(c) DISADVANTAGED BUSINESS ENTERPRISES.—

(1) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—

(A) despite the real improvements caused by the disadvantaged business enterprise program, minority- and women-owned businesses across the country continue to confront serious and significant obstacles to success caused by race and gender discrimination in the federally assisted surface transportation market and related markets across the United States;

(B) the continuing race and gender discrimination described in subparagraph (A) merits the continuation of the disadvantaged business enterprise program;

(C) recently, the disparities caused by discrimination against African American, Hispanic American, Asian American, Native American, and women business owners have been further exacerbated by the coronavirus pandemic and its disproportionate effects on minority- and women-owned businesses across the nation;

(D) Congress has received and reviewed testimony and documentation of race and gender discrimination from numerous sources, including congressional hearings and other investigative activities, scientific reports, reports issued by public and private agencies at every level of government, news reports, academic publications, reports of discrimination by organizations and individuals, and discrimination lawsuits, which continue to demonstrate that race- and gender-neutral efforts alone are insufficient to address the problem;

(E) the testimony and documentation described in subparagraph (D) demonstrate that discrimination across the United States poses an injurious and enduring barrier to full and fair participation in surface transportation-related businesses of women business owners and minority business owners and has negatively affected firm formation, development and success in many aspects of surface transportation-related business in the public and private markets; and

(F) the testimony and documentation described in subparagraph (D) provide a clear picture of the inequality caused by discrimination that continues to plague our nation and a strong basis that there is a compelling need for the continuation of the disadvantaged business enterprise program to address race and gender discrimination in surface transportation-related business.

(2) DEFINITIONS.—In this subsection, the following definitions apply:

(A) SMALL BUSINESS CONCERN.—The term “small business concern” means a small business concern (as the term is used in section 3 of the Small Business Act (15 U.S.C. 632)).

(3) AMOUNTS FOR SMALL BUSINESS CONCERNS.—Except to the extent that the Secretary of Transportation determines otherwise, not less than 10 percent of the amounts made available for any program under titles I, II, V, and VII of this division and section 403 of title 23, United States Code, shall be expended through small business concerns owned and controlled by socially and economically disadvantaged individuals.

(4) ANNUAL LISTING OF DISADVANTAGED BUSINESS ENTERPRISES.—Each State shall annually—

(8) SENSE OF CONGRESS ON PROMPT PAYMENT OF DBE SUBCONTRACTORS.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(A) the Secretary of Transportation should take additional steps to ensure that recipients comply with section 26.29 of title 49, Code of Federal Regulations (the disadvantaged business enterprises prompt payment rule), or any corresponding regulation, in awarding federally funded transportation contracts under laws and regulations administered by the Secretary; and

(B) such additional steps should include increasing the Department of Transportation’s ability to track and keep records of complaints and to make that information publicly available.

“(3) COORDINATION OF FEDERAL AND STATE FUNDING.—The Commission, in consultation with the Office of Internet Connectivity and Growth, shall establish processes through the rulemaking under subsection (e) to—

“(A) enable States to conduct statewide systems of competitive bidding as part of, or in coordination with, national systems of competitive bidding;

“(B) assist States in conducting statewide systems of competitive bidding;

“(C) ensure that program funds awarded by the Commission and program funds awarded by the States are not used in the same areas; and

“(D) ensure that program funds and funds awarded through other Federal programs to expand broadband service with a download speed of at least 100 megabits per second, an upload speed of at least 100 megabits per second, and a latency that is sufficiently low to allow real-time, interactive applications, are not used in the same areas.

“(c) PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS.—

“(1) TECHNOLOGY NEUTRALITY REQUIRED.—The entity administering a system of competitive bidding (either a State or the Commission) in making awards may not favor a project using any particular technology.

“(2) GIGABIT PERFORMANCE FUNDING.—The Commission shall reserve 20 percent of the amounts to be awarded by the Commission under subsection (b)(1), and each State shall reserve 20 percent of the amounts distributed to such State under subsection (b)(2), for bidders committing (with respect to any particular project by such a bidder) to offer, not later than the date that is 5 years after the date on which funding is provided under this section for such project, broadband service with a download speed of at least 1 gigabit per second and an upload speed of at least 1 gigabit per second or, in the case of a project to provide broadband service to an unserved anchor institution, broadband service with a download speed of at least 10 gigabits per second per 1,000 users and an upload speed of at least 10 gigabits per second per 1,000 users.

“(3) SYSTEM OF COMPETITIVE BIDDING PROCESS.—The entity administering a system of competitive bidding (either a State or the Commission) shall structure the system of competitive bidding process to—

“(A) first hold a system of competitive bidding only for bidders committing (with respect to any particular project by such a bidder) to offer, not later than the date that is 5 years after the date on which funding is provided under this section for such project, broadband service with a download speed of at least 1 gigabit per second and an upload speed of at least 1 gigabit per second or, in the case of a project to provide broadband service to an unserved anchor institution, broadband service with a download speed of at least 10 gigabits per second per 1,000 users and an upload speed of at least 10 gigabits per second per 1,000 users; and

or more systems of competitive bidding, in areas not receiving awards under subparagraph (A), to award funds for projects in areas that are estimated to remain unserved areas, areas with low-tier service, or (to the extent permitted under this section) areas with mid-tier service, or (to the extent permitted under this section) for projects to offer broadband service to anchor institutions that are estimated to remain unserved anchor institutions, after the completion of the projects for which funding is awarded under the system of competitive bidding required by subparagraph (A) or any previous system of competitive bidding under this subparagraph.

“(4) FUNDS PRIORITY PREFERENCE.—There shall be a preference in a system of competitive bidding for projects that would expand access to broadband service in areas where at least 90 percent of the population has no access to broadband service or does not have access to broadband service offered with a download speed of at least 25 megabits per second, with an upload speed of at least 3 megabits per second, and with latency that is sufficiently low to allow real-time, interactive applications. Such projects shall be given priority in such system of competitive bidding over all other projects, regardless of how many preferences under paragraph (5) for which such other projects qualify.

“(5) FUNDS PREFERENCE.—There shall be a preference in a system of competitive bidding, as determined by the entity administering the system of competitive bidding (either a State or the Commission), for any of the following projects:

“(A) Projects with at least 20 percent matching funds from non-Federal sources.

“(B) Projects that would expand access to broadband service on Tribal lands, as defined by the Commission.

“(C) Projects that would provide broadband service with higher speeds than those specified in subsection (d)(2), except in the case of funds awarded under subparagraph (A) of paragraph (3).

“(D) Projects that would expand access to broadband service in advance of the time specified in subsection (e)(5), except in the case of funds awarded under subparagraph (A) of paragraph (3).

“(E) Projects that would expand access to broadband service to persistent poverty counties or high-poverty areas at subsidized rates.

“(F) Projects that, at least until the date that is 10 years after the date of the enactment of this section, would provide broadband service with comparable speeds to those provided in areas that, on the day before such date of enactment, were not unserved areas, areas with low-tier service, or areas with mid-tier service, with minimal future investment.

“(G) Projects that would provide broadband service consistent with consumer preferences based on data and analysis conducted by the Commission.

“(H) Projects that would provide for the deployment of open-access broadband service networks.

“(6) UNSERVED AREAS AND AREAS WITH LOW-TIER OR MID-TIER SERVICE.—In determining whether an area is an unserved area, an area with low-tier service, or an area with mid-tier service or whether an anchor institution is an unserved anchor institution for any system of competitive bidding authorized under this section, the Commission shall implement the following requirements through the rulemaking described in subsection (e):

“(A) DATA FOR INITIAL DETERMINATION.—To make an initial determination as to whether an area is an unserved area, an area with low-tier service, or an area with mid-tier service or whether an anchor institution is an unserved anchor institution, the Commission shall—

“(i) use the most accurate and granular data on the map created by the Commission under section 802(c)(1)(B);

“(ii) refine the data described in clause (i) by using—

“(II) other publicly available data or information on access to broadband service; and

“(III) other publicly available data or information on State broadband service deployment programs; and “(iii) not determine an area is not an unserved area, an area with low-tier service, or an area with mid-tier service on the basis that one location within such area does not meet the definition of an unserved area, an area with low-tier service, or an area with mid-tier service.

“(B) INITIAL DETERMINATION.—The Commission shall make an initial determination of the areas that are unserved areas, areas with low-tier service, and areas with mid-tier service and which anchor institutions are unserved anchor institutions not later than 270 days after the date of the enactment of this section.

“(C) CHALLENGE OF DETERMINATION.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—The Commission shall provide for a process for challenging any initial determination regarding whether an area is an unserved area, an area with low-tier service, or an area with mid-tier service or whether an anchor institution is an unserved anchor institution that, at a minimum, provides not less than 45 days for a person to voluntarily submit information concerning—

“(I) the broadband service offered in the area, or a commitment to offer broadband service in the area that is subject to legal sanction if not performed; or “(II) the broadband service offered to the anchor institution.

“(ii) STREAMLINED PROCESS.—The Commission shall ensure that such process is sufficiently streamlined such that a reasonably prudent person may easily participate to challenge such initial determination with little burden on such person.

“(D) FINAL DETERMINATION.—The Commission shall make a final determination of the areas that are unserved areas, areas with low-tier service, or areas with mid-tier service and which anchor institutions are unserved anchor institutions within 1 year after the date of the enactment of this section.

“(7) NOTICE, TRANSPARENCY, ACCOUNTABILITY, AND OVERSIGHT REQUIRED.—The program shall contain sufficient notice, transparency, accountability, and oversight measures to provide the public with notice of the assistance provided under this section, and to deter waste, fraud, and abuse of program funds.

“(8) COMPETENCE.—The program shall contain sufficient processes and requirements, as established by an entity administering a system of competitive bidding (either a State or the Commission), to ensure that, prior to bidding in such system of competitive bidding, a provider of broadband service seeking to participate in such system of competitive bidding—

“(A) is capable of carrying out the project in a competent manner in compliance with all applicable Federal, State, and local laws;

“(B) has the financial capacity to meet the buildout obligations of the project and requirements as set forth under this section and as may be further prescribed by the Commission; and

“(C) has the technical and operational capability to provide broadband services in the manner contemplated by the provider's bid in the system of competitive bidding, including a detailed consideration of the provider's prior performance in delivering services as contemplated in the bid and the capabilities of the provider's proposed network to deliver the contemplated services in the area in question.

“(9) CONTRACTING REQUIREMENTS.—All laborers and mechanics employed by contractors or subcontractors in the performance of construction, alteration, or repair work carried out, in whole or in part, with assistance made available under this section shall be paid wages at rates not less than those prevailing on projects of a similar character in the locality as determined by the Secretary of Labor in accordance with subchapter IV of chapter 31 of title 40, United States Code. With respect to the labor standards in this paragraph, the Secretary of Labor shall have the authority and functions set forth in Reorganization Plan Numbered 14 of 1950 (64 Stat. 1267; 5 U.S.C. DIVISION II—COMMITTEE ON FINANCIAL SERVICESSECTION 60001. SHORT TITLE.

This division may be cited as the "Housing is Infrastructure Act of 2020".

SEC. 60002. FINDINGS.

The Congress finds the following:

(1) Residential segregation and systemic community disinvestment continue to disproportionately affect the well-being and socioeconomic opportunity of children, low-income residents, and people of color.

(2) Affordable and accessible housing allows people with disabilities to live independent lives and supports aging in place, yet less than 2 percent of the housing stock in the United States is accessible for individuals with disabilities.

(3) Affordable housing is a critical part of the national infrastructure of the United States but there is a severe shortage of affordable housing in the United States and the existing stock is badly in need of repair.

(4) According to a 2010 study sponsored by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, there was a $26 billion backlog of capital needs for public housing; that figure is likely higher today, with some groups estimating the backlog of capital needs for public housing to be as high as $70 billion.

(5) There are 14,000 units supported by Rural Rental Housing Loans under section 515 of the Housing Act of 1949 and Farm Labor Housing Loans under section 514 of the Housing Act of 1949. According to National Rural Housing Coalition, it would take an estimated $1 billion in the Multi-Family Housing Revitalization Demonstration Program (MPR) funding to fully address the capital backlog for rural housing properties.

(6) Federal investment in housing helps to create jobs and stimulate the economy.

(7) When the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 (Public Law 111-5) was enacted, which included funding for public housing, researchers found that for each $1.00 in direct spending on public housing, there was an additional $2.12 of indirect and induced economic activity nationwide for a total economic impact of $3.12 for each $1.00 in direct spending on public housing.

(8) According to the National Association of Home Builders, building 100 affordable rental homes generates $11.7 million in local income, $2,200,000 in taxes and revenue for local governments, and 161 local jobs.

(9) Researchers estimate that the growth in the gross domestic product from 1964–2009 would have been 13.5 percent higher if families had better access to affordable housing, which in turn could have led to an additional $1.7 trillion increase in income, equivalent to $8,775 in additional wages for each worker.

“SEC. 416. ABANDONED MINE LAND ECONOMIC REVITALIZATION.

“(a) PURPOSE.—The purpose of this section is to promote economic revitalization, diversification, and development in economically distressed mining communities through the reclamation and restoration of land and water resources adversely affected by coal mining carried out before August 3, 1977.

“(b) IN GENERAL.—From amounts deposited into the fund under section 401(b) before October 1, 2007, $200,000,000 shall be made available to the Secretary, subject to appropriation, for each of fiscal years 2021 through 2025 for distribution to States and Indian tribes in accordance with this section for reclamation and restoration projects at sites identified as priorities under section 403(a).

“(c) USE OF FUNDS.—Funds distributed to a State or Indian tribe under subsection (d) shall be used only for projects classified under the priorities of section 403(a) that meet the following criteria:

“(1) CONTRIBUTION TO FUTURE ECONOMIC OR COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The project, upon completion of reclamation, is intended to create favorable conditions for the economic development of the project site or create favorable conditions that promote the general welfare through economics and community development of the area in which the project is conducted.

“(B) DEMONSTRATION OF CONDITIONS.—Such conditions are demonstrated by—

“(i) documentation of the role of the project in such area’s economic development strategy or other economic and community development planning process;

“(ii) any other documentation of the planned economic and community use of the project site after the primary reclamation activities are completed, which may include contracts, agreements in principle, or other evidence that, once reclaimed, the site is reasonably anticipated to be used for one or more industrial, commercial, residential, agricultural, or recreational purposes; or “(iii) any other documentation agreed to by the State or Indian tribe that demonstrates the project will meet the criteria set forth in this subsection.

“(2) LOCATION IN ECONOMICALLY DISTRESSED COMMUNITY AFFECTED BY RECENT DECLINE IN MINING.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The project will be conducted in a community—

“(i) that has been adversely affected economically by a recent reduction in coal mining related activity, as demonstrated by employment data, per capita income, or other indicators of economic distress; or

“(ii)(I) that has historically relied on coal mining for a substantial portion of its economy; and “(II) in which the economic contribution of coal mining has significantly declined.

“(B) SUBMISSION AND PUBLICATION OF EVIDENCE OR ANALYSIS.—Any evidence or analysis relied upon in selecting the location of a project under this subparagraph shall be submitted to the Secretary for publication. The Secretary shall publish such evidence or analysis in the Federal Register within 30 days after receiving such submission.

“(3) STAKEHOLDER COLLABORATION.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The project has been the subject of project planning under subsection (g) and has been the focus of collaboration, including partnerships, as appropriate, with interested persons or local organizations.

“(B) PUBLIC NOTICE.—As part of project planning—

“(i) the public has been notified of the project at minimum 30 days prior to submission to Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement and has been given an opportunity to request a public meeting convened in a community near the proposed project site; and “(ii) the State or Indian tribe published notice of the proposed project 30 days prior to submission to Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement and published notice of requested public meetings in local newspapers of general circulation, on the Internet, and by any other means considered desirable by the Secretary.

“(C) ELECTRONIC NOTIFICATION.—The State or Indian tribe established a way for interested persons to receive electronically all public notices issued under subparagraph (B) and any written declarations submitted to the Secretary under paragraph (5).

“(4) ELIGIBLE APPLICANTS.—The project has been proposed by entities of State, local, county, or tribal governments, or local organizations, and will be approved and executed by State or tribal programs, approved under section 405 or referred to in section 402(g)(8)(B), which may include subcontracting project-related activities, as appropriate.

“(5) WAIVER.—If the State or Indian tribe—

“(A) cannot provide documentation described in paragraph (1)(B) for a project conducted under a priority stated in paragraph (1) or (2) of section 403(a), or the State or Indian tribe shall submit a written declaration to the Secretary requesting an exemption from the requirements of those subparagraphs. The declaration must explain why achieving favorable conditions for economic or community development at the project site is not practicable, or why the requirements of paragraph (2) cannot be met, and that sufficient funds distributed annually under section 401 are not available to implement the project. Such request for an exemption is deemed to be approved, except the Secretary shall deny such request if the Secretary determines the declaration to be substantially inadequate. Any denial of such request shall be resolved at the State's or Indian tribe's request through the procedures described in subsection (e).

“(B) is unable to meet the requirements under paragraph (2),

“(d) DISTRIBUTION OF FUNDS.—

“(1) UNCERTIFIED STATES.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—From the amount made available in subsection (b), the Secretary shall distribute 97.5 percent annually for each of fiscal years 2021 through 2025 to States and Indian tribes that have a State or tribal program approved under section 405 or are referred to in section 402(g)(8)(B), and have not made a certification under section 411(a) in which the Secretary has concurred, as follows:

“(i) Four-fifths of such amount shall be distributed based on the proportion of the amount of coal historically produced in each State or from the lands of each Indian tribe concerned before August 3, 1977.

“(ii) One-fifth of such amount shall be distributed based on the proportion of reclamation fees paid during the period of fiscal years 2012 through 2016 for lands in each State or lands of each Indian tribe concerned.

“(B) SUPPLEMENTAL FUNDS.—Funds distributed under this section—

“(i) shall be in addition to, and shall not affect, the amount of funds distributed—

“(1) to States and Indian tribes under section 401(f); and

“(II) to States and Indian tribes that have made a certification under section 411(a) in which the Secretary has concurred, subject to the cap described in section 402(i)(3); and “(ii) shall not reduce any funds distributed to a State or Indian tribe by reason of the application of section 402(g)(8).

“(2) ADDITIONAL FUNDING TO CERTAIN STATES AND INDIAN TRIBES.—

“(A) ELIGIBILITY.—From the amount made available in subsection (b), the Secretary shall distribute 2.5 percent annually for each of the five fiscal years beginning with fiscal year 2021 to States and Indian tribes that have a State program approved under section 405 and have made a certification under section 411(a) in which the Secretary has concurred.

“(B) APPLICATION FOR FUNDS.—Using the process in section 405(f), any State or Indian tribe described in subparagraph (A) may submit a grant application to the Secretary for funds under this paragraph. The Secretary shall review each grant application to confirm that the projects identified in the application for funding are eligible under subsection (e).

“(C) DISTRIBUTION OF FUNDS.—The amount of funds distributed to each State or Indian tribe under this paragraph shall be determined by the Secretary based on the demonstrated need for the funding to accomplish the purpose of this section.

“(3) REALLOCATION OF UNCOMMITTED FUNDS.—

“(A) COMMITTED DEFINED.—For purposes of this paragraph the term ‘committed’—

“(i) means that funds received by the State or Indian tribe—

“(I) have been exclusively applied to or reserved for a specific project and therefore are not available for any other purpose; or

“(II) have been expended or designated by the State or Indian tribe for the completion of a project;

“(ii) includes use of any amount for project planning under subsection (g); and

“(iii) reflects an acknowledgment by Congress that, based on the documentation required under subsection (c)(2)(B), any unanticipated delays to commit such funds that are outside the control of the State or Indian tribe concerned shall not affect its allocations under this section.

“(B) FISCAL YEARS 2024 AND 2025.—For each of fiscal years 2024 and 2025, the Secretary shall reallocate in accordance with subparagraph (D) any amount available for distribution under this subsection that has not been committed to eligible projects in the preceding 2 fiscal years, among the States and Indian tribes that have committed to eligible projects the full amount of their annual allocation for the preceding fiscal year.

“(C) FISCAL YEAR 2026.—For fiscal year 2026, the Secretary shall reallocate in accordance with subparagraph (D) any amount available for distribution under this subsection that has not been committed to eligible projects or distributed under paragraph (1)(A), among the States and Indian tribes that have committed to eligible projects the full amount of their annual allocation for the preceding fiscal years.

“(D) AMOUNT OF REALLOCATION.—The amount reallocated to each State or Indian tribe under each of subparagraphs (B) and (C) shall be determined by the Secretary to reflect, to the extent practicable—

“(i) the proportion of unreclaimed eligible lands and waters the State or Indian tribe has in the inventory maintained under section 403(c);

“(ii) the average of the proportion of reclamation fees paid for lands in each State or lands of each Indian tribe concerned; and “(iii) the proportion of coal mining employment loss incurred in the State or on lands of the Indian tribe, respectively, as determined by the Mine Safety and Health Administration, over the 5-year period preceding the fiscal year for which the reallocation is made.

“(e) RESOLUTION OF SECRETARY'S CONCERNS; CONGRESSIONAL NOTIFICATION.—If the Secretary does not agree with a State or Indian tribe that a proposed project meets the criteria set forth in subsection (c)—

“(1) the Secretary and the State or tribe shall meet and confer for a period of not more than 45 days to resolve the Secretary's concerns, except that such period may be shortened by the Secretary if the Secretary's concerns are resolved;

“(2) during that period, at the State's or Indian tribe's request, the Secretary may consult with any appropriate Federal agency; and

“(3) at the end of that period, if the Secretary's concerns are not resolved the Secretary shall provide to the Committee on Natural Resources of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources of the Senate an explanation of the concerns and such project proposal shall not be eligible for funds distributed under this section.

“(f) ACID MINE DRAINAGE TREATMENT.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—Subject to paragraph (2), a State or Indian tribe that receives funds under this section may use up to 30 percent of such funds as necessary to supplement the State's or tribe's acid mine drainage abatement and treatment fund established under section 402(g)(6)(A), for future operation and maintenance costs for the treatment of acid mine drainage associated with the individual projects funded under this section. A State or Indian tribe shall specify the total funds allotted for such costs in its application submitted under subsection (d)(2)(B).

“(2) CONDITION.—A State or Indian tribe may use funds under this subsection only if the State or tribe can demonstrate that the annual grant distributed to the State or tribe pursuant to section 401(f), including any interest from the State's or tribe's acid mine drainage abatement and treatment fund that is not used for the operation or maintenance of preexisting acid mine drainage treatment systems, is insufficient to fund the operation and maintenance of any acid mine drainage treatment system associated with an individual project funded under this section.

“(g) PROJECT PLANNING AND ADMINISTRATION.—

“(1) STATES AND INDIAN TRIBES.—A State or Indian tribe may use up to 10 percent of its annual distribution under this section for the costs of administering this section consistent with existing practice under sections 401(c)(7) and 402(g)(1)(C) of the Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977 and the Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement Federal Assistance Manual.

“(2) SECRETARY.—The Secretary may expend, from amounts made available to the Secretary under section 402(g)(3)(D), not more than $3,000,000 during the fiscal years for which distributions occur under subsection (b) for staffing and other administrative expenses necessary to carry out this section.

“(h) REGULATIONS AND GUIDELINES.—To the extent necessary to implement the provisions of this Act, the Secretary shall propose rules and/or develop guidelines not later than 90 days following enactment of the Act and shall publish them as final rules and/or guidelines not later than 90 days thereafter. Within 60 days following the adoption of any such final rules and/or guidelines, the Secretary shall distribute the funds under subsection (d). Furthermore, project proposals under this Act shall be initially reviewed, vetted and approved by OSMRE Field Offices within 45 days of receipt and authorizations to proceed shall be issued by the Field Office within 45 days of request by the State or Tribe.

“(i) REPORT TO CONGRESS.—The Secretary shall provide to the Committee on Natural Resources of the House of Representatives, the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate, and the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources of the Senate at the end of each fiscal year for which such funds are distributed a detailed report—

“(1) on the various projects that have been undertaken with such funds;

“(2) the extent and degree of reclamation using such funds that achieved the priorities described in paragraph (1) or (2) of section 403(a);

“(3) the community and economic benefits that are resulting from, or are expected to result from, the use of the funds that achieved the priorities described in paragraph (3) of section 403(a); and

“(4) the reduction since the previous report in the inventory referred to in section 403(c).

“(j) PROHIBITION ON CERTAIN USE OF FUNDS.—Any State or Indian tribe that uses the funds distributed under this section for purposes other than reclamation or drainage abatement expenditures, as made eligible by section 404, and for the purposes authorized under subsections (f) and (g), shall be barred from receiving any subsequent funding under this section.”

SEC. 84408. DISPOSITION OF REVENUES.

(a) DISPOSITION OF REVENUES.—Beginning on January 1, 2020, of the amounts collected as bonus bids, rentals, fees, or other payments under a right-of-way, permit, lease, or other authorization (other than under section 504(g) of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1764(g))) for the development of wind or solar energy on covered land the following shall be made available without further appropriation or fiscal year limitation as follows:

(1) Twenty-five percent shall be paid by the Secretary of the Treasury to the State within the boundaries of which the revenue is derived.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and insert extraneous material on H.R. 2.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Oregon?

There was no objection.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, our Nation is simultaneously confronted with multiple crises. COVID, we have passed four bills in this House to deal with COVID directly in terms of medical care, potential for vaccines, treatments, and mitigation of the incredible economic harm. The fourth bill is still lingering with an uncertain future in the Senate.

Then the murder of George Floyd brought a long-simmering crisis to a head for our Nation. Last week this House passed the Justice in Policing Act to deal with systemic racism in policing.

This bill deals with another crisis. Denied by the President and denied by most in his party is the existential threat of climate change to the world as we know it, to our Nation, to our coastal areas, to our inland areas, to everything, our crops, our future, our children's future and our grandkids' future.

So before us today is a long overdue transportation, comprehensive, 21st century—the first 21st century—transportation bill that moves beyond the Eisenhower era and just reauthorizing the same old programs all the time. It also deals with the incredibly deteriorated infrastructure in this country. There is bipartisan agreement that it needs investment. But the last bill we did in the House was status quo funding. We need to invest much more to begin to deal with that crisis.

This bill also deals with the other crises. It deals with COVID in terms of we are going to need an economic recovery. This is going to look a lot more like—it already does—the Great Depression, and we are going to need to put people back to work. We are going to need millions of good-paying jobs. These aren't just construction jobs, they are design, they are engineering, they are small businesses, and they are manufacturing. There is a host of people—everybody will be touched by this bill, and the investments will provide returns many, many times over.

It also targets the largest single contributor to CO₂ pollution in this country. Now, Mr. Speaker, if you don't believe in climate change and you don't believe CO₂ is the problem, then you don't want to deal with it in a transportation bill. In fact, an alternative was offered by my Republican colleagues in committee where we considered 300 amendments. They had one that was a substitute. It wouldn't reduce carbon pollution by 1 ounce.

There is no crisis, there is no climate change. Donald Trump said so, and you can't cross the guy.

So we wove the climate change provisions throughout this bill. They complained: Well, it is not bipartisan. But we have a disagreement in principle, and you can't compromise on principle.

We are going to deal with the largest source of carbon pollution in the United States of America here and now, today, this week. We are starting. We have delayed too long. We are already at dangerous levels.

It also is going to deal with systemic racism and discrimination in the parts of the bill that deal with education, housing, and access to transportation, but in one particular provision that is critical to the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee, the disadvantaged business enterprise program. The committee has for years accumulated evidence and testimony attesting to systemic discrimination faced by women and minorities in their attempts to establish, grow, and operate businesses all across the country.

The challenges are daunting. Discrimination affects minority and women entrepreneurs at every stage of the process from access to investment, to credit, to biased treatment from customers, suppliers, and regulators, to acute vulnerability to sudden economic downturns as we have seen with the COVID crisis.

Unfortunately, even with the existing DBE program, discrimination still haunts us in the market to construct and maintain our Federal transportation system. We have documented this in testimony, and today we have and will provide mounds of statistical evidence documenting this.

Mr. Speaker, I include in the RECORD a list of 30 cities.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Finally, Mr. Speaker, we get to the issue at hand, the INVEST in America Act which is the core of this infrastructure package. It is the biggest part, but there are many other very important things.

The President, as a candidate, campaigned on infrastructure. That gave us some bipartisan hope. We met with him a year ago last March at the White House:

He asked the Speaker: Well, NANCY, what are you thinking?

She said: Well, $1 trillion to $1.3 trillion.

The President said: No. No. $2 trillion.

Okay. He bid us up.

We said: Good. We could spend that money productively.

Then we said: Okay, what do we define as infrastructure?

Here is what the list was: highways, bridges, transit, rail, wastewater, drinking water and broadband.

Those things are in this package at near the level that he asked because his number was a 10-year number for $2 trillion. We are close to $1 trillion with those things in this package.

So there have been seven infrastructure weeks under the Trump administration. The only product they have produced that directly addresses transportation infrastructure are their annual budgets, each of which has proposed dramatic cuts in investment in transportation infrastructure. Never, never—we have heard they are on the cusp for producing a $1 trillion bill, now it is a $2 trillion bill.

Where is it?

Where is the alternative?

If it is their alternative, then it is status quo funding and nothing that deals with climate change. I don't know where it is. This is the beginning of the real infrastructure week.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act.

America's infrastructure is in crisis. As Chair of the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee, I've been sounding the alarm for some time now about the need to make massive investments in our crumbling infrastructure so we create jobs and safer, smarter transportation systems, and so we can cut the carbon pollution that is taking an enormous toll on the public health of our families and our planet.

Given what we've seen over the past few months—from a global pandemic and the resulting economic collapse, to the urgent need to address generations of structural and systematic racism—it has never been so apparent that we need bold action to rebuild America.

I'd like to take a moment to discuss one reason why this Moving Forward Act is so important. This bill once again reauthorizes the urgently needed Disadvantaged Business Enterprise, or DBE, program at the Department of Transportation.

In case it's not obvious to the casual observer, discrimination is alive and well in this country. The death of George Floyd at the hands of Minneapolis police, the ensuing protests, and the police response—these events have all shed more light on the large disparities minorities face in our criminal justice system.

Unfortunately, those disparities are not limited to the criminal justice system. For many years this Committee, and other Members of Congress, have gathered evidence and testimony attesting to systemic discrimination faced by women and minorities in their attempts to establish, grow and operate businesses all across the country. The challenges are daunting, and discrimination affects minority and women entrepreneurs at every stage of the process, from access to investment dollars and credit, to biased treatment from customers, suppliers and regulators, to acute vulnerability to sudden economic downturns such as we've seen in the face of Covid-19.

Unfortunately, even with the DBE Program, discrimination still haunts us in the market to construct and maintain our federal surface transportation system. We hear about it from constituents and others who work as contractors in the transportation industry. We've read about it in personal statements submitted by women- and minority- small business owners from across the country. And we see it reflected in mounds of statistical evidence compiled by my Committee. This evidence includes many thousands of pages of rigorous statistical analysis demonstrating clear disparities between the capacity of minority- and women-owned businesses to compete for Federal dollars, and the utilization of that capacity by Federal contractors.

Today, I'd like to submit just a sample of this evidence to the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD in support of the reauthorization of this essential program.

