemic. The trip coincided with the two-year anniversary of President Trump fulfilling his campaign and implementing U.S. law by relocating the U.S. Embassy to Jerusalem, Israel's eternal unified capital. I was grateful to lead the House Delegation with Senator Lindsey Graham, Vice President Mike Pence, Ivanka Trump, and Jared Kushner for the opening of the new embassy with Ambassador David Friedman as President Trump fulfilled "Promises Made, Promises Kept." Secretary Pompeo's trip also coincided with the 72nd anniversary of the Israel's Declaration of Independence on May 14, 1948. The timing of the visit, especially given today's circumstances, sends a clear message to our valued allies and friends in Israel: the United States will unequivocally stand by your side.

Secretary Pompeo's visit also comes as Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu and his political rival Knesset Speaker Benny Gantz are in midst of forming a unity government after over a year of political stalemate that has paralyzed the Israeli government. This new unity government will be especially significant as it will take the first steps to realize President Trump's bold and unprecedented "Peace to Prosperity" Middle East peace plan coordinated by Jared Kushner.

President Trump's plan, unveiled in January 2020, offers a fresh opportunity to restart final status negotiations between Israel and the Palestinians. This new plan includes many incentives for both sides, including an Israeli settlement freeze for four years, land swaps for both sides, and $50 billion in new investment in the Palestinian territories.

While Israel has indicated a willingness to restart the negotiations, the Palestinian side has unfortunately categorically rebuffed President Trump's plan, in line with their rejectionist track-record. I am grateful for the Trump Administration's efforts to restart negotiations for Middle East peace, and I beseech both sides to take this opportunity for a new, hopeful future seriously.

Undoubtedly another high priority item on Secretary Pompeo's agenda in Israel is the persistent threat to Israel and indeed the stability and security of the entire region, posed by Iran's sponsorship of terrorism and its development of ballistic missiles. The threat will unfortunately be compounded in October of this year, when the United Nations arms embargo on Iran expires pursuant to UN Security Council Resolution 2231.

Not only does its expiration allow Iran to buy potentially game-changing military hardware and technology, it also weakens and effectively eliminates the legal architecture that has underpinned international efforts to restrict Iran's ability to transfer weapons to their proxies. I'm grateful that Secretary Pompeo and President Trump have made coordination of security with Israel a top priority in light of this growing threat.

Secretary Pompeo's visit to Israel this week is yet another indication of the Trump Administration's strong support for our valued ally, Israel. It is a strong sign that this Administration will not forsake our allies and will always stand with the people of Israel to face any challenge side-by-side.

HONORING THE SERVICE OF TYLER KENT, GOVERNMENT AC-COUNTABILITY OFFICE

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. THOMPSON of Mississippi. Madam Speaker, as the Chairman of the Committee on Homeland Security, I rise to honor Mr. Tyler Kent upon the conclusion of his service to the Committee as a Detailee from the Government Accountability Office.

Since joining the Committee one year ago, Mr. Kent has made valuable contributions to our work by sharing his considerable expertise on government operations and transportation and maritime security issues. He has served as a reliable resource to our staff and significantly advanced our legislative and oversight efforts. In particular, during his tenure on the Committee, Mr. Kent was deeply involved in our oversight of the implementation of the TSA Modernization Act. Additionally, he helped identify solutions for supporting the Transportation Security Administration workforce which were integral to the House passage of the Rights for Transportation Security Officers Act of 2020 earlier this year.

Throughout his time on the Committee, Mr. Kent has displayed a high degree of professionalism and personal commitment to providing Members of Congress and staff valuable insight and information. Mr. Kent has demonstrated commendable dedication, enthusiasm, and good humor, which has helped all of us enormously.

We thank Mr. Kent for his service to the Committee and our country and wish him the very best as he returns to the Government Accountability Office.

HONORING THE LIFE OF RENEE
KAPCHUK GRUTMAN

HON. DEBBIE WASSERMAN SCHULTZ

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Ms. WASSERMAN SCHULTZ. Madam Speaker, it is with a heavy heart that I rise to honor the life of my dear friend and constituent, Renee Kapchuk Grutman.

For decades, Ms. Grutman served as a fierce advocate for Broward County's children. Renee found her life-long home in our public schools and was an educational and PTA superstar at her core. She faithfully and voluntarily served in numerous PTA council board positions and worked vigorously in pursuit of the optimum educational experience for every Broward County public school student.