The Moving Forward Act is a game-changer—because it's an investment in workers, families, and communities.

As Chair of the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee, I'm particularly focused on investing in our roads, bridges, transit, rail, and water systems.

In the Moving Forward Act, we do that by modernizing the crumbling roads and bridges we already have.

We address bottlenecks and gridlock, while building out the infrastructure for low- and zero-emission vehicles and encourage transit-oriented housing.

We give people better and more reliable public transit options, whether you're trying to get across town on a bus or on light-rail, or going hundreds or even thousands of miles on Amtrak.

We encourage smarter road designs to bring down the sharp rise in pedestrian and cyclist deaths, and make sure our roads are safer in rural areas and for kids who need safe routes to school.

We invest in new technologies, projects, and construction materials that are efficient and resilient—so that when we build a new bridge, we know it will last for decades, not just until the next extreme weather event.

In summary, the INVEST in America Act, which is the centerpiece of the Moving Forward framework, provides nearly $500 billion over five years to bring our nation's crumbling infrastructure to a state of good repair, improve resiliency, address climate change, improve safety and provide investments in both rural and low-income communities who need it most.

Add to that the $1 trillion in additional investment in schools, housing, broadband access, drinking and wastewater infrastructure, airports, ports and more, and you have a package that will make a huge impact on our economy.

This is exactly the kind of investment we need to help our economy recover from the current pandemic. I hope my colleagues will join me in supporting this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, as I mentioned previously, H.R. 2 once again reauthorizes the urgently needed Disadvantaged Business Enterprise, or DBE, program at the Department of Transportation.

Unfortunately, even with the DBE Program, discrimination still haunts us in the market to construct and maintain our federal surface transportation system. We hear about it from constituents and others who work as contractors in the transportation industry. We've read about it in personal statements submitted by women- and minority- small business owners from across the country. And we see it reflected in mounds of statistical evidence compiled by my Committee. This evidence includes many thousands of pages of rigorous statistical analysis demonstrating clear disparities between the capacity of minority- and women-owned businesses to compete for Federal dollars, and the utilization of that capacity by Federal contractors.

These studies represent thousands of pages of complex rigorous analysis by many different authors in every region of our nation. And while the findings are better than in the early days of the DBE program, we still have a long way to go. I'd like to just highlight a tiny fraction of the information found in these studies:

Just so my colleagues don't think I am picking on their states, let me start with Oregon. The 2016 ODOT Disparity Study found that women- and minority-owned firms only won 61 cents on the dollar of what we would expect given their availability on state and federally funded highway contracts. Non-minority women, African Americans and Native Americans did even worse at 52 cents, 58 cents and 49 cents respectively. (Oregon Department of Transportation 2016 Availability and Disparity Study, Keen Independent Research, June, 2016, at 7-12.)

In Texas DOT spending, women and minority own firms as a group won only 60 cents on the dollar of what we might have expected for state-funded transportation projects given their availability in the market. Non-minority women, African Americans, Hispanic Americans and Native Americans all did worse. Indeed, African Americans won only 22 cents on the dollar and Native Americans won only 18 cents on the dollar. The numbers were even worse when considering only federal funds—32 cents on the dollar when considering FHWA contracts alone. Texas Department of Transportation Disparity Study 2019, Colette Holt & Associates, 2019, at 94, 126.

For Maryland, which has had one of the more robust and continuously operated DBE programs in the nation, DBEs still get only 70 cents on the dollar of combined federal and state transportation funding. For African Americans, the number is 50 cents, for Native Americans it's 43 cents and for non-minority women, the number is 56 cents. Disadvantaged Business Enterprise Disparity Study, Volumes 1–3, Prepared for the State of Maryland, NERA Economic Consulting, June 25, 2018, at Vol. 1, p. 224.

Sadly, in the transit industry, things are not much better. For instance, a recent analysis of contracting for the Los Angeles, California Metropolitan Transportation Authority, found that firms owned by women and minorities make about 74 cents on the dollar of what we would expect given their representation in the marketplace. For non-minority women, the number was 59 cents and for African Americans it was 51 cents. 2017 Disparity Study LA Metro, prepared for the Los Angeles County Metropolitan Transportation Authority (LA Metro), BBC Research & Consulting, January, 2018, at 7–6.

These same troubling statistics are repeated in cities and states that spend some of their budgets on surface transportation and similar construction and architecture and engineering projects. For instance, the 2018 study for the Nashville, Tennessee area found that M/WBEs got 54 cents of every one dollar in construction prime contracting that we would expect given their availability in the market. Asian American firms were at 25 cents on the dollar. Firms owned by Hispanic Americans earned only 1 cent of every dollar we would expect for them receive given their marketplace availability. Metro Nashville Tennessee Disparity Study Final Report, Griffin and Strong, P.C., August, 2018, at 83.

There's no doubt that things are better today than before the DBE Program—more firms owned by women and minorities get work than they did forty years ago. But the progress has been slow, halting and exceedingly fragile. One of the powerful things about the disparity study evidence we have collected is the diversity of approaches and analyses these documents provide. Some studies, for instance, not only study disparities and in the public and private surface transportation markets, but they also attempt to analyze what might occur if the DBE program no longer existed. One interesting example is found in the LA Metro study where they compared the participation of minority- and women-owned firms on contracts that had goals to encourage diverse participation and those that did not. The results are stunning: on contracts with goals, participation occurred at almost the level we would expect given the presence of minority- and women-owned firms in the marketplace; on contracts with goals, firms owned by minorities and women earned 96 cents on the dollar—on contracts without goals, they earned 53 cents on the dollar. The numbers are even more startling for certain subgroups: on contracts with goals, non-minority women actually exceeded parity (something that regularly occurs for firms owned by non-minority males, but rarely happens for firms owned by women and minorities). But on contracts without goals, firms owned by nonminority women earned only 37 cents on the dollar. Firms owned by Hispanic Americans approached parity on contracts with goals (98 cents on the dollar) but on contracts without goals, they earned only 59 cents on the dollar. African American owned firms earned only 64 cents on the dollar even on contracts with goals, and on contracts without goals the number plummeted to 30 cents on the dollar. 2017 Disparity Study LA Metro, prepared for the Los Angeles County Metropolitan Transportation Authority (LA Metro), BBC Research & Consulting, January, 2018, at 7–7.

The DBE program, and the businesses it assists, are so important that we planned to hold a hearing on this program before the Covid-19 pandemic swept the country and shut down Congressional operations for a time. We will still hold that hearing at a later date to collect even more evidence and discuss the possibility of updating this program. But sadly, the pandemic that prevented us from doing so only underscores the need. Current data on the pandemic's economic devastation shows a massively disproportionate impact on small businesses in minority communities. A very recent article by Dr. Robert Fairlie published by the Stanford Institute for Economic Policy Research, uses statistics from the Census Bureau's Current Population Survey to illustrate just how devastating the Covid pandemic has already been for firms owned by minorities and women. His analysis examines the drop in "active businesses" comparing the numbers from mid-February, just before the effects of the pandemic became clear in the United States, to mid-April when the economy in much of the country had shut down. During that time, all businesses experienced economic devastation—but because of discrimination, the devastation was far greater for businesses owned by women and minorities. For instance, during this period the number of active businesses owned by whites dropped a staggering 17 percent, but the number of businesses owned by African Americans dropped an almost unimaginable 41 percent. For Latinx businesses, the number was 32 percent and for firms owned by Asian Americans the drop was 26 percent. These numbers are not just troubling, they are catastrophic, and the pandemic is far from over. The Impact of Covid-19 on Small Business Owners: Evidence of Early State Losses from the April 2020 Current Population Survey, Robert Fairlie, Stanford Institute for Economic Policy Research, Working Paper 20–022, May 23, 2020, at 3–5.

Now, more than ever, as we prepare to spend billions of federal dollars on transportation projects, it is urgent that we ensure the process of awarding federal transportation contract dollars is not discriminatory, and that minorities and women are allowed to compete on an equal playing field for those dollars.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, today we are here to talk about improving America's infrastructure, something that we all agree needs to be done. If we were serious about doing that, we would be taking up a bipartisan bill to fix our highways, our bridges, and our transit systems.

Let me remind everyone that 3 months from now highway and transit programs are going to shut down if we do not act. Every Democrat and every Republican participating today knows that a bipartisan agreement is the only way that we are going to get this done. That is why H.R. 2, which is nothing more than an enormous partisan wish list, is going nowhere. If this were a serious effort, then we wouldn't be talking about passing a $1.5 trillion debt to future generations. We would be talking about real proposals to fix the finances of the highway trust fund.

Instead, the majority is pointing fingers at the President and Republicans despite the fact that they wrote the entire partisan proposal in the Speaker's Office. But they want the American people to believe that it is Republicans' fault that they couldn't figure out to how to pay for their bill.

If this were a serious effort, we wouldn't be talking about tacking on a multitude of unreasonable Green New Deal mandates onto our transportation programs. We would be talking about bipartisan climate solutions that address resiliency and actual, identifiable, and serious solutions like those contained in the Republican alternative bill, H.R. 7248.

If this were a serious proposal, we wouldn't be talking about creating more uncertainty and instability for States, transportation businesses, workers, and our economy when everyone is crying out for certainty and relief right now.

But that is exactly what we are considering today in H.R. 2. This is a bill that was formed by the Speaker's partisan agenda from the beginning and continued to balloon from there. Just over a week ago the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee approved the majority's $500 billion my-way-or-the-highway bill along party lines. Afterwards the Speaker airdropped in enough new and unvetted proposals and provisions to triple the size of the bill before rushing it to the floor.

I am going to highlight just a few of the concerns with this bill.

First, 2 out of every 5 surface transportation dollars—that is $200 billion—is spent on heavy-handed Green New Deal requirements. This bill widens the gulf between rural and urban infrastructure by putting programs and policies that benefit urban areas ahead of rural communities. If you follow the money in the bill, this is made very clear. H.R. 2 directs the largest funding percentage increases to those programs. This bill also puts restrictions on building new roads, which further hamstring small communities that are looking to grow.

How can a bill that prevents States from building the roads that they need be called an infrastructure bill?

These are just some of the ways this bill limits State and local flexibility to make decisions that best fit their own priorities. This bill fails to provide commonsense streamlining reforms widely supported by transportation businesses and workers, including reforms that were unanimously approved by the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee. Projects that take years and even decades to get approved cost more the longer they are delayed, so that means reducing delays has the same impact as additional funding. But this bill does nothing to make reviews more efficient.

Finally, this bill relies on yet another general fund bailout, and with the irresponsible spending proposal that is in this bill, the trust fund bailout would cost more than every extension and bill combined since 2008, and it doesn't even attempt to fix the solvency issues with the highway trust fund. This is completely irresponsible. If this messaging bill passes the House, that is as far as it is going to go. It won't do a single thing to improve America's infrastructure.

There has been so much uncertainty and unpredictability created by the COVID-19 pandemic across our Nation. What transportation businesses and workers need right now is stability. But this partisan process and seismic upheaval of our Federal transportation programs robs them of that.

This bill does nothing to move us forward, and it is truly a shame. It really is. I will go on more later, Mr. Speaker, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. NEAL).

Mr. NEAL. Mr. Speaker, America's infrastructure is in woeful disrepair. Our roads and bridges are crumbling; many areas still lack reliable internet service; and there are even places in the United States where the tap water is unsafe to drink.

We need these major investments. With more than 40 million Americans out of work, the pandemic crisis has had a devastating impact, and the consequences for our Nation are apparent.

The Democrats' Moving Forward Act will create jobs, reinvigorate our economy, and also modernize our infrastructure. All corners of the Nation will benefit from this package, including my home State in western and central Massachusetts.

Bold investments in broadband and the rail system are particularly good news for our region's economy, workers, and students. Rail, $19 billion—perhaps we will see our long-held vision of rail transportation from Boston to Worcester to Springfield on to Pittsfield occur as well.

This is smart and responsible. The Ways and Means Committee contributed the largest tax investment in combating climate change that Congress has ever made, and it is in legislative form and in legislative language.

This legislation promotes investments in clean energy technologies, incentivizes the greening of the fleet, rewards renewable energy projects, and engages in responsible labor practices with priorities on workers' rights and well-being. We are going to keep working to make sure that we can have more green jobs that are good jobs, not only in the space of renewable energy production but in the production of zero emission vehicles as well. Prioritizing green jobs will also mean prioritizing manufacturers whose raw materials will power the green economy.

This is a unique opportunity for all of us, for our investments in our communities, our businesses, and in our workers to come out on the other side of this crisis stronger than ever.

Mr. Speaker, I urge support for this legislation.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I have a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. The mace indicates we are in session. Are we in session or in the Committee of the Whole?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. We are in the House.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. RODNEY DAVIS), who is the ranking member of the Highways and Transit Subcommittee.

Mr. RODNEY DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I thank Ranking Member GRAVES for yielding and for leading the charge on this committee and the fight against this partisan bill.

Mr. Speaker, it is a shame that we stand before you today debating a partisan surface transportation bill which includes $1 trillion worth of airdropped provisions, many of which do not even fall under the jurisdiction of our Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure.

In years past, surface reauthorization has been a very bipartisan affair. This is because we knew then, as we know now, that a partisan bill will lead to failure. Over the past year, in every conversation I have had with transportation stakeholders, the resounding message was: Please, pass a long-term bill and avoid an extension.

Unfortunately, the process that has played out ever since the Democrats introduced their surface transportation bill has pointed to only one conclusion: We are being set up for an extension.

This is unacceptable, as an extension doesn't provide the clarity and certainty a long-term reauthorization provides to our States and to our local communities.

Mr. Speaker, today, you are going to hear from Democrats that they couldn't negotiate with us because our party wouldn't engage on climate issues. Let's be clear: This isn't a case of Republicans rejecting outreach from Democrats. I have had conversations with the chairman months ago, expressing my willingness to work on every issue. So instead of saying that Republicans wouldn't engage on climate issues, let's get it straight, as it was Democrats who wouldn't engage with Republicans.

Now, I know, just like every other bill that comes through this House, obviously, a partisan reauthorization bill clearly is President Trump's fault. President Trump wanted to do infrastructure. Well, now is our chance. Instead of actually following the partisan processes that the majority criticizes that the White House does, they implement their own partisan process. And when you talk about climate, the United States of America is the only country that has actually reached our emission standards in the Paris climate accord.

We are doing our job as America, but let's stop sacrificing our roads and our crumbling bridges to the Green New Deal activists who don't want to talk about what America has done successfully to attack climate change already. Let's stop with the climate change issue, where $2 of every $5 of this bill goes to Green New Deal priorities. Let's start talking about roads and bridges, how to solidify our highway trust fund, how to make sure that we have a long-term approach to a stable and less-volatile highway trust fund.

If we are going to have another infrastructure week, unfortunately, this infrastructure week is going to turn out just like the ones before: It is going to be a failure. Because of this partisan bill, we are going to come up to the September 30 deadline for this current bill. Instead of moving forward in a bipartisan way, this infrastructure week is going to turn out like the rest of them.

Let's go back to the drawing board. Let's negotiate a bipartisan bill. It is the only chance we have to avoid costly extensions.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. PALLONE), the chairman of the Committee of Energy and Commerce.

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I thank Chairman DEFAZIO for all he has done with this Moving Forward Act, and I rise in strong support of this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, there is no better way to jump-start our economy and create millions of good-paying jobs than to modernize our badly aging infrastructure. It will also help us significantly to combat climate change.

COVID-19 has wiped out more than 600,000 clean energy jobs, stifling both our economy and our fight against climate change. This bill would help us rebuild our economy with a $70 billion investment in clean energy. This sweeping investment will upgrade the electric grid to accommodate more renewable energy and make the grid more resilient.

We also invest in energy efficiency, which will help homeowners save money on their energy bills. We make a major investment in the development of electric vehicle charging networks, stimulating job growth in the EV industry and addressing the need to lower greenhouse gas pollution coming from our cars and trucks.

The COVID-19 pandemic has also put a spotlight on just how critical it is to have access to clean and safe water. That is why this bill invests over $25 billion in drinking water programs, and it also provides $2.7 billion for the brownfields programs so local communities can transform former factories, abandoned lots, and other vacant facilities into community centers, parks, and new businesses.

Mr. Speaker, the pandemic has also starkly demonstrated the need to ensure families all across the Nation have access to high-speed internet. The Moving Forward Act provides over $100 billion to fund broadband-related programs, which will get us to 100 percent internet coverage.

Kids all around the Nation need access to broadband to participate in their classes online, and this bill provides $5 billion for mobile hotspots and connected devices to make sure students who don't have access to these resources at home can effectively engage with remote learning.

We also authorized $12 billion to upgrade our frail 911 infrastructure for the next generation.

Mr. Speaker, finally, the COVID-19 pandemic has exposed an alarming number of preexisting weaknesses in our Nation's healthcare infrastructure, so we invest $30 billion to upgrade our Nation's health infrastructure. That is for hospitals, community centers, and other healthcare facilities.

Mr. Speaker, I urge our Members to vote for the Moving Forward Act to move our Nation forward during these unprecedented times.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Arkansas (Mr. CRAWFORD), who is the ranking member of the Subcommittee on Railroads, Pipelines, and Hazardous Materials.

Mr. CRAWFORD. Mr. Speaker, a well-crafted infrastructure bill could put millions of Americans back to work and reinvigorate the American economy. Unfortunately, today, we are not here to debate a well-crafted infrastructure bill.

This is a radical departure from MAP-21 and the FAST Act, both in terms of content and process. This bill ignores the economic realities of COVID-19, embraces environmental radicalism, and weaves Green New Deal mandates throughout its core programs. In fact, approximately 40 percent of this bill's allocation will be spent on Green New Deal programs.

When the GOP controlled the majority, we consulted the minority on both MAP-21 and the FAST Act. We, in this effort, were ignored in the name of climate, despite the Senate having a bipartisan climate title in their bill.

To quantify how starkly partisan this bill is, the FAST Act had 115 amendments; this bill, 388. While we know this bill stands no chance of being enacted, the rail title will be disastrous if it was.

Despite spending $60 billion over 5 years on rail—none of which is paid for, by the way—no one in the rail industry supports any provisions in this rail title. At a time when demand for all modes of public transportation is in doubt, this bill increases funding to Amtrak. It spends 13 times what FAST Act allocated to the Northeast Corridor. It spends 160 times what FAST Act allocated to Amtrak's national network. This bill guts programs to help our regional and short-line railroads to give more money to—you guessed it—Amtrak.

Mr. Speaker, our intermodal freight system saved this country from the worst of COVID-19, and this bill aims to drive that system to the ground in the name of environmental extremism.

This is the first surface reauthorization I will be voting against, and that is a sad decision I have to make with a heavy heart.

I am glad that some of my bipartisan Buy American amendments made it into this bill in markup, and that offers a glimpse of what could have been if the majority had come to us and we had worked together to create a serious bill.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 30 seconds.

Mr. Speaker, to the gentleman, I would have him recognize that, actually, the Northeast Corridor is a shared corridor, freight and rail. When the Baltimore tunnel goes or when the Portal Bridge goes or, up around New York, when the Gateway tunnels go, it is a 20 percent hit to the national economy.

So, yes, we are going to invest some money there. That stop is about to fail and fail big.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. SCOTT), the chair of the Committee on Education and Labor.

Mr. SCOTT of Virginia. Mr. Speaker, today, I rise in support of H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act, and I focus on the fact that this infrastructure package includes our Nation's schools.

For decades, underserved students and educators have spent nearly every day in school facilities with outdated air filtration, air-conditioning, and roofing systems that endanger their health. A GAO report just this year confirmed that more than half the school districts need to repair unsafe and outdated systems in heating, ventilation, and air-conditioning in most of their school buildings.

These issues are not about comfort. They are about equal access to education.

Mr. Speaker, we all want to reopen our schools as soon as possible, but we cannot take this step when the Centers for Disease Control guidance requires functioning ventilation systems to prevent the spread of COVID-19.

The Reopen and Rebuild America's Schools Act provisions and infrastructure package offer the solutions our schools need. This legislation will invest construction funds targeted at high-poverty school facilities that put the health of our students and staff most at risk.

Of course, the schools will also benefit from the improvements in broadband that are also found in the bill.

The school provisions in this bill will create more than 2 million good-paying jobs over the next 5 years at a time when we face historic unemployment rates.

The Moving Forward Act is critical to our Nation's economic recovery, and it is critical for our efforts to achieve equity in education.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to pass this bill so that all students will have access to safe and high-quality schools during the pandemic and for years to come.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, I include in the RECORD a letter from the Rebuild America's Schools coalition to Speaker PELOSI and Leader MCCARTHY in support of both the legislation and the Reopen and Rebuild America's Schools Act.

REBUILD AMERICA'S SCHOOLS,
Washington, DC, June 29, 2020.

Re H.R. Moving Forward Act: Reopen and Rebuild America's Schools

Hon. NANCY PELOSI,
Speaker, House of Representatives,
Washington, DC.

Hon. KEVIN MCCARTHY,
Minority Leader, House of Representatives,
Washington, DC.

DEAR MADAME SPEAKER AND MINORITY LEADER MCCARTHY: Rebuild America's Schools appreciates and supports your efforts to address the impact of COVID-19 on our nation. As Congress addresses economic recovery, Rebuild America's Schools supports H.R. 2 The Moving Forward Act to invest in our nation's infrastructure including grants and bonds to modernize, renovate and repair local school facilities.

The Government Accounting Office (GAO) June 2020 report estimates more than half of America's public school districts need significant repairs to their school facilities. Fifty four percent of school districts across the country must replace or update major systems in more than half their buildings. Grants and infrastructure bonds will assist communities respond to necessary school facility modifications, renovations, and repairs to re-open safely for students, teachers, and staff in the changing COVID-19 environment.

Moving Forward Act: Reopen and Rebuild America's Schools Act infrastructure grants and bonds will generate economic activity in every state creating over 100,000 construction services jobs accomplishing two objectives:

Local communities will use recovery financing to build, renovate and repair schools providing safer, healthier, more modern and more technologically, energy efficient school facilities advancing student achievement.

School construction projects in local communities will generate thousands of construction and building trades jobs including architects engineers, roofing contractors, and suppliers who design, build and maintain our nation's schools.

As COVID-19 profoundly impacts national and state economies, federal investment in school infrastructure and safety will have both long- and short-term benefits to the nation's economic recovery and stability advancing student achievement.

We look forward to working with you as the House of Representatives considers The Moving Forward Act to invest in the infrastructure of local communities helping modernize schools in every state to support student safety, achievement and success.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

BOB CANAVAN,

Chair.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. GRAVES), ranking member of the Subcommittee on Aviation.

Mr. GRAVES of Louisiana. Mr. Speaker, I thank the ranking member for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend from Oregon, and I do consider him a friend because, oftentimes, over the past few years since I have been here, we have had the opportunity to sit down and engage on constructive policy discussions. I know my friend does like to have those discussions, which is why I like him.

Mr. Speaker, I don't like to devolve into partisan fighting, but to listen to the description of this bill and to actually participate in this process, there are a lot of things that need to be addressed, and the Record needs to be set straight.

Mr. Speaker, this committee, the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee, has a long history of being a bipartisan committee. As you heard, there were nearly 390 amendments filed on this bill. Twenty-two Republican amendments are going to be accepted or voted on, and most of them are going to fail. They are designed to fail. Meanwhile, 148 Democrat amendments are being accepted and are going to be allowed to move forward—148 to 22.

Mr. Speaker, each one of us represents somewhere around 750,000 people. Why should only certain people be able to be represented?

Then, because of this crazy process we have here, we are going to take all of those amendments and combine them into about seven votes where they can take great policy, throw in one poison pill, and the whole thing dies.

Mr. Speaker, this is not how you build legislation. I don't think I have to remind anybody here that we have a Republican President and a Republican Senate. This bill has always been bipartisan, and we should be working on this bill because everyone supports infrastructure.

Now, on climate, let's talk about climate for just a minute because the United States has reduced emissions more than the next 12 countries combined. The United States has. As my friend from Illinois noted, we are the only country that is in line with our Paris accord, at this point.

Number two, there has been this little thing called the coronavirus that has resulted in the largest reduction in history in emissions that is going on right now, which should cause us to reset and not impose more costs on the poor among us, those who cannot afford it, those who have lost their jobs.

Mr. Speaker, the committee doesn't even have jurisdiction over climate. And you can't go out there and try and electrify all these cars and not address the fact that you are going to take three to four times the electricity to even power them. Where is the electricity coming from? We are just going to make it up? This bill doesn't address the problems.

Mr. Speaker, just today, the bipartisan climate committee that was created by Speaker PELOSI issued their report. They were supposed to be providing the comprehensive plan for climate change. It was a partisan staff report. Was the committee clairvoyant, knew it was going to be in there and just pasted the climate committee's recommendation in this bill? No.

This is completely disjointed. It is partisan. It ignores the fact that we had 390 amendments and tries to condense it down to seven votes. Our constitutional Republic is being hijacked right now, and we are not being allowed to represent the people who we were sent here to represent.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from New York (Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY).

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for his extraordinary leadership on H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act, and I support it.

Mr. Speaker, this is landmark legislation that would make investments not only in highways, transit, and bridges but also for schools and housing. Importantly, it would set America on a path toward a greener future by encouraging investment into zero-emission technologies.

The bill would authorize $25 billion for the Postal Service, which has bipartisan support to modernize their aging fleet. It is critical that the Postal Service begin replacing its fleet of small trucks, most of which are now over 25 years old, and the bill includes $6 billion for this. The bill would require the Postal Service to purchase zero-emission vehicles and to install publicly accessible electric charging stations at Post Offices to help expand the infrastructure needed for electric vehicles.

Mr. Speaker, these measures will help the Postal Service meet its mission and advance sound environmental policy, and I urge a strong "yes" vote on H.R. 2.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. GIBBS).

Mr. GIBBS. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this infrastructure boondoggle bill, which is focused on advancing the Green New Deal agenda.

Instead of focusing on roads, bridges, and highways that keep the economy moving and Americans employed, my colleagues on the other side of the aisle want to divert funding streams through nonroadway infrastructure and leave rural surface transportation in the dust.

One of the major roadblocks to successfully reinvigorating our national infrastructure is the mountains of red tape, paperwork, and bureaucracy involved with surface transportation infrastructure. This bill does nothing to reform the permitting process. It leaves in place a broken permitting regime that slows projects down to a dead stop.

Contrary to what some may say, bureaucratic red tape has a direct impact on infrastructure investment. Project delays cost nearly $4 trillion in economic impact, according to the Associated General Contractors of America.

We can point to nations like Canada, Germany, and Australia, who provide a robust and responsible environmental review process in just 2 years. Compare that to ours, the 3½ to 5 years it takes just one Federal agency, not including other Federal agencies that even add more time in the process.

Finally, I oppose H.R. 2 for its lack of bipartisan participation. My colleagues on the other side of the aisle may try to point to an amendment here and there and call it bipartisan, but I have worked on true bipartisan legislation that doesn't just tick off the boxes of partisan talking points. I have fought to pass legislation that gets the hard work of infrastructure investment and permitting reform done while working with my Democratic colleagues in the past. I can tell you from experience, H.R. 2 is not that.

Republicans were prevented from offering real input on this bill, one that has broad application and diverse impact across every type of community in this country. Instead, Republicans were shut out of the process. This is purely a leftwing messaging bill with their grandiose nonsense that is far from reality in addressing the real-world infrastructure concerns.

For these reasons, I urge my colleagues to vote "no" on H.R. 2.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, resiliency, which they keep talking about on that side, is a reactive policy to help our transportation system survive with rising sea levels and extreme weather events. Mitigation, dealing with climate change, is proactive and will prevent us from having to spend a lot more money in the future on infrastructure.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Washington, D.C.

(Ms. NORTON), the chair of the Surface Transportation Subcommittee.

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, this is one of the very few bills that is moving forward during this pandemic, and it is named H.R. 2, which means it was of great importance even before the pandemic.

The transportation bills we have been filing have been essentially flat funded. It is time we put some money into our transportation system. The last bill was no mere extension. Our last bill was essentially that. There was no new funding on it. In fact, this bill breaks new ground.

I have been on this committee ever since coming to Congress. Each transportation bill looked essentially the same as the last. However, with climate change, we can't write these bills in the same way.

You see attention to climate change throughout this bill. You see a fund for greenhouse emissions. We have in this bill discretionary grants for electric vehicles. That was unknown and unseen in the last bill.

We are paying special attention to disadvantaged business enterprises. We remember the George Floyd killing. We have not done a good job with these enterprises in my own region. We found that minority and women-owned firms were unlikely to receive contracts, even if they seemed fully qualified.

And, of course, in this district, which staff and Members use to get to the House, we have funding money for the Metropolitan Transit Authority. Almost half of Federal employees in this region use Metro to get to this very House.

Mr. Speaker, this bill breaks new ground, and this Congress should indicate that it is ready for a 21st century bill.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I might point out that, yes, there are discretionary grants in here for electrical vehicles. What is interesting is electric vehicles don't pay for the use of that road either, because the highway trust fund still has yet to be addressed, has yet to be determined how we are even going to move forward, which is a huge frustration in this bill. There are absolutely no pay-fors.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to 2 minutes to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. PERRY).

Mr. PERRY. Mr. Speaker, an efficient and effective infrastructure system is vital to our Nation's economic well-being. It is vital to every citizen. They realize it. That is why they are willing to pay for it, as long as we do the responsible thing here.

But for years, Mr. Speaker, Federal policies have diverted funding away from the core projects and created a system that incentivizes waste, and, as a result—you can figure it out—our infrastructure is crumbling.

The need for reform is acknowledged across the aisle, across the spectrum. Both sides know there is an opportunity right here, especially with this President.

Unfortunately, the majority has now squandered that opportunity for bipartisan reform. Instead, they propose H.R. 2, which is a leftist wish list that doubles down on the policies that brought our infrastructure to its current deteriorated state.

In fact, the majority of the $1.5 trillion in spending under this bill, 1,400 pages, is unrelated to the repair and build-out of our Nation's infrastructure. Two-thirds of this spending, $1 trillion, was created out of thin air in the 2 weeks since we had the discussion in the Transportation Committee. It was just dropped on us. We didn't even discuss it. After we left and marked up the bill, they added the money and added the policy.

Moreover, the majority has failed to even propose a way to pay for this liberal wish list, instead stating it will be paid for by deficit spending.

We don't always get it right, but at least make an attempt.

Our Nation is $26.3 trillion in debt, $3.5 trillion of that occurring just in the last couple of months. The majority's plan to bankroll their liberal wish list by imperilling future generations is reckless and threatens the very future of our Nation.

I sincerely hope this political theater will conclude shortly, Mr. Speaker, and the majority will get serious about a serious infrastructure package.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Mississippi (Mr. THOMPSON), the chairman of the Homeland Security Committee.

Mr. THOMPSON of Mississippi. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act. As amended by the manager's amendment, this bill includes language identical to my bill, H.R. 1140, the Rights for Transportation Security Officers Act of 2020.

For over a decade, Representative NITA LOWEY and I have worked to provide TSA frontline security workers the basic rights and civil service protections they deserve.

On March 5 of this year, this body passed H.R. 1140 with 230 "yes" votes, including all Democratic Members present and 14 Republican Members.

Transportation Security Officers remain among the lowest paid Federal workers, and they do not receive regular salaries or basic civil service protections afforded to most other Federal employees.

In recent years, TSOs have faced government shutdowns, staff shortages, increased passenger volumes, and increasingly difficult job responsibilities.

Mr. Speaker, this is a good deal. I thank Chairman DEFAZIO for including this critical language in the manager's amendment. I urge support of the bill.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. BOST).

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, many of you do know, and maybe some of you don't know, that I grew up in a family trucking business. I know how important transportation workers are and how important they are to the American people.

In the past few months, we have seen our Nation's truck drivers, maintenance crews, public transit workers, and other essential employees step up and deliver the goods. It is our duty to support them and ensure that, while they do their jobs, they are kept safe and they can do their jobs effectively. Unfortunately, this legislation falls far short on that goal.

Instead of adequately investing in our Nation's roads and bridges, or better conditions for our truckers and motorists, the Speaker and her allies chose to double down on their liberal Green New Deal wish list.

And instead of working together in a bipartisan manner, which has always been done—at least over the last 15 to 20 years, from what I understand—they forced it through the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee on a party-line vote.

With this legislation, my colleagues on the other side are saying that, when it comes to our Nation's infrastructure, it is quite literally my way or the highway. That, I believe, is a dangerous route to take, and I think that the American people will wake up to the fact, with these continuing partisan games on something that is so important that has been done in a bipartisan manner before, that, finally, they will speak up and say that they have had enough, because many of us have.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. LIPINSKI), chair of the Railroads, Pipelines, and Hazardous Materials Subcommittee.

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, as chair of the Railroads, Pipelines, and Hazardous Materials Subcommittee and coauthor of H.R. 2, I am proud that we have the robust road, rail, and transit bill that our country needs to start fixing our transportation system and put Americans back to work.

I want to thank Chairman DEFAZIO for his strong leadership on this bill.

H.R. 2 is a historic bill for rail infrastructure, containing a record $60 billion investment, a 400 percent increase. It was a priority for me to include, for the first time ever, in a surface reauthorization, a commuter rail policy section.

In addition to the 57 percent increase in funding for public transit, commuter railroads are made eligible for the significantly increased $7 billion CRISI grant program, and the top Amtrak stations used by commuter railroads have special access to these funds.

In another first, we established a grade separation funding program at $2.5 billion, which will help alleviate the problem of blocked rail crossings across our Nation. For Amtrak, we are making a record investment of almost $30 billion.

In the highway and transit division, I want to highlight the 37 percent increase in funding to our States for roads, a greater focus on improving safety for bicyclists and pedestrians, and an increase in funding for University Transportation Centers, including one on autonomous and connected vehicles.

In addition, a $9 billion grant program focused on advancing projects of national and regional significance is included, which can help bring the CREATE rail modernization program in northeastern Illinois to completion, significantly improving the flow of freight across our Nation.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 2 will put hundreds of thousands of Americans to work, make American businesses and workers more efficient, cut down delays on our roads and rails, increase safety, and improve our environment.

Let's get this done for the American people.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from California (Mr. LAMALFA).

Mr. LAMALFA. Mr. Speaker, of the many problems with this hyperpartisan bill, one of the most troublesome is the price tag: $1.5 trillion. Yet it completely ignores the need for how we are going to pay for it.

So the majority has decided the President must come up with a way to pay for it, like: Hey, here is our shopping list right here. We are going to send it out of the House and maybe out of the Senate without a way to pay for it. You find it, Mr. President. You figure it out.

But it has never been the President's job to decide how we pay for our highways. No member of the administration or Cabinet is charged with that responsibility.

Constitutionally, it is assigned to us here at the House of Representatives. If the Democrats are serious about fixing our infrastructure, they would find a way to finance it by working with us, the Republicans.

Now, there are going to be some hard ways to figure it out. Is it to raise the gas tax? Is it making people pay for every mile they drive or some other mechanism, or, especially in my home State of California with the highest cost of doing anything, adding yet more taxes? A new one kicks in tomorrow on Californians.

That said, we are supposed to be here to discuss it. We are supposed to have a little interaction. This bill, unfortunately, has not.

So we push another partisan wish list onto this floor, make the President figure it out. Unfortunately, it doesn't have much chance to work this way.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SIREN), a member of the committee.

Mr. SIREN. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank Chairman DEFAZIO for including a provision in this bill that is a triumph in national transportation financing.

Our States are riddled with bridges that are too old, roads that are in disrepair, and passenger rail that is falling apart. Regionally and nationally significant projects, projects that everyone can agree are important and need to be built, have languished for years because of no Federal help. This bill changes that.

I am proud to say that this bill's provision on projects of national and regional significance is a victory for the Gateway Project. New Jersey knows how important it is to get the project done. The whole region knows how important the project is to its economy. This bill puts $9 billion into the pot.

The bill provides money for clean energy investments to keep our air clean, money for resiliency projects to protect us from stronger storms, and more money for public transit to keep cars off the road.

There is no reason why we can't have a modern, efficient, clean national infrastructure. This bill puts us on our way, and I am proud to have been involved in the development since the beginning. I am proud to cosponsor, and I ask everyone to support this bill.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. SMUCKER).

Mr. SMUCKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in opposition to this partisan infrastructure bill.

This House can work together and can accomplish things for the American people. It wasn't long ago that Members from both parties came together in the face of an unprecedented pandemic to pass the CARES Act. That act of bipartisanship saved thousands and thousands of jobs—millions of jobs—and preserved the livelihoods of small business owners all across this country.

Now, in the face of a new challenge, repairing our infrastructure, Democrats have chosen a different path. They have chosen to go it alone with a messaging bill that is not a serious effort to improve our roads, bridges, and railroads.

I offered a number of amendments to improve the underlying bill, including some bipartisan proposals, which I offered with my colleagues on the other side of the aisle. While I appreciate that one of those was adopted, the fact is this legislation was drafted with no consultation with Republicans.

This bill will cost taxpayers an astounding $1.5 trillion, disproportionately favoring urban centers at the expense of rural America. But the real cost of this bill is the missed opportunity. What better time to address our infrastructure needs, when interest rates are as low as they are now and when we want to see the economy begin to boom again.

Mr. Speaker, I remain committed to supporting legislation which would effectively invest in improving our transportation infrastructure in a way that would provide States additional flexibility to meet their unique needs without onerous mandates. Yet this bill doesn't do that. This bill kicks the can down the road rather than advancing those badly needed priorities.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to oppose this bill.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from the Northern Mariana Islands (Mr. SABLAN).

Mr. SABLAN. Mr. Speaker, as chairman of the Subcommittee on Early Childhood, Elementary and Secondary Education, I want to highlight how H.R. 2 helps America's schools.

Schools began the coronavirus crisis already in significant need of repair, but revenue shortfalls caused by the virus are causing local governments to cut teaching staff. They cannot afford to invest in facilities. So H.R. 2 includes the Reopen and Rebuild America's Schools Act, a $100 billion plan of Federal investment from the Education and Labor Committee.

Funds are front-loaded to address emergency needs to reconfigure schools to meet CDC guidelines. Our bill also helps the 16 million students nationwide without online access gain reliable, high-speed internet for digital instructions. And there is a special $500 million set aside for insular area schools, which are particularly challenged.

Mr. Speaker, I thank Chairman DEFAZIO for this time to speak and also for adding the Marianas to the AMBER Alert system, which I asked for and is included in H.R. 2.

I urge my colleagues to vote "yes" for H.R. 2, and the Reopen and Rebuild America's Schools Act.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. SPANO).

Mr. SPANO. Mr. Speaker, I rise to express my strong disappointment in this legislation.

For months, we have been discussing a bipartisan transportation package. Both President Trump and leaders in Congress from both parties expressed their hope that a deal could be struck to repair our crumbling infrastructure.

Given the rise in unemployment due to COVID-19, now is the perfect time to invest in infrastructure and create American jobs. But, sadly, this bill missed this once-in-a-generation opportunity. The Democrats presented their bill to committee without any input from Republicans whatsoever, which is clear from the price tag.

Coming out of committee, the bill had a $500 billion price tag without any way to pay for it, but Democrat leadership has now added an extra $1 trillion to it. Forty percent of all the money in this package goes to Green New Deal priorities and fails to include deregulatory provisions that could easily stimulate the economy and make the government work for the American people rather than against them.

I offered multiple amendments to make permanent one of the most efficient Trump policies: the One Federal Decision policy for NEPA authorizations.

Currently, major infrastructure projects need to be approved by multiple agencies and, on average, take 4½ years to complete. Experts estimate this costs more than $3.7 trillion in lost employment and lost economic gain.

Just yesterday, President Trump stated that unnecessary permitting delays are “one of the most significant impediments to improving our infrastructure.” My amendments would streamline this process by allowing applicants to deal with one lead agency, rather than several, and would require NEPA authorizations to be finalized within 2 years.

As we look to recover from COVID-19 and pay off the debt incurred in responding to the crisis, these are inefficiencies we simply can’t afford to ignore. I urge the House to recommit the bill back to committee until we can come together and draft a solution that implements these policies and will provide real relief for the American people.

Mr. Speaker, Americans are sick and tired of messaging bills.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, just in response to the gentleman, 93 percent of Federal aid, highway projects, go forward under categorical exclusion; 4 percent have an environmental analysis, a simple process; and, yes, 3 percent go through a NEPA process. Huge construction projects in urban areas are often controversial, gives the public and everybody a chance to have input into that.

And, by the way, all the studies say the biggest barrier to transportation investment is lack of funding. And I would note that the FAST bill froze funding, and the bill before that froze funding. The last time we increased funding was when the Democrats were in charge in 1994.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. JOHNSON).

Mr. JOHNSON of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act. This transformative legislation will revitalize our Nation’s infrastructure, including our most vulnerable communities.

The last several weeks have, once again, brought attention to the legacy of vulnerability Black Americans and other minorities suffer at the hands of a global health crisis, a shuttering economy, and systemic racism.

With this backdrop, people of color should not assume that this massive infrastructure bill has little to do with them. In fact, there are many aspects of H.R. 2 that are intended to assist people who have routinely been left out and left behind.

One of the most powerful is the Disadvantaged Business Enterprise program. This program, when properly administered and enforced, ensures that businesses owned by women and minorities have a fair chance to compete for federally assisted transportation projects and contracts.

A 2016 report, in my home State of Georgia, found that women- and minority-owned construction prime contracting businesses earned about 7 cents on the dollar, and women- and minority-owned subcontracting businesses made about 39 cents on the dollar.

This is unfair, and this evidence abounds. And it is not limited to any one region. The data underscores the continued need for the DBE program. I am proud to see it reauthorized in this bill, and I am proud to have been a part of its reauthorization.

We must right the wrongs of business inequity in this country, and programs like the DBE, the Disadvantaged Business Enterprise program, will help us do just that.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from West Virginia (Mrs. MILLER).

Mrs. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to H.R. 2 because we need to put an end to the highway robbery before us.

The Transportation and Infrastructure Committee has a long history of bipartisan cooperation, rising above the political games to strengthen the backbone of our country. However, after the Democrats’ power grab in this year’s highway funding bill, that is sadly no longer the case.

When drafting this legislation, my colleagues across the aisle neither asked for nor accepted input from me or any of my Republican colleagues. They steamrolled a bill through the committee with so many irredeemable qualities, you would think they wanted it to fail. After it passed committee, the bill was gutted of bipartisan amendments solely because they were introduced by our party.

And it is expensive. At the outset, this legislation cost nearly $500 billion over 5 years, and then they tacked on another trillion in the last week. It cuts money from where we need it and throws taxpayer dollars at problems that don’t exist.

Our roads and bridges are failing, and projects, many like Corridor H in West Virginia, are underfunded. This bill hamstringing our State government and adds red tape instead of flexibility. Rather than bridging America’s urban-rural divide, my Democrat colleagues want to put the big cities first and ignore our rural communities but still stick us with the bill.

We need all of America to thrive, from Appalachia to the heartland, the Rockies to the Rust Belt. We need to build up our entire country to create a modern economy that offers success to everyone. But here we are, debating a bill that gives $2 of every $5 to the Green New Deal.

This is partisan messaging, not meaningful policy.

I am disheartened. I am disappointed. And I am disgusted that politics continue to take precedence over the needs of our country. Our people want and need better roads. For these reasons and many more my time will not allow, I urge my colleagues to vote against this bill.

□ 1415

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Nevada (Ms. TITUS), a member of the committee.

Ms. TITUS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the chairman for yielding.

The Moving Forward Act is transformative legislation that will help revive and strengthen our economy for years to come.

In Las Vegas we welcome nearly 43 million visitors from all over the world every year, and it is vital that we make smart investments in our infrastructure to help travelers get there easily and then move them around safely and efficiently once they arrive.

As a member of the committee, I am proud of the provisions I secured in this bill to:

Prioritize the completion of I-11 between Las Vegas and Phoenix;

Promote projects related to the movement of travelers to destinations, not just the movement of freight;

And to ensure that there is dedicated funding in every State for child passenger safety programs for underserved populations.

I urge my colleagues to support this legislation, which also takes significant action to address global climate change by investing in renewable energy, resilient housing and schools, green transit, and more efficient road infrastructure.

I thank the chairman for his leadership.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. PENCE).

Mr. PENCE. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in opposition of H.R. 2, an ultra-partisan bill that puts urban centers above my rural communities.

I was frankly stunned at how few people showed up here in Washington, D.C., for the markup of a $500 billion bill. My colleagues who were physically able and did not show up gives new meaning to the phrase “phoning it in” and now we can call it “Zooming it in.” They Zoomed it in in T-shirts, shorts, on golf carts, and now we will continue to Zoom it in for 45 more days.

Mr. Speaker, I authored 12 amendments at the markup of this bill. While many of them were bipartisan, they were still rejected along party lines.

My amendment to keep rail safety grants merit-based and open to all, failed.

My amendment to improve government efficiency and bring internet connection to rural communities, failed.

Mr. Speaker, commonsense bipartisan proposals fail because this is not a serious effort.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield an additional 1 minute to the gentleman from Indiana.

Mr. PENCE. Mr. Speaker, this is a NANCY PELOSI power grab again.

I remind my colleagues that there is no challenge too great when we unite as Americans, yet here we are. House Democrats choose to bring this bill which is nothing more than the latest progressive wish list to the floor without any Republican input again.

I urge my colleagues to oppose H.R. 2.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 1 minute.

I didn't see anybody in golf carts or T-shirts. They were on the screen, virtually. And it is not a great time to be flying back and forth across the country. I am not really comfortable doing it.

I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from California (Mr. HUFFMAN).

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

I am excited, Mr. Speaker, because the people's House is at work this month. I wish I had more than 1 minute to talk about it all. Police reform, equal justice, lowering healthcare costs, protecting renters and homeowners from eviction. That is just in the last few days.

This morning I joined Speaker PELOSI and chair KATHY CASTOR and our select committee members to unveil a comprehensive climate action plan to save the planet and to build a more healthy, just, and resilient America. And now I have the honor of supporting Mr. DEFAZIO's H.R. 2.

The Transportation and Infrastructure provisions in this bill are an historic investment in our Nation's infrastructure that will strengthen our economy, improve safety, and cut gridlock and pollution, but there is so much more in this bill.

I am also proud of modernizing the postal service's clunky old fleet and electrifying it.

I am proud of encouraging responsible broadband deployment on or near public lands and building more resilient western water infrastructure.

Colleagues, after years of people in this body talking about infrastructure, we are finally doing it. I urge an "aye" vote.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. WALDEN), the ranking member of the Energy and Commerce Committee.

Mr. WALDEN. Mr. Speaker, I thank Mr. GRAVES for yielding and for his work trying to get this bill in a better place. And I thank Chairman DEFAZIO for working with me on an amendment that will come up tomorrow that will allow the Port of Cascade Locks to compete for funds to add a path on the Bridge of the Gods to provide a safer place for hikers and horseback riders on Pacific Crest Trail to cross the Columbia River. It is nice when we can work together for the best interests of our citizens.

I wish we had been able to work on all the infrastructure issues in this bill in the same spirit. I won't waste my time dwelling on the partisan process fouls that encumber this bill. Building better American infrastructure is a public policy that has almost always brought us together as a Congress and a country. Until this week and until this legislation.

Republicans have proposals to make American energy infrastructure more resilient and safeguard it from cyberattack.

Republicans have proposed more than two dozen policies, Mr. Speaker, to help get high speed broadband to all Americans.

We have legislation to put America in the driver's seat of autonomous vehicle innovation and production.

We could find common ground to remove unneeded but costly regulatory barriers that stand in the way of important infrastructure improvements and the jobs that come with them. But unfortunately, the work and ideas of Republicans on the Energy and Commerce Committee were not included. Heck, we weren't even consulted. What could be a bipartisan bill destined to become law will instead likely never get to the President's desk and never become law.

So I urge my Democratic friends and colleagues to work with us on a bipartisan legislative package on infrastructure that can become law and that will improve our Nation's infrastructure.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. HOYER), the distinguished majority leader.

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

I have been listening to this debate in my office on television. Virtually, in other words, I have been watching. I thought everybody would be interested to know I didn't have a T-shirt on, and I wasn't in a golf cart. I was in my office. But it was virtual, Mr. Chairman.

First of all, there is an aspersion on this bill for dealing with climate change. We are here in the midst of a pandemic. It is a terrible scourge on our country and on our people and on our economy. And our President called it a hoax. Our President has also called climate change a hoax. Mr. Speaker, if we are put to sleep by the assertion of the challenge being a hoax, we will not act.

We acted very late on this pandemic. This bill seeks not to act too late for the pandemic that we call climate change that all the scientists, the overwhelming majority of scientists, say will have a catastrophic effect on our global environment and the support of life itself.

And so, yes, this bill deals a lot with climate change because we have a vision of trying to solve the problem before it becomes the pandemic that kills 125,000 people in America, and, of course, according to science, that will be in the millions not the 125,000s.

And there has been a lot of discussion, Mr. Speaker, about this is not bipartisan. In the 2016 election we had a lot of bipartisanship in terms of infrastructure. We said we needed infrastructure. The President said we needed infrastructure. Republicans said we needed infrastructure. Democrats said we needed infrastructure.

Mr. Speaker, in 2019 Mr. DEFAZIO, Mr. NEAL, myself and others went down to the White House, including the Speaker, and we sat with the President of the United States who said he wanted to put $1 trillion into infrastructure. I heard Mr. DEFAZIO say it earlier; we said $1 trillion.

He said, Oh, no, that is not enough. We need $2 trillion.

Now that is from the President of the United States that then sent an infrastructure bill down here for $200 billion, one-tenth of what he said was needed. The engineers say, of course, $4½ trillion is needed to fix our infrastructure.

And we said to the President, Mr. President, we will try to support you. We will work together in a bipartisan fashion. Now, tell us how we ought to pay for this.

Frankly, I was sitting not too far from the director of the National Economic Council, Mr. Kudlow. Mr. Kudlow sort of looked down and shook his head, not wanting the President to come up with how he was going pay for $2 trillion.

Mr. DEFAZIO, you saw that.

Mr. Speaker, Mr. NEAL looked across the table and said to the President, Mr. President, you tell us how you think we ought to pay for this, and we will work with you. That was bipartisanship.

We went down there some weeks later—frankly, later than we had planned, but it was later—and we were there to hear the President tell us how we were going to pay for a $2 trillion investment. And he frankly made up some spurious reason that NANCY PELOSI, the Speaker of the House, had criticized him—and very frankly, we would never have any discussions if he didn't want to talk to people who criticize him because we criticize him all the time. But he returns the favor; he criticizes us all the time. So we would never talk, we would never have any bipartisan discussions—and he walked out on us. There was no markup. There was no discussion. There was no what are your ideas. He walked out on us.

So, yes, we are here with a bill less than the President says is necessary. But we are here to do what he said we needed to do and what we said we needed to do, and we all said it in a bipartisan fashion.

Mr. Speaker, 10 years ago I first launched the House Democrats Make It In America plan for jobs and opportunity, and from the very start, investing in infrastructure has been a key component of that agenda.

Over the years, we have adapted that plan to meet changing needs and new challenges. Democrats ran on jobs, higher wages, making healthcare more accessible and less expensive, and investing in infrastructure. And we picked up 40 seats. We have 63 new Members of the Congress of the United States, so apparently our message resonated in 2018. In my view, it is resonating now.

We were handed an overwhelming mandate to use our House majority to pass a big and bold infrastructure package that will help create good jobs and spur economic growth. That is what the President promised in 2016.

I will wait for a minute if somebody wants to tell me what they thought of the bill that the President sent us to spend $1 trillion on infrastructure.

There is silence in the Chamber, Mr. Speaker, because the President hasn't sent a bill to do that. He hasn't sent a bill to fulfill his promise. Don't blame it on us. He hasn't sent us a bill and so many more of what he promised the American people.

But that is what this legislation will do. Will it do it exactly as the President wanted to do? We don't know because he hasn't told us exactly.

The Moving America Forward Act is the product of years of work by multiple committees with input from many Members, including a lot of our freshmen Members.

I thank Chairman DEFAZIO. I thank Chairman PALLONE. I thank Chairman NEAL. I thank all of those who worked with us, including Ms. WATERS and Mr. SCOTT.

□ 1430

They came together to craft an infrastructure package that will truly move America forward.

This bill lays out House Democrats' proposals for the kind of big and bold investments in infrastructure that everyone agrees we need to move America forward.

It would—and I know it has been discussed, but just briefly—authorize new highway, rail, transit, and airport projects. We need them.

Fund clean drinking water and clean energy: If anybody thinks that Flint was a unique happenstance in America, they are wrong. We need substantial investment, in every city and every rural area in this country, on water.

Extend key clean energy tax provisions by 5 years: Now, if you want dirty energy only—and I am an all-of-the-above needs to be used, certainly, in my lifetime.

Invests in new hospital infrastructure, public schools, and affordable housing: We have seen how they are stretched.

I am also proud that the Moving America Forward Act brings back one of the most popular programs, which was, unfortunately, allowed to lapse under the Republican-controlled Congress of 2011. State and local governments issued more than $181 billion in Build America bonds to support nearly 2,300 local infrastructure projects. I dare say in almost every district represented by anybody in this body. We are bringing them back.

Moving America forward with major investments in infrastructure is part of the Democrats' plan to help businesses and workers in our country Make It In America.

The American Society of Civil Engineers that I spoke of just a little while ago gave our country's infrastructure a D-plus and estimated that we need trillions of dollars by 2025 to keep pace with our needs, and that was before the COVID-19 epidemic hit.

This bill is about competing in the 21st century with our competitors all over the world. They are investing in infrastructure. Now, the pandemic's economic impacts make it even more necessary that we invest in infrastructure projects that will help put Americans back to work and get our economy back on track and moving forward.

Infrastructure, Mr. Speaker, is an area where Democrats and Republicans have been largely in agreement. I regret this is not a bipartisan bill, but no one is surprised. The last Congress that the Republicans were in charge of was the most closed Congress in history, and by that, I mean the most closed rules, no amendments, no participation. They passed a tax bill that was $1.5 trillion—no contact with Democrats.

So, don't cry crocodile tears that you are not included when you haven't included us and, more importantly, the Senate doesn't include the Democratic Party.

It is a shame. We ought to get back to more bipartisanship. I agree with that. But I remind you of the meeting with the President: Mr. President, we will support you. We will work with you. We will try to get the job done. We will try to help you carry out your promise to America.

And the President walked out.

Let's move America forward together. Together, let us help our people Make It In America.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from North Carolina (Ms. FOXX), the ranking member of the Education and Labor Committee.

Ms. FOXX of North Carolina. Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague from Missouri for yielding me time.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong opposition to H.R. 2.

The Democrats' school construction provisions in H.R. 2 will result in increased costs to taxpayers, increased costs to States and school districts, and crushing new requirements for the entire education community, all in exchange for limited grants to a handful of school districts.

What is worse, Democrats have inserted provisions of their radical Green New Deal in this bill to appease their far-left Members. Schools will be forced to comply with burdensome green requirements. The costs to comply with these requirements could exceed the funding schools are being offered.

This ill-advised bill also unnecessarily limits access to funds by charter schools, continuing Democrats' relentless assault on any educational option that provides families a lifeline out of a failing school.

H.R. 2 spends taxpayer dollars recklessly to advance bad ideas. This partisan bill is the wrong answer for students, teachers, and their communities.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. LYNCH), a member of the committee.

Mr. LYNCH. Mr. Speaker, I thank Chairman DEFAZIO for yielding. I also thank the committee's amazing staff for the great work they have done in putting together really a remarkable and powerful surface transportation bill.

Mr. Speaker, I also thank Chairman DEFAZIO for including several pieces of legislation that I had put forward. One is to provide $1.7 billion for zero-emission buses.

My legislation earmarks 10 percent of that amount, 10 percent of those zero-emission buses, for low-income communities, oftentimes, majority-minority communities that have major health disparities within their communities, such as lung disease, asthma, and other respiratory diseases.

These zero-emission buses will make a big difference in cities like Brockton, Massachusetts, that I represent. We have gotten a fair number of zero-emission buses for them in the past, and this will really help us rebuild our fleet.

Mr. Speaker, I also want to thank the chairman for including a measure that I had put in to protect bicyclists and pedestrians in urban areas and other suburban areas where we have had repeated accidents. It requires the Department of Transportation to do a survey on those areas that have had high numbers of accidents.

Lastly, Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the chairman for including my bill on establishing an aviation task force to make it safer for the public to fly during this pandemic period.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. LUCAS), the ranking member of the Science, Space, and Technology Committee.

Mr. LUCAS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the chairman for yielding.

I rise not only in opposition to this bill but to the entire process of writing it.

We are in the middle of a pandemic, the likes of which we haven't seen for over a century. If there was ever a time for Congress to set aside partisanship and work together to create thoughtful legislation, it is now. Yet, here we are, debating a $1.5 trillion Green New Deal wish list instead of a smart infrastructure bill.

That is a problem because we need solid infrastructure to transport goods and materials to stay economically competitive.

China has listed transportation R&D as one of the target areas to surpass the U.S. We are letting them take the lead. That is what happens when you draft legislation without consulting the minority or even the committees of jurisdiction over a bill. The Science Committee worked together to produce a bipartisan research title, but it was never even considered as part of this legislation.

Furthermore, provisions relating to aviation R&D and space were airdropped into the package without consulting us. This process has shut out Members of both parties. It is no wonder this bill is flawed.

What is more, when combined with the last bill, Democrats have proposed $4.5 trillion in partisan spending, yet they haven't addressed one single area of the most important things that we need to do to fight COVID-19 and fuel America's economic growth: investing in scientific research.

I have introduced a bill to double spending on basic research and keep us at the forefront of scientific development. I have also cosponsored the bipartisan RISE Act to restart American research. Taken together, these bills will turn the engine of American research back on and fuel a long-term plan for our success.

That is the kind of legislation we should be considering today, bipartisan bills that provide immediate relief and long-term strategy.

This is a missed opportunity and no way to run a railroad. Our country needs smart policies, not empty performances right now.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to vote against this bill so we can go back to the drawing board and do it right. Americans deserve no less.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire how much time remains on both sides.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Oregon has 31¼ minutes remaining. The gentleman from Missouri has 28 minutes remaining.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. CLYBURN), the majority whip.

Mr. CLYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman, my friend, for yielding the time.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act.

My overarching mission in Congress is to make America's greatness accessible and affordable for all Americans, and the primary means by which we connect all Americans to our country's greatness is our infrastructure. The Moving Forward Act will do just that.

For too long, many American communities have been left behind. As we invest in infrastructure, we must restructure our priorities to fulfill our Nation's vision of liberty and justice for all.

My 10-20-30 initiative targets investment in these persistent poverty areas. I am pleased that this legislation includes several provisions to accomplish this goal, including prioritizing areas of persistent poverty in awarding funds for transportation projects of national and regional significance.

These funds will help connect persistent poverty areas to economic opportunities. Mr. Speaker, I thank Chairman DEFAZIO for including these important provisions.

Federally qualified community health centers are essential for the success of rural and high-poverty communities, and I am pleased that H.R. 2 includes $10 billion for community health center capital project grants.

H.R. 2 includes significant investments to make long-overdue repairs and upgrades to public housing.

Mr. Speaker, I commend Chairwoman MAXINE WATERS for her determined advocacy for these measures.

The bill also recognizes the essential link between housing and transportation. If you can't afford to live anywhere near economic opportunity, the best highways and transit systems in the world won't meet your needs.

Recognizing this reality, this bill includes language from a bill that I introduced with Senator BOOKER, the HOME Act, directing State and local transportation planners to consider projects and strategies that will support inclusive zoning and land-use planning practices.

H.R. 2 includes $100 billion for the Accessible, Affordable Internet for All Act, legislation I introduced last week with the Rural Broadband Task Force and members of the Energy and Commerce Committee led by Chairman PALLONE.

Mr. Speaker, the Moving America Forward Act won't simply connect Americans to opportunities through the infrastructure it builds; it will connect Americans to opportunities through the jobs created to build it.

I strongly support the extension of the Disadvantaged Business Enterprise program at the Department of Transportation.

Our country is facing difficult circumstances. The burden is falling disproportionately on those for whom America's greatness has not always been accessible and affordable even in better times.

I urge the passage of the Moving Forward Act.

□ 1445

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. MEUSER).

Mr. MEUSER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Missouri for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, we all here agree, as do the American people, that our Nation's infrastructure is in dire need of upgrades and modernization. Yet our House Democrats have brought forth a transportation bill unfortunately destined to go nowhere.

First of all, any bill prepared in such a partisan manner has no chance of becoming law. Why is it that it is done this way? Why is it? I don't want to speculate.

In this Democratic bill, nearly $2 out of every $5 goes to unproven Green New Deal mandates, which, right out of the gate, absolutely puts a seemingly political agenda ahead of creating tangible projects.

We must offer the American people a transportation bill that puts, first and foremost, a focus on safer roads, modern highways, and improved infrastructure projects that are so important to our States and communities.

We also cannot put the burden completely on the taxpayers, which this bill does.

Representative WEBSTER and I recently introduced the Infrastructure Bank for America Act, which would create a mechanism to create public-private partnerships. Other countries, like China, are reaping the benefits of U.S. private investment in their infrastructure, while we fall way behind.

These are serious times. It is time for us to get serious.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. BROWN).

Mr. BROWN of Maryland. Mr. Speaker, I first thank my chairs, Mr. DEFAZIO and Ms. NORTON, for their leadership.

I rise today in support of the Moving Forward Act, an investment in America's infrastructure now that will secure America's future today, an infrastructure that supports America's growing communities and invests in America's local economies. This is an investment that will create millions of jobs, an investment in a smart system of infrastructure equal to the needs of the 21st century.

Today, we make a $6.2 billion investment in Maryland's roads and transits. We increase investments in safety and reliability on Washington's Metro transit system. We reauthorize the Disadvantaged Business Enterprise program to ensure greater opportunities for women- and minority-owned small businesses that want to compete for Federal transportation contract dollars.

Mr. Speaker, rebuilding America shouldn't be a partisan issue. The Moving Forward Act is an equal opportunity investment in America.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. BURCHETT).

Mr. BURCHETT. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to encourage my colleagues to vote "no" on H.R. 2, the INVEST in America Act.