The word "no" was not in Renee's vocabulary. She helped plan, fund, and organize every council event including trainings, meetings, awards banquets, conventions, student programs, and holidays to name a few.

She was affectionately known as The Partnership Queen, using her can-do spirit and infectious optimism to secure partnerships, funding, and assistance for school activities—activities that would not be possible if not for Renee's passion, determination, and support. She was a champion in every sense of the word.

Renee was a dear friend who embodied the best of what it means to give back to your community. She was a selfless, compassionate, and a tireless advocate for others and will be profoundly missed but never forgotten.

My heart is with her children, grandchildren, and all her extended family.

Mr. DESAULNIER. Madam Speaker, although I continue to work on behalf of the people, businesses, and communities of Contra Costa during this difficult time, I regret that I was unable to vote on Friday, May 15, 2020 due to my ongoing recovery from non-COVID pneumonia.

TRIBUTE TO COACH ROBERT
EDWIN "ED" NOVAK, SR.

HON. C.A. DUTCH RUPPERSBERGER

OF MARYLAND

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. RUPPERSBERGER. Madam Speaker, I rise before you today to honor the life and legacy of Coach Robert Edwin "Ed" Novak, Sr., for his exceptional service to our country and his contributions to the education of youth in Baltimore.

A native Baltimorean, Coach Novak graduated from Baltimore City College in 1944. Immediately after, at the age of 17, he enlisted in the U.S. Navy, where he was assigned to the Pacific Theater during World War II as an Electrician's Mate First Class onboard the USS LST 582 and USS LST 72.

After the war, Coach Novak resumed his education, earning his Bachelor's Degree from the University of Maryland College Park, and meeting his wife, Mrs. Phyllis Jane Shipley. Together they would have three children: Deborah Glasgow, Robert Novak, Jr., and Kevin Novak; as well as six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Coach Novak began his coaching career as an assistant football coach for his alma matter, the City Collge Knights, where he was my swim and football coach. During his tenure, Coach Novak would lead the Knight's football program to a 6–2 record against their rival, Baltimore Polytechnic Institute, six Maryland Scholastic Association championships, and a top 10 ranking in the country.

In 1965, he became the first athletic director at Northwestern High School in Baltimore. Coach Novak coached four sports and led the Wildcats to two football state titles before transferring to the McDonogh School in Owings Mills in 1978, where he would work for 13 years. Coach Novak was inducted to the McDonogh School Athletic Hall of Fame, was named Maryland Athletic Director of the Year, and was inducted to the Maryland State Athletic Director's Hall of Fame.

Madam Speaker, aside from the decades Coach Novak spent in school athletics and sports administration, he was perhaps best known for his service to his community. Coach Novak and his wife Phyllis facilitated reunions for his WWII ship and he was an active member of the Ensign C. Markland Kelly, Jr. Memorial Post 174 as well as the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 9083. He taught swimming for 21 years at the Hampton Pool in Towson, and was a co-founder of the Free State Swim League, for which he was recognized by the American Red Cross for his 30 years and 4,500 hours of volunteerism.

Madam Speaker, I ask that you join me today to honor the life of Coach Robert Edwin "Ed" Novak, Sr. His compassion and dedication to our country, the Baltimore community, and his students is an inspiration to all. I humbly express my condolences to his friends and family and wish them peace and comfort in the days ahead.

WUHAN VIRUS CORRECTLY NAMED

HON. JOE WILSON

OF SOUTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Madam Speaker, as the grateful son of a World War II Flying Tiger of the U.S. Army Air Corps who served in China, I grew up with appreciation for the people of Xian, Chungdu, and Kunming where he served. First Lieutenant Hugh deV. Wilson educated me on the bravery of the Chinese people to resist aggression with an extraordinary cultural heritage. It is because of my devotion to the people of China that I believe the proper identification of the deadly threat to all nations of the world is The Wuhan Virus.

WHY CORRECTLY IDENTIFYING WUHAN VIRUS?
Actual location of origination

Underscores American sympathy for initial Chinese victims

HONORING THE EXEMPLARY SERVICE OF CRYSTAL RIDGE DISTILLERY

HON. BRUCE WESTERMAN

OF ARKANSAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. WESTERMAN. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the exemplary service of Crystal Ridge Distillery. Family owned and operated in Hot Springs, Arkansas, Crystal Ridge Distillery was on the front lines of battling the threat of COVID-19 on a state-wide stage.