There is no doubt America's roads need repair. The proposal before us, unfortunately, consists of empty promises and wasteful spending.

During my tenure as a local elected official, I saw firsthand that large public works projects can happen without exploding deficits. While mayor of Knox County in Tennessee, my office leveraged resources to increase our paving capacity fivefold. It made significant progress on the largest public works project in county history, all while continuing to pay down our debt.

These improvements didn't just happen. They required difficult discussions with a range of local stakeholders, while ensuring fiscal responsibility.

At almost $1.5 trillion, Mr. Speaker, in spending, this bill doesn't attempt to find long-term solutions to our highway transportation needs. Instead, it increases bureaucratic red tape and explodes costs in a thinly veiled attempt to implement the partisan Green New Deal.

Congress has spent $3 trillion on the COVID-19 virus in recent months. Simply put, this is unsustainable and is fiscally reckless at a time like this.

I serve on the House Budget Committee, in which we haven't passed a budget in quite some time up here, and I am willing to work across the aisle to find some solutions that put people to work meeting our Nation's infrastructure needs without crippling future generations with mounds of debt. That is why this Congress needs to pass a real budget, Mr. Speaker, instead of piecemeal spending plans and election year messaging bills like this one.

I encourage my colleagues to vote "no" on H.R. 2 and to get back to work doing real legislating in committees and on this hallowed House floor.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from New York (Mr. ESPAILLAT), a member of the committee.

Mr. ESPAILLAT. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank Chairman DEFAZIO, and I rise in strong support of the Moving Forward Act. It will make critical investment in all kinds of infrastructure.

I am delighted that it includes the Transportation Alternatives Enhancements Act, a piece of legislation which will provide funding for biking and walking infrastructure—and that is an initiative that I presented—as well as investments in the Capital Investment Grants, which will provide funding for the extension of the great Second Avenue Subway from East Harlem right in to 125th Street in Harlem, a transportation desert.

Also, I would like to see, in the future, how more funding goes to New York City. We put more in the coffers and deserve a lot more.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, I want to thank our chairman for also including housing as infrastructure. We are the landlords. The Federal Government is the landlord of public housing. That is part of our infrastructure, and we need funding for that as well as broadband internet services in rural and urban communities alike.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. MALINOWSKI), a member of the committee.

Mr. MALINOWSKI. Mr. Speaker, this week 64 years ago, Dwight Eisenhower signed the interstate highway bill; and as our chairman keeps reminding us, we have been living off of that ever since.

Actually, in New Jersey, we consider ourselves lucky to get to work on something built as late as the 1950s. Many of our bridges and tunnels are over 100 years old and falling apart.

This bill will repair and replace that infrastructure. It invests in projects important to the whole country, including our Gateway tunnel, and includes provisions I wrote to ensure that those funds cannot be held up for political reasons.

And, yes, it is a different infrastructure bill. It is something new, and that is a good thing. We are encouraging smart highways and materials. We are building mass transit that more people will want to use, modernizing our electrical grid, deploying national infrastructure, all of which will help us win the race with China to build the clean energy economy of the future.

And we are doing all of this with the first true economic stimulus bill of the coronavirus era, one that actually creates jobs rather than simply preserving them.

I urge my colleagues to embrace the future and support this bill.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. STANTON), a member of the committee.

Mr. STANTON. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of the Moving Forward Act, a historic investment of more than $1.5 trillion in the American people, in the American economy.

I thank Chairman DEFAZIO and Chairman PALLONE for their extraordinary leadership.

This bill includes long-delayed investments in Arizona's roads, bridges, transit, airports, broadband, clean water, and so much more. Arizona will receive more than $5 billion for highway and nearly $1 billion for transit.

Importantly, it supports major Arizona projects like I-11, public transit in cities big and small, and support for our long-overlooked Tribal communities. It addresses urgent infrastructure needs in my State, including increased investments through the Clean Water State Revolving Fund, and support for workforce development initiatives.

It includes $100 billion to make sure every American, whether in urban, rural, or Tribal areas, has access to affordable high-speed internet, and it leads the way in tackling climate change, including my bill, the Energy Efficiency and Conservation Block Grant Program. This will create jobs, help families save on energy bills, and reduce carbon pollution.

Mr. Speaker, the time for action is now.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Florida (Ms. MUCARSEL-POWELL), who is also a member of the committee.

Ms. MUCARSEL-POWELL. Mr. Speaker, I thank Chairman DEFAZIO for this transformational bill. I stand in strong support of the Moving Forward Act.

I have to tell you, Mr. Speaker, people in south Florida are so tired of being stuck in traffic for hours and dealing with terrible public transit options. This is one of the top concerns that I get from my constituents.

What they have asked for is rail, better buses, and a reasonable commute to and from work. This bill would make investments to make that a reality and create good-paying jobs.

South Florida also needs a solution to climate change and to know that their roads, bridges, and streets will be able to withstand sea level rise. This bill does just that.

This is a transformational bill. It is what people from South Dade to Florida City have been waiting for.

I have fought to include funding for energy-efficient wastewater infrastructure projects that reduce our environmental footprint and monthly bills for families.

This also includes one of the bills that I introduced, the Shovel-Ready Restoration Grants for Coastlines and Fisheries Act, which creates jobs for fisheries and tourism-dependent communities hit by the COVID-19 pandemic. It protects our coastal communities from sea level rise and stronger and more frequent storms.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. GARCÍA).

Mr. GARCÍA of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, as a Member from the heart of America's transportation network, Chicago, I rise in strong support of H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act, and I thank our chairman for a great job.

This bill produces needed investment in our Nation's infrastructure, from housing to broadband to transportation.

As a founding member of the Future of Transportation Caucus, I am fighting to ensure that we make bold reforms to the status quo and ensure that we recognize transportation policy as the social justice issue that it is.

For too long, we have starved Black and Latino communities from opportunities and segregated communities with train tracks, boulevards, and highways. This bill promotes equity by adopting sustainable technologies, prioritizing maintenance and repair, and investing in transit, pedestrian, and bike access.

This bill includes my top priorities. It makes transit-oriented development more equitable. It improves access to jobs and services and increases training for our frontline transit workers.

Congress must pass H.R. 2 and give Americans the 21st century infrastructure that we need.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from New Hampshire (Mr. PAPPAS), a member of the committee.

Mr. PAPPAS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the chairman for yielding.

While we fight the COVID-19 pandemic, we must continue to focus on economic relief and recovery for our workers, businesses, and communities. A major investment in infrastructure can get America up and running again.

This bill is transformational and supports not only the roads, rails, and waterways across our country, but also the schools, housing, and broadband that connects our communities.

This package will invest $1.3 billion in transportation dollars into my home State of New Hampshire over the next 5 years, creating good, high-paying jobs and making long-overdue improvement.

This bill reflects the priorities I have heard about from Granite Staters, including the expansion of active transportation networks, increased funding for computer rail programs, provisions for climate resiliency, and helpful wastewater treatment plants to manage PFAS contamination.

This comprehensive approach to infrastructure is critical to pave the way for our Nation's recovery. I urge my colleagues to come together to support this legislation and a stronger future for all Americans.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

□ 1500

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Minnesota (Ms. CRAIG), who is a member of the committee.

Ms. CRAIG. Mr. Speaker, I thank Chairman DEFAZIO for yielding and for all his work on this important legislation.

Mr. Speaker, we must fix our crumbling roads and bridges, expand broadband—which is the infrastructure of the 21st century—and give our communities the tools to build resilience against natural disasters.

This is something my communities across Minnesota's Second Congressional District are united on. They partnered with me to help shape the surface transportation provisions in this bill, which include investments in our infrastructure that would put Minnesotans to work on critical infrastructure needs like:

Adding a lane on I-35 in Lakeville; Improving Highway 52 in Goodhue County; and Completing outstanding projects on Trunk Highway 13 in Savage.

I am proud that today's legislation includes two bills that I have authored guided by mayors, small business owners, and farmers across my District—the Local Water Protection Act and the Resilience Revolving Loan Fund Act—to keep pollutants out of our snow and storm runoff. This bill will give our communities the resilience they need before those natural disasters hit.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to set partisan politics aside and stand up for the infrastructure investment for our communities.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. I continue to reserve the balance of my time, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. WATERS), who is the chair of the Financial Services Committee and who has a major section of the bill before us.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I thank Chairman DEFAZIO for his tremendous leadership and work on this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act, which includes $100 billion in critical funding for our Nation's affordable housing infrastructure to create or preserve approximately 1.8 million affordable homes. While we need stronger and better roads and bridges, they mean nothing for families who don't have a roof over their head or who are forced to live in substandard housing.

This country is in the midst of an affordable housing crisis. It is a crisis of tragic proportions that has resulted in over 550,000 people experiencing homelessness and nearly 38 million renter households paying unaffordable rent even before this crisis began.

The public health crisis that we are currently experiencing has exacerbated matters with millions of Americans across the country having lost their jobs and struggling to afford housing costs. Communities of color continue to suffer disproportionately, both from the virus and the resulting economic damage. The investments into affordable housing through this bill will not only increase and improve the supply of affordable housing, but it will also create jobs throughout the country and generate revenue for State and local governments which will go a long way to help our economy recover from the pandemic.

So I want to thank Speaker PELOSI and, of course, again, Chairman DEFAZIO for their work putting together this legislative package.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this important piece of legislation.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. I continue to reserve the balance of my time, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. LAMB), who is a member of the committee.

Mr. LAMB. Mr. Speaker, I know a steel company in western Pennsylvania that makes compressors and turbines. They compete against General Electric, but they have found a way to survive as a hometown company that pays a union wage. Yet we tax this company. We tax them with our poor infrastructure. They ship their goods out of the Port of Philadelphia which should only be a 300-mile drive from their location, but it is a 900-mile trip for their trucks to find roads and bridges that can withstand the weight of their loads.

So this company that builds American, that hires American, and that has stayed with us when so many have left pays three times what they should just to get their goods to market.

For how long?

How long until GE simply outlasts them?

Or how long until they have to cut jobs because they simply cannot cut these trucking costs?

So we can pay now by saving these jobs and create new ones building things, or we can pay later with more unemployment and the damage done by bad roads. That is the choice we are presenting with today's bill.

Does it cost money?

Yes. It is money that will go into the hands of people with jackhammers, shovels, and trucks. That is money well spent. I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. I continue to reserve the balance of my time, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PELOSI). NANCY D'ALESSANDRO PELOSI is the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding and acknowledging my maiden name, D'Alessandro.

In any event, Mr. Speaker, this is a special day. In the election, the Democrats said that we were going to increase paychecks by building the infrastructure of America with green, resilient, modern and job-creating infrastructure. Building infrastructure has always been a nonpartisan issue, a bipartisan issue. We have all taken great pride in the regions we represent and the great effort to meet the needs of those communities.

Today, House Democrats are proud to bring to the floor H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act, to deliver on our promise. Moving forward, that is exactly what this legislation will enable our country to do.

H.R. 2 takes bold, broad, and transformational action to rebuild our infrastructure and make it smarter, safe, and built to last while addressing key injustices in America which have been laid bare in the COVID-19 crisis.

Across the country day in and day out, the American people have been shining a light on those disparities and are demanding justice, racial justice, and also environmental justice, healthcare justice, justice in financial security, justice in transportation and more, which target communities of color.

Transportation justice, people don't think of that as an injustice, but in many cases it is, and we can give you examples, Mr. Speaker.

So here we are today with H.R. 2, an all-caucus effort strengthened by the intellectual resources brought by so many Members from across the country.

The chair of the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee has been our maestro in all of this. For decades he has served on the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee, but he has also chaired the Natural Resources Committee. So the combination of infrastructure and environmental protection, preserving our planet as we promote commerce, comes naturally to him. We are really blessed by his years of experience, knowledge, and strategic thinking on this subject.

I thank Mr. DEFAZIO for being this person at this time so needed by our country. He is always thinking of when we build our infrastructure how we create jobs in the building, how we promote commerce and preserve jobs in the meantime, and how we save time in getting product to market, especially our agricultural products, which are so, shall we say, perishable and where time is important, how we clean the air by having more mass transit, bicycle lanes, and the rest. One way or another, this is a health issue, an environmental justice issue, a commercial issue, and in every way an important day for us.

Again, he had a 24-hour marathon markup of the bill—that itself is a sign of the stamina it takes to build the infrastructure—following nearly 20 committee hearings on the transportation pillar of this project.

Also part of all of this is Mr. PALLONE of the Energy and Commerce Committee which has made a strong down payment on a clean energy future and upgrading hospitals, community health centers, and healthcare infrastructure to increase capacity and strengthen care during COVID-19, and, of course, into future public health emergencies and the ongoing health needs of our country.

Mr. PALLONE was also instrumental in the infrastructure for building broadband for our country, another injustice that we want to rectify so that all children and all families in America have access to broadband in this time of distance learning, telemarketing, telemedicine, and the rest.

Mr. CLYBURN, our distinguished whip, is very much a part of addressing that issue as well. BOBBY SCOTT is the chair of the Education and Labor Committee. I name these chairmen and it gives me an opportunity to use their names to praise them, but also to talk about what this bill does.

We tell children that education is so important to their own self-fulfillment, to their communities, and to the competitiveness of America. Yet we send those children to school which gives them a different message about the importance of education if those schools are not up to par for these children to learn. They are not wired for the future, and they have contamination that is dangerous to their health. They are just not meeting their educational needs. So let's respect our children, as we tell them to study, to give them the tools to do so, increasing capacity and strengthening their ability to learn. Again, COVID-19 points out some of those disparities in our system as well.

RICHE NEAL on the Ways and Means Committee was very much a part of some of the initiatives because the tax code is so important when we are trying to increase energy efficiency, increase climate resilience, and create many millions of good paying jobs. He was able to accommodate so many excellent ideas from our Members, including our distinguished chair of the Select Committee on the Climate Crisis, KATHY CASTOR of Florida. Many of her proposals in her report are manifested in this bill, H.R. 2, some of them by way of the Ways and Means Committee.

MAXINE WATERS we just heard from, Madam Chair of the Financial Services Committee, who is advancing justice and equality in housing in our country and expanding affordable housing across the country whether it is public housing or addressing issues that relate to homelessness and issues that relate in so many different ways. She has been a leader in all of this, and this infrastructure bill has a substantial infrastructure piece for housing.

So whether we are talking about roads and bridges and the safety of all of that, whether we are talking about broadband or hospitals, whether we are talking about education and schools, whether we are talking about housing, whether we are talking about our labs, Mr. BEN RAY LUJÁN, who is assistant speaker, member of the leadership, Congressman LUJÁN is with that, also joining EDDIE BERNICE JOHNSON of the Science, Space, and Technology Committee in advancing that.

Mr. PETERSON brought some things from the Agriculture Committee. Chairman BENNIE THOMPSON brought so much from Homeland Security. CAROLYN MALONEY is protecting our Postal Service from her position on the Oversight Committee. The list goes on and on, including Mr. GRIJALVA in terms of the green infrastructure of America.

So this is the product of so much knowledge, experience, and the intellectual resources of people outside with their magnificent mobilization at the grass-roots level for all of these things.

I think that if there is any bill that comes together in the Congress it is this bill that shows that everything in our country is connected, from the education of our children to the technologies of the future, to the roadmap to get there.

So I thank Mr. DEFAZIO for making this important occasion possible. I say to him sometimes in jest but always sincerely: Our hopes, Mr. DEFAZIO, are riding on you with this important transportation bill for the people, the Moving Forward Act. As Americans across the country demand justice, equality, and change, Congress must join them by taking bold action to deliver progress in their lives.

Mr. Speaker, I urge a strong bipartisan vote for the people on H.R. 2.

I see Mr. BLUMENAUER there who has been a champion on infrastructure for so many years in the Congress and his many years on this committee, Transportation and Infrastructure, and now the Ways and Means Committee, but so many people, the intellectual resources of the entire Congress are manifested in this bill, and I urge a very strong vote on H.R. 2 as it moves our country forward.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. WALTZ).

Mr. WALTZ. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to highlight a glaring deficiency in this bill and a missed opportunity to improve America's clean water infrastructure.

The infrastructure package before us today, unfortunately, fails to modernize the Clean Water State Revolving Fund, or the Clean Water SRF. This program allocates Federal money to States and to communities through the States for clean water initiatives.

Mr. Speaker, this bill, H.R. 2, finally reauthorizes the program for the first time since 1987. For that reason, a debate on improving the program, creating efficiencies, and investing more in clean water infrastructure is certainly warranted. Unfortunately, that debate has not occurred in this bill.

What this bill does do is increase spending for the program fivefold, from the $1.6 billion appropriated in fiscal year 2020 to an $8 billion authorization for fiscal year 2021. However, we have not done any evaluation of how that money has been distributed to States through a formula that EPA calls the allotment.

The allotment determines how much funding each State receives on an annual basis, and that hasn't changed since 1987. Frankly, no one really knows all the components that make up this formula.

So let me reiterate: The bill before us this week increases spending for the program by five times without even a discussion or a debate at the committee or on the House floor about how that money should then be provided to the States.

Mr. Speaker, I offered a bipartisan amendment with Representative BROWN of Maryland that would implement the EPA's 2016 recommendations to Congress for updating the allotment by considering population, considering infrastructure, considering other needs, considering water quality.

Mr. Speaker, I urge the chairman to work with us to address this issue in conference or on the water resources bill. If the Congress authorizes the program for the first time in over three decades, we certainly must address the antiquated and unclear allotment to States.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire how much time each side has remaining.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Oregon has 16¾ minutes remaining. The gentleman from Missouri has 23 minutes remaining.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Ohio (Ms. KAPTUR).

Ms. KAPTUR. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 2, the INVEST in America Act.

Through robust Federal recovery efforts, this legislation will create real jobs. It will empower communities across our country. America will rebuild our crumbling infrastructure, bring our transit and highway systems into the 21st century, and advance historic investments in clean energy technologies toward a modern power future.

Additionally, H.R. 2 reauthorizes funding for the Great Lakes Restoration Initiative. This invaluable program is central to the preservation of the Great Lakes freshwater economy. A Federal helping hand will authorize key investments in wastewater infrastructure, cleaning up algal blooms, and modernizing the weatherization program to confront the 21st century challenges of climate change.

Crafted with the expert hand of my friend and colleague, Chairman DEFAZIO, with significant input from Members of Congress on both sides of the aisle, this legislation will build America forward as a Nation.

The eloquent words of DANIEL WEBSTER, enshrined on the walls of this House Chamber urge us to “develop the resources of our land, call forth its powers, build up its institutions, promote all its great interests, and see whether we also in our day and generation may not perform something worthy to be remembered.”

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 2 will be remembered.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. PASCRELL), a soft-spoken Member of Congress.

Mr. PASCRELL. Mr. Speaker, I congratulate the chairman. I know he has worked hard on this for many moons, and he deserves it. He earned it.

Mr. Speaker, 64 years ago this week, Dwight Eisenhower signed into law the Interstate Highway System. The roads, the bridges, the highways of that system connected Americans and communities together like never before. It is no stretch that the landmark legislation remade the United States for a new postwar era, a great measure for the homeland’s security. That is how he put it.

Today, we are implementing the aspirations in the Green New Deal by passing our own blueprint for the next century. It includes bridges, roads, new trains, buses, new water pipelines in housing. This plan invests in electric, solar, water, geothermal, and wind power.

It includes my own Offshore Wind Power bill that will create clean energy jobs and invest in renewable sources of energy, because the future can’t just be bold and big; it must be clean, too.

H.R. 2 is a down payment on an America for our children and our grandchildren because a living, breathing great Nation invests in its future. Today, we are doing exactly that.

Mr. Speaker, I have been here for 25 years. We have always had 5-year plans for infrastructure, and we are back maybe to normality now, thanks in great part to our chairman.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from California (Mr. MCNERNEY).

Mr. MCNERNEY. Mr. Speaker, the number of people in this country without broadband is outrageous. Being on the wrong side of the digital divide has a devastating impact on so many people in our society, including students who need to complete homework; veterans and seniors who need telehealth services; individuals trying to start a business, applying for a job, or teleworking, or keeping up with the news or loved ones.

This pandemic has shined a bright light on the connectivity issues and disparities in this country.

Mr. Speaker, 34 percent of my constituents don’t have broadband service at home. This is due to gaps in broadband deployment and also because many face adoption barriers. People simply can’t afford service.

I am proud that H.R. 2 includes the Digital Equity Act, which I authored with Representatives LUJÁN and CLARKE. It provides critical funding to close gaps in broadband adoption and promote digital literacy.

We are long overdue for ensuring that every American is connected to broadband, but we have an opportunity to rise up to this challenge and address this issue by voting “yes” on H.R. 2.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. GRAVES).

Mr. GRAVES of Louisiana. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the gentleman for yielding time.

Mr. Speaker, I have been listening to this debate now for several minutes, and it really is just incredible to me to listen to some of the things that are being said.

I have heard people say that we have resiliency provisions, but that doesn’t address the cause of climate change. Well, let’s be clear. You can stop all emissions today—all of them—and we already have momentum built up to where it is going to continue warming. You have got to make investments in resilience.

Mr. Speaker, I heard our distinguished chairman earlier say it doesn’t make sense to invest in roads because they are going to be underwater, which is why I offered an amendment in committee that actually invests in predisaster mitigation for roads. And I thank the chairman for accepting the amendment.

So, we have led efforts to try to improve the resiliency of these infrastructure investments.

Mr. Speaker, I also remind the chairman that the DRA legislation that we just did last Congress, that I sat down in his office to negotiate with him, to talk through policy solutions with him—and I appreciate the time, and we made huge progress. I would say that as a result of that legislation and other actions that last Congress, we made more progress on resiliency than any other time. Mr. Speaker, this was done under a Republican Congress, but more importantly, it was done in a bipartisan manner.

Mr. Speaker, now, I have heard people stand here and talk about, “Oh, we have to reduce emissions.” Mr. Speaker, for every ton of emissions we have reduced in the United States, China is increasing their emissions by tons, by multiple tons more.

Climate isn’t a national or a continental issue. It is a global issue. You can’t reduce emissions by reducing them in the United States and having other people increase theirs multiple times more than our reduction. That doesn’t make sense.

Why would we penalize—I will say it again—the poorest among us, those who can’t afford it, in the middle of a coronavirus pandemic, in the middle of some of the highest unemployment rates we have seen in our lifetime? People have lost their jobs, and we are going to impose more costs on them. This bill doesn’t make sense.

Mr. Speaker, there is all sorts of talk about electric vehicles, about how we need transitional electric vehicles. Mr. Speaker, I noted earlier that we don’t have the electricity infrastructure—and this bill doesn’t address it—to power all of those cars.

I will say it again: Where is the energy going to come from? Our current generation capacity, our current grid infrastructure, cannot support it.

Another question: I hear my friends on the other side of the aisle often talk about the fact that we don’t have enough investment in infrastructure. The highway program is paid for as a user fee. It is paid for by a gasoline tax. It is a user fee.

Yet, this bill diverts billions of dollars out to things that don't have anything to do with infrastructure. You are exacerbating the insolvency.

And I remind you, electric vehicles don't pay a user fee. They are free-loaders. So by forcing transition, you actually cause insolvency or bankruptcy of our national highway system investments faster.

I will say it again: The bill doesn't make sense.

Mr. Speaker, just this morning, the Speaker of the House and the Democrat members of the Select Committee on the Climate Crisis released a 547-page climate report. Now, I saw it for the first time yesterday afternoon, and I will admit, I haven't had a chance to get through much of it yet. The New York Times has had more time than I have. They actually got it last week. Maybe I can call The New York Times and learn more about what is actually in there.

How in the world can a report that was just released be represented in this bill? How does that happen? It doesn't happen. The bill doesn't include the recommendations. This House passed a rule to create a committee, and now they are being ignored.

Mr. Speaker, in the committee, I offered an amendment to expedite the implementation of green energy projects, and I was told that the amendment was not germane because it had to do with aviation on airport property. Yet, in the en bloc amendments, part C, we have aviation amendments all over the place.

We have amendments in there that force airports to give airport infrastructure funds to private entities that run sky malls. We have provisions in there that take the taxes, the user fee from the aviation fuels, and give it to local and State governments, not investing it back in aviation, therefore causing Federal taxpayers to have to put more money into aviation. We have a "creating cash for clunkers program" for airlines in this bill.

Again, I was told that a green energy provision dealing with airports was not germane in committee. Yet, this bill now has 1,400 pages of text that was airdropped in here, never seen the light of day in our committee, airdropped in here, 1,400 pages of text. The bill that came out of committee, it may be 1,100 pages. It is extraordinary. It is absolutely extraordinary what is happening today.

Mr. Speaker, perhaps most offensive to the people that I represent is that we offered amendments, for example, to clarify the eligibility of the $10 billion in Corps of Engineer funds that were airdropped in this bill, to offer language that just clarified that projects under the Mississippi River and Tributaries Program, one of the large construction programs the Corps of Engineers runs, each project has to be authorized by Congress.

We just offered an amendment to clarify that, and I was told, "Oh, no, you can't do that because those are water-resources related provisions." So, I was prevented from being able to simply make the Morganza to the Gulf project eligible for funding.

Instead, we are going to spend billions of dollars picking up the pieces of these flooded communities over and over again instead of actually being proactive and protecting them.

Mr. Speaker, it was a bipartisan amendment, and I was told: You have to do that in WRDA.

However, if you are CONOR LAMB, you get your Corps of Engineers amendments in here because those are included. If you are a vulnerable Democrat, you get your Corps of Engineers amendments. But if you are not, you are not allowed to get those.

Maybe I should have given my amendment to CONOR LAMB. Maybe that is what I should have done, if that is how those get in there. They have different standards for different people.

Mr. Speaker, I am trying to represent the people that sent me here to represent them.

Another amendment that is squarely within transportation jurisdiction is a bipartisan amendment—I will say it again, Mr. Speaker, a bipartisan amendment—that would allow us to expedite the process to build a crossing of the Mississippi River on I-10, just to expedite it, because we have one of the worst bottlenecks in the Nation in the Baton Rouge area. I was told once again: No, no, no. You can't do that, can't even offer the amendment up.

So I will give the statistics again, Mr. Speaker. Of nearly 390 amendments offered up for this bill, in addition to the over 300 amendments offered up in committee—over 100 by Democrats in committee because they had problems with the bill—148 of these amendments are Democrat amendments, 148. And, that, of course, compares to somewhere around 22 Republican amendments that are being allowed to be offered.

Mr. Speaker, I urge rejection of this bill. Let's sit back down, as we have done in this Congress, in this Chamber, for decades, watching people on a bipartisan basis put infrastructure bills together that advance the interests of the American citizens, and address the incredible infrastructure needs that we have in this Nation.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire as to the amount of time remaining.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Oregon has 13¾ minutes remaining. The gentleman from Missouri has 14½ minutes remaining.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, just in response to the gentleman, he had a duplicative amendment on resilience. There is $6.25 billion for predisaster mitigation resilience in this bill. But again, building in resilience is only dealing with the effects of climate change, not reducing climate change.

He said: Oh, we should just throw up our hands because the Chinese are polluting the hell out of things.

Oh, that is a great attitude. The U.S. used to be a leader on these policies until Trump came to the White House and said it is a hoax, and that sort of unleashed China and other countries. He said the U.S. is out of the Paris Agreement. That unleashed China and these other countries.

But we can deal with it. We can deal with it in our trade policy. We can put a huge tax on imports that are contributing to fossil fuel pollution.

We can deal with this, and we should deal with this as a nation, but we need to show leadership again in this area.

Then he talked about there is nothing for electricity in this bill—and he can come down later for the debate on the E&C section. There is a massive investment on renewables, a massive investment in transmission in this bill. So that is not quite accurate.

And the user fee, guess what? We have been in a shortfall on the user fee for about two decades. The last time we increased the user fee was when we had a Republican over there with guts named Bud Shuster, who stood up to Newt Gingrich and joined with the majority of Democrats and raised the Federal gas tax. It hasn't been raised since 1993, 27 years.

And when they did the FAST Act, what did they do? They made up phony things. They said: Oh, we are going to take money from the Federal Reserve that doesn't exist, that is, $26 billion. Oh, we are going to have private tax collection that is going to make money—except it has been tried twice under Republican Presidents and it loses money.

And they came up with all of these phony pay-fors, and they say it was paid for by user fees. No, it was paid for out of the general fund. It ran a $90 billion deficit, paid for out of the general fund. We borrowed the money. It is an investment.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Washington (Ms. DELBENE).

Ms. DELBENE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act. It is comprehensive infrastructure legislation that will rebuild and modernize our infrastructure, build a clean energy future, and put people to work across the country. The bill also includes my bipartisan Affordable Housing Credit Improvement Act, provisions from that act.

I have heard, in my State of Washington, from several housing projects that are halted due to the falling 4 percent rate. This bill would establish a permanent 4 percent credit, helping projects that are currently stalled across the country.

The bill makes a substantial investment in the housing credit by increasing the annual allocation by more than 50 percent over 2 years. It also adds important incentives for rural and Tribal communities and for projects that serve extremely low-income families. In total, the affordable housing credit provisions in H.R. 2 will produce more than 600,000 affordable housing units over 10 years.

H.R. 2 is a crucial step for relief and recovery, and I urge my colleagues to vote “yes.”

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of time.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to gentleman from Oregon (Mr. BLUMENAUER), a leader on transportation issues.

Mr. BLUMENAUER. Mr. Speaker, I deeply appreciate the gentleman's courtesy, and I appreciate the work that he has done. I admire his restraint in his response to the gentleman from Louisiana, who in the beginning of his comments acknowledged that Chairman DEFAZIO spent time with him going over a variety of things, for a person in the minority party, a relatively junior Member. That is how Congressman DEFAZIO operates.

He studied under Bud Shuster and Jim Oberstar back when we were putting things together big picture, standing up to Newt Gingrich and Bill Clinton, dealing with those financing issues.

This piece of legislation, I think, is the most consequential since we had the ISTEPA legislation. And in a sense, I think it is more consequential, because it ties together all of these pieces in terms of resilience, climate change, dealing with decades of neglect in terms of resources and people who are too timid in moving forward. I am in awe of all of the pieces that have been fit together. And if people will examine the elements of this bill, they will understand that.

Yes, there are incentives for electric vehicles. There are also resources here to study a new way of financing, dealing with road user charges. The pieces fit together and provide a foundation for us going forward.

This is a blueprint. It is a point of departure. It is not the finished product, but it is what we are going to be dealing with in the House, I think, throughout the next year-and-a-half as we are meeting the challenges that have been given to us.

There may be people like Trump who claim that they want to spend $1 trillion or $2 trillion. This is a plan for the future. This ties the pieces together. This is climate friendly. This is economically visionary. This provides the tools to local governments that have been waiting for the Federal Government to step up and honor that partnership.

I thank the gentleman for what he is doing and look forward to working with him to build on it as it moves its way through the legislative process. And ultimately this is going to be enacted into law. It is a framework for where America will go.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of time.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Illinois (Ms. KELLY).

Ms. KELLY of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act.

For too long, we have neglected our Nation's roads, bridges, and airports, while inequalities in broadband access and healthcare have increased.

Our Nation's infrastructure is in need of significant upgrades to make our roads safer, reduce congestion, and make our transportation networks more energy efficient.