Started in 2018, Crystal Ridge Distillery was created by Danny Bradley, a native of the Hot Springs area with a passion for local history, job creation, and revitalization of the Downtown Hot Springs area. Originally intended to become a family venue restaurant and distillery, Mr. Bradley and his family quickly saw the need for action in facing the public health crisis that resulted from COVID-19.

Halting the production of its locally sourced southern moonshine, the Bradley family and Crystal Ridge team shifted their production and their fermentation tanks to produce hand sanitizer. Within days, Crystal Ridge hand sanitizer was on the shelves of Arkansas stores, ameliorating the shortage in the State of Arkansas and protecting its people from the spread of the virus.

The quick action of Crystal Ridge Distillery not only actively combatted a public health crisis, but it also served to highlight the power of a few good people who have the desire and conviction to serve their fellow man. Their family and their business are to be commended for their heroic efforts not just here in Arkansas, but all across America.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. FULCHER. Madam Speaker, as a man of faith, I have seen the spiritual strength of our nation tested during these challenging times. As a ray of hope, I run proud to showcase the work of Mission Aviation Fellowship, headquartered in Nampa Idaho, on their 75th anniversary. Founded shortly after World War II, a few veteran pilots who served our country found a way to extend the gospel of Christ to those in desperate need of aid, supplies, and medicine. On May 20, 1945, a non-profit organization was formed, and on February 23, 1946, Mission Aviation Fellowship chartered their first flight from La Habra, California to Tuxpan, Mexico. A founding board member, Betty Greene, served as MAF's first pilot, and after that first flight into Mexico she became the first woman to fly over the Andes mountain in South America, and the first female pilot in Sudan, as she traveled the world on behalf of MAF. She is a recipient of a Congressional Gold Medal as a Women Airforce Service Pilot (WASP) for her wartime service. Over the years, and through earthquakes, war, and genocides, Mission Aviation Fellowship sent brave men and women into uncharted areas to help those so desperately needing aid. Today, Mission Aviation Fellowship operates a fleet of 47 light aircraft, with 13 of those planes being Kodiaks, which are manufactured in Sandpoint, Idaho. In the 13 countries it serves, Mission Aviation Fellowship is that light at the end of the tunnel for many seeking aid when all else seems dark. Last year, I had the pleasure of meeting the staff of Mission Aviation Fellowship at their headquarters in Nampa, and the faith, courage, and dedication to their divinely inspired "mission" gives me great hope for our future. But as we learned on May 12, it comes at a cost. MAF pilot Joyce Lin took off from the Sentani, Papua, Indonesia airport, on her way to a village in the Papua highlands, delivering supplies for a school and COVID-19 rapid test kits for the local clinic. A few minutes later, over Sentani Lake, she declared an emergency. Joyce did not survive the ensuing accident. She loved her Lord and she loved serving other people who were in need. The MAF family is grieving the loss of this dedicated pilot. As Jesus Christ, our savior once said, "Truly, I say to you, as you did it to one of the least of these my brothers, you did it to me." May Mission Aviation Fellowship's leadership be an example for all of us during these difficult times.

IN RECOGNITION OF THE COMMISSIONING OF THE USS "KANSAS CITY" (LCS-22)

HON. EMANUEL CLEAVER

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. CLEAVER. Madam Speaker, I proudly rise today to recognize and celebrate the U.S. Navy's newest addition to its fleet, the Independence-class Littoral Combat Ship, USS Kansas City.

On September 22, 2018, before a large crowd, the USS Kansas City (LCS-22) was christened in Mobile, Alabama. She was launched on October 19, 2018, into the Mobile River. On June 20, 2020, she will be commissioned in San Diego, California.

The Independence variant Littoral Combat Ship (LCS) is testament to the hardworking and highly skilled women and men in the United States Navy and our nation's shipbuilding and manufacturing industries. It is a high-speed, agile, multi-mission ship designed to defeat growing littoral threats and provide access and dominance in coastal waters. The reconfigurability of the ship makes it a force multiplier in any environment for the Navy.

She is the third ship to be named for Kansas City, the largest city in the state of Missouri. The first USS Kansas City (CA-128) was to have been a heavy cruiser but was canceled due to the end of World War II, just days after the keel laying ceremony. The second USS Kansas City (AOR-3) was a Wichita-class replenishment oiler and saw service in the Vietnam War and Operation Desert Storm. What the future holds for the newest USS Kansas City is anyone's guess.