The Second District of Illinois, in particular, will benefit from the support for small airports, investment in rail, and increased access to affordable housing.

This bill invests $100 billion to promote competition for broadband internet infrastructure for underserved rural, suburban, and urban communities.

The coronavirus epidemic has shown just how important it is to have access to high-speed internet. From completing school classes at home to conducting a virtual visit over telehealth, the need for connectivity has never been higher.

I hope my colleagues on the other side of the aisle will continue to look at infrastructure as a bipartisan issue and support this package to upgrade our communities for the 21st century.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of time.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Michigan (Mrs. DINGELL).

Mrs. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act.

I want to thank Speaker PELOSI and Chairman DEFAZIO for their outstanding leadership.

The time is now to rebuild America. Investing in our Nation's infrastructure is bigger than just mending our roads, bridges, and airports. It will mean a boost to future manufacturing. It will create good-paying jobs.

It will transition our Nation to a clean energy economy and will build the infrastructure for those electric vehicles we need to put on the road to be globally competitive and put us on track for robust future growth.

Over the next decade, we have to seize this opportunity, and we must seize it for every community across the country, urban, suburban, and rural alike.

This bill is designed to rebuild communities that are smarter, safer, and made to last. And with American grit and ingenuity, we can accomplish this and more.

I am proud that a number of provisions that I have championed are included in this legislation.

I urge all of my colleagues, Republicans and Democrats, to support this important bill and come together. The American people have sent us here to find common ground on the toughest issues for all future generations to prosper.

And as my Governor says: “Fix the damn roads.”

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of time.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to gentlewoman from Illinois (Ms. SCHAKOWSKY).

Ms. SCHAKOWSKY. Mr. Speaker, the Moving Forward Act marks a transformational investment in America's infrastructure that will create millions of jobs and take bold action on the climate crisis.

In case anybody forgot, 2020 began with one of the worst wildfires in the history of the world, devastating 45 million acres in Australia. And now fires are raging in Siberia, and the temperature in the Arctic Circle actually hit a record 100 degrees Fahrenheit. So it is past time for Congress to act.

This is such a comprehensive bill. I want to thank Chairman DEFAZIO for also including the Motor Vehicle Safety Title, and I include in the RECORD a report from Consumer Reports on the lifesaving impact the Motor Vehicle Safety Title will have.

SAFETY FIRST—CAR CRASHES, INNOVATION, AND WHY FEDERAL POLICY SHOULD PRIORITIZE ADOPTION OF EXISTING TECHNOLOGIES TO SAVE LIVES

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

To provide a guide for policymakers and the auto industry on how best to substantially and expeditiously reduce road crashes, deaths, and injuries, this study analyzed the safety benefits of currently available crash avoidance systems and other existing motor vehicle safety technologies, including a review of the safety research that has been conducted on the topic. The focus of this analysis was the publicly available fatality reduction benefits of safety technologies extrapolated to the entire U.S. light vehicle fleet—with systems evaluated that exist today, as opposed to creating estimates of effectiveness based on simulated or idealized technology. The analysis found that currently available automatic emergency braking (AEB), lane departure warning (LDW), blind spot warning (BSW), and pedestrian detection technologies would be expected to combine for fatality reductions of 11,800 lives per year once fully adopted fleetwide. Two safety applications of V2V communications technology—intersection movement assist (IMA) and left turn assist (LTA)—would be estimated to save more than 1,300 lives per year with full fleet adoption. One existing drunk driving prevention technology, the Driver Alcohol Detection System for Safety (DADSS), would be estimated to save 3,700–7,400 lives under the scenarios assessed. Summed together, existing motor vehicle safety technology would save 16,800–20,500 lives per year if equipped across the full U.S. light vehicle fleet. This totals approximately one-half of the 36,560 lives lost on U.S. roads in 2018. Therefore, to cut roadway fatalities in half, policymakers should prioritize requiring and setting strong performance standards for existing vehicle safety technologies, and automakers should equip effective systems standard across all trim lines of their models as soon as possible.

INTRODUCTION

The United States faces a road safety crisis. In recent years, motor vehicle crashes in the U.S. have accounted for at least 36,000 deaths and 2.5 million injuries per year. These crashes are the leading cause of death in the first three decades of Americans' lives, and they cost the nation an estimated $800 billion in direct and indirect expenses per year.

Substantial reductions in motor vehicle deaths, injuries, and crashes will be required for the U.S. to achieve a transportation system in which people can readily get around without fear that they or their loved ones will not make it to their destination. As part of the pursuit of safer roads, a suite of technologies has developed through auto industry innovation that, over time, will revolutionize the experience—and the safety—of driving a car. Various existing crash avoidance systems are capable of automatically applying the brakes to avoid a crash, warning drivers of a vehicle in their blind spot, or detecting a pedestrian crossing the street. These technologies are all on cars today, providing major proven safety benefits to consumers.

To provide a guide for policymakers and the auto industry on how best to substantially and expeditiously reduce road crashes, deaths, and injuries, this study analyzed the fatality reduction benefits of currently available crash avoidance systems and other existing motor vehicle safety technologies, including a review of the safety research that has been conducted on the topic. The estimated lives saved on U.S. roads depends greatly on the choices made by policymakers; specifically, whether they choose to prioritize mandating existing crash avoidance systems or expediting the future deployment of automated vehicles (AVs) as envisioned under previous legislation.

BACKGROUND

For vehicle safety technologies to deliver in full on their lifesaving potential, they must—by definition—be standard equipment on all vehicles on our roads. It is also critical for there to be strong performance requirements for these technologies, so that safety innovation leads to systems that consumers can trust to function when they need them.

Today, the U.S. still is far from these goals with respect to crash avoidance technologies. Automatic emergency braking (AEB), a version of which major automakers voluntarily committed to equip standard on virtually all passenger vehicles by 2022, now comes standard on just 67% of 2020 vehicle models more than four years after the commitment was made. Pedestrian detection, an enhancement of AEB, comes standard on 61% of 2020 models, while lane departure warning (LDW) and blind spot warning (BSW) lag behind at only 49% and 29%, respectively. Furthermore, there are no current laws or regulations in the U.S. requiring automakers to equip their vehicles with lifesaving crash avoidance systems, nor are there any requirements specifying how well the systems must perform.

Several members of Congress have sought to use federal policy to accelerate auto industry safety innovation and ensure consumers continuously gain greater access to the benefits of crash avoidance systems. For example, a bill recently introduced in the U.S. House of Representatives, the 21st Century Smart Cars Act, would require systems including AEB with pedestrian detection, LDW, and BSW to come standard on all new cars and to meet mandatory performance standards. Another new bill, the Five Stars for Safe Cars Act, would require upgrades to the government's New Car Assessment Program (NCAP) so that it accounts for these and other auto safety systems, including through the development of new National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) test procedures, devices, fixtures, and performance metrics.

There also has been significant manufacturer, investor, media, and government attention in recent years devoted to the role of vehicles with enhanced driving automation systems, the most advanced of which are known colloquially as A Vs or self-driving cars. AVs offer enormous potential to improve safety and mobility by substantially reducing the road crashes attributable to driver error. Similar to what is needed for existing crash avoidance technologies, rigorous performance requirements are essential for driving automation systems to reach their full potential.

Currently, the real safety benefits A Vs will deliver for consumers are largely unknown. These systems generally are not yet commercially available, and public trust in A Vs is low, with Americans somewhat optimistic about the future of the vehicles while wary of the technology today. In addition, there have been fatal crashes involving driving automation systems, with the National Transportation Safety Board publishing detailed crash investigation reports that found insufficient safety protocols in place.

In 2017 and 2018, federal legislation was considered in each chamber of Congress that would have expedited the deployment of AVs on U.S. roads for commercial use—without requiring completion of any mandatory standards or performance requirements regulating the safety of these vehicles. The legislation's approach to vehicle safety was the target of significant criticism, including by CR, and the bills were not approved before the end of the 115th Congress.

Instead of establishing meaningful requirements for AVs to provide greater occupant protection and crash avoidance capabilities, the 2017–2018 legislation would have required only that AVs provide a level of safety the same as the average car on the road. For example, the House's SELF DRIVE Act would have permitted AVs in commerce that could be exempt from one or more federal motor vehicle safety standards if they had “an overall safety level at least equal to the overall safety level of nonexempt vehicles.” Nonexempt vehicles—in other words, vehicles on the road today—currently have the safety performance of more than 36,000 deaths, 2.5 million injuries, and 6 million crashes per year.

METHODOLOGY

Fatality reduction benefits were examined for four existing crash avoidance technologies: automatic emergency braking (AEB), lane departure warning (LDW), blind spot warning (BSW), and pedestrian detection. Additionally, the fatality reduction benefits of two safety applications for vehicle-to-vehicle (V2V) communications technologies, as well as one drunk driving prevention technology, were investigated. The focus of this analysis was limited to the publicly available fatality reduction benefits of safety technologies extrapolated to the entire U.S. light-duty motor vehicle fleet of about 250 million vehicles—with systems evaluated that exist today, as opposed to creating estimates of effectiveness based on simulated or idealized technology.

Recently, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) conducted a comprehensive meta-analysis on three of these technologies: AEB, LDW, and BSW. NHTSA's analysis expanded on the work done by Leslie et al. (2019), which estimated the effectiveness of crash avoidance systems currently equipped on General Motors vehicles. In order to translate these effectiveness rates into fatality reductions, the agency expanded on the work done by Wang et al. (2019), adding consideration for already expected fatality reduction from existing technologies such as electronic stability control (ESC).

Absent from the agency's meta-analysis are the estimated safety benefits of pedestrian detection. However, in 2017 NHTSA published a report detailing the expected fatality reduction from full fleet adoption of this technology. This research was performed with then-available pedestrian detection technology, and the effectiveness estimate was derived from test-track evaluations of the systems combined with contemporary observed crash scenarios and injury risk curves. Further, this report focused only on two prominent vehicle-pedestrian crash scenarios, which accounted for 60% of all fatal pedestrian crashes. Since the publication of this report, pedestrian detection technologies have improved; however, in order to stay consistent with the selected analysis inclusion criteria and more conservative estimates, researchers chose to use the figures from 2017.

In addition to the four crash avoidance technologies AEB, LDW, BSW, and pedestrian detection, researchers examined the expected fatality reduction benefits of two safety applications of vehicle-to-vehicle

(V2V) communications technology, as well as one drunk driving prevention technology, if fully adopted throughout the U.S. light vehicle fleet. While these two technologies are not currently widespread on roads, they are the subject of years of extensive testing and they offer a clear path to saving lives.

To stay consistent with the selected approach to estimate only the more conservative potential of these safety technologies, just two V2V safety applications were used. These two applications—intersection movement assist (IMA) and left turn assist (LTA)—are those that NHTSA used in its expected benefit analysis for its notice of proposed rulemaking to require V2V-capable systems on all new cars, which was finalized in late 2016 and formally published in early 2017.ⁱ While additional V2V safety applications have since been analyzed, this report only includes the aforementioned two applications in the benefits analysis for V2V because these two applications address hazards that would not be addressed by other existing crash avoidance technologies.

Additionally, researchers examined potential reduction in road deaths through the use of drunk driving prevention technology. An analysis of NHTSA's Fatality Analysis Reporting System (FARS) was used to estimate the lives that could be saved if one technology, the Driver Alcohol Detection System for Safety (DADSS), prevented drivers from operating the vehicle if they had a Blood Alcohol Concentration (BAC) of 0.08 or higher. Two estimates were produced: an upper estimate based on the FARS analysis, and a lower estimate that was established by reducing that value by half.

Researchers evaluated the fatality reduction benefits of DADSS because the technology has been the subject of the most extensive testing and published research among drunk driving prevention technologies. Alternative approaches, such as those based on the use of systems that monitor a driver's performance, may also prove effective at detecting impairment and preventing or limiting vehicle operation by drunk drivers.

The target crash populations that would be addressed by DADSS are separate from the target crash populations that would benefit from AEB, LDW, BSW, pedestrian detection, or V2V (e.g., in the fatality reduction benefits analyses for these five technologies, all impaired driving crashes were excluded). Therefore, the two technology effectiveness estimates for DADSS (i.e., the upper estimate and lower estimate) were added to the estimates of the other technologies in order to determine an overall number of expected lives saved if the technologies were fully adopted throughout the U.S. light vehicle fleet. These estimates can be summed because their crash populations are exclusive, with no fatal crashes potentially double-counted by the individual technology effectiveness analyses.

A review of the papers on A Vs found no on-road research establishing that vehicles driving themselves freely on fully public roads provide a safety benefit compared to vehicles operated traditionally by a human driver under the same circumstances. While some AV developers report that they have driven their vehicles many miles without crashes, their detailed safety data is rarely, if ever, made public. The specific conditions under which these vehicles are tested are also not public, and potentially are unrepresentative of the conditions these vehicles would encounter if deployed nationally.

RESULTS

The analysis found that currently available AEB, LDW, and BSW technologies would be expected to combine for fatality reductions of approximately 11,000 lives per year once fully adopted throughout the U.S. light-duty motor vehicle fleet. Currently available pedestrian detection technologies would be expected to prevent at least an additional 800 fatalities per year once equipped on every light vehicle, as well. Additional research outside of this analysis has found that with reasonable system improvements, more than 3,500 lives could be saved annually by pedestrian detection; however, this number was not used in the analysis as the authors of this additional research assumed idealized systems. Two safety applications of V2V communications technology—intersection movement assist (IMA) and left turn assist (LTA)—would be estimated to save more than 1,300 lives per year with full fleet adoption. One existing drunk driving prevention technology, the Driver Alcohol Detection System for Safety (DADSS), would be estimated to save 3,700–7,400 lives under the scenarios assessed.

Summed together, these figures led researchers to conclude that existing motor vehicle safety technology would save 16,800–20,500 lives per year if equipped across the full U.S. light-duty motor vehicle fleet. This totals approximately one-half of the 36,560 lives lost on U.S. roads in 2018.

CONCLUSION

This analysis makes clear that the path to substantially and expeditiously reducing the enormous toll of U.S. road crashes runs squarely through the full, fleetwide adoption of currently available crash avoidance technologies and other existing motor vehicle safety technologies. An alternative approach—prioritizing the expedited deployment of AVs that meet the minimum level of safety envisioned by Congress—cannot be analytically supported given the lack of available evidence establishing on-road safety benefits to vehicles that drive themselves compared to traditionally-driven vehicles.

Policymakers in Congress and at NHTSA should prioritize requiring and setting strong performance standards for these existing, lifesaving vehicle safety technologies to accelerate auto industry safety innovation and ensure consumers continuously gain greater access to the benefits of the technologies. Automakers should prioritize equipping effective versions of these features standard across all trim lines of their models as soon as possible and continuing to improve these technologies' safety benefits over time. Delay by either the government or manufacturers would unduly leave people at risk and effectively let essential auto industry innovations go to waste.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of time.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from New York (Mr. ROSE).

□ 1545

Mr. ROSE of New York. Mr. Speaker, I thank the chairman for his extraordinary leadership on this extraordinary bill.

Last year, I stood up right on this floor and asked, "Where is our infrastructure bill?" Well, thanks to Chairman DEFAZIO, we finally have one.

This bill allocates $300 billion to rebuild our roads and our bridges so my constituents on Staten Island and in South Brooklyn don't have to pay thousands of dollars a year to repair road damage to their cars.

This bill invests $100 billion for more reliable mass transit so my constituents in Brooklyn aren't stuck waiting for an R train, F train, D train, that never seems to arrive.

This bill includes my legislation to overturn outdated rules, preventing agencies like the Port Authority and the MTA from using the tolls they collect to provide discounts for commuters, with no other choice but to pay the highest tolls in the country.

Eleven months ago, I stood here because we couldn't wait another year. And now I am proud to be able to tell my constituents they won't have to wait. The days of decrepit roads, endless congestion, delayed trains and buses will soon be over.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman wishes to close, I have no further speakers and I will close.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, before we consider amendments to add to this already massive partisan wish list, I want remind members how we got here.

Just over a week ago we marked up the majority's $500 billion my-way-or-the-highway bill in the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee. That was a partisan bill from the beginning, and aside from maybe a few Republican amendments, it remained a partisan bill, and absolutely partisan bill, coming out of markup.

After our markup, the Speaker added in provisions under our committee's jurisdiction, some of which completely upended previous bipartisan legislation to fit their partisan agenda. Others are issues that we could have found bipartisan agreement on if the majority had even tried to work with us.

And now we are about to consider yet another broad swath of provisions in a partisan amendment process that is cut short because the majority doesn't believe Members should be here when they conduct the American peoples' business.

The majority believes it is acceptable to put together a massive bill that is going to turn our transportation system upside down, add $1.5 trillion in debt, add more items to it with an absurd partisan amendment process, and pass it all by proxy.

All for an infrastructure bill that is not really an infrastructure bill at all, it is a climate bill that doesn't even attempt to include consensus solutions to these issues, but instead, bludgeons our transportation system, industries, and workers into submission.

Republicans have been ready and willing partners throughout this process, but it takes willingness on both sides of the aisle to work toward that mutual goal. This bill doesn't offer any solutions, only more delays, more costs, and more partisanship that really doesn't help any of our communities or our economy.

Mr. Speaker, for these and many other reasons, this is the first surface transportation bill, although this bill barely resembles one, but this is the first transportation bill in all my years of Congress that I am going to oppose, and I urge my colleagues and fellow Members to join me in rejecting this partisan messaging bill.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, as I pointed out at the beginning of this long debate, what we had was a disagreement in principle. And you can't compromise on principles.

We just heard an impassioned speech from Mr. GRAVES from Louisiana about how we should just throw up our hands on fossil fuel reduction in the United States because China is building coal plants.

Well, we used to be a world leader on these things until Donald Trump occupied the White House and we walked away from science and we walked away from the Paris accord, and that gave leeway to these others countries to just say, Well, look at the United States, why should we comply with any of these strictures?

As I mentioned to him, we can deal with those things through our trade policy, and we should. I had hoped to debate withdrawal from the WTO. At this point it has been precluded by the Rules Committee, but I am hoping to bring it up later this year.

We need to talk about our dependence upon China. We need to talk about their abuses of the environment, their abuses of labor, their abuses of stealing intellectual property, and all the other things that they do over there. And we need to deal with them in a meaningful way through trade policy, and we can do that. We could deal with their fossil fuel pollution there, too. So that's one point.

The other would be that this bill is huge and transformative, and we need it. The Republican alternative, offered in committee, had zero funding for rail. None. It had baseline for transit. Today, transit in America has a $106 billion backlog to bring it up to a state of good repair. $106 billion.

Now, the good news is if we do that work, with us closing the final loopholes and we buy America, it is going to create one heck of a lot of manufacturing jobs here in the United States. High tech jobs for new transit vehicles, everything. And then for highways they did baseline plus 10 percent.

We talked about the scorecard of the American Society of Civil Engineers. We have 47,000 bridges on the national highway system that need substantial repair or replacement. That is about a $200 billion bill.

I tried to get Obama to do that in his Recovery Act, and instead he did Larry Summers' stupid tax cuts too small to notice at twice the price tag. So we have let that go.

47,000 bridges. 40 percent of the national highway system has to be rebuilt, not just overlaid.

And then transit. That is a huge bill. Huge. And you can't get there with a baseline in transit and a 10 percent increase in highways. And, by the way, we are about $100 billion short—over $100 billion short with the user fee.

As I pointed out, the last time the user fee was increased we had a Democratic President, a Democratic House, and a guy with a lot of guts named Bud Shuster on the other side of the aisle, who was the senior Republican on the committee. He ruled Newt Gingrich. He voted 60-some-odd Republicans with us to increase the user fee. That was 1993. The Federal gas tax hasn't been indexed or increased in any way since 1993.

And the people say, Oh, it is politically toxic. Well, 36 States—36 States—have raised their gas taxes and user fees and registration fees to pay for the projects because people are tired of congestion. They are tired of potholes blowing out their tires. They are tired of crummy transit that breaks down. They want better rail.

And people will—if you know that is where the money is going, they will pay for it. But here in Washington, D.C., there is a fear, a fear, that if we were to raise the user fee, oh, my God, we are all going to lose our elections.

I propose that we just index it and bond it. Today we can borrow money for 1.3 percent, virtually nothing. We can do this 5-year bill, borrow all the money we need for this bill, and say, We are going to pay interest only. We will pay it out of the existing gas tax revenues. And at the end of 5 years when we have recovered from the pandemic, when we have rebuilt America's infrastructure, and we are looking to the future, then we will put in place a new system, and it will be vehicle miles traveled when we are ready to go there, but first we have to run a national pilot program and get the information we need to get there.

Mr. Speaker, I recommend my colleagues to vote for a 21st century transformative infrastructure bill that deals meaningfully with climate change, which I believe in, and I believe everybody on this side of the aisle believes in.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. ROYBAL-ALLARD. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act.

This sweeping legislation brings together some of the best policy ideas in transportation, infrastructure, water, energy, housing, and education. This House can be proud of supporting these priorities which deliver a positive vision for the future of our great country.

I would like to focus on this bill's incorporation of two important factors in the decision-making process for infrastructure projects: equity and environmental justice.

Equity is part of social justice. It means communities have opportunity to make the decisions about projects built in their neighborhoods. For far too long, marginalized communities, like those in my Los Angeles district, have been shut out of decisions that directly impact their health and safety. This legislation would prioritize projects that are built with community input.

Environmental justice and the impact of climate change are key factors that must be considered when determining how to invest in our infrastructure. Every decision must be aimed at reducing greenhouse gasses and our carbon footprint for the future of every child in every community.

H.R. 2, would require the Secretary of Transportation to consider equity and environmental justice in its grant making decisions, including those under the Community Climate Investment grant program and the Active Transportation Connectivity grant program.

H.R. 2 would invest 105 billion dollars in transit programs. It doubles the money designated for urban areas and specifically directs transit agencies to serve areas with low income populations. This directive will help ensure places like Los Angeles and other urban areas, will build transit systems that serve every community.

I'm very pleased my local transit partners at LA Metro have endorsed this legislation, stating that "this much needed federal legislation is a bold, thoughtful and visionary proposal that will undeniably bolster the expansive work we are doing here in Los Angeles County to enhance the mobility of our ten million residents." I am glad to have their endorsement on this legislation.

Equity also means equal access. Our experience during the COVID-19 shutdown demonstrates that businesses and schools can operate remotely, only when there is a reliable access to the internet. The Moving Forward Act will invest 100 billion dollars to expand and deliver high-speed broadband internet access to all regions of the country, especially in communities which are unserved, underserved or experiencing persistent poverty.

This expansion of access to broadband will help ensure students and businesses can reach resources, regardless of their zip code. This includes urban centers like those in my Congressional district.

I am proud to support H.R. 2, The Moving Forward Act, and I urge my colleagues in the Senate to work with us to pass this important legislation for the American people and our American economy.

Mr. SCOTT of Virginia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of several en bloc amendments to H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act. This bill delivers transportation and infrastructure solutions to the American people, improves the safety of commuters and communities, and increases community resilience to the climate crisis, while also creating jobs for the American people. I was pleased that the Rules Committee ruled in order a number of my amendments to further these goals, improving water quality in the Chesapeake Bay, supporting National Labs, and ensuring that modeling and simulation technology is used to ensure federal dollars are spent in cost-effective ways to improve safety and protect the environment.

I urge my colleagues to support an amendment I introduced with my colleague from Florida, Representative Stephanie Murphy, which is included in amendments in part B, proposed to be considered en bloc. Our amendment adds an important sense of Congress that the U.S. Department of Transportation ought to maximize the utilization of modeling and simulation technology to analyze federally funded highway and public transit projects. In doing so, we can best ensure that these projects will increase transportation capacity and safety, alleviate congestion, reduce travel time and environmental impact, and are as cost-effective as possible.

Modeling and simulation technologies have beneficial purposes—from medicine and vaccine development to natural disaster response. Urban and transportation planners across the country understand the significant benefits of modeling and simulation and as the technology continues to rapidly advance, its precision in mimicking real-world factors and variables continues to yield incredible savings both in manpower and money.

I also want to urge my colleagues to support the Chesapeake Bay, one of America's greatest treasures, by supporting two amendments included in part E, proposed to be considered en bloc to improve water quality and the quality of life within the Chesapeake's 64,000 square-mile watershed. I am pleased to introduce the Chesapeake WILD amendment with Representatives ROB WITTMAN and JOHN SARBANES, who co-chair the Chesapeake Bay Watershed Task Force with me and introduced the Chesapeake WILD Act with me last year. A great deal has changed since that time, as Americans respond to the COVID-19 pandemic: many have lost jobs and outdoor recreation has become an even more important way for people to stay physically and mentally healthy; yet not everyone in the Chesapeake region has access to safe recreational spaces. In the midst of this year's hurricane season, communities throughout the Chesapeake Bay watershed are also bracing for the possibility of another emergency, made more severe by the climate crisis. Each of these challenges has made the Chesapeake WILD grant program more urgent than ever.

This amendment will help restore and protect the Chesapeake Bay watershed by investing in green infrastructure, habitat preservation, and ecosystem restoration to enhance community resilience, and improve water quality, all while creating jobs and enhancing economic opportunities throughout the watershed. Along with my friend, Representative SARBANES' Chesapeake Gateways amendment, which I was pleased to cosponsor along with Representatives WITTMAN and HARRIS, this amendment would also increase recreational opportunities in the region. I am proud to see bipartisan support for these amendments, and I look forward to securing their passage.

I am also pleased to support an amendment included in part D, proposed to be considered en bloc, which I cosponsored with Congressman BEN RAY LUJÁN and other supporters of our nation's 17 National Laboratories, including the Thomas Jefferson National Accelerator Facility or JLab in my congressional district, where work is being done to advance our understanding of nuclear physics. Funding to address the infrastructure needs and maintenance backlogs across the National Labs system is one way that we can support the work of scientists there, whether on clean energy or a vaccine for COVID-19. In modernizing the National Labs system, we can create shovel-ready construction jobs to put Americans back to work right away and ensure the best and brightest scientists are recruited to careers in national service and research for the common good.

Mr. Speaker, these amendments help us move forward in an evidence-based and cost-effective way, supporting coastal communities, ecological recovery, commuters, and research in the national interest, all while creating good jobs. I urge my colleagues to support this bill and these amendments, so that we can make the necessary investments for a future that is more resilient, environmentally responsible, and connected than before.

Mr. LOWENTHAL. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act.

This bill is the product of collaboration across House committees and takes a bold step to rebuild our infrastructure while reducing emissions and enhancing resilience in communities across the country.

H.R. 2 makes key improvements that will address challenges we face in Southern California. It ensures that states can use more freight funds for multi-modal projects, critical improvements we need at freight hubs. It invests over $100 billion in transit and has a dedicated program to reduce congestion on our highways. And it devotes over $100 billion to affordable housing to help make sure every American has a place to call home.

The bill also includes a crucial provision to examine the administration of a fee on freight transportation. I have advocated for years to implement this fee, which would provide a sustainable revenue stream to fund sorely-needed freight improvements.

The Moving Forward Act tackles climate change in every title. It invests in zero-emission transit buses and port equipment, incentivizes the development of wind and solar energy, and emphasizes resiliency to help our communities adapt to rising sea levels. The bill also gives key federal support to expand broadband access and re-build schools across the country.

This legislation is a bold step forward for our nation, and I urge all my colleagues to vote yes.

I also wish to include in the RECORD a letter from the Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Coalition for America's Gateways and Trade Corridors.

Thank you for introducing the Investing in a New Vision for the Environment and Surface Transportation in America (INVEST in America) Act. We appreciate the robust funding proposed in the INVEST in America Act and particularly support the freight investment provisions which, with proper implementation, offer the opportunity to strengthen our nationally and regionally significant goods movement infrastructure. While the COVID-19 pandemic has yielded a great deal of uncertainty, it has also shone a light on the essential nature of our nation's supply chain infrastructure. When much of the nation was asked to stay home, the U.S. supply chain continued working to deliver desperately-needed medical supplies and equipment, food, as well as everyday items previously taken for granted.

The Coalition for America's Gateways and Trade Corridors (CAGTC) is a diverse group of more than 60 public and private organizations dedicated to increasing federal investment in America's multimodal freight infrastructure. In contrast to single mode interests, CAGTC's foremost mission is to promote a seamless national goods movement transportation system across all modes to enhance capacity and economic growth.

As the legislation advances, we would like to highlight the following for your consideration:

If top-line funding levels are adjusted as the bill moves forward, Congress should seek to increase—or at least maintain—the funding proposed for freight infrastructure programs, including the Nationally Significant Freight and Highway Projects program (INFRA), Projects of National and Regional Significance (PNRS), and the National Highway Freight Program. Annual funding levels proposed in the INVEST in America Act through these three programs would reach nearly $4 billion per year whereas $12 billion annually is needed for freight infrastructure based on previous INFRA application rounds. Decreasing the amount of funding available to freight projects would jeopardize our nation's ability to move goods through the supply chain quickly, cost effectively, and safely. Not only is an efficient national supply chain critical for COVID-19 relief—it will also be just as essential in supporting our nation's economic recovery.

We applaud the proposal's continued investment in competitive grant programs, first through the INFRA program and subsequently under the PNRS program. Competitive grants are critical to funding large-scale freight infrastructure projects, which are difficult to fund through traditional distribution methods such as formula programs.

We support the increased flexibility for funding multimodal freight projects, reflected in both the PNRS and the National Highway Freight Program. Freight does not move on highways alone—where public benefit is demonstrable, federal investment should be made available regardless of transportation mode.

We have a concern with the PNRS program limitation that reads: "the project will make a significant improvement to the movement of freight on the National Highway System." This limitation, which also appears in the INFRA program, challenges certain projects that are otherwise eligible and meet the listed merit criteria and other considerations. For example, port modernization projects that provide public benefit but do not have a rail component are disadvantaged.

We appreciate the evaluation and rating requirements included in the INFRA and PNRS programs. Clearly-defined, consistent and transparent merit-based criteria as well as public disclosures of application scores are critical to the integrity of and confidence in competitive grants.

We support the creation of a task force to study the establishment and administration of a fee on multimodal freight transportation. In addition to participation by the Internal Revenue Service and the Departments of Transportation and Treasury, we recommend the task force incorporate public and private stakeholder participation, including perspectives offered by the supply chain industry.

We commend the incorporation of several additional programs and policy advances that CAGTC and its membership have championed, including: establishment of the grade crossing separation grant program; increased funding for the Consolidated Rail Infrastructure and Safety Improvements grant program; designation of a final National Multimodal Freight Network (NMFN) and including in the NMFN designation ports with a cargo value of at least $1 billion annually; updates to the criteria for the National Freight Strategic Plan; and initiation of a National Cooperative Multimodal Freight Transportation Research Program.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. All time for general debate has expired.

(2) Identify and notify Divisions about sources of information that can inform the project risk-assessment process.

(3) Update and implement FHWA’s guidance for risk-based project involvement to clarify how the link between elevated risks and associated oversight activities, changes to oversight actions, and the results of its risk-based involvement should be documented in project oversight plans.