What I do know, without a doubt, is that the brave women and men, who took an oath to uphold the constitution and protect you and I and the liberty we hold so dear, are the true heroes and protagonists of this story. They are the ones who will be making history. They are the ones who will serve on this ship and who will make all of us from Kansas City proud as it sails with our city's name.

This ship will sail with the support of the entire city. Any sailor who steps aboard the USS Kansas City will find themselves an honorary Kansas Citian and a constituent of mine. I wish to express my sincere and grateful appreciation for the dedicated service provided by all current and future crew members of the USS Kansas City, and for the selflessness and sacrifices they and their families make in order that we may live in safety and freedom.

Go therefore, USS Kansas City and make your mark, assume your place in history. Be proud of your accomplishments and make the most of your failures.

As President Truman through his wit and wisdom once said, "Men make history. History does not make the man."

Madam Speaker, please join me in wishing the women and men of the USS Kansas City fair winds and following seas.

INDIA IS VOCAL FOR LOCAL

HON. JOE WILSON

OF SOUTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Madam Speaker, I was grateful to read in The Wall Street Journal (May 13) that Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi in a nationally televised speech pledged to boost economic self-sufficiency amid the Wuhan Virus pandemic.

With 1.3 billion people locked down since March 25th the country has suffered historic job losses as nonessential industries have been completely shut down. Prime Minister Modi is inspiring the people of India with the slogan "Let's be vocal for local"

America is fortunate to have such an incredible leader of the Indo-Pacific. I was present firsthand several years ago with Ambassador Nikki Haley to welcome the Prime Minister to the Center Ring of Madison Square Garden in New York City. Last year I was present at the historic Red Fort in New Delhi for the Prime Minister's Independence Day address, and later in Houston with President Donald Trump for the Howdy Modi event with over 50,000 attending in the largest welcoming celebration for a foreign head of state in the history of the United States.

I am confident with the obvious warm relationship of Prime Minister Narendra Modi and President Donald Trump that the families of India and America will prevail over the Wuhan Virus.

HONORING THOMAS ANTHONY
FLANNERYHON. BRENDAN F. BOYLE

OF PENNSYLVANIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. BRENDAN F. BOYLE of Pennsylvania. Madam Speaker, I rise today to ask the House of Representatives to join me in honoring Thomas Anthony Flannery.

Tom Flannery was born and raised in the Germantown neighborhood of Philadelphia to immigrant parents from Ireland in 1923. Following the attack on Pearl Harbor during WWII, Tom enlisted in the Army where he became a part of the Third Infantry Division. At 20 years old, Tom was injured and captured at Anzio where he became a Prisoner of War for over a year under the German infantry.

After returning home, Flannery married Joan Donnelly, who he met one summer in Ocean City, New Jersey. They were married for 62 years until she died eight years ago. They had seven children—Karen, Butch, Joan, Nancy, Eileen, Susie and Kate. For over 40 years Tom ran his father's "saloon", Flannery's Tavern in the Nicetown neighborhood of Philadelphia. Always more of a social worker than businessman, Tom rented out apartments above the tavern and when anyone was struggling to pay their rent, he would let them work off the rent instead of evicting them.

Tom is a humble, yet critical, member of our community. Even though he received a Purple Heart and a Bronze Star for his service in WWII, Tom considers those who didn't return home from the war the real heroes. It is people like Tom who are the gears that make the entire engine run, and who make their communities better, stronger and more interconnected. It is people like Tom that remind us what life is worth living for. He never loses sight of what's most important to him—family, friends and faith.

May Tom "live to be a hundred years."

IN RECOGNITION OF THE LIFE OF WILLIAM COLLEY, JR.HON. MIKE ROGERS

OF ALABAMA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Mr. ROGERS of Alabama. Madam Speaker, I ask for the House's attention to recognize the life of Mr. William Colley, Jr. Tommy—as he was affectionately known—passed away on April 23, 2020, at the age of 58. With his passing, the manufactured housing industry lost a legend.

Manufactured homes are a critical source of housing for more than 22 million Americans, including over 750,000 residents of Alabama. With the national homeownership rate at a 50-year low and rents increasing at a rapid pace, manufactured homes are one of the most promising avenues for addressing our country's affordable housing shortage. Tommy understood the importance of manufactured housing, and he worked every day to promote and protect the industry.

Tommy began his career with manufactured housing in 1976, painting frames in a plant when he was only 14 years old. After finishing high school, he stayed in the industry, later graduating from Troy University in Troy, Alabama, with Bachelor's and Master's Degrees in Business Administration. By 1992, he set out on his own, opening an installation company—Southern Mobile Home Service. Five years later, he joined the Alabama Manufactured Housing Commission, where he later served as Assistant Administrator.