(4) Develop and implement a process to routinely monitor the implementation and evaluate the effectiveness of FHWA’s risk-based project involvement.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to House Resolution 1028, the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. DEFAZIO) and the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. GRAVES) each will control 30 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Oregon.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of this en bloc amendment, which provides for the consideration of 45 amendments filed by Members. The amendments contained in this en bloc touch upon various areas of highways and transit policy in the base bill, including:

Strengthening data collections by States under the racial profiling grant program carried out by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration;

Improving the use of grant funds for education and enforcement activities regarding cyclist and pedestrian safety. We have seen an alarming uptick in that. We do have significant funds in the base bill to provide for safer and more opportunities for pedestrian, cycling, and alternate modes, access to shopping, groceries, work, and schools, something that was substantially eliminated in the FAST Act, and the legislation before that, MAP-21.

It adds charging speed and minimization of future upgrade costs and considerations for electric vehicle charging infrastructure grants; including environmental and environmental justice organizations on the list of relevant stakeholders and considering plans for renewable or zero-emission energy sources for charging and fueling infrastructure when making awards under the electric vehicle charging grant program;

Requiring the Department of Transportation to consult with the Environmental Protection Agency on the awarding of community Climate Innovation Grants and ensure public comment in the determination of the types of projects that most significantly reduce carbon pollution;

Adding additional environmental considerations to the goals of the National Highway Freight Program, ensuring that the impacts of railway, highway bottlenecks are considered under the program;

Expanding the role of historically Black colleges and universities and other minority-serving institutions in the Department of Transportation research;

Authorizing new research programs to expand transportation access for low income, minority, and other underserved communities;

Ensuring that projects submitted to the FTA Capital Investment Grants program can use ridership data collected before the COVID-19 outbreak, that makes sense, and projections based on that data; and Ensuring that projects carried out under the national surface transportation system funding pilot includes privacy protections for participants.

These are just some of the highlights of the amendments included.

Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleagues for offering these amendments to improve the highway and transit portion of INVEST in America Act, I urge adoption of the amendment.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, the surface transportation law expires in just a few months, and States and workers in transportation businesses are already facing some uncertainty over the next two construction seasons due to COVID-19. This bill is going to lead to greater uncertainty by proposing a seismic shift to our transportation programs by moving us farther away from a long-term bill.

You know, I fought for a seat on the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee because of its track record of working across the aisle to legislate and get things done. But what we are doing today is not legislating. We held a partisan markup in which 112 Republican amendments were rejected, and afterwards, the Speaker essentially amended it again outside of regular order, by airdropping another $1 trillion of new provisions in the middle of the night, in addition to the provisions that never went through any committee process.

Several of the added provisions upended previous bipartisan agreements. So here we are now considering another set of 45 amendments en bloc, and the majority isn’t even giving enough time to allow 1 minute of debate for each amendment. This isn’t a serious deliberative legislative attempt, which is sad considering just how serious and important it is that we address our Nation’s infrastructure.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. TRONE).

Mr. TRONE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 2.

For too long, western Marylanders have been left behind with little to no high-speed internet access. Without broadband, Americans can’t access telework, telemedicine, tele-education.

It is time to take bold action. As Whip CLYBURN said, just like we put down electricity in every home across the country 100 years ago, it is time we put broadband in every home across America today. This bill does just that by investing $100 billion for broadband development.

I also want to mention the Appalachian Development Highway System. Congresswoman NAPOLITANO offered an amendment to strike a bipartisan bill that the committee had adopted unanimously last week. She is my friend, but we disagree.

This bipartisan commonsense bill will speed completion of the Appalachian Development Highway System, which is critical to Maryland and Appalachia. This program was first established under Lyndon Johnson’s administration. Five decades later it is still not done. I ask my colleagues to oppose the Napolitano amendment and help us develop a bipartisan solution to complete the system.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. MITCHELL).

Mr. MITCHELL. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

I listened earlier today to the Democratic leader that I hold in great esteem, by the way, wax poetically about this bill before us now, wax poetically about how it was developed. I asked for a copy of it. The chairman has a copy in front of him there.

In 3 weeks that massive document was suddenly put together. And he asks where is the President’s bill? After all the time that both the Democratic leader as well as the chairman of this committee has been here, they know we don’t need a bill from the President to move something forward that will work for America. We don’t need to sit back and wait for somebody else. We are the legislative body. It is our bill. It should be our bill, not their bill, not the Republican bill, but our bill.

Because change in America more often is achieved by a bipartisan effort on legislation. And believe it or not, over the last 4 years we have been here, we have actually achieved that a few times, and it is making change in America.

The USMCA, the trade agreement finally replacing NAFTA, actually becomes official tomorrow finally. And that was a bipartisan effort with a lot of teeth, which I know, Mr. Speaker, you are aware of. That took quite an effort to achieve. But it also became a bipartisan effort to improve trade between the United States, Canada and Mexico finally. Is it perfect? Very little ever is, but you sure hope it is better than what we had, which I think we can all agree wasn't working very well.

We achieved the term before that something called the FIRST STEP Act, which was criminal justice reform to finally revise sentencing in criminal justice at the Federal level after more than a decade of wrangling over that.

And how was that achieved? By a bipartisan effort, not a 2,300-page bill developed solely by one side of the aisle brought forth in a matter of 10 days, and ta-da we have a magic answer that will solve all the problems in America or at least in terms of transportation and the Green New Deal. It was by bipartisan effort.

Like the ranking member, I worked hard to get on committees that were bipartisan and would make a difference. I was thrilled to join the House Armed Services Committee and the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee because we had a history of working on a bipartisan basis, which to be honest with you, as of last week was tossed in the dumpster.

You see, a colleague of mine, a Democrat and I, we put forth a bipartisan op-ed and policy proposal to fund a national infrastructure investment bank. That may not have been the best idea. But it was an idea to create an investment fund that would allow States to decide what they need to do, rather than have the bureaucrats in Washington or in this body, for God's sake, decide whether or not you need a bridge versus a railroad or broadband versus pipelines.

We actually had a way, believe it or not, to fund it. Can you imagine that? We had a way to actually fund what it is we are talking about authorizing. A radical idea apparently. Never discussed. Never discussed at all.

So instead of moving America forward, we are moving America into a ditch. We have a bill that started out at committee at $500 billion, and miraculously in less than a week we added $1 billion to it—a trillion; I am sorry, Bs and Ts still get me messed up—we added $1 trillion to it. It is now $1.5 trillion. By the way, with no plan to actually fund this thing.

Estimates on the $500 billion was we would have to increase the gas tax. We would have to double it. That was just for the $500 billion. We would have to raise the diesel tax significantly, as well. That was just for that part, but it is not in this bill. It is not in this bill at all.

So how do we pay for this? Maybe we just have more debt. That is what is suggested by the chairman. We will just get more debt because, hey, debt is great for America.

Then we go and we look at what is in this bill. The bill increases transit funding by 72 percent.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. COURTNEY). The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield an additional 2 minutes to the gentleman from Michigan.

Mr. MITCHELL. I thank the ranking member, as I was just getting rolling.

It increases funding by 72 percent for transit funding. Meanwhile, we have COVID-19. Use of transit is declining. It is not entirely clear it will ever come back, but we will throw more money at it because that makes more sense. $2 of every $5 will be spent in this section of the bill on the Green New Deal. Forty percent of the additional money will be spent on the Green New Deal. I thought it was a transportation bill. Mess with me every time.

Last but not least, it leaves rural America behind. Frankly, I will go back to the ditch. We have big ditches where I am from, very large culverts. And we are in one now because, for example, the majority creates the Rebuild Rural grant program that receives $250 million. Woo-hoo, there we go, a little bit of money for them.

Meanwhile, there is a new program for electric charging stations that will largely benefit urban areas because we are going to put $1.7 billion into electric charging stations. That is not going to help out a whole lot in my district in rural America. It makes no sense that 71 percent of public lane mileage is in rural America, but the majority of this goes to urban America.

If we are going to move America forward, Mr. Chairman, maybe we should just call it the moving urban America forward and the rest of you all can go back and handle it on your own because this bill doesn't do it.

So I will ask one more time, I ask the committee—we sat through, what was it, Mr. Chairman, 26 hours of fun entertainment? I will ask one more time: Can we actually do something that this committee that I was proud of, which is a bipartisan effort to make transportation in America work for all Americans that we can afford and addresses the problems? And, yes, I will even accept the Green New Deal, if we talk about it on a bipartisan basis. If we talk about things we know make a difference. I will accept that. I don't deny that it exists, but it would be nice if we didn't throw dollars at everything and hope something works.

So once more, please, a bipartisan effort, and I would be happy to support it.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

In response to the gentleman that says, it isn't the responsibility of the President to propose an infrastructure plan. He campaigned on infrastructure. He campaigned on it.

Then Secretary Chao said the week of May 15, 2017, the $1 trillion infrastructure plan will be out in the next several weeks. Whoops, here we are, 3 years later and a couple of months, no plan. Oh, October 9, Chao again touts the $1 trillion plan that will soon be available. Whoops, that was 2017.

Then we had the week of February 12. Trump announced a $1.5 trillion infrastructure plan. Actually, this time they did propose something. It was just written out. It wasn't real language or anything. What it did is it said the States will pay for it and the private sector will pay for it, and by the way, we will reduce Federal investment. That was a great plan. That was a great plan. A really good plan.

Then we went to the White House, and as other colleagues who were there, the majority leader and others said, we went in, and when he turned to the Speaker and said, Well, how much are you thinking for infrastructure?

And she said, Well, Mr. President 1 to $1.3 trillion.

And the President said, No. No, not enough. Not enough.

1.9, 1.9.

He said, Nope, nope, nope. Two is better, $2 trillion.

He agreed to $2 trillion. He agreed to roads, bridges, highways, transit, rail, wastewater, drinking water, and broadband. All those things are in this bill funded at nearly the level because he was proposing a 10-year figure for $2 trillion that he asked for.

And then again over the last few weeks they are on the verge of issuing an infrastructure plan. And I have heard a couple of Republicans say it is not up to a President to propose, and it is not up to a President to figure out how to pay for it.

Dwight David Eisenhower; anybody remember him? Federal-Aid Highway Program. Remember that? User fees, Dwight David Eisenhower's initiative. He was a Republican President. He took initiative.

And then, you know, JFK brought transit into the mix. And both of those things just happened on June 29 and June 30. For Ike it was 64 years ago, and for JFK, it was 59 years ago when we started making major investments in public transit.

And I heard the gentleman say, Well, who is ever going to use transit? Or they might not use it again because of COVID. Well, if we don't get a vaccine and things don't get back to regular, yes, they may not be using transit. But we are not going to have much of an economy because a lot of the economic activity in this country is generated in our urban areas. But I represent a mixed district. I have two relatively small cities and a very large rural area.

There is a lot of stuff in this bill that is way better than the FAST Act for rural America. We have $1 billion for off-highway bridges. There are 47,000 bridges on the National Highway System that need repair and replacement, but there are a heck of a lot of bridges that are not on the national system. And a lot of those 47,000 are in rural areas.

And the electrification is for the interstate system. And some of it will go into urban areas, but it is going to be for the interstate. And there are a lot of people in rural America who are dependent upon the interstate. And some day they might want to be driving an electric car, who knows? But they don't want to have range anxiety maybe. So to say this just benefits urban America is an inanity.

And beyond that, we have put additional money into rural transit in this bill. I have rural transit, suburban transit, and, yes, the major urban areas, we are going to reinvest there. And, you know, if you think it is foolish to reinvest there and you think we are never going to be using transit again, then you are looking at a very grim future for the United States of America and the world.

I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Washington (Ms. JAYAPAL).

Ms. JAYAPAL. Mr. Speaker, I thank Chairman DEFAZIO for yielding and for this transformational bill that has been put forward, a deeply necessary investment in our country's infrastructure.

My amendment would ensure that our Nation has a well-equipped workforce to build climate resilient infrastructure projects. And it does this by adding a critical requirement to study labor, workforce, and equity considerations.

Climate change is compelling us to boldly innovate, and workers will need training to acquire new skills to implement emerging technologies that keep us and our communities safe. As this is uncharted territory, we will need to study how to best support our workers so they are prepared to meet that challenge head on.

We also need to make sure that Federal investment improves, not worsens existing inequities in our economy. Let's fully identify effective strategies to guarantee that jobs are first available to populations that face the greatest barriers to employment and are most vulnerable to the very risks of climate change that we must address.

Finally, Mr. Chairman, I have one of those bridges in my district, and we desperately need help. We need revenue to rebuild our Nation's infrastructure. I have a major bridge in my district that was abruptly shuttered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentlewoman has expired.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield an additional 30 seconds to the gentlewoman from Washington.

Ms. JAYAPAL. Mr. Speaker, I have a major bridge in my district that connects west Seattle to downtown, and it was abruptly shuttered after growing cracks were discovered in a routine inspection. Repairs and possible replacement will cost hundreds of millions of dollars, and the people that live in that part of my district—very populated—have no way to get out of that, except for one little place on the south end of that area.

So we desperately need to find these issues before they come up, and we need to invest.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I want to address the rural aspects of this bill.

Although it claims to help rural infrastructure, if we just follow the money, all we have to do is follow the money, we can clearly see that this bill is going to leave rural America further behind.

The largest percentage increases by far go to transit and rail, programs that tend to benefit the urban areas much more than rural communities.

Transit receives a 72 percent increase in funding and Amtrak an incredible 450 percent increase, yet 71 percent of public road land miles are in rural America. Crashes and fatalities on rural non-interstate roads occur more than double the rate of all other roads.

But between policies and programs that favor urban areas and weave in the Green New Deal mandates and other requirements throughout all the Federal transportation programs, critical resources that could be used to go directly to fixing and building roads and bridges, pouring concrete, and laying asphalt in rural America, those are going to be diverted.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. LEVIN).

Mr. LEVIN of Michigan. Mr. Speaker, my amendment alters the charging and fueling infrastructure grant program in this bill, laying the groundwork to deploy zero-emission EV charging infrastructure nationwide.

This amendment strengthens plans for renewable or zero-emissions energy sources to power EV chargers. It directs DOT to study financing options for a national network of EV chargers and determine the right distance between those chargers so Americans can drive across the entire National Highway System without running out of power.

It makes sure environmental justice organizations have a seat at the table as we build this beautiful green future.

We must transform our transportation sector and end our reliance on fossil fuels. Today, we take an important step in that transformation.

I hope we can take up this work and advance ever-bolder proposals to fight climate change and protect life on Earth as we know it.

Mr. Speaker, I thank Chairman DEFAZIO for including this amendment in the en bloc package and for his great work on this bill.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. PALMER).

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the ranking member for yielding.

Because the committee has long been known for bipartisan cooperation, when I first came on the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee, I was actually optimistic that we could work together to get a good bill to the full House. How naive of me to think that my Democrat colleagues would put aside their radical agenda to work with Republican Members to pass a sensible and affordable surface transportation bill.

I can hardly overstate my disappointment that, from the very beginning, we were completely shut out of the process. I had hoped that the partisan nature of this surface transportation reauthorization would end after the bill was marked up in committee. Clearly, that was wishful thinking.

While the entire transportation reauthorization process has been abused, it has served at least one good purpose in that it has put on full display the extreme ideas of my Democrat colleagues and just how destructive to the committee process they have become.

Apparently, it wasn't enough to ram through a bill drafted without any input from Republican Members, which increased spending by 62 percent while our Nation is drowning in debt by adding a trillion dollars in miscellaneous spending to the proposal that already wasn't serious to begin with.

My guess is that this is another Democrat bill that would have to be passed to find out exactly what is in it and what it will really cost American households.

The real tragedy in all of this is that it represents a missed opportunity to work in a bipartisan fashion to solve the problems that we all recognize exist. Instead of spending time working to minimize delays, streamline the environmental permitting process, and fund projects with a clear Federal nexus, my Democrat colleagues have brought to the floor a wish list of Green New Deal proposals.

Some of my colleagues who have been on this committee much longer than me tell me that they have never opposed a highway bill. It is a shame that they will no longer be able to say that solely because of the majority's failure to cooperate on this bill in a bipartisan fashion.

We were eager to engage in a legitimate committee process to consider a responsible proposal to reauthorize our surface transportation programs. Unfortunately, as I said before, this has been a fraud from the start.

I guess I could say at least they didn't promise: If you like your car, you can keep driving it.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Oregon (Ms. BONAMICI), a good friend.

Ms. BONAMICI. Mr. Speaker, I thank Chairman DEFAZIO for his leadership.

Long-term investments in transportation and infrastructure create good-paying jobs and drive commerce. When we rebuild systems in a sustainable and resilient manner, we reduce carbon emissions, improve energy efficiency, and support vulnerable communities.

I am very pleased that the Moving Forward Act includes many of the recommendations of the Select Committee on Climate Crisis to invest in transit and zero-emission buses, electric vehicle charging stations, pedestrian and bike infrastructure, and predisaster mitigation.

As a member of the Education and Labor Committee, I am also glad that H.R. 2 includes the Reopen and Rebuild America's Schools Act and childcare infrastructure funding. Schools and childcare facilities across the country are in desperate need of repairs to protect the health and safety of students and staff.

In northwest Oregon, it is not a question of if but when we will have a significant earthquake, and so I am very grateful that this bill specifically provides funding for schools vulnerable to seismic natural disasters.

Mr. Speaker, I thank Chairman DEFAZIO and his hardworking staff.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentlewoman from West Virginia (Mrs. MILLER).

Mrs. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I thank Chairman DEFAZIO for yielding.

I rise in opposition to amendment No. 124 on both the merits and the process that bring us to the people's House today.

I came to Congress to fix issues in southern West Virginia, like our need for strong and stable infrastructure and to bring new opportunity to our State.

During the markup on H.R. 2, I introduced a commonsense amendment to solve a problem that has been plaguing rural America for years: the Appalachian Development Highway System. The ADHS is an essential part of America's highway system and has been since 1965. Its goal is to connect rural communities with high-quality roadways, allowing us to transport our goods and people across the country. This system is instrumental in guaranteeing economic success for all of America.

Unfortunately, outdated funding mechanisms are bogging down progress by holding taxpayer money hostage in projects that are already completed while other underfunded projects stay unfinished.

My legislation would fix this problem by freeing up the States to collaborate on these projects and deliver money in a targeted approach. There is no additional cost to taxpayers, and it would not cut funding for any State.

It is good policy that was adopted in the Senate and passed in our committee without objection by one single member. Bipartisan and bicameral, what a rare sight for Washington these days.

However, once again, at the eleventh hour, my colleagues across the aisle added this new language that contradicts my amendment and threatens the entire livelihood of the ADHS.

Passage of this amendment kills the one I offered. It would cut rural support for more big-city interests, holding back hardworking people from the benefits of quality roadways and the job opportunities that come with it.

It is misplaced priorities like these that lead to Congress' low approval rating.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to oppose amendment No. 124 so that we can give Appalachia the respect and service it deserves.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire as to the time remaining on each side.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Oregon has 18½ minutes remaining. The gentleman from Missouri has 16½ minutes remaining.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

To the gentlewoman's amendment, I appreciate Members advocating strongly for either their State or their region. The problem that was discovered with this amendment, after further investigation, is it would have rewarded a smaller number of States to the detriment of 37 other States and the territories.

What has happened is that some States have built out their Appalachian Development Highway System. They, under this amendment, could turn that money back to DOT, then DOT would give that to other Appalachian States. So far, so good. That would be okay with me. But it goes one step further.

All those States that have finished and turned the money in, they get additional funds. That means that a minority of the Appalachian States that have already finished the system would get additional funding to the detriment of all the 37 other States and the territories in the United States of America.

The way it works now, they would be drawing on TFHI money. Now, when there is excess TFHI money, there is something called the August redistribution.

Last year, the State of Kansas got a 16.5 percent increase because of the August redistribution. Under this amendment, nada, zero.

Texas got 16 percent. Under this amendment, zero.

Connecticut got 14.5 percent. Under this amendment, nothing.

Missouri, 13 percent; nothing. Louisiana, 12 percent redistribution; nothing. Illinois, 11; nothing. Colorado, 10; nothing. Oklahoma, 10; nothing.

The problem is it was a little bit of double-dipping. This was, actually, cleverly authored at the auspices of MITCH MCCONNELL in the Senate.

An exchange of funds from one Appalachian State to the other to finish the highway system, that is fine with me. But we are not going to then give them credit and give them other Federal funds for that money to benefit that region to the detriment of all the other States.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Iowa (Ms. FINKENAUER), who is a wonderful addition to the committee, doing fabulous work and representing a very rural district, for the most part.

Ms. FINKENAUER. Mr. Speaker, I thank Chairman DEFAZIO for yielding.

It is an honor to serve on the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee and bring the needs of rural America to the committee and be able to work on those needs in a bipartisan way. I am proud to say multiple of my standalone bills that are included in the larger package are bipartisan bills that I was able to work across the aisle on with my Republican colleagues.

So, I am very confused about their rhetoric around this bill being so partisan, when it has been an honor to get to work across the aisle and find common ground on so many issues.

One that I am particularly proud about today is one that is included in this en bloc that increases funding for the Rebuild Rural grant program by $150 million and extends the program for 2 more years, giving certainty to our rural areas, which have long been forgotten here in Washington, D.C.

On top of that, what we will see in the larger package is the Investing in America's Bridges Act. It will also include rural road and bridge funding that has often, again, long been forgotten, including the Investing in Community Infrastructure Act as well.

There is so much work that we have done here that I know is going to show up in a very big way in my district.

I would also like to say I find it really ironic the talk that we are hearing here today, when my Republican colleagues had 2 years in the House with the Senate and with the Presidency to put together any plan they would like that would invest in areas like the place that I grew up, and they kicked it down the road.

I am happy today to be here fighting for my district, fighting for my State, and passing one of the best investments in rural infrastructure that our country has ever seen. I will be here doing my job, and I know it is going to be up to the Senate and the President if they decide to do theirs.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I find it interesting that we just heard about the rhetoric and the confusion over how this bill is bipartisan. And if you look at the first three en bloc amendments, they have 107 Democrat amendments in there and not a single Republican amendment, so where is the bipartisanship in that?

I also find it interesting, too, and the last speaker just added, that they were adding $150 billion to the Rebuild Rural America bill, which supposedly, according to her, already takes care of rural America. So why do we have to add more money to it?

So there is a lot of confusion and a lot of misrepresentation on the other side, particularly when it comes to the rural areas. People can claim all they want that this takes care of the rural areas when, in fact, it doesn't. It absolutely doesn't.

The bottom line is this shifts a large percentage of dollars into those transit programs that help the urban areas, not the rural areas, and a vote for this is going to be a vote for just that: against rural America. That is what will come out later.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume, a short time.

There is actually a 35 percent increase in the National Highway System funding in this bill—35 percent. Their bill was 10 percent.

Yes, there is a big increase in transit, but it is not at the expense of the National Highway System or the investments in rural America or the 47,000 bridges, many of which are in rural areas that need repair or replacement, or the billion dollars we are putting into off-national highway systems in rural areas. Those are huge new investments.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from California (Mr. RUIZ).

Mr. RUIZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this en bloc amendment and encourage support for my amendment to require the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration to study and issue a report on the safety effects of ensuring school buses are equipped with air-conditioning.

I represent rural desert cities like Palm Springs and Coachella in California's 36th Congressional District, where, for much of the year, the temperatures are really hot and well into the triple digits, sometimes reaching 125, 130 degrees Fahrenheit. Yet many school busses do not have air-conditioning, causing children to arrive at school in sweat-soaked T-shirts, dehydrated, and with heat exhaustion.

Last fall, I wrote the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration to take action. This amendment would provide them needed data to help protect students' health and safety while riding on school buses without AC in extreme heat.

The Moving Forward Act contains robust improvements for school bus safety in rural and urban areas, and my amendment would strengthen that. I urge support for this en bloc amendment and for H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act.

I thank the chair.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON LEE).

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Oregon, the chairman of this committee, and I rise enthusiastically for H.R. 2 because we need to move forward.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman (Mr. DEFAZIO). For 20 years I have been on this floor fighting for mass transit and the expansion of such and to allow cities like Houston that were delayed 20 years because of opposition by my friends on the other side of the aisle, and we are finally getting a robust commitment to not only fixing roads and schools and housing, but also to dealing with mass transit. We worked on it for a long time.

I want to thank the committee for accepting my amendment dealing with COVID-19. Right now, in Houston, as I rush back to my city, we have the largest number of cases. We have people dying. We have people walking into emergency rooms because they are sick themselves just coming in.

This amendment deals with the aviation area and the airports where money has been given, but, in fact, money has been left out for different businesses, like parking. This amendment requires FAA to assess all of the businesses that have been left out and to prioritize them in our next funding, and I thank the gentleman for that.

But let me, as well, speak about what I know is important in the bill and impacts a project called I-45 in Houston, Texas. This project would erase 158 houses, 433 apartments, 486 condos.

I include in the RECORD an article from the Houston Chronicle about the I-45 project, dated June 7, 2020.

[From the Houston Chronicle, June 7, 2020]
I-45 PROJECT LEAVES NEIGHBORS IN LIMBO:
CRITICS FEARFUL FOR RECORD NUMBER WHO COULD BE DISPLACED

(By Dug Begley)

Wherever Armando Litchenberger looks around Urbana Recording Studio, there are memories. The stool Jose Feliciano sat on to record a couple tracks. Goldie Hawn used the studio to mix the soundtrack for a TV movie she directed. Duran Duran recut a guitar track that didn't test well while on a world tour.

"There are memories here that are not replaceable," Litchenberger said as he showed off the Near Northside performance room where the neighborhood's de facto house band, La Mafia, recorded the songs that won four Grammys, which now sit a glass trophy case a few feet from the soundboard.

Beatles memorabilia and signed posters from hundreds of musicians and celebrities line the walls, but it is a pin in the parking lot that draws Litchenberger's attention these days. Driven in by a surveyor, the pin marks the property line for a wider Interstate 45.

"If I stay, I'll be right on the freeway," Litchenberger said. "I would have to close this off and make it a double cinder block wall to close off the sound."

The I-45 project's toll on local property owners would be unprecedented for TxDOT in Houston, potentially relocating hundreds of families and businesses. Estimated to cost at least $7 billion, the project will rebuild I-45 from downtown Houston north to Beltway 8, and change how it connects with other downtown freeways.

That means rebuilding—by removing—pieces of Fifth Ward, the Northside, Acres

Homes and Aldine. Spots south of North Main where third-generation Latino residents help neighbors work on cars in their driveway. Or Tidwell, which bustles with activity as the commercial center and is the only place within walking distance of her apartment where Shondrae McBride, 26, can get her nails done, pick up marinated carne asada and drop off her husband's cellphone for repair across from a Pho restaurant.

"Not everybody has a car to get around," McBride said.

Removing some of those businesses, she said, would "add hours" to her typical errands.

The latest estimates show the rebuild would impact—the catchword for any structure or dwelling directly touched by the changing road boundary—158 houses, 433 apartments or condos, 486 public housing units, 340 businesses, five churches and two schools. The Houston Police Department would need to relocate its south central police station and the Mexican Consulate in the Museum District, adjacent to I-69, will move to a Westchase area location.

Mayor Sylvester Turner has called the project "transformative" but also called on TxDOT to revise the designs north of downtown to impact fewer homes and businesses while remaining on track to start construction downtown in a matter of months. Work is slated to begin north of Interstate 10 by 2024.

When the work actually begins will depend on decisions made this year and next that some, including Harris County Judge Lina Hidalgo, worry will displace a historic number of people before getting a full public review despite more than 15 years of planning. Hidalgo and others have called on TxDOT to delay final decisions, which could push back the start of construction for months as more public meetings are planned.

"Given the impacts of the COVID-19 disaster, this delay would give the county and its residents more time to engage with and offer feedback," Hidalgo wrote in May.

TxDOT officials have said they welcome the city and county's input, with state Transportation Commissioner Laura Ryan, of Houston, saying the goal is a project that "will work, for the most part, for as many people as possible."

That still leaves the question of how many people will have to get out of the way.

BENEFITS, AT A COST

For those entirely displaced by TxDOT's freeway plans, whether a renter, homeowner or business owner, the outcome of discussions between TxDOT and the city could determine whether they stay or go. Some of the changes under consideration will mean the difference between their home or apartment being adjacent to the freeway—or demolished and a part of it.

Other questions remain, such as how much owners and renters will be compensated and where that money will allow them to go. Renters will scramble to find nearby housing they can afford. Those receiving assistance with housing will wade back into a crowded system.

"There are some properties some residents could go to, but there is not enough room," said Arveyiel Fortilla, a resident of the Houston Housing Authority public complex Kelly Village, who has followed the process closely.

Housing advocates, such as Amy Dinn with Lone Star Legal Aid, said the potential displacements—some all but inevitable—could strand public housing residents between agencies as TxDOT works with local housing officials and city leaders to come to agreement. The most likely outcome is TxDOT provides local agencies funding and, perhaps, property to relocate residents.

At a December meeting about the project, Dinn said many fear the city will not be a good custodian of those housing dollars if TxDOT decides to simply cut a check. The Houston Housing Authority, she said, faces a housing crunch throughout the city, not just along I-45.

"The concern is they are going to take that money and not help those communities," Dinn said.

The payoff, supporters argue, is a much-needed rebuild of the region's freeway spine and downtown system.

"We are building this project for the next 50 to 75 years," said Eliza Paul, district director for TxDOT in the Houston region.

Beneficiaries of an improved freeway include tens of thousands of people from Conroe southward who rely on I-45 for daily commutes or trips south to Houston and beyond.

A new freeway and new intersections built to modern standards, proponents note, will mean major bottlenecks are relieved and traffic can flow more efficiently—and more safely—in and around downtown. Preliminary estimates project traffic speeds will increase by 24 miles per hour, an unheard-of leap for a freeway project within Loop 610.

Pulling off those improvements, however, means a much larger freeway, with TxDOT buying an additional 450 acres of Houston property to go with the 1,207 acres the freeway already occupies. At the northwest and southeast corners of the I-45 and Loop 610 interchange, easing the tight curves of the existing ramps means remaking them right through nearby single family homes.

"You work and save for years to buy a house, and somebody comes by and tells you they're taking it. It's just not right," said Colleen Wirth, whose house southeast of the crossing is spared, but will have a sound wall running along the back yard.

DIFFERING VISIONS

To find anything comparable in terms of homes affected by the I-45 project, one has to go back more than 50 years when freeways barged through some of the city's poorest neighborhoods. When TxDOT remade the I-10 and U.S. 59 interchange in 1959, the new configuration claimed more than 500 flood-prone homes along Buffalo Bayou in Fifth Ward. The I-45 interchange with Loop 610 cut Independence Heights practically in half in the late 1950s.

It is a legacy of freeway building over the oppressed, community groups argue, that continues to today. As anger over the killing of George Floyd spilled into the streets, some argued the systematic issues extend to public infrastructure.

"The cries demanding action emanating from the protests taking place throughout the country have been fueled by the stark reality that racism permeates our lives," wrote Bakeyah Nelson, executive director of Air Alliance Houston, in a letter to supporters. "This shapes how people perceive us and how they choose to interact or don't interact with us . . . It allows for thoughtless decisions to be made about our communities, such as where to put the next concrete batch plant or whether to expand a highway that will cause the displacement of entire neighborhoods."

City officials, who in the past year have increased their focus on the enormous toll the project will have on neighborhoods bordering the freeway between Tidwell and White Oak Bayou, are trying to avoid a repeat of that kind of upheaval.

"I think part of the city's goals are to honor the neighborhoods around the freeway, and the wishes of the people," said Margaret Wallace Brown, the city's planning director. Many of the people are worried.

In Independence Heights, the project will scrape away more of the history of Texas' first black-formed municipality. It is more than just the small wooden row houses built on block foundations or the triangle of churches that form the core of the community, said Tanya Debose, executive director of the Independence Heights Redevelopment Council.

"It's the people that make a place," she said, noting as residences are removed the inhabitants move to other neighborhoods. "We're going to get squeezed, until there is nothing left."

Following two rounds of community meetings by planning officials, Mayor Turner encouraged TxDOT to reconsider many features of the freeway redesign, including staying entirely within the existing right of way north of downtown "as much as possible."

For example, the city is asking TxDOT to remove planned frontage roads northwest of the Loop 610 interchange and add two bus-only lanes to the center rather than four express lanes similar to the Katy Managed Lanes along I-10.

While building two bus lanes instead of four managed lanes would limit the need for property along the freeway's edges, it also would reduce some of the benefits to automobile travelers—who will continue to far outnumber transit uses for the foreseeable future.

For that reason, the changes proposed by the city already have been met with some concern.

"Are we really improving mobility in this area," asked Galveston County Precinct 4 Commissioner Ken Clark, chairman of the region's Transportation Policy Council. "With the type of money we are spending on this project and the loss of the HOV lanes, are we really getting improvement?"

LEFT BEHIND

As the decision to redesign segments proceeds, property owners remain in limbo—likely affected, but not certain how. In Litchenberger's case, the neighborhood molded him, and seeing it change comes with some worry.

The Northside is where members of La Mafia—Litchenberger is the accordionist and producer of the four-time Grammy-winning Tejano group—formed and where the friends started a musical journey entering its fourth decade. When they went on a national tour in 1993, the North Street bridge in view of the studio is where the trucks and buses lined up.

"All that will be gone," Litchenberger said, noting the bridge will be demolished to make way for the wider freeway and frontage roads. "There is a lot of history here, around here, that will just be gone."

The studio is just a part of that, a gem in the community that because of the bayou and freeway barriers has felt segregated and on its own. The neighborhood will lose homes, with those owners and renters likely heading elsewhere. Businesses will decide whether to wait out slow sales years during construction, or pack up.

"They're coming for us," Miguel Castaneda said as he left a convenience store near Fulton and Cavalcade. "They're cleaning it up and then everybody here can go somewhere else so the developers can move in."

Businesses and residents of downtown, East Downtown and Third Ward face a brighter picture. Turner and others concede some of the downtown changes are necessary to fix some of the bottlenecks that bedevil commuting. That will leave some people most in need the least protected at Clayton Homes and Kelly Village, two city-run public housing developments.

"If they do this without giving us someplace to go, they are contributing to the homeless population," Fortilla said.

At Clayton Homes, along Buffalo Bayou at the junction of I-69 and I-10, the project is taking all 296 units, many of which were never rebuilt after Tropical Storm Harvey sent the bayou into at least six apartment buildings. TxDOT has offered $90 million for Clayton Homes with the understanding it would pay the money up front and give Houston Housing Authority time to build new affordable apartments somewhere close by and give housing vouchers to residents who want them.

The effect on Kelly Village is less substantial, but could leave residents in even more uncertainty. Fifty of the 270 units at Kelly Village will be destroyed by the freeway expansion, while the rest will remain closer to a larger freeway. Those losing their homes will have the option of taking a voucher or get priority to move into available housing.

Many in the complex, Fortilla said, are resigned to being scattered and given scarce options.

"They have just given up already to what happens," she said. "When a person is used to being beaten up, they don't know any other way."

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, let me, just for a moment, say that I would like to enter into a colloquy with Mr. DEFAZIO about this part of the project.

It would cause the loss of 486 public housing units, 340 businesses, 5 churches, 2 schools. There are additional concerns that the community is raising and, yes, the oldest Black city in the State of Texas—maybe even in the Nation—called Independence Heights. Even a historic trail that is now law called the Emancipation Trail may be impacted. These vulnerable people are not being listened to.

There is a lot going on.

I ask the chairman to respond to the good elements in this bill that would be a litmus test for this project.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume to respond to the gentlewoman.

I share the gentlewoman's concern. We once had—and it is not in my district, but Mr. BLUMENAUER's district—planned for a major new highway that would have bisected the city, affecting generally working-class and minority neighborhoods, and we got it killed by, actually, the Secretary of Transportation who was from Oregon at that time. Highway projects have a bad history of dividing our cities, and particularly segregating and dividing communities of color.

So I know the gentlewoman had a specific amendment targeted at this one project, but, actually, the bill, itself, has a major focus on looking for alternatives.

First, the States are going to have to go through—before they do any of these projects, they are going to have to go through a rigorous public process. They are going to have to look at what other options are available to deal with the congestion or whatever issue they are dealing with. So I expect that there are other provisions in this bill that would achieve the gentlewoman's goals as we move forward.

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentlewoman from Texas.

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Let me thank the gentleman, and I will continue to work on this with the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee.

I want this bill to be passed in the Senate. I want this bill to become law because there are millions of Americans waiting for this bill, H.R. 2, to save them and help them, particularly those in Houston regarding I-45.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman. I always enjoy working with her.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Pennsylvania (Ms. WILD).

Ms. WILD. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act, a bold plan to rebuild crumbling infrastructure across our country.

For decades, Congress has allowed our infrastructure, roads, bridges, waterways, schools, housing, public transit, energy systems, and broadband to erode under the weight of lack of investment. This inaction has made our people less secure. It has made us less economically competitive in the global marketplace, and it has disproportionately affected the most vulnerable.

We have a responsibility to pass this legislation now at a time when more Americans are unemployed than any time since the Great Depression. This bill will create millions of Americans shovel-ready jobs.

There is no better example of the need to modernize our infrastructure than our schools. Each child needs the guarantee of a safe classroom that is equipped to provide them with the education they will need to succeed in the 21st century.

I call on my colleagues, Republicans and Democrats, to join me in passing this legislation with a resounding vote. After all, it was a Republican, President Eisenhower, who literally brought our country together with the most ambitious infrastructure project in our history: the Interstate Highway System.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. GARCÍA), a member of the committee.

Mr. GARCÍA of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I thank Chairman DEFAZIO for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of amendment 293, which ensures that we study the safety of automated vehicles and that we also study their environmental effects.

H.R. 2 requires us to study transformative technology—in this case, autonomous vehicles—to make sure that it is implemented safely and that we understand its impact on jobs.

My amendment makes sure that we study air quality and climate and energy consumption effects from automated vehicles, because any equitable investment in transportation requires protecting air quality and advancing climate solutions for all communities.

I thank my cosponsor, Representative SCHAKOWSKY, and supporting organizations like the Environmental Law and Policy Center, the Natural Resources Defense Council, and the League of Conservation Voters.

Mr. Speaker, I urge adoption of this amendment.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I continue to rise in opposition to this amendment. Just as H.R. 2 weaves climate policy throughout the bill, climate provisions are woven throughout this en bloc amendment as well.

These amendments make local pollution reduction a goal for the National Highway Freight Network, expand eligibilities for the new Gridlock Reduction grant program—a program that only benefits the 10 largest cities in the country—and it requires us to figure out whether autonomous vehicles impact air quality, climate, and energy consumption.

And still, the bill has no way to pay for these items and just adds to our debt.

The underlying bill promotes policies that favor urban areas over rural infrastructure, which leaves our smaller communities farther and farther behind.

Some members of the majority clearly agree since an amendment included here felt the need to find more money for the bill's Rebuild Rural grant program, the lone new program meant to pay lip service to rural America.

The underlying bill also doesn't provide meaningful streamlining of the project review process—we talked about this before—even though there are commonsense bipartisan reforms in the bipartisan Senate bill that were offered by Republican Members on the committee in markup.

One very narrow amendment in this package acknowledges some need for relief from burdensome project reviews. Unfortunately, this represents the only attempt to streamline the review process in the entire bill, despite near-universal calls for reform.

We could have come together and written an infrastructure bill that would easily clear this Chamber with an overwhelming bipartisan vote, and I am disappointed that Republicans' word to work across the aisle on an infrastructure bill wasn't taken in good faith by the majority.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to oppose this amendment, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DEFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, again, I rise in support of this en bloc amendment. I have no further speakers, and I have no further comments.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. MOORE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to urge support for my amendment, including in the En Bloc Amendment, that would provide the Office of Tribal Affairs created in this bill with the responsibility of ensuring that the Department of Transportation has in place and enforces federal government wide requirement for regular and meaningful consultation and collaboration with Tribes and Tribal officials as outlined in Executive Order 13175 issued by President Clinton in 2000.

I thank the chairman for its inclusion in En Bloc Amendment No. 1.

The reality is while Executive Order 13175 was groundbreaking, it has never quite lived up to its promise. Too many federal agencies have failed (and still fall short today) to execute its directive to ensure that tribes have a say in federal activities that impact them.

Why was this Order needed? Because, unfortunately, history has shown that failure by the federal government to consider the impact on tribal communities or to include their voices in federal decision making has all too often led to undesirable and, at times, devastating policy.

Consultation and engagement is a basic must for maintaining a strong and productive Federal-tribal relationship.

A key part of protecting sovereignty and self-determination is to make sure that federal agencies actively gather, listen, and heed the input of tribes relating to federal projects and activities that will impact them. Providing this responsibility to this new office within a Department that supports tens of billions of dollars of projects in every part of our country makes sense.

Among other requirements, Executive Order 13175 called on each federal agency to "have an accountable process to ensure meaningful and timely input by tribal officials in the development of regulatory policies that have tribal implications." It further went on to require each federal agency to designate an official to lead the agency's implementation of the Order's requirements.

I believe the new Tribal Office created in this bill would be perfectly positioned to carry out those duties and ensure that the Department of Transportation and its agencies implement an effective tribal consultation process, including pushing the Department to follow up on its commitment to tell tribes how their input was or was not actually used, a flaw pointed out in a 2019 report by the GAO.

The impact of the transportation programs authorized in this bill and on tribal lands goes beyond the tribal programs authorized in this legislation. Therefore, this new office should also be able to look broadly across the Department and work to monitor and fix problems with how the Department in general works with tribes on projects and activities, regardless of funding source.

No single office can fix this problem but by creating a point for accountability and transparency, it will move us closer to the goal wonderfully articulated in Executive Order 13175 but which has proved so elusive ever since.

With that, I urge support for my amendment and the larger En Bloc package.

Ms. TLAIB. Mr. Speaker, I would like to thank Chairman DEFAZIO, for his leadership on this bill, and for the leadership of Speaker

PELOSI, Chairwoman WATERS, Chairman SCOTT, and Chairman PALLONE for fighting to make sure we make historic investments in our country's crumbling infrastructure.

I rise today in support of amendments No. 41 and No. 42.

The first amendment, which I have proposed with my colleagues Reps. BARRAGÁN, OCASIO-CORTEZ, and BROWNLEY, prioritizes the public health of vulnerable communities by adding detailed requirements to H.R. 2's Climate Resilient Transportation Infrastructure Study.

For too long, the building of roads, highways, and other federal infrastructure has come at the expense of communities experiencing environmental injustice.

Our amendment would prioritize areas like Michigan's 13 District, home to the most polluted zip code in our state, and other communities that include people of color, migrants, and low-income workers. It would center our communities are fighting against climate change, pollution, and environmental racism.

My second amendment ensures proper oversight and transparency of Community Climate Innovation Grants by requiring the Department of Transportation to work with the Environmental Protection Agency and the public.

Parents in my district should not live in fear of their children playing / outside due to toxic air, and my amendment will ensure accountability as we seek to significantly reduce greenhouse gas emissions.

I urge my colleagues to support these amendments to ensure that the communities that our communities are not ignored and do not bear the brunt of federal infrastructure environmental discrimination.

SEC. 9221. SENSE OF CONGRESS.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) Amtrak received $1,018,000,000 in aid from Congress as part of the CARES Act, to help Amtrak and its state partners respond to the drastic drop in demand caused by the coronavirus pandemic.

(2) The CARES Act also included a provision requiring that, for any employee who is furloughed as a result of the pandemic, Amtrak provide such employee the opportunity to return to the job as service ramps back up, thereby helping prevent the health crisis from being a reason to outsource work.

(3) Amtrak has requested additional funds to help it respond to the continued loss of passenger demand while also announcing plans to permanently cut 20 percent of its workforce, which could hinder its ability to serve the Amtrak national passenger rail system, including its long-distance routes, now and in the future.

(4) Additionally, Amtrak recently announced its intention to eliminate daily service on most of its long-distance routes, leaving only one long-distance route to operate daily. These reductions are set to begin October 1, 2020.

(5) Estimates indicate the plan to decrease service would drastically impact as many as 461 stations.

(6) If the service disruptions are implemented, the passengers served by these long-distance trains would be disconnected from a critical transportation option, and these communities would lose important economic contributions generated by this service. These cuts would also impact the lives of Amtrak employees whose work contributes to the operation of these trains.

(7) Amtrak has not provided Congress, the public at large, or its workforce, sufficient notice or explanation of its plan to restore service to communities served by long-distance routes.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—Congress is concerned by the recent announcements from Amtrak that it intends to reduce its workforce and its daily long-distance train service and calls on Amtrak to provide assurance about the future of the passenger rail network and its employees.

AMENDMENT NO. 34 OFFERED BY MS. WATERS OF CALIFORNIA

(j) RELIEF TO AIRPORT CONCESSIONS.—An airport sponsor shall use at least 2 percent of any funds received under subsection (a)(1) to provide financial relief to airport concessionaires experiencing economic hardship. With respect to funds under subsection (a)(1), airport sponsors must also show good faith efforts to provide relief to small business concerns owned and controlled by socially and economically disadvantaged businesses, as such terms are defined under section 47113 of title 49, United States Code.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to House Resolution 1028, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. LIPINSKI) and the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. GRAVES) each will control 15 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Illinois.

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of this en bloc amendment which is comprised of 34 individual amendments touching upon various areas of rail, aviation, water, and FEMA policy. This includes amendments that:

Increase safety precautions for transportation workers and passengers during COVID-19;

Expand Buy America and offer higher incentives to the RRIF Federal rail loan program;

Devote additional resources towards improving the ecological health of the San Francisco Bay and the New River in California;

Direct the EPA to monitor local drug consumption through an examination of traces of narcotics in wastewater;

Direct the U.S. GAO to study potential affordability and racial disparities in providing water and wastewater rate assistance;

Direct the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to lead a multiagency effort to address climate change concerns in the Ohio River Valley;

Increase, from 4.5 to 5 percent, the set-aside for supplemental airport improvement grants to be used for environmental, noise, and resiliency projects;

Create a new program to incentivize airlines' phaseout of inefficient airplane types in exchange for newer, eco-friendly types, and require a study of ultrafine airborne particles associated with flight operations near airports;

Require airports that receive supplemental airport grants to set aside 2 percent of those funds for fiscal year 2021 to assist concessionaires experiencing economic hardship as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic;

Direct GAO to conduct a comprehensive study of the building codes and standards used by FEMA, including an assessment of the status of building code adoption across States, Tribes, and territories; and Direct GAO to conduct a study on the accessibility of FEMA's disaster assistance programs and whether there are any barriers to access based on race, ethnicity, language, and income level.

These are just some of the highlights of the amendments included. I thank my colleagues for offering thoughtful amendments to improve the transportation portions of the INVEST in America Act. I urge adoption of the amendment, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume in opposition to the en bloc package of amendments.

This package contains 34 amendments. As has been the case throughout this unprecedented process, not a single one of these amendments has come from Republicans.

I find it interesting. I keep hearing time and time again from the other side about how bipartisan this bill is. But yet here we are again with 34 amendments and not a single Republican amendment. Many of the provisions were stuck in this giant, expensive bill after markup and without any opportunity for the committee to review and consider them.

The en bloc amendment includes expensive and burdensome new mandates on the railroad and airline industries even as they strive to keep our economy moving and workers employed in the middle of the current health pandemic.

I would like to note that when Republican Members offered aviation amendments during markup, the majority refused to consider them.

Do you know why?

Because at least at that time they said the bill didn't include any aviation provisions. Yet this en bloc also contains amendments that authorize hundreds of millions of dollars in new spending for broad and vague programs without any plan on how to pay for them. It also contains more costly Green New Deal mandates that offer no relevant or beneficial gains to our Nation's infrastructure.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to oppose this package of amendments, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. TRONE).

Mr. TRONE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act, and an amendment that I drafted to address the addiction epidemic.

But first, I would like to thank and call out Chairman DEFAZIO and the wonderful leadership that he has exhibited in thinking long term about our children and about the next generation. That is seldom seen here, and I really appreciate that. I also asked him to help us look at redistributing the hundreds of millions of dollars that have been over-appropriated—over-appropriated, not spent—to States that need it in the Appalachian Development Highway System.

Like COVID-19, every community in America has been hit by the opioid crisis, and we cannot afford to slow down our efforts to combat it. My amendment in this package would create a pilot program to help communities better understand the emerging drug threats in real time by implementing wastewater testing.

By understanding these threats, we can design public health interventions that match a community and their specific problems.

Mr. Speaker, I urge passage of this amendment.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. CLINE).

Mr. CLINE. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the ranking member for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I am incredulous. I cannot believe that we are here again debating another partisan messaging bill when our Nation's infrastructure is crumbling. Rather than working across the aisle to advance a bipartisan transportation and infrastructure bill, the majority is jamming a partisan wish list through to the floor again that prioritizes big cities and Big Government over the interests of the American taxpayer: tripling funding to urban transit programs, a 449 percent increase to rail programs, a 72 percent increase to mass transit programs, and to those of us in rural areas depending on highway and safety programs, only a 42 percent increase. We can see where the priorities of this majority lie, and it is not with the people of rural America.

I was sent to Washington to ensure that our government is transparent and accountable for every action it takes. We can't afford the $1.4 million Green New Deal agenda that the majority has brought before us today.

I represent a district in the Commonwealth of Virginia that is in dire need of resources to modernize its aging infrastructure and relieve the congestion bottlenecks that afflict our highways. Most notable for my region is Interstate 81, a road that spans six States with over 300 miles of it in Virginia, and that stretches the majority of my district from Front Royal in the north to Roanoke in the south.

Each year there are nearly 2,000 crashes on Interstate 81 with over 25 percent involving heavy trucks. Over 45 major crashes a year cause delays greater than 4 hours. Current conditions are not only a frustration, but a grave public safety concern. People are dying on this road, and the failure to keep America's infrastructure up to par is costing lives.

It is unconscionable that instead of focusing on public safety and improvements to our Nation's roadways, such as Interstate 81, liberals have hijacked this bill for their own political messaging. Instead of creating certainty for our local communities in the midst of a global pandemic, the Democrat majority has cast aside the interests of the American people in order to appease the extreme wing of their party as they look to November's elections.

Republicans are willing and open to negotiating realistic ways to rebuild our highways and infrastructure, but it must be done in a fiscally responsible manner. I will not vote to leave our communities saddled with trillions in new debt and the Big Government regulations contained in H.R. 2. Instead of moving us forward, this legislation will bring America's economy and its growth to a screeching halt for years to come.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to vote to recommit this bill back to the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee and develop a bill that reflects the bipartisanship that this committee and this bill have been known for for so many years.

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Alabama (Ms. SEWELL).

Ms. SEWELL of Alabama. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act.

Our country is in serious need of bold and comprehensive infrastructure reform. This was true before the coronavirus pandemic, and it is even more urgent as we combat the ongoing economic and public health crisis.

While all communities across the country will benefit from infrastructure reform, this is an important opportunity to create a level playing field and provide critical infrastructure to historically underserved communities.

As a member of the Rural Broadband Task Force, I am pleased to see that H.R. 2 provides $100 billion in critical funding for broadband. This will increase access in rural communities, improve affordability for working families, and help close the digital divide in rural communities like Alabama's Black Belt.

This legislation also provides $40 billion in new wastewater infrastructure which will help address one of the most severe public health crises facing families in my district.

As a former bond lawyer, I am proud that this bill offers easier ways for our counties, municipalities, and non-profits to invest in our local infrastructure. I fought to include provisions like Build America Bonds and my legislation to expand the use of bank-qualified bonds for smaller issuers. These impactful tools will expand infrastructure and investments and lower the costs of financing.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, H.R. 2 will also include a bill that I have been trying to get through Congress for a while, and that would be to make permanent the New Markets Tax Credit, which are a vital tool for driving investments in historically underserved communities, and it increases an allocation to jumpstart these important projects.

Mr. Speaker, the Moving Forward Act will not only expand our investments in critical infrastructure projects, but they would also give communities like mine in Alabama's Black Belt who suffer from a lack of resources and opportunities the chance to catch up and to get ahead.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all of my colleagues to support this important legislation.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. I reserve the balance of my time, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. GOTTHEIMER).

Mr. GOTTHEIMER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of my amendment to the Moving America Forward Act.

The train tunnel underneath the Hudson carries 200,000 people daily between New Jersey and New York. It is literally crumbling after damage from a century of use and flooding during Superstorm Sandy. It is in imminent danger of being shut down. They are literally patching up cracks. It is outrageous. Part-time fixes aren't enough. It is time we actually do something about it.

Building the Gateway Tunnel is the most pressing infrastructure need in our country. It is crucial to our economy. This tunnel connects 20 percent of America's GDP. If we don't fix it, it will literally be a doomsday.

The Department of Transportation must explain why they have downgraded this project to low priority.

What is their secret backup plan when we have to shut down the tunnel?

What are we going to do for the economy?

We deserve to know. My amendment requires the DOT to develop and publish their contingency plan within 60 days. We want to know their doomsday plan because we have the right to know how they will address this urgent crisis.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to vote "yes".

I thank Chairman DEFAZIO. It is time we fix this doomsday before it occurs.

□ 1700

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from California (Mr. PANETTA).

Mr. PANETTA. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of my amendment to H.R. 2, for added flexibility to funding that goes to local Economic Development Administrations.

As we fight this pandemic, our communities have relied on EDA funding in regard to other revolving loan funds. As we progress through this crisis, however, those same communities will start to look at forms of economic recovery and should be able to use those same funds to repair roads, bridges, and water systems; to support downtown revitalizations; and to help market tourism.

That is where H.R. 2, with my amendment, can help all of our communities, by allowing recipients of these revolving loan funds to first lend out those funds and then, after those loans have been repaid, to repurpose that money and use it for new infrastructure projects that initially were outside the purpose of the revolving loan fund.

This type of flexibility will allow our communities to best target Federal dollars as needs change over time.

Mr. Speaker, that is why I urge passage of this amendment and passage of H.R. 2.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. LAMALFA).

Mr. LAMALFA. Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague from Missouri for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, once again, we all faithfully submitted to the Rules Committee, and our Republican amendments largely were ignored. So, we have in this en bloc amendment policy that hasn't really been fully thought out.

One I would like to highlight here is one sponsor that looks at a single issue with hauling waste by rail and tries to apply a solution to the entire rail industry. But one size doesn't fit all, as we see time and time again in this business.

Seeing one issue with waste transported by rail and deciding the solution is to cover every single waste railcar with a type of a covering should be a flashing red light to everyone. Again, because you have different types of waste, you have different railcar equipment. But then Congress just ruling, "Well, all of them should be covered," what does that drive? Cost, expense—already difficult, sometimes, in hauling freight.

And we have a mandate coming out of D.C. that hasn't been discussed or really vetted fully with the rail industry. Where does it make sense? Where does it not?

The extra cost associated with retrofitting every railcar can result in waste simply traveling by truck instead. Now, everybody likes trucks, right? Well, at least I do. But the most efficient means of moving is the one that is most cost-effective and takes the most amount of material the longest distance, and rail fits that mold very well when we are talking about long distances with high amounts of material.

Instead, this will decimate rail funding and send the waste to the same highway system that Democrats have refused to properly fund in this bill, looking for, instead, pie-in-the-sky green-type things.

Why don't we take time, consult with the industry that would like to sit down at the table, and say: We have ideas on how we could haul waste more efficiently, or recovery that might fit certain types of material but doesn't fit everything.

We would like to have a bipartisan process in that, too, because Republicans have been largely left out of the discussion, which is sad, because we want to be successful with this legislation and other related legislation later in the year that have to get done and be able to take it over to the Senate side and, ultimately, the White House.

This does not look like that type of collaboration. It looks more like, again, one that is an election-year-type of collaboration, a noncollaboration, and not one designed to succeed, which I don't understand.

With everything we have going on in this country, we need that kind of cooperation. At home, in my own State of California, we have budget problems now. We have issues to deal with. In another part of this bill, there is still more funding for high-speed rail.

In my home State of California, with budget problems, with highways that are crumbling, with the water system, our infrastructure needs to be focused on things that are successful for the people of the State, and high-speed rail in California is not it.

In this situation here, just simply willy-nilly saying that "all waste cars have to have coverings on them now," again, that might be noble in certain cases.

Talk to the industry. Talk with the industry. Come up with ideas that actually makes sense for them and for the costs, because everything that they bring, every item they bring, is something that somebody needs or somebody has discarded and needs to be disposed of properly. It is going to cost somehow into the whole chain, ultimately, the consumer—not government, not rich people, not big companies, the consumer, the low-income, middle-income consumer, especially where they have so much hitting them these days, trying to maintain their jobs, get their kids to school, whatever it is.

We keep hitting more and more mandates that don't make any sense and don't have any idea what the size and scope of what they are putting upon an industry is.

Mr. Speaker, with this piece in this particular en bloc, it just again shows that this hasn't really been a serious process and why H.R. 2 should not be supported.

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire how much time I have remaining.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Illinois has 7½ minutes remaining. The gentleman from Missouri has 6 minutes remaining.

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. CUELLAR).

Mr. CUELLAR. Mr. Speaker, I thank Chairman LIPINSKI for yielding to me.

Mr. Speaker, my amendment is very simple. What it does, it directs funding for road crossings at international bridges.

An area like my hometown in Laredo, which is the largest inland port, handles more trucks than any other place across the country, handles more trains than any other place across the country. In fact, it is the number one truck crossing and rail crossing in the country. In fact, 60 percent of all the trade between the U.S. and Mexico comes through one port, and that is the Port of Laredo.

This grant money is going to be important to make sure that we help fix those grade crossings at international crossings because, again, when a train stops in the middle of a street for hours and hours and hours, that creates traffic congestion. We have to make sure that we allow trade to go through but at the same time not stop the people going to school, work, or going on an emergency basis.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to pass this amendment and ask for approval of this bill.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. GARCÍA), my neighbor.

Mr. GARCÍA of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I thank Chairman LIPINSKI for yielding me the time.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of amendment No. 274, which protects transportation workers during the COVID pandemic, including the many who worked in Chicago. I thank my co-sponsors: CARBAJAL, LYNCH, PRESSLEY, OCASIO-CORTEZ, and JAYAPAL.

Mr. Speaker, voluntary adoption of CDC guidelines just won't cut it. Reports we have and continue to receive from workers in the transportation sector make this clear: Frontline workers, many Black and Brown, are getting sick at alarming rates.

My amendment expands protections to more frontline employees, including maritime, freight rail, motorcoach, and longshore workers. It also requires passengers on all modes to wear a mask to protect themselves, employees, and the traveling public. Finally, it would hold employers accountable for failing to provide proper protective gear for transport workers.

This amendment is supported by our friends in labor, including AFL-CIO's Transportation Trades Department, the Teamsters, our pilots, Electrical Workers, Transportation Workers Union, train workers, Sheet Metal Workers, and many others.

Mr. Speaker, I urge adoption of this bill.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from California (Ms. WATERS).

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 2 and this en bloc amendment.

I thank my colleague, Chairman PETER DEFAZIO, for his work on this bill and for including my amendment to assist airport concessionaires.

Mr. Speaker, my amendment requires airports that receive supplemental airport funding to provide financial relief to airport concessionaires experiencing economic hardship. This amendment is a critical down payment toward the long-term financial assistance needed by concessionaires that are a vital part of our Nation's air travel system.

Concessionaires are small businesses and often minority-owned businesses. They are completely dependent upon thriving airports and robust demand for air travel. As the coronavirus continues to wreak havoc on the aviation industry, concessionaires need targeted relief.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all of my colleagues to support this amendment.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Ohio (Ms. KAPTUR), the chairwoman.

Ms. KAPTUR. Mr. Speaker, I thank Chair LIPINSKI, the Rules Committee, and Chairman DEFAZIO for making my amendment to H.R. 2 in order under en bloc.

Mr. Speaker, this amendment expresses the sense of Congress that Amtrak has taken a wrongheaded and shortsighted approach to limiting daily service on numerous long-distance routes. Amtrak's proposal to limit service on 13 of its long-distance routes will be devastating for the system as a whole and the communities it serves.

After receiving over $1 billion from the CARES Act, Amtrak's plan to limit services of long-distance routes is unacceptable and may lead to a long-term, slash-and-burn strategy by the carrier.

Mr. Speaker, I include in the RECORD a letter from the Northeast Ohio Areawide Coordinating Agency that shows just how critical Amtrak is to the economic future of our Nation.

Cleveland, OH, June 29, 2020.

Hon. MARCY KAPTUR,
House of Representatives Washington, D.C.

CONGRESSWOMAN KAPTUR: I am writing as Executive Director of the Northeast Ohio Areawide Coordinating Agency (NOACA), the metropolitan planning organization for the five counties surrounding Cleveland that represents 2.1 million people and 166 cities, villages, and towns. NOACA is responsible for creating the federally mandated long range transportation vision for the region, and we are currently in the beginning phases of developing our next 30-year Long Range Plan: eNEO2050—an Equitable Future for Northeast Ohio. As NOACA's Board of Directors considers the current and future transportation needs of our region, we make important decisions about how to best provide transportation options for all users in an equitable and environmentally sustainable manner. As stated in NOACA's Board-adopted vision statement, NOACA will strengthen regional cohesion, preserve existing infrastructure, and build a sustainable multimodal transportation system to support economic development and enhance quality of life in Northeast Ohio.

In this context, I am writing to express support for your effort to sustain daily Amtrak service to Northeast Ohio, in order to give all residents equitable access to points east and west for education, business, and recreational opportunities. NOACA supports the notion of transportation choice, and Amtrak has long provided an essential option to residents seeking safe and affordable travel to other regions and states. As you know, NOACA is part of a public private partnership to develop Great Lakes Hyperloop, a next-generation hyperloop route that will carry passengers quickly and efficiently to Chicago and Pittsburgh, and beyond. NOACA has entered into an agreement with Hyperloop Transportation Technology (HTT) to make this project a reality in the future. But until that happens, it's important that Amtrak rail service continue on a daily basis, to help students get to college without a car, give business travelers an option other than flying, and give all residents access they deserve to destinations across the nation.

Furthermore, reducing rail service at this time, while the nation is recovering from the COVID-19 economic crisis, would only serve to limit the region's ability to continue moving forward. Even a temporary reduction in service would be detrimental to economic recovery and continued job growth in the important Great Lakes region.

In closing, thank you for your leadership on this issue, and I am pleased to add NOACA's support for your amendment to retain Amtrak daily service as part of Northeast Ohio's transportation network.

Sincerely,

GRACE GALLUCCI,
Executive Director.