He was also serving as Chair of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development's (HUD) Manufactured Housing Consensus Committee and as Co-Chair of the Southern Region Council of State Administrative Agencies. Last September, his office worked with HUD's Office of Manufactured Housing Programs to host the "State Administrative Agency and Primary Inspection Agency Southern and Eastern Regional Meeting" in Mobile, Alabama. Two years ago, in recognition of his commitment to the manufactured housing industry, he was honored as the "2018 Alabama Manufactured Housing Association Person of the Year" by the Alabama Manufactured Housing Association. In February, he was inducted into the Alabama Manufactured Housing Industry Hall of Fame.

A devoted family man, he and his wife, Lisa, were married for 32 years. He is also survived by two children—his son, Ethan (Kaela), and daughter, Devon (Sam). A life-long resident of Eclectic, Alabama, he was also an elder and minister with Mt. Hebron Church of Christ. In his spare time, he loved to fish.

Madam speaker, please join me in recognizing the life of Tommy and everything he did to support this industry. He will be missed.

SALUTING 3,000 TOLEDO JEEP
WORKERS TO 'RETURN-TO-WORK'
MONDAY BY STATE EDICT

HON. MARCY KAPTUR

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, May 15, 2020

Ms. KAPTUR. Madam Speaker, I rise today with sincere concern for the well-being of thousands of workers and include in the RECORD this congratulatory entry during the COVID-19 pandemic. This coming Monday thousands of plant workers, largely connected to auto manufacturing and supplier networks, will "return to work." Their return is a State of Ohio decision by the Governor to allow production to resume at Fiat Chrysler in Toledo and hundreds of other Ohio manufacturing facilities. As Co-Chair of the U.S. House Auto Caucus, I represent workers who build the iconic Jeep product, vehicles from GM and Ford, and components from glass to tires and from paint to bucket seats. These plants and their workers were as instrumental in creating reliable over ground transportation during the last century in World War II that carried our Allied victory. Today they are building new hybrid and electric vehicle technologies. Ohioans build things. Workers must be allowed to do their craft in a healthy and safe environment. In their "return to work," these workers likely represent the largest manufacturing workforce to restart production nearly anywhere in America.

My primary concern remains the workers, their health and safety, and the absolute necessity of embarking upon a COVID-19 testing regime that will protect them, their coworkers, and their families from the spread of the dreaded Covid-19 virus even as the Governor has opened the doors to these plants. To this end, I have spent hours on end on the telephone and in meetings with top executives, union leaders, workers, health professionals, local health departments, the state health department, private and publicly operated labs.

My goal: to get up and running, the testing capacity for which I have voted for and workers have been promised. But that is still largely lacking in Ohio and across our nation.

I remain deeply concerned about the health and safety of Ohio's workers. I offer my full cooperation to achieve a testing regime acceptable to our workforce, medical sciences, and all concerned. Workers who enter plants across Ohio will be working at a closer density than those who live in many of our nursing homes where COVID-19 has struck with a vengeance. In the case of Toledo Jeep, workers will travel from Michigan and Indiana to work - untested and uncertain about what they face. Contact tracing will be harder without testing. Lucas County already has endured the highest number of COVID-19 related deaths in our State. We must pay attention. Today, the Veteran's Home in Sandusky was struck by the COVID-19. It only takes one person who has the virus asymptotically to directly spread it to many others. Testing is the only way to ensure that workers can work in a safe environment. A temperature test is not sufficient.

I cannot remain silent as this workforce begins not only a new week, but a new chapter in American history. I offer my full personal and financial support as I am able to work with the management and workforce representatives at the Fiat Chrysler and other facilities to embark upon necessary, free testing to assure the short and long-term health of these valuable American workers. Ours is a great nation, We must not accept less.

On a personal note, our beloved father retired from the old Jeep facility on Central Avenue and our beautiful mother served the organizing committee of the original United Auto Workers unit at Champion Spark Plug, I believe our family knows firsthand what it takes to assure worker health and safety. In their memory, I take this stand for autoworkers, and all workers, who are being released to the workforce. Our great nation has the capability to safeguard the health and well-being of every person. To paraphrase a Civil War Admiral: "Damn the Torpedoes! Full speed ahead!" This must be our rallying cry for testing all our workers. America should accept no less than the best.