Ms. KAPTUR. Mr. Speaker, Amtrak's proposal will stifle economic recovery and only add to the growing unemployment in communities that are served by these long-distance routes.

Mr. Speaker, despite an infusion of CARES Act funding, these proposed routes guarantee a slimmer workforce that endangers the carrier's long-term health.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to vote for en bloc amendment C and to support H.R. 2.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire how much time is remaining?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman has 3½ minutes remaining.

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. KRISHNAMOORTHY).

Mr. KRISHNAMOORTHY. Mr. Speaker, I rise as a proud cosponsor of the Moving Forward Act and to urge support for two public safety amendments I authored.

The first amendment is based on a bipartisan piece of legislation, the SAFE TO DRIVE Act, which is co-led by my colleague Congressman MIKE GALLAGHER of Wisconsin. This legislation creates a new grant program for States that ban non-navigational viewing, ensuring States have robust resources to promote campaigns against distracted driving. Every day, nine people are killed in the United States from distracted driving.

Mr. Speaker, my second amendment, which I authored as chairman of the Committee on Oversight and Reform's consumer protection subcommittee with Congresswoman KATIE PORTER, requires clearer height and weight requirement labels on children's booster seats to better protect children and their health and safety. Most parents believe the booster seats that they buy are safe, but research shows that 7 out of 10 children are improperly restrained.

Mr. Speaker, I strongly urge adoption of this measure.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Rhode Island (Mr. CICILLINE).

Mr. CICILLINE. Mr. Speaker, our infrastructure is stuck in the 1950s, and it doesn't have to be. It is time—in fact, it is past time—for Congress to bring our bridges, roads, and schools into the 21st century. The American people gave Democrats control of the U.S. House last year because we promised to work for the people, higher wages, lower costs, and rooting out corruption in Washington. The Moving Forward Act delivers on that promise.

It creates millions of good-paying jobs at a time when they are needed most. More than 40 million unemployment claims have been filed since the start of this pandemic, but the President is more interested in tweeting than helping people who are out of work.

As a candidate, President Trump promised to rebuild our infrastructure. It turned out to be yet another empty promise on his road to power.

Mr. Speaker, now Democrats are providing $1.5 trillion to build modern, sustainable infrastructure. This is a bill that invests in the well-being of our cities and towns.

Mr. Speaker, I urge the House to adopt the en bloc package, which includes my amendment to establish the interagency innovative materials standards task force and to pass the underlying bill without delay.

□ 1715

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of time.

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire as to how much time I have remaining?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Illinois has 1½ minutes remaining.

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Washington (Ms. JAYAPAL).

Ms. JAYAPAL. Mr. Speaker, my amendment would set aside an additional $9 million for airplane noise mitigation and other projects to support aviation-impacted communities.

In my district, the rapid growth of Sea-Tac Airport to meet demand has impacted the day-to-day life of many of my constituents who live nearby. In large part, that has been due to increased noise.

While we cannot stop rising demand, we can protect our communities with additional funds for noise insulation and by studying environmentally sound ways to reduce aviation impacts.

The FAA has not taken this issue seriously enough, failing to respond to my constituents' concerns in community meetings and refusing to release congressionally mandated studies on reducing airport noise. That is why my amendment would compel the FAA to devote more resources to aviation-impacted communities across the Nation.

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, I am prepared to close, and I reserve the balance of time.

Mr. GRAVES of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, I rise again to express my disappointment at the partisan nature of the amendments in this package. For example, it includes an airdropped rail amendment that imposes unreasonable mandates on freight rail carrying waste by attempting to force an impractical, one-size-fits-all solution that would create more problems than it attempts to solve.

It includes a significant change in the Economic Development Agency's revolving loan program and new requirements on public buildings that the committee never had a chance to consider under regular order.

It also includes an amendment that requires the Department of Transportation to share protected security and business information on pipeline incidents with State and local governments, creating unintended safety and security risks.

Mr. Speaker, this bill is full of partisan amendments meant to fulfill the Speaker's messaging agenda of unchecked spending and unserious, one-sided Green New Deal excesses. These provisions are going to create difficult, impractical, and unreasonable mandates on the rail and aviation industries at a time when we should be doing what we can to help them just survive.

For these reasons, I urge my colleagues to very much oppose this en bloc amendment, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentlewoman from Massachusetts (Ms. PRESSLEY) for a unanimous consent request.

(Ms. PRESSLEY asked and was given permission to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. PRESSLEY. Mr. Speaker, I include in the RECORD a statement in support of my amendment.

Mr. Speaker, I rise to offer an amendment to H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act and thank my colleagues for their work on this legislation.

Our nation's transportation and infrastructure policies play a critical role in building healthy and safe communities.

But, for too long they have perpetuated many of our most entrenched inequities.

My amendment would require us to examine how our nation's transportation policies have impacted and targeted our most vulnerable.

It is critical that we understand how transportation policies are criminalizing Black and brown communities.

Specifically, we have seen violent enforcement of fare evasion policies and the discriminatory placement of speed cameras and other surveillance technology in our lowest income communities.

Mr. Speaker, this is a moment of reckoning.

The people have organized and peacefully protested for more than a month to affirm that Black Lives Matter and demand the end of racist systems and policies that disproportionately criminalize our Black and Brown neighbors.

We have a mandate to center justice in all of our policymaking. Our transportation policies are no exception.

I urge my colleagues to support this amendment.

Thank you. I yield.

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this en bloc amendment. Thirty-four good amendments added to this bill make this bill even better on a number of topics: airports, rail, FEMA, and other areas. I urge my colleagues to support it.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak in support of the Amendment to H.R. 2 designated as En Bloc C and specifically to the inclusion of the Jackson Lee Amendment that directs the FAA to report on areas of the airport system that have not received COVID-19 related funding.

H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act, is a more than $1.5 trillion plan to rebuild American infrastructure—not only our roads, airports, bridges, and transit systems, but also our schools, housing, broadband access, and so much more.

It has come to my attention that certain support functions essential to airport operations have not received COVID-19 funding.

Mr. Speaker, this transformational legislation makes robust investments in the infrastructure necessary to support the wellbeing of all Americans and connect them with the services and opportunities needed to succeed in the global economy, which will create millions of American jobs rebuilding our country, so desperately needed in light of its wreckage by the COVID-19 pandemic.

Mr. Speaker, our nation's airports experienced a significant economic impact due to COVID-19 and the level of support to airports and airlines has been generous, but not enough, especially regarding what I have learned about airport parking service areas.

It has come to my attention that certain support functions essential to the smooth operation of our nation's busiest airports.

One area of concern is airport parking, which is vital to the smooth operation of our nation's busiest airports.

Airports serving our nation's largest metropolitan areas that serve hundreds of millions of passengers collectively include:

Hartsfield-Jackson Atlanta International Airport (ATL) that receives 103 Million Passengers,

Los Angeles International Airport (LAX)—84.5 Million Passengers,

O'Hare International Airport (ORD)—79.8 Million Passengers, and Dallas/Fort Worth International Airport (DFW)—75 Million Passengers.

Workers and support services for parking and other essential services need and deserve support from COVID-19 funding.

This Jackson Lee Amendment seeks a report from the FAA and directs that the next opportunity for funding for COVID-19 should prioritize areas that have not yet received funding.

I ask my Colleagues to support this En Bloc and the underlying bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. All time for debate has expired.

Pursuant to the rule, the previous question is ordered on the amendments en bloc offered by the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. LIPINSKI).

The question is on the amendments en bloc offered by the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. LIPINSKI).

The en bloc amendments were agreed to.

AMENDMENT NO. 28 OFFERED BY MR. TAKANO OF CALIFORNIA

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to House Resolution 1028, the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. PALLONE) and the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. SHIMKUS) each will control 15 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New Jersey.

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of this en bloc amendment of 28 that will further improve the already strong language of H.R. 2 in many areas.

It will expand our digital internet infrastructure through Tribal benefits and assistance available under the broadband sections. These digital infrastructure measures will ensure access to affordable, reliable internet service and give Americans living in multi-family and government-assisted housing access to reliable, high-speed broadband.

It will strengthen energy efficiency and resilience for critical infrastructure, while addressing greenhouse gas pollution and environmental justice issues at our Nation’s ports.

It creates a fund to invest in clean energy technologies and jobs and improves the Department of Energy’s laboratory infrastructure, while bolstering its clean energy research.

It improves the underlying clean school bus and electrical vehicle provisions, while also expanding on the PFAS and lead contamination provisions.

It also improves drinking water assistance to our territories.

Mr. Speaker, this bloc of amendments also includes provisions to protect pedestrians, bicyclists, and other vulnerable road users, while promoting the safe use of child booster seats.

It also prioritizes hospital and lab infrastructure projects that will address natural disaster preparedness and reduce wait times for results of COVID-19 tests.

So I want to thank the many Members who contributed to the en bloc, including Representatives BLUNT-ROCHESTER, DINGELL, MATSUI, SARBANES, LUJÁN, O’HALLERAN, and CÁRDENAS from the Energy and Commerce Committee, as well as Representatives BRINDISI, CRAIG, CUNNINGHAM, Foster, HAALAND, HAYES, KRISHNAMOORTHY, LEVIN of Michigan, LIPINSKI, MENG, MOORE, NORCROSS, PHILLIPS, PLASKETT, PORTER, SABLAN, SLOTKIN, SPANBERGER, and TAKANO. Their amendments are making this a better bill, and I thank them for their contributions.

This an excellent amendment. I urge its adoption, and I reserve the balance of time.

Mr. SHIMKUS. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of time.

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. MICHAEL F. DOYLE), the chairman of the Communications and Technology Subcommittee.

Mr. MICHAEL F. DOYLE of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 2, the Moving Forward Act. This legislation represents a historic investment in the future of our Nation.

As the chairman of the Communications and Technology Subcommittee, I am proud that this bill includes an unprecedented $100 billion investment in our Nation’s broadband infrastructure.

This crisis has made it clear that broadband is a necessity, not a privilege. Because of COVID-19, we must all use the internet to work, to learn, and to participate in society.

This legislation would establish a national digital equity program to provide outreach and digital literacy education to get folks online.

It would expand the Lifeline program to create a monthly broadband benefit to connect working families and the recently unemployed.

It would fund a critical upgrade of our Nation’s 911 system, and it would bring the benefits of high-speed fiber-optic networks to every part of the country.

Today, Americans who are not connected are being left behind. If our Nation is going to succeed in the 21st century, we must ensure that everyone has access to this essential resource.

I would like to thank my good friend, Majority Whip JIM CLYBURN, for his leadership on this issue and for working with myself and Chairman PALLONE on this legislation. I would like to thank all of the members of our subcommittee who contributed to this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I am concerned about a provision related to autonomous vehicles that was included in the manager’s amendment.

My hometown of Pittsburgh is our Nation’s and the world’s leading hub for research and development into autonomous vehicle technologies. As we continue to consider this legislation related to autonomous vehicles, I hope that we can engage in a more deliberate discussion about how these technologies will be regulated and deployed. This technology is too important to the success of our Nation and to Pittsburgh to do any less.

Mr. SHIMKUS. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of time.

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Michigan (Mrs. DINGELL), who is always dealing with these innovative technologies and uses that are so important for our future.

Mrs. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of this en bloc, which includes an important amendment that I have championed that would establish a clean energy and sustainability accelerator to both meet the climate crisis head-on, while building the infrastructure of tomorrow.

As an independent nonprofit that is capitalized with $20 billion of Federal funds spread over a 6-year period, the accelerator will help bolster and expand a robust clean energy workforce, create jobs, deploy emissions reduction technologies, and invest in low-carbon infrastructure projects nationwide.

It would provide crucial seed investment to build clean energy infrastructure that will put millions back to work, strengthen communities, improve public health for generations, while reducing pollution, lowering energy costs, and specifically reducing harmful greenhouse emissions.

I am proud to lead this amendment, and I thank Chairman PALLONE, the leadership of the House, and the Energy and Commerce Committee staff for all the work they have done to get it here.

I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

Mr. SHIMKUS. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of time.

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. LEVIN).

Mr. LEVIN of Michigan. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank Chairman PALLONE for his tremendous work on this bill and all the staff of the Energy and Commerce Committee who worked on this.

My amendment modifies H.R. 2's pilot program to improve lab infrastructure, ensuring grants can help labs reduce wait times for COVID-19 test results.

It can take several business days to find out if you have tested positive for COVID-19. During that time, folks are told to take precautions as though they are positive.

Not everyone can afford missing work to do that. Not everyone has another person who can take care of an elderly or sick parent. If we don't bring down wait times, we are asking Americans to do things that, for them, might be virtually impossible. Let's make things easier for working families.

I urge support of this amendment and this tremendous bill.

Mr. SHIMKUS. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Virginia (Ms. SPANBERGER).

Ms. SPANBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of amendment No. 319 to H.R. 2.

The Moving America Forward Act includes a historic investment in high-speed broadband internet infrastructure.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to thank Whip CLYBURN for his leadership on the Rural Broadband Task Force.

In central Virginia, like across so much of the country, we urgently need funding for broadband projects, particularly as COVID-19 lays bare the realities of the digital divide.

In our district, for example, I have spoken with teachers who, when schools closed, were unable to maintain contact with so many of their students because they simply cannot access the internet.

As we talk about making a significant investment in the future of high-speed internet, we need to take appropriate steps to ensure this new infrastructure meets the needs of the next generation of wireless technology.

For many years, the FCC has set the threshold for determining the speed at which areas are found to have sufficient broadband service. However, experts have indicated that the current speed threshold is outdated. My amendment would require the GAO to examine the efficacy of the FCC's process for updating its broadband speed threshold.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentlewoman has expired.

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I yield an additional 30 seconds to the gentlewoman from Virginia (Ms. SPANBERGER).

Ms. SPANBERGER. Mr. Speaker, with this information, we can make better decisions about how to best update these thresholds. If we are going to keep our rural businesses, our farms, and our students competitive into the next century, we need to recognize that the broadband infrastructure we build must meet the need for faster downloads and uploads.

Mr. SHIMKUS. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. CUNNINGHAM).

Mr. CUNNINGHAM. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of my amendments, which will help fund critically needed flood mitigation infrastructure in South Carolina's Lowcountry and protect my constituents from harmful PFAS contaminants.

This month marked the start of hurricane season, and given the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic, it is more essential than ever that we invest in flood mitigation infrastructure that will protect places like downtown Beaufort and hospitals in Charleston's medical district.

In the Lowcountry, when it rains, it floods. Each year, our communities face tidal flooding that poses significant health, human safety, and economic risks. If a weather-related disaster hits during the COVID-19 pandemic, the results will be severe.

That is why I am proud to offer two amendments that will ensure natural disaster preparedness and flood mitigation projects are prioritized in this legislation.

I also offered an amendment that will require the Federal Government to investigate wild fish in PFAS-contaminated waters and the risk of consuming such fish to humans and natural predators.

In a pair of recent studies, it was determined that PFAS were present in groundwater on Joint Base Charleston, as well as in wild fish in the Ashley and the Cooper Rivers. Given the health and environmental hazards associated with PFAS exposure, it is critical that we ensure my constituents are not put at risk.

I hope my colleagues on both sides of the aisle will join me in supporting my amendments, as well as the underlying legislation.

Mr. SHIMKUS. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Delaware (Ms. BLUNT ROCHESTER), a member of our committee.

Ms. BLUNT ROCHESTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 2 because it is a critical investment in our roads, bridges, schools, and other vital infrastructure. Not only that, this plan ensures we build a clean energy economy that will address the climate crisis and make our communities healthier and safer.

Amendments Nos. 37 and 71, which we are debating today, are two of my bills that prioritize investments in environmental justice communities. These are the communities that are overburdened with pollution and are being hit the hardest with impacts of both the climate crisis and COVID-19.

The Climate Action Planning for Ports Act creates a competitive grant program at EPA that will incentivize ports to implement climate action plans, reduce their air pollution, and engage the communities to reduce the cumulative impacts of the pollution from the nearby port.

EPA is uniquely equipped to manage a grant program like this and will complement the Ports Initiative that already exists at the agency. Most importantly, though, this program provides flexibility for ports and port authorities while requiring strong emissions targets and near-port community engagement.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting the passage of these amendments and H.R. 2.

Mr. SHIMKUS. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, can I inquire about how much time remains on each side?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from New Jersey has 4½ minutes remaining. The gentleman from Illinois has 15 minutes remaining.

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I was expecting someone else, but they are not here. I am prepared to close.

Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, I urge strong support of this en bloc amendment. I do think it will improve the already strong language of H.R. 2 in many areas, and I would urge its adoption.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. SHIMKUS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, so here we are. I am down on the floor with my good friend, FRANK PALLONE, who I am a fan of. And, actually, I am a fan of Jeff Carroll, which probably surprises a lot of people.

What we are doing here today, and they know it, just goes too far. Here we are, on a transportation and infrastructure bill, debating energy and telecommunications and healthcare issues.

The preeminent committee in Washington, D.C., is the Energy and Commerce Committee. I proudly served on it for 24 years. We take pride in that. But here, today, we have allowed leadership to take our jurisdiction and give it to the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee. There are a lot of Committee on Energy and Commerce chairmen and ranking members who are rolling over in their graves today, and I am particularly disappointed.

The original bill that came out of T&I, it is right here, $500 billion. This is the bill that came out of T&I. The bill that we are debating today, $1.5 trillion.

Where did the trillion come from? Well, it came from the Rules Committee, Mr. Speaker, which added bills from other jurisdictions that had no hearings, no markups, no process.

In fact, I see my good friend Mr. DOYLE here, and I wrote down what he said: There ought to be a deliberative discussion on that provision.

I think it was on autonomous vehicles. Well, we didn't have a deliberative discussion because we allowed, for some reason, the powers that may be, and I think I can probably surmise, and I will get to that when I get close to the end of my 15 minutes. But, I am heartbroken.

TIM SCOTT was on the floor of the Senate last week, talking about how the process is broken in the Senate on criminal justice reform. He couldn't even get a debate on his bill. This is an example of a broken process.

As I leave my last year in Congress, I am saddened. I have loved it, 24 years, made great friends, did some good public policy. But, gang, something is wrong here when we don't even stand up for the jurisdiction of our own committee and allow our committees to work in a bipartisan manner to bring bills that are acceptable. It is sad.

Mr. Speaker, I have been joined by BRUCE WESTERMAN from Arkansas, who wants to talk a few minutes on some energy provisions that are in a T&I bill.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Arkansas (Mr. WESTERMAN).

Mr. WESTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to not talk about a transportation bill.

I am on the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee, but it has turned into an energy package, and I just want to expose the fallacy of this so-called green infrastructure package. Let's just look at one part of it.

Let's look at all-electric vehicles. Let's assume that we could go to all-electric vehicles in the U.S. overnight. What would that mean? We hear a lot of talk about electric vehicles, and it sounds good, but what would it actually do for greenhouse gases? The answer is not nearly as much as my colleagues across the aisle would like for you to believe.

First, the people who write this legislation must be the same ones who think that food comes from the grocery store and electricity comes from the wall outlet. Just like the food in the grocery store, energy has a supply chain, and less than 10 percent of it is coming from wind and solar. In fact, between 60 and 70 percent of electricity comes from coal and natural gas. And guess what? It is going to keep coming from coal and natural gas unless we build nuclear power plants, and I haven't seen proposals from anyone on the left to be building any nuclear power plants.

I have got some science and engineering to share with my friends about their wind and solar daydream without coal, natural gas, or nuclear power: It won't work.

I realize the truth about this might hurt people's feelings, but science is science. And just in case you didn't catch that: Wind and solar without coal, natural gas, or nuclear power will not work. If you don't believe me, I challenge you to watch the movie called "Planet of the Humans," and maybe you will believe the left's very own Michael Moore, who basically says the same thing in that movie.

Let's do some quick math on what all-electric vehicles would do for greenhouse gas emissions. I don't think anybody denies the fact that the U.S. emits 15 percent of the world's greenhouse gases and that transportation is the largest sector of that, making up 28 percent of all greenhouse gases. Well, 28 percent of 15 percent is 4.2 percent. So of the global greenhouse gases, transportation in the U.S. makes up 4.2 percent.

But passenger cars aren't all of transportation. They make up only 32 percent of transportation. So, 32 percent of 4.2 percent is 1.34 percent.

That is how much greenhouse gases passenger vehicles in the United States emit. But, remember, when you plug the electric vehicle into the wall, that power is coming from somewhere, somewhere that is making electricity at 60 to 70 percent with fossil fuels.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. SHIMKUS. Mr. Speaker, I yield an additional 45 seconds to the gentleman from Arkansas (Mr. WESTERMAN).

Mr. WESTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, electric vehicles versus internal combustion engines are 25 percent less greenhouse gases. So, all-electric vehicles in the U.S. would mean that we would reduce global greenhouse gases by one-third of 1 percent.

It would also require a tremendous amount of mining and other activities that my friends oppose.

America needs cleaner air and a sustainable environment and sound energy policies. H.R. 2 fails on all of these. We need sound policy to make existing energy sources cleaner and more efficient, and we need to work on next-generation nuclear energy. Then we can talk real numbers on reducing greenhouse gas emissions.

Mr. SHIMKUS. Mr. Speaker, may I ask how much time I have remaining?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Illinois has 8¾ minutes remaining.

Mr. SHIMKUS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

So, CBO came out with a report on this bill. It will add to the deficit $450 billion. That is the CBO report just out today.

Now, we spent a lot of money this year. I guess I am really getting reflective because when I ran 20 years ago, I was railing against the national debt, which was at that time $4 trillion. That is why I ran. Four trillion dollars. Now it is, what, 26?

And most of us joined in a lot of that this Congress because of the pandemic, and I get it. But I believe that eventually someone has got to pay the piper. And who will that be? Well, it won't be me, I am going to retire, unless they go after my Social Security and my pension fund and my investments. But it is going to be our children and our grandchildren. So eventually we are going to have to get serious about this.

This bill out of the T&I Committee came out at $500 billion. Out of the Rules Committee on the floor it added $1 trillion. And, again, as we have discussed today, most of that additional trillion dollars hasn't been vetted by the committee, at least the Committee of Energy and Commerce, which is the predominant jurisdiction on this en bloc amendment. That is why I am here and have been asked to speak on this.

We have got a DOE program. We have got another DOE program. We have got FCC broadband. We have got another interconnectivity. We have another FCC program. We have got chemical safety stuff—which if you ever want to be an expert in an area, be an expert on chemical issues in this Congress, and you will be beating your head in. A clean energy sustainable accelerator; that sounds like a T&I provision. Grid security. FCC. EPA. Booster seat labeling. That was my original bill 20 years ago; child safety seats. NTSA. Vehicle bumpers and hoods. Consumer protection and safety. DOE. Voltage requirements. Energy. Safe Drinking Water Act, one of my favorites; we worked in a bipartisan manner. I know brownfields was mentioned; we worked in a bipartisan manner. Replace fossil fuel fire technology in a T&I bill. That is interesting. GAO report. Territories.

I can go on, but it is a tad frustrating when, again, you have a committee of jurisdiction that works well. We have credible hearings. We usually go through regular order. In fact, I remember my good friend, Chairman PALLONE, berating us constantly about going through regular order. And regular order for us is: Have a hearing, mark it up in a subcommittee, take it to the full committee and then move it to the floor. TSCA worked that way. We worked together on that. Shoot, we don't even have a hearing on many of these bills, no less a subcommittee mark or a full committee mark. So why are we doing this?

It is a waste of time. It is a waste of effort. And it is politics at its worst. Because we are giving people the chance to say, I moved my bill through the floor of the House. I am saving the Nation and our problems. Aren't you proud of me, my voters and my constituents? Hogwash. Embarrassing. I am disappointed. I am frustrated.

We are in the minority. I get it. I can get beat down as good as anybody else, which I have been. But really, on bills like battery technology that we can move in a bipartisan manner and get to the floor, we have to shove it in a Transportation and Infrastructure bill? No, we don't. Even in virtual Congresses we could pass a battery technology improvement bill. I would grant it.

I think part of the reason why we are shoving all this in is because coronavirus and social distancing and getting together is going to make it difficult to move things to the floor. So this T&I bill is going to get off the floor, open up the kitchen sink, throw everything in it whether it is germane or not. That is what happened here. Don't be surprised.

And my colleagues who are complaining that it is not going to see the light of day, it is not. But I don't mind the debate. I just wish we would have it at a hearing. I wish we would have a subcommittee mark. I mean, we are in the minority, we are still going to get our heads beat in. But do we have to do it in this manner?

So, again, a T&I bill came out of their committee this size, $500 billion, came to the floor with another $1 trillion and 2,000 pages, mostly from jurisdictions that didn't have hearings, didn't have comments, just Members' wish lists that they knew they could attach. It is not going to go anywhere, so open it up. Everyone can claim victory that they have saved the Republic.

Well, they added $450 billion to the deficit on a meaningless bill that appeases the base, especially the far left environmental group that want a Green New Deal. The public has rejected the Green New Deal. And if they haven't, then let's have that debate on the floor and in the committee. Why do we do it here? It shouldn't be in a T&I bill. It should be in the Environment Subcommittee, my subcommittee—well, ranking member.

And I will end on this because my time is running out. I have been lectured many, many years in the committee about our jurisdiction and regular order. And here we are. I am disappointed, Mr. Speaker. We are better than this. The institution is worse because of what we are seeing today, and I think what is going to happen is we are going to continue to lose the power of the committees if we let the Speakers, whether it is a Republican or a Democrat, consolidate power. And our committees better start standing up for themselves if we want to see progress in the future, if we want to reclaim our roles as representatives.

We have become experts in these committees of jurisdiction. Twenty-four years, we better. If we are not experts, then what have we been doing for 24 years? We are about as smart as any public policy guy in telecommunications or in healthcare or in energy. So why is it in a transportation bill? Just because coronavirus, election year politics, Green New Deal.

And I would just warn my colleagues, I am going to go back and I am going to teach once I leave this Chamber, and I am going to use this as an example of a failed system that is not operating the way in which we have been able to do for many years.

It looks like the Speaker is about ready to gavel me down, so before he does that, I thank my colleagues for letting me preach.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. MOORE. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of my amendment which has been included in this En Bloc Amendment. As we debate this bill, our nation is experiencing a resurrection in COVID-19 cases, with record or near record one day totals occurring almost daily. While this may not be the time to rehash rash decisions to reopen in the face of public health advice, it does again remind us of the need to continue to provide tools to communities to help identify, track, and treat those affected by this deadly virus.

Tracking COVID-19 in the community is extremely important in the fight to stop this deadly killer which has already infected over 2.5 million Americans and killed over 125,000.

As noted by the Water Research Foundation, "wastewater surveillance of COVID-19 could be an early, cost-effective, unbiased community-level indicator of the presence of COVID-19."

Research is underway in our nation and around the world to try and use sewage samples to spot any potential surge or other trends in caseloads in a community. It is believed that the virus will show up in sewer samples even for patients that show no outward symptoms.

For example, in late March, samples from one wastewater utility in Massachusetts found that the amount of SARS-Co V-2 particles indicated a far higher number of people likely infected with Covid-19 than the area's reported cases

My amendment would formally authorize a more robust EPA research program to help develop guidance and procedures to help identify and measure SARS-Co V-2 levels in wastewater.

There are still a lot of unknowns associated with this evolving tool. The EPA is well positioned to offer key guidance and information to wastewater utilities interested in helping support such research. While it has undertaken some activities in this area, more can be done to inform sample collection, analysis, and interpretation of results of this research.

The EPA can also help support greater coordination in ongoing research to prevent duplicative effort, help close knowledge gaps, and support better communication of the results of such testing to the public, public health officials, and others.

As our nation continues to respond to the devastating Covid-19 pandemic, this is an evolving field that shows promise at providing real time or near real time community wide surveillance that isn't directly tied to testing (although we still need to do that and do that better).

I urge my colleagues to support my amendment.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. All time for debate has expired.

Pursuant to the rule, the previous question is ordered on the amendments en bloc offered by the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. PALLONE).

The question is on the amendments en bloc offered by the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. PALLONE).

APPOINTMENT OF MEMBER TO BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE INSTITUTE OF AMERICAN INDIAN AND ALASKA NATIVE CULTURE AND ARTS DEVELOPMENT

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair announces the Speaker's appointment, pursuant to 20 U.S.C. 4412, and the order of the House of January 3, 2019, of the following Member on the part of the House to the Board of Trustees of the Institute of American Indian and Alaska Native Culture and Arts Development:

Mr. YOUNG of Alaska

SUPPORTING THE HEROES ACT

(Mrs. BUSTOS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mrs. BUSTOS. Madam Speaker, I rise today in support of the HEROES Act.

When I last spoke on this bill in this Chamber, I told a story about a young man in my congressional district that I serve named Noah. He wrote to me that his town may not survive this pandemic.

Now, more than a month since, I am awfully worried, too. The HEROES Act would provide $915 billion for State and local assistance so our small towns and cities, like where Noah lives, are not left behind.

It would strengthen programs for small business and deliver economic security to those that are the backbone of our economy.

As our country is reeling from record-high COVID-19 cases, it would allow uninsured Americans to access health insurance. Pretty darn important during a worldwide pandemic.

For the cities and towns, for our small businesses, and for so many Americans, this is not about politics; it is about survival. I urge the Senate to join us in passing the HEROES Act.

HONORING CRAIG JOHNSON AND AURASH ZARKESHAN

(Mr. KEVIN HERN of Oklahoma asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. KEVIN HERN of Oklahoma. Madam Speaker, I rise with a broken heart today. On Monday, two of our police officers were shot during a routine stop.

Sergeant Craig Johnson was a leader in Tulsa, serving on the police force for over 15 years. Sergeant Johnson had a strong relationship with local leaders and took pride in keeping the community he loves safe. He was a strong friend to fellow officers and a compassionate leader with a servant's heart.

Sergeant Johnson died from his wounds earlier today. Officer Aurash Zarkeshan remains in critical condition.

Craig and Aurash are examples of the remarkable men and women who choose to put themselves in harm's way to protect us every day.

The best sound a police officer's spouse can hear is the sound of the Velcro of the officer's vest coming off at the end of the shift. Instead of that sound, Sergeant Johnson's wife had to get the worst call a spouse can get.

My prayers are with his wife, Krysta, his two children, and the many ones he left behind.

HONORING COACH PAT DYE

(Mr. ALLEN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. ALLEN. Madam Speaker, on June 1, 2020, America lost a football legend. Pat Dye was a player, coach, administrator, and, most importantly, a dear friend.

Coach Dye's ties to the 12th District of Georgia run deep, as he was born and raised in Blythe, Georgia.

He started his football career at Richmond Academy as captain of the team that won a State championship there. He went on to play at the University of Georgia, where he was a two-time All-American.

Coach Dye was most known for his work transforming the Auburn University football team, where he served as Auburn's head coach from 1981 to 1992 and as athletic director from 1981 to 1991.

As the only Auburn alumnus currently serving in Congress, what a privilege it is for me to stand here on the House floor and enter into the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD Coach Dye's amazing record, which includes four SEC championship wins, including three straight from 1987 to 1989.

He led Auburn to three Sugar Bowls and finished in the top 10 five times, including four straight seasons, from 1986 to 1989. So it was no surprise that he was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame as a coach in 2005.
